

? RECORDS/HUNDERTMARK (GERMANY):*NITSCH, HERMANN: 7. Sinfonie 2CD (Q 02). $34.00

"Thankful reissue of a 2x90 set, originally released by Dieter Roth Verlag in 1985 in an artists' edition of 200 copies (can only imagine K7 as the poorest choice of frequency-preservation for such full-band and dynamic delicacy). Massive sprawling orchestral tonewheel incorporating white noise generation, through-composed bodily desecration, various percussion instruments (traditional and invented), sunlight, near-silent refrains & other formal & tonal variations. Easily one of the finest recorded examples of Nitsch's directorial prowess. Massive." — Hrvatski

CHOPIN, HENRI: Audiopoems, 1956-1980 CD (Q 03). $21.00

A collection of 8 Audiopoems, from the years 1956 through 1980. No overlap with the Alga Marghen or Nepless label material. "Early recordings from arguably the soundpoem king (Heidsieck & Chopin have been duke-ing it out over this title for years) presented as two LP-side length 'ultimixes' containing 'Rouge' (1956), 'Dynamisme Intégral' (1973), 'French Lesson' (1974), 'Double Extension' (1970, with electronic composition by Sten Hanson), 'Hoppa Block' (1970), 'Pêche de Nuit' (1957), 'Tête à Tête' (1971-73, again with Hanson), and 'L'Agrippe des Droits' (1980, for Christian Clozier). Lip smacking, projection-affiliated feedback(s), perfect stereo channel isolations of separate program content, lunatic ranting, endless repetition of single words, all in store. Chopin has played the proverbial thorn in the side of the art world proper for almost 50 years now (see "Cantata for Two Farts and Juan Carlos I"), extremely glad to have these seminal works available on CD finally. Killer, really." — Hrvatski

HANSEN, AL: Andy Warhol Attentat Sound CD (Q 04). $21.00

"A collage consisting of sounds recorded between 7PM October 11th and November 12th, 1986 in New York City by the 'New York City Audio/Visual Group' led by Al Hansen. Features Al, Lisa Cieslik, Georg (ist Warhol!), Suzanne Zierold, Dieter Hebben, Peter Kleinertz, Hanjo S., Nicole Hundertmark, and others. Figures like Gerard Malanga, Angus MacLise, Valerie Solanas, Warhol, and others are roasted/honored (the tone is always a little hard to suss) in the form of chants like 'Long Live Andy Panda', etc... Hansen was one of the 14 'Classic Fluxus Folks' whose most well known pieces such as "Piano Drop" are eclipsed historically by the 2 generations removed between himself and Beck Hansen, a quirky & dubiously Fluxus-aligned pop star (couplets like 'the sales climb high through the garbage pail/slike a giant dildo crushing the sun' seem the only proof of this) of global renown with whom Al shared an exhibition (and a lovely coffee table gallery edition) titled Playing with Matches. Eleven-minute-and-sixteen-second program (one 'track') leaves you wanting more, but you'll need a few plays for it all to sink in anyways so stop complaining. Yet another necessary piece of the flux-sound puzzle (the eye of a bird, a penguin leg, or perhaps one of the corners...)." — Hrvatski

PATTERSON, BEN: Tells Fluxus Stories (From 1962 To 2002) CD (Q 07). $21.00

"Scholarly Notes: On 14,03,02 Sabine Felker and Gerhard Westerrath recorded this interview with him, in his kitchen, in Wiesbaden, Germany, Wandersmannstr. 2B. My decision to use 'Ein Heldenleben' by Richard Strauss, as 'background music' happened several months later." — Ben Patterson 31.07.02

JONES, JOE: Back and Forth Exhibition Sound CD (Q 08). $21.00

The third Joe Jones archival CD release on this label. "A single 31-minute recording of said exhibition, August 31st, 1985. Jones' mechano-constructs whirring/clanking all the while, generally refusing to sit still. Back cover shots display several motor-agitated automatons with single beaters attached to end(s), pre flail. Heard: motorik-accent hand drum, metallic ping, bells, possibly glockenspiel (?), distant melodic informations, presumably of aleatoric/wind-based selection. Joe Jones' music continues to exasperate, providing much need 'wha?fuck?' synapse-misfire. Defiant." — Hrvatski

CHOPIN, HENRI: La Peur And Co (1958-1979) CD (Q 09). $21.00

A collection of early text-sound compositions: "Dynamisme intégral", (1966), "Présence du Soleil" (1971), "Dentales soufflées" (1979), "Le Peur" (1958/1969). Edition of 400 copies.

SHIOMI, MIEKO: A Musical Dictionary of 80 People Around Fluxus CD (Q 10). $21.00

"To celebrate the 40th anniversary of Fluxus, I composed eighty short musical pieces for eighty Fluxus people... For each person, I used only the pitches available from the letters spelling his/her name. A different timbre was applied to each person..." The artists whose names are musically described are: Dietrich Albrecht, Eric Andersen, Ay-O, Michael Berger, Joseph Beuys, René Block, Luigi Bonotto, George Brecht, Stanley Brouwn, Jean Brown, John Cage, Giuseppe Chiari, Henri Chopin, Henning Christiansen, Christa, Francesco Conz, Philip Corner, Jacques Donguy, Jean Dupuy, Esther Ferrer, Robert Filliou, Henry Flynt, Ken Friedman, Allen Ginsberg, Ludwig Gosewitz, Al Hansen, Geoffrey Hendricks, Jon Hendricks, Juan Hidalgo, Dick Higgins, Davi Det Hompson, Armin Hundertmark, Alice Hutchins, Joe Jones, Allan Kaprow, Bengt af Klintberg, Milan Kizak, Alison Knowles, Arthur Koeppke, Takehisa Kosugi, Shigeko Kubota, Vytautas Landsbergis, Jean Jacques Lebel, George Maciunas, Jackson Mac Low, Gino Di Maggio, Walter Marchetti, Jonas Mekas, Larry Miller, Barbara Moore, Peter Moore, Charlotte Moorman, Hermann Nitsch, Serge Oldenbourg, Pauline Oliveros, Yoko Ono, Nam June Paik, Ben Patterson, Willem de Ridder, Dieter Roth, Harry Ruhé, Gerhard Rühm, Takako Saito, Gianni Sassi, Tomas Schmit, Carolee Schneemann, Mieko Shiomi, Gilbert Silverman, Gianni-Emilio Simonetti, Hanns Sohm, Daniel Spoerri, Yasunao Tone, Endre Tót, Ben Vautier, Wolf Vostell, Yoshimasa Wada, Robert Watts, Emmett Williams, La Monte Young, Marian Zazeela

JONES, JOE: Xylophone CD (Q 11). $21.00

The fourth Joe Jones archival release on Hundertmark. This features one 31-minute piece of sound made by a music machine xylophone, recorded in 1976. Jones' xylophone consists of a motorized cork beater that runs over the Lyrica tone-tubes in monochromatic fashion, creating an illustrious wave of cosmic fracture. Edition of 500 copies, deliriously good.

RÜHM, GERHARD: Pencil Music CD (Q 12). $23.00

"I was surprised that it was possible to read the acoustic event from the object drawn, and some insecurity about the association of visual signs and sound phenomena (caused by the directional openness of the reading process) appears to increase even more the attraction of seeing them combined. The pencil-sound piece did not always remain the by-product of the dominating drawing-process. The dynamics of the sound sequence in its turn often influenced the development of the drawing and determined it significantly. You will probably notice that even carefully listening to the CD by itself, without producing the images at the same time, has its attraction and betrays its independent musical quality, in other words can be regarded as 'absolute music'. Inversely, it is advisable to look at the drawing independently at times, either as 'pure' visual events or as spatial traces of a hidden music, perhaps caused by energetic processes. This makes one alert and sensitive for the reception of the synaesthetic dimension of the perception of the phenomenal world." — Gerhard Rühm

BÖHMLER, CLAUS: Live At The Lightbulb CD (Q 13). $24.00

A radiotape concert. Dankerrt, Hamburg 1981. With Holger Hiller, Walter Thielsch & Gaste. "Claus Bohmler works with the media. Since they seem to function so well, he takes them apart, examines them, and then, perhaps, assembles them anew. This process doesn't create chic elements for the living rooms of the communication-theorists, the sociologists, or the simulation-apocalyptic, but rather the same sort of rudimentary raw material as found in notebooks, drawings, miniature cameras, radios, photostats, and cassettes. It's these poor media that open eyes and ears. Not bound to a cultural-bureaucratic administrative machinery, they stand their ground by presenting an opulence of idea-productions that fragment, ferment, combine, and experiment, because 'according to Bohmler, every substance is good for thinking' — K. Gallwitz."

1/2 SPECIAL:*TRAD, GRAS OCH STENAR: Djungeln Lag CD (HALV 001CD). $13.50

Perfectly realized (& authorized) reissues of the obscure 3rd & 4th albums by this legendary Swedish group, originally issued in 1972/3. "Recorded live in Sweden 1971. Originally released on the band's own Tall imprint 1972 in an edition of 1000, reissued here for the first time, in conjunction with the band, from the original master tapes and with previously unreleased bonus material. Complete with liner notes from the band and tons of pictures, flyers etc."

TRAD, GRAS OCH STENAR: Mors Mors CD (HALV 002CD). $13.50

"Recorded live in Sweden and Denmark 1972. Originally released on the band's own Tall imprint 1973 in an edition of 1000, reissued here for the first time, in conjunction with the band, from the original master tapes and with previously unreleased bonus material. Complete with liner notes from the band and more tasty pictures, flyers etc. These two independently produced albums by Swedish psych/Kraut/stoner legends Trad, Gras and Stenar upon initial release only reached the turntables of 1000 turned-on souls each, and for records of this magnitude (ahem, these are easily the band's best two albums — the studio recordings on Silence that you may have heard never captured the true organic force of this band, plus the sound on these albums is amazing — two mics into a reel-to-reel - unreal!), that is not enough. In a world where seriously inferior artists of the era (Grateful Dead, Faust, Ya-Ho-Wa) have boxed sets and large record sales to show, the true bliss of these trance-inducing, throbbing hallucinatory jams, its Ornette-esque guitar lines and Liebszeit/Tony Allen voodoo-drumming deserves to be heard by more than the psychedelic fiesos who don't blink twice spending the 100 - 200 dollars it would take to obtain an original copy."

12K:*DEUPREE, TAYLOR: Occur CD (12K 013). $13.00

"Taking cues and production practices culled from his collaboration with Tetsu Inoue on the compact disc active/freeze (12k1009) and his recent compilation appearances on Ritornell and Intransitive Recordings, among others, Occur is a work of non-repetition and subdued melodic passages composed almost entirely by granular synthesis algorithms. Initially inspired by the often quiet urban sounds outside of his studio in Brooklyn, New York, the concept behind Occur grew to become pieces about all things brief?glimpses, things that come and then are gone. These are singular occurrences in time, like the passing of a car or the blinking off of a street light at night. The brittle and sporadic granular tones crunch and crumble about the stereo field creating an implied urban soundscape. This is the first solo CD on 12k from Taylor Deupree since the minimal rhythmic of 1998's Comma. Part one of a two part series, Occur is to be followed up within a year by its polar opposite entitled still, a work of intense repetition, a movement towards implied stillness."

SOGAR: Basal CD (12K 014). $13.00

"Born in Nuremberg, living in Paris, Sogar's Jürgen Heckel manipulates accidental sound into gentle and brittle melodic textures with arrangements using guitars as well as mixing desks, amplifiers and cables as instruments. The sounds are then further processed and treated in software into light hisses, crackles and granular melodic passages rich and insectile-like swarms of life exploring the extremes of spatial oscillations. Basal is both calming and engaging, as well as a challenging foray into the future of microscopic music. Ardent fans of 12k's shuttle358 releases will definitely appreciate this exciting new work."

GOEM: Abri CD (12K 015). $13.00

"Abri was composed using Goem's mobile studio consisting of a laptop and multichannel sound card which allows them to compose anywhere around the world. The music is built around minimal loops and the buzzing of analogue synthesizers create a rich tapestry of sound which requires intense listening to reveal the underlying subtleties and depth. Abri is signature Goem sound and perhaps their most mature and delicate release to date. Goem started mid 1996 when Roel Meelkop gave Frans de Waard a small electronic device, which he found in a thriftshop in Rotterdam. The device was called the Student Stimulator. Until today it is unknown what it was used for, but most likely it was part of a research program exploring the mysteries of human sleep. The machine generates pulses, of which speed and intensity can be changed. Frans dabbled around with the machine using Steve Reich's Phase Shifting techniques and presented a demo back to Roel, who thought it was 'interesting', but not as an end-result. Upon his suggestion, the two re-worked the original demo, by adding sound effects, analogue synthesizers and filtering. Most of those sessions ended up on the first CD Stud Stim, which was released mid 1997 by Raster Music. By this time, Goem were invited at very short notice to play in Barcelona, during a side festival of Sonar. Roel and Frans invited Peter Duimelinks to join forces and since then Goem are a trio. Goem's music is better described as minimal pulse (techno) than as 'glitch' or 'clicks & cuts'."

POIRIER, GHISLAIN: Il N'y A Pas De Sud... CD (12K 016). $13.00

"In an alluring departure from the sound of 12k's recent output, Il n'y a pas de Sud... blends broken melodies and sonic slips with a very stripped down version of the Berlin techno sound. The result is a sparse blend of rhythm and space with a slow diffused groove as beats flux and vibrate beneath lo-fi oscillations of warm chords and clouds of bass. Il n'y a pas de Sud... was created using an ageing PC with so little processing power that Poirier is forced to compose each work in parts and later piece them together. Using this approach he pushes himself to make the most of very little, which he does very well, and has developed a unique and fresh signature sound proving that the latest, most trendy software isn't necessary to create captivating sound. Il n'y a pas de Sud... is a brilliant work from a new face in minimal electronic sound."

O/R (NOSEI SAKATA + RICHARD CHARTIER): Varied CD (12K 018). $13.00

"O/r is Nosei Sakata (*0) and Richard Chartier. While O/r suggested a sense of chaos with its jarring and syncopated digital sound, Varied utilizes much more refined compositional techniques to create highly deliberate passages of whispering sine waves, extreme frequencies, and looping rhythms of noise and detailed sonic pops. Nosei Sakata, who records under the moniker *0, is from Tokyo, Japan. He is part of the new wave of Japanese minimalists exploring computerized anti-music and the conceptual aspect of implied silence. *0 means 'multiplied by zero' hence all answers to such a calculation are zero, and as a result *0 means 'nothing'. The main concept of *0's works centers around the Japanese thought of

'mu'(nothing)... creating all things from an implied nothing. Richard Chartier, minimal sound artist/composer and graphic designer, explores the relationship between sound, silence and the act of listening."

MOTION: Dust CD (12K 019). $13.00

"Motion (the UK's Chris Coode) makes stunningly subtle works out of sensuous vestiges of melody and digital space. Like an awakening insect, 'T.Mis F' opens Dust, Motion's debut 12k CD with sparse fragments of warm tones, lo-fi creaks and bass frequencies. Equally as organic, 'Plan B' conjures up images of a lifetime emerging from a murky pool of liquid. Slowed-down chords and tonal scrapes play over a soft, hushed noise. A quiet CD, Dust engages and focuses the listener, and rewards with repeated listening."

DEUPREE, TAYLOR: Still. CD (12K 020). $13.00

"Still is the much anticipated follow-up to Taylor Deupree's critically acclaimed 2001 CD Occur. Where Occur found itself exploring the non-repeating patterns of nature, inspired by the sounds of life outside of Deupree's Brooklyn studio, Still was initially inspired by the work of photographer Hiroshi Sugimoto, whose Seascapes images masterfully combine repetition and minute change. Still, thus became the sonic opposite of Occur: a set of compositions based on extreme repetition and the exploration of stillness. Arranged in four long pieces, Still is based on the complex repetition of looping passages. The underlying idea is that a pattern repeated for long enough begins to reveal hidden pulses and movements not initially apparent. Elements and frequencies overlap to create subtle new intersections, drawing the listener in, and suspending them in this brief moment of frozen time. The sound of Still is built using melodic and granular passages juxtaposed in variable-length loops, creating layered and imbedded rhythms and highly variable structures of repetition."

WILLITS, CHRISTOPHER: Folding, And The Tea CD (12K 021). $13.00

"Willits' trademark sound is the result of a melodic guitar lines, folded into and on top of each other in real-time. The rhythmic structure of the music is generated from this process. The light pinprick transients, (creases in the body), reveal the reorganization of melodic/harmonic passages. These are the demarcations or an artifact of a rearranging plane of sound, and emerge from the process of folding. Similar to a folded sheet of paper, the music is simultaneously fragmented and continuous. Melody and rhythm are folded into each other, they coincide and interlock. Christopher's interests lie in music that is generated spontaneously, non predetermined. It is a focus on the aesthetic, and material implications of self organizing systems — how fluid yet geometrically dense structures grow from a set of interacting, well designed building blocks. His music is a direct result of the processes involved. Overlapping software processes recontextualize warm guitar chords and folded acoustic timbres into loose and fluid forms while still retaining a feeling of geometry and centeredness. These systems take on a life of their own, generating a music of constant variation and repetition — structures that persist yet gradually drift."

SOGAR: Apikal.Blend CD (12K 022). $13.00

"Born in Nürnberg, Germany, Sogar's Jürgen Heckel now lives and works in Paris. His music has become a signature blend of crystalline sound fragments, static, and simple translucent melodies. Combining both the musical and non-musical, Sogar creates his sonic lifeforms with a combination of software, guitar, and found studio sound sources. Apikal.Blend is the 3rd release by Parisian-based Sogar. (his debut release, Basal, was on 12k in 2001 which was followed in 2002 by Stengel on the French label List). It is the perfect listen for winter days with its icy and fragile textures."

SADJA, DORON: A Piece Of String, A Sunset CD (12K 023). $13.00

"Doron Sadjia's debut release, A Piece Of String, A Sunset, is a five movement CD exploring the subtle fluctuations in tone and amplitude created by the combination of sinewaves nearly identical in pitch. Utilizing a 144 note per octave scale, A Piece Of String, A Sunset is made up of chords containing notes 1/12 a semitone apart, with a heavy emphasis on pitches near the threshold of human audibility. These extreme frequencies are combined with the randomization of data/sound files, the sparse pulse of rhythmic static, and the continuously present expressive meandering of a sol pont Violin (played by Amie Weiss) and loops of manipulated guitar (played by John Anderson) forming a highly synthetic yet still organic body of music."

KIRSCHNER, KENNETH: September 19, 1998 et al. CD (12K 024). $13.00

"Kenneth Kirschner's music combines the influence of the 20th century avant-garde (most importantly Morton Feldman) with the techniques and technologies of contemporary electronic music. His methods mix a systematic use of chance procedures with the sort of rigorous editing only possible in the digital environment. An advocate of the freedom of information, Kirschner makes his work freely available online, and releases material on CD under intellectual property licenses that encourage, rather than inhibit, the music's free proliferation and appropriation. 12k is pleased to present September 19, 1998 et al., the first available CD collection of Kirschner's highly varied output. The opening track, 'September 19, 1998,' juxtaposes a spare, Cagelan piano line with percussion sounds derived from found household objects, principally kitchenware. 'September 27, 2002' is a dense, polyrhythmic study in the possibilities of software synthesized sound design. The final piece, 'February 8, 2003,' transforms tiny, unconsciously selected fragments of the composer's mp3 collection into a flowing assemblage designed to evoke the late-period orchestral music of Feldman. (All of Kirschner's pieces are titled for the date on which they were begun.)"

VA: *E*A*D*G*B*E CD (12K 025)*. $13.00

"Instrument relatives of the guitar can be traced back as far as the 3rd century. Many adaptations were made to the interface over hundreds of years: 3, 5 strings, coupled strings, no coupled strings, 6 strings, always changing with technological advances in instrument craft, new materials from overseas locations, and selection pressures brought upon by musical fashions of the day. The 20th century mixture of guitar + electricity (pickups, amplifiers, processing circuits) changed music as we know it. The 21st century guitar, still cousin to the third century Arabian 'ud, can now be seduced by personal computers and software tools. The old stringed melody-maker, re-sonified and exploded though do-it-yourself digital signal processing, has assumed yet a new form of assemblage and mixture with modern technology. Suddenly the 6 strings seem refreshed, and open to a new notion of guitar music; a music generated from vibrating strings meshed with software processes. 12k embraces this idea by presenting four artists who create contemporary sonic hybrids of guitar and digital processing. *E*A*D*G*B*E* is by no means trying to be a definitive voice of these practices, but rather a sound focused through the 12k filter of minimalism and subtle textures. The title, *E*A*D*G*B*E*, comes from the root tunings of each string on a 6-stringed guitar." Features: Fonica, Keith Fullerton Whitman, Sebastien Roux, Christopher Willits.

VA: Two Point Two 2CD (12K 026). $19.00

"Over the course of 7 and 4 years, respectively, 12k and LINE have been at the forefront of minimalist digital music. They have established themselves not only as a home for some of the most important contemporary electronic sound artists but also as labels who are not afraid to introduce new artists and give them the opportunity to create a unique and recognized voice for themselves in the crowded world of electronic music and sound art. With the release of Two Point Two, the continuation of 12k and LINE's joint double CD series, the labels showcase their own aesthetics and highlight some of the current and future artists that will be at the forefront of their release schedules for the next year. Packaged in a stark-white double-CD digipack that features the design and photography of Taylor Deupree and Richard Chartier, all of the tracks on Two Point Two are previously unreleased. CD1 shows 12k's current interest in melodic and acoustic instrument-based electronic compositions and experiments in deconstructed rhythmic structures. CD2, the LINE disc, continues the documentation of conceptual and installation work by artists who explore contemporary and digital minimalism and the borders of silence."

MOTION: Every Action CD (12K 027). $13.00

"The 3rd full-length release from the UK's Motion (Chris Coode). The work on Every Action spans from 1999-2004, some of the material created around the time Pictures was produced, sharing that release's more obvious tonal and melodic content. Using a stripped-down setup of studio equipment Coode crafts his sound by sampling, processing, resampling, reprocessing.. back and forth, like generations of tape transfers or photocopies of photocopies, until the final results are smeared and distorted ghosts of the original: detuned, groaning, fragmented. Despite the digital sources, Coode's music is highly organic, utilizing randomness, openness and dysfunction to create an oddly ambient and quieting sound made from stressed melodic flickering and skittering, tones, drones, and overprocessed textures. Motion is important in Coode's work, too; slow motion formed in grainy timestretches punctuated by dynamics that swell and disappear creating odd suggestions of performance, structure, and deconstruction built from his always live mixdowns."

BRETSCHNEIDER, FRANK: Looping I-VI (And Other Assorted Love Songs) CD (12K 028). $13.00

"Bretschneider is a founder of Germany's art/music collective Raster-Noton and has released some of the most engaging albums of the decade. Looping I-VI shows a change in direction from Bretschneider's characteristic bouncing and rhythmic minimalism. He took it upon himself as a challenge to create a more sparse and demanding album built with slowly evolving loops and subtle changes over time. Taking inspiration from his current immersion in science fiction novels Looping I-VI plays out very much like a story, unfolding over 42 minutes. Despite the 12 tracks on the CD the music flows seamlessly, slowly, and creates two distinct 'chapters' marked by a sonic hit and a brief moment of silence. Looping I-VI is a work that rewards complete listening, from start to finish, following Bretschneider's sonic fiction through his world of clean tonal elements and loop architecture. For sound-generating, editing, composing and arranging he used again his favourite soft-and -hardware for many years, Logic Audio and the Nord Modular, a synthesizer which has become an extension of himself and that he has unquestionably mastered."

HOLMES, DAVID: Come Get It, I Got It CD (13AMP 001 CD). $17.50

"Mined from an extremely rich vein of 60s and 70s funk and R&B (that often only Holmes seems to know about), Come Get It I Got It is David Holmes second DJ mix album. Its also the debut release for his own new label, 13 Amp. In it, he stitches together a free flowing mix modernized by his own creative interludes under his new guise — Free Association. Following on from 1998's much-loved Essential Mix and the seminal Lets Get Killed studio album, David's work as a DJ now dovetails with his role as both film composer and artist putting together soundtracks for films such as Stephen Soderbergh's Oceans 11. His instinct for making the seemingly unworkable work together has never been more evident with this startling selection of choice cuts delivered with superb and effortless timing. Its an infectious blend of uptown euphoria and downtown hysteria." Artists include: Rodriguez, The Free Association, Hodges, James, Smith & Crawford, Muddy Waters, The Johnny Otis Show, Rex Garvin, Harold Alexander, Ray Bryant, Cyril Neville, A Fascinating Musical Experience, Julius, Betty Adams, The Staple Singers, Johnny Jones and the King Casuals, Valentin Mehlers, The Peter Thomas Sound Orchestra, Andre Perry.

HOLMES, DAVID: The Free Association CD (13AMP 012 CD). $16.00

"This is some of that alligator-gumbo-southern-fried-funk...'. David Holmes presents his new band project on his own fast-rising 13 amp label. And this is their remarkable, debut album. Originally conceived by DJ/producer/soundtrack composer David as a means of taking his music live, The Free Association surfaced in a slightly clandestine role on David's March 2002 released mix album Come Get it I Got It. There, David provided atmospheric, largely instrumental interjections between the glorious mix of southern fried funk and general weirdness in collaboration with fellow free associate Steve Hilton. Steve also works as programmer for Craig Armstrong and David Arnold as well as being a member of forthcoming 13 Amp act, Children. Now expanded out to a core four-piece, The Free Association are an altogether weightier proposition, and they are kicking some serious shit. The most apparent change is that The Free Association is nine tenths sung, with new vocalists Sean Reveron's caustic MCing and Petra Jean Philipson's Billie Holiday-esque style taking David's already extremely infectious and inventive grooves to a whole new dimension."

HOLMES, DAVID: The Free Association 2LP (13AMP 012 LP). $17.00

Double LP Version, full color gatefold sleeve.

1ST DECADE RECORDS (GERMANY):

VA: NEO.POP Part Two 2CD (1ST 002 CD). $26.00

"In the year 2001 a new idea, which has been developing to a great trend, was born by the Label 1st Decade. A trend which managed to wake up the Electro and Techno scene from its restraining coma of commerce within the last 9 months. In the meanwhile the inventors almost got the victims of their own concept...??? OK so let's start at the beginning: In Northern Lite a group with the same passion for electronic music had been found, but which didn't want to stop with the flowery and always equal sound structures of the last years. Therefore a sound developed which minimised electronic music to its original basis, but which is danceable and carries messages instead of word cases. Like many of its predecessors Northern Lite were always a step further than their contemporaries, so nobody really understood their music. Immediately their label had monetary problems. So a new solution had to be found, which should guarantee their survive. But gladly the Gods of creativity and of music were benevolently so they gave them a new concept: A new compilation was needed, a compilation on which they could mix their tracks with those of musically related artists. As people from all over the world with the same attitudes communicated per exchange of ideas through the www. The only thing missing was the accurate name, which was to be found: NEO.POP! On this double CD are the greatest tracks of the last months, including on CD 1 a digital mix and on CD 2 a hand made vinyl mix from one of the masterminds of the scene, Gunjah." Artists include: Golden Boy With Miss Kittin, Northern Lite, Peaches, Martini Brös, Kristall, Slam, Autotune, E-Man, Marc Verbois, Mr. Lovelace, Flash & Gordon, Dan Maxem vs. Polygen, Green Velvet, Frank Müller vs Takkyu Ishino, Sigue Sigue Sputnik vs. Northern Lite, Steril, Nitsch & Gleinser, Kiko, John Starlight, Binge Purge, Ural 13

Diktators, FPU, Heinz, Felix Da Housecat, Queens Of Japan, Fisherspooner, Neon Man, Maru & Comix.

VA: Neo.Pop Part Three CD (1ST 003 CD). $16.00

"Good music and relaxing parties are in constant demand. This is exactly why the Erfurt label, 1st Decade Records, decided to make their compilation series Neo.Pop available to a larger audience. Neo.Pop can be seen as a focus for acts and DJ's who want to set new accents in the realm of electronic music. Modern techno and electro, call it, neo.pop: meaning a synthesis of dance-orientated, fat beats paired with song structures and ideas that partially have their roots in 80's synth-pop, yet dare to step into new directions in electronic music. Northern Lite and the small, yet fine, creative record label, 1st Decade Records, are both a symbol and basis for this style of music, which has found a following not only in Germany and Europe, but which has spread as far as Japan and the USA. The third volume of this compilation series is, again, more than an insight into the most interesting and innovative part of the scene. Tested club tracks from Codec & Flexor, Kiki and Chicken Lips have their place alongside new releases and previously unreleased tracks from Monosurround, Gunjah and Warren Suicide. For the first time, 'Reach the Sun' from Northern Lite premieres on a CD compilation. Further tracks from M. Mayer, Generation Aldi and Ladytron make this disc complete."

NORTHERN LITE: Reach The Sun CD (1ST 007 CD). $18.00

"The new year is marked by a variety of things. For example, the early elimination of the German national soccer team in Portugal, which is more or less already inevitable, the likewise hot and chaotic Olympic Games in Athens and — what so-called fortune tellers have seen in their crystal balls for years — the ascension of the sickly Pope to heaven. On top of all this, if we're really unlucky, we'll have to put up with another 453 'popsuperstarch-fame' shows. Fortunately, our universe is based on a balance of cosmic powers. The law of ambivalence calls for half-way good news as well. One of these is, without a doubt, the release of the new Northern Lite album. After playing their way into the hearts of club-goers persistently for the last 3 years, and enjoying success in Spain, England and Japan, the trio from Erfurt finally found time to record their long-awaited debut. The 13 tracks successfully reflect the unbelievable atmosphere of Northern Lite's live gigs and the individuality of singer Andreas Kubat, guitarist Larry Lowe and DJ Boon. It remains to be seen, though, how much this will contribute to the stability of the universe."

CHESSIE: Overnight 2LP (2ND 004 LP). $18.00

New vinyl version of the 2001 Plug Research CD. "A swirling, indistinct realm of sonic abstraction with influences ranging from the Beach Boys to My Bloody Valentine and Satie. 3rd album by an artist who combines live instruments, found sounds, and non-sequenced electronics. Somewhere between asleep and awake there is a suspended dream state where sounds float and pulsate, where you can no longer trust your senses. Chessie is the soundtrack to this special place. Over the course of three albums, Chessie's Stephen Gardner has plumbed a swirling, indistinct realm of sonic abstraction. Inspired by the sounds of railways, his work has blended electro-acoustic production techniques, live playing and non-sequenced electronics in an effort to capture the spirit and emotion of rail travel. The propulsive, inexorable clank of steel on track forms the rhythmic backbone of the Chessie compositions, and makes a particularly American counterpart to the motorik rhythms of much post-Kraftwerk music."

EPY: Ahead Of The Wav CD (2ND 007 CD). $14.00

"Although equipped with an obvious touch of irony, the album title by these likeable recluses delivers a most fitting descriptions for EPY's music. With a healthy disrespect for traditional music, Ahead of the Wav yet again presents EPY's blueprint for the disco of the next decade but one. For nigh on nine years the Austrians have been programming their own software, feeding it snippets of hip-hop, electro or jazz as sustenance for endless improvisation sessions, to then again dissect the results and combine them anew, creating a patchwork of the driest bass drums, crisp hi-hats, rattling bass, deep soundscapes and fragments processed to infinity. Sounds that appear from nowhere, with uncountable, tiny barbs, scramble all over each other, somewhere between collision and flow while seemingly awkward rhythm shifts might take a few bars to settle into an angular groove. It's funk distilled."

GIARDINI DI MIRÒ: The Academic Rise Of Falling Drifters CD (2ND 008 CD). $15.00

"Maybe the most impressive aspect of Giardini Di Mirò — besides their rare gift for turning melancholy and beauty into audible jewels — is their constant strife to shift their own sound's boundaries with each and every release. In this context The Academic Rise Of Falling Drifters sounds like a natural consequence. After broadening their musical base, inviting selected guests and collaborating with other artists, the Italians have now trustingly passed their songs into other hands entirely. The metaphor might be over-used, but Giardini Di Mirò truly treat their songs like children and have carefully selected suitable foster parents for their musical offspring. As avid fans they had soon identified the perfect candidates for re-interpretations." Includes remixes by: Styrofoam, Herrmann & Kleine, Nitrada, Turner, Opiate, Dntel, Isan, Errorencountered.

LP version

TWIG INFECTION: The Big Blowjob CD (2ND 009 CD). $15.00

"The Big Blowjob manages to combine elegant math rock, unpretentious art rock and sharp pop elements. Twig Infection effortlessly move between melancholy, anger and humour, one moment they are highly charged, the next subtle and fragile. At the same time they remain accessible despite all their complexity, angularity and the many twists and turns their tracks tend to take, not least of all due to Francesco Cantone's charismatic voice."

NOAH23: Quicksand CD (2ND 010 CD). $15.00

"Canadian Noah Brickley has been making music for almost 10 years: flitting between styles, spheres and contexts, soaking up everything from Van Morrison to The Boredoms, he now concentrates on hip-hop, breaking up the narrowly defined limits of this particular genre. From the first moment Quicksand assaults us with a barrage of musical references and quotes like there's no tomorrow. Dancehall, folk, jazz, indie rock, jungle, industrial... hardly a style is left unexplored. Nevertheless Noah23 never truly leaves the realm of hip-hop, but keeps patrolling and searching its frontiers with binoculars, directional microphone and hallucinogenic substances, always aware of what goes on beyond."

NOAH23: Quicksand 2LP (2ND 010 LP). $17.00
Double LP version.

GIARDINI DI MIRÒ: Revolution On Your Pins! 3" CD (2ND 011 CD). $8.00

"With Revolution On Your Pins! Giardini Di Mirò are serving a delicious appetizer for their forthcoming album Punk...not diet!. The 3" CD single reveals the new dimensions GDM are taking with their upcoming record. By adding vocals to almost all their songs the Italians leave the trails of postrock in order to create their very own versions of popsongs: epic, dense and massive in sound."

GIARDINI DI MIRÒ: Punk...Not Diet! CD (2ND 012 CD). $15.00

"Long misunderstood, it took Giardini Di Mirò a string of EPs and the excellent long player Rise And Fall Of Academic Drifting to shake the constricting postrock tag they had been labelled with. To the Italians, their music was always about creating their very own take on pop: expansive, epic, orchestral, but always with a focus on the underlying melodies. Joining the list of guest musicians are Arne Van Petegem (Styrofoam), Thaddeus Herrmann (of Herrmann & Kleine) as well as Christophe Stoll (Nitrada) who, with a lot of sensitivity and understanding for the band's unique sound, added electronic elements to some of the tracks. For the first time since their inception (nigh on seven years ago) the band took their time in the studio to truly explore their sound for Punk...Not Diet!. Many of the guitar parts spawned by absentminded experimentation during nightly recording sessions found their way onto the album."

GIARDINI DI MIRÒ: Punk...Not Diet! LP (2ND 012 LP). $16.00
LP version.

STACS OF STAMINA/PILOT BALLOON: Split 10" (2ND 013 EP). $9.00

"Embarking on a musical journey that takes you to the depths of mother earth and back. Johan's production on the 7 part song is an epic feat described as 'spaced out drum n bass, banging hip hop, distorted electronica, futuristic folk music'. KaeoFlux and Jud from Komadose Records, together form the incredible production team Pilot Balloon. With hard-core, jazz, hip-hop and electronica backgrounds there are no barriers to destroy. There seem to be no boundaries to their intricate beats as they go from bouncy, slow hip hop in 4/4 to melancholic electronica-drum n bass in 6/8."

NITRADA: We Don't Know Why But We Do It CD (2ND 015CD). $17.00

"Electronic music can turn you into a bit of a recluse. Especially when, like Christophe Stoll aka Nitrada, you tinker with it by yourself — in the dark cellar of a dark city. This might sound a little sad, dramatic even. And in a way it is, but precisely these circumstances triggered an idea which proved crucial for the first ever Nitrada long-player: to brighten up his self-imposed solitude Christophe decided to, every once in a while, leave the basement door ajar — a welcome invitation for a stream of guest musicians to enrich these nine tracks with internal ideas and impulses in a variety of possible combinations."

NITRADA: We Don't Know Why But We Do It LP (2ND 015LP). $16.00
LP version.

PILOT BALLOON: Ghastly Good Cheer CD (2ND 016CD). $18.00

"Undoubtedly hip hop by nature, their debut also poaches in the spheres of post rock, jazz and electronica. With the aid of guitar, bass, drums, synthesiser, turntables and sampler they have managed to create an atmospherically dense and sophisticated record, exposing ever new facets on even the umpteenth play. What might start out sounding chaotic or arbitrary is soon revealed to be very clever and painstakingly arranged. Pilot Balloon are true geniuses at chopping beats, grinding melodies and allowing entire tracks to fall apart to then shape something new out of the wreckage. Unexpected twists and turns are lurking in each and every track, sluggish grooves might suddenly roll and overtake themselves while skewed dissonances dissolve in suspense-ridden harmonies."

GIARDINI DI MIRÒ: Hits For Broken Hearts and Asses CD (2ND 017CD). $17.00

"Giardini Di Mirò's 8-year band history is characterized by an urge for development and change. With each release, the Italians have moved on — and forward. The past, especially their own, has never been important. Nevertheless, their upcoming Hits For Broken Hearts and Asses is not a brand new album, but a collection of earlier recordings. All Giardini Di Mirò songs recorded and released before their debut long player Rise and Fall of Academic Drifting only ever saw the light in small and limited editions on a number of different labels in Italy, Germany and the States. There is only a tenuous link between the tracks assembled on Hits for Broken Hearts and Asses and the band's current sound. A lot has happened between the first demo and last year's Punk? not Diet!. The most glaring difference is probably the inclusion of vocals, already featured on two tracks of their debut album and almost ubiquitous on Punk? not Diet! (with only one purely instrumental track). In addition, electronic elements have joined the melee of Giardini Di Mirò's music, as evinced by collaborations with Arne van Petegem (Styrofoam), Thaddeus Herrmann (Herrmann & Kleine) and Christophe Stoll (Nitrada) on their current album. Nevertheless all releases — whether instrumental or with vocals, whether recorded with just two microphones or in a 24-track studio — have one thing in common: their beautiful, melancholic melodies suffused by true heart's blood."

Double LP version.

2062:

BASINSKI, WILLIAM: The Disintegration Loops CD (2062 0201). $13.00

First non-CDR release on Basinski's own label (prev/forthcoming releases on Raster & Idea). "William Basinski is a musician, composer, auteur who has worked in experimental media for over twenty years in NYC, expanding the boundaries of the aural landscape. In 1978, inspired by minimalists such as Steve Reich and Brian Eno, he began developing his own vocabulary using tape loops and old reel to reel tape decks. He developed his meditative, melancholy style experimenting with short looped melodies played against themselves creating feedback loops." About The Disintegration Loops: "In the process of archiving and digitizing analog tape loops from work I had done in 1982, I discovered some wonderful sweeping pastoral pieces I had forgotten about. Beautiful, lush cinematic truly American pastoral landscapes swept before my ears and eyes. Tied up in these melodies were my youth, my paradise lost, the American pastoral landscape, all dying gently, gracefully, beautifully. Life and death were being recorded here as a whole: death as simply a part of life: a cosmic change, a transformation."

BASINSKI, WILLIAM: The Disintegration Loops II CD (2062 0202). $13.00

Finally officially released, the next three volumes in Basinski's incredible Disintegration Loops series. Each volume is totally mesmerizing, in the realms of general organic drone and aesthetic decay. Basinski has become a cult hero of sorts for the quality of his works (previous releases on Raster & Three Poplars; forthcoming on Idea) and the release of II, III, & IV will solidify that forever. "The second Disintegration Loops consists of two long segments, both strikingly beautiful; the first one is a single muffled — but radiant to my ears — chord repeating over and over, a musical fragment that, more than evoking abandon or solitude, brings to my mind the effort of a woman giving birth to his creature: repetition and the ongoing pulverizing of sound resemble the extreme force of life desperately wanting to overcome. The remaining part is one of the best tracks by William, as it's based upon a loop seemingly taken from a 'calm' moment of a western soundtrack — like someone watching an immense prairie in front of him; of course, the deterioration process and the constant shift of memories guarantee much more, as the two notes creating the constant, slow melody of the piece remain in your ears for weeks. Another testimony of how one can fill the pages of his own album of grey pictures without a trace of glue, only with a slight touch of soul opening." — Massimo Ricci.

BASINSKI, WILLIAM: The Disintegration Loops III CD (2062 0304). $13.00

"As time passes by, one feels like trapped in quicksand: the more you try to liberate your mind from the echo of memories, the worse you get entangled into that certain 'something' thought to be completely forgotten, but still there in your very 'me'. This image came to my mind while listening to the fifth movement of Basinski's work-in-progress on these heart-breaking loops, probably the absolute top of the series as far as a simple concept of 'beauty' is usable. A few orchestral chords stretch one over another while the rolling tape shows here his worst kind of deteriorating, transforming a throbbing atmosphere of delicate infancy remembrings into a flesh-tearing interruption, then again getting into an almost complete silence, broken only by tape hiss and the last remnants of original sound: let me tell you, truly memorable. Part 6 begins right there where the other ends — more chordal superimpositions in infinite repeat — this time with minor damage to the tape during its course. This particular piece sounds like a long reflection on what's become of us after so many beautiful moments of our life; what should we try to do to the ones we care about to let them feel our love and respect? William's music is certainly a sign to all of us, he's opening his chest and letting us see what's in there: unbelievably, I — for one — have been able to look into a good portion of my own past thanks to his sad yet wondrous recalls." — Massimo Ricci.

BASINSKI, WILLIAM: The Disintegration Loops IV CD (2062 0305). $13.00

"And then, the man remained alone with more doubts than ever before. Music had flown through the years, the tapes definitively gone. IV draws the final line in this groundbreaking 'disintegration' cycle and it does it with a high grade of acute intensity and a totally developed loop aesthetic...moreover, the final track is sort of a reprise of the first segment in I, like putting an end to a whole giant texture. Basinski's repetitions are truly addictive; I could listen for days, each repeat bringing out new details to punch my stomach with majestic emotional landscapes. This music turns slow cartwheels in the conscience of the 'ones who know': it's a rerun of those life segments our brain likes spitting out randomly when we're reflecting in the silence. This Brooklyn artist casts a shadow on many so-called 'Ambient' semi-gods because of the simple contrast between his articulated flashbacks and the very simple means he uses. These loops are much more than fine-grained soundworks, rather they just turn out to put some well placed knot in carefully chosen throats."

23FIVE:

GENDREAU, MICHAEL: 55 pas de la ligne au no3 CD (23FIVE 002 CD). $13.50

"Long-time San Francisco based sound artist, internationally known from his extensive discography as Crawling With Tarts, releases his first full length solo work. 55 pas de la ligne au no3 is a microscopic study of dense sonic landscapes buried within antiquated turntable motors. Gendreau, an acoustician by profession, utilizes high sensitivity accelerometers to map detailed frequencies from a variety of old turntable motors and mechanics. This is a rare exhibition of the creative potential within this kind of technology."

240 VOLTS (GERMANY):

BLACK & SELFPARTWO, KONRAD: Scrawled In Blood Across Your T-Shirt 12" (VOLT 005). $9.00

"Three works of super-controlled, deep and taught electronic sound. Follows from the Nails EP on 240 Volts and 'White Cigarettes' from 240 Volts compilation."

DAVIS, RICHARD: EP 12" (VOLT 007 EP). $9.00

"Fresh from his much applauded LP Safety on Punkt music, we are happy to bring you 4 new tracks of deep, soulful, real house music. Richard is an Englishman living in Berlin for many years, but he makes music that feels like Chicago, New York, Detroit and Paris all rolled up. We are really into this release and hope that you will share Our feelings.. A1) 'Bring You Closer' - cut up cellos, scratchy percussion, chunky beats, dub feelings...this song is a hymn and a celebration of sadness. A veritable classic. A2) 'A Million Miles' more deft production. Super sub basslines. Full vocal treatments - happy/sad house for heart, head and feet. B1) 'Your Hands' a stopped clock tells the right time twice a day... Lush pads, cheeky high hats, driving percussion, phasing vocals, oh so disco synth bass line... More Quality filled pleasure grooves. B2) 'Cruel Sun' back to 1992-3 with this very New York / nervous/ strictly rhythm style song...full, fat and so much soul."

HUNDARNA FRAN SODER: EP 12" (VOLT 008 EP). $9.00

"Daniel Savio, Tor Lowkrantz, Aksel Friberg citizens of Sweden deep and frozen fresh for your ears, we are happy to bring this fine release to you. These 3 young men are truly talented and bring just enough but never too much to every song on this EP. A1) 'Reunion' — a constant favourite here at Volt hq. This is a fine lesson in deep, feeling music. Makes me smile and cry. A2) 'Regn' — Ahh the long winter nights, driving for something to do. Early morning sunshine, heavy frost. A fine breakfast indeed. B1) 'Reporter' — Electro rhythms fly with deep chords and delay, recalling bitstreams of pleasure. B2) 'Codex Eticus' — Possibly the best is saved for last — sustaining pads, mini klicks and synth heaven take us to the happy/sad center of our label."

25PM (FRANCE):

HELDON: Only Chaos Is Real CD (25PM 002). $15.00

"Heldon, the legendary electronic band, is now active again thanks to Richard Pinhas, now accompanied by Maurice G Dantec, famous French SF-writer, Norman Spinrad, another legendary SF author and David Kom, trash singer. Aggressive guitars, electronic rhythms, ecstatic music are melted into a new fusion dedicated to Heldon's music."

3 BEADS OF SWEAT:

MOUNTAIN GOATS, THE: Protein Source Of The Future...Now! CD (3BOS 1001 CD). $13.00

"Protein Source of the Future...Now! is the first volume (in a series of three) of compilations collecting songs by the Mountain Goats from the myriad 7"s, cassettes, and compilation appearances made over the years. This is a reissue of the 23-track Ajax compilation that originally came out in 1999. This volume spans the period of their early-ish material ('93/'94), when John Darnielle was still insisting that the band was a 5-piece, up through the development of his modern, more mature solo style, albeit before he started recording in 'real' studios. For many folks, this period features some of his best, most poignant and funniest work."

MOUNTAIN GOATS, THE: Bitter Melon Far m CD (3BOS 1002 CD). $13.00

"Bitter Melon Far m is the second volume (in a series of three) of compilations collecting songs by the Mountain Goats from the myriad 7"s, cassettes, and compilation appearances made over the years. This is a reissue of the 27-track Ajax compilation that originally came out in 1999 and that has been out of print for over a year."

MOUNTAIN GOATS, THE: Ghana CD (3BOS 1003 CD). $13.00

"Ghana is the third volume (in a series of three) of compilations collecting songs by the Mountain Goats from the myriad 7"s, cassettes, and compilation appearances made over the years. This 31-track compilation has never seen the light of day before, and includes some of the most difficult-to-track-down Mountain Goats material ever released."

BACULUM: My Friends Became Junkies CD (3BOS 1004 CD). $13.00

"My Friends Became Junkies is the debut album from a San Francisco 'studio' band headed up by Michigan transplant Sam Goldman, who performed on the final recordings of the late great Slovenly. There's no way to neatly encapsulate what it is that Baculum do over the 19 songs here, since the results are so wide-ranging and unclassifiable. There is some great, wiry rock, rustic Americana-tinged campfire songs, atmospheric ambient studio fuckery, slinky noir-nightclub shuffle, ethereal John Fahey-meets-This Kind of Punishment art-rock, and more. It's a sonic cousin to such fellow travelers as the aforementioned Slovenly, Mayo Thompson's Red Krayola, This Kind of Punishment, the Toiling Midgets, the Fish & Roses country-blues side-project Peach Cobbler, and Tom Waits."

3 CHAIRS:

3 CHAIRS: 3 Chairs 3LP (3CH 003LP). $24.00

Long rumored triple album from the Detroit supergroup of: Malik Pittman, Theo Parrish, Rick Wilhite, Kenny Dixon. As expected, awesome deep-space house, in the grand KDJ tradition. Track Listing: Plate I - A/'3 Chairs Theme', 'Dreamz'. B/'Blackbone Waltz'. Plate II - C/'System Sauce', 'Misty City'. D/'Dance of Nubia'. Plate III - E/'I Wonder Why' (EDIT), 'Underwater People'. F/'Midday Blues at Midnight'.

30 HERTZ RECORDS (UK):

WOBBLE, JAH: Elevator Music Volume 1A CD (30HZCD 022). $15.00

"My philosophy of life is very simple. I discovered a few years ago that I am the centre of the universe...without me none of this ... (by this, I mean all this) would be possible. Unfortunately being the creative centre of the universe comes with certain responsibilities. Yes even I have to follow divine law. Anyway, now is not the time to go into all that. I do still have hobbies, one of them is making music. Elevator Music, to be more specific. I recommend that you listen to this music in this fashion; Simulate the conditions of a typical elevator... invite friends around to your house/room, pretend that you don't know each other. Stand, silently, in close proximity to each other. Try, in a rather self conscious fashion, to avoid eye contact. Attempt to get everybody to cultivate 'coffee breath.' If like me you don't have friends use mannequins, and spray them with home made coffee breath essence. Listen to the music at a level that is always slightly too low. The whole experience should be; uncomfortable, disconcerting, mildly irritating, vacuous, and devoid of meaning. Enjoy." — Jah Wobble. With guest musicians BJ Cole: (pedal Steel), and Harry Becket: (Trumpet).

YULDUZ: Bilaladim CD (30HZCD 023). $15.00

"A graduate of the department for oriental music at the conservatorium in Yulduz Usmanova composes her songs around established folk songs which are still sung in Usbekian villages today. This traditional Usbekian folklore, which contains Turkish, Persian and Central Asian influences, has been mixed by Jah Wobble (her producer on this album) with western rock, pop and dance styles. The result is an extraordinary combination of east and western styles, although the ethnic elements are unmistakable. 'When I started, I thought that this traditional music has to be preserved,' explains Yulduz, 'it had to be made up to date though.' When Jah Wobble first heard Yulduz' music, he felt that her work had suffered from an over-commercialisation; caused by a major record company and producers who had misunderstood her ethnic artistry and potential."

WOBBLE & DEEP SPACE, JAH: Beach FervourSpare CD (30HZCD 11). $15.00

"Jah Wobble, the Pope of dub-punk bass guitar, consolidates his reputation as a bandleader with the second epic installment of his Deep Space project. The first album (Deep Space, 30HZCD9) was the best received Wobble CD for several years. For the potent new album, Wobble has brought in the awesome talents of young drummer Mark Sanders (the drummer of choice of avant-sax godfather Evan Parker), and the no-nonsense true grit of Manchester based guitarist/producer Chris Cookson. Highly respected ambient composer Paul Schütze lends an atmospheric hand, and the whole mix has been enhanced by the vast experience of dub producer Marc Angelo Lusardi. Drama queen wind players Jean-Pierre Rasle and Clive Bell carry over from the first album. This team of musical mavericks has been handpicked by Wobble for their willingness to lay aside their egos and lose their individual contributions in the greater whole that is Deep Space. Musical reference points are the Panthalassa 'mix-translations' of Miles Davis by Bill Laswell, and 1999's Programmed by Carl Craig's Innerzone Orchestra. This is the most robust mystical music you will ever hear, and the most visionary Jah Wobble album to date."

WOBBLE & THE INVADERS OF THE HEART, JAH: Molam Dub CD (30HZCD 12). $15.00

"Molam, the thousand year old musical tradition of southern Laos. Molam is a love jousting, a stylised courtship ritual. Male and female singers improvise in poetic or bawdy style, competing in rhyme. Traditionally, Molam is founded on the churning rhythms of the khene, the lively bamboo mouthorgan which is the national instrument of Laos. The khene is to Laos as the bagpipe to Scotland, only more so. Inextricably tied to the national identity, the sight and sound of this bouncing cluster of tubes makes the Laotian heart beat faster. The khene player blows, sucks, wheezes and often dances while playing — it's a mouth-driven accordion, and is in fact the ancestor of the accordion, harmonica and all other western 'free reed' instruments. The Laotians are famously the people who eat 'sticky rice' (steamed rice served in baskets and eaten with the fingers) and play the khene. Laos is a landlocked strip of southeast Asia between Thailand and Vietnam, the river Mekong forming most of its western border. One of the poorest countries in the world, it also has the dubious distinction of being the most heavily bombed nation per capita in the history of warfare. In the Palace Museum in Luang Phabang is a fragment of moon rock, presented to the Lao people by US President Nixon in 1973. The same year that the US finally stopped saturation bombing of eastern Laos, the secret footnote to the history of the Vietnam war. Molam is still the country's favourite entertainment, heard at farming ceremonies, family celebrations and raucous drinking parties. When you witness Lao singers trading amorous innuendo through microphones and a vicious amplification system at a Vientiane party, it's hard not to see Molam as a distant cousin of rap music. Molam is such a popular genre in Laos and neighbouring Thailand that it has mushroomed into pop and electric formats, involving guitars, keyboards and drums. Many singers sell vast numbers of cassettes of electric Molam and the related Thai Luk Tung. One of these stars is the singer Pornsak Songseng. When listening to this largely drone-based and pentatonic music, two impressions leap out: one, that Pornsak's bass guitarist plays a lot like Jah Wobble; and two, that the whole kaboodle is southeast Asia's answer to reggae. After listening to and admiring this music for many years, and seeing that such a fine group of Lao traditionalists was living three hours across La Manche by Eurostar, Jah Wobble could finally resist no longer, and decided to record a collaboration with Molam Lao group members. The sessions were an exhilarating party — westerners were impressed by the flexibility of the Lao musicians, and the direct beauty of their performances. Laotians were bowled over by the antics of Wobble and engineer Cai Murphy on the mixing desk, and each mix was concluded by the whole studio bursting into applause. We were all moved by what was happening, and hope that this project will bring the Molam of Laos to a wider audience." — Clive Bell.

WOBBLE, JAH: The Inspiration Of William Blake CD (30HZCD 13). $15.00

"For this album, Wobble pursues yet another tangent, whereby he sets some of William Blake's poems to his trademark hallucinatory soundscapes. Blake was a 19th century artist, poet, mystic and author of Tyger Tyger and Jerusalem. He made little distinction between the conscious and the unconscious, a similar line that Jah Wobble follows as a musician. This inspirational recording was first released on the All Saints label in 1996."

WOBBLE AND EVAN PARKER, JAH: Passage To Hades CD (30HZCD 14). $15.00

"Passage to Hades is a heavenly blend of the rich unmistakable bass tones of Jah Wobble and the sublime improvisations of free Jazz legend Evan Parker. From start to finish the album is a soaring world of many delights which sees Wobble's trademark deep bass grooves and sonic flights of fancy interspersed with the unique circular breathing virtuosity of Parker. Already hailed by some quarters as very important, Passage To Hades, follows on from the success of Jah Wobble's recent albums Inspiration Of William Blake and Molam Dub. 30 Hertz are gaining a reputation as the home of some dazzling innovative and ambitious musical works. Wobble seems hell bent on chasing the sonic grail and Passage To Hades sets this out whilst Evan Parker's position as among the UK's foremost improvisational musicians is cemented further. Featuring superb contributions from members of Wobble's Deep Space Project, the mesmeric, haunting pipework of Clive Bell and Jean Pierre Rasle along with the hypnotic rhythms of drummer Mark Sanders, this is work that defies easy categorisation and implores repeated listening from fan and new listener alike."

WOBBLE & DEEP SPACE, JAH: Largely Live In Hartlepool & Manchester 2CD (30HZCD 15). $21.00

"Everyone owns a record that Jah Wobble has played on. This maverick bass player first found his musical feet with Public Image Ltd (PIL), creating melodic bass lines as striking and memorable as the Metal Box they came in. Jah Wobble soon found himself on his own path of musical discovery. Jah worked with Can's Czucay and Leizezeit, and U2's Edge which resulted in 2 albums, Betrayal and Snake Charmer. These albums only hinted at future 'world music' influences. This album is a high quality live performance concert recording taken primarily from the band's gigs in Manchester and Hartlepool last year. Many fans of Jah Wobble and Deep Space have been asking about the availability of live concert recordings and there is a thriving bootleg market for such CDs. The market exists and Jah enjoys a large and loyal fan base and this recording will be a must for them."

WOBBLE, JAH: The Early Years 2CD (30HZCD 16). $15.00

Double CD (for the price of one) retrospective of Wobble's earliest post-PIL recordings, circa 1983-4. "A big thanks to the many of you who, at any time or place, have asked the man operating as Jah Wobble when he's going to re-release the Bedroom Album era records. Years of pestering have finally paid off. And the world is a better place for it. What you have here, on a convenient 2 disc set, is the legendary, lost Bedroom Album, five complete 12 inch singles (as we used to call them), and a selection from the equally legendary and even more lost Tradewinds album. The master tapes are long gone. The discs were re-mastered from the holy records themselves. This music was recorded in a bedroom and various studios in London, and in a night club in Amsterdam, during the early 1980s. And released on Lago, the record label without a logo or an address. The Bedroom Album wasn't planned as an album. Wobble made it because that's what he does. By himself mostly, with some help from David, known as Animal, Maltby on electric guitar. But it's not like he wasn't getting out of the house at all at the time. He was also busy playing with Animal and Jim Walker as the Human Condition, as well as making records with the likes of Holger Czucay, Jaki Liebezzeit, and Ben Mandelson. And at home it stayed until someone from Rough Trade came round, heard the tapes, and suggested it be released. Given that Wobble hadn't much of an income source at the time, he agreed. Listening to the record you get the feeling that the curtains of the bedroom probably weren't opened very much. The music is compelling, introspective, and dark. 'No joy in my heart, I'm just existing' he sings on the opening track, City. (It was made shortly after the death of Ian Curtis in 1981.) This darkness, as Wobble often has said, is a part of all of us that should be recognized and dealt with, not ignored. To quote the original sleeve notes by Juan Fernandez Jr, 'A record perfect for night-time playing...play it to antidote the Western Cancer Music'. The second disc is a set of completely different dishes, using many of the same ingredients and spices. After this batch of records Wobble spent about 10 years working with Island Records before going in to business for himself again in 1997 with the launch of 30 Hertz Records. As with Lago, this arrangement suits the man much better, allowing him to put out exactly the music he wants when he wants. Fresh from the kitchen to your table."

WOBBLE & TEMPLE OF SOUND, JAH: Shout At The Devil CD (30HZCD 17). $14.00

"Shout At The Devil wisely colours its Arabic dub soundtrack with the addition of vocal contributions from the world recognised Natasha Atlas, Nina Miranda and Prodigy's Shahin. This rich tapestry of collaborators are at the heart of this tasteful brew of exotic and entrancing music. Unlike Wobble's other recent collaborations, all of a similar ilk, Shout At The Devil contains a sinister underbelly, whereby the hypnotic melodies wind around the listener like a hissing cobra. As usual, Wobble can be found bass in hand, scoring out the songs which are then given their meat and bones via Count Dubulah's occasional springy guitar and full-blooded programming. The title track, with Natacha Atlas on vocals takes you into the heart of the tribe like never before, delivering a healthy dose of mystical eastern authenticity."

WOBBLE'S SOLARIS, JAH: Live In Concert CD (30HZCD 18). $14.00

Jah Wobble, Harold Budd, Jaki Liebezzeit, Bill Laswell, & Graham Haynes. "Born out of a chance collaboration between Jah Wobble and Harold Budd, Solaris brings together an extraordinary line up of musicians to perform improvised modal adventures in dub, jazz and ambient music. Solaris gives audiences a rare and unique opportunity to watch a group of highly eclectic musicians who are pioneers in the worlds of ambient, post-rock, world and jazz music perform together for the first time ever. Taking the name for the project from Russian film maker Andrei Tarkovsky's sci-fi classic Solaris, Jah Wobble talks about his inspiration in the director's faith and belief; 'You get this mystical vision of the world, a certain kind of stillness. Now the world of film has been influenced by the wacky world of video, where you've got to have scene changes and fast edits every second or two. And that reminded me of record companies in the 80s and 90s. You couldn't let things run for a few bars without change going on, because god forbid but the audience is so fucking stupid they might lose the plot, they might get bored. You can't have that, they've always got to be stimulated. It's very unhealthy shit that's going on. That's why Tarkovsky is the antidote to that kind of craziness.' Wobble's Solaris project offers its own antidote through music itself."

WOBBLE, JAH: Fly CD (30HZCD 19). $15.00

"This is Jah Wobble's first solo album for sometime, and demonstrates his considerable talents as a composer, multi-instrumentalist, as well as a bass player. Guest Musicians: Clive Bell pipes and flutes, ticks; Charlotte Glasson alto sax; Harry Beckett trumpet; Jean-Pierre Rasle; Chris Cookson guitar/programming; Cat Vonn-Trapp."

WOBBLE & DEEP SPACE, JAH: Five Beat CD (30HZCD 20). $15.00

Long awaited album from Jah Wobble's Deep Space group, now featuring Philip Jeck! "In early 1999 I formed the group Deep Space. The idea was to mix ancient and awe inspiring pipe sounds, (courtesy of JP Rasle and C Bell) played over a fluid and ever changing (in terms of mode, rhythm, tempo and time signature) rhythm section (courtesy of drummer M Sanders and your humble narrator). The other starting premise was a desire to incorporate the layered textures of electronic music, particularly of the music concrete variety. This 'electronic aspect' was, over the subsequent years and much to my frustration only ever occasionally satisfied, (Paul Shutze on Beach Fervour Spare for example). This situation seems to have been rectified by the addition of the irrepressible P Jeck and his record players. Also featured on this album are C Cookson on guitar, as well as my old friend and master trumpeter Mr H Beckett. These last two musicians combine well, bringing a particular 'chordal' and melodic sensibility into the melange, specifically in regard to track 4. The last track features a vocalist both versatile and daring: Ms C Vonn-Trapp. I am very happy with this recording. I am inclined to feel 'mission accomplished'. In which case I will write elevator music at home for the foreseeable future." — JW.

WOBBLE, JAH: English Roots Music CD (30HZCD 21). $15.00

"Many of the moody, drone-based, heart-rendering melodies are based on the old church modes, and some have hardly changed since medieval times (There are speculations that a version of 'The Unquiet Grave' inspired the carol 'There blows a colde wynd todaye, todaye' c. 1500). Other songs have a strong XVIIIth Century flavour, and their tunes have often been borrowed for later Victorian hymns, whereas Cannily, Cannily was written in 1969, by folk collector and protest songwriter Ewan MacColl. Its melody seems to be based on a lullaby, and helped towards its success and assimilation into the body of traditional British folk songs. With the help of Chris Cookson's wild ethnic loops and his own obsessive, post-industrial bass lines, Jah Wobble proceeded to deconstruct the same songs over the next two days, commandeering the odd flurry of whistle notes or long sustains of bagpipe drones at exhilaratingly odd intervals. He interspersed the recording with jumping out of hotel wardrobes and frightening the life out of me, but also with illuminating musings while walking along Hartlepool's lesser known sea front. Surrounded by the savage beauty of its black and white rocks mixed with decaying Victorian dwellings and 21st century waste, Jah Wobble's chosen musical mix seemed particularly relevant. The result is sure to rattle some folksy cages, and more than a few Victorian song collectors might turn in their grave, but the atmospheres he has created provide a direct link with the songs' original bearers: a hint of the first trains here, a whiff of the sweatshop there. Let these songs speak for themselves."

WOBBLE, JAH: Deep Space CD (30HZCD 9). $15.00

"Features drummer Jaki Liebezzeit of legendary German art-rockers Can; ace jazz experimental bass player Bill Laswell, Bosnian singer Amila Sulejmanovic, plus Clive Bell and Jean-Pierre Rasle on pipes and flute, as well as Wobble's long time sparring partner Mark Lusardi (playing 'the Mutator'). With Deep Space takes his development of 'real ambient' even further, taking a lead from avant garde composers Stockhausen and Messiaen. The seven tracks are very trane like and very atmospheric, with an emphasis on rhythmic movement — classic bass and drums and very heavy."

30 MIL RECORDS (UK):

DUAL PURPOSE: Runfastmaybefaster 12" (3TML 002 EP). $9.00

"Four new tracks from the very shy Dual Purpose, of whom not much is known. Following on from the much talked about 4 track EP in 2001, here we find two tracks in a lazy ghetto pace, and on the flip, two driving tracks derived from arcade hell." This one is rumored to be Skam-related...

333DISCS (JAPAN):

WORLD STANDARD & MOOSE HILL: Futari: Graceful Silence CD (333DISCS 004). $21.00

"Futari is a serial collaboration project of Soichiro Suzuki (a.k.a. World Standard) In that project, he's going to collaborate with friends who are engrossed in music deeply. They spent more time than ordinary collaboration work. They make music by exchanging sound data and e-mails without meeting. The chemistry of them produces something new. It will be quite different from their past works. The first release of the project is an acoustic instrumental album collaborated with Goro Ito (a.k.a. Moosehill) The relaxing sound of acoustic guitars, mixed with exquisite electronics, flute, piano, etc...makes the tapestry of sounds. It's just like an elegant and friendly conversation made in a 'Graceful Silence'. Graceful Silence is for grown-ups who have longings for the beauty of innocence of children." Thematic packaging that is similar to the 2nd volume on P-Vine (PCD 5664: Futari: Anthology Of Barbarian Folk Music).

3LOBED:

BARDO POND/TOM CARTER: CD (3LOBED 012). $13.50

"Early 2003 saw Tom Carter performing a string of shows on the east coast, including a stop in Philadelphia at the Tritone where he joined Bardo Pond on stage and play a quiet, subdued set. While this group of the musicians had known each other for a while, they had never formally collaborated before on the stage or in the studio. On April 23 all of the players convened at the Pond's Lemur House studio in an effort to prepare for the show. Those preparations were done with the tape running and the results stunned everyone involved — while there were expectations that things would work out nicely, the resulting free-flowing and complex improvisations were beyond anyone's imagination. Carter's signature guitar styling acted as the perfect accompaniment to the Bardo Pond sound, together with their performances creating a fully-formed collection of songs."

4 MEN WITH BEARDS:

FRANKLIN, ARETHA: I Never Loved A Man (The Way I Love You) LP (4M 101). $15.00

"Originally released in 1967, this is Aretha Franklin's first album for Atlantic and possibly the greatest debut in the history of soul music. This soul landmark contains one of the truly seminal singles ever ('Respect'), 2 killer tracks recorded at Fame Studio in Muscle Shoals ('I Never Loved A Man The Way I Love You' and 'Do Right Woman-Do Right Man') plus lots of other great hard soul groovers. A masterpiece from start to finish. This reissue contains new exclusive and detailed liner notes by '60s music historian Alec Palao along with the original ones by producer Jerry Wexler. Audiophile remastering from the original master tapes..180 gram HQ vinyl. Original artwork. Gatefold sleeve."

MCCANN & EDDIE HARRIS, LES: Swiss Movement LP (4M 102). $15.00

"Originally released in 1969 on Atlantic (and recorded live in the same year at the Montreux Jazz Festival), this is one of the most popular and best selling soul-jazz albums of all time. The spontaneous and groovy tracks are unforgettable. Contains the definitive version of Gene McDaniels' 'Compared To What' that became legendary. Les McCann and Eddie Harris with the amazing Benny Bailey on trumpet plus Leroy Vinnegar (bass) and Donald Dean (drums). New exclusive liner notes by the original producer Joel Dorn. Audiophile remastering from the original master tapes. 180 gram HQ vinyl. Original artwork. Gatefold sleeve."

SHARROCK, SONNY: Black Woman LP (4M 103). $15.00

"A legendary album produced by Herbie Mann and originally released in 1969 on the Atco subsidiary Vortex. Sonny Sharrock (and his wife Linda) recorded these tracks with a cast of New York free jazz all-stars including pianist Dave Burrell, drummer Milford Graves, trumpeter Teddy Daniel, and bassist Norris Jones among the others. A radical album with uncompromising blasts of atonal electric guitar, free-form sonic explorations, eccentric country blues touches and Linda Sharrock's Patty Waters/Yoko Ono-influenced vocals. Featuring the classic 'Portrait Of Linda In Three Colors, All Black'. This reissue contains detailed liner notes by Byron Coley. Audiophile remastering from the original master tapes. 180 gram HQ vinyl. Original artwork. Gatefold sleeve."

ART ENSEMBLE OF CHICAGO: Bap-Tizum LP (4M 104). $15.00

"First of the 2 landmark albums originally released on the Atlantic label by one of most significant avantgarde jazz groups (and the most famous band to come out of the AACM). A particularly inspired AEC recorded live at the legendary Ann Arbor Blues and Jazz Festival on September 9, 1972.. A radical and outrageous performance ranging from driving percussions jams to exaggerated poetic narration adding spare tenor solos and rhythm explorations to chaingang R&B. Contains new and detailed liner notes by MCS manager John Sinclair and a rare photo from the band's archives. Audiophile remastering from the original master tapes. 180 gram HQ vinyl. Original artwork. Gatefold sleeve."

REDDING, OTIS: The Great Otis Redding Sings Soul Ballads LP (4M 105). $15.00

"Originally released in 1965 on Stax/Volt, this is Otis Redding's second album and noted in the August 2001 issue of MOJO as one of the best soul albums ever recorded. It contains several of Otis' classic tracks: 'That's How Strong My Love Is', 'Chained and Bound', 'A Woman, A Lover, A Friend', 'For Your Precious Love' and 'Mr. Pitiful'. This reissue has new exclusive and detailed liner notes by maverick '60s music historian Alec Palao. Audiophile remastering from the original master tapes.180 gram HQ vinyl. Original artwork. Gatefold sleeve."

HARRIS, EDDIE: The Electrifying Eddie Harris LP (4M 106). $15.00

"Originally released in 1968 on Atlantic, this LP is one of tenor-saxophonist Eddie Harris' most significant albums. Rolling Stone called Eddie's hit single 'Listen Here' a space-funk classic with it's inventive use of electronic effects. Also features the groovy 'Sham Time' and the incredible 'Theme In Search Of A Movie'. New exclusive liner notes by Mitch Myers. Audiophile remastering from the original master tapes.180 gram HQ vinyl. Original artwork. Gatefold sleeve."

MCCANN, LES: Layers LP (4M 107). $15.00

"Originally released in 1972 on Atlantic, this is the most inventive album that Les McCann cut during the '70s. The electronic groove tracks have a funky space-rock keyboard sound that have been sampled heavily by DJs and rappers in recent years. Many classic beats & breaks. New exclusive liner notes by Tortoise co-founder Bundy K. Brown. Audiophile remastering from the original master tapes. 180 gram HQ vinyl. Original artwork. Gatefold sleeve."

ART ENSEMBLE OF CHICAGO: Fanfare For The Warriors LP (4M 109). $15.00

"The second of 2 landmark albums originally released on the Atlantic label by the finest avant-garde jazz ensemble of the '70s. This mind-blowing studio session concluded AEC's first and most significant period. Contains new, detailed liner notes by MCS manager John Sinclair and rare photos from the band's archives. Audiophile remastering from the original master tapes. 180 gram HQ vinyl. Original artwork. Gatefold sleeve."

ART BLAKEY'S JAZZ MESSENGERS WITH THELONIOUS MONK: Art Blakey's Jazz Messengers With Thelonious Monk LP (4M 110). $15.00

"An historic 1957 match-up of two jazz pioneers: drummer Art Blakey (with the intense hard-bop of his Jazz Messengers) and pianist/composer Thelonious Monk. Five classic Monk compositions plus tenor saxman Johnny Griffin's 'Purple Shades' are featured on what became Monk's first and only recordings for Atlantic Records. The Penguin Guide To Jazz called it 'absolutely indispensable jazz'. New exclusive liner notes by Mitch Myers. Audiophile remastering from the original master tapes. 180 gram HQ vinyl. Original artwork. Gatefold sleeve."

FRANKLIN, ARETHA: Soul '69 LP (4M 111). $15.00

"Originally released in January of 1969, this is Aretha's sixth album for Atlantic and mistakenly one of her most under-rated '60s albums. Despite the title, Soul '69 is a brilliant jazz flavored set (with sophisticated brass arrangements and cool horn playing) featuring 'Today I Sing The Blues', 'Gentle On My Mind' plus passionate covers of The Miracles' 'Tracks Of My Tears' and Sam Cooke's 'Bring It On Home To Me' among others. The Queen of Soul is backed by jazz musicians including Kenny Burrell, Ron Carter, David Newman, Joe Zawinul plus the amazing grooves of the legendary Muscle Shoals rhythm section. Contains new liner notes by MCS manager, poet and music historian John Sinclair. Audiophile remastering from the original master tapes.180 gram HQ vinyl. Original artwork. Gatefold sleeve."

SPRINGFIELD, DUSTY: Dusty In Memphis LP (4M 112). $15.00

"Dusty grooves in Memphis! Britain's greatest pop diva Dusty Springfield was the finest white soul singer of her era and this landmark Atlantic Records album from 1969 is a masterpiece, a perfect marriage of pop and soul. Contains her top 10 hit 'Son Of A Preacher Man' plus several other hit singles and classic tracks. Dusty In Memphis was picked as the #9 coolest record of all time in the April 11, 2002 issue of Rolling Stone and chosen by Mojo magazine as one of the best 100 albums ever released. A recognized classic around the world! This reissue has new exclusive liner notes by maverick '60s music historian Alec Palao and guitarist/songwriter Chuck Prophet. Audiophile remastering from the original master tapes. 180 gram HQ vinyl. original artwork. Gatefold sleeve."

NICO: Desertshore LP (4M 113). $15.00

"This 1970 Reprise Records album finds Nico reunited with her Velvet Underground bandmate John Cale as producer, main instrumentalist and harmony vocalist. Co-produced by Joe Boyd (legendary producer of Nick Drake, Sandy Denny and Incredible String Band), Desertshore contains 8 songs of deep haunting beauty featuring Nico's dark voice and harmonium and is one of her very best solo albums (also used as soundtrack for the 1971 Philippe Garrel's experimental French film La Citatrice Interieure). This reissue has new exclusive liner notes by Dawson Prater and Dean Roberts. Audiophile remastering from the original master tapes. 180 gram HQ vinyl. Original artwork. Gatefold sleeve."

FRANKLIN, ARETHA: Spirit In The Dark LP (4M 114). $15.00

"1970's Spirit In The Dark includes five self-penned Aretha vibrant classics, as well as songs by B.B. King, Dr. John, Jimmy Reed, and Carole King. Musicians include: Brother Duane Allman, Big Star/Rolling Stones' session man Jim Dickinson, along with the Muscle Shoals rhythm section and the Dixie Flyers. The November 2002 issue of Mojo magazine said of this uplifting LP: 'triumphant... spiritual in immense proportions... defiant, jubilant'. Liner notes by Richie Unterberger. Remastered at Fantasy Studios from the original 1970 master recordings." 180 gram HQ vinyl. Gatefold sleeve."

FRANKLIN, ARETHA: Aretha Live At Fillmore West LP (4M 115). $15.00

"Aretha Franklin's 1971 album Live at Fillmore West was a seminal soul breakthrough. It finally cemented her status beyond soul audiences and it matched her with a phenomenal rhythm section in King Curtis and the Kingpins. Franklin adroitly mixed pop, rock, and soul material throughout the three nights, including Stephen Stills' 'Love The One You're With,' and Bread's 'Make It With You,' and the Beatles' 'Eleanor Rigby,' as well as true favorites 'Respect,' 'Don't Play That Song,' and 'Spirit in the Dark,' which brought Ray Charles out of the audience for a spirited duet. Deluxe gatefold sleeve featuring photos from the concert and new liner notes by Down Beat contributor Mitch Myers (including fresh interviews with original album producers Jerry Wexler and Arif Mardin)." Original cover art. 180 gram HQ vinyl."

YOUNG-HOLT UNLIMITED: Oh Girl LP (4M 118). $15.00

"Bassist Eldee Young and drummer Isaac 'Red' Holt spent the 1960's as Ramsey Lewis' rhythm section. By the time they recorded this soul-jazz/instrumental groove classic in 1972 (produced by Michael Cuscuna, also known for his work on the Art Ensemble's Bap-Tizum LP), Young & Holt were solid stoned groove monsters — similar to Curtis Mayfield's early '70s material. Plenty of samples have been lifted from this album featuring percussionist Ralph McDonald and keyboardists Richard Tee & Bobby Lyle. A 'rare groove' classic! New detailed liner notes by original producer Michael Cuscuna and Monk of Wax Poetics magazine. Remastered for maximum dynamic range from the original master tapes." 180 gram HQ vinyl. Gatefold sleeve."

CHARLES LLOYD QUARTET: Love-In LP (4M 119). $15.00

"Recorded at the legendary Fillmore in 1966, the Charles Lloyd Quartet featuring pianist Keith Jarrett and drummer Jack DeJohnette was called 'the first psychedelic jazz group'. Predating Miles Davis' appearance at the Fillmore by several years, the band blends exploratory post-bop classic jazz themes with '60s rock influences. Four Charles Lloyd modal groovers, two Keith Jarrett standards, and a Beatles tune. Liner notes by Down Beat contributor Mitch Myers. Carefully remastered at Fantasy Studios from the original tapes." 180 gram HQ vinyl. Gatefold sleeve."

HANCOCK, HERBIE: OST Blow-Up LP (4M 122). $15.00

"In late 1966, Herbie Hancock with Freddie Hubbard, Joe Henderson, Ron Carter and Jack DeJohnette entered a New York studio to capture the vibe of 'swinging London' in a jazz mode — with grooves that create effective bluesy moods on the slow pieces and funky ones on the up-tempo tracks. Meanwhile in London, the Yardbirds (with Jeff Beck and Jimmy Page) were recording additional material for use in the Blow-Up movie soundtrack. Liner notes by maverick journalist Steve Dollar. Superb audiophile remastering." 180 gram HQ vinyl. Gatefold sleeve."

VA: OST Zabriskie Point LP (4M 123). $15.00

"Originally released in 1970, the soundtrack from Antonioni's weird and wild classic features the debut solo recordings by Grateful Dead guitarist Jerry Garcia (only available on this soundtrack) as well as a number of songs recorded especially for the movie by Pink Floyd. Also includes 1960's nuggets from the Grateful Dead, John Fahey, The Jessie Cohn Young & The Youngbloods, Roscoe Holcomb, and David Lindley's Kaleidoscope. Deluxe gatefold sleeve includes rare photo stills from the movie and new liner notes about the music and film by maverick journalist Steve Dollar." Original cover art. 180 gram hQ vinyl."

RIDDLE, NELSON: OST Lolita LP (4M 124). $15.00

"Perhaps best known for his arrangements on Frank Sinatra's classic 1950s Capitol Records releases, Nelson Riddle was also an accomplished and popular soundtrack composer. This is the deluxe gatefold 180 gram vinyl edition of his 1962 original score for Stanley Kubrick's classic film Lolita. It contains 'Lolita Ya Ya' (reprinted in a slightly longer version as 'Charlotte Is Dead'), a maddeningly vapid and catchy track with nonsense vocals that comes across as a simultaneously vicious and good-humored parody of the kitschiest elements of early '60s rock 'n roll. Deluxe gatefold with liner notes by Michael Layne Heath."

GALE, EDDIE: Eddie Gale's Ghetto Music LP (4M 127). $15.00

"Having developed his skills amongst the cream of New York's hard bop players (jamming with John Coltrane and Jackie McLean), Eddie Gale helped ring in jazz's controversial new thing during the 1960s and 1970s on a series of influential releases. His inspired trumpet playing graced Cecil Taylor's Unit Structures, Larry Young's Of Peace And Love and a series of recordings and performances with Sun Ra's Arkestra. He also cut a pair of under-acknowledged soul-jazz influenced albums as a leader for Blue Note at the end of the '60s. The first Eddie Gale Blue Note LP Eddie Gale's Ghetto Music was released in 1968, produced by Blue Note founder Francis Wolff. A blend of funky grooves, a gospel street choir of singers, and late 60's free form freak outs. Recommended for fans of Sun Ra & Brother Ah, Coltrane's Love Supreme, and Max Roach's It's Time. The original vinyl LPs go for big bucks on Ebay, this is the first time this Blue Note album has ever been reissued. Remastered from the original master tapes on 180 gram vinyl. All original artwork in a gatefold sleeve featuring detailed liner notes and an interview with Eddie Gale."

GALE, EDDIE: Black Rhythm Happening LP (4M 128). $15.00

"Black Rhythm Happening (the second Blue Note album by Eddie Gale) was released in 1969 and includes jazz heavy weight Elvin Jones on drums and sax man Jimmy Lyons. Again the mix is a blend of soul jazz, free form freak outs, and a gospel influenced street choir. Suggested listening for fans of Sun Ra & Brother Ah, John Coltrane's late 60's LPs, and Ornette Coleman and Albert Ayler's more groove oriented recordings. The original vinyl LPs go for big bucks on Ebay, this is the first time this Blue Note album has ever been reissued. Remastered from the original master tapes on 180 gram vinyl. All original artwork in a gatefold sleeve featuring detailed liner notes."

TELEVISION: Marquee Moon LP (4M 501). $15.00

Reissue of the 1st Television (featuring Tom Verlaine) album, originally issued on Elektra in 1977. "To call it punk rock is like describing Dostoevsky as a short-story writer... it's hard to conceive of a world without Marquee Moon being part of it... a revolutionary album!

Features: exact reproduction on 180 gram vinyl, original artwork including lyrics and memorabilia, detailed liner notes by Michael Layne Heath, all-analog mastering from the original master tapes."

SAINTS, THE: (I'm) Stranded LP (4M 502). $15.00

"The Saints were to Australia what the Sex Pistols were to Britain, and the Ramones to America. Moreover, the Saints were blitzing the unsuspecting in their home of Brisbane in 1973, long before the Sex Pistols or the Ramones had even begun. Even today's punk fans are amazed at the sheer tenacity and outright fire of the title cut, 'Nights in Venice,' 'One Way Street,' and 'Erotic Neurotic.' Hear history burning. Original artwork, gatefold sleeve, 180 gram vinyl."

CONTORTIONS: Buy LP (4M 503). $15.00

"In 1979 the quintessential 'no wave' group released two albums simultaneously; Buy was effectively the group's debut, originally appearing on the indie label ZE, while the same project was released as Off White under the adopted alias of James White, one of the many identities of leader James Chance. The Contortions are considered to be one of the most important and influential groups of the N.Y. no wave scene, which spawned the crazed postmodern persona of James Chance alongside Lydia Lunch, Mars, and DNA, among others. James Chance was a sort of avant lounge lizard personality cult who led numerous projects throughout the '80s, yet he never quite topped the warped distillation of punk, funk, and free jazz presented here. Original artwork, 180 gram vinyl."

WHITE & THE BLACKS, JAMES: Off White LP (4M 504). $15.00

"For Off White, James Chance, a veteran of New York's avant-garde 'no wave' scene, recast his seminal band the Contortions as a parody of a soul band, albeit one incorporating the rhythms of disco and funk rather than R&B. Thus, Chance became James White (as a nod to James Brown), the Contortions became the Blacks, and his music, previously a twisted, experimental brand of avant-jazz, became a disco/funk/free jazz hybrid. As bizarre as the fusion of Albert Ayler and Giorgio Moroder might sound, Off White works primarily because Chance commits to both sides of the music. By carefully constructing his music with such polar opposites, Chance manages to highlight how both of them have more similarities, especially in rhythm, than would appear at first listen. Original artwork, 180 gram vinyl."

BUZZCOCKS: Singles Going Steady LP (4M 505). $15.00

"If you think Never Mind the Bollocks and London Calling are punk masterpieces, then there's no question that you have to buy Singles Going Steady. Manchester's legendary Buzzcocks were one of the best, most influential punk bands. Pete Shelley & co. combined full-blast guitars, ear-catching melodies and social/romantic contents. This essential collection originally released in 1979 contains their masterpiece 'Ever Fallen In Love?'. Original artwork, gatefold sleeve, 180 gram vinyl."

VA: 430 West Presents: Back To The Rhythm CD (CEPT 05 CD). $15.00

"First there was 430 West Presents Detroit Calling, the much loved techno mix masterpiece that spawned the classic 'Blackwater' by Octave One. Now there is 430 West Presents Back To The Rhythm. And it's very special. The credits say it is mixed by Lone Burden of Octave One fame under his KSR alter ego. As with all things KSR it is abrasive tech house rather than start techno. What the credits don't say is that with needles blazing across the turntables and funk sparking inside the Pro-Tools the Detroit wonder kid manipulates and teases disparate tunes into one glorious Motor City jam. Along the way he gives us a preview of upcoming Octave One single 'Someday' (with a startling KSR remix naturally), throws in a never before released remix of Inner City's 'Big Fun' that will make the hairs on your neck stand up, includes Underground Resistance's amazing 'Transition', checks out 'Birth Of 3000' by Los Hermanos (DJ Rolando in disguise) and also comes on strong with a whole pile of unreleased 430 West back and new catalogue." Artists also include: Al James, Randolph Paul, Gerald Mitchell, Random Noise Generation, Perception.

VA: 430 West Presents: Back To The Rhythm 2LP (CEPT 05 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

4LUX RECORDINGS (NETHERLANDS):

VA: Cool, Calm & Collective CD (4LUX 001CD). $19.00

"On this compilation you'll find well respected artists contributing the best they have. This CD contains music of high profile artists (especially in their field) such as Phil Asher, Alex Phountzi & Kaidi Tatham (from Bugz fame), Guida de Palma (from Kyoto Jazz Massive and DaLata), Clara Hill, Quant ft. Ernesto and, of course Gerd himself, along side new talents like Flowriders, Heavenly Social, Natalie Gardiner, etc."

VA: Cool, Calm & Collective 2LP (4LUX 001LP). $20.00

Double LP version.

555 RECORDINGS OF LEEDS (UK):

CRABSTICK: Discoverooster LP (555 13 LP). $13.00

"Only 9 years after completion, the second Crabstick LP finally makes into the public domain. 14 tracks delivered with urgency, similar to the shambler side of Hood, or fellow Aussies The Cannanes. An almost mythical underground indie record."

CANNANES, THE: Communicating At An Unknown Rate LP (555 21 LP). $13.00

"The 7th full length release from long established Australian underground superheroes. After numerous releases on American labels such as K records, Yoyo and Ajax, 555 offer the first official UK release in the band's 17 year history. Fantastic sweet vocal from Frances Gibbon that has been an obvious influence on many other Australian bands such as Hydroplane, The Cats Miaow, Kylie Minogue, etc. Limited to 500."

HOOD: Hood vs. Duo 14 Remix Project 10" (555 24 LP). $10.00

"A four song remix project by the mysterious Duo 14 of tracks taken from last year's Days of Cycles and Seasons (Domino records). The LP spans some 20 minutes plus, and is a continuation of the more experimental Hood-dub style. Limited pressing of 1000 only in a 555 house bag."

CEX: Starship Galactica CD (555 28 CD). $11.00

"6 track EP of brand new tunes. Hot on the heels of the 2 previous sold-out 555 releases, and the well-received full length for Tigerbeat6 (Kid 606's slamming label), our 19 year old cexyboy continues to teach his pretentious elders what electronic music is really about. More hip-hop and fuller sounding than his previous releases, but packed with as much sincerity and humor as ever."

THE FAMOUS BOYFRIEND: Compiled CD (555 29 CD). $14.00

"The music of The Famous Boyfriend is a curious hybrid of Autechre meets the Field Mice. Definitely pop, but also firmly on a homemade electronica tip. Heartfelt vocals and heartfelt beats. The Famous Boyfriend were Andrew 'Puffy' Johnson and Craig Tattersall (ex-Hood).

The boys changed their name in 1998 and now record as The Remote Viewer."

STEWART: Horselaugh On My Ex CD (555 CD 20). $14.00

"Third proper full length from Leeds' electro-buzz-confused-mod-one-man-mess. Featuring various contributions from some of Stewart's very talented friends (Hood, Electroscope, Even As We Speak, etc.). A curious hybrid of hardstep drum 'n' bass, fuzzpop, and 80s electro-synth pop. Think Aphex Twin with an acoustic guitar."

HUON: Hung Up Over Night CD (555 CD15). $15.00

"Following much critical acclaim for their debut Epig LP, Melbourne, Australian based Fuon return with a 14 song strong follow up. The core of the group consists of David Nichols on drums and vocals (Cannanes, Blairmail, Crabstick), Andrew Withycombe on guitars and keyboards (Cats Miaow, Hydroplane), and vocalist and multi-instrumentalist Mia Schoen (Long Weekend, Sleepy Township). There are also many guest appearances on the CD from various other underground Australian musicians. The songs are dense and strange, yet retain a strong pop element and are danceable to boot. Musically there are few immediate comparisons to be made- perhaps a poppier Thinking Fellers Union Local 282."

6 MONTHS:

VA: Beyond Space Presents CD (BSE 010 CD). $11.00

"After releasing numerous albums under the radar, Beyond Space Entertainment decided it was their time, and what better way to build a name for themselves than with a compilation featuring well established artists from all around the country? Having tired of comps with as many recycled tracks as exclusive, Beyond Space delivers nothing but new, exclusive songs from sole, alias (deep puddle dynamics, anticon), odd nosdam (clouddead, reaching quiet), passage, The Bommar Monk, telephone jim jesus (restifrom bodies), Adeem & Shalem (production for Sage Francis's The Makeshift Patriot), Circus and The Shape Shifters, and up-and-coming artists JD Walker, Tadow, Emynd, and Ognihis."

75 ARK:

ENCORE: Self-preservation CD (ARK 5008 CD). $14.00

"Encore melds a fascination with ancient Egyptian studies and clever word play with ingenious beats and samples. Self-preservation, their debut for 75 Ark, will prove to the hip hop world that they'll very quickly earn their place among their peers and idols."

NEXTMEN, THE: Buck Foolish 12" (ARK 5010). $6.50

Limited stock.

MISTA SINISTA: Serious 12" (ARK 5011 EP). $6.50

"Serious!!! is Mista Sinista's first release for 75 Ark and includes remixes from the Architect (Encore) and production from Rob Swift, also of the X-ecutioners."

UNSUNG HEROES: What Would You Do? 12" (ARK 5012). $6.50

"The Unsung Heroes (aka Insite & B. Skills) return, the first offering their forthcoming full length Unleashed. The dream team collaboration of underground heroes J-Live, Mr. Complex & L-Fudge."

NEXTMEN, THE: Amongst The Madness CD (ARK 5013 CD). $14.00

"To Stateside hip-hop fans still suffering flashbacks of Derek B, the Cookie Crew and the Wee Papa Girls, England's most significant contribution to rap has come in the form of Slick Rick's accent, but the appropriately titled 'Buck Foolish', from Brixton, England-based production trio The Nextmen, breaks the drought of not-so-hot tracks from the Anglo motherland. Snappy arrangement of jazz-chord guitar strums, stutter-step kicks 'n' snares and vocal snippets from the likes of Pete Rock & Positive K are positively soul-brother-esque in aptitude."

NEXTMEN, THE: Amongst The Madness 2LP (ARK 5013 LP). $12.50

Double vinyl version.

ENCORE: Love & Hate (The Mellow Drama) CD (ARK 5020 CD). $6.50

"The Handsome Boy Modeling School graduates step out on their own." Five track EP, 4 mixes of 'Love & Hate (The Mellow Drama)' (album version, Nextmen remix, Nextmen instrumental, clean version) and an original instrumental version of 'Considaris'.

ENCORE: Love & Hate (The Mellow Drama) 12" (ARK 5020 EP). $6.50

UNSUNG HEROES: The Next Degree 12" (ARK 5023). $6.50

"The Unsung Heroes (aka Insite & B Skills) return with another killer 12" package. The title track features Karim on vox (Red Snapper, Talkin' Loud) & some killer remixes...instrumentals, clean versions & acapellas at no extra charge

DELTRON 3030: Virus 12" (ARK 5029 EP). $6.50

First single from the forthcoming album. Deltron 3030 is Dan The Automator, Del Tha Funkee Homosapien & Kid Koala. This single features the tracks "Virus" and "Things You Can Do", three versions of each (album, radio edit, instrumental). Produced, programmed and mixed by Dan the Automator. All scratches by Kid Koala.

UNSUNG HEROES: Unleashed CD (ARK 5030CD). $13.50

"The debut full length release from the UK's Unsung Heroes. Featuring stellar performances from a host of US MC's J-Live, Mr. Complex, L-Fudge and Karim Kendra (Red Snapper), Unleashed will certainly take the hip hop world by storm."

UNSUNG HEROES: Unleashed 2LP (ARK 5030LP). $13.00

Double vinyl version in full color sleeve.

VA: Circuit Breaks Vol. 1 CD (ARK 5037CD). $13.00

This was slated to be the first release for Dr. Octagon's Bulk Recordings, but they "went underground" with it, so to speak. Resurrected here by 75 Ark, with the original Bulk design & logo, in limited quantities. "Fishgush brings you the dopest instrumental & drum beat breaks record. 24 heart-pounding, pulse-racing tracks. A DJ's wet dream and much sought after DJ tool." CD version contains 10 bonus tracks.

EXECUTIVE LOUNGE: Big Tyme b/w Heat Wave 12" (ARK 5042). $6.50

"The first release from EXL, showcases the jazzy hip hop production of Architect (Encore), the lyrical skillz of Turbin, Grand da Visitor & Encore on 'Big Tyme' & Holokost on the flip, entitled 'Heat Wave'."

DELTRON 3030: Positive Contact CD (ARK 5045 CD). $6.50

"Positive Contact" is the new single from the most talked-about Space Age Hip Hop Opera of the 31st Century, Deltron 3030. Featuring remixes of both 'Positive Contact' and 'Time Keeps On Slipping' (featuring Damon Albarn of Blur). Track listing includes radio edits, instrumentals, acapellas. Remixes by Charlie Clouser (Ninjab Nails), Cut Chemist and Mike Simpson (Dust Brothers) & surprise bonus tracks not found on Deltron 3030."

COUP, THE: Party Music CD (ARK 5050 CD). $15.00

"Not many groups have spanned the eras from early-90's Afrocentricity to 21st century rap-tivism as do Boots Riley and Pam the Funkstress, aka The Coup. Party Music is the debut full-length release on 75Ark by this politically charged rap group."

MERRIWEATHER PRESENTS... NATHANIEL: Lovage: Music To Make Love To Your Old Lady By CD (ARK 5053 CD). $15.00

"Instrumental version. Produced by Dan the Automator."

A BRUIT SECRET (FRANCE):

CHARLES, XAVIER: La Neige Attend La Neige 3" CD (ABS 010). $12.00

Instruments : surfaces vibrantes. Recorded by Francois Dietz, CCAM, Vand'uvre. "Xavier Charles is well-known on the French improvisation scene for being an active militant (he is the co-founder of the Densités Festival) and a multi-instrumentalist (clarinet, bass, electroacoustic device). He has played in numerous improvisation and electroacoustic groups with Axel Dörner, John Butcher, Yoshihide Otomo, Martin Tétreault, Kristoff K.Roll, Frédéric Le Junter, Jacques Di Donato 'La neige attend la neige' ('Snow waiting for the snow') is a piece for vibrating surfaces, in which various objects that have been chosen for their resonance capacity are arranged, added to or subtracted from the vibrations of the loudspeakers. This is a radical gesture of turnaround and deconstruction of the domestic diffusion, a poetical proposal opening on unheard plays of matters. Loudspeakers are used as instruments, after such a similar use has been applied to the mixing desk by Toshimaru Nakamura and to the microphone by Max Neuhaus, Jérôme Noetinger, Lionel Marchetti, thus closing the loop."

DORNER, AXEL: Trumpet CD (ABS 03). $15.00

"Axel Dörner lives and works in Berlin. He is part of the recent improvisation scene which renews this practice by using a method close to contemporary conceptual music. He has played in various jazz and free improvisation groups along with musicians like Mats Gustafsson, Xavier Charles, Sven Ake Johansson, Andrea Neumann, Annette Krebs, John Butcher, Butch Morris or the Berlin Contemporary Jazz Orchestra. Trumpet has its own mythical characters, and Chet Baker was their archetype, an expressionist depressive lost in the too burdensome history of jazz and his own obsession with the musical phrase. Axel Dörner would be his negative twin, no more lost in inner obsessions but rather in the practice of active listening in search of an abstractive potentiality for his instrument, within the sound as the only vibration subsisting in the air. What distances him from other jazz trumpet players is the disappearance of the phrase, until it reaches the core of the musical note which he then erases by working on a regular blowing, putting together abstract noises, miniatures of blowing. This abstraction recalls the new electronic aesthetics, a kind of sound that seems to lose its own particular acoustical quality as if generated by an electronic device to create a beautiful ambiguity of sound."

LABELLE, BRANDON: Techné CD (ABS 04). $15.00

"Brandon LaBelle lives and works in LA. A musician, performer, critic, sound artist, publisher, he stands at the cross-roads of various artistic disciplines, mixing his practices in a singular work articulating sound and social space. Through his use of contact mics, the human body turns into a complex sound source, and the space where the action takes place becomes a musical instrument by itself. Brandon LaBelle builds his sound performance to reflect the site and the objects he finds there, found-art seen as a highly conceptual reasoning as well as a play in improvisation. The music of Brandon LaBelle reveals the social context in which it exists, or more precisely, it's the context itself that is designated as a musical event, through the displacement of the concept of authorship on an active social space. Techné presents itself like the trace of a process where the physical body interacts with architecture via micro contacts. The technology is the interface of this contact built both on desire and the architectural constraint of the place (and its subconscious). A recording of situationist poetry where the politics project gives its shape to the musical project, a radical noise."

GUIONNET, JEAN-LUC: Pentes CD (ABS 07). $15.00

"Jean-Luc Guionnet: orgue, Eric La Casa: prise de son. Jean-Luc Guionnet has studied plastic arts and electro-acoustics with Christine Groult, Michel Zbar and Iannis Xenakis. He played with Eric La Casa, Eric Cordier, Pascal Battus, Edward Perraud, Frédéric Blondy, Sophie Agnel, André Almuro and Olivier Benoit and in the bands Schams, Synapses, Calx, Phéromones and Hubbub. Moving from a really physical approach of the playing and the breath, to a spatial set of sound, through complex sound devices. The Church organ, escaping the mystic-oriented mannerism, is used here to trigger sound experimentation nearing Concrete music. Each track is built out of a specific manner of playing on the bellows, on the mechanisms of the instrument, a play on timbres and envelope. Jean-Luc Guionnet's musical works resemble Charlemagne Palestine's physical play of organ and the extreme in Francisco Lopez' sounds. The sound recording — the localization of microphones — is here as important as playing the instrument, noises are heard which usually remain hidden, the unheard sounds of the organ."

AKIYAMA, TETUZI: Resophonie CD (ABS 08). $17.00

"The name Tetuzi Akiyama may not be very well-known, but he is part of the large improvised music in Tokyo where he plays with Taku Sugimoto (together they have a CD on Bottrop Boy, with a guitar quartet, including Yoshihide and Nakamura), Utah Kawasaki, Sachiko M and also various European people. Tetuzi plays mainly the guitar, the one with steel strings and he explores the possibilities of creating overtones within the metallic string sounds. In these eight solo tracks, recorded directly to DAT he plays with a high end feedback like sound, and indeed metallic scrapings, with microscopic changes, but do be called minimal music this might not be appropriate either. In some tracks the guitar sounds very much like a guitar (like in 'Primitif' for instance), but in 'Dissociation' the scrapings prevail and the guitar sounds like so far away. This CD is a fine example of the sheer unlimited possibilities of using the six strings in yet another vein."

M, SACHIKO: *1:2 3" CD (ABS 09). $12.00

"Sachiko M plays a No-sampler (with sine-waves) as her unique instrument, thus creating her own abruitsecret. In the after of sampling, diverting her digital sampler from its specific use, erasing all memories, voiding it from all samples that could be taken from our record collections or cultural databanks, she listens to the internal sound of the machine, designing the sound in a both abstract and radical approach. She wants her music to have no memory, she claims no influence, forms are taken as ephemeral proposals, she draws an aesthetics of disappearance from her sine-waves. Sachiko M has played in Ground Zero, before taking part of the Filament (with Yoshihide Otomo), ISO (with Otomo and Yoshimitsu Ichiraku) and Cosmos projects (with Ami Yoshida). She plays improv with Toshimaru Nakamura, Taku Sugimoto, Andrea Neumann, Kaffe Matthews and John Tilbury, and many more."

VA: *Off Site Composed Series 2001 2CD (ABS 101/02). $25.00

"A compositions compilation curated by Taku Sugimoto recorded at Off Site Gallery in Tokyo. Are involved in this project: Taku Sugimoto, Sachiko M, Toshimaru Nakamura, Yoshihide Otomo, Annette Krebs, Burkhard Stangl, Mari Furuta, Tetuzi Akiyama and others."

LARNER/TAKU SUGIMOTO/BURKHARD STANGL, BRETT: Compositions For Guitars CD (ABS 103). $17.00

"Three compositions for guitars by Brett Lerner, Burkhard Stangl and Taku Sugimoto. Different propositions questioning the limits of the instrument through radical and oblique approaches. Close minimalist electronic experience in Lerner's piece, games on detuning in Stangl's piece, and a Cagian questioning of silence in Sugimoto's piece 'Hum' Beyond the instrumental stakes, it is a question of our relation with space and time. The guitar is only the vector through which we apprehend our musical object."

VA: *From: / To: CD (ABS 201). $16.00

A series of 8 duets, featuring: Taku Unami/ Norman D.Mayer; Masafumi Ezaki/Hugo Roussel; Utah Kawasaki/Jean-Philippe Gross ; Yasuo Totsuka/Quentin Dubost; Masahiko Okura/Sharif Shanaoui; Yoichiro Shin/Olivier Brissou; Ami Yoshida/Alfredo Costa Monteiro; Kazushige Kinoshita/Fabrice Eglin. "Depicted on record is an a-topics meeting in music in the open space between two scenes. The 8 duets open on experimental proposals: 8 improvised musical meetings in the suspended time of mail exchanges. East to the West, Japan & France. 1+1 = 3. The musical arithmetic differs from what we were taught at school. Each duet creates a sonic hybrid with a third element born out of the encounter of the musical identities. From: / To: found its source in the will of 5 labels Hibari / Abruitsecret / Fragment / Pricilia / Vertpituite to gather young musicians from Lebanon, France and Japan playing in the fields of electroacoustic and improvised music. To renew them."

A POSTERIORI RECORDINGS:

WARMDESK: *Guero Variations Variations 12" (APOST 002 EP). $7.50

"Warmdesk's follow-up to the full-length Guero Variations CD (Deluxe Records) offers the unrevealed and the reinterpreted. While the album has been called 'dubtechno in perfection' (De-Bug) and a record that 'makes musique concrete detritus shimmy and shake with glee' (Dave Segal, Portland Mercury), the 12" record contains a different mix of one of the more thumping tracks from the CD as well as an unreleased variation of vocoded musique concrete techno. Stephan Mathieu (Ritornell, Orthlorng Musork) reinterprets the original Guero source recordings into micro-managed phase patterns, developing a pulsating and exhilarating commotion. Also, Ulrich Troyer (of Mego fame) goes out on a limb and mixes Guero with the downtempo sounds of the kitchen."

A SOUND-ART PROJECT (UK):

VA: Ctrl Alt Del CD (SAP 001 CD). $13.00

"This project includes performances and workshops in Istanbul and Maastricht. This nicely priced sampler features exclusive tracks from Kim Cascone, Matt Wand, Merzbow, Scanner, Paul Devens, 2/5 BZ, Natalie Bruys, Hassan Khan, Jozef Cseres and many more..."

A&M RECORDS (GERMANY):

TYRANNOSAURUS REX: A Beard Of Stars CD (A&M 10032). $13.00

The fourth and final Tyrannosaurus Rex album, originally released by Regal Zonophone in the UK in 1970. Took was replaced on this album by Micky Finn (backing vocals, Moroccan Clay Drums, table, bass, finger cymbals). and Bolan introduced electric guitar to their sound for the first time. Finn's theory on bongo fury was a lot less inspired than Took's and Bolan's songwriting/singing seemed to aim more squarely at the anthem/dramatic protocol that was soon to emerge. But this was the final chapter in Tyrannosaurus Rex, T. Rex was next.

TYRANNOSAURUS REX: *My People Were Fair And Had Sky In Their Hair... CD (A&M 10092). $13.00

...But Now They're Content To Wear Stars On Their Brows. Mid-line European CD reissues of the four albums produced by Tyrannosaurus Rex, 1967-1970. My People Were Fair... was the first album, originally issued by Regal Zonophone in the UK in 1968. Unlike the more commercially viable T. Rex of the post-1970 era, Tyrannosaurus Rex were steeped in a magical psychedelic elfland. The group was simply a duo of Marc Bolan (vocals, guitar, ex-John's Children) and Steve Peregrine Took (vocals, bongos, Chinese gong, assorted percussion, Pixiephone) and their music was largely acoustic (exclusively so on the first 2 albums). Peaking the UK hippy trip, they wandered through their musical terrain of magic, mystics, elves, witches, with Bolan's ethereal vocals sung in a voice that on occasion could not be proven to have any relation to the English language. Material from these 4 albums has been combed and two-ferred together for ages, but never available as 4 separate albums on CD in the US. Pixiehood never sounded so desirable.

TYRANNOSAURUS REX: Prophets, Seers & Sages The Angels Of The Ages CD (A&M 10102). $13.00

The second album, originally released in the UK by Regal Zonophone in 1968. Similar in style to the first album, again with just Bolan (guitars, vocals) and Took (bongos, vocals, African talking drums, assorted percussion, kazoo, Pixiephone and Chinese gong).

T-REX: *CD (A&M 10112). $13.00

European-only mid-line reissue of the first T-Rex album, following the 4 Tyrannosaurus Rex albums, originally issued in 1970. In essence this is really the final Tyrannosaurus Rex album, as it is continuation of the duo sounds found on the prior A Beard Of Stars, featuring Marc Bolan (guitars, vocals, bass organ) and Micky Finn (drums, bass, vocals, pixiephone). A meshing of acoustic and electric integration, and more Bolan pixie-vision.

TYRANNOSAURUS REX: Unicorn CD (A&M 10122). $13.00

The third album, originally released in the UK by Regal Zonophone in 1969. The final album to feature the duo of Bolan & Took, it is still almost totally acoustic and generally considered as the most developed and masterful Tyrannosaurus Rex album. The sound was fleshed out a bit: Bolan (vocals, guitar, Harmonium, lip organ, Fonofidels), Took (bongos, vocals, African Talking Drum, bass, guitar, piano, drumkit, pixiepipe, gong), with guest children's story reading from John Peel.

A&M RECORDS (JAPAN):

CLARK, GENE: White Light CD (POCM 2094). $19.00

Japanese-only release of the first solo album from the Byrds' Gene Clark, first released in 1971. "When the Byrds launched 'Eight Miles High', Gene Clark—the main composer of the song that defined the psychedelic era — had already left the band. Fed up with being confined to tambourine, the least-accomplished musician but songwriting heart of the Byrds, craved a solo career. Ironically, the official reason given for the departure was fear of flying. After the stunning Gene Clark with the Gosdin Brothers LP and two albums with Doug Dillard, as Dillard and Clark, Clark released White Light, his first 'real' solo LP. Clark's most singer/songwriterly release is one of those albums that needs a few spins to crack its code. Its appeal lies in the lyrics and songcraft genius. No Rickenbacker salvos or dazzling vocal harmonies be found here — the understated instrumentation is simply there to carry Clark's velvet voice, and resembles prime electric Dylan and the first two Band albums. Of course it's no coincidence that 'Tears of Rage', the only non-Clark composition, is a song from The Basement Tapes sessions that Dylan handed to Clark. It's a pleasure to have this long out-of-print nugget from the Byrds universe available again. Get it now, and by the time you're ready to break out that reliable bottle of Scotch, you'll realize you made one of the best investments of the year." — Frank van den Elzen

A&amp;R ENT.:

MX-80: Das Love Boat CD (A&R 27). $10.00

Subtitled: Instrumentals 1975-1990. Nineteen years of instrumental scorch.

MX-80: "Have Another Drink"/"You Can't Win 'Em All" 7" (QUAD). $3.00

A-MUSIK (GERMANY):

KUBIN, FELIX: The Tetchy Teenage Tapes of Felix Kubin 1981-85 LP (A 23 LP). $15.00

Finally the vinyl version w/ different tracks than the CD (Skipp); 4c cover and innersleeve plus lyric sheet. "The idea for the release came about as I was making a minidisk recording of German electronic music, for my friends of SKIPP label and as a gag mixed in some of earlier pieces on tape. My answer to the question, of what it be, knocked them off their feet: And the high voice & that's YOU? Once they asked me if I had any other material, I sent them a load of pieces, of which they then chose their favorites for a CD. For the planned LP version for A-Musik of Cologne, we followed the same pattern. So different were the results, that this lead to two variations for 'Tetchy Teenage Tapes'. The cut amount from LP to CD lays around the 50%."

KUBIN, FELIX: Die Kulturelle Revolution / Hello 7" (A 26). $8.00

"Two songs, which describe like psychological antipodes of departure and internal decay. Kubin's music style ties here to the old tradition of east-european combat songs. Completely differently the introverted b-side, a pathological reinterpretation of the Song 'Hello' by Lionel Richie, which sets an end to that metaphysical nonsense of a dear-mad voice. An end in form of a lifted up table tennis plate. The song shows, what Lionel actually wanted to say to us, after the show, in a dark illuminated backstage room with many mirrors."

KUBIN, FELIX: Matki Wandalki CD (A 27CD). $16.00

"Old School? New School? In reality, both are just a question of orchestral and sound preference. The freespirt, in this case, decides for No School: for only from the fragments of No (ie. No Wave in reference to No New York) new forms can originate. And, at best, No would also imply idiosyncratic winking and autodidactic self-empowerment. As 11-year-old pre-teen, this Gyro Gearloose of pataphysical sound Felix Kubin not only sought for self-satisfaction with his legendary child-band Die Egozentrischen 2 but also instigated the first folk synthesizer against its own instruction manual (of course in accordance with the 'zeitgeist' at that time). The result was an elevated monstrosity from a merciless rage-experiment with frightening precociousness. All at the peak of the Neue Deutsche Welle...Thank god that today, more than two decades later, there is no stopping this former 'wunderkind'. Admittedly, the mischievous demolition of pop structures, which was once attributed to a juvenile Berserkerdom, has since then evolved into a more conscious Dada-Hooliganism. Or — to put it simple with the metaphor of the album title — it turned into the Mothers of Destruction (in Polish: 'Matki Wandalki' = Vandalizing Mothers). The fact that the anaemic ghost of deconstruction doesn't spoil the 13 tracks on this CD must have to do with Felix's abstruse humor. Like his love of sounds, the hum of Kubin's cosmos is powerfully distinct. It reminds (not only) me of tschechoslovakian animation films and — even further back — of the electro-acoustic sound experiments of the fifties avant-garde long before their development into pop. Matki Wandalki unites several pairs of aesthetic contradictions. Abstract Darmstadt goes Pop. The result is 'witty' musique concrete and something that I can only interpret as 'program-music' without a narrative program."

KUBIN, FELIX: Matki Wandalki LP (A 27LP). $16.00

LP version.

SCHLAMMPEITZIGER: Spacerokkmountainrutschquater CD (A10). $15.00

A shimmering, mesmerizing 2nd album from the Cologne's Jo Zimmermann's (whose performance name of Schlammpeitziger gets easier and easier to pronounce the more we get used to it). Reminds you of the construction of really classic era Cluster works imbued with the shifting electronic perspective of Zimmermann's contemporaries, Mouse on Mars. Another A-Musik breakthrough album that is going to blow a lot of people away. "Jo Zimmermann's second full length delivery for A-Musik. An unconventional, yet accessible sound-cosmos. This time it's not about south-pacific harmonies (Freundlichbaracadamelodieliedgut), but the comfortable atmosphere of a child's dream or the soundtrack to an amateurish, lo-fi videofilm. Friendly keyboard melodies, soft, casual beats and rhythms. Narrative tracks like 'Himmendentriff' take turns with repetitive pop tracks as 'Mausfaltenfrippi'. Engineered by Mouse On Mars' Jan Werner."

SCHLAMMPEITZIGER: Spacerokkmountainrutschquater LP (A10 LP). $13.00

LP version with full color cover (slightly alternate to the CD). 8 of the 10 tracks found on the CD.

HOLOSUD: Fijnewas Afpompen CD (A11 CD). $15.00

"Second coming for Cologne's duo HoloSud, aka Felix 'F.X.' Randomiz and Sir Joe Schlammpeitziger. Fijne Was Afpompen is maybe the most entertaining A-Musik release, with Jo and F.X. capturing the distinction between hi- and lo-fi on Schlammpeitziger's self-constructed instruments and bargain basement synthesizers that meet Felix's intricate sampling techniques. Quite a groovy and surely funny one from Brüsselerplatz 1a-crew!"

HOLOSUD: Fijne Was Afpompen LP (A11 LP). $13.00

"Debut full length selection of anti-matter science (after one EP) for mssrs. Jojo Schlammpeitziger and Felix F.X. Randomiz, perusing the 'unwantseds' section of the 'out-techno' marketplace. The first track, 'Alaune', manages to turn a fairly hokey circus/carnivore loop into one of the more memorable slices of 'technology music' witnessed binaurally in some time. Certain elements recall the splendor of Burger/Ink's 'Las Vegas', only with a bit more 'pep' and a much more 'tweaking'. Will undoubtedly draw more attention to the under-documented scene of genius/wunderkind manics that is A-Musik. Gifted." — Hrvatski.

THAEMLITZ, TERRE: A-Muzak 7" (A14). $6.00

"Terre Thaelmiltz' first 7" release after many CD releases on labels like Mille Plateaux, Instinct Ambient, Subharmonic and his own label Comatonse. Specially for the 7" he used vintage easy Listening 7", slightly treated with electronic devices. Not as abstract as his latest CD outputs, he presents two warmhearted, dreamy tracks of new Exotica."

DAT POLITICS: Villiger CD (A15). $15.00

"Apparently they're an all-laptop quintet from Lille, France (although I could be wrong about the geography), borne out of the ashes of Sub Rosa recording act/post-rock entity Tone Rec. This, their third release (see Tracto Flirt on Skipp as well as a Fat Cat Split Single with Process) works it wisely, mixing the glick-beats with the clitch-melodies and sounds, with (what I'm told is) a sexy live show on the festival circuit. The first of certainly a growing wave of contemporary 'computer bands', you really can't go wrong with just about anything on this disk. I suggest investigating now to avoid imminent embarrassment later." — Hrvatski.

DAT POLITICS: Villiger LP (A15 LP). $11.00

LP version.

SCHMICKLER, MARCUS: Sator Rotas CD (A16). $15.00

"Marcus Schmickler aka Wabi Sabi (A3) aka Pluramon expands his electronic experiments, creating a surreal, open music that enraptures the listener with raging soundwaves and maximum density. Expect the unexpected from the new school of improvised music: hybrid wooshings, subsequenced crackles, microharmonic adventures. Strange, tense, cool and rich of superb pranks."

SCHLAMMPEITZIGER: Restwassrestreitgebetel 7" (A17). $6.00

"Preceding Jo Zimmermann's next album for A-Musik is this entertaining limited 7" (early mixes of tracks that may appear on that album). An unconventional 2 tracker with that comfortable Schlammpeitziger atmosphere with friendly keyboard melodies, soft beats and rhythms."

SCHLAMMPEITZIGER: Augenwischwaldmoppgefloete CD (A18). $15.00

"Third or fourth full length from Joe the carpenter (whether or not you count the reissue of the Erdauchharnschleck cassette on LP last year, or the His Master's Cosmic Music/Schlammpeitziger LP on Gefriem) after the (deep breath) Freundlichbaracadamelodieliedgut and Spacerokkmountainrutschquater full lengths of yore. Featuring yet more lush pop made with the same Casio CZ-230S & the little battery powered Yamaha sampler he's used for years now both in the studio and live. Quite brilliant, eclipsing any of the similarly themed but far less informed efforts being laid to tape by certain legions of American post-indie dropouts (those fools!). Necessary." — Hrvatski.

SCHMICKLER, MARCUS: Param CD (A20). $15.00

"The new release on Cologne based label A-Musik contains compositions by Marcus Schmickler that were performed and recorded over the last four years with many various musicians and ensembles. These recordings document Schmickler's interest in a confrontation with modern classical composers, they are a return of 'the living dead.' According to Schmickler, innovations are only possible by including the old. Schmickler has been known also for his different approaches with Pluramon, MIMEO, his collaborations with Thomas Brinkmann or the improviser Thomas Lehn. Param continues his series of releases on A-Musik although it presents itself less electronic and less bulky than Wabi Sabi or Sator Rotas. The original recordings of the compositions are newly edited for this release."

"The double 12" vinyl contains unshortened versions and is limited to 500 copies, comes in a deluxe fold-out cover."

BEIT & JORG SCHLICK, ANDI: Diese Wildnis Hat Kultur CD (A21 CD). $15.00

"The set for the new production of the ballet Der Krieger (Graz Opera House, Studiobühne) is on a serial image concept. Projected image panels act as a stage set that forms a subtle grid background for the one-man performance (choreography: Jörg Schlick). The symphony Diese Wildnis hat Kultur (1982) forms the musical base of the dance performance. One instrument is reserved for each of the four movements: Jörg Schlick: violin, flutes, violoncello and electric guitar; Andi Beit: synthesizer. 'Minimalist form was combined with Expressionist social comment' wrote Jack Anderson (New York Times, 21.05.1985) in his critique of the première. This reference to the field of tension between the minimalist vocabulary of forms or object gesture (performers) and the expressive portrayal of social conditions hits on a fundamental aspect of Schlick's work. The symphonic composition accompanies the performance like a 'synthetic heartbeat' that corresponds to the intensity of Beethoven's 'Eroica' in terms of its tonal character. The 'deflection of the needle', the electronic display of total intensity and pitch of the classical symphony, acted as the score for Jörg Schlick."

USHMI & STEPHEN GALLOWAY, MARC: There must be a (Brinkmann-)Remix 12" (A22 EP). $9.00

"This 12" brings the best of the collaboration between Marcus Schmickler and crazy vocalist Stephen Galloway: A sophisticated trip into retro-deep-house. 3 tracks are taken from the well acclaimed CD on Whatness. Comes with ultra-thin-humorous hidden remix by Thomas Brinkmann on the double-groove flip-side. Not only for fans of Lil Louis."

MÜELLER, WOLFGANG: Mit Wittgenstein in Krisuvik CD (A25 CD). $16.00

"Wittgenstein in Krisuvik - translated as 'twenty-two Elf Songs for Iceland', the solo CD by Wolfgang Müller. Wolfgang Müller, author, artist and the head of the legendary cult band Die Tödliche Doris (1980 - 1987) lives in Berlin. He is the president of the Walther von Goethe Foundation Reykjavik. In August 1995, Wolfgang Müller met the head of Iceland's Elf Department, the medium Erla Stefánsdóttir, in Reykjavik, for a long interview. To his question whether elves are only to be found in Iceland, Erla answered: 'of course not. Elves are everywhere.' And how do the communicate with each other? Is there an international elf language?, enquired Wolfgang. Amused, Erla Stefánsdóttir plucked some fluff off her red jumper and shook her head: 'elves don't speak — they sing!' Elves' singing is normally inaudible to the human ear. Unlike music made by humans, it goes directly into the head of the listener. Hearing, therefore, is not an essential function in order to perceive it. An extremely fascinating thought for Wolfgang Müller, who had already produced music with a hearing challenged friend in the early Eighties."

'In order to create an agreeable environment, where elves would feel comfortable, I must remain equally open to the musical, the non-musical and extra-musical,' says Wolfgang Müller. And so, various musical styles, directions and currents are found running through on his new CD, Mit Wittgenstein in Krisuvik. Elves and dwarves are behind all of those, inaudible and yet perceptible — some friendly, the others wrathful; sometimes merry, serious at other times."

MÜLLER, WOLFGANG: Mit Wittgenstein in Knisavik LP + 7" (A25 LP). $16.00*WABI SABI: CD (A3). $15.00

Wabi Sabi is a staggering sounding, beautifully packaged and simply significant contemporary electronic album by Marcus Schmickler out of the thriving German underground music scene. Schmickler has one release under his own name on the Odd Size label in France, and was a contributing member of POL and Kontakta on the same label. Most recently he released the exceptional Pluramon Pick Up Canyon album on the Mille Plateaux label (which featured the guest drumming of Jaki Liebezeit). This CD consists of two pieces: "Wabi Sabi" — a devastating 33 minute 2-channel spatial composition that mixes gorgeous flowing electronics ala Francois Bayle with moments radio-static density and transcending sound waves. "Param" is a shorter work of 2-channel, powerfully droning electronics. "The pair of terms wabi and sabi are expressions of an attitude towards life that draw the power of artistic creation from silence and decay."

WABI SABI: LP (A3 LP). $13.00

L&N: CD (A5). $15.00

CD issue by the L@N duo of Rupert Buwa Huber & Otto Muller. This includes 3 of the 4 tracks of the first L@N LP (A4), plus 2 of the 4 tracks on the 2nd L@N LP (A7), plus 2 exclusive tracks, totaling 71 minutes of blissful nod. Recorded both live and in the studio, these 2 produce multi-channelled trance electronic epics of perfectly proportioned rhythmic synchronicity. Tuned in to the German legacy of Neu-inspired propulsion, with a lovely, burning minimal edge of non-punk/acid purity, this is totally successful, subtly shifting, interface.

F.X. RANDOMIZ: Goflex CD (A9). $15.00

Another beautiful and very happening release on the A-Musik label out of Cologne, packaged in a lovely digipak. "F.X. Randomiz is one of those you might have met musically but you won't be sure when. In 1992 there was the infamous Slow CD with Jan St. Werner (now Mouse On Mars) on that tiny Gefriem label. The Wire (issue 5/97) wrote: 'Slow...an unsung electronic masterpiece, an outstanding pre-Oval example of capsized sampling virtuosity.' Both musicians appear as Dü on the highly appreciated Mille Plateaux compilation In Memoriam Gilles Deleuze. Some may remember the My Bloody Valentine-inspired 7" by Four Square Logos (Randomiz/Suchy/Werner). Now it's time that his solo-album Goflex will show his talents to the wide public. Recent releases were remixes for Microstoria's Reprovisers CD and the Schlammpeitziger 10" (A-Musik) as well as the duoproject Holosud (12" on A-Musik). Goflex is a state of the art example of software-engineering of sound transformation and manipulation. A groovy, sometimes melodic album but radical treated sampled and synthesized sounds will catch your attention. Possibly it will satisfy groovers and headphone-listeners at once. A record for consumers and producers."

SYSTEM 7/DERRICK MAY: Mysterious Traveller CD (AAW 008 CD). $15.00

"Stretching back a decade is a unique musical collaboration between UK electronic pioneers, System 7 (Steve Hillage) and original Godfather of Detroit techno, Derrick May. Meshing funky lush Detroit techno soundscapes and tuff beats with System 7's haunting spacey grooves, this album showcases new mixes of rare and unreleased tracks from both System 7 & Derrick May, together and solo. It joins the dots from early deep and unbridled Funky 90's techno through to today's more eclectic technoid soundscapes, including vintage highlights such as Rhythim Is Rhythim's 'Icon' masterpiece (the full version never released on CD before), the unreleased electro-tinged 'Prototype 1' and the exclusive new System 7 track 'E-merge'. Mysterious Traveller brings together 10 tracks from System 7 & Derrick May's collaborative past. One of the unfinished and unreleased pieces is 'Prototype 1', which was finally completed by System 7 earlier this year. 'Altitude', here in its rare Mayday mix, and the lush live jam, 'Fractal Liaison' come from the first System 7 album, and were produced over 10 days in September 1990."

A-ZAP RECORDINGS:

MELT-BANANA: Cactuses Come In Flocks CD (AZ 02 CD). $14.00

"An album from the morning hours of the Melt-Banana history, the 2nd release on Melt-Banana's label was originally released in 1994 on cassette by Scottish label Chocolate Monk. The first half is a live recording from a 1992 improv festival that took place in a small room at Tokyo University; the second half is made up of four-track recordings created in mid-1994. Melt-Banana is nothing if not a force to be reckoned with. Because they have unlocked the secrets of prime-number hardcore and gorged themselves on influences ranging from the Damned to Patty Waters, Jim O'Rourke to Merzbow, and Gertrude Stein to Mr. Bungle, they appear to a fairly wide range of freaks and lovers of high-decibel controlled chaos."

MELT-BANANA: Teeny Shiny CD (AZ 03 CD). $14.00

"Melt-Banana describe their third self-released album as 'pop and nice,' a claim to which numerous incredulous subscribers to the band's mailing list have replied, 'No pop!' and 'Extreme, please!' This angular Pythagorean-core HC quartet supposes that the words 'pop' and 'nice' have slightly different nuances those outside their native Japan are failing to see; perhaps they mean 'pop' not in the Celine Dion sense, but in the Andy Warhol sense, 'nice' not as in smashing a bunch of garbage together and expecting fans to swallow it out of habit, but as in well-crafted, hairball mania. Even as the band acknowledges that Teeny Shiny is punk, noisy, screeching, and fast, they steadfastly maintain that it is pop and nice for them."

MELT-BANANA: Cell-Scape CD (AZ 05 CD). $14.00

"A band who have justifiably been championed across the world, Tokyo's Melt-Banana have been responsible for some of the most complex punk rock ever made... that far outshines ninety-nine percent of most other bands out there. The band once described their live show as 'Shooting machine gun and laser beam, chaos in order'."

A.D.S.R. RECORDS (GERMANY):

NU SCIENCE: Return Back Space LP (ADSR 014). $12.00

"After several releases on Ultra Dub Recordings this is the first release on A.D.S.R. by the Finnish band Nu Science. On this record Henri Tani and Mikko Ojanen create a mixture of neat electronica melodies made with tons of analog synths and c64-sounds, used in a more melancholic and silent way than we know it from a lot of other records that come out within the c64 and 80's hype of the moment. This album is more an adventure game than a jump and run. Tired robots with low batteries smile amused while riding a space shuttle returning back to space... Guests on this album were: op:l bastards' T.A. Kaukolampi and mini of Polytron intro on a3 by Erkki Kurenniemi, a legendary Finnish synth wizard."

A.I. (UK):

CLARO INTELECTO: Peace Of Mind 12" (AI 003 EP). $9.00

"Debut EP, four tracks wide, each of them guaranteed anthem material. Shot through with a rich vein of prime Detroit legacy, the title cut's subtitle 'electrosoul' says it all really — wicked bubbling 303 and the plusthest of strings, make for one of those records destined never to leave the deejay box. 'Peace Of Mind' is just genuinely huge. 'Tone' toughens into a diamond hard, acute piece of electro. 'Signifier' softens into as sensual piece of deep house as you could wish, while 'Contact' simply floors us every time we hear it, just one immaculate track: acid, minimal and deadly. With the white label already finding considerable favour around the world with jockeys from Michael Mayer, Warp DJ's, Dave Clarke to Skam, this is a record which will prove impossible to ignore in 2003, it's really that simple."

VA: New Town CD (AI 005 CD). $16.00

"In the space of the last 12 months, Ai has become one of the most talked-about, relevant and collectable of independent labels anywhere in the world today. With an audio-visual aesthetic heavily rooted in originality and an appreciation of classic electronic music and design in all its forms; followers of Warp, Skam, Toytronic and the like have been scrambling round each of its limited releases with glee. Originally conceived as a tribute to the 'sound of Crawley', New Town is a simply devastating collection of electronic tracks for the dancefloor. Following his hugely influential EP Piece of Mind, THE record at Sven Vath's infamous Cocoon nights currently, Claro Intellecto finally returns with two brand new cuts: the dense, punishing electroid mashup of 'Delete', and the Rhodes-infused Drexcian chill of 'Breathless'. Claro has been cited by many as the finest producer of electroid/house hybrids on the scene at the moment — a British producer who can at long last rank amongst the most decorated Detroit operators — typifying precisely why he has been in so much demand over the last few months. FZV, another core artist, displays a relentless IDM construction that spins with the sort of dark strokes that fans of Bola and early Skam will adore — a mangle of crunch and strings designed to evoke and terrify. Joe Franks, meanwhile, summons the spirit of Mantronix through a series of filters and flangers that digest the squashed drums and appropriated basslines into a factory monster: tough, considered, flawlessly executed electro sizzles of the loveliest kind. SWF's beat engineering comes straight outta Company Flow's rulebook — deep structures and a blue, crisp crunch of uncompromising beats to draw in a machine-led future on the gargantuan 'True'. With uplifting motor-city house chords shimmering on Andy Freer's 'Super Galaxo', ADJ's mangled machinery evoking EP7-era Autechre brilliance and the Carl Craig/69 vibes assembled on T.R.I.P.'s 'Donald Plays Techno', New Town deploys a heavyweight assault through the ages of electronic music — past, present and future."

VA: New Town 2LP (AI 005 LP). $18.00

Double LP version, full color textured sleeve.

FZV: Precedent CD (AI 006CD). $17.00

"Ai imprint return with the release of Richard Herbert's first full-length endeavour under the FZV moniker. Precedent is an electronic album rooted firmly within the traditions of the Artificial Intelligence school, as perfected by Warp's early recruits Autechre, Black Dog and Aphex Twin, and the affiliated work of Bola and Gescom for the influential Skam imprint. FZV re-visits a time of electronic music construction that did not rely on laptop conceits or digital presets — largely revolving around analog synths, effects and drum machines for the development of involving sci-fi textures built-up without pretension or conceit. With extreme attention to detail, the Ai imprint has built an impeccable reputation for visual panache and product design that has garnered it the attention of countless followers and the world press."

MANNING, MICHAEL: The Lost Aberrant Dragonfly 12" (AI 007 EP). $9.00

"Blinding, accomplished, addictive EP from the much discussed, highly tipped, already wave-stirring Michael Manning. Lost Aberrant... is a fabulous collection of tracks, spanning half an hour in length across 6 pieces that ebb and flow with a subtle affection for the acoustic while the electronic alignment does its thing so beautifully. 'Come To Go Far' is one of those rare things, a transitional piece that actually acts as opener — all dusty drums and life-affirming analog sounds, twilight melodies that you can imagine developing out of a child's lullaby into evocative moonlight music for grown-ups who refuse to grow up. 'The Lost Aberrant...', meanwhile, paces itself majestically with a solitary, slowed-down rhythm that breathes into existence a melancholy, widescreen melody that could, at a push, unleash those Boards of Canada references once again, but with a lonely, joyous slant that endears and colours-in its surroundings with destitute originality. The EP ends with 'Pillow', a sublime study in understatement that tinkles away in a barely audible arrangement of childhood noises before ever so gently slipping into a tiptoe rhythm that takes you over without any fuss. A brilliant debut."

VA: Station CD (AI 007CD). $17.00

"Station stands alone — offering a kind of closure to previous compilations conceived by Ai records, it's not so much a concept album, more of an attitude — Station as a place leading somewhere new, motion and stasis, at once urban and yet suggesting other destinations, new locations. A truly international base of artists bless each track with unique musical criteria and direction — from urban mind funk through electro to purest pop. Ai's typical attention to graphic detail brings the sleeve's hexagonal patterns into allusive focus — in the detuned melodies of 'Welk from Steve Hyland's 'Normal' and Praveen's 'Small Clues' — evidence of a generation reared on the shamanic pastoralism of the Boards of Canada. However, we've learnt to expect diverse terrain from Ai — the label's EP stars of 2003 continue to develop their sound — Yellotone's Simon Harding drops the Channel One influenced digital steppa 'Dubbly More', while Michael Manning runs it down with some Bola-esque percussive voodoo. From the new recruits there's classic pop too — West Australian Pablo Dali offers pristine indie-tronic strums and sways, from comparative Swiss veterans Sinner Dc — a vocal tune with strings and a stroboscopic psychedelic purity to entrance and rescue early Air fans. From Italy, Tin-Tole-Lata blur the divide between electronic and acoustic with aplomb, dreamlike melodies play over crisp beats. Icelander's Traject — now signed to the super-cool Spezial material imprint — traverses a glacial, isolated place. Intonamori provides an unguent, welcoming lullaby for the synapses, while Ascoltare and Sofalofa achieve great things with chiming melodic vibes and deep acoustic drums, processed in their own inimitable style. Its left to Ai's own Puerto Rican-Miami connection, Chris Roman's 214 project to bring the boom to this album — reared on classic bass, and it really shows. From The Outside asks listeners to submit to the get on down and party with a dose of classic Detroit inflection. Plain to see why Microlux have snapped up his debut album. Station provides a sense of the diversity this critically lauded label has made its watchword, never content with mere stasis — looking ahead for the next destination with what may be termed wanderlust. A concentrated dose of the right stuff."

VA: Station 2LP (AI 007LP). $19.00

Double LP version.

CLARO INTELECTO: Neurofibro CD (AI 008CD). $17.00

"Claro Intellecto's album is a masterpiece of continuously shifting mood and tempo — controlling the floor from the Theo Parrish paced deep house of 'Percentages' to the piano-driven soundscaping of 'Baudrillards Supper' to the crushing Warehouse acid of 'Back' to the already classic sounding generic hybrids of EP hits 'Chicago', 'Peace of Mind', 'Section' and 'Contact'. The simple fact is that Techno albums don't tend to work. When they do, everyone sits up and takes notice. Think Derrick May's Innovator, Carl Craig's More Songs About Food and Revolutionary Art, Jeff Mills' Waveform Transmissions, The Other People Place Lifestyles of the Laptop Cafe, Psyche / BFC's Elements and most recently Ricardo Vilalobos' Alcachofa. That's more than 15 years of Techno reduced to a handful of albums defining their moment, pushing the boundaries a little bit further. Neurofibro is a techno rarity. An album that works from start to finish, taking in a myriad styles, paying homage to the masters and developing some new tricks all its own. In the end all that's needed to describe this record is one word : classic."

CLARO INTELECTO: Section 12" (AI 008EP). $9.00

"Mark Stewart delivers the goods yet again. 'Chicago' reminds us all what we've been waiting for — that trademark square bass — melodic depth, deceptively simple, tough production, just unmissable....Four anthems for all fans of classic period Carl Craig, Detroit, deep and clickhouse variants through to prime electro and a fitting prelude to his debut album, Neurofibro."

CLARO INTELECTO: Neurofibro 2LP (AI 008LP). $19.00

Double LP version.

FZV: Enclosure 12" (AI 009EP). $10.00

"A.I.'s latest discovery, showcasing a harder strain of the acid virus, suggesting sounds and directions still to be explored by this much admired young label. FZV's 'Big Dark Room' was one of the highlights of the New Town compilation, as the All Music Guide put it, 'the title of Big Dark Room' by FZV isn't nearly as evocative as the fear-inducing content within; you can practically sense four steely walls gradually closing in on you as the track builds tension through repetition."

A.R.M.Y. (UK):

MARK ONE: Get Busy 12" (ARMY 001EP). $9.00

First releases on this new UK Grime label (new UK underground breakbeat offshoot), as featured on the soon released Grime compilation on Rephlex. "Recently signed to Rephlex Records, Mark One is THE name making waves out of the UK at the moment. His 3 tracks on this first A.R.M.Y release experiment with different sounds and styles to produce a hybrid sound that defies the restrictions of genre. All 3 tracks are very different in style, yet all share the same energy and draw from the same influences. Breaks, Tech step, Electro, Grime and dubstep all play a part in Mark One's sound. A: 'Get Busy' is a Breaks / Techstep bomb which has been receiving major attention and rotation on the fwd+ and breaks circuits, not to mention full support from the Rephlex camp. The tracks shuffling break beat combined with the hectic bass line is sure to cause a storm on any dancefloor. B1: 'Space Hopper' manages to combine the best of Grime, Techno, Electro and fwd+ beats. The beat is futuristic and the Techno bassline has a huge impact. B2: 'Cant Touch This' is a 4 beat roller. This one's fresh and only a selected few DJs have been lucky enough to get it, pure energy. The invasion has begun."

L.A.S.: VIP 12" (ARMY 002EP). $9.00

"L.A.S is a name you will be hearing a lot from in the coming months. His unique sound derives from his musical upbringing of Reggae and Hip Hop and Drum and Bass but he is no newcomer to the production scene having already unleashed some bombs on legendary Jungle DJ Mickey Finn's Urban Takeover label as well as Kenny Ken's Mix N Blen imprint. A: 'VIP' is best described as Drum and Bass programmed at a Breaks tempo with a Hip Hop step. This is revolutionary! 'VIP' has received unprecedented support and press attention since its first airing on the booming pirate radio network of Urban London. Both musical and robust, this is a full on, an adulterated bass onslaught. B1: 'VIP' (EJ 4X4 REMIX) EJ lends his remixing skills to the flip, coming in hard with a stomping tech 4x4 beat and dirty, deep sub bass stabs. Awesome. B2: 'VIBES' carries on where 'VIP' left off, using the same ground breaking formula to grimmer effect. The invasion has begun."

A1 RECORDS (NETHERLANDS):

PHUTURE 303: Alpha & Omega CD (A1 009 CD). $19.00

The long awaited debut album from the Chicago pioneers of Acid sound; issued in mid-'98, but generally hard to track down. For an excellent history of the group (originally known just as Phuture), consult The Wire #170. From that article: "Out of it's tough and exciting exploration of the original Acid style, the group has evolved a form that matches the daringly sparse European Electronica they can lay claim to having influenced. The album reaches it's logical, overdriven conclusion on 'Space Signals', whose overload of distortion and sound effects prompted one reviewer to comment: 'More Cologne than current Chicago.'" On Alpha & Omega Phuture music proves to be as forward looking as ever, even as it still takes off on the fuel of the past. "Contemporary (1998 that is) release from arguably the forefathers of Acid House, whose 'Acid Tracks' (included here as a bonus, all 12:25 of shimmering glory) spawned a boatload of 'good vibes' one fateful summer over ten years back. Fortunately, they (Earl Spanky Smith Jr., Ron 'DJ Skull' Maney, Damon 'Professor Traxx' Neloms, and Roy Davis Jr.) haven't altered their time-honored formula in the wake of recent dance-floor proven forms, instead choosing to stick to the (Roland) XOX rhythms/sonics which they have undoubtedly mastered over the last few years. 12 tracks of the sort of slow-development that calls to mind both the New York Minimalists and the looping ecstasy of Krautrock, over 76 minutes. Essential." — Hrvatski. Limited stock...

REVIVAL: CD (AB 02). $16.00

Bootleg reissue of an unknown and theoretically privately released psych-prog album from 1979. Led by a Iranian guy on guitar & effects, this was recorded & released in the USA, but it says "Printed in Iran" for good measure. The line up is guitar, bass, drums & flute, and a number of styles are touched upon with drippingly tranced Middle Eastern instrumental atmospherics. At its peak this grazes upon Sun City Girls-like torches of improv ecstasy; other parts rely on a lot of flute, in almost Yatha Sidhra fashion.

ABATON BOOK COMPANY:

GIRLS, THE: Live at the Rathskeller: 5/17/79 CD (ABA 007CD). $13.50

"The Girls were there at the beginning. For a few short years, they were undoubtedly one of the most exciting and experimental bands performing in the Boston punk scene. Combining delirious live performances, raw sound and Duchampian art-world smarts, The Girls walked an aesthetic tightrope between pop music and sonic chaos. Those who actually saw them either loved them or hated them; their live performances offered no middle ground. During their brief existence, The Girls released only one recording, 'Jeffrey I Hear You'/'The Elephant Man', a 7" on Pere Ubu's Hearthan label. Twenty-five years after the fact, Abaton Book Company is pleased to present Live at the Rathskeller, one of the most essential missing links between late 70s punk and post-punk. It has been digitally remastered by Elliott Sharp. The album features an eight-panel folding insert that includes numerous unpublished photographs, a performance chronology and copious liner notes by Byron Coley.

DAY, DEVORAH: Light Of Day CD (ABA 009 CD). $13.50

"Debut CD by avant jazz vocalist Devorah Day. Although Ms. Day is little known in the current jazz scene, her stature is undeniable to those who have seen her perform or heard the underground tapes in circulation. Her fans understand that this release should be seen as the most important jazz vocal album of the decade because Day is heir apparent to the fortunes set aside by Billie Holiday, Sarah Vaughan, Nina Simone and Jeanne Lee. With her highly unorthodox line up of voice, triple saxophone, and bass, Devorah Day has constructed a multi-layered yet minimalistic statement, a subtly hued tone poem. Her phrasing has few limitations as she chases her own tale by leaps and bounds through gray skies, toward greener pastures. Light of Day has much in common with classic titles produced by ESP-Disk', the adventurous 1960s avant-garde label that released two records by Day's accompanist, Marion Brown. Here Brown, the legendary saxophonist who played on John Coltrane's Ascension, gives his most transcendental performance in many a year." Says "released under license from ESP-DISK" on the back; recorded 10/28/99.

VORONTSOVA, JULIA: From St. Petersburg With Love CD (ABA 011CD). $13.50

"The debut CD by Russian singer/songwriter Julia Vorontsova. 21-year-old Julia Vorontsova is the most recent link to the underground bards of the Soviet era. She sings melancholic ballads, all in her native tongue, with an otherworldly voice that is reminiscent of Brigitte Fontaine and Vashti Bunyan. Vorontsova's guitar alternates between minimal finger picking and a bouncier, more casual strumming. Her imaginative compositions run the gamut from truncated pop vignettes to somber elegies and are delivered, alternately, with exuberance and despair."

ABDUCTION:

SUN CITY GIRLS: Superculto CD (ABD 014). $13.50

"Volume three in a series of hopefully never-ending CDs under the title of the Sun City Girls' Carnival Folklore Resurrection. Limited one time only pressing of 1000 copies." Recorded live 9/13/97 at GBU/Seattle. "It's like a refrigerated tosser, crushed fingers, full of hemline theory. Every angle is covered, explicitly." — Marty Perez.

SUN CITY GIRLS: A Bullet Through The Last Temple CD (ABD 015). $13.50

"Volume four in a series of hopefully never-ending CDs under the title of the Sun City Girls' Carnival Folklore Resurrection. Limited one time only pressing of 1000 copies." Recorded live at Gravelvoice, Dec. 1997. Guests/co-composers: David Carter (trumpet), Teri Nelson Zagar (upright bass); the Bishop's add piano and sax on certain tracks. This one features 9 shorter instrumental tracks, some with a campfire freak-out flare ("In The Bosom of Ungle"), others with a full flight swinging jazz methodology ("NARCOLODIC") not often heard via this conglomerate.

SUN CITY GIRLS: Severed Finger With A Wedding Ring CD (ABD 016). $13.50

"Volume five in a series of hopefully never-ending CDs under the title of the Sun City Girls' Carnival Folklore Resurrection. Limited one time only pressing of 1000 copies. "If you've been paying attention to these at all you've come to expect the unexpected. The highlights include the proto-lounge tune 'I Wanna Go To The Moon', which sort of collides with the next track 'Chameleon 2000', an anthem (!?) 10 minute organ driven instrumental blast that already seems to exude legendary status potential. From that point on it becomes even stranger, an excursion into the Girl's unique take on gtr. bass and drum divinatory improvisation. Possibly the best of these yet. Recorded live w/ audience at the Rainbow, Seattle in March 2000." — Billy Kiely

HAWK, GERALD: King of River Canoe CD (ABD 017). $11.00

Debut release by this obscure filmmaker (?). The last non-member of the Sun City Girls to release something on their Abduction label (Hal Russell) didn't live long to tell about it, but Gerald evidently thinks he's made of tougher stuff. This recording features acoustic muddle and the whispered rants of somebody with no fear of waking up in a bunker. A certain amount of Jandekian idolation/emulation/ass-ination raises the intrigue and as for the wind, it continues to blow. Don't be afraid to jump, straight down.

SUN CITY GIRLS: The Handsome Stranger CD (ABD 020). $13.00

Volume eight in a series of hopefully never-ending CDs under the title of the Sun City Girls' Carnival Folklore Resurrection. Recorded at Gravelvoice, GBU & Maple Leaf by Scott Colburn & SCG 1997/98. A Goucher-led acid fantasy about the fulfillment of Jack Kennedy's spirit elevation, this one brims with some rare east coast pride. Features a cover photo of 3 humans, slightly beneath the mark. That means you should buy a ticket today.

KANG, EYVIND: Live Low To The Earth, in the Iron Age CD (ABD 022). $12.50

Composed and performed by Eyvind Kang and the Neti-Neti Band. Atmosphere guitar/violin/bass/drums instrumental excursions, in that elusive higher-key sunset mode. Purely ecstatic, highlighted by the riveting 26-minute 'Binah'. "I believe that music should be grown on trees, to be plucked like a fruit without the extravagance of harvest." — Eyvind Kang

SUN CITY GIRLS: Wah CD (ABD 023). $13.50

"Previously released as a tour only CD in November 2002 in limited edition of 500 copies, it has now been extended to 1000 copies with 500 more recently pressed for those who missed it the first time. The record features instrumental tracks of drums, bass, and electric guitar with Rick Bishop's wah-wah peddle in full force throughout. Recorded in a Seattle garage in 2001, the feel of this record is reminiscent of a late-sixties trio of acid stoners jamming into the night. The playing is fluid, direct, and spontaneous with that semi-coherent SCG touch which is only known to those who know their sound. The last cut is a 36 minute epic of rogue exploration titled 'Distorted Views'. One of my deadhead friends loves this record. Then he bought SCG's Jack's Creek LP and thought it was a different band. Well, as with most of their releases, Sun City Girls are different bands — about 100 of them."

SUN CITY GIRLS: Flute and Mask CD (ABD 024). $13.50

"Previously released as a tour only CD in November 2002 in limited edition of 500 copies, it has now been extended to 1000 copies with 500 more recently pressed for those who missed it the first time. This collection is a mood mosaic of sinister characters, ambient ceremony, and what appears to be folk music from unknown origins. 'Where's My Fuckin Jesus?' starts this thing off in grand fashion as a live performance piece of vocal pageantry and strange happenings which seem almost completely alien. Another track, 'Lord White of the North' is a creepy violin drone with orchestrations that grew some Neptune foliage right outta my speakers! It all ends with an insane piece called 'Dukun Olympic Theatre'. Mostly acoustic instrumentation of strings, percussion, gamelan, and other unidentifiable sources, Flute and Mask delivers that 'otherness' vibe in a way that no other group out there seems to provide. Its still hard to imagine that John Ashcroft continues to let these 3 whackos roam freely within US borders."

NEUNG PHAK: (Mono Pause) CD (ABD 025). $13.50

"Not only will listening to this music take your mind off how you'll manage paying off your debts and surrendering your soul to the ruling elite, but its almost a soundtrack manifesto justifying a great 'Career move' where you can uproot your pathetic and truly meaningless life in Western society and relocate to the great inner-peninsula of Southeast Asia. This is what you could be listening to when you move into that cheap apartment overlooking the Chao Phraya River: some roots 'Molarm beat' from the Lao countryside, creamy Khmer ballads and Cambodian Rock, with a dash of Bangkok big city pop. Dig this template of tropical seduction, from rural to urban, through thick sewage and pristine rice paddies, side-steppin' the sex tourist industry just enough to make this disc legal to purchase. On second thought, stay where you are and don't ruin it for the rest of us who's souls are firmly imbedded in the great tunnels beneath the underground cities of Angkor stretching their way to the sewers of Soi Cowboy. Its starting to get too crowded over here! Stay where you are!"

HAWK, GERALD: The Honey Guide Bird CD (ABD 026). $13.50

"The second CD from obscure artist Gerald Hawk, The Honey Guide, is the music of opposites: laughter and misery, crazy and the grim, toytown and the city of fear. This curious recording is filled with hypnotic sound-fields and a queer feeling of humility. Stories of giants and witches are embedded in an otherworldly atmosphere. The music betrays an ability to enter into the supernatural space of abstract hoverings. Is he communicating with the dead, performing underwater rituals, or sketching a lush photographic awareness of the world?"

PABLO, AUGUSTUS: This Is... CD (ARM 2001 CD). $14.00

"Produced by Clive Chin at Randy's (17 North Parade), this was Augustus Pablo's debut full length LP. Originally released in 1974 on the Kaya label, this landmark album was the birth of the Rebel Rock sound. With the help of Errol T. at the controls, the two childhood friends Clive Chin and Augustus Pablo took Jamaica by storm. This is absolutely top-notch dub. Classic stuff."

PABLO, AUGUSTUS: This Is... LP (ARM 2001 LP). $11.00

LP version.

ABSOLUTE [LONDON]:

LOPEZ & ZBIGNIEW KARKOWSKI, FRANCISCO: Whint 2CD (.A.[S] 003). $20.00

"Zbigniew Karkowski and Francisco Lopez share a common ground in their respective work with the physicality of sound through a passionate approach forcefully devoid of conceptual elements. Raw sonic energy and an intense focus on the intricacies of sound matter. They both have a long history of solo work, collaborations and performances all over the world. Whint is their first studio collaboration, recorded by commission of The Compound in San Francisco. Using white noise as the only sound source material, they generated and transformed a common pool of sounds together, and then created two independent pieces in separate studio rooms. A common sonic spirit and two different compositional personalities. Two amazing drifting voyages into the same essential sonic micro-universe of the 'sound of all sounds'."

ABSOLUTE [SEATTLE]:

LOPEZ & MICHAEL NORTHAM, FRANCISCO: Belle Confusion 0247 CD (.A.[S] 001). $13.50

"Five years ago an exchange began between Francisco Lopez and Michael Northam — elements shared from a similar perspective into the internal dynamics of sound as a possibility to refine perceptual awareness. Utilizing individual systems designed to articulate complex sound material, Lopez and Northam have always shared an important thread towards the creation of immersive sound spaces. Their contrasting routes towards realization — Lopez with his 'absolute' limitless exploration of sound as raw material — and Northam with his fragile electro-acoustic based sound organisms — creates a tension between abstraction and harmonically rich intensity enfolded in this Lopez's first interpretation of this special sound dialogue. Packaged in slimline case with four color + metallic silver ink artwork."

ABSOLUTELY KOSHER:

VIRGINIA DARE: Baby Got Away CD (ABK 002). $14.00

First full length album by this SF-based group, two previous 10" EPs on Nuf Sed. "I can throw multi-hyphenated descriptions at you to try and explain what makes Virginia Dare and their debut full length so special, multi-hyphenates are a dime a dozen these (especially on one-sheets) and this record is better than that. Virginia Dare is the sound of kismet. It feels familiar, it feels right, it just feels. The rhythm section is brought to you by Greg Freeman's bass and the strum-strumming of Mary O'Neil's autoharp (no drums here). The texture comes via Brad Johnson's unique guitar styling (there's a screwdriver where the whammy bar would normally be). The melody, ah, the melody's dressed up in Mary's proud and pretty alto croon as she delivers tales of urban Americana."

TELEGRAPH MELTS: Illum CD (ABK 004). $14.00

"Telegraph Melts began as a humble exploration into the sonic psychology of the relationship between electric guitar and amplified cello. The duo has endeavored to break new ground on the terrain of untraditional rock and through-composed genres by using 'secret' formulaic techniques to invade audiences' subliminal consciousness and wreak havoc on the pre-established notions of sensible music-making." Will be followed up by a remix 12" featuring Mu-Ziq, DJ Cheb i Sabbah, Horse Opera and Stock, Hausen & Walkman.

PLACES, THE: The Autopilot Knows You Best CD (ABK 011). $14.00

"A stunning and fragile debut of ten originals, each and every one a classic, coating your brain the way curry powder might coat your fingertips. The imaginative arrangements highlight the subtleties of these songs, combining the gentle lyricism of Nick Drake, Al Green, and Elliot Smith with the creative nuances of the Renderers and flourishes of post-rock-style chord progressions, the confidence of Liz Phair and Cat Power, and the quiet intensity of Smog or Low." Limited stock.

MOUNTAIN GOATS, THE: The Coroner's Gambit CD (ABK 012). $14.00

"For almost ten years, John Darnielle has been treating the planet to the Mountain Goats. After several world tours and an extremely prolific output of six albums, three separate collections of compilation tracks and singles, and a few limited 12"s, cassettes, and side projects, he returns with The Coroner's Gambit. It's his first studio album in three years. Achieving a lyrical maturity that rises to the top of his vast, yet consistent oeuvre, he expresses such raw potency in sound and delivery that it makes his now legendary early recordings seem mellow and tame by comparison."

ABUSE INDUSTRIES (AUSTRIA):

SIN: Remixed CD (USE 7185772). $18.00

Sin is the duo of Mona Moore & Andy Orel. Their music is a strange Austrian hybrid of vocal pop (courtesy of Mona) and electronic darkness (I've seen a reference to "emotional trip hop"). This CD is a bit more notable than Sin's previous full length, because it's all remixes by the Brooklyn/Vienna connection: Potuznik, Abe Duque, Sluts'n'Strings, Kirlian, IO (Cheap), Gianni Stiletto, Jeff & Kirk, Kruder & Dorfmeister, DFKT and the Gregory Fleckner Quintet. Fantastic booklet design by O/R/E/L, giving this the same storybook feel as their other intricate travelogue/porn designs for Disko B (Kirlian, DJ Hell, Rancho Relaxo Allstars, etc.).

AC>PI (UK):

SPEEDRANCH/JANSKI NOISE: AudiomulchLive at the Scala CD (ACPI 0001). $8.00

"A CD/floppy disk set (yes, the disk is blank, despite what attempts they will make to wreck yr computer) in 3 parts: A) 30:10 recording of these 2 blokes "avin it" across four decks (w/out bothering to consider the tenets of beatmatching/correct' DJ posturing, possible damage to said decks via beer-spillage, etc...) recorded live at the mobile Scratch Club @ The Scala, London 25th March 1999, apparently through a micro-cassette answering machine dialed into the club from Alaska, B) CD-ROM portion with Ross Bencia's brilliant AUDIOMulch software (for WinTel boxes only, worth the asking price alone, even if you think these guys are wankers) to be used in conjunction with C) 31 short tracks of giggle-splurt tectonics & rather unsettling jolts & tones ala their recent Execrate mix CD. Aggression's making a comeback, buy some stock..." — Hrvatski. Last cpies, reduced price.

ACCIDENTAL (UK):

HERBERT BIG BAND, MATTHEW: Goodbye Swingtime CD (AC 005 CD). $16.00

"The follow-up to Herbert's successful Bodily Functions album (K7 2001). Guest vocals by renowned New York artist Arto Lindsay, Jamie Lidell (Super Collider/Warp), Dani Siciliano (Herbert), Mara Carlyle (Plaid) and Shingai Shoniwa (Bodily Functions). Additional production work by Plaid and Mouse On Mars; recorded with a 16-piece big band at Abbey Road studios, London; combines the best of electronic production with the best of the UK jazz scene; jazz musicians include Dave O'Higgins (saxophone), Stuart Brooks (trumpet), Dave Green (bass) and Phil Parnell (piano)."

HERBERT BIG BAND, MATTHEW: Goodbye Swingtime 2LP (AC 005 LP). $17.00

Double LP version. "The follow-up to Herbert's successful Bodily Functions album. Guest vocals by renowned New York artist Arto Lindsay, Jamie Lidell (Super Collider/Warp), Dani Siciliano (Herbert), Mara Carlyle (Plaid) and Shingai Shoniwa (Bodily Functions). Additional production work by Plaid and Mouse On Mars; recorded with a 16-piece big band at Abbey Road studios, London; combines the best of electronic production with the best of the UK jazz scene; jazz musicians include Dave O'Higgins (saxophone), Stuart Brooks (trumpet), Dave Green (bass) and Phil Parnell (piano)."

HERBERT BIG BAND, MATTHEW: The Many and the Few 12" (AC 006). $9.00

"First single by The Matthew Herbert Big Band, featuring vocals by Jamie Lidell. Includes 9 previously unreleased tracks from the Goodbye Swingtime recording sessions at Abbey Road Studios. Features a big band version of Doctor Rockit's best-selling 'Café De Flore'."

VA: You Are Here CD (AC 007 CD). $16.00

"You Are Here is a collection of tracks released on Matthew Herbert's Accidental, Soundslike and Lifelike labels from their 3 year history. Initially the three labels were just a way of separating the myriad guises of Herbert. So, Accidental became home to Radio Boy, Lifelike the home of Doctor Rockit and Soundslike the home of Herbert. The label soon attracted a following and demos began to come in. From these came the first releases for the label that weren't produced by Matthew Herbert. The first of these was Phil Parnell's Barcelona EP, the title of which is included here. The next artist was The Soft Pink Truth, a side project of Drew Daniel, one half of Californian experimentalists Matmos. His debut album Do You Party? was released in February 2003 on Lifelike. Other artists on You Are Here are John Matthias, 8 Doogymoto, and Shelby Gaines. Also exclusive tracks from Ian Vine, International Space Station, Pete Stollery and NB."

DOCTOR ROCKIT: The Unnecessary History of Doctor Rockit CD (AC 009CD). $16.00

"Electronic auteur Matthew Herbert has established himself as unique voice in the world of electronic music. The Unnecessary History of Doctor Rockit is the first and last Doctor Rockit (aka Matthew Herbert) compilation, featuring deleted and previously unavailable music alongside recent singles. This will be Doctor Rockit's final release and includes music from 1996-2003, including deleted tracks from The Music of Sound album, released by influential label Clear back in 1996. It also includes 'Café de Flore', 'Veselka's Diner' and tracks previously available on vinyl only (and unavailable for several years!)."

DE WARDENER, MAX: Where I Am Today CD (AC 011CD). $16.00

"Recommended to Matthew Herbert by Plaid, London-based Max de Wardener releases his debut album. Max has emerged with a wonderfully understated album where recordings of acoustic instruments and objects (wires & bowls) fizz and buzz before finally wrapping themselves around the sound of electricity. Each track has a story behind its making: 'Hundreds and thousands', for example, uses recordings of church organs played in an English cathedral and church. The music has all the trade-mark serenity you might expect from such a beast of an instrument. It then incorporates the percussive clicks and whirs of a camera to shape it into something equally beautiful. 'Truly modern, progressive music' is how Matthew Herbert describes it. The album has the sparks and scratches of electronic music, the tranquility, tenderness and space of Brian Eno's ambient work but it's all driven by rhythm even when there isn't any."

ACID MOTHERS TEMPLE (JAPAN):

ZOFFY: Thou Shall Not Mess With Zoffy! CD (AMT 011 CD). $19.00

"4th full length release from Zoffy. Psychedelic trad duo infused with B-grade humor, formed in 1997. The group consists of Kawabata Makoto who is obsessed with troubadours and the music of their birthplace Occitan, and Tsuyama Atsushi who is frighteningly knowledgeable about European trad and the good old rock of the 60's and 70's. Kawabata Makoto showcased his multi-instrumental skills in Toho Sara, and has also performed solo on various ethnic instruments. Kawabata and Tsuyama's fateful meeting finally occurred, and the two first began to improvise covers of classic rock tracks on traditional instruments. In their own words this 'revitalized the original power of the songs by returning them to their original versions'. The concept of the group has since altered, and they now aim to improvise fake versions of troubadour and traditional music from various regions. Again in their own words, 'giving birth to troubadour and trad music that could not have been born at the time. Just like the troubadours in the Middle Ages, our performances are entirely improvised, our communication, sympathetic vibration and resonance are based on inspiration. We ARE contemporary troubadours.' Both musicians are also current members of Acid Mothers Temple & The Melting Paraiso U.F.O."

ACID MOTHERS TEMPLE & THE MELTING PARAISO U.F.O.: Last Concert in Tokyo CD (AMT 012 CD). $16.00

"Complete document of the last gig that AMT played in Tokyo in February 1999. The gig was also Tsuyama's first with us after officially joining the group, and it took place about a month before the release of 2nd album Pataphysical Freak Out MUJI. For this recording, AMT consists of Cotton Casino (voice, synthesizer), Tsuyama Atsushi (monster bass), Higashi Hiroshi (synthesizer, guitar), Koizumi Hajime (drums), Kawabata Makoto (guitar). Limited to 1000 copies only. This is the first issue of AMT Official Bootleg Series of AMT label."

ACID MOTHERS TEMPLE & THE MELTING PARAISO U.F.O.: *Hypnotic Liquid Machine

From The Golden Utopia CD (AMT 013CD). $16.00

"February 2004 recording featuring Tsuyama Atsushi (monster bass, cosmic joker), Higashi Hiroshi (synthesizer, dancin' king), Koizumi Hajime (drums, sleeping monk), Maruichi (drums, percussion), Magic Aum Jiji (Jew's harp, erotic underground), Kawabata Makoto (guitar, synthesizer, speed guru) which also features a bonus track by 'Captain Bret Heart & Terry Funk Zappa' recorded live by Tadashi Ueba at Bears '70's Rock Tribute' 31Jan.2004. This is a one-time edition of 1000 copies."

ACID SYMPOSIUM (WORLD'S LEADING TERRORIST STATE):*ST. JOHN GREEN: St. John Green CD (ACID 004 CD). $17.00

Bootleg reissue. "Strange Kim Fowley produced psychedelic opus with a sanctified hippie vibe — 'canyon music' as this Los Angeles area group might have described it; strange songs about the fires of hell and spacemen from Venus alternate with some anti 'flower power' songs and stoned sounding jams that show why they were touted by Fowley as the next 'in-thing!' — they weren't, of course, but a strong album all the same."

MARKLEY: A Group CD (ACID 005 CD). $17.00

Bootleg reissue. "The West Coast Pop Art Experimental Band (WCPAEB) are a showcase for the various dementias of vocalist Bob Markley (paranoia and a very keen interest in young — emphasis on young — women), and the electric shock treatment of guitarist/vocalist Dan Harris; the album's rich harmonies and full, delicate arrangements show the abundant influence of Michael Lloyd, who co-produced the album with Markley; tracks such as 'Elegant Ellen', 'Sweet Lady Eleven' and 'Magic Cat' are nearly as good as some of the highlights from the WCPAEB catalog; a surprisingly consistent and accomplished album for a band about to collapse under the collective weight of it's own insanity."

BERBERIAN AND THE ROCK EAST ENSEMBLE, JOHN: Middle Eastern Rock CD (ACID 006CD). $17.00

Bootleg reissue. "An inspired fusion of Middle Eastern rhythms and the fuzz guitar blasts so dear to fans of psychedelia resulted in this the most accessible album by accomplished oud player John Berberian and his troop of skilled musicians. First released on Verve/Forecast in 1969 this exotic album features music based on traditional themes from Turkey, Armenia, Greece, Arabia and North Africa blended with the terrific improvised energy of psychedelia. So what you end up with here is bustling bazaars and scorched sands passed through the prism of the lysergic sensibilities of the late 60's. A great album, for the first time on CD!"

ACME (UK):*SUN DIAL: Acid Yantra LP (AC 8011). $10.00

Reduced price. UK only vinyl issue of this band's 1995 return-to-form album, in a full color Sav X gatefold sleeve.

FANTASY FACTORY: Ode To Life LP (AC 8019). $10.00

"Superb 90s psych/prog power trio from Germany. Full color gatefold sleeve." Reduced price, last copies.

ACME GRAMOPHONE/LION PRODUCTIONS (UK):*NEON PEARL: 1967 Recordings CD (ACLN 1001CD). $15.00

"First time on CD for these incredible sessions from the year of psychedelia's apex. Top notch floating underground psych with organ and harmonium — features members of Please and The Flies who were later in legendary band T2 (the sleeve notes try to make the convoluted band history clear). This edition is taken from the master tapes, and comes complete with two bonus tracks not on the limited LP edition."

AGINCOURT: Fly Away CD (ACLN 1002CD). $15.00

"1970 UK private pressing mega-rarity — a top notch psych-folk classic in Syd Barrett solo/Fairfield Parlour direction, but with female vocals. Originals are £1500 or more — no chance to get them. Available for the first time from the original master tapes. Sixteen-page booklet comes complete with lyrics and band history, and includes stunning previously unseen photos of the band. The addition of previously unheard bonus tracks makes this an essential reissue for everyone."

ITHACA: A Game For All Who Know CD (ACLN 1003CD). $15.00

"1972 UK private pressing megararity from the same band that made Agincourt two years earlier. Classic ethereal Pink Floyd influenced psych-folk gem is available for the first time taken from the original master tapes and has previously unreleased bonus tracks. Sixteen-page booklet comes complete with lengthy band history, lyrics, and rare photos. A beautiful trippy album with lovely female vocals sounding glorious in a dreamy setting — this edition sounds amazing."

BULLDOG BREED: Made In England CD (ACLN 1004CD). $15.00

"Amazing 1969 UK mod/psych/freakbeat rarity featuring members of T2 and The Flies. This is the first time it has been reissued officially on CD — and it's taken from the original DECCA master tapes. Comes complete with new sleeve notes, photos and bonus tracks including the mega-rare single 'Halo in My Hair' b/w 'Portcullis Gate'. A classic album finally gets proper recognition."

ACUTE RECORDS:*THEORETICAL GIRLS: Theoretical Record CD (ACT 001 CD). $13.00

"The Theoretical Girls may just be the most influential group you've never heard. This seminal New York City no-wave group from the late 70s created songs and sounds that helped shape what we know today as alternative or indie rock. Yet external politics and internal pressures within the band thwarted the official public release of their music, until now. Following the initial punk and new wave explosion that gave birth to bands like Television, the Ramones and Blondie, a movement emerged from the NYC underground called no wave (featuring bands like Lydia Lunch's Teenage Jesus and The Jerks, James Chance and The Contortions, and DNA (featuring Arto Lindsay, Tim Wright and Ikue Mori). Jeffrey Lohn, artist composer, writer and plumber, was at the heart of no wave. He hosted all night concerts in his chinatown loft where young musicians, improvisers, and artists would gather and perform music. Lohn, a classically trained composer, was very excited by new bands like the Ramones and wanted to combine his classical compositions with the raw energy of punk rock. With Glenn Branca (gtr, bass, vocals), Margaret Dewyss (organ, bass, vocals), and Wharton Tiers (drums, vocals), he formed the Theoretical Girls. At the time there were no bands on the new york city scene that better combined the accessibility of punk, new wave and plain old rock and roll with such avantgarde takes on classical composition and sheer noise. This combination made the Theoretical Girls both a cutting edge assault of noise-rock and an incredibly catchy rock band. This cd contains over an hour of Jeffrey Lohn's material, all unreleased except for one song which appeared on a rare out-of-print 7" record over 20 years ago. Now, for the first time in decades, his songs and sound will get the credit they are due."

BRANCA, GLENN: The Ascension CD (ACT 002 CD). $13.00

"When looking at all the press that followed 99 records release of Glenn Branca's The Ascension in 1981, one cannot avoid the debate, is the Ascension a rock band performing classical pieces, or an experimental ensemble performing rock music? Glenn's prior work in the seminal no wave bands The Static and the Theoretical Girls represented some of the most aggressively avant-rock sounds of the New Wave era, while his work in the two decades since has taken on a decidedly 'classical' approach. However, for a brief moment, Branca and his band were able to transcend such classifications as High Art vs. Pop Culture, Classical Music vs. Rock and Roll, and release a record that, amongst all the debate, at least had all the critics agreeing on one thing: The Ascension is truly awesome."

In 1982, the critic's reference points were the repetitious minimalism of Philip Glass and Steve Reich on one hand, and the 'hard rock' of the Ramones on the other. These days it's hard to listen to Glenn Branca without thinking of Sonic Youth, whose two guitarists (Thurston Moore and Lee Ranaldo) both served tours of duties in Branca's guitar armies. That famous guitar sound, dissonant, jarring, clanging, ringing, chiming, heavenly, beautiful, which first appeared in the Static and the Theoretical Girls, would be used by Sonic Youth in more accessible manners to influence a new generation of alternative rockers. The Ascension features 5 compositions, none a moment too long or too short, none too leftfield to be inaccessible, none too mainstream to be boring. Just 40 minutes of sheer guitar bliss."

Acute's release of The Ascension marks its domestic debut on CD, and to celebrate, we've added lots of extras. Our version is completely remixed by Chicago neo-no wave legend Weasel Walter of the Flying Luttenbachers. We have added a short but intense video clip of Glenn performing live in Soho from 1978. Lee Ranaldo has also supplied us with liner notes that give a fascinating insight not only on his work with Branca, but on the overall social and artistic atmosphere of downtown New York City in the early 80s. Additional artwork by Robert Longo (who designed the original cover) is also included."

METAL URBAIN: Anarchy In Paris! CD (ACT 003 CD). $13.00

"The concept was simple yet unique: marry the post-Stooges guitar aggression of the 'class of 77' punk school with the artsy electronically-processed aesthetic of Roxy Music, Robert Fripp and Brian Eno. The sound: big killer punk rock guitar hooks, squealing textural synth noises, shouted French vocals, and a cheap, adrenalin-fueled drum machine. While most people were just discovering punk, Metal Urbain were blazing the trails for what was to become 'post-punk', with a sound so distinct that Rough Trade would make them their first ever release. Sure, echoes of Metal Urbain can be heard in popular indie bands from the '80s like Big Black and Jesus And Mary Chain, but only now, almost 30 years after their first release, can their genius and foresight be fully appreciated."

METAL BOYS: Tokio Airport CD (ACT 004CD). $13.00

"After years of forging their seminal synth-punk sound in the late 70s and receiving critical yet little financial success, Paris's Metal Urbain had no choice but to re-group and, with the addition of a female vocalist, take their processed electronics aesthetic even further as the Metal Boys. Their mash-up of sounds and styles makes them difficult to pigeon-hole, but punk, rockabilly, Gainsbourg-esque song, dub, industrial, and new wave all appear. The Metal Boys created one of the greatest synth-pop experiments of the time, but until now few have been able to hear their long out-of-print avant-electro. Acute Records is proud to present for the first time ever on one CD their only LP Tokio Airport plus nine previously unreleased tracks."

BRANCA, GLENN: Lesson No. 1 CD (ACT 005CD). $13.00

"After playing in the seminal and influential New York City no wave rock outfits the Theoretical Girls and The Static, Glenn Branca made his first strides towards the more ambitious guitar symphonies he'd become famous for with his first solo release Lesson No. 1 in 1980. Lesson No. 1 For Electric Guitar is perhaps his most accessible piece of the period. It is a concise yet extended statement of forward motion, guitar motives repeating in a manner recalling the minimalist of Philip Glass, but unlike Glass, with a maximalist approach to sonic density and bombast. Upon its initial release as the first record on the influential 99 Records (Liquid Liquid, ESG, et al.), Lesson No. 1 was paired with Dissonance, a more daring experiment that explodes sonic dissonance with rock and roll energy. For this reissue, Acute Records has added 'Bad Smells' (featuring Sonic Youth's Lee Ranaldo and Thurston Moore), composed as a dance piece for choreographer Twyla Tharp in 1982. And if that wasn't enough, Acute has also included an 18 minute quicktime video of 'Symphony #5', recorded in 1984 at what was to become the legendary New York City venue The Kitchen."

DR. MIX AND THE REMIX: Wall of Noise CD (ACT 006CD). $13.00

"Trading in the electro-punk of Metal Urbain for true Metal Machine Music in 1979, Paris's Eric Debris, now known as Dr. Mix, unleashed his new concept, Dr. Mix And The Remix. With nothing more than a distorted guitar and a fuzzed-out drum machine, Dr. Mix And The Remix mixed originals with drastically distorted and deconstructed cover versions of 60's garage and avant-rock staples (Stooges, Bowie, Velvet Underground, et al.). Acute compiles the complete Dr. Mix And The Remix recordings for the first time on CD including the seminal Wall of Noise LP (listed by the Jesus And Mary Chain as one of their top 10 records ever) and many lost and rare tracks."

ADDICT RECORDS:*VA: Ye Olde Barn Compilation CD (ADDICT 004 CD). $12.00

"Depending on the eye of the beholder, the barn in East Troy, Wisconsin was complete idiosyncrasy or beautiful art. We at Addict Recordings saw it as both. For five beautiful summers, the Barn served as a drawing board for a community of musicians from around the world. Artists like Venetian Snares, Bogdan, Neon Hunk, Doormouse, Emotional Joystick, Stunt Rock and the famed band MEAT used it as a creative testing field; bouncing around insane musical ideas to a greatly appreciative audience. Boats were burned, wheels cars flipped, smashed and destroyed. Countless wanderers thrown into mud, ears turned 180 degrees by the foreign sounds. Flash forward, summer 2003, and the barn has seen better days. The property owners are seeing some legal, and this is our way to help. All tracks are donations, and original unreleased music. Each artist was asked to make a song dedicated to the barn, about the barn. We think it's a pretty amazing collection of what has become known as 'midwest hardcore'. In the end, all profits go directly to the owners, and you get a damn fine listen. Limited to 500 worldwide."

AE RECORDINGS (ICELAND):*OZ ARTISTS: Ooger CD (AE 01 CD). $17.00

Apparently an offshoot label to Thule, who released the highly appealing Fishcake compilation. This is more thunderous minimal house from Iceland, clicky, post-Basic Channel filterism and a heavy lo-sunlight groove. "Thorhallur Skulason aka Thor has been a leading figure in Icelandic clubculture since the late 80s. He went from breakdancing DJing and hosting underground radio shows. Later in '92 Thor teamed up with Björk, he has also appeared on numerous 12"s from various labels including Harthouse, Reload, PlastTrax, Uniform &

Thule. File under: Minimal House."

EXOS: My Home Is Sonic CD (AE 04CD). $8.00

"AE Recordings presents the first full length album to be released on the label. An amazing album by the Icelandic techno artist Exos. He is all ready well established within the techno community after releasing two LPs on the critically acclaimed German minimal label Force Inc and series of 12"s on Thule Records, Tissju and Mosaik and in addition, remixing Ben Sims and Pascal F.E.O.S. to name a few. Exos is not only a talented musician but also regarded as one of Iceland's best techno DJs." Last copies, reduced price.

AEON:

KAGEL, MAURICIO: Rrrrrrr CD (AECD 0311). $18.00

New versions of "Rrrrrrr" (1980/1), "Ludwig Van" (1969), "Der Eid des Hippokrates (1984), "Unguis Incarnatus est" (1972), MM 51" (1976), performed by Alexander Tharaud (piano) and others. "Mauricio Kagel, born in Buenos Aires in 1931, is one of today's most distinctive composers. Over the course of his career, Kagel's creative output has been enormous. It encompasses not only stage, orchestral and chamber music, but also film scores, radio plays and essays. Throughout its broad spectrum, his music eschews any and all forms of academicism as well as close ties to tradition, especially to the German tradition. Imagination, originality and humor are the hallmarks of this multimedia artist. With inexhaustible powers of invention, Kagel makes use of a very wide array of expressive devices which, although often caustic and provocative, are always placed in the service of musical discourse. An outstanding soloist as well as a fine chamber musician, pianist Alexandre Tharaud has developed an enviable reputation for his interpretations of French repertoire. Joined by a fine collection of fellow musicians, this album of chamber music makes a fine introduction to the music of Kagel."

AESTHETICS:

ISOTOPE 217: Mixed by Commander Mindfuck, Designer CD (AST 06 CD). $9.00

"The material on this EP consists of live recordings from the well known Rainbo Club in Chicago, where Isotope 217 got their start and played every Monday night to various musicians and the expected hipsters. These recordings were manipulated and remixed by two masterminds in electronic music, Mike Kandel (Commander Mindfuck), who is more commonly known worldwide in the electronic community as Tranquility Bass, and Designer, who is Casey Rice, well known for his numerous electronic 12" releases on Soul Static Sound, Duophonix, Kultbox, etc."

ISOTOPE 217: Mixed by Commander Mindfuck, Designer LP (AST 06 LP). $8.00

L'ALTRA: CD (AST 07 CD). $9.00

Three song 19-minute debut EP. "L'altra is a Chicago-based ensemble. The sound L'altra generates is an emotive atmosphere consisting of piano, guitar and bass arrangements, drums, electronics, rhythms and voice."

L'ALTRA: 10" (AST 07 LP). $8.00

10" vinyl version.

L'ALTRA: Music Of A Sinking Occasion CD (AST 08 CD). $12.50

"Enter Phase Two from Chicago's L'altra. There is a conceptual unity to the record which runs through the music, lyrics, artwork, and recordings of the songs which drags the listener beneath an undertow of melody of rhythm. These emotive compositions have been carefully orchestrated to a feeling of submergence and surrender Heling to create this haunting and beautiful atmosphere are friends Rob Mazurek on trumpet, Fred Lonberg-Holm on cello, Robert Cruz on accordion, Mike Lust on vibraphone and Marc Hellner on guitar."

L'ALTRA: Music Of A Sinking Occasion LP (AST 08 LP). $12.50

Gatefold LP version.

ICEBREAKER: Distant Early Warning CD (AST 09 CD). $12.50

"Debut release by the duo of Alexander Perls and Simon Break, funded in part by NATO/Arts, a conceptual arts organisation based in NYC. 'Distant Early Warning' is program music for the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation's far northern radar defense shield'. Attractive organ/drone/percussion segments cleverly influenced by the Reich/Riley/Gibson school of minimalia whilst retaining that trademark Chicago 'whoompf' necessary for post-rock cred. Nice." — Hrvatski.

ICEBREAKER: Distant Early Warning LP (AST 09 LP). $9.00

Clear vinyl LP edition.

33.3: CD (AST 11 CD). $12.50

"Introducing the glorious full length from CT's 33.3. An amazing instrumental trio who beautifully craft the sounds of a wide variety of influences to created their own distinct sound. The pull from the roots of jazz, experimental, rock and many others." Related to A Minor Forest, Threnody Ensemble.

33.3: LP (AST 11 LP). $9.00

GIVENS, DANIEL: Age CD (AST 12 CD). $12.50

"Within Age you will find sounds past, present and future. Each track lives as an atmosphere unto itself, yet collectively, they work in the traditions of interplanetary works by Pharoah Sanders, Lee Perry, Sun Ra, Augustus Pablo, 4hero, and Carl Craig amongst many others. Age is a fusion soul album with roots in jazz, spoken word, drum-n-bass, world music, dub, and musics yet to be named."

GIVENS, DANIEL: Age LP (AST 12 LP). $12.50

Double vinyl version in deluxe gatefold, clear vinyl.

HOOD: Home Is Where It Hurts CD (AST 13 CD). $10.00

"Home is Where it Hurts marks the first CD release by Hood in N. America since 1997 (singles comp Happy Go Lucky). This recording bridges the gaps of Hood's musical past and future, incorporating electronic elements throughout, a direction to be continued on their upcoming full length, which will also feature guest MCs from the group Anticon)."

ETERNALS, THE: LP (AST 14 LP). $11.00

"The Eternals are: Damon Locks (ex Trenchmouth), Wayne Montana (ex Trenchmouth) and Dan Fleegal. The music they create is taken from where Trenchmouth left off, but has also spawned its own hybrid form. Imagine Serge Gainsbourg, Tricky, and Lee Perry all in a band together. This might give you some idea as to their musical experience."

33.3: Plays Music CD (AST 16 CD). $12.50

"On this record, 33.3 take a more melodic approach to songwriting, by adding trombone, bass and trumpet to their mix. The outcome is Plays Music, a more cohesive and jazzy sounding record, with beautifully orchestrated and richer sounding songs throughout."

33.3: Plays Music LP (AST 16 LP). $11.00

HOOD: Cold House CD (AST 17 CD). $13.00

"The 5th LP from the English quartet Hood, a nearly perfect venture through subtle experimentation and varying sonic color. By further realizing the dynamics of their outstanding recent releases, Home is Where it Hurts and The Cycle of Days and Seasons, this UK group has invited us into an imaginative new musical world. Melding organic and inorganic elements, noise and melody, Cold House doesn't hide from any musical opportunity, giving further exclamation of Hood's love of many styles of music. This willingness peaks with the collaboration on three tracks with California hip-hop reconstructionists Dose One (cLOUDDEAD, Ninja Tune, Anticon) and Why? (cLOUDDEAD, Anticon), as well as fully embracing the contemporary electronic movement of Autechre, Prefuse 73/Savath+Savalas, Nobukazu Takemura and the Schematic label."

HOOD: Cold House LP (AST 17 LP). $11.00

LP version.

PULSEPROGRAMMING: 1 of 2 in 1000 12" (AST 18 LP). $10.00

"First of 2 12"s to showcase Pulseprogramming's drastic progression and change in songwriting. They have moved 110% into the world of electronic beats (and vocals even on some tracks!). These 2 12"s will appeal to fans of Boards of Canada, B. Fleischmann, Arovane, all the releases on Morr Music, and should just generally bring up their profile quite a bit in the electronic community. Pulseprogramming is a multi media collaboration between musicians Joel Kriske and Marc Hellner, graphic artist Hans Seeger, and video/film artist Eric David Johnson."

VA: Compiled CD (AST 20 CD). $9.00

"A track from each of our current artists (L'altra, Hood, 33.3, Daniel Givens, Windsor For The Derby, and Pulseprogramming), as well as from The Eternals and Icebreaker, are used. To beef up the comp we asked several other artists to contribute who are currently not on Aesthetics, but may in the future be doing releases with us. Thus tracks from: Fleck, E*vax, High Priest (of Anti Pop Consortium) and Team Forest. As you will see, the compilation begins with the more pop and electronic based artists, and steadily moves towards newer genres of music, such as hip hop, and various experimental ideas."

WINDSOR FOR THE DERBY: The Awkwardness EP CD (AST 21). $9.00

"Windsor For The Derby's Aesthetics debut is a diverse 5 track CD EP, containing glorious remixes from the likes of Pulseprogramming, Carnival Wave, I - Sound, Calla, and Windsor For The Derby themselves. Surprisingly (unlike some remixed records), these 5 tracks work incredibly well with one another, yet at the same time maintaining their own distinct personality. Carnival Wave's mix starts things off with pure bliss, which then leads perfectly into labelmates Pulseprogramming's dubbed out piece. On the 3rd track, I - Sound (To Rococo Rot collaborator) dense and chaotic deconstructive sounds bite throughout eventually flowing into Calla's guitar driven effort. The record ends (as it begins in context) appropriately enough with the Windsor For The Derby mix of themselves."

GIVENS, DANIEL: The Ideas Of Space 12" (AST 22 EP). $8.00

"The Ideas of Space contains four tracks of the more vocal oriented pieces from these sessions. On the opening track 'Propel', intricate rhythms lay the groundwork for the exquisite interplay between cello and bass. I dare say, this piece may be Givens' greatest nod to hip hop to date. The next track 'Defiance', is a lush, dense and chaotic blend of Givens' vocals, bass, rhythms, and guitar. Upon flipping sides of this LP, one finds Givens taking a more subtle and spacious approach to his music. 'Palms/Psalm' is reminiscent of Sun Ra's interplanetary works, with hypnotic and spaced out rhythms throughout."

GIVENS, DANIEL: Freedom's Myth 12" (AST 23 EP). $8.00

"Highlights the disparate aesthetic evolution that has made his compositions so unique. Given's continues his creation of a seemingly all-inclusive palette of instruments and voice, featuring some of Chicago's most innovative players (guitarist Jeff Parker (Tortoise, Isotope 217, AACM), vocalist Glenda Baker, cellist Fred Lonberg-Holm and upright bassist Josh Abrams (Town & Country), among others) seasoning a soul — stew of dub, world music, jazz and trip-hop ripe with color and varied dynamics. Freedom's Myth carries inflections of artists such as Augustus Pablo, Sun Ra and Martin Denny and will appeal to listeners who want a music that elevates above its mere parts."

WINDSOR FOR THE DERBY: The Emotional Rescue LP CD (AST 24 CD). $12.50

"This is Windsor's 4th full length, and it is a vast departure from their older more jagged and dark sound, and it also is a huge step away from being noted as a mostly instrumental group. They've actually come off writing a gem of a pop record! For those of you that heard the latest M. Gira/D. Matz CD on Young God, look for more of this sound, on this latest Windsor effort. Lazy and pastoral, yet intense, direct and simple."

WINDSOR FOR THE DERBY: The Emotional Rescue LP LP (AST 24 LP). $11.00

L'ALTRA: In The Afternoon CD (AST 25 CD). $12.50

"In The Afternoon is an elegant venture through a pastoral blossoming with sonic textures, melodic tenderness and emotional depth. L'altra have done their homework, passed the first spate of exams, allowing In The Afternoon to feel like an artistic exhale, where it's finally time to reap the rewards of the effort, while breathing some changing energy into the world of indie rock. In the Afternoon personifies what the best guitar bands (the Mogwai's, Radiohead's, Sea & Cake..) hope to accomplish; a synergy of new ideas with musical craft and above all, emotion."

L'ALTRA: In The Afternoon LP (AST 25 LP). $11.00

PULSEPROGRAMMING: Tulsa For One Second CD (AST 26CD). $12.50

"A remarkable record, rich and personal with understated textures and wintry elegance while presenting an array of styles that reference artists such as Boards of Canada, Matmos, early Mouse on Mars, Telfon Tel Aviv (whose Charlie Cooper mixed 'Tulsa') and the Morr Music label. The Pulseprogrammers have expanded their use of vocals (including contributions from Lindsay of label mates L'altra) to create a handful of pop gems that interact with their lingering instrumentals and make for a singular listening experience." 2nd pressing in a regular digipak (no longer fold into a house!)

PULSEPROGRAMMING: Tulsa For One Second LP (AST 26LP). $13.00

ETERNALS, THE: Black Museum 12" (AST 27 EP). $8.00

"Their 3rd 12inch and first for Aesthetics (last 2 on Thrill Jockey), is a huge departure from their previous works. A much more experimental approach is taken in their songwriting and structure, with much more IDM/Computer influences and writing. This record is cut up, deconstructed and spastic... Influences of hip hop, dub, experimental, electronic musics and all throw into Santa's bag and disbursted accordingly for one messed up listening experience."

BRUNDEL, SETH P.: Beyond Murky Drapes 12" (AST 28 EP). $8.00

"A record that forgoes abstract hype and trendy-ness for musical substance and lyrics fueled by the pursuit hope through truth. As the title implies, this record is not clichéd window dressing, but a dense, angular exposition. With flawless phrasing, 'the left overs we dispose of on a weekly basis can feed a whole village, so why not walk the righteous way and fight this industrial machine killing the American dream?" He evokes the belief that hip-hop is still a vehicle for social and political protest. Brundel is part of a new wave of underground MCs and producers, gaining notice by battling the vacuity of stereotyped hip-hop."

KPT.MICHI.GAN: Player, Player CD (AST 29 CD). $13.00

"The dynamic here is far different than the usual clicks'n cuts. Undulating at times while polarized elsewhere, Kpt.michi.gan is unafraid to meld the abstract with the sensual to negate the sterile, always with precision and throttling volume. Player, Player is a multifaceted yet simply motivated record that forms an entirety from its many viewpoints of electronic and analog composition. The music is futuristic, but it comes from a strong punk ethos, using elements of dub and monochromatic techno to frame fragments of melody and noise and continually build by contrast, layering vertically with volumes that aren't always sensical. Beckett is foremost a guitarist, and much of the album's texture is constructed from muted and distorted guitar, seeking to mimic the warmth and 'natural' noise of the amplifier."

KPT.MICHI.GAN: Player, Player LP (AST 29 LP). $11.00

LP version.

ETERNALS, THE: Rawar Style LP (AST 30LP). $11.00

LP version.

L'ALTRA: Ouletta 7" (AST 31). $5.00

"Ouletta" is an 8 minute track L'altra recorded during their 'In The Afternoon' sessions in the autumn of 2001 in Chicago. The beginning half of 'Ouletta' realizes a more ambient and textural feeling giving way to a mix of programmed and live drums as the track evolves. The 2nd half of the track (side B) begins with a more emotive feel and parallel's the groups work on 'In The Afternoon.'"

BRUNDEL, SETH P.: Devil's Pawn CD (AST 34CD). $13.00

"On Devil's Pawn Brundel's political & socially infused hip-hop speaks louder & hit's harder than ever. Brundel's style can possibly be considered a throw back to MC's of year's past, but his voice leads a clear, energized & inspiring path in a world filled of deception & mediocrity. As Brundel battle's his inner conflicts & dissatisfactions a voice of a new generation is born, one clearer & more positive than any government."

BRUNDEL, SETH P.: Devil's Pawn 2LP (AST 34LP). $15.00

Double LP version.

PULSEPROGRAMMING: Tulsa For One Second Remix Project Vol.1 12" (AST 36 EP). $8.00

"Multimedia outfit Pulseprogramming's highly anticipated remix series & follow up to 2003's highly acclaimed Tulsa For One Second. This, the 1st release of this limited edition vinyl-only series features remixes from 2 of Berlin's well recognized electronic producers Schneider TM & Static."

AESTUARIUM:

COHRAN AND THE ARTISTIC HERITAGE ENSEMBLE, PHILIP: On The Beach CD (AES 001). $13.50

Repressed. "First released in 1967 on Zulu records, Cohran's own label, On The Beach has been effectively unavailable. This is a shame, because it is a work of disarming revelation, finding unity in material as diverse as the singing of Yma Sumak, the writings of 'Bucky' Fuller, and the thoughts and practices of ancient African cultures. Effortlessly melting novel instrumentation (such as the Frankophone, an electric kalimba invented by Cohran, and the Chinese musette) into a mix using modality, alternate tunings, and rhythmic cycling, the pieces project the feel of a processional — a spiritual viscous sound field of undeniable substance. Drawing from Sun Ra, a former employer, Cohran's musical ideas and structures foreshadow Earth, Wind & Fire, the AACM, electric Miles, and, arguably any group that has attempted to find a larger sonic palette to explore cultural self-awareness. This is a landmark attempt to actualize cultural identity and heritage through music, a seed of what later germinated into the black arts period of 20th Century American history. Amiri Baraka sites Cohran in one of his works, as did the late Gwendolyn Brooks. Musically advanced, yet accessible, On The Beach is required listening for anyone interested in the history of post-modern music and its relation to who we are."

BOADI AND THE AFRICAN INTERNATIONALS, DAN: Money Is The Root Of Evil CD (AES 002CD). $8.00

"Browsing through the pages of Dan Boadi's press pack, it becomes pretty obvious that he's not new to world of music. With four decades of recording, writing, and performing behind him Bodi has become a fixture of sorts in contemporary world music. He first rose to prominence in the mid-70's, topping the national charts of his native Ghana with an LP titled Abrabo, which, according to the liner notes, 'sold like apples'. Riding this regional success, Boadi decided, with a little coaxing from his entrepreneurial friend Robert Minta, to try his luck in the United States. In 1978, Boadi arrived in Chicago and with little fanfare, he and Minta released Money is the Roos of Evil in a limited run of 500 copies. Under the hue of late 70's disco production, the LP's two funk/disco cuts, 'Money is the Root of Evil' and 'Play That Funky Music' launched the propulsive Afro-Beat of Nigeria's Fela Kuti into the magestic, psychedelic abandon of the American dancefloor? or at least that was the intention. What should have become a venerable monster on the early Loft/Warehouse disco scene passed unnoticed. A dejected Boadi returned to Ghana, unable to get a grasp on his would-be American market. Money is the Root of Evil has stood the test of time and we believe that the energy and atmosphere of Dan Boadi's music remains present. Both songs drip of the sweat of the dancefloor — each swinging with a tight, static Afro-Beat/disco/funk-fused propulsion."

BOADI AND THE AFRICAN INTERNATIONALS, DAN: Money Is The Root Of Evil 12" (AES 002EP). $7.00 12" version.

VA: Chicago One-Stop: Staff Picks Vol. 1 3x7" (AES 003/4/5). $10.00

"Ferocious falsettos, heavy Hammond and a teenage diva. Six sides of undiscovered Midwest Soul and Funk music. A collection of extremely rare, obscure instant classics from the 70's, featuring impressive music from Joey Irving, Wayne Carter & The Organ Twisters and Sugar Hill...where each band features two songs on their very own single. The folks at Aestuarium Recordings astound us once again with this wicked, new series of singles. Essential for fans of great, timeless music? not just eager crate diggers and Soul/Funk connoisseurs."

AETHER:

TOMBSTONE VALENTINE: Hidden World LP (AELP 003). $13.00

Debut album by a group from Indiana. "Described as 'having the 1967 Pink Floyd sound down pat,' Tombstone Valentine features an array of mostly analog synthesizers, Farfisa organ, otherworldly guitar, electric violin and bass. Lead vocalist Richelle Toombs displays an impressive range and compelling vocal textures, reminding of Grace Slick at times."

AFRO SAMBAS:

SMOKEY & MIHO: Tempo de Amor CD (AFRO 002CD). $8.50

"Since 1999, singer Miho Hatori has been the more visible of the two Cibo Matto ladies, providing guest vocals for several of Dan the Automator's projects, most notably Gorillaz. She achieves real beauty when delving into Brazilian idioms with guitarist Smokey Hormel; inspired by the 1966 album Os Afro Sambas, Smokey and Miho decided to tackle the songs of Brazilian great Baden Powell. Along with Jon Birdsong (trumpet), Don Falzone (upright bass), Ganda (vocals), Mauro Refosco (percussion), and Joey Waronker (drums), the duo transform pleasant bossa-nova shuffles with Smokey's off-kilter, slightly distorted guitar, highlighted by Birdsong's muted trumpet burbling through. Vocally, Miho sounds better than she has on either Cibo Matto album, far more confident in her voice, and delivering relaxed and bright performances."

SMOKEY & MIHO: The Two EPs CD (AFRO 003 CD). $14.00

"Since 1999, singer Miho Hatori has been the more visible of the two Cibo Matto ladies, providing guest vocals for several of Dan the Automator's projects, most notably Gorillaz. She achieves real beauty when delving into Brazilian idioms with guitarist Smokey Hormel; inspired by the 1966 album Os Afro Sambas, Smokey and Miho decided to tackle the songs of Brazilian great Baden Powell. Vocally, Miho sounds better than she has on either Cibo Matto album, far more confident in her voice, and delivering relaxed and bright performances. Along with the five Baden Powell songs from the Tempo De Amor EP, this 10-song CD also includes the 2002 self-titled Smokey & Miho EP, with 'Nzage', a 1965 Angolan tune by Ngola Ritmos, and four original Smokey & Miho compositions, sung in both English and Japanese."

AFROSTRUT (UK):

KING, PETER: Shango 2LP (ASTRUT 006 LP). $19.00

Double LP version.

AFTERGLOW (UK):

FANKHAUSER & HMS BOUNTY, MERRELL: Things Going Round In My Head CD (AFT 015). $8.00

HMS Bounty was the band Fankhauser had before he went off to form Mu with Jeff Cotton, classic '67-68-style west coast psych. [now reissued in more legit fashion by Sundazed, the last copies of this edition are at a much reduced price..]

TWENTIETH CENTURY ZOO: Thunder On A Clear Day CD (AFT 016). $10.00

If this is 2nd tier US guitar psych, then it's pretty good 2nd tier, with some "violent" guitar outbreaks, etc. and worth a listen. Last copies, reduced price.

AGARIC:

BORBETOMAGUS: (1st) CD (AGARIC 1980). $13.00

The trio of Jim Sauter (reeds), Don Dietrich (reeds) and Donald Miller (guitar) are practically an American institution at this point. For the better part of 2 decades they have raised the mantle on intense improvisational sound parameters into one of the most unique sound configurations heard on planet earth. Heavy noise, deeply coiled feedback manipulation, hair-raising electronic squeal & the ultimate in air propulsion explosiveness, all initiated by humans. Pretty much every home could use at least 1 Borbetomagus recording; this CD is a reissue of their debut album from 1980, with the addition of Brian Doherty on electronics. With a previously unreleased track.

BORBETOMAGUS: Borbetomagus CD (AGARIC 1982). $13.00

Reissue of the trio's self-titled 3rd LP.

BORBETOMAGUS: Fish That Sparkling Bubble CD (AGARIC 1987). $13.00

Reissue of the group's first recordings with the legendary Swiss duo of Moslang & Guhl (aka Voice Crack), on "cracked everyday electronics". Adam Nodelman plays bass to give Borbetomagus the full quartet sound.

BORBETOMAGUS: Experience The Magic CD (AGARIC 1992). $13.00

Live at CBGB in 1993.

BORBETOMAGUS: Seven Reasons For Tears CD (AGARIC 1993). $13.00

Reissue of classic and long hard to find Purge/Sound League album from 1987. Quartet session with the power-bass addition of Adam Nodelman.

BORBETOMAGUS: Songs Our Mother Taught Us CD (AGARIC 1995). $13.00

First album release in years from the trio of Jim Sauter (saxophones), Don Dietrich (saxophones) and Donald Miller (guitar). For over 2 decades they have raised the mantle on intense improvisational sound parameters into one of the most unique sound configurations heard on planet earth. Heavy noise, deeply coiled feedback manipulation, hair-raising electronic squeal & the ultimate in air propulsion explosiveness, all initiated by humans. This CD features live performances in Glasgow and London 1999.

AGENDA (UK):

VA: Documenta CD (AGN 001 CD). $16.00

"Agenda is a new division of Peacefrog set up as a platform for a variety of compilation packages, the first of which being the Documenta series. The idea and concept behind the series is simple in context, but somewhat detailed and complex in terms of structure. Each package documents movement and innovation in a particular form of modern and specialist music, initially three prime subjects; Electronics (1.0), Acoustics (2.0) & Hip Hop (3.0) which are all genres of music that unlike many other music forms crossover to one another somewhat incidentally and in quite a relaxed, acceptable context. The essence of the packages derives primarily from the specialist nature of the material and its innovative contribution to a particular music form. The first package in the series is a carefully chosen selection of electronic material sourced from various independent labels around the globe. The chosen material documents a particular side of modern electronics in a context that clearly highlights that machine made music can be as heart moving and soulful as any other music form. Reaping with character and emotion from every angle eleven tracks in total are included, each painting their own individual picture of a love life with machines." Artists include: Farben, EU, Marumari, Isan, Phoenixia, Funkstorung, White Shoes feat. Carin, While, Arovane, Mum, To Rococo Rot, Phonem.

VA: Documenta 2.0 CD (AGN 002 CD). $16.00

"Following on from Documenta 1.0, the second part of Agenda's ongoing series documenting various underground, independent and specialist developments in modern music, Documenta 2.0 highlights and compiles some of the finest moments in the movement of modern acoustic and electroacoustic grooves. Various rare, sought after and extremely limited pieces are taken from selected classic and groundbreaking albums bringing together a collection of tracks each full of heartfelt emotion, innovation and challenging thought provoking ideas." Artists include: Mice Parade, Tarwater, Tied + Tickled Trio, Mum, State River Widening, Labradford, The American Analog Set, Bergheim 34, Windy & Carl, Re, Lali Puna, The Notwist, Calexico, Savath & Savalas.

VA: Documenta 2.0 3LP (AGN 002 LP). $23.00

Triple LP version.

VA: Documenta 3.0 CD (AGN 003 CD). $16.00

"Following on from Documenta 1.0 and Documenta 2.0 Peacefrog sub label Agenda presents the next two chapters in its ongoing Documenta series with two flawless collections of American made avant hip hop grooves. Compiling a selection of material sourced from various American independent hip hop labels, many of which are amongst some of the most underground and low key hip hop production outfits America knows today. Operating on the fringes of the genre, constantly defying the conventions and restraints of stylistic boundaries these labels and artists have redefined the way hip hop is perceived today and will be in the future. The two collection's document the next level of hip hop and a new wave in the defiance of a system. Genre's are crossed and redefined with lyrical experimentation, production is sparse, raw, minimal and often mechanical, pushing the concept and approach to hip hop production into entirely new territories. Included are cuts picked up from each of America's key experimental hip hop imprints inc Ozone, Definitive Jux, 75ark, Anticon, Mush, Celestial and Galapagos 4 alongside a variety of other small lowkey setups." Artists on this first volume include: Mike Ladd, Them, Centric I.E & Offwhyte, Josh Martinez, Anti Pop Consortium, So Called Artists, Sonic Sum, Deep Puddle Dynamics, Cannibal Ox, John Smith feat. McEnroe, Aesop Rock, Telephone Jim Jesus.

VA: Documenta 3.0 2LP (AGN 003 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

VA: Documenta 3.1 CD (AGN 004 CD). $16.00

Artists on this 2nd volume include: Cannibal Ox, The Infesticons Feat. Rob Smith, Sage Francis, Aesop Rock, Anti Pop Consortium, Daddy Kev Feat. Mikah 9, Sixtoo, Offwhyte, Boom Bip & Dose One, Mike Ladd, So Called Artists, Why?.

VA: Documenta 3.1 2LP (AGN 004 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

VA: Another Country CD (AGN 007 CD). $16.00

"Another Country is an introduction to alt-country and Americana for the uninitiated, bringing together for the first time some of the genre's leading lights. All of these songs have been cherry-picked from across a continent's-worth of rare and hard to find output from rock's fertile margins. Everybody here is from the USA or Canada, though the songs — from Jim O'Rourke's wry paean to fatalism to Wilco's skewed protest song and Hawksley Workman's mischievous love ballad — are about life, death and everything in between; stuff that goes on everywhere." Artists include: Sam Prekop, Jim O'Rourke, Peggy Honeywell, Jim White, Kelly Jo Phelps, Hayden, Len Brown Society, American Analog Set, Scud Mountain Boys, Lambchop, Wilco, Low, Hawksley Workman, David Grubb, Mighty Flashlight, The Be Good Tanyas, and Calexico.

VA: Another Country 2LP (AGN 007 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

VA: Another Country 2 CD (AGN 008CD). $18.00

"Another Country 2 takes us deeper into the heartland of American 'alt.country' — a place of otherworldly harmonies, stripped-down arrangements, plangent guitars, clanking banjos and a short-story anthology's-worth of intriguing narratives. Not one artist here emanates from Nashville, though the rest of the country is well represented. There are beautiful, harmony-laced porch hymnals from New York's elegantly melodious Cub Country and Georgia's disarmingly intimate Azure Ray. There's heart-swelling, arcane boogie from Brooklynites The Boggs and died-in-the-wool Southerners Iron & Wine. Elsewhere, Arizonan legends Giant Sand chip in with a slice of beauteous desert-flecked country rock, while North Carolina's superstar-elect Ryan Adams and Austin's bucolic troubadours Okkervil River tip their feed caps toward Dylanesque folk-rock. Another Country 2 showcases country music, then, but not so as you'd notice. These are songs that, irrespective of genre, you'll simply want to inhabit. Like a tumbleweed cottage or a beloved pair of boots; they have a lived-in charm that's truly beguiling."

VA: Another Country 2 2LP (AGN 008LP). $21.00

Double LP version.

AGROLIGHTS RECORDS:

GLIESE: 2076-2096 CD (AGL 001). $13.00

New Miami-based label that "will focus on the live aspect of electronics." Gliese has also appeared on the first two Schematic compilations. "Obscure stuff that goes from noise rhythms ala Mego to more ambient things, very finely detailed compositions. It is a limited and numbered production (300) in hand-made packages, with super cool black CDs (ala Playstation)." Limited remaining stock.

CANIBAL A:FRAUX: CD (AGL 002). $13.50

"With a swinging pendulum of the sphincter comes a gray aesthetic of sound. Associates involved have commented on the relations of Mioc and H.A.L.O. Vessel. A bit like noise verging on a spatial divide of tone. There is also a visit from a local named Richard Devine that may offend but also cease. The second release from the Agrolights label in Miami. There might be something in the pretrial that awaits."

SEMAI: Boredom Made Pets CD (AGL 004). $13.50

"The long awaited new project from audio habitat is finally out. Housed in gorgeous hand-made tracing paper covers, which come in a combination of 4 colors and 8 photos, 'Boredom Made Pets' brings out this excellent and upcoming Colombian/South Florida kid, who was just recently voted best electronic act in Miami (New Times) This is music for three legged dancing freaks, bordering conceptuality and booty bass, splendidly combining lo-fi electronic and future soul development."

AIM RECORDINGS:

MYSTERY BAND, THE: Leo, Gemini, Capricorns & Jones LTD. LP (ARC 71011). $13.50

Debut album by this long-running CA-based group, including Ace Farren Ford (Ace & Duce, The Child Molesters), and Richard Snyder (Capt. Beefheart circa the Doc At the Radar Station tour and Ice Cream For Crow album). This LP version features 3 tracks not to be found on the forthcoming CD version. "Free Jazz? Country & Western? Sea Shanties? Barrelhouse Rock? What do you do with a group who refuses to play just one style of music? These and many other questions are being addressed by four fellows known or rather unknown as the Mystery Band. Playing an unusual blend of mostly original material (and a highly unusual array of covers), the Mystery Band have been lurking about the Los Angeles club scene for some 10 years, however, their musical association with one another goes back as far as the nineteen sixties."

AIN-SOPH (CANADA):

DOYLE, ARTHUR: Do The Breakdown CD (AIN LAMED). $14.00

A home recording continuing in the style of The Songwriter or Plays And Sings From the Songbook Vol 1, recorded 4/20/97. Doyle on tenor sax, flute, vocal & Walkman-generated hiss. This immediately transports you to Arthur's universe, an instantly recognizable sound factory.

AIRBAG:

KUMO: Kaminari CD (AIR 17760). $10.00

Domestic issue of a CD released by Plink Plonk d'n'b subsidiary Psychomat. "Kumo is Liverpool-born Jono Podmore, a multi instrumental analogue psycho who moves with ease between the titles of engineer, remixer, producer and DJ. Kumo's name is already a familiar name amongst the drum 'n' bass fraternity, following the UK release of his album entitled Kaminari (meaning thunder and lightning). Kaminari is a successfully ambitious blend of organic sound and textures, an exercise into musique concrete or 'future sound'. It gathers an impressive array of squidges, hum, and clicks with the help of analogue synths, samplers and a Theremin, whilst never straying into full on sample self abuse. Harps and traffic merge to form a melody, dark mumbblings keep up the intrigue whilst the chattering of diverse machines provide a staccato rhythm."

T-POWER: Waveform CD (AIR 17761). $10.00

The 2nd T-Power album, now issued in the US, licensed from S.O.U.R. on a new CA-based label. A brilliant, legitimately experimental drum 'n' bass album that turns into a pure fringe monster after extended play. "Way back in the Summer of '94 when the sound of jungle was lauded by the mainstream UK music press, ragga vocals fused with staccato rhythms was the sound of the moment. Then S.O.U.R. released 'Mutant Jazz' by T. Power vs. MK Ultra. In September of '95 T. Power delivered the album Self Evident Truth of an Intuitive Mind, and once again the boundaries of D'n'B were twisted and contorted into a subsonic squirrel's nest, forcibly thrusting the listener into the cerebral passenger seat. Now the time has come for the 2nd album, Waveform, the fruits of which display a bittersweet symbiosis that plots man against machine in organic technological confusion. With no breakbeats in sight, the crispness of the drum programming shines through and enters a space previously unobtainable. Check the time signatures, moving from 3/5 into 13/14 and beyond. As the bottom end swings against the flow, the freeform snares carve a tracer-like path through the listener's consciousness."

AIRLOCK (GERMANY):

AIRLOCKTRONICS: Narrative 12" (AIR 1212). $4.00

Airlock is the label formerly known as Drive-In; Airlocktronics is the artist formerly known as Airlock. "Single #2 of 3, documenting one Airlock's affinity for modern electro stylings. Functional club-floor fare w/vocal re-iterations and occasional break-stutter mania/roller bass/gate 'verb. There are even traces of ghetto bass and Kraftwerkian lo-bit computer vox. Sure to do your head in at the next block party." — Hrvatski. Last copies, reduced price.

AKARMA (ITALY):

BLUE CHEER: Vincebus Eruptum CD (AK 011 CD). $15.00

New digipak reissue of the first Blue Cheer album from 1967, originally issued by the Philips organization. Features their "hit" cover of "Summertime Blues" and the beginning of their documentation to be the loudest/heaviest rock band ever. Later practitioners may have bested then on at least a scientific level (in terms of decibel or pound measurements), but for pure trouser-beltage, the sound of Blue Cheer is instantly iconoclastic. Psychedelic bombardment from the times...

BLUE CHEER: Vincebus Eruptum LP (AK 011 LP). $21.00

Deluxe 180 gram, heavy jacket that fairly accurately mimics the original silver & blue embossed sleeve.

BLUE CHEER: Outside Inside CD (AK 012). $15.00

Digipak reissue of the 2nd album, originally issued by Philips in 1968. The core of Blue Cheer: Dickie Peterson (bass, vocals), Bruce Stephens (guitar), Paul Whaley (drums).

BLUE CHEER: Outside Inside LP (AK 012 LP). $21.00

180 gram vinyl, full color gatefold sleeve.

BLUE CHEER: New! Improved! CD (AK 016 CD). $15.00

Digipak reissue of the third Blue Cheer album, originally issued by Philips in 1969. Most notable for the side 2 inclusion of the entire output of the group while employed with Randy Holden as guitarist. Three long tracks, all penned by Holden, which are considered amongst the most legendary recordings of the heavy rock era. Holden would leave the group quickly and went on to release his masterpiece solo album from 1970, Population II, before sinking off the musical universe into an exotic existence of hi-life boating and fishing in the Pacific!

BLUE CHEER: New! Improved! LP (AK 016 LP). $21.00

BLUE CHEER: CD (AK 017 CD). $15.00

Digipak reissue of the fourth, self-titled, Blue Cheer album from 1970.

BLUE CHEER: LP (AK 017 LP). $21.00

BIG STAR: #1 Record LP (AK 028). $21.00

180 gram LP reissue of the first Big Star album, originally issued by Ardent/Stax. Chris Bell, Alex Chilton, Jody Stephens, Andy Hummel.

BIG STAR: Radio City LP (AK 029). $21.00

180 gram vinyl reissue of the second Big Star album, also from 1974, originally issued by Ardent/Stax. Minus Chris Bell.

TWINK: Think Pink CD (AK 064 CD). $15.00

"Originally released in 1970 on Polydor. This is a wild classic of British psychedelia featuring various members of the Deviants." Previously bootlegged by SPM in Germany, this version's been licensed direct from the Belgian shoe salesman, John "Twink" Alder himself. Not to imply that original master tapes or cover films were used, but this is probably as close to legit issue as you're going to get on this album. Contains the all-time classic sludge-dunt classic "Ten Thousand Words In a Cardboard Box".

TWINK: Think Pink LP (AK 064 LP). $21.00

Full color gatefold, 180 gram pressing on pink vinyl.

MOUNTAIN BUS: Sundance 2LP (AK 066 LP). $34.00

Double vinyl reissue, in full color gatefold. Previous CD version on Eva is now out of print.

First issued as privatepress, from 1974. "Originally released on their own Good Records. Beautiful ringing guitar work in a style very similar to the Grateful Dead. Contains over 30 minutes of previously unreleased material. 180 gram vinyl."

SANTANA: S.F. Mission District CD (AK 068 CD). $15.00

"Live material recorded in SF in 1969. Featuring classics like 'Evil Ways' and 'Soul Sacrifice', plus over 10 minutes of previously unreleased recordings."

TRIPSICORD: CD (AK 077 CD). $16.00

"Originally released in 1971 on Janus. SF acid and psychedelic guitar sound at its best, produced by Matthew Katz. Featuring all the material ever recorded by the band — the original pressing is now very rare and expensive to purchase." Has five bonus tracks; two from the San Francisco Fifth Pipe Dream compilation and two from their single on the San Francisco Sound label. "Tripsichord Music Box (name shortened to 'Tripsichord' circa 1970) were one of the Bay Area's most enigmatic and yet truly amazing bands, their self-titled album (recorded in 1969) proves conclusively that during that year, they along carried the torch that was once shared by Quicksilver Messenger Service, Frumious Bandersnatch and Moby Grape in San Francisco...The Tripsichord album itself is essentially what the world was hoping Shady Grove would be! The album is a wealth of riches both musically and in it's dark and menacing lyrical imagery. The dual guitar interplay on this under-rated album gem is as good as anything by some of the best San Francisco bands and has stood the test of time well." — Vernon Joynson.

TRIPSICORD MUSIC BOX: Tripsichord 2LP (AK 077 LP). $34.00

Gatefold sleeve (textured paper and gold embossed!) and 180 gram vinyl.

MAJIC SHIP: 2LP (AK 084). $34.00

"The complete recordings from the beginning in NYC (as the New Primitives) to the last sessions recorded during 1969." Italian-only vinyl version, packaged in deluxe gatefold sleeve; CD version is currently on Gearfab.

SANTANA: Mother Earth CD (AK 088 CD). $16.00

Collection of tracks dated 1969 and recorded at different locations like the Fillmore Auditorium, the Ed Sullivan show, and their own studio. Contains 10 tracks. "For those of you that have been living in a basement in Sri Lanka for the last thirty five years, Santana were/are a rock n' roll group from the Bay Area that had a decidedly Latin flavor to a lot of their songs, had their first huge hit covering Peter Green's 'Black Magic Woman', and with 1999's Supernatural won more Grammy Awards than God. This is the second release by Akarma of some pretty great early 'live' material by these guys (the other being S.F. Mission District), but be forewarned, this one contains different versions of a lot of the tracks covered on the other volume — if you just can't seem to get enough of hearing variations of 'Jingo' or 'Fried Neckbone at Home Fries' you've come to the right place. Nifty new mini-LP styled CD package by Akarma as well, with a pretty silly collage of the boys with some faux-Aztec taqueria artwork gracing the inside of the gatefold." — Billy Kiely.

HIGH TIDE: Interesting Times CD (AK 091 CD). $15.00

"The third album by this band from England. Originally release only as a privately pressed tape."

ANALOGY: CD (AK 093 CD). $15.00

"Originally released in 1972 on the Produzioni 28 label, in a cover that pictured the group nude out in the field! The only album by this Italian/German progressive outfit. The album is a masterpiece of progressive rock comparable to Circus 2000, Julian's Treatment, Sandrose or Earth & Fire. Analogy's distinctions were Jutta Nienhaus' unique vicious vocals, Thurn's and Pankoff's impressive instrumental skills on guitar and organ respectively and the overall dark atmosphere of their music."

ANALOGY: LP (AK 093 LP). $21.00

"180 gram vinyl, gatefold sleeve, and a free 7" (by the pre-Analogy band Voice) included."

UNDER MILKWOOD: CD (AK 095 CD). $15.00

First legit issue of this good-to-pretty-good-to-almost-great underground rock album from 1970 (previously bootlegged as just "Milkwood" by the ever-doomed Fanny organization). Beautifully presented in one of Arkama's new LP-styled mini gatefold jackets. "Reissue of a fantastic Californian psych-based only released in 1969 as test pressing (was planned to be released on A&M label but never came out); it had this real 'west coast' guitarsound like Jefferson Airplane, Moby Grape, some folkrock passages ala Fairport Convention but also some exotic hippie atmospheres ala Traffic Sound; great alternate male/female vocals not unlike Balin/Slick but also crystal vocal passages ala Sandy Denny."

LE STELLE DI MARIO SCHIFANO: Dedicato A CD (AK 1008 CD). $15.00

"Originally released in 1967 on the BDS label. Mario Schifano (the amazing painter and sculptor from the Italian pop scene) recruited four young and unknown musicians to record this innovative album. Features Peter Hartman and beautiful cover artwork by Schifano himself." Previously carried on the dubious Mellow label, this version has got to jump one giant step forward in the great Italian label scramble for legitimacy! Starts out with a killer side-long track that almost makes this one out as the Italian answer to Love Live Life + 1: flying freak-out stuff, stumbling percussion, screaming organ waver, screaming female vocals, screaming, heavy lead guitar all add up to a first class psychedelic cacophony. The remaining tracks are fine, in a shorter psych/pop vein. Unknown and good-to-astounding, depending on your relationship to the psych universe.

LE STELLE DI MARIO SCHIFANO: Dedicato A LP (AK 1008 LP). $21.00

Gatefold sleeve on 180 gram vinyl.

AREA: Maledetti CD (AK 1009 CD). $15.00

"Originally released in 1976 on Cramps, the last studio album recorded with Demetrios Stratos. Features appearances by Steve Lacy and Paul Lytton, the original artwork on a gatefold sleeve and 180 gram vinyl." The 5th Area album released overall; rather crazy, demented jazz-rock from this pioneering outfit.

AREA: Maledetti LP (AK 1009 LP). $21.00

LP edition, full color gatefold sleeve, 180 gram vinyl.

STRATOS/PAGANI/TOFANI: Rock and Roll Exhibition CD (AK 1016 CD). $15.00

"Originally released in 1979 on Cramps. A live album tribute to Elvis Presley. Featuring Demetrios Stratos and two members of Premiata Forneria Marconi."

STRATOS/PAGANI/TOFANI: Rock and Roll Exhibition LP (AK 1016 LP). $21.00

CIRCUS 2000: CD (AK 1021 CD). $15.00

Second label to reissue this album, which was originally released by RiFi in 1970. "Competent Italian psych record from 1970, the band's first of two, it's places being some great female vocals by Silvana Aliotta, and some pretty classic fuzz breaks by guitarist Marcello 'Spooky' Quartarone. At points a little like Aguturbia, and if you're a fan of theirs you might feel that you need to hear this. CD version includes 4 bonus tracks not found on the LP, with Akarma's trademark sturdy mini-LP sleeve and some 'interesting' neon hued cover art." — Billy Kiely. "This 70's Italian band (vocals in English) employs some unique ideas in their sound, as well as some progressive tendencies, including rapid shifts from soft acoustics to hard rocking electrified guitar jams, etc. Some folk influences are also apparent in the sound, as well as typical late sixties psychedelic folk-rock type harmonies led by lead vocalist Silvana Aliotta." — Gibraltar Encyclopedia of Progressive Rock.

CIRCUS 2000: Escape From A Box CD (AK 1022 CD). $15.00

"Originally released in 1972 on RiFi. Their 2nd and (maybe) best album. More progressive than the debut work. Extended instrumental passages. Gatefold sleeve. The CD contains 2 bonus tracks." Heroically dumb psychoedelic collision from Italy, characterised by the IQ-anthem, "Hey Man", drawing air from the same celestial bong-portal that led to the birth of Aguturbia in SA and Tomorrow's Gift in Germany, this is a special elixir.

CIRCUS 2000: Escape From A Box LP (AK 1022 LP). $21.00

180 gram vinyl LP version in full color gatefold sleeve.

ARTI E MESTIERI: Tilt LP (AK 1024 LP). $21.00

180 gram vinyl version.

ARTI E MESTIERI: Giro Di Valzer Per Domani CD (AK 1025 CD). $15.00

"Originally released in 1975 on Cramps. This is their 2nd album. More dynamic and inspired than their debut title. Contains 2 bonus tracks. Original artwork."

ARTI E MESTIERI: Giro Di Valzer Per Domani LP (AK 1025 LP). $21.00

"Gatefold sleeve... 180 gram vinyl."

VA: 1979 Il Concerto (Tribute To Demetrio Stratos) CD (AK 1026). $15.00

"An interesting 1979 tribute concert to Demetrio Stratos and his great voice. Contains live tracks by Area, Banco Del Mutuo Soccorso, Francesco Guccini, Antonello Venditti, Roberto Vecchioni, Eugenio Finardi, Roberto Ciotti and lots more. Contains 1 bonus track."

DIAZ DE BLUES: CD (AK 103 CD). $15.00

"Originally released in 1972 on Discos De La Planta. A rare and great album of South American rock blues." Originally from Uruguay, this trio of Jorge Barral (bass, acoustic guitar, orrigontofono, vocal), Caniel Bertolone (electric guitar, bottleneck, harmonica, piano) and Jorge Graf (drums, percussions, piano) sweats it out with the best of them...

AREA: Live Concerts Box 3CD BOX (AK 1030 CD). $48.00

"Very nice boxset of the massively influential Italian progressive group lead by Demetrio Stratos containing historical concert recordings that capture the group at the peak of their unique creative prowess. Their music encompassed rock, jazz, folk, free-improvisation, classical influences and prog. Area approached rock music a political rigor that was unmatched by any other popular group of the time. First disc is recorded live in concert in Milan with guest Steve Lacy and Paul Lytton and is filled with the dense sound of unbelievable high virtuosity mixed with inspired energy that gave signature to the band. 5 pieces recorded live and an incredible encore of 'Boom Boom' by John Lee Hooker and an 'Improvisation' previously unpublished which sees Lytton and Steve Lacy really stretch out into some abstract atmospheres. Plus 2 1976 concerts from Paris (2nd disc) and Lisbon (3rd disc) make up the rest of the collection which feature some excellent performances and some charming French asides from Demetrio Stratos. Crucial documentation of possibly the single most vital Italian progressive rock group of the '70s. Beautifully packaged featuring notes and photographs previously unpublished."

OPUS AVANTRA: Opus Magnum 4CD BOX (AK 1033 CD). $50.00

"Contains the complete work of this extraordinary '70s Italian group that fused avant-garde, classical, folk, canzone, progressive rock, improvisation and electronics. This group were highly influential in the progressive avant-garde scene of the time. A collaboration between composer and instrumentalist Alfredo Tisocco, singer Donella Del Monaco and the non-musician Giorgio Bisotto who was the philosophical director of the group. This boxset contains the three extraordinary albums of the group (Introspezione, Lord Cromwell and Strata) and the solo album recorded by Tisocco in 1975 (titled Katarsis). The booklet contains photos and extensive biography of this outstanding post-modern music group."

AREA: Area Boxset 4CD (AK 1036 CD). $48.00

"Formed in 1972, Area was the single most influential Italian progressive rock band of the era. Perhaps as well known for their leftist politics as for their unique blend of progressive rock, free jazz and Mediterranean folk music, these recordings capture Area at the height of their creative prowess. The avant-garde vocals of singer Demetrio Stratos also contributed to the band's unique sound. This boxset containing their first 4 albums: Arbeit macht frei, Caution Radiation Area, Crac, and Areazione, includes the original covers, lyrics and liner notes by the well-known Italian music journalist Riccardo Bertoncelli."

STRATOS, DEMETRIO: Demetrio Stratos Boxset 5CD BOX (AK 1037 CD). $54.00

Reissue of the solo albums by Area's avant-vocalist, originally issued on the Cramps label (1972-78). Each album is packaged in heavy cardboard replication of the original LP jacket, with 2 booklets of additional notes (Italian/English). "Elegant 5 CD box set documenting one of the most important artists in the Italian musical panorama. These 5 albums (Cantare La Voce, Metrodora, Le Milleuna, Recitarcantando and Concerto All'Elfo) span the career of the amazing vocalist who used his own voice as an instrument like few others had ever dared. 25 years later Demetrio's work is still extremely relevant, and he stands out as one of music history's true unique voices."

AREA: Event '76 CD (AK 1038 CD). $15.00

"Recorded live at the University of Milan with Steve Lacy and Paul Litton during the period in which Area were working on their experimental Maledetti. Many jazz critics saw an affinity between Area's experimentalism and that of the jazz avant-garde. Event '76 shows us the band's enormous live potential and puts an end to any idea that Area were a simple rock band. An important piece of Italian music history."

AREA: Event '76 LP (AK 1038 LP). $21.00

LP Version, 180 gram pressing, gatefold sleeve.

OPUS AVANTRA: Omega 4CD BOX (AK 1039). $48.00

"Opus Avantara were one of a kind in the Italian musical panorama; their unique sound joined elements of avant-garde with classical music (Avan tra = Avant-garde + Tradition). Pianist Alfredo Tisocco alternated between concerts (during which he performed the music of Satie, Ravel, Debussy, Albeniz, Granados, Stravinsky, Gershwin, etc.) and his own compositions and artistic direction of the ensemble Opus Avantara, with whom he recorded 5 critically acclaimed albums that won them international renown (particularly in Japan). On his own, Tisocco recorded 12 LPs, each of considerable significance. This collectors box set includes two of Tisocco's solo efforts (Ritagli d'anima and Ballet Collection), along with two as Opus Avantara, Lyrics and the previously unreleased Live Concert Excerpts, which features the ensemble in concert at various dates from 1978-1990. Extensive liner notes complete the box, along with previously unreleased photos of the musicians."

AREA: Live '77 2CD (AK 1042 CD). $32.00

"Thanks to our hard working treasure hunters, Akarma has dug up this long lost high quality recording of Area performing live in Turin in 1977. This historic concert by one of the most internationally acclaimed Italian rock bands in history is only available from Akarma. Featuring the classic 'La mela di Odessa', 'Luglio, Agosto, Settembre, Nero' and 'Cometa Rossa' plus songs from their experimental Maledetti album, also released in 1977. The concert ends with a long and inspired improvised number."

BAUHAUS: Stairway To Escher CD (AK 1043 CD). $16.00

"Formed in 1973 by Rino Sangiorgio, Paolo Damiani and Luigi Calabrò (three quarters of the Italian 70s progressive rock band Buon Vecchio Charlie). Like BVC, Bauhaus was also in the progressive rock vein, but with much more pronounced jazz influences (in the style of Soft Machine) and thanks to the extreme technical proficiency of the musicians (all much sought after session men), they were named 'best new Italian band' at the 1974 Villa Pamphili music festival. Stairway To Escher recorded live in studio at 'Festa Garage Studios' in Rome in May 1974, is the missing link of 70s Italian progressive rock, and is finally available for the first time ever."

MORLY GREY: The Only Truth CD (AK 109 CD). $15.00

"Originally released on Starshine in 1969, this record has been a rare collector's item for years, and is now reissued in a digitally remastered version. The 17 minute title track is the highlight, full of acid guitar work and incorporating the band's reworking of 'When Johnny Comes Marching Home'. Contains a rare poster that was included in some copies of the original release. 8 tracks, 180 gram vinyl." Ohio-based rural-ish psych, of all the 70s albums obsessed with the shroud of Jesus, this is a pretty good one, even a bit "scorching" at times.

MORLY GREY: The Only Truth LP (AK 109 LP). $21.00

RUNNING MAN, THE: CD (AK 111 CD). $15.00

"Originally released on Neon (an RCA subsidiary dedicated to progressive rock) in 1972. This English progressive band had it's strength in the guitar player Ray Russell, well known for his fastness and talent. Powerful jazz-rock tracks, alternate with softer moments. Featuring the sax player Gary Windo."

MOVING SIDEWALKS, THE: Flash CD (AK 117 CD). $15.00

"Originally released on Tantara in 1968. Hailing from Houston, this was one of Texas' premier psychedelic bands. Featuring Billy Gibbons (on guitar and vocals) later of ZZ Top. This re-release contains the original track list plus five bonus tracks taken from ultra-rare singles (including a version of Lennon-McCartney's 'I Want To Hold Your Hand')." [LP version forthcoming]

MOVING SIDEWALKS, THE: Flash 2LP (AK 117 LP). $34.00

Double vinyl version, in gatefold sleeve.

FRY, MARK: Dreaming With Alice CD (AK 126CD). $15.00

"Originally released in 1972 on Italian RCA... a very rare album recorded in London and Milano... nice mellow psychedelia with some Eastern influences... original artwork... gatefold sleeve." Donovan-influenced, sitar-laced, this is a rather extraordinary psych/folk revelation and one of the most impressive Akarma archive gestures to date. Not some laughable Kissing Spell-type atrocity.

CALLENDER, BOBBY: Rainbow CD (AK 128 CD). $15.00

"Originally released in 1968 by MGM. Pure Eastern influenced psychedelia produced by Alan Lorber. 'Music to be seriously stoned by... young negro-turned-mystic Bobby is joined by an orchestra and a host of other musicians including Funatics Hugh McCracken for a trip to the local soul-serious opium-den hippie scribbling, here... sitars and tablas abound in this artifact of an era... find a paisley cushion, adopt lotus position and contemplate your inner self' (from Fuzz, Acid And Flowers). Featuring Collin Walcott. 2 bonus tracks. Original artwork."

CALLENDER, BOBBY: Rainbow 2LP (AK 128 LP). $34.00

"Originally released in 1968 by MGM. Pure eastern influenced psychedelia produced by Alan Lorber. 'Music to be seriously stoned by... young negro-turned-mystic Bobby is joined by an orchestra and a host of other musicians including Funatics Hugh McCracken for a trip to the local soul-serious opium-den hippie scribbling, here. Sitar and tablas abound in this artifact of an era. Find a paisley cushion, adopt lotus position and contemplate your inner self.' — (from Fuzz, Acid And Flowers). Featuring Collin Walcott, 2 bonus tracks, fourth side comes with a graphic thing on, 180 gram vinyl, gatefold sleeve." CD version is Big Beat in the UK.

CALLENDER, BOBBY: The Way (First Book Of Experiences) CD (AK 129 CD). $15.00

Although advertised as "unreleased", this did come out on a smaller label around 1971. The second and probably last album from this soft-psych Black mystic, a sprawling concept album in a similar bag-of-pillows style to his more renowned debut, Rainbow. The character of "John" is back and this time his "soul arrives on Luvland and he is awakened by Luvlanders". You can imagine the scenario. Single CD in an even more deluxe than usual Arkama double fold-out mini-LP gatefold jacket. "Previously unreleased album recorded in 1970 with the help of a few members of Oregon. Jazz, psychedelia and Indian influences. 15 tracks."

CALLENDER, BOBBY: The Way 2LP (AK 129 LP). $34.00

"15 track. The 4th side is engraved. 180 gram vinyl. Gatefold sleeve."

BLUE CHEER: The Original Human Being CD (AK 150 CD). $15.00

"5th album for the SF based heavy rock combo (originally released in 1970 on Philips). A step forward into a more psychedelic sound." Featuring Gary Yoder and Dickie Peterson.

BLUE CHEER: The Original Human Being LP (AK 150 LP). $21.00

180 gram vinyl.

RAW MATERIAL: Time Is CD (AK 153 CD). $15.00

"Originally released in 1971 by RCA/Neon. 2nd and best album for this UK progressive rock combo (their records are now very rare and sought-after). Acoustic and melodic prog with heavy guitars, sax riffs and nice keyboard chords. Recommended to fans of the early Pink Floyd/Syd Barrett. Original artwork... gatefold sleeve..."

RAW MATERIAL: Time Is LP (AK 153 LP). $21.00

180 gram vinyl, full color gatefold sleeve.

GALADRIEL: Galadriel CD (AK 158 CD). $15.00

"First and only album, originally released by Polydor in 1971, for one of the best Australian bands of the era. Galadriel is rated as one of the most interesting and rarest major label progressive releases of the early '70s. The material is very diverse, ranging from innovative, psych-tinged songs with lots of fuzzy guitar breaks, bluesy hard rock, a country-flavoured song, jazz-pop, and a nice ballad with a flute solo? (Ian McFarlane). Original artwork."

ILL WIND, THE: Flashes CD (AK 162 CD). $15.00

"Ultra rare album originally released in 1968 on ABC. Strongly recommended psychedelic Boston based combo previously known as The Prophets. Contains 3 bonus tracks. Original artwork." As pointed out by band member Richard Zvonar, PhD, "It is totally irrelevant that Ill Wind was previously known as the Prophets. We never recorded under that name and there is probably nobody alive who ever heard us perform under that name."

ILL WIND, THE: Flashes LP (AK 162 LP). $21.00

"180 gram vinyl."

ANONYMOUS: Inside The Shadow LP (AK 170 LP). $21.00

"Originally released in 1976 in a small pressing of 300 copies by Milwaukee indie A Major Label. After the demise of '60s garage psych legends Sir Winston & The Commons, singer/guitarist Ron Matelic reformed the band into a jangly swirling blend of The Byrds, Jefferson Airplane and Buffalo Springfield with male and female vocals, electric 12-string guitar, lead guitar, bass, driving percussion and outstanding original songwriting. Original artwork. 180 gram vinyl."

RYDER, J.: No Longer Anonymous LP (AK 176 LP). $21.00

"Recorded at Neon Cornfield in 1979, this is the album done by Anonymous under the moniker J. Ryder, which was the title of one of the best songs included in their rare debut album. The music is still rooted into psychedelia (Jefferson Airplane, Stephen Stills, et al) but this time influenced also by that typical UK sound of the early '70s. Original artwork. 180 gram vinyl."

CRESSIDA: Cressida CD (AK 182 CD). $15.00

"British progressive rock group which released two albums on Vertigo and were lead by the guitar and vocals of Angus Cullen. Highly praised in The Tapestry of Delights guide to progressive rock and psychedelia as a prime example of what is interesting and worthwhile in UK progressive rock. An amalgamation neo-classical, jazz inspired motifs rock and folk into a refined whole that is pure British progressive. Cullen was great vocalist, and kept the complex music contained within shorter songs that the group would expand on the second album. For fans of early Genesis, Caravan and Soft Machine. Original artwork."

CRESSIDA: Cressida LP (AK 182 LP). $21.00

"Gatefold sleeve. 180 gm HQ vinyl."

ARZACHEL: CD (AK 184 CD). $15.00

"An excellent album from this British progressive group recorded in 1969 by a band of mysterious pseudonyms... in fact, this was a formation of some of the biggest names in UK progressive rock — Simeon Sasparella, Njerogi Gategaka, etc. were in fact Steve Hillage (who went on to play in Gong). The other 3 members Dave Stewart, Clive Brooks and Mont Campbell formed Egg. Originally released on Evolution this heavy spacey keyboard driven album is often compared to Pink Floyd's Saucer Full of Secrets, and quite deservingly so — the track 'Garden of Earthly Delights' is an influential classic of early UK progressive psyche. The sound of sustained keyboard and guitar passages are full blown drawn-out psychedelia of the highest order, think Egg, Gong, National Heath, Caravan etc. Original artwork."

ARZACHEL: LP (AK 184 LP). $21.00

"180 gram vinyl."

PATTO: CD (AK 185 CD). $15.00

"Reissue of the amazing debut album by British jazz-rockers Patto, originally released in 1970 on Vertigo. The band, named after singer and wild man of UK rock Mike Patto, is perhaps best remembered for the extraordinary guitar work of Ollie Halsall, capable of amazing jazz-inspired runs and unimaginable peaks of distortion and on both electric guitar and Vibraphone."

PATTO: Patto LP (AK 185 LP). $21.00

"Reissue of this 1970 recording originally released on Vertigo, Patto were an unequalled force in the UK rock scene producing two notable albums for Vertigo and a third for Island. Featuring the extraordinary Guitar work of Ollie Halsall who is capable of reaching unimaginable peaks of distortion and Jazz inspired runs on both electric guitar and Vibraphone, along with a fierce rhythm section and the vocals of Mike Patto. The late Mike Patto was wild man of UK rock who spent time in the Bow Street Runners, Spooky Tooth and most notably Timebox (who transformed into Patto). Original artwork. 180 gram vinyl."

PATTO: Hold Your Fire CD (AK 190 CD). $15.00

"Reissue of their second album, originally on Vertigo?featuring UK axe legend Ollie Halsall?mixing up fiery jazz with a hard-rock assault in a manner that can only be called 'fusion'. Vocalist Mike Patto is best known for his playing with Timebox, the Bow Street Runners and Spooky Tooth?this album may just be their best release."

PATTO: Hold Your Fire LP (AK 190 LP). $21.00

"Reissue of their second album originally on Vertigo following Akarma's reissue of the self-titled debut recently released. Guitarist Ollie Halsall is somewhat of a UK axe legend mixing up fiery jazz playing with hard-rock assault in a manner that can only be called 'fusion'. Vocalist Mike Patto was most notably playing in Timebox, The Bow Street Runners (64-66 with Mick Fleetwood evidently) and later in the '70s a spell with Spooky Tooth. This album is undoubtedly the better of the three that the group recorded, and comes beautifully repackaged on Akarma 180 gram vinyl with gatefold sleeve."

KAHVAS JUTE: Wide Open CD (AK 191 CD). $15.00

"Reissue of this legendary Australian psychedelic/hard rock album from this Sydney combo originally released on Infinity in 1971. The group is widely known in psychedelic collector circles for the burning guitar work of Dennis Wilson and Tim Gaze (also of the great Australian hard-psyche group Tamen Shud). This album opens with a wah-wah-fuzz blitz that sets the tone for what results in one of the heaviest albums of Australian psyche of the era. Bassist Bob Daisley went on to work with such legends as Ozzy Osbourne, Widowmaker, Ritchie Blackmore and Gary Moore. Will appeal to fans of Human Instinct and other southern hemisphere hard-rock. Original artwork."

KAHVAS JUTE: Wide Open LP (AK 191 LP). $21.00

"Gatefold sleeve... 180 gram vinyl."

JULIAN'S TREATMENT: A Time Before This CD (AK 192 CD). $15.00

"A cosmic progressive rock concept album originally released on Decca in 1971, multi-instrumentalist Julian Jay Saravin was poet and novelist of note who had made one solo album prior on the Birth label in 1969. With the spoken and sung vocals of Cathy Pruden this album is a cosmic trip through the mind of a warped genius and in parts recalls United States of America style keyboard freak out. Will appeal to fans of the exotic side of prog and psychedelia. Original artwork."

JULIAN'S TREATMENT: A Time Before This LP (AK 192 LP). $21.00

180 gram vinyl version.

MCGREGOR'S BROTHERHOOD OF BREATH, CHRIS: Brotherhood Of Breath CD (AK 200 CD). $15.00

"Joe Boyd-produced first album originally released in 1971 by the RCA subsidiary Neon. South African McGregor formed the racially mixed Blue Notes in the '60s and later settled in London where soon formed a big band to work with on a regular basis called The Brotherhood Of Breath (essentially the Blue Notes augmented by musicians they befriended in the British jazz community). One of the truly legendary modern jazz big bands, the Brotherhood Of Breath had a tremendous impact on future European big bands. They incorporated the true spirit of Afro music into an ecstatic trance of jazz and rock stylings. The culmination of the explosive group's sound reaches a majestic peak of the 20 minutes 'Night Poem'. This is a great studio release with excellent compositions (particularly 'The Bride'). Featuring John Surman, Dudu Pukwana, Harry Miller, Louis Moholo, Harry Beckett, Marc Charig, Alan Skidmore, Mongezi Feza, Mike Osborne, Ronnie Beer, Nick Evans and Malcolm Griffiths. Original artwork."

MCGREGOR'S BROTHERHOOD OF BREATH, CHRIS: Brotherhood Of Breath LP (AK 200 LP). $21.00

Gatefold sleeve. 180 gram vinyl.

LYD: 10" (AK 2013 LP). $15.00

"Originally released in 1970 as acetate only. Garage punk with acid guitars from Hollywood, CA." The same six track album as previously reissued by the goddamn Fanny label out of Belgium, with new cover artwork and pressed on multi-splatter colored vinyl. A relative classic of the forgotten psych era, now issued with the artist's permission, in a more acceptable presentation.

CIRCUS 2000: Boxing Circus 10" (AK 2014). $15.00

"Contains previously unreleased and rare material. 8 tracks."

AMERICAN BLUES: Is Here 10" (AK 2017). $15.00

"Originally released by Karma in 1968. 1st album by Dallas based band featuring Dusty Hill and Frank Beard (before they went on to join ZZ Top). Very good psychedelic blues-rock. 9 tracks. Original artwork."

COUNTRY JOE & THE FISH: Rag Baby EPs 3x7" (AK 2019). $34.00

"The 7" singles come with their original artwork/sleeves. Liner notes and lyrics included."

JONES, JERICHO: Junkies Monkeys And Donkeys CD (AK 202 CD). $15.00

"Israeli group that began as the Churchills, moved to England, changed their name to Jericho Jones, then simply Jericho. They released this one album in 1971 (as Jericho Jones) on A&M that lies between the psychedelia and hard rock/psych sound. An obscure but classic album. Featuring 5 previously unreleased bonus tracks. Original artwork."

HAPSHASH & THE COLOURED COAT: Featuring The Human Host And The Heavy Metal Kids CD (AK 204 CD). $15.00

"Their 1968 first classic album (originally on Minit) is something of an electric mayhem and freeform freakout. Art students/designers Michael English and Nigel Weymouth, whose striking graphics were seen on many bright and trippy posters for psychedelic clubs like the Ufo and Middle Earth in London, were the creative talent behind this band along with DJ and manager Guy Stevens. Not far from what the Godz were creating in NYC, an underrated document of its time. A band like this, incorporating flower power, love and peace, acid and psychedelic rock lifestyle, tainted with freak out, drop out, hippy and underground trends, could not have existed in any other era than the late sixties. The Heavy Metal Kids, the alter ego of the proto-Spooky Tooth group Art (comprised of Mike Harrison, Greg Ridley, Mike Kellie and Luther Grosvenor) appeared backing. But who was The Human Host? Original artwork."

HAPSHASH & THE COLOURED COAT: Featuring The Human Host And The Heavy Metal Kids LP (AK 204 LP). $21.00

The first 500 copies come in red vinyl. 180 gram vinyl.

MCPHEE: McPhee CD (AK 207 CD). $16.00

"An extremely rare album originally released in 1970 on Violets Holiday. A highly-rated Sydney heavy progressive band with demented guitar, wild organ and beautiful female vocals. Two originals (the breezy 'Sunday Shuffle' and the final 10 minute and more freeform jazz-flavoured instrumental called 'Out To Lunch') plus some interesting covers (Spooky Tooth's 'The Wrong Time', Neil Young's 'Southern Man', Ritchie Haven's 'Indian Rope Man' and Lennon/McCartney's 'I Am The Walrus'). Original artwork."

MCPHEE: McPhee LP (AK 207 LP). $21.00

180 gram vinyl version.

MU: Mu LP (AK 209 LP). $21.00

"Their only album released in 1971 for the small Beverly Hills label RTV while living on a half acre estate in Canoga Park, California and being heavily into meditation and vegetarianism. Both inventive and imaginative, MU is full of well-structured, often mystical songs with some tasty laid back guitar work from Merrell Fankhauser and Jeff Cotton (who previously played with Captain Beefheart)... a gem of the late hippie era, combining the fractured blues-based tangents of Beefheart with the loose flow and stoned lyricism of bands like the late '60s Grateful Dead. One of the most unclassifiable recordings of the time. Contains 4 bonus tracks. Gatefold sleeve. original artwork. 180 gram vinyl."

FIVE DAY WEEK STRAW PEOPLE: Five Day Week Straw People CD (AK 218CD). $16.00

"This rare double album has long-since earned its place on many a vinyl collector's 'want' list, both for its content and brilliant sixties cover art. The Five Day Week Straw People was the brainchild of Attack's frontman (John Du Cann) and rhythm section (Mick Hawksworth: bass, vocals and Jack Collins: drums), in an attempt record a full blown psychedelic opus. In 1967 in a small studio north of London under the watchful eye of Roy Thomas Baker, the band recorded this legendary work in just 4 hours! After the album's release Du Cann became infatuated with the exciting new sounds of psychedelia, continuing his illustrious career with Andromeda and Atomic Rooster. This important 19 track reissue includes 9 bonus tracks by Attack."

FIVE DAY WEEK STRAW PEOPLE: Five Day Week Straw People 2LP (AK 218LP). $34.00

Double LP version. 180 gram vinyl.

TIPPETT, KEITH: Dedicated To You, But You Weren't Listening CD (AK 227 CD). $15.00

"Keith Tippet's name is probably familiar to you if you are a fan of '70s British jazz or bands like King Crimson, the Soft Machine and Blossom Toes (who all benefited from Tippet's keyboard playing on some of their greatest albums). Dedicated To You, But You Weren't Listening, recorded in 1971 (with the help of Elton Dean, Robert Wyatt, Gary Boyle and Roy Babbington), gives birth to a personalized avant-garde style that puts Tippet in a class of his own. In the years following the album's release, Tippet became involved in the jazz rock of Centipede and Ovary Lodge with his future wife Julie Driscoll."

TIPPETT, KEITH: Dedicated To You, But You Weren't Listening LP (AK 227 LP). $21.00

LP Version, 180 gram pressing, gatefold sleeve.

CRESSIDA: Asylum CD (AK 229 CD). $16.00

"Cressida was an excellent British progressive rock band and authors of two memorable albums that are still much sought-after. Their second album, Asylum, was just as successful as their first, thanks to its captivating atmospheres and the technical ability of the musicians. Angus Cullen's pleasing vocal style is at times surprisingly folkie, while Peter Jennings unveils enviable talent and class, especially in certain jazz passages. Guitarist John Culley does the rest with clean guitar solos that never sound dated. The whole album is high-quality, but tracks like 'Munich', 'Lisa' and the eleven minute 'Let Them Come When They Will' are some of its highlights."

JOSEFUS: Dead Box 3CD BOX (AK 235 CD). $48.00

"With a standard guitar-bass-drums-vocals (and sometimes harmonica) line-up, the Texas-based Josefus produced a classic, blues-driven 'made in the USA' psychedelic sound. This 3 CD boxset includes the complete Josefus discography: Dead Man (1969) and Josefus (1970) plus a full CD dedicated to various live and studio outtakes. Also contains booklet with extensive biographical notes and previously unreleased photos of the band."

JOSEFUS: Dead Man LP (AK 235 LP). $21.00

"Rock-hard, blues-driven psychedelia straight from Austin, Texas, led by singer Pete Bailey and guitarist Dave Mitchell. Their 1969 debut album, Dead Man, originally released on Hookah is a must for fans of early '70s underground psychedelic rock. Of their two albums, Dead Man is considered their most inspired, with one track (the title track) over 17 minutes long. Heavy quality cover and 180 gram vinyl."

ARCADIUM: Breathe Awhile CD (AK 239 CD). $15.00

"Originally released in the UK in 1969 and perhaps most closely aligned with the heavier side of psychedelia, this obscure LP is a standard fixture on many a collector's 'most wanted' list. The intense 12-minute guitar and organ-driven opening track, 'On My Way', sets the album's slow-burning epic tone. The whole album is high quality, with no stale moments, but highlights include 'Poor Lady', the 7 minute 'Walk On the Bad Side', and the 10-minute 'Birth, Life and Death'. This reissue also includes two rare bonus tracks: 'Sing My Song' and 'Riding Alone'."

ARCADIUM: Breathe Awhile LP (AK 239 LP). $21.00

LP version.

ROBERTSON, DON: Dawn CD (AK 240 CD). $15.00

"Today the native San Franciscan Don Robertson is an improbable 60 year old multi-instrumentalist and new age composer, but back in 1969 when this album was released on Limelight (a subsidiary of Mercury) he was the obscure and uncontested master of 'eastern psychedelia'. In the mid-sixties, like many of his peers, Robertson began experimenting with non-western music, which led him to record the extraordinary Dawn in 1969. Here, in addition to piano, Robertson plays guitar, harp and various traditional instruments, such as the tablas and the jaltarang. The result is a surprising and engaging mix of eastern-influenced jazz, psych rock, and classical music. Gatefold sleeve with biography and archival photos provided by Don Robertson himself."

ROBERTSON, DON: Dawn LP (AK 240 LP). $21.00

STAVIS, GEORGE: Labyrinths CD (AK 241 CD). $15.00

"In 1969, banjo player George Stavis made his Vanguard debut with Labyrinths: Occult Improvisational Compositions For 5-String Banjo And Percussion, an eclectic release that enters into so-called 'Sandy Bull territory', using instrumental improvisation to bring together a variety of genres (jazz, country, ethnic and psychedelia). Here Stavis plays Earl Scruggs, John Coltrane, Ravi Shankar and John Fahey, but his own unique musical voice is what dominates the recording."

BEN: Ben CD (AK 247 CD). $16.00

"This classic example of 70s British jazz rock is finally available on CD. Ben's legendary self-titled debut, originally released in 1971, is beautifully executed by this quintet, led by guitarist Gerry Reid and saxophonist Peter Davey. The album maintains a delicate balance between jazz and progressive rock, and the musical ability of each musician is apparent in each track. Featuring the classic 'faucet' cover art work."

WRITING ON THE WALL: The Power Of The Picts CD (AK 252 CD). $15.00

"Part of the underground progressive movement, Writing On The Wall, was formed in Scotland, but soon moved to the more fertile musical territory of London, where they became the house band at the legendary Middle Earth club. During that period a handful of independent labels, dedicated to progressive rock and ready to sign new talents, were springing up. Writing On The Wall took advantage of this wave and recorded their debut Power Of The Picts album in 1970. Original copies of the album now fetch high sums, but when the album was first released it was shunned by many radio stations, who considered the sound to be too heavy for airplay. This lovely reissue also contains their first single 'Child on a Crossing' / 'Lucifer Corpus'."

WRITING ON THE WALL: The Power Of The Picts LP (AK 252 LP). $21.00

"Part of the underground progressive movement, Writing On The Wall were formed in Scotland, but they soon moved to London, home of rock, becoming the house band at the Middle Earth club. During that period, a handful of independent labels sprung up, dedicated to progressive rock and ready to sign new talents. Writing On The Wall took advantage of that wave and recorded their debut Power Of The Picts album in 1970. Original copies of the album now fetch high sums, but when it was first released it was shunned by many radio stations, who considered the sound to be too heavy for airplay."

MAY BLITZ: May Blitz CD (AK 253 CD). $16.00

"May Blitz was formed by drummer Tony Newman (Sound Incorporated, Jeff Beck), a musician with a heavy hand and decidedly at home in hard rock territory. Original copies of this album (the band's 1970 eponymous debut) sell for outrageously high sums, which makes this reissue an even more welcome addition to the Akarma catalogue. Excellent hard rock, enhanced by the solo guitar acrobatics of Jamie Black."

DANDO SHAFT: Dando Shaft LP (AK 255). $21.00

Gatefold LP 180 gram. "High quality acoustic folk is what we find on Dando Shaft's 1971 release. The complicated rhythmic fabrics — woven together by melding guitar, mandolin and violin and joined by the expressive vocals of Polly Bolton — create unique progressive folk atmospheres that are definitely worth a listen. This reissue also features four bonus tracks, including the original demo for 'Spring Clog Dance'."

DANDO SHAFT: Dando Shaft CD (AK 255 CD). $15.00

"High quality all acoustic folk is what we find on Dando Shaft's 1971 release. The complicated rhythmic fabrics — woven together by intricate guitar, mandolin and violin, and joined by the expressive vocals of Polly Bolton — create unique progressive folk atmospheres that are definitely some of the best of the period. This reissue also features four bonus tracks, including the original demo for 'Spring Clog Dance'."

LEAFHOUND: Growers Of Mushroom LP (AK 256 LP). $21.00

Gatefold LP 180 gram. "This classic 1970 British hard rock album has finally been repressed with 2 bonus tracks! Although the title suggests psychedelic rock, the album actually brings on full-body Zeppelinesque hard rock, driven by the dual guitars of Derek Brooks and Mick Halls. Blues-based rhythms, strengthened by the vocals of Pete French (of the Brunning Sunflower Blues band) and Black Cat Bone (future Atomic Rooster). Featuring the rare British sleeve (with the German sleeve pictured inside). Extensive liner notes and a rare poster. A hard-prog classic not to be missed."

MU: The Last Album CD (AK 258 CD). $16.00

"Recorded in 1974, Mu's second album never saw the light of day because the band broke up soon after recording. Finally released as a limited Italian-only edition in 1982, the music transmits a delicate mix of soundscapes, in which elements of blues, folk and West Coast psychedelia meld together thanks to a solid guitar base and the incisive vocals of 70s cult icon Merrell Frankhauser. 20 tracks (bonus tracks). " Fankhauser with Jeff Cotton, Randy Wimer, Jeff Parker, Mary Lee.

BUFFALO: Dead Forever LP (AK 273). $21.00

"This 1970s Australian hard rock band became very successful in Europe in the 1980s thanks to three heavy albums for the Vertigo label (becoming the first non-English group to record for the label) The first of the trio, 1972's Dead Forever sold 25,000 copies becoming an immediate classic of the genre. Upon the album's release the Vertigo office in Holland proclaimed 'Dead Forever is better in quality, production and music-wise than Black Sabbath's Vol. 4 — which is by no means slouch: hear it, if you haven't already'. Like Black Sabbath, Buffalo was also criticized for their controversial album covers and supposed satanic content (for the album cover of Dead Forever Buffalo chose a scarred, blood stained face, while the inside album features a rather macabre photo of the band in a Sydney cemetery), but also like their English cousins it was the band's hardrocking guitar heavy sound that would prevail."

VA: Storm In The Garage 3CD BOX (AK 274 CD). $48.00

"3 CDs of pure sixties garage sound. The bands featured here are authors of rare 45s released in the USA between 1965 and 1969 and the sound ranges from garage punk to R to psych with plenty of fuzz guitar thrown into the mix for good measure." Artists: The Alliance, The Benders, The Cirkyt, The Doppler Effect, The Intruders, Lawson & Four More, The Lime, The Marauders, The Saints & Prince Of Darkness, The Sirs, The Soubenders, The Trolls, The Vagrants, The 'Fax, Lost And Found, The Boy Blues, The Bush, The Cardinals, Cheshmann Square, The David, Disraeli, The Epics, The Esquires, The Fabulous Prophets, The Intruders, The Juius, The Kyks, Little Boy Blues, Little Phil & The Night Shadows, The Motifs, The Romans, The Fabulous "Rumble", The Soubenders, The Undertakers, The Damnation Of Adam Blessing, Finch, The Vagrants.

BUFFALO: Volcanic Rock LP (AK 276 LP). $21.00

"Less than a year after recording their impressive debut Dead Forever (which had their record label, Vertigo, claiming 'Dead Forever is better in quality, production and music-wise than Black Sabbath's Vol. 4') these Australian hard rockers were back with more of that same frenzied, guitar-heavy rock that was making them living legends not just down under, but in Europe as well. Here John Baxter and friends bring us memorable songs like 'Sunrise (Come my Way),' 'Till My Death' and 'Shylock', an authentic pearl for all fans of 70s hard rock. 180 gram vinyl."

REIGN GHOST: Reign Ghost LP (AK 277LP). $21.00

"Toronto-based band led by Bob Bryden (gtr, vox) and Linda Squires (vox), whose pure yet often haunting vocals gave them their unique sound. Their debut album, originally released in 1969 on Allied, is a collection of psychedelic songs full of fuzz guitars and moody farfisa organ. They're sometimes reminiscent of Jefferson Airplane in their early days, but often try to deliver something original." 180 gram vinyl.

SHIVA'S HEADBAND: Psychedelic Yesterday CD (AK 282CD). $16.00

"Led by Spencer Perskin, Shiva's Headband were well known on the 60s SF psychedelic scene for their strong live shows, scoring a Capitol Records deal in 1969. Returning to their home of Austin, TX during the 70s and beyond, the band released several albums and singles. Psychedelic Yesterdays was recorded at McAdams studio in Austin in 1977 and originally released on the Austin-based Ace label. Includes the 1968 45 single 'Kaleidoscopic / Song for Peace'."

SHIVA'S HEADBAND: Psychedelic Yesterdays LP (AK 282LP). $21.00

LP version.

BRITISH NORTH-AMERICA ACT, THE: In The Beginning... LP (AK 285LP). $21.00

"A combination of psychedelic melodies, pleasing harmonies, and simple, sharp songwriting make this 1969 Canadian combo's one and only release a much sought-after rarity. Now once again available on vinyl from the good folks at Akarma."

FARM BAND, THE: The Farm Band 2LP (AK 287LP). $34.00

"This record is the work of a Tennessee rural and vegetarian community directed by Stephen, their guru who released four albums between 1972 and 1977. Their debut album reproduced here contains two LPs with inner sleeves and a giant poster. Their music was somewhat inspired by the Grateful Dead: long bluesy jams with good guitar solos, flute and violin (several tracks last more than eight minutes)."

PUSSY: Plays CD (AK 288CD). $16.00

New reissue (previously on Background) of this 1969 UK album. "One of the rarest albums of the entire British prog-rock scene, Pussy's Plays is undoubtedly also one of the most obscure and beautiful. Their line up has always been a mystery as they never revealed their identity. A must for keyboard lovers and prog connoisseurs."

PUSSY: Plays LP (AK 288LP). $21.00

LP version.

GREENWOOD, NICHOLAS: Cold Cuts CD (AK 289CD). $16.00

"Nick Greenwood was a big part in the Crazy World of Arthur Brown's successfully acclaimed Fire LP, and when he left him in 1969 to pursue a solo career, he started to work on one of the most eclectic and beautiful examples of musical creativity. Released in 1972 on Kingdom Records, Cold Cuts is one of the rarest records to ever be reissued. British psych-prog enlightened by brilliant arrangements and highly inspired tunes with echoes of 'Arzachel' and 'Affinity'. Featuring Bunk Gardner (from Zappa's Mothers of Invention) and ex-Khan drummer, Eric Peachey."

STEPHEN AND THE FARM BAND: Up In Your Thing LP (AK 291LP). $21.00

"In the late 1960s, Stephen Gaskin made a name for himself teaching a weekly class on the meaning of the psychedelic experience in San Francisco's Haight-Ashbury District. At the start of the 70s, he led a hippie exodus to Tennessee, where he created 'The Farm,' just about the only successful hippie commune still standing. This is the second album by Gaskin and the Farm Band who fall somewhere between the Grateful Dead and Jethro Tull performing long psycho blues suites with flute and violin solos. Featuring the original artwork which a poster and inlay notes about the history of the community."

CLARK HUTCHINSON: A=MH2 LP (AK 293LP). $21.00

"A=MH2 is the debut album of one of the most interesting and irreverent bands of the British underground rock scene of the late 60s. Like the Deviants, Edgar Broughton Band, Pink Fairies, and Third World War, Clark - Hutchinson had an anarchic attitude towards the establishment, in their case represented by the music business. Very inspired and promising, A=MH2 combines many influences, brilliant ideas and the talent of Mick Hutchinson, whose guitar style recalls his passion for Indian music and rock blues."

STONE THE CROWS: Teenage Licks LP (AK 294LP). $21.00

"Originally released in 1971, Teenage Licks was certainly the best reviewed album by this band and their bestseller; giving Maggie Bell's combo a certain notoriety during this period. This album also marks their switch from the initial bluesy background in favour of more power oriented hard rock supported by the talented vocalist and the art of axe hero Les Harvey. Original artwork."

FARM BAND, THE: On The Rim of the Nashville Basin LP (AK 295LP). $21.00

"Collector's items since the beginning, all albums by the Farm Band have always been extremely hard to find due to the special nature of the band, a musical combo which sprang out from a hippie commune. Led by Thomas Dotzler (vocals/guitar/keyboards) and Walter Rabideau (guitar) the Farm Band's sound has much in common with hippie combos like the Grateful Dead but also with psych-rock ensembles like Jefferson Airplane."

BROWN, BOBBY: The Enlightening Beam of Axonda CD (AK 298CD). $16.00

"Not to be confused with the famous R'n'B star of the same name, Bobby Brown became known to the public for his bizarre self-built percussion set which he played with hands and feet creating a very unusual and peculiar rhythm carpet, not to mention his odd vocal style which added to his intriguing musical choice a touch of captivating madness. Although not electronic, his musical take will be particularly enjoyable for who listened to experimental musicians such as Silver Apples, United States Of America, Moondog and Fifty-Foot Hose. This 1972 The Enlightening Beam Of Axonda is a supreme introduction to the bizarre world of Bobby Brown and the cover artwork confirms Brown's oddities."

AMERICAN BLUES: Is Here CD (AK 917 CD). $15.00

"Originally released by Karma in 1968. 1st album by Dallas based band featuring Dusty Hill and Frank Beard (before they went on to join ZZ Top). Very good psychedelic blues-rock. 9 tracks. Original artwork."

AKASHIC RECORDS/EASTWEST (JAPAN):

HARRIOT/JOHN MAYER DOUBLE QUINTET, JOE: Indo-Jazz Fusions CD (AMCT 2874). $24.00

"Japanese CD reissue of two original Atlantic LPs (Indo-Jazz Fusions and Indo-Jazz Suite) — originally issued in 1966/67 — featuring pioneering Brit-free alto Harriot (albums include: Free Form, Movement and Abstract) and virtuoso Indian-born violinist Mayer, as well as Kenny Wheeler, Allan Ganley, Coleridge Goode, Chris Taylor, Shake Keane, Pat Smythe, Diwan Mothar, Chandras Paigankar, and Keshav Sathe. With the rise in reissues of the 'exotica' end of Indian Music (Bollywood soundtracks, Outcaste-type stuff), it's a bit refreshing to have a reissue of something that actually works on a musical level instead of a kitsch one. And we have Towa Tei (of Dee-Lite) to thank for this! Anyways, Harriot's been severely under-documented in the 90's (his career parallels Dolphy, right up to the Indian stuff), he's about to blow up Ray Russell style, you can be sure of that. Smart." — Hrvatski.

ALBA ABSURDIA (UK):

VA: Alba Absurdia CD (ALBA 001). $14.00

"The majority of the music within is exclusive to this release, including more of the second coming from Benbecula's Christ, more nursery rhymes from Frog Pocket and analogue heaven from Joni. Also exclusive to this release are tracks from bip-hop's star Bovine Life, minimalist glory from CK Dexter Haven, divine electro from the Wee DJs and digital mayhem from Diskono's Ehmsie Rocon. Many artists make their popular debut here with some tear jerking material from Operator, organic excellence from Benbecula's new star Reverbaphon and Nimrod 33 who re-writes the rules with what will no doubt become a total anthem in the 'chill out' rooms across the planet. Weighing in at exactly 20 tracks, this compilation further proves that Scotland is nurturing a new breed, untouched and unpolluted by the mainstream."

ALCHEMY (JAPAN):

VA: Osaka Greasy Truckers CD (ARCD 007). $18.00

Alchemy is the Japanese Kingdom of Noise label (they also release punk rock stupidity and "local goth" of which we have no comment). This is the third volume of "West Psychedelia", featuring Subvert Blaze, Mannish Tone, Folk Tales + 1.

SOLMANIA: Trembling Tongue CD (ARCD 077). $18.00

Third Solmania CD for the label. Studio recordings, two guitars and vocal.

VA: Guitar Unlimited CD (ARCD 086). $18.00

Alchemy guitar compilation, featuring Kyoichi Tokuyama, Sisho, Seiichi Yamamoto (Boredoms) & Jo Jo Hiroshige (Hijokaidan). Tokuyama is from the band Auschwitz, here playing unspeakably vile wanky guitar/synth pop. Sisho plays sensitive folk rock. Yamamoto delivers strange off-kilter claustrophobic rock. Jo Jo's sound is pure solo screech as you might expect.

NIHILIST SPASM BAND: Live In Japan CD (ARCD 093). $18.00

"Live album from Nihilist Spasm Band from Canada. The selection was done by the band from their last Japanese tour in March 1996. Also includes studio session track with Jojo Hiroshige from Hijokaidan."

VA: Guitar Untouchable 3 CD (ARCD 094). $18.00

"3rd release from Alchemy's guitar compilation series. This volume is noise guitar battle with artists all over the world. Noisier than other in the series. Includes Mason Jones (from SF), Donald Miller (Borbetomagus. from NY), Murray Favro (Nihilist Spasm Band from Canada), Masahiko Ohno (Solmania from Osaka)."

JURAJIUM: CD (ARCD 096). $18.00

"Jurajium is a noise unit which was active in noise scene early 80s together with Hijokaidan. They did a re-union performance opening up for Borbetomagus's Japan tour. This is their first album after 18 years of their history." Jurajium Hattai plays synth, keyboard, tapes & electronics. Jojo Hiroshige from Hijokaidan guests on guitar.

NIHILIST SPASM BAND: 1984 CD (ARCD 106). $18.00

"Live performances from their regular Monday night performances at Forest City Gallery in Canada in 1984. Longly awaited CD reissue of the original that been released only as a cassette in few copies by Chimik Communications and traded at a premium."

SPACE MACHINE: Cosmos From Diode Ladder Filter CD (ARCD 132). $18.00

"Alchemy limited edition series 'Inner Mind Music' 1st release. Maso Yamazaki (Masonna) new project. Using mainly EMS VCS3 vintage synthesizer & analog tape echos. Sound like: Conrad Schnitzler, ost/Forbidden Planet..... space electronic work."

HIROSHIGE FEAT. YOSHIKO SAI, JOJO: Crimson Voyage CD (ARCD 136). $18.00

"Alchemy limited edition series 'Inner Mind Music' final release. This is Jojo's 4th solo album with 70s legendary female singer Yoshiko Sai. Like german progressive sound." Jojo (electric guitar, keyboard and percussion), Sai (voice & percussion). Three long tracks, recorded 2001.

IDIODIOT O'CLOCK: CD (ARCD 137). $18.00

"Long time deleted 1st album (sole). This release is new edition +2 bonus tracks. Original release by CD on Alchemy Records & LP version on Org Records 1990." Org is the originating company of Maher Shalal Hash Baz, Nagisa Ni Te, The Hallelujahs, Reiko Kudo and Love Beach, etc. Lo-key psychedelic-undercurrent rock/pop, with a unique slant. Idiot O'Clock is organ driven, with a sorta American Down There vibe, hard to describe or understand, really. Do they even have porches in Japan?

ALCOHOL (UK):

OTOMO/ROWE/SUGIMOTO: Ajar CD (AL ALORS1). $16.00

"Otomo Yoshihide, Keith Rowe, Taku Sugimoto. Grade A guitar trio recorded at LMCSound in London and engineered & mixed by Xentos. Fluorescent pink cardboard wallet. Insect with amusing colour snaps of the players, who surely need no introduction."

SELFISH AND THE IDEALS, BING: Dizzy With Success CD (AL B51). $16.00

"Pop music for the cynical present — bright, breezy, sardonic, witty, a work of dazzling luminosity that confirms Phil Ochs's contention that 'In such an ugly time, the true protest is beauty.' No one — neither crusty anti-consumer nor slick tv researcher — will be able to resist 'Anarchs In Love', 'Incapability Brown' or 'Sun Yat Sen', toe-tapping leftwing hits for an alternative top twenty chart of the imagination. Bing sneers his way through love songs, oozes louche charm as he launches into hymns in praise of Nijinsky or green environmental issues, rages against time, the universe and the state. Sprightly, slightly lopsided, always surprising, this is protest music that uses humour as a weapon against the monumental terrors of the world; and wit as a rapier to prick the bubble of pomposity. A dozen drunken drive-time songs with an all-star London underground band featuring Simon King (Orchestre Murphy), Richard Harrison (Spaceheads), Xentos Fray Bentos and Lepke Bukwater (Die Trip Computer Die) plus special guests."

ORCHESTRE MURPHY: Smut CD (AL OMCD). $16.00

"A collection of immaculately crafted songs combined with a bit of sly wiggling-out and a few poignant instrumentals. Lyrically without equal, it's a foray into toe-tapping inventiveness — ironic, witty and a little outlandish. Moving restlessly between miniature improvisations — musical invocations of domestic tableaux — and craftily mock-heroic, swooningly epic ballads, Smut recognizes that a record release should be an event, not just a document or a manifesto."

ALGA MARGHEN (ITALY):

MARCHETTI, WALTER: The Bird Of Paradise LP (ALGA 00). $23.00

"The Bird of Paradise: Hunting in the City. Performance time: from dawn to dusk. Leave your home, with a cool head, and carrying a briefcase full of birdcalls, of the kind used by hunters, as well as a portable tape recorder, slung across your back on a carrying strap. You will use it, at the proper time, to play a tape, which has also been placed in the briefcase. Once outside, you begin your performance of 'The Hunt' by crossing over to the sidewalk on a far side of the street, with respect to the building you have just left. After observing this building for several minutes, you will then begin to walk. From the point at which you begin to walk, proceed for 1632 paces, and then come to a halt. (Whenever you come to a halt you should always look around to your rear, since the Bird of Paradise may in fact be following you. Check at least three times, carefully casting your eyes in all directions). Resume walking, turn to the left at the first street corner, and stop again. Choose 6 calls and sound them 38 times. Then put them back into the briefcase and continue along your way, until passing the second street on the right. Remove 10 calls from the briefcase and sound them not more than 20 times. Resume your walking. Stop after 3274 paces, pick out a call with a powerful sound, and sound it 15 times. Resume walking, turn right at the third corner, take a few more steps, stop, open the briefcase, take 5 calls and sound them in alternation 127 times? 1005 more paces? after 2536 paces? sound it 140 times? walk 1634 paces? etc? etc? At a certain point you can constantly turn either right or left, entering and exiting every door along this whole new route until coming into sight of a park with a single tree. Once beneath this tree, sound all the calls a single time. If everything remains unchanged, motionless and silent, open the briefcase and take out the tape, which holds the recording of the song of the Bird of Paradise. Play it by means of the tape recorder which is slung across your back. Replay this tape 316 times. Having listened to the song of the Bird of Paradise, wait in complete inactivity for 24 minutes. And then, perhaps? This one-sided LP (25 minutes) with the recordings of the song of the Bird of Paradise is a secret."

TAZARTES, GHEDALIA: Une Eclipe Totale de Soleil CD (ALGA 005). $16.00

"The first record released by Ghedalia Tazartes in 1979. Far away from contemporary music intellectualisms or from synthetical noise purists, this was certainly one of the most original and creative records of the 70s featuring a new form of musical expression...the value of this work was underestimated and only a few people had a chance to listen to its beautiful music. Now, due to the new growing interest, Alga Marghen has taken the decision to reprint all Tazartes records, starting with his first work. Originally conceived in two parts, Une Eclipe... has been remastered and is now integrated by a 25 minute new piece ('Part III'), composed expressly for this CD." A unique record, utilizing collage, strange vocals by Tazartes, trance-ethno backing splices, droning organ and childish naivete, in a spirit all of its own.

HEIDSIECK, BERNARD: Poeme-Partition "X" LP (ALGA 006). $30.00

Some extremely interesting Sound Poetry LPs on this Italian label. Starting with one of the few available sound recordings by the French sound-poet Heidsieck, recorded at Jean Tinguely's house in 1962. "The recording of the original poem-partition 'X' (1960); due to its length the author couldn't give it on a public reading. It's destination was the record, finally issued for the first time after 37 years!" Last copies, new higher price (?).

CHOPIN, HENRI: Juan Carlos The First LP (ALGA 007). $30.00

Some extremely interesting Sound Poetry LPs on this Italian label. "In the late 70s Henri Chopin composed two important audiopoems, 'cantata for two farts and Juan Carlos I' and 'les chuintantes respirent'; these were included on a Chopin LP issued in the historical series of art records called Lotta Poetica (1982). But a terrible mistake was done and the Chopin record was issued at the wrong speed (4 times faster than the original recordings)! While working with Chopin we decided to finally issue these infamous audiopoems in the correct original speed; so they were remastered and are now on Side A of this record. Side B presents 'Throat Power' never published on record before and 'Vertigo de Vertige' a composition from the 70s."

CORNER, PHILIP: Metal Meditations LP (ALGA 008). $20.00

"Metal Meditations is the culmination of many years experience and experiment with the properties of resonant metal objects, whether intended for music for not." —Philip Corner. One side is taken from a 1974 performance at Merce Cunningham's studio, performed by David Behrman (electronics and performer) & others. There is also a 1975 performance with Bill Fontana and Corner ("long metal pipe with active microphone) as well as a short version from the Avant Garde Festival in Cambridge, MA, 1978.

TAZARTES, GHEDALIA: Tazartes' Transports CD (ALGA 011). $16.00

"Probably represents the most original example of the artist's poetical and personal approach to sound organisation. The material of the first track, which gives also the title to this CD, was recorded in 1977 at the artist's own studio in Paris; the CD reprint of this mixed atmospheres masterpiece is followed by 'Transports 1' and 'Transports 2', both composed in 1997 for a theatre piece. We are here in front of a different kind of transport, where the more complex and powerful sound material contributes to create the dense, monolithic structure of these previously unreleased tracks. 'Elie', a piano piece performed in duo with the composer's young daughter, brings a poetic and more relaxing magic to end the program."

CHOPIN, HENRI: Les Mirifiques Tundras & Compagnie LP (ALGA 012). $20.00

NITSCH, HERMANN: Musik Der 66. Aktion 2CD (ALGA 014). $26.00

"The sound carrier accompanied by a series of photos depicting the 66. Aktion, which took place in 1980 in the patio of the Frankfurt Stadelsschule where Hermann Nitsch has been teaching a class for intermedia art since 1989, focused on musical creation within a coinciding event. The first musical statement of the Orgien Misterien Theatre is the scream, an uncontrolled, subconscious shriek uttered outside the real of linguistic structures. Hermann Nitsch later focused on the elementary noise of various instruments; the artist positions the members of the orchestra and their instruments contrasting them with forms of expression taken from musical history. An attempt at folklore-like ritual behavior, as well as at aggressive chromatics of the bruitist tradition; Nitsch produces a collage, he triggers collision, and he thereby sheds light on the common origin of all these elements. A digipak double CD in box with more than 2 and a half hours of pure Nitsch sound; containing a 24 page booklet with photos of the 66. Aktion."

BRUHIN, ANTON: InOut CD (ALGA 015). $16.00

"Anton Bruhin is an artist and composer from Zurich, Switzerland, who was well-known to a very limited circle of people who had the chance to listen to his four wonderful LP records issued between 1969 and the end of the 1970s. Alga Marghen visited him and selected some previously unpublished material (1976/1981) for this first CD. This new title follows the two CD reprints of Tazartes records; again a music difficult to describe, which escapes categories. What was really impressing to the first listening was the special and particular quality obtained using very poor technical equipment, and how Anton Bruhin's creativity handled these low-technology means to reach a unique sound. In the first track, 'InOut', thousands of very short sound fragments coming from the most different sources are added like a patchwork, an acoustic quilt with geometric irregularities and varied patterns. 'Musik Vielleicht fur Sie', is based on the recordings of a self-made instrument, various sound sources and effects on a reel tape recorder equipped with an endless loop tape which skips the tape head; the result resembles a natural multiple echo with a long delay. The spatial illusion does not result from the stereo panorama, but from the spiral or screw shaped layerings into the depth of space. 'Wochenwende' deals again with creative recording technique; two tape recorders with loudspeakers for a ping-pong recording to let the listener perceive sounds as a spot moving fore and back from his ears. A digipak CD with an eight page insert. A big surprise for those who think low-fi music was created between the US and New Zealand notso much time ago. Still now-a-days one of the best examples of low-technology creativity, the music of this compact disc was recorded in the heart of the European mountains more than 20 years ago." "Massively entertaining 'outsider art' styled pieces from 1976-1981. The title track alone is worth admission; 23 minutes of microscopically granulated sound-clips, the results of pause-button abuse (the click of which alone is made an instrument) during a continuous music-room-test. Tuning whistle, toy and party gag instruments, electric razor, model ship engine with propeller, CH-Phon, feedback speaker-microphone, double shawm, falling down spoon, tearing scotch tape from spool, hair dryer, etc... all whizzing past your block at exponentially fast increments of space-time. A fascinating listen and a once-not-every-so-often-available peek into the cogs of a true, deranged, mission-from-god level convention-saboteur." —Hrvatski

MARCHETTI, WALTER: Antibarbarus CD (ALGA 016). $16.00

Beautifully presented minimal sound works by this Italian composer, who has recorded for Cramps, etc. Digipak CD with fold-out poster of concrete poetry. This CD features studio recordings from 1998. concrete tone-waver and mystery of the highest order. "The Antibarbarus cycle of five pieces makes use of original tapes coming from the same recording sessions that originated some of Marchetti's major musical works realized in the 80s. The concept of this series of works respond to the common feature of presenting some homogeneous and untouched sound sources in the 'concrete' status of their inner — and necessary chaotic — level of entropy. The almost narrative thread of the Antibarbarus set of pieces doesn't intend to suggest, in a strict sense, a simply allegorical metaphor; not 'representation' but a diagnosis of a fatal paralysis, where the musical consciousness vainly struggles. This appears not without supposing an inversion of its dialectical sign, in order to oppose the antithesis of a radical humanism to the barbarity of utilitarian and instrumental reason."

HANSON, STEN: The Sonosopher Retrospective LP (ALGA 017). $19.00

"Fylkingen has, in the course of its many years of activity, become a familiar factor in Swedish, as well as international, musical life, a unique forum for the presentation of experimental art. Since very early it began to work in collaboration with an electronic music studio in Stockholm for the creation of technically satisfactory performance possibilities. The movement within Sweden in sound poetry/text-sound composition took hold in the early 1960s with the reorganization of Fylkingen, aiming to develop the relation between art and technology. Sten Hanson's work is an excellent example of sound poetry treated extensively in an electronic studio; The Sonosopher Retrospective LP covers the long period of 30 years activity."

HODELL, ÅKE: 200 Volts Buddha LP (ALGA 018). $19.00

Another Fylkingen-related release; both of these feature previously unreleased material, in limited editions of 545 copies. "Åke Hodell was a fighter pilot in the 1940s and came into contact with literature after a bad accident which resulted in a long spell in a hospital. In the 1960s Hodell made a comeback with strongly experimental art — concrete poetry, picturepoems, multi-media work — playing a prominent role in text-sound composition. '220 Volts Buddha, Electronic Purgatorium' was commissioned by Fylkingen in 1970."

CORNER, PHILIP: On Tape From the Judson Days CD (ALGA 019). $16.00

"On tape from the Judson days. Remember? When you made these things at home, on the best equipment you or your other poor friends could find? Electronic music from the 1960s. And you had that Japanese taperecorder with built-in mike; indeed that was the only piece of furniture on your tatami floor on the Lower East Side that summer of 1961. This compact disc presents tape music recorded between 1962 and 1963 for the friends meeting once a week in a loft in NYC. The first track, 'Lucinda Pastime', was the soundtrack for a dance piece by Lucinda Childs: 'the tape was made in the kitchen sink, with primitive equipment and all the different kinds of plates and bowls in the house. The enjoyment of listening to this musique liquide at night, in bed, and always finding it too short.' 'Memories: Performances': 'Ah yes...yes! The principle of this tape is the recombining of recorded performances from the past, my past, this time. Because the idea, and practice, of collage was really around in that time.' 'From Thais', was made on request of Yvonne Rainer, 'collaging mostly extracts from Massenet opera, mix after mix to get thrown around fragments of the opening until the thin, otherworldly quality of the ending.' 'Oracle, a Canata on Images of War,' was commissioned by the Living Theatre: 'All sounds in violent counterpoint, made by me at home...playing with real noises, with a deliberately vulgarized reality made of over-recorded close-miked crashes which even blew the machine's circuitry. Mixed into the Darkest White Noise ever made.' 'Flares' used dancers and musicians and slides and lights in a total-space multimedia; this is the only piece on this compact disc which uses purely generated tape sounds. 'Circus Tape' was for 'a whole evening of inspired crazy-fun, from burlesque to creaking doors.' All previously unreleased works presented in a digipack CD with 16 pages booklet.

BEHRMAN, DAVID: Wave Train CD (ALGA 020). $16.00

A digipack CD with David Behrman experimental music from 1959 to 1968. "The CD starts with the short piece called 'Canons,' a product of a 3 weeks stage in Darmstadt (summer 1959) featuring David Tudor on piano and Christoph Caskel playing percussions. 'Ricecar' is a prepared piano piece made in 1961 and has the flexible form of the kind favoured by European composers in the early 1960s, but also reflecting the work of Cowell and Cage. 'Wave Train,' (1966) marked the moment when something radical happened, in which established techniques were thrown away. A powerful feedback piece live performed with Gordon Mumma. 'Players with Circuits' (1966) is an exploration of raw materials, here a combination of live electronics and amplified acoustic sound. 'Sounds for a Film by Bob Watts,' for outdoor environment recording and homemade synthesizer, was recorded at Stony Point, the artists' cooperative which John Cage, David Tudor, Sari Dienes and other friends had established. The last piece, 'Runthrough,' was made for performance by members of the sonic Arts Union: Alvin Lucier, Gordon Mumma, Robert Ashley and, of course, David Behrman; two of them working the dials and switches of homemade synthesizers, and two others distributing sound in space with homemade photocell mixers; Time Records released a different version of this piece in 1969. All others are previously unreleased. The edition includes a 12 page booklet."

BEHRMAN, DAVID: Wave Train 2LP (ALGA 020 LP). $23.00

"Double LP reprint of the famous David Behrman Wave Train compact disc issued a couple of years ago. Experimental music from 1959-68: 'Canons' featuring David Tudor on piano and Christoph Caskel on percussion; 'Ricecar' a prepared piece performed by David Behrman in the early 1960s; 'Wave Train' a powerful feedback piece performed live with Gordon Mumma; 'Players with Circuits' a combination of live electronics and amplified acoustic sound; 'Sounds for a Film by Bob Watts' for outdoor environment recording and homemade synthesizer recorded at Stony Point; and 'Runthrough' with Lucier, Mumma, Ashley and Behrman on dials and switches of homemade synthesizer and distributing sound in space with homemade photocell mixers (different from version released on 'Sonic Arts Union' LP). This edition comes in a colour gatefold LP cover with new graphic and lay-out. Edition of 500 copies only."

GYGIN, BRION: Poems of Poems LP (ALGA 021). $19.00

"This record presents some of the most important experiments in cut-up and recording technique by the famous poet and artist, Brion Gysin. Originally recorded in 1958 at the historical Beat Hotel in Paris: 'Language is an abominable misunderstanding which makes up a part of matter. The painters and the physicists have treated matter pretty well. The poets have hardly touched it. In March, 1958, when I was living at the Beat Hotel, I proposed to Burroughs to at least make available to literature the means that painters have been using for fifty years. Cut words into pieces and scramble them.' 40 previously unpublished minutes of hypnotic, pure cut-up, only the voice of the author plus background noise from the Uher 4400 reel-to-reel recording machine; a fabulous, minimal piece of history. 'What to do with this all? Paste it to the wall with some photos and see what it looks like. Wait, paste these two pages together and cut in the middle. Paste it all together, end to end, and send it out like a big piano-roll. After all, it's not but matter. There's nothing sacred about words."

HEIDSIECK, BERNARD: 50/70 LP (ALGA 022). $19.00

3rd LP on this by this French sound-poet on the label. "Featuring 'Poème-Partition "B"' (1957), for Bernard de Pontcharra, killed in Algeria; 'Poème-Partition "M"', suggested by a comment made by Henry Miller about 'Deserts' by Edgar Varèse; 'Démocratie II' (1977) and 'Publicité' (1979). The first two compositions belong to the Poème-Partition series, the starting point of Bernard Heidsieck's work, specially focused on the problem of a poetical direct communication and directly inspired by Nono, Stockhausen, Boulez and Cage. The latter two works were included in the Passe-Partout series, a formally more experimental one, based on electronic and reel-to-reel recording machine manipulations."

HEIDSIECK, BERNARD: Vaduz CD/BOOK (ALGA 026). $30.00

"Here is it, finally! After the sold-out LP edition, Alga Marghen now presents the long time awaited book documenting the renowned work by Bernard Heidsieck titled 'Vaduz'. A hard-bound book, 40 pages, including two essays, the complete score, 'Vaduz' discography, bibliography, list of performances and a short Bernard Heidsieck biography. Also including a 12 minute compact disc. This sound-poem was commissioned by Roberto Altman in 1974 for an exhibition in Vaduz, the capital city of Liechtenstein, and has since then been performed all over the world. Conceived as a canon, the multiple structure of superimpositions is powered using electronic effects and manipulations."

ANIMA-SOUND: Musik für Alle CD (ALGA 027). $16.00

"Paul and Limpe Fuchs music, better known as Anima, represents the most original and obscure event among German Kraut Rock. Here they play a wonderful and very inspired duet on Paul Fuch's self-built instruments with the pot-production collaboration of Will Neubauer's Echolette Ringmodulator. Privately issued on LP record in 1972 for the artists' own label Altepfarhof, these two 17 minute long improvisations titled 'n da da uum da' and 'traktor go go go' can surely be considered as one of the best psychedelic experiences ever created. Due to the intensity of the recording, Alga Marghen, in agreement with the artists, decided not to add more material to the CD reprint. Presented on digipack CD in a first pressing of 1000 copies. Excerpt from cover notes: 'In the summer of 1971 the authors of this record parked their wooden stage caravan, hauled by a Hanomag tractor, in front of Willy Neubauer's recording studio in Düsseldorf. They had been travelling for 6 months at a speed of 20 km/h through the country, chugging and building up their stage. After touring, they spent three isolated days in the studio and let Willy and his newly discovered electronic add wings to their minds."

PATTERSON, BEN: Early Works CD (ALGA 028). $16.00

"Alga Marghen proudly presents the first record ever produced by Ben Patterson: 'This is not only my first CD, but also the first recordings of these works available to the general public.' Starting as a virtuoso double-bass performer of classical music, Ben Patterson was one of the very first founders of the Fluxus Group in Wiesbaden. This digipack CD will introduce you to some American neo-avantgarde music classics, a crossover between John Cage exploding influences and the experimental art atmosphere of the early 1960s in Europe. The compact disc program includes two essential 1961 documents: 'Duo For Voice And A String Instrument' and 'Variations for Double-bass,' both recorded in concert at the Galerie Parnass in 1962; this event has special historic significance in that it included the first public presentation by George Maciunas of his Fluxus manifesto and plans for the Wiesbaden Fluxus Festival. 'Duo' was Patterson's most ambitious and lost attempt to combine graphic notation and chance operations for the realization of a performance score, while 'Variations' represents the moment when, unexpectedly, out of some unknown place, something new entered the process — humor! The other three tracks were recorded in Milano especially for this release; for this purpose a collaboration was asked to Philip Corner, Walter Marchetti, Davide Mosconi and a few more friends. These newly recorded pieces include 'A Simple Opera' (1995), a repetitive homage to Emmett Willons on his 70th birthday; 'Paper Piece' (1960), the work that cut the umbilical cord to all of the author's previous classical and contemporary musical training and experience, and 'Pond' (1961), a piece that reminds of Richard Maxfield's electronic music with voice collage. The edition includes a fold-out 16 page insert with original scores and photos."

MARCHETTI, WALTER: Nei Mari Del Sud CD (ALGA 029). $16.00

"Walter Marchetti's Nei mari del Sud may be regarded as the 'epitome' work of all his recent musical output. Firstly for it represents the original re-elaboration of a former work achieved in 1982; secondly, the manipulation techniques here applied rise in the same principles formerly developed for recording the Antibarbarus set of pieces, a cycle to which the new work therefore refers in terms of an ideal continuity, though it preserves some peculiar characters strictly connected with the source of its basic music material. The former version of 'Nei mari del Sud' was originally conceived as an environmental music or, more properly, as a piece of 'acoustic theatre'; to accompany an installation staged on June 9, 1982, during the international contemporary music festival Musicaia at Teatro Carcano, Milan. In this stage installation, Marchetti expanded for the first time on a larger scale the same figurative scheme that usually marks his major work in progress: a series of installations invariably entitled 'Musiche da camera,' where the 'icon' of a piano defines its role in a seemingly paradoxical context. In the scenery of 'Nei mari del Sud,' as shown in the photographic sequence reproduced on the CD fold-out, the black carcass of a grand piano appeared on the surface of a large expanse of sea, artificially re-created with a shapeless heap of bluish tissue-paper. In the background, the slow, progressive unsticking of the blue paper-curtain, accidentally caused by the floodlight's heat, configured the impending threat of a gigantic wave on the point of completely submerging the scene. The acoustic décor projected for this installation invaded the whole stalls through twelve loudspeakers set in a semicircle in the rear of the audience. This equipment simultaneously played the tracks of six magnetic tapes, whose signals were displaced out-of-phase by inverting the two poles of each loudspeaker and by means of the reciprocal crossover of each mixed channel. Perhaps, an even more calligraphic adherence to the same 'subject' inspired the version of 'Nei mari del Sud' now subtitled 'Musica in secca'. Not being possible to reproduce with absolute fidelity, in a studio recording, the acoustic design originally conceived for spreading the six sound sources in a theatre space, Marchetti chose to create, using the same material, a new work that could express the relationship with its archetype transposing the same 'icon'; on a more pregnant metaphorical axis. Answering to an always implicit exigency in Walter Marchetti's oeuvre and coherently investigated by the composer with more and more penetrating awareness — the same processing techniques efficaciously employed in 'Antibarbarus' revealed themselves extremely suitable for raising to the highest degree the critical and metalinguistic reflection stated by this metaphorical axis. A piano englouti in the abysses of that process of reification in which the heritage of musical thinking is irrevocably sunk. Finally, Walter Marchetti has touched the bottom of music. Presented on digipack compact disc, in a first pressing of 1000 copies, including a foldout with photo documentation, an essay by Gabriele Bonomo, a testimony by Robert Ashley and a poster."

ASHLEY, ROBERT: String Quartet...How Can I Tell The Difference CD (ALGA 030). $16.00

"String Quartet Describing The Motions of Large Real Bodies' was composed as the potential orchestra for an opera based on the text of 'In Sara, Mencken, Christ and Beethoven There Were Men And Women'. When the work was composed, in 1972, it was clear that a huge change in electronic instrumentation was just beginning, a change that would involve computers and sound producing devices as yet undreamed of. The piece consists of an electronic orchestra of 42 sound producing modules. The technique of the string quartet is for each player to make a stream of intentional but unpremeditated (that is, random) very short sounds, pulses, somewhat like pitched clicks, but with the formats and overtones of a string instrument (this idea came from the rumor of a performance by Takehisa Kosugi). These sounds go directly to a set of four loudspeakers, but at the same time they are delayed electronically, and those delayed sounds are sent to a series of seven networks of sound producing modules activated by the very brief coincidence of an original sound and a delayed sound. The operation of the networks as a result of the coincidence can, in the theoretical world of electronics, produce almost any sound imaginable. In the performance recorded here few of the technical resources were available. Now, of course, there are computer 'patching' programs that would make the job possible, but complicated. Such are dreams, when technology promises a 'new world'. Sort of like 1492. The hills and mountains separating San Francisco Bay from the Pacific Ocean are filled with a labyrinth of endless concrete tunnels constructed by the military in the 1930s in anticipation of World War II, to defend San Francisco Bay from invasion. At the entrance of every tunnel is a huge steel door. When the door is slammed, the reverberation through the labyrinth seems to last forever. It is one of the wonders of the world. Naturally, Robert Ashley tried to record this phenomenon. On the occasion of the recording, just as the reverberation seemed to die away, a motorcyclist, miles away in the tunnels, started coming closer. The effect, which took minutes, was as if the reverberation had been reversed, as if the tape recording was running backwards. A perfect case of coincidence as illusion. In Version One of 'How Can I Tell The Difference?' the composer tried to create the drama of the recording of the reverberation and the motorcyclist, using the 'String Quartet' as an 'orchestra', in the way it was intended to be used in the opera. In Version Two of 'How Can I Tell The Difference?' a solo string player using the same playing technique as in the 'String Quartet' opens and closes the sound 'gates' to electronic reverberations and prerecorded sounds running continuously with the performance. A digipack CD edition including an 8 page booklet with scores and liner notes written by Robert Ashley."

VA: Rumoriarotonda CD (ALGA 031). $16.00

"Live recording at the Rotonda del Pellegrini, Milan, January 21st, 1959 featuring John Cage, Morton Feldman, Juan Hidalgo, Leopoldo La Rosa, Walter Marchetti. Among all the events involving John Cage during the long stay in Europe that followed his controversial appearance at Darmstadt Ferienkurse in September 1958, the concert he held in Milan on January 21st perhaps represents a less well known episode. The reasons that justify the necessity to present here, after forty years, the complete recording of the concert, and that restore the measure of the exceptionality of this rare document can be summarized in the contrasting reactions catalyzed by this event. Featuring Cage's intervention both as composer and performer of one's own work as well as of two piano pieces by Morton Feldman, the concert at Pellegrini's 'Rotonda' may be considered the first event of experimental music in Europe in which the presentation of American and European composers consciously acted on an agreeing and equal aesthetic horizon. Both the set of pieces in programme and the peculiar environmental frame of the concert were fit intentionally for emphasizing the radical aesthetic conceptions of the compositions performed. Cage's choice was highly representative and related into those works of his recent catalogue that more than any other was pushed on the way of a conscious neutralization of compositive intention. The Duo which opens the concert significantly consists of the parts for flute and viola excerpted from his celebrated 'Concert for Piano and Orchestra'. Cage then completed his participation in the concert, besides performing some unspecified numbers from 'Music for Piano' (the piece that showed him the possibility to de-conceptualize the resort to chance operations transcribing the paper point imperfections), also performing two of the three 'Piano Pieces' with which Morton Feldman, in 1954, was reconverted to conventional notation, while preserving the same rarefying qualities his music formerly acquired by means of the systematic adoption of aleatory graphic notations. Juan Hidalgo, Walter Marchetti, and Leopoldo La Rosa on the contrary premiered six compositions purposefully written for this occasion, employing aleatory procedures for the first time in their works. Both Hidalgo and Marchetti wrote a trio and a quartet firstly following a common notational stylization, which provides the spatial distribution of a prearranged, but reversible, sequence of intervals within a flexible temporal grid, structured fixing each subsequent time limit. Curiously, those procedures forerun the so-called 'temporal-brackets' technique that Cage will employ, at the end of a long creative career, in time-structuring his famous 'Number Pieces'. The cyclical alternation between the instrumentally always-heterogeneous ensemble works and the slight sonority of the solo piano pieces, was presumably regulated, in fact, by an evident principle of symmetry. More than constituting a restriction, a so rigid performing frame plausibly acted as an efficacious form of conjugation in strict connection with the environmental space. Exploiting the circular architectonic structure of the concert hall all the performers were spread abroad among the audience, with the piano exactly placed in the centre. According to Cage, in the integration of the physical space into the performing process one can recognize a basic requisite that consented to transform music composition in an unforeseen event in which the physical separation of the performers allows the sounds to issue from their own centers and to interpenetrate in a way which is not obstructed by the conventions of European harmony and theory about relationships and interferences of sounds. At a distance of only few months since Cage described with these words — in one of the three lectures given in Darmstadt then collected under the title 'Composition as Process' — one of the distinctive features of his conception of an experimental work, the concert at Pellegrini's 'Rotonda' perhaps represented the first concrete opportunity to verify and extend these same concepts. So, not only the concert at Pellegrini's 'Rotonda' was characterized by the performance of works that accepted the indeterminacy as their own operative premise, but also for having been a collective event in which the individual contribution of each composer, the strict succession of the works without solution of continuity, the dislocation of the sound sources in the space, mutually acted as autonomous elements, but interrelated in the comprehensive design of their concordant dimensioning in the environment. The edition includes a 36 pages essay with photos and full documentation of the event."

WOLMAN, GIL J.: L'Anticoncept LP (ALGA 032). $19.00

"This first LP record by Gil J. Wolman features two important and connected moments of his poetic production: three mégapneumies (that's how the author defined his poems) and five excerpts from the soundtrack of his film titled L'Anticoncept. In the very early 1950s Wolman, together with his friends Dufrene and Brau, left Isou's Lettrist movement and the dictatorship of the letter for the development of a more personal research in the arts. The Mégapneumies actually were a topical and formally very aggressive moment in the development of the later experimental sound poetry. As Henri Chopin wrote: 'Historically Wolman was our source, since he overpassed the phonetic poem made of letters'. And Dufrene: 'Since the early 1950s Wolman and I where always together in the same fights. Wolman is the poet of the breath, the breath that he opposed to the letter of Isou, and whose influence was decisive for the evolution of the ultra-lettrism? It's the breath that creates the poem: rhythm and scream, the scream until now inexpressed in poetry; scream of joy, of love, of anguish, of horror, of hate, but scream'. Premiered on Feb. 11, 1952, and immediately banned, the first experimental film by Gil J. Wolman titled L'Anticoncept, was divided into two sections: a non-narrative soundtrack, some kind of interior monologue including physiological noises, and a visual part built on the irregular alternation of black and white circles screened on a meteorological balloon. A 'music of light' wetting the scene and producing a physical movement in the audience. Wolman wrote: 'As the Mégapneumie units created a new sonority, this disintegration represents the transitory period and the beginning of a new amplification of the arts'. And the amplification came."

CORNER, PHILLIP: 3 Pieces For Gamelan Ensemble CD (ALGA 034). $16.00

"'Gamelan' means for Phillip Corner more than the name for Indonesian orchestras. The composer uses the word the way, apart from Europe, someone might say 'symphony'. A basis of making music, adding a few wonderful ideas from the Orient: a precise relation between the scale of time and that of musical space; a simple formal concept, expressed directly through sensual attractiveness; some freedom, or mystery, added to the precision. 'Gamelan' is the name of the first piece. In 1975 at Livingston College where Barbara Banary, who had just constructed the earliest instruments for Son Of Lion, invited Phillip Corner to compose a piece. Its opening gong stroke and long resonance has gone through several revivals over the years since, and has come to seem like a 'classic'. This piece is the link to the composer's earlier works, particularly those of struck resonant instruments, like Metal Meditations, which are intensely focused on the immediate presence of the sounds. What is added here is counting, although counting so long a length dissolves again into the intuitive. The second track on this CD is titled 'The Barcelona Cathedral'. The composer Tom Johnson wrote about it in 1978: 'A few weeks ago I attended a rehearsal of New York's own gamelan ensemble, Son Of Lion. One of the works I heard that evening was a new composition by Phillip Corner. Corner was conducting in big slow beats that fell heavily once every few seconds. With each beat about ten mallets fell onto the metallic percussion instruments with a tremendous clang. A variety of pitches resulted, and the general effect was much like a big church bell. The piece went on for nearly half an hour, always with that same relentless beat, but with slightly different effects.' These first two compositions, first issued on LP for Lotta Poetica, have been remastered for this CD edition that also features a previously unpublished major work entitled 'Belum'. The author wrote about it: 'There is improvisation within a structure that only reveals itself over many repetitions. The melody is quite difficult, with many syncopations and rhythmic irregularities. We have learned it well, but since no one knows exactly how each will play, there is individual freedom and group chance results. Bringing together different cultures in a new kind of harmony. ...It [the music culture of Indonesia] has added to my previous development sense of music as wonderful-sound, the sense of music as wonderful-measure. Thanks to this, I now love numbers and with no diminishing of the senses...'. 16 page booklet, color photos, graphic notations and scores are included with liner notes written by Phillip Corner."

PALESTINE, CHARLEMAGNE: Alloy (Golden 1) CD (ALGA 035). $16.00

"The Golden Research is the name chosen for the complete documentation of previously unpublished works by Charlemagne Palestine starting from the early 1960s to the mid-late 1970s. Such a huge project will include seminal collage and electronic music, Bell Studies, New York and California Drones, Piano drones as well as more specific compositions. All the recordings will be exclusively available through Alga Marghen. Be ready to change your own opinion about minimalism and music in general? Holy1 and Holy2 were both recorded in NYC in 1967. Charlemagne Palestine was listening to a lot of ethnic world music; he was also immersed in the late night New York soundscape and absorb the spatial sound diversity and beauty that such a big city could only express very late at night? He worked also at night building up a sound, oscillator by oscillator; then add tiny increments of white noise that would gradually make the sounds thicker and thicker until they were immense sacred machines humming like gargantuan tibetan bees. The sounds were played very very loud making all the room and objects in it resonate while outside all was quiet and sleeping. Holy1 & Holy2 were done this way. Then, in 1969, Tony Conrad asked Charlemagne Palestine to make some carillon music for his film Coming Attractions. They were seeing each other regularly when the Free Music Store of radio station WBAI asked Palestine to create a piece for an event they were preparing to broadcast live on radio. So he asked Tony, his saxophonist Bob Feldman and his then wife and soprano Deborah Glaser to collaborate on a work that he would organise around an instrument that he invented at that time called an Aluminium. Tony Conrad played an instrument that he invented, the Long String Drone, that was a long string attached to a long wooden structure and amplified. Bob played the chimes and a conch. Deborah sang and played chimes and Charlemagne sang, also played the chimes and some percussion instruments that they found lying around the hall where they played. The piece became Alloy and the sound used as all electronic background continuum, played through loudspeakers in the hall, were Holy1+2 from 1968. Digipak CD edition with folded insert and liner notes."

PALESTINE, CHARLEMAGNE: Continuous Sound Forms (Golden 2) CD (ALGA 036). $16.00

"This CD features two very special moments of the acoustic production of Charlemagne Palestine. A very peculiar strumming for 2 harpsichords and the first piano composition marking the passage from the electronic music period to strumming technique. Elisabeth Freeman and Charlemagne Palestine met in 1971 at Cal Arts near L.A. while she was a student of the international harpsichord virtuoso Fernando Valenti. The sound and clarity of the harpsichord perfectly fitted the sonic approach of Charlemagne who, in 1975, invented a strumming for her. In 1976 she performed the World Premiere of Strumming for Harpsichord at the Purcell Room in London and the next year, 1977, the American Premiere of this work at Carnegie Recital Hall in New York City to critical success. Then in 1978 they visited the harpsichord factory of William Martin in Pennsylvania and decided to experiment with two harpsichords together. The recording featured in this CD, Duo Strumming for 2 Harpsichords (three excerpts), was recorded in that magic moment. You will experience both the harpsichord sound and the strumming approach in a way you never had before. This recording of Piano Drone, from 1972, was recorded at Cal Arts playing the first Bosendorfer Imperial piano that inspired the piano music style to come. At the beginning we hear Terry Jennings 'Getting His Stuff' and then Charlemagne play in the style of that time which was very arpeggiated liquid and dreamy. This Piano Drone on the original Imperial of California beginning with the voice of Terry Jennings is dedicated to him."

BERROCAL, JACQUES: Parallèles CD (ALGA 037). $16.00

"Jacques Berrocal has been very active since the beginning of the 1970s. No one in France could mix jazz, improvisation, rock'n'roll, punk, no wave, spoken words and industrial music like him. He also had a central position in the creation of d'Avantgarde, a collective record label that issued some of the most particular sessions of the mid-late Seventies. At the same time he was working on never ending sessions for records that were never issued. Jac and his band were the Apostles of the non-urgency, enjoying recording in unusual situations, with no rules, improvising on undefined structures or using non-musical material mixed with ethnic instrumental solos. In 1976 d'Avantage issued a wonderful record LP titled Parallèles featuring, among the others, Bernard Vitet, Roger Ferlet, Pierre Bastien, Michel Potage, Daniel Deshays, with the intervention of Vince Taylor, the dark diamond of rock'n'roll who inspired David Bowie's Ziggy Stardust. Just a couple of years later Berrocal collaborated with Steven Stapleton to create the first Nurse with Wound record LP. Parallèles features very different styles; acoustic solo and duo for trombone and cornet as well as a large ensemble 25 minutes long piece dedicated to the futurist Russolo (again, two years later, Mr. Stapleton dedicated his first NWW record to the same Italian artist). Also to mention are 'Post-Card', recorded in a Pigsty in 1976, and the legendary 'Rock'n'roll Station', a mini-concert for voice (Vince Taylor), double bass (Roger Ferlet) and bicycle (Jac Berrocal). The remastered CD also includes five previously unreleased tracks that were actually left out of the original record: 'Villa Povera Naturale' (1972) is a short piece for pocket trumpet and various concrete elements; 'Occupe' by Michel Potage is an excerpt taken from an LP that d'Avantage never issued; 'Shorten' and 'Lisylis Pavillon' are the first experiments using electronics and 'Cryptea IV', taken from the sessions of the early Futura LP. Thirty years later Jacques Berrocal is still there, where nothing is waiting for him, totally outside the rules, out of fashion thus indecomposable. A digipack CD edition including a folded insert with very nice original photos and scores."

M.E.V.: Spacecraft/Unified Patchwork Theory CD (ALGA 038). $16.00

"In the fall of 1966 a group of composers that included Frederic Rzewski, Alvin Curran, Allen Bryant, Jon Phetteplace, Giuseppe Chiari and Richard Teitelbaum organized 'Avanguardia Musicale I', a festival of several consecutive nights at the Accademia Filarmonica Romana. The program included tape music, Fluxus performance art pieces and live electronic works. It was also the beginning of the group MEV. One year later the group was in Rome, Italy, but also involved in a very active period of touring in Northern Europe, mostly in Germany. It was the period of the first major collective piece, 'Spacecraft'. In many ways, the music of that period was the most unique and radical in the group's thirty years history. The instrumentation included Rzewski's amplified glass plate to which he attached coiled and stretched springs of various kinds, all highly amplified with contact microphone. With it he generated a range of sounds from the screaming of wild animals and viscous percussive clangs to richly resonant low gong sounds. Alvin Curran used contact mikes to amplify a large Italian olive oil can, an African thumb piano and various items of junk he scavenged at the site of the gigs, as well as a distorted amplified trumpet. Allen Bryant's idiosyncratic instrument, an old electronic organ he had bought in a Roman flea market and re-wired by trial and error until he got the sound he liked, and Richard Teitelbaum's Moog, which he played by twirling knobs while triggering it with his brainwaves and toes and amplified heartbeats made up the 'synth' section. Finally, Ivan Vandro's (at that time also member of Gruppo di Improvvisazione Nuova Consonanza) wildly wailing alto sax — usually long, high sustained screams or low guttural honks — rode above the dense noise textures that gradually evolved and grew over time into violent climaxes. These in turn gave way to soft, slow and meditative sustained vocal and electronic drones and chants. This CD, the first in a series of editions devoted to MEV, introduces us to the integral 42 minutes of 'Spacecraft' recorded in Cologne, Germany (1967), as well as to the more recent 'Unified Patchwork Theory' recorded at Rote Fabrik in Zurich (CH), in 1990 featuring Curran (sampler and synths), Rzewski (piano), Teitelbaum (synths), Steve Lacy (soprano sax) and Garrett List (trombone, voice and electronics). Digipack CD edition including a folded insert with original photos of the group from 1967, the text by Frederic Rzewski titled 'Plan for Spacecraft' (first published in Source Magazine) and an excerpt from 'Some MEV Memories' by Richard Teitelbaum."

MARCHETTI, WALTER: De Musicorum Infelicitate CD (ALGA 039). $16.00

"As Walter Marchetti told to the producers of De Musicorum infelicitate, i.e., 'The Unhappiness of Music, this will probably be his last music work, but this is not the only point making this edition a very special one. Coming after two CDs previously issued for Alga Marghen (Antibarbarus in 1998 and Nei Mari del Sud in 1999) these 'Ten Pieces in the Form of Painful Variations' dispose in their unceasing and implacable sequence the landing at an anaphorical finis terrae, the extreme and impassable threshold, beyond which music can but sink in the abyss of its own loss of consciousness, in front of the horizon of the definitive loss of its exhausted tradition. 'De musicorum infelicitate', anamnesis of the condition of music, a barren aesthetic code ineluctably suspended between self-mystification and expression of the inauthentic, having reached the limit of its own fertility and every faculty of the imagination. 'De musicorum infelicitate', longing for a magniloquent destructio musicae, the destruction of an administrated practice, of a tautological exercise devoid of inner necessity. As Gabriele Bonomo, the project coordinator of the complete Walter Marchetti editions for Alga Marghen, remarks in the liner notes, music has been reduced to leading a ghostly existence, haunting the cemetery of history and frustrated by the impossibility to adhere to itself; if only music were able to recognize its own superfluity it could fulfil its destiny. While listening to these 'Ten Pieces in the Form of Painful Variations', each one with the precise duration of six minutes, you will realize that music, this extremely dense sonority close to the pulverisation limit, is talking about itself."

HIDALGO, JOHN: Una Voz LP (ALGA 040). $18.00

"ZAJ has always been located close to the limits of the arts, the music, the theatre, the writing, the word, the object, the body. This has conducted to stay at the borders of the traditional artistic circuits, of the institutional spaces and, curiously enough, of the official vanguardias (fluxus, wiener aktionismus, etc?). Since 1964 ZAJ organise several festivals and premiered most of the compositions of Walter Marchetti and Juan Hidalgo. They also invited other composers including the devastating performance of Fontana-Mix-Feed by Max Neuhaus in 1965 and a reading of Bernard Heidsieck in 1967. They privately issued 5 ZAJ-books: Juan Hidalgo Viaje a Argel, 1967, and De Juan Hidalgo, 1971; José Luis Castillejo La Caída de l'Avion, 1967, and La Política, 1968; Walter Marchetti L'arprocate seduto sul loto, 1968. But they never produced a record? And here it is, the first ZAJ record ever issued: Una Voz, written by Juan Hidalgo, read by Javier Martinez Cuadrado and recorded by Walter Marchetti who also added some music by opening the windows on Paseo de Santa María de la Cabeza. An evening in Madrid on September 1967. As Juan Hidalgo wrote for the liner notes: 'I spent about 10 years reading, hearing and meditating, outside, around and inside Zen Buddhism. Una Voz, this repetitive vocal music, couldn't have been conceived without these circumstances. This 'metaphysic' work developed in the years I was living in Italy; first in Milan and then in Rome. Walter Marchetti and John Cage supported all this with their knowledge and friendship. The final result is a reflection on life, non-life, pain and pleasure'. This project has been coordinated by Walter Marchetti who strongly wanted this LP to be the first ZAJ record. This edition also includes a 16 pages booklet (size cm. 30x30) with the complete Spanish text (first published in De Juan Hidalgo) and the English translation. Edition of 323 copies."

BRUHIN, ANTON: Rotomotor CD (ALGA 041). $16.00

"The new compact disc by Anton Bruhin issued by Alga Marghen is titled roto motor and covers two different areas of the artist's research. The first one is represented by a group of works including the short and mysterious environmental recording 'ORAX' as well as 'Lange Tone', 'VERSUCHPILZ 6' and 'Paul is 35', three excerpts from the epic 'MC-10 zyklus' created between 1976 and 1977 recording various layers of sound sources on two cassette recorders with loudspeakers. The complete zyklus consists of 12 different episodes (each one ten minutes long) which investigate the multi-layer ping-pong recording technique; the spatial illusion of the monoaural replay which moves away from the listener's ears into the depth of space. Far away sounds coming from a cosmic dimension or from an abyssal space, moving fore and back. The loss of sound quality considered as stoned space improvement. 'roto motor: ein motorische Idiotikon', the title track, is a 28 minutes long reading, one of Bruhin's major works. Rotomotor is a poetic Idiotikon of the swiss-german dialect where, instead of the straight alphabetical order, the words are organised according to the similarities of their letters (each word differ from the previous one by just one letter). For this reading a delay equipment which repeated the signal after 0.6 seconds was used and each word is superimposed to the echo of the preceding one. On one hand this echo generates the rhythm of the performance, on the other it supports the acoustic metamorphosis of the words. Again, a very simple concept perfectly accomplished. What results from the whole program is maybe difficult to describe, maybe more easily perceivable in a state of alternate consciousness. But surely a quite unique sense of acoustics approach; so no surprise to see him mentioned in the mythical Nurse With Wound reference list. Chance meeting in an Alpine chalet of a roto-Bruhin and an AKRE."

CORNER, PHILIP: Gong + CD (ALGA 042). $16.00

"Gong + presents three previously unpublished compositions by Philip Corner recorded in New York City, 1974. 'Metal Meditations with Listening Center', a 29 minutes long piece, is a collaboration between Philip Corner and Bill Fontana. At that time Bill Fontana was very interested in the resonance properties of every object, putting his ear to everything, and sometime recording what he called 'Listening Centers' (soon to be issued by Alga Marghen). A microphone placed in a resonating space (for example a jar, or a pipe) recording the environment with no intervention from the artist. This time the 'Listening Center' was integrated as an active element on two pages from 'Metal Meditations' ('one stroke: vigorous: one resonance' and 'these are twirlings, swirlings') performed at the Intermedia Foundation. The continuous resonance of metal objects mixed with the chaotic sounds of New York City distorted through the 'Listening Center'. 'Gong!' is a series of works and can be considered forms of kinds of 'Metal Meditations'. They are more-elaborated performing plans for/on this 'prototype of all rich resonances', so, are musics assuming long-resounding & more-than-single-pitched large-surfaced (likely) lower-tone-favoring metals. Some substitutions are possible: piano? low clusters and selected sonorities. Colors controlled from pedal. Struck by soft stick(s) — or from keyboard. This specific version, titled '2 as entrance ? passageway (resounding regularly)', was recorded on May 22nd, 1974 at The Kitchen and performed by Philip Corner, Brian Dallow, Daniel Goode and Carole Weber. The piece starts with deep resonances of the gong played by two performers and very slowly fades into the pulsation of the low-key strings of the piano. The last composition on this compact disc, taken from a different series of works titled 'Pulse Polyphony', was also recorded at The Kitchen during the same festival. 'Pulse Polyphony' compositions may use very different materials; one of them (the central part of 'Oracle', an electronic music piece) was included in On tape from the Judson years, a previous compact disc issued by Alga Marghen. The version presented here is the passage from string piano to bell-tree."

LORA-TOTINO, ARRIGO: Fonemi LP (ALGA 043). $18.00

"Arrigo Lora-Totino is probably best known for having been the editor of the famous sound poetry anthology issued by Cramps Records in the 1970s with the title Futura. But only a few know about his sound poetry production. Following Henri Chopin's idea that poetry is above all an expression of the body through its own language, Lora-Totino started his important poetical practice in 1965 with 'Fonemi', a sound sample of erasure: the reading of a text recorded on tape is filtered through an electronic pulse generator that splits it into small fragments. Also featured on this LP is 'Poesia liquida & liquimofono': in 1968, together with the artist Piero Fogliati, Lora-Totino staged a 'liquid poetry and music' show. While he 'dove' and 'drowned' words into the idromeagafono and watered the audience with liquefied consonants, Fogliati operated on the liquimofono, a sort of water organ, thus producing liquid music. LP edition limited to 345 copies."

NEUHAUS, MAX: Fontana Mix-Feed CD (ALGA 044). $15.00

"This compact disc includes the complete documentation of Max Neuhaus' Fontana Mix-Feed performed in venues in the US and Europe between 1965 and 1966. With these performances Neuhaus introduced the idea that acoustic feedback, previously always abhorred, could be a useful technique for generating sound. 'Feed' is the title of the score Max Neuhaus made with the chance operations specified in John Cage's 'Fontana Mix'. In 1963, while exploring ways of changing the timbre of percussion instruments through amplification, Neuhaus discovered a means of generating sound: the creation of an acoustic feedback loop with a percussion instrument inserted inside it. Beginning with pickup of room sound with a contact microphone which is touching a percussion instrument, a loop is quickly created when the speaker projects the amplified result back on the percussion instrument again. Neuhaus decided to create a realization with the mixture and interaction of four channels of these loops. The factors here are so complex that even if the piece were to be performed twice in the same room with the same audience, the same instruments, and the same loudspeakers, it would have completely different sound and structure each time. It is a beast, alive!" First compact disc edition with the integral documentation. 20 pages booklet including photo of the performances, scores as well as composer's and editor's notes. Digipack edition.

CHOPIN, HENRI: Revue OU 4CD/BOOK (ALGA 045). $90.00

Miraculously over-the-top presentation of Henri Chopin's famous sound-poetry "magazine", issued either as 4CDs or 6 LPs (currently sold out), each in a heavy-duty LP-sized box. "Since the end of the fifties, Henri Chopin, an explorer in the new recorded sound poetry field, has never ceased, through his own work as well as through his publishing activities (Revue OU, a magazine with record from 1963 to 1974) to defend the electronic exploration of the voice and the body. If Henri Chopin's Revue OU is such a remarkable publication, then this is surely because it is one of the truly — and most authentically — 'contemporary' publications of its time. Yet at first sight, the word 'contemporary' seems to offer a rather simplistic description of such a visionary publication as Chopin's OU. When we consider in the general cultural context of the sixties, for example, aren't all mid-century art publications generally 'contemporary' in one way or another? And when considered in terms of most other poetry publications of the sixties, doesn't Chopin's OU clearly stand out as one of the most significant 'experimental' or 'avant-garde' publications of the mid-century? As Chopin observes, he considered the sound poetry published on the records in OU to be a distinctively 'new form of art'. On one hand sound poetry constitutes an almost archetypal practice, but on the other hand sound poetry also emerges from the very sources of recording technology by means of its use of electro-magnetics. As this collection of CDs (remastered under the supervision of Henri Chopin) reissuing the complete Revue OU records indicates, Chopin's most striking achievement was to consistently identify and publish the first major works of many of the most visionary transatlantic artists exploring the new recording technologies of the fifties, sixties and seventies. Far from attempting to establish any monodimensional 'movement', Chopin characteristically championed a wide variety of those poets, writers and composers whom he perceived to be 'in movement', and whom he subsequently applauds as 'Fabulous Independents'. Following an editorial logic of selectively eclectic inclusion, Chopin's OU records published an astonishing diversity of inter-generational and international experiments. These include intense electronic readings by William Burroughs and Brion Gysin; pioneering optophonetic works by the Dadaist Raoul Hausmann; 'crirhythms' and vocalic improvisations by François Dufrene and Gil J Wolman; fragmentary poems-partitions by Bernard Heidsieck; high-tech text-sound works by composers such as Ake Odell and Sten Hanson; electronic abstractions by Bengt Emil Johnson; phonetic poems by Mimmo Rotella; 'handy tech' performances on self-built electronic instruments by Hugh Davies; haunting tape-manipulations by Ladislav Novak; playful improvisations by Bob Cobbing with Anna Lockwood; dramatic monologues by Paul de Vree; electronic concrete music by Jacques Bekaert and — of course — Chopin's dynamic orchestrations of the body's 'factory' of corporeal sounds. Chopin's writings equally consistently championed the 'electronic language revolution' facilitated by what he describes as 'technological means which extend the human body', thereby inaugurating an enormous expansion of human expression. Many manifestos and theoretical texts, as well as original photos, have been published in a 70 page book which includes: an essay by Nicholas Zurbrugg titled 'Living with the Twentieth Century'; a detailed presentation of the contents of each issue of the Revue OU as well as an analysis by the author of the complete Chopin's audio poems published in OU; an essay by Chopin on the new medias titled 'Expressions and Techniques'; the famous Chopin's manifesto 'Open Letter to the Aphonic Musicians' issued in OU No.33 (1968) and its 'Sequel to Open Letter' published in 1982 on Zurbrugg's Stereo Headphones; Dufrene manifesto 'Pragmatic of Crirhythm'; 'Henri Chopin, a British Viewpoint' by Hugh Davies and a series of testimonies by William Burroughs, Sten Hanson, Jacques Bekaert, Jackson MacLow; Dick Higgins, John Giorno, Bob Cobbing, Paul de Vree, Larry Wendt and more. The LP-size boxset also include 30 fold-out black and white OU inserts (size cm.26x26, or cm.26x52, or cm.52x52) reproducing the original scores of the audio works featured on the 4 CDs (by Chopin, Heidsieck, de Vree, Davies, Cobbing, Bekaert) as well as graphic works by John Cage, Tom Phillips, Arriago Lora-Totino, Michel Seuphor, Ben Vautier, Stefan Themerson, Richard Orton, Pierre Albert-Birot. Also included is a 16 pages booklet with a critical text titled 'You've got to Laugh' and a full colour poster (size cm.52x52) 'for William Burroughs' both by Henri Chopin. First press of 1000 copies."

CHOPIN, HENRI: Revue OU 6LP (ALGA 045 LP). $105.00

"The same sound material included in the 4 CDs of the Revue OU boxset reissuing the complete OU records is also available in a limited vinyl edition. This edition includes 5 picture-discs reproducing the design conceived for the original OU record covers as well as graphic works by Chopin, Hausmann, Gysin, Odell, Rotella, de Vree and Cobbing. One extra LP features six previously unpublished sound poems by Henri Chopin from the OU period. This LP is: Henri Chopin The Body is a Sound Factory and is only available with the vinyl edition of OU. The six records are issued in an edition limited to 300 copies." Please note: the 70 page documentation book and the complete OU inserts presented in the 4CD boxset are NOT included in this edition, they are only available w/ the CDs.

PALESTINE, CHARLEMAGNE: In Mid-Air CD (ALGA 047). $15.00

"The first electronically generated sounds that Charlemagne Palestine ever heard came from the machines he encountered in ordinary daily urban life. Machines like the refrigerator electric motor, or electrical generators; but it was especially the sounds of motion (race cars, motorcycles, war planes, rocket ships) that first excited his sonic imagination as a young teenager. Then he heard the electronic music of Tod Dockstader, Pierre Henry and Pierre Schaeffer, the famous 'Podme Electronique' of Varese, Xenakis and 'Gesang der Junglinge' of Stockhausen. He immediately reacted buying a cheap reel to reel tape recorder, cutting and pasting recording tape and making collage sound experiments. Then, one day, Charlemagne Palestine experienced at an electronic music studio what electronically produced sounds waves looked and sounded like through an oscilloscope and he began studying Helmholtz's on the sensation of tone. He started dreaming of an expressive continuous ever-moving, everchanging sound form; an enormous sonorous, 3-dimensional sculptural canvas in mid-air using electronically produced sounds. The first experiments were done with simple sine tone generators emitting the purest sound waves without any overtones. With access to more complex systems the sound was constructed using the sine/sawtooth/square wave oscillators in a fluid everchanging mix of adding or filtering overtones and white noise to create sonorities constantly changing timbres and weight. Five early electronic compositions including 'Sine Tone Study' (1967); 'Open Closing' (1968), created through speed alterations of 'Holy 1+2'; 'Seven Organism Study' (1968); 'Negative Sound Study' (1969) and 'Timbral for Pran Nath' (1970). Late night electronic sonorities created on the Buchlas 100 & 200 systems available at the New York University Intermedia Centre. All compositions previously unreleased. 3-folded digipak cover with original photos and liner notes written by the composer."

ASHLEY, ROBERT: Wolfman CD (ALGA 048). $15.00

"This edition on compact disc introduces us to the most extreme experimental side of the famous American composer. The program starts with 'The Fox' (1957), the first electronic music work by Robert Ashley which already displays the future electronic music theatre style. Dark atmospheres and primitive tape collage techniques recorded at home, mixing the electronic tape and the voice in a single 'live' pass. The title track, 'The Wolfman', was composed in early 1964 and first performed on Charlotte Moorman's festival of the avant-garde in New York in the fall of the same year, gaining considerable reputation as a threat to the listener's health. For the occasion instigated by Feldman, Robert Ashley composed a piece of tape music, 'The Wolfman Tape', to be played along with the vocal performance of 'The Wolfman'. The idea of a tape composition, which is to come out of the same loudspeakers as the voice and the feedback (the main sound source for this composition), is to fill-in the ongoing performance sound and to transform the performance into an elaborate version of the 'drone' under the influence of electronics. The choice of what sounds should be on the tape is determined by the need to have the whole range of frequencies brought into the feedback, but to give those sounds a short duration in other words, a blizzard of very short sounds across the whole frequency range so that the illusion of the sounds coming from all parts of the room is preserved. For the performance of 'The Wolfman' recorded here, produced at the University of California at Davis, Robert Ashley used an earlier (1960) tape composition entitled 'The 4th of July'. That composition changes gradually from a parabolicmicrophone documentation of a backyard party into a layering of tape loops and tape-head feedback. 'The Wolfman Tape' (1964) is, as described above, a tape composition made for a short performance of 'The Wolfman'. It uses tape-speed manipulation and mixes of many layers of 'found' sounds, both from AM radio and from recordings made using different kinds of microphones. 'The Bottleman' was composed in 1960 as music for an experimental film by George Manupelli. The 40 minutes long version preterred here involves contact microphones on a surface that holds a loudspeaker some six feet away. The loudspeaker is broadcasting open-circuit 'hum' (at the American standard of approximately 60 hertz). That pitch is raised slightly through tape manipulation and the result is mixed with vocal sounds and other 'found' sounds played back at various tape speeds. All compositions previously unreleased. The digipak CD comes with a 12 pages booklet including liner notes written by the composer and the complete score of 'The Wolfman', first issued in Source magazine."

POUSSEUR, HENRI: Paysages Planétaires 3CD BOX (ALGA 051). $68.00

"In year 2000 Henri Pousseur was asked by Philippe Samyn, architect of Brussels who likes to work in association with other arts, to lend his support to the plan for the construction of a business complex by one of the most important building enterprises in the country. There were four low buildings arranged like different parts of a medieval castle-village, grouped around a kind of large open central court. Leaning on the suggested image, Pousseur immediately suggested that the first spinal-column be composed of an electronic carillon, sounding in variations every hour, thus making the hours between 6 a.m. and 10 p.m.

Henri Pousseur imagined then a connection between the time of Nivelles (a city 40 km south of Brussels, where this large project will be situated) and the time of the entire planet and the more or less metaphoric sonic and musical realities attached to it. He made on the one hand the 16 hours of a theoretically complete day of work (from the cleaning service up to the last researches in the office) correspond to the 24 hours of a complete terrestrial revolution. And divided the globe into eight large north/south 'slices', themselves divided into three perpendicular 'rings': north, center, south, with the understanding that only inhabited lands were taken into consideration. To each of the 8 'great hours' of the total duration, Pousseur associated 3 regions, one of each ring (north/center/south) set out as far apart as possible on the terrestrial globe.

Over a background of a fairly continuous variety of noises which are perpetually evolving: sea, fire, city, swamp, industry, forest, etc. there are ethno-musical samples from one region or from several regions involved, more or less worked over by all sorts of numerical methods which vary their capacity to be recognized and their effectiveness as quasi-traditional music. This work once finished (realised in the Studio of the composer's son Denis), Pousseur made a synthesis on three discs by superimposing the landscapes (a bit in the manner of the previous Etudes paraboliques) in 16 Paysages Planétaires. The titles of the landscapes expresses by their contraction the simultaneous or alternate presence of several regions; for example, 'Alaskamazonie' is self-explanatory. Something like 'Gamelan Celtibere' brings out a play; between the West Coast of Europe with the Indonesian archipelago and even the northern part of Australia. Continuing like this you could find it amusing to reconstruct the circum-planetary movement of the work.

Michel Butor, for forty years accomplice of Henri Pousseur, has been willing to write the prose-verse alternating poetic structure, very luminous, which makes a global accompaniment to the procession of these landscapes. His text is included in the 60 pages documentation booklet, also featuring 2 long essays by Henri Pousseur: 'Paysages Planétaires' and 'Atmospheric and Cultural Sources for Each of the Landscapes'.

Finally, by this work, Henri Pousseur renders homage to all the singers and instrumentalists, sound engineers, ethnic musicologists and editors who have either produced, or gathered and transmitted, all the marvellous musical invention which inspired and nourished the work and which, with the sounds of the world, of nature, of society and of industry, are supposed to represent a kind of formal summing-up of life's multiplicity on this sailing Earth as she travels through cosmic space.

All the images, obtained through extensive digital treatments, were conceived and manipulated by Henri Pousseur. Heavy cardboard slipcase with 3CDs and 60 page booklet."

TAZARTES, GHEDALIA: Diasporas/Tazartes CD (ALGA 053CD). $16.00

"More than 5 years after the CD edition of Eclipse totale de soleil and Transportes, Alga Marghen finally decided to also reissue the first and the forth LP by Ghedalia Tazartes including both on one CD. Ghedalia Tazartes is a nomad. He wanders through music from chant to rhythm, from one voice to another. He paves the way for the electric and the vocal paths, between the muezzin psalmody and the screaming of a rocker. He traces vague landscapes where the mitre of the white clown, the plumes of the sorcerer, the helmet of a cop and Parisian anhydride collide into polyphonic ceremonies. Don't become a black, an arab, a Tibetan monk, a jew, a woman or an animal but to feel all this stirring deep inside of you. The greatest trips are made in the deep end of the throat: the extra-European music open the ear to Ghedalia's intra-European exotism. Where was music before music halls? Where was the voice before it learned how to speak? Ghedalia is the orchestra and a pop group all in one person: the self is multitude and others. The author and his doubles work without a net, freely connecting the sounds, the rhythms, his voice, his voices. The permanent metamorphosis is a principle of composition, it escapes control, refuses classification. To hell with the technocrats of noise and the purists of synthetic culture. All art like all true mythology use a double clavier, playing nature and culture, feeling and the distance of the flesh, death. Off limits!"

PALESTINE, CHARLEMAGNE: Charlemagne at Sonabend 2CD (C@S 2001). $42.00

"First time available 2CD set of the Charlemagne Palestine performances at Sonabend Gallery, New York City, 2001. Privately issued by the composer and exclusively distributed by Alga Marghen. The first contact between Charlemagne Palestine and the Sonabends took place in Paris with Simone Forti. It was 1972 and collaboration immediately started. Soon after Charlemagne created a sound installation at their gallery on rue mazarine in Paris and then, when they decided to move to West Broadway Soho and leave Paris, they asked the composer to inaugurate their new Soho address by creating a double disk, '4 manifestations on 6 elements'. The Sonabends organised several concerts and installations with Charlemagne until the middle seventies. Some time after the composer gave up performances and his sculpture was presented more in Europe than America. At the end of the nineties a new meeting happened and the Sonabends announced that they had decided to leave Soho for a bigger space in Chelsea and proposed again for Charlemagne Palestine to create a disk. This time it was agreed to record a series of performances done directly in their new space on 22nd street and so Charlemagne at Sonabend was born. The 2 disks comprise a private performance recorded at their gallery 2 days before the concerts on a Sunday (which is disk one) and the second disk comprises the 2 live performances recorded on the following Tuesday and Wednesday middle of September 2000. All the performances are played on a Bosendorfer Imperial piano."

CASTILLEJO, JOSE LUIS: TLALAATLA BOOK+CDR (MARGHEN 11). $50.00

"Alga Marghen proudly present TLALAATLA the new editorial creation of José Luis

One is immediately reminded of Chain Reaction artists, only it may be far more enjoyable for those that find a lot of that imprint's style to housey much of the time. Jirku is working solely with computers, giving his overall sound a very rich and modern sound with a lot of punch."

MONSTRE: *Sucre 3 CD (ALIEN 24). $9.00

"The recording is constructed mainly with voice-based sounds, processed, looped, treated as well as various toy instruments, primitive drum machines and samplers. We will refer to Monstre's sound as 'harsh pop'. In this respect it may remind some people of the beautiful music of Slap Happy Humphrey, a supergroup fronted by Alchemy/Hijokaiden's Jojo Hiroshige. We are talking about an artist who is making pop under influence of folks like Demetrio Stratos, vocalist of Italy's 70s avant-garde group Area that also featured Walter Marchetti. Monstre is also influenced by the likes of Robert Ashley, Henri Chopin and more current sound artists as well."

MIGONE, CHRISTOF: *Quieting CD (ALIEN 25). $12.00

"The fourth solo recording from conceptual sound artist Christof Migone. Quieting is a fine example of the artist's ability to pay attention to minute detail. The record runs just over 40 minutes and features 18 different tracks that play in and out of each other in a similar vein to Ryoji Ikeda's ± CD. Sounds on the recording range from pulsing electro glitch popularized by the likes of Pan sonic, Rehberg & Bauer and Migone's own duo Undo with Alexandre St-Onge. It features field recordings and experimentation with periods of silence, reminiscent of projects by folks like Brandon LaBelle, Steve Roden, Achim Wollscheid and Tokyo's WRK collective of Minoru Sato, Atsushi Tominaga and Toshiya Tsunoda."

BRUME AND ARTIFICIAL MEMORY TRACE: *1st Encounter CD (ALIEN 26). $13.00

"Finally we are able to bring to light an electroacoustic masterpiece which unites the talents of France's Christof Renou [Brume] and Belgium's Slavik Kwi [AMT]. Each artist has constructed and deconstructed the other's original material, and through this process they have created beautiful fluid collaborations. 1st Encounter was completed in 1996 and is part of an ongoing series of releases by Artificial Memory Trace. The sound on this particular installment is as one would expect given the backgrounds of the two artists: a mixture of electro-acoustic and concrete sounds."

HAINO, KEIJI: *Abandon All Words At A Stroke, So That Prayer Can Come Spilling 2CD (ALIEN 27). $17.00

"We are very pleased to announce two new recordings by Keiji Haino, focusing on hurdy-gurdy and wave drum. Continuing in the vein of our previous release with Haino (the 66 minute drone So, Black is Myself) this double CD remains very dark and very ambient for the most part. Each disc features one long piece using one of the two different instruments and each is individually titled. The main title as well as the individual track titles perhaps give the best insight into the mind of this enigmatic performer and the message he is trying to convey. Keiji Haino is easily one of the most exciting live performers of our time, exuding a passion and an intensity rarely matched. Disc 1 is a solo piece for hurdy-gurdy and is an absolute gem. It is among the most gentle and beautiful pieces of work we have been graced with by His Darkness. At times comparable with elements of the Affection recording that came out PSF in the early nineties and like disc two recalls the work of Nijjumu, another project of Haino. Disc 2 starts off really quiet with metallic resonance, slices of treated voice fragments and loops of feedback. It continues with rattling and bursts of vocal shrieks, with periods of absolute silence shattered by jarring belches of sound. Out in anyone's Keiji Haino collection. This is certainly one of Keiji Haino's most psychedelic sounding solo releases, at times reminiscent of early works by Amon Duul's Psychedelice Underground and Experimente recordings and at times it recalls some of the work by pioneering psychedelic ensembles from Japan such as Kawabata Makoto's Acid Mothers Temple, East Bionic Symphonia and Taj Mahal Travellers."

KRISTIAN, SHALABI, ST-ONGE: *Trio Recordings (Self-titled) CD (ALIEN 28). $12.00

"Alien8 Recordings is releasing the studio recordings from the trio of David Kristian on EMS VCS-3 synthesizer, Sam Shalabi on guitar and oud, and Alexandre St-Onge on upright bass. The sound of these three musicians is a mixture of electronics with bowed bass and prepared guitar and oud. The results are quite impressive. Many may consider it unlikely that such a combination of instruments could successfully blend into something interesting and enjoyable. However, a precedent may have been set by projects like Otomo Yoshihide's I.S.O. and his Cathode release, not to mention a number of Europeans who are blending electronics with their free jazz and avant-garde music, to an extent not yet seen here in North America. The trio presents a rather unique sound and the instruments blend beautifully together. At times it is reminiscent of Euro improvisers such as Polweschel [2]; a gentler Konk Pack or AMM come to mind."

SHALABI, SAM: *On Hashish CD (ALIEN 29). $13.00

"On Hashish is dedicated to German historian Walter Benjamin and highlights Shalabi's compositional skills. Here he has enlisted the help of a dozen musicians from the local scene, recorded them at the Hotel 2 Tango, then spliced and diced their playing and shaped it into his own compositions. The sound here is comparable in some respects to the sounds of legendary euro-improv super group AMM. The first track is long piece that weaves piano, bowed bass, flutes, percussion, distorted voice samples and other sounds. The piece moves along quite smoothly until the eleven minute mark, when the piece takes a psychedelic twist, due to the bizarre tape splicing of flutes. The second track is a much shorter piece at 5:41, a chaotic symphony of sorts that brings to mind some of Hermann Nitsch's orchestral actions. The third and final track weaves field recordings of various forms of static with sparse piano."

SET FIRE TO FLAMES: *Sings Reigns Rebuilder CD (ALIEN 30 CD). $12.00

"Set Fire to Flames are a collective of thirteen musicians from the musical community of Montreal (including multiple members of Exhaust, Fly Pan Am, godspeed you black emperor!, Hanged Up, HRSTA, undo and more). There is no doubt that Set Fire to Flames bears some resemblance to the projects of its contributing members, but the band is incredibly unique at the same time. Brooding and beautiful, haunted and haunting, Sings Reigns Rebuilder is so stunningly/lovingly played and skillfully assembled, infused throughout with a massive sense of slow-burning tension and periods of weighty, rousing release — sweeping everything along with it. Packaged in beautiful full-colour gatefold heavy paper jacket, including 24 page booklet."

LOPEZ, FRANCISCO: *Untitled #123 CD (ALIEN 31). $14.00

"This latest outing by Spain's most prolific experimental artist was prepared with sounds recorded in Grain Silo #5, in Montreal, Quebec. Last year the experimental duo known as [the user] began the Silophone project, transforming an abandoned grain silo into a gigantic instrument. Untitled #123 starts off with a minute of silence, forcing the listener to pay close attention, like on many of Lopez' recordings. Incredibly subtle changes and fluctuations in volume and body begin to take place. The piece begins to display the Silophone sounds more clearly at the 10-minute mark, dark metallic resonance that feels strangely gothic. This continues until sharp piercing slices of mechanical sounds cut in and out of the piece every few seconds (imagine being subjected to giant blasts of machinery). This continues until the 19-minute mark where all audible sounds dissolve and all that is left is some of the most demanding low-end ambience one is likely to experience."

TANAKH: *Villa Claustrophobia CD (ALIEN 33 CD). $12.00

"Tanakh is a layering of sound and structure that combines songwriting sensibility and improvisational abstractions that are as thick and rich as they are minimalist. These two seemingly opposed forms fluidly combine to forge dark sweet lulling gypsy melodies dug from middle-eastern sands that have been knuckled across Appalachian washboards that shadow the city in which they live. Villa Claustrophobia marks the debut of this new project and features an all-star ensemble including Mic Turner (Dirty Three), Jessica Billey (Lofty Pillars), David Lowery (Cracker), Ned Oldham (Palace) and Nirmal Bajekal (Ravi Shankar's band) amongst others. Between them they bring vocals, violin, viola, cello, bass, percussion, electric and acoustic guitars, flugel horn, trumpet, clarinet, and various ethnic and home made instruments to the recording."

TANAKH: *Villa Claustrophobia LP (ALIEN 33 LP). $14.00

LP version; comes with a bonus CD with six extra cuts (five of which are only available to those who purchase the LP)

ACID MOTHERS TEMPLE: *Electric Heavy Land CD (ALIEN 34). $14.00

"Electric Heavy Land is one of the most over the top releases to come out of the Temple so far, and is perhaps Kawabata Makoto's heaviest groove-oriented material since the classic Mainliner debut Mellow Out. The recording is made of three tracks that at times will have listeners reminiscing over the likes of early Mudhoney and Monster Magnet's Spine of God era sound. It's the one of the catchiest records from the incredibly prolific psych unit in recent times and can be best compared to the heavier tracks on Absolutely Freak Out Zap Your Mind the bordering-on-metal sound the band often seems to take on in live situations."

LOPEZ, FRANCISCO: *Addy En El Pais de Las Frutas y Los Chunches CD (ALIEN 35). $14.00

"Addy en el país de las frutas y los chunches was originally released in an edition of 500 copies on the ND label in 1997. This release is most comparable to efforts that centered more on the environmental aspects of artist's work and is somewhat comparable to releases such as La Selva and Untitled Music for Geography. Addy was the first American release by Lopez and to this day remains the artist's favorite release. The sound world created and captured by Francisco Lopez on this recording is absolutely incredible, a beautifully horrifying listening experience. This could very possibly be one of the most important ambient records of the last 10 years and truly reinvents the concept of field recordings. Addy could easily serve as some of the most effective soundtrack music ever. This recording transcends mundane aural experiences. The listener will recognize many sounds but will have never quite heard them like this. It is environmental music without even the slightest influence of New Age. Far from it, it is closer to massive drone music or even at times dark-ambient."

MENCHE, DANIEL: *Beautiful Blood CD (ALIEN 36). $13.00

"The sound on this recording is what one might expect — insanely powerful drone based music composed of the richly layered sounds of different instruments and field recordings, allowing the listener to pick up on new sounds and subtleties with every listen. This is incredibly unusual music that takes influence from both ambient and noise circles and blends the two to fantastic results. The final product is a very unique style of drone music that has incredibly rich and powerful sound. This work can be compared to works and stylistic approaches taken by the likes of Francisco Lopez, Phil Niblock and Hermann Nitsch, in terms of their use of layering massive drones to create portions of their work."

SHALABI, SAM: *Osama CD (ALIEN 37). $13.00

"... 'protest music about arabophobia in a Post 9-11 World'. Musically, Osama takes quite a leap from the territories occupied by Shalabi's last solo outing, Hashish, comprised of field recordings, tape music and improv sewn together to fantastic results. Osama features contributions from over thirty Montreal musicians and takes a straight-ahead hard rock, psyche and pop approach, but still utilizes many improv and experimental techniques. The recording's closing and golden moment is the incredibly beautiful seventeen minute epic, 'Guantanamo Bay', which begins with an eerie similarity to Soft Bulletin-era Flaming Lips. Once again the blissful pop elements fade and dissolve into layers of sound. This track builds into an incredible crescendo driven by static, brushes, crackles, noise and the distant sound of muffled epic soundtrack music."

MERZBOW: *Animal Magnetism CD (ALIEN 38). $14.00

"On this latest release Akita blends his passion for guitars and more rhythmic elements of progressive rock, metal and his love for animals, even bringing to life the sounds of his very own pet chickens to mind bending results. It is truly incredible when the chickens appear amidst dense layers of ambient noise and actually add the percussive elements to the piece. Aside from the title track, pieces like 'Super Sheep' continue with the animal theme and add a sense of humor to the music. While a lot of people have criticized Akita for not changing his sound and style, this charge is completely false. Over the last few years, since moving away from his custom-made instruments and concentrating much more on laptop as his main instrument, Akita has come up with some of his best recordings."

SET FIRE TO FLAMES: *Telegraphs In Negative/Mouths Trapped In Static 2CD (ALIEN 39). $17.00

"A haunted, intense and highly diverse collection of material. Continuously shifting off at tangents, its slow sprawl creeps from heartbreaking guitar melodies to sparse string compositions; concrete flickerings and modified machine-crunch to tranced-out kraut-ish rhythm-pieces; cyclical minimalism to awe-filled drone-spaces; free-flowing improvised skitter and spark to raw location/life recordings. Beautifully played and composed, and far more than merely a follow-up, Telegraphs... sees set fire to flames pushing beyond the gains made on that previous effort and forging an increasingly autonomous space for the group. The results achieved on this release are jaw dropping at times, putting this project on par with best of folks working within similar areas. Merely comparing this group to other instrumental, ambient projects would be unfair and dishonest. It goes far beyond the average meanderings of the post-rock genre, exhibiting great influence from the minimalist movement, contemporary classical and tape music."

SET FIRE TO FLAMES: *Telegraphs In Negative/Mouths Trapped In Static 2LP (ALIEN 39 LP). $19.00

Double LP version.

SOFT CANYON: *Broken Spirit, I Will Mend Your Wings CD (ALIEN 40 CD). $13.00

"The band takes cues from across the music spectrum, but unlike many of the rock bands to achieve success recently they shape their sound into something fresh and personal. Soft Canyon borrows heavily from the Laurel Canyon sound that spawned the likes of producer, arranger and musician Jack Nietzsche as well as absurdist popster Van Dyke Parks, not to mention the great influence it had on Arthur Lee's Love and former Canadian Neil Young. This is most evident on the anthem-style track 'Hope's Great Divide,' a track that is extremely catchy and chock-full of studio trickery that will have the listener thinking it must be one of those lost gems from the 70s. Soft Canyon layers the sound of two or three guitars and keyboards with incredible depth in the vocal department and a drum sound that recalls the studio wizardry of Phil Spector. The band also blends heavy influences of Pink Floyd's Atom Heart Mother era with early Grateful Dead and Allman Brothers, but without falling into the trap of ripping off or rehashing the same old sounds. In this respect they are comparable to Royal Trux or Acid Mothers Temple in the sense that they are paying homage to their influences but still changing the face of rock at the same time."

SOFT CANYON: Broken Spirit, I Will Mend Your Wings LP (ALIEN 40 LP). $13.00
LP version.

UNICORNS, THE: Who Will Cut Our Hair When We're Gone? CD (ALIEN 41 CD). $13.00
"Having blossomed in Montreal, Quebec, the Unicorns have packed their things and are heading to all the roads in all the world for an unforeseeable amount of time, backing up their reputation as being Canada's most promising new band, and planet Earth's next big thing. FACT: The Unicorns have a gift for blending a morbid sense of humour with irresistible pop melodies caked with beautiful vocals employing thoughtful, near-sacred lyrics. FACT: The Unicorns don't push the envelope, these assholes sign, seal and deliver their work to the north, south, east and west, in limited edition holographic 3-D. Who Will Cut Our Hair When We're Gone? features thirteen tracks deeply rooted in careful songwriting and lo-fi pop experimentalism."

UNICORNS, THE: Who Will Cut Our Hair When We're Gone LP (ALIEN 41LP). $13.00

"Indie breakout hit of '04, color jacket & innersleeve, non-stop touring, if only Pavement were a trio, from Canada, wore pink on stage, and weren't named Rush...they'd still have a hard time competing w/ The Unicorns."

SHALABI EFFECT: Pink Abyss CD (ALIEN 42 CD). $13.00

"Shalabi Effect refer their latest effort, Pink Abyss, as their 'pop record' — an apt description in comparison to their two previous releases. While Pink Abyss retains elements of those efforts, there is decidedly more emphasis placed on melody on this release, with more use of vocals and more prominence given to the guitar. Without a doubt, it is Shalabi Effect's most rocking effort thus far, featuring impeccable musicianship and a brilliant and powerful recording quality that will blow away the band's loyal following. Some highlights on Pink Abyss include 'Bright Guilty World' (track 2), which features beautifully seductive vocal work of Elizabeth Anka Vajagic who will be releasing a long-awaited solo record on Constellation early next year. This piece moves along gently at a slow patter, with an unusual combination of cracked electronics, guitar and jazz-styled percussion giving it a very cinematic feel. The somber chanting on 'I Believe in Love' (track 5) lends a deep eeriness to the piece, also bearing a certain resemblance to the outsider folk that is booming in the United States of late. Another absolute gem is the über-poppy 'Blue Sunshine' (track 4), featuring a beautiful guest appearance from Charles Spearin of Broken Social Scene and Do Make Say Think on trumpet. This track recalls the over-the-top sensibility that seems to have informed many seventies TV show theme songs or the hits of Burt Bacharach. The closing piece, 'The Kinder Surprise', has a very gentle, ambient feel and could blend in on a release from the Boards of Canada or Mogwai."

TANAKH: Dieu Deuil CD (ALIEN 43 CD). $13.00

"Tanakh's newest record, Dieu Deuil, commands a nautical embrace of wet boots and November days filled with rain. It sings stories of loss, hope, and transcendence amidst the swirling cyclone of mundaneness. Dieu Deuil, which takes its name from the architecture of Daniel Libeskind, successfully integrates improvisation and song writing, and communicates an interior intimacy, which previously was only hinted at in the drifting exterior world of 'Villa Claustrophobia'. Dieu Deuil is a small warm café in the cavernous arcades of 'Villa Claustrophobia', where the air is moist with smoky teas and steam hoarfrosts the windows. 'Dieu Deuil' maintains the outer-national feel of 'Villa Claustrophobia' but focuses less on a pneumatic exotica and more on a rich interior journey that communicates the warmth of human touch and the frigid burn that such contact can leave when it is taken away. Dieu Deuil captures a particular gentleness of the 70s-era folk psychedelia inspired by the likes of John Martyn, Tim Buckley, Fairport Convention and Pentangle, both in its inventive orchestration and in its vocally charged delivery."

ACID MOTHERS TEMPLE: Mantra of Love CD (ALIEN 44CD). $14.00

"Mantra Of Love is destined to be a classic release in the expanding catalog of one of today's most exciting psychedelic ensembles. It is beautifully recorded, featuring AMT's cleanest production to date. Cotton Casino's vocals are captured fabulously, rivaling the Univers Zen ou de Zere a Zero release on France's Fractal label. The recording is composed of two tracks. 'La Le Lo', a traditional Occitan piece, is somewhat similar to the classic La Novia release. It is largely based around the melodic vocals of Cotton Casino. Halfway through the track, speed guru Kawabata Makoto lets the thunder roll, giving the feeling of an entirely new song until it becomes melodic again toward the end. Mantra Of Love is the perfect release for those who enjoy the more melodic, droned out hippy elements of Acid Temple Mothers but also want the piece to let loose from time to time."

LES GEORGES LENINGRAD: Deux Hot Dogs Moutarde Chou CD (ALIEN 45CD). $14.00

"The reissue of Deux Hot Dogs Moutarde Chou from Montreal's most notorious post punks, Les Georges Leningrad. Hailing from one of the most fertile scenes in North America, Les Georges Leningrad's completely over the top stage show and totally unique sound has made them one of the city's most beloved bands. The Alien8 edition of Deux Hot Dogs Moutarde Chou has been remastered & repackaged. Also exclusive to this release is a bonus track not included on the original release. The sound captured by this band is an indescribable mix of demented electro/noise/post/punk augmented by their own invented language."

MOLASSES: Trouble At Jinx Hotel CD (ALIEN 46CD). $13.00

"The fourth album from the sprawling Montréal ensemble, Molasses. This inspired example of the group's utterly original music displays the raw, world weary voice of old Americana, the freedom of improvisation and experiment, the spiritually charged atmosphere of church music, and the adventure of the avant-garde... all swirling around the musings of singer/songwriter Scott Chernoff, whose poetic confessionals have been compared to illustrious songwriters like Leonard Cohen, Tom Waits, Nick Cave and Will Oldham. Molasses is music for guitars, strings, banjo, oud, percussion, piano, organ, harmonium, singing saws and voice. Trouble At Jinx Hotel is thirteen titles and ten tracks from some of North American underground music's brightest lights, featuring members of the Shalabi Effect, set fire to flames, GY!BE, Codeine, Come, Boxhead Ensemble and the Bonnie 'Prince' Billy band."

MOLASSES: You'll Never Be Well No More CD (ALIEN FANCY1). $14.00

Repressed, with redesigned jacket and booklet. Technically a self-issued CD on the group's own Fancy label, distributed via Alien 8. "Dubbed folk actuelle — a genre fusing traditional North American folk aesthetics with the free ethos of musique actuelle. Molasses' influences include electro-acoustics, rural country & blues, hobo composition, contemporary noise, trash punk, abstract jazz and street poetry. But for everything that informs it, the music is a unique and unusual invention from a group of musicians at the vanguard of underground music in Montréal."

HRSTA: L'éclat du ciel était insoutenable CD (ALIEN FANCY3). $14.00

Repressed. "Hrsta (pronounced 'hursh-tah') is Mike Moya, founding member of both Godspeed You Black Emperor and Molasses, as well as a member of Set Fire to Flames and the Lonesome Hanks. This scintillating release, infused with endless waves of psilocybin pathos, does little to enlighten listeners confronted with the mystery that has enshrouded the name Moya, once thought to be a wayward rail-hopping tomcat. It does, instead, compound the intrigue with layers of hypnotic drones, haunting melodies, beautiful vocals, and streams of bewildering lyrics. Essentially a solo effort with Moya providing guitar, tape loops, organ, bowed desk, melodica, kazoo, and vocals; this release also features guest performances from Bruce Cawdron (godspeed you black emperor/set fire to flames) on drums, bowed cymbals, and idiophones; Norsola Johnson (godspeed you black emperor/molasses) on cello; Scott Chernoff (molasses) on acoustic guitar; and Fluffy Erskine (molasses) on saw, and bowed cymbals."

MOLASSES: A Slow Messe 2CD (ALIEN FANCY5). $17.00

"The album, featuring a slew of honorary members and distinguished guests, is a remarkable and ambitious accomplishment, full of the delicate ballads, explosive improvisations, swirling drones and orchestrated minimalism that have helped earn Molasses its cult following. The band continues to chart vast sonic territory with utter originality; and the band's exquisite energy is everywhere on A Slow Messe: From trademark folk-noir ballads to clanging, chaotic funeral dirges; from lushly subtle love songs to cryptic, off-kilter pop songs. There are Siren choirs and haunting eulogies, little lullabies and spooky blues ruminations."

ALL SAINTS RECORDS (UK):

ROEDELIOUS: Aquarello CD (ASCD 35). $16.00

A new album by the Kluster/Cluster/Harmonia founder. A trio grouping led by Roedelius (piano/keyboards/samples/voice), with Nicola Alesini (soprano/alto sax, effects) and Fabio Capanni (e-bow, treatments). Relatively smooth in Roedelius' contemporary style, but with that intriguing emotional depth that he constantly brings forth to the music he releases. Lo-key, relaxed, with late-nite perspectives.

ALL TOMORROWS PARTIES (UK):

BARDO POND: On The Ellipse 2LP (ATP 006 LP). $17.50

UK-only double vinyl version of their latest album. "Their 6th album, which sounds like a heavy mix of Sabbath riffs blended with the folk beauty of Led Zep III."

VA: All Tomorrows Parties 1.0 CD (ATPR CD). $15.00

"Now in its second year, a unique event in its own right ATP is curated by Tortoise and Foundation and this compilation is being released to coincide with the sold out event next month that features exclusive performances from Television (original Marquee Moon lineup), Lambchop, Boards Of Canada, Sun Ra Arkestra featuring Marshall Allen and also ESG. The successful indie weekender has encouraged artists to contribute rare and exclusive tracks from the likes of Autechre, Boards Of Canada, Broadcast, Yo La Tengo and Calexico as well as deleted material from curators Tortoise and The Sea and Cake." Tracklisting (all previously unreleased except as noted): The Sea and Cake: "Bird and Flag" (deleted 7" remix by Bundy K Brown), Prefuse 73: "Shitslime Garbage Can vs My Mpc", Broadcast: "DDL", Calexico: "Piker Sam", Yo La Tengo: "Our way To Fall" (Live track with OtherDimensions in Music), Rick Rizzo and Tara Key: "Sinfo", Black Heart Procession: "Waterfront (the Sinking Road)", Tortoise: "Cliff Dweller Society" (deleted Duophonic 7" track, first time on CD), Mike Ladd: "I seen what you say", Boards Of Canada: "In a Beautiful Place out in the Country" (unreleased edit), Atmosphere: "If I was Santa Claus", Cannibal Ox featuring El-P: "Ridiculous", Autechre: "All Tomorrow's Lineoleum", Russell Haswell: "Maquette Augmentation". Featuring live, exclusive, rare, edited, unedited and/or unreleased tracks from certain acts who appeared at a certain Tortoise-curated festival that took place during the early days of April 2001 at Camber Sands Holiday Centre, East Sussex UK. Features The Sea & Cake (A Bundy Brown remix), Prefuse 73, Broadcast, Calexico, Yo La Tengo (Live track with Other Dimensions in Music, recorded at Irving Plaza), Rick Rizzo & Tara Key, Black Heart Procession, Tortoise (the B-side to their o/p Gamera single on Duophonic), Mike Ladd, Boards of Canada (exclusive edit of 'Beautiful Place out in the Country'), Atmosphere, Cannibal Ox feat. El-P, Autechre (cheeky abstract number entitled 'All Tomorrow's Lineoleum'), Russell Haswell. Excellent selection, fairly representative of current direction(s) in the sound of all involved acts.

ALLQUESTIONS (ITALY):

DUNCAN & FRANCISCO LOPEZ, JOHN: NAV 2CD (AQ 02). $32.00

"NAV-FLEX" by John Duncan using sources from Francisco López and John Duncan. 'NAV-gate' by Francisco López using sources from John Duncan and Francisco López. 2x CD in 2-panel digipak cover. CD only. Total time: 135 minutes. Released in an edition of 1000 with CDs mounted in clear trays."

ZEITKRATZER: Fresh CD (AQ 03). $15.00

"Performed by Zeitkratzer. Composed and conducted by John Duncan. Zeitkratzer has recently performed works by Masami Akita, Zbigniew Karkowski, Christina Kubisch, Francisco López, Phill Niblock, Lou Reed, Elliott Sharp, James Tenney, including feature concerts in Venice, Italy, of Metal Machine Music. The self-exiled American John Duncan, a composer himself, though he does not work with notated music, is more familiar to particle accelerators, short waves, static and electronic phenomena. zeitkratzer specialises in extended techniques, contemporary composition, and defiantly works with post industrial, lower case electronics and noise artists. Fresh is an organic version of two previously issued electronic pieces composed and conducted by John Duncan, moving to the heart of the sound acoustic instruments can produce, a changing approach to composition and a new way to react to electronic based music."

DUNCAN, JOHN: Phantom Broadcast CD (AQ 04). $19.00

"Phantom Broadcast is composed entirely from shortwave sources recorded at Scrutto. All processing, mixing and mastering was completed in a single day." A six-channel solo concert, premiered at Fylkingen, Stockholm, on 9/20/02.

DUNCAN, JOHN: Infrasound - Tidal CD (AQ 05). $19.00

"In 1998, Densil Cabrera made several infrasound recordings he'd made and collected: barometric measurements, seismic data, tidal readings from various points on the coasts of Australia. Infrasound - Tidal focuses on these sources, transforming them from dry research material into a rich and unique listening experience."

DUNCAN AND ELLIOTT SHARP, JOHN: Tongue CD (AQ 06). $19.00

Voice; Shortwave. CD in special heavy paper cover; Photos by Giuliana Stefani. "John Duncan and Elliott Sharp together, with voice recordings by both artists in an elegantly stripped-down series of experiments that take them, and the listener, into unexpected and rewarding new territory."

ALLUVIAL RECORDINGS:

SCHAEFER, JANEK: Weather Report CD (ALL 017 CD). $14.00

"Janek has created a very specific sound portrait which has a musical quality to it, but is not a musical work. Whether intentional or not, this work reflects kindly on the days of the early musique concrete of Pierre Schaeffer and Rune Lindblad." "My initial ideas were to create and collect new sounds that were related to the concept of weather in the broadest sense, to document and research weather in the media, and to float recording equipment up on weather balloons in various ways. These processes were integral as my focus was on sound associated with the weather, in preference to pristine recordings of the weather first hand. I let the recordings speak for themselves, no effects, no eq, just straight cut & splice collage where you can hear the edges of time. Some other sounds collected include: underwater ice skaters; flapping; old meteorological kit; leaf blowers; repairing weather damage; various 60's archive audio; melting ice, ski across snow, Minnesota forecasts on radio, in the car and on TV; Tornado chasing & test equipment; snow flakes landing on mic; squeaky tree; National Weather Service balloon launch; walkie talkie tones from my Science Museum workshop etc. Oh, and all temperatures in Fahrenheit. The result is a highly compressed Found Sound story, heard as a drifting voicemail message from the weather balloon. A hybrid documentary collected and edited outdoors, where it is designed to be heard while walking with headphones...so... go find a Walkman! — Janek Schaefer.

DAUBY, YANNICK: La Rivière Penchée LP (ALL 018LP). $21.00

"Yannick may be best known for his collaborative work with mortham and Thomas Köner. La rivière penchée is located near his home in Lyon. From what he has told me, there is a rock shelter-like structure on one of the banks of the river where he decided to collect these recordings. We have the pleasure of hearing richly textural compositions made up of recordings taken at the rivers' banks, the manipulation of found objects, and some electronic elements. As one might expect, the record reflects a snapshot of a place — running water, stones, soil, metallic timbres, wind, rain, and even bats — all electronically altered so the sounds become something recognizable, but different. He has woven these sounds together into six pieces that span about 40 minutes. For some reason, we felt that the music found here is best suited for vinyl. Perhaps it is the organic quality of what Yannick does. Strictly limited edition to 280 copies."

ALM (JAPAN):

RZEWSKI, FREDERIC: The People United Will Never Be Defeated CD (ALM 19). $10.00
Solo new music piano work performed by Yuji Takahashi. 36 variations on !El Pueblo Unido Jamas Sera Vencido! by Sergio Ortega and Quilapa Yun. Last copies, reduced price.

ALOLA (UK):

WATSON, VINCE: Biologique CD (ALOLA 004 CD). $10.00

"Glaswegian DJ/producer Vince Watson, formerly on Dave Angel's Rotation label, brings us his new album for Omid/16B's Alola label. Biologique will catch the attention of those with a penchant for lush jazz infused melodies and a techno bassline. Cultured keys and tingling hi hats meet up for a spin." Last copies, reduced price.

ALPHAPHONICS:

EDWARDS, MARC: Time & Space Vol. 1 CD (ALPHA 2). $12.00

2nd self-produced release by this legendary drummer well known for his previous associations with Cecil Taylor and David Ware.

AMBIANCES MAGNETIQUES (CANADA):

TETREAULT/RENE LUSSIER/MICHEL F. COTE, MARTIN: Des Pas et Det Mois CD (AM 017). $14.00

New pressing available of this debut album from 1990. "Martin Tétreault is not a standard musician: his instruments are turntables. Specialist of reduction and trafficking, he has been fascinated by vinyl for several years: cutting up, scratching, scraping and even sanding the grooves. He will even go as far as ironing his victims to extract unheard sonorities! His first album, Des Pas et des mois has been conceived with the company of René Lussier, Michel F. Côté, Jean Derome and Robert M. Lepage. Unwoven rhythms twisted steps and social danse: Martin Tétreault plays like a mad scientist at mixing genres, creating a narrative music with record samplings and his carefully dosed feed back. Audacious, different, new, this music is related to rock by its humorous energy, and touches the inner rhythms of the modern world."

GUILBEAULT, NORMAND: Riel, Plaidoyer Musical/Musical Plea 2CD (AM 073). $17.00

"On the eve of the 114th anniversary of the hanging of the Franco-Manitoban Métis leader Louis RIEL in Regina on 16 November 1885, double bass player Normand Guilbeault is launching this 2CD work. The result of four years of diligent research, Riel... sheds new light on one of the little-known and most controversial episodes in Canadian history. Guilbeault and his large group of outstanding musicians invite us to discover a historical and musical epic set on the Manitoban frontier. Original compositions, native chants, gigue, reels, songs of the period, military marches and improvisation are woven to create the fabric of a vibrant work that combines politics and poetry. Music, chants, political texts and poetry surprise, delight and assert without compromise."

EVIDENCE: Live à la Casa: Musique de Thelonious Monk CD (AM 082). $14.00

"Live à la Casa is the second record of Evidence, a Montreal based trio devoted since 1985 to the music of Thelonious Monk — one of the greatest composers in the history of jazz. Pierre Cartier (basse électrique), Jean Derome (saxophone alto), Pierre Tanguay (batterie)."

LABROSSE & MARTIN TETREAULT, DIANE: Parasites CD (AM 096). $14.00

Dianne Labrosse: échantillonneur, Martin Tétreault: tourne disques. "This improv duo creates a new generation of Parasites! Labrosse has given up referential phrases and works only with abstract elements while Tétreault has abandoned the use of LP's and turned to the turntable's intrinsic sound potential."

TETREAULT/OTOMO YOSHIHIDE, MARTIN: Studio-Analogique-Numérique 3 x 3" CDs (AM 111). $14.00

Triple 3" CD set, packaged in a little jewelry-style box. "An initial, 'Studio' encounter, recorded live, makes up CD1. Then both artists went to work to reprocess raw material not used on CD1. Tétreault used obsolete tape recorders to create an analogue remix: 'Analogique' CD2. Yoshihide used an ultramodern computer to generate a digital reconstruction: 'Numérique' CD3. Martin Tétreault: tourne-disques, électroniques, magnétophones à bande, Otomo Yoshihide: tourne-disques, électroniques."

BAILEY/ANTOINE BERTHIAUME/FRED FRITH, DEREK: Soshin CD (AM 113). $14.00

"Conversations with two masters of modern guitar. This recording brings a pilgrimage that is sourced from two of improvisation innovators, in which young guitarist Antoine Berthiaume uncovers many assets. Derek Bailey: guitare, Antoine Berthiaume: guitare, Fred Frith: guitare."

AMBIENT WORLD/FAX (GERMANY):

NAMLOOK & KLAUS SCHULZE, PETE: The Dark Side of the Moog 4 CD (AW 011). $16.00

"It seems that Klaus Schulze and Pete Namlook are addicted to this project and also to collaborate with each other. Already the fourth product in this series within a bit more than one year. This time even more special as an additional brain joined them to produce the ideas for this music. Bill Laswell, Klaus Schulze and Pete Namlook get together to form the real mastermind-trio. Spacy, deep and moving but still different to The Dark Side of the Moog 1, 2 and 3 plus the typical and amazing Bill Laswell bass treatments. Three sources — one direction..."

NAMLOOK/KLAUS SCHULZE/BILL LASWELL, PETE: The Dark Side of the Moog 5 CD (AW 015). $16.00

"This time Robert A. Moog himself opens this piece with the words '... I would like to present to you The Dark Side of the Moog.' Wide parts have been conceived by the sounds of his inventions... most monumental and deeply moving tones... The collaboration between the three musicians you find on this CD combine the styles of Space Music, Electronic and Dub/Ambient to an irresistible cosmos of sound. It seems as if three masters of their art combined their forces to show their very strengths in music... Klaus for the inimitable chords and sequences, Bill for excellent bass and dark-ethno oriented soundscapes and Peter for komplex-energetic rhythms, sequences, intense melodies (and good cooking). The three of them share their love for weird sounds and special effects. Sounds that take your soundsystem to a higher level."

NAMLOOK/TETSU INOUE, PETE: Shades Of Orion 3 CD (AW 026). $15.00

"Join them on their trip to the universe where Pete and Tetsu have the honour to take part in a very energetic 'Beteigeuzian Ritual'. After this experience they are 'Stranded on Riegel 3' by accident and make their way/explore the planet. On the last track you drift through a space of very deep and massive ambient but you are not alone... somebody is with you... he is 'Inouécent and Sirius'..."

NAMLOOK & BILL LASWELL, PETE: Outland 3 CD (AW 027). $15.00

"The conclusion of the successful Outland series. This time connects the old continent — Afrika — and its incredible influence on our music with the vast dimensions of a world beyond our comprehension. Ancient drumming meets the music of our times and combines these styles to a fusion of ethno-electronic music beyond the topics of pure Ethnic music, Techno, Dub and Ambient. Soundscapes including Bill Laswell at the low and the distorted end as well as Pete Namlook using new, powerful machines to create the soundtrack to a multidimensional world."

NAMLOOK, PETE: Air 3 CD (AW 028 CD). $16.00

"Probably nobody expected that there would ever be a third part of this series...but there is. Finally after a lot of preparation Pete Namlook sat down in his studio to create Air 3. The work of many days and nights had the deserved outcome...a brilliant follow up album. You should not expect to hear a remix of Air 2 but an update on the Air project. Through its film character you are drawn into the different emotions, scenes and spaces while listening. What is the 'Secret Heritage'? A Love? Live through these deep feelings yourself and you will find out the truth."

NAMLOOK/KLAUS SCHULZE/BILL LASWELL, PETE: The Dark Side of the Moog 6 CD (AW 029 CD). $16.00

"After Pete moved to his new studio the choice was easy which project would be the first to start a new era in FAX production with. Klaus Schulze was asked and didn't hesitate to come to the small town at the Mosel river (144 KM away from Peter's homebase Frankfurt). The recording sessions took place and the features (as well as the difficulties) of a new studio created a life on their own. What came out is a recording that shows the aspects of vintage space music combined with the innovations of today to a further creation of Electronic Fusion Music."

INOUE, TETSU: Organic Cloud CD (AW 030 CD). $16.00

Reissue of the 2nd release in Inoue's Ambient Trilogy (following Ambient Otaku; originally released in 1995. "One more time Tetsu Inoue gives you the right portion of chill-out. It's the second solo album which AW releases from him. Although still a perfect chill-out-album it differs quite much from what he has done before. The whole CD is more changing, more moving, it grows and develops and even brings some slight beats with it."

AIR (PETE NAMLOOK): Elle a du shell CD (AW 031 CD). $17.00

"With Air 1 Pete Namlook pioneered a style that combined Jazz and Ambient music to a new idea of Ambient music at the time of the CD release back in 1992. Air 2 was a combination of Ethno and Ambient pioneering again a new idea in music. Now, years after that it was time to come up with some new ideas again. Elle a du Shell is a combination of the styles that made Air famous, innovative sounds, new combinations of styles and yet close to the Electronic Music of our days. You can sit back and enjoy the title track that features Electronic music combined with Caribbean Jazz or Electronic Be-Bop on 'Synthetique Be-Bop', Deep Ambient on 'Clearing your Head', Space Trance (On Her Way in, On Her Way out) and Ethno-Electronic music (La nuit de tous nos rêves approche). As you can guess from the name of the titles ... some sexy French is included as well as on previous Air releases."

NAMLOOK/KLAUS SCHULZE/BILL LASWELL, PETE: The Dark Side of the Moog 7 CD (AW 032CD). $17.00

"Pushing the limits, Klaus and Peter combined 70ies Space Music with the new (old) school Electro sounds. Part III of this CD features Bill Laswell whose ethno-oriented sounds add perfectly to this space music opus. Listening to this music is like watching a film... just close your eyes and find out yourself... we take you with us on a journey through the universe of sounds to our musical world."

NAMLOOK & BURHAN OCAL, PETE: Sultan - Osman CD (AW 033CD). $17.00

"This CD was the most labor intensive project Pete Namlook has ever undertaken and he is proud to present finally the second collaboration with Burhan Öcal. It opens up a series of recordings which will be dedicated to the different Sultans of the Ottoman empire which started in the 13th century. The start was Osman Gazi the founder of the Ottoman Empire. The music of this album is a rich ethnographic journey back in time to the Ottoman empire, incorporating direct links to the great poets of this time i.e. Celaleddin Rumi. But as on the first Sultan recording both artists combined the very past with the very future of music to a new generation of Ethno-Electronic Music. So Waldorf WAVE, Clavia Nord Lead and the newest Steinberg Cubase Software are part of the setup as well as ancient Turkish instruments as the Tanbur and a whole collection of medieval percussion instruments."

NAMLOOK & KLAUS SCHULZE, PETE: The Dark Side of the Moog 8 CD (AW 034CD). $17.00

"Recorded Live...for the first time Klaus and Peter joined forces to perform in front of an enthusiastic crowd on the 23.Jazz (!) Festival Hamburg. The musical variety is immense on this album. From slow and mellow to fast and haunting... always a surprise around the corner... the best of what you expect from their eighth collaboration: Klaus' Space-chords, typical 1970s sequences from his big modular system, huge atmospheres as well as Peter playing the Trautonium (Live for the first time), Rhythms between Electro, Jazz and Jungle. The music on this CD is quite a trip, the frenetic applause even in the set (you can hear this ring-modulated through the EMS VCS3 of Pete Namlook)."

NAMLOOK & GEIR JENSSEN, PETE: The Fires of Ork CD (AW 035CD). $17.00

"The Fires Of Ork was the first collaboration between Pete Namlook and Geir Janssen (aka Biosphere) and has since risen to legendary status in the ambient electronic scene as the first meeting of these two masters. Their common love for classical music as well as dark ambient trance resulted in a unique combination of style that you could expect when you mix the essence of their Silence with Biosphere."

AMBIGUOUS RECORDS:

BLOOM & LOREN MAZZACANE, KATH: Sing The Children Over LP (AMB 002). $12.50

Warehouse find of some original copies of this Mazzacane/Kath Bloom LP release from 1982. Recorded in historic Watertown, MA. Liner notes by Nat Hentoff. Following retrospective comments by the LP's producer: "On first hearing Kath and Loren one is struck by the daring intimacy of their sound. Both on their early Daggett recordings, and live, I was moved by the rigor and bravery of the spiritual explorations they undertook in their music. While mining not unfamiliar tunes in the blues and folk idioms as well as lovely, spare originals, they, both in their own distinct ways, daringly stripped the music to some of its barest and most exquisitely aching elements. Together, they created a sound that while it echoed some of American music's oldest traditions was something resolutely new and original. After hearing Kath and Loren on their own home produced tapes, I wanted to capture some of that sublimity, that quiet intensity with more clarity. Thus inspired, my short lived label put out Sing the Children Over almost 20 years ago. I hope you agree this collection of traditional tunes and originals captures something special about American music and that it deserves a new audience." — Andy Breslau.

AMBUSH (UK):

VA: Mash The Place Up — Ambush Records Comp CD (AMBUSH 01CD). $13.00

"A compilation of the best drum and noise tracks from South London's Ambush label. The tracks on this compilation originally appeared as individual 12"s, all of which were extremely limited in nature. Ambush represent the most recent branch of modern adventurous music. Influences like power electronics, free improvisation and musique concrète, give Ambush a strong sense of precedent, while the frameworks of drum & bass, hardcore techno, hip hop and dancehall reggae give it firm roots in the populist tradition of soundsystem culture. Ambush was started by Toby Reynolds (DJ Scud) and Jason Skeet (Aphasic), and along with a close knit crew of like minded producers, have developed a style that is instantly recognizable and utterly infectious. With sonic textures that move between punishing and harsh to achingly brittle, they comfortably fill the gap between dancefloor orthodoxy and the avant garde."

SLEPCY: And Again CD (AMBUSH 03CD). $13.50

"Ambush Records are proud to present their latest discovery from Poland. Slepicy's Ambush release is their first ever outing on a UK label and their second release to date (previous 12" on Berlin's Kool Pop label). Their unique sound combines dark, disturbing string overtures with aggressive, brittle breakbeat arrangements and sledgehammer beats, coming over like a cross between Laibach and Aphex Twin. Sheer East European intensity pouring out of the speakers. Ambush Records is committed to exploring the most advanced and radical dance music around, and when we heard Polish duo Slepicy (pronounced 'Slephhhh' - Polish for blind man) we knew they had to be added to the Ambush stable of extreme electronic producers."

AMENTI (UK):

AMENTI SUNCROWN: Zenith Pitch CD (AMENTI 01 CD). $8.00

"Amenti Suncrown are an international trio who work together almost exclusively over the Internet. Between August 2000 & January 2001 Amenti Suncrown members Russell Goodwin, J.Paul Morton & Gary A. Ayres exchanged and remixed audio files online, culminating in their full-length release, Zenith Pitch. Zenith Pitch has generated an enthusiastic response to all who have listened to it, winning over such luminaries as Rose McDowall, Jon Balance & David Tibet. Described as a dark and ghost-filled album, this electronic assemblage of sounds moves freely between pulsating rhythms and meditative calm, using field recordings, alienated vocal fragments, and acoustic melodies. The next Amenti Suncrown project currently in production will involve Rose McDowall & Robert Lee of Sorrow and will come with full colour art by David Tibet." Limited stock.

AMISH RECORDS:

P.G. SIX: The Well of Memory CD (AMI 019CD). $13.50

"Continuing many of the themes introduced on Parlor Tricks and Porch Favorites, PG Six's well-received first record, The Well Of Memory makes nods towards 60s folk artists like Bert Jansch, Pentangle, Incredible String Band, and John Fahey, while also fitting in with contemporary musicians like New York psych folk poster-boy Devendra Banhardt, Anglo-folk traditionalist Alasdair Roberts, and West Coast psych guitarist Ben Chasny of Six Organs of Admittance. Pat's lyrics draw on narrative force, spinning mythology in abstract patterns that stretch moments of clarity between dreamlike sequences. His music, composed away from the bustle of the city in upstate New York, breathes as solemn spirituals. With The Well of Memory, P.G. Six transcends revival carving a permanent spot amongst contemporary singer/songwriters."

AMMP:

KHAN, ALI AKBAR: Summer Solstice DVD (AMMP 088 DVD). $17.00

"Live footage of living legend whose reputation as a performer, composer, recording artist, and teacher is unparalleled. Contains rare bonus footage 'The Making of Legacy' (about Khansahib's Grammy-nominated album with Asha Bhosle). One of the first Indian musicians to introduce Hindustani classical music to the west, Ali Akbar Khan is the undisputed master of the sarode, a 25-string fretless string instrument with a sweet, guitar-like sound and overtones of banjo and oud. This is absolutely transcendent music by the master of a revered tradition dating back to the 16th century. Khansahib's numerous releases on AMMP cover 40 years of his finest performances — from 1955 through his esteemed Signature Series in the 1970s to his Grammy-nominated '90s titles." Running time: approx. 60 min.

KHAN, ALI AKBAR: From Father to Son - Puriya Dhanashri CD (AMMP 209). $14.00

"The art of Indian classical music has been passed down from father to son, generation to generation as naturally as time goes by. This particular school of music, the Baba Allaaddin Senya Binkar Gharana, dates back to the 16th century and the courts of Emperor Akbar. Ali Akbar Khan was taught by his father, Baba Allaaddin Khan, who told him to spread the music as far as the sun and the moon. Indian classical music's place in the history of music is unique: most of what is performed on stage is composed on the spot according to the rules of the tradition. For a student, this is the most challenging time of one's life — listening and responding at the feet of one's guru with an intensity felt every moment. The traditional raga performed here, 'Ragini Puriya Dhanasri' is an evening raga with a mood of peace, pathos, joy and power. Its magic will pull you in and keep you involved until the last note of the performance."

KHAN, ALI AKBAR: Svara Samrat CD (AMMP 310 CD). $14.00

"With Swapnan Chaudhuri on tabla, Alam Khan and James Pomerantz on tanpura, and Jai Uttal on guitar, 'Narayani Gauri' is a new mixture of two traditional ragas ('Narayani' and 'Gauri') woven together by Ali Akbar Khan. It is an evening raga mostly used for prayer for one's soul and mind. The moods are devotion, peace, joy, pathos and detachment. These recordings were made in Sausalito, California, on May 7, 1998, recorded directly to a hard drive, the first recording AMMP has released without the use of an analog or digital tape."

AMOEBC (JAPAN):

TETREAULT/SACHIKO M/YASUHIRO OTANI/OTOMO YOSHIHIDE, MARTIN: Four Focuses CD (AMO SAT 02). $18.00

"Compilation of solos/duos (not set up entirely un-'Company'-like) recorded live at the 6th Int'l Now Music Festival, Instants Chavires, Rhiz, and at Otani's home from 9/97 to 5/98 by Martin Tetreault (3 Califone Turntables, Prepared Records and Prepared Needles), Sachiko M (Sampler), Yasuhiro Otani (Computer & Programming), and Otomo Yoshihide (Turntables with Feedback). This stuff has a distinct rhythmic edge completely alien to most acoustic improvised music (thank you, technology), which just might propel it out of the murk of current electro-acoustic real-time experiments & force it down the throats of some of the more experiment-minded techno kids & drone-patrons." — Hrvatski

FILAMENT: The Oscillating 'Will' And The Flickering 'Self' CD (AMO SAT 03). $18.00

"Amoebic's first CD release in two years is the first live album by Filament, the duo project of Sachiko M and Otomo Yoshihide, which was formed as a persistent laboratory of memory-free, post-sampling music. It includes their entire performance at Kanagawa Kenmin Hall on September 29, 2000." From Sasaki Atsushi's notes: "People listening to this CD for the first time may have trouble accepting the fact that this was a live performance before a large audience, so powerfully stoic is Filament's music. To the constant sound of subtly strengthening and weakening sine waves are added the intermittent miniscule sound of circuitry, and a dull mechanical hum (too soft for us to recognize its origin). From beginning to end hardly anything happens here, but at the same time an amazing number of events occur. If one were to give a name to this 'onyko' of just under 30 minutes, the words composition, improvisation, and performance would probably all be too extreme. But all of these are included in this quiet phenomenon. When producing sound, even if one reduces as much as possible what is called 'self-consciousness', one can never completely eliminate it. This is because the 'I' that produces, decides to produce, and thinks about producing sound the 'I' that listens to, decides to listen to, and thinks about listening to sounds are always there. The minimal 'I' performing minimal 'listening' and 'sound production,' possessing a minimal 'will'..."

METAL TASTES LIKE ORANGE: Secret Recordings 1 CD (AMO VA 04). $18.00

"48 minutes and 17 seconds of mixed-medium free improv by friends Günter Müller (electronics, selected drums), Masahiko Okura (alto sax), Otomo Yoshihide (records and CDs), and Taku Sugimoto (electric guitar), recorded/mixed/mastered in Tokyo between July 1998 and June 1999. A nice fun educated romp through several varying themes/styles (silence, ambient sound, early electronic, film-musik, high-density, etc...) with Otomo's trademark record crackle frying in the background all the while. A highlight in the catalogues of four very different, very prolific artists." — Hrvatski.

AMPERSAND:

GRILLO, FERNANDO: Fluvine CD (AMPERE 01). $14.50

"Originally released as a part of Cramps' much vaunted Diverso series in 1976, Grillo's Fluvine has long been regarded as an important and influential audio document by nether-world artists like Nurse With Wound. Karlheinz Stockhausen dubbed him the Buddha of the contrabass. Avant garde heavy hitters Iannis Xenakis, Luciano Berio, Luigi Nono, Klaus Huber, Henri Pousseur and Iancu Dumitrescu have all composed for him. Highly regarded in Europe by top composers as one of the most inventive and captivating double bass performers, Fernando Grillo is hardly a household name in the US. Recorded solo with a suite of parabolic and contact microphones, the spectacular and deeply spiritual kinaesthetic bass gestulations on this disc elicit sounds that straddle the finest lines between free rhythmic improvisation and sparkling electroacoustic bliss. This is the first ever, fully remastered CD issue of Grillo's solo explorations of the limits of the contrabass. This edition features several archival photographs, schematic scores, original notes by Grillo and retrospective notes by French composer Ana-Maria Avram."

BAILEY, DEREK: Improvisation CD (AMPERE 02). $14.50

"First US release of Derek Bailey's 1975 solo guitar exercise. Originally issued in Italy as part of Cramps' Diverso series, Improvisation presents the patented blend of fractal patterns, concentrated sound clusters and erupting colorful shpes for which this guitarist is best known. At the author's request, no historical words attempt to frame the 14 miniature excursions on this newly remastered edition. Several never-before-published photographs of Bailey engaged in the different stages of consuming an apple do, however, back up the old saying that a picture tells a thousand words."

CAGE, JOHN: Cheap Imitation CD (AMPERE 03). $14.50

Classic solo piano work, performed by Cage, 3/7/1976 at Mills College. "...to take an interest in Satie," Cage wrote, 'one must be, first of all, disinterested, letting a sound be a sound and a man a man, abandoning illusions about ideas of order, expression of feeling, and all the other aesthetic sales-talk we have inherited.' Humbly engaged but never over-determined, Cheap Imitation remains John Cage's most devotional and enduring homage to a lifelong contract between the Maestro of Stony Point and the Frenchman. Originally composed when he was refused permission to use the arrangement for two pianofortes for Satie's 'Socrates' as the 'accompaniment' to Merce Cunningham's choreography, the tempered, harmonically rich and wryly simple melodic lines that comprise this piano work in three movements presents what French Cage scholar Denis Charles refers to as 'a deforming transposition of Socrates' musical skeleton.' Recorded and engineered by David Behrman and 'Blue' Gene Tyranny during a brief stopover at the Mills College Concert Hall in the midst of a Bay Area downpour and subsequently released on the Italian Cramps label. This newly remastered edition marks the first US release of this historic recording and is filled with archival photographs and essays by Gene Tyranny, Charles, and two pieces by Cage himself (one of which is a cleverly assembled fantasy communication between himself and Satie originally written and published in Art News Annual in 1958)."

GRUPPO DI IMPROVVISAZIONE NUOVA CONSONANZA: Musica Su Schemi CD (AMPERE 04). $14.50

"Founded in Italy between 1964 and 1965, the world's first composers collective, Gruppo Di Improvvisazione Nuova Consonanza, sought to unhem the purposefulness of their respective instruments and the primacy of composition in order to open up a space for the emergence of free music and unintentional noise sounds. The music sways between nearly inaudible whir, clatter and scrape and bubbling blasts of sound. Their overtures to noise, anti-musical operations and compositional experiments on this disc, like their English brethren AMM, completely anticipated a strategic break with the standards of virtuosity. This work represents the earliest incarnation of Gruppo and features Ennio Morricone, better known for his soundtrack work, Franco Evangelisti, Egisto Macchi, Antonello Neri, Giovanni Piazza and Italian Instabile Orchestra member, Giancarlo Schiaffini. This disc is packaged in standard jewel box with outer slipcase. Contains previously unpublished photos and original notes by Franco Evangelisti."

S.E.M. ENSEMBLE: The Entire Musical Work Of Marcel Duchamp CD (AMPERE 05). $14.50

"Though relatively unknown for his contributions to the world of sound, Marcel Duchamp's entire, though incredibly brief, musical output anticipated the radical direction of modern music vis a vis the chance operations of John Cage and Christian Wolff by nearly fifty years. Initially composed in 1913, 'Erratum Musical' and 'The Bride Stripped Bare By Her Bachelors', even initiated the use of chance and the introduction of non-musical sound sources to composition by introducing the arbitrary use of notation and vocal arrangements. This recording documents four realizations by the New York based S.E.M. Ensemble at Milano's Studi Reggion in 1976. The resulting musical interpretations for alto flute, celeste, trombone and glockenspiel are of a strikingly spare, slow and soft character that brings to mind the small sound compositions of Morton Feldman. This disc is packaged in standard jewel box with outer slipcase. Original photos of the performers and notes by Petr Kotik."

CAGE, JOHN: Empty Words (Parte III) 2CD (AMPERE 06). $18.00

"John Cage's Empty Words is something of an epic in reverse: a diminutive vocal exercise divided into four distinct parts that gradually breaks down the writings on sound from Henry David Thoreau's Journal into pure vocalise. Disarticulated, distended and utterly transformed, Cage's recitation utterly abandons all connection to linguistic meaning and becomes pure aesthetic glossolalia. The nearly three hour performance documents Cage reading from the third part of Empty Words at Teatro Lirico in Milano during 1977 before an increasingly restless crowd of Italian students as it erupts into one of the great, if unnoticed, art riots of the last century. This fully re-mastered double disc set is packaged in a deluxe outer slipcase and features new liner notes by Phantasmic Radio author Allen S. Weiss, a collection of writings and drawings by Cage himself and lots of previously unpublished photographs of the event."

CARDEW, CORNELIUS: Four Principles On Ireland And Other Pieces CD (AMPERE 07). $14.50

"In 1975 when Four Principles was released, Cornelius Cardew was comfortably within his third stylistic phase of musical development. Unlike the groundbreaking experimental activities introduced through his most famous pieces — Treatise and The Great Learning — the music on Four Principles marked a repudiation of the musical avant-garde which Cardew himself had championed in England. The collection of 13 solo piano pieces on this disc represent a pivotal time in Cardew's work when he was poised between the strictest interpretation of Marxist aesthetics and the development of his voice within those aesthetics. What can be heard is a return to the music Cardew knew and understood: a beautiful music of clarity and eclecticism steeped in pianistic traditions and reformulated through the poetry, folk ballads, melodies, and resistance songs of China and Ireland that underscores his role as one of the most devoted political composers of the 20th century. This CD edition of the long out of print Cramps LP features original track notes by Cardew, new liner notes by Virginia Anderson and previously unpublished photographs of Cardew."

FLYNT, HENRY: Graduation And Other New Country And Blues Music CD (AMPERE 08). $14.50

"Henry Flynt - philosopher, student of Pran Nath, a central figure in the early propaganda actions of the George Maciunas led Fluxus activities in the early 60s, four time sit in performer with the Velvet Underground, author of Blueprint For a Higher Civilization and various spirited broadsides against Stockhausen, 12 tone music, and the cultural dominion of European art — presents us with Graduation some 21 years after its originally scheduled (and scrapped) release. Graduation is the culmination of several years of solo exploration and chance ensemble opportunities to realize his own personal vision of an avant-hillbilly American ethnic music cast out of the mixed up mold of Indian classical, bluegrass, funk, blues, and psychedelia. The result is a perfectly realized trucking and trancing outsider sound world. From the alternately twisted and comical political anthem of the opening title track, Pran Nath influenced vocal stylings, to the winsome hillbilly, cowboy raga, steel city boogie on the succeeding 6 group instrumentals, it is only too clear that Graduation has as much to do with classic southern jam rock as it does with the minimalism of downtown New York drone luminary, and Flynt ally, La Monte Young. The record takes a sudden turn on the album closer with the nearly 20 minute illuminatory audio program Celestial Power, an elemental, laid back head trip comprised of oscillating vibrato guitar churns that instantly monopolize your ears and spirit and bring you to a natural high. The nearly 80 minute collection was remastered from the original tapes, and features two classic photos of Flynt by the acclaimed photographer Peter Moore and updated track notes by Flynt."

KUBISCH/FABRIZIO PLESSI, CHRISTINA: Two And Two CD (AMPERE 09). $14.50

"During her 25 year career, Berlin based sound artist Christina Kubisch has pioneered the creation of site-specific sound and light environments, sound sculptures and sound installations. The roots of her abstract sound realities began in the intense collaboration with Italian visual artist Fabrizio Plessi in 1973 and are presented here, in the first of two planned archival releases, with the performance piece Two And Two. Performed in Europe and the United States in the '70s, Two And Two was a live performance for two performers (Kubisch and Plessi), two video cameramen, a wall of monitors and uncommon objects and instruments. Throughout the performances, people were invited to walk around and observe the live action in real time as close up images of the performance were projected on video screens and unusual objects as sound sources — a vibrator, water, swanee whistle, voice, contact microphone on ventilator, prepared alto flute, electronic metronome, waterjet on steel drum — were sonically 'blown up' through self invented systems of amplification. The resulting four pieces on this 1977 recording alternate between heavenly, rhythmically shifting drones to gamelan tinged blistering electronics that sound like distant, corrupted morse code dispatches. The entire album is an organic revelation of the discreet acoustic nature of everyday objects, intensely mechanical, startling and elemental. This edition features a 24 page booklet with new photographs of the performance, retrospective notes by Kubisch and an interview with Kubisch and Plessi from 1979."

KUBISCH/FABRIZIO PLESSI, CHRISTINA: Tempo Liquido CD (AMPERE 10). $14.50

"First CD reissue of legendary collaboration between Christina Kubisch and Fabrizio Plessi." "The performance started with a four-channel ambient sound that continued throughout the whole performance. Since I had no sampling possibilities at that time, all of the instruments were recorded solo in my studio on a Revox machine. The recordings — one channel for each instrument — were repeated several times in order to create a kind of 'mega-loop' and the final result was transferred to a four-channel-tape for the performance. The superimposition of the sequences of different durations generated continuous layers of sound with minimal variations: a music that could go on forever... Tempo Liquido was one of our most complex pieces, mixing life, performance, video images, different projections, and a multi-channel sound system. I loved to perform it. It was a collaboration where our individual artistic ideas and activities really integrated into a common experience." — Christina Kubisch.

VAGGIONE, HORACIO: La Maquina De Cantar CD (AMPERE 11). $14.50

"Argentinian born electronic composer Horacio Vaggione (known to some for his involvement with the Alea group) threw together this 2 track masterpiece of multilayered sci-fi epic glop in 1978 for the Cramps label's relished Nova Musica series... Relying solely on an IBM computer, the title track from 1971 retains the massive energy and unrelenting use of texture and sonic layering that have occasionally given him comparisons to the work of Conrad Schnitzler. The closing piece, 'Ending', is a classic mini-Moog/Yamaha organ tune with some seriously timely prog-pop elements (no kidding, we're talking an otherwise dangerous entrance into ELP territory that is pulled off with total grace and finesse). At the end of the day, the pulsating and spacey elements adhere to a very cool minimalist aesthetic that is at once entirely Vaggione's own sound and even perhaps a wakeup call to the diminutive world of microsound overtures."

KNIZAK, MILAN: Broken Music CD (AMPERE 12). $14.50

"Widely regarded as one of the most important sound art documents on record, Ampersand is proud to present the first CD release of Czech artist Milan Knizak's groundbreaking work of art damage." "From 1963 to 1964 I used to play records either too slowly or too fast and thus change the quality of the music. In 1965 I started to destroy records: scratch them, punch holes in them, break them. By playing them (which destroyed the needle and often the record player, too) an entirely new music was created — Unexpected, nerve-racking, and aggressive. Compositions lasted a second or for an infinitely long time (like when the needle got stuck in a deep groove and played the same phrase over and over again). Soon I developed this system even further. I began sticking tape on top of records, painting over them, burning them, cutting them up and gluing parts of different records back together again to achieve the widest possible variety of sounds. Later I began to work in the same way with scores. I erased some of the notes, signatures, and whole bars. I added notes and signatures, changed the tempo and order of the bars, played the compositions backwards, turned the lines upside down, pasted different parts of different scores together, and so on." — Milan Knizak.

AMPOULE (UK):

MOPED ENDO: EP 1 12" (AMP 004). $8.00

"Here we have a collaboration between Pub and Lucky & Easy for your listening pleasure. Pub has previously recorded for Ampoule and the highly regarded Vertical Form label. Lucky & Easy has previously recorded for Ampoule and the Dutch based Delsin label. Limited to 1000 copies world-wide."

ANDROMEDA (SWEDEN):

LUNDSTEN, RALPH: Elektronisk Musik 4CD (ACD 27-30). $38.00

"A somewhat unexpected foray into the early-electronic retrospective scene, a 4CD set from this under-documented (at least in the domestically available CD age) Swedish composer, perhaps better known for a series of gnome and prophet-shape-involving 70's synthesizer records than for his proper oeuvre; his mid-60's electronic works, mysteriously absent from recent activity-listings of 'electronic pioneers'. From 1959 onwards, Lundsten was working in relative obscurity, nestled away in his 'Andromeda' studio in his Castle Frankenburg in Saltsjö-Boo (outside of Stockholm), working the DIMI-O (a custom synthesizer replete with camera and TV-monitor, which produces sonics in an 'immaterial twelve-tone scale from the empty air'), the DIMI-S (aka THE LOVE MACHINE, which apparently 'generates sound and light by contact with the skin, reacting to the emotional state of the performers') and various other home-brewed devices in creating pre-space epics of repetitive sound-motion. Whilst references to the 'folklore of elves, trolls, wood-sirens and little people' do appear, the complete tonal nature of included exercises veer closer to a one-man canon of well-funded academic electronic ideas and techniques, an undeniably awesome goal witnessing the somewhat crude nature of his home studio technologies at the time (as compared to the technologically overstocked centers of the era such as EMS Stockholm). A well thought-through item oozing with outsider murk, a must for all you pre-73 electronic junkies out there. Essential." — Hrvatski.

ANECHOIC:

CASCONI, KIM: Parasites 3" CD (ANECH 01). $11.00

"Four years after leaving Silent records, Kim Cascone has started a new label called Anechoic. The name of the label is a reference to the late composer John Cage and his experience in an anechoic chamber. While inside the anechoic chamber, Cage was expecting to hear silence, but instead heard sounds emanating from his own body, proving that the condition of silence can never exist. Parasites is a blurring of the line between atomic samples and compositions. Cascone has been fascinated with shorter formats of music as evidenced in his latest work Pulsar Studies, and his production of a collection of sonic icons for Thomas Dolby's internet audio company Headspace. Taking this interest in compressed sonic information one step further, the shorter pieces found on this CD can be used for either listening or constructing new pieces with. Cascone describes this release as another approach to his concept of 'residualism' — 'the process of removing a signal until all that's left is its ghost-signal or the artifacts thrown off by the signal'. Kim says, 'I wanted to initiate some sonic organisms that would replicate, travel and mutate into various forms, which is another method of creating a residue, or a barely recognized form.' Utilizing a relatively new format known as 'card discs' (89 x 87 square CDs), Anechoic will release all future CDs in this format. All the information will be contained on the CD label itself and will come in a clear vinyl sleeve."

ROWE & KIM CASCONI, KEITH: *With Hidden Noise 3" CD (ANECH 02). $11.00

Card disc release (89 x 87 square CDs). "Cascone strips away all the linear time information on a 20 minute segment of Keith Rowe's solo performance at the B-Movie and processes it with the Max/MSP patch he developed for Residualism. The result is a warm, chaotic fog of processed guitar work punctuated with ornamental glints of digital transformations. With Hidden Noise is a homage to AMM's Live at the Crypt and It had been an ordinary enough day in Pueblo, Colorado releases. The title is also a nod to Marcel Duchamp's sculpture of the same name that consists of a ball of twine wedged between two plates of steel that contains an unknown object that makes noise when the sculpture is shaken."

BERTHLING & KIM CASCONI, ANDREAS: *Rust And Blue Dawn 3" CD (ANECH 03). $11.00

Card disc release (89 x 87 square CDs). "Andreas Berthling and Kim Cascone join forces on their first collaboration of digital soundfile manipulation. The idea to work together on a CD came about during a meeting they had in Berlin last summer. The premise for this piece came from Kim's interest in sonifying data space, i.e., data can be sonified enabling a listener to recognize certain parameters by hearing them. Even more interesting was the ability to listen to raw data and find inherent sonic structures and aesthetic qualities within the soundfiles sent to Kim by Andreas. Taking this idea one step further the main concept for Rust and Blue Dawn was to create a fictional space where data could float and mingle, engulfing the listener in a world where narrative doesn't exist only atmosphere. 3" carddisc format."

CASCONI, KIM: *Dust Theories 2 ? Alchemical Residue 3" CD (ANECH 04). $11.00

Card disc release (89 x 87 square CDs). "While attending a computer music conference in Sydney, Australia, in July 2001, Kim was invited to perform a live set on the Alchemy Radio show at the SBS Radio studios. He performed 'Dust Theories 2' using a Max/MSP (an object-oriented audio programming language) patch that Kim developed for his fall 2001 European tour. This radio performance served as a trial run for his newly developed software. The resulting piece, 'Dust Theories 2 — alchemical residue,' is an intricately woven collection of layers of dense audio information based on a new philosophical direction Kim has been forging. Kim refers to this new area as 'New Density,' which runs counter to the stark, austere electronica known as 'glitch.' Kim says this about his new direction: 'the basic concept of 'New Density' stems from the fact that we exist in a very overloaded mediascape that is changing our perceptual capacities?' 'New Density' is a barrage of audio information that the listener can aurally situate themselves in? This new mode of listening enables a listener to 'view' the work from multiple perspectives? you could consider this a sonic mixture of futurism and cubism'."

CASCONI, KIM: *blackCube() 3" CD (ANECH 06). $11.00

Card disc release (89 x 87 square CDs). "All the sounds on this CD were created using a Max/MSP version of a software application by Arun Chandra called 'Wigout.' Tad Turner developed the Max/MSP version for an online project we were planning. While working with Tad's version of 'Wigout' I found that I had amassed a sizable library of sounds which I created. Always eager to experiment with new techniques to generate waveforms I started composing new work with this sound library. The six pieces on this CD represent a collection of short exploratory studies generated with these distinctly different sounding waveforms."

CASCONI, KIM: *Pulsar Studies 1-20 3" CD (ANECH 07). $11.00

Card disc release (89 x 87 square CDs). Reissue of Pulsar Studies 1-20 which was released on Fals.ch in 1999.

ANGELIKA KOEHLERMANN (AUSTRIA):

ELECTRONICAT: *Birds Want To Have Fun CD (ANGK 012). $15.50

"Birds Want To Have Fun is the new album of Electronicat on Angelika Koehlermann. The ghost of Marc Bolan is scaring Cindy Lauper while Chrome robots (featuring gp!) are shouting from Paris to Vienna... In 1997 Fred Bigot began to sample guitar sounds and started his first solo project 'Electronicat': bits of vocals, guitar stuff and analogic machines like tr808 drummachine, moog and all kind of distortion, wah wah, delays used in psychedelic electro punky music... In the last three years, he has released several albums, singles and remixes (the latest one is 'The Dead of Night' for Depeche Mode) on labels like Disko B, Oni.tor, Mute."

MINISKY, TED: *Madame Le Ted CD (ANGK 014). $15.50

"Madame Le Ted is the debut album of the young costume designer Ted Minsky. Songs that could be fashioned from velvet, (but that also sometimes sound like they were spun out of wool or string), send us on a journey through Miss Minsky's dark and foggy dreamworld, while her vocals, whether in english, german or spanish, lead us softly but deliberately to the borders of pop music. Digital eight-track poetry? Yet-to-be discovered mini-soundtracks for the next David Lynch film? Bjoerk or Nena? Disco or Theatre? hmmm... there is only one who knows the answer to all these questions: Madame Le Ted, the new super-architect from Angelika Koehlermann, the label that is MORE than just a label..."

SCHMOOF: *Bedroom Disco CD (ANGK 015). $15.50

"Schmoof are Sarah and Lloyd. They write effervescent synth-pop about all those things that matter the most — boys, nail varnish & chocolate. They have attracted much attention at live shows because of their quirky live animations and their love of all things pink, leather & pvc. Ultimately, Schmoof are all about having fun and they just want you to join in..."

BOULDER DDASH: *Alien Folk Trash CD (ANGK 016). $15.50

"Teenage kicks! Boulder dDash is the musical side project of JB Hanak, guitar-player in french avant-rock-group dDamage. JB created a monster that grew too big to stay in his Paris-based hometown. It crept out of its cave and made its way to Vienna's AK-head-quarters, leaving his alien-marks all over the land. Imagine Syd Barrett meeting Aphex Twin at a Dinosaur Jr. gig and you get a slight idea of what this album sounds like — acoustic guitar sounds colliding with strange custom-made electronic instruments, and vocals of unbelievable melancholy."

B.O.S.: *0-Land CD (ANGK 017). $15.50

"0-Land is the land where B.O.S. came from. A land far far away. Never discovered by noone. They landed some months ago with their spacey-spaceship right in the middle of Europe. In a small village called Maria-Anzbach in the Austrian countryside. And they came with a gift. A gift to our civilisation. A CD with music that they recorded between trees and bushes under the open skies. Mostly at night under the bright shining stars, twinkling high above 0-land. This beautiful piece of music was handed to the high priests of the AK-temple and will now be presented to our strange world. what it sounds like you ask? We call it slo-mo-kraut-progck."

CRUBE, PIERRE: *Immediate False Relief CD (ANGK 018). $15.50

"Canada's Pierre Crube a.k.a. Pierre-Simon Weisskopf played in some electro-pop-bands until he got sick of repeating the same song structures over and over again. He decided to stop doing band-business and started out doing tracks in a new way all by himself. The result is the album Immediate False Relief out now on Angelika Koehlermann. Most of the tracks are no longer that one or two minutes. Somehow a similar aesthetic to the wonderful Michiko Kusaki album by Anne Laplante, that was released a few years ago, but totally different at the same time. Instead of low-fi-cassette recordings all tracks are done with digital accuracy and seem all to be constructed on Simons laptop. A nice term to describe the music could be something like 'data-pop'. The song structures are still hearable on some tracks — some songs even feature simons melancholic vocals, while the instrumental tracks are full of romantic desires and wonderful melodies, that stay in your head for a long time."

SUDDEN ENSEMBLE: *am II CD (ANGK 019). $15.50

"Non electronic stuff from Doreen and Wayne from the New York area. We are very happy to be able to release their debut album here on AK. So many names came into our heads when we first listened to their music — Sonic Youth, The Fall, Royal Trux, Dinosaur Jr... — but they are far away of just trying to sound like all those. They definitely found their very own style."

ZEEBEE: *Chemistry CD (ANGK 020). $15.50

"Chemical reactions...happen all around us: when we light a match, start a car, eat dinner or walk the dog. A chemical reaction is the pathway by which two substances bond together. Chemistry is the conclusion to everything. It contains answers where we seem helpless. The Zeebee album Chemistry is a chemical reaction in many ways. It is a stubborn and romantic pop album."

Zeebee is a vocalist, alive in the rockin mountains of Austria. Recording herself since the age of five, touring with Birmingham's Piggap when seventeen, and releasing records on the Swiss label Off Course with her band D-sire in the late 80's. Then starting to work as a ghostwriter, copyrighting herself through commercial wonderland, taking flying-lessons and dreaming of a career as an acrobatic pilot. Still giving music the Zeebee treatment in private, recording her vocals, exploring the possibilities of new technologies. In the year 1999 Zeebee starts to work via internet with the most diverse songwriters from all over the world.

Drawing from many influences, Zeebee creates hypnotic soundscapes that push the boundaries of pop, jazz, trip hop, hip hop, acid jazz, trance and folk. In only three years, endless day- and night-sessions, Zeebee writes 187 songs. Early 2003 she gets in contact with Gerhard Potuznik, known as one of the finest producers of electronic music in Europe, and asks him to help her produce and release an album. They carefully start to select and rework songs out of that enormous pool of Zeebeemusic for the first Zeebee album Chemistry. The album contains now 10 songs written by Zeebee as well as Loyal & Royal, Jeffry Math, Jox, Scott Mcfadyen and Curd Duca; co-produced by Gerhard Potuznik and Jox. Get some Zeebee now."

ANGELMAKER (NETHERLANDS):

RA-X: *The Overthrow EP 12" (AM 014EP). $11.00

"Angelmakers the label known for its Power Slaves/Iron Maiden compilation comes with another raw piece of music. This time its label boss Ra-x known for its releases on Bunker (and the Dutch cult surf rock band The Travoltas!) who's on duty. Bad ass dark electro and more classic IDM-ish electro made to rock. Very functional and effective. Dark sweaty basement style music with some touches of Underground Resistance."

VA: *Powerslaves 12" (AMR 015). $12.00

"After the release of the acclaimed Powerslaves CD late last year by Angelmaker Records, the cry for a vinyl edition started and never stopped. The most dance floor friendly cuts have been selected for your dancing and head banging entertainment. This 12" brings you new and never before heard electro versions of classic Iron Maiden songs by artists like: Legowelt, Acid Junkies, Rude 66 and Luke Eargoggle. Expect 4 all exclusive and unreleased killer electro cuts, filled with singing and screaming vocoders, fat synthlines and banging 808s to let you experience the sounds of Iron Maiden like you've never heard it before."

SIR STEPHEN: *Hang Tough 12" (AMR 016). $10.00

"Who ever thought electro music was capable of making its listeners feel like pushing somebody around? Sir Stephen's debut, the Hang Tough 12" on Angelmaker Records, will do just that. His gritty, distorted yet percussively melodic sound has an irascible tendency to shake ass and tweak out. Sir Stephen's first release melds familiar vibes of 80's cult flicks with the relentless sounds of the Detroit and Miami underground. After hearing the edgy electro sound of Sir Stephen, one might feel like one of the tough kids at recess, taking nerds' lunch money; and it's certain to be a welcomed juxtaposition in any electro set. Sir Stephen brings you 8 bit electro P.U.N.K.R.O.C.K., six brand new fresh tracks that have the energy of punk and still maintain a very melodic base."

ANN AIMEE (NETHERLANDS):

CORTX, ALEX: *CTRL EP 12" (ANN 001EP). $9.00

"A brilliant release to kick off this new label Ann Aimee. The first release brings warm electronics, IDM-styled beats come with lush melodies, in style of Metamatics, The Detroit Escalator Company and label mate CiM. All releases on the label form 'the soundtrack to the journey home of a lost space ship'."

CIM: *Do Not Multiply Models CD (ANN 002CD). $20.00

"You are very welcome to the world of CIM, a world full a warm data, where bits and bytes come alive. The second album on the electronica label Ann Aimee brings two groundbreaking, now deleted EPs: Service Pack (Delsin '99) and Warm Data (deFocus '00) by UK's electronica maestro CIM. CIM delivers beautiful crafted electronics, which should please lovers of Metamatics, Boards of Canada and Detroit Escalator Company."

CIM: *Noki Bay EP 12" (ANN 002EP). $9.00

"The return of Londoner Simon Walley aka CiM! CIM built up a big profile with releases for respected labels as Delsin and deFocus, for which he released his impressive Reference album. This Noki Bay EP is his first full release after more than two and half years. This EP brings nine tracks in his trademark style, warm subtle electronics with a little touch of Detroit."

LUCKY & EASY: Talent Hoover CD (ANN 003CD). $19.00

"Missions on earth are carried out as Pub (Ampoule, Vertical Form), in space they're known as Lucky & Easy. A classic, is a first word which comes to mind playing the album. The music grabs you, and takes you away from all daily things, which just distracted you again. Once you've returned after an hour, there's not much else to think then directly wanting to get on board again. Lucky & Easy bring very warm electronica, intriguing rhythms and sometimes it seems like one song sounds as three in one. Lucky & Easy sound like songs, The Black Dog once used to make, as well like the sounds of Boards of Canada, and it even reminds to The Orb, with it's psychedelic excursions. Their own Ampoule label kicked off with their sought after EP, later on Lucky & Easy released music as Pub on the Scottish Ampoule label as well on UK's Vertical Form, being remixed by Arovane and others. The Pub album Do You Ever Regret Pantomime? from 2001 became an electronica classic. Talent Hoover is a beautiful electronica album in style of classics as Boards of Canada's Music Is The Right To Children, Kettel's Cenny Crush, or Plaid's Not For Threes. Listen and be amazed as well."

DRIBS: The Open Log Book 12" (ANN 004EP). $9.00

"The Ann Aimee's mission continues... With the search for the mothership not yet fulfilled, Dribs is the newest scout on board. Dribs, on earth known as Fredrik Östling, comes four times with beautiful carefully crafted electronica. All tracks come in gentle and easy, and in sound come most close to Lucky & Easy, Kettel or Boards of Canada. Intriguing rhythms, but most of all beautiful, beautiful melodies. The full sleeve artwork for this release comes again by Delta.inc, making these Ann Aimee releases collectibles on their own. Just another top release for this hot deep electronica label."

ANNETTE WORKS (UK):*MATTHEWS, KAFFE: CD Ann CD (AW 0001). $15.00

Debut release on a new UK label "set up to produce works which use real time exploitation of electronics in a particular place at a particular time." Matthews performs 4 long tracks, featuring her droning violin playing via the treatment system LiSa. "Impressive debut release. Using a violin, a sampler and one site-specific sound source, Matthews sculpts huge, shifting drones and detailed floating lead lines. Instant electro-acoustic experience crossing (for easy reference) Main with Tony Conrad."

MATTHEWS, KAFFE: CD Bea CD (AW 0002). $15.00

"Recorded during a ten date tour of the industrial NE USA, (December 1997), cdBea is violin masher Kaffe Matthews' second solo release, strongly following her debut cdAnn ('97) with a clearly marked move into a wider terrain of beauty and noise and lopsided layers of shifting granular patterns. All sampled and processed live on stage from a beaten up violin in a rock club, a bookstore, a gallery and a cafe, this extraordinarily filmic and un-violin-like music makes cdBea another notable event in live electronic music making. Recently Kaffe has collaborated with Charles Hayward, Panasonic, Butch Morris's conduction, the BROOD, Neotropic (aka Riz Maslem), Thomas Koner, Kingsuk Biswas (Bedouin Ascent) guit-artist John Bissett and forthcoming in '98/'99, a desert uplink with Australian wire music merchant Alan Lamb and a MIDI generating flying kite collaboration with artist Bruce Gilchrist and lighting designer Joe Joelson."

MATTHEWS, KAFFE: CD Cécile CD (AW 0003). $15.00

"Third CD release of location-specific Violin/DSP treatments from this highly-regarded UK sound sculptress, whose live laptop-rocking experiments parallel (predates?) Mego set activities rather closely & of course should be investigated w/the proper attention span. This CD collects live sets from Oslo, Chicago, and London recorded between 12/98 & 2/99, during which Kaffe intoned violin sonorities (& audio sourced from one microphone hidden in the establishment) into her Mac laptop running STEIM's LiSa (Live Sampling) software, effectively distorting/degrading/granulating it all beyond recognition. One of the few acoustic/electronic free-improv artists who can hold her weight in salt." — Hrvatski.

MATTHEWS, KAFFE: CD DD CD (AW 0004). $15.00

"So here at last we have the fourth release from live processing queen Kaffe Matthews. A little later in the year due to a flat out tour schedule and a developing changing process as the violin has finally gone into retirement. Now she improvises with sonic snatches from the venue and around, reprocessing during the show, resampling within the space, playing inside a circle of speakers with the audience. The involvement is full on and some kind of homogenous journey apparent. cd dd swings and rocks through sparkling territories, noisier and more rhythmic at times than previous works, but chilling to a very still place of beauty by the time we get to the third piece, the most recent work on the album which shows a marked shift in her work since the second, the final violin performance from Italy '99."

MATTHEWS, KAFFE: CD Eb + Flo 2CD (AW 0005/6). $18.00

Kaffe Matthews converting live things and a theremin in Perth, Vienne, Essex, London and Quebec City, 2002, reconstructed at home. "Double CD. 106 minutes worth. Reveals a pared down aesthetic and a delicate precision. Bends, cracks and floats sounds made from a small theremin, a room and its feedback. Still working live, here we hear snips from shows in Perth, Vienna, Essex, London and Quebec City, 2002. Reconstructed at home."

ANOMALOUS RECORDS:*VOICE OF EYE: Live LP (DV 940604). $14.00

"This recording documents two rare live performances: Anomalous Records [Whittier, CA] and Hangar 18 [San Francisco, CA], both from June, 1994. These shows followed the release of Vespers and contained material similar to it. Voice of Eye is centered around the duo of Bonnie McNairn and Jim Wilson who live in Houston, Texas. To best explore new avenues and allow them to shape sound, they have built several of their own instruments. Some these, like the Squawk Box are controlled by bioelectricity, the electrical aspects of the human body. The Squawk Box is a small device housed in plastic container and can be held in the hand. The device is played by touching two wires which yields a squealing sound. They see an instrument to be the physical manifestation of music, the inert form of sound. And with this in mind, Jim has developed stringed instruments which are bowed to extend the envelope, so the texture of each sound has time to be explored, expanding time so as to hear each part of the whole."

AMM: At the Roundhouse CD (ICES 001 CD). $14.00

"The International Carnival of Experimental Sound, or ICES '72 for short, was an ambitious festival sprung from the mind of Harvey 'Job' Matusow (1926-2002). Jumping off from his associations with the influential Source magazine, Harvey brought together over 300 artists from more than 21 countries to perform in London, England over the course of two weeks in August of 1972. Based on the theme of Myth, Magic Madness and Mysticism, he assembled an amazing diversity of performers working in diverse range of audio-visual arts. Encompassing happenings, films, dance, a train ride, and the phantom soft pool table, the focus was on sound — specifically that of artists who were both composers and performers. Most of the concerts were held at The Roundhouse, a cavernous structure that was formerly a railroad engine house. Now, for the first time in 30 years, these recordings can be heard."

This first CD in a series documenting the festival features the complete concert given by legendary free improvising group AMM. Represented here by Eddie Prevost and Lou Gare, they offer up powerful explosions of saxophone and drums punctuated with their famous AMM silences. This is the first time this material is available, aside from two short excerpts were published as the only 7" release on Evan Parker and Derek Bailey's Incus Records (and a very rare and desirable record that has become)."

AGOG: Dust Is Their Food And Clay Their Meat LP (NOM 05). $12.00

"Starting his music career in the early 1980s in the collective Points of Friction alongside Joseph Hammer and being on the fringes of the L.A.F.M.S. group, Damian Bisciglia has gone on to create a body of work only available on cassette and generally only heard among the cassette culture. His work is amazingly developed though, finding a style incorporating collage, improvisation, and diverse number of unique sources including contact mic as instrument unto itself, multitracked loops, shells, balloons, metal heater, springs, matchbox car, and many others."

POINTS OF FRICTION: Sackcloth And Ashes CD (NOM 10). $13.50

"Originally released by the LAFMS offshoot label Solid Eye (who were also responsible for releases by Doo-Dooettes, The Romans, Dinosaurs with Horns, and Fredrick Nilsen) on cassette in 1984, Sackcloth and Ashes is the most electronic and perhaps most polished incarnation of this multimedia collective. The unorthodox exploration of keyboards, guitars, toy instruments, the assemblage of field recordings, noise improvisations, and tape loops tantalize the senses with arousing emotive power. The opus title track is a compendium of improvisational soundings and field recordings that include a chorus of squeaky swings, a cat's purring, snapping shrimp, a diseased lung, and cacophony on a yard sale car rack. Exquisitely abrasive and haunting tracks 1 through 6 yield to the perfumed machinery and melodious hypnosis of the remaining tracks. All were originally performed under cover of live film and slide projections with optical manipulations at alternative music venues in and around Los Angeles."

DEMPSTER, STUART: On The Boards CD (NOM 11). $13.50

"Stuart Dempster has been involved in a variety of new music endeavors over the last 40 years. He organized the ensemble to record Terry Riley's landmark piece 'In C' for Columbia Records; commissioned works from Luciano Berio, Ernst Krenek, Pauline Oliveros, and several others; gave David Tudor a place to stay while developing 'Rainforest'; participated in the U.S. premiere of Cornelius Cardew's 'Treatise'; toured with Merce Cunningham Dance Company alongside such luminaries as David Behrman, Takehisa Kosugi, and Tudor; founded Deep Listening Band with Oliveros; and much more. However, he has only released a few solo recordings of his own work during that time: In The Great Abbey Of Clement VI, originally released on LP by 1750 Arch and later reissued by New Albion Records, and Underground Overlays from the Cistern Chapel, also on New Albion. This is a third, originally released on cassette only in 1986 and receiving limited distribution. Unlike the others, this documents Stuart in front of, and with, an audience. This is important as Dempster works with the audience, two pieces in particular using them to add to textures he is creating and bringing them into the music. 'Don't Worry, It Will Come' takes this a step further, using a series of hoses hidden underneath the audience seats with rather humorous results. The bulk of the disc is focused on his meditative buzzing and droning, skillfully drawn from unique didgeridus and the instrument he is best known for playing, trombone."

CHASSE, LOREN: Hedge of Nerves CD (NOM 12). $13.50

"The work of sonic artist/investigator Loren Chasse (solo, Thuja, Coelacanth, id Battery, and various manifestations of the 'Jewelled Antler collective') usually involves the documentation and manipulation of minute sound events (rubblings, scrapings, clickings) involving found objects and natural phenomena, emphasizing unexpected perspectives and connections. Hedge of Nerves is dedicated to a friend of Loren's who dearly loves the wonderful sound of record crackle as it mingles with the music from the record's grooves. He also enjoys the sound of record crackle alone, as when an LP cycles on its run-out groove. Compact disc reissues of early 20th century ethnic music 78s, or Portishead, or Philip Jeck: if it's got that crackle, he likes it! So, this friend asked Loren to make him a recording of vinyl surface noise only, one that he could DJ with, mixing with non-crackly musical sources, to create virtual scratchy records. For this reason, the idea was to avoid any obvious looping, but to make a continuous, unbroken and organic field of crackle. Hedge of Nerves is amazingly musical, and highly dynamic, moving from loud crinkly-crackly storming sound-swarms to a wilderness quietly bristling and sighing. It's a mesmerizing expanse of hiss and drone, buzz and click, with hints of melody (from his grandfather's 78). The originating idea of surface noise is ever-present, but upon closer examination that 'surface' proves quite deep, something within which the listener might become submerged, blissful and fascinated."

VA: Electrically Induced Vibrations LP (NOM 13). $18.00

"This is a collection of music created with electronic means by artists residing in Luxembourg, United Kingdom, United States, New Zealand and The Netherlands. Most of these people have been making music for 20 years or more, and have diverse histories. Their music as collected here is varied, but arranged into a cohesive flow. By all means experimental to the general population, the first side consists of what might be considered the more musical contributions, while the second explores more abstract and ambient territory." Artists include: Edward Ka-Spel, Cyclobe, Colin Potter, Steve Thomsen, Omit, Arkkon, The Silverman, Mistress of Strands, Fibrillation.

ANIMIST ORCHESTRA: Wuwei CD (NOM 14). $13.50

"From the beginning, the focus of the orchestra has been on listening, and improvising in the moment. A group of people truly playing together and focusing intently on the present can be a powerful thing. the use of natural objects (stones, shells, pine cones etc.) as opposed to more conventional musical instruments, can help the players to not fall back on learned habits of musical play. There is no canon or book of rules to refer to when using everyday things as sound makers, and this may facilitate the removal of actions arising from taste and memory." — Jeph Jerman.

SHANNON, MIKE: Laguz LP (NOM 16). $21.00

Edition of 200 copies. Instruments: camel bells, glass by Alison Chism, oscillator, voice/body, electric bass, field recordings, air drum, bottillia, dilruba, electronic devices, electric guitar, marimba, lira, erhu, all sorts percussion. "...minimal sections blending a street hawker in London with electronic tones, field recordings, percussion, string sections, a dilruba solo played with a chopstick, and a section which on first hearing I thought must have been a full ensemble of people playing, sounding as it does like music from some far off lost island (in truth it ends up he played the whole thing through multi-tracking)."

OMIT: Rejector CD (NOM 19). $13.50

"This is the first American CD release by veteran New Zealand artist Omit. Previously he has had three compact disc releases on the prestigious New Zealand label Corpus Hermeticum. 'Patterned after the paranoid electronics of Klaus Schulze's Cyborg, Omit tinkers with out-dated synthesizers, delay pedals and tape loops to shape plastic signal patterns and oblique modulations to evoke sprawling voids of nightmarish emptiness. Sublime wooden rhythms and unsettling, textured scrapes sporadically appear in the synthetic wash, suggesting that Williams has encountered the higher profile electronica of Alva Noto. Such parallels are purely coincidental, but Omit deserves a broader audience."

JERMAN, JEPH: Instability Studies CD (NOM 21). $13.50

"This is Jeph's third CD for Anomalous Records, following the solo disc The Second Attention and wuwei by his animist orchestra. Edition of 300 copies, hand made covers. 'The sugar bowl is ceramic, with an ill-fitting lid which will rattle if not seated properly. By changing the position of the lid in relation to the bowl, a number of different vibration rates were discovered. The simple recordings are stereo imagings of a single shaketable. The complex rendering is a series of shaketable recordings layered via overdubbing on the four track.' — Jeph Jerman

FIBRILLATION: My Axis Is Undone 3" CD (NOM 22). $9.00

"This collection of six pieces is the first official release by Fibrillation, following his appearance on the Anomalous Records compilation LP Electrically Induced Vibrations. Constructed with great care, these will reveal many layers over repeated listening. Though he works largely in the realms of electronic music, no source is considered outside of his realm, and in fact many fragments of sound important to his life are incorporated in the complex weave of aural communication. Fibrillation aims to create a sound compliment to mental images and evoke important personal experiences."

SANDERSON, PHILIP: Reprint CD (NOM 23). $13.50

"Reprint was originally released on cassette by Snatch Tapes in 1980 and was credited to an unknown duo called Claire Thomas & Susan Vezey. Claire and Susan were infact a figment of Snatch Tapes founder Philip Sanderson's imagination. In addition to running the label, Philip was one half of the DIY electronic group Storm Bugs, and regularly collaborator with a then unknown musician by the name of David Jackman (one of these tracks they did together was recent issued on a 10" by Die Stadt). Reprint was in effect one of his few solo recordings. The music of Reprint is a peculiar combination of academic rigour married to an inverted pop art aesthetic. For whereas pop art incorporated the cheap intoxication's of consumer culture into the supposed lofty rooms of high art, here was an attempt to incorporate the form or perhaps just the smell high art into the low brutality of DIY electronics."

DEUTSCH, ANDREW: Lung Cleaner CD (NOM 24). $14.00

"Andrew Deutsch creates very human electronic music working with layers of sounds to create dense and immersive sonic environments. He draws his sounds from a multitude of sources sometimes beginning with acoustic sources such as bells, music boxes, baby toys and water, and other times drawing from digital sources, converting video images to audio or transforming the data left after a computer crash. Andrew takes these things and makes a music that is positive and energizing. In fact, Lung Cleaner was created for friend going through an illness as a sort of 'sonic cure'. His strong work with sound, both as an artist and educator, has lead to collaborations with Paulive Oliveros, Tetsu Inoue, Stephen Vitiello, Tony Conrad, and John Cage. On this CD, Andrew presents another of his collaborations with Pauline Oliveros where she provides samples from her unpublished early electronic works from 1966 for one piece."

BIOTA/MNEMONISTS: Musique Actuelle 1990 CD (NOM 25). $13.50

"Biota was founded in 1979 in Fort Collins, Colorado, as the Mnemonist Orchestra. Over the years, the Mnemonist Orchestra developed into Biota (the musical contingent) and Mnemonists (the visual contingent). Both Biota and Mnemonists work as one on productions of musical and visual components. The group has released nine LPs, one EP, and four CDs on both their own Dys label and Recommended Records UK. Heard on this CD is the first adaption of their studio-based recording techniques since 1981, as presented at Montreal Musiques Actuelles — New Music America 1990. For their live performance they composed a set of material specifically for the concert and virtually relocated their studio to the stage to properly recreate it. Nine musicians playing only acoustic instruments (aside from electric guitar) were heard natural and unamplified from the stage while extensive electronic processing, heard through the speakers, rendered radical tonal, timbral and temporal modification creating an incredibly unique and strange sound world. Added to this, the two-dimensional graphic work that Mnemonists have become so renowned for was transformed into stunning video projections — beautiful examples of which are now included in the full color booklet accompanying this CD."

MILLIS, ROBERT: Leaf Music Drums Distant Drums - Recordings from Laos, Camb CD (NOM 26). $13.50

"Culled and carefully edited from many hours of field recordings made in Southeast Asia by Robert Millis, member of Climax Golden Twins (who are responsible for the OST of Session Nine, also the Anomalous Records released CD Lovely, and more besides). A mix of ambience and music including a beguiling improvisation performed by an elephant mahout using only a leaf, ethereal temple orchestras, blind street musicians, insect choruses, stage-coach rides, singing cabbies, drunken spirit orchestras performing Leo Sayer songs, naughty and nice children and impressionistic ride from the 21st century Thailand to the medieval corners of Myanmar — strange meetings of natural and supernatural, East and West. Rob worked on the recent Sublime Frequencies DVD NAT PWEE: Burma's Carnival of Spirit Soul and some of this was recorded during the same trip."

RLW: Views CD (NOM 27). $13.50

"In the 25th year of Ralf Wehowsky's recording career, Anomalous Records presents his first truly solo release featuring four new compositions based on instrumental improvisations. Using simple devices (tone-generators, percussion toys, music boxes, an electric toothbrush and an electric guitar) played in unusual ways, he builds up layers of each sound to create a suite of textural pieces. Each of the four tracks takes on an identity unique from the others, as the first three each focus on one of the sound sources while the last combines elements from the previous three to make something else. The disc opens with a 20-minute piece of mysterious and drifting electronic tones. Other tracks highlight very tactile sounds and bring a much more 'live' element to his work, while retaining his skillful use of dynamics and placement of silence which have gained him so many fans. Previous releases by RLW have seen him collaborate with such diverse artists as Achim Wolschheid, Bernhard Günter, Andrew Chalk, David Grubbs, Jim O'Rourke, Kevin Drumm, and Bruce Russell. He is the founder of the now defunct group P16.D4 and the still active label Selektion."

FULLMAN, ELLEN: Staggered Stasis CD (NOM 29). $13.50

"Over the last two decades, Ellen Fullman has been perfecting her Long String Instrument. This unique instrument of her own design is some 80 feet in length and played by literally walking through it. The resulting sounds are beautiful gliding tones with a rich harmonic content. The CD presents two works from her time in Austin, Texas in the late 1980's which beautifully display a sound you can get inside of. These long tracks envelope you in their cascading overtones. Even though she has performed widely in the United States and Europe, this is only Ellen's third solo CD, following previous releases on XI Records and New Albion. So hearing these gorgeous and important pieces from her archive is cause for celebration."

INOUE & ANDREW DEUTSCH, TETSU: Field Tracker CD (NOM 9). $13.50

Repressed. "Field Tracker was recorded at the Institute for Electronic Art, Alfred NY during the Winter of 2000. Inoue, utilizing his digital sound processing systems in combination with bells, guitar, and other odd sound making objects, constructed tiny improvisational sound moments each one having a shape and gesture of their own. These micro compositions were at times highly abstract and noisy and at other times extremely melodic and calm. Many of these micro compositions were used in the production of his recent release Object and Organic Code, the others (almost 2 hours worth) were handed over to Andrew Deutsch who was to construct another release combining sounds of his own. Being responsible for the overall 'Auskomponierung' or compositional unfolding of the work, Deutsch combined synthesized sounds, drones, chatter, loops and other d.s.p. techniques to produce what he hoped would be a kind of 'Gebrauchsmusik' or useful music that one might use in the home. The work has a notion of 'ambitendency' built into it, that is, the tendency toward change combined with an equal tendency toward stasis. The work could be described as 'meta-divisionism', 'Baroque Minimalism', or 'expanded systemic digital minimalism'. Sound works for our new recombinatory world."

LERMAN, RICHARD: A Matter of Scale and Other Pieces CD (NOM LERMAN3). $13.50

"Richard Lerman has been active in music since the 1960s, and yet only having two previous releases: Travelon Gamelon LP on Folkways and Within Earreach CD on Artifact Recordings. This is a collection of live pieces using Richard's trademark amplified small sounds from piezo discs along with other instrumentation in live performance (including a recording from inside the Houston Astrodome). Unique use of blowtorch on metal and amplified drinking straws."

KNOTT, DAVID: Natura Naturans CD (NOM NOT1). $13.50

"Veteran improviser and instrument builder as yet almost undocumented by recordings. This disc will feature improvisations on his 'stringboards', simple yet beautiful amalgamations of wood and prepared strings that draw to mind harps, gongs, and sound sculptures. 'At a woodshop I was renting I had been messing with attaching strings to collected throw-away (found) pieces of plywood. I had a collection of used strings of many types: guitar, bass guitar, cello, violin, dulcimer, harp, piano, along with some types of raw wire including brass and nylon monofilament. I had heard Ellen Fullman's Long String Instrument and wanted to experiment with making strings in long lengths. I enjoyed using two strings to make a longer combined length and found the results to be shimmering.' — David Knott."

ANOPHELES:

DEBRIS: Static Disposal CD (ANOPH 004). $16.00

Finally a legit reissue of this mid-70s American monster. Although "discovered" pretty early on within the realms of private press mania, this album has never quite reached the hysterical peaks achieved by other strange artifacts of this era. Very detailed reissue work on the part of Anopheles, who've turned this out as one of the most finely detailed and richly presented documents of its type. "This legendary group from Chickasha, Oklahoma formed in 1975 and self-released their lone LP in 1976. A Dada/punk/psych masterpiece recorded in just under seven hours in Dec. 75, the LP and the individuals who created it have long been the subject of a great deal of mystery and conjecture due to their elusiveness, the mind-blowing quality of the music as well as the provocative negative image 'bondage' LP sleeve design. This expanded reissue includes all 11 original LP tracks in sparkling fidelity from the original master tapes along with 10 previously unissued rehearsal recordings (total time just over 76 minutes). Fully authorized by the band, this CD also features a 28 page booklet with rare photos, lyrics, and personal accounts by all three original members, including bassist Chuck Ivey's tale of relocating to L.A. to participate in the nascent Dangerhouse punk scene, where he took the stage with the Randoms at the Masque benefit in Feb. 78. The Debris LP was also namechecked in Nurse With Wound's infamous listing of influential LPs included with their first album in 1979. In short, Debris cultivated its own dynamic musical vernacular, showing the influence of Captain Beefheart, the Stooges, early Roxy Music and other pre-punk mainstays of the time. Their closest contemporaries were Hearthan era Pere Ubu, Siren-era Chrome, Indiana-era MX-80 Sound and Canadian sonic miscreants Simply Saucer. The beautifully raw and untamed bonus cuts include two unreleased originals, five alternate takes to the LP tracks, covers of the Stooges 'Real Cool Time' and John Cale's 'Gun', as well as 'Other Things', a song originally recorded by Debris' precursor group, Victoria Vein and the Thunderpunks."

DEBRIS: Static Disposal LP (ANOPH 006). $16.00

"Anopheles Records is proud to announce a limited edition, high quality clear vinyl LP reissue of this 1975 Oklahoma outer limits psych-noise proto-punk extravaganza. This edition features the complete 1976 self-released LP from the original master tapes, with original artwork, a new insert and a previously unreleased (and amazing!) November, 1975 practice take of the Stooges 'Real Cool Time' (an earlier, radically different recording to the CD version). This is a one time only vinyl reissue, limited to 1000 copies."

TWINKEYZ: Cartoon Land LP (ANOPH 007). $16.00

"Deluxe LP issue of the best studio recordings of '70s Sacramento garage psych legends, the Twinkeyz! The 1998 Aliens In Our Midst CD is out of print, and Donnie Jupiter decided we'd have the most fun making the music available again on a high quality limited edition LP. Stunning full color sleeve featuring original artwork by Donnie never seen in public before, card stock insert with photo and brand new liner notes by Karl Ikola. This group was the 'missing link' between the Sacramento Valley '60s garage band scene (Oxford Circle, the Public Nuisance) to '80s Paisley Underground heroes originating from the tiny Davis/Sacramento cluster of groups of the late '70s/early '80s (Dream Syndicate, Game Theory, True West). This edition features two cuts never before issued on vinyl. All the original singles and LP tracks. 13 cuts of the best crude genius America had to offer a quarter century ago."

ANOTHER LATE NIGHT (UK):

KID LOCO: Anotherlatenight CD (ALN 007 CD). $16.00

"The LateNight train rolls on..... This time taking with it France's premiere downtempo producer Kid Loco. With Groove Armada's mix having been nominated for Muzik Magazine's Compilation Of The Year Award the series just seems to get stronger and stronger. Kid Loco is no exception. Like the previous, highly acclaimed mix from skate legend Tommy Guerrero, this one features gems that reach back, way back to the dulcet tones of John Lucien and Harvey Mandel. We then move softly forward into the percussive persuasions of The Herbaliser, DJ Crystal and Public Image Ltd to name but a few. Carefully selected and smoothly arranged this mix will slip like velvet into the collection of any 'AnotherLateNight' fan. Also features Kid Loco's exclusive cover of Gang Of Four's 'Paralysed'. 22 tracks from the likes of John Lucien, Aim, DJ Crystal, The Herbaliser, and more."

NIGHTMARES ON WAX: Late Night Tales CD (ALN 008 CD). $16.00

"With names like Groove Armada, Zero 7, Fila Brazillia, Tommy Guerrero, Kid Loco, Rae &

Christian and Howie B all having divulged their influences for the AnotherLateNight series, Nightmares On Wax, aka DJ Ease, aka George Evelyn steps forward and delivers his LateNightTale — giving you an insight into the tunes that have shaped his sound. The LateNight phenomenon always aims to deliver you, the listener, with a put-it-on-and-let-it-play LateNight party pack. The series keeps with a policy of being all about the quality of the tunes and N.O.W.s eclecticism and eccentricity makes him another perfect candidate to tell his own set of tall stories for the small hours."

NIGHTMARES ON WAX: Late Night Tales 3LP (ALN 008 LP). $19.00
Triple LP version.

SLY & ROBBIE: Late Night Tales CD (ALN 009 CD). $16.00

"An eminent selection from reggae's royalty, Killer tracks from Aretha Franklin, Curtis Mayfield, Bobb Deep and Ian Dury. Features two exclusive tracks including a cover version by Sly & Robbie themselves." Artists: DJ DSL, MFSB, George Katsiris, Jones Girls, Rare Earth, Jaymes Samuel & Canibus, Clarence Carter, Evelyn 'Champagne' King, Ian Dury and the Blackheads, Aretha Franklin, Seelenluft and Mobb Deep feat. Lil Kim.

SLY & ROBBIE: Late Night Tales 3LP (ALN 009 LP). $21.00

Triple LP version, unmixed.

TURIN BRAKES: Late Night Tales CD (ALN 011CD). $19.00

"Darlings of the new Brit revolution and master songsmiths Turin Brakes invite us to crank down the stereo while we rifle through their record collections. Drawing on sounds that inspired their first two gold selling artist albums this is a truly majestic listening experience; a mix of soaring strings, lo-fi grooves, and sweet vocals from the likes of JJ Cale, John Barry, Talk Talk, G Love & Special Sauce and many more. Also includes an Exclusive Turin Brakes cover version of a Rolling Stones classic. 11th release from the LateNight series — First ever compilation from Turin Brakes — Showcasing the strings and sounds that inspired their first two gold selling artist albums — A majestic, melodic, lo-fi listening experience." Artists: Nicolai Dungar, John Barry, Silver Jews, Les Barons feat. Henri Gaobi, Grant Green, G Love & Special Sauce, John Hammond, Chris Whitley, Dave Palmer, JJ Cale, Talk Talk, Al Di Meola feat. John McLaughlin, Smog, Gillian Welch, Jessica Lauren, Turin Brakes.

TURIN BRAKES: Late Night Tales 3LP (ALN 011LP). $23.00

Triple LP version, unmixed.

ANTENNA FARM:

DAVENPORT, BART: Game Preserve CD (ANT 501CD). $13.00

"Bart Davenport arose from the '90s Bay Area mod revival scene leading such legendary acts as the Loved Ones and the Kinetics. Since then he has struck out on his own as one of the last few singing and songwriting troubadours of our generation. His second solo album hits a tight, no-nonsense, analog sound that is both classic and pioneering, and some of the East Bay's finest musicians were recruited. Keeping with the Berkeley/Oakland spirit, Davenport's second CD has more cameos than a hip-hop album. Members of Call And Response, Cake, Subtle and Dave Gleason's Wasted Days all contribute, while stunning vocal harmonies from The Moore Bros. and Nedelle give many of the songs a West Coast, 'Ventura Highway' kind of vibe."

BEAM: Beam CD (ANT 502CD). $13.00

"Beam emits from Oakland, CA, with a light touch and a heavy heart. Songwriter and lead chanteuse Helene Renaut originally hails from France and sculpts bright, brooding songs infused with the airs of Syd Barrett, Nick Drake and Jackie DeShannon. Most of the repertoire is sung in English with a British folk and pop sensibility that you can sway to. Having played around the Bay Area for three years, Beam has shared the stage with the likes of the Court and Spark, Bart Davenport, the Fruit Bats and more. Beam's self-titled debut features folks from Call And Response, The Moore Brothers, Themselves/Anticon, and Winfred E. Eye, and it is as much a bright light that dazzles as a late night fire from which to take comfort."

ANTICON:

THEMSELVES: Them CD (ABR 010 CD). $15.50

"Themselves, formerly Them, are Doseone and Jel — the former a nowhere man out to make the world small and his neuroses something lovely, an artist free of form and slave to his own scatterbrained genius; the latter the drum machine's premier musician, whose distinct few-bit sound and rhythmic sensibilities get him coveted by vocalists and MCs far and wide. Them was originally released as a self-titled album by them in May of 2000 when little about Anticon was known or understood; the record went out of print about a year after its release. For many, this album introduced the ground-breaking, genre-defying madness of the duo. Jel's distinct sound naturally facilitates Doseone's surreal vocals, evoking another world entirely. The record is a funhouse ride turned ugly — through childlike daydreams and social rants, to hip hop bravado and just outright strangeness."

SOLE: Bottle Of Humans CD (ABR 011 CD). $15.00

"Bottle of Humans, Sole's debut full length release on Anticon, and his first widely distributed record, was released in 1999 and quickly became a cult-classic, but by the year 2001 the record's initial pressing went out of print due to a dispute with Anticon's previous distributor. The bootlegging is finally over. This highly anticipated CD reissue has been re-mastered, the record's artwork has been revitalized the way it was originally intended (including the album's lyrics in the liner notes) and its track listing has been slightly altered. Bottle of Humans combines the anger and conviction of early Ice Cube with Sole's own brand of self-deprecating honesty. Whether he's lashing out at the hypocrisy of 'the industry' or celebrating the sad state of his own life, you know it's coming from his heart, it sounds big, and you believe every word of it. Looking and sounding better than ever, Bottle of Humans is classic, vintage Sole. Features production from Alias, Jel, Daddy Kev, Raggy Andy, Scott Matelic, Odd Nosdam, and Controller 7."

VA: Anticon We Ain't Fessin' (Double Quotes) CD (ABR 019 CD). $7.00

"The Anticon posse's rhyme-testing, extremely abstract title cut, originally heard on the giga-single, gets more than just a remix; it gets a wrecking ball. As soon as you think you get it, they've moved on to the next thing. By the time it's all over, you realize that you're going to have to play it back. 'More From June,' the lost Deep Puddle Dynamics song, is on the flip, with anticon MCs Dose One, Sole and Alias, along with Slug and Eyedea of Rhymesayers, over the music of Tortoise's John Herndon. CD includes the bonus track 'Pitty Party People.'"

FRANCIS, SAGE: Personal Journals CD (ABR 021 CD). $14.00

"Sage Francis, AKA Xaul Zan, AKA Strange Famous, member of the witness protection program, 2000 Scribble Battle MC Champ, 1999 Superbowl Battle MC Champ, and nationally ranked slam poet 1998 and 1999, is finally dropping an official, full length album. Sage or 'Stage Presence' has gained a reputation from ripping live shows with his emotionally intense songs, freestyles, and spoken words, but this album provides a comprehensive and definitive introduction to a very different kind of MC and person. Recorded over the period of a year, Personal Journals beautifully chronicles Sage's often times painful life — from relationships to being an outsider. Sage has also employed a host of producers for beats on this album, including, Sixtoo, jel (Atmosphere, Deep Puddle Dynamics, them), mayonnaise, Joe Beats, odd nosdam, Mr. Dibbs, alias and more. This album is destined to be the reference point for emo-hip hop."

ALIAS: The Other Side Of The Looking Glass CD (ABR 022 CD). $13.00

"The humble godfather of goth-hop and once-unsung seminal ironman of Anticon, alias avenges the downtrodden and abused producer-rapper. Composing music from his deepest shades, this irrefutable jack of all trades drops anchor with a debut solo full length intended to serve as hip-hop's response to a Stevie Wonder record, with virtually all writing, composition, and production created by the artist himself. This collection of introspective lyrics rapped over ethereal, minor-chord drones, dark samples, and aggressive, dubbed-out drum beats was recorded in home studios between December 1998 and October 2001. The production is rainy-day contemplative and rhythmically menacing, and the mixes sound simultaneously calculated and spontaneous."

ALIAS: The Other Side Of The Looking Glass 2LP (ABR 022 LP). $15.00

Double LP version.

SOLE: Salt On Everything 12" (ABR 024 EP). $6.50

"Although it might seem impossible, sole has been resurrected from the dead once again and he sounds even more jaded and fed up than ever. sole maintains his complex delivery and original style but this single demonstrates that he has refined everything he does so well. In his signature hoarse voice, sole assaults hard, brooding tracks from anticon producers odd nosdam, alias, and jel with that characteristic honesty, sincerity and a touch of enduring self-pity. Features an exclusive track with Sage Francis."

THEMSELVES: The No Music. CD (ABR 025 CD). $15.50

"Themselves, formerly Them, are Doseone and Jel — the former a nowhere man out to make the world small and his neuroses something lovely, an artist who is free of form and slave to his own scatterbrained genius; the latter the drum machine's premier musician, whose distinct few-bit sound and rhythmic sensibility get him coveted by vocalists far and wide. The no music, is Dose and Jel's second full length, an American ode to the exposed nerve. At times the soundscape is layered to the point of opacity, only to peel away and reveal the sometimes buried drum bone and sick sung skeleton beneath. The no music, sounds like the polyphony of all the machines in the factory that turn fetus heads into skulls. The project is dark, maybe morose in parts, but it never takes itself too seriously for too long. Although the words are sometimes cloaked beneath layers of noise, they are consistent, confidently self-aware, and deliberately interrelated. The no music, is part composition, part organized chaos."

THEMSELVES: The No Music. 2LP (ABR 025 LP). $15.00

Double LP version.

SOLE: Selling Live Water CD (ABR 026 CD). $15.50

"Twenty-five, bookless, bored, obsessive, hypocritical, barb-witted, full of shit, and horrified by the war machine; what else could this outspoken tangle of contradictions do but make the next classic rap album? Sole lives out a perpetual identity crisis so we don't have to, surfacing each of his past lives in his music: the 13-year-old Ice Cube from Maine, the Lord Finesse-styled battle MC who ruled open mics in New England, the hyperactive San Francisco transplant consumed with the idea of anticon, and finally the sagacious mid-twenties writer who hums Dylan and guns for Bush."

SOLE: Selling Live Water 2LP (ABR 026 LP). $15.00

FRANCIS, SAGE: Makeshift Patriot LP (ABR 027 LP). $9.00

"Makeshift Patriot was written, recorded and released free to the public exactly one month after 9/11/01. Consisting mainly of news reporter quotes, it is basically an attack on popular media and an indirect attack on its naive audience. Makeshift Patriot contains six brand new Sage Francis tracks to follow up his critically acclaimed, debut album, Personal Journals. Featuring music from AOI, MF Shalem, Meaty Ogre, and a politically charged, spoken word track entitled 'Hey, Bobby', this piece of vinyl shouldn't be one of a kind in content or purpose... but it is."

ODD NOSDAM: No More Wig For Ohio CD (ABR 028 CD). $15.50

"A young odd nosdam began meddling with machines in the mid-'90s, looping his favorite Nirvana riffs on a Sega Genesis CD player and filling tapes with noise collage. Since then he has compiled at least three solo full lengths, as well as a number of collaborations, including the highly acclaimed cLOUDDEAD. nosdam has developed his own distinct sound, drawing inspiration from a broad palette ranging from Flying Saucer Attack and Hood to the RZA and everything in between and outlying. nosdam allows his many mental ups and downs, quirks and eccentricities to seep deep into his sound creations — a rare quality among modern instrumental artists. No More Wig For Ohio is a meticulously deliberate two-part arrangement of instrumental songs and far found sounds collaged into a maniacal music quilt that somehow retains cohesiveness."

ODD NOSDAM: No More Wig For Ohio 2LP (ABR 028 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

WHY?: oaklandazulasyllum CD (ABR 029 CD). $15.50

"In addition to his membership in cLOUDDEAD and reaching quiet, why? has collaborated with Hood, Fog, boombip, jel and sole. why?'s quirky production and infectious melodies are merely sugar coating for the contents of a young man with unbuttoned lips and a gut spitting words. oaklandazulasyllum, why?'s first official self-produced full-length release, is fourteen lonely art songs recorded over two years' time. With sharp focus and visceral lyrics set in decisive production, each song maintains individuality while positioned to fulfill its unique role in the record's sequence."

WHY?: oaklandazulasyllum LP (ABR 029 LP). $11.00

LP version.

SOLE: Plutonium - Selling Live Water 12" (ABR 030 EP). $7.00

"Plutonium, the follow-up 12" to Sole's acclaimed full length Selling Live Water has finally arrived. The title track remixes the classic, Alias-produced Sole anthem about searching for truth in left- and right-wing propaganda in the press. Alias remixes his own beat down to its teeth, creating a Blade Runner eeriness to sole's already dark ponderings. For the second track, Odd Nosdam remixes his original contribution to Sole's full length, the title track 'Selling Live Water'. Nosdam's remix puts Sole's vocals in the forefront, while maintaining that tape-dubbed dirtiness characteristic of Nosdam's sound."

VA: Anticon Sampler 1999-2004 CD (ABR 031CD). $7.50

"Featuring Sage Francis, alias, Markus Archer of the Notwist, odd nosdam, dosh, why?, themselves (doseone and jel), sole, deep puddle dynamics (featuring Slug of Atmosphere), yet-to-be-released tracks by pedestrian, passage, sole, jel and restiform bodies. The Anticon Sampler CD features a selection of tracks from the past, present and future of the Anticon catalog at a back-breaking low price. The sampler introduces the label to the novices, clarifies the Anticon collective for the confused, educates those who are unlearned, offers our dedicated fans a chance to preview some unreleased tracks from upcoming full lengths."

DOSH: Dosh CD (ABR 032 CD). $15.50

"Martin Dosh, most well known as the drummer and Rhodes piano player in the Minneapolis band Fog (Ninja Tune), has struck out on his own with his debut solo record. When he wasn't practicing drums, playing in bands around Minneapolis or teaching drums to elementary school students, Dosh was collecting hours upon hours of drum breaks and keyboard riffs in the basement of his house, a room cluttered with musical instruments, old samplers and effects pedals, blown out amps and a couple of dusty couches. He worked for a little over a year putting sounds to tape with the occasional accompaniment of friends. These recordings would become this collection of 12 self-engineered, mature instrumentals. Dosh's live drums, which are filtered, overdriven, looped, and effected, sound like a robot with human hands playing a beat-up kit through a vacuum cleaner. They are set in layers of sad, jazzy piano keys, beautiful feedback ambience, vibes, reverb and delay-drenched Casios, turntables, guitars, and Dictaphone tape. The album displays a full hi-fi sound spectrum while maintaining the down-to-earth honesty of a homemade recording. Riding the faders, mutes and effects knobs, Dosh mixes in the spirit of Lee 'Scratch' Perry, making each pass a one-of-a-kind, spontaneous performance."

DOSH: Dosh LP (ABR 032 LP). $10.00

LP version.

ALIAS: Eyes Closed EP CD (ABR 033 CD). $7.50

"The eyes closed EP is five beautifully arranged instrumental songs of filtered polyrhythmic percussion, fat chopped drums, drone synths, pretty string samples and some TV and radio overdubs with anti-imperialist / anti-consumer sentiments. Each of the five tracks stands alone, a four-minute electronic pocket symphony with movements and themes, while smoothly transitioning into the next. A departure from early sample-heavy, loop-based alias productions, tracks laden with washy keyboards and eerie guitar rely more on Alias's multi-instrumental talents. Lying somewhere between ambient Brian Eno and Kraftwerk, eyes closed seems akin to Boards of Canada or early Aphex Twin while maintaining some of the boom bap of roots hip-hop — at the same time rainy day contemplative and rhythmically menacing."

ALIAS: Eyes Closed EP 12" (ABR 033 EP). $7.50

Vinyl EP version.

THEMSELVES: The No Music of AIFFs CD (ABR 034 CD). $15.00

"Themselves are Doseone and Jel. The No Music of AIFF's is the companion piece to the duo's September 2002 release, The No Music. The original has been remixed down to its smallest intestine and back toward the light until only the order of its tracks remains intact. The record features a new themselves song along with guest remixers Controllor7 and Matth, Hrvatski, why?, Hood, alias, A Grape Dope (John Herndon), Fog, odd nosdam, The Notwist and Electric Birds. The listening experience that follows is a personality-heavy splay of the thousand threads in every sort of human music. Twelve diverse guest artists were selected in a real life lottery from an entire globe's worth of eligible home recordists. Each original track is reborn - re-contextualized and translated, through a new lens, unique to each of the guest artist's sensibilities."

THEMSELVES: The No Music of AIFFs 2LP (ABR 034 LP). $15.00

Double LP version.

WHY?: Early Whitney EP CD (ABR 035 CD). $9.00

"Why? grew up in Cincinnati playing kickball in the cul de sac and watching 8-bit Nintendo in his big brother's attic bedroom. The minor key melodies of religious music and the tight belt, tight-laced shoes of his soft-spoken middle childhood in part provide the impetus for why?'s candy-time-disonant, singsong-suicide style. In addition to his membership in cLOUDDEAD and reaching quiet, why? has collaborated with Hood, Fog, boom-bip, jel and sole; he has toured the world twice, performed two Peel Sessions under the cLOUDDEAD moniker, and is admired by Boards of Canada, Mum, Stereolab, Danielson Famile, The Notwist and Mogwai. why?'s quirky production and infectious melodies are merely sugar coating for the contents of a young man with unbuttoned lips and a gut spitting words."

Picking up where why?'s well received oaklandazulasyllum left off, the Early Whitney EP maintains why?'s unique, off-kilter, dirty-drum, digital, dark folk constructed with samplers, guitars, keyboard and all kinds of found sounds. Over unique song structures why? delivers pretty melodies and catchy, sing-songy half-raps. The record starts out with the hair-raising title track (initially released on oaklandazulasyllum) 'Early Whitney,' a sad song about all things being mortal. The rest of the side continues with a similar feel and theme. Just as original and sweet as his melodies are why's words. The tracks on Side A are introspective, moody and lonely dissections of the human condition, with memorable lines like 'you should whistle when you walk past a graveyard and hide your face in your trench coat collar' on 'Ladyfingers,' whereas Side B is more topical with songs like 'Darla,' a whimsical vegan anthem of sorts, starring a hen named 'Darla.' 'Me on Beer' ponderings class-ism, and 'the crest' brings it all back home."

ALIAS: Muted CD (ABR 036 CD). $15.00

"Alias is the humble and once unsung, seminal iron man of Anticon — an avenger of the producer/rapper type, whose music sounds his own at the turn of every instant. Part Brian Eno and part Kraftwerk, muted is akin to Boards of Canada or early Aphex Twin while maintaining some of the boom bap roots of hip-hop. Alias uses muted to explore (and at times parody) the 'boundaries' between what is considered hip-hop and what is considered electronica. Tracks exaggerate and underline these distinctions, but the approaches are so closely fused, it's not clear where one begins and the other ends."

ALIAS: Muted 2LP (ABR 036 LP). $15.00

Double LP version.

ALIAS: Unseen Sights 12" (ABR 037EP). $7.50

"Alias's follow-up 12" to his critically acclaimed Muted record features Markus Acher of The Notwist and Pedestrian. Both tracks demonstrate Alias's compositional talent and flexibility as he blurs the lines between several music genres. In a addition to the title track and 'The Physical Voice,' the single also features two new exclusive instrumental tracks by Alias: 'Autumn Afternoons' and 'Something Borrowed,' as well as exclusive instrumentals of both 'Unseen Sights' and 'The Physical Voice.'"

PASSAGE: The Forcefield Kids CD (ABR 038CD). $15.00

"Passage's is the kind of electro-new-wave-industrial-folk-hospital-waiting-room hope-hop that you can dance or die to. The self-produced Forcefield Kids is full of distorted lo-bit jiggly drums; chopped-up, backward harps and French horns; distinctive synths with envelopes and filters; acoustic guitars; playful, heavy words; and catchy-ass melodies. Passage capably references and blends a seemingly infinite library of influences. Who would have thought that someone could create a hardcore, new wave, melodious fast-raps record, with sweeter-than-candy indie-pop hooks?"

PASSAGE: The Forcefield Kids 2LP (ABR 038LP). $15.00

Double LP version.

PASSAGE: Creature In The Classroom 12" (ABR 039). $7.00

"The lead single for Passage's upcoming, self-produced full length, The Forcefield Kids. The title track, an unintentional anthem for disaffected youth, encapsulates the miserable moments of everyone's high school years. The second track on the A-Side, 'Poem to the Hospital,' creates the kind of hospital waiting room scene that could take place only in a David Lynch film. Layered with distinctive synths, rattling, distorted, low-bit drums, and sung with Passage's signature melodious fast raps, the Creature in the Classroom 12-inch gives a sense of Passage's genius. He blends and references hardcore, new wave, indie-pop, electro, fast rap and just about everything else."

ODD NOSDAM: Your American Bonus 7" (ABR 040EP). $5.00

"Ten American minutes in the No More Wig For Ohio short-attention-span collage tradition. Packed with personal references and inside jokes, side one's quick pace jerks through four big Nosdam beats constructed from his 'oddest' sources yet. Consider side two's more serious five minutes as David's personal reflection time, concocted with two 'throwaway' beats and a fun-with-tape remake of DJ Andrew Broder's Happy Birthday Party Time mixtape intro."

ANTIDOTE (UK):

DJ YODA: How To Cut And Paste CD (ANT 100 CD). $17.00

"DJ Yoda is from London, England and is one of the UK's biggest hip-hop mixtape and club DJ's. The whole album was mixed with just two turntables, a mixer and a four-track recorder, shunning the swish technology of samplers and computers. The album features top scratch DJ's from both sides of the Atlantic showing off their skills (A-Trak, Plus One, Scratch Perverts etc.), and has collated together hip-hop tracks from Pete Rock, Biz Markie, Ugly Duckling & Paul Barman along with exclusives from Quasimoto, Nextmen & Aspects. Together with this, Yoda's thrown in some funk, soul, TV themes, film samples (Dune, John Cleese & The Balti Curry Kitchen) and a shed-load of scratching. The result is a mess!"

DJ YODA FEAT. PEOPLE UNDER THE STAIRS: Quid Control 12" (ANT 1003). $8.00

"The UK's hip hop mixtape maestro DJ Yoda teams up with LA's People Under The Stairs. A laid back jazzy feel piano track with Yoda's own cut and paste magic with samples and scratches galore. The picture sleeve is a highlight with a 70's USA style advert with captions and funky logo's."

MADLIB: Blunted In The Bomb Shelter Mix 12" (ANT 1004). $8.00

Sampler EP version. 6 of the tracks selected by Madlib for the Blunted mix CD, in unmixed form (no overlap w/ the 2LP version). Features: The Upsetters, Lee Perry, Prince Jammy, Dennis Alcapone, Barrington Levy, King Tubby.

UGLY DUCKLING: Turn It Up 12" (ANT 1006). $8.00

12" single. Tracklisting: Side One: 1. 'Turn It Up', 2. 'Turn It Up' Instrumental; Side Two: 1. 'Turn It Up (Refried)', 2. 'Turn It Up (Refried)' Instrumental.

12" single of this track (by the guys from the Beatnuts) from the Dan Greenpeace & DJ Yoda album

Unthugged

Features

Dirty,

Clean, Instrumental and Accapella versions.

GRANDMASTER MELLE MEL & THE FURIOUS 5: Freestyle (The Steinski Additive Remix) 12" (ANT 1008). $8.00

Club, Clean & Album mixes of Melle Mel's classic "Freestyle" (Steinski's Additive Remix). Plus: the Double Dee & Steinski 'Sugarhill Suite'. "Double Dee & Steinski at the controls/rhythm scratching by Cut Chemist."

DJ YODA: How To Cut & Paste Mixtape Vol. 2 CD (ANT 101 CD). $17.00

"DJ Yoda (from London, England) is one of the UK's biggest hip-hop mixtape and club DJ's. How to Cut & Paste Vol.2 was recorded using exactly the same primitive methods that Yoda used for the first volume — two turntables, a mixer and a four-track. No computers, no samplers, no gadgets — just a bunch of classic and exclusive hip-hop, and some very silly samples. Once again he's included some exclusive new hip-hop that you won't hear anywhere else including Yoda's first single 'Quid Control' with People Under The Stairs, 'Glue' by Mr Complex & Biz Markie and a freestyle from MC Paul Barman under the new Grinning Barns guise. The album also features some classic hip-hop from the likes of A Tribe Called Quest, Pharcyde, Beatnuts & Wu Tang Clan, as well as some golden oldies from Billie Holiday and George Formby, which Yoda updated in his own unique style. This time 'round Yoda's also added an 80's pop section to the mix, taking in Rick Astley, Five Star, Bomb The Bass, SWV and Hall & Oates. And due to popular demand, he's also returned to the reggae, producing a seven-minute track jam-packed with the finest Trojan joints. So check it out — if nothing else, it's the only mix CD you'll ever hear featuring Rick Astley and the Wu Tang Clan..."

MADLIB: Blunted In The Bomb Shelter Mix CD (ANT 102 CD). $17.00

2002 release, a classic mix of reggae from the Trojan catalog. "Some people have musical greatness thrust upon them, some are born into it, Otis Jackson Jr. — aka Madlib — has hip-hop embedded into his DNA. His father was an accomplished R&B session musician who played with the likes of David Axelrod and H.B. Barnum. His uncle is Jon Faddis, legendary trumpeter who played with Dizzy Gillespie, Charles Mingus and Bob James among others. Growing up, Madlib was astutely aware of his family's musical legacy. He was obsessed with Jazz, hip-hop, reggae and collecting records. These obsessions have worked their way into his songs such as Quasimoto's 'Jazz Cats PtI' and 'Return of the Loop Digga' a hilariously accurate re-telling of Madlib's run-in with a less-than-knowledgeable record store clerk. After getting spotted by Peanut Butter Wolf, Madlib was signed to Stones Throw Records. No one could have anticipated the quantity or quality of work that would follow, Madlib became the leader of the Loopack and put out a solo project as his alter ego Quasimoto, a helium-voiced rapper that Jackson created on a whim and later developed into a full-length album. As if that wasn't enough, he is also the sole member of the new jazz experiment, Yesterday New Quintet, which have released a crate-load of recordings of late." Artists: Don Drummond, Prince Far I, Prince Jammy, Dillinger, Lee Perry, Sly & Robbie, U Roy, Winston Blake, King Tubby, Gregory Isaacs, Dennis Brown, Zap Pow, Owen Leon Silveras, Lival Thompson, The Aggrovators, Prince Jazzbo, Barrington Levy, Roots Radics Band, Leroy Wallace, The Chosen Few, Upsetters, Cornel Campbell, Jerry Lewis, Miley Dread, Dennis Alcapone, Gaytones, The Skatalites, Johnny Clarke, The Pioneers, Winston Jarrett & The Flames.

MADLIB: Blunted In The Bomb Shelter Mix 2LP (ANT 102 LP). $18.00

Double LP version. 16 of the tracks selected by Madlib for the Blunted mix CD, in unmixed form.

GREENPEACE & DJ YODA, DAN: Unthugged CD (ANT 103 CD). $17.00

"DJ Yoda's How To Cut & Paste Volumes 1 and 2 contained more than your fair share of hip-hop, funk, reggae and turntablism, whilst at the same time managing to successfully fuse the A-Team theme with electro, George Formby with scratching, and Rick Astley with the Wu-Tang Clan. For the Unthugged mix CD, Yoda teams up with his long-term DJ partner, and fellow Hip Hop Connection and Fat Lace Magazine scribe Dan Greenpeace. Greenpeace presents XFM's All City Hip-Hop Show, and also finds time to run Bad Magic Records (Blak Twang's label). Together, they come up with a completely original, educational and hilarious hip-hop mix, with contents ranging from classic old school rap by BDP and T La Rock, to brand new (and exclusive to the Unthugged mix) tracks by Ugly Duckling, The Beatnuts and Large Professor."

PRINCE PAUL: Politics of the Business 2LP +7" (ANT 104 LP). $18.00

UK-only vinyl version (CD is on Razor & Tie in the US). "On Politics of the Business, via his trademark commentary-by skit and inimitable style, Paul addresses music business institutions that have often questioned his artistic judgment. The album features guest appearances by Dave Chappelle, Erick Sermon, Chris Rock, Guru, Chuck D, Ice-T, Tony Touch, Beatnuts, Mr. Len, DJ Premier, Chubb Rock and MF Doom. Politics of the Business is Prince Paul's follow-up to two very critically acclaimed albums, 1999's A Prince Among Thieves and Handsome Boy Modeling Schools So . . . How's Your Girl? (a collaborative effort with Dan the Automator). Prince Paul is also renowned for his production and re-mix work with De La Soul, Chris Rock, the Beastie Boys and George Clinton." Includes bonus limited 7".

STEINSKI: Steinski's Sugarhill Mix: Burning Out of Control CD (ANT 105 CD). $17.00

"In the early '80s, as part of Double Dee & Steinski, advertising executive Steve Stein created the Lessons — a series of archetypal cut and paste records that, to this day, are still lauded as some of the most important dance tracks of all time. Steinski mixed The Marx Brothers with James Brown, 50s news footage with Afrika Bambaataa, and influenced just about every hip-hop DJ on the planet. Not least of which Coldcut, Q Bert, DJ Shadow (who he has recently toured with), and Jurassic 5's Cut Chemist (who appears on this mix). On Burning Out of Control, Steinski is set loose on the Sugar Hill catalogue, allowing him to indulge in his love of old school hip-hop, and the result is fascinating twist on a typical 80s rap mix. Employing Prince Paul and a fake news-reader, Steinski mixes and scratches his way through an exciting lesson on the birth of hip-hop."

DJ YODA: How To Cut & Paste: The 80's Edition CD (ANT 107 CD). $17.00

"How To Cut & Paste Volumes 1 and 2 saw DJ Yoda draw in influences as diverse as reggae, electro, funk, hip-hop, The A Team theme and George Formby, but the biggest reaction from fans was to his now-classic 80s Pop Megamix. Given the Yoda treatment, classic 80s pop records were mutilated into masterpieces of turntablism, with scratching and samples peppering each track. Now Yoda extends the 80s idea to a whole mix — with rock and pop records ranging from the respectable (Blondie) to the completely cheesy (Rick Astley) from the 1980's sitting surprisingly comfortably in between hip-hop hits from the same era." Artists: Grandmaster Flash & The Furious Five featuring Melle Mel & Duke Bootee, Johnny Hates Jazz, Nice & Smooth, Climie Fisher, Paul Hardcastle, Grandmaster Flash & Melle Mel, Thompson Twins, Melle Mel & Duke Bootee, S Express, Betty Boo, Europe, Herbie Hancock, Lisa Lisa & Cult Jam, Midnight Star, Rick Astley, Terence Trent D'Arby, Tom Browne, Kurtis Blow, Blondie, ABC, Aztec Camera, Prefab Sprout, Toni Basil, Nena, Salt N Pepa, UB40, Slick Rick, Culture Club, Hall & Oates, The Primitives, A-Ha, Cameo, and Yoda.

DJ FORMAT: presents A Right Earful Vol. 1 CD (ANT 108CD). $17.00

"Brighton based Format has built a huge name for himself since the release of his debut album Music For The Mature B-Boy (Genuine/Pias 2003). For those unaware, Format works the same musical mines as DJ Shadow (who requested Format to support him on his UK tour) and Cut Chemist, utilising obscure funk and jazz breaks to come up with fresh hip-hop. On A Right Earful, he delves into his hip-hop roots with a lughole damaging selection of early 90's hip-hop and breaks." Artists: Down South, Abdominal & DJ Fase, Freestyle Fellowship, Madcap, Souls of Mischief, Nautilus feat. Fatski, Lord Sear, Edan, Ugly Duckling, The Brand New Heavies feat. Main Source, The Pharcyde, The Vascals, The Alkaholiks, King Tee feat. Nefretitti & Madcap, Kurious feat. Casual, Black Sheep, Double J, Little Barrie, The Upsetters, Gonzalez.

ANTIFAZ (PUERTO RICO):

VERSION CITY ROCKERS: Darker Roots CD (ATFZ 001CD). $13.00

"Nine classic reggae singers & players shed their skin in 2004 and present never-before-heard tracks; Glen Brown, Sugar Minott, Ronnie Davis (Itals), Sister Nancy, Ranking Joe, Cedric Brooks, Little John, Yabby You & The Prophets, and Congo Ashanti Roy (The Congos). These singers, many inactive in the reggae circuit, were brought together in a series of sessions that took place around the fall of the twin towers in 2001 to late 2003. Backed by the infamous NYC-based Version City Rockers group + Cedric Brooks on tenor sax, these recordings combine the post-911 melancholiness felt throughout New York and the world with a late 70's social consciousness and deep yard sound. In a time where digital riddims keep on turning tricks and flooding the genre, this offering can be considered a true & pure roots revival."

ANTIOPIC:

ULTRA-RED: ¡Amnistía! CD (AN 003 CD). $10.00

"Los Angeles collective Ultra-red (previous releases available from Comatonse, Mille Plateaux, Fat Cat, and Beta Bodega) come forward with an intense, playful and urgent commentary on the rights of undocumented immigrant workers. Using the May Day 2000 rally which took place on Wall Street in New York City as the sound source from which the group craft this suite of compositions, this 20 minute EP energetically brings the immediacy of the workers' situation to the fore. Ranging in style from finely detailed minimal house to precise and focused soundscaping, these recordings mark a stylistic departure for the collective while merging to create a seamless listening experience complete with repeating motifs, both verbal and musical, throughout the release. The use of field recordings of the rally (vocal house?) to create the sense of protest through atmosphere and rhythmic urgency is more effective and complex than to be found in Ultra-red's previous works."

WORKMAN, DION: Ching CD (AN 004 CD). $10.00

"Dion Workman (of Sigma Editions) produces a confounding piece — terrifyingly intrusive yet completely subtle, deep with texture and layer although monochromatic in character. Ching is a complex work of grey shadows and glaring light, an exemplar of aggressive digital minimalism. Its harsh textures coexist with the open-ended pulsation of extended tones and overtones, playing with the listener's tolerance. What sets Ching apart from simple noise is Workman's attention to minute detail, as well as the piece's mesmerizing structure. This short (20 minutes 37 seconds) and exhilarating work builds with calculated motion, suddenly bursting into silence, only to reconfigure itself, similar but different, in a quiet dance of amassing sonic shards."

GIFFONI/LEE RANALDO/JIM O'ROURKE, CARLOS: North Six 3" CD (AN 005CD). $10.00

"A seething, screaming set of power electronics and guitar with hardly a moment's pause for air, this recording finds the trio of Carlos Giffoni (computer, synth, guitar), Lee Ranaldo (guitar, firebell) and Jim O'Rourke (synth) in devastating form. This is classic free bombast, alternately sounding like a 'rock band' interpretation of Merzbow's Rainbow Electronics or a punk update of a Musica Elettronica Viva session. The instantly identifiable Ranaldo/Sonic Youth guitar sound is joined by blurring digital scree and analog filter abuse, melding to create a heavy tidal rush of ecstatic cosmic noise. The bliss of the set is confirmed by the Brooklyn audience's joyful reaction at the close."

SAKADA: Never Give Up On the Margins of Logic 3" CD (AN 006CD). $10.00

Featuring: Mattin, Eddie Prévest, Mark Wastell, Margarida Garcia, Rhodri Davies. "For London's Freedom of the City Festival Mattin's Sakada materializes in a big band incarnation. Unexpectedly, the larger the group, the smaller the sound. In contrast to Sakada's dense previous recordings as the trio of Mattin, Prévest and Rosy Parlane, here the expanded Sakada navigate a more restrained and open territory. Droning passages rise and ebb in blocks, the sound folding over on itself, while minute textures dance on the edges. The emphasis on bowed sounds (Prévest's cymbals, Davies' harp, Garcia's bass, Wastell's objects and Mattin's computer casing (!!!)) brings to mind the slow churning of a Morton Feldman composition, yet mutated further into the realm of the unexpected and abstract. This recording finds a group as attuned to the space in between as they are to each other. An intense document of precisely restrained improvisation."

HINTERDING, JOYCE: Spectral CD (ANSI 001 CD). $12.00

Co-release with Sigma Editions. "A stunning work from Australian intermedia artist Joyce Hinterding, Spectral is based on celestial field recordings of magnetic fields and weather satellites made with a custom-built antennae. These phenomena were recorded in the isolated wilderness of Bruny Island, Tasmania, and later appeared as the sound element in 'The Levitation Grounds', an audio/video installation with artist David Haines. The result is a complex universe of mysterious interference, ghostly transmissions from unfathomable places, disembodied static, and failed communication. What is manipulated sound and what is straight sound remains unknown — this is musique concrète of the spheres."

ANTS RECORDS (ITALY):

MAYR, ALBERT: Hora Harmonica CD (ANTS 002 CD). $18.00

"File under: sound installations, electronic, sound art, experimental. The application of musical criteria to the organization of time. 'When we slow down a sound many times, all the way below 15 cps approximately, we perceive as a series of discrete pulses. In a physical sense it remains a sound, but not for human perception. Try now to imagine an extremely slow sound where the fundamental has a period of 50 minutes. The - virtual - overtones would be integer divisions of that period. i.e.: 30', 20', 15', and so on. This is the structural principle of Hora Harmonica.' (Albert Mayr). In Hora Harmonica the author transform sound in rhythm and time become music. All Mayr's work is concerned on the relationship between sound/time/environment and this electronic visionary work — realized in 1983 and only now published — represent one of his most hazardous and conceptually valid expressions."

GROSSI, PIETRO: Battimenti CD (ANTS 003 CD). $18.00

"File under: contemporary, experimental, historical recordings. Pietro Grossi was one of the pioneers of the experimental musical scene in Italy. This CD shows one of his visionary electronic works: Battimenti an electronic work composed and realized in 1965, made by the 94 combinations of near frequencies organized in groups of 2, 3, 4 and 5 sine waves. This coupling originates the 'harmonic beatings', overtones born out of the intersection of frequencies. Originally thought by Grossi has a 'working material' for his famous electronic Studio di Fonologia Musicale (S 2F M) this work has, in itself, the ability to fascinate, as only the greatest artistic intuitions have. The rigour of Grossi's working method creates an imaginary sound painting, that he later called '94 songs of XXth century's anonymous'. It's a composition that anticipated times and was contemporary to other masterpieces of modern music. A real forerunner of the electronic minimalism that later occurred. The personality of Grossi and his passionate theories and music, make his new discovery obliged."

JOHNSON, TOM: Organ and Silence CD (ANTS 005 CD). $18.00

"File under: minimalism, conceptual sound art, organ music. A music whose talking about, as the author writes in the disc notes, 'the importance of silence in music'. This work is conceived not 'for organ' but, really, for 'organ and silence', as the silence is a founding part of it, and it's not possible to give it up. It's the tentative, as the author explain 'to permit as much silence as possible, without allowing the music to actually stop'. Tom Johnson is one of the masters of minimalism, that he strictly associate to a strong conceptual component. His work, free from false glitters, defines, better than any other one, the sense of a research the goes beyond the strict genre definitions, and become poetic application of original ideas." Recorded in Nerinx, Kentucky, spring 2001. Performed by: Wesley Roberts, organ.

CAGE, JOHN: A Tribute 2CD (ANTS 006CD). $30.00

Joshua Pierce (piano & prepared piano); with Robert White: (tenor) — AFMM Ensemble. "John Cage wrote for keyboards throughout most of his life. Most famously, he invented the so-called 'prepared piano' but he also wrote for unprepared piano in both traditional and untraditional ways. His later piano works employ an almost ferocious complication and virtuosity at the outer limits of performer possibility. Earlier he used electronic extensions, chance and performer collaboration in complex ways. His early keyboard music was written for himself to play, much of it meant to 'accompany' modern dance performances. Cage's piano, prepared and unprepared, was the orchestra for a whole genre of solo dance performance by some of the greatest figures of modern American dance." This recording of Four Walls grew out of live performances by Joshua Pierce and dancer/choreographer Sin Cha Hong at the Seoul NYMAX Festival and Anthology Film Archive's Courthouse Theater in New York City on October 27 and 28, 1994, marking the work's fiftieth anniversary. Plans to extend this album as a double CD came about as a result of Mr. Pierce's brilliant and relevant performance of the composer's magnum opus: Sonatas and Interludes recorded 'live' at the Microthon Festival held at New York University on May 23, 1999, marking his twenty-fifth anniversary of live performances and his association with the music of John Cage, and in particular, Sonatas and Interludes. A very special feature of this summation of Pierce's work with the piano music of John Cage, is the presence of two compositions here recorded for the very first time: the 'Prelude (Piano Sextet) for Six Instruments in A minor', from 1946 and the 'Three Early Songs', from 1933. This release represent a great occasion to approach, at the highest level, the early piano masterpieces of the 20th century most important and influential composer, uniquely performed by one of he's most dedicated and well known interpreters."

MASIN/GIUSEPPE CAPIROLI, GIGI: Moltitudine In Labirinto CD (ANTS 007 CD). $18.00

"File under: minimalism, electronics, ambient. Moltitudine In Labirinto is a poetic journey drawn with sound. An unveiled meeting. The minimal sequences, the recognizable character of Masin's music, here are fused with the electronic 'vision' of Giuseppe Caprioli, more harsh, materic. The result is a fascinating hybrid, a new modern music, leaden and grieved, lost voice in the maze of memories. This CD, at the same time the new work of Masin and the 'first time' for Caprioli, stands as a high expression in the lineage of evolution of the ever growing ambient/electronic scene."

APARTMENT B RECORDS:

VA: New York CD (APTB 003). $12.00

"New York: Various Artists" is a compilation of musicians who lived in New York during the summer of 2000. It is a record of a community of electronic musicians that existed in the city at that time. Apartment B met these artists in various ways: primarily school, email, and live performances. Many of the artists have a connection to Invisible Cities — a free evening of electronic music that took place every Wednesday at Brownies. Invisible Cities provided perhaps the most identifiable point of coalescence for this community — outside of Kim's, Other, Ethera, or anyone's bedroom studio. Most of these artists have since moved away, Invisible Cities is long retired, and Brownies will close in August, but we present this record as a souvenir of New York." Artists include: The Books, Daniel Raffel, I-Sound, Blurter, Adrien75, Unagi Patrol, Jack Donovan and Greg Shakar, Sybarite, End, So Takahashi, Tarikh Korula, Blitter, Caural, Minnow, Zammuto.

APESTAARTJE:

ANDEREGG: When Rectangles Roll Under Cities CD (APE 005). $12.00

"Eschewing conventional song structures while retaining his pop sensibilities, Anderegg presents a debut album both beautiful and engaging. The sounds themselves reference the familiar, evoking a sense of environmental space and structure. At times flirting with melody, the tracks imply a sense of song, which both draws the listener in, while giving room for interpretation. Moments and gestures fracture and decay, while subtle contrasts hint at the concrete."

VA: Re: Martin Arnold 'Alone, Life Wastes Andy Hardy' CD (APE 007). $12.00

"An interesting remix set in that the source material is the sound-track to Martin Arnold's most recently completed film Alone, Life Wastes Andy Hardy (1998), which is itself a 15 minute 'remix' of short segments from three Judy Garland & Mickey Rooney screen-trysts, tiny bi-directional loops of natural frame-motion which repeat for minutes on end, very glitch indeed. Fitting that Fennesz, Anderegg, Akira Rabelais, N/A, A Silent Partner, Pimmon, Steve Roden were all chosen, set to task on disassembling these seemingly endless (re)iterations. Outcome ranges from grainy digital drone-gloss (lovely Anderegg track) to micro-concrete renderings (Fennesz). Sorted and aware." — Hrvatski.

AERO: Pretend CD (APE 009). $12.00

"Pretend engages the listener on various levels, carefully and deliberately unfolding over the course of thirty-five minutes. With a strong focus on composition, each piece stands out, yet retains its own identity within the context of a larger whole, upon closer inspection, minute gestures and single events become apparent. Subtle details mark each moment of the album, which slowly reveals itself over multiple listens. Taking an aural step back presents the listener with a different perspective; the individual tracks come into focus, while contrasts and larger movements within the album become apparent. With sounds ranging from microtonal clicks and pops to warm organic tones and waves, the juxtaposition and transformation of certain musical elements cause the listener to focus on the individual sounds themselves. Playing with ideas of how space and sound interact with the listener, the album directly engages and confronts the audience at certain moments, the physicality of the music forcing one to be aware of themselves as listeners in their own personal environment."

VA: Colour And Pattern CD (APE 011). $12.00

"Colour And Pattern consists of four lengthy parts, each emphasizing subtle variation of melodic form. An organic blend of experimental electronics with instrumentation (guitar, synth, computer etc) that evokes everything from classical minimalism to more serene folk stylings. Minamo, an electroacoustic quartet from Tokyo featuring several key players in the contemporary Japanese improvised music scene (Tetsuro Yasunaga, Keiichi Sugimoto, Namiko Sasamoto) begin the cd with a gently flowing and intricately detailed 16 min. piece. Notes hover as if caught in motion while more abstract electronic textures move in and out of focus to create an overall presence which defies any preconceived formula. NYC dj/producer/improvisor I-Sound and NYC multi-instrumentalist Daniel Raffel contribute a first time collaborative piece. Combining his more laid back song oriented efforts with To Rocco Rot and his exploratory experimental works, I-Sound creates a beautiful hybrid of swelling insect electronics underpinned by Raffel's hypnotic synth lines. Berlin's Jorg-Maria Zeger contributes a pair of minimal polyrhythmic guitar pieces heavily influenced by his collaborations with the native musicians of tribes in Sumatra and other Southeast Asian cultures as well as his years of experience with the electroacoustic improv trio Perlonex. Both pieces shuttle and shift effortlessly sliding between genres, referencing everything from minimal techno to balinese gamelan. The most overtly musical Apestaartje release to date."

MINAMO: Beautiful CD (APE 012). $12.00

"Apestaartje is honored to be releasing the eagerly anticipated third album by Tokyo's Minamo. Compiled from a series of live improvisations, Beautiful comes across less like a compilation of live tracks and more like a carefully crafted series of events. An electro-acoustic excursion incorporating elements from classical minimalism, psych folk, krautrock, electronica, free improv, etc. Gently strummed guitars are coaxled from within glassy tones and noisy electronic textures to bring you something that is both challenging and rewarding at the same time. A fine document of one of the most exciting creative groups currently exploring new sonic territory. Extremely gradual music."

ANDEREGG: Anomia CD (APE 013). $12.00

"Having re-located to Brooklyn, NY from the relatively mild temperatures of Portland, OR during the snowiest winter in over twenty years has given Anderegg plenty of time to hibernate over this intensely beautiful selection of tracks. Combining field recordings, electronics and good old-fashioned instruments like the guitar and piano, Anderegg has created an album that defies any silly genre restrictions. From the catchy piano melodies of the opening track to microscopic tape cut ups of 'historical figures' to the subtle arrangements in the albums title track 'Anomia' Anderegg's second full-length finds him widening his palette and truly coming into his own. While seemingly more accessible than his previous effort When Rectangles Roll Under Cities, Anomia is an extremely intricate album that will only reveal its true complexity given repeated listenings."

VA: Object Set and Motion CD (APE 014). $12.00

"Full length CD featuring exclusive tracks by Sebastien Roux, Ausna, Tu m' and Duul_Drv. Four entities brought together under one title to explore the sculptural aspects of air moving through space. Sound, not just as a physical phenomenon, but as an intrinsically musical environment. Sebastien Roux (Paris) contributes two beautifully understated pieces of digitally processed guitar that brittle and burst with a fascinating spectrum of intricate details. Naoyuki Arashi aka Asuna (Tokyo) extends his harmonium through various computer processing in his intensely thick and amazingly hypnotic drone piece 'Plural Rooms'. The duo of Rossano Polidoro and Emiliano Romanelli, Tu-m' (Pescara) continue their adventures in plundered melodic fragmentation with two tracks of stuttering simplicity that are among their catchiest works. Unlike anything, yet instantly familiar Arden Hill aka Duul_Drv (Winnipeg) creates quiet environments where field recordings co-exist with electronics in such a natural way that one wonders if he has done anything at all. Object set, and motion."

AERO: Rises & Falls CD (APE 015). $12.00

"With his second solo album Rises & Falls, Apestaartje co-founder Koen Holtkamp aka Aero moves even further into developing his own style of psychedelic minimalism. Over a year in the making and based predominately on processed acoustic instrumentation with sympathetic oscillators to further orchestrate the overall sound Rises & Falls is an extremely dynamic and diverse set of compositions. Endlessly fluttering tones bounce off one another to create an overall body of sound that defies the listeners conception of time and space slowly peeling away layer after layer only to reveal a new direction altogether. A beautiful combination of clean crisp texture and warm modulating melodies each piece effortlessly moves through its ever so gradual changes never quite giving in to the power of suggestion. A synthetic recreation of something unspecifically organic." For those who take pleasure in listening."

FOURCOLOR: Water Mirror CD (APE 016). $12.00

"After releasing several stunning albums as a part of the electro-acoustic quartet Minamo (Apestaartje/Cubic Music) and as 1/2 of the electronica duo Fonica (Plop/Tomlab) this is Keiichi Sugimoto's first widely distributed solo release as Fourcolor. Focusing predominately on the guitar 'water mirror' blends acoustic resonance with subtle precision to create an extremely detailed and restrained listening experience. Sugimoto focuses on the smallest of elements using electronics to accentuate every facet of an already tactile sound palette. Sugimoto seamlessly combines various threads of kinetic listening in this ever-shifting composition of gradual movement. A difficult one to memorize, 'water mirror' is a deceptively complex album full of warmth and rigor. The album closes with an epic 25 min soundtrack to the film Frontire by Japanese experimental Jun Miyazaki which will be screening at this year's Canne's Film Festival. Extremely gradual music."

COLLINS, NICOLAS: Pea Soup 3" CD (LISTEN 002). $8.50

"I composed Pea Soup while a student of Alvin Lucier at Wesleyan University. A self-stabilizing network of circuitry (originally three Countrymen Phase Shifters) nudges the pitch of audio feedback to different resonant frequency every time the feedback starts to build. The familiar shriek is replaced with unstable patterns of hollow tones, a site-specific raga reflecting the acoustical personality of the room. These architectural melodies can be influenced by moving in the space, making other sounds, or even by letting in a draft of cold air. The piece existed both as an installation, responding to visitors, and in a concert version, in which people performed activities intended to influence the feedback." — Nicolas Collins.

APHRODISIO:

PATRICK, JAMES: Psychoacoustics CD (APH 003CD). $13.00

"Minneapolis native James Patrick celebrates the best of new and reborn sounds in this burgeoning domain, weaving Zen simplicity, mathematical precision and the pistol's complexity. James Patrick combines grand masters Richie Hawtin and Thomas Brinkmann with trendsetters I.A. Bericochea and Dave Miller into what is being heralded the apex anthology in this musical landscape. The album soars in the expanse between funky down tempo and inspiring free-jazz Intelligent Dance Music (IDM)."

APRAXIA:

BLOWHOLE: Uncoastin' 7" (APRAX 04321). $3.00

4th single, 2nd for this label. 5 tracks.

BLOWHOLE: Corroboree 7" (APRAXIA). $3.00

2nd 45 by this outfit, self-released in a nice silkscreened chipboard cover.

ARABLE (UK):

FLOTEL: Bosso Fataka EP 12" (ARABLE 001EP). $10.00

"The first EP comes from Nottingham based Leigh Toro, who last released a gushingly received 7" as Flotel on Expanding Records, and these four new tracks are equally, if not more lovely, oh yes. Just touch the icy music box of 'Swiss Mountain' for a mere caress, while 'Tantara' treads carefully and builds into an amazing tonal float. On 'Anlogo' there's shimmering surfaces, while 'One Window, Two Views' with its delicate treatment of resonance, should be heard by anyone taken with Keith Fullerton Whitman's Kranky excursions, Ryuchi Sakamoto's and Carsten Nicolai's awesome Raster collaboration last year or even the overtones of Stefan Micus or Moondog."

PSAPP: Buttons & War EP 12" (ARABLE 002EP). $10.00

"Psapp's second E.P., Buttons and War, comes courtesy of new label Arable Records recently formed by Robin Saville of Morr Music's Isan. Psapp is the collective experiences of Carim Clasmann and Galia Durant, a Kings Cross based pair of happy anoraks whose mutual obsession with odd noises and heart-prodding pop has resulted in a sound that slips between genres like an excited snake in a margarine tub. Sampling anything they could lay their greasy hands on, the pair pinched sound from snowy carparks, cats, bike sheds, sitting rooms, fathers and cookery, and nestled themselves away using binary to stitch and snip their analogue finds. The results are an unlikely mix of heartfelt songs and surprising bursts of noise. Psapp has distilled this couple's talents — Carim's production prowess, and Galia's penchant for warm hooks and quirky world musings."

MAPS & DIAGRAMS: Tactile Love 12" (ARABLE 003EP). $10.00

"Third slice of loveliness on the Arable imprint, founded this year by Robin Saville of ISAN. Robin has co-produced the four part title track with Tim Martin of Maps and Diagrams, fully reflecting his hands-on creative approach to the label. 'Florin Base' sets us rolling, all welling tones and beautifully intimate acoustic guitars — highly reminiscent of the best elements of one of our most loved long players from last year — Corker-Conboy's fabulous first album. Then the first instalment of 'Tactile Love' ushers in a padding, gently percussive, undulating theme which inevitably brings total immersion and a sense of anticipation. Tim's work flows with a gentle yet surprisingly crisp fusion of flowing acoustic guitars, gently crushed digital beats and spine-tingling melodies that float in ghostly fashion and imbue proceedings with a lost ambience that brings to mind not only the work of Isan but also that of Xela and, in places, Bernard Fleischmann. It's hard to create music that floats so effortlessly and gently without sounding overly soft, yet Maps And Diagrams manage to delve into that preserved late-night space with loving originality and a deep understanding of pace and atmosphere. This is sublime, personal music; a soundtrack to introspection that will change your mood regardless of setting or time of day, beautiful and melancholy with equal measure."

ARBITER:

MOTHER MALLARD'S PORTABLE MASTERPIECE CO.: Mother Mallard's Portable

Masterpiece Co. CD (ARB 136). $16.00

First release of these recordings from 1975-76. An historic document of early analog synthesizer minimalism that importantly places David Borden's role in the movement. Done with Arbiter's attention to detail, with lengthy liner notes by Borden. "A leading force in the roots of Minimalism and soundtrack composer for the Exorcist. David Borden began Mother Mallard as a pioneering group using Moog's prototype synthesizers in-live performance. The live and studio performances reveal Borden's unique layering of parts and rhythms. Borden is a legendary figure in the electronic and minimalist music scene, a contemporary of Glass, Reich, and Riley. Text by Borden discusses how the Moogs developed a new music."

ARCANUM ENTERTAINMENT (ITALY):*BEAUSOLEIL, BOBBY: Lucifer Rising 2CD (ARCANUM 001CD). $25.00

"The soundtrack to Kenneth Anger's legendary film has been unavailable to the public since the music was completed nearly 25 years ago. Bobby BeauSoleil's dark psychedelic masterpiece is now available on this deluxe 2-disc set with multi-fold digipak. The soundtrack on disc one has been fully restored and digitally remastered, and the second disc includes never before heard alternate versions and rarities. The 28-page full-color booklet chronicles the history of these recordings with extensive liner notes by occult scholar Michael Moynihan, an introduction from director Kenneth Anger, a letter from Bobby BeauSoleil himself, and dozens of rare photos and memorabilia."

ARCOLA (UK):*ERIC B & RAKIM/BROTHAMSTATES: Get Down 12" (ARC 000). $9.00

"This is the opening salvo in a long battle for the dancefloor, launched by the generals of battlecamp Warp. Having long held an iron grip over all things electronica they're now launching special dancefloor operations under the name 'Arcola', a name soon to be feared and respected by all purveyors of mediocrity. To stamp the word Arcola across the country's clubbing cognoscenti's cute curves they've unleashed some old dogs of war, but taught them new tricks. On the A side of this Trojan horse of a 12" booty bumping beats with all the squelch of the Somme provide the backdrop to the devastating delivery of Rakim as he places faith in the fact that he knows you've got soul. Turn over with care and what's in sight? Could it be that diminutive purple warrior Prince packing sticks of disco dynamite? He's uptown and everything's alright. This record is super limited to prevent it falling into the wrong hands. Make sure it's part of your weaponry."

RUSNAK, DENIS: Working Sister 12" (ARC 002). $9.00

2nd release on this Warp subsidiary label. "This the long awaited next installment from the mysterious Arcola imprint. Denis Rusnak hails from Ludwigsburg in Germany and this 12" release has a distinct German flavour to it, from the full-on razz machine funk bassline of 'Working Sister', the stripped down minimal squelches of 'Obsession', to the plain scary relentlessly loop driven 'Past Four'."

BROTHAMSTATES: Rktik 12" (ARC 004EP). $10.00

"The latest dancefloor 12" from Warp's Arcola offshoot comes from label fave Brothamstates who delivers two futuristic floor fillers. 'Rktik' heads off with all manner of digital noises and glitches that form into crisp percussion for the fat club beats to grind under. The washy synth stabs are the main melody of the tracks and they rebound around the speakers while subtle synth strings float underneath and the warped acid bassline sneaks in up above, quite a busy track but one with serious dancefloor potential as the beats loop out heavy! Flip over to 'Matalabobo': a much straighter house cut with a heavy sub bass and 80's synth stabs that echo across the speakers, a nice groover of a track and a different take for Brothamstates who drops a vocal over the top to create an almost Chicago house feel, ace."

CANE: Teknotest 12" (ARC 005). $10.00

"Warp Records off shoot label Arcola, come offering us another slice of electronic mayhem from Cane. Cane is a new alias for the two Dutch brothers who go under the name Funkarma. They have been quietly releasing supersolid electronic tunes on a number of labels for many years. These two tracks are ruffed up techno monsters, in the vein of early Plus8 records."

DIGITAL, LOUIS: Insurgency Soul 12" (ARC 003). $9.00

"Warp's dancefloor stable drop their third EP, bringing up Louis Digital, whom some of you may know from his deep house shenanigans on the Footwork imprint. The opener 'Ecology Of Fear' utilises a jacking staggered vibe within a straight-up club track, Louis chucks samples, staggers beats, buffers noises and adds some deep chords to deliver a party 4/4 tune with depth, another floor winner from Arcola. The 2 tracks on the flip hit Akufen territory with cut up vocals and broken beat feel, though Louis keeps it very digital throughout, with the sharp noises contrasting deep keys and very edited beats keep it interesting, check."

AREA CODE 221/ZOOMSHOT (GERMANY):*VA: Elektrophysix CD (EFA 61043). $15.00

"Shows the state of the electro art in 1999. It combines Cologne's techno pioneers like Botz Botz from the hot World Electric label, the International DJ Gigolo hits from Miss Kittin & The Hacker and David Carretta as well as terrific newcomers like Anthony Rother, Mas 2008 and Detroit's Adult (aka Ersatzaudio or Dopplereffekt). The style is specified very clear: electro techno with neo-wave influences. Tracklisting: Monoscale: "Monomanie", Daf/Dos: "Oversexed Discotheque", Adult: "Silent Property", Miss Kittin & The Hacker: "1982", Dopplereffekt: "Pornoactress", Miss Kittin & The Hacker: "Frank Sinatra", To Rococo Rot: "Telemata", Artificial Material meets 3rd Electric: "High Tension Wires", David Carretta: "Ricky's Hand", Kit Builders: "Get Out", Dopplereffekt: "Sterelization", Anthony Rother: "Red Light District", MC T Rock: "Introducing", Mas 2008: "Robosex (H.E.I.M. Elektronic Rmx)", Jean Michel: "Pediculos Humanus (Mike's Rmx)", Groovezone: "I.C.U.", Bolz Bolz: "Envelope Power", G.D. Luxxe: "Airforce One".

VA: Chillout Basscapes Vol. 2 2CD (EFA 61134). $22.00

"It's time for another wonderful double CD in the Chillout Basscapes series. Once again Macka Mi of the Bassenforcement Soundsystem avoids to team up with all those same Ibiza, Cafe Del Mar CDs and creates a relaxing Atmosphere full of smart effects, cool overdubs to create a summerlike atmosphere. CD one just features tracks: from Ken Ishi, Texas' trip hop romancers Bowery Electric, 310 from UK's Leaf label, Germany's electro kings Console, Zulutronic or nu jazzers Lorenzo. On CD two you'll get Macka Mi's exciting warm bass soundscape put on tracks from Bristol's Smith & Mighty, Berlin's dubbings Submission, the latest Pole release, an exclusive track from Form & Function's Minimal Phunk, Too Pure electro popsters Mouse On Mars, Harry K, world music chansonette Natascha Atlas, or chillout electroids Solea Amphibia. Chillout Basscapes Vol. 2 presents two hours of wonderful relaxing grooves, warm and relaxing basses and a dubby atmosphere by the masterhands of Macka Mi."

AREAL RECORDS (GERMANY):*VA: Bis Neun CD (AREAL 001 CD). $16.00

"Sensitive mix of Areal's DJ Jan Eric Kaiser with Areal's first nine releases and WeltZwei as special guest. 74 minutes to blow you away." Featuring tracks by: Konfekt, Metope, Basteroid, Undo/Redo.

VA: Bis Neunzehn CD (AREAL 002CD). $16.00

"The Areal presents a funny cross-section of newer releases, mixed by Jan-Eric Kaiser, who like always roots through the Areal history without fear and reproach. Strange, hard, tender, sick, nice, what, sexy, in every case a big fun for the whole family. With Konfekt, Metope, Ada, Basteroid and Remute, this release is as contrasting as it is compatible. They give each other the relay stick and run like hell immediately."

METOPÉ: Drachma 12" (AREAL 015 EP). $9.00

"The unstoppable Areal crew keeps on building their new house. Irresistible freaky minimal that takes no prisoners."

REMUTE: Inhuman Things 12" (AREAL 016). $9.00

"In a small town somewhere in the north of Germany, stood a weather-beaten brick-house close to a park - my music-school. In the backyard, under the shade of an old chestnut tree was a small hiding place where the roof extended over the wall. It was here I relaxed before I had to subdue to the severe discipline of my gloomy trumpet teacher from Prague. Lying there with closed eyes I could hear the struggling child-orchestra practicing inside. Sometimes the forced kettle-drums, helpless flutes, tormented violins and maltreated xylophones mixed with the sound of rustling leaves to make a beautiful melody now the house is gone and I wonder if that melody was beautiful at all, but it made me feel melancholic. If someone can remind me of those things makes me truly happy. Inhuman Things is the first Areal release for 19-year old Denis Karimani aka Remute. Advanced techno with strings on without, with bleeps and without, with shuffle and without, with and without whatever."

BASTEROID: Sympathy For Disruption 12" (AREAL 017 EP). $9.00

"Year by year and always at that day the people from the village came together to celebrate a big party. And like every year after lots of dance, love and drinks they heard a thunder coming — slowly but unstoppable. Usually they were totally scared and flew to the woods from that upcoming disaster. But not this time. No, now it's time to keep on dancing. The thunder arrived and became a huge noise that started to party with people till the early morning and then it faded away forever. The people, now free from fear, began to build huge and loud instruments and until nowadays they praise the rhythm of the thunder...."

UNDO/REDO: Gleitzeit 12" (AREAL 018 EP). $9.00

"When Undo and Redo would cancel themselves, this text would be missing. But actually they are content with picking up what the other just has dropped. Then they can cause a fundamentally fuller Metope and Fonfekt aka Undo/Redo in their next collaboration, 16.9, 4 songs in full bandwidth."

ADA: Lovelace 12" (AREAL 019 EP). $9.00

"Year by year the moment comes when everything that has wings is about to leave our (cold) Europe. Small swarms set out and during they leave fields and meadows behind they become bigger and bigger. Totally exited they whirl along the horizon. As it gets warmer on their trip, anticipation starts to overcome and let them reach their destination, warm and droning. Adaption is nearly meaningless to her. Maybe because she is no direct descendant of Adam, but raised up by pink ponies. Most of her songs are not really adagio, but she seems to be the long awaited adapter between electropop and snotrock."

BASTEROID: Against Luftwiderstand Rmx 12" (AREAL 020EP). $9.00

"In the last episode... When Basteroid left his starglider to explore the dark planet, he didn't expect what was waiting for him behind the huge rocks in the east. He only recognized this equally disturbing and beautiful sound sneaking into his ears. 'what!?!?!' — too late. As the sound became more and more intensive rapidly something took control of Basteroid's feet and made him dance like crazy. But anyway, he managed to pull his blast o beam ultramax aiming the direction he thought the aggressors would be. Z w o o o o o o o o s c h ! ! ! Simultaneous two huge plasmaphotonic bullets flashed through the night, clashed together and detonated in a plasmaphotonic reaction like he (same with the attackers) has never seen before. When after three minutes the dust thinned out he discerned who it was..."

KONFEKT: Fin[hell]Drive(Cont) 12" (AREAL 021EP). $9.00

"Over and over again they took up their tractor beam and with every time, with every trial they had to admit their failure. New numerical series, new factor equation. Nobody ever before forced up the ray frequency to more than 800.3. Nothing. The big red cube remained unaffected and unmoved on its hill. Whenever they had hope as of positive instrumental data, they pulled their controllers up to 100% and watched on the monitor how the powerindex was getting closer to the critical point, which would make a transport possible. For nothing, they could never achieve it. The big red cube, used to ineffective excitement, keeps on buzzing silently and watching the Areal."

VA: Rabimmel Rabammel Rabum Bum Bum 12" (AREAL 022EP). $9.00

"'Rabimmel Rabammel Rabum Bum Bum' is a German song that is sung by children on the day of the blessed Saint Martin. We also can not explain why we decided to use the image that is found on the cover front. It was the nephew of our resident DJ, Jan-Eric Kaiser, that created this masterpiece. We love the fine arts and so we saw it has the perfect means to exploit the up coming star. What we can say for sure is that we decided to let this folk-record be our loudest and noisiest release ever. 12" with songs from Basteroid, Konfekt, Metope and Ada."

METOPÉ: Alphafrog 12" (AREAL 023EP). $9.00

"Admittedly, 7'4" feet tall Hans and his Italian dwarf pony Monty were unmatched partners. But their constellation had a decisive advantage. Like this Hans was able to support his loyal fellow using his own legs. Besides both of them loved exploring the plains of the wild world west listening to the funny clip-clap of their cheerful 6-foot-gallop."

ARRIVAL RECORDS (CANADA):*DETENTION: Warp & Woof CD (ARR 002 CD). $13.00

"Recorded March 27 and April 10 2000 at Studio DNA, Montreal, Quebec. Detention are the duo of Sam Shalabi (Molasses, Shalabi Effect, PO + works with Alex St.Onge & David Kristian) on electric guitar and Alex MacSween (The Nils, Pest 5000, and Bionic. He currently plays in Goa Gajah, Pipo Fiasco and Sloth is The Love (with Sam Shalabi) on drums. This Montreal based duo blend raucous noise/rock improv, minimalism, and musique actuelle to create a very personal language in improvised music. They received high praise from critics and listeners alike for their performance at the 2000 Festival International de Musique Actuelle de Victoriaville. This is the duo's first recorded output and not one to missed."

ART ISSUES PRESS:

VA: The New Now Sounds Of Today! CD (ART 19701). $19.00

Subtitled: Songpoems by Twenty-One Contemporary Artists. "Songpoems are a unique 20th-century American artform, created in factory-like recording studios from amateur lyrics solicited through small ads in the backs of comic books and pulp magazines. Promising the possibility of stardom, the small recording companies churned out dozens of vanity recordings each week during their heyday in the 1960s, usually in quantities just large enough to fulfill their contractual obligations. The New Now Sounds of Today! picks up where the songpoem tradition left off. Art issues Press solicited lyrics from 21 contemporary visual artists, primarily from Los Angeles, and commissioned one of the last remaining songpoem companies, Magic Key Productions of Ogden, Utah, to set the lyrics to music. The results exceeded all expectations. From the opening track, John Baldessari's 'New Age Luois Prima' lesson Learn to Draw to the closing number, Jeffrey Vallance's 'Johnny Rotten mutating into Elvis' Tak Sa Mycket (Swedish for 'Thank you very much'), The New Now Sounds of Today! is a hilarious, rollicking, and often surprisingly moving journey through a series of wildly original hybrids between fine-art words and popular musical forms. The elaborate letterpress packaging is designed by renowned underground artist/musician Bruce Licher of Independent Project Press and the bands Savage Republic and Scenic. It is offered in a limited-edition and numbered first pressing of 2000. The New Now Sounds of Today! is both a fine art and record collectable, but is most importantly an exploratory document of the collapsing boundaries between fine art, popular culture, theory, and commerce." Artists include Mike Kelley, The Museum of Jurassic Technology, Jim Shaw, Alexis Smith, The Rev. & Mrs. Ethan Acres, Judy Fiskin, Joe Scanlan, Eleanor Antin, Sharon Ellis, Tamara Fites, Doug Harvey, Robert Heinecken, Steven Hull, Martin Kersels, Dave Muller, Ruben Ortiz Torres, Stephen Prina, Gary Simmons, Pae White.

ART OF PERCEPTION (GERMANY):*BANDULU & DISX3: The Chaos Space Marines 12" (AOP 005). $9.00

5th volume in this 12" series (many volumes appear to now be out of print). "The dynamic duo known as Bandulu confronts us with the well armed and highly mobile Chaos Space Marine Bikers in their first track, entitled 'Deadly ride'. A fast paced fanfare launching the biker's deadly raids behind enemy lines bringing terror and death over their pure victims. You know, what which they cannot destroy, they will defile. Those who they do not defeat will know only despair. Bandulu's second contribution 'Dance, nurling, dance...' comes through your speakers as a quite groovy dub-woofer with nice sounds. Even the most rotten, stinky god of decay and pestilence should spread his putrefaction with a funky dance. Yeah, shake your booty, my god of corrosion. On the B-side DisX3, aka Alexander Kowalski, enchants us with an 'Unholy pray', which is filled with mystical themes and a dark driving beat. His second track is a celebration of Slaanesh, keeper of secrets. It's impossible to describe his despicable power of his/her two-sided nature. Half male and half female this obscene mixture of animosity and man is a trap for any mortal kind. 'Slaanesh' is an electro-track with a mysterious atmosphere in accompaniment of heavy bouncing drums and a razor sharp bassline."

TENOR & URAL 13 DIKTATORS, JIMI: The Orks 12" (AOP 006). $9.00

"This split EP represents the future sound of Finland, as two of Finland's finest acts bring us their interpretation of one of the deadliest species in the known universe, the Orks. 'Blood on Borstch', the first track by Jimi Tenor, was created in cooperation with a full orchestra and easily manages to mix the sound of a heavy metal band with a classical movie score. The scary atmosphere is underlined by a spooky chorus of more than 3000 slaves singing their last prayer before extinction. The Ural 13 Diktators dare the impossible, the mixture of Disco and Death! 'Warlords of Destruction' combines disco beats with early C64-sounds accompanied by the Warlord's lyrics foretelling the end and its messengers, the Orks themselves."

CODEC & FLEXOR AND MICHAEL MAYER: Eldar 12" (AOP 008). $9.00

"The first soundtrack 'Alert' by Codec & Flexor can be described as a hybrid mixture between industrial-sounding techno and dark metal. While squeezing some nerve-wrenching riffs out of his guitar, Flexor definitely screams harder than Ozzy Osbourne ever had. Final extinction shows its ugly face when those sirens shred through the enemy's lines. A more relaxing mood is established in their second contribution, 'Time has changed', which is more minimal but powerful nevertheless. A melancholic tribute to the sad history of the Eldar, the last remnants of a people whose mere dreams once overturned worlds and quenched suns. 'Get The Walker Groove' by Michael Mayer equals the fine forged elegance of an Eldar's War Walker. Masterfully crafted this futuristic track challenges the agility of anyone on the dancefloor as steep and broken grounds are no match for this vehicle of extremely unusual design. 'Craftworld' is a beautiful ambient soundscape, that reminds of Bochum Welt in its sweet character of sound and its minimalism. Lost in the vastness of space the craftworlds float in utter isolation like scattered jewels upon a pall of velvet. No star-shine illuminates their sleek towers."

NORTHERN LIGHT/CLE/MIKE VAMP: Tyrannids 12" (AOP 011). $9.00

"Northern Light sagaciously stage the tantalising deployment of the Tyrannids in their first track. A dominating bassline marches on in this electro-influenced score as the Tyrannids prepare for a vicious fray. A romping, stomping steamroller of a track, that fiercely features those riffs of rock'n'roll your sorry soul would expect from Northern Light. Clé & Mike Vamp aka Martini Brös capture the essence of a Tyrannid's mind in their first track entitled 'Eat'. Electronic guitars ragingly rip apart the lurid leftovers of the body count of battle as vile vocals loutishly laugh at the face of death. A massive kick makes pop as absurd as life itself in this one."

DR. SHINGO & ASCII DISKO: Chaos Space Marines 12" (AOP 012). $9.00

"Dr. Shingo on the rampage, like a steamroller gone bonkers. 'March of Death' appears as the auditive equivalent to a horrid road of eighteen wheelers rompin' and stompin' though your brain. The idiosyncratic Bloodthirster Khorn himself at the wheel on this tour de force. The pounding of the bassdrum rages like a call to arms, while screaming sequences of savagely saving basslines slit your ear-drum into pieces. And suddenly... like a surrealistic twist of fate this track turns the battlefield into an opera of officious omnipotence. ASCII Disko blows the horns of war in a way that describes the Chaos Space Marines in their inner essence. Simply yet effective entitled 'Chaos' his first track can be described best as a pure force of a nature, a flaming tornado that slashes his way through the lines of the enemy."

VA: The Sound Of Warhammer 40.000 Chapter 1 CD (AOP 013). $15.00

"The Philosophy of Art of Perception is to combine visual and sound elements from the numerous creative niches of what is called 'new media'. With our first project The Sound of Warhammer 40.000 Chapter 1 we took the first step into a new era of crossover, which made people not familiar with electronic music so far open their musical horizon and get interested into this kind of music. On the other hand we tried to bring a new aspect to electronic music and the people who support it by adding quite a different and unusual content to the music. By mixing these two worlds we bring different interests and people together, which is always a necessity for the birth of something new. The Sound of Warhammer 40.000 is a co-operation with the Nottingham based creative company Games Workshop, best known for fantasy and science fiction miniature battle games such as Warhammer, Warhammer 40.000, Necromunda and Lord of the Rings. Warhammer 40.000 is the game of tabletop battles, where powerful warriors battle vicious and merciless aliens in the far distant future of the 41st Millennium. The task for the artists involved in this project was to conduct a unique theme for a species from the Warhammer 40.000 universe. This resulted into a glamorous bunch of electronic soundtracks, which represent the full range of electronica's musical styles — now presented on one CD. This three part CD-series will cover the entire twelve part vinyl series which was available only in a strictly limited quantity. As a special bonus there are soundtracks, which have not been released on vinyl. The first CD contains soundtracks by artists as flabbergasting as Kim Cascone, known for his international movie soundtracks — especially his work with director David Lynch for the movies Wild at Heart and Twin Peaks, John Starlight also known as Zombie Nation, Warp Records' Jimi Tenor, Bochum Welt from Aphex Twin's label Rephlex, German techno hero Johannes Heil and Cologne's pope of electronic music Mike Ink aka Wolfgang Voigt."

VA: The Sound of Warhammer 40.000 Chapter 2 CD (AOP 014 CD). $16.00

"We proudly present the second part of the trilogy The Sound Of Warhammer 40.000. This three part CD-series will cover the entire twelve part vinyl series which was available only in a strictly limited quantity. As a special bonus there are soundtracks, which have not been released on vinyl, for another handful of Warhammer 40.000 characters like 'Tau', 'Sisters of Battle' and of course 'The Imperial Guard'. The Sound of Warhammer 40.000 is a co-operation with the Nottingham based creative company Games Workshop, best known for fantasy and science fiction miniature battle games such as Warhammer, Warhammer 40.000, Necromunda and Lord of the Rings. Warhammer 40.000 is the game of tabletop battles, where powerful warriors battle vicious and merciless aliens in the far distant future of the 41st Millennium." Artists include: Silicon Scally, Rude Solo, Bandulu, Disx3, Christian Morgenstern, Heiko Laux, Alter Ego, Codec & Flexor, Thomas Brinkmann, Solar, Sikora.

VA: The Sound of Warhammer 40.000 Chapter 3 CD (AOP 015 CD). $17.00

3rd volume in this series. Feat. tracks from Michael Mayer, Silicon Scally, Christian Morgenstern, Heiko Laux, Kitbuilders, etc. "We finally made it. After twelve limited split-EPs the journey through the 41st Millennium reached its destination. Travelling at the speed of sound brought us to a vast universe inhabited by the most unique creatures mankind faced so far. The pilots of our time and space travelling capsules documented their most frightening and surprising moments on their digital hard drives, an archive, that contained material too good to be true. The most fascinating sound files were collected into the above mentioned series of twelve tantalising split-EPs. The Sound of Warhammer Chapter III, the conclusion of our trilogy, contains the auditive adventures into the future's dark age of brave young spies of sound like John Starlight, feared by the enemy for his furious beats, Dr Shingo, the jammin jester from Japan, Kitbuilders, eclectic electricity from Cologne, Northern Lite, guiding us into their future, or ASCII Disko, epicure of encoded entities."

ART UNION (JAPAN):*VA: Inspiration & Power 14 Free Jazz Festival 1 2CD (MTCJ 5501/2). $40.00

New reissue of this classic free jazz/underground compilation, from the early 70s. Often cited as a big influence on Otomo Yoshihide, etc. 24-bit remaster, mini-LP gatefold packaging. CD 1: Toshiyuki Miyama & his New Herd Orchestra, Motoharu Yoshizawa, Itaru Oki Quintet, Now Music Ensemble. CD 2: Masahiko Togashi & Masahiko Satoh duo, New Direction for The Arts, Masahiko Satoh's Gorandoh, Yohsuke Yamashita Trio. Recorded at Shinjuku Art Theater, Tokyo, June 30-July 12, 1973.

ART YARD (UK):*RA, SUN: Disco 3000 LP (AY 001LP). $30.00

First ever reissue of this very obscure Sun Ra album. "Wonderful 1978 El Saturn recording in first-class reissue by the new Art Yard imprint, with notes and two rare Val Wilmer photographs, and royalties to the Arkestra. 'Disco 3000'/'Third Planet'/'Friendly Galaxy'/'Dance Of The Cosmo Aliens'. Sun Ra (keyboards & electronics); John Gilmore (saxophone); Michael Ray (trumpet); Luqman Ali (drums)." Liner Notes: "This whole Sun Ra Quartet project from Italy in early 1978 has a particularly 'experimental' feel, unique in a particular way in Sun Ra's huge and varied recorded output. Innovation is hardly unexpected from Sun Ra — his music regularly pushes the envelope. However, this project represents a tryout for a different kind of music altogether, a small-group music. In the end it was a musical path Sun Ra left unexplored, it has little in the way of precedent or sequel on record. It has stood the test of time well."

ART-TEK (RUSSIAN FEDERATION):*LAZYFISH: Vortex CD (ART 007 CD). $13.00

"ArT-Tek Records is proud to announce the first ever full-length release of new and no doubt one of the most interesting electronic artists of Moscow - the Lazyfish. His name originates from a small pirate company he ran with his friends to produce skateboards. In addition to skateboarding Sasha is a great fan of riding his mountain bike down the hill to get a dose of adrenaline, not to mention many wounds and bruises. During the winter he makes efforts to kill himself on a snowboard. No wonder he used to listen to a lot of industrial music and played bass guitar. Among his influences from that time he names Psychic TV, Current-93, Coil, Scorn. The album consists of 3 parts. A short intro will test the resilience of your hi-fi and introduce you to the album which has 12 tracks, mixed together to lead you through magical mathematical mazes of sonic pulsations, industrial landscapes, and the nightclubs of Moscow. Slowly but surely you will find Vortex developing and changing, getting more complicated and colorful, so that you will admire to it its diversity. The "Please-126" single will remind you some kind of dance music. Three mixed tracks will certainly give you an idea about different shapes and styles such music could have, especially from the way Lazyfish performs it for you and us."

ALEXANDROID: Sinoptic CD (ART 012 CD). $13.00

"ArT-Tek Records presents: a new full length album Sinoptic by Alexandroid project. This paramount and unusual work was compiled and prepared on ArT-Tek from tracks written by Alexandroid musicians between 1996 and 2001 at locations in Riga, Moscow, and St. Petersburg. There is not anything localized or secondary in their music. This is not a typical Moscow electronica or just another St.Petersburg techno band. Their music is a cocktail of everything they have heard around them. Sinoptic consists of 16 tracks each carrying its own mood, a story, and there is a history related to writing of every track. The music on the album creates an effect of deja vu bringing some pictures from your long past memory and freezing them in time. A strange sensation as if you are remembering your previous lives. This could be someone's story or biography, or simply a collection of emotions dedicated to one person. Some tracks create a feeling that the time is slowing down and stops."

ARTGALLERY (FRANCE):

VELLA: Carolus Poppee CD (AG 001). $12.00

Art Gallery is a now defunct French label, devoted to modern composers, in the new music/avant garde/contemporary genres. Jean-Marc Vella is a young French composer who creates a sort of synthetic "musical cubism" that features repetitive pop electronics in a mildly whimsical presentation. It might be "somewhat reminiscent of Max Ernst's dream collages," but not strongly enough.

DUMITRESCU/ANA-MARIA AVRAM, IANCU: Mnemosyne CDR (AG 006). $15.00

New CDR edition of this now deleted title, pressed up by Dumitrescu & Avram's EDMN label; color xerox package retains the flavor of the original Art Gallery booklet. "Mnemosyne" is for prepared piano, bass saxophone, octobass flute, two percussion instruments, resonance tomtom & magnetic tape. "Impulse" is for bass flute and perc. "Clusterum I" is for perc. The 3 works by Avram are for flute, bass-flute and percussion. "Dumitrescu had produced true acoustic music based on the intrinsic value of sound stemming from spectral expression... this album, replete with mingled, plentiful lines that inter-modulate in a geologic of fluid harmonics, constitutes an idea initiation into the works of two of this century's most innovative and representative Romanian composers."

TRIPTYCK: CD (AG 008). $12.00

A trio of Jacques Derégnaucourt (of Kiodyssea, on violin, viola, voice, synth), Dominique Spriet (saxophones) & Frederic Gregson (perc.). Improvisational classical music with a dark, avant flare (Derégnaucourt can really growl or space-out).

KIODYSSEA: Projections CD (AG 009). $12.00

Second album by solo studio constructions by Jacques Derégnaucourt, utilizing violin, viola, voice, percussions, tapes, synthesizers, programming. Good combination of experimental fiddle-wrangle and ambient electronics.

VELLA: Football CD (AG 010). $12.00

2nd Vella CD on Art Gallery, featuring repetitive synth swatches of only mild interest.

ARTHUR:

ARTHUR: #9 March 2004 MAG (ARTHUR 009). $0.01

Features: The Doom Metal elder, Wino (ex-St. Vitus); MC5; Liars: Live at the witch trials; NASCAR of the North. Arthur is a free publication and you may add a copy to your order at no cost while supplies

ARTHUR: #11 July 2004 MAG (ARTHUR 011). $0.01

On the cover: Kim Gordon. Features: Aleister Crowley; Kristine McKenna on desert artist Noah Purifoy. T-Model Ford, new artwork from John Lurie and much more. Arthur is a free publication and you may add a copy to your order at no cost while supplies last.

ARTIFACT:

POLANSKY, LARRY: Harmonic CD (ART 1011). $13.00

Works in various instruments in just intonation: harp (performed by Alyssa Hess Reit), violins & violas (Ron Erickson), basses (Robert Black) and french horn & computer (Krystyna Bobrowski).

POLANSKY, LARRY: Change CD (ART 1023). $13.00

"Polansky's 'morphing' pieces, for instruments and computers, are collected on his third solo CD on Artifact Recordings. These works explore musical change in diverse and strange ways. Several were written by computer, using formal, mathematical, and software morphing techniques. Performers include the composer, Daniel Goode (clarinet), Empi Esguerra (voice), Sarah Cahill (piano), Nick Didkovsky (guitar), Leo Ciesa (drums), Greg Anderson (bass), and Tom Erbe (sound).

ASCENSION RECORDS (AUSTRALIA):

HUMAN INSTINCT: Burning Up Years CD (ANCD 002). $15.00

"Ascension records are ecstatic to announce the official authorized re-issue of three all time crucial albums from the late 60s/early 70s anywhere in the world. The Human Instinct's Burning Up Years (1969), Stoned Guitar (1970) & Pins In It." This marks the first release on CD for the first 2 albums by this legendary group led by Billy T.K.; Pins In It was released on CD in 1998 by Little Wing in Germany (packaged in a ridiculous generic sleeve), but Ascension claims that all LW Human Instinct releases are "bootlegs". These Ascension label titles are licensed from group member Maurice Greer, who allegedly obtained the rights from Pye/Polygram in 1989 (the label has supplied documentation of this). Each CD features the original LP cover artwork, and a fairly detailed history of the band, including a memorable Jesse Harper/Jimi Hendrix anecdote. Burning Up Years features 4 original Jesse Harper tracks, as well as a cover of the Kinks' "You Really Got Me". [Maurice Greer has written in to correct the above paragraph and inform us that Billy T.K. was merely an employee of his group for two years; while this may be accurate, there is a general consensus amongst contemporary listeners of the complete Human Instinct output that guitarist Billy T.K. was integral to the heart & soul of the group's only truly interesting output — our apologies if we have mis-represented his status within the group.]

HUMAN INSTINCT: Pins In It CD (ANCD 004). $15.00

Third album from 1971. Has been previously reissued on CD by Little Wing, with an inferior plain black cover. This version replicates the original cover artwork. The final Human Instinct album to feature Billy T.K.

MASTER'S APPRENTICES, THE: Masterpiece CD (ANCD 005). $15.00

"When you talk the three greatest Australian bands of all time it comes down to The Easybeats, AC/DC & the Master's Apprentices...no one else comes close, period. From the crunching, reverbed soaked first chords of 'Undecided' right through to the mind blowing psych of 'Beneath The Sun' they were peers, equals, if not superiors of many bands on a world wide level. Two of these albums were released in the UK (Choice Cuts — known in the UK as self-titled, & A Toast To Panama Red), leading many people all over the world who were fans to think they were an English band for many years. Their four EMI releases are being re-released on Ascension. Original vinyl copies are highly sought after and very rare. With the exception of dodgy bootlegs, three of the four have never been released on CD. All albums will sport original cover art."

PERRY, LEE: Truth and Wisdom 1971-75 CD (ANCD 009). $15.00

"Compiles many rare sides, many of which were never released outside of Jamaica back in the day. CD has 5 bonus tracks." Artists include: The Heptones, The Pioneers, Leonard Dillon & The Upsetters, I Roy & The Upsetters, Dennis Alcapone, The Righteous Upsetters, Dillinger & Upsetter Upsetters, Sam Carty, Leo Graham, Easton Clarke, Augustus Pablo & The Upsetters, Winston Wright & The Upsetters, Shenley Duffas.

AXELROD, DAVID: Songs of Experience CD (ANCD 013). $15.00

Reissue of Axelrod's second album, originally issued by Capitol in 1969. Similar to Innocence, a bit more lush and complex. Elegant and no sugar whatsoever. "Composed, arranged and produced by David Axelrod."

AXELROD, DAVID: Earth Rot CD (ANCD 014). $15.00

The third Axelrod album, originally issued by Capitol in 1970. Subtitled "A Musical Comment On The State Of The Environment", this features lyrics adapted by Michael T. Axelrod from The Book Of Isaiah, The Old Testament and Song Of The Earth Spirit, a Navajo origin legend. A concept album evolving around ecological doom, this features choral-based arrangements, fierce jazz-like structure and a very compelling, very flat-out weird atmosphere.

FOWLEY, KIM: Born to be Wild CD (ANCD 015). $15.00

Reissue of the third Fowley solo album, originally issued by Imperial in 1968. "By being born wild into this universe you are hereby endowed by nature with all you need for life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. The world owes you a living — flaming creatures. Go wild until you get it." — Kim Fowley.

HUMAN INSTINCT: Singles 1966-1971 CD (ANCD 017). $15.00

"This compilation is the fourth release from the Human Instinct archives. It includes material from the Mercury, Deram and Pye labels." There are 10 tracks from the Mercury and Deram labels that predate the first Human Instinct album, Burning Up Years. Plus 10 more tracks of Pye-era (with Billy T.K.) tracks, including alternate takes of "Midnight Sun", "Black Sally", "Tomorrow", etc.

UNDERDOGS, THE: Blues Band & Beyond CD (ANCD 019). $15.00

"The Underdogs CD compiles all the material they ever recorded for Zodiac: their Blues Band LP, Sitting In The Rain EP, and 45s. The band features the genius guitar playing of Harvey Mann, whose only rivals in guitar god stakes back in the New Zealand day were Billy T.K. (Human Instinct) and Neil Edwards (who later joined the Human Instinct!). Think anywhere from hard-driving blues to The Music Machine if you are one of the uninitiated."

PLEAZERS, THE: Definitively Definitive Pleazers CD (ANCD 020). $15.00

"While most New Zealand bands headed to Australia for their fame and fortune, like the La De Da's, the Pleazers actually went the other way. Originally from Australia, they headed off to NZ and set up shop there, releasing the LP Definitively Pleazers, the awesome Midnight Rave With The Pleazers EP and a handful of 45s. This release compiles their entire recorded output, bar two tracks. Tuff 60s punk/beat was predominantly their forte."

PERRY, LEE: Enter The Ark CD (ANCD 023). $15.00

"Most tracks previously only available on an expensive CD box set." Recorded at the Black Art Studio in Kingston, Jamaica; further recording details/dates not available. Artists include: Bob Marley/Lee Perry, Flying Sensation, Upsetters, Keiths, Shuamark & Robinson, Armageddeans, Carol Cole & Sister P, Soulettes.

SPACE FARM: Space Farm CD (ANCD 027). $15.00

New version with original cover art (previous edition was released by Little Wing in Germany). Originally released by the famous New Zealand Zodiac label in 1972 & oft-compared to Billy TK-era Human Instinct. "First time on CD for original version of this classic and highly sought after New Zealand early 70's monster with original cover art intact. Previous re-issue of this was not an 'alternate mix' as advertised by the label in question, but actually had parts re-recorded in the eighties (!?) at their request — including vocals (by someone who was not even in the band) and other parts, and was sold as a 'lost' version. Beware all fakes — this is the real deal. Features the genius guitar work of Harvey Mann of the Underdogs."

PERRY, LEE: Black Art Singles Selector Too CD (ANCD 033). $15.00

"Finally after many requests here are the flip sides of all the Black Art revive 45's that were compiled on last years Black Art Singles Selector (ANCD 010), this release is a companion volume to it. Lots of crucial sides recorded at the Black Ark Studio, many seeing release on CD for the first time. 78 minutes of pure Black ark magic."

VA: Zodiac Records Sampler 1964-1972 CD (ANCD 034). $15.00

"The latest release mined from the vaults of the Zodiac Records archive, which, for the uninitiated was New Zealand's finest label from the late 50's to the early 70's. This compilation starts from the beat boom of Ray Columbus & The Invaders & The Merseymen and ends with acid tinged psych and prog rock of the likes of The Hi-Reving Tongues and Space Farm, respectively. All tracks are from the original mastertapes. Thirty one tracks, featuring tracks from all six previous CD releases from the Zodiac label releases on Ascension by The La De Da's, The Pleazers, Ray Columbus & The Invaders, The Underdogs, The Hi-Reving Tongues & Space Farm, along with tracks seeing their first release on CD by The Merseymen, Soul Agents, The Layabouts, The Gremlins, The La De Da's, The Troubled Mind and Sandy Edmonds backed by the Pleazers. This release is a good taster for those wanting to get a on the train but don't know where to start, and for those already on the train, there's a few tasty sides you need anyways - so dig in! 31 tracks — almost 80 minutes long, nine tracks on CD for the first time (at least legally!)."

MARLEY, BOB: Black Ark Sessions CD (ANCD 101). $8.00

Four track CD single, produced and directed by Lee Perry. Tracks are: "I Know A Place", "I Know A Place Dub", "Who Colt The Game", "Who Colt The Game Dub". Previously unreleased tracks recorded with in 1978.

PERRY, LEE: Truth and Wisdom LP (ANLP 009). $12.00

ASH INTERNATIONAL (UK):

FRIEDMANN, BERND: Leisure Zones CD (ASH 2.5). $12.50

1996 release. "Bernd Friedmann reveals his true nature as an experimentalist, forsaking his more melodic work, for a 77 minutesoundscape. Leisure Zones offers an alternative to the state many people find themselves in; as passive consumers of leisure. But the increasing inavailability of this option due to environmental destruction will force us to modify this existence. The West is overloaded with used and unsold hardware; the very pile is threatening to topple over and crush us all. But the intimate world of auditory pleasure (including silence) presents an alternative to this miasma." Limited stock.

VA: Scatter CD (ASH 3.5). $12.50

1997 release. "This is the second of a triptych, which was commenced by Chiky(u)u (The Japanese Compilation) and completed with Decay (The European Compilation)." Artists: Kevin Drumm, John Hudak, Earth, Jim O'Rourke, Daniel Menche. 1997 release.

S.E.T.I.: Above Black CD (ASH 31). $12.50

"S.E.T.I. is Andrew Lagowski. This special 2nd edition with altered artwork is now available. This nebulous world of weird science and alien conspiracies is invoked by Lagowski's shadowy electronic music, which builds on the deep rumblings of Lustmord (he was once a member) and adds the kind of digital noise constructions explored by the post-industrial underground."

VA: Antitrade: An Ash International Compilation CD (ASH 4.1). $12.50

"Compilation celebrating sound (& the death of the Ash International Organization and all allegiances/personnel so aligned) & anti-function with hhh, Leif Elggren, Hazard, S.E.T.I., Disinformation, AER, & Bruce Gilbert, funded in part by now familiar 'sound-research' grants. Languid chiming exercises, harmonic series/partial/mind expansion, the distant buzz of ant colonies wasted via governor-disabled lawn-kemping bulk, ghost-voice cerebry/alien paranoia, all about/around for that all-night/sleep-over exorcism & related day-after hang-over. Clean." — Hrvatski.

DISINFORMATION/VARIOUS ARTISTS: AL-JABR CD (ASH 4.3). $12.50

An album of reconstructions, featuring work by Evan Parker, Tactile, Jim O'Rourke, Simon Fisher Turner, Mechos, Lawrence Casserley, Tun[k] Systems. "AL JABR is based on the albums R&D (Ash # 2.9) and R&D2 (Ash # 9.2), electromagnetic noise recordings by Disinformation. For those not familiar with the Disinformation brand name, this project consists of DJing, publishing and live performance with recordings of unusual electromagnetic (ie radio) noise. On AL-JABR itself, rather than creating antiphonal responses to the original source material, the contributors 'equate' the raw material with their own idiosyncratic input; Lawrence Casserley transforms the rhythmic intricacies of how long data noise into a symphony of crushed and shattered slates; Evan Parker's wailing saxophone complements the pulsating drones of the city's power distribution networks. The noise group Tactile take ultralongwave sub-bass radio noise generated by the TIG welders in sculpture/sound group Oubliette's metal workshop. Jim O'Rourke adds uniquely American humour and a rock 'n' roll analogue of National Grid. Simon Fisher Turner twists broadcast data noise into gorgeous rolling melodies. Tun[k] Systems pitches VLF band radio recordings of interference radiated by electrical storms against pristine lab pure sine waves. Mechos isolates individual lightning strikes and inserts them in a lattice of clicks and low frequency drones, whose deceptive simplicity belies the subtly disorientating effects of their unfolding, twisting rhythms."

S.E.T.I.: Pod CD (ASH 4.6). $12.50

"The 3rd in Andrew Lagowski's alien trilogy which began with Knowledge (Ash 2.3) [Concept: Following recent revelations concerning the ease with which individuals can access high security data, Knowledge is particularly relevant in exposing the farcical levels of secrecy which surround any investigation or research into extra-terrestrial intelligence] and was followed by Above Black (Ash M31) - [Concept: The Search for Extra Terrestrial Intelligence should be secondary to the search for those outlanders already present on our planet. The National Security Agency and World Defense departments, particularly in America, not only know of their existence but are aiding them with the supply of monitored abduction subjects and E.S.P. - capable Intuitive Communicators. These Grey Projects are hidden behind 'above top secret' Black Projects, where not even those orchestrating the Black Projects are aware of what is going on under their command. With the Earth's population increasing almost exponentially, a catastrophe is being prepared for, or is being prepared for us...]. Pod is a metaphor for escape. An escape pod. On a superficial level, the human desire to escape the confines of this planet. In reality, the urgent need to leave ourselves behind and become new beings." The album is made entirely from space-related sounds and space images translated into sound. Cover by Jon Wozencroft.

SANTA POD: Santa Pod CD (ASH 4.9). $12.50

"Play loud — Do not mistake this compact disc for a musical product. 1999 marks the 50th year of drag racing, after the first official meeting was held in 1949 on the streets of Goleta in California. Then, the quarter of a mile course took 11 seconds with the vehicles travelling at over 150 mph. Now, they race at over 300 mph, taking just 4.5 seconds. The vehicles are completely purpose-built and represent the extreme fringe of non-commercially motivated technological research. Santa Pod Raceway was started in 1966 on the site of an old American airbase. It is the home of European drag racing and host to the FIA European drag racing championships. Drag racing is the fastest and loudest motorsport on Earth, with sensational race action from dragsters and door-slammers to beetles and bikes. See 0 — 100mph in under 1 second and make your ribs rattle, your brain shake, and your ears roar! This CD captures all the thrills and spills of drag car racing - an activity at the cutting edge of technology. For fans and audio buffs alike, you can use this CD to recreate the awesome power in your own living room, or frighten the daylight out of the dancefloor by using this as a DJ tool."

HISS: CD (ASH 5.2). $11.00

"Compilation with Bernd Friedmann/Leif Elggren/S.E.T.I./Santa Pod/Daren Seymour & Mark Van Hoen/Hazard/ Disinformation vs Evan Parker/ Raymond Cass [EVP]/Lem Tuggle/ I Saw It All Happen from Beginning to End and I Still Can't Believe What I Saw]. Ash, in association with the Lydmar Hotel, Stockholm, releases this compact disc — a selection from the label archives."

ELGGREN/PER JONSSON/KENT TANKRED, LEIF: Ugn/Mat CD (ASH 5.3). $12.50

"October 14 is also King's Day in Elgaland-Vargaland, and the opening of the Leif Elggren retrospective at Fragfabriken Stockholm. Three tracks: 'Ugn', '60 Seconds of Silence for Per Jonsson', 'Mat'. Ugn: In the oven the porridge cooking. Two actors worked furiously. Intense and violent. Everything painted orange. Glass porcelain smashed. Tools used. Sledge hammer spit club. 27 girls dressed in white. The porridge still cooking when the actors left. Bits and pieces. Stillness. 'Ugn' was recorded in December 1984 at EMS in Stockholm for a performance at Fylkingen Stockholm on January 12th, 1985. 'Ugn' was first released as a 12" by Radium 226.5 in 1986. 'Mat': Repeated four times in one evening. On the border between sleep and waking. Ten actors with false beards in bed. Fed with potatoes during the acts. Eating sleeping pills. Drinking Whisky in the breaks. A fight against indolence. Movements rapidly changing between intensity and stillness. A dog dressed like a sheep. "Mat" was recorded during the Spring of 1989 at EMS for a performance at Moderna Dansteatern in Stockholm on May 19th 1989."

OCSD: Opening Sweep CD (ASH 5.7). $12.50

"CM von Hauswolff, Edvard Graham Lewis and for the first time on the label, Jean-Louis Huhta combine for their second Ocsid CD, Opening Sweep. Opening Sweep was recorded at L-O-K, a club in Munich, Bavaria, on the 12th November 1999. Ocsid started performing before the audience arrived; and finished as the floors were being swept (2200 - 0330). Opening Sweep is the first 75.04 experienced by five dogs and a man. It took a year before Ash received the MD master, as they are all exceptionally busy people; Graham took part in the reformation of Wire and subsequent tour; CM exhibited and performed around the world; Jean-Louis started a family whilst continuing to record and play. They all live in Sweden. [Because of global warming, the bears in Stockholm Zoo can't hibernate, so their cages have to be refrigerated.]"

VA: freq out CD (ASH 5.8). $12.50

With pieces by: Finnborg Pétursson, Franz Pommasl, BJ Nilsen, Jacob Kirkegaard, Mike Harding, Kent Tankred, J. G. Thirlwell, PerMagnus Lindborg, Jana Winderen, Hans Sydow, Brandon LaBelle, Petteri Nisunen/Tommi Grönlund, & an ensemble piece arranged by BJ Nilsen [Hazard].

"What: A sound installation consisting of 12 individual audio works which are presented as a single piece.

Where: Any large self-contained space will work. The first event took place at Charlottenborg Exhibition Hall, Copenhagen, Denmark, in June 2003.

Who: Encouraged by disturbances, Swedish artist and curator C M von Hausswolff assembled a collection of 13 artists representing the elite of international sound art. The group consist of sound artists, architects, composers, producers, sculptors, mathematicians and visual artists. The installation was part of a larger event taking place at the Royal Danish Theatre and Charlottenborg in Copenhagen.

How: Each player is assigned a frequency range to work with. This process is carried out in situ, each player using a workstation consisting of mixing desk and PA system. All the resulting sounds are then mixed together in the space provided to create a sound installation.

Why: The project reveals how space-specific certain frequencies can be, but also how other sounds can be separated from their source and 'thrown' around the space. It also shows how sound 'fits' (or not) into the space provided by exploring the complexities of frequencies and their inter-action. The final mix not only reveals the innate properties of the frequency ranges, but also the possibilities when they are combined. The result is a lively and accessible sound-filled space which can be approached either as a traditional installation, or as a theme park of sound — fun for all the family and serious students alike."

VA: Krev X 2CD (ASH 6.6). $16.50

"This release marks the tenth anniversary of the moment when, at 12 noon on 27th of May 1992, the State of Elgaland-Vargaland was proclaimed by Leif Elggren, founder of Elgaland, and CM von Hausswolff, founder of Vargaland." Artists include: Marcus Davidson, Sten Hanson, Andreas Karperyd, Thomas Liljeborg, Heitor Alvelos, Mika Vainio, Ulf Bilting, B J Nilsen, Egneken Montgomery, Ryoji Ikeda, Henrik Rylander, Mats Gustafsson, Bigert & Bergstrom & Richard Walton, John Duncan, Per Svensson, Johannes Heldén, Oren Ambarchi, Rozenhall, People Like Us, Thanasis Chondros and Alexandra Katsiani, Olga Nane, Chris Waten, James O'Rourke, DJ Guacamole, Johannes Bergmark, Lary 7, AER, Kent Tankred, Bruce Gilbert, Cecilia Heisser, Adam Hayward, Jean-Louis Huhta, Edvard G., Maja Foss Hagerup, Paul Williams, Steven Travis Pope, Ingrid Engaras, Fennesz, Pontifex Maximus.

ASP (PUERTO RICO):*CRAWLING WITH TARTS: Mayten CD (ASP 23). $11.00

First CD release from this long-running Oakland twosome. Features some different sides of the band, collective improv with various horn players and Fred Lonberg-Holm on cello, and also some of their (slightly) more "standard" songs with Suzanne Dycus singing.

CRAWLING WITH TARTS: Operas 3 And 4 CD (ASP 27). $11.00

A fascinating continuation of the groundbreaking surface noise operas debuted on their now o/p 1st LP. "Like the Operas LP, surface noise and the non-aesthetic content of one-off transcription discs and institutional records are used as the primary form generators for the 2 pieces. 'Grand Surface Noise Opera Nr. 3 (Indian Ocean Ship)' is scored for four turntables alone except for a plate bell, and 'Grand Surface Noise Opera Nr. 4 (Drum Totem)' is for turntables and percussion."

CRAWLING WITH TARTS: I Am Telephoning A Star CD (ASP 31). $12.00

First CD in a while from the duo of Michael Gendreau and Suzanne Dycus. Less conceptual than some of their works, this features 15 tracks of acoustic improv, random clatter and some submerged surface noise collage-type material as they've previously investigated.

ASPHODEL:*VA: RE/SEARCH: Incredibly Strange Music Vol 2 CD (ASPH 0951). $13.00

Asphodel is a SF-based label with an impressive array of releases. This first CD was issued in association with Re/Search's 2nd volume of Incredibly Strange Music. "...features moog, instructional, outer space, latin, religious, spooky and just plain bizarre tunes...the cream of the quirk." With: Hot Butter, Bob McFadden & Dor, Lucia Pamela, Ken Nordine, Billy Mure, Myrtle K. Hilo, Russ Garcia, Del Close & John Brent, Jean Jacques Perrey, Eden Ahbez, Harry Breuer, Marcy, Lex Baxter & Rusty Warren.

BYZAR: Galatronick 2LP (ASPH 0973LP). $14.00

The vinyl version of Galatronick contains two 12"s, which covers approximately 2/3 of the CD version.

WORLD STANDARD: Country Gazette CD (ASPH 0982). $13.00

A project by the co-founder of Yello Magic Orchestra, Harumoni Hosono. "Welcome to the virtual country. This album no less reflects the inner space of a hobo easy rider than the outer space surrounding him. So it reminds me of a film by Monte Hellman, The Shooting, which is regarded as one of the strangest Western Movies in the late 60's. Like this film, Country Gazette will take us to nowhere on the banjo sound. We can hear various intoxicated ambient sounds of a banjo (country gadget) from this disc. This record owes a lot to the Stereolab series of the Vanguard label and is especially inspired by John Fahey. He composed many requiems (great collage sounds) for his fans. Country Gazette is also a requiem, for all kinds of 20th century popular music." —Mikado Koyanagi. "Absolutely great. Love the production, the original pieces for banjo and guitar (and atmospheric vocals). It's played with a light touch, it's loose and airy, and aesthetically very pleasing to these ears. The six minutes or so of almost inaudible distant thunder sounds followed by the weirdly vocalized cowboy poem (written by Hank Williams?) is shocking. Buried in the mix are samples of 'Coffee Blues,' from Mississippi John Hurt's live double album on Vanguard, and Fahey's 'The Singing Bridge of Memphis Tennessee' from The Yellow Princess — which itself utilized samples of a Ragtime Henry Thomas' 78 ('Quill Blues' I think)." — Glenn Jones.

GALAS, DIAMANDA: Malediction and Prayer 2LP (ASPH 0984LP). $14.00

Gatefold 2LP version.

MIX MASTER MIKE: Anti-Theft Device CD (ASPH 0985). $13.00

Solo album by the Invisible Skratch Piklz core member & current Beastie Boys turntablist guest. "Scratching is the future of music, straight up." —Mixmaster Mike.

SAKAMOTO, RYUICHI: Love Is The Devil CD (ASPH 0987). $13.00

Original soundtrack. "In Love is the Devil, a John Mayberry film, Derek Jacobi stars as Francis Bacon, one of the 20th century's most controversial artists. The score to this film is written by award winning composer Ryuichi Sakamoto. Sakamoto's best known work, along with an illustrious history in the past and present electronic scenes, includes Merry Christmas Mr.

Lawrence." To be followed by a remix project.

SWIFT, ROB: The Ablist CD (ASPH 0993). $13.00

Second full length solo album by the X-Ecutioners member, following his 1997 debut on Stones Throw, Soulful Fruit. Produced, arranged and scratched by Swift, guests include Roc Raida, Mista Sinista (X-Ecutioners), Dan "Automator" Nakamura, Dr. Butcher, etc.

INVISIBL SKRATCH PIKLZ: Vs. Da Klams uv Deth 12" (ASPH 106). $6.00

Repressed. "The name of the band is of course the Invisibl Skratch Piklz, the legendary crew featuring Q-Bert, Mix Master Mike and Shortkut. Listening to their groundbreaking debut 12", 1997's Invisibl Skratch Piklz vs. Da Klams uv Deth, is like breakdancing in a tornado. In terms of sampling, this record is to Sean 'Puffy' Combs what Public Enemy was to Lou Rawls, not to mention musical ground zero for the scratching revolution that took over hip-hop in the late 1990s. Beat, melody, rhyme, rhythm, and time are totally skewed as the Piklz cut and scratch records with such unknowable, deconstructive skill that grooving (even listening) becomes painful. A truly virtuosic recording by three remarkable artists at the beginning of their recording careers."

X-ECUTIONERS: Raida's Theme Remixes CD (ASPH 111 CD). $5.00

Second single to be released by the turntablist X-Ecutioners. Features 4 mixes of "Raida's Theme" plus the LP version of "The Countdown".

SWIFT, ROB: The Ablist 12" (ASPH 116). $6.00

"Rob is a world class DJ whose work with the X-ecutioners on Asphodel's 1997 release X-pressions has established Rob's name as one crucial forefather of 'turntablism'. Turntablists take Hip Hop beyond the world of loop and sample to a new place where the turntable is treated and respected as an instrument. This 12" is his Asphodel solo debut, a taste of his full length to be released in early 1999."

MIX MASTER MIKE: Suprize Packidg (The Automator Remix) 12" (ASPH 118 EP). $6.50

SWIFT, ROB: Dope On Plastic (Large Professor Remix) CD (ASPH 119 CD). $5.00

"Second single from his forthcoming full length release on Asphodel, coming out in Feb." 7 track EP featuring 4 versions of "Dope On Plastic" (remix, scratch version, instrumental, acapella) and 3 versions of "Do You Dance" (original, instrumental, acapella).

CRUMAR, PHIL: As It Goes 12" (ASPH 125). $6.00

CRUMAR, PHIL: As It Goes CD (ASPH 125 CD). $5.00

Debut 4 track single, with guest scratching by Rob Swift & DJ Marz. "Phil Crumar was born and raised in Washington, DC. He was exposed and influenced by go-go music at a very young age. Trouble Funk was on of his first favorite bands... He quickly started to imitate his favorite DC go-go drummers and soon branched out to other styles, but the 'go-go swing' is a thread that can be found in most of his compositions."

ALLIES, THE: D-Day 12" (ASPH 126). $8.50

ALLIES, THE: D-Day CD (ASPH 126 CD). $7.00

The Allies are A-Trak, Craze, Develop, Infamous, J-Smoke & Spictakular. "In most crews, having one world title makes you stand out, but not with The Allies — where all 6 members have a world title. With such an extensive resume, The Allies have broken the tradition of the DJ playing the background and have not stepped into the spotlight...they emphasize all aspects of the DJ, such as beat juggling and scratching body tricks."

TIPSY: Hard Petting CD (ASPH 127 CD). $5.00

"First single from their upcoming full length album out early 2001."

CAGE, JOHN: Atlas Eclipticalis & Winter Music!103 4CD (ASPH 2000). $24.00

Two live, unedited performances of Cage's orchestral music: "At last Eclipticalis With Winter Music!" (recorded 5/19/93, performed by The Orchestra of the SEM Ensemble, conducted by Petr Kotick, piano by David Tudor) and "103" (recorded 11/21/98, performed by the Janacek Philharmonic Orchestra, conducted by Petr Kotick). "Kotick and Cage met for the first time in May, 1964, performing a 3-hour, six percussion version of Atlas Eclipticalis. Kotick's association with Cage continued until the composer's death in 1992." John Cage: "We've now played the Winter Music a number of times. I haven't kept count. When we first played it, the silences seemed very long and the sounds seemed really separated in space, not obstructing one another."

MARCLAY/OTOMO YOSHIHIDE, CHRISTIAN: Moving Parts CD (ASPH 2001CD). $13.00

"Christian Marclay is well known for using damaged & re-assembled recordings to create his music. He has put out many solo recordings over the years. Otomo Yoshihide is one of Japan's best known experimental musicians today. He led the experimental band Ground Zero in the 80s and has played with Fred Frith, John Rose, Jim O'Rourke, Carl Stone & Bob Ostertag. The two create an intense, noisy tapestry of sound, encompassing a wide range of sources — from the baroque-sounding flute and harpsichord snippet that opens the CD to squalls of Hendrix-flavored guitar, opera, flamenco, movie soundtrack music, and purely electronic sound. Marclay firmly favors the analog, intentionally letting his records get scratched and even gluing pieces of vinyl together, while Yoshihide employs mainly digital methods. The combination is potent and compelling. Unlike a lot of the people identified with turntablist world, they never go for laughs with sharply contrasting stylistic juxtapositions or the ironic use of spoken-word records. Sometimes the source materials are pummeled and entirely reshaped, and other times a melodic quotation will stand out untreated; the results are at times reminiscent of Stockhausen's 'Hymnen' or Eric Salzman's 'Nude Paper Sermon.'"

TIPSY: Uh-Oh! CD (ASPH 2003 CD). $13.00

"What do you get when you bring together the seemingly disparate worlds of experimental noise and instrumental pop music, seasoned with a healthy dose of humour, an appreciation of all things bizarre, and a tongue in cheek sense of irony?" The answer is San Francisco's notorious duo Tippy, consolidating the quirky talents of Dave Gardner and Tim Digullia who deliver their heady cocktail of lounge music, thematic sounds and exotica. Following their critically acclaimed 1996 debut: Trip Tease, Tippy's sophomore release is as captivating as ever, actively illustrating the duo's eclectic musical influences and evoking imagery with their charmingly surreal and highly individual style intact. Tippy have accumulated support from all corners. From cutting-edge radio shows to film and television producers, their sound is strikingly different yet accessible and contagious."

TIPSY: Uh-Oh! 2LP (ASPH 2003 LP). $15.00

XENAKIS, IANNIS: Persepolis Plus Remixes Vol. 1 2CD (ASPH 2005 CD). $14.00

"In 1971, former Iranian dictator Muhammad Reza Shah hosted a lavish and highly choreographed event amidst the ruins of the ancient Persian capital of Persepolis in order to celebrate the 2500th anniversary of Iran's founding by Cyrus The Great. This commemoration of modern Iran's beginnings was part of the Shah's own struggle with the country's increasingly politicized Shi'ite Muslim Clerics, led by the late Ayatollah Khomeini, to secularize Iran.

Declaring himself to be heir to Cyrus' legacy, the Shah presided over a cast of 6,200 vintage Persian costume-wearing vassals in an outlandish ceremony affirming the Shah's own interpretation of Iranian history, one which paid little deference to Islam. The third annual Shiraz arts festival was held that same year at Persepolis. In keeping with the 2500th national anniversary celebrations, the Shah commissioned Greek composer and computer music pioneer Iannis Xenakis (1922-2001) to write a piece of music exalting ancient Persia's aristocratic pre-Islamic religious culture. Selecting Xenakis to author such a work could not have been more symbolically appropriate. A central figure in the development of computer composition, this half-blind former architect, WWII resistance fighter and associate of Le Corbusier evolved a new approach to music, most notably one that employed mathematical probability functions as a compositional methodology. Titled Persepolis, in honor of the location in which it was to be performed, Xenakis composed a fifty-six minute, eight-track tape piece of musique concrete for the occasion. A noisy, apocalyptic-sounding work distinguished by rising waves of intensity, Persepolis' debut must have been quite an experience for those lucky enough to be in attendance. Persepolis takes on an even greater significance when listened to as a musical work whose purpose was to serve a failed secularist ideology overtaken less than a decade later by a fundamentalist Islamic revolution. In light of the events that have consumed the world since September 11th 2001, the notion that a radical composer would align himself with a political figure like the Shah shows how very few places such a brilliant artist could go to receive support for their work. Creative modernism is left with choosing between authoritarianism and religion. Hence the inclusion of a second disc of remixes in this edition of Persepolis. Disc 2 of this recording contains nine remixes of Persepolis by an international cast of avant-garde musicians, transforming Xenakis' original work in entirely distinct contexts, imbuing it with compellingly new meanings. Otomo Yoshihide, Merzbow, Ryoji Ikeda, and Construction Kit contribute Japanese readings, while Spanish artist Francisco Lopez, Polish musician Zbigniew Karkowski and German Ulf Langheinrich bring the so-called noise from Europe. Americans Antimatter and Laminar round the global aspect of this collection out by providing their own compelling takes on the original. Despite their distinctiveness, what unites all of these remixes is a shared sense that all great works of art can transcend the contexts in which they were first conceived in order to explore, and perhaps fulfill their greater purpose."

TIPSY: Tipsy Remix Party CD (ASPH 2006 CD). $13.00

"San Francisco's Tippy are an anomaly in the world of electronica. Master synthesists of exotica, lounge, country and found sound, over the course of two full-lengths and twice as many EPs, Tippy have delighted listeners with their highly ironic take on musical history. Frequently tagged as the members of the nebulous 'Space Age Bachelor' pad genre in the tradition of Jean-Jacques Perry and Gershon Kingsley, Tippy take the best aspects of crate-digging sampledelicia and turn it into their own unique musical idiom. Curated by Dave Gardner, Remix Party! transcends the cliché of simply being a remix album, moving into territory traditionally reserved for tribute records and scene documentaries. Moving from Russia to Japan, Austria, Switzerland, the UK and America, the remarkable geographic spread of Tippy translators attests to the creeping influence of the Tippy phenomena worldwide. Featuring consistently up beat, humorous and memorable contributions by the likes of Matmos, the High Llamas, People Like Us, Messerchups, Optiganally Yours, and World Standard, Tippy Remix Party! is the ideal lifestyle accoutrement for the Barbarella-worshipping computer science major in you."

TIPSY: Tipsy Remix Party LP (ASPH 2006 LP). $14.00

LP version.

USER, THE: Symphony #2 CD (ASPH 2007 CD). $13.00

"Canadian sound artists [The User] first made a name for themselves with their 2001 project, Silophone. The brainchild of composer Emmanuel Madan and architect Thomas McIntosh, inspired by the transformation of decaying European industrial sites into art installations, [The User] created an interactive, web-broadcasting musical instrument out of an old grain silo in Montreal's Quai des Ecluses, using a grain elevator, microphones and telecommunications technologies. Although it was an elaborate theoretical construction, [The User]'s goal was quite simple: All they wanted to do was take a modern-day North American ruin and turn it into an instrument of sound. Quite literally, a Silophone. 2002's subsequent User project takes the form of Symphony #2. In keeping with the general philosophical thrust of their Silophone project, Symphony #2 finds the duo sampling and playing back the sounds of vintage dot-matrix printers using customized midi controllers specially designed to turn Imagewriters into sound modules. The results of this project take the form of this 48 minute Asphodel debut, consisting of two full tracks and various index points which give pause and pull to an otherwise traditionally structured symphonic work. Produced and arranged at Asphodel's Bloody Angle Compound studio, Symphony #2 is both a conceptually rich, humorous and delightfully spare plug-in free full-length about the joys of transforming the office environment into a palace of culture."

MIX MASTER MIKE: Return Of Eye Of The Cyclops CD (ASPH 2008 CD). $13.00

"This newly compiled release, showcases 17 tracks of the famed and acclaimed Beastie Boys DJ into one full-length recording. Return features works recorded before and after 1999's seminal Anti-Theft Device. Wave-twisting bass, mind-warping scratches, and off-the-cuff compositions flavor the journey as Mike skillfully guides us through his cut-up world of ambient, electro, jazz, and B-movie soundtracks to the outer limits of abstract hip hop. Out-of-print 12"s Valuemeal and Suprize Package provide rare tracks and remixes not available on Mike's full length releases. The 2001 Bammie award winning classic EP, Eye of the Cyclops, provides more 11 tracks to round out this essential piece."

MIX MASTER MIKE: Return Of Eye Of The Cyclops 2LP (ASPH 2008 LP). $14.00

Double LP version.

DJ SPOOKY: Songs Of A Dead Dreamer CD (ASPH 2009). $13.00

The 2002 edition of DJ Spooky's legendary Songs of a Dead Dreamer, featuring 2 bonus tracks previously available only on the Japanese edition. "Abstract junglist, former leader of the Illbient movement, culture critic or just plain organized noise progenitor: there's no denying New Yorker DJ Spooky's immense influence on the American experimental electronic scene. 1996's groundbreaking Songs of a Dead Dreamer is the first full-length testament to his position. Spooky proclaims himself a 'music futurist,' given how fear reaching Dead Dreamer's influence continues to be six years after its initial release, its clear Spooky was on to something. For anyone interested in contemporary IDM, from Berlin PowerBook dub to Kid606's groovy electropunk, Dead Dreamer is an ambient classic which deserves a space in your collection."

DJ SPOOKY: Songs Of A Dead Dreamer 2LP (ASPH 2009 LP). $14.00

Double LP gatefold edition.

ANTIMATTER: antimatter vs. antimatter CD (ASPH 2010 CD). $13.00

"The debut Asphodel full-length of Bay Area sound artist, Xenakis remixer and Mixmaster Mike engineer mixture 151, AKA antimatter. Featuring seventeen tracks of classic Powerbook based-DSP interpretations of selections from antimatter's own discography, antimatter vs antimatter is both a career overview and a remix record. Incorporating elements of musique concrete, sampled loops and haunting guitar drones, antimatter vs antimatter's eclectic sound sources and spacious arrangements will appeal to fans of Christian Fennesz and Einstürzende Neubauten alike. Previous full-lengths include 2002's pulsating wave and drone collaboration with Polish sound artists Zbigniew Karkowski, Function Generator, on Portugal's SIRR imprint, 1999's Transfixion on Artifact Records, as well as various compilation appearances."

TONE, YASUNAO: Yasunao Tone CD (ASPH 2011 CD). $13.00

"Yasunao Tone's near-half century's worth of work links contemporary electronic music with the historical avant-garde. One of the founding members of Japan's Fluxus Movement and an early associate of Yoko Ono and the late John Cage, 67 year-old New York resident Yasunao Tone has been composing experimental sound pieces since the early 1960s. A member of Japan's first computer art group, Team Random, who programmed Univac mainframes to perform Tone's own compositions, Tone has maintained a lifelong fascination with manipulating technology for his own musical ends. Tone's first composition using CD players, the appropriately titled Music for 2 CD Players, made its NEA-sponsored debut in 1982. Not long thereafter, Tone began composing pieces based on overriding the error-correction systems of consumer CD players in order to generate new strings of random digital sound. A pioneer in the use of prepared CDs, Tone first scratched his own self-described 'wounded' scotch tape and pinhole-punctured compact disc in 1985. With previous works performed by John Cage, commissions on behalf of the Merce Cunningham Dance Company, installations at 1990's Venice Biennale, and 1993's Whitney Biennale, and releases on the Lovely Music (Musica Iconologos) and Tzadik labels (Solo For Wounded CD), Tone makes his Asphodel debut with this new full-length recording of intensely visceral, conceptual noise."

BROKER/DEALER: Initial Public Offering CD (ASPH 2014 CD). $13.00

"Equipped with an array of samplers, sequencers and vintage synthesizers, San Francisco wunderkinds Broker/Dealer make catchy minimal electronic music equally suited for the den or the dancefloor. Simultaneously channeling the aquatic dub of Berlin's Chain Reaction label and the genre-defining minimal techno of the Kompakt imprint, on their debut full-length, Initial Public Offering, B/D evoke the sounds of futuristic 70s disco maven Georgio Moroder and the proto-synth pop of early Art of Noise. Featuring subterranean basslines, ambient synth pads, dubby beats and interlocking pop melodies, Broker/Dealer's porous, punchy tracks and classy melodic nuances have been eliciting comparisons to the likes of early Mouse on Mars, Frankie Knuckles and Thomas Brinkmann since the release of their first 12" on the well respected Cologne label, Traum Schallplatten, home to B/D heroes Akufen, Miss Dinkt and Phillipe Cam."

BROKER/DEALER: Initial Public Offering 2LP (ASPH 2014 LP). $14.00

Double LP version.

NORDINE, KEN: Wink CD (ASPH 2015 CD). $13.00

"A world where windshield wipers fall in love and some people making a business out of licking lampshades may sound like something Ken Nordine imagined, but his 1967 album Twink was actually Nordine reading a little-known Beat Generation classic somebody else wrote. Robert Shure wrote the strange little poems, first published in 1957 by City Lights Books. Nordine, whose own cult classic, Word Jazz, was also first released in 1957, stumbled across the tiny gem years later, but instantly recognized a kindred spirit. 'Two voices, one head,' he said. 'I knew it was going to be perfect.' He recorded the dialogue, talking to himself from opposite sides of the stereo spectrum, one voice recorded dry, the other drenched in echo. The album was released in 1967 while he was signed with Phillips Records. Over the years, the originality and imagination of Nordine's anomalous creations has become ever more evident. What once was viewed — with some beneficence — as a quirky, if entertaining, irrelevance now is more commonly accorded the status of a timeless classic."

USER, THE: Abandon CD (ASPH 2016 CD). $13.00

"Abandon is a composition written for the abandoned Silo #5 grain elevator in the Port of Montréal's Quai des Ecluses. It's a piece of music which employs no musical instruments other than the building itself, to which [The User] gave the name 'Silophone.' This instrument incorporates the astounding acoustics of a series of grain storage cylinders, which possess a stunningly beautiful echo and a reverberation time of up to twenty seconds. The Silophone instrument is unique in that it is almost always played at a distance, using telecommunications technologies such as the internet or telephone."

LAMINAR: Nozzle CD (ASPH 2017 CD). $13.00

"Nozzle is Laminar's first full-length recording for Asphodel. A dense, explorative and compelling collection of contemporary DSP-concrete composed in the tradition of Xenakis' stochastic compositional methodology, Nozzle's star ting point is the investigation of nonstandard synthesis routines for creating music. As a whole, Nozzle is based on iterative functional synthesis and asynchronous granular synthesis, which involves developing musical structures by manipulating interactions at the sound-particle level. The sound textures of Nozzle move from order to disorder to outright chaotic, all the while blurring the fundamental separation of sound and structure. Periods of stability are frequently interrupted by sudden and erratic events. The musical results are hectic, explosive sound gestures alternating with dense states of slack which express the fundamental physicality of sound."

RHYTHM & SOUND: W/ The Artists CD (ASPH 2018 CD). $13.00

US licenses of Burial Mix European releases. "Over the course of the past decade, Berlin producers Mark Ernestus and Moritz von Oswald forged a new musical idiom under the moniker Rhythm and Sound. Fusing minimal electronics with the richest and most spacial of dub arrangements, Ernestus and von Oswald found a new middle ground between Detroit techno and 70s roots reggae. Rhythm and Sound have since influenced a generation of club and dub producers in Germany and beyond. Rhythm and Sound's W/ The Artists is a compilation of reggae oriented tunes issued over the past three years through such imprints as von Oswald and Ernestus' own highly regarded Basic Channel label. Recorded in Berlin, New York and Jamaica, W/ The Artists features vocal performances by living reggae legends such as Cornel Campbell, Paul Saint Hilaire, Shalom, The Chosen Brothers, Love Joy, Jennifer Lara and Jah Batta."

RHYTHM & SOUND: The Versions CD (ASPH 2019 CD). $13.00

"Released simultaneously, The Versions CD contains corresponding instrumental and dub versions of w/ the artists, integrating minimal remix structures with Rhythm and Sound's breathtaking atmospheric density. An essential twin release that will please fans of everyone from Pole and Burnt Friedman to Mad Professor and the Bullwackies alike."

ALLIEN, ELLEN: Remix Collection CD (ASPH 2020CD). $13.00

"A veritable who's who of contemporary electro and minimal techno, Remix Collection gathers together Alien's interpretations of Goldenboy with Miss Kittin, Gold Chains, Barbara Morgenstern, Sascha Funke and Neulander amongst eleven outstanding tracks. Ellen Alien's artistic development is largely defined by one circumstance: her engagement with 'music of the future', i.e. techno and the historical after-effects of the year 1989. Alien witnessed the changes created by the end of the Cold War and Germany's reunification, particularly the impact that it had on the culture and geography of her newly expanded hometown of Berlin. Her music remains indelibly marked by this experience."

FIRES WERE SHOT: Solace CD (ASPH 2022CD). $13.00

"Fires Were Shot are an experimental guitar duo hailing from Austin, Texas. At once contemplative, haunting and disheveled, the band's second release, Solace, continues to set for the abyssal, effected acoustic guitar sounds found on their debut release, Form the Hearth, self-released on the band's own Its Only Me imprint in 1998. Solace is a collection of complex emotions, warm guitar tones, and sculpted noise. Each genre-defying song contains image-evoking soundscapes, guitar melodies, and has the gritty quality of spontaneous performance. This is not drone, electronic, or ambient; it is very analog, very experimental, and extremely cinematic, evoking the arid geography of the band's southwest Texas home. Featuring the talents of guitarists John Wilkins and Clay Walton, Fires Were Shot have been compared to everyone from Windy and Carl to Roy Montgomery and most appropriately, Austin neighbors Stars of the Lid."

MARCLAY, CHRISTIAN: dTRIO CD (ASPH 2023CD). $13.00

"Performer, sculptor, and sound artist Christian Marclay has been experimenting, composing and performing with phonograph records and turntables since 1979. As a musician, he was one of the first to use records and turntables as a medium for performance and improvisation. Mixing a wide variety of LPs on multiple turntables, fragmenting and repeating sounds, altering speeds, playing records backwards, spinning, throwing, scratching, and otherwise manipulating records to create his unique 'theater of found sound,' Marclay's extreme DJ manipulations predate by two decades the turntablists of today. dTRIO is a rotating trio founded by Christian Marclay in 1996 to showcase the talent of some of the world's best avant-garde turntablists. Rooted in the context of free-improvisation, Marclay's latest musical project continues pushing forward the definition of what deejaying is. The new CD features four of the most forward thinking turntablists of the new music scene: Toshio Kajiwara, Erik M., DJ Olive and Marina Rosenfeld. dTRIO features the deejay as an instrumentalist working collectively in a group instead of performing as a soloist. Over the course of the past seven years dTRIO has also included Otomo Yoshihide, Pita, and Tom Recchion, among others. The follow-up to Marclay's 2000 collaboration with Otomo Yoshihide, Moving Parts (Asphodel) dTRIO continues to demonstrate that a lot more can be done with turntables than just scratch beats."

RISHAUG, ALEXANDER: Possible Landscape CD (ASPH 2024CD). $13.00

"Alexander Rishaug is a sound artist and electronic musician based in Oslo, Norway. A member of the country's fer tile experimental music scene, Rishaug has toured throughout Europe and the US and appeared on compilations on the Rune Grammofon, Jester and Smalltown Supersound labels. His first full-length, the critically acclaimed Panorama, was released in 2002 by Smalltown Supersound. Moving from ambient to abstract beats and classic clicks and cuts, Rishaug's second release, Possible Landscape, explores tones and textures creating detailed, rich and melodic soundscapes. Based on recordings of self-played instruments and field recordings that were then edited and processed on Rishaug's computer, Possible Landscape straddles a perfect middle ground between structure and rhythm with unexpected skips and random shifts."

VA: Archiv 1.1 CD (ASPH 2025CD). $13.00

"Originally assembled for subscribers of the December 2003 edition of The Wire, Archiv 1.1 is the first domestically-released compilation of Germany's celebrated Raster-Noton label. Featuring new and unreleased tracks not available on the original anthology, Archiv 1.1 is a retrospective introduction to one of Europe's most influential contemporary experimental and minimalist electronic imprints. Archiv 1.1 appropriately begins with the brooding minimalism of Raster's in-house group Signal. Seamlessly moving through representative catalogue works including Cyclo (Nicolaï's collaboration with Ryoji Ikeda) and Herve Boghossian's DSP guitar piece, 'Memoire Cyclique,' Archiv 1.1 concludes with 'Riverll' by American drone artist William Basinski." Also includes Senking, Komet, Byetone, Modul, Liima, M. Akiyama, Pixel, Noto.

ASTHMATIC KITTY:

STEVENS, SUFJAN: Michigan 2LP (AKR 007LP). $13.50

"Asthmatic Kitty and Sounds Famlyre announce the vinyl edition of Sufjan Stevens' Michigan. On two LPs, this special edition includes alternate versions of 'Vito's Ordination song,' 'Romulus,' and five out-takes not included on the original CD release. Also new to this edition is an essay on the songs by Sufjan Stevens. Composed as a geographical tone poem, Michigan follows a Metaphysical expedition through the idiosyncrasies of middle America. Drawing from personal anecdote, regional history, and state heritage, Stevens mixes social and political grievances with songs about snowmobiles, Henry Ford, the Detroit riots, and love."

STEVENS, SUFJAN: A Sun Came CD (AKR 009CD). $13.50

"Asthmatic Kitty announces a new edition of A Sun Came, the 1999 debut album by Sufjan Stevens. Widely acclaimed for Michigan (2003), and Seven Swans (2004), singer/songwriter Sufjan Stevens' first solo collection has been skillfully re-mastered, with two previously unreleased tracks and new art by Stephen Halker. Recorded on 4-track while still in college, A Sun Came first demonstrated Sufjan's eclectic instrumentalism — he plays over a dozen instruments here — noted production skills, and heartfelt songwriting. Though little known until listeners and reviewers discovered Michigan last year, A Sun Came foreshadows Sufjan's later work, and stands on its own as an expression of his unique talents."

ASTRALWERKS:

AIR: 10,000 Hz Legend CD (ASW 10332 CD). $15.50

"Recorded in Paris and Los Angeles, the new album features plenty of trademark Air-isms; sweeping string arrangements, electronically treated vocals, ethereal backing harmonies. This time, however, the band reaches beyond the 70's electro-lounge og Moon Safari to create a next level listening experience, or as Spin magazine recently remarked in their Top 40 for 2001 issue... 'a soundtrack so vivid it will turn your daily life into a French film.'"

AIR: 10,000 Hz Legend 2LP (ASW 10332 LP). $15.50

Double LP version.

SIMIEN: Chemistry Is What We Are CD (ASW 11005 CD). $14.00

"Equal parts mystery and whimsy, Simian are four lads from rural England on a dreamy musical adventure down the rabbit hole. Their debut album channels a wild amalgam of styles, painting Beatlesque harmonies over Aphex tones, polishing creaky Britfolk to a modernist sheen, and taking all manner of found noises and molding blissed-out pop thrills out of them. Mining the same fields as the Beta Band, Badly Drawn Boy, Lemon Jelly and the Elephant 6 crew, Simian's music is the sound of the imagination running riot, an alchemy of songcraft and atmosphere that is as addictive as it is delightful."

PLAYGROUP: CD (ASW 11170 CD). $15.50

"Playgroup is the brainchild of Trevor Jackson — the producer behind UK rap outfit The Brotherhood and remixer extraordinaire for the likes of U2, Massive Attack, UNKLE and Death in Vegas. Playgroup is the fantasy album of a master producer running amok through his rolodex and record collection, rediscovering cult heroes and forgotten legends from the worlds of punk, funk, reggae, new wave, house and rap. It's Screamedelica meets Blue Lines for a new century, appealing to fans of both cutting edge and retro sounds. Playgroup features a host of musical mavericks; hip house poet KC Flightt brings the party vibes on 'Front 2 Back,' while Shinehead presses the dancehall pressure on a cover of Paul Simon's '50 Ways To Leave Your Lover.' Scottish indie pioneers Edwyn Collins (Orange Juice) and Roddy Frame (Aztec Camera) are along for the ride, as well as original riot grrrl Kathleen Hannah (Bikini Kill & Le Tigre). Add to that ex-Headcoatees Kyra, Happy Mondays stalwart Rowetta, Lucy Pearl vocalist Joi, and finally Trevor himself singing on the dubelectro opus 'Overflow' and you have Playgroup: a compendium of perfect grooves and infectious pop sensibilities, fusing old and new schools into the ultimate millennial house party. The US CD version will contain the video for 'Number One' directed by master animator H5 (Alex Gopher's 'The Child'), as well as an exclusive extra track TBA. The double vinyl will contain the extra track '4th Sex Baby' featuring indie provocateurs Peaches & Gonzales."

AIR: Everybody Hertz CD (ASW 11833 CD). $8.00

"Air returns in the new year with this deliciously diverse collection of remixes, edits and covers. Based around three key songs from the 10,000 Hz. Legend album, this attractively priced EP features a variety of flavors to fire the imagination of Air's loyal fanbase. The Neptunes transform 'Don't Be Light' into a jazzed-out hip-hop joint, while hot new Euro-talent The Hacker gives the song a hard-edged dance feel that recalls New Order's 'Blue Monday.'" Remixes also by: Thomas Bangalter, Mr Oizo, Adrian Sherwood, Modjo, Roger Manning, Jack Lahana.

AIR: Everybody Hertz 2x12" (ASW 11833 EP). $13.00

"A nicely priced 2 x 12" 10 track E.P. featuring remixes of tracks from the acclaimed album 10,000 Hz. Legend. Features contributions from The Neptunes, The Hacker, Adrian Sherwood, Thomas Bangalter of Daft Punk and much more. Features a brand new, previously unreleased track."

VITELLI, COSMIN: Clean CD (ASW 12358 CD). $17.00

"There are two men by the name of Cosmo Vitelli. One is a character in a '70s Cassavetes film played by Ben Gazzara. The other is the mastermind behind the album Clean, a unique musical adventure that ranges from uplifting house to dreamy atmospheres, sometimes within the same track. On Clean, Cosmo Vitelli has fashioned an aural wonderland where soap opera themes are mashed with breakbeats, and new wave melodies float over lush technicolor backgrounds. Featuring the floor-burning anthems 'Party Day' and 'Robot Soul', Clean is a rush of pure discified pleasure, a magic carpet ride through an imaginary history of cool & sexy music. Already an acclaimed artist in his homeland, Cosmo Vitelli emerged out of the Solid Records scene in Paris which spawned Alex Gopher and Etienne De Crecy."

VA: I Hear Voices CD (ASW 12855). $14.00

"Record Makers is the label established by Air and their management as an outlet for showcasing new French talents authors, composers, performers or all in one. Included in the mix here are electro and hip-hop beats, classic French 'chanson' style balladry, dark disco sleaze and some typically twisted Parisian humor. Topped off by a brand new song from Air and friends under the pseudonym The Rainbow Brothers, this collection is an affordable introduction to the next wave of French innovators." Artists include: Damien, A Visible Boy, Los Chicos, Jack Lahana, Maxence Cyrin, Hypno-Love, Mr. Learn, DSL, Electromanager, Newton, Mathieu Persan, Doyan Korolic, Notre Dame, Thomas Winter & Bogue, D.I.E.U., The Rainbow Brothers.

CASSIUS: Au Réve CD (ASW 13039 CD). $17.00

"Long considered one of the cornerstones of the French dance explosion alongside Daft Punk and Dimitri From Paris, the dynamic duo Cassius (Philippe Zdar and Boombass) return with a stunning new album that captures the essence of their notorious DJ mix sets while further exploring their talent as producers. Their debut album 1999 was a tour de force of soulful house and funk energy, and while Au Réve continues with elements of that tradition, we are also treated to some amazing stylistic diversity."

ØYE, ERLEND: Unrest CD (ASW 13321 CD). $17.00

"An album that recalls the ethereal, electro-pop spirit of classic '80s albums while further exploring Erlend's hushed melancholy vocal delivery. Collaborators include talented American producer Morgan Geist (Metro Area) and Brooklyn's Soviet while Europe is represented by up-and-comers Mr. Velcro Fastener, Kompis, Jolly Music, Prefuse 73 and more."

ROYKSOPP: Melody A.M. 2CD (ASW 13352 CD). $17.00

"Astralwerks is proud to announce the long awaited US release of Royksopp's brilliant debut album Melody A.M. Having already sold 200,000 copies worldwide, spawned several singles and been featured on over a dozen U.K. TV commercials and compilations they are now set to bring their melodic hooks, lush harmonies, and percolating beats to the States. The special US version will come with the addition of a bonus disc with 4 extra tracks as well as three incredible videos."

ROYKSOPP: Melody A.M. 2LP (ASW 13352 LP). $18.00

Double vinyl version.

NEU!: CD (ASW 30780 CD). $15.50

First ever legit CD issue of this Krautrock icon (sometimes referred to in title as #1), originally released by Brain in 1971. "Now the three classic Neu! albums that so many musicians and writers reference but which few actually own (except as bootlegs) are being officially released on compact disc, having been painstakingly remastered from the original master tapes. Neu! were formed by Kraftwerk members Michael Rother and Klaus Dinger who took the sparse early Kraftwerk electronic sound and utilized many effects like lock-groove rhythms and minimalist melodies currently used by today's electronic artists. Neu! created a new kind of rhythm that bridged the gap between rock n roll's syncopation and dance music's four-on-the-floor beats." "Neu!'s groundbreaking debut challenged rock n' roll by using feedback, processed effects, repeated riffs and incessant rhythms — laying the cornerstone of what would become today's electronic music."

NEU!: 2 CD (ASW 30781 CD). $15.50

The 2nd album, originally released by Brain in 1973; contains the all-time classic motorik track "Für Immer". "A good portion of Neu!2 consists of sped-up, slowed down and otherwise altered versions of what was initially just 20 minutes of newly recorded material. In short, Neu!2 presents the listener with the first ever examples of what was to become one of electronic/dance music's most important devices — the remix." Klaus Dinger (Japan banjo, guitar, percussion, Farfisa piano, Bandonion, singing, electronics); Michael Rother (guitar, bass, piano, violin, zither, percussion, cassette recorder).

NEU!: '75 CD (ASW 30782 CD). $15.50

"The album oscillates between Michael Rother's more ambient, minimalist approach and Klaus Dinger's rock-infused abrasiveness that predates punk rock by a year. In fact, when Neu!'75 was imported in the UK, it influenced key players responsible for the punk rock movement."

KRAFTWERK: Expo Mixes CD (ASW 38768 CD). $8.50

"A US-only remix edition of the Kraftwerk single Expo 2000. Universally known as the Godfathers of electronic music, Kraftwerk's incredible ability to blend electronics, emotion and soul have placed them apart from nearly everyone in the genre. Expo 2000 again takes metronomic rhythms and melds them seamlessly with lush, layered melodies. Kraftwerk's 1981 vision of a computer-centered world community (Computer World) have now come to fruition and their ongoing interest in exploring Man and Machine picks up right where it left off. In addition to Kraftwerk's own Kling Klang mixes are re-mixes by Orbital, Francois K, DJ Rolando and Underground Resistance." Contains 9 out of the 10 tracks found on the European EMI releases ("Expo 2000" and "Expo Remix" EPs).

KRAFTWERK: Expo Mixes 2x12" (ASW 38768 EP). $10.00

Double vinyl version.

RICHARD X: Being Nobody 12" (ASW 38864 EP). $6.50

"The Richard X story begins at the start of 2001, when he accidentally instigated the craze for making bootleg mash-up records. Secretly working under the name Girls On Top, Richard released a limited 7" featuring, on one side, the Whitney Houston-meets-Kraftwerk contemporary classic 'I Wanna Dance With Numbers'. Now newly signed to Astralwerks, Richard X has teamed up with another of the UK's top pop groups, Liberty X, in a logical extension of his Girls On Top activities. This time, Liberty X performs Chaka Kahn's 'Ain't Nobody' over Richard's faithful instrumental version of The Human League's 'Being Boiled'. For a certain smash pop hit, it's a raw and unorthodox affair; without doubt one of the most exhilarating singles of the year, a cracking battle of the Xs."

MALI MUSIC: Mali Music CD (ASW 41019). $17.00

Domestic licensing of this Honest Jon's UK release (UK copies in beautiful 40 book book-like packaging, with a US sticker/barcode added). "In July of 2001, Damon Albarn (frontman for Blur and Gorillaz) traveled to Mali - west Africa's most musical nation. With a battered melodica as his chosen instrument, Damon sat in on club and private jam sessions; playing concerts and street corners, in bars and on boats. Back home in his London studio, Damon experimented with the recordings. In line with their original, inherent diversity he fused the recordings with subtle nods to electronica, reggae, house, rock, while some stayed untouched, just as they are. Featured performers include Afel Bocoum, Toumani Diabaté, Lobi Traoré, Kassé Mady Diabaté, and Ko Kan Ko Sata Doumbia."

A BAND OF BEES: Sunshine Hit Me CD (ASW 42236 CD). $17.00

"Deep in the idyllic countryside on the Isle of Wight, a slew of sounds emanate from within a small shed. The breezy summer sounds are a stark contrast to the UK wind and sporadic showers that pepper the island. Is that the smell of tropical flowers and fruits mixed with the familiar odor of Jamaica's finest import or just our imagination? It sounds like a water balloon fight between Paul McCartney and Wings, The Specials, Pink Floyd, The Stooges and The Beach Boys, with Lee Scratch Perry officiating, but it's not. Has a mad DJ mixed his entire record collection into some amazing new hybrid of sound? No, it's actually the sound of Sunshine Hit Me from The Bees being recorded."

ROYKSOPP: Remind Me 12" (ASW 47142 EP). $6.50

"The second 12" single from the debut album Melody A.M., 'Remind Me'. Featuring the vocal styling of Erlend Øye with a commercial house mix by Tom Middleton (Cosmos) a progressive tech-house mix by James Zabiela, a dark and sultry electro mix by Ernest Saint Laurent and a beefed up version by Royksopp themselves."

AIR: Cherry Blossom Girl CD (ASW 47768CD). $6.50

"Recalling the elegant seduction of their classic single 'All I Need' from their seminal Moon Safari album, 'Cherry Blossom Girl' is a slice of classic Air and a song that is currently an Astralwerks priority at radio. In fact, Nigel Godrich's radio mix is the lead-off track on this 4-track CD single, which also includes contributions from Mazzy Star's Hope Sandoval and UK experimental pop pioneers Simian. The 12" single counterpart is a 3-track release and perfect for DJs working in the downtempo/lounge/chill-out setting."

AIR: Cherry Blossom Girl 12" (ASW 47769EP). $6.50

KRAFTWERK: Aérodynamik CD (ASW 48204CD). $6.50

"In keeping with the French theme of the Tour De France concept, Parisian dance luminaries Alex Gopher, Etienne de Crecy and Francois K (who remixed the original 'Tour De France' single in 1983) were commissioned to remix brand new versions with a house edge, while Kraftwerk have rewired the song themselves to great effect. The Gopher/de Crecy mix transforms the track into an acid-flavored tech-house jam, while Francois K's version adds some superb, butt-shaking, deep house flavor to the original composition, making Aérodynamik Kraftwerk's most dancefloor friendly single package to date."

KRAFTWERK: Aérodynamik LP (ASW 48204LP). $6.50

4 track 12" version.

RADIO 4: Party Crashers CD (ASW 49492CD). $6.50

"Fast forward to 2004 and the return of Radio 4. Having spent the Winter holed up in an unheated basement level studio in Brooklyn, the band have delivered the new album Stealing Of A Nation. The latest release is an expansion on the Radio 4 sound with a greater focus on soaring melodies, politically-charged lyrics and even more thumping grooves than before. The full-length hits this Fall but the first taste comes now with 'Party Crashers.' Remix duties are handled by Headman and Ashley Beedle."

RADIO 4: Party Crashers 12" (ASW 49492EP). $6.50

Vinyl EP version.

TELLIER, SEBASTIEN: L'incroyable Vérité CD (ASW 50667 CD). $15.50

"Air established their creative independence in 2000 when they released their score for The Virgin Suicides on their own Record Makers label. 25 year old Sébastien Tellier (pronounced: tell-yay) had originally come to Air's attention by way of a track 'Fantino' which was included on their parent company Source's acclaimed 1999 collection Source Material. Mixed by Quentin Dupieux (aka Mr Oizo) and Sébastien Tellier in July 2000, L'incroyable Vérité is an album about life. You can hear a dog singing, a woman screaming, and legs growing. It is an album unlike any in recent years."

KRAFTWERK: Tour De France 03 12" (ASW 52689). $6.50

"Not to be confused with the 1983 hit 'Tour de France', these new recordings update the band's original concept and are intended to commemorate the 100th Anniversary of the French cycling tournament of the same name. Just like 20 years ago, the music acts as a soundtrack to the race and inspires similar feelings of drama, excitement and intensity."

SOUL ODDITY: Tone Capsule CD (ASW 6173 CD). $14.00

Debut album from the ancient daze of 1996 by the pre-Phoenecia duo of Romulo Del Castillo & Josh Kay. Laid the Miami electro groundwork for the whole Schematic-label phenomenon...

KINGS OF CONVENIENCE: Riot On An Empty Street CD (ASW 71665CD). $17.00

"When their debut album Quiet Is The New Loud was released in early 2001, little did anyone know that two Norwegian balladeers — Eirik Glambek Boe and Erlend Oye — armed with only two soft voices and acoustic guitars would become critical darlings and find their music being used in a national TV ad campaign. Now Kings Of Convenience return with 12 new intimate songs on their second album Riot On An Empty Street, which picks up where Quiet Is The New Loud left off. Recorded over the last six months in Norway, the new album contains more complex arrangements this time around with the acoustic sound still very much the leading edge, and augmented by banjo (Eirik), self-taught trumpet (Erlend), bass, drums and other instrumentation in carefully selected places."

KINGS OF CONVENIENCE: Riot On An Empty Street LP (ASW 71665LP). $17.00
LP version, European pressing, gatefold jacket.

MISS KITTIN: I Com CD (ASW 77263CD). $17.00

"On I Com, we find a savvy, big hearted personality for whom 'electro-clash' is now a distant memory. Gone is the deadpan delivery of her previous works. Instead, Miss Kittin sings, screams, raps and croons, all with ample helpings of sly wit and wordplay and a musical landscape that incorporates both brazen beats and intoxicating atmospherics. Co-produced by Tobi Neumann and Thies Myntner a.k.a. GLOVE, who had previously also worked with fellow electro-pop upstarts Chicks On Speed, I Com features music that gleefully skips through electronic music sub-genres like a hyper-active child racing through a hall of mirrors."

MISS KITTIN: I Com 2LP (ASW 77263LP). $19.00

Double LP version.

ENO, BRIAN: Taking Tiger Mountain (By Strategy) CD (ASW 77288CD). $16.00

New Brian Eno "Original Masters" reissue series, of his classic early works. Each album features "new digital transfers using the latest state-of-the-art technology from the original master tapes". Digipak packaging, with clear plastic slipcases. Although these records haven't been the least bit unavailable for the last 15 to 30 years, maybe these are packaged just deluxe enough and the timing is just right enough for you to reconsider re-investigating all over again. Pinnacle'd 70's pop decadence from the days of fur. "Eno's second solo work continues the innovative music of Here Come The Warm Jets, but with a darker, multi-layered atmosphere. Guest musicians include Phil Manzanera, Robert Wyatt and Phil Collins."

ENO, BRIAN: Another Green World CD (ASW 77291CD). $16.00

Original Masters reissue, of this 1975 solo album. "With Another Green World, electronics began to play a larger role in Eno's music, giving a glimpse of the ambient path he would later pursue. Guest musicians include Phil Manzanera, Robert Wyatt, and Phil Collins."

ENO, BRIAN: Before And After Science CD (ASW 77292CD). $16.00

Original Masters reissue of this 1977 solo album. "Considered the highlight of Brian Eno's early solo works, Before And After Science ranks among his most popular and critically acclaimed works. Guest musicians include Phil Manzanera, Phil Collins, Cluster, and Fred Frith."

ENO, BRIAN: Here Come the Warm Jets CD (ASW 77293CD). $16.00

Original Masters reissue of this 1973 debut solo album. "Chosen by Britain's Mojo magazine as one of the '100 Greatest Albums Ever Made,' Here Come The Warm Jets is Brian Eno's first solo project after leaving Roxy Music. Guest musicians include Robert Fripp as well as Roxy Music members Andy Mackay, Phil Manzanera and Paul Thompson."

BETA BAND, THE: Heroes to Zeros CD (ASW 78005CD). $17.00

"Mixed by Nigel Godrich (Radiohead, Air, Beck), Heroes to Zeros represents a true marriage of samples, programmed beats and a live band. Alternately tribal, epic and intimate, the album fuses all the best elements of this unique band. Songs like the first single 'Assessment' combine classic songcraft, visionary production and transcendent rock energy into a heady rush of propulsive intensity and pure pop thrill."

BETA BAND, THE: Heroes to Zeros LP (ASW 78005LP). $17.00

LP version, gatefold sleeve.

MOTORBASS: Pansoul 2CD (ASW 81839 CD). $17.00

"In 1996, even before the massive success of Daft Punk's debut album Homework, there was one French dance album, only available as an import that was on every discerning dance fan's shopping list, Etienne de Crecy's collaboration with Cassius member Philippe Zdar under the Motorbass alias. Pansoul was widely considered the body of work that kick-started an entire wave of French dance artist albums, (Air, Dimitri From Paris, Cassius, etc.) and even now, is referenced as a 'lost' classic. Now, seven years later, we are proud to release this extremely hard to find, seminal album for the first time in the U.S., not just in its original format, but with the inclusion of a bonus disc featuring an hour's worth of remixes and unreleased tracks."

AIR & ALESSANDRO BARICCO: City Reading (Tre Storie Western) CD (ASW 81871). $17.00

"Alessandro Baricco is Italy's most famous contemporary writer, known for his unusual characterizations and lyrical, poetic style. He contacted Air in summer 2002 for a live performance in a theater during readings of one of his best selling novels City. The show premiered last November in Rome's Teatro Valle with such artistic success that both decided to make a record out of it and the result is City Reading. On City Reading, Air have recorded over one hour of original music separated into three 20-minute pieces, mixed by Radiohead producer Nigel Godrich, over which Baricco recites his own texts in Italian with his unique voice. The result is a deep voyage into western stories, underpinned by Air's unique musical know how, exploring both sentimental and cinematic moods."

BROOKS & LIGHT OF SABA, CEDRIC 'IM': The Light Of Saba CD (ASW 82987 CD). $18.00

"Cedric 'Im' Brooks' is arguably the most innovative saxophone players in all of reggae music. His stunning fusion of jazz, Afro-beat, funk and Latin with reggae sets him apart as a true pioneer, radically altering the limits and expectations of what reggae music could sound like. Born in Jamaica, Cedric Brooks toured Caribbean hotels and clubs with various big bands and combos in the 1960's. All the time, however his own musical horizons — especially the breakthrough of new jazz — grew increasingly distant from the constrained, commercial music he had to play. The Light Of Saba collects 18 of Cedric Brooks most exhilarating tracks blending African and US, Cuban and other West Indian influences — calypso and funk, rumba, jazz bebop, nyabingi and even 70s disco — on top of a foundation of sunny, warm reggae music. All the originals go for big bucks & are impossible to find. If you've never heard of Cedric Brooks before, then get ready to experience reggae in ways you never thought possible."

AIR & ALESSANDRO BARICCO: City Reading (Tre Storie Western) 2LP (ASW 83702). $19.00

Double LP version; European pressing.

MEDICINE: The Mechanical Forces Of Love CD (ASW 90160 CD). $17.00

"It's been a long strange journey for Brad Laner, the L.A. native who has recorded as Medicine, on and off, for more than a decade, culminating with the album he produced over the last year with vocalist Shannon Lee, the daughter of kung-fu screen icon Bruce Lee. The Mechanical Forces Of Love is a concise and sublime work: an often surreal, frequently euphoric celebration of love and life and sex and death. And how does it sound? Like a deluxe digital dream. Like creamy sunshine, radiant and golden, pulsing through the speakers. Like sweet soul music sculpted by software; the cutting-edge curdled, brilliantly blurred. It's how three-and-a-half minute pop music should sound in 2003: weird, warm, modern and melodious."

HALL & MUSHTAQ, TERRY: The Hour Of Two Lights CD (ASW 90990 CD). $17.00

"Terry Hall's career has always been one of spotting trends and breaking new ground. Now, together with Mushtaq, a UK-based, Middle Eastern musician with a background in hip-hop, reggae and r'n'b, Terry Hall has created an album no less groundbreaking and arresting than anything he has done in his career. Terry Hall and Mushtaq's album couldn't be more in tune with today's headlines, fusing the Jewish and Arabic musical cultures which draws upon the duo's own lineage — Terry Hall being a Polish refugee with a Jewish background and Mushtaq being a Middle Eastern Muslim. In some ways, the album is a return to Terry Hall's musical roots (you'll recall The Specials' breakthrough hit 'Gangsters' was based around a Middle Eastern-influenced melody). Yet, together with Mushtaq, the album breaks bold new ground by creating a stunning topical tapestry of music. This melting pot of sounds features Jewish Gypsy music (from the group Romani Rad), a Mongolian throat singer, an Egyptian violinist, an Algerian rapper, a Turkish percussionist, a Syrian oud player, an Arabian pianist, and a Jewish Clarinet player whose resume includes being a sessions musician on the original Pink Panther theme. Even Blur and Gorillaz front man Damon Albarn provides guest vocals and instrumentation."

RÖYKSOPP: Melody A.M. CD (ASW 91378). $17.00

"Originally released as a Limited Edition double CD, Melody A.M. will now only be available in it's classic single disc form."

KRAFTWERK: Tour De France Soundtracks 2LP (ASW 91708 LP). $19.00

"Features all-new recordings of the single 'Tour De France 2003' alongside brand new compositions as well as a new version of their seminal, electro masterpiece 'Tour De France' from 1983. Kraftwerk's music on Tour De France Soundtracks acts as a companion to the race itself, inspiring similar feelings of drama, excitement and intensity."

BASEMENT JAXX: Kish Kash 2LP (ASW 93878). $19.00

"Once again defying expectations, Basement Jaxx return with Kish Kash, their most inventive and ambitious album yet. A joyous rush of riotous punk, cosmic funk, electro-step and anthemic northern soul, Kish Kash is an astoundingly intense and beautiful ride from start to finish. Taking 'Where's Your Head At' as the blueprint and their 'punk garage' fusion to its logical endgame, Kish Kash is pure Jaxx future music, at once sprawling and focused, wild and subtle. The album features a jaw-dropping cast of characters drawn from across the musical spectrum, including UK underground sensation Dizzee Rascal, legendary South London punk pioneer Siouxsie Sioux (of Siouxsie and The Banshees), nu soul diva Meshell Ndegeocello, N*Sync asylum seeker JC Chasez and the Bellrays' Lisa Kekaula."

AIR: Talkie Walkie LP (ASW 96600 LP). $14.50

AIR: Talkie Walkie CD/DVD (ASW 96724 CD). $18.00

"Now in the seventh year of a highly distinguished career, French electronic pop luminaries Air (JB Dunckel and Nicolas Godin); have made their most accomplished album to date with Talkie Walkie, a glorious set of cinematic songs that radiates a know-how unique to these talented Parisians and a sensibility for writing songs with great hooks and rich musical content. Still evident are the stirring string arrangements (this time courtesy of farmer Serge Gainsbourg arranger Michel Colombier), the otherworldly keyboard and percussion flourishes and Nicolas Godin's inventive fretwork, but the one big distinction here is the absence of guest vocalists. For the first time the band has performed all the vocals themselves." Bonus DVD - "Electronic Performers". A film by Bruno Dunckel. Live performance, Summer 2002. Features tracks: 'Electronic Performers', 'Talisman', 'Don't Be Light', 'People In the City', and 'La Femme D'Argent'. 35 minutes.

LERCHE, SONDRE: Two Way Monologue CD (ASW 98027CD). $17.00

"Hailing from Bergen Norway, 21-year-old Sondre Lerche is the unlikelyst of pop stars, a charmingly charismatic artist of both substance and style, who has developed a fanbase the old fashion way: through grassroots support, persistent word of mouth and fantastic live shows. His sophomore effort Two Way Monologue fulfills all the promise of Lerche's precocious debut Faces Down. Astonishingly mature, Two Way Monologue is brimming with vividly melodic songs. From the fragile acoustics of 'It's Too Late' to the symphonic variations of the title track, from the no depression lilt of 'Stupid Memory' to the uplifting pop of 'On The Tower', its an album of breath-taking diversity and imagination that refreshes pop music as a creative force. His work immediately recalls some important artists: Jeff Buckley, Elvis Costello, Beck, Brian Wilson, Rufus Wainwright, Burt Bacharach and Cole Porter."

PHOENIX: Alphabetical CD (ASW 98635CD). $17.00

"In 2000, Phoenix's debut album release United blazed across the musical skies like a newly discovered comet. Paris, London, L.A. and New York were all captivated, with everyone from Sofia and Roman Coppola to Air heaping praise on them. And with good cause: great songs, great performances and great production. Powered by tracks like 'Too Young' (which was featured on the Lost In Translation soundtrack), 'Honeymoon' and 'If I Ever Feel Better', critics hailed United a brilliant debut, an album that one UK critic described as, 'undoubtedly the best post-French house, seventies country-rock concept album of modern love songs you're ever likely to hear'. For Alphabetical, Phoenix have once again given birth to a mutant, drawing on a range of disparate influences to create an idiom that is both coherent and original."

PHOENIX: Alphabetical LP (ASW 98635LP). $17.00

LP version.

ATA TAK (GERMANY):

A CERTAIN FRANK: Nothing CD (ATA 3781 CD). $14.50

"Nothing is the third CD by Pyrolator's Kurt Dahlke and Der Plan's Frank Fenstermacher aka A Certain Frank — both pioneers of the German modern Electronica. Trip Hop, Dub and other grooves have been generated so neatly and undogmatically into individual electronic listening symphonies with the aid of Dorfmeister & Tosca drummer Mike Dalot, Amsterdam bass player Pascal Plantiga as well as singers Karin Knipphals and Mai Lingani that it is not hard to get passionate about them. With Nothing a definite lounge sentiment also emerges, which radiates an absolutely liberated mood and is the ideal 4 wall sound as well as being desirable discman and walkman music for urban mobiles and modernists. Suitable for both chilling out and dancing, this music transforms every living room into a club and turns any hairdressers into a Coiffeur de Paris."

OVAL: Wohnton CD (ATA WR 006). $15.00

The obscure debut by Oval from 1993, which predates the Mille Plateau/Thrill Jockey classics Systemisch & Diskont 94. Assisted by ex-members of Der Plan, this features a more song-oriented structure (with vocals!) and a curious, skeletal peek into the future of Oval's sound. WILP, CHARLES: Fotografiert Bunny: Remixed At Zero G 12" (ATA WR 76). $9.00 Remixes by: Yasuharu Konishi (Pizicato 5), Dauerfisch, Metrophonics, A Certain Frank.

A CERTAIN FRANK: Nobody? No! CD (ATA WR71). $18.00

"Two legends and a new CD. Just as the first CD came from techno and trance influences, with this CD A Certain Frank have transposed their favourite sounds of the 50s and 60s into a late 90s context and in so doing achieve a groove of their very own. A special brand of Pop which combines jazz and contemporary music influences with Listening and Electronic Club sounds. They have formed a sound, multifaceted, soft, clear and humorous. Pop and Lo-Fi in one. It fits as well to your living room as it would in a Phillippe Starck cafe with internet terminals. Frank Fenstermacher is the founder of Der Plan and Fehlfarben, head of his own Ata Tak label, multi-(non)-instrumentalist on innumerable productions, and counts along with Kurt Pyrolator Dahlke as one of the pioneers and forerunners of modern electronic music. Dahlke was the co-founder of the band DAF, at the beginning of the Neue Deutsche Welle era and went on to become the third member of Der Plan. He produced for Ata Tak, as well as other labels, bands such as Andreas Dorau, Element of Crime, Stereo Total and the Bad Examples. Young bands like Kreidler, Mouse on Mars or Schlammpeitziger relate strongly to the Düsseldorf school of Pyrolator and Der Plan. Also making an appearance on this CD are: S.Y.P.H.-guitarist Uwe Jahnke."

A CERTAIN FRANK: Remixed by Kreidler, Phoneheads 12" (ATA WR72). $9.00

"Now we are happy, that our friends from Kreidler and the Phoneheads found their song on Nobody? No! to remix: 'I'm alive': This dynamically living interpretation of the song with a dreamy vocal part, shows, that the Phoneheads (Unique DJ's Philip Maiburg and Micha Scheibenreiter) are Germany's most powerful drum'n bass acts. 'Moonchild': This extended mix by A Certain Frank itself combines modern musical abstraction with lo-fi soundmontage and evokes a certain touch of suspense, that makes it metaexistentially tipsy. 'I will never leave you': with this remix, Kreidler shows us where they will be in the future. This track is like a vision of time. A short poetical moment's feeling becomes musically real: musical humanism."

WILP, CHARLES: Charles Wilp Fotografiert Bunny CD (ATA WR74). $15.00

"No other German has embodied the breakaway from the 50s into modern times so well as Charles Wilp. A Man Ray student, turned artonaut, Dokumenta 5 artist, photographer, an advertising conceptualist, conductor and a space age media artist. Whether spectacularly blowing up his racing car, building an UFO bungalow on the roof of his Düsseldorf home, or overcoming gravity in a NASA centrifuge simulator, the LP written in the Sun Year 1965, titled Charles Wilp fotografiert Bunny — a light and floating melange — has at Ata Tak's specific wish, been re-released as a CD. A world first in psychedelic TV advertising in 1969 — 'Africola' showing three lightly clad women dancing behind a water covered screen (Amanda Lear's, Marsha Hunt's and Donna Summer's first TV appearance) — Bunny was never available in the shops, but was produced together for 16 organizations which had contracted Wilp to create their company designs. Over 500,000 free record copies were distributed to employees and clients in the same companies. What is surprising about Bunny-Musik is the elegant stylistic assuredness and relaxed work out which is really unusual for a German orchestra. Peter Thomas made some close observations of these recordings, noting influences from A.C. Jobim, Frank Sinatra and Claus Ogermann. This possibly had to do with the hottest summer of the century in 1965, when this piece was composed. More probable is that Charles Wilp developed a feeling for music and space through his mother, who accompanied Richard Tauber through the world as a silent film pianist, as well as through encounters with the so called 'rocket men' he knew, including Karl Oberth, Paul Nebel, Werner von Braun, Fritz von Opel and Paul Valier. One thing however is certain — this record is too good remain unreleased ..... That opinion is shared by Daniel Miller, The Gentle People, Topsy, Stereo Total, Thomas Fehlmann, A Certain Frank, Andreas Dorau, Schlammpeitziger, Stockhausen & Walkman and many others who have expressed willingness to make a remix for Charles Wilp. This will shortly be released under the name Michaelangelo in Space, a name shared by the space art module to be designed and built by Wilp as the first Art-in-Space Gallery as well the first Space Art Academy. This is to be docked onto the newly developed international ISS space station — which will of course include the CD onboard! The first CD in space!"

A CERTAIN FRANK: Nothing 12" (ATA WR81). $7.50

4 track 12" version.

BAD EXAMPLES, THE: Profis Like Us CD (ATA WR84). $15.00

PYROLATOR: Ausland CD (ATA WR87). $13.00

"Ausland — a conceptual album? Or, home is where the voice is. After the release of his debut album Inland and the equally well-rated first LP with Der Plan, the Pyrolator started summer 1981 with his work on Ausland. In the heat of summer 1981 the album was recorded, with the help of various international musicians, in the studios of the brilliant inventor and sound-genius Werner Lambertz on the first digital-sequencer 'Brontologic', the first production outside the Atatak-studios. The reaction of the press and the public could not have been more euphoric when Ata Tak's tenth release Ausland finally appeared at the end of 1981. Musikexpress conferred a top rating and Diedrich Diedrichsen applauded in Sounds "At last we've made it: a German record which one can enjoy all the more because it's not the usual 'well for Germany ...' A record with qualities not yet achieved during the years of stagnation in the Germany's New Wave music". Even the international press is unanimous. New Musical Express's Chris Bohn elevated Pyrolator to a 'great pioneer'. Alfred Bos of the Dutch magazine Oor wrote 'I don't wish to dramatize, but this record could prove to be an important influence in 10 years time, just like Monster Movies from Can or The Faust Tapes from Faust."

S.Y.P.H.: Am Rhein CD (ATA WR88). $16.00

"As a sequel to Wieleicht this is — in the original words of D.Diedrichsen — the fabulous 'White Album' of Germany's underground rock in German. S.Y.P.H.'s second offering on the Ata Tak label and S.Y.P.H.'s last album in more or less its original formation with Harry Rag (vox), Uwe Jahnke (guitar also with Fehlfarben and Toon), Jojo Wolter (bass) and Ralf Bauerfeind instead of Ulli Putsch on drums. In conspiracy with the groups Mittagspause and Fehlfarben S.Y.P.H. projected Germany onto a punk and Neue Deutsche Welle (German New Wave) plane which other groups later dissected and commercialised. S.Y.P.H. is primordial punk, Dada in its best sense as well as Trance-Rock which no 'weed' can beat. Like no other band from the legendary early 80s scene in Düsseldorf, S.Y.P.H. — (Smashed Yankee Pummels Homo or Save Your Pretty Hearts) — assimilated influences from Can, the Kinks to Pere Ubu with unrivalled originality and anarchism. S.Y.P.H.'s Am Rhein moves playfully in the groove. The long trek from Industriemädchen (Industrial Girl) in the late 70s to Picknick im Grünen (Picknick in the Green) is artfully dealt with. S.Y.P.H. 87 no longer stands out there alone and colossal, but for magicians meandering through 1000 ideas, building bridges from island to island, emptying out the pop marshland's sludge and enabling the essentials to come into view. And somewhere between a psycho pop odyssey and nursery rhymes, their music comes over as completely uncramped — an aural rural sculpture. The music is a concoction of rock, film, literature and experimental — it's all there. And yet there is a concept to all this — a critical standpoint to what officially and what unofficially exists or happens. The group's ingenuity lies in their skill to come out with the absurd without the intellectual need to make sense where it doesn't exist, with a result that the only meaningful element is what remains in the music itself."

ATAVISTIC:

BRANCA, GLENN: Symphony No. 3 (Gloria) CD (ATA 008). $13.00

Reissue of the long unavailable Neutral LP, "music for the first 127 intervals of the harmonic series." With Thurston, Lee, Mike Gira, Barbara Ess, etc.

BRANCA, GLENN: Symphony No. 6 (Devil Choirs at the Gates of Heaven) CD (ATA 010). $13.00

Another of Mr. Branca's masterworks: 10 guitars and bass & drums, beautifully studio-recorded. From the liner notes by Tim Holmes: "If one piece of music could possibly be all music, then you're holding it in your hands. I have played this album thousands of times since 1989 & it's still metamorphosing, trillions of layers peeling away translucent sound vibrating new electric worlds the hammer and hum of the infernal/celestial engine...the ubermusik of the spheres, as terrible and gorgeous as desire."

BRANCA, GLENN: Symphonies #8/10 (The Mysteries) CD (ATA 012). $13.00

"Stunning, heavy requiem for ten electric guitars." Recorded in 1994, with the following guitarists: Steven Antonelli (alto guitar), Eric Hubel (tenor guitar), Brannon Hungness (soprano & octave guitars), Phil Kline (tenor guitar), Carolyn Master (alto guitar), John Myers (soprano guitar), Dave Reid (bass & octave guitars), Ellen Watkins (soprano & octave guitars).

BRANCA, GLENN: Symphony #5 CD (ATA 015). $13.00

Subtitled "Describing Planes Of an Expanding Hypersphere". Recorded in 1984 but held up in a post-production stasis until now, this is music for 5 guitars, mallet guitar, violin, drums, bass, keyboards, that is being touted as the "most dense, cacophonous Branca symphony yet." "Glenn's music gets quite often inaccurately described as wall-of-sound/noise/guitars/whatever. A wall exists for the purpose of containment. 'Symphony No. 5' is expansive beyond limits, smashing the wall (at least sonically) between this dimension & all others. There is quite audibly the garblings of the voices of alien intelligences banging at the doors of our world as we dream of theirs."

MX-80 SOUND: Hard Attack CD (ATA 030). $13.00

Combines their debut Big Hits EP from 1976 along with their near-mythical first album Hard Attack, originally released by Island UK in 1977. These have been unavailable practically since their respective days of release, and it's quite a public service to bring them back into the light. Massively peaked hard-art genius.

BRANCA, GLENN: Selections From The Symphonies (Works For Electric Guitar) CD (ATA 035). $13.00

Intro sampler collection of Glenn's various guitar orchestra classics for the uninitiated. "Glenn has personally selected a track listing representative of his absolute unique-on-this-planet vision, with material ranging from the delicate celestial beauty of Symphony No. 3 to the demonical, otherworldly terror unfurled in No. 10. Selections is the ultimate 'in' to Branca's work if you're yet unacquainted with the most influential composer of the era."

RANALDO, LEE: East Jesus CD (ATA 036). $13.00

The definitive solo Lee Ranaldo release, including recordings from 1981 to '91.

VA: Out of Their Mouth Mk. 2 2CD (ATA 038). $13.00

120 minute label sampler, priced as a single CD. Unreleased tracks by Scissor Girls, Antimuro, E.A.R., Alan Licht/Gerry Miles, Vandermark Five, NRG Ensemble, plus some remixes. And selections from the increasingly vast Atavistic catalog.

VA: Just Another Asshole CD (ATA 039). $13.00

Reissue of a rare audio magazine, edited by Barbara Ess and Glenn Branca, originally issued on LP in 1981. 77 short tracks, including contributors like Phill Niblock, Rhys Chatham, Rudolph Grey, Kim Gordon, Thurston Moore, Lee Ranaldo, Z'ev, Shelley Hirsch, etc.

BRANCA, GLENN: Songs '77-79 CD (ATA 043). $9.00

Documents the early recordings of Glenn Branca within the realm of his legendary no-wave ensembles The Static & Theoretical Girls. Contains all the recordings from both singles by these groups, plus "outrageous and inspired home cassette recordings from the time." Crucial no-wave-into-the-eighties reference point, and some extremely influential music.

VANDERMARK FIVE, THE: Single Piece Flow CD (ATA 047). $13.00

"Debut album by Chicago's titanic Vandermark 5, ups the ante in terms of American avant-jazz forms: a challenging, yet truly accessible new standard has been delivered, built on colorful structures both concentrically rockist and blisteringly linear." With Mars Williams (reeds) and at least one track dedicated to Lawrence Cook.

MARS: 78+ CD (ATA 048). $13.00

Crucial document of this seminal NYC band from the late 70s, considered by many in retrospect to be the most influential no wave band from the era. A quartet of Sumner Crane, China Burg, Mark Cunningham & Nancy Arlen, they recorded revolutionary EPs for Ze and Lust/Unlust, as well as contributing to the infamous No New York LP. To the uninitiated, Mars may sound like listening to a laundromat magnified. That's because every instrument is making a sound, but who is making which sound? Instead of one direct sound or beat the music travels in at least 3 different directions, speeds of rhythm making a totally orbital sound, one that never really enters the ear instead spinning around the head. At times it sounds like tortured children singing in 7 different tongues." —Stella Doon, 1977.

DON KING: One-Two Punch CD (ATA 049). $13.00

Reissue of the 1985 EP and numerous unreleased bonus tracks from this NY no wave group featuring Mark Cunningham & Lucy Hamilton (Connie Burg) of Mars, plus Arto Lindsay, Duncan Lindsay, & Toni Nogueira. "Don King began in the spring of '81, at roughly the same time as Swans (MK. 2) and Sonic Youth. As a trio, they made their debut at the White Columns Noise Fest. Described as 'purely magical' by Thurston Moore, their sound was a stark & slitherin' sort of string/drum interplay upon which a horn would swing in Ayler/root cadence. Don King remained a trio until late '83; with the addition of percussions Toni Nogueira and Arto's brother Duncan, they recorded the 5 songs that appeared on their Doublevision EP...it has a lopin' poppin' base of equatorial percussion locked in conflict with bendin', blandin' post-cool homage." —Byron Coley.

TEENAGE JESUS & THE JERKS: Everything CD (ATA 051). $13.00

Complete retrospective of Lydia Lunch's historic debut no-wave band from the late 70s. It's safe to assume that dozens of people reading this literally had their lives saved by the original release of this material; it's weirder to think that there are hundreds more reading this that are completely unaware of the Teenage Jesus's status in the correct history of fuck-you culture.

LUNCH, LYDIA: Drowning/In Limbo CD (ATA 052). $13.00

Reissue of 2 old Widowspeak albums from the mid 80s: The Drowning of Lucy Hamilton, and In Limbo. The former is her classic duo album with Connie Burg (ex-Mars), doomed instrumental works for piano, guitar & bass clarinet. The latter is a negative-energy song forum high-light from the same era, featuring a group of Pat Place (g), Thurston Moore (b), Richard Edson (d), etc.

RUIN/LYDIA LUNCH, CLINT: Stinkfist + The Crumb CD (ATA 053). $13.00

Reissue of 2 mid-80s EPs documenting Lydia's collaborations with key co-conspirators Thirlwell and T. Moore.

LUNCH, LYDIA: Honeymoon In Red CD (ATA 054). $13.00

Legendary studio session from 1982 featuring Lydia and various members of the then-descending Birthday Party, but not released till the late 80s (on Widowspeak) after a Thirlwell mix and the addition of Thurston Moore guitar intrusions. Also includes Lydia & Rowland's finest moment, their cover of Lee Hazlewood's "Some Velvet Morning". "Absolutely the most rock-orientated album in her discography...simply put, way ahead of its time, massive and totally classic."

LUNCH, LYDIA: Universal Infiltrators CD (ATA 055). $13.00

"A new album recorded live in the UK in '94...Lydia's hallmark 'illustrated word' solo performance pieces. Combining one of her creepiest rants ever with dark backing tapes by Dave Knight..."

MX-80: Das Love Boat CD (ATA 056). $13.00

Previously issued on the band's own A&R/Ent label. A collection of mostly previously unavailable instrumentals dating from the band's earliest days in '75 through 1990. Bruce Anderson's guitar tone is staggering throughout.

SWANS: Kill The Child CD (ATA 057). $13.00

"The first of two brutally intense live recordings culled from the Swans '85-'87 European tours, during their storied '$' era. Originally released as extremely ltd. 'bootlegs' by M. Gira on his own Disaster label, we've lovingly repackaged them & the fidelity/hugeness here cannot be denied."

SWANS: Real Love CD (ATA 058). $13.00

Recorded live in 86 on their European tour, this is the 2nd Atavistic reissue of an old Swans "official bootleg". "The material performed is from the classic Swans albums Greed & Holy Money...musically Real Love takes the trappings of rock music into the realm of high art via sonic devastation."

MARCLAY, CHRISTIAN: Records (1981-89) CD (ATA 062). $13.00

Much anticipated release of early material (including unissued stuff) from the NYC master of high-art/lo-destruction vinyl manipulation. Features tracks from 1981 through 1989: early cassette-only material, obscure comp tracks, etc., packaged with detailed annotation from Marclay and liner notes from Thurston Moore. "One Thousand Cycles" is from one of Marclay's infamous recycled records — cut up and reconfigured vinyl. "Second Coming" & "His Master's Voice" are relatable to hip hop dj-ing, but with Marclay's distinct cut-up aura; "Groove" is a massive looped drone track. The whole thing reeks of historic significance, yet still sounds vital in a contemporary sense as well — this is the record you have been waiting for.

MX-80: I've Seen Enough CD (ATA 067). $13.00

First new MX studio recordings in many years "MX-80's most unusual & unpredictable work to date, even incorporating synthesizers into Bruce Anderson's patented maelstrom of blistering guitar strikes. Rest assured, Marc & Dale's peerless, monolithic free-rhythm section work is holding the whole thing down, and Rich's nihilistically lyrical muse (plus horns) are at the forefront...but something new & exciting has been unleashed here. We like to think of I've Seen Enough as a crash course in sonic existentialism...a life lesson extraordinaire."

VA: State Of The Union 2CD (ATA 069). $13.00

2nd part of Elliot Sharp's compilation project, featuring 147 tracks and over 150 minutes of music (again priced as a single CD). Features John Zorn, Borbetomagus, Zeena Parkins, Voice Crack, Uii, Frith, Kaiser, Yamatsuka Eye, Christian Marclay, DJ Spooky, Ikue, Painkiller, many more.

MILES WITH ALAN LICHT & KEIJI HAINO, GERRY: Gerry Miles CD (ATA 071). $13.00

"Gerry Miles stripped vaudeville-style in Seattle from the 1930's to the 60's..." Nobody seems to explain what that has to do with this recording of an amazing improv that took place in St. Peter's Cathedral in NY a couple years back. It features Connie Burg (ex-Mars) on bass clarinet, Keiji Haino on vocals, Alan Licht on pipe organ & Melissa Weaver on piano. "The avant-improv results of their collaboration will astound, mesmerize and transport you to the next solar system."

E.A.R.: Millennium Music CD (ATA 072 CD). $13.00

"Featuring performances by Sonic (SP3, Spectrum), Eddie Prevost (AMM), Pete Bassman (SP3) & Tom Prentice (God) on a truly unique variety of vintage synths, voltage-controlled electronics, Theremins and acoustic & electric strings, Millennium Music presents a cortex-stimulating vision depicting the vast expanse of time immemorial, from the pre-historic era through the digital age...a brain-baking collage of rich analogue sounds emulating (among other things) dinosaurs, insects, computers, wild animals, synthesized human speech & sounds of modern transportation, generating a hypnotic reflection of the earth's intangibly massive epochs."

LUNCH, LYDIA: 8-EYED SPY CD (ATA 075). $13.00

First CD issue of the long unavailable album and single originally on UK Fetish around the beginning of the 80s (plus unreleased material) by Lydia's most accessible musical ensemble. "8-Eyed Spy was developed by Lydia after the release of her landmark solo album, Queen Of Siam; the Spy were a sweaty, hot & heady concoction of unique rhythm section play (led by the legendary George Scott III) and frantic patchwork of sax/gtr blur. 8-Eyed Spy played a plethora of live gigs and were hugely popular, blending the visceral, the cerebral and the sexual: swamp-meets-slam-meets concrete slab."

LUNCH, LYDIA: Queen Of Siam CD (ATA 077). $13.00

"The post-No Wave classic, Lydia's first solo record, is back in print. Queen of Siam is positively drenched in the NYC negativity-energy charge of the day. Written & recorded after her glorious Teenage Jesus was laid to rest, and parallel to her tenure as the mouthpiece for 8-Eyed Spy, the swampy carnival-ride noir is in full effect...captures the essence of an era, long-gone but never forgotten: the pinnacle of the art-world/music crossover of the big apple's final heyday, circa 1980."

AZ: Music For Scattered Brains CD (ATA 081). $13.00

Solo album by Azita from the Scissor Girls; previously available as a self-issued LP-only release; strange, brilliant electronic blippage that lives up to its title. "Imagine the sound of a vintage 1940's Western Union telex machine whirring away under the influence of heady pharmaceuticals, compelled by ingredients both naturally occurring and manmade. There's an eerily clandestine quality about Scattered Brains...strangely arcane, utterly personal music."

BROTZMANN/PAGE HAMILTON, CASPAR: Zulutime CD (ATA 083). $13.00

Issued in tandem with Blast First (UK) and Sub Rosa (Belgium). "You can hear it now, but can't quite imagine it completely: the organic, painterly throb of Caspar Broetzmann's smoldering pyrotechnics, colliding head on with the heavy, jazz-tinged virtuosity of Page Hamilton...this combination creates such an exciting, expansive sonic picture...if guitar as visceral mind-sprint exploration is your thing, then the once in a lifetime duet improvisation of Zulutime is a serious one-way ticket...out."

O.S.T.: DUTCH HARBOR: Where The Sea Breaks Its Back CD (ATA 085). $13.00

"This soundtrack release provides a perfectly austere foil for King & Moya's beautifully icy, black & white pictures, featuring ensemble performances by Joseph Ferguson, David Grubbs, Charles Kim, composer Michael Krassner, Douglas McCombs, Jim O'Rourke, David Pavkovic, Rick Rizzo, Ken Vandermark, and includes an additional new track by Will Oldham & O'Rourke."

SCISSOR GIRLS: Here Is The CD (ATA 088). $13.00

"Provides insight into our girls' earliest, most organic & vicious moments, all reissued here for your convenience on one brilliant disc: a singles compilation par excellence, if you will. Includes their venomous Staticland 10", three way out-of-print singles...and some other salient oddities."

LUNCH, LYDIA: Shotgun Wedding 2CD (ATA 090). $22.00

"Eight years after the fact, an elusive cornerstone from the foundation of Lydia's rock catalog is finally receiving proper release: 1991's Shotgun Wedding sessions, as well as the commensurate live recordings, are now available in their entirety on Atavistic. Immaculately produced by J.G. Thirlwell, this 2CD reissue encompasses the desolate desert-blown landscapes & swampy sonic morasses you may recall from some of Lydia's landmark releases, such as her boldest ensemble piece, the Honeymoon In Red album and the unforgettable Some Velvet Morning EP."

JOHN GAVANTI: CD (ATA 091). $13.00

"We're nearing the end of the 20th century. It's time for Atavistic to reissue the world's only No Wave operetta. Circa 1980, Sumner Crane (one of the four visionaries comprising possibly the greatest band of the era, Mars), created a blindsiding, previously unheard and truly inspired art form: no wave music in the form of the operetta. He then wisely enlisted the creative services of several other NYC-based musical genius/kindred spirit-types, including Mark Cunningham & Constance Burg (his compatriots in Mars), Ikue Mori & Arto Lindsay (both of DNA), and Arto's brother Duncan (later of the esteemed Don King). The results, a romping, dada-driven take on Mozart's Don Giovanni would be released that summer on Mark Cunningham's short-lived Hyrax label. John Gavanti demonstrates to full advantage the unbelievable array of noisemaking talent gathered for this auspicious occasion, delivering a splattering melange of guitars, horns, percussion, all fronted by Sumner's (or 'Gavanti's', should you prefer) otherworldly warble."

SHARP, ELLIOTT: Arc 2: The Seventies CD (ATA 092). $13.00

"The 2nd release in E. Sharp's series of archival digs — a collection of live & studio recordings dating back to 1972, simultaneously demonstrating the depth, breadth and futuristic scope of his unique musical vision. The textures on Arc 2 range from fuzzed-out hyperguitar choirs, machine rhythms & free improvisation, to microtonal elegies and proto-ambient soundscapes. Elliott's intensely percussive techniques are deployed on all types of implements including tenor saxophones, acoustic guitars, and his fascinating home-brewed string instruments."

RANALDO, LEE: Dirty Windows CD (ATA 093). $22.00

"The long-awaited, years-in-the-making release of Lee Ranaldo's fourth solo album has finally arrived, co-released with the esteemed Netherlands-based Barooni label. Recorded and mixed by Lee & Wharton Tiers at Sonic Youth's Echo Canyon Studio, Dirty Windows features performances by luminaries such as fellow SY folks Thurston Moore & Steve Shelley, Michael Morley, the late Epic Soundtracks, and Lee's son, Cody Linn Ranaldo. It's the perfect companion piece to Lee's East Jesus collection, showcasing Sonic Youth's six-string conjurer on guitars, synthesizers, tapes & travelogue texts. Replete with a beautiful 45-page folio booklet of Leah's photographs, and encased in a truly unusual rage paper/newsprint package, there's never been a more satisfying opportunity to take in Lee's heady, post-beat, avant-sound approach to solo work."

LUNCH, LYDIA: Matrikamantra 2CD (ATA 094). $22.00

"Expansive cinematic soundtrack of dreams & revelations...simultaneously theatrical, sensual & (as always) provocative...consisting of one disc of studio recordings, a second recorded live in Prague. Features performances by Czech multi-instrumentalist/underground icon Kamil Kruta & American soundscape specialist Joseph Budenholzer...the ultimate spoken word experience."

SHARP, ELLIOTT: ARC 3: Cyberpunk And The Virtual Stance CD (ATA 095). $13.00

"A collection of nascent computer & sampler-based studio recordings from his Zoar label, dating from 1984-'88. The strange yet impressive results culled from E's primordial electronic music underworld are characterized by driving, yet mathematically-fractured grooves; percussive, brass, piano & vocal-based sampledelia, and mutated dance music & soundtrack scores."

BOXHEAD ENSEMBLE: The Last Place to Go CD (ATA 096). $13.00

Documentation from the Dutch Harbor European film screening tour in 11/97. "The line up continued to evolve throughout the trip; this insured that each night was entirely different, creating a new montage as the images continued to grow and change with the different accompaniments. Performers on the European Screening Tour included Grubbs, Kim, Krassner, Oldham, Rizzo, Vandermark along with Edith Frost, Ryan Hembrey (Pinetop Seven), Jule Pommerleau (Bobby Conn Experience), Scott Tuma (Souled American) and Mick Turner & Jim White (Dirty Three). These once-in-a-lifetime combinations of musical talent, venues, circumstances, and certainly the visual stimulation generated by the backdrop of the projected film has resulted in a truly sublime recorded work, totally unique and perhaps even more captivating than the film soundtrack (ATA 085)."

MAGICAL POWER MAKO: *Music From Heaven CD (ATA 097). $13.00

Atavistic has done domestic issues of the 4 Mako albums previously issued by Marquee/Belle Antique in Japan, starting with this, his first for the label, from 1981 (Blue Dot, Trance Resonance & Lo Pop Diamonds follow). "Magical Power Mako is already legendary in Japan; he's flourished for over two decades as an elusive, yet central figure in a complex music underground. 'Psychedelic guitar genius' barely begins to describe Mako & his music...a stunning collection of alien guitar transmissions from the outer reaches of the galaxy. Music... is abstract & demanding, yet simultaneously charming & curious listening, much like the majority of Mako's recordings. Recorded in his private studio in the early 80s...the sound of a truly visionary artist informed by an uncompromised, purely personal culture."

MAGICAL POWER MAKO: *Blue Dot CD (ATA 098). $13.00

Second Atavistic reissue of the Marquee MPM albums, this being one of the most recent Mako recordings, made in SF in 1995. "A penultimately psych-drenched trio recording...very much in the Amon Duul II/Ash Ra Tempel style of 70s Krautrock jamming, Blue Dot's powerful, relentless excursions pulse outward and ebb & flow into the ether, each sonic missive disintegrating into the next organically-soaked instrumental passage. Definitely one of Mako's most rock-oriented efforts."

MAGICAL POWER MAKO: *Trance Resonance CD (ATA 099). $13.00

Third Atavistic reissue of MPM's work for the Marquee label. "A performance document originally recorded in 6/94, during a multi-media celebration of music, dance & the machinations of 'breathing artist' Tetsuaki Hirata. Mako leads an armada of 12 performers through what can only be described as his most organic work to date, incorporating acoustic & electric guitars, keys, multiple samplers, cello, bass, 'high tone' vocals and Bolivian, Kena & Bari style dance. Not tranquil enough to be meditative in nature, the goal of Trance Resonance is to create 'trance-vision' in both the performers and the audience: a blissful, cogent state of human open mindedness, which is surely achieved here."

MAGICAL POWER MAKO: *Lo Pop Diamonds CD (ATA 101). $13.00

Reissue of this album of recordings from the 80s, first issued by Marquee in Japan. "Lo Pop is truly a radical departure from the main body of his ultra-galactic guitar works. Steeped in a homemade brew of off-kilter folk pop, Lo Pop is endearingly naive to the end. Featuring performances by underground 'stars' Reira & Asuka, plus strange takes on two traditional Japanese tunes, this will appeal to fans who succumbed to the charms of early Shonen Knife, the pop theatricality of the Red Krayola, the clandestine spell of Beat Happening...and maybe even the Shaggs."

CLINE/GREGG BENDIAN, NELS: *Interstellar Space Revisited CD (ATA 102). $14.00

"The decision to risk performing, recording and ultimately releasing an homage to Coltrane & Rashied Ali demands a unique commitment and sensitivity to their work that simply exceeds the grasp of most musicians. Nels Cline and Gregg Bendian both know a thing or two about digging deeply on conceptual & musical levels, and have performed together for years. With Interstellar they have simultaneously struck a stunning, delicate balance between skillful interpretation and unmitigated textural beauty."

BODY LOVERS, THE: *Number One of Three CD (ATA 103). $13.00

Post-Swans solo project of M. Gira, the first in a "psycho-ambient soundtrack" trilogy of albums. "Essentially one shifting and radically morphing stream of sounds & textures, the music on this CD is in Gira's words, 'A metastitizing flowergarden'. Characteristically, this is not passive ambient music. Sensual one moment, turning brutal and cataclysmic the next. Sound sources include everything from electronic & synth noises, to raided Swans grooves, bass-drums-guitar processions, sine-waves, Irish harps, mandolins, accordions, orchestral bells, digital feedback — all woven together and further mutilated in a computer." Limited remaining stock.

VANDERMARK FIVE, THE: *Target or Flag CD (ATA 106). $13.00

Studio recordings from Chicago by the grouping of Vandermark (clarinets, saxophone), Mars Williams (saxophones), Jeb Bishop (trombone, guitar), Kent Kessler (bass), Tim Mulvenna (drums).

VANDERMARK FIVE, THE: *Simpatico CD (ATA 107). $13.00

"With the advent of Simpatico, Ken Vandermark has directed his monolithic quintet towards surprising, decidedly untested waters. Though a familiar film-noir essence underpins much of Simpatico, its emphatically deployed compositions clearly transcend any previous sonic maneuvering by the 5 — and frankly more often than not, defy mere words as well. Veering from peaks of pure avant-careen to interludes almost reverently traditional."

TRICOLOR: *Mirth + Feckless CD (ATA 108). $13.00

"Tricolor features the deadly and estimable talents of percussionist David Pavkovic (Toe 2000, Boxhead Ensemble, Pinetop Seven), AACM member Jeff Parker (Tortoise, Isotope 127, Toe 2000), and Tatsu Aoki. Tricolor clearly operates within the realm of jazz, but this trio's unusual chemistry is truly something to behold. Their unique, whimsical musical language is both shared and developed on an incredibly sophisticated level, yet somehow never fails to keenly present the most essential ingredients and elemental textures in the music. Though one virtually sees the very grain of their 'sound' emerging in any Tricolor number, the music never seems austere — on the contrary, phrases such as 'rich complexity' and 'super-organic' quickly come to mind."

LUNCH, LYDIA: *Crimes Against Nature 3CD (ATA 114). $25.00

"Ms. Lunch's most monumental release is available for the first time since 1992; seven years later Crimes Against Nature remains one of the most ambitious, complex, and fully realized spoken word releases of all time. A monolithic testament to Lydia's true status as the eternal outsider/artist-provocateur, Crimes Against Nature documents the work of a revolutionary whose ideas have been proven to be well-reasoned and salient enough to cause the mainstream media to stand up and take notice. Featuring her landmark debate on censorship with PMRC director Jack Thompson, as well as the spine-tingling biographical content you've come to expect from Lydia's spoken word projects, this massive triple CD set will provide you, dear listener, with enough cerebral nutrition to digest for months."

VANDERMARK, KEN'S JOE HARRIOTT PROJECT: *Straight Lines CD (ATA 115). $13.00

"Straight after the two Joe Harriott albums, Free Form and Abstract, were finally reissued on CD, I bumped into saxophonist Lol Coxhill on the street. 'I'd forgotten how posh that music was,' he said to me. I can see what he means. The Harriott band — Joe on alto saxophone, Shake Keane on trumpet and flügel, my near-neighbor Coleridge Goode on bass, Pat Smythe on piano, and percussion from Bobby Orr and Phil Seamen and sometimes Fran Holder — had a formalism around the unconventional tune statements which contrasted nicely with Harriott's astonishingly passionate sax playing. Producer/critic/guitarist John Corbett had the original vinyl Harriotts and copied the albums to cassette, handing them to his fellow Chicagoan Ken Vandermark. Vandermark picked up on the compositions, and here's a real historical parallel: people had made such a noise about the freedom of the improvising, they'd missed the fact that Harriott's tunes were also revolutionary. It's to Ken's great credit that this is in no way a revival band. The instrumentation is very different, the lack of a piano loosens the texture, and the melodies are sometimes transformed. It seems right that Chicago-based players—already very hip to the European free improvisation scene — should have picked up on some of the earliest European recordings of free music. Ken Vandermark (born Rhode Island, 1964) has worked extensively with local and European players, and I particularly like the clarinet/trombone combination with Jeb Bishop, reminding me of the intimacy of Pee Wee Russell's frontline with Marshall Brown. Vandermark's longtime collaborator Kent Kessler plays contrabass, and Tim Mulvenna is the drummer. The band works and the tunes sound good and natural." -- Steve Beresford, London, February 1999.

CORBETT, JOHN & HEAVY FRIENDS: *I'm Sick About My Hat CD (ATA 116). $13.00

"Rather than simply remaining content with being one of the musical subculture's most passionate and intelligent voices, highly regarded journalist/raconteur/improviser John Corbett has finally ventured into the realm of releasing a proper studio album of his own design. John's Heavy Friends comprise a noteworthy compliment of Chicago's finest improvisors, experimentalists, and avant-jazz types, including David Grubbs, Jeb Bishop, Fred Lonberg-Holm, Mats Gustafsson, Hamid Drake, Terri Kapsalis, Peter Von Bergen, and Jane Baxter Miller.

MILLER'S BINARY SYSTEM, ROGER: *From the Epicenter CD (ATA 117). $13.00

"Massively regarded since his days as guitar assassin in the legendary Mission of Burma, Roger has since been making intensely sophisticated music, largely driven by his eclectic approach to prepared piano. He's released several critically acclaimed solo guitar and piano albums on Forced Exposure, Ace of Hearts, RRR and SST, which to a significant extent have led him to the pinnacle so readily apparent on From the Epicenter. Percussionist Larry Dersch joins Roger to form Binary System, likely the heaviest avant-classical duo on the planet. Binary's music is typically dark, complex, cinematic and loud. Its compelling nature is derived from a blueprint of heady neoclassicism, impressionistic avant-jazz leanings, and the relentless desire to rock (if such a term may be applied). In the final analysis, their unique aesthetic undoubtedly makes Binary System the spiritual kindred of Sir Glenn Branca."

STEAM: *Real Time CD (ATA 118). $13.00

Reissue of the deleted Eighth Day Music label release. "Messrs. Vandermark, Kessler, and Mulvenna need little introduction, as they've firmly planted their flag as 3 members of the Vandermark 5. They're joined here by Jim Baker, one of the Big Windy's most talented pianists, to form Steam. Suffice it to say that Baker's play creates a wonderful new set of variables for Ken, Kent, & Tim to work within & without. A unique tableau upon which to inscribe some of their most elegant musical ideas."

BENDIAN'S INTERZONE, GREGG: *Myriad CD (ATA 119). $13.00

"Interzone not only demonstrates Gregg's formidable talents as a percussionist, but also functions as his primary outlet for compositional ideas as a leader as well. Nels & Alex Cline, twins yet to psychically separate since birth, provide their cursory brilliance on a variety of other sonic accouterments, and Stuart Liebig lends supple bass to the proceedings."

SPACEWAYS INCORPORATED: *Thirteen Standards by Sun Ra & Funkadelic CD (ATA 120). $13.00

"Ken Vandermark had long been interested in paying respect to and interpreting classic material by Sun Ra and Funkadelic, legendary artists so thoroughly influential and inventive that their importance can't really be overstated. The obvious challenge (and inherent risk) for the players is finding the elusive ground between reverent tribute and eidetic transformation. In the case of Spaceways Incorporated, a superbly skilled and impeccably balanced trio finds that rarified musical destination." Ken Vandermark (reeds), Hamid Drake (drums), Nate McBride (acoustic & electric basses); studio recordings from Jan. 2000.

VANDERMARK 5, THE: *Burn The Incline CD (ATA 121). $13.00

"Burn the Incline illustrates a real compositional breakthrough for Ken & the V5; the elemental ingredients have been recast, resulting in a set of their most challenging, yet enjoyable numbers ever committed to tape by the group in their five year existence."

CLINE, NELS: *Destroy All Nels Cline CD (ATA 122). $13.00

"In Destroy, Nels' big band project, rock, jazz & prog-tinged structures meet head on & career off the guardrails; dreams are achieved in an ambitious 75:00+ time frame. He'd been building these compositions over a lengthy period of time, waiting for the stars to align properly to allow the direction & documentation of the pieces with a larger ensemble than his usual duo/trio/4tet projects. Nels sought & secured the services of electric harp goddess Zeena Parkins (fresh from recent studio sessions with Björk), immaculate string benders G.E. Stinson, Carla Bozulich (Geraldine Fibbers/Scarnella), conjoined identical twin/trapman extraordinaire Alex Cline (Interzone). With the scale, drama & intensity to rival a great feature film, Destroy All Nels Cline will likely leave fans of big guitar music, out-jazz, Interstellar Space Revisited & avant/prog-rock agape in it's roiling wake."

POEM ROCKET: *Psychogeography CD (ATA 123). $13.00

"As is well-known in some well-paved circles, Poem Rocket hails from NYC- and for some time has resided there as an elusive, integral clutch of shadowy progeny within the hallowed lineage of the Apple's great noise-rock bands. Possibly the missing aesthetic link between Live Skull & Sonic Youth, yet with a far-reaching span of influences shared with absolutely none of these aforementioned giants."

CORBETT & DAVEY WILLIAMS, JOHN: *Humdinger CD (ATA 124). $13.00

"Humdinger is a 'lovely' collection of musical improvisations by extraordinary Alabaman avant-guitarist/co-founder of the Trans Musej label & the Improvisor magazine/omnivorous surrealist/primary theorist of the 'Object Guitar Technique'/hilarious elder statesman of improvisation Davey Williams, and Chicago's main man about town: charming gadfly/bon vivant historian/cagey raconteur/venerated educator/matchless reissue producer, John Corbett — featured here on a variety of non-farming implements such as acoustic guitar, turntable, synthesizer, radio & keymonica."

GREGG BENDIAN'S INTERZONE: *Requiem For Jack Kirby CD (ATA 125). $14.00

"Interzone's third release offers up a musical tribute to one of the 20th Century's most important & influential visual artists: Jack 'The King' Kirby. As a kid, composer/percussionist Gregg Bendian was an avid comic book reader and was deeply effected by Jack Kirby's virtuosic artwork and storytelling style. When his own interest in becoming an illustrator gave way to a love of making music, Bendian vowed he would someday pay tribute to this inspirational, yet often neglected hero of his youth. The compositions for Requiem push Interzone's nucleus of Bendian and Nels & Alex Cline to new heights of spectacular wordless communication. They endeavor with vibraphone, guitar & percussion to reflect the dramatic, sumptuously colorful, archetypally violent, lyrically beautiful and always bizarre sci-fi world of Kirby's art. Requiem for Jack Kirby is ambitious, cinematic, orchestral, and almost operatic in scope... sonic 'clobberin' time' is at hand, in an exciting full-color, oversized poster booklet!"

BOXHEAD ENSEMBLE: Two Brothers CD (ATA 126). $13.00

"The Boxhead Ensemble makes a glorious return after nearly a two-year hiatus, under the direction of Michael Krassner (Lofty Pillars); Two Brothers is their most distinctive & compelling album yet, a modern day meditation on 19th century American musics, circa the Civil War era. Highly detailed acoustic instrumentation dominates the aural landscape, propelled by the bountiful talents of Mick Turner & Jim White (The Dirty Three), Ryan Hembrey (Pinetop Seven), Glenn Kotche (Pinetop Seven/Jim O'Rourke), Fred Lonberg-Holm (Terminal 4), Jeff Parker (Tortoise/Isotope/Tricolor), Scott Tuma (Souled American), Jeff Tweedy (Wilco) & Guillermo Gregorio (Unheard Music Series). An extremely inviting haze emanates quietly from Two Brothers, drawing you further & further into its sonic web."

BINARY SYSTEM: Invention Box CD (ATA 127). $13.00

"The Binary System is a duo: Roger Miller on piano and 'prepared piano' (alligator clips, bolts, etc. — affixed onto and between the piano strings to produce unorthodox percussive sounds) with Larry Dersch (who has appeared on a number of Morphine albums) on drums. Their music presents tightly structured compositions and open improvisation in a high-energy context. Over a rock underpinning, they layer 20th Century compositional techniques and a free jazz slant, resulting in an ever-changing sonic panorama."

VANDERMARK 5, THE: Acoustic Machine CD (ATA 128). $14.00

"Each album in the V5's discography has been captivating, tuneful, muscular & focused; but Acoustic Machine their annual installment for 2001, is likely their most distilled effort yet. Bishop, Kessler, Mulvenna, Rempis and Vandermark continue to grow as a quintet and as individuals, by somehow simultaneously honing and widening their purview. As the tradition goes, Ken has chosen to dedicate each tune on Acoustic Machine to a particularly influential artist in his own development; the 'HBF Series' — the first short pieces ever released by the group — are an homage to visionary minimalist composer Morton Feldman; Archie Shepp, Elvin Jones, Julius Hemphill, Stan Getz & Lester Young also 'get theirs.'"

EX & HAN BENNINK, TERRIE: The Laughing Owl CD (ATA 129). $13.00

"The Laughing Owl presents the proceedings of a heady musical summit: seventeen sublime, challenging duets from The Ex's guitarist, Terrie Ex & Dutch free-jazz legend Han Bennink. These gents' resumes are the stuff musical dreams are made of. The Ex's credentials as a musical entity & as human beings are simply unimpeachable. This stalwart experimental rock collective have been fearlessly doing things their own way for nearly 20 years, issuing relentless albums & touring the earth, reknown both for their integrity and intensity. Han Bennink may very well be the most accomplished, versatile & charismatic percussionist to emerge from the temperate hotbed of '60s Euro free jazz. The Laughing Owl also is the first of two albums featuring Terrie Ex performing with his fellow countrymen; Hef, due out this Fall (Atavistic 130CD), showcases Terrie & stellar reedsman Ab Baars. These releases will be followed up with more like-minded issues on Atavistic, from duos such as Swedish sax kingpin Mats Gustafsson & Chicago sound sculptor Lou Mallozzi."

EX & AB BAARS, TERRIE: Hef CD (ATA 130). $13.00

"Atavistic is pleased to issue the domestic release of the second of two improvisational duet recordings featuring Terrie Ex (please recall Terrie's 2001 powerful summit with the inimitable Han Bennink on The Laughing Owl). Terrie & fellow Dutch musical giant Ab Baars meet on a mountain of sound entitled Hef, which runs the gamut of intensely challenging to strangely elegant over the course of its 14 dramatic pieces."

SPACEWAYS INC.: Version Soul CD (ATA 132). $13.00

"Spaceways Inc. was spawned over a number of years in a series of songbook projects of saxophonist and clarinetist Ken Vandermark, often with Bostonian drummer Curt Newton, including ones centered on music by outspace ensemble jazz chameleon Sun Ra and heavy funk pioneer George Clinton. Spaceways' first CD documented that hard-line dichotomous approach; on Version Soul the trio investigates middle ground, filling out the spectrum on originals by Vandermark and McBride that navigate various funks, souls, reggae, dubs, jazzes, frees, and in-betweens, all treated with intelligence and passion."

BROKAW, CHRIS: Red Cities CD (ATA 134). $13.00

"Red Cities, Chris' solo debut. It's both organic & deliberate, epic & detailed, part spaghetti western & part road flick — all masterfully delivered to your auditory canals by a truly gifted multi-instrumentalist. Kindred spirits and reference points include Calexico (sans South of the Border vibe), Pinetop Seven & Giant Sand (sans vocals), and even late-period Savage Republic. The mammoth sheets of guitar texture, powerful drumming & intricate elements that provide the foundation for Red Cities are simply a pleasure to hear; these are big, badass desperado noir numbers done right..."

SWANS: Feel Good Now CD (ATA 135). $13.00

"The long-out-of print double-LP document of Swans triumphant 1987 European tour is finally available again on Atavistic. Featuring the mesmerizing, powerful lineup of Michael Gira, Jarboe, Norman Westberg, Algis Kyzis & Ted Parsons, Feel Good Now captures Swans live at one of the highest pinnacles of achievement in their storied career — somehow deploying music simultaneously heavy, yet delicate and fragile."

BOXHEAD ENSEMBLE: Quartets CD (ATA 136). $14.00

"America's only possible answer to God Speed You Black Emperor has delivered their fourth proper album ('99s Niagara Falls EP notwithstanding), and a billowing cloud of phantom sensations it is, indeed. On this voyage, the Ensemble consists of leader Michael Krassner (Lofty Pillars), Jessica Billey (SMOG), Michael Colligan (Pillow), Ryan Hembrey (Edith Frost, ex-Pinetop Seven), Glenn Kotche (Wilco, Jim O'Rourke, Loose Fur), Fred Lonberg-Holm (Terminal 4, Brötzmann Tentet, Concertina Wire), and Scott Tuma. An ethereal, drifting work in the spirit of the Dutch Harbor Soundtrack, The Last Place To Go & Two Brothers, Quartets also features music from the Ensemble's contributions to the HBO Film The Smashing Machine. What began in 1996 as an experimental coalition assembled to generate a film soundtrack has long since become a recurring spectral presence in our listening lives. We like to think of the Boxhead Ensemble as a ghost ship, adrift in an endless sea of inspiration & freedomthankfully washing ashore every couple years... conjuring their otherworldly sounds for us, making music that refuses to be tied to any genre, place, or time."

VANDERMARK 5, THE: Free Jazz Classics Vols. 1 & 2 2CD (ATA 137). $14.00

"Chicago's broadest shoulders present a nice-price double-cd reissue of their very sought-after and critically acclaimed Free Jazz Classics discs. Originally issued as limited edition bonus discs with the V5's last two albums Burn The Incline (ALP121CD) & Acoustic Machine (ALP128CD), jazz legends Ornette Coleman, Cecil Taylor, Archie Shepp, Carla Bley, Joe McPhee, Lester Bowie, Eric Dolphy, Anthony Braxton, Sun Ra, Frank Wright, Jimmy Guiffre, Julius Hemphill & Don Cherry get paid their due respect-as only The Vandermark 5 can."

XMARSX: Xmarsx CD (ATA 138). $13.00

"Make no mistake, the vigorous aural experience known as XMARSX is just one more prime example of the fierce individualism exhibited by Chicago bandleader Mars Williams. And while XMARSX runs the absolute gamut with their rock-noise-improv-electric-funky-no-wave-jazz-punk, there's a unified focus to their sensibility. Along with Williams, guitarist Greg Suran (Blue Man Group, Slam), drummer Dave Suycott (Machines Of Loving Grace, Stabbing Westward, Slam), and Kent Kessler (Vandermark 5, NRG Ensemble, Brotzmann Tentet) comprise the potent nucleus of XMARSX. Besides the stellar musicianship of the players listed above, it's also the charismatic presence of Brother Wayne Kramer (MCS) that makes this project unique."

LONGBERG-HOLM/GLENN KOTCHE/JASON ROEBKE, FRED: A Valentine For Fred Katz CD (ATA 139). $13.00

"For a jazz cellist, there aren't so many possible heroes on the instrument. Fortunately, there's Fred Katz. Not only as a cellist- but as composer and arranger too, Katz is worthy of accolades and acolytes. He studied with old master Pablo Casals and played piano behind various big-name crooners at the start of the '50s, but soon Katz made his decisive move into the Chico Hamilton Quintet, where he had a chance to work with multiple reed visionary Eric Dolphy and guitarist Jim Hall. Fellow cellist and fellow Frederick — Chicagoan Fred Lonberg-Holm set out a few years ago to pay homage to the gloriously cool Mr. Katz. Recruiting ultra-sensitive drummer Glenn Kotche and adaptable bassist Jason Roebke, Lonberg-Holm arranged a varied set of Katz's music, as well as some pieces familiar from his records."

VANDERMARK 5, THE: Airports For Light CD (ATA 140). $14.00

"The Vandermark 5's first studio album in two years (and the first waxed with drummer Tim Daisy) further integrates and resolves the potent musical ideas & structural complexities that surfaced on their previous effort, 2001's experimental Acoustic Machine. Superbly saturated to 2" analog by Shellac's Bob Weston (also at the helm on Spaceways Inc.'s recent Version Soul album), Airports For Light trades in a more palpable, effortless swing than past V5 efforts. Our favorite standard bearers' mastery over their own post-modern ballads has dramatically increased as well, providing a more confident command of the 'quieter' moments & myriad compositional challenges."

BRIDE OF NO NO: Bride Of No No CD (ATA 141 CD). $14.00

"Azita's Bride Of No No have delivered their magnum opus to date with this, their untitled second album. Their deconstructive sonic stance now collides head-on with their newly discovered (and surprisingly overt) desire to atonally hook you into senseless submission. A quick history lesson, redux: Revered authentics of Chicago's mid-90's 'NOW Wave' scene, The Scissor Girls made what some would consider to be the ultimate postart school musical statement. In the hearts and minds of many — including The New York Fucking Times, the Scissor Girls are held in similar esteem to legends such as The Slits, Au Pairs, Mars and The Contortions. As with all the best musical collectives, their time would be very short before calling it a day. Fast forward to 1999: an atonal phoenix rises from the ashes — and slowly, unperceptibly, clandestinely — and Bride Of No No is born. Their 2001 Atavistic debut, B.O.N.N. Appetit! won rave reviews with their gauze-shrouded 'uniforms' and the record's strangely dischordant yet compelling riffs."

BRIDE OF NO NO: Bride Of No No LP (ATA 141 LP). $14.00

LP version.

FLESH EATERS, THE: Miss Muerte CD (ATA 142CD). $13.00

"By my count, Miss Muerte, is the thirteenth record by the Flesh Eaters. And it is probably performed by what is the thirteenth (at least) version of this legendary group. Initially formed in the dawn of the Los Angeles punk boom by writer/film-maker/producer, Chris Desjardins, the Flesh Eaters have been an on-again-off-again venue for his brain-devouring words and music since 1977. Several of the tunes on Miss Muerte are used in the new film that Chris wrote and directed, I Pass for Human. And the use of the title song as both intro and outro suggests that the album has a narrative trajectory. But that's a red fucking herring. The songs here may be in part related to the film, but they are really just great extensions of the music that the Flesheaters began laying down in the mid '80s, when they started allowing influences like the UA-era Flamin' Groovies and Exile-period Stones to mix with their own glorious street raunch." —Byron Coley

FLESH EATERS, THE: No Questions Asked CD (ATA 143CD). $13.00

A complete reissue of the long out-of-print debut release by '70's L.A. punk icons, The Flesh Eaters. Featuring performances by members of X (John Doe, Exene Cervenka & DJ Bonebrake), our No Questions Asked reissue also includes 10 bonus tracks & deluxe artwork. "Of all the great bands that the Los Angeles underground produced in the latter half of the 1970s, none were more corrosively poetic, more explosively visionary than the Germs and the Flesh Eaters. The Germs' story has been well-documented previously, and their back catalogue has been easily graspable. But due to the vagaries of history and taste and fate, the major early recordings of the Flesh Eaters have been largely unavailable for many years; a cultural wrong that is finally being righted by this excellent package. The lyrics are wonderful bleeding collages of B-movie dementia, street crime, Mexican Catholicism and Dionysian punk spurt poetics. The vocals are powerful cat-scratched patterns of night-ripping fear, huge bursts of post-glottal raunch-vomit and cascades of pure and toxic love. The music is amazing. Just as The Fall (and somewhat later, The Birthday Party) took basic punk dynamics into whole new corridors of rhythmic/dynamic gloom, so do the Flesh Eaters. This is a potent combination. ...here is the meat that lies at the beginning of the Flesh Eaters' trail." —Byron Coley

FLESH EATERS, THE: A Hard Road to Follow CD (ATA 144CD). $14.00

"A complete reissue of the long out-of-print masterpiece, and 4th release by '70's L.A. punk icons, The Flesh Eaters. Atavistic's Hard Road To Follow reissue (original release: 1983) also includes 5 bonus tracks & deluxe artwork in an oversize lyric booklet. The band's fourth corrosive masterpiece in as many years, Hard Road is the best evidence of a band that had achieved a still unequalled massiveness of sound. For my money, this particular version of the Flesh Eaters represents the greatest rock band ever. They were it. Their live shows (of which I missed only two or three) were uniformly mind-melting, and while the records they left cannot convey everything that the Flesh Eaters were, they remain amongst the best albums ever." —Byron Coley

RANALDO/WILLIAM HOOKER/ROGER MILLER, LEE: Out Trios Volume One: Monsoon CD (ATA 146). $14.00

"The gorgeously powerful debut release in Atavistic's new Out Trios Series features Lee Ranaldo (Sonic Youth), Roger Miller (Mission Of Burma/Binary System) and NYC free jazz legend William Hooker — submitting at NYC's Knitting Factory. Massive extraterrestrial waves of sound crest, trough, collide & coalesce — making for some truly exhilarating, interplanetary music. With Ranaldo on guitar, Miller on keys & Hooker behind the kit, the textural essence of each player's style emerges — creating a simultaneously new, yet familiar listening experience for those previously acquainted. Monsoon lives up to its name: a tsunami has been unleashed by this über power trio, captured live to analog, and mastered by Ace of Hearts label mogul Rick Harte — well regarded for his production expertise."

PARKER/KEVIN DRUMM/MICHAEL ZERANG, JEFF: Out Trios Volume Two CD (ATA 147 CD). $14.00

"The second installment in Atavistic's Out Trios Series features three highly-regarded Chicago-based artists: guitarist Jeff Parker (Tortoise/Isotope/Tricolor), electronics savant Kevin Drumm (Drag City solo/Vandermark Territory Band), and Chicago free jazz titan Michael Zerang (Solstice w/ Hamid Drake & proprietor of The Candlestick Maker venue). If you're familiar with the work of any of these reknown gents, you'll find the vernacular they're communicating in to be singular in nature — even though they're each speaking in the language of their traditional arsenals of choice. Atavistic's Out Trios Series is dedicated exclusively to issuing the most captivating instrumental music available — as deployed within the context, structure & constraints of the trio format. The Series is an open-ended experiment in freedom, interaction & sonic architecture."

VANDERMARK 5, THE: Elements of Style, Exercises in Surprise CD (ATA 150). $14.00

"The new V5 album, Elements Of Style is largely concerned with scale — and is available ONLY in size XXL. Chicago's (and perhaps America's) most powerful new jazz quintet have created an array of musical themes & structures designed to blow the roof off theyour house, deployed using a superb balance of post-bop & avant-garde materials. Ken Vandermark's premiere project has been touring the planet relentlessly, and has never sounded more complete or sublime. The Vandermark 5's inherent promise to build a spectacular musical bridge between vanguard & traditional forms has been realized with the release of Elements Of Style."

ZU & SPACEWAYS INC.: Radiale CD (ATA 151CD). $14.00

"Chicago stalwarts (featuring Ken Vandermark, Hamid Drake & Nate McBride) meet Italian stallions Zü in a heavyweight jazz:funk:dub:skronk fight to the death... can you say 'bronto-bassism'? Radiale contains 4 originals by Zü, plus 4 stomp-yr-ass-til-4AM cover tunes by Funkadelic, Sun Ra & the Art Ensemble."

JARBOE: Thirteen Masks CD (ATA 152CD). $15.00

"A definitive reissue Jarboe's out-of-print '91 debut album, Thirteen Masks — remastered with three bonus tracks, presented in an oversized 16-page booklet, and featuring performances by Michael Gira, Roli Mossiman & Norman Westberg (SWANS), J.G. 'Foetus' Thirlwell & Larry Seven. Thirteen Masksoars through a number of styles from nightclub jazz, hypno trance & IDM- while simultaneously evoking the dark essence with which she imbues to her all art & music. The first in a series of four deluxe reissues for Jarboe on Atavistic."

BENDIAN'S INTERZONE, GREGG: Gregg Bendian's Interzone CD (ATA 156CD). $13.00

"Remastered reissue of Interzone's self-titled debut release is replete with over 12 minutes of previously unreleased bonus material in a new package with images by digital maven Bill Elsworth. Featuring uber-percussionist leader Gregg Bendian and The Brothers Cline (Nels & Alex, that is...) breakthrough prog-jazz never sounded better. From Gregg's liner notes: "Growing up in New Jersey during the 1970's I was exposed to a great many British progressive bands. Compositionally, the most important of these bands, by far, was Gentle Giant. Their Free Hand (1975) record changed my ears for life. In Gentle Giant's complex brand of chamber music, I heard for the first time (quite unwittingly) such diverse elements as counterpoint, hocketing, atonality, polytonality, polymetrics, metric modulation, rhythmic displacement, multi-instrumentalism and of course, percussion as a featured voice — all vital areas of contemporary composition which I would later study seriously as a musician. Twenty years hence, while making a rediscovery and extended examination of their work, I realize what a profound and lasting effect their music and musicianship has had on my own approach to the composition/band concept relationship. This recording is dedicated to the core members of Giant (Kerry Minnear, Derek Shulman, Ray Shulman, Gary Green & John Weathers) with much admiration, respect and gratitude."

MCPHEE, JOE: Nation Time CD (ATA 201). $13.00

Atavistic announces a new subsidiary reissue line: The Unheard Music Series, curated by John Corbett. "Joe McPhee's solo album, Tenor, literally changed my life. The recording (one of his first for Hat Hut, in September 1976) displayed his unique ability to integrate unconventional sounds and extended techniques with pure melodicism, and it permanently altered my perspective on what the saxophone could do and what music could be. Nation Time was recorded six years earlier, but ideas regarding the integration of means and methods were already at the forefront of McPhee's approach to improvisation. For this concert on December 12, 1970 (the other half of which was released in 1975 as the first Hat Hut LP, Black Magic Man), Joe McPhee mapped out a stylistically expansive set list, one that embraced methods as diverse as those developed by New Thing-era Archie Shepp, late 60s Sun Ra and Art Ensemble of Chicago, Grant Green, Cecil Taylor (Candid period), & Sonny Rollins. He and his band, through vision and work, made these various approaches their own. This set represents real 'free jazz' — the freedom to pursue the sounds and rhythms that inspire players to improvise with individual vitality and passion, no matter what different kinds of music are represented." — Ken Vandermark.

MOUNT EVEREST TRIO: Waves From Albert Ayler CD (ATA 202). $13.00

Reissue of a rare album from the Swedish improvisation underground, first released in 1975 on the LIM (Live Improvised Music) label (with three bonus tracks added, recorded in 1977). Brought to our current attention by contemporary Swedish improviser Mats Gustafsson. The Mount Everest Trio is: Gilbert Holmström (alto, tenor sax), Kjell Jansson (bass) & Conny Sjökvist (drums). "I first came into contact with the music of Gilbert Holmström through Waves From Albert Ayler, and in my personal universe this record still holds its place as one of the strongest examples of creative music ever to be made in good old Sweden. I think that Mount Everest creates a very positive, beautiful, living improvised music, vibrating with total dedication and great spirit." — Mats Gustafsson, Gustavsberg.

HAL RUSSELL'S CHEMICAL FEAST: Elixir (1979) CD (ATA 203). $13.00

"By the time he made his first commercially released LP with the NRG Ensemble in 1981, Hal Russell had already spent the better part of a decade experimenting with different sidemen, formations and instrumentations. Russell started leading bands while in living in Florida at the tail end of the '60s, and on his return to Chicago he set out to form an ideal working unit. Russell toughed out the '70s without making a record, but he didn't refrain from documenting the shifting lineups and evolving musical ideas along the way. In fact, when he died, he left a cache of hundreds of recordings in the care of his right-hand man, saxophonist Mars Williams. These extraordinary tapes provide an incomplete yet fascinating survey of Russell's pre-NRG career (as well as the lesser known NRG years) — and over time, the Unheard Music Series intends to make the most arresting and significant of these available to the public. We commence the Hal Russell Archive miniseries with this single concert, recorded informally on March 5, 1979, at Elixir Gallery — a storefront art space on North Clark Street."

ANDERSON, FRED QUARTET: The Milwaukee Tapes Vol. 1 CD (ATA 204). $13.00

"Anderson (tenor sax) took a quartet with Billy Brimfield (trumpet), Larry Hayrod (bass) and Hamid Drake (drums) to play somewhere in Milwaukee (the name of the venue is a casualty of time) late in 1980, and made arrangements to have a professional 8-track recording made of the concert. Twenty years nigh, the first fruits of this performance are publicly available." — John Corbett. Fred

BRÖTZMANN, PETER SEXTET & QUARTET: Nipples CD (ATA 205). $13.00

Long awaited reissue of this historic pre-FMP album by Peter Brötzmann. Known to many for it's placement on "The List" (T. Moore's Top Ten list of free jazz artifacts as published in Grand Royal of course), this is one of the most desirable and completely unseen albums in the genre of modern improvisation. Recorded April 18/24, 1969 and released on the Calig-Verlag label. "Simply put, Nipples is one of the rarest and most influential European energy jazz recordings of all time. The incendiary Sextet lineup featured an international cast of musical greats; leader Brötzmann and bassist Buschi Niebergall (Germany), tenor saxophonist Evan Parker and guitarist Derek Bailey (UK), and pianist Fred Van Hove (Belgium). Virtually everything about Nipples is simply the stuff of legend. The most revered lineup in the history of Euro free jazz got together on only one occasion to record a genre-defining album in the most creative & hallowed of German studios (Conny Plank's), and the result has been out of print for 30 years."

BENNINK, HAN: Nerve Beats CD (ATA 206). $13.00

"For those uninitiated, Han Bennink is one of the founding figures of European improvised music; longtime musical partner of Misha Mengelberg; and co-founder of the Instant Composers Pool (ICP). In short, Bennink is one of the most swinging, adventurous people on the planet. Though he's been active since the early '60s, Bennink remains energetic and irrepressible, and certainly qualifies as one of the great solo improvisers of the century — at times madcap & go-for-broke, other times harrowing, but always a sheer delight. Recorded for Germany's Radio Bremen in 1973, in the period when Bennink was storming Europe in a trio with Peter Brötzmann and Fred Van Hove, Nerve Beats is a great recording never before issued on CD. It comes from a time when Bennink employed a gigantic setup; metal percussion, tons of extra drums, tablas, an early drum-machine, as well as non-percussive instruments like trombone, clarinet, and various impossible-to-describe objects. A 3 track live concert recorded in its entirety at the acoustically ideal Rathaus, Nerve Beats is also the only live document available of Han performing solo at this time, as his early FMP and ICP records are out of print (and decidedly sought after). Nerve Beats has been mastered from the radio session original tapes and sports new handmade cover art by Bennink (also an accomplished visual artist) and a free-wheeling period portrait by outstanding photographer Pieter Boersma. Here's Han Bennink alone and at his most expansive, explosive, and wildly imaginative. Hilarious, razor sharp and not to be taken lightly."

CUYPERS, LEO: Heavy Days Are Here Again CD (ATA 207). $13.00

"Leo Cuypers, pianist and composer from southern Holland, is one of the great unsung heroes of Dutch creative music — as a bandleader, solo pianist and member of the first incarnation of the Willem Breuker Kollektief. Heavy Days Are Here Again was a project that brought Bennink and Breuker (who made the first ICP record, New Acoustic Swing Duo together as a twosome back in the 60s) back together after a somewhat fractious split, and reunited Buypers with Breuker as well. Cuypers named the group as an ironic jab at the Ronald Regan 1980 administration's adoption of 'Happy Days Are Here Again' as their campaign music. Heavy Days showcases seven playfully lyrical iconoclastic and totally enthralling compositions by Cuypers, and is the only extant CD of Cuypers' music available. It has been meticulously remastered from the original tapes, and is presented with its original LP artwork."

NACHTLUFT: Belle View I-IV Reissue CD (ATA 208). $13.00

"Nachtluft was a Zurich-based trio consisting of Gunter Muller on electronic percussion, Jacques Widmer on acoustic percussion, and Andres Bosshard on a unique cassette machine setup (with speakers distributed around the room), and all three musicians on metal. Self-described as 'a project for two drummers and live electronics in an all-over installation,' they formed in 1986, and went on to make this album, one other LP for Unit, and a Japanese CD. For fans of electronic music, noise rock, post-techno, advanced electronica, sound installation, and free improvisation, this record will come as a startling revelation and powerful manifesto on the glory of enormous electroacoustic sound." The following from Jim O'Rourke's liner notes: "It's hard to believe these recordings are almost 15 years old. Even harder, for me, to believe that I've had the record almost that long. Where does the time go? That's a good question: what happened to the time here? Why does it seem to be so assured in it's progression of events, yet seem completely free of the constraints of them? It doesn't have the feel of improvised music, a good sign. In fact, when I first bought the record, I didn't know it was improvised music at all. I threw it on then as I throw it on now, in confusion. This is group sound. Improvising groups that reach this single-mind unity are rare, and they are all puzzling: AMM's The Crypt has a picture that makes it impossible to tell how the hell they make their sounds; the back cover of Music Improvisation Company looks like they are appearing on Star Search; and now the graphic on the back cover makes me wonder about Nachtluft. They have this extra special awareness of the space they play in (in fact, they've organized concerts happening simultaneously on different continents, on bridges, through satellites). When it comes time for the big collapse the scientists keep talking about, this will be a good last choice for the stereo. Get out your pots and pans."

GREGORIO, GUILLERMO: Otra Musica CD (ATA 209). $13.00

"The full title of this landmark collection, Otra Musica: Tape Music, Fluxus & Free Improvisation in Buenos Aires 1963-70, says a tremendous amount this overwhelming package in & of itself. Though he has only recently come to international attention through his recordings for Hatart as a leader and with Franz Koglmann, Argentinean clarinetist and alto saxophonist Guillermo Gregorio had a fascinating earlier artistic incarnation in Buenos Aires. Heretofore totally unknown, these recordings bring to light an incredibly sophisticated sound-world of proto-electronica, Fluxus-oriented performance art and very early free improvised music, all from a virtually secret enclave of South American experimentalism. Sixteen tracks, none ever released before, with various groups including Movimiento Música Más, totally free duets with trumpeter Carlos Miralles from '64, an astounding solo alto piece from the same year. Painstakingly researched and lavishly documented, with an in-depth essay by John Corbett, loads of great photos and reproductions of two of Gregorio's 1960s paintings, Otra Musica: Tape Music, Fluxus & Free Improvisation in Buenos Aires 1963-70 will stand as one of the great archival unearthings of creative music."

TCHICAI-SCHWEIZER GROUP: Willi The Pig CD (ATA 210). $13.00

"A tremendous live quartet concert, recorded at the first Willisau Jazz Festival in Switzerland in 1975, Willi The Pig features a smoking lineup of Swiss master pianist Irene Schweizer (one of the founding figures of free music in Europe), elemental Danish saxophonist John Tchicai (who co-led the New York Contemporary Five and recorded with Albert Ayler and John Coltrane), German bassist Buschi Niebergall (who appeared on Peter Brötzmann's Nipples), and South African drummer Makaya Ntshoko. First released in a hand-silkscreened batch of 500, to commemorate the Swiss festival, this LP has been out of print basically since it was issued, and remains one of the rarest LPs of '70s free jazz. This reissue reproduces the lovely cover, designed by Willisau chief Nicklaus Troxler, in all its shocking pink and silver glory."

PETER BROTMANN GROUP: *Fuck De Boere (1968/70) CD (ATA 211). $14.00

"Two concert recordings — never before released, mastered from original radio master tapes-by larger groups led by the German saxophone legend Peter Brötzmann. Both recorded by the esteemed Hessischer Rundfunk organization at the Frankfurt Jazz Festival, in 1968 and 1970. Two of the most explosive, rivetting pieces of music ever to come out of the European vaults. First: an unheard alternate version of Brötzmann's groundbreaking Machine Gun, this time with a nine piece group (same as the LP, adding tenor saxophonist Gerd Dudek), recorded three months before the BRO/FMP record was made! A beautiful recording, revealing some heretofore obscure aspects of the composition, it's sure to be a favorite for free jazz fans of any stripe. Second: a 40-minute masterpiece from '70, with a large group featuring three tenors, three trombones, no bassist, Fred van Hove on organ (!), Derek Bailey on guitar and Han Bennink and Sven-Ake Johansson on drums. It's a monumental piece, featuring some of the most extreme Bailey on record (sounding at times like Masayumi Takayanagi from five years later), and tremendous interplay between Brötz, Evan Parker and Willem Breuker. Dedicated at the time to South African bassist Johnny Dyani, it's a moving poem on forces of oppression and the idea of resistance. This deluxe package includes a 12-panel foldout booklet designed by Brötzmann, including very personal liner notes by him; two beautiful period photographs (the waft of late '60's freedom off these is utterly exhilarating and undeniable), and the cover photo sports a large Joseph Beuys-like sculpture Peter created during the same period."

JOHANSSON, SVEN-AKE: *Schlingerland (1972) CD (ATA 212). $13.00

"Stockholm, Fall 1972. Sven-Ake Johansson, up to then busy playing and recording with Peter Brötzmann, Alexander von Schlippenbach, Manfred Schoof and other leading figures of continental improvisation, as well as his own lesser-known Moderne Nordeuropäische Dorfmusik, sat down to make one of the world's unique drum documents. Johansson put Schlingerland out himself in a heretofore unseen-by-most-humans edition of several hundred, with a lovely hand-printed cover. Later, Berlin's incendiary stalwart FMP initiated its sister label SAJ by reissuing the LP. It wasn't the first solo free percussion album in Europe — Pierre Favre and Han Bennink beat Johansson by a couple of years. But it is unlike those other percussion-centric records, focused fixatedly on the drumset. Nothing extraneous; no bells or whistles. A poem on polyrhythm. A meditation on varieties of flow and levels of intensity. And the infinite possibilities of the kit."

SCHLIPPENBACH QUARTET: *Hunting the Snake (1975) CD (ATA 213). $13.00

"Astounding 1975 Radio Bremen session from Germany — never before released, by one of the greatest working bands in the history of European improvised music is offered for your consideration on Hunting The Snake. How can you lose? This all-star ensemble features Alexander von Schlippenbach on piano, Evan Parker on saxophones, Peter Kowald on bass, and Paul Lovens on drums and singing saw. Though they recorded two great LPs for Germany's historic out-label FMP, the Schlippenbach Quartet has no music available on CD...until now, via John Corbett's Unheard Music Series. A brilliant, previously unreleased 77 minute program from an under-documented powerhouse, in a luscious package featuring a gallery of period portraits by the great Italian photographer Roberto Masotti and a stunning cover painting by the legendary Michael Snow combine to make Hunting The Snake an unbeatable package for anyone interested in a peak period from one of the great European music ensembles of all time."

MCPHEE, JOE: *Trinity CD (ATA 214). $13.00

"Trinity represents the second installation in The Unheard Music Series efforts to resurrect Joe McPhee's early '70's work on the CJR label, soon to be completed with Underground Railroad and Pieces Of Light. This brilliant trio recording of blues inflected out-soul from '73 follows up on hugely successful Nation Time, recorded a year later. Originally issued in '73 in an edition of 1000, Trinity has not been available since. John Corbett has remastered Trinity from original tapes; the LP had to be severely compressed to squeeze all the music on to it, but in the digital realm restoration of all the sweet space was possible. Hence, Trinity has never sounded so fantastic! Featured are a long drum and tenor duet section (with McPhee breaking new ground on the horn), and a fantastic piece dedicated to Albert Ayler, with McPhee overdubbed on soprano sax and pocket cornet. Utterly spellbinding."

THOMAS, LUTHER: *Funky Donkey Vols. 1 & 2 CD (ATA 215). $13.00

"Funky Donkey is an ultra-rare document from the Black Artists Group (BAG) archives, led by alto saxophonist Luther Thomas, with a full force free-funk ensemble. UMS Producer John Corbett & Mr. Thomas have also unearthed a second volume of unadulterated Donkey Funk (featuring a long piece written by saxophonist Oliver Lake), which was recorded at same performance, prepared for release but never issued. Finally, almost three decades later, it's available for the first time. These great recordings featuring the Bowie brothers: late-great Art Ensemble of Chicago trumpeter Lester Bowie, and Defunkt-founder/trombonist Joseph Bowie, as well as reed player J.D. Parran (fresh from recording with The Band!) and versatile drummer Charles 'Bobo' Shaw. Out of print for twenty years, Funky Donkey delivers massive mid-70s creative sounds; Great Black Music, St. Louis style."

ROVA SAXOPHONE QUARTET: *As Was CD (ATA 216). $13.00

"Simply put, As Was is a masterpiece of American creative music. These huge quartet recordings from the band's first incarnation with Andrew Voigt were first issued on Larry Ochs and Henry Kaiser's legendary Metalanguage label in '81, and have never been previously available on CD. Bay Area ROVA continue to make great music; they are the finest, most adventurous saxophone quartet in the biz. This record features some of their most memorable compositions, including the superb, R&B inflected 'Paint Another Take Of The Shootpop,' dedicated to Olivier Messiaen and Otis Redding, and 'Daredevils,' which Larry Ochs describes as '...a little hit of the circus.' As Was has been remastered & resequenced from original tapes by Rova's Larry Ochs, UMS has restored the swank original cover to the form it was initially envisioned (when printed for the LP it didn't turn out the way the group wanted it to...). This one record shows how expansive and exciting the sometimes mundane saxophone quartet format can be, when deployed with the right combination of care and spunk."

MOSLANG-GUHL (VOICE CRACK): *Knack On CD (ATA 217). $13.00

From Jim O'Rourke's liner notes...: 'Moslang-Guhl'. You'd be forgiven if you thought it was food. It's not, but they use food. Previous to Voice Crack, Norbert Moslang and Andy Guhl were longhair troublemakers on the European improvising scene, more power to them. Their first record Deep Voices (FMP 510) pictured the boys rocking out on a variety of very small percussion and very large reeds. There are 'home-made instruments', not so odd for the time, there was Hugh Davies, Michael Wisznicz even Evan Parker was rockin an oscillator. But somewhere in St. Gallen, Switzerland, these guys were doing their homework. Knack On was released in 82, and in the interim, they must have come upon something that sent them on towards their path to Voice Crack. On this record you'll hear them crossing the line, moving past the improv w/electronics sound of the Tony Oxley/Allan Davies, Paul Lovens/Paul Lytton, AMM, MEV etc. axis, jumping headfirst into everyday SOUND."

ANDERSON, FRED: *Dark Day/Live In Verona (1979) 2CD (ATA 218). $18.00

"Fred Anderson made his first visit to Europe, accompanied by his long-term partner, trumpeter Billy Irimfield, in February, 1977. The two Chicagoans appeared as featured guests with Neighbours, an Austrian trio led by pianist Dieter Glawischig, and with that group they recorded the album Accents (Musicians Record Company). Anderson toured Europe for the first time with an ensemble of his own a year later including an appearance at the Seventh International New Jazz Festival Moer. The day before they left on that second European sojourn, the Fred Anderson Quartet performed at home in Chicago at the Museum of Contemporary Art, as part of an ongoing series of AACM concerts presented by the museum. The MCA gig was taped and later issued on the tiny Austrian label Message Records. Released in a small batch it rather quickly became the rarest item in Fred Anderson's vinyl discography and has until now been a treasured collector's item heard by only a handful of Anderson fans. In reissuing this LP, we at UMS decided to augment it with an especially hot tape from the ensuing tour of Europe."

HAAZ & COMPANY: *Unlawful Noise (1976) CD (ATA 219). $13.00

"Kees Hazevoet was an integral part of the emerging Amsterdam new jazz scene in the '60s and '70s. The fact that he left the music completely just as it was beginning to receive international attention has no doubt obscured his place among more familiar names? Willem Breuker, Misha Mengelberg, Han Bennink? But in fact he was part of the first wave of free players in Amsterdam, and as the scene solidified he worked with all the major figures there and with many well-known non-Dutch improvisors as well. Long-lost, peaked out free recordings featuring stunning lineup of Kees Hazevoet, Peter Brotzmann, The Bennink Brothers, Johnny Dyani & Louis Moholo. Original LP artwork, new photo, remastered from the original tapes."

STARSHIP BEER: *Nut Music (1976-88) CD (ATA 220). $13.00

"John Corbett's Unheard Music Series presents an outlandish excursion in out-rock, improvised noise & experimental sounds — or as Starship Beer called it, Nut Music — from a great, little-known upstate New York trio, formed at the dawn of the '70s. This Starship was heavily influenced by Captain Beefheart and creative jazz — but concocted its own uniquely demented, completely charming music. The group included well known artist Pat O'Brian (whose work graces the reissue), and music journalist Kevin Whitehead, author of New Dutch Swing (Billboard Books) and the jazz authority on NPR Radio's 'Fresh Air.' Our UMS release compiles the entirety of their sole long out-of-print LP, Nut Music: As Free As The Squirrels, originally released on the Land Mammal label in a single batch of 1000 in 1979. Also included: almost another entire record's worth of bonus tracks, all previously unreleased, which include the twisted C&W death song '10-4 Big Buddy', plus a later collective improvisation that fans of Japanese noise will definitely need to become intimate with! User Directions: Put 1 pt. Cream & 1 pt. Anthony Braxton in a blender. Add dashes of Kurt Schwitters liberally. Set to puree, and presto: Starship Beer."

PREHN, TOM: *Tom Prehn Quartet CD (ATA 221). $13.00

"Even for very informed fans of avant-garde jazz, Denmark is an awfully remote spot on the map. Among the most interesting (and the most unduly obscure) of the Danish musicians of the period is pianist Tom Prehn. The music on this record is startlingly original. When it was released, Tom Prehn Quartet garnered critical attention in the major Danish press, but it didn't manage to make much impact too far outside of its homeland. Nevertheless, decades later it is still a remarkable document, effectively merging jazz energy with characteristics that wouldn't fully emerge in European free music until later in its development. This is original free music of the highest calibre, quite far ahead (or maybe outside) of its time. Certain elements come from the realm of composed music. Indeed, in '67, on the verge of formally finishing his studies, Prehn took lessons in composition from Earle Brown and Witold Lutoslawski, and the importance of the modernist tradition makes itself heard, particularly on Prehn's highly unusual rhythmic study 'Modus Vivendi.' The message of Århus, 1967: four joyous cartographers boldly charting new landscapes, leaving behind a document that should force free music aficionados to rethink familiar maps 34-years later." — John Corbett.

RA, SUN: *Nuclear War CD (ATA 222). $13.00

"Nuclear War stands as one of the great monuments in the latter part of Sun Ra's enormous oeuvre. It's an LP that by all rights should have been one of his breakthroughs, featuring one of the tightest versions of the Philadelphia-era Arkestra in a program that includes an appealing mix of standards and Ra originals. The title track is arguably to the '80s what 'Space Is The Place' was to the '70s. Ra's anthem for the decade, a piece that perfectly reflected certain apocalyptic aspects of his philosophy and his underlying quest for a better future. Ra thought very highly of this recording. He personally approached Columbia Records, certain that it was a winner, and when they didn't opt to issue it he reportedly became depressed and bitter. Eventually, Ra sold the music to an outfit called Y Records. Y was a very interesting British independent label whose catalogue included important post-punk LPs by the Pop Group and the Slits, some outstanding reggae and a couple of records of improvised music. In London at the beginning of the '80s, musical worlds were colliding, and people like Steve Beresford and David Toop actively crossed all kinds of genre borders, confusing rock and dub and jazz and noise. Y Records producer Dick O'Dell first put out 'Nuclear War' as a 12-inch single — the idea of Ra on an extended play disco plate was, in its own way, sheer brilliance! — b/w the glorious June Tyson vehicle 'Sometimes I'm Happy,' and two years later the full record was issued on Y Records in Italy. But the LP never went into full distribution and as a result the few copies that trickled into circulation became some of the rarest entries in Ra's discography."

GLOBE UNITY ORCHESTRA: *Globe Unity 67/70 CD (ATA 223). $14.00

Alexander V. Schlippenbach's historic trans-European free jazz orchestra, featuring Gunter Hampel, Kris Wanders, Gerd Dudek, Willem Breuker, Manfred Schoof, Peter Brötzmann, Albert Mangelsdorff, Peter Kowald, Jaki Liebezeit, Mani Neumeier, Sven-Ake Johansson, etc. The 2 enclosed pieces are previously unreleased German radio broadcasts. "Since the beginning of the 'free jazz era' in 1960 at that time, we played almost exclusively in small groups — I was fascinated by the idea of playing our 'new' music with a large ensemble. The premiere performance, in November 1966 in the Berliner Philharmonik, was a sensational success, because the press outdid themselves equally in extravagant praise and hysterical vituperation. With this, the Globe Unity was founded and began its career, which lasted more than twenty years. The compositions presented on this CD originated in radio commissions for the Donauechingen Tage für Neue Musik ('Globe Unity 67') and for the Berliner Jazztage ('Globe Unity 70'). The 67 piece is based on the systematic application and expansion of the procedures already used in Globe Unity 66. In this respect, 'Globe Unity 70' is determined more by aleatorics and by semantic information for the players." — Alexander V. Schlippenbach

HONSINGER, STEVE BERESFORD, DAVID TOOP & TOSHINORI KONDO, TRISTAN: *Double Indemnity/Limitation Of Life CD (ATA 224). $13.00

"Two classic Y records reissued on the Unheard Music Series; hardcore improvised music by Beresford (Slits, Premiere U.K. Jounalisto), Honsinger (cellist extraordinaire), Toop (experimental Genius/author) & Kondo (Japanese impro legend)." Originally released in 1980/81, never reissued before. With bonus tracks, new liner notes by Beresford.

THORNTON, CLIFFORD: Freedom & Unity CD (ATA 225). $13.00

Beautifully melodic soul jazz sessions from '67, featuring Coltrane Quartet's Jimmy Garrison on bass. Joe McPhee's first appearance on LP, prior to his own quartet's release in 1969. Includes 2 previously unheard/unissued bonus tracks from Joe McPhee's personal archive. Original liner notes by Ornette Coleman & Archie Shepp! "Clifford Thornton should be one of the best-known figures of the free jazz era. That he has lapsed into relative obscurity stands as a testament to the way that the availability of recordings shapes our sense of history. A brass player in a world of saxophonists, he recorded a handful of fantastic records under his own name for BYG, America and JCOA. He was an outspokenly political person in a politically charged atmosphere (in 1970, he was barred entry into France on suspicion of being a Black Panther), and he was an independent record company owner. Third World Records, on which he issued Freedom & Unity and later Communications (1972), was his own label."

MCPHEE, JOE: Underground Railroad/Live At Holy Cross Monastery 2CD (ATA 226). $18.00

"Underground Railroad is Joe McPhee's first record. It was recorded at Holy Cross Monastery in West Park, New York, in April 1969, and issued promptly as the first release on Craig Johnson's CJR label. Only 500 copies of the LP were manufactured and it was never reprinted." Third installment of UMS's complete CJR Joe McPhee recordings.

THOMAS, LUTHER: Banana: The Lost Session CD (ATA 227). $13.00

"Two master tapes from an unreleased session were discovered during the remastering of Funky Donkey, the 1973 Human Arts Ensemble record reissued by Unheard Music Series. These recordings had been mislabeled and looked almost identical to the Funky Donkey tapes, but in fact they turned out to be a lost session from roughly the same time. The group's personnel was subsequently identified by Luther Thomas: Thomas- alto saxophone, piano, slide whistle, finger chimes; James Marshall- alto, tenor & soprano saxophones, flutes, small instruments; Abdullah Yakub- alto horn, small instruments; Carol Marshall- voice, accordion, small instruments; Charles Bobo Shaw- drums. Clearly intended for release as an LP, perhaps, the tapes included verbally slated track titles. The entire session is presented here, including an outtake of one track."

CHRISTMAN/MULLER/SMITH/STILLWILLIAMS: White Earth Streak CD (ATA 228). $13.00

"Trans was short for 'Transcendprovisation.' Davey Williams expanded on the concept in a letter reprinted in the 1977 issue of Bells: 'The point to me is how the music composes itself. The only function of me the musician is to bring it out as faithfully and as clearly as possible.... Perhaps more important is the practice of being in tune with the music itself as it comes out, being right in the middle of it (faithful transposition of thought to sound, unconscious) at the same time being at a distance from it, being able to follow the changes in direction, sensing the endings when they appear, etc.... We appreciate the phenomena, and invite them subconsciously....' Stunning surrealistic outmusic Transmuseq label reissue on John Corbett's Unheard Music Series. Gorgeous collage cover by Dorah Lee Rosen."

VAN HOVE, FRED: *Complete Vogel Recordings (1972-74) 2CD (ATA 229). $18.00

"In the early '70s, Belgian improviser Fred Van Hove released three LPs on the Vogel label. These recordings, issued in very small quantities, have become some of the most sought-after and difficult to find items in the canon of European improvised music. Even some of the hardest-digging vinyl freaks haven't heard of these treasures- let alone own them. Compiling the two solo Vogel records (Fred Van Hove and Live At The University) and one record of duets with tenor saxophonist Cel Overberghe (Een Tweede Vogel), as well as an even rarer 7-inch 45 by Van Hove and Overberghe, Complete Vogel Recordings offers a rare document of one of the greatest pianists in free music from a particularly fertile period in his career. In addition to the tenor/piano duets, the record with Overberghe includes some musique concrete and overdubbed parts, with the saxophonist on bass and drums and Van Hove on organ; Live At The University features Van Hove on conventional piano, but also performing his special prepared piano improvisation with ping-pong balls on the strings."

PETER BROTMANN GROUP: For Adolphe Sax CD (ATA 230). $14.00

"At last, the reissue of German saxophonist Peter Brötzmann's long out-of-print first record, one of the most auspicious debuts of free music, and a trenchant tribute to the inventor of the saxophone. For Adolphe Sax is a roundhouse punch of European free jazz, delivered in 1967 by the saxophonist's first classic trio featuring drummer Sven-Ake Johansson and bassist Peter Kowald. Initially issued in a tiny private run on Brötzmann's own BRO label — silkscreened cover designed by Brötzmann, with hand-stamped inner record labels — it was later reissued on FMP as one of the earliest in the Berlin-based label's extensive, essential catalogue. The Unheard Music Series has lovingly remastered For Adolphe Sax from the original tapes, and the package includes a plump gallery of period photos from Brötzmann's personal collection. In addition to the original music, the CD is augmented by a never-released nine-minute track, recorded in the studios of Radio Bremen, which adds Belgian pianist Fred van Hove to the trio; in a way, this group give a hint of the transition from Brötzmann's initial threesome with Johansson and Kowald to the next working trio with Van Hove and drummer Han Bennink."

VON SCHLIPPENBACH, ALEXANDER: The Living Music CD (ATA 231). $13.00

"In the third week of April, 1969, pianist Alexander von Schlippenbach took a seven-piece ensemble comprised of German, Dutch and British musicians into Conny Plank's Rhenus Studio in Godorf, near Köln. When the day was over, two separate LPs had been completed. Saxophonist Peter Brötzmann used the session to record enough material by a quartet (Brötzmann, bassist Buschi Niebergall, drummer Han Bennink and pianist Fred Van Hove, the latter of whom did not appear with the Schlippenbach band) for side-two of Nipples. Earlier in the afternoon, Schlippenbach and his full band of accomplices recorded the entirety of The Living Music. Schlippenbach initially issued the album on his own Quasar label. In spirit as well as name, 'living music' was an integral part of the early years of FMP. Schlippenbach's The Living Music remains one of the most glorious, if also one of the least well known, of the label's adopted children."

SCHOOF, MANFRED: European Echoes CD (ATA 232). $13.00

"During the mid-60s, trumpet and cornet player Manfred Schoof led one of the most important ensembles in German jazz, a quintet with pianist Alexander von Schlippenbach- composer of many of the group's pieces -saxophonist Gerd Dudek, bassist Buschi Niebergall, and drummer Jacky Liebezit (later augmented by second drummer Sven-Ake Johansson). In '66, Schlippenbach conceived of the Globe Unity Orchestra as a meeting point for this quintet and the Peter Brötzmann Trio. Three years later, after the quintet had split up, Schoof himself convened a large ensemble for a radio project in Bremen. This orchestra drew its lineup from the increasingly interconnected web of the European free scene: members of the quintet (Dudek, Niebergall, Schlippenbach); Brötzmann and his new trio with drummer Han Bennink and pianist Fred Van Hove; the constituent members of drummer Pierre Favre's ensembles (including bassist Peter Kowald and pianist Irene Schweizer); their sometime associate Evan Parker and his countrymen Paul Rutherford and Derek Bailey; and fellow trumpeters Enrico Rava and Hugh Steinmetz from Italy and Denmark respectively. The resulting piece reveals in doubled and tripled instruments- how unusual, especially, to have three pianists in a group like this, not to mention three trumpets, three tenors and three bassists. Echoes across Europe (Germany, Holland, England, Belgium, Switzerland, Italy, Scandinavia), the resounding impact of new jazz and improvised music as it travels from country to country, region to region, scene to scene. A tape of the performance soon became the material for the debut of a new label based in Berlin: Free Music Production."

BROTMANN/BENNINK/VAN HOVE: Balls CD (ATA 233). $14.00

"Reissue of the legendary FMP label's second-ever release: Balls, waxed by Peter Brötzmann, Han Bennink & Fred Van Hove — the essential recording by one of the most influential free music trios of all time. The classic studio session originally tracked in 1970 for FMP has been augmented with two substantive, previously unheard & unissued tracks from the period. Balls is the first album to be reissued by this famed trio, documenting some of their most spectacularly physical efforts during their history together. In short, Balls has it all: Peter Brötzmann's blistering tenor squal, Han Bennink's limitless über-kit world of sound, and Fred Van Hove's ceaselessly inventive keys created unquestionably one of the definitive jazz recordings of the 1970's."

HAZEVOET, KES: Pleasure CD (ATA 234CD). $13.00

"The second release for Kees 'Haazz' Hazevoet on John Corbett's Unheard Music Series; piano/sax/drum trio recordings featuring Louis Moholo. Moholo, Wanders and Hazevoet coalesced into a terrific free jazz quartet. Their repertoire included terse themes by Hazevoet, and the playing is propelled by Moholo's mighty drumming — a South African amplification of some of the wave-like energy-field ideas Sonny Murray had pioneered — coupled with Hazevoet's walloping piano. Pleasure was issued in an unusually small batch — 250 copies, each with a handsilkscreened cover — but a few made their way into journalists' hands and garnered some glowing reviews, which made the prospect of continued work favorable."

SCHIANO, MARIO: On The Waiting-List CD (ATA 235CD). $13.00

"The legendary 'godfather of free music' offers his finest album on John Corbett's Unheard Music Series; ultra-rare Italian answer to the Art Ensemble of Chicago, recorded in Rome 1973. Mario Schiano is one of the founding figures of free music in Italy, an intense and often uproariously funny alto saxophonist, bandleader and high-conceptualist who has been spreading his own postmodern eclecticism since the early '60s. Later in that decade, Schiano co-founded Gruppo Romano Free Jazz, and he's been the Godfather of free music in Italy ever since. Recorded in Rome in 1973, On The Waiting-List is one of the rarest items in Schiano's extensive — and by-and-large impossible to find — discography. Originally released on the King Universal label, from Naples, and produced by Toni Cosenza, it is virtually unknown outside of its homeland (mighty obscure there, too...). An outstanding creative jazz outing, the record features Schiano on alto as well as organ and voice (on the extra-outré track 'All It Takes'), with other luminaries of the Italian jazz scene."

BROTMANN GROUP, PETER: More Nipples (1969) CD (ATA 236). $14.00

"One of the great archaeological finds of recent years: Three lost tracks from the Nipples sessions. Dateline: Germany, 1969. The legendary lineup: Peter Brötzmann and Evan Parker (saxophones), Derek Bailey (guitar), Fred Van Hove (piano), Buschi Niebergall (bass), Han Bennink (drums). Over the course of two long studio sessions, Peter Brötzmann assembled one of the masterpieces of free jazz from Europe, Nipples, which was reissued by the Unheard Music Series in 2000. Brötzmann has always mentioned more material, but thought it had been discarded long ago. But in 2002, FMP founder Jost Gebers discovered a reel of material, recorded by both the quartet (without Bailey and Parker) and sextet incarnations, in the FMP archive. Here, then, for the first time, is an entire record's worth of alternate pieces, including a sextet blowout featuring Parker on soprano saxophone and Bailey's guitar much more up-front than on the original LP, and two fantastic quartet pieces."

RA & HIS ARKESTRA, SUN: Music From Tomorrow's World CD (ATA 237). $14.00

Completely unissued, much-speculated material from their 1960 Chicago-based era. "If the Wonder Inn recordings have been much speculated over during the four decades since they were made, a studio date from someplace called Majestic Hall rings only very distant bells, even for those who played on it. Majestic Hall was a fantastic session, with a slightly larger octet incarnation of the Arkestra, including Cohran on cornet, Gilmore again in gorgeous form, Marshall Allen and two other saxophonists: Gene Easton on alto and Ronald Wilson on baritone. Drummer Robert Barry is explosive on the latter track, and as with the Wonder Inn tracks, bassist Ronnie Boykins was the Arkestra's unflinching rudder. Behind it all looms the creative fireball named Sun Ra, concocting ceaselessly creative intros, comping imaginatively, or going without horns on the fragment of 'Interstellar Lo-Ways' that closes the disc. Here are two late-breaking installations from a single season in the story of Sun Ra's Chicago period, each focused on a different aspect of his concept. The Wonder Inn: Arkestra in motion, as part of the community, engaging the underground jazz intelligentsia on the south side. Majestic Hall: the grand scale of Ra's compositional and arranging genius, the heroic efforts of his band. Yet a couple more key pieces in the big puzzle that is Sun Ra's master-oeuvre."

GRUNTZ, GEORGE: Mental Cruelty (The 1960 Jazz soundtrack) CD (ATA 238). $13.00

"In 1960, an astonishing jazz ensemble was convened by Swiss pianist George Gruntz to create a soundtrack for the Hannes Schmidhauser film Mental Cruelty. The group included bebop innovator Kenny 'Klook' Clarke on drums and Belgian saxophonist Barney Wilen, two of the most swinging and sensitive musicians on the planet. Though the dark, lyrical, mysterious soundtrack was initially released on a 10-inch EP, legal difficulties led to its being recalled, and the few copies that were sold became incredibly valuable collectors items. Now, for the first time, the session is issued in its full glory, including several previously unreleased tracks. One of the rarest European jazz records (only 100 copies on planet earth)."

ALTERATIONS: Voila Enough! (1979-81) CD (ATA 239). $13.00

"Alterations was one of the premier British improvising groups of the 1970s. Comprised of four omnivorous multi-instrumentalists — Steve Beresford, David Toop, Terry Day and Peter Cusack — they represented an important crossing zone between abstraction and pop, incorporating elements of punk, indigenous musics and hip-hop (Toop wrote the influential study Rap Attack, as well as his more recent book Ocean Of Sound into their romping free play. Compiled and exhaustively annotated by Toop, Voila Enough! consists of previously unreleased music from '79-'81, packaged with a gallery of unpublished photos by Gerard Rouy."

VON SCHLIPPENBACH TRIO, ALEXANDER: Pakistani Pomade (1972) CD (ATA 240). $14.00

"Finally reissued after decades of being inobtainable, one of the milestones of improvised music. Recorded in 1972, Pakistani Pomade is the debut outing by the longest standing free music ensemble in Europe, the Schlippenbach Trio — together pianist Schlippenbach, saxophonist Evan Parker and drummer Paul Lovens continue to rock the world of improvisation today. Asked about his favorite recordings among those he's made, Parker has long referred to this gem, and now everyone can hear exactly why. A powerhouse, full of the group's trademark detail but also packing considerable free jazz punch, the record contains a variety of tracks, from short experimental sound pieces to epic firestorms, all featuring the early mature work of master percussionist Lovens. As part of the Unheard Music Series' FMP Archive Edition, Pakistani Pomade was remastered from the original tapes by FMP founder Jost Gebers. The UMS reissue also augments the original session with more than 20 minutes of new material that was thought lost, but recently unearthed."

DODDS, BABY: Talking and Drum Solos CD (ATA 241 CD). $14.00

"One of the most important pieces of vinyl ever waxed, Talking and Drum Solos is the first recorded album of drum solos — by one of the great pioneers of jazz percussion: Warren 'Baby' Dodds. A mainstay of the early Chicago jazz scene alongside his brother, clarinetist Johnny Dodds — and inspiration to countless jazz trapezes (including Han Bennink — who has cited Talking as his favorite record), this endlessly inventive original was born in the Big Easy in 1898. Dodds made his mark in the mid-30s, peaking as the featured artist at a 1946 Carnegie Hall Pops Concert. The cornerstone of our remastered UMS reissue is Dodds' rare 1946 Folkways Records 10", featuring him playing and (true to the title) talking about drumming styles of the early jazz era, as recorded by the legendary Mose Asch. Also assembled here for your infotainment & contextual purposes are twenty bonus tracks from Folkways Records' Country Brass Bands Of The South, Volume One."

BRÖTZMANN, PETER: The Inexplicable Flyswatter (Works On Paper: 1959-64)) Book w/CD (ATA 242). $34.00

48 pages, square paperbound, many color plates, with CD. "Peter Brötzmann is best known as one of the founders of European improvised music and one of the most powerful and original jazz saxophonists of the post-60's era, but in fact began his creative life as a painter and even established ties with members of the Fluxus movement, primarily Nam June Paik. With a burgeoning career in music, Brötzmann's artwork has been kept a private activity over the years, with infrequent exhibitions and graphic design work done for album covers and posters. In late 2002, the first major retrospective of Brötzmann's visual art was finally mounted at Ystad Konstmuseum in Sweden. Curated by John Corbett, in collaboration with the artist, the first North American exhibition of Brötzmann's visual art, The Inexplicable Flyswatter, follows up on the Swedish retrospective, focusing on a set of pieces that were left out of that show. The primary subject of the exhibition is a set of over 50 works on paper (paintings, collages, lithographs) created over a four year period, more than half of which focus on a common, peculiar image: the flyswatter. This 48-page four-color catalog contains nearly 50 reproductions of Brötzmann's work, including most of the pieces in the exhibition, as well as a dozen previously unseen photographs from the period, which include images of Brötzmann demonstrating some of Paik's installation pieces in 1963. An in-depth essay by Corbett sets the context for Brötzmann's work and explores the transitional period of the early '60s, when Brötzmann shifted his focus from being a visual artist to being a musician. Two interviews with Brötzmann are included, one from 2002 (concerning the relationship between his art and his music) and an incredibly rare archival interview from 1965 (concerning his music). An audio version of the early interview is included in the catalog, along with two previously unknown quartet musical recordings (also featuring bassist Peter Kowald in his earliest recording yet released), predating the earliest Brötzmann music yet publicly available by two years. The percolating rhythm section brings out a heretofore unheard postbop aspect of young Brötzmann. The package's enhanced CD features three films as well, all from the early '60s, shot and edited by early Brötzmann colleague Manfred Montwé. Two of these short silent films feature Brötzmann's trio in '64, with beautiful hand coloring and distortion of the film by Montwé, while the other film is an incredibly important, previously unknown document of a major Fluxus festival in Amsterdam in 1963, which features Brötzmann alongside Fluxus founder George Maciunas, Emmett Williams, Tomas Schmit and others. The Inexplicable Flyswatter is a must-have for anyone remotely interested in Herr Brötzmann, free music, or the Fluxus Movement."

RA, SUN: Spaceship Lullaby CD (ATA 243 CD). $14.00

"Ever-ready to delve into some serious sonic archeology, The Unheard Music Series is proud to bring to light a compelling and particularly obscure facet of Sun Ra's Chicago activities from the mid-1950's: a collection entitled Spaceship Lullaby, featuring Ra's work with several vocal ensembles from the period. Although similar musings had heretofore been heard only on the rare 7"s compiled on The Singles (Evidence), Spaceship Lullaby presents a full CD's worth of unreleased material, including songs by Nu Sounds & The Cosmic Rays, plus a previously unknown duo-wop group known as The Lintels — each singing popular tunes of the day. Strange, wonderful — and even hilarious in places — this is pop music as only Ra could envision it, featuring him on piano along with the great Robert Barry on drums; on a few select tracks, the Arkestra is even backing The Cosmic Rays. Included here for your enjoyment and edification are two songs (the glorious title track & 'Chicago U.S.A.'), which were known to exist but thought to be lost forever — as well as 35 (!) other tracks."

BRÖTZMANN/BENNINK/VAN HOVE: FMP 130 CD (ATA 244). $14.00

"Long hailed as one of the great powerhouse groups of European free jazz — hear, for example, their gutwrenching 1970 debut Balls — the trio of German saxophonist Peter Brötzmann, Belgian pianist Fred Van Hove and Dutch percussionist Han Bennink waxed this (arguably their greatest) LP in a Bremen studio in 1973. Unlike other, more sprawling documents of the threesome, the self-titled record, now lovingly referred to by fans as its catalogue number, FMP 130 shows the breadth of moods and materials open to the group in a set of concise, powerful statements. Listen to Van Hove's masterful celeste, Brötzmann's bottomless bass saxophone and Bennink's unlimited well of junk percussion. Short tracks, a wide range of instruments, crisp German studio recording, and the classic cover with Brötzmann's distressed b&w photos, FMP 130 is a proud addition to the growing FMP Archive Edition."

MOHOLO/STABBINS/TIPPETT: Tern CD (ATA 245). $13.00

"Dateline - Berlin, 1982: Recorded in concert during Free Music Production's 'Total Music Meeting', Tern is the only document of this stunning, UK-focused trio. Hero to fans of free music and progressive rock alike, pianist Keith Tippett is a leading light of British new jazz and free improvisation, and he was also a member of classic mid-70s incarnations of King Crimson. South African drummer Louis Moholo (based for years in London) and the criminally overlooked soprano (and tenor) man Larry Stabbins (longterm saxophonist in the group Working Week and inscrutable improviser on the British scene), joined forces with Tippett for this glorious evening of in-depth interplay, originally released as a 2-LP set on the FMP sister-label SAJ."

BRÖTZMANN CLARINET PROJECT, PETER: Berlin Djungle CD (ATA 246CD). $14.00

"At JazzFest Berlin in 1984, Peter Brötzmann convened a once-in-a-lifetime ensemble, aiming to put a spotlight on the clarinet. The six (!) hand-picked clarinetists — not all of them always thought of as clarinetists — constitute one of the great 'strange bedfellows' groupings of all time. Simply to hear Brötzmann and John Zorn on the same stage requires quite an imagination (and this is the only such recording), but add to that the stupendous British jazzman Tony Coe (well known as the tenor saxophonist on Mancini's 'Pink Panther'), East German Ernst-Ludwig Petrowsky, French sophisticate Louis Slavis and Lower Eastsider J.D. Parran, and you've got quite a volatile cocktail. Sit them atop Cecil Taylor's rhythm section, Tony Oxley on drums and William Parker on bass, and add Toshinori Kondo (of Die Like a Dog fame) on trumpet, Johannes Bauer and Alan Tomlinson on trombones, and the lineup is unstoppable. The Brötzmann Clarinet Project performs a single, lengthy score by Brötzmann, and the results are as sensitive and poetic as they are incendiary, as befits the black wooden horn. Remastered from the original tapes, with Brötzmann's original cover design, Berlin Djungle is proudly presented as part of the FMP Archive Edition."

DUDEK/NIEBERGALL/VESALA: Open CD (ATA 247CD). $13.00

"Berlin, 1977: three masters of European free music convened for a triumvirate summit. Finnish drummer Edward Vesala, known in later years for his fiery big-band outings on ECM, was one of the pioneers of free jazz in Scandinavia, a tremendously sensitive percussionist and highly inventive kitsman who passed away 1999. Buschi Niebergall also died much too young (in the '80s), but he was a key bassist in the emergent German free jazz scene, playing with Peter Brötzmann, Manfred Schoof, Alex Schlippenbach, and many others. His German colleague, Gerd Dudek (here playing not only tenor sax, but also flutes and soprano saxophone), is a quiet hero of German jazz, a transitional figure on the cusp of free music with the Manfred Schoof Quintet in the mid-60s. He's sometimes compared to Clifford Jordan, a reference that makes sense, but he's also as wide open as the title of this great record suggests. This entry in the FMP Archive Edition, never before on CD, was remastered from the original tapes, with the original cover art. A little-known gem gets the polishing it deserves."

FOETUS INC.: Male DVD (ATA 2736 DVD). $20.00

"Recorded over several shows at legendary venues such as New York's CBGB & Chicago's Cabaret Metro in late 1990s, the Male DVD shows Foetus ripping through songs old and new, plus a few fun surprises along the way. This recording packs all the brutal, unrelenting punch and atmosphere of Foetus' studio work, while the band itself avoids slouching at any and all points. 75 minutes of CD quality live Foetus magic. The Foetus all-star big band includes members of Swans, Prong & Cop Shoot Cop." 75 min., NTSC all-region; 5.1 surround sound.

RA & HIS ARKESTRA, SUN: The Cry of Jazz DVD (ATA 2865 DVD). $20.00

"Filmed in Chicago, finished in 1959, the Cry of Jazz is filmmaker, composer and arranger Edward O. Bland's polemical essay on the politics of music and race, a forecast of what he called 'the death of jazz.' A landmark moment in black film, foreseeing the civil unrest of subsequent decades, it also features the only known footage of visionary pianist Sun Ra from his beloved Chicago period. Ample images of tenor saxophonist John Gilmore and the rest of Ra's Arkestra in Windy City nightclubs, all shot in glorious black & white. Rarely seen in cinemas, this is the first commercial release of the Cry of Jazz, transferred from a pristine print and featuring an otherwise unreleased Arkestral soundtrack." Region Zero; 35 min., 5.1 surround sound.

BRANCA: Symphony Nos. 8 & 10 Live at the Kitchen DVD (ATA 4378 DVD). $20.00

"The Branca Ensemble, captured at their biggest & most brutal performing his powerful elegies live in 1995, at NYC's then institution-of-the-moment, The Kitchen. Gorgeous 3-camera live shoot, excellent HEAVY sound courtesy Sir Wharton Tiers, handsome package." NTSC all-region, 70 min., 5.1 surround sound.

O.S.T.: DUTCH HARBOR: Where The Sea Breaks Its Back VHS (ATV 039). $18.00

"Dutch Harbor, located on Unalaska Island in the Aleutian Chain, has long been considered untamed territory...as far west as one could go, a place comprised of the harshest elements & hearty fishermen, with only the most minimal law & order. Now however, Dutch Harbor is a community in transition, as one of the last true bastions of frontierism becomes civilized by encroaching commercialization. Paved roads & fast food may soon become the norm in a place once known for rugged individualism & lawlessness. In winter '95, filmmakers Braden King & Laura Moya headed north to capture the essence of life in Dutch Harbor, loaded up with gear and prepared to face the same extreme climate to bring the story of Dutch Harbor: Where The Sea Breaks Its Back to filmic life. The soundtrack, released in spring '97 on Atavistic, provides a perfectly austere foil for King & Moya's beautifully icy, black & white pictures." Music performed by the Boxhead Ensemble (David Grubbs, Jim O'Rourke, Rick Rizzo, Ken Vandermark, Charles Kim, Douglas McCombs, etc.).

ATC (GERMANY):

REPEAT ORCHESTRA: Themes From Repeat CD (ATC 008 CD). $15.00

"Repeat Orchestra (aka Antonelli Electr.) On Themes from Repeat Stefan Schwander presents the purest form of his Electronic Soul, live-performance, orchestral, deep house. In a post-modern manner, Themes from Repeat operates opposite to the standard sampling clichés of 'cc' houstunes that we hear on each and every street corner these days. Repeat Orchestra is a one-man-band, who likes to express his 'personal soul' in music by bringing deep chords, live-played strings and repetitive moments together in his music. The result is a warm and wonderfully musical expression on the dancefloor and in the living room. Repeat Orchestra's album Themes from Repeat features the most outstanding tracks (plus one additional exclusive and unreleased track) from his previous four 12" releases. All four singles were extremely well-received by DJ's and journalists all over the world. Themes from Repeat combines soulful music, within a minimal music context with a bit of pop for both entertaining and elevation."

ATCO (GERMANY):

DR. JOHN: Babylon CD (ATCO 80438). $15.00

As with his classic debut, Gris Gris, the 2nd Dr. John album is not available on CD in the US, but here is a mid-line German pressing. Originally released by Atlantic/Atco in 1969, this is a primitively crafted blend of tranced-out low-key psychedelic rock, rippling jazz-like ambience and Southern-core character. The echo-max space-jazz breakdown in the "Twilight Zone" track is really especially exquisite. A fine overall advancement on the tribal psychosis of Gris Gris.

ATMA (CANADA):

RILEY, TERRY: In C CD (ATMA 22251). $15.00

"In C has been around for more than half my lifetime and is arguably the most performed piece of contemporary music in existence. I have had to live happily with its blessings and its curses even though its creation on a Spring night of 1964 took only a few hours to pen.

ATOC:*TOUCH OF CLASS: Sucks! CD (ATOC 9001CD). $16.00

"A Touch Of Class Sucks! is a multi-artist album of production and mixes by the two N.Y. based artists Oliver Stumm and Dominique Clausen aka A Touch Of Class released on their own label imprint ATOC Recordings. Bored with easy assembled lifestyles, magazine hype and industry compromises they've decided to create their own platform thus keeping total independence and control. They use the name A Touch Of Class as an umbrella for all their activities and interests such as music production, artwork, design of their website, their record label or creating their own installations and events. With educational backgrounds ranging from visual design to mathematics the two concentrate on product development and high craftsmanship rather than publicity hype and conventional marketing strategies." Artists: Scissor Sisters, A.R.E. Weapons, Manuel Mind & Valentino Tomasi, Hi Fi Serious, Klein & MBO, The Ones, Waldorf, The Fox, A Touch of Class, Secret Weapons, Pop Deluxe.

TOUCH OF CLASS: Sucks! 2LP (ATOC 9001LP). $14.00
Double LP version, gatefold sleeve.

ATOMIC RECORDINGS (BELGIUM):*CATHARS: Early Bells + Voices LP (ATOMIC 06). $11.00

"Timely LP of post-UVS/pre-Kyrie Eleison recordings (1996-1997) from our man in New York, Kurt Ralske, resident heir to live systems/computer-music myth (sticker, visible on the back of the laptop during concerts, reads: 'Actual Live Performance'), now dev-titan for the NATO video processing environ (but not party to its integer-poetry spouting progenitor, lest rumours lie). Nasty comparisons to Oval made in recent years (attributed to the rise of 2nd/3rd gen 'glitch' artists with which to be lumped) can be traced to far later sound-sets than these, more concerned with the hushed cathedral ambience/ghost voices of yonder (as in Medieval yonder) than anything remotely plunderphonic. A gorgeous statement; one of the more perfect Sunday comedowns (in lieu of worship proper) in an impossibly purple sleeve. Great." — Hrvatski.

ATTACK GOLD (UK):*VA: Roots - People - Music CD (ATTACK 004CD). $14.00

"Another fantastic mid-price collection of Bunny Lee mid/late 70's gems. Featuring Leroy Smart, I Roy, Johnny Clarke, Max Romeo, Ken Boothe, Horace Andy, Jah Stitch, Barry Brown, Linval Thompson, Cornel Campbell, Dillinger, and Jackie Edwards."

VA: Roots People Music Vol. 2 CD (ATTACK 007CD). $14.00

Nice mid-price selection of prime Bunny Lee mid/late 70's slices. Featuring Johnny Clarke, Ronnie Davis, Jah Stitch, Barry Brown, Paragons, Linval Thompson, Horace Andy and Dillinger.

MITTOO, JACKIE: Drum Song LP (ATTACK 008LP). $14.00
LP version.

MITTOO, JACKIE: Drum Song CD (ATTACK 009CD). $16.00

"Crucial mid-70's a Bunny Lee — produced set from Mid/One keyboard player and arranger. Tracks include: 'Darker Shade Of Black', 'Big Bad Organ', 'Hot Milk', 'Big Man', 'Execution', 'Jump The Fence', 'Champion Of Arena', 'Rockers Delight' and many, many more, including the title track."

AU GO GO (AUSTRALIA):*VENOM P. STINGER: Waiting Room CD5 (ANDA 137). $4.00

Warehouse leftovers of this four-track EP from 1991 Features Mick Turner & Jim White (pre-Dirty Three). Formed in 1985, this was their 4th release overall, following such classics as: Meet My Friend Venom LP, "Walking About/26 mg" 7", & Whats Yours Is Mine LP. Didn't sell at all locally (they are universally hated in their ready to be bombed homeland), so we were handed some of these at a low price.

AUDIKA RECORDS:*RUSSELL, ARTHUR: Calling Out of Context CD (AU 1001CD). $14.50

"When Arthur Russell died in 1992 he left an overwhelming archive of over a 1000 tapes that reveal the sublime genius of one of the most important musicians of the last 25 years. As a cellist, songwriter, composer, and disco visionary Arthur Russell consistently blurred the lines of our expectations of what pop music could be. Originally from Iowa, Arthur travelled west in 1970 to study Indian classical composition with Ali Akbar Khan, befriended Allen Ginsberg, performed with Alice Coltrane, and then moved to New York in 1973 to study at the Manhattan School of Music. Quickly gravitating to the then burgeoning downtown scene, Arthur wrote and performed his minimal compositions (captured on Instrumentals and Tower Of Meaning. Both to be re-issued by Audika) and collaborated with a who's who of some of New York's most influential artists including Rhy's Chatham, Ernie Brooks, David Byrne, Phillip Glass, Laurie Anderson, Jon Gibson, Robert Wilson, Christian Wolff, John Cage, Arnold Dreyblatt, and Phill Niblock. It then changed by a mere accident. Simply, he went to a disco. Inspired by the sonic repetition and sense of community, Arthur wrote and recorded some of the most important records of the disco era including 'Kiss Me Again', 'Is It All Over My Face', and co-founded Sleeping Bag Records with partner Will Socolov releasing 'Go Bang' and the album 24-24 Music. In 2002 Audika Records entered into an exclusive licensing agreement with the estate of Arthur Russell to issue previously unreleased and out of print material from Arthur's vast archive. The first album Calling Out Of Context, features 12 previously unreleased tracks recorded during Arthur's prime years 1985-90. The material is drawn from Corn, an album that was completed in 1985 but never released, and an abandoned album recorded for Rough Trade as Arthur had become ill. Many of these tracks show hidden sides of Arthur's talent and underline the loss of his great potential. Contrary by nature, Arthur's spontaneous reaction and altered perception to his environment produced music that remains challenging and contemporary. Arthur's open hearted attitude to music was far ahead of it's time, and now that time is ours."

RUSSELL, ARTHUR: Calling Out of Context 2LP (AU 1001LP). $21.00
Limited Edition double vinyl set with 16 page booklet.

AUDIO NL (NETHERLANDS):*DEUPREE, TAYLOR: Focux 12" (AUDNL 006). $9.00

"Straight (i.e. non-conceptual/perceptual/microsound/lowercase/etc ...) techno 4 tracker from this 12k-aligned/helming artist, full on resonant kick and mid range bleepage abound. A certain favorable rhythmic aptitude prevails throughout." — Hrvatski.

GOEM: ems eenlems twee 12" (AUDNL 007). $9.00

"Two tracks (one rather rumby, the other buzzy/pulse) from the trio of Frans de Waard, Roel Meelkop, and Peter Duimelinks. This stuff barely moves, most will doubt it's even music at that. Out memes Meme. Test your perception(s) of 'composition' and/or 'value'..." — Hrvatski. "ems een" originates from music made by Muslimgauze.

AUCH: Krautrock 12" (AUDNL 009). $9.00

"Cool follow-up to the Force Inc. album Kiss Tomorrow Goodbye; smart, elegant minimal techno." Produced by Ekkehard Ehlers.

MENS, RADBOUD: Mixdown NL 12" (AUDNL 010). $9.00

"Fragile click techno patterns by this Staalplaat artist. Advanced tools!"

DEUPREE, TAYLOR: Tokei 12" (AUDNL 013). $9.00

"Second EP by the 12K chief for Audio NL. Clicks & cuts that he fills with his own rhythms."

MOTOR: Gok 12" (AUDNL 014). $9.00

Third Motor 12" on Audio NL. "First new material since his legendary Hexen CD. 'Gok' seeks a more dubby Berlin-techno vibe."

STATIC: Static One 12" (AUDNL 015). $9.00

"Very soulful glitchtechno. Great Farben-related sounds, one of the strongest AudioNL releases."

SLO-FI: 12" (AUDNL 016). $9.00

"Subtle kicking techno release with a touch of acid and ambient. Mysterious."

MOTOR: Hexen CD (AUDNL 017). $16.00

1999 release, now repressed with an orange sleeve. Very heavy full length CD debut by this Russian techno artist known as Motor. Jubilant four-to-the-floor deepness, described by Kompakt's Michael Mayer as "maybe the most wicked and euphoric record on earth".

DEUPREE, TAYLOR: Print 12" (AUDNL 018). $9.00

"The returne of seriousness. Ultraminimal Sähkö-like techno."

RECHORD: Elover 12" (AUDNL 019). $9.00

"In 2001 Andreas Tilliander caught the attention of many with his album Ljud, released by the acclaimed German label Mille Plateaux. The album could probably be filed under the young genre 'click electronica', but instead of making an album based on clicks Tilliander was focusing on the rhythms and beats of hiphop but also on the baselines and echoes of dub. Rechord is Tilliander's latest project and is his most experimental, ambient and minimal work to date, without losing his feel for popmusic."

RECHORD: Skokoll CD (AUDNL 020 CD). $15.00

"A. Tilliander elicits the maximum abstraction and depth of sounds from his powerbook. Here, Andreas concerns himself with all things dub and electrix related. There's a real feeling of Andreas engaging with elements of dub and float, attaining jewels of melodic interest amidst expanses of tiny static hisses and whispers. Convincingly fine music."

RECHORD: Skokoll LP (AUDNL 020 LP). $12.00

LP version.

MENS, RADBOUD: 2 12" (AUDNL 021). $9.00

"Dogmatic click-techno. Dry as dust and groovy as hell. Profan-heads watch out."

MICHAUX: %20 CD (AUDNL 022 CD). $16.00

"Hailing from Detroit, one of the early capitals of techno, this is Michaux, monniker of Jimmy Edgar, who sees his first release on audio.nl. We are very proud to release these nine exciting tracks, that we were simply unable to put on vinyl, due to their extreme sounds. Running viral programs during his work on this music, Edgar has managed to incorporate glitch into the very matter of electronic music: the software. And in doing so, he has realised one of the finest releases on audio.nl."

JIRKU, TOMAS: We Call Them Acids 12" (AUDNL 023). $9.00

"Audio.NL presents Jirku's most recent slabs on minimal techno. As a true devotee of the label, Tomas Jirku sure adds his own blend to the style. A crowd pleaser with every live performance, Jirku is sure to treat the audience with his latest developments on the leading edge of the minimal techno movement, mixed with his own brand of techno nostalgia. Despite the visual limits of entertaining an audience with a laptop, Jirku manages to hold the crowd's attention with his upbeat mixes. He's even been known to throw in his own one-off remixes of dance music classics most of us are embarrassed to recognize. By the end of his live sets, the audience has been treated to mix of intricate experimentation and booty shaking funk, and is grinning ear to ear."

KOMET: Go! 12" (AUDNL 025). $9.00

"On this latest slab for Audio.NL, Komet has recovered some left over loops of forgotten projects, covered in dust, from his hard disk and recycled them into four beautiful, hypnotically buzzing tracks for everyday use. They click, they rustle and above all: they mesmerize! These are all perfect for the start or the end of every party."

ILAR, ANDERS: Same 12" (AUDNL 026). $9.00

"Four new tracks from one of Audio.nl's biggest fans. Two tracks are in the more dubby techno field, and the other two show his more ambient side, which has received a lot of attention lately from listeners world wide. What you have here is a mini ambient miracle, filled with enough dynamics and pulses to delight the dance crew, but having enough depth and texture for the listening fraternity. And isn't that exactly what Audio.nl is all about?"

ILAR, ANDERS: Senare 12" (AUDNL 027). $9.00

"Anders Ilar is back with four deep dark breathing tracks for cold late nights. 'Senare' has all the depth and bass from it's untitled predecessor times two, but less of everything else. Dystopic and reduced to nothing but frostbitten asphalt and distant memories."

AUDIO RESEARCH:*DJ CRAZE: Rugged Radio Saturday CD (AUDIOR 001 CD). $16.00

"The label owners are DMC, ITF and Vestax world champion DJ A-Trak, his brother Dave One, rap editor at Vice magazine, and former Rawkus art director Willo. With its series of critically acclaimed singles and battle records, Audio Research has crafted a unique aesthetic which combines hard-edged, true school beats, non-sense rhymes, turntablism and avant-garde artwork. As their first CD release, Rugged Radio Saturday is an introduction to what Audio Research has been up to for the last five years or so. It includes some of AR's best selling singles as well as a bunch of new and unreleased tracks. Three time world DMC champion and friend of the Audio Research family, DJ Craze takes on turntable duties for the album and reminds you just how damn skilled he is, whether he's creating battle routines or letting the songs breathe, as he does here, creating a seamless mix of cuts and blends."

AUDIO SCIENCE LABORATORY (JAPAN):

TOMITA, YANN: An Adventure of Inevitable Chance CD (ASL 5809). $30.00

"The ultra rare, hard to find legendary Yann Tomita's second and third live album is set to be released officially for the first time on a 2 in 1 CD. This is a must have recording for all music fans. Just imagine if Carl Craig, Jimi Hendrix, Miles Davis, DJ Premier, Herbie Hancock, Sun Ra, & Maurizio got together in a temple in Kyoto. For the ultimate trip-out with Terence McKenna reciting a speech to one thousand trappist monks on a sun-drenched afternoon. Well, you get the picture. Yann Tomita's music legacy for the past 15 years has influenced countless musicians, DJs, journalists, and fans alike. He has influenced you subliminally as well. Astro Age Steel Orchestra, Doopees (which was just sampled by none other than Mr. Oizo), and his mega 4 CD box set (featuring hip hop pioneer Grandmaster Flash's pulse while he is DJing). As the title of this album suggests, magic music of the spheres: heartbeat mind manifest. You too can experience Yann Tomita's magical source, a live album that you have never heard before, performed in the present and perhaps in the future as well. Full of the latest Japanese hardware and synthesizers at the time (basically the most expensive gear and coolest by today's standards) and the most bizarre musical situations ever to be orchestrated. If you thought that James Brown, Miles Davis, Fela Kuti & Frank Zappa whipped up a storm in their bands, catch Yann in action. Pure electronic, psychedelic acid rock for the beyond generation."

AUDIOH! RECORDINGS (UK):*SCHAEFER, JANEK: Skate/Rink LP + 3" CD (AUDIOH 011). $19.00

"The original concept for the Skate LP was to make a record that usurped the deterministic spiral (and the 'anti-skate' mechanism) as a way of playing and listening to sound on vinyl. To do this I developed the 'Fragmented' cutting technique, a method of cutting a concentric collage of individual short 'sound scars' onto the disc. When played, the stylus navigates it's own random path across this intermittent terrain of physical/sonic diversions. The type of record player, its speed and the user will all affect the result and thus each and every playback of the LP will elicit a different composition. Rink is a composition using sounds sourced from the LP combined with live room recordings taken from the Skate Installation at Triskel Arts, in Cork, Ireland, August 2001. The CD started with a single copy of the LP. Firstly, 60 rhythmic and textural sound events were recorded by playing the LP on the Tri-Phonic Turntable in different ways. 30 silent tracks of varying lengths were then added to create a master source CD. A copy of this CD was then loaded into 3 CD players and broadcast in random mode and recorded together. A copy of the installation room recording was then added and the result was then melded 'on screen'. Rink was composed in spring 2002 by the invitation of Staalplaat."

SCHAEFER, JANEK: Pulled Under CD (AUDIOH 012). $15.00

"New full length and follow up to Above Buildings album for Fatcat a year ago (which was awarded an 'honorary mention' at the Prix Ars Electronica) Pulled Under forms an enveloping and dense stream of macrosonic soundscapes. Navigating fluidly through a series of absorbing and granular abstract environments."

SCHAEFER, JANEK: On/Off LP (AUDIOH 09). $13.00

"This record develops my invented 'eccentric' [off-centre] cutting technique into a more purely sonic/scientific based project, leaving 'music' to one side. The one sided LP has just two 'tracks' or cuts [each ending in locked grooves] which both contain the same continuous full frequency drone/tone sourced from a test tone 45 played at 8 rpm. In this instance the inner track is cut symmetrically, and on the same side the outer track is cut off centre which turns the identical 'monotonous' stereo tone/drone into a pronounced sine wave sound as the arm sways from side to side. The release comes in a numbered edition of 280, in see through faintly sepia toned vinyl with full colour labels, packaged in minimal white spined, hand scalpel cut sleeves. This LP is one in a series of records which aims to re-examine the potential of vinyl to alter sound through the processes of manufacturing and play back. The next in the series 'Skate' will be cut using short scars of textural sound which allow the tone arm to navigate freely across the disc."

AUDIOSPHERE (BELGIUM):*JECK, OTOMO YOSHIHIDE & MARTIN TETREAULT, PHILIP: Invisible Architecture 01 CD (AS 001CD). $14.00

"Audiosphere is a new label what was made possible by collaborations between Audioview and Sub Rosa — to explore the most innovative aspects of the electronic scene today, we have create a brand new live series — including some original collaborations between musicians — called Invisible Architecture. This is a new series devoted to specific live events, often involving special collaborations between two or three musicians offering pieces of a primarily unreleased nature; and in appreciation of such urgent creativity. We have chosen to document and honor such recordings with this original series. What we present here are innovative and unique recordings which retain all the magic of each event, by utilizing new bio-aural technics. This recording is a fabulous electronic improvisation with and between the 3 masters with 30 minutes of pure joy. A great unpublished work from the Brussels 2000 sessions: one of the participants is Philip Jeck. After studying visual arts at Dartington College in Devon, Jeck began a performance career that found him at art galleries. In similar territory to Christian Marclay, et dans une ceratien mesure John Oswald, Philip Jeck is an avant-garde turntablist, plunderphonic sample terrorist and performance artist whose most famous installation, Vinyl Requiem, included no less than 180 turntables."

VAINIO & CHRISTIAN FENNESZ, MIKA: Invisible Architecture 02 CD (AS 002CD). $14.00

"Audiosphere is a new label what was made possible by collaborations between Audioview and Sub Rosa, it could explored all forms of electronic and improvised music. — to explore the most innovative aspects of the electronic scene today, we have create a brand new live series — including some original collaborations between musicians — called Invisible Architecture. Invisible Architecture is a new series devoted to specific live events, often involving special collaborations between two or three musicians offering pieces of a primarily unreleased nature; and in appreciation of such urgent creativity. We have chosen to document and honor such recordings with this original series. Mika Vainio is one of the 2 heads of Pan Sonic — active as performer, solo or in short collaboration. He is also involved in installations and performances at Museums and Galleries. Pan Sonic have remained, over recent years, as one the most interesting electronic bands, alongside artists such as Autechre and Oval. Christian Fennesz began as guitarist and became one of the most brilliant improvisers with a powerbook. He is highly appreciated by artists such as Jim O'Rourke, and has developed a great science of the de-structured sound. His last CD on Mego Endless Summer was highly acclaimed. The recording contains two unpublished works from the Brussels 2000 sessions (30 minutes by Vainio alone + 30 minutes of Vainio & Fennesz). Highly abstract and obsessive (in total: 66 minutes)."

SCHAEFER, JANEK: Le Petit Theatre De Mercelis CD (AS 003CD). $14.00

"The third opus in the 'Invisible Architecture' series is a recording by musician, sounddesigner and architect Janek Schaefer, who is experimenting with sounds created by modified turntables and custom made vinyl manipulations. Invisible Architecture 03 was recorded live in Brussels on the 21/22 April 2002."

JELINEK & COMPUTER SOUP, JAN: Improvisations & Edits, Tokyo 09.26.2001 CD (AS 004CD). $14.00

"What happens when leading German click-house/electronica artist Jan Jelinek (aka Farben, Gramm), and the Japanese trio Computer Soup, with their unique style of electrified jazz meet? Particles of electronic sound reverberate with each other to create a beautiful, sometimes humorous, and powerful soundscape, that is a must-hear masterpiece album. In association with the Japanese label Soup-Disk, Audiosphere is proud to present Jan Jelinek and Computer Soup's collaboration album entitled Improvisations & Edits, Tokyo 09/26/2001. Jelinek and Pole came to Japan in September 2001 to perform incredible live sets at Club Yellow in Tokyo, and that is where the improvisations by Computer Soup and Jelinek used on this record took place. Jan was a fan of Computer Soup's album Toizarasi, and had been fascinated by their sound from before. Jan and Computer Soup utilized the recording of this improve session by editing them to create the eight tracks (including one secret track) that are on this album. The word improve doesn't mean scattered, confused, and unorganized sounds. Both Jan and Computer Soup had developed a mutual sonic understanding for each other in the short span of this improvisation session, which enabled them to create many unforgettable phrases and rhythms in the performance. These are sounds that could not have been possibly made by one person sitting in front of a computer, and that is why there are so many unpredictable changes and rhythmic elements which make this such an organic record. Be ready to be pulled into a world of sound that virtually transcends the passing of time."

MICROSTORIA: Invisible Architecture 03 CD (AS 005CD). $14.00

"Microstoria is a collaboration between Markus Popp (Oval) and Jan St. Werner (Mouse On Mars). Their common work sounds like an electronic 'soundtrack', deconstructing the structures and recomposing, re-inventing new textures to create the perfect melody. Their micro-stories are about new languages, new way of expressing the music itself, guiding it to unknown territories. Through echoing machines, Popp and St. Werner are developing the sound of abstract organicity. Invisible Architecture 04 was recorded at Kaaitheaterstudio, Brussels, summer, 2000. This concert was a longtime awaited event, part of the 'Invisible Architecture' series. This tenuous claim to melodic content — based on a tidy collage, based on crackles and static, is the testimony of a pure delightful moment."

AMBARCHI/G. MULLER/ VOICE CRACK, OREN: Oystered CD (AS 006CD). $14.00

"Take three Swiss tourists (Andy Guhl & Norbert Möslang aka Voice Crack and Gunter Müller). Feed them top notch Sydney rock oysters, fine Hunter Valley wines and get them into a recording studio with Oren Ambarchi. That was the challenge. This is the record. If Ambarchi, Müller and the Crack have one thing in common (beyond gastronomic excess), it is their ability to get extraordinary sounds out of everyday objects. This one day recording session at Big Jesus Burger in Sydney highlights the mutual approach they share. There's such cohesion, wholeness and single mindedness to these pieces that makes identification of the individuals involved virtually impossible. So forget the 'Who's Doing What?' game. Close your eyes and play 'Where The Hell Am I?' Rainforest, glacier, casino, ship's hull, bowling alley or five star restaurant? Personnel: Oren Ambarchi: Guitar & Electronics, Günter Müller: Selected Percussion, MD's, Electronics, Voice Crack: Cracked Everyday - Electronics."

SCANNER & STEPHEN VITIELLO: Scanner & Stephen Vitiello CD (AS 007CD). $14.00

"Scanner and Stephen Vitiello are both recognized for their shared sensitivity to sound and space. Through recorded works, performances and installations they explore a world that shifts between digital pop culture and visual arts. These live performances capture two live improvisations between the artists, musical acrobats without the net beneath them. Recorded in New York City these recordings present a world of shifting, organic sound, one indoors at the esteemed Knitting Factory, the other on the roof top of a skyscraper, the sun brightly spinning across their machines."

DEUPREE/CHRISTOPHER WILLITS, TAYLOR: Taylor Deupree/Christopher Willits CD (AS 008CD). $14.00

"This music grew out of a late November 2002 performance and studio improvisation in NYC. Deupree's Stil, and Willits Folding, and the Tea had just been released on 12k, and a release party had been scheduled at Tonic in NYC. Willits flew in town for the show. The night was beautiful, and music was recorded. Later that week, Willits and Deupree set up a processing system in Taylor's Brooklyn studio. It consisted of Willits' guitar, folding through his own software system, and then resynthesized through Deupree's kyma processing. Jamming late into the night turned into hours of raw material. Deupree and Willits then edited the recordings into 10 track foundations, and finalized the tracks individually, 3000 miles apart. The final CD contains excerpts from the live recordings at Tonic in NYC, and their favorite finished pieces from the original studio collaboration. You can trace each artist's solo approach to performance in their respective live sets, and hear how those methods, sounds, and processes blend together within the studio improvisations. The collaboration is a hybrid of Deupree's keen timing and sensitivity to the microprocessing of sounds, and Willits' folded guitar playing and flowing harmonic sensibilities. The CD drifts into new sonic territory for both artists, and establishes a foundation for Willits' new melodic arrangements and Deupree's growing interest in live instrumentation."

AUDIOVIEW (BELGIUM):*MATTHEWS/NEWMAN, HAYLEY, KAFFE: Pointy Stunt CD (AUDIO 006 CD). $15.00

"Audio documentation of 3 collaborative concert events (10/98 Rhiz Vienna, 12/98 Strike London, 11/99 DiYpic London) by Matthews (previous 3 CDs: Anne/Bea/Cecilie of Violin/Macintosh on the Annette Works label) and Newman (co-organized the 'Rude Mechanic' event which yielded the 2CD set of the same name featuring everyone from Pan(a)sonic — who were the main commissioned collaborators — to Bruce Gilbert, Scanner, SFT, David Cunningham, Jimi Tenor, etc...). Mostly crackle and rumbling, artefacts of contact mic'd/digitally-processed-in-real-time clothes (full-body velcro body suit with 14 mic's sewn in), accessories (depending on your view; stiletto heel shoes with motors), and various bric-a-brac (two sets of digital weighing scales). Perfectly meditative sound exercises to dwell on. Quite lovely." — Hrvtski.

ALEJANDRA & UNDERWOOD: Cities and Clothes CD (AUDIO 009 CD). $15.00

"Also known as Aeron Bergman and Alejandra Salinas, known as the founders and operators of the Lucky Kitchen label. In general, they are applying their unique musical vision to the everyday moments that make life so special (childhood tape experiments, for example). They've displayed their sound and video work from New York to Paris, London, and Copenhagen. This album reflects their new work, a compilation of live recordings made in the past year, and formed into fascinating sound sculptures, spoken word excerpts, and distant atmospheres & dreamy scapes."

PRICE, ANTON: The Collapse of the State Vector CD (AUDIO 010 CD). $15.00

"After two highly successful EPs on his own label Tryptamine and a remarkable debut on Audioview called Double Slith EP we are proud to unleash Anton Price's debut full album. A.k.a. Dagobert Sondervan, the guy's influences come from a wide range of musical styles and are very important in his current career as an IDM/electro/electronic producer. Polyrhythmic structures, minimal voyages, evolving melodies (an AP trademark), live drumming, postpre-elektro, black dogism and breakbeats are all there to be discovered by you. This artist never limits himself to one thing, but that he himself is the eclecticism within the electronic music scene."

PRICE, ANTON: The Collapse of the State Vector 2LP (AUDIO 010 LP). $14.00
Double LP version.

AUDITORIUM (ITALY):

MOORE/WALTER PRATI/GIANCARLO SCHIAFFINI, THURSTON: 3 Incredible Ideas CD (AU 03). $15.00

"New collaboration of Sonic Youth guitarist Thuston Moore with double bass player Walter Prati and Giancarlo Schiaffini (an Italian top jazz musician). The album (recorded live and then completed/finished in the studio) contains 3 long electronic pieces." Thurston Moore (electric guitar, electronic devices), Walter Prati (cello, 6 string el. bass), electronics), Giancarlo Schiaffini (trombone, electronics).

AUDRAGLINT:

CHARLES ATLAS: Fabricate CD (AG 019CD). $13.00

"Our latest release is an superb collection of remixes of Charles Atlas' most recent full-length, Worsted Weight on Ochre Records. Fabricate features a mix of rare appearances from accomplished artists as well as a fresh crop of up-and-coming sound designers. These contributors forego the standard extended dance mix or unrecognizable glitch abstractions of most remixing, and maintain the sense of composition inherent to Charles Atlas' work throughout. These lifting figures dipped in needle fluff ring out, evoking a response that is rare to this type of release. A moving, pleasing listen from start to finish." Remixers: Sybarite, Casino vs Japan, The Telescopes, Pram, Park Avenue Music, Signaldrift, Strategy, Isan, Stendec, Magnetophone, Marconi Union, Telefunken, Nudge.

FONTANELLE: F LP (AG 102). $11.00

"The music on F is taken from various sessions over Fontanelle's three years, reflecting a variety of moods. By turns wirey and rubbery, the three keyboardist, two drummer, two guitarist line up creates complex, syncopated tunes that reveal the band members' experience in improvised music, electric drone, left-field electronic, and noise electronics." [CD version is on Kranky]. Limited remaining stock.

AUFTRIEB (GERMANY):

WASSERMANN: Ende Der Schonzeit 12" (AUFTRIEB 11). $9.00

"Brilliant bone-breaking shuffle-techno & rectangle-noise-disco by W. Voight."

HEIB: Cargo 12" (AUFTRIEB 12). $9.00

"808, the queen. Where has she been? Even machines do need a break sometimes. So she went to the countryside, and took some fresh air in the forest. Jochen Heib has been looking after her, and now, he brings her back into the world of senses and plug-ins. Through the woods and the sound of crunching snow. And surrounded by a mystical breeze, they are both descending to the valley of Cologne. Cargo is the celebratory come-back of analogue sensuality. Tradition can't be more beautiful. New energy running through old tubes. Acid without 303. Three deep cheers and a sexy tiger!"

GRUMMICH, PETER: Squeeze 12" (AUFTRIEB 13). $9.00

"Berlin based Peter Grummich already showed his talent for Minimal Techno on his Shitkatapult, Kompakt and Sender releases. His new 12" on Auftrieb has all the qualities that one expects of outstanding Techno: Mean and kicking grooves, noises, humor and originality."

HEIB: Tage Danach 12" (AUFTRIEB 14). $9.00

"Three great Minimal House tracks can be found on Heib's new 12" for the Kompakt sub-label Auftrieb. The mood is dark and the subtle tracks slowly build a magnetic tension."

GWOSDZ, THOMAS: Feuerwalze 12" (AUFTRIEB 15). $9.00

"The title says it all and so does the artist. This record will knock you off your feet. This really fat bulldozer track comes along like T.rex in disco boots, size 54, made of sparkling Strass Beton and will knock down your house. Well, but who cares? Why do you stand around here? And by the way ? why not scrape off the heavy burial make-up from Marilyn Manson's visage? Tainted love, baby. Your arse will become boiling hot."

FREILAND: Remixe 12" (AUFTRIEB 16). $9.00

"Who doesn't remember Freiland — one of Profan's sublabels with hi-hat-free theory rock releases which could be called the unofficial successor of the studio 1 Series. Then and now worth a dancing hypothesis. Apart from the spring cleaned original version (Freiland — 'Green'), you'll get remixes by two most bizarre landmines who must be off their rockers... Dieter Gorny, also known as managing director of a Cologne-based entertainment company, is dashing bare-assed over the frozen stubble field and even Johnny 'jackass Knoxville' would get the creeps. Finest, snottiest Auftrieb stuff. As if he had invented it. But then.... Jens harkel! Good old chap! Ye gods and little fishes! After several years in captivity, the artificial throat of generation Tekkno is rising again to speak into our groan-sticky ears. This land is your land — this land is my land — there is only one land — and this land is called Freiland. A fab, fat, buzzing sawtooth. Hey, two Jaegermeister, please."

S.R.I.: Songs To Remember-Remixes 12" (AUFTRIEB 17). $9.00

"Original, Joachim Spieth remix, Reinhard Voight remix."

DORNHAGEN, VOLKER: MIOINIITIOIR 12" (AUFTRIEB 18). $9.00

"They are pierced, they have silicon lips and they think it's 'natural'. They talk about sex at an age when their parents used to play with dolls and matchbox cars. Flirts are SMS messages and if they need a boy/girlfriend, they check the WWW. Well, youngsters are different nowadays. They grow up in an interactive world governed by mobility and flexibility. With endless opportunities to be seized. And out of this new freedom emerges a new moral concept. Many of you may think that egoism and fun are their driving force. But this wrong and simply a prejudice. While being self-centered and consuming, they still stick to traditional values like reliability, purposefulness and social sense. This might sound contradictory, but fact is that they are only facing tomorrow's network culture. In contrast to the generation of their parents, today's youngsters are using better strategies to cope with the complexity of modern life. Adults, you'd better listen and learn."

FUCHSBAU: Null/Eins 12" (AUFTRIEB 19). $9.00

New Wolfgang Voigt project. Features mixes by: M:I:5 and Wassermann. "Fuchsbau is a disco saw somewhere between Mike Ink and Wassermann. Fuchsbau is the launch of the black series on Auftrieb. Geat disortet sound sculptures with wild acid touch, floor food for gour-ments."

SPIETH, JOACHIM: Schlag auf Schlag 12" (AUFTRIEB 20). $9.00

"Yet I felt drunken by his eyes that could melt even the biggest goldnugget and by the way he was talking about heaven and earth and life inbetween. Eventually, you can only enjoy goodlooking boys from a certain distance, but when they start talking, you start crying. But what came after the kiss did not make me feel like writing a letter of complaint neither to his mother nor to the Good Lord...rather a letter of thanks. Two heartbeats later, when I finally got rid of my trousers, I knew it: If music was sex than, damned, this guy would be Beethoven. Apart from the simple fact that Beethoven did not write his 9th Symphony with his tongue, I suppose..."

HEIB: Akrobat 12" (AUFTRIEB 21). $9.00

"At first, there was only a small bunch of people: five, ten or twelve, but not more. Neither was there any announcement, nor did anyone expect anything. But suddenly, there are masses, black masses of people... Many people simply don't know what exactly had happened, they have no answers, but they all are hurrying to the place where everybody is....you think that one movement is communicating with the others, but this is not the point: it's the goal they all have in common. And it's there even before anyone has found the right words to express it. And this goal is the darkest-black location where most people meet."

BLITZ: This Is How Things Are! 12" (AUFTRIEB 22). $9.00

"Who am I in a social world where the main features are dramatically changing due to individualization, pluralisation and globalization? Identity is a subjective construction process where the subject tries to find the balance between inner and outer worlds. But how does it manage to create a coherent form for itself in a fragmented and contradictory world? Blitz shows how the components of identity, i.e. work, love, social relationships and cultural positioning, can be connected in order to construct a coherent and consistent patchwork of a self that makes the subject capable of action and reaction. Blitz also shows that this construction process follows an understandable, inner logic and that this process requires social, mental as well as material resources. In post-modernity, the identity-forming process does not degenerate into a postmodern arbitrariness, but rather constitutes an active effort that can be regarded as a chance for the subject. This is how things are!"

SPIETH, JOACHIM: Und Kein Ende 12" (AUFTRIEB 23). $9.00

"Spieth stays on the fast lane... storming harsh techno with heart and soul and trancey elements."

AUGEN (JAPAN):

SUPERBALL: Teenage Superstar On Stage VHS (AUGEN 002). $24.00

Super Ball are a largely female trio who are somewhat legendary for their anti-music gestures, cuddly behavior and stunning theatrics. This 45 minute video supposedly documents an entire tour of short sets. Guitars are held and occasionally strummed in narcoleptic fashion. Rope is jumped. Ducks quack. You get the idea. Proposed double album on Ecstatic Peace doesn't seem to exist yet, but it's not like you can prove it.

ATEM, ZIGGY: Dry Ice System: Music Of Death VHS (AUGEN 004). $20.00

Thirty-three minute presentation of a ridiculously fucked Japanese cult alien from outer space, with his band CIA Dry Ice System (including a transvestite dancer "who danced like a fallen Kabuki angel waiting for the space age messiah"). "Ziggy Atem is a schizophrenic who has spent time in and out of mental hospitals. He claims he (is) an alien from outer space who is living on earth. Maybe the world isn't ready for Ziggy Atem yet."

TRI: Unlucky World VHS (AUGEN 005). $20.00

Live machine/fire performance by an Australian Survival Research-like group.

JON: Jon's Black Ball VHS (AUGEN 006). $24.00

Jon is a Japanese woman who plays a pipe organ and sings about her dog in a teeny-tiny voice. She wears a dog suit while doing this, to the sound of no hands clapping. It's vaguely cuddly, but odd at the same time. She has one self-released CD and a CD on Tzadik.

YAMAMOTO, SEIICHI: Solo Improvisado VHS (AUGEN 013). $22.00

"Yamamoto (Boredoms/Omoide Hatoba) solo improvisation. He plays guitar, piano, drums, microphone. Sleeve design by Akifumi Nakajima (G.R.O.S.S.). Liner notes by Thurston Moore."

AUM FIDELITY:

WARE QUARTET, DAVID S.: Wisdom Of Uncertainty CD (AUM 001). $13.00

New label run by the ex-head of Homestead records, which will continue the documentation of Ware, Joe Morris, William Parker, etc. Wisdom... features the quartet of Ware (ts), Matthew Shipp (p), William Parker (b) & Susie Ibarra (d). Studio recordings from 12/96.

PARKER/THE LITTLE HUEY CREATIVE MUSIC ORCHESTRA, WILLIAM: Sunrise In The Tone World 2CD (AUM 002/3). $16.00

Second CD by Wm. Parker's large-scale ensemble, a 2 CD set from their 1995 live season. Up to 28 musicians contribute, including Roy Campbell, Lewis Barnes, Masahiko Kono, Steve Swell, Rob Brown, Marco Eneidi, Richard Keene, Assif Tsahar, Gregg Bendian, Susie Ibarra, Jason Hwang, John King, etc. "When sound vibrates at a certain level, we can see a corridor. At the end of this corridor is a room where all the secrets of life are kept. This room is locked and can only be opened through sound. If we play the right combination of tones the door opens and we are allowed to enter the room. Once inside, a secret of life is revealed to us. Every time we play music we can enter this room." —Wm. Parker.

MORRIS TRIO, JOE: Antennae CD (AUM 004). $11.00

The trio of Morris (guitar), Nate McBride (acoustic bass) & Jerome Deupree (drums). "Joe Morris is one of the rare ones. A player who sets up great challenges for himself, and proceeds to meet them head on with resounding success. He plays the guitar like no one else can play; for comparative description, it's actually easier to refer to a horn player like Jimmy Lyons than any other guitarist in the history of the music. Playing with a very clean tone (no fx boxes, no pedals), his work builds energy through precise articulation and phrasing, rather than volume or other theatrics. Actually, the fretboard leaps unleashed to actualize the phrasing in his music often times seem impossible, or at the very least, superhuman. At this point however, it all flows very naturally from Joe Morris."

DICKEY TRIO, WHIT: Transonic CD (AUM 005). $11.00

First session as a leader from the drummer associated with David S. Ware & Matthew Ship. With Rob Brown (as, fl), Chris Lightcap (b).

OTHER DIMENSIONS IN MUSIC: Now! CD (AUM 006). $11.00

2nd album by the grouping of Roy Campbell Jr. (tp, flugelhorn, pocket trumpet), Daniel Carter (as, ts, fl, tp), William Parker (b) & Rashied Bakr (d). Parker: "The idea of making marathon jams cohesive came from an idea I've had since the '70s about being able to play a ballad all night long. You know how [pianist] Paul Bley used to play those short ballads that were so arresting? I just thought 'what if you could play ballads — like [Bley's] — that would never never end?' Once I heard [trumpeter] Art Farmer play a whole set's worth of interesting solos n the same tempo. He just kept turning it over and over. It's easy to play something fast, then something slow, whatever, but is it possible to just stay in one groove — one color — and burn? No dead spaces, no lulls. Now that's a challenge."

VA: Vision Volume One 2CD (AUM 007/8). $25.00

Compilation of exclusive recordings from the Second Annual Vision Festival in NYC, May 1977. Mainly released as a benefit to be sold at the 1998 festival, the remaining unsold copies are available for distribution for a brief period. Features: John Zorn/Susie Ibarra, William Parker, Thurston Moore/Lawrence Cook/Jon Voigt, Rob Brown/Matthew Shipp, David S. Ware, Rashied Ali, Butch Morris, Assif Tsahur w/ John Tchicai and more.

MORRIS QUARTET, JOE: A Cloud Of Black Birds CD (AUM 009). $11.00

"The brand new vanguard body of work from Joe Morris, the most distinctive guitarist composing and performing today. This quartet, also featuring the mighty talent of Mat Maneri on violin is capable of delivering cosmic beauty with a wide and rousing swing. Each player creating their own orbit; the band itself a whole new planetary system with the elemental Sun of Music at it's center." With Chris Lightcap (bass) & Jerome Deupree (drums).

PARKER/IN ORDER TO SURVIVE, WILLIAM: The Peach Orchard 2CD (AUM 010/11). $18.00

"The other of William's tow group's as a leader (the first being The Little Huey Creative Music Orchestra). In Order To Survive is living breathing actualization unit for musical ideas which William Parker has for small jazz group ensemble playing." Features Cooper-Moore (piano), Rob Brown (alto sax), & Susie Ibarra (drums).

TEST: CD (AUM 012). $11.00

"Marked by the near constant interweaving of the front-line (as opposed to solo trading between the horns), and a far ranging textural diversity (due in part to the multiple wind instruments mastered by Daniel and Sabir), Test is a collective creative improvising quartet based out of the NYC underground: figuratively and most often literally. They have performed on a weekly basis+ basis for the past couple of years in the NYC subway; filling the rushing commuters various selves with anything ranging from joy to confusion; flustered looks to looks of revelation; responses depending of course on their attendant baggage." Sabir Mateen (as, ts, fl, cl), Daniel Carter (ts, as, fl, tp), Tom Bruno (d), Matthew Heyner (b).

OTHER DIMENSIONS IN MUSIC: SPECIAL QUINTET WITH MATTHEW SHIPP: Time Is Of The Essence: The Essence Is Beyond Time CD (AUM 013). $13.00

"The music on this CD is at the vanguard of the distinctly Afro-American means of expression known as jazz. Jazz being a language that has been updated and advanced through the work of true giants of music throughout this century. The music herein quite readily represents the vanguard of organized sound as well. And voiced with an eloquence, lucidity, and passion that is, to the point, unparalleled. Taking into account that this music is created without precognition of any kind, the profundity of its rhythmic and harmonic advances is made even more remarkable." Roy Campbell (trumpet, flugelhorn, pocket trumpet), Daniel Carter (alto/tenor sax, flute, trumpet), Matthew Shipp (piano), William Parker (bass), Rashid Bakr (drums).

MORRIS/MAT MANERI, JOE: Soul Search CD (AUM 014). $11.00

"Two of the world's greatest soul improvisers and technical prodigies on their respective instruments act upon a long-standing desire to set up microphones, press record on the reels, and unleash a series of fully improvised theatres of sound. Subtlety and nuance and listening rule. Journeys into uncharted territories abound." Morris (electric guitar), Maneri (electric violin).

PARKER & LITTLE HUEY CREATIVE MUSIC ORCHESTRA, WILLIAM: Mayor of Punkville 2CD (AUM 015/16). $18.00

"Bassist/composer/poet/ultra-deep human William Parker held a monthly series at NYC's Tonic last summer/fall with his 16 piece Creative Music Orchestra. These shows were all recorded, and this majestic selector set is the result. This is the followup to 1997's universally acclaimed 2CD set Sunrise In The Tone World."

PARKER & HAMID DRAKE, WILLIAM: Piercing The Veil CD (AUM 017). $13.00

(Drums, bass, balafon, tablas, bombard, bells, shakahachi, dumbek). "When Hamid and William first met, it was as long lost brothers. Two giants; cloth cut from the same patch of stars. A perfect union of infinite rhythm and other-worldly song. Piercing The Veil represents their first communion as a duo; fully improvised, from here to eternity."

MORRIS, JOE: Singularity CD (AUM 018). $11.00

"After a brief breather, a season two past, and the hub-hub of a great old chosen frozen turned to hubris: Joe Morris sat down with his steel string acoustic and flew. West Africa is in the living room. Devastating technique is in ample evidence, but of course, that's not the point. Here then, ten excursions in elevation. Six strings versus ten fingers; brilliant beauty."

DAVID S. WARE QUARTET: Corridors & Parallels CD (AUM 019). $13.00

"After a decade+ of top operation, and a dozen profound albums to prove it, we have here the very highly anticipated album #13 from the David S. Ware Quartet. This album is a 'first' for Ware in a number of important ways; perhaps the most compelling is his incorporation of synthesizer into the sonic template. This marks pianist Matthew Shipp's recorded debut on the instrument."

NOMMONSEMBLE, THE: Life Cycle CD (AUM 020). $13.00

Whit Dickey (drums), Rob Brown (alto sax, flute), Matthew Shipp (piano), Mat Maneri (viola). "Whit Dickey returns to AUM with this tremendous new ensemble and an exquisite sound cycle. His abiding interest in the ancient essence of life which breathes freely in wide-open spaces — uncluttered by static — is here reflected. The Nommonsemble is the first time that all four players have worked together as one. The resulting Music resonates and radiates in ways unique to the sonic palette presently available to us."

ORGANIC GROOVES: Black Cherry CD (AUM 021). $13.00

"A club remix album of the infinite grooves on Piercing The Veil by William Parker & Hamid Drake was intended from the beginning. For the past 6 years the Organic Grooves Collective has been holding Friday night parties all over NYC. Created by a collective of DJs and musicians, the Organic Grooves sound blends live instrumentation with original tracks and mixes tribal drum beats with contemporary sample techniques and electronics. Inspired equally by the rhythmic heartbeat of Africa, the layered bliss of prime Lee Perry dub productions, and the contemporary club sound."

ORGANIC GROOVES: Black Cherry 2LP (AUM 021LP). $13.50

Double vinyl version of the remix album based on William Parker & Hamid Drake's Piercing The Veil album.

PARKER QUARTET, WILLIAM: O'Neal's Porch CD (AUM 022). $13.00

New, third edition. "In 2001, William Parker unveiled his tremendous new Quartet with this album. Self-produced and released in an edition of 1000 copies on his own Centering Records, the album was sold exclusively at gigs and through mail-order. It quickly sold out, just prior to being chosen among the Best Jazz Albums of the Year by the New York Times, Jazz Times, Downbeat and AllAboutJazz.com."

DAVID S. WARE QUARTET: Freedom Suite CD (AUM 023). $13.00

"David S. Ware's relationship with Sonny Rollins stretches back to the younger's teens, when the elder took him under his wing for informal improv sessions. Rollins recognized the gift that Ware possessed early on — a profound gift of expression that has blossomed in the 35 years since into what is now internationally recognized as one of the great voices on the tenor sax. Following on the success of his first excursions utilizing synthesized sound on 2001's acclaimed Corridors & Parallels, David S. Ware has manifest another first, an album-length exploration of his early mentor Sonny Rollins' 1958 composition for trio, 'The Freedom Suite'. Here, Ware and his Quartet interpolate a weighty composition by an elder Master. The results are exhilarating — the band is deeply focused, yet they swing like mad. And Ware, Saxophone Colossus indeed. The lineage made explicit."

MANERI ENSEMBLE: Going To Church CD (AUM 024). $13.00

"Going To Church is a once-in-our-lifetime meeting of three distinct and potent worlds of improv. One sunny Saturday afternoon in the studio with no preset ideas, save free communication through tone. The open form and fluid dynamics that day manifest themselves into this profound hour-long program, ranging from rarefied pastoral beauty to an intensity of psychedelic proportions. String prodigy Mat Maneri and his father, underground legend Joe Maneri — an innovator in the realm of lucidation through microtones. The legendary ex-pat bassist Barre Phillips (New Thing at Newport) Ornette Coleman, Naked Lunch soundtrack, ECM Records pivot) representing the finest that European improv has to offer. Legends in the making Matthew Shipp and Roy Campbell, bring to the party the African-American tradition; their gifts honed in the hardcore NYC of Now."

CARTER & REUBEN RADDING, DANIEL: Luminescence CD (AUM 025). $13.00

"This exquisite entry to eternity manifests a singular quietude — a mesmeric magnitude is maintained full through, broken only (perhaps) by the beckoning home of sea creatures at it's conclusion. Multi-instrumentalist tone master Daniel Carter is featured here in rare exclusivity on alto saxophone and, for the first time, on our West Coast. Daniel Carter is an underground legend and has been an integral part of the NYC music scene for three decades and running. 'Underground' largely because he sublimates his profound gifts into the pro-creative collective. He is a founding member of the peerless soul-improv groups Other Dimensions In Music and Test."

DAUGHTER: Skin CD (AUM 026). $13.00

"Daughter is fronted by M.L. Platt and Nicole Lombardi. The union past of these two women is a bit hazy, but word is they were raised by wolves in the streets of NYC. Regarding their future, on first exposure to Skin, it seems that the immolation of all assholes is the plan. The band kicks precision punk rock and the songs are armament and artillery for this time, in which the shredding of the space-time continuum is rapidly advancing. Essence of the New York City rock revival? Quaint next to Skin. Feminist empowerment? M.L. could take Eminem out in a street fight. Skin is Daughter's debut. From NYC's streets comes punk rock greatness once again. The same standards of excellence that Aum Fidelity adheres to for the Avant Jazz are here applied to the first Rock album from the label? indeed."

SHRIMP BOAT: Something Grand 4CD (AUM 028/30). $36.00

"Shrimp Boat was a phenomenal band that made music out of Chicago from the mid '80s clear through to 1993. Taking inspiration from bluegrass, jazz, country, rock 'n' roll, and most importantly — their own collective gung-ho, their ability to voluminously manifest new song form from the air around them left those exposed awestruck. Three albums were released in their lifetime: great, beautiful documents all, but they aren't even the half of it. Ian Schneller, Sam Prekop, David Kroll, Eric Claridge and Brad Wood were Shrimp Boat. They recorded everything, and this set manifests the extended 'Mega-money shot' culled from well over 400 hours of unreleased tapes — 16-tracks made at Idful Music, 4-tracks made at their loft on Archer Street, live stage performances, and radio broadcasts. Something Grand is a 3xCD collection featuring 51 tracks and a 54-page booklet packed with photos, show flyers and two sets of comprehensive liner notes." First 2000 copies include a bonus 4th full-length CD of further exclusive material.

AURALUX RECORDINGS (UK):

THOMPSON & FRIENDS, LINVAL: Whip Them King Tubby! CD (LUXX 001 CD). $16.00

"Auralux Recordings was born with the goal of releasing rare and unreleased Jamaican music mastered and manufactured to the highest sonic quality. The creative side of things on the label is handled by David Hill, founder of Nuphonic records, and one time Ballistic Brother, and David Katz, reggae historian and author of the Lee Perry biography, People Funny Boy, and the recent Solid Foundation - An Aural History of Jamaican Music. Linval Thompson is a true reggae original. As a young singer and songwriter, Linval was the quintessential roots vocalist who also scored hits in the lover's rock mode; as a quick-witted producer, he helped germinate the contemporary dancehall style. This album features rare tracks and unreleased versions, only recently discovered, from a golden era in Jamaica's rich musical history. Over the years Linval amassed a collection of his own, exclusive, versions. It is a collection built on an exchange of talents; Linval would voice a track for the legendary Osbourne Ruddock, aka King Tubby, and in return, rather than a straight payment, he would have access to the tapes to mix versions for his own use. In addition to Linval trading his services with Tubby for the rhythm tracks, he would make a similar deal with some of the vocalists that he would engineer, or produce. The end result is an album of unreleased vocal cuts by Jamaica's greats, over unreleased versions of Tubby's rhythms. It doesn't get much better."

THOMPSON & FRIENDS, LINVAL: Whip Them King Tubby 2LP (LUXX 001 LP). $20.00

Double LP version.

PERRY, LEE: Upsetter 14 Dub Blackboard Jungle CD (LUXX 004CD). $18.00

"The second album from the new Auralux label is the benchmark Upsetters 14 Dub Blackboard Jungle, produced by Lee Perry and mixed by both King Tubby and Perry. Recorded in 1973, Blackboard Jungle was one of the first dub albums ever to be released and one of Perry's finest to date. Blackboard Jungle collects fourteen of the hardest Upsetter dubs from the early 70's, including Junior Byles 'Fever' and 'Place Called Africa', the Gathers 'Words', 'The Hurricanes 'You Can Run', the Wailers 'Keep On Moving', 'Dreamland' and 'Kaya' and the Upsetter favourite 'Bucky Skank' all mixed in true stereo with definite channel separation where the rhythm track is in one channel and solo instruments or percussion drift in and out of the other. This record received only a 300 copy Jamaican pressing at the time, but has since been issued in various guises to differing levels of quality. As no tapes exist — their whereabouts being the subject of much speculation — Auralux acquired a mint copy of the original pressing which they dubbed and mastered for this release. In addition to the Blackboard Jungle album. Also included are four unreleased treasures from the Black Ark studio. Extensive sleeve notes written by David Katz, author of the Lee Perry biography."

PERRY, LEE: Upsetter 14 Dub Blackboard Jungle 2LP (LUXX 004LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

DREAD, MIKEY: African Anthem CD (LUXX 005CD). $18.00

"This album comes from the most influential radio DJ to come from Jamaica, Michael Campbell — aka Mikey Dread, and is an extended and re-mastered edition of 1980's African Anthem. Dread was the first radio DJ in Jamaica to play 100% home grown music, and it was tapes of this JBC show, featuring his trademark jingles, that travelled airmail to London's Jamaican community on C90 cassettes, which is how The Clash came to hear of him, and then record 'Bank Robber', before touring America with him. The album features all the tracks and jingles from the original album, including the now infamous 'Dread at the Controls', which has since been sampled by all and sundry, plus as additional six tracks from the original sessions, all of which were mixed at King Tubby's, and two of which are previously unreleased."

DREAD, MIKEY: African Anthem 2LP (LUXX 005LP). $18.00
Double LP version.

AUSFAHRT (GERMANY):*HAND, K.: Soul CD (AUSF 6338). $15.00

Female producer from Detroit, who has released an excellent albums for the K7 & Distance labels, as well as contributed tracks to comps like Beyond the Third Wave and G-File. "Kelli Hand is the Detroit House & Techno mistress ? female, independent and straight forward, she manages every challenge and takes no restrictions if compared to other people in the business. Working as a DJ inspired Hand to create own productions and a personal creative way to express herself. She publishes innovative House and techno music on her own label Acacia! Records for more than five years now. A smart and stylish form of progressive house music - laid back bass lines, provoking breakbeat-excursions mixed with jazz elements and few voice samples - a smooth house sound with sometimes crazy loops - a mature production, that has no problem to mess with quality and success of her last album." Limited stock.

VA: Songs Of India (The Golden Age Of Bollywood) CD (EFA 12598 CD). $18.00

"Songs Of India presents the jewels of indian filmmusic, combined on one album. The indian film industry counts to one of the biggest of the world with more than 800 movieproductions made in 'Bollywood'. The producers arrange for the important films the most respected composers and singers of the country. Now the symphatic 'Bollywood'-fever has reached the West. Songs Of India contains all the big stars of the indian filmmusic with the high-lights of their career. There is the indian superstar Asha Bosle, 'the golden Voice of Bollywood', or the legend Kishore Kumar. Next to that it features songs with Lata Mangeshkar, the sister of Asha Bosle. She is named as the most legendary playback singer of 'Bollywood'. And of course important singers like Shailendra Singh or Alka Yagnik, and songs from Suresh Wadkar or Mahendra Kapoor are not missing. The music for the trend of this year. File under Banghra."

AUTOBUS (FRANCE):*KIRALY, ERNO: Spectrum 2CD (AUT 004 CD). $17.00

"The work of composer and ethnomusicologist Ernő Király can be described as simple, radical & surrealist including raw modernity, archaic and avant-garde approach. His creative method has more in common with the American avant-garde (improvisation, instrument building, composer-performer, multi-instrumentalism) than with dogmatically rigid European compositional practice. The decisive factor in his career was ethnomusicology, which he began in the fifties, collecting the vocal and instrumental music of the people of the Voivodine region (Hungarian, Serbs, Croats, Slovaks, gypsies) as well as their folk instruments: zithers, drums, flutes and fifes. The work entitled Spectrum which appears on this album is a hitherto unissued representative selection of Király's work. Included is an opera for children based on a folk tale recorded in 1963, early 70's recordings of his works on citraphone, tablophone, acoustic guitar and zither, Katlin Ladlik visual poetry, and composed music played by Ensemble Acezantez. A 1998 'home-recorded' solo improvisation on Tablophone is also included as a bonus. Autobus is the label of french band Dragibus. The label is dedicated to adventurous music for children and kidsults."

AUTUMN RECORDS:*VA: Autumnature CD (AR 001). $13.50

"A 14 track compilation of melodic electronic music featuring artists, both known and unknown, from around the world." Artists include: Colongib, Jet Jaguar, Lackluster, Hrvatski, Fizzarum, Bauri, I Am Robot And Proud, Kettel, Cex, Zammuto, MI, Asterisk, Marumari, Lexaunculpt. Limited stock.

AVANT (JAPAN):*NAKED CITY: Heretic CD (AVANT 001). $20.00

[all titles on Avant/DIW have recently been deleted and are no longer available...] Avant is the Japanese-manufactured label of John Zorn's, which still continues on despite the more recent creation of Tzadik. All releases feature gorgeous art & design and aesthetically pure performance. "Heretic is the mysterious album of soundtrack music Zorn created for a Japanese film of S/M erotica and features this legendary band improvising in small units of duets and trios. Moody, extreme — almost exhilarating, many die hard fans consider Heretic their favorite Naked City album. Includes the first of many collaborative duet recordings by Yamataka Eye/Zorn and Joey Baron/Bill Frisell."

FUSHITSUSHA: Allegorical Misunderstanding CD (AVANT 008). $20.00

WEIRD LITTLE BOY: CD (AVANT 043). $22.00

"Weird Little Boy is a special band project spearheaded by John Zorn and Mike Patton. A collective of artists, writers and musicians, their first CD release features the world-renowned graphics of Nayland Blake, the cutting edge writing of gay S/M writer Dennis Cooper and music by Chris Cochrane, John Zorn and members of the cult rock band Mr. Bungle. A deluxe CD-book package containing a 46 page booklet and some of the strangest music you are ever likely to hear makes this unusual collaborative meeting of 'gays' and 'straights' a must for fans of each and every member of this exciting experimental collective."

BARON + BARONDOWN, JOEY: Crackshot CD (AVANT 059). $20.00

A trio of Baron (d), Ellery Eskelin (ts) & Steve Swell (tb). "Barondown brings both his virtuoso playing and adventurous writing skills to the fore. Gut-bucket blues, hardcore madness, lyrical beauty and general mayhem, in all the inimitable Barondown style."

AXIS:*MILLS, JEFF: Exhibitionist CD (AX 041CD). $15.00

"The Exhibitionist is Jeff Mills' first domestically released mix compilation. The Exhibitionist features a not-to-be-missed mix of the finest futuristic electronic dance music available, including classic Jeff Mills material culled from his entire solo production career." 45 tracks, including: Oliver Ho, Samuel L. Sessions, Jesper Dahlback, Octave One, Ben Sims, Oscar Mulero, Monika Kruse, Andreas Saag, John Arnold, Paul Mac, Mark Williams, DJ Zank, Aztec Mystic, etc.

MILLS, JEFF: Exhibitionist DVD (AXDV 001DVD). $18.00

"Conceived and designed in the direction of programmable software rather than the usual DVD 'Live' recording, this latest project of Jeff Mills, Exhibitionist will prove to point out a step forward into a new era in Electronic Music. Remembering the excitement of an artist or DJ 'in action' is the key component for longevity because through our memory it is often how we measure an event's effectiveness. In addition to simulating the artist and/or DJ, this DVD provides an array of features that will be discovered, explored and expanded upon. All mix segments were filmed in Detroit, USA. A DJ setup and lighting were created to simulate the authentic look and stereo sound of a DJ in a club DJ booth. A black backdrop behind Jeff Mills was used so that the reprogramming of this footage in a live setting would not conflict with existing decor." 2-sided disc, NTSC format all regions, Approx. 225 mins., Color, Stereo, Multi-Angles.

MILLS, JEFF: Medium 2LP (AX 009 E/F). $12.00

Double vinyl LP version.

MILLS, JEFF: Medium CD (AX 009 E/F CD). $12.00

"Is all the falls within the cracks of reality. The blurring of the lines and the questionable. Undistinguishable matter that lives within its own cognitive state, in-sync with earth's rotation but not the rotation of life. We feel instead of seeing those who occupy the 'gray' as outsiders looking inwards towards a world that bares fruit but without the compassion to produce seeds. It is not possible to calculate the mass and density of the 'area' which is gray nor would it be necessary as it thrives on its shortcomings to avoid conclusions we-call-facts" —Jeff Mills. A psychological analysis on the creative Gray Area. Conceived and produced by Jeff Mills for Axis Records-Chicago.

MILLS, JEFF: From The 21st Part 2 12" (AX 019-AFV). $6.50

"Sit back and hold on. This version takes you on a journey deep into the cavities of time. The unknown. Minimal movements, mid-range dominated sequences pop-up from the vinyl light like boiling molten lava. Designed for the dancefloor, seductive tracks invite the listeners to experience to worst of their fears. Non-human music. Mayhem for the mind more than the music. The sickness of it all."

MILLS, JEFF: From The 21st Part 1 12" (AX 019-OUR). $6.50

MILLS, JEFF: Lifeline: Axis Compilation 12" (AX 021). $6.00

Tracklisting: A1. Condor to Mallorca A2. Global Factor B1. Detached B2. Black Avenger

MILLS, JEFF: Metropolis 12" (AX 022). $6.50

"Inspired by Fritz Lang's 1926 motion picture Metropolis. Jeff Mills tackles the task of imaging and soundtracking the timeless theories and visions of this wonderful story." 7 track 12" EP.

MILLS, JEFF: UFO/4ART 12" (AX 024). $6.50

Produced and mixed by Jeff Mills for Axis Records 2001. "I've been testing this record for about 4 weeks, the response from the people is a very good one. 'UFO' is a track that was produced back in 1995 along with a cluster of rave-oriented tracks that never officially released. Designed to be dangerous and heavy, my vision was to create the feeling of UFOs swooping down towards the listeners. I've found that using 2 copies of UFO, to repeat the introduction works very well. '4ART' was previously released on AX-015 'The Other Day' EP. I had always thought that this track was rather unique and interesting because my attempt was to give the impression that the lead keyboard sounds were actually talking and saying words. I believe this track was overshadowed by the other tracks on the Other Day EP, 'i9'. Enjoy!" — Jeff Mills

MILLSART: Every Dog Has Its Day Vol. 3 2x12" (AX 026). $17.00

"In time, all wrongdoings are eligible for correction. Even in the eye of a storm, we must endure the invalid as a objective fragment in the existence of mankind. Effortlessly, time passes over and onto, without you and without us. On it, we mark the acceptance of the new with the chance to begin again and give away the hand of the past, free of unadmissibles. Those who are punctual are thieves of time. Robbing from reserves of time that have been designated for nothing. In time, time tells truths or at least the truths you've been waiting for. Time is the oldest living thing we own. Its rate of speed is constant and in all, infinite. Some never have enough time, which are those people that are quick to recognize those who waste it. Is time or is it not? It has been said that seconds, minutes, hours, days, weeks, months, years, decades and centuries are just about all the average human can imagine and plan for. Millsart believes not. All that is needed to calculate is that 'one of these days is none of these days'. Now that you've read this, please be advised that Every Dog Has Its Day." —Millsart

MILLSART: Every Dog Has Its Day Vol. 4 2LP (AX 030). $16.00

Special 180g vinyl in aqua blue jacket. 3000 copies only. Every Dog Has Its Day Vol. 4 is produced, mixed, and edited by Millsart exclusively for Axis Records USA.

MILLS, JEFF: Expanded 12" (AX 039). $6.00

"It has been said that the most remarkable thing about knowledge is that it not only has the ability to sustain the weather of opinion but also self-improves with each given instance the mind encounters. Ways and the means to be acknowledged become more elusive as the spiraling of life easily engulfs the impatient. By putting down the guard, letting loose of the reins and residing with the unknown puts forth a gesture in investing for a better understanding of the questions when?, where? and more importantly, why? The AX-010 Growth EP saga continues."

MILLS, JEFF: The Tomorrow Time Forgot 12" (AX 040). $6.50

"The Time Is Right To Begin Again. Explore New Worlds Through Old Dreams. Dream the dreams that shapes all tomorrows by subversive delegation. A pure act of engaging the unseen, the forgotten and the cultivation of your fantasies into the 'stuff' visions survive from. Look forward to making your dreams become our reality. 'Hope' replenishes the mental space that reserves all dreams."

AXIS/TOMORROW:

DUNDOV, PETAR: Sculptures 1-3 CD (TW 300 CD). $13.00

CD-only release of the debut album by this East European techno producer. Features dark, subsonic bass and isolated atmosphere, no beats. "Entering the sonic space of vibrations, our sense takes us to the world of tones. In one's perspective, feelings take form. Reflections of thoughts on clear surface, shaping the indescribable part of ourselves. Giving form and meaning in self repeating motion, existing on different scales. From the distant horizon, bringing the wheel of creation." — Dundov

WALCOTT, MITCH: Europa CD (TW 400). $13.00

"Mitch Walcott's Europa CD is set 7 years from now, on Jeff Mills' label, Tomorrow, a label intrigued by potential utopias, by intensive states, past and present. It arrives before the machines and waits for them. Indifferent yet raging. Europa's 7 tracks impose 32 minutes of crushing space. Titles and tones converge to induce an ominous immensity, a sense of individual erasure, of the human blown away to a speck. The thundering trauma of looking on, listening to and identifying with the cryobot as it drills its way through ancient ice. Like X-102 Presents The Rings of Saturn, Europa is parahuman in its extremophilia, it's fascination with the extreme conditions of deep space. Outer space overlaps with inner space to draw you into a private time system, into a 32 minute universe that fits into an iPod. Europa is the fuel for the long journey across the hazardous terrain of the head. It grows a universe in the brain." — Kodwo Eshun.

MILLS, JEFF: Time Machine CD (TW 800). $15.00

"Inspired and noted on the novel Time Machine by H.G. Wells, this 43 minute sequenced journey into time travel explores the outer limits and stretches the boundaries of your mind. Produced, mixed and edited by Jeff Mills. From instrumental storytelling, he propels the idea of not being in our time but, yet experiencing first hand, places and things from another time. Past and future. Caution: This release is only for the adventurous." CD comes with 8 pages of the 'Time Machine' story by Jeff Mills.

AXIS9:

MILLS, JEFF: Actual CD (AX 009 C/D CD). $12.00

"With the end of the very successful Purpose Maker series (PM), it left room for me to create more releases for the AX-009 project. While in the process of making AX-009 C/D, I discovered that there was a need to re-create the feeling of Sci-Fi Techno again... Similar to woman's cosmetics, drum and percussionless music that could be layered upon other tracks or a drum computer that would give the percussion tracks/drum machines more life. Tracks that could be layered together to enhance or hide, like cosmetics. Because of a necessary skill to hold these tracks against other drum tracks or drum machine, obviously, AX-009 is designed for the most experienced and adventurous DJs. These tracks range widely in style from minimal to sub-sonic abstractions. And when simply listened to without being layered, the same tracks take on a movie soundtrack-like appearance. Designed with drama as a component, the AX-009 tracks hold the initial designs of individual character that has made these releases intriguing and an experience to listen to." — Jeff Mills.

MILLS, JEFF: Actual 2LP (AX 009 C/D LP). $12.00

Double vinyl version.

MILLS, JEFF: Axis 009ab 2x12" (AX 009AB). $12.00

"Axis9 The Label is coming. Beneath the Axis surface, there has been a force that has become increasingly too radical to contain. From its origin, axis9 series was designed as sonic vehicle to provoke the eager and tame the most electrical thinking Axis collectors around the world. Hardwax Records in Berlin was chosen as its base. Limited amounts of Axis9 material has been released to the public through designated periods over the past 8 years."

AYLER RECORDS (SWEDEN):

HOWARD QUARTET, NOAH: Live At The Unity Temple CD (AYL 001 CD). $15.00

"A strong live set recorded at the Unity Temple near Chicago in 1997, this performance features pianist Bobby Few, bassist Wilber Morris, and drummer Calyer Duncan. Howard leads his tight and exciting quartet through five original compositions, some, such as 'The Blessing' and 'Schizophrenic Blues,' are very much identified with the saxophonist. Howard's playing is crisp, melodic, and clear, a tad less intense than decades past, but nonetheless compelling. His alto retains the mournful wail of Ornette, but with a distinct identity."

DOYLE/SUNNY MURRAY, ARTHUR: Live At Glenn Miller Cafe CD (AYL 002 CD). $15.00

"Performing in a style he calls 'free jazz soul,' Arthur Doyle combines the liberated freedom flights of the avant-garde with the gritty, gut-wrenching emotion of gospel and R&B. The tenor saxophonist, flute player and vocalist is joined by veteran drummer Sunny Murray on this remarkably well-recorded live set from Stockholm in 2000."

BROTZMANN, PETER: Live At Nefertiti CD (AYL 004 CD). $15.00

"One of free jazz's guiding lights, saxophonist Peter Brötzmann has had a career that has touched six decades. He's worked with talents as diverse as Don Cherry, Sonny Sharrock, Material's Bill Laswell, Carla Bley, and Anthony Braxton. This 80 minute set was recorded live in 1999 at Gothenburg, Sweden's Nefertiti Jazz Club featuring Peter Friis Nielsen on bass and Peeter Uuskyla on drums."

JOHN STEVENS TRIO: Live At The Plough CD (AYL 007). $15.00

"John Stevens with Mike Osborne and Paul Rogers recorded live at 'The Plough' in London on March 30, 1979... 7 tracks..."

DRAKE/ASSIF TSHAR, HAMID: Soul Bodies, Vol. 1 CD (AYL 024). $15.00

"Hamid Drake and Assif Tshar recorded live at the 6th Vision Festival in NYC (May 30, 2001)... 4 tracks..."

MOONDOC, JEMEEL: Live At Glenn Miller Cafe- Vol.1 CD (AYL 026). $15.00

"2 tracks by Jemeel Moondoc with William Parker and Hamid Drake recorded at Glenn Miller Cafe, Stockholm, Sweden on April 15, 2002..."

WILLIAM PARKER TRIO: ... And William Danced CD (AYL 044). $15.00

"Recorded in 'Utilized Leakage' at Flash Music Studio, Stockholm, Sweden on April 15, 2002... 3 tracks recorded by William Parker with Hamid Drake and Anders Gahnold..."

AZOTH SCHALLPLATTEN:

CHATHAM, RHYS: Echo Solo LP (AZO 001 LP). $15.00

Beautifully packaged with extensive notes by the composer, "By 1989, downtown legend Rhys Chatham had been fusing art music and punk rock for almost fourteen years and wanted to try his hand at something else. Accordingly, he set out to combine forms using a diverse vocabulary drawn exclusively from the classic avant-garde; the result is Echo Solo. In it, Chatham appropriates a number of musical styles — serial technique, chance operations, and just intonation — then through a process of amalgamation and superimposition, he transcends their original musical meaning while at the same time imploding it. Only the tiniest pair of critical scissors could isolate the individual elements from the final product; it's a fascinating, paradoxical composition, one which the composer happily describes as "a rite of decimation."

As Chatham himself writes: "When one tunes a piano in just intonation, it is essentially in one key, the key of 1. La Monte Young tuned his piano in E-flat, owing to the fact that he was originally an alto saxophone player. I used a similar technique, but used C natural as my starting point, for the sake of simplicity. When we tune a piano in this way, however, we are usually very careful to select a strategy of striking a particular set of piano keys in order to stay in the right musical key. In Echo Solo, no such strategy existed. The aleatory and serial techniques used to arrive at the pitch choices completely ignored the tuning of the piano. And it is in this sense that Echo Solo would seem to be a contradiction in terms with respect to the manner in which the piano was tuned. And indeed it is, but it has the happy effect of endowing the piece with a unique sound: it clearly doesn't sound like Young, perhaps a bit more like a strange amalgamation of Cage and Boulez, but out of whack somehow. Something new..."

AZULI (UK):

FC/KAHUNA: Another Fine Mess CD (AFM 001CD). $16.00

First volume in a series which considers itself a prequel to the Another Late Night series on Azuli. FC/Kahuna call it Acid Home (ie. like Acid House, only comfier). Artists featured include: Jolly Music, FC Kahuna, Juan MacLean, Brett Johnson, The Free Association, Trash Palace, Risky Disco, Danial Wang, Green Velvet, Soul Substitute, Blur, Atom, Cosmos, Wink, Christopher Just, Nightmares On Wax, and Polyphonic Spree.

BA DA BING!:

YUME BITSU: Giant Surface Music... CD (BING 016 CD). $12.00

"After languishing for what felt like months in deletion hell, Yume Bitsu's first record is finally once again available. Fans of Auspicious Winds and their eponymous second record will have just as much to love here. The songs go longform in spaciousness and dreamliness, taking a step beyond dream pop simplicity and stomping in the psychedelic romper room of Tangerine Dream's Zeit, Roy Montgomery's most transcendent work, and My Bloody Valentine (when they knew how to use a guitar)."

LANDING: Seasons CD (BING 033). $13.00

"While Landing is one of the country's top drone groups, creating long ambient instrumentals with sudden eruptions of intensity, Seasons shows off their previously unexplored song-writing flair. The record conceives of movement through four seasons with a breathtaking beauty and sincerity (Vivaldi would no doubt smile, then say something incoherent but pleasing in his archaic native tongue). For the first time, the band sings, and the soft fluidity of their voices perfectly matches their trademark delicate playing. The drama unfolds with a gentle minimalism, striking at beauty through impressionism, and reaching their goal with a whisper."

COMETS ON FIRE: Field Recordings From The Sun CD (BING 034). $13.00

"Field Recordings From the Sun is not a psychedelic album in the manner of cheap guitar effects and gentle dorian meanderings served with an oil light show. It is an aggressive attack on a fragile reality, a peeling back of the skull above the brain and a transmigration of the senses to a universal location of beer drunk joy and overwhelming white heat in thundering, all consuming sound. If Exuma, Blue Cheer, Albert Ayler, Mitch Mitchell, Nanjo and the zombie of John Cipollina all met on the blue highway, wasted on golden whiskey and cocaine, there they would throw on Field Recordings From the Sun on a trashed boom-box while shooting pistols at their tracers. This is West Coast Psychedelia, hang onto your eardrums."

COMETS ON FIRE: Field Recordings From The Sun LP (BING 034 LP). $13.00

"Field Recordings From the Sun is not a psychedelic album in the manner of cheap guitar effects and gentle dorian meanderings served with an oil light show. It is an aggressive attack on a fragile reality, a peeling back of the skull above the brain and a transmigration of the senses to a universal location of beer drunk joy and overwhelming white heat in thundering, all consuming sound. This is the first time that this record has made been available on vinyl."

CROWLEY, ADRIAN: A Strange Kind CD (BING 035). $13.00

"His first album from 1999, A Strange Kind, available on these shores for the first time. A striking collection of melancholy folk music, direct and unpretentious. For this domestic release, the songs have been remastered."

DWINELL, MARK: Nonloc CD (BING 037). $13.00

"Latest project of Mark Dwinell, guitarist/singer and cofounder of Boston's Bright. Using an improvisational approach with multi-tracked layers of dissonant, droning guitars, Bright gave it's best answer to the post rock dilemma, releasing four albums to increasing critical acclaim in the latter 1990's. With Nonloc, Mark trades his electric guitar for a classical, the impromptu and indesipherable vocals of previous work for yes, songs with real lyrics. Where Bright suggested the idea that 'space rock' could actually really rock, Nonloc focuses on acoustic elements, and while it certainly may be quieter, in need not be any less intense. Nonloc builds on Mark's previous experience — that you can build giant melodies on top of a single droning chord. The focus here is more intensely on these melodies, accentuated by piano, spontaneous string arrangements, clarinets, mandolin, and even a ten part vocal piece, reminiscent of a maniacal Brian Wilson."

WORKMAN, HAWKSLEY: (Last Night We Were) Delicious Wolves CD (BING 038). $13.00

"Second full album for Ba Da Bing, the work of a tireless young singer, songwriter, multi-instrumentalist, producer, budding film actor, poet, shape-shifter and inveterate tall-tale-spinner."

1 MILE NORTH: Minor Shadows CD (BING 039). $13.00

"1 Mile North is a meeting of two measured thinkers, each treading the line between composer and pop musician. Jon Hills has played the guitar since his youth, but his current work dates from early 1995, when he started crafting solo guitar works in earnest. In the years since, he has quietly developed into one of the stronger compositional guitarists recording in our overloaded 'post-rock' world. Jon's clear, precise playing creates original atmospheres of melody rather than mist. Like Vini Reilly's Durutti Column, and the work of David Pajo and Brian McMahon since the dissolution of Slint, 1 Mile North's guitarist knows how to create patient works using only his instrument, steering clear of the monotonous effects-pedals and treatments too often accepted for their familiar sound."

SONS & DAUGHTERS: Love The Cup CD (BING 041 CD). $13.00

"Music has always been a family affair, whether in truth (the Carters, the Jacksons, the Daniels), spirit (Parliament, Amon Düül) or some strange combination therein (White Stripes, Destiny's Child). Sibling love and competition has engineered some of the greatest songs ever made. Related in every sense but blood, Sons & Daughters rise from their early traditionalist Scottish folk songs on Love the Cup, embracing the subjects of love, god and murder that Johnny Cash so eloquently eulogized. All four members were active in the Glasgow scene before coming together. Adele Bethel and David Gow recorded and toured as members of Arab Strap and The Zephyrs. Beauty emanates from death crawls, guitar chords holding on until barely perceptible and tempos steady and sure. So many bands start off playing at a fast pace before realizing the subtleties of slowing things down that it's nice to hear a band apply the same method but do the exact opposite — speed up."

JAMES ORR COMPLEX: Chori's Bundle CD (BING 042CD). $13.00

"Chori's Bundle (licensed from Rock Action, Mogwai's label in the UK) isn't a pretty record — its lyrical content and forceful playing style assure that — but it's nonetheless a beautiful record. With the assuredness that comes from the truly experienced, Chris Mack has applied his rock knowledge to folk in an astonishing manner. Mack has reignited interest in the '60s folk sound, thanks to his skillful, finger picked guitar compositions. But his style is aggressively original, shooting off into tangents at some points, circling around a melodic phrase at others. Chori's Bundle is the culmination of Mack's musical discoveries."

BAADASSSS (SWEDEN):

INVADERS, THE: Spacing Out LP (BAAD 001 LP). $22.00

Repressed. "Long out of print perfect and exact reissue of one of the ultimate sought after and mega rare funk records of your dreams. Incredible Caribbean soul funk/groove trance monster from the Bermudas 1970, all instrumental and totally spaced out. Stunning wah-wah guitar, haunting sexy jungle rhythms on congas and rock steady drums, black night heat trumpet and severe echo effects and reverb to make the entire sound swirl around you till your totally inside out in a dizzy haze. The original LP in so so shape recently sold for over $700 on Ebay, making this reissue very welcome."

BACCHUS ARCHIVES:

VA: Hava Narghile: Middle Eastern Raga Rock Ala Turquie '66-'75 CD (BA 1162). $13.00

"From a land of minarets and mosques, comes this compilation of some of the best garage and psych music from a country where psychedelic music flourished for a decade. A period in which Turkish rock musicians mixed the oriental overtones of their traditional folk music with acid rock. On these 21 tracks (released from '66 to '75) you'll hear sizzling raga rock guitar mingling with the exotic sounds of the saz (the national instrument of Turkey) and a distant relative of the sitar) and intense duelling of electric saz and killer fuzz guitar, backed by a belly-beat provided by a darbuka. So light-up your hubble-bubble pipe (narghile) for a journey to what was once the uncrowned psych music capital of the world. Take a trip to Istanbul (not Constantinople)." Features tracks by Erkin Koray, Mogollar, Siluetler, Kaygisizlar, Mavi Isiklar, Harmaliler, Yabancilar, Apaslar, Baris Manço & Kaygisizlar, Erkut Taçkin, Çağrısım, Grup Bunallım, Uç Hürel, Koray Oktay, Ersen, Melih Faruk Serdar Saygun, Gökçen Kaynatlan. Compiled by the world's leading Turkish psych expert, Jay Dobis (formerly of Cambridge, MA). Packaged in a poster sleeve with photos and informed liner notes, with many and never previously heard tracks. Many years in the making, this is the Turkish psych introduction that many people have been waiting for..."

ALLAN PRESENTS CHAINO, KIRBY: New Sounds In Rock 'N' Roll (Jungle Rock) CD (BA 1183 CD). $13.00

"Las Vegas Grind, Frolic Diner and Incredibly Strange Music fans, are you ready? Here's an entire unreleased Kirby Allan Presents Chaino 'Rock 'n' Roll' album recorded in 1959. Some of LA's finest appear on this one including Phil Spector/Goldstar Studios 'wrecking crew' sax player Flaz Johnson. In fact, this entire album was recorded at the legendary Goldstar Studios. There were hints of this stuff on our Chaino CD from a few years back but, get ready for total African via Hollywood insanity. We had to put this on vinyl as any club DJ is going to want to use this record for mixing, scratching or just playing the songs! File under Weird and Wild, or modern/primitive, or incredibly strange or exotic."

ALLAN PRESENTS CHAINO, KIRBY: New Sounds In Rock 'N' Roll (Jungle Rock) LP (BA 1183 LP). $11.00

LP Version.

THOMPSON, BOB: The Sound of Speed CD (BA 1190). $13.00

"Long-sought orchestral tribute to wheels, wings, and whirly birds reissued. In the days of Esquivel's Space Age Bachelor Pad Music prime, orchestra leader/composer/arranger Bob Thompson was his stylistic counterpart. They recorded for the same label (RCA Victor), employed many of the same musicians and vocalists, and experimented with sound in the same LA studios. The Sound of Speed is Thompson's 1960 'concept' LP (originally recorded for the Dot label). Each composition evokes a different mode of modern transport, from Vespa scooters to Le Mans racers to rocket ships. The vehicular vignettes are book-ended by authentic sound effects, with vivid stereo motion. The Sound of Speed has been long out of print and high on the list of overlooked gems that connoisseurs of sophisticated sounds have been clamoring to see reissued. Its highlights have been a staple of production music for decades."

BACKGROUND (UK):

JUMBLE LANE: CD (HBG 123/3). $20.00

Another schizophrenic Holyground release, from 1970/71, with Astral Navigations connections. Muddled, psychy blues and ramble. If the Holyground "saga" is a particular fascination, you probably have to hear it.

HOYLE, LINDA: Pieces of Me CD (HBG 123/7). $20.00

Heavily collected Vertigo album that Vertigo collectors love to collect. Progressive torch female vocals, some decent psychy hard blues-rock tracks and, and gee, orchestral flourishes.

BACKGROUND RECORDS (GERMANY):

CLAYTON, KIT: Moles and Avocadoes 12" (BG 006). $9.00

"Background returns with another serious contribution to our obscure electronic world. This time with the San Francisco Newjack's Swing, brought to you by Kit Clayton, who's worldwide known for his releases on Cytrax, Plug Research, Parallel, and Scape. Presenting deep and minimal detroitish techworks on Side A, while presenting serious nonstop killer bleeps on Side B. Nothing else to say, the record speaks for itself."

SUTEKH: Obvious Solutions To Everyday Problems 12" (BG 010). $9.00

"While the A-side is guaranteed to entertain you during your daily homelisting session or in your nearest electronic music-bar, the B-side is deliberately set to become a worldwide clubhit on purpose, exposing full energy on the floor by perfect arrangement in the stop and go principle, combining rocking beats and sounds that take over full control of your entire body-move."

AKUFEN: Dada 12" (BG 017). $9.00

First release on the German minimalist Background label from a guy called Akufen, who has been mentioned as the "Canadian Brinkmann". Described to us as "absolute incredible and reminding in many ways of Mike Inc's 'Studio' releases: Dubby, minimal and funky as hell."

SMYGLYSSNA: Sight Is Something More Than All Things Seen 12" (BG 019). $9.00

"Tongbreaker and typists-nightmare Smyglyssna, who released projects under various guises for labels such as Plug Research, Vertical Form and others, delivers an EP which carries a new philosophy, namely a special approach to production that is slightly experimental and deep in sound and processing but is not in anyway hard to digest. With less reliance on ambient impressionist melody and pad based washes, crisp tight rhythms are very much at the center of these tracks."

RHYTHM MAKER: Alles Mainstream EP 12" (BG 020). $9.00

"This EP features a solid dancefloor mix of 'Peel' (A1); a guaranteed ultra driving crowd mover that is definitely gonna be heard on the dancefloors around the globe soon. The track builds up slowly from a melodic to a powerful 4/4 techno anthem in a early Detroit influenced oldschool vein, while 'Alles Mainstream' (B1) goes deeper into the melodic moody side of one of the most harmonic but still deep producers recently, here demonstrating the other side of Rhythm_Maker with two tracks that will cause serious attacks on the dancefloors from Chicago to Oslo."

RHYTHM MAKER: Landing CD (BG 021 CD). $15.00

"Dusseldorf's Stefan Schwander (aka Antonelli Electr.) presents his first techno-album under his Rhythm_maker alias. Apart from his previous Background 12" 'Ches' which always had both feet on the dancefloor, his album landing became a grown-up adult full-flavour listening and dancefloor album which takes the listener onto a trip through different musical landscapes, ranging from experimental sidetraps, deep excursions through the fields of minimalism & harmony, further to uplifting powerful 4/4 running-fields, all together turning this album into a open-minded up-to-date modern guide of today's state-of-the-art electronic music."

BABY FORD: One For Sorrow EP 12" (BG 022). $9.00

"Over the past few years, Baby Ford has released on some of the worlds most renowned record labels incl.: Klang Elektronik and Perlon, plus remixes of 'Check your Budda' by Sven Våth. The 'One For Sorrow' EP on Background is an exploration of Peter's darker, minimal compositions. Designed as a tool, and a standalone piece, 'One For Sorrow' illustrates the versatility of one of the world's most respected and prolific electronic music producers."

VA: Futuristic Experiments CD (BG 024 CD). $15.00

"Background Records proudly presents Futuristic Experiments Chapter IV in the long awaited full-length album shape as 2x12" and CD, demonstrating the future of advanced & tricky electronic music from different places from all over the world, spotlighting the genre from different angles. Featured artists on Futuristic Experiments Chapter IV are: Akufen, Sutekh, Geoff White, Todd Sines, Dean Decosta, Rhythm_Maker, Donnacha Costello, Submania, Mitchell Akiyama."

VA: Futuristic Experiments 2LP (BG 024 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

PORTABLE: Futuristic Experiments 5 CD (BG 026 CD). $15.00

"Background Recordings presents the indeed very special and most outstanding experimental modern left of center techno album by Portable, who was born and raised in South Africa before he moved to London very few years back. This album contains abstract & futuristic music that the world has sure not heard before. Influenced by the traditional african rhythms that surrounded him while growing up has seeped into his sound. Portable tries to incorporate all these influences, ancient past, the future, but all inbetween the rhythm and sound that is and always will be grounded in a 4/4 that was house music."

VA: Futuristic Experiments 006 CD (BG 035 CD). $16.00

"Demonstrating more state of the art, more dancefloor related electronic music, rather than experiments that are trying to look into the future. Featured artists on Futuristic Experiments #006 are: Akufen, Ben Neville, Sutekh, Dave Miller, Andy Vaz, Rhythm_Maker, B. Helvetica, Si-Cut, Db, Portable, DB. This 6th in a series of compilations follows the ideal of keepin' one eye on the future of techno by combining body and mind in music, without slandering the roots, while also keeping the history of 4/4 alive & authentic. In our cultural understanding, art and music are integrated into everyday life and mind and body are not separated. A tune can be functional, entertaining and intellectual all at the same time — by means you can 'jack your body' & 'elevate your mind', without forgetting the need for music to perform different functions. On the floor, we want the listener to get their groove on, while at the same time we want people to sit back, listen and get deep into the individual artistic idea behind the music presented here. Futuristic Experiments works as a two way street — combining mind & body against the idea that music is either entertainment or else an intellectual habit of separating the mind and the body, rather than integrating them. Techno has always been about both: the body and the mind — hence it can be whatever you allow the music to be, but it doesn't have to limit itself — it can bring maximum effect within a minimal aesthetic."

VA: Futuristic Experiments 006 2LP (BG 035 LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

PORTABLE: Cycling CD (BG 037 CD). $16.00

"Cycling by Portable is the album we always dreamed of doing as a record label. It combines so many things in one; raw and sexy very unique electronic music with a strong modern groove, based on the traditional rhythms of early Chicago house music. Most tracks are dancy, while perfect for listening as well, always staying interesting and diverse, yet always with Alan Abrahams (Portable) very personal handwriting."

PORTABLE: Cycling 2LP (BG 037 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

BAD GLUE:

SUNBURNED HAND OF THE MAN, THE: Sunburned Hand of the Man LP (SBHM 001 LP). $13.00

"We got news from the Agency that someone raided the tape vault while we were pimpin' it live on the west coast Alaska Wedding Procession. A major security breach. The squad was sent out, inquiries were made and our 'friends' from the old neighborhood were called in to assess the damage. When we uncovered the mole we spent a long couple of days with this puke 'under the lamp' pushing the buttons til he finally spilt the beans and gave up the info. We worked it out with the thief and got what was coming to us. The rest are up for sale to cover the 'damages.' Here on this record you got some new juice, some wafer thin promises and streetwise tales. Another Sunburned Hand of the Man adventure. Take it and bake it." — SBHOTM.

BANNED PRODUCTIONS:

AMK: Hi Fi 7" (BP AMK). $4.00

Locked grooves 45 from the mid-90s.

BARN RE-LEASING:

ERTUNC TRIO, HUSEYIN: Musiki CD (BARN 1). $14.00

Reissue of a very obscure free music document, recorded in Cambridge, MA, sometime in the mid-70s. Notable for its Saturn-esque paste-on cover artwork (eloquently reconstructed here), and general cosmic vibe, this record harkens back to days when "out" was merely a place people went to buy a sandwich. A trio, led by drummer Ertunc, with Michael Cosmic (as, cl, fl, bcl, sop, piccolo, organ, perc.) & Phill Musra (ts, ss, fl, zurna, cl, perc.). The albums features long tracks: "The Creator Spaces", "More Beautiful Vibrations from the Creator" & "Space On Space". These guys recorded 1 more LP and then who knows what? Little else is known, but this trio's interface with consensus reality just creaked forward a whole notch. "...we are now blessed with the most striking document of the free jazz from the mid-70s...a most complete outsider document of the era, rendered intact and relevant, striking fear deep into the hear of the most puritan of music obscurities." — Eric Aleph/The Lost Chord.

BAROONI (NETHERLANDS):

PALESTINE, CHARLEMAGNE: Jamaica Heinekens In Brooklyn CD (BAR 021). $15.00

"A major new studio recording from Charlemagne Palestine. Based on Palestine's use of electronic drones, the piece points into a new direction. Palestine made recordings of the Jamaica Day parade in New York City — where people from Jamaica, Guyana, Cuba, Haiti and other places come to dance, sing, eat and drink. These field recordings of shouting people, passing parade floats and helicopters hovering overhead are interwoven with the electronic sonorities. Together they give a completely new dimension to Charlemagne's work: Jamaica Heinekens In Brooklyn is colorful, exciting, trance inducing and it slowly unfolds into a magic experience." From Palestine's liner notes: "This work came out of the idea of traveling with an electronic drone on a ghetto blaster and re-recording it in different situations in many countries...the 60+ minute segment on this record is played without any editing, but super imposed upon this extract I have composed three series of drone textures of Yamaha organs, 16 Serge & Rubery oscillators with bandpass filtering, and a thick ARP Synthesizer texture using oscillators, filters and other sound modulation devices. All together this work creates a dialogue between pure and mixed electronics of my long continuum tradition and the real-time ambient sounds of a traditional urban ethnographic popular festival."

KAYN, ROLAND: Tektra 4CD (BAR 016). $30.00

Repress of this very limited box set (originally issued in 1996). "Roland Kayn makes Cybernetic music. He design networks of electronic equipment which regulate themselves like a heating system. 'Music is sound, which is sufficient in itself,' says Kayn about his music, referring to the fact that even he cannot predict the eventual compositions, which are evolving sound processes without an epicentre, where every sound is equally important. Words like 'melody', 'harmony' and 'rhythm' do not apply to Kayn's music, in which processes normally associated with the composer are excluded as much as possible. Tragically, Kayn's intention to create a free form of music met with disrespect and ignorance resulting in him being ostracised by his contemporaries. The 4CD box Tektra is a sonic revelation: constantly shifting clouds of sound move capriciously through space creating an enormous variety and richness that goes beyond the borders of imagination. Roland Kayn has been idiosyncratically enriching music for forty years with ideas that resonate with our times in dedicated pursuit of his own intention to liberate sound."

BASIC CHANNEL (GERMANY):

BASIC CHANNEL: Basic Reshape 12" (BC BR). $11.00

"Basic Reshape features Basic Channel's very free takes of two of Carl Craig's projects that were originally released separately from each other on his own Planet E label. The Basic Reshape of 'The Climax' (which itself was originally released in 1991 on Retroactive) first appeared on the 2001 reissue of this milestone in Carl's work, is one of the most hypnotic and driving club tracks that Mark Ernestus and Moritz von Oswald have produced in their 'post Basic Channel' period. 'Remake' Basic Reshape from 1994 relates to 'Remake Uno/Duo', Carl's sample-based re-interpretation of Manuel Göttschings epochal 'E2-E4'. Basic Channel take a radical, abstract, sample-free approach with a breathtaking slow motion groove under a multilayered sound sphere. This track also appeared on the Basic Channel CD."

QUADRANT: Infiniton 12" (BC QD). $11.00

"The Quadrant EP, originally released in 1993 on Carl Craig's Planet E label, was a one-off project by producer duo Mark Ernestus and Moritz von Oswald, also known from their work as Basic Channel, Maurizio/M-Series, Rhythm & Sound and others. Out of print for nearly half a decade, this reissue features the two main titles that reverberate an early 90s Detroit techno vibe and combine it with an early imprint of Basic Channel's timeless trademark sound aesthetic."

VA: Basic Channel CD (BCD 001). $16.00

2003 re-release. "Basic Channel CD, originally released 1995 in a plain cardboard envelope and later in a metal box was out of print for a while and is now being rereleased in a convenient Digipak. Rather abstract and ambient tracks like the classic 'Quadrant Dub I' or 'Lytot Remix' are on the track list. From today's perspective, in this open sound much of the later Rhythm & Sound imprint (as released on Rhythm & Sound: s/t) with its echo-heavy atmospheric density was already laid out here." Basic Channel is the mysterious Detroit/Berlin axis minimal techno label, most closely associated with the producer known as Maurizio. They've released a classic series of 12" records, and this CD compilation of material from those 12"s. The "artist" names on the various 12"s are obscure (Cyrus, Phyllys, q1.1, Quadrant, Octagon, Radiance, etc.), and an absolute minimal amount of information about the contents of these records is offered. Stylistically, Basic Channel creates their own sub-genre of Detroit techno; slowly developing pulsations and abstractions with a heavy emphasis on post-dub processed crackles, blips & hiss — extremely minimal, extremely gorgeous & some of the finest and most invigorating horizontal listening out there.

BASIC REPLAY (GERMANY):

ACKIE/CHESS ROOTS: Call Me Rambo/Rambo Gun Salute 12" (BRHW 003 EP). $10.00
2nd release on Basic Channel's dub/roots reissue label. "This was recorded in 1986 and originally released on the Heavyweight label (an offshoot of the Heavyweight soundsystem, based in the Wood Green and Tottenham areas of north London), featuring Chester Roots at the controls and his nephew Ackie at the microphone; also the helicopter sounds free with a Commodore 64."

HUDSON, KEITH: Playing It Cool CD (BRIT 009 CD). $16.00

First release on Basic Channel's new Jamaican reissue imprint, Basic Replay. "Keith Hudson — as is Lloyd Bullwackie Barnes, his collaborator here — was a one-off innovator with impeccably classical lineage: his first studio recording involved former Skatalites; his earliest releases provided solid-gold hits for Ken Boothe ('Old Fashioned Way', 1967), John Holt, Delroy Wilson, U-Roy and the rest. Playing It Cool & Playing It Right was released in 1981 on the Joint International label, in NYC. It was originally intended that one of Hudson's teenage sons would voice the dubs: in the event the Love Joys, Wayne Jarrett, and most inimitably Hudson himself featured at the microphone. Like Wackies, Hudson was a Studio One devotee — 'I used to hold Don Drummond's trombone for him so I can be in the studio', he once recalled — and the album follows Coxson's recent strategy of overdubbing signature rhythms. The Studio One sides were aimed at the dancefloor; Hudson's reworks of tracks like 'Melody Maker' are more psychological. Here deep Barrett Brothers rhythms are remixed deeper with reverb, filters and other distortion, pitched down, everything; and overlaid with new recordings, often heavily treated, of guitar, percussion, keyboard, voice. Playing It Cool is legendary, strange, utterly compelling music."

HUDSON, KEITH: Playing It Cool LP (BRIT 009 LP). $15.00

LP version.

HUDSON, KEITH: Flesh of My Skin Blood of My Blood CD (BRAT 1005CD). $17.00

"Flesh Of My Skin... is the most hallowed of all those reggae albums which remain unavailable, and Keith Hudson's key achievement in a career launched when as a fourteen-year-old he recorded members of The Skatalites on his Shades Of Hudson rhythm. Originally released in 1974, after a series of solid-gold productions for Ken Boothe, Delroy Wilson, John Holt, U-Roy and the rest, it projects Hudson's removal from JA to London and New York studios and transatlantic audiences, and inaugurates a sequence of albums — classics like 'Pick A Dub', 'Brand', 'Playing It Cool' — which show his troubled experimentalism better suited to the LP than the cardinal 7" reggae format. Anchored here by Santa Davis and George Fullwood from the Soul Syndicate — alongside musicians like Augustus Pablo, Count Ossie and Leroy Sibbles — Hudson's mood is tormented and dazed, as on titles like 'Darkest Night', 'My Nocturne' and 'Testing My Faith' he struggles for Black senses of commitment — political, existential, religious — at its breaking point. Magnificently and deadly serious, hauntingly unique, unmissable and unforgettable."

HUDSON, KEITH: Flesh of My Skin Blood of My Blood LP (BRAT 1005LP). $16.00

LP version.

BASTA (NETHERLANDS):

VARIOUS ARTISTS: Popular Electronics 4CD BOX (BASTA 9141). $55.00

Subtitled: Early Dutch Electronic Music from Philips Research Laboratories 1956-1963. Basta are well known for the mind-bending packages, but this one tops them all. Four CDs of historical, long desired early electronic music from legendary Dutch composers, (in association with Philips) packaged in a deluxe box with 8(!) individual booklets of liner notes and photos, etc. (180 total pages). Plus a series of fold-out posters of electronic scores, stickers, etc. Simply over the top. Fans of Pierre Henry, Jean-Jacques Perrey, Raymond Scott's electronic music, etc. — should all investigate at full speed. "A multi-CD release that will give a historic overview of Dutch popular and applied electronic music from 1956-63. The CD's contain music from Henk Badings, Kid Baltan, and Tom Dissevelt. Besides tracks that have been released on vinyl in the late 50's / early 60's on Philips (Kain en Abel, Song of the Second Moon, Evolutionen, Electronic Movements, Contrasts, Mechanical Motions, Pianoforte, Intersection, Fanatasy in Orbit), many never before published material has been re-discovered and restored for this project. Graphic design by Schreuders and Sonja Hamel. The text includes contributions by Rudie Kagle, book editor is Irwin Chusid."

SCHWITTERS READ BY JAAP BLONK, KURT: Ursolate CD (BASTA 9145). $19.00

"In 1979, Blonk first heard the ursolate as read by Dutch actor Hans Hausdorfer. Over the following years he took to learning the piece by heart, bit by bit, in such a way that each segment acquired an individual meaning for him. For a long time, the Schwitters estate did not give permission to issue recordings of his works. Only in 2002 the ban was lifted and the performing and publishing rights were turned over to a foundation based in the Sprengel Museum in Hannover, the Kurt und Ernst Schwitters Stiftung. This meant that, finally, Blonk's 1986 studio recording could be made available to the public. On the present CD, Blonk decided to add a recent recording of the sonata. For reasons of contrast he chose a live recording from 2003, made in a richly reverberant space. It is complete and unedited, spiced with the inevitable odd slip of the tongue that helps keeping a live performance alive." Published with 36 page booklet, including complete libretto.

POPP, ANDRE: Delirium in Hi-Fi CD (BASTA 9031). $17.00

"CD reissue of the legendary vinyl album with which French composer/arranger André Popp explored the boundaries of audio technology back in 1957. Old tunes like 'La Paloma' and 'Beer Barrel Polka' were reinvented by way of weird orchestrations and sound effects. The result: a milestone of musical creativity." Utilizing half-speed, double speed and backwards recording techniques, for trombones, vocals, vibraphones, flutes, saxes, trumpets, tape delay, accordion, etc. Following swiped from the pen of Johan Kugelberg: "This record is the crème de la crème of fucked up musique concrete/easy listening records. Any avant garde tape manipulation technique to known to man in the late 50s is utilized to the fullest extent of the law of ridiculousness."

SCOTT, RAYMOND: Soothing Sounds For Baby 3LP (BASTA 9035). $46.00

A limited edition (1500 sets) reissue on LP of the 3 original volumes of Raymond Scott's Soothing Sounds For Baby series, with reproductions of the original LP cover artwork/liner notes. All 3 LPs are printed separately, but shrinkwrapped together so that they can only be sold as a set. Featuring the legendary electronic music of Raymond Scott from 1963, originally issued by Epic Records.

SCOTT, RAYMOND: Manhattan Research Inc. 3LP (BASTA 9045). $46.00

Astounding triple LP version of this collection of unreleased electronic music from Raymond Scott's studio, from the 1950s & 60s. Previously issued as a double CD w/ book (BASTA 9078). This vinyl edition is presented as three LPs, each packaged and in its own full color gatefold jacket, all shrinkwrapped together (the LPs are not available individually). Contains all 69 tracks found on the CD version. "Over two hours of Raymond Scott's unreleased electronic recordings from the 1950s and 60s. In 1946, Scott formed Manhattan Research Inc. (MRI), billed as 'Designers and Manufacturers of Electronic Music and Musique Concrète Devices and Systems'. His colleague Robert Moog said, 'Scott was definitely in the forefront of developing electronic music technology and in the forefront of using it commercially as a musician.' Soothing Sounds For Baby was just a warm-up. With MRI, prepare yourself for something beyond the pleasant parameters of pop. Scott's electronic experiments took him to uncharted netherworlds. The results are intriguing, compelling, and occasionally diabolic. Where SSFB offers relaxing ambience, the grotesqueries of MRI promise a sonic excursion to the realms of weightlessness, moon-craters, and six-armed aliens with twittering antennae. The recordings range from detergent jingles to decidedly non-commercial — uncommercial, even — experimental adventures in sound sculpture."

POPP, ANDRE: La Musique qui Fait Popp! CD (BASTA 9057). $17.00

"New recordings by the Dutch Metropole Orchestra of original works by French composer/arranger André Popp from the fifties and early sixties. Most of these funny and cleverly arranged compositions were originally written for Popp's own radio orchestra." Produced by Gert-Jan Blom and released in 1996, covering various Popp works from 1952-62.

SCOTT, RAYMOND: Soothing Sounds For Baby Vol 1 (1 to 6 Months) CD (BASTA 9064). $13.00

Unbelievably great reissue of 3 LPs originally issued by Epic in 1963. Utilizing a proto-Electronium, oscillators, an Ondioline, tape echo and other primitive electronics, this is shockingly contemporary sounding and nothing like Scott's familiar cartoon-jazz and orchestral work. These CDs are legally licensed from Sony by the Dutch Basta label, sound stellar and are each packaged with a16 page booklet of notes & photographs. All three volumes are essential. "In retrospect, SSFB's simple, repetitive melodies and rhythms, intended to pacify infants, sound like—but pre-date—some of the gradually shifting, hypnotic dreamscapes composed by Phillip Glass and Terry Riley a few years later. They also foreshadow the 1970's electro-dance drones of Kraftwerk and Neu!—Irwin Chusid. From the liner notes by Joachim Gurewitz: "Despite its title, Soothing Sounds For Baby isn't just for infants. When it was recorded by composer/electronic music pioneer Raymond Scott in 1962 or '63 it was intended for babies—but history has endowed this deceptively simple work with a broader significance. Had Scott known that this elemental music's appeal would continue as its target audience grew up, he might have entitled the series Sophisticated Sounds For Baby. Released on three long-playing records in conjunction with the Gesell Institute of Child Development, Inc., Soothing Sounds... was intended to serve as an 'aural toy' during the 'feeding, teething, play, sleep and fretful periods' of infants in three distinct age groups. The original album notes stressed that a young child's sense of hearing is better developed than many people realize. Besides soothing infants, these recordings were intended to be 'pleasantly stimulating.' Babies like 'new sights and new sounds,' explained a booklet slipped inside the LPs. Music consists of vibrations, which babies also like—'just vibrate baby's bed gently,' the booklet noted, and 'crying often stops.' By approximating 'the rhythmic tinkle of a music box' and 'a ticking watch held close to [the] ear,' SSFB provided a 'quieting' atmosphere of relaxation, warmth, and contentment. Ironically, these same qualities were embodied in a type of adult music that evolved in the 1970s and '80s. Brian Eno's 1975 album Discreet Music is often cited as the first deliberate attempt at 'ambient music' (though Eno cited No Pussyfooting, a 1973 collaboration with guitarist Robert Fripp, as a forerunner). This music, intended to pacify and mesmerize, later mixed with dance beats into such styles as ambient house, trance, techno, and trip-hop. Echoes can be heard in the recordings of Aphex Twin, The Orb, and Stereolab, among countless others. By Eno's definition of ambient, SSFB qualifies, while pre-dating Discreet Music by over a decade. This reissue re-introduces Scott's seminal work to new generations of fans, whether their listening is active or passive—and regardless of the age of those particular generations. In fact, since the original releases had such limited circulation, it could be claimed that this reissue is actually 'introducing' this music to the world. It was easy to overlook the first time around — it doesn't scream for attention. So, relax. Listen closely. Or don't. In a world fraught with tension and insecurity, we trust you'll find Raymond Scott's gentle melodies and child-like rhythms to be soothing companions."

SCOTT, RAYMOND: Soothing Sounds For Baby Vol 2 (6 to 12 Months) CD (BASTA 9065). $13.00

Features the incredible 17-minute track "The Toy Typewriter" which Irwin Chusid has referred to as "Metal Machine Music For Babies".

SCOTT, RAYMOND: Soothing Sounds For Baby Vol 3 (12 to 18 Months) CD (BASTA 9066). $13.00

SCOTT, RAYMOND: Reckless Nights And Turkish Delights CD (BASTA 9073). $18.00

"A New & Improved remastered edition of the landmark 1992 Raymond Scott album Reckless Nights And Turkish Twilights. This 22-track CD includes the original Columbia Records 78 rpm tracks by the Raymond Scott Quintette, including all the major RSQ titles (esp. those used in WB cartoons) such as 'Powerhouse,' 'The Toy Trumpet,' 'The Penguin,' 'In an 18th Century Drawing Room,' 'Twilight in Turkey, etc. The album was produced by Irwin Chusid, with Hal Willner as Executive Producer. For the new version, all tracks were 24-bit remastered at Sony Studios, NYC (i.e., the latest technology was used to extract better sound from the original 1937-40 metal master discs); two tracks ('Oil Gusher' and 'At An Arabian House Party') have been replaced by different, newly-discovered — and better — performances; the liner notes have been corrected, updated, and expanded."

SCOTT, RAYMOND: Manhattan Research Inc. 2CD (BASTA 9078). $28.00

"Basta Records unveils Manhattan Research, Inc., a 2 CD, 69 track edition of over two hours of Raymond Scott's unreleased electronic recordings from the 1950s and 60s. These works feature such homebuilt Scott music machines as the Electronium, Clavivox, Circle Machine (early sequencer), Bandito the Bongo Artist, and more. The album includes maverick (and decidedly 'non-kiddie') collaborative works with pre-Muppet-era Jim Henson, and comes packaged in a 144-page, full-color, hard-bound book. The text features interviews with those who knew and worked with Scott (e.g., synthesizer pioneer Robert Moog, wife Mitzi Scott, electronic music authority Tom Rhea), along with countless previously unseen photos, lab notes, US patents, and scrapbook items. In 1946, Scott formed Manhattan Research Inc. (MRI), billed as 'Designers and Manufacturers of Electronic Music and Musique Concrète Devices and Systems'. His colleague Robert Moog said, 'Scott was definitely in the forefront of developing electronic music technology and in the forefront of using it commercially as a musician.' Soothing Sounds For Baby was just a warm-up. With MRI, prepare yourself for something beyond the pleasant parameters of pop. Scott's electronic experiments took him to uncharted netherworlds. The results are intriguing, compelling, and occasionally diabolic. Where SSFB offers relaxing ambience, the grotesqueries of MRI promise a sonic excursion to the realms of weightlessness, moon-craters, and six-armed aliens with twittering antennae. The 'personnel' on MRI consists of such Scott inventions as the Clavivox, a keyboard theremin that was later modified to produce an array of sounds similar to a synthesizer; the Electronium, an instantaneous composition-performance console (conceived in the '50s, developed in the '60s, used at Motown in the '70s); polyphonic sequencers, including his 'Circle Machine'; the Rhythm Modulator; and the Bass Line Generator; along with existing sound devices (e.g., the Ondioline and tone generators). The recordings range from detergent jingles to decidedly non-commercial — uncommercial, even — experimental adventures in sound sculpture. Aside from several samples of Scott re-tooling old titles (e.g., 1937's "The Toy Trumpet" and "Twilight in Turkey"), the remainder is new material. Also included, for the first time in commercial release, are several mid-1960s film soundtrack collaborations between Scott and Jim Henson."

ARLING & CAMERON/SWART: Sound Shopping CD (BASTA 9088). $23.00

New "Special Sculpture Edition" of Arling & Cameron's Sound Shopping album (previous limited edition came in a special comix edition with artwork by renowned Dutch illustrator Joost Swarte — still available in small quantities). This new version, which contains the same tracks as the earlier limited edition, is stunningly designed by Joost Swarte. Production was delayed because Swarte created an entirely new packaging format that the factory was unprepared to manufacture. It's a 8-panel Digipak with cardboard cutout sections, with Joost's illustrations on all sides. Pretty unbelievable. Limited stock...

HOFFMAN, DR. SAMUEL J. & THE THEREMIN: 3CD (BASTA 9093). $38.00

"Three out-of-print and long-sought albums featuring the ethereal sound of the Theremin are being reissued by Basta in a boxed set. Music Out of the Moon, Peace of Mind, and Perfume Set to Music have been digitally cleaned and have never sounded more beautiful. The music, by famed composer Harry Revel, is performed on Moon and Perfume by Exotica icon Les Baxter, and on Peace of Mind by bandleader Billy May. On all three albums, the eerie-sounding Theremin is played by the legendary Dr. Samuel J. Hoffman, wizard of the instrument. Liner notes were penned by Albert Ginsky, currently finishing a Theremin history book, Out of Thin Air (University of Illinois Press). The CD booklet includes many rare photographs, and each disc is packaged in the original sleeve artwork." Very elegant package; cheapskate alert: these are short albums, total playing time for the 3 CD set is about 54 minutes.

SCOTT, RAYMOND: The Chesterfield Arrangements CD (BASTA 9097). $19.00

"Collection of originally unrecorded orchestral arrangements of classic Raymond Scott charts (newly recorded here by the 60-piece Metropole Orchestra featuring the Beau Hunks Saxette) commissioned by Paul Whiteman from his orchestrating staff between 1937 & 1938. Scott-quintet Chestnuts such as 'Powerhouse' (two separate versions), 'Dinner Music for a Pack of Hungry Cannibals', 'The Toy Trumpet', 'Twilight in Turkey', and 'Reckless Night on Board an Ocean Liner' here get recontextualized into denser, sophisticated takes on the now-familiar themes & variations. Things get pretty 'lush' after a few tracks, but if you've waded in this deep into the Raymond Scott (kiddie) pool, you might as well touch the other end." — Hrvatski.

SCOTT & THE SECRET SEVEN, RAYMOND: The Unexpected CD (BASTA 9106). $16.00

"In 1959, Raymond Scott assembled an anonymous all-star band and dubbed them The Secret Seven. With this group of top jazz players, he recorded the album The Unexpected. For nearly 45 years the identity of the Secret Seven line-up has remained a mystery, but as Nat Henthooff wrote in the liner notes, 'Jazz listeners should recognize the identity of the performers.' This is another CD in Basta's Essential Reissue series, complete with the original liner notes & original cover artwork."

SCOTT QUINTETTE, RAYMOND: Microphone Music 2CD (BASTA 9109). $19.00

"... A new collection of vintage 1930s Raymond Scott Quintette recordings, entitled Microphone Music... The title refers to Scotts emphasis on the microphone as a 'seventh member' of his legendary six-man Quintette, and the mic's importance in helping Scott shape the recorded sound of his ensembles. The 42-track compilation will feature unreleased titles, radio performances, first-rate rehearsals, and out of print gems by the Raymond Scott Quintette, recorded between 1937 and 1939. The collection was mastered from discs preserved in the Scott archives."

ELLIOT AND HIS SWINGING BIG, BIG BAND, DEAN: Zounds! What Sounds! CD (BASTA 9111). $16.00

"Long-sought Bachelor Pad classic now on CD. Zounds! What Sounds!, the legendary 1963 album by Dean Elliot & His Swinging Big, Big Band, is now on CD as part of Basta's Essential Reissues series. The album is a wild collaboration between orchestra director Elliot and cartoon sound effects wizard Phil Kaye. The inspiration for Zounds! came when the L.A.-based bandleader was tooling around Woodland Hills, and stopped for a traffic light. His ears caught the rhythm of a cement mixer nearby, and he started snapping his fingers in synch with the mixer's gyrations. 'This has a terrific beat,' thought Elliot. 'How would it go with a melody?' Thus was born the woofer-wasting, tweeter-trashing Zounds! What Sounds!. Elliot's arrangements combine the orchestral explosiveness of Nelson Riddle with the percussive devilry of Spike Jones: brass and reeds compete for soundscape against short-wave signals, mechanical teeth, squeaking doors, bowling balls, hoot owls, pogo stick springs and underwater detonations. The sound effects were courtesy of Phil Kaye, a sonic alchemist whose mayhem underscored Tom & Jerry cartoons. The golden age of bachelor pad music (1955-1965) was marked by clever and creative use of studio technology to enhance live performances. Measured against such hi-fi/stereo stalwarts from the period as Esquivel, The Three Suns, Enoch Light, and Dick Schory, Zounds! What Sounds! deserves landmark status. In a long writing, conducting and arranging career, Elliot composed scores for such films as The Phantom Tollbooth, High School Confidential (with Mamie Van Doren) and College Confidential (with Mamie Van Doren and Steve Allen). He also scored for such animated TV shows as Alvin & the Chipmunks, Bugs & Daffy, and Heathcliff, and for theatrical releases of Tom & Jerry cartoons directed by Chuck Jones. The master tape of Zounds! that Basta received from Capitol was in excellent condition. Inferior-quality bootlegs have been circulating for years, reflecting the collector's status of this legendary LP."

PERREY & DAVID CHAZAM, JEAN JACQUES: Elektronics CD (BASTA 9113). $17.00

"The name Jean Jacques Perrey should be immediately familiar to electronic music fans, particularly those who are aware of the Moog synthesizer's golden age of the '60s and '70s, when Moog synthesizer records were plentiful in record stores. But unlike most of those LPs — which usually covered other artists' tunes from the Beatles to Bacharach to Bach and beyond — Perrey's albums were mostly filled with catchy, incredibly happy original tunes showcasing Perrey's wacky musical sense of humor. From 1966 to 1970, Perrey released four LPs for Vanguard — two with arranger Kingsley, and two by himself as a solo artist. In addition to their records for Vanguard, during the early '60s, Perrey and Gershon Kingsley also created many commercials for radio and television. Around 1970, Perrey's contract with Vanguard ended, and he returned home to France. When Chazam became fascinated with Perrey's music, he sent a cassette of some of his own electronic music to Perrey, and proposed that they collaborate on an album. Perrey's reply was positive and said simply 'When, where and how?' Perrey joined Chazam in the studio, bringing his prepared tape loops (digitally loaded into his Kurzweil synthesizer/sampler), but bringing no actual tunes to record.

Instead, he arrived with what he calls 'several cine-reels in my head.' These 'cine-reels,' as Perrey calls them, were little movies — imaginary pictures and conceptual ideas that Perrey wanted to orchestrate with music. He would describe the feel of the music needed, and Chazam would come up with an appropriate rhythm track. David Chazam: 'This album was produced by a person who loves Jean Jacques' music — me! I wanted to present his music with some nice modern technical tricks, but I also tried to recreate the classic analog sound of his Vanguard recordings. I wanted to help him create an album that I hoped would be timeless, and wouldn't sound dated many years from now.' Jean Jacques Perrey's music for Elektronika is a perfect blend of the style of his classic '60s melodies blended with more modern, groove-oriented samples and production techniques."

SCOTT, RAYMOND: Kodachrome: Compositions For Orchestra By Raymond Scott CD (BASTA 9118). $18.00

"Kodachrome is a sparkling collection of Raymond Scott's idiosyncratic orchestral music, performed by the 60-piece Metropole Orchestra. All compositions make their CD debut here. With Kodachrome, the Raymond Scott legacy grows yet again. After Scott disbanded his legendary 'Quintet' in 1939, he formed the first of his many orchestras. Scott continued to compose, this time for a larger canvas, and some of his more historically fascinating work often went commercially unrecorded, performed only on radio (and preserved on transcription discs made by Scott himself). Kodachrome was produced by Beau Hunks leader Gert-Jan Blom, and features exceptional cover artwork by Kellie Strom, and liner notes by illustrious author and jazz historian Will Friedwald."

BATTLE TRAX (UK):

CYBERNET SYSTEMS: Robot Movement CD (BTCD 001). $16.00

"Phil Klein aka Bass Junkie has released 2 albums as Bass Junkie through Ed DMX's Breakin' Records. Partner with Scott Weiser of Dynamix II / Jackal & Hyde on Industrial Bass Machine album on Miami based label Joey Boy Records. He has recently remixed Radioactive Man on Andrew Weatherall's RGC label and remixed the 1982 Classic Electro track 'Hip Hop Be Bop' by the legendary Man Parrish due out the same day on Breakin' Records. Phil also runs the Battle Trax label. Dynamix II are involved in the track 'We are Borg' (track 10) which went on to become an underground electro classic. 15 trax exploring the different styles of Electro/Bass music. Futuristic sounds with Vocoder and very heavy BASS!"

BBE (UK):

WILL I AM: Must B 21 2LP (BBE BG005 LP). $21.00

Double LP version. Feat. KRS-One, MC Lyte, Planet Asia, etc.

CORSO, ALLEN GINSBERG, PETER ORLOVSKY, GREGORY: 3 Angels CD (BGSW 001 CD). $16.00

"BBE records presents us with their first spoken word record by three of the leading beat poets Allen Ginsberg, Gregory Corso, and Peter Orlovsky. The Beat poets emerged in America in the aftermath of World War II. Disillusioned with the progress of science and Western 'technocracy', the Beats made their own rules, celebrating life at the margins of American society. Although once rejected by mainstream society as outlaws, rebels, and morally dangerous, today the Beats are recognized as icons of America's counterculture and as one of the most influential cultural movements of the century. These exclusive and rare readings were taken from sessions recorded in 1992 in New York's Greenwich Village."

CORSO, ALLEN GINSBERG, PETER ORLOVSKY, GREGORY: 3 Angels 2LP (BGSW 001 LP). $19.00

Double vinyl version.

BEATBALL (KOREA):

TOKENS: Intercourse CD (BEAT 004 CD). $17.00

"This is a CD of the legendary vocal rock group The Tokens called Intercourse. We guess that says it all. What we have here is the great lost Tokens album, recorded in 1968 and promptly turned down by WB. To fill a contractual obligation, just 200 copies were pressed up and the album pretty much remained an interesting catalog sighting before its reissue. What we also have here is a white doo-wop group delivering an album that falls somewhere between Pet Sounds and Sgt. Pepper. Everything on here works in a very organic manner: all of the songs follow a neat continuum and could easily be termed as a humanistic song cycle, each one surrounded by late-'60s Beatlesque production values, right down to the massively compressed drum sounds and omnipresent tape saturation. Trippy, loopy and totally of its time, classic doo-wop this is not; great, however, it is. This CD issue contains remastered original mono mix album plus never released stereo mix version which were founded out from their attic. Total 31 trax in."

CANTERBURY MUSIC FESTIVAL: Rain & Shine CD (BEAT 005CD). $20.00

"This limited CD issue is the sole album of The Canterbury Music Festival only 150 copies were pressed in 1968. The album has an almost willfully secret pop-sike masterpiece of sorts.... on the obscure and collectable BT Puppy label owned by the legendary doo wopper Tokens. This album contains the complete BT Puppy recordings, and is one of the rarest albums in the entire collectable Soft Rock genre! Beatball reissue CD carrying better clean sound in ever! Also this set contains newly extensive liner notes featuring the interview with the original members and rare band photos. Plus the band sticker... this is a must for all fans of soft rock & good time music lovers."

CANTERBURY MUSIC FESTIVAL: Rain & Shine LP (BEAT 006LP). $21.00

Deluxe LP version, with insert & poster; Korean pressing, limited to 500 copies.

MCCULLY WORKSHOP INC.: McCully Workshop Inc. CD (BMRC 0001). $19.00

Reissue of this obscure album (the first of 4 by this group), originally issued on Trutone in South Africa in 1969. Beautiful mini-LP gatefold jacket packaging with inserts. "A superb South African band's stunning debut album. Sgt. Pepper influenced psychedelic music blended with R&B, Garage punk tunes. Great songs, lovely vocals, strong harmonies, great distorted guitarwork."

SEARCH PARTY: Montgomery Chapel CD (BMRC 0005 CD). $19.00

"This is a first official CD issue of rare religious psychedelic rock album which features lovely female vocals and excellent blending of folk and melodic psychedelic atmosphere." Beautifully done, packaged in a quality mini-LP style jacket with insert, liner notes, lyrics, original liner notes reprinted, etc. Limited to 1000 copies. Previously reissued on LP by Void. "Legendary California Christian psych with haunting female vocals and a mood of acid in the air. Folky, psychy, inventive, dripping with acid. The best of both worlds. God and music."

HICKORY WIND: Hickory Wind CD (BMRC 0006CD). $19.00

"This Indiana based band released only a handful of copy which full of variety with psychedelic tunes. Sounds much alike the acid rock era of The Byrds & Buffalo Springfield. Also this reissue features 4 bonus tracks of B.F. Trike which founded by three members after disbanded Hickory Wind." Packaged in a high quality mini-LP style gatefold jacket, with insert, Limited to 1000 copies.

FEMININE COMPLEX: Live'n' Love Plus CD (BMRC 0013CD). $20.00

Korean pressing, in deluxe mini-LP packaging. Original album plus 14 bonus tracks (3 more than previous Teen Beat edition). "One of the most interesting pop/psych records of recent day, the sole album by the 4-piece all girl band Feminine Complex. Their one and only record released out 1969 on Athena label, which were located Nashville, Tennessee (!). This album contains various garage tune, soft pop sound with the spirits of '60. Easily, it's another true case of the mixture of soft girl pop & garage-psychedelic sound. So, it's Great 60's Girl Psychedelic Pop. Our issue comes with the original cover art in paper sleeve with an extra ordinary booklet."

EUPHORIA: Euphoria CD (BMRC 0014CD). $24.00

"Obscured 60's outfit leading by Tom Pacheco who is a brilliant singer songwriter lived in Woodstock area. This album contains excellent mix of west coast rock and acid folk sound similar to Mamas & Papas, Take off period of Jefferson Airplane with male female harmonies. And some tracks are well-crafted sunshine pop / soft rock tunes for the genre fans. This issue comes from the original master tapes for the first time ever. Packaged in gate folded Beatball paper sleeve with an extra ordinary booklet."

DEVILS: Devils LP (BMRL K4). $24.00

Reissue of the 2nd Devils album (of 5), originally released in Korea in 1974. Described as a "mega rarity of 70s Korean garage-beat psychedelic." Packaged in a heavy duty LP jacket, with large poster, 8 page booklet with photos, limited to 1000 copies.

HYUN & DONKIES, SHIN JOONG: In-A-Kadda-Da-Vida LP (BMRL K6). $22.00

Reissue of this Korean underground album, originally issued in 1970. Packaged in heavy duty LP jacket, with giant poster & insert. Limited-numbered edition 1000 copies only. Yes, it includes a "side-long" version of a conveniently re-named "In-A-Gadda-Da-Vida". Plus a bonus track. Last copies.

HE 6: He 6 A Go Go! - Go Go Sound '71 (1 & 2) 2LP (BMRL K7/8). $48.00

"Beatball Music proudly presents the one of the monster rarity of Korean psychedelic rock album. This box set contains 2 mega rare LPs of the HE 6 that were released in editions of only 300 copies each for promotion at that time (1971). This amazing set shows an excellent mixture of psychedelic, Latin jazz rock, blues-oriented hard rock. Kim Hong-Tak's heavy fuzz guitar allow the set with best funky rhythm set [Cho Yong-Nam & Kwon Yong-Nam (later SJH & Yeop Juns)] and flute ever in Korea. After the release this set they recorded mega hit funky-psych album Beautiful Doll (also reissued on Beatball, GBRL-1). We recommended for all psychedelic stoners, DJ and deep groovers in the world. Each LP housed in high quality heavy sleeve; 24-page color book includes extensive (English) liner notes and rare photos; 6 post card set & Band logo sticker; 2 big sized posters; Limited to 1000 numbered copies."

MUD ACRES: Music Among Friends CD (BSCD 002). $17.00

Reissue of this 1974 Rounder album, one of the label's earliest releases, never issued on CD in the US. High quality mini-LP style packaging, with extensive English liner notes, etc. Woodstock-era folk music. "This is the first project album by Happy and Artie Traum brothers with various folk singer songwriters in Woodstock area. The Traum brothers as well as musicians from school of Woodstock such as Maria Muldaur, Eric Kaz, Jim Rooney, Bill Keith and John Herald in 1973. This is a true gem in country & folk blues. Historical recording in ever."

WOODSTOCK MOUNTAINS: More Music from Mud Acres CD (BSCD 003). $20.00

"School of Woodstock's re-gathering results in 5 years. Numbers of musicians can be seen in the album including Paul Butterfield (ex-Blues Project, Betterdays), John B. Sebastian (ex-Lovin' Spoonful), Eric Andersen, Paul Siebel, Pat Alger and early Rory Block. With an original members like John Herald (ex-Greenbriar Boys), Happy & Artie Traum too. The album contains well crafted their own songs with the varieties from American traditional tunes. Nothing's better than this. The cover tells everything about the album. This issue has a bonus cut from John Herald's unreleased archives."

HE 6: Beautiful Doll LP (GBEL 001 LP). $23.00

"In the late 60s Korea, many groups or so-called the 'Group Sound(s)' had expanded their territories from the stages of the 8th U.S. Army that was a sort of 'their own private league' to 'general public'. The album showing us clearly that the accidental rock music style has already established its own places and territories in Korean music scene in 70's, and this phenomenon is contemporary with its 'original' ones (like those of the U.S.A or the U.K). To be short, while the recently reissued or rediscovered albums of Shin Joong-Hyun show the extremely 'Koreanized' rock music, the music on this album of the HE 6 show a real 'occidental' one, in an orthodox meaning of the word. This album shows an excellent mixture of GS beat, psychedelic, funky rhythm based brass-rock that consisted all the main elements of the time in incident. This album must be an 'amazing discovery' for collectors. All the more, these long-piece of 'Get Ready!' even in a pure improvisational form. Although it was already well known that already in 70s there existed the 'spontaneous native' rock music in Korea."

BEATBALL/FAB-BEAT (KOREA):

CHALLENGERS, THE: The Challenger's LP (FAB 001 LP). $21.00

Elaborate LP-only reissue, full color gatefold sleeve, with poster and obi, pressed in Korea. "A great Puerto Rican garage psych group who sang in English, with pleasant multi-part vocal leads sitting atop more engrossing Latin rhythms and instrumental flourishes, fine fuzz guitar work and screaming farfisa organ. This is the first time reissue for LP of this rare central-south American psychedelic vinyl."

BEATROCKET:

J.K. & CO.: Suddenly One Summer CD (BR 126 CD). $12.00

"In 1968, under the sway of the Beatles and LSD, 15 year old guitarist/singer Jay Kaye trekked from Las Vegas to Vancouver, British Columbia. There, with a topnotch team of session musicians, he recorded Suddenly One Summer, a dark masterpiece of orchestral psychedelia, intended to musically represent the life and death of a man. This first-ever legitimate reissue of this ultra rare album is available on CD and 180 gram vinyl, direct from the analog master tapes, and features interviews with Jay Kaye and key members of his Company."

J.K. & CO.: Suddenly One Summer LP (BR 126 LP). $13.00

180 gram LP version.

AFTERGLOW: Afterglow LP (BR 127 LP). $13.00

"Thirty three years later, Afterglow remains a riddle wrapped in an enigma. What's perfectly clear about this puzzling Klamath, Oregon foursome, however, is the staying power of their sole album, which wanders from chiming folk-rock and the perfumed bliss of lite-psych, to spaced-out, extra-terrestrial weirdness and down-to-earth pure pop. Long a best-selling CD, Afterglow is available at last on 180 gram vinyl, from the master tapes, with original cover art faithfully reproduced and four bonus tracks added to the original 1968 album."

BEATS UNDERGROUND (GERMANY):*VA: Beats Beyond The Underground Vol. 1 2CD (BEYOND 001 CD). $17.00

"Beats Beyond The Underground isn't just another Electronica compilation. It is a well developed project, founded by the Eleganz label artist Jean Michel, presenting high profile electronic on his European tours, before or after performing as a live artists. This DJ concept got so popular, that he decided to create a CD with the most reputed tracks. The music is a variety from Drum & Bass to Minimal Techno or Elektronika. Names like Manioba, Depeche Mode, Elektrotwist, Seiji, Farben, Frank Martiniq, Foetus, To Rocco Rot, Hidden Agenda or Jürgen Paape are well established names from over- to underground. Beats Beyond The Underground does not present hits, it presents an artist's musical concept, that is tastefully represented by Jean Michel himself, carefully selected originals and remixes."

BEAU RIVAGE (GERMANY):*VA: Turning Dreams & Shifting Harbours CD (BR 015 CD). $18.00

"This compilation is Beau Rivage's contribution to the Kidnapping Europe art project. It features 16 exclusive tracks from people like David Grubbs, Luke Sutherland, Jukka Reverberi (Giardini di Miro), Volker Zander (Calexico) and Christof Kurzmann alongside several Beau Rivage regulars and some new faces. The stylistic variety on the album goes from classical songwriting over many shades of electronic music to rather open compositions and field recordings." Artists: Andi Schoon, James Merle Thomas, Wio, Jules Etienne, Jochen Briesen, Jürgen Heckel, Jan Thoben, David Grubbs & David Sheppard, Alexander Polzin, Andi Künnecke & Christian Smukal, Luke Sutherland, Howard Monk & Loz Speyer, Jukka Reverberi & Christophe Stoll, Steve Roden, Christof Kurzmann, Volker Zander, Philipp Janzen & Christoph Leidig.

BECAUSE TOMORROW COMES (GERMANY):*VA: Because Tomorrow Comes #1 CD (BTC 01). $15.00

"Listen to what crisps, talks, bleeps and chirps there — or is the vacuum cleaner still on? Because Tomorrow Comes brings it closer to your ears! BTC is a forum, a magazine for sound-art in the form of an audio CD. It compiles contributions from artists who have chosen for the acoustics as working field, starting from the visual aspect and going to the musical one, then trying to promote the reachings of their soundart. The final purpose is to present it as a 'listenable exhibition'. So, a magazine to listen to, with, most of the time sound contributions, but also spoken words from the artists and varying texts about & from the artists and from art-historians and music-scientists." This first volume features contributions from: Rolf Julius, Alvin Curran, David Moss, Gen Ken Montgomery, Lawrence Weiner, Lou Mallozzi, Stephen Vitiello and Tracy Leipold & Tony Oursler.

VA: Because Tomorrow Comes #2 CD (BTC 02). $15.00

Volume two features: Manos Tsangaris, Charlemagne Palestine, Kristin Oppenheim, Hans Peter Kuhn, Carsten Nicolai, Christian Marclay, Christina Kubisch, Jeff Perkins.

VA: Because Tomorrow Comes #3 CD (BTC 03). $15.00

"Volume 3 of this forum and magazine for sound-art in the form of an audio CD. It compiles contributions from artists who have chosen for the acoustics as working field, starting from the visual aspect and going to the musical one, then trying to promote the reachings of their soundart. The final purpose is to present it as a 'listenable exhibition'. So, a magazine to listen to, with, most of the time sound contributions, but also f.e. spoken words from the artists and varying texts about & from the artists and from art-historians and music-scientists." BTC # 3 features Johannes Wohnseifer (sounds of electric machines made by the Braun Co.), Ross Sinclair, Dave Allen, Kristin Oppenheim ("sound installations that deal with hardly perceptible, spare interventions in space"), Alexander Györfi ("builds concrete meta-models that demonstrate the basically conceptual character of all pop music"), Slave Planos, Rodney Graham, Annika Eriksson and Christine & Irene Hohenbchler.

BEGGARS BANQUET (UK):*SUN DIAL: Bad Drug 7" (BBQ 54 EP). $4.00 Limited supply of 7" copies in picture sleeve, pressed on lime green vinyl.

BEHEMOTH RECORDS:*CRAWLSPACE: God-Zee 10" (BET 400). $7.50

Original copies of this 1992 EP, numbered edition of 400. Includes their version of Ornette's "Dancing In Your Head". Last copies.

BEIGE RECORDS:*8-BIT CONSTRUCTION SET, THE: The 8-Bit Construction Set 12" (BEG 004). $7.00

2001 release, repressed. "A concept record documenting Jack Tramiel's electric slide between various entertainment-tech firms during the early half of the 1980s. Audio consists of themes, stabs and other detritus from various arcade (Atari) & home (Atari/C64) versions of flagship 80s entertainment applications. Atari side features commercials, ads game sounds, the 2-bit recreation of the head of Van Halen's cover of the Kinks; 'You Really Got Me'. On the C64 side we find all matter of SID tones, another grand original tune in SID style (called 'DOLLARS'), then another LP-ROM track, this one a 6581-303 emulator (!). Visionary stuff." — Hrvatski

BELLAPHONE (GERMANY):*PELL MELL: Marburg CD (BELLA 09004). $11.00

German progressive-psych group's debut album from 1972 issued at an attractive midline "pocket price". "A unique combination of psychedelic and progressive sounds, complex and lyrical, with subtle classical touches handled in a manner rivaling the best Italians of the era. A unique touch was the two lead guitarists, each with a distinctly different style, drawing comparisons with Gentle Giant. And, the music was really quite avant-garde for classical-rock, not least so the closing opus 'Alone' which moves on the realms of Phallus Dei-era Amon Düül II." — Freeman Brothers.

BENBECULA (UK):*OPERATOR: Os 1.1 CD (BEN 011CD). $13.00

"After making his debut on the compilation Alba Absurdia, Operator continued to record electro-caustic musings and dance floor subversions for his first EP, OS1.1. Here are the results — Operator's unique production techniques reveal themselves to be most eclectic and contemporary, managing to be both muso and funky at the same time. From the crackle of 'Streetlight Constellation' you could be in Keith Whitman / Fennesz guitar processing territory. 'Closed Circle' whops down a massive bassline on the table, then carves it up. 'Tisch' toys with detuned elements of the Boards/Christ axis, but adds a louche funkiness which goes down very well indeed. 'Das Boggon' broods a little more, but the clay pot percussive resonance translates well to an electronic context. 'For a whale' takes us someplace with Jonah we'd perhaps rather not have gone — detuned, inside the belly of the beast, this track appears to relish the claustrophobia of its sound. 'I want to go to host' departs radically on a twelve minute conclusion, with guitar and eccentric percussion. Individual and different, enter the world of Operator for a while, you should find something you like."

OPERATOR: Os 1.1 LP (BEN 011LP). $10.00

Vinyl LP version.

VA: Music Volumes 1 & 2 CD (BEN 015 CD). $13.50

"A much requested combination of the two sold-out vinyl label samplers from Scotland's fine Benbecula imprint. Following the acclaimed mini LP from Mikael Romanenko and Christ's already classic Pylonesque, Benbecula grant us a fourteen track overview of what they have in store, the artists a blend of known and unknown talent. A wonderful primer for a label with a strong future." Artists include: Beluga, Novel 23, Fibla, Mikael Romanenko, Bauri, Phase 6, Christ, Joni, Mr Projectile, Clubbed To Death, Frog Pocket, East Of Insanity, Marcia Blaine School For Girls.

CHRIST: Metamorphic Reproduction Miracle 2LP (BEN 018 LP). $18.00

Double LP version, full color gatefold sleeve.

REVERBAPHON: The Medium Through Which Sound No Longer Travels Is... CD (BEN 020 CD). $12.00

...No Longer Present. "It was on Alba that Reverbaphon was first unveiled. The mood here is more pensive and chilled altogether, a large clue lying in the frosty exploits of the sound engineers depicted on the CD cover, we reckon rocking the river Volga. Merging conventional and unconventional instrumentation: melodica, reverbaphone, banjo, biwa, guitar and the human voice all stand next to analogue electronics, field recordings and samples, deftly touched up on computer. This represents a refreshing, organic diversion from preset laptop hegemony — Reverbaphon allows us to fill in an all important piece of the mysterious, always collectable and above all innovative Benbecula jigsaw."

REVERBAPHON: The Medium Through Which Sound No Longer Travels... LP (BEN 020 LP). $9.00

...Is No Longer Present. LP Version.

GREENBANK: Rotating The Square CD (BEN 022 CD). $13.00

"This first release from Peter Brittain's Greenbank project glides across classic electronic terrain, employing at its root a love of the seminal IDM sound as employed by Aphex, Autechre and the Artificial Intelligence crew, coupled with an emotive response to delicate, crunchy soundscaping. The opening, 'I Need More Time', unfolds an arrangement of reflective piano cascades and squashed beats, a natural appendix to the sound of Christ that so mesmerized those who dipped into its wonders. 'My Computer' is far denser, a tougher arrangement of crunchy beats and oscillating sub-molecular basslines weaved into a nostalgic, gorgeous line-up of synths in portamento — a massive electroid monster of a tune. The 8-bit pop-blitz dysfunction of 'Loads of Little Squares' acts as fine preparation for the simply immense opener on the flip — 'Fluted'. This is an awesome, perfectly executed Plaid-esque moment, all bouncy percussion and playful synths, broken beats wrapping themselves around the mix in a vaguely West London style — set to be absolutely massive."

GREENBANK: Rotating The Square 12" (BEN 022 EP). $9.00

Vinyl EP version.

FROG POCKET: Moon Mountain of the Fords CD (BEN 024CD). $13.00

"John Charles Wilson, aka Frog Pocket, is back again with this new mini-album on Benbecula. 'My Mentle Ass' is a rampant, manic, squashed, chaotic breakbeat onslaught which ends very gracefully and in keeping with the deep, folkloric chimes and rich sound exhibited on 'Jupiter Lady Mountain Village'. Like stumbling into a strange kind of late night show, lit only by candles and shimmering cavelight, this is like some other worldly Bach recital gone astray, or Afx and Squarepusher junior on a mad one, beats underpin melancholy melodies voiced by delicately plucked guitars.. 'Hey hope', meanwhile, makes you want to don sensible cardigans and hit the slopes. There's a clear headed thoroughly Scottish musician at work here, the crunch of electronics tempered by the soothing melody of a slow air. Violins and stringed instruments resonate clear in the Frog pocket world, underpinned by sub bass hits and the exuberance of the stunning 'My Mentle Ass'."

FROG POCKET: Moon Mountain of the Fords LP (BEN 024LP). $10.00

LP version.

BETA BODEGA:*VA: Frente 57 CD (BB 01 CD). $13.50

"This release consists of all ten tracks from the now out-of-print first and second Beta Bodega 12" releases, 2K and B-2. The Beta Bodega Coalition consists of Hamijama, Patcha Kutek, Atlajala, TPM and special allied member, Mannequin Lung. In addition, Frente 57 contains new bonus tracks by Patcha Kutek (Push Button Objects), v8 & La Mano Fria and Hamijama (Takeshi Muto)."

ULTRA-RED: Desarrollos Sostenibles (Sustainable Developments) CD (BB 06 CD). $13.50

"Desarrollos Sostenibles/Sustainable Developments is an album of remixes from Ultra-red's 2000 CD, the critically acclaimed Structural Adjustments (Mille Plateaux/Germany). The new album features remixes by an all-star roster of electronic musicians from the US, Europe and Japan. Remixers include Alejandra y Underwood (Lucky Kitchen, Spain), G.R.R.L. (aka Terre Thaemlitz/Comatone, Japan), Mannequin Lung (Plug Research, Los Angeles), Spike (Phonem/Morr Music, Germany), Otto von Schirach (Rice and Beans/Schematic, Miami) and many other members of the electronica international coalition. Both albums (Desarrollos Sostenibles and its predecessor) focus on Ultra-red's collaboration with the public housing activist group Union de Vecinos which has fought to stop the demolition of public housing in Los Angeles and to ensure access to safe and affordable housing for LA's public housing residents. Now five more public housing projects in Los Angeles are targets. Those projects being considered for demolition include Nickerson Gardens and Avalon Gardens (both in South Central LA), Rancho San Pedro (San Pedro), Mar Vista Gardens (West LA) and Estrada Courts (East LA). Under the funding regulation's of HUD's HOPE VI program, the Los Angeles Housing Authority has been demolishing public housing only to rebuild new developments at a fraction the number of units, providing little to no guarantees that displaced residents will be able to return to the completed projects. With a severe housing shortage in Los Angeles, it's a scandal that the Housing Authority would spend millions of dollars to demolish existing housing stock then rebuild fewer units. The Union de Vecinos and their allies argue that the city should instead renovate existing housing stock and expand public housing for the nearly 300,000 people in need of immediate housing. Together with Ultra-red, Beta Bodega Coalition, the statemet is made loud and clear. STOP DEMOLITION!"

BETA BODEGA COALITION/SETH P. BRUNDEL: *Banana Republic v.3/Mata de Cacao CD (BB 12 CD). $13.50

"Bananas and Chocolate. From the Ivory Coast of Africa to the mountainsides of Honduras these are some of the most exploited workers in the world, suffering from long hours, low pay, forced overtime, massive exposure to dangerous pesticides, and lack of job security. In the case of bananas, they are the fourth most important staple crop in world food production, and are grocery stores' single most profitable product. In many countries such as Colombia, Costa Rica, and Panama, workers have struggled to form unions and raise wages to as much as $11 a day. But in Ecuador temporary subcontracted laborers are not allowed to form unions and are earning an average of less than $2 a day. Beta Bodega Coalition has gathered it's electronic forces from around the world to address this issue that some might date back to the 1800's with the swindling of land and then rise to power of companies such as US Brand better known as Chiquita banana. But the truth is the theft of Latin America's resources goes much farther than that, it's become imperialism's (better known today as globalization) tradition and legacy. Just ask Seth P. Brundel (known for his head nod work on Botanica del Jibaro and Counterflow) who addresses through his trademark dark strings, somber melody and powerful beats the plight of 284,000 child laborers who work in hazardous conditions on cocoa farms in West Africa, 200,000 of whom work in Cote d'Ivoire and most of whom work alongside their families. Some estimates have put the number of child slaves at 15,000, prompting proposals to bar US imports of cocoa unless shippers can prove it was grown without slave labor. Cocoa is the primary ingredient in making chocolate. No surprise two thirds of all cocoa products are consumed in Europe and North America. Musically we feel this to be one of those classic CDs you will keep on heavy rotation. 14 tracks which encompass a full range of quality sounds; a dark Datathief old school Skamtype electro ripper, the activism glitches of Ultra-red, the bouncing head nod of Prefuse 73 & V8, the powerful lyrical skill of Seth P. Guerra and Soare Spoken, and so on. Third world power."

BETA BODEGA COALITION/DJ AURA/DJ POLARIS: *Betaquatch CD (BB 12.5 CD). $17.00

"Long-in-the-making and downright essential Japan-only mix CD from Miami's Beta Bodega Coalition, offering up the label's most devastating moments to date mixed up by Schematic's DJ Aura and maverick DJ Polaris, in finest styles. Presented in the usual eye-bending packaging from one of the world's most interesting, politically aware, sonically compulsive and visually groundbreaking labels, the mix starts off with Spike (Phonem) twisting the crunchy beat into a late-night glide while V8's enduring vocal commentary chops itself into the mix. Over an hour long, the crunchy stuff comes rolling in quick succession with tracks from Ultra Red, Prefuse 73, Cyne, Patcha Kutek, Otto Von Schirach, Hamijama (Jake Mandell), and onto Botanica's Del Jibaro's massive representing Serum, Evolver, Algorithm Presents Void and more."

DOCNUKE.COM: *Petroleum G-String (Rise and Defeat #2) 7" (BB 13.5). $6.50

"The guerrillacore campaign, begun on the excellent Megadebt mini album continues: this is the second part of the uncompromising Rise and Defeat series from Docnuke.com, Miami's anti imperialist crime fighter and another rogue Megadebt member. Two sides on offer, three tracks in all, ranging from a brace of unhinged breakcore onslaughts, which are simply out of control, to a smooth, headnod banger, ideal for clubs and hot tubs. The good doctor is equipped with a zoot suit and nuclear rockets: when the media, infrastructure, wealth and the most modern military machine is all under the tightest control, how else can the oppressed resist? We need this kind of super hero to fight the super villain. His opinion, in case you've not been taking notes: The New World Order has officially begun, simple yet clever ways to herd the American sheep are all around, but Docnuke.com doesn't buy it, and neither should you. The scales are rigged, tilted too much to one side, so burn all this shit to the ground and start all over. What is a Petroleum G-String? Please write and ask your member of parliament."

DIAMOND ICE/HAMIJAMA: *Temple of Boom/Ancient Cities 1 12" (BB 3.0). $11.00

"Two full years after the enigma known as Hamijama (aka Jake Mandell) surfaced on Beta Bodega with Cultivar and Ancient Cities 2, Ancient Cities volume 1 finally surfaces on vinyl as a 3 track limited split release between Beta Bodega and its guerrillacore partner Metatronix. Hamijama continues where he left off with an offering of electro disjointed funk and techno for DJ's in the year 2012. Speaking of funk, the flipside finds three exclusive tracks from the 'Funk for da Trunk' man himself, Miami's Diamond Ice, gold teeth n'all. More minimal electro funk from Miami made for riding out while that bass drops, you couldn't really call this instrumental hip hop as the swing flies way too low and the low end flips your stomach through 360 degrees of heavy pressure — Diamond Ice's musical sensibilities make you think you are in a Grand Theft Auto video game riding down Biscayne Blvd."

KUTEK, PATCHA: *Lomito Saltado CD (BB 4.0). $11.00

"Beta Bodega Coalition transmission....bb4.0. Patcha Kutek's long awaited debut on Beta Bodega comes at a time of temporary celebration in Peru. As when this project began the country was under the grip of President Alberto Fujimori, a US and IMF puppet and right-wing dictator. Alongside his henchman Vladimir Montesino, Fujimori managed to bring Peru to new levels of violence against his own citizens and social injustice. Responsible for countless murders Fujimori was finally charged with voter fraud in a third term election he should of not even been in. Currently hiding out in Japan (nationality of his parents), as he fights extradition back to Peru. Patcha Kutek delivers an intricate assault of percussion and raw, primitive electronic sound. Pure darkness, a true reflection of the last decade in Peru. Followed by a comprehensive audio documentary by Tatiana Harrison, a Los Angeles based journalist who was on location during the most crucial times of the most recent election. Limited to 1000."

NEEDLE: *Trnsmssn.0014 CD (BB 6.5). $13.50

"Certain intercepted communiques between Beta Bodega Coalition operatives; recently declassified (1999-2000) by the CIA under the Freedom of Information Act. These transmissions were of course tampered with by the Cenral Intelligence Agency, therefore BBC is releasing these audio interactions in their original format to the public. Now available on an optical, digital, audio-device, these devices are ready for cryptanalysis on any CD-ROM or compact disc player. Receiving, scrambling and routing these transmissions is a specially enhanced networking computer known only as needle or ABUJA, version 6.5, developed at the BBCLACR (Beta Bodega Coalition Laboratory for Advanced Communication Research) connected with the BBCLAAS. Operatives dispatch transmissions and then become integrated into the needle system, little else is known about this network. Members within the system are Frank Metzger (formally of Oval), Patcha Kutek, V8, Kim Cascone (Ritornell, Rastermusic), Phonem (Morr Music), Full Swing (Orthlorng Musork, Ritornell), Sony Mao (Rice and Beans, Fal.ch), Andreas Berthling (Staalplaat, Microwave, Fällt), Oivind Idso (Ritornell), and Random Industries (ex-Autopoieses from Mille Plateaux). Product is once again packaged in Costa Rica and is sealed to maintain highest level of freshness."

BETA-LACTAM RING RECORDS:*VA: *Tribryd: Installation Soundtracks CD (BLURR 002 CD). $14.00

"Ed. of 500 copies with exclusive tracks by: Beequeen, Aranos, Illusion of Safety, Asmus Tietchens, Scanner, Rapoon, M. Behrens, C. Renou, Humectant Interruption. Tribryd is a journey through that body. There is, of course, the body of time spent creating Tribryd. There is the body that is the three part realization of Tribryd. And then there are also the individual bodies of sound and vision that both unite into a whole, but also operate as bodies unto themselves. The cues inspired in these sound artists are a rare synchronicity, whereby the Tribryd CD is an unbelievably cohesive and moving body of organic sound. Compilations can be notoriously uneven, but HMS Tribryd is a solid vessel from stem to stern."

STIMULUS: *A Motion Signal 2LP (MT 001 LP). $26.00

Double LP version.

HARLINGEN, FAT: *Black 10" (MT 015). $19.00

"An edition of 150 numbered copies on audiophile vinyl. Silkscreened cover and insert. Also included is a bonus enhanced CDR with new music and video made for this release. Black offers 2 sidelong tracks (and one short epilogue) of minimalist aggression that builds towers up and tears playhouses down. Like old Rhys Chatham and Glenn Branca with lashings of Justin Broderick and/or Steve Reich and/or those repetitive Michael Gira bits at the ends of Swans songs thrown in, each piece rises and swells, pulse by pulse, until a giant golem of music encases everything in its shadow and is finally sent off to do the bidding of its master."

GIRLFRIENDS: *CD (MT 018). $9.00

"Girlfriends recently had their first release on Beequeen's private label Plinkity Plonk. The new release will be a collaboration LP with Girlfriends (drum, guitar, bass, effects) & Beequeen (electronics, cello, turntable, tapes, noises). The instrumentation consists of guitar, drums and noise. How they choose to assemble these elements suggests what old school Can might sound like if Derek Bailey (or Sonny Sharrock) were their guitarist. Lots of open cosmos that gets filtered into noisy but compelling rhythmic excursions which then float back out to the fringes the galaxy. The prognosis is prog gnosis; occasionally beautiful instrumental lyricism which tends to become explosive."

STIMULUS: *A Motion Signal 10" (MT 023). $12.00

Third volume in the 10" series. "Stimulus, 3 lads who reside in England are gaining a rather large fan base in both England & Japan combine elements of electronica & experimental electronics to form a new and fresh approach to modern music. Futuristic electronica? Repetitious tonalities (croaking textures, tempered guitars, sparse, resonant bass), into a sand blasted piano denouement, introducing one to the taut, kinesthetic dynamics utilized by Stimulus. Each track is constructed around repetitious cadences upon which disparate textures twitch and spasm. The muffled, steel wool scrubbed, looped rhythmic impetus of the hypnotic 'Transference' is shattered as agitated streaks of fluorescent light hover and screech like flaming electronic pterodactyls. Though they utilize a love of 'Nurse With Wound', '70's Italian Prog, Iron Maiden & field recordings' as inspiration, Stimulus move well beyond, exploring sonic territories uniquely their own."

ARANOS: *Whilst Your Gaiety Melts 10" (MT 024). $12.00

"Aranos (pronounced aranyosh) was born in Bohemia (now a part of Czech Republic). He has performed as a singer and instrumentalist since the age of 8 in folk ensembles, jazz bands, rock groups, gypsy bands, ceilidh bands and as a solo artist. Written and composed in various styles from classical music to rock. He has performed and composed in dissident theatres in former Czechoslovakia. Aranos sings and plays violin, viola, cello, bass, guitar, mandolin, piano, keyboards, banjo, Chinese and Japanese flutes, santoor, drums, percussion, etc. Aranos has recorded Traditional Irish, East European, gypsy and folk albums and CDs. Aranos collaborates on a regular basis with Steven Stapleton of Nurse With Wound, David Tibet and Current 93. 'Whilst Your Gaiety Melts' starts out with rhythmic piano and violin with mixed effects and slowly morphs into a very long and sweet violin drone with haunting deep vocals. 'Octopus Field' is a more low-fi, free flowing soundscape with layers of minimal sounds and effects. smooth...and abstract. The 4th installment in the Lactamase series of 10" records."

RAJKOWSKI, MIROSLAW: *The Primary Principle 10" (MT 025). $11.00

Part 7 in the Lactamase series. "Hooked on multiphonics! This stalwart vocalist turns groaning into a sublime artform. From the ringing drones of Tuvan throat singing to the whimsy of Meredith Monk (see Dolmen Music) influenced rounds and canons, Mr Rajkowski's soliloquys display a brilliant and playful love for the human vox. Mirosław explores a wide range of vocal stylings, carefully sidestepping any semblance of the common nuisance known as words. The deliveries lean more towards sparse atmospherics (ala early Henri Chopin) than machine gun bombast, save for the occasional Schwitterisms that inevitably twist across his tongue. Mirosław clears his throat that you may clear your head."

NOISE-MAKER'S FIFES: *Múzoók 10" (MT 027). $11.00

"Pinging a bit like the audio equivalent of random and drifting thoughts whilst on the subway to work, NMF have an uncanny way of stringing together the disparate sounds of urbanopolis into a surreal narrative. Distant fragments of music blow in and away like a wind which also carries with it incomprehensible voices. A choir of night birds chime at each other over a faraway metallic ringing landscape. An accuracy of recording and a certain quietude are what make this such a brilliant piece which is not merely for the listening but also effective for mental transportation. I guess the crux of the matter is that Múzoók is like a recorded memory. Several memories, actually, and ever changing ones at that."

TROUM: *Dervish 10" (MT 030). $12.00

"Like some of the more seething Rapoon material Dervish bathes the listener in low waves of repetition that generate the appearance of sub waves which subvert and cross hatch the pieces with negotiated peaces. Loud this is not, but its mumbling rotations seep into the ear and stay there like lake water after a swim."

WHITELODGE: *Stream Of Dreams 10" (MT 031). $12.00

"This 10" EP reveals a band capable of great magick and prodigious evolution. Whitelodge has become adept at marrying atmosphere to song structure without surrendering to a belabored posture, and this even beyond the debut magnum opus. There has been found a solid footing where each sound, each note, is perfectly placed and paced. Beginnings are given to pregnant, breathing intros, allowing the music to develop and resonate before the fully formed images emerge, which ARE songs, but also tone poems. While not sounding at all like them, Whitelodge's methodology is something akin to My Bloody Valentine on 'Loveless', where pieces are sewn together, each ending making a subtle statement towards the birth of the next; textures taking equal place next to structure."

CHRISTUS & THE COSMONAUGHTS: *The Four Whore's Men LP (MT 036). $26.00

"Christus is one of the few true Gods in a movement whose handful of heroes are being quickly drowned in an ocean of mediocrity. Where others champion and claim to channel the ancient sacrosanct visions of Devo, The Rezillos, Gary Numan, The Buzzcocks et al., Christus manifests much deeper spirits more akin to Polyphonic Size, Snowy Red, Early Fad Gadget, Early Robert Rental and a whole host of other little known minimal synth master-minds. What's even more delicious about these five eucharists (aptly titled Disease, War, Famine, Death and a closing Epilogue) is their ability to transubstantiate into little wandering electronic sub-sects. Such electro-alchemy can only be the work of a divine force: wielding unbelievable and sparkling sounds that may well be hewn from the spheres themselves. Edition of 200 numbered & signed copies on 220 gram audiophile vinyl."

NULL/BILL HORIST, KK: Interstellar Chemistry CD (MT 037). $9.00

"Null provided sonic source material which Horist then organised, manipulated and added on to. So what happened? Scrumptious musical confectionaries with surprise flavour centres! Much of it is like IDM with the boring removed. More deep and less bleep. The drum machinations pound out strains reminiscent of Ikue More (ala Death Praxis) or latter day Bruce Gilbert with a bit of controlled early Nurse With Wound wail thrown in as if this amalgamation were the soundtrack to an old Atari video game (see also Haruomi Hosono)."

EARTHMONKEY: Audiosapien CD (MT 038 CD). $13.50

"The gangly orangutans behind Earthmonkey happen to be Peat Bog and Steven Stapleton. Now, we naked apes live in a world where the term 'psych' is thrown around with such frequency that it seems to mean little more than 'weird guitars,' which is everything nowadays, and could well mean Cher for that matter. So, when we say 'psych' in relation to Earthmonkey, we mean Monks. We mean Bonniwell Music Machine. We mean Wolfgang Dauner. We mean Amon Duul II. We mean Taj Mahal Travelers. We mean a bunch of other stuff that Earthmonkey wishes we mentioned but did not. Earthmonkey DOES have weird guitars, and organs, and percussion. But it also has that unnamable, freely streaming 'other' quality that sets it apart from being a somewhat avant-garde rock record. Stapleton may, in fact, be the missing link between Neander-Kraut and modern day Psych-Sapien-Sapiens. The music is, well, music. It's very outré, but is nonetheless bounded by time signatures and melody (These, however, are not ties that bind, rather, they are ties that will get you high). In other words, this is not just a noise record and throws back to Stapleton's previous Musical Pumpkin Cottage production projects and, to some extent, The LPD Malachai record he produced way back in the 'Before Times.' Earthmonkey is dark, droney, deep and, dare we say, groovy."

EARTHMONKEY: Audiosapien 2LP (MT 038LP). $21.00

"Full color gatefold sleeve, 2 x 220 gram audiophile LP's, color insert and bonus 4th side of music. Limited to 1000 copies with the first 500 copies receiving a bonus LP Earthmonkey vs. Nurse With Wound with an introduction by Jimmy Carl Black. Who, you say? Jimmy Carl Black: legendary Mothers Of Invention alumnus who has collaborated with Arthur Brown, Eugene Chadbourne and numerous others for the past 30+ years. The gangly orangutan behind Earthmonkey happen to be Peat Bog (Nurse With Wound, Inflatable Sideshow) with production and sound samples by Steven Stapleton."

ROMULUS & REMUS: 'Troth' Part One: Hekate 10" (MT 039.1). $25.00

"Erratic singing syncopations pay a tribute to the ghost of Muslingauze by expounding on his rhythmic concerns. However, R&R plays Pollack to Bryn's Bacon. Drumming is doled out in broken sentences and often sounds as if played through plasma. Spaciousness is the real greedy star here, subduing any percussive elements with humming timbres, like those heard next to cadres of power lines. Low, patient tones flow and eddy, sometimes alone and sometimes influenced by the distant thrumming. Volume 1 of 3. Edition of 111 numbered & signed copies, each with an original wood cut cover by the artist."

NURSE WITH WOUND: She and Me Fall Together in Free Death CD (MT 040CD). $14.00

Regular mass market version (previously released on LP and LTD CD), in fold out digipak. "Our most beloved resident Nurse has finally worked his way up to a Doctorate Of Madness (DOM). All those years of musical dissection have paid off and have revealed a sonic surgeon skilled at sewing sounds into solid sentence. NWWW isn't afraid to bring the pain and play that beat as his krautrock konstruktions kontinue to klimb. NWWW also brings the paeen as some of his concret hardens into something of a Homotopy to a Homotopy. Includes two bonus tracks not found on the LP version."

NURSE WITH WOUND: She and Me Fall Together in Free Death, Special Ed. CD (MT 040CD-LTD). $70.00

"A special CD edition of the LP released in May 2003. Each CD is packed in a hand sewn silk bag with silk screened art, original artwork and autograph on each by Steven Stapleton. The CD will contain the original tracks plus several bonus tracks exclusive to this release. Our most beloved resident Nurse has finally worked his way up to a Doctorate Of Madness (DOM). GREEN MILK FROM THE PLANET ORANGE: He's Crying, Look CD (MT 046CD). $14.00

"Where Acid Mothers Temple's jammy wanderings sometimes lead them astray, lost in a fog of their own screeching residue, GMFTPO's controlled madness leaves behind a resin that won't give you a headache and will have you feeling fresh in the morning. Their music, while loosely played, is steady and deliberate and its Eastern flavouring early on reminds a lot of Erkin Koray's best moments as well as churning up a little subdued Can of butter (circa Damo, where the bass plays a forward melodic role with whispered vocals, ala 'Mother Sky'). The album curdles, in places, to White Heaven-like outbursts and ferments into a couple extended excursions toward the great space udder."

GREEN MILK FROM THE PLANET ORANGE: He's Crying, Look 2LP (MT 046LP). $34.00

Double LP version.

KA-SPEL, EDWARD: O'er a shalabast'r tyde strolt ay LP (MT 048). $17.00

"A shalabast'r tyde, like unto pantent leather shoes, really doth shyne up. Reflected in the waves are twinkling stars; a smirking harvest moon; herds of passing clouds and hazy pink dots, like legends burned against eyelids after a long stare into an errant brightness. Ka-Spel's penchant for musical procreation is further fathered via this, another outstanding experimental recording. Fading into a subatomic rumble, 'Shalabast'r' sneaks into a quiet Edwardian waltz that sneaks into a fragmented sampling autoclave. If nothing else, Edward's always been a little sneaky. Maybe that's why he wears sneakers. At any rate, his cosmic overdoses are more subdued than the psychedelic damage inflicted by the full LPD ensemble, but virtuoso electronic manipulation combined with an ever deepening voice fosters a tonal child who's prodigious growth is enough to rattle the bones of mothers. And when Pandaemonium seems ready to pour out, angels appear, in the form of a vocal scented breeze that feels like walking out into the quiet stasis of sunlit, rain wet streets after a night of storm. Reflected in the pools are leafless trees; shards of morning glow; herds of passing clouds and a perfectly mysterious face. And, in the tradition of an 'Horrific Child,' the cover's exploding dramatic visage dances out like a Gagaku mask donned by a Louis Wain character as drawn during one of his latter day episodes of schizophrenia (or was it enlightenment; a true passion too often discounted as madness by the lost). This vinyl only release continues the journey started with the World Serpent CD release Caste O? Graye Skeeens."

KA-SPEL, EDWARD: O'er a shalabast'r tyde strolt ay CD (MT 048 CD). $9.00

"This CD version will feature the same tracks as the vinyl version. Originally, this was to be a vinyl only release, but Edward changed his mind due to it being his favorite work in years...A shalabast'r tyde, like unto pantent leather shoes, really doth shyne up. LEGENDARY PINK DOTS, THE: A Perfect Mystery 2LP (MT 050). $32.00

"The Legendary Pink Dots present A Perfect Mystery. This release marks the vinyl edition of the CD issued by Soleilmoon Recordings. This 2XLP includes a different mix on most songs than is found on the CD version and includes the side-long bonus track recorded for this release 'Premonition 25.' The bonus track has been described as 'Pierre Henry meets Ralph Lundsten' and was described by the Dots camp as 'a very spooky collage.' The music on the album jumps further into the psychedelically inspired Avant-Rock/Space-Rock world of the Dots."

DE KLEER, MARTIJN: So Close Yet So Far Away 2LP (MT 055). $21.00

Full color gatefold jacket with two- 220 gram audiophile virgin vinyl LPs and double sided printed insert. "This inaugural solo jaunt by Legendary Pink Dots guitarist/bassist/violinist Martijn de Kleer betrays a love for freeform freakouts of the 60's, with a special emphasis on the mellow, acid drenched stylings of the West Coast underground of the late 60's. All the I's are microdotted and all the mushroom teas crossed as Martijn's guitar gently seeps, crawls, oozes, boils and burns. And even though Martijn's Dotted past is in some evidence, this is hardly an LPD Karaoke album. This is a fully fleshed out beast of original design. Martijn's vocals occasionally punctuate the parade, but the majority involves instrumental clusters, some based in rock form and others more like giant swelling clouds, all thick with psychedelia (acid rain?)."

DE KLEER, MARTIJN: So Close Yet So Far Out CD (MT 055 CD). $14.00

"Digipak CD version of the critically acclaimed 2 X LP released last year. And yetter still, so wonderful. This inaugural solo jaunt by Legendary Pink Dots guitarist/bassist/violinist Martijn de Kleer betrays a love for freeform freakouts of the 60's, with a special emphasis on the mellow, acid drenched stylings of the West Coast underground of the late 60's. VOLCANO THE BEAR: All the Paint I Can Breathe 10" (MT 059). $16.00

"This 10" mini album presents some of VTB's very earliest recordings. The sessions seem to indicate that VTB enjoyed a particularly powerful vintage of Winsor-Newton cadmiums while recording. And for lack of VTB really repeating themselves, I can only paint an abstract portrait of the present opus. Their obsession with small sounds is in place and they already make for a crack improv ensemble, giving their pigment soaked inventions the kind of life that beckons many repeat listens. ATPICB is comprised in nearly equal parts of surrealist/dada sound sculptures and of minimal wave/prog canvases. All tracks were culled from the earliest VTB tapes of 1996."

WHITELODGE: Whitelodge LP (MT 067). $16.00

"Like a palpable ghostly presence that phases in and out vision; at once translucent and illusive; simultaneously rattling silverware, sending chills through the flesh. That strange unseen grip in the hand; that vaporous and unexplained cloud of breath in the middle of the hallway. A great billowy poltergeist, Whitelodge is a musical revelation. The Lodge skirt borderlands between the mysticism of seething 'post rock' and the dark textures of latter day 'apocalyptic folk,' managing in the end to sovereign a musical nation of their own. Somber musical expressions exude surprisingly powerful punch and often carve modest stones into towering columns of sound, which, while not actually loud, seem to imply loud. Constructed somewhat like a This Mortal Coil record, the quietly crafted combination of acoustic guitars, electric piano, bass and electronics effuse scents of Sol Invictus ('Against The Modern World'), Gastr Del Sol, Sea And Cake, Insides, late late period Swans, Rosecloude era Death In June with a little Another Green World style Eno plastering the cracks."

EARTHMONKEY: Drum Machine CD (MT 068). $11.00

"Earth 'Scratch' Monkey? Pete Bog's studio may not exactly be a Black Ark, but it is certainly a Grey Henge. Just when we thought we had the guy pegged, he adds a drum machine, eschewing his class of '72 psych ministrations for a more tranced out electro-dub. You all like LSD, right? Well, the first part of Drum Machine is rather like a post script to Coil's Love's Secret Domain album. Thereafter, Monsieur Le Bog retrofits his rockets with Kraut engines and even coughs up a hummus flavoured punker. Even more surprises in store as Earthmonkey really puts the E in EP. You'll hear what we mean, or will you?"

KA-SPEL, EDWARD: Pieces of 8 CD (MT 082CD). $15.00

Studio album, recorded 3/04. "A dark, meticulously drawn out cosmosphere that sounds like outtakes from 2001: A Space Odyssey, which then, quite simply, becomes something altogether other. Throbbing electro sequences follow, gouging out the gorgeous, and then back into the mire. Everywhere prog rock influenced with nary a guitar in sight. There is even a thematic restatement. As if the music were not reason enough to sign on board, the dynamic use of the studio as an instrument is perhaps the most stunning since the collaboration with Stapleton on Malachai."

LEGENDARY PINK DOTS, THE: Traumstadt 1 CD (TEKA 010 CD). $14.00

"Full color Digipack CD. Recordings from 1981/1982 compiling the Apparition and Atomic Roses cassette releases. These recordings document the early days of the Dots experiments in tape loops, sound collages, space rock, electro-space pop and other weirdness."

SILVERMAN: Dream Cell ZLP (TEKA 013 LP). $38.00

"2 X LP in a full color gatefold sleeve limited to 300 copies. Dream Cell is the very first solo excursion by Philip Knight (aka Silverman), keyboardist and founding member of The Legendary Pink Dots. Recorded between Summer 1992 and Autumn 1994 in Nijmegen, the Netherlands, Dream Cell was first released on CD in 1995 by The Terminal Kaleidoscope. Eight years later we bring you this exquisite vinyl edition, complete with a bouquet of vibrant bonus tracks and the original cover art returned to its full glory."

LEGENDARY PINK DOTS, THE: Poppy Variations CD (TEKA 015CD). $15.00

"New studio album on the LPDots own label Terminal Kaleidoscope. Though it may be the case that future musicologists will have to assign Kerschel numbers to LPD releases just to keep track, the vast output that has recently reigned down hath shown a group of musicians evolving even beyond previously well evolved states, possibly culminating in Poppy Variations. From the opening clogging cadence and cicada drone of Krusoe, the air begins to smell something like an Asylum on the eve of a Crushed Velvet Apocalypse. Poppy Variations isn't aping old LPD material (though it samples and processes it in the background). PV has, rather, captured those warm, heady, sweetly melodic tones of the old guard. Personal Monster and The Equaliser further evoke the thudding undercurrents and whimsy of Ancestral Dots. Crisp, walking bass stabs; percolating sequences; sax and flutes conversing with the electronics, Edward's voice quietly projecting, as from an interstellar transmission."

BETWEEN THE LINES (GERMANY):

WINTSCH/ROADMOVIE FEAT. GERRY HEMINGWAY, MICHEL: CD (BTL 002). $15.00

With Gerry Hemingway (drums), Franziska Baumann (flute, vocals), Nathalie Saudan (violin), Daniela Beltraminelli (violin), Peter Schärli (trumpet), Jean-Jaques Pedretti (trombone), Michel Wintsch (piano), Jean-Philippe Zwahlen (guitar), Martin Schütz (cello), Lucas Niggli (drums), Jean Kéraudren (sound).

MOORE/TRISTAN HONSINGER/COR FUHLER, MICHAEL: Monitor CD (BTL 003). $15.00

With Michael Moore (clarinet, bass clarinet, alto saxophone), Cor Fuhler (piano, keyolin, Hammond organ), Tristan Honsinger (cello). Recorded in Köln, Feb. 1999. "This trio's working method does not copy any of the umpteen bands these musicians have worked in of late — not ICP nor Clusone 3 (Moore) nor Cecil Taylor's units (Honsinger) nor the trio Fuhler/de Joode/Bennink. The combination of musical ingredients is specific to this combination of players. All of them have the capacity to play pretty and to make rude sounds. Michael has an irresistible bittersweet sound on alto or clarinet, which never gets cloying because it's no end in itself, but a vehicle for musical ideas. Tristan is unafraid to introduce lyrical material into an open improvisation — although his cello sound is less conventionally pretty, very idiosyncratic — and is just as ready to scrape up trouble when things get complacent. He's a born agitator." — Kevin Whitehead.

AICHINGER, OSKAR: Elements of Poetry CD (BTL 005). $15.00

"Oskar Aichinger's music is a successful attempt to think in contradictions. The individual sequences can no longer be simply divided into the convenient categories of composition and improvisation. With Elements of Poetry, we leave the realm of what has been surveyed and secured. His trio devotes special attention to the fault lines, the edges of those forms that are slowly starting to disintegrate. This music combines abstraction and sensual experience of sound in such a unique manner that it is hard to find anything comparable in the contemporary scene of improvisation. Three individualists, three manners of narration? and yet they combine to create an aesthetic characterised by disparate unity. This is music which does not hide its inherent contradictions, but puts them into clear relief. Oskar Aichinger and the fellow members of the trio succeed in realizing the ideal of musical pluri-lingualism. The ability to call oneself into question in such a many-layered manner testifies to a self-assurance that can only come from technical virtuosity, profound sensitivity and absolute clarity of thought. Elements of Poetry is an outstanding example of the sovereign formal idiom of European jazz. There is always something new to be discovered in this album, and it never ceases to be exciting. Line-up: Oskar Aichinger (piano), Achim Tang (bass), Paul Skrepek Jr. (drums)."

KOGLMANN, FRANZ: An Affair With Strauss CD (BTL 006). $15.00

"An affair with Strauss? It sounds like a daring idea, and yet, in the end, there is the music as if it were the most natural thing in the world. Franz Koglmann looks for the essence of Strauss' compositions, translates it into the idiom of jazz, defamiliarises it — and reveals what Strauss himself borrowed from other composers. By keeping at a distance, Koglmann gives us a completely new view of such apparently familiar musical forms as the waltz, for example. But he is not concerned with providing yet another jazzed up interpretation of the compositions he uses as a basis. The music represents Koglmann's musical reflections on the relevance of Strauss against the backdrop of the latest musical developments at the end of the 20th century. As in his other productions, the background is provided, not only by jazz with its tremendous emotional richness provides, but also by New Music with its exactly defined playing with forms. The understanding of jazz has suffered long enough from the misunderstanding that the desire for expression in itself already constitutes art. With his latest production, Koglmann convincingly shows that there is no opposition between intellectualism and an analytical approach on the one hand, and emotionality and expression on the other, but a mutual dependency. Just as Franz Koglmann analytically filters the tender scars of melancholy out of the ecstatic merriment of the waltz, his own music with its crystalline structures and manner of playing is a most precise impression of the uncertainty (or undefinability) of emotions."

COE/ROGER KELLAWAY, TONY: British-American Blue CD (BTL 007). $15.00

"The session of the American pianist Roger Kellaway and the British saxophone player Tony Coe — exclusively performing on C clarinet this time — sounds at once gracious and radical. The record deliberately avoids a sugar-coated 'art of the duo' situation which regularly tends to be played to death. The refusal of the two artists to engage in arty-crafty sleight of hand may stem from the fact that both of them look back on a plethora of unusual experiences and, in the course of this spontaneous encounter, were actually looking for new musical panoramas. Their biographies are so comprehensive that they can only be summarised briefly in this context: Roger Kellaway is familiar with the entire range of styles in the field of jazz. The composer of demanding Third Stream music, numerous TV series and soundtracks, accompanist of pop stars like Bobby Darin and Joni Mitchell, has no problem whatsoever moving from Harlem Stride to Swing and Bop to avant-garde music. Similarly, the musical potential of Tony Coe with laconic British understatement, he masters both the swinging mainstream and modern classical music. British-American Blue is one of the finest moments of free music, because it features two virtuosos who improvise on isolated melodic fragments and transform them into a steady stream of exciting sound experiences."

WILLERS, ANDREAS: Tin Drum Stories CD (BTL 009). $15.00

"Flight into art seems to be one of the ways of escaping the complexities of reality. Even if Andreas Willers took his inspiration for his 4-part Tin Drum Stories from the quaint twists in the plot of Günter Grass' novel The Tin Drum, his compositions and the way he transposed his model are fascinating in their own right. The explorations of this exceptional guitarist who has made recordings with most of the important European musicians, including Enrico Rava and Louis Sclavis, as well as with Americans such as Paul Bley and David Murray, are convincing simply because he has long since found a way for himself which is agreeably different from the music of multitudes of imitators of Bill Frisell and John Scofield. In his Tin Drum Stories melodies are often merely hinted at and move in space like mobiles. Some motifs arrange themselves into melodic patterns which emerge as surprisingly as the colourful, flowing patterns produced in the glass segments when one shakes a kaleidoscope. Line Up: Andreas Willers (el. & ac. guitar, banjo, ukelele, doorharp), Horst Nonnenmacher (b), Michael Griener (trap set, prepared trap set, dictaphone)."

MEHTA, RAJESH: Reconfigurations CD (BTL 010). $15.00

"In most cultures numbers have been ascribed particular attributes and can serve to define human and cosmic developments. Independent of their mystic significance in religious contexts, numbers and mathematical laws have a determining influence on architecture, painting, literature and music. Rajesh Mehta is also fascinated by the mysticism of numbers and symbols and their relation to music. The Calcutta-born trumpeter is one of the few performers whose instrumental ventures actually break new ground. In the three parts of Reconfigurations, Mehta and 'The Mehta-Metric Ensemble' create exceptional fields of sound which despite the many apparently coincidental musical silhouettes that emerge, feature a mathematical connection between the individual motifs and the temporal sequence. It is hard to imagine that the surprising effect of his work, in which several predetermined patterns keep the action flowing, could be achieved without the inspiring collaboration of his group. The boundaries between melodic and rhythmic sequences start to disappear. Brief thematic statements and excitingly employed collective and individual episodes of improvisation are the appropriate means whereby the creative musicians unite the individual parts of the mosaic into a whole. Mehta draws inspiration for his music from the rich and many-hued tapestry of Indian music and the stimuli he received from his erstwhile teacher, the multi-instrumentalist Anthony Braxton. Mehta uses his different trumpets to create a vast variety of sound colour. He himself developed an unusual instrument featured on the CD, the 'hybrid trumpet'. It consists of an array of several trumpets interconnected by plastic tubing. By using them at the same time or alternately, Rajesh Mehta can extend the range of microtonal events and sound nuances. Line Up: Rajesh Mehta (trumpet, slide trumpet, bass trumpet, hybrid trumpet and extensions), Vlatko Kucan (clarinet, bass clarinet, soprano and tenor saxophone, melodica), Aleksander Kolkowski (Stroh violin, viola), Peter Niklas Wilson (double bass), Ray Kaczynski (percussion)."

HOULE, FRANÇOIS: Cryptology CD (BTL 012). $15.00

"It starts like a quest. A quest for an impulse, for a guiding line which the music could follow. 'Palinodia I' a few notes, gentle and hesitant, like taking a last breath before embarking on a great creative endeavour. In this first track, which is representative of the CD Cryptology, the Canadian clarinetist Francois Houle and his four musicians do not choose the route of the traditional format of improvisation which consists of tuning in, moving ecstatically through the high-energy emphatic stage and then exhaustively winding down. The free imagination of the performers focuses instead on the gentle lead-in to the composition. In François Houle's case, the transitions are flowing, the borders are open, form and freedom are no longer opposites or terrains which must be defended. Francois Houle's concept of chamber-format improvisation is about the desire to use improvisation as a means of giving shape not as a means of mere self-expression. This is music in permanent motion; music which is continually ready to change direction within the larger scheme. Tracks such as 'Asymptote', which tell us about an imaginary meeting in infinity, or 'Palinodia I & II' with their poetesque allusions to a free allocation of values which can be revoked at any time, give an indication of Francois Houle's principle of safeguarding the reticent emotionality of his music by underpinning it with an intellectually sound concept. Elegance, melancholy, reflection. These three attributes aptly describe the music of this extraordinary quintet. The element of compulsion which formerly characterised free music seems to have reined itself in. Francois Houle and his musicians, whose interaction is wonderfully smooth, derive their power not from emotion, but from the abstraction of emotion, which supplements the motions of thought and expands them by a further dimension. 'Cryptology' is a track which in very non-encrypted terms deals with the clarity of feeling and the joy of thinking. Francois Houle (Clarinet), Brad Turner (Trumpet), Peggy Lee (Cello), Tony Wilson (Guitar), Dylan Van Der Schifff (Drums)."

HERBERT, PETER: B-A-C-H A Chromatic Universe CD (BTL 013). $15.00

"Carol Robinson (bass-clarinet), Ingrid Jensen (trumpet, fluegelhorn), Marc Copland (piano), Kenny Wollesen (drums), Peter Herbert (bass) Through a universal concept, which extended both to his instrumental and his vocal music, Johann Sebastian Bach created a concentrate of the entire knowledge of his time. His Baroque music always had a rhythmic pulse, both in the pieces with a puritan mood and in those suggestive of merry fêtes/feasts. The 250th return of his death, which was celebrated last year, gave rise to a flood of editions which attacked/addressed/dealt with/ his oeuvre with varying degrees of success. What the world needs least of all is a new 'Play Bach' album. The Austrian bass virtuoso Peter Herbert, who has been living among the New York avant-garde for years, has not tumbled into the pitfall of producing a jazzed-up Bach retrospective, but created an homage, which turned at the same time into a manifesto of his own individual music. With the exception of 'B-A-C-H trumpet' all the compositions were penned by himself. Independent of this fact, his imaginative bass figures and his excellent arco play dominate the dramaturgical curve of the eleven tracks. Inventive choruses are provided by the trumpet and fluegelhorn player Ingrid Jensen, who is usually rather to be found in modern mainstream. In the dark sound colours created by bass-clarinetist Carol Robinson she has found a complement of kindred spirit. The pianist Marc Copland leads the excursions into epic musical realms and drummer Kenny Wollesen supplies the suitable rhythmic impulses. The great variety covered by the performances makes this session a snapshot of contemporary improvised music."

AICHINGER, OSKAR: To Touch A Distant Soul CD (BTL 014). $15.00

"Lorenz Raab (trumpet), Max Nagl (soprano, altosax), Martin Siewert (guitar), Oskar Aichinger (piano), Achim Tang (bass), Paul Skrepek Jr. (drums). Elements of Poetry already had listeners enthusing about Oskar Aichinger's masterly command of formal idiom, which occupies an exceptional position in the realm of melodic sound sculptures and sound landscapes. For To Touch A Different Soul, the trio founded by the Austrian pianist was expanded into a sextet by the addition of two brass players and a guitarist. No friction losses occurred as the new formation found original ways of deciphering the signets contained in the leader's compositions without abandoning their own individual creativity. Alternating between written and improvised parts, they craft imaginative arcs of tension. Oskar Aichinger's music leaves abundant leeway for the listener's imagination. A piece like 'Siren Song' seems to bring voices from a crystalline world to a point of convergence with spontaneously emerging musical structures. In 'Cocoon', something we deem familiar — a hint of a blues riff — is borne away in the subsequent thematic element like a trace of sound blown there by a chance breeze. Even in the calmer sequences of the session, the spectre of leaden contemplation never raises its head. In Aichinger's music, the pauses between the individual notes are an important structural element. One example of this is the insistence of his percussive accompaniment in 'Phoenix', over which the brass instruments soar in a wondrous choreography. Other passages feature a perplexing playing with the randomness of sound episodes. In 'Ritornell', the way the brass players suddenly come in after a plethora of sublime motif sequences is just one of the imaginative demonstrations of this conception, which is dominated by exquisite melodies and sounds."

ULLMANN FEAT. CARLOS BICA, GEBHARD: Essencia CD (BTL 017). $15.00

"Gebhard Ullmann (tenor, soprano saxophones, bass clarinet), Jens Thomas (piano), Carlos Bica (bass) Gebhard Ullmann's numerous musical activities radiate outwards from Berlin and the Big Apple, New York. The saxophonist and composer has raked in a plethora of raving reviews and international awards for the creative potential of his many projects. It would be exhausting to list all the renowned musicians with whom Ullmann has performed in recent years. One authoritative source, the pianist Paul Bley, gives a typical description of Ullmann, when he calls him one of the best improvisers currently on the scene. On Essencia, Gebhard Ullmann communicates with two artists who have each developed their own musical language and moreover have a talent for integrating a wide diversity of sound fragments into original structures: the Berlin-based Portuguese bassist Carlos Bica and the pianist Jens Thomas. In compositions they have conceived together, such as Essencia Grave or Walking Poem No. 2, the protagonists take signature motifs and complete them into sound images. With its sonorous bass accompaniment, the meditative piano intro of O Profeta II forms the transition to Gebhard Ullmann's hymnic discourse on the bass clarinet. In Gospel he lets his tenor saxophone roam freely and then goes on to heighten the suggestive force of the piece by integrating melodic episodes. The identity of the group is not defined by one performer alone, it is the result of a creative process involving musicians."

EMERY & JOE LOVANO & JUDI SILVANO & DREW GRESS, JAMES: Fourth World CD (BTL 020). $15.00

"James Emery (guitar), Joe Lovano (clarinet, soprano, alt, tenor, soprano, clarinet, log drums, drums, cymbals, bells, shakers, gongs), Judi Silvano (voice, flute, gong), Drew Gress (bass) Recorded: May 15 and 16, 2001 There is a melody in Bellflower like a weird and wonderful thought, a melody that could be right out of a composition by bop-piano outsider Thelonious Monk. It throws a revealing light on James Emery, whose unique performances on the acoustic guitar are rooted both in the jazz tradition and in the contemporary world of sound. Guitar riffs with uncanny arabesques and twirls reveal his skills in single-note play just as in chord accompaniment, and have such a plastic feel to them that the sounds might have been stamped out from metal. On Fourth World, Emery converses with Joe Lovano, who has just been crowned Jazz Artist Of The Year and has received more or less all the awards the trade journal Down Beat has to bestow. What is so sensational about this session is the fact that this outstanding musician not only plays most of the instruments in the saxophone family but also excels as a drummer and percussion player. His introduction on an array of gongs in Worship creates a meditative mood, which is taken up by Emery's flexible guitar lines until a theme is set up unisono by the onomatopoeic entries of the vocalist and of Lovano's soprano saxophone. The rhythmic pulse of Drew Gress' underlying bass figures supports the guitar solo, which is interspersed with action-laden percussion. The appeal of James Emery's new CD stems from the multifarious levels of the musical action. In Hannah, an intelligent bossa nova atmosphere is created during the improvised exchanges between Lovano's tenor saxophone and Silvano's flute, underpinned by light-hearted Latin rhythms. The Next Level establishes a contrasting mood: the heated exchange between the guitar and the alt saxophone ventures into new dimensions of sound. In Golden Horn, with its brawny bass introduction, Lovano not only features in an exciting improvisation on the tenor saxophone but also provides the appropriate beats."

KOGLMANN, FRANZ: Don't Play, Just Be CD (BTL 021). $15.00

"Franz Koglmann, who likes to cross borders, pursues a dialogue between styles. Using this dialogue, which he consciously allows to include disruptions, Koglmann elegantly and expertly weaves his way along a path that avoids both the classical jazz clichés and the hermetics of e-music. His cool way of bridging worlds is often referred to as the '3rd Vienna School' by critics. On Don't Play, Just Be Koglmann collaborates with one of the world's leading New Music orchestras, the Klangforum Wien, conducted by Emilio Pomarico, and with outstanding jazz soloists. He impressively succeeds in harnessing the traditions of classical modernism and jazz for his very own world of sound. The four movements of the suite Don't Play, Just Be are a dialogue between a jazz quartet the legendary British tenor saxophonist and clarinetist Tony Coe, guitar virtuoso James Emery from New York, Franz Koglmann on the fluegelhorn and Klangforum bassist Uli Fussenegger — and composed and written processes of European e-music. The dialogue is enhanced by references to a text by Jean Cocteau and the films of Jacques Rivette, as well as hints of French film scores brought in by the accordion and violin."

ENZLBERGER, JOHANNES: Songs To Anything That Moves CD (BTL 022). $15.00

"Thomas Berghammer (trumpet, flugelhorn), Hans Steiner (bass clarinet), Oskar Aichinger (piano), Hannes Enzlerberger (bass) Recorded: Dezember 2001, Vienna. The role of jazz bassists has changed greatly over the years: they no longer have the image of an extra on stage, many musicians have demonstrated their qualities as creative composers and conceptualists. This changing role is also reflected in the young history of Between the Lines. Peter Herbert and John Lindberg are two innovative bassists featured by the label, and now they are joined by a third: Hannes Enzlerberger from Vienna. His btl-debut Songs to anything that moves is a very personal exploration of the work of Carla Bley. Years ago, Enzlerberger's interest in jazz led him directly to Bley — or vice versa; hard to say after so much time has passed. It all started with a tape of the Social Studies album, which brought Enzlerberger into the Bley cosmos track by track. Enzlerberger didn't make it easy on himself: Carla Bley and her music are one, a unity that is rare to find in jazz. The pianist's compositions pose a challenge that is very different from a standard from the Real Book: they do not obey the rules of 'pure' jazz theory, and they derive a lot of their appeal from the special way in which they are performed. Bley's ensembles are always composed of musicians with very divergent styles. This is one of the main reasons why Carla Bley's music is so unconventionally vibrant and fresh. Hannes Enzlerberger's Songs to anything that moves are the result of a work in progress. This progress was made partly consciously and partly unconsciously."

MOORE, MICHAEL: Air Street CD (BTL 023). $15.00

"Air Street continues the concept of 'Monitor', its predecessor, as the line-up clearly shows: Moore again performs with Cor Fuhler (piano, Hammond organ and keyolin (a home-made hybrid between violin and piano) and cellist Tristan Honsinger. Air Street is a little street in the centre of London — and the opening of Moore's new release sounds 'very British': his three-part composition 'Train chords / Spiky-haired boy / Mule standing in the field' starts with an intro by Tristan Honsinger, which develops into a melody reminiscent of the English 'Penguin Café Orchestra'...The comparison, however, does not get one further than the next street corner, for the music of Moore, Fuhler and Honsinger deliberately defies pigeon-holing. Michael Moore sums up the group's concept very simply: 'Air Street is chamber music, composed and played by three people.' Full stop. Moore is not a believer in the classical distribution of roles that is so common in European music history. On Air Street, all three musicians perform on an equal footing: as composers, soloists, but also as listeners... The egalitarian concept also extends to the musical styles: if Moore were to be part of any one line of tradition at all, it could only be that of Dutch improvised music. Ever since the American took up permanent residence in the Netherlands, he has been part of the close-knit circle of the Dutch avant-garde scene. That he is a virtuoso of improvisation, he has already proven in groups such as the legendary 'Clusone 3' (together with Ernst Reijseger and Han Bennink). And Moore still impresses us with his brilliant spur-of-the-moment ideas: in passing, he evokes different stations of western musical culture — and, true to Dutch tradition, always does it with a twinkle in his eyes."

HEMINGWAY, GERRY: Song CD (BTL 024). $15.00

"Lisa Sokolov: voice, Wolter Wierbos: trombone Gerry Hemingway: Drums, Sampler, Voice, James Emery: guitars, John Butcher: tenor sax, Kermit Driscoll: ac / el bass, Ellery Eskelin: tenor sax, Thomas Lehn: analogue synthesizer, Herb Robertson: trumpets, Gerry Hemingway is back! From the beginning of his career in the 70s, the tireless percussionist and composer has been unstoppable in his progression to the absolute front-line of the New York downtown scene. Songs has a fresh, dynamic sound to it. Inspiration came into his life through his marriage to wife Nancy and — in musical terms — his new-found interest in song-writing, a first in Hemingway's work. After a series of chamber music works in recent years, Songs is a liberating creative experience. The idea of writing songs didn't come to him over night, however, as Hemingway recounts: 'I have been harbouring that wish for quite some time. Songs were always a source of inspiration for my compositions, just as the phrases of singers always influenced my drumming.' What ultimately led to the present collection of songs were the changes in Hemingway's personal life, which obviously gave him a great deal of inspiration — he is bursting with creative and performing energy. And the optimism has also perceptibly infected the musicians of his excellent band — so we can really hope that life holds many great things in store for Gerry Hemingway in the coming years."

WILLERS, ANDREAS: In The North CD (BTL 026). $16.00

"One of the most convincing talents on the contemporary German jazz scene is the versatile Andreas Willers with his strong chamber-music orientation. An homage to Jimmy Giuffrè. In actual fact, however, In the North goes beyond Giuffrè's dissolution of traditional patterns, penetrating far into the desolate realm of the second-hand existences of our age. Just listen to the spacious expanses and desert-like isolation of the title piece or the tonelessly breathed interludes of trombonist Yves Robert in the subtly de-constructed Giuffrè classic 'The Train & the River' — like a meeting of people whose worst expectations of the future have come true. Art, it is true, is a reaction to its time, and this is very clear from the cleverly fragmented 'Motif' or the eerily beautiful 'Glaswerk' as well from a ghostly and very brief version of Giuffrè's 'Gotta Dance', which breaks off abruptly. Like Giuffrè's legendary groups without drums, this line-up dispenses with drums of any sort, and pianist Paul Bley provides an original link to the — meanwhile historical — trio Giuffrè/Bley/Swallow, while the virtuoso Willers and Yves Robert follow — in the widest sense of the word — Giuffrè's irresistible co-operation with Jim Hall and Bob Brookmeyer. Just listen to the flashes of genius by Bley in 'Face Two' or the dark, air-filled sound of Yves Robert in Bley's tremendous ballad 'Carla', or the inspired nimbleness of all the players in 'Motion'. We are presented here mostly with intimate, low-key stories. But they certainly tell us more about where and how we are than much of the blaring, sycophantic stamping produced by the entertainment industry."

YEDID, YITZHAK: Myth Of The Cave CD (BTL 028). $17.00

"François Houle - clarinet, bass clarinet, Ora Boasson - double bass, Yitzhak Yedid - piano. Here we have every reason to speak of a sensational discovery. Born in Jerusalem in 1971, pianist/composer Yitzhak Yedid is one of the most outstanding and original talents of the young generation. His music is characterised by a totally original combination of traditional forms of Jewish-Arabic music with European classics and the vocabulary of jazz. And although he studied jazz with Paul Bley and Ran Blake at the New England Conservatory in Boston, it is easy to hear that, despite his pronounced lyrical proficiency, he is everything but a mere epigone of his teachers. Yedid is a musical cosmopolitan in the modern sense of the word. His music is as 'between the lines' as it gets."

AICHINGER, OSKAR: Synapsis CD (BTL 029). $17.00

"Oskar Aichinger (piano + synthesizer), Stefan Nemeth (synthesizer + computer), Achim Tang (bass), Paul Skrepek (extended drums) Austrian pianist/composer Oskar Aichinger once said: 'I dream of music which is unequivocally committed to art and its complex mysteries — but is still understandable: simple yet sophisticated, like a good joke'. Deliberately old-fashioned — he steadfastly refuses to be taken in by the consumerist behaviour of the cell phone society — the artist who has chosen to make Vienna his home is a consummate master of this intelligent interplay between simplicity and complexity. Oskar Aichinger is the secret star (although 'star' is just the opposite of what he wants to be) of Vienna's underground scene, and with the delicate chamber music on Synapsis, he realises what is perhaps his most essential musical postulate: 'It is possible to find forms that have immediate impact without being banal.'"

ENZLBERGER, JOHANNES: Tango 1-8 CD (BTL 030). $16.00

"Thomas Berghammer (flugelhorn), Otto Lechner (Akkordeon), Hannes Enzlerberger (bass), Carla Bley's legendary album Social Studies (1981) seems to be the main source of inspiration for the Viennese bassist/composer Hannes Enzlerberger. Enzlerberger's Songs to Anything that Moves (BTL 022) also reveal this apparent affinity which Enzlerberger explained with a reference to Carla Bley's eclecticism and her disrespect of traditional forms. Social Studies features Carla Bley's 'Reactionary Tango', which Enzlerberger long considered a prototype of the tango before he explored the works of Astor Piazzolla. For a series of private living-room concerts, Enzlerberger composed eight delightfully atmospheric 'tangos' for flugelhorn, accordion and double bass, based on an experiment with tango clichés and with Bley's 'Reactionary Tango' always at the back of his mind. The tangos are performed by the regrettably little-known flugelhorn player Thomas Berghammer, the jack-of-all-trades accordionist of the Vienna scene, Otto Lechner, and the composer himself on the double bass. Hannes Enzlerberger's tangos are a sheer delight. They sound relaxed and non-intentional with their well-balanced combination of pain, comedy, sentimentality and grace."

EGGERT, MORITZ: Wide Unclasp CD (BTL 031). $16.00

"Moritz Eggert used gentle irony to create the music for the memory chambers of Anne Sexton's existential poems: terrible, funny, strange, brilliant. Shortly before her suicide in 1974, American poet Anne Sexton wrote a series of poems in which she evoked rooms and houses filled with strange memories. The maze-like Winchester House near San Francisco, where the Winchester rifles heirless led a spiritistic existence, is just such a place. Composer/pianist Moritz Eggert has placed Sexton's inner world in juxtaposition to the labyrinthine corridors of the Winchester House, the title Wide Unclasp alluding to a Shakespeare quote written on the wall of the Winchester House ballroom: 'Wide unclasp the tables of their thoughts'. Moritz Eggert is a restless spirit, always on the lookout for new musical challenges. He has been awarded numerous prizes for his operas, ballets and works for the music theatre. The Wide Unclasp cycle of songs represents another departure for new shores, as Eggert was attracted by the idea of writing a piece devoted to an unusual theme in the context of his past work: the relationship of notation and improvisation. To this end, Eggert was able to work with an outstanding septet headed by one of the greatest new artistic discoveries of the German jazz scene in recent years: vocalist Céline Rudolph. The other names, too, speak for themselves: Steven Bernstein, musical director of the Robert Altman movie Kansas City; Sebastian Hess, master student of Rostropovich; star drummer Gerry Hemingway; guitarist Ralph Beerkircher, a master explorer of border areas, and Georg Breinschmid, a former member of the Vienna Philharmonic."

HERBERT, PETER: You're My Thrill CD (BTL 032). $16.00

"Christine Tobin: vocals, ensemble plus, Peter Herbert: Dirigent Bassist / composer. Peter Herbert presents a new work, the main part of which, You're my Thrill, for jazz vocalist, jazz piano and nonet, is an homage to Billie Holiday. The life of the singer, legendary even in her lifetime and probably the one most important voice in jazz, was marked by professional triumphs and private fiascos. From the songs Herbert used, including 'Gloomy Sunday', 'Solitude' or 'Porgy', he only kept the text and intimations of the melody. The music for the Ensemble plus (a chamber orchestra of the Vorarlberg Symphony Orchestra) is Peter Herbert's own composition completely. The overwhelming result, for which UK singer Christine Tobin of course deserves her fair share of the credit, is acoustic chamber music based on songs interpreted by Billie Holiday. The title of the second part of the production is 'Communications Error' for nonet and tape. In New York, social distinctions are particularly pronounced. A homeless person: 'Would you have some change? Think of me as your son, Happy Mother's Day.' Hardly anyone takes notice, let alone gives some change. A 'subtle' communications error. A cry for help ignored. 'Communications Error' for nonet and tape is about feeling one's way towards possible nuances — perhaps some sort of musical reconciliation for hopelessly entangled human situations. The tape plays noises Peter Herbert recorded in the subway and in the streets of New York."

OCCHIPINTI, GIORGIO: Histoire CD (BTL 033). $16.00

"Giorgio Occhipinti Global Music Nonetto: Sonia Slany (violin), Joanna Lewis (violin), Nico Ciricugno (viola), Tiziana Cavalieri (cello), Giuseppe Guarrella (double bass), Matteo Gallini (soprano, bass clarinet), Olivia Bignardi (soprano, bass clarinet), Antonio Moncada (drums, kettledrums), Giorgio Occhipinti (piano, direction). Composer/pianist Giorgio Occhipinti, who was born in Ragusa, Italy in 1969, considers the basis of his working technique, which he has dubbed 'organized chaos', to be a controlled collision of a variety of different sources of inspiration. His main source of inspiration is 20th century music, albeit refracted by the prismatic effect of his Italian — or, more precisely, Sicilian — origins. This special Mediterranean outlook on life informs his novel interpretation and evaluation of the music of the last century. Folk music, contemporary classics, jazz and rock, opera, marching music — such diverse musical genres are usually deemed incompatible. From Occhipinti's highly personal perspective, however, such diametrically opposed facets can very well be combined in a kind of controlled chaos. In Occhipinti's composing process, tradition does by no means merely serve as a host of patterns released for reproduction or deconstruction. Occhipinti draws from its overall effects and considers it to be the foundation of his aesthetic design, which is unique in the European jazz and new music scene."

BEYONGOLIA (UK):

WILDSTYLE: Instrumental Beats LP (BEGO 12002). $12.00

"Following the release of the original soundtrack from the classic b-boy movie Wildstyle, Beyongolia are releasing the vinyl-only Instrumental Beats. Produced for the DJ's involved in the film to use as backing for the M.C.'s and their rhymes, with only 1000 copies originally pressed — this is the first time that the album has been made commercially available. The album features many tracks which never made it to the film. The musicians featured, lead by Chris Stein, also formed the basis for Blondie."

O.S.T.: Wild Style! 2LP (BEGO LP 001). $19.00

UK-only double LP vinyl version of this reissue of the 1983 soundtrack (with 5 previously unreleased bonus tracks); CD version is out in the US via Rhino. "Soundtrack to the most musically interesting of the holy triumvirate of hip-hop motion picture experiences (along with Krush Groove, and arguably, Breakin' — but not Breakin' 2, Electric Boogaloo, a pathetically weak jam). Produced by Fab 5 Freddy, most cuts are backed by a studio band consisting of Chris Stein, David Harper, and Lenny Ferari, who of course went on to form Blondie w/proto rapper Deb Harry. Rife with choice soundbites from the flick, street raps and sounds by a crew of historical lyric/cutters (Cold Crush Brothers/Busy Bee) and mad, mad cuts by DJ Grand Wizard Theodore and Rammellzee. The instrumentals are serious space-funk-damage, close to an extended-studio version of Liquid Liquid in many aspects, only harder and more stoned, with an array of sound effects and percussion breaks. Break out the cardboard (or linoleum for you soft-assed suburbanites) and bust a 'worm (don't try any of that windmill stuff; spine damage pending)." — Hrvatski

BGO (UK):

NUCLEUS: Elastic Rock/We'll Talk About It Later 2CD (BGO 047). $22.00

"This set is a proposition that's hard to refuse for anyone wondering where to go after scooping up those electric Miles Davis and Herbie Hancock albums. Nucleus, the oft-overlooked UK jazz-rock ensemble led by trumpeter Ian Carr, recorded a batch of LPs for the legendary Vertigo label. Their first two albums from 1970, collected on this double CD, are as important an artifact in the development of a British prog-jazz identity as Soft Machine's Third. The debut album, Elastic Rock, is a mellow groover in a style comparable to the (then) not even born Weather Report, fortified with guitars and a typical Canterbury melodic sensibility. However, the second album, We'll Talk About It Later, is the clincher. Propelled by layers of funky keyboards and a sometimes heavily distorted bass, the grooves here rise to menacing climaxes, on top of which Chris Spedding psychedelically merges the worlds of Charlie Christian, Derek Bailey and Pete Cosey with fuzz-wah-ed guitar jabs. Reeds men Karl Jenkins and Brian Smith are no slouches either, together with Carr, they churn out razor sharp horn charts and go into astral forays of free blow. After these albums the original Nucleus lineup disintegrated—drummer John Marshall and Karl Jenkins played a key roll in the post-Wyatt version of Soft Machine (Sixth beats Fourth and Fifth in my book), Spedding became the UK's premier guitarist for hire (even Never Mind the Bollocks), while Ian Carr soldiered on with new versions of Nucleus well into the 80s, never reaching the ecstatic heights captured on these initial albums." —Frank van den Elzen.

BOND, GRAHAM: Holy Magick/We Put Our Magick On You CD (BGO 483 CD). $19.00

"Released in 1970 and 1971, originally on the Vertigo record label, the albums come from Graham's 'Magick' period. When released on BGO vinyl, back in the early days of the label, they sold extremely well and now make a welcome return as a 2 on 1 CD. Sleeve notes from Harry Shapiro, author of the Graham Bond biography The Mighty Shadow. The albums stem from Graham's early interest in the occult and at the time were the first in a proposed series of LPs about the Western magical tradition which began over 2,000 years ago."

DARROW, CHRIS: Chris Darrow/Under My Own Disguise CD (BGO 513 CD). $18.00

"You've probably heard Chris Darrow's playing on more albums than you're aware of. Besides being a founding member of Californian multi-kulti psych band Kaleidoscope and a short stint in the early-Nitty Gritty Dirt Band, you'll find this multi-instrumentalist and ultimate musician's musician on recordings of Linda Ronstadt, John Fahey, Leonard Cohen, Sonny & Cher, and many more. The two albums on this CD, originally released in 1973 and 1974 on United Artists, should be considered his finest solo efforts. Besides Darrow (guitar, banjo, bass, dobro, fiddle, harmonica, autoharp, clarinet, dulcimer, mandolin, keyboards) and his right hand Steve Cahill, you'll find among the musicians guesting Dave Pegg and Dave Mattacks (of Fairport Convention), Dolly Collins, French harpist Alan Stivell, and fellow Kaleidoscope member Max Buda aka Fenrus Epp. Darrow uses these guests to give all of his exquisitely eclectic folk rock songs a different color — a Celtic arrangement here, a Nashville pedal steel there, a jug band flavor, a Nawlin's second line strut, a dash of Polynesian slide, an acoustic blues shuffle with an ARP synth bass line...anything is possible. Basically anyone who's into the gracefully understated interplay found on the albums of the Fairports, the Burritos, the Band, or Dillard and Clark will have a blast with these two Chris Darrow LPs." — Frank van den Elzen

BIG DADA (UK):

KING GEEDORAH (MF DOOM): Take Me To Your Leader CD (BD 051CD). $14.50

"MF Doom, perhaps the most legendary figure in underground hip hop, returns. Only this time he's a giant three-headed lizard from outer space. Across 13 tracks all produced, written, recorded, arranged, mixed and mastered by the man himself (though with a variety of vocal guests including Kurious and Scienz Of Life), Doom comes through with the unique style which has made him the King of the Underground — off-centre beats that owe much to his love of jazz, fantastically skilled, charismatic MCing and ideas galore."

KING GEEDORAH (MF DOOM): Take Me To Your Leader 2LP (BD 051LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

NMS (BIG JUS & NEPHILM MODULATION SESSIONS): Woe To Thee O Land Whose King Is A Child CD (BD 053CD). $12.00

"After five years of planning, NYC indie-innovator (and central member of Company Flow) Big Justoleum and California underground legend Orko Elohiem holed up in a rural cotton mill loft in deep South Georgia and recorded two blistering albums known as The Nephilm Modulation Sessions. The resultant mini-album, Woe To Thee O Land If Thy King Is A Child, is one of the most vitriolic, whole-hearted attacks on the actions of George W and his cabal of lunatic henchmen and advisers that you're likely to hear. At a time when every celebrity finds it de rigueur to voice their opposition to war without actually having anything to say about it, it's refreshing to hear a genuine anger, and one whose target is much broader than just what happens in Iraq. With a track dedicated to the salty biscuit that nearly choked Bush to death ('Super Pretzel') and an analysis of the malaises in American and Western society that goes way beyond just blaming the Bush Dynasty, the spirit of the Last Poets and the Watts Prophets has been reborn with a new urgency. Add to this a musical palette which harks back not just to CoFlow's groundbreaking fractured soundscapes, but the Black Liberation music of the sixties and seventies and this is one of the most distinctive records you'll hear this year."

NMS (BIG JUS & NEPHILM MODULATION SESSIONS): Woe To Thee O Land Whose King Is A Child 2LP (BD 053LP). $15.00

Double LP version.

TY: Upwards CD (BD 057CD). $14.50

"Many MCs say they're going to 'elevate' — you, their skills, the people — but very few actually raise a whole lot more than their bank balance. So it's time to become reacquainted with TY, one of the most accomplished UK MCs and musicians around, and with his new album, Upwards, which takes you so high, lyrically and musically, you won't want to come back down again. The result is Upwards and the stakes have most definitely been raised. It's an album that has something to say and pushes the form but yet is still instantly accessible, funny and as much as anything else, heartfelt — a true expression of hip hop culture. With guests including legendary afrobeat drummer Tony Allen, Michelle Escoffery, Bembe Segue, Breis and Shortman."

LOTEK HI-FI: Lotek Hi Fi CD (BD 061CD). $12.00

"Lotek HiFi consists of Wayne Bennett (best know for providing beats for both Roots Manuva records), Earl J (son of Jamaican dancehall legend Jack Radics), Wayne Paul (also known for his work with Roots Manuva), and Aurelius. On this eponymously-titled mini-album, they cover all kinds of styles, mash up genres with very little respect for anything except that all important quality, freshness. And that they have in abundance. How would you describe it? Reggae made by hip hop producers? UK bashment? The Specials on a weed bender? They certainly have more in common with acts like Heartless Crew and Massive Attack than they do with P Diddy."

LOTEK HI-FI: Lotek Hi Fi LP (BD 061LP). $14.00

LP version.

DIPLO: Epistemology 12" (BD 062EP). $8.00

"Dipolodocus has been making a little noise on the under under for a while but now it's time to really bring it on. Diplo makes the kind of hard-edged, razor-drummed, krunked out Southern bounce you've only dreamt of. But he ties this to a fantastic ear for a sample and a really musical way of making instrumental music. But hey, that makes him sound lame. Diplo's just a pure avant-gully human jaw machine and this single proves it, really proves it beyond any doubt."

TY W/ ROOTS MANUVA: Oh You Want More 12" (BD 066EP). $6.50

"Over a bouncing, bass-punched fairground theme, the Awkward Boy and the One Man Powerhouse trade lines like there's no tomorrow, a bruising encounter between two of the heaviest of UK heavyweights."

INFINITE LIVEZ: Bush Meat CD (BD 068CD). $13.00

"Imagine ODB and Kool Keith jamming with Prince Paul while doing cockney accents and, well, you're only just beginning to get a feel for the unique flow and ideas of Infinite Livez, the craziest MC to come out of the UK, bar none. Bush Meat is like Three Feet High & Rising on very very bad acid, a concept album where the main concept is to completely and utterly fuck with your head."

INFINITE LIVEZ: Bush Meat 2LP (BD 068LP). $17.00

Double LP version. "Imagine ODB and Kool Keith jamming with Prince Paul while doing cockney accents and, well, you're only just beginning to get a feel for the unique flow and ideas of Infinite Livez, the craziest MC to come out of the UK, bar none."

BIGG JUS: Black Mamba Serums V.2.0 CD (BD 071CD). $14.50

"What can you say about Black Mamba Serums? Well, for one thing, you can say that it sounds like nothing on earth. But you'd probably just think we were coercing you into some shameless hype, but you know you got to learn to trust us and believe. Anyway, like no other hip hop album, certainly, though perhaps displaying some common ground with the Black Liberation music of the late sixties. What it shares with much of the best hip hop (and much of the best jazz, blues and soul that came before it) is its conscious attempt to 'analyze what was stagnant in the present state of hip hop and try to energize it with creativity, freedom and individualism.' Which shouldn't distract you from the soulfulness, the sheer level of emotion that Juss manages to get into his voice even when spitting endless, snaking multi-syllabic, polyrhythmic lines as if pausing for breath will kill him."

BIGG JUS: Black Mamba Serums V.2.0 2LP (BD 071LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

BINEMUSIC (GERMANY):*BENDER FEAT. JAN KUMMER, OLAF: Byetone.Feld CD (BINE 001CD). $16.00

"The debut album by Olaf Bender aka Byetone, member of artist collective Ag Geige, co-founder and manager of Raster-Noton. For Byetone, Binemusic is the perfect platform to travel into new areas of music that wouldn't have fit into the concept of Raster-Noton. His collaboration with Jan Kummer, the voice of Ag Geige and owner of the Atomino club in Chemnitz, made them fall back into a kind of nostalgia frenzy, living up the old times they spent together with Ag Geige. Some of the featured tracks have been stored on Byetone's hd for ages and were collected and rearranged for the purpose to create a link to the past Ag Geige history. Jan Kummer agreed to tell one of his infamous stories, and so the idea evolved. Both confirmed that this won't be the resurrection of Ag Geige, though."

TOL: Shang CD (BINE 002CD). $16.00

"Included are 11 tracks that will touch the core of you. Tol.Shang is a perfect mixture of dub, reggae and acid jazz components. After his debut album Tol.Trap together with Frank Bretschneider and several CD productions and live gigs with produkt(Bretschneider, Bender, Seidel) Tol is back and better than ever. "... with the new album Tol.Shang I tied in with my last tracks from Tol.Trap. Also the everlasting love to dub, electro and ambient can be found again in the new tracks. Furthermore my impressions and the sounds of my trips to China & Shanghai influenced some of the compositions. All in all I see most tracks as movie sequences, which rather match to the weather in Germany... all compositions were composed and recorded on a Mac and as software I used Cubase and Reason. The major instruments were the clavin nord rack and some software samplers/synthesizer. so far and enjoy."

TOUZIMSKY, THOMAS: Fold CD (BINE 003 CD). $12.00

"Catalogue number 003 is delivered from Obrigheim, a small village in Rhineland-Palatinate. Thomas Touzinsky, co-founder of Binemusic, releases his EP Fold right on christmas time. Ever since listening to it, electronic music both fascinated and influenced him. The minimalistic yet entertaining sound of the legendary C64 lead him to the infamous Amiga, allowing him to create his first own tracks. Throughout the years, the ongoing change in music hard- and software helped Thomas evolving his music to today's experimental electronic sounds. Thomas himself finds his biggest contemporary influences in the ambient and independent words of various artists including Aphex Twin, The Shamen, Future Sound Of London and the Metamatics. Fold plays four multifarious tracks, harmonically aligned to form a 20 minute journey through sound."

EONTA: Verletzbar CD (BINE 004CD). $18.00

"Eonta aka Andreas Golinski (Basel/Essen) and Spiro Kapravelos (Bochum/Athens) start in 2004 their music project Eonta with their debut album Verletzbar both of them are active in many facets of contemporary digital media: video and sound installations, 'future planning' and 3D-environments, web- and screendesign. In their musicmaking they don't follow a masterplan: ideas and moods are translated into sound. Typical song structures are seldom used, their tracks remind of short films as compact pieces of storytelling. Eonta's music is a projection of their inner world. Direct and raw snapshots of: a quiet day in the park, nature, lines from books once read, late-night emotional brainstorming, movies, one would wish to live in, the beauty of the far east but also noise and the fun in being loud, entangled in an endless loop and sometimes touching silence."

BRUNN, BENJAMIN: König Und Drache CD (BINE 005CD). $16.00

"Debut album on Binemusic. All the tracks were written during 2003 and 2004 being heavily influenced by his life in Chemnitz, Dresden and Taiwan while not abandoning his melancholic house style which has already become a trademark on his former releases. The track names were chosen after they were finished, reflecting important and prominent details from the different, yet still similar living areas Germany and Taiwan. König Und Drache (king and dragon) substitutionally fight for Germany and Taiwan against each other — or stand together side by side. In this case they combine their power, of which the results can be heard on the finished tracks. Since 1999 Benjamin Brunn released his music on labels like Mole, USM, out to lunch and the Mathias Schaffhäuser label Ware."

BINGO:*VA: The Day My Favorite Insect Died CD (BIN 001). $11.00

"All the music on this compilation was recorded with samplers, keyboards, tape recorders, CD players and broken records. The participants are better known for their work in bands like The Notwist, Potawatomi, Toxic, Couch, Village of Savoonga, Tied + Tickled Trio. These bands all live in or orbit the town of Weillheim, Germany and record for the Kollaps, Payola and Hausmusik labels. This compilation originally appeared in 1996 on Kollaps. It is the sound of rock musicians playing something other than guitar rock, simply because it might be a good way to fool oneself into making good sounds. The songs are mostly quite short."

BIP-HOP (FRANCE):*VA: Bip-Hop Generation Vol. 1 CD (BLEEP 01). $15.00

"Welcome to the world of Bip-Hop, a label devoted to spreading unconventional sound adventures, deviant & transgressive electronica... . First releases will be a series of International compilations (the 'bip-hop generation') gathering together people creating music, sounds, based on machines, mix, modulations, modifications, sampling, glitches, clicks & cuts... Creative Electronica, experimental IDM." Features all exclusive tracks from: Schnedier TM (City Clang), Phonem (has records with Morr Music, Jetlag), Goem (Mego, Staalplaat, Noise Museum), Marumari (Carpark), Ultra Milkmaids (Ant Zen, Noise Museum, Staalplaat), Massimo (Microwave, Fals.ch/Mego and Staalplaat). 74 minutes, packaged in fold out digipak sleeve. Much better than average aesthetic track flow, standing out in the over-crowded electronic compilation arena.

VA: Bip_Hop Generation Vol. 2 CD (BLEEP 02). $15.00

"Second volume in the Bip_Hop series of International compilations. 20 exclusive songs. More than 70 minutes of music wrapped in a 6 page Digipak including a booklet w/ infos on each musician: Bernard Fleischmann (Austria) who has records on Morr Music, Charhizma; Arovane (Germany) has records on Din, Morr, City Centre Offices, Vertical Form; Warmdesk (USA) has done records for Fällt, and Static Caravan + a split w/ Plimmon on A Posterio; Köhn (Belgium) has two albums on (Kraak)3. Wang Inc. (Italy) has done a 12" on Sonig; Laurent Pernice (France) did 4 albums on PDCD and 2 new one are upcoming on Moloko+ and Organic."

TENNIS: Europe On Horseback CD (BLEEP 03). $15.00

"Tennis is Benge (real name Ben Edwards) and Si-cut.db (real name Douglas Benford), two renown solo sonic artists in their own rights. Tennis is part of an on-going London based collaboration exploring digital and electro-acoustic sounds and rhythms combined with 21st century audio software. Wooden Sweets was the first Tennis release on the Cologne label ElectroChemicalResearch. The second album is entitled Europe On Horseback, and shows a progression of the 'Tennis sound' into a harder more digital/glitzy but accessible rhythmic realm, with dub and german influences to the fore. A must for fans of Pole, Vlad Delay and Kit Clayton."

SPACEHADS & MAX EASTLEY: The Time Of The Ancient Astronaut. Universal Head Expander Vol.1 CD (BLEEP 04). $15.00

"From the first sound a different and special magic was evoked, captured in one afternoon on this recording. Haunting trumpet melodies over soft drones and textures sets the mood. This slowly mutates to a world of high opera and tipsy beats that then cascades with a metallic pounding. The music takes on cinematic proportions as the terrain unfolds. Interstellar landscapes are revealed. This is improvisation as a battle between the done and the possible. Max Eastley plays The Arc. A nine foot long mono chord. One string stretched over wood and played with a bow or glass rods. The pitch is changed by flexing the wood. The string can also be shortened with clips. It is then fed into electronic effects. The Spacehads is a duo mixing trumpet and electronics with drums and percussion. Plaintive trumpet calls are looped across pulsing beats that propel us into sheets of metal crashing and vibrating through tiny pick ups cranked to the full and then spun into electronic webs."

VA: Bip-Hop Generation V. 3 CD (BLEEP 05). $15.00

"14 exclusive songs, 77 minutes of music in a 6 page Digipak including a booklet w/ infos on each musician: Neotropic (UK) aka Riz Maslen records for Ninja Tune. Bovine Life (UK) aka Chris Dooks is digital artist, broadcast tv director and musician who has collaborated w/ Third Eye Foundation, Komet, Kohn... First album upcoming on BiP_HOp. Pimmon (Australia) aka Paul Gough who seems to be everywhere... Kraak, Falt, Staalplaat, Meme... Zonk't (France) aka Laurent Perrier who used to be in Nox and used to run Odd Size, Cape Fear and is now recording under this pseudonym. Atau Tanaka (Japan) who records for Caipirinha, Fals.ch and does Sensorband. Novel 23 (Russia) aka Roman Belousov who has an album on Pitchcadet."

BOVINE LIFE: Social Electrics CD (BLEEP 06). $15.00

"Award winning UK filmmaker/digital artist Chris Dooks was known for his film work on musicians in Britain — directing documentaries on all sorts of luminaries from Scanner for The South Bank Show, to tiny bedroom labels in the middle of nowhere. Bovine Life has been jamming through the modem, speaking in electronic tongues, secreting sounds that vary from being immersed in amniotic fluid, right through to searing bleeps that would make any nation stand to attention. Exclusive soundclashes with artists such as Köhn, the label Alku and Mego and Plug Research alongside three tracks with Matt Elliot (formerly the Third Eye Foundation) are included on this 20-track release. There's also solo Bovine workouts in the vein of his 4 tracks on BiP_HOp Generation v.3. This enhanced CD also features a six minute film that Chris directed."

SI-CUT.DB: Enthusiast CD (BLEEP 07). $15.00

"Enthusiast is the 4th si-cut.db album, and another move forward for Benford's sound, following on naturally from the groundwork done by Tennis, his project with Ben Edwards (Benge). Si-cut.db presents the varnished sound of Enthusiast music of different timbers: this 4th si-cut.db (previously si-cut).db, but now stripped down) is the bridge between micro rhythms and carpentry. A major proportion of the sounds are samples of woodwork noises, different timbers, turning processes, shavings, planings, splintered pieces, contact mikes on veneered surfaces, acoustic instruments such as piano, fused with microsounds to create a rhythmic template between digital glitch and organic sources. Literally, different timbers and timbres; the grain on the wood becoming almost the grooves of a vinyl record, spiralling forward. The music speaks for itself."

VA: Bip-Hop Generation V. 4 CD (BLEEP 08). $15.00

"74 minutes in a 6 page Digipak. Another very fine installment from a series which has quickly become the centre of a lot of attention in recent months. 10 exclusive songs by: Mira Calix (UK) She is a South African born Italian who resides in the United Kingdom and is currently working on her second solo album, for Warp, as well as a variety of collaborations. Si-Cut).DB (UK) is half of Tennis, cut down to the more minimal si-cut.db. Douglas Benford continues devolving his sounds, the ultimate enthusiast. He also runs the Sprawl Imprint, and just completed an album for BiP_HOp. Datch'i (USA) comes from New York, he did three records on Caipirinha and I think he defies categorisation. His maniacal sonic creations are, at once, demented and delicate. Information is extracted from everywhere, broken down, reworked and reassembled — pieced together and tightly wound in a single thread. Twine (USA) have releases on Komplott, Hefty, and soon on BiP_HOp. The Twinesound is a structure meets noise vs. melody sound, always morphing into something new: glitch beats collapse into warm swarms of static, long atmospheric drones become abstract sounds capes where cold dark ambience and stark angular structures meet. Vs.Price (France) is one of the best French act, he composes music for Dance show which mixes contemporary dance and electronica live music. He is working on a 12" to appear on Adenoide.. Cray (Australia) Cray is the sound of digital dreams, soundtracks for other worlds, the dirt on the street magnified, nano technology music. Ross Healy has been an active member of the Melbourne music scene since 1988 and has released recordings with projects such as Eden, Amnesia, 56k and This Digital Ocean. Cray's first release was the 'Comment' mini-cd for Irish label, Falt. Influenced by both contemporary digital technology and early sound pioneers like Pierre Henry, David Tudor and Tod Dockstader."

CRAY: Undo CD (BLEEP 09). $15.00

"Cray is the current outlet for Australian sound merchant Ross Healy. On his second release, Undo on the BiP_HOp label, Healy presents the adventurous listener with etched sound worlds; carved sine waves, slices of twisted time, but with a faint memory of melody. Using field recordings from mini disc and microphones to scrape and explore his immediate environment, Cray uses a PC to layer and manipulate these recordings. 'I usually create lots of sounds first and these will start me off writing a piece or I may also have a mental picture in my head that I want to create a soundpainting for'. Healy has openly embraced the virtual digital studio concept to the point where, 'I like the idea of the computer being more important than the musician. I am interested in the conversation sounds have with one another. I'm not so interested in human conversation, which is one reason I find lyrics in songs unnecessary. I like the idea of this music being almost a painting, that you could stare at in a gallery.'

BOVINE LIFE AND/OR/VS. KOMET: CD (BLEEP 10). $15.00

"BIP_HOP in association with Fallt are pleased to present [reciproprocess : +/vs.]. A series of split CDs featuring the work(s) of two sound assemblers and documenting the process of musical reciprocity between them. This first issue in 'Reciproprocess' features both sound assemblers contributing a collaborative work; a series of independent works; and finally, contributing a remix of each other's work(s)."

TWINE: :Recorder: CD (BLEEP 11). $15.00

"Twine is Greg Malcolm and Chad Mossholder. Enhanced CD, feature a video by Phase 4/Ric Hudgins. :Recorder: the latest offering from US abstract electronic duo Twine represent their collective effort and spans the last year and a half. :Recorder: ebbs and flows between abstract beat oriented compositions, dark cut-up neo-classical pieces and epic-ambient-noise guitar sound scapes. Is it IDM, microsound, noise, ambient, none or all at the same time?"

DUKE, ANDREW: Sprung CD (BLEEP 12). $15.00

"Andrew Duke is one of Canada's foremost techno/new electronic music sound-assemblers. He has been performing live and recording his own music since 1987. His output has been compared to that of a wide range of artists Thomas Brinkmann, Kit Clayton, Coil, Oval, Skinny Puppy, Lustmord, Reinhard Voigt to name a few — yet always presents a unique and distinct 'Andrew Duke sound'. Sprung is organic, wet sounding techno that skitters along a range of frequencies, from scurrying subtleties to low pulsing rumbles, each brushing different areas of the sonic spectrum."

VA: BIP_HOP Generation V.5 CD (BLEEP 13). $15.00

"Slowly building up an anthology of the state of modern electronic art and sound design... New installment with unreleased songs by: Accelera Deck (USA) / Andrew Duke (Canada) / Mikael Stavostrand (Sweden) / StudioTonne (UK) / Rechenzentrum (Germany) / D'Iberville (France)."

WANG INC.: Risotto In 4/4 CD (BLEEP 15). $15.00

"Bartolomeo Sailer comes from Italy, his first disc was released on Sonig/Thrill Jockey and received some attention. Then he appeared on numerous compilations, up to this long awaited new full-length. Rice has numerous grades, various colours and shapes which can be combined to work out an infinite collection of recipes. At the same time, a micro rhythm as the 4/4 gave birth to several musical forms. If you manipulate it with delicacy and expertise it can become an ingredient with which it will be easy to prepare a whole range of dishes. Some will become quite popular and appreciated, others, more experimental recipes that can be transformed thanks to other fresh and spicy elements and delicately seasoned with the salt of experience that has matured, with the help of organic sounds, in Wang Inc's electronic kitchen. Risotto in 4/4 eventually combines the organic nature of the stomach, with the arcane resources of the mind but never forgets to get your feet involved."

ANGEL: Angel CD (BLEEP 16). $15.00

"Angel is the collaborative project of Dirk Dresselhaus (commonly known as Schneider TM) and Ilpo Väisänen (1/2 of Pan Sonic). Freeform-soul music, made with Ilpo's selfmade analog-synthesizer (typewriter), CD-player and the most fucked up electric guitar Schneider could find. They improvise live and create a real poundin' mixture of old industrial, minimal, or noisy wall of sound."

TONNE: Soundtoy CD (BLEEP 17). $15.00

"Music by Scanner, Hakan Lidbo, Si-cut.db, Tonne. Paul Farrington had developed The original Soundtoy software as a research work at the Royal College of Art in London. He wanted to make his own software with applications in a design environment. The project is designed to allow musicians to diversify their working methods in using the Soundtoy software to generate new work. The audio side has two tracks by each artist created using the software, each very different in manner and explication. The CD contains the original Soundtoy software and sounds that were used in the creation of the tracks, so you have access to all original sounds that were used by the artists."

SCANNER + TONNE: Sound Polaroids CD (BLEEP 18). $15.00

"Images and sound were recorded in London and this data was then processed using software that converts the pixels of an image into sound, giving the user the ability to paint with sound and compose with light. Such a graphical approach suggested the use of digital images taken across the city as photographic sounds, or 'sound polaroids.' Using a database of the original source material Scanner & Tonne then actively took the show on the road and created live performances following a similar system. Experience their view of London, Milano, Tokyo, Montreal and New-York."

VA: BIP_HOP Generation V.6 CD (BLEEP 19). $15.00

"Last volume in the first series of what has now become the classiest collection of contemporary electronica. Scanner (UK) / Ilpo Väisänen (Fi) / Angel (De/Fi) / Battery Operated (Ca) / Alejandra & Aeron (US/Es) / Bittonic (De)."

TENNIS: Furlines 2CD (BLEEP 20/21). $15.00

"New and third album. Tennis have been playing quite a few shows (including Tate Modern and Ars Electronica) and the collaboration between Douglas Benford (si-cut.db) and Benjamin Edwards (Benge) is now really 'interactional'. Extending that ideal of exchanging and sharing, Tennis opened their heart to some friends... So you get a second CD packed with remixes of tracks that appeared on Europe on Horseback. Fur Lines is our 20th record, in two years of existence so to celebrate the birthday it includes a second CD free." List of remixers: Taylor Deupree, Kptmichigan, Warmdesk, Tim Hecker, Kim Cascone, Scanner, Cray, Frank Bretschneider, ElectroniCat, BitTonic, Pimmon, The Jerker (Oren Ambarchi), C K Dexter Haven, Mikael Stavostrand, Bovine Life.

MATHIEU & SI-CUT.DB, STEVEN: Reciproprocess : +/vs. 02 CD (BLEEP 22). $18.00

"Second volume of our series document collaborative works between sound-designers. Another good move against the often autistic side of contemporary electronica. Fourth record of Si-cut.db within one year (Enthusiast as a Bleep 07, his 12" on Touch Of Class/Source, and another LP on Fallt), Douglas Benford on his way to world domination plays with Stephan Mathieu, another active and universe-famous sound designer."

NOVEL 23: Architectural Effects CD (BLEEP 23). $18.00

"Roman Belousov is an electronic musician from Moscow, Russia. Novel 23 started making music back in 1997 and released several albums, split EPs, remixes, and tracks on numerous compilations. His sound originates in a combination of computer audio technologies and old Soviet synthesizers, electro rhythms and romantic melodies, which evoke new visions for curious listeners. Architectural Effects was created between 2000-2002. Ten tracks combines into one conception which is dedicated to architecture. Each track reflects element of architure, constructions or styles. Musically it is pure melodic, blissful electronica."

VA: Bip_Hop Generation Vol. 7 CD (BLEEP 24). $18.00

"New design for the first chapter of the second series. Minimal moves for listening pleasures...Almost 80 minutes of exclusive music by : Taylor Deupree (us), Emisor (ar), Fonica (jp), Fm3 (cn), Ghislain Poirier (ca), Janek Schaefer [uk]."

EASTLEY & DAVID TOOP, MAX: Doll Creature CD (BLEEP 25). $18.00

"Third album in thirty years from those masters of ambient music...First one had appeared in 1975 on Brian Eno's Obscure label and was pioneering ambient installation... Second one Buried Dreams was voted third placed record of the year, behind Portishead and Massive Attack, in the 1994 Wire critics poll. Doll Creature create a mysterious imaginative landscape through sound, a narrative that takes form within our emotions through the unvisualizable phenomenon of sound. A spiritual inspiration that throws the obscure lineaments of invisible sound into visible relief."

BIRDMAN RECORDS:

CARNEY, RALPH: Ralph Sounds CD (BMR 017). $14.00

Solo album by Ralph, known for his saxophone work with Tom Waits and Marc Ribot as well as his long time Shimmy-Disk associations. "Accomplished at playing a list of musical instruments too long to list here which are all incorporated on his debut solo album. Ralph Sounds runs the musical gambit from free-jazz to demented pop — all done in a uniquely twisted fashion that can not be mistaken for anyone else."

PEARLS BEFORE SWINE: Constructive Melancholy: 30 Years of Pearls Before Swine CD (BMR 021). $14.00

"Fantastic 30 song compilation from Tom Rapp's Pearls Before Swine. This collections spans the group's post-ESP years when they called Reprise Records their home. The cream of their 5 Reprise albums (recorded between 1969 and 1972) are here as well as a smattering of previously unreleased material and rare radio broadcast recordings. With extensive text from music scholar Byron Coley, this is an essential package for fans of quality music." Two new versions of ESP-era tracks are added (with backing from Damon & Naomi and Tom's son, David Rapp)."

ELECTRIC PRUNES: Lost Dreams CD (BMR 022). $14.00

"Between 1965 and 1969 Los Angeles' Electric Prunes recorded some of the best psychedelic/experimental/garage/punk of the era. The band is probably best remembered for their US hit 'I Had Too Much To Dream Last Night', though they generated a staggering amount of stellar material for a band that existed for such a short period of time. This 23-track CD is the definitive collection by these '60s psychedelic legends. Only recently have their first two classic LPs been finally made available on CD by the Collectables label (taken from nth-generation tapes and mastered atrociously, unfortunately). Now, for the first time, the 'Prunes' finest moments have been captured on digital format in pristine sound. Taken from original master tapes and painstakingly restored and mastered under the guidance of 'Prunes leader James Lowe, these recordings have never sounded better. Collecting the best tracks from the band's first two albums, ultra-rare singles sides, demos, and a hilarious radio spot for Vox wah-wah pedals, this is the only release anyone will ever need by the Electric Prunes."

VA: More Oar: Tribute to Alexander "Skip" Spence CD (BMR 023). $14.00

Features tracks by Robert Plant (!), Beck, Tom Waits, Mudhoney, Mark Lanegan, Alejandro Escovedo, Greg Dulli, Robyn Hitchcock, The Durocs, Flying Saucer Attack, Engine 54, Alastair Galbraith, The Ophelias, Outrageous Cherry, The Minus Five, Diesel Park West, Jay Farrar & the Sir Omaha Quintet."

EXTENDED ORGAN: XOXO CD (BMR 026). $14.00

"Extended Organ is a 'supergroup' of experimental sound artists whose members are culled from the ranks of that seminal West Coast 'slacker' noise cult the Los Angeles Free Music Society. The four members of Extended Organ have been improvising with sound for over two decades and although they have played together in various configurations in the past, this is the first time the quartet has ever played together as a total entity. The foursome each have active and well established careers on their own. Paul McCarthy is a world renowned art superstar. His work in Extended Organ consists of free form vocal/lyrical improvisations which play off the instrumental improvisations of the other three members while at the simultaneously setting a mood, telling a story and responding to the general ambience of the performance situation. Fredrik Nilsen is a founder of the Los Angeles Free Music Society and a noted photographer. Nilsen conceptually founded Extended Organ in which he plays prepared acoustic guitar and both an antique analog organ and a modern digital keyboard, all in an especially unorthodox style. Fredrik's approach, which acknowledging minimalist composers, spins equally from gothic horror movie soundtracks. Joe Potts is a founder of the LAFMS and mastermind of Airway, which has been called 'the gnarliest noise band of all time'. Potts is omnipresent on his chopped optigans — instruments he crafts from dismantled 70s optical samplers. With up to 64 simultaneous samples per instrument, the chopped optigan is the ultimate drone machine. Tom Rechion is a founder of the LAFMS and member of the Doo-Dooettes and B People. Rechion uses Kurzweil, guitar, radio, CDs, etc. to accent the other instruments as well as the occasional lush crescendos. Tom also acted as producer on the record as well as mixing and processing the sound of the entire ensemble live during the recording. Three years in the making, XOXO is creepy and wonderful. It may sound like a gross exaggeration, but we are wondering if this CD might not just be the Sgt. Pepper's of noise records."

AUDIO ACTIVE: Bong CD (BMR 027). $8.00

"Japanese space punks Audio Active have been making whacked-out, marijuana-inspired cosmic jams since 1993. Their sci-fi beats and ganga-fueled sonic dub can only be described as amazing. Their material ranges from the deep and meditative to the hard and furious while always keeping a primary focus on the spliff. Bong, their new 7 track EP, carries on in their tradition of adventurous and varied styles and obsession with reefer."

BOREDOMS: Vision Creation Newsun CD (BMR 028). $14.00

New domestic version now available. "Vision Creation Newsun follows the groovitude of the much-love Super Are with additional funkiness and space-time continuity. It is funk, it is trance, it is drum'n'bass, and it is wayyyyyy psychedelic. The Boredoms' pirouettes into new musical highs with each subsequent release have consistently impressed the world's rich supply of joyless humbugs, impressed the clinically indifferent, and amazed the unamazeable. They've been doing it for years. The same reliable line-up — vocalist Yamantaka Eye leading a celebratory loin-cloth journey to the heart of the sun; guitarist Yamamoto Seiichi surfing grooves effortlessly with the silkier pickin' since Ry Cooder discovered Sangria; Yoshimi P-we adding her graceful-as-the-kitchen-sink drumming style while keeping it with the corps; plus a new starship trooper who just pushes the beat farther into space — that has always created music for all 'noids to rejoice to."

LEWIS, HERSCHELL GORDON: Eyeball Popping Sounds of... CD (BMR 029). $14.00

"In 1962 exploitation filmmaker Herschell Gordon Lewis and his partner David Friedman (a former carry and future porno kingpin) abandoned nudie films and invented a new film genre. Dubbed 'the godfather of gore' by John Waters, Lewis began his career in graphic grue with Blood Feast, a film that shocked and disgusted drive-in movie audiences across the country. He followed Blood Feast with a string of gore, biker, horror, juvenile delinquent, and exploitation films that all bore his trademark style, part of which was his unique soundtrack music. Whether incidental, bluegrass, rock'n'roll or pop, the music in his films was almost always written and often performed by Lewis himself. When outside help was needed, he usually called on inept garage bands and lounge acts to do the job. The Eye Popping Sounds of Herschell Gordon Lewis collects the very best songs from his entire filmography in one bloody package for the very first time. Thirty-seven tracks in all, including rare radio spots and hilarious soundbites, and a beautiful, 24-page color booklet full of disgusting stills from his films and liner notes from the Godfather himself. This package is an absolute must for any fan of grade-Z films and trash culture."

FRAZER, PAULA: Indoor Universe CD (BMR 030). $14.00

"Paula Frazer is the former lead vocalist of the critically acclaimed Bay Area band Tarnation. Tarnation's releases on Warner/Reprise and 4AD showed Paula to be a singing/songwriting force to be reckoned with — her rich voice radiates beauty. Occupying the space between Patsy Cline and the Cocteau Twins, Paula takes her country-infused influences to wonderfully dark extremes. Some have called her music 'country gothic' but Birdman's David Katznelson just calls it excellent. Indoor Universe is Paula's first solo effort and it is unquestionably her finest work to date. Her heavenly voice has never sounded better and the dreamy expansiveness of her music never more vibrant."

OIOIO: Feather Float CD (BMR 031). $14.00

"Pronounced 'oh-oh-eye-oh-oh,' OIOIO follow up their debut album on Kill Rock Stars with the magnificent Feather Float. Yoshimi of Boredoms/Free Kitten on guitar and vocals, Kyoko on guitar and vocals, Maki on bass, and Yoshiko on drums recognize no one musical style but manage to touch on nearly all of them. New wave, no wave, pop, punk, electronic, trance — it swirls organically in every direction. Like the Boredoms, there is a prevalent primal groove recurring throughout, yet it is so melodic in parts as to be almost accessible (for a Boredoms-related project, that is)."

BADAR ALI KHAN, USTAD: Lost In Qawwali III CD (BMR 032). $14.00

"Flowing with infectious rhythm, hypnotic percussion, mesmerizing repetition and spine-tingling vocal improvisation, Qawwali music has thrilled listeners since the 10th Century. One family — the Khans of Pakistan — has dominated this vibrant musical form with an unbroken line of truly great male vocalists. As Qawwali music rides an unprecedented wave of worldwide popularity, the star vocalist of the next generation, the voice that will carry Qawwali music to a whole new level, has emerged to claim the musical baton of his storied family. At 33, Badar Ali Khan has already released 22 albums in his native Pakistan. Most recently, working with producer/arranger/composer Suresh 'Baba' Varma, Badar has leaped to the forefront of his art, becoming a Qawwali superstar with Baba Records' multimillion-selling album, Good Karma 1. Blending the traditional with the contemporary, the ethereal with erotic, Badar Ali Khan has succeeded in transforming this ancient artform into something totally modern, incredibly potent and powerfully intoxicating for today's young audiences."

ALI KHAN, NUSRAT: The Final Moment CD (BMR 033). $14.00

"Qawwali's devotional themes of love come from Allah and are sung by men who belong to a Sufi tradition and trace their music back over seven hundred years to the spiritual Samah songs of Persia. There is a long tradition of Qawwali singers in the Ali Khan family, including the man who brought Qawwali to the West — Nusrat Fateh Ali Khan. Like his father, uncles and grandfathers before him, Nusrat sang with a fervor and style that reverberated within the being of all his listeners. During his lifetime, Nusrat saw his audience grow from Pakistani devotionalists to a larger, more international group comprised of many races and religions from around the world. When Nusrat passed away in 1997, he was at his peak in popularity. He had just completed his biggest American tour to date and was signed to a major recording company. His voice was clear, powerful and inspirational. The Final Moment documents one of the last concerts of Nusrat Fateh Ali Khan. His group also featured Rahat Fateh Ali Khan, who continues the Ali Kahn legacy. Longtime collaborator Baba Varma recorded this 1996 concert of ecstatic Sufi compositions, a celebration for all who attended, now a vital and loving document of the Voice of the Century."

WAHL & THE AMADANS, JON: Sour Suite CD (BMR 034). $14.00

"For more than 10 years Jon Wahl fronted the Los Angeles skronk-punk-jazz-metal band Clawhammer, whose sound earned them a hardcore following across the country and record deals with Sympathy, Epitaph and Interscope. Jon's saxophone, harmonica and guitar abilities have landed him guest appearances on recordings by Mudhoney and several In The Red recording artists, including the Bassholes and the Jon Spencer Blues Explosion. On Sour Suite, his debut post-Clawhammer effort, he has taken a subtler yet equally twisted musical path. Using acoustic and electronic instruments, Sour Suite weaves a very dark and haunting musical fabric. Equal parts Eno-era Roxy Music, Tom Waits and Spike Jones, this album sounds like nothing else."

BROTHER JT: Maybe We Should Take Some More ? CD (BMR 035). $14.00

"Combining the classic trappings of '60s psychedelic guitar rock with an eccentric spirituality, Brother JT records are deep, penetrable and seek to entertain. He has racked up a multitude of impeccable releases on a multitude of independent record labels with impeccable taste. His palette expands with each passing release. Heavy pop, thick with guitars, thumping drums and stoned, tremulous melodies takes the listener on a trip through the complex patterns and designs that are unique to the mind of JT. From stretched-out zoner wail to agile, psychedelic strum, his body of work is singular, odd, outstanding and unimpeachable. It's a pretty tall order to name a contemporary artist with enough panache to carry on the legacy of wrecked pop and what writer Byron Coley would call 'Blieb Alien rock' left behind by the likes of Syd Barrett, Roky Erickson, Skip Spence and sandbox-era Brian Wilson, but Brother JT is the only name worthy to stand alongside."

VA: It Came From Memphis Vol. 2 CD (BMR 036). $14.00

"The 1996 publication of Robert Gordon's It Came From Memphis book unleashed the untold story of the underground history of the rich music scene of a little town we like to call Memphis, Tennessee. While the stories of Elvis, Sun Records, and Stax had been well documented already, the stories of Charlie Feathers, Furry Lewis, RL Burnside and Barbarian Records had yet to be told. Needless to say, owning this book, as well as the accompanying CD that featured loads of obscure rock and blues artists, were mandatory for lovers of American music." Artists include: Good Kid Robert, Otha Turner, Moloch, Sid Selvidge, Mud Boy and the Neutrons, Hammie Nixon, Van Zula Hunt and the Beale Street Jug Band, Johnny Woods and Bobby Ray Watson, Phineas Newborn Orchestra, Tav Falco's Unapproachable Panther Burns, B.B. Cunningham, Jerry Lawler, Jim Dickinson and the New Beale Street Sheiks, Soldiers of the Cross, Band of Ones, Lawson and Four More, Insect Trust, Bootleggers Quartet.

HOWLAND, DON: Land Beyond The Mountains CD (BMR 038). $14.00

"Don Howland is best known for founding seminal blues-roots-deconstructionist outfits The Gibson Bros., The Bassholes and supergroup Ego Summit. On The Land Beyond the Mountains, Howland is by himself with guitar, piano and unidentified percussive instruments. This is Howland's music how it's meant to be heard — recorded in a basement on a four-track for under fifty bucks. Darker and moodier than previous works, thanks in no small part to the covers he's chosen (Pearls Before Swine's 'Sail Away,' Jessie Mae Hemphill's 'Cowgirl Blues,' Furry Lewis's 'Judge,' and the Edgar Allan Poe poem 'The Conqueror Worm'), Land Beyond The Mountains stands as one of his finest achievements."

ELECTRIC PRUNES: Stockholm 67 CD (BMR 039). $14.00

"In the winter of 1967, a psychedelic-garage-punk band from Woodland Hills, California, arrived in Europe for what would be their first and last tour of the continent. On the strength of their hit single 'I Had Too Much To Dream Last Night,' the band was welcomed with open arms by European rock fans as well as British rock royalty — they smoked out with Hendrix, partied with Brian Jones and Keith Moon, and hung out in the studio with the Beatles — but were also subjected to harassment and ridicule over the fact that their homeland was at war in Vietnam. Yep, good times, good times? Twenty days and six countries later it was all over. Luckily, on the last stop of the tour someone pushed the record button and this artifact is the result. Stockholm 67 finds the Electric Prunes at the height of the powers. Some ninnies have griped that the 'Prunes were nothing more than a psychedelic one-hit wonder, and a studio project at best. This performance burns the criticism to the ground. Over-amplified and fuzzed to the max, the 'Prunes here are explosive, noisy and wild. This recording proves that the Electric Prunes deserve to be ranked alongside the very best bands of their era."

WARLOCKS: Phoenix CD (BMR 040 CD). $9.00

"The Warlocks have been making a name for themselves for several years with their own brand of psychedelic rock — a swirling grind that conjures the Velvet Underground, The Stooges, Spaceman 3, Neu!, Can, and early Pink Floyd. They deliver the sounds and sights from their powerful, hallucinatory world that these synthetic times need and would do well not to ignore. At the vortex of The Warlocks' cross-fire hurricane — two drummers, four guitarists, bass and keyboards — is guitarist / bassist / lead vocalist Bobby Hecksher. He writes all of the band's songs, which range from fourteen-minute gotterdammerung assaults to pastoral acoustic-strummed meditations; from amazing pop songs to addictive guitar mayhem that anchors the trip."

WARLOCKS: Phoenix 12" (BMR 040 EP). $7.50

12" vinyl version.

WARLOCKS: The Phoenix Album CD (BMR 041). $15.00

"The Warlocks have been making a name for themselves for several years with their own brand of psychedelic rock — a swirling grind that conjures the Velvet Underground, The Stooges, Spaceman 3, Neu!, Can, and early Pink Floyd. They deliver the sounds and sights from their powerful, hallucinatory world that these synthetic times need and would do well not to ignore. At the vortex of The Warlocks' cross-fire hurricane — two drummers, four guitarists, bass and keyboards — is guitarist/bassist/lead vocalist Bobby Hecksher. He writes all of the band's songs, which range from fourteen-minute gotterdammerung assaults to pastoral acoustic-strummed meditations; from amazing pop to addictive guitar mayhem that anchors the trip. Hecksher was in the Brain Jonestown Massacre for a while, a few years ago, and also played on Beck's Stereo Pathetic Soul Manure album, so you know he's no fly-by-night. They've toured the US extensively and released two fine EPs on the Bomp label, but The Phoenix Album is by far their finest work to date."

WARLOCKS: The Phoenix Album LP (BMR 041 LP). $11.00

Vinyl LP version.

STATIC TAXI: Closer 2 Normal CD (BMR 043). $14.00

"If trash-punk guitar virtuoso Bob Stinson had a way of making fellow musicians feel like it was him and them against the world, most of these musicians also got the impression that the world was winning. Recorded in 1989 and 1990 by Stinson's 'art blues' outfit, Closer 2 Normal has remained unreleased until now, half a decade after The Replacements guitarist's death. Since Stinson's final drug spiral, it has been difficult to romanticize that era. Birdman Records has decided that the grace period has ended and these songs were worth resurrecting for more than the sake of nostalgia or the opportunity to mourn. The lyrical ache of the cascading guitar shimmer on these recordings is enough to make you weep. Stinson's springtime-sludge textures elevate Ray Reigstad's snotty choruses and jumpy rhythms to the level of great gonzoed power-pop. There was chemistry amid the chemicals of that train car — now everyone can hear it for themselves."

PFFR: United We Doth CD (BMR 044). $14.00

"PFFR is a Brooklyn-based electro-rock-crazed combo made up of a small group of highly motivated young people (early teens and older) who started a band in order to cause a riot in the local public library. Inspired by The Boredoms, early Ween, and Add N To X, the group has created an underground following in New York City. Their fans visit PFFR's one-of-a-kind shows for the comedy, cynicism, rage and euphoria, but they stick around for the unique blend of synthesizers, guitars and noise. After several seven-inch records released by obscure French labels (all sold out), United We Doth is their first compact disc. Every instrument is used, every yowl rings of freedom. Frequently fantastic, incorrect, loose-limbed and choking on horsehair, PFFR is the final knife fight between theory and vehement concrete specimen. United We Doth answers the eternal question 'Would I?' with a resounding 'Hair-lie!'"

CUTS, THE: 2 Over Ten CD (BMR 045). $14.00

"The Cuts are four twenty-somethings from Oakland, California, who make some of the best garage pop that you'll find today. The Cuts' wild sonic tantrums and lust-scorched anthems are so soaked in Nuggets history it's hard to believe they weren't conceived in the same fertile musical ground that produced bands like the Sonics and 7 and the Mysterians. The band blends old-school, psychedelic garage with '70s NYC proto-punk noise (a couple songs are so Television it's crazy) — but these guys make the blend seamless. The guitars come off cheap and messy; the vocals are amp'd, snotty, and slightly distorted; the keyboards whiz around like some woozy Dennis Hopper drug sequence, and the rhythms switch between jangling so loosely they're gonna slip right out of your speakers and getting wound so tight they're gonna snap."

MODEY LEMON: Thunder + Lightning CD (BMR 046 CD). $14.00

"Modey Lemon are a two-man hurricane of sound and a genuine force to be reckoned with. Hailing from Pittsburgh, PA (home of George Romero) and clocking in at barely 20 years of age, The Modey Lemon have developed a sound unlike anyone else's. Guitar, drums and Moog synthesizer, equal parts late '60s hard rock, early '70s hard rock, and early '90s grunge filtered through punk from all three decades. This inventive, creative duo are caked in gritty, high-wattage garage punk and B-movie rock'n'roll, a twisted influence of greaser / garage rock sounds, adjusted with an art punk mentality, channeled through some big amp rawk."

MODEY LEMON: Thunder + Lightning LP (BMR 046 LP). $9.00

LP version.

VA: Jim Dickinson Field Recordings: Delta Experiment Project #3 CD (BMR 047 CD). $15.00

"Memphis musician/producer Jim Dickinson is a legend in his own right (having played keyboards on the Rolling Stones' 'Wild Horses,' performed on Bob Dylan albums, produced Big Star and Alex Chilton albums, etc., etc.) and he definitely knows a thing or two about blues roots and field recordings of legendary and should-be-legendary blues artists from the south. Dickinson captures raw and spontaneous performances from some of the most important blues artists in the Memphis / Mississippi area on these exclusive recordings by Furry Lewis, Sleepy John Estes (whose performances feature the guitar work of Ry Cooder), Otha Turner, Mose Vinson, Johnny Woods and Alec Teal. These pure examples of Delta blues were committed to tape at Sam Phillips studios, Ardent studios, the Orpheum Theater, and various fields in and around the Memphis area. Raw, gritty and real — just how the blues should be heard."

Dickinson says, 'The Blues is a musical tradition born from the dark prison of slavery. Torn from family and homeland, separated from custom and culture, the call and response of the African work song took on new emotional depth. A lonesome sound in the darkness — a howling dog or passing train — echoed by harmonica or guitar became a raw, powerful statement of hard times, long work, and fast pleasure; a voice in the southern night complaining about the human condition.'

CUTS, THE: The Cuts CD (BMR 048CD). $14.00

"Modern day psychedelia — coming right at you with lightning speed. Did someone say '13th Floor Elevators meets Television'? The Cuts stand apart from any contemporary garage rock purveyors. Tough as nails, neurotic, simplistic, big, deep, catchy and devastating all at the same time. Genuine decathlon scorch."

FRAZER, PAULA: A Place Where I Know CD (BMR 049 CD). $14.00

"Over the years, angelic-voiced Paula Frazer has amassed quite a catalogue of beautiful songs. She has performed in the various incarnations of Tarnation as well as with other players backing her on her solo pursuits. Her approach to songwriting is consistent; she is a firm believer in the bedroom demo recording. Alone, in her room, with her Yamaha four-track, Paula has recorded all of the songs that have made it onto her various releases, as well as countless others. Bedroom hiss plays along with the guitar and voice on these pure, fragile and haunting recordings. A Place Where I Know compiles the choicest of these recordings, taken from 1992 to 2002."

TWILIGHT SINGERS: Black is the Color of My True Love's Hair CD (BMR 050 CD). $6.50

"Birdman Records is proud to announce the limited edition release of an EP by The Twilight Singers. This EP, Black Is The Color Of My True Love's Hair, represents the first release for Greg Dulli and company in over three years. This EP features a dramatic new rendition of the classic song Nina Simone helped to make famous, as well as one of the Birdman's favorite new Greg Dulli penned numbers, Domani."

ASHLEY, GREG: Medicine Fuck Dream CD (BMR 052 CD). $14.00

"Coming from Houston, settling in Oakland, friend to the Cuts, loved by the Modey Lemon. Makes sense this acid-tinged, macabre piece of beauty falls on the lap of Birdman. Think Roky Erickson, Syd Barret, Mayo Thompson, post-ax wielding Skip Spence; the songs on Medicine Fuck Dream are hypnotizing, mind-altering, dark, fuzzy bits about love, love and death, love and war, and Technicolor love from the leader of Texas' Mirrors (not the old Mirrors from yesteryear)."

YOUNG JAZZ GIANTS: Young Jazz Giants CD (BMR 054CD). $14.00

"A trad jazz recording worthy of Blue Note or Prestige. Schooled by the late Billy Higgins. Kamasi Washington appeared on Ryan Adams's hit 'New York New York', and is in Snoop Dogg's live band. Ronald Bruner plays drums for Raphael Saadiq, Kenny Garret and Suicidal Tendencies. Winners of John Coltrane contest at CSU Northridge."

MODEY LEMON: Predator CD (BMR 056). $7.50

"The two-piece has toured the US, UK and Australia, blowing away audiences with their over-amplified, art-damaged, garage punk metal. Lead singer / guitarist / synth-player Phil Boyd receives as much attention for his Calvin Klein good looks as he does his musical prowess, and drummer Paul Quatrone is the most wildly accomplished rock percussionist since Neil Peart. Predator features the stand-out title track taken from Thunder + Lightning, a new alternate version of 'Tongues (Everybody's Got One)', as well as three new scorches that are guaranteed rock you in exactly the way you'd hope to be rocked."

MIDNITE SNAKE: Midnite Snake CD (BMR 057CD). $14.00

"Bearded, dirty, and riding the brink of the stoner rock revolution, the new heroes of thee electric guitar mayhem, Midnite Snake are a Pittsburgh power trio who play instrumental acid rock until death does part."

GRIS GRIS: Gris Gris CD (BMR 058CD). $14.00

"A machine is born created out of the embers of all the distortion and blissed-out feedback the devil birthed in Texas circa 1967. Rollercoasting from the surreal goodness of Ashley's Medicine Fuck Dream to Can-flavored head-bobbing environments, to that particular corner of garage rock that testified to the Detroit losers in the guise of Back From The Grave and Nuggets compilations, the Gris Gris's debut Birdman release is rock'n'roll that will save some and rattle the rest."

APES: Tapestry Mastery CD (BMR 059 CD). $9.00

"The debut Birdman release from this Washington, DC quartet contains three stories from the beyond told to the band's blind weaver, Maximilla, as a guide for her to weave a masterpiece. Tapestry Mastery presents six mind-numbing recordings (over 25 minutes of music) with sounds more bombastic, fertile and charismatic than any Apes release to date. They rip it apart live with their signature bass-keyboard-and-drum grooves and singer Paul's sheer intensity. Tapestry Mastery finds the Apes creating a recording that equals the thrills of their live shows."

APES: Tapestry Mastery 10" (BMR 059EP). $9.00

"The debut Birdman release from this Washington, DC quartet contains three stories from the beyond told to the band's blind weaver, Maximilla, as a guide for her to weave a masterpiece. Tapestry Mastery presents six mind-numbing recordings (over 25 minutes of music) with sounds more bombastic, fertile and charismatic than any Apes release to date. They rip it apart live with their signature bass-keyboard-and-drum grooves and singer Paul's sheer intensity."

RECCHION, TOM: I Love My Organ CD (BMR 069CD). $14.00

"The bulk of the material on Tom Recchion's second album for Birdman was recorded just after the completion of Chaotica in the mid-'80s, and sounds like a natural continuation of that record (despite the absence of any Esquivel). Recchion is assisted on some tracks by noted musician, composer, author, journalist for The Wire, and music curator David Toop (himself a collaborator with Eno, Jon Hassell, John Zorn, Talvin Singh, Adrian Sherwood, and Scanner). Recchion labored on I Love My Organ for years and years; dark and atmospheric, it is simultaneously creepy and relaxing lounge music for psychotics. Tom Recchion has been a notable personality in the Los Angeles underground avant-garde experimental music scene since the '70s, having been a founding member of the Los Angeles Free Music Society, art rock band The B People, and creepedelic quartet Extended Organ. He's collaborated with the likes of Keiji Haino, David Toop, and done numerous installations at galleries in the United States and abroad. There's even a planned collaboration with the Kronos Quartet in the works. In 1996 Birdman released Recchion's first solo album, an astounding sound collage of looped, manipulated, and extrapolated music by Esquivel. Like soundtrack music to a never-before-seen David Lynch film, Chaotica sounded remarkably fresh and timely when released (even though it had been recorded at least 10 years earlier)."

BLACK BEAUTY:*CARNEY, RALPH: This Is! Ralph Carney CD (BB 72001). $13.50

"Imagine Roland Kirk, Capt. Beefhart, & Dan Hicks getting together for a 1970's jam with Brian Eno producing. Here's the 3rd solo album from a multi-instrumentalist/horn player who has spent the better part of the last 2 decades criss-crossing the world, on stage and in studios with the likes of Tom Waits, William Burroughs, Allen Ginsberg, B-52's, Marc Ribot, Bill Laswell, Hal Wilner, Pere Ubu's David Thomas, Elvis Costello, Topsy, Galaxie 500, Daevid Allen of Gong, Jonathan Richman, and contributor to movie soundtracks of David Lynch & Jim Jarmusch. File under: jazz, pop, hot licks, and weird soundtracks — like a serenade from a cuckoo."

MUSHROOM WITH GARY FLOYD: Mad Dogs And San Franciscans CD (BB 72003). $13.50

"The Fillmore West meets Superfly when psychedelic jazz-rock groovers Mushroom join blues/punk powerhouse vocalist Gary Floyd (Sister Double Happiness) to explore twisted soulful space-rock songs by Curtis Mayfield, Leon Russell, The Who, Steppenwolf, Clarence Carter, Joe Cocker, Spencer Davis Group & Spirit. Snake guitars, tribal percussion, swamp piano, Memphis horns, foxy backing vocals, & cosmic sounds fueled by Floyd's dynamic belting ability makes for an incomparable return of The Pusherman and a time when even the Beatles had beards."

GALE, EDDIE: Afro-Fire CD (BB 72004). $14.00

"The long awaited (30+ years!) follow up to Eddie Gale's Blue Note albums: Ghetto Music and Black Rhythm Happening (reissued recently by Water Records). Afro-Fire finds Eddie working with multi-instrumentalist David Hayden, pianist Will Nichols and synthesizer player Chet Smith crafting a blend of jazz with contemporary beats & rhythms. Gale's muted trumpet is once again at the forefront. Sam Sweet said it best 'Gale's music often carries apocalyptic undertones in its explosions of celebration and humor.... his records remain accessible and musically rich...somber and celebratory, contemplative and ferocious, there is much to be found in, and to be learned from, Eddie's music.'

MUSHROOM: Glazed Popems 2CD (BB 72005). $14.00

"Psychedelic jazz rock groovers Mushroom move into baroque, pastoral, acid folk on disc one of their new double CD. New keyboardist Matt Cunitz arrived with a Mellotron and an electric harpsichord giving the music a distinct flavor — somewhere this side of post-Syd/pre-Dark Side Floyd, Led Zeppelin III, and vintage King Crimson. Don't worry that Mushroom has gone 'prog'. Guitarist Tim Plowman (Slovenly), trombonist Mike Rinta (Howard Tate) and saxophone maverick Ralph Carney (Bill Laswell, Marc Ribot), steer the band into wild space jams, jazzy grooves and freaky post-rock throughout disc two. Find out why Mushroom has attracted the likes of Faust, Bundy K. Brown, Kevin Ayers, and Daevid Allen — all of whom, have collaborated with Mushroom."

BLACK LABEL:*MAZZACANE, LOREN: Hell's Kitchen Park CD (BLACK 1). $10.00

Loren Mazzacane is one of the most blaringly individualist American artists slugging away in current obscurity. Like Jandek, he has been self-releasing his music in private self-editions for close to 15 years, with 20+ releases to his name (almost all o/p). He plays guitar in a primitive, ethereal-blues style where each note hovers into it's own infinite state and takes on the universe, and you've never previously heard anything quite like it. This is the first release on a new label; he's mostly found in a solo setting on this disc (with the addition of Suzanne Langille's vocals on two of the 12 tracks), and long-time followers might be shocked by some of the extremes of loud-playing exhibited here, (there are some sectors of soaring sheets of sound that are even reminiscent of Keiji Haino).

MAZZACANE CONNORS, LOREN: 9th Avenue CD (BLACK 3). $12.00

Solo work by MazzaCane Connors. This features his most electrified, fuzz-drenched, and third-minded solo guitar piece ever. Soaring sustain and ringing overtones dominate here like on no other Mazzacane release, to real soul-shattering effect. MazzaCane represents the true core-spirit of American individualistic creation and this disc finds him at an all time peak; please check it out. Limited stock.

MAZZACANE CONNORS/SUZANNE LANGILLE, LOREN: Crucible CD (BLACK 4). $12.00

Exquisite guitar/vocal duets, that might just be the definitive work from America's master guitarist. Evocative, slobberingly drenched guitar sustain from Loren to match the heart-stopping vocals from Suzanne (who has accompanied MazzaCane on previous recordings like Come Night and Rooms) make this one of the year's most moving sound experiences.

BLACK MELODY (UK):*HUMAN LEAGUE/THE FUTURE: Golden Hour Of The Future 12" (MEL 003). $9.00

"Vinyl only limited press (2000 only) of a sneak preview of the forthcoming Golden Hour Of The Future CD. This album includes previously unheard material from the pre-Travelogue and Reproduction era Human League, and their earlier alias, The Future. There are 3 tracks exclusive to this format that will not be featured on the album. Transporting us back to 1977 Sheffield, the tracks showcase the more ambient and experimental side of the band. This is rare, rare stuff."

HUMAN LEAGUE/THE FUTURE: Golden Hour Of The Future CD (MEL 004 CD). $15.00

"This album includes previously unheard material from the pre-Travelogue and Reproduction era Human League, and their earlier alias, The Future and includes tracks from the classic Ware/Marsh/Newton and Ware/Marsh/Oakley line ups. Transporting us back to 1977 Sheffield, the tracks showcase the more ambient and experimental side of the band ('Last Man On Earth' — like prime Boards Of Canada, New Pink Floyd — as it says on the tin, but don't be afraid), their burgeoning pop sensibilities (Dance Like A Star, Year Of The Jet Packs) as well as their distinctive humour (Domination Advertisement). There a few secret outtakes from the multitracks hidden on the CD. A wealth of new material for the old school fans and the new listeners drawn to this era by the recent new wave and electronic revival. For fans of: Human League/Cabaret Voltaire/Clock DVA/Heaven 17."

BLACK SAINT (ITALY):*MELIS, MARCELLO: *Aneddras LP (BS LP 073). $5.00

Melis (bass, vocals, radio dial), Famoudou Don Moye (drums), Don Pullen (piano), Sandro Sata (alto sax).

MASLAK, KESHAVAN: *Blaster Master LP (BS LP 079). $6.00

Duets between Maslak (alto & tenor sax) and Charles Moffett (drums), recorded live in Austria in 1981. Despite a rather sinister New Wave style jacket, this record features the Leo-aligned saxophonist at his most ferocious and outward bound, backed only by the heroic Moffett (Ornette Coleman Trio). Although he later disavowed this style, "this record marks the culmination of a very intense free jazz, free bop period I went through in Europe." — Maslak.

BLACK SOLIDARITY (UK):*VA: *The Park Is Mine CD (BS 055 CD). $15.00

"Repress of a compilation of classic Bunny Lee productions recorded in Jamaica during the 'golden age' of reggae in the mid '70s. Features the cream of Jamaican vocalists such as Cornell Campbell (Jah Jah Mi On Yah), Horace Andy (You Are My Angel, Don't Try To Use Me), Linval Thompson (Big Big Girl, Sukumaka), Mighty Diamonds (Carefree Girl), Barry Brown, Ken Boothe, Leroy Smart and more."

SCIENTIST: *Pockets of Resistance CD (BS 077 CD). $17.00

"Black Solidarity have dug deep into the crates to dig out a dozen rare and obscure tunes associated with the legendary engineer and dub master Scientist. Most tracks date from the first half of the 1980's and feature the Roots Radics and the Soul Syndicate Band."

PABLO, AUGUSTUS: *The Red Sea LP (BSLP 001). $12.00

"Classic selection of early Augustus Pablo recordings for producer Herman Chin-Loy dating as far back as 1969 when Pablo was pioneering his 'far east' sound. Features the original version of Pablo's classic 'East of the River Nile' and the blueprint of a track that was later to become 'Cassava Place'/'King Tubby Meets The Rockers Uptown', known here as 'I-Man'."

VA: *The Park Is Mine LP (BSLP 055 LP). $13.00

LP version. "Repress of a compilation of classic Bunny Lee productions recorded in Jamaica during the 'golden age' of reggae in the mid '70s. Features the cream of Jamaican vocalists such as Cornell Campbell (Jah Jah Mi On Yah), Horace Andy (You Are My Angel, Don't Try To Use Me), Linval Thompson (Big Big Girl, Sukumaka), Mighty Diamonds (Carefree Girl), Barry Brown, Ken Boothe, Leroy Smart and more."

KING TUBBY: *The Dub Organiser LP (BSLP 057). $12.00

"Superb collection of 12 Bunny Lee produced dubs from the vaults of King Tubby's studio recorded in the mid '70s, featuring Tubby on the mix alongside apprentices Prince Jammy and Philip Smart. Includes bone-crunching dubs to Linval Thompson's 'Big Big Girl', 'sukumaka', 'Long Long Dreadlocks', 'Jah Jah The Conqueror', Cornell Campbell's 'I Am The Gorgon', 'Dance Inna Greenwich Farm' and Wayne Jarrett's 'Satta Dread'."

M-BOOGIE: *Laid In Full 2LP (BLK 009 LP). $14.00BLACKJACK RECORDS:*METABOLISMUS: *Terra Incognita LP (BJ 027). $13.00

"Anybody fortunate enough to have heard any of Metabolismus' previous offerings can attest to the band's varied approach to musical construction. In addition to a wide range of influences — Faust, Can, Popol Vuh, '60s beat psych and jazz, weirdo American rockers like Kim Fowley (with whom the band has recorded) — this is attributable to a healthy policy of incorporating any and all voices that might push the group's sound experiments to the outer limits. With an aggregate membership whose size is believed to approach the low 30s, Metabolismus has both reached a peak in their evolution and released their most cohesive album to date." Limited stock.

METABOLISMUS: *Terra Incognita CD (BJ 027 CD). $15.00

"Anyone fortunate enough to have heard any of Metabolismus' previous offerings can attest to the band's varied approach to musical construction. It is difficult to name two of their releases that, on the surface, sound alike. In addition to a wide range of influences — Faust, Can, Popol Vuh, '60s beat psych and jazz, weirdo American rockers like Kim Fowley (with whom the band has recorded) — this is attributable to a healthy policy of incorporating any and all voices that might push the group's sound experiments to the outer limits. BLANCO Y NEGRO/WEA (UK):*CRAIG, CARL: *Landcruising CD (WEA 99865). $17.00

Now available as a mid-line reissue, this is Carl Craig's debut full length album, originally issued on the now-doomed UK WEA-associated Blanco Y Negro label in 1995. A concentrated, fully developed album (not a collection of previously released singles), Craig went all out to record one of the classic, defining records of Detroit-originated electronic music. A controversial record upon release (obvious guitar textures can be heard sampled; the overall sound is much more luxurious and sophisticated than usually expected from Detroit techno productions; it didn't contain any of Carl's numerous popular tracks under prior aliases; and, it was released on a label of dubious credibility w/ major label distribution), it is full of epic tracks and is a crucial document in Craig's career overview. It has never been distributed in any proper sense in the US and remains largely unheard by Craig followers who are much more familiar with his Planet E/SSR output. Ripe for rediscovery. "Like its primary source of inspiration — Kraftwerk — this major-label debut from Detroit techno producer Carl Craig is only occasionally and secondarily danceable. But despite their almost Muzak-like sonic sheen, these nine tracks reveal a polyrhythmic complexity and cinematic atmosphere that's totally in line with purist techno's roots. 'Mind of a Machine' layers classic Detroit strings over a pulse-pounding synthetic bassline and bristling percussion for an album opener that evokes a relentless midnight trip down I-94. The melodic 'Landcruising' meanders across your speakers like a Sunday afternoon drive. The clattering 'Einbahn' has the same go-nowhere energy as a rush-hour traffic jam. But Craig is going for more than mere road-trip soundtrack. Thematically, the album attempts to reconcile the utopian and the dystopian sides of the man/machine interface - the dramatic tension of 'Science Fiction' and 'Technology' contrasting sharply with the romantic haze of 'A Wonderful Life' and 'One Day Soon'. Intentionally evoking the primitive equipment that his German heroes so successfully exploited, Craig creates a sort of retro futurism that sometimes sounds like a symphony of video games. This motif reaches its apex on the closing track, 'Home Entertainment', where tiny drum machines and luxurious synths wring melody and rhythm from plastic and wires." — Brian J. Dillard.

BLAOU (GERMANY):*VA: *The Greatestshits (Mixed by Dixon & Mitja Prinz) CD (BLAOU 015). $19.00

Mixed compilation of euphoric German house, mixed by Dixon and Tresor's Mitja Prinz, featuring multiple tracks by M. Schaffhäuser, El Greco, Beat Boutique, Das Deva, Arc-en-ciel, Erobique, Platzdasch. Schaffhäuser is represented by 3 tracks and is there a heavier minimal house anthem than the astonishing '6 Uhr Morgens' which opens this CD? Cute cover, seductive sounds, similar to best of the Neuhouse series.

SCHAFFHAUSER, MATHIAS: *Smith, Wesson And Me 12" (BLAOU 018). $8.00

"Berlin's Blaou label is bursting with quality at the moment. After Kissograms current hit 'if i had known this before' being hammered on all decks all over Germany here's another striking tune that will make all electronic dancefloor lads turn their heads. Cologne master Mathias Schaffhäuser with one of his finest moments. Cristal clear raunchy energetic excitement, from the intro speech towards to the incredible amorph bass flow you can feel the rhythms build and tension grow with each round the record spins. So electronic movers and future music pelvis shakers, if you didn't know it before: 'smith and wesson is our lesson.'"

SCHAFFHAUSER, MATHIAS: *From 4 To 6 a.m. CD (BLAOU 019 CD). $15.00

"This is mixed compilation album from Blaou tells the story musical wise. It is titled From 4 to 6 a.m. and presents the complete 'Blaou Years', the works for Blaou until now, including 10 tracks that appear to be a versatile and highly inspired string of sounds that work like a concept album soundtrack for modernist urban electronic dancing. A striking example how fresh and inspiring this musical genre can still be when it is composed in Cologne-Germany. And 'Composition' is the word for this album, one hour of cristal clear raunchy energetic excitement from the humble foreplay installment '4 Uhr Morgens' towards the amorph bass flow when 'Smith and Wesson' appear on the scene up to the dramatic guitar crescendo of '6 Uhr Morgens', you can feel the rhythms build and tension grow with each round this CD spins. Due to the long time span of the single productions incorporated on the album the final edited version feels like a journey in time, going back to the future in the best meaning of the expression. You may know Mathias Schaffhäuser for his recent success on Lido Hotel on his own Ware label but you have never heard him sounding so special and intense as From 4 to 6 a.m. So, electronic movers and future music pelvis shakers, if you didn't know it before: the new year has no rhythm and no rhyme and no right time if it doesn't last 'from 4 to 6 a.m.'"

PRINZ, MITJA: *Jack Crack 12" (BLAOU 020). $8.00

"The next huge blistering rocket choon on Blaou. Already making big waves in Berlin here's long time premier party jock, Dixon companion and word and sound friend Mitja Prinz with his first production ever. A hot haunting tech disco-tech house groover like no other. First of all its 'Jack Crack' a terrifying build up piece in Siesta/Tango/Hippe Halo, et al style with deep bass and some female vox, phat sliced strings and dominant dubby beats making the pace. Flip over for an even better deep pumping hallucinating and darkreloped wild pitch stomper called 'Gruwilischä's' that will hit hard on the floor and will make those boring plus 30 year old nu jazz lads look for shelter when Jack Crack arrives."

ACRYLITE: *What Is It/Justus Köhnke Remix 12" (BLAOU 022). $8.00

"Produced by new Berlin talent Pierre Deutschmann and magically remixed by Whirlpool's Justus Köhnke this will be another big one for Blaou. One year after Kissogramm (Woody Rmx) its the same magical formula, as good and as ass-shaking intense. Original punkish male vox track turned into a wobbling basslined electrified Tech House anthem with long break and wicked build up theme. The B side is harder and more rough but as good in a rip off Woody/Fumakilla style- rocking non-stop, kick ass sounding and soo sweet."

BLAST FIRST (UK):*RA, SUN: *Live In London 1990 CD (BFFP 060). $15.00

Originally issued in 1990 and available only through the mail (via The Wire magazine) as a 3 x 10" box set or CD, this has now been released for common public consumption, with new Graham Lock liner notes.

GAYLE TRIO, CHARLES: *Live At Disobey CD (BFFP 100). $20.00

Restock of this 1994 CD, featuring recordings from Disobey (a club where the Blast First label has been running sporadic live performances for the past couple of years). Gayle (ts, bcl, voice), Michael Wimberley (d), Hilliard Green (b).

BLUE HUMANS: *Live In London 1994 CD (BFFP 108). $20.00

73+ minutes of the trio of Rudolph Grey (guitar), Tom Sural (drums) & Charles Gayle (drums).

GUTHRIE, ROBIN: *Drifting Mix CD (BFFP 159). $15.00

"To celebrate the second Drifting Festival, Blast First is releasing a 46-minute 45 seconds long drifting DJ mix by Robin Guthrie (of Cocteau Twins fame). This specially commissioned mix comprises of studio tracks and live recordings from the 1st Festival of Drifting (1998) plus original tracks specially recorded by Robin Guthrie." Features material from: Silo, Labradford, Charlemagne Palestine, Tony Conrad, Caspar Brotzmann, Sonic Youth, Chris 'n' Cosy, Pan American, Rothko. This was a giveaway CD at the Festival & these are some of the last remaining copies being offered on export. Packaged in a simple cardboard sleeve. Now at a reduced price.

PAN SONIC: *B 12" (BFFP 161). $9.00

Four track 20-minute EP, following up to the most recent Pan Sonic album, A. Featuring all new tracks: "Latus," "Kuusi Halko," "Vapina 2," & "Pyokki Halko". "This vinyl only release is the companion to their latest album; just 4 tracks of pure analogue beats and rhythm and they are not available on any other release. It is certainly the most accessible of their records and it is aiming at the dance floor (in a very Pan Sonic way of course). 'Vapina 2' is one of the finest pieces of Electronica in recent years, obsessive and repetitive like a Kraftwerk classic and still extremely catchy and groovy. While 'Pyokki Halko' is a vicious electric drill-like beat that is expected to turn into a hi-energy tune at any moment." Limited stock.

VA: *Sonic Mook Experiment 2: Future Rock & Roll CD (BFFP 176 CD). $17.00

"The new album is the follow up to last year's critically acclaimed Sonic Mook collection on Hub Records and features 25 tracks from some of the finest new bands around, many for the first time on CD. Capturing perfectly the energy and attitude of the club night it was spawned from, it includes tracks from the likes of The Eighties Matchbox B-Line Disaster, Liars, The Toes, The Beatings, The Parkinsons, Yeah Yeah Yeahs, Zongamin, National Bandit and The Bull Medways." Artists also include: Fat Truckers, Clinic, The Drug Punks, The Hives, WHITEY, Chicano, Überwensch, McLusky, Joan of Ass, Some Product, The Martini Henry Rifles, Electrelane, 2nd Gen, Mu Chan Clan, Ikara Colt, Earl Brutus.

VA: Sonic Mook Experiment 2: Future Rock & Roll 2LP (BFFP 176 LP). $17.00
Double LP version.

VA: Sonic Mook Experiment 3: Hot Shit CD (BFFP 177 CD). $17.00

"Sonic Mook Experiment are set to release their third album Hot Shit on Blast First / Mute. Hot Shit, the follow up to Future Rock And Roll, contains tracks from a diverse collection of UK and US bands — more Art Rock than Punk and with a definite swing towards the dance floor, the compilation includes tracks from the likes of Pink Grease, Erase Errata, Ex Models, Radio 4, !!! (Chk Chk Chk) and Big Two Hundred." Artists: Pink Grease, Big Two Hundred, Whitey, Chrome Hoof, klang, Mommy And Daddy, Erase Errata, Puppy B & Donny C, Montana Pete, Crack Village vs. Radioactive Man, Radio 4, Queens Of Noize, Ex Models, Part Chimp, !!! (Chk Chk Chk), Kings Have Long Arms, Valerie, Ed Laliq, Todd, Groop, Yeah Yeah Yeahs, The Martini Henry Rifles, Bane Overlord, and Disastronaut.

VA: Sonic Mook Experiment 3: Hot Shit 2LP (BFFP 177 LP). $19.00
Double LP version.

MARTINI HENRY RIFLES, THE: Luger 600 7" (BFFP 183). $4.00

"Sean McLusky's Sonic Mook Experiment unleash the first two singles in their Sonic Mook Seven Series on Mute's Blast First label. The Martini Henry Rifles describe their sound as being 'riddled with foot and mouth' and cite too many influences to name ranging from disgustingly no-fi Skin Graft obscurities to utter-gutter ripped raw '50s dementia. Blonde drones with nicotine stained razor wire guitars, a blaring wall of discord, adrenaline Rock & Roll and guitar smashing."

TERRASHIMA: Loosing My Grip 7" (BFFP 184). $4.00

"Terrashima, England's most fucked up rock band, announce their intentions to destroy all their contemporary peers and expose them as impostors. They promise to lay waste to cosy complaisant audiences everywhere. The band started out of a mutual disgust of the current crop of safe music and fake rebellion: 'We wanna make music that kid's mum and dads hate, in fact we wanna make music that everyone hates.'"

KAITO: EP CD (BFFP 189CD). $8.00

"Boy girl vocals, snarling art-punk guitar fuzz, catchy sugar-pop choruses and the kind of riffs that suggest Sonic Youth jamming with the Pixies. One of the most winningly freaked bands to ever detune and beautifully abuse their guitars. Songs drenched with sex and madness, cool like Elastica but completely off the hook, unpoised blasting apart the concept of pop as we know it. Kaito compose chaos and capture the thrilling beauty of the exact moment of fragmentation."

KAITO: EP 10" (BFFP 189EP). $8.00

Vinyl 10" EP version. 4 tracks. Boy girl vocals, snarling art-punk guitar fuzz, catchy sugar-pop choruses and the kind of riffs that suggest Sonic Youth jamming with the Pixies."

BLAST FIRST PETITE:

KLANG: No Sound Is Heard CD (PTYT 001CD). $14.00

"Klang's long-awaited debut album, on the new Blast First Petite label, features nine tracks and is the follow up to the Long trio's brilliant L.O.V.E./No Thing single (For Us, 2003). Klang formed in 2002 when Donna Matthews (Formerly of Elastica) and Isabel Waidner met Japanese drummer Keisuke Hiratsuka in a used record shop in London. A truly original Britpop group into scratchy, loopy, downbeat tunes, leaning like neo-expressionist drunkards toward the likes of Can, The Fall, and Kraftwerk."

KLANG: No Sound Is Heard LP (PTYT 001LP). $14.00
LP version.

BLOCKY DIAMOND (SWEDEN):

FREEZY FREEZE/SWAYZE: Blocky Diamond Disc #1 12" (BLOCKY 001 EP). $11.00

"A new series called Blocky diamond disc. First one by Freezy Feeze (aka Luke Eargoggle) and Swayze with 4 ice cold electro cutz in a down tempo Model 500 style mixed with kinda weird Egyptian lover style vocals. Ultra cool stuff with a strange twist."

BLOODSTAINS:

VA: Bloodstains Across Sweden LP (BLOOD 4). $8.00

Compilation of crude punk from Sweden, 1977-83. Featuring Watabout, Kriminella Gitarrer, Bugs, Rude Kids (their classic "Raggare Is A Bunch of Motherfuckers"), Glo, Usch, Brulbajz, Mizz Nobody, Butter Litter, Vicious Visions, Liket Lever & Blodarna.

BLOW RECORDINGS (UK):

VA: Back To Breaks: The True Sounds From The Original Block Parties CD (BLOW 001 CD). $19.00

"Blow Recordings is a label created especially for avid music lovers. Blow will cover various musical styles from all influences and cultures. Kicking off with Breaks, it's worth considering just what a break is all about. In the South Bronx, Harlem and Brooklyn, the original break beat scene emerged. The Block Parties were essentially reacting against the dominance of disco. The crowds had grown up to the sound of artists like the James Brown, Fatback Band, Kool & The Gang and the sound of Jazz-Funk. James Brown was really the don of break beat, he must be one of the most sampled artists in current music today, from Pop, Hip Hop to Drum & Bass. The way in which James Brown created his tracks was... He would get the group to play a funky riff and then he would improvise his lyrics over the top. The funky break came first then the vocal song second. These tracks have been sampled and recreated time after time, but nothing sounds as good as these originals."

VA: Mercy Mercy Me! CD (BLOW 002 CD). $19.00

"Blow Recordings selects the urban sound of the 70's Black America as the essential soundtrack to the soul grooves of a defining era. Mercy Mercy Me! brings together the patchwork quilt of Soul under the beautiful banner of Blow Recordings. Mercy Mercy Me! features the artists and recordings that are synonymous with the post Vietnam era of black politicization that were enhanced by the soul of Marvin Gaye, Barry White and Roy Ayers. Mercy Mercy Me! features all the musical genius' that put the heart in Soul. We have all been influenced in some way with the 70's movement, whether it be the fashion, movies and of course — the music. Mercy Mercy Me! is a true representation of the music from back in the day, which still sounds as fresh as ever and stands the test of time."

VA: Afro Beat CD (BLOW 003 CD). $19.00

"What is this thing called Afrobeat? From all over the World music takes on a different style and the culture has a very heavy influence. Out of Lagos, Nigeria, emerged a very special sound, combining soul, Funk, Jazz, which they called Afrobeat. Fela Anikulapo Kuti is the man responsible for making this music come alive, as well as other visionary artists, musicians and thinkers. This is the sound of the musical insurrection sweeping across the African continent. Afrobeat is full of percussion, the funkiest guitar sounds, all blended with pounding horns and a snazzy bass. Afrobeat travels the Worlds clubland, spreading its energy and designed to make you move. This is a collection of the Rare, the obscure and the true sound of Africa, which makes this album the real heart & soul of Afrobeat." Features: Matata, Antibalas, Manu Dibango, Blo, Bantous Jazz, Wisdom, Tony Allen, Antonio Carlos E. Jocafo, Fela Kuti, The Rwezori's, Afro Funk, Lafayette Afro-Rock Band.

SHAKA MEETS FIRE HOUSE, JAH: Authentic Dubwise CD (BLOW 004 CD). $18.00

"Blow Recordings is proud and honored to present the massive sound of Jah Shaka with Authentic Dubwise. This collaboration with Jamaican musicians Fire House Crew has never been released before! A night out at a Jah Shaka event is an amazing experience, normally held in a youth club or community centre hall, the lights are off, with just angle-poise illuminating the single deck over which is the silhouetted figure of Shaka himself. The music is heavy dub or spiritual roots with the bassiest of bass and African influenced percussion. Some people may complain, Shaka carries too much weight, too much distortion. Its true, it can verge on pain when Shaka shakes a sound by the scruff of the neck till it gives up its secret. But he is an extreme artist who's been rocking audiences since the mid-70s! Let Blow Recordings introduce your ears to the heavyweight basslines which make Jah Shaka so famous across the globe."

BLOW UP (UK):

VA: Blow Up Presents: Exclusive Blend Vol. 3 CD (BU 019CD). $15.00

"After a long wait (3 years to be exact), Blow Up's Exclusive Blend series returns with Volume 3. This 16 track album was compiled from the late 60s and early 70s vaults of France's Telemusic Library by Blow Up's Paul Tunkin. The album comprises mainly of instrumental compositions that vary from Guy Pederson's funky wah wah workout to Paul Piot's Serge Gainsbourg girly-vocal sounding 'Virtueuse Reveuse'. Exclusive Blend 3 features some of France's greatest jazz/R'n'B/pop musicians and writers of the time, including contributions from Bernard Estardy and Raymond Guiot."

BLUE (GERMANY):

BIONAUT, THE: Everybody's Kissing LP (BLUE 005). $12.00

Warehouse find of the last available copies of the first ever Bionaut release from 1992. All music by the Bionaut (J. Burger, later infamous for his works on German Harvest, Eat Raw, Matador, etc.), with vocals by Ms. Aquamarine (how could you ever forget her?). Had that early rave-y sound that German records of this era are so fond of, and is a bit of a crispy/ambient classic. Very limited stock.

BLUE CHOPSTICKS:

FERRARI, LUC: Interrupteur/Tautologos 3 CD (BC 01 CD). $13.50

Debut release on Dave Grubbs's reissue-oriented label (moving forward from where Dexter's Cigar left off). "Ferrari — along with Pierre Schaeffer, Pierre Henry, François Bayle, and others — is one of the pioneers of the particular style of tape music known as 'musique concrète'. More significantly, he must be counted as one of the most complexly, most idiosyncratically compelling of post-War composers. Ferrari has time and again ranged far afield of musique concrète, and Interrupteur/Tautologos 3 is one such foray into instrumental music. But what a setting-forth! Mon dieu! These particular realizations came about through Ferrari's directed improvisations of Konstantin Simonovitch's ensemble, and the recordings were originally released in 1970 by EMI in their 'Perspectives Musicales' series. 'Interrupteur' is largely static music, a music of long tones periodically interrupted by aleatoric events. If it references musical minimalism (particularly Terry Riley, Steve Reich, and Robert Ashley), this surely counts as an intuitive, very personal result. 'Tautologos 3' pursues the idea of the superposition of cycles of different lengths that, once set into motion, will continually result in new events. Conventionally understood, a tautology is a redundancy in which the same meaning is expressed in different works; the same things are 'said' repeatedly in 'Tautologos 3', but as the context shifts through the displacement of the various cycles, how could there be no gain, no furtherance of both logic and sensation? In a world: exhilarating." "Interrupteur" is from 1967 and features the following instrumentation: English horn, clarinet, bass clarinet, French horn, trumpet, violin, viola, cello, two percussions, two electric organs. It is one of the most outright powerful and devastating recordings within the avant garde realm. "Tautologos 3" is from 1970 and features: flute, oboe, clarinet, trumpet, trombone, viola, cello, double bass, electric guitar, electric organ & vibraphone.

VAN OEHLLEN: Rock & Roll Is Here To Die CD (BC 010 CD). $13.50

"The brothers Oehlen are stellar, oft-decorated visual artists with a long history of thorny, helpful interventions into the world of music. Albert has been a Red Krayola mainstay and provocateur since the mid-1980s, and is also responsible for the fabulous Leiterwagen label. Markus drummed in the legendary German punk band Mittagsspause, and records for Leiterwagen under the name Don Hobby. They were there as punk shaded into post-punk and scraped together the Deutschmarks for an analog synth. They're still here as various reissues of DAF, Der Plan, and Palals Schaumburg hang out in 'new releases' sections and find themselves spun by electroclash DJs. And they're still making music as odd, is-that-funny?, and darkly otherworldly as the early Suicide rehearsal tapes that recently saw the light of day."

GRUBBS/MATS GUSTAFSSON, DAVID: Off-Road CD (BC 011 CD). $13.50

"Off-Road finds the two of them forsaking their earlier, glacially meditative m.o. for a shower of digitally re-composed slivers, the metal-on-metal timbre of a saxophone equipped with contact mics, Grubbs's chiming electric guitar, and Gustafsson's Pro Rhythm analog synthesizer clipped to the bell of his horn. Turntablist Henry Moore Selder makes a couple of guest appearances marked by sharp rhythmic counterpoint and low-frequency warbles and moans."

GRUBBS/MATS GUSTAFSSON, DAVID: Apertura CD (BC 02 CD). $13.50

"Cheerful Mats was dragged into the studio last year by David Grubbs for the ostensible purpose of contributing to a Thicket-in-the-works. The pair instead became terminally side-tracked with recording the two lengthy duets for harmonium and tenor saxophone and harmonium and flutophone (Mat's invention — a flute with a reed mouthpiece) that make up Apertura. Listening to Apertura, the first question is 'who is doing what?' It's not certain that even the artists themselves know." Two long tracks (65 minutes total) of deep, evolving drone, in what has to be the most lovable/likable Grubbs concoction to date.

VAN OEHLÉN: We Are Eggsperienced CD (BC 03 CD). $13.50

"Van Oehlen is the duo of Albert and Markus Oehlen. Albert is best known to listeners for his heavy, integral participation in the Red Krayola, while Markus is the drummer of the legendary German punk group Mittagspause. We Are Eggsperienced features contributions from the Red Krayola's Mayo Thompson (singing the album's hit, "Hitrocking") and Tom Watson, as well as German jazz legend Rüdiger Carl (COWWS Quintet and numerous recordings for the FMP label) and Goldenen Zitronen's frontman Schorsch Kamerun. A draft of Albert's New Stream Manifesto was circulated before the Red Krayola's first live performance of Fingerpainting. What is 'new stream' music? New stream is not dissimilar to 'cold jazz', but counts among it's illustrious progenitors the Red Krayola's free-form freakouts, "Revolution No. 9". Sun Ra's most bracingly alien synthesizer solos, and the Deep Freeze Mice at their least musical."

GUSTAFSSON, MATS: Windows CD (BC 04 CD). $13.50

"Windows: The Music of Steve Lacy takes us somewhere altogether different. The first thing you may notice is that only half the collection's six pieces are Lacy compositions. Or that Mats does Lacy via fluteophone and tenor and baritone saxes — no soprano. The fluidity and swing of Lacy's compositions (add to this Cecil Taylor's 'Louise', which Lacy recorded in 1961) frequently give way to the monumental stasis of a single gesture, the damn-the-world focus of which strongly recalls Gustafsson's singular playing on his previous Blue Chopsticks release Apertura."

GRUBBS, DAVID: The Cocombi/Avocado Orange CD (BC 05 CD). $13.50

"Responding to the invitation of Quentin Rollet and Noel Akchote to make an LP for their Rectangle label, Grubbs penned 'The Cocombi,' an adaptation in song of Stephen Crane's short story 'The Blue Hotel.' This seventeen-minute moritat is scored for three voices: The Narrator (Stephen Prina, white-hot on the heels of Push Comes to Love); The Swede (Grubbs, wild-eyed and singing through gritted teeth); and The Cowboy (played to perfection by deep-voiced Sasha Andres, singer of the group Heliogabale). Grubbs's engrossing guitar-yarn is gorgeously fleshed out by the saloon band of Didier Petit (cello, voice), Yves Robert (trombone), Thierry Madiot (bass trombone), and Quentin Rollet (alto sax). The original LP and picture-disc LP version of The Cocombi featured as its B-side 'Aux Noctambules.' In its place is 'Avocado Orange,' recorded during The Spectrum Between sessions."

BAILEY/NOEL AKCHOTE, DEREK: Close To The Kitchen CD (BC 06 CD). $13.50

"Welcome once again to the kaleidoscope of scrapes and soundings that was, is, and still could be the electric guitar. Close to the Kitchen is forty-seven minutes of thrust-and-parry string abuse and obstinate, simultaneous guitar glossolalia with the occasional breathtaking view — the dazzling spaces created by an open string. Much of it registers as a blur. A rapid-fire series of perfect — perfectly strange — punctuation. Close to the Kitchen is crackling, volatile improvisation — an energy music of unfamiliar, not-to-be-repeated gestures."

WORKSHOP: Es Liebt Dich Und Deine Körperlichkeit Ein Ausgeflippter CD (BC 07 CD). $13.50

"Workshop's first US release in their decade-plus existence. 'You and your physicalness is loved by a dropout' is their translation of the title. On this, their fifth album, Workshop is the duo of Stephan Abry and Kai Althoff, currently divided between Hamburg and Cologne. With the current record, they have cut their cloth into shorter sections (the previous one, Meiguweisheng Xiang, consisted of three long pieces), emphasized lyric- and songwriting, and marshaled a distinctive palette of sounds that favors nylon-string guitar, harp, synthesizer, sitar, and overlays of drum kit and drum machine. Their European label Sonig (home of Mouse on Mars and Lithops) refers to it as 'krautfolk.'"

FERRARI, LUC: Cycle Des Souvenirs (1995-2000) CD (BC 08 CD). $13.50

First ever release of a large scale electroacoustic piece five years in the making that revisits numerous periods from Ferrari's five decades of work. From the composer's liner notes: "I have been composing a new series of works under the general title Exploitation des Concepts. The point is to take concepts I have been experimenting with throughout my entire life as a composer, and to put them to use in every possible direction: in instrumental as well as electroacoustic music, in video, in multimedia installation, in new technologies as well as old ones.... These Exploitations go in all directions: the Tautology, superimposed cycles, the minimalism of the Presque Rien series, architectures of chance, anecdote, narrative, everyday sounds, arte povera . . . souvenirs . . . etc. — all these concepts that have always preoccupied me but which until now I hadn't really exploited. So we find images of my childhood, my street, my subway; places I passed through and which struck me enough to record them, certain villages in Italy or the sea in Portugal; of my present, too: work-places, my souvenirs, my house. The Cycle des Souvenirs also means that all the elements are structured in cycles which, when superimposed, produce chance encounters." — Luc Ferrari.

GRUBBS, DAVID: Act Five, Scene One CD (BC 09 CD). $13.50

"Act Five, Scene One" is an hour-long instrumental piece that features the trio of David Grubbs, Tony Conrad, and Dan Brown. You'll find it divided into four psychedelically digestible fifteen-minute slices. Ah, the places you'll go — it's an hour of sawing and banging and riffing and cutting and (let's not mince words) shapeshifting. What the hell. . . here are a few possible reference points: Brian Eno's Music for Films and Discreet Music; Rodney Graham's Verwandlungsmusik; Workshop's longer pieces; Sun Ra (New Stream mode); The Fall (but languorous and wordless); Bruce Witsiepe's guitar sound on the first Circle X record. Also highway driving (solitary); a pinball game; a dream about breathing underwater."

AKCHOTE/ROLAND AUZET/LUC FERRARI, NOËL: Impro-Micro-Acoustique CD (BC 12CD). $13.50

"Impro-Micro-Acoustique is a meeting across generations and genre. Composer Luc Ferrari, one of the progenitors of musique concrete and a pioneer of electroacoustic music, has previously written scores for improvising musicians. (One of these, 'Tautologos 3' — in an explosive 1970 performance by Konstantin Simonovitch's ensemble — appears on an earlier Blue Chopsticks release.) But prior to Impro-Micro-Acoustique, Ferrari himself had never played the role of an improviser. Several years ago, Ferrari chanced to see the Parisian guitarist Noel Akchote mistreating his instrument in his characteristic, inimitable manner. Ferrari was surprised to be reminded of musique concrete techniques — especially by an instrumentalist, and outside of the studio. He referred to what he'd heard as 'new, real-time concrete.' Then he thought to take up improvisation. As regards sympathetic players, Akchote was an obvious choice. Equally so was Roland Auzet, who had previously performed the demanding percussion part in Ferrari's Cellule 75. Impro-Micro-Acoustique presents Ferrari at the piano and utterly at home, utterly in-the-moment for this trio's first encounter. Improvisers generally opt for a documentary approach to recording. Stereo mics in a fixed position is par for the course. By contrast, Impro-Micro-Acoustique is a meticulously crafted assemblage of shifting sonic perspectives. It's a play of depths, in which individual attacks come abruptly and unpredictably to the fore. It's taut, edge-of-seat, aggressive interplay deployed within the wondrous frame — and frames within frames — of Ferrari's montage."

AKCHOTE, NOËL: Adult Guitar CD (BC 13CD). $13.50

"Adult Guitar is a startling anthology of twenty unreleased tracks from Noël Akchote's first twenty-one years of recording. Adult Guitar (it is twenty-one years, after all) is the first record to attempt to represent the breadth of Noël's music. The project began when Noël dumped ten hours of wonderfully heterogeneous archival recordings in the hands of David Grubbs, who served as project editor and created a number of pieces from the raw material of live recordings. The resulting collection includes a demo made at age thirteen or fourteen; an awesome four-track cassette recording of Noël slashing his way through Ornette Coleman's 'Macho Woman'; a pair of spikily discordant acoustic and electric guitar improvisations; several stellar live performances from his period of static electric guitar pieces (be sure to enjoy the punishing 'Numéro 122,' recorded full-blast at the tiny Parisian bar L'Atmosphère); and a large helping of slippery, funny, ultimately gorgeous renditions of standards by Sidney Bechet, Cole Porter, and Dizzy Gillespie. There's also an excerpt of a conversation with legendary drummer Jacques Thollot. Pourquoi pas?"

BLUE JUICE (UK):

VA: Hidden People - Various Peoples CD (BJ 013CD). $15.00

"Compiled by DJ Ziggy and 80% made up of unreleased, exclusive tracks, Hidden People is meant as a tribute to the artists Ziggy's come to respect over the years for their continuing commitment to music's underground — the Hidden People. The CD is split into 3 Sessions. Session 1 kicks things off with some laid back instrumental hip hop — vibes mellow enough to chill the wildest of dogs. Highlights include 'BT Africa', downbeat West African traditionalism from veteran DJ, producer, label boss and radio presenter DJ Vadim. Also featured is 'Charras Wrexus', ghost town beats courtesy of Deckwrecka, Psycho Pab and Ziggy himself close things out, bringing up the basslines to set you up for... Session 2 — a demonstration of the diversity of Blue Juice with more up tempo tracks. It opens with Part 2's 'Superman Syndrome'. Session 2 also features a rather special slice of vocal cheekiness from Scratchy Muffin, especially for anyone who thinks hip hop's got no sense of humour. Bringing us to... Session 3, which focuses on more experimental & electronic music. We're particularly excited to be able to bring you the instrumental. Also featured is 'Airport', from Blue Juice's latest signings, Borngräber & Strüver, and finally 'Version 12' by Pilote, aka Stuart Cullen. Welcome to the world of the Hidden People. Some of them you'll already know; but we're just as excited about the artists — Hermit, Proper, Mr Blue, Basic Sound ? you may be hearing for the first time. We feel the line-up on this CD embodies the underground spirit — a challenge to the majors and a breath of fresh air to everyone else."

BLUE NOTE:

MADLIB: Shades Of Blue 2LP (BTE 36447). $12.00

"A collection of old and new flavors, Shades Of Blue opens with the declaration that 'we are now having a little cooking session for Blue Note right here on the scene'... Cooking session indeed, the Loopdigga, Madlib, was afforded the coveted opportunity to mine the vaults of Blue Note Records — having full access to the original multi-track recordings. On Shades Of Blue, Madlib delivers remixes and brand-spanking-new interpretations of Blue Note classics. Whetherfunking out Ronnie Foster's original 'Mystic Brew' and transforming it into the 'Mystic Bounce,' or giving Wayne Shorter's 'Footprints' a go with Yesterday's New Quintet, rest assured that Madlib's innovative sonic vocabulary will fill the ears. Merging hip-hop and jazz sensibilities, Madlib adds his signature aesthetic to the legendary Blue Note catalogue."

MADLIB: Slim's Return 12" (BTE 53009). $5.50

"Three exclusive, previously unreleased tracks: an alternate remix of Donald Byrd's 'Stepping Into Tomorrow', a cover of Horace Silver's 'Dimples' by Yesterdays New Quintet and a new remix of Bobbi Humphrey's 'Young Warrior' a track which was never released."

MADLIB: Please Set Me At Ease 12" (BTE 77987). $5.50

"On this 12" from his forthcoming full length CD/LP, Madlib got to fulfill many a DJ/producer's dream when he was given free reign in the legendary vaults of Blue Note Records, actually gaining access to multi-track recordings for remixing. This 12" contains Madlib's take on three tracks, which have been longtime favorites of crate-diggers. Included is a new version of Ronnie Foster's 'Mystic Brew,' which was the foundation for A Tribe Called Quest's classic 'Electric Relaxation.'"

VA: Blue Note Revisited 2LP (BTE 90266LP). $12.00

"The long-awaited Blue Note Revisited, an album containing remixes, remakes, and reworks by some of the world's most talented DJs and producers — including Bugz in the Attic, Kenny 'Dope' Gonzales, Madlib, Jay Dee aka J Dilla, Jazzanova, Kyoto Jazz Massive, and DJ Spinnna to name a few." Original artists: Wayne Shorter, Bobby Hutcherson, Eddie Anderson, Donald Byrd, Horace Silver, Gene Harris, Bobbi Humphrey, Brother Jack McDuff, Eddie Gale, Grant Green, and Michel Petrucciani.

VA: Untinted: Sources For Madlib's Shades Of Blue 2LP (BTE 93163). $12.00

"Hip-hop multi-personality Madlib (Quasimoto, Lootpack, Yesterdays New Quintet, Jackson) has been showered with praise for his Shades Of Blue — many are calling it his masterpiece and causing major-league buzz throughout the DJ and hip-hop communities. Responding to great demand by fans looking to hear the original source material, Blue Note now presents Untinted: Sources For Madlib's Shades Of Blue. Featuring rare from the likes of Bobbi Humphrey, The Three Sounds, Reuben Wilson and Donald Byrd core classics from the likes of Herbie Hancock and Horace Silver, this collection is an album on its own and a great way to introduce a new generation of music lovers to the treasures of Blue Note."

GREEN, AL: I Can't Stop 2LP (BTE 93556). $12.00

"It's true... Al Green is back with a vengeance. One of America's greatest singers has returned to his Memphis roots to create the most newsworthy and danceable comeback disc of the year. And it's on Blue Note, the jazz label that is much more than jazz. I Can't Stop is a soul tour de force backed by many of the same great players of the Hi heyday, Green pours his heart into every new tune. The beautiful voices of Rhodes, Chalmers and Rhodes grace the background just as they did on all of his hits. The guitar of Mabon 'Teenie' Hodges lays in the cut just as it has since the 1960s."

BLUE SANCT:

BLACK FOREST/BLACK SEA: Forcefields and Constellations CD (INRI 076CD). $13.00

"From the ashes of The Iditarod comes Black Forest/Black Sea. Backwards backwoods playing, electronic effects, a shortwave radio and some knob twiddling are all incorporated into their sound, which twists from traditional folk Americana to beatbox improv and back again. Nothing, however, is quite what it seems, and this constant sound shifting gives Alexander and Goldberg's musically metamorphic contribution to the New Weird America cult an edge over the competition. This new CD features guest appearances by Christina Carter, Glenn Donaldson, and Fursaxa."

BLUE/ISLAND (JAPAN):*PESHAY: Miles From Home 2CD (PHCR 14011/2). $32.00

Japanese version of the recent Peshay full length, initial copies come with a bonus 2nd CD featuring these tracks: "Intro (Good Times)," "Sunshine," "Solar System," "Cops & Robbers," & "Moods" — 33 exclusive minutes of moody kosmogeek.

BLUEFISKE:*WINDY & CARL: Introspection 3CD (BLUE 012 CD). $21.00

"A long-awaited collection of singles, compilation tracks, live + unreleased recordings from 1993-2000. Many of these songs were only available as limited edition 45's + hard to find compilations. Also includes an entire disc of unreleased recordings, including radio broadcasts + alternate versions of songs from Drawing Of Sound."

BLUEPRINT (UK):*MOORE, ANTHONY: Reeds, Whistle And Sticks CD (BP 281 CD). $15.00

Previously unused archival recording by Slapp Happy's Anthony Moore. Recorded around the same time as his infamous collaboration with Faust (Pieces From the Cloudland Ballroom), this record has possible (but uncredited) Faust connections as well, as there's some background whispering and the occasional Jean-Herve Peron-like grunt emitted over the rather appealing organic racket explored by Moore. "Recorded in 1972, Reeds, Whistle and Sticks was designed to explore a further, obvious attitude of repetition, which is its function in relationship with memory. Less obvious perhaps is the idea of memories that are unconsciously formed, memories that are not immediately perceived. I prepared a surface of different materials on the studio floor: wood, glass, cloth, metal and plastic. Next I took a handful of bamboo sticks numbering around fifty and each a differing thickness and length. A pair of microphones were placed stereophonically just above and to each side of the surface of materials. Holding my hands out in front of me, I proceeded to let the sticks fall slowly through my fingers and onto the prepared surface below. I recorded a series of 'drops' each lasting roughly between twelve and twenty five seconds before the sticks came to rest. A selection of these 'drops' were then looped so that the sound was continuous, the repetition disguised as a linear, changing flow of events, rather than a repeating cycle. Well, there a few things in nature which fall continuously like cascades or waterfalls. But, if for example you were to pull open too far, a drawer in your kitchen full of knives and forks so that all the cutlery fell onto the hard floor, and if there was an endless supply of these tumbling knives and forks, then even perceived solely by ear, the very continuousness would cause quite an uncomfortable sensation of impossibility! How can this sound go on and on? The sticks too, sound as if they ought to stopfalling. But what is perhaps more interesting is the notion that that, if you listen to a single loop of randomly changing, apparently chaotic, continuous sound, the brain begins to recognise returning, identical patterns within the noise, before you consciously realise that the information is being cycled, resulting in a kind of subconscious apprehension of structure from memories you didn't know you had." — Anthony Moore.

MOORE, ANTHONY: World Service CD (BP 313). $15.00

New reissue of the 6th chronological solo album by Anthony Moore (spelled here as "More" for whatever reason). Blueprint refers to this release as "a hybrid version of previously unreleased tracks and the best versions from the original album". "Anthony Moore began his recording career working in experimental film and music releasing two avant garde solo albums in the early 70s. Polydor Germany refused to release a third project so Anthony teamed up with Dagmar Krause and Peter Blegvad to form Slapp Happy. Slapp Happy joined forces with German pioneers Faust to release their debut album Sort Of in 1972. By 1974 Slapp Happy had signed to Virgin and acquired a cult following of fans, critics, and musicians such as Henry Cow and Robert Wyatt. Anthony left Slapp Happy in 1975, but Virgin failed to turn him into a pop star. Signing to cutting edge indie label Do-it, he released Flying Doesn't Help in 1979 and World Service in 1981. Similar in style to other mavericks like John Cale and Kevin Ayers with many lyrical twists."

MOORE, ANTHONY: Pieces From The Cloudland Ballroom CD (BP 327 CD). $15.00

Crucial reissues of the first two Anthony Moore solo albums from 1971/72. Originally issued by German Polydor (part of the same program that gave us the first Faust recordings), these were briefly reissued on CD by Japanese Polydor in 1995, but were instantly deleted. So now they are commonly available for the first time, the only negative being that Blueprint's packaging is quite generic & uninspired, with no credits and only tiny new liner notes from Mr. Moore which detail the compositional intent. Moore is best known as a founder of the progressive rock band Slapp Happy but has also written lyrics for Pink Floyd. These albums are part of a theoretical trilogy written in Germany in the early 1970's (the third part, Reeds, Whistle And Sticks was unissued until a 1998 CD release on Blueprint). Although Anthony is of British origin, these can be viewed as essential Krautrock peripherals and are Historically Significant no matter how you look at it. Pieces features: Anthony Moore (comp/cond), with: Ulf Kenkies (vocals), Glyn Davenport (vocals), Gieske Hof-Helmers (vocals) & Werner 'Zappa' Diermeier (hi-hat). From Alan Licht's "Minimalism: The Next Ten", originally published in Halana #3: "Two great missing links in the incredible history of Uwe Nettlebeck's productions at Wümme, Germany. Slapp Happy founder Moore recorded Pieces From The Cloudland Ballroom a month after Faust cut their debut LP (fall 1971) and Secrets Of The Blue Bag a month before their second (with Slapp Happy's debut Sort Of following in May '72 and Tony Conrad/Faust's Outside The Dream Syndicate in October). Indeed, Faust's Werner 'Zappa' Diermaier and Gunther Wusthoff both contribute to Pieces, which is not a Krautrock or artrock LP but a bona fide minimal classic. Side one is 'Jam Jern Jim Jom Jum,' which has three singers chanting that mantra while Moore plays these odd, luminous repeating chords underneath. The first piece on side 2, 'mu na h-vile ni a shaoileas iad,' sounds uncannily like Richard Youngs' Advent with its quiet piano and piercing bowed sounds, while 'A.B.C.D. Gol'fish' could almost pass for the trance rock classic that Moondog never got around to recording."

MOORE, ANTHONY: Secrets Of The Blue Bag CD (BP 328 CD). $15.00

The second Anthony Moore album, originally issued by German Polydor in 1972. Recorded: Feb 20th, 1972 at the Faust Studio, Wümme. Anthony Moore (composer/conductor), performed by: Gieske Hof-Helmers (vocals), Toni Sen (violin), Patrick Strub (violin), Rolph Braun (cello), Wolf Schreiber (bassoon). More from Alan Licht's "Minimalism: The Next Ten": "The follow-up, Secrets, is three pieces for strings and voice all based on the same 5 note melody. It's more 'classical' than its predecessor, kind of what I expected Academy In Peril to sound like. How and why Polydor was convinced to release these is beyond me (anyone know the story?). Pieces is the superior LP, but both are essential if you have any interest in the genre, period, or principals involved."

KRAUSE/ANTHONY MOORE/PETER BLEGVAD, DAGMAR: Camera CD (BP 332CD). $15.00

"In 1990, the Slapp Happy trio reformed when Blegvad and Moore were commissioned to write an opera Camera, which was broadcast on television in 1993. This saw Dagmar as a lone individual figure struggling against the nightmare of bureaucratic intrusion. Dagmar Krause (as Melusina), Anthony Moore (music), Peter Blegvad (words); other featured musicians include The Balanescu Quartet, Terry Edwards and Kate St. John."

HOPPER/LISA S. KLOSSNER, HUGH: Cryptids CD (BP 337 CD). $15.00

"Legendary Canterbury musician Hugh Hopper (Soft Machine) and magical singer Lisa S. Klossner combine forces once again for their second album. Cryptids features even more extreme musical voyages. Maserati mountain climbs through the dream valley panoramas of Lisa's words and vocals. These are underpinned by Hugh's fuzz bass, guitar, and keyboards. Supporting musicians include drummer Pip Pyle (Gong, Hatfield and the North), Elton Dean (Soft Machine), and extreme stereo guitar stylist Gary Smith."

BMB (GERMANY):*PLANET JAZZ: 9 Funktional Diva Track CD (BMB 001 CD). $16.00

"Ex-Harthouse act comes back with intriguing tricky Electro jazz." All tracks written and produced by Thom Kubli with production assistance by Jiri Ceiver; associated with Barjazz Mit Begleitautomaten. Has that weird Cologne pop conscious found on records by the Bionaut, etc., but with more jazz-sample squishy-ness. A mystery item.

PLANET JAZZ: 9 Funktional Diva Track 2LP (BMB 001 LP). $17.00

Double vinyl version, full color cover.

BMBLAB (GERMANY):*KRAUSE, A.: Schwellwert CD (BMBLAB 001). $12.00

Minimal sound-architecture, based on feedback loops." 21-minute EP, with the CD packaged in a floppy disc sleeve.

KUBLI, THOM: Mondok Spots CD (BMBLAB 03). $18.00

Obscure 1999 release, in canvas sleeve, on this this soft-digital/small-sounds label.

BMG (GERMANY):*EVORA, CESARIA: Besame Mucho & More 12" (BMG 23121). $9.00

"We convinced BMG to release what was a promo only. Soon available on 12" Cesaria revisited versions from Senor Coconut (Besame mucho), Osunlade (Bondade e maldade), DJ Rork & Demon Richie (Sodade), & Château Flight (petit pays). The story goes on..."

BOBBY J RECORDS:*SIMEON: Sleepy Eyes LP (BOB J 53). $11.00

"This is not Simeon of the Silver Apples. All music performed by the Simeon Berklee — member of North Carolina's The Go-Bots. Musical references: Neil Young, Skip Spence, Polvo, JJ Cale." Limited stock.

AURORA PLASTICS CO.: Low Noise CD (BOB J AP). $12.00

"A year and a half's work of hard work. Let your mind and body float through this aural manifestation of inner space, provided for you by the dynamic duo of Aurora Plastics Company. No windows left unbroken, no doors remain shut. This premiere release from APC will shatter all your misperceptions about so-called 'reality'. Nothing is profane, all is sacred in this funny-smelling place we call home. Polymorphism for the third millennium." Limited stock.

BOLIDE:*DELUXX: The Forgiveness Towel CD (BOL 2). $12.00

The Boston duo of Bob Fay (drums, vocals) and Mark Perretta (guitar, vocals, loops), who are known as "one-half of DFI, the Deluxx Folk Implosion. The Forgiveness Towel is a 30 min., multi-faceted offering drawn from a collection of bedroom tapes, live radio broadcast, and an overload of improvisational inspiration. With a one-take wonderment and a no-fuss ethic, Deluxx captures a mayhem wash of emotive moments, recorded live, often in over-drive, sometimes with a reverb soak."

FULLY CELEBRATED ORCHESTRA: Right On CD (BOL 3). $12.00

The Boston-based trio of Jim Hobbs (alto saxophone), Timo Shanko (bass) & Django Carranza. "The fourth full-length release from this trio, an improvisational collective cavorting at the crossroads of originality and traditional aesthetics. They incorporate the impulse of free-jazz with an advanced sense of humor and an appreciation for melody. Whimsical Ornette-ish harmolodic inflections mix freely with frantic punk energy and audacity. The dynamics include an array of extreme contrasts: from hauntingly sensual and incisively lyrical, to furiously paced frenetic rhythmic intensity; swinging from delicate grace and mournful melancholy, to forceful and aggressive rollicking; menacingly ominous undercurrents give way to mystical charm. A follow-up to two Silkhead releases recorded in 1993 (Babadita & Peace & Pig Grease), this is their first studio recording in five years."

BOMB HIP-HOP:*VA: Return of the DJ Vol. 2 2LP (BOMB 2003LP). $14.00

"Just as halting volume two of said series, this time a world tour of hand-wax muss disciples. Features Kid Koala (Ninja Tune), Roc Raida (X-Excutioners), Beyond There, Mr. Dibbs, LF Pee, Radar & Z-Trip, Pepe Deluxe, and DJ's Jeff, Format, Kool, JS-One, EQ, Spinbad, Jimmie, and Godfather. Cassette mix-tape transcribed sound-quality lends a certain flair of authenticity. These guys have more raw imagination in their left hand ring-finger knuckles than Mr. Marclay has in his entire blood stream. Schooled." — Hrvtaski.

DISK THE PHONOSYCHOGRAPH: Ancient Termites 2LP (BOMB 2009LP). $14.00

2 LP version, limited stock. "Debut long-player from this San Francisco area vinyl-abuza/kill, with previous ties to several San Francisco mod-rock combos (MCM & the Monster, Buckethead's Giant Robot II) as well as the whole Invisibl Skratch Piklz phenomena, via participation in their Shiggar-Fraggar sessions. Currently on tour as Primus's supporting DJ. CD features guests Brain (Primus) and Buckethead. Far-out 'skraips', removed of all context and run through serious envelope-following algorithms for capture of those sub-audible alien-wavelengths. Far more damaged output than previously thought possible. A peak in the all-high point catalogue of this defining turntablists-only label." — Hrvtaski.

BABY J: Birth CD (BOMB 2021CD). $14.00

"A compilation of Baby-J produced beats/sounds toasted over by a blasted array of East-Coast yet-to-be-discovered lyric scientists. Featured: A.Alikes, Poetic, Shaqueen, Knowledge, Cientifik Cipher, Kinzmen, Celestial Souljahz, Freestyle, Bless, Yogi, Fire, G-Force, Shabazz the Disciple, and DJ Noize. Full on crunchy lo-bit hip-hop sonics, full of the brutal street-cred inducing non-production tricks aligned with the turntable end of Bomb Hip Hop Worldwide. Contains the track 'Truth' from Baby J's previous chart-topping single... Ruff." —

Hrvatski. Limited stock.

JEOP BEAT COLLECTIVE: Technics Chainsaw Massacre 2CD (BOMB 2025 CD). $17.00

"England's Jeop Beat Collective will make their US debut with this double CD/triple LP anthology. Features 19 tracks with over 82 minutes of music, this album chronicles the group's four year history, containing tracks from their first UK album Attack of the Wildstyle Beatfreaks, the remix LP Repossessed Wildstyles and their new 11/98 UK album release For Jimi Hendrix (Ruf Beats). Sure to appeal to an eclectic audience and will expose turntablism/electronic lovers to Jeop Beat's funky deck wrecking history of beats and intricate scratching. With influences ranging from Grandmaster Flash to the Sex Pistols, this album will definitely take listeners for a ride on the wild side of beat chemistry."

CRAZE: Crazeé Musick CD (BOMB 2031CD). $14.00

"Craze is the astonishing hip-hop DJ that took the 1998 DMC World Championship crown, and the ITF Scratch World Champion. Crazeé Musick is his debut album, of brilliantly assembled scratches, beats, juggles, and soundbites. True turntablism, true art. DJ Craze — aka Arish Delgado — sets himself apart from the competition by focusing on being a true turntable musician, as well as a battling champion. Crazeé Musick showcases all of Craze's skills, from his celebrated practice of constructing sentences from different records on 'Crabhappy Crabholids,' to his organic drum'n'bass beats on 'Mogli.' Craze has already been heard on DJ Faust's Man or Myth and Fathomless LPs, and on collaborations with Ani of Deee-Lite (and the soon to be issued colab with Push Button Objects, under the name Ko-Wreck Technique). Listen carefully."

CRAZE: Crazeé Musick 2LP (BOMB 2031LP). $14.00

Double vinyl version, full color cover.

VA: Return Of The DJ Vol. 4 2LP (BOMB 2044LP). $14.50

Double vinyl version.

VA: The Best Of Return Of The DJ CD (BOMB 2057CD). $16.00

"Bomb celebrates its 50th release with this special collection. The Best of Return Of The DJ features the cream of the crop from the four volumes — Qbert (Wave Twisters), Rob Swift of the X-ecutioners, Mixmaster Mike of Beastie Boys, Mr. Dibbs of Atmosphere, DJ Babu of Dilated Peoples, Kid Koala (Ninja Tune), Cut Chemist of Jurassic 5, Peanut Butter Wolf (Stones Throw) and many more world famous deejays. Includes a special Megamix!"

VA: Return of the DJ - Volume V CD (BOMB 2060 CD). $14.00

"Bomb Hip-Hop Records, the pioneering record label from San Francisco that produces a new volume in the Return of the DJ turntablist series every two years presents Return of the DJ - Volume V. This fifth installment features the newest and best hip-hop DJs assembled from the USA, Canada, the UK, Italy, Germany and Japan. These songs showcase stellar DJ scratching as well as creative concepts." Artists: DJ Shortfuse, DJ Hype & the Phaderheadz, '89 Skratch Gangstaz (DJ Pone & Snayk Eyez), Ales One & DJ Teeko, DJ Marvel, The Fingerbangerz, DJ Astro, Alien Army, Timestretch, DJ Nerve and Trouble B, Azzurro feat. Hashim B., Jazz Addix feat. DJ Ragz, DJ Boom and Mudd, DJ X-Rated, H.O.P. Noisy Stylus, DJ T-Rock, Mista Ed, and DJ J51.

VA: Return of the DJ - Volume V 2LP (BOMB 2060 LP). $14.00

Double LP version.

CHEAP COLOGNE: Just A Little Sample CD (BOMB 2061CD). $13.00

"As influences Cheap Cologne cites everyone from 'DJ Krush, Shadow, and Prince Paul' to 'Bob Marley, Erykah Badu, Nine Inch Nails, The Deftones and Radiohead.' Cheap Cologne has been compared musically to RD2, his debut album Just A Little Sample features the following guests: Slug from Atmosphere, Awol One & Circus of the Shapeshifters, Elias, Gentle Jones, DJ T-Rock of the 1200 Hobos, Unsung, and LA Symphony's Pigeon John."

ALIEN ARMY: End CD (BOMB 2062CD). $13.00

"The End — the stunning second album from Italian hip-hop DJ supergroup Alien Army, and the first available outside of Europe, has already drawn comparisons to both D-Styles' Phantazmegore and Qbert's Wave Twisters. And no wonder since like those two Invisibl Skratch Piklz famed DJs, the six-member Alien Army also possess a powerfully unique strong song structure approach to turntablism: something often absent from the 'sketch' music genre."

BONIATO:

WOBBLY: Multiple Peady 12" (BONIATO 004). $8.00

"Multiple Peady, a set of four remixes of two tracks from Wobbly's Playlist EP, resulting in a bizarre, but coherent suite of music for the uh dance floor. Wobbly's own 'General Peady' is actually the Original Peady, a strict-tempo hour, stitching tunes from angry pieces. Blevin Blectum's 'Chicken Jiggler Peady' atomizes the Peady into a writhing, mysterious mass, less Chicken than Snake. Sutekh's 'Clawing Your Eyes Out Down To Your Peady' is blazing, full-throttle, swing-time, 12-inch specific, while People Like Us' 'Tremble Peady' peels the sound-set away to reveal a bafflingly lovely arrangement of the original, country/gospel tune. The Multiple Peady EP is pressed on green vinyl in an edition of 440."

BOOGIZM (GERMANY):

S-MAX & FYM: Streetlevel Surrealism EP 12" (BOO 002). $9.00

"With Boogizm they present their definition of danceable techno/housemusic which is not limited by concepts as 'minimal', 'functional', 'laptop-blah-blah'. Whatever is squeezed out of their beautiful everprocessing brains is manifestation of a challenging open-mindedness (and mindfulness) in syncopated creative energy. Structures representing individual definitions as well as the code of 'housemusic' are deconstructed or really fucked around with temporarily, then sorted again — so everything falls into place. Important issues are freaky-future-funk, high-resolution therapeutics and smart assaults on listening habits and expectations..."

FYM: Emotions Under Curfew EP 12" (BOOG 007EP). $9.00

"Boogizm's latest goes different ways in format and style, preceded by his album on Telegraph. FYM delivers another pop-shock sure-shot, and this is the first solo artist EP on the label. Audio support is coming from the city of love and bony funkwar-twisters. It's the magnificent talent of ark manipulating FYM's vocals in his very own blockbuster-stylee. Seventh release on Boogizm reinforces it's special status amongst the protagonists of now-days funky-donkey-'minimal'-house-scene." W/ Ark remix.

BOOT (GERMANY):

LE BOPRE: Stereojack 12" (BOOT 00). $9.00

"Just a simple kind of an e_discoid _acid track. It burns in and stays there for a while — so why don't u stay a while — Stay forever ha ha ha ha. Peter 'Knarz' Grummich, known from releases on Kompakt, Sender & Shitkatapult and Ralf Kronner, doin' the analogue digital crossover thing, got to know each other years ago, they met in Berlin, became friends, and started putting this wild one together. What's up with the clash thing? Rehear it — and you be fronted by some high tech motherboard. 121 bpm gotta be enough to get this bitter-sweet thing started...almost penetrating line to modify over and over and over. Tip of freestyle, too. In the end blatantly funny Gigolo vocals. U know where this track's from."

HARZ/PETER GRUMMICH, PATRICK: Acid Love 12" (BOOT 001EP). $9.00

"Acid Love' produced by Patrick Harz. He's one of Berlin's underground house DJs, and yeah, he does love the real disco feeling, as you can hear. So do we...forever more. Now listen to this, u know the source — but this is freakier than ever. And probably more love inside too, can't compare this masterpiece to these thousands of bullshitttrashcover versions with that bassline. It's groovin' with a forward tip...nice acid sweeps all over, and together with those analog keyboard sounds (played live) that Harz dude proves he's into atmospheric arrangement. Yeah its acid...classic acid house — for music lovers and dancers — sure u also got that pop appeal for those who love to groove without stupid breakdowns/ wack special fx...One two — or what? Feel it or not? 'What About Love?' same subject — another direction. The b side contains the Technosoul remix, done by Peter Grummich pushing things a lil' more forward and rollin' and rollin and rollin' and a version that works so self-reflective in a wildpitch style and recharges your energy. Grummich grabs the and won't let go 'till the very end. Use this track to change gear — yeah, yet another level to be explored..."

GRUMMICH, PETER: Look Inside 12" (BOOT 002EP). $9.00

"This is love. Peter Grummich's debut single on Boot-music (known artist from Kompakt, Shitkatapult and Spectral). A side 'Look Inside' — sun is rising! These harmonies shelter and carry you on to the next day...and beyond...sensitive one...not to forget the deep, deep dub bassline. No doubt, 1, 2 gimme some space! It's time for yearning, love and aspiration. Soul. AA side 'Danse mystique': there's two sides of a story: now hear the dark one and do the danse mystique. Precisely programmed percussions, monsterbassline...this track's drifting through the night and there's no end — wide open — as you rarely experienced before. Best Basic Channel / Perlon tradition."

BOTANICA DEL JIBARO:

ALGORITHM PRESENTS VOID: Suffer Great Nation 12" (BDJ 003). $6.50

"Botanica del Jibaro is the hip hop extension of the highly 'under-the-radar' label known as Beta Bodega. Botanica del Jibaro is spear-headed by Miami's and Atlanta's chapters of Beta Bodega Coalition. As with everything in connection, the goal and purpose is to inform and educate the masses on the real struggles and issues facing our world today. In a world where hip hop has become jugged out, thugged out or bugged out (referring to the slew of overtly abstract MC's) Botanica del Jibaro concedes intelligent, subversive street poetry and skilled producers is the only thing needed to correct the imbalance generated by 'trend culture' which is fueled by the pursuit of fame and riches. In a world engulfed in war, ignorance and struggle, the time is now for hip hop to step up to the forefront as something truly expressive and that relays a real message that will deal with the matters at hand. In comes Void. Void is the alter-ego of the Counterflow recordings group known as Algorithm, which includes Plex (producer of Spirit Agents, cf001-1), Seth. P. Brundel (producers of Avatar, cf002-1) and Dr. Faustus. The 3-man crew drops an extremely powerful debut."

CYNE: Movements 12" (BDJ 006). $6.50

"After unleashing 'African Elephants' last year, followed by their label debut 'Midast' (both songs taken from their vault which goes back to turn of the millennium), 'Movements' marks a new era of the group's vision and resolve as Cyne. One example is the return of Akin (formerly known as Global Nosmize) back to the US from Europe to join again with Speck, Enoch and Cise (formerly known as HuAllah Star). This resulting in a group that is reunited and refocused. 'Movements' is a clear sign of things to come from this 4-man group, a representation of a unity found again, it is direction for the mind and guidance for the soul. With tracks like; '400 Years', a retrospective on slavery and of how the modern day slave mentality still plagues the African American community, with a thick and soulful touch of 'Southern' blues to add to the mood; 'Paradise', drops out of the sky and aims for the vails of ignorance blinding our society, while Spanish guitars drive the track into making you wish we added the instrumental; finally, 'Steady', runs forward through all the perceived obstacles and leaves you standing prepared for the tasks ahead with a clear focus. This track floats with so much soul that we couldn't front on this one, we had to give you the instrumental. Uplifting and driven, 'Movements' as a whole brings a fresh approach on an ancient message that seems to keep surfacing in scrolls, books, from the words of past prophets and now hip hop MC's, knowledge and preparation of self is key and that only through consciousness and unity will we turn the tide on our own self-destruction. As an added bonus the beat mercenary, Seth P. Brundel from Algorithm, has been contracted out to kill shit, and he does with his take on '400 Years', giving it that rugged but jazzed-out 92? club classic vibe, that gets even the hardrocks up on the dance floor without question. Brundel on a roll with releases 'Defective Experiment' and 'War at 120/80' on Counterflow Recordings not to mention his amazing work on Beta Bodega and Botanica del Jibaro, comes equipped with instrumental version as well. Bottom line this release is a must and will move and leave you behind standing if you don't follow it's lead."

EVOLVER: State of the Union 12" (BDJ 007). $6.50

"Follow up to their debut release on Closed Caption, the current state of Evolver (formerly known as Evolvers) is that of continual evolution, adaptation and hard work. The union is that of Equate and Day at the nucleus with such talented artists featured such as Serum, Stres (Spirit Agent), Cise Star (CYNE), Lex D. Exec (on the bass), DJ Obscure and Manuvers adding to the collective effort. Their Botanica del Jibaro debut, 'State of the Union' is a unique sound structure that was built absolutely solid from beginning to end. Another Evolver classic. Evolver and their collective put in work, no question, clocking in at a little over 24 minutes with 5 vocal tracks, interludes and instrumentals to deliver a palate of hip hop to the people that is well worth their hard earned money. State of the Union comes in a limited custom silk-screened jacket (from guest designer Sain FreeGums) with another special edition issue of Jibaro Times."

SERUM: Melting in the Pot 12" (BDJ 008). $6.50

"Whether commandeering a spray can and an outline or a mic and a crowd, Serum manifests a rugged, overpowering and commanding vibe, all his own. Though notorious as a battle MC and graff writer in underground circles, Serum's verbal assault could already be felt on various projects such as on the Deaf to the General Public project on Closed Caption and most recently this summer on the infamous Counterflow series, The Vapors Project, which featured Slug (Atmosphere), El-P (Def Jux), Induce (Counterflow) and Plex (of Algorithm) where he proved that a battle MC can actually spit something of lyrical substance contrary to the norm."

VA: Afluenza CD (BDJ 010). $13.50

"America makes up 6% of the earth's population, yet uses 50% of the world resources, we spend more for trash bags than 90 of the world's 210 countries spend for everything. And as we continue to buy, we neglect to realize who is making all these products (exploited third world workers) and how much are they getting paid (.56¢ an hour) and what are their working conditions like (they suck). So now Manuvers (Botanica del Jibaro/Counterflow) and El Jibaro invite you to get in the true holiday spirit. After the shopping frenzie, gather all your money from all those gifts you returned January 1st and buy this CD. Let the CD tempt and over-indulge you with songs by Soarse Spoken (featuring Serum), Seth P. Guerra aka Seth P. Brundel (featuring Soarse Spoken), Antenna (Manuvers, Stres and Induce), Silent Struggle (Mindshift featuring Stres) and many more. All tracks produced and compiled by Manuvers that go from the apathetic and disillusioned soul emerged in ultra-capitalism in 'Rusty Cynic' to the final solution when third world workers are pushed to the edge in 'Voices Rebeldes'. Plenty of interludes and well crafted instrumentals throughout plus free coupon to make it all well worth your money. Buy your own sickness today!"

CYNE: Due Progress 12" (BDJ 013). $7.00

"In a world with natural tendencies towards hatred, fear, lack of respect and ignorance we can see how those in power can control the masses simply through economics, disease and war. Within all the propaganda and global darkness there are always flickers of light. Cyne offers Due Progress as a sign of hope through an epic anthem with old school break drums and hauntingly spiritual chants. While the lyrics rip, and Cise Star and Akin reminisce of days back in Africa, Day and Equate of Evolver, with their Marley Marl-esque sounding rendition, reminisce of days back when high-top fades and sneakers were the joint. The funky drummer is back. Speaking of back, the flip-side never comes weak and contains 2 more gems with instrumentals; 'Papermate', the struggle between the pen and it's master and '400 Years Revisited', a non-apologetic assault on the axis of evils legacy of slavery. Record jacket, once again custom screen printed and designed in signature Beta Bodega Coalition manner provided by La Mano Fria."

ANTENNAE: Silent 12" (BDJ 016). $7.00

"Transmitting straight from Beta Bodega Coalition/Botanica del Jibaro's headquarters, is the debut EP from the crew called Antennae. Production is delivered by the Dade County duo, Chilean DJ Manuvers (better known for his Afuena project) and Counterflow collaborator, Induce, who both provide a spectrum of melodic, aquatic soundscapes ranging from hypnotizing to uplifting beats for their front man to ride and lyrically navigate on. Miami's best kept secret, Stres has been rhyming for over a decade and has inspired and taught several Miami MC's and even producers not to fear the abstract and to think outside the box (they know who they are). Hailing from one of Miami's oldest African American communities, Richmond Heights, Botanica del Jibaro proudly presents a group whose front man is a true innovator and an MC that has raised the bar here since the mid 90's, molding and sculpting every word and phrase via clever codes that when deciphered challenge and debate our 'realities', or at least the things we have come to accept or settle as reality."

MANUVERS: Supernatural Tangents 7" (BDJ 017). $4.50

"Mad limited and soon to be highly sought after release from Botanica's Chilean commando Manuvers. Contains the exclusive vinyl version of 'Supernatural Tangents' (featuring Seven Star) which will also be on the upcoming Seven Star album CD entitled My Mother and Fathers were Astronauts forthcoming on Counterflow Recordings. On the flipside you can find an exclusive interlude and spokenword track featuring Amo Check. Designed and delivered in La Mano Fria standard Third World packaging, zip-lock bag and all."

MANUVERS: Afuena 12" (BDJ 020EP). $11.00

"Botanica Del Jibaro, the most forward-thinking hip-hop label around right now drop a wicked selection of deep instrumental flavours by star of the future producer Manuvers. Manuvers digs deep into funk-fuelled dusted breaks and multi-layered melodic electronics via some soulful, deep sample sources. Stylistically right up there with McEnroe, Jel and Boom Bip — all having that special x factor. Amongst the instrumentals are fine vocal contributions from Seven Star, Soarse Spoken & Serum and the crew who started it all, Deaf To The General Public, although their rare and criminally under exposed 'Storytellers Story' is only here in an instrumental version."

BOTTROP-BOY (GERMANY):

STILLUPPSTEYPA: The Immediate Past Is Of No Interest To Me - 10 Years Of Continuo CD (BBOY 009 CD). $14.00

"New 10 year anniversary full-length CD from this trio with all new music, the last album recorded with Heimir Björgulfsson who has left the group. The most melodic and rhythmic Stilluppsteypa ever! Contains a 20-page booklet with texts on the history of the band by people such as Andrew McKenzie, Jim Haynes and Frans De Waard. Limited to 500 copies."

FREIBAND: Homeward CD (BBOY 011 CD). $14.00

"Second album from Frans De Waard (Goem, Shifts, Kapotte Muziek, Beethoven) under the Freiband name after the 'Microbes' album on Ritornell from last year. This one is more poppy and less dark, 15 songs full of melody, experiment and inspiration. Limited to 500 copies."

LOPEZ, FRANCISCO: Live In 's-Hertogenbosch CD (BBOY 012 CD). $15.00

"World renowned composer Francisco López has by now an extensive discography and is seen regularly performing his music live around the globe. Yet only a very small portion of his extensive discography reflects his activities on stage. Therefore we are proud to release this excellent recording of a Francisco López concert from 1999, taped in 's-Hertogenbosch, The Netherlands. In a dark room, López sat behind the mixing board and mixed his various sound sources blindfolded, whilst his audience was also blindfolded. Unlike his many 'silent' (or more accurately) studio CD's, López here builds the sound from extreme silence to extreme loudness. This CD comes with a black blindfold which is recommended for use during playback of the CD at home."

SIGMARSSON, SIGTRYGGUR BERG: A Little Lost CD (BBOY 013 CD). $15.00

"Icelandic musician (now based in Hannover, Germany) Sigtryggur Berg Sigmarsson has been a longtime member of the band Stilluppsteypa. Since some time he has been releasing solo works as well, with albums on Trente Oiseaux, ERS and Fire Inc already out. This is his new solo album, and the best example of the variety of his musical talent. A Little Lost contains three lengthy tracks, one beautiful piece that gets close in spirit to ambient, one collage piece using amongst else spoken word and a third track which is maybe closest to the familiar sound of Stilluppsteypa, on which he got help from Irr.App.(Ext.). This is certainly Sigmarsson's best solo effort to date."

KIRKEGAARD, JACOB: 01.02 CD (BBOY 015 CD). $15.00

"Jacob Kirkegaard is a Danish musician currently located in Cologne, Germany, who was a founding member of the group Aeter which has been active for years on the European underground live circuit. They had a unique sound where abstract sound, beautiful singing and an interest in connecting music with visuals came together. Kirkegaard is also a famous composer of hearplays in his native country. Last year saw the first release from him outside his band with Soaked, a live recording he made with turntable artist Philip Jeck for Touch. Now comes his very first solo CD called 01.02 which is an collection of his best tracks from the last two years. Kirkegaard's sound is a wonderful blend of found sound, delicate melodies and quiet beats."

BJÖRGULFSSON & JONAS ÖHLSSON, HEIMIR: Fur Your Bears Only CD (BBOY 016 CD). $16.00

"Heimir Björgulfsson is an ex-member of the longstanding Icelandic group Stilluppsteypa and Jonas Öhlsson is a renowned visual artist, both based in Amsterdam, the Netherlands. Fur Your Bears Only is their second collaboration after the Unspoken Word Tour album in the Brombron series released by Staalplaat and Extrapool. Fur Your Bears Only is the most melodic and poppy music ever to have come out of Björgulfsson & Öhlsson, providing 8 tracks that show how disco & house can get distorted once in the hands of these two gentlemen. From the epic opening 10-minute title track onwards this work is full of abstract dancefloor sympathies. Recorded in Amsterdam, Xiamen, Los Angeles and Reykjavik, Fur Your Bears Only is the best example of how good a hybrid between classic dance music and abstract experimentalism can be. With beautiful collage artwork made by the two musicians themselves."

JAZZKAMMER: Pulse CD (BBOY 017 CD). $16.00

"Jazzkammer are Lasse Marhaug and John Hegre from Norway. Together they have been making music as Jazzkammer since 1998. Past releases include Timex, Rolex (a remix album), Pancakes and a live album with Merzbow. Jazzkammer are relentless sound explorers with no set style or specific 'sound' — they move swiftly from hardcore overload electronics and sonic freakouts to lowercase soundscapes and location recordings. Once described as 'sonic architects', Marhaug and Hegre insist they are merely trying to make 'good music'. Pulse was recorded in Singapore during the SARS-crisis in april of 2003. It was inspired by a theatre piece of the same title that they were working on at the same time, though the music on the CD does not resemble that of the play. The album Pulse is a single beautiful 32-minute piece; its basic structure is a drifting electronic drone that slowly unfolds and mutates, with subtle layers of location recordings and vinyl-static adding color and depth. Like last year's Pancakes, Pulse has a cinematic feel to it, a feeling that is further enhanced by the photos of acclaimed photographer Yuen Chee Wai that grace the cover and 12-page booklet."

SECULAR MUSICS OF SOUTH YORKSHIRE: Reproduction CD (BBOY 018 CD). $16.00

"Secular Musics Of South Yorkshire is the new project name for Mark Fell, who is half of SND and Shirt Trax. Reproduction is his first solo album after having only released a solo 12" as .H on Hobby Industries in 2000. The album is a reworking of sorts of the same-titled album from The Human League from the 80s, using it as source material for not only the music but also for the complete album concept. Although close in sound to the SND aesthetic Secular Musics Of South Yorkshire sounds more angular and erratic. Tracks skip and jump all over the place, working themselves into an asymmetrical beat."

SUGIMOTO, TAKU: Chamber Music CD (BBOY 019 CD). $16.00

"Taku Sugimoto has been one of the most important musicians on the improv-front for some years now with releases on Erstwhile, Grob, A Bruit Secret, Improvised Music From Japan and many other labels. Redefining guitar improv with his ultra minimal way of playing, the most extreme endpoint for this was the Taku Sugimoto Guitar Quartet album released earlier this year on Bottrop-Boy. On Chamber Music he puts the guitar aside and composes 3 pieces for violin, cello and piano. He creates the same sustained sound as his guitar pieces, although these new works sound more composed and could be compared to modern classical composers such as Feldman. Only after an hour Sugimoto's guitar enters the frame together with a banjo for the short closing track."

TV POW: Power Friends and Devoted Lovers 2CD (BBOY 020CD). $21.00

"Tfirst part of a giant collection of remixes of tracks mostly taken from TV Pow's Friendship Patrol album, released on their own Not For Profit label in 2001. This is a double-CD set containing remixes from Oren Ambarchi, Sutekh, Otomo Yoshihide, Stephan Mathieu, Motor, Thymme Jones, Toshimaru Nakamura, Jazzkammer, Stilluppsteypa, Freiband, Reynolds, Tu M', Leif Elggren and many others. 29 remixes in total."

RATKJE & LASSE MARHAUG, MAJA S.K.: Music For Loving CD (BBOY 021CD). $18.00

"Second collaboration between Norwegian masters of noise Maja Ratkje (Spunk, Fe-Mail) and Lasse Marhaug (Jazzkammer, Del) after their 2002 vinyl-only album Music For Shopping on Synesthetic Records. Music For Loving is wild, frantic, nervous, loud, delirious and scattered all over the place. The perfect music to listen to with your loved one."

MAZUREK, ROB: Music for Shattered Light Box and 7 Posters CD (BBOY 022CD). $18.00

"New solo album from this Chicago Underground musician after albums on Moikai, Walking Road, Delmark and Mego. This is a one long 40-minute composition made for one of his own installations which is travelling the world at the moment. Far away from his delicate cornet-playing, this album is a loud trip through his electronic endeavours. Noisy and mesmeric, this is another great example of this musician's need and talent in taking many different directions in his music."

BOUTIQUE/UNIVERSAL (GERMANY):

THOMAS SOUND ORCHESTRA, PETER: Perry Rhodan 10" (JAZZ 010). $11.00

Two track 10" limited to 500 numbered copies. Features: "Perry Rhodan (Love Theme For Mondra Diamond)" & "Perry Rhodan (Samples)".

VA: African Nights CD (UNI 8142 CD). $16.00

"African Nights is the follow-up to the series first volume and internationally very well received compilation Norway Nights. A.N. features percussive housegrooves by chartbreaking Bob Sinclair (the hidden vibes on this CD), Masters At Work, Blaze, Francois K & french Chateau Flight plus mindblowing horns by Femi Kuti, Manu Dibango, RAS from Berlin Sonarkollektiv freshly remixed; as well as vocal-extraordinaries by Frederic Galliano and parisien Mamani Keita who sings african inna jazz unsung. You'll find newly inventions like Afrohiphop by Fela Kuti drummer Tony Allen feat Jstyle Hereos and UK's chilling top-notch producers FUG laying their 'holy hands in downtempo music' on Salif Keita, the divorced prince of Mali. The latter is a very often requested promotional only mix and was feat. on many playlists like Rainer Trübys and Gilles Petersons. Some more rare issues are included by Soulrooner Erykah Badu, Bill Sawells Vodú 155 and new breakthrough artist Tiken Jah Fakoly playing reggae."

BOXER RECORDINGS:

MARTINIQU, FRANK: Neowoogie 2LP (BOXER 002 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

MARTINIQU, FRANK: Neowoogie CD (BOXER 003 CD). $16.00

"Welcome back to the global amusement park of Boxer Recordings, and again it's Frank Martiniq who takes us on a fantastic ride through haunted splitter house. His third album Neowoogie is a masterpiece of weirdo shuffle funk and — according to Tobias Thomas/Spex magazine — 'one of the most striking minimal techno-shuffle-boogie-Michael Jackson-disco-jazz-noise-records around...'. Respect! Neowoogie is another great milestone in Martiniq's success story, after the first two albums pmf8 and Schwingskomplex, not to mention his dancefloor-killer-tracks 'Adriano' and 'Gigoletta'. Even higher scores for Martiniq's terrific precision when chopping up his songs into single notes which he later engraves, displaces, and processes in transparent, glimmering microfibre layers. The result is a most amazing complex groove structure."

NODE 1: State Zero 12" (BOXER 008 EP). $9.00

"State zero" — Node 1's first track. A record like finest espresso. Strong and beautiful. The a-side featuring a track to die for. Half a century of friendly synth sound planes where Jost Menke and Oliver Grunau remind you and themselves the good times when computer music was regarded and discussed as both a blessing and a curse. Node 1's reply is a cuddly tech-house track, extremely vital. A track that turns everyone immediately into real fans. The perfect pass forward on to 'Sweet' Reinhard Voigt: in the loop generator, he mercilessly chops up the bass and synthy bits until they turn into straight dance monster. The result is a straight floor shaker you can only say yes and amen to. A track for all those dancefloors around the world feat. The minimal Cologne-style."

BOXMEDIA:

VA: Loud :: Quiet 2CD (BOX 009). $17.00

"Re-issue of the extremely limited double disc compilation originally released in 1999 featuring a quiet track and a loud track from each artist. Features: PITA, Otomo Yoshihide, stilluppsteypa, MSBR, Voice Crack, Shifts, TV Pow, Kazumoto Endo, Akiyama / Sugimoto, Wheaton Research - Lasse Marhaug, Aerospace Soundwise, Kapotte Muziek, Black Dot, AD Relay and Madhar."

VA: Simmer: New Electronic Music From Chicago CD (BOX 012). $13.50

"An introduction to the undercurrent of Chicago electronic music. Featuring Black Dot, Koura, Wheaton Research, Petra Klusmeyer, Ernst Long, Coeurl, Nautical Almanac, AD Relay, Seafoam, Fashion Will Guide Me, Gunshop, Aerospace Soundwise." Edition of 200 copies.

BOY WONDER (SWEDEN):

EDLER, HANS: Elektron Kukesu CD (BOY 001CD). $23.00

"One thing is certain ?in spring 1971 Swedish pop-veteran Hans Edler released Sweden's first electronic pop album. It might even be the world's first computer-programmed pop-LP with a commercial release. At least, that was the way the album Elektron Kukesu was presented back in spring 1971. It was released in a small edition on Edler's own independent label Marilla. The music was recorded during many long late night sessions at the Electronic Music Studio (EMS) in the Swedish capital Stockholm. At the time, EMS was one of the world's most advanced studios for serious electronic composition. The facilities were even praised by no less a person than Pierre Schaeffer ? the father of the concrete music. The fact that the studio also produced an experimental pop-album is still a secret to most. 'I must say I had forgot about it myself. When I first was asked about a re-release, I thought it was some kind of a joke', says Edler, who has now turned 57. In 1970, EMS could present a freshly installed computer which had cost 7 million Swedish crowns. Unlike the moogs, the computer had no keyboard, but had to be operated by a control console which occupied a room by itself and was arranged as a rectangle with a total length of 10 yards (circa 9 meters). It should be noted that computers at this time were unusual and very expensive, making them accessible only to a small number of people. It was only after having taken lessons in mathematics and programming that Edler was allowed to work on the gigantic machine, which in spite of its steep price wasn't very reliable. Against all odds, Edler managed to finish the recordings. The result was a one-of-a-kind-album too original to be copied. Elektron Kukesu is hi-tech and low-fi at the same time. Try to imagine Stockholm on acid going berserk on Carnaby Street. Old school electronic breakbeats team up with the sound of vintage tone and noise generators ?all filtered through a psychedelic kaleidoscope by a frustrated mind on high speed. The record comes with digipack-sleeve, OBI, a 24-page colour booklet with full story and pictures, plus a reprint of the original promotion-poster from 1971."

BPITCH CONTROL (GERMANY):

VA: BPitch Control: Berlin 2000 CD (BPC 006). $18.00

Very pumping compilation of monotrack Berlin techno, featuring: Elektraonauten, Rechenzentrum, Paul DB+, Johannes Heil, Totok, Jammin Unit, Heiko Laux & Ellen Allien, Art of Kissing, Little Computer People.

ALLIEN, ELLEN: Stadtkind CD (BPC 021CD). $18.00

"Finally Ellen Allien is now able to present her debut album Stadtkind. The choice of title seems obvious, as the inevitable confrontation with Berlin as an urban area was always present in her childhood. This link is noticeable in the urban aspect of her music. She talks her own musical language within a psychotic, romantic and electronic plot. The chopped up sounds ornamented with atmospheric lo-fi attacks will keep you down and lift you up. The album contains among straight clubstompers and distraught spoken word electro, abstract down beat tracks too. Kneedeep and always straight out the middle of struggling daily life. The emotional range resembles to the concord's condensation trail: from light and airy heights to heavy as lead techno beats. The driving force is Ellen's vocals, which contains the whole musical spectrum of Stadtkind. It is the differentiated intensity of singing. You will never feel like you have to fall out of the window. In spite of all this, Ellen with her music on Stadtkind never gets lost in local vastness. The tough sound which boosts out of the speakers is still straight bpitch control. Berlin can be everywhere, right?"

ALLIEN, ELLEN: Stadtkind 2LP (BPC 021LP). $17.00

Double LP version. Debut album from 2001. "She talks her own musical language within a psychotic, romantic and electronic plot. The chopped up sounds ornamented with atmospheric lo-fi attacks will keep you down and lift you up. The album contains among straight clubstompers and distraught spoken word electro, abstract down beat tracks too. Kneedeep and always straight out the middle of struggling daily life. The emotional range resembles to the concord's condensation trail: from light and airy heights to heavy as lead techno beats."

FUNKE, SASCHA: 2:1 Für Die Liebe 12" (BPC 026). $9.00

"On '2:1 Für Die Liebe' the 24 year old Sascha Funke from Berlin uses his very own musical language, as we loved it on the preceded release 'Luftschloß'. His musical preferences are located somewhere between Berlin and Cologne but his own style can not be tied down to one of these cities. He simply hovers between his special dry funkiness (simply Funke) one the one hand side and straight, minimal structured tracks with playful virus melodies on the other. After last years very successful releases on Kompakt, he now feels drawn to Bpitch Control as his base."

VA: Flieg Mit Ellen Allien CD (BPC 027 CD). $18.00

"On Flieg mit Ellen Allien, Berlin based DJ and BPitch Control labelowner Ellen Allien presents her current favourite DJ set. The musical spectrum is very broad. The will to have fun is what ties the whole set together. In this sense techno from her point of view is not necessarily meant to be dark and hard. More important is to make this kick perceptible through melodies and singing — the bass drum is not all. The positive vibe of Flieg mit Ellen Allien is also evident in the track selection: from Meinrad Jungblut, Paula, Quarks, to Aeric, Little Computer People and Philippe Cam you can get lifted from the ground. Simply a summer mix."

ALLIEN, ELLEN: Stadtkind Rmx 12" (BPC 030). $9.00

"Stadtkind' — the title track of Ellen Allien's previously released debut album, is dedicated to the city of Berlin. The Remixers Mark Verbos, Barbara Morgenstern and Turner show, that Berlin could be everywhere — or within every heart. The Verbos mix is more playful than the original — but keeps its techno flavour — showing room for some funny little plings and clongs. Ellen's vocals — who undoubtedly coin the track — are woven into deep soundscapes and are so present — you can almost touch Berlin City. Barbara Morgenstern drops decent, soft melodies over shuffled beats. Turner creates a wonderful harmonic love statement to our hometown."

VA: Berlin 2001 CD (BPC 031 CD). $18.00

"Berlin 2001. Dedication, Representation. This compilation is the chronological successor of the first BPitch Control compilation Berlin 2000 which started this series. This city, its changes and the life in it, is recited and can be experienced. Every shade of it is reflected in its musical counterpart on Berlin 2001. The label is to be found among the context of techno, which picks up and alienates the urban structure to put the urban change in concrete terms by abstract sounds. BPitch Control's characteristic dealing with the structure of electronic music, which originally involves break beat, ambient and house conveys an understanding of this music, that leads to the infancy of techno. In this case the return to the origins means the abolition of diversifications. BPitch Control does not aspire homogeneity. The only compartment to be categorised voluntarily feels like a honour at the same time: Berlin. Berlin 2001 can be understood as a chronological diary of the development of techno, as well as an journey through the entire last year. BPitch Control and Berlin grow at the same speed, not only with one another, but together. The title Berlin 2001 — Dedication, Representation summarises all that. This compilations dedication depicts the personal and emotional relation to the 'state of the art'. It is again a kind of balance sheet of the label and the city's relation. This becomes obvious by the chosen artists on Berlin 2001: They whether live in Berlin or at least had a release on BPitch Control. The joining together mobilises creative powers by applying the highest principle of BPitch Control: the collective. The further fundamental idea of BPitch Control is the agreement of being total open towards all sides — as it can be seen on the formal principles. The artwork is done by Berlin's avant-garde graphic designers Pfadfinderei and extends the classic cover artwork by a short animated film on the CD, that provides the equal space for the sound and the visuals — reflecting the tight relations between musical output and visual implementation at BPitch Control. Tim Buktu, Barbara Morgenstern, Mitte Karaoke, Martini Brös, Mark Verbos, MIA, and Dash are friendly related artists. Together with the label's own artists Ellen Allien, Smash TV, Kiki, Eedio, Sascha Funke, Trike, Paul Kalkbrenner, White Dolemite and TokTok they represent the many facets of the 'Sound of Berlin'."

KALKBRENNER, PAUL: Zeit CD (BPC 032 CD). $18.00

"The second album of Paul Kalkbrenner is titled Zeit ('time'). Not a bad title for a good record. Time always plays an important role and we also have no time to lose. That is the spirit of the age — never pausing. Sure. Music devotes a great deal of time to this subject. Paul Kalkbrenner tells stories of good times and bad times, of added on times like in a soccer game and half-whorl-times. Stories of seasons and stories of time healing all wounds, of memories of good and bad feelings, of presence and absence. Musicwise that means to deal also with in-between times, to import something from another time. This is the way time-engine-music is created, modernity out of dusty memories. The aim to create something timeless is seldom archived. This music nevertheless can claim this. There will be time for love. This is another subject of this record — the time you spend with your loved one. And loneliness. Therefore electronic dancemusic sometimes changes into something else: deep pop with a glittering undertone."

KALKBRENNER, PAUL: Zeit 2LP (BPC 032 LP). $17.00

Double vinyl version.

FUNKE, SASCHA: When Will I... 12" (BPC 035). $9.00

"Sascha Funke makes you happy. He has the potential to release unknown fan pleasure without losing his own identity. A likeable guy. With his fourth release on BPitch Control he mobilises new forces. Based on his constant reflection about which musical direction to take in the context of techno and electronic music, he presents his first results from dealing with this difficult question — 'When Will I...'. Changes can be found in the details. On 'When Will I Be Famous' he juggles with this phrase's literal meaning, functioning hypothetical as well as definitive formulated and his improved musical language."

BUKTU, TIM: Infant Coversongs 12" (BPC 036). $9.00

"People who know BPitch Control will listen to this record in complete astonishment. Tim Buktu's 'Infant Coversongs' is the beginning of a new era on BPitch Control. Strictly speaking melting the genres, especially the aspects of classic songwriting, guitars and electronic music are brought together. Twenty two year old Berlin born Tim Buktu strolls his path very confidently, since he's got several experiences as a band musician."

MARKS, SYLVIE: Baby Take Me A Little Bit Higher 10" (BPC 037). $9.00

"Sylvie Marks, energetic DJ and producer for years now, is getting ready for her guest-appearance on BPitch Control. Her track "Baby Take Ma A Little Bit Higher" was first released on 7" cult label Hal 9000, is now re-released on BPC on a well proven 10" format. The original version is accompanied by the brand-new Smash TV Remix."

KIKI: Hott! EP 12" (BPC 038). $9.00

"Bpitch hits the right tone: All UK ravers with a sense for Berlin-underground glamour and kinky humour cheer: Kiki, Kiki, Kinky. With his second maxi on BPitch the smart party animal from Finland proofs that he is everything but a cold blooded Scandinavian. Four scandalous, suggestive tracks are packed with disco fireworks. Funky Chicago oldschool stomp and supermax vocals fill the dancefloors with golden whistles. And the ancient Romans tear their tunics off. Minimalism is over. No more modesty, no more restraint."

SMASH TV: Electrified CD (BPC 040 CD). $18.00

"Electrified is a tight variety of Electro ? ElecTech. It bears the sign of the new millennium, transformed into 8-bit pixel optics, and hints to their b-boy roots. It is like the soundtrack for a project by the Chaos Computer Club, where a highrise-building at Alexanderplatz is used as a LED-like video screen for playing video games via telephone. While listening you move between digital abstract sounds, vocoder sounds and oldschool references as Electrified is the interface."

SMASH TV: Electrified 2LP (BPC 040 LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

ALLIEN, ELLEN: Erdbeermund 12" (BPC 041). $9.00

"Operate all mechanism! I am Godzilla Bass member of Perfume Sword fighting-beats maniacs. I walk on orbital legs, heavy pregnant with Ultra Low Reverb action. Play game with me, feel Mighty Earthquake inside deepest stomach. BOOM! BOOM! BOOM! Together we destroy all lesser-known monsters of music!" — Jeff Noon/Pixel Juice.

MODESELEKTOR: In Loving Memory 12" (BPC 042). $9.00

"Modeselektor, in short MDSLKTR, is the new magic spell from Berlin's never resting, sound researching electronica community. Classical flats trickle down on the beats like powder snow — with a smile on his face. This may give you an idea of what Modeselektor sound like. They themselves describe it as grinding-your-teeth-music and preach their theory of a third ear that is required on the listener's side. Legendary live-sets, with their consequent fuck off attitude, straight ahead 'til the PowerBook weeps from exhaustion and the chaos pad is coughing, made their reputation even before their first release."

AMOON, ALEX: I'm The Virus 12" (BPC 043). $9.00

"You'll need not even 10 seconds to notice that Alex Amoon's 'I'm The Virus' debut EP on Bpitch Control is once again a new approach to define music. Alex Amoon uses electronic equipment for producing in a jazz-like manner. He combines musical resources stripped of their original context. He feels at home on all floors and combines the best of Drum'n Bass, Techno and abstract electronic music. You can even tell that there are influences of classical singer/songwriter music of Post-Rock and Hip Hop. What you hear is a very intensive examination of the wide field of music."

SMASH TV: Nobody Remixes 12" (BPC 044). $9.00

Following the release of their first long player Electrified (BPC040), this is the first remix version. The original will soon become a dance floor filler. With its hypnotic biting bass line and vocoder voices it will make you move. 'Nobody' doesn't sound a bit like retro or revival but rings in Electro2100. The Berlin beat monster Modeselektor saws up 'Nobody' to its basic components and puts them together in their typical manner. Something completely new is about to be created. For 1 1/2 minutes you can follow this dissection process 'til it gets stripped from its Elechtech background and gets planted into some kind of intelligent/abstract soil. Sonorous."

TRIKE: Interflug CD (BPC 045 CD). $18.00

"Trike is one of the first Bpitch artists and has released several lovely tracks during his time on board. In this broad and open pool of musical ideas he shows that Techno 'Made in Berlin' combines the past with the present. Interflug can be characterised best by its dry Techno sound, which is significant for Trike. The beats roll out of the speakers with a creak and invite you to a hypnotising dance that will make you forget yourself. The uncomplicated way of integrating the vocals into the sound works 100 percent here. They are more subtle embedded in the background and give enough space to the whole structure of the tracks. That's why he fails the pink pop grid, where you easily can get caught when catchy vocals shift into the foreground. Trike does it without cheap showmanship, but doesn't lack some funny effects. The groovy rolling bass line is his best fellow company. It doesn't have to be too fast — there's definitely enough time to catch your breath. Trike catches the groove without overloaded structures. He enjoys the clarity of a minimalistic construction. On the other hand to judge Interflug as minimalistic falls short, since he has a special liking for Electro sound. In geographical context you can clearly see his refined musical ideas as a reference to the axis Berlin/Detroit at its best times."

TRIKE: Interflug 2LP (BPC 045 LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

BELOW, NORA: Crystallize... 12" (BPC 046). $9.00

"'Crystallize' builds a bridge between all imaginable varieties of electronic music. That includes Industrial as well as Power-noise — rhythmic noise and Nora Below's favorite music style. On her debut 'Crystallize' she rocks with her Atari and the resulting sound isn't always easy to digest. But as you adjust to the sound, you will discover the special charm of Nora's music. On 'Crystallize' it unfolds between electro-synthetic-modulations and the secrets of the night. Alienated vocals, accompanied by her electro sound, remind you of 'Horror in the Skyscraper'. Nora Below has her fun with it."

ALLIEN, ELLEN: Weiss.mix CD (BPC 047 CD). $18.00

"On Weiss Ellen Allien devotes herself to her own musical preferences and inspirations from the past as well as to current musical tendencies. The result is a DJ-mix full of variety, which is very explicitly mirroring the DJ's profile. It's a statement for openness and flexibility. Ellen Allien doesn't have any kind of dogma. All tracks are forming a unity of equal relations. The combination of experimental styles with more conventional creates the unique flow, her very personal style with some space for surprise. Weiss is a surface for projecting the network structures Ellen Allien works in: the Bpitch spectrum covers 'sound', art-work and the product. On the other hand she is working hard as a DJ. That means you have to be open towards new styles without losing your own identity. One has also to be very selective. In the mix Ellen Allien sticks to clear and sharp cuts while leaving enough space for every track to convey its message. At the same time she once again proves her DJ-skills." Artists include: Closer Music, Kiki, Redshift, Sylvie Marks, DJ Maximus/Something J, Andrea Parker feat. DJ Assault & DJ Godfather, Squarepusher, Feadz, Cex rmx vs. Electric Company, Ellen Allien, Akufen, Archetype, Otto Von Schirach, Phoenicia, Mono Junk, Apparat, Modeselektor, Electric Company, Superpitcher.

VA: Kollektive 3 12" (BPC 048). $9.00

"Bpitch Control up-date for your ears. With the 3rd 'Kollektiv' we take a look on the label's recent work. The emphasis lies on the two sides of the axis Paris with Feadz and Eedio and Berlin with Modeselektor and Sascha Funke. But soon you will discover that every artist has a completely different concept with lots of surprise."

KALKBRENNER, PAUL: Brennt 12" (BPC 050). $9.00

"Using 'Brennt' ('burning') as a synonym for a Paul Kalkbrenner record suggests itself. It seems he reserved this title for a very special occasion. 'Brennt' sounds like a new variation of Kalkbrenner's sound-spectrum, which used to be based on a constant continuity as it was last seen on 'Zeit'. Is Paul Kalkbrenner now looking back on his output with an rather relaxed laissez-faire-attitude? In this context the title track presents itself the following way: the tight woven sounds create a new kind of atmospheric deepness — a cross-over of straightness and melancholy. The deepness of the sound is typical for all of the tracks."

MARKS & HAL9000, SYLVIE: We Electric 12" (BPC 051). $9.00

"'We Electric' is already the second Sylvie Marks release on Bpitch Control and a collaboration with HAL9000, her Frankfurt based label. Like Ellen Allien she's been at the decks for around ten years now and developed her own way of expression with releases on HAL9000, Freund and Gigolo rec. The slightly queer aspect is seen best in the vocals, and after smasher 'Baby Take Me A Little Bit Higher' we now have 'We Electric', the title track with a deep groove and other typical Sylvie Marks surprises. On 'Masturbation while Menstruation' with this naughty lyrics she takes position between Electro, Techno and Robo-rattle."

KERO: Busted Berlin 12" (BPC 052). $9.00

"'Kero refuses to look at electronic music in a well know way.' This is the first statement.

With the release of 'Busted Berlin' Bpitch Control got one of the most talented sound researcher on board. Living in Detroit/Windsor (CA) Kero develops his idea of connecting abstract programming with the earthbound pathos of 'Loop-Tech' in a Detroit tradition."

HOUSEMEISTER: Wake Up! EP 12" (BPC 053). $9.00

"The new 12" of Justin Berkovi contains 4 hard, dark techno floorfillers! Heavy old-skool techno basslines with dark voice samples will make the dancefloor shake."

MODESELEKTOR: Death Medley 12" (BPC 054). $9.00

"The boys of Modeselektor return to their past as passionate Hip Hop and Break Beat fans and DJs without embarrassing nostalgia. It's more like seeing your high school love again and realizing that you still can have fun with each other. The music plays with memories, cuts them in parts, puts them back together in a new way and pushes them with joyful noise and fat beats into the present: '... a huge bunch of flowers assembled of chain saw massacres and sweet honey floating around the edges...'. Because Sebastian Szary and Gernot Bronsert not only rock as if they would chafe their fingers bloody on Heavy Metal riffs every night with a sufficient supply of beer in the name of anarchy. They also create but fragile and hovering sound clusters."

VA: Gemeinsam CD (BPC 055 CD). $18.00

"Cruising together through the Bpitch Control network: no wonder that after three years of label history you still can be surprised by the wide variety of the label's output. Those who still think Bpitch Control works within these old categories missed the point electronic music was developing to over the last few years and still is. Techno as a defining element has become somewhat the new 'zeitgeist'. As we have now arrived in the year 2002, Bpitch Control broadens its musical horizon with not only with the help of friendly related artists from Berlin's music scene, but draws larger circles. Internationality is the new motto. Under the title Gemeinsam there will be also a label-tour to follow. The possible combinations of today's Bpitch Control music seem nearly unlimited and range from abstract electronic music to independent guitar music. That ability to create new impulses is characteristic to every Bpitch Control release as you can perfectly see on this compilation of collected Bpitch Control works. Thereby always looking fast forward — even though this compilation is more a 'best of this year' so far. The rocking artists are Sascha Funke, Paul Kalkbrenner, Kiki, Feadz, Eedio, Alex Amoon, Tim Tim, Modeselektor, Trike and Barbara Morgenstern. There are also some exclusive tracks by Apparat (Shitkatapult), Kero (Shitkatapult, Bpitch Control), Sylvie Marks (HAL9000, Gigolo) and Ellen Allien."

VA: Gemeinsam 2LP (BPC 055 LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

FUNKE, SASCHA: Funkt 12" (BPC 056). $9.00

"The next tactical maneuver is being executed. Sascha Funke 'Funkt.' How long have we had to wait for his name to come alive. That's right, Sascha Funke doesn't have to play with matches to be called a child of fire. In this case, the dance floor receives the appropriate burn by the simple effect of music. The groove is designed well as always and small guitar samples permeate the borders. Thus Techno can prove once again that it isn't just self-referential and that it's ok to appropriate radio. Who knows, maybe in another lifetime Sascha Funke could have been the fourth member of New Order were it not for his passion for music in the circuit board. The other day Sascha was saying that he's finally doing what he set out for ten years back. It's as if the original plan had been resting under his pillow all along. However, dreams can come alive and that's why Sascha Funke can smile and brush the hair from his face while rubbing his hands and stepping to the plate to do what he does best: fill the dance floor with a full serving of groovy Funk. Last thing to mention is that this release, like previous ones before, is far ahead of the game. It goes to show that pop culture can also be at home in Friedrichshain. Kick it like Beckham? Kick it like Funkel!"

MODERAT: Auf Kosten Der Gesundheit 12" (BPC 057). $9.00

"What do guys like better than their moms, munchin on self-baked cake over their 'rents designer couch and even football itself? Well, playing around on their electronic gadgets and passing around computer files. Then, when even best friends participate and the whole thing develops without a plan chaotically, it must be paradise on earth: 'MODEselektor + appaRAT' aka Moderat. Three nice laptop dorked out boys for whom one would love to bake cake every Sunday as well as wash their dirty football socks. Actually, Sebastian Szary, Gernot Bronsert and Sascha Ring all really don't like football, rather ping pong where you can cut and slam etc.. They like it China style, i.e. always moving around the table in a flash. That is perhaps why they make this kind of music: fragmentary pieced together sounds that are played into every corner of the table by the driving bass. In between, you find flirtatious planes that creep into your ear just like when a ping pong ball is cut hard and curves its way over the net."

MARKS & HAL9000, SYLVIE: Bad Woman Meets Zen On The Street 12" (BPC 058). $9.00

"Sylvie Marks and HAL 9000 once again let robots and super-computers do their dance: nice conflation of indie-tronics, electronica, and melancholic pop. Her fragile vocals swerve from recitations to singing, thus leaving no desires uncompensated. 'Bad Woman' bridges another gap: whoever didn't realize that DJ's can sing will now know what's up. Put your hands in your pocket, sharpen your ears, and listen closely. 'Mad Zen' immediately gets more aggressive for the dance floor making you pull your laces tight. Deepness leads the way here along with a driving beat that heats up with heavy elektro velocity. The last piece shifts gears and moves in another direction: the four hits the one straight up and ends up as a gadget-like-dance-floor-buster via Green Velvet, raunchy girls attitude, and British school-girl charm. Nice, you can almost see Sylvie's hair flowing."

KLOCK, BEN: Tag Der Arbeit 12" (BPC 059). $9.00

"Tag der Arbeit is the groovy mix between minimal Glitter and heavy basses... it will take you on the floor! On the flipside Ben Klock shows us his 'Invasion'. This Airtuitar-Bass-Monster rules!"

FEADZ: On Level M' 12" (BPC 060). $9.00

"A small introduction to the history of Bpitch Control and Feadz: the 24 year-old French DJ and producer has always been a big fan of Bpitch Control — especially of Ellen Allien. After long letter correspondences with Ellen decorated with plenty of gimmicks at sometime it became apparent that Feadz had more to offer than just hysteria. Feadz' first 12" release on his 'favorite label' Bpitch Control finally came in the summer of 2001. He had already earned cross cultural credibility by coming from a Paris scene that's as strong Berlin's: he produced the mega-hit with Mr. Oizo (just remember Flat Eric)."

HOUSEMEISTER: Anti-Gestern EP 12" (BPC 061). $9.00

"If you ask concretely what Anti-Gestern means then Housemeister will answer: 'simply looking straight ahead, without further making formulations, leaving everything open. It's not against retro, but rather pleading for newness while not forgetting the original feeling of Rrriot on the dance floor.' 'Einfach.Kicken' sounds exactly how one might imagine Housemeister as a person: an independent ball of energy where sunlight sometimes emanates out of the stroboscope. The whole EP never loses sight of the dance floor."

'Einfach.Kicken' entertains with little gimmicks, glow worms on acid. It's worth noting lastly that the whole song was recorded as a session. In the middle there is a transition that makes you flip out. Forget the 70s kids. That was yesterday. Today there's Housemeister. And by the way, Dr. Caligari would be thrilled."

KALKBRENNER, PAUL: F.Fwd 12" (BPC 062). $9.00

"Just about everything that could be extracted from the bowels of my hard drive has been assembled on this record," Paul Kalkbrenner on his new release for BPitch Control. F.FWD/Miles Away follows last year's Brennt strongly considering the quirky computer upgrades and emotional energy Paul puts into his music. Paul's conception of techno is communicated loud and clear: F.FWD/Miles Away retains a well-known model. 'Pure techno,' as he says. 'My music never has a goal inasmuch as I would never do a conceptual album.'

KIKI & SILVERSURFER: Restless 12" (BPC 063). $9.00

"Finnish decency meets Greek indecency" Kiki short and sweet on his new collaboration with DJ compatriot Silversurfer with whom he now shares equipment in the studio right next to the BPC office. It's not an exception that creativity doubles in this case — the result is an exponential leap forward — just how we hoped. 'Wasp' with its 'mean' (Kiki) wasp sound declares straight up with a dry attitude what one might think of 'rave' in the new century. Dancers are subject to the soundtrack of the millennium without any chance of putting up a fight. 'Wasp' stings deep and dreamlike."

KLOCK, BEN: Glow 12" (BPC 064). $9.00

"The follow-up to Ben Klock's grandios first release on BPitch Control comes in just right. Who ever thinks 'Tag der Arbeit' is impossible to top is deadly wrong. Ben Klock calls 'Glow' a 'spontaneous excursion into rock.' How does that sound? Grandios."

ALLIEN, ELLEN: Berlinette CD (BPC 065 CD). $18.00

"Berlinette firstly draws upon the album title itself revealing Ellen Allien's identification with the city. Ellen Allien has found the key to her Self in this international context when one considers the philosophical notion pertaining to the experience of one's person through a relation to the other, i.e. the quasi dialectic of an I with an Other. She is continuously set in relation to Berlin, especially abroad. Berlinette is thus supposed to reflect this precise experience without any pretense for irony. The presentation of her label BPitch Control also happens this way. Ellen Allien not only delivers the feeling of Berlin city, but also offers her own experiential horizon defined by network structures and the idea of autocracy and independence. Individual systems make way for a tight co-operative in the collective. Ellen Allien allowed herself little time to complete Berlinette. One should under no circumstance understand her second album conceptually. Rather, she is en route searching for a new sound aesthetic that pays respect to her wide interests, activities and of course her personality. The quote 'I demand the complete summary of all artistic powers for the accomplishment of the art work as a whole.' of Kurt Schwitters, the great pioneer of German Dadaism, could perhaps come from Ellen herself. Her artistic approach equally reminds one of Dada: the combination of all possible musical pieces such as text, arrangement, sample, and beat. Here she shows a new face which sets forth what Stadtkind started. However, the principle of minimalism has given way to a more sharpened approach which is more than a kind of experiment in the process of production."

ALLIEN, ELLEN: Berlinette 2LP (BPC 065 LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

ALLIEN, ELLEN: Trashscape Remixe 12" (BPC 066). $9.00

"The Trashscape Rmxs leave enough space for Ellen Allien to span an audible terrain from her own phantom all the way to her long-time heading the pack for inspiration. A cross section is being presented through some contemporary tendencies in the large playground of electronic music. America's bootleg and remix wonder child Kid 606 is just as much aboard as Apparat, who is usually busy coding binary emotions, and then there is Raz Ohara, a living hybrid between all styles, like Anthony Rother with his native Elektro real."

MOCHIPET: Dim Sum 12" (BPC 067). $9.00

"Beware — Mochipet is arriving. Sound games of a higher level continue to emanate from BPitch Control ready to eat up your ears. It seems as if San Francisco is truly on the same map as Berlin. It's time for maps to be redesigned based on sound fractions of the world. Laptops define the new Esperanto as the production means they are by feeding musical understanding not based on the culture industry or redundancy."

MODESELEKTOR: Ganse de Frau 12" (BPC 069). $9.00

"Crash course in the history of Modeselektor: Szary aka the perverted Persian and Gernot aka the rambunctious Rumanian — together you get Modeselektor. Up until now, their two releases for BPitch Control have introduced a new language with words like 'Sound-Hack' through bit-crushing and thousands of other ones. Modeselektor continue to always strike through conventional audio habits with their grandiose Live and DJ-sets in the end of which one often gets to see an entire club dancing the Polonaise in circles with synchronized shoulder leans. Long live ACDC on broken beats."

APPARAT: Koax Remixes 12" (BPC 070). $9.00

"What does Apparat do so well then? He transforms his idea of the world into such a fragile sound shell that one gets goose bumps, almost interrupting breath, wondering how this sound in codes can exist. His freeing up of layers, that others sonically stack on top of one another, make room for a series of interpretations that were not meant to be this much. But precisely this is exactly the wonderful thing about it. Consider the fact that one even has the chance to always start a new or simply desire it. And when this seems to be the case, as if it were a testament to the love of music, the answer obviously is yes." Remix - Ellen Allien.

ANDERSSON, TOMAS: The Rockacid EP 12" (BPC 071). $9.00

"BPitch Control can add another flag to their global map with the import of the Swede Tomas Andersson from Stockholm. Coming from the realm of Andreas Tillander and working as label manager of Average Rec., Tomas aka Sven Andersson develops his own idea of progressive electronic music labelled under 'techno' and made in Sweden consequently."

KALKBRENNER, PAUL: Steinbeisser 12" (BPC 072). $9.00

"All in all: technoid and dry, covered with a sugary coating that we love him for. Paul Kalkbrenner shows us once again his preference for ordered continuity form two angles. 'Steinbeisser' hammers soft dreams into your ear that leave much room for paced synchronized head-nodding and playful eye twitching. Someone say then that Paul doesn't know his master. Here before us we have the personal union with the predecessor and transformer. 'Mundguci' on the flipside blows away the hypnosis like sand across the dance floor. The harmonies of the strings act against a high-pressure bass line that leave no desires or questions unanswered."

ALLIEN, ELLEN: Alles Sehn Remixes 12" (BPC 073). $9.00

"The Alles Sehn Remixes are the second extraction from Berlinette, the second album from Ellen Allien. They primarily show mutual and respectful touch and go recording for the flow of the originals. The remixes go left and right from where Ellen Allien set a secondary foundation on Berlinette with the abundance of vocals in order to touch on contemporary and, especially, experimental contexts. No one seems to be able to get around the challenge Ellen Allien is setting today: the positive and negative statements about her musical output are being opposed once again."

FUNKIE, SASCHA: Forms and Shapes Remixe 12" (BPC 074). $9.00

Remixes by: Lawrence, P.Kalkbrenner, Forms & Shapes, Ellen Allien. "In the circle of his closest way companions, Sascha Funke walks on with the Forms & Shapes-Remixe to a journey, which will only still take its actual exit. With the release of his forthcoming debut album Bravo (BPC075) Sascha Funke can rub and contently the hands."

FUNKIE, SASCHA: Bravo CD (BPC 075 CD). $18.00

"Sascha Funke is releasing his long awaited debut album called Bravo. It's true that the first signs of Sascha Funke's interpretation of techno lifestyles are keywords like continuity, independence, and translation. This 26 year-old Berliner is living a contradiction for all the spaces left in between: a simultaneous demand for pragmatic rationality and emotional pontification. Alone translating between these two poles is already a characteristic of how Sascha Funke sounds. It's still flavored with plenty of quotes, meaning he has a sharp nose for pop, even letting coincidence be the basis of the production process. A new belt is pulling techno tight. Bravo musically presents a rather 'state of the art', if not conceptual, approach even when the motif of Bravo has been around for two years as the hunt began. So Sascha Funke continues steadfastly there where his previous releases had been resting. For Sascha Funke continuity is a positive loaded term that states it to be important to complete one's own path and not lose oneself in the ditches and thresholds. In so doing he also throws up another image of daily life in the techno context. He manages to create further free spheres and independence in the life-world grey zone of creativity and the collective, which can be heard on Bravo. The fact that he remains himself and juggles his own inadequacies makes his music not only more pleasurable but also the person behind it all more transparent. What he calls 'rowing with technology' is overshadowed elsewhere by the immediate and pure, aseptic production. On Bravo he then engages his path safely: that what is usually determined to be the paradigm in techno, namely a rapid rise on a bolting industry train, he counters not only as a producer but even as a DJ who works for patience and one's own confidence in personal skill. So the positive sense would see him without passion. What's always decisive for him in unsure situations is the dance floor itself. Short momentary reactions and the belief that 'techno is always that what you make of it' leaves Bravo without competition in the set selection of his record bag."

FUNKIE, SASCHA: Bravo 2LP (BPC 075 LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

KIKI: Age of Cancer 12" (BPC 082EP). $9.00

"We proudly present: His excellence kiki's fifth masterpiece at the imperial court of the BPitch Control dynasty. Onward minstrel, let us hear his story. Kiki, in his saddle, on a bank. Below him in the plains and above him in the skies the powers are blustering, in expression of his inner engorgement. But in this hour in between darkness and light, two souls are fighting in his chest. The augurs have always been forewarning him for the 'Age of Cancer' he was born in, an extremely sensitive zodiac sign urging towards the outside with heart and soul. Only through wise demure he would be able to direct his reign into fruitful paths, he was admonished by the sages. So in the daytime he induced to build dikes, to reclaim new land and to erect buildings of symmetrical shape. Linear routes were drawn through his kingdom."

KALKBRENNER, PAUL: Self CD (BPC 083CD). $18.00

"Self is the new full length film of the BPitch film buff Paul Kalkbrenner. After numerous short films, lastly the 'Self-pilotfilm' entitled 'Press on' (BPC 81), he presents with this work his third movie theatre production. We received script extracts through some dubious connections. Curtain opens. (Picture black/white. music on: 'Page one'.) Our protagonist (P.) steps out of his run down building onto the street. He sets off in a certain direction without hesitation. After a while, he stops one more time to think and looks up to his window on the upper floor: it's closed. No turning back, P.'s search can, no it must begin. (Camera turns from the window to the street. There is an accordion player, ending scene, over.) (Music on: 'The Grouch') P. walks through the city focused yet shaken. The objects stand there in a special light. We perceive them with an almost anxiety-stricken form of clarity. P. acknowledges them. One can sense his thirst for impressions. He stays however in a cocoon. He builds his own world around things without affecting them in their integrity. (outro with: 'The Palisades'.) (Music: 'Press on'. hard cut: total shot and close ups of P.) Next to the river lie huge planes filled with monumental structures. No people, just warm, rain-drenched dew. He steps again unrestrained through intimate small alleys. (Transitional music: 'Castanets'.) People hush, faster cuts.) Here rampant life rules. Everyday P. appears however in a parallel universe. A cat and mouse game follows with his own shadow. It's a kind of constant flux of various possible P. personalities. ('Queer Fellow'.) (Music: 'Marbles', then 'Since 77') Finally some quiet sets into P.'s restless search. He stops at a park to think. His gaze stops with the sight of children playing — an almost lovely moment. An accordion player sits on his own bench yet again. Now his music reveals its total Janus mentality: difficult to say, whether it gleams a happy sensibility or one of mourning. Everyone must find their own Self: the end is uncertain. (Music fades out. The fog rises.) It's getting a bit cooler; P. closes his jacket and disappears in the dusk."

KALKBRENNER, PAUL: Self 2LP (BPC 083LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

SMASH TV: Bits For Breakfast CD (BPC 087CD). $18.00

"Increased coherence is the central theme on Smash TV's new album Bits for Breakfast. Multiple sound designs settle here on so many levels of meaning that only the word, synthesis, is left for getting the sound of Bits for Breakfast down on paper. The conscientiously minimal construction of tracks is only one side to many possibilities. They are being intuitive by standing at the edge between a hypnotic vacuum with a steady bass-line and digital vocals that are then triggered. In contrast there is the working process of Smash TV: the golden thread of the album is sewn with thorough and rational Cut & Paste techniques based on memory and snippets of experiences. This is actually how Bits for Breakfast sounds: a presentation of a musical spectrum that is fully able to go against time in flight along with the knowledge that there is always more/there must always be more. In the beginning it might sound like Elektro, and Raz Ohara takes apart your ears in the opener 'Queen of Men.' In the end, he blows such soft bubbles on 'Can't Wait to Operate' that it would be so nice to be covered by them."

SMASH TV: Bits For Breakfast 2LP (BPC 087LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

HOUSEMEISTER: no.games.no.fun 12" (BPC 089EP). $9.00

"It's the fourth time Housemeister invites you into his weirded/played out world in the BPitch-Control cosmos. Tune in, turn the console on, and grab the joystick."

SMASH TV: Queen of Men RMX 12" (BPC 091EP). $9.00

Four track remix EP, featuring: A: Dave Tarrida Rmx, A2: Original track. B1: Kiki Rmx, B2:

Smash TV Rmx.

FUNKE, SASCHA: The Intimate Touch 12" (BPC 092). $9.00

"It's always moving forward with Sascha Funke at BPitch, now with his latest maxi. On the A-side, 'The Intimate Touch', and bringing up the rear — as the postscript to his album — the remix of the title track 'Bravo' (BPC 075) from Alexander Kowalski. Three dimensions on two sides of vinyl. Still between emotion and rationality, Sascha 'Techhouse-Hase' listens to the first of until now unheard beats, as the Techno-Hase turns suspecting. To this piece he has his own game: he means to escape from the traditional drum computer sounds, as well as from the light coming down from the treetops. Now he hops light and funky from shadow to shadow. Between the snapping switches, and the driving harsh calls he grabs still, compact melodies."

KIKI: End of the World Remix 12" (BPC 093EP). $9.00

"With 'End of the world', Kiki opens his album Run with me. Whoever imagines an apocalyptic scene, misses the vision here. For Kiki the track pays musical homage to his Gothic & Wave phase, while for the most part the text concludes with a tendency towards the traditional courageous departure. Kiki's own sweeping remix now scatters the last doubts concerning the melancholy."

TIMTIM: atwater.ca remixe 12" (BPC 076). $9.00

"TimTim is digging deep with 'Let's Pretend We're Going' (BPC077) proving not only that his debut album is waiting impatiently at the starting gates, but that now the 'Atwater Ca. remixes' are available to sharpen your ears for the time being until the ball drops. TimTim's adventure savvy and particularly nice mix of ambient, folk, and electronica is being fused here with a sort of 'best of BPitch Control' remix squad."

TIMTIM: Let's Pretend We're Going CD (BPC 077 CD). $18.00

"On his debut album, Let's Pretend We're Going Berlin-based TimTim develops a set of delicately constructed landscapes, which stride a new path between the label traditions of techno and experimental elektronika. TimTim has paved his own road on the map although: at a crossroads between classical singer/songwriter and bleeping elektronika, he combines both by constructing electronic tracks into songs and a new category arises. This fusion of all categories formulates an approach towards an independence of BPitch Control by TimTim, with a further recess and specialization. In addition, where TimTim's musical socialization begins today, the electronic influences are broad. The categories, which are the foundation of the music world, speak likewise for themselves: beside post rock and punk the electronic avant-garde stands equally on the shelf. This discontinuity of category leaves a fragmentary collage, in which everyone can occupy their own field like Let's Pretend We're Going does. TimTim is a guitarist, drummer and songwriter and has appeared in various Berlin bands for many years. He may play in another league on Let's Pretend We're Going but he finds his own language, which offers enough space to his large musical passions for development. Sometimes melancholic to subtle, the sound is composed entirely by TimTim. And in this, the mental contradiction between song and track is broken up and again translated."

TIMTIM: Let's Pretend We're Going LP (BPC 077 LP). $16.00

LP version.

ANDERSSON, TOMAS: Minimal Mama 12" (BPC 078). $9.00

"What do we know about Tomas Andersson? He is from Sweden and is a DJ / live-act there as well as in multiple places all over the world. The first BPitch release The Rock Acid BPC071 excited the quite famous Munich DJ Hell. So Tomas Andersson ended up remixing that guy's track called 'Keep on Waiting'. Now the Scandinavian is establishing himself with his second release for BPitch Control."

SMASH TV: Hi-Jacked 12" (BPC 079). $9.00

"Three singles, a bunch or remixes, Smash TV's course on BPitch Control has barely left time to catch a breath. The show goes on and is getting better with the new single 'Hi-Jacked' ....breathe, look around, breathe."

ALLIEN, ELLEN: Remix Collection CD (BPC 080 CD). $18.00

"This is a selective and very nice collection Ellen Allien has offered us. She stays active remixing next to her own productions — that we know. Here we have yet again and comprehensively all the small remix pieces from 1995 - 2003 that comprise her vinyl releases served to you in one dish. There is even a little extra: Ellen Allien's Gold Chains Remix has been released along with it and belongs to the most recent ones. The inspiration for the remix collection came rather spontaneously. Ellen Allien packed all remixes in a pretty ipod, and that's how she passed time on planes. By now some of them belong to her favorite tracks. Maybe the remix collection is simply a testament to her own life filled with all the gigs, travels, own releases etc., which also includes remixing or achieving the thing in itself. It's perhaps an exercise in memory, as it seems, since Ellen Allien combines many personal things with what she does. It's well known that Ellen Allien has a relentless appetite for new sounds and genres. It is remarkable however how many ingredients she juggles freely while always maintaining her own style as if it were an automated signature... The list of the mentioned heads reads like a mix between global and central, hence Berlin. Apparently, Ellen Allien has her ears everywhere but still stands on solid ground nonetheless. Musically, this much electronic diversity gives good reason for her own work which makes looking for a formula senseless. What appears unanimous is Ellen Allien's stubborn and slightly queer way of absorbing the original without any heartburn. It rather seems like a very soothing way to pass the time." Artists: Sascha Funke, Gold Chains, Vicknoise, Apparat, OMR, Barbara Morgenstern, Ellen Allien, Covenant, Gut-Humpe, Goldenboy with Miss Kittin.

ALLIEN, ELLEN: Remix Collection 2LP (BPC 080 LP). $17.00

Double LP version; German-only on vinyl.

KALKBRENNER, PAUL: Press On 12" (BPC 081 EP). $9.00

"Paul Kalkbrenner is the cinematic orchestration coming from the BPitch Control camp. Coming off of several short films and two packed evenings of movie theatre productions, he is daring new heights again. Here you have his pilot film Press On which marks the release of his full length film project Self. We were able to obtain a few script excerpts through some dark back alleys. Let's try them. (Music on.) 'John 3-21' sets in as our protagonist (P) open his window shortly after waking up. In comes heavy rain and, for this time of year, way too warm wind. The first breeze strikes the face of our hero with luminous ferocity. (P. goes, the camera stays focused for a moment on the window and curtain.) In this split second it becomes clear that the curtain cloth, which blows rhythmically, is consistently finishing the same soft movements. A feeling of estrangement yet also melancholia and entrapment start to seep in."

ALLIEN, ELLEN: Astral 12" (BPC 085EP). $9.00

"Allien leaves everything out on 'Astral' and, instead, offers her own definition of minimal Electech. To define means only as much as the word itself: to represent in elaborate terms something within its boundaries. Ellen Allien pins down every centimeter of the dance floor with precision. She knows how every corner, every angle sounds around her. In the process, she moves onward conscientiously. What can you say but that she is fully realized, especially in regard to her surroundings from the years past to those ahead. Ellen longed for space with the frequency of the beat. Her attempt to breach the threshold of technoid elektro continues to push out of the genre. (If it weren't so then it just wouldn't be Ellen Allien). Powerful bass lines dig a track, grinding their way into your ear lobes, to then be hit with breaks over and over again. Cheers to renewal."

FEADZ: Maxibeef EP 12" (BPC 086). $9.00

"We proudly invite you to a four course menu at the BPitch restaurant prepared by our french star-cuisinier Feadz. With Maxi Beef he fills up the plates all by himself for the third time. He already enriching the meal at the 'Gemeinsam' and 'Kollektiv' cooking-sessions with the other BPitch chefs. Oh ah .. à la Feadz, a look at the 3-star cooks kitchen: in a choosy and centered way he lets his eyes fly over the groceries lying around. Unerringly he reaches for the piece of beef of his choice. While gnawing on his lower lip, he juggles with the the plates, dishes and all the other gear. Feadz cuts it up, spices and squeezes it until the essence is found. No way! This is anything but fast-food, okay?!"

BRASSLAND RECORDS:*CLOGS: Lullaby For Sue CD (HWY 004 CD). $13.00

"Clogs are four classical musicians hailing from Australia and the United States. The Wire celebrated their first record's 'eerie, looping folk melodies...delicately bowed and struck strings [and] beautiful 'lost at sea' effect.' Lullaby For Sue, their second album, is more rhythmic, ambient, electric, and eclectic. Think myriad stars in Aussie skies; red desert violins; gnarled attic guitars; medieval bassoons; junkyard metal percussion. Clogs have been compared to artists as diverse as Arvo Part, Sigur Ros, and Godspeed You! Black Emperor."

FRIEDLANDER, ERIK: Maldoror CD (HWY 005 CD). $13.00

"Erik Friedlander is a unique cellist whose body of work both blurs and defies genre borders. Son of the noted artist/photographer Lee Friedlander, Erik was born in 1960. Maldoror is Erik's solo debut and consists of ten improvisations recorded at Berlin's Teldex Studios. It was inspired by the poems of early French surrealist Lautreumont, who wrote a collection named Maldoror and Poems. Is it jazz or classical? Is it composed or improvised? These are the questions of the feeble. Intense, mystical, and beautiful, Friedlander's Maldoror is a journey into music's darkest heart. Deep down where the music of Morricone, Piazzola, Godspeed You! Black Emperor, and John Coltrane also serves to sooth the savages."

CLOGS: Stick Music CD (HWY 007CD). $13.00

"A tour de force concept album conceived by the duo. Simply put, it is a deep exploration of strings. They are bowed, struck, plucked, and treated as never before. The results are intimate, melodic, gorgeous. One moment they resonate like gentle raindrops, the next they're woven into dizzying eddies of sound. Stick Music is a bold achievement. It is odd and intense enough to satisfy avant gardists yet grows as accessible and comfortable as instrumental classics like John Coltrane's A Love Supreme, Steve Reich's Music for 18 Musicians, Ornette Coleman's The Shape of Jazz to Come, or Brian Eno's early ambient works."

BREMSSTRAHLUNG:*VA: Lowercasesound 2002 Compilation 2CD (BLUNG 002). $25.00

"If you run across someone who pays attention to sounds," said John Cage in his Indeterminacy III, you will find that it's the quiet ones they find interesting." This compilation is offered as supporting evidence of that claim. Here is a collection of 33 artists across the world (Japan, USA, Spain, England, Austria, France, Argentina, Germany, and Sweden) who each, through their own unique paths, have arranged sounds in such a way that rewards the listener's careful attention. Although the sounds are often soft they are not intended for the background. 'Lowercase' is a term coined by Steve Roden in 1998 to describe his personal artistic aesthetic. "Lowercase music" bears a certain sense of quiet and humility; it doesn't demand attention, it must be discovered. The work might imply one thing on the surface but contain other things beneath. It's the opposite of capital letters — loud things which draw attention to themselves. [Morton] Feldman is the perfect lowercase music; it seems serene, but there is much going on beneath the quiet exterior.' The two discs focus on different approaches to lowercase-sound. The 'dot' disc is weighted towards the recording of physical materials while the 'dash' disc contains more purely electronic compositions. The time delineations for the compositions on the two discs have been modified to highlight these differences." Artists include: The Beige Channel, Tucker Dulin, Gal, Josh Russell, Bob L. Sturm, Dale Lloyd, Matt Shoemaker, Yannik Dauby, Electric Company, Reynolds, Joseph Siemion, Animist Orchestra, Radu Malfatti, Jason Lescalleet, David Gross, Under Quartet, John Hudak, Otaka Yakuza, Francisco Lopez, R Sundin, Akira Rabalais, Stephan Mathieu, Immedia, Dan Abrams, Peter Van Hoesen, Michael Schumacher, Carl Stone, Tetsu Inone, Taylor Deupree, Kim Cascone, Toshimaru Nakamura, Jonas Lingren, Civiui KKliu. [Includes a bonus set of duplicate discs to give to a friend, so a total of 4 CDs are in the box]

TSUNODA/CIVIUI KKLIU, TOSHIYA: 2CD (BLUNG 003). $17.00

"Many of you may have already had a chance to appreciate some of Toshiya Tsunoda's work on such fine labels as Selektion, WRK, Intransitive and Lucky Kitchen. Here, this master of unprocessed field recordings again extracts baffling and compelling sounds from the most unexpected sources. Whereas Tsunoda's interest is very specific to eliciting sound from locations with described methods, Civiui KKliu works necessarily without description of process, and it has more to do with providing locations with a specific sonic condition."

MALFATTI/ILYA MONOSOV, RADU: Selbänder/Music For Listening 2CD (BLUNG 004). $17.00

"One of the pioneering practitioners of minimalist improvisation presents his latest work for three trombones in 16th intervals. This composition 'Selbänder' combines dynamic silence with sensual release in Malfatti's ineffable style. Approaching some of the same aesthetics from a different angle Ilya Monosov's 'Music for Listening' is just that. This composition is intended to act as a catalyst for actually hearing all the sounds in our environments that we normally filter out. Although a rigorous composition that presents its own round sonic world it also rewards repeated listenings in different environments by consistently bringing out the beautiful in the serendipitous sounds that happen to occur. In his own words. 'Music For Listening', described by the composer as a serialism of memories and expectations, is all in all arranged into 3 structures and was generated with a digitally treated trumpet."

BRIGHT STAR (UK):*REINDEER SECTION, THE: Son Of Evil Reindeer LP (BSR 019 LP). $14.00

LP version.

BRO:*BROTZMANN & WALTER PERKINS, PETER: The Ink Is Gone LP (BRO 003 LP). $25.00

"More than thirty-five years after creating his own 'Bro' record label to release for Adolphus

Sax (Bro 1) & Machine Gun (Bro 2), now well established as an artist of great & enduring significance, Peter Brotzmann has decided to revive Bro as an outlet to release special editions of some of his most personal projects. Bro Records no. 3 documents Brotzmann's 2002 encounter with a true jazz legend, drummer Walter Perkins. As Brotzmann said from the bandstand, 'it is a great pleasure & honor for me to play with this gentleman. He is history. He has played with all my heroes, & I'm glad & grateful that I have this possibility'. The music they played is marked by a depth of beauty & animation rare even by the standards of both artists' extraordinary histories. pressed on pristine 180 gram vinyl by RTI, artwork by Brotzmann, jackets silk-screened by Siwa Records, Oregon, U.S.A. in a numbered edition of 999."

BRUCHSTUECKE (SWITZERLAND):

VA: Music For Children CD (BRUCH 001 CD). $16.00

"The compilation Music For Children is a project by friends with its own story. The idea was by Chica Paula of the label Ruta5: 'I love to listen to music with my daughter Romina, but we didn't feel like listening to this old styled productions for children. Romina loves electronic music very much — so why don't we make modern music for our children? After years of intense club- and party culture, most of the involved artists have now own children, or they are familiar with the needs through the children of their friends. The compilation tries to combine these two quite opposite ways of living. The tracks use sounds from little music boxes, melodies of children's songs or the voice of a baby. So they create a sound of intimate elation and harmony, they switch between minimal electronica and naive melody. The customs of listening have changed by children too. Musicians like Debussy or Satie worked intensely on music for children — maybe to explore their own fantasy or to satisfy their urge to play and the child in their own.' A lot of the artists have Chilean origins, are related with people from Chile or have been there for vacation. Most of them live now in Berlin and support the label Ruta5, which sets up a stage for South American artists in Europe. After two years and a long way round the project came finally to Bruchstuecke, a label that released so far more club-orientated music for the dancefloor. Music For Children was the impulse to start a more textual and home-listening orientated series on the CD." Artists: Chica & The Folder, Console, Gudrun Gut, Mo & El Puma, Nicol Et Lucien, Pink Elln, Max Loderbauer, Tom Thiel, Ricardo Villalobos, Thomas Fehlmann, Dandy Jack, Jorge Gonzalez, Dinky.

BERMITTELNDE-ELEMENTE.DE: Blume EP 12" (BRUCH 04). $9.00

Fourth single on this Swiss-based minimal techno label. "Percusiv, minimal, funky and dry as bones."

VERMITTELNDE-ELEMENTE: Stiel 12" (BRUCH 06). $9.00

"Serious ultra-reduced 4 tracker by this artist known from Lo-fi Stereo and Bruch 04. Beautifully carved glitchtechnoloops in constant motion. Everything but boring."

LUCIANO: La Capriciosa 12" (BRUCH 09). $9.00

"Awesome Latin-influenced electro. Highly erotic and the best ever release for this label."

VA: Potlatch EP 12" (BRUCH 10). $9.00

5 track compilation with exclusive tracks from Brinkmann, Andy Vaz, Move D, Miguel Navas, Janovsky vs. Scheben. "The 10th release of Bruchstuecke doesn't feature its own story and its 'home-producers' mostly from Switzerland. Bruchstuecke 10 immerses into soundscapes of people, who have supported and shown interest for the label in the last three years. Janovsky vs Scheben cut 360 bassdrums together, never repeating a single one and break with the soundlayout of Treibstoff. Move D discovered in his Source-Records archive a forgotten piece of melodic swing. Andy Vaz releases its minimum sound variations around a draft, which he resumes on Sound Variation 4. Thomas Brinkmann alienates Nina Simone's cover version of a Jacques Brel classic into a painful version by destroying the original and creating an arena for a new interpretation of an old feeling. Miguel Navas, a young producer from Bogota/Columbia, publishes finally on this Potlatch EP his first track ever. Potlatch is 'a pre-Columbian market system without money, in which gifts were answered with gifts'. Without this principle — the exchange of tendencies and confidenceness, interests and contacts far away from financial interests -? a small independent label like Bruchstuecke could hardly exist."

DIE PATINNEN TIEL II: Maske EP 12" (BRUCH 11). $9.00

"Obscure hybrid of Moloko-like jazz noir and rocking minimal. Crazy new style."

LIEBE IST COOL: Liebe EP 12" (BRUCH 12). $9.00

"Liebe Ist Cool is a project by two people from Berlin: Kitty and Peter. We fell in love in summer 2002. Since then we have lived and produced music together. As Liebe Ist Cool we have written eleven tracks, which tell the story in chronological order. The Liebe EP on Bruchstuecke features a selection of these tracks."

CABO SAN ROQUE VS. LUCIANO: Membrillo EP 12" (BRUCH 13). $9.00

"Cabo San Roque are eight people from Barcelona, who play acoustic music on self-built instruments. Most instruments are made out of rubbish. Luciano met these people, was fascinated by the sound and atmosphere of their music and promised them to make a remix. This is how the project came to Bruchstuecke. In spite of the fact that the original music is quite the opposite of electronic music the Membrillo EP fits perfectly to the idea of Bruchstuecke Records: open the range of electronic music. On the sleeve you see a can of Quince Cream, subserving as a guitar."

VA: Music For Children 2LP (BRUCH 14 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

LIEBE IST COOL: Feder 12" (BRUCH 15). $9.00

"Second release by Liebe Ist Cool on Bruchstuecke records and part two of an ongoing love-story: 'The Intimate' post-minimal house-tracks appear in a crystalline, digital aesthetic. The songs of Liebe Ist Cool are serious and affectingly at the same time as they are some of the bounciest and humorously house around. 'Our music is a window into our lives and tell our love-story. We produced already 20 twenty songs, who tell our whole love-story in kind of a chronology.' The Feder EP (Plume EP) is a second selection out of it."

GALOPPIERENDE ZUVERSICHT: Basta EP 12" (BRUCH 16). $9.00

"Galoppierende Zuversicht is the live project by Styro2000 and bang goes, one of the most famous producers from Zurich. Since three years they have rocked specially small parties around Zurich, as some big festivals like M4Music or a legendary set at an off-event during Popkomm. Their techno and electro inspired live-sets are completely unique as they don't play with laptops but with self-built samplers and quiet old-school equipment. They didn't like to record their performances as they refused to produce in the studio in an other way then getting close to a live situation. So several sessions never ever left the studio and finally it took three years to put out their first release together as Galoppierende Zuversicht. (which means +/- galloping confidence...)"

BUDA MUSIQUE (FRANCE):

VA: Ethiopiennes Volume 10: Ethiopian Blues & Ballads CD (BUDA 82222). $15.00

Tenth volume in this highly acclaimed series of Ethiopian music from the archives of this country's lone independent label, Ahma Records (1969-78). This volume focuses on "tezeta" style: "Emptiness, melancholy, nostalgia; doom and gloom, morbid musings; heartache or homesickness: such is the stock in trade of the misery and mournful memories expressed by the song 'Tezeta' — Ethiopia's majestic hymn to the blues. Etymologically, the word itself means memory, nostalgia, and several Ethiopian authors have used 'Tezeta' as the title for their memoirs." Featuring tracks from: Mahmoud Ahmed, Alémayèhu Eshètè, Fréw Haylou, Tésfa-Maryam Kidané, etc. From the years 1970-74. Some background about this series in general: "For many years the little we knew of Ethiopian music was pretty much limited to Mahmoud Ahmed's cult album Erè mèla mèla. It was the first Western breakthrough for the country's brassy, electric, urban pop: swinging and hypnotic, poignant yet funky. So unique, so different from anything else coming out of the African continent. This amazing, head-spinning groove was celebrated the world over, and hailed as one of the finest releases of 1986. Precisely because Ethiopian music remains virtually unknown on our western shores, Buda Musique acquired exclusive rights to the Ahma Records (1969-1975) and Kaifa Records (1973-1977) catalogs, two major repositories of the music of the golden age: around 150 singles and over a dozen albums, the highlights of which are being reissued in the Éthiopiennes collection. Éthiopiennes aims to present a panorama of this missing link in Africa's music, to become a reference point, both lively and informative, a sort of audio emissary for Ethiopia's musical heritage. The collection will focus on the golden age of modern Ethiopian music but will also present other archival material as well as recent recordings, both modern and traditional, urban and 'ethnic'." — Francis Falseto

AGA, ALEMU: Ethiopiennes Volume 11 - The Harp Of King David CD (BUDA 82232). $15.00

Solo album by Alemu Aga for voice and Bèguèna, an oversized lyre with ten strings. A rich, seductive, drone-inflected sound, with completely mesmerizing parameters. "For more than twenty years, Alemu Aga has been recognized as one of the masters of the Bèguèna. He was recorded as early as 1972 by Cynthia Tse-Kimberlin, an American musicologist specialized in the Ethiopian string instruments, for UNESCO collections. Kassa sings songs of religious inspiration as well as a tale, or traditional folk stories. Meditative, devotional or uplifting for some, simply 'mind-blowing' for others, bèguèna music is without doubt an otherworldly experience for Western ears. First released in 1995, this CD remains the sole album dedicated exclusively to the Bèguèna." — Francis Falseto.

VA: Ethiopiennes Vol. 12: Kirba Affaa Xonso CD (BUDA 82252). $15.00

"Kirba afaa Xonso offers the missing link in African music concentrating on modern Ethiopian traditional music recorded 2000 and 2001 in Xonso." Xonso music is played entirely on indigenous instruments, similar to the lyre, Pan flute, bamboo flute, bell, horn trumpet, xylophone, drum, etc.

VA: Ethiopiennes Vol. 13: Ethiopian Groove CD (BUDA 82255). $15.00

13th volume in this series, featuring tracks recorded 1973-76. "A tribute to the golden days of Ethiopian groove and includes the final salvos of the musical fireworks before they were brutally extinguished by the dictatorship. Some of the original recordings were huge hits in Ethiopia and are now heard here for the first dazzling time." Featuring: Alémayèhu Eshètè, Hirtu Bègèlè, Seyoum Gèbrèyes, Tamra Rêrèndji, Muluqèn Mèllèssè, Ayalèw Mésfin, etc. 32 page booklet of notes (English/French) & photos.

MEKURYA, GETATCHEW: Ethiopiennes Vol. 14: Negus of Ethiopian Sax CD (BUDA 82256). $15.00

"Getatchew Mekurya is truly a legendary Ethiopian artist. Among all the traditional musics of Ethiopia exists 'shellela', an amazing war chant based on wild improvised vocal phrases. In the 50's young Ethiopian saxophonist Getatchew Mekurya started adapting this traditional chant to his instrument and to his jazz playing. The result was that a long time before anyone had heard of Ornette Coleman or Albert Ayler, Getatchew Mekurya had approached the shores of a new and wild poetic musical language. The tracks on this album had originally been released on Philips Ethiopia in 1972 and are the most representative of Getatchew Mekurya's talent. The last track is a super rare late 50's recording."

VA: Ethiopiennes Vol. 15: Jump To Addis CD (BUDA 82264). $16.00

"A surprising gathering of Ethiopian, French and Dutch musicians, Jump to Addis presents an exhilarating blend of Abyssinian tradition, jazz revisited and mad rock'n'roll. This daring mix features azmari voices and krar lyres along with European guitars, sax and drums." Recorded in Addis Ababa, May 2001.

WERQU, ASNAQETCH: Ethiopiennes Vol. 16 CD (BUDA 82265). $18.00

"Asnaqetch's very distinctive talent is linked with the Ethiopian tradition of Azmaris (the artist 'caste') improvising songs with their typical instruments, the 'Krar'. Asnaqetch Werqu first became famous as an actress and dancer. She actually was the first real Ethiopian female actress in the 50's. Her life has been very much of a struggle against social & moral establishment. Asnaqetch did not just experience the vicissitudes of life, she constantly found the voice to transform them into poignant laments or sarcastic ditties, which have earned her respect and recognition to this day."

VA: Ethiopiennes Vol. 17: Tlahoun Gessesse CD (BUDA 82266). $18.00

"Let's say it straight away: although he is still completely unknown to Western audiences, for Ethiopians Tlahoun Gessesse is The Voice. Even more than Mahmoud Ahmed, Mulatu Astaté or Bzunesh Bègèlè, he is the absolute and unequalled icon for an entire country, rising above its ethnic or linguistic divides. Tlahoun Gessesse recorded very very numerous LP's and cassettes, but this album gathers the most significant recordings and his most interesting period in terms of artistic creation: the seventies. Most tracks come from his sessions arranged by the brilliant and innovative Mulatu Astaté, just back in Ethiopia after 10 years of study and musical adventures in the UK and in the US. The other tracks come from sessions with the Body Guard Band, and the Army Band."

VA: Ethiopiennes 18: Asguebba! CD (BUDA 82289). $18.00

"The recordings presented here are intended as a continuation of those in Tetchawet! /Ethiopiennes 2, i.e. a presentation of the current Ethiopian musical scene. The interest of compiling these artists is to show that the renewal of the nightlife/musical life in Addis Abeba in the 90's (after 18 years of censorship) has nothing to do with the occidentalisation. The greatest music produced in Ethiopia is more than ever the 'Azmaris', the traditional popular music from Ethiopia that you can hear in the traditional bistros and cabarets. A music that urges the listener to enter into the dance-literally. This invitation carries the same sexual innuendo as Latino's 'Ya Dentro'. That's because even if he or she excels in poignant lamentation, the azmari must also, and at all times, be a master of the art of heating up the atmosphere. 30 pages Booklet with notes and lyrics in French & English."

BUDDHA (GERMANY):

CAPTAIN BEEFHEART: The Mirror Man Sessions CD (BUDDHA 91742). $13.00

1999 reissue of the classic 1967 Bob Krasnow sessions, originally issued in belated fashion by Buddha in 1971. Includes bonus tracks (as previously issued by Sequel), some of which are spread out onto the new version of Safe As Milk as well. "Mirror Man is a weird album, part blues, part . . . something else again. Three of the tracks are elongated, amorphous numbers ranging in length from 10 to 19 minutes. 'You're Gonna Need Somebody on Your Bond' reappears as the epic 'Tarotplane' (the title of which is a pun on Robert Johnson's 'Terraplane Blues'), encrusted with shards of 'Wang Dang Doodle' and some debutante saxophone noodling from Beefheart; the more economical 'Gimme Dat Harp Boy' is nothing more or less than a lurching take on 'Spoonful'. However, some of the songs nod toward things to come — most notably 'Kandy Korn,' which floats on French's oddly accented drumming and unexpectedly jerks into a wafting coda that anticipates the bolder rhythmic conceptions of Beefheart's next album." — Chris Morris.

CAPTAIN BEEFHEART & HIS MAGIC BAND: Safe As Milk CD (BUDDHA 91752). $13.00
1999 reissue of the first Captain Beefheart album, originally issued by Buddha in 1967, with 7 bonus tracks (from the Mirror Man sessions. "With [Ry] Cooder supervising the music, the sessions proceeded more or less smoothly...Overall the music is still blues-based and almost commercial, but several of the cuts point to future directions, especially the hypnotic use of slide guitars, the frequent tempo and key changes, and the exotic rhythms, most notably on 'Abba Zabba'. Safe As Milk remains one of the great, if sadly underrated, albums of the late sixties, the musicianship if of the highest quality and it's a record brimful of imagination." — John Platt.

BUDDHA LOUNGE (UK):

VA: Saint Germain Lounge 2CD (BUDL 003CD). $22.00

"Drift into the world of the Saint Germain Lounge and experience a musical odyssey that samples Jazz, Electro, Chill-out, and the very best downtempo tracks that the world has to offer. Recline and sink into the lounge as the soundscape drifts and weaves through cuts from Faze Action, Faithless, MAW, Jazzanova, Mr Scruff, Smith & Mighty, Handsome Boy Modelling School and, of course St Germain. This is the place to lose your inhibitions and for once indulge in the music as the Saint Germain Lounge evokes the spirits of a myriad of styles and scenes that come together on one sublime album." Artists include: James Holden, Bent, St Germain, Mr Scruff, Citizen, Afro Cuban All Stars, Thievery Corporation, Jazzanova Vs Har You Percussion Group, Cosmos, River Ocean, Blue Lagoon, Cassi, Maw Feat Luis Salinas, Smith & Mighty, Kerri Chandler & Joe Claussell, Badmarsh & Shri, Ian Pooley, Alpha X, Boutique, Somer Orchestra, Christophe Goze, Nitin Sawhney Feat. Natacha Atlas, Aquarius, Faze Action.

VA: Saint Germain Lounge: Rendez Vous 2CD (BUDL 004CD). $22.00

"Saint Germain Lounge returns with an elegant collection of chillout music for that perfect rendez vous. Coming off the success of the first Saint Germain Lounge this album continues the journey into sensual and exotic soundscapes. This two CD set gets you in the mood with selections from chillout masters Zero 7 to Grand Central's beatmaster Aim to the deep and soulful sound of Ian Pooley to the man who always scores the smooth, sexy soundtrack, David Holmes. Saint Germain Rendez Vous is a perfect album to chill the wine and advance the foreplay." Artists include: Zero 7, Truby Trio, Ian Pooley & Majik J, Fragile State, Aim Feat Kate Rogers, Playhouse, Eon A, Stockholm, Dust, Sphere, Pashtun Orchestra.

BUNGALOW (GERMANY):

MINA: Ms Maria 10" (BUNG 56). $9.00

"On their second collector 10 Inch Mina are travelling through the experimental land between electronic, weirdness and pop. 'Ms Maria' starts with a noise loop that ends in an uptempo handmade breakbeat song. And on 'Sechs Für's Parkett' Mina show their unique ability to mix the skills of a classic band with the beats of house-DJs. Music, telling great stories without the use of words. Instrumental epics in pop formats, way too shiny and clear for living rooms. Music for relaxing days on the seaside that can even make you enjoy a terrible rainy summer day."

VA: Pool Position 12" (BUNG 64 EP). $9.00

The 12" version features three new, exclusive and unreleased DJ-tracks by Dauerfisch, Stereo De Luxe and Pat & Matwell Explosion.

VA: Pop Tics LP (BUNG 66 LP). $15.00

"Pop Tics will be a totally new and exciting kind of compilation. It will feature the works of various bands, artists, designers, and painters from all over the world. Why this? Everybody is talking about the millennium. We don't care. That's why we asked our favorite DJs and bands together with their graphic teams to write and design the last pop song of the 90s (no longer than 2 minutes — that's enough for the 90s). Artists: Jim Avignon (Ger), Yoshinori Sunahara with Mars Art Lab (Japan), Helen Love (UK), Olaf Hund (Fr), Andreas Dorau with Moritz Reichelt (Ger), Business Class (Spain), Pizzicato Five with Groovisions (Japan), Pop Tarts with E-Boy (Ger), DOB (Japan), Dauerfisch (Ger), Yukari Fresh with Popsy Rock (Japan), Discordia (UK), Jeans Team (Ger).

MINA: A To B CD (BUNG 85 CD). $14.50

"There are only a few records that represent Berlin, which are really essential, which defined a style or broken new ground and represented the city of Berlin at a given era. Einstürzende Neubauten, possibly some of the Nick Cave records from the late Eighties, obviously Iggy Pop's Idiot. Later, maybe only Tarwater and To Rococo Rot came close but in a very different way. Now the time has come to add a new name to this list: Mina. Listen to their new album A to B. Feel the heartbeat of this city. Feel the ever changing moods and see the young people of Berlin dance to their music. Nobody does it better at the moment. This city, which is brimming with alternative culture, which likes to rock out as much as it likes to dance, the city that never sleeps. Berlin has gone through a total blood exchange after the wall came down and thousands of young creative people moved in and have lived here ever since. They have reshaped Berlin — it's nightlife, it's art scene and it's cultural mix. Mina are right in the middle of all this. Their new album was created in this atmosphere of anything goes. A to B simply defines Berlin in 2001."

OLYMPIC LIFTS: Do One LP (BUNG 90 LP). $11.00

LP version, initial copies including a bonus 7". "Olympic Lifts come straight outta Belfast and have been taking on all-comers with their mix of long-haired hip hop and on stage rock 'n' roll shenanigans. On the original mix they come on like the Betas vs the Beasties — an irresistibly catchy hook, cut-up samples and breaks, a dose of attitude and all with a pop twist of their own making. The two stand-out remixes on here come from Ugly Duckling and Only Child."

BUNKER (NETHERLANDS):

GET IT BOYS: Shake That Booty 12" (BUNK 3012EP). $9.00

"Old school Miami electro bass tracks by the Get it boys (related to the Novamen)."

RUDE 66: De Wraak Der Weppiraten 12" (BUNK 3021EP). $9.00

"The King of the dark electro-wave deathrace is back with a 5-track killer ep: heavy industrial electro-wave-disco (like DAF!) and distorted electro-funk beats with a healthy dose of paranoia and despair! Will awake those dark feelings in your innerself."

POLARIUS: Jams From The Key Of Smack 12" (BUNK 3022EP). $10.00

"Here comes the FREAK!: fucked-up la-haia/Chicago/ghetto trax, raw, minimalistic and crazy. Somewhat reminiscent of ol' Unit Moebius doing that Chi-town thang. Bounce that big booty to the beats of Polarius. (Polarius aka. Machocatt Garage)." 8 track EP.

LEGOWELT: Klaus Kinski 12" (BUNK 3023EP). $10.00

"Probably the best Legowelt so far, his tribute to the great actor Klaus Kinski, from dark barok Legowelt autobahn-disco to very sinister horror-movie soundtracks, passionate and moving, excellent."

SARRIO, FRANCK: Made in Clermont-Ferrand 12" (BUNK 3026EP). $9.00

"Two-track 12" with very dark spherical electro-wave, true soundtracks for the ultimate post-nuclear scenario."

EARGOGGLE, LUKE: Audio Warriors CD (BUNK 3027CD). $16.00

"Double LP/CD release with Luke's best production so far: crazy minimalistic robot electro with a twitch, eerie voices and twisted funk in an apocalyptic nightmare, you'll wet your bed with this slab of dark visionary freak-out! Kind of Ectomorph meets I-f meets the rest of the Bunkers posse."

EARGOGGLE, LUKE: Audio Warriors 2LP (BUNK 3027LP). $17.00

Double LP Version.

LEGOWELT: Classics 1998-2003 2LP (BUNK 3028LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

LEGOWELT: Tower Of Gypsies EP 12" (BUNK 3030EP). $10.00

"Another record that proves that Legowelt is one of the guys to watch for the future. A wide range of DJ's (like Sven Vath, Mauro Picotto, Chris Liebing, Michel de Hey to people like I-f, Tiga, Serge, Travis Jackson, Melvin White) are playing his tracks. This new EP with Italo disco influences (with some slower and uptempo tracks and some great soundscapes too) will appeal that same wide range of people again!" 4 new tracks that are not found on the Classics album.

VA: Sound of Suomi - The Electro Sound of Finland CD (BUNK 3031CD). $19.00

"Bunker is known for bringing unknown artists and putting out strange music which probably nobody else would release at that moment in time (remember Fünkstörung, Legowelt, Bangkok impact, Unit Moebius?). For this compilation they selected 12 tracks by 12 young artists (Mr Velcro fastener, Vulva, Imatron Voima and some unknown and obscure creative names like Konrad West, Alpha Males, Kings of Techno, Tero etc) from Finland...a compilation of 12 underground electronic artists on vinyl (2xLP) and CD. And yes I know what you think...another compilation with weird bedroom artists making tracks they better should keep for themselves... but when you know Bunker you know that won't be the case. First of all the A&R man at Bunker has a twisted mind...and 2nd Finnish people have a even more twisted mind and a somehow crazy talent for making crazy but outstanding tracks. Its probably the dark and long polar night, where suicide and alcohol abuse is a life's destiny and where you can do only but one good thing to escape: indulge in crazy music, no matter if it's Moroder-style electro-wave-disco to pounding industrial tekno and planet rock, maniacal B12/Jean-Michel Jarre-like syntheziser atmospheres, Drexciya future funk and dark robotic electro, anything twisted and mean machine will do the job nicely. And thats exactly what you get here."

VA: Sound of Suomi - The Electro Sound of Finland 2LP (BUNK 3031LP). $19.00

Double LP version.

NUKUBUS: Show Me The Way 12" (BUNK 3034EP). $10.00

"Nukubus returns with a new mini album full of strange electroish/techno house tracks... really don't know what to say about this. You can hear many influences like Basic Channel, Ectomorph, Unit Moebius, Dan Curtin and I don't know... 8 tracks of crazy and sometimes funky stuff Bunker style."

SYNCOM DATA: Solid Industries 12" (BUNK 3039EP). $11.00

"A surprising release on Bunker again. Instead of the much hyped electro sounds from this moment, it is Bunker who returns to more minimal techno adventures of Syncom Data (Also know as Nukubus and Manolo 'GSM' Scaletti of Murdercapital fame). 4 tracks to work the floor sounding like they got lost somewhere inbetween Chicago and Detroit but its probably the Unit Moebius spirit which still lives in our area (Rotterdam/Den Haag). Tracks to please your friends who go to underground techno parties and who still believe that going to raves is not cool."

BURIAL MIX (GERMANY):

RHYTHM & SOUND/CHOSEN BROTHERS: Mash Down Babylon 10" (BM 12). $10.00

The 12th 10" version in this spectacular series. With the usual versioning on side B.

RHYTHM & SOUND W/ JAH BATT: Music Hit You 10" (BM 13). $10.00

13th release in the series, with Jah Batta on vocals. "Since the early 90s, with projects b/w on labels like Basic Channel, Maurizio (M Series) or Main Street Records, Berlin based producer team Rhythm & Sound (Mark Ernestus and Moritz Von Oswald) have originated a style between electronic club music and dub/reggae long before it became a genre of its own and have since inspired and influenced several generations of producers."

RHYTHM & SOUND: W/ The Artists LP (BMLP 002LP). $16.00

"Since the early 90s, with projects b/w on labels like Basic Channel, Maurizio (M Series) or Main Street Records, Berlin based producer team Rhythm & Sound (Mark Ernestus and Moritz von Oswald) have originated a style between electronic club music and Dub/Reggae long before it became a genre of its own and have since inspired and influenced several generations of producers. Their current album Rhythm & Sound w/ the artists (BMD-2) on the Burial Mix label showcases the series of heavily Reggae-orientated tunes that was created throughout the past three years — starting with the landmark 'King In My Empire' w/ Cornel Campbell — and that so far has only been available on 10" vinyl format. After the previous Burial Mix album Showcase (BMD-1, released 1998), exclusively with vocals by Paul St. Hilaire (at that time performing as Tikiman), the present release features eight tunes, voiced in Berlin, New York and Jamaica by seven artists, some of them living legends; Cornel Campbell, Paul St. Hilaire, Shalom, The Chosen Brothers, Love Joy, Jennifer Lara and Jah Batta."

RHYTHM & SOUND: W/ The Versions LP (BMLP 003LP). $16.00

"Released simultaneously, The Versions contains the corresponding instrumental versions b/w Dubs that integrate minimal structures with Rhythm & Sound's breathtaking atmospheric density. An essential twin-release."

BURNING AIRLINES (UK):

BLACK SABBATH: Black Mass CD (PILOT 49). $12.00

"Formed in Birmingham, England in 1968, the four man powerhouse known as Black Sabbath pioneered a bone-crunching rock 'n' roll assault that laid the foundations for the heavy metal revolution that swept popular music in the 70s and 80s. While the band's blas-tering ensemble playing and evocative lyric blend of machismo and mysticism set a standard for countless groups to follow, their 1970 self-titled debut album remains one of the most innovative and influential longplayers in rock history. Comprised of Ozzy Osbourne (vocals), Tony Iommi (guitar), Geezer Butler (bass) and Bill Ward (drums), the quartet was initially known by the name Polka Tulk, and then Earth, and took their hometown pub and club circuit by storm with a high energy blend of blues and rock. Schoolmates from a working class Birmingham neighborhood, the group earned a fervent following throughout the English Midlands and in 1968 changed their name to Black Sabbath. The new moniker reflected the band's penchant for moody, dark-hued music that matched supernatural themes with super-charged ensemble playing. In 1969 they entered the recording studio to cut their first album. The breakthrough came later that year with Paranoid, a pioneering heavy metal offering. The album was toured extensively throughout Europe, and it was during this tour that Black Sabbath appeared on the German TV show Beat Club (similar to the UK's Old Grey Whistle Test) and recorded four songs live, including, bizarrely, a cover version of 'Blue Suede Shoes'. The recordings were released on a Beat Club video in the US, but this is the first time the tracks have been released on CD-Rom format."

ROXY MUSIC: Valentine CD (PILOT 51 CD). $16.00

Track Listing: "Do The Stand", "Editions Of You", "In Every Dreamhome A Heartache", "Remake Re-Model", "All I Want Is You", "Virginia Plain". "Enhanced CD featuring six tunes (both audio and video footage of all 5) culled from TV appearances on the German TV show Musikladen in the early seventies, at the height of their venerable powers. As evidenced herein, Roxy had a lot more in common with Yank contemporaries The New York Dolls than many self-respecting persons would care to admit, from brazenly dressing in women's clothing on and off of stage, to mining the more baroque and subversive elements of Fifties rock n' roll culture. All of Roxy's greatest charms are exhibited here: A collision of Bryan Ferry's faux-operatic vocals, Brian Eno's electronic fuckery and a band that actually rocks — it's not surprising that Steve Jones dubbed his pre-Pistols band The Strand in tribute. In other words, these guys have to be seen and heard to be believed, so if you own their first five records already, or just need some make-up application tips, there is probably something here for you." — Billy Kiely

ROXY MUSIC: Vintage CD (PILOT 74). $12.50

"Second volume of the Musikladen performances. After the successful, Valentine this album features further rare performances by one of the UK's most stylish and bizarre cult bands. This totally unreleased Roxy Music from 1974 & 1975 includes a solo performance by Brian Ferry of Dylan's, 'A Hard Rain's Gonna Fall'. Specially packaged to accommodate the Roxy Music album cover trend utilising specially commissioned photographs."

BUZZ (BELGIUM):

VA: Relics — A Transmat Compilation LP (BZZ 106106 LP). $17.00

Re-Release of a rare classic Transmat compilation (originally released in 1992) including deleted music of Detroit mastermind Derrick May (plus Juan Atkins, Carl Craig, James Pennington). One of the definitive Detroit Techno comps, long unavailable. Side A: Long Ago: "A Relic", Rhythm Is Rhythm: "Beyond The Dance", BFC: "Evolution", Long Long Ago: "Another Relic", Model 500: "Info World"; Side B: Psyche: "Crackdown Re-Mix", Mayday: "MS 6", Rhythm Is Rhythm: "The Dance", Suburban Knight: "The Art Of Stalking", Longer Than Long Ago: "A Relic".

LONG AGO/MAYDAY/RHYTHM IS RHYTHM: Long Ago/Wigman Remix/Strings of Life 12" (BZZ 106060). $11.00

Gray area(?) reissue of this Detroit techno classic, originally issued by the Belgian Buzz label in 1992. "Classic Transmat repressed in Transmat picture sleeve. Feat. the legendary Derrick May 1987 produced Rhythm Is Rhythm 'Strings of Life'." Also features: Long Ago: "A Relic" (Derrick May genius from '89) and Mayday: "Wigman Re-Mix" (Stacy Pullen co-production from '92). Transmat logo sleeve.

PSYCHE/RHYTHM IS RHYTHM: Crackdown/Kao-tic Harmony 12" (BZZ 106076). $11.00

Gray area(?) reissue of this Detroit techno classic, originally issued by the Belgian Buzz label in 1992. Repro'd with the graceful Transmat logo sleeve intact. "Once again the Buss/Transmat represses grab us. This time the legendary Carl Craig appears on Psyche 'Crackdown', on the flip Derrick May's Rhythm Is Rhythm 'Kao-Tic Harmony' and 'Beyond the Dance Remix'."

VA: Equinox/The Beginning/Nite & Da LP (BZZ 106102). $19.00

Reissue of this 1991 album, originally issued on the Belgium Buzz label. It collected 7 tracks from Carl Craig's seminal Retroactive label (pre-Planet E). "Re-issue of this superb, rare and much sought after Detroit techno Retroactive compilation album. Tracks from Urban Tribe, Carl Craig, Never on Sunday, and Open House feat. Placid Angels."

VA: Panic In Detroit LP (BZZ 106107). $19.00

Reissue of this album, originally released by Buzz in 1991. "Re-issue of this superb, rare and much sought after 8 track Detroit techno compilation album, includes tracks from Juan Atkins, Eddie Fowlkes, Kenny Larkin & Dan Curtin, full colour picture sleeve."

C-PIJ (UK):

OBSCURA: Wah / Fuzz / Swell CD (CPIJ 01 CD). $15.00

"Ranking alongside such greats of confrontational electronics as Throbbing Gristle and (early) Cabaret Voltaire, as well as latterday contenders Fuxa and Add N To (X), Obscura's maverick stance is a collision of random & sporadic noise sewn into a complex web of outer-space melody, employing a multitude of diverse influences in a soundclash of ideas bound by the characteristic sound chatter unique to south London's C-PIJ towers studio. Waves of analogue drone mesh with churning rhythms, eerie disembodied voices flit ghostlike through bottomless dub caverns, simple keyboard riffs echo into infinity while dolphin clicks and sonar bleeps rise and decay in BBC radiophonic workshop doppler-effect arcs and jack-hammer rhythmic loops burst open without warning... This is an assault on all aural receptors, a mighty sound-trip 3 years in the making (with production input and track sequencing from one Lone Swordsman)."

C.O.D. (CREATORS OF DEEPNESS) (UK):

DJ PIERRE: Matrix Chambers Remixes CD (PHCD 001). $12.00

New multi-mix release from the Chicago Acid house pioneer (w/ Phuture 303). "A stunning remix package on limited CD format courtesy of these groundbreaking US producers. 6 remixes to choose from, plus 3 bonus tracks." Features remixes by Phuture 303, DJ Pierre, Robert Armani, Spank-Spank & Professor Trax.

C74:

CASCONE, KIM: Dust Theories CD (C74 004). $12.00

"Kim Cascone's c74 release brings together a number of current strands of his ongoing work as a microsound composer and performer. It presents two expansive slices of emergent pond life generated from the sonic materials familiar to fans of Kim's earlier 'residualist' recordings and a peek at the densely packed audioscapes of the 'New Density' with Edgeboundaries 123. Dust Theories further continues the recombinant themes by including two radically different reworkings of Edgeboundaries 123 by Ben Nevile and DJ4'33". This is the first c74 release to include Max/MSP patches and a standalone application on the CD that lets users experiment with the tools Ben Nevile and DJ4'33" used to generate remix material. Cover photograph by Man Ray."

INOUE AND CARL STONE, TETSU: pict.soul CD (C74 005). $12.00

"pict.soul documents the first meeting between two giants in the experimental, ambient, and post-ambient world. The ten pieces here present a variety of approaches and ways of organizing sound that intermingle in ways guaranteed to vex and delight the serious transpotter for either of the two artists, and — like any good collaboration — ventures to places where the individual artists might not visit while travelling solo."

KLEINSASSER, WILLIAM: Available Instruments CD (C74 006). $12.00

"The migration of the tools of computer music from large specialized systems to 'personal' machines has become a common theme in discussions of art in the new century. Regardless of genre or style, the newly liberated composer faces similar questions regardless of their area of interest: how does one use a computer as an instrument? William Kleinsasser's Available Instruments provides two possible answers. His new c74 release includes two works that match high levels of musicianship from ensembles and soloist with his own compositional concerns about the relationships between timbre, performer, and machine. The title track is a duet for piano and computer whose energy lies in the tectonics of a complex player-controlled interplay between 'memories' of a performance and the human performer. The Double Concerto embodies a different strategy, where the performers collectively vitalize a complex system of memory and transformation composed of interactions with prerecorded, recalled, and reordered versions of performance. It is music with the scale and drama of a great soundtrack — two carefully and fully imagined sonic worlds destined to reward the serious and regular listener."

PEEBLES, SARAH: Insect Groove CD (C74 007). $12.00

"Observing an ecological system and the act of listening to music have much in common; both reveal their subtleties over time as a reward for the attentive eye and ear rather than presenting themselves in a single instant, and they both require a sense of relationship of their parts to the whole. Sarah Peebles' Insect Groove is a set of sonic landscapes for the ear that is, in the words of The Wire, 'a rewarding interface between digital abstraction, group improvisation, 21st century program music, Zen performance and ecological manifesto.' The disc collects a series of works by Sarah Peebles and an A-list of collaborators from the experimental music community (British composer and text artists David Toop and the extended guitar work of Nilan Pererra) and the work of Jin Hi Kim and Ko Ishikawa, traditional musicians known world-wide for their commitment to bringing the sounds of their respective traditional Korean and Japanese court instruments into the new century. The eight tracks on Insect Groove combine Sarah's performance on the sho, an ancient Japanese mouth organ found in the Japanese gagaku orchestra, with her own Max patches that she uses to access clusters of natural and mechanical samples."

CACIOCAVALLO:

LEGENDARY PINK DOTS, THE: All The King's Horses 2LP (CAL 028 LP). $28.00

"Hand numbered limited edition of 500 double LPs, in full-color gatefold cover, with lyric sheet. Side four contains exclusive, previously unreleased material. I began writing the words for All the King's Horses and sister album, All the King's Men (on ROIR), early in 2001 with The Unlikely Event. The piece outlined a scenario which could occur in a society increasingly obsessed with technology. A plane is about to crash and one of the unfortunate passengers feels the need to phone his wife on his mobile, only to receive her voice-mail. A runaway train was set in motion with that song. Pieces were written furiously throughout the rest of the year — before and after September 11th. As a result, All the King's Horses and All the King's Men appear thematic — not by design, but on account of a body of work being made in a period when the World really did change."

NON: Live In Osaka DVD (CAV 025 DVD). $21.00

"Live In Osaka is NON's first DVD. It brings together a trio of far-flung and hard to find (and frequently bootlegged) short films, as well as a number of bonus items that make it a 'must-have' for fans of Boyd Rice (NON). The film that gives this DVD its title, Live In Osaka, is a recording of NON's legendary 1989 live performance in Osaka, Japan. The band consisted of Boyd Rice, along with a star-studded line up including Michael Moynihan (Blood Axis), Rose McDowall (Strawberry Switchblade), Douglas P (Death in June) and Tony Wakeford (Sol Invictus). The second film, Invocation (One), has been out of circulation for years. At the time of its release, Boyd Rice was hailed by European critics as 'the bastard child of Kenneth Anger'. The third film, 'Black Sun', was premiered at the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art in 1996 alongside films by Kenneth Anger and Monte Cazazza. It was included in a retrospective of underground films dealing with occult subject matter. Live In Osaka is coded as a region-free DVD."

CADENCE:

FLAHERTY/RANDALL COLBOURNE/STEVE SCHOLZ, PAUL: Impact LP (CJR 1046). $7.00

All improv sax/drums duo action, with the addition of Steve Scholz (violin). Limited stock.

CADENZA (GERMANY):

LUCIANO + QUENUM: Funky Dondy/Orange Mistake 12" (CADENZA 001 EP). $9.00

"An effortless first collaboration between Luciano and Philippe Quenum, 'Orange Mistake' is of the deep, blood-red, over-ripe variety. Evoking appreciative nods and quiet smiles in back alleys where decisions concerning your physical integrity are taken in a dialect that seemed understandable before that last kindly offered cigarette. Crescending counterpoint rhythms and a deadly, unsterilized organ hook that sends infectious ripples through your spinal fluid. Go sweat it out before someone spots your jaw moving asynchronously. And don't forget to order two copies, one is bound to get stolen on some hazy morning. 'Funky Dandy', an offbeat downplayed stroll through the distorted mind of what sounds like a French football commentator having a pretty rock-bottom Monday morning dealing with his inner child. Then again, it could just be a very cool b-side. Minimal yet subtly complex with a growling funkiness all of its own. Filled with creeping, hand-crafted chords designed to boost mid-season morale better than an organic hay fever remedy."

LUCIANO + BUCCI: Stone Age/Amael 12" (CADENZA 002). $9.00

"On this one Luciano teams up with Pier Bucci, his Latin brother in rhythm and melody, offering us more heartfelt vibes on what is emerging as a special label for unique music by talented producers who happen to be friends. Luciano opens with 'Stone Age', a straight dancefloor rocker with some truly mineral sounds. What begins as mild static soon develops into cracking thunder & lightning ripping through the air with an offbeat, wooden bass, then a disembodied voice hollering at you through a megaphone. It's too late and you keep dancing forward, the groove will carry you home if you don't miss the occasional chords for directions, they're like little gps devices. Having now joined the star-studded European Chile-expats club, Pier Bucchi continues his collaboration with Luciano with renewed inspiration. As a tribute to Lucien's baby boy, on 'Amael' Bucchi dreams up a universe of melancholy with minimal melody, in traditional deep Detroit style as Luciano's trademark synth stabs fade into the background, perhaps quieter than before. Suddenly daddy Luciano, who's providing the backdrop to all this, briefly interrupts Bucchi — and Amael — at play with a quick display of break science: 'hey I can do this, I can do that, and listen to this bass!'. The kids sort of shrug, 'so what?' then go back to painting mental pictures of a world seen through wide-open eyes. A piece of timeless techno music, if you're into that sort of thing."

QUENUM AND LEE VAN DOWSKI: Extension 12 (CADENZA 003EP). $9.00

"Hotly tipped Swiss producer with two subtle, efficient and unmistakably European techno tracks that should inflict a correct amount of damage whenever used. 'Xtension' methodically adds layers of complex loops and wild quirky sounds that build up over time into a massive yet refined techno groove — that could be it, and it would still be worth its salt. But there are these impromptu breaks where everything is flushed down the toilet in an instant, all sounds reduced to an eerie, damp gurgle. Like quicksilver the whole track quickly reshapes itself and presto, bass-heavy minimal techno with a super funky percussion track. The rest is up to you, Quenum & Lee Van Dowski have done their job."

CADUCEUS MUSIC:

CADUCEUS: Process X CD (CAD 001CD). $11.00

Brilliant minimalist reductions, made in the unbelievable country of the United States. For fans of Brinkmann, Profan, etc. Informed and ecstatically produced. "Debut full-length release from Joanne and Christian Althoff, a.k.a. Caduceus. Process X features 8 tracks that are a queasy blend of 4/4 beats, glitches, blips, and home sampling that walks the fine line between the living room and the dance floor."

CAIPIRINHA PRODUCTIONS:

DJ SPOOKY VS. THE FREIGHT ELEVATOR QUARTET: File Under Futurism CD (CAI 2025). $13.00

"The culmination of a six-month collaboration between DJ Spooky and The Freight Elevator Quartet (R. Luke DuBois, Paul Feuer, Rachael Finn, and Stephen Krieger). The recording presents the key elements and ideas of the artists involved, and represents a coherent musical work that takes DJ Spooky's immense talent for aural recontextualization and cultural commentary and merges it with the electroacoustic improvisation and digital savori fare of The Freight Elevator Quartet. The result is a commentary on cultural and aesthetic oppositions, through a musical exposition and juxtaposition of early twentieth century Futurism (imagining a sublime technology) and the exponentially accelerated culture in which we live today." Limited stock.

CAMOBEAR:

MARTINEZ, JOSH: Buck Up, Princess CD (CAMO 003 CD). $15.00

"Containing guest appearances from Awol One, mcenroe, and Governor Bolts, with production from world famous producers DJ Moves, jel, Westainporcelain, Maker, and mcenroe, Buck Up Princess is serious business: next generation rap music, moving from banger to anthem and back again, leaving you with sweaty palms, a nervous tic, and the need to love and be loved."

CANTALOUPE:

BANG ON A CAN: Renegade Heaven CD (CA 21001). $17.00

"Renegade Heaven is the most in-your-face recording to date of the Band on a Can All-Stars. The All-Stars have gained an international reputation for their extreme performances that take virtuosity to a new level and create an unparalleled atmosphere, powered by their unique combination of clarinet, cello, electric guitar, piano, bass and percussion. Renegade Heaven features the band in haunting compositions written just for them, in a fantastical blend of classical, microtonal, rock and pop styles." Pieces performed: Julia Wolfe: Believing, Arnold Dreyblatt: Escalator, Michael Gordon: I Buried Paul, Glenn Branca: Movement Within, Phil Kline: Exquisite Corpses. The Bang On A Can All Stars are: Maya Beiser (cello), Robert Black (bass), Lisa Moore (keyboards), Steven Schick (perc.), Mark Stewart (guitar) & Evan Ziporyn (clarinet).

ZIPORYN, EVAN: This Is Not A Clarinet CD (CA 21002). $17.00

"With a stunning array of slap-tongue drumming, clarinet power chords, and fuzz box-sounding multiphonics, Bang on a Can All-Star Ziporyn changes the instrument forever. An ambient/ethno/noise travelogue....The starting point for all the works are double-edged: musically, they start with acoustics, with the idea that musical substance resides in the entire overtone spectrum (the 'partials' rather than simply in the fundamentals; culturally, that the clarinet is an oral, folk instrument, whose function has always been to mediate between western and non-western music, between classical and non-classical idioms. Thus new works by contemporary American composers (Lang, Tenzer) which spring from vernacular inspirations (James Brown, Croatian vocal music, etc.) are placed next to re-workings of traditional musics from Japan, Bali, and East Africa....The pieces all mediate between worlds, thereby creating unique compositional languages."

LANG, DAVID: The Passing Measures CD (CA 21003). $17.00

David Lang's newest lush and meditative work: a 43-minute ambient extravaganza for bass clarinet, amplified orchestra and women's voices. "More and more I have become convinced that one of the noblest things you can do in a piece of 'serious' music is to allow for an experience that can't happen in your everyday life. My piece is about the struggle to create beauty. A single very consonant chord falls slowly over the course of forty minutes. That is the piece. Every aspect of the piece is on display, however — magnified, examined, amplified, prolonged. The soloist's notes are impossibly long, requiring frequent drop-outs for breath and for rest. The players are all instructed to play as quietly as possible, and then are amplified at high volume, in order to make their restraint an issue of the piece. Four percussionists scrape pieces of junk metal from start to finish, as if to accompany the consonance of the chords with sounds of dirt and decay." — David Lang

RILEY, TERRY: In C CD (CA 21004). $17.00

"In 1964, Terry Riley kicked off a revolution called 'minimalism' with his landmark piece, In C. Starting with a single repeated note, the piece unfolds with a meditative inevitability that inspired the work of Philip Glass and Steve Reich, and set the stage for 'Ambient' and 'New Age' music. Now, Bang on a Can reinterprets this minimalist classic with its exuberant, urban, ethno, loaded-with-attitude sound. In an explosive combination of electric guitar, mandolin, winds, strings, electronics, percussion from around the globe, and the ancient Chinese pipa, Bang on a Can propels this transcendental 60's masterpiece into the future."

KLINE, PHIL: Unsilent Night CD (CA 21005). $17.00

"In what has become a cult holiday tradition, Phil Kline goes 'electronic caroling' through the streets of Greenwich Village with a parade of boomboxes. Creating a euphoric blend of otherworldly voices and bells, Kline's ambient clouds of sound emerge from choirs of boomboxes. This is the first recording of this 21st century ritual. A unique and engaging contribution to the history of holiday music, Unsilent Night makes a truly unusual gift. Phil Kline's musical activities range from being part of Glenn Branca's guitar ensemble to his more recent collaboration with Luc Sante to writing commissions for ensembles across the globe."

DREYBLATT, ARNOLD: The Adding Machine CD (CA 21006). $17.00

"A disciple of LaMonte Young and Alvin Lucier, Arnold Dreyblatt has cultivated a strong underground fan base for his transcendental and ecstatic music. Among the second generation of New York minimalist composers, Dreyblatt has developed a unique and original approach to composition and performance. He has invented a set of new and original instruments, performance techniques and a system of tuning. The Orchestra of Excited Strings is a unique ensemble of strings — plucked, bowed, and struck — composed of instruments designed and built by Dreyblatt to illuminate the strings' hot overtones." Performed by: Robert Black, Jeff Lieberman, Laurel P. Smith, Mark Stewart, Danny Tunick & Evan Ziporyn.

GORDON, MICHAEL: Decasia CD (CA 21008). $17.00

"Decasia is a large-scale single movement relentlessly monumental work about decay — the decay of melody, the decay of tuning, the decay of classical music itself. Following the atmospheric ambience of his recent string orchestra piece Weather (Nonesuch) Michael Gordon's new work retunes a giant amplified orchestra to resemble a piano fallen from a great height, with gripping strings, four detuned pianos, and massive winds and brass. The sound is Mahlerian and huge — stratospheric harmonies decay into another, giant blocks of sounds shift and fall — like an earthquake giving off a tremendous energy."

REICH, STEVE: The Desert Music, Tehillim CD (CA 21009). $17.00

"Cantaloupe presents two Reich masterpieces, definitively performed by Alarm Will Sound and Ossia, led by Alan Pierson. The disc features the world premiere recording of the newly revised version of 'The Desert Music'. It is also the debut of a brilliant young American conductor, who has molded an energetic, tight, optimistic, rhythmic and memorable sound out of these monumental works. About the performance: 'A truly outstanding ensemble. Their recording of Tehillim is an absolute knockout... and this recording sets the standard for how The Desert Music is to be performed. Alan Pierson brings a new generation of expertise and energy that is clearly heard in the faster tempos used throughout.' — Steve Reich."

BANG ON A CAN: Classics CD (CA 21010). $17.00

"Too funky for the academy, the Bang on a Can All-Stars emerged from the scruffy environs of downtown New York playing a new kind of music, with a new kind of energy, for a new kind of audience. This is the music that made them famous — their breakthrough CDs for Sony Classical, newly packaged, remastered onto one 74-minute disc. Music from Bang on a Can co-founders Michael Gordon, David Lang, and Julia Wolfe, Bang on a Can All-Stars member and acclaimed composer-clarinetist Evan Ziporyn, and innovators Nick Didkovsky, Annie Gosfield and Lois Vierk. With this music, Bang on a Can cracked open a powerful new world. Hear why."

WOLFE, JULIA: The String Quartets CD (CA 21011). $17.00

"Bang on a Can co-founder Julia Wolfe has turned the string quartet world upside down with these hip and innovative works. Ferocious and fresh, Wolfe's quartets, played here in blistering performances by the Lark Quartet, Cassatt Quartet and featuring one of the most-talked-about new NYC quartets, Ethel, have been exciting audiences, quartets and critics for the last ten years. Defying classification, Wolfe's music conveys intensity and intimacy, a virtuosity and joy of sound that turns the string quartet into a relentless high voltage vehicle of expression."

LANG, DAVID: Child CD (CA 21013). $17.00

"David Lang follows his highly-acclaimed Cantaloupe debut The Passing Measures with this major new work for seven musicians. Child is a powerful meditation on childhood and memory. Sweet and simple on the surface, gentle musical fragments float by, leaving faint traces of darkness in their wake. The result is at once dramatic and personal, intensely introspective and piercingly beautiful. Written in five separate parts for some of Europe's finest groups, Child is recorded here by the Italian ensemble Senrierr Selvaggi."

RZEWSKI, FREDERIC: Which Side Are You On? CD (CA 21014). $17.00

"The first woman to record Frederic Rzewski's setting of Oscar Wilde's De Profundis, Bang On A Can/Steve Reich pianist Lisa Moore sheds powerful new light on Wilde's jailhouse meditation on imprisonment, debasement and the barriers that he faced as a homosexual. Rzewski, one of the great revolutionary American composers, has created an aggressively emotional soundtrack to Wilde's moving prose. De Profundis breaks down the boundaries between a piano recital and a theatrical experience. Written for a virtuosic pianist also sings, shouts, and declaims, Rzewski's masterpiece is given a gripping re-interpretation by the fiery Moore, who brings a new character to the work through her passionate piano performance and compelling voice."

ZIPORYN, EVAN: Shadow Bang CD (CA 21015). $17.00

"Ziporyn teams up with Balinese singer and shadow puppet master I Wayan Wijia to create a unique cross-cultural music theater event. Shadow Bang combines the magic realism of a Balinese folk narrative with the raucous American sound of the Bang on a Can All-Stars. Singing, shouting, hard-driving tunes, ringing electric guitar — the result is a riot of sound and virtuosity."

ETHEL: Ethel CD (CA 21017). $17.00

"Ethel, New York's most-talked-about string quartet, makes their solo debut with this new full-length CD on Cantaloupe. The disc includes major works by some of today's up-and-coming composers: John King's 'Sweet Hardwood', Phil Kline's 'The Blue Room' and 'Other Stories', Todd Reynolds' 'uh... it all happened so fast' and Evan Ziporyn's 'Be-In' (with special guest, Evan Ziporyn on bass clarinet)."

KLINE, PHIL: Zippo Songs CD (CA 21019). $17.00

"Zippo Songs is a collection of deeply moving and intense songs featuring poetry inscribed on the cigarette lighters of American GIs during the Vietnam war. Kline has set these profound and often desperate poems with a calm and sacred spaciousness that echoes through the listener as if the soldiers themselves are singing to us from the afterlife. Coupled with songs set to texts by current US Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld, Zippo Songs is Kline's fascinating and eloquent statement on war and politics of war, and a fresh and new take on the age-old tradition of the protest song. Phil Kline studied at Columbia University and Mannes College of Music, later founding the art punk band the Del-Bzyanteens with filmmaker Jim Jarmusch, write Luc Sante, and painter James Nares, and worked on film and video projects with artists such as Nan Goldin and Wim Wenders."

GUTBUCKET: Dry Humping the American Dream CD (CA 21021). $17.00

"With in-your-face rock n' roll production, fiery playing, and live energy caught to tape, Gutbucket crashes through genre boundaries to create a gripping soundtrack to 2004. Gutbucket is fearlessly devoted to unique, pushy melodies, high-energy rhythms and improvisational adventures. Their vast repertoire courses through playful circular movement, elastic time twists and rapid-fire banter. This is their second release after their debut Insomniacs Dream (Knitting Factory Records)."

SO PERCUSSION: S&#333; Percussion CD (CA 21022). $17.00

"This self-titled debut recording by a group of young mavericks of the percussion world features the recording premieres of ground-breaking works by David Lang and Evan Ziporyn. Ziporyn's Balinese gamelan-influenced Melody Competition intermixes a lush soundscape with a driving competition between the players. Langs 'so-called laws of nature' (written for So Percussion) is simultaneously meditative and climactic. The group presents these works using traditional percussion instruments found in classical, rock, and world music combined with unique homemade instruments ranging from giant pipes to flower pots."

CAPTAIN TRIP (JAPAN):

HA-ZA-MA: CD (CT 007). $18.00

New Japanese psychedelic rock group, featuring Kurihara (from White Heaven). Not as intense as White Heaven's Out, but definitely in the same style and very good. A subtle lysergic vibe permeates throughout and this is, y'know, a real grower in an ethereal West Coast style.

VEGA POP: Orange CD (CT 009). $18.00

"Band from the Tokyo Underground! Their sound is reminiscent of the Velvet Underground or Television yet uniquely original." Much of this sounds like a Japanese band's demo for getting a gig at Maxwell's (not my idea of heaven), there's much VU appropriation (somebody probably still cares) and there's one staggering feedback track that makes you wonder why they were given lips.

MARBLE SHEEP: Psychedelic Paradise Live '94 CD (CT 010). $16.00

Similar in style to the last couple of dud-like Marble Sheep studio albums (Big Deal, Twiga), but "all songs are freak-out long version. You will feel the paradise on your mind with this CD." Well, okay.

SPACEBOX: Kick Up CD (CT 025). $16.00

2nd album from 1984, similar line-up and musical vein as above, previously issued as a picture disc LP.

HOLDEN, RANDY: Guitar God CD (CT 028). $16.00

This is a 1993 studio session (Holden's first released recording since 1970's Population II). Featuring Blue Cheer's Paul Whaley on drums, this is mostly trio hard rock, with trademark Holden heaviness and terminal thud all over the place. There are other elements of turgid hard rock idiocy that I guess you have to put up with in these situations, but for the most part this will at least amuse and maybe even "blow away" Holden fanatics. Limited stock.

AMON DÜÜL II: Carnival In Babylon CD (CT 033). $18.00

Fourth album from 1972. Limited stock.

AMON DÜÜL II: Nada Moonshine CD (CT 038). $18.00

Reunion album from 1995, first issued on Schneeball in Germany. Meid, Knaup, Karrer, Peter Leopold, etc. return with a contemporary ambient/beat influenced modern rock album. By reunion album standards, I suppose this is par for the course.

AMON DÜÜL II: Kobe (Reconstruction) CD (CT 039). $18.00

Some sort of vaguely Plunderphonic like re-mix album of old classic-era material, prepared by the band in 1996. A stream of 66 seamless minutes that acts as a pleasant foray into contempo sampledelic sound, but not exactly ground-breaking stuff.

LOBA Q: A Chief's Song CD (CT 043). $18.00

Tokyo trio who play ugly American-style college rock.

FARREN/THE DEVIANTS, MICK: Fragments of Broken Probes CD (CT 046). $18.00

"These tracks are alternate recordings, outtakes, remixes and live recordings, that span a period of 1968 to 1996. Sound quality varies greatly on these archive recordings." Psychedelic excess and proto-punk anthems like "Screwed Up," "Lost Johnny," "Half Price Drinks," etc. Mick Farren, Larry Wallis, Paul Rudolph, Sid Bishop, Duncan Sanderson and crew...

AMON DÜÜL II: Live in Tokyo CD (CT 047). $16.00

"Live in Japan '96. Includes old songs 'Deutsch Nepal,' 'Wolf City,' 'Flowers of the Orient,' 'Surrounded by the Stars,' 'Archangels Thunderbird,' & unreleased cover song 'La Paloma'. Featuring Renate, Lothar, Chris." Contemporary rock sound.

KAKASHI: Mountain Love CD (CT 048). $18.00

"From Tokyo underground. This is 2nd album. Sound like early Alice Cooper!?"

VEGA POP: Here Or Alaska CD (CT 049). $18.00

"From Tokyo Underground. This is 2nd album. Velvets meets Okinawa? Strange R&R."

FIFTY FOOT HOSE: Live & Unreleased CD (CT 052). $18.00

Live reunion performance from '95 in SF by this legendary group whose debut album from 1967 is one of the all time great strange psychedelic experiences. Founding member Cork Marcheschi (Echolette Audio Generators, microphones, fishphone, squeaky stick, Theremin, Spark Gap, saw blades, bow-wow yo-yo, amplifier, digital delay) grouped together a new band and performed that material for the first time in 27 years. Like just about every other reunion album from the last 15 years, I'd rather not comment, but this could be worse. "They never changed their sound & spirits! Good quality sound."

CLUSTER: Japan 1996 Live CD (CT 055). $16.00

Recorded live in Tokyo and Osaka on their revolutionary world tour of 1996. I believe this is the same release as the recent Soul Static Sound CD out of the UK. Four long tracks of slowly building digital ambience, as this tour so excellently demonstrated.

DIE KRUPPS: Foundation CD (CT 057). $18.00

The early 80s German industrial/hammer group, with a harsh live set from '81 (Neubauten-styled metal percussion, etc.) and early singles tracks in the Neue Deutsche Welle style, etc.

DUNKELZIFFER: Live CD (CT 058). $18.00

"German mystic group, playing percussive space reggae. Featuring Damo Suzuki (ex-Can)." This is a previously unreleased live recording, from Cologne 1985, and is a CT exclusive release (the following 2 CDs are licensed from the band's FunUndVierzig label in Germany). Dunkelziffer started recording for Pure Freude in 1982, but Suzuki did not join until 1984 with their In The Night album. Although very 80s sounding with some new wave lapsings, these albums feature long percussive-groove tracks, experimental/raw edges and the occasional transcending moment. Damo's vocals distinctly hover across the top, and Can fanatics need to hear these.

DUNKELZIFFER: In The Night CD (CT 059). $18.00

Reissue of their second album, originally issued in 1984. Their first release after Damo Suzuki joined the band. The slickest and most pop-like of the three in terms of production quality.

DUNKELZIFFER: III CD (CT 060). $18.00

Reissue of their third album from 1986 with bonus single/sampler tracks. The most Can-like in spirit and probably the place to start with these.

GYAATEES: I CD (CT 063). $18.00

"Gyaatees are a free style music group by some Sei-sou priests and musicians. 'Sei-sou' has the meaning in Japanese — clean priest who is intellectually handicapped. Great spirits music!" One sprawling 36-minute piece of cacophony, featuring vocals, percussion, didjeri-doo, djembe, saxophones, guitar, synth, clarinet, etc.

LA DÜSSELDORF: Individuellos CD (CT 066). $18.00

Reissue of the 3rd and final album from 1981, originally issued on Teldec. Includes 2 bonus tracks from 1983. Some pleasant synth wave motions, but hardly dramatically innovative or anything. Limited stock; first 2 La Düsseldorf CDs on Captain Trip are now out of print.

SCHWEIZER/MANI NEUMEIER, IRÉNE: European Masters of Improvisation CD (CT 068). $18.00

Free music duets for piano and percussion, recorded live in 1990. Schweizer has been most of the most accomplished pianists in free music, as documented by her Intakt label and other European improv labels like FMP, etc. Neumeier was actually a member of one of her mid-60s trio along with original Guru Guru bassist Uli Trepte.

TIERE DER NACHT: Evergreens CD (CT 069). $18.00

"Mani Neumeier & Luigi Archetti's avant-free-live CD. Tire Der Nacht are good for early Guru Guru fans." Live recordings from 1996 by the Guru Guru drummer and Swiss free guitarist Luigi Archetti.

SAORI VS. DANBALL BAT: Sasori Cocktail CD (CT 070). $18.00

Captain Trip's documentation of "new Japanese rock" has been pretty painful/comical. This split CD might be a touch better, mainly for the oddly slanted glam moves of Danball Bat, but the typical consumer should beware... "Sasori are girls psychedelic/garage group. Sound like girls Jacks! Another one, Danball Bat are psyche/gram/strange group. 60's Japanese meets Pere Ubu? Including member of Toho Sara, Aras Nova."

TIERE DER NACHT: Hot Stuff CD (CT 073). $16.00

Reissue of the first Tiere Der Nacht album, recorded 1991, previously issued by Rec Rec in Switzerland. German percussionist and Guru Guru founding member Mani Neumeier on drums, percussion, tapes, trombone, vocals, steel drum, Gamelan & radio. Swiss improviser Luigi Archetti on guitars, bass, tapes & mandolin. Totally flipped out rock/improv hybrid that is quite effective.

TIERE DER NACHT: Wolpertinger CD (CT 074). $16.00

Reissue of their 2nd album, recorded in Germany, 1993. Neumeier (drums, perc., radio, Gamelan, tapes, voice, special effects) & Archetti (guitars, bass, mandolin, voice, pipes). "Integrating themselves into the sound of nature, or stretching out their feelers, reaching the chaotic realms of unheard soundwaves surrounding us, they may also become devouring monsters, eating up your guts, brain and ears like roaring chainsaws through inventions and delicate discoveries make it a pleasant journey in wonderland, starting in a freak orbit and looping through unto the last call."

PETERSON, DICKIE: Child Of The Darkness CD (CT 077). $18.00

The first ever solo album from the voice of Blue Cheer. Backed by a German hard rock trio, these appear to be recent recordings but the ambience is purely leather trouser puffin metal blues/rock that could easily date from say '75 or so. Not offensive per se, but only for those whose still feel allegiance to the cause.

DINGER, THOMAS: Für Mich CD (CT 078). $18.00

"Thomas Dinger (ex-Neu!, La Düsseldorf's) romantic solo album. Original was released in 1982. Includes 2 bonus tracks (unreleased)." Reissue of the lone solo album from Klaus Dinger's brother. Thomas plays most everything himself (organs, synthies, piano, tubular bells, drums) with guest help from La Düsseldorf's Hans Lampe and this is a relative classic and often overlooked item in the late German scene, a solid dose of crystal mystery and that pumping Düsseldorf sound.

LA! NEU?: Zeeland CD (CT 086). $18.00

"New stuff of K. Dinger's group. Studio live style. Electronics wave + acid folk taste." Very low key, female vocals, minimal pop, with piano, guitars, synthesizers, Japanese bells, tambourine, etc. Pleasant elektro dinkery and a new form of monolithic simplicity from Klaus (Neu!, La Düsseldorf) Dinger. Has some serene acoustic tracks and a bit of a classic in the 16 minute "Dank Je Sanne", with its sweeping post-Kraftwerk-ian melodies. Real M.E.N. won't stand for it, but fuck 'em.

LA! NEU?: Rembrandt CD (CT 087). $18.00

"This is in a La!Neu?'s name. But, all songs were played by Rembrandt (La!Neu?) with big support of Klaus Dinger. La! Neu? family album. Sound like completely electro world." The 3rd album under this name is mostly solo album by La! Neu?'s Rembrandt Lensink of synthesized structure and fields of sound, shuffling between beat-inflicted tracks with more ambient sampled sources — somewhat of a divide between old Kraut space/synth outbursts and primitive concrete works. And little to none of the more pop influence that has shown up on previous La! Neu? albums. The information found inside the booklet says: "Yes, this is a one instrument direct recording without computer, external sequencer or multi-track mixing. No, it's more a spontaneous compilation of noise events, not a high-tech music production. All tracks by (except 22), photography & artwork by Rembrandt Lensink. Track 22 by Dinger & Lensink."

DEVIANTS: Human Garbage CD (CT 092). $18.00

"Live from '84. Feat: Wayne Kramer (MC5). They play some cover songs: 'Ramblin Rose' (MC5), 'Trouble Coming Every Day' (Zappa). Japan press only."

TIERE DER NACHT: Sleepless CD (CT 096). $18.00

A new Tiere Der Nacht album, recorded in Düsseldorf, Germany 12/97. The duo of Luigi Archetti (guitars, bass, vocals, electronics, basics) & Mani Neumeier (drums, percussion, voice, Pro One), with guests Dieter Moebius (synthesizer), Roland Schaeffer (Nadaswaram) & Atarva (voice). Deeply grooved songs in a now almost familiar TDN style.

LA! NEU?: Cha Cha 2000 — Live In Tokyo 2CD (CT 100/1). $32.00

Double CD live album from La! Neu?'s tour of Japan, 12/96. Consists of a 1 hour 45 minute version of "Cha Cha 2000"! "It was repeated/continued/nobody could stop and repeated...this primitive beat is where innocence of live can be hear, it was also a delightful rhythm of live, too." — Ken Matsutani.

FARREN, MICK: Vampires Stole My Lunch Money CD (CT 103). $16.00

Mick Farren, the singer for the Deviants and a leading philosophical figure in Europe's underground rock movement (1967+), released this as his 2nd solo album in 1978 (Mona, from 1970 would ostensibly be his first) — and it's one of the more inexplicably great rock records of England's alcoholism-is-culture scene. Opening with a riveting version of the Mother's "Trouble Coming Every Day" (backing vocals by fucking Chrissie Hynde and Curved Air's Sonja Kristina!), this record documents the pounding blur of the mid-70s pub-into-punk evolution as well anything you could name. Wilko Johnson and Larry Wallis apply guitars in totally burning fashion, the production is full & tubby and at least a handful of tracks have a near-chilling anthemic status. The downside is that every song is about having a drink, finding a drink, hopefully getting a drink for half-price, or falling down. It's 1998 and if brain-cell-destruction is really a topic for conversation, well, you might want to just run over to the nearest bridge, 'cause they're still made for jumping. That said, this record has it's place and maybe some of you will want to find it.

SUZUKI BAND, DAMO: Vernissage CD (CT 105). $18.00

"Live from '90. Members are Damo Suzuki (ex-Can, Dunkelziffer), Jaki Liebezeit (ex-Can, Phantom Band), Dominik von Senger & Matthias Keul are from Dunkelziffer. They also play old Can numbers 'Halleluwah,' & 'Mushroom.'" This is a German pressing, distributed by Captain trip, packaged in a nicely designed corrugated cardboard sleeve. It appears to document an entire live performance in Austria. The approach is more rooted in basic rock perhaps, but for those infatuated with the activities of Damo & Jaki it's a necessary pile-shifter.

KICKBIT INFORMATION: Bitkicks CD (CT 121). $16.00

First issue of live recordings from 2/22/75, by a group led by Uli Trepte (ex-Guru Guru, pre-Spacebox). Intense, primitively recorded improvisational rock-jazz, led by Trepte's bass, with Carsten Bohn (drums), Willie Pape (woodwinds), Otto Richter (violin) & Fritz Hegi (electric piano). "Common to all us — besides our fondness for psychedelia and our efforts not to separate life from work — was the undisputed intention not to play Anglo-Saxon leaning rock, but something specifically our own (Cental European) and above all bereft of standardized circle of fifths changes in the function harmonics. In order to achieve this we relied on my already quite well developed method to put the musical theme into the lower voice, in this case the bass guitar, thus giving the descent plenty of room for free excursions." — Trepte.

LA! NEU?: Gold Regen (Gold Rain) CD (CT 123). $18.00

A somber, piano-driven studio album by the La! Neu? crew: Klaus Dinger, Rembrandt Lensink, Viktoria Wehrmeister, Nikolaus Van Rhein, and Renate Dinger (Klaus Dinger's mother!). Recorded in 1998. Trademark Dinger beats pop up here and there, but this is mostly a soft, pleasant, classicist album focusing on mood-intensive whispered female vocals from Viktoria."

DUNKELZIFFER: Colours and Soul CD (CT 158). $18.00

The fourth Dunkelziffer CD to be released via Captain Trip and the group's Fünfundvierzig label. It includes their earliest EP recordings from 1982, which were originally released by the legendary Pure Freude label (before Can vocalist Damo Suzuki became involved with them). These tracks are pretty classic new wave ethno trance and have certainly aged well. This CD also includes various outtakes from 1983, which are also pre-Damo and of interest. If Can-tangibles are what it takes to get you excited, Reebop Kwaku Baah is a main percussionist for Dunkelziffer and Jaki Liebezeit contributed bongos to one track!

1-A DUSSELDORF: Fetteleber CD (CT 160). $18.00

"New project of Thomas Dinger (ex-Neul!, La Düsseldorf) and N. Christiansen. Japanese-only release."

BLUEPOINT UNDERGROUND: In New York City CD (CT 161). $18.00

Music and lyrics by Eberhard Kranemann, Caroline Keufen and Oliver Blum. Music containing elements of computerization and traditional instrumentation. Lyrics incorporating quotations from newspapers, www, owners manuals, Artaud, Michaux, Beckett, Sloterdijk, Walasse Ting. A spontaneous sound-and-word collage, performed by Bluepoint Underground at Klaus Dinger's Lilienthal studio in Düsseldorf."

DEVIANTS: Have Left The Planet CD (CT 163). $18.00

"New recordings + live + rare tracks. Feat.: A. Colquhoun, P. Rudolph, L. Wallis, A. Powell, etc. Japan only." Includes live material from LA (1995), Terrastock (1997), London (1977), Terrastock2 (1998).

GURU GURU: '98 Live 3CD (CT 164/66). $46.00

Triple live CD from Guru Guru. The first two discs feature live performances in German, 1998. The 2nd disc includes a supergroup formation that features the addition of Damo Suzuki, Michael Karoli, Ax Genrich, Ingo Bischof, etc. The third disc in this set is a "special gift" of a live performance from Frankfurt 1971 by the Neumeier/Trepte/Genrich trio. The tracks are: "Der LSF Marsch", "Girl Call" & "Space Ship". It's pretty heavy duty stuff and a nice tip of the hat to congratulate you on wading all the way through discs 1 & 2.

SUZUKI BAND, DAMO: P.R.O.M.I.S.E. 7CD (CT 167/73). $110.00

"Live from 1987-1990. Feat.: Damo Suzuki (ex-Can, Dunkelziffer), Jaki Liebezeit (ex-Can), etc." German pressing released by Damo's Net Work, with Japanese obi added. Heavy duty box set, containing 7 CDs, each with their own digipak sleeve.

HA-ZA-MA: Once Upon A Time CD (CT 174). $18.00

2nd album of Japanese underground psych by this group, led by guitarist Kurihara (White Heaven, Cosmic Invention). Recorded over the years 1996-99, this is crafted duel guitar rock in the post-Quicksilver mode.

FARREN, MICK: Mona CD (CT 175). $16.00

Reissue of the first solo Mick Farren solo album (following the dissolution of the Deviants), originally issued by Transatlantic in 1970 (and reissued by Psycho in 1984). Features Steve Hammond (guitar), Twink (drums), Shagrat the Vagrant (Steve Took) (guitar & percussion), etc. A curious rock opera of sorts, featuring "heavy" covers of the likes of "Summertime Blues," spoken excerpts of street-life interviews and other confusing junk to the delight of half-assed drinkers worldwide.

LA! NEU?: Live In Tokyo 1996 Vol. 2 2CD (CT 176/77). $32.00

Live from 1996 in Tokyo, a sequel to the previous double live set: CT 100/1, Cha Cha 2000 — Live In Tokyo. This CD opens up with about 6 minutes of various audio verite documentation of Klaus Dinger walking around at soundcheck-time, saying "hello" to promoters, stagehands, anybody else unfortunate enough to get near him. One of those outrageous tactics where Klaus gets to pound his chest and exclaim, "look at me, I'm fucking braindead! Again!" The sound of shuffling feet has never been so "special". Very, very special. After that a couple of near silent tinkering ambient tracks follow and then a full band live version of "Viva" snaps you out of your coma. Recorded "bootleg style" with two mics direct to DAT, hold on to your pulsations. The 2nd disc features some songs, interminable stage banter, probably some other stuff.

DEVIANTS: Barbarian Princes CD (CT 189). $18.00

Live in Japan, 1999. Mick Farren (vocals), Andy Colquhoun (guitar), Doug Lunn (bass), Ric Parnell (drums).

BLUE CHEER: Hello Tokyo, Bye Bye Osaka: Live In Japan 1999 CD (CT 190). $18.00

Trio of Dickie Peterson (bass, vocals), Paul Whaley (drums) and Andrew Duck MacDonald (guitar), live in Japan, at the behest of their label, Captain Trip.

OHR MUSIK: Friction Burns CD (CT 191). $18.00

"Experimental electronics group from England, but full of German rock feelings." Recorded at Sundial, London, 1998, a spaced out rock production indebted to the classic Krautrock era.

ROEDELIIUS, HANS-JOACHIM: Selfportrait VII CD (CT 193). $18.00

The latest solo work from the sensitive side of Cluster. An album of meditative keyboards, digital production and organic serenity. Roedelius's ability to go deep into the apparent void of such soft sound construction is endlessly impressive.

TREPTE, ULI: Real Time Music CD (CT 205). $16.00

1996 release of a 1991 recording, licensed from ATM, Germany. Features: Trepte (bass), Edgar Hofmann (saxes, clarinets, flutes), Marika Falk (stick & brush percussion, Dombak, Djembe, Tarabukka, Caxici), Andy Kohlmann (perc.). "A music emphasizing minor keys, a functional modal-harmonic, cyclically structured authentic music that, as it sets out at another place, does not sound like Free or Mainstream, but that swings excitingly nevertheless, that contains logic solos with an individual but still beguiling sound, and which even pays its respects to the blues although in quite an unusual way."

OUT TO LUNCH: Speakers CD (CT 213). $18.00

"Featuring Kohji Nishino (Ghost, Overhang Party). An arousing exchange of ambient sound from bass, drums, and keyboard. Recorded in an art gallery." Kohji Nishino (electric bass), Iwao Yamazaki (drums), Taiko Yoshizaki (synthesizer). "In 1994 I built unusual speakers for a solo exhibition. They could put out only at extremely low volume, but the sound they produced was totally pure. I connected our instruments to them to test how it would sound. The results are recorded here." — Iwao Yamazaki.

S.Y.P.H.: CD (CT 219). $18.00

"Original was released in 1980. German punk/new wave group. Remastered by Pyrolator." Classic German abrasion, originally released on the Pure Freude label. First album this by group, later produced by Holger Czukay.

ANGELBLOOD: CD (CT 222). $18.00

Angel Blood is a trio of girls from Texas: Rita Ackermann, Lizi Dark and Jesse. "All 3 members play drums, guitar, bass and sing, like lo-fi Shaggs sound from wood. Recorded in 1999." Has the klang-like euphoria of Free Kitten at their most flu-ridden, a teen spirit folk-metal drone, minus the couch. Your basic lip painter's dream & easily the most vital non-reissue release from Captain Trip to date.

FANKHAUSER, MERRELL: Return To Mu CD (CT 237). $18.00

"Heavenly sound from the reunion of his own band MU. Based on Maui island, Hawaii in the mid-70s. Some tracks include John Cipolina, Nicky Hopkins, Ed Cassidy (Spirit), etc." This CD features a continuation of the sound found on the Subliminal Sounds Maui album (SUBL CD03). Three tracks are reprinted from that album, including "On Our Way To Hana" & "Waterfall", but these are different versions recorded with variant line ups. A slightly more produced take on very spiritual acoustic style of Maui, it still connects with Merrell's idyllic Maui lifestyle, and that's enough.

1-A DUSSELDORF: D.J.F. CD (CT 251). $18.00

"The third album from 1-A Düsseldorf. D.J.F. stands for Deutsch Japanische Freundschaft (German Japanese Friendship). Limited press of 1000." The group is: Thomas Dinger (drums, keyboards, sax, bass, video), Nils Kristiansen (guitar, keyboards, vocals, painting), Giuseppe Favitta (guitar). Studio recordings made at Rheinland Studios in Germany. Poster sleeve. Thanks to Klaus Dinger, anti-Germanofon spiel, etc. Largely instrumental synth-pop drone meanderings of a reasonable quality.

1-A DUSSELDORF: Live CD (CT 305). $18.00

"4th album of Thomas Dinger (ex-Neul!, Düsseldorf) and Nils Kristiansen. Experimental trance sound. Limited 1000 copies. Japan only."

DEVIANTS, THE: Ptooff! CD (CT 311). $18.00

Limited Japanese pressing if poster sleeve. First album from 1967, one of the true highlights of underground UK rock of the era. "In the late 60s The Deviants were something like the British equivalent to the Fugs, with touches of the Mothers of Invention and the British R&B-based rock of the Yardbirds and Pretty Things. Their simplistic riffing anticipated acts like the Stooges for an inspired collision of punk attitude and psychedelic eclecticism."

LA! NEU?: Live At Kunsthalle Dusseldorf 2CD (CT 344/45). $32.00

"New album by Klaus Dinger. Including the song 'Time' from La Düsseldorf. Recorded live 1998 in Düsseldorf, Germany. 2 CD set. Japan only." Features some really extended (20 & 30+ minute) trance-out tracks, that really aren't that bad. I know, when it comes to Klaus, we have to re-convince ourselves every time...

VELVET UNDERGROUND: Final V.U. 1971-1973 4CD (CT 350). $55.00

A boxset of previously unreleased Velvets material, licensed from the Doug Yule Archives. Performers include: Doug Yule, Maureen Tucker, Willie Alexander, Walter Powers, Rob Norris, Mark Nauseef, Billy Yule, Don Silverman. Note: NOBODY NAMED LOUIS REED APPEARS ANYWHERE ON THIS BOX SET. A Japanese-only release, limited to 3000 copies worldwide. VU bootleg vets will be familiar with the oxidized cassette sound quality, but just like President #43, Doug Yule needs to have his day in the sun & here it is. "Disc One: November 5, 1971, School Of African And Oriental Studies, London. Disc Two: November 19, 1971, Concertgebouw, Amsterdam, Netherlands. Disc Three: December 6, 1972, St David's University, Lampeter, Wales. Disc Four: May 27, 1973, Oliver's, Boston, Massachusetts".

MARU SANKAKU SHIKAKU: 3CD (CT 362/64). $36.00

The group's name is literally the icons for a "circle", "triangle" and "Square", with "Maru Sankaku Shikaku" substituting as a translation for those images. This is a very strange & unexpected reissue of this lo-fi (surface noise included!) performance group that existed from 1970 to 1973 in various Japanese suburbs, led by Sakuro "Kant" Watanabe (guests include Reck from Friction and Chiko-Hige). It looks like the group made 5 self released records in 1973, three of which are reissued here. "Performance group from early 70's Tokyo underground scene. Original LPs are very limited private pressing 3 LP set. Featuring the members of Murahachibu and Friction. Sounds like Taj Mahal Travelers meets Third Ear Band. Special poster cover 3CD."

DORAU, ANDREAS: Demokratie CD (CT 403). $16.00

Japanese-only reissue. "The third album of German Pop singer in 1988 on Ata Tak, Lyrical cute songs. For those who like guitar pop."

DER PLAN: Japlan CD (CT 404). $16.00

Japanese-only CD reissue of what was originally a Japanese-only LP in the 80s, issued in support of a Der Plan tour. "Der Plan is a German music art group who is running an independent label Ata Tak. The original LP was released only in Japan in 1985. Including 12" EP track, 2 unreleased tracks. Japan only."

MOEBIUS + NEUMEIER: Live In Japan CD (CT 435). $16.00

"Live recordings from 2002 west Japan tour. Featuring: Moebius (ex Cluster, Harmonia), Neumeier (Guru Guru, Tiere Der Nacht, Lover 303). Sounds like Zero Set. Japan press only."

CAR PARK RECORDS:

MANDELL, JAKE: The Placekick EP CD (CRPK 001). $8.00

"We're excited to present The Placekick EP: 7 tracks made three million years in the future by a 24 year old raised by cats, fed by curry, and mentored by a senile artificial intelligence." The CD is sorta football-shaped, you'll have to see it to, uh, "believe" it. If you're lucky, you might stumble in front of a highly accelerated train before your eyes ever meet up with such a site.

MARUMARI: Ballad Of The Round Ball CD (CRPK 002 CD). $12.00

"Formed in the 2000th year of the new history. All the cultures and races of the universe were now in alliance, and interstellar travel and trade resulted. Ships flew freely from one planet to another, and all seemed well among the galaxies... then Marumari arrived. Originally from the planet Earth before emigrating to Zebes, Marumari's career began as a young man reading *Omn*i magazine in upstate New York. From there, he acquired the scientific skills of a certified space hunter and hence initiated his travels throughout the galaxy. Upon coming into contact with the musical people of Chozo, Marumari realized that his future lay in communicating the sounds he had often heard in his head as a young man while riding his bike up to the local Dairy Queen. From that point, Marumari took leave of his position in the space hunters and purchased a small villa on the remote planet of Tourian. Here he began his journey as a messenger of the future. The first product of these sessions has been transmitted back to Marumari's home planet Earth and has been named Ballad Of The Round Ball. Interceptors have called the sounds 'electronic pop music'."

MARUMARI: Ballad of the Round Ball LP (CRPK 002 LP). $10.00

TAKAHASHI, SO: Nubus CD (CRPK 003 CD). $12.00

"Hailing from Yokohama, Japan, but currently living in New York, So has been making music in his home studio for over 4 years now. Utilizing his collection of vintage Roland drum machines, some guitars, a theremin, and sounds from his kitchen and fax machine, so has constructed in Nubus a new audio plateau resting somewhere in between ambient melodicism and structured noise. So is continually trying to reconcile his love of club music with more 'non-body' musics. While his first CD is specifically aimed at the dancefloor, Nubus seeks out an area somewhere just outside the club after closing. Here one can hear traces of Cologne (Studio 1), structured noise (a la Ryoji Ikeda), and Japanese pop. There are other musical dichotomies that are constantly being negotiated as well: 'order vs. chaos', 'pop vs. un-pop', 'mechanics vs. organics'. In the end, So demonstrates how futile these dichotomies ultimately are at the end of the millenium, and brings us to a greater understanding and appreciation of music through music."

TAKAHASHI, SO: Nubus LP (CRPK 003 LP). $9.00

MARUMARI: The Wolves Hollow CD (CRPK 004 CD). $13.00

"With this, Marumari's third full length (and their second for Carpark) we find our young space traveler in a state of transition. The first half of the record emerges from the interests on Marumari's Ballad of the Round Ball, where strange, decontextualized tones integrated freshly with space-age melodies and glitchy robust beats. The second half of The Wolves Hollow finds Marumari pursuing different ideas. Here he is less concerned with the song and more concerned with layers (I hate to use the word tracks). Listened to as a whole, it is a masterful statement sure to please all those in tune with the future."

MARUMARI: The Wolves Hollow LP (CRPK 004 LP). $10.00

TAKAHASHI, SO: 12" (CRPK 005.6). $7.50

"Carpark is repressing the first So Takahashi 12". We are keeping the attractive record sleeve and the 31 locked grooves, but So presents a new ambient track for the a-side. The new a-side is quite different from the old one. While still retaining the ambient feel of the original track, So has introduced percussion elements into this composition. More shaken and stirred than bleepy and sparky, this track could be dubbed music for fleeting moments (e.g. first love, car crashes, et al.) If one could elongate the process of a cork coming off a champagne bottle to 18 minutes, this would be the musical accompaniment. The b-side contains 31 locked grooves."

KID 606: The Soccergirl EP CD (CRPK 006 CD). $8.50

"Kid 606 ushers in the second installment of the Carpark Sports-fan CD series with The Soccergirl EP. This special CD, with a soccerball shaped disc and soccerfield surface inspired traycard, is sure to cause some lively debate with the punters. With this recording, Mr. 606 makes a departure from many of his previous recordings. Those associating the sixer with punk/gabba inspired mayhem or glitchy/cutty style poppity-pop will be in for a big surprise. Instead, The Soccergirl EP offers six tracks of melody-suffused ambient electronics in a style reminiscent of early Kraftwerk or To Rococo Rot."

TAKAHASHI, SO: 30/30 CD (CRPK 007 CD). $13.00

"30 minutes of audio for 30 empty rooms; this is the theme of So Takahashi's new 30/30 CD for Carpark. Given 30 photos of empty or unused rooms, So has playfully constructed narrative and memory within. The photos, taken by Fumiko Nozawa, were displayed in galleries and clubs throughout North America and Europe as the 30 minute audio piece played out. As the exhibit is no longer available for viewing, Carpark thought the best way to have a more permanent artefact of this experience was to release the audio on a CD with the 30 photos in a CD booklet. In the audio, ideas appear and disappear just as humans and other animals enter and leave a room. Not quite happy to remain out of a space, an idea will return later in the piece tampered or with additional data about it. Though So Takahashi has firmly placed his own audio interpretation on these rooms, he still leaves quite a bit to the participant. The piece can be listened to on its own or while perusing the photos. More to the point, the photos can be looked at in a number of different ways and orders. Listen and hear voices talking, crickets chirping, maybe even the hum of a heater or air conditioning unit."

MANDELL, JAKE: Love Songs For Machines CD (CRPK 008CD). $12.00

"Once set in motion, these songs express what words cannot: the ineffable sensations accorded to desire and attachment. Much has been said about the dehumanizing aspects of computer technology. Jake Mandell revises these luddite notions and claims the computer as the 20th century humanizer par excellence. Love Songs... leaves no computer music movement untouched. From the poppy new waveness of New Order and early Human League, to the unique timbres and rhythms can only be achieved with late 20th century computer software, this CD brings the last 50 years of computer music history together into one very bold emotional statement."

MANDELL, JAKE: Love Songs For Machines LP (CRPK 008LP). $10.00

MARUMARI: Supermogadon CD (CRPK 009 CD). $13.00

"Carpark is pleased to present the 4th full length recording from Marumari (his 3rd for Carpark) entitled Supermogadon. The continuing effects of interstellar space travel combined with extended stays in New England have created even more musical building blocks for our young space traveler to work with. Dare we call Supermogadon more 'mature' even though Marumari is ageless? Our boy has taken elements of smooth jazz, 80s alternative rock, and 70s American radio hits and given them a more playful digital interpretation. Sadly for marketing departments around the world, this is dance music that fits no currently existing dance genre."

MARUMARI: Supermogadon LP (CRPK 009 LP). $10.00
LP version.

MASAKATSU, TAKAGI: Pia 2CD (CRPK 010 CD). $17.00

"Takagi Masakatsu is a video maker who creates music. Takagi Masakatsu is a musician who creates video, or maybe Takagi Masakatsu is a documentary filmmaker, which ever one you prefer, Takagi is an artist who is wholly dedicated to exposing and preserving the human experience at the start of our burgeoning new century. Bringing new meaning to the phrase 'think globally, act locally,' Takagi has travelled the world collecting pieces of sound and video in which he constructs a fluid and timeless snapshot of our current human condition. Takagi employs samples of speaking children with their 'real' sounds such as the weather, his own piano playing, and various recorded sounds throughout his and other people's homes, after collecting this raw material, Takagi blends it into his laptop arrangements and manipulations to create a very new type of ambient music. One CD comprises the melodic ambient nature of Takagi's audio creations, while the 2nd CD is a CD-Rom featuring 5 audio/video pieces."

MISS DINKY: Kill The Bass Kick EP 12" (CRPK 011). $7.50

"Chilean-born NYC resident Alejandra Iglesias (aka Miss Dinky) possesses a unique perspective on dance culture: she actually studied dance and piano during her academic years in Chile. Those familiar with Dinky's work often find it divided into two major branches: ambient and techno. Much of her material for the Traum label falls into the former while Kill the Bass Kick firmly stands in techno terrain, Miss Dinky has a sharp sense of how to interweave melodic lines into simple drum patterns to create what we like to call "the Dinky sound": as equally accessible and enjoyable in the bedroom as on the dancefloor."

DAVIS, GREG: Arbor CD (CRPK 012 CD). $13.00

"Is this a rock record, a folk record or electronic record? Surely the rockers will think it's 'electronic', while the computer kids will find it 'rockist', and well... who knows what the folk listeners will think. Regardless, Greg Davis has created a record that truly transcends these marketing genres. Arbor is something wholly new that manages to incorporate all these elements and more. In structural and aesthetic terms, think of a mix between John Fahey's early acoustic records, Fennesz's Endless Summer, and Jim O'Rourke's solo work. Carpark is certain that Arbor is the harbinger of a new type of music we like to think of as 'laptop folk'. It isn't already obvious, laptop IS the new folk."

DAVIS, GREG: Arbor LP (CRPK 012 LP). $10.00

LP version.

MARUMARI: The Remixes CD (CRPK 014 CD). $13.00

"In the works for many years, meticulously prepared and fine-tuned by Marumari's friends, Carpark presents the much-anticipated Marumari remix CD. The list of remixers reads like a who's who of Marumari's IM buddy list: Electric Company (tigerbeat6), Robert Lippok (from To Rococo Rot), Casino vs. Japan (wobblyhead, city centre offices, and future carpark recording artist), Lackluster (defocus), Cex (tigerbeat6), Greg Davis (darpark), L'usine (isophlux, hymen), Octopus Inc. (kracfive), Stars As Eyes (tigerbeat6), and Colongib (kracfive). The CD also includes the ever-popular 'baby m' music video (which made its way onto MTV2 last year), a short video piece about Marumari's dog bacon (with remixed audio by miami's o9), and mp3s from Vim, Kettel (planet-mu), Multiplex, Buddy System, Phluidbox, Yupster (8 bit peoples), Proem (merck), Thug (defocus), and Atomly (atomiky)."

NORIHIDE, OGURUSU: Humour CD (CRPK 015 CD). $13.00

"Humour, Ogurusu's debut for Carpark, blends aspects of pop, techno, and Japanese folk using an array of instruments like guitar, bass, keyboard, powerbook, recorder and percussion. Bundling the two self-released EPs Study and I, Humour takes in an astonishing range of sound, from the intimate acoustic guitar solo of the first track (simply titled '0:52') to the purely digital abstractions of the fifth ('5:20'). Ogurusu shows he is one of the leading purveyors of minimal pop. Listening to Humour conjures up comparisons to such seemingly disparate artists as the Beatles, Brian Eno, Jorge Ben, and Taylor Deupree."

MASAKATSU, TAKAGI: Opus Pia DVD (CRPK 016 DVD). $17.00

"Along with the opus pia audio CD, this DVD (a first for carpark) realizes one of Takagi Masakatsu's core beliefs: tiny miracles in daily life. In Takagi's own words, 'as SILICOM (name of unit I've been working in since 1999) I've created video works with lots of computer effects. In this opus pia, I didn't use any effects on the image. I just used the intact video images, it is kind of hard for me to present these movies because I used to regard them as a 'material' not a 'stand-alone work.' This time, I used my oldest computer sounds, as I could recognize the vision of linking by computerized sounds and natural images in my last travels around the world.' Alternating between the harmonically sublime and the day to day, opus pia makes our world that much smaller." Running time: 30 min.

MASAKATSU, TAKAGI: Opus Pia CD (CRPK 017 CD). $13.00

"Meant as a companion piece to the opus pia dvd, Takagi Masakatsu's opus pia CD fully realizes one of his core beliefs: tiny miracles in daily life. Only 23 years old, Takagi Masakatsu has already presented his sound and video work in art galleries and clubs throughout Japan, America, and Europe. With this opus pia CD, Takagi has taken sounds from his travels around the world (locations include Nepal, Cuba, America, France, Indonesia, Turkey, Greece, Thailand, Germany, Switzerland, Canada, and Japan.) He has remixed the original audio from the opus pia dvd into three different tracks: opus pia, re pia1, and re pia 2. Each piece is a meditation on sampled moments occurring throughout the world. Sounds of human experience interweave with Takagi's piano and computer sounds to create a captivating dance that blurs the distinction between song and documentary. 'Harmony', an extended sound collage, is pure audio travelogue, taking the listener to the aforementioned places in just under twenty-eight minutes. Closing off the CD is 'and then...', Takagi's newest track with artist/girlfriend Shinako on vocals. As Takagi states: 'this time, I used my oldest computer sounds, as I could recognize the vision of linking by computerized sounds and natural images in my last travels around the world.' Alternating between the harmonically sublime and the day to day, opus pia makes our world that much smaller."

CASINO VERSUS JAPAN: Whole Numbers Play The Basics CD (CRPK 018 CD). $13.00

"Whole Numbers Play The Basics is altogether a moodier, more introspective record. The distinctive melodic songwriting is still there, but the textures and structures are chosen from a wider musical palette. While Go Hawaii was all bliss and summer joy, Whole Numbers Play The Basics is the sound of life after the endless summer. If Go Hawaii was Casino Versus Japan's 'Surfin Safari', then Whole Numbers Play The Basics is his 'Pet Sounds.' Hip-hop beats, dark tones, airy melodies, and hearty bass patterns show off a musical mind informed by sources ranging from the classic works of David Axelrod and Pink Floyd to more contemporary heroes like Boards of Canada and My Bloody Valentine, this one is a true feast for lovers of sound."

SIGNER: Low Light Dreams CD (CRPK 020 CD). $13.00

"First forward-thinking musicians began experimenting with electronic instruments, then some abandoned the traditional band setup (and the band) entirely for the computer. It's a trend that has been observed by New Zealand native Bevan Smith (aka Signer) for many years. Abandoning his indie rock past and embracing the burgeoning 'electronic' scene of the mid 90s, Bevan created many gorgeous IDM and ambient techno records as Aspen and Signer. Yet after a while he felt constrained by the digital music making process. It had become as formulaic as the indie rock he abandoned in the 90s. It was time once again for something new. Low Light Dreams explores a sound that Bevan himself calls 'nu-indie': incorporating elements from first-wave post-rockers like Seefeel, dub-influenced techno, and some of the more blissed-out items from the Kranky Records' catalog."

SIGNER: Low Light Dreams 2LP (CRPK 020 LP). $13.00

Double LP version.

242.PILOTS: Live In Bruxelles DVD (CRPK 021 DVD). $17.00

"Utilizing their own custom software created with the innovative and controversial nato.0 + 55 programming environment, 242.pilots expressively improvise rich, layered works in real-time as soloists, in duo, or as a trio. The performance software created by HC Gilje, Lukasz Lysakowski, and Kurt Ralske (formerly of 4AD group Ultra Vivid Scene and late 90s electronic outfit Cathars) allows video to be controlled in a fluid and expressive manner. In group improvisation, the three artists respond and interact with each other with the intuitive subtlety found in the best free jazz ensembles. The end product is a complex visual conversation, a quasi-narrative exploring degrees of abstraction and the nature of the sign, or just raw retinal delight. 242.pilots' work explores the uncharted territory of simultaneous audio/visual improvisation, improvised audio might be used to generate video output, or improvised video might be used to generate audio. (Or, both control mechanisms might work simultaneously, in a feedback loop of control + controlling.) The Live In Bruxelles DVD includes one improvised trio piece (with audio by Justin Bennett), three solo pieces, and a short documentary on 242.pilots." NTSC region-free.

KIT CLAYTON VS. SAFETY SCISSORS: Ping Pong CD (CRPK 022 CD). $9.00

"Playfulness, competition, innocence, cruelty, excitement, anxiety, ping, pong. A fast-paced volley of broken thoughts and insecurities, this story charts the wavering desires of two petty humans trying desperately to conform to an undiscoverable standard. In this fruitless effort they travel through wildly divergent territories of the familiar and inaccessible with rapid bursts of alternating comfort and confusion. Ripe with the melodrama and intrigue of our exceedingly product-focused lives, reality tv has never been so compelling. Exhilaratingly brisk, charmingly raw, and unquestionably musical, the Ping Pong EP fills us with hope for the new world we've already forgotten."

VA: Wanna Buy A Crapzak? CD (CRPK 023 CD). $9.00

"Wanna buy a Crapzak? A unique multimedia CD sampler selling at a special low price, that will make everyone's wallet very happy. Wanna buy a Crapzak? contains 13 audio tracks and 4 videos from all of your favorite Carpark artists (such as Marumari, Greg Davis, Kit Clayton, Safety Scissors, Kid 606, Dinky Ogurusu Norihide, and Signer). Many of the tracks are taken from future and past Carpark releases, some are exclusive (Lake Mandell, Freescha, Takagi Masakatsu, Hrvatski, and 242photos)."

DINKY: Black Cabaret CD (CRPK 024 CD). $13.00

"Wilkommen, Bienvenue. Welcome to Dinky's Black Cabaret. Prepare yourself for a selection of dark and slinky odes to downtown nightlife. Tonight, Dinky (aka Alejandra Iglesias) presents to you the ultimate 21st century New York City pop record. Fusing the music of her teenage years with the current electro/post-punk/dance/whatever experimentation going on in her current home of New York City, Black Cabaret entertains and titillates. Imagine a radical reworking of Cabaret Voltaire, Madonna, Aphex Twin, and Prince and you're only halfway there. Black Cabaret is the culmination of every facet of Dinky's musical persona. Parts hark back to the melodically incited gothic elements of her earlier techno work, while other parts significantly explore brand new areas, overall, the tracks have more of a pop song structure with most songs featuring a guest vocalist or even Dinky herself singing."

DINKY: Black Cabaret 2LP (CRPK 024 LP). $13.00

Double LP version.

NORIHIDE, OGURUSU: Modern CD (CRPK 025 CD). $13.00

"In the white room with white curtains, Ogurusu Norihide patiently and steadily works on his distinctive techno-folk hybrid, his studio of white walls and hardwood floors is as clean and single-minded as his musical vision. Ogurusu Norihide's Modern is part of the burgeoning 'laptop folk' scene alongside fellow Carparkers Greg Davis and Takagi Masakatsu, but to limit his music to this tag would do Ogurusu a great injustice. His music follows its own path, informed as much by contemporary Japanese culture as by the ancient religious and cultural institutions of the Shinto faith. For Ogurusu Norihide is a certified Shinto priest, having completed his studies in Tokyo last year, Ogurusu has returned to his hometown of Kyoto to concentrate fully on music. Kyoto, where centuries old temples and gardens sit side by side with the offerings of new Japan, complements the music of modern well. The sounds of religious rites (hand-claps, bells) rub up against digitally-produced rhythms which are integrated with acoustic guitar and piano. Instantly familiar and totally abstract modern is informed by so many musicians but sounds like none of them. Like all great artists, Ogurusu Norihide completely reshuffles your ideas and preconceptions and deals them out in a way you didn't think was possible."

DAVIS, GREG: Curling Pond Woods CD (CRPK 026 CD). $13.00

"Defining the term 'laptop folk' way before it became fashionable to mix acoustic guitars and electronic sounds, Chicago's Greg Davis is keeping ahead of the curve once more with his second full-length Curling Pond Woods. While still retaining elements of 'laptop' and 'folk', Curling Pond Woods evolves from his debut with a larger array of instruments, richer arrangements, song structures, and vocals. Sections of acoustic songs intermingle in and out of drones, field recordings, and digital processing. Greg's range includes the psych-folk of The Incredible String Band, the songcraft sensibilities of Brian Wilson, and John Cage's embrace of randomness."

DAVIS, GREG: Curling Pond Woods LP (CRPK 026 LP). $10.00

LP version.

CARNABEAT RECORDS (UK):*ELECTRIC BANANA: Blows Your Mind CD (CARN 007). $14.00

"All the good (i.e. psyche) tracks that the Pretty Things recorded for DeWolfe back during the S.F. Sorrow era. Great sound and packaging (full color w/liner notes)." "With their newly expanded line up, the Banana were definitely working at the peak of their powers. John Povey moved to keyboards to accommodate new drummer John 'Twink' Alder; together with solid bass from Wally Waller, blistering guitar leads from Dick Taylor, and Phil May's powerful vocals (not to mention the band's surging harmonies and cryptic lyrics), they were as talented a psychedelic band as any in those headswirling times...as important a document of UK acid soaked greatness as better known albums like Sgt. Pepper, Piper at the Gates of Dawn and S.F. Sorrow." — Onnie St. John Driver.

CARNAGE PRESS:*VA: The Human Breakdown of Absurdity CD (CP 718). $12.00

MSR song poem madness volume 3, following Beat Of The Traps and Makers of Smooth Music (which is currently o/p). "The music's obvious characteristics are a surreal bouillabaisse of short-comings, twitches and accidental glory. It's as different from pop radio as shrimps are from humans...a remarkable opportunity to hear people who could be your neighbors or relatives offering words they think should be songs." —David Greenberger.

POUNCEY/SAVAGE PENCIL, EDWIN: Reichstag Bleep Hour booklet (CP SAV). $6.00

Small, 32 page chapbook of surrealist poems by Edwin, illustrated by his alter-ego, Savage Pencil. The material dates from 1973; he printed up about 8 copies at the time and just stuck them on the shelf of local bookstores without telling anyone. Now it has been reproduced and can be sold with full capitalistic swagger.

CAROLINE:*FAUST: IV CD (CAR 1885). $13.00

1992 CD issue of what was the fourth and final album to be released during Faust's original lifespan, released by Virgin Records in 1973. Opens with one of their most relentlessly mantric tracks, "Krautrock", a searing post-VU drone, and then delves into what is some of the most accessible Faust material ("The Sad Skinhead", "Jennifer", etc. Less revolutionary than its predecessors (Faust, So Far, Tapes), but still contains many memorable moments.

HUMAN LEAGUE: Travelogue CD (CAR 80115). $14.50

"With Travelogue, The Human League began to incorporate more traditional rock elements to their signature synth-led sound, and in doing so featured songs with more pop and dance music leanings creating a sound that would become the template for the current electronic music movement. This album has been expanded to include 8 non-LP singles tracks released during this period including their cover versions of the Gary Glitter anthem 'Rock 'n' Roll Part Two' and Iggy Pop's 'Nightclubbing'."

HUMAN LEAGUE: Reproduction CD (CAR 80165). $14.50

"The moody, sparse electronic sound of The Human League's debut album is the very reason why Reproduction has become suddenly back in vogue by electronic music fans. That sound together with its innovative ideas have many now regarding Reproduction as an early electronic classic. All the tracks from the first three Human League indie label singles have been added as bonus tracks including 'Being Boiled'."

HUMAN LEAGUE: Dare/Love And Dancing CD (CAR 80601). $14.50

"Perfectly fusing electronic music with infectiously catchy songwriting, Dare is one of the best selling electronic albums of all time. While most of the albums from Human League's contemporaries now sound lost in the '80s, Dare's sense of detachment from the flowery synth pop at the time makes the album still sound fresh and innovative. For this special reissue, the entire Love And Dancing album (arguably the earliest example of a remix album, featuring instrumental and dance mixes from Dare, as well as the new track 'Hard Times'), has been included as bonus material."

CARPET BOMB:*ADRIEN 75: 12" (CARP 004). $6.50

"One half of Microstudio and Unagi Patrol respectively. Adrien goes it alone this time for a 7 song EP. Adrien layers melodic guitars and atmospheric electronics against lush beatscapes with Gregory Fleckner's electro-tinged jazz and space rock as two possible reference points."

UNAGI PATROL: Elevate and Pool CD (CARP 006). $11.00

"Debut full length from the duo of Doron Gura and Adrien '75' Capozzi, who had previously teamed up in Livestock, then Microstudio. The bread and butter of almost all Carpet Bomb label output thus far has been the application of live-take instrumentation amidst the wall-of-din electronic percussion. And here we're treated to almost exclusively acoustic/electric chordal and melody layers over impossible-to-source rhythmic computer gadgetry. Even a few trumpet solos here & there and a liberal dose of electric guitar and bass parts. Bravo. Pushing the early 70s jazz-rock fusion envelope just slightly (albeit embracing ECM over Miles) to placid affect. The ultimate Sunday comedown with a few aggressive bits for measure. Well executed." — Hrvatski.

CASEQUARTER:*JACKSON, REVEREND CHARLIE: God's Got It: The Legendary Booker and Jackson Singles CD (CASE 101 CD). $13.00

"CaseQuarter is a brand new label whose purpose is to document and make available all manner of obscure, eccentric and original sacred and spiritual music of the American South — contemporary and historical; both commercial and informal recording. This is the first release, after the better part of twenty-five years; the legendary early 1970s New Orleans Booker label recordings of the Baton Rouge gospel guitarist have finally been collected on CD. Ever since Reverend Jackson's Booker singles were discovered by gospel collectors in the 1970s and began to trickle out to a wider audience, his primal, funky guitar riffs have astounded listeners. Raw and unadorned and at other times spare and lyrical, his Booker and Jackson label recordings are infused with sanctified energy and singing. Further to his own singles are records by Brother Ike Gordon, Sister Frances Jackson, and Caravan No. 2 of Zachary, which feature Reverend Jackson as accompanist."

OWENS, ISAIAH: You Without Sin Cast The First Stone CD (CASE 102CD). $13.00

"The CaseQuarter mission continues full-force with its second installment of the wondrous and sacred musical intensity and beauty that avails itself in the American South. This time it is a collection of contemporary recordings — You Without Sin Cast The First Stone, the solo debut of singer/guitarist Isaiah Owens. In the early 1990s, Isaiah Owens ended a distinguished career singing lead with the gospel quartet the Flying Clouds of Montgomery, Alabama. Early in the 1980s, Owens began to teach himself guitar and soon began sitting in on local AM gospel radio broadcasts, most notably with the Montgomery Gospelaires and later with Ann Talbert's Cheerful Angels program. Always known for his dynamic vocals and piercing falsetto, Owens augmented the initial chords he taught himself with extremely loud volume. Along with emphasizing the rhythmic over the traditionally musical, Owens was not afraid to incorporate dissonance into his playing. The merging of Owens' unique guitar style with his accomplished vocals makes for an intriguing and original musical experience truly not heard anywhere else in the gospel world."

CATALOG. (JAPAN):*VA: Time: Space 2 2CD (CAT 002/3 CD). $19.00

Japanese-only compilation, licensed from Derrick May's Transmat label. It's an installment of future Transmat artists and releases, featuring mostly all exclusive tracks. A high quality return to form from one of the originating Detroit techno labels. Quietly, this will be one of the better electronic compilations of 2003. Artists: Aril Brikha, Reginald Dokes, MicroWorld, Indio, Stephen Brown, Louis Haiman, Yellow Planet, Sans Soleil, Ebb, Rodenbush, Tony Drake, Lucian Nicolet, L.S., John Arnold.

CATALOGUE/WAGRAM MUSIC (FRANCE):

VA: French Girls CD (CAT 054 CD). $15.00

"Rock music is still widely considered as a men's affair. But computers and turntables have given girls the opportunity to produce sensible and original music on their own. Music that even rocks. Singers, songwriters, DJ's, the female artists gathered on this compilation are no violent femmes neither Riot Grrrls. Their work stands for how equal and democratic the musical production tools have become over the last decade. It also testifies to the deep changes recently operated in the music diffusion networks. Flying over five years of French electronic music, this compilation intends to pay a tribute to the visionary talent of these beauties coming out of the night." Artists include: Lake Soul, Scratch Massive, Miss Kittin & The Hacker, Chloé, Autour De Lucie, Ana Rago, Sporto Kantes, Williams Traffic, Holden, Ollano, Cocosuma, Klima, Sextoy Et Chloé.

VA: French Sounds CD (CAT 063 CD). $15.00

"Featuring previously unpublished tracks by: Bosco, highly acclaimed 'Satellite' (featuring on Tombrailer OST) taken from the album Action), Télépopmusik, emblematic leader of the new French Touch with their 120 000 albums sold worldwide Genetic World? Avril, which offers us a remix of his single 'The Date' by Chloé, the French She-DJ-producer in vogue. The compilation French Sounds reviews with exultation the panorama of a French electronica scene constantly renewed." Other artists include: Vitalic, Dat Politics, D.I.P., Electronicat, Williams Traffic, Readymade feat. Juice Aleem, Doctor L., Sporto Kantes, M83, Domotic, Avia.

CATSUP PLATE:

DOUBLE, THE: Palm Fronds CD (CPR 719CD). $13.00

"The Double that you hear on Palm Fronds is very different than what founding members David Greenhill and Jeff McLeod originally conceived. The band began as a guitar/drum math-rock-cum-outre-blues duo replete with intricate time signatures, multiple song sections, and an overall sense of angular complexity. But the production, drum machines, and general vibe have a wonderfully overmodulated digital crunch, plenty of echo, broken electronics and all sorts of what'sit thrown into the mix. Which is to say that all that songwriter stuff, when The Double finally let you hear it, owes a lot to a bunch of digital dub and experimental electronic types."

IVYTREE, THE: Winged Leaves CD (CPR 720CD). $13.00

"Glenn Donaldson plays in a whole slew of phenomenal bands — the Skygreen Leopards, the Blithe Sons, Thujia, the Franciscan Hobbies and about a half-dozen others — releasing them on Jewelled Antler, the label he co-founded, and numerous others. His vast and engaging creative output covers everything from field recordings and found sounds to plaintive pop to wide-eyed, drooling psychedelia and remains engaging and compelling. Winged Leaves, the Ivytrees follow-up to the 2003's Orchards & Caravans (credited to The Birdtree — stay with me here), again finds Donaldson brewing a potent and unique style of acid folk balanced with incidental and instrumental pieces that focus on field recordings and less traditionally structured pieces. The songs here are based on guitar and voice improvisations and fleshed out with layers of bowed bouzouki, banjo, and dulcimer, along with organ and percussion. There is a distant melancholy in these songs, a mournfulness that somehow manages to be stately and tuneful in the rumble of sounds passing by. Donaldson's voice accounts for much of this: his echoing, wordless (or, at the very least, indecipherable) falsetto cuts through the layers, like the summer sun poking through a dark canopy of leaves above. Edition of 1000 copies in hand assembled, letterpressed chipboard digipaks, with full color tipped-on cover image and poster with Donaldson's dizzying collage work."

CELESTIAL HARMONIES:

RILEY, TERRY: In C CD (CH 13026). $14.00

1989 performance of the 53-part minimalist masterpiece originally written by Terry Riley in 1964, performed here by the Shanghai Film Orchestra, along with two other compositions by David Mingyue Liang: "Music Of A Thousand Springs" & "Zen (Ch'an) Of Water". The version of "In C" is the first performance of a Western new music work by a Chinese ensemble in mainland China (performed on only indigenous instrumentation: various lutes, zithers, mouth organs, flutes and percussion). This version has been mixed by Brian Eno, Jon Hassell and Terry Riley and adds a whole new layer of Eastern mystic to this undisputed pulse classic.

VA: The Music of Islam, Volume 1 CD (CH 13140). $14.00

Classic 1997 series of Islamic music, 15 volumes spread out over 17 CDs, available individually or all together in a wooden box. "Nearly all traditions of Arabic music, including Egyptian, are strongly defined by rhythm. A glance at the history and structure of Arabic music, the most modern of which is based in Egypt, imparts an insight into an unheard of multifaceted aspect of traditions and functions; styles and repertoires, genres and instruments, forms, and structural principles. Arabic music shows a dynamic and changing historical evolution. This first volume in The Music of Islam series clearly reflects this, belonging to both old and new styles — in repertoire and performance the music in this recording reflects the new Egyptian style while the orchestration follows the older Arab practices.

What is unique about this volume is that it incorporates only instrumental recordings. This is highly unusual. But this one-sidedness is toned down as all other instrumental pieces are determined thematically — except the pure musically bound solo taqsim (instrumental improvisations) and the sama'i (Turkish, aristocratic art music) — be it through renowned texts of the songs performed by the instruments or through programmed indications, which are characteristic for many new Egyptian instrumental compositions.

The musicians featured in this volume are regarded as some of the most outstanding and sought-after studio musicians in all of Egypt. They play traditional Arabic instruments and are masters of classical, folk and popular music. The ensemble includes Mamdouh El Gbaly playing 'ud (lute), Mostafa Abd El Khalek playing the qanun (zither), Mohammed Foda playing the nay (flute), Khaled Gomaa playing tabalah (goblet drum), Ibrahim Gomaa playing duff (frame-drum), and Hesham El Araby playing riqq (tambourine with small cymbals)."

VA: The Music of Islam, Volume 2 CD (CH 13141). $14.00

"The Sinai, under the control of Egypt today, is a triangular peninsula bridging North Africa and the Middle East. The unique and varied landscape, resources, demands and dangers of the South Sinai has allowed the Bedouin there to develop their own lifestyle and culture. The Bedouin music culture also developed against the backdrop of the desert — a place of intense silence. Out of the silence, the desert Bedouin culture has evolved a profound sensitivity and mystical appreciation for sound which permeates every aspect of Bedouin life. The piercing cry of women's ululations express acclaim on festive occasions, the plaintive melody of the shepherdess's flute accompanies her watch over the sheep and goats, and the rhythmic beating of framedrums exorcise evil spirits from holy places and tombs. But for the Bedouin, the most subtle and charged of man-made sounds is the spoken or sung word.

Bedouin music is probably the oldest part of the entire repertoire of folk music in the Arab world. Thus, this recording is a celebration as well as a sound document of their traditional culture and unique identity. From the harsh and beautiful land of desert plains and rugged red-brown and black mountains — the South Sinai — this volume features the traditional folk music of the legendary desert nomads. Recorded in a single night, in a dry riverbed under a full moon, the backdrop of the desert offered a priceless doorway into this ancient culture, people and music, capturing their very essence."

ASWAN TROUPE FOR FOLKLORIC ARTS: The Music of Islam, Volume 3 CD (CH 13142). $14.00

"From ancient times, Nubian peoples have flourished in the land along the Nile River. But Egyptian projects to dam the river at Aswan have, over time, submerged the Nubian territories along the Nile under water. And with the completion of the Aswan High Dam and Lake Nasser came the inundation of the entire Nubian valley in southern Egypt. As a result, the Egyptian Nubians irrevocably lost what remained of their ancestral lands along the Nile and were forcibly relocated. The resettlement has given rise to a range of social problems, and many aspects of Nubian culture and social organization that previously existed have now changed or disappeared.

Despite efforts to survive or revive their culture, at this present point in the epic history of the Nubians, when their ancestral land is lost, and when their language is no longer the medium of either their religion or their government, music may in fact prove to be the best means for preserving something of the ethos of Nubian culture, and for adapting it to further changes in the future.

The traditional instruments featured, which are used to accompany Nubian song and dance, include the 'ud (fretless, short-necked lute), tabla (or tabalah, single-headed tapered drum) and tar (or duff, round framedrum). The typical song style is based on alternation of a solo singer with a chorus. Both song and dance are often accompanied by intricate patterns of hand-clapping and foot-stomping. Wedding celebrations, which can last up to a week, are the main social setting for performing traditional Nubian music and dance."

LELO & HAITHAM HASAN, MOHAMMED SALEH ABD AL-SAHEB: The Music of Islam, Volume 4 CD (CH 13143). $14.00

"During the early phase of conceptualizing what would become The Music of Islam, at least one volume was planned to be recorded in Iraq, in the ancient city of Basra. However, the tempest of world politics prevented us from accomplishing this goal. With no legal means to enter Iraq our approach changed to a global search for Iraqi musicians. And to our surprise, in the beautiful port city of Doha in the small Emirate of Qatar on the east coast of the Arabian peninsula (not too far south of the Iraqi border), we discovered an expatriate community of Iraqi musicians, all born in Baghdad and graduates of Baghdad University.

The Music of Islam, Volume Four embraces some of the most beautiful Islamic music from Iraq, featuring the 'ud and various percussion instruments, performed by Iraqi master musicians who keep their music traditions alive in Qatar. Born in Iraq in 1939/1969, Mohammed Saleh Abd Al-Saheb Lelo, holds a degree in music from the Faculty of Fine Arts, Baghdad University, with a major focus on the 'ud (oud, a short-necked fretless lute) and qanun (a type of plucked board zither). Haitham Hasan, born in 1939/1969, began playing percussion instruments at the age of nine. In this recording, Haitham is featured on the tabalah (a goblet drum), kasur (a small single-headed drum), riqq (tambourine), tar (a single-headed frame drum), sajak (copper finger cymbals), drenga (like the tabalah but more metallic in sound) and the tabl (a double-headed cylindrical drum)."

VA: The Music of Islam, Volume 6 CD (CH 13146). $14.00

"This volume features songs from various sections of the lila (music ritual) repertoire of the Gnawa. The Gnawa inhabit the same religious world as Arab Muslim Moroccans, yet find their entry into it via a different path. Instead of reciting prayers in preparation to trance ceremonies, the Gnawa's authority is invoked by recounting their people's experience as in Ulad Bambara (track 1). A long suite of songs, it opens with praise to God and the Prophet Muhammad and his daughter Lalla Fatima, but also refers to the Gnawa centers, including Marrakesh, as well as entreat the assembly to make pilgrimage to the local awliya' saints. Thus establishing the present location in Muslim Morocco, the song moves south and recalls the Gnawa's lands and people of origin as well as some spirits of West African origin and the abduction and transporting of slaves from the Sudan. The singing ends with the proclamation of faith and gives way to a series of dances. Singing in a call/response style — the lead singer being answered by other members of the group in chorus — the lead singer determines the length of sung portions, while the sintir signals changes in tempos or meter, announces new songs by switching the melody, and signals the ends of songs with cadential cues. The songs are flexible in length, allowing the leader to shorten or lengthen a song to accommodate the needs of dancers in trance. The Gnawa use three main instruments, which are particular to them: the sintir or hajhaj, a long-necked lute of the guinbri family; the qraqeb or qraqesh, a pair of hand held metal clappers; and the tbel, a barrel drum with two heads struck with sticks."

VA: The Music of Islam, Volume 7 CD (CH 13147). $14.00

"North Africa became the stronghold of Arab-Andalusian music after the fall of Granada in 897/1492, yet the existence of the nubah (plural nubat, literally rotation or succession) system in Morocco can be traced back earlier, to at least the XI/12th century. Much of the repertoire has been lost over the years, and different areas preserve different nubat. In Morocco today, there are at least two distinct styles of Arab-Andalusian music, al-Ala, which is the most prevalent one across the country, and Gharnati, specific to Oujda in eastern Morocco and to Tlemcen in Algeria. These traditions are considered to be Morocco's classical musical heritage.

The repertoire of the al-Ala today is highlighted in this volume. It consists of eleven nubat which were standardized in the late XII/18th century. A nubah is divided into five sections, each corresponding to a particular mizan — rhythmic pattern. Within each of these rhythmic phases, there is a slow and a fast version of each mizan. A nubah is actually never performed in its entirety, for this could take over six hours. Each Moroccan nubah contains between 95 and 153 songs and instrumental pieces. The layout of the nubah functions more as a matrix of possible performance choices than as a plan that must be adhered to. A typical nubah performance will consist of several pieces from a few different rhythmic phases.

The musicians of the featured ensemble are ambassadors of this living tradition. Led by El Kacimi Mohamed, the ensemble uses traditional Arabic instruments. El Kacimi Mohamed plays the kamanja (violin), Ahmed El Kamas plays the 'ud (lute), Abdelkarim Doukhou plays the nay (flute), and percussionists Abdelilah Azlas and Mohamed El Rhouni play the darabukka (goblet drum) and tar (tambourine)."

JORMANA GROUP, LOTFI: The Music of Islam, Volume 8 CD (CH 13148). $14.00

"According to producer David Parsons this volume was the most difficult in the series, both technically and information-wise. 'It was a classic case of trying to record, with one stereo microphone, a group of singers who also played drums', exclaims Parsons. Yet, however technically challenging it may have been, the end result is nonetheless superb. Two of the most beautiful songs (tracks 2 and 7) on the recording feature the mawwal — a vocal form which usually follows the performance of the layali —vocal improvisations. The form was known as early as the III/9th century where it was described in connection with the working class. Also featured is a modern composition (a rarity in this series) by group leader and vocalist, Lotfi Jormana. As in traditional music, the melodic component of this song is shaped by the concept of maqam — or mode — which governs the construction of melodic phrases, standard melodic formulae, cadential patterns, and vocal range. Recorded in a house in the medina, the old quarter of the city of Tunis, the capital of Tunisia, this volume features the traditional instruments and songs of the folkloric music of Tunisia which thrive as a living testament to the wide spectrum of cultures and practices across the World of Islam."

Performed by the Lotfi Jormana Group, this volume features the melodic mizwid — Tunisian bagpipe played in the central regions of Tunisia accompanied by percussion. The mizwid has two melody pipes and no drone pipes. In instrumental music the long flowing melodies of the mizwid seem to soar above the pulse of the percussion group. In vocal music, the mizwid echoes, punctuates, and connects individual vocal phrases."

GALATA MEVLEVI MUSIC AND SEMA ENSEMBLE, THE: The Music of Islam, Volume 9 CD (CH 13149). $14.00

"Sufism, the mystical branch of Islam, has long had a tradition of art music, and one of the most celebrated mystical traditions in the world, that of the Mevlevi dervishes, evolved in Turkey. Mevlevi or Mawlawiyah music, developed in the VII/13th century and nurtured by several centuries of sultans, poets, and musicians, remains arguably the greatest Turkish contribution to the music of Islam. Although this music is the focus of this volume its influence is also strongly felt in volume 14."

Tracks 1-6 in this volume represent a complete sema ritual, and other rituals of mystic Mevlevi music are included as well. As a branch of Sufism, the Mevlevis practice the ritual called zikir (Arabic dhikr) — an ecstatic ceremony of invocation and remembrance of God through, among other things, the repeated chanting of his many names. The zikir is practiced by Sufis throughout the Islamic world, and it has been noted that even the Turkish sema is a specific subdivision of this genre of ritual. The Mevlevis also present their mystical music in what might be viewed as a kind of concert suite (tracks 7 and 9). Track 8 is a prelude of sorts that introduces the mode used in the final suite. Each suite is united by a different mode. In every case, the music draws its inspiration from the text, and its structure from a sophisticated set of modes, rhythms, and traditional forms."

VA: The Music of Islam, Volume 10 CD (CH 13150). $14.00

"Many orthodox Muslims have traditionally held that music is generally detrimental to the listener's religious life, and as a result there is relatively little sacred music in Islam. But there is some. Central to Islamic life is the chanting of the holy scripture, the Qur'an. Two associated works, the call to prayer known as ezan (adhan) and the tekbiir, are known throughout the Islamic world, and are also performed in a highly stylized, richly embroidered style of chant. These prayers are the subject of this volume. A further prayer, the mevliid (mawlid) and regional prayers for the month of Ramadan are reserved for special occasions. All of these sacred works are sung/recited (the distinction becomes almost a semantic one in these performances in Arabic, of course; but difference in pronunciation and inflection have led to distinctly regional styles of performance. The five reciters recorded in this volume are all based in Istanbul, Turkey, where the tradition of Qur'anic chant is particularly strong."

The sound of the Qur'an recitation can be a striking one for Western ears. The modes can range from the slightly piquant to the startlingly exotic. But it bears repeating that, for all the musical interest in these performances, this is basically not music at all. It is prayer; and like the chanting of the Buddhist monks of Tibet, has as its ultimate aim not a musical goal but a spiritual one."

VA: The Music of Islam, Volume 11 CD (CH 13151). $14.00

"The music culture of Yemen is a domain which has, until this recording and accompanying annotation, been scarcely known or documented. Yet, it has deep historic roots. The music of Yemen is extremely rich in genres, repertoires and configurations, functional relationships, modalities of performance and instruments. Yemenite music in general, and regardless of all the differences between layers of tradition and local and regional styles, has a particular attraction and charm, virtues which have been praised since ancient times."

The traditional music life in Yemenite towns knows no concerts or concert halls. Music performances form part of various functions. In Sana'a there are two main occasions: magyal, a social afternoon gathering and samra, night time entertainment. Recorded at a modern magyal, this volume features the classical traditional style of Yemen."

VA: The Music of Islam, Volume 12 CD (CH 13152). $14.00

"The instrumental compositions in this recording belong to Persian art music as passed down to the present. The marked preference of the Persians for instrumental music contributed to the dedication of greater attention by the Arabs, orientated more towards vocal music, to the development of instruments and instrumental performance."

Gusheh-ha — designating small dimensioned tonal melodic tone groups — form the foundations of the great complex creations of the classical music of Iran. A gusheh (singular) is comprised of a dastgah — a kind of five-part suite. The connection with classical music is first established by the integration of all recordings in two very popular dastgah-ha (plural), Shur and Homayoun, also found in most regional music traditions. The instrumental compositions combining the kemenche and santur offer an excellent rendering of the feeling for sound or of the sound ideal of classical Persian music culture. They are accompanied in the rhythmic formation by the zarb or duff."

The Iranian musicians featured in this recording; Agha-ye Sadjadifard, Agha-ye Djamshidi and Agha-ye Sahihi, were very enthusiastic about representing Islam and Iran and were passionately devoted in presenting a balanced program offering a broad spectrum of Iranian classical music. Traditional instruments featured include the santur (a trapezoidal zither), kemenche (Arabic kamanja, a bowed spike-lute), tombak (a large goblet drum) and duff (a large framedrum with cymbals)."

KHAN, USTAD BARY FATEH ALI: The Music of Islam, Volume 13 CD (CH 13153). $14.00

"The classical music of Pakistan has its roots in pre-Islamic times. Hence the names of the majority of ragas have Hindu connections and are from the Sanskrit language. Muslim musicians from Pakistan will generally sing in the Urdu language and the lyrics, if religious, will be in praise of Allah. Islamic culture, and in particular Persia, has had a profound influence on the evolution of music. Today, Muslim musicians play a major role in the music world. Whether they are from Pakistan or India, names like Ustad Bary Fateh Ali Khan, Vilayat Khan, Amjad Ali Khan, or the late Nusrat Fateh Ali Khan are among the great musicians of the XIX/20th century."

In this recording, Ustad Bary Fateh Ali Khan presents three ragas for three different periods of the day: early morning, early evening and evening. The concept of set periods of the day to which ragas are attached is based upon how one generally feels at different times. This is further defined by scale and the ascending or descending structure of the raga. Each raga is in the tin-tal rhythmic cycle, the closest to the Western concept of 4/4 time."

VA: The Music of Islam, Volume 14 CD (CH 13154). $14.00

"This volume focuses on the mystic music of the Islamic world — specifically Turkish mystics. To Westerners, Islamic mysticism is practically synonymous with Sufism. Sufi poetry and music have endured for centuries in various Islamic countries. In the mystical brotherhoods music always had a revered and acknowledged place. Although the term music is never used in mystical writings, but rather listening — voice, gesture and musical instruments are all aids to the devotee in his spiritual exercise, which leads him to ecstasy and to supreme union with God. In every case, the music draws its inspiration from the text, and its structure from a sophisticated set of modes, rhythms, and traditional forms."

The tracks on this recording literally date from the V-XIV/11th-20th centuries featuring many famous compositions such as Tekbir and Salavat-i Serife, known throughout the Islamic world as two of the masterworks of one of Turkey's greatest composers. Also featured are ilahis (hymns), excerpts of the sema ritual and dhikr (zikr in Turkey) ceremonies. Completing the volume is a vocal performance of Surah 19, Ayet 115-117 of the Qur'an."

VA: Musik Of Laos: The Buddhist Tradition CD (CH 13218). $14.00

"Laos has remained a mystery to most Westerners even after the names of its neighboring countries — Vietnam, Cambodia and Thailand have become commonplace. Musik Of Laos: The Buddhist Tradition is the result of a collaboration between the University of Applied Sciences in Linden, Germany, and the Ministry of Information and Culture of Laos. If Laos is still a mystery to the West, its music is even more obscure. As producer Gisa Jähnichen points out, little research has been done on musical practices in Laos. She determined that only 22 albums were ever issued of Lao music — some on cassette only, many of dubious quality, and most generally unavailable. Apart from the khen, most types of Lao music were woefully underrecorded. Recording the ceremonial ensemble of Champasak in Champasak province (which is the source of the first four tracks on this collection) offered an opportunity to record a fabulous set of instruments that had been made in 1750 and are still in use. Jähnichen also found that the religious/ritual music of the province was far less accessible than the classical court and entertainment styles. The last five tracks on this collection come from Luang Prabang, featuring the Pi Mai ensemble, and while they clearly feature a 'classical' ensemble and some fairly obvious 'popular' tunes, they nevertheless show the pervasive influence of Buddhism, as they were all part of the Buddhist New Year celebration held in April."

ATHERTON/JAMES ASHLEY FRANKLIN, MICHAEL: Aurora CD (CH 13236). $14.00

"The music of Aurora is, in a number of respects, a piece of sonic research, an experiment, the outcomes of which are tested in sound. One aspect of the experiment is that of space and spatiality. Apart from the usual technical process whereby instruments recorded in a relatively lifeless studio are artificially placed in a reverberant space, an attempt has here been made to explore the placement of sounds in somewhat unusual spaces. In addition to pieces such as 'Blue Globe Saltarello', which use a relatively conventional approach to panoramic placement of the instruments, we find 'At the Rising of the Dawn', in which the listener is presented with the instruments from a possibly unfamiliar position: that of the performer. 'Caverns' and 'Again the Stars' are, at one level, spatial fantasies. Within the framework of the stereo recording medium, these pieces construct spaces by analogy with their sound sources. The ruined piano, which forms a major textural layer of 'Caverns', becomes a space through which the shakuhachi travels. The music of Aurora is also an experiment in cultural interaction. Two of the instruments employed, the shakuhachi and koto, derive from traditional Japanese musical culture. They interact here with instruments from western cultures: piano (albeit in a ruined state), guitars, marimba, double bass. In summary and as a totality, Celestial Harmonies offer the results of these researches in sound, in their various facets, as an enrichment of the source traditions on which Atherton and Franklin have drawn — Eastern and Western."

VA: The Music of Islam, Volume 5 2CD (CH 14144). $25.00

"Aissaoua Sufi Ceremony, the first of three volumes in this series recorded in Morocco, captures the public performance of 'Aissaoua rituals, called hadra. 'Aissaoua is the brotherhood comprised of followers of one of Morocco's most well-known and highly regarded spiritual leaders, Shaykh 'Abd Allah Sidi Muhammad Ben 'Aisa as-Sufiani al-Mukhtari (870/1465-933/1526). 'Aissaoua performances work on several levels: for members of the brotherhood, they form part of their spiritual training; for ceremony sponsors they serve to bless the event; and for the individual pilgrim or participant, the ritual provides access to the tangible baraka (blessing) of the Shaykh (Arabic Sheikh), which can be activated for purposes of healing and guidance. The trance possession which occurs during the hadra is the most dramatic manifestation of this therapeutic function of the performance. The baraka which effects these transformations is activated and brought into the hadra by means of recitations, singing and music, all of which is traditionally featured on this double length recording. Perhaps Parsons has captured even more than the Islamic music represented here, like, the transcendence of baraka from Shaykh ben 'Aisa for all who listen."

VA: The Music of Islam, Volume 15 2CD (CH 14155). $25.00

"This final volume introduces the world to the Muslim Music of Indonesia. A land of about two hundred million inhabitants, Indonesia is home to the largest Muslim nation in the world. It is extraordinarily rich in musical genres which derived originally from the Arab-Persian world but were transformed by local genius into unique musical styles and genres, generally practiced by all-male or all-female groups. The great majority of Indonesian Muslims adhere to Sunni beliefs, but a few Shi'a outposts still remain, especially in west-coastal Sumatra. Disk one features many of these rich genres, such as: Sunni prayers; samples of the Shi'a ritual (tabut or tabuik) characterized by passionate vocal music and group drumming; religious or secular songs with body movement accompanied by frame drums (indang); and a musical genre performed by a pair of male singers accompanying themselves with rhythmic beating on round brass trays (salawat)."

One of the first provinces to develop Muslim art forms was Aceh, the northernmost province of Sumatra. Aceh has a wealth of Muslim musical genres and body movement or dance forms among its ethnic groups. Disk two features many of the rich genres, such as: music and dance associated with syncretic animist and Hindu-Buddhist beliefs with added Muslim components or prayers (daboihi ceremony); the well-known male martial dance called seudati; the female dance-vocal form pho, based on the expression of grief at the death of a child, and very sad songs (ratap or ratep meuseukat); and a form of worship and courage raising via male group vocal and frame drum performance (rapai daboih).

The instruments heard in this volume are both traditional Muslim instruments such as double-headed drums, frame drums, brass trays and the lute, as well as non-Muslim instruments such as bamboo flutes, oboes and bronze ensembles."

VA: Music Of Indonesia: Maluku & North Maluku 2CD (CH 14232). $25.00

"Celestial Harmonies has commenced a series of recordings which eventually will feature music from all of Indonesia's 26 provinces, as well as from the island of Timor, now divided into Timor and independent East Timor. At their closest point, Indonesia is about as far away from Australia as Cuba is from the United States, but there are worlds between the neighbours. Whilst the sounds from Bali and Java are quite well-known, in the west, the traditional music from the lesser known provinces has been a well-kept secret to most. The province of Maluku contains many diverse musical cultures, each based on a unique, creative synthesis of local traditions and outside influences. Many musical forms are linked to religious practices, including the church music-influenced styles of the Christians, the Middle East-influenced musical expressions of the Muslims and the music associated with ancestor and nature spirit-based religious beliefs."

VA: The Music of Islam 17CD BOX (CH 19907). $205.00

"Ten years in the making, The Music of Islam series recorded in Egypt, Morocco, Tunisia, Turkey, Yemen, Pakistan, Indonesia, Iran and Qatar represents the most comprehensive sound documentation available to Westerners today, of a world religion dating back to 1/622. Although governed by strict rules for fourteen centuries, contact with other cultures has radically affected Islamic music throughout history. As the world enters the XV/21st century the timing of this collection serves an even larger purpose, documenting the traditions that have survived and will continue to survive for centuries to come. Today, one fifth of the world's population, over one billion people, are Muslims, occupying a large territory stretching from the Atlantic shore of north and west Africa, through west, central, and south Asia to island southeast Asia, and attracting an increasing following in India, western Europe, north America, east Asia, and southern Africa. This is a global presence which cannot be

With 17 CDs in 15 volumes, The Music of Islam boxed set artistically presents nearly 20 hours of diversely rich Islamic music recorded throughout the Islamic Belt with over 800 pages of synoptic scholastic text written by leading scholars and ethnomusicologists from around the world. Creating a class of its own, and perhaps setting a new standard, The Music of Islam is an unequalled sound document destined to live beyond our time and, regrettably, most likely surpass the very existence of some of the people and cultures featured."

CELLDIVISION:

SPLATTERCELL: Remiksis::Ah CD (CELL 5026CD). $8.00

"Splattercell is the brain-child of a legendary guitarist & multi-instrumentalist who shall remain nameless. Known for his textural atmospherics & countless contributions to movie soundtracks (Blair Witch 2, Three Kings, The General's Daughter), he has now ventured into a territory occupied by the likes of Aphex Twin. Imagine's Aphex's 'Come To Daddy' or 'Windowlicker' remixed by Talvin Singh... The full length release QAH is being set up with this specially priced remix CD and LP; the first in what we call the Splattercell 'Installment Series'. Featuring re-interpretations from Dan The Automator, Charlie Clouser (Nine Inch Nails), Ryuichi Sakamoto, Carter Burwell, Yoshiro Hanno & non-albums gems from Splattercell." Root ideation, samplebasis & other ramifications by: Splattercell/David Torn.

SPLATTERCELL: Remiksis::Ah 12" (CELL 5027LP). $6.50

6 track 12" version.

CENOTAPH AUDIO:

GUIGNOL: Angela, David and the Neopolitan Road Issue CD (CENOT 009CD). $12.00

"Guignol is a project comprised of Jeremy Barnes, Laurence Coleman and Aaron Moore. These three members form the core of the group, and are assisted by guests Nick Mott (also of Volcano the Bear) and Korena Pang. The lone American in the group, Barnes may be most famous for his participation in Neutral Milk Hotel, but his work in Guignol bears a closer resemblance to his more recent projects, Bablicon and A Hawk and a Hacksaw. These are quite definitely 'songs', sounding distinctly British and rather intimate, though this intimacy is offset by an outsider aesthetic. Found sounds, scraped percussion, clattery improv and a gentle humour colour these songs. The music conjures images of not only the French countryside where it was recorded, but the mysteries of motion and distance."

SCATTER: Surprising Sing Stupendous Love CD (CENOT 010CD). $13.00

"A large group with somewhat fluid membership, Glasgow's Scatter create music that touches many bases. There's a lot of brass instrumentation (over some fairly swinging rhythms), but you wouldn't call them jazz; there is a proliferation of voices and acoustic instruments, though you wouldn't call them folk; there are flourishes of stranger sounds — electronics, vocal babbling, and odd percussion — but don't call them experimental. At its core, Scatter is a glowing ball of musical energy, the various instruments clattering together like kinetic sparks of inspiration. Some members have performed with Vibracathedral Orchestra, and a similar musical language is evident — the harmony of glowing tones combined in a common goal."

CENTRAL BREAKBEAT BIONOMICS (GERMANY):

VA: Hive CD (CBB 002 CD). $14.00

"For the second CBB release, the idea was to showcase the diverse range of sounds and artists that the label will be presenting. This revolves around two sets of geographically-separated artists, with Apparat and Modeselektor residing in Berlin, and Frank Murder and Chico Rockstar coming from Iceland. Each artist was given 15 minutes 'space' to give across their sound and approach, most of the artists opted for separate tracks in the time allowed, apart from Modeselektor who have given us a twelve minute opus! The soundscapes vary from Frank Murder's almost ethereal innocence, Apparat's claustrophobic digital breakdowns, to Chico Rockstar's use of vocals and classic breakbeats, then to Modeselektor's deep and sombre clinically sharp beats blended with collapsing hip-hop skits... This compilation brings across the true meaning of diversity, and also goes somewhat into explaining how your environment really does have an impact on the sounds you identify with."

CENTRAL MUSIC (AUSTRIA):

THE MEMORY FOUNDATION: Timequake 2CD (CENT 02 CD). $15.00

"The Memory Foundation presents its first longplayer Timequake. The Memory Foundation, Central's heavy Detroit influenced main-act of the Hi-Lo duo, shows in an impressive way the many shades of techno. Varying from minimal berlinschool dub-techno, uplifting forward driving Detroit-techno, dark, abstract and hypnotizing tracks with elektroid grooves, warm and housy pumping clubtrax and some weird funky stuff to break your neck, this CD gives you some serious non-bullshitting techno, perfect bits for those looking for the real thing. And that's not all because: included you'll find a free CD-compilation full of central classics remixed by friends and longtime supporters of Central. Ben Sims, Dan Bell, Angel Molina, Pacou, Funk D'Void, Swag, just to name a few did their versions of the central-sound and helped making this doublepacked a must."

CERTIFICATE 18 (UK):

PILOTE: No Truck CD (CERT 1836CD). $9.00

"Brighton based Pilote, nom de guerre of Stuart Cullen, releases its second single on Certificate 18's Electronic Projects. Three more marvellous musical outings available on 12" and CD single. Taken from his debut LP Antenna, 'No Truck' moves into a tempestuous house territory, constantly evolving through intense scramblings of electro style beats breaking down menacingly into a melancholic sculpture of sound like swarming killer bees. 'The Ol' Electric Chair' sends meandering morsecode messages against cascading beats on top of a soundtrack vibe that lasts forever. Lastly, there's a lament theme for somebody they call 'Junior'. Influenced by almost every style of music and self taught on guitar and keyboard, Pilote is the man of the millennium."

PANOPTICA: 03/04: Variaciones A Tuxedomoon 10" (CERT 1851). $9.00

"Third part in vinyl series of 10" singles from the Panoptica album."

PILOTE: Nelson 12" (CERT 1854). $9.00

Three track EP, featuring his original version of "Nelson", Basic Sound remix of "Nelson" and a Richard Sands remix of "Paul Oakenfold".

PILOTE VS BONOBO: Turtle 12" (CERT 1860). $9.00

"Featuring the music from the one-to-one advert, that has gained 3 months of heavy rotation on all networks... known as the 'whistling' tune. 'Bonobo mix' is the one familiar from the advert, and was originally only available as a limited freebie with the Do It Now Man album, the original version is taken from the first Pilote album Antenna."

PILOTE: Doitnowman CD (CERT 18CD10). $15.00

Regular single CD version.

PILOTE: Doitnowman LP (CERT 18LP10). $13.00

VA: Widescreen Versions 12" (CERT18LP002). $9.00

"12" taster of tracks from the upcoming full-length CD comp of recent output on Certificate 18, home of early singles by Photek, Source Direct, etc... Included here are all of the tracks not previously issued on single form; remixes by Midnight Funk Association (of Klute), Two Lone Swordsmen (of Lexis) and a new reworking by Paradox & DMR (great crunchy midtempo beats...). The TLS mix is clearly the standout here, high-pitch elektro-squelch reminiscent of Weatherall's classic science for Warp. Clinical." —Hrvatski

CHAIN REACTION (GERMANY):

HALLUCINATOR: Morpheus 12" (CR 35). $9.00

"The return of Hallucinator with four heavyweight excursions into the aquatic depths and stellar planes of techno dub morphology. Four elemental soundscapes, ideal for all hours domestic listening and the deeper progressive dub and electronica dancefloor."

CHAIRKICKERS' MUSIC:

LOW: A Lifetime of Temporary Relief: B-sides and Rarities 3CD/1DVD (CKM 012CD). $42.00

"At long last, an exhaustive compilation of B-sides, rarities, outtakes, and never before heard demos from the past 10 years of Low's career. Featuring 50 songs assembled by the band themselves, including 7 exclusive songs, over 3 discs, this collection ranges from their very first bedroom recordings (1993) all the way through to vinyl-only cuts from their most recent CD, Trust (2003), and everything in the middle as well — all together consisting of almost 4 hours of music. Bound together with a fourth (extended length) DVD disc, featuring all 11 of Low's videos, 3 live songs, and a series of documentaries by Marc Garmtan, this thing is a behemoth. Also included is a very nicely designed 32-page booklet with song descriptions and commentary by the band, and it all comes in a pretty white and blue cardboard box. From quiet to loud, from obscure to obtuse, from Jandek to Journey, from sub-par to sublime." DVD is region-free.

CHAMP D'ACTION (BELGIUM):

CHAMP D'ACTION: Screens CD (CDA 001). $15.00

"Composer Serge Verstockt has been working with video and audio-electronics for years now. In collaboration with the ensemble for experimental music Champ D'Action and architect Werner Vandermeersch he created a project that investigates the spatial interaction between video and music. Screens combines electrical instruments, real-time electronics and computer controlled images. In 1998 this work in progress started with hacking a video game. In the following years Screens has grown through several developing stages to become a large scale multimedia project. The sounds of improvising musicians are manipulated by computers and spatially projected through the hall. At the same time images are projected onto large screens as virtual rooms that disorientate the surrounded audience in the same way as the sound. Video and electronic sound are thus melted into one moving experience. Both a selection of images and the underlying music can be enjoyed on your computer, the full soundtrack can be listened to on a CD-player."

CHAP CHAP (JAPAN):

SMITH/N'DA KULTURE, WADADA LEO: Golden Hearts Remembrance CD (CPCD 002). $13.50

1997 CD release on a Japanese label, sold at a domestic price. Ishmael Wadada Leo Smith (trumpet, flugelhorn, Nohkan), David Philipson (Bansuri, Tambura), William Roper (tuba), Glenn Horiuchi (piano, Shamisen), Sonship Theus (drum-set, percussion), Harumi Makino Smith (poetry). "An ensemble of master musicians and poet performs an original music which is best defined as contemporary creative world music where the art and philosophy of improvisation are vital to its music creation. N'da Kulture music is a new research focusing on the ensemble as a distinct forum, a vehicle to rethink the performance practice in creative world music culture."

CHARHIZMA (AUSTRIA):

DAFELDECKER/KURZMANN/DRUMM/ERIKM/DIEB13/NOETINGER: CD (CHAR 020). $15.00

Werner Dafelecker (electronics, bass), Christof Kurzmann (G3, clarinet), Kevin Drumm (guitar synthesizer), eRikm (electronics), Dieb13 (turntables, pd), Jerome Noetinger (electroacoustic devices). Live recordings from 2000/1 from this stellar ensemble. For fans of the Mego/Erstwhile/Durian sound world. "What began in the year 1999 with the quartet of Dafelecker/Kurzmann/Fennesz/O'Rourke (CHAR 002) is still alive — 5 years later. The quartet of Dafelecker and Kurzmann (on this CD also to be heard once as a trio, once as a quintet) shows continuity. Only the color itself has changed like the times in electronic music have changed."

FLEISCHMANN, B.: Pop Loops for Breakfast CD (CHAR 001CD). $15.00

First release on Charhizma, from 1999 (the LP version was the first release on Morr Music at the same time). "Born 1975, B. Fleischmann lives in Vienna. Since early 1998, B. Fleischmann concerns himself concretely with electronic music. Here harmonies and noises from various electronic music devices are in the foreground live some of his songs are accompanied with a drumset. The songs are calmly and warmly, for a red salon with deep sofas, pieces to which one easily moves, like the harmonies want that. Noises shouldn't be considered as strange events, but each tone is to understand by itself in combination with others. The aim of the songs is to close the eyes and open the ears. The songs become to be carried by warm basses, in addition there are knarrende noises and soft sounds. In a small studio in the 16th Viennese district the first numbers were developed. These were presented at picknick@rhiz on 17.1.99 from where the co-operation with Christof Kurzmann arose."

FLEISCHMANN, B.: TMP CD (CHAR 015). $15.00

2001 release. "Basically a 69 minute two track version of a performance in Vienna's museum quarter early in winter 1999. Part one is nearly seventeen minutes, begins in a hushed, almost devotional calm. The volume and texture of the sounds grow incrementally, fragments of known and familiar Fleischmann surface in the mix, while rhythms muster a darker, more fractured sound than one perhaps expects from Bernard. The 52 minutes of part two take us still deeper in this singular performance, the trademark approach to accessible and warm melodies remains proud and undiminished, but there is a new take, a mood both gently reflective and quietly tender. In complementing his more pop-based work for Morr Music, Fleischmann exposes himself yet again to be an unfailingly lovable musician. Gorgeous."

YOSHIIHIDE/SHIMADA MASAHIKO, OTOMO: My Dear Mummy CD (CHAR 017). $15.00
(German version; with Fritz Ostermayer, Ishikawa Ko, Yagi Michio, Eto Naoko, Andrea Neumann, Sugimoto Taku, Sachiko Matsubara, Günter Müller, Werner Dafelecker, Otomo Yoshihide). "Shirhada Masahiko, one of Japan's best known novelists, wrote his short story Miira Na Naru made in the form of a diary, based on an actual diary of a man who committed suicide through starvation. Otomo Yoshihide's piece combines music and dramatic monologue, since its premiere in 1994 the piece has been shown a few times, always in collaboration with different musicians. The performance develops through the musical improvisation which in its relation to the text jumps between three elements: on the one hand Otomos conducting, but also the simple commands written on music paper and the advancing of time in the diary. This was the first performance of Miira Ni Narumade outside Japan and was translated especially for this occasion."

ROSENFELD, MARINA: The Sheer Frost Orchestra: Drop, Hop, Drone, Scratch, Slide CD (CHAR 018). $15.00

"Performed by the 'Sheer Frost Orchestra 2001': Hrafnhildur Arnardóttir, Andrea Claire, Nilsa Colon, Barbara Ess, Chiara Giovando, Daniella Fabricius, Zhenya Merkulova, Kari McKahan, Josephine Meckseper, Marina Rosenfeld, Yvonne Senouf and Brooke Williams—electric guitars, Alexandra Gardner, Kaffe Matthews, Ikue Mori, Kristin Norderval and Keiko Uenishi—laptops."

KURZMANN, CHRISTOF: The Air Between CD (CHAR 021). $15.00

Solo electronic albums from Charhizma's head, Kurzmann (who has worked with: Orchester 33 1/3, Dafelecker, Stangl, Rosenfeld, Fennesz, Scanner, O'Rourke, Drumm, Polwechsel, Sugimoto, Jeck, etc.). Low-pulse electronics that reflects on the glory of the Sakho speaker-phase era, radiating luxuriously. "When the organisers of the Donaufestival/Krems invited me to contribute a piece of work on this year's theme The Deep Tone, my first thought was to once again create music that follows parameters such as melody or rhythm, something that, except for a few contributions to various compilations, I had paid little attention to on my releases over the past years. I had set about building songlike miniatures and sketches, pieces based on low-pitched sounds interspersed with short melodic signatures, when suddenly the flow of my life was interrupted by something that was to change everything: war! Thus, this album has become an account that documents the surrender of my musical and creative self to my social self, a document of mourning and sadness. Rather than being the result of my wishes, the air between is a reflection of my mood of resignation. It's a picture of the first days of war, when the air raids were still rare yet nonetheless vehement and disastrous. It's a portrayal of the air between — between the attacks, between hope and despair, between waiting and surrender." — Kurzmann, 2003.

REBECCA: Two Variations CD (CHAR 022). $15.00

Kai Fagascinski: (clarinet), Michael Renkel: (guitar). "Rebecca exists since October 2002. Work began with improvisations. Over the course of time the same piece was repeatedly 'improvised' again, reducing the concept of improvisation to absurdity. Through repeated playing a musical piece, a composition come into being. The piece is not notated. Rebecca remembers, and forgets. It is not so much a matter of interpreting a preconceived idea but rather of continuously working on and within the piece. The musical work becomes practice, action. Because the same piece is played over and over again in variations, piece and musician merge into a process. The concept of return is also hidden in the name ('re'). Less obviously, 'bec' (back) refers to the act of remembering, while 'ca.' (circa) stands for the vague, the indeterminate. This rotating around oneself and remembering as a means of drawing from the past, however, both aim at forward movement and outward communication. Repetition as memory facing forward."

KAMMERER, MARGARET: To Be An Animal of Real Flesh CD (CHAR 023). $15.00

"The first solo-release of the Berlin-based singer and guitarist Margaret Kammerer contains five solo-recordings as well as collaborations with Axel Dörner (Die Enttäuschung), Chris Abrahams (Necks) and Yoshida Tatsuya (Ruins). Additionally there are remix-tracks from B.Fleischmann (Charhizma/Morr), Nicholas Bussmann (Kapitalband.1), Fed Frith, Philip Jeck (Touch) and Olivier Lamm (Active Suspension)."

NEUMANN/SABINE ERCKLENTZ, ANDREA: oberflächenspannung CD (CHAR 024). $15.00

Andrea Neumann: Inside piano, composition; Sabine Ercklentz: trumpet, electronic devices, composition. "Sabine Ercklentz and Andrea Neumann are using for their compositions musical material which illuminate (examine) the noisily part of the sound, its density, colour and 'consistency', the possibility of transform it — comparable with sound transformations in electronic (computer) music — but made mainly with their acoustic instruments. Through the extreme amplification of both instruments, sounds that are hardly audible under normal circumstances, can be worked with. Sometimes the original character of such material can also be changed considerably, the pure and fine original sound becoming something massive or even physical. The pieces often focus on the transitions from noise and textual sound to specific pitch and harmonic material and from metric and rhythmic time to clock/conceptual time, as well as on the connection between strictly specified and written material and freer passages. The compositions, while bringing to mind electronic music, through the use of machine-like repetition, nevertheless retain a raw quality due to familiar instruments, sounds and performance techniques."

VA: Labor 2CD (CHAR 026/7). $15.00

"A Berlin sampler with: Phosphor, Andrea Ermke, Gregor Hotz, Asi Foecker, Robin Hayward, Kai Fagascinski, Merle Ehlers, Margareth Kammerer, Sabine Ercklentz, Alessandro Bosetti, Serge Baghdassarians, Boris Baltschun, Fernanda Farah, Uli Ertl, Werner Hirsch, Steffi Weismann, Rüt Waldeyer, Barbara Klinker, Sweatshop Orchestra, Ella Ziegler, Adeline Rosenstein, István Scheibler and many more. This CD is an attempt to present a very lively part of the music scene in Berlin. We've asked 21 artists — associated with one of Berlin's most interesting performance-spaces 'Kule' — to contribute a piece of work either for the audio or the video section on this CD. Of course they were completely free to ask other artists to accompany them or rather present their solo-work. We hope that the result will give you at least a glimpse or a vague idea about what is going on in Berlin 2003."

EFZEG: Würm CD (CHAR 028). $15.00

Boris Hauf, Martin Siewert, Burkhard Stangl, Dieb13, Billy Roisz: electronic and acoustic instruments.

CHARLY (UK):

YARDBIRDS, THE: Shapes of Things 7LP BOX (BOX 104LP). $95.00

"A collector's item? Sure it was. Now our intention is to bring it back to the public as an easier to find item, mainly because it's a priceless collection of seven of the very best works of the undisputed leaders of the R'n'B British Invasion. The Yardbirds' 7LP box Shapes Of Things is finally reissued in a new enhanced print, with all albums in high quality 5mm sleeves, each album with printed inner sleeve, photos and graphic material." Album Titles: The First Recordings, Sonny Boy Williamson With the Yardbirds, Five Live Yardbirds, For Your Love, Having a Rave Up with the Yardbirds, Shapes of Things, Odds and Sods.

CHERRY, DON: Mu First Part/Mu Second Part CD (CHARLY 067). $15.00

Reissue of both LP volumes on 1 CD. Cherry (pocket trumpet, piano, Indian flute, bamboo flute, voice, bells, percussion) and Ed Blackwell (drums, percussion, bells). Recorded at Saravah Studios, 8/22/1969. "Neither musician compromises himself on Mu, which is surely one of the most beautiful duets ever recorded, comparable in intensity to John Coltrane's interplay with Rashied Ali on the album Interstellar Space. The music ranges from being as simple and naive as a nursery rhyme to other moments when it takes on the drama and intensity of an oriental chant. In listening to it, we can appreciate why Don Cherry always considered himself first and foremost a singer, even when he is playing the trumpet." — Pierre-Jean Critten.

VA: Jazz Actuel 3CD (CHARLY 707). $34.00

Repressed! Deluxe 3CD box set, subtitled "A collection of avant garde/free jazz/psychedelia from the BYG Actuel catalog of 1969-1971." Selection edited by Thurston Moore & Byron Coley. Features one track each from: Sunny Murray, Archie Shepp, Steve Lacy, David Allen, Sonny Sharrock, Grachan Moncur III, Clifford Thornton, Jacques Coursil, Dave Burrell, Sun Ra, Arthur Jones, Burton Greene Ensemble, Art Ensemble of Chicago, Andrew Cyrille, Paul Bley, Frank Wright, Acting Trio, Dewey Redman, Don Cherry, Anthony Braxton, Jimmy Lyons, Claude Delcloo/A. Jones, Musica Elettronica Viva, Kenneth Terroade, Gong, Alan Silva & the Celestial Communication Orchestra. All tracks from the crucial series of original BYG albums; with 36 page booklet of in-depth annotation of photographs. Charly's reputation isn't the best for these kinds of things, but this seems well done all around.

SHEPP, ARCHIE: Blasé Live At The Pan-African Festival 2CD (CHARLY 819). $21.00

Blasé was a mind-blowing Parisian studio session from 8/16/69, with: Shepp (tenor sax), Jeanne Lee (vocal), Lester Bowie (trumpet, flugelhorn), Chicago Beau & Julio Finn (harmonia), Dave Burrell (piano), Malachi Favors (bass), Philly Joe Jones (drums). Live At The Pan-African Festival was recorded 8/29 & 30 in Algiers. Featuring: Shepp, Clifford Thornton (cornet), Grachan Moncur III (trombone), Dave Burrell (piano), Alan Silva (bass), Sunny Murray (drums), plus Algerian and Tuareg musicians. "These two albums from 1969 remain some of the best Shepp ever made and were musical statements of his intention to go back to his roots: African transe, African-American chants but also blues and jazz. Each time he developed these influences and transcended them through his unique approach. These recordings have rightly earned their place in jazz history and are unique artefacts of the musical context of that period."

YARDBIRDS FEAT. JEFF BECK, THE: London 1964-1965, New York, Memphis, Chicago '65, London '66 LP (CR 300013). $16.00

"The Yardbirds are perhaps best known having invented the 'rave up' (long instrumental breaks in the middle of songs that would contribute to the evolution of psychedelia) and because guitar virtuosos Eric Clapton, Jimmy Page and Jeff Beck all got their start here. But it was Jeff Beck's stint with the band from 1965-1966 that perhaps most influenced the way guitar was played in the 1960s. And not coincidentally it was also when Beck joined the band that the hits started rolling in. These studio sessions (recorded partly in London, and partly during the Yardbirds American tour in 1965) bring together some of these finest moments, including 'You're A Better Man Than I' recorded in Memphis with Sun Records founder Sam Phillips."

MOTHER GONG: Fairy Tales LP (CR 5018). $16.00

"Originally released in 1979, Gilli Smyth (Mother Gong) with the help of Nik Turner (Hawkwind) among others, takes three children's fairy tales 'Wassilissa,' 'The Three Tongues,' and 'The Pied Piper' and uses her own haunting voice and music to bring out their unspoken dark sides. Warning: you may never be able to sleep peacefully again."

CHARRM (UK):

VA: Absolute Zero CD (CHARRM 28). $15.00

"Artists: Biosphere, Disinformation, Gescom, Hallucinator, Hazard, Jiri Ceiver, Monolake, :zoviet*france:... Since Saburo Teshigawara formed the dance company KARAS in Tokyo in 1985, the group's aim has been to seek a new form of beauty, one that contains the essence of human existence in its natural and manufactured environment. As a dance maker, Teshigawara's work and process spring not from conventional ideas established through history, but from his search for still hidden possibilities through action in choreography, art, music, design and thought. His approach is closer to the freedom and radical spirit of on-the-edge experimental music, being one of continually reinventing and rearranging ideas of dance and of expression. In Absolute Zero, Teshigawara attempts to achieve the impossible quality of perfect stillness and order amid the chaos of the physical world. A work of contrasts within and between its movement, sound and stage designs and its textures, Absolute Zero is the apotheosis of this artist's continual quest for beauty and discovery. To accompany the piece's worldwide touring, a number of international sound artists were invited to respond to the theme, 'absolute zero', with new compositions. This CD brings together eight artists whose work shares with Teshigawara's sensibilities of concept, aesthetic and innovation. From Biosphere to :zoviet * france:, the contributing artists are at the forefront of electronica, their sounds sketching subtle approaches to the absolute."

CHE RECORDS (UK):

MAGIC HOUR: No Excess Is Absurd LP (CHE 20). $13.00
UK only vinyl version.

CHEAP (AUSTRIA):

POTUZNIAK, GERHARD: Concorde+ 2LP (CHEAP 29). $16.00

Vinyl verion of Cheap CD5. "Double 12" version gives you all of the music with none of the 'art' (the 7 aforementioned spoken word/mood segments). Works just as well as a musical statement and lends its beat-services to the DJ public for after-hours (i.e. off-the-clock) extensions." — Hrvatski

AUSTEN, LOUIE: Consequences 2LP (CHEAP 31). $16.00
Double vinyl version.

JUST, CHRISTOPHER: House 12" (CHEAP 42). $9.00

"Christopher Just strikes again — after his long timeout on Cheap Records, Christopher Just (Cheap, Test Tube, Gigolo ...) is back with this brilliant Chicago-style 12" called House. Even 10 years ago, when the Cheap label started up, none of the records rocked more than his ... so let's get back to the basics."

KHAN: Ride Me 12" (CHEAP 43). $9.00

"Ride me", from 1989, was lost for a long time. Then I found the master and took it on my '1900 get Khan'-Tour, with the result that all over Europe people know what my underwear looks like, everyone is singing the song, but actually nobody has the track. I don't think that the Cheap-label needs any more reasons to release such electro-pop classics as 'Ride Me' and 'You Are No Friend Of Mine'."

SLUTS'N'STRINGS & 909: Carrera Remixed CD (CHEAP CD4). $16.00

Remix album based on the 1997 classic from Patrick Pulsinger and E. Tunakan. Remixers are: Si Begg/Buckfunk 3000, Peter Kruder, The Private Lightening Six, Animals on Wheels, Orchester 33 1/3, DJ Hell, B Recordings, Sluta Leta, DJ Elin, & Farmers Manual.

AUSTEN, LOUIE: Consequences CD (CHEAP CD6). $16.00

Austrian vocalist known for his "study" of the Ratpack (the ultimate loser trio of Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin & Sammy Davis Jr.), sings his songs over an electronic backing produced and arranged by M. Neugebauer. An incredibly uninteresting concept, actually realized to decent effect.

ENGKILDE, AUGUST: Police Beat Box CD (CHEAP CD7). $16.00

"The music on this album is a computer-manipulated mix of two live recordings. A live recording with my orchestra band of Inner Urge, and a live sound recording from a cinema in Delhi showing some old Indian gangster movie. All together this is a new sound track of a gangster movie to be seen without a screen." — A. Engkilde

CHEMIKAL UNDERGROUND (UK):

SUCKLE: Against Nurture CD (CHEM 042 CD). $21.00

"Debut album. Suckle's Frances McKee used to be in the Glasgow band The Vaselines. Suckle come on like Canadian folkies the McGarrigle Sisters jamming with the Velvet Underground." Utilizing glockenspiel, flute, percussion, keyboards, melodica, cello, chanter & whistle over a strumming folk-rock base, this is an eloquent expansion over the now legendary aura of the Vaselines. Beautifully crafted.

SUCKLE: Against Nurture LP (CHEM 042 LP). $18.00

LP version, full color sleeve.

ARAB STRAP: Turbulence (Mixes) CD (CHEM 051 CD). $8.00

"Turbulence" — the final track on the Strap's excellent long-player The Golden Thread — is given the once over by unlikely supermix heroes Bis — this is Arab Strap in full-on collision with New Order and Depeche Mode — plus further mistreatment from Jason Famous (Apollo remix) and Arab Strap themselves."

BRITISH MEAT SCENE: Fukd Id #4 CD (CHEM 054 CD). $8.00

"British Meat Scene are Duncan Mackay and Rupert Lyddon. Duncan Mackay has been around the underbelly of the music industry for a while now. His post modernistic nu-psychedelic trumpet led him to become a member of 'The Scream Team ARKESTRA'. He has also worked with David Holmes, Death In Vegas and Richard Ashcroft. Rupert's involvement with the British Meat Scene stemmed from his involvement with North London's poshest organic meat suppliers. 'Not a comment on modern farming'."

BRITISH MEAT SCENE: Fukd Id #4 12" (CHEM 054 EP). $8.00

CHERRY RED (UK):

FREE DESIGN, THE: The Best Of Free Design 2LP (MRED 194 LP). $23.00

"This compilation draws from The Free Design's six albums recorded from 1967-1973 for Enoch Light's renowned audiophile label, Project 3; as well as their rare, There Is A Song, released on the tiny Ambrotype label in 1973. Despite their exquisite vocal harmonies and ethereal arrangements, success inexplicably eluded this sibling vocal group (Chris, Bruce and Sandy Dedrick). Yet, almost three decades later The Free Design's music continues to live on, influencing a whole new generation of 'soft' pop (Saint Etienne, The High Llamas, Stereolab, not to mention Japan's own Cornelius who, along with Pizzicato Five's Yasuhara Konishi reissued the Free Design catalogue on CD on his Trattoria label in 1994). Includes annotated track listing by Chris Dedrick."

CHI/WORLD SERPENT (UK):

KA-SPEL, EDWARD: Caste O' Graye Skreeëns CD (CHI 01 CD). $17.00

"Caste O' Graye Skreeëns, the inaugural release on Legendary Pink Dots main-man Edward Ka-Spel's own label is his finest solo work to date. All the trademark LPD references are there, but with a fresh new approach, and a more intensive sound. Edward plays all instruments on this album, and has been busily working on this release for World Serpent since January 2001."

CHICKS ON SPEED RECORDS (GERMANY):

CHICKS ON SPEED: Will Save Us All LP (COS 001 LP). $10.00

"The long awaited debut album from Chicks On Speed. Sydney-born Alex Murray-Leslie, New Yorker Melissa Logan, and Kiki Morse from Munich met behind the Munich Art Academy in 1997 and started as an art project that has gradually merged into the medium of music. For their debut album, they founded a new label, Chicks On Speed records. Their music is a unique mixture of punk/new wave attitude, electronic music wisdom, and a killer instinct for pop. Chicks On Speed Will Save Us All collects the best tracks of their totally sold out 7"s." "Real" (as opposed to the mega-limited Un-Releases CD) album from this trio of pan-lingual/localational mistresses, now creating a sort of stir in all manner of global art/culture hubs due to their infinitely appealing attire (single-use paper/leather dresses of primitive means taped directly to the body) and new/no-wave approach to synth-pop. Immense listing of accomplices adorns the CD: Tina Frank, Ramon Bauer, Florian Hecker (all of Mego/Skot fame), Patrick Pulsinger (of Cheap fame), Gerhard Potuznik (of Mego/Cheap fame), Ed DMX (of DMX Krew fame), etc... Features a few ridiculous covers ('Warm Leatherette' by The Normal, 'Give me Back My Man' by the B-52's, 'Mind Your Own Business' by the Delta 5) and a couple of jabs at the concepts of modeling and being female in a generally cold, non-receptive society. Incredibly cheeky, so good." — Hrvatski.

CHICKS ON SPEED: Chix 52 12" (COS 002 EP). $8.00

SILVESTERBOY: Monsters Rule This World LP (COS 003 LP). $11.00

"Here comes the first signing of Chicks On Speed Records! Sylvesterboy! . On his debut he presents a unique mixture of electronic music somewhere between Suicide and Sique Sique Sputnik, a highly political message and an entertainingly absurd art / performance-factor. Artwork and graphics by Chicks On Speed. True chicks-style!"

CHICKS ON SPEED VS. KREIDLER: Chicks On Speed vs. Kreidler 12" (COS 004 EP). $6.50

"Chicks On Speed team up with Düsseldorf's instrumental pop heroes Kreidler to produce their strangest piece of pop music to date. Three originals by Kreidler / Chicks On Speed and one surprising cover version of Nick Cave's 'Where The Wild Roses Grow' make this release as mysterious as appealing." [CD version forthcoming]

LE TIGRE: Feminist Sweepstakes LP (COS 005 LP). $10.00

"Le Tigre's second full-length release delivers the rollerskate jams, sampler-punk and political dance trax you've come to expect from the trio, and ups the ante for electro-conceptual, feminist pop music everywhere. This time around the Le Tigre sound seems influenced equally by basement recordings and top-forty electronic production. Sub-bass and break-beats figure prominently in the loud, live-show oriented song-writing on Feminist Sweepstakes. Kathleen Hanna, Johanna Fateman, and new bandmember J.D. Samson each have solo vocal moments on the album and elsewhere they gang up, finish one another's sentences, or exchange insights. Politically complicated, feminist perspectives inform Le Tigre's lyrical approach to their subject matter, even as the songs occasionally veer into introspection or absurdity." CD version is on Mr. Lady in the US.

CHICKS ON SPEED: Fashion Rules 12" (COS 008 EP). $8.00

"This is the long awaited new Chicks On Speed single. The first track from their next album. With a cover-photo of Chicks On Speed by the king of fashion Karl Lagerfeld himself (no joke)! 'Fashion Rules' was produced by Tobi Neumann and Thies Myntner who were recently involved with mixes of club hits like 2-Raumwohnungen 'Sexy Girl', Goldenboy's 'Rippin Kittin' and Peaches 'Set It Off'. And if this would be not enough on the B-side we find a remix by Alter Ego who recently dominated worldwide clubcharts with their own tracks, their Human League remix and their productions for Sven Vath. Alter Ego turn 'Fashion Rules' into a raving/rocking club-anthem."

BLECHDOM, KEVIN: Bitches Without Britches LP (COS 009 LP). $14.00

LP Version, gatefold sleeve.

REED, ANGIE: Presents The Best Of Barbara Brockhaus LP (COS 011 LP). $14.00

LP version.

CHICKS ON SPEED: We Don't Play Guitars CD (COS 010 CD). $6.00

"We Don't Play Guitars' is the first single to be lifted from the forthcoming new album 99 Cents. Released on CD and 12" vinyl, 'We Don't Play Guitars' features another guest appearance, this time from Peaches on vocals and guitar, and sees Chicks On Speed deliver the type of perfect pop song they've so far only threatened. The single comes backed with stunning mixes by the likes of Tiefschwarz, Christopher Just, Chicken Lips and Cristian Vogel."

CHICKS ON SPEED: 99 Cents CD (COS 012 CD). $18.00

"The new album, their third long player, follows The Re - Releases Of The Un - Releases compilation and 2000's brilliant debut Will Save Us All, and is without doubt their finest collection of songs to date. Written and recorded in their hometown of Berlin, the Chicks On Speed are Kiki Moore, Melissa Logan and Alex Murray-Leslie. The new album sees the band collaborate with a number of their favourite musicians, including Miss Kittin, Le Tigre, Nicola from Adult and Talking Heads' / Tom Tom Club's Tina Weymouth, who teams up with Chicks On Speed for a take on her own 1981 classic 'Wordy Rappinghood'."

CHICKS ON SPEED: 99 Cents LP (COS 012 LP). $15.00

Double LP version, full color gatefold sleeve.

CHICKS ON SPEED: Wordy Rappinghood CD (COS 017 CD). $6.00

"Chicks On Speed release the brilliant new single 'Wordy Rappinghood' taken from their latest album 99 Cents. 'Wordy Rappinghood' is the cover of Tom Tom Club 1980's big hit. This version features the vocal talent of Miss Kittin and Tina Weymouth (Tom Tom Club and Talking Heads) herself. Released on CD and 12" vinyl, the single comes backed with stunning mixes by the likes of Trevor Jackson, Plaground and Dave Clark."

CHICKS ON SPEED: Wordy Rappinghood 12" (COS 017 EP). $8.00

Vinyl EP version, with vinyl-exclusive Dave Clark remix.

CHICKS ON SPEED: Will Save Us All CD (COS 001 CD). $14.50

one looked back. Squarepusher and Autechre, among others, added their two cents to this obscure Brooklyn hip-hop gem. Now, Chocolate Industries has taken the tired, long-held conventions about electronic music and hip-hop and once again rearranged the musical palette. Just when you thought: 'Ahh, electronics and hip-hop: brilliant idea,' Rapid Transit takes on board another dimension of contemporary musical cross-pollination. Whoever thought that free and improvisational jazz had nothing to do with hip-hop and electronics just hadn't read their liner notes or heard the anecdotes. As one of African-America's founding art forms, it was inseparable from the get go. Thus when the label's artist encountered the fecundity of the Chicago underground jazz scene, artists like Doug Scharin, Rob Maranek, Chicago Underground Trio, Isotope 217 and numerous others, there was hesitation. What Rapid Transit represents then, is where Mr. Lif meets the ghost of Alice Coltrane and Push Button Objects (Edgar Farinas) encounters the jazz coronet between two turntables and a mixer. It is also a compilation that fills the listener with suspense and anticipation because it is the place where local US musical movements, (Miami, Atlanta, and Chicago, to name only three) previously separated both by geography and musical aesthetic come together to produce a hybrid, the full results of which will still be unfolding a decade from now. This is a true state-of-the-art manifesto for the US electronic underground, in every one of its variegated aspects." — Tim Haslett. Track listing: Prefuse-72: "7th Message"; Roots Manuva: "Juggle Tings Proper"; East Flatbush Project: "Tried by 12 fides"; Push Button Objects: "Non Existant"; Sluta Leta: "Whispers Special"; Ko-Wreck Technique: "Metro Dade"; Prefuse-73: "Livin Life"; Communications Project: "Do Tell"; Ko-Wreck Technique: "Behavior"; Rec Center (DJ Emaculate): "Mind, Body & Soul"; Push Button Objects: "Tooth Picks and Horses"; While: "Slate".

PUSH BUTTON OBJECTS W/ DEL, MR LIF & DJ CRAZE: 360 Degrees Remixes CD (CHLT 016 CD). $12.00

"Ask and you shall receive, the Chocolate Industries camp is finally ready to release the highly anticipated remixes of "360 degrees" (CHLT 012) by Push Button Objects w/ Del the Funky Homosapien, Mr. Lif and DJ Craze. The saga continues with new translations by El-p (Company Flow), Kutmasta Kurt, DJ Spinna, The Herbaliser and Prefuse-73. Each remix offers its own original blend of neck snapping beats and ill samples set forth by each of these cutting edge producers. An outstanding package to satisfy all. The remixes are in one package laced over a 2 part 12" and one CD. Artwork by Evan Hecox. Keep an eye out for the new Push-Button objects full length features guest appearances by Del, John McEntire and Doug Mc combs of Tortoise, Dose One, Vast Aire of Cannibal Ox, and many others. The CD has a total of 8 tracks: "360 degrees" (original), "Breakers delight", 5 remixes & PBO'sters "360 Beatapella". The Prefuse 73 mix is exclusive to the CD.

PUSH BUTTON OBJECTS: 360 Degrees (Prefuse-73 Remix) 12" (CHLT 017 EP). $5.50

Three track remix EP of the PBO classic (featuring Del the Funkie Homosapien & Mr. Lif). Tracks are: Prefuse-72 original remix, instrumental remix and clean edit remix. "The long lost Prefuse-73 remix of "360 Degrees" is finally being put to wax for all the beat junkies. This is a limited edition type stylo, so speak your clout. Don't sleep."

DIVERSE: Move CD (CHLT 018 CD). $9.00

"With the release of the Move EP starts a new era in abstract beat making and thought provoking lyrics. But for now this is just a sample of Diverse, 25 year old Kenny Jenkins, who makes a humble living delivering mail for a local Chicago university. In between his day job and rocking shows — you can find Diverse perfecting his skills with his band which consist of Matt Lux (Isotope-217) and Ted Sirota. Diverse is currently working on his new album which will feature guest appearances from Jeff Parker (Tortoise) and tracks from Prefuse-73 and a few others. You have been warned. Artwork by: Evan Hecox."

DIVERSE: Move 12" (CHLT 018 EP). $6.50

12" with exclusive remix by J-rawls of the Lone Catalyst. 6 tracks, full color artwork.

WHILE: Slip CD (CHLT 019 CD). $9.00

"This is a follow-up to While's latest album Even. It contains reworks from Even along with four remixes from Savath & Savalas, Fennesz, A Grape Dope (John Herndon of Isotope 217 / Tortoise) and While's cinematic beats and lush soundscapes. The perfect record to play on a lazy afternoon. Stunning artwork. A must for all While fans."

PUSH BUTTON OBJECTS: Fly (You Ain't) 12" (CHLT 020 EP). $5.50

"Yes yes yall..the P.B.O. is back with another classic banger with special guest Vast Aire of Cannibal Ox, Akrobatik and Maintain of the Rec Center, on the heels of his now classic 360 Degrees single w/ Del and Lif. The p.b.o.-ster has delivered another timeless anthem...P.B.O. and Cannibal Ox will never fake shit...don't sleep."

WHILE: Even CD (CHLT 021 CD). $13.00

"Off the heels of releasing the Haze EP, While has resurfaced from the underbelly of the nations capital with his first album entitled Even this album contains 10 tracks of lush digital paranoia in the light of Coil with a twist of Stravinsky and the moodiness of Charles Mingus. A must for fans of freeform electronics and glitchy jazz. Stay tuned for While's next release slip with remixes from Fennesz, Savath+Savalas (Prefuse-73), and John Herndon of Tortoise and Isotope-217." track listing: GATE2 // BIN // CHASE // SHAPE // ELSE TEMP // HIVE // LEVEL // FAULT // LOST MOTH

WHILE: Even 2LP (CHLT 021 LP). $13.00

Double LP version in over-the-top full color foil-stamped gatefold sleeve.

SUNDAY: Universe City/Afternoon 7" (CHLT 022). $4.50

"New Chocolate recruit and Australian native, Tania May-Bowers better known as Sunday. Brings forth a limited edition 7" of smooth angelic vocals, deep poetics and dreamy beats. All produced by Sunday and Tony Dupe. Imagine Seefeel, Tricky, Sade and Nico of the Velvet Underground having a sweet lunch on a rainy afternoon. Headphones required for a full stereo performance."

VIA TANIA: Dream Of... CD (CHLT 023 CD). $9.00

"New Chocolate recruit and Australian native Tania May-Bowers better known as Sunday, brings forth her debut double EP of smooth angelic vocals, deep poetics and dreamy beats. Engineered by Casey Rice. Guest appearances by John Herndon and Jeff Parker of Isotope 217 and Tortoise. Via Tania's music is a blend of Sade, Nico of the Velvet Underground, Massive Attack and Seefeel on a slow endless roller coaster. While and Scott Herren (Prefuse 73, Savath+Savalas) have joined Sunday's roller coaster via two remixes of 'Universe City' and 'Drift Away'. Headphones are required for a full stereo performance. All this plus more from the Chocolate empire." 6-track CD only release.

CAURAL: Paint CD (CHLT 024 CD). $9.00

"Chocolate Industries proudly presents Caural. Following in the Chocolate tradition of fusing musical genres you will find that this EP will fit quite nicely in your Chocolate collection.. On the Paint EP Zach Mastone aka Caural showcases his many talents and forward thinking approach to music. By melting head nodding beats, lush samples and dirty feed back to get just about anyone moving. Some might call this Sonic Youth meets Herbie Hancock but we call it Caural — at the rate this kid's going, who knows what's coming next. Expect a new album next year but till then put on your headphones and get acquainted to the Paint EP.

Artwork by: U.K graff writer/super human 'Kid Acne'."

CAURAL: Stars On My Ceiling CD (CHLT 025 CD). $13.00

"Caural's musical journey began in the summer of 1984 with a Fisher-Price cassette recorder bumping the sounds of Thomas Dolby and the Beat Street soundtrack: the perfect backdrop for long summer days of skateboarding and break dancing. Now wrapped in nostalgia and headphones, the 24 year-old multi-instrumentalist and super human hailing from the city of wind takes you on his sophomore outing, once again delivering his unique blend of influences. The result is a potent dose of neck-snapping abstract soundscapes rooted in Hip Hop and drenched in the atmosphere of everyday life. With upcoming compilation appearances, remix work and tour plans, Caural is currently in the studio finishing up his double EP slated for the fall, featuring new instrumentals, cutting edge lyrics, and a remix by Savath and Savalas. Until then, Stars On My Ceiling gives you a look at the sky through Caural's eyes."

CAURAL: Stars On My Ceiling 2LP (CHLT 025 LP). $13.00

Double LP version.

PUSH BUTTON OBJECTS: Ghetto Blaster CD (CHLT 026 CD). $13.00

Long awaited 2nd full length from PBO. "It's... the return... of the Gangsta. The miighty O.G. Edgar Farinas (aka Push Button Objects) rocks the box once again with his long-awaited second Long Playa Ghetto Blaster. The Masta of Distasta brings nasty beats, electro zaps and fluttered samples to drop science on your tweeters. After popping breaks on 2000's Dirty Dozen and slow-burning bins with the '360 Degrees' 12", PBO steps in your area to dominate. Dynamix II meets Pete Rock, Cybotron dueling Bambaataa in Queensbridge, Prince Paul blunted in Berlin. Dope-flexed Interludes buffer the hott jointz with the flyest MCs in the land: Lif, Vast Aire, Del, Akrobatik, Anticon, Aesop Rock... yeah. 1nce again, Struggle's artwork is off tha heezy. Ya-ya-ya ya heard? Features the cutting-edge cadence of Mr. Lif, Akrobatik, Aesop Rock, Vast Aire [Cannibal Ox], Del Tha' Funkie Homosapien and Anticon. With kuts from world champion DJ Craze."

PUSH BUTTON OBJECTS: Ghetto Blaster 2LP (CHLT 026 LP). $13.00

Double LP version.

VA: The Urban Renewal Program CD (CHLT 027 CD). $14.00

"The Urban Renewal Program is the past, present and future of urban art, music and expression. This album is the first of four installments, featuring such artists as Mos Def, Diverse, Caural, DJ Food, El-P, Aesop Rock, Tortoise, Prefuse-73, and Miho Hatori of Cibo Matto and Gorillaz. The album also features artwork by Evan Hecox, and the CD will come packaged with a book of additional artwork by Kaws, Graphic Havoc, Struggle Inc, and Brent Rollins of Ego Trip. The Urban Renewal Program is a platform for the exploration and interpretation of urban life through music and art. This program strives to embody the essence of city life with themes of community, graffiti art, transit, and artistic integrity. Each artist's voice harmonizes with the chaotic roar of the city soundscape to create a dialogue that is both raw and passionate in its message. The album is full of surprises and bonus material like Aesop Rock, after his 'Train Buffer' track, rambling about a prostitute he almost caught one night while El-P laughs in the background. It also includes moments of insight into the artistic process, like Miho Hatori talking about cruising the city trying to find her rhythm, or Mos Def drawing inspiration from his neighborhood. This album is a hybrid collection of cultural references and musical disciplines. It follows the erratic, never-ending pulse of the city from the cacophony of the early morning rush hour to the edginess of night. This is the daily journey of the urban occupant."

VA: The Urban Renewal Program 3LP (CHLT 027 LP). $17.00

Triple LP version.

EL-P AND AESOP ROCK: Dead Light/Train Buffer 12" (CHLT 028). $5.50

First in a series of 12"s to precede the long anticipated Urban Renewal Program full length album later in 2002 (which will include exclusive tracks from: Prefuse-73, Mos Def w/ Diverse and Planet Asia, Diverse, Mr Lif, El-P, RJD2, Miho Hatori, While, DJ Food, Tortoise, Caural, Dose-one, Souls of Mischief). "After two years of hard physical and mental labor the Chocolate Industries empire is finally ready to release its first installment of the highly anticipated and highly classified Urban Renewal program compilation..kicking things off proper is the new head banger from el-p (Company Flow) and Aesop Rock...both 'Deadlight' and 'Train Buffer' are already classic tracks and 'Deadlight' is also el-p's way of saying a big FUCK YOU! to all the no integrity having establishments crawling around like insects..this 12" is large don't sleep."

MOS DEF, DIVERSE & PREFUSE-73: Wylin Out CD (CHLT 030 CD). $9.00

"The Chocolate Industries Empire is ready to release the second installment of the Urban Renewal Program 12" series and the long-awaited collaboration between Mos Def, Diverse and Prefuse-73. This is exactly what we have all been waiting for — the Mighty Mos Def and Diverse locked over the illest Prefuse beat! This will no doubt be one of the hottest singles of the summer.... Don't sleep...by the way the b-side comes equipped with a remix from Ohio phenom RJD2..so if ya don't know, now ya know. Artwork by Evan Heck." CD version includes: original, RJD2 remix, K-Kruz remix, original instr.

MOS DEF, DIVERSE & PREFUSE-73: Wylin Out 12" (CHLT 030 EP). $5.50

Six track 12" version includes original, instr., clean, RJD2 remix, RJD2 remix -instr, RJD2 remix - clean.

DIVERSE: Certified/Build 12" (CHLT 031 EP). $5.50

"Okay kids, just to set the record straight — Diverse no longer delivers mail at a local university. He has actually been in the studio recording tracks with Prefuse-73, Mos Def, and Jeff Parker of Tortoise, just to name a few artists off his new LP dropping later this year. Diverse has released Build, a late summer head-nodding anthem with an inspirational message about moving around in his van (pictured) and building personal relationships with Chicago natives and beyond. This track embodies the camaraderie of an inner-city community. Now say it with me — Build. Yeah, sounds good, huh. And, as always, on the B-side we come correct with more hotness. Mr. RJD2 has blessed Diverse with a certified club-banger titled simply 'Certified.' With breakers breakin' and poppers poppin', it's certified to get any party moving."

CAURAL: Blurred July EP CD (CHLT 032 CD). $9.00

"Following the Paint EP & his debut full-length for Chocolate Industries, Stars On My Ceiling, Zachary Mastone aka Caural brings you the third installment in the series: the Blurred July EP. Inspired by the events of his bizarre summer month and Haruki Murakami's novel The Wind-Up Bird Chronicle, Caural comes correct with two brand new instrumentals and a collaboration with the up & coming Chicago emcee Diverse. Coupled with a hauntingly beautiful remix by Savath & Savalas (aka Prefuse-73) and UK graf artist Kid Acne's imagery bringing it all together, Blurred July is an embarkation on an exciting era for this Chicago artist.

CAURAL: Blurred July EP 12" (CHLT 032 EP). $5.50

4 track 12" version.

SOULS OF MISCHIEF: Spark CD (CHLT 033 CD). $9.00

"Guess whoooooos baaaaaaack... yes kids it's the third installment of the Urban Renewal

Program 12" series and Mr. RJD2 & Souls Of Mischief have hooked up, to bless the world with 'Spark' a classic Banger which will have the whole dance floor in b-boy & b-girl stances... reminiscing of the days of 'never no more' and 'that's when you lost' this is rumored to be some of their best work since the days of 93 Till Infinity and with a sure shot connection like this you know you can't lose so 'Don't sleep,' and as always Evan hexox & Struggle Inc bring the madness with the ill art work... you know how we do SUCKA. CD includes two remixes by RJD2 & Mr Primitive. Plus himself EDAN."

SOULS OF MISCHIEF: Spark 12" (CHLT 033 EP). $5.50

12: vinyl version (with the original, clean & instrumental versions of "Spark"); color sleeve by Evan Hexox.

MOS DEF & DIVERSE: Wylin' Out (Kutmasta Kurt Remix) 12" (CHLT 034 EP). $5.50

3 track 12" only release, featuring a Kutmasta Kurt remix (original remix, instrumental, clean edit). "Ha ha hotter than most dudes. One of the biggest bangers of 2002 is back! This time around RJD2 and Prefuse-73 pass the torch to Kutmasta Kurt. The result is sheer mayhem, a veritable three car pileup of sonic jigginess. This record is large. Don't sleep. Artwork by Struggle Inc. Original version on Urban Renewal Program."

SOULS OF MISCHIEF: Spark Remix 12" (CHLT 035 EP). $5.50

Six track 12-only remix EP, featuring remixes by RJD2 and Edan (original remix, dirty and instrumental versions of each remix are included). "The 12" version of the 'Spark' remixes have arrived and as we always say, get 'em while supplies last. Deadly label artwork by Struggle Inc. Stock up & educate."

VIA TANIA: Lightning & Thunder 12" (CHLT 036 EP). $5.50

"With the release of her latest 12", Lightning & Thunder, Via Tania, whose 2002 EP Dream Of garnered rave reviews from the underground press, sets the tone for her upcoming full-length solo debut, Under A Different Sky. Lightning & Thunder is anchored by the bass-driven title track, an intricate composition bolstered by Tania's dulcet vocals. Also included: production and remix work by boundary-stretching producer, Prefuse-73 and a stunning cover of the classic New Order tune, 'Temptation'. This preview of things to come is the fruit of almost a year's worth of studio sessions. The album upcoming features production by Casey Rise and Prefuse-73, with guest appearances by John Herndon and Doug McCombs of Tortoise, Howe Gelb of Giant Sand, Chris Brokaw and others. Via Tania is an exciting new voice in the world of modern music. Lightning & Thunder is only the beginning."

VIA TANIA: Under a Different Sky CD (CHLT 038 CD). $13.00

Via Tania's debut album has been completed. Album personnel features Doug McCombs (Tortoise, 11th Dream Day), John Herndon (Tortoise) and Howe Gelb of Giant Sand. Along with production by Casey Rice (Liz Phair, the Promise Ring) Prefuse-73 adds beats and textures to via Tania's already innovative output. Via Tania's career has taken a big step forward. She's now repped by Nasty Little Man, a New York-based public relations firm who've played an instrumental role in breaking Sigur Ros, Radiohead and the Beastie Boys. Under a Different Sky is an exhilarating sound experience geared towards the forward thinking listener.

VIA TANIA: Under a Different Sky LP (CHLT 038 LP). $13.00

LP version, full color sleeve (& innersleeve).

DIVERSE: One A.M. CD (CHLT 039 CD). $13.00

"This is one of the sure shots of this year, Diverse steps out and w/ production from Madlib, Prefuse-73 & RJD2 and guest appearances from Vast Aire of Cannibal Ox, Jean Grae & Lyrics born this album is packed w/ non-stop action. After blazing tracks with the likes of Mos Def, Prefuse-73, RJD2 & countless others on critically acclaimed records like the Urban Renewal Program compilation, Prefuse-73's One Word Extinguisher, as well as his own EP Move and his banger 12" Certified — it's been 3 years of laying the groundwork for international recognition — its quite likely that you've been waiting for this relentless artist to step out on his own and deliver his full-length testimony. Dropping on heads everywhere like a late-night wake-up call, One A.M. walks the line of black psych-rock, hip-hop and true school B-boying. It's quite simply something you have never heard before. With Jeff Parker of Tortoise, Rob Mazurek and K-Kruz (all of whom appear on One A.M.), Diverse embraces the town and the scene that has helped shape him as an artist. Reaching beyond the city of Chicago, the album features production with long-time collaborators RJD2 (who produced half the album) and Prefuse-73, as well as legendary hip-hop beat scientist Madlib. Joining Diverse on the MC tip on One A.M. is Lyrics Born (Latyrx), Jean Grae, Vast Aire (Cannibal Ox), and a rare vocal cameo by Prefuse-73 (SAY WHAT?? Prefuse doing back up vocals?). It's an album that fuses amazing talents, perspectives and energies. The results are next level."

DIVERSE: One A.M. 2LP (CHLT 039 LP). $13.00

Double LP version.

VA: Urban Renewal Program Supplement 1.5 CD (CHLT 040 CD). $12.00

"The Bangers are back. The saga continues — the Urban Renewal Program is reloaded in the form of an EP with new tracks & remixes from Atmosphere, Mos Def, Diverse, Kutmasta Kurt, Aesop Rock, Caural and Prefuse-73. As we all know by now, the Urban Renewal Program has gained international acclaim as a ground breaking compilation for its forward thinking music & artwork and this limited edition EP meets and exceeds all expectations."

VA: Urban Renewal Program Supplement 1.5 12" (CHLT 040 LP). $12.00

8 track mini-LP version.

POIRIER, GHISLAIN: Beats As Politics CD (CHLT 041 CD). $13.00

"Right now the gate is open for new ideas, that's the first thing you hear upon dropping the needle to Ghislain Poirier mini epic Beats as Politics. Ghislain Poirier new offering walks the line of sparse boombastic hip hop Ragga and minimal techno along the lines of Theo Parrish and Basic channel. While exploring the worlds socio political plateau with the help of up and coming rapper Diverse (last seen guesting on this years Prefuse-73 album) & Canadian rapper Seba who both drop polyrhythmic rhymes complementing Ghislain's disjointed headbangers, after experiencing Beats as Politics there is no doubt about it, Ghislain's music holds you hostage."

POIRIER, GHISLAIN: Beats As Politics LP (CHLT 041 LP). $13.00

LP version.

TIMEOUT DRAWER, THE: Terrible Secrets Revealed For An Instant 7" (CHLT 042 EP). $4.50

2 tracks from the CD on 7", including the Caural mix.

VIA TANIA: Boltanski CD (CHLT 043 CD). $9.00

"Via Tania is back after releasing her critically acclaimed album Under a Different Sky earlier in the spring. Tania & company are back w/ a new batch of genre blurring goodies. The Boltanski EP picks up where Under a Different Sky left off, mixing up the unique musical structures which have won her a steadily growing base of followers, with the addition of two new tracks — 'March' & 'Dark Music for Dark Times.' Oh! And lets not forget the blazing remix of 'In the deep' by John Herndon Of Tortoise. Ah, that's better."

VIA TANIA: Boltanski 12" (CHLT 043 EP). $5.00

Vinyl EP version.

TIMEOUT DRAWER, THE: Presents Left for the Living Dead CD (CHLT 045 CD). $9.00

"Chocolate Industries is pleased to announce its new addition to the roster — The Timeout Drawer, a noisy guitar and synth driven rock band coming from the north side of Chicago. Long before linking up w/ Chocolate Ind., TTD have toured the country and have released two critically acclaimed albums on their own label, Someoddiplo. Now they have joined forces with the Choco crew, and Mr. Caural himself has contributed an amazing re-work of the title track to help celebrate a new direction for the label."

VAST AIRE: Look Mom No Hands/Why Is The Sky Blue 12" (CHLT 046 EP). $5.50

"Vast Aire, remember him? After conquering the world w/ Cannibal Ox on the Cold Vein album. Vast Aire has taken a brief hiatus from Ox's crazy schedule to kick things off proper on the solo tip with his new 12" Look Mom No Hands the wait is over, Vast Aire has hooked up w/ Madlib (Quasimoto, Yesterdays New Quintet) to bring you the one of the most anticipated singles of the year. Look Mom No Hands is Vast's ill lyrics, locked over Madlib's ill production, this track will be one of the highlights of the year. The b-side is a whole other story, long time associate Cryptic laces Vast w/ a soon to be classic 'Why Is The Sky Blue' which takes you back to the days 'when videos games were 8 bit', a gritty atmospheric track w/ Vast laying out the details of his up bringing in Harlem."

CHOICE PRODUCTIONS/MILLENIUM (UK):

VA: Cologne Summer CD (CH 029 CD). $15.00

"Following the successful musical dish of Chill House, Cologne based DJ and Record Producer Dominique Chevalier presents his expertise in Chilling House Music and atmospheric Deep House with this first edition of Cologne Summer. 27 year old Cologne based DJ Dominique Chevalier, Record Producer and founder of the Treibstoff Label, has created a hypnotic mix of mainly German tunes from Cologne and the result is stunning. Starting with an exclusive track by Steve Travell & Andy Tex Jones, you are immediately drawn into the deep and bitter-sweet end of House Music. The whole CD contains all these beautiful underground tunes which are not only hard to get but very difficult to hear in a concept as presented on Cologne Summer. Cologne based label Raummusik delivers two tunes of electronic depth by D.Diggler & Michael Langlois. Infamous German Imprint Force Inc. Recordings contributes with a stunning mellow piece of House Music by Dub Taylor, US Deep House Producer Chris Gray brings us Deep House American style and another Top Cologne label, Trapez Recordings, makes you drawn into the deep blue sea with the help of Lazy Fish and Akufen Psychometry. Cologne Summer is the first edition in the line of Chill House with a more electronic approach. It is beautifully mixed and creates an atmosphere you will not find on any other compilation." FULLMAN & KONRAD SPRENGER, ELLEN: Ort CD (CHOOSE 002CD). $18.00

"In 1981, at her studio in Brooklyn she began developing her life-work, the 70 foot (21 meter) 'Long String Instrument', in which rosin-coated fingers brush across dozens of metallic strings, producing a chorus of minimal organ-like overtones which has been compared to the experience of standing inside an enormous grand piano. In 2000, Fullman received a grant to live and work in Berlin for one year. A former American colleague from her New York years — composer Arnold Dreyblatt, already based in Berlin for many years — introduced Fullman to Jörg Hiller, aka Konrad Sprenger, two generations her junior. Hiller, a composer, producer, DJ, arranger, recording engineer and founder of Choose Records had gravitated from southern Germany to Berlin in 1998. The resulting collaboration might come as a surprise to those who know their respective outputs. At the beginning, Dreyblatt suggested to record an album of songs, harking back to Fullman's own southern heritage and the promise of her early song-work left unfulfilled, mirrored to Hiller's fascination with early American folk traditions inspired by Harry Smith's documentary recordings. Truly an exercise in shifting contexts, Fullman's haunting voice blends eerily with the sonorities of her instrument, which seems to function as a kind of cosmic fiddle. Hiller, as producer, arranger and musician, has created a 'wall of sound' behind Fullman with a potpourri of acoustic instruments, including Dreyblatt's own 'excited strings bass', a zither, violin, electric bass and even tympani along with the Long String Instrument. Ort, the third issue from Choose Records represents a unique blend of musical styles, from hillbilly/country & western to contemporary minimal, with shades of art-rock. With this release the label seems to be pointing to a number of diverse musical directions, opening a vast field of possibilities for the future." — Arnold Dreyblatt.

GLAZE & PRO-CELEBRITY GOLF, JAY: Three Sinister Syllables CD (H1TOFF01). $16.00

"Over two years in the making, and it shows, welcome the debut album mixtape from Manchester's sickest diggers, the Chopped Herring cats. In excess of 250 breaks, used and unused, from all over the globe sampled by the likes of King Geedorah, Necro, J-Zone, Non Phixion, Paul Barman, Edan, Porn Theatre Ushers, Ugly Duckling and many more — painstakingly created, revealing lives devoted to the beat (more than two and a half tonnes of neglected vinyl have so far been shipped in from dusty groove emporiums worldwide for their next project!). A mixtape made with love for all the breaks of all the genres hunted down, combed, sifted, cut up, discarded, rechecked and then just plain stolen. Think Edward G. Robinson, John Cooper Clarke, Larry David, Mr Baxter from Grange Hill, Woody Allen, Bob Hoskins from 'The Long Good Friday', through to the exotic, fantastic and just plain unknown. Pop from all territories: neglected fourth albums, Japanese soul breaks, Israeli eurovision b-sides, country & western beats, obscure latin, hirsute eastern european songstresses, late sixties South African beats, swedish pop — all subjected to the Herring men's discerning ears and deft fingers."

CHRONOSCOPE (UK):

SMITH, GARY: Stereo CD (CHR 2003). $16.00

Studio trio album led by this UK improvising guitarist. A much expanded sound compared to his previous albums on Impetus (solo) and Ecstatic Peace! (duo with John Stevens); this is loud, aggressive instrumental trio action, at times in an almost Caspar Brotzmann-like mold, with Dave Sturt (bass) & Lou Ciccotelli (drums).

HANO/ASAHIITO NANJO/GARY SMITH, SHOJI: CD (CHR 2005). $16.00

"Duos and trios of modern improv shot through with Holden period Blue Cheer thunder."

CINEVOX (ITALY):

GOBLIN/GIORGIO GASLINI: OST Profondo Rosso CD (MDF 301). $15.00

"The original soundtrack recording for the 1975 cult masterpiece by horror director Dario Argento. The movie (known in the US as Deep Red and starring David Hemmings) has one of the most terrific and intense scores ever (the original LP sold millions of copies). Contains liner notes. Featuring 40 minutes of previously unreleased material."

GOBLIN: OST Phenomena CD (MDF 303). $15.00

"A 1987 horror movie directed by Dario Argento. In a Swiss college, a girl (Jennifer Connelly) discovers a wretched girl murderer with the help of animals (insects and one chimpanzee) she can communicate with. 12 years after the movie, this edition album is meant a tribute to Dario Argento's art and a real treat to his fans all over. The LP of 85 was a blend of Goblin songs with rock tracks of various artist, and one composition by the talented Simon Boswell. This 1997 CD can be considered the instrumental sequel to that work, with the addition of 4 movie takes and 11 unissued tracks.

GOBLIN: OST Buio Omega CD (MDF 304). $15.00

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1979 horror thriller by cult director Joe D'Amato. The score has some fantastically spooky tracks that really evoke all the pulsating terror and bone-chilling horror of this necrophiliac love story (the movie is known in the US as Blue Holocaust or Buried Alive). Contains liner notes. Contains previously unreleased material."

GOBLIN: OST Suspiria CD (MDF 305). $15.00

"The original soundtrack recording for this Italian cult movie by horror director Dario Argento. In 1977, Cinevox Record issued the LP MDF 33/108, i.e. the Goblin's soundtrack of the movie picture Suspiria. Some tracks featured Aquaman and Dr. Frankenstein from the album Roller though not part of the actual soundtrack. This CD re-issue has been fully remastered digitally from the original tapes; the above two songs were left out and replaced by four bonus tracks."

GOBLIN: OST Zombi: Dawn Of The Dead CD (MDF 308). $15.00

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1979 U.S. cult movie by horror director George A. Romero. Terrific music score by Goblin and Dario Argento (oh yes, the Italian director!), the ultimate re-issue of a landmark soundtrack dedicated to many horror freaks. We have managed to find all original sessions' master tapes in our files, plus can't wait to introduce here 7 first issues well known by real aficionados: an alternative take of The Dawn of the Living Dead", some excerpts from "Ai Margini Della Follia".

MORRICONE, ENNIO: OST Metti Una Sera A Cena CD (MDF 309). $15.00

"The original soundtrack recording for this Italian cult movie starring Jean-Louis Trintignant. The greatest Ennio Morricone's score ever? Yes! Released in 1969 on 45 rpm and LP it is now reissued and remastered. It contains the nine tracks already known to the public plus three bonus tracks not available on the original record and the vocal version of 'Hurry to Me' recorded for the English version of the movie and issued in England (by Cbs) under the title 'Love Circle'.

MORRICONE, ENNIO: OST L'Assoluto Naturale CD (MDF 310). $15.00

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1969 Italian drama by director Mauro Bolognini. Another minor but cool nugget from the Maestro. Contains liner notes. Digitally remastered. Contains previously unreleased material."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: OST Indagine Su Un Cittadino Al Di Sopra Di Ogni Sospetto CD (MDF 311). $15.00

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1970 Italian thriller by Elvio Petri. One of the best Morricone's scores. Liner notes. 2 previously unreleased tracks."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: OST Giu' La Testa CD (MDF 312). $15.00

"The 1998 CD here to is meant to be a heartfelt tribute to Sergio Leone, coming 9 years after he passed away. This CD has been remastered using the original 1971 master tapes, it features an invaluable bonus track: an evocative reprise of the main theme by Edda Dell'Orso's magical voice. This ultimate re-issue gives the chance to all younger generation to discover Ennio Morricone's legendary inspiration for the western movie."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: OST L'Uccello Dalle Piume Di Cristallo CD (MDF 313). $15.00

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1969 cult masterpiece by director Dario Argento. The Bird With The Crystal Plumage (as it is known in the US) was Argento's directorial debut and was based on a story by Byron Edgar Wallace. Definitely one of Morricone's best works. Contains liner notes. Digitally remastered. Contains previously unreleased material."

GOBLIN: OST La Via Della Droga CD (MDF 319). $15.00

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1977 Italian crime thriller by director Enzo G. Castellari. The movie (starring David Hemmings) chronicled the adventures of an undercover police officer as he infiltrated a European drug ring. The score has a low-key sound that is reminiscent of '70s television police dramas. Most of the cuts are dominated by stripped-down, funky interplay between the guitar and bass. The main title has a mid-tempo groove from the rhythm section with a guitar solo reminiscent of David Gilmour. Other cuts have a frantic percussive attack or minimalist synthesizer hypnotic riffs. With liner notes and previously unreleased material."

GOBLIN: Il Fantastico Viaggio Del Bagarozzo Mark CD (MDF 323). $15.00

"The Italian Progressive Rock group acclaimed for soundtracking created this as a concept album as a return to their prog-rock roots. CD features an MPEG video of the group performing a live version of a track from 'Non Ho Sonno' in the legendary Cinevox studio in Rome followed by a rare video interview with the group."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: OST Quattro Mosche Di Velluto Grigio CD (MDF 325). $15.00

"A 1998 version of a milestone of a soundtrack, A 1971 thriller by Dario Argento. Included in this CD 2 bonus tracks never released before: an alternate take of the main theme, and one of "Miraggio" (Mirage), swifter in tempo. Orchestra conducted by Bruno Nicolai."

GOBLIN: Patrick CD (MDF 330). $15.00

"Soundtrack to the 1978 Australian cult classic directed by Richard Franknin (Psycho 2, Link) originally featured an orchestral soundtrack by Briay May. For the Italian release it was of course essential to have Italian progressive avant-garde rock group Goblin for the supernatural horror. The complete Goblin soundtrack with the addition of ten previously unreleased tracks."

GOBLIN: OST Amo Non Amo CD (MDF 347). $15.00

"The first Official release of the Goblin soundtrack to Amernia Balducci's film Amo Non Amo. The film starring Jaqueline Bisset and Terrence Stamp was released in the USA under the title Together? with a soundtrack by Burt Bacharach. For the Italian prog group Goblin the commission to re-score the Italian version presented a challenge that would produce some of their most unusual work. There was no spine-chilling horror in this human love story so Goblin penned the title track ballad inspired by the pop-orchestrations of Bacharach as is 'Both Two'. 'Maniera' gets closer to the familiar Goblin progressive sound. 'Funky Top' is a boogie masterpiece. The CD features six additional takes of the title track and incidental pieces from the Cinevox archives which are previously unreleased."

CHERRY FIVE (AKA GOBLIN): Cherry Five CD (MDF 349). $15.00

"Cinevox records reissues Cherry Five! The classic first album from Progressive Rock/Soundtrack institution that would later be named Goblin. Cherry Five is the very first recording by Goblin when they returned to Italy after their London experience in 1974. At the time the band was Claudio Simonetti (keyboards), Massimo Morante (guitars), Carlo Bordini (drums and percussions), Giancarlo Sorbello and Tony Tartarini (vocals). The album is composed of 6 extended tracks, structured in suite format. A cornerstone of Goblin's past which is a must for all their fans."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: Bianco Rosso E Morricone CD (MDF 352). $15.00

"The original soundtracks written by Ennio Morricone for Carlo Verdone's first two movies: Un Sacco Bello (1979, produced by the great Sergio Leone) and Bianco, Rosso E Verdone (1981). The legendary Morricone composed, orchestrated and conducted the scores for Verdone's films, which followed his enormous cabaret and television success. The meeting of the music giant and the young comedian gives birth to two soundtracks that include both sad and happy themes. The main themes of these soundtracks were issued on a 7" but this is the first time that they are released in their almost complete version. Bianco Rosso e Verdone is complete while Un Sacco Bello is missing a number of versions of the Marisol Theme featuring the vocals of Edda Dell'orso. Unfortunately, the master containing these tracks was lost. In these scores, Morricone succeeds in capturing the whole range of Carlo Verdone's comical expression in music. There are lighthearted motifs as well as sad and romantic themes."

CIRCULATION (UK):

CIRCULATION: Colours 2CD (CIRC 001 CD). $17.00

Repressed, new lower price. "This is house music with no pretensions. You get the classic, dirty, twisted energy that dominated the early house blueprint with enough jackin' beats and Mr. Fingers style melodies to keep you gripped in that Circulation way. This is a sublime debut album, disc one is on a slightly mellower tip with the beautiful classic sounding 'Cyan'. Disc two has a harder edge with the techy style that they have made their own." "Takes in shades of everything from old school Detroit to the mellower side of Italo-house. There are nods to classic deep house and Eighties electro-funk...the depth and beauty of the best early Nineties electronica...ancient analogue sounds combine with twinkling chimes and big booming basslines."

CIRCULATION: Colours Two CD (CIRC 002 CD). $16.00

2nd album from this UK deep house due. "Since the release of the first installment of the 'Colours' series Circulation (AKA Paul Davies and Matt Jackson) have been DJing and performing live all over the globe. The club still informs much of what Circulation do and tracks like 'Chocolate', 'Topaz' and 'Emerald' are aimed squarely at the dancefloor. The more reflective, downtempo tracks like 'Terracotta' and 'Taupe' lifts 'Colours Two' out of the dangerous 15-Club-Bangers-On-A-CD-Collection that befalls so many dance albums."

CIRCULATION: Colours Two 2LP (CIRC 002 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

CIRCUS COMPANY (FRANCE):

ARK: alleluyark CD (CC 001 CD). $16.00

"The CD compilation which is not an album. 8 tracks + interludes + remixes from Akufen (Force Inc.), Dimbiman (Perlon), Isolee (Playhouse) And Noze (Circus Company). Ark, half angel, half devil... An artist who has never made any concessions and who will always stay authentic through out his work. After having released some EPs on quality labels such as Brif records, Karat, Perlon and Circus Company, Ark comes back to longer formats with alleluyark. It's the opening for Circus Company's solo series (CCS). This project gathers 3 EPs on which you will find all his influences, humor and diversity that make him one of the most interesting French electronic music artists. That's probably why he's been collaborating with such talented artists. From Pépé Bradock to Mr Oizo and Cabanne? All of them would agree on that point: Ark's got a unique sensibility in music."

VA: Circus Company #5 12" (CC 005 EP). $9.00

"The Circus Company are back again with two new members: Mossa and Dave Aju, who will both release a solo ep on Circus Company in the next months. A1/ Mossa: 'Bucolik' Montréal-based, Mossa's track gathers voicy cuts and jumping grooves. A2/ Dave Aju: 'Drivethru'. Coming from San Francisco, Dave Aju infiltrates various genre-strict circles and exposes unsuspecting heads to his sound with results varying from frustration to salvation. Sometimes minimal, sometimes vegetarian, his music is equally concerned with headscratching and ass shaking. B1/ Cabanne: 'Circam' is a loopy track deep minimal track, perfect to spin! B2/ Kean & 16: 'Transit' Kean with his mate 16 delivered a brilliant minimal house track full of warm groovy synths. This track might be the more original of the whole EP. Their groove is unexpected and so tasty."

ARK: Alleluyark part 1 12" (CCS 001 EP). $9.00

"Ark is opening the ball of the Circus Company's solo series with a brand new fresh EP: Alleluyark vol.1. The volume 1 is representative of his versatile and authentic work: a melting pot of various influences. He leads us to his funky crazyness with 'satanark' on which we can feel a snake charmer vibe. In 'Sweet Chat Rio' he goes straight into the darkness with percussive grooves. Both sides are ended by 133,3 bpm loops. Flip over for Akufen's remix of 'e-cône': Brilliant! Hope you'll all enjoy these new tracks from the number one godfather of French minimal house."

DAVE AJU: The Unorthodox EP 12" (CCS 005 EP). $10.00

"We are proud to present you a brand new artist on Circus Company. Dave Aju rocks as hell. He's music is crunchy, heavy, loud and groovy. San Francisco's in the house. The anomaly known as Dave Aju appeared on the DJ scene in 1995. Disgruntled with industry standards, he set out on the long-term mission to 'rescue dance music from the blahs.' In his hometown of San Francisco, Dave Aju infiltrates various genre-strict circles and exposes unsuspecting heads to his sound with results varying from frustration to salvation. Sometimes minimal, sometimes vegetarian, his music is equally concerned with head scratching and ass shaking. He has recently joined forces with Circus Company in Paris to unleash some of his production madness onto dancefloors around the world. Currently spinned around by the whole minimal house scene, from Dan Bell to Ricardo Villalobos."

NÔZE: EP1 12" (CCS 006 EP). $9.00

"This record is the first of a series from Nôze, Organizing an 'avant garde meeting', beyond the concepts already in place...forget about nu-jazz, trip-hop, house, or techno. From the most dancefloor song (Canicule) passing by click and bleep style (Outamimondio) to a very melancholic ballade (Newlyn), Nôze are showing a new sight of jazz through electronic music. Are Nôze the ultimate 'Electrofree' fusion? A record which gives another idea of what electronic music can bring to improvised music. And mutually. A record where are confronting the acoustics of instruments (piano, prepared piano, clarinet, saxophone...) — and the synthetic of data processing. That is to say the unpredictable vitality of the one confronted with the clockwork regularity of the other one. The objective does not aim at technical perfection where everything is clearly expressed, it plays with the suggestion, the unspoken, the imagination."

SCHNAUSS, ULRICH: Far Away Trains Passing By CD (BLOCK 005 CD). $14.00

"Far Away Trains Passing By" grabs you by the heart. All 6 tracks, full of heavenly melodies and harmonies, do not even think about caring about unwritten laws of the so-called electronica genre, but switch on sun after sun in the sky instead, hover old drumboxes and breakbeats and explore the more than impressive collection of machines in Schnauss' studio. Everything works and flows on autopilot here and sounds much more like a studio with wooden floors and walls rather than harddisk cooling fans. Ulrich Schnauss? No, the name should not ring any bell, although it might sound familiar to his Berlin neighbours. However, Mr. Schnauss released more records over the last couple of years than you might think, all of them appeared in quite different contexts though. And does it matter? Far Away Trains Passing By is the most astonishing debut of the year and at the same time only the beginning of a long story. Next time, everyone will take them serious though...."

STATIC: Eject Your Mind CD (BLOCK 006 CD). $14.00

[deleted] "Modular pop, anthemish circuit cuddlings, or maybe simply electronica, always on the verge between song and track: there is a good number of cosey little drawers one could open in order to find an appropriate language to describe Static's music. One can be sure, however, that in a better world, Static's music would be played on heavy rotation everywhere between Iceland and Japan and lucky owners of oldskool jukeboxes would cut dub-plate after dubplate to feed their little machines with tracks from Eject Your Mind. Static is one of a few monikers of Hanno Leichtmann, a Berlin-based musician. If not working on Static material, he plays in various other projects like Paloma, Ich Schwitze Nie or DJ Attaché & The Beige Oscillator. On Eject Your Mind, Static combines quiet dsp-stills with a warm, almost investigative pop appeal, resulting in a perfect illusion of a crumbly-glitchy electronica aquarium, in which small sounds, dubby echos, minimal beats and beautiful melodies walk hand in hand. Such music needs vocals. So, Static picked up the phone and invited Ronald Lippok (To Rocco Rot, Tarwater) and Justine Electra to join him in his studio. The cd-version also features a special video application ('type f for fullscreen'), developed by Joshua Goldberg, a New York-based video artist, together with Mr. Static, to give macintosh users the chance to visualize this beautiful, stunning album."

THE REMOTE VIEWER: Here I Go Again On My Own CD (BLOCK 007 CD). $14.00

"Craig Tattersall and Andrew Johnson aka The Remote Viewer have been active in the UK indie-scene for a good number of years now. Both started as members of Hood (Craig played drums, Andrew guitar) and recorded four albums with the band. Here I Go Again On My Own is the second Remote Viewer album to date. The ten tracks are all very personal, intimate moments full of fragile warmth and quiet melancholy taking you by the hand as soon as the guitar comes in and plays along to colorful melodies and small clacky beats. This is an album sounding like a dreamy day spent alone in the countryside, when you look down a hill and whisper songs from another world. File under indietronics."

CANEY & KAMAL JOORY, MORGAN: Magic Radios CD (BLOCK 008 CD). $14.00

"The Magic Radios album and live experience represents a happy collision between two musicians from very different backgrounds. All the way from the ultra precise world of contemporary electronics to imaginary soundtracks of the wild prairies and the mating rituals of the pioneers? yeeeeee haaaaaaa! Kamal Joory has produced many recordings for various electronic labels (Skam, Neo Oujia, Staaplatt, Nature etc) as Geiom? also taking his sound to various open-minded corners of the globe and providing interactive soundscapes for international performance artist Simone Kenyon and the milieu? collective. Morgan Caney - a versatile and well travelled musician/composer, whose experience has taken in playing at Ronnie Scotts (as part of the experimental jazz ensemble) scaring people in tunnels (part of his ongoing sonic art tapeworks project) and teaching Himalayan children the joys of the human beatbox. Gorge Aplenty on a myriad feast of warm and delicate melodies, vacuum cleaners in space junkshop vibes, latino piano, insect percussion, lovesick cowboy vocals, electric brakes, spine-tingling violins, acoustic shredding, campfire. expect to find this and more in a typical live transmission from Magic Radios."

DENZEL & HUHN: Time Is A Good Thing CD (BLOCK 009 CD). $14.00

"Recorded high above sea-level at upperroom, a snug attic studio in Berlin, giving it that same crackling fireside glow. But there's also something sub-marine about it, exploring the depths, alert to the sonar patterns, the throbbing of turbines, the tolling of a bell-boy far above. This is no coincidence: Denzel & Huhn's affinity for underwater scenarios recently had them working on music for a samadhi floatation tank. If you wanna categorize d+h's sound, think of a crossover between the static but lively crackling glitches of your old vinyl collection, treated by digital circuitry, a bass as heavy as a high-rise building and the warmth of a noisy drone telling you everything you ever wanted to know. Somewhere between .snd's seriousness, a playful and charming reminiscences of a world called 'indie', and a fascination for obviously Berlin-inspired dub-metaphors, d+h create their own sonic universe, experimental of sorts, heart-grabbing for sure."

DENZEL & HUHN: Time Is A Good Thing 2LP (BLOCK 009 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

DICTAPHONE: m.=addiction CD (BLOCK 010 CD). $14.00

"From the very beginning, Dictaphone was the idea of Oliver Doerell. Born and bred in Brussels, multi-instrumentalist Doerell now lives in Berlin and has been working on the Dictaphone project for the last three years. Together with Roger Döring, saxophone and clarinet player, he has slowly been developing his version of electronically processed slomotion jazz, which is nothing but a collection of beautiful lovesongs. A deep bass meets an ocean full of warm, enchanting melancholy. m.=addiction feels like a french urban dream. Strings are struggling against precisely placed artefacts and rhythmic noisy bits. Field recordings from public swimming pools meet strange messages recorded with old dictaphones. Maika Spiegel ('minimal compact') makes one of the tracks even more beautiful with her unique voice. m.=addiction simply makes you drown in a soft, velvety atmosphere."

VANLOO, BILL: Tones (For Sarah)/Harmonic Study 1.3 7" (BLOCK 012). $6.50

"Despite the fact that this 7" is Bill Vanloo's first ever release on his own, he is well known already because he built his reputation playing gig after gig over the last couple of years in the Detroit area. 'Tones' is is nothin else but a lovesong. Soft, beautiful melodies play ping-pong with each other, boogie with something we call subbass and enjoy the work of various delay-units which might remind you of some of the early Detroit Escalator Co.-tracks."

'Harmonic Study 1.3' looks at the story from a completely different angle, assembles drones and drones and carefully adds rhythmical accents to this lullaby for microchips." CANEY & KAMAL JOORY, MORGAN: Darling/Darling (Remix) 7" (BLOCK 014). $6.50 "After last year's stunning 7" on City Centre Offices, Morgan Caney & Kamal Joory (aka Geiom) return with a kind of special record. Right on time for Christmas, they give us one of the most beautiful tracks ever written. With pretty unusual, because acoustic sounds, both Morgan and Kamal sing and play themselves straight into our hearts. On the b-side they re-think the harmony of the a-side in a more digital, experimental way. 'Darling' is a taster of their long-expected album."

BITSTREAM: Crab Nebula/Stream One 7" (BLOCK 015). $6.50

"Bitstream is the brothers Steve and Dave Conner, born in the mid 70's in a small town in Northamptonshire, England. Dave spent his early years drawing wildlife and began playing keyboards at the age of seven. By his early teens Dave began making cassettes using samples of natural, mechanical and electronic sounds ranging from beating tupperware to even sampling the motor of a friend's mum vibrating dildo! All the sounds were being layered with melodies and speech synthesis. Steve's first musical adventures were as a scratch dj and at the age of eleven he was winning scratch battles with djs twice his own age. Content with making music for themselves and friends the brothers only began releasing music a few years ago due to a friend's insistence to 'get something out'. The tracks are created individually but when heard together give a rounded musical experience."

STATIC WITH VALERIE TREBELJAHR: Turn On Switch Off 12" (BLOCK 016). $9.00

"Static aka Hanno Leichtmann returns with three new tracks. For the title song, he teamed up with Valerie Trebeljahr, the singer from Lali Puna. 'Turn On Switch Off' is the piece of music the summer was waiting for to truly begin. A fluffy rhodes-inspired dream with a deep bass, even a harp and Valerie's unique singing. 'Promesse de Bonheur' and 'Give Me Your Loving', both exclusive tracks to this release, give you an idea of what Mr. Static is working on at the moment and what directions he will take for his next album, both relaxed and intense pop tracks. Finally, Jan Jelinek aka Farben rounds up this EP with his interpretation of the title track."

KLEINE, CHRISTIAN: Firn EP 12" (BLOCK 017 EP). $9.00

"4 tracks which could not be more beautiful, rocking, kicking, relaxing, deep, and wonderful. 'Firn' is a friendly summer breeze — quite uptempo but somehow far away, pure bliss. 'Gestures' combines Christian's love for hiphop with one of the fattest bassdrums ever and a deep, dubby feel. 'St. Ouen' is sending out strange rays of high frequencies, plays around with guitars, soft chords and distortion. Best heard in a lighthouse. 'Back From Somewhere' with its straight 4/4 bassdrum almost sounds like a proper technotrack, which, of course, is a lie."

I'M NOT A GUN: Make Sense and Loose Remixes 12" (BLOCK 018). $9.00

"John Tejada and Takeshi Nishimoto return with a 12", containing the most fascinating album track 'Makes Sense & Loose'. Most fascinating because this track is like a melting pot of John's more electronic world, with a 4/4 beat and a general house-feel and Takeshi's, more guitar-oriented world. 'Make Sense & Loose' is a proper dancefloor killer. Remixes come from John Tejada himself, turning the track into something even straighter, City Centre Offices' very own Ulrich Schnauss, who turns the track into a cinematic soundtrack-popsong and Vertical Form's Smyglyssna who just messes it up and turns the tune into a hiphop massacre."

FIREWIRE: A Tribute To the Manzini CD (BLOCK 020CD). $14.00

Firewire are: Frederic Stader (aka DIN-ST, DJ MAXXIMUS): Machines; Carl Crack (ATARI TEENAGE RIOT, WHATEVER): Voice. "Frederic Stader and Carl Crack met sometime during the 90s in Cologne at a Cosmic Orgasm-Rave. Back then, Frederic was doing a project called Fever (later on DHR), Carl was the voice of Atari Teenage Riot. They got along well and worked on ideas together, on and off. Some years down the line, the idea of a common project became more and more important to both of them. They started recording. Then, in 2001, Carl Crack died and Frederic finished off the recordings himself. A Tribute To The Manzini, a release which has been approved by Carl's family, is a short but intense journey through a long forgotten world of distorted soul. Something you would not necessarily expect if you are familiar with both Frederic's and Carl's former work. Or maybe you would. From the haunting beauty of 'Open Ur Eyes', via the disturbing, Acid-infected 2Step error of '4 Ever' to the monstrous intensity of 'No Exit', each and every track remains a unique example of two exceptional musicians working together on something they both feel has to be done. An unusual release for CCO you might think. We don't think so. But this is another story."

FIREWIRE: A Tribute To the Manzini 12" (BLOCK 020EP). $13.00

7 track vinyl mini-LP version.

STATIC: Ghost Boy 12" (BLOCK 021 EP). $9.00

"Taken from his current second album for City Centre Offices (Flavour Has No Name), 'Ghost Boy' is another brilliant collaboration with Tarwater's and To Rocco Rot's Ronald Lippok on vocals, what starts in a dark, almost irritating, but at the same time fascinating, atmosphere quickly turns into beautiful popsong. 'A Pleasant Place' is an absolute Static classic, which finally makes it onto vinyl. The b-side kicks off with our soulbrothers Isan, who, if there would be something like a 'Grand Prix of Lullabies', would definitely win that contest easily with their interpretation of 'Ghost Boy'. Finally, Static's long-time partner in crime Nicolas Bussmann aka Resistance delivers a wild, extreme interpretation, which, finally, should wake the ghost."

BOY ROBOT: Set It For Me EP 12" (BLOCK 022). $9.00

"Boy Robot is the joint effort from Hans Möller, well known for his work as Boulderdash and Michael Zorn." 4 track EP, features a Unai remix.

WHARTON, DONATO: Built to Fail EP 12" (BLOCK 023EP). $10.00

"Built around one of the core tracks of his highly acclaimed album Trabanten (CCO, Towerblock 017), 'Built To Fail', Wharton delivers three new tracks which take his musical visions one step further. 'My Orange Lifejacket' combines the crackles of a digital campfire with soulful, processed guitars, weeping for a better tomorrow with one of the most peaceful and brightest melodies around. 'Collision Stills' takes the sunshine for granted, introduces a bassdrum to those of us who prefer not to dance when listening to music and explores the beauties of high frequencies. Not only twitchers will feel at home. 'Glazed', on the contrary, was obviously written and orchestrated in the small hours of the night, shifts back and forth between pulsating crackles, fragmented voices and repetitive guitars. Suddenly, all is blue ... all is unplugged ... all is calm ..."

DICTAPHONE: Nacht EP 12" (BLOCK 024EP). $10.00

"After the highly acclaimed album M.=Addiction, Dictaphone finally return with four new tracks. 'Peaks' and 'Warszawa w nocy' are based around recordings made in a rehearsal room somewhere in Berlin with some microphones hanging from the low ceiling: Roger Döring (saxophone & clarinet on the Dictaphone album), Stephan Wöhrmann (drums) & Piotr Rybkowski (bass) met up for a couple of sessions over the last two years. When Oliver Doerell heard those recordings, he immediately started to work on them. And finished them. 'Peaks' is more than a homage. Clearly inspired by the theme of a well known TV-series, it takes that certain haunting groove and transforms it into the most perfect base for Döring's saxophone. 'Warszawa w nocy' sounds like a million things happening at the same time, but in the end, all there is is noise, hiss, a pleasantly disturbing groove and the saxophone. The B-Side features two classic Dictaphone tracks, made by Doerell and Döring. Truly cinematic."

REMOTE VIEWER: You're Going To Love Our Defeatist Attitude CD (BLOCK 025CD). $14.00

"Somewhere in the Greater Manchester Area, on an average street, in an average attic of an average house, every now and again, time stands still. This is when Andrew Johnson and Craig Tattersall sit down and switch on their machines, opening the gates to the land of The Remote Viewer. This, however, does not happen too often, just in case you want to know why it took so long to compile new tracks for a new release on CCO. After their album Here I Go Again On My Own released in 2002, we are happy to announce the return of The Remote Viewer. You're Going To Love Our Defeatist Attitude picks up where Andrew and Craig pressed the Stop button after recording their last album, but at the same time takes their sound to a completely new level, a much more acoustic one. With Nicola Hodgkinson (from Empress) on vocals, Andrew and Craig dig deeper, haunt some friendly ghosts in detuned pianos, introduce a vocoder to the band, polish their little rhythms and make them shine even brighter. It is an intimate world these two gentlemen are orchestrating, a world in which time doesn't really matter, a world which is always there, which always awaits you with open arms."

CYNE: Growing EP 12" (BLOCK 026EP). $10.00

"Cyne are part of a new breed of artists keeping focus with the beats and rhymes of traditional hip hop while utilising a love and knowledge of a myriad musical styles ranging from post rock, folktronica, exotica and lounge music, through to the most experimental and freeform variations of electronica. Growing is the group's first release for City Centre Offices. The title track is a joyous trip through reflection and cascading vibes, a bittersweet tribute to the spirit of gangstarr and the bouncy jig of their native Miami. 'Stomping Ground' rips the soul fusion into a looped trawl through the history of black music with a social conscience. 'The River' slips into a twilight world of acoustic guitars and gentle basslines daydreaming of sunshine spreads and a better place. 'Rousseau' is the perfect soul ending, consciousness streaming into a different era with all these new musical forms and influences there for good company."

PORN SWORD TOBACCO: Porn Sword Tobacco CD (BLOCK 027CD). $15.00

"Henrik Jonsson from Göteborg has recorded a couple of records in the past you might know or not, but it was not until last summer that this particular project came together. The tracks on this debut release (a full-length is already in the making, the studio has been booked again for the summer) are unique and blend the genius of ambient masterpieces from composers like Harold Budd with something incredible. A burst of noise, crackles and static. Where other musicians use those elements as tiny ingredients for their music, Porn Sword Tobacco is more like broken radio, tuned into a station playing the most beautiful music you have ever heard in your life. Many famous musicians recorded in this studio, up in the north of Sweden. Ever since the 60s, the studio crew has been building one of the most impressive sound-archives in the world, a world recorded on reel-to-reel tape. Amazing acoustics and a collection of wonderful instruments and the constant presence of a very unique ambience make you think that Porn Sword Tobacco might be the modern version of Budd and Eno's The Pearl. It just draws you in, does not let go. Every track tells a very specific story, assembles sketches, drifts off, picks up again, re-adjusts itself all the time, levels noise, piano, guitar, organ, bass, thinks of new chords. Is there a better soundtrack for every season, month, day, hour, second?"

PORN SWORD TOBACCO: Porn Sword Tobacco LP (BLOCK 027LP). $13.00

HERRMANN & KLEINE: Transalpin EP 12" (BLOCK005 EP). $11.00

"Herrmann & Kleine are Thaddi Herrmann, co-founder of our label, ex Digital Hardcore affiliate who was also responsible for the No Movement No Sound No Memories 12 inch on Lux Nigra; and Christian Kleine, a new talent from Berlin. "Transalpin" and "Where Have You Been" are pop anthems, mixing some of the greatest melodies with old school-ish, sometimes distorted breakbeats Herrmann & Kleine found in their record collections. "Hello" and "Goodbye" are 2 small quiet screenshots, atmospheric, almost ambient tunes. Herrmann & Kleine record their tracks only on Sundays, something you can tell by listening to their debut EP."

AROVAINE: Tides CD (CCO 001 CD). $14.00

Emitting "future classic" status within seconds of play, this sophomore album by Berlin's Uwe Zahn is filled to the brim with liquid harpsichord euphoria, bridging that gap between early 90s "classic ambient" and more contemporary static like little else known. "Shortly after the release of Arovane's debut album on Din, CCO releases his follow-up album Tides. Inspired by a holiday spent in France by the sea, Tides marks a new step in Arovane's career. Based on hip hop grooves and live played guitars, Tides does not concentrate on digital glitches, but on warm melancholic songs. As Bleed From the German DeBug magazine put it, 'Tides is the iMac of electronica LPs. Wonderful, translucent, somehow familiar, but simply so great that you have to say hello.'"

I'M NOT A GUN: Everything At Once CD (CCO 011 CD). $15.00

"I'm Not A Gun are John Tejada and Takeshi Nishimoto. Techno's best kept secret, John Tejada (Playhouse, Palette, 7th City etc.) has decided to take a break from his usual (strictly electronic) productions. Together with his friend Takeshi Nishimoto he sits back on the veranda of postrock-instrumentals and relaxes. Tejada on drums, guitar and electronics, Nishimoto on guitar and bass dream away their day — and make ours. With airy gestures and a sunny state of mind, they jam themselves into textures which have learned their lesson from the best records of the Chicago school: jazzrock does not have to be a pretentious monster, but can sing a poem of the utopia of unhierarchical communication. As soon as structure wins over the solo, dialogue over technical skills and the lightness of swing over the pathos of improvisation. With I'm Not A Gun, everything seems to be structure, dialogue and lightness. In a cheerful dizziness, these instrumentals seem to plan themselves, accepting no control from the outside world. Tejada and Nishimoto are just following that stream. Everything At Once is music of the inner ear, floating sessions full of trust in a higher sense of justice. Music which finally arrives at itself, unfolds, blossoms and stretches out its feelers. Here, work has got nothing to do with effort, and producing nothing with reason."

DUB TRACTOR: More Or Less Mono CD (CCO 012 CD). $15.00

"Anders Remmer aka Dub Tractor hardly needs an introduction. Being a member of 'Future 3', the Danish supergroup togetherwith Thomas Knak (aka Opiate, production work for Björk) and Jesper Skaaning (aka Acoustic), Anders Remmer introduced us to distant vocals and almost shy acoustic guitars, all packaged up as popsongs. More than on his previous recordings, Anders Remmer focuses on how to bring together two worlds which did not have had much in common over the last couple of years. On More Or Less Mono, he plays guitar and bass as if the denial of these instruments within the electronic community would never have been an issue. His love for dub is still obvious, but what about a Peter Hook-like bassline or some elegiac guitar melodies? Opposed to other musicians who have been trying to master this fusion of acoustic and electronic elements and failed badly, Dub Tractor gets out the microphone and sings, while his bitcrusher is destroying the white noise and the delay switches on the radiator. More Or Less Mono is an album which will never leave your rack."

STATIC: Flavour Has No Name CD (CCO 014 CD). $16.00

"Hanso Leichtman's Berlin studio is a friendly place. You imagine it in half-light, scattered cushions, open bottles of wine and an opulence of form welcoming his family of collaborators and friends to dip into his world of shimmering pop. Flavour Has No Name sets out the agenda in a multi-coloured display of variation and a love of a melody that will not remove itself from your mind. This is, simply put, a perfect pop record. With guests: Justine Electra, Ronald Lippok, Christoff Kurzmann, and Lali Puna's vocalist Valerie Trebeljahr."

YASUME: Where We're From The Birds Sing A Pretty Song CD (CCO 015 CD). $16.00

"Yasume is the collaborative effort of 22 year old Midlands resident John Xela and 24 year old Californian Gabriel Morley. John is probably best known for his work on the Neo Ouija label as 'Xela' and Gabe has just released a dark and crunchy EP on (Warp approved) Team Shadetek's imprint under his anagram-moniker 'Logreybeam'. In setting out to record this amazing album both artists laid their ideas against a backdrop provided by a big influence on them both — David Lynch. Twelve months were spent honing the sound and perfecting the tracks — bringing to life eight amazing cinematic soundpieces best summed up by the album's title: Where We're From The Birds Sing A Pretty Song. An album that reflects the varied and seemingly incongruous elements at play: intricate beats, cinematic strings, dub aesthetics and, perhaps most importantly, an intuitive understanding of evocative instrumental songwriting."

BOY ROBOT: Glamorizing Corporate Lifestyle CD (CCO 016 CD). $16.00

"It had to happen. Imagine two successful solo artists, Michael Zorn and Hans Möller (used to be a member of the highly successful swedish project Boulderdash), just happening to meet at work in Berlin and realising that they share not only an interest in music, but, more specifically, a love for that particular tinge of electronic music that finds itself surrounded by a bubbly effervescence. The 10 tracks on board manage to encapsulate and dissect a pool of sub-generic ideas that scarcely make an appearance on a single body of work, perfectly fusing the musical signatures that each artist has perfected over the course of the last few years. From an unfolding rigid digital riddim that Mr Zorn structures so well, a cascade of twilight melodies weaving itself in and out of the ride to a balearic vibe that seems deliciously out of place, like a tranquilised, late night version of post-rave blues. If you're familiar with the work of both of them, you will be instantly aware of the magic at play. Over the last couple of years, Zorn has acquired a reputation for deep techno tracks, focusing on complex rhythms. Möller fits perfectly into that image, adding his own vision of percussive structure and melodies, playing the melodica and the kalimba imbuing the whole album with a more acoustic edge."

BOY ROBOT: Glamorizing Corporate Lifestyle 2LP (CCO 016 LP). $18.00

WHARTON, DONATO: Trabanten CD (CCO 017 CD). $16.00

"Debut album by Donato Wharton. At the age of 18, he signed his first record contract and moved to Cologne. There, he became interested in digital music and started producing hip hop instrumentals for the up-and-coming scene of Stuttgart. Trabanten is Donato's first real solo effort — an important move away from supporting other artists to focusing completely on his own ideas and visions. Donato, for whom Hendrix's Electric Ladyland is as important an influence as the more recent work from musicians like Vladislav Delay, Radiohead, Mogwai or jazz and hip hop in general, allows his tracks a lot of time and space to develop. He masters the more than difficult task of combining very detailed sound design with an ability to write wonderful, deep, intense songs. Doing so, he is one of few tellers of digital stories. And those stories are full of ideas. Without trying to describe the tracks in detail and bring up boring overused metaphors, Trabanten is the perfect soundtrack the time of the day when you go offline, switch off your phone and concentrating on music is all you really want to do. Trabanten requires attention, but the listener is rewarded. The way Donato Wharton pastes his sounds together, the way he gets all those noises out of his machines and, most importantly, the way he combines them with acoustic fragments and his guitar-playing, is unique. The fact that he is busy composing music for theater pieces makes complete sense."

XELA: Tangled Wool CD (CCO 018CD). $17.00

"In a year that has seen electronic music slowly creeping its way back into the mainstream via the folktronic tinkering of Four Tet and the euphoric anthems of Ulrich Schnauss, Xela is set to be the next operator to caress the mood of the people with his delicate blend of homespun acoustic composition and a careful arrangement of electronic beats. 23 years old and already responsible for one of the finest records of last year (For Frosty Mornings... on the Neo Ouija label), John Twells returns to his instrument-based roots for an album that oozes warmth and fragility. These are, first and foremost, love songs in the most modern sense of the word, the futuristic means of execution never compromising the purified strum of the guitar that lies at the heart of each piece, even the voice (that rarest of instruments in this scene) making an appearance to stoke the fire. Away from the TV adverts, short films, and documentary soundtracks that are the unquestioned domain of new music these days, Tangled Wool is an album that transcends fad or fashion. An enduring collection of songs for late nights and reflective moments that has been constructed with the kind of feel for mood and composition that has rarely been displayed with such maverick skill. It's there to be discovered, slowly unraveled, just remember to handle with care."

KLEINE, CHRISTIAN: Real Ghosts CD (CCO 019CD). $16.00

"This is the story of Christian Kleine, someone who is famous for his electronic music. Be it on his own or as a member of Herrmann & Kleine, Christian and his PowerBooks formed an entity. They still do, but for a long time, other instruments have been living in his studio. Instruments that were there long before he bought his first computer. Maybe this is one of the reasons why it took 18 months for him to complete his new, second full-length. Among other things, Real Ghosts is a meditation on Christian's musical roots. Not a restart, not a sudden denial of electronic music. The time was just right to get out the guitars again. 'I always played guitar, I simply did not record it very often. This is new. For Real Ghosts, I used whatever instruments were available. Guitar, bass, harmonica or computers.' The most obvious change is indeed Christian's focus on his guitar-playing. Real Ghosts is a real rocker. Distorted walls of guitars, head-nodding beats and the deepest, fatest basslines make Real Ghosts a completely different story, open up a complete new world. Take a track like 'Ghostwriting' for instance, where the synthesizer is simply overrun by loud guitars and precise flageolet-figures, gains ground again in an ongoing fight. This short track sums up the two sides of Real Ghosts: lush atmospheres and grounded directness. Christian Kleine combines these two elements like no one else. Sometimes it is good when things take a little longer. And maybe ghosts need more time to develop, anyway."

AROANE: Lilies CD (CCO 020CD). $17.00

"Arovane's fourth album Lilies now resumes the human/warm approach of Tides. The fragmented structures of the rhythms are open to every listener, on their expanses everybody can find company, their tracks are cautious, thoughtful, and questioning. Because Uwe was taken with the friendliness and courtesy of the people in Japan — modes of behaviour which always have the potential to surprise, particularly for someone living in Berlin. Furthermore, he was fascinated with the Japanese way of reconciling progressive drive and tradition-consciousness. Both poles are found on Lilies too, then: in the abstract computer funk of the beats and in the approachability of the samples of traditional instruments, such as the sound of a piano, or the voice of Japanese singer Kazumi, being in fact the first to fill an Arovane album with vocals."

AROANE: Lilies LP (CCO 020LP). $16.00

LP version.

GEIOM/M. CANEY: BlanketFour Fifty Five 7" (CCO BLOCK007). $6.50

"Geiom, a.k.a. Kamal Joory from Nottingham UK, is known for his remix work for Anthony Manning, as a longtime affiliate of Lee Norris (Metamatics), as a member of Tone Language, and as an acclaimed solo artist on Neo Ouija. Here, he delivers two tracks which simply fit perfectly into the City Centre Offices catalogue. On 'Blanket', he works with long time friend Mr. Caney and explains what happens when digitized high frequencies meet squirly drums, a melody as deep as the ocean and an (almost) acoustic bass. 'Four Fifty Five' is almost dubby, somehow lazy, maybe melancholic but definitely great. It's a track that will stick to your head. Both Geiom and M. Caney are working on a full length for City Centre Offices, due next year."

DENZEL & HUHN: Filet 12" (CCO BLOCK008). $9.00

"City Centre Offices continue their search for new, exciting music with the debut release of 2 Berlin residents Bertram Denzel and Erik Huhn. 7 tracks, full of warm drones and quirky, crackling rhythms. Some people might think, this is a pretty unusual release for City Centre Offices. We don't think so. Although almost ambient-ish, Denzel & Huhn's ideas fit well into our catalogue."

ZORN: Eckermann/Vian 7" (CCO BLOCK011). $6.00

"After his stunning debut album and a killer 12", east-Berlin resident Zorn returns with a charming 2 tracker for CCO. 'Eckermann' is one of the first tracks he has ever done and has been a hit in the CCO office for a long time. Listen for yourself and discover a so far unknown Zorn. 'Vian' corresponds perfectly with his recently released double vinyl The City's Collapsing (But of Tonight) on Lux Nigra."

CITY ROCKERS (UK):*BOGGS, THE: Stitches CD (CROCK 009 CD). $16.00

"With Stitches The Boggs distance themselves from their early sound and elaborate on the primitive urgency of their live show. The Boggs hail from Brooklyn NYC where artists have consistently displayed an ability to absorb influences from other cultures and countries whilst maintaining a distinct identity. Sharing the same schizoid mentality as their home city The Boggs feature the city's best drummer in Brad Conroy and two near virtuoso guitarists in Ezekiel Healy and Jason Friedman. The bands second remarkable album in as many years sounds innovative and fresh at a time when much music is sounding tired and formulaic. Unique and laden with attitude Stitches is raw, dark, loud and aggressive yet at the very same time the sometimes eerie phrasing of vocals lends a softer edge to the album."

BOGGS, THE: Stitches LP (CROCK 009 LP). $16.00

LP version, full color gatefold sleeve.

FCKAHUNA: Machine Says Yes CD (CROCK 02 CD). $15.00

"Machine Says Yes is an electrifying fusion of futurist acid house and silicone soul, driven by the sense of adventure and distaste for the mainstream that has always been the boys stock in trade. After capturing their own sound on various remixes (Luke Slater, Morel, Felix Da Housecat) Dan and Jon's next step was to translate this to their own music. They gradually enlisted the talents of like-minded collaborators Hafdis Huld, formerly with Iceland's Gus Gus, who sings on the icy swagger of the title track and the sensual 'Hayling'. Eileen Rose, an American singer songwriter on Rough Trade who graces 'North Pole Transmission' with her sensual vocal style and Si Jones, Verve alumnus ?.. and Jon's neighbour, who contributes his bass skills to a few tracks. Gruff Rhys, of Super Furry Animals, meanwhile contributes to 'Fear of guitars' with 'a paranoid mantra about the state of air conditioning'. This album is a bold rejection of conventional dance music and mainstream clubbing. Machine Says Yes harks back to the early days of acid house whilst setting it's sights firmly on the future. The artwork concept is based around the intrusive nature of marketing campaigns and giant billboards. It's a statement on how much information we have thrust at us but a reminder that this is not the only information available. There is always an alternative for you." Limited stock.

VA: Futurism 2CD (CROCK 03 CD). $17.00

"City Rockers presents Futurism ?.. a crash course in everything you wanted to know about the scene and sound that is grabbing headlines in 2002. This fabulous release features tracks taken from Gigolo, Kitty-Yo, Bpitch, Cheap and City Rockers. Over two hours we get to sample the edgy delights of Felix Da Housecat, FC Kahuna, Kittin, Tok Tok and Green Velvet amongst others." Artists include: Felix Da Housecat, TIGA & Zyntherius, Dexter, Green Velvet, Tok Tok vs. Soffy O, Rob Mello, SK, Ellen Allien, Golden Boy with Miss Kittin, Bolz Bolz, Louie

Austen feat. Peaches, Fat truckers, Northern Lite, David Caretta, LadyTron, Paco, Peaches, Chicks on Speed, FC Kahuna, Adult, Zombie Nation, Tim.Bukto, Fischerspooner, Alpinestars.

VA: Futurism 2 2CD (CROCK 05CD). $17.00

"Now it's time for Futurism 2 and another blast of sparkling freshness. Tracks that have rocked the Bodyrockers night all year alongside a wealth of very exciting phuture shit that you need to hear RIGHT NOW! Compiled by City Rockers main man Damian Lazarus, this is a shot in the arm for lovers of exciting music worldwide. The second episode has arrived and it's light years ahead of the rest of the pack. Futurism 2 spreads the musical net even further. We're talking tracks from Berlin, New York, Rotterdam, Helsinki, San Diego, San Francisco, Chicago, Detroit, London, Montreal, Philadelphia, Leeds, Glasgow and Barnet, amongst others, in the mix and shouting for attention. Futurism 2 brings together some delights from the City Rockers stable (as it should!). Fresh warning shots from Riot Society, Matti Oiling, Kid & Khan and the awesome Xlover ('Trash Me' is one of the best produced demos ever!), plus known battle weapons from the likes of Felix Da Housecat (the Adult. remix of 'Silver Screen'), Coloursound (the cracking Midnight Mike remix of summer anthem 'Fly With Me'), and Daniel Diamond's quirky 'Champu.'" Artists also include: The Parallax Corp., C Dock, Le Tigre, Chicks on Speed, Freaks, Leroy Hanghofer, Kiki, Slam, Arthur Agent, And The Left-handed, Seelenluft, Kotai, Free Form 5, Creme de Menthe, Asci Disko, Martini Bros., Josh Wink, Taylor Savvy, Sourmash, Dot Allison, Static.

VA: City Rockers Singles 1-23 2CD (CROCK 07CD). $18.00

Massive collection of the first 23 singles on this label! Artists include: Felix da Housecat, Dr kucho & Wally Lopez, Rubberneck, FC Kahuna, Eva Abraham, Rob Wakeman, Northern Lite, Drug Punks, Freddy & Heaman, Daniel Diamond, No Artist, TIGA & Zyntherius, differentGear, The Soulsavers, Coloursound, Matt Oiling, and Riot Society.

FELIX DA HOUSECAT: Silver Screen Shower Scene CD (ROCKER 01CD). $8.00

First single off the Kittenz and Thee Glitz album, featuring remixes by Laurent Garnier & FC Kahuna.

FCKAHUNA: Hayling 10" (ROCKER 05). $8.00

"FC/Kahuna kickstart their relationship with City Rockers with this limited 10". 'Hayling', featuring the vocal talents of Hafdis Huld, formerly with Iceland's Gus Gus, is a sensual, slo-mo track of fragile beauty. The first track to be taken from their debut album Machine Says Yes — released spring 2002 — an electrifying fusion of futurist acid house and silicon soul."

WAKEMAN, ROB: Legs With Wings/Nonsensica 12" (ROCKER 07 EP). $8.00

"This release comes in the shape of two very large slices of dancefloor mayhem — deliberately infectious and simply superb. Side A 'legs with wings' is a deeper roller of classic proportions... and then of course, there's the subtle bassline that gets into your veins Side AA 'nonsensica' is essentially a tribute to Moodymann, containing a spoken word sample from 'An introduction ...'. It has been given the royal blessing from none other than Kenny Dixon Jr himself."

FELIX DA HOUSECAT: What Does It Feel Like? CD (ROCKER 08 CD). $8.00

"What Does it feel like?" is the 3rd single taken from Felix Da Housecat's award winning album, Kittenz and thee Glitz. This fiery, edgy slice of fabulous electro pop features Melistar and 'it-girl' Miss Kittin on vocals and see's Felix in his most adventurous production mode combining breakbeats with funky guitar licks. This quality release includes a fabulous remix by Roysopp and a blistering No Ears re-edit of dancefloor favourite, 'Control Freaq', touched by the hand of Rob Mello."

FCKAHUNA: Glitterball CD (ROCKER 11CD). $8.00

2nd single from this UK group, described as "an electrifying fusion of futurist acid house and silicone soul, driven by the sense of adventure and distaste for the mainstream...harks back to the early days of acid house whilst setting it's sights firmly on the future." Three track EP, including a Swazak mix.

FREDDY & HERMAN: Aquarius CD (ROCKER 12CD). $8.00

"The mysterious Freddy is rumoured to be one half of an established production team from the UK, who has released material on a plethora of labels. He decided to get a bit of sun down-under and never came back! Jumping ship in Sydney with nothing but a head full of ideas, he met up with Herman who had the hardware and the know-how to bring them to life. Their debut 'Aquarius' single samples the Floaters 'Float On' and sees the dynamic duo in full flight. One of the most sublime and serene musical moments of the year. Just gorgeous! Remixes are courtesy of the hotly tipped Radio Slave (who have recently remixed 'Lazy') and breakbeat merchants Deep Impact."

FREDDY & HERMAN: Aquarius 12" (ROCKER 12EP). $8.00*TIGA & ZYNTERIUS: Sunglasses At Night CD (ROCKER 15CD). $8.00

"Licensed from DJ Hell's International Deejay Gigolos, this track has already been a huge top 20 hit there. DJ Hell heard this cover of 'Sunglasses at Night' and snapped it up for Gigolo and then played it non stop at Berlin Love Parade last year, after which it rocketed into the German charts." Three track CD version featuring "Sunglasses At Night" (edit), TGV's remix, a third track called "Sweet Sedation".

DIFFERENTGEAR: A Little Bit Paranoid 12" (ROCKER 16 EP). $8.00

"DifferentGear unleash their debut single for City Rockers. 'A Little Bit Paranoid', featuring the vocal talents of clubland legend Phil Dirtbox, is already causing a stir with Weatherall, Heller, Laurent Garnier, Pete Tong and Jo Mills, and has been an anthem at the monthly City Rockers shindig 21st Century Body Rockers for months. * differentGear is Gino & Quinn. The pair first met in the mid 90's, but didn't start working together properly until a bootleg version of theirs, an old Police track 'When The World Is Running Down' became the surprise hit of the Miami Winter Music Conference 2000."

SOULSAVERS: Beginning To See The Dark CD (ROCKER 17 CD). $8.00

"The Soulsavers are Ian Glover and Richard Machin. Drawing on their diverse influences they soon began to hone a unique sound that incorporated the dark textures of bands like the Velvet's, but with more modern hip hop based production techniques. While the duo are attracting serious interest from labels on both sides of the pond, they have teamed up with current label of the moment City Rockers, to release a 6 track EP, 'Beginning to see the dark' as joint release with their own label Ghost Ride. A dark brooding cinematic affair, that also includes one of their first collaborations with Josh Haden."

SOULSAVERS: Beginning To See The Dark 12" (ROCKER 17 EP). $8.00

12" version.

FCKAHUNA: Machine Says Yes CD (ROCKER 18 CD). $8.00

"Machine Says Yes' finds Dan & Jon Kahuna reunited with Hafdis Huld, formerly with Iceland's Gus Gus and an emerging star in her own right. One of the real highlights of the album, 'Machine Says Yes' is a lesson in forward thinking electronics. This is popular electronic music of the highest order and a delight at every turn. Remixes are courtesy of Josh Wink and TIGA (of 'Sunglasses At Night' infamy) and they take the track on a trip to the heart of the dancefloor." Three track EP plus video track.

FELIX DA HOUSECAT: Silver Screen - Shower Scene CD (ROCKER 19 CD). $8.00

"Felix Da Housecat's 'Silver Screen - Shower Scene' was the first release on City Rockers. Fresh for Summer 2002, it makes a welcome return. Bigger than ever, Felix's incredible original has been joined by stunning remixes from Jacques Lu Cont (Thin White Duke) and Adult.. Joining Felix and the inimitable Miss Kittin, Jacques Lu Cont turns in one of the remixes of the year complete with a haunting orchestral score and Jacques himself on live bass guitar. Joining the party, Adult, have contributed their own storming remix with Nicole Kuperus from Adult, supplying her own additional vocals."

COLOURSOUND: Fly With Me CD (ROCKER 20 CD). $8.00

"This is very large indeed. The phattest bassline of the summer. Oh hello! City Rockers have a knack of doing this! Coloursound's 'Fly With Me' has electrified dancefloors since its first airing at the hands of Tom Middleton in Miami and now this sing-a-long dancefloor delight looks set to take the summer by storm. Magic. Remixes of 'Fly With Me' are forthcoming from Ashley Beedle, Midnight Mike, Headman and Hi-Fi Serious. Coloursound is a special collaboration between producer legend Stretch (minus his Vern) and Dylan Burns. The result is seismic."

DUKE SPIRIT, THE: Roll, Spirit, Roll 12" (ROCKER 25EP). $10.00

Vinyl EP version.

BOGGS, THE: The Ark/Low Light Hour 7" (ROCKER 26 EP). $5.00

"Restless and growing in both confidence and self-awareness, The Boggs have quickly moved away from the sound of their first record We Are The Boggs We Are and they have become darker, louder, and more aggressive. This is the first single taken from the album Stitches. The Ark sees the Boggs distance themselves from their early sound and elaborate on the primitive urgency of their live show."

CITY SLANG (GERMANY):

HAZLEWOOD, LEE: For Every Solution There's A Problem CD (CITY 2019CD). $16.00

A collection of previously unreleased recordings from the Lee Hazlewood archives, recorded in demo-form over a 25 year period, dating back to the late 70s. "Lee Hazlewood is one of music's most influential and maverick stars. City Slang are releasing two albums simultaneously, a tribute album (not currently available for the US) and an artist album to salute a living legend. Many will know Lee Hazlewood for his work with Nancy Sinatra (These Boots Are Made For Walking, Some Velvet Morning, Sugar Town etc.) but he also wrote for Dean Martin, Elvis, discovered Duane Eddy and produced the original 'Somethin' Stupid' for Nancy & Frank Sinatra. This beautifully packaged release contains comprehensive liner notes with Lee discussing all the tracks on the record with his guitarist and friend Al Casey."

SCHNEIDER TM: Frogtoise 12" (CITY 20198). $9.00
12" version.

SCHNEIDER TM: Frogtoise CD (CITY 20198CD). $9.00

"Schneider TM returns to mess with your minds with the release of 'Frogtoise', a limited edition single which features one of the stand out tracks from his album Zoomer. Inspired by a dream in which Schneider dreamt he had surgically spliced together a frog and a turtle, the single contains four radically different versions of the song. The lead Frogtoise Exploitation Edit blossoms vividly with a rich palette of sounds, a killer melody and a timbre that Schneider memorably described (flippantly, possibly) as 'post-Timbaland'. The Frogtoise Vredus Remix is a more electro-pop friendly version, drier and glossier and not a million miles away from a more avant-garde Pet Shop Boys! The Frogstears Schneider FM Remake sees Schneider TM take an acoustic approach to the song — something that he is also able to do with any of the songs on Zoomer, and which he probably will — while Fruktoes sees Schneider's live companion KptMichigan tear the song apart in a glitch and crackle style." This CD version adds a video clip.

NOTWIST, THE: Pilot CD (CITY 8382 CD). $8.00

"The Notwist have finished their long awaited fifth album Neon Golden, and it's big step further towards what they've been aiming towards for years: seamlessly unifying guitar driven music with modern electronica. Brimming with self confidence, they effortlessly move between both styles and ultimately make it something all their own. The Pilot single will be our first offering from the Neon Golden record. Pilot starts with an insistent 4/4 groove accentuated by Console's (Martin Gretschnann's) buzzes and stuttering electro beats and is underpinned by Micha Acher's unshakeable bass line."

SALARYMAN: Karoshi CD (CITY 8715). $15.00

"After a long two years, our favorite anonymous everyday workers are back with a monster slab of funky, keyboard-driven rock. More developed and realized than their self-titled debut, Karoshi (Japanese for 'death from overwork') is a dark, moody, sometimes even downright scary sounding record — but it rocks like a muscle car built by Kraftwerk and driven by King Crimson. Another proud first for City Slang, the CD is enhanced with a music video and what the band describes as an 'irritating' computer game accessible on Macs and PCs. Like the band itself, the details are still a mystery... figure it out for yourself." Limited stock.

TO ROCOCO ROT: Telema 10" (CITY 8718). $9.00

"There is no mistake that with 'Telema', a taste from their upcoming third album The Amateur View, To Rococo Rot are hinting at something unique. Like the previous two albums, 'Telema' and the extra tracks 'Telema (långs)' and 'Even' combine an icy mechanical precision with an approachable human warmth and beats that are subtle yet insistent. Its lush, more widescreen melodic landscape, however, makes it their most refined, elegant and graceful release yet, a sign post to the sunnier, more accessible vistas that await the listener on The Amateur View.

EXPERIMENTAL POP BAND: Homesick CD (CITY 8721 CD). $15.00

"Experimental Pop Band hail from Bristol, England, and are one band whose name truly represents the music they make. Led by singer-guitarist-songwriter-DJ -Davy Woodward, EPB started out as a studio project in 1995 and released a few funky, eclectic singles and their debut LP, Disgratious on the English label Swarf Finger. Although they come from Bristol, you'd never confuse them with the likes of Tricky, Portishead, or Massive Attack. EPB certainly use slippery, groovy beats like their fellow Bristolians, but the mood is miles away from Tricky's dark offerings or Portishead's detached cool. This is because underneath the beats and samples lies the warm, beating heart of a singer-songwriter who hung out in clubs DJ'ing instead of singing 'Kumbaya' around the campfire. That's right, songs that'll make you wiggle your hips and snap your fingers and they top it off with wry, sardonic lyrics that will make you listen more than twice."

TO ROCOCO ROT: Cars 12" 12" (CITY 8724 EP). $9.00
12" version, color sleeve.

TO ROCOCO ROT & I SOUND: Music Is A Hungry Ghost LP (CITY 8746 LP). $14.00

"Co-produced by New York DJ and musician I-Sound, Music Is A Hungry Ghost is the fourth album from Germany's To Rococo Rot. The Berlin and Düsseldorf based trio — brothers Robert and Ronald Lippok alongside Stefan Schneider — met Craig Willingham aka I-Sound when they were touring the US in 1998 in support of their album Veiculo. The To Rococo Rot sound is quite unlike any other. Those familiar with their previous work will find that Music Is A Hungry Ghost sees the band refine their talent for sumptuous and restrained instrumental soundscapes, underpinned by Stefan Schneider's lugubrious basslines. But it also exhibits even greater skill at resolving the conflict between abstract electronica and contemporary dance music. The new album sees To Rococo Rot at their most accessible, weaving intricate melodies amongst intimate sounds, whilst maintaining the trademark warmth and elegance that has always lain deep at the heart of their sound. It is this that distinguishes them from their harsher sonic contemporaries (who are, it should be noted, not so-called post rock acts like former label mates Tortoise, but instead the likes of Boards Of Canada. But Music Is A Hungry Ghost is less a commercialisation of the To Rococo Rot style, and more a distillation of what they have always been about, the combination of random sounds with a structure that slowly reveals itself. Their stated aim has always been the transfer of electronic music from the club to everyday life, in which music in its fleeting, non tangible form becomes something more concrete. It's an almost impressionistic style, one in which slight traces are the very heart of the sound. And here it works better than ever before to create a blueprint for a new music, neither abstract nor heavy handed, neither ambient or overbearing. To Rococo Rot's music is gentle, dreamlike, graceful, utterly engaging and endlessly imaginative, and after six years influencing and inspiring the likes of Leftfield and Björk it is ready to penetrate a world as widescreen as its intentions." [we only carry the LP; CD version is on Mute in the US]

TO ROCOCO ROT & I SOUND: Pantone EP 12" (CITY 8749). $8.00

"With their fourth album, Music Is A Hungry Ghost, the well known Berlin/Duesseldorf electronics collective — this time around strengthened by New York DJ I-Sound — have succeeded in expanding their musical universe and enriching it around yet another new variation. To Rococo Rot are ceaseless in their quest to perfect their vision of timeless music. Playful electronic sound paintings, which are at times disturbing and untamed but equally set up a cozy, homey groove that always manages to touch the listener in a special place. They create other yet nevertheless familiar worlds which envelope you and make it very difficult to leave. Internationally, To Rococo Rot are heralded and respected above and beyond their German peers, having won the hearts of Björk, Radiohead, and Leftfield (just to name a few). The new EP, 'Pantone', is not a single in the traditional sense, but a result of their touring together with I-Sound. The title-track, 'Pantone(red)', has been drastically re-worked after the aforementioned tour experience as has 'Trace of Travel (gets)', which has to this point been unavailable on vinyl, although, like, 'Pantone', can be found on the Music Is The Hungry Ghost CD. 'Brett 2 (plus)' is a different version than of that on the 'Kölnen Brett' (Staubgold) compilation and 'I Wanted To Meet Him' and 'Fisherman Dresses Like Joseph Beuys' are two wonderful tracks that, for some inexplicable reason, never made it on the record."

SOPHIA: People Are Like Seasons CD (CITY 95176 CD). $18.00

"Sophia is Robin Proper-Sheppard, formerly of The God Machine, and a cast of musicians drawn from a pool of bands with whom Robin has worked throughout his career, otherwise known as 'The Sophia Collective'. The previous two albums were entirely financed, recorded and produced by Robin, who also oversaw the entire production, promotion and distribution of the albums on his own The Flower Shop Recordings label. This is the first time since the days of The God Machine that Robin has agreed to work with another label. The new album fleshes out the sound and extends the dynamic boundaries, whilst maintaining Robin's traditional but effective approach of keeping things minimal, whether they be lyrically or musically. The overriding impression of the album is that it rocks, but this is quite clearly not a rock record. In fact much of it is quiet, pained, acoustic and mines a rich vein of melancholy that seems to seep through all of Robin's music throughout the years."

SOPHIA: People Are Like Seasons LP (CITY 95176 LP). $16.00
LP version.

CLASHBACKK:

FELIX DA HOUSECAT PRESENTS APHROHEAD: Thee Underground Made Me Do It CD (CLB 107 CD). $15.50

"Felix Da Housecat, fresh off the success of the electro-synth masterpiece Kittenz & Thee Glitz, resurrects his underground alter ego, Aphrohead. With a mixture of straight forward house, sly electro, and percussive techno, Felix has created a release for the purists. Featuring the hit singles, 'Cry Baby' and 'Kazoo', The Underground Made Me Do It has already topped play lists from world renown DJs Carl Cox, Roger Sanchez, DJ Dan, Juan Atkins, Mark Farina, Derrick Carter, and Terry Mullan, as well as landing licensing deals around the world for everything from a Hula-Hoop commercial to top selling mix CDs from Moonshine, Ohm, BMG, Cream, and Bugged Out."

FELIX DA HOUSECAT PRESENTS APHROHEAD: Thee Underground Made Me Do It 2LP (CLB 107 LP). $16.00
Double LP version.

CLASSIC (UK):

CARTER, DERRICK: Nearest Hits & Greatest Misses CD (CMC 108 CD). $16.00

"American house music legend Derrick Carter presents Nearest Hits & Greatest Misses, a compilation of his finest remixes to date, including many rare and unreleased gems never before available commercially. In classic Derrick style, this collection is all the things that make this respected DJ / producer/ remixer one of a kind. Nearest... contains exclusive unreleased remixes of top ten UK hits by Human League, Modjo and The Beloved and includes Derrick's exclusive, previously unavailable and highly-sought after DMC remixes of Blair and Karen Ramirez." Also includes remixes of Tortoise.

CARTER, DERRICK: Nearest Hits & Greatest Misses 3LP (CMC 108 LP). $22.00
Triple LP version.

CLASSIC RECORDINGS:

CARTER, DERRICK L.: Squaredancing In A Roundhouse CD (CMC 106 CD). $16.00

"Chicago house producer/DJ legend Derrick L. Carter releases his debut artist album for the label he co-owns, Classic Recordings, putting an end to the five year long wait for fans. The 15 track opus, Squaredancing In A Roundhouse, features entirely fresh material, alongside new versions of recent releases, all of which are available on CD for the first time. In classic Derrick style, this album is soothing, touching, 'boompity', funky, and original; all the things that make this man one of a kind. He is seen by many as an ambassador for the new generation of Chicago house, following in the legendary footsteps of Frankie Knuckles, Marshall Jefferson and Ron Hardy. Squaredancing in a Round House perfectly encapsulates everything that DC is about — from the old school Chicago anthem 'If I...' through the sassy, 1920's inspired 'Do You Believe' to the new-wave jackin' grooves of 'Where U At?' The album also showcases Derrick's immense musical talent through the ethereal styles of 'All Dreams Collide' and 'While Corey Slept', to the tongue-in-cheek nitrous rush of 'Friends'. The sheer musical diversity looks set to mark this album as a benchmark in the history of house music."

CARTER, DERRICK L.: Squaredancing In A Roundhouse 2LP (CMC 106 LP). $18.00
Double LP version.

GREENS KEEPERS: The Ziggy Franklen Radio Show CD (CMC 107 CD). $16.00
"Centered around James Curd and Nick Maurer, two long-time skate, bowling and golf buddies, whose love of ragtime, swing and jazz lead to a unique fusion of these traditional dance music genres with modern day Chicago house, creating the trademark Greens Keepers sound. The Ziggy Franklen Radio Show completely broadens the Greens Keepers sound, taking in their trademark Swing-House stylings and adding Funk, Electro, Downbeat and House into the mix. The album features collaborations with band buddies At Jazz, Joshua (Iz of Iz & Diz fame), Mike Dixon, and Lance De Sardi."

GREENS KEEPERS: The Ziggy Franklen Radio Show 2LP (CMC 107 LP). $18.00
Double LP version.

CLEAR (UK):

REFLECTION: The Erronormous World 2LP (CLR 432 LP). $17.00
Limited remaining stock.

REFLECTION: The Morerroronous World CD (CLR 436 CD). $18.00

"In reaction to the overwhelming response to the Reflection album The Erronormous World (CLR432), Clear have put together a remix project asking some of our favourite artists and producers to remix select tracks. The result is a full length album project." Remixed by 4 Hero, As One, Hidden Agenda, Plaid, The Beyonders, Morgan Geist, Future/Past, Lithium Project, Freestyle Man.

METAMATICS: Onyx/Neo Oujia 10" (CLR 438). $9.00

"Metamatics are Lee Norris & Dominic Kennedy. Citing their musical influences in the 70's experiments of German pioneers Can, jazz keyboard player Joe Zawinul & the instrumental works of David Sylvian amongst others; their own music pulls together a life time of eclectic and far-reaching listening...this two track 10" single drives deep into drum & bass, just one further part of their wide musical spectrum." Limited stock on this early 1998 release. Features the tracks "Onyx" and "Neo Oujia". Limited stock.

CLEARSPOT (GERMANY):

TIED & TICKLED TRIO: Electric Avenue Tapes CD (CS 047 CD). $15.00

"A Master-Piece Of Fused Jazz. One of the key points about this German trio is that there are six of them, making the Tied & Tickled Trio unique before even listening to their music. When this album is played, you will hear a variety of influences and sounds — T&TT pay homage to 60's Blue Note jazz; the more free-form styles of Herbie Hancock or Miles Davis and combine this with unusual 80's On-U-Dub and contemporary 'post-rock' or 'intelligent electro'. The result is five delightful tracks played by a live jazz-based band: there are pianos, double-bass, a tenorsax, trombones, drums, mixed in with electronics and 'self-made instruments' (courtesy of Andreas Gerth). This is the kind of music someone like Björk would love. Anyone familiar with The Notwist's last album Shrink will not be surprised to learn that the Acher Brothers, Micha and Markus also feature heavily in T&TT. Andreas Gerth is also — together with Ted Milton — member of Loopspool. The Tied & Tickled Trio were originally formed in 1994 in the village of Weilheim, Bavaria, home to a number of post-rock & alternative acts such as Console, Couch, The Notwist, Blond and others."

CLICK NEWWAVE (SPAIN):

VA: Impossible Hits in a World of Pigs CD (CLIC 002CD). $17.00

Spanish compilation of exclusive, previously unreleased and rare electro/electronic tracks. "Adult., Jeans Team, Ascii.Disko, Antártika, Electroncat, Ysabel Telegram, GD Luxe and up to 17 artists from all around the world making impossible hits for these blank thinking days." Also includes: Superpitcher, Das Bierbeben, Perspects, Kotai, Tamion 12inch, Kitbuilders, etc.

CLONE (NETHERLANDS):

THE BROTHERS FUCK AND FRIENDS: The Brothers Fuck EP 12" (CLONE 07). $9.00

"The musical adventures of the Brothers Fuck. Lanny Eyes aka I-F and his partners in crime Francois Guillotine aka Duracel, Melvin White and Manolo Scaletti known for their releases on Disko B, Sabotage, Viewlexx, DUB, Bunker, etc. with some of their everyday live musical stories. Raw and direct electro, funky as fuck. Finally available after being out of print for a long time." Limited stock.

TYRELL, ALDEN: Krenk-box 12" (CLONE 17). $9.00

"Known for the great 'Love Explosion' on Viewlexx and the previous Clone 12 release. Massive electro release with leaning to the past, but strong enough to fresh as hell today. Phat beats, cool vocoder vox, funky basslines."

PUTSCH '79: Putsch CD (CLONE 03CD). $18.00

"And here it is... The full length debut album by the mysterious Putsch '79... An album laden with joyous steaming grooves made for the hips as well as the mind, and all the product of two Finnish guys (living in the extreme north of Finland) toiling thru 24 hours without daylight making musical sunshine to entertain themselves. Sami Liuski and Pauli Jylhänkangas are two young guys finding their muse in the vintage sounds of decades past. Having both started out their musical career on the Amiga the pair got more serious about their music after Sami released his first tracks on Bunker and shortly after that on Clone. Later, Sami's debut as Bangkok Impact Traveller was universally acclaimed as a modern disco classic and made him a talent to watch and several other magazines. Pauli just released his first solo project on Klakson records (owned by Dexter). But when the guys team up they seem to have a little extra magic in their synths... Also together they seem more open to other sounds and like all good producers they don't like to stick to one style, but try to create interesting and fresh music they enjoy themselves... Surprising enough (When you take into account Finland has one of the highest rates of suicide) its not all doom and darkness in Finland, because Putsch '79s debut is an album that sparkles, bringing a smile to your faces and a wiggle to your butt. Putsch '79 rolls up Motor City techno and electro with New York disco and Ch-Town House into a unique hybrid."

VA: The Men You'll Never See CD (CLONE 04CD). $19.00

"If you've the slightest interest in today's electronic music, most of the acts on this first Clone label compilation require no introduction. If you've dabbled in disco, toyed with techno, or enjoyed any electro over the last few years, then you'll appreciate the significance on the global stage of this enterprising independent company from Rotterdam. In its restless quest for quality, Clone has attracted material from some of the finest artists from Detroit, such as Adult., D.I.E., Drexciya and Perspects, and championed home-grown heroes like Alden Tyrell, I-F and Dexter. A modest operation, Clone has achieved all this on its own terms, without compromise and hype, by allowing the music to speak for itself. The fact that this album brings together magical tracks by masked marvels The Other People Place, Glass Domain, Cosmic Force and Duplex for the first time is, for those who know, reason enough to break out the champagne. For the uninitiated, The Men You'll Never See is the ideal introduction to a world where man and machine coexist in synthesized harmony, where they talk to one another and instinctively understand each other's needs. This is sci-fi soul, romantic modernism, a 70-minute crusade against mediocrity. It's funny and funky, advanced and accessible, but it's melancholy too, nostalgic for an impossible future. This is the stuff that perks up dancefloors, the DJ's secret friend, and will remain in your iPod forever. To some this impeccable collection of seductive electro, digital funk and energetic disco may sound retro, to others it might seem boldly futuristic, a glorious rush into the unknown. In truth, The Men You'll Never See sits happily between the two, shrugging off any attempts at categorisation." Artists: Adult., DPX, Dexter, Alden Tyrell, D.I.E., Perspects, Cosmic Force, I-F, Drexciya, Alden Tyrell, Glass domain, Duplex, The Other people Place.

VA: The Men You'll Never See EP 12" (CLONE 10). $9.00

"Detroit In Effect with their cult classic 'The Men You'll Never See' including new interpretations by I-F (The Men Who Won't Come Back), Electroneum (Playmobile Invisible) and the very first appearance of Adult ever. Four killer tracks on one record."

ADULT.: New Phonies 12" (CLONE 14). $9.00

"A four track EP in their original and unique 80s-2000 electro pop hybrid style. Obviously inspired by some producers from their hometown Detroit (and of course their own flavours, ranging from almost 4/4 to uptempo electro tracks."

VA: We Still Kill The Old Way 2LP (CLONE 22). $15.00

"The first album on Clone records with an old concept... put some great music by some of the favorite artists of the label on one double pack...nice sleeve around it, cool image...and what do you have ...the greatest album available at the moment. Artists involved in this release are: Legowelt, Fabrice Lig, Alden Tyrell, Duplex, Dexter, Cosmic Force and some anonymous producers. Music ranges from raw uptempo Hi-tech electro (Cosmic Force/Frustrated Figures), to a great disco-ish track by Legowelt (offcourse), a dark soulful funk/house track by Duplex, advanced electro stuff (Dexter and Alden Tyrell), amazing techno track (Fabrice Lig). One of the best and most interesting compilation albums in a while....(and this is only part 1!)"

VA: We Still Kill The Old Way 12" (CLONE 23). $9.00

"The second vinyl part of the We Still Kill the Old Way. New amazing tracks all new and exclusive to this release by Perspects, Bangkok impact, Duplex, Mocky and Double Dutch. 5 high quality tracks wich all are different from mood and atmosphere, but all contain honest elements and emotions of everyday life. No fancy images, no sexy posess, no sunglasses at night! 5 tracks ranging raw energetic and maybe even aggressive to uplifting and fun."

VA: We Still Kill The Old Way CD (CLONE 24 CD). $0.00

"The very first CD release on Clone records. And what a CD! An amazing collection of thrilling and exciting electro, disco, technoish tracks wich doesn't have any competition in their quality. 12 strong tracks by various artists (Alden Tyrell, Dexter, Legowelt, Bangkok impact, Mocky, Perspects, Duplex, Fabrice Lig, to Cosmic Force and others.) All artists wich have been selected to contribute to this album (some wellknown..some anonymous, some relatively unknown) gave their best shot and managed to deliver one of their finest pieces of work. The selection is very versatile and can't be pigeon holed to one genre of one movement... but all track have one thing in common...and that's the fact they are all very good and they are so strong that each tracks stands out on its own. The whole compilation shows what good music needs... it has emotion, it has atmosphere, it is effective! Music should be honest and all these tracks are.... This release will have a personal relationship with their listener. The record will be part of the owners life...the owners everyday life, life without a happy ending."

DREXCIYA: Grava 4 CD (CLONE 25 CD). $14.00

"New full length album by Drexciya. Drexciya has reached new levels with this new album. Their aquatic habitat has been replaced by a new territory in space. The star Drexciya. Money buys everything... and Drexciya bought their own star in the cosmos (they really did!). This album tells the story of underwater species in space... The Drexciya warriors escape the gravity waves and travel 700 million light years reach their new colony in the cosmos named...Drexciya (registered with the international star registry under the coordinates ra18h35m37.73 d3°22'31.12"). The hi-tech nomads life according the Drexciya r.e.s.t. principle (research, experimentation, science and technology) and try to reach new standards. This album proves that the evolution of their species hasn't been stopped yet and gets new impulses from their new possession. Drexciya goes deeper then ever before..."

DREXCIYA: Grava 4 2LP (CLONE 25 LP). $16.00

Double LP version in gatefold sleeve.

DUPLEX: Autoload 12" (CLONE 26). $9.00

"Great new 12" of the talented Duplex duo. First release after a summer full of live gigs and remix jobs (Fabrice Lig, Ferry Corsten, Ransom. etc). 3 tracks wich will blow your mind. Two energetic dancefloor killers...driving tracks with uplifting and atmospheric string sounds... Kind of Random noise generation meets Derrick May. And as a kind of bonus a very smooth funky techno/house track with warm chords which will make you feel like driving thru the warm summer night in the sleeping city and see the city calm down from daytime madness."

THE OTHER PEOPLE PLACE FT. MYSTIC TRIBE: Sunday Night Live At The Laptop Cafe 12" (CLONE 27). $9.00

"Clone is proud to present this special project by the Other People Place! Since their amazing debut album on Warp we present a new release by this obscure act feat. another classic artist from Detroit called Mystic Tribe (previously known as Urban Tribe on labels such as Mowax, Planet E and the obscure Retroactive label). The Other People Place present 'Sorrow & A Cup Of Joe' wich is a sweet moody house kind of track (wich is a kind of Moodymann meets Dopplereffekt) with warm chords and typical vocals. Mystic Tribe delivers an sweet melancolic broken beat track called 'Telepathic Seduction', with dusty sound and a warm prominent basslines as they did before on the before mentioned labels... reminds especially on their early works one Retroactive (together with Carl Craig). Urban Tribe (Or Mystic Tribe) can be seen as one of the founders of the broken beat/nu jazz/techno wich has an increasing group of addicts these days (Think Jazzanova, Domu, Reclouse, John Arnold etc.)"

PUTSCH '79: 1300 EP 12" (CLONE 28). $9.00

"Tasty new project by Sami Liuski (aka. Bangkok Impact) and Pauli Jylh...nkangas. Three track 12" with two warm grooving New York disco tracks with some early '80s Detroit influences (think Cybotron/Juan Atkins and Shari Vari ). '1300' and 'Glowing cat' go with big leading basslines that will set the groove, combined with warm synths and funky discoish percussion to set the house on fire. As bonus track Putsch'79 came with a warm mid tempo ride called 'Steam engine' with almost slick guitar and warm smooth rhodes touches, how smooth can you handle? Warm grooving and relaxed tracks will make you move naturally. Think Metro Area, Daniel Wang, Bangkok Impact, Legowelt."

D.I.E.: The Men You'll Never See Pt. 2 12" (CLONE 29). $9.00

"From Eminem's neighborhood (around 8mile Rd) The Men You'll Never See produce their techno/electro tracks in thru Detroit style. Producing tracks with classic (childhood) influences like Model 500, Cybotron, Hashim, Planet Rock/Arthur Baker, Egyptian Lover, Funkadelic/George Clinton etc. make them forget everyday's struggle thru live. D.I.E. proves that producing music as an emotional outlet instead of making money or reaching stardom brings the best result."

ADULT.: Blank Eyed-Nose Bleed/Shake Your Head 12" (CLONE 30). $9.00

"Two track pre-release 12" exclusive on Clone from the new Adult. Full length Anxiety Always. 'Shake Your Head' and 'Blank Eyed-Nose Bleed' are two rocking tracks featuring the ice cold vocals of Nicola Kuperus (also heard on the recent collaborations with Swayzak and Death in Vegas which reached a top 50 position in the UK singles chart) containing the influential sounds of Adam Miller."

LAB RAT XL: Mice or Cyborg CD (CLONE 31 CD). $16.00

"2 years ago Drexciya announced seven 'storms' would be emerging from their studio, each storm standing for a Drexciya or Drexciya produced album (4 being released on Tresor, 2 on Clone and 1 on Kombination Research). Clone will be releasing the last storm in the series entitled Lab Rat XL and produced in accordance with the Drexciyan r.e.s.t. principle (Research, Experimentation, Science, Technology). Because of the tragic loss of one of the Drexciya members this is also (as far as we can tell) the last ever Drexciya production. This last storm consists of 6 stages of experimentation. The loss of James Stinson before the final track titles were decided upon has meant that the tracks are recognised by the production code 'Lab Rat' and a number from 1 to 6. Much has been written about Drexciya in the 10 years they have been releasing music on labels such as Underground Resistance, Warp, Clone and Tresor, but not one article has managed to capture the magical essence their music contains. Drexciya have always remained true to their principles of exploring new territories instead of repeating themselves (the key to success for many), instilling their music with an unquantifiable mystical element. This last release consists of 6 magic space electro funk tracks. Ranging from smooth light electro to raw darker tracks, all the Lab Rats have in common is that they don't sound as dark and menacing as some of the early Drexciya, possessing a more positive feeling. (This may be due to the change of living habitat of the Drexciyans). Sadly we will never know what future experiments might have emerged from Drexciya, but this Mice or Cyborg album is the best last storm we could get. Timeless piece of music."

PUTSCH '79: Asian Girls EP 12" (CLONE 32). $9.00

"Sami Luski (aka. Bangkok Impact) and Pauli Jylh...kangas with the second three track 12" of their Putsch '79 project. Warm grooving New York disco tracks with some early '80s Detroit influences. 'Asian Girls' (the title track obviously) is almost a camp retro disco track with uplifting strings and grooving basslines. For those who can't handle so much joy...turn the record over to 'Picotto Jade' and 'Penguins Are Deep'. Two tasteful tracks with big leading basslines that will set the groove, combined with warm synths and funky discoish percussion to set the house on fire."

GLASS DOMAIN: Glass Domain EP 12" (CLONE 33 A/B). $9.00

"Cult classic on Clone. The very first release by Heinrich Mueller which unfortunately never officially has been released. Produced in 1991 and pressed on a limited clear vinyl test pressings of 300 copies which only was given away and sold to friends in local record stores. Lucky enough Clone was able to lay their hands on this classic recording before it got lost. Four tracks made by a producer (or producers?) who can be seen as the most obscurest from Detroit. Even close friends are not getting information on what he or they are doing and what he produces. Only freaks can tell by recognizing his sounds what else he or they produced (some online magazines and discographies like www.discogs.com are drawing lines from Drexciya, Dopplereffekt, Der Zyklus, Japananese Telecom to Heinrich Mueller/ Glass Domain). We think it is impossible that one guy is able to do so many great releases, but if it's true we are sure he must be a saint send by a higher spirit to bring joy to this world. Glass Domain is the strangest but therefore coolest record especially if you think it has been produced in a period everybody into electronic music tried to make a dance hit instead of exploring new sounds and personal expression."

L.A.M.: Balance Of Terror EP 12" (CLONE 33 C/D). $9.00

"Another special re-release on Clone. Produced in 1991 and released in 1992 on Robert Hood's Hardwax label. One of the deleted classic harder Detroit electro/techno releases. Produced under the name Life After Mutation (L.A.M.) many see this release as the first Drexciya release ever. This is from the same period as the early Underground resistance and the first Jeff Mills & Robert Hood releases on Hardwax, Underground resistance and Axis. Strange enough this release always has been one of the more obscure and underrated releases from that period. And we think now 11 years after its original release it should be available again — and here it is."

PUTSCH '79: Putsch 2LP (CLONE 34LP). $20.00

Double LP version.

VA: The Men You'll Never See 2LP (CLONE 35LP). $20.00

Double LP version, 11 tracks. Artists: Adult., DPX, Dexter, Alden Tyrell, D.I.E., Perspectives, Cosmic Force, Drexciya, Duplex.

UNIT4: Body Dub 12" (CLONE 36). $10.00

"A new name in the game. Unit 4 (from Germany) comes with an amazing track called 'Body Dub'. This release has been pressed on 200 white labels by the artist and did get so much reaction that it needed a proper release. Clone is very happy to take care of this and here it is. The amazing almost 9 minutes long original version comes with 2 remixes/edits by Alden Tyrell. 'Body Dub' is a long building track with dub influences mixed with some bits Italo disco and some electro influences. Its really hard to describe and the track itself is completely different then everything being released at this moment. Alden Tyrell made two new edit/rmx version and gave the track a little more power for the dancefloor (even though the original version already gets played by people as Tiefschwarz, I-f, Ivan Smagge, Ewan Pearson, Glimmer twins and more of the nu-heros in the DJ world."

DUPLEX: Rebuild Pt. 2 (Ft John Arnold & Gerd Remixes) 12" (CLONE CX10). $9.00

"Another remix EP of some of Duplex finest works. This time we asked John Arnold (Transmat, Ubiquity) and Gerd (LEA, SONY, 4LUX, Universal language etc) to produce their version of two of our favorite Duplex tracks ('Late Night Cycling' and 'Fading Memories'). Both of them came with incredible jazzy tracks. Gerd with a warm smooth broken beat, nu jazz mix with stand up bass and rhodes. The perfect thing for a late night jazz club session. John Arnold came with a more Detroit influenced (surprise, surprise) jazzy track as we know from him on his Transmat and Ubiquity releases. The perfect mix between Detroit techno and Nu school jazz."

AMPLIFIED ORCHESTRA VS DEXTER: Getting It/Funk Force One 12" (CLONE CX15). $10.00

"500 copies only of this p-funk influenced release by Dexter and Amplified Orchestra! One side Amplified Orchestra's take on Space Funk and on the flip side Dexter is turning those tracks into a late 70's disco funk track with a 'borrowed' vocal from a classic disco cut."

DREXCIA: Drexciya r.e.s.t. Principle 12" (CLONE CX9). $9.00

"The pre release for their forthcoming album on Clone — Grav4. Drexciya warriors leaving their save aquatic environment to explore their new colony in space 7 million light years from earth.... Drexciya, their own piece of the cosmos. Limited 12" release of the forthcoming album."

CLOUD:

RAIN PARADE: Perfume River CD (CLOUD 006). $15.00

"A limited edition of only 1000 copies! This previously unreleased November 1984 recording features the Paisley Underground legends at their peak, playing songs from 'Emergency Third Rail Power Trip' and 'Explosions In The Glass Palace'. Steven Roback, Matt Picucci, and Will Glenn play 12 classics before bringing on members of the Long Ryders and Chesterfield Kings for jams on Velvet Underground and Neil Young tunes. Great sound and packaging with photos from the gig."

CLOUD RECORDINGS:

OLIVIA TREMOR CONTROL, THE: Music from the Unrealized Film Script, Dusk at Cubist Castle CD (CLD 003CD). $13.50

"Debut double album by The Olivia Tremor Control finally back in print! The highly influential Elephant 6 masterpiece from 1996 has been out of print since 1999. Formed in Ruston, Louisiana in 1993 and transplanted to Athens, Georgia in 1995, they assembled Music from the Unrealized Film Script, Dusk at Cubist Castle over a month long period in the Denver-based studio of childhood friend and Apples (in Stereo) mastermind, Robert Schneider, using home recordings that they had amassed since their inception, as well as new mind-expanding studio creations."

OLIVIA TREMOR CONTROL, THE: Black Foliage: Animation Music CD (CLD 004CD). $13.50

"Long awaited re-issue of The Olivia Tremor Control's ambitious, highly influential second album from 1999, which originally sold 40,000 copies. Perfect symphonic pop songs in an elaborate tapestry of tape manipulation, free jazz, and electronics. Guest appearances by The Apples (in Stereo) and Neutral Milk Hotel."

COBRA RECORDS (CANADA):

G.I. JOE KILLAZ: CD (COBRA 003CD). $12.00

"Electro gangsta rap or laptop hip-hop if you like. This is indeed a hip-hop or rather a tech-hop release from the G.I. Joe Killaz, fronted by Destro, the Baroness and Tomas Jirku as the Cobra commander behind the beats. The results are fantastic, a fresh take on hip-hop. This self titled release by G.I. Joe Killaz boasts intro's, skits and 19 tracks of the Cobra team's scheme to rule the world — at whatever cost! The recording will probably offend some, but is incredibly difficult to take too seriously. Seriously this record is hilarious, but certainly not for everyone. Although we suspect that people that enjoy the likes of Dr. DOOOM, Peaches, Chicks on Speed, Gold Chains and NERD will more than likely get a kick out this release."

COCHLEA PRODUCTIONS:

MANERI TRIO, JOE: Kalavinka CD (CP 1289). $12.00

An early 90s release, only distributed locally in very primitive fashion. Out improvisations by Joe Maneri (ts, cl, voice), Matt Maneri (electric violin), Masashi Harada (perc., voice). Joe has received much recent acclaim from his Leo, Hat Art CDs, etc.

COCOON (GERMANY):

VATH, SVEN: In The Mix: The Sound of the 4th Season 2CD (CORMIX 007 CD). $19.00

"Having ended the Fourth Season in Ibiza with a monster Closing Party, Sven Vath is again delivering his opinion of the world in the form of a Double Mix-CD on his label Cocoon Recordings. As the most influential and present techno mastermind Sven's selection of tracks truly represents the spirit and tendencies of this years electronic music scene as he returns to the double Night & Day CD concept. Following the huge success of the previous editions, The Sound of the fourth Season is even more outstanding & essential. The CD comes in a high quality and extra ordinary silver embossed digipack. It is a true sum up, of what is happening in the world's electronic music party scene today." Artists: Funk D'Void, Paul Jackson, Dub Kult, Tres Demented, ADA, LFO, T.Raumschmiere, Codec & Flexor, Matt French, DJ Tonio & David Carretta, Marco Carola, Cassy & Dave the Hustler, Ingo Boss, Jay Alanaky, L'Usine, Ricardo Villalobos, Chateau Flight, Sten, Welt Zwei, Phonogenic, Bangkok Impact, Lopazz feat. Alex Cortex, Primal Scream, Dntel, Jackson Fourgeaud, Luciano.

LEGOWELT: Disco Route 12" (COR 004EP). $9.00

"Dutch producer Danny Wolfers aka Legowelt had released his track 'Disco Route' on 12" vinyl on the American label Ghostly International, and probably, the limited record would have fallen into oblivion — if Sven Vath had not heard the track and put it on top of his charts. 'Disco Route' has been THE floorburner at this years' Cocoon Club in Ibiza's finest club Amnesia and a summer hit as such. Cocoon Recordings licensed the track and is to release a 12" vinyl EP containing the Original on the A-Side and a stunning remix by Kanzleramt Member and Cocoon Booking Artist Johannes Heil."

BONDZIO, OLIVER: Straight Outta D-Town CD (COR 007CD). $16.00

"Straight out of Duesseldorf comes fresh food from one of Germany's most distinguished DJs and producers: Oliver Bondzio's very first Artist Album in his own name is released by Cocoon Recordings. This very fine piece of Techno bears the title Straight Outta D-Town and assembles varied tracks which come along with great love for the hilarity and a good deal of steam. Bondzio puts straight techno alongside dark Electro-Sounds like 'The Devil Made Me Do It' and thus proves musical variety. The distorted voice in the background of the track is the confession of a serial killer."

BONDZIO, OLIVER: Straight Outta D-Town 2LP (COR 007LP). $18.00

Double LP version. "Bondzio puts straight techno alongside dark Electro-Sounds like 'The Devil Made Me Do It' and thus proves musical variety. The distorted voice in the background of the track is the confession of a serial killer."

BOSS, INGO: Transistor EP 12" (COR 008 EP). $9.00

"Transistor" is industrial sounding sawtooth Techno with a shrill lead sequence and a varied arrangement; the built-in Short Breaks are speeding up the track with a wavering bass line. 'Little Eternity' on the other hand is fluffy electronic Techno. With its straight bass drum, a melodic bass and a playful bell-like piano part, the harmonic track with nice hooks and epic sounds is moving towards Electro."

SIENKIEWICZ, JACEK: Displaced CD (COR 008CD). $18.00

"Technology that powers the world is supposed to be stable and not to fail. But every machine is programmed or operated by a human, whose single mistake can lead into crash. Furthermore, beware of the accidents that happen, which may cause serious damage to a power computer, will it be either a software problem or brutal physical damage. And, in fact, the more complex the technology becomes, the threat of unexpected damage rises. However, broken machines could work, and here is the example: Displaced is the second album for Cocoon by Jacek Sienkiewicz, Warsaw-based 27-year old producer and fierce live performer, also running his own label Recognition. This is an exceptional record: made by Jacek after moving from his native Warsaw to more quiet and conservative Cracow, using, among others, a badly crashed laptop computer, virtually high on emotion. One can find all his trademark elements here — madly driving techno beats, overwhelming melodies and weird vocal snippets, but the result is more dancefloor-friendly as well as more experimental at a time, a rare achievement in today's formalised world of club music. The music formerly known as Techno is not dead, as many say... It's just somewhere else. And that's where it is."

SIENKIEWICZ, JACEK: Displaced 2LP (COR 008LP). $19.00

Double LP version.

VA: Cocoon Compilation D CD (COR 009CD). $17.00

"The fourth release in the Cocoon Compilation series assembles some of the finest Techno music. All tracks are made exclusively for Cocoon Recordings and over the past three years, more and more Techno musicians from all over the world became aware of and are fascinated by this concept of expressing the artist's relation to a label. Adam Beyer for instance, one of the most influential producers within the scene, called his track 'Rockoon' and thus showed both his commitment to the idea behind Cocoon Rec. as well as his conviction that the label's music is not boring at all. Sven Vath teamed up with long-time companion Anthony Rother and delivers a positively disturbing track which not only features Rother's well-manufactured soundscapes but also the unmistakable voice of Sven. The focus of the compilation was once more set on young fresh artists who stand out the mass of producers in our days. And people like ADA, Denis Rusnak, Bangkok Impact or Destillat for example, have definitely ideas that may help to take Electronic Music another step forward." Features: Dinky, Jake Fairley, Roman Flugel, David Carretta, Vath vs. Rother, ADA, Role Model, Adam Beyer & Henrik B, Tony Rohr, Denis Rusnak, Destillat, Bangkok Impact.

ROTHER, ANTHONY: Bodytalk 12" (COR 010 EP). $9.00

"After more than three years, it has finally come true — Anthony Rother left his first and, so far, last footprints at Sven Vath's label Cocoon Recordings with the opening track for Cocoon's first Label Compilation A in 2000, 552000 under the alias 'Little Computer People'. Now, he presents a 12" record with the telling name Bodytalk, which was exclusively produced for Cocoon Recordings. With 'Come With Me', Mr. Rother invites us politely to follow him and gives one more definition of Elektro in 2003 at the same time. The futuristic sounding track melts the harmonies and beats with Rother-like vocals and sound specials, giving the music a light percussive touch, especially at the end. The flipside brings 'Bodytalk' to your ears and shows a somehow different facet of the artist Anthony Rother — 'gimme that damn Guitar'. With 'Bodytalk' and 'Come With Me', Anthony Rother has made two tracks which will cause some confusion in the Techno Community for sure."

VATH, SVEN: In the Mix CD (CORMIX 001 CD). $16.00

"After having refused scores of offers and inquiries to publish a Mix CD, Sven finally agreed to release a recording of one of his DJ sets for the first time. It is not clear why the world had to wait for so long; maybe the reason is that Sven is a master in building up suspense throughout his sets which can often last for eight, nine or twelve hours. Anyway, it is for sure that Sven was so struck by the party people at the Amnesia that he decided to release this mix CD as a thankyou and a souvenir. The result is a mix which contains some of the most popular tracks of this past summer, and also includes some of Sven's very own work plus many surprises. A mix which builds up like a clubnight and perfectly catches the atmosphere of the summer." Artists include: Wasserman, Steve Bug, Technasia, Si Begg, Sven Vath, Terence Fixmer, John Selway, Alter Ego, Justin Berkovi, John Thomas, Electric Deluxe, Chris Liebing, Scorp.

BUG, STEVE: The Flow House CD (CORMIX 002 CD). $16.00

"The first Steve Bug mix compilation from the Cocoon Mixed Sessions series — The Flow shows the wide range of modern House Music — resulting in 75 minutes of refreshing, groovy House beats. This mix provides another side to the audio spectrum of the Cocoon clubbing sound as originally heard on the first of the Mixed Session series with Sven Vath's hard techno In The Mix - The Sound Of The First Season. Through his numerous productions — singles as well as albums, Steve has already made a name for himself as THE minimal pioneer in Tech House far beyond German borders." Artists include: Reelcose (Carl Craig Mix), Hakan Lidbo, Antonelli Electr. Frankman, Swag, Don Disco & Sikora, Universal Agents, Schmoov, Charley's Vault, Chase Von Heckler, Mood II Swing (Josh Wink's Remix), Subtech, Steve Bug, Marshall Jefferson vs Noosa Heads (Mazi's Audio Soul Revamp).

VATH, SVEN: In The Mix ? Sound Of The 2nd Season 2CD (CORMIX 003 CD). $22.00

"The highly anticipated follow-up to last years In The Mix. This double CD mix brings together Sven's worldclass mixing, top techno and house tracks, and the energy of the Cocoon parties thrown all over Europe. Disc one is the Noche (or Night) mix and disc two is the Dia (or Day) mix. This is merely a sampling of his epic six-plus hour sets and cannot be missed." Artists include: Surgeon, Mindlab, D Funk, DJ Shufflemaster, Secret Cinema, Daze Maxim, 1st Bass, Vitalic, Alter Ego, Speedy J, Marco Carola, Fabrice Lig, Funk D-Void, Quiet Daze, L'Usine, Sunpeople, Steve Bug, Tony Senghore Pres. Love Pack One, Mathias Schaffhauser feat. Rob Taylor, Samuel L Sessions, Christian Morgenstern, Auch, Two Lone Swordsman, Sensorama, Aphex Twin.

VILLALOBOS, RICARDO: In The Mix: Taka Taka CD (CORMIX 005). $16.00

One of the most devastating electronic mixes since the glory days of Stacy Pullen or Claude Young's DJ Kicks installments. Totally awesome all around. "Well-known as Resident DJ in several clubs since 1988, Darmstadt born Ricardo Villalobos started producing excellent records in 1990. Since 2000, Ricardo lives in Berlin during the summer and moves to his native country Chile in the winter. This big share of summer is also noticeable in his music: his sets come along very light and levitating, the mixes are pointed and skillful. The Mix CD in hand exactly moves within this range: Ricardo gives an overview of his most important electronic Dance Tracks of the year and mixes them in the playful way we all know him for. The last three tracks illustrate his roots; it's getting rather housy here. Villalobos' definition of electronic club music is mainly based on House, even if some tracks sound more electronically. Beneath good fellows and old mates (and their labels), the tracklisting shows many new and partly unknown talents. Supporting new artists and their music always was and still is one of Ricardo's aims." Artists: Joris Vermeiren, Ark, Melchior Productions, Cabanne, Dimbman, John Shaniganes, Jabberjaw, Claro Intelcto, Mathew Jonson, Baeks, Brothers' Vibe, Vainqueur, Walter Jones, Kate Williams, Daniel Bell, False, Ricardo Villalobos, Errorsmith, Luciano, Koro Osanago, Soul Capsule, Joris Vermeiren.

PASCAL F.E.O.S.: Rize and Fall CD (CORMIX 006 CD). $16.00

"Being in business for 19 years now, Pascal F.E.O.S. is an important figure at the decks. His sense for the right sound in the right club and his openhearted character make him one of the most recommended DJ, Producer and Remixer. Rize and Fall reflects the philosophy behind Cocoon as Pascal understands it: showing the music like it is, illustrating its power and passion and just let it speak for itself. According to the great violin player Yehudi Menuhin (1916 — 1999), who said: 'Musica speaks for itself — provided that we give it a chance!'." Artists: Ricardo Villalobos, Luciano & Querum, Monaco Jam, Pascal F.E.O.S., MFF, DK 7, Feos vs. SWS, Paul Jackson, Alexander Kowalski, Joel Mull, Agoria, Skatebard, Azure Taint.

VA: Funk D'Void in the Mix CD (CORMIX 008CD). $17.00

"Cocoon Rec. continues its highly successful series In the Mix with an artist who has proven that he can do some serious damage to the dancefloor. Playing the Cocoon Club at Amnesia several times and literally turning the place into a madhouse made him more than cut out for doing the next Cocoon Rec. Mix-CD. His DJing style covers both mediums of house and techno seamlessly. The Mix is a completely rounded piece of work, totally made without plugins or computers — but with an excellent tension development and a very good overview over Funk D'Void's record case and the jewels that it currently contains." Artists: 16B, D5, Loft 55, Lullabies feat. Karine, Augmented Reality, Jesse Rose, Solid Gold Playaz, Konrad Blck and Selfparttwo, Luciano, Carl Craig, Future Beat Alliance, Hertz & Mhonolink, Zoo Brazil, Deetron, Dennis DeSantis, Dan Corco & Fred Carreira.

COCOSOLIDCITI (UK):

BIOCHEMICAL DREAD (RICHARD H. KIRK): Bush Doctrine CD (CSC 006 CD). $13.00

"Bush Doctrine is an incendiary sonic polemic against oily greed mongering and cultural ignorance. BioChemical Dread spent much of the 90s travelling through the Middle East, India, West Africa, Haiti and Jamaica gathering field recordings. Bush Doctrine is the antithesis of the grinding sound of the industrial military simplex of the deaf and dumb war machine rumbling over ancient cultures. It is an audiophonic journey through time and space where the ancient language of rhythm meets digital communication to meld the organic and the technological. It is the propaganda machine's diet of fear and loathing subverted, synthesized and made subservient to the liberating process of creative expression and cross cultural contamination. BioChemical Dread is Richard H. Kirk! (Cabaret Voltaire, Sandoz) ...need we say more! Artwork by Designers Republic."

CODANZA (UK):

TAYLOR FEEL TRIO, CECIL: 2 Ts For A Lovely T 10CD BOX (COD 001CD). $235.00

Originally released in 2002 and only sold via mail order from the UK Mole Jazz shop, a few copies of this are now available for slightly wider distribution. Priced akin to FMP's famous 11CD set In Berlin from 1988, this features 5 double-CD jewel cases and a very slim 12 page booklet, packaged in a sturdy slipcase. Disappointing (and frankly, way overpriced) compared to the gorgeous and defining FMP box. The music is a document of a week-long performance in London, 1990, by the trio of: Taylor (piano), William Parker (bass) and Tony Oxley (percussion). "While working in the early '90's with Oxley and Parker, Cecil Taylor named his unit the Feel Trio. The 10-CD box set, 2 Ts for a lovely T shows what an apt name that was. The feel for Cecil's complicated, frenetic, and always forceful compositions displayed by each musician in these discs is nothing short of amazing...the weeklong sets captured here are every bit as revelatory and even edifying as Miles' The Complete Live at the Plugged Nickel." — Adam Hill.

CODE (GERMANY):

AMMER & CONSOLE: On The Tracks CD (CODE 006 CD). $16.00

"Radio play goes undercover: On the Tracks is the illegitimate child of reality TV and spy thriller, as it was conceived in Pauli's Chill-Out Lounge. In other words: The rules of the game were simple: 5 spies in 6 cities (Hamburg, Damascus, Cologne, Palermo, Naples and some other place in Germany) shadow 7 randomly selected persons without being compromised. As it is, each human being is a cosmos of its own and bears it wherever he may go. 'I am your shadow. Where do you come from? Where are you going? Who are you?' — Radio play as a test case for state-surveillance. The stalkers follow their targets — overcoming all obstacles — to a brothel, to a secret affair or into the drug scene. In real time they describe each and every step of their prey and involuntarily come upon the blackest depths of everyday life: the secret kiss, the Lolita-relationship, the lonely wolf in the night, their infatuation with those they pursue.

Andreas Ammer and Console transformed the authentic surveillance-protocols into a requiem for reality. Real trails became musical tracks. Musically, this is a complex and thrilling concept album."

CODEK:

CROSSOVER: Fantasma CD (CODEK 06 CD). $14.00

American version of the Gigolo CD. "Call it new wave, punk, or disco, what ever you call it — Crossover, is the max! These two must have hatched from the same pod that was plucked from a B animated film, set on an alien planet. Their demented sequenced sound is fortified with heavy bass lines, drum machines and an arsenal of synthesizers. Journey with Crossover in their world of fantasy adventure stories: Fantasma! Electronic songs of dreams and despair. Listen to the distant echo moan, as Desmond and Verona chant about the likes of sitting bull to the everyday thoughts of an android. Crossover's organic blend of stripped-down, retro synth-pop has a mythical, surreal feel to it. They deliver 80s electro-influenced pop, hitting the art camp button squarely and arriving at what they call the new olde tyme — the majestik sound!"

COG SINISTER (UK):

FALL, THE: Room To Live 2CD (COG 105 CD). $15.00

1998 CD reissue. "This is a reissue of the bands sixth album. Originally released in 1982 this CD has specially designed artwork for CD. The first copies of this CD come with a 20 minute live EP recorded at The Band on the Wall in Manchester in 1982. The full recording of this is split between two live EPs the first part is available with the reissue of Palace of the Swords."

FALL, THE: Grotesque CD (COG 106 CD). $15.00

1998 CD reissue of the 4th Fall album, originally issued by Rough Trade in 1980. From an Edwin Pouncey review in Sounds: "The whole Fall sound is not, as some seem to think, a musical kickabout but structured and complete. The Fall are a rhythm section tight and disciplined, a well-tuned dance machine in the truest sense of the word dance, a firm foundation created to give Mark the freedom to let fly. With such a band behind him he can get on and do what he feels he must do without worry. It is their strength that provides the empty canvas for Mark to paint his pictures of words."

FALL, THE: Live In Zagreb CD (COG 109 CD). $15.00

"A top quality live recording of the Fall at their stunning, swaggering best. The band, had been given the chance to perform material that's related to the rest of the rock music family that is where tune, instruments and musicians melt into one. Mark E Smith of course, has no time for such frippery and exhibits his traditional disregard for the 'right' note from start to finish. Formed mainly from the Extricate and Frenz Experiment sets, this recording boasts an overwhelming reading from the 'MES Mad Epic' school. 'Hit The North' and an equally inspired take on The Monks' lost classic 'Black Monk Theme' which is a song so out there that it could have dropped from the claws of the same disturbing muse that grips Smith's shoulder. They top these off with the thoughtful traditional music arrangement that characterises 'And Therein', the traditionally deranged 'Carry Bag Man', the funky electronic paranoia of 'Telephone Thing' and the drugged-up squalor of 'Hillary'. The result is a hot and steaming slice from the only band in the world that's provided solid nourishment for the last two decades. Top Gig, Top Class."

FALL, THE: Dragnet CD (COG 113 CD). $15.00

"This album was originally released in October, 1979, it was the bands' second release and is now issued on CD by Cog Sinister, The Fall's own label. This was a dark, experimental recording, using strange tempos and a wide range of influences. Smith's lyrics were full of outrageous rhymes and complex images reeking of hatred, injustice and fear. By now Smith was the only original founding member. Mark E. Smith (lead vocals). Craig Scanlon (lead guitar), Steve Hanley (bass guitar), Marc Riley (guitar and vocals), Mike Leigh (drums). Specially remastered, with full lyrics printed and produced by Grant Showbiz."

FALL, THE: Live 1977 CD (COG 114 CD). $15.00

"This is the earliest known recording of John Peel's all-time favorite band. Hidden at the back of Mark E. Smith's bedroom cupboard for the last twenty odd years, this was never a high-fidelity recording, even after the tape has been cleaned up it still sounds like a bootleg made on a first generation cassette recorder. Having said that, it's priceless, awe inspiring, raw, grinding punk-rock stuff, full of bile and humor in roughly equal amounts. This is vintage Mancunian crap- rapping, live and dangerous. Nothing from this early gig has ever been released elsewhere: 'Dresden Dolls', 'Hey Fascist', 'Cop It', and the Fall's masterful take on 'Louie Louie' have never been available anywhere until now."

FALL, THE: Live in Liverpool '78 CD (COG 118 CD). $15.00

"This recording captures the essence of The Fall's early sound back when the band were on first name terms with a good percentage of the crowd. Whilst the charts were full of half-assed lovesongs and three minute punk rock anthems, The Fall were writing marathon epics of alienation, paranoia and mystery. This recording was made apparently without a drummer, so the percussion is there but hidden deep down in the mix until half way through the recording. The first couple of tracks sounds as if Mark E. Smith has sacked the band performing a solo set. If anyone has ever wondered what Mark E. Smith was yelling then all will be clear on this recording. The set has an early shambolic, still gelling charm for example the track 'Psycho Mafia' sounds as though it was played while the band were falling down a long flight of stairs whilst Mark is thanking the audience and making jokes. Early rarities 'Stepping Out' and 'Mess Of My', get a thorough work out with Mark's unique vocal style showing through. On 'Music Scene' the whole thing comes together brilliantly for a whole nine and a half minutes dripping venom, contempt and twisted wry amusement with gold in every groove. This is far from the usual pristine studio recording but is a gorgeous slide show from a disturbing, experimental past life which will appeal to the band's large and loyal fanbase."

FALL, THE: Reykjavik [Austurbæjarbió] CD (COG 125 CD). $15.00

"Reykjavik [Austurbæjarbió] was voted best live 'unofficial' recording by the fan club. This recording has been specially mastered for the official CD issue of Reykjavik and the sound quality is much enhanced. This brilliant 1983 recording has expressly commissioned artwork and sleeve notes by Tony Herrington, the editor of The Wire."

FALL, THE: Backdrop CD (COG 127 CD). $15.00

"Backdrop is a unique collection of studio out-takes and different versions of classic Fall tracks. It was originally released as a bootleg in 1994 and contains virtually all the impossible-to-find tracks spanning the first 12 years of The Fall. 'Dresden Dolls' is a gloomy but insistent recording of a rehearsal and is the oldest track on the album, dating back to 1977. After powering through 'Plaster On The Hands' from 1983, the bulk of the remaining tracks cluster around the end of the 1980s which was one of the band's most fertile and inventive periods."

FALL, THE: Code:Selfish CD (COG 133 CD). $15.00

"Originally released on Fontana in 1992 and unavailable for a number of years, Code:Selfish saw David Bush (keyboards and machines) joining Mark E. Smith, guitarist Craig Scanlon, Steve Hanley on bass and Simon Woolstoncroft on drums. The album received great reviews and was treated with respect by the press of the time, and again was a UK chart album for the band. Included on the album is the single 'Free Range/Everything Hurtz' as well as two bonus tracks from the Ed's Babe EP released in the same year."

FALL, THE: Shift-Work CD (COG 134 CD). $15.00

"Long unavailable and originally released on Fontana in 1991, Shift-Work was the Fall's highest UK chart placing to date (No. 17) and captured the line-up of leader Mark E. Smith, Craig Scanlon on guitar, bassist Steve Hanley, Simon Woolstoncroft on drums and fiddle player, Kenny Brady, this fantastic album included the classic White Lightning, the channel hopping A Lot of Wind and the single High Tension Line. This reissue now includes 2 bonus tracks: Xmas With Simon, the b-side of 'High Tension Line' and 'Blood Outta Stone', the b-side of 'White Lightning'."

COL LEGNO (GERMANY):

XENAKIS, IANNIS: Anastenaria CD (WWE 20086). $19.00

Features: "Anastenaria" (1952-54, World premiere of the full cycle) — performed by Symphonieorchester des Bayerischen Rundfunks conducted by Charles Z. Bornstein; "Troorkh" (1991, for trombone solo and large orchestra); "Ais" (1980, for baritone, percussion solo, and orchestra).

XENAKIS, IANNIS: Kraanerg CD (WWE 20217). $19.00

"In the composition 'Kraanerg' new pitch and tonal structures are found now only in the live part for large orchestra but also in the tape accompaniments. In many of the sounds on the tape, more over, one can still hear that they derive from recorded instrumental passages. But even such passages can usually be distinguished from the live parts by their (more or less extensive) technical distortion. Often their sound has been altered — for example by damping or slowing and expanding (that is the recordings are played back at a lower speed, resulting in a lower pitch as well) — so that even when listening to the CD one can distinguish clearly between live sounds and tape sounds (whether they are alternating or overlapped)."

COLD BLUE MUSIC:

FOX, JIM: Last Things CD (CB 0001). $13.00

"The Cold Blue label was started by Jim Fox in the early 1980s — in the days of vinyl. Early releases were by Peter Garland, James Tenney, Ingram Marshall, Harold Budd, etc. By the time of its demise a few years later, Cold Blue was recognized by many new-music critics as a label with a unique focus — particularly West Coast minimalism and post-minimalism. Jim Fox is a LA-based composer of instrumental and electro-acoustic music. 'The Copy of the Drawing' is a sectional, non-dramatic, serpentine soundscape charged with a certain abstract mysteriousness — it overlays, chains, and weaves a whispering voice with strands of nonverbal, pitched sound. The text is built of fragments — sentences, phrases, and individual words — from twenty-three letters addressed to the scientists at Mt. Wilson Observatory between 1915 and 1935. 'Last Things', scored for bass clarinet, pedal steel guitar, piano, and electronic keyboards, is somewhat of a rhapsodic call and response between bass clarinet and pedal steel guitar, constructed of seven connected sections (or songs) that over the length of the piece slowly build in intensity."

BYRON, MICHAEL: Music Of Nights Without Moon Or Pearl CD (CB 0002). $13.00

"Music of Nights Without Moon or Pearl is a 1998 work for string quartet, contrabass, two pianos, and electronic keyboard. An arch-form work that unfolds slowly and insistently, at its point of greatest activity, the texture of Music of Nights... might be likened to the sound of rainfall on a roof — delicate, resonate, active, continuously changing while, in some sense, seeming to remain the same. Invisible 'Seeds' for James Tenney is a 1998 work scored for the same forces as Music of Nights. Entrances is a mid-1970s work for four pianos — all four parts stunningly played by David Rosenboom, who also realized the specific construction of the version of this somewhat open-form piece that is heard here. Starting with intermittent bursts of notes, it builds to an extraordinarily dense barrage of sound."

SMITH, CHAS: Nikko Wolverine CD (CB 0003). $13.00

"Nikko Wolverine" (1999) is a three-movement piece scored for various bowed and struck metal instruments in non-tempered tunings. These instruments, which were designed and built by the composer, emit tones that are rich in complex harmonics and often sound more electronic than acoustic. 'Tons Tons Macoutes' (1999) is a texturally dense work for Smith's metal instruments. It is almost glacial in both its presence and its pace, and it might call to mind certain musique concrète works. 'Genus, Sho-Bud' and the hymn-like 'Near the Divide', both composed in 1999, feature the composer on pedal-steel guitar. The first of these works utilizes a highly processed sound and unfolds through series of harmonic suspensions. Chas Smith, a Los Angeles-based composer and performer in the American maverick tradition of Harry Partch, creates much of his music from exotic instruments of his own design."

FINK, MICHAEL JON: I Hear It In The Rain CD (CB 0004). $13.00

"Ranging from works for solo piano and solo celesta to a textural soundscape for multiple clarinets to the title piece's glimmering electronic world, Fink's music on this CD is beautifully wrought, carefully meshing surface elegance with underlying formal concerns. Describing an earlier recording of Fink's music, Joan LaBarbera wrote in High Fidelity, "the simplicity and elegance of character that many of Meredith Monk's works display, quiet and peaceful?minimal, but with the careful sparseness one comes to appreciate in the works of Feldman, Cage, or LaMonte Young." This description could well apply to the music on Fink's new release."

WALKER, MARTY: Dancing On Water CD (CB 0005). $13.00

"This CD by outstanding new music clarinetist Marty Walker presents the work of composers Daniel Lentz, Peter Garland, Jim Fox, Michael Jon Fink, Rick Cox, and Michael Byron. Ranging from lush music for ten clarinets and ten pianos to a technically thorny solo for bass clarinet, and covering much ground in between, the pieces collected here offer a diverse array of styles and technical concerns. However, there seems to be a simple underlying link that holds them all together — a fascination with music's inherent sensuality. Performing with Walker are a number of noted new music stalwarts — William Winant, Wadada Leo Smith, Bryan Pezzone, Amy Knoles, David Johnson, Rick Cox, and Susan Allen."

COX, RICK: Maria Falling Away CD (CB 0006). $13.00

"This CD brings together six of Rick Cox's elegantly sparse, dark, sensuous, vaguely desolate soundscapes in which emotions seem to bubble just below cool surfaces (tracing a history of his work from 1990 through 2001). Most of these pieces display Cox's subtle, idiosyncratic electric guitar playing techniques, which sometimes employ preparations placed amid the strings (similar to those utilized in prepared piano works) and the use of such objects as sponges and brushes and glass lab slides to set the instrument's strings in motion. (Cox has been developing these techniques since the early 1970s.) These works also highlight Cox's ear for unusual and interesting harmonies. Featured performers: Jon Hassell, Thomas Newman, Jeff Elmassian, Chas Smith."

SMITH, CHAS: Aluminum Overcast CD (CB 0007). $13.00

"The six-movement set of variations that comprise Aluminum Overcast play with the listener's sense of time — the perceived pace and the clock pace at which musical events take place — as they slowly progress, the spare advancing to the dense. The first five sections/variations are built from shared/recurrent phrases — melodic phrases (for bowed and struck metal), rhythmic phrases derived from geometric and Fibonacci structures, and phrases of 'harmonic noise' that vary in density. The sixth movement, something of a coda to the whole work, steps aside from the variations structure and into a purely textural, Ligeti-like soundworld. Aluminum Overcast is scored for metal instruments of the composer's design — resonators that sprout rods, which are bowed and struck; large, clangorous sculptures of titanium; metal strings strung across multiple resonators; and vibraphone-like arrays of metal plates — along with an understated touch of pedal steel guitar and electronically processed flute and woman's voice. Chas Smith is a Los Angeles-based composer, performer, and instrument designer and builder who, in the spirit of Harry Partch, creates much of his music for his own exotic instruments. His compositions, which always display his dualistic fascination with the scientific and the sensual, might owe their split personalities to the diverse collection of composers he studied with in the 1970s: Morton Subotnick, Mel Powell, James Tenney, and Harold Budd."

VA: Cold Blue CD (CB 0008). $13.00

"Back by popular demand (and available for the first time as a CD), this essential collection of West Coast new music — an anthology known simply as Cold Blue — is a classic. Originally issued on vinyl in 1984. Although bound together by a common concern with music's basic sensuality, the pieces collected here are wide-ranging in style — process-driven works, through-composed pieces, ambient soundscapes, and music that glances in the directions of world music and avant-pop influences. In instrumentation, the music is also wide-ranging — from a celesta solo to a marimba quartet to a player piano solo to works for speaking voices to music for piano and bullroarer, plus works for solo piano, synthesizers, cello and piano, and perhaps the only known piece of new music for pedal steel guitar and multi-tracked banjo." Composers include: Michael Byron, Jim Fox, David Mahler, James Tenney, Chas Smith, Peter Garland, Ingram Marshall, Daniel Lentz, Read Miller, John Kuhlman, Rick Cox, Michael Jon Fink, Eugene Bowen, and Harold Budd.

ADAMS/COX/FINK/FOX: CD (CB 0009). $13.00

"Sometimes dark, sometimes quietly celebratory, the music on this CD is as straightforward as it is haunting and evocative. This disc, featuring new-music clarinetist Marty Walker, brings together Alaskan composer John Luther Adams' Dark Wind, a work for bass clarinet, mallet percussion, and piano penned in 2001, with three quintets for clarinet/bass clarinet and string quartet written in the early '90s by Los Angeles composers Rick Cox, Michael Jon Fink, and Jim Fox. All of these pieces — distinct in their own voices, yet united in their muted intensities and sensuous surfaces — inhabit a musical space that's just slightly (and interestingly) apart from most of today's prominent 'isms,' yet undeniably a part of the greater contemporary musical landscape."

ADAMS, JOHN LUTHER: The Light That Fills The World CD (CB 0010). $13.00

"These three works exist amid an undeniable esthetic spirit of the times — the embracing of pre-compositional principles and structural processes in the service of a highly personal artistic statement. However, John Luther Adams' recent work tends to transcend his compositional devices — it is simply potent, compelling music that is timeless in its sublimity. This is quietly expressive music in which process never intrudes on the music's 'sounding,' but churns away in the background, while the foreground shimmers with a simple yet great joy in the very making of sounds. It is a music that may be readily appreciated on both intellectual and sensual levels." 3 works from 1998-01, performed on bass clarinet, vibraphone, marimba, piano, electric keyboard, violin, doublebass.

POLANSKY, LARRY: Four-Voice Canons CD (CB 0011). $13.00

"Over the past 25 years, Larry Polansky has been composing a series of fascinating mensuration canons (a formal concept dating back to the Renaissance) that run a sonic gamut from wildly boisterous (#6) to serenely introverted (#17, Guitar Canon). This disc brings together thirteen of these pieces (one of which is found here in three different 'realizations'). Each of the canons on this disc could be considered a different orchestration of two basic concepts — the mensuration canon and the permutational cycling of a small number of musical elements. The instrumentation varies wildly: gamelan, electric guitars, children's voices, computer-generated sounds, marimbas, non-pitched percussion, choir, and chamber ensemble. The pitch materials, rhythms, tempos, and textures also vary dramatically from piece to piece."

BYRON, MICHAEL: Awakening At The Inn Of The Birds CD (CB 0012). $13.00

"Michael Byron's music is one of contrasts, riotous for its intertwining of minimalist and maximalist techniques and rigorous processes with freely composed music. In its unique way, it reconciles traditional notions of beauty with boisterous, almost-out-of-control instrumental writing. This new CD collects four of Byron's works written in the last three years and a new recording of a piece from 1981, all performed by some of today's most-respected new-music champions: Sarah Cahill, Joseph Kubera, Kathleen Supov6, and the FLUX Quartet. Continents of City and Love arid Tidal, written 20 years apart, are both arch-form pieces scored for two pianos, synthesizer, string quartet, and doublebass. Evaporated Pleasure is a fiery work for piano, four hands. Composed from an equal-tempered approximation of the harmonic and sub-harmonic series and multiple corrupted stochastic processes, it starts out almost hesitantly and builds to a wild, swirling barrage. Awakening at the Inn of the Birds is built from sets of rhythmic units that continuously change and develop."

SMITH, CHAS: An Hour Out Of Desert Center CD (CB 0013). $13.00

"Chas Smith — composer, inventor, instrument builder, and performer — has created his own musical world, complete with its own instruments and 'language.' It is a world of carefully sculpted textures that never sit absolutely still, textures that evolve and are always in the process of a slow change of aural perspective. Critics have repeatedly compared Smith's sometimes beautiful, sometimes brooding compositions to those of Ligeti. An Hour Out Of Desert Center is scored for pedal steel guitars, composer-designed-and-built crotales and sound sculptures, zithers, and a 1948 Bigsby lap guitar (a one-of-a-kind instrument that was owned by famed steel player Joaquin Murphey, who played with Spade Cooley, Tex Williams, Sons of the Pioneer, and other classic country artists). Here, Smith's musical texture, evolving slowly and continuously over the course of the piece, is without dramatic flourishes. Like the spare landscapes around Desert Center, California, it simply exists in its muted beauty."

VA: The Complete 10-inch Series From Cold Blue 3CD BOX (CB 0014). $23.00

"Back by popular demand (and available for the first time on CD), this boxed set of three CDs collects all the music released on a popular series of 10-inch vinyl records that were put out by Cold Blue in the early 1980s. During the Cold Blue label's first incarnation, this music by seven West Coast composers created much of the company's reputation as a challenging and always interesting source of new music. Although bound together by a common concern with music's basic sensuality, the pieces collected here are wide-ranging in style — process-driven works, carefully through-composed pieces, ambient soundscapes, and music that draws on influences from around the world. In instrumentation, this music is also wide-ranging — from violins accompanied by gourd rattles to an ensemble of clay ocarinas and whistles and flutes to works for piano (solo and duo), synthesizers, singers, speaking voices, cello and piano, electric guitar and clarinet, and perhaps the only known piece of new music for pedal steel guitar accompanied by multiple dobros. The diverse, free-spirited, genre-bending music in this set was characteristic of certain trends in West Coast music of the 80s. And, to some degree, most of this music tangentially addressed the lingua franca of 70s minimalism — embracing certain aspects, fleeing others." Composers: Peter Garland, Michael Jon Fink, Barney Childs, Read Miller, Chas Smith, Rick Cox, Daniel Lentz.

FOX, JIM: The City The Wind Swept Away CD (CB 0015). $8.00

"A haunting music for trombones, strings and piano. A fragile music of rarefied and quietly rumbling harmonies that, like drifting clouds, seem to float in and out of 'view.' A music that is both motionless and moving forward with a strange sense of inevitability. (23 minutes)"

LENTZ, DANIEL: Los Tigres de Marte CD (CB 0016). $8.00

"Swirling, compelling music. Its wildly branching roots touching everything from Debussy and Delius to pop to techno. Sometimes lush and enveloping, sometimes brittle and percussive; sometimes suspended and motionless, sometimes agitated. Featuring clarinetist Marty Walker with string quartet and electronic keyboards. (16 minutes)." "When it comes to attempts at musical seduction, Daniel Lentz's music is way out in front." — Kyle Gann, Village Voice.

FINK, MICHAEL JON: A Temperament for Angels CD (CB 0017). $8.00

"Music that combines equal measures of beauty and grit. A moody, elusively shaped textural music that is compelling in its power and grace from its very first violin note to its final shimmer of decaying cymbals. For an ensemble of violins and cellos, percussion and electronic/sampled sounds. (29 minutes)." "Dense, slowly changing sounds, atmospherically gloomy and harmonically quite subtle." — The Musical Times (London).

PETERS, STEVE: From Shelter CD (CB 0018). $8.00

"Beautiful, undulating music written for choreographer Lane Lucas's dance/theater work Shelter. Three violas casually stroll through their notes, leading to an alluring voice and piano music that is perhaps an extended coda to the string music that preceded it. Features violist Alicia Ultan and vocalist Marghreta Cordero. (16 minutes)." "Pure, restrained and rigorously beautiful." — Alvin Curran.

COLD SPRING RECORDS (UK):

C.C.C.C.: Flash CD (CSR 15). $16.00

First European CD release by this extreme Japanese noise group fronted by Mayuko Hino.

COLLECTOR'S CHOICE MUSIC:

NEIL, FRED: The Many Sides Of 2CD (CCM 070). $29.00

"It's ironic that the man who wrote the song 'Everybody's Talkin'' should be so little recognized, but Fred Neil remains 'The Last Great Undiscovered Greenwich Village Folk Legend'. Fred was a contemporary of and inspiration to Bob Dylan, David Crosby, Paul Kanter, John Sebastian and just about every musician of note who passed through the early-'60s folk scene. And almost everybody knows his songs 'Everybody's Talkin'' and 'The Dolphins', but almost nobody knows that they're his songs. That's because the man has had absolutely nothing in print on CD ever [wrong!] and has not been seen or heard from musically since 1971. So we feel very fortunate to have secured the rights to release this, the definitive look at Neil's classic Capitol recordings. Included are the three albums he recorded for them, Fred Neil (later released as Everybody's Talkin' Sessions, and the live album Other Side Of This Life, plus the A and B sides of his rare single with the Nashville Street Singers, and six unreleased/alternate songs. Few artists have created such a singular, melancholy vision; Fred's low, rumbling voice and his chiming 12-string created the ultimate in late-night listening, perfect for existential contemplation."

QUICKSILVER MESSENGER SERVICE: The Unreleased: Lost Gold And Silver 2CD (CCM 109). $27.00

"Here on one 78 minute disc is live Quicksilver as you've never heard them, a collection of hi-fi tracks taken from various 1968 performances that blow away their live album Happy Trails. John Cipollina is absolutely on fire. And, we've added a bonus disc with rare sound-track cuts, single-only sides, and yes, eight unreleased tracks, all of them dating from the prime 1967-1968 years. Live tracks include: 'Light Your Windows', 'Dino's Song', 'The Fool', 'Who Do You Love', 'Back Door Man', 'Codine', 'Mona/Maiden of the Cancer Moon/Mona', 'Gold and Silver', 'Smokestack Lightnin''. The bonus disc features unreleased studio versions of: Who Do You Love, Calvary. Plus unreleased songs: 'I Hear You Knockin'', 'Back Door Man', 'Your Time Will Come', 'Walkin' Blues'. Also, unreleased alternate takes of: 'Dino's Song', 'Gold and Silver' (entitled 'Acapulco Gold and Silver'), 'Babe I'm Gonna Leave You', 'Codeine' (in stereo). And finally the single sides: 'Bears' and 'Stand By Me'."

DR. JOHN: Gris Gris CD (CCM 131). $14.00

"Dr. John's 1968 release for Atco, here reissued with original artwork and original and new liner notes, is hard to describe because there is simply no other record like it. One part psychedelia, one part New Orleans R&B and one part something else (voodoo ritual might be the best phrase, but we're not sure that really covers it). Gris Gris' blend of rasping lead vocals (from Dr. John himself), soulful backup harmonies, haunting melodies on flute, sax, and clarinet and eerie incantations creates a vibe that's awfully hard to shake. It's not scary — in fact, it's rather celebratory in that special New Orleans way — but for full effect you might want to turn off the lights."

ELECTRIC PRUNES, THE: I Had Too Much To Dream Last Night CD (CCM 132). $14.00

"The Electric Prunes were more of an L.A. studio creation than an actual band, but that didn't stop them from making some of the most highly-prized psychedelic pop albums of all time. Bolstered by the production prowess of Dave Hassinger (Stones, Airplane), and the songwriting smarts of Annette Tucker and Nancie Muntz, the Prunes laid down two of the greatest garage pop anthems of all time ('I Had Too Much To Dream Last Night' and 'Get Me To The World On Time'). You'll find them along with a bevy of lesser known gems on these, their first three albums for Reprise, all of them released in that magical year of 1967. Original artwork, original and new liner notes, bonus tracks, and out of print for ages."

ELECTRIC PRUNES, THE: Underground CD (CCM 133). $14.00

Second album.

ELECTRIC PRUNES, THE: Mass In F Minor CD (CCM 134). $14.00

"Ah, the 60s. Love 'em or hate 'em, you gotta admit the decade had a lot of chutpah. Like when the Electric Prunes performed a Catholic mass set to psychedelic guitar (actually it wasn't their idea, it was composer David Axelrod's, but that's another story). The result was one of the most outrageous records of an outrageous time. Also made famous by the inclusion of 'Kyrie Eleison' in the soundtrack to Easy Rider. Along with it are 'Gloria', 'Credo', 'Sanctus', 'Benedictus' and 'Agnus Dei', plus both sides of their 'Hey Mr. President/Flowing Smoothly' single. Bread and wine not included."

OCHS, PHIL: Pleasures of the Harbor CD (CCM 137). $12.00

"Perhaps Phil's greatest record, 1967's Pleasures of the Harbor boasts the dead-on attack on apathy, 'Outside of a Small Circle of Friends', plus 'Cross My Heart', 'Flower Lady', 'I've Had Her', 'Miranda', 'The Party', 'Pleasures of the Harbor', and 'The Crucifixion'. A tremendous album you must own." From Richie Unterberger's liner notes: "Pleasures... may have been the first Ochs album to use electric instruments and elaborate arrangements, but it would not be folk-rock, exactly. Influenced by rock'n'roll, jazz, soundtrack music, classical composition, and even the electronic avant-garde, Ochs sought elaborate, sometimes orchestral settings that would complement the progressively complex poetry of his lyrics." Especially notable for the riveting album-ending epic "The Crucifixion", featuring musique concrete assembly techniques and arrangements by Joseph Byrd (of the United States of America) creating "an eerie morass of loops, electric harpsichord, and washes of electronic distortion".

OCHS, PHIL: Tape From California CD (CCM 138). $12.00

"The rockin' title track: Phil's first real foray into the genre: highlights this 1968 album, which also includes 'Half A Century High', 'Floods of Florence', 'Joe Hill', 'The Harder They Fall', 'The War is Over', the apocalyptic take on US history 'When In Rome', and 'White Boots Marching In A Yellow Land'. Another dazzling work."

H.P. LOVECRAFT: Two Classic Albums CD (CCM 139). $15.00

"Both long-out-of-print studio albums from one of the best psychedelic bands of the '60s. Led by George Edwards and keyboardist Dave Michaels, a classically trained vocalist with a four-octave range, H.P. Lovecraft combined sophisticated vocal arrangements and imaginative arranging to create songs that mesmerized without meandering, a rare feat in those hazy, crazy days. To date, the only thing available on CD has been that excellent live set on the Sundazed label; now here's a chance to hear this Chicago outfit work its magic in the studio. This reissue features their first two albums for Phillips, complete with original artwork and extra liner notes added."

DONOVAN: A Gift From A Flower To A Garden CD (CCM 144). $15.00

"Here is the complete two-record set from 1967 on one CD with all of the artwork intact." Previously available as a UK import on BGO. "It would be easy to dismiss troubadour Donovan as a naive flower power era hit-machine, but then you'd be making the same mistake as the scorn-faced Dylan in Don't Look Back. Sure his songs are populated by silver girls, starfish, princesses, electric bananas, gypsies, and other whimsical stand-bys of those innocent times (also in vogue with contemporaries like Tyrannosaurus Rex and Incredible String Band), but there's no denying that Mr. Leitch was one hell of a songsmith who poured his tunes into stellar arrangements and production. In a little over 3 years ('65-'68) Donovan cranked out 8-9 albums, and most of them have gloriously stood the test of time; of these, A Gift From a Flower to a Garden should be considered his magnum opus. Originally conceived as two albums, Wear Your Love Like Heaven and For Little Ones, it was produced by the man himself and originally released as separate albums as well as a double set packaged in a luxurious cardboard box with artwork that involved seven color separations. The first album is the electric one; jazzy in style with organ, harpsichord, vibes, and the whole 9 yards. For Little Ones harkens back to his earlier sparse and fully acoustic days without forgetting that the clock had turned to psychedelia and the Maharishi Yogi — we're talking 1968, man! The CD has all 22 tracks of the original two-fer and comes with a 16-page booklet that faithfully recreates the original artwork, includes all of the song lyrics." — Frank van den Elzen.

OCHS, PHIL: Rehearsals For Retirement/Gunfight at Carnegie Hall 2CD (CCM 150). $19.00

"He started out as a protest singer wearing the unfortunate 'second to Dylan' tag, but by the time Phil Ochs made these albums for the A&M label he had left his folkie days way behind. Fiercely romantic, ambitious, poetic and occasionally over the top, these records rank as some of the most interesting albums ever released by a singer-songwriter, and it's a wonder — or a blunder — that they've never come out on CD before. Two of Phil's classic A&M albums. Rehearsals For Retirement is sort of the soundtrack to the Chicago '68 Democratic convention, which Ochs attended; angry and acidly bitter, it reflects his disillusionment with American society, the protest movement and even himself. An extraordinary record. Meanwhile, the live album Gunfight at Carnegie Hall, which only came out in Canada, aroused controversy for the unlikely covers of Buddy Holly and Elvis Presley that sandwiched renditions of his greatest hits. 19 tracks."

MAD RIVER: Mad River/Paradise Bar & Grill CD (CCM 172). $15.00

"Both albums from S.F. legends Mad River on one, jam-packed 76-minute disc. Mad River offered a darker brand of psychedelia than their Bay Area brethren; dissonant chord changes, oriental scales and unexpected rhythmic changes definitely did not make for a mellow vibe. Neither did the nervous, quavery voice of vocalist/songwriter Lawrence Hammond, which may explain why both of these albums stiffed commercially. It also explains, however, why both of these albums have attained serious cult status among '60s rock collectors. Here they are, with new notes and original artwork." The first album had been issued by Capitol in 1968, the 2nd in 1969. "Mad River were one of the hardest psychedelic bands to get a handle on, the eclecticism, oblique lyrics, and toruous multi-segmented songs defying quick summarization. It may not have helped that Mad River's brand of psychedelia was decidedly dark, often venturing into distraught visions in stark opposition to the feel-good stereotype of the San Francisco sound."

FAUST: Faust/So Far CD (CCM 179). $14.00

"It's not just that this early — '70s German prog-rock band's albums have been very difficult to find — Faust, their 1971 debut, has only been intermittently available on expensive Japanese import, and So Far, their second album, has been out of print for years. No, the real source of the myth is their utterly fantastic music. Blending elements of psychedelia, avant-garde classical, folk and even pop influences along with that characteristic 'krautrock' metronome beat, Faust albums were mesmerizing but warm, even personal, not machine-like like some of their German peers. We at Collector's Choice Music are thrilled to offer these two albums on CD in the United States for the first time, complete with liner notes."

NITZSCHE, JACK: The Lonely Surfer CD (CCM 195). $13.00

"The late Jack Nitzsche wrote, arranged and/or played keyboards for Phil Spector, the Rolling Stones and Neil Young amongst other legends, and scored such movies as One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest (not a bad resume, huh?). But none of the albums he put out under his name are in print, not even this one, which boasted the Top 40 hit title track along with 11 other tracks — featuring a band of Hal Blaine, David Gates, Leon Russell and Tommy Tedesco — that sounded something like a mariachi band conducted by Phil Spector in a spaghetti Western."

THE TEARDROP EXPLODES: Kilimanjaro/Wilder CD (CCM 200). $15.00

"The Teardrop Explodes were at the vanguard of neo-psychedelic movement that (pardon the pun) 'exploded' out of Liverpool in the late '70s and early '80s, and were the band that gave the ever-eccentric and always-entertaining Julian Cope his start. That these two albums are out of print is a staggering oversight; they're only among the 10-or-so most essential new wave releases of the '80s. With original artwork and both complete albums squeezed onto a 75-minute plus CD."

FAHEY, JOHN: Of Rivers And Religion CD (CCM 212). $13.00

"We at Collector's Choice Music are proud to honor the late John Fahey with the release of the two albums he made for Reprise in the early '70s. Long out of print, these two records display the mix of blues, folk and world styles that put Fahey in a category by himself among acoustic guitar players, and the unique blend of humor, mysticism and irascibility that made him a true American eccentric." Originally released in 1972. From Playboy Magazine, 1972: "John Fahey says he plays 'American Primitive Guitar,' by which he appears to mean a style formed on lves and early blues, ragtime and jazz, country and Gospel. Of Rivers and Religion (Reprise) shows, however, just how sophisticated such a style can prove. This is open and evocative music, with a stress on phrasing and pacing that is hard to imagine this side of Segovia. On several cuts, Fahey is joined by Nappy LaMare and Joe Darenborough. The results sound like something out of Wooden Joe Nicholas and his New Orleans Band. Frequently you'll hear the strings squeak, as Fahey fingers his stops, or the tempo accelerate, perhaps inadvertently (as it often did in old music) and perhaps not. Who cares? This is the good old stuff, created and re-created lovingly."

FAHEY, JOHN: After The Ball CD (CCM 213). $13.00

Originally released in 1973. "Like Of Rivers and Religion, After The Ball mixed numbers that were in the more expected Fahey solo acoustic style with a few Dixieland style jazz numbers that you could imagine your grandparents cutting rugs to back in the day...[Fahey's] dexterous picking and accomplished slides set a range of moods, from the lovingly nostalgic and the mordantly humorous to dry-as-a-dustbowl vistas." — Richie Unterberger.

CLEAR LIGHT: Clear Light CD (CCM 271). $13.00

"Here's a real missing piece of the psychedelic '60s puzzle: the lone album from Clear Light, the Paul Rothchild-produced folk-rock band that featured future actor Cliff DeYoung on vocals, CSN&Y drummer-to-be Dallas Taylor and a whole lot of West Coast Summer of Love attitude. You'll hear echoes of label-mates the Doors and Love here; maybe that's why this 1967 Elektra release has been at the top of '60s psych collectors' want lists for decades. We've added the non-LP bonus track 'She's Ready to Be Free' to the album; the notes include an interview with band-leader Bob Seal."

INCREDIBLE STRING BAND, THE: U 2CD (CCM 288). $19.00

"Their 1970 double album veers wildly from flat-out raga to children's lullabies...in short, quintessential Incredible String Band! Intended as a soundtrack to their theatrical stage show, this was subtitled 'A Surreal Parable in Song and Dance,' and it indeed does go pretty far out there, with female sidekicks Rose and Licorice along for the ride, before winding up with Mike Heron's epic 'Rainbow.' Never before on CD."

INCREDIBLE STRING BAND, THE: 5000 Spirits or the Layers of the Onion/The Hangman's Beautiful D 2CD (CCM 289). $19.00

"When it came to combining world music with rock and folk forms, the Incredible String Band provided the real magical mystery tour of the '60s. Mike Heron and Robin Williamson's unlikely concoction of Middle Eastern and Indian raga/trance music, British Isles folk, Caribbean song and music hall ribaldry — spiked with a psychedelic, communal hippie vibe and mixed by master producer Joe Boyd — was, at its best, a very potent potion indeed, capable of bringing tears to the eyes of grown men, it was so beautiful. And the next moment, its hippie naïveté might summon a sneer to the same visage — but that's one of the great things about these records, you never know where they are going to take you. Most of their albums have been out on CD before, but mostly as singles, so our twofers are great values. Quite possibly the ISB's best two albums... and neither of them have been available on a twofer before! 1967's 5000 Spirits saw the increasing influence of Middle Eastern music, the result of the pair's travels to Morocco and Afghanistan, while Hangman, their 1968 release, is generally considered their masterpiece, with the winding 'A Very Cellular Song' and the sublime album closer 'Nightfall' particular highlights."

INCREDIBLE STRING BAND, THE: Wee Tam/The Big Huge 2CD (CCM 290). $19.00

"Two more beautiful records, these 1968 releases feature such ISB faves as You Get Brighter, The Yellow Snake, and Lordly Nightshade."

INCREDIBLE STRING BAND, THE: Changing Horses/I Looked Up 2CD (CCM 291). $19.00

"Another exclusive pairing from Collectors' Choice Music. With two tracks clocking in at around 15 minutes, Changing Horses is Mike Heron and Robin Williamson at their most adventurous and off-the-cuff, while I Looked Up goes for a slightly more rockish feel, with Fairport Convention-er Dave Mattacks on drums. 1969 and 1970 releases."

ACKLES, DAVID: American Gothic CD (CCM 311). $13.00

"Produced by Elton John's songwriting partner Bernie Taupin, American Gothic is probably Ackles' best-known album despite being the farthest-removed from a conventional rock release — just to give you an idea, the main session players hailed from the London Symphony! But the dark lyrical portrait of America painted by Ackles was so colorful, and his overall vision so compelling, that it stands up to repeated listenings as a multilayered piece of musical theater."

ACKLES, DAVID: David Ackles CD (CCM 312). $13.00

"The three Elektra albums by singer-songwriter David Ackles. Coming from a background of musical theater, Ackles was one of those late-'60s auteurs, like Randy Newman, Scott Walker and Harry Nilsson, who broadened the definition of singer-songwriter beyond the folk-rock realm in which it had first taken root. Ackles' 1968 debut was his most rock-ish, featuring backing by members of the band Rhinoceros, and had the closest thing to a hit he ever had, the first-person drifter narrative 'The Road to Cairo.'"

ACKLES, DAVID: Subway to the Country CD (CCM 313). $13.00

"For his 1969 sophomore effort, Ackles and producer Russ Miller ditched the rock band, brought in top session musicians and classically trained arranger Fred Myrow (a sometime collaborator with Jim Morrison), and made a record closer to Brecht and Weill than the Beatles. The sweep of Ackles' lyrics is truly cinematic on such songs as 'Main Line Saloon', 'That's No Reason to Cry', 'Candy Man', 'Our on the Road', 'Cabin on the Mountain', 'Woman River', 'Inmates of the Constitution', and 'Subway to the Country'. Ambitious and successful."

CLARK, GENE: No Other CD (CCM 314). $13.00

"A lot of people think this is Gene Clark's best solo record. And a lot of people think it's his worst. What is not in doubt is that it's his most ambitious; Asylum had given the ex-Byrd a $100,000 budget, and Gene made damn sure to use it, bringing in choirs, woodwinds, piano and fiddle to create (as on 'Lady of the North') an ethereal blend of gospel, country and psychedelia. At other times, the album succumbs to the excesses of the mid-'70s, but it almost goes without saying that this album has become a cult classic par excellence, here reissued with new liner notes by Mart Greenwald."

VERLAINE, TOM: Tom Verlaine CD (CCM 316). $13.00

First US reissue of the classic debut post-Television solo album from 1979, with new liner notes by TV. Considered by some to be "one of best 'solo' records ever." Something about it just connects straight through to the center of the universe, and I've always considered it one of the most underrated "rock" albums of the millennium — a record that has sounded good every year from '79 to '02. I can't explain why the tracks "Mr Bingo" and "Yonki Time" have to exist, but "The Grip of Love," "Kingdom Come," "Red Leaves," "Last Night," & "Breakin' My Heart" are all major classics of personalized sound. Subtle production, riveting & unique lead guitar work from Verlaine and pure poetic nuance throughout.

TIN HUEY: Contents Dislodged During Shipping CD (CCM 342). $13.00

"What is it about northeastern Ohio? Some of the most challenging and adventurous bands of the American underground — Devo, Pere Ubu, the Electric Eels — have hailed from there, and this band, Tin Huey, stands tall on that list. Led by horn player Ralph Carney, keyboardist Harvey Gold and Waitress-to-be Chris Butler, Tin Huey put post-punk, free jazz, art rock and even blues into a Dadaist vaudeville stage show that somehow got them signed to Warner Bros. in the late '70s. The marriage was doomed from the start, but this album was its wonderfully weird offspring, here reissued for the first time on CD with new notes containing extensive quotes from the band members."

WATTS, ALAN: Om: The Sound of Hinduism CD (CCM 358). $13.00

"Alan Watts probably did more than any other single person to bridge the gap between Eastern and Western philosophies and religions, publishing countless books and putting out several albums, of which this was his first, released by Warner Bros. in 1967. This record is sort of like having your friendly neighborhood British mystic over for tea; Watts was nothing if not a showman, and as he charmingly discourses on methods of meditation and Hindu beliefs over droning Indian accompaniment, the effect is simultaneously soothing and com-elling, almost hypnotic. This is not just a curio of the psychedelic '60s, though collectors of that ilk will definitely want to check this out; Watts was a man of great substance and expressed himself with great clarity and insight."

ROSE GARDEN, THE: The Rose Garden CD (CCM 359). $13.00

"Most folks remember this band solely for the song 'Next Plane to London' that leads off this album, but for fans of California folk-rock, this record has some real gems, not the least of which are the two Gene Clark songs, 'Till Today' and 'Long Time', that Clark wrote for them and were never recorded by anybody else. Then there's the three tunes contributed by Pat Vegas, co-founder of Redbone, and another song co-written by legendary producer Bob Johnston (Dylan, Simon & Garfunkel); these guys were very definitely in the mix of that oh-so-heady late '60s SoCal folk-rock scene (they were even managed by Buffalo Springfield's management team)."

PALMER, BRUCE: The Cycle Is Complete CD (CCM 375). $13.00

"Neil Young has the reputation of being Buffalo Springfield's resident eccentric, but the group's real wild card was bassist Bruce Palmer. Forced to leave the band after a drug bust, Palmer had a groove (both on bass and in life) all his own, a groove that comes through loud and clear on this, his only solo album, cut for Verve Forecast in 1971. This is easily one of the most ambitious releases of the late '60s and early '70s (a tall claim indeed); consisting of only four tracks, 'Alpha-Omega Apocalypse', 'Interlude', 'OXO', and 'Calm Before the Storm', The Cycle Is Complete blends psychedelic trance jams with world music and even free jazz: to create a vibe that's, oh, about two or three decades ahead of its time — this stuff predates New Age, trip-hop and two or three other related contemporary musical currents. And yet, it definitely retains its exploratory, psychedelic '60s spirit, which places this record near the top of many '60s rock fans' cult classic want lists."

BATTIN, SKIP: Skip CD (CCM 387). $13.00

"The cult classic 1972 solo album from the late Clyde 'Skip' Battin, who went from scoring hits as early as 1959 as part of the duo Skip & Flip to being a member of the Byrds, New Riders of the Purple Sage and the Flying Burrito Brothers. He also became a chief collaborator with Kim Fowley (who contributes copious quotes to the notes we've included here), so he definitely ranks as one of the key, behind-the-scenes contributors to the whole L.A. country-rock scene. Speaking of Fowley, his fingerprints are all over this album as a lyricist and quasi-producer, and Byrds Roger McGuinn and Clarence White play on it, too. But Battin's love of old-time rock 'n' roll and Torny Lehrer-esque satire are what make this record really unusual; throw some Byrds-like country-rock into the recipe and you've got one strange, intoxicating concoction."

DENNY, MARTIN: Baked Alaska - The Cool Sounds of Martin Denny CD (CCM 393). $14.00

"Artists send us recordings all the time for reissue on our label, but most of the time either the artist or the album is too obscure even for us. But when a CD from Martin Denny, the exotica king himself, made its way to our office, we sat up and took notice. And then we fell in love — for this recording, made of a September, 1964 concert given at the Elmendorf Air Force Base in Anchorage, Alaska (hence the Baked Alaska title), represents Martin's only live recording and an utterly charming one at that. Jazzy, exotic (how did they pull off those bird calls live, anyway?) and imbued with a very warm Hawaiian vibe in the oldest of places, this is not just a piece of history but a great listen as well. It's got a few rough spots as live recordings sometimes do, but even that struck us as appealing, in line with the homespun graphics and notes that Martin himself supplied. Martin's still going strong at age 92, by the way...here's a priceless glimpse of the man performing with his band in his prime."

VERLAINE, TOM: Flash Light CD (CCM 394). $12.00

"This record, Tom's only one for the IRS label, broke a three-year silence with its release in 1987, and it's a varied, poetic outing, ranging from rockers to the slow, epic numbers where Verlaine's lyrical guitar work really shines. We've included lyrics."

COLONY PRODUCTIONS (UK):

CRUNCH: The Laurel EP 12" (COL 001). $9.00

"These three tunes make up the central elements of the Crunch sound, as it unfolded into the second full release of the CD on their home base Colony Productions. Crunch is an apt title for the project exploring the crunchier end of the IDM spectrum, bringing to mind Funkstörung's work on the Compost label, a kind of mixture of chopped rhythms and accessible keys. 'Vexem' on the A Side is ace, aided by a truly loud cut, dubwise bassline combines perfectly with mangled beats and Arovane-ish chords to create something that sounds familiar but fully developed, warranting maximum attention. Killer stuff. 'Sigh_F1' is an industrial squash of beats and whirrs, journey toward the dissected, cut up and bass-aded world of percussion-heavy electronica. Crunch have been blessed with tremendous foresight and an intuitive understanding of how to operate a groove. 'Chunky' closes the EP in style — heavy headnod styles allround, hip hop getting yet another beating from the electronic massive, with the loveliest of results."

CRUNCH: Crunch 2 CD (COL 002 CD). $13.00

"A long overdue second album from the mighty Crunch finally lands with us here in the office, a follow-up to the album debut for Funkstörung's Musik Aus Strom label a couple of years back. Dave Tipper's journey toward the dissected, cut up and bass-aded world of percussion-heavy electronica has been blessed with tremendous foresight and an intuitive understanding of how to operate a groove. From the opening bass decimation of 'Edit 2' — a crushing arrangement of crisp flip flop beats and doubled-up cutting, the mood is set as one of pure spine tweaking, adrenalin-giving robust head nodding joy. Each and every one of the 16 tracks on board hits the mark — the melancholy melodic conceits of 'Cassette' flowing perfectly with a tough, slowed down, tweaked and destroyed 2-step undercurrent, the deeply tumbled hip hop escalation of the awesome 'Crunky', the deep night electroid dub of the spine-tingling 'bithop' — masterfully compelling and flawlessly produced from bottom end to highest hi-hat tweak. The emphasis is percussive throughout — the beats produced with almost unbelievable depth, clarity and oddity, tough grooving, uncompromising and wholly individuated — understated melodies playing on subtleties and suggestion to tickle the heart while the limbs keep on flailing. Complete with exclusive remixes on board from Funkstörung, Lusine, Evac and Bit Meddler — this is a seriously needed record from a true beatmaster."

CRUNCH/KIMA VIDEO PROJECT: Bit Hop CD (COL 003 CD). $10.00

"This little CD EP package actually contains a treasure trove of material from Dave Tipper's excellent Crunch project. First up, the EP itself lists three sublime re-edits of 'Bit Hop', 'Toe Tac Tic' and 'Cassette', plus a dark, evocative epic-scale video produced by Kima Productions (you should see the production credits for this, seriously, it's one long list) and 15 (15!) bonus Crunch tracks. Bargain — sheesh. As for the music, the blinding Acid Mix of 'Cassette' steals the show with its evocative blend of blue sounds and that trademarked devastating percussive squash — fans of Funkstörung, Funkkarma and the like should investigate immediately."

COLUMBIA (GERMANY):

RILEY, TERRY: In C CD (COL 94983). $14.00

The original, definitive issue of this album, as initially issued by CBS Masterworks in 1968. "California composer Terry Riley launched what is now known as the Minimalist movement with his revolutionary classic 'In C' in 1964. This seminal work provided the conception for a form comprised of interlocking repetitive patterns that was to change the course of 20th century music. In C is notated on a single sheet of paper as 53 short cells, to be repeated at will but played consecutively. It ends when all the players have reached and abandoned cell 53. The synchronizing element is 'the pulse,' the two top C's of the piano repeated in eighth notes for the entire duration of the event: 'the pulse,' Riley says in his instructions, 'is traditionally played by a beautiful girl.' In C can work, then, in all manner of venues and with all sorts of personnel, amateur or professional. But it is most convincing when offered by musicians highly skilled at improvisation and able to hear and respond to textures or counterpoints that coalesce as the performance is unfolding. The overall effect is at once unique to the circumstances of the moment and mightily evocative of the kinds of musical structures one often perceives in Indonesian gamelan music and African tribal drumming. It is fair to say that In C is the kind of compositional idea we call seminal: in some ways it established the principles of minimalist composition, and continues to stand as an artifact of the convergence of popular culture and high art that took place in the 1960s. This particular recording, with (in addition to the piano pulse) flute, oboe, clarinet, bassoon, saxophone (played by Riley, who also leads), trumpet, trombone, viola, vibraphone, and marimbaphone, comes from the composer's residency at SUNY Buffalo in 1968."

COLUMBIA (UK):

SANTANA/TURIYA ALICE COLTRANE, DEVADIP CARLOS: Illuminations CD (COL 483810). $15.00

European-only reissue of this classic outing of psychedelic improvisation & spirits. "1974 meeting of these two musical minds which results in some rather pensive 'meta-spirituality-in-song-form'. Rhythm section's pretty top-chop-shop: Tom Coster on Rhodes/Organ (from Santana's band), Dave Holland on bass & Jack DeJohnette on drums (from Miles's band), and various Jule Broussard's, "Prabuddha" Phil Browne's, Armando Peraza's, Phil Ford's, and love-ly (Alice-led) strings all comp behind Carlos's alternately searing/mellow Eastern/Latin stereo-psych leads & Alice's manic piano/harp/Wurlitzer action. Far better than 'Zep IV/Side 1' for soundtracking a bit of the you-know-what. Lost." — Hrvatski.

JONES, WIZZ: Right Now CD (COL 493337). $17.00

UK reissue of this 1972 album, originally issued by CBS at the height of the UK folk boom and one of Wizz's most high profile releases (and only about the 4th CD to be released of his music). Considered an originator of the British folk guitar style and influential to the likes of Bert Jansch, John Renbourn, etc. This album was produced by Renbourn, who contributed sitar on the beautiful "American Land" track. A subtle, melancholic album. "There can't be too many people around on the so-called folk scene who don't know and appreciate the music of Wizz Jones, and there's certainly a lot of guitarists who'd like to play the way he does. Wizz style is elusive though, and traces of the many and varied musicians that he has listened to can be heard in the tunes he plays and the songs he sings, but the music always ends up very much his own." — John Renbourn.

RUSSELL QUARTET, RAY: Dragon Hill CD (COL 4944352). $14.00

"Timely reissue (when will the world wake up and chant in unison; RAY RUSSELL, RAY RUSSELL, RAY...) of the second UK Columbia-label Ray Russell Quartet LP from 1969 featuring a core group of Russell, Ron Matthews (bass, previously w/Tubby Hayes, later w/The Clarke-Boland Euro-Big Band, Joan Armatrading, Ian Carr's Nucleus, John Stevens, Michel Legrand, Charlie Watts, Paz), Royston Fry (piano, loner), and Alan Rushton (drums, appears later on the OST to Schwarzenagger flick Running Man along w/present bandmates Russell, Beckett, as well as Gary Windo and fucking Harold Faltermayer ("Axel F"? anyone? anyone at all?)) as well as guests Donald Beightol (trombone, later joined Oliver Nelson's Euro-Big Band), Harry Beckett (trumpet, previously w/Mike Gibbs' Euro-Big Band, later w/Alexis Korner), Lyn Dobson (saxophone, previously Georgie Fame's late sixties group, later w/Soft Machine, Humble Pie, Nick Drake), and Bud Parkes (trumpet, previously w/Alex Harvey's Euro-Big Band, later w/Mick Greenwood, Skin Alley (yes!)), Wishbone Ash (double yes!)). Anyways, the title track featuring Russell's invented decalogues involving the Venusian blues (in straight M7's) and atom-split contact freakouts of the highest non-order (akin to Sharrock circa Monkey-Pockey-Boo, Mahavishnu-John sans 70's street grade cocaine/Ganeesha, and no wave phenoms Arto/Grey et.al) are forged of PURE UNDILUTED ENERGY and are not to be mistaken (not by a long shot) for 'wank'. A real eye opener, sort of makes you wonder (aloud) why you're still buying Derek Bailey records. Unearthed, and ostensibly yours to study." — Hrvatski.

RUSSELL, RAY: Rites And Rituals CD (COL 4944362). $14.00

"Third Columbia LP (recorded right after the behemoth Rock Workshop LP from 1970 featuring Russell's band along with a dozen other Brit-free citizens) for the Russell group, featuring a slightly revamped lineup featuring Darryl Runswick (bass, previously w/Barbara Dickson, Atlantic Bridge, later w/Cleo Laine, Tom Machover, and like 11 King's Singers LP's), Tony Roberts (sax, previously w/Kenny Wheeler, Mike Gibbs, later w/Richard Thompson, Stefan Grossman, John Renbourn AND Pentangle, and 80's one-hit wonders Saga), Nick Evans (trombone, previously w/Champion Jack Dupree, King Crimson, Manfred Mann, later w/Julie's Driscoll/Tippets, Slapp Happy, Daavid Allen, Johnny Thunders), Rushton, Beckett, and of course Russell. This record unleashes a truck full of ROCK (albeit, rock w/Lalo overtones), amp crackle, fuzz bass, layman's spirituality, and of course (to make it all work) PSY-CHEDELIC EXCESS. By far the most enjoyable record I've ever heard that DOESN'T abuse reverb. Instant classic." — Hrvatski.

COLUMBIA (JAPAN):

JACKS: Karappo No Sekai CD (COCA 15258). $15.00

17 minute EP reissuing all 4 tracks from the first 2 singles from 1968 by the immortal Japanese underRound rock group, best known for their Vacant World album. Tracks are: 1) "Vacant World" (different, extended version), "She's Good Old Girl" (previously unavailable on CD, and an absolute stunner in the post-Cippolina vibrato-psych vein), "Marianne" (famously covered by Fushitsusha on Tokyo Flashback 2) & "Stop The Clock" (tremendous late night fragility). Admittedly, versions of three of these tracks appear on the Vacant World CD, but the ones here are different, earlier recordings and well worth hearing. Pretty memorable cover art from the original single sleeves as well. World class elevational psych from Japan in 1968 doesn't get any better than this; subtle, reflective crystallization of higher intent.

COLUMBIA (NETHERLANDS):

SOFT MACHINE: Fourth/Fifth CD (COL 4933412). $13.00

New issue of the these Soft Machine albums from 1971/72 (used to be available individually in the US via One Way, but now deleted). "Two early-period Softs albums (one pre, one post accident) presented as a European mid-line two-fer. Fourth contains such era chestnuts as 'Virtually parts 1-4' played by the classic lineup of Hugh Hopper, Mike Ratledge, Elton Dean & Robert Wyatt & wanders into a more ferocious Miles/Ancient Egypt-inspired jank whilst retaining the psychedelic weight accumulated on previous efforts. Fifth adds Roy Babbington on select tracks and replaces Wyatt alternatingly with Phil Howard and John Marshall, who seemingly steer the group into more vamp-oriented zones. Both are highly worthwhile nuggets of concentrated group-sound, not to be lost in the mire. Classic." — Hrvatski.

COMBINATION (GERMANY):*SWIMMINGPOOL: Anything That Doesn't Move CD (CORE 013CD). $16.00

"Swimmingpool are Michael Scheibenreiter and Stefan Schwander. Michael is commonly known by his polished producer work and as part of the drum & bass duo Phoneheads, whereas Stefan Schwander is respected for his solo work as well as his work with modernist Jörg Burger as Pop Up. Swimmingpool are knee-deep in dub. This is the essence, the space in which the music moves. Every track treats the space differently, but space is a steady companion. In a time in which basic channel dub plagiarism gets on ones nerves, Swimmingpool throw in a dub design that offers a completely new sound, with mumbling basses, strings, e-piano's, small breaks and a straight bass drum."

SWIMMINGPOOL: Anything That Doesn't Move 2LP (CORE 013LP). $18.00
Double LP version.COMET (FRANCE):*ALLEN, TONY: Ariya Remix 12" (COM 004). $8.00*ALLEN, TONY: Other Voices 12" (COM 007). $8.00

Two track 12" single, featuring a variant mix of the title track from Tony Allen's brilliant 1999 return-to-public-ey album, plus a new remix of that same track by Funky Lowlives.

BUM CELLO: CD (COM 008). $15.00

"Bum Cello is a strange and curious character, a guy that plays both drums, bass and cello who has evolved in many different musical cultures: from graffiti Art and hip hop (friend of Futura 2000, former member of the early 90s cult band Papa's Culture with Erik Bobo/Cypress Hill, Harley White/Blackalicious and F. Blacke Davis/Sunkist) to world wide collaborations (Aswad, Cheb Mami, Nana Vasconcelos) to name just a few. His first album, a blend of free jazz and electronics, acoustics and digital, reflects his personal musical approach sustained by his numerous experiences and talents. This is Art."

BUM CELLO: LP (COM 008 LP). $14.00

7-track LP version, which presents 4 tracks off the CD and adds 2 remixes of "Marathon Man" (by Flower & DJ Nem) and a reconstruction of "Boom! Hello" by Steve Argüelles.

VA: Ouelele — Another Collection of Modern Afro Rhythms CD (COM 009 CD). $15.00

Brilliant collection of mostly early 70s rarities (earliest track dates to 1967), a sequel to the previous Comet collection, Racubah!. If you're searching for an entrypoint into the freakout element of 70s African output, it's hard to imagine a better starting place. "Groovy, spiritual, ethnic, modern or hypnotic, the multiple rhythms that came out of 'mother' Africa are now part of today's music. If you have a doubt about this, check what's after! Eclectic yet cohesive, Ouelele is a new collection of killer Afro-influenced tracks from all over the world that fits both for clubs and chill-outs. Rare, obscure but damn great, the tunes included here start just where Racubah!, the previous volume, stops, and features a variety of tracks ranging from Afrobeat and funk to Afro-jazz and Afro-Latin rhythms." Features: Letta M'Bulu, Philip Cohran & The Artistic Heritage Ensemble, J.M. Time & Foty, Manu Dibango, Samhila & the S.B.s, Marius Cultier, Ginger Johnson & His African Messengers, Antibalas, Ghetto Blaster, Fernando Gelbard, Henri Guédon, Batsumi.

ALLENKO BROTHERHOOD ENSEMBLE: The DrumMachine Gun Construction 12" (COM 011). $8.00

First in a series of 5 12"s featuring Tony Allen in collaboration with other artists. This features Tony Allen vs. Son Of Scientist/I.G. Culture feat. Aska & Joakim Lone. "Tony Allen's drum patterns are revisited by I.G. Culture, who uses the Agrobeat pulse to create a killer song, which highlights the soulful voice of Eska."

ART KONIK: Mingpark 12" (COM 014). $8.00

"A new EP that goes further on exploring the jazz side of electronic music. 'Mingpark' is a nu-jazz floor filler of high caliber. Heavy bass line, subtle keyboard work, unusual vocal sample, free blowing horn and the particular Art Konik off-beat are the ingredients of the track that gives his name to the EP."

ALLENKO BROTHERHOOD ENSEMBLE: Dance of Loal/Afrocosmic Drums 12" (COM 015). $8.00

Third in the series. Tony Allen vs. Off World Ensemble and Jeff Sharel. "Off World, one of the numerous projects of producer Kirk Degiorgio whose 'Dance Of Loal' is a futuristic electro-Afrobeat monster. On the B-side, Jeff Sharel (Stratra Records) brings us the ambient 'Afrocosmic Drums', a pure heaven track mixed in a dubby style."

VA: Bilongo CD (COM 017 CD). $15.00

"Following Racubah! and Ouelele, here's Bilongo, the third volume of our modern afro rhythms collection. Once again, we've been working hard hunting around for some obscure African and Antillan rare grooves and, believe me, good records are getting really scarce! However, we manage to make Bilongo at least as good as their predecessors, with our usual blend of Antillan jazz, Latin grooves, Afrobeat and Afro funk. Features: Eko (Cameroon born composer-singer-keyboardist Eko made several records in France in the mid-seventies), Kelenkye Band (produced in Ghana in the mid-70's), Richard Raux & Hamsa (French saxophonist Richard Raux produces in 1975 an afro jazz LP with the Hamsa collective), Henri Guédon (a classic vibra-led Latin jazz cut that moves from traditional Cuban groove to particular Antillan arrangements), Georges-Edouard Nouel (awesome 1975 version of a track made famous by Harry Belafonte in the 60's), Ephraim Nzeka (discofied version of Fela's classic 'Zombie' by Nigerian singer Ephraim), Alfred Panou & Art Ensemble Of Chicago (probably the rarest track of the compilation, taken from an original 7" from the cult French label Saravah, and introduces Alfred Panou's poetry over an hypnotic groove provided by the Art Ensemble Of Chicago), Les Dum (originally composed for the French version of Tarzan TV cartoon (!)), Michel Sardaby (all-time classic of Antillan pianist Michel Sardaby), Roots Foundation (A Nigerian band that recorded this afro-funk anthem in 1981), Julian Bahula (another great piece of jazz to come out of South-Africa!), Louis Xavier (a groovy almost-Afrobeat track with catchy bass-line and heavy horns arrangements), Sergio Otanazetra (we choose to close this collection with this track that melt jazz chords, Brazilian percussions and African vocals)."

DOCTOR L, TONY ALLEN, ETC.: Psycho On Da Bus CD (COM 018). $15.00

Featuring the supergroup recordings of: Doctor (programming, production), Tony Allen (drums), Jean-Phi Dary (Rhodes), Cesar Anot (bass), Jeff Kellner (guitar). "During Tony Allen's last US tour (spring 2000), Doctor L and the members of the Afrobeat 2000 band get the idea of making a collective album all together. Partly recorded on Doctor L's G3 during the tour, finished later on different studios in Paris with guest musicians such as Smadi, Dom Farkas or Eric Gauthier, the Psycho On Da Bus project fills the gap between the 70s and the newmillennium, blending gospel & soul vocals, Afrobeat rhythms, jazz & funk licks with wicked electronics and astonishing production. A hybrid fusion of free jazz, poetry, rare groove and nu-beats, featuring the wicked words and drum patters of Tony Allen."

DOCTOR L, TONY ALLEN, ETC.: Psycho On Da Bus 2LP (COM 018 LP). $16.00

Double LP version featuring the supergroup recordings of: Doctor (programming, production), Tony Allen (drums), Jean-Phi Dary (Rhodes), Cesar Anot (bass), Jeff Kellner (guitar). "During Tony Allen's last US tour (spring 2000), Doctor L and the members of the Afrobeat 2000 band get the idea of making a collective album all together. Partly recorded on Doctor L's G3 during the tour, finished later on different studios in Paris with guest musicians such as Smadi, Dom Farkas or Eric Gauthier, the Psycho On Da Bus project fills the gap between the 70s and the newmillennium, blending gospel & soul vocals, Afrobeat rhythms, jazz & funk licks with wicked electronics and astonishing production. A hybrid fusion of free jazz, poetry, rare groove and nu-beats, featuring the wicked words and drum patters of Tony Allen."

THE ALLENKO BROTHERHOOD ENSEMBLE: Allen Flesh/Right Here In Front Of You 12" (COM 019). $8.00

"Side A opens with a mix by the Marseille based trio Troublemakers, a trippy funk track in their usual style, beginning with a black poetry sample and then falling in a funky psychedelic breakbeat mood. With live percussions, rhodes and horns upon Tony's drum beat. In a totally different vein, the UK hip-hopologist Unsung Heroes gave us a great track on side B, 'Right Here In Front Of You', with the help of Big Dada's TY and his wicked flow."

ALLEN, TONY: Homecooking CD (COM 020 CD). $15.00

"3 years after Black Voices, the ex Fela Kuti drummer comes back with his best album ever. The album starts with the killer 'Every Seasons' featuring Damon Albarn (Blur, Gorillaz) to invite the listeners to an Afro Soul trip. Co-produced by the Usung Heroes and Doctor L, Homecooking is a perfect combination of Soul vocals (with Eska — signed on Virgin UK), Reggae influences (with TY — signed on Big Dada/Ninja Tune), and Funky Afro grooves."

ALLEN, TONY: Homecooking 2LP (COM 020 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

KONIK, ART: Remixes 12" (COM 021). $8.00

"Side A is the return of Abstract Soul, a French duo of producers. Deepness is the word to describe their work, a great job that keep the vibe of the original but brings the track to a more 'dancefloor' orientated attitude. Side 2 offers us the possibility to work with Volker Meitz. In his now usual trademark style, his remix of 'Mingpark' is definitely funky and 'for the floor', sounding like the meeting of Herbie Hancock & The Headhunters with the new millennium..."

VA: The Allenko Brotherhood Ensemble CD (COM 022 CD). $15.00

"As a part of the legendary Africa 70's band with Fela Kuti, Tony Allen was one of the progenitors of the Afrobeat sound. After parting company with Fela in 1977 he left Nigeria for Europe, to confront his music with different cultures and to grow through collaboration with other artists. During this time he collaborated with Manu Dibango, Roy Ayers and Ray Lema amongst others. It is this spirit of innovation through collaboration that fuels The Allenko Brotherhood Ensemble. Comet Records head Eric Trosset explains: 'The idea here was not about remixing Tony Allen's music, quite the opposite, our aim was for each producer to give their own personal take on Afrobeat music using Tony Allen's drum patterns as a starting point.' The Allenko Brotherhood Ensemble: a project conceived and produced by Comet Records. Creating a meeting between the unique drumming style of Afrobeat pioneer Tony Allen and the best in contemporary musicians/producers from across Europe. Available separately over the last 12 months through a series of limited vinyl 12's, The Allenko Brotherhood Ensemble includes exclusive tracks from the following diverse array of producers: Cinematic Orchestra, Son Of Scientists feat. Eska, Troublemakers, Off-World Ensemble, Jeff Sharel, BiggaBash, Joakim Lone, Unsung Heroes feat. Ty and Bries, Rogall, Kraked Unit, Tweak, Boozoo Bajou."

KONIK, ART: Vendetta Society CD (COM 024 CD). $15.00

"Drummer and percussionist, Art Konik is an accomplished musician working in different musical fields from jazz to world music and leftfield. While pursuing his numerous collaborations with various bands, he starts working on his own project, based on home-made samples and loops, ranging from ethnic and traditional music to more jazz structures. The versatility of his talent is particularly reflected in jazz pieces like 'Finger', 'Hum' or 'Mingpark', three nu-jazz floor-fillers based on heavy bass lines, subtle keyboard work, vocal samples, free blowing horns and the particular Art Konik off-beat. With the release of his first album Vendetta Society, including some guest such as free-jazz legends Bobby Few (piano on 'Finger') or Jef Sicard (saxophonist and leader of the cult band Full Moon Ensemble) and a couple of remixes by the like of Meitz, U.F.O., Playin'4 The City or Abstract Soul, Art Konik is now building his live project, with the help of Smadi (french artist signed on Melt2000, long-time friend, collaborator and producer of the album)."

WESTON, RANDY: African Cookbook LP (COM 026). $14.00

"Africa is my ancestral home and it is the cradle of civilisation. In my spirit and soul i have always been in Africa, so when i first heard the true drums i knew i must return. The supreme creator placed me and my musical family on the continent of Africa in 1961. The music of no other civilisation can rival african music in the complexity and subtlety of its rhythms. The folklore of Africa has been the creative source of modern music. African rhythms are played all over this earth, in jazz, gospel, classical, rock & roll, samba, soul, even freedom music or the avant-garde- call them what you wish - are all in debt to african folklore. This album is dedicated to my musical family, may they continue to search for the truth of our rich musical heritage."

WESTON, RANDY: African Rhythms LP (COM 027). $14.00

Original Liner Notes: "Randy Weston's compositions, among them 'Hi-Fly' and 'Little Niles', are considered standards of jazz and music in general. For years he worked in and out of New York City with his own sextet achieving a goodly amount of success, before settling home and family in Morocco. This album represents a tribute to Morocco and its beauty Afrique. Play Niles, play Randy, play the rhythms, Randy Weston's african rhythms. Niles is son, Randy is father, their music is testament : testament of life, of growth, of love's Niles, once little Niles, has become almost-man, almost-big : Niles littlebig."

WESTON, RANDY: African Rhythms CD (COM 028 CD). $15.00

"After our well-known modern Afro rhythms collection (Racubah!, Ouelele & Bilongo), Comet Records decide to bring back to a larger audience an incredible session by pianist Randy Weston recorded in Paris in 1969 with a line-up including Art Taylor (drums), Henri Texier (bass), Reebop Kwaaba Ba (percussions), Niles Azzedin Weston (percussions) and of course Randy on piano! Originally released on Polydor and only available in France, these sessions are the foundations of Randy Weston's fusion between African rhythms and jazz spirit. Jazz meets world..." Collects the 2 Comet LPs (026 & 027) onto 1 CD.

COMMUNITY PROJECTS:

CATLETT, FRANCISCO MORA: World Trade Music CD (CMP 0001). $14.00

First release on a new sub-label of Carl Craig's Planet E. "Francisco Mora Catless: percussionist, composer, arranger, teacher, and producer. Master of countless disciplines. A Capitol Records studio musician and student of Alan Dawson and Babatunde Olatunji. Former member of the Sun Ra Arkestra and Max Roach's band. Now a member of the techno/jazz fusion group Innerzone Orchestra (led by Carl Craig). Recorded over a span of ten years, World Trade Music is a ride through sensations, felt only when you rediscover timeless Afro-rhythms. A call for a return to experimentation and real jazz sensibilities. Based around the trio of Craig Taborn (piano), Rodney Whittaker (bass), and drummer Catlett as a foundation, this album is rich with a passion that soothes with rare brightness and clarity."

COMPANION RECORDS:

NEW CREATION, THE: Troubled CD (CR 001 CD). $13.50

"Welcome to the first commercial release of Troubled, the sole output from Vancouver, British Columbia's all-but-forgotten Jesus rock trio, the New Creation. Originally pressed in 1970 in the vinyl LP format in a limited run, this album never quite made it out of its hometown borders. It would be another two or three decades before anyone outside of the group's small circle would hear it at all. The obscurity of this album is impossible to overstate. Only 100 vinyl copies were ever produced and none were available commercially. The New Creation were partly inspired by the music of the Jesus People movement, a Christian adaptation of the '60s movement, which shared the same Haight-Ashbury district birthplace. Jesus People patterned their language, fashion, and music after their hippie neighbors in an attempt to update their expression of faith. This street level movement gained mainstream media exposure around 1970 and within a year cover stories ran in Newsweek, Life, and U.S. News and World Report. Musicians in this scene plotted their own course in an attempt to counteract what they saw as the destructive themes in much of mainstream rock music. Acts born out of this grassroots movement would inspire believers worldwide to cut their own record — contract or no contract." "A showcase of raw, inventive musicality. Categorically, it's — I dunno — Sixties Garage Godcore? Yet it transcends being a mere period piece. The songwriting is deliriously brilliant, the lyrical perspective haunting. The band's sincerity is unquestionable, even if its meters are unfathomable." — Irwin Chusid

COMPLACENCY:

GREIF/DAN BURKE, RANDY: Fragment 56 CD (CP SA01). $12.00

"The result of 1 year of mail collaboration... by trading samples, sequences and tapes, they have created 8 new pieces... hypnotic, surreal, and fractured dreams for corrupted states of mind..."

COMPOST (GERMANY):

GENF: Import/Export CD (COMP 035). $17.00

1997 debut album by this German post-rock group. Featuring Jens Massel on electronics, who also records as Kandis on Karaoke Kalk. All instrumental rock-loopy (and not as abstract as Visor or Kandis), and pretty fantastic within those parameters.

VA: Future Sound of Jazz Volume 6 3LP (COMP 060 LP). $21.00

VA: Future Sound of Jazz Vol. 7 CD (COMP 080 CD). $16.00

"Compiled by Compost Records honcho, Michael Reinboth with help from Rainer Truby. Totalling thirteen tracks with five never-before-released-on-CD and three-never-before-released-on-LP tracks this is clearly an essential release! Here's a taste of what we have: Kimbu Kimra (a very Grace Jones-style track with crazy lyrics and hypnotic rhythms), Universal Principles, Peter Kruder (one half of the acclaimed Vienna DJ duo Kruder and Dorfmeister), DJ Shuriken, The Illdependents, Burnt Friedman (based on live recordings, which Friedman made together with his new band The Disposable Rhythm Section, South-American rhythms, jazzy, electrical and acoustic sequences get connected in a unique style), The Amalgamation of Soundz, Jean-Claude and Mark, Solar House, Jolly Mukherjee and Simon Green. Come back to this compilation and it gets better each time."

FAUNA FLASH: Confusion CD (COMP 101 CD). $16.00

"Esteemed producers Fauna Flash take their genre-may-care attitude one step further with this lovely collection of remixed tracks from their esteemed full length, Confusion. From the uptempo dance bizness of Peter Kruder's Bum Rush The Discoteque mix of 'Tel Aviv' to the electronic dub of Pole's remix of 'Ten', Confusion is a testament to the world of possibilities that exist in Fauna Flash's music. Never content in simply being branded as broken beats or nu jazz or drum 'n bass, Fauna Flash, along with their conspirators on this remix album, create a sound which is as undeniably unique as it is beautiful."

FAUNA FLASH: Confusion 2LP (COMP 101 LP). $19.00

Double LP version.

VA: Future Sounds of Jazz Vol. 8 CD (COMP 102 CD). $16.00

"The eighth edition in this legendary series, Future Sounds of Jazz Volume 8 is the continuation of a winning concept: simply offer the absolute best there is to offer in the world of leftfield jazzy electronics. From the opening notes of Soulpatrol's haunting 'Theme (Future Sounds Version)' to the contemplative improvisations of Butti 49's 'Spiritual Rotations', FSOJ8 thrusts you into a world where 70's Soul/Jazz fusion sits next to blunted beat excursions, introspective soul vocals are followed by explosive drum workouts, and anything is possible." Artists include: Soulpatrol, Moonstarr, Shawn Lee, Slow Supreme, Dan Curtin, Atjazz, Jon Kennedy, Kaos, Attica Blues feat. Roger Robinson, Soul FC, The Underwolves, Butti 49.

VA: Future Sounds of Jazz Vol. 8 3LP (COMP 102 LP). $21.00

Triple LP version.

MALIK, JOSEPH: Diverse CD (COMP 104 CD). $16.00

"What we have here is a beautiful deep album for a new generation! Nothing can be really hyped up here, because it's real life ? no synthetic pleasure. What we are talking about is an upcoming and growing post-dancefloor generation of young talented singer-songwriters, who were musical born or raised in DJs clubland, or, on a certain production level having something in common with club-life and the streets. It's about talent and own skills of singing and shouting, writing lyrics, performing songs. It's about club music by authors. Take singers like Tommy Guerrero, Tim Hutton, Spacek, Victor Malloy, Victor Davies, Joseph Malik and some others too - all these people have in common that they are great singers (folky, soulful or just tasteful)."

MALIK, JOSEPH: Diverse 2LP (COMP 104 LP). $19.00

Double LP version.

TRÜBY TRIO: Elevator Music CD (COMP 140 CD). $16.00

"Elevator Music is the essence of the Compost sound. A record varied in styles with an eye on flawless production that appeals to the trendsetters and beyond. Trüby Trio collaborated with such acclaimed vocalists as Wummi, Joseph Malik, and Marcus Begg to give the album a strong vocal and lyrical focus. The Trio was founded in '97 by Rainer Trüby, Roland Appel & Christian Prommer. Since the very beginning they played in the Champions League of the dance business, as they brought different flavours like Brazil, Latin or even Disco music together."

TRÜBY TRIO: Elevator Music 3LP (COMP 140 LP). $15.50

Triple LP version.

VA: I Like It - Vol. 1 CD (COMP 145 CD). $16.00

"Being rather fed up and bored with the usual DJ-mix compilation format, Compost Records introduces the first in an innovative series of compilations with a unique twist. Every installment unites 4 influential cultural personalities from across the globe regardless of what scenes (music, fashion or art) they might be known in and asks them to compile their 4 favourite pieces of music of all time. With every additional volume of I Like It, 4 new celebrities come together only to give away their 4 favourite favourites. All in all, sixteen tracks detached from zeitgeist, genre or the feeling of having to please the listener carve out their own place on these compilations. Vol.1 brings together the inimitable stylings of DJ Hell, Austrian wonderboy Peter Kruder, record guru Michael Reinboth and globetrotting DJ Theo Thonnessen." Artists: Silicon Soul, Television Personalities, Max Berlin, The Pop Group, Ace. Inc., Grauzone, Graf Hadik, Brian Eno & Daniel Lanois, David Sylvian & Ryuichi Sakamoto, Mary Love-Come, Hector Rivera, C.O.D., Egberto Gismonti, Arthur Russell, Nathan Davis, Alexander Hoper/Blaze Wonderland.

VA: I Like It - Vol. 1 4LP (COMP 145 LP). $20.00

4 LP version.

MORRICONE, ENNIO: Remixes Vol. 1 CD (COMP 150 CD). $16.00

"Not your ordinary remix project, the Ennio Morricone Remixes Vol. 1 goes above and beyond the call of duty to tastefully combine Ennio's legendary melodies with almost every possible style of dance music — from Downtempo to Drum & Bass, Jazzed-Up-Broken-Beats and House/Tech-House to Electropop, Easy Listening and Ambient to Hip Hop. A year and a half in the making, this initially small project has ended up a huge compilation, consisting of two volumes with 41 beautiful tracks in total, 14 of which are on this the first, Volume 1." Remixers: International Pony, Alex Attias, Swell Session, Hakan Lidbo, Leroy Hanghofer, Raw Deal, Needs, Hird, Kabuki, Butti 49, Kid Sundance, Majbour, The Amalgamation Of Soundz, Temporary Soundmuseum, and additionally on the LP version: Domu, Dan Curtin, and Doctor Rockit.

MORRICONE, ENNIO: Remixes Vol. 1 3LP (COMP 150 LP). $19.00

Triple LP version.

MORRICONE, ENNIO: Remixes Vol. 2 2CD (COMP 155CD). $17.00

"Not your ordinary remix project, the Ennio Morricone Remixes Vol. 2 goes above and beyond the call of duty to tastefully combine Ennio's legendary melodies with almost every possible style of dance music — from Downtempo to Drum & Bass, Jazzed-Up-Broken-Beats and House / Tech-House to Electropop, Easy Listening and Ambient to Hip Hop. This highly anticipated second installment of the Morricone features 2Raumwohnung, Hird, Domu, Nick Holder, Doctor Rockit, Tom Middleton, Moonstarr, Fausmile, Dan Curtin, Hosono, Computerjockeys and many more."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: Remixes Vol. 2 3LP (COMP 155LP). $18.00

Triple LP version.

CONSCIENCE RECORDS:

MOCEAN WORKER: Home Movies From the Brain Forest CD (CON 0006). $14.00

"The debut release by this new jazz-influenced drum & bass artist — produced, written, performed and mixed by Mocean Work, aka Adam Dorn. Electronic music that is a marriage of Adam's traditional training as a jazz musician and his affinity for synthesizer programming." Has appealing Photek-ian elements and is nicely packaged in a CD Q-pack. Limited stock.

CONSTELLATION (CANADA):

FLY PAN AM: Sedatif en Frequences et Sillons CD (CST 011 CD). $9.50

"Fly Pan Am return with a 3 song EP of fractured, tape infested motorik rock experiments sure to please fans and detractors alike, sharpening the ears of the former while the latter sharpen their knives. Sedatif en Frequences et Sillons, which roughly translates as 'grooved frequency sedative', is an intransigent slab of self-referential auto-criticism by our favorite young conceptualists. Love 'em or hate 'em, Fly Pan Am stick to their agenda of acutely self-conscious musical manipulations, examining their own materials and assumptions to yield new compositions of uncompromising formalism. Side 1 ('De Cercle en Cercle...') is a medley or sorts, consisting of phrases and fragments reconfigured and replayed from last year's debut 3 sided LP. Side 2 features 'Efferant/Afferant', a new piece of somnambulist clockwork repetition, with the band laying down a strict, static groove while various tape manipulations penetrate the mix to create polyrhythms, dissonances and additional textures."

FLY PAN AM: Sedatif en Frequences et Sillons 12" (CST 011 EP). $9.50

GODSPEED YOU BLACK EMPEROR!: Lift Your Skinny Fists Like Antennas To Heaven 2LP (CST 012 LP). $17.00

"Five expansive compositions are framed by various field recordings, tape manipulations & ensemble pieces in a return to the sonic collage techniques that structured the #a#, their 1997 debut. Four seamless sides of vinyl unfold a world of aching, agonizing sadness & beauty, with musical quotes ranging from heartland Americana to Metteleuropa Folkways, all distilled through the unique sonic filters of Godspeed's orchestral rock instrumentation. Harrowing guitars, plaintive strings, pulsing basses and explosive drums combine with glockenspiels, horns, and tape drones to form an overwhelming palette of sounds, always driven by fierce melodic momentum and tremendous attention to dynamics and detail. Double vinyl, packaged in a chipboard gatefold jacket."

SPARO, FRANKIE: My Red Scare CD (CST 013 CD). $13.00

"The thrilling and mysterious debut by Frankie Sparo is a dark & deconstructed affair, featuring lots of angular guitar, skittish electronics, and a throaty voice offering up the finest lyrical turns of phrase we've heard in a long while. My Red Scare is redolent with film noir atmosphere; vaguely sinister & paranoid at times, smoky & languid at others, the whole record exudes oblique intimacy and the unique sensibility of a true auteur. With arrangement help from various musicians within the Constellation circle, the pieces range from spare acoustic guitar accompaniment to electric guitar & beatbox collisions and full-on orchestrations for strings."

SPARO, FRANKIE: My Red Scare LP (CST 013 LP). $12.50

1-SPEED BIKE: Droopy Butt Begone CD (CST 014 CD). $13.00

"1-Speed Bike is the techno alter-ego of Aidan Girt, drummer for the Montreal based bands Exhaust and Godspeed You Black Emperor. From its humble beginnings on a first-generation 8-bit Akai sampler, 1-Speed Bike has progressed towards new and improved resolution on this debut full length, while maintaining a decidedly punk irreverence and ramshackle aesthetic. First heard on the 3 remixes interspersed throughout the self-titled Exhaust record, 1-Speed Bike beat manipulations are characterized by live drum phrases that pulse and breathe with organic dynamism, chopped and looped to form the backbone for melodic passages that range from the irreverent to the sublime."

1-SPEED BIKE: Droopy Butt Begone LP (CST 014 LP). $12.50

RE: Mnant CD (CST 015 CD). $13.50

"Mnant features densely layered songs formed by overlapping loops and filter treatments as well as spare compositions using only one or two fragments, similarly overlapped and filtered. Re: relies heavily on the 'cut & paste' technique popularized by microcomputers, though some pieces were executed largely in real time, just as in real life. All pieces, with a couple of obvious exceptions, are comprised (to some degree) of fragments performed in real time, out in the open air, with resonant devices, amplifiers, microphones, etc. Various filters were also often applied in real time, with hands on knobs tuning & calibrating & whatnot. In other cases, with reference to all of the above, the computer did the work & time was suspended. At one stage or another, all sounds were binarised & dealt with as such. Mnant is definitely the deepest that Constellation has yet plunged into the depths of machine-created music. The half of Constellation who is not part of Re: and who retains some objectivity re: re:) believes this foray to be as masterful and nuanced as anything we've released to date."

RE: Mnant LP (CST 015 LP). $13.00

HANGEDUP: CD (CST 016 CD). $13.00

"Hangedup is a Montreal-based duo featuring Gen Hiestek (Pest 5000, Sackville) on viola and Eric Craven (Shortwave, Sackville) on drums and percussion. Imagine Tony Conrad minimalism wedded to the rhythmic thrust of bands like Dog Faced Hermans and The Ex. A middle-European sensibility prevails in the stripped-down melodicism of the string playing, reminiscent of similarly folk-inspired modern music by the likes of Eva Bittova. Pieces range from borderline musique concrete experimentation to 80's new wave pop extrapolations, bound by a minimalist agenda throughout. Cameo appearances by electric bass and overdubbed effects provide some additional textures."

HANGEDUP: LP (CST 016 LP). $12.50

LP version.

SPARO, FRANKIE: Arena Hostile CD (CST 017 CD). $7.00

"In January 2001, Frankie Sparo toured Europe with A Silver Mt. Zion. Musicians from the latter group worked on new arrangements of songs from Mr. Sparo's debut record (My Red Scare), adding strings, organ & electronics to Frankie's guitar & beatbox compositions, some of the results were captured in a live to 2-track recording at VPRO radio in Amsterdam mid-way through the tour. The four songs on this new EP are all first takes from this radio session, beautifully recorded by the wonderful folks at VPRO."

A SILVER MT. ZION: Born Into Trouble As The Sparks Fly Upward CD (CST 018 CD). $13.00

"This second album finds the band expanded to a six-member core, with a similarly expanded name. The addition of cello, second violin & second guitar has allowed Mt. Zion to develop richer, denser arrangements while preserving live ensemble playing. The opening pieces pick up where the debut left off, with found-sound loops & treatments introducing repeated melodic themes that move slowly through various counter-melodies — the greater breadth of instrumentation brings greater subtlety, complexity & harmonic range to bear on these neo classical dirges."

A SILVER MT. ZION: Born Into Trouble As The Sparks Fly Upward 2x10" (CST 018 LP). $15.00

Double 10" version.

FLY PAN AM: Ceux Qui Inventent N'ont Jamais Vacu (?) CD (CST 019 CD). $13.00

"Fly Pan Am sharpen their sonic and conceptual knives to shiny surgical points on this second full-length, having gradually moved from long, reverberant repetition to concise, bone-dry repetition in their live shows over the past couple of years, these new songs are marked by a full embrace of stuttering, fucked-up, funk. The result is a tightly-wound record that frequently seems to pop its own springs. The group is serious about their Krautrock, but about a great many other things as well, whether New York circ. 1980, Afrobeat, or musique concrete."

FLY PAN AM: Ceux Qui Inventent N'ont Jamais Vacu (?) LP (CST 019 LP). $13.00

LP version.

DO MAKE SAY THINK: & Yet & Yet LP (CST 020 LP). $12.50

LP version.

EXHAUST: Enregistreur CD (CST 021 CD). $13.00

"Exhaust is a bass, drum & tape trio that crashed through various small montreal venues in a series of semi-controlled explosions during the mid-90s. All the original elements — ultra-low-end bass moan, loping breakbeat trapkit, live reel-to-reel tape scratch — remain at the core of this new studio work. The band is more head-trip than body blow nowadays, and has constructed a brilliant downtempo album of concrete/punk experimentation that gestures towards various currents in contemporary electronic music as well. Features Aidan from Godspeed You Black Emperor."

EXHAUST: Enregistreur LP (CST 021 LP). $12.50

LP version.

HANGEDUP: Kicker In Tow CD (CST 022 CD). $13.00

"Hangedup explodes on this follow-up to last year's critically-acclaimed debut (cst016). With Kicker in Tow, they prove themselves one of the most powerful, hypnotic and relentless duos currently mining the subterrains of avant rock. Gen Heistek's amplified viola is a propulsive blend of drones & doublestops, while Eric Craven's drumming spurts & hisses like an ornate, early-industrial steam engine. Both players also bring some brilliant free & improvisational explorations to the table, always with a raw, restless punk rock heart. These are work songs, fight songs, songs brimming with life & shot through with melodic influences drawn from folk traditions."

HANGEDUP: Kicker In Tow LP (CST 022 LP). $12.50

LP version.

SPARO, FRANKIE: Welcome Crummy Mystics CD (CST 023 CD). $13.00

"Sparo's debut record, My Red Scare (CST013), was comprised mostly of songs played solo, unadorned; wrought only from guitar, voice and beatbox. The two years since have seen forays into broader instrumentation and collaborations with additional players. This diversity of strategies and materials is held together by more than Sparo's voice. Amidst a minefield of influences, there is a sensibility at work that prevails in every song — and over the entire record. There's a beguiling mood enveloping a very fine and complex collection of poetic music. We can't think of humbler or higher praise. For fans of language, Sparo's lyrics can certainly be counted on for top-notch reflection and erudition."

SPARO, FRANKIE: Welcome Crummy Mystics LP (CST 023 LP). $12.50

LP version.

GODSPEED YOU BLACK EMPEROR!: Yanqui U.X.O. CD (CST 024 CD). $13.00

"U.X.O. is unexploded ordnance is laudmimes is cluster bombs. Yanqui is post-colonial imperialism is international police state is multinational corporate oligarchy. Godspeed You! Black Emperor is complicit is guilty is resisting. The new album is just music."

GODSPEED YOU BLACK EMPEROR!: Yanqui U.X.O. 2LP (CST 024 LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

DO MAKE SAY THINK: Winter Hymn Country Hymn Secret Hymn CD (CST 025 CD). $15.00

"Do Make Say Think have fashioned a fourth full-length album of tremendous beauty and depth, more loosely woven than previous records and played with a dark, wistful restraint throughout. The songs on Winter Hymn... are eerie and irredescent, composed and captured with mesmerising attention to detail, all guided by the band's most intricate and intimate guitar passages to date. Many of the songs feature a newfound non-linearity in compositional structure that once again raises the DMST bar for banding instrumental rock with heartrending — yes, even hymnal — narrative ideas. More than any previous effort by the band, this is an album that yearns to be listened to as a whole, or at least in the triptychs defined by the 3-sided vinyl edition. SIDE A is driven by introspective guitar work, full of delicate transitions and devastatingly soulful punctuations. These first three tracks rank among the finest and most finessed music Do Make Say Think has yet set to tape — impressionistic and fragmented, while remaining coherent and perfectly controlled. SIDE B relies more heavily on horns and a recurring jazz groove in the rhythm section, while SIDE C brings on the rock & pop denouement, beginning with an explosive track that devolves into cut-up and eventually gives way to the celebratory album finale (complete with submerged chorale)."

DO MAKE SAY THINK: Winter Hymn Country Hymn Secret Hymn 2LP (CST 025 LP). $17.00

Double LP version, full color gatefold.

POLMO POLPO: Like Hearts Swelling CD (CST 026 CD). $15.00

"Polmo Polpo is the main project of Toronto based musician Sandro Perri. As this new album demonstrates, his ear for long-burn drones and submerged rhythms overlaid with instrumental sources (slide guitar, strings, accordion) is impeccable. Building on foundations of multi-layered full spectrum drones and loops, the music of Polmo Polpo is distinguished by slide guitar motifs that are more naive pop pastoral than spaghetti western. The opening track, 'Romeo Heart,' builds inexorably from silence to jet-engine pink noise squall, coaxed along by descending bass and guitar lines. This is an excellent introduction to a record that gains in emotional resonance and structural complexity with every song. Polmo Polpo has crafted a subtle, enveloping, kaleidoscopic instrumental pop record — brimming and bursting..."

POLMO POLPO: Like Hearts Swelling LP (CST 026 LP). $13.00

LP version.

SILVER MT. ZION MEMORIAL ORCHESTRA & TRA-LA-LA BAND WITH CHOIR, THE: This Is Our Punk-Rock, Thee Rusted Satellites... CD (CST 027 CD). $15.00

...Gather + Sing.. "This third full-length recording by Mt. Zion finds the band continuing to work as a six-piece, with various guests on drums and a couple dozen folks on choral duty. The result is four long pieces, each in two or more sections, all featuring group and/or lead vocals. Efrim's increased vocal presence is the most obvious evolution from past efforts, yielding the most direct articulation of themes and emotions that have run throughout his work with Mt. Zion and godspeed you! black emperor. Long instrumental passages remain, however, marked by the most deliberate, complex and precise compositions the band has set to tape thus far. Dense layers of strings collide, blend and differentiate against a backdrop of ragged repeating guitar figures and noise treatments."

SILVER MT. ZION MEMORIAL ORCHESTRA & TRA-LA-LA BAND WITH CHOIR, THE: This Is Our Punk-Rock, Thee Rusted Satellites... 2LP (CST 027 LP). $17.00

...Gather + Sing.. Double LP version, deluxe gatefold sleeve with booklet insert.

BLACK OX ORKESTAR: Ver Tanz? CD (CST 029CD). $15.00

"Black Ox Orkestar is a Montreal based quartet that formed in 1999 to play European Jewish folk music. Filtering traditional klezmer tunes through a sensibility shaped by indie rock and free jazz, Black Ox infuses these pieces with a highly original approach to arrangement, freely borrowing from Turkish, Balkan and Greek folk idioms along the way. The band strikes a perfect balance between faithfulness to sources and extrapolation from contemporary influences, offering a challenge (both musically and lyrically) to modern Jewish political orthodoxies along the way. Evenly split between instrumentals and vocal tunes, this debut album is a hypnotic blend of pieces pulled from various Eastern European songbooks as well as several original compositions. Lyrics are in Yiddish and speak forcefully about the bloody history and intractable contradictions of Jewish diaspora and return. The record is of appeal to anyone who appreciates melancholy, minor key melodies and folk music unburdened by antiseptic production and/or cheap sentimentality."

BLACK OX ORKESTAR: Ver Tanz? LP (CST 029LP). $13.00

LP version.

VA: Constellation Music Until Now CD (CST COMP1). $6.00

"A low-price compilation of music from our first five years, featuring one previously released track from each of the following: Sofa, Exhaust, Do Make Say Think, Sackville, Fly Pan Am, A Silver Mt. Zion, Frankie Sparo, 1-Speed Bike, Re:, and Hangedup. This Compact disc has a running time of approximately 65 minutes, sounds like an album in its own right, and comes packaged in a cardstock gatefold jacket with insert booklet. We want it to properly introduce people to the overall label aesthetic, so every effort is being made to create a stand-alone, non-disposable object that is both aurally and visually compelling."

CONTEXT FREE MEDIA:

VA: Unravalled Vol. 1 12" (TEXT 010A). $9.00

"The first installment of a three-part series, Unravalled is a mega-collaboration between all artists on Context, each remixing the other's material from the back-catalog. Parts one and two will appear in 12" format, while the third installment will be a CD mixed by Sutekh, fusing the remixes with the original versions. Volume 1 contains four mixes, each with a distinctive personality. On side A, Sutekh takes Ben Neville's material for a pigeon funk workout, while Kit Clayton finds out what would happen if a pack of gremlins were let loose in Timbaland's studio. On the B side, Portable's signature stuttered rhythms and organic digital chaos shuffle their way into Sutekh's 'Suite K' side project, while Twerk works binaural recordings of conversations with Portable into a slowly evolving piece of deep, atmospheric techno."

VA: Unravalled Vol. 2 12" (TEXT 010EP). $9.00

"The second installment of this award-winning three-part remix series features all of your favorite American veterans (California's Twerk, Safety Scissors, and Kit Clayton) stirred and shaken with coalition forces from abroad (Canada's Ben Neville, Australia's Klunder, Mexico's Murcof, and Italy's Wang Inc.)."

TWERK: Motala CD (TEXT 011 CD). $9.00

4 track CD EP, 22 minutes. "Twerk is synonymous with machine inclination, his concepts becoming simulations, and the music itself dealing with the paradigm of recontextualizing existing sounds in a complex and dynamic environment utilizing custom designed software and field recording devices. his passages seek to explore the outer fringes of composition and form. His albums, live performances, and museum installations include a dynamic mixture of microscopic electronic art, algorithmic-based compositional techniques and each showcase Twerk's use of his custom designed software. Motala is dedicated to victims of landmines worldwide. All proceeds from the sale of this record will be donated to the International Campaign to Ban Landmines."

KLUNDER: Half Hidden Behind Trees 12" (TEXT 012). $9.00

"Half Hidden Behind Trees is the debut release by Klunder aka Brad Nederpelt, a 21 year old resident of one of the most secluded cities in the world: Perth, Australia. With a keen sense for both sound design and harmony, Klunder makes jagged, swinging techno full of scurrying critters. The four tracks on this EP vary from lazy, stargazing house to chopped up jack trax. A perfect addition to the growing international roster of Sutekh's Context label."

WANG INC.: Woods Roads: The Premixes 12" (TEXT 013EP). $9.00

"Italy's Bartolomeo Sailer aka Wang Inc. is known for his releases on Mouse On Mars' Sonig label and France's Bip-Hop. These three mixes provide a DJ-friendly sneak preview of Wang Inc.'s upcoming full-length on Context, also entitled Woods Roads. Inspired by a recent road trip across the Pacific Northwest, and by the eerie psychological landscapes in the films of Lynch, Kubrick, and Jarmusch, the album promises to be an enigmatic journey through the maze of highways inside Wang Inc.'s circuitous, sometimes silly, and always thoughtful mind."

VA: Thredes And Vaynes 12" (TEXT 06). $9.00

"This mini-compilation unites three familiar Californians with two new international additions to the Context roster, forming a pleasantly cacophonous mix of organic and synthetic, repetition and improvisation." Artists: Safety Scissors, Kit Clayton, Portable, Sutekh, Ben Neville.

PORTABLE: Patterns And Signals 12" (TEXT 07). $9.00

"Context is proud to present 'Patterns and Signals', Alan Abrahams' first release since his relocation from Cape Town to London in 1997. Portable's productions incorporate a range of styles and moods, combining harsh, digital soundscapes with playful, organic house and electro rhythms. His early exposure to traditional african music surfaces subtly in both his rhythm programming and choice of sound sources, but heavy signal processing often makes it impossible to distinguish african drums from synthesized noise. Patterns and Signals also features a remix by Context label head Sutekh, who turns the slow, primal rhythm of 'Portal' into an uptempo puree of chopped up funk."

VA: Deadpan Escapement: Reconstructed 2LP (TEXT 04 LP). $18.00

Double vinyl version; includes one track by Darin Marshall which is vinyl only. Heavy-duty line up of reconstructions of original music by Sutekh and Twerk by: Safety Scissors, Phoenecia, Timeblind, Mannequin Lung, Jake Mandell, Matmos, Kit Clayton, Stewart Walker & Mick Harris. "Originally released in 1998, Deadpan Escapement was the first collaboration between California techno artists Sutekh and Twerk. Establishing them as innovative, up-and-coming producers, the ten track double 12" combined pure sonic experimentation with dancefloor structures to create a new breed of deep, dark techno. Two years and many releases later, Sutekh (operator of Context) has revisited the project. After a rigorous selection process, ten internationally renowned artists representing all sides of the electronic music spectrum were granted the opportunity to bastardize and manipulate Deadpan Escapement. The results range from glitchy noise to broken hip-hop to electro, techno, and everything in between. Taken as a whole, Deadpan Escapement: Reconstructed reflects the chaotic beauty that arises when disparate elements collide. With this, the fourth release in the Context canon, Sutekh seeks to prove that techno music is about exploring new sounds and rhythms, experimenting with form and function beyond predictable, thumping beats. These ideas inform the Context aesthetic and foreshadow the diverse output of the label."

CONTEXTERRIOR (NETHERLANDS):

MR.E.MINIMAL: Contexterrior 05 12" (CONTEXT 005 EP). $9.00

"On its fifth EP, Amsterdam-based Contexterrior introduces Mr. E. Minimal — a pseudonym that will serve as a cloak of disguise for different artists and collaborations in the label's upcoming releases. Uniting the various projects is a shared vision: to push the boundaries of dancefloor-centered music further into the realms of experimentation and complexity. In the absence of any extraneous identifiers, this record will become known by its sound, and its sound only. Four tracks of advanced minimalism in which innovatively processed vocal snippets become the missing link between sharp percussion and lingering atmospherics — the outside cuts to shake the floor, the inside cuts to perplex the minds. Contexterrior is a platform geared at bringing sub bass, click and glitch heavy music to your bedroom and the dancefloor."

SPIESS VS. JAY HAZE, PETER F.: Contexterrior 06 12" (CONTEXT 006EP). $9.00

"In this series, labelhead Jay haze shares the spotlight with like-minded artists to offer complementary perspectives on a common theme — each artist laying out their personal blueprint of complex yet dancefloor-compatible material that challenges listeners ears and minds. While the first Contexterrior split record featured North American collaborator Jeff Samuel, the latest release exposes a connection closer to Haze's newly adopted hometown of Berlin with Cologne's techdub mastermind Peter F. Spiess. Followers of the label will feel at home with Haze's unique style of combining field-recorded noise snippets, cut up vocal hits and deep and driving basslines — each distilled to its functional essence with ever-greater clarity. Peter F. Spiess, known from releases on Klang, Alpha, and his recent work on Textone.org, shows off his mastery of intricate sound texturing and beautiful sequence layering over solid beat structures on the flipside."

HAZE VS. MIKAEL STAVOSTRAND, JAY: Contexterrior 07 12" (CONTEXT 007EP). $9.00

"Once again Contexterrior hits you off with a brilliant split EP, continuing with this series, pushing the boundaries of minimal techno into new realms, and creating new ideas in a scene desperate for some originality. Outside cuts : Jay Haze: here you have 2 cuts that scream 'Twilight Zone' really for the more jazzed up times in life. Truly enticing and at the same time challenging, gets the listener involved and makes them move. We have deep bass, sub. . sub . . bass. Inside cuts: Mikael Stavostrand: deep and pumping , techy , dark. These 2 songs couldn't be more right, nice techy stabs that hand people bass via their chest. Pumping kicks that sound amazing in the clubs, and haunting vocals that leave you asking 'what did he just say?'. These are tracks for the deeper, darker moments when you want people to lose it . . and I mean in a good way."

RICARDO VS. JAY: Prefer Summer/Cactus Love 12" (CONTEXT 008EP). $9.00

"This fourth 'versus' vinyl is a slight change from previous three. For this release, Ricardo Villalobos and Jay Haze collaborated to bring the record to your DJ bag. An artistic tandem jump if you will, the a1 is a melancholic summer hit. Melodic and deep filled with endless progression and relentless syncopation. This one is bound for the special moments when the party needs an extra kick. B1 — 'Cactus Love' — is a floor stomper. 4 to the floor bass killer with the kind of sound design one can expect from Villalobos and Haze. Minimal funk in every possible way. The closing track — 'Archive' — is a delicate techno-blues track. An after-party killer wrapped in reverbs and in your face bass lines."

HAZE, JAY: Contexterrior 04 12" (CONTEXT 04). $9.00

"This fourth EP on Contexterrior is the first one to be released from the label's new headquarters in Amsterdam and the first one to be distributed exclusively through Kompakt. After gaining much acclaim in the minimal techno world for the previous three releases — two by Jay alone and one split EP with Jeff Samuel — Jay Haze is set to take over control of the minds and feet of advanced crowds everywhere with this four-tracker. Two dancefloor killers and two more relaxed, yet still solidly moving pieces assemble to form another psychedelic piece in the enigmatic puzzle of Haze's creative output."

CONTROL TOWER (UK):

KANSAS CITY PROPHETS: Puncture 12" (CTOWER 008). $9.00

"Simon KCP gets industrial. A man who's live shows have been mashin' up the place big style. These tunes have been road tested at many gigs to much appreciation."

DEAD SILENCE SYNDICATE: Hidden Cities 12" (CTOWER 009). $9.00

"Dexorist and cohorts fight the monsters in Edge city. 3 stormers, as you would expect from these rotters. Feel tha frequency!"

COOKING VINYL (UK):

VIBERT/BJ COLE, LUKE: Spring Collection CD (COOK 093 CD). $7.50

"Second single from the critically acclaimed album, Stop The Panic. Features a brand new track and remixes by Mr. Scruff and the Metrophonics." Limited stock.

COPASETIC RECORDINGS (UK):

TERRANOVA: Close The Door CD (COPA 010 CD). $16.00

"This follows the highly successful 1998 DJ Kicks mix CD on Studio K7. The band is made-up of Fetsich (a Berliner whom has been a successful DJ and has also produced several tracks for the Gee Street label), Cath Coffey (Stereo MCs vocalist), Marco Meister (classically trained pianist), and Kaos (DJ and graffiti artist). Always innovative, this collective has been pushing the boundaries of the 'trip hop' genre for several years with previous releases on Compost and All Good Vinyl. This release is already a genre classic and will be heard on many a DJ's platter for years to come!" Guest vocalists include: Rasco & Tricky.

CORPUS HERMETICUM (NEW ZEALAND):

A HANDFUL OF DUST: Musica Humana CD (HERMES 005). $15.00

Corpus Hermeticum is Bruce (Xpressway, Dead C) Russell's label. Handful of Dust is a free-noise group mainly made up of Russell and Alastair Galbraith (Peter Stapleton also appears on drums sometimes). Subtitled "Collected Works 1990-93", this is a compilation of all previously available material, including the now o/p Concord LP & "A Little Aesthetic Discourse" 7" on Twisted Village, plus various comp tracks. Also includes volume 2 of Bruce's magazine of philosophy, music and culture-critique: Logopandocy: The Journal of Vain Erudition.

PIETERS/BRUCE RUSSELL/PETER STAPLETON, KIM: Last Glass CD (HERMES 007). $15.00

Debut by an improvisational trio made up of Kim Pieters (bass, organ, synthesizer), Bruce Russell (guitar, perc., synth) & Peter Stapleton (drums, synth, guitar). "Pieters & Stapleton are known as the core of the now defunct Dadamah, as well as for new projects like Flies Inside The Sun & Rain. Last Glass is comprised of 6 instrumental improvisations which range from the near-ambient to the red faced and throttling, sometimes covering this range in a single piece. Obvious points of reference are AMM, Musica Elettronica Viva and the Silver Apples, but Pieters/Russell/Stapleton skirt these static reference points like downhill slalom skiers. All the pieces bar one are single takes, without overdubs, but the soundscapes are far from sparse as a result. Built around propulsive percussive rhythms, the other instruments provide plenty of the 'scrub and woosh' you'd expect from an outfit with this kind of pedigree. The CD comes in the trademark Hermescorp manila folder, which contains a 14 x 42 cm. folder of Kim Pieters' artwork."

MOORE/TOM SURGAL, THURSTON: Klangfarbenmelodie...And The Colorist Strikes Primitiv CD (HERMES 011). $15.00

Instrumental duo improv space-mantra jamming from early 1995, recorded in NYC. Thurston plays in a crescendo-building, elevation-minded guitar style, over the wall of percussion laid down by the Blue Humans' drummer Tom Surgal. This CD is a New Zealand-only release on Bruce Russell's Corpus Hermeticum label. The CD comes in a lovely art-card-stock folio & is a great thing to behold.

DORAMAAR: Copula CD (HERMES 012). $15.00

"Coalescing around the inspiration of Kim Pieters (Dadamah, Rain, Flies Inside The Sun), the line-up on this album includes Sara Stephenson, Adria Morgan and Andre Richardson. Favoring a revolving door policy with instruments, the group employ guitar, bass, synthesizer, organ, drums and voice to create sound-worlds that are at once enticing and threatening, like the paradigmatic songs of the sirens in Jacques Attali's Noise: The Political Economy of Music. Their approach is strictly 'free form'; collective improvisation is emphasized at all times and the group have the uncanny cohesion and singleness of purpose which all truly great improvisational ensembles possess."

BRANDSDAL, KJETIL D.: Freedom — Waaah Waaah CD (HERMES 028). $15.00

"The name of Kjetil D. Brandsdal has been banded about the world increasingly over the last couple of years. Of Norwegian origin, though resident for the last three years or so in Northern Ireland, Kjetil has carved quite a niche for himself as a 'sound artist'. Exhibiting a sterling self-reliance, he emerged first via a slew of self-released cassettes (about ten in all), then followed these with two self-released LPs and a slew of singles on labels such as Boblador, MykeDroner, and Betley Welcomes Careful Drivers. The LPs were manufactured in editions of 300, and got snapped up pretty damn fast, but not before he sent one to H-Corp HQ in the far antipodes. The CD currently under consideration was the natural result, once the Hermetically-tuned ears of the corporation got a whiff of the lo-fi, droning, tape-looped improv. spew that Kjetil was purveying, it was a done deal. The Freedom CD compiles choice tracks from both LPs, KDB and Kjetil D. Brandsdal, but also features the full-length version of 'Ill', originally restricted to just one whole LP side, it now closes the CD at a full 35 minutes. The recorded pieces are devoid of drums, most rhythms coming from tape loops or guitar parts, and generally levitate the consciousness pretty effectively in a ceiling-wards direction. Production appears to be on porta-studio in most cases, and headphone listening reveals some pretty cool mix-work in a style not a million miles from our own Omit, but retaining a unique Nordic 'grittiness' in sound."

A HANDFUL OF DUST: Jerusalem, Street Of Graves CD (HERMES 029). $15.00

"Latest offering from one of the planet's foremost exponents of free-form what-ever, antipodean New Thing, Dutch klezmer, call-it-what-you-will. Regardless of what its called, A Handful of Dust are resolutely in the forefront of pushing the boundaries of collective 'out' rock/noise improvisation to new limits. Still made up of the core duo of Bruce Russell and Alastair Galbraith, with the regular percussive under-pinning of Peter Stapleton, Dust here offer the world their sixth full-length album of head-cleaning sonic mental-floss. Recorded during two live performances in August 1996 and 1997, the recent material picks up in intensity from previous offerings, and expands the instrumental interplay of the participants to new psychic heights. While the rest of the world slowly moves to catch hold of the comet's tail trailed across the musical heavens by these intrepid explorers, they continue to forge ahead. Still refusing to rehearse, or to perform regularly enough to blunt the adventurous edge of their group dynamic, Dust are fast coming to occupy a firmly entrenched, if well hidden, niche in New Zealand music. If your 'bag' encompasses screaming arcs of toneless machine-squeal, underpinned by manic kettle drums and hydro-electric turbine hum, then this is surely for you."

OMIT: Interior Desolation CD (HERMES 030). $15.00

"Following from the ground-breaking HermesCorp re-release last year of the Quad triple CD boxset, it is with great pleasure that we announce the first compact disc release of new and hitherto unreleased material by the Blenheim-based Hidden Master of bedroom electronic psychedelia. From the first moments, as the field recordings of snorting pigs begin to assault your mind, you know you are in for one long strange trip. Just when the listener has come to terms with being shut into a aural pigsty, the first moans of synthesised sound begin to approach from the far distances of a tape delay-induced vacuum that seems to extend beyond the boundaries of our solar system. Seventy-odd minutes later you'll touch down on earth again, if you've managed to survive the journey with your mind intact. Clinton Williams has been on a highly personal journey into sound since the late 1980's. Starting from scratch, using modified electric motors as his sole sound source, he has built up a home studio and battery of hand-made and salvaged electronic sound sources, with which to pursue his researches into the human psyche. Working in complete isolation for several years, before making contact with a few like-minded souls in other parts of the world, he has released a mass of cassettes and lathe-cut polycarbonate records on his own Deep Skin Conceptual Mind Music imprint. He has also collaborated with Bruce Russell as Dust/Omit, and Paul Toohey as Omit/K Group. Interior Desolation was originally slated for release as a double LP on the German label Raffmond. When financial realities made this impossible, the challenge was taken up by Corpus Hermeticum and this CD is the result. The CD was recorded during 1996, and consists of a seamless blend of field recordings and synthesized soundscapes, in a similar vein to the previously released Quad triple CD. It comes in the standard HermesCorp card wallet, with two postcard-size inserts, all decorated with Omit's characteristically geometric and psychotic line drawings."

DE GENNARO/ALASTAIR GALBRAITH, MATT: Wire Music CD (HERMES 031). $15.00

"This compact disc records a performance undertaken in total darkness. The audience were conducted by torchlight into the dungeon-like basement of the Everything Inc. arts collective building, in Dunedin, NZ. They were then left in darkness while the performers began to stroke their rosined hands over tensioned lengths of piano wire, positioned so as to turn the entire performance space into one large acoustic soundingbox. The sounds on this compact disc document what that audience heard. Matt De Gennaro is an American student of art and acoustics, with a special affinity for the productions of the Fluxus movement. Inspired by an accidental epiphany occasioned by a light sculpture, he began to experiment with long tensioned wires, building on the earlier works of Athanasius Kircher (1602-80) and John Tyndall (1820-93). On a visit to New Zealand in 1998 he began a collaboration with noted Dunedin musician and painter Alastair Galbraith. This led to the Everything Inc. performance presented on this Corpus Hermeticum compact disc. Matt has previously performed wire music at a number of venues in his native Detroit, while Alastair is well known to aficionados of New Zealand music, both for his solo output, and also his participation in the spontaneous music group A Handful of Dust. This disc presents three pieces recorded at the soundcheck as well as the two pieces performed at the public show. In addition to the long wires, Alastair also performed on the violin and on one track played a pre-recorded tape loop. Other than where to install the wires, the artists made no prior decisions regarding the sounds they were to make. Listening to this compact disc thus allows the listener to participate vicariously in the performers' own process of discovering this unique music. When you really think about it, we can't realistically hope for a greater return from the simple process of slipping a digital disc into a player. Wire Music thus promises the purchaser maximum aesthetic experience for minimum artistic effort — another proud boast from the label that proves that in music less can really be more."

RST: Warm Planes CD (HERMES 032). $15.00

"Second full length offering from this talented Kiwi sound sculptor. Guaranteed to pin your head to the floor with calm, carefully abraded and composed blocks of unrelenting noise. Nothing here is accidental, every sound event has a purpose and the result is a festival of physically impacting soundworks in the now classic NZ style. Andrew Moon is RST, a solo sound exploration project he launched on the unsuspecting world via the lathe cut LP Event Horizon in 1994. This LP, like the nearly contemporaneous Surface of the Earth double LP, marked the real beginnings of something new in the NZ noise scene, until then pretty fully occupied by offshoots of the Dead C and their close relatives. Andrew's past was as a drummer in various post punk NZ combos, but RST represented a considerable broadening of his sonic palette, using guitars, electronics and recording processes to weld slabs of sound into very slow moving and all-enveloping sonic environments. He subsequently featured on Hcorp's genre defining compilation Le Jazz Non, banged out a few select lathe cut rarities and put out his first CD, R136a, on Thurston Moore's Ecstatic Peace imprint. The key to RST's development was a spell spent in London in the early 90's, getting to grips with non-linear music and improvised stratagems for sound making. Once sound was freed to be itself, there was no looking back for Mr Moon. He rapidly came to master the techniques of painting with sound, enabling himself to create sound worlds that hang suspended in the ear of the beholder, adrift from points of reference, where tones and isolated rhythm events turn slowly, casting light in interweaving circles around the inside of your brain. The pieces on this new album range from carefully wrought filigrees of sound sparkling in mid-air to slow moving bulldozers of low end noise that grind across the aural foreground, obliterating everything in their path. What links them together is the total dedication and attention to detail that accompanies their generation and recording, as with label compatriot K Group, no sound is just allowed to be there, every noise is sculpted and carefully placed for maximum aesthetic effect on the listener. Once more, confounding the armchair cynics who claim it is a dead cypher in a universe devoid of meaning, in RST's hands the electric guitar is reclaimed and made to do new work, uplifting the spirit and splitting the mind open to reveal yet new interior universes of signification. RST's Warm Planes are like thermal pools for the mind, from which the listener emerges revived and renewed. Dip in."

RUSSELL, BRUCE: Painting The Passports Brown CD (HERMES 035). $15.00

"This, the third solo album recorded by the artist currently known as Bruce Russell, consists of three live slabs of improvised guitar, electronics, and analogue tape loops, recorded live in Melbourne, Australia in May 1999. This was the first of two visits he made to Australia in that year, the second being in the company of Alastair Galbraith as A Handful of Dust. These recordings are totally solo, built respectively around a prerecorded seven metre loop taken from the Anabase LP by Dust (Black Flies #1 & #2), and a slowed down and reversed tape of thumb piano improvisation (With Rimbaud in Abyssinia). These extended works are less brutal than the pieces featured on the first two solo albums, with more space and attendant dynamics in evidence. They abrade, rather than assault, the ears. This album represents a step forward in BR's solo work, integrating the pre-recorded and live sounds ever more fully into a seamless whole. The recordings have been edited at the front and back, but otherwise are presented totally live as recorded to minidisc by Melbourne resident and Freeway Sound label curator Marco Fusinato. The Rimbaud track is subtitled 'Ass Backwards' as the reversal of the backing tape was an unintended but fortunate accident, resulting from a failure to rewind the tape after the first show. These kind of random factors do so much to enrich the work of improvisers of all stripes, as witnessed by the music on this compact disc. Going on at length about the artist responsible for these recordings would be needless in the case of the very great majority of those reading these words. Suffice to say he performs and records with the Dead C, A Handful of Dust, and Pieters/Russell/Stapleton, manages the label on which this excellent disc has been released, and takes the kind of holiday snaps of bridges and buildings with which the cover is decorated. A 10" vinyl postscript to this recordings is being released about the same time on the Smalltown Supersound label in Norway, that record being of a much more dense and apocalyptic guitar-squall nature, recorded solo at one of the Melbourne Dust dates referred to earlier."

AKIYAMA/TAKU SUGIMOTO/BO WIGET, TETUZI: Spazieren/Hokou/Periodic Drift CD (HERMES 036). $15.00

"This disc is the first HermesCorp release to feature either Japanese or Swiss artists, so two birds are killed with one stone. Of the participants, Taku Sugimoto is perhaps the best known, having collaborated extensively during tours in the USA and Europe with artists such as Kevin Drumm, Gunter Muller and Keith Rowe, and having worked in Tokyo over a number of years with the likes of Tetuzi Akiyama, Toshimaru Nakamura, Utah Kawasaki, Sachiko M, Otomo Yoshihide and others. He has a discography peppered with releases on labels such as Hat Hut, Meme, Sonoris, Boxmedia, Erstwhile, For 4 Ears and his own Slub Music. Tetuzi, as well as playing with Taku, has recorded a number of albums with inexplicable Brazilian hybrid outfit Amephone (for whom Taku has also wielded his 'other' instrument, the cello). Swiss cellist Bo Wiget is best known for his solo 3" CD Elk on the Sadke label. This fascinating work was composed in 1997 using multi-tracked solo cello improvisations. April 1999 saw all three together in Tokyo, where the session documented on Hokou was recorded. The venue for this meeting was the Rinky Dink Studio of Simpho Yanagawa of Amephone fame. The music covers a wide range of moods and techniques, with Tetuzi employing both acoustic and electric guitars, while Taku restricted himself to his usual hollow-bodied electric and Bo deployed both his cello and a range of electronic devices. This aural variety keeps the listener's attention fixed through-out, this is music to get lost in. The overall approach is the 'less is more' aesthetic that anyone familiar with the 'Bar Ayoma axis' might expect, but the range of physical approaches to the instruments, their strings and their bodies will keep even the most attentive listener guessing as to how or by what some of this music was produced. As Michel Henritzi has suggested, one might see precedents for all this in traditional Japanese aesthetic and instrumental traditions, as well as in the Zen category of emptiness. But equally well one can see it as three top-flight improvisers summoning aural magic from the smoking mirrors of their souls — pure and limpid. There's a 'new breed' of improviser cooking in Tokyo, within the context of a global network of connected sonic adventurers. Hokou [whichever language you say it in] is as good an introduction to this milieu as any, and consists of ten tracks totaling nearly 43 minutes of sound alchemy."

PHÉROMONE: Disparlure CD (HERMES 038). $15.00

"Disparlure is the first release by French trio Phéromone. Comprised of Pascal Battus, Eric Cordier and Jean-Luc Guionnet, the trio have been together for some three years performing improvised music using guitar, hurdy gurdy, electronics and various electro-acoustic devices involving sundry objects with contact mics. Cordier and Guionnet have played together since the mid-80s in various settings, most recently in Schams and Synapses and also as a duo (discs on Shambala and Selektion). Battus is a new collaborator for them, a guitar player with an extended technique, recently praised in the Wire by no less an authority than Keith Rowe as one of the younger guitarists worth watching out for. This disc consists of a continuous piece (indexed as two tracks) edited from home recordings of the group by long-time collaborators Eric La Casa and Pierre-Henri Thiebaut. Their favoured concert set up is to occupy three corners of the performance space and seat the audience in the middle. The analogy is with the functioning of the eponymous insect hormones, which transmit messages to other insects at a distance. The audible messages of the three musicians transmit signals from one player to the next, with the audience hearing the interaction of the signals in 'surround sound'. This is particularly apt as the overall effect of the music on this disc is of a darkened environment full of animal calls, as unseen predators stalk small mechanical prey and flocks of metal birds perch in the tinfoil trees. Actual sound sources are impossible to identify with certainty as the various stringed and amplified instruments surge and recede in a dazzling display of alternating synchronicity and conflict. The variety of sounds, the virtuosity of the interplay and the obvious mix of both seriousness and humour in their approach mark Phéromone out as a trio to keep an eye on in the future."

MALCOLM, GREG: Homesick For Nowhere CD (HERMES 039). $15.00

"Greg Malcolm is a longtime stalwart of exciting NZ guitar-work who has been criminally under-appreciated for too long. Through all of this he has single-mindedly developed a highly individual musical vocabulary, often employing multiple guitars simultaneously to generate drones and rhythms. This has culminated in the design of his own, multi-output 'adapted guitar'. This five-pickup beast, featuring extra harmonically resonating sympathetic strings and independent tuning at both ends, features on three of the cuts on this new album. Homesick for Nowhere is his first outing for solo guitar, and in some ways it bears comparison to Fred Frith's Guitar Solos, as well as sundry outings by Eugene Chadbourne, Zoot Horn Rollo, Davey Williams, John Renbourn and Philip Gayle. That's pretty precise, isn't it? He improvises, he picks, he rubs, he uses toys to make a noise. The tracks on Homesick were recorded live in Auckland, Wellington and Christchurch, as well as at home in Sumner. They include covers of tunes by Ornette Coleman, Steve Lacy, and Charlie Haden, as well as a Beatles number (you'll barely recognise it) and sundry improvisations on themes brazenly stolen from various folk traditions, which if they were less 'out there' we might describe as ethnological forgeries. In general the feeling of the album is introspective and extemporised, the melodic source material for the themes is often pretty incidental to the particular treatment adopted for the recorded versions, and overall the material sits very comfortably amongst the other 100% free music peddled by this label."

AKIYAMA/TOSHIMARU NAKAMURA/GREG MALCOLM/BRUCE RUSSELL, TETUZI: International Domestic CD (HERMES 040). $15.00

"Tetuzi Akiyama and Toshimaru Nakamura are the moving forces behind the Improvisation Meeting at Off-Site performance series in Tokyo. In late July 2002 Toshi and Tetuzi came to Australia and New Zealand for festival shows. The NZ side of the tag-team wrestling face-off was Greg Malcolm and Bruce Russell. For them it was a rare chance to play with some Japanese improvisers, with whom they had already had some dealings in the past. For Toshi and Tetuzi it was a chance to play together for the first time with no third party, something they had never previously attempted. Tetuzi played prepared acoustic guitar, using rubber bands, knives, stones and toys, while Toshi employed his no-input set up. Since Greg is an accomplished exponent of his adapted multi-pick-up guitar, Bruce decided to balance the line-up by employing only electronic devices, including his 1949 Clavinoline keyboard. The resulting improvisational meetings were very satisfyingly varied, in tone, texture and amplitude. They varied from the painfully withdrawn, getting the audience on the edge of their seats for every note, to the startlingly explosive and aggressively nagging, causing the listeners to squawk with hysterical laughter. The music you'll hear on this disc runs a full frequency spectrum gamut of state of the art improvisational practice at the dawn of the 21st century."

WEHowsky & BRUCE RUSSELL, RALF: Sights CD (HERMES 041). $15.00

"Take two collaborators, one a German sound artist noted for his painstaking micro-engineered computer compositions, the other a New Zealand noise terrorist with a reputation for making albums over his morning tea breaks. Put them in a basement studio in Karlsruhe for three days in February 2003, feed them on coffee and apple juice and let them out to walk in the woods once a day. What do you get? Sights, a dramatic collision of two very different but complementary approaches to the same problem — 'what is this sound?'."

This is a postcard from Bruce Russell's 2003 European holiday, consisting of three duo improvisations, one recorded after the fact by mail collaboration, and two recorded live in Ralf's studio. Russell and Wehowsky take turns in the studio playing guitar and manipulating a range of tone generating electronics, while the mail collaboration includes clavinoline and teapoons. The recordings have then been subjected to Ralf Wehowsky's characteristically careful mixing, where stereo placement and subtle tweaking of the recorded sounds grants a bewitching crystalline sheen to every click and whine. It's the combination of instantaneous composition and carefully-planned post-production that imparts the mystery to this particular session. At once quite unlike Wehowsky's recent work, yet imbued with the same ethos of care and judicious consideration which marks all his productions, Sights if anything represents a return to the more carefree jamming practiced by the earliest post-punk incarnations of his first band, PD. In this we see some influence from the slap-dash New Zealander, but whereas the average Russell production has an unmistakable air of accident about the fact that anything wound up on tape at all, in this case the beautifully-managed production does perfect justice to the audible excitement captured at the point of

There's a measured care to the way these sounds have been put together, but there's no slavish adherence to any tenets regarding how the results should sound. This is too rocking to be reductionist, too chance-driven to be minimalist, and too noisy to be lumped with any temporarily fashionable schools of micro-improvisation. What you get is the meeting of two well-made-up minds, which have spent upwards of two decades each deciding what the business of sound is all about, and then a long weekend putting the resulting experience into practice."

CORTICAL FOUNDATION:

RILEY, TERRY: Music For The Gift CD (CORTI 01). $12.50

Repressed and available again! The earliest and most heavily anticipated release yet in Cortical Foundation series of archival Terry Riley releases. First time any of these pieces have been commercially available. Includes a historic performance with La Monte Young from 1960. Typically stunning packaging featuring Bruce Connor poster artwork. How much can your heart take? "The Genesis of Minimalist, Plundering and Tape-Loops. This CD brings together four seminal tape works of Terry Riley. 'The Gift' — music performed in Paris 1963 by Chet Baker, tape manipulations by Terry Riley; this was the first occasion on which Riley used tape delay to fragment, attenuate and return time, looping tape through twin-tape recorders. The Gift recordings, referred to often by Soft Machine members, is the precursor to the landmark that launched the minimalist movement, 'In C'. 'Bird of Paradise' is a radical tape-manipulation work, the earliest known plundering that inspired Steve Reich's 'It's Gonna Rain' era phase recordings. 'Mescaline Mix' a tape-loop recording from 1960-62; partly inspired by Riley's experience with Mescaline and the work of his friend Richard Maxfield. For this recording, the tape-loops would extend out Riley's window to a wine-bottle spindle in the yard; composed for choreographer Anna Halprin's 'The 3 Legged Stool'. 'Concert for Two Pianos and Five Tape Recorders' was recorded live at Hertz Hall on Berkeley Campus in 1960 with a humorous broadcast narrative doing the play by play. Performed by Terry Riley and La Monte Young, with broadcast announcements by Glenn Glasow. First time available."

RILEY, TERRY: Olson III CD (CORTI 03). $12.50

The long awaited and incredible 2nd release in Cortical's series of archival Terry Riley CDs, featuring the first every issue of this live performance of 'Olson III'. A 53-minute work for orchestra, chorus and soprano sax. Performed by a Swedish High School band with Terry Riley on soprano saxophone, in 1967. Produced by Folke Rabe. "While Riley was rehearsing his composition 'Olson III' with the teenage students at Nacka School of Music, both he and the students were subjected to fierce musico-political blockading. The final concert which was held on April 27th at Nacka, was absolutely tremendous and the uproar at the end was a clear indication of the excitement that the teenagers discovered in the music. Says Riley, 'I don't stand in front of the orchestra and keep them busy because that would be against the idea of what I'm trying to do, because they are all supposed to be phasing. The music is not conductable, everybody has to join it themselves.'"

RILEY, TERRY: Poppy Nogood and the Phantom Band All Night Flight CD (CORTI 04). $12.50

The Organ of Corti label will be issuing a massively anticipated Terry Riley Archive Series, with at least 5 CDs and 1 video planned. Mostly unavailable material from Terry's early 60s period, including a reissue of his always-impossible to find debut LP, Reed Streams. This is the first CD to be issued: "Poppy Nogood's Phantom Band Purple Modal Strobe Ecstasy with the Daughters of Destruction." Soprano saxophone, organ, and time-lag accumulator. The sound is very dense and pulsates slowly like a heart beat until it finally reduces to a drone of held organ notes. The saxophone appears and builds up patterns of looping and phasing multiplicity, which here and there recall Coltrane, mainly due to the modal basis of the music. With the simplest of materials Riley produces some choice patterns and textures, with the marked advantage over his earlier Reed Stream recording, of greatly superior tape techniques. [From] A 6 hour improvised performance recorded March 22, 1968 during Intermedia '68 at S.U.N.Y. Buffalo, NY. First time available."

BAILEY, DEREK: Incus Taps LP (CORTI 10 LP). $26.00

"220 Gram Vinyl. DMM Quality Pressing. Limited Edition. Many if not most of Derek Bailey's fans will be surprised at the existence of these extremely early solo recordings, originally issued by Incus back in 1973...the 'Taps' represented a unique but very short-lived experiment in marketing. Basically, Derek decided it would be interesting, cheaper and 'less formal' to issue some of his favorite recent solo improvisations in a reel-to-reel format, one at a time; custom made so to speak." —Tony Mostrom. This LP rescues some of those lost reel to reel tracks and is an absolutely fantastic archival issue of some forgotten genius; the prior CD version is now deleted.

NITSCH, HERMANN: Day 3: Day of Dionysus 6-Tage-Spiel O.M. Theater 3CD (CORTI 18.1). $32.00

Packaged in the same elaborate LP-jacket as it's companion volume (CORTI 18.2), this features 2 exclusive CDs of music from Day 3 of the 6-Tage-Spiel des Orgies Mysteries Theater; the 2 releases are stickered to differentiate. The third disc is the same CD-ROM as found in 18.1. "Packaged in 12" deluxe gatefold sleeve with 12" full-color printed inner-sleeves. Limited Edition: 500 copies. Day 3 of Vienna Aktionist Hermann Nitsch's magnum opus total experience in a 6 Day excess, a Bacchanalian rite that is sub-titled the Orgies Mysteries Theater. Two separate editions exist for Day 3 in a 12" Gatefold Jacket. Part one of this edition, includes one CD with music from 10am-11:15am. The second CD features music from three different intervals in the day; the third CD is a CD-ROM Cinepak movie compatible with the Windows media player and Quicktime."

NITSCH, HERMANN: Day 3 6-Tage-Spiel O.M. Theater LP/CD-ROM (CORTI 18.2). $32.00 Companion piece to the CORTI 18.1 release (soon forthcoming), with different music on the LP (CD-Rom material is the same on both volumes). "Packaged in 12" deluxe gatefold sleeve with 12" full-color printed inner-sleeves. Day 3 of Vienna Aktionist Hermann Nitsch's magnum opus total experience in a 6 Day excess, a Bacchanalian rite that is sub-titled the Orgies Mysteries Theater. Two separate editions exist for Day 3 in a 12" Gatefold Jacket. Part two of this edition includes a 220 Gram Vinyl pressing of the Finale of Day 3. The second CD is a CD-ROM Cinepak movie compatible with the Windows media player and Quicktime: 220 Gram Vinyl. DMM Quality Pressing. Limited Edition 500 copies."

NITSCH, HERMANN: Harmoniumwerk Volumes 5, 6, 7, 8 2CD (CORTI 20.2). $26.50

2nd double CD in this series, limited to 500 copies (first volume is out of print). "In 1968 I got a harmonium as a wedding present from my wife. From then on I sat at the harmonium and played almost exclusively long notes that never wanted to end. I tried to listen into the infinite structure of stars, into the unimaginable spaces searching for sound. The joy of beautiful colors, of (almost intoxicating) combinations of sound was most important but at the same time it was carried by the almost presumptuous task to conjure, to sing of, and measure the extent of cosmic space. The course of the stars were to be put to sound." —Hermann Nitsch, Depth of the Universe. From 1984-89, 40 volumes of Hermann Nitsch playing harmonium were recorded in Prinzendorf Castle and issued privately by O.M. Theater Verlag in an edition of 15 copies in 1990. This series is an open door to experience the long drones and overtones in Prinzendorf. Includes photography of the cosmos from the Hubble Telescope courtesy of NASA. Hermann Nitsch, born in 1938 in Vienna, rose to notoriety during the 1960s as a result of his actions in his home town, and later in Germany, the USA and Italy. In 1971 he was able to purchase Prinzendorf Castle, the home of his Orgies Mysteries Theater, where he has staged his 6-Day-Play, his magnum opus that required 40 years of research and preparation. One of Nitsch's central concepts, realized thru O. M. Theater actions, was adapted from Freud and Breuer: that of abreaction ... which leads to what Nitsch refers to as 'primal excess'. It is worth quoting Nitsch on this: "In abreaction ... not only are the individual's blockades released, but] also the floodgates are opened to the immeasurable. From bottomless abysses there streams a vitality that amounts to the metaphysical, procreative rage of creation." Apart from his actions, Nitsch has gained international acclaim as an artist and is a prolific writer. His writings include not only play texts and scores, but also theoretical and speculative philosophical works. The complete Harmoniumwerk is being issued in a series of 2CD sets in editions of 500."

NITSCH, HERMANN: Harmoniumwerk Volumes 9, 10, 11, 12 2CD (CORTI 20.3). $26.50

3rd double CD in this series, limited to 500 copies. The music documented on this incredible series is deep, intensely psychedelic; there are also the first cultural artifacts to really seem 100% worthy of the cosmic Hubble space photographs that grace their covers. "Cosmology and empirical science come across the cosmic background noise. The radio telescope still registers the immediate and extreme impact of the big bang today. Black holes represent the abyss without limits. Suns are swallowed, simply sucked up. In the midst of these empty and crowded worlds (anti matter), this sucking silence manifests itself. These harmonic pieces are harmonic meditations, variations of certain colors of sound. Like a kaleidoscope elating, ripe, sweet glowing splendor. Tulip colored silky chasubles transform into notes, sweet must. Fermented sounds mix with strains of hot and cold incense soaking the gorgeous old vestments. This music has ceremonial character. Ceremonial repetitions as if telling ones beads and callings of the cosmos, of infinity and eternity are carried out. The speed of light and the relating (unimaginable) distances are marked off with notes. The depth of the universe is the depth of space withering endlessly. Endlessness. This eternal repetition paints the picture of life into eternity, and the eternal repetition establishes within eternity itself life. If there would be no eternal repetition of time there would be nothing to talk about. The infinite ticking of time, the chain of appearances of life (of beings) puts together what we call being. The happening of the worlds should transform into sounds. The boom, the coming into music of the basic processes of the world of stars should enrich the visual perception of creation." — Hermann Nitsch, Oct. 1986.

PALESTINE, CHARLEMAGNE: Shlongo!!! Daluvdrone CD (CORTI 23). $12.50

"Charlemagne Palestine Solo Pipe Organ concert at Hollywood Methodist Church Recorded excerpt February 14, 1998 1:15 AM - 2:30 AM. Beyond the Pink performance festival. Essential early Minimalist, Charlemagne Palestine creates his composition Shlongo!!! Daluvdrone by inserting pieces of folded paper between the organ keys in order to create sustained resonant over-tones. Mr. Palestine's notes from the Beyond the Pink festival program further elucidate this technique, 'a continuous vibrating herd of organ pipes in big resonant cathedral was the basic premise for meditative sound environments that was to become the spectral continuum that was to become search for the golden sound that was to become Shlongo. I began my investigation pipe by pipe creating sonorities putting small folded paper nuggets between the keys a continuous sound object starting with a fundamental then a perfect fifth then the octave above and gradually building enormous sonorities over several hours with tens then hundreds and then thousands of overtones interacting with the beats creating a rhythmic fabric of overwhelming complexity. Like the smooth glassy surface of a body of water, Shlongo!!! Daluvdrone appears deceptively simple at first; a continuous drone the waves unceasing throughout. But as the listener become fully immersed into its aural depths, strange shifts and subtle nuances of sound become readily more apparent. A great sea of sound moves in gradual currents until one is swept away. Mr. Palestine has created a meditative sound environment that is active not passive; a running stream of resonant sonority. In addition to this current of sound, the resonant tones echo in the apse of the Hollywood Methodist Church in such a way that one can hear the architecture. The organ tones play the solid structure much in the same way a brook cascades across boulders and rocks. As Heraklitos said some 2,500 years ago, 'You never step twice into the same river,' so too does this recording spring anew upon each successive listen.'" — Maria Montgomerie

PRINA, STEPHEN: Vinyl II CD (CORTI 24). $12.50

"For me, those are the only two things that exist — drones and love songs." —Stephen Prina. Purple. Vinyl II is a 16mm film commissioned on the occasion of Departures: 11 Artists at the Getty. The result is twenty one and a half minutes of interlaced references, from seventeenth century devotional painting to Andy Warhol's 1965 film Vinyl, which is a demented, black humored takeoff on Anthony Burgess's novel A Clockwork Orange [there are a total of 3 takes, for approximately 63 minutes of music]. And what about the music, the score, Prina's entrance as singer? From the casting of the musicians — affectless, nonprofessional actors that resemble Bresson's 'models' — to the composition of the multipart, rigidly symmetrical piece of music, the two middle sections of which sound like unwritten songs by the Beatles, Brian Wilson, Burt Bacharach, even Schumann, everything seems extraordinarily decisive." —Tom Holert, Art Forum. Since 1994, Stephen Prina has recorded and performed with The Red Krayola, appearing on Amor and Language, Hazel, and Fingerpainting. Push Comes To Love, 1998, is his solo pop record, co-produced by David Grubbs and Jim O'Rourke, available on Drag City." Credits for Vinyl II, recorded at the J. Paul Getty Museum on 10/4/1999: Stephen Prina (voice), Kirsten Barron (French horn), Daphne Chen (violin), Guenevere Meashan (violin), Kate Reddish (viola), Melissa Reiner (violin).

INTERSYSTEMS: Number One LP/7" (CORTI 25). $32.00

"The first re-release of Intersystems' first LP in a 12" edition, with psychedelic comic book, in deluxe gatefold sleeve. Drug induced wild electronics by John Mills-Cockell and trippy outsider narrative by Blake Parker. This special edition includes a reprinting of a very rare psychedelic comic book by Intersystems originally published in 1968 and a 7" record with jukebox hole that includes an extract from 1) Free Psychedelic Poster Inside and 2) Peachy. The package offers a glimpse into the installations and psychedelic environments that Intersystems created (for example, the Mind Excursion Center) during the 1960's, with the time-capsule effect as reported by the media including the Toronto Telegraph and Time Magazine. (The Mind Excursion Center by Michael Hayden and Intersystems, was the precursor to the Electric Circus in NYC, also designed by Michael Hayden) 220 Gram Vinyl. DMM Quality Pressing. Limited Edition 500 copies." State of the art packaging, full color gatefold sleeve perfectly reproduced, housed in a heavy plastic sleeve. "Orange Juice & Velvet Underwear" is the kind of poetry that will bring you to tears in the name of Canadian Love. Authentic avant-garde cultural replication doesn't get any better than this.

NIHILIST SPASM BAND: No Record LP (CORTI 26 LP). $26.50

"With printed insert circa 1968 (Arts Canada) A companion release to the Intersystems Number One LP; both originally on Allied records, and both of these groups representing extremes in art bands in Canada 1960's. A proto-dada assault, No Record heralds a do it yourself punk aesthetic with unrestrained humor and noise performed on largely homemade instruments. Electric charged and indispensable to anyone interested in Sonic Youth, the LAFMS, Japanese Noise, and anarchistic music in general. 220 Gram Vinyl. DMM Quality Pressing. Limited Edition 700 copies."

AIRWAY: Beyond The Pink Live 2CD/7" (CORTI 27). $32.00

Cortical Foundation releases #27, 28 & 29 are a series of deluxe packaged reissues of extremely rare and unreleased material from original LAFMS (Los Angeles Free Music Society). Each comes in a heavy duty full color gatefold 7" jacket, with inserts, etc., limited to 700 copies each — state of the art packaging quality and attention to detail. "Airway started in 1977 as a plot by Joe Potts to subliminally program audiences behind the cover of a chaotic wall of sound. To create the wash of ear-splitting noise, all of the instruments, Vetza's vocals, and the subliminal implants are mixed together and processed through a daisy-chain of flangers, phase-shifters, delays and distortions. Then the super-charged signal is blasted through guitar amps carefully placed to maximize the ricochet of sound from wall to wall. Airway kicks the notion of 'loud' up to a whole new level. First time available. New recording of Airway with the LAFMS alumni, including Jerry Bishop, Don Bolles, Dennis Duck, John Duncan, Pierre Bamboo Dupuy, Ace Farren Ford, Kevin Laffey, Mike Kelley, Don Lewis, Fredrik Nilsen, Rick Potts, Joe Potts, Tom Recchion, Melinda Ring, Captain Alan Schuck, Richard Snyder, Vetza, Liz Young. The release includes a repro Airway 7" from 1977 (with separate sleeve), CD of Airway Beyond The Pink Live, CD-Rom movie of Airway and Mother/Daughter, plus Airway documentation in PDF format. Plus inserts in deluxe 7" gatefold sleeve designed by Tom Recchion. Hand numbered edition of 700 copies."

LE FORTE FOUR: Boris The Spider/Priceless CD w/7" (CORTI 28). $32.00

"This edit of Le-Forte Four is wedged between their former incarnation as The Patients and their debut LP that was put together in the electronic music studio at Cal Arts in 1974. Edited by Rick Potts in 1973. All the references made in their debut Bikini Tennis Shoes LP, from Speed Racer to Zappa to Looneytoons to the Moog, is very clearly foretold in the 'Boris The Spider/Priceless' edit. Includes Extended Grunge and Arguments From The Patients reworking of The Who's 'Boris The Spider' that was later submitted to the Norwegian Electronic Music Festival and rejected. First time available. The release includes: a 7" repro of the very rare Slimey Adenoid and the Pablums 'The Residents' b/w Joe Potts 'Mother Daughter', CD of Le Forte Four Boris The Spider/Priceless. Hand numbered edition of 700 copies."

DOO-DOOETTES: Think Space CD w/7" (CORTI 29). $32.00

"Group improvisations intended to accompany a film on the viking space probe in 1975. Includes the original Doo-Dooettes lineup; Dennis Duck, Juan Gomez, Fredrik Nilsen, Tom Recchion, Harold Schroeder. The 7" includes a Doo-Dooette version of Faust's 'Picnic On A Frozen River' recorded in 1978. Packaged in 7" gatefold jacket. Limited edition. First time available. The release includes: The Doo-Dooettes performing Faust's 'Picnic On A Frozen River' 7", CD of Think Space. Hand numbered edition of 700 copies. Designed by Tom Recchion." "The unearthing of the LAFMS recordings is experimental rock history at its most historical and hysterical — a completely bizarre and further-out counterpart to the LA punk scene." — Thurston Moore, Sonic Youth.

NITSCH, HERMANN: 8th Sinfonie 2LP (CORTI 30). $65.00

Two LPS in 180 Gram Vinyl High Quality Pressing. "I have one Sinfonie" professed Hermann Nitsch identifying with Bruckner who made a similar claim of his symphonic output. For comparison, La Monte Young has a similar concept, for example, The Tortoise, His Dreams, and Journey's from 1964 — eternity, with each realization, the piece never ends; it's a continuation. Professionally recorded in 1990 in Vienna and realized by a professional orchestra, the 8th Sinfonie by Hermann Nitsch is a triumphantly charged live performance by Ensemble 20 Jahrhundert, the Hugo Distler Choir, a Blasorchester (Brass Band), and Noise Orchestra. The 8th Sinfonie was produced to commemorate the 62nd Birthday of the Viennese Actionist founder Hermann Nitsch. A limited Artist's edition of 20 in a foil embossed cloth folio with Hermann Nitsch signed original artwork, including 2-LPs and 2-CDs. This regular 2-LP edition is limited to 185 copies."

CORTICAL FOUNDATION/LIGHTBULB:

L.A.F.M.S. (LOS ANGELES FREE MUSIC SOCIETY): Unboxed CD (LBU 12 CD). $15.00

"Unboxed, a collection of dissected from the Lowest Form of Life 10CD box set (on RRR) (including tracks not available in the box set) is a splash introduction to a newcomer of the L.A.F.M.S. The Lowest Form of Music is an utterly devastating set of the works of the Los Angeles Free Music Society. This tremendously obscure collective — a loose assemblage of artists and with shared subversive musical interests (John Cage, The Mothers of Invention, Captain Beefheart, Sun Ra, The Residents, Derek Bailey, Harry Partch, to name a few) — began in the mid-seventies and nominally continues today. LAFMS members were compelled by a wide range of music and art: free jazz, structuralism, prototypical noise rock, art rock, performance art, prog rock, chance composition, instrument building, kitsch, autodestructive art, minimalism, tape collage, genre jumping. The Lowest Form of Music, packaged in a sturdy brown box with a foldout plastic accordion of discs, is a marvel of historiography. Unboxed is stunningly designed by L.A.F.M.S. co-founder Tom Recchion, whose package designs has resulted in being nominated for 4 Grammy's." Features: Doo-Dooettes, Le Forte Four, C.V. Massage, Smegma, Tom Recchion, Seldom Melodic Ensemble, Rick Potts, Foundation Boo, Fredrik Nilsen & Joe Potts. Includes 3 tracks not found on the box set and 2 tracks never before released.

CORWOOD INDUSTRIES:

JANDEK: Ready For The House CD (COR 0739). $7.00

There were plenty of significant events in 1978, ("You're The One That I Want" by John Travolta & Olivia Newton John was quite a popular track, for example), and one of the most low-key yet significant events was the debut LP release on the Corwood Industries label out of Houston, TX. Mysteriously enough it came out under the name "The Units", but it was obviously a singular vision and not a band. That individual would come to be more commonly known as Jandek, and a total of 28 albums have been issued on Corwood to date. In 1978 however, there was no telling what was to come. Ready For The House was a mostly acoustic guitar/vocal record, of ethereal, shambling post-blues form. It set the stage for one the most individualistic and fascinating bodies of work in contemporary music. The original LP was casually issued in a beautiful color sleeve, featuring a mundane but striking image of a living room chair & table (replicated with almost pop-art brilliance on this CD). No other information was ever offered. As it remains today. Ready For The House sounded like no other record, and it's doubtful that more than a handful of copies were sold at the time (promotional copies sent to out radio stations and reviewers were more voluminous). A second Jandek album wouldn't come out till 1981. By the mid-80s a wealth of documentation had occurred and the early Corwood albums became notoriously unavailable just as people were finally getting up the gumption to consider buying them. This record has been "in demand" for over a decade now and Corwood has finally caved in and reissued it proper. Find out what you've been missing for the last 25 years!

JANDEK: Six And Six CD (COR 0740). $7.00

The 2nd Corwood album, reissued on CD. Originally issued in 1981, this was the first actual album to be entitled to an artist named Jandek (the first Corwood album, 0739, was credited to the Units — although that practice has been abandoned in the CD domain, an epic travesty in the minds of a few hardliners). The cover features a crude black & white photo-booth style portrait of the man we've come to assume as the singer, depicted at his most youthful, ready to accompany the power & glory of the Jandekian muse. Upon it's release Six And Six defined Jandek as a significant album artist (no mere one-shot), featuring some of his most mesmerizing variations of trance-blues, especially the 10-minute centerpiece, "I Knew You Would Leave". Crucial, all round.

JANDEK: Later On CD (COR 0741). $7.00

The third Jandek album from 1981, reissued for the first time ever. "Another installment in the digitization of the Jandek back catalog, and for those who have never heard his earliest records because of their scarcity, you can now own another piece of the Corwood catalog without having to fend off those cutthroat members of the Jandek 'community'. This record, like Jandek's first (Ready for the House), is comprised of not just basically one chord throughout, but as far as I can tell he barely even touches the fret board of his guitar, using his instrument more for atmosphere and percussion than anything like a 'song'. The usual lyrical motifs of the blues are all over the place, including women, roads, death, and even janitors, which in my tweaked view of the universe hearkens back to Howlin' Wolf's paean to a custodian on his last record ca. 1972 ('Watergate Blues'), and much like the Loren Mazzacane Connors Unaccompanied Acoustic Guitar Improvisations Vols 1-9 1979-1980 box set reissue on Ecstatic Yod, this is proof that something that might be called the blues can be non-formulaic, just undiluted expression, and actually just a skeleton on which to drape a very whacked universe of your very own." — Billy Kieley

JANDEK: Chair Beside A Window CD (COR 0742). $7.00

Fourth Jandek album, originally issued in 1982 (the first of 3 albums to be released in this very prolific year). Notable for the track "Nancy Sings" which features the first appearance by an outside vocalist on a Jandek record — an absolutely riveting acoustic gospel-blues tinged track.

JANDEK: Living In A Moon So Blue CD (COR 0743). $7.00

Reissue of the 5th Jandek album, originally released in 1982. "The title for this one actually comes from a lyric from his track 'Can I See Your Clock' from his second LP Six And Six, and so one can already see The Artist creating an oeuvre filled with allusions, hints, motifs that really don't point at anything in particular. Herein lies one of Jandek's peculiar charms: his songs' resilience. We find him in a more 'aggressive' mode here — singing and playing here like he really 'means it'; therein lies another charm: we are never really sure what he means. All in all, Living In A Moon So Blue is one of his best, the presentation and approach seemingly from a different time altogether, how about some grayish Eastern Bloc country, ca. 1962?" — Billy Kiely

JANDEK: Staring at the Cellophane CD (COR 0744). $7.00

Reissue of the sixth Jandek album, originally issued in 1982.

JANDEK: Your Turn To Fall CD (COR 0745). $7.00

Reissue of the 7th Jandek album, originally issued on LP in 1983. According to Seth Tissue's Jandek discography, the track "John Plays Drums" features "the first appearance of an outside instrumentalist on a Jandek record." 16 short tracks.

JANDEK: The Rocks Crumble CD (COR 0746). $7.00

Reissue of the 8th Jandek album, originally issued in 1983. From Seth Tissue's data: "Jandek goes electric! Contains three eccentrically numbered (613, II, 501) versions of 'European Jewel' and two versions of the rock anthem 'Message to the Clerk' (refrain: "Take a message to the clerk/ Tell him not to work")."

JANDEK: Interstellar Discussion CD (COR 0747). $7.00

Reissue of the 9th Jandek album, originally released on LP in 1984.

JANDEK: Nine-Thirty CD (COR 0748). $7.00

Reissue of the 10th Jandek album, originally issued on LP in 1985. "A series of songs on side two forms a sort of travelogue of a trip Jandek took through the American Southeast." — Seth Tissue

JANDEK: Foreign Keys CD (COR 0749). $7.00

CD reissue of the 11th Jandek album, originally issued in 1985. More singing from "Nancy" and beautiful atmosphere permeates all over the place.

JANDEK: Telegraph Melts CD (COR 0750). $7.00

CD reissue of the 12th Jandek album, originally issued in 1986. From Seth Tissue's Jandek web site: "In 'You Painted Your Teeth', Jandek frenziedly harangues an unknown second person: 'Don't paint your teeth! You painted your teeth! DON'T PAINT YOUR TEETH!' The title 'Governor Rhodes' may refer to James A. Rhodes, the Ohio governor who ordered the National Guard into Kent State; the song itself is a sort of incantation with Jandek and 'Nancy' repeating after each other 'Celebrate our love, celebrate our magic, chant with love, chant always,' etc., in endless variations."

JANDEK: Follow Your Footsteps CD (COR 0751). $7.00

Reissue of the 13th Jandek album, originally issued by Corwood in 1986. "A song like 'For Today', w/its sparsely-plunked notes and melancholically assertive vocals, could almost be an out-take from one of Michael Hurley's classic albums on Raccoon... As the soul of individualism is being destroyed by the forces of evil, Jandek's flame is an especially bright beacon in the dark." — Byron Coley

JANDEK: Modern Dances CD (COR 0752). $7.00

Reissue of the 14th Jandek album, originally issued by Corwood in 1987. Features "Painted My Teeth" and 10 other classics.

JANDEK: Blue Corpse CD (COR 0753). $7.00

Reissue of the 15th Jandek album, originally issued by Corwood in 1987. "Jandek breaks up with Nancy and gets real depressed over it. All-acoustic except for the closer, 'One Minute'."

JANDEK: You Walk Alone CD (COR 0754). $7.00

Reissue of the 16th Jandek album, originally issued by Corwood in 1988. "A celebratory exorcism... His most hard-rockin', conventional record... The progression of the guitar playing is astounding... It recalls the savage beauty of Mr. Howling Wolf... A masterpiece."

JANDEK: On The Way CD (COR 0755). $7.00

17th album, originally issued in 1988. Features a darkly obscured color photograph of a drum kit barely illuminated at dusk through a window shade. I'm not sure it really translates on CD, but in original LP form it rated as one of the more staggeringly oblique jackets of all time. Working within blues-rock realms this one features "real" drums, bass, dual electric guitars, a possible guest vocalist on some tracks, etc. "I'll Sit Alone and Think A Lot About You" isn't far from Skip Spence-like detachment. "The most varied and easily-accessed Corwoodian brain-scrambler in a while... Of course, if you pay close attention you discover that the central core is as explosively cathartic as any of Jandek's previous recs." — Byron Coley

JANDEK: The Living End CD (COR 0756). $7.00

18th album, originally issued in 1989. Twelve shorter trackers, dual blues. Piercing b&w portrait photography graces the cover, "Nancy" sings "Crazy", which is the track you'll put on your next mix tape.

JANDEK: Somebody In The Snow CD (COR 0757). $7.00

19th album, originally issued in 1990. Brightly colored photograph of a well-gelled man is a favorite in many circles. Musically similar to the Living End sessions.

JANDEK: One Foot In The North CD (COR 0758). $7.00

20th album, originally issued in 1991. "Electric guitar (sometimes one, sometimes two) and vocals, no woman singer, no acoustic guitar, drums about a third of the time. 'Yellow Pages' is a kind of cousin to 'European Jewel'. 'Alehouse Blues' is a pretty straight electric blues. 'Upon the Grandeur' is built around a very beautiful winding figure on the guitar; there's also a second guitarist and someone thumping along throughout on a kettle drum (?). (At the end you can hear two male voices speaking to each other, off-mike: I can't pick out any words except when one of them says 'What?')."

JANDEK: Lost Cause CD (COR 0759). $7.00

Reissue of Jandek's 21st album, originally issued in 1992. "Side one has 7 non-datable tracks of depressed blues-destroying ramble... Early optimism on the opening tracks transmutes into full desolation by the closing hack-gulps at the end... 'The Electric End' is a nineteen-plus minute excursion into frothy extremes. Piercing electro-search guitar, revolutionary ultra-primitive drumming, lost-mind vocalism of real cracked creation and some sort of high end squeal (a penny whistle?) combine in an incredibly wasted fashion."

JANDEK: Twelfth Apostle CD (COR 0760). $7.00

Reissue of Jandek's 22nd album, originally issued in 1993. This had been the final release during Corwood's vinyl era and now with this release, their CD reissue program is at last complete. "The most 'pure' Jandek album since Blue Corpse — rock and/or blues overtones are basically absent. All-acoustic, one guitar only, no drums, three to four minute songs. Uniquely, a heavy echo effect is added to the guitar on several songs on side two. Mood is thorny, ambivalent, a little impersonal, serious but not depressed like Blue Corpse. This is the first album in Jandek's 'late period'; stylistically, it resembles the CD's that follow, not the LP's that came before." — Seth Tissue.

JANDEK: Graven Image CD (COR 0761). $7.00

Repressed. Graven Image was the first Jandek CD (originally released in 1994) and when it went out of print a couple years ago, a whole legion of loafers freaked out and jumped into an extended Ebay dikathon. But now it's back, thanks to Corwood's relentless pursuit of availability.

Jandek is an obscured Texan who has been privately releasing beautiful documents of fractured, internalized song de-con, since the very late 70s. There have been no tours, no interviews, no public appearances but the representation of individualistic creation has never been more perfectly rendered than via the Corwood discography. Utilizing guitars (one at a time, both acoustic or electric), voice and percussion, this is music from the ultimate void — vaguely related to genres like folk, blues and avant-garde, but in the end it can only be the sound of Jandek. And there's never been anything else quite like it. There were 22 LPs released by Corwood in the LP era (all reissued on CD now). With Graven Image Corwood moved into the CD era for the first time. Haunting, eternal genius, continued.

JANDEK: Glad to Get Away CD (COR 0762). $7.00

JANDEK: White Box Requiem CD (COR 0763). $7.00

3rd full length CD, after a long delay. Fourteen tracks of detuned perfection, acoustic guitar and vocal.

JANDEK: I Woke Up CD (COR 0764). $7.00

Fourth CD release.

JANDEK: New Town CD (COR 0765). $7.00

The fifth Jandek CD release, his 27 album overall, has arrived. It features our man in acoustic mode, harshly stroking his guitar in a manner that suggests not penny of investment has been proposed towards technical advancement. The live-room, hiss-relevant recording quality is still omnipresent and if you were feeling good about your contemporary fortune it's quite possibly that this album holds wordage of universal truth. Once again.

JANDEK: The Beginning CD (COR 0766). $7.00

8 track album, from 1999. The last track is a 16-minute solo piano — a Corwood first. It's called "The Beginning". Only one person knows where it leads to next.

JANDEK: Put My Dream On This Planet CD (COR 0767). $7.00

"Record number twenty-nine in the ever growing oeuvre of Jandek, and it's certainly a head-scratcher. No guitar, no drums, no piano, just him rambling on for a small eternity in a sort of song/speech mode on two lengthy and one very short tracks; all of it sounding kind of like it was recorded though a 15 watt Peavey Bandit amp with a broken reverb spring and a noise-gate pedal. Eerie (some might say annoying or god awful), almost bluesy hiss bathed vocals are separated by some rather lengthy periods of complete silence, covering some of the places and 'feelings' that populate his other records so vividly. Reading into it a bit (for in this place everything means something), we see that his last record ended with 'The Beginning' (!) — a 15+ vocal-less (!) piano 'meditation' which certainly clouded the waters when it dropped — which can now be viewed as an intro to this new acapella recording...you get the idea. So then, as concrete poetry it's not so hot, and as some kind of Out Blues piece, it's actually rather dire, but viewed in the microscope of the Jandekian Canon, it's pretty massive, and that's saying something too." — Billy Kiely

JANDEK: This Narrow Road CD (COR 0768). $7.00

The 30th Jandek album. As with Put My Dream On This Planet, this is an all-acapella affair, recording in same hi-hiss/gated-silence ratio. Opening with a 29-minute track, it follows through with 11 shorter vignettes. I have no idea what to say.

JANDEK: Worthless Recluse CD (COR 0769). $7.00

The 31st Jandek album, this is the third document in Jandek's new solo-vocal style, following Put My Dream On This Planet & This Narrow Road. The cover photo depicts our man wearing a sweater I wouldn't be got dead in, standing in front of a red barn. Your views of the farming industry might just change ever so much...

JANDEK: I Threw You Away CD (COR 0770). $7.00

A return to form album, the 32nd Jandek full length. Cover features controversial photo of a street in Europe(!), rumored to be from Cork City in Ireland, with the St. Mary's Pro-Cathedral church featured in the background. On this album, the Blues turn Black.

JANDEK: The Humility Of Pain CD (COR 0771). $7.00

The 33rd Jandek album. An acoustic guitar/vocal affair, with funny song titles like "I Can't Leave A Clue" & "Share My Life". As they say at Googlism.com, "jandek is jandek".

JANDEK: The Place CD (COR 0772). $7.00

2003 Jandek album, his 34th. A return to music (a form of music, anyway). Guitar & vocal.

JANDEK: The Gone Wait CD (COR 0773). $7.00

35th Jandek album. "The Gone Wait" was a track on 1993's The Twelvth Apostle album, now it's an album title. This has happened before, and will happen again. Five tracks, good titles: "I Went To Hell", "I See The Open Door", "I Was A King", "I Just Might Go Now", "I Found The Right Change". Cover photos features a continuation of the Cork window shopping theme that has developed through the 770 series of Corwood releases. This time: sale pricing. Musically, a new style: acoustic guitar and electric bass duets, with Jandek's vocals teetering into almost-Steve Martin territory.

JANDEK: Shadow Of Leaves CD (COR 0774). $7.00

36th Jandek album. Three long tracks, including the 30 minute title track. "Jandek plays bass again, claims to 'no longer exist,' sings about drinking 'mechanically produced beverages,' and announces plans to 'think about breathing.' Recently he took a walk. The music s e m s improvised but is satisfyingly varied and tracks the varying moods of the vocals closely. During the long piece, moments of abjection or desperation occur, but they pass; mostly the voice we hear is lucid. He's leveling with us. When he sings 'I won't drive my car for the rest of the day,' it's a fact. The most harrowing moment comes during the last track, a love song that turns threatening: 'please take my bait... I want to eat you up... you'll never get away, you won't want to... you don't have a life, you live in me.' The music plunges down to the bottom of the bass's range, but by the last line, the point of view has pulled back again to encompass 'the grand scheme of things.'" — Seth Tisue.

COUNTER BALANCE (UK):

SURGEON: Counterbalance Collection CD (CBX 01 CD). $15.00

"A totally hot CD release from the Surgeon from Birmingham. Anthony Child has been a brilliant electronic producer for years now and his counterbalance label has knocked every body for six. Already up to it's seventh release, Counterbalance is set up worldwide as being a force to be reckoned with. This mix CD collection features tracks from the first five releases all produced by Surgeon and masterfully mixed to keep everyone happy."

COUNTERFLOW RECORDINGS:

FAT JON AS MAURICE GALACTICA: Humanoid Erotica CD (CF 006 CD). $14.00

"As the main producer and 1/4th of the acclaimed Five DeeZ crew, Fat Jon the Ample Soul Physician has provided listeners with some of the freshest Hip-Hop since the post-golden age of 1994. Ready to help open up the next chapter of change in the scene, Fat Jon transforms into Maurice Galactica and brings us the predominantly instrumental and covertly sexual Humanoid Erotica album. Maurice Galactica, the self-made and quality assured casanova, has constructed one of those time-tested, love-making albums that you put next to your Moon Safari and Dummy CD's. While similar in nature but different in texture, the vibe is a bit more edgy than the aforementioned classics, but in order to grasp, you must enter your own Humanoid Erotica. One part Isaac Hayes, one part Pete Rock — the mix of laid back grooves, loungey house, and straight up Hip-Hop tracks proves to be what some have described as 'the type of album that will make most hip hop producers jealous.'"

PANDA ONE: A's To Q's Fat Jon Rmx blw Swallow It Down 12" (CF 011). $5.50

"Panda One comes out with a new hit 12" 'A's to Q's Rmx' produced by Fat Jon giving the song a new angle to it, a Fat Jon soul full angle.... The A-side also has a bonus beat by Panda One 'Panda meets Sly '99' In this song Panda takes a Sly Stone song and totally freaks it with a hot beat... The B-side is another self produced track called 'Swallow it Down' giving the record a more hardcore feel with its rugged SP 1200 sounding beat and a flow that won't stop getting played."

FIVE DEEZ: Koolmotor CD (CF 014 CD). $14.50

"Like a constantly unsatisfied jazz musician, the continuous motion of Five DeeZ is defined by their latest excursion entitled Kool Motor. Coming straight off the release of the 'Faceless' and 'Pretty Pussy Kitty Kat' singles, along with the Humanoid Erotica album and various side projects, Fat Jon, Pase, Kyle David, & Sonic deliver their official introduction into the musical realm of the Five DeeZ crew. The culmination of their various influences and personal experiences, Kool Motor, along with every Five DeeZ release, offers their ever-eclectic blending of classic, yet forward-thinking Hip-Hop, instrumental beats, Fat Jon's vision of what House should sound like, and whatever else they feel like doing."

ROM: Into The Clouds 12" (CF 015 EP). $6.50

"On their introductory 12" for Counterflow Recordings, entitled Into The Clouds, ROM experiment with their own sound, pulling together three songs and a Secret Frequency Crew remix that fill with each other while simultaneously trying to fit into their own space. Two standout tracks, 'Into The Clouds' and 'Too Late' almost visually show the changin nature of their music, making listeners sift through what is live and what is synthetic. While 'Jumpin' is the middle ground between programmed and organic, the Secret Frequency Crew remix sets a parallel vibe, similar yet dynamically different. From massive to minimal, from wonderful to wandering, ROM's music is the vine in which, if let alone to grow, may just cover it all."

FIVE DEEZ: Koolmotor Instrumentals CD (CF 016 CD). $14.50

"Instrumentals from the highly anticipated Five DeeZ LP Koolmotor. CD version also includes instrumental tracks from older Five DeeZ 12" Singles, which have never been on CD ever. Like a constantly unsatisfied jazz musician, the continuous motion of Five DeeZ is defined by their latest excursion entitled Koolmotor. Coming straight off the release of the 'Faceless' and 'Pretty Pussy Kitty Kat' singles, along with Fat Jon's Humanoid Erotica album and various side projects, Fat Jon, Pase, Kyle David, & Sonic deliver their official introduction into the musical realm of the Five DeeZ crew. The culmination of their various influences and personal experiences, Koolmotor, along with every Five DeeZ release, offers their ever-eclectic blending of classic, yet forward-thinking Hip-Hop, instrumental beats, Fat Jon's vision of what House should sound like, and whatever else they feel like doing."

MERCURY PROGRAM, THE: a data learn the language 2LP (CF 032). $15.00

"Hailing from Gainesville, Florida and having existed for nearly 5 years, this band has been steadily growing and nurturing their sound through years of records and constant touring. 2002 marks the release of their third full length and it is the culmination of years of experimentation and musical growth. A Data Learn the Language is an 8-song, 50 minute ride down the path of a band coming into their own. Bassist Sander Travisano and drummer Dave Lebleu lock in the rhythm while vibraphone/keyboardist Whitney Travisano adds splashes of sonic color over Tom Reno's looped and cascading guitars. This record marks TMP's first venture into the world of electronics as drums can be heard coupled with electronic manipulations to create layered, intricate head-bobbing beats. Written as an album, it is clear that the listener is intended to experience A Data Learn the Language straight through, as there is a distinct progression in both mood and intensity."

SEVEN STAR: My Mother & Father Were Astronauts Sampler 12" (CF 040EP). $6.00

"This vinyl sampler consist of Avatar (remixed by Square 4), Irate MC (remixed by Induce), Alice (remixed by Manuvers), and An Errors end (new joint produced by Manuvers). On the B-side, we have provided the instrumentals for all four tracks. Seven Star is that type of MC who will undeniably leave a mark, for he is a true passionate MC who lyrics connect with everyone in listening range."

SQUARE4 PRESENTS: Bob James Boogie 12" (CF 044 EP). $6.50

"Bob James Boogie" has the potential to become the party joint of the year. Be warned that this song causes immediate ass shaking syndrome. A party favorite featuring amazing chemistry from the MC duo known as Fantab. Two cats from Dirty-Dade county, Fantab could easily lead the next resurgence of the native-tongue sound, the southern way. A southern twang all in the mix with a party jam, equals goodtime fun like them ol' hip hop days. On the other hand 'Pops Riff' and 'Live Without You' touch more on a personal basis with topics we all experience in our daily lives. The beats are very reminiscent of that Midnight Marauders vibe. With production handled by Square4 (A Touch of Jazz) and a remix by Locsmif (Cee-Lo), which gives the song a whole new dynamic, you can't go wrong."

COUNTERPOINT (UK):

VA: Afrika Underground CD (CPTR 015 CD). $16.00

"Afrika Underground is the first album from Counterpoint Records to begin to explore the rich heritage of South Africa's underground jazz scene during 1970's-80's. Compiled by label head Jake Behnan, it's a tribute to the brilliant musicians who played a pivotal role in spreading the message of independence for South Africa. Inspired by the Black Nationalism movement that was spreading across urban America in the 60's & 70's, jazz musicians in the townships of South Africa were making music that promoted a Pan-African musical identity which was seen as a threat to the government's apartheid policy. Out of this incredibly oppressive time period in South Africa's history comes a beautiful document of human expression and freedom." Artists include: Movement in the City, Dick Khoza, Zacks Nkosi, Jabula, George Lee, Mike Makhalemele, Pacific Express, Harari, Lionel Pillay.

VA: Afrika Underground 2LP (CPTR 015 LP). $21.00

Double LP version.

VA: Disco Juice Vol. 2 (Soul, Disco, & Rap from Harlems P&P Records) CD (CPTR 016 CD). $17.00

"After the huge success of Disco Juice: The Funky Disco Sound of Harlem's P & P Records, which won praise from a host of press, radio and club DJ's worldwide (including the likes of Harvey, Norman Jay, and Kenny Dope), Counterpoint have once again enlisted infamous 12" vinyl dealer and DJ, Nick the Record to unearth more lost masterpieces. Whereas the first volume had its feet firmly set in the disco and jazz-funk era, Volume 2 takes a broader look at the label's diverse take on black music, such as Florence Miller's soul gem, 'The Groove I'm In', and Jesse Henderson's awesome soul groover, 'I Did It Again', to the early days of Rap, when P & P was competing with Sugarhill and Enjoy for a slice of the pie, with party joints from the likes of Willie Wood's 'Woody's Rap' and Margo's Kool Out Crew's ultra rare 'Death Rap'. The genius of P & P's in-house producer Patrick Adams (who has been hailed the Phil Spector of Disco) shows his Midas touch once again on Cloud One's sublime jazzy 2-step track, 'Dust To Dust' and the Margo Williams 'The Guardian Angel is Watching Over Us', featuring his trademark moog sounds in full effect. Disco Juice 2 is a resolutely funky sound that has lost none of its urgency, attitude, and the classic virtues of the best black music."

VA: Disco Juice Vol. 2 (Soul, Disco, & Rap from Harlems P&P Records) 2LP (CPTR 016 LP). $21.00

Double LP version.

COUP DE GRACE:

AUTOMATO: Automato CD (CGC 5002CD). $14.50

Produced by DFA. "Moving beyond the hip-hop standard of turntables and samples, Automato create, play and record all songs with traditional instrumentation — drums, guitar, bass and keyboards. The sound is further distinguished by antique Moogs, vintage electronics and processors. Automato's musical recipe is simple; start with organic Hip-Hop, add a bit of 70s funk & soul and throw in a solid amount of early 90's indie rock."

AUTOMATO: Automato 2LP (CGC 5002LP). $18.00

Double LP version, gatefold sleeve.

AUTOMATO: The Single 12" (CGC 5003EP). $5.50

"Moving well beyond the hip-hop standard of turntables and samples, Automato create, play & record all songs with traditional instrumentation... drums, guitar, bass and keyboards. The sound is further distinguished by Moogs, vintage electronics and processors. Automato's musical recipe is simple; combine a solid amount of indie rock, 70's funk & soul and organic Hip-Hop."

CRAMPS (ITALY):

STRATOS/LUCIO FABBRI, DEMETRIO: Recitarcantadno CD (CRS 035). $15.00

1994 CD reissue of this live duo performance from 9/21/76, featuring Area's vocalist Demetrio Stratos (voice) and Lucio Fabbri (violin). Avant-garde vocals, string blippage and outward atmosphere all over the place.

LACY, STEVE: Straws CD (CRS 066). $15.00

Reissue of this Lacy solo album from 1977. Limited stock.

CRANK AUTOMOTIVE:

CRANK #4: MAG w/7" (CRANK 4). $5.00

7" x 7" mag, featuring interviews with Alan Licht and Bruce Russell. 7" includes a side each from Licht and Handful of Dust.

CRANK #5: MAG w/7" (CRANK 5). $5.00

Now in 8.5 x 11 full size format. Interviews with Stefan Jaworzyn/Ascension, BLABF & Richard Youngs. Single features Ascension/BLABF.

CRAWLING WIND RECORDS:

POTTER, JAMES: 13 Drones CD (CWR 01). $13.00

Very interesting debut self-release from this SF-based electronics composer, of deep sound penetration. "13 Drones is intended as a gallery of art and sound. The CD is a collection of austere and focused compositions that explore many variations of electronic drone music. The music was created on the Serge Modular Music System, ARP 2600, and other classic analogue synthesizers. Unlike many drone-oriented releases, the pieces are very moderate in length, allowing for more variety, and a more enjoyable listening experience for persons uncomfortable with 60 minute washes of sound. Each piece has it's own character."

CRAZY WISDOM (JAPAN):

DISKAHOLICS ANONYMOUS TRIO: CD (UCCM 1030). $26.00

Debut release by this trio of Mats Gustafsson (tubax, tenor sax, French flageolet), Jim O'Rourke (synth, computer) & Thurston Moore (guitar). Features three long improvisational tracks: "Three Collectors of Bird Note", "Totally Gump (Gump Completist)", & "Yellow Label Silence". Cover art by Coco Hayley Gordon Moore.

CRC (SPAIN):

CASCON, KIM: Gravity Handler CD (CRC 001CD). $17.00

"Gravity Handler was created from many different field recordings made in Madrid on October 3rd 2003. Recordings were made on fire escapes, water fountains, subways, elevators, escalators, and of a particularly noisy refrigerator in the studio where the CD was mixed. These recordings were subjected to processing and layering in Pro Tools with the intent of creating a continuum of recognizability: from sounds heard in our everyday surroundings to those heard only in our imagination. The intent of this CD is to convey a sonic impression of Madrid rather than presenting a documentation of the sonic environments encountered. The title of the CD is borrowed from a work by Marcel Duchamp, who was famous for taking the ordinary and transforming it into the extraordinary."

CREATIVEMAN DISC (JAPAN):

SHINCHO 2M: Speed By Disneey CD (CMDD 23). $18.00

1996 release. Shincho 2M was: Yoshikazu Otani: guitar, vocal, etc. & Jiro Yoshizawa: drums, cacio, etc. With guests

Osamu Gunma: voice, Kensuke Kobayashi: sample+edit, Fuzz Hajime: talk,

DOWSER: Telecom CD (CMDD 59). $18.00

"Dowser — the project of Hiroyuki Nagashima — active musician in the fields of movies and multimedia. The music of Dowser is beyond description, it evokes the visual image like the soundtrack of a movie, as Nagashima works. The music frequently uses the EMS and Buchla synthesizer and is sometimes aggressive and sometimes lyrical." Guests include members of the Boredoms: Yamamoto (guitar) and Yoshimi (voice).

ARROW TOUR: CD (CMDD 64). $18.00

Strange, slow-blooming underground Japanese electronica; sampling, electronics, primitive guitar, crackling lounge atmospherics, jazz breaks — all aimed at breaking through the exosphere. "The first release of the 2nd series of Unknownmix label. Arrow Tour is the solo unit of Jiro Yoshizawa. All the tunes are composed by sampling and programming except few tunes which Yoshizawa played guitar on it. This electronics music brings us a nostalgia for the place where we have never been or memories which we don't remember. This album has its own stream so the listeners could feel like watching some kind of road movie. Arrow Tour has joined to the compilation album Fish Smell Like Cat released from Howie B (known as producer of Bjork or U2)'s label called Pussy Cat."

DOT: Echo Sounder CD (CMDD 66). $18.00

"There is a movement of digital-rock going on all over the world. On the other hand, there is a movement called strange-techno or mondo-techno. I would say that Dot is the answer from Japan to this 2 movements. The sound of Dot which created with simple equipment has rhythm of early electro sound with some strange sound on it. This sound which sometimes called 'drunken-techno', is hard-boiled and bizarre, comical and tricky. There was no wonder if it was released from Patrick Puslinger's label Cheap, Dr. Rockit's Clear or Aphex Twin's Rephlex." Totally great techno weirdness as described above, with an irresistible Japanese flavor. The "drunken-techno" movement starts here!

CREME ECLIPSE (NETHERLANDS):*OMNI INCENTIVE: The Omni Incentive EP 12" (CRECLIP 001). $9.00

"The Creme organization deviates from the path with moody, raw and twisted filmesque electro, heavily under the influence of early Goblin and John Carpenter. There is no way to know how is in control but be sure the shadow government is among you. Dark driving electro from the deeper darker sides of Holland."

KASSEN: Coaster EP 12" (CRECLIP 002). $9.00

"It's night and you're alone on the Scheveningen beach. Looming tower blocks are guarding the shoreline. Two coasters are communicating with foghorns on the horizon of the black sea in a shadowy play of light and dark while a lone watchtower is signaling retreat in the distance. A perverse cross between a John Carpenter soundtrack and early Basic Channel techno: brooding minimal soundscapes with hints of mania and depression, carried by clicky comatose beats."

BETA EVERS: Confusion EP 12" (CRECLIP 003). $9.00

"Femme fatale Beta Evers stalks the streets of Augsburg in her Porsche 928 looking for easy meat, accompanied by her own minimal electronic film-noir soundtrack. Be careful, it might suck you in and make you a helpless victim of this siren with no remorse! Uncompromising darkness like Front 242 and Liaisons Dangereux."

WHITE, JAMES: Ellis Island 12" (CRECLIP 004). $11.00

"A new Creme Eclipse by James White (No we don't know either who that is...). Simple dark electro tracks for the freaks."

CREME RECORDS (NETHERLANDS):*BANGKOK IMPACT: Traveller CD (CREME 001CD). $16.00

"The amazing debut album of Bangkok Impact is ready to meet the world! Already marked in the NME as one of the best dance albums to be released for 2003 and naming Bangkok Impact (together with Legowelt) as the producers to watch in the year 2003. Tasteful electro disco from art territories via Clone and Creme brought into the world. 13 tracks amazing danceable tracks flirting with the '80s with some heavy disco and electro influences but not in the obvious retro way at all. A full length album that will bring the groove back to the people."

VA: You Bet We've Got Something Personal Against You 2CD (CREME 002 CD). $19.00

"You had it coming. Creme celebrates its second anniversary with a stunning budget double CD compilation featuring exclusive tracks by established artists such as Legowelt and Bangkok Impact, as well up & comers Orgue Electronique, James White and Luke Eargoggle. The CD is topped off with out of print and already sought after classics by the likes of Lolita Strip and French guys It & My Computer. CD 2 is a special bonus mix, showcasing some mind-blowing hits from The Hague's Bunker Records, Sweden's Stilleben Records and Down Low Records (Stinkworx' own label from the US) in the process. You know it's that sound you cannot afford to miss." Artists: The Omni Incentive, Legowelt, Kassen, Beta Evers, Porn Darsteller, It & My Computer, Lolita Strip, Keyo Laboratories, Luke Eargoggle, Pussycat, Orgue Electronique, Raheem Hershel, Polarius, James White, Bangkok Impact, Red White Ros/, Spoiler Jugend, Catnip, Achilles, Macho Cat Garage, Mr Clavio, Plastic Sleeves, Rude 66.

VA: Are We Too Late For the Trend? LP (CREME 003 LP). $11.00

"A nice 6 track album by Mr. Clavio, Bangkok impact, Beta Evers, Monkeychop, Lolita Strip and others. Expect their usual hit or miss sound. Beta Evers did produce the hit on this album... all the girls can sing along and wave their hands in the air to original smack dance tracks. Effective electro disco for all the so called 'freaks' out there who don't want to miss the trend... or are they too late already? Seems that the cheesy disco sound is taking over the clubs worldwide... bad taste never stopped ruling."

BANGKOK IMPACT: Junge Dame Remixes 12" (CREME 03R). $9.00

"The best selling Creme release gets five rubberburnin reworks. 5 great remixes of Bangkok Impacts discobomb that are set to leave skidmarks on dancefloors across the globe. Includes a haunting 9 minute Legowelt remix and edits by Bangkok Impact, Kassen, Orgue Electronique and James White. Top selling electro-disco-tech."

POLARIUS: Ride The Mace 12" (CREME 05). $9.00

"Minimal lo-fi Chicago tracks — old school dance mania style with a The Hague disco twist."

PHYSICS, DAN: Chasing Sunday 12" (CREME 06). $9.00

"Two great rocking and bouncing Chicago tracks with a twist.... Could have been on Gigolo too.... Like all Creme releases perfect dancefloor tracks."

MONKEYCHOP: White Loafers Boulevards EP 12" (CREME 07). $9.00

"Three scorching disco struts ideal for prancing around the boulevard on a sunny day, purring at the little kittens in the miniskirts. Dutch disco smack for the real consumers."

HERSHEL, RAHEEM: Gotta Have the Pokey 12" (CREME 11). $10.00

"Drop your jaw as this Moroccan thug-boy from the The Hague ghetto slams his way through 8 (!) deep and rough jacktrax. Pure unadulterated Chi-town swang, like havin sex in an unexpected place — no frills, but just oozin' the funk! Raheem rocks in thru old school warehouse style."

PORN DARSTELLER: Pardon des Offences 12" (CREME 12). $9.00

"Tender and grotesque electro-pop from this french romantic, who is the only true heir of Liberate. Including a deep cover of 'Nights in White Satin'. Dramatic electronica and effective electro for the floor all on one release..."

LEGOWELT: Under the Panda Moon 12" (CREME 13). $11.00

"Legowelt comes with a EP full of dramatic disco-ish tracks. Raw crying analogue synthesizers with rolling 808 beats. 5 tracks ranging from the dramatic soundscore '80s type to more Italian disco dancefloor themes."

ORGUE ELECTRONIQUE: Texas, Brooklyn, Heaven 12" (CREME 14). $11.00

"Orgue Electronique...?.. isn't that that guys who teamed up with Legowelt for their first releases full of electro and disco-ish tracks on Bunker before anyone else outside of Holland even had the balls to take an old Italo disco record out of its sleeve? Yes that him... and he comes with his best release ever! Great funky Chicago house tracks. (Think Terry Hunter, Cajual records, Relief and Farley Jackmaster Funk to name a few). A big change for the better of Orgue electronique! Genuine jacking house tracks with irresistible basslines..."

CRI:*BRYANT, ALAN: Space Guitars CD (CRI 699). $10.00

Reduced price on these last copies... "Revised and expanded from the original CRI LP... the seven composition/improvisations played on Bryant's original string instruments are like visits to the outer space of contemporary music. Indeed, in his notes to the disc, Bryant explains that his music is the realization in sound of his own unique theories of physics and the universe. In Rome in the 1960s, Bryant was one of the original founders (with Alvin Curran and Frederic Rzewski) of the widely-influential collective Musica Elettronica Viva (MEV). He continues the great American tradition of iconoclastic composer/philosophers." From Fanfare: "The sounds are true sci-fi, ranging from strange, vibrato-y, metallic shimmers to highly pointillistic and percussive textures. Altered tunings are the rule, and at times the ghost of Harry Partch (amplified) peers around the corner. The pieces are often slowly evolving, the sounds sensuous and otherworldly, the textures thick and often propulsive. The overall effect is hypnotic."

CRIPPLED DICK HOT WAX (GERMANY):*SCHIRMANN, PETER: Fluchtweg St. Pauli (Soundtrack) CD (CDHW 016 CD). $14.00

"It is 1971 in Hamburg. St. Pauli with its Reeperbahn, the famous red light district, ladies in black leather boots, men with thin moustaches and golden necklaces, the unpredictable wild city jungle, this is the background for Wolfgang Staudtes film Fluchtweg St. Pauli (aka Hot traces of St. Pauli). The story — borrowed from the bible — is about two completely different brothers (the good and the evil...). In the main role the legendary Horst Frank at his best, Christiane Krüger, Heinz Reincke and Klaus Schwarzkopf. Music by Peter Schirmann and the Rias Dance Orchestra. Fine little gangster grooves, pure crime-rhythm! Fluchtweg St. Pauli contains none of that mush of illustrative dissonances that some in the film industry believe generates excitement. Instead, wherever possible, the music has a function that is determined by the plot. In the opening scene, for example, whilst the introductory credits are being superimposed, the theme music comes from the radio in the taxi that the ill-tempered Heinz Reincke is driving while Heidi Stroh is getting drunkenly undressed in the back. And for the strip-tease scene in the dive, the Milljö, there is the sound of a Hammond-organ blues being played in a deliberately strident fashion, as can be heard even today from many a solo entertainer. Three further tracks have been added to the original Fluchtweg St. Pauli Soundtrack. 'Bleib sauber lieblich' which has been composed by Rolf Schirmann for a Rolf Thiele film and 2 remixes from the Crippled Groove Orchestra and the Crate Soul Brothers (Keyser & Shuriken from Hungary)."

FRANCO, JESS: The Manacoe Experience CD (CDHW 037 CD). $17.00

"A dazzling lesson in cinematic B-film jazz. Cult director Jess Franco (Vampyros Lesbos) teamed up with some of the most prominent jazz musicians to come up with this musical tribute to his most popular work. Brass, fast, tough jazz inspired by the music to films such as The Bare Breasted Countess, Venus In Furs, Tender Flesh or Downtown! Franco delivers in music what his films became world famous for: pure delirium." This is a recently recorded session (not original soundtrack material), with Franco playing keyboards and conducting the B-Band, which features Clark Terry (tp), Carlos Benavent (guitar), Malik Jakub (saxophones), etc.

VA: Iron Curtain Revisited 10" (CDHW 042). $8.00

"Together with the album Iron Curtain Revisited on CD/2LP — remixes and new interpretations of Between Or Beyond The Iron Curtain — a limited 10" with more unreleased tracks comes along; Crate Soul Brothers aka Keyser & Shuriken from Hungary, are already known from the Compost 'Glücklich' compilation. As Eastern Europe specialists they are taking a close look at supple, jazzy beats. Intega (Sonar Kollektiv) is a project from Berlin. Going back to the early 80-s where electronica meets bleeps, they offer a new interpretation of 'Quartett' by Katzenbeier. Mimok, radio play guru from Berlin, chose 'Funk! dla Franki' where his humorous style points out that Northern melancholy doesn't have any influence on our exile Swede. Balduin, our young man from Switzerland, rather nature stoner than alcoholic, all the same had to put Adam Macowicz 'Drinking Song' into a candy-rhythm-crate and to walk along the Swiss Alps. Finally the Original Jazz Rockers (Mojo Club Hamburg) take a funny walk together with the Novi Singers at the Hamburg redlight district."

THOMAS, PETER: 100% Cotton: The Complete Jerry Cotton 2CD (CDHW 045 CD). $22.00

"Double CD set of Peter Thomas's sound-accompaniment to the eight 'Jerry Cotton' (i.e. the German 'James Bond') movies from 1965-1968. High quality crime-jazz overload. 'In the 1960's Peter Thomas worked with people like Lothar Meid (from Amon Düül fame) or soul organist Ingrid Hoffman. Just recently when whole easy listening revival phenomenon took off, he did some recordings with Combustible Edison.' Tracks such as 'Blood & Donuts' or 'Love is Swinging in the Air' from flicks such as 1966's Der Mörderclub von Brooklyn — frankly, this is some pretty amazing orchestrated chaos which seals the blast-doors shut on the world of dubious 'exotic' Italian/Spanish erotic/horror blowout-jams... 60 tracks." — Hrvatski.

VA: Iron Curtain Revisited CD (CDHW 049 CD). $14.50

"Iron Curtain Revisited is a tribute to the remarkable history of East European Jazz. Several remixers have got their inspiration from the recent Crippled Dick album Between Or Beyond The Iron Curtain — we remember psychedelic extra class raregrooves and unpronounceable artist names like Karel Velebny, Zbigniew Namysłowsky or the legendary Gustav Brom or the Novi Singers. A new generation lined up to whisk the old legacy through the sound mixer. Some of the tracks are almost unrecognizable interpretations, some are very close to the original. Fluffy, charming downbeat tracks à la Balduin or Les Gammas, soft and relaxed Drum & Bass by The Phoneheads and Kabuki, new creative Berlin school with Volker Meitz, Nootropica or Kasar (all Sonar Kollektiv), Nu Jazz bearing fusion elements by Jakim Lone from Paris (Versatil Records) and Higher Than God. Though the project was approached in very individual ways the result is very harmonious and nevertheless exciting — jazzaletronic 2001."

SORT OF QUARTET, THE: Victim A La Mode LP (CDHW 055 LP). $14.00
LP version.

VA: Between Or Beyond The Black Forest 2LP (CDHW 056 LP). $22.00

Double LP version, packaged in full color gatefold. Two bonus tracks not found on the CD, by Jiggs Whigham and Wolfgang Dauner Quintet ("Oh Baby I Don't Love You Anymore" from The Oimels).

O.S.T.: Beat At Cinecitta Vol.3 LP (CDHW 058 LP). $18.00

"The ultimate in raunchy film music from the wild world of Italian exploitation cinema. It's the final volume, the last installment of Cinecitta-Mania. Beat at... comes hotter than ever. This time it's not the easy way of Italian amore, but the dirty, red side of passion the pasta way. Say hello to sneaking kitties, pumping boys and starlove revival. Get that one, now! Feel the heat of the beat! Erotica, Exotica, Psychotica!" Tracklisting: Berto Pisano: "Tema di Oscar", Piero Piccioni: "Playgirl Sequence", Roberto Predaggio: "Eva La Venere Selvaggia", "Jungle Shake", Armando Trovajoli: "Quand'ero un Bebe", Piero Piccioni: "Colpo", Rovente Piero Piccioni: "Ti Ho Sposato Per Allegria", Armadno Trovajoli: "Bada Caterina (instrumental)", Piero Piccioni: "Inghilterra Nuda", Piero Piccioni/Ennio Morricone: "Amore Amore Amore", Sordi/McDonald/Piccioni: "Richmond Bridge", Robinson/Piccioni: "Once and Again", Amurri/Trovajoli: "Il Profeta", McDonald/Trovajoli/Pes: "Let's find out", Fowlkes/Trovajoli/Pes: "Crazy"

OST: Signor Rossi LP (CDHW 060). $18.00
Limited picture disc LP version.

FUNKI PORCINI: Zombie 12" (CDHW 063). $9.00

"Funk! strikes back with two new tracks inspired by 60's Zombie movies. From jungle fever to blood mania he presents an outstanding mixture of electronica and soundtrack music. An artist for the British label Ninja Tune, he has always been in love with soundtracks. Having composed several when he lived in Italy, he got in touch with Crippled Dick! for their Beat at Cinecitta series. Early this year they sent Funki a video tape of Zombie Flesheaters, THE zombie classic, and asked him to work on a draft for a new soundtrack to it. 'The Chase' reveals as a trip to the jungle hunted by zombies: having time to take a breath, passing various landscapes, etc. But in the end there's no chance to escape. 'Zombie Parade' is the marching song for the undead themselves."

BALDUIN: Creative Cookery Set CD (CDHW 072 CD). $14.50

"Creative Cookery can be defined as follows: If you have a good Cook taking tasty and healthy ingredients to make a real delicious meal, you will feel sensation exploding in your mouth of all the flavours and carefully added spices. You will be relaxed and pleased after eating it. Balduin considers his music as culinary art. Putting together some of the finest ingredients from Jazz to self generated lounge sounds and well kept secret instruments, his results are definitely sensations to the ears of spoilt music-gourmets. Or as Balduin puts it: 'The concept of Creative Cookery is that it's much more relaxing than food, cause you're never fed up with it. That's what Creative Cookery is for. Bon appétit!' Balduin's influences reach from musical boxes, Sibelius, Herbolzheimer, Dave Pike Set, Ennio Morricone, Pretty Things, Pink Floyd, David Bowie, The Orb ... over to Wagon Christ, as well as to all the new-groove specialists like Fila Brazillia and Flinger. Cooking it all up to a new delicacy. You'll meet deluxe Beat-brewery, full flavour soundmixing, and spicey sample composing uniquely made up to a 12 course-menu which will feed you for months. Balduin is a guy with relaxed charm who lived in the far-out areas of the alps of Switzerland. While his first creative moves have been misunderstood there, these idyllic landscapes have obviously left their mark on his carefree and fresh approach to the adventures of modern music. There seems to be no limit to the imagination of Balduin creating loops and beats which indeed deserve to be spread around the world."

VA: Between Or Beyond The Iron Curtain 2LP (CDHW 075 LP). $17.00

"Lost grooves from East-Europe? Between or Beyond... is back, this time concentrating on the little known but incredibly unique and diverse Jazz of eastern Europe. The time is the 1960ies to the late 70ies in the midst of the Cold War: while the Communists tried to suppress Jazz from the beginning as 'western ideologie', musicians in Poland, the GDR and Czechoslovakia claimed the universal language of Jazz to be their medium of artistic freedom. From the small jazzcellars dwelled a movement, that soon became the pride and sign of a nation; Poland in special looks back on a huge tradition in Jazz, followed close behind by Czechoslovakia, that can be traced back to the early twenties. From this tradition grew such talents as Zbigniew Namysłowsky, Adam Makowicz, Laco Deczi, Karel Velebny, Gustav Brom, or mindblowing groups and projects like Laboratorium, Impuls, Prag Big Band and the Big Band Katowice from the famed Higher School of Music in Katowice. The very special quality of east european Jazz seems to be, that it embraces all musical styles with a passion: it mingles slavic influences with bits and pieces from the rest of the world; Latin percussion meets heavy funkgrooves flavoured with electronics, bewitching vocals and high energy instrumentalism. With the compilation at hand we proudly present an overview of exceptional grooves and we did not select old Dixieland thats for granted. This recording comes in CD and double-vinyl format, carefully illustrated booklet with all coverartworks and all the backgroundinformations. Vinyl comes in deluxe gatefoldcover."

VA: Les Chansons Des Perverts 2LP (CDHW 076 LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

SLOPE/PAUL KUHN/DIFUSORA: Gateway To Crime 12" (CDHW 077 EP). $8.00

"We continue our Revisited series: Part 3 is dedicated to a living legend, the German crooner, entertainer and jazz piano player Paul Kuhn. Although he has become well known for commercial pop hits in the German hit parade ('In Hawaii they have no beer, that's why I stay here...') and for some TV shows, his first and biggest love was jazz music. With all his film and TV industry contacts it seems natural that he finally even worked out some Library titles, which have been slumbering in the archives for decades — here we have digged one of them — 'Gateway to crime', from 1974. This title is definitely exceptional and might irritate some of his fans — since it does not sound at all like the typical German radio station big band stuff, but rather evokes New Yorks Haarlem streets atmosphere. Not only that this track never has been officially published, it furthermore bears an immense source of inspiration. For this reason we confidently put the title into the trustworthy hands of two producer teams to overpass it into a 'fit for the club' context; The first craftsmen team is Slope — Hans Schaaf and Daniel Paul. These very pleasant guys from Berlin prove a deep understanding of the original version. At the same time their version bears their own and very individual mark. They work since 1994 as a part of Sonar Kollektiv's Mermaid Label and are especially well known for really tricky killer breaks... The second team is Difusora — HP Eckhard aka DJ Agape (initiator of respect.brasil nights in Berlin) and Marc Frank (singer, drummer and producer for Les Gammas). They get to the heart of the original, turning it surprisingly into a fantastically straight Brasil dancefloor tune."

VA: Between Or Beyond The Northern Lights 2LP (CDHW 078 LP). $19.00
Double LP version.

MEITZ/MISSUS BEASTLY: Geisha - Revisited 1 (Volker Meitz Remix) 12" (CDHW 079 EP). $8.00

"Our search for original rare grooves and danceable jazz for our Revisited 12" series once again has led to a fascinating new 'old' gem. This time we present 'Geisha' from the legendary Missus Beastly, which was formed in 1968 as one of the first German krautjazz bands. In their most creative times these 'Space Guerillas' of the jazz rock scene played the music of the after-Mahavishnu-era. Music that stands out of categories: a symbiosis of jazz, rock, funk, fusion. 'Geisha' is a beautiful instrumental rare fusion hymn taken from the cult and hard to get album Missus Beastly (1974). Driven by an impressively original, solid Drum+Bass rhythm structure, with a gentle breeze of Asia influenced moody flutes, all turning into a freak out scenario. In its days 'Geisha' has surely turned many flatshares into opium smoking dens. Meitz (Sonarkollektiv), supplies the dancefloor update! He is definitely one of the most gifted musicians in Berlin who has proven his talent on Iron Curtain Revisited as well as on many international remix projects (Peace Orchestra, Art Konik, Chari Chari / Japan, Phonique)."

KROG, KARIN: Raindrops, Raindrops CD (CDHW 081 CD). $14.50

"Karin Krog is the most prolific Norwegian jazz singer. Since the 60s she is travelling the world and has performed in all the well known jazz venues. In the recording studio and on stage she has worked with all the big names like Don Ellis, Archie Shepp, Red Mitchell, Jan Garbarek, Dexter Gordon and John Surman. Her releases on the renowned jazz labels MPS and Verve made an internationally famous. The new album is a collection of rare gems. They highlight Karin Krog's beautiful expressive voice. She has always experimented with her voice and liked to include electronic instruments in jazz arrangements. On the album international jazz stars like Steve Kuhn, Jan Garbarek, Stu Martin, Steve Swallow, Philip Catherine or Niels Henning Ørsted Pedersen have guest appearances."

HERBERT/KARIN KROG: Meaning Of Love 12" (CDHW 082 EP). $8.00

"Operating under different aliases like Wishmountain, Radioboy, Dr. Rockit or Herbert, Matthew Herbert has become one of the most sought-after techno producers. He has collaborated with artists such as Super Furry Animals, DJ Food, Moloko, Björk, Mouse on Mars and many more. He has also become well-known and much in demand for his considerable remixing talents. Herbert has been taking Jazz piano, flute and clarinet lessons since he was a child, which also might explain the fact that his output is often moving towards Jazz. Karin Krog, the Scandinavian Lady of extremely cool vocal Jazz, is known for her unique, beautiful voice and her affinity for choosing interesting, including electronic, instrumentals and complex grooves. She creates spherical, floating soundscapes with her songs, performing them with a very distinctive voice modulation and in a really bewitching way. It came to a collaboration for obvious and natural reasons. 'The Meaning of Love' — originally from her current Crippled release Raindrops, Raindrops — delicately wrapped into exquisite grooves by Herbert, while left in all the dainty transparency and elegant nonchalance given by Ms Krog."

VA: Jeff Recordings - Rough Beats From Peru & Trinidad 72-76 2LP (CDHW 084 LP). $19.00

Double LP version.

VA: Give Peas A Chance 2LP (CDHW 085 LP). $19.00

Double LP version; CD version forthcoming. "Whatever the reason may be — the general disposition to mass instead of class, all the fast-moving and short-remaining tendencies — it seems that in times like this there is not much music, worth playing and listening to in 10, 20 years, or even 2 months. From this fact arises the aspiration to save all those inconspicuous but notable gems into the digital age — while they are all slumbering, undiscovered in the archives of the so called library labels, which specialise in soundtracks for TV and film. We should give a chance to those small but quality rich established pea plants. Too many a professional musician from the 60s and 70s, who has dedicated most of his time to noble, but unprofitable band projects, we owe quite a lot of first class productions. All of them recorded by outstanding, but little lesser known artists. Not many of these recordings have been published and if at all, not many copies. Most of the productions disappeared in the archives of the publishers. Reason enough for Crippled Dick Hot Wax! to pick out of a multitude of recordings an exquisite selection. Along with the much loved but never published German political programme trailers like 'Spiegel TV', we listen to finest crime film trailers like 'Polizeiurf 110'. You'll find yourself surprised by rare groove killers like 'Gateway to crime' from Paul Kuhn or 'Eat Art' from Wirbitzky-Zimmermann. At the end we experience complete relaxation thanks to the theme of 'Titel, Thesen, Temperamente'."

FISCHER, KLAUS-GOTTHARD: Jazzin' The Black Forest Book (CDHW BOOK). $68.00

Beautifully produced 322 page hardcover book documenting the history of the MPS label. Printed on 12" x 12" stock, in an edition of 1000 copies (no longer available with the bonus CD that came with initial copies, sorry; slightly cheaper than before as a result). "More than 700 jazz records were released by Saba/MPS. In addition to the most important German artists such as Albert Mangelsdorff, Joachim Kühn, Volker Kriegel, Wolfgang Dauner and others, many of the international greats made their way to the Black Forest, too: Oscar Peterson, Duke Ellington, Jean Luc Ponty, Monty Alexander, Baden Powell, Dizzy Gillespie — to name a few. The success story of one of Europe's pioneering jazz labels and its founder and producer Hans Georg Brunner-Schwer is here retracted over 300 pages by author Dr. Klaus-Gottard Fischer. From the label's beginnings in the early 1960s up to its sale to Polygram in 1983. Includes all 700 LP sleeves in full color, a full index, and over 150 photos plus poster reproductions. Together with an extensive discography."

CROSSTALK:

VA: Theatermusik LP (CROSS 01). $12.50

"Long delayed collection of incidental music for film and theater realized by some of Berlin's brightest young stars. This album is comprised of works by Bernd Jesträm, Robert Lippok, Ronald Lippok and Bo Kondren. The music contained within is very reminiscent of early To Rococo Rot with a pinch of the Tarwater melodic sensibility and is surprisingly cohesive for a collection of works composed and recorded by different people, in different circumstances, for different purposes. The jacket is a frosted velum with a color image of the dome of the Berlin planetarium. The record is clear. The edition is strictly limited to 1000." Delicate packing that is not necessarily long for this world...

KYBORG & SARAH MARRS: Back LP (CROSS 02). $9.00

"This release is pressed on clear vinyl and packaged in a clear plastic 'picture disc' type sleeve w/color labels resembling the original CD artwork. Strictly LTD to 500. Kyborg (Andreas Stobernak and Dirk Mitlehrer) belong with out a doubt to the protagonists of the Berlin electronic scene. Back is Kyborg's newest work. Do we still have to call it minimal techno? On top they asked Sarah Marrs (maybe known for her collaborative recordings with Tarwater) to lend her voice to 4 of the 6 tracks. At first she may sound more normal than how she actually reaches your ears. Miss Marrs' voice is full of weird deepness: sometimes she sighs like GPO, sometimes hollering like Alan Vega with a voice that must have been heavily mistreated with sandpaper over the last few decades."

AGF, KYBORG, SARAH MARRS, PEABODY & SHERMAN: Tschikago 2.001 LP (CROSS 03). $11.00

"LTD 1000 copies pressed on ultra-clear vinyl in clear sleeve. The long-delayed 3rd volume in Crosstalk's 'clear music' series features an unusual collaboration flowing from the 2nd Tschikago Berlin invitational. Tschikago is an ongoing series curated by former Chicago resident Sarah Marrs with the assistance of Crosstalk owner Phillip Hertz to introduce new Berliner artists and musicians to Chicago in a short residency. Tschikago 1 involved gallery installations + DJ and live performances by Ms Marrs, Brad Hwang, Tarwater & To Rococo Rot. Tschikago 2.001 was a series of music and video performances involving agf (Antye from Laub) with fellow Berliners Kyborg & Sarah Marrs. The Tschikago 2.001 recordings have been built from material created by the artists during their stay in Tschikago. The sound files derived from these recordings were edited and modified by the participants individually and the finished tracks assembled to create this document."

CROSSTOWN REBELS (UK):

LAZARUS, DAMIAN: Crosstown Rebels Present Rebel Futurism CD (CRM 001CD). $16.00

"Since its inception earlier this year rising out of the ashes of the groundbreaking, genre-bending City Rockers label, Damian Lazarus's Crosstown Rebels imprint has proved itself to be one of THE labels shaping the new electronic dance underground. Rebel Futurism is not only the debut mix album for Damian Lazarus and Crosstown Rebels, it is one of the first compilations to really bring together the essence of this new movement of dance music. Damian compiled both of the hugely successful and genre-defining Futurism compilations for City Rockers, and with residencies and gigs in Berlin, Barcelona, Paris, Milan, Tokyo and, of course, at his own Slash and Burn parties in London, he has hands-on appreciation of what it takes to move the crowd. Rebel Futurism fuses house, techno, breakbeat, and electro with DIY/electropunk attitude into a forward-thinking, party-rocking dance mix." Artists: DJ Maxxi, Kiki & Silversurfer featuring Captain Comatosé, Le Dust Sucker, Joakim, DJ T, Tiga, Silversurfer, Ave Clarke featuring Chicks on Speed, D, Bushwacka!, Martin Solveig, Russ Gabriel, Jahcoozi, Digital Tongues, Helicopter Jackson, Phonique, Sasche Funke, Robbie Hardkiss, Avril.

CROUTON:

TIETCHENS, ASMUS: FT+ CD (CROU 019 CD). $13.50

"From 2001 — 2002, Crouton released a limited and now out of print series of triple 3" CD sets titled Folktales. Each disc featured a solo performance, and hosted the work of C. Rosenau, Hal Rammel, John Kannenberg, Jon Mueller, Bhob Rainey, Achim Wollscheid, Kevin Shea, Adam Sonderberg, and Dan Warburton. The idea behind the series was to present an 'aural story' from each artist — a statement made outside of their work in other groups and collaborations. Now in 2003, this series of stories are presented again, however, under the guise of a translator. With this release, legendary German sound artist Asmus Tietchens presents a total reworking of the entire Folktales series. Though these sound statements were originally made by others, the retelling is completely Tietchens' own. Since 1965 Tietchens has been at the forefront of experimental studio sound work, and this release is proof that he continues to develop his work further still. FT+ is a continually surprising listen, very subtle and at moments extremely quiet, with strange colors and anti-rhythms occasionally peeking through. Tietchens once stated that he set out to explore the 'white dots on the landscape of sound.' Here he continues to find them, and present them in his own unique way."

IRR.APP.(EXT.): Dust Pincher Appliances CD (CROU 021 CD). $13.50

"Dust Pincher Appliances was originally released in 1998 in a shorter, alternate form, via a now impossible to find 10" vinyl on Something Weird Records, Iceland. This CD edition on Crouton reveals different versions of the original recordings, as well as three tracks not present on the 10" edition. Some might say that anything graphic artist, sound artist, and writer Matt Waldron produces is peculiar, and his work as irr. app. (ext.) is no exception. Each minute of these startlingly Dadaist compositions reveals unexpected surprises. The instrumentation, who knows? A bit of everything really, except the standard ones. However, the style is not a mess, but rather an obsessively scrutinized audio story, aural painting, or sound experience, which is quite devastating to take in. Waldron began this recording project in 1991. Some will recognize his name as the one co-responsible for the recent Nurse With Wound CD, Chance Meeting of a Defective Tape Machine and Migrane on the United Dairies label. He has also worked with the likes of Stillupstepya and Coil."

KAHN AND JON MUELLER, JASON: Papercuts CD (CROU 022CD). $11.00

"Over the years, both Jason Kahn and Jon Mueller have explored different means of percussion, finding texture and rhythm in not only acoustic drums, but in their relation to electronic devices. This pursuit also included work with other, non-drum related material. Papercuts is a critical document of this pursuit. Recorded over the course of a year, it was created entirely with various grades of handmade and commercial paper. With an extensive and delicate approach to mixing and electronic processing, this work retains the source of the recording, the grit and feel of dried pulp, and the texture of its interaction with movement and malleability. Here rhythms appear naturally, without intentional effort, to create a new discovery in the world of percussion."

MUELLER/BHOB RAINEY/JIM SCHOENECKER, JON: CD (CROU 023CD). $12.00

"Recorded in a 110 degree room after a nearly sleepless 17 hour drive. Yet, the material on this CD has nothing to do with that. Here, Bhob Rainey perfects the form of transforming the saxophone into a metal tube, Jon Mueller plays snare drums with a home stereo system, and Jim Schoenecker sits across the room and stares at you, creepily. Meanwhile, Boston was melting under the relentless sadism of the sun. For the musicians, this recording involved discovery, survival, and Dustin Hoffman. Its organization was the direct result of caffeine and unemployment. For the listener, it might very well be the impossible made possible. For in this recording lies a sense of urgent contact; a message understood, yet surely incredible to decipher. Happy faces appear on food items. Inanimate objects come actively to life."

CHARTIER, RICHARD: Archival 1991 CD (CROU 024 CD). $15.00

"Richard Chartier is a designer, an artist, and perhaps, a neat freak. Throughout his recent work, Chartier has continued to present sound as design — clean, simple design, implying colors and direct lines and shapes; a spotless, modern room; a series of colored screens. His release on Crouton predates this taste, when things were a bit more complex, a bit more intense. And as his recent work sucks the listener into white space, Archival1991 takes you straight into a black hole, in the most comfortable way imaginable. This is a different kind of clean simplicity. The work is beautiful, stunning, and most of all, complexly powerful. The recording is based on two compositions from 1991, using analog and digital synthesizers. In 2003, these original pieces were used as source material for this new work, resulting in an extremely intriguing revisit, and aesthetically true to much of his work from the same period."

DIE ENTTAUSCHUNG: Die Enttauschung LP (CROU 025LP). $14.00

"Die Enttäuschung is modern jazz at its peak. The quartet consists of highly skilled, internationally known players Axel Dörner, trumpet; Rudi Mahall, bass clarinet; Jan Roder, bass; and the always imaginative Uli Jenneßen on drums. Similar to their analysis of Monk, with their own work, the group find a comfortable balance between the smooth and the rough. An expected downbeat turns into an instigation, and frenzy somehow becomes a groove. But, this isn't a head-scratching guessing game or open-fire intensity. It's just a good time."

CRYDAMOURE (FRANCE):

VA: Crydamoure Presents Waves CD (CRYDA 001CD). $12.00

"The first mix compilation from Daft Punk's label, Crydamoure. Founded in 1997 by Guy Manuel de Homen Christo (one half of Daft Punk) and Eric Chedeville (aka Rico), Crydamoure brings you a selection of their singles specially mixed by disco-loop meisters, Le Knight Club. It is the first time any of these highly sought-after tracks have appeared CD. Previously, these tracks have only been available on twelve-inch vinyl and have never been licensed. Waves includes tracks from Le Knight Club, Paul Johnson, DJ Sneak, and Buffalo Bunch." [limited stock, reduced price; this album is now licensed to Astralwerks in the US]

CRYPT:

JACKSON, REVEREND CHARLIE: God's Got It! The Legendary Booker Singles LP (CRYPT 094LP). $13.50

"180 gram vinyl release of the stunning Reverend Charlie Jackson retrospective released in 2003 on CD by the CaseQuarter label. After the better part of twenty-five years, the legendary early 1970s New Orleans Booker label and mid 1970s Jackson label recordings of the Baton Rouge gospel guitarist have finally been collected on the beloved and downtrodden LP format. Ever since Reverend Jackson's Booker singles were discovered by gospel collectors in the 1970s and began to trickle out to a wider audience, his primal, funky guitar riffs have astounded listeners. Raw and unadorned and at other times spare and lyrical, these recordings are infused with sanctified energy and singing. Two special features are one very rare song from his own Jackson label which features the wonderful vocals of Laura 'Tiny B' Davis, as well as the recently discovered (in March 2003!) Booker single 'The Goodness Of God', that had seemingly been forever lost. God's Got It comprises 13 songs plus photos, color label scans, and extensive liner notes covering Reverend Jackson's life and (still active!) career."

CTI (UK):

CHRIS & COSEY: C&C Luchtbl CD (CTI 0503). $18.00

"This new C&C release is noteworthy for a number of reasons: It includes fantastic new versions of 13 classic C&C live tracks recorded live at the CCLuchtbl in Antwerp, in November 2002. It is an enhanced CD that includes 17 minutes of video clips. It is presented in a fabulous, glossy fold out DigiPak sleeve. It will be the last previously unreleased 'Chris & Cosey' album. Shocking as it may seem, after this new CD album there will be no further new releases by Chris Carter and Cosey F. Tutti as... Chris & Cosey. From September 2003 Chris & Cosey will be performing and releasing all new material as Carter Tutti."

CHRIS & COSEY: Union CD (CTI 0999). $14.00

"This live CD was recorded at the Union Chapel in London as part of the Electronic Festival of Drifting on May 30th 1999, and was remastered for CD by Chris Carter." Cosey Fanni-Tutti (vocals, cornet, guitar) and Chris Carter (rhythms, keys, mixing). Recorded in a Chapel, this a cavernous, ambient affair, very much in what you would assume to be the spirit of the festival. If you haven't paid all that much attention to C&C's career in the last 12 years so, you might find yourself pleasantly surprised."

CHRIS & COSEY: The Essential Chris & Cosey 2CD (CTI 1101). $15.00

"This budget priced double CD compilation album features 31 classic Chris & Cosey tracks, a playing time of 140 minutes and a fold out digi-sleeve with sleeve notes and discography. The Essential Chris & Cosey Collection was compiled with the help of Chris & Cosey fans world wide and includes deleted and hard to find gems such as 12" singles 'Obsession' and 'Synaesthesia' plus favourites such as 'Dancing On Your Grave', 'Dr. John', 'Love Cuts' & 'Driving Blind'. The Essential Chris & Cosey Collection includes tracks from all their albums and covers almost 20 years of Chris & Cosey recordings, from Rough Trade and Play It Again Sam to Netwerk and Wax Trax. This album is the ideal primer for anyone who isn't already familiar with Chris & Cosey's extensive body of work or for those who just want to reacquaint themselves with their unique and often groundbreaking slant on electronica."

CARTER, CHRIS: Disobedient CD (CTI 98CC2). $19.00

"First solo offering from the one time Throbbing Gristle cohort Chris Carter for us here at World Serpent. Carter teams up with Bruce Gilbert (Wire) and Paul Smith from Blast First and the Disobey Club, aided and abetted by his partner Cosey Fanni Tutti. Carter has for a number of years been on the forefront of electronic music and I think he proves it with this fine example of his genius." Live recordings from Disobey, 10/95.

CARTER, CHRIS: Small Moon CD (CTI 99CC3). $19.00

"New studio album by ex-Throbbing Gristle/Chris & Cosey member. Chris's first studio release since his acclaimed 1985 Mondo Beat album — a departure from his previous style and features dense, high-energy rhythms and mixes that have won acclaim from DJ's on both sides of the Atlantic. Be prepared for some foot stomping, thigh slapping good time music with that characteristic Carter edge. Physically reactive listening."

CHRIS & COSEY: Musik Fantastique! CD (CTI CC0403). $20.00

"We are pleased to announce the re-release of Chris & Cosey's Musik Fantastique! album. Originally released in 1992 this much sought after but long deleted album has been digitally re-mastered and now includes a bonus track: 'Rise' (12" Mix) and new cover artwork. Musik Fantastique! features over 58 minutes of classic Chris & Cosey songs from 1992, probably their most dynamic and melodic period during their illustrious career. Musik Fantastique! is limited to 1000 copies."

VA: Core CD (CTI CC0603). $20.00

"After years of building a near mythical status we can announce the limited CD re-release of Core. Core features some of the finest collaborations you'll hear between: Chris & Cosey, Robert Wyatt, Coil, Boyd Rice, Monte Cazazza, John Duncan, Joe Potts and Lustmord. This legendary 1988 compilation has been digitally re-mastered and features enhanced cover artwork and extensive sleeve notes by the artists. Core is limited to 1000 copies."

CHRIS & COSEY: Exotica & Take Five 2CD (CTI CC1198). $30.00

"CTI & World Serpent are proud to re-release two classic albums from the 80s, Exotica and Take Five. This is no cynical exercise in 1980's bandwagon jumping either as this release is a double album presented in a 6-panel full colour digisleeve with comprehensive sleeve notes and a new cover design. Both albums have been unavailable for some time but now you can hear them as Chris & Cosey intended, in their full frequency, stereophonic glory, as both albums have been painstakingly digitally remastered (but not remixed) by Chris Cutler from the original master tapes specifically for this release. They showcase what many consider to be some of Chris & Cosey's finest works from that period. The seminal 'Exotica' track was adopted as an electronic anthem, most notably on the Goa scene. 'October Love Song' is probably one of the great underground electro-pop gems of the early 80s and has been referred to as influential by bands like Depeche Mode. In addition to all this the Take Five CD features two additional tracks, a previously unreleased song from the period and a new 150bpm megamix."

CTI: Electronic Ambient Remixes One CD (CTI EAR1). $18.00

"First in an ongoing series of remixes by Chris Carter and Cosey Fanni Tutti. Ear One is based on Chris Carter's analog sound experiments at the studios of Throbbing Gristle and Industrial Records in London in the 1970s/80s, and was originally released by IR as The Space Between. This new version is a radical ambient remix and reworking of those early audio works, and features heavily manipulated and transmogrified drifting ambient textures which still retain the core essence of the original tracks. This new album shows yet another side to the many faceted musical persona of Chris Carter."

TUTTI, COSEY FANNI: Electronic Ambient Remixes Two CD (CTI EAR2). $18.00

"Released simultaneously with its sister work Time To Tell, Electronic Ambient Remixes Two is a 54 minute drifting ambient remix of Time To Tell. A synthesis of sounds, a distillation, fragmentation and displacement of sound bites of significant events from Cosey's personal life, art actions, musical compositions, and personal statements. PS 1 Gallery in New York originally commissioned Electronic Ambient Remixes Two for their recent Volume exhibition."

CARTER, CHRIS: Electronic Ambient Remixes Three CD (CTI EAR3). $17.00

"Ear Three is the second in a series of CD's based upon Chris Carter's analogue sound experiments at the studios of Throbbing Gristle & Industrial Records in London in the 1970's. Chris Carter (one of the founding fathers of the industrial movement and member of Throbbing Gristle) has taken a dozen of his original TG rhythms and transmuted them into three-dimensional polyrhythmic loops, weird gothic textures and spooky ethereal ambiances. Tap your fingers and toes to the shifting, pulsating beats of 'Discipline', sway to the eccentric undulations of 'Heathen Earth' and be entranced by the unnerving hypnotic motion of 'Hamburger Lady'. Take a break from the mundane and stale world of pop and rock and roll and immerse yourselves in the otherworldly electronic ambient topography of the 21st century that is Ear Three. Depending on the mood of the listener Ear Three has been mixed to be enjoyed at both unusually loud or soft playback levels."

TUTTI, COSEY FANNI: E.A.R. 4 - Selflessness CD (CTI EAR4). $20.00

"This is the fourth in the E.A.R. series and is a new solo ambient sound work by Cosey Fanni Tutti. Originally broadcast live by Resonance F.M. (London) E.A.R. 4 forms part of Cosey's 'Selflessness' covert art action, which took place in Disneyland in 2002. The music of E.A.R. 4 aims to evoke the sensations experienced during the 'Selflessness' performance. E.A.R. 4 contains more than 78 minutes of an extraordinary range of ambient music, textures and emotions. The cover includes sleeve notes and photos of the Disneyland 'action'. E.A.R. 4 'Selflessness' is limited to 1000 copies."

TUTTI, COSEY FANNI: Time To Tell CD (CTI TTT2000). $18.00

"This edition has been repackaged, remastered and updated for the year 2000 edition. The release comes with a 40-page booklet including colour photographs of Cosey and revised texts, plus a previously unreleased track. No more trolling through E-Bay for expensive and hard to find copies of the original for the many that missed out first time round." Originally released on cassette only in 1983, this upgraded CD version adds remastered sound and a previously unavailable track from 1983.

CUBIC FABRIC (JAPAN):

Z.E.L.L.E.: rjct:nw CD (CUBICF 002CD). $15.00

Follow up disc to their debut on the U.S. Line label. "The new album rjct:nw goes further into a world of impalpable digital zen dimension, paraphrasing Samuel Beckett: a world of 'vibrating contours... balances... breaking and reforming as we look at them... breathing colours, panting... swarming stillness... a world without weight, without strength, without shadow'. Onkyo Music at its nth degree."

VA: OperetteTapes: Opera Remixes CD (CUBICF 003CD). $15.00

Remixes of Swedish electro-acoustic trio Tape's first album Opera (Hapna). Remixers: Josh Abrams (Town&Country/Thrill Jockey, Lucky Kitchen, Delmark); Oren Ambarchi (Touch) Anderreg (Apestaartje); David Grubbs Fonica (Tomlab); Hazard (Touch); Minamo (Apestaartje, Quakebasket, 360 records, cubic music); Pita (Mego); Rechord (Andreas Tillander, Mokira, Lowfour/Mille Plateaux); Stephan Mathieu.

CUBIC MUSIC (JAPAN):

NAKAMURA, TOSHIMARU: Vehicle CD (CUBIC 008CD). $15.00

2002 release. This is the Third solo release by Nakamura. Limited availability.

WONDERLAND FALLING YESTERDAY: Enchanted Landscape Escape CD (CUBIC 010CD). $15.00

"The mystery figure behind Wonderland Falling Yesterday produces beautiful, dreamy electro-pop that is sweetly sentimental with a dash of grit (smartly applied hiss, skipped notes, blurts & echoes that never seem gratuitous). The 73 minutes of music starts off with the familiar stutters of better known Japanese songsmiths like Nobukazu Takemura but quickly evolves into a totally distinct cinematic sound world. The great underbelly of field recordings cushion classical melodies, simple piano motifs and arpeggiated layers of strings & guitars and peaks with fully developed, enchanting orchestration. It hasn't felt this good to be real in ages."

SAMURAI JAZZ: meme? CD (CUBIC 011CD). $15.00

"Yuta Uozumi and Tadashi Yonago are two guys with a trombone & a sampler. On meme? they emerge with a cut up stoned jazz that combines live horns, battle breaks and jittery samples into a kickass escapade that does nothing but justice to their chosen moniker."

GNU: Suro CD (CUBIC 013CD). $15.00

"Unlike a lot of the Cubic roster to date, GNU willfully abandon the glitch electronica, scutelett rhythmic autism and dreamscapes on the label for a tight ass progfest combining squiggly reeds, fat bass & two drummers with massive clarity built around reedsman Masahiko Okura. GNU produce a groovy rock sound super reminiscent of the whole Rock In Opposition thing (Henry Cow, Art Bears). But, if you don't know what that was, maybe it's a good idea to scratch your head and rifle up the memories of those fantastic high school 'battle of the bands' events minus the inevitable love of Rush that emanated from the auditoriums."

CULTURE PRESS (FRANCE):

HOPPER, HUGH: Monster Band CD (CP 3012782). $16.00

A label focusing on reissues of older Hugh Hopper releases [these titles have been deleted as of 5/98, and we only have a small remaining stock]. Monster Band is made up of 2 sections: the first five tracks are solo Hopper recordings from 1973 — beautifully soaring, fuzzed out progressive instrumentals (guitar, bass, electronics, etc.). The second half consists of material recorded live in France in 1974 with the band of Elton Dean (saxello), Mike Travis (d), J-P Carolfi (keyboards) & J-P Weiller (b).

CUNEIFORM:

UNIVERS ZERO: Heatwave CD (CUNE 009). $13.00

The complete back catalog of this legendary Belgium dark-progressive/new music group. Heatwave was the group's first album to be released by Cuneiform in the US, but was their 6th (and final) album overall, recorded in 1986. "The band's sound here is fuller and grander than ever before, as the record contains the most musicians ever to have recorded with UZ."

UNIVERS ZERO: Uzed CD (CUNE 015). $13.00

Fifth album from 1984.

UNIVERS ZERO: 1313 CD (CUNE 020). $13.00

"Univers Zero was formed in 1974 by percussionist Daniel Denis and guitarist Roger Trigaux, the 2 initial composers of the group. Their first 2 releases (1313 from 1977 and Heresie from 1979) were unqualified critical and popular successes, and the band frequently toured throughout Europe. During this time, the group joined the 'Rock In Opposition' (RIO) movement, a cooperative organization working with a select group of Europe's finest new-music bands (Henry Cow, Art Zoyd, Etron Fou, etc.). Univers Zero's distinctive sound is a combination of their unique instrumentation (piano and keyboards, cello, clarinets and sax, bass and drums) blended with dark gothic imagery, electronics and intensely strong, classically influenced compositions". "UZ are part of a tradition that includes Bartok's string quartets, Barre Phillips' solo bass work and Glenn Branca's gtr-heroics — music that's so overwhelmingly crafted that you can almost forget it's actually as warm as blood and twice as tasty." —B. Coley.

UNIVERS ZERO: Heresie CD (CUNE 029). $13.00

2nd album from 1979.

HELDON: Allez Teia CD (CUNE 037). $13.00

Heldon were one of the quintessential European progressive groups of the 70s. Led by Richard Pinhas (and assorted backing guests), they released 7 albums from 1974 to 1979, all reissued in the early 90s by Cuneiform (inferior French editions can be found on Spalax). Pinhas went on to record a series of solo albums under his own name, also to be found on Cuneiform. Allez Teia was the second Heldon album from 1975 — it features Pinhas's trademark instrumental sound: waves of distorted post-Frippian guitars, ARP synthesizer, VCS3, tapes and mellotron into monstrous swelling of Spinrad/Dick-influenced SF mania. Searing instrumental space music, bridging electronics and psychedelic guitar excess in unique and legendary fashion.

DOCTOR NERVE: Armed Observation/Out To Bomb Fresh Kings CD (CUNE 038). $13.00

Repressed. "These are the first two albums (1984, '87), complete on one CD, that cemented Nerve's reputation as one of New York City's most fast 'n' furious bands. The first album is somewhat more in the vein of the early 80's punk/jazz scene (Massacre, Material) than later work, and with embryonic versions of the lineup, but it still smokes. Produced by Fred Frith, Armed Observation was their second, and the definitive Nerve sound is beginning to be cemented into place. Includes some of the very earliest recordings of trumpet star Dave Douglas. Hot NYC downtown fusion."

UNIVERS ZERO: Ceux du Dehors CD (CUNE 039). $13.00

Their third album, originally from 1981. "In 1980, Roger Trigaux left to form his own group, Present. Univers Zero, meanwhile, underwent further changes, augmenting the acoustic sound of their first two releases with a new, more electric instrumentation."

MUJICIAN: The Journey CD (CUNE 042). $13.00

"Back in print after 3 years out of print. Since Mujician's initial formation in 1988 as an improvising collective, the band has been showcased at numerous festivals across Europe and Canada. The Journey, the first release by this English improvising supergroup, was recorded live by the BBC at the Bath Festival in England. It consists of a single, 57 minute improvisation — an ideal example of the musicianship & interplay for which the band is known. Mujician consists of four members, each with a well-established reputation in the European jazz & improvised music community: Paul Dunnall (reeds), Keith Tippett (piano), Paul Rogers (bass), Tony Levin (drums).

HELDON: Interface CD (CUNE 043). $13.00

"This is a reissue of the sixth album by this quintessential progressive French electronic rock band. Originally released on Cobra in 1977, this features the classic Heldon line-up of Richard Pinhas-guitar and electronics, Patric Gauthier-Moog synthesizer and electronics and François Auger-drums and electronics. This was one of Heldon's heaviest albums, featuring their most intense and relentless electronic fuillades. This includes two bonus live tracks and is a great place to start your Heldon collection."

HELDON: Electronique Guerilla/It's Always Rock 'n' Roll CD (CUNE 051/52). $25.00

Double CD reissue combining the first and third Heldon albums. Electronique Guerilla was the Heldon debut, recorded in 1974, introducing Richard's primitive guitar/synthesizer interface of screaming guitar leads over No Pussyfooting-styled loopology. The third album, It's Always..., features some of their more spacious, extended tracks, with guests Gilbert Artman & Patrick Gauthier.

HELDON: Stand By CD (CUNE 053). $13.00

"This is a reissue of the seventh and final album by this quintessential progressive French electronic rock band. Originally released on Egg in 1979, this features the classic Heldon line-up of Richard Pinhas-guitar and electronics, Patric Gauthier-Moog synthesizer and electronics, Didier Batard-bass, François Auger-drums and guests, including Klaus Blasquiz of Magma. This was one of Heldon's heaviest rock albums."

HELDON: Agneta Nilsson CD (CUNE 060). $13.00

The fourth Heldon album, recorded in 1975/76. "...from slow-building mellotron/electronic drones to searing synth/guitar sonic attacks."

HELDON: Un Reve Sans Consequence Speciale CD (CUNE 065). $13.00

Heldon's 5th album, recorded in 1976. Featuring Auger (drums), Gauthier (Mini Moog, Moog bass), Didier Batard (bass), plus Janick Top on one track, this is a crushingly dense synthesis of loud sounds. Magma-styled intensity meeting the "apex of the punk electronic sound" — a masterpiece.

BIRDSONGS OF THE MESOZOIC: Dancing On A/A CD (CUNE 069). $13.00

"Back in print after being unavailable for the last three years. Birdsongs Of The Mesozoics' innovative instrumental music, fusing rock, classical, minimalism, punk, and free-form sound, has earned the band wide recognition and audience appeal. Two keyboardists (one on grand piano and one on synthesizer), guitar, saxophone and electronic/computer percussion produce sound 'as meditative as it is physical, as rooted in classical structure and jazz improvisation as it is in rock 'n' roll.'"

VOLAPÜK: Le Feu du Tigre CD (CUNE 074). $13.00

New French group featuring Guigou Chenevier (Etron Fou Leloublan), who were their country's representatives in the original Rock In Opposition movement. A trio, with a unique setting of: Michel Mandel (bass clarinet), Guillaume Saurel (cello) and Chenevier (drums, vocals). Lots of trademark Etron fou "moves" remain in place.

MUJICIAN: Birdman CD (CUNE 082). $13.00

Third Cuneiform CD by this UK collective improv group, featuring Paul Dunmall (as, ts, Chinese Shenai), Paul Rogers (b), Keith Tippett (p, prepared piano), Tony Levin (perc.). Three long live/studio recordings that continue to erect this band's prominence as one of the finest European advanced-improvisation ensembles, pretty killer stuff.

DEAN, ELTON: Silent Knowledge CD (CUNE 083). $13.00

First US release to feature English jazz saxophone legend (Soft Machine, Keith Tippett Group, etc.) as a group leader, as well as the debut of his new quintet: Paul Dunmall (reeds), Paul Rogers (b), Tony Levin (perc.), Sophia Domancich (p). "These five gifted players intersperse arranged compositions with free-blowing passages, evoking moods that range from swinging to explosive."

BJORKENHEIM/KRAKATAU, RAOUL: Ritual CD (CUNE 086). $13.00

Repressed. "Reissue of the Finnish LP-only first release by this great rock/avant/fusion guitarist & his band (includes two bonus tracks). The record features a unique blend of heavy guitar work combined with dual, wailing, Coleman & Ayler-influenced saxes & a rhythm section of bass/electric bass and two drummers. The music is quite original, but has certain musical ties to the harmolodic school, ala the Decoding Society. ECM have released their 3rd (Volition) and 4th (Matinale) releases."

WINDO, GARY: His Master's Bones CD (CUNE 089). $13.00

A collection of unreleased material spanning the years 1971 to 1984, by this late UK sax legend, who was involved with Keith Tippett's Centipede project as well as Chris McGregor's Brotherhood of Breath Band. Perhaps most famously, he was crucially involved in the sound of Robert Wyatt's classic solo works Rock Bottom and Ruth Is Stranger Than Fiction. This CD features a variety of groupings, including performances from Lol Coxhill, Hugh Hopper, Evan Parker, Dudu Pukwana, Harry Beckett, Radu Malfatti, Louis Moholo, Steve Hillage, Julie Tippett, Nick Mason, Robert Wyatt, Carla Bley & many more. With an extremely detailed booklet filling in Gary's elaborate history, this is quite an overview of an obscured cultural corner.

SOFT MACHINE: Spaced CD (CUNE 090). $13.00

Fantastic archival release of this legendary avant-rock group, showing them at their most experimental, tranced-state ever, an organically looped masterpiece of sound construction which will be of interest far beyond the prog section. "Previously unreleased studio recordings recorded in early/mid 1969 by the 'classic' Soft Machine trio line-up of Hugh Hopper (bass), Mike Ratledge (electric piano/organ) and Robert Wyatt (drums). Shortly after recording Volume Two (rightly considered a landmark of British progressive rock), Soft Machine agreed to collaborate with Peter Dinkley on Spaced, a multimedia show at the Roundhouse. It was an experimental 'happening' in all its creative splendor, with ballet dancers and ex-army gymnasts choreographed to perform on a geodesic structure made of construction scaffolding. The dancers wore rubber costumes with octopus suckers up and down their legs. After it's week-long performance, Spaced slipped into obscurity. The tapes Soft Machine created for the event were forgotten for over two decades. They feature Soft Machine at their most radical, using sound-manipulated techniques associated with experimental music genres like 'musique concrete'. While they would never again use the studio in such a heavily manipulated fashion, the work influenced later Soft Machine works. It can also be seen as an early blue-print for later radical experimenters like Faust. Hugh Hopper: "They wanted a backing tape of suitably deranged and doomy sounds, so we recorded chunks of music as a trio...My brother came up at the weekend to add some sax blasts here and there, and we then spent a week or more playing around with tape loops and ancient mechanical aids to produce the finished tape. Now of course with a computer you could do the whole thing in an afternoon, but in those analog days it was strictly scissors and tape."

VOLAPÜK: Slang! CD (CUNE 094). $13.00

"Volapük is a trio from southern France with unique instrumentation — drums, bass clarinet, and cello — and active, Rock In Opposition (R.I.O.) style compositions. Band members Guigou Chenevier (drums), Michel Mandel (bass clarinet), and Guillaume Saurel (cello) deftly cast their instruments into expanded roles, creating unusual tonal colors for rock music. Slang! builds upon the style established with Volapük's premier release and adds to it with the additional experience the band has gained."

DIAM KARET: The Devouring CD (CUNE 099). $13.00

Established in the fall of 1984, Diam Karet are one of the better known American prog outfits. "The Devouring is Diam Karet's first recording released outside of their own HC Productions label. It is a summation of over a decade's worth of work, incorporating elements of from all their previous releases. It is most notable for incorporating heavy rock pieces together with ambient and electronic textures. While stylistic comparisons to bands such as Porcupine Tree and 'classic era' Genesis and Pink Floyd are possible, Diam Karet have developed a sound completely their own."

SOFT MACHINE: Virtually CD (CUNE 100). $13.00

"One of the most critically acclaimed and far-reaching avant rock bands ever was Soft Machine, named after a novel by William Burroughs. The band was formed in Canterbury, Kent, England in 1966 & had many personnel permutations over its decade-long career, but the lineup featured on this release [Elton Dean/Mike Ratledge/Hugh Hopper/Robert Wyatt] is considered by most to be the 'classic' version. This previously unreleased, excellent quality live concert was recorded by German radio during the lineup's final European tour." Wyatt (drums, vocals), Dean (alto sax, saxello, electric piano), Ratledge, (electric piano, organ), Hopper (bass). Recorded 3/23/71. "The early seventies (around Third) was for me the most exciting of the band's many transitional periods: a time when they began to move away from the song format (without abandoning an obvious melodic approach), and to incorporate extended modal, free improvisation and segued sets just like the most advanced jazz groups. Unlike jazz groups, they had at their disposal an awareness of identity of sound (who else played the Lowery organ apart from Ratledge, or the saxello other than Dean, or used spaced out bass features like Hopper, or processed voices like Robert Wyatt?). This concert took place a year and a half after jazz player Elton Dean joined Soft Machine and a few months before Robert Wyatt left the band because its music had become too jazz oriented for him. And it was this tension between rock and jazz elements that made up the group's dynamic in that particular period." —Peter Schulze/Radio Bremen.

RATTLEMOUTH: First Full Of Iffy CD (CUNE 101). $13.00

Second CD by this Richmond, VA group, no longer featuring Rebbie Sharp. "Rattlemouth's unusual usage of sax, bass, drums and vocals produce a sound that is anything but stereotypical rock. Their tunes are instantly recognizable: unusual scales and modes in melodies that are usually handled by sax. The rhythm section keeps all of this activity firmly grounded, with quick-witted bass work and a drummer who can find the groove no matter what else is going on musically."

MUJICIAN: Colours Fulfilled CD (CUNE 102). $13.00

Fourth album for Cuneiform by the quartet of Keith Tippett (piano [woodblocks, pebble]), Paul Dunmall (ts, ss, ebcl, bagpipes), Tony Levin (drums) & Paul Rogers (b). Produced by Evan Parker.

DEAN, ELTON: Just Us CD (CUNE 103). $13.00

"A reissue of Dean's first solo album, originally released in 1971 and out of print for 25 years. The album's name comes from that of the side-band — Just Us — that Elton led during his tenure with Soft Machine and for the year following his departure. The band featured some of the best known names of 'Brit-jazz' of the early 70's (Moholo, Ratledge, Evans, etc.). In addition to the original album, this reissue adds 25 minutes of previously unreleased material. The music is a cross between the free sound Dean would later focus on and the more composed music typical of his work with Soft Machine. The bonus tracks were recorded during Just Us' final year, and show the direction the band took after Dean left Soft Machine."

HOPPER, HUGH: 1984 CD (CUNE 104). $13.00

New CD issue of this classic album, with bonus track and improved sound (previously issued by Mantra). "Upon it's original release, 1984, with it's unusual combination of lengthy abstract sound-journeys and short, weirdly devolved James Brown-inspired pieces, gained much critical acclaim. 1984 was an extremely unusual release for 1973 and an extremely unusual project for CBS Records, who first released it. Like the groundbreaking novel after which it was named, Hopper's record was truly ahead of its time when it was created. It remains timeless today. 25 years after it was created — years which saw the rise of industrial music and electronica, the seeds of which can be found in Hopper's release — the originality and distinctiveness of Hopper's 1984 remains untouched."

CURLEW: Fabulous Drop CD (CUNE 105). $13.00

"HIGH energy new release [their seventh] from this long lived, all-star improvising/avant rock band. Featuring leader/saxist George Cartwright, dual guitarists Davey Williams and Chris Cochrane, bassist Ann Rupel and drummer Kenny Wollesen."

FOREVER EISENSTEIN: One Thing After Another CD (CUNE 106). $13.00

"Forever Einstein is a guitar/drums/bass trio whose stock-in-trade is quirky, rock-based instrumental music that shifts tempo, time change and mood, relies heavily upon composition and instrumental interplay, and draws from influences as diverse as Erik Satie, King Crimson and folk musics. In One Thing After Another, the band's third release, they produce energized music that you can feel AND think about by taking the power and aggression of rock and applying more adventurous compositional techniques than most rock music gets treated to."

PRESENT: Certitudes CD (CUNE 107). $13.00

"Present was originally formed in 1980 by guitarist Roger Trigaux upon leaving Belgium's legendary Univers Zero, which he co-founded. They released two albums in the early 1980's & then collapsed. In the early 90's, Roger reformed the band & began touring Europe. In 1996 they recorded & released Present Live!. This album reunites Roger with his Univers Zero co-founders for the first time since U.Z.'s famous Heresie LP [1979]."

MOTHER MALLARD'S PORTABLE MASTERPIECE CO.: 1970-73 CD (CUNE 109). $13.00

"The first album and previously unreleased recordings from the world's first all-synthesizer ensemble. They were also one of the very first [possibly the first] performing synthesizer ensembles, working closely with Robert Moog, whose first factory was nearby. This material pre-dates or is contemporary with the first work of Kraftwerk & Tangerine Dream. A uniquely American slant on synthesizer music by a band whose pioneering contributions to the genre had been forgotten until now." Some excellent driftage found here, fans of the likes of Reich, Riley, Schulze, etc. should take note.

HUGHSCORE: Delta Flora CD (CUNE 110). $13.00

"This is the 3rd release (their first on Cuneiform) by the hugely influential UK bassist & composer Hugh Hopper, along with Seattle musicians Fred Chalenor (bass & guitar), Elaine diFalco (Rhodes piano, organ, accordion & vocals) and Tucker Martine (drums), plus other musical guests. Delta Flora is an appealing mix of beautifully sung songs and the more experimental structures that Hopper is usually associated with. It marks Hopper's return to collaborating with singer/songwriters in the tradition of his early work with Robert Wyatt on Soft Machine Volume Two. A psychedelic classic for the millennium!"

BOUD DEUN: The Stolen Bicycle CD (CUNE 111). $13.00

"Since arriving with a roar on the new-music scene in January 1994, Virginia-based Boud Deun have continued to astonish audiences with their live shows. Although obvious parallels can be drawn between Boud Deun's work and instrumental greats like the Mahavishnu Orchestra, The Dixie Dregs, and King Crimson, there are additional influences from musicians as unexpected and far-ranging as Minor Threat, The Minutemen, The Dead Kennedys, David Grisman, Leonard Bernstein, and Igor Stravinsky."

DUNMALL OCTET, PAUL: Bebop Starburst CD (CUNE 112). $13.00

"Saxophonist Dunmall of Mujician appears here fronting his Octet, a mixture of well known & up-and-coming players, including Keith Tippett (piano), Simon Pickard (tenor sax), Annie Whitehead & Chris Bridges (trombone), Gethin Liddington (trumpet), Paul Rogers (bass) & Tony Levin (drums). But the group is not just 'Mujician + four more', as Paul is firmly in control here, mixing his compositions with the more free-oriented blowing of the ensemble. Sympathetically produced by Evan Parker, Bebop Starburst is an important addition to Paul's growing body of works, and to the genre known affectionately as 'Britjazz'."

THINKING PLAGUE: In Extremis CD (CUNE 113). $13.00

"A Colorado-based ensemble that explores the frontiers where rock, folk, jazz and modern symphonic music meet. Through these explorations, the band has created what Journal Wired called 'a genre of music unto itself, eclectically derivative in a bold way and spectacularly innovative in the old-fashioned sense of genuine originality.' Tuneful, well composed & strongly structured, this is very much in the vanguard of the RIO art-rock song style, along with peers such as U Totem, the Suu's & the Art Bears."

DELIVERY: Fools Meeting CD (CUNE 115). $13.00

"This reissues a very rare 1970 album, out of print for at least 25 years, which was the first professional band by musicians who would later fame in a number of other bands: Steve Miller (Caravan), Phil Miller (Matching Mole, Hatfield & The North, National Health), Roy Babbington (Soft Machine), Pip Pyle (Gong, Hatfield, National Health), Carol Grimes & Lol Coxhill. Contains the original album, a non-lp single, a great alternate take & a couple of live tracks, all sounding unbelievably better than the rather poor sounding original LP on the wall of your favorite collector shop with a $250 price tag. Also includes a full history of the band, written by author Mike King & rare photos from Steve Miller's personal archives. An usual & appealing blend of blues-rock, psychedelia, & early Canterbury-style progressive."

MOTOR TOTEMIST GUILD: City Of Mirrors CD (CUNE 116). $13.00

"Brilliant composer James Grigsby has revived his MTG group as a 14 piece 'little big band', including Emily Hay (flute & vocals), Eric Johnson (bassoon), Vinny Golia & Lynn Johnston (saxes & clarinets), Joseph Berardi (drums), Dave Kerman (percussion) & others on trumpet, trombones, piano & synthesizer, guitar, mallet percussion & contrabass! The compositions the band perform range from a short, almost pop ditty to longer works which stylistically mix classical elements with jazz-stylings & solos to a massive work that features a graphic score, improvisation, as well as after the fact studio manipulations."

FRITH/HENRY KAISER, FRED: Friends & Enemies 2CD (CUNE 117/18). $18.00

"The complete recordings (1979-1999) by these two extremely well known & respected guitarists, who, separately & together, have both pushed the boundaries of what can be done in music and with their instruments for many decades now. This includes all the music from their vinyl-only albums With Friends Like These, Who Needs Enemies, an unreleased live album, and 30 minutes of material recorded expressly for this set in January, 1999! Friends & Enemies is an essential document for those interested in the work of either Frith or Kaiser, two highly respected and stylistically distinct contemporary guitarists renowned for pushing the boundaries of their chosen instrument."

DIAM KARET: Live At Orion CD (CUNE 119). $13.00

"In September, 1998, Diam Karet were invited to play their 1st ever East Coast shows, during a two night stand at Baltimore's Orion Sound Studios. The shows were recorded, & this excellent sounding release is the result. The vital playing of Diam Karet's instrumental dual guitar, bass and drums instrumental attack is perfectly captured here, & the performances are really exemplary, capturing a band at their absolute peak! Released on the band's 15th anniversary, this is an excellent summation of their work, & a perfect introduction to the band."

UNIVERS ZERO: The Hard Quest CD (CUNE 120). $13.00

"Univers Zero's distinctive sound is a combination of their unique instrumentation (piano and keyboards, violin, clarinet and bass clarinet, bassoon, oboe, bass and drums), blended with gothic imagery, and an intensely strong, classically influenced writing style. In the hands of some of the best musicians in Europe, these factors lead to a group on the cutting edge of creating a new, vital and different approach to rock music. This is the band's first release in 13 years (!) and even before its release is already gathering acclaim such as, 'The fall of Rome? The parting of the Red Sea? What else can compare with the monumental occurrence of a new slab of Univers Zero....the world's finest musical ensemble.' — Exposé 18."

VON ZAMLA: 1983 CD (CUNE 121). $13.00

"Von Zamla were founded in 1981 by Grammy Award-winning keyboardist/composer Lars Hollmer and guitarist Eino Haapala, both former members of Sweden's Samlas Mammams Manna, one of the original five founding bands of the 'Rock In Opposition' [R.I.O.] movement, and one of the most popular bands in Sweden during the 1970s. Von Zamla released two albums in their lifetime; Zamlaranama (1981) and No Make Up (1983), neither of which was released outside of Sweden. The band disbanded after a final tour in 1985. These previously unavailable, professionally recorded live tapes are from the band's European tour in Spring, 1983. In addition to the two co-leaders, the band features the work of Univers Zero member Michel Berckmans on oboe and bassoon, a second keyboardist, bass and drums. This album is the first time that any Samla/Zamla related works have been released in the USA."

FROHMADER/RICHARD PINHAS, PETER: Fossil Culture CD (CUNE 123). $13.00

"Two giants of electronic rock music join forces on this compelling collaboration! Based in Munich Germany, Peter Frohmader has been an important fixture on the European electronic music/avant garde scene since the mid 1980's. He has released over 20 CDs & LPs. Parisian Richard Pinhas is best known as the leader of Heldon. Between 1974-1978, Heldon released 7 highly praised and sought-after albums that fused electronics and rock music. Besides the Heldon works, Pinhas has recorded about a dozen additional solo works. Richard Pinhas has long been recognized as a pivotal figure in the development of electronic rock."

PHILHARMONIE: The Last Word CD (CUNE 124). $13.00

"After 10 years of work, Philharmonie disbanded 10/97. The music features the amazing, instantly recognizable string interplay that all their albums feature, with the performances generally slanted towards the heavier sound of their last, Rage. With an all instrumental line-up of guitar, Warr guitar and drums, this will appeal to fans of bands such as King Crimson and Gordian Knot."

BLAST: A Sophisticated Face CD (CUNE 125). $13.00

"Blast is a Dutch band notable for compositionally complex music and brutally powerful performances. Since forming in 1989, the band has worked to develop a sound both dense and kaleidoscopic. A Sophisticated Face, the band's fourth release, is an exciting stylistic departure; normally working as a quartet, for this release the band are essentially a miniature orchestra consisting of guitar, trumpet, flugelhorn, soprano, alto and baritone saxes, alto clarinet, violin, cello, cymbalom [an Eastern European hammered dulcimer], bass and percussion. The music reflects that as well, as the sound is geared more towards modern 20th century classical composition than what is normally thought of as 'rock' music."

CARTWRIGHT, GEORGE: The Memphis Years CD (CUNE 127). $13.00

"The Memphis Years is the second solo release by composer/saxophonist/improvisor George Cartwright. Besides his solo CDs, Cartwright has released numerous recordings as leader and main composer of Curlew, and has appeared on many other releases with various players. The Memphis Years pays tribute to Cartwright's five year involvement in Memphis' well known music scene, and features some of that city's best musicians. Here Cartwright returns to the collaboration he first employed on A Beautiful Western Saddle by Curlew with noted lyricist Paul Haines ("Tropic Appetites", "Escalator Over The Hill") and vocalist Amy Denio. Davey Williams, a Curlew member and renowned guitarist and improviser, also appears. The result is a blending of strictly composed songs sung by Denio with composed and semi-improvisational jazz-oriented instrumentals. In The Memphis Years, Cartwright fuses these seemingly disparate styles into an eloquently coherent musical experience."

DIAM KARET: Burning The Hard City CD (CUNE 128). $13.00

"Established in the fall of 1984, Diam Karet grew out of the ashes of several Los Angeles based bands. The name, Diam Karet (jam care-ray), came from an Indonesian word (popularized in an Harlan Ellison story) meaning 'elastic time' or 'the hour that stretches' — a term ideally suited to the band's expansive songs. Pleased with their successful collaboration with Cuneiform, which began in 1997, Diam Karet decided have Cuneiform license and reissue their out of print back catalog, starting with these two 1991 releases. Burning The Hard City is certainly the heaviest, most rock album that the band ever made. Keyboard wrote, 'Guitars crunch, slash, crash and bang through a bundle of hard driving prog rock cookers. Think 1983 and King Crimson...'"

DIAM KARET: Suspension & Displacement CD (CUNE 129). $13.00

"Suspension & Displacement stands alone in the band's oeuvre as their most atmospheric and also their most studio-oriented release. The record grew organically out of the band's improvisations and experiments with tapes, textures and electronics. In a recent article, Exposé said that "To this very day, Suspension remains the definitive album in the realm of ambient electronica with its novel guitar looping, eerie effects processing, and sampling."

SOFT MACHINE: Noisette CD (CUNE 130). $13.00

"One of the most critically acclaimed and far reaching avant rock bands ever was the British group Soft Machine, named after a novel by William Burroughs. The band was formed in Canterbury, Kent, England in 1966. Noisette was recorded January 4th, 1970, by the short-lived quintet formation of the group: Elton Dean & Lyn Dobson (reeds), Hugh Hopper (bass), Mike Ratledge (keyboards) & Robert Wyatt (drums & vocals). Noisette showcases a band in transition from their earlier psychedelic/progressive rock period towards the jazz/rock sound that would make them famous with the release of their Third and Fourth albums in 1970 and 1971. It features the quintet performing versions of material from Soft Machine's first two albums as well as previously unreleased material. As such, it is a vital and necessary release for all fans of this legendary English ensemble."

PINHAS/MAURICE DANTEC (SCHIZOTROPE), RICHARD: The Life and Death of Marie Zorn — North American Tour 1999 CD (CUNE 131). $13.00

"Richard Pinhas is recognized as one of France's major experimental musicians. A pivotal figure in the development of electronic rock, Pinhas' stature in France is analogous to Tangerine Dream's in Germany: father figure of an entire musical movement. Pinhas first came to public attention as leader of Heldon, whose violent fusion of electronics and guitar is acknowledged to be a precursor of today's industrial music. In 1998, he teamed up with noted French 'cyber-punk' author Maurice Dantec to make a musical and spoken word tribute to his mentor, the noted philosopher Gilles Deleuze. This duo became 'Schizotrope' who came to North America, in March 1999 for a series of shows. The Life And Death of Marie Zorn was compiled from tapes of those live shows, which were Pinhas' first-ever performances in North America."

WOODSON'S ELLIPSIS, RICH: Control And Resistance CD (CUNE 132). $13.00

"Woodson is a self-taught composer and guitarist who grew up on hard rock and heavy metal in Nashville, TN and San Antonio and Austin, TX. His major musical influences are jazzman Tim Berne, Frank Zappa, Watchtower (an 1980's Austin metal band, who invented the 'technical metal' subgenre) and academic composer Charles Wuorinen. This debut CD is a bold and brilliant synthesis of RIO progressive rock, modern jazz and contemporary composition. Densely textured, angular compositions, filled with complexity, intensity and spontaneity, the music is as personal and individualistic as a fingerprint."

MILESI, PIERO: Within Himself CD (CUNE 133). $13.00

"Milesi is one of a number of composers in Italy who, although relatively unknown here, are quietly changing the way we think about music and its usage via their work with installations. He has scored numerous film, video, and television soundtracks, and has composed music for several ballets and live performance events. This is melodic new-music compositions with an underlying electronic/minimalist base. For fans of Klaus Schulze, Steve Reich, John Adams, Philip Glass, Vangelis, etc."

VOLAPÜK: Polyglôt CD (CUNE 134). $13.00

"Volapük is a quartet from southern France with unique instrumentation — drums & electronics, bass clarinets & taragot, cello, and violin — and active, Rock In Opposition (R.I.O.) style compositions. Band members Guigou Chenevier (drums), Michel Mandel (clarinet), Guillaume Saurel (cello) and Takumi Fukushima (violin) deftly cast their instruments into expanded roles, creating unusual tonal colors for rock music."

KERMAN/SUU'S, DAVE: Regarding Purgatories CD (CUNE 135). $13.00

"Drummer/composer David Kerman formed the band Suu's in 1984. He derived the band's name from gang graffiti spray painted on buildings in Los Angeles. The band recorded several albums before the band's merging with fellow L.A. experimentalists The Motor Totemist Guild to form the acclaimed U Totem. In 1994, Kerman reformed the Suu's, with different personnel, to record two well received releases on the ReR label. In the 1990's, Dave also became a member of a number of other musician's and composer's ensembles, and had contributed his drumming ability to releases by Thinking Plague, Present and Blast, among others. Regarding Purgatories is Dave's latest release of his own music, and features yet another version of the Suu's. He has enlisted what amounts to an avant/progressive supergroup to back him here, including vocalist Deborah Perry [of Thinking Plague], bassist Keith Macksoud [of Present] and keyboardists Charles Turner [Suu's] and Sanjay Kumar [U Totem]."

BIRDSONGS OF THE MESOZOIC: Petrophonics CD (CUNE 137). $13.00

"Birdsongs Of The Mesozoic began in 1980 as a side project by half of Boston's now legendary Mission Of Burma: Roger Miller and Martin Swope. Miller and Swope joined forces with Rick Scott and Erik Lindgren. In 1983, they released their first project. In 1987, Roger Miller was replaced by saxophonist Ken Field. In 1992 guitarist Michael Bierlylo replaced Martin Swope. Petrophonics, the band's tenth release, is the band's first in five years. Birdsongs' instrumentation is as striking as their music: two keyboards, guitar and saxophone blend with electronic/computer percussion."

DJAM KARET: Reflections from the Firepool CD (CUNE 139). $13.00

"Established in the fall of 1984, Djam Karet grew out of the ashes of several L.A.-based bands. The band's early live performances featured music that was a free-form mixture of guitar-dominated instrumental rock and textural Eastern drone music. Out of this process of musical exploration and thematic conceptualization emerged their music. Reflection From The Firepool, originally self-released by the band in 1989, was the album that first brought them to the attention of the general public."

GILGAMESH: Arriving Twice CD (CUNE 140). $13.00

"Founded by keyboardist/composer Alan Gowen in 1973, Alan Gowen later went on to co-found National Health with members of Gilgamesh and Hatfield and the North in 1975. He left National Health in 1977, and then rejoined in time for a long series of gigs, including the band's US tour of 1979. After National Health broke up for good in 1980, he recorded a few sessions. Shortly after, Alan Gowen was diagnosed with leukemia, & he died in 1981. This is almost one hour of all previously unreleased recordings by this legendary "Canterbury" band. The musicians here later went on to play with notables such as Soft Machine, National Health, Black Sabbath, Mike Oldfield & others. This CD features a 16 page booklet jammed with rare photos and interviews, telling the story of leader Alan Gowen's career, from his birth until the demise of Gilgamesh. Interest in our archival Canterbury projects is very high, as witnessed by the great sales of our releases by Soft Machine, Delivery, etc. This is the latest in the series."

THINKING PLAGUE: Early Plague Years CD (CUNE 141). $13.00

"Thinking Plague were founded in Denver, CO, by guitarist Mike Johnson and bassist/drummer Bob Drake in the early 1980's. They released their first LP, a thinking plague, in 1984 on their own label. Each album cover was hand painted by Bob. Johnson and Drake then disbanded the group & began working with new musicians. In 1987 their second album, Moonsongs, was released. Early Plague Years is a repackaging of the band's first two albums. These records have been out of print and highly sought after by collectors for well over a decade and have never before been released on CD. They have been remixed and remastered, and the sound is far beyond the meager sonics of the original vinyl pressings."

PAUL DUNMALL OCTET: The Great Divide CD (CUNE 142). $13.00

"Born 1953 in Welling, England, Paul Dunmall is one of Britain's best-known jazz musicians. Classically trained on clarinet, Dunmall began his professional music career in 1969. Dunmall is perhaps most widely known for his work since 1988 as a member of Mujician, a highly acclaimed British improvising collective that has released four albums on Cuneiform. Since 1997, Dunmall has led his own Octet. The band includes Paul's tenor sax, Keith Tippett-piano, Simon Pickard-tenor sax, Paul Rutherford & Hilary Jeffries-trombone, Gethin Liddington-trumpet, Paul Rogers-bass & Tony Levin-drums. In The Great Divide, the band's third release, the Paul Dunmall Octet progresses through a six-part program that explores a multitude of moods and styles within the medium of modern improvised jazz."

DEAN, ELTON: Moorsong CD (CUNE 143). $13.00

"Moorsong shows Dean entirely at home with an impressive range of jazz settings and styles. The CD begins with a swinging, Hammond Organ-driven session that may be seen as a nod to Medeski, Martin & Wood. The latter part of Moorsong features spacier, more atmospheric sets, with the music more based on moods and drones. Moorsong shows Dean in top form throughout, exploring the varied topography of British jazz via sax. It should appeal to aficionados of jazz, fusion and free music alike."

CREELEY/STEVE SWALLOW/DAVID TORN/CHRIS MASSEY/DAVID CAST, ROBERT: Have We Told You All You'd Thought To Know CD (CUNE 144). $13.00

"Robert Creeley is one of America's greatest living poets; he was the link between the Beat poets of Greenwich Village and those of Black Mountain College. Creeley has long acknowledged the influence of jazz and improvised music on his work. In this collaboration of music and poetry, recorded live 9/98, Creeley reads his texts while the extremely talented band of David Torn [guitar, processing], Steve Swallow [electric bass], David Cast [saxes, bass clarinet] and Chris Massey [drums, percussion] provide a lively mesh of music that supports and augments the reading. This disc provides a permanent record of the quintet's emotionally moving performance, a work of art in which poetry, music and process become one."

NATIONAL HEALTH: Playtime CD (CUNE 145). $13.00

"National Health was one of the last of the great 'Canterbury-style' progressive rock bands. By late '78, the personnel had become Alan Gowen [keyboards], Phil Miller [guitar], John Greaves [bass & vocals] and Pip Pyle [drums]. This version strove towards a more stretched-out, free-er approach. This CD is the first National Health live album to ever be released. It is also the only recorded documentation of the Gowen, Greaves, Miller, and Pyle version of the band. This is a fantastic, unexpected, newly unearthed document 20 years later, of a much loved band."

MOTHER MALLARD'S PORTABLE MASTERPIECE COMPANY: Like A Duck To Water CD (CUNE 147). $13.00

"MMPMC were the world's first all synthesizer ensemble. This was their 2nd & final release, and was originally released in 1976. The music is a unique and extremely enjoyable blend of space electronics (ala Tangerine Dream, Klaus Schulze), minimal music (Terry Riley, Philip Glass), and contemporary classical & electronics (Gordon Mumma, John Cage). This album showcases a uniquely American slant on synthesizer music by a band whose pioneering contributions to the genre had been forgotten until now. Includes the original album, 20' of previously unheard bonus material, and bonus CDROM material; a QuickTime video of the band in performance in 1976. With David Borden, Steve Drews & Judy Borsher."

MIRIODOR: Mekano CD (CUNE 148). $13.00

"Miriodor have been making adventurous progressive rock music in Quebec for 20 years. They are among a handful of bands worldwide whose works convey all hallmarks of the 'R.I.O.' school: adventurous and inspired compositions, rigorous musicianship, a distinctive and highly personalized sound, periodic references to folk music, and a steely determination to make music without compromise. Mekano, the band's 5th album, is perhaps their most impressive & entertaining work of all. It continues the trend that the band has adhered to since their beginning; a sound that is always developing in new and interesting ways, but that is still completely recognizable as 'Miriodor.'"

DJAM KARET: New Dark Age CD (CUNE 149). $13.00

"Recorded in California at the turn of the millennium — a time when severe power crises overshadowed the Sunshine State and Silicon Valley — New Dark Age is the band's 11th release, and is the band's first studio release of new material almost five years. It showcases the band's unique signature sound, combining a heavy rock foundation with spacier elements derived from the 'ambient' & 'trance' schools. New Dark Age showcases how Djam Karet's signature sound has evolved after over 15 years of playing together. Interweaving elements from the hard rock/progressive and ambient/trance schools, Djam Karet has created a progressive rock that remains outside of one stylistic time — a true 'classic' progressive sound."

MATCHING MOLE: Smoke Signals CD (CUNE 150). $13.00

"Matching Mole was the band formed by drummer/vocalist Robert Wyatt after he left Soft Machine in July, 1971. Soft Machine were hugely popular in France, and Robert got the name of his new band as a play on the French translation of Soft Machine: Machine Mole. What eventually became the first Matching Mole album was begun as a solo album. Midway through recording, he was joined by guitarist Phil Miller (Delivery, Hatfield & The North, National Health), organist Dave Sinclair (Caravan), bassist Bill MacCormick (Phil Manzanera's 801) and guest electric pianist Dave MacRae. These recordings became their self titled first album, released in early 1972. Sinclair left soon after and MacRae joined full time. This quartet performed often throughout Europe, and recorded a second album, Little Red Record, which was released in fall, 1972. Soon after, Robert decided that he did not want the responsibilities of being a band leader & broke up the band. Smoke Signals compiles all previously unreleased performances from the band's most intense gigging period, the spring of 1972, and has been assembled to replicate their continuous concert set. The band's sound is a unique take on fusion with interesting structures."

THE STICK MEN: Insatiable CD (CUNE 151). $13.00

"In the early '80s, The Stick Men ruled the Philadelphia new/no wave scene. Reminiscent of James Chance and the Contortions with more hyperkinetic energy (!!), they created a frenzied psycho-funk-punk sound that featured gut-wrenching timing, extraordinary charm, personality with a plus, and tons of good humor. This CD contains the The Stick Men's entire recorded output as well as rare tracks from live radio broadcasts. Also included is bonus CD-Rom material: a 20' Quick Time video of the band. The band remains an incomparable phenomenon to this day."

CHRIS MCGREGOR'S BROTHERHOOD OF BREATH: Travelling Somewhere CD (CUNE 152). $13.00

"South African born and raised pianist/bandleader Chris McGregor formed the racially mixed Blue Notes in the early 1960's, touring and trying to get by in extremely difficult political circumstances as best they could. By 1964, facing continuous government harassment, Chris & the Blue Notes fled their South African homeland, finally settling in London in 1966. They made a huge impact on London's jazz scene and befriended many in London's emerging avant-garde jazz community. By 1969, the Blue Notes had drifted apart. Not too long afterwards, Chris formed The Brotherhood Of Breath, which was essentially the Blue Notes, augmented by a large number of the friends that they had made in the British jazz community. The band toured constantly during their peak years of 1971-74, but they only released 3 albums in their lifetime. Travelling Somewhere was recorded at a well known jazz club in Bremen, Germany on January 19th, 1973 for radio broadcast, and is by far the best recorded live document of the Brotherhood. The 12 piece band is a who's who of many of the big names of British free jazz of the early/mid 1970's: Harry Beckett, Mark Charig & Mongezi Feza (trumpets), Nick Evans & Malcolm Griffiths (trombones), Mike Osborne, Evan Parker, Dudu Pukwana & Gary Windo (saxes), Chris McGregor (piano), Harry Miller (double bass) and Louis Moholo (drums)."

PICCHIO DAL POZZO: Camere Zimmer Rooms CD (CUNE 153). $13.00

"Picchio dal Pozzo are considered to be one of the very few 'Canterbury' inspired bands that emerged from Italy's fertile 1970's progressive rock musical scene. They released two highly regarded — and highly sought after — albums during their lifetime. The exciting release of Camere Zimmer Rooms, a previously unknown studio recording of all unreleased compositions, extends their legacy greatly! The band formed in Genoa in 1972. They released their first, self-titled album in 1975. The band recorded their second LP Abbiamo Tutti i Suoi Problemi in 1980. Shortly after this release, the band dissolved. But, back in 1977, with their first earnings as a band, Picchio decided to buy their first sound reinforcement equipment to use for touring. To check out the equipment, the band decided to set up a live concert in studio for some friends and record it. The result is the tapes that now make up Camere Zimmer Rooms. While never originally intended for release, the band now feels that it is indeed the most faithful recording of Picchio dal Pozzo's music and mood. One of the first things that even the casual listener will discover is that Camere Zimmer Rooms does not sound like a live-in-the-studio recording. Using the full extent of the large band and pre-recorded tapes of things like natural sounds, factory noises, radio-advertising collages and other manipulated material, that were triggered by the various members of the band, the sound is indeed very close to a studio recording that would be filled with overdubbing. Essential for their fans, as well as fans of groups like Caravan, Hatfield & The North, Henry Cow, Soft Machine & Frank Zappa."

NEBELNEST: Nova Express CD (CUNE 154). $13.00

"NeBeNeST are one of the most adventurous and energetic young bands to emerge on the international post-rock / avant-progressive scene in recent years. The young French band is noted for its dark symphonic rock music influenced by King Crimson, Shylock and Univers Zero/Present, laced with psychedelia and improvisation, and played with a riveting level of energy and intensity derived from the hardcore and noise scenes. It is produced by Bob Drake, a musician and producer who has produced CDs by the Suu's and Thinking Plague, and has recorded solo and other CDs for the ReR label. Drake's distinctive production techniques are a perfect match for NeBeNeST, emphasizing and augmenting the wide dynamic range of the band's dark, mesmerizing sound."

UNIVERS ZERO: Crawling Wind CD (CUNE 155). $13.00

"A founding member of the original 'Rock In Opposition' [R.I.O.] movement, and considered to be one of the greatest avant-garde bands of the 70's & 80's Belgium's Univers Zero were originally founded in 1974. For the first five years, they were co-led by Daniel Denis & Roger Trigaux. Originally released as a limited edition, Japanese-only 12" EP, Crawling Wind has long been the unavailable crown jewel of the band's oeuvre. Now available for the first time on CD, it has been remastered and expanded, with the addition of rare and never before released studio and live material, to a full length album. Univers Zero's distinctive sound is a combination of their unique instrumentation (piano and keyboards, violin, clarinets, oboe/bassoon, bass, and drums) blended with Gothic imagery and an intensely strong, classically influenced writing style. In the hands of some of the best musicians of Europe, these factors lead to a group on the cutting edge of creating a new, vital and different approach to rock music."

BJÖRKENHEIM, RAOUL: Apocalypse CD (CUNE 156). $13.00

"Finnish guitarist Raoul Björkenheim first came to international attention with Edward Vesala's Sound & Fury band. Concurrently, he formed his own group Krakatau as an off-shoot Sound & Fury. The well-known German ECM label signed Björkenheim & Krakatau

(who are a quartet of guitar, sax, bass & drums on both of their ECM CDs), and released their 3rd (Volition) and 4th (Matinale) releases internationally. Since that time, Raoul's energizing, furious playing has been featured with a wide array of well known international artists, including Mats Gustavsson, Henry Kaiser, Mike Keneally, Bill Laswell, Michael Manring, Paul Schütze, Nicky Skopelitis, Jah Wobble and many others. Apocalypso is a galvanizing & exciting work that features the massed power of 30 guitarists, 8 bassists and 4 percussionists. This version, recorded in 2000, features Raoul performing all of the parts himself in a tour-de-force of virtual ensemble playing."

CURLEW: Meet The Curlews CD (CUNE 157). $13.00

"Few avant/electric jazz bands have maintained as high a quality of work over as long a career — over two decades thus far — as Curlew. Cuneiform has released all of Curlew's CD releases, and is now proud to release Curlew's eighth album. Curlew was formed in 1979 by George Cartwright, the group's leader, saxophonist, and main composer. Curlew's alumni includes such well-known musicians as Fred Frith, Bill Laswell, Wayne Horvitz, and Tom Cora. Meet the Curlews features long-time members Cartwright and Davey Williams as well as new members Fred Chalanor, Bruce Golden and Chris Parker, whose contributions swing the genre-busting band more firmly into the realm of jazz."

KERMAN/SUU'S, DAVE: Abandonship CD (CUNE 158). $13.00

"Inspired by the European 'Rock In Opposition' (RIO) movement's uncompromising stance, and devoted to a concept of song-oriented music with emphasis on short pieces, and lyrics and melodies, the Suu's created a sound that was 'a distinctly American version of RIO-inspired progressive rock.' (Alternative View). Abandonship features compositions, lyrics (printed in the CD booklet), and multi-instrumentation by Kerman, vocals by Deborah Perry (of Thinking Plague), and sound sculpting by Udi Koomran. Like other Suu's works, it consists of mostly short pieces that coalesce into a musically and/or conceptually coherent mosaic."

DEUS EX MACHINA: Cinque CD (CUNE 159). $13.00

"One of the finest avant/progressive bands in the world today, Deus Ex Machina has carved out an enviable reputation with its amazingly high energy live shows and critically acclaimed live and studio albums. The band's music is a heady, playful fusion of classic hard rock (think 1971-era Deep Purple and Led Zeppelin) and progressive rock and jazz, topped with the incredible vocals of Piras, one of the most extraordinary vocalists working in rock music today. Notably, the classically-trained Piras sings in both Latin (!) and Italian. Cinque, Deus Ex Machina 5th studio recording, is the band's first release on Cuneiform and their first album release outside of Italy. A powerful work of jazz/rock fusion and progressive rock, it is the culmination of the band's search for, in their words, 'an even deeper rock impact.'"

ARKHAM: Arkham CD (CUNE 160). $13.00

"Arkham is a legendary band in the annals of European progressive rock. Arkham was co-founded by two musicians who subsequently became two of the best-known known names in progressive rock: Jean-Luc Manderlier and Daniel Denis. Manderlier, Arkham's keyboardist and sole composer, would later become a member of the French band, Magma, recording on that band's landmark work, Mekanik Destructiv Kommandöh. During its brief yet highly active and visible two years of existence, Arkham played countless live concerts but never released a recording. Compiled from tapes made at various Arkham performances and rehearsals in Belgium between 1970-72, this self-titled CD documents the band's music throughout its existence. Arkham is an essential document of a band which holds a key place in the history of European progressive rock."

MUFFINS, THE: Bandwidth CD (CUNE 161). $13.00

"The Muffins — the band whom Fred Frith called 'the finest progressive band America produced' — are back after an absence of two decades. Bandwidth, in production for more than two years, is the first album of new music by the band since 1980. Reformed in its best-known quartet version, the band sounds like it had never been apart. The Muffins' new music remains 'progressive' to its core in the truest meaning of that term: forward looking, boundary bursting, innovative, and yes, astonishingly fresh. Influenced by Soft Machine, Hatfield & The North, Henry Cow, Sun Ra, the Art Ensemble of Chicago, and many other jazz and European progressive rock bands, this quartet forged a committed following in the USA and abroad during the 1970's until 1981, when they split up. In a world glutted with half-baked reformations by bands looking to cash in on past glories, Bandwidth is the genuine article; a reformation of all the original members who have gotten together not for money, but because they miss what they had done together in the past and who feel that they still have something to say."

MUJICIAN: Spacetime CD (CUNE 162). $13.00

"Since Mujician formed in England in 1988 as an improvising collective, the band has released 5 CDs on Cuneiform. Mujician is composed of four of the biggest names in the European jazz and improvised music community: Paul Dunmall: saxes, Tony Levin: drums, Paul Rogers: double bass, Keith Tippett: piano. But this 'supergroup' is also a true co-operative, a collective critically praised for its sensitive interplay and coherent voice. Spacetime, the band's newest release, features Mujician experimenting with shorter formats, and includes 15 pieces under 10 minutes each, recorded live in the studio."

VA: 156 Strings CD (CUNE 163). $13.00

"Curated by guitarist and producer Henry Kaiser, 156 Strings is a compilation designed to showcase some of the most unique and highly personal work currently being done on the acoustic guitar. A longtime fan of the 'master creators' of American, steel-string, instrumental guitar — musicians such as John Fahey, Robbie Basho, Peter Lang, and Leo Kottke — Kaiser created this compilation to highlight, in his own words, some of the 'many players today who are operating at those elevated levels of acoustic eloquence.' The early Takoma Records sampler Ips compiled by John Fahey, and Fred Frith's 'Guitar Solos' Ips provided Kaiser with editorial inspiration; as he says in his liner notes: 'Those releases were portals that many listeners went through to discover new artists and sounds.' 156 Strings includes pieces by the following 19 acoustic guitarists. Each and every one of them, in Kaiser's words, 'sound like themselves and have something special to say.' : Duck Baker, Stefan Basho-Junghans, Raoul Björkenheim, Jean-Paul Bourell, Nels Cline, Janet Feder, Fred Frith, Michael Gulezian, Richard Leo Johnson, Henry Kaiser, Mike Keneally, Peter Lang, Scott McGill, Shawn Persinger is Prester John, Rod Poole, Gyan Riley, Miroslav Tadic, Richard Thompson, U Tin."

SOTOS: Platypus CD (CUNE 164). $13.00

"Platypus is the second album by this instrumental chamber rock/zeuhl/R.I.O. ensemble from Bordeaux, France. There is so much good work that is left to be done in this field of music, and so few people working in this vein, that Platypus is sure to be a 'best of the year' release to fans of Bela Bartok, Doctor Nerve, King Crimson, Magma, Igor Stravinsky, Univers Zero, Zypresen and other contemporary composers and ensembles."

UNIVERS ZERO: Rhythmix CD (CUNE 165). $13.00

"Univers Zero has stretched and disintegrated the boundaries of classical and rock music alike throughout the course of its career, producing a sound that is equally passionate and sophisticated and always on the cutting edge. In Rhythmix, Denis draws upon the rich legacy of Univers Zero's oeuvre, using both the acoustic colorations (bassoon, oboe, harmonium) of the band's earliest releases and the electric vibe (electronic keyboards and synthesizers) that marked Univers Zero releases from the mid-1980s. He also expands the Univers Zero's sound by using a greater number of musicians (10), and adding instrumentation — flute, trumpet, acoustic guitar, marimba and accordion — not customarily used by the band. In addition to Denis (drums, percussion, keyboard, harmonium), musicians on Rhythmix include Michel Berkmans (oboe, English horn, bassoon); Aurelia Boven (cello), Ariane De Bievre (flute, piccolo), Dirk Descheemaeker (bass clarinet, Bart Maris (trumpet), Eric Plantain (electric bass), Christophe Pons (acoustic guitar) Bart Quartier (marimba, glockenspiel), and Louison Renault (accordion). Rhythmix shows that, nearly three decades after it was first formed, Univers Zero continues to evolve, expanding and experimenting with the boundaries of New Music."

PINHAS, RICHARD: Event and Repetitions CD (CUNE 166). $13.00

"Composer, guitarist and electronics innovator Richard Pinhas is recognized as one of France's major experimental musicians. A pivotal figure in the development of electronic rock, Pinhas' stature in France is analogous to Tangerine Dream's in Germany: father figure of an entire musical movement. For the last decade, Pinhas has been developing a system of electronic processing to perform live solo guitar concerts with. Event and Repetitions is over 75' of music performed live in his studio with just guitar and processing systems. The music is rich in depth, detail and texture, and will appeal to fans of musicians such as Aphex Twin, Brian Eno, Robert Fripp, Windy and Carl, Godspeed You Black Emperor, Labradford, Klaus Schulze, Tangerine Dream."

CURLEW: North America CD (CUNE 167). $13.00

"Formed in 1979, North America reissues their obscure 2nd album, which was recorded in 1984-85 and originally released only in Germany. North America is an unusual album in the band's oeuvre, as it's their one album that is the most obviously a product of the studio, and it's also their most overtly 'avant-progressive' release. Like all the band's work, it is a unique synthesis of gritty Southern 'n' b, harmolodics, finger-popping grooves and the avant-garde. The band who perform on North America is pretty much an all-star ensemble of the emerging 'downtown' scene: Appearing as always are saxist/leader George Cartwright and cellist Tom Cora. Noted guitarist and composer Fred Frith appears in the role of bassist for the band. The guitarist is Mark Howell. Drum duties are split between Rick Brown and Pippin Barnett. In addition there is 30' of bonus live material included on North America, which features Cartwright, Cora, guitarist Nicky Skopelitis, drummer Anton Fier, and bassist Otto Williams."

KRAKATOA: We Are The Rowboats CD (CUNE 168). $13.00

"Krakatoa are a young quartet, originally from Philadelphia and now relocated to Brooklyn who blend precise musicality and compositional skill with charm, playfulness and humor; their music is the unlikely meeting place between art rock, baroque cartoon music, progressive rock and chamber punk. The band uses vocals, guitars, violin, electric mandolin, keyboards, bass and drums. Krakatoa utilizes rock and classical instrumentation to channel surf and subvert the musical landscape, borrowing from every imaginable musical genre. Their mixture of charming musicality and fearless humor is theirs alone."

DJAM KARET: A Night For Baku CD (CUNE 169). $13.00

"Djam Karet were established in 1984, and by the late 1980's had established themselves as one of the US's most important instrumental progressive rock ensembles. Compared by the press with King Crimson, Pink Floyd, the Grateful Dead, Ozric Tentacles and Porcupine Tree, they are credited with breathing new life into progressive rock. Their music is a unique and exciting blend of heavy guitar rock, jam-band excitement and ambient/electronic soundscapes. A Night For Baku is a journey through Djam Karet's musical universe, an immersion in its aural dreams. This finds Djam Karet utilizing more keyboards and electronics than in the recent past, and collaborating on one track with electronic musician Steve Roach."

SOFT MACHINE: Backwards CD (CUNE 170). $13.00

"One of the most critically acclaimed, far-reaching and influential avant rock bands ever was Soft Machine, named after a novel by William Burroughs. The band was formed in Canterbury, Kent, England in 1966 by David Allen (guitar), Kevin Ayers (bass/vocals), Mike Ratledge (keyboards) and Robert Wyatt (drums/vocals). Backwards is comprised of recordings from three different and intriguing eras of the band, and includes liner notes written by Canterbury music scholar Aymeric Leroy. Backwards begins with three tracks from May, 1970: a recording of the 'classic' quartet made about the time that Soft Machine had finished recording its acclaimed Third album. The recording is mono, but the sonic quality is superb; this may be the single finest recording of the quartet version of Soft Machine, surpassing even the band's official studio releases. The next two tracks on Backwards are recordings of performances from November, 1969, featuring the 'big band' septet version. Since the only other available material by this version of the band is 20' of BBC recordings, this is an invaluable addition to the band's recorded legacy. Backwards concludes with Robert Wyatt's original demo of 'Moon In June', a tune the band would later record for Third. The demo version which appears here, taken from the original acetate, was recorded in two parts and spliced together by the band."

PROTO-KAW: Early Recordings From Kansas 1971-1973 CD (CUNE 171). $13.00

"This album compiles and releases for the very first time all of the studio recordings (as well as two live recordings) made by guitarist and composer Kerry Livgren with the 2nd edition of Kansas, a seven-piece band that immediately preceded the formation of the lineup of the band that the world knows as Kansas. With dual keyboards and an electric saxist/flautist featured in addition to the more standard rock instrumentation, the sound is obviously influenced by jazz/rock pioneers such as Don Ellis, Soft Machine and Frank Zappa and The Mothers Of Invention as well as early progressive rock bands such as Van Der Graaf Generator and King Crimson."

MATCHING MOLE: March CD (CUNE 172). $13.00

"Matching Mole was the band that drummer/vocalist Robert Wyatt formed after he left the pioneering UK outfit Soft Machine in July, 1971. Over the course of its brief, one-year existence, Matching Mole would develop a characteristic sound, a unique take on fusion, with interesting structures that encouraged individualistic expression through solos. When one of the members came across a forgotten live show on tape — identified simply as 'March, 1972', they immediately contacted us, and this album is the result. Recorded live in Europe 3/72, shortly after Dave MacRae became the keyboardist, this includes the basic repertoire that the band would perform during their lifetime, with a few surprises thrown in. The sound is surprisingly superb for a live show of this vintage, and once again Tom Recchion has come up with a charming cover."

NUCLEUS: Live In Bremen 2CD (CUNE 173/4). $18.00

"The groundbreaking UK band Nucleus were one of the very first jazz/rock fusion groups, forming in 1969 and releasing their first album in 1970. During their lifetime, the band recorded 13 albums for labels like Vertigo and Capitol, among others. The band was founded by trumpeter Ian Carr. He recruited musicians for the band in the autumn of 1969. The timing was perfect: the world was ready for Nucleus and other early bands who were combining the energy and excitement of rock with jazz instrumentation, like Miles Davis, Tony Williams' Lifetime and Soft Machine. This never before released concert, recorded May 25th, 1971 and licensed from Radio Bremen, captures the band at an early peak and with an interesting lineup: Carr, Karl Jenkins-piano & oboe, Brian Smith-tenor & soprano sax, flute & percussion, Ray Russell-guitar, Roy Babbington-bass & John Marshall-drums. Most notably, Russell never recorded with the band, and his short tenure with Nucleus was completely unknown until now. Shortly after this recording, the original Nucleus began to unravel and three of the players (Babbington, Jenkins & Marshall) ended up in Soft Machine. This fine slice of vital, exciting, early jazz/rock."

WYATT, ROBERT: Solar Flares Burn For You CD (CUNE 175). $13.00

"Vocalist, composer and multi-instrumentalist Robert Wyatt's career extends from the beginnings of the psychedelic era to the present day. This album started its life as simply a collection of the two BBC Top Gear sessions that Robert recorded in 1972 and 1974. But as we worked on it, Robert became more and more involved in it, until it ended up in its final form. In addition to the Top Gear recordings, there is a previously unheard and little known 1973 soundtrack for a short experimental film, two recent works with old collaborator Hugh Hopper and finally a 2003 home demo of a new song that did not end up on Robert's new release CuckooLand. Additionally, this CD includes a Quicktime movie of that 1973 film, as well as a 16 page booklet filled with photos, artwork and stories supplied by Robert and others, and liner notes by Aymeric Leroy."

BONE: Uses Wrist Grab CD (CUNE 176). $13.00

"This is the first album by the new band of: guitarist Nick Didkovsky (Doctor Nerve), bassist Hugh Hopper (Soft Machine) and drummer John Roulat (Forever Einstein). Inspired by the energy and iconoclasm of heavy metal, evoking the fervor of guitar gods past, Bone's music is cathartic, blistering, and smart. Wailing, distorted guitars and driving rhythms delineate compositions that are brilliantly constructed, compelling and concise. Upon close inspection, this seemingly traditional guitar-bass-drums lineup is revealed to be anything but. In addition to the traditional rock instrumentation of guitar/bass/drums, some tunes on the CD feature electronics such as synth and tape loops, played by Hopper, and digitally based computer software instruments played by Didkovsky. The music ranges from take-no-prisoners-and-give-no-apologies intensity to deep floating psychedelia. Intense, precise, surreal: Bone is a power trio that defies expectations."

CURLEW: Mercury CD (CUNE 177). $13.00

"Curlew was formed in 1979 by George Cartwright, the group's leader, saxophonist, and main composer. Cartwright's compositions are at once direct and mysterious, possessing a clarity and focus that show both Ellington and Ornette assimilated in a most unique way. Backed by the hard-rocking unit of Chris Parker-electric keyboards and piano, Dean Granrosguitar, Fred Chalenor-bass and Bruce Golden-drums, Curlew somehow manage to combine r'n'b swagger and groove with free jazz and wild soloing into a whole that is immediately identifiable as nothing other than 'Curlew'. Curlew are well known and well respected for almost 25 years of exciting work. Mercury is their 10th release."

LARVAL: Obedience CD (CUNE 178). $13.00

"Larval is an avant/progressive rock ensemble led by composer Bill Brovold. Defined by driving guitars, saxes, multiple strings (violin, bass, cello, harp) and percussion, Larval's sound is intense, relentless and savagely hypnotic. The music brings to mind a blending of aspects of Glenn Branca, Godspeed You Black Emperor! King Crimson and more, but all put together in a completely 'Larval' fashion. Blistering in its intensity, relentless in its propulsive rhythms, the music on Obedience is nevertheless disciplined at its core. Brovold's compositions here encompass a wide spectrum of mood, traveling from quiet, contemplative passages tinged with ominous expectations to driving, aggressive onslaughts of screaming guitars and assorted strings that threaten chaos."

BIRDSONGS OF THE MESOZOIC: The Iridium Controversy CD (CUNE 179). $13.00

"Dubbed 'the world's hardest rocking chamber quartet' by the New York Times, Boston's Birdsongs of the Mesozoic creates innovative instrumental music that fuses rock, classical, minimalism, punk, garage/pop, and jazz. Two keyboardists (one on grand piano and one on synthesizer), guitar, saxophone and electronic/computer percussion produce a unique sound that fuses the youthful energy and anarchism of rock with the structure (and process) of classical music. The result is simultaneously abstract and accessible, music without vocals with broad popular appeal. The Iridium Controversy is a sophisticated work, a soundtrack to a primordial epic that harkens to the future as well as the past. The cover art for The Iridium Controversy is by British artist and designer Roger Dean."

THINKING PLAGUE: A History Of Madness CD (CUNE 180). $13.00

"Thinking Plague is a Colorado-based ensemble that explores the aural frontier where rock (in all its manifestations), modern classical, folk, and jazz music meet. A History of Madness, presents a further maturation of the band's sound. Its warm, organic sound is due in part to the inclusion of acoustic instruments in the mix, which is also interwoven with electronic sounds and samples. The CD includes two soundscape pieces, 'War on Terra' and 'Le Gouffre', that leader Mike Johnson maintains: 'are really a departure for me, or a beginning, as it were, in that they are my first really serious forays into the realm of semi-composed, sonic environments rather than organized pieces or songs.'"

MILLER/IN CAHOOTS, PHIL: All That CD (CUNE 181). $13.00

"Featuring great players from the worlds of both jazz and rock, In Cahoots is one of the best groups producing new jazz fusion in the U.K. today. It was formed in 1982 by composer and guitarist Phil Miller as a vehicle for his own compositions, jazz-inflected tunes notable for their unique melodies, intricacy, passages for passionate soloing, and expert use of rhythm. Showcasing Miller's sublime compositions and contributions by others, and absolutely stellar playing by all involved, All That is one smoking disc. It is essential listening for followers of Phil Miller's work as well as all fans of fusion and British jazz."

MCGREGOR'S BROTHERHOOD OF BREATH, CHRIS: Bremen To Bridgewater 2CD (CUNE 182/3). $18.00

"Combining the rhythms of African music with those of American big-band jazz and the free playing of British improv, it produced 'one of the most vital and life-affirming big-band jazz ever played by anyone, anywhere.' (BBC). The Brotherhood released only a handful of recordings in its lifetime. This release, Bremen to Bridgewater, contains two CDs of previously unreleased live recordings made in Germany and England during two very different periods of the band's career. The German recordings were made on June 20th, 1971 at Lila Uele, a well known jazz club in Bremen. The English recordings were made at the Bridgewater Arts Center, during two tours that the band made with different lineups in February and November of 1975, and feature some of the very last recordings of trumpeter Mongezi Feza, who died in December of that year. The band's lineups on these recordings are a veritable who's who of British free jazz, and include Harry Beckett, Marc Charig, Elton Dean, Nick Evans, Harry Miller, Louis Moholo, Mike Osborne, Evan Parker, Dudu Pukwana, Alan Skidmore, Gary Windo and others."

GUAPO: Five Suns CD (CUNE 184). $13.00

"Guapo is a British trio that plays an intense, emotive and sometimes harrowing music that straddles the boundaries of progressive, noise, minimalism and avant-rock. Indeed, their sound has been compared to such artists as Magma, Boredoms, King Crimson, Univers Zero, This Heat, Ruins, Sun Ra and Terry Riley. Five Suns is the band's fifth album, and its first on Cuneiform. Five Suns is Guapo's most apocalyptic and dynamically accomplished work to date, bringing a new sense of sonic and spatial awareness to the band's trademark sensibilities of complex song structures, harmonic atonality and percussive mantras. The Five Suns makes use of vintage equipment such as Fender Rhodes, mellotron, Moogs and gongs to create a colour-saturated patchwork of epic, primordial beauty. The new instrumentation has allowed for an opening out of the sound into more ambitious vistas, where progressive influences are turned on their head by both the infusion of hardcore rock energy and the use of hypnotic, trance-like repetition."

AHVAK: Ahvak CD (CUNE 185). $13.00

"The Israeli band Ahvak, named after the Hebrew word for 'Dust', creates music of dark, ominous and compelling beauty. Its striking and elegant compositions blur the boundary lines between classical, rock and folk musics, and align the band with such 'Rock in Opposition' style bands as Univers Zero and Present, The Science Group, Thinking Plague and the 5UUs. Ahvak's mesmerizing and electrified version of chamber rock is also comparable with such post-rock bands as Dead Can Dance and Godspeed You Black Emperor."

PINHAS, RICHARD: Transition CD (CUNE 186). $13.00

"Composer, guitarist and electronics innovator Richard Pinhas is recognized as one of France's major experimental musicians. A pivotal figure in the international development of electronic rock music, Pinhas' stature in France is analogous to Tangerine Dream's in Germany: the father figure of an entire musical movement. On Transition, his newest work on Cuneiform, Pinhas weaves beautiful, spacey, processed guitar tapestries, with added color from laptop, violin and the drumming of Antoine Paganotti of Magma. The voice of the late author Philip K. Dick can be heard on 'Moumoune girl', from a 1977 tape that he gave Pinhas. Transition is a multifaceted and richly jeweled work in which cause and effect, acoustics and electronics, taped sound and live playing change roles and even realities."

CLAUDIA QUINTET, THE: I, Claudia CD (CUNE 187). $13.00

"Formed by composer/drummer John Hollenbeck in 1997, this NY ensemble creates music that explores the edge in a manner that captivates and enthalls novice listeners, and keeps experienced fans returning for more. 'Claudia's' newest release, I, Claudia is a highly seductive work, ripe with compelling, propulsive grooves, dynamic sensitivity and telepathic improvisation. Remarkably accessible, its music can perhaps be called postjazz." Features: Drew Gress, Matt Moran, Ted Reichman, Chris Speed.

UNIVERSITY OF ERRORS: Jet Propelled Photographs CD (CUNE 188). $13.00

"University of Errors is led by guitarist, vocalist, and pataphysical icon Daevid Allen. A near-legendary figure of the musical avant garde, Allen is an accomplished musician, artistic catalyst, and free-spirited psychedelic prankster who, over the course of his 60+ years, ignited and/or cross-pollinated creative fires in avant art movements across the globe. Allen launched his US-based band, University of Errors, twenty years, numerous musical escapades and multiple continents later. Jet Propelled Photographs is University of Error's 4th release. It is a remake of Soft Machine's first music: their repertoire from the days when Allen was in, and recorded with, the band whose existence he sparked. On Jet Propelled Photographs, University of Errors revives, re-informs, and reinvents Soft Machine's psychedelic rock and pop of the era, kicking it into the 21st century and resulting in a sound that is entirely new."

WINDO, GARY: Anglo American CD (CUNE 189). $13.00

"Anglo-American saxophonist, improviser and composer Gary Windo was a 'musician's musician,' whose talent, passion and sheer joy for music energized and inspired musicians and audiences on two continents. Capable of handling any musical task while imprinting it with his personal style, and loving music of every manifestation, his work was in high demand by jazz, rock, r&b and pop artists. Anglo American, the 2nd retrospective of Windo's work to appear on Cuneiform, was compiled by Mike King and features liner notes by Pam Windo which include Gary's brief annotations. Consisting of over 70 minutes of previously unreleased and rare recordings from 1971-81, it not only highlights a decade of Windo's work but also that of numerous other prominent avant garde musicians on two continents. Anglo American includes 35 minutes of early 1970s recordings featuring Wyatt; several tracks featuring Brotherhood of Breath members, including Mongezi Feza, Dudu Pukwana and Louis Moholo; and appearances by Hugh Hopper, Steve Swallow, Laurie Allen and numerous other notable artists."

UNIVERS ZERO: Implosion CD (CUNE 190). $13.00

"The new CD features their trademark chamber rock style subtly modernized, infused with greater classicism and given a sharper, more electric and electronic edge. Implosion shows that, three decades after it was first formed, Univers Zero continues to evolve, expanding and experimenting with the boundaries of New Music, and, to quote Exposé, ceaselessly 'proving themselves to be one of the best and most important groups on the planet.'"

KAISER AND WADADA LEO SMITH, HENRY: Yo Miles! - Sky Garden 2CD (CUNE 191). $21.00

"Among the giants enthroned in jazz's pantheon, no one made as big, as broad, as bad-boy brazen of an impact on popular music in many manifestations — jazz, rock and improvisation — as Miles Davis. At the same time, he pioneered new routes for rock. The innovations Davis made in both jazz and rock spawned immediate followers in his time, and continue to infuse and energize the music of today. During the period c.1969-75, Davis also blazed new trails in improvisation. For Sky Garden, Yo Miles!'s 2nd recording and 1st release on Cuneiform, Kaiser and Smith have assembled an all-star cast culled from both the jazz and rock communities. The lineup here includes Smith on trumpet; Kaiser, Mike Kenalee and Chris Muir on electric guitars; Michael Manning on bass; Steve Smith on drums; Karl Perazzo on percussion; Greg Osby (alto) and John Tchicai (tenor and soprano) on saxophones; and Tom Coster on percussion. It also features a number of special guests, including Zakir Hussain on tabla, Dave Creamer on guitar, and the ROVA Sax Quartet. The group's studio performance at The Site was recorded live, directly to a stereo DSD (Direct Stream Digital) recorder, in a manner comparable to how Davis recorded live to analogue tape. The result is a set of two hybrid SACDs (Super Audio CDs, a new technology for enhanced audio quality) playable in either an SACD player or on a standard CD player."

PYLE'S BASH, PIP: Belle Illusion CD (CUNE 193). $13.00

"Drummer and composer Pip Pyle is widely recognized as the drummer of the Canterbury school of progressive rock. As the drummer for Hatfield and the North and National Health, as well as stints with Gong, In Cahoots, Soft Heap and many, many others in both England and France, Pyle is one of the great drummers of both progressive rock and jazz-rock/fusion. His newest project, Bash!, is a modern electric jazz fusion outfit that integrates all of his past musical experiences while showcasing his compositional skills."

SOFT MACHINE: Live In Paris, May 2nd, 1972 2CD (CUNE 195). $18.00

"One of the most critically acclaimed, far-reaching and influential avant rock bands ever was Soft Machine, named after a novel by William Burroughs. About five years into the band's lifetime, in August 1971, founding member Robert Wyatt left Soft Machine. The band had just released its Fourth album and completed an exhausting period of touring. Wyatt's departure left the band — then consisting of keyboardist Ratledge, bassist Hugh Hopper and saxophonist Elton Dean — in disarray. After a few months, Soft Machine recruited rock drummer John Marshall, formerly of the Jack Bruce Band and Nucleus. But the lineup of Hopper, Ratledge, Dean and Marshall would only last a half year. Live In Paris is a rare recording of the quartet of Hopper, Ratledge, Dean and Marshall during that lineup's final days; Dean left Soft Machine later that month. It is also a special, rare example of a Soft Machine concert recorded and released in its entirety. Live In Paris shows Soft Machine playing in top form, their stage performance transcending any internal tensions. Heavily indebted to jazz as well as free improvisation, the band's jazz/rock sound here is at times spare, even minimal, with Dean's free-blowing saxophone often in the fore. In the liner notes, Aymeric Leroy notes that the music illustrates main composers Ratledge and Hopper's 'shift in compositional style towards looser and more minimalistic themes'."

TIBBETTS, STEVE: CD (CUNE 55009). $13.00

Nice reissue of an always tough to find privately pressed album from 1977. "Recorded at home just using multiple guitars, synth & tape/effects/processing, this achieves an unholy blend of finger-stick guitar Americana with the psychedelic spirit & effects of Jimi Hendrix. Carefully mastered from the original master tape, Steve says that the sound is better than he even hoped was possible." For many who are prone to wariness with anything ECM-related (the label Tibbetts has always been associated with since this debut), this is quite a stroke.

THE MUFFINS: Open City CD (CUNE 55010). $13.00

"Back in print after being unavailable for the last few years! The Muffins were a Washington D.C. area progressive band circa 1974-81. This is all previously unreleased performances from 1977-80. Includes an outtake from Manna/Mirage, excellently recorded live pieces not found elsewhere, their incredible final demo tape, and two superb outtakes from Fred Frith's Gravity LP."

HAPPY THE MAN: Live CD (CUNE 55014). $13.00

"Many people consider HTM to be the finest symphonic rock band that the US has ever produced. This features spirited live versions from their two long unavailable Arista LPs, some of which are significantly different than the studio versions."

HAPPY THE MAN: Death's Crown CD (CUNE 55015). $13.00

"Composed & performed in late 1974, Death's Crown was written as a collaborative work with dancers, actors, lighting & coordinated slide shows — a multi-media event staged at a local dinner theatre in their hometown. The piece was performed several times, but was not a regular part of their repertoire, although parts of the work were regularly performed by the band in concert. Rehearsal tapes of the band performing Death's Crown were recently found & this marks the first time that this material has ever been heard."

CYTRAX (UK):*PHONO.O: Typodub EP 12" (CYTRAX 17). $9.00

"John Mendez's (DJ Jasper) prestigious Cytrax label back with their second release from Phono.o. Brilliant electronics on this EP."

WHITE, GEOFF: Student Teacher 12" (CYTRAX 18). $9.00

"John Mendez's (DJ Jasper) prestigious Cytrax label back in the picture with the great new release from Geoff White. Geoff White is a time based media student from Ohio and is the newest addition to the close knit Cytrax family. Geoff brings forward 3 cuts of brilliantly innovative minimal dance tracks that move the body as well as the mind. This prolific young producer promises great things in the months to come with releases on Force Inc., Morris Audio, Delay and his new project Label Edit."

PHON.O: Partition B CD (CYTRAX 19). $15.00

"This is the first full length album on Cytrax Records, the label of DJ Jasper. It is written and produced Phono.o (an artist from Berlin who has already released some 12"s on Cytrax). The tracks are mastered by Kit Clayton. Phon.o brings out Partition B — a very nice and beautiful, crispy, dubby CD with a lot of new fresh experimental, glitchy sounds. All tracks have a deep and mind blowing own feeling."

DAGORED (ITALY):*MORRICONE, ENNIO: Morricone 2000 CD (RED 105 CD). $15.50

"Great compilation with 16 tracks culled from eight different original soundtracks from the past. Track listing and liner notes by Alan Bishop of the Sun City Girls." "This collection is a veiw from the top of the food chain; 16 boxcars of luminosity from an archival train that could span this earth. Culled from 8 original soundtracks in the Beat Records catalog, some of these cuts are impossible to describe. What kind of music is 'Una Corsa Disperata'...high drama orchestral psychedelia? How about 'Veni Sancte Spiritus'...an acid rock opera in Vatican City? And how could the sweet-syrup majesty of the theme to 'Il Grande Silenzio' possibly accompany a murderous Klaus Kinski on the screen during Sergio Corbucci's epic spaghetti western, the only one filmed in three feet of snow?" — Alan Bishop.

MORRICONE, ENNIO: Morricone 2000 LP (RED 105 LP). $16.00

"180 gram vinyl, and comes in a gatefold sleeve."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: Le Foto Proibite Di Una Signora Per Bene CD (RED 106 CD). $15.50

"The original soundtrack recording for a 1970 obscure Italian thriller. Featuring Edda Dell'Orso and I Cantori Moderni. Contains a previously unreleased track. A must for all of Morricone's serious fans." "The music for the film, represented in its complete form for the first time on this release, is certainly soaked with atmospheres and touching sensation. The style and keys of Ennio return in this score in the most sublime way, surely complimented by the voice, unequalled and unsurpassed, of soprano Edda Dell'Orso." — Roberto Zamori.

MORRICONE, ENNIO: Le Foto Proibite Di Una Signora Per Bene LP (RED 106 LP). $16.00

180 gram vinyl with gatefold sleeve.

NICOLAI, BRUNO: Agente Speciale LK Operazione Re Mida CD (RED 107 CD). $15.50

"The original soundtrack recording for a 1967n spy comedy from cult director Jess Franco. This is known in the US as Lucky The Inscrutable. The awesome music score provided by Nicolai (Hammond organ, guitar riffs, and catchy vocals), perfectly match this sixties pop-art style store of secret agents, beautiful women, mad scientists and fast cars. The CD contains a previously unreleased track."

NICOLAI, BRUNO: Agente Speciale LK Operazione Re Mida LP (RED 107 LP). $16.00

Gatefold LP version.

REED, LES: Girl On A Motorcycle LP (RED 108 LP). $16.00

LP version of the CD found on the RPM label. "Gatefold sleeve and 180 gram vinyl, plus a free poster included."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: La Donna Invisibile CD (RED 109 CD). $15.50

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1969 obscure Italian comedy featuring Edda Dell'Orso as vocalist. The CD contains four previously unreleased tracks. A must for all Morricone's serious fans. Liner notes by Roberto Zamori and very cool artwork."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: La Donna Invisibile LP (RED 109 LP). $16.00*MORRICONE, ENNIO: Una Lucertola Con La Pelle Di Donna CD (RED 110 CD). $15.50

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1971 cult movie (known in the US as Lizard In A Woman's Skin) directed by the mighty Lucio Fulci. The score perfectly matches this psychodrama murder mystery thriller involving LSD, psychoanalysis, lesbianism, and extremely gory dream sequences. The CD contains 6 previously unreleased tracks."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: Una Lucertola Con La Pelle Di Donna LP (RED 110 LP). $16.00*MORRICONE, ENNIO: Il Gatto A Nove Code CD (RED 111 CD). $15.50

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1971 cult movie (known in the US as The Cat O'Nine Tails) by horror director Dario Argento. The score is conducted by Bruno Nicolai and features Edda Dell'Orso. The CD contains 3 previously unreleased tracks. Liner notes by Roberto Zamori and free poster included."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: Il Gatto A Nove Code LP (RED 111 LP). $16.00*MORRICONE, ENNIO: Revolver CD (RED 112 CD). $15.50

"Long-awaited original soundtrack recording for this 1972 obscure Italian crime story (US title: Blood In The Streets) starring Oliver Reed. Really fine dramatic score by the Maestro." From Roberto Zamori's liner notes: "Morricone reaffirms here his concept that film music can (or rather, must) claim its own independence regarding style, contents and form. The elegance of the orchestration, made all the more evident by the resolute orchestra direction of the talented, late Nicolai, makes this core one of the more interesting works of the Roman composer in the series of detective stories and thrillers."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: Revolver LP (RED 112 LP). $16.00

"180 gram vinyl in a gatefold sleeve."

ORTOLANI, RIZ: Mondo Candido CD (RED 113 CD). $15.50

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1974 cool erotic adaptation of Voltaire's Candide, directed by the duo Iacopetti/Proserpi. Another great score by Ortolani after the worldwide success of the mighty Mondo Cane. Liner notes by Roberto Zamori. Beautiful artwork, and the first time available on CD format."

ORTOLANI, RIZ: Mondo Candido LP (RED 113 LP). $16.00

"180 gram vinyl in gatefold sleeve."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: Giu' La Testa LP (RED 114 LP). $16.00

LP-only release. "Unforgettable original soundtrack recording for this 1972 classic spaghetti western (known in the US as Duck, You Sucker, or A Fistful of Dynamite) by cult director Sergio Leone. Definitely one of Morricone's best works. 11 tracks, great artwork. Free poster included. 180 gram vinyl in gatefold sleeve."

VA: More Delicious Spaghetti Westerns CD (RED 115 CD). $15.50

"Finally, the followup to the mighty My Delicious Spaghetti Westerns from a couple of years ago. This time you will find all the best Italian composers of film music - Ennio Morricone, Piero Piccioni, Luis Bacalov, Armando Trovajoli, Riz Ortolani, Alessandro Alessandrini, and more. Compiled by Orsotopo with liner notes by Roberto Zamori."

VA: More Delicious Spaghetti Western LP (RED 115 LP). $16.00

"Great artwork and 180 gram vinyl in a gatefold sleeve with an 8 page booklet."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: Il Poliziotto Della Brigata Criminale CD (RED 116 CD). $15.50

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1975 obscure French crime movie (known in the US as Night Caller) directed by Henri Verneuil and starring Jean-Paul Belmondo. A thriller drama about a psychotic serial killer who makes obscene phone calls to beautiful women and later kills them. Liner notes by Roberto Zamori."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: Il Poliziotto Della Brigata Criminale LP (RED 116 LP). $16.00

"180 gram vinyl in a gatefold sleeve."

O.S.T. (GOBLIN): Dawn of the Dead LP (RED 117 LP). $16.00

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1979 US cult movie by horror director George A. Romero (the epic sequel to his legendary Night Of The Living Dead). Terrific music score by Goblin and Dario Argento (yes, the Italian director). Liner notes by Roberto Zamori. Free poster included. 180 gram vinyl in gatefold sleeve." "In contrast to Argento's own frenetic tempos, Goblin create a plodding, lumbering main theme which fits the slow movement of massed zombies. Fat drums, chunky bass, tubular bells, spaced-out synth chords — the arrangement is a mutation of Black Sabbath's first LP and Morricone's early Spaghetti Western scores. Inappropriately overstated? Maybe. Luridly stylish? Definitely." — Philip Brophy/The Wire.

MORRICONE, ENNIO: Slalom O.S.T. CD (RED 118 CD). $15.50

"The complete soundtrack recording (first time ever as a singular release) for this 1965 cult Italian spy movie starring Vittorio Gassman. Super suave film score with the classic main title surf-spy-ski theme song plus Arabian parlor music/hippy bongo suspense/orchestral moods/cocktail blues/roller rink electric guitar/odd vocal chorus film melodics and more..."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: Slalom O.S.T. LP (RED 118 LP). $16.00

"180 gram HQ vinyl. Gatefold sleeve."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: Gli Occhi Freddi Della Paura CD (RED 119 CD). $15.50

"This, the only credited soundtrack appearance of Gruppo di Improvvisazione Nuova Consonanza, makes you wish Morricone had used his free improv unit for that purpose more often. Gli Occhi Freddi Della Paura, or Cold Eyes of Fear, is an Italian slasher (giallo) from 1971. The score has Il Gruppo augmented by a rhythm section and a fuzz-wah guitarist (most likely Alessandro Alessandrini). The results sound like a creepy take on 70s Miles Davis, with driving jazz beats and psychedelic guitar jabs filtering in and out of the suspenseful textural mayhem provided by Il Gruppo: ashrays in pianos, bowed cymbals, scraping metal, jittery horns, string drones, etc. Besides an odd one in the Morricone canon, Gli Occhi is also an unusual endeavor for Il Gruppo. The ensemble set out to avoid all musical conventions: '...no sounds bound to the tonal system, no rhythmic periodicity, no motives, and no repetition allowed...', yet here they break Franco Evangelisti's rules and find themselves locked in some serious grooves. This Dagored issue is the definitive version with great sound and seven previously unreleased cues on both vinyl and CD. I don't blame anyone for being on the fence or only occasionally dipping their toes in the world of Morricone, that world is a confounding and oft disappointing one — the man scored nearly 400 films and finding the nuggets is tough. However, this is the one that all you adventurous/out-music gluttons needs to be able pull off the shelf when the avant-garde police knock on your door. Yep, this is THE ONE." — Frank van den Elzen.

"180 gram HQ vinyl. Gatefold sleeve."

LES MALEDICTUS SOUND: Les Maledictus Sound LP (RED 120 LP). $16.00

"Originally released in 1968, this is one of the most bizarre records ever released and one of the most sought after titles on the collectors' market. The Maledictus Sound are to instrumental rock what Frankenstein was to science... a laboratory monster... a strange creature assembled from a mish-mash of diverse musical sounds... psychedelic pop, romantic ballads, musical tongue-in-cheek, drugged out chipmunks, near-delirium sound effects, horror movie screamadelia and a mega-twisted '60s vibe... eclectic, epileptic... for Jello Biafra this is 'some of the most screaming exotica-psych I've ever heard in my life.' Original artwork. Contains a free poster. 180 gram HQ vinyl, gatefold sleeve."

BARRY, JOHN: Game Of Death LP (RED 121 LP). $16.00

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1978 classic Bruce Lee movie (also starring Chuck Norris and basketball star Kareem Abdul-Jabbar). A very nice score featuring funky beats (with really cool '70s cop show kinda feel), orchestral moments and weird sound/effects. 11 tracks, free poster included, original artwork, gatefold sleeve, 180 gram HQ vinyl."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: Metti Una Sera A Cena LP (RED 122 LP). $16.00

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1969 Italian cult movie starring Jean-Louis Trintignant. The greatest Ennio Morricone's score ever? Maybe. You will fall in love with the dreamy kinda bossa influenced main theme (covered by countless artists). 9 tracks, beautiful artwork, gatefold sleeve, 180 gram HQ vinyl."

WOMACK, BOBBY: OST Rubare Alla Mafia È Un Suicidio CD (RED 123 CD). $15.00

"Bobby Womack's original soundtrack to the 1972 blaxploitation classic Rubare Alla Mafia È Un Suicidio, (better known by its original US title Across 110th Street), directed by Barry Shear is one of the best scores of the early 70s thanks to Bobby Womack's amazing 'Across 110th Street' title track (famously used by Quentin Tarantino in Jackie Brown). Also includes 'If You Don't Want My Love', 'Quicksand', 'Do It Right', 'Hang On In There' plus extra cool instrumentals by composer/conductor J.J. Johnson. All new artwork."

WOMACK, BOBBY: Rubare Alla Mafia È Un Suicidio LP (RED 123 LP). $16.00

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1972 blaxploitation movie directed by Barry Shear (the US title is Across 110th Street). This is one of the best scores of the early '70s thanks to the great title track (used by Quentin Tarantino in Jackie Brown). 'If You Don't Want My Love', 'Quicksand', 'Do It Right', 'Hang On In There' plus the extra cool instrumentals by J.J. Johnson. Completely new artwork, gatefold sleeve, 180 gram HQ vinyl."

CARPENTER, JOHN: Escape From New York LP (RED 124 LP). $16.00

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1981 classic John Carpenter's movie starring Kurt Russell/Snake Plisken (along with Ernest Borgnine, Lee Van Cleef, Isaac Hayes, Harry Dean Stanton and Donald Pleasence). A wonderful score composed and performed by John Carpenter in association with Alan Howarth. This is a new expanded edition featuring lots of previously unreleased tracks and film dialogues. 28 tracks, free poster included, cool new artwork, gatefold sleeve, 180 gram HQ vinyl."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: Morricone 2001 CD (RED 125 CD). $15.50

"This is a wonderful collection for all Morricone's fans. 15 tracks culled from ten different original soundtracks from the late '60s and early '70s. Track listing and liner notes by Alan Bishop of Sun City Girls." From the liner notes: "One of his most refined and immediately recognizable trademarks was the 'erotic pop' sound, featured here in 15 epic tracks. Lush and hypnotic, most of these cuts outshine the films they were associated with, taking on cinematography of their own, luring the attentive to drift amidst powerful moods from an infectious period of musical style and mystery...these orchestral pop compositions and arrangements provide even further proof of Morricone's immortality as perhaps the most expressive film composer of the 20th century. And, by the way, that 'groovy lounge exploitation mood erotica' banner thrown around loosely these days doesn't get any better than this!"

MORRICONE, ENNIO: Morricone 2001 LP (RED 125 LP). $16.00

The 180 gram HQ vinyl version comes in a gatefold sleeve with a free poster included."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: OST Gli Intoccabili CD (RED 126 CD). $15.50

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1969 obscure Italian crime movie (known in the US as Machine Gun McCain) and starring John Cassavetes, Peter Falk, Gena Rowlands and Britt Ekland). Another great score by the Maestro. 15 tracks (including 4 previously unreleased cuts)."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: OST Gli Intoccabili LP (RED 126 LP). $16.00

"The 180 gram HQ vinyl version comes in a gatefold sleeve."

O.S.T. (GOBLIN): Suspiria LP (RED 127 LP). $16.00

"Suspiria (1976) recapitulates the formulaic accoutrements of symphonic rock (compound time signatures, ornate instrumentation, vainglorious tone, melodramatic structure, self-aggrandising solos, etc) yet in its feverish simulation of the vocabulary, it somehow transcends the dated conventions of the form. More than Deep Red (which occasionally affects jazz fusion styling), Suspiria salaciously degenerates into atonal freeform passages which evoke a pap paganism to create some chilling moments of terror. Argento's murderous gaze and psychosexual camera work is matched by the hedonistic fever with which Goblin rake over the clichés of symphonic rock, stoking them into an overblown spectacle of operatic effect. While conservative critics bemoan both the excessiveness of Italian exploitation cinema and the numbing bombast of rock scores, Argento and Goblin collaborate to create a potent and toxic fusion of the two, blending their co-existing strains of perversity." — Philip Brophy, Secret History of Film Music, THE WIRE, April 98.

ORTOLANI, RIZ: OST Una Sull'Altra CD (RED 128 CD). $15.50

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1969 Italian thriller filmed in San Francisco by cult director Lucio Fulci. The movie (known in the US as One On The Top Of The Other or Perversion Story) has one of the best and well-known scores written by the mighty Riz Ortolani. Groovy and jazzy like not many other Italian soundtracks. Contains 4 previously unreleased bonus tracks. Very cool artwork. The 180 gram HQ vinyl version comes in a gatefold sleeve with a free poster included."

ORTOLANI, RIZ: OST Una Sull'Altra LP (RED 128 LP). $16.00

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1972 French-Italian obscure political thriller directed by Yves Boisset. A dramatic and intense score by the Maestro for a movie starring Jean Seberg, Jean-Louis Trintignant, Roy Scheider and Michel Piccoli among the others. Nice artwork. Gatefold sleeve. 180 gram HQ vinyl."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: OST L'Attentato LP (RED 129 LP). $16.00*MORRICONE, ENNIO: OST The Good, The Bad And The Ugly 2LP (RED 130). $18.00

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1966 Italian spaghetti western directed by Sergio Leone... the classic theme is Morricone's most famous composition and topped the charts in the US and Europe covered by Hugo Montenegro... moments of intense drama and incredible beauty that are rarely heard in motion picture underscoring... there's a traditional element with a brassy feel to it, with thundering percussions, various arrangements of voices, a lot of bells, clanging acoustic and electric 'surfing' guitars, and even a prepared piano... contains 10 previously unreleased outtakes... digitally remastered... new artwork... gatefold sleeve... 180 gram HQ vinyl..."

SIMONETTI/MORANTE/PIGNATELLI: OST Tenebre LP (RED 131 LP). $16.00

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1983 Italian cult movie by horror director Dario Argento (this is actually one of his most violent and scary films). A terrific music score by Simonetti/Morante/Pignatelli (aka. Goblin) for this story starring Anthony Franciosa. Beautiful new artwork. Gatefold sleeve... 180 gram HQ vinyl."

ABRIL, ANTON GARCIA/GIOMBINI, MARCELLO: OST...4.3...2...1 Morte LP (RED 132 LP). $16.00

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1967 Italian cult sci-fi movie by director Primo Zeglio... an intense music score used as background for astronaut Perry Rhodan's space adventures... bizarre voice-only tracks, 'outer space' electronic themes, organ-based rhythmic jazzy pieces with a psychedelic feeling... featuring the mighty shake music theme 'Seli' featuring Edda Dell'Orso and I Cantori Moderni... 15 tracks... digitally remastered... beautiful artwork... gatefold sleeve... 180 gram HQ vinyl..."

FRIZZI, FABIO: OST The Beyond CD (RED 133 CD). $15.50

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1981 Italian cult horror movie known for its nauseatingly special effects... a terrific music score for this Louisiana-set creepy story (directed by Lucio Fulci) about cannibalistic zombies, haunted houses, multiple murder and hell... beautiful new artwork."

FRIZZI, FABIO: OST The Beyond LP (RED 133 LP). $16.00

"Gatefold sleeve... 180 gram HQ vinyl..."

SCIASCIA, ARMANDO: OST Metempsyco CD (RED 134 CD). $15.50

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1965 Italian horror cult feature (known in the US as Tomb Of Torture). Directly from the vaults at the cool Vedette label, this a fantastic and really intense score released for first time on compact disc. Contains previously unreleased material. Liner notes by Roberto Zamori."

SCIASCIA, ARMANDO: OST Metempsyco LP (RED 134 LP). $16.00

"180 HQ vinyl. Gatefold sleeve."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: OST Il Diavolo Nel Cervello CD (RED 135 CD). $15.50

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1971 Italian thriller movie directed by Sergio Sollima. A very impressive and effective score with the usual great compositions and arrangements by one of the most acclaimed film composers of the last 40 years. Contains previously unreleased material. New artwork."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: OST Il Diavolo Nel Cervello LP (RED 135 LP). $16.00

"180 gram HQ vinyl. Gatefold sleeve."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: OST Giornata Nera Per L'Ariete CD (RED 136 CD). $15.50

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1971 Italian crime movie directed by Luigi Bazzoni and starring Franco Nero (the feature is known in the US as The Fifth Cord or Evil Fingers). This score is epic and outshine most of Morricone works from this period. The lush and hypnotic tracks included are memorable. Contains previously unreleased material. New artwork."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: OST Giornata Nera Per L'Ariete LP (RED 136 LP). $16.00

"180 gram HQ vinyl... gatefold sleeve."

GOBLIN/GIORGIO GASLINI: OST Profondo Rosso LP (RED 137). $16.00

"The original soundtrack recording for the 1975 cult masterpiece by horror director Dario Argento. The movie (known in the US as Deep Red and starring David Hemmings) has one of the most terrific and intense scores ever and sold millions of copies. New artwork. Gatefold sleeve. 180 gram HQ vinyl."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: OST Indagine Su Di Un Cittadino Al Di Sopra Di Ogni Sospetto LP (RED 138). $16.00

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1970 Italian thriller by Elio Petri known in the US as Investigation Of A Citizen Above Suspicion. Beautiful stuff from Morricone with a haunting set of themes played on vibes, plucked strings and some very odd-sounding instruments. This score has the usual dreamy and minimally melodic style that made Morricone's fame. Featuring Edda Dell'Orso. New artwork. Gatefold sleeve. 180 gram HQ vinyl."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: OST Quattro Mosche Di Velluto Grigio LP (RED 139). $16.00

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1971 thriller by director Dario Argento known in the US as Four Flies On Grey Velvet. One of the best Morricone's scores, a milestone of a soundtrack. Orchestra conducted by Bruno Nicolai. New artwork. Gatefold sleeve. 180 gram HQ vinyl."

MARTELLI, AUGUSTO: OST Il Dio Serpente LP (RED 140). $16.00

"A great 1970 lost erotic trashy soundtrack filled with some excellent groovy numbers. An obscure score by Augusto Martelli with great compressed guitar and Hammond organ plus lots of exotic percussions. New artwork. Gatefold sleeve. 180 gram HQ vinyl."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: OST Ecce Homo (I Sopravvissuti) CD (RED 141 CD). $15.50

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1968 Italian science fiction thriller by director Bruno A. Gaburro. Beautiful music with a haunting set of themes for one of the most obscure Morricone's scores. Contains 3 previously unreleased tracks. New artwork."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: OST Ecce Homo (I Sopravvissuti) LP (RED 141 LP). $16.00

Gatefold sleeve. 180 gram HQ vinyl.

MORRICONE, ENNIO: OST Il Serpente CD (RED 142 CD). $15.50

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1972 Italian/French spy thriller directed by Henri Verneuil. The movie (known in the US as Night Flight From Moscow and starring Yul Brynner, Henry Fonda, Dirk Bogarde and Philippe Noiret) has one of Morricone's best scores. If you are familiar with his Una Lucertola Con La Pelle Di Donna soundtrack, you are getting an even better idea 'cause this is very much like that one. Along with the best known track 'Tema Per Una Donna Sola' (a very nice romantic theme), 'Nadine' (a brilliant pop instrumental), and 'Canzone Lontana' (featuring Edda Dell'Orso) the score contains lots of weird and scary instrumental sounds for a dark and noisy, totally atonal Morricone's masterpiece. Contains 16 previously unreleased tracks. New artwork."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: OST Il Serpente LP (RED 142 LP). $16.00

Gatefold sleeve. 180 gram HQ vinyl.

USUELLI, TEO: OST Mondo Nudo CD (RED 143 CD). $15.50

"The original soundtrack recording for this 1963 Italian shockumentary directed by Francesco De Feo. A previously unreleased score for all the fans of the infamous Mondo series. Cool artwork."

USUELLI, TEO: OST Mondo Nudo LP (RED 143 LP). $16.00

Gatefold sleeve. 180 gram HQ vinyl.

MORRICONE, ENNIO: OST Barbablù CD (RED 144 CD). $15.50

"Morricone's original soundtrack to the 1972 cult classic Barbablu, starring (two-time husband of Elizabeth Taylor) Richard Burton. Based on the traditional fairy tale 'Blue Beard', this version of the film is set in Weimar Germany and the uxoricidal 'Barbablu' (Richard Burton) is the nazi Baron Von Sepper. The female cast includes Virna Lisi, Raquel Welch (Miss Universe), and Karin Schubert (future porn-star!). Directed by Edward Dmytryk and Luciano Sacripanti. Morricone's soundtrack perfectly captures the dramatic and erratic moods of this erotic psycho-thriller. Trademark high quality Dagored artwork. CD version also includes 11 bonus tracks."

MORRICONE, ENNIO: OST C'Entriamo Noi Con La Rivoluzione? CD (RED 145 CD). $15.50

"Original Morricone soundtrack for this classic 1972 Italian 'tortilla-western' directed by spaghetti western king, Sergio Corbucci (perhaps best known for his classic Django [1966] and Navajo Joe, [1967], starring Burt Reynolds. Although the spaghetti western genre was invented by men like Corbucci and Sergio Leone, it was Ennio Morricone who gave the genre its distinctive flavor. Unlike many spaghetti westerns, C'Entriamo Noi Con La Rivoluzione? was intended as a comedy, evident by the presence of two of Italy's most famous comic actors: Vittorio Gassman and Paolo Villaggio. The light-hearted subject matter gave Morricone the opportunity to explore less familiar terrain — the result being a surprisingly experimental blend that makes the soundtrack an essential Morricone recording. Only 3 of the 17 tracks have ever been previously released."

"Morricone's original soundtrack for the 1972 Italian drama by Nino Zanchin and starring Umberto Orsini, Susanna Melandri and Rosemarie Dexter. Morricone's melancholy soundscapes masterfully capture the tragic tale of the forbidden friendship between a young Israeli girl and Palestinian boy during a war between Israel and Palestine — unfortunately still a timely tale. Ethereal vocals by the legendary Edda Dell'orso. Includes 7 bonus tracks."

CINERAMA ORCHESTRA AND ALEX NORTH: OST South Seas Adventure CD (RED 147 CD). $15.00

"1958's South Seas Adventure was the fifth and last in a series of full-length documentaries designed especially for the 3-camera/3-projector Cinerama technology. The Cinerama Adventure was a new type of film that traded in big-name stars and plot in an attempt to give the audience a virtual reality-type experience, in this case, a trip in the South Seas. Although the Cinerama films have since become cult classics, the original soundtrack for the film was just one item in composer Alex North's hefty repertoire, which included the soundtracks to such classic films as Spartacus (1960), Cleopatra (1963), A Streetcar Named Desire (1951), The Bad Seed (1956), and Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf? (1966)." KINGSLEY, GERSHON: First Moog Quartet CD (RED 148 CD). $15.00

"In 1970, Kingsley formed the pioneering First Moog Quartet, a four-synthesizer ensemble that attempted to prove that the electronic music could be played 'live' on stage, even in classical musical venues like Carnegie Hall (where the group gave the first live performance of synthesized music ever on January 30, 1970). Kingsley said, 'People were kind of confused about the concert, I understand, because it was just so new.' In order to get the Moog Quartet going, Kingsley had to convince Robert Moog to build three other synthesizers he needed. Then hire and train four musicians to play them. Not an easy task. But Kingsley's First Moog Quartet (originally released in 1970 on Audiofidelity) is the astonishing result."

In an attempt to prove that the Moog was not just an unwieldy electronic toy, Kingsley also took songs like the Beatles 'Nowhere Man' and 'Paperback Writer', and classical pieces like 'For Alise Beethoven' and the children's lullaby 'Twinkle Twinkle Little Star' and transformed them into 100% Moog rockers, proving that the synthesizer was the instrument of the future that would change music forever." Fast cars, loveless sex, Russian roulette and general rebelliousness drive the teens to the brink of disaster. They look for anything to rebel against and take advantage of every opportunity to show up their well-meaning but vapid parental figures. Starring Helmut Berger."

EL-BAKKAR & HIS ORIENTAL ENSEMBLE, MOHAMMED: Music for a Belly Dancer 2LP (RED 153LP). $23.00

"One of the brightest Middle Eastern stars, already renowned for having performed for royalty, including the Shah of Iran, the late Mohammed El-Bakkar became famous in the United States for his leading role as a tenor in the Broadway musical Fanny. After this performance he immediately became a superstar for New York City's Middle Eastern community and his popularity soon spilled over into the mainstream as well. Collected in this 2LP set are his belly dancing masterpieces 'The Magic Carpet' and 'Sultan Of Bagdad' which — despite a very obsolete culturally characterized stereotype — give us an excellent example of the music that accompanies one of the most sensual traditions in the history of ritualistic dance."

LORD INVADER: Calypso LP (RED 154LP). $16.00

"Musically active since 1937, Trinidadian Rupert Grant aka Lord Invader obtained his nom-de-calypso from his tailor who had predicted his success saying 'when you go up to the city you be invading the capital'. Sent to New York in 1941 by his label to promote Calypso, his main song 'Rum and Coca-Cola', featured here, was stolen from him and soon became a huge hit for the Andrews Sisters. He eventually won a lawsuit against producer Morey Amsterdam but by the time he saw the money he already had flown to Great Britain (1945) where other calypsonians like Lord Kitchener had found success. This record, originally issued in 1956 on Audio Fidelity, witnesses the importance of the calypso tradition not only as a form of entertainment but also — and often mainly — as a form of political criticism towards the wartime presence of US soldiers ('Yankees') in Trinidad."

SHADES OF JOY: Music of El Topo LP (RED 155LP). $16.00

"Recorded in San Francisco in 1970 and originally released on the Douglas label, obscure Shades of Joy's Music Of El Topo is commonly associated with the visionary western-on-acid epic film El Topo by Chilean born Ukrainian Jewish multi-medial artist Alejandro Jodorowsky as its soundtrack, despite another unrelated album on the Apple label being credited as the true soundtrack to the flick. Nevertheless, this intriguing piece of urban jazz funk fusion delivers seven instrumental mantras whose core is neatly amalgamated by the fine art of a great ensemble, here together only for this seemingly extemporized job. The idea of 'soundtrack' is here superbly interpreted and leaves the listener puzzled about the short life of this incredible gathering of exceptional musicians." Gatefold sleeve.

LAST POETS, THE: Right On! LP (RED 156LP). $16.00

"The Black Renaissance and its related movements may never be fully comprehended if the work of the Last Poets does not hold an important place in one's discography. The sensational self-titled 1970 debut album (GET8005) and its follow up This Is Madness (GET8009) come full circle with our re-release of the Poets' soundtrack to Herbert Danska's 1971 movie Right On!, an example of poetry in motion through the multiple verbal attacks by this ensemble of African American musicians / protesters. Danska was awarded the Choice Of Directors prize at the 1971 Cannes film Festival and his work hinges on 'the beginning of new movies, where Black and Third World art is going' (from the original LP's liner notes by Imamu Baraka aka LeRoi Jones, one of the sharpest poets of the Black cultural revolution). This album continues the Poets' deep research in music, so original and unique that it became known as 'jazzpoetry' for its well rounded way of conjugating both musical and lyric disciplines."

MAYFIELD, CURTIS: Short Eyes LP (RED 158LP). $16.00

"This album is Mayfield's soundtrack to the 1977 Robert M. Young flick Short Eyes, based on the award-winning play by Miguel Pineiro. This project, released on Mayfield's Curtom label, again demonstrates his commitment to delivering a strong message from the African American and Latino communities. This powerful movie, despite its share of clichés (the inmates' code of honor, the race struggle that continues in jail, the abhorrent conditions of prisoners, especially Blacks) turns race relations on their head: here it is the white pedophile who is oppressed and the killers and drug dealers that surround him find their own dignity restored by their higher sense of morality."

DAILY BREAD MINISTRIES:*DAMON: Song Of A Gypsy CD (DAMON). $13.00

Reissue of US private pressing monster from the late 60s. This has been bootied twice before (UK's Afterglow and on LP via the "fuck you" Fanny label out of Belgium), but this is the first legit issue, from original masters, via the resurfaced hands of Damon himself. Originally recorded in 1969 and released in some micro-quantity of non-distributed LPs, the album documents Damon's travelling-gypsy-psych concoction and will either blow you into the stratosphere with its precise period-evocations, or have you in a rage of tears. Personally, I find the exotic percussion, the lovely zap-fuzz psych guitar and the invigoratingly heart-stopping hippie-era insight of Mr. Damon's lyrical genius one of life's more rewarding small pleasures. The final track, "The Road of Life," a metaphysical battle where "some wear suits, some wear beads," caps off one of the finest philosophical acid-comedy records of all time.

DAMON: Gypsy Ehyes CD (DAMON 2). $13.00

A surprising comeback album nearly 30s after the legendary Damon album came out. Unlike so many psych "big-ticket" albums that have come out in the last decade that were nothing more than purely ridiculous (anybody hear the reunion's from The Dark, Bent Wind, Marcus?), this record seems to maintain a similar spirit to the original intent. What a dude. "Damon, the Gypsy, returns after years of obscurity to present us with his new album. It bears the typical Damon trademark of haunting, hypnotic melodies, with lyrics that overflow with reflective thoughts of love and life that convey a deep-seated wisdom that will affect each and everyone of us in one way or another. As in the original Song Of A Gypsy, this new album will leave the listener with a much deeper insight into life itself, as well as the meaning of life itself, that most of us couldn't even begin to comprehend.

DAISYWORLD (JAPAN):*WORLD STANDARD: Jump For Joy (Discover America Series Vol. 3) CD (CTCR 14213). $32.00

World Standard is a long-running Japanese project run by Sôichirô Suzuki, produced by directed by YMO founder Haruomi Hosono. In 1997 Suzuki started a series of ambient acoustic albums in tribute to the American Primitive spirit on the Daisyworld label (the first, Country Gazette was licensed to Asphodel in the US, the 2nd volume, Mountain Ballad was quickly deleted in Japan and is tough to find). This is the third volume, and it is another exquisite recording. Utilizing guitar, piano, organ, pedal steel, fiddle, glockenspiel, cello, resonator guitar, banjo, euphonium, baritone horn, trumpet, hand saw, ukulele, etc. this album runs through a series of Suzuki "originals" and traditional and "unknown" songs (including Albert Ayler's "Ghosts") that is immaculate in its presentation. It says that "there's only one World Standard dedicated to John Fahey" and there's no doubt that this is The One. Inspirational.

DANCEFLOOR KILLERS (FRANCE):*DJ TONIO: dancefloorkillers.com CD (DK 008CD). $16.00

"Mixed by Tonio the one of the most famous French techno DJ's, resident DJ at the Rex club in Paris, and producer on Kobayashi and F-Com. On this mix compilation DJ Tonio presents almost of the Dancefloor Killers hits: the three tracks from the DK000 12" VitalFerox aka Al Ferox and Vitalic, Al Ferox's Voodoo Project, the Hacker remix from DK003 Dead Zone, plus more others French artists like David Carretta, C.Denza, Torgull..."

DJ TONIO: dancefloorkillers.com 12" (DK 008EP). $10.00

6 track 12" version. "This limited vinyl edition presents two mix excerpts from the dancefloorkillers.com mix CD including tracks from The Hacker, David Carretta, Al Ferox, Vitalic and C. Denza."

DANMASS INDUSTRIES (UK):*VA: Afro-Rock Volume 1 CD (KONA 01 CD). $15.00

"The last few years have seen a growing interest in Afro-funk, inspiring numerous labels to release compilations. While some have offered a genuine insight into the genre, most contain material already accessible to collectors or tracks by artists inspired by the original African pioneers. Afro-Rock Volume 1 digs much deeper, with compiler Duncan Brooker spending seven years trawling across Africa on a hunt for the real Afro Rock gems digging in chicken shacks and rifling the offices of long default record labels. Features largely unreleased Afro-funk gems from the likes of Jingo, Geraldino Pino, Stelle Beautah, Mercury Dance Band, Dackin Dackino, Orchestra Lissanga, Super Mambo 69, Yahoos, Bokoor Band, Nkansah & Yaanom and K Frimpong & The Cubano Fiesta. Afro-Rock Volume 1 is the definitive Afro-funk album, making an excellent addition to the Strut, Harmless, Comet, Ocho and Celluloid compilations of late whilst tracing the musical legacy beyond the usual Afrobeat suspects to its vibrant roots."

DARK BELOVED CLOUD:*UNCLE WIGGLY: Farfetchedness CD (DBC 216). $13.00

"Long running psych-pop trio Uncle Wiggly have been locked in their Brooklyn studio, Rubulad, and working on Farfetchedness continually for almost three years now, and it's their instrumental masterpiece, a dazzlingly intricate, nuanced piece of on-the-cheap studio genius. Imagine if Henry Cow and the early 80s Fall had collaborated on a wordless psychedelic album, or if The Faust Tapes had fermented for 25 years before poking its head up, and you'll be on the right track. Shivering guitar rock sandstorms, tangly overdubbed/edited improvisations and sampladelic home recordings link arms and somersault forward in tandem, magically shaping forms out of the chaos and vice versa."

WORLD (OF DREAMS): Who Is Yahdoosh? CD (DBC 219). $13.00

"World (of Dreams) is Wm. Berger, genius guitarist of Uncle Wiggly and occasional member of Smack Dab, the Gamma Rays, and Princess Superstar. This is his homage to and fantasia on the sound he loves: the sound of Faust, Harmonia and Karuna Khyal, of steam-thick, mind-warping textures, prickly electronic drones and spidery psychedelic guitar. Who Is Yahdoosh? is a series of five psychic phenomena manifested as extended audio dreams of the secret Autobahn exit in Brooklyn."

FLY ASHTRAY: Sawgrass Subligette CD (DBC 223). $13.00

"Formed in 1983, Fly Ashtray are the captains of a scene that's been bubbling ever since then. They bridge the gap between New York City's tradition of smart, tricky, wiry guitar bands and its new breed of twisted sound-sculptors. They've spent the last few years recording mountains of material and reworking and processing it in their famous Brooklyn space Rubulad- sometimes into tense, whiplash swift song forms, sometimes into abstract smears of sound, more often both at once. Sawgrass Subligette is their richest disc to date, playing up both their non-obvious sense of humor and their dizzying sonic intensity."

PHOAMING EDISON: Happy Nap Casino CD (DBC 224). $13.00

"Phoaming Edison is James Kavoussi, insane home-fermenting garble-pop auteur supreme, and one of the songwriting geniuses behind Uncle Wiggly and Fly Ashtray."

SNAIL, AZALIA: Brazen Arrows CD (DBC 231). $12.00

"Azalia Snail's eleventh solo album is a major change for her — she's put down her guitar and picked up an Omnichord and a new affection for the color of the sky at daybreak. Brazen Arrows is a different, abstractly expansive breed of juice-drizzled psychedelic whispering, warmed by the West Coast sun and inspired by clock chimes and Beatles mirages. The sweetness is front and center; the pungent overtones buzz around it."

DATA ERROR (UK):*VARIOUS ARTISTS: Einzelteile 12" (DATA 001 EP). $9.00

Four track EP featuring: Decomposed Subsonic, Gebruder Teichmann, Vredus, Mathias Schaffhauser. "Marc Weiser (Rechenzentrum) and Martin Frese (Kitty-Yo) started working on the series Data Error/Einzelteile (Single Parts) 2 years ago. That time they had the idea of releasing remixes of Rechenzentrum tracks from the longplayer The John Peel Session (Kitty-Yo 2001) as 12"s on their own label. A CD with 99 bits & bytes from The John Peel Session was sent to artists all over the world. The feedback was amazing. More than 30 tracks of different sounds and styles have been produced so far and more are in process. These tracks are going to be released now as series Einzelteile of 12"s on Data Error."

DATAPUNK (GERMANY):*ROTHER, ANTHONY: Back Home 12" (DTP 001EP). $9.00

"Anthony Rother has a newborn baby. We call it Datapunk. This is Electro within the upgrade of a musical definition of its position, which is open in all directions and re-considers the machine beat in a new and consequent way. Retro is dead, and because of that, we live Electro here and now. The story starts with 'Bad To The Bone': Never has Electro been formatted to the dancefloor more raw and direct over the last years, and those who like effect-manipulated vocals will have their share of fun, too. Significantly stricter, 'Back Home' deals with a matchless mix of alarm noises, frosty vocals and penetrating sawtooth sounds."

HEIL, JOHANNES: The World 12" (DTP 002EP). $9.00

"Johannes Heil has caught an anonymous vocalist from Tokyo and gives us with Datapunk 02 two high energetic and powerful invocations of the dark side. 'Changes' rocks unmercifully ahead with angry HiTech game scenarios, flanger and high frequency attacks as well as subsonic bass lines; nothing for weak nerves but an extraordinary track with its darkly distorted vocals, which will leave lasting traces in the collective memory of the clubs. Time has come for changes, that's true."

ROTHER, ANTHONY: In Electro We Trust CD (DTP 003CD). $18.00

"Trust is different from belief. Trust must be gained. Nobody knows his better than Anthony Rother. He works, plays, lives, is Electro for more than fifteen years now. With his new baby Datapunk, he transports the aesthetics of Electro to the present. However, trust is nothing you can get as a single fighter — trust needs social interaction, trust need the 'we'. This is why In Electro We Trust is especially in its plurality a highly expressive and border-crossing manifesto of the Datapunk sound with thirteen flashlight tracks, aiming at the illumination of all facets of a modern Electro concept. Anthony Rother himself selected the producers, assembling such highly acclaimed artists as Carl A. Finlow, The Advent, The Hacker, Johannes Heil or Alexander Kowalski. Over the last seven months, each of them composed an exclusive track and for the CD version, Rother processed these tracks into a homogenous digital mix."

ROTHER, ANTHONY: In Electro We Trust 3LP (DTP 003LP). $26.00

Triple LP version.

ROTHER, ANTHONY: Popkiller CD (DTP 004CD). $18.00

"Life is wonderful. Unexpected words to hear from almost thirty-year old Anthony Rother at the beginning of his fifth studio album. Are they gone, the times of skepticism about the process of independence of technology and its effects on the biosocial systems which had formative influence on his last two albums Simulationszeitalter and Hacker. Or is the new inside orientation in which Rather touches upon themes the family, friendship, or emotion pointing to the most important values on the threshold to the future? And how does the title of the album fit in? OK, curiosity kills cats, video kills the radio star, and copy kills the music industry but who would dare attacking pop culture? With Popkiller Anthony Rother establishes the format 'artist album' on his latest baby Datapunk — a label which already transported the aesthetics at Elektro with great success into the here and now with the EP Bad To The Bone/Back Home, and once more, the limits between the often hermetically separated styles of electronic dance music are blurred. 'Some people consider my releases on Datapunk Techno but my roots remain Elektro. For me, this blend of styles makes music simply more interesting at the moment than ever before. I'm really in the mood of getting ready to go. With Popkiller, I have since long reached a point where I cannot estimate how my surrounding will be reacting. I personally have a good feeling with the album, but I'm aware that Popkiller requires a high degree of flexibility, and that is creating a certain tension."

ROTHER, ANTHONY: Popkiller 2LP (DTP 004LP). $19.00

Double LP version.

HEIL, JOHANNES: The World CD (DTP 006CD). $18.00

"The literal sense of music is to transport emotions not money. From the start my approach was to escape this circuit, also as an statement against the slicky and aseptic mainstream popmusic of the 21st century. The image of the critical artist, who is dealing with hushed up topics, does not exist in modern pop music anymore. The main themes are love, sex, richness, honour and the creation of surfaces for perfect marketing instrumentation and not the true & important contents, no matter, if they are in the lyrics or in the music. Consumption is the only content. Johannes Heil wants a lot. It has always been like that. From the first second on Johannes Heil was a huge supporter of Anthony Rother's plan to create a new platform called Datapunk in order to refresh Elektro."

HEIL, JOHANNES: The World 2LP (DTP 006LP). $19.00

Double LP version.

DBK WORKS:*STARFUCKERS: (Infinitive Sessions) CD (DBK 102CD). $13.50

"On this 5th full length album from Italian experimental concrete-rock collective, (Infinitive Sessions) combines the diminutive rock a la No Wave champions the Contortions with a deconstructed take on the staggered soul rhythms of Fred Wesley and the J.B.'s, the gusto of the Stooges, the grinding prickly punk of Big Flame and the enigmatic cycles of industrial repetition of '80s art rockers This Heat... a fundamentally enigmatic album, prepare yourself for a peculiar ride through the exoskeleton of musical form into a disorienting miasma of sound dislocation..."

THOMPSON, LINDA: Fashionably Late LP (DBK 103LP). $14.00

"When Linda Thompson retired from music, she left listeners assuming they'd never hear from her again. But proving 'you can't keep a good woman down,' Linda returns in grand style on Fashionably Late, her first new album in 17 years. This remarkable comeback includes guest appearances by Rufus Wainwright, Teddy Thompson, Kate Rusby, Eliza Carthy, Van Dyke Parks, and Danny Thompson. Fashionably Late also features, for the first time in 20 years, a musical reunion between Linda and Richard Thompson."

WYNN, STEVE: Static Transmission CD (DBK 105 CD). $15.00

"Steve's last album, Here Come The Miracles, was a massive, shifting behemoth of fuzzed-up grooves and scorching riffs and was quite rightly regarded as his best ever. Static Transmission is even better — a Sticky Fingers to Miracles Exile on Main Street (except Steve's done it the right way round). Utilising the same sandblasted desert surroundings of Tucson, Arizona and recording with producer Craig Schumacher (Giant Sand / Calexico), Steve's managed the almost impossible. Creating a truly different and startling piece of work from the same raw materials. The first 1,000 copies of the Static Transmission CD will include a free bonus CD of 8 more previously unreleased songs from the Static I sessions."

ABSOLUTE GREY: Greenhouse/20th Anniversary Expanded Edition 2CD (DBK 108 CD). $15.00

"In the 1980's, Absolute Grey was part of an indie rock sound that included R.E.M., Rain Parade, Let's Active and Dream Syndicate — all of whom were fans of Absolute Grey's electric folk rock. Led by vocalist Beth Brown, the band recalled early Jefferson Airplane and Fairport Convention mixed with the modern psychedelic guitar sounds of Echo & The Bunnymen. Never before on CD, their 1984 debut LP Greenhouse has now been remastered and expanded to a 2-CD set with a bonus disc of unreleased 1984 live material. Includes liner notes by Byron Coley and Lester Bangs biographer Jim DeRogatis."

AVENGERS, THE: The American in Me CD (DBK 109CD). $15.00

"In the two short years of their existence, The Avengers appeared with the Sex Pistols at Winterland (that group's legendary last show), recorded with Pistols guitarist Steve Jones and headlined dates with the Go-Go's, X and the Dead Kennedys. Now we present a previously unreleased concert from those legendary times, along with some previously unreleased Steve Jones produced out-takes and alternative versions from the band's debut (and only) studio album. Fat booklet of rare and provocative photos including new detailed liner notes by music critic Greil Marcus."

HOUSTON, PENELOPE: The Pale Green Girl CD (DBK 110CD). $15.00

"Working with her longtime co-writer/guitarist Pat Johnson (who has also worked with Royal Trux, Charlie Pickett, Family Jewels), she has a new studio album. Along with drummer Eljohn Nelson of Poi Dog Pondering, the group leans towards garage organ and guitar sounds. Incorporating John Cale-esque folk-rock, and 60s Brit-pop, with razor sharp lyrics, Penelope sounds at times like a female Lou Reed, sometimes Sandy Denny-ish."

BEATTY & DOUG HILSINGER, CAROLEEN: Brian Eno's Taking Tiger Mountain By Strategy CD (DBK 111CD). $14.50

"Folk rock vocalist/chanteuse Caroleen Beatty (Bedlam Rovers/Waycross/Jon Langford) meets up with multi-instrumentalist Doug Hilsinger (Bomb/Bill Laswell/L.D. Beghtol of Magnetic Fields) for a complete re-interpretation of Brian Eno's 1974 classic album Taking Tiger Mountain By Strategy. Hilsinger plays all the instruments (using NO keyboards, synths or samplers), combined with Caroleen's expressive voice — leads to a very organic and original take on this Eno album. Eno's already heard it and remarked 'I was very moved by your versions of my songs...It's strange and enlightening...I enjoyed your version of my LP'"

CALLIER, TERRY: Fire On Ice CD (DBK 501CD). $15.00

"First time on U.S. CD release Terry Callier's 1978 Elektra debut is clean bedrock, deep Chicago soul. Featuring tenor saxophonists Eddie Harris, Fred Jackson, guitarists Phil Upchurch and Larry Wade, and backing vocalist Minnie Riperton, this set contains two of Callier's most moving tracks: the stunningly poetic 'African Violet,' with a melody as spare and haunting as anything he ever composed, plus the phenomenally written 'Martin St. Martin'."

CALLIER, TERRY: Turn You To Love CD (DBK 502CD). $15.00

"This 1979 Elektra set is easily Terry Callier's most underrated album. He handled a lot of the guitar work himself, but he did have help from his songwriting partner Larry Wade and Tommy Tedesco. Also in the house was Motown's Randy Dunlap, courtesy of Smokey Robinson, and horn heroes Ernie Watts and Fred Wesley. The song selection here is impeccable, from the hard, growling gospel funk of 'Sign of the Times' to the serpentine love song 'Pyramids of Love' and a pair of awesome covers: Smokey Robinson's 'Still Water (Love)' and Becker & Fagen's 'Do It Again.' First time U.S. CD release."

DC RECORDINGS (UK):

O.S.T. (GORAGUER, ALAIN): La Planete Sauvage CD (DCR 33 CD). $18.00

Restocked. Aka, the soundtrack to The Fantastic Planet. "Originally released back in 1973, this now highly sought after soundtrack accompanied Rene Laloux's animated feature film La Planete Sauvage. Based on the Oms En Serie, a book by the prolific and critically-garlanded sci-fi author Stefan Wul and set on a distant planet called 'Ygam', the film tells a tale of conflict between the 'Draags', 39 foot tall scarlet-eyed, turquoise skinned beings; and the 'Oms', descendants of mankind that are kept as pets by the Draags. Drawing heavily on Eastern European animation techniques and the cruel, surreal visions of acclaimed French illustrator Roland Topor, Laloux's utterly bizarre allegorical fantasy is underpinned by an extraordinary soundtrack from cult French composer Alain Goraguer, perhaps best known for his work with Gallic legend Serge Gainsbourg. Goraguer crafts a sinister selection of superbly orchestrated jazz, funk and all deformed psychedelia, complete with theramin wails, marimba workouts and demented bird whistles. Now receiving a full reissue on DC Recordings, this is the first CD release of La Planete Sauvage, the original vinyl album would set you back upwards of 100 Pounds in collector record shops, if you can find a copy at all. It's rarity and content has meant that it has been sampled by the hip hop fraternity (most recently by Quasimoto on the Stone Throw label), it's drum breaks and incidental atmospherics fitting perfectly into the hip hop genre."

PICCIONI, PIERO: Puppet On A Chain CD (DCR 39 CD). $18.00

"DC Recordings is proud to present the previously unreleased soundtrack to Geoffrey Reeve's Puppet On A Chain. Based on Alistair Maclean's novel of the same name, the film tells the story of Paul Sherman, an Interpol narcotics agent who arrives in Amsterdam to investigate a gang of heroin smugglers. The music that accompanies the film comes courtesy of one of Italy's most prolific and respected soundtrack composers — Piero Piccioni — who has over 150 film scores to his name including Alberto Lattuada's I Dolci Inganni, Luchino Visconti's The Stranger, Jean-Luc Godard's Contempt and Francesco Rosi's Salvatore Giuliano. Often mentioned in the same breath as his peer's Ennio Morricone and Bruno Nicolai, Piccioni's work has always embraced the celluloid spectrum, from demented sex comedies and spaghetti Westerns to bloody horror exploitation flicks. Recorded in 1970 Puppet On A Chain is a blistering, Hammond-heavy score that effortlessly mixes elements of sybaritic lounge listening, hard edged, beat driven funk/jazz and big band swagger."

DEBUG (GERMANY):

VA: Hartwaren 1 12" (DEBUG 001). $9.00

"12" compilation of German electronic music, put together by Triple R in the name of the illustrious German dance culture magazine, De:Bug. Features new tracks from M:I:5, DJ Rush, Jammin' Unit, Toktok and Christian/Daniel (Marcus Schmickler).

BAURI: Embryo 12" (DEBUG 004). $9.00

"Bauri is Martin Abrahamsson from Stockholm, Sweden. He has recorded for a bunch of labels incl. Mille Plateaux, City Centre Offices, Neouija and English Muffin. From his Swedish homebase, he also runs his own label Saundart. His Embryo EP on Debug Hartwaren features his irresistible blend of clicks'n'cuts inspired rhythms mixed together with the most beautiful, overwhelming melodies."

DECO (FRANCE):

DISCOM: Automoto CD (DECO 003 CD). $15.00

"Discom started in 1998. A French duo consisting of Lionel Fernandez and Erik Minkinen, Discom is working with random processing softwares, using bleeps and cracks, sweet patterns and trash files. Discom's music is operating a delicate mixture between hardcore digital of cracked signals, and pop melodies. Deco, Discom's own label, is a platform dedicated to projects for electronic medias in music, video, web, design." Distributed via Mego.

DECODE (GERMANY):

RELAIS: 1336 CD (DCR 04 CD). $15.00

"Hamburg musician Tom Fleischauer has been active as an organizer of several remarkable events, such as the Dub Conferences, or his recent house/techno club called Drift, as well as being a musician in bands like Faith Healer, Schwester Schwester, Rossburger Report (on the 4AD label), and as sound engineer to the likes of Blumfeld. Here is his debut CD on Decode recordings: 1336. It pictures musical landscapes and atmospheric impressions created by reduction and analog warmth. A very personal and emotional album, in 61 compact and homogenous mintues Relais covers the wide range from warm, organic, minimal electronic (like the melancholy opener 'Erik', a tribute to Erik Satie, or 'Rekonvaleszenz', a dark Coil-like epoch), through soulful house tunes and Detroit inspired techno, to disturbing sound scenarios like the Gescom-esque track 'Radiojet'."

SCARCUBEM: 47'17 Präsenz CD (DCR 06 CD). $15.00

"The photographer Marc Horger and Martin 'Scube' first met each other when both helped to organize the electronic music party series 'Bewegungsgruppe' in Ulm. They started to combine their own electronic music projects in a common live act. What started as the combination of two names for a common live project very soon resulted in tracks that they produced together. That Marc and Scube started with playing live instead of producing records first is one of the main differences between them and most other electronic music projects. That's the reason why they started with really ripe music even on their first releases, and it is no surprise that all the reviews for their first works on Heimelektro Ulm were very good or even excellent. 47'17 Präsenz is the first album of Scarcubem, as vinyl on Heimelektro Ulm and as a CD on the Hamburg based label Decode. With this release, Scarcubem finally show that there is no suitable place for them in the Warp/Rephlex-corner, where some journalists tried to put them at first. They've already invented their own universe of a popmusic for the next century."

KIM, ILL-YOUNG: Spielzeug CD (DCR 07 CD). $15.00

"Ill-Young Kim might be known to some of you through his appearance on the German VIVA channel or his recent movie St.Pauli Nights by Söhnke Wortmann. Otherwise you might meet him in a café or a Cologne video rental store. His musical debut Spielzeug actually shows what the Cologne guy is doing most of his time: sitting at home and making crazy-funky music. Ill-Young is picking beats, whirling them around and creating new fragments with cut and paste. Filtered melodies are lifting you to heaven while the holy bass is giving the right punch for the floor and fantastic melodies release you from your earthy existence. Far away from scene-codes and Teutonic headmusic plays Ill-Young plays with his beats, kicks off with some funny voices and his favorite cartoon characters while loving old school synths and out of tune pianos. He arranges his music with more happenings per minute than you can easily (under)stand, just to keep himself from getting bored. The result could be called complex high energy electro-pop (or whatever), which might cause some synapses or legs to take up heavy movements. This is pure electro-fun on 17 tracks like they never came out of the plug. So do what you wanna do, Ill-Young does the same. And by the way, he loves Plaid, Clear and Rephlex, just to give you a clue."

KIM, ILL-YOUNG: Spielzeug 2LP (DCR 07 LP). $18.00

RELAIS: Erik — Remixes 12" (DCR 08). $9.00

"Relais' electronic homage to Eric Satie, as the opening track of his upcoming album 1336 finds here two very different interpretations from two of the most anticipated young German electronic acts. Christoph De Babalon, known from his releases on Alex Empire's Digital Hardcore Label and his own Label CrossFade Entertainment, delivers some serious dark and hitting breakcore. Taking the melancholic piano loop from the original he changes the downbeat atmosphere into a kicking fast drum & bass monster. Scarcubem stick to their fantastic warm electronica and make this remix one of their best tracks ever. Based on the influences of early Autechre or Boards of Canada they create their own little electronic universe. Tom Fleischauer, aka Relais, gives the 12" the finishing touch with two of his own tracks."

DECONSTRUCTION (UK):

CLARKE, DAVE: Archive One CD (DECON 36110). $23.00

Classic debut full length CD from 1996. "Dave Clarke is undoubtedly one of the biggest techno DJs in the world, consistently name-checked by everyone from Detroit's originators to Daft Punk and the Chemical Brothers as an influence and an inspiration. Archive One, his only proper full-length so far, from 1996, goes a long way showing why — many consider it one of the greatest techno albums ever made. One of the words heard to describe Archive One almost more than any other is 'punishing' — it's apt because there is a combination of adrenaline, sonic mastery, editing and an inexorability of these tracks that leave most incapable of describing it any other way. Ostensibly a compilation of the A-sides from Dave's three landmark 'Red' singles released that year, fleshed out with other tracks — when this one dropped it defined a moment in electronic dance music so succinctly that producers today still use it as a model for cuts designed to create a frenzy on the dancefloor. Highlight's include the hip-hop styled stunner 'No One's Driving', which sounds like a mutated Bomb Squad production from, say, 1990; 'The Woki', which some have described as containing the hardest bassline ever committed to vinyl; and the disco flavored 'Southside', a masterpiece of pacing and propulsion. Oh, and I have to mention those signature backwards drum sounds; awesome." — Billy Kieley

DEEP LISTENING:

INTERFACE: Recording Field, H DVD (DL 027 DVD). $13.00

Pauline Oliveros: (accordion and Expanded Instrument System (EIS)); Curtis Bahn: (sensor bass); Tomie Hahn: (interactive dance system and shakuhachi); Dan Trueman: (sensor violin and bowed sensor/speaker array). "Recording Field, H features several firsts: the first recording bringing together Pauline Oliveros and interface; the first video documentation of interface and their unusual instruments; the first video documentation of the sonic character pieces Streams and Pikapika; the first duo connecting shakuhachi and the bowed-sensor-speaker array; finally, the first DVD released by Deep Listening Publications. The odd-numbered tracks are electronic improvisations, created spontaneously with custom-made instruments. The even-numbered tracks feature Tomie Hahn as two radically contrasting sonic characters; in 'Streams' each gesture of the dreamlike apparition recalls bodies of water, technology, a flow of information, transmission, and liquid states; as Pikapika, Tomie embodies a spunky character influenced by anime, Japanese dance, and bunraku. In both pieces Tomie wears a sensing device developed by Curtis Bahn. This interface enables Tomie to negotiate full control of all aspects of the virtual soundscape structure with her movements." Region-free NTSC format; length: 66:55.

DEEP LISTENING BAND: Tosca Salad CD (DL 03). $13.00

1995 release. "A tasty variety of free improvisations excerpted from recordings of Deep Listening Band rehearsals and of the Band in concert (1992-95). Band members Pauline Oliveros (just tuned accordion, French horn, electronics), Stuart Dempster (trombone, didjeridu, garden hose, electronics) and David Gamper (just tuned piano, organ, electronics) are featured exploiting the sonoric and spatial palette of the Expanded Instrument System. Performers Julie Lyon Rose (voice), Fritz Hauser (perc.), Urs Leimgruber (saxophones), Ben Neill (mutant trumpet), Joe McPhee (reeds, pocket trumpet), Joe Giardullo (reeds, flute), Ellen Fullman, Nigel Jacobs and Elise Gould (long stringed instruments) appear as guest artists. A wonderful chronological acoustic essay of the Band's work over the last two years."

MCPHEE QUINTET, JOE: Common Threads CD (DL 04). $13.00

Recorded live in Seattle, 10/19/95. McPhee (pocket trumpet, tenor and soprano saxophones), Stuart Dempster (trombone, didjeridu and little instruments), Loren Dempster (cello), Eyvind Kang (violin and erhu), Michael Bisio (bass).

OLIVEROS, PAULINE: Ghostdance CD (DL 07). $13.00

The long awaited soundtrack of the Ghostdance music and dance collaboration between Oliveros and Paula Jose-Jones, commissioned by Lincoln Center Out-of-Doors. Performed by: Pauline Oliveros (accordion/EIS), David Gamper (djembe/EIS) & Julie Lyon Rose (voice/EIS). "The Expanded Instrument System (EIS) used in this recording is an evolving electronic sound processing environment dedicated to providing improvising musicians control over various interesting parameters of electronic transformation of their acoustic instruments. Performers each have their own setup which includes their delay and ambience processors, microphones, signal routing and mixing, and a computer which translates and displays control information from foot pedals and switches."

OLIVEROS/ANDREW DEUTSCH, PAULINE: Springs CD (DL 09). $13.00

"Springs is comprised of duo recordings by Pauline Oliveros (accordion) and Andrew Deutsch (electronics, modified television, bells), recorded over the last four years. Deutsch then remixed them keeping in mind a quote from Oliveros' book Software For People, 'Unity through variety — variety through unity... the transient swirling of leaves, the static nature of the foundation (variety), the direction of the moving sound (variety). How can unity dominate without destroying variety and vice versa? How can the two principles illuminate each other? Like two mirrors held opposite, each reflecting the other.' Track 2 is dedicated to Tetsu Inoue. Full color art by Deutsch."

CARRIER BAND: Automatic Inscription Of Speech Melody CD (DL 16). $13.00

"The Carrier Band was formed in 1998 when Pauline Oliveros, Peer Bode and Andrew Deutsch performed 3 improvisations at Alfred University and later released the Carrier CD on DL. The title piece 'Automatic Inscription of Speech Melody' is a trio improvisation by Carrier Band based on quotes written in the technical notebooks (1934-1949) of pioneering electronic instrument developer Harald Bode. The piece weaves words and phrases excerpted from the notebooks spoken and vocoded by Peer Bode through the Bode Vocoder. The vocoder transfers speech onto pitched sounds and the VOICE releases the CARRIER sounds. These texts, along with Pauline's electronic sounds created on her Difference Box were mixed with loops and excerpts of Harald Bode's demo tapes and synthesized sounds constructed by Deutsch. The LFO drone heard at the beginning was Pauline's entrance into the piece. 'Earth Orbit' is a quartet improvisation which Dick described as being 'the most fun he's ever had performing' loops and text from Harald Bode's notebooks were once again used along with data sets generated by Deutsch."

SMALLWOOD, SCOTT: Desert Winds: 6 Windblown Sound Pieces And Other Works CD (DL 17). $13.00

"Desert Winds is a series of six compositions based on the field recordings made in the Wendover/Great Salt Lake Desert Region on the Utah/Nevada border. As a sound artist who utilizes field recordings, I initially was concerned about the high desert winds causing technical difficulties for me. However, I soon discovered that the desert wind was one of the most interesting assets to me in my quest for finding interesting objects/sites to record. The sounds recorded were all produced by the wind."

DEEP LISTENING BAND/JOE MCPHEE QUARTET: Unquenchable Fire CD (DL 19). $13.00

"Joe McPhee's Unquenchable Fire, a work inspired by Rachel Pollack's award-winning novel of the same title, was commissioned by The Pauline Oliveros Foundation for the Deep Listening Band and premiered at Lincoln Center Out-of-Doors. The Deep Listening Band explores the sensual combination of musical sound combined with natural sound, as well as the sounds of daily life and one's own thoughts."

NEW CIRCLE FIVE: Dreaming Wide Awake CD (DL 20). $13.00

Monique Buzzarte, trombone; Rosi Hertlein, violin/voice; Susie Ibarra, percussion; Kristin Norderval, voice; Pauline Oliveros, accordion. "Spanning three generations, New Circle Five is an acoustic improvising contemporary music ensemble. Diverse musical backgrounds result in unique twists as the five explore the one-time only sonic environment of collective creative improvisations. On this, their debut recording, New Circle Five perform their unique blend of collective creative improvisations from dreams of a non-violent world."

TIMELESS PULSE: Live At CNMAT CD (DL 21). $13.00

"Formed in 1993 in a residency at the Pauline Oliveros Foundation, the musicians of Timeless Pulse make music together through listening and responding in the moment. Artists include Thomas Buckner (baritone), George Marsh (percussion), Pauline Oliveros (accordion), David Wessel (computer realized sound), and Jennifer Wiley (percussion). This CD is an unedited recording of a concert at CNMAT on Sunday, March 10, 2002."

OLIVEROS, PAULINE: Tara's Room CD (DL 22). $13.00

"The two works on this CD — 'Tara's Room' and 'The Beauty of Sorrow' were composed and performed by Pauline Oliveros and recorded in May 1987. Previously only available as a cassette and long out of print, Deep Listening is proud to make these wonderful pieces available on CD. 'The Beauty of Sorrow' is intended to assist the listener in connecting and relaxing with deep feelings. 'The Beauty of Sorrow' was played by the composer on a small accordion tuned in just intonation and using Lexicon delay processors in a version of her Expanded Instrument System (EIS). Tara's Room is an invocation for wisdom especially during an unfamiliar journey. Tara's Room is a multi-track recording with all materials (voice, percussion, flute) played and sung by Pauline Oliveros."

EVIDENCE: Out Of Town CD (DL 23). $13.00

"Sound artists Stephan Moore and Scott Smallwood began performing as the duo Evidence in 2001. Focusing on the universe of real-world sound, Evidence pours field recordings like water into their compositional and improvisational process, resulting in music that balances between tight organization and unregulated flow. Using recording equipment, laptops, and other electronic devices, Evidence creates music that deals with gradual change, improvised over time, sometimes atmospheric, sometimes pulsating, always texturally striking and unique. Resisting classification into a single genre, Evidence is equally at home performing in experimental venues, clubs, galleries, planetariums, and rooftops. Out of Town, the first full-length release by Evidence, features five structured improvisations recorded on stage and in the studio. Based on field recordings made during a road trip during the summer of 2002, each composition explores the acoustic and timbral eccentricities specific to each location. These are sculpted into a mix of rolling ambient planes, textural sound puzzles, articulated noises, and polyrhythmic whirlwinds, revealing and redesigning the microscopic intricacies and larger shapes of the carefully recorded soundscapes."

DEEPART (NETHERLANDS):

BROOKES, TERRY: Altered Perceptions 12" (DEEP 06). $9.00

"Terry Brookes is the first artist besides Deepart himself on the Deepart label. His Altered Perceptions is his debut release. A side is in a traditional Deepart style with 2 deeper, soulful electro styled tracks as well as a Deepart remix. B side contains 2 tracks. The first track is in an early Underground Resistance style, with it's haunting strings and pulsating bassline this builds up to a dancefloor Detroit techno track. The second track reminds of an early Chicago, Mr Fingers in particular, house track. A very intense, musical house track like it sounded in the 80's."

DEEPART: Picture #4 10" (DEEP 4). $9.00

"After taking a break for almost three years, Deepart returns to the battlefield with his fourth Deepart 10". On this series he tries to express his feelings through futuristic sounding electronic music. In doing so, the music is the main object, this is why these releases have always had no titles and little artwork. Again this is the case, only this time every copy will come with it's own unique image. Over the years Deepart has spawned a group of fans around the globe. Although his output has been limited he has had enthusiastic feedback from Detroit to Berlin to Amsterdam."

DEF JUX RECORDS:

COMPANY FLOW: Cannibal Ox, Aesop Rock, RJD2 CD (DJX 05 CD). $12.00

"At long last. After 3 years since the release of their groundbreaking, trendsetting, classic first album Funcrusher Plus, indie hip hop mavericks Company Flow return to drop their best record ever. El-P and co-producer/DJ Mr. Len recently called it quits in order to pursue solo projects, but not before signing off with one of the most eagerly anticipated records in independent hip hop, featuring contributions from proteges and Def Jux artists Cannibal Ox, Aesop Rock and RJD2, plus a special guest spot from Ill Bill of Non Phixion. Produced by Company Flow's main producer and lyricist, El-P for his new label Def Jux, this classic offering sets the standard for new, original hip hop music in the Year 2001 and beyond."

CANNIBAL OX: The Cold Vein CD (DJX 07 CD). $14.50

At long last, the long-awaited full length from Harlem's finest, Cannibal Ox. Comprised of MC's Vast Aire Kramer and Vordul, and featuring the unparalleled production of indie hip hop maverick/legend El-P (Company Flow), The Cold Vein is bound for hip hop glory. Hide the women and children."

CANNIBAL OX: The Cold Vein 2LP (DJX 07 LP). $14.50

"At long last, the long-awaited full length from Harlem's finest, Cannibal Ox. Comprised of MC's Vast Aire Kramer and Vordul, and featuring the unparalleled production of indie hip hop maverick/legend El-P (Company Flow), The Cold Vein is bound for hip hop glory. Hide the women and children."

AESOP ROCK: Labor Days CD (DJX 13 CD). $14.50

"That noise you hear, like the rumbling orchestra of the F train barreling past New York City's 2nd Avenue, is none other than the sound of Labor Days, the album by rising indie hip hop star, Aesop Rock. Once again teaming up with production partner Blockhead, Aesop brings his rhymes to life with a soundtrack that veers from the underground funk of the lead single 'Coma' to the stuttering drum & bass of 'Save Yourself' to the spaced-out melodically thump of the title track. Lyrically, Aesop's sheer ability, creativity, and tenacity shine like never before, and let you know why this is one of the most anticipated records in indie hip hop."

AESOP ROCK: Labor Days 2LP (DJX 13 LP). $14.50

Double LP version.

CANNIBAL OX: The F Word CD (DJX 15 CD). $8.00

"The 2nd single from their smash debut, The Cold Vein, Harlem's Finest return with the sleeper hit of the fall. Vast Aire and Vordul drop a B-Boy's love song like you've never heard before. Like Outkast's 'Ms. Jackson', The Pharcyde's 'Passing Me By' and Tupac's 'Dear Mama', 'The F-Word' is a song that anyone can relate to and is bound to reach even the hardest of hearts. Backed by the top-notch production of Def Jux impresario, El-P, and a phenomenal remix from Def Jux's secret weapon, RJD2."

CANNIBAL OX: The F Word 12" (DJX 15 EP). $5.50

FONDLE 'EM FOSSILS, THE: Fondle 'Em Fossils 12" (DJX 16 EP). $5.50

"Signifying the end of one era in indie Hip Hop and the beginning of a new one, Fondle 'Em Records, the landmark label of NYC legend and Hip Hop impresario Bobbito Garcia, says goodbye with this release and leaves underground in the trusty hands of El-P & the Def Jux Crew. Fondle 'Em Fossils, the lead single off the upcoming compilation CD Farewell Fondle 'Em, is a guaranteed classic, featuring an all-star posse cut (Breezly Brewin, Q-Unique, Godfather Don, J Treds & MF Doom) with an exclusive remix from the one and only El Producto."

VA: Farewell Fondle 'Em CD (DJX 19 CD). $7.50

Now at midline pricing. "Between 1995 and 2001, Fondle 'Em Records both defined and personified east coast independent hip hop. Purveyor of some of the most respected, talented and admired MC's ever to come out of the New York underground hip hop scene, Fondle 'Em's founder and one of hip hop's most respected luminaries, Bobbito Garcia, has decided to say farewell with this classic collection of songs, freezing in time an era that will go down in history. From outright indie legends like Kool Keith, Company Flow's El-P and the Juggaknots, to underground stars like M.F. Doom, Arsonists and J-Treds, this collection of already classic singles has been packaged in what is sure to be a classic album that both celebrates and says goodbye to one of the most influential periods in independent hip hop history."

THE WEATHERMEN/MR. LIF & MURS: Same As It Never Was/Sneak Preview 12" (DJX 20). $5.50

"Setting it off for the Def Jux Class of 2002, we have a double AA side 12" single featuring a cut from label stalwart Mr. Lif and label newcomer Murs (from Living Legends) on one, and another from indie hip hop's newest supergroup The Weathermen (El-P, Cage, Camu Tao, Masai Bey, Vast.) on the flip. Bound to find it's way onto turntables, walkmans, mp3 players, mixtapes, and bootlegs worldwide, it's the perfect set up for the full-length. The track records of the artists on this record speak for themselves. The fact that both songs are produced by our very own El Producto just means that much more."

AESOP ROCK: Daylight EP CD (DJX 21 CD). $8.50

"Picking up the theme from Labor Days, his groundbreaking debut album on Def Jux, Aesop Rock returns to his underground journey with the stellar follow up EP 'Daylight'. Manhattan's favorite son and one of indie hip hop's fastest rising names, Aesop sets it off with the title track 'Daylight' a standout cut from the LP, and continues with five exclusive new cuts plus the irresistible track 'Maintenance'. Featuring first rate production from El-P, Blockhead and Aesop himself, plus a blazing guest appearance from Blueprint, 'Daylight' sets an agenda for quality, originality and straight up excellence that will leave others struggling to catch up."

AESOP ROCK: Daylight EP 12" (DJX 21 EP). $5.50

12" vinyl version.

VA: Definitive Jux Presents II CD (DJX 22 CD). $14.50

"After making a major impact in the indie hip hop world with the release of last year's now classic EP, Def Jux Presents, we're taking folks back to school with volume II, this time in full-length form and featuring some of the hottest MC's and production work in the game. DJXII rolls out our roster for the year, hitting you with new material from our tried and true stalwarts like El-P, Cannibal Ox, Aesop Rock, Mr. Lif and RJD2, as well as introducing our class of 2002, including soon-to-be indie supergroup The Weathermen (El-P, Cage, Masai Bey, Camu Tao, Copywrite), MURS (from Living Legends), Y@k Ballz, Rob Sonic (from Sonic Sum) and the Atoms Family."

VA: Definitive Jux Presents II 2LP (DJX 22 LP). $14.50

Double LP version.

EL-P: PRESENTS: Cannibal Oxtrumentals CD (DJX 24 CD). $14.50

"At long last the highly-acclaimed Instrumentals to Cannibal Ox's Cold Vein, easily one of 2001's most talked about indie records. These tracks are being heralded as the second coming for progressive/indie hip hop, not surprising given El-P's already groundbreaking and genre-shaking work with indie hip hop legends Company Flow, producing their seminal debut on Rawkus Funcrusher Plus & the brilliant instrumental album Little Johnny from the Hospital."

EL-P: Deep Space 9mm 12" (DJX 25). $5.50

"The perfect lead-off to what promises to be one of the most talked-about records of the year, full of cyborg funk, melodic vapor trails, and of course, El-P's unparalleled lyricism. Effortlessly stretching the boundaries of the genre once again with ass-shaking results, this record will blow your mind as well."

EL-P: Fantastic Damage CD (DJX 27 CD). $16.00

"The debut solo release from El-P, the founder, producer & frontman of the seminal underground hip hop group Company Flow. A groundbreaking, staggeringly inventive masterpiece. This record delivers on all the promises, hype and anticipation attached to it. Full of cyborg funk, melodic vapor trails and of course, El-P's unparalleled lyricism, Fantastic Damage will set a standard for the rest to follow."

EL-P: Fantastic Damage 3LP (DJX 27 LP). $19.00

Triple LP version.

MR. LIF: Emergency Rations CD (DJX 30 CD). $9.00

"Mr. Lif has returned with a new 8 song offering to educate the masses. The EP offers critical commentary on the state of the world post 9/11, and uses propaganda to open the public eye to the many heinous acts committed by the American government. Its goal is to spark dialogue about the human condition amongst its listeners, in hopes that our communication may result in solutions. Emergency Rations features production from Mr. Lif, El-P, Faks One, Eden and DJ Hype."

EL-P: Dead Disnee 12" (DJX 31 EP). $5.50

"The latest volley in the Fantastic Damage extravaganza, El-P drops a vinyl bomb on the music masses with this 3-headed monster of a 12" featuring 2 exclusive remixes of Dead Disnee, plus the album original, all courtesy of El Producto himself. The Weatherman mix, feat. Vast Aire (Can Ox), Copywrite, Camu Tao & Cage, makes it a Def Jux lyrical assault, with El-P leading the charge."

EL-P: FanDamstrumentals 3LP (DJX 33 LP). $14.00

Triple LP version. The same 15 tracks that make up the first CD of DJX 39.

RJD2: Let The Good Times Roll 12" (DJX 34). $5.50

"Our secret weapon, producer RJD2. 'Let the Good Times Roll' is a rollicking good time and quite possibly the instrumental party jam of the summer. From his appearances on DJXP1 & 2, his debut 12" on Def Jux, 'June', to various other projects, RJ has already made quite a name for himself."

RJD2: Dead Ringer CD (DJX 35 CD). $14.50

"With Dead Ringer, RJ takes a step into hip hop's future and its past simultaneously. Melding the hip-hop tradition of raw, gritty samples with a more classical approach to song structure, he has concocted a style of production that pleases the most discerning hip-hop scholar without compromising that old dance floor aesthetic."

RJD2: Dead Ringer 2LP (DJX 35 LP). $14.50

Double LP version.

MR. LIF: New Man's Theme 12" (DJX 36). $5.50

"The lead single for the highly anticipated debut album from Mr. Lif, I Phantom. A semi-autobiographical tale, 'New Man's Theme' brings the listener to the fringes of societal presures and expectations, and into a place of escape and hope and personal discovery."

MR. LIF: I Phantom CD (DJX 37 CD). $14.55

"Definitive Jux presents I Phantom, the highly anticipated debut album from rising star Mr. Lif. Hot off the success of his latest EP Emergency Rations, Mr. Lif returns with 14 brand new tracks for the masses. I Phantom features six songs produced by legendary beatsmith El-P, along with contributions from Edan, Insight and Faks One ('New Man Theme'). The album features cameos from El-P, Aesop Rock, Jean Grae, Insight and Akrobatik."

MR. LIF: I Phantom 2LP (DJX 37 LP). $15.50

Double vinyl version.

EL-P: Fandamplus (Instrumentals, Remixes, Lyrics & Video) 2CD (DJX 39 CD). $11.50

"Just when you thought he could do no more, the Def Jux impresario follows up his smash debut album, Fantastic Damage, with a double CD back-to-school banger, Fantastic Damage: The Instrumentals. Disc 1 features the instrumentals from Fantastic Damage and Disc 2 features exclusive new El-P remixes of 'Squeegee Man Shooting' and 'Dead Disnee', while RJD2 blesses us with his own take on 'Lazerface's Warning'."

EL-P: Fantastic Damage: Remixes 12" (DJX 41 EP). $6.00

7-track remix EP.

RJD2: The Horror/Final Frontier Remix 12" (DJX 46EP). $5.50

"Final Frontier remix featuring a brand new Rjd2 beat and unheard verses from Blueprint, Aesop Rock, Vast Aire, and Murs."

MURS: The End Of The Beginning 12" (DJX 47EP). $5.50

"The Mighty Mighty Murs. If you've heard the name, you probably know all about his game, slangin' tapes on every street corner from South Central to Brooklyn, Osaka to Copenhagen. With hacking production from El-P and Belief."

MURS: The End Of The Beginning CD (DJX 48CD). $14.50

"Murs is the west coast manifestation of the Definitive Jux spirit and its only right that we're getting down together to bring his name and his music to the widest audience possible. Backed by heat-seeking production from some of the top names in indie hip hop plus a priceless appearance by hip hop luminary Shock G (Digital Underground) and his alter ego, Humpty Hump, this album is more than a must have."

MURS: The End Of The Beginning 2LP (DJX 48LP). $14.50

Double vinyl LP version.

THE PRESENCE: Woke 12" (DJX 49 EP). $5.50

"Definitive Jux presents the debut single from The Presence. The brainchild of the one and only Nasa, the engineer behind the board on many a DJX release and El-Ps mixing partner, and his main men Cirrus & DJ PaWL, The Presence brings that next shit. Existing in a constant state of paranoid bewilderment, the trio offer sardonic takes on a post-9/11 universe. Imagine Terry Gilliam's Brazil as spied on through the lens of a prime-era Public Enemy. Word."

RJD2: The Horror 2CD (DJX 51 CD). $13.00

"The follow up multi-media companion piece to RJD2s smash 2002 release Deadringer. The Horror is a feature length masterpiece of b-sides, out-takes, remixes & exclusives from the master himself. Featuring a brand new 'Ghostwriter remix', and 'The Final Frontier Remix', which, co-stars Def Jukie thrillers Aesop Rock, Vast Aire (CanOx), MURS and Blueprint. If that's not enough, the jam packed enhanced disc 2 presents RJ in 3-D, featuring exclusive live DJ sets at the Beta Lounge in SF and at The Bowers Ballroom."

S.A. SMASH: Gangsta B/W Smash TV 12" (DJX 52 EP). $5.50
