complete musical work is available. All the ups and downs of his career from the 1968 debut For A Sake Of the Song to the last concerts in the mid-90's are documented. However, there are still last words of the Texas troubadour to discover like Absolutely Nothing, a compilation of unreleased studio- and live-recordings. For a long time Townes van Zandt performed the Pogues' gem 'Dirty Old Town' only on stage. In September 1996 Townes and his fellows Royann and Jim Calvin recorded, the folk classic at Flashpoint Studio in Austin, Texas. 'Recorded only on one track, the minimalist poem with mandolin and violin is nearly as touching as the unforgettable 'Kathleen'. The poet of the hopeless at the end of his life: disorientated and helpless he sings these covers as if they were his own songs.' All other five studio recordings on Absolutely Nothing are as beautiful and sad as 'Dirty Old Town', which is now for the first time available on CD. These songs reveal an introvert artist, suffering, exhausted and tired but not broken. He just could not stop writing and playing. The other 12 songs on Absolutely Nothing were recorded live in 1994 at club: 'McGrory's', location: 'Culdaff Inishowen, county Donegal, Ireland'. The concert shows Townes van Zandt at his personal best. He played his classics 'Flying Shoes', 'Marie', 'Kathleen' and the less known songs 'No Place To Go' and 'Snowing On Raton' in an unbelievably relaxed way. At the end of the album we are witness of a good-humoured Townes van Zandt telling the 'Penguin Joke' and 'The Three Shots Of Gin Joke.'

VAN ZANDT, TOWNES: Absolutely Nothing LP (NOR 235LP). $16.00

150 gram pressing, with printed inner sleeve w/ lyrics, limited edition of 1000 copies.

FERN KNIGHT: Seven Years of Severed Limbs CD (NOR 246CD). $15.00

"Welcome to the haunting sounds of Fern Knight. The Folk-Noir act from Providence, Rhode Island, draws you into an autumnal world of wolves, ghosts and lost loves. Fern Knights introspective debut-album Seven Years of Severed Limbs presents a musical landscape dotted with angular acoustic guitar pickings, papery thin, plaintively crooning vocals with lush backdrops consisting of bowed strings, plucked upright bass, piano, accordion and brushed drums. This evocative, moody atmospheric pop falls in line with great artists such as Nick Drake, Cat Power, Barbara Manning, Low, Red House Painters, Julie Cruise and even Sigur Ros. Fern Knight are Margie Wienk (vocals, guitar, cello, upright bass, piano, fender rhodes, drums, mallets, percussion) and Michael Corcoran (guitar, violin, lap steel, vocals). Margie teaches cello and bass lessons at a community music school in Providence and performs regularly with the ocean state chamber orchestra. She is also a member of the experimental darkpop- band The Eyesores. Mike who recorded and mixed the album works at spot interactive in providence designing websites. Seven Years of Severed Limbs is the first album of Fern Knight but it is not the first release of Margie and Michael. As Difference Engine they released two highly acclaimed slowcore-albums in the 90's, Breadmaker (1995) and Calidad (1997). For recent Fern Knight shows, Margie has been backed up by her fellow musicians in the Eyesores: Alec K. Redfearn (accordion); Matt McLaren (drums); Jeff Knoch (farfisa); Matt Everett (Viola) and Sara Stalnaker (cello)."

NORMOTON (GERMANY):

LANDESVATTER: Lava CD (NORM 008 CD). $16.00

"After two techno 12" EPs on Salo and Normoton Landsvatter now shows more atmospheric facets. The 10 Lava tracks are a soundtrack for the urban night. Groping eats that hesitantly comply in deep pulsating basslines, frayed guitar sounds and jazzy samples. The music on Lava can be called repetitive but never monotonous. Even tempered and reflective, Lava is a CD for your head and your feed. You can't help but simply nod your head to it. Landsvatter lives in Berlin, Germany."

NORTH EAST INDIE:

CERBERUS SHOAL/MAGIC CARPATHIANS: The Life and Times of... CD (NEI 031 CD). $8.50

"Well, if we aren't all just flies in a wind tunnel on Sunday, it's another gal-dang split CD from North East Indie and Cerberus Shoal. Strap on the good ears and give her a ride. This little (albeit dense) treat features those ex-Atman project-ers, The Magic Carpathians, from Poland. The most collaborative yet, where we find both bands swapping tracks and rearranging pieces and adding new tracks while changing old ones and havin' just a regular good old time, here in the land of our mutual imprisonment. Incorporating similar influences as on the Ducks and Drakes split CD with Guapo, Cerberus Shoal brings the flavor of Psychic TV and even Can into the Ash-Ra Temple-esque atmosphere of The Magic Carpathians."

CLIMAX GOLDEN TWINS: Highly Bred and Sweetly Tempered CD (NEI 034CD). $13.00

"A new full length release from Seattle's shadowy Climax Golden Twins. This new record finds CGT in a quieter and less threatening mood with 11 mostly acoustic songs layered with field recordings, electronics, strange instruments and ambiance. Interspersed are the hazy voices of the dead: old home-recorded records from the 1930s and 40s of people talking, telling stories, singing and joking. Highly Bred and Sweetly Tempered pulls together many Climax Golden threads: Americana, 78rpm records, foreign and other worldly musics, collage, and computer generated textures and manipulation."

NORTH EAST INDIE/STELLA WHITE:

CERBERUS SHOAL/ALVARIUS B.: The Vim and Vigour of Alvarius B. and Cerberus Shoal CD EP (NEI 027CD). $8.50

"It was almost a year ago that we, the young fools of Cerberus Shoal, sent to Mr. Alan Bishop, of that great daytime soap 'The Sun City Girls', a package: replete with button candy, a book about shit, and a copy of an 18 minute acoustic peice which we had recorded in the summer of 2001 at the Egghouse. The song was called 'Ding' and still is to this day. Enclosed within the high-tech casings of said package, was a note in ancient Polynesian cypher asking the great Bishop if he felt 'Ding' would look good coming out of his brain, he thought it just might (and boy howdy it did). We kept in contact while he constructed from peoples discarded T.V. sets, and one freezing spring day we received a piece of metal so thin it seemed as though it were plastic, and within the coded spiral of its DNA was one of the most astonishing examples of what a man can do with a short title and a long song."

NOTHING:

SQUAREPUSHER: Big Loada CD (INTD 90257). $14.00

Nothing is a large American recording company associated with the man who signs his checks as "Trent Reznor". Normally, Nothing is distributed via the Interscope conglomerate, but these licenses of some of the most desirable releases on the Warp Records UK label were evidently considered a bit too risqué for the traditional American network. Some people say that Nothing derives its name from its thoroughly lackadaisical non-output of announced IDM titles (domestic releases by Squarepusher and Autechre were first rumored close to 2 years ago), but with no real advance warning, here is the first batch at attractive American prices. Throw your leather pants into the wash for a minute and say hello. RE: Vic Acid: "The second post Stereotype/Rumble/Spymania/Worm Interface/Rephlex effort from one Thomas Jenkinson, aka Alroy Road Tracks/Chaos AD/etc., following Port Rhombus. All of the jam-session-with-Billy-Cobham aesthetic remains in tact, only this time Jaco sits out, favoring the tabletop version of 'Centipede' in the corner. There's a certain present affinity for the summer of love's 303-as-god sound, applied in droves on such Jenks classics as 'The Barn' (303 Kebab) and 'Fat Controller' (G7000 Remix). Centering in on the sort of post-rhythm-as-rump-shaker manifesto he decidedly goes for later on." —Hrvatski. Re: Big Loada EP: "Higher IDM quotient than previous releases (audible in the melancholic swirls of melody-sound), but with the stick-tub-amp ratio on full. The indecipherable voice overs (notably, MC Twintub's 'Contribution' to 'Full Rinse', sure to bring a tear to Conrad's eye...) and overall blown sonics succeed in leaving your scalp more than agitated. More Amen/Lyn/soul pride grappling than allowed by Federal law. Much denser and more ear-pleasingly brilliant than previous efforts." —Hrvatski.

AUTECHRE: CD (INTD 90258). $14.00

The fifth album from Manchester's duo of Sean Booth and Rob Brown is Autechre's most detailed and insane collection of electronic specification. Number crunching at a new fully realized peak, sledding past the masses of insignificant humanity at an alarming rate. Some people have been waiting their entire life for just this album. Referred to as LPS in the UK, America will have to just deal with Autechre. Exponentially the next step from Incunabula, Amber, Tri Repetae & and it's most significant forebearer, Chiaistic Slide. One of the records that will define 1998. [now packaged in the US in a lame b&w generic sleeve by the laughable Nothing organization]

PLAID: Not For Threes CD (INTD 90277). $14.50

"The long awaited 2nd album from Ed Handley & Andy Turner, formerly of Black Dog. These techno innovators again set out for parts barely-known, fusing acoustic and electro, lush harmony and disconcerting discord. In parts ranging from symphonically grand to meticulously intricate. Features guest vocal work from Björk, Nicolette (Massive Attack) and Mara Carlyle.

SQUAREPUSHER: Music Is Rotted One Note CD (INTD 90294). $14.00

"Full length number four (counting the recent Burning'n Tree collection of Spymania-owned sounds) for Tom Jenkinson under his 'Squarepusher' aegis — issued domestically only one week after Warp's release in the UK. Totally eschewing the concept of tempore linear composition, Jenks brings us an assortment of not-completely-un-Miles-like space-jazz sound-scapes (with TJ playing the DeJohnette, Zawinul, Holland, And Macero roles without flinching, or developing carpal-tunnel syndrome) via multi-track recording technology and scattered computer post-processing. No breaks. No drum programming. Unreal. An amazing turn of events proving Tom to be a fairly proficient swordsman in a variety of post-prog-jazz roles. Likely to turn rave kids onto Sextant-era Herbie or some such wonder. Mental." —Hrvatski.

SQUAREPUSHER: Budakhan Mindphone CD (INTD 90312). $11.00

"Seven tracks, 30 minutes of music. All brand spankin' new tracks. Simultaneous with UK release. Track list: iambic 5 poetry/fly street/the tide/splash/two bass hit (dub)/varkatope/gong acid." Word on the street: "New Squarepusher is kind of confusing. It's bad, but in a really good sort of way. Dig?"

SQUAREPUSHER: Selection Sixteen CD (INTD 90996). $14.00

"Mr. Jenkinson returns with another storming mini album, Selection Sixteen. This release sees Tom returning to a more upbeat mood, mixing his amazing bass slapping antics with trademark Squarepusher acid lunacy. The release also includes four unlisted bonus tracks (same tracks found on the 10" included in the Warp vinyl edition)."

SQUAREPUSHER: Presents Maximum Priest CD (INTD 90997). $11.00

"Four new tracks and 3 remixes (by Wagonchrist, Autechre and Matt Yee King)."

PLAID: Rest Proof Clockwork CD (INTD 90998). $14.00

"15 new tracks of rhythmic beats and impassioned ambience from Ed Handley and Andy Turner (former members of electronic innovators Black Dog)." The group's 2nd full length for Warp (licensed to Nothing in the US), a follow up to 1997's Not For Threes.

AUTECHRE: EP7 CD (INTD 90999). $12.50

"11 brand new tracks (over 60 minutes) of controlled chaos from electronic experimentalists Sean Booth and Rob Brown."

AUTECHRE: Peel Session CD (INTD 95039). $9.00

As with most red-blooded facsimiles of human life, it's hard to fathom Autechre music being released on Trent Reznor's Nothing label. Even Cleopatra could conceivably be better. And it's not like it's even a penny cheaper than the Warp version. But I suppose the possibility exists that Trent himself laced up one of his leather boots while stepping on your copy of this release, so line up and take your chances. It will never taste the same again. This Peel Session features 3 previously unreleased tracks — 25 minutes of music. Originally recorded on 10/13/95 on John Peel's UK Radio 1 show. Track list: "milk dx"/"inhake"/"drane".

PLAID: Peel Session CD (INTD 97053). $9.00

"Recorded in January 1998 for John Peel's UK Radio 1 show. Featuring stunning remixes of 'Scoobs' (from Mbuki Mvuki), 'Eph' (from Not For Threes) and 'Bo Bootch' (from the UK release of Not For Threes), as well as one brand new track."

NOVAMUTE (UK):

VA: 2CD's & MP3's 2CD (MUTE 3074 CD). $19.00

"A 2 CD collection featuring 16 tracks plus 28 MP3 files, many previously unavailable on CD, most previously unavailable domestically. Control of music and technology is passing from the hands of the few to the de-centralized many. The architects of this revolution are now found at home and not at the office. 2CD's & MP3's features many influential Novamute artists and tracks previously available only as 12" import releases: Speedy J, Debasser, Tim Wright, Needledust!, Nitzer Ebb, Umek, Earnest Honest, and more. Also included on the compilation is exclusive material: Luke Slater's 'Nothing At All' Console remix, Si Begg's (S.I.Futures) 'Eurostar' remix, plus Thomas Brinkmann's astounding Echoboy remix, which received only limited availability. In addition, you'll find Plastikman's 'Afrika' rarity, Akufen's incredible remix of Cabaret Voltaire's 'Nag Nag Nag', and new Novamute signing, Berlin's own T. Raumschmiere."

SPEEDY J: Tannga 12" (MUTE 3075 EP). $6.50

"Sweatboxer is a club experience conceived by Novamute's Jochem Paap, aka Speedy J."

BEGG, Si: Moveup 12" (MUTE 3076 EP). $6.50

"The first single from Si Begg's forthcoming album for Novamute, Director's Cut. Featuring the combined vocal talents of UK rap pioneers Toastie Taylor, Juice Aleem and Blackitude, 'Moveup' is a hybrid track that blends dancehall, hip-hop and UK garage with Si Begg's trademark maverick deft touch."

BEGG, Si: Director's Cut CD (MUTE 3077 CD). $15.50

"Director's Cut, Si Begg's latest album, is an all inclusive, ever shifting long player, showcasing Begg's production skills and ability to plunder a wide scope of styles without resorting to pastiche. For too long dance music has remained staunchly ghettoized into hard-line scenes, yet with Director's Cut Begg's first solo album under his own name, he sets out to smash the prevailing trends and set a new world order."

BEGG, SI: Director's Cut 2LP (MUTE 3077 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

RAUMSCHMIERE, T.: Radio Blackout CD (MUTE 3079 CD). $16.00

"Novamute is proud to announce the signing of Berlin's finest, T. Raumschmiere, aka Marco Haas. Haas has produced music since 1997, mainly for his own label Shitkatapult and for imprints such as Kompakt and Hefty Records. His brand of 'minimalism' is to achieve the 'maximum' with as few means as possible... with a decidedly punk ethos: why go for sterile minimalism when you can rock out?"

RAUMSCHMIERE, T.: Radio Blackout 2LP (MUTE 3079 LP). $18.00

Double LP version. Initial copies come w/ a bonus CD featuring 4 videos...

PLASTIKMAN: Disconnect CD (MUTE 3080 CD). $6.50

"A taster of the forthcoming album, Closer, the three tracks here introduce the dark and deeply introspective mood of the long player — a clear and logical progression from 1998's Consumed, yet twitchier and more abstracted than ever before. 'Disconnect' is probably the most accessible moment from the album, but it's still no walk in the park. A deep analogue bassline stalks a lone, haunted 303 through the track, over some typically minimal beats. Most notably, it features a vocal from Plastikman himself. The single also features the ten minute sprawl of 'Headcase', a schizophrenic masterpiece with highlights Plastikman's place amongst the last few years' wave of 'glitch' artists. Finally, 'Digital/Divide' is included — a track exclusive to the single and not featured on the album. It's another long one, again weighing in at over ten minutes, and once again it's a disfunctional, indecisive sounding piece of music."

WRIGHT, TIM: The Ride CD (NOMU 114CD). $9.00

"Last year Tim Wright released an album under his Tube Jerk guise for Scotland's Sativae recordings and produced a host of remixes (including Radioactive Man while continuing his involvement with the New Flesh Hip-Hop project on Ninjatune and his band, Sand). 'The Ride' is a perfect first single from the album. It's catchy as hell — like Basement Jaxx being molested by The Bug, and it's a good example of Wright's brutally effective genre mashing. Ragga vocals are provided by Toastie Tailor, member of the New Flesh crew. Tim's remix puts the focus on the instrumental elements of the track, masking the vocals behind a haze of distortion and giving the track more drive for maximum club appeal." Luciano's Rmix, Pt. 2 Remix.

WRIGHT, TIM: The Ride 12" (NOMU 114EP). $9.00

Vinyl EP version.

NITZER EBB: Murderous / Control I'm Here 12" (NOMU 127). $9.00

"Nitzer Ebb are one of those acts whose influence just grows and grows. Having formed in the early 80s, this Colchester-based foursome (occasionally a trio) were one of the most lauded exponents of the Industrial / Hardbeat style, fusing pummeling electronic rhythms with equally fierce lyrical content and delivery. The Industrial sound is enjoying a renaissance at the moment — at a time when older strains of electronic music are being hunted down to satisfy the cravings of a new generation of retro savvy clubbers. But even before the current 80s revival, within Techno in particular, many of the key players on the scene have name-checked EBM acts as key catalysts in their own musical development. For this 'Murderous' remix, Belfast's Phil Kieran retains the tough industrial drive of the original, and it's spiky keyboards, and makes brilliant use of the vocal — dropping it sparingly throughout. LFO man Mark Bell offers a more radical reworking of 'Control I'm Here', darkening it up to the max with some heavy synths. Despite this imposing feel, the tempo is firmly on the upbeat tip, in a haze of sparkling hi hats and 808 toms."

LITERON/SPEEDY J: Collabs 200 12" (NOMU 132 EP). $9.00

"Collabs 200 is the second in a series of three releases which sees Speedy J working together with other producers. This release unites Speedy with Holland's Literon over two tracks of intense dancefloor techno. The A-side track has a minimal, almost glitchy groove, and is noticeably less linear than Speedy's solo work. His involvement becomes apparent, though, in the drum programming, particularly the overdriven snare hit. The attention to detail in the actual sounds used is typically meticulous, and when the bass drops, it really drops. Tension builds with some fierce reverb (another Speedy trademark), working to a claustrophobic climax of heavy white noise."

SLATER, LUKE: Traktion Action 12" (NOMU 133 EP). $9.00

"This will be the first in a series of stand-alone 12"s for Novamute whilst Luke works on a further, as yet unnamed, album project for parent label Mute. There are three tracks on the 12". Opening with the electrically charged rush of 'Traktion Action', the single has a sound somewhere between full-on techno, Glitter-rock and the Human League. Furiously paced and built around an elastic melody, 'Traktion Action' builds into a frenetic finale — all screaming synths and fingers in belt buckle boogie. Second track Intensity has a brooding sophistication and unashamedly poppy melody — like Grace Jones hamming it up at Tresor while final cut EDBD sounds not unlike a finely tuned Dyson-hoover — all echoey, rising melodies and metronomic beats."

MISS KITTIN: Professional Distortion CD (NOMU 135CD). $9.00

"'Professional Distortion' is Kittin's debut solo: a rock meets blip-hop opus and wry commentary on her experiences in the nightlife world. Over a rugged bassline and electronic bleeps she wryly mocks her own superstar DJ status. The single comes backed with two remixes. First up is the bass heavy rattling reworking by Miami based Otto Von Schirach, who has amongst other things previously recorded for the highly regarded Schematic crew. Then there's the taught and muscular 'Magnetic Cereal Pamper' remix from BPitch Control's Modeselektor (aka Gernot Bronsert and Sebastian Szary) who originally hail from East Germany but now, like Kittin, have found their base in the new Berlin."

MISS KITTIN: Professional Distortion 12" (NOMU 135EP). $9.00

Vinyl EP version.

RAUMSCHMIERE, T.: A Million Brothers CD (MUTE 3084CD). $5.00

"'A Millions Brothers' is the new single from T.Raumschmiere's debut album for Mute, Radio Blackout. 'A Million Brothers' will be released on both CD EP and 12", and features remixes by Pole, Techno Animal, LFO (of the album track 'Querstromzerpaner'), and Subspecies."

RAUMSCHMIERE, T.: A Million Brothers 12" (MUTE 3084EP). $6.50

Vinyl EP version.

NOVEMBER MUSIC (UK):

DRESCH QUARTET: Riding The Wind CD (NVR 2003). $16.00

November is a new UK-based label; packaging is exquisite, mini-hard cover book-like jackets, comparable to the Winter & Winter label. Mihaly Dresch (tenor & soprano saxophones, Hungarian flute, bells); Ferenc Kovacs (violin); Matyasc Szandai (bass); Jstvan Balo (drums); +guest Galazs Under (cymbalom). "Master of jazz and native Hungarian folk traditions, Dresch is a powerful saxophonist and his quartet play a full-blooded fusion of both musics on their November debut. The leader's compositions conjure up vivid images of the dramatic terrain and vibrant cultures of his homeland."

DEL-ALFOLDI SAXOPHONE ENSEMBLE: Kalamona CD (NVR 2004). $16.00

Bela Pocok Burany (reeds); Balas Szokolay Dongo (reeds, overtone singing); Bela-Szarvas Agoston (reeds, voice, overtone singing); Robert Benko (bass); Tamas Sandor Geroly (drums, voice). "This young Hungarian group play an exhilarating cross of free jazz and folk dance, drawing on the diverse traditions of their native country. Utilizing overtone singing, their music takes on a trance-like quality broken only by the spectacular pyrotechnics of the horns."

AZOTIA: Makahia CD (NVR 2009). $16.00

Zoltan Lantos (5-string violin, 5+16 sympathetic string), Achim Tang (bass), Patrice Heral (dr, perc, table, live electronics). "Melodic and highly rhythmic improvisations utilising Indian modes and featuring the new virtuoso of the violin, Zoltan Lantos. The trio plays their exotic compositions with furious energy and great imagination."

KIEDAISCH/SVOBODA/HAHN: Water Mirror CD (NVR 2010). $16.00

Michael Kiedaich (marimba, vibes, perc.), Michael Svoboda (trombone, tuba, alphon, dideridoo), Edward Hahn (reeds, flute). "Highly atmospheric and unique group exploring the relationship between sound and water. Playful and somehow reminiscent of Raymond Scott's music for small jazz ensemble."

HAARLA & PEPA PAIVINEN, IRO: Yarra Yarra CD (NVR 2017). $16.00

"Yarra Yarra is by a jazz duo from Finland formed by the late Edward Vesala's wife Iro Haarla and the lead saxophonist of Sound & Fury— Pepa Paivinen. The album was recorded during the darkest and coldest day in Finland. A very melancholy and beautiful ballad album, rooted deeply in Finnish folk forms and jazz abstraction. This is also the first recording which includes many of Vesala's tunes since he died in 1999. A true dedication to him." Iro Haarla (piano, harp, Jeng), Pepa Paivinen (soprano/tenor/baritone saxophones, alto flute).

BJØRNSTAD, KETIL: Before The Light CD (NVR 2019). $16.00

Ketil Bjørnstad (piano and synthesizers), Eivind Aarset (guitars), Nora Taksdal (viola), Kjetil Bjerkestrand (synthesizers, samplers and percussion). "Before the Light is an imaginary soundtrack that was originally composed for a story set in Taiwan. In this story, the city of Taipei provides the backdrop for a chance meeting between a taxi driver in search of a mysterious lover and a lonely writer in search of her own identity. Composer Ketil Bjørnstad has visited Taiwan a number of times and is very attracted to this country, its people and atmosphere. Because the movie Before the Light was never realized and Bjørnstad had only a story outline and some preparatory photos of the scenes and locations for the film to work with, he composed the soundtrack based on his own memories of Taiwan and his own interpretation of the story? The outcome is both beautiful and haunting, his compositions exploring a broad musical vocabulary ranging from the delicately sensual to the explosively rhythmic."

NOW AGAIN:

VA: South Dallas Pop Festival - Live 1970 CD (NA 5007 CD). $14.00

Reissued on a division of Stones Throw. "Dallas, Texas, produced some of the finest acts from funk music's golden age. Deep funk legends like Timothy McNeally, Ticked Pink and Soul Patrol all called Dallas home. Until recently, most of their music could only be found on super expensive original 45s or on dodgy bootlegs. Now, with compilations like The Funky 16 Corners and the new Texas Funk, these artists are seeing proper re-release for the first time. Over 70 minutes of professionally recorded, full restored, funky soul music played by some of the best bands in the deep funk business, live in 1970."

L.A. CARNIVAL: Pose A Question CD (NA 5009 CD). $14.00

"A full length, unreleased album — recorded and shelved over thirty years ago. To be released on Stones Throw's reissue subsidiary, Now-Again, L.A. Carnival's Pose A Question LP runs the gamut from superb, psychedelic soul to backbeat-grounded, heavy funk (by way of syncopation and horn arrangements that hint at Fela Kuti influenced Afro-Beat and a politically charged nature that heralds Sly and The Family Stone's groundbreaking early 70s albums). Perhaps the most fully realized unreleased funk album released to date, the Pose A Question anthology has been lovingly restored and mastered, packaged with a 20-page full color booklet, chock full of liner notes, period pictures of the band, and full annotation."

EBONY RHYTHM BAND: Soul Heart Transplant: Lamp Sessions CD (NA 5011CD). $14.00

"The final — and most exciting — installment in Now Again Records' LAMP reissue series — a tawil through the funk catalog of Indianapolis's most prolific soul and funk label of the 60s and 70s. The music has been remastered from the analog master tapes and the band's history has been annotated and culled into extensive liner notes. 'Soul Heart Transplant', the title cut of the anthology, is fitting. The Band couldn't help but transplant their Meters-inspired, psychedelic grooves onto not only their original compositions but also onto any funky tunes from the day. As such, groups like The Doors, Blood Sweat and Tears and Cream all receive a heavy funk workout via the Ebony Rhythm Band. This CD runs the gamut from superb, psychedelic funk to backbeat-grounded, heavy funk."

NRK (UK):

KRIVIT, DANNY: Expansions (Nite:Life 011) 2CD (NRKMX 011). $19.00

"Sometimes the only way to look forward is to look back, and for the eleventh chapter of our nite:life series, New York legend, Danny Krivit, presents us with a double mix CD that spans three decades, countless continents and many differing styles. Expansions is an awesome ride through moods, rhythms, instrumentations, chords, vocals, memories, and much more. This expansive CD mix opens up with the lush orchestration of 'Mas Fuerte Que El Sol' and soon takes us on a jaunt through house music's past with 808 State's classic 'Pacific State'. The very heart of New York is represented by players such as Dennis Ferrer, Kerri Chandler and Blaze whilst European 'click house' gets a look in with Germany's Needs and France's Klubfilter. The sounds of now are represented by Ernest Saint Laurent's spooky 'Clumsey Lobster' and Octave One's jacking 'Blackwater'. A joy of a mix compilation, Expansions breathes some fresh life into the dance music scene." Additional artists include: Fantastic Plastic Machine, Gerardo Frisina, Happy Heads, Outlaw Soundworks, DJ Food, Lost Tribes of Ibadan 3, Noiseshaper, Brooklyn Heights, Block 16 feat. Jhelisa, Pal Joey, Funk Against Jazz, Nigel Hayes, Celebrate, Peckham Royalty, Frankie Valentine, Zion Lockwood, Mr. Hermano.

KRIVIT, DANNY: Expansions (Nite:Life 011) 4LP (NRKMX 011 LP). $30.00

ROLANDO: Nite:Life 016 CD (NRKMX 016 CD). $16.00

"The Nite:life mix series takes the long route to the City of Detroit, a city that has innovated and release so much great music over the years. Nite:Life 016 has been entrusted to the hands of Rolando, a DJ and producer who has made his mark over the last few years with some groundbreaking records and awesome DJ sets. With his Los Hermanos label still in its infancy yet with the stunning Quetzal, Birth Of 3000 and Tres already under its belt, his genre bending near-classic 'Knights Of The Jaguar' track (as The Aztec Mystic) for the venerable Underground Resistance (UR) label and a relentless DJ schedule, Rolando delivers a fine mix reflective of his influences of electro, deep house and all areas in between. Nite:Life 016 is the perfect showcase for Rolando's DJ style. A mixture of revered house classics (Terrence Parker), homegrown Detroit talent (Gerald Mitchell, Mr De' and Ray Merriweathers Jr.), bumping deep house (Gene Farris, Frederic Galliano, Steve Bug), the innovators (Model 500, Jeff Mills, Joey Beltram) and gnarly electro (Hell & Jonzon, Technasia), this compilation flows from futuristic beats and melodies to the underground sounds of old school house."

ROLANDO: Nite:Life 016 2LP (NRKMX 016 LP). $18.00

Double LP version 8 tracks, unmixed.

CLOITER: Fur Purse 10" (NSF NSQA1). $8.00

4-track 10" EP from this Caroliner-connected SF-based group from around 1993 or so. Last copies...

NUMERO GROUP:

VA: Eccentric Soul: The Capsoul Label CD (NUMERO 001CD). $16.00

"Short for 'Capital City Soul,' the Columbus Ohio Capsoul label's history spans only five short years throughout the 1970's. Founded by Bill Moss, a local singer and DJ at WVKO in Columbus, Capsoul released just a dozen 45's and one highly sought after LP resulting in a few regional hits. Numero 001 is a compilation of nineteen tracks spanning the label's all but forgotten history. The album features Johnson, Hawkins, Tatum & Durr, The Kool Blues, Ronnie Taylor, the Four Mints, Bill Moss, Elijah and the Ebonites and Marion Black. The soul is there by the bucketful — sweet '70s gems by such little-known artists as Marion Black, Bill Moss, and the staggering Johnson, Hawkins, Tatum & Durr — but there's nothing particularly esoteric or unusual about the music. To the contrary, it goes down as smoothly as that of Marvin Gaye, the JB's, the Four Tops, and other R&B legends."

ANTENA: Camino Del Sol CD (NUMERO 002CD). $16.00

"The best French-Belgian electro-samba record you've never heard. Antena's Camino Del Sol was first released in September 1982 as 5-song, 18-minute mini-LP on the elusive Brussels label, Les Disques Du Crepuscule. Numero 002 contains re-mastered versions of the original Camino Del Sol tracks compiled along with the band's first EP, period B-sides, compilation tracks and two unreleased cuts. 'With any justice, it will bring new light to a lost gem, as similar reissues did for Os Mutantes, whose adolescent dementia influences this record's tropicalia songs ('The Boy from Ipanema', 'Sissex'), and Shuggie Otis, whose piquantly primitive drum machines propel each track. So much hidden influence lies in these songs. The wonderful opening punch of 'To Climb the Cliff' and the title track predate Stereolab's Gainsbourg-gone-Kraftwerk by over a decade, and Air's cool, Parisian sex by nearly two." — Pitchfork.

NUMMER-SCHALLPLATTEN (GERMANY):

RUSNAK, DENIS: Two Tales of Canada 12" (NUMMER 007EP). $9.00

"At this time Nummer-Schallplatten presents one of the most interesting electronic-music-artists around. He played guitar for several bands and styles, his recordings start as early as 1995 (Hartouse, remember?), he joined the ultra-high-class portfolio of Warp-records in 2003 and: Mr. Rusnak rocks, yes yes yes. He's seen all parts and views of music producing as a composer, bandmember and solo-artist, and now he offers nummer sieben: a monster — a true rock'n'roll recording, distorted and rough and dirty and very very yeah — plus: a more relaxed track with refreshing tunes as a backpack."

2 DOLLAR EGG: Naxos 12" (NUMMER 008EP). $9.00

"2 Dollar Egg deliver a superb follow-up to their massive success with nummer fünf. After releases for Klang and Sender the good guys return to nummer with 100% serious electronic minimalism. In their very own way-till-it's-perfect way they offer two funky and rocking tracks: sound-design at it's very best. If you like nummer fünf, you'll love nummer acht."

O.O. DISCS:

BAILEY/GREGG BENDIAN, DEREK: Banter CD (OO 20). $13.00

Lovely guitar/percussion duets. Bendian, best known for his Cecil Taylor affiliation, plays dumbeg, bongos, log drum, vibraphone, bowed cymbals, chains, glockenspiel etc.

CELLI, JOSEPH: Video Ears Music Eyes CD (OO 22). $13.00

Five pieces for various performers, composed by Celli. Each piece generates a heavy layering effect, as each musician improvises along with video images of themselves, multi-channel swirls of sound. Includes works for Jin Hi Kim (komungo), Brain Johnson (xylophone), 7 Peruvian Musicians and a Mountain of Televisions, Ulrich Krieger (saxophones) and Malcolm Goldstein (violin). The results are a dense mindwrap of In C-like cross-circulating sound; the best Celli recording I've heard and frankly, one of the ultimate "new music" releases of the current millennium. Liner notes by Tony Conrad.

KIM, JIN HI: Living Tones CD (OO 24). $13.00

Another amazing set from this Korean Komungo player (Korea's earliest known instrument, dating back to the 4th century, a zither with six silk strings and bowed for heavy resonant effect). Here she plays in duet with the Sirius String Quartet; also appearing are Robert Dick (flute), Thomas Bucker (baritone), Joseph Celli (oboe, English Horn) and more.

KRIEGER, ULRICH: Walls of Sound CD (OO 32). $13.00

"Music by John Cage, James Tenney, Joseph Celli and Phill Niblock, performed by saxophonist/composer Ulrich Krieger. The disc features 64:00 minutes of very thick textural music with dense, multi-layered over-lays of sound. Krieger feels that, '... this is a kind of music that is truly American. It started with composers like LaMonte Young with a profound devotion to sound, putting texture and sound as the primary compositional interest in contrast to the traditional European concern for basic compositional parameters of rhythm, melody, harmony, structure....' Cage's 'Four5' is recorded here so that there are 20 layers of saxophone resulting in a work that is 'humming and throbbing as a result of the minute pitch differences.' James Tenney's 'Saxony' and Joseph Celli's 'Video Sax' use the complete sax family and Niblock's 'Didjiridoos And Don'ts' has the didjeridoo with tape."

PETERS, STEVE: Emanations CD (OO 34). $13.00

Subtitled "A Sonic Environment Existing on the Threshold of Silence," this might be perceived as America's answer to Bernhard Gunter, a great new chapter in the evolution of ultra-minimalism. "Emanations" was originally conceived as a sound installation to accompany Claire Giovanniello's white paintings wrapped in gauze, and elegant sculptural works consisting of nails and thin aluminum rods driven into the gallery walls in precise geometric patterns. Just as Claire's work plays with the notion of where the wall ends and the art begins, I wanted to construct an ethereal sonic presence existing on the boundary between sound and air: not really 'music', but a kind of vapor. Something very pure yet almost absent. The resonant frequencies were articulated via feedback made with a stereo microphone, a graphic equalizer, and a small PA system." —Peters.

KIM, JIN HI: Komungo CD (OO 70). $13.00

"The disc features Ms. Kim's improvisations and compositions on this traditional 4th century instrument in addition to the electric komungo with several guest artists. Many scholars believe that the name of the instrument, komungo, refers to the color and translates to 'black crane zither' with certain scholars believing that it is an ancient term for gods or spirits thus translating to 'zither of the spirits.' On this recording Jin Hi Kim performs six works on the traditional Korean acoustic komungo as well four works with the electric komungo she developed. This instrument, built by instrument maker Joseph Yannzeillo, is capable of being played in a traditional acoustic manner in addition to having direct electric interface with various processing devices and computers. On several tracks there are special guest artists including Shonosuke Okura (Japanese otsuzumi drum from the Noh Theatre), Kongar-ol Ondar (Tuvanese throat singer) and Kang Kwon Soon (Korean gagok singer)."

OBSESSIVE (UK):

VA: The Soul of Science CD (EVS 04 CD). $18.00

"Compiled by Kirk Degiorgio and Ian O'Brien. Majestic compilation that sees Degiorgio and O'Brien dig very deep into the archives for a blistering combination of past, present and future electronic jazz, funk and disco tracks with a concept of gathering together material that brings electronic equipment alive and gives it soul. Featured on this album is an unreleased gem from Herbie Hancock. It's a track from the golden era of 1973 called 'The Spook Who Sat By The Door'. This sits nicely alongside unreleased and new material from both Kirk and Ian respectively. Also featured are rare grooves from Dunn Pearson Jr. and much in-demand tracks from David Axelrod, Tamba Trio, Lonnie Liston Smith, Seiji, Be Bop Dawg, The Players Association, George Duke, etc. The Soul of Science is a truly collectable introduction into the roots of electronic music."

VA: Mixmaster Morris Presents Abstract Funk Theory CD (EVS 06 CD). $15.00

"This time out, it's chill-out king Mixmaster Morris (Irresistible Force/Ninja Tune/The Big Chill) with his take on this popular series of leftfield beats. This latest installment features the awesome spoken word of Ursula Rucker with King Britt, topped with a nu-jazz remix from Jazzanova, to the electronic vocodered vocal of Fila Brazillia's "The Speewah", to the raw, broken beats of Domu's "Dressed To Kill". Abstract funk: it sounds like this. Also featured are Fink, Extended Spirit, Ptaah, Papo Vasquez, Waiwan, Chateau Flight, Dego, Ko-Wreck Technique (Plaid remix) and Offworld Ensemble."

VA: Block Rockin' Breaks 2LP (EVS 07 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

VA: Circulation Presents Abstract Funk Theory CD (EVS 11 CD). $15.00

"As the new year dawns, a sublime new instalment of the critically acclaimed and highly successful Abstract Funk Theory series rises over the horizon and this time it's the turn of Circulation who steer the mix with electro fuelled beats and corking tech-house groovers. Featuring tracks from the legendary Carl Craig with 'Televised Green Smoke', an exclusive and specially commissioned Circulation track, vocal electro excursions by Random Factor and the deliciously: funky grooves of At Jazz. The vibe of the abstract funk lives on..." Artists include The Timewriter, Carl Craig, Ron Honey Experience, Subtech, At Jazz, Circulation, Motorfunk, P.I.M.P., Two Full Minds, Random Factor, Voice Stealer, Jori Hulkkonen (vinyl only), Aubrey (vinyl only).

VA: Vol3 Colin Dale Excursions 3LP (EVS 14 LP). $18.00

VA: Freddy Fresh Presents Abstract Funk Theory CD (EVS 17 CD). $15.00

"This time it's the turn of Freddy Fresh, the big beat, hip hop and technomeister who has produced and mixed acts such as Grandmaster Flash, Schooly D, Fatboy Slim and Boogie Down Productions, who concocts a wonderfully twisted journey through the world of beats, breaks, electro, deep house and techno (phew). The album contains a couple of exclusives from Freddy Fresh alongside tracks from Cat Stevens from his experimental electronics phase to Jean Michel Jarre, from Man Parrish to Dan Curtin. Abstract Funk Theory delivers an overview of all things electronic, abstract and funky. Imitators beware: this is the real deal."

CRAIG, CARL: Abstract Funk Theory CD (EVS 20 CD). $16.00

"Edition 6 of this constantly evolving series of leftfield grooves sees the God of the Detroit sound and owner of the globally acclaimed Planet E label, Carl Craig at the helm of the latest installment. The album is a testament to Carl's roots and inspirations with the input of the album revolving heavily around the sounds of yesteryear of Detroit and featuring some of the true originators of the universally acclaimed techno sound. Features classics from B-52's (the awesome "Mesopotamia") through to Juan Atkins, Derrick May, Kevin Saunderson and Carl himself. Also includes gems from George Clinton, Shari Vari (the legendary early 80s Detroit techno theoretical debut) and Reese & Santonio. Carl Craig has established himself as one of the most important people in music and has released albums under various guises on Sound Of Ministry as Paperclip People, R&S as 69 and Mo Wax as Innerzone Orchestra." Track listing: George Clinton: "Atomic Dog", B-52's: "Mesopotamia", A Number of Names: "Shari Vari", "Cybotron: "Alleys of Your Mind", Channel One (Atkins & D. Craig): "Technicolor", Reese & Santonio: "Forcefield", Model 500: "Night Drive", X-Ray: "Let's Go", B.F.C.: "Galaxy", Rhythm Is Rhythm: "The Dance".

CRAIG, CARL: Abstract Funk Theory 2LP (EVS 20 LP). $18.00

Double vinyl version.

O'BRIEN/KIRK DE GIORGIO, IAN: Soul Of Science 2 CD (EVS 21 CD). $16.00

"Obsessive unleash the second volume in their Soul Of Science series and we find ourselves back once again for a cocktail of good times jazzy vibes and funky hypnotic grooves again lovingly compiled by arthouse techno meisters Kirk De Giorgio and Ian O'Brien. Volume One was described as 'the best Sunday morning radio you never heard' by Muzik magazine and 'a fine collection of Afro-powered jazz funk joints' by 7 magazine. Volume 2 promises to deliver much of the same quality. Featuring artists as diverse as Latin legends Azymuth through to Ian O'Brien's soul-meets-techno tinged reworking of Laws Of Motion's 'Naïma', two words sum up this album: truly inspirational. This album is a sure-fire way in joining the dots of early jazz and electronic music." Artists include: Azymuth, Bennie Maupin, Cesar Mariano, North Station, Harold McKinney, John Murtaugh, Silver Apples, Buari, Joe Farrell, Offworld, Hipnotic, Kaïdi Taïtham, Orange Water, Uschi Classen & Eska, Solid State Collective.

O'BRIEN/KIRK DE GIORGIO, IAN: Soul Of Science 2 3LP (EVS 21 LP). $25.00

Triple LP version.

FAZE ACTION: Presents Abstract Funk Theory 2LP (EVS 24 LP). $18.00

Double vinyl version.

EDWARDS, GREG: Presents Waxin' Lyrical Part One CD (EVS 25 CD). $15.00

"Compiled by Jazz/soul legend Greg Edwards, Obsessive unleash the first in a new series exploring the roots of rap culture. For the first time, a series that will examine the lyrical aspect of the music (ie: the spoken word) rather than the actual 'breaks' themselves. Rap music owes its actual being to early pioneers of the spoken word/jazz poets of yesteryear. Now we could dig deeper, back to the 50s, but the tracks from that era would not be of as much relevance, so we are gonna take you back to the late 60s. Gil Scott-Heron, with his politically fused lyrics, regarding the struggle of the black man. Isaac Hayes talking of lost love. Roy Ayres with his almost jive talking poetry (Like no other can). Fatback Band pessimistically observing the future. This particular episode of this series will take you on a journey from 1968 to 1980." Artists include: Fatback Band, Roy Ayres, Gary Byrd, Isaac Hayes, Sugarhill Gang, Kevin Keys & Sylvia Robinson, Charles Wright & The Watts 103rd Street Rhythm Band, Gil Scott Heron, Melle Melle & Duke Bootee, Grandmaster Flash.

EDWARDS, GREG: Presents Waxin' Lyrical 2LP (EVS 25 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

VA: Obsessive Sessions - Winter Warmer CD (EVS 26 CD). $15.00

"The first 'Obsessive Sessions' collection was released to celebrate the label's first birthday. After much demand the label delivers the second in the series Obsessive Sessions — Winter Warmer. Because of label's musical diversity, the series takes elements from a broad spectrum of musical genres, incorporating a broad taste of the Obsessive Sound. The second issue of the series comes with a more House feel than the previous release but still oozes quality. Pushing boundaries but still keeping the tempo upbeat, the album takes you on a journey that includes producers Jay Salino, Derrick Carter, Waiman, Juilen Jabre, Rithma, Streetlife Originals, Pepe Braddock, Onorio and many more."

VA: Obsessive Sessions - Winter Warmer 2LP (EVS 26 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

VA: Powercuts CD (EVS 27 CD). $15.00

"Bronx Dogs man Richard Sen pays homage to a misspent youth with 12 cuts of raw electro power. From Juan Atkins and Rik Davis proto-techno as Cybotron to Ice T's hip hop infusion and Newttramet's playful nursery rhyming 'London Bridge is Falling Down', Sen picks out some of the finest moments that defined electro and took it into the charts and hearts of the world's dancefloors. Sen's love of electro went hand in hand with the more illicit tagging and graffiti artist painting of trains in London in the mid 1980's. He has subsequently used this talent in the music industry and has created cover artwork for Sabres Of Paradise (Theme and Smokebelch), Heavenly and Wall Of Sound alongside backdrops for several clubs." Artists include: Newcleus, Pieces Of A Dream, Ice T And The Time, Newttramet, Tilt, Sparque, Zero Hour, Information Society, New Order, Paul Hardcastle, The Knights Of The Turntable, Cybotron, Riichi Sakamoto.

EDWARDS, GREG: Soul Spectrum: Radio Sessions CD (EVS 28 CD). $15.00

"Soul Spectrum follows the Greg Edwards compiled Waxin' Lyrical album which featured the likes of Gil Scott-Heron, Curtis Mayfield, Roy Ayers and the Fatback band. Waxin' Lyrical received critical acclaim (another Obsessive release to do so) so we thought we'd get Greg back to showcase old skool classics from back in the day when Greg was rocking the airwaves with his superb Soul Spectrum radio shows. These were the sort of shows that made the radio worth listening to. Greg was then, as he is now, a pioneer of soul and jazz music in the UK and the only place to get your fix was by tuning into Capital Radio where Greg, who created, produced and presented the show, was defined as 'the man who restyled Saturday's'." Artists include: Fat Larry's Band, Sweet Thunder, Sylvester, G.Q, Raydio, Linda Clifford, Maze, Archie Bell & The Drells, Billy Griffin, Cheryl Lynn, Little Beaver, James Brown, The Stylistics, S.O.S Band, Jeffree, Ben E. King, Lenny White.

FELIX DA HOUSECAT: Excursions CD (EVS 29 CD). $17.00

"Felix Da Housecat returns with a mix album for Obsessive, continuing their Excursions series in fine style. Felix's critically acclaimed and award winning album Kittenz and Thee Glitz has gone down as one of last year's best albums. Putting Felix up with the big leagues, Kittenz and Thee Glitz is now taking America by storm, picking up rave reviews in Rolling Stone (two months running!) and even the New York Times. Touring behind the album and playing gigs all round the world, now it's time for Felix Da Housecat to give us a slice of his dancefloor expertise with this superb mix for Obsessive. Excursions is a proper representation of Felix's dancefloor dynamite. From the electro pop leanings of Ladytron to the relentless pummel of Jeff Mills and Bolz Bolz, and a bevy of slamming remixes from Felix himself, it's a 74 minute joyride to every corner of the dancefloor. Felix has delivered the ingredient missing in most DJ mixes today. He has remembered to inject the proceedings with a healthy dollop of FUN!" Artists include: Ladytron, We In Music, Daniel Diamond, Tok Tok Vs Sofy O, Northern Line, Dot Allison, Bolz Bolz, Kiki, User 010, Tim Taylor Vs Thor 54, Jeff Mills, Miss Kittin & The Hacker, Aphrohead, Zoot Woman, Archigram. [possibly the last copies of this version, as it has been rumored to be deleted due to licensing issues]

VA: The Soul of Science 3 CD (EVS 33 CD). $16.00

"Art-House Techno-meister's Kirk Degiorgio & Ian O'Brien are back once again to deliver their now famous cocktail of funky jazz and hypnotic grooves. Featuring artists as diverse as Latin legends Jan Hammer to Floppy Sounds, the album brilliantly joins the dots between early jazz and electronic music." Artists: Jessica Williams, Offworld, Roomtone, Domu, Frankie Valentine, Hugo Montenegro, Catalyst, Graham Central Station, Ian O'Brien, Floppy Sounds, Jan Hammer, Azymuth.

VA: The Soul of Science 3 2LP (EVS 33 LP). $21.00

Double LP version.

VA: Latin Quarter CD (EVS 34 CD). $16.00

"Latin influences have been around in house sounds for some time now and this new series from Obsessive takes you on a diverse musical journey of these sounds. Compiled by decks-on/ label boss/ journalist & all round good guy Phil Cheeseman, Latin 1/4 offers the arm-chair connoisseur the finest latin flavors known to man on a handy disc or vinyl, that can be listened to in the home, B-Bar or even the car. The music selected is, as you would expect with an Obsessive release, absolutely top-notch. As it says on the tin, mixes come courtesy of top-table names Masters at Work, Problem Kids, Francois K but dig a little deeper and although many of these names may not instantly be recognizable to the casual listener, the sounds are certain to captivate novice & aficionado alike." Artists include: Jania, Malena, Gadjo, Cesaria Evora (Francois K edit), Victor Davies (MAW Remix), Alix Alvarez, Joesk & Chus, Boriqua Bandits, Mambana, Afro Medusa (Problem Kids Mix), Noel Nanton (Guided By Voices Mix), Onionz, Negrocian.

POOLEY, IAN: Excursions CD (EVS 35 CD). $16.00

"Ian Pooley brings us the next installment in the well-regarded Excursions series from UK label Obsessive and it's choc a block full of classics you won't have in your collection.

Excursions is Ian's first mix album since his critically acclaimed Nite:Life for NRK, and its pumped full of classics. One of Germany's favorite sons, Excursions exhibits all the hallmarks of Ian Pooley's world-renowned DJ style. With eighteen proper tracks thrown in the mix, you can stick your triple CD progressive house 'journeys' where the sun don't shine. Ian has delivered the ingredient missing in most DJ mixes today — he has remembered to inject the proceedings with a healthy dollop of genuine feel good vibes." Features: Ron Tent & Chez Damier, R-Tyme, Maurizio (Carl Craig mix), Sueno Latino, etc.

POOLEY, IAN: Excursions 2LP (EVS 35 LP). $19.00

Double LP version

LO FIDELITY ALLSTARS: Abstract Funk Theory CD (EVS 36 CD). $17.00

"Edition ten of this constantly evolving series brings us Lo Fidelity Allstars. This collection of tracks for the Abstract Funk Theory album represents some of the musical influences that have inspired the Lo Fi's and as you would expect, it's high, eclectic quality throughout. They span across some varied territory with tracks from Bill Withers through to Lambchop, from Mercury Rev to Timbaland and Charlatans UK. Lo Fidelity Allstars have become one of the UK's most exciting and original production teams, having also been a hit in the States with their last album and smash single, 'Battle Flag'. This mix CD further confirms the Lo Fidelity Allstars as the genre-smashing hooligans we all have come to know and love."

LO FIDELITY ALLSTARS: Abstract Funk Theory 2LP (EVS 36 LP). $19.00

Double LP version.

VA: The Return Of Funk Phenomena CD (EVS 41 CD). $17.00

"Back by the popular demand, Funk Phenomena returns with a strong line up of quality tracks from the back catalogue archives. Stand out gems being from Jackson 5, Benny Golson, Roy Ayers, The Futures and more. This new edition is brought to you by the head-honcho of the fantastic BBE label, Peter Adarkwah. BBE has brought the funk, soul, and urban feel with releases from Pete Rock, DJ Spinn, Marley Marl, and Masters At Work."

VA: The Return Of Funk Phenomena 2LP (EVS 41 LP). $19.00

Double LP version.

VA: Soul Spectrum 2 CD (EVS 42 CD). $18.00

"Having worked the likes of The O'Jays, Johnny Nash, Three Degrees, Harold Melvin & The Blue Notes and Billy Paul during his career at CBS (later re-named Sony) Greg Edwards curriculum vitae reads like a 'who's who' in soul/jazz music. When he finally left CBS to pursue a DJ career he became a disc-jockey at Capital Radio where the 'Soul Spectrum' show was born. Obsessive's Soul Spectrum series receives its inspiration from the now revered days when Greg was rocking the airwaves; these were the sort of shows that made the radio worth listening to. Greg was then, as he is now, a pioneer of Soul and Jazz music in the UK and back in the day the only place to get your fix was by tuning into Capital Radio where Greg, who created, produced and presented the show, was defined as 'the man who restyled Saturday's'." Artists: Sweet Thunder, Brecker Brothers, Kenny Lynch, Juicy, Al Hudson, Narada Michael Walden, Glen Jones, Cherelle feat. Alexander O'Neal, Locksmith, Hamilton Bohannon, Maxine Singleton, Larry Graham, Chill Fac-torr.

VA: Soul Spectrum 2 2LP (EVS 42 LP). $21.00

Double LP version. Compiled by Greg Edwards. Featuring: Sweet Thunder, Brecker Brothers, Locksmith, One Way feat. Al Hudson, Cherelle, Larry Graham, Narada Michael Warden, Glen Jones, Chill Fac-Torr, Gil Scott-Heron, Curtis Mayfield, Kenny Lynch.

VA: Covered CD (EVS 43 CD). $18.00

"Compiled by respected London XFM DJ James Hyman, comes a new series from Obsessive: Covered. Featuring rare and exclusive tracks from some of the biggest and quirkiest acts in the world, the album includes unreleased, rarities, b-sides and exclusives. We've all been there, mashed up, messed up or whatever takes your fancy and some crazy-arsed DJ plays some off the wall track and everyone goes crazy. This release has been put together in the vain of those people who enjoy the rare, collectable or mad DJ sets of Erol Alkan, Soulwax and the like. Featuring the likes of the Tiga doing Nelly, Oasis doing The Who, new indie upstarts Ambulance doing So Solid Crew and many more." Artists: Bad Livers, Reel Big Fish, The Slits, LB, Lenny Costanza & The Les Battersby Cubano Orchestra, Tiga, The Droyds, Mirwaits feat Craig Wedren, Oasis, Squarepusher, Feeder, The Guy Behind The Guy, Roots Manuva, Kelly Osbourne, Embrace, Flunk, Ambulance, Placebo, Neon Heights, and Simian.

EDWARDS, GREG: Waxin' Lyrical: Part Two CD (EVS 44). $18.00

"Waxin' Lyrical presents the second installment in their well received series which explores the very roots of hip hop culture by showcasing seminal tracks that founded the lyrical aspect of rap music (i.e: spoken word). This soon to be classic has been compiled by none other than Jazz/soul legend Greg Edwards of the UK national radios Jazz FM/Capitol Gold fame. A true music expert highly influential in developing the careers of The Ojays and the Blue Notes, Edwards is uniquely qualified to take you on a journey through the late 70's, 80's and early 90's to highlight the most influential hip-hop and spoken word tracks which captured the very essence of the time."

VA: Latin Quarter 2 CD (EVS 47 CD). $18.00

"Latin Quarter is back delivering a highly anticipated second dose of sweet Latin flavor. Also returning is the beloved Phillip Cheeseman who mans the decks once again for the second installment of this delicious Latin excursion. Latin Quarter 2 begins where the seminal hit left off. It takes you even further into the syncopated rhythms and celebratory sounds of some of today's best known Latino and Latino influenced producers as well as introducing some lesser known names that wilt undoubtedly become new favorites." Artists: E.B.T.G., Studio Uno Band, Bibi, Oreja, Salome de Bahia, Iramo, Bana Kuba, Ariel & Damian, Mambana, Leo Cuenca, Nova Fronteria, La Fuerza Positiva, Bebel Gilberto.

MODAJI: Excursions CD (EVS 48 CD). $18.00

"Those into the soulful, deep, jazzy side of broken beat will no doubt be familiar with Modaji who with highly lauded production exploits including the ever popular Outboard Jeopardy helped establish the well respected Laws of Motion label. However, in addition to his solo work, Modaji is also one third of the popular production team Restless Soul and has remixed some of new soul and broken beats best known including Ursula Rucker and Kyoto Jazz Massive. Modaji's stunning installment in the Excursions series is everything you'd expect it to be; from the gentle, soul tinged tones of Earth Wind and Fire's 'All About Love' to 4 Hero's now classic anthem 'Hold It Down' the mix lives up to the hype that has made Modaji the latest member of London's Nu Jazz elite." Artists: Earth Wind And Fire, Caldera, Rufus And Chaka Khan, Patrice Rushen, Loose Ends, Wickett, Metro Area 3, Before The Storm, 4 Hero, Sunfire, Tia Carrere, Lem Springsteen Presents, E.P, Nine Yards.

MODAJI: Excursions 2LP (EVS 48 LP). $21.00

Double LP version.

BAMBAATAA, DJ AFRIKA: Presents Eastside 2CD (EVS 49). $21.00

"Source magazine has recently honored Afrika Bambaataa (whose name is Zulu in origin and means 'Affectionate Leader') with the esteemed 'Pioneer Award' in recognition of both his influential music and to his creative leadership. In a career of over 20 years Afrika has helped break a wide range of artists from New Edition to the Jungle Brothers and has collaborated with numerous others including: James Brown, Leftfield, George Clinton, Sting, Bill Laswell, Bootsie Collins, Jungle Brothers, Sly & Robbie, UB40 and Boy George. All the while Afrika has been one of the scenes most noted positive forces prepetually promoting his now well known ideals of 'Peace, Unity, Love and Having Fun.' Bambaataa is easily one of Hip Hop culture's most influential members as witnessed by his inclusion in Life Magazine's 'Most Important Americans of the 20th Century' issue. Eastside provides a welcome look at the music that has influenced this highly influential figure." #### OBTAIN FREEDOM (JAPAN):

PACMAN AND COLONGIB: 2 CD (OBFM 002 CD). $13.50

"Japanese label Obtain Freedom is proud to release the 2nd step of the collaborate remix project by the elite crew 'Pacman'(a.k.a. Octopus Inc) and 'Colongib' of an attention label 'Kracfive'. The tracks selection from the long unavailable Pacman/Colongib CD, the best tracks from their individual debut albums, and an excellent unreleased collaborative effort called Farm Plant. This collector's CD of a total of 13 tracks. The sound in early works of them consists of the simple and complex bright melodies and breakbeats which are associated with BGM of an initial video game. Artist who has developed into an unprecedented new electronic breakbeats style and who continues to be expected."

OCHO (UK):

VA: The Shrine: Afrobeat CD (OCHO 003CD). $15.00

Named after Fela Kuti's Nigerian club, this is a selection of classic Afrobeat tracks, compiled by UK DJ's Max Reinhardt, Rita Ray & Nikki Lucas. Features tracks from: Fela Anikulapo Kuti & Africa '70, Mulatu Astatque, Bantous Jazz, Jimi Solanke, C.K. Mann & Carousel 7, King Sunny Ade, Captain Yabaa, Gyedu Blay Ambulley & Zantoda Mark III, Manu Dibango, Kabbala, Kapa Dech, Tony Allen w/ Afrobeat 2000. "This music celebrates when the music came home, when Fela Anikulapo Kuti and his mighty drummer Tony Allen, mixed jazz and soul with highlife, juju and rebellion and started an Afrobeat tidal wave from Lagos, Nigeria. This is the sound of a supremely funky musical insurrection sweeping across the African continent." Limited stock.

OCHRE RECORDS (UK):

VA: Coming Round at Calums CD (OCH 003L). $10.00

"Budget sampler from the UK's leading leftfield label's. Features all exclusive tracks from Glide (Will Sergeant of the Bunynmen), DJ Tempest (Blood Records), Timeshard (Planet Dog), BOM (Damon Reece of Spiritualized), The Mindwinder, Bass Cadets, Spacey Pony, Half Inch. An ideal introduction into the world of Ochre Records."

LAND OF NOD: Translucent CD (OCH 007L CD). $16.00

"The Land of Nod have made impressive inroads into the space rock/astral rock/math rock/call it what you like scene over the last 6 months. Future releases include a track on the Space Age Recordings label, a 7" for the Burnt Hair label in Michigan, as well as a track on Blue Flea Records, the label run by Windy & Carl."

E.A.R.: Pestrepeller CD (OCH 009L CD). $16.00

"Latest E.A.R. project in which Sonic Boom has processed, re-structured and re-worked 'Ultrasonic Attack Wave Pestrepeller' which was released in 1998 on the Sympathy label. Available as a limited glitter vinyl (1000 only) and mirror-board CD (2000 only), Pestrepeller is made up of two tracks ('Beyond The Point of No Return' parts 1 & 2) plus the additional Serge piece 'Automatic Music'. A follow-up to the completely sold out E.A.R. 9" releases Death of a Robot, a tribute to the now defunct BBC Radiophonic Workshop, which was a continuation of E.A.R.'s 'Data Rape' experiments."

MOUNT VERNON ARTS LAB: E For Experimental CD (OCH 013L CD). $16.00

"E For Experimental is a compilation of singles, EPs, live recordings, demos, and unreleased material from between 1996 and 1999. The material is culled from releases on illustrious labels such as Enraptured, Vesuvius, Trunk, Via Satellite, Earworm, and After Hours (Japan). The first 3 albums from the Mount Vernon Arts Lab were Nova (released in 1996 as a limited 10" bound with string), Gummy Twinkle (released in 1998 and featuring collaborations with Norman Blake and Sonic Boom), and Warmminster (collaboration with Adrian Utley of Portishead released in 1999). The first documented recording was of a train journey between Shettleston and Glasgow Queen Street sometime in 1973. Soon after they were creating primitive loops, making field recordings and recording bizarre sound effects. E For Experimental documents phase one — phase two has already begun..."

90 DEGREES SOUTH: The Barrier Silence CD (OCH 014L CD). $16.00

"The Barrier Silence is the debut album from Cheltenham based 90 Degrees South. The album's title is taken from a poem by local Antarctic explorer Edward Wilson, who perished with Captain Scott on the return journey from the South Pole. Wilson lived on the hill overlooking the Jaguar Sound Studio where the album was recorded. A theme of pioneering travel under harsh conditions runs throughout the album, from the sub-zero sledge journeys through record-breaking transoceanic flight to soundtracks for travel by train, car, and motorcycle. The album's cover even includes a portrait of cross-Atlantic flyer Captain John Alcock. The critically acclaimed 90 Degrees South first appeared with the track 'U.H.F.' on Decalogue, the final installment in the Ochre 10" series. Picking up comparisons to Labradford, Calexico, and Tortoise..." Limited stock.

A.M.P. STUDIO: Alien Registration Office CD (OCH 017 CD). $15.00

"Can only be described as taking the listener on several excursions through realms simultaneously beautiful and restless. Curdled synth lines, rolls of iridescence, contoured tones, neon pulses, tidal, dissonance, heaving drum loops and the sound of a distant world spinning off its axis. Amp have been at the forefront of the post-rock/experimental scene over the last several years, releasing a wealth of material on such labels as Wwurlitzer Jukebox, Enraptured, Kranky, Earworm, and more."

A.M.P. STUDIO: Alien Registration Office 2LP (OCH 017 LP). $22.00

Limited double LP version.

GLIDE: Performance CD (OCH 019 CD). $15.00

"Glide is the experimental project of Echo and the Bunynmen guitarist Will Sergeant. Performance is split into three sections: the complete live performance at the Ochre 5 Live one day festival held at Gloucester Guildhall on November 27, 1999, the interlude track "Prog #2", the thirty-one minute experimental piece "Frozen Teardrop In Space" (which Sergeant created using Sseyo-Koan pro generative software and recorded for the Sound Drifting Kunstradio in Austria.)"

PULSAR: This New Terrain CD (OCH 021). $15.00

"Pulsar is Ant Walker of the Cheltenham-based duo Land of Nod. Influences on This New Terrain range from the sonic beats of Transient Waves, eclecticism of Flowchart, and the intricacies of Tortoise. A collection of pieces that are intended to portray barren, unformed, and unvisited expanses. The themes of the album ponder different states, places and experiences, and face up to the uncertainties found at the cutting edge of science."

LONGSTONE: Live In New York 10" (OCH 028). $10.00

Longstone's complete performance at last year's CMJ Festival in NY. West County's experimental outfit draw on a huge range of influences that cite Mouse on Mars, Can, Kreidler and Tony Conrad amongst them.

WINDY & CARL: A Dream Of Blue CD (OCH 032 CD). $16.00

"The new 45-minute mini-album released from the illustrious Dearborn duo of Windy & Carl. A Dream Of Blue was originally released as a 2 track 10" for Ochre that soon sold out. This mini-album includes remastered and remixed tracks and includes a previously unreleased and exclusive track 'Hypnos'."

VA: Decalogue 10" (OCH 033). $15.00

10" compilation featuring exclusive tracks from: MOR, 90 Degrees South, UHR vs. Grumble Grumble, AMP, Stylus, Magnog. Pressed on glitter-speckled clear vinyl.

KAWABATA, MAKATO: I'm In Your Inner Most CD (OCH 035). $15.00

"I'm In Your Inner Most was originally released as a limited 100 only vinyl pressing in the USA on Eclipse Records back in December 2001. This is the first time I'm In Your Inner Most has been released on Compact Disc and includes a bonus remix of the track 'Osculation'. I'm In Your Inner Most was recorded in October of 2000 by Kawabata (electric organ, electric harpsichord, violin, percussion, tambura and electronics) and is complimented by Audrey Ginestet (voice, cosmos)."

KAWABATA, MAKATO: I'm Still Here Now (Live at La Chapelle) CD (OCH 041). $15.00

"Third album from Acid Mothers Temple head guru Makoto Kawabata. I'm Still Here Now was recorded live at La Chapelle in Toulouse in France on 9th June 2002. The recording sees Makoto present what can be described as a guitar symphony."

THIGHPAULSANDRA: Rape Scene CD (OCH 049). $17.00

Three long tracks from the trio of Thighpaulsandra, Sion Orgon, Martin Schellard; recorded in Wales, 2004. "The third studio album from Thighpaulsandra who is also a full-time member of both Coil and Spiritualized. Rape Scene follows on from the hugely successful I Thighpaulsandra and Double Vulgar albums that were released on Coil's own legendary Eskaton label. He forged an immediate psychic kinship with John Balance and as a result was invited, and duly accepted, John Balance's invitation to join Coil as their permanent fifth member. 'Pentagrammatical. Complete,' commented Balance. He's since recorded with Coil on the two volumes of the Musick to Play in the Dark series. He debuted with Coil at their magnificent Time Machines performance at the Royal Festival Hall, London, as part of Julian Cope's Cornucopia event. The night before not one but three Thighpaulsandra's (work that one out) joined Queen Elizabeth to perform 'Temple of Diana.'" Best toilet album cover art since Fast Forward's Same Same CD.

DR. WHO: Musc From The Tenth Planet CD (OCH 050). $13.00

"The music on this mini-CD album is taken from the 1966 Dr. Who episode 'The Tenth Planet'. It was not only the last episode to feature the first Doctor William Hartnell before he regenerates but also the first to feature the cybermen. This CD re-establishes the importance of the tracking music as it creates the tension and heightens the claustrophobic atmosphere as the first invading cybermen arrive at the outpost."

ACID MOTHERS TEMPLE: Hello Good Child/You're My Boy 7" (OCH 057EP). $9.00

"Features the last recordings of vocalist Cotton Casino. The EP sees the Acid Mothers Temple take Pink Floyd as an influence and you can only describe the recordings as Piper at the Gates of Dawn meets Animals. The b-side 'You're My Boy' is an Acid Mothers version of the Cotton Casino track that appeared on her recent We Love Cotton solo album."

OCORA (FRANCE):

AISSAWA CONFRATERNITY, THE: Confrérie des Aïssawa: Morocco CD (OCORA 560140). $16.00

"First formed in the 16th Century and among the most celebrated Sufi ensembles in Morocco, the Aïssawa Confraternity bring particular spark to their rituals through a capella psalmody, religious poetry, trance dances accompanied on powerful musical instruments (such as ghayta oboes, duff framed drums, etc.)."

AMAN, MOHAMMED: Saudi Arabia Tradition of Hejaz CD (OCORA 560158). $16.00

"The vocal power, oud, zither and violin transport us back through courtly poetry and chamber music to the former glories of Hejâz, the cradle of Arabian civilization. This CD demonstrates the usual exemplary standards of recording and presentation from Ocora, featuring one of the last great exponents of these technically difficult and rare traditions."

VA: Madagascar: Pays Merina CD (OCORA 560159). $16.00

"This anthology is devoted to the musical traditions of the Merina country in the heart of the island. Several traditional instruments are used including the valiha, a tubular zither, the national instrument of Madagascar, the sodina flute, similar to the Arab ney played by the Master Rakototrah and his pupil Rakotova, the kabosy lute, one of the most widely played instrument and the gorodao, an adaptation of the European accordion. The anthology also explores different vocal genres ranging from the theatrical hiragasy to the religious zafindraony."

NGUYEN VINH BAO ENSEMBLE: Music of Vietnam CD (OCORA 560160). $16.00

"This recording, conducted by Nguyễn Vinh Bao (born in 1918) gathers a set of chamber music works: string quartet music full of poetry where different timbres combine with refinement, interpreted by masters of the old generation. The connoisseurs of Vietnamese culture will recognize in these melodies the influence of the Vietnamese language tone in an effort to conceive music as a dialogue where free cerebral improvisation is always preferred to demonstrative virtuosity."

SULAYITI KALUNGI ENSEMBLE OF KAMPALA: Uganda - Music of the Baganda People CD (OCORA 560161). $16.00

"The most remarkable aspects of the Ugandan culture are mainly found in traditional dance, music and drama. Kiganda music (music of the Baganda people), both secular and sacred, plays an important role throughout the lives of the Baganda people. Today's repertoire includes music celebrating birth, lullabies, songs associated with games and for the education of children, songs related to work, sport, marriage, religion and death."

WABARUAGUN ENSEMBLE: Songs of the Black Caribs CD (OCORA 560162). $16.00

"The Black Caribs of Central America (or Garinagu) exalt their African heritage, blended with its Indian Carib roots, through songs and drumming specific to possession and funeral rite dancing."

VA: Venezuela: Diablos Songs & Drums CD (OCORA 560163). $16.00

"Music of the Diablos brotherhood is the product of a Black culture which, despite its deep religious syncretism, has been able to preserve with remarkable vitality and astonishing fidelity, the songs, drums and ceremonies of its essential African origins."

VA: Paraguay: Chaco, Guarani, Nandeva, & Ayoreo CD (OCORA 560164). $16.00

"The music of the Guarani-Nandeva (a great variety of vocal, drum and flute music) and Syoreo (powerful song with a very rich vibrato) is seldom played just for fun, but as an ideal way to settle and administer their affairs with each other and with the gods."

VA: Masumbi: Wagogo CD (OCORA 560165). $16.00

"Music of Tanzania! Despite Wagogo music's basic vocal and polyphonic nature, its instrumental music is also highly important, especially at times of leisure and relaxation. Essential for dancing or to accompany songs telling village stories, chronicles, legends of news, these instrumental works are also used to transmit messages, advice or warnings to the community."

VA: Central Africa Musical Anthology of the Aka Pygmies 2CD (OCORA 560171/2). $32.00

"The Aka are one of the three groups of Pygmies found in Central Africa today. They are monogamous and settle in small family encampments that comprise parents, children, sons, and daughters-in-law and offspring, groups of thirty to forty persons organized in democratic communities. Pygmy music, in the image of all their social activities, presents very similar characteristics, that is to say, relative autonomy of each participant within implied but strict structures. The recordings of this anthology, the first to be devoted to a single African people, offer in addition the distinctiveness of having been made in a single encampment, that of the old hunter Mbonzo, a group barely larger than forty persons. Music plays a central role among the Pygmies, there is no day without music."

VA: Yemen: The Singing of Sanaa CD (OCORA 560173). $16.00

"In a vast plain encircled by mountains lies the medieval city of Sanaa, capital of Yemen. Sanaa maintains the most authentic of the vocal and musical traditions of the south of the Arabic peninsula. Sublime poetic texts (dating from the 14th century) and highly original instruments (qanbūs luth and percussion set on a copper plate) inspire the music of Ocora's collection entitled The Singing of Sanaa. This is the quintessence of Yemenite traditional music, featuring classic themes of courtly love, nostalgia and longing."

VA: Ethiopia: Ari Polyphonies CD (OCORA 560174). $16.00

"The Ari sedentary farmers of animist tradition, dwell in the highlands of the north-western reaches of Ethiopia. This region is a rich mosaic of many ethnic groups, the Ari being one of the largest. Ari territory divides into nine tribal states each with its own political, economic and religious organization. The Ari treat the human voice as a veritable instrument: exploring its entire acoustic range by varying registers, timbres and vowel resonance; their grand-scale polyphonies are highly sophisticated, yet not without elements of spontaneity and surprise."

VA: South India: Periya Melam-Chidambaram Temple CD (OCORA 560178). $16.00

Recordings from 2000-1. "Affiliated to the temple of Chidambaram (dedicated to Shiva but also to Vishnu), the ritual music ensemble Periya Melam sounds vibrant and penetrating with its nagasvaram oboes, tavil drums and talam castanets, the voice of the gods."

NASIBOV, EDALAT: The Art of the Saz CD (OCORA 560181). $16.00

Music of Azerbaijan; recorded 1997. "With innovative instrumental techniques of fingering and tuning and a richly ornamental style, virtuoso saz lute performer Edalat Nasibov plays tunes which explore the art of the aşıq (Azerbaijani bards whose golden age lasted from the 15th to the 16th centuries)."

ZHONG, CHEN: Hommage a Chen Zhong CD (OCORA 560183). $16.00

"Chen Zhong (1919-2002) was a great master of Chinese music, a multi-instrumentalist particularly renowned for his skill on the xun and xiao flutes. He first gained international recognition in 1994, at the age of 75, with an overseas tour that included Japan, France and Switzerland. Zhong was recorded by Radio France in 1995 (Ocora C560090) and it was the success of that association that led to the release of these serene and intimate ensemble recordings, previously only available in China."

VA: Palenque of San Basilio CD (OCORA 560187). $16.00

"The Palenque of San Basilio, Colombia are a group of people who are descendants of runaway slaves. The Creole language that the Palenque speak is Spanish-based but heavily influenced by West African languages. Ocora presents a musical portrait of Palenque of San Basilio, the first settlement of emancipated blacks in the New World. On this CD, the Palenque sing songs of sisterhoods, everyday life and funeral music sung a cappella or to vibrant percussion accompaniment."

KHAN, ALI AKBAR: Sarod CD (OCORA 561011). $16.00

"Ustad Amjad Ali Khan is acknowledged throughout India as one of its foremost classical musicians and the maestro of his chosen instrument, the sarod. Born in 1945 in Gwailor, where his father was a musician to the royal family, he made an early debut giving his first solo recital at the age of 12 in 1958. He represents the sixth generation of his family to inherit a classical tradition that goes back through his father, the late Ustad Hafiz Ali Khan, to the era of the court musicians of the Mughal Empire."

KRISHNAN, GOPAL: The Art of the Vichitra Veena 2CD (OCORA 561048). $32.00

"Gopal Krishnan, maestro of the vichitra veena (the 'strange' veena, a rare zither played like a Hawaiian guitar) accompanied by the wonderfully melodious tabla-playing of Latif Ahmed Khan." Recorded 4/16/85.

VA: Turkey: Music From The Yayla CD (OCORA 561050). $16.00

"Ceremonial melodies from villages in south-west Turkey, the captivating musical universe of peasant communities featuring saz lutes (of different sizes), violin and sipsi (a little oboe)."

VA: Mongolia: Shamans & Lamas CD (OCORA 561059). $16.00

"Two aspects of ritual Mongolian music: shamanist seances (a blend of imitative animal sounds, throat noise, heavy breathing and recitatives) and Tibetan-influenced Buddhist liturgies."

VA: The World of Traditional Music 7CD (OCORA 561061). $55.00

"With this set of 7 CDs, Ocora presents an overview at its remarkably diverse collection of recordings of traditional music from around the world. Includes musical selections from Asia, Africa, Europe and Latin America." One disc each for: North Africa/West Asia (Algeria, Morocco, Egypt, Syria, Turkey, Azerbaijan, Iran), South Asia (India, Pakistan), East Asia (China, Taiwan, South Korea, Japan), Southeast Asia (Vietnam, Indonesia, Burma, Cambodia, Laos), Arfica (Gambia, Ivory Coast, Mali, Niger, Gabon, Zaire, Ethiopia, Uganda, Kenya, Burundi), Europe (France, Belgium, Norway, Hungary, Rumania, Russia, Greece), Latin America (Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Colombia, Cuba, Mexico, Peru, Venezuela). Includes previously released material from the Ocora vaults.

VA: Madagascar: Bara Country CD (OCORA 561089). $16.00

"Vivacious festive music of the Bara, a southern people with a vast song repertoire and several rare instruments (jeiy musical bow, kilangay xylophone-on-legs, kiloliky reed whistle ensembles)."

QUASIMOV, ALIM: The Art Of The Mugham CD (OCORA 561112). $16.00

"This CD features Alim Quasimov, the greatest classical Azerbaijani singer of his generation, accompanied on the tar lute and the kamancha viol by the incomparable Mansurov brothers. This is a perfect sampler of the art of Mugham, the classical music of Azerbaijan." Recorded 1996.

ALI KHAN, NUSRAT FATEH: Paris Concert - Volume 1 CD (OCORA 581658). $16.00

"This is the first volume (out of five) by Nusrat Fateh Ali Khan, the Sufi master and master of the Qawwali. Nusrat sings songs fervent with divine passion in the khayal, thumree, dadra and ghazal styles, with a strength and intensity that overwhelmed audiences around the world." French radio session recorded 11/6/85.

VASSILIKOS ENSEMBLE: Sacred Byzantine Music CD (OCORA 581682). $16.00

"This disc features 'The great octotonal chant to the Virgin.' It is a major work by Petros Bereketis - the most important composer of the golden age of Byzantine music (18th century). The chant is heard here in its complete version, revealing all of the work's beauty and internal structure."

MUSICIANS OF THE NILE: The Musicians Of The Nile CD (OCORA 582006). $16.00

"In this recording, the famous Musicians of the Nile display their popular musical tradition of Upper Egypt, accompanied on the rabab viol, the suffara flute and the arghul double clarinet."

SUBRAMANIAM, L.: Legend Of Indian Music CD (OCORA 582029). $16.00

"The whole world has been a stage for violin virtuoso Dr L. Subramaniam. He has played around the globe, enthraling music lovers with his unique blend of the best of the east and the west. This CD is a long development of the raga Kirvani in which the great master gradually elaborates upon an entire world of emotional expression." Recorded 1980. L. Subramaniam (violin), V. Kamalakar Rao (mridangam), Joanna Foresta (tambura), Sushama Unnikrishnan (tambura).

THE CIRCLE FOR POPULAR ART: Contemporary Classical Music: China CD (OCORA 582049). $16.00

"This CD features a collection of classical pieces, popular tunes and original compositions performed by The Circle of Popular Art, revealing the refinement of different forms of Chinese music." Recorded 1988.

MUSIC OF THE BIBAYAK PYGMIES/GABON: Epic Cantors CD (OCORA 582053). $16.00

Ocora has instituted a new mid-line reissue series, making the catalog of the world's best known and universally loved ethnic music label more attractive than ever. This volume features the polyphonic songs of the Bibayak Pygmies from the African country of Gabon. "The Pygmies or Negrillos were most likely the earliest inhabitants of Africa. The music of the Pygmies is essentially vocal. A nonlinguistic semiology, this music erupts in broken vocalizing of pure sounds: the voices, entering successively, adjust to one another in 'canons' and 'imitations', to which the musical code lends the significance of responses by shaping them to its forms. The yodeling vocal production is characteristic, if not invariable, and gives rise to a certain contrapuntal technique."

VA: Laos: Lam Saravene - Music For The Khen CD (OCORA 582058). $16.00

"The vocal art of lam (the dominant form in Laos) and the khen mouth organ (the national instrument), are performed here by a collection of exceptional musicians. This refined style of Laotian classical music is popular for its lively swing."

BASHIR, MUNIR: The Art Of The 'Udlraq CD (OCORA 583068). $16.00

The late Munir Bashir was known as "The Emir of the ud", famous for his long, Indian raga-influenced improvisations. Beautifully presented solo Arabic string music, from a peak performance in 1971. "That incomparable artist of the Baghdad school...recorded in 1971 displaying a perfect balance between fire, melodic invention and classical discipline, reaffirming the purest tradition of taqsim in a revitalizing of his ancient past...From an obscure instrument used in accompaniment barely known outside the Arab world, the ud was to become in his hands a vehicle for a mystical or, to use his own expression, a 'metaphysical' musical language. The same phenomenon occurred with Munir Bashir as did Ravi Shankar: the rediscovery of a universal music transcending all frontiers."

ODD SIZE (FRANCE):

VA: Memorial Elvis Project CD (ODD 03). $16.00

As they thankfully proclaim, "neither a tribute nor a celebration." Comes in a great raty poster sleeve & features HNAS, Asmus Tietchens, Laurnet Pernice, Bene Gesserit, etc.

OFF:

VA: Wig In A Box CD (OFF 994). $15.00

"This is the tribute album to end them all! Off Records and the two creators of Hedwig and the Angry Inch rounded up an inspired all-star cast including Yoko Ono with Yo La Tengo, Sleater-Kinney with Fred Schneider, Jonathan Richman, Robyn Hitchcock, Rufus Wainwright, The Breeders and many others, to participate in a Hedwig-themed charity album for the Harvey Milk School in NYC. Hedwig tells the story of transsexual rocker, an East German immigrant whose sex change operation has been botched and who finds herself living in a trailer park in Kansas."

GOLDCARD: Goldcard CD (OFF 996). $15.00

"Recorded with members of Grandaddy, Quasi, Sleater-Kinney and Pond, Mr. Campbell's knack for creating otherworldly, orchestral psych is truly unmatched. Recalling The Grifters' perverse soul, the sad pop aspects of Sparklehorse and Grandaddy, an overall vibe of someone who's losing it à la Skip Spence, and happily in the shadow of the Pet Sounds legacy, Goldcard is truly a beautiful piece of work over which fans of mysterious, innovative pop music will drop to their knees."

OHM EDITIONS (CANADA):

DUMAS, CHANTAL: La Parfum De Femmes CD (AVTR 011). $14.00

"This cycle of audio short stories was created during a long stay in Europe. Otherwise, I would never have had the idea of dealing with the subject of migration. It is necessary to be in the middle of things, to feel them in order to really become aware of them. Here is how I learned the significance of the word 'foreigner' and what it conceals: absence of cultural reference, awareness of one's own identity and the ambivalent feeling of strength and precariousness associated with movement." Chantal Dumas: texte et musique, Silvia Ocougne: guitares, Joelle Leandre: contrebasse, Shelley Hirsch: voix.

ARCAND, PIERRE-ANDRÉ: Les Machines Animales Et Le Livre Sonore CD (AVTR 013). $14.00

"The pieces were improvised during studio sessions with The Resounding Book, the Machina Ricordi and a set of microphones that are used as pencils, points, pens. Their friction generates machine-like and animal-like sounds. The CD comes with a catalog entitled Le Livre Sonore (The Resounding Book)." "Fourth CD (second CD-Book(let)) from this prolific audio-installation artist(recon)textualist with loose Fluxus ties (contributed one track to the *FESTIVAL d'IN(ter)VENTIONS*2 IN MEMORIAM GEORGES MACIUNAS* 2LP comp from 1985) after the sprawling/awe-inspiring Écrire Fait du Bruit (writing makes noise) series (Eres +7/+16/+21). The CD contains recordings of a set of 'Animal Machines', the booklet essentially forms the 'Resounding Book' by/with which the recordings were improvised. To paraphrase; nothing comes closer to the sound inside my head (whether at work OR play) than that of Arcand's creation. Nothing. Classy presentation of a sound set(see) deeply possessed by personal/creative demons of ominous origin." — Hrvatski.

VA: Ohmix CD (AVTR 022). $14.00

"Avatar invited eight composers to select at will from OHM editions' audio production from 1993 to 1998. They remixed excerpts, full pieces, entire CDs or even the whole catalog. These different approaches result in a varied listening and also mark a visit to Avatar in its foundational form: Christof Migone, Jocelyn Robert, Pierre-André Arcand, the first collective projects and the precursors in Quebec City, Bruit TTV." Remixers are Christian Calon, David Kristian, Diane Labrosse, John Oswald, Alexandre St-Onge, Martin Tétreault, Terre Thaemlitz, Ralf Wehowsky.

OSWALD, JOHN: The Arc of Apparition DVD/CD (OHMAVATAR 034DVD). $17.00

"The OHM editions label is happy to present this double publication, a DVD accompanied by a bonus soundtrack on CD. While in residency at Atavar, John Oswald developed a revolutionary new form of cinema that marries the contemplative gaze we traditionally fix upon a painting, or a photographic still, with the dynamic responsive way we view cinema. This glusterly gathering of mutable figures is the first DVD by Oswald, the infamous composer of Plunderphonics." The DVD is NTSC format, region 0 for the world, 4:3 aspect ratio.

OHNE (AUSTRIA):

OHNE: 1 CD (OHNE 001 CD). $15.00

Debut release on this new Mego sub-label. "The sum of the discreet approaches of Tom Smith, Daniel Loewenbrueck, Reto Maeder and Dave Phillips is equal to the square root of a 70-liter bottle of thai-whisky and an associate's degree of cosmetology from the university of deppenhansen. Deal with it, you bastards. Deft non-linear floral arrangements herald little precog pencil-figures which take your hand, scale walls, crush ice, whisper in your ear and invite you into centrifugal intimacy. Of course these little bullies are fellows too, and deceivers to boot. After offering sweetness they'll suddenly leap and toss forekins at you. And such succulent skins too... A concupiscent, autodynamic child of clay, Ohne started out as ... something ... and now goes ... somewhere. All kinds of directions, but just one place. We ourselves are surprised. This is the first album entirely recorded inside a sock, employing only a hoe and a large glass of heavy water. Comes with letters of invitation for absurdistan. (this might well be big in crop circles). Full-contact origami was never more fun!"

OKKA DISK:

ANDERSON/STEVE MCCALL, FRED: Vintage Duets CD (OKKA 001). $13.00

Okka Disc is a new Chicago label dedicated to the free improvisatory music that emanates from there, and everything they've released to date has been impressive in both sound and presentation. This first release features local underdocumented hero Anderson on tenor sax, and the late McCall on percussion. Both players are original members of AACM and legendary in that context.

CRISPELL/ANDERSON/DRAKE: Destiny CD (OKKA 003). $13.00

"Recorded live at the 'Women of the New Jazz' Festival in Chicago, 4/94...a joyous meeting between Crispell's impassioned pianistics, AACM co-founder Fred Anderson's huge, warm, inventive tenor saxophone and Hamid Drake's expansive, in-depth percussion. Magical results were predicted from this, their first meeting, but the results were even more spectacular, moving between passages of intense fury and lyrical gentility. An alchemical encounter of unprecedented emotional impact, Destiny documents an eventful evening full of interplay and imagination, brimming with realized potential."

BROTZMANN/HAMID DRAKE, PETER: The Dried Rat-Dog CD (OKKA 004). $13.00

"The first document of the intense one-on-one music created by Chicago percussionist Hamid Drake and German multiple reedman Peter Brotzmann ...and a revelation it is! The Dried Rat-Dog contains some of Brotzmann's most forceful, powerful playing, as well as his most lyrical and intimate. With Drake featured on hand drums, North Indian tabla, and frame drum, as well as trap kit, the polyrhythms and percussive ideas flow freely, and Brotzmann responds with earth-moving alto and tenor sax, tarogato, and clarinet."

STEELWOOL: International Front CD (OKKA 005). $13.00

A new Chicago trio featuring Kan Vandermark (reeds), Kent Kessler (b) & Curt Newton (d). "With Steelwool [Vandermark] operates in the fertile zone between free play and composition, recalling such pioneers as A. Braxton, Roscoe Mitchell and Steve Lacy. Characterized by spaciousness, strands of lyricism and melodic invention, and his well known penchant for energy."

GUSTAFSSON, MATS: Parrot Fish Eye CD (OKKA 006). $13.00

Gustafsson is a Swedish reeds player (here on ss, bs, and "fluteophone" — made by sticking a sax mouthpiece in a flute), referred to in some circles as "the next Evan Parker," due to his impressive, way out style. Here he is found in various duets and trios with Jim O'Rourke (g, accordion, perc.), Gene Coleman (bcl) & Michael Zerang (perc.).

ANDERSON QUARTET, FRED: Birdhouse CD (OKKA 007). $13.00

Anderson (ts), Jim Baker (p), Harrison Bankhead (b) & Hamid Drake (d). Anderson is a post-Rollins powerhouse sax player and long-standing AACM member, but largely undocumented over the past 30 years.

DRAKE/MICHAEL ZERANG DUO, HAMID: Ask The Sun CD (OKKA 008). $13.00

Percussion duets from these 2 Chicago-based improvisers. "Featured instrumentation includes trap-kit, hand drums, table and dumbek, and assorted other objects struck, swiped, stroked and shook. A meeting ground for international traditions lit with the spark of creative jazz and improvised music."

GUSTAFSSON/BARRY GUY/PAUL LOVENS, MATS: Mouth Eating Trees and Related Activities CD (OKKA 010). $13.00

"Talk about powerhouse trios! Take the fastest rising saxophone star in improvised music, put him together with the most innovative bassist in Europe and the most inventive percussionist in the world, and what do you get? ...a magnificent meeting of minds recorded in the studio during a broadcast on Swedish radio in 1992. The distinct elements: Gustafsson's lightning-quick soprano, tenor, baritone and fluteophone (his own invention), Guy's gonzo technique and unreal preparations (scrub brushes, sticks, mallets, slides and multiple bows) and Lovens' precision timing, volcanic energy and brilliant use of timbre and texture...a trio more exciting and combustible (if that's possible) than the sum of its parts."

DKV TRIO: Baraka CD (OKKA 012). $13.00

"First studio recording by Chicago's premier live band: Hamid Drake (perc.), Kent Kessler (b), Kan Vandermark (reeds). A wonderful document of what is, well, an Okka Disk supergroup. Cover by Peter Brotzmann."

BROTZMANN/HAMID DRAKE/MAHMOUD GANIA, PETER: The WELS Concert CD (OKKA 013). $13.00

"The first release by this wonderful new Brotzmann trio featuring long time collaborator Hamid Drake on percussion and drums, and Moroccan Mahmoud Gania on guembri (a two string hide covered, for lack of a better word, guitar) and vocals. This is a live recording from the Festival Music Unlimited 96 (Austria). The whole 70 minute concert is here in three parts."

ANDERSON/DKV TRIO, FRED: CD (OKKA 014). $13.00

"A great concept, devised by Ken Vandermark, to showcase the compositions of Fred Anderson. Out of the four titles on Okka Disk by Fred, this may just be the best. Anderson/Vandermark (ts), Kessler (b), Drake (drums)."

MCPHEE/KEN VANDERMARK/KENT KESSLER, JOE: A Meeting in Chicago CD (OKKA 016). $13.00

McPhee (ts, ss, pocket-tp), Ken Vandermark (ts, cl, bcl), Kessler (b); a reissue of the now deleted version on Eighth Day Music from 1997, with far superior packaging. "Vandermark has long cited McPhee's great hat HUT record Tenor as one of his strongest inspirations, an LP that showed him ways to integrate energy, flow and lyricism into the same musical space. Conversely, McPhee was moved to hear the now-defunct Vandermark Quartet cover one of his compositions at a festival some years back. A wildly prodigious composer, bandleader and player, Vandermark fronts and works in a variety of groups, including the Vandermark 5, NRG Ensemble, Steam, Caffeine, Witches and Devils, DK3, the Crown Royals, Baxter and the Sun Ra Project. Kessler and Vandermark have established a near-sibling working relationship — the bassist figures in virtually all of Vandermark's ensembles and the two join forces with drum dynamo Hamid Drake in the egalitarian DKV Trio. Based in Poughkeepsie, New York, Joe McPhee is one of the most sensitive, authoritative, personal musical forces on the planet, whether he's playing puckered pocket-trumpet or pugilistic tenor sax. More than mere document of a first encounter, A Meeting in Chicago is destined to be a free music classic."

PARKER, EVAN: Chicago Solo CD (OKKA 017). $13.00

Evan Parker's has recorded numerous solo alto saxophone records, but his is his first ever unaccompanied solo tenor sax recording. Caught in the studio during the FMP festival, winter of '95, this features 14 solo works, including pieces dedicated to Chris McGregor, Lee Konitz, Anthony Braxton & George Lewis.

BRAXTON/GEORG GRAW, ANTHONY: Duo (Amsterdam) 1991 CD (OKKA 018). $13.00

"The first encounter between the American new music icon (on reeds only) and one of Germany's best improvising pianists. This disk was recorded during the October Meeting of '91 is outstanding, really. The Braxton 'must have' of the season. A Grawe 'must have', period."

FJF: Blow Horn CD (OKKA 019). $13.00

"The first recording between Swedish dynamo Mats Gustafsson (tenor/baritone saxes & French glageolet) and Chicago's reigning tenor giant, Ken Vandermark (also on bass clarinet). The rhythm section consists of perennial Vandermark bassist collaborator Kent Kessler and Steve Hunt on drums."

ANDERSON TRIO, FRED: Live At The Velvet Lounge CD (OKKA 023). $13.00

"This is a new trio with Peter Kowald on bass and Hamid Drake on percussion. Recorded last summer at Fred's world famous club." "If anyone knows Fred's music it's Hamid Drake, an astonishing drummer who's worked with him for about 25 years. The German bassist, Peter Kowald, is rightfully a legend — listen to him here playing things that he's never done before. The music is spontaneous and carved out of Fred's language, a language that's flexible and open enough to deal with this first encounter and with ideas developed on both sides of the Atlantic ocean. Those of us that caught the concert that night saw and heard something that will stay with us forever. Those of you who couldn't be there are lucky enough to have this document in your hands." — Ken Vandermark.

GRAW, GEORGE: Melodie Und Rhythmus CD (OKKA 024). $13.00

Georg Gräwe (piano), Frank Gratkowski (as, cl), Kent Kessler (b), Hamid Drake (drums). "Supremely inventive German pianist Georg Gräwe (pronounced gray-vuh) takes his music down a brave new path. Inspired by the hot free-music scene in Chicago, Gräwe — who now spends part of the year in the Windy City — recruited gutsy bassist Kent Kessler and master drummer Hamid Drake, both key figures on the Chicago front, and reed player Frank Gratkowski, a frequent sparring-partner from Cologne. Gräwe assembled the group intuitively, eager to work with the Kessler/Drake rhythm machine — two-thirds of the massively creative DKV Trio — and confident that the four-way chemistry would click. Little did he know how explosive and dynamic the results would be. While Melodie Und Rhythmus retains the harmonic sophistication and dazzling linearity that has distinguished Gräwe's music in the past, this group allows him to explore vastly different territory from the turf he covers in his celebrated free trio with Gerry Hemingway and Ernst Reijseger or in his chamber ensemble works. Direct jazz harmonies, intricate polyrhythms, blazing free blowing, and snippets of straight time — prepare to have your preconceptions thoroughly discombobulated!"

MCPHEE/JEB BISHOP, JOE: The Brass City CD (OKKA 025). $13.00

"A wonderful meeting between the great multi-horn master from Poughkeepsie NY (Joe McPhee) and up and coming trombone star of the Vandermark 5, Jeb Bishop."

MORRIS WITH DKV TRIO, JOE: Deep Telling CD (OKKA 027). $13.00

First studio meeting of Joe Morris and the DKV Trio (Hamid Drake/percussion, Kent Kessler/bass & Ken Vandermark/reeds). "The music on this recording began with the most basic materials: sound, silence, motion, interval, duration and emotion. We started to play without any words, written material or agreed structure and within a couple of minutes we knew it would work. Our agenda seemed to be that we would musically talk with each other. We told each other what we know. We played to make something different, to create another experience for whomever listens. It remains to personal interpretation, to be described by the people who listen." — Joe Morris.

PARKER/GEORG GRAW, EVAN: Unity Variations CD (OKKA 028). $13.00

"The first recorded meeting between one of the 'leading lights of the post-Ayler' saxophone (Evan Parker) and ground breaking German pianist Georg Gräwe. Recorded during the second Empty Bottle Festival of Jazz and Improvised Music at the beautiful and acoustically perfect Frank Lloyd Wright Unity Temple."

BISHOP TRIO, JEB: CD (OKKA 029). $13.00

"A trio made up of three members of the Vandermark 5, Kent Kessler on bass and Tim Mulvenna on drums, and led by the wonderful trombone voice of Jeb Bishop doing a disk of his own material (plus a chart by Lisle Ellis)."

DKV TRIO: Live in Wels and Chicago 2CD (OKKA 030). $15.00

"Recorded in the fall of 98 at the famous 'Music Unlimited Festival 98' in Wels, Austria (first disc) and at the Velvet Lounge in Chicago (second disc). This set is highlighted by a paint-peeling version of Don Cherry's Complete Communion that is proof positive that the DKV Trio is 'the best working band in Chicago' and maybe one of the best bands anywhere, improvising or otherwise." DKV Trio is Hamid Drake (drums), Kent Kessler (bass), Ken Vandermark (reeds).

BROTSMANN CHICAGO TENTET, PETER: Stone/Water CD (OKKA 032). $13.00

Recorded live at 16th Victoriaville Festival in Quebec, 5/23/99. Brötzmann (tenor sax, clarinet), Gustafsson (tenor sax, flutophone), Vandermark (tenor sax, clarinet, bass clarinet), Bishop (trombone), Kondo (trumpet, electronics), Lomberg-Holm (cello, violin), Parker (bass), Kessler (bass), Zerang (drums), Drake (drums, frame drum).

PARKER/JOE MCPHEE, EVAN: Chicago Tenor Duets CD (OKKA 033). $13.00

"11 beautiful/powerful duets by two of improvised music's master musicians. Recorded in one magical afternoon, this is a true summit meeting of tenor titans."

LOOS: Armstrong CD (OKKA 034). $13.00

"This is the third recording by Dutch ensemble Loos, led by reed master Peter van Bergen. Inspired by quotations from Louis Armstrong and Sun Ra and using two guitars, percussion, piano, voice, and reeds, this group puts up one hell of a wall. I would say parts Beefheart, John Gilmore, and Morton Feldman. Going to be a big hit with the alt-rockers as well as the free-jazzers."

AALY/DKV DOUBLE TRIO: Double or Nothing CD (OKKA 035). $13.00

"The first meeting of the power house Swedish AALY Trio with Chicago's own DKV Trio. Studio recording from 1999. A great addition to both bands discography's. AALY (left channel): Mats Gustafsson (reeds), Kjell Nordeson (drums), Ingebrigt Haker-Flaten (bass). DKV (right channel): Hamid Drake (drums), Kent Kessler (bass), Ken Vandermark (reeds)."

MCPHEE/HAMID DRAKE, JOE: Emancipation Proclamation, A Real Statement Of Freedom CD (OKKA 036). $13.00

"Joe McPhee: pocket trumpet & tenor saxophone. Hamid Drake: percussion. The first duo meeting between two greats of modern jazz, recorded live at the Empty Bottle Chicago, June 25, 1999 (in front of 400 crazed fans)."

SCHOOL DAYS: Crossing Division CD (OKKA 037). $13.00

"School Days is: Ken Vandermark (reeds), Jeb Bishop (trombone), Ingebrigt Haker-Flaten (bass), Paal Nilssen-Love (drums). Studio meeting of Ken Vandermark's latest group featuring new tunes from Vandermark and Bishop along with two pieces by Roswell Rudd. The first state-side session with the Norwegian rhythm section of Haker-Flaten and Nilssen-Love. Recorded in Chicago March 2000."

KESSLER, KENT: Bull Fiddle CD (OKKA 038). $13.00

"First full-length solo recording by the bass backbone of over 20 Okkadisk recordings. He can be heard in Peter Brötzmann's Tentet, Ken Vandermark's Territory Bands, the DKV Trio, the Jeb Bishop Trio, the Georg Gräwe Quartet, as well as numerous other bands including the Vandermark 5. Kent Kessler is one of the world's best know and sought after improvisational bassists. 12 tracks (3 with Michael Zerang on Dumbek)."

BISHOP TRIO/QUARTET, JEB: Afternoons CD (OKKA 039). $13.00

"With special guest Jeff Parker on guitar. Jim Mulvenna - drums, Kent Kessler - bass. New studio recording." Jeb Bishop (trombone).

TERRITORY BAND -1: Transatlantic Bridge CD (OKKA 040). $13.00

"New working group led by Ken Vandermark performing four recent compositions. Using many of Vandermark's Chicago circle of musicians and improvisers (from groups such as Steam, the DVK Trio & the Vandermark 5) augmented by top flight Europeans, Dorner, and Lytton."

SCHOOL DAYS: In Our Times CD (OKKA 041). $13.00

"A live recording from Oslo (2001) and our second release by this international star studded band, featuring newest member Kjell Nordeson on vibraphone. 4 new tunes by Vandermark, one by Bishop and covers of Bill Evans and Don Cherry. Beautiful music! Ken Vandermark (reeds), Jeb Bishop (trombone), Kjell Nordeson (vibraphone), Ingebrigt Haker-Flaten (bass), Paal Nilssen-Love (drums)."

DVK TRIO: Trigonometry 2CD (OKKA 042). $15.00

"A two disc set recorded in 2001 on tour in Rochester, NY & Kalamazoo, MI. Featuring Hamid Drake - drums, Kent Kessler - bass, Ken Vandermark - reeds. Like the very successful okkadisk release of '99 the DKV Trio Live in Wols & Chicago 1998 this is a two CD set for the price of one. This is totally improvised music."

BROTSMANN CHICAGO TENTET + TWO, PETER: Broken English CD (OKKA 043). $13.00

"Two new studio recordings by one of the great bands of the last 10 - 20 years. Recorded after the bands 2000 American tour when they had hit the top of their form. Joe McPhee, Roy Campbell & Jeb Bishop (brass), Ken Vandermark, Mars Williams, Mats Gustafsson & Peter Brötzmann (reeds), Fred Lonberg-Holm, Kent Kessler & William Parker (strings), Hamid Drake & Michael Zerang (drums)."

BROTSMANN CHICAGO TENTET + TWO, PETER: Short Visit To Nowhere CD (OKKA 044). $13.00

"Two new studio recordings by one of the great bands of the last 10 - 20 years. Recorded after the bands 2000 American tour when they had hit the top of their form. Joe McPhee, Roy Campbell & Jeb Bishop (brass), Ken Vandermark, Mars Williams, Mats Gustafsson & Peter Brötzmann (reeds), Fred Lonberg-Holm, Kent Kessler & William Parker (strings), Hamid Drake & Michael Zerang (drums)."

TRIAGE: Twenty Minute Cliff CD (OKKA 045). $13.00

DAVE REMPIS (Alto & tenor saxophone); Jason Ajemian (bass); Tim Daisy (drums).

VANDERMARK, KEN: Furniture Music CD (OKKA 046). $13.00

Tenor sax, baritone sax, clarinet, bass clarinet. Works inspired by: Evan Parker, Peter Brötzmann, Michael Snow, Lennie Tristano, Jackson Pollack, Piet Mondrian and Erik Satie, Mark Rothko, Mississippi Fred McDowell, Samuel Beckett and Morton Feldman, Joe McPhee, John Cage, Michelangelo Antonioni, and Jaap Blonk. "This album has been under personal consideration for quite some time, several years in fact. Throughout the time I have worked as an improvising musician I have been fortunate enough to work in a wide variety of settings — from duos to large ensembles, groups that work with pre-designated material or bands that are free from this, ad hoc settings as well as long term collaborations — but the issue of creating what I could consider as 'my own' solo improvised music remained elusive despite my many efforts to deal with it. To me, it started to seem as if performing and recording solo music was a necessary aspect of creative expression."

BROTSMANN CHICAGO TENTET, PETER: Images CD (OKKA 047). $13.00

"2 new discs of live and studio material from '02 & '03 with new compositions by Brotzmann (both title pieces), Ken Vandermark, Mats Gustafsson and Fred Lonberg-Holm."

BROTSMANN CHICAGO TENTET, PETER: Signs CD (OKKA 048). $13.00

"2 new discs of live and studio material from '02 & '03 with new compositions by Brotzmann (both title pieces), Ken Vandermark, Mats Gustafsson and Fred Lonberg-Holm."

ATOMIC/SCHOOL DAYS: Nuclear Assembly Hall 2CD (OKKA 049). $16.00

"The 3rd release by Ken Vandermark's School Days is a double CD of studio material recorded with the Oslo quintet Atomic. Both bands have the same rhythm section of Paal Nilssen-Love on drums and Ingebrigt Haker-Flaten on bass. The group includes Magnus Broo: trumpet, Jeb Bishop: trombone, Fredrik Ljungkvist: reeds, Ken Vandermark: reeds, Hevard Wiik: piano & Kjell Nordeson: vibraphone. 9 new compositions 1 each by all the members (2 by Mr. Ljungkvist)."

TERRITORY BAND -2: Atlas CD (OKKA 050). $13.00

"The second installment from Ken Vandermark's highly praised international all star band. This time around the group performs 4 new compositions by Mr. Vandermark and includes Jim Baker (piano), Jeb Bishop (trombone), Axel Doerner (trumpets), Kevin Drumm (electronics), Per-Ake Holmlander (tuba), Kent Kessler (bass), Fredrik Ljungkvist (reeds), Fred Lonberg-Holm (cello), Paul Lytton (drums), Tim Mulvenna (percussion), Dave Rempis (saxophones), Ken Vandermark (reeds)."

FME: Underground CD (OKKA 051). $13.00

FME = Free Music Ensemble. Featuring: Paal Nilssen-Love (percussion), Nate McBride (bass), Ken Vandermark (reeds). First studio recording, recorded 2003.

OLD 3C RECORDS:

GREAT PLAINS: Length of Growth 1981-89 2CD (3C 02 CD). $15.00

"Formed in the early 80s in a dingy basement of a Columbus, OH record store, Great Plains spent a better part of that decade unleashing their intelligent folk-punk on an unwitting public. This 2 CD compilation includes almost all of the songs from their 80s releases (on Homestead and Shadowline), along with a few hard-to-find tracks."

OLD HAT:

VA: Music From The Lost Provinces: Old-Time String Bands from... CD (OLD 1001 CD). $14.00

...Ashe County, North Carolina & Vicinity, 1927-1931. "Reissues 22 songs and tunes first recorded between 1927-1931 by string bands from Ashe County, North Carolina, a mountainous area in the northwest corner of the state once known as 'The Lost Provinces' because of its extreme isolation. The music includes traditional fiddle tunes, folk songs, Anglo-Irish ballads, comic songs, topical numbers and original compositions, all from the time period often called the 'golden era' of old-time string music. The anthology brings together for the first time the complete recordings of Frank Blevins & His Tar Heel Rattlers, the Carolina Night Hawks, the North Carolina Ridge Runners, and many more. All tracks on the CD have been carefully remastered from the original 78rpm records. A 28-page booklet presents a detailed history of the music based on interviews with original band members. Also included is a complete discography and numerous vintage photographs, many never before published. Music From The Lost Provinces is the premier release of Old Hat Records, a label devoted to quality reissues coupled with thorough historical research."

VA: Violin, Sing The Blues For Me: African-American Fiddlers... CD (OLD 1002 CD). $14.00

...1926-1949. "The violin played a significant role in the early history of recorded blues, with its crying vibratos and sliding notes creating a dramatic and soulful sound. Violin, Sing The Blues For Me offers 24 tracks of this rare music, played by many of the greatest black fiddlers who recorded before mid-century. From the sophisticated style of Lonnie Johnson to the raw Delta blues of Henry Sims to the rollicking tunes of the Memphis Jug Band, these musicians demonstrate the depth and diversity of African-American fiddle music. Included are two early instrumentals by the multi-talented Howard Armstrong, also known as 'Louie Blumie,' whose career in music spanned seven decades. This unique collection presents 73 minutes of vintage fiddle music, carefully remastered from the original 78rpm records. In addition to blues, the album contains country dances, rags and stomps, folk songs and medicine show music. The CD comes with a 32-page, full-color booklet with detailed history, complete discography, and a host of rare photographs and illustrations."

VA: Folks, He Sure Do Pull Some Bow!: Vintage Fiddle Music... CD (OLD 1003 CD). $14.00

...1927-1935 - Blues, Jazz, Stomps, Shuffles & Rags. "24 tracks of rare fiddle music from the early years of recorded sound, covering a wide range of artists and styles. Playing ragtime tunes, country breakdowns, hardcore blues and hot jazz, these fiddlers cut loose on the instrument known as 'the devil's box.' Blues fans recognize Lonnie Johnson, Bo Carter, and Big Bill Broonzy as masters of the guitar, but these men were also talented fiddlers, and they're all included on this disc. You'll hear jazz from Chicago's South Side, string band music from Mississippi, and blues from Beale Street. The State Street Boys play uptown blues, while groups like the Alabama Rascals and the Dixieland Jug Blowers provide good-time dance music. And there's much, much more — a full 74 minutes of music. Old Hat Records has teamed with Long Gone Sound Productions to capture the brilliant, clear sound of the original 78rpm records. The CD comes with a full-color, 32-page booklet that tells the fascinating story behind the music, illustrated with many rare photographs, drawings, and artifacts."

VA: Down In The Basement CD (OLD 1004 CD). $17.00

Subtitled: A Treasure Drove of Vintage 78s (1926-37). "Joe Bussard has been called the 'King of Record Collectors' and there's solid evidence to justify such a title. In the basement of his Maryland home is a vast treasure trove of American vernacular music first recorded by phonograph companies in the 1920s and '30s- old-time songs, hillbilly hoedowns, hot jazz, country blues, jug band music, sanctified singing, and a whole lot more. For over 50 years, Joe has pursued this music with a passion that borders on mania, building a world-class collection of 78rpm records — more than 25,000 in all. With Joe's cooperation, we've carefully remastered 24 tracks of this rare music, representing the major genres in his collection. Included are classic performances by such colorful names as Seven-Foot Dilly, Gitfiddle Jim, The Grayson County Rainsplitters, Fess Williams' Royal Flush Orchestra, Long Cleve Reed & Little Harvey Hull, The Grinnell Giggers, and many more. These recordings are not just historical relics, but vital and entertaining performances that have stood the test of time. Not everyone can actually visit Joe's archives, but Down In The Basement delivers the next best thing- a potent dose of this great American music. CD comes with a 72-page full color booklet w/ Biographical Essay & Fully Annotated Discography."

OMOAMUSIC (NETHERLANDS):

AYRO: ElectronicLoveFunk CD (OMOA 005CD). $19.00

"In a small bedroom in a blighted neighborhood on the northwest side of Detroit, with only a collection of vintage keyboards, an MPC, and a microphone, Ayro has created ElectronicLoveFunk, his extraordinary debut full-length album on Omao music. ElectronicLoveFunk is a love story, told from the very beginning. In each song, Ayro expresses a chapter in his own emotional journey through the joy and pain of falling in love. Ayro wrote, produced, played, and sang nearly every note of every song on the album. Raw, experimental, and eclectic, it traverses genres of soul, jazz, pop, rock, and techno. It is an album of warm analog chords, lush polyrhythms, and sweet vocals alongside jazz improvisation. Ayro became well known in Detroit jazz and electronic music circles through playing with renowned jazz/fusion group Jazzhead and live electronic group Time:Space, and working with legendary Detroit producers Carl Craig, Alton Miller, Reclouse, and others."

OMPLATTEN:*OLSSON, BJORN: Instrumentalmusik CD (FJORD 004). $13.00

"Björn Olsson is a Swedish guitar player with a past as the creative motor of the bands Union Carbide Productions and Soundtrack of our Lives. I swear that this is one of the most innovative and important records I've heard in an 'ambient' and/or 'psychedelic' genre this decade. Björn Olsson, guitarist of the defunct Union Carbide Productions (whose monolithic debut In the Air Tonight should be on your record shelf) as well as Swedish chart busters the Soundtrack of our Lives recorded this album last year in the scenic splendor of the Swedish west coast archipelago, indoors as well as outdoors, using a variety of acoustic and electric instruments, working closely with the wonders of analogue sound. My first point of reference upon hearing this album was Fleetwood Mac's Albatross with its spacious and soaring guitars. What I heard on Björn's album was the more ambient (and 'psychedelic') aspects of Peter Green's guitar work solo and with Fleetwood Mac, but with the added sensibilities of Scandinavian folk music. There are also elements that are reminiscent of Ennio Morricone's 1960's soundtracks. Other pieces to include in the frame of reference would be the more organic end of Kraut/space rock, I am thinking of Cluster, the post-Neu Harmonia and Popol Vuh. Olsson's work with texture and hypnotic, not to say trance-like sheets of sound stands the comparison very well with either of these bands. The album was recorded at Björn Olsson's friends' summer house in the middle of the west coast archipelago of Sweden. A dramatic landscape to be sure, where the ghost-like light of the late-night sun and the stark cliffs and rocks can be heard in the actual music. Trust me on this one. The recording proceeded in the most tranquil of atmospheres. The days were spent sailing, the band would be fishing in the evenings, delegating the nighttime for tracking. With the ocean (50 yards away) in clear view from the mixing table, it was natural for the musicians to take their instruments outdoors, and track a large chunk of the record under the open sky, taking advantage of the Nordic starlit night. There were no compressors or digital outboard equipment used on the record. Björn's vision of the record was to paint with sound, and to utilize all ambient noises as an integrated part of the record. The diffuse, opaque sound of the record was realized by Björn's ongoing experiments with the limitations of the equipment used. In Björn's words: 'There wasn't a trained sound engineer around to hinder any of my idiosyncratic ideas. This led to a great sense of musical freedom.' Join Josh Haden of Spain, Joey Waronker of Beck and Jesper Eklow, Stina Nordenstam, David Tibet of Current 93 to name but a few of the ones who've elevated this record to a particularly greasy spot in their personal musical pantheon. - Johan Kugelberg."

MONKS: Five Upstart Americans CD (FJORD 005). $13.00

"Five American GI's are stationed in West Germany in 1964. They form a rock group to entertain their fellow soldiers at their army base. They name the band the Five Torquays and play a selection of cover songs. In 1965 the band members are discharged from the army. Something very odd happens to their artistic pursuit. The band declares themselves the anti-Beatles, they start dressing in black, wearing heavy work boots, shaving tonsures on their heads, wearing nooses around their necks, reducing their music to a throbbing, rhythmic noise. The lyrics are chanted: "I hate you with a passion baby", "Shut up don't cry", "We don't like the army, what army, any army, Pussy Galore is coming down and we like it". The band name is the Monks. They tour Germany for two years, fueled by amphetamines and a monk-like discipline. In 1966 they play 364 dates, in 1967, 362. This led to the implosion of the band. "We'd go from town to town to town, jumping up and playing two sets and off to the next one. We got attacked: People would jump up onstage and try to hit us — try and kill you. These were young working class men, thinking that their religion had been smeared, or maybe they thought we were Americans taking advantage of their disadvantage." The sessions restrained within this shiny compact disc were recorded at Hilversum in Germany in 1965, almost a year before the Black Monk Time album. They are more primitive, more Back From the Grave sounding, but no less handsome than the versions on Black Monk Time. As pointed out by Mr. Burger and Mr. Shaw in the sleeve notes, they were demos the band cut with the hope of getting a deal, which as we know fell into place with Polydor Records. What is beat? What is beat today? And what is over-beat? And who the hell is going to melt the hot and cold worlds of tomorrow? Listen as Roger beats, Gary plucks, Dave pummels. And Eddie dreams hell's bass part. And Larry fingers the keys of the day after tomorrow. The Monks believe in nothing. The Monks believe that everything is possible. The Monks give everything. The Monks demand everything. Words are the outline of lies. Lying is the art of pleasing others. — The Monks, 1966/Sleeve notes for Black Monk Time.

SSAB SONGS: CD (FJORD 006). $11.00

SAAB Songs are Brian Degraw and Harmony Korine. Think Cro Magnon, Vertical Slit, early Ralph Records, early Nurse With Wound. This glorious flow of tonal and atonal mixes up damaged, fractured noises with faint glimmers of Appalachian hillbilly snuck in. "So. I walk into the record store Other Music in lower Manhattan, this store is owned by my partner in Omplatten, the illustrious Jeff Gibson, and I head straight for the water cooler adjacent to Jeff's office where I get involved in a conversation with one of his co-workers. I can't concentrate much on the chat, however, since some quite messed up and wondrous music is flowing out of Jeff's office. I can't place the music, and I know that as soon as I enter Jeff's space I am in for some serious oneupmanship if I can't figure out what I am hearing. It is sounding pretty great. Damaged, fractured sounds, not unlike the glorious flow of tonal and atonal that the con-e-sewer would enjoy on Meet the Residents, Nurse With Wound's Chance Meeting On A Dissecting Table Of A Sewing Machine And An Umbrella, Deep Freeze Mice, or even the Homosexuals' more atmospheric stuff. I am just about to place the material as coming from the U.K. in the late 70's. Some sort of wonderful Rough Trade/Recommended/Fuck Off Records release that I'd missed out on, and then I catch myself and think that what I am hearing has to be American; faint glimmers of Appalachian hillbilly flow through the din. Some sort of connection to Ralph Records maybe? Unheard material by Cro Magnon? The Parasites of the Western World? Mike Rep? Vertical Slit? Debris? give up. "Hey Jeff, what are you listening to? - "Do you like it?" - "Yeah! It sounds like prime homemade mid-70's slop!" - "It is Harmony Korine and his pals." - "Wow." - "Do you think we should put it out?" - "Yeah, why the hell not!" - "I think so too." After spending some quality time with Harmony and his dopest ghost, Brian Degraw, Jeff and myself sorted out the logistics of this release. To give our close personal friends in the media some more meat on their proverbial bones, we did a brief Q&A with Mr. Korine which follows here: Q: Who are the other players? A: Most of the players involved are prepared to die. Some pick up their instruments in order to fix a plate, others wonder in with hope on their shoulder. Hope that they will disappear into that which isn't. Die off. Played down under the nations fallen. Q: Have the musicians played in any other bands? A: Yes. I can't remember which ones, but very popular music they play. Q: Have you done music before? A: Yes, in secret. Q: What made you guys decide to record this? A: We have recorded many pieces, all the music sounds different. The songs depend on the state of the players. Are they healthy? Are they sick? Are they drunk? Are they fouled up to begin with? Most of the time they sing in affluent tones and horse shoe vomit. Q: Any influences you want to mention? A: Uncle Dave Macon and the Smiths mainly. Q: Are there going to be live gigs? A: We will play live in gay lands. Q: Do you want to mention anything about upcoming records? A: It was made out of desperation and unhealthy lads abound. Note: Clever ears will recognize that a few passages sound suspiciously like much of the incidental music in Korine's cinematic masterpiece Gummo. A second SSAB release will follow early in 2000. Look for some (no doubt) handsome live performances in the New York area this Fall. — Johan Kugelberg.

TOBY DAMMIT: Top Dollar CD (FJORD 008CD). $13.00

"The first psychedelic percussion album since Hal Blaine!" "Mavens of The Good Life unite! Toby Dammit is a master percussionist who has here made one of the most compelling albums in recent memory. Layered, melodic, insane music where Hal Blaine meets trance, where Martin Denny blends with Ennio Morricone, where symphonic percussion instruments are filtered through 1960's spy movie soundtrack sensibilities and rubbed up against Vampyros Lesbos. Is he the unfathomable link between Edgar Varese and Senor Coconut? Between Harry Partch and Harry The Bastard? Between the deep mysteries of Swedish sex-crime and psychedelic Krautrock sambas? You have to feel the weight of his tympani storage facility to understand the glimmer of his glockenspiel. Currently a U.S. Resident, he travels the world in an ever-changing magical orchestra pit. His beats collide, and the children unanimously scream in the ecstasy. Throughout the history of late twentieth-century popular music, the cries have been heard in song titles: 'Hear the Drummer Get Wicked', 'Give the Drummer Some', 'Bring that Beat Back'. Perhaps these are all responses to jazz drummer Max Roach's enigmatic question: does the beat lie in the drumbeats or between them? Musical provocateur Toby Dammit, whose work at the fringes of U.S. popular music, leaves unanswered that question. But in doing so, insists on the central role of percussion and drums, making a path-breaking record in the process. Drums and percussion are too often consigned to the background, as drum fills or a 4-4 kick drum installed to keep metronomic time. But there are few artists who bring percussion to the foreground, and Toby Dammit's music occupies that rare position of the artist who works solely with percussion to create extraordinarily complex yet deceptively simple tracks. Think of this record also as the perfect DJ tool. Those in search of often-redundant breaks, beats, and loops records will find this album perfectly suited to heavy turntable rotation. The opening track, 'Number One Famous', and 'Roadblocks Here and Here' see Dammit picking up the gauntlet thrown down by Adrian Sherwood's stunning On-U Sound ventures with Creation Rebel, Tackhead, and Mark Stewart. Dammit's work also immediately brings to mind the hard, crisp techno of contemporary artists such as Surgeon, Ben Sims, Oliver Ho, Adam Beyer, and Regis, who never permit a bass line anywhere near their music. 'Jolly Coppers on Parade' is a dense, glowering piece with decaying, percussive fragments buzzing around the mix like an agitated hummingbird. Even when the percussion is attenuated to the point of a click track and hi-hat, Dammit keeps the sense of space and suspense intact. The uneasy 'Malmö Nocturne (Mansson's Theme)' is the record's moment of relative serenity, wherein North African motifs and drumming slow the pace of this fast moving record. But even here, the tough sound of the drum machinereturns to interrupt the calm. You can pretend to ignore the call of the drum. But, finally, it is the rhythmic force which drives all records which utilize it. Most drummers are competent at best; able to use the kit to keep the beat moving. And then there are percussive artists like Toby Dammit who understand that the place of the drum is so much more than simply keeping time. It is the stepping off point for a vast range of compelling musical adventures. It is the latter that the listener will find on Top Dollar. — Tim Haslett

TOBY DAMMIT: Top Dollar LP (FJORD 008LP). $11.00

LP version in full color sleeve.

TOBY DAMMIT: Modus Operandi 12" (FJORD 011). $6.50

"Headphone Junkies & Disco Citizens Unite! Following hot on the heels of Tricatel's ultra-limited Clear-Vinyl 10-inch, 'Gopher Edits', the countdown to the release of the Top Dollar full-length continues apace with another tasty nugget of Bertrand Burgalat-produced percussion insanity from Mr. Toby Dammit! You get: Side A: Super-Fi version of 'Modus Operandi'. Side B: Bonus Beats: 4 distinct segments extracted from 'Modus Operandi' an ideal DJ tool. (a) 'Whiskey In The Bar' (b) 'Sole Walewska' (c) 'House Akvavit' (d) 'Coffee And A Shot Of Se've Fournier'. Both sides are 45RPM for the maximum BASS Possible. But wait, there's more: There is a secret story behind Toby's titles on this 12". 'Modus Operandi' itself comes from the dreaded phrase that irritates detective Martin Beck so deeply in Murder At The Savoy by the Swedish crime writers Maj Sjöwall and Per Wahloo. The stately titles on side B are Beck's final meal at the Savoy Hotel in Malmö at the closing of the same story. Toby often highly recommends the 10 consecutive Martin Beck mysteries!!"

ON RECORDS (NETHERLANDS):*NYNACK: Pattern Records 12" (ON 003EP). $11.00

"On Records comes with some amazing advanced electronica from Nynack. But his music is Hi-tech electronica in the style of EOG and Autechre. Challenging organized chaos with sweet moment."

ON-OFF (GERMANY):*VA: ID/LP LP (ONOFF 003 LP). $14.00

LP version.

KUNSTKOPF: 7 Stücke '95-'99 LP (ONOFF 004LP). $14.00

"Academically touched serious experimental ambient. Cold & calm textures."

ONE STOP RECORDS (UK):*VA: Simply Rockers Vol. 1 CD (ROXS 001 CD). $15.00

"The first release from One Stop Records delves deep into the classic sounds of Trojan Records. Simply Rockers: Jamaican Music from the Vaults features a truly classic line up which includes the sublime Marcia Griffiths (a brilliant take on Freda Payne's 'Band of Gold'), U Roy ('The Hudson Affair'), The Uniques ('People Rocksteady'), Ken Boothe (with the seminal 'Is It because I'm Black'), The Ethiopians (the fantastic 'Train to Skaville'), and The Pioneers reworking of The Temptations 'Papa Was A Rolling Stone'. There are 15 tracks in total featured here pop pickers but fear not, there's more to come, with Volume 2 already in the can and set for a pre-xmas 2001 release. For any reggae novices, this album comes with comprehensive sleeve notes from Johnny Chandler, who explains the importance and influence of the Trojan Label upon reggae and way beyond... This is classic stuff — it really doesn't get much better than this."

VA: Simply Rockers 2 CD (ROXS 002 CD). $15.00

"Welcome to the second release on One Stop Records and the second in the Simply Rockers series. As with the first album the second once again delves deep into the archives of Trojan's back catalogue to bring you the finest in ska, dub, rocksteady and reggae. The albums features many of Jamaica's finest artists, including The Upsetters ('Popcorn'), Horace Andy ('You are my Angel'), Desmond Dekker ('007'), Dennis Alcapone ('Picture on the Wall') and Gregory Isaacs ('Slum') and comes with extensive sleeve notes."

VA: Simply Rockers 2 LP (ROXS 002 LP). $19.00

Double LP version.

VA: Let Your Yeah Be Yeah - Reggae Hits 1967-1980 CD (ROXS 003 CD). $15.00

"Fresh from the critical acclaim heaped upon the first two volumes of Simply Rockers: Jamaica Music From The Vaults, One Stop Records return with an album perfectly suited for barbecues in the garden. Let Your Yeah Be Yeah brings together a collection of tracks that took the UK charts by storm between 1967 and 1980. All in all, a great collection of tunes that everyone knows and the perfect antidote to the myriad of dance compilations that people play at parties." Artists include: Desmond Dekke, The Ethiopians, Tony Tribe, Max Romeo, Harry J Allstars, The Upsetters, Jimmy Cliff, Bob and Marcia, Dave and Ansell Collins, The Pioneers, Ken Boothe, Susan Cadogan, Dennis Brown, Symarip.

VA: Simply Rockers Vol. 3 CD (ROXS 004 CD). $15.00

"One Stop Records return with the third instalment of the Simply Rockers series. Once again delving deep into the vaults of the Trojan catalogue, the compilers have come up with another example of the quality of the Trojan back catalogue. Once again the tracklisting reads like a who's who of Jamaican music, featuring the likes of The Upsetters ('Eight For Eight'), Johnny Clarke ('Enter Into His Gates with Praise'), Delroy Wilson ('Rascal Man'), Dennis Brown ('Conqueror'), Big Youth (with the classic 'Screaming Target'), Alton Ellis ('Dancecrasher'), Gregory Isaacs ('Rockaway') and many more."

VA: Simply Rockers Vol. 3 2LP (ROXS 004 LP). $19.00

Double LP version.

PERRY & NINEY THE OBSERVER, LEE: Producers CD (ROXS 005 CD). $15.00

"Lee 'Scratch' Perry needs very little in the way of an introduction. Like so many other Jamaican artists, he began his career at Clement Dodd's legendary Studio One. Apart from his recordings there, Scratch often supervised auditions, and was instrumental in shaping the early career of Delroy Wilson. Indeed, he penned several songs for the latter, mostly casting musical stones on Dodd's behalf, at rivals Duke Reid and Prince Buster. After leaving Studio One, Scratch spent some time working as in house producer for Joe Gibbs. Feeling he wasn't receiving his full due, Perry eventually moved on to set up his own operation, subsequently launching the Upsetter label in Jamaica. In 1969 he signed a deal with Trojan Records, which resulted in the formation of a counterpart Upsetter outlet in the UK. The venture proved almost instantly successful. Perry scored an international hit with only the second release on UK Upsetter, Return Of Django, an instrumental from his Upsetters house band (featuring Val Bennett on sax). Between then and the following year, Perry built a solid reputation for himself, with a series of similarly styled instrumentals. In terms of his signature sound, Scratch continually reached for higher ground, and honed his skills at the console. From 1972 onwards, his productions became increasingly quirky, moving in a similar direction to King Tubby. At the end of 1973, after striking fresh licensing deals with a number of record companies in the UK, he fulfilled his dream by opening his own Black Ark studio. It was here that Perry, finally the master of his own musical destiny, produced groundbreaking music. Using minimal equipment, he produced multi-layered rhythm tracks, which to this day, nobody has been able to emulate. A deal with Island Records followed, but some of his better work was confined to Jamaica, issued on a bewildering variety of his own labels, in 7" and 12" format. These now rank amongst the most sought after records with collectors of Perry's music, and the producer has gained near cult status through his willingness to experiment at the mixing desk. Winston 'Niney' Holness (otherwise known as Sir Niney The Observer, and George Boswell), also spent time at Studio One. In addition, he worked with Bunny Lee, before moving on to join Joe Gibbs. It was here that he came into contact with Lee Perry, and took over the latter's role as in house producer, following Perry's departure. After producing hits on Ken Parker, and Nicky Thomas for Gibbs, he too decided to go his own way. Towards the end of 1970, Niney hit the big time with his second release: Blood And Fire. The single reportedly sold in excess of 30,000 copies in Jamaica, and took the Record Of The Year title for 1971. Indeed, so successful was it, that he cut further versions, including Brimstone And Fire, Mud And Water, Psalms 9 To Keep In Mind, and Lightning And Thunder, which is included here. Like Perry, he launched his own (Observers) label, and applied the same name to his house band. During the period that followed, Niney collaborated with Scratch (and Max Romeo) on some distinctly cultural sides, including When Jah Speak (humorously credited to Murt, Turt & Purt), Rasta Bandwagon (featuring Perry on the intro), and Babyloose Burning (featuring Niney, Romeo and Perry). These, and other recordings, marked out both as 'rebel' producers. It would take a whole series of compilations, to do justice to the output of Niney and Lee Perry. Whilst this is acknowledged, One Stop put a great deal of thought into sampling their output. Not only does this collection aim to showcase the main talents of both producers, it hopes to illustrate their contrasting, yet complimentary signatures sounds as well. Perhaps more importantly, it presents some superbly enjoyable examples of Jamaican popular music, in a sound clash style." Artists include: The Upsetters, The Sons of Selassie, Junior Byles, Niney the Observer, Leroy Sibbles, The Observers, Lee Perry, George Boswell, The Reggae Crusaders, Junior Murvin, David Isaacs, Horace Andy.

MARLEY, BOB: Rebel Soul CD (ROXS 006 CD). $15.00

"Fresh from the critical acclaim lauded upon the Simply Rockers series, producers Lee 'Scratch' Perry vs Niney the Observer, and the forthcoming Bloodlines album: One Stop release Rebel Soul— a collection of the early works of one Bob Marley and the Wailers. All tracks were produced by Lee 'Scratch' Perry and the album features a number of tracks that were later re-recorded for albums released on Island including 'Lively Up Yourself', 'Duppy Conqueror', 'Kaya', 'Small Axe', 'Sun Is Shining', 'Trenchtown Rock' and many more."

VA: Ire Feelings - Reggae Chart Hits 1969-1976 CD (ROXS 007 CD). $15.00

"Ire Feelings is the follow up to Let Your Yeah Be Yeah and concentrates on those tracks that made an impression on the UK charts. The album features 14 tracks that hit the UK top 50, including 6 top ten hits, and covers the years 1969 to 1976." Artists include: Desmond Dekker, Upsetters, The Pioneers, The Melodians, Jimmy Cliff, The Maytals, Nicky Thomas, Bob and Marcia, Dave and Ansell Collins, Randy Livingstone, Rupie Edwards, John Holt, Pluto Shervington.

ONETHOUSAND RECORDS (GERMANY):

CAROLA, MARCO: The 1000 Collection CD (1000 CD). $15.00

"One of the most classic releases from Marco Carola. This album is the first the man from Naples produced and it includes the most classic anthems played by many technolovers around the world. This record includes all the passion we feel for the music — that is why we want after years of unavailability make it possible to get this record again."

ONI-TOR (GERMANY):

MALTE: Susii LP (ONITOR 02.2). $12.00

8 track album mini-album, described as "Robert Hood-like minimal, heard with a pillow on the speaker. Nice atmospheric techno." All songs composed, arranged and produced by Malte Tinnus at Studio Stockholm, 1999/2000. Warm and clicky, Cologne-influenced luxury, any record that can be described favorably with the word "pillow" has to have potential & this one is soaked with it.

ELECTRONICAT: Cat A Tac LP (ONITOR 02.3). $13.00

"More rude experimental tunes by this crazy Frenchman. Attention Pansonic freaks." Limited remaining stock.

STOLPMANN, BJÖRN: Feels Like You Are Passing Me By LP (ONITOR 03.1). $12.00

"Björn Stolpmann is another beautiful cat from our hometown Stuttgart. His debut album features heavy pop basses, a straight 4/4 rhythm and dreamy soundscapes. Techno with heart and mind. Another step towards more difference, showing that the city can go further. The techno underground sets sails against Stuttgart mainstream reputation. Atomized musical partisans meet after work to think about utopia. With machines, not needed to be taken by storm. Relieved through music."

STOLPMANN, BJÖRN: Draw Away From The Attempt 12" (ONITOR 04.2). $9.00

"Stolpmann is back. After his genre refreshing LP Fells like you are passing by this time with an EP. If god is still in techno, these four tracks will be in his current top ten. The Stuttgart based Björn Stolpmann knows how to produce euphoric, bodyshacking tracks, which are both, a body and intellect pleasure. File under: Detroit, Robert Hood; Köln, Modernist."

SOLOVYEV: Poprad LP (ONITOR 1). $15.00

A new minimalist German label, distributed via Kompakt. This Solovjev album contains an unofficial Studio 1 remix by M. Ink! " "A man like a mountain. Lonesome voice in the desert. Actually, there doesn't seem to be anything in between discursive superior attitude and a deprived wagging your heads. Nonetheless, on his tonal trips Solovjev touches these hidden meadows which promise soul-balsam, rhythm and contemplation. Sounds are explored, wrapped in monotony, broken, announced, celebrated like a new fashion-collection, hidden behind dimensions far beyond what loudspeakers bury. Music which makes you think of pop and sweats out refusal at the same time, which makes no offer and aims at prefab contexts. Individual or collective, full immersion into privatistic ease or joint restless nightly tripping in public areas: Listen, discover and (if possible) shut up. Whoever appreciates unconventional electronic — music from German cities, nevertheless commanding 'four-to-the-floor', should open their ears: without peeping at standards, a musician throws his work into pop world, completing certain traditions with new musicality. Feel the beat, pass it on, allow monolithic positioning or exciting hide and seek. The worn out categories head and soul are no longer platitudes but fitting shoes. The house is already there, open, inviting, making room for a visitor's diverse projections. Dream, dance, think." — Leo Sacher

SAFETY SCISSORS/SUTEKH: Split LP (ONITOR 11 LP). $13.00

"When people share a flat you never know what can happen. There's one flat in California however, out of which two of the most advanced laptop musicians have emerged: Safety Scissors and Sutekh, a.k.a. Matthew Patterson Curry and Seth Hovitz. This album is a very active collaboration between the two, who spend half of the year traveling around the globe together. The rest is done via internet. Sutekh with his own label Context represents the vivid powerbook scene of the west coast bay area. Luckily their brilliant music is easy to find around these parts thanks to the active distribution policy of Force Inc. Seths production efforts cover a wide range of different musical approaches: deconstructive and abstract, broken up and funky, dubby and minimal-housy, energetic and technoid. Nothing's impossible. Everything's euphoric."

LAMAS, GUSTAVO: Presente 12" (ONITOR 12). $9.00

"Music for a different reality. Gustavo Lamas cultivates a melancholic techno-soul. And not just since yesterday. He did a track for the critically acclaimed compilation Elektronische Musik aus Buenos Aires (on Cologne's Traum label), and he was the first of the featured artist to release a complete solo album shortly after. Celeste embodies influences from almost opposite cultures. The importance of typically European sounds in Lamas' sampling (samplers are his only tools) can't be overstressed, yet his South American roots will always shine through. With his very personal musical coordinates he creates a surreal tension and projection of space that seems to have materialized out of some parallel universe: That's what we mean when we say 'music for a different reality'. Lamas gets his main input from Dub and Techno — a combination that is typical for labels in Berlin, such as Basic Channel or Scape. With Celeste he sought a new perspective oscillating between the excitement of South American percussion eroticism and a rather European soberness of sound. A fascinating hybrid of minimal electronica and sound research. Lamas' work stands for melancholy, devotion and self-restraint."

HAGEDORN: Cause & Effect 12" (ONITOR 13). $9.00

"Hagedorn is Wolfgang Hagedorn without Digital Jockey, i.e. outside his Computer jockeys' context. Wolfgang Hagedorn's musical background in terms of important influences stretches from Eastcoast-HipHop to Jeff Mills and has lead him to combine rational and soulful elements, resulting in a mixture of abstract functionality and the simple challenge to move your body. Even though he digs deep into the various genres of his record collection to find the right little bits n' pieces for his way of sampling, the tracks remain surprisingly homogeneous and stick to the sound idea originally intended. Hagedorn's music offers a kind of synthesis between distant listening and raving affirmation."

HAGEDORN: Homegrown CD (ONITOR 14 CD). $16.00

"Hagedorn is Wolfgang Hagedorn without Digital Jockey, i.e. outside his Computerjockeys' context. Wolfgang Hagedorn's musical background in terms of important influences stretches from Eastcoast HipHop to Jeff Mills and has lead him to combine rational and soulful elements, resulting in a mixture of abstract functionality and the simple challenge to move your body. Even though he digs deep into the various genres of his record collection to find the right little bits n' pieces for his way of sampling, the tracks remain surprisingly homogeneous neous and stick to the sound idea originally intended. Hagedorn's music offers a kind of synthesis between distant listening and raving affirmation. Homegrown is somewhat less club-orientated than its predecessor, an aspect that may have to do with the fact that Wolfgang has been on a sort of paternity leave for more than a year now. This doesn't necessarily mean, though, that Homegrown is meant to be exclusively for home listening. There are still quite a few dancefloor tracks that would fit without doubt into a club context, namely the 12" opener 'Funk Infection' which easily bears comparison with Thomas Brinkmann's hot SoulCenter stuff. Hagedorn's new album is really quite diverse, the range of his sound is definitely spread more widely this time. He himself suggests that he could have developed a number of different concept albums out of each single track — very ambitious words, these, but oh so true."

YOU DEE: Adapter CD (ONITOR 15 CD). $16.00

"This is what the artists say: 'You Dee's most important influence is water next to silence. Water leaking into the basin and thus proposing the measure. Sound spreading as space offers the possibility. The 'United Amateurs' make music because music just does not mean anything. There are no symbols to listen to. The ear simply is able to relax.' Nice. And poetic. But generally, we the label have to contradict. It is a coquettish lie that this music shall not mean anything. On their first album, You Dee work on the same architectonic structures as Senking, Pole, Rastermoton or System. As well as the specific sound of every single of these references is incompatible, You Dee defined their very own signals to be sent into space. You Dee's music indeed suits for relaxing, but it is not at all Ambient that makes you fall asleep. Their music exactly is the contrary: this Ambient wants to be precisely listened to. It wants to know well read it's 'poppige Flaechen', it's melancholic drifts and all these tiny particles of melodies. In the end you have heard a lot — but you are relaxed nevertheless. For whoever needs the following: You Dee is Sven Rieger, Peter Hansen and Stefan Wust from Berlin and Stuttgart."

JIRKU/JUDGE: Half Full 12" (ONITOR 16). $9.00

"Jirku/Judge is the work of Tomas Jirku and Robin Judge; two like minded musicians from Toronto Canada. Tomas hears voices in his head that tell him to make music. The voices are susceptible to boredom, so the variety to Tomas's musical output is necessary to satisfy them. Robin hears music in everything; a refrigerator humming a chorus, the wind whistling, birds glitching, bicycles clicking. She spends her time recording these sounds. Together their insanity combines to make catchy, swinging, glitch-laden music which is sure to make you wiggle."

JIRKU/JUDGE, TOMAS: Plusism CD (ONITOR 17 CD). $16.00

"Jirku/Judge... is the work of Tomas Jirku and Robin Judge; two like minded musicians from Toronto, Canada. Tomas hears voices in his head that tell him to make music. The voices are susceptible to boredom, so the variety to Tomas's musical output is necessary to satisfy them. Robin hears music in everything; a refrigerator humming a chorus, the wind whistling, birds glitching, bicycles clicking. She spends her time recording these sounds. Together their insanity combines to make catchy, swinging, glitch-laden music which is sure to make you wiggle. Here is an additional, general bio with more information about Mr. Jirku: Tomas Jirku has quickly established himself on the international minimal techno scene. From his humble beginnings of independently released CDRs and MP3s on the Notype website, Jirku's unrelenting, unpredictable explorations of minimal techno have since been released on such prestigious labels as Force Inc., Klang Elektronik, Alien8, and Traum. Czech born, Toronto Canada resident, Jirku comes mainly from a visual arts background and only has musical training inasmuch as he is a music addict with broad tastes and even greater goals when it comes to his own productions, appropriating and manipulating anything that holds his interest. His approach to production is initially highly conceptual, but once digital audio production comes into play, Jirku is thrown into a struggle with the unpredictability of beta-test software which itself is in the process of development. The outcome sounds as interesting to the producer as the listener. And here is a tiny bit more information for Robin: Robin Judge is an audio-visual designer from Toronto Canada. She carefully constructs scenarios that explore processes within the digital realm. Focusing on the subtle relationships between rhythm and texture, she shapes auditory space with layered compositions to create a tapestry of sound."

STOLPMANN, BJÖRN: Aberration Of Intention 12" (ONITOR 18). $9.00

"After his debut album Feels Like You Are Passing By and the EP Draw Away From The Attempt this is the third release of our Stuttgart based youngster Björn Stolpmann. These are the most beautiful moments in the life of a label owner, when you realize that the label artists start to become your friends. It happened like this with Björn Stolpmann and Joachim Spieth. The first result of kicking back together is documented on this EP. Spieth created (with the material of Stolpmann) an emotional wild style techno classic. And pretty much the same could be said about the three new tracks by Stolpmann. Again he is going for dubby techno mixland including elements of Modernist, Antonelli Electr. and the great Detroit techno as known from people like Robert Hood. This music is: Digital. Minimal. Poppish."

HAGEDORN: Electronic Music Machine 12" (ONITOR 19). $9.00

"The second 12" release by Hagedorn in 2003. And the good thing is: you just know one of the four tracks from Home Grown: 'Electronic Music Machine'. For the two totally new tracks Wolfgang Hagedorn again teamed up with the Portuguese vocalist Roseli Ferreira (she already sung on two of the album tracks). 'Noite Em Branco' and 'Shuva' are one step further into pop for both of them. This beautiful poppish vocal house that's not just made for feeling and listening, but it's also a must to dance to. We count on you. The remix of the title track is done by none other than the outstanding Swedish master of electronic music: Hakan Lidbo. The Stockholm based producer is something like the 'living producer machine' of the minimal world. There is no day without a new track or remix by this workaholic. And the good part is: the quality is still incredibly high for each release. His latest release was on Shitkatapult. Hakan Lidbo arranged the uplifting original 'Electronic Music Machine' as a dark, morbid, zombieske suicide anthem. Wonderful. We are full of angst."

HAGEDORN: Miss Construction LP (ONITOR 2). $15.00

"Wolfgang Hagedorn, member of the Cologne-based Computerjockeys, has taken to the 'straight' bassdrum (and it is not only fans from Cologne who will keep their ears open for results). While his main project is characterised by syncopal fragments, preferring a more glamorous 'big beat'-style, his solo work marks a return back to dark basement clubs. Minimal and pumping, the tracks — in a 4-to-the-floor-manner — force to dance. The cool and elegant sounds creep into subconscious and - in combining pressure and deepness — make you tab with your feet. Understatement-Electro-House, heavily demanding, but without rubbing at your legs. Teutonic and rectilinear in one way, but not without some jazzy shuffling in between. Cologne-style, though without voluntarily fit-ting into this musical context right away. Wolfgang Hagedorn's musical background, leading from across East-coast-Hip Hop to Jeff Mills, has inspired him to involve a combination of both mind and body. He is well able to incorporate abstract functionality and the odd earthy request to 'move your body'. Listening to 'Miss Con-struction', it is plain to see and hear: There is no contradiction in com-bining two poles which otherwise seem so different. Despite of wide-spread journeys into sampling, the tracks remain homogeneous while persisting inside the originally intended sound idea. Hagedorn's music offers a synthesis of dissociated listening and raving affirmation."

DITHERS/JOHNNY LARUE, SID: The Second City EP 12" (ONITOR 20). $9.00

"And here we go: please welcome Mr. Mike Shannon on Onitor. By his side is another Canadian techno superstar: Jeff Milligan (aka Johnny Larue aka Algorithm), Shannon's Revolver label partner. Revolver — also as great techno label which releases we appreciate a lot. A split-EP. 4 tracks which are as good as the last releases of the Toronto boys. Shannon should be known from his last year's release on Force Inc. Music Works, the Frankfurt based techno über label. Slight Of Hand, his debut album, had some great funky rocking techno tracks to spin. On one hand very minimal, on the other as maximal as you could get within the genre borders. Definitely in your face. Jeff Milligan already released on the German label Background, which is based in Düsseldorf. His tracks symbolize the ice age in our small minimal world. Very complex mathematic style — but still danceable."

LAMAS, GUSTAVO: Lejos 12" (ONITOR 21 EP). $9.00

"Gustavo Lamas cultivates a melancholic techno-soul. And not just since yesterday. He did a track for the critically acclaimed compilation Elektronische Musik Aus Buenos Aires (on Cologne Traum label), and he was the first of the featured artist to release a complete solo album shortly after. 'Celeste' embodies influences from almost opposite cultures. More releases for Traum and Kompakt followed. Now however Gustavo has found a new home at Onitor records — and we feel very proud."

LAMAS, GUSTAVO: Brotes CD (ONITOR 22 CD). $16.00

"The importance of typically European sounds in Lamas' sampling (samplers are his only tools) can't be overstressed, yet his South American roots will always shine through. With his very personal musical coordinates he creates a surreal tension and projection of space that seems to have materialized out of some parallel universe: that's what we mean when we say 'music for a different reality'. Lamas gets his main input from dub and techno — a combination that is typical for labels in Berlin, such as Basic Channel or Scape. With Celeste he sought a new perspective oscillating between the excitement of South American percussion eroticism and a rather European soberness of sound. A fascinating hybrid of minimal electronica and sound research. Lamas' work stands for melancholy, devotion and self-restraint. Whereas his earlier work wasn't exactly suitable for the dance-floor his new stuff will make dancers very happy. Listen and rave."

DEADBEAT VS. STEPHEN BEAUPRE: It's A Crackhaus Thing CD (ONITOR 23 CD). $16.00

"Having originally met in 1999, Stephen Beaupre and Scott Monteith have been involved in various creative projects, beginning the same year with the development of the (now defunct) Covert Ops multimedia collective, which engaged in various event/installation projects in and around the Montreal area, focusing on real time audio and video performance, and the development of new interfaces merging these two mediums. Inspired by the micro sampling work of fellow Montrealian Akufen (Marc Leclair), and international luminaries such as Matthew Herbert, Monteith and Beaupre began the Crack Haus project in 2002 in the interest of further exploring the use of unconventional sound sources (found sounds) within the confines of traditional house and techno aesthetics, and the development of new multi-user performance interfaces. The main concept of the project is based on pure and simple fun, with as little serious chin scratching as possible while constantly attempting to push the envelope a little. The material on their Onitor debut CD is a mix of solo production of the two of them as well as traditional Crackhaus collaborations."

VA: Politronics CD (ONITOR 24 CD). $16.00

"With Politronics onitor tries to give an empiric impression of something discussed in the media since 2001 as the re-politicism of music. By choosing the artists for this compilation the premier musical field was electronic music — not as a matter of fact that we do see guitar music as an old paradigm, this is just a result of the general orientation of our label: Onitor is known since 1999 as a label dedicated to electronic music in its several playgrounds. It is very important for us to show how big the variety in the field of political electronic music is. The same variety is recognizable the way they include politics in their work." Artists: Schneider TM remixing Pulseprogramming, agf, Gudrun Gut / Thomas Fehlmann, Lawrence, Pawel, Scanner, Radio Boy, Mouse on Mars, Terre Thaemlitz, VVM, Schorsch Kamerun, Milch, Stella.

DUPLEX 100: Shooting Star 12" (ONITOR 25). $9.00

"Duplex 100 are Phil Stumpf and Sam Rouanet. Since 1999, they are working together as DJs and producer — since then they have managed to become one of the most renowned French duos, very influential for the Parisian minimal house scene. Their sets and tracks are funky minimalism par excellence. Duplex 100 are not only the resident DJs of the Nouveau Casino in Paris, they are also hosting a night called: Minimal Dancin. Within the last two years they invited a lot of artists from the German minimal house scene: people like Antonelli Electr., Benjamin Wild, Falko Brocksieper, T.Raumschmiere, Gebr. Teichmann, Sascha Funke, Oh., The Modernist — as well as lots of international guests: Jeff Milligan, Jeremy P. Caulfield, Metro Area, Readymade FC, Swayzak, and lots more."

VA: Pigeon Funk Remixed 2LP (ONITOR 26 LP). $18.00

"Pigeon Funk Remixed comes not only with brand new remixes of the EP-material (by Ark, Carsten Aermes, Joachim Spieth, Napoli Is Not Nepal, Solovyev / Watson Mcletus, Wobbly), it also includes new tracks by Safety Scissors and Sutekh. When people share a flat you never know what can happen. There's one flat in California however, out of which two of the most advanced laptop musicians have emerged: Safety Scissors and Sutekh, a.k.a. Matthew Patterson Curry and Seth Horvitz. Safety Scissors has released many great tracks in the last couple of years which have been put out on labels such as Plug Research, Context and Cytrax. Sutekh with his own label Context represents the vivid powerbook scene of the west coast Bay Area. Luckily their brilliant music is easy to find around these parts thanks to the active distribution policy of Force Inc. Seth's production efforts cover a wide range of different musical approaches: deconstructive and abstract, broken up and funky, dubby and minimal-housy, energetic and technoid. Nothing's impossible. Everything's euphoric."

PIGEON FUNK: Proptronix Presents CD (ONITOR 27). $17.00

Co-release between Onitor and Proptronix. Pigeon Funk = Kit Clayton, Sutekh and Safety Scissors. "Scattered in the streets, seeming to wander aimlessly, pigeons populate every city in the world; and as they possess the element of surprise and the advantage of flight, humans may be in danger; these commonly disregarded street fowl have been cleverly conspiring world domination. Recent discoveries reveal that Kit Clayton, Sutekh and Safety Scissors are in cahoots with the special species of bird. Now released to the public are all the bird-brained schemes these boys came up with to aid the ornithologic overtake. This CD collects vinyl only releases on Proptronix and Onitor, cacophonous quibbles and quarrels previously suppressed to the DJ underground. It compiles material from the very first Proptronix EP, and Onitor releases. Initially masked and marketed as innocent dance music for pigeons, the audio is in fact a subversive assortment of electronics; beak bobbing techno to talon thrashing electro to feather fluffing noise, the music is engineered for dancing, sitting or any sort of intermediary poise between. Similar to a bird with its simple nervous system, the music has a hard time sitting still while perched up high on a telephone wire. San Franciscans Kit, Sutekh and Safety are each known for demonstrating their own dynamic range on a range of labels including Context, Orthlorg, Plug Research, Scape-, and Force Inc. and another aviary ally, Wobbly (of Tigerbeat 6 fame and frequent People Like Us collaborator) appears with a remix of your bird last year. Two videos appear on the CD as quick-time movies: a magical illustration of 'Mocito' by Ruben Fleischer, who has made music videos for Gold Chains, Ellen Allien, and DJ Format, and a narrative about two jailbirds set to fly the coop from Luis Briceno of Metronomic, creator of videos for Console and Notwit. Pigeon Funk will land on your head and the boy/bird band just might best the humans after all."

STAVÖSTRAND & SKUGGE: Rheinsberger EP 12" (ONITOR 28). $10.00

"Minimal and Mitek sounds not only great together, it really belongs together. Label owner Mikael Stävöstrand has managed within the last years to establish himself in the centre of the minimal genre as an important keyplayer — and the best: it happened in a very subtle and decent way. Besides his releases for labels like Force Inc and Mille Plateaux his own label imprint Mitek was the most impressive argument on this way. Not only we Onitor guys are fans now. Everybody loves the sympathetic Swedish folks. As a matter of the fact that Stävöstrand is now living in Germany it was only a question of time until we meet up and decide a special collaboration. And here we go: Stävöstrand and his label act and best buddy Johan Skugge join Onitor — at least for an EP. How great is this? And the music is for sure even much greater than the single news. An amazing 4-tracker. Nice dubby minimal tracks, which sound very dry on the first impression, but are really clubby in their deep clicks'n'frickel style — music you know from old Basic Channel records. Not to miss: this special warm feeling within the music and these significant melodies. All listeners realize pretty soon: these two know exactly which sound they love and want to produce."

ESTORNEL: Pusher 12" (ONITOR 29EP). $9.00

"This name — sounding like an oil company (an association which comes easily up cause the two of them are from George Bush Senior & Jr. country Dallas) — describes the producer symbiose of Bernhard Pucher and Eric 'Maetrik' Estornel. As a result of this combination it is no wonder that the tracks on this EP sound different to the 'normal' Maetrik tracks: what does not mean that the bassline is not also catching your legs immediately, shake you wild and heavy with its weird cut-up-sound — at the same time dubby-minimal and poppy like hell. These tracks want all of you. If Estornel is a child of the minimal generation, got tech-house tattooed on his arm, the strings of Detroit techno always in his pocket and pop always in his head, Pucher is willing to bring up some heavy distortion in the project: you can easily hear early industrial moments and the wisdom of noise as a result of his presence. The additional remix to this EP comes from Stuttgart producer and Onitor darling Björn Stolpmann."

CHECKSUM: From The Beginning of the World LP (ONITOR 3). $15.00

"Deconstructed electronic neo-dub from San Francisco. Naked, warm and personal." Played and recorded by Greg Freeman and Jeff Palmer (Pell Mell), in what could be described by morons as a "post-Chicago style". Released in collaboration with Hausmusik, an odd record, presented in rather attractive fashion.

WADA, TAKASHI: Meguro CD (ONITOR 30CD). $16.00

"If there is a specific person (besides the genre grounding Kompakt people) the genre pop-ambient is made for than this 21years old Japanese wonder boy. Wada's fingers just wanna play. They flow over the keyboard / piano, they feel the world on the topic of this instrument, they understand the world in this micro-cosmos and manage to create a magic, very own interpretation of the big picture, with all its beauty and clearness. Electronic music is mainly based on a learning by doing wisdom and the principle 'happening by accident'. Wada is no member of this school. In his world the significant melodies and harmonies are intuitive, inspired, but over all they base on knowledge. A lot of theoretical knowledge. Knowledge on the effects of music on its listeners. A brief story of his life: born in Fukushima Japan, he was mainly living and being socialized in Tokyo. When he was 16 he started a world tour in the name of music. First he studied jazz guitar, Bossanova and music theory in New York. When he was 19 he moved to Paris for university — with a short London interruption —, where he studies classic piano, still jazz guitar and for sure French and all the bohemian life style between cafe au lait and louvre. Wada's music is very much influenced by space, architecture, city, land scape, animals, people and the sound of living, the sound which comes out naturally. He listens to any kind of music. He likes the sound of the piano overall. Wada feels and interprets our modern world. These interpretations were never released before. Onitor is happy and proud to release the debut album of this amazing musician. We all will have a lot of great moments with Wada's brilliant compositions in the future. Word."

GRINGO GRINDER: Breakfast Included CD (ONITOR 31CD). $16.00

"Oh! Canada. ...once again. How intense the relationship between Onitor and the so called '51 state of America' (the Americans just include them as another state so that their fear of the Canadians intellect can be closely monitored by Big Brother) is, inspired by the beautiful electronic music movement of Canada. It's made obvious: Tomas Jirku, Robin Judge, Mike Shannon, Jeff Milligan, Crackhaus (Deadbeat & Stephen Beaupre), all of them are now in our haus. And now Shelbono 'Barracuda' del Monte. Better known as minimal-hedonist Pan/Tone...or as it says on his passport: Sidney Sheldon Lerock. From now on in the Onitor cosmos he is called Gringo Grinder (this pseudonym appeared first as a track title on a Revolver EP Quien es su Papa, Mama Fina?). But that was from another time. He finally rid himself of all the barriers of his earlier stock broker lifestyle. So at 30, he did decide to quit his safe existence, take the risk of the unsure. Yes...we all should fight against the safe existence. Shelbono has dug deep within and Gringo Grinder is who he found to reflect is true nature. Nothing is more dangerous than the early still stance as a result of angst). His mission is to rock without any borders. Most importantly with a whiskey in his hand and in a smoke filled club. Favourite place: on stage. Everybody gets sweet to his electro-influenced techno- sex monsters that he has unleashed upon us and so we dance away the night in pleasure. If there is no tomorrow, only today will know better."

GRINGO GRINDER: Stiletto Rock 12" (ONITOR 32). $9.00

"Some more tracks for a 12", which will also feature remixes by his buddies Ada Und and Jake Fairley. We didn't feel this sweet since our last breakfast in bed. This is the soundtrack for a hot night in the red light district of Tokyo."

VA: Von Uns: Oni.tor Label Compilation CD (ONITOR CD1). $15.00

"CD sampler of previous/forthcoming releases & exclusive remixes from this well-saavy Stuttgart based label. Artists herein include Hagedorn (exactly 1/2 of the Computerjockeys on Harvest, producing quite a bang), Joachim Spieth (streamlined pulse-sounds from the Kompakt stable), Checksum (sorted post-dub instrumentals from Greg Freeman & Jeff Palmer), Solovoyev (Kosmische techno epics), and Varga & Baumann. As ideally eclectic as one could hope for in 77 minutes' play. Poised on greatness this label is, let me tell you." — Hrvatski.

OR (UK):

VA: Or: Some Computer Music CD (OR ISSUE1). $12.50

"The first in a series of computer music releases — issue 1 CD + 24pp booklet. Featuring exclusive recordings from: Aphex Twin (UK), Beautyon (UK), cd_slopper [Hecker] (Germania/Austria), General Magic (Austria), Kevin Drumm (USA), Stephen Travis Pope (USA), Trevor Wishart (UK), Ubik [Joe Linschinger] (Austria), Zbigniew Karkowski & Kasper T. Toeplitz (Everywhere)."

OR SOME COMPUTER MUSIC: Issue 2 CD (OR ISSUE2). $12.50

"The second issue of Or's computer music audio magazine; as w/ issue 1 = CD + 24pp booklet. Alberto de Campo (Austria), farmersmanual (Austria), Jim O'Rourke (USA), Phoenecia (USA), Curtis Roads (USA), Atau Tanaka/Eric Wenger (Japan), Tom Wallace (UK). Or's computer music audio magazine aims to expose to the listener the current developments in the age-old field of computer music, from both the academic world thru to some of the more underground desktop activists."

CD_SLOPPER: SaskieWoxi CD (OR JODEL10). $12.50

"CD_Slopper is the file 'working-name' for the Computer Music unit of Oswald Berthold and Florian Hecker. Hecker and Ost first met in 1995/96 at the MEGO office in Vienna. Both familiar with Computers and DSP processes of both academic and autodidactic influences, they grabbed their first mobile computer when Apple released the first PowerPC laptop ever, the PowerBook 5300! On the first Mego tour [1997] it was their only weapon, maybe some CD's and 12" included, they... Finding spare time between their tour schedules, they either met in each other's studio, working on different computer platforms as SG/UNIX, LINUX and Mac OS to produce this release. SaskieWoxi is cd_slopper's first multi-media release. This CD+ contains 44 audio tracks plus static as well as dynamic HTML/text/pics/Java executables. The results as you will experience are different & superior to the infantile and wagon-jumping-rhizomesque-abstract-modulated-glitch hy-parody-shitty-plugin-in music. Just have a listen. SaskieWoxi is Computer Rave Music. Full of energy, fine rhythms that fit in anyone's DJ set, high quality midrange sound that you can hear on your Walkman, MP3 player or in-car HiFi anytime. A work that reflects the world and the way we experience it."

VA: OR MD Comp. CD (OR JUST13). $12.50

"File under: computer music/contemporary composers/new media/noise/difficult. Over 73 minutes of superior, challenging and critical audio. 24 exclusive recordings. OR finally makes available what was recently unearthed from somewhere in the nasty void that was created by the 2k millenniumism and the aftermath of 9/11. The OR MD COMP. includes contributions from a selection of artists who all have previously released materials on OR. Farmersmanual (DE) hot on the heels of their RLA DVD release on Mego [Mego 777] give us both extreme computer music and extracted highlights from a 'recent live action'. Francisco López (ES) locates us more 'absolute concrete music'. Shirttrax (UK) vaporize material from their previous OR release Good News About Space [OR, lip 9]. Gescom (UK) shed their Autechre guise and provide us with more digital walkman essentials. Incapacitants (JP) recover from their Unauthorised Fatal Operation 990130 [OR, CDR]. Hecker (DE) flosses our brains again. MAZK (JP/PO) offer probably the last joint recording between Masami Akita and Zbigniew Karkowski. A great companion to their SPL CD [OR, if 2]. Although originally intended as a MD release it now appears as a CD in 4 colour digipak, revealing the faces of the 'caught on film' anonymous sheffield psycho ravers who relentlessly attempted to convince farmersmanual to give them a 'bassline, bassline bassline...'"

SHIRT TRAX: Good News About Space CD (OR LIP9). $12.50

"Shirt Trax are Mark Fell (Sheffield, member of SND of Mille Plateaux) and Jeremy Potter (Brighton). All of their tracks involve the use of the computer as a performance tool. However they didn't wish to use some complex software or system, or spend ages programming structures to generate sound. So lots of what you hear is what can be done on a sampler in real time, or in a sequencer in real time. And although most of the material is edited down, there are no overdubs or pre-programmed structures. This is done in the interest of discovering in the ways technology is used. Like when a designer thinks of an interface, and is planning out a way for you to work. But who wants to do what some synth designer told them? When you watch a child play, suddenly a fork can be talking to a lego horse about something. And it's interesting when someone picks up something and plays around with it like this, because you don't just discover a new way of saying things, you actually invent new things to say. Not so much about the aesthetics of digital glitches or broken systems. And although aware of it, the band is not overly interested in the academic history of what it's doing. The result is a sound like The Human League meet Farmers Manual."

LOPEZ, FRANCISCO: Untitled #89 CD (OR RELEASE 11). $12.50

"Full length CD in CD single case with no print of any kind (in accordance with the wishes of the artist), continuing his series of untitled works. Previous labels who have released his work include Asellus, Geometrik, Noteworks, Prefeed, Staalplaat, Table of the Elements, Trente Oiseaux, V-2, and Zwerg."

FARMERS MANUAL: fscd CD (OR SLUMP8). $12.50

New jewel box pressing, previously released on the Tray label. "Pure electronic dementia. Like the General Magic and Pita releases on Mego, this pushes sound to it's limits. Points of comparison are completely elusive. Frenetic beats jostle with shards of blistering electronic noise and all manner of high strangeness. Farmers Manual seem to have absorbed and savagely mutated elements of drum 'n' bass and techno and transmuted them via a diseased sonic alchemy that is curiously original and as effective as it is infectious."

FARMERS MANUAL: Explorers We CD (OR SQUISH4). $14.50

New pressing of the third Farmers Manual CD, following releases on Mego & Tray. "Following their highly acclaimed 2nd CD, fscd on Tray, Farmers Manual got to work with their bare hands and produced Explorers We on OR. One constantly changing track with 60 PQ start points, making full use of your dusty shuffler button... Ost, one of the Farmers, called it 'a sinewave massacre'. "A soprano voice sings notes that never arrange themselves into a melody, that fall apart in the same way as dead proteins...." —Thomas Pynchon, Gravity's Rainbow.

ELIN (STUTZPUNKT WIEN 12): UFO Beobachtungen CD (OR UNLESS1). $12.50

First release on the Touch-affiliated label OR. First appeared on double vinyl as Mego 003 (Vienna, 1995). Digitally remastered, this unadulterated epic of minimal techno was recorded by Elin, who also functions as Auto Repeat on SSR/Crammed."

ORAC (GERMANY):

(A)PENDICS.SHUFFLE: The Lavender Neglect EP 12" (ORAC 008EP). $9.00

"(A)pendics shuffle is Ken Gibson, also known as Eight Frozen Modules. In '02 and '03 he released two brilliant, restless full-lengths with Orthlorng Musork. Always on the move, Ken has been turning his attention to dance music lately, pushing the four-on-the-floor into the post-IDM world. In The Lavender Neglect, Ken takes bits from house music: a vocal here, a guitar there, cuts them down until the merest references remain, and uses these digital scraps to build up an army of new frankensounds that run off, stomping and creaking and lurching to the beat."

PRONSATO, BRUNO: Silver Cities CD (ORAC 009CD). $16.00

"In another lifetime, Bruno Pronsato (Seattle producer Steven Ford) drummed for Texas speed-metal/punks Voice of Reason. But then he had his head split open by My Bloody Valentine, Gang of Four, Electric Company, death-metal titans like Venom, Slayer, and Napalm Death. While establishing his rep as Seattle's foremost sculptor of powerful, electronic abstractions, Ford dabbled with dance music production under the Bruno Pronsato moniker. What began as a lubricious lark to get the ladies bumpin' and grindin' became Ford's primary obsession. Over the last year, Bruno's live sets emerged as fist-pumping demonstrations of heady sound design and hedonism. Listened to on headphones, this album will turn your gray matter purple and periwinkle with its panoply of unusual organic and digital sounds deftly arranged as if by a g4-tanned Teo Macero. Heard on a big club system, silver cities — especially hard-driving Pantytec-with-a-phd stompers like 'Kuche' and 'Read Me' — will get thongs snapping in approval while fellow producers in the house will marvel at the wealth of exploratory textures and bizarre moods animating cuts like 'Women in Large Coats' and 'Viaje a La Luna.' Whether you scratch your chin or shake your ass to it, silver cities gives you more sonic nutrition than you deserve over its 43 minutes. Few minimal tech-house full-lengths deliver such maximal impact. 'One of the reasons techno or minimal techno is such a force in my life,' Ford says, 'is because it is music that is working with a predefined set of rules, namely 4/4 time. Much like the 12-tone composers who had to work within their tone rows, techno producers are also working within a set of boundaries. I think it's quite a challenge to come up with something creative within a set of pre-established rules. It makes me think a little harder about what I can do.' Silver Cities offers irrefutable proof of what Bruno Pronsato can do. In this album's wake, tech-house's tried-and-true formulas suddenly seem under-cooked."

PRONSATO, BRUNO: Silver Cities 2LP (ORAC 009LP). $16.00
Double LP version.

ORANGE DOUBLEDOME:

JACKS, THE: Live 68'7'24 LP (OD 3001). $35.00

First reissues on a new, ambitious "gray-area" label; the marketing plan mentions targeting "a very secretive and mysterious group of extremely fat and dangerous men". Hard to argue with that... "Originally released in an edition of only 200 copies in Japan in 1968, this legendary psych group's rarest record is made readily available at last in a very limited, numbered edition. Housed in an eye-popping, four-paneled sleeve, which unfolds into a giant poster. More need not be said, right? Limited to 500 numbered copies. Originals: $1500+."

MOORE & FRIENDS, JEFF: The Youngest Son LP (OD 3002). $30.00

"Along with Bent Wind and the 1st Christmas album, this is the rarest Canadian LP from the 60's/early 70's, and is seeing its first-ever reissue here on Orange Doubledome. The music is fragile, dreamy folk-rock originally conceived as a high school project. Issued in a silk-screened sleeve duplicating the original artwork. Strictly limited to 300 numbered copies. Originals: $1500."

EIH, ALK & BROTHER CLARK, DAMIN: Nevermind LP (OD 3003). $28.00

"The old British reissue of this didn't get too far, so here it is again 20 years later in an officially sanctioned, better-sounding and better-looking reissue. Mystic, thoroughly dosed higher key psychedelia — think Zervas meets Bobb Trimble and you're somewhere in the lysergic ballpark. Limited to 300 numbered copies. Originals: $1000."

FIREBEATS: Firebeats Inc. LP (OD 3005). $28.00

"One of the rarest and most valuable beat albums ever released, and, surprisingly enough, one of the very best! No shit. Killer Norwegian mid-60's rock reminiscent of the Fab Four, Searchers, Motions, et.al. Nearly all 20 songs (the original LP plus 6 bonus tracks) are original tunes, and most of them are absolutely fantastic. Not the least bit psychedelic, but you need this more than you know. Original artwork, very limited edition of 375 numbered copies."

ORANGE MOUNTAIN:

VA: New Music New York 1979 from the Kitchen Archives 2CD (OMM 015CD). $17.00

"Founded in New York in 1971, The Kitchen is internationally known as a leading center for video, music, dance, performance, new media and literature. Orange Mountain Music has begun the restoration of audio reels from performances at The Kitchen with the goal of producing a series of CDs entitled From The Kitchen Archives: New Music, New York 1979, the debut release in this series, is a two-disc set offering re-mastered recordings from the landmark concerts of 'New Music, New York: A Festival of Composers and their Music,' which took place in SoHo June 8-16, 1979. 25 years later, these recordings are an invaluable time-capsule — a privileged view/listen into a historic event, initially heard by only a few hundred people. Beyond their historic value, they offer brilliant and exciting music by composers now considered masters of the genre, as well as remarkable performances by figures nearly forgotten. Composers featured include Steve Reich, Michael Nyman, Meredith Monk, Pauline Oliveros, Philip Glass, Jon Gibson, Garrett List, Gordon Mumma, George Lewis, Tom Johnson, Charlie Morrow, Barbara Benary, Phil Niblock, David Behrman, Joel Chadabe, Tony Conrad, Charlemagne Palestine.

ORANGE TWIN:

ELYSE: Elyse CD (OTR 01). $12.00

"Originally released on Tetragrammaton in 1968, Elyse is the sole release by Toronto's Elyse Weinberg, a collection of folk/bar-rock tunes with a medieval bent. Though the cover art, the Bert Jansch tune and other signs (e.g. the liner notes) might hint that this could be a 'Holy Grail' of sorts, there is little here that really adds up to a record that's going to set your flares on fire. Elyse's 'pretty and melodic/desperate and ragged' singing takes a bit more getting used to than one would hope, and the whole thing has that 'last call for alcohol' vibe that wears pretty thin... Neil Young does add some piffy guitar to one track and Collin Walcott (Bobby Callender's The Way, and about 50 Oregon records) plays some sitar. Read between the lines, from Orange Twin's proprietor: "I hope you all enjoy this magical and wonderful album, a true lost classic, and one of the best albums of the 1960's or any other time!" — Billy Kiely

ORANGE TWIN FIELD WORKS: Vol. 1 CD (OTR 03). $12.00

"Jeff Mangum (one of the three founders of this 'collective' and lead singer/songwriter of Neutral Milk Hotel) expands the predominantly pop-based canon with a unique new series of field recordings. Orange Twin Field Works, Vol. 1 is the first release of this series and is comprised of edited melodies and rhythms recorded almost entirely en route to and from and at the Koprivshtitsa festival in Bulgaria. Mangum's 'voice' expresses itself thru the choice of how, who, and what he recorded and by the care taken in the arrangement of the collected music. Amazingly hi-fi, the album is a mixture of angelic harmonies, highly energetic rhythms, and ripping horn and accordion solos in a similar style as the The Secret Museum of Mankind records. Mangum has beautifully collaged soundscapes of Bulgaria in between the songs of this album, increasing the intimate, on-site, feel that this album gives its listener. Bulgarian music is spiritual and passionate and Mangum is known for the same qualities in his own song-writing."

NEUTRAL MILK HOTEL: Everything Is CD (OTR 05). $8.00

"This is a reissue of the classic EP with an added previously unreleased bonus track, 'Tuesday Moon,' from the same era of the band. The record was originally released by Fire Records in Europe only. Many of the tracks off this record have multiple parts making this four song EP almost the length of a full album. It captures the early sounds of Neutral Milk Hotel with amazing production qualities similar to the bands debut full length album, On Avery Island."

ORIGINAL MUSIC (UK):

SHERMAN/HORACE ANDY/U BLACK, BIM: In A Rub A Dub Style LP (OM 013 LP). $13.00

"This early 80's album has been out of print for quite some time, and at last it has been repressed. Vocals shared by the late Bim Sherman, Horace Andy and U Black. Six tracks plus their dub versions mixed by Prince Jammy. Produced by Jah Woosh."

HOLT, ERROL: Vision Of Africa LP (OM 038 LP). $13.00

"Recorded at Channel One studio and produced by Jah Woosh during the late 70's. A rare vocal offering from the Roots Radics bassist."

KING TUBBY AND FRIENDS: Sound System Dub Vol. 1 LP (OM 039 LP). $13.00

"From the stable that brought us the Sensi Dub series, Original Music come forward with Sound System Dub Volume 1. A collection of previously unreleased dubs from the vaults of King Tubby, Errol 'ET' Thompson, King Jammy and co."

ORPHEUS RECORDS (DENMARK):

TRIMBLE, BOBB: Life Beyond The Doghouse LP (ORPH 005). $22.00

"It's a very rare experience to be sucked into such an honest and fragile universe as Bobb Trimble's. A space of its own, a musical experience on the other side of what people usually define as proper behavior. Psychedelic folk, real-people music, religious visions. It's hard to label Bobb's music. Life Beyond the Doghouse consists of previously unreleased studio recordings from 1983 and 1986. On side 1 Bobb is backed by his old backingband Violent Reactions from the LP Iron Curtain Innocence from 1980. Six years haven't made the music more mainstream. It's so dark and it's so lonely. The songs are desperate and have a strange dreamy atmosphere. Bobb is floating like an untouchable ghostlike entity through the darkness. And the voice... scary! Crippled Dog Band on side two is recordings from 1983. Fuzzguitar with adlib phaser. Uncontrolled microphone to all bandmembers. Punkrock attitude from first on. Psychedelic folkpunk with a lot of sounds that's really not supposed to be there. In spite of nearly 20 years in the cupboard it sounds just as fresh as on the day it was recorded."

GOLD CHAINS: Live At The Beta Lounge v.1 DVD (BETA 001 DVD). $16.00

"A unique Gold Chains performance shot live in San Francisco at the legendary Beta Lounge studios. For the first time anywhere, Gold Chains rocks the party with a backup band and surprise guests that freak the funk inna techno/punk/rap/tronic style. Now you can check the crowd surfing, buckets of sweat, jam-packed dance-your-ass-off crazy scene from the comfort of your living room. Includes the infamous 'I come from San Francisco' video and the video for his new single 'The Game'." Format: NTSC region free DVD, with DVD-ROM audio player.

MATHIEU & EKKEHARD EHLERS, STEPHAN: Heroin + Remixes 2CD (ORTH 012 CD). $15.00

Remixers: Josef Suchy, Nobukazu Takemura, Freiband, Kit Clayton, Christian Fennesz, Oren Ambarchi, Carmen Baier and Akira Rabelais. "Orthlorng Musork are proud to re-release Stephan Mathieu and Ekkehard Ehlers' 2001 classic Heroin, remastered and with an additional CD/LP of remixes by an all star line up of artists. First released on Brombron in 2001. Recorded and produced in seven days between Christmas 2000 and the dawn of 2001, Heroin features a suite of recordings produced in Extrapool's typical rock'n'roll rehearsal space (think trash, beer cans and cigarette stubs — hence the title). Fifty minutes of the warmest sounds imaginable, it bears all the trademarks of its two collaborators: melodies distilled to their essence buried in gently crackling soundscapes; slowly unfolding musical journeys; and the unmistakably warm sounds of forgotten technologies — old amplifiers, hissing softly. To accompany this re-release Mathieu and Ehlers have commissioned a series of 'extensions' (Brief: 'Continue the 'Heroin' story') by an all star line up of artists including: Fennesz [Mego, Touch]; Kit Clayton [Orthlorng Musork, Vertical Form, Scape]; Akira Rabelais [Ritornell, Fallt]; and Nobukazu Takemura [Thrill Jockey, Childisc]. Eight sublime tracks veering from the digital splatter of Takemura's 'Childs View' to the beautiful resonances of Fennesz' 'Codeine', five minutes of cascading guitar lines buried in his trademark shimmering haze. Perfect."

MATHIEU & EKKEHARD EHLERS, STEPHAN: Heroin + Remixes 2LP (ORTH 012 LP). $14.00

Double LP version, gatefold sleeve.

RABELAIS, AKIRA: ...Benediction, draw. CD (ORTH 016 CD). $13.00

"... Benediction, draw. is Akira Rabelais' third major work, a 71-minutes piece for electric guitar, processed with Argeiphontes Lyre, his very own audio software, consisting of a set of time domain filters performing esoteric algorithmic algorithms. In the best sense of a musique d'ameublement it shows itself as an acoustic state rather than a sonic wallpaper. Like his former offerings Elongated Pentagonal Pyramid and Eisoptrophobia (both to be found on Mille Plateaux' sister label Ritornell), ...Benediction, draw. is a true masterpiece of digital music, uncomparable with anything else around."

EIGHT FROZEN MODULES: The Abduction of Barry CD (ORTH 017 CD). $13.00

"Cuisinat symphonies for the rhythmically inclined. Darker, heavier, deeper than the first, Eight Frozen Modules abducts you along with the young Master Barry. Hopefully you'll make it back alive. As with his previous release Thought Process Disorder, The Abduction of Barry, is a frenzy of hyper-creative sound, edits, and beats — clearly the product of a disturbed mind. However, the playful schizophrenia present on 'Thought Process Disorder' has been overtaken by an overwhelming wave of fear, outlined with a painstakingly detailed hand. Required listening for friends of the darkside, Dario Argento movies, and the digital mess that lives in the wake of gabber-infused-IDM. Barry Vs. Jason? Who will win?"

AGF: Westernization Completed CD (ORTH 018 CD). $13.00

"Reordering the leftovers of e-poetry, AGF makes a break from both her native German tongue and abstract vocal content to explore new relationships between language and song. Drawing on a wide variety of inspirations, including fashion design, painting, cinematography and electronic correspondence, Westernization Completed is an expression of things happened. Layered exchanges between friends, memories, conflict. Expanding upon the intimacy characteristic of her first solo release, Head Slash Bauch, AGF exploits the editing process to weave together an intricate and compelling narrative about her life and her relationship with the world around her. A fabric of connections, coincidence, and collaboration." 2nd edition, now in a digipak, no longer comes with the book of artwork.

SECRET MOMMY: Mammal Class CD (ORTH 019 CD). $13.00

"The world of Secret Mommy opens its wings again to bring us his second full length on Orthlornng Musork. A world where everything is an instrument. Animals, pop-stars, appliances, house hold objects. Listen to a cat and Britney Spears duet as a bull plays a trumpet. In his world, everything is abused. Things are beaten, stretched and manipulated until a sound that can be mistaken for a melody is brought forth. Kids cheer, cowboys wale, and frogs sing. Secret Mommy takes his decade of experience in the Indy/Punk/Hardcore scene, adds the cynicism, wit and energy, sheds the artifice definitively of the genre and vomits day-care manipulations and tongue in cheek melodies upon celebrity doorsteps. You will dance."

CLAYTON, KIT: Latke 12" (ORTH 04). $6.00

"Scraping your head against the ground, you hear sounds you do not tend to find while scurrying amongst carefully constructed and willfully digested worlds. Gone is any sense of clarity. Puddles of knobs, twigs, paperclips, loose change, and other items unnamed. What you were listening for is sidestepped by environmental residue's unwavering determination to be heard. Background and foreground are reversed. And reversed again. And again. The pain in your ear makes difficult the distinction between senses, and as this confused sensation drips down your face, the aggression of scalding bathwater comforts you. It covers you, but does nothing to cleanse the infected surface of sound. Layer after layer falls away. Layer upon layer grows in place. The conflict between internal and external remains, but between the waves you sleep softly if not peacefully. Good night."

FULL SWING: [edits] CD (ORTH 05 CD). $13.00

"The [edits] CD represents the culmination of a limited edition 10" series during which Stephan Mathieu remixed the music of Monolake, Autopoieses, Laub, Yo la Tengo, Kit Clayton, Akira Rabelais, Ekkehard Ehlers, Antenne and Raumgestaltung Eins. Using a process which he describes as 'extracting homeopathic vibrations at their source' Stephan has absorbed, re-synthesized and re-emitted the compositions in a way that begs reflection from the listener. A sort of sleeping pill for the frenetic surroundings that most of us find ourselves in, the [edits] are an antidote to the overstimulated ear. Memory, manipulation, contemplation, regeneration."

FULL SWING: Edits 05.1 (Monolake/Antenne) 10" (ORTH 05.1). $6.00

"Sound is born and quickly fades. While timbral sediment lingers in both space and perception, the source is immediately transformed through the maintenance of the audible present. Memory struggles with the task of recording this present, in parallel to fabricating the simulated lives of previous presents. Edits is one such set of memory's labour. Based upon the recorded sounds of others, edits prolongs the originals through recreation where large time scale development gives the illusion of stasis — sound without death. although sound itself is fated, its offspring remain. A limited series of 10" records by Full Swing (Stephan Mathieu) with complete CD to follow. Antenne. [going nowhere] edit: a remix for the Danish triphop band made of material from their selftitled album on Korm Plastics. Monolake. [postcard] edit: source material taken from Monolake's Gobi CD on Imbalance."

FULL SWING: Edits 05.2 (Autopoieses) 10" (ORTH 05.2). $6.00

"Autopoieses. [ ] edit. Autopoieses. d03 edit. Made of two locked grooves from Autopoieses' double-12" La Vie A Noir transposed on Mille Plateaux."

FULL SWING: Edits 05.3 (Laub/Ekkehard Ehlers) 10" (ORTH 05.3). $6.00

"Laub. [weit weg] edit. Made for Berlin based Laub's Intuition Remixes album which was released by Kitty-Yo int. Ee. [spaeter] edit. A remix for the vinyl version of Ehlers' critically acclaimed Betrieb album for Mille Plateaux."

FULL SWING: Edits #4 10" (ORTH 05.4). $6.00

"The fourth in this 5-part 10" series features remixes of Yo La Tengo (Matador/USA) and Raumgestaltung Eins (a German quintet composed of moog, bass/guitar and trumpet). Following on the heels of his full length release Frequency Lib on Ritornel (Mille Plateaux/Germany) which was voted one of the best electronic music albums in The Wire's 2001 rewind, Stephan Mathieu offers another experiment in the microscopy of recorded sound. Approaching the remixes in an unconventional way, more often than not the source material is hidden in a warm fuzz or slowed down to a glowing haze of its original self...cooled out digital bliss that cracks and skips through existence."

FULL SWING: Edits #5 10" (ORTH 05.5). $6.00

"Orthlornng Musork finally offers up the last 10" record in the Full Swing (Stephan Mathieu) [edits] series. The series consists of five records in all, each a reworking of another artist's or band's music. The Kit Clayton remix has elements of Clayton's 'Latke' 12" (ORTH04) as well as excerpts from one of Mathieu's live performances. Apparently the last few moments of the track also include a sample from the Muppets' 'Never Before, Never Again' song, sung by Miss Piggy. The flip side was originally composed for Akira Rabelais's Eisotrophobia release, a project of audio/video pieces presented on DVD. A gentle piece, definitely the most minimal and the most elegant. It's a ghost of a track and drones subtlety along displaying more empty space than glitches."

TIMEBLIND: Rugged Redemption CD (ORTH 06 CD). $13.00

"Experimental in approach, lost in sound, but still twitching with rhythm, Chris Sattinger's music is an exact, high-tech, high-resolution rendering of a grainy, noisy, imperfect world. Rugged Redemption drops dub, pure techno and free jazz as its earthly reference points, varying from seriously-abstract hip-hop to sonic puddles of DSP haze. Continuing his obsession with elaborate equipment set ups, Sattinger has in recent years evolved into a computer programmer. His music is made within a personal ecosystem: A database is slowly taught to recombine musical ideas, object streams, processing functions and live recordings. Rather than relying on systematic random processes (which removes the credit from the composer and takes away all the fun), the system is designed to capture the artist, to reduce and recombine the human soul, to most fully experience the moment of being alive. Living in the electronically-disconnected city of Minneapolis, Sattinger's early music was made with saxophones, tape loops, pianos, Moogs, hucaps, and eventually samplers."

GOLD CHAINS: CD (ORTH 07 CD). $8.50

"Gold Chains is a rapper. This is not rap music. Gold Chains is to the electro/ techno/ rap guy community what Mao Tse Tung was to the fashion world. The songs are a wall of dense, calculated majesty. The attack is brutish but not without compassion. Where Gold Chains steps flowers bloom and young ladies with veils and mysterious eyes swoon and weep. Gold Chains beats up machines and breathes heavily at Zombie Studios somewhere in the heart of the Mission district of San Francisco. His solutions are precise. 'Jesus' says one innocent bystander, 'He sounds like ODB without the crack.'"

AGF: Head Slash Bauch LP (ORTH 08). $11.00

LP version.

AGF: Head Slash Bauch CD (ORTH 08 CD). $13.00

"agf. Antye Greie-Fuchs, vocalist for Laub (Kitty-yo), debuts her solo work on Orthlornng Musork with head slash Bauch, a suite of private moments — dimly lit meditations on technology and self. A departure from her more pop based work with Laub, head slash Bauch, resides in an aesthetic space which will be familiar to listeners of Mille Plateaux or Mego. Central to the album is Antye's beautiful voice and the technical text to which it gives new meaning. These whispers are surrounded by disquieting storms of tone and rhythm. In addition to her work with Laub, Antye Greie-Fuchs has been praised for her collaborations with Vladislav Delay (Electric Ladyland: click hop version 1.0, Mille Plateaux) and Mathias Schaffauser (Force Tracks)."

SUTEKH: Fell CD (ORTH 09 CD). $13.00

"Manipulating computers, samplers, synthesizers, broken radios, Scrabble pieces, and found sounds, San Francisco-based Sutekh has created everything from minimal house and techno to dense, dissonant noise collage. On this new album for Orthlornng Musork, techno inclinations give way to an even deeper exploration of texture and composition. Fell works primarily with acoustic sources, amplifying bits of recorded music and sound to discover, duplicate and modify hidden subtleties. Samples of instruments including piano, strings, and toy harmonica, are slowed down and digitally processed to uncover aspects otherwise unrecognizable in their original playback form. Also woven into the narrative is a disparate collection of field recordings, from stolen archives of corporate meetings to household objects and pets. An amalgam of composed and stolen melodies, free improvisation and noise. Fell represents Sutekh's most personal release to date."

SUTEKH: Fell LP (ORTH 09 LP). $11.00

LP version.

EIGHT FM: Thought Process Disorder CD (ORTH 10 CD). $12.00

"Ken Gibson, a.k.a. Eight Frozen Modules, has been spending too much time alone with the machines. For the past eight years and under several monikers, his maniacal electronic output has graced labels such as Phthalo, City Slang, LO Recordings, and Planet-Mu. Thought Process Disorder presents even more abrasive and disjointed beat music than previous recordings. A violent collection of harsh rhythms, DSP symphonies, and excessive editing, it expounds upon a vocabulary established by artists such as µ-siq, Alec Empire, and Aphex Twin."

EIGHT FM: Thought Process Disorder LP (ORTH 10LP). $12.00

LP version.

TIMEBLIND: Most Eye (Rastabomba Remixes) CD (ORTH 11 CD). $9.00

"Devastating dancehall remixes of this heavy hitter from Timeblind's full length, (Rugged Redemption) released last fall on CD only on Orthlornng Musork. Here the original is on vinyl for the first time along side remixes from Kid606, Kit Clayton, DJ Rupture and Timeblind himself. The CD version includes two bonus Timeblind mixes."

TIMEBLIND: Most Eye (Rastabomba Remixes) 12" (ORTH 11 EP). $8.00

12" vinyl version

SECRET MOMMY: Babies That Hunt CD (ORTH 14 CD). $13.00

"As was written upon the stone, 'Pop Will Eat Itself', and so it has, and proceeded to shit itself all over this humble and unwitting planet. Not that Pop is no more, but that the solid rock of virtue it once was, clasped tightly in the hands of the few, has been replaced by its fecal fragments who nest inside and feed upon the hopeless ideals of young children. Pretenders to the throne, Britney Spears, Jennifer Lopez, Justin Timberlake, satisfy the iconic charade that barely maintains order in the otherwise disrupted Culture Economy, but they are only figureheads of an era now past. Babies That Hunt is but the lone efforts of one of these struggling children, Secret Mommy. A contemporary Pop album in its own right, Babies That Hunt chronicles the blood thirsty environment in which it was produced, and serves as a historical folclum for the shame of Pop to come — the realization of which has been similarly fought for by Blectum From Blechdom, Dat Politics, FX Randomiz, and Kid 606."

SECRET MOMMY: Babies That Hunt LP (ORTH 14 LP). $12.00

Vinyl LP version.

ALEJANDRA AND AERON: Bousha Blue Blazes CD (ORTH 15 CD). $13.00

"Alejandra Salinas and Aeron Bergman, are well known for fine electronic works, field recordings, and critical thinking. In their latest work, Bousha Blue Blazes, they branch into a more acoustic musical field with the help of Aeron's grandmother Bousha. Elaine Ruth Pope, or Bousha as her grandchildren know her, has been a singer all her life. She played the lead role in the Detroit Conservatory's production of 'La Boheme' and has been a soloist in choirs since the 1950's. During a recent visit to Alejandra and Aeron at their home in Spain for Christmas 2001, the trio decided to play music together. The result is a peaceful haunting yet respectful blending of voice, electronics, guitar, piano and recordings of the Spanish Christmas season. However, this is not classical music. There are crystals and lush ribbons of song but the overall feel to the work is a flowing, composed yet organic atmosphere. The optimism of old Christmas blends with the optimism of new technology. This work is not afraid to be human. An acceptance of the conditions of living on earth, it is sometimes sad, sometimes romantic, but always alive — two generations coming together to blaze sounds."

OSCARR (FRANCE):

UTER: Tomorrow's Clowns 12" (TSOSC 007 EP). $9.00

"Let's face it, 'we are all prostitutes' so it's cool to have the finest tricks on the Glasgow sidewalks, Twitch & Wilkes aka Optimo, back in full force with a new release for their Optimo Singles Club & Related Recordings imprint OSCARR. New 12" comes courtesy of Uter, who's essentially Declan Roney with a new band recruits Martin Johnstone and Marcelline Smith joining recently. Intertwining the supreme influences of the Reid Brothers — The Jesus and Mary Chain — and Kraftwerk with his own off-kilter electro rocks instrumentals Declan reclaims a word of his own where feedback is replaced by electronic shreds and knob-twiddling by some rock'n'roll bravado."

OSTERRAED/WORLD SERPENT (UK):

OSTARA: Secret Homeland CD (OSTARA 1 CD). $18.00

"Ostara is the new project of Richard Leviathan and Timothy Jenn (formerly of Strength Through Joy). Departing from the generic style with which they have been previously associated, Ostara has developed a new and innovative musical orientation that may surprise (but will not disappoint) those familiar with STJ. Pondering the heroic and tragic figures of history and myth, Secret Homeland evokes an epic journey into the numinous landscape of the Occidental soul."

OTHER MINDS:

NANCARROW, CONLON: Lost Works, Last Works CD (OM 1002CD). $11.00

Year 2000 release. "After having produced, with Conlon Nancarrow, his complete works for player piano — first on LPs for Thomas Buckner's 1750 Arch Records label in Berkeley and then on CD for Wergo Schallplatten, Mainz — I regretted not having been able to complete the project with the very last works of this singular figure in 20th century music (and a seminal one for the 21st century). This recording is a step in that direction and I hope an illuminating one to those who are devotees of his masterful and intricately complex music, produced by hand-punching holes in virgin pianola rolls. In addition, there were occasional recordings Nancarrow sent me (and other friends) of his peripheral works: a Piece for Tape, a study for 'prepared' player piano, and his realizations for that instrument of his Sonatina for Piano and String Quartet No. 1, which he didn't wish to include in his published collections of studies but which kept coming up in conversation with his colleagues. As no retrospective overview of his work would be complete without these examples of his explorations, Other Minds offers them now in the spirit of investigation which prompted their creation." — Charles Amirkhania.

ANTHEIL, GEORGE: Antheil Plays Antheil 2CD (OM 1003/4). $17.00

Subtitled: The Rare SPA Recordings & Private Audio Documents 1942-1958. Year 2000 release. "Composer George Antheil (1900-1959) is most remembered for his mechanistic piano music hailed by 1920s Paris. The obsessive repetition of his Ballet Mécanique foreshadowed the entire minimalist movement. But by 1948, when he'd become the third most-played American-born composer of orchestral music, his style reflected a more emotional, more mature personality. This centennial collection highlights selections from Antheil's later 'neo-romantic' period — mostly reissued from the pioneering SPA label of conductor F. Charles Adler — and including the only recordings of Antheil himself at the piano. Also here are previously unreleased items that lend new insight into one of America's most engrossing mavericks."

VA: 10 + 2: 12 American Text Sound Pieces CD (OM 1006CD). $11.00

"At the time of its release in early 1975, unpitched speech was not taken for granted as musical material by composers, nor was there a widespread movement of sound poetry in the U.S. This now-legendary anthology, therefore, was a novelty and for some an inspiring revelation. Long prized by collectors (it has been out-of-print since 1984), this album of sound art made of spoken words inspired a burst of related activity during the decade of its circulation. A younger generation of American composers and poets began to adopt speech music, pre-dating rap, poetry slams, or even the storied emergence of performance artist Laurie Anderson. For each of the participants on this CD, the inspiration and permission to work in this medium came from entirely different sources. But the idea was in the air, and before the Seventies came to an end, the U.S. was filled with composers, poets, visual artists, performance artists, choreographers and others, enthusiastically embracing concepts that took root with the Dada experiments of Tzara, Hausmann and Schwitters in Europe half a century earlier. Thirty years after its first appearance, Other Minds is pleased to present the first CD version of 10 + 2. The original version on LP was only the second album (in a series of about 50) released on the now-defunct 1750 Arch Records label, founded by Thomas Buckner in Berkeley, CA." Artists: Charles Amirkhania, Clark Coolidge, John Cage, John Giorno, Anthony Gnazzo, Charles Dodge, Robert Ashley, Beth Anderson, Brion Gysin, Liam O'Gallagher, Aram Saroyan.

OTODISC:

HAT: DSP Holiday CD (OTO 00). $13.00

"Otodisc is proud to present the U.S. release of transcontinental supergroup HAT's 1998 classic, DSP Holiday. In case you've had too many Mai Tais and your memory is a little fuzzy, HAT is Harry Hosono, Atom Heart, and Tetsu Inoue — three audio travelers skilled in making hard-disc music accessible and fun. Originally released on Hosono's Daisyworld label, DSP Holiday is among these artists' finest releases. And yet, despite steady demand, it has never before been available outside of Japan. Time to fix that. DSP Holiday is a travelogue from the world's most exotic and relaxing locales. Released well before the current crop of laptop musicians made DSP a dirty word, DSP Holiday is still ahead of its time in combining organic and synthetic sounds, played and sampled instruments, and layers of artfully blurred digital processing. More than just squiggle and buzz, DSP Holiday incorporates state-of-the-art electronics into honest to goodness songs that are so enjoyable you won't realize how truly bizarre they are."

MILLER, AARON: Modularia CD/CD-ROM (OTO 01). $13.00

"Otodisc is proud to present the debut release from New York sound and video artist Aaron Miller. Modularia's 21 tracks were produced between 2000 and 2003. Many build upon works composed for video installations; in expanded form they reach far beyond the art gallery and into the pioneering acoustical spaces mapped by Tetsu Inoue, Peter Rehberg, and Paul 'Pimmon' Gough. Like those artists, Miller operates somewhere between the grit and bluster of analog and the peerless precision of digital. Using a mix of tools — antiquated noise generators, Max/MSP — he explores the degradation of sound through recursive processing. The results are alternately austere and lovely — and often, oddly, both at once. Modularia zigzags from past to present, drawing upon classic ambient, and invoking a range of moods, from the anti-aesthetic to the sentimental. Also included on Modularia is the QuickTime video 'Deep Field.' Miller's recent works for video include live accompaniment for Tony Conrad and Marina Rosenfeld."

OTP (UK):

WISHART, TREVOR: Tongues Of Fire CD (OTP 001). $12.50

A 25-minute CD EP from 1994, by this renowned UK tape/voice/concrete composer. "Explores our human aspirations and absurdities, through the musical transformation of the human voice. The slightly angry, disgruntled, comic mutterings with which the piece begins are the source of all the sounds, which appear in it: sounds suggesting drums, water, metallic resonances, fireworks, or entirely imaginary materials or events, all generated through processes of sound-transformation on the computer. 'Tongues of Fire' uses the whole range of sound-processing and sound-texturing tools available on the computer. Many new and non-standard techniques are used, such as constructive distortion (e.g. spectral tracing, waveshift distortion) and sound-shredding."

OUR CHOICE (GERMANY):

MOUSE ON MARS: Twift CD (RTD 3230 CD). $9.00

Classic 1997 EP, including "Twift," "Dark f.x. (drykorn)," "Twift (high llamas remix) & "Amiga Home".

MOUSE ON MARS: Twift 12" (RTD 3230 EP). $9.00*BROTZMANN, CASPAR: Mute Massaker CD (RTD 3362 CD). $15.00

"An air of desperation characterizes this music, born of Brötzmann's struggle to cut the excess and shoot straight for the heart. Hendrix's ghost is evident throughout, most obviously during the closing 'Woodstock Hymn,' while elsewhere Brötzmann's playing recalls Sonny Sharrock's pioneering jazz-noise guitar in Last Exit, the group he shared with Caspar's saxophonist father, Peter. However, the slow melancholy blues pieces are the real revelation, where Brötzmann picks out a trail with frail, slurring notes, like he's too hurt to full sound them. The same kind of world-weariness manifests itself in Japanese guitarist Keiji Haino's bruised soul music." — David Keenan/The Wire.

BROTZMANN, CASPAR: Mute Massaker 2LP (RTD 3362 LP). $15.00

Double vinyl version, full color sleeve, same 6 tracks as the CD.

MOUSE ON MARS: Distroia CD (RTD 3610 CD). $9.00

"One of the most respected electronic duos from Cologne release the first EP from their upcoming fourth album, which will be out in August. 'Distroia' contains 4 brand new tracks, two of which are different mixes of the title track. Mouse on Mars have got a world-wide success through their extravagant use of diverse sounds, bleeps and abstract beats.

MOUSE ON MARS: Niun Niggung LP (RTD 3611 LP). $9.00

[A handful of copies of the original German version, less tracks than the more recent Thrill Jockey version, different packaging, reduced price]

EINSTÜRZENDE NEUBAUTEN: Total Eclipse Of The Sun CD (RTD 3615 CD). $9.00

"Four brand new recordings from leading avantgarde band Einstürzende Neubauten since their last album, Ende Neu in 1996. 'Total Eclipse Of The Sun' is structured like a solar eclipse. A slow string corona is the sunbeam illuminating the darkness in the middle of the title track. It further develops with the slow sadness of 'Sonnenbarke,' resulting in 'Helium,' a typical Neubauten song, and ends with another version of the title track."

MOUSE ON MARS: Diskdusk CD (RTD 3621 CD). $9.00

New post-Niun Niggung single. Four track EP, "Diskdusk" is different edit of a track off the Niun Niggung album, the other three tracks are exclusive to this release ("Presenter", "Stammtick", "iconomix"). Full color digipack sleeve.

MOUSE ON MARS: Diskdusk 12" (RTD 3621 EP). $9.00*UNRUH, N.U.: Euphorie im Zeitalter der digitalen informationsübertragung CD (RTD 3707 CD). $15.00

AKA: Euphoria in the Age of Digital Information Transfer. "Quote Oscar Sala (1930): 'Electronic music is the music of the future.' Parallel to my work with Einstürzende Neubauten I became increasingly interested in giving musical expression to my digital gadget collection. My idea was to record samples of non-sounds of communication as can be heard on a day-to-day basis, to arrange them in a musical sequence, and, at best, to compose music with them that people would enjoy listening to. I favoured the following sounds, which have been combined as a sample track (appendix): o acoustic greeting cards o alarm clocks o droning transformers o continuous tone and interval signals o the Wagnerian hammers on chimes o digital melodies of terrestrial and mobile phones o tootling fruit machine melodies o motion detectors o a plastic robot singing in Japanese o sound module "motor vehicle" o sound module "laughing sack" o sound module "animal voices (singing birds, frogs, etc.)" o sound module "breaking glass" o door gongs and bells o barking dogs o hooting horns o musical photo cameras intended to make people laugh o micro beepers o miniature buzzers o muezzin alarm clocks o cheap digital musical toys o piezo ceramics pick-ups o keyring beepers o talking clocks o telephone sound simulators o two defective servomotors (engines)

MOUSE ON MARS: Actionist Respoke 12" (RTD 3763). $8.00

German-only 12" vinyl version of this 2001 MoM single (pre-Idiologie).

EINSTÜRZENDE NEUBAUTEN: OST Berlin Babylon CD (RTD 3839 CD). $15.00

"The project: Berlin Babylon is the soundtrack for the same titled documentary movie by Berlin director Hubertus Siegert. Berlin after the fall of the Wall. Observations on the radical reconstruction process in the city's centre. Pictures of a never-ending Babylonian building site. Assembled into a documentary vision. Since the fall of the Berlin Wall in 1989, the German capital has been striving to overcome its catastrophic past, trying to recover the city structure that had been destroyed in the 20th century, to construct in an attempt to shake off the shadows. The film shows pictures of a city undergoing radical changes. It's about real estate, about investors, politicians and city planners being observed in work situations. No interviews, no statements. The music provides the commentary. A Babylonian civilisation tale about the violence of building lives on in the reunited metropolis. New departures turned into stone. The music that comments this film is by Einstürzende Neubauten, a band that could not be better suited to the theme; a band whose twenty-year history and even its name are rooted in Berlin. Although the band didn't know about director Hubertus Siegert's project at the time, 'Die Befindlichkeit des Landes' (The State of Mind of the Country), a track off their latest album, 'Silence is Sexy', already dealt with this permanent building site in Berlin's centre, and so the thoughts that had originally been conceived in isolation from each other, came together — expressed in music on the one hand and in cinematic pictures on the other. Apart from 'Die Befindlichkeit des Landes', which features in different versions, all other tracks are original compositions. The soundtrack is completed by a text penned by Walter Benjamin, presented by actress Angela Winkler, and an excerpt of Ludwig van Beethoven's 'Symphony No. 3.'"

OUT HERE RECORDS (GERMANY):

ALIF: Dakameras CD (OH 001CD). $17.00

"Hiphop has had its place in the Senegalese music scene for well over 10 years now and it has evolved into an own blend of infectious music. Just like most rappers from Dakar/Senegal, Alif see themselves as the voice of their generation. They are like the title of the CD says the Dakameras: the camera that documents everything happening in Dakar 24 h a day. They rap about overloaded minibusses without functioning breaks, careening down the street out of control. Alif describe a group of young guys who are sitting together hiding from daylight. They only leave home at night. They feel ashamed because they have no job and no money. Then there is the story of a businessman who takes people's money promising to organise them visas. Then he runs away with their hard earned savings. In Porose Bi (the process) Alif rap about house servants that are only paid very little but have to work like slaves. If anything happens in the house they are held responsible. There are about 2000 crews in Dakar the center of westafrican hiphop. How influential the voice of hiphop is in Senegal could be seen during the elections of 2000. The Senegalese youth was mobilised to go to vote and after decades in which president Abdou Diouf was in power, he was finally voted out of office. Women are still exceptions in african rapmusic. The trio Alif (attack liberate of the infantry feminist) are the first all-female rap group in Senegal. The release their first cassette Viktim caused a big stirr in a country where traditional authorities like parents, religion or age play a big role. Alif was founded in 1997 and was the first female band to release a tape in Dakar. Musically the album goes full circle, reconnecting hiphop with its roots in Africa. Songs like Dakamerap, Taspe, Joolaa and Bataxal combine traditional sabar-rhythms and the music of the griots with a contemporary blend of african hiphop."

OUT TO LUNCH (GERMANY):

VA: Airbagcraftworks Compilation Vol. II Record I 12" (OTL 015EP). $9.00

"The long awaited second part of the airbagcraftworks compilation heads to the record shops of this world. Just as last time, the CD will be accompanied by two 12" releases. The first record, simply titled 'Record I', delivers us a little taste of the things to come: here, the four most club oriented contributions are represented on vinyl. Even if the course is set to modern, minimal and technological directions, there's no question that these tracks will also move your feet. The first four contributors are: Farben, Jay Haze, Swayzac, Lowtec."

OUTCASTE (UK):

BADMARSH & SHRI: Signs CD (CASTE 07 CD). $15.00

"The celebrated Indian duo returns with their second album Signs, the follow up to their acclaimed 1998 debut Dancing Drums. Signs is a giant leap forward for the partnership of DJ/Producer (Badmarsh) and classically trained bass, tabla and flute player (Shri). Co-produced with Mike Spencer (Kylie, Beverley Knight, Tuff Jam) and featuring guest appearances from Kathryn Williams, UK Apache, Sanchita Farruque and Sanjogita Kumari. Signs is a record of emotion, movement and drama. A dance album that stands up to repeated home listening."

BADMARSH & SHRI: Signs 2LP (CASTE 07 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

VA: Outcaste: The First Five CD (CASTE 18 CD). $15.00

"Outcaste mark the occasion of their fifth birthday with an album that documents their achievements, influences and future. Outcaste: The First Five contains material from the whole spectrum of the label's roster, from the dancefloor breaks of Badmarsh, the spirituality of bass & tabla guru Shri, to the raw funk of '60s Bollywood classics. Mercury nominee Nitin Sawhney, the artist who is constantly pushing the boundaries and perceptions of the label, is heavily represented with unreleased live material and new remixes. Outcaste: The First Five also features guest tracks from artists who sit happily in the broad church that is the Outcaste sound, including Thievery Corporation, Bonobo and Up Bustle and Out."

VA: Outcaste: The First Five 2LP (CASTE 18 LP). $16.00

Double vinyl version.

VA: Very Best Of Bollywood Songs II CD (CASTE 25CD). $13.00

"Following the success of the first Bollywood Songs album released in 2001. The album will be divided between a selection of the very best of vintage Bollywood from 1949 onwards, and some of the most popular film hits from the last decade. Dominated by filmi heavyweights like SD and RD Burman, Laxmikant-Pyarelal, and AR Rahman, and drenched in rock, funk, Latin, disco and Western classical sources. You'll hear it in Jakarta minicabs, Iraqi dancehalls, British curryhouses, and pretty much every Asian home around the Diaspora. Bollywood Songs 2 will provide a choice of the finest mainstream Hindi film music over the last four decades ?a perfect starting point for newcomer and aficionado alike."

VA: Futuro Flamenco CD (CASTE 26CD). $14.00

"Futuro Flamenco takes the listener on a passionate flamenco-inspired journey guided by some of the most exciting names in acoustic, dance and chillout music including Howie B, Rey De Copas, Banda Sonora, Nitin Sawhney and Simian among others. With the success of the Buddha Bar, Karma Collection, Arabesque and the heavy record-buying interest in all things acoustic and chillout, this collection presents a unique concept taking you to the heart and heat of flamenco. With flamenco inspired fashions hitting the catwalks and high streets, flamenco guitar hooks increasingly appearing on hit pop records and flamenco being emphasised as 'the new Salsa' by the likes of the Medfest (Barbican Festival in June feat. flamenco acts), and dance teachers around the country, this compilation aims will reach all those touched by the Iberian vibe." Artists include: Rey De Copas, Madrid De Los Austrias, Bartholomaeus & Raabenstein, Banda Sonora, Simian, Nitin Sawhney, Manitas De Plata, Oi Va Voi, Los Chorbo, Gypsy, Julius Papp, Latin Project, Aco Bocina, Howie B.

VA: Futuro Flamenco 12" (CASTE 26EP). $9.00

12" sampler featuring Nitin Sawhney, Oi Va Voi, The Latin Project, Aco Bocina.

VA: Essential Asian Flavas CD (CASTE 27CD). $15.00

"The last year has seen urban music producers from both sides of the Atlantic delving into the vaults of Asian music. Huge hits like Panjabi MC have caught the imagination of Asian urban and crossover audiences alike. By combining urban rhythms with Asian musical forms they have created a whole new musical genre. This compilation is a unique proposition. This album is about celebrating this inventive new music with the biggest cuts of the moment and the tracks which have inspired the movement. Essential Asian Flavas is the perfect guide to the latest and the best of this blossoming scene." Features: Rishi Rich, DJ H & Punjabi Outlawz, Kam Dhillon, S. Kaliwalia, Jakatta, Badmarsh & Shri, Nusrat Fateh Ali Khan, Trickbaby, Nitin Sawhney, Orient Expressions, Bollywood Breaks, Craig Armstrong feat. Swati Nakkar.

VA: Futuro Flamenco 2 CD (CASTE 28CD). $15.00

"The album follows on from where Futuro Flamenco left off and once again takes the listener on a passionate flamenco-inspired journey. The second release in this unique series now however embraces a wider wealth of music all of which has been influenced by this Iberian sound; including Latin, Drum & Bass, House, Funk, Jazz and rare Flamenco Funk as well of course as classic Flamenco." Artists include: Ojos De Brujo, Cosmic Rockers, Alabina, Willie Colon, Clave Y Guaguanco, UFO, Peret y sus Gitanos, El Piano De Chacho, Los Arnaya, Toro, The Latin Project, Rodrigo y Gabriela, Suv, Alpha-X, Christophe Goze, and Oreja.

OI VA VOI: Laughter Through Tears CD (CASTE 29 CD). $16.00

"Oi Va Voi's debut album Laughter Through Tears is the sound of six young Londoners searching for an identity in 21st Century Europe. Steeped in the rhythms of Eastern Europe, the Mediterranean, the Caribbean and beyond, Laughter Through Tears is the soundtrack to 1001 Urban Nights. Poignant universal stories, beautifully told through folk-tinged songs like 'Refugee' and 'Yesterday's Mistakes' sit alongside such tracks as '7 Brothers' with its deepest of grooves; drawing as much on modern dance music as their Jewish cultural heritage, theirs is a contemporary sound. No other group is out there mixing things up as boldly and as brilliantly as Oi Va Voi."

VA: The Classical Indian Collection 2CD (CASTE 35CD). $16.00

"A unique double CD exploring the many subtle connections that bridge Indian and Western classical music. Avoiding the more fashionable East-West fusion exemplified by the dance-floor Asian underground, it draws its downtempo, blissful power from strong arrangements (Talvin Singh), ethereal flutes (Hariprasad Chaurasia), hypnotic percussion (Zakir Hussain) and the languid, cascading notes of the sitar (Ravi Shankar). Sourced diversely from symphonic classical fusions, Indo-jazz projects, Hindi movie soundtracks and downtempo, more clubby fusions of the Asian diaspora, The Classical Indian Collection assembles the very best musicians and singers and the very best sounds. The recordings range across the decades, some dating from the 1960s (fusions involving Ravi Shankar and John Mayer); others from the most contemporary electronic hybrids (U Srinivas & Michael Brook, Tom Noble, Badmarsh And Shri). The familiar sounds of Indian classical music are here - from the sitar, tabla, the drone-like tampoura and the bowed sarangi - but also there are contributions from two instruments common to both Indian and European music - the violin (John Mayer, Yehudi Menuhin) and the flute (Rakesh Chaurasia and his father, the legendary Hariprasad). The Classical Indian Collection is a brilliant exposé of an organic musical tradition, whose roots date back thousands of years yet its practitioners sound absolutely contemporary."

VA: Essential Brazilian Flavas CD (CASTE 36CD). $18.00

"The point of this compilation is to show how the Brazilian spirit has crept into every nook and cranny of modern dance and club music. In fact, in some areas (drum & bass being a prime example) it's almost taken over certain genres, made them something completely different, yet universally recognised as Brazilian. On this collection the well known TV advertised sounds of Brazilica from 'Quem Que Caguetou?' by Tejo, Black Alien E Speed (Nissan car ad), 'A Minha Menina' by The Bees (Citroen car ad) and 'Nem Vem Que Nao Tem' by Wilson Simonal (City Of God and IKEA advert) combine to potent effect with the most cutting edge sounds from 'InfraRed 'Capoeira', Cibelle 'Trains' and Stereo Maracana 'Freestyle Love'. The album is topped off with the classic sounds of 'Carolina Carol Bela' the original of DJ Marky's hit 'LK', 'Everything But The Girls 'Corcovado' and 'The Lady's a Tramp', a rare bossa version of the Rodgers & Hart classic by the Sambalanco Trio. This is a compelling listen and the perfect voyage around the near past and future of Brazilian music."

VA: Essential Asian Flavas: The Future Cutz CD (CASTE 37 CD). $16.00

"2003 was the year that British Asian/Urban music and culture broke into the mainstream. Outcaste Records, the home of British Asian music, has been at the forefront of this explosion. Outcaste now brings you the third in the series: Essential Asian Flavas: The Future Cutz. The album is a celebration of what remains one of the most vibrant and exciting parts of the UK Club scene once again bringing you the recent hits as well as the latest cutting edge tunes which are being brought to the wider audience for the first time. The diverse selection of tracks includes the Rishi Rich remix of Craig David's 'Rise & Fall' that played a major part in turning round the fortunes of the current Craig David album and one of the hottest Drum n Bass tunes of 2003 in the Calibre Remix of 'Signs' by Badmarsh & Shri."

OUTPUT (UK):

SONOVAC: EP CD (OPR 18 CD). $13.00

"Sonovac are the London-based brother and sister duo Mike and Suzy Silver." Weirdly glitchily outsider apres-rock, a bit like the most disjointed elements of recent Stereolab. Abstract, yet accessible and friendly. 27-minute EP, packaged in a minimal/textured glow-in-the-dark sleeve. Limited to 500 copies in each format.

SONOVAC: EP 12" (OPR 18 LP). $12.00

12" version in textured glow-in-the-dark sleeve, limited to 500 copies.

GRAMME: Pre Release CD (OPR 22 CD). $13.00

"Very classy mini album from Gramme, should emulate the success of the Fridge and Four Tet albums on Output. Recorded by The Underdog, Pre Release draws on a vast range of musical influences, raw funk, punk, disco jazz and pop, they've found their sound somewhere in the early '80s, think Rip Rig & Panic, Public Image, Liquid Liquid, Slits, but twisted with a streak of no nonsense contemporary sass."

SKULL: Snapz CD (OPR 27 CD). $13.00

"Skull is Output label owner Trevor 'Underdog' Jackson's alter ego. On this 5 track EP, 'Spaztic' was produced especially for DJ Vadim's Japanese Jazz Fusion compilation, Sculpture and Broken Sound; 'Crash' was featured on the legendary second Mo Wax Headz collection; 'Flump' originally appeared on Macro Dub Infection 2; 'Whappen' was created for a Levi's photographic book exhibition by Output's photographer Jason Evans; and 'Trapped Dub' is an unreleased remix instrumental of Kevin Martin's 'Ice'. Skull has been the Underdog's unrestricted musical release, away from the pressure of major label remixes for the likes of Massive Attack, U2, Unkle, Run DMC, Cornershop, Campag Velocette, etc. This EP represents Underdog's true love of experimental post punk, dub and industrial roots mixed with his obsession for hip hop culture and beat deconstruction. Both formats limited to 1000 copies only."

7 HURTZ: Audiophilic CD (OPR 28 CD). $17.00

"Debut album from 7 Hurtz and well worth the wait. One of the strongest albums on Output to date, an excellent mix of dubby electro and 90s breaks. Audiophilic appeals to deeper, darker instincts; fusing 90s breaks onto 80s electro funk (think Cabaret Voltaire at their best), and incorporating elements of jazz-rock, turntablism, and No Wave."

7 HURTZ: Stokers Motor 12" (OPR 30). $9.00

"Limited edition of 1000 only. The single features the original track, an extended version blended into a frenzy of beats and analog melody. New version finishes with a twisted 4/4 house groove. 'March Electronique' is darker, just raw beatbox and minimal fx."

SOFT VERGE: CD (OPR 32 CD). $17.00

"On a darker tip, this album will definitely appeal to fans of German minimal techno. On par with labels like Chain Reaction, Din, Basic Channel. A limited edition of 500 each of vinyl and CD. The theme of the album is a hallucinatory fever set of a virtual tropical island. Follow the infection, early symptoms, and final manifestation." Written and produced by Mike Silver, 7 tracks, no further info seems to be available.

SOFT VERGE: LP (OPR 32 LP). $13.00

SONOVAC: High On Tech CD (OPR 33 CD). $6.00

"High On Tech is best described as retro-futurist electro-pop, featuring the talents of Suzie Sonovac on vocal duties coupled with the skills of MC Mike. "Breasts Death and Puppies" on the flipside drives along as a haunted, minimal house track with a dirty growling b-line attached in the 'Version'. 'Version' is also included."

ICARUS: UL-6 12" (OPR 34). $10.00

"Awesome limited edition (750 only) EP from Icarus, signed to Output by Fridge/Four Tet's Kieren Hebden. EP comes in a deconstructed artwork, each sleeve is individual. Icarus combine minimalist/luscious soundscapes with avant drum'n'bass and will appeal to fans of Photek/Source Direct/Zan Lyons/Fridge/Squarepusher/Third Eye Foundation."

SONOVAC: Raw CD (OPR 36 CD). $17.00

"After turning heads with the hip hop electro meets psychobilly of "Human Fly" and the retro-futurist electro-pop of High On Tech, Raw is the long awaited debut album. It careens across the lanes of genre, taste and sonic acceptability with Sonovac's own brand of dysfunctional novelty pop. Effected vocals and analog synth come as standards. Includes a cover of the Ramones' 'I Wanna Be Sedated' and the Antonelli dancefloor smash 'I Don't Want Nobody Else But You'. 'Quite simply, they Hoover up sound — snippets of disco, stray threads of pop, folk crumbs, hip hop debris. If it has a pulse, it's in their dustbag.' — NME"

SONOVAC: Raw LP (OPR 36 LP). $13.00

ICARUS: Squid Ink CD (OPR 40 CD). $15.00

"After their previous releases Kamikaze, with its 'Post-industrial swung-out elastic concrete' aesthetic, and Fijaka, with its 'designer minimalist panda funk' (both on Hydrogen Jukebox), their latest full-length offering Squid Ink is a loosely knit mesh of rhythms, textures and melody, improvised electronica, structured composition and headfuck ala carte."

DEMPSEY: Dempsey 2CD (OPR 49 CD). $17.00

"Californian born American native Geoff McIntire aka Dempsey finally releases his debut album. The album is split over two CDs, the 'Sunrise Side' recorded with Kieran Hebden (Four Tet/Fridge) and the 'Sunset Side' recorded by Trevor 'Playgroup' Jackson. Dempsey delivers a skilled songwriter and unique personality, premiered over tripped up folk, acid loops, smacked out guitar riffs and melancholic strings. The album also features Fridge members Sam Jeffers on drums and Adam Ilhan on bass. Vinyl limited to 800 copies only."

DEMPSEY: Dempsey LP (OPR 49 LP). $12.00

LP version.

7 HURTZ: Electroleum CD (OPR 54 CD). $16.00

"The stunning follow up to 7 Hurtz's acclaimed debut album Audiophiliac. Acclaimed London electro funk duo 7 Hurtz (Lascelles Lascelle and Ben Cowan) — bound by a mutual love of badass beats, Jean Jacques Perry, melodic loopyness and John Carpenter. They're probably best known for their anthemic club tracks 'Beatbox' and 'Stokers Motor' which tore up dancefloors on release in 2000. Killer riffs, electro stylings and sinister beats have made them classics of the Electro genre. 'We were interested in doing electronic music that involved improvisation, found sound, semi-generative, visually stimulated work that moved away from the music we had been doing. We also wanted to make the music in a way that meant the processes of writing, playing and recording converged so that we could do it ourselves'.

Audiophiliac, a dark propulsive journey through funk/electro/hip hop and 303/808 cultures, received unanimous critical acclaim & the bands myriad influences — the retro-futuristic sounds, the John Carpenter "Assault On Precinct 13" obsessions and Hashim-style bleakness all contributed to a sound that revitalized and redefined the Electro scene. 7-Hurtz enthusiastically set to work on the follow up, Electroleum, now finally available."

7 HURTZ: Electroleum 2LP (OPR 54 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

COLDER: Crazy Love CD (OPR 56 CD). $6.50

"Likened to Kraftwerk, Suicide and Joy Division, Crazy Love is the first full single release from the critically acclaimed album Again. Features remixes by Rework (Playhouse), Luke Innes and Norscq."

COLDER: Again CD/DVD (OPR 58 CD). $16.00

Now available domestically in the US. Colder is the brainchild of Parisian graphic designer and video producer Marc Nguyen. CD album plus bonus DVD with 6 short films. "Not unlike Serge Gainsbourg being sodomised by P.I. in Sabres Of Paradise's 'Haunted Dancehall' — Jockey Slut."

COLDER: Again LP (OPR 58 LP). $14.00

LP version.

PLAYGROUP: Make It Happen CD (PGR 002CD). $9.00

"Trevor Jackson's masterpiece is back with remixes from Ewan Pearson, Zongamin, Soulwax and Midnight Mike. Playgroup's Make It Happen featuring Kyra from the Headcoates is back with a formidable package of remixes and exclusive bonus tracks Ewan Pearson vocal and dub mixes. An outstanding bass driven funked up remix by recent XL signings Zongamin. Exclusive extended version of Trevor Jackson's original mix. Adrenaline fuelled remix by Soulwax / Too Many DJ's. Remix Midnight Mike of Soft Verge, Sonovac and Flesh Records. A second exclusive remix by Zongamin unreleased on any format before. Exclusive version of 'Bring It On' featuring Kathleen Hannah previously unreleased on CD. The release also provides Trevor Jackson's directorial debut with an explosive no holds barred video."

VA: Channel 1 (OPR 31 CD). $14.50

Originally released in 2000, now available at domestic pricing. "Ever since their debut release in 1997, Output Recordings have continued a path of musical innovation and an agenda of changing the musical landscape. Through the combined vision of label instigator Trevor Jackson and a broad roster of challenging musicians (Fridge/Fourtet/Gramme/Sonovac/7 Hurtz), Output have developed a diverse range of talents that recontextualise the electronic landscape. Channel 1 brings together some of the finer and wider moments of a vital catalogue including Fridge's 'Anglepoised', Fourtet 'Calamine', Gramme's 'No Wave', LB's 'Superbad' and Black Strobe's 'Innerstrings', all combining to make for a deeply resonant listen and guide to the fringes of electronic experimentation."

BLACK STROBE: Innerstrings 12" (OPR 37 EP). $6.50

"Indications are that this could be Output's biggest single to date. We're talking nocturnal dancefloor rampaging from Black Strobe: power chords, mad voices, and a thoroughly 80s chassis. Think industrial electro-pop. The various mixes range from house to industrial/electro to leftfield, ESG through to 808 State, Cabaret Voltaire, and everything in between." 12" version features 4 tracks: 'No Shuffle' mix, the original, 7 Hurtz version, and a Volga select double dub."

VA: Channel 2: A Compilation Of Output Recordings CD (OPR 50 CD). $14.50

Originally released in 2003, now available at domestic pricing. "Output Recordings unleash Channel 2 featuring some of the most outstanding records of 2002 and exclusive new releases for 2003. Includes Blackstrobe 'Me & Madonna' — Update Single of the Week, 'The best record Felix never made'. LCD Soundsystem 'Losing My Edge'. Exclusive full length version of The Rapture 'Olio'. Exclusive forthcoming releases from 7 Hurtz, Manhead, Colder, Volga Select, DK7, Grand National, Playgroup, Rekindle, and Circle Square."

BLACK STROBE: Me And Madonna 12" (OPR 51). $5.50

Repressed. "Parisian dark disco merchants Black Strobe return with the pounding, sexy, throbbing electro wonder that is 'Me and Madonna'. Their highly anticipated first new offering since 2000's widely acclaimed 'Inner Strings' is finally released on Trevor Jackson's Output label and sounds nothing like Fischerspooner and co. The 80's references — New Order, AC/DC, A Certain Ratio — are clear and present, but the futuristic sound and catchy playful hooks belong to Black Strobe themselves."

DK7: The Difference (Original) 12" (OPR 55EP). $6.50

"Released in 2003 to enormous critical acclaim, 'The Difference' is available on two incredible singles. The original mix (OPR 55) is backed up by a storming house mix from F Comm's Jori Hulkonnen. DK7 are Swedish DJ/producer Jesper Dahlback and Irish singer-songwriter Mark O'Sullivan. Together as DK7, however, they have focused in on the oldschool acid sound, and the seminal 'The Difference' helped ignite a full-on resurgence of Acid House that is currently sweeping through dance music."

DK7: The Difference (Remixes) 12" (OPR 55XEP). $6.50

"The remix single (OPR 55X) features a banging techno mix from Poker Flat's Martin Landsky and an infectious punk-funk mix from Kranky Records' Outhud, featuring members of !!!."

COLDER: Crazy Love 12" (OPR 56 EP). $5.50

Vinyl EP version.

YELLOW: Base For Alec 12" (OPR 59EP). $5.50

"Yello needs no introduction. Even if you think you've never heard of this semi-obscure Swedish duo, you've likely heard their idiosyncratic take on dance music, typified by the mid-Eighties mega hit 'Oh Yeah' which featured prominently on the soundtrack to Ferris Bueller's Day Off. What's less well-known about Dieter Meier and Boris Blank is the string of underground club hits they churned out from the late-Seventies well and continuing well into the Eighties. Originally signed to experimentalists The Residents' Ralph Records, Yello's early hits like 'Bostich' helped them move from the fledgling independent to Mercury Records. A succession of minor pop hits followed, but Yello's most important imprint on popular music has come more recently as their early use of synthesizers and multimedia performance have proven a major influence within the electronic music scene. It's no surprise then that dance music iconoclast and all around musical visionary Trevor Jackson has managed to unearth a rare Yello classic. A home to forward-thinking music of all stripes, Output seems the natural label for 'Base For Alec' which was originally released twenty years ago as a vinyl-only B-side in Germany. Sought after by collectors and fans alike, this hard-to-find piece of early-Eighties dance music is finally available again as a one-sided vinyl single."

CIRCLE SQUARE: Pre-Earthquake Anthem CD (OPR 61 CD). $14.50

"The debut album by Vancouver-based CircleSquare, led by the highly acclaimed and controversial young Canadian artist March21. CircleSquare's debut album on Trevor Jackson's Output Recordings label is a unique mix of brooding and pounding melancholy, bass fuelled sensory exploration, and purest minimal electronic meltdown that draws on a wide range of influences including punk rock, hip-hop, skate parks, pipe bombs and adolescent suburban anarchy."

CIRCLE SQUARE: Pre-Earthquake Anthem LP (OPR 61 LP). $14.00

LP version, embossed sleeve.

MANHEAD: Birth, School, Work, Death 12" (OPR 65EP). $5.50

"Manhead is the project of Swiss artist, DJ and producer Robi Insinna and compatriot Ralph Peter. Having released a couple of singles on Germany's famed Compost Records in the late '90s, Insinna soon branched out from the smoked-out downtempo of his early releases. Signing with the upstart Munich-based label Gomma, Insinna's Headman project was among the earliest proponents of the disco punk sound championed by NYC superproducers the DFA. With mounting interest in Insinna's signature bass-heavy funky sound only growing, BSWD is just a taste of things to come from Zurich's punk disco pioneer."

VA: Channel 3 CD (OPR 70CD). $14.50

Third volume in Output's compilation series, new for 2004. "Since its inception in 1996, Trevor Jackson's Output Recordings has continually shown itself as a source of excitement in these dark and dour musical times. It's manifesto not based on hype or backslapping, but on a deep-rooted belief that there is enough special new music to make a difference. Channel 3 is a snapshot of a label in motion, changing and growing to keep pace with some of the most creative talents working in music today." Artists: Lopazz, Dead Combo, Yello, Manhead, DK7, Black Strobe, The Rapture, MU, Rekindle, CircleSquare, Colder, Tall Blonde, 7-Hurtz.

BLACK STROBE: Chemical Sweet Girl EP CD (OPR 71CD). $10.00

"Their third Output single 'Chemical Sweet Girl' / 'The Abwher Disco' on this new CD EP with the first 2 singles gathers all three singles onto compact disc for the very first time. The Chemical Sweet Girl EP also features the exclusive 'Chemical Sweet Girl' mix by the hotly tipped Alter Ego! Come hear the new sound of the Parisian underground: dark, sexy and sure to keep the dancefloor packed. Black Strobe are DJ Ivan Smagghe and fellow Parisian, Producer Arnaud Rebotini. Together they form Europe's premier electro house duo and stand as the undisputed kings of dark disco. No wonder they've been called the 'most exciting French dance act since Daft Punk'."

BLACK STROBE: The Abwehr Disco 12" (OPR 71EP). $5.50

"Black Strobe are DJ Ivan Smagghe and fellow Parisian, Producer Arnaud Rebotini. Together they form Europe's premier electro house duo and stand as the undisputed kings of dark disco. No wonder they've been called the 'most exciting French dance act since Daft Punk.' Black Strobe's debut release for Output 'Innerstrings' and the follow-up, the double A side 'Me and Madonna' / 'Fitting Together' are now widely regarded as genre-defining dancefloor classics. Now comes their third Output single 'Chemical Sweet Girl' / 'The Abwher Disco' a brand new slice of dancefloor madness and a taster for Black Strobe's forthcoming mini-album release This Is Not Our Album."

PLAYGROUP: Make It Happen 12" (PGR 002EP). $5.50

First of 2 vinyl EP versions. Features Ewan Pearson and Zongamin remixes.

PLAYGROUP: Make It Happen 12" (PGR 002XEP). $5.50

2nd of 2 12" versions, featuring remixes by Soulwax Midnight Mike.

OUTSIDE (UK):

MILSTEIN, BEN: Procrastinate 12" (OUTSIDE 007EP). $9.00

"Mr. Milstein traillblazed his way into our musical radars last year with his almighty debut Away for the Outside label. His tough, uncompromising take on electro mechanisms and electronic twists combined the intricate reaktor constructions of Bitstream with the tough, rugged sound-designed electroid mashups of Berlin's MMM. Procrastinate follows in the darkest possible fashion and asserts itself as the hardest, most disturbed electro twelve you'll hear this year. The prolonged distorted beat coughs of the opening title track dominates bass and white noise fissures in a way that makes it sound like a drugged-up, decimated 21st century version of Herbie's classic 'Rockit': nasty, brutal, awesome stuff. 'Fuzzy', meanwhile, makes use of ruined effects taking off with what sound like broken engines fading away into the distance — a ruinous cacophony of deep bass stabs and filtered electro beats that could only soundtrack a bleak, industrial landscape. If you want your electro demented, futuristic, groundbreaking, outright RUDE — don't bother looking any further."

SCARLETRON: The Claw 12" (OUTSIDE 008EP). $10.00

"More vintage, previously unheard material from the vaults of Carl Finlow and Daz Quayle. The Claw takes off with the paranoid jerks and broken electronics of the title track — a mashed-up take on heavy construction and broken rhythms that sounds unlike anything else from back in the day or anything else since — seriously schizoid jacking required, you'll do well to keep up. 'Bad December' (written in isolation one cold, dank December back in Leeds circa '97) flows with a padded depth of reflection and fat assed acoustic drum breaks, blessed with downtempo cinematic strings par excellence — awesome, moving, inspired stuff. "Scarleton", meanwhile, heads back to a complex structure — impossibly tough percussion and edits that sound like a modified realization of Phoenecia's mighty Soul Oddity project, cut up with the ferocity of Bitstream."

OUTWARD MUSIC COMPANY:*VA: Omco CD (OMCO 001). $10.00

"Genre-mapped comp of Portland, OR related electronic tomfoolery by the like of Solenoid, Rehab, CNSE, Supplement, Nudge, Jessie James, and Pulse Programming. Various points in between crunchy beats, solemn textures, dub ruminations and gangsta lean (well... maybe not). Residing in the more populist end of the Warp/Rephlex/mod axis, flowerpots in every window, cranky cat, etc... Just damn pleasing." — Hrvatski.

VA: Omco 2LP (OMCO 001 LP). $14.00

Double LP version.

SIGNALDRIFT: .060 CD (OMCO 002). $11.00

"From spacious dream sequences lifted from future samurai films to pop tunes bleeding in from an alternate reality, Franz and Jason Bucholtz create environments that are somehow simultaneously engaging and extraneous, challenging and universal. The brothers Bucholtz have been pulling (not pushing) the envelope of electronic music for many years."

CNS ENGINEERING/MONKEY +1: 12" (OMCO 004). $7.00

"CNS Engineering is a Portland based trio creating a new maximalist fusion of all forms of machine music, from immersive ambience to thick techno and broken beats. Monkey +1 takes no prisoners with his downtempo breakbeat destruction, yet maintains a steady hip-hop flavor to keep the white noise in check."

SOLENOID: Reversesender LP (OMCO 006 LP). $8.50*SOLENOID: Reversesender CD (OMCO 007 CD). $12.00

"After countless appearances on compilations and several split 12"s, Solenoid (David Chandler) finally steps forward with a long-overdue full length. On Reversesender, Solenoid deftly humanizes swung clang from his machines to turn loose scores of strange ocean floor crawlers, where at first listen you may think you're moving smart, but really you're just getting down. Broken prog acid lines and sandbox melodies temper his elaborate epics of janky analog electro. With two other full-lengths out this quarter (Emanate & Hiao Hiao Hiao) one would assume overkill from a lesser producer but in David's case it will serve only as an introduction to his true capabilities."

PAL:NDROM/DECAPOD CLAW: 12" (OMCO 008). $7.00

"The fourth installment of Outwardmusic's split 12" series shows two programmers who share a knack for heavily-digested funk-breaks set into dreamlike soundtracks. Pal:ndrom shows (off) his talent for fluidly mixing stream-of-conscious textural sound with powerful churning breaks until that elusive point where the paranoia becomes complete calm is reached. Decapod Claw has been busy inventing an exciting, new fusion of darkly melodic themes and acid-etched electro that is eerily futuristic and irresistibly funky."

OVER LEVEL (FRANCE):*LES RALLIZES DENUDES: Le 12 Mars 1977 a Tachikawa 2CD (OVER 001 CD). $25.00

Double CD bootleg, of the most historic Rallizes recording of them all (originally issued by the band in 1991, only very briefly available — there have been no legitimate Rallizes recordings since). Mastered from CD (presumably), with relatively extravagant die-cut printed sleeve packaging. "Les Rallizes Dénudés, Haddaka No Rallizes in Japanese, and probably 'Les Valises Dénudés' in French, are the most obscure group from Japan. Their guitar-based music began at Kyoto University in late 1967 with their first official gig in 1968. While their self-released recordings from this time are structured in a loose Group Sound ('GS')/Folk Boom-type style, their live shows featured deafening volume, strobe lights and mirrors for maximum disorientation. This, of course, invites comparison with the Velvet Underground's Exploding Plastic Inevitable not to mention Le Stelle de Mario Schifano's art-show happenings in Italy during 1967-68. References could also apply to the Grateful Dead before losing Tom Constantine and Ron 'Pigpen' McKernan. In any case, the volume was too much for others to deal with — a relationship with a theatre group fell apart due to the band's refusal to turn their amplifiers down. Nothing was going to change for the next 20 years..."

In the late 1970s the band reappeared, playing their best music. It seemed that punk had allowed Mizutani, with his newly cut hair and leather clothing, one more chance to unleash his over-the-top distortion-laden guitar over their simple melodic rhythms for a supreme Asian form of acid-punk annihilation. In August of 1991 releases were finally made available. Three CDs appeared on the band's own SIXE label. These were 67-69 Studio et Live, Mizutani/Les Rallizes Dénudés, and the 77 Live 2CD set. The only other non-CDR artifacts are a video released in 1992 and a 7" included with the Japanese Etcetera magazine from 1996. It is all rare, sought after and expensive. The 77 Live release (reissued and re-named here with new diecut B&W artwork and photos, mimicking the old Ocora LP sleeve style) is the best, a document of extreme feedback and distressed guitar with Mizutani's detached vocals laid over languid rhythms, unbelievable in intensity."

OVERGROUND (UK):*WASPS, THE: Punkryonics CD (OVER 100 CD). $15.00

"Formed in February 1976 The Wasps were one of London's earliest punk bands. They were regulars at The Roxy, The Bridge House etc. and soon built a large following. Punkryonics contains their debut single 'Teenage Treats', 'Can't Wait Till '78' from 'Live At The Vortex' album, the original demo versions for the 'Rubber Cars' single and 10 previously unreleased studio recordings. The 12-page booklet includes previously unseen photos and detailed sleeve notes by frontman Jesse Lynn-Dean."

STYRENES, THE: All the Wrong People Are Dying CD (OVER 74). $15.00

Originally issued in 1998 and now available again. "Compilation from this 'post-punk before punk happened' American supergroup, featuring members of the Electric Eels, Mirrors, Pagans, Shockabilly, and the John Zorn band. This album collects together long deleted vinyl only singles with rare tracks from obscure compilations." The Styrenes were led by legendary Cleveland figurehead Paul Marotta; other contributors included Mike Hudson, Jamie Klimek, Fred Lonberg-Holm, Charlotte Pressler, David Licht, etc. This CD reissues tracks from the 1989 LP A Monster And A Devil, the 12" singles that were on Mustard & Drag City, the Hotel Cleveland Vol II track.

VA: Cleveland Confidential CD (OVER 89). $15.00

"The Cleveland Confidential EP was originally released in 1980 as a limited vinyl edition of 1000. The LP was issued in 1982 as a limited vinyl edition of 1000. Both items have become legendary in the collectors' market and originals are now valued at up to $200. Now digitally remastered, this is the first time that these tracks have been made available on CD. Cleveland Confidential bridges the gap between the well known 70s scene, dominated by the Dead Boys, Devo, Pere Ubu, and the Pagans — and that of the late 80s, which would result in Nine Inch Nails and Marilyn Manson. Artists include: Womanhaters, Severe, Menthol Wars, Definics, Dark, Styrenes, Invisibles, Lab Rats, Keith Matic, Jazz Destroyers, Offbeats, Pagans, Red Decade, John Lovsin, Easter Monkeys, Clocks, Impalers, Broncos, AK-47s." New liner notes by executive producer Mike Hudson (Pagans).

MIRRORS: Hands In My Pockets CD (OVER 93). $15.00

"Mirrors, a truly seminal band! Appearing in Cleveland, Ohio at sometime in 1972 they started performing in 1973 before disbanding in September 1975. They were the formative band of the legendary Clepunk scene that lead to the inception of such important acts as Pere Ubu, Electric Eels, Styrenes, Dead Boys, Pagans, Styrene Money Band, Rocket From The Tombs and a host of others. Debate amongst commentators is often around the subject of whether Mirrors were proto-punk or proto-no wave? Well, maybe both or maybe neither. What we do know is that they sounded like no other band! The 19 tracks include the single, 13 previously unreleased tracks and 2 versions exclusive to this release."

DOOR AND WINDOW, THE: Detailed Twang CD (OVER 99). $15.00

"Originally inspired by both the DIY ethic of the punk movement and the likes of Throbbing Gristle and File Under Pop, two friends Nag and Bendle decided to form The Door And The Window in March '79. They played with the Pop Group, Scritti Politti, Delta Five, Swell Maps and Raincoats. The line-up of the band was always fluid and sometime members included Fritz (23 Skidoo), Dennis Burns (ATV/Good Missionaries), Grant Showbiz (The Fall) and Gible (49 Americans). In late 1979, Mark Perry, disillusioned by the constraints and expectations of Alternative TV joined the band as drummer and co-songwriter. "The punk movement had showed that to make music you didn't need to have first acquired some musical understanding and/or instrumental dexterity. Understanding that music has no unbreakable rules, and then proving this by breaking them, is a fine thing. But Nag and Bendle went further — they refused to learn what the rules were in the first place. This lack of musical pretension is what still separates them from the all-too-knowing purveyors of what's called 'experimental music'. The Door And The Window were the true experimenters. They had the courage to skip all the theory and just pick up the instruments, to see what would happen." — Igor. This CD complies for the first time on CD their album, singles and compilation appearances and contains sleeve notes from Nag, Bendle and Mark Perry."

OW OM RECORDINGS:*AMOR, NAIM: Soundtracks Volume II CD (OWOM 012CD). $13.00

"Soundtracks Volume II is an album of original instrumental tracks composed by Naim Amor. The result is akin to soundtracks of movies that exist only in the listeners' imagination. The style is unique, belonging to the tradition of DJ sets in the way tracks jump from one universe to another, one era to the next. Dream-like, the tracks reminisce from film noir to TV series disco beats, from Martin Denny to la Nouvelle Vague...All the instruments are real, played by eleven different musicians, including Calexico's John Convertino."

M WARD: Duets For Guitars #2 CD (OWOM 06). $13.00

"M.Ward grew up along the coast of Southern California, but the songs that make up his debut release, Duet for Guitars #2, were all written while four-tacking in his closet out in Chicago. Legend has it that back in 1998 after a show in Portland, Oregon, young Matt (M.) passed along a tape to Howe Gelb of Giant Sand, who was immediately smitten with what he heard, much in the same way Granddaddy had three years earlier. Howe notes that, 'it is just a sensation that lends itself to something that always ends up being around for a while and making music that lasts and thrives. I think Matt has got the goods. We here at Ow Om will give it a try (and release it).'"

GELB, HOWE: Ogle Some Piano CD (OWOM 07). $13.00

"Second in a series of 'piano' records from Howe Gelb on the Ow Om label; his self proclaimed 'artist run mess of a label.' On Ogle Some Piano, Howe again used a variety of recording sessions to capture the record, though they date back no more than two years. And again the record features little to no vocals, but features more contributions from a variety of Howe-affiliated side people, including John and Joe from Calexico, Naim Amor from the Amor Belhom Duo, Nick Luca and Craig Schumackher among others. The direction of the record should come as no surprise to fans familiar with the last few Howe or Giant Sand records. The focus on piano based compositions that incorporate elements of jazz and big band swagger have been permeating themselves into Howe's songwriting process more and more. On Ogle Some Piano it's finally at the fore-front, stripping away all traces of singer-songwriter and alt.country from his songbook."

P TAPES:*CAROLINER RAINBOW: The Tee Pee Organs in Revlrie 7" (P5). $4.00

Found a box of this old 7" from the mid-90s. Comes in an oversized half-hexagon cardboard sleeve. Legitimately zonked space-out gusts of brat-appropriate voidal juice.

P-VINE RECORDS (JAPAN):*MATSUTAKE, HIDEKI: Edo CD (PCD 1452). $26.00

"Two LP-side long freakouts from this YMO engineer fellow. First side starts out with a lovely komungo/koto solo before mixing in some Tomita/YMO-ish synth arpeggios, drift-wash, noises. Second half is similar, perhaps more on the electronics tip with some glossy whoosh, whuh, scchhew. Some of this caps that whole BBC radiophonic workshop/Delia Derbyshire tangent quite fluidly. Make no mistakes about the electronics content being anything other than of the 'synthesizer' ilk. Enjoyable nonetheless. In, of, and about space." — Hrvatski.

VA: Toshiba Express Singles CD (PCD 1469). $28.00

A great collection of singles tracks originally issued on Toshida Express in the early 70s. There is no English title or information anywhere on this CD, but the list of artists included is supposed to be: Kenji Endo (3 tracks), Jacks (2 tracks), Kazuki Tomokawa (2 tracks), Kazuki Tomokawa & Down Town Boogie Woogie Band (2 tracks), Anri & Moses Tarzan (2 tracks), Cosmos Factory (2 tracks), Chronicle, East, Mops (2 tracks), Akiyuki Nosaka (2 tracks), RC Succession.

CURTIS & SAMURAI, MIKI: Samurai CD (PCD 1599). $25.00

Reissue of the 2nd and final Miki Curtis album, also released by Philips Japan in 1971. This was recorded in the UK upon the band's move to Europe and again features songs written/sung in English, this time with 7 shorter tracks.

ROVO/DATE COURSE PENTAGON ROYAL GARDEN: Sino/Pan-American Beef Stake Art Federations CD (PCD 18501). $32.00

Split album between Rovo (featuring Yuji Katsui & the Boredoms' Seiichi Yamamoto; previous album, Imago, on Incidental) and Date Course Pentagon Royal Garden (new group featuring Ground Zero's Otomo Yoshihide & Yasuhiro Yoshigaki). Each group with one 30+ minute track. Deluxe 3D packaging on this first release. Limited available stock.

DATE COURSE PENTAGON ROYAL GARDEN: Report From Iron Mountain CD (PCD 18502). $32.00

First full album from Date Course Pentagon Royal Garden. Their complete lineup is: Naruyoshi Kikuchi (VOX-Jagar, CD-J, keyboard), Yoshihide Otomo (guitar), Kohki Takai (guitar, filter), Yasuhiro Yoshigaki (drums), Nobuo Fujii (drums), Masaki Kurihara (bass), Kenta Tsugami (soprano sax) Yoshihiro Goseki (tenor sax), Masayasu Tzoboguchi (synthesizer, electric piano, clavinet), Gen Ohgimi (percussion), Masaki Yoshimi (tabla). Guest: Itoken (drums, tambourin).

RA & HIS ARKESTRA, SUN: Live At Montreux 2CD (PCD 22032/3). $35.00

First CD issue of this classic mid-70s double album, recorded at the Montreux Festival in Switzerland, 7/9/76. Packaged in a beautiful mini-LP styled gatefold jacket, featuring 24-bit digital remastering. Originally issued on Saturn, later reissued to a much wider distribution on Inner City in 1978.

RA & HIS ARKESTRA, SUN: Cosmos CD (PCD 22034). $21.00

Second CD reissue of this 1976 album, packaged in a Japanese mini-LP jacket; feat. 24-bit digital remastering. Originally issued on the Cobra label in France (most commonly seen in the US on Inner City); previous CD was on Spalax. Recorded August of 1976 in the Studio Hautefeuille, Paris. Seven tracks: "The Mystery of Two," "Interstellar Low-Ways," "Neo-Project #2," "Cosmos," "Moonshine Journey," "Journey Among The Stars" & "Jazz From An Unknown Planet". Featuring a core line up of: Ra, Elloe Omoe, Danny Thompson, Marshall Allen, John Gilmore, Danny Davis, James Jackson, Craig Harris, Ahmed Abdullah, Vincent Chancy, Larry Bright & R. Anthony Bunn.

O'ROURKE, JIM: Tamper CD (PCD 23008). $22.00

These 2 early O'Rourke albums, originally issued by the Australian label Extreme (and out of print for the past few years) have now been reissued as Japanese imports on P-Vine, with cute new packaging. Evidently so much cigarette smoke has clouded Jim's interior thought process that he has allowed these early works to regain public consumption potentiality (the series subtitle, "Jim O'Rourke Old Series" might indicate even more will be on the way). Notoriously dismissive of his own work in the past, it's a nice gesture to see these on the shelves again. Because pleasure is what it's all about (even cigarettes can evidently provide pleasure), and these discs deliver it in pure, billowing form. Tamper was O'Rourke's first solo CD release (following the long neglected LP-only The Ground Below Above Our Heads on Entenpfuhl), originally released by Extreme in 1991. It features three longish compositions for small chamber groupings: "Spirits Never Forgive" (Warren Fischer: violins; O'Rourke: cello, percussion, electronics); "He Felt The Patient Memory of a Reluctant Sea" (Ken Novotny: clarinets; O'Rourke: oboe, percussion); "Ascend Through Unspoken Shadow" (Jeff Cortazzo: bass trombones; Fischer: violins; Dave Klingelhoffer: cellos; Novotny: bass clarinets; Sue Wolf: cellos). Although scored for mostly acoustic instruments ("Ascend..." is scored for 8 bass clarinets, 8 bass trombones, 8 cellos and 4 violins for example), electronic ambience bursts forth via the dense mixing. Retrospectively impressive.

O'ROURKE, JIM: Remove The Need CD (PCD 23009). $22.00

Remove The Need is an album of prepared guitar live excerpts, recorded in Chicago and Zurich in 1992. Shimmering drone forms that ebb and flow in a perfect human drama. "All tracks were recorded live, and, as such, there will be those occasional pleasant noises that always seem to happen when you are recording. All were improvised as heard, and, except for reverb, no effects or processing were used." — O'Rourke.

LOW: Paris 1999: "Anthony, Are You Around?" CD (PCD 23113). $21.00

Japanese-only live release, recorded in Paris, Nov. 5th, 1999. "This is the recording of a small victory...the first sight at the end of a tunnel in a city we will never forget. The set is a mix of mostly material from Secret Name, some very old songs like 'Lazy' and 'Rope' (which we hardly ever play) and rare singles 'Joan of Arc' and 'No Need'." — Low.

NUSPIRIT HELSINKI: Singles Collection For Japan Only CD (PCD 23278). $21.00

"The collection of the tracks from the 12 inches and the compilations, including the full versions of 'Kasio Funk' and 'Afro Cuban Sunshine'. The other tracks are 'Take It Back', 'It's Alright', 'Colors of My Mind', 'You're in My Mind', 'Change', 'Makoomba Breaks' etc. Multi-talented 14-piece Finnish collective Nuspirt Helsinki have made a few dents on the European eclectic electronica scene already, with a handful of stunning productions for the Guidance, Ubiquity and Jazzanova-Compost labels. Their debut album pushes the crew further up the quality ladder with it's sumptuous jazz/hip hop/soul/house/broken beat fusion."

CYNE: Collection 1999-2003 CD (PCD 23369). $21.00

Japanese-only release, licensed from Botanica del Jibaro, compiling their previous 12"-only tracks on BDJ and Rice & Beans. "Collection of Cyne's work. Cyne is Speck, Enoch, Akin and Cise Star. Includes all Cyne tracks (minus remixes) from African Elephants, Midas and Movements 12" plus release. CD has guest appearances by DJ Infamous (the-Allies) and Algorithm (Counterflow/Botanica del Jibaro)."

CYNE: Time Being CD (PCD 23402). $21.00

Japanese version of the debut album from Miami's Cyne, following their Collections CD. CYNE is Speck, Enoch, Akin and Cise Star, previously associated with the Botanica del Jibaro label. Featuring remixes from Manuvers, Enoch, Spec, with guest Blak Lungz.

DATE COURSE PENTAGON ROYAL GARDEN: 3rd: General Representation Products Chain Drastism 1-CD CD (PCD 24131). $21.00

Third album. DCPRG are the recently developed group featuring Ground Zero's Otomo Yoshihide & Yasuhiro Yoshigaki; their first album was a split release with ROVO. This one features remixes/reconstructions by: Rei Harakami, Tasuya Oe, DJ Quietstorm, Otomo Yoshihide, DJ Me DJ You, Kazunao Nagata & The City Connection.

SANGATSU: Remixes Vol. 1 CD (PCD 4207). $15.00

First of 3 CD EPs of remixes of the Japanese post-rock Sangatsu (previous eponymous debut album on P-Vine produced by Jim O'Rourke). This volume features remixes by: Susumu Yokota, Arovane, and Woodman. Future volumes will feature remixes by Bundy K. Brown, Mondii, Pele, etc.

LAS ROTURAS: CD (PCD 5109). $18.00

Weird Latin-breaks and musical craziness from M.O.O.D.M.A.N. and the Los Apson crew. This movement remains quite unknown on a worldwide basis, but records like this and the incredible Killed By Bass CD (a recent M.O.O.D.M.A.N. "compilation" on P-Vine) are too devastatingly weird to remain out of the hands of the curious for much longer. Described as "This is incredible break-beats album for listening & scratching, with many samplings of 50s — 70s Latin stuff. Terribly wild but cool," this album reveals layers of inexplicable Japanese humor and sampling inertia at every corner. Extreme spinbacks, prismatic collage of disparate elements (jazz riffs, slow breaks, vibes distortion, numbingly tweaked weirdbeat electronics), and a unique death-mask editorial voice fuse this one into something far outside the typical exotic-mix fare.

DJ VADIM: Presents Sculpture & Broken Sound CD (PCD 5209). $22.00

"Hmm... Appears to be a Japanese-only mix of tracks licensed/compiled from Vadim's Jazz Fudge roster, only fine print reveals 'Compiled by Masaaki Hara & Taro Nijikama (Soup-Disk)'. Either way, a fine selection of JF/SD tracks & remixes by/from Mister Serv, Part 2, Andre Gurov (Vadim) & Jupiter, Mark B, Daniel Pemberton, Little Aida (younger brother Pierre), Ruf Neck Piano, DJ Eight, Faultline, The Project, Patterson, The Bug, and Skull V. Nice flow, a few great (if short) abstract tracks & (almost) no rhyming (for the purist). As functional of an introduction to these two fine recording organizations as any." — Hrvatski.

VA: [Invasion of the Dot Knights!] CD (PCD 5361). $18.00

"Japanese only CD-compilo of material released on Sweden's Dot label (highly lauded/touted full-spectrum 'electronica, about as quality-control obsessed as a label can get), featuring recent tracks from Quant, Roupe, Friend & Doktor Kosmos (whose recent Cardigans-related 'Single of the Week' was re-issued stateside via Minty Fresh!), Hab, Star, Argonort, and Man-Q-Neon. Not to be confused with the original Swedish Dot comp The Knights Who Say Dot; only 1 track overlaps, the rest are vinyl-only single tracks on CD for the first time here, or previously unreleased altogether. Musically, we get 11 tracks of cosmo-funk synth-freak (heavy on the analogues), live-feel space-jungle, downtempo make-out breaks, etc..., all of which are soothingly non-offensive. Includes full Japanese-language bios of each artist and a Dot-ography of sorts. An ultimately pleasing offering, providing a graphically superior intro to this up-and-still-coming commune of obscure-knob-twiddlers." — Hrvatski

VA: Cheap. Have A Cigar, My Friend CD (PCD 5404). $22.00

"Long overdue selection of vintage (1993-1998) wax-only madness from this Viennese recording society associated with producer Patrick Pulsinger (iO, Sluts & Strings, Showroom Recordings, etc...) & like minded buddies. Included here: 3 tracks from Showroom Recordings, 2 from Sokol, and one each from iO, Restaurant Trax, Reimann, Cube & Sphere (Potuznik & Hans 'H.P.' Platzgumer), LZ1, Robert Hood, Sluts 'n' Strings & 909, and Christopher Just. A loose selection featuring the more unorthodox electro-funk, midtempo feedback jazz, hi-squelch stereo, & phase-pan sessions pressed over the last five years." — Hrvatski.

VA: Cheap. Five Years In Satan's Ass CD (PCD 5405). $22.00

"Second volume, focusing on the out-techno explosions most commonly associated with Cheap. Included here: 2 tracks each from Sluts 'n' Strings, Restaurant Tracks, Gerhard Potuznik (Mego/GiGuptight), iO (Mo' Wax), & one each from Kentolevi, Robert Hood, Lazer Muzik & DJ SIL. Sähkö-obsessives beware: Not only do you get 1/2 of Mika Vainio's long o/p 'Kentolevi' EP, but 1/2 of Suzanne Brokesch's DJ SIL single as well, which floats around the same textures & sonics used on her classic 'Tal-S' release. Most tracks predate the current less-is-more fad (to greater effect) by some time. The perfect shallow-end for you to wade into the much deeper selection of non-information oriented vinyl singles from this massively influential label. Think big." — Hrvatski.

VA: Reel: Organised by Reel CD (PCD 5410). $20.00

Japanese-only compilation of tracks from the UK label Reel (offshoot of the now defunct Clear label). Proponents of a post-Detroit Intelligent House Music (IHM!), moody atmosphere, advanced non-4/4 programming and no divas allowed. Beautifully produced stuff. Features tracks from Daniel Ibbotson, Keisuke Nagao, B12 (Warp), C.S.M. (Serotonin's John Selway & Carlos Vasquez, plus a John Beltran remix), Deepart. The Nagao and B12 tracks are previously unreleased exclusives; the C.S.M. and Deepart tracks are previously only available on Reel 12"s. The Daniel Ibbotson tracks are taken from his now deleted (?) New Stories full length on Reel (his debut album, predating the recent Streamlines on Glasgow Underground).

DJ SASSE: Presents Moodmusic CD (PCD 5493). $22.00

Japanese-only compilation of tracks from Sähkö/PUU recording artist DJ Sasse (aka Klas Lindblad, who has recorded as/with Freestyle Man, Celsius, Morris Brown, Sasse Presents, Winston Fletcher, Stalmann, etc.). This features previously vinyl-only tracks recorded for Moodmusic/Mind Records in Finland, as well as exclusive tracks. When the PUU label is mentioned to me I think about a certain jazz-lounge, but there is none of that here. It's a Finnish variant on the deep house crescendo and not all that dissimilar to the amazing High Rise album by Ysatis Savas that Tresor recently released. Explosive, heavy.

ALLEN WITH AFRICA 70. TONY: Jealousy/Progress CD (PCD 5551). $22.00

First in a series of what were originally Japanese-only two-fer releases of these classic 70s albums from Fela drummer Tony Allen (most recently known for his inspirational Black Voices album on Comet) — later licensed to Strut. "Some classic Tony 'Oladipo (Ladi) Alabi' Allen (first drum chair in Fela's group(s), from the mid-60s 'Fela Ransome-Kuti Quartet' clear through the 70's with 'Afrika 70' sides. Both albums feature side-long tracks: 'Jealousy' (1975, b/w 'Hustler') and 'Progress' (1977, b/w 'Afro Disco Beat'). Allen cut a handful of solo albums under the production/arrangement/accompaniment auspices of his boss and the Afrika 70 group which differ from Fela-led outings only slightly by featuring lyrics written by Tony & Candido Obajimi (and the occasional drum solo, natch). Monumental additions to the Afrobeat canon featuring an unheralded set of genius-level players well in their prime of pure minimalist placement and single-mind group-thought." — Hrvatski.

HACO: Happiness Proof CD (PCD 5558). $22.00

New project featuring Haco (ex-After Dinner vocalist, HOAHIO ). Japanese-only release. Features Haco on vocals, sampler, rhythm box, synthesizer, guitars, etc., plus numerous guests: Peter Hollinger (drums), Yamamoto Seiichi (guitar), Pierre Bastien and his Mecanum (African drums, violins, African Harp), Uchihasi Kazuhisa (guitar), Otomo Yoshihide (turntables), a number of others. A wide variety of pop and non-pop based constructions from one of the leading figures of the Japanese underground for the past 2 decades.

VA: Weather 2CD (PCD 5649/50). $32.00

"Collection of erstwhile (Chicago ca. 1998) in form, yet modern in presentation Japanese artists running amok amidst the presence of scenester Atsushi Sasaki (Headz/Fader magazine, also he of the late/lamented Meme label). Two themed disc-selections, one all-instrumental (Songs, mostly Gastr-Del-Tortoise leaning ensembles), one vocal groups (Voices, ditto, far more mainstream J-Pop sensibilities, Stereolab). Standouts: Potoratch's short vocal & drum plunderphonic etude, Minamo's drone followed by imperceptible clicking fading up into punch-in/out edits, GROUP's extended guitar and electronics rustler, Tujiko Noriko's (Mego connection, pay attention...) pained laptop-concrete warbler. Curious mix of straight up live-band dynamics and newfound experimental technological interventions and avenues (VST Plugins, seemingly everywhere, live to glass recording methods, software compression/maximization). It's your duty to listen now, for the future. Soft, mostly." — Hrvatski.

WORLD STANDARD + KAMA AINA: Futari: Anthology Of Barbarian Folk Music CD

(PCD 5664). $21.00

"Futari is a serial collaboration project of Soichiro Suzuki (a.k.a. World Standard) In that project, he's going to collaborate with friends who are engrossed in music deeply. They spent more time than ordinary collaboration work. They make music by exchanging sound data and e-mails without meeting. The chemistry of them produces something new. It will be quite different from their past works. The 2nd release of the project is with Kama Aina (Aoyagi Takuji)." Thematic packaging that is similar to the 333 004 release (Futari: Graceful Silence).

KOSUGI, TAKEHISA: Violin Solo 1980 N.Y.C. CD (PCD 5765). $21.00

A previously unreleased solo violin performance by the founder of the Taj Mahal Travellers and legendary Fluxus conceptualist. Active since the 1960s, Kosugi has more recently served as the music director for the Merce Cunningham Dance Troupe. He is currently involved with the composing and performance of impromptu music and electronic multimedia music. To be brief, Kosugi is one of the most important and influential Japanese experimental avant-gardists, alongside the likes of Yasunao Tone, Toshi Ichiyanagi & Yuji Takahashi. This album was recorded by Kazunori Sugiyama, 6/22/80, in NYC, and features a breathtakingly live solo violin performance.

NAGISA NI TE: On The Love Beach CD (PCD 5810). $21.00

"Reissues of the three Nagisa Ni Te albums originally released on the Osaka-based, barely distributed Org label. Org are probably best known for the monumental Return To Rock Mass 3CD by primitive mystics Maher Shalal Hash Baz, portions of which were reissued in a more user-friendly form on the recent Geographic retrospective, From A Summer To Another Summer (An Egypt To Another Egypt). But delving deeper into the Org label can turn up a clutch of other lo-fi psych-pop gems. Perhaps chief amongst them are the albums by label head Shinji Shibayama. Shibayama has been a mysteriously central figure in the Kansai psych underground since the '80s, showing up a clutch of barely documented units like Idiot O'Clock, Yakeppachi no Maria, Hallelujahs (whose sole album of misty folk-psych was the first release on Org and was later reissued by PSF), Love Beach, Cold Breath (in the rain) Rock n Roll Band, and probably several more. Nagisa Ni Te is his crowning moment, though. Their three albums are wide-eyed and wonderful paeans to the delights of love and togetherness (the group's core is Shibayama and his partner-muse Masako Takeda) that seem permeated on some cellular level with a power to invoke memory. Dreamily recollected feelings of wistful regret at the end of the summer holidays, unforgettable reveries, and joyful instances of boy-girl oneness when time seems to stop. Moments of childlike wonder-melody are wrapped up in arrangements that are at once spontaneous and perfectly realised. Honesty and direct simplicity are the keywords, songs sometimes trembling on that ever so fine edge between profundity and profound embarrassment as songs are stripped back to the bare bones of punk emotiveness. At times, Shinji and Masako's vocals crack and tremble, the acoustic strumming falters, and they seem on the verge of plummeting into an abyss of abject amateur ineptitude, borne up merely by the thinnest layer of conviction and deep truth. It would be a mistake, however, to try to rank Nagisa Ni Te with the (perceived) innocence of your Shonen Knives. While they do aim to evoke childhood experience and response, this is a deliberate attempt to create a simpler personal world, one that finds its own values far from the everyday realities of life in an Osaka suburb. Furthermore, the pop sensibility that informs the group's music is one that has drunk deep on Tims Hardin and Buckley, the Velvet, Kevin Ayers, Leonard Cohen, Peter Dinklage, Anthony Moore, Fujio Yamaguchi — wherever blinding instants of musical epiphany have seized the quiet soul, Nagisa Ni Te have followed. In a way, their exploration of emotions and everyday satoris are as single-minded as Merzbow's is of noise, or Haino's is of mystery. Each of their albums has something unique to recommend it. The debut, On The Love Beach, is essentially a Shibayama solo album, with overdubbed contributions from a clutch of friends, including Chie Mukai, Kenichi 'Idiot' Takayama, early Hijokaidan member Naoki Zushi, Maher-ists Tori Kudo and Hiro Nakazaki, and drummer Ikuro Takahashi. On the original Org release, Masako was credited with (no sniggering at the back) 'wind' throughout. It's perhaps the most pop of the three releases, focusing as it does on Shibayama's vocals. The way the rhythm slows for an instant before the closing fuzz guitar solo on the title track still raises chills no matter how many times I hear it." —Alan Cummings/Oppobrium. Originally issued as ORG-007 in Nov. 1995.

NAGISA NI TE: Feel CD (PCD 5812). $21.00

The fourth Nagisa Ni Te album to be released by P-Vine. Licensed from Org, but I don't think this one ever appeared in prior form, so this is the first issue. As with the previous 3 releases, this is luxuriously packaged in a beautiful mini-LP gatefold sleeve and features a booklet of English-translated lyrics. Studio recordings from 2000-01, again formed around the core duo of Masako Takeda and Shinji Shibayama, with occasional guests. Some listed instrumentation: 12-string acoustic guitar, mellotron, Leslie Switch, backwards fuzz guitar, triangle, hi-hat, uni-vibe guitar, accordion, ocarino, mandolin, mini-gong, Mirano echo chamber, restrained lead guitar, finger snaps, seaweed guitar, metal tray, sanba, tambourine, wave guitar, punch, unrestrained lead guitar, etc. To be released by Jaguar in the US. Limited stock.

TOKYO KID BROTHERS: 6CD (PCD 7201/6). $170.00

The Tokyo Kid Brothers was a Japanese theatre commune founded around 1969. They created a unique combination of theatre, dance and music, for 30+ years. Documentation in the CD era has been slim, until now, with this massive 6CD box (that realistically, probably won't be around for very long). The box breaks up their material by originating label, so we can at least inform you of the following (thanks to Alan Cummings for the details): CD1: Polydor material — the last 12 tracks on this are the original Golden Bat album, released in 1971. The first 14 are from much later, from a play called The Lost Color Blue. CD2: King label material. First 10 tracks are from One and the Same Door. Next 2 are from the Golden Bat Returns. The rest of this seems to be unreleased early 70s material. CD3: Warner Pioneer label; this is mostly an unreleased 1975 album called October is the Golden Country. CD4: Victor label stuff from the 77 revival of Golden Bat, as well as some of the Throw Down Your Books material — only the tracks which involved Tokyo Kid. CD5: Toshiba EMI material. CD6: Independent material including that self-released Love & Banana EP and a mixture of other unreleased stuff, origin unknown. P-Vine's press info follows: "6 CD set, with the 100 pages booklets containing their biographical information, posters and leaflets for each musical work, the photos of the stages, actors profiles etc. Most of their songs were composed by Kei Ogura. Along with his works, the songs by Itsuro Shimoda, Ryō Kanou, Takayuki Inoue, Hiroshi Kamayatsu, Katsuo Ono, Yoshihru Matsuzaki, Ryūdō Uzaki, Masumi Ono, Yoshikazu Fukano are recorded. Also the read lines by Kyōhei Shibata, Koichi Miura and Naoko Tsubota are featured. The rare recordings by Haruomi Hosono, Takashi Matsumoto, Hiro Yanagida, and Chu Kosaka are included. Limited edition of 700 copies." This is a substantial package, but pretty much all of the information is in Japanese-only form. For fanatics only.

GOLDEN CUPS/MOPS/HAPPENING FOUR: Rock'N'Roll Jam'70 2CD (PCD 7228/9).*$40.00

Double CD reissue of a long o/p double album on the Express label, featuring 4 representatives of the Japanese Group Sounds movement. "The live recording of the allstar session in January 1970 in 'Tokyo Young Mates'. Golden Cups, Mops, Happening Four, and Flowers etc."

GOLDEN CUPS: The Golden Cups 10CD BOX (PCD 7229/38). $265.00

Includes every album released by The Golden Cups: The Golden Cups Album (1968), The Golden Cups Vol. 2 (1968), The Golden Cups Album Vol. 3: Blues Message (1969), Super Live Session (1969), Recital (1969), Return of the Golden Cups 8 (1971), Live Album (1971), Single Collection, Powerhouse, and Hello Party. "In 1966 the cosmopolitan port town of Yokohama proved the perfect breeding ground for the new Group Sounds. Just as in Liverpool and Hamburg, the local kids were exposed to a wealth of foreign culture not readily available to the typical Japanese teen. Kids with friends from the base got to watch shows like American Bandstand, while the chances of their less-fortunate peers catching British or American bands on Japanese TV shows were next to nil. Yokohama had its own exotic culture, and it was there that, in December, the Golden Cups were born. Initially using the name Group and I, they became the house band at the Golden Cup discotheque near the Honmoku army base. Their clientele was made up mainly of GI's, and their set list entirely of covers: 'One More Time' (Them), 'Evil Woman' (Canned Heat), 'Gloria', 'Stroll On', 'I Got My Mojo Workin' (their opening tune), 'I Feel Good' (James Brown), 'Work Song' (Paul Butterfield Blues Band), etc. Sadly no recorded document of this period survives. 1967 also saw the Cups hit the road, if only for a short distance, for an important stand at la Seine, a popular Jazz Kissa (or Jazz Tea Room) in Tokyo. The band had something of a split personality live, depending on where they were playing. If they were at a club or Jazz Kissa, they'd play their fave tunes and put on a wild show; but if they were giving a 'recital' at a large concert hall, they were forced to perform their dull commercial material, often with an orchestra for accompaniment. The Cups gave their final concert on New Year's Eve, 1972 in an Okinawa discotheque. Just as at the beginning of their career, the audience was mainly American GI's. Since it was their last show, the band played their big hit 'Nagai Kami no Shoujo', but no one in the audience recognized it. It was at this point that Jorge Yanagi noticed a strange smell, and, opening the curtain behind the drum kit, discovered the building was on fire! The Cups yelled 'Fire! Fire!' in an effort to clear the room, but many in the drunken crowd thought they were introducing the next song, and called for them to start playing again! Eventually everyone got out, but the Cups had lost all of their instruments, and weren't even paid what they were guaranteed for the show. A sad end for one of Japan's most important GS bands." Each CD comes as a digipak with original artwork. Box also includes a 152 page booklet.

ALLEN AND AFRO MESSENGERS, TONY: No Discrimination LP (PLP 6592). $14.00

Last remaining title in this P-Vine Tony Allen repress series. Price on these Japanese LPs has been drastically reduced due to the impending release of cheaper UK versions on Strut. Vinyl reproductions of the first 4 Tony Allen LPs (also issued as two-fers on CD: Jealousy/Progress (PCD 5551) and No Accommodation for Lagos/No Discrimination (PCD 5552)). We commented upon release these that these LPs were perhaps a little bit disappointing in look and feel, especially as they are actually pressed in the US, not Japan. P-Vine responded to our comments and we would like to point out a few things that they mentioned: these LPs have been carefully remastered in Japanese mastering labs from original vinyl copies — the master tapes were destroyed by Tony Allen for political reasons. A lot of effort in the mastering was spent to try to make the LPs to make the vinyl "eligible even for today's club DJ use" and are in fact mastered quite differently to the CD versions. European DJs have responded by saying the sound quality is far superior to the original pressings. In fact, P-Vine feels that in 20 years of reissue business that they have never spent as much time, effort and money on a project as these LPs.

YOSHIIHIDE, OTOMO: Lupin The Third Ending Theme 12" (PLP 6852). $16.00

Clear vinyl 12" with three versions of "Lupin The Third Ending Theme". Two of the tracks can be found on the CD version (PCD 5804), one is exclusive to this vinyl release.

GOLDEN CUPS, THE: Super Live Session LP (PLP 7614). $35.00

I don't think this was previously issued by P-Vine as a CD, but here is a LP reissue (in full color gatefold sleeve) of the 4th Golden Cups album, a live recording released in 1969. These guys were part of the 60s "Group Sounds" movement in Japan, mainly focussing on playing covers of American garage rock. Super Live Session captures the Cups in their 'Jazz Kissa' incarnation at a Yokohama club called The Zen, performing the music they preferred to play and ignoring their sappy hits. It's still largely blues-based rock, but played with more verve and creativity than on Blues Message. Highlights include a nearly unrecognizable (compared with the Artwoods version) 'One More Heartache,' and a sprawling take of 'Gloria'. Kabe provided the jacket's psychedelic artwork, hand painted on a Fusuma (a traditional Japanese room screen)."

P22 RECORDS:*VA: Il Futurismo CD (P22 005). $13.00

"The first ever soundtrack to a font. Experimental music inspired by the Italian Futurist Movement 1908-1943. CD includes a bonus font." "Compendium of very-post-1920 actions (with a certain Futurist bent) by a (mostly) dead-obscure obscure lot of sonic idealists. Featured: Daniel Lewis, XJ Donahue, Tony Conrad, John Avery Bice, Intonarumori, An Odessa Artery, Paul Szp, Hiens Hoffman-Richter, and Tom Kostusiak. The CD extra portion contains a P22 font catalogue and a free 'Dada' font (bitmapped, postscript and TrueType suitcases) for use on most hybrid end-user computation stations. The Tony Conrad track is an odd one alright; Midi-repeat attack melodies and some classy sprech-stimme employed to 'cover' a 'typical wartime hymn', and at 14 minutes in length it's a quarter of the CD. Confounding." — Hrvtaski.

PACEMAKER (CANADA):*49TH PARALLEL: CD (PACE 019). $13.00

1997 legit reissue of this late 60s Hollywood-via-Calgary garage psych rarity. Previously bootlegged by the UK Flashback label; this version adds 6 additional bonus tracks. A jumble of late 60s styles that doesn't really coalesce into something all that desirable, but if you've never found the opportunity to use the term "Calgarian" in normal conversation, here's your chance.

JARVIS STREET REVUE: Mr. Oil Man CD (PACE 033). $16.00

"Blistering heavy psychedelic classic, with wailing walls of Hendrix-influenced guitars, and pro-environment/anti-corporate-businessman lyrics that are at least as relevant today as they were at the time of the album's release. Superior digipack replica of the band's ultra-rare and prohibitively expensive only LP, first released by Columbia Records (Canada-only) in 1970. Remastered from the original tapes & supplemented by eight bonus tracks — two singles tracks plus all six tracks recorded for their incomplete unreleased 2nd album."

PRITCHARD, DAVID: Nocturnal Earthworm Stew CD (PACE 044CD). $15.00

"An incredible pioneering electronic album recorded in the early 1970's, from the first Canadian artist signed to Island Records. Serious headphone music made under the influence of Stockhausen, John Cage, Ornette Coleman, Stravinsky, Frank Zappa, Weather Report, Charles Ives and others — and with a sound that's often compared to that of early Eno and the first two Kraftwerk albums. Indefinable compositions integrate the earliest of portable synthesizers (ARP 2600 and EMS AKS) with acoustic instruments (violin, cello, dulcimer, electric violin, electric guitar), found sounds (short-wave radio transmissions and a summer thunderstorm) and random objects (instant coffee jar, scissors, chopsticks, among others) — they also have special contributions from Nash the Slash (a.k.a. Jeff Plewman) and Martin Deller of famed Canadian band FM. Sixteen-page booklet has an abundance of photos, track by track information, and the odd history of these seminal recordings told by David Pritchard himself. Includes four bonus tracks not on the original 1976 Island LP release."

PALACE RECORDS:*ANOMOANON, THE: The Anomoanon CD (PAL 025 CD). $13.50

"Though this is The Anomoanon's third full-length release, it is in a way their debut album, at last giving listeners a closer idea of their electrifying live sound. The Anomoanon is a deliberate endeavor to push Rove's expanding sonic boundaries and make a layered studio album. The highly listenable result confirms that life imitates art: The Anomoanon, studio artists, sound like The Anomoanon, electrifying 5-piece live act."

ANOMOANON, THE: The Anomoanon LP (PAL 025 LP). $12.00*BILLY, BONNIE 'PRINCE': Ease Down The Road LP (PAL 026 LP). $13.50

PALENQUE RECORDS (FRANCE):*VA: Champeta Criolla Vol. 2 CD (PAL 1087). $15.00

Subtitled: Visionary Black music from underground Colombiafrica. "With the best Afro-Colombian bands — Batata Y Su Rumba Palenquera; Groupe 'Son Palenque' & Justo Valdez; Groupe 'Son San'; Luis Towers; La Tripleta Palenquera; Mister Black; The King Elio Boom; Monsieur; Boogaloo; Charles King; El Afinaito; Viviano Torres & Anne Swing; Candido Dr De La Terapia; Rey De Rocha Sound System With Dj Chawala..... And Many More. Compiled by DJ Superchampeta Man, Queen Salawa Abeni & MC Iba. Palenque Records comin' back attcha with some African ashé, happy and proud to bring you Afro-Colombian music from the Caribbean coast — the Champeta Criolla. This is the new musical universe created by blacks from my locombian land: African guitar with voices from the hood, Latin Soukous, Afro-American Highlife, tropical mariguano Afro-beat, Cumbia Soweto — in other words, a wild mix of music, no passports please. Dear melody-maniacs, Champeta is the most explosive rhythm out of the Caribbean's belly since the end of the century, and it's rewriting the 'New Testament of Afro-American music'. 40 years ago, crazy sailors coming from Africa arrived in Cartagena, bringing with them albums bought during their shameless nights of folly. This was stuff like the celestial music of Prince Nico Mbarga (Cameroon-Nigeria), the Oriental Brothers (Nigeria), Tabu Ley Rochereau & Mbilia Bell du Congo, and a long list of the 'Highlife Master Messengers', who made music both feet firmly rooted in the Earth, near the spirits of the ancestors. Thanks to these anonymous travelers, and to the vitality of my Afro-Colombian brothers who have made African music the rhythm of their hearts, in less than 10 years Colombia has become the 'Soukous Republic of America'. Today, these African stars provide major inspiration for thousands of youth who dream of forming their own groups to play Soukous and Highlife in the streets of my great country. Sound systems are the musical conservatories of marginal suburbia. They are the University of African History for hundreds of young champetuos — the true 'Papa Sabor' of all the boyz-in-tha-hood, the future U-Roys, Big Youths or Beenie Man of Colombia inspired by these giant machines of bestial sound to change the direction of our street music — Yeah white man, as I told you!! Locombia is not what you think! In 1998, was born the label Palenque Records with its first album, Champeta Criolla - New African Music From Colombia - Vol. 1. It was the first Champeta record published outside the frontiers of our Caribbean. Today, after 2 years of intense musical and cinematic work, we are coming back with this production, Champeta Criolla Vol. 2 - Visionary Black Music From Underground Colombiafrica — a new stone in the pyramidal construction of our underground Afro-Colombian sound. Listen to the sounds of a new country, being built even as I write these lines. An African-Colombia rising beautifully on the ruins of our colonial past."

PALETTE (UK):*TEJADA, JOHN: Backstock CD (PAL 01CD). $15.00

A compilation of tracks by John Tejada from his own Palette recordings label, mixed by John himself. 20 tracks in all, most from the Palette back catalog, a couple from Seventh City also thrown in. Arian Leviste and Titonton DuVante also contribute. 2 tracks previously unreleased. "A stunning compilation, this is a feverish DJ set of some of his outstanding pieces of techno house music from the last few years, proving his obvious skill as a cutting club DJ as well as a very talented producer."

PANAMA RECORDS (NETHERLANDS):*SPOONICH: Laser Dance 12" (PAN 002). $11.50

"Spoonich: Laserdance: The ultimate electronic dance record made in 1979. And one of the most sought after. No dance floor will remain intact after this one. Originally the b-side of a rock jam, now on the a-side of a genuine Panama record. On the B-side two other killer tracks which are ultra rare finally re-pressed: Wanexa: 'The Man from Colours' / Expansives: 'Life With You'. After a long search I-f managed to track down one of the most important creators of Italo music in Milan. Pioneering since 1981 the magic duo Rago & Farina made several records that blew minds all over the galaxy and inspired many more. This resulted in the license of 'Electric Workers' — Robot is systematic early 2002. But Panama records got an eye on 2 more records from those guys made in the same period of time. After another visit we finally got word on releasing 2 other very important tracks from the Masters of Milan...so here it is after being 21 years in the closet in a limited edition on Panama records."

PANDURTRO (UK):*CURRENT 93: The Seahorse Rears To Oblivion LP (PANDURT 003). $38.00

"Limited edition of 375 copies numbered and signed by Tibet with two-sided insert sheet with lyrics and credits, and numbered lithograph drawn and signed by Tibet. 220 gram black vinyl with full colour labels. Full colour sleeve with 5mm spine. Contains 4 versions of the previously unreleased (except on bootleg) C93 track that was originally planned for inclusion on Soft Black Stars; three demo versions and one version live in New York." Limited stock.

PANTALEIMON: Change My World CD (PANDURT 005). $15.00

"Their first release since the beautifully haunting Trees Hold Time. Features the dreamlike and mesmerising title track plus instrumental version; recorded by Michael Lawrence and mixed by Steven Stapleton. These tracks also serve as an introduction to the forthcoming album by Pantaleimon, which is due for release at the end of 2003. Also included are three songs recorded live at the Bloomsbury Theatre, London in 2001: 'Bowing & Parting' and 'Trees Hold Time', accompanied by John Contreras on cello; 'Nature's Child Sitting on the Mountain of Suan Mok' with John Contreras (cello), Joe Budenholzer (guitar) and Ryan Lowe (backing vocals). Mixed by Michael Lawrence and Andria Degens. Full colour, 4-panel digipak with full colour gold CD, featuring cover photograph of the artist tinted by Cosy Fanni Tutti."

CURRENT 93: The Seahorse Rears To Oblivion CD (PANDURT 006). $18.00

"6 panelled full-colour digipak with lyrics. Contains the same material as PanDurtro 003. Contains 4 versions of the previously unreleased (except on bootleg) C93 track that was originally planned for inclusion on Soft Black Stars; three demo versions and one version live in New York. Limited to 1000 copies."

ANTONY AND CURRENT 93: Live At St. Olave's Church, London 2002 CD (PANDURT 007). $18.00

"3 tracks by Antony ('You Stand Above Me'; 'The Lake'; 'Cripple And The Starfish') and 3 tracks by C93 ('Judas As Black Moth'; 'Sleep Has His House'; 'Walking Like Shadow'), recorded live at their sold-out shows in London last year. CD single in thin jewel case. Cover design and CD design by Antony, with replicas of the tickets for the shows and brief liner notes." Limited release at album pricing.

LIGOTTI & BRANDON TRENZ, THOMAS: Crampton BOOK/CD (PANDURT TL). $32.00

"The new book by Tibet's favourite author, co-written with Brandon Trenz. Written in the form of a film script, this is one of the most disturbing and hallucinatory dramas that Ligotti has yet written. 110 page quality trade paperback. Shrunk-wrap, with accompanying CD, The Unholy City, in slipcase (PanDurtro 010) of dream-texts, connected with Crampton, written, spoken and played by Ligotti. 500 copies printed."

PAPER BAG RECORDS (CANADA):*CONTROLLER.CONTROLLER: History CD (PAPER 009CD). $10.00

"Controller.Controller's sound is an energetic, rhythmic postpunk rock, taking a cue from late '70s/early '80s bands like P.I.L., The Slits and Joy Division, but departing significantly from there. It's about tension and opposition, juxtaposing discordant and jagged rhythms with disarmingly pretty melody and counter-melody. They wed propulsive, angular rock structures with minimalist death-disco accents and grooves that seductively embrace sometimes sweet and sometimes barking vocals."

CONTROLLER.CONTROLLER: History LP (PAPER 009LP). $11.00

LP version.

PAPERPLANE (UK):*MADRID: Remixes 12" (SV 06). $10.00

"After its self-released and critically acclaimed debut CD, Madrid has started to expand its web, through three collaborations — remixes, they somehow call them — with three unique talents. Hailing from somewhere between Richmond, Virginia and Chicago, 'city of lights', Pan American is Mark Nelson, he of Labradford fame. His track takes the sometimes ethereal sound of Madrid and puts it in a new context, redefining it as a cross between Basic Channel's dub excursions, Moodymann lo-fi house twang, and Alice Coltrane's abstract, solemn, heartbreaking soundscapes. A true masterpiece. Before giving way to Bruce Gilbert's own reworking of Madrid — someone well advised said, 'this sure is a Bruce thing'... That is, no one could ever dare to compete with that abrasive and yet so cohesive sound Mr. Gilbert has defined and refined, starting from his days with post-punks Wire all the way to his DJ Beekeeper guise, now applied to Madrid's notes, harmonies, and bleeps. Now that's what I call musique concrete. And then there is that third name, Leverkusen, that should appeal to all football fans. Under that moniker you'll find a young Parisian producer, messing up with his machines, making them sweat and jerk and rattle. Here is some drum'n'bass from le quartier du Bastille, oui Monsieur — as abstract, and yet as meaningful, as you can get, beatwise that is..."

DISCIPLINE: 4 Moogs 12" (SV 07). $10.00

"Part tribute to primitive minimalism and part soundtrack to an obscure underground movie directed by one J. Ghosn, 4 Moogs is just that. An antique moog synth and a 4 track, 4 droning tones that go on for ages, just for the sake of it. 4 Moogs could have been produced anytime during the last 30 years, somewhere between 4 organs, 4 violins, and 6 pianos. 4 Moogs is the sound of Discipline, an ongoing rambling project that seeks to produce a soulful minimalist music made of tape hiss, accidental locked grooves, fucked up mini-samples, ur-electronic slices of non-reliable analogue junk, budget priced delays, hijacked Sun Ra Saturn LPs and oversized Vox amps. The 4 Moogs D-Mix done by Darryl Moore, he of Soul Static Sound fame, takes the very essence of the original track to a whole new dimension of sound, making the dub scores of Rhythm & Sound's Maurizio meet up with LaMonte Young's organic chants."

PARADE AMOUREUSE (GERMANY):*AYRES, MARVIN: Neptune CD (PHOE 023 CD). $15.00

"Marvin Ayres is a recording artist/composer who specialises in strings. He straddles the worlds from commercial to classical, with his speciality being Ambient orchestral music. He has also been working in the field of Relaxation environments, using DVD surround sound. Most recently he has been developing a distinctive and innovative approach, pioneering an orchestral genre which has been described as Classical Dub, which was explored on his critically acclaimed album Cellosphere (Ritornell). The result of his work is the electro-acoustic album Neptune. This album is a fusion of ambient and classical techniques realised entirely playing solo cello and violin, using experimental bowing and treatments. The basis for the broad outline of Neptune was to create soundscapes using new technologies and treatments but without the rigidity associated with music sequencers. Marvin Ayres has his own solo electric string quartet using the new generation of electric string instruments alongside orthodox acoustic instruments, both playing, composing and arranging strings for sessions and various musical projects."

PARADIGM (UK):*OLIVEROS, PAULINE: Electronic Works CD (PD 04). $16.00

Three early electronic works from 1965-66, which acts as a perfect companion piece to the other recent Oliveros electronic CD on Pogus Productions (there is no overlap between the two). "I of IV" was made in July 1966...it is a real time studio performance composition (no editing or tape splicing) utilizing the techniques of amplifying combination tones and tape repetition. The combination tone technique was one I developed in 1965 at the SF Tape Music Center. The equipment consisted of 12 sine tone square wave generators connected to an organ keyboard, 2 line amplifiers, mixer, Hammond spring type reverb and 2 stereo tape recorders. 'Big Mother Is Watching You' was also produced at Toronto Electronic Music Studio in the summer of 1966. It is another experiment using the techniques I developed whilst in SF. The core of this technique is tape delay and super heterodyning. This piece utilizes a variety of sound sources including pink noise bands and some occasional voice input. 'Bye Bye Butterfly' is a 2 channel tape composition." —Pauline Oliveros.

BRAST BURN: Debon CD (PD 07). $16.00

Public domain reissues of 2 obscure Japanese underground releases, originally issued on Voice Records in the mid-70s to early 80s(?). Two more records knocked off the hallowed Nurse With Wound List, and somebody might consider handing Paradigm a little medal for their luxurious service in resurrecting this material. "On this occasion Paradigm Discs has decided to reissue 2 LP's of what can only be described as experimental rock music, (minus the drum kit). These two records are something of a mystery. No group information was ever given, and no production date or location is indicated. It would seem though, that these records are both by the same group of Japanese people and that they were recorded in the mid seventies in Japan. In common with Magical Power Mako, the musical influences here are much more Germanic than anything Japanese, with long hypnotic free form rock hysteria, comparable to Faust in the use of experimentation and heavily fuzzed electric guitar. The emotional wordless vocals echo those of Damo Suzuki from Can. But unlike Can the rhythms are wrought from hand drums, sleigh bells, tambourine, bass drum and other simple means. Hard blown harmonica is a strong feature on this somewhat crazed mantric rock along with recorder, flute, zither, mandolin, acoustic guitar and synth. There is also a strong use of tape loops, electronics, environmental sounds, backwards tapes and what sounds distinctly like the hysterical laughter of Stan Laurel."

KARUNA KHYAL: Alomoni 1985 CD (PD 08). $16.00

As with Brast Burn, another serious slice of mindbending displacement from the era when Japanese underground culture was exported nowhere. Karuna Khyal sports a completely riveting post-Beefheart flavor, but mixed into a looped pulse of compulsive tape rhythms and bizarre pulse behavior. Drone-havoc sound effects, repetitive vocal chatter over 2 side long tracks of diggin'-through-the-dirt-to-China soundtracking. Reeks of pure iconoclastic genius and one of 1999's most significant reissues for sure.

BOHMAN, ADAM: Music And Words CD (PD 09). $16.00

"Bohman's personal approach to music has essentially always been acoustic, but due to his close involvement with live electronics (he is a founder member of Morphogenesis), his sounds have very often been subjected to signal processing. On this recording all the music (except for one piece that uses slowed down and backwards sounds), is made from the unprocessed sounds of a variety of small surface playing and percussive techniques. This is his second solo CD and covers the full variety of his work which has been slowly evolving since the mid eighties. In particular there is over 30 minutes of one of his many 'talking tapes', previously only heard on audio letters to correspondents and previewed on the previous Paradigm Discs release Variations (PD 01). These tapes consist of on the spot cassette recordings of his observations, both humorous, mundane and personal, as well as the day to day activities of his life. The sounds of the environment, the sluggish recording mechanism and the use of the pause button give this piece an almost concrete, sound text feel. This piece dates from 1994. There are also 3 'pause pieces' dating from 1990, which are rapid collages of prerecorded sound material, also recorded on cassette recorders. This uses the same technique as heard on the Anton Bruhin CD on Alga Marghen. Finally there are 4 multitracked studio recordings, and one live concert recording. Crucial to all these pieces is the element of improvisation. Bohman has collaborated with a diverse cross section of improvisers, from Lol Coxhill to Joseph Hammer."

MORPHOGENESIS: In Streams (Volume 1) CD (PD 16). $16.00

"This is the fifth CD release by Morphogenesis, and the first since 1998. Although Morphogenesis do not play live very often, it is certainly our preferred working situation, where the interaction between the space, the people present and the available equipment create a variety of different situations. Substantial extracts from nearly all of our recent concerts appear on this, and a second volume, soon to be released. There is also the inclusion of one studio recording per CD. Perhaps one reason for our infrequent appearances is due to the size of the group, which usually varies from between 4 to 6 people all of whom have been working together for 10 - 15 years. This in itself is an unusual situation within experimental music. Another increasingly rare feature is that we have never used laptops or samplers, and although a prerecorded CD was used on the Spitz concert it was played through a varispeed DJ CD player. Prerecorded analogue tape is also used by manually inching the tape past the playback head. All other instrumentation (amplified objects, piano, biofeedback, water machine, percussion etc) is played and processed completely live. This release comes in an 8 page digipak. Volume 2 will be likewise, and the total playing time of both volumes is just under 2 and a half hours."

WISHART, TREVOR: Journey Into Space CD (PD 18). $16.00

"York University's music department houses one of the UK's first ever electronic music studios, and during the early seventies it was a hotbed of creative activity. Much of the released output from the studio at this time revolved around the work of the dynamic composer Trevor Wishart. Journey Into Space was his first release, composed between 1970 and 72, and was privately pressed (shortly before the formation of YES records), as two separate LP's in 1973. (The CD cover amalgamates the 2 original designs). Along with other early private releases of experimental music in the UK (ie the LP of sound poems by Cobbing/Jandl, or the LP of musique concrète by Desmond Leslie), this record is also a total anomaly in the canon of British experimental music and has little to do with the current, or even subsequent work by Wishart. The vast length of this piece has many different styles. There are acoustic sections, mostly of junk and toys (bike bells, squeeze horns, bottles, metal tubes, combs etc.) as well as flute and brass sections that are used as raw material. There are also sections of everyday field recordings, scraps of NASA Apollo transmissions, as well as plenty of multitracking, editing, vocal acrobatics and musique concrète. Among the 48 participants credited on the original sleeve are a whole roster of York University alumni including nearly all the artists who were showcased on the soon to be released 3LP box set Electronic Music From York, along with other noteworthy students as diverse as Steve Beresford, Jonty Harrison, Roger Marsh, Dominic Muldowney, Bernard Rands and Jan Steele. The co-operative spirit of York's music and drama departments, plus the raw enthusiasm and open attitude of the participants involved in the project gave this music an immediacy, similar to the later LAFMS scene."

PARALLEL RECORDINGS (UK):

I-LINER (KIT CLAYTON & VELOCETTE): Beltway 12" (PRL 003). $9.00

"Velocette aka Jason Williams comes face on with the brilliant Kit Clayton for a smash 4 track release. Originally released in 1998, this lost gem gets a full release and is given the attention it truly deserves. This four tracker brings us lush electronic textures and early Detroit inspired rhythms to make even Black Dog blush."

CLAYTON, KIT: The Angular Adventures Of Kit Clayton In The Land Of Sound & Shape 12" (PRL 005). $9.00

"Parallel is very pleased to bring you this repressing (originally only 500) of Kit Clayton's musical excursions from 1999, still packaged as 4 'soundshapes'. Progressing from a boxy tech-house number, to the hinter lands of techno-funk, ending on steely curved notes of electro bliss..."

VA: Idiosyncratic Expressionsd CD (PRL 008CD). $15.00

"After eight vinyl releases, Parallel is pleased to offer a CD compilation as release #9, including our faves for the last three years, & two new tracks. From PRL-002 comes the 'alien sounding' Unexpected Visitor courtesy of Sharp and Williams as well as Burt & Williams' exquisite electro-disco 'Schizophrenic Disco.' Kit Clayton & Jason Williams are I-Liner on 5-star rated PRL-003's S-Bahn. I-Liner also pulls into this station with new track entitled 'In The East,' a bit of deconstructed jazz funk from the t-dimension. The title track of Velocette's PRL-004, 'Memories for the Future,' has been called "difficult to categorize — techno jazz" & appears here again. Velocette also offers up 'Savannah,' a brand new, 6/8 electronic jammy for your inner hominid to shimmy across the mushroom dotted plains. Kit Clayton received high praise on PRL-005, in fact one writer called it 'some of the most inspired music i've ever had the pleasure of reviewing.' We have here 'Box Section,' a "boxy tech-house number" & 'W-Shape (Velocette remix),' with its "shooting star murmurs" & "motorized bassline." Keek (aka Timeblind aka Chris Sattinger), author of PRL-007, is represented here by 'Sodom + Gomorah,' a bacchanal groover suitable for play in either city. Velocette closes off this compilation with the "rolling, melancholy" 'I Feel...', also off PRL-004. Parallel is sure you & all your friends will enjoy the digital convenience of this cd for enjoying & sharing that Parallel Sound."

PARALLEL WORLD:

NICODEMUS: The Strange Saga of Henryetta Flagetta LP (PW 5). $25.00

New LP of recordings from 1984. "Mixes the tough edge of the 'Hellbound Train' 45 with amazing experimental effects and future folk." Limited remaining stock.

TRIMBLE, BOBB: Jupiter Transmission CD (PW CD1). $15.00

Bobb made a couple of weird psych-folk LPs at the dawn of the 80s that mixed Jandek-like visual obliqueness with a fragile, damaged, light-carousing psych that melted down a lot of psych dealers for years. This CD rescues the "best" of the 2 LPs, with restored master tape sound, nice booklet with lyrics, etc. I'm not sure the cleaned up sound is a positive move, as much of the murk 'n mystery of this guy has been wiped away. But at least now you can tell what he looks like.

GRUDZIEN, PETER: The Unicorn CD (PW CD2). $13.00

Repressed. Reissue of a very rare 1974 private press country-religious-overtly-gay real person extravaganza. One of Paul Major's all time top-ten personal faves. With 6 newer tracks not found on the original LP. "Grudzien's earliest recordings in the late 50s reflect Johnny Cash bluegrass mountain music Americana with purest devotion and technique. In the 60s he heard the new sounds of Bob Dylan... his own music evolved through the use of tape effects, musique concrete, fuzz guitar, surreal lyrics imagery and themes from religion, death, sex and other timely concerns."

NICODEMUS AND MATCHEZ: A Light In the Dark CD (PW CD3). $13.00

"Nicodemus, Detroit's 'web-spinning madman of wisdom and space,' is a subcultural Renaissance Man. He and his brother Matchez have recorded, singularly and collectively, over 50 albums for Zedkiah Records, the record label Nicodemus started in 1970. He has published 14 book's of poetry, prose and fiction. He has sired three sons by as many wives and presided over the infamous Satan's Last Revenge Motor Club. He studied for 11 years the healing ways of the Mescalero Apache and is known as Whiterow in Native American circles, proudly displaying the symbol of a healer over his left eye. He is a surrealist painter of some renown who signs his work 'Chongo'. Nicodemus and Matchez's recordings have long been held sacred by a worldwide cult of fanatics of esoteric music. Their sounds are eclectic, ranging from future folk to heavy rock and even acid house... Jello Biafra said about Nicodemus in Incredibly Strange Music: 'My runaway favorite space-folk artist... an instantly recognizable voice that'll send chills down your spine.'"

WYLD OLDE SOULS: Poems From The Astral Plane CD (PW CD4). $11.00

Debut 24-minute EP by this contemporary folk trio from NYC, utilizing 12-string guitar, bongos, mandolin, Tibetan bells, bailailaika, tabla, sitar, etc. "Folk psych with an olde English & mid-Eastern tinge...but melodic, song oriented." Comes with a Tom Rapp quote stickered on the front: "It's good to see that someone is still exploring folk & psychedelia and doing it so well."

SAPHIN, JEFF: This CD (PW CD5). $13.00

Contemporary NYC artist, heavily variant on early T-Rex/Bowie acoustic/mystic swirl. "Sound is space pop with vibes on Donovan, Bowie, Beatles, very psychedelic and other-dimensional. Sort of like Trimble channels John Lennon, Jeff Saphin does Ziggy/Space Oddity, but only as reference points, as the blend is original."

VA: Cambodian Rocks CD (PW CD6). $13.50

CD reissue of the popular mid-90s LP (long o/p), with 9 bonus tracks added. "Unknown to exist until recently, these recordings from the late 60s, early 70s Cambodian rock scene range from mad garage-band rave-ups to mystic go-go organ/fuzz guitar, with exotic female singers. Extremely sensual and emotionally charged — you'll hear echoes of Jimi, Janis, Seeds, Them, and SF acid. Assembled by Paul Wheeler who went to Cambodia and found these tapes which the locals called 'Circle Dance Music' without credits or song titles. These late-60s/early 70s era songs have a sound that's completely inexplicable despite the use of standard rock instrumentation and song structures. Much of it sounds like The Ventures with a Cambodian singer, and one singer getting funky with some James Brown riffs, complete with J.B.'s trademark 'HUH'. One of them even sounds like "Gloria" in Cambodian."

PARATACTILE (UK):

SMITH, GARY: Mass CD (PLE 1102). $16.00

Debut release by this new UK power trio, led by guitarist Gary Smith (previous releases on Ecstatic Peace, Chronoscope & Impetus). "...the earthquaking, sky-kissing beauty of Mass music, a place where the dissonant country blues of Son House and Charlie Patton meet the rattled black space of early electronic composition and the scorched earth improvisations of Fushitsusha and Tony Williams' Lifetime." David Keenan/The Wire.

MASS: From Zero CD (PLE 1105). $16.00

"Truly extraordinary second release from the improv power trio Gary Smith (electric stereo guitar), Gary Jeff (bass, electronics), Lou Ciccotelli (percussion). A serious development from the acclaimed debut CD, From Zero is a tour-de-force unmatched in the genre."

FUSHITSUSHA: I Saw It! That Which Before I Could Only Sense 2CD (PLE 1106/7). $23.00

"Double studio album from the heaviest of all Japanese groups. Keiji Haino (g, voc); Yasushi Ozawa (b); Ikuro Takahashi (dr)." The first Fushitsusha studio work since their hallowed Tokuma quartet of releases in 1997/98 (A Death Never To Be Complete, The Time Is Nigh, A Little Longer, The Wisdom Prepared), this evokes the black cloud spiritual density of this group in very peaked form. Unbelievable, yet again.

SMITH/JOE GALLIVAN, GARY: CD (PLE 1108). $16.00

"Moogy electronic percussion/stereo electric guitar duos from London/1998 featuring Gallivan (he of Love Cry Want, mid 80s INA-GRM affiliate, various outsider jazz aggregates), Smith (he of post-Swans ensemble 'Mass', duos with John Stevens, various scenarios declined by Bailey). Quite visceral on occasion, placid the next (like... life). Impressive in spots (Gallivan), flaccid on others (Gary). Questionably necessary." — Hrvatski.

GLASS CAGE: Glass Cage CD (PLE 1110). $16.00

"Shoji Hano (dr, voc); Hugh Hopper (b, fuzzbass); Gary Smith (g). Latest variation on the post-rock power trio finds virtuoso Smith (Mass, Powerfield) teaming up again with ex-High Rise drummer Hano and adding fuzz bassist supreme Hopper (Soft Machine etc) for a mind blowing onslaught of fusion."

URABE/GARY SMITH, MASAYOSHI: CD (PLE 1112). $16.00

"Studio duo featuring instrumental and voice with guitar."

MASS: Mixed Media CD (PLE 1114). $16.00

Third album by this trio led by UK guitarist Gary Smith, with Lou Ciccotelli (drums; previously associated with Laika, Spleen, God, Ice) and Gary Jeff (bass, electronics, samples). "Latest release is another step on from the last, very listenable improvised rock..."

SMITH, GARY: FutureThoughtReveal CD (PLE 1115). $17.00

"This new trio features groove based improvisations which result in the most attractive yet exploratory guitar playing yet from the leader whose collective CV includes work with Hugh Hopper, John Stevens, Masayoshi Urabe, Shoji Hano and Bill Fay."

BAILEY, DEREK: Poetry and Playing CD (PLE 1116). $13.00

"Derek plays guitar and reads from the poems of Steve Dalachinsky, Lyn Hajinian and Peter Riley. Duration 27 minutes."

PASS RECORDS (JAPAN):

VA: Tokyo Rockers CD (PAS 101). $30.00

Deluxe reissues (packaged in heavy LP-like miniature jackets) of the early releases from the notorious Japanese underground label of the late 70s, Pass Records. Tokyo Rockers features a selection of tracks from 5 groups, all loosely associated with the dawn of the Japanese post-punk/no-wave scene: Friction, Mr. Kite, Mirrors, S-Ken and Lizard.

FRICITION: Friction CD (PAS 105). $30.00

Deluxe reissue, packaged in mini-LP jacket sleeve. First reissue of the debut self-titled Friction album, originally issued by Pass in 1980. Friction was the trio of: Reck, Tsunematsu Masatoshi & Chico Hige. Bassist Reck had resided in NYC in the late 70s and played with James Chance and the Contortions as well as Lydia Lunch in the No Wave heyday. Friction was the band he formed upon returning to Japan in 1978. The band continued to exist for the better part of 2 decades and eventually issued a domestic album on Tzadic in 1999 (Zone Tripper), but this heavily charged debut (aggressive rock/punk, informed by No Wave and Japanese noir aesthetics) was their defining moment. Considered the most legendary underground Japanese group of the time (their albums were at least barely available in the US, unlike the earliest efforts from Keiji Haino or the Alchemy label), now reissued for the first time in definitive fashion.

PATAPHYSIQUE (JAPAN):

KASAKAI/IKURO TAKAHASHI, FUMIO: ...Of Dogstarman CD (PATA 006). $18.00

"Surprisingly somber recollections of oceans past by this duo-grouping of Fumio (electronics, other instruments) and Ikuro (electronics, mouth piece) produced by Overhang Party's Fukuoka Rinji. Over one 72 minute track we get various audio interpretations of Saturn landings, time-code streams, alien harvests and so forth. Extensive ring-modulation/multi-tap never sounded so dapper. Not far off from Sun-Ra solo moog sets, Zero Gravity label output, that apc scene in 2001, Columbia-Princeton studio experiments, etc... Massive heterodyning murk." — Hrvatski.

PAUSE2 (UK):

GAUGE: The Gatehouse 12" (PAUSE 002). $9.00

"After returning from Switzerland and his extensive work with distorto-rock trio 16-17 for Digital Hardcore Recordings, Damian meets Ben, and Gauge is formed. Damian is also currently carthage and founder of the Twin Valley Falls label, as well as bassist for 16-17. He was also previously involved in collaborations with Techno Animal. Gauge recorded The Gatehouse in 1996 with Matt Elliott (Third Eye Foundation) behind the mixing desk, they take their influences (Slint, Codeine, Rachels ...) and twist them into a sound so sparse, so totally unique. This 12" minialbum spans 40 minutes of the finest gauge in 6 tracks.. Third Eye Foundation can also be found on remix duty."

E.U.: Reframing CD (PAUSE 003). $10.00

"Ninth CD by this prolific Russian IDM artist (previously: EU Soft, EU Phonic, Clip Cool, EU Hard II, (V.V.V.) Rhythm Manipulation, 19, Christmas Baubles). Now I am as permissive of IDM as the next guy, but after eight albums of the stuff, it gets a bit regurgitative. No, I'm kidding you. This is really EU's second real album after his Art-Tek 'debut'. Although he does have seven other albums out, they are mp3.com DAM CDs which really don't count as real albums as they're manufactured by mp3.com on special 'temporary use' CDs. This CD is a real CD and will last forever and ever. I like how, in the music, those mystery sounds come in then drums come in then the melody is in then the drums are out then at the end it's everything all together. I like that. And the voices, how they remind me of being a child, their childishness. It brings on a nice feeling here... and here. When I'm sleeping and in the magic fairy kingdom that inhabits my dreams there's a soundtrack like this, all sweetness and light with a little bit of sadness. No one's every tired cause no one ever works very hard. And in the purple mushroom cloud passage where the sprites (passage edited)... Lite." — Hrvatski.

E.U.: Tuner CD (PAUSE 007). $8.50

"The St. Petersburg electronica duo EU last year wooed music lovers, media and everybody inbetween with their homely, heart-warming melodic electronics. Over the 6 tracks of this EP, we see them moving away from the use of their trademark complex dsp and glitch-trickery, as their sound throughout this EP metamorphoses into a new world of crunchy hippped and hopped beats, skewed melodic refrains, dense basslines and electronic daydreams."

EU: Warm Math CD (PAUSE 008 CD). $15.00

"This record fleshes out a whole spectrum of new sounds for EU, some of which were hinted at on their 'Tuner' EP. EU are widely renowned within the electronic world of music for their DSP-glitch-a-thons and abstract beatscapes. With Warm Math EU have moved away from the synthetic sound of digital electronics, to one which is more romantic. They set out to record an album of 'songs' instead of just 'tracks' using techniques and sounds familiar to fans of modern electronica, but with emphasis on a more organic and human sound."

MAPS AND DIAGRAMS: Free-Time CD (PAUSE 009 CD). $15.00

"In the prolific world of Tim Martin it is often an array of happy accidents/experiments which lead to the final cut; a refreshing change from the recent trend towards over produced, highly programmed and processed robot electronica for super-human brains. His debut, Free-Time, combines a playful mix of rounded cotton-bud rhythms with a smoothened, softened emotive and melodic edge, it's a collection of simplistically structured analogue electronic music which ebbs and flows with warmth and innocence." UK IDM-based, previous alignment with the Neo Ouija label.

PAW TRACKS:

ANIMAL COLLECTIVE: Here Comes The Indian CD (PAW 001 CD). $13.00

"The Animal Collective have teamed up with Carpark Records to form a record label. The members of the collective (Avey Tare, Panda Bear, Deaken, and Geologist) now have a home base from which to communicate, and it is called Paw Tracks. Paw Tracks is the label of the Animal Collective. The first release is titled Here Comes the Indian. Expect much more. For the past 3 or 4 years, the Animal Collective have been creating quite an underground stir. Having already released over 5 records and with two successful US tours (one with friends The Black Dice) under their belts, the Animal Collective are now poised to significantly alter the popular music landscape. Their sound is everywhere and nowhere. Informed by the psychedelic freak-outs of 90s west coast isolationists like Caroliner and Sun City Girls, the emotional bursts of hardcore punk, the textures and structures of minimal techno (a la the Kompakt label), the earthiness of sixties utopians Amon Duul and Can, and the organic looseness of the best of the free and improvised music world, the Animal Collective simply cannot be pinned down. The Animal Collective are creating the new spiritual music for the 21st century: music that is aware of tradition without being tied down to it; music unconcerned with borders and definition. Here Comes the Indian promises transcendence, intensity, articulation, and metamorphosis. A passionate and mind-altering new narrative has been unleashed."

PAYBACK (UK):

VA: G.I. Funk CDR (PAY 001CD). $17.00

CDR bootleg. A selection of East Asian/Vietnam war influenced funk. "In the mid 1990s, the Nuggets series pioneered a style of rare grooves, jazz & breaks compilations accessible to Hip Hop & funk fans alike. The LPs were one off pressing runs and are now collectors items themselves. They included heavy & obscure tracks that were being used by Hip Hop producers & also highlighted tunes yet to be unearthed. After about 5 volumes the crew that created these albums went their separate ways, each becoming a leading light in the UK Rap scene (no names mentioned). Now Nuggets return with the Payback label, presenting 3 albums on both vinyl & CD." Artists: The Saphires, Funkgus, Tali Bong (Koto Funk), Charlie, Saigon Show Band (Funk rock female vocal Stevie cover), John Cadman (Barkays cover), US Army Band (Average White Band cover), G.I., The Travellers, The Nine Millimeters (Herbie Mann cover), Madam Laos In House Showgirl Band (Sleazy Flute cover), The Steps, Congress Six, Fuka Vicente (more frantic Koto funk), The Happy Dolls (Kool & The Gang cover).

VA: G.I. Funk LP (PAY 001LP). $17.00

LP version. A selection of East Asian/Vietnam war influenced funk. Artists: The Saphires, Funkgus, Tali Bong (Koto Funk), Charlie, Saigon Show Band (Funk rock female vocal Stevie cover), John Cadman (Barkays cover), US Army Band (Average White Band cover), G.I., The Travellers, The Nine Millimeters (Herbie Mann cover), Madam Laos In House Showgirl Band (Sleazy Flute cover), The Steps, Congress Six, Fuka Vicente (more frantic Koto funk), The Happy Dolls (Kool & The Gang cover).

XINGU: El Combo Xingu CDR (PAY 002CD). $17.00

CDR bootleg. "Highly collectable South American funk/psych reissue — this Ultra Rare Peruvian library record from the 70s contains versions of Herbie Hancock's 'Bring down the Birds' and James Brown's 'Hot Pants', plus covers of Santana and Simon & Garfunkel."

XINGU: El Combo Xingu (PAY 002LP). $17.00

LP version. "Highly collectable South American funk/psych reissue — this Ultra Rare Peruvian library record from the 70s contains versions of Herbie Hancock's 'Bring down the Birds' and James Brown's 'Hot Pants', plus covers of Santana and Simon & Garfunkel."

VA: Nuggets - 16 Killer Nuggets of Funk CDR (PAY 003CD). $17.00

VA: Nuggets - 16 Killer Nuggets of Funk LP (PAY 003LP). $17.00

LP version. Artists: Roger Simard (Funk Monkees cover), Marva Broom, Adbo Salama (Hammond head nodder), Mike Sammes Singers (God rock runk), Blossom Dearie, The Brothers (Fatback groove), Miele (Classic Latin hot version), Itadi Dodzi, Tony & Reality (Hammond funk), The Mexican Revolution (Hornes Meters cover), Bali Tima (Cool Bollywood breaks), Renie van nie (moody soundtrack groove), The Swamp Children (dubby 80s femal no wave), Pete Moore & Voices (Morriconi style), Snuff Bootle Connection (soundtrack with moody wah wah), Orient Oggi (downtempo flute).

PAYOLA (GERMANY):

PELZIG: Drive Your Engine Clean CD (PAY 001). $15.00

"After listening to Pelzig for the first time, one would say it is a rock band, most definitely. But it is one, which uses heterogeneous sound compositions, but at the same time homogeneity in the single elements. Pelzig combines guitars and electronic to a sound, which in its whole bitterness creates a feeling of euphoria. A sound, that gives aggression and discretion a real chance. So once in a while a bleep is heard, but in the foreground stands the idea of the song. Sounds & instruments cultivate that, what gives Pelzig it's special note.

This could be many things, amongst other, that the concentration is on the music or that you can hear it casually, without there being anything to disturb. Because Pelzig isn't just a rocking band anymore, but the most rocking among the special German guitar-electronic bands. The songs of Pelzig are carpet and track in one, very deep, well thought through and always with a very nice idea behind every pattern."

LAME GOLD: The Homecoming Concert CD (PAY 002). $15.00

"Lamé Gold is Albrecht Kunze from Frankfurt/Main, one part of März. Lamé Gold in the autumn: Between dark stringsurfaces and longingful melodic scraps — sometimes beautiful, sometimes melancholy memories of the summer in an undecided and more coldly becoming season. The Homecoming Concert guides the listener into an aural world where beats are sculpted from time and chords work like colors; where structure evolves from the parallel processes of alteration and change. It's an homage to the seasons in a truly cinematic way: opening sequences filmed from the roof of some imaginary pastoral building, dust and heat, rain, clouds, full of emotion and desire. In musical terms the music of The Homecoming Concert skirts the boundaries between, ambient, elektro, and intelligent electronic music. Nine tracks without titles, in order to accompany you: by the autumn, and by the winter. By much to early darkly becoming days and much to cold nights, and naturally up to the next spring."

CONSOLE: Console Yourself CD (PAY 293CD). $15.00

"This double CD/10" features by mastermind Martin Gretschmann designed and remixed versions he did for several artists by request. As these songs are spread out on different releases, you know have the unique chance to get them all at once! Console Yourself is limited on 2000 copies of each format." Trackinglist: 1. hip young things - "1 _" (1997) 2. oh - "37.3%13,3" (taken from "39,6", 1999) 3. tied & tickled trio - "van brunt" (taken from "ea1 ea2" rmx, 2000) 4. ammer / haage - "die heilige spielkonsole" (taken from seven dances of the holy ghost, 1999) 5. michiko kusaki - "lets rock baby" (taken from bye bye baby, 1999) 6. isan - "dampen" (taken from VA: Morr compilation 2000) 7. barbara morgenstern - "das wort" (taken from fan no1, 1999) 8. console - "grüner raum" (unreleased track, 1999)

B-RECORDINGS: Shine CD (PAY I3). $15.00

"After releasing 12"s on Cheap and Payola now the first regular full length album from the producer trio from Frankfurt/Main and Hamburg. The Members work as theatre/ performance artists and produce sound stories. Recently at the golden pudel-club, hamburg: three men at the best age, who call themselves B Recordings, are on the small, but important stage and serve their electronic instruments. A purposeful beat hurries through the space and says to your central nervous system: Shine is the new album of B Recordings, which appears in November 2001 on the label Payola. The dance-barness of their songs is the door opener for the total experience of their sound design. As on a trampoline you jump into finely arranged clouds of music chips, somewhere between song and house, guitar and loop, scratching and crackling, Matthew Herbert and Berghheim 34. B Recordings don't palliate anything in their music and suspend stolen samples exclusively in an unfinished way into the 4/4- landscape of their bassdrum without fills. Arrangement and dramaturgy are effective like a stage play, which structures a 'voltage-bow' and tells a history. B Recordings are a producer trio from Frankfurt/Main and Hamburg. With their music in the 'club-triad' House-Techno- Song they break the framework of the one track 'Track-thinking'. Striking surfaces and unexpected idea-jumps keep open possibilities and let hardly anticipate, what comes next. A straight beat holds together the variety of genre and acknowledges their dance barness. While producers mostly plan in whole albums today B Recordings think in single songs and stories. Stories about afro-american folksingers, who become programmers of computer. Stories about girl groups of the 60's moving over filters. Van Dyke Parks walks through the generously created green belts of Shine: 'and if there were any gods who ever lived above me, I knew them not.' (Van Dyke park: Discover America, 1972). B Recordings don't use the sampler as cut machinery, but they put songs in folds. With this method they certify their respect to the used material, which they keep untouched in volume and weight and that gives the form an own drive."

GENERATION ALDI: Fat Is Action CD (PAY J2). $15.00

"As end 90's everyone believed to have to publish a Techno record, Generation Aldi swears themselves that the music are only presentation for the public live. They started an almost two-year tour, which began in Bratislava and over Sarajevo, Kosovo and Chechnya ended finally in Afghanistan. With a concert in Kabul it came to incidents, because female visitors tore their veils of the headings and threw them on stage. Still in the same evening the Aldis had to flee in a night and a fog internal action with their equipment on donkeys over the mountains from the country. Arrived at Munich they started the work on its album Fat Is Action, which appears 2001 on Payola. A further Maxi publication takes place still this year. Stylistic moves the music of Generation Aldi between muscle House, Syntipop of the 80's and straight end time techno. The famous Russian music scientist Pjotr Kursk Davidowitsch brought it on the Point: 'the Aldis! grooves like the sow.'"

PEACE CORPS (UK):

WIGWAM: Soda Pop Rock 12" (OM 001). $9.00

"Excellent debut EP on Peace Corps, a label set up by Richard King, who until recently was one of the main players at Domino (responsible for signing Pavement among others). Limited edition one sided etched 12 inch. 750 copies only. Will definitely appeal to fans of the Domino roster, from O'Rourke to Third Eye Foundation."

PEACEFROG (UK):

BELTRAN, JOHN: Ten Days Of Blue CD (PF 049 CD). $15.00

Repressed. "Originally recorded in 1996 Ten Days of Blue was composed as the title suggests in just ten days after John had separated from his long term partner. Nine tracks of the deepest techno you're ever likely to hear, full of haunting melodies over some delicious percussive arrangements. John Beltran's work on this LP is nothing short of outstanding and is constantly requested for a reissue, after much deliberation the powers that be at Peacefrog have decided to do just that. A must for all those that missed it first time round."

PLACID ANGELS: The Cry CD (PF 069 CD). $15.00

"John Beltran's classic 1997 album under his resurrected guise of Placid Angels is a classic melting pot of soulful deep Detroit techno-house & beautiful tear ending music. John first came to the Detroit techno purists attention in the early nineties with a string of beautiful house/techno releases on the incredibly hard to find 33rpm/sinewave label, with Open House producer Mark Wilson. He then went on to record for a string of Europe's finest labels ranging from Germany's prolific Superstition to Belgium's highly regarded trend setters — R&S. The Cry is John's second album for Peacefrog, & has recently been in huge demand after 'Collage Of Dreams' from John's first album Ten Days Of Blue was used on the popular HBO series Six Feet Under. A timely re-issue from one of Detroit's most underrated producers."

MOODYMANN: Mahogany Brown CD (PF 074 CD). $15.00

Repressed. "For those of you who don't already know: Moodyman aka Kenny Dixon Jr. Has his roots firmly based in Detroit. He has been an inspiration to many people, with his own unique breed of house music that has been around for a few years now. Kenny's own label KDJ has released a host of classic 12" singles — most of which have featured the man solo. Which such a prolific history of ground breaking music coupled with Kenny's mysterious reluctance to talk to the press about any part of his life or music? - Moodyman has become somewhat of an icon. It's difficult to be objective about an album when this amount of hype surrounds an artist? - although if you have open ears and forget what you've heard or read you will be able to enjoy some of the most groundbreaking music released for a long time. Mahogany Brown is not all easy listening though 'Radio' for instance is a seven minute flick through the life and sound of Detroit jumping from small selections of rap tracks to humorous ideological rambling? it really gives you a feel of the heart and soul of Detroit. 'Black Sunday' will probably go over many heads? - 10 minutes of gospel chants around funk hooks over thumping beats. Saying the rest of the LP is easier? 'Sunshine' probably the most commercial track is the sound of thousand children chanting with a Fender sample which makes you feel summer is already here. 'Mahogany Brown' is in fact the original to the popular remix on KDJ: dubbier and just as funky. . In all an important landmark for a man who now holds the cutting edge on the US Underground...."

PARRISH, THEO: First Floor CD (PF 076 CD). $15.00

1998 release repressed. The heavily anticipated debut album from Detroit's Theo Parrish, combining on CD the tracks from the 2 double pack vinyl releases (PF 76/1 and 76/2). Radical monotone deep house at its best, Theo is a fantastic reductionist, actualizing samples to their core particles and pouring it into slabs of rivetting mini-grooves. With nil obnoxious quotient as well (the so-rarely occurring scenario in house music — the genre with almost as many potential gag inducers as even metal). Minimal (with an avant garde-acceptable approach to repetition and aura build-up) and deeply moving, a heavy duty statement of substance for Detroit.

DAVIS, JR., ROY: Soul Electronica 2LP (PF 088 LP). $21.00

Double LP version, full color sleeve.

NICHOLSON, ANTHONY: Dance Anthology CD (PF 089 CD). $20.00

"Anthony Nicholson has been Ron Trent's musical partner since about 1991. Together they have released a stream of class 12 inches on their jointly owned label Claireaudience, and several cut cuts on Prescription. This new double vinyl pack and CD single is an Afro-Latin workout with drums courtesy of Steve Cobb, the main drummer from Roy Ayes' Ubiquity."

UNDERGROUND EVOLUTION: Primordial Passage CD (PF 090 CD). $15.00

"It's not often these days that a record label takes a chance in releasing music by a little known artist. Orders are gained mainly through profile alone rather than musical content. When this demo turned up it was obvious from the beginning that this was something entirely different from the usual run of the mill house and techno. It is also something very special and well worth taking a chance on. Chicago based Robert Grillo has recorded on the little known Black Zone records out of Italy and not much else. However, after speaking to other U.S producers it is obvious that he is well revered and respected as a musician and a producer on the Chicago scene. He can only be described as up and coming. This his first album is a collaboration with the Polish jazz singer Grazyna Auguscik and a host of hugely talented musicians. Grazyna has already released two solo albums and has worked with some of the current great names in jazz — Michal Urbaniak, Urszula Dudziak and Bobby Enriquez to name but a few. His influences range from early primeval sounds to Herbie Hancock with the kind of Afro Cuban beats that you might hear on a Santana or Fela Kuti record. The standard of the musicianship is exemplary, the production carefully crafted and sublime. Underground Evolution may be a new name but to those who can find it this will be a buried treasure in many people's collections for years to come."

UNDERGROUND EVOLUTION: Primordial Passage 2LP (PF 090 LP). $21.00

Double vinyl version.

MOODYMANN: Don't You Want My Love 12" (PF 095). $9.00

"One of Detroit's most prolific and mysterious producers Moodymann, a.k.a. Kenny Dixon, Jr. has played a significant role in the development of house music as we hear it today. Working as a producer for over 10 years, Kenny has been the name and force behind some of the most classic underground house releases ever to come out of Detroit, earning him international respect from house, techno, jazz, soul and funk enthusiasts alike. Tracks such as 'Music People', 'Can't Kick This Feeling When It Hits', 'Sunday Morning', 'Dance If U Want 2', 'Black Mahogany' to name but a few, have all been firm favorites and club classics with the likes of Carl Craig, Masters At Work, Giles Peterson, Laurent Garnier, Andrew Weatherall etc, all of which were released in extremely limited numbers on his own ultra low key KDJ imprint. Equally classic and limited 12"s and EP's have also been released on labels such as Soul City, Music Is, Three Chairs, Planet-E, Pandamonium and there was of course his debut album Mahogany Brown released on Peacefrog in 1998. With his history of groundbreaking music, coupled with his unspoken views on black consciousness and reluctance to talk to the press about any aspect of his life or music, Moodymann has become something of an icon in the UK over the last two years."

MOODYMANN: Forevernevermore CD (PF 095 CD). $15.00

"One of Detroit's most prolific and mysterious producers Moodymann, aka Kenny Dixon Jr., has played a significant role in the development of house music as we hear it today. Working as a producer for over 10 years, Kenny has been the name and force behind some of the most classic underground house releases ever to come out of Detroit, earning him an international respect from house, techno, jazz, soul and funk enthusiasts alike, as well as making him one of America's biggest and most mysterious house export's With his history of groundbreaking music, coupled with his unspoken views on black consciousness and reluctance to talk to the press about any aspect of his life or music, Moodymann has become something of an icon in the UK over the last two years. Tracks such as 'Music People', 'Can't Kick This Feeling', 'Sunday Morning', 'Dance If U Want 2', 'Black Mahogany' to name but a few have all been firm favourites and club classics with the likes of Carl Craig, Masters At Work, Giles Peterson, Laurent Garnier, Andrew Weatherall etc, all of which were released in extremely limited numbers on his own ultra low key KDJ imprint. Forevernevermore documents the next level for one of house music's most inspiring producers, once again placing himself one step ahead of everyone else. Going entirely against the grain of traditional production approaches and breaking down the barriers and constraints of traditional house music. Forevernevermore opens door's into entirely new territories and new possibilities in the development of house music as we hear and perceive it today. As in many previous KDJ productions and particularly present on Forevernevermore, there are a whole host of Black American musical artforms incorporated into the album. Most notably soul, funk and disco influences are combined with peak hour dancefloor house grooves creating unique and inspiring results. Whilst on other productions particular attention is paid to Kenny's roots in gospel, hip hop, jazz and R&B. All of which are combined with his unique production skills delivering challenge and provocative results. This is the second full length Moodymann album written exclusively for Peacefrog. Forevernevermore will appeal to fans completely across board and is an essential album for anyone with an interest of any form in the development of modern music from house and techno enthusiasts through to soul, jazz and disco fans. CD version contains two hidden tracks, spoken word interludes and edited versions of tracks, along with a short megamix of various KDJ rarities." Tracklisting: "Meanwhile Back At Home", "Wednesday Night People", "The Set Up", "Untitled", "Don't You Want My Love", "Your Sweet Lovin'", "The Thief That Stole My Sad Days (Ya Blessin Me)", "Tribute", "Forevernevermore".

THE DETROIT ESCALATOR CO.: Excerpts 2LP (PF 099 LP). $17.00

Double LP version in full color gatefold sleeve.

VA: 10.100 2CD (PF 100 CD). $19.00

"Peacefrog celebrate their 100th release and 10 years of musical output with a definitive package of their finest moments entitled 10.100. 23 tracks in total covering every aspect of the labels constant diversity and intense passion for challenging, innovative and heart moving music. Containing classic, rare and unreleased tracks by many of the worlds most respected, revered and often most elusive recording artists 10.100 details and documents the progression and development of Peacefrog over the last decade and simultaneously defines the movement of techno and house throughout the nineties to present day. By continually pushing forward and maintaining a distinct diversity within the roster, the 10 years and the 100 releases that have passed have provided some of the most memorable musical moments of the last decade. Including Dan Bell's groundbreaking 'Losing Control', Planetary Assault Systems' dancefloor classic 'Booster', Wamdue Kids' heart moving 'Whirlwind', Infiniti's highly sought after 'Sunlight', Paul Johnson's discified 'Caught Up In Your Love' and of course Moodymann's sumptuously constructed 'Mahogany Brown' amongst many many others. In all, 10.100 is an unmissable package of historical musical material that combines a balance of challenging techno variations alongside classic and definitive deep house grooves. All of which are fused and represented together as one movement in music whilst also selecting the immense diversity of the UK's most truly underground and uncompromising independent labels." Additional artists include: Purveyors of Fine Funk, David Alvarado, Ron Trent, Theo Parrish, Dan Curtin, Norma Jean Bell, Chris Brann, Charles Webster, John Beltran, Sunchildren, Glenn Underground, DBX, Neuropolitique, Placid Angles, Ian O'Brien, Detroit Escalator Co, Luke Slater, Stasis.

VA: 10.100 5LP (PF 100 LP). $42.00

5 12" version in a super deluxe box. Same 23 tracks as the double-CD version.

VA: 10/100.02 2CD (PF 100.2 CD). $19.00

"After the phenomenal success of the 10/100 compilation Peacefrog bring you 20 more rare and sought after gems from their vaults to celebrate their 10 year anniversary. This 2 CD/5LP set spans the 10 years Peacefrog have been in business showcasing their artists varying styles. From their early techno releases from the likes of Stasis, Apogee, Dan Curtin, Dbx etc. through to the deepest sounds house has to offer from the likes of Moodyman, Theo Parrish & Roy Davis Jr. Worthy of note here are some of the most frequently requested tracks from some long deleted releases. The Shake track Sonar 123, a classic slice of Detroit techno funk, Soday by Roy Davis Jr, not only a big track house wise but also created some stirrings on the soul scene! Dbx's City On The Edge Of Forever which was co-written with Maurizio is taken from the Alien EP which changes hands for a substantial sum. Another highly prized 12" only release is the Apogee track 'Inside Above'. Expect to part with upwards of £30 for an original of this. Ultimately though its down to quality of music and no matter what your stylistic leanings are Peacefrog have got it covered."

PLANETARY ASSAULT SYSTEMS: The Drone Sector/Voodoo 12" (PF 78). $10.00

"After the massive success of the Freak Funk album (NovaMute), UK's most promising Techno producer Luke Slater returns to his original label Peacefrog under the name Planetary Assault Systems. A pre-taster for his new album which will be released later in the year on Peacefrog and it can be easily described as a 'state of the art' minimal-techno release."

FURRY PHREAKS: Want Me (Like Water) CD (PF G006 CD). $15.00

"Furry Phreaks classic 'Want Me Like Water' gets the remix treatment from four of the biggest names in house/electronic music. Abacus' funky up-front vocal mix is sure to be popular both on the dancefloor and radio alike while Herbert's excellent twisted dub is raw and sublime. Etienne De Crecy's remix is basically an unreleased Super Discount track. Beautiful string intro followed by big breaks and bass lines. Lastly the Presence dub reminds us that Charles Webster is one of the most sophisticated producers of deep house music in the UK; gracing us with a wonderful U.S style smooth instrumental. (look out for his forthcoming album later this year). The CD contains a bonus mix from the very popular Derby based At Jazz along with extra mixes from Etienne De Crecy plus the original vocal and dubs."

FURRY PHREAKS: Want Me (Like Water) 2LP (PF G006 EP). $17.00

Double 12" vinyl version, with remixes by Abacus, Herbert, Etienne de Crecy & Presence.

PLANETARY ASSAULT SYSTEMS: Atomic Funkster CD (PF G008 CD). $15.00

"Atomic Funkster is the fourth Planetary Assault Systems album for Peacefrog and is perhaps the most dancefloor directed of all. After the wide scale success of the recent Coad Warrior 12" trilogy, Atomic Funkster details and documents the next level for Luke Slater's Planetary guise. Containing eight tracks in total, the album explores and experiments with the harder and groovier side of the Planetary output. Covering every aspect of dancefloor variation from menacing, peak hour floor builders to sublime and intricately formed minimal techno/house crossover grooves through to dark repetitive monotone workouts built entirely around the use of sharp, flawless drum programming and reduced composition to devastating effect."

PLANETARY ASSAULT SYSTEMS: Atomic Funkster LP (PF G008 LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

O'BRIEN, IAN: A History Of Things To Come CD (PF G009 CD). $15.00

"Recently described as 'the Herbie Hancock for the year 2000' Ian O'Brien launches in to his third album following from the highly acclaimed 'gigantic days'. The result is a fusion of global sounds and although the use of drum machines is an integral part of his songs there is an abundance of live percussion and instruments; Expect to find flutes cowbells moogs bongo's etc mixed in with fender rhodes and complex drum machine patterns. 'A history of things to come' is a cosmic jazz journey and will have cross over appeal with techno and jazz heads alike. He is also well respected amongst some of our own Detroit icons with personal endorsements from the likes of Moodymann and Carl Craig. The album is specifically aimed at the home listening market with the exception of the massive batucada track 'Teentown beats' already being caned on the dance floor circuit."

O'BRIEN, IAN: A History Of Things To Come 2LP (PF G009 LP). $17.00

Double vinyl version.

ALVARADO, DAVID: Mayasongs CD (PF G010 CD). $15.00

"This is the long awaited debut artist album from LA's veteran DJ/producer who's profile has increased to new heights over the past two years. With over ten years of producing for labels such as Strictly Rhythm, Deep Dish's Yoshitoshi and Peacefrog, David Alvarado has cultivated a massive following amongst lovers of quality house music as well as making a cross over into the Broken Beat/Alternative Techno market. This album represents David's uncompromising love for quality music. With its deep grooves and chunkiness, it fills both the dancefloor and the head with many live elements making it a hypnotic and lush work. This album will appeal to fans of Moodymann/Carl Craig/Ian O'Brien etc."

DETROIT ESCALATOR CO, THE: Black Buildings 2LP (PF G012 LP). $17.00

Double vinyl version, gatefold sleeve.

O'BRIEN, IAN: A History Of Things To Come (Album Sampler) 12" (PF G013). $9.00

"This single is a limited edition and features a special extended DJ edit of the massive batucada track 'Teentown Beats' from Ian O'Brien's forthcoming album A History Of Things To Come. Furthermore this album sampler comes along with a Future Beat Alliance mix of the classic 'Midnight Sunshine'."

BELL, NORMA JEAN: Come Into My Room CD (PF G015 CD). $15.00

"Written and produced with long time friend and production associate Kenny Dixon Jr aka Moodymann, Come Into My Room oozes with pure Detroit soul from every angle and is her first major release since the phenomenal wide scale success of her I'm The Baddest Bitch project released on France's F-Communications. Come Into My Room combines the illustrious, silky smooth vocals and supreme saxophone of Detroit's queen of house with the production work of house music's most mysterious character and has already defined itself as one of the most essential house albums of the year. Featuring classics such as 'You Belong To Me (Baddest Bitch Remix)', 'One Of Those Nights', 'Yes I Am' and 'Do You Wanna Party' alongside a whole host of new tracks and co-productions with Moodymann, Theo Parrish, Dwayne Davis, Sharon Jones and Kelli Hand Come Into My Room tells a thousand stories of motor city mayhem, whilst simultaneously defining and documenting the ever evolving and globally unique sound of Detroit house."

BELL, NORMA JEAN: Come Into My Room 2LP (PF G015 LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

JELLO: Voile CD (PF G016 CD). $15.00

"Jello" is the work of Darryl Fitton, otherwise known as the mysterious Bolaman or more widely known as 'Bola' — an artist synonymous with electronic music in every sense, having assisted in the production and engineering of Autechre's first ground breaking album 'Incunabula', being a founder member of the ultra low key production outfit Geskom as well as being a key artist on Skam Records' multi faceted and expanding roster, it is fair to say that he has in many senses played a significant role in the development of electronic music as we know it today. Picking up where the Bola project left off, Jello takes things into entirely new territories by adopting a more diverse and alternative approach to the format of modern experimental music that is known as electronics. With the fusion of both male and female vocals, live piano, live drums and fender rhodes alongside more traditional Bola styled production techniques the project provides an insight into the varying influences and jells to the Bola sound not yet heard in any of his previous outputs."

JELLO: Voile 2LP (PF G016 LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

NEW WORLD AQUARIUM: Lovin U/Stars/913 Maverick 12" (PF G019). $9.00

"Mysterious new Peacefrog signing New World Aquarium present their first single 'Lovin U', as a taster to their forthcoming album released later this year. In true Peacefrog tradition New World Aquarium are an outfit already way ahead of their time, fusing classic techno roots with soul & disco sensibilities using only the most experimental and uncompromising of production techniques. Stripped down hypnotic minimalism meets true depth of feeling with groove's venturing into any chosen direction and developing freely, encouraging their own eventual outcomes."

HERBERT: Secondhand Sounds 2CD (PF G021 CD). $19.00

"With ten or so years writing and recording behind him Mathew has built an impressive body of work. His recordings for such labels as Clear, Phono and his recent and highly successful LP/CD Bodily Functions for the IK7 label have given him a near mythical status. With this reputation comes a demand for his sound, and that means a hell of a lot of remix work. Gathered together here are some of his best, most sought after mixes and even a couple of previously unreleased ones. And the pedigree of the musicians who sought mixes by Mat is not to be sniffed at. Bjork, Serge Gainsbourg, Moloko, Blaze, Reclouse, Louie Austin are just a few of the names here. With a total of 25 mixes across a double CD digi pack & the vinyl release split in to 2 separate triple packs, this is the most extensive, comprehensive catalogue of Mat's undeniable remixing talents. Due to the diversity of his work Mathew's music has an already strong fan base in both the house and electronica scenes, therefore the demand for this release, much of which has never been on CD before should be high." Artists remixed by Herbert include: Nils Petter Molvaer, Motorbass, Two Banks Of Four, Mono, Herbert, Doctor Rockit, Presence, Furry Phreaks Featuring Terra Deva, Terra Deva, Reclouse, Moloko, Dimbiman, Louie Austen, Blaze Presents Cassioware, Sajaeda, Dzhian & Kamien, Serge Gainsbourg, Wishmountain.

HERBERT: Secondhand Sounds 2/2 3LP (PF G021.02 LP). $23.00

Second of 2 triple-pack vinyl versions. Tracks not included on CD version by: Mr.Oizo, Bjork, Ferenc, Agent Blue. Also includes: Dimbiman, Louie Austen, Blaze Presents Cassioware, Moloko, Herbert, Dzhian & Kamien, Serge Gainsbourg, Wishmountain.

SUBURBAN KNIGHT: My Sol Dark Direction CD (PF G025 CD). $16.00

"The first ever artist album from one of Underground Resistance's most consistent & sought after foot soldiers. James Pennington AKA the Suburban Knight has been heavily involved in the roots of Detroit's most influential export since its conception in the Eighties. My Sol Dark Direction is an accumulation of 17 years worth of contributions to the world of dance music. A masterpiece of house, techno & electronics, featuring time honored classics and new flawless productions. This is a must for anyone with the slightest interest in dance music, an 'essential lesson' in the history of house."

SUBURBAN KNIGHT: My Sol Dark Direction 3LP (PF G025 LP). $18.00

Triple LP version.

HOOD, ROBERT: Who Taught You Math 12" (PF G026). $9.00

"Detroit legend Robert Hood has been part of techno since its infancy. Alongside the likes of Jeff Mills & Mike Banks he has championed his own sound that has placed him very much at the forefront of Detroit's techno scene. Having recorded for many of the most respected techno labels in the world such as Underground Resistance, Axis, Tresor and Cheap as well as running his own M-Plant, Drama, Hardwax & Duet labels, Robert has gained an international reputation for being the master of minimalism. His productions are incessantly hypnotic, thought provoking and funk filled."

HOOD, ROBERT: Point Blank CD (PF G027 CD). $15.00

"Detroit legend Robert Hood has been part of techno since its infancy. Alongside the likes of Jeff Mills and Mike Banks he has championed his own sound that has placed him very much at the forefront of Detroit's techno scene. Having recorded for many of the most respected techno labels in the world such as Underground Resistance, Axis, Tresor, and Cheap as well as running his own M-Plant, Drama, Hardwax, and Duet labels, Robert has gained international regard for being the master of minimalism. His productions are incessantly hypnotic, thought provoking and funk filled. After the wide scale reception of his Who Taught You Math single, Point Blank (his first album for Peacefrog) picks up where that single left off. Ranging from dark menacing hypnotic club tracks produced in Robert's imitable style, through to intricate, melodic and minimal constructions it makes for an album for all techno and electronic fans alike!"

HOOD, ROBERT: Point Blank 2LP (PF G027 LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

JELLO: Lungbone EP 12" (PF G028 EP). $11.00

Vinyl EP version. Five of the six tracks on the CD.

HOOD, ROBERT: Art Of War 2x12" (PF G029). $17.00

Vinyl-only 2002 release, featuring Hood's ultra-stripped down minimal & loop-based tracks, in a throw-back to his classic M-Plant era. 6 track double EP.

PLAID: Parts In The Post CD (PF G030 CD). $18.00

"Parts In The Post is a collection of Plaid's finest remix moments, with artists as diverse as Goldfrapp, Unkle, Bjork, Nicolette, Herbert & Grandmaster Flash & The Furious Five. This album of remixes is a great package that crosses all musical boundaries, & should appeal to music lovers of all types, as well as the Plaid and Warp diehards. Originally recording as Plaid on their own Black Dog Productions label, & as 2/3 of the inspirational Black Dog on GPR & Warp, Ed Handley & Andy Turner have consistently produced some of the most forward thinking & groundbreaking music available." Artists include: Bjork, Tao, Ebz, Sieg Uber Die Sonne, Relection, Koolaking, Gregory Fleckner, Studio Pressure, Grandmaster Flash & The Furious Five, Nicolette, Plaid, Unkle, Funki Porcini, Goldfrapp, Dropshadow Disease, Sensorama, Herbert, Jung Collective, and Cobra.

PLAID: Parts In The Post Pt. 1 2LP (PF G030.01 LP). $18.00

Double LP version. Part 1 of 2. This volume feat: Bjork, Tao, Ebz, Sieg Uber Die Sonne, Reflection, Koolaking, Gregory Fleckner Quartet, Studio Pressure, Grandmaster Flash, Nicolette.

PLAID: Parts In The Post Pt. 2 2LP (PF G030.02 LP). $18.00

Double LP version Part 2 of 2. This volume feat: Plaid, Unkle, Nicolette, Goldfrapp, Funki Porcini, Dropshadow Disease, Sensorama, Herbert, Jung Collective, Cobra.

MOODYMANN: Silence In The Secret Garden EP 12" (PF G032). $9.00

"The lead single for Moodymann's eagerly awaited 3rd album on Peacefrog is an enticing taster of what's to come sprinkled with a small reminder of what has been. Opening the single is the album title track 'Silence In The Secret Garden' an astonishing melting pot of off the wall analogue beats, haunting strings & Kenny's trademark soul. To call it future jazz is disrespectful; this is living, organic music with it's roots somewhere between Sun Ra & Prince. 'Trak Eighteen' is on an entirely different track; simple yet effective, this is dark, smouldering, & as funky as you like. A definite genre crossing future club classic made for the early hours. Finally, 'Emotional Content' takes you back to Kenny's early days of production. Originally released in 1992 on the uber rare KDJ002, & later remixed by Terence Parker on Intangible, this is raw house music for the dance floor, available to the mass record buying public for the first time. Moodymann is arguably black music's, and definitely dance music's most important and forward thinking artist of now." Both b-sides are non-LP.

PLANETARY ASSAULT SYSTEMS: Archives 2 CD (PF G033 CD). $15.00

"Archives Two is the fifth Planetary Assault Systems album for Peacefrog, and follows in the footsteps of Archives One, by bringing you more of those classic Luke Slater rarities under his popular & clubby Planetary Assault System guise The early Planetary 12's contained on this new double pack & CD have been unavailable for a few years & have hence been changing hands on Ebay for much the dollar. This is also the first time many of these tracks have appeared on CD. So, if you're unaware of the Planetary style of funky up minimal house & techno grooves or just missed them first time round, then this is a must introduction to one of the UK's most respected & pioneering techno outfits."

PLANETARY ASSAULT SYSTEMS: Archives 2 2LP (PF G033 LP). $17.00

Double vinyl version.

NEWWORLDAQUARIUM: Heavy Metal EP 12" (PF G034). $9.00

"Newworldaquarium were first brought to the world's attention with a couple of limited, tripped out, minimalist EP's on one of Holland's most well respected & under rated imprints — Delsin. 'Heavy Metal' is a stripped down, minimal affair reminiscent of early Basic Channel with a subtle building hypnotic groove. 'The Magnificent' is an irresistible spaced out & funky up chameleon, which effortlessly slips between break beat & your typical 4 to the floor beats. Finally, 'A Better Tomorrow' brings us a heart achingly beautiful nostalgic trip to Detroit, which should appeal to fans of, dare we say it — Carl Craig."

MOODYMANN: Silence In The Secret Garden CD (PF G036 CD). $16.00

"Moodymann is a Detroit legend ranked alongside such revered & diverse producers as Stevie Wonder, Marvin Gaye, Prince, Carl Craig & Mike Banks. One of the few electronic dance music producers whose albums exist for other places than just the dance floor. Moodymann has universal appeal to all fans of black music, with influences from Jazz, Hip Hop, R&B, House & Techno all to be found in his productions. Silence In The Secret Garden is another intensely personal & spiritual journey to the heart & soul of black music. From the relentless dark minimalism of the title track 'Silence In The Secret Garden', to the irresistible R&B flavoured morphing funk of 'Yesterdays Party' this album will both surprise & inspire you. Of course the album is also packed full of Kenny's trademark soulful deep jazzy house, with the pure unadulterated beauty of 'Sweet Yesterday' standing out."

MOODYMANN: Silence In The Secret Garden 2LP (PF G036 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

WEBSTER, CHARLES: Remixed On The 24th of July CD (PF G037 CD). $16.00

"Charles Webster needs no introduction, after a decade of releasing club classics under many different guises including Presence, Furry Phreaks & Love From San Francisco. Born On The 24th July is one of Peacefrog's most critically acclaimed titles. Remixed On The 24th July takes the success one step further with new mixes commissioned from some of the world's leading dance producers including Matthew Herbert, U.F.O., Pepe Bradock, Theo Parrish, Jimpster, Presence and Brennan Green & Daniel Wang. As with the original album, Remixed? is an eclectic mix of must-have dance & electronica that is as comfortable in the home as the club."

WEBSTER, CHARLES: Remixed On The 24th of July 2LP (PF G037 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

MOODYMANN: Sweet Yesterday 12" (PF G039). $9.00

"Sweet Yesterday's' is another collectable 12" from the irrepressible Moodymann containing previously unreleased mixes. Sounding like a futuristic Prince & a challenger to the twisted urban sounds of Common, the R&B overtones on 'Sweet Yesterday' are undeniable & show Kenny's constant ability to push his production skills to the next level. Featured on the single are Pitch Black City, Kenny's live ensemble of some of Detroit's finest including Roberta Sweet, Amp Fiddler, Andres, & of course himself."

HOOD, ROBERT: Wire To Wire CD (PF G042 CD). $16.00

"From the opening bars of 'Make A Wish', the lead track on Robert Hood's new long player Wire To Wire, you know you're in for a musical treat. Robert's long association with the 'minimal sound' is well documented & rightly so — his Minimal Nation on Axis is still considered the benchmark for the genre nearly 8 or so years on. But Robert is definitely no one trick pony, his rare & beautiful Nighttime World on Cheap is a beautiful concoction of jazzy electronics still sought after by many non techno / electronic music fans today. Wire To Wire manages to flirt with both of these timeless classics while still remaining fresh & original — from the beautiful & ethereal 'Make A Wish', 'Slightly', & 'Fragile Moments', & the haunting & eerie hip hop beats of 'The Game' to the dubbed out futurism of 'Apon A Millennial Moment', Wire To Wire certainly gives us a glimpse into Roberts down tempo / electronic prowess. But it doesn't stop there, the real mark of Robert's production talents are shown when he effortlessly manages to make euphoric funky minimalism such as 'The Wire' & 'Aural 512' nestle perfectly alongside. A perfectly balanced album to be enjoyed either at home or in a club."

HOOD, ROBERT: Wire To Wire 2LP (PF G042 LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

MILLER, ALTON: Stories From Bohemia CD (PF G044 CD). $16.00

"Stories From Bohemia is a modern day nu-soul masterpiece packed full of deep warming strings, laidback summer grooves & heart-warming vocals that could only emanate from Detroit. Song highlights include the opening track 'Something For You', a smooth broken beat groove with a positive lyrical message & jazzy keys. 'Shine On Me' originally released on Moodymann's limited & sought after KDJ imprint. 'No Goodbyes' a down tempo Carl Craigesque slow burner. 'We Are Beautiful' a future broken beat anthem & 'All To You' a 4 to the floor houser with uplifting lyrics & deep house drive. Timeless music in the age of manufactured plastic."

MILLER, ALTON: Stories From Bohemia 2LP (PF G044 LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

LUCIEN-N-LUCIANO: Alain Brito Remix 12" (PF G045EP). $12.00

"Lucien-N-Luciano AKA Lucien-N-Luciano has quietly been building a name for himself with those in the know, with a string of sought after releases on some of the world's most cutting edge labels, including Transmat, Perlon, Klang Electronic, Bruchstuecke & Mental Groove. 'Alain Brito', the opening track taken from Lucien's forthcoming Peacefrog full length Blind Behaviour, is a gorgeous dubby adventure into electro-soul, with blissful spaced out vocals from the man himself. Meanwhile on the B-side, in-demand Playhouse producer Ricardo Villalobos' 'Remix For Amael' takes the track into totally different territory — his subtle minimal techno style delights & beguiles, while still managing to hit home on the dance-floor."

STASIS: Past Movements 2CD (PF G046 CD). $20.00

"Steve Pickton AKA Stasis is well known to fans of early UK electronica, he was among the early pioneers of the sound that included Black Dog, Aphex Twin, Kirk Degiorgio, B12 & Plaid. Past Movements is a compilation of rare classics originally released on labels such as Likemind, B12 & A.R.T. (the majority of these 12's are long deleted) together with unreleased material from the early nineties. The whole album contains the spirit of classic Detroit techno, while retaining Steve's unique and much forgotten sound, which conjures up the heady times of Warp's groundbreaking Artificial Intelligence compilation that heralded the rise of the so called 'Electronic Listening Music' scene. From the beautiful & delicate heartfelt strings of 'Point Of No Return' to the morphed disco electronic elegance of 'Funky Purple Hot Pants?' these tracks are timeless classics that deserve to be heard by a wider audience. Also included on this release are 10 unreleased tracks."

STASIS: Past Movements 3LP (PF G046 LP). $23.00

Triple LP version.

MOODYMANN: Black Mahogani CD (PF G050CD). $18.00

"The enigmatic Kenny Dixon Junior, aka Moodymann, is one of the Detroit sound's leading architects. Black Mahogani is the definitive Moodymann album, featuring the rarest & most sought after tracks from his early KDJ outings as well as some incredible new future classics. The album features Amp Fiddler on vocals for 'I'm Doing Fine', which is arguably Amp's finest moment. Also featured are two Detroit jazz & soul legends; Norma Jean Bell and Roberta Sweed. The pure soulful genius of this album will give it a more universal appeal than just Moodymann's usual fans and should bring in an audience from a wide variety of genres including jazz, soul and R&B."

MOODYMANN: Black Mahogani 3LP (PF G050LP). $25.00

Triple LP version.

LUCIEN & LUCIANO: Blind Behaviour CD (PF G052CD). $19.00

"The debut album from one of Europe's most talented new producers. Born in 1978, Lucien Nicolet AKA Lucien-N-Luciano has been a DJ since 1993 and a producer since 1997. Luciano's mixed Swiss & Chilean identity shows in his music, a somewhat mystical blend of deep techno & electro that integrates southern elements in rhythms and colourful patterns in sound. He has had a string of well-received releases on some of the world's finest electronic labels including Transmat, Perlon, Klang Elektronik, Lo-Fi Stereo, Cadenza & Bruchstuecke. He is also a regular collaborator with Ricardo Villalobos (Playhouse, Perlon, Warp, Force Inc etc.) as Sense Club & Pier Bucci and Argentin Brito as Monne Autonne. Coming in somewhere between house, electronica, techno & dub — you can hear touches of Autechre, Carl Craig, Kraftwerk & Manuel Gottsching in Lucien's original production technique, making this album perfect for both the coffee table & the club."

LUCIEN & LUCIANO: Blind Behaviour 2LP (PF G052LP). $21.00

Double LP version.

LARKIN, KENNY: The Narcissist CD (PF G054CD). $18.00

"Former U.S. Air Force serviceman & stand up comedian Kenny Larkin is one of the chief innovators of Detroit's so called 'second wave' of techno producers. He began his music career in 1990 after hanging out at local Detroit clubs like The Music Institute and The Shelter, he soon hooked up with Richie Hawtin and John Acquaviva, and started to record for their Plus 8 label, releasing the early classic 'We Shall Overcome.' He left Plus 8 to set up his own label, Art Of Dance, releasing the seminal dance floor monster 'War Of The Worlds' under the guise Dark Comedy. After contributing the exquisitely beautiful and sublime tracks 'Serena X' (under the name Yennek) for the compilation Panic In Detroit and 'Tedra' on the hugely innovative Virtual Sex (Buzz) compilation, Kenny was pushed to the forefront of techno's soulful elite. He consolidated his position with two essential Detroit albums, Azimuth (Warp) & Metaphor (R&S), in the mid nineties. The Narcissist is Kenny's debut for Peacefrog, & his first album in well over 6 years. It contains 11 tracks of some of the most soulful, melodic, & emotive music you'll ever hear, with every track a future classic; from the breathtakingly warm & romantic 'My Reflection', and the heart stopping Carl Craigesque Detroit sounds cape 'Mono e Mono', to the eloquent freestyle jazz meanderings of 'A Part Of Me' and 'Nitefall'. This is some of the finest electronic soul music, packed full of human feeling and warmth."

LARKIN, KENNY: The Narcissist 2LP (PF G054LP). $21.00
Double LP version.

PEARINEEL:

DELAROSA AND ASORA: Crush the Sight-Seers 12" (PEAR 001). $7.00

New pressing of the 2nd Delarosa 12", originally issued in 1999. "This record is the latest representation of what is rapidly becoming Herren's signature sound, a sound that is derived from the concept that the scratches, skips, clicks, and buzz that so commonly accompany the listening to records are as essential to the experience of music as the recorded beats and melodies. The instrumentation Herren uses for this record comes from the school of analog lo-fi, with carnivalesque melodies that sound reminiscent of Casios and very old organs. He smooths it over with a thick but gentle downtempo beat and ambient fuzziness. Interspersed are conflicting rhythms, layered noises, skips, and crackles." — Carter Tracy.

DELAROSA AND ASORA: Crush The Sight-Seers CD (PEAR 001 CD). $8.50

"Pearineel Records (of Atlanta, GA) has re-issued the long out-of-print and much sought after early Delarosa+Asora release Crush The Sight-Seers, which was a vinyl only release. The CD version of the re-release will feature an unreleased bonus track from the same original sessions. For folks that missed it the first time around & late comers to Scott's eclectic body of music work, Crush... is an exciting peak at some of his early recordings. Impressively advanced mix of fuzzy dsp abstractions, deep bass lines, twitching beat patterns and drifting organic melody & warmth. A classic release."

PENALTY (UK):

VA: Penalty 1996-2000 Series CD (PENALTY 001CD). $15.00

"The Penalty series was started in 1999 as a division of Sativae Recordings. The idea was to allow the labels producers, along with some special guests, to experiment with electro based structures without feeling the need to provide music that must 'work the floor'... The result was 5 EP's of tracks ranging from Kraftwerk inspirations through to electro-rave fusions along with a fast edit take on Bambata's 'Planet Rock'. This CD provides radio edit versions of 17 out of the original 20 tracks. A closer look shows some of the highlights of the series including Detroit's Interdimensional Transmissions boss Ectomorph with the hypnotic beats of 'Fuck Dotcom', the lush strings of Berkovi's 'Razor Blade / Bucket of Water', some electro pop with 'Bass Mission' from DMX Krew, the 2 sides of the Leeds electro camp Scarletron & Silicon Scally (a.k.a. Carl Finlow / Random Factor) with 'Verona' & 'My Invisible Light' respectively and finally the mono bass of 'Raging Bull' by Tobias Schmidt. This is the final Penalty release, but there is the new Gasoline label set up to provide a platform for Sativae related artists to bring out new sonic electro cuts..."

PERDITION PLASTICS:

RLW: Points Of Reference CD (PER 011). $13.00

"Ralf Wehowsky (Germany) is one of the most respected electronic composers of our day. Utilizing sound as a psychological platform, the music of RLW causes the listener to (re)evaluate what one hears and why. Points Of Reference is a rare accomplishment, an intricate pastiche of natural and electronic forms appearing, blending, fading and regenerating within six thematic narratives. Wehowsky has been involved in the creation of critically important music for decades, notably with his involvement in the seminal group P16D4 and his partnership in the Selektion label. Points Of Reference is adorned by beautiful cover art photography from Dan Burke (Illusion Of Safety), with all processing being completed within the camera. Bruce Russell (Dead C/Corpus Hermeticum) contributes liner notes that amplify the vast levels of meaning and varied connections between all points of reference..."

PERIODIC DOCUMENT:

Y PANTS: CD (PD 001). $12.00

Reissue of the complete works by this unusual NYC trio from the early 80s. Featuring Barbara Ess (bass, ukulele, thumb drum, vocals), Verge Piersol (drums, vocals), Gail Vachon (keyboards, ukulele, vocals). This features their debut 7" EP on the illustrious 99 Records label (produced by Glenn Branca, from 1980), plus their Tellus comp. track and their album form Neutral from 1982, Beat It Down (produced by Wharton Tiers). Barbara Ess was the co-editor of Just Another Asshole magazine, an ex-member of the Theoretical Girls and a pretty crucial figure in the whole NY no wave scenario. Their sound wasn't the atonal no wave screech I was desperately hoping for at the time, but more of a toy-instrument-inflected performance-art cache of weirdness.

KUDO, REIKO: Rice Field Silently Riping In The Night CD (PD 002). $15.00

"There are times when all the music your bruised psyche can take is the softest of whispers, the slightest of instrumental caresses. When an ounce too much pressure could make your veins cave inwards. At times like these, Reiko Kudo's previous solo album (Fire Inside My Hat, Org Records, 1997) has always been my balm of choice. A gauze-thin collection of songs with minimal piano accompaniment, sung in a voice half between a child and a deeply hesitant angel... For those who would rather trust a history lesson than their own senses, Reiko Omura, as she was known then, first came to light on the Tokyo underground in the late seventies and early eighties. She was part of the Minor circle (which also gave birth to Fushitsusha, High Rise, Kosokuya, Gaseneta and many others) of musical obsessives exploring new and highly personal collisions of noise, improv, rock. Reiko's contribution was via groups like Worst Noise and Noise. The latter's sole release, Tenno, saw her trumpet and voice meeting the Bach-doom organ and drums of influential scenester Tori Kudo in a totally unique monument to no-wave noise depression. She later married Kudo, appearing occasionally with his avant-pop Christo-mystic idiot-savant group Maher Shalal Hash Baz, but releasing nothing under her own name until the Org disk in the late nineties. Rice Field... sees Reiko revisiting the pattern of short songs mostly based around one-finger piano motifs, so structurally simple as to be virtually transparent. This time additional flashes of sensitive instrumental colour are added by husband Tori and various members of the Puka-Puka Brians on wavering backing vocals, violin, guitar, percussion, euphonium and percussion. The music treads a sure and private path between a perfect childlike naivete and the amateur aesthetic that has long been Tori's goal (he has spent twenty years arriving at a point of psychodelic mastery where he sounds like he bought his first guitar yesterday).

Reiko's songs and vocals are the weakly pulsing centrepiece though. She sings of life, dying flowers, love, and nursing home residents with the unforced naturalness of a mother alone with her child, a bird in the forest, her pellucid melodies seemingly accidental. It is nothing short of heart-stoppingly gorgeous. And as an honest-to-god example of happiness glimpsed through the quotidian, artistic perfection all the more perfect for not being striven for, you couldn't wish for anything more. A perfect prescription for those moments of fragility when you doubt your own pulse." — Alan Cummings

PERIPLUM:

LAND: Archipelago CD (PERI 040). $14.00

"Formed in 1993 by innovative ambient composer Jeff Greinke, Land adds a new dimension of rhythmic energy and instrumental color to Greinke's atmospheric textures. The Seattle-based group quickly earned critical acclaim for its live performances and its first CD released in 1995 on the Australian label, Extreme. The band's second album, Archipelago, follows their performances at the Beijing Jazz Festival in fall 1996, better reflecting their current live sound. 'Like Spike Jones meets John Cage at a rave party' — Echoes. 'Breaks the barriers on the obstacle course of East-meets-West fusion...exotic and liquid quicksilver improvisations.' — The Wire. Greinke (keyboards, loops, effects, vocal), Lesli Dalaba (trumpet, perc.), Dennis Rea (electric & classical guitars), plus percussionists, etc.

COLLINS, NICOLAS: Sound Without Picture CD (PERI 060). $14.00

"A set of pieces about the senses — sight, hearing, taste, touch, smell and 'sixth sense' —, each built around a text evoking the presence or absence of a specific sense. The rhythm, inflection and timbre of the spoken voice are translated into sonic accompaniment by means of a variety of devices. Most of the pieces are for solo performer with live (rather than pre-recorded) electronics performed using unique electronic instruments and controllers designed and built by Collins, including trombone-propelled electronics, backwards electric guitar, and modified CD-players. These pieces grow out of a desire to convey in music the hypnotic pleasure of the narrative tale. Nicolas Collins is joined by trumpet player Ben Neill on two pieces, and one work is performed with Kammerensemble Neue Musik Berlin. Texts for the series of compositions are by Collins, Denise Eddy, Dorothy MacArdle, Vladimir Nabokov, Susan Tallman, and David Wright. A pioneer in the use of microcomputers in live performance, Nicolas Collins has made extensive use of 'home-made' electronic circuitry, radio, found sound material, and transformed musical instruments. His recent work emphasizes spoken word, and combines idiosyncratic electronics with conventional acoustic instruments."

PERLON (GERMANY):

VA: Superlongevity 2CD (PERL 023CD). $15.00

"...29 tracks chosen from the Perlon catalogue, mixed by label head Thomas Franzmann (aka Zip), featuring artists such as C

PANTYTEC: Pony Slystation CD (PERL 028CD). $14.00

"Perlon's second artist album, brought to you by Pantytex, the band of the label's co-founder Zip and Sammy Dee, introduces their unique definition of cartoon house to shake the dancefloors wo. Available in 2 formats, the double vinyl comes with 8, while the CD offers 11 tunes. The recently released 12" entitled 'Elastobabe' was a nice foretaste of what to expect inside the Pony Slystation. With the first track, Sammy and Zip take us on a 'micromission' (Dan Bell remix will follow) that leads us directly to a 'candy coated conspiracy' — bon appetit! Pantytex 's incredible guitar talent can be proofed easily, listening to 'valentine', that is also available in a remix version by the mysterious 'Pokémonopa'. The album version of the pre-12" titletrack lost a few beats on it's way to the longplayer: pantytex's 'Elastobabe - Crackhouse dub', featuring Florian Schirmacher 'I' on vocals. He's also the one, who's forming a duet with Zip; while getting closer to 'Supratahiti'. Once there, sammy is already waiting inside the 'Quattroporte' to cruise the dancefloor Pantystyle in highest gear. The voice of NYC Diamond Girl Christine, with her definition of the beautiful colour 'Pink', marks the end of the vinyl, while the digital format offers 3 additional tracks from previously released 12's."

VA: Superlongevity 3 CD (PERL 036CD). $16.00

"The third part of the labels successful Superlongevity compilation (triple vinyl / no-mix CD) features 13 unreleased tunes by the usual suspects at which the spectrum of musical styles is as manifold than ever before. On a habitual high level the distinguished listener, clubber and dancer is taken on a journey through certain possibilities of current housemusic: Ricardo Villalobos opens with the relaxed, groovin' 'Alsbaldin' followed by the Dimbman who introduces us to 'Papa Puffi's Secret'; dark but always ready to play. Dandy Jack continues spinning this psychothread using ingredients that remind us of his extremely twisted mid-90's masterpieces. A hip-hiccup is sent from the gloomy depths of Pantytex's (Sammy Dee and Zip) 'stalactitecaveradiolab'. Next track is brought to us by Melchior Productions (Thomas Melchior) who offers a driving reinterpretation of 'Feel Sensual' (PERL15 / Perlon). This time the notorious unexpected guest Akufen converts into Horror Inc. hosting his very personal, magical dreamworld. Our french companions Copacabannark (Cabanne and Ark) will then wake us with their cool sounding machinefunk. Manmadescience (Soulphiction plus friends) are yet furthering the tempo in the same frame of mind and take the shortcut directly into the legs. After a little rest with Stephan Laubner aka STL and his tropical minimal delirium you will find yourself on a weird safari through the steeldrumjungle of Narcotic Syntax. Following our Detroit Perlon-Newcomer Matthew Dear as Jabberjaw in an enquiring manner of 'Maybe This Ain't Right' and damn right it is. We could have stopped right here, but of course we have to spoil you with Markus Nikolai's engaging pop house track that will keep a ringing in your ears, unless you're resistant to Sense Club's magical percussive madness."

VA: Superlongevity 3 3LP (PERL 036LP). $20.00

Triple LP version, full color gatefold sleeve.

PANTYTEC: Muffler Inside 12" (PERL 007EP). $9.00

1998 single, first release on Perlon from label founders Zip and Sammy Dee. "Pantytex drop some of the best noises on this 3 tracker, imagine acid lines being sucked up a vacuum and then blown out again, all over some stripped but heavy beats, very different and unique."

VILLALOBOS, RICARDO: Frank Mueller Melodram 12" (PERL 008EP). $9.00

Year 1999 release, Villalobos' debut release for Perlon. Three track EP, featuring the 14 minute trip through "2000 Abdominals".

PILE: Perlipop 12" (PERL 009EP). $9.00

Perlon back catalog represses continues with this 1999 release... "The 3-man project PILE consisting of Perlon formers Markus Nikolai & Zip + London based Chris Rehberger, is back on the scene with this 3-track 12" entitled Perlipop, after a two years break. Again, PILE invited some close friends to join the party. This time Keith Denis from the soulfoundation (Seattle/USA) defines his idea of '1 of Those Days' on B1, while Bernd Maus(Klang/Gadgets) presents his interpretation of 'The Spirit' on B2."

VA: Superlongevity 2LP (PERL 010LP). $15.00

1999 compilation featuring "8 exclusive and brandnew tracks by all Perlon artists": B. Wild, Ricardo Villalobos, Dimbman, Markus Nikolai, Pile, Pantytec, Narcotic Syntax, Hombre Ojo. Mostly exclusive tracks to this release, only 2 of these show up on the Superlongevity double CD mix.

NIKOLAI, MARCUS: Bushes/Passion 12" (PERL 012EP). $9.00

1999 release. "During the warm periods of the year strange things often happen to peoples hormone-systems. In the case of Perlon it seems to be leading to tracks that are a bit more in touch with their feminine side. Just in time for the summer they storm your soundsystem with a silky-smooth and laid back vibe. In two solid mixes 'Freaks' (20:20 Vision) re-interpret the original 'Bushes' taken from Perlon10. Also, 'Passion' is an awesome deep hypnotic track with small vocal sections that remind me of Michael Jackson and Prince holding hands in the park and tripping on mushrooms while they are singing love songs together."

LAUBNER & RIC Y MARTIN, STEPHAN: Sommerpause 12" (PERL 013EP). $9.00

Repress of this 1999 single. "Stephan Laubner and Ric y Martin share vinyl on this split 12". Two songs for doing nothing but everything. It's summers-break, so lay low and let the port-side waves flow over you. Stephan Laubner (aka DJ Phonk) introduces himself with a 10 minute hypnotic didiflow + 3 loops, while Ric y Martin, the project of Chile based Ricardo Villalobos and Dandy Jack, dare to get even deeper inside..."

PANTYTEC: A Glimpse 12" (PERL 014EP). $9.00

1999 release. "Once more it's the comic style and the very special kind of working with vocal samples, for which Perlon is respected so much. The beat-turning arrangement is the key to these never ending tracks, even when you thought you've caught the groove it turns again and starts on another level. A very sexy, well arranged 4 Tracker."

PERLONDON: Windowshopping 12" (PERL 015EP). $9.00

1999 release, repressed. A collaboration between Offenbach- (Perlon) and London-based artists. A1 'Windowshopping', conceived by Baby Ford (I-fach/Trelik/Pal sl) and Zip (Dimbman), is the titletrack and was recorded in Offenbach. B1 'Feel Sensual' was written and produced by Thomas Melchior (Vulva/Rephlex) with additional production by Baby Ford and Annalisa Blake. B2 'Vacuum Cleaner', again conceived by Baby Ford and Zip but this time recorded at I-Fach/London."

VILLALOBOS/SENSE CLUB: Tomorrow Cocktail 12" (PERL 016EP). $9.00

2000 repress. "Ricardo Villalobos and Lucien Nicolet (santiago de chile) invite to their Sense Club, where they serve us a 'Tomorrow Cocktail' that unfolds it's full effect by sneaking on tiptoe right into the inner of the soul. A very personal reminiscence to the sound of Detroit in new clothes. On the flipside, Villalobos is getting deeper into the sound of fruit salads. Good appetite with 'Ananas'."

RIC Y MARTIN: Froebelalichue 12" (PERL 017EP). $9.00

Year 2000 release. Ric Y Martin = Ricardo Villalobos & Dandy Jack. "A mindbending sound experiment. 2 crispy soundmonsters, that will most def shake you into oblivion. Both track were recorded during a trip through South Chile where Ric Y Martin used to live before they recently moved to Berlin. A foretaste of their upcoming album."

NIKOLAI, MARCUS: Back 2LP (PERL 018LP). $15.00*DIMBMAN: King Salmon 12" (PERL 019EP). $9.00

"Dimbman (aka Perlon co-founder Zip) is back with this 3 track 12". Again, he's taking you by the hand to explore the depths of Dimbiland, where exotic sounds are grown in ultra-secret labs under sealevel."

WILD, BENJAMIN: Verschiebungen 12" (PERL 020EP). $9.00

Year 2000 single by this Kompakt/Rewind/Festplatten/Force Tracks affiliate, 4 tracks, including a Dimbman edit of "Louper Trouper".

VILLALOBOS, RICARDO: Bredow 12" (PERL 022EP). $9.00

2001 release, repressed. "Bredow" (later found on the 2002 release Love Family Trax), plus "Damm3"

AKUFEN: Quebec Nightclub 2LP (PERL 024LP). $15.00

"After being invited as 'the unexpected guest' on the label's top selling Superlongevity 2 compilation, Marc Leclair (aka Akufen) returns with this mindbending doublepack. 5 brand-new tracks plus a remix conceived by Pantytec's Sammy Dee & Zip mark this first full length release by Montreal's 'shooting star' Akufen to be released on Perlon."

PANTYTEC: Elastobabe 12" (PERL 026EP). $9.00

"Zip & Sammy Dee (a.k.a. Pantytec) are going to perlonize the universe with this 12" entitled 'elastobabe'! On the a-side you'll find the original version, featuring vocalist Florian Schirmacher, a nice pre-taste of Pantytec's forthcoming debut-album, to be released on perlon in april 2002. The b-side offers a remix conceived by Soul Capsule's Peter Ford (aka Baby Ford) & Thomas Melchior, who took a ride to outerspace, where they met with the cosmic warrior to bend this track (& your mind) to an even more elastic state. ... plus bonus accapella for the dj's pleasure."

DANDY JACK AND THE LATIN LAVA: Ein File Für Derrick 12" (PERL 027EP). $9.00

"The x-traordinary Dandy Jack, one part of Ric y Martin and Sieg über Die Sonne, with his first solo 12" for Perlon. On the a-side, the Dandy invites us to kill, to make sure he can pass on the file to worldfamous superhero Derrick; a 9 minute journey through the depths of the MPC-department. The flip side tells us to visit the 'delay lama'....we guess you'll find him on the dancefloor!"

PANTYTEC: Pony Slaystation 2LP (PERL 028LP). $16.00

Double vinyl version.

SOULPHICTION: Presents Manmadescience 12" (PERL 029EP). $9.00

"Soulphiction, that's Michel Baumann from Stuttgart, Germany, who is already known for his crispylean bootysliders, either as Soulphiction or as Jackmate. Today, he shares the a-side with close friends Reiff & Lieten to form manmadescience, specialists in 'underthecarpethouse', the latest hype from Northscotland. On the flipside it's Soulphiction solo again with 'lickshot' and an alternate version of 'get it right.'"

PANTYTEC: Remixed 12" (PERL 030EP). $9.00

"Detroit's Daniel Bell (Accelerate/Seventh City) went on the 'Micromission' and executes it with inconspicuous perfection. Next track, 'Candy Coated Conspiracy' was redone by Paris based Cabanne and Gluck, who form Ultrakurt (Telegraph). Cabanne also is one part of Copacabannark, a band he's forming with Ark. On the B-side, Isolée (Playhouse) chops up another song of Pantytec's debut album Pony Slaystation entitled 'Pink'. Hot!"

JABBERJAW: Girlfriend 12" (PERL 031EP). $9.00

"Detroit's Matthew Dear, related to the Ghostly International label, is Jabberjaw. After releasing several 12" on Ghostly & Spectral and as False on the Plus8 label, 21 year old Matthew wrote 4 tracks for Perlon#31 entitled Girlfriend."

LUCIANO & MAT JONSON: Alpine Rocket 12" (PERL 032EP). $9.00

"Part 1 of a series of 12"s featuring Lucien 'n' Luciano in various collaborations with friends. Luciano's first appearance on Perlon was a song of his and Ricardo Villalobos project Sense

Club, followed by the beautiful 'Indio Muerto' on the labels Superlongevity 2 compilation. Today, Geneva based Luciano invited Mat Jonson (Itiswhattit) from Victoria/Canada to the Alps to build the Alpine Rocket, a 10 minute ride featuring vocalist Cassy Britton. On the other side it's Luciano solo with 'Mr Chancleta'."

DIMBMAN: The Vibration Of "V" 12" (PERL 033EP). $9.00

"After concentrating on the Pantytec project in 2002, labelfounder Zip returns with his solo project entitled Dimbman. Three tracks that offer a little prestate of his full length album."

MORANE: The Trick (Think Away) 12" (PERL 034EP). $9.00

"Morane, that's the new project of Markus Nikolai and Theo Krieger, a collaboration which already proved it's potential with '99 summer hit 'Bushes' (PERL10). A1 ('Think Away') and B2 ('Think On Air') sound like a cooperation of Prince and Kid Creole at their very best time (remember 'The Sex Of It?'). Energetic brass-sections, percussion and pitched vocals form a latin-funk-monster that will heat up prime-time-dancefloors. B1 ('Think Dark') is a reduced, straight electronic mix including vocals that remind us of Yello's 'Oh Yeah'....dancefloormadness guaranteed!"

PARNELL, PHIL: GMT2 12" (PERL 035EP). $9.00

"Phil Parnell (Mantis, Soundslike), jazz musician from New Orleans with his first release for Perlon. Not too long ago Phil met Matthew Herbert in a recording studio in London. Phil taught Matthew some jazz licks while Mr. Herbert introduced the world of electronics to Mr. Parnell. For Perlon #35 Phil Parnell mixes jazz elements with some quirky samplefunk to get 4 tracks, that fit perfectly in the labels catalogue. A glimpse of Liz Fletchers voice on 'Snap' makes this trip even more magic. A must for the friends of Dimbman."

KALABRESE: Chicken Fried Rice 12" (PERL 037EP). $9.00

"Brought to you by Zuerich-based Sascha Winkler alias Kalabrese... After several records with the hip-hop-combo Sendak, his house debut Airola was released in 2000 through the swiss-label Stattmusik. His style: relaxed, sexy, funky. Never before you could hear someone ordering #73 at the Chinese-delivery that passionate. Fragile voices versus massive bass-melodies. Funky guitars and precise sounds will make your ears groove under headphones. By the way, Kalabrese only sings because he didn't find a singer yet. We at Perlon hope, that he'll never find one."

MINIMAL MAN: Chicken Store 12" (PERL 038EP). $9.00

"Minimal Man, the project of Eon (= Ian Loveday) and Baby Ford, are opening the chicken store for us. They simply leave out the rice of Kalabrese's Perlon37 release, to chop the chicky in a minimal manner. Atmospheric, dark and driving; an abstract version of early techno, giving an insight into a future, that never happened like this. it's all about the chicken...of course."

NARCOTIC SYNTAX: Calculated Extravagant Licentiousness EP 12" (PERL 039). $9.00

"Narcotic Syntax always have felt obliged to satisfy the demand for gaining the emotional maximum on the dance floor. They follow their inner impulse of lowering the club down to the boiling ground water of euphoria, at the same time placing the leveling rule higher. On the occasion the space that is created in between is filled up with thrilling, lascivious rhythms and sophisticated arrangements to get the crowd absorbed in a state of unconditional attention, hypnosis and urge for motion. Welcome to Disco Psychotic."

BABY FORD: Basking In The Brakelights 2LP (PERL 040LP). $18.00

Double LP version (CD version was released in 2003 on Force Inc, with different cover art). Full length album by I-Fach/Trelik/Pal-sl founder Baby Ford, finally available on vinyl. 8 tracks that range from dark dreampatterns to deep houstunes.

PERSEVERANCE:*KIRCHIN, BASIL: OST The Abominable Dr. Phibes CD (PRD 004CD). $16.00

Historic Basil Kirchin soundtrack from 1971, issued on CD for the first time. "A disfigured madman holds a team of doctors responsible for the death of his wife, and proceeds to kill them one by one, using the ten Biblical curses of Pharaoh, while a Scotland Yard Inspector and the main target join forces to try to track him down. Starring Vincent Price, Joseph Cotten, Peter Jeffrey, Virginia North, Hugh Griffith, Terry Thomas, Aubrey Woods, Alex Scott, Caroline Munro. Directed by Robert Fuest. It would appear that the story behind the composition of the music for The Abominable Dr. Phibes would make a drama on its own; certainly, it is an experience that still leaves the composer, Basil Kirchin, smarting from a sense of injustice, even after more than thirty years. As he recalls it, he was living in Switzerland when he was approached to write the score for The Abominable Dr. Phibes. He later met the star of the film, Vincent Price, and asked the actor whether he would play it straight or try for comedy. Price replied with one word — 'Straight'. Kirchin then created an atmospheric underscore of suspense based on two principal themes, for Dr. Phibes and his assistant, Vulnavia. However, the composer fell victim to what he describes as a power struggle — 'political in-fighting between the producer, the director and the man with the money' — which resulted in a fearful row and the majority of Kirchin's score being discarded. The film's soundtrack is an unusual mixture of classical music, popular songs of the Twenties and what was left of Kirchin's atmospheric score, however, this CD presents the complete score as written by Kirchin."

PERSONA RECORDS:*WALKER, STEWART: Degenerate 12" (PRS 008). $6.50

"What's the problem here? Why the cynicism? How many Personicons must get beheaded? First Stewart drops the 'M.O.R. of the same' record, then those laptop backlash T-shirts, and now comes the bile-spitting finale: Degenerate. Times are dirtier now, so the music's gotta represent that. If writers open a vein on their typewriter, then music producers must do the same in their studio. Competence is not enough."

SHIFF, GREGORY: Exit And Entrance 2 12" (PRS 009). $6.50

"As fall transitions to winter, and the thermometer drops, the body is forced to adapt to the now harsh environment. Inspired by heightened sensory awareness, this music is infused with the compelling nature of northern climates. It leaves no doubt as to the inevitability of change, motion, and unending cycles."

LAMAS, GUSTAVO: Radiantes EP 12" (PRS 010). $6.50

"Gustavo has been active since 1994, with both producing music and playing live (and you know we like that). Previous recordings have landed on Argentina's Frágil Discos, Cologne, Germany's Traum, and Canada's Oral, run by man-of the moment Marc Leclair aka Akufen. Gustavo's tracks show an unprecedented level of detail and direction for electronic music. None of these tracks stagnate. In this case, the beats serve the melodies rather than the other way around."

WALKER, STEWART: Live Extracts CD (PRS 011 CD). $13.50

"After years of trying to reconcile the separate experiences of the 'listening techno' he has released on Persona and Force Inc. and the pounding 4/4 jack-trax of his world-renowned live performances Stewart Walker has finally managed to merge both worlds to his satisfaction. Live Extracts is the result of taking the exclusive and never before released sounds from his live show and re-orchestrating them with the full control offered by a home studio."

PET RECORDS:

VA: Soft Sounds for Gentle People 2 CD (PET 002 CD). $14.00

2nd volume of this incredibly researched gray area reissue series. Featuring: The New Hobbits (Long revered in whispered tones from behind the beards of record collectors); The Collage; Queen Anne's Lace; The Spike Drivers (hailed from the flower power mecca of Detroit, Michigan where they once shared the stage with the MC5); Smokey and his Sister; The Pleasure Fair; The Garden Club; 3's A Crowd (sole album produced by an out-of-work Mama Cass after Michelle Phillips fucked Gene Clark and broke up the happy family); The Family (studio effort to cash in on the West Coast hippy craze); The Holy Mackerel (Millennium member Jerry Scheff); Thorinshield; Earth Island (sole 1969 LP for Phillips was produced by Kim Fowley and is mostly about saving the earth and stuff); Stone Country; The Gates of Eden (Beach Boys-inspired pop dirge); The Lewis and Clark Expedition (from the 1967 movie For Singels Only); The Moorpark Intersection (David Axlerod co-wrote and produced with J. Lewis and Bob Padilla in 1968); Wichita Fall; The Sounds of Modification; The Garden of Eden; The Sounds of Sunshine; The Growing Society.

PHAIDON PRESS (UK):

PETTIBON, RAYMOND: Raymond Pettibon Book (PHAID RP). $30.00

Beautifully produced full color paperback monograph — 160 pages, approximately 12" x 10". Includes a full overview of Pettibon's career, from unpublished mid-70s works (back when he signed things "R. Ginn") through his punk-flyer affiliation and up to his modern oversize gallery work. Includes interviews with Dennis Cooper, Grady Turner & Byron Coley. An essential Pettibon document (for beginners or experts), with a lot of stuff not found in the DAP The Books 1978-1998 collection. "California-based artist Raymond Pettibon began making his signature ink-wash drawings — combinations of cartoon-like images with short, enigmatic texts — in the 1980s. Since then he produced thousands of drawings in his unusual drafting style; framed or pinned directly on the wall, they are often combined by the dozens in no discernible order, like a giant scattered notebook. With solo exhibitions worldwide including a retrospective at The Museum of Contemporary Art, Los Angeles (1994), Pettibon is considered one of the world's most significant innovators of figurative art. Poet and novelist Dennis Cooper speaks with the artist about recurring obsessions such as baseball, film noir, surfers and the animated figure Gumby. Museum of Modern Art curator Robert Storr examines the full scope of Pettibon's prolific career, setting the artist firmly within the tradition of Western figurative painting. Critic and curator Ulrich Loock looks at a single strand in Pettibon's oeuvre: a drawing centring on the character Vavoom. The artist has chosen three extracts from The Art of English Poesie by George Puttenham, The Life and Opinions of Tristram Shandy, Gentleman by Laurence Sterne, and Modern Painters by John Ruskin. This book also includes never-before-published scripts from as-yet-unmade videos on subjects from Jim Morrison to Hollywood."

PHANTOM CODE (UK):

CYCLOBE: Luminous Darkness CD (OMCO 01). $19.00

"The new sound project of Stephen Thrower (Coil member from '85-93) and Simon Norris (DJ member from '91-95). The result of sampling, instrumental work & grotesque combinations of the two, Luminous Darkness represents the first fruit of two years work and constant mutation-juicy. Threading their sound through squid guts & neural shredding machinery, mulching the poison juice out of the music left overs and cutting very sharp turns round aural hairpins, Cyclobe music is sounding mighty peculiar. Preoccupations include phallic navigation, four or many legged things, violent death majesty, brute reality juggling, dreaming being awake, sick jokes in other dimensions, persistent swelling and always colour, especially the tuning of it. Luminous Darkness isn't beautiful, it's worse."

CYCLOBE: The Visitors CD (OMCOUK 02). $17.00

"The Visitors is the new album by Cyclobe, the first since the hugely successful 1999 debut Luminous Darkness. Cyclobe combine their fascination with both melodic and dissonant, acoustic and electronic music to forge new connections between the romantic and the experimental. The Visitors carries intimations of cosmic conflict — several tracks (Sentinels, Brightness Falls From The Air & Strix Nebulosa) embrace traditional popular Turkish and Arabic motifs blended into a violent and uncanny metamorphic sound world. Conflict and chaos mesh with a search for alien beauty and the joyful inhalation of star - light."

PHARMA (GERMANY):

ZULUTRONIC: Back To Bombershime 12" (PHR 020 EP). $9.00

Five track EP from the forthcoming full length CD. "Zulutronic is back. Rough, bassy, very groove orientated and always packed with those weird sounds you don't expect. One time humorous then again dark and serious. You could call it 'Digital Electro' or 'Digital Freestyle'". The Pharma Mothership returns to it's homebase after some expeditions in space. 'Bombershime' is the home of Zulutronic and the place where Pharmaheads like Jammin' Unit and Kerosene spent their youth. A place, famous for psychics, criminals and geniuses."

JAMMIN' UNIT: Are You Prepared? CD (PHR 023 CD). $15.00

"After Jammin' Unit's albums J.U. Discovers Chemical Dub (Rising High) and Deaf, Dub And Blind (Blue Planet/Instinct) he has now produced his first solo longplayer for Pharma. Compared to those records he develops his 'future dub techfunk' to a more versatile way and mixes ingredients from Jazz, Funk, Rock'n Roll, R&B and of course Dub to a new 'Electro R&B Superfunk-sound'. Jammin' Unit is the man who invented this 'new era dub' sound beside the traditional reggae roots. He uses dub as a technique to extract the soul from music he loves. May this be Gary Glitter, Suzie Quattro, Gary Numan or Lee Perry. In the end there is a new track with an old soul glowing behind. Are You Prepared is definitely the result of a long lasting work and shows a lot of groove. It sums up all kinds of his musical work done before and is starting a new phase of composing tracks, involving more and more melodic structures." Limited stock.

PHILIPS (FRANCE):

HENRY, PIERRE: 04.1: Pierres Réfléchies CD (PHI 2202). $21.00

Features: "Pierres Réfléchies (1982), La Noire à Soixante (1961), Gymkhana (1970)." 2 of these were previously available on the o/p Mantra CD Noir A Soixante. "Reflechies" is an almost anemic, crescendo-building electronic work from 1982.

HENRY, PIERRE: 04.2: Fragments Pour Artaud CD (PHI 2203). $21.00

Features: "Fragments pour Artaud (1970), Entité (1959), Prisme (1973)." "Fragments Pour Artaud" is from 1970, a composition for voice, cello, and electronics. Lovely electronic abstractions and purely transformed vocal input (not a text-laden piece, don't worry) make this another essential Henry masterwork of strange and bewildering genius. "Prismes" is a 15 minute electronic opera from 1973 (the soundtrack to Alwin Nikolais's choreography), performed at Opera de Hambourg, Feb. 1973. Oscillating electronics, processed choral sounds, another showcase for peak Henry exploration.

HENRY, PIERRE: 04.3: Les Annees Cinquante 2CD (PHI 2204). $21.00

Collection of Henry's earliest material from the 1950s, previously issued on the long o/p Mantra 3CD set. "CD 1: Microphone bien tempéré (1950-1952), Concerto des ambiguës (1950), Musique sans titre (1950), Bidule en mi (1950). CD 2: Spirale (1955), Voile d'orphée (1953), Spatiodynamisme (1954), Aut-voltage (1956), Coexistence (1958)."

HENRY, PIERRE: Remixe Sa Dixième Symphonie CD (PHI 2821). $28.00

"In 1979 I composed a symphony titled: "10th Symphony of Beethoven". On the basis of the Beethoven-symphony durations I ended to the my way, by a deconstruction of the 9 symphonies. Not does not have a musicologic analysis of the characteristics and constants of the writing of Beethoven updated the trajectories, the possible links, the connections, the bridges of a symphony has the other. By the assembly and the mixtures I introduced times of resolution or of frustration, of prolongation or climate, cycles, repetitions and counter-points per guns, finally, an approach similar has that of my works. The notes of Beethoven became concrete sounds; I did them my way. Beethoven always fascinated me because he invented melody-in-little-of-notes, very strong melody, as strong as a thunder clap, as a tidal wave, as a siren of fog. It has presented the dramatization of the sounds; in A carves the thickness. Today the 10th Symphony remix, it is the 10th Symphony with rhythms has me, current: a faster rhythmicity, with beats, fright electronic, flutters dephases, mobilities of filters, additions of frequencies, doublings of reverberation. Beethoven is amplified by deplacement his orchestra, made more dramatic, more human. Today it is also the scenario of an imaginary film which is the frame of this "10th Symphony remix." Remix, for me, it is to strike, with wanted dynamics, a new radical sound speech. A new adventure meaning the current function of the type-setter in the company." — Pierre Henry. A curious addition to the Henry oeuvre, speculated by some as his personal attempt in cashing in on all of that Modulations screen-time through the addition of a certain 'Jackin' (albeit a distant & foggy 'Jackin') to the mix. Really, really strange." — Hrvatski.

HENRY, PIERRE: 01.1: Une Tour de Babel/Tokyo 2002 CD (PHI 4400). $25.00

The French Philips label continues their documentation of Pierre Henry with this series of new & reissue CDs — if I'm translating correctly, there will be a total 16 CDs in this series, documenting a total of 27 works from the past and present, as chosen and presented by the composer. Volume 01.1 of this series consists of two new works never previously released. "Tour de Babel" is a long 57-minute concrete piece from 1999 and "Tokyo 2002", a six-minute work from 1998. "Tour de Babel" is a shifting landscape of processed string sounds and scapes, building into swirling crescendos — in a similar realm to L'Homme à la Camera.

HENRY, PIERRE: 01.3: Messe De Liverpool/Fantaisie Messe Pour Le Temps Prese CD (PHI 4402). $25.00

New version of "Messe de Liverpool", superceding the prior CD version on Mantra (now deleted). "Liverpool" is a classic electronic mass from 1967, originally issued by Philips on LP. "Fantaisie Messe Pour le Temps Présent" is a 23-minute remix of the historic 1967 meeting between Pierre Henry and Michel Colombier; it was remixed in 1967 by William Orbit, working from original "electronic jerks" from the original and parts of Henry's 1991 remix of the same. One of the ultimate psychedelic/electronic mergers.

HENRY, PIERRE: 02.2: Mouvement-Rythme-Etude CD (PHI 4534). $25.00

"Reissue of the 1970 composition dedicated to Maurice Béjart." This supercedes the now deleted Mantra version. "This work is dedicated to a close friend of Henry: Maurice Béjart, the famous dancer. Henry has composed numerous works for ballet, which were staged by the dancers of Béjart. In the early days Henry even accompanied the dance group all over the world. This work is exactly what the title says: it's a study of movement and rhythm. Starting of with very simple beats that meet with the reversed sound of scraped metal wires. Track 2 is a play for blowing balloons and a person saying: 'pssh' and 'psst'. Talking about humour. Track 3 is instrumental and quite acoustic whereas track 4 is entirely electronic. And that's how it continues. The whole things consists of 21 etudes for a ballet dancer." — los Smolders

HENRY, PIERRE: 02.3: Le Livre des Morts Egyptien CD (PHI 4535). $25.00

"CD containing the reissue of the 1988 masterpiece 'Le livre des Morts Egyptiens.'" This version supercedes the now deleted Mantra version. Recorded in 1990, this features beautiful, flowing, droning electronics ? despite the recording date, the sounds are in no way datable & could be decades old. "Death is an important theme in Henry's work. The Egyptian book of the Dead therefore is an ideal theme for Henry to work on. The ideograms that are essential in this composition are magnificently worked out. The course that the sounds take is quite dramatic and theatrical. The introduction is awe-inspiring. Henry follows in the subsequent scenes quite exactly the course that the dead person will go when on his/her trip towards the realm of the dead. The associations with large pyramids and ancient Egypt are but one layer in this 'spectacle'." — los Smolders.

HENRY, PIERRE: Psyche Rock Remixes 12" (PHI 4649751). $8.00

"The new remix 12" containing contributions from Ursula 1000, Moog Cook Book, Kojak, and Pierre Henry." New remixes of "Psyché Rock".

HENRY & MICHEL COLOMBIER, PIERRE: Psyché Rock CD (PHI 5905). $8.00

The biggest exploitation of Henry & Colombier's classic 1967 anthem continues. This CD EP features the original version of "Psyché Rock" plus three mixes by Fatboy Slim and one by William Orbit & Mat Ducasse.

HENRY, PIERRE: Messe Pour Le Temps Présent CD (PHI 6293). $28.00

Fabulously desirable reissue of the most famous Henry piece of them all. "Messe Pour Le Temps Présent" was music for ballet that was originally recorded in 1967 in association with Michel Colombier. Henry supposedly commissioned Colombier "to recreate the sound textures and violent atmosphere of certain American films." Colombier's music is a variation of fun psychedelic rock from the time, but Henry added "jerks" — electronic effects and rhythmic cells in response to the work that make for spectacular listening and a fascinating combination of the high and low brow. His electronic sounds from this piece have been heavily sampled in recent years and the hit track on here ("Psyche Rock") is really something to behold. Recently, a very high profile remix project of "Messe Pour Le Temps Présent" has been issued by Philips (on FRRR in the US even!) in honor of this works' legendary status, featuring tracks from the album remixed by the likes of Coldcut, William Orbit, Dimitri From Paris, Fatboy Slim, Tek 9, etc. In addition, this CD also contains the following Henry electronic works: "La Reine Verte" (excerpt) & "Le Voyage" (1962) — "It's a piece about how to approach death and the sounds I use to convey this idea are inspired by zen. They are dream-like and meditative and heighten the listener's awareness." — Henry. Also included: an excerpt of "Variations Pour Une Porte Et Un Soupir" (full version available on Harmonia Mundi HMA 1905200).

HENRY, PIERRE: *Métamorphose: Messe Pour Le Temps Présent Remixed 2LP (PHI 6640LP). $22.00

Deluxe 2LP gatefold version of this remix project from 1997. We don't carry the CD version which is available via FRRR/Polygram in the US. Features remixes of the Henry/Michel Colombier 1967 classic by: Fatboy Slim, Chris The French Kiss, William Orbit, St. Germain, Dimitri From Paris, Tek 9, Coldcut, Mighty Bop, Funki Porcini, Chateau Flight, & Ken Abyss.

HENRY, PIERRE: *Mix 03.0 4CD (PHI 8522). $56.00

The third illustrious boxset in this continuing series of the complete Pierre Henry documentation on French Philips! Contains a total of 4 CDs, three of which are also available separately: CD1: Variations pour Une Porte et un Soupir/La Reine Verte; CD2: Futuristie; CD3: Antagonismes IV. Plus a totally unreleased CD-only available in this boxset: CD4: Hugosymphonie/Gouttes d'eau. "Hugosymphonie/Gouttes d'eau" is a 21-minute piece of 4 elements, features a symphony of cosmic inspiration based on nature themes in the work of Victor Hugo. Recorded for Radio France on 12/15/1985. The extract of "Gouttes d'eau" features a symphonic poem in which all the water drops of the world meet in a clean streaming of the essence of Victor Hugo."

HENRY, PIERRE: *03.2: Futuristie CD (PHI 8524). $21.00

First CD reissue of this 70-minute work from 1975, originally issued on LP by Philips in 1980. "Futuristie" is a sound and visual tribute to the Italian Futurist Luigi Russolo (author of the 1913 manifesto: "The Art of Noises"). Hugh Davies has written the following in regard to this work and its relationship to Russolo: "Only in Pierre Henry's 'Futuristie' did the composer start from a knowledgeable basis: in this he recreated elements of a theatrical Futurist soirée, but the boxes on stage that resembled those of Russolo's intonarumori only contained loudspeakers for the replay of tape music."

HENRY, PIERRE: *03.3: Antagonismes IV CD (PHI 8525). $21.00

First release of this Pierre electronic collage work, realized at WDR in Köln in 1996. "Antagonismes is the result of a re-working of a composition of a work according to another work. 'Antagonisms' is a radiography, a sort of horn-of-the-they of 'Intérieur/Extérieur' (which was a manner of ritual, an imaginary corridor layout for the adventure of a secret ceremony). A composition imagined during the hours of the day while waiting for the visitors of the evening. Sound realization with the daily newspaper for an exercise of introspection, voyage into the abyssal zone of a work, considered as an exorcism. To extract a work from another work, twin intention and antonym. Combinations different from the same sounds, almost exclusively resulting from the piano, a construction puzzle. The two musics keep jointly, a strange play of the mirror. Like the negative philosophical one of creation."

PHILIPS (JAPAN):

GIL, GILBERTO: *Cerebro Elettronico CD (PHCA 4227). $24.00

Japanese-only reissue of the third Gil album (also known as the self titled Gilberto Gil album), originally issued by Brazilian Polydor in 1969. "Every bit as in the zone as Gal's epochal '69 testament; musta been something in the Bahian water that year! The Brazilian military dictatorship of the time didn't know what the fuck to make of these records, but they knew they were plenty subversive & placed Gilberto & Caetano Veloso (don't sleep on his '69 White Album either, even though it's never been as hard to find as these two) under house arrest before exiling them for several years. Lanny, again, provides some of the most psychedelic guitarwork the world has ever known & studio wiz Rogerio Duprat outdoes himself on the almost-Dockstadteresque 'Objeto Semi-Identificado'. There's even a Mutantes cover ('2001' or 'Dois Mil e Uno') which out-freaks the original! Sample lyrics from 'Futurivel' (thanks, Babelfish!): 'Its body will be more shining/The mind, more intelligent/Everything in superdimension/The mutant is happier/ Happy because/In the new mutation/The happiness is made of metal'. This was Gil's third album, and second in the Tropicalist style. While I've yet to hear a bad one from him, newcomers should observe the best-before-'75 rule & seek out s/t '68 (aka "Frevo Rasgado"); all the '68 Tropicalist records were sunnier & Sgt. Pepperian than the '69 freekouts; the epochal Tropicália ou Panis et Circensis comp, and the more trad, but still excellent Expresso 2222 ('72) & Refazenda ('75). The 'album-in-exile' immediately following this one (s/t '71, Gravado em Londres) is still lost in the mists of time, and is probably a corker (along w/ the 'lost' Caetano double album from '69, which was recalled & destroyed by the dictatorship!)." — Jason Witherspoon.

LEAO, NARA: CD (PHCA 4230). $24.00

"This is the third installment I'm aware of in the Japanese 'Birth of Tropicália' series. It's an entirely different bird than the wild-ass Gilberto Gil & Gal Costa records, displaying a much more traditionalist Brazilian aesthetic, not unlike a milder version of Gal's first album. As with the freakier pair in the series, the genius of arranger Rogério Duprat is in full effect; with Nara, however, he's molded a sound that ranges from swinging Gainsbourgian mini-orchestral sambas, to beautifully melancholic folkloric chansons, to full-blown echoing rain-forest symphonies (as on her breathtaking rendition of 'Mamãe, Coragem', sung by Gal Costa on the Tropicália ou Panis et Circensis compilation)—there's a definite redolence of other genius producers of the late sixties/early seventies, like Scott Walker's Wally Stott or even Charles Stepney. The material ranges from Tropicalist—Caetano Veloso's 'Lindoneia', her contribution to the Tropicália album — to jewels of Brazilian song dating as far back as 1925 (but given Duprat's brilliant treatment, all sounding thoroughly moderne in a fine 'Now Sound' way). A beautifully crafted & joyful album, recommended more for fans of Brazilian music & masterful, groovy orchestral production than strictly 'out' or psychedelic aficionadoes." — Jason Witherspoon

PHONICS (CANADA):

VA: *Nummer Een CD (PHOLAB AAA). $13.00

Canadian-only compilation release of tracks from the highly illuminating DUB label out of the Netherlands, Europe's most intriguing IDM-relatable label. Attractively packaged in a silver embossed sleeve in jewel box. "Advanced rhythmic structures are the reference points. Melodic passages emerge, twist, tease and retract, passing through intricate webs of abstract electronics. Diversity presides, but overall coherence, flow and form are the common denominators. This is the sound of Holland's Dub Recordings. Comparison would be misleading. The most direct path from point A to point B is discretionary. All 11 tracks are on CD for the first time, including out-of-print and unreleased selections. Artists include: Eog, Phako, Funkarma, Autophonic, Duplex, and Duracel."

PHONOMENA AUDIO ARTS & MULTIPLES:

APPLETON SYNTONIC: *Menagerie 2 CD (PAAM 010 CD). $13.00

First release on this new NY-based label; CDs are packaged in beautiful Japanese-style mini-LP gatefold sleeves. One of the most impressive experimental/electronic label debuts in quite a while...

"Jon Appleton is one of contemporary music's most unique characters. His stunningly original electro-acoustic music is full of ingenious dramatic effects and wicked sense of humour. The compositions on this album were recorded in some of the world's most legendary electronic music studios, capturing startling images of his travels around the globe between the years 1965 to 1987. Weaved together with his remarkable skills at tape manipulation, synthesis and arrangement of traditional instruments, here is an album that speaks to all generations of new music lovers."

ONDA, AKI: *Ancient & Modern CD (PAAM 020 CD). $13.00

"Aki Onda, known to many as a leading figure in the electronic/improvised music scene in Japan for over a decade, has brought to us an album devoted entirely to his tape music compositions. His obsessive habit of cassette taping his surroundings has evolved into a project entitled 'Cassette Memories', where he dissect, rearrange and manipulate the tapes, investigating the emotional properties of everyday soundscapes. Ancient & Modern which captured the fragility, sensuality and madness of daily life, undoubtedly marks Aki Onda's departure into a new phase of musical explorations."

PHONOMETROGRAPHY (UK):

AUTECHRE & THE HAFLER TRIO: *æ3o & h3æ 2CD (PGRAM 002). $27.00

"Formed from a runabout involving schools of several things, interpolated like some sort of string of paper dolls, moved around with abandon, and prodded with several large poles. Why would this happen? Would there be an end, they cried? Not by the hair on someone's not inconsiderable point, it was indicated. where on the one hand, there is space, on the other, there is a hand that holds in the reins tightly. On the one side is the flash of the explicit, on another (the other?), snipers hidden in the thicket. In the thick. of it. How to use? Prepare ground thoroughly with flame thrower. Encourage weeds. Bring in compost. Smother other incidental fires. Mulch. Look upwards. Look all around. Look left, look right. Think once, think twice. Maybe again. Who knows? I do. But I'm not telling."

HAFLER TRIO, THE: *Anything That Anyone Else Tells You Is Not Good Enough LP (PGRAM 003). $60.00

The soundtrack to the Hasselt event. 12" vinyl. Limited to 500 hand-numbered copies, very elaborate/delicate packaging in this label's quickly emerging tradition. "The point extended to a radius in all directions allows the form to float as if it might never shatter on contact with another body, but neither does it appear that it can come to rest. The special recipe that provides the skin indicates the possibility of the persistence of that assumed to expire much sooner. By dint of explicit construction, formulation, and work on the constitution allows for more possibilities than can be at first seen in the 'passive' manner of consideration. However, in the light that is cast, the appearance can be less than all of the dimensions. And the flatness begins. the appearance and disappearance appears as a magical act. Just as the sun sets leaving one of it behind every night behind the hill. The recordings enclosed here were premiered at Kunstencentrum BELGIE, Hasselt, Belgium, 20th of September 2003, as part of the 'electric light/electric sound' event. 'and she said to me, 'you didn't, 't', I said 'I did!', and she said, 'I don't believe you!!!'...but it was TRUE!!!!."

HAFLER TRIO, THE: *How To Slice A Loaf of Bread Lengthwise (Part 2) 3CD (PGRAM 004). $48.00

2nd volume in this deluxe series.

HAFLER TRIO, THE: *Scissors Cut Arrow 2CD/DVD (PGRAM 005). $75.00

2 CDs and a DVD in 5.1 surround of the performance at Clifford's Tower, York, released Thursday July 1st 2004. DVD is PAL format (European standard, may not play on most NTSC DVD players in North America; should play on many computers). "Prepared under conditions of great tension and revelation, this three disc set removes the shutters from the moving image parts of h3o operations. Comprising two discs of versions of the material collected and produced on site at Clifford's Tower in York, England during October 2002, plus a RandomPlay(r) DVD featuring large fragments of that which occurred there on the night of Friday the 18th of that month. This event marked the solid return of the Hafler Trio to live performances on a scale befitting the ideas contained within, and a commitment to the expansion of physical manifestation of their work in other realms. Already acclaimed by people who have seen and tested the prototypes as a landmark release, it comes with extraordinary packaging, beautiful photographs of the event, texts that may or may not illuminate, and photographs from the preparations. The DVD features Dolby 5.1 surround mixes of the live events, plus surreptitiously recorded audience responses and commentary, as well as a sing-along which puzzled the good people of York for miles around."

PHOSPHOR (GERMANY):

PHOSPHOR: #111 MAG/CD (PHOS 111). $12.00

"Phosphor presents the new Touch compilation album (featuring various Touch artists selecting their favorite tracks from the Touch catalog). Phosphor's new issue features 30 pages, including many reviews, label specials, live reviews, etc. Phosphor is a magazine searching for the edges of progressive, experimental and electronic music and experimental dance theatre." Artists: Locust, Mika Vainio, Rafael Toral, Rehberg & Bauer, Biosphere, Philip Jeck, Oren Ambarchi, Ken Ikeda, Soliman Gamil, Fennesz, Chris Watson, Hazard, Ryoji Ikeda, Johann Johannsson.

PHOTEK PRODUCTIONS (UK):

SPECIAL FORCES: *Something Else CD (PPRO 3 CD). $6.50

"Announcing the return of Photek with the track that's put him firmly back on the map. This is a limited single release that will act as a forerunner to the Photek Productions album project Sub Zero." CD version features three versions of 'Something Else (Bleeps tune)': original mix, Photek remix, radio edit."

SPECIAL FORCES: *Something Special 12" (PPRO 3 EP). $9.00

12" version features "Something Else (Bleeps Tune)" & a Photek remix of the same.

PHTHALO:

PHTHALOCYANINE: *Viridian CD (PPTH 03). $11.00

"The first generally available pressing of Pththalocyanine's first released work — originally as Plug Reseach 02 in the Spring of '95. It is fully remastered with 4 additional Viridian period tracks. The style was much easier back then; developed melodics and a sense of patience in the way things unfold, and mostly no distortion or heavy drum machine ethics. It was more of a romantic time- before the confrontational mess we are now used to from Phthalocyanine. Primer for the forthcoming Phthalocyanine album on Planet Mu."

PHTHALOCYANINE: Zacks CD (PHTH 05). $11.00

"Re-issue of the previously available CDR includes brilliantly colored artwork on the now manufactured CD. Drum machine studies which as described by O.S.T. are 'like tooth decay'. This might be something some Africans would listen to at a good party with blood drinking and also those famous stick fights. The tracks are primitive or even primordial emulations of Africanisms of percussion and toothdrill-isms of dizzy grunged signal paths. What if Africans used computers for their parties? This is ground Phthalo continually travels in search of the 'real' electronic techno music not made into a hackneyed cerebral 'thinking about music' mess but instead made into a maximal, anal expulsive reflection of any and all musical ideas from all of history and possible imagination which would specifically induce certain internal expressions to oneself."

DNTel: Early Works For Me If It Works For You CD (PHTH 12). $11.00

"The diverse talents of one Dntel — a long since established feature of the L.A. computer music landscape-known for involvement with Phthalo, Dublab, Plug Research, and Figurine, provides for us a collection of his most early work. A hyperspeed bricolage of processed breakbeats put through the cuisinart, assembled in unfamiliar beatgrids and made sharp by extremely lush melodies-circa Allroy Road Tracks and the Spy Mania raison detre fused with indie guitar perspectives on texture and easy mood. It is an endlessly listenable collection of shining jewels. As our artist Daedelus might ask, 'Do you have romantic music?' Yes of course we say, 'But nothing too obvious...' Re-Issued on manufactured CD with new bright and fully packaged artwork."

SISTOL: CD (PHTH 15). $11.00

"Artist from Chain Reaction, Max Ernst, and Sigma Editions issues first full length for Phthalo. Bumpy asymmetrical time sense, digital scrape artifacts and smudges, all propelled forward with straight tempo instruments and dance approach. All around the beats are filtered hiss instruments and sine wave bass accents on odd beats as opposed to 'even' basslines on the one. Nothing seems to be on the one. Everything is carried forward by quaternote kicks but the rest resembles some kind of prime number type rhythm music. African folk music will be made with computers someday."

CLAYTON, KIT: Shortwave Live CD (PHTH 17). $11.00

"Noise concrete. Loud and heavy, from live performance on KALX radio Berkeley. In Phthalo's opinion, Kit's most extreme work available. Academic feeling similar to Stockhausen's Spiral for shortwave/voice/ and flute; this is just the noise though! Filter frenzy-blast loud!!!!"

D84: Pirate Planets CD (PHTH 18). $11.00

"A multitrack seamless piece of musique concrete-ish zaps and bass pops, flying saucer 'warning signals', reverse FM'd 'talking', low octave crunches + hi-hat continuity, and computer language raw code programming. If there are 4 'fields' of electronic music (the electroacoustic, tapesplining(concrete), synthesizers and music 'boxes', coded computer synthesis), then this D84 does a fusion of all 4 of them indiscriminately. Computer music and techno suggest more and more a 'seriousness' of rejecting identification with any past music. Dump your taste senses for a bit and join this music for the sake of your non-verbal and tasteless emotions..."

DNTel: Something Always Goes Wrong CD (PHTH 19). $11.00

"After releasing the masterpiece collection Early Works For Me If It Works For You, Dntel digs again back into his vault of unreleased backlog to give another collection, this time a concept mini-album telling us a story about a 'hero and his arduous quest'. The tracks have the patented Dntel romanticism of melodic themes and a supersaturated drum machine sense — occasionally moving into the zone of 'war drums'. These are classic tracks originally scheduled for release on a Japanese dance label long ago, and since rediscovered by a few L.A. techno diehards who can spot classic work even if it doesn't have a fancy label name written on it. The album includes extra Dntel tracks, plus remixes by Seq and L.A. artist Langui."

ABOUT THIS PRODUCT: Trash Art CD (PHTH 26). $12.00

"This is the triumphant and life affirming debut album by About This Product from Houston, Texas. It's an apocalyptic vision, a chorus of many metabolisms, a toxic battle between neurotransmitters. Currently playing live shows frequently in Houston and Austin, they've opened for Kid 606, Phthalocyanine, Thomas Jirku, Hrvatski, Dat Politics, and Mogwai most recently. There has been a previous appearance on Tigerbeat 6. Their production style shares affinities with Pita (Get Out/Get Down) and most of the Mego label, Merzbow, and Iggy & The Stooges. The texture of the individual sounds could be compared with Gyorgy Ligeti and/or the Sonic Youth electro-acoustic series; the aggressive percussion shares common ground with The Boredoms, Black Dice, Phthalocyanine and possibly Autrechre circa Confield. It's a binge of sharded delays, crippled drumkits, and DSP overkill; this is what a present day punk band should aspire to."

WOBBLY: Live 99>00 CD (PHTH 29). $11.00

"Jon Leidecker has been producing music under the name Wobbly since 1990, but has been involved in electro-acoustic live mix radio improvisation since 1987. Wobbly concert appearances involve no laptops, no sequencers, no midi; edits are manually executed in real time using a mixer and several inexpensive samplers."

TU M': Pink Shark CD (PHTH 33). $12.00

"Tu m' is Rossano Polidoro and Emiliano Romanelli from Città Sant' Angelo (Pescara, Italy). Tu m', like Phthalo (home of Tum's latest album Pink Shark) signifies an approach, an attitude, an effort much more than it does only an 'electronic music band.' Tu m' is several things: It's an electronic music project that releases recordings on labels including: Cut, BOXmedia, ERS/Staalplaat, Aesova, Fällt, and now Phthalo. It's a video art project and sound installation project whose works have been part of festivals, galleries and museums. It's a Record label called Mr.Mutt. It's the title of Marcel Duchamp's last painting."

DAEDELUS: Her's Is > CD (PHTH 34). $11.00

"Breakcore/Hardcore/cerebral-listening-noise-sampl e-pastiche. Very thematic 'story' or 'narrative' (loosely please) following a woman rambling/rhapsodizing about difficult things and being at odds generally with all. (Phthalo textbook-eh!) L.A. native Alfred Weisberg Roberts-Breakcore/oldskool DJ + Avant Garde Jazz Academic shoots us a take from his history's beginning. Jungle roots! Todd Dockstaeder's, Robert Ashley's, John Cage's and David Tudor's, and ...'s and George Clinton's and the Funkadelic's raison d'être. Alfred is able to turn his musical forebearer's turgid academics into a leit motive, a high seriousness that enables one to somersault three times in the air comfortably, and pierce the water with nary a wave."

MIMI + BOYD: Angular Island CD (PHTH 38). $13.00

"For anyone remotely familiar with the harsh noise aesthetic of Phthalo, Mimi + Boyd will scare the bejeezus out of you. Why? Because this is dance music, baby, and not the it's experimental-so-I'll-try-to-dance-to-it kind. Because Mimi + Boyd are actually Michelle

'Punisher' Herrmann and Mark 'Vapourspace' Gage, and Angular Island is straight-ahead minimal techno designed to move your ass, not your bowels. Closest connections would be Hawtin and, in his funkier moments, Thomas Brinkmann, as 'Hover + Pounce' takes classic 4/4 techno grooves, adds a catchy 1-and-2 bass bump and caps it off with retro horn accents that will take you back to Eon's 'Spice.'"

EIGHT FROZEN MODULES: Random Activites And Broken Sunsets CD (PHTH 41). $11.00

"These are the refined techniques of one Ken Gibson who has developed a completely original means of producing multitrack soundsources. He works in a massive rhythmic study of breakbeats as well as post-concrete techniques reminiscent possibly of certain science fiction music; and, equally noteworthy, though perhaps less apparent, is the sonic clarity and aliveness here. Absolute attention has been given to instrument choice and placement in 'the stereo field' creating a very effective 'widening and deepening' of the actual space that one perceives the sound in, as well as a very convincing 'movement of that space'. The mix itself seems to move as one instrument. Please consider this to be one of the very first albums on record to actually create a 'performance' WITH the space heretofore occupied by passive 'post production' techniques."

CLOIDT, JAY: Dark Matter CD (PHTH 42). $11.00

"A veteran of the legendary Mills College Center for Contemporary Music scene, Jay has been composing since before most so-called 'glitchcore' or 'quasi-academic-cum-i.d.m.' musicians were born. Jay Cloidt has spent half a lifetime's study and work on the real nuts and bolts of structuring original electronic music, starting in the days before digital synths, samplers, drum machines, or DSP. Dark Matter is the follow-up to his noted Kole Kat Krush CD on the Starkland label. This album is much more 'brute' in the Phthalo/Techno sense than Kole Kat Krush. At many points it is a thorough study of very sustained notes; it demands patience from the listener. Cloidt was around when concrete sounds and synthesis were very deliberate affairs, and an actual inherent part of the creation of the sound itself as opposed to an 'added' process which the sound 'goes through', and it shows in this work. It is all composition and synthesis — all very intentional."

BLECTUM FROM BLECHDOM: Fishin' In Front Of People CD (PHTH 43). $12.00

"The apparently last album for this computermusic supergroup. With edits, and unlikely moments spanning a number of live performances, this also includes some previous favorites from the Messy Jesse Fiesta and D84 albums, as well as 2 campy vocal pop tunes from the exceedingly evil mind of Kevin Blechdom, with harmonies from Blevin. This is in Phthalo's opinion the most raw/unrefined/thrashy Blechdom album available (containing the most messy and drunken moments according to the cover), and tracks such as 'Rave Training Wheels' show the imagination and recklessness that techno can be injected with when executed by powerful minds. The duo will be missed, but solo careers for both Blevin and Kevin look promising."

HUGE PAVILLIONS: Huge Pavillions CD (PHTH 47). $12.00

"As musical revisionist manifestos go this one tears all else asunder. The sound true to a bygone era of anonymous twelve inches that pound techno in the night. Underground Resistance, the end of Acid, the birthing of Trance, all byproducts of these early years just after the fall of rave in England, together in sound. Huge Pavillions is such." —Daedelus.

PI GAO MOVEMENT:

ULTRADYNE: Age Of Discontent 12" (PGM 004). $9.00

"In cooperation with Clone, Pi Gao Movement releases the new Ultradyne EP (5 tracks). A dark and almost evil record. This record is a must for every Dopplereffekt, Drexiya fan. Uncompromising and raw music from the dark city of Detroit... and as Coca Cola said before: Nothing can beat the real thing."

PIANO (UK):

GORDON/DAVID CUNNINGHAM, PETER: The Yellow Box CD (PIANO 504). $15.00

"1996 CD documenting a decade (and then some) of collaborations featuring Gordon (sax, piano, keys, percussion, guitar) and Cunningham (guitars, loops and treatments, prepared piano, percussion, keyboards) with John Greaves (bass), Anton Fier (drums), and David Van Tieghem (percussion triggers). What started in 1981 as a loose experiment in location recording and 'found objects' morphed into this selection of synth drones, free jazz blasts, cut-up spoken revelations, electric instrumental minimalism (with the over popular RIO influence) and tape hiss. Pretty great, actually..." —Hrvatski.

CUNNINGHAM, DAVID: Voiceworks CD (PIANO 505). $15.00

1992 CD reissue of an album originally released only in Japan. "This music is not only concerned with voices. The voice is the element which unifies the differing treatments. Through this point of reference the processes are exposed and allowed an identity beyond the role of pure manipulation. The technical procedures are not in themselves important. They are devices. A vocabulary of musical electronics (as opposed to electronic music) to structure the voicings of other musics. The important element in the construction of much of this music is the exploration of 'soft' systems, responsive systems as opposed to pure process. The studio and associated machines draw on the grain. The physical properties, of the source material. This overall approach deals with music as texture and as a time-based activity as well as rhythm, melody and harmony. For the most part it can only exist as recorded sound."

OWADA: Nothing CD (PIANO 508). $15.00

"Owada are a three-piece formed in London two years ago. Featuring 23 tracks representative of their live set, Owada's debut album is long on songs and short on shit. Without using too many notes and with hardly any superfluous words, Owada break music down and build it up to make funny and straight, sad and happy songs. The album has its low and its high, and through thick and thin, big songs and small, it takes the rough with the smooth heavy-handedly and with a lightness of touch. Owada are hot and they're cold. They blow and they suck. Owada are nothing. Nothing was produced by David Cunningham."

CUNNINGHAM & STEPHEN PARTRIDGE, DAVID: This Is A Sentence CD-ROM (PIANO 511). $15.00

"This is a CD-ROM anthology of much of the diverse video and sound work collaborations produced by the artist Stephen Partridge and David Cunningham over the last twenty five years. David Cunningham is a leading figure in the world of new music. He is a founder member of The Flying Lizards and has worked with Michael Nyman, Peter Greenaway, Peter Gordon and John Greaves, composing music for feature films and soundtracks for artists such as Gillian Wearing and Sam Taylor-Wood. The video artist Stephen Partridge is well known in the contemporary art world. This CD-ROM is a game of image, representation and reference. Both artists see this project as an independent art work, allowing the user freedom to move through overlapping paths, to reach the last sentence — if there is one."

PIAO! (UK):

GEIGER COUNTER: Ekranoplan 12" (PIAO 19). $9.00

"New 12" from the critically acclaimed London-based Geiger Counter, who feature two members of Rothko and are described as Tortoise meets Sabbath. Have supported Tortoise on various UK dates and have had a sold out album on Rosewood Union." Limited stock.

BROKEN DOG: Sleeve With Hearts CD (PIAO 20 CD). $17.00

"Sleeve On Hearts is their most accomplished album to date, a beautiful collection bringing to mind The Velvet Underground and Mazzy Star. Will go down a storm with fans of quality, yet unconventional songwriting ('avant pop' is a term that could be used). This recording conjures up a similar feeling to the haze on a baking summer's day. It's a beautiful, lazy feeling, but warped around the edges. The cover art of a Spanish beach with a rower superimposed sums it up perfectly."

BROKEN DOG: Sleeve With Hearts LP (PIAO 20 LP). $13.00*PIAS AMERICA:*MARCH, APRIL: Triggers CD (PIASA 025 CD). $15.00

"April March has been so much a part of the American pop landscape for the past decade that it's easy to forget that her new CD Triggers is only her second solo album proper. You may have seen her name on garage-rocking records by the Shitbirds, the Makers, and Los Cincos; you may not know that she recorded several demos (still unreleased) with Brian Wilson in the early '90s, or that she was a principal animator and writer for the cult favorite cartoon Ren and Stimpy."

A longtime Francophile, April began delving into the annals of French pop music long before Brigitte Bardot could be heard blasting away in Old Navy stores.

Drawing from antique as well as modern French and American pop traditions, colliding the synthesizers of today with timeless lush orchestrations, Triggers plays on several levels, its sweet melancholy rubbing against wild abandon. You'll see it happening in songs such as 'Somewhere Up Above,' propelled by the fantastic machine that is A.S. Dragon, Tricatel's house band. In a song like 'Coral Bracelet,' the beautiful hybridity of Triggers brings together the poetic and melodic cunning April March has come to be known for with the musical iconoclasm that Betrand Burgalat has turned into an art form.

April March builds bridges between French and American musical traditions, displaying both an uncanny awareness of pop past and present and a capacity to transport the listener to strange places. "Whenever I hear the Stones do 'Sympathy for the Devil,' I'm moved into a dark, primal world that is almost transhistorical," she says. "If fairy tales always take you out of the fantastic forest and into the happy ending, my objective with this record was to refuse that kind of resolution, to find my happy ending in the darkness of the forest, or, at least, remain there in order to reconceive my very notion of what a happy ending is."

ALEXKID: Mint CD (PIASA 027 CD). $15.00

"Mint is the long awaited and greatly anticipated follow up to Alexkid's debut CD Bienvenida. Alexkid is a multi-instrumentalist, composer, re-mixer, DJ and experienced sound engineer. His growing reputation of first class artist/producer and his knowledge of the dance floors made him a highly requested DJ. As a remix artist Alexkid has worked for Nova Nova, Llorca, Brooklyn Funk Essentials, Robert Miles and Richard Dorfmeister." For fans of Masters At Work, Blaze, Mateos & Matos, Kerri Chandler.

VA: Megasoft Office 2003 CD (PIASA 028 CD). $13.00

"Since '97, with the series of Megasoft Office compilations we have shared with you the music we listen to in the F Communications office. And, of course, the music we listen to reflects our moods and the world we are living in. Now in 2003, the beats are stronger and the emotions are deeper, but the source of inspiration and energy are intact. Most of the tracks on this album are rare or unreleased music from the network of F Com artists. Some are even just beautiful demos we received and couldn't ignore or just leave in a drawer. More creations from these artists are available all year long through albums or singles on F Communications. You don't need to be a specialist to enjoy it. You just need to love emotions."

REINDEER SECTION, THE: Y'All Get Scared Now Ya Here CD (PIASA 002CD). $13.00

"A 15-strong sooper-groop uniting the cream of Glasgow's indie... The band line up is Gary and Johnny from Snow Patrol, Charlie, Willie, Gareth and Michael from Astrid, John Cummings from Mogwai, Aidan Moffat from Arab Strap, Colin McIntyre from Mull Historical Society, Gill Mills and Andrew Meehan from Hercules, Richard Colburn and Mick Cooke from Belle and Sebastian, Bob Kildea from V Twin/Bell and Sebastian and Jenny Reeve."

REINDEER SECTION, THE: Y'All Get Scared Now Ya Here LP (PIASA 002LP). $13.00

LP version.

VA: Classic and Rare: La Collection Chapter 3 2CD (PIASA 017CD). $16.00

"Legendary & Unique tracks from the premier French electronic label. Double disc CD set mixed by Laurent Gamier & Jori Hulkkonen with tracks by Mr Oizo, Liorca, Laurent Gamier, Nova Nova, The Youngsters Juantip, Frederic Galliano, Alexkid, Avril & more."

HULKKONEN, JORI: Different CD (PIASA 018 CD). $14.00

"...sweeping pads and lush landscapes of synth envelop valleys of vocals and precise high hat programming...". For fans of: Thievery Corporation, Kruder & Dorfmeister, Jazzanova, Basement Jaxx, Carl Craig, Ron Trent, St. Germain. Fourth solo long play release on F Communications, the label that brought you St. Germain and Laurent Garnier."

GOLD CHAINS: Young Miss America CD (PIASA 020CD). $15.00

New full length album for 2003. "A social commentary of sorts — a musical critique of various aspects of Western society...but it has a high 'booty factor'." — Topher LaFata, Gold Chains.

GOLD CHAINS: Nada 12" (PIASA 098). $6.00

"What you got in your hand is the second single from the forthcoming Gold Chains full length release Young Miss America. GC club mix brings a bit of electro house to the fold while the KID 606 salutes the underground breakbeat/house crew."

PIAS RECORDINGS (BELGIUM):*ROCKETMANN: 4 Track 12" (PIAS 008EP). $9.00

"A limited 4 track vinyl accompaniment to the Rocketmann! CD only album, produced by Felix Da Housecat. These tracks are the most club-friendly from the album and feature the outstanding Harrison Crump vocal-ed track 'Black Hole'."

GOLD CHAINS: The Game 12" (PIAS 016 EP). $6.00

"New Gold Chains single (co-produced by Kit Clayton). An introduction to the upcoming album on Pias recordings due out in April 2003. Three tracks including the almost pop-sensible original, a dancefloor remix by Luomo (Vladislav Delay, Force Inc.) and an inspirational gospel B-side by LaFata/Clayton."

VA: 2 Many DJ's: As Heard on Radio Soulwax Pt. 2 CD (PIAS 065CD). $17.00

The legendary 2002 mix album. Totally licensed/legit (for Europe anyway), mashed together in breathtaking style. Artists include: Emerson Lake & Palmer, Basement Jaxx, Peaches, Sly &

The Family Stone, Ready For The World, Dakar & Grinser, Ural 13 Diktators, Felix Da Housecat, The Stooges, Salt 'N' Pepa, Hanayo with Jürgen Paape, The Jets, Funkacise Gang, Soul Grabber, Lil Louis And The World, Zongamin, Garbage, Frank Delour, The Residents, Carlos Morgan, Alphawezzen, Interstellar, Nena, Destiny's Child, 10cc, Dolly Parton, Royksopp, Arbeid Adelt, Jeans Team, Skee-Lo, Maurice Fulton Presents Stress, The Breeders, The Cramps, The Wildbunch, Op:L Bastards, Adult, Vitalic, Queen Of Japan, New Order, Detroit Grand Pubahs, Lords Of Acid and Streamer. "Three years in the making, it took one record company employee more than six months of hard labour, 865 e-mails, 160 faxes and hundreds of phone calls to contact over 45 major and independent record-companies. A total amount of 187 different tracks were involved from which 114 got approved, 62 refused and 11 were un-trackable. About 62 minutes long and there's 45 (or is that 46?) tracks on it. To be honest, nobody ever thought it was going to happen. It was clear from the beginning that some of the tracks they (Stephen and David) wanted to use were very hard to get. Some record-company executives probably thought this was going to be easy money involving minimal costs and a big output. But it turned out otherwise... There's a certain Grandmaster Flash-approach to the whole album. 'Cause what the grand master did was nothing more than take all his favourite bits from his favourite records and put them together to create something new and special. The same thing is happening here. Only, flash did it with a crew passing him his records and Stephen and David did it on a Mac G3."

VA: A Quiet Riot 2CD (QUIET 001 CD). $17.00

"A Quiet Riot, laidback but coming from a different angle. Guitar music has always had its mellower side, perfect for that 3am post party come down on a Saturday night or a lazy Sunday morning, newspapers spread all over the floor. This is what A Quiet Riot captures. A perfect Valentine's gift — A Quiet Riot contains 34 cool and thoughtful tracks to drift away to. Leaving from the opening strings of Badly Drawn Boy's 'The Shining', the album winds its way thru a journey of over 2 1/2 hours, finally arriving at the Icelandic soundscapes of Sigur Ros. The album meanders through various dreamy stations, passing on its way: The songwriting and tunesmith brilliance of Turin Brakes, Kings of Convenience and Alfie. The best of contemporary Americana as captured by Lambchop, Wheat and Mojave 3. Great singer songwriters such as Tom McRae and David Kitt (both snapping at David Gray's heels) as well the timeless Nick Drake. The 60's and lounge influenced eclectic sounds of Baxter Dury, The Bees, Lemon Jelly and J-Walk. Cinematic sweeps from Moby, Goldfrapp and Sigur Ros." Additional artists include: Oasis, Delgados, Mull Historical Society, Embrace, Cousteau, I am Kloot, Tom McRae, Reindeer Section, Low, Zephyrs, The Last Post, Everything But The Girl, Pernice Brothers, David Kitt, Lemonheads, Simian, Beta Band, Arab Strap, Blue States, Moby.

PIAS RECORDINGS (UK):*VA: Collision Course 12" (PIAS 006P). $9.00

"Very limited four track sampler of the forthcoming album Collision Course. The album identifies the wild mash up of hip hop, noise and hardcore breaks and bass infecting today's underground. The four tracks on this promo are a fair representation of what to expect from the album. Two blindin' hip hop cuts, one an exclusive remix by Chicago's Rubberoom, the other the highly after 'Disorientation' by NY's Anti Pop featuring Apani. The remaining two tracks are the ragga, drum'n'bass noise fest that is 'total Destruction' by DJ Scud/Nomex, and the hardcore kung-fu inflected breaks from Bomb 20."

PIG'S WHISKER MUSIC (UK):*WILLIAMSON, ROBIN/PALMER, CLIVE: At The Pure Fountain CD (PWMD 5017). $17.00

Reunion album from 1999 by these Incredible String Band founders. "On this CD my old friend Clive Palmer and myself perform together for the first time in over 30 years. These are songs and tunes and the sort of songs and tunes we were doing as the duo Robin and Clive between 1962 and 1964 before the ISB began. The freshness and simplicity remain. The depth of experience is added. All the pieces are familiar and very meaningful to us. They have a lot to do with who we are." — Robin Williamson.

PALMER/BOB DEVEREUX, CLIVE: Suns & Moons CD (PWMD 5020). $17.00

"The material on this album was recorded in Cornwall in 1978, a collaboration between poet (and later, librettist) Bob Devereux, and co-founder of the Incredible String Band, Clive Palmer. It was originally released as a limited edition on cassette. A true collaboration of words and music, Bob would pace his poem over traditional and original tunes played by Clive on the banjo and northumbrian pipes with Clive's fine voice echoing the chorus."

PIGNA (ITALY):*ANALOG FINGERPRINTS: Roofs 12" (PIGNA 004 EP). $11.00

"Marco Passarani presents his new 12" on his Nature sublabel Pigna (which will release more dancefloor orientated tracks the Nature). His new EP contains ultra cool almost old school techno/electro tracks in the style of the old Kevin Saunderson releases on KMS. Very Detroitish tracks with a sophisticated flavour but an irresistible groove. Pigna is the label to watch for everyone bored with all the usual techno and house releases."

PINK FLAG (UK):*WIRE: Read & Burn 01 CD (PF 04 CD). $13.00

"Read & Burn 01 is the first phase of a series of new works, marking a fierce return to recording for the band, setting a standard that many of today's new chasers of art-rock's golden fleece will be hard pressed to emulate, and serving emphatic notice that the gauntlet is down. Committed followers will nod in approval at the sly referencing of elements of earlier material. The kids will be too busy responding to the demands of their adrenal glands as they bounce their heads off walls in unison with the carcrashing dynamism and dogged, unyielding tempos. The six tracks of Read & Burn 01, each hitting the 3 minute mark with deadeye accuracy, ride the line from punk to rock and back again with nerve-jarring immediacy, dressed and stylishly accessorised with state of the art production values."

WIRE: Send CD (PF 06 CD). $15.00

"The number of groups surviving punk's first blast still able to ply their trade with heads aloft and consciences clear can be counted on the fingers of one hand, with three digits to spare. Wire is one of them. Send is their first full length album of new music in over a decade, and contains eleven examples of their most caustic and brutally compelling output in twice that time. Send contains four completely unheard new pieces, four taken from the mailorder-only Read & Burn 02, and three from Read & Burn 01."

WIRE: Send PF456 Redux LP (PF 456 LP). $18.00

"In typically oblique fashion, the vinyl version of Send is very nearly a different record. Famed in the past for taking the stage with completely revised arrangements of their recorded songs, Wire have extended that principle to Send/PF456 Redux, and present a limited edition vinyl release conceived in the spirit of the polar opposite of the now traditional

'DJ Friendly Triple Album' concept. All songs from the CD release of Send and both Read & Burn EPs have been truncated, edited, and reduced to their barest essentials to create a fast-cut stop-frame version of Wire's current phase of activity. 16 tracks colliding with each other 'just like real life, only faster.'

PK RECORDS (UK):

GLORY DOMINION POWER MAJESTY: Half Moon Productions CD (PK 09 CD). $18.00

"An astounding set drawing from the seventies and early-eighties heyday of this Toronto-based reggae label, when it played host to stars like Augustus Pablo, Stranger Cole, Johnny Osbourne and Leroy Sibbles. Their Half Moon singles are included, with backing by the in-house Super 8 Corporation band, alongside one-away classics by locals like Pluggy Satchmo and Dill Smith. These productions by Oswald Creary — most of them will be new even to die-hard reggae fans — are in the tradition of Lee Perry, Keith Hudson and childhood-friend Bullwackies, though at the same time they are utterly unlike anything else. Raw, twisted and compelling, at times staggering music. This is the second album on the PK imprint, after the much-loved Darker Than Blue compilation (a co-release with the Blood and Fire label). Brilliant mastering by Von Oswald as usual, and both formats come in silk-screened sleeves." Artists: Joe Higgs, Stranger Cole, Super 8 Corporation, Louis O'Connor, Pluggy Satchmo, Rothadam, OJ, The Blenders, Dill Smith, Stranger Cole & Jah Levi, Bongo Ossie & The Moonlights, Johnny Osbourne, Bingi Kicks & G.Campbell, Leroy Sibbles & The Otravis Band, Carl Dawkins.

GLORY DOMINION POWER MAJESTY: Half Moon Productions 2LP (PK 09 LP). $21.00

Double LP version.

PLAIN RECORDINGS:

PLANET ? (UK):

FROST JOCKEY: Burgundy Trax Vol. 2 12" (ZIQ 014). $10.00

"Second release on Planet Mu from 26 year old Underground Resistance fanatic Chris Morrison. Fusing a love of Drexciya and early Aphex, the result is a mix of startling analogue percussion and classic electro stylings recalling Autechre. Includes 2 new collaborations with Mike Paradinas, both featuring trademark p-ju sounds and melodies."

LEAFCUTTER JOHN: Concourse E.E.P. CD (ZIQ 017 CD). $17.00

"Debut release (as Leafcutter John; one side of a split 7" with Pale White Horse on the US Indie Loose Change under his Christian name) for one John Burton, a London residing (ex?) aficionado/emulador of 'Palace Brother-esq(ue) folk' turned avant/micro digital savant via subtle manipulation of standing air waves made possible by various plugin solutions and credited 'hog sound manipulation software'. Easily the most surprising artefact to rise out of the pu camp in some time, hip-checking post INA-GRM/desktop academic computer music technique (and possibly it's 'street' counterpart: Mego). And not even a hint of breakbeat absolutism or melodic badgery (in fact, there's even a folk tune on here, appropriately if not snidely monickered 'Beat'). An unexpected turn of events, well received." — Hrvatski.

HELLFISH & PRODUCER: Constant Mutation CD (ZIQ 023 CD). $17.00

"At the hands of this Essex duo the microgenre of 'hardcore techno' has enjoyed a creative rebirth. Fusing hip hop with ultra fast jungle breaks (at double speed) and Aphex-style distorted meaty kick drums at over 220 bpm, they create a mind-bogglingly fresh concoction with all the style and production mind fucks beloved of Richard D. James. Hellfish is a champion turntablist and was a teenage member of hip hop crew Molotov Sound Faction and has worked with Silver Bullet and Overlord X. His deck skills are showcased to fine effect on the track 'Turntable Savage', mixing 80s hip hop with hardcore techno. DJ Producer is a mainstay of the hardcore circuit, playing all over Europe and the US. He has releases on Edge, Industrial Strength, and his own label Rebel Scum."

VENETIAN SNARES AND SPEEDRANCH: Making Orange Things CD (ZIQ 028 CD). $17.00

"Who's up for the world's first breakcore techno/grindcore metal mash-up? Collaborative venture between Venetian Snares (aka Winnipeg's Arron Funk — real name) and Manchester's Speedranch (singer with experimental grindcore band 'Atomsmasher' and partner of the V/M affiliated Jansky Noise). If you thought the Hellfish and Producer album was too hard you better rethink your ass. But this is actually a very accessible album and once you get past the mind-numbing hardness & speed there are countless joys to behold."

VENETIAN SNARES: Songs About My Cats CD (ZIQ 032 CD). $17.00

"After two releases already on Planet Mu, Aaron Funk (for it is he) swiftly follows up Making Orange Things (his collaboration with Speedranch). Songs About My Cats is essentially a concept album (about his cats, natch) but if you're expecting an easy ride with 'meow' samples over ambient, forget it — this is still hardcore stuff, albeit melodic hardcore stuff. Think AFX circa Hangable Autobulb mixed with gabbanoize breakcore with a jazzy twist (we're not talking 2001Black here). Forget all the Artificial Intelligence revival labels and stick your neck out with some real accessible innovation."

DECAL: 404 Not Found CD (ZIQ 048). $16.00

"Planet Mu present the first album for 4 years from Dublin's electronic duo Decal (aka Alan O'Boyle and Dennis McNulty). Having previously worked for labels such as Warp, Leaf, Sabres Of Paradise, Lo Recordings, Satamile (NY), Moss Transit (Miami) and their own Ultramack and Trama labels, they have become known for their tough uncompromising electro and smooth Detroit influenced techno grooves. However this album is a departure from those styles, featuring no electro or techno at all... just guitars, vocals and electronics. It is almost ambient in its atmosphere and presents a maturity of construction, arrangement and melody which shows that here are styles which have been worked upon for years alongside their more well-known dancefloor sounds; the whole album sounds remarkably natural and unforced as if this is their regular shit. Reminds me of: Arovane's Tides, In The Nursery, Boards Of Canada, Steve Reich."

REMARC: Sound Murderer CD (ZIQ 084 CD). $16.00

"Planet Mu are more than proud to be releasing the first ever re-issue jungle 'artist album' — by the legendary junglist Remarc. The '95 era 'cut-up breaks' and 'ragga' sound is making a resurgence in the scene thanks to DJs such as Bailey, Hype & others... as well as being very popular as an influence on the 'drill'n'bass' scene and artists like Squarepusher & Aphex Twin. The album compiles 12 jungle riddims from the '93-'97 era from the labels Suburban Base, Kemet, Labello, White House & Dollar, and are now becoming increasingly hard to find in good condition. Many of these tracks are being released for the first time in digital format — on CD."

REMARC: Sound Murderer 3LP (ZIQ 084 LP). $17.00

Triple LP version.

REMARC: Unreleased Dubs 94 - 96' CD (ZIQ 085CD). $18.00

"Following hot on the heels of the massive success that was Sound Murderer — a collection of Remarc's jungle classics, Planet Mu brings you the awesome sequel — Unreleased Dubs 94-96. The title says it all — 11 previously unreleased stone-cold classic cuts by the ultimate don of the Amen break — the man like Remarc. Many of these dubplates were rinsed back in the day by DJs like Hype, Shy FX and Remarc himself, but for some reason they remained unreleased until now. These tracks document a time of change in drum'n'bass — from the last embers of hardcore's fire in the heyday of jungle to the birth of drum'n'bass and the 'jump-up' style. 1994's 'Ricky (Remarc V.I.P Mix)' cuts up and junglizes Remarc & Lewi's original hardcore classic into a jumpier more amphetamine-fuelled amen beast while still retaining the original's atmosphere between jittery funk and fear. 1995's 'Suicidal' and 'In Da Hood' anticipate jump-up's obsession with hip-hop samples, but still keep the cut-up amen funk, combining it with billowing sub bass and g-funk whines respectively. Early '95's 'Bad No Bloodclart' was intended as the follow-up to 'R.I.P.' and possesses the same dangerous ragga vibe & yard-tape atmosphere with possibly the most funky and shredded Amen sample in a jungle track ever. Other coups are the unreleased Remarc remix of Prizna & Demolition Man's classic ragga-jungle hit 'Fire' and Remarc's finest ever mellow moment — 'Andre's Dream', written for his young son in '95. With it's stark minimal piano and string vibe it creates an atmosphere not unlike early Strictly Rhythm house 12's, and not an Amen in earshot. This album displays Remarc's versatility as a producer within the genre, as well as the change in sound between those years, ending as it does with '96's 'Darkaworld' — a proto-techstep monster with filtered amen and sci-fi FX, and 'Da Drumz' — which displays Remarc's canny way with pitch bent sub-bass and breakneck jump-up breaks."

REMARC: Unreleased Dubs 94 - 96' 4LP (ZIQ 085LP). $26.00

SHITMAT: Killa Babylon Cutz CD (ZIQ 089CD). $19.00

"Shitmat's long-awaited debut album is a propa mash-up ragga-rave dubplate bloodclot jungle tekno tour-de-force sampling everyone from The Ruts through to Queen and Ace of Base. Follow up to the warmly received seven inch Shopliftin', Gabbu (3 plays on Peel and 1 on Breezeblock). Featuring 10 (8 on the vinyl) tracks using the 'Babylon Bwoy' accapella to devastating effect over rhythms such as 'Amen Brother', 'Think (About It)', 'Theme From Benny Hill' & 'Eye Of The Tiger'. Shitmat (aka Henry Collins) has risen to the upper echelons of the breakcore firmament after playing his legendary live-set at literally tens of free parties and raves over the last year and a half."

SHITMAT: Killa Babylon Cutz 2LP (ZIQ 089LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

PLANET E COMMUNICATIONS:

PAPERCLIP PEOPLE: Throw/The Climax 12" (PE 65275). $7.00

Side A: 'Throw'; Side B: 'The Climax' (PCP version). Credits: Written and produced by Carl Craig.

DESIGNER MUSIC: Good Girls 12" (PE 65276). $7.00

One-sided classic from the Planet E vaults. Side A: 'Good Girls'. "Original remix produced by Carl Craig, 1995. Continuing the classics collection with the most sought after remix in the history of Planet E."

69: Sound on Sound 12" (PE 69170). $8.50

Reissue of this 1993 7-track mini-LP, originally issued by R&S. Side One: 'Rushed', 'Sub Seducer', 'Sound On Sound'. Side Two: 'Poi Et Pas', 'Filter King', 'No Highs', 'Finale'. "Warning: playing this recording at high volumes may cause dementia. Elevated music from the underground. Produced by 69 (Carl Craig)."

VA: Intergalactic Beats CD (PE 010). $10.00

1998 release; last copies, reduced price. A compilation of early material (circa 1992) from Carl Craig's groundbreaking label, including numerous Craig tracks (under alias' such as: Shop, 69, Piece). Also features track by Future/Past (aka Kirk Digiorio/As One), Dark

Comedy (aka Kenny Larkin, best known for his Warp label AI masterpiece, Azimuth), Balil, S. Robbers and Hani. Like so much great Detroit techno, this album rewards extensive listenings, organically exploding into further soul-shattering detail each time through. Heavily recommended. "In November 1991, Planet E came out of nowhere. Ambushing those unsuspecting souls and taking them on a voyage to what purists know as the 'underground'. Planet E annihilated weak commercialized, copy-cat beats and forced those who rivaled the underground to experience more creative ways of sampling. This CD compilation presents the best of our first releases and a preview of Planet E's future musical endeavors. After listening you will soon agree that Planet E is the universal language of all beings, here and beyond."

COMMON FACTOR: 12" (PE 65238). $7.00

Debut production for Planet E by Nick Calingaert.

INNERZONE ORCHESTRA: People Make The World Go Round 12" (PE 65250). $6.50

"The first single from Programmed, the groundbreaking post-urban, future electronic/jazz debut album by the Innerzone Orchestra, the band fronted and produced by legendary Detroit producer Carl Craig, is the 1974 Stylistics' classic "People Make The World Go Round". Now reworked and remixed for the DJ fraternity, this vinyl only release takes the original to another space with a mix by Carl Craig himself. The enigmatic and reclusive Moodymann (a.k.a. Kenny Dixon, Jr.) also makes a very rare remix appearance, featuring an esteemed cast of guest performers including former Funkadelic members Bubs and Amp Fiedler."

COMMON FACTOR: "World Is Mine"/"Fascination" 12" (PE 65252). $6.50

"Somewhere between the unmistakable sounds of both Chicago House and Detroit Techno, the latest Common Factor offering lends a sneak peak into the direction of this artist's proper debut album. Influenced by classic 70s disco and NY-style vocal garage house tracks, Nick Calingaert teams up with veteran house vocalist John Redmond (of Braxton Holmes' 'People Everyday' fame) and the result is two fierce tracks that will send dancefloors off the hook."

INNERZONE ORCHESTRA: People Make The World Go Round REMIXES 12" (PE 65253). $6.50

"Now reworked and remixed for the urban DJ fraternity, the second volume of this vinyl only release gives the original another flavor with mixes by JayDee (UMMAH — Tribe Called Quest's production arm, Detroit hip-hop outfit Slum Village) and Innerzone collaborator Lacksidaisycal (part of Detroit's esteemed Breakfast Club collective, demonstrating his strong productions skills, reworking this Stylistics classic)."

CRAIG, CARL: Designer Music: V1 CD (PE 65255CD). $10.00

Year 2000 release. First volume compiling Carl's remixes (including UFO, Carl Craig vs. Johnny Blas, Incognito, Telex, BT, Spacetime Continuum, Inner City, Alexander Robotnik, Ront Trent).

VA: Geology — Vol. 2 — A Subjective History Of Planet E CD (PE 65257CD). $15.00

"2nd collection of previously unreleased tracks and classics culled from the vaults of one of the world's most acclaimed labels, Carl Craig's Planet E. Continuously mixed by Detroit DJ Mike Agent X? Clark. Geology 2 revisits the hallowed Planet E vaults and surfaces with a second edition of eclectic dancefloor favourites, unreleased tracks and remixes." Artists include Chaz Vincent, Common Factor, Carl Craig, Innerzone Orchestra, Clark, Alton Miller, Recloose, Mike Clark, Agent X, Ibex, Paperclip People.

VA: 2000 Black: The Good Good 2LP (PE 65260). $13.50

"The first compilation of tracks from the newest/hottest label out of the UK — 2000 Black Records. This British imprint was founded by Dego from the band 4 Hero. Dego releases his own bugged out electronic excursions through 2000 Black, but also displays music from other up-and-coming UK and worldwide talents. Featuring the legendary Roy Ayers on a remake of his classic track also entitled '2000 Black' (originally recorded with Fela Kuti), along side new artists from Switzerland, UK and USA. Bringing an array of sounds together on one CD: down-tempo, techno, new jazz, house, new drum'n'bass, new funk."

VA: All Access CD (PE 65264CD). $14.50

"Carl Craig is pleased to bring us 'The 1st Detroit Techno' compilation released in Detroit on a Detroit based label. The disk features music from scheduled performers of 2000 + 2001's Detroit Electronic Music Festival. All Access commemorates not only Carl Craig's role as the co-founder and creative music director of the D.E.M.F. for the last two years, but more simply the music of Detroit. Music that has had a profound influence on the world and is now finally fully recognized in its home thanks to the vision of a man who brought a stunning 1 million people gather in celebration of an artform and city he loves. Carl has captured the energy of the DEMF by integrating established Detroit artists like Stacey Pullen (Black Odyssey), Kenny Larkin (Dark Comedy), Richie Hawtin, Inner City (aka Kevin Saunderson), Random Noise Generation and Slum Village with up and coming talent like Recloose, Ibex, Lacksidaisycal and Bill Van Loo. There's also two stunning exclusive tracks — 'The Playground' from Random Noise Generation and 'Suspended Animation' from Shake. This is a record that captures the energy and diversity of Detroit music. It's the perfect introduction for newcomers to the scene and fresh enough for the converts."

PAPERCLIP PEOPLE: Clear And Present/Tweakityyourself 12" (PE 65265). $6.50

More classic Planet E archive material, by Carl Craig's awesome Paperclip People persona. "Clear And Present", originally issued by Open in the UK in 1995 is reissued here in full extended form (a less ambient edit is found on the The Secret Tapes Of Dr. Eich CD). The other side of this 12" features the previously unreleased "Tweakityyourself" track from 1993, a strange & brilliant experiment in an almost similar vein to that unknown third track off of "4 My Peepz". Essential.

RECLOOSE: Ain't Changin' 12" (PE 65266). $6.50

"'Ain't Changin'" is the first single off the highly-anticipated debut album from one of the hottest producers/djs around. The 'Ain't Changin' 12" includes vocal and instrumental extended mixes by Recloose and the legendary Carl Craig. Side B features a face-slapping remix from Carl Craig."

RECLOOSE: Cardiology 2LP (PE 65267 LP). $13.00

Double LP version. "Presenting the highly-anticipated album from one of the hottest producers in the industry. With his two EPs, two singles, one mix CD and numerous remixes for everybody from Herbert to Ballistic Mystic, Recloose's well-received releases have made him one of Detroit's signature artists. Recloose describes his sound and style best as 'shape-shifting,' an amorphous aesthetic that mixes samples, chopped beats and lots of rhythms predicated on tweaks and abstractions of sound. That his album is called Cardiology is intended to mean that it is music not intended to be dissected and deconstructed but rather, felt. 'I was trying to create music from the heart,' he describes. 'Less with my brain and more with my innards.' And that has never been so true as it is with this incredible LP."

SINES & NATACHA LABELLE, TODD: Overlap EP 12" (PE 65268). $6.50

"Todd Sines has long been a staple of regional, national, and international electronic music scenes. His first releases were as Enhanced on Planet E in 1993 for 'elements of and experiments with sound,' as well as minimal tech-house releases on UK's Peacefrog Records and Detroit's Seventh City with Dan Bell as .xtrak. The 'Overlap' EP ebbs and flows between atmospheric electronica and deep, sensual, vocal house. Natacha Labelle's unique vocal sounds blends her native tongues of English and French with the soul of both Billie Holiday and the eclectic sounds of Bjork."

CRAIG, CARL: Overlap: The C2 Mixes 12" (PE 65269). $6.50

"'Overlap' is the latest EP from Planet E artist Todd Sines and Canadian vocalist Natacha Labelle... On 'Overlap: The C2 Mixes' Carl Craig subtly and masterfully rearranges Todd's sensual beats and Natacha's haunting vocals... This release ebbs and flows between atmospheric electronica and deep, sensual vocal house. Natacha Labelle's unique vocal sound blends her native tongues of English and French with the soul of Billie Holiday and the eclectic sound of Bjork."

URBAN TRIBE: Covert Action 12" (PE 65271). $6.50

"A special vinyl release from Urban Tribe, including the infamous track 'Covert Action,' originally released on Carl Craig's first label, Retroactive. The single made such a large impact that Urban Tribe was picked up by Mo' Wax Recordings to produce the groundbreaking LP The Collapse of Modern Culture. Now, Planet E is re-releasing 'Covert Action' and 'Low Berth' as a special 12" single! 'Covert Action' has not been previously available as a single, and this release also features an extended mix of 'Low Berth' produced by Sherard Ingram and mixed by Carl Craig. These hard-to-find Detroit classics have heavily influenced and inspired many Detroit artists and music."

CRAIG, CARL: Tres Demented 12" (PE 65274). $6.50

Repressed. "One of those club bangers that pays reference to classic Carl Craig productions such as Paperclip People 'Throw' and 69 'Sound on Sound'. From the minute the needle hits the record, the speaker system takes a life of its own, smacking clubbers the face and kicking them up the wazoo. Loud screams and chants along with big bass and a constant tom loop keep the pulse increasing to a frantic high. A shrill siren signals a warning that the bomb will drop on your head just as the drums punch you in the chest."

PLANETE ROUGE (FRANCE):

FIXMER + DOUGLAS MCCARTHY, TERENCE: Destroy/Freefall 12" (PLR 3002). $9.00

"Douglas McCarthy (Nitzer Ebb singer) is back. For a new project with Terence Fixmer called: Fixmer/McCarthy. After many years of silence, Douglas the legendary voice of Nitzer Ebb is ready for a new electronic war. Together with Terence Fixmer, they set up a good friendship and create a new project combination with their both competence. Terence in charge of the music brings his analogue and special energy sequences. Douglas in charge of the vocals, brings his special energy and power with his unique voice."

FIXMER + DOUGLAS MCCARTHY, TERENCE: Between the Devil... 2LP (PLR 4001LP). $20.00

"A project from Terence Fixmer and Douglas McCarthy (Nitzer Ebb). In 1998 Terence signed to Gigolo Records and has gone on to have many hits such as 'Electrostatic', 'Body Pressure', 'Electric Vision' and the album Muscle Machine (voted as the top 3 album of the year for Groove Mag). He also has remixed tracks for amongst others Sven Vath Dave Clarke and Hell. Terence became famous through his live performance — a kind of mixture of EBM and Techno, i.e. full of energy and power. Then in 2002 Terence and Douglas decided to work together on a revolutionary electronic project that brings together the souls of Douglas and Terence with music and voice."

PLANT MUSIC:

VA: The Sound of Young New York CD (PLANT 5403CD). $15.00

"The Sound of Young New York represents a time and place in New York's vibrant music scene. Compiled and mixed by Dominique Keegan, owner of Plant Music and Plant Bar, The Sound of Young New York attempts to compile music from a variety of New York producers and artists that have surfaced over the past year. The ever so publicized DFA production duo of James Murphy & Tim Goldsworthy can be found in their remixes of Metro Area's 'Orange Alert' and Radio 4's 'Dance To The Underground'. DFA label favorites The Rapture are featured on a rework of 'Music Kills Me'. Much of the sound being represented comes from the mix of indie kids being exposed to dance music in Plant Bar and at Plant parties, such as Plant's three year residency at New York's Centro-Fly. All of these crews have solid New York followings that have defined underground New York nightlife in Williamsburg and Downtown Manhattan."

VA: The Sound of Young New York 2LP (PLANT 5403LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

PLASTIC CITY AMERICA:

BROWN JR., TERRY LEE: Chocolate Chords CD (UCMG 2032). $14.00

Late '97 release of this definitive tech-house album. "Terry Lee Brown, Jr." is supposedly the alias of German producer Norman Feller. "House music has historically been a genre best suited for 12" singles, but every now and then, someone like Terry Lee Brown Jr comes along to show us that hard, deep house can be effortlessly sustained over 12 tracks (and probably more). Brown sculpts towering exercises in sound manipulation which sound at home whether they're coming through headphones or through a sound system loud enough to make your eyes bleed." Limited stock.

PLATE LUNCH (GERMANY):

OUR GLASSIE AZOTH: CD (PL 03). $15.00

"Excellent debut album by two mysterious musicians from Wales/UK. Their music sounds like they have adapted parts of 'Sternklang' by Karlheinz Stockhausen for ten distorted guitars. Their focus is upon pure noise with an intent to locate, draw out and revel in it's hitherto hidden harmonies. Using the rough sound of variegated tape-manipulations with some acoustic instruments such as flutes and woodblocks they enjoy to produce feedback drenched drone chaos that flutters and filters into a transmutary experience. Entirely conceived in an isolated part of Wales, their environment is both actually and musically expansive and/or desolate at turns characterized by the cyclical coloration of Nature."

M McNULTY, MARC: Powdered Iron Rods CD (PL 05). $15.00

"Powdered Iron Rods is McNulty's 2nd release, but the first to use his real name. Having used the name Photophobia, his first CD, titled Cathexin was released on Isomorphic/USA in '96. Reviewers described it as an excellent dark ambient/isolationist work. Marc McNulty, who has worked nearly two years on his new release, describes these new pieces as 'electro/acoustic soundscapes created with elements from our pre-atomic days.' There are no samplers and no computers used for these recordings. The only sound sources have been communication receivers, selfbuilt devices, filters and instruments. Compared to his first release, the pieces are not that extended and droney, but far more subtle and personal. 'McNulty has created a powerful album of dark and strange acoustical elements. Evocative and haunting, a requiem for the post-atomic society - a soundtrack to armageddon.' — Frans DeWaard/Vital. The first edition of this CD comes in a special metal box that is numbered and limited to 500 copies."

FOX, TERRY: Ataraxia CD (PL 06 CD). $15.00

"Ataraxia is the first ever CD-release of Terry Fox, a retrospective including recordings from the mid-70's to the early 80's. Well-known in visual art circles, Terry Fox, who has done more than 100 sound-performances not only with long-strings, but with nearly all kinds of material, sadly seems to be a total stranger to those outside of it (although Alan Licht included the Terry Fox LP Berlino from 1988 in his "Minimal Top Ten" in Halana #1) — which is a shame, as these recordings are some of the most interesting examples of soundworks with this and similar source-material like metal bowls, done during the last 30 years. The tracks on this CD include excerpts from several sound-performances, that gives the listener a first impression of the unique quality of these works. All soundsources are acoustic, but what you'll get to hear sounds as if electronic instruments have been used — it's exciting to listen to. This is an essential CD-release and a true discovery for everyone interested in the soundworks of this great American performance-artist. This CD is released by Plate Lunch in cooperation with Edition S-Press on the occasion of an exhibition in the "Stadtgalerie" Saarbrücken/Germany, that presents the sound- installations of Terry Fox."

CUSACK/NICOLAS COLLINS, PETER: A Host, of Golden Daffodils CD (PL 07). $15.00

On this live recording from 1996, performed at the STEIM, Amsterdam and the 'Museum für Gegenwart', Berlin, englishman Peter Cusack, best known for his electro/acoustic works and his improvisational music, has teamed up with the American composer/musician Nicolas Collins. Peter Cusack, who uses guitar, bouzouki, samplers and electronics on this CD, has worked with artists as various as Evan Parker, Jon Rose, Chris Cutler, David Toop and Max Eastley. Nicolas Collins studied with Alvin Lucier and worked with long-time John Cage assistant David Tudor for many years. Collins is a pioneer in the use of manipulated CD-players, long before Oval and others did this. A Host, of Golden Daffodils is an exciting meeting of two musicians, who create a gorgeous world of sounds using acoustic string instruments next to digital samples, manipulations and noises. These works are beyond technical speculation because they do not give the listener a moment to wonder or become concerned with process. They are happening — and if you think about them you'll miss some grand detail that may never return."

CHINE NUAL: Tomorrows Leaders Are Busy Tonight CD (PL 09). $15.00

"A collection of six austere electronic compositions by Rick Kitch, with Jeph Jerman (Hands To), Randy Greif and Steve Brand (Augur) contributing source material/field recordings to his new project. The source material, combined with analog keyboards, computer feedback, guitar and flute, was then directed through drastic equalization techniques, home made analog filters and real time digital processing. The recording process was realized with the intent to provide a structured audio environment for quiet contemplation. The audio is intended to be repetitive and void of emotional content, so as to provide a suitable environment for the listener to creatively participate in. It's a really wonderful CD of relaxed and subtle electronic music."

KLANGSTABIL: Gioco Bambino CD (PL 10). $15.00

"Gioco Bambino, the recent CD release from the German duo Klangstabil includes 12 tracks of Gameboy electronics that range from simple melodies that could easily be used as themes for children's television series, to speedy, crackling, rumbling and noisy tracks. All of these tracks have been recorded directly onto DAT in real time by using only a Nintendo Gameboy with an additional Gameboy Camera cartridge (which wasn't used to take pictures with, but as a primitive mixing desk) and some simple effects. There are no samples, overdubs, or additional instruments mixed to this recording later — all you hear are the gameboy sounds recorded directly onto a DAT recorder."

GAL: Defragmentation/blue CD (PL 11). $15.00

"The Austrian sound artist and composer Bernhard Gal developed the concept for Defragmentation/blue over the past two years in collaboration with the Japanese architect Yumi Kori. Their aim is to explore the interactions between temporal and spatial conditions and their impact on human perception and imagination. Defragmentation/blue — an audio-architectural exploration of time — was exhibited for the first time in September 1999 at Studio Five Beekman, a music gallery in New York which is specifically committed to the presentation of multimedia/sound installation art. This is Gal's second CD-release. His first CD-release Bestimmung New York — very different in concept and sound compared to his recent CD — has been released on Austria's Durian label in 1999. Defragmentation/blue is a minimalist, yet haunting listening experience. Gal's use of psycho-acoustic phenomena creates a highly intense and entrancing atmosphere where time seems to stand still."

DONZEL-GARGAND, BERNARD: Toile de sons CD (PL 12). $15.00

"Toile de sons (which means 'Web of Sounds') is the impressive debut-CD by Bernard Donzel-Gargand, a French composer of electro-acoustic music. The four tracks on this CD offer some truly wonderful and subtle combinations of electronic sounds and field recordings. In some ways Bernard Donzel-Gargand is a story-teller as his pieces work like complex tales. It's amazing how light-handedly he connects (oral) tradition, the sound of the 'now' and hallucinated dream(t) sequences to his very own musical expression. Still curious, that it took so long for him to release his full-length debut CD. Hopefully Toile des Sons will interest a larger audience — not only in France — in this remarkable composer and unique story-teller."

BLANCHARD/CHRISTIAN RENOU, PHILIPPE: Play:lunch CD (PL 13). $15.00

"The CD Play:lunch evolved out of the idea to record a piece that deals with the joys of a good lunch and its preparation etc. (to buy food, prepare it, to eat...). To that reason Plate Lunch commissioned two French composers — as France is well known for its excellent 'cuisine' — to compose and record a piece for this CD. Philippe Blanchard (Lt. Caramel, Pierre Bouchet) contributes with a 30-minute long piece of acoustic music in five parts that is titled 'Cpt.Cook'. The basic sounds were recorded during a stay in Syria in 1999. For the second part of his piece he recently received the prize 'RFO' of Radio France in the competition 'Chasseurs De Son'. For Christian Renou this is the first time he releases a piece using his real name — his first step away from the countless works he has released as Brume since the early 80's. His contribution — a 30 minute long piece of electro-acoustic music in 4 parts — is titled 'Cuisine et Impedance'. All of the basic sounds were recorded in his kitchen. Play:lunch gives the listener the opportunity to discover the works of two still widely neglected French composers and to enjoy their excellent acoustic lunch plates."

METAXU: CD (PL 16). $15.00

"Formed in 1997 in Rome, this is the debut-release of the Italian duo of Metaxu, which are Maurizio Martusciello and Filippo Paolini. Out of their common interest — both as improvisers and composers — in electroacoustic experimentation they create and develop an acoustic 'microscopia' rich in detritus, moulds and lost memories by using tapes, samples, scratching and low-fi equipment. Maurizio Martusciello who uses electroacoustic objects and sampler on this CD, might probably be known from his work with the group Ossatura and his various collaborations with musicians as different as Fernando Grillo, Dagmar Krause, Musica Elettronica Viva, Chris Cutler, Tim Hodgkinson and Otomo Yoshida. His music has been released on labels like Recommended, Staalplaat and on Metamkine. Filippo Paolini who uses turntable, sampler, tapes and CD is highly influenced by the radical scene of DJ's, plunderers and plagiarists. But his work also reflects the deeply 'acousmatic' aspects of the electro-acoustic experience as well as other musical expressions, including digital dance music and electronic remnants of sounds from the 1950's, 60's and 70's. In Metaxu, Paolini's plagiarist/collage ideas and Martusciello's 'reduced listening' approach produce an acoustic isomorphism which is not an end in itself, but a means of transport — if you know what is meant. In its best moments the music of Metaxu evokes memories of the strange atmosphere of suspense and surrealism that can be heard in those soundtracks that made so many experimental b/w-short-films out of Poland or the USSR from the last 30 years such a fascinating audio-visual experience."

SEESSELBERG: Synthetik 1 CD (PL 22). $15.00

Long delayed reissue, finally released; officially remastered from original tapes. Early electronic music of Eckhart and Wolf-J. Seesselberg from 1971-1973 created with hand made synthesizers. Originally released on a private LP in 1973 in a quantity of 600. "Düsseldorf was the electronic / industrial wasteland that spawned Kraftwerk, Cluster and Neu. It was also the stomping ground for Eckhart and Wolf-J. Seesselberg who partly produced this excellent album there (the other location being Hamburg). Rather than go for extended electronic drones, however, the brothers came up with a selection of shorter pieces, adding variety to their record which others failed to imitate. Seesselberg have been compared (somewhat clumsily) to early Kraftwerk and Conrad Schnitzler's Kluster, but to my ears they have more in common with New York's Suicide and The Silver Apples (minus the vocals natch!) than any of their German contemporaries."

SCHNITZLER, CONRAD: The Piano Works Vol. 1 CD (PL IM 001). $15.00

"This is the first CD in a series of planned 20 volumes on a new installed Plate Lunch sublabel called Individuelle Mythologie, that does not present Conrad Schnitzler as a composer and performer of electronic music, but as a composer and performer of piano-music. His piano works are hardly comparable to others, but it may point you in the right direction, if you try to imagine glimpses of Satie, Scriabin and minimal music played on Conlon Nancarrow's player piano. The first first volume of Schnitzler's piano works is a fine introduction to his works; most material included on Vol.1 is very rhythmic and full of ironic statements towards virtuosity, while Vol.2 will feature mainly deconstructive piano-pieces. unusual piano compositions. Even if his compositions are uncomparable, it may point you in the right direction, if you try to imagine Erik Satie and Cecil Taylor are playing a session with the player piano of Conlon Nancarrow, while high on speed. The first volume contains 11 rhythmic and brilliant sounding tracks."

PLATZHIRSCH SCHALLPLATTEN (GERMANY):

AVITABILE, GRAZIANO: Aser 12" (PLATZ 001EP). $9.00

Side A: 'Tel Aviv', 'Gaza'.

VA: Partymix Volume 1 CD (PG 001CDPM). $15.00

"The ultimate partymix! Tracks disappear so quick you're left thinking I'm sure I know that one before the next one takes your attention away. Featuring over 200 tracks in 1 hour — cheeky samples, re-edits and bits of classic dance records from the past 30 years! Think Osymyo's Introspection, I-f's Mixed Up In The Hague. and the best jukebox in the world and you're almost there! Hip hop, electro, disco, techno, punk, funk, prog, it's all in there! This limited edition CD was originally circulated to a selected few last year and received a huge response." Mixed by Trevor Jackson, this features selections from New Order, The Clash, Blondie, YMO, Grandmaster Flash, Prince, Kraftwerk, Human League, so many more.

PLAYGROUP: Playgroup 2CD (PGR 003 CD). $16.00

New version of the one & only Playgroup album, featuring an exclusive bonus remix disc with remixes by Black Strobe, Felix da Housecat, Chicken Lips, So Solid Crew, Todd Terry, Fatboy Slim, Pa-T-One, Soulwax, Ewan Pearson, Zongamin, Midnight Mike, and Optimo. "Playgroup is the brainchild of Trevor Jackson — the producer behind UK rap outfit The Brotherhood and remixer extraordinaire for the likes of U2, Massive Attack, UNKLE and Death in Vegas. Playgroup is the fantasy album of a master producer running amok through his rolodex and record collection, rediscovering cult heroes and forgotten legends from the worlds of punk, funk, reggae, new wave, house and rap. It's Screamedica meets Blue Lines for a new century, appealing to fans of both cutting edge and retro sounds. Playgroup features a host of musical mavericks; hip house poet KC Flightt brings the party vibes on 'Front 2 Back', while Shinehead presses the dancehall pressure on a cover of Paul Simon's '50 Ways To Leave Your Lover.' Scottish indie pioneers Edwyn Collins (Orange Juice) and Roddy Frame (Aztec Camera) are along for the ride, as well as original riot grrrl Kathleen Hannah (Bikini Kill & Le Tigre). Add to that ex-Headcoates Kyra, Happy Mondays stalwart Rowetta, Lucy Pearl vocalist Joi, and finally Trevor himself singing on the dubelectro opus 'Overflow' and you have Playgroup: a compendium of perfect grooves and infectious pop sensibilities, fusing old and new schools into the ultimate millennial house party."

PLAYGROUP: 12" Remix Album Sampler 12" (PGR 003X EP). $5.50

"Trevor Jackson's trailblazing Playgroup project takes another twist with the release of this limited edition remix album sampler. Includes Chicken Lips remix of 'Number One' available for the first time on 12" vinyl. A second exclusive reworking by Zongamin of 'Make It Happen' following their acclaimed remix included on the commercial 12" release. Stunning Optimo remix of 'Overflow', previously only available on the 12" promo release of 'Make It Happen'."

VA: Famous When Dead CD (PLAY 003CD). $14.00

"Famous When Dead? Already be done in miniature. We acquired fame by ourselves in the last ten, fifteen years of the electronic music revolution and digital storm. Though we still haven't got any screaming teenagers when we peek out of the hotel room in the late afternoon: our apartments are always too small and crammed with records and CDs. And if someone on the street turns around to look at us, then its probably because of the pompously large sunglasses and the unusually high concentration of alcohol fumes that surround us as we walk past. Yet our music is known worldwide, be it the original or a derivative of our ideas. It dances to our beat. We have played a fair part in the language of this world and quite frankly, there's nothing more important for me in life than doing precisely that. Playhouse was (and still is) — ever since it first saw the light of day in the form of the energetic Holy Garage track 'Surprise' in the early nineties — a prime example for self-authorisation, private politics and an economic cycle of friends. A survival strategy — social, cultural and artistic — that could have filled the term 'New Economy' with more content and future than the information technology companies will ever achieve. The playful changes and reinventions of communal space, of potential fun and music forms, the charitable moment of nightclubbing, all the pleasant sides of sex, drugs and rock'n'roll, politics and economics, in short the generally accepted merits of disco, house and techno, are — how shall I say — deeply and eternally embedded in labels like Playhouse and the heads and hearts of the people who run and promote them. Everyone who played a part in creating these fifty wonderful Playhouse records should be incredibly proud of their work, their passion and the many lovely days they have made possible for others in doing so. Without Playhouse, Delirium, Aspiral, Ongaku, Wild Pitch Club, Klang and Robert Johnson, where would we be? See what I mean? Thanks. (Text by Tobias Thomas)." Artists include: Losoul, Light Fantastic, Blaze, Holy Garage, Rework, Isolée, Bodo Elsel, Soylen Green, Random Factor, Freaks, Captain Comatose, Villalobos & Dandy Jack.

VA: Famous When Dead Two CD (PLAY 004CD). $14.00

Second awesome volume in this series, featuring tracks from: Brooks, Mille & Mr. Hirsch, Weekender, Hi-Lo, The Soft Pink Truth, Shake, Swayzak with Kirsty Hawkshaw, Playgroup, E-troneek Funk, Shalark, Hans Platzgumer feat. Catriona Shaw. "The long-awaited continuation of the Famous When Dead series reminds us — those who refuse to stop believing in the essence and virtue of house — that Playhouse is perhaps not solely, but nevertheless substantially a DJ label: made by DJs for DJs. Well, and DJs love rummaging around in records, discovering records, and most of all, they love presenting the ones they treasure most to the people out there. To even discern these jewels in times of massive vinyl overkill requires a special kind of sensitivity that seems to have been added to the air we breathe in our Playhouse offices. Consequently, part two does not present an overview of the label-owned productions, but an outlook on some of the label organisers' personal top preferences. Therefore this isn't a factory tour, but a world tour, and in this case from the perspective of the man who put together this compilation: DJ Ata. Featuring eleven (club) tracks that have more in common as far as the mood is concerned than the style, the type of tracks you want to remember long after an intensive night on the dancefloor has ended, and thanks to this album you can. It includes relatively illustrious (but still very much alive) names such as Swayzak, Playgroup or Hans Platzgumer — who helps you to come down from this trip with a beautiful downtempo number — but mainly (still) fairly unknown formations like The Soft Pink Truth, Shake, Shalark or E-Troneek Funk. Not forgetting Mille & Mr. Hirsch, Weekender and Hi-Lo who complete this dazzling compilation of exquisite deepness. The sound is timeless and unpretentious, and in its abstract diversity as direct and gripping as top-quality soul or funk, hence akin to classic Playhouse acts such as LoSoul or Isolée. Ata has done intensive aural research and found contemporary showpieces of his favourite basic ingredients: phat bass lines, dry beats, warm pads, all set to jazzy-organic sounds. A true bonanza for character DJs beyond happy disco house. But one with an almost serious, ceremonial atmosphere. This reminds us that in the best case, house music can even be healing and holy. It's become pretty difficult to conjure up these kinds of powers nowadays. Ata can do that blindfold."

REWORK: Fall Right Now CD (PLAY 005CD). $14.00

"Rework are a trio and consist of Laetitia, Daniel Varga And Michael Kübler. It's about pop music, sometimes to dance to, sometimes to dream to, sometimes to sing along to. Accordingly, the new LP, Fall Right Now, is equally eclectic. The album begins with the fierce club stomper 'You're So Just Just' released as an advance single release in November 2002. Who's dominating who? In any case it won't surprise anyone who's heard the track that when it comes to 'sexy accents' French women are even exploited in beer commercials. 'Not Quite Like Any Other' is pleasantly reminiscent of this other Francophile trio, Saint Etienne, though with her husky, slightly off-key sounding vocals Laetitia sounds more like Nico Paffgen than Sarah Cracknell. The next piece, 'October Love Song' (a cover version of a Chris & Cosey song), is the perfect mixture of LIO and Neue Deutsche Welle, German new wave. Next comes 'I Think You Think' with darkest new wave disco and Laetitia amazingly manages to go even lower by one octave. 'Explain Our Sync' has the effect of an electro skit that resets the receptors in your ears. The tribal funkiness of 'Loin De Moi' is followed by the simple, but perfect 'Amoureuse'. Then 'What You Want' fuses Basic Channel, Kraftwerk, Joy Division And Grace Jones. Sixties-inspired 'Le Pop' can be heard on 'Affaire Classée', and with the well-known hypno beat of 'Anyway I Know You' the albums ends. 'Fall Right Now' is really one of a kind. The ten tracks oscillate between different worlds that may seem irreconcilable for narrow-minded listeners but seem to fit together as a matter of course for the members of Rework. Let's go to the arts cinema down the road and watch 'Bonjour Tristesse' with subtitles. Then we can put on black eyeliner and go to the WMF. Sounds good? Then play this record before some copywriter or other turns these influences into a kind of lifestyle, or they take this music to serve in a commercial for a French brand of cigarettes."

TEJADA & ARIAN LEVISTE, JOHN: Fairfax Sake CD (PLAY 006CD). $16.00

"Tejada and Leviste might be California's best-kept secret. For over a decade, the two have been turning out some of the state's — and, yeah, the nation's, or even the world's — deepest, most inspired dance music, with records on Playhouse, Pornflake, Moods and Grooves, and Tejada's own Palette imprint. Collaborators for 11 years, their joint productions date back to the late 90s; Tejada himself has proven one of electronic music's most prolific artists, with records on Palette, R&S, Multiplex, Organized Noise, Seventh City, deFocus, Mosaic, and many more. But Tejada and Leviste have come up with a sound that doesn't really belong to geography: it might be rooted in Detroit techno, but it's scattered with Chicago jack tracks, SoCal G-Funk, Cologne microhouse, New York disco, even a smattering of East Bay Hip Hop, reconfigured for a four-to-the-floor vision of musical inclusiveness. Tejada and Leviste's style makes a sound you'll be hard put to name, right in the sweet spot between house and techno, breaks and 808s, plucked strings and patch cables, edits and immediacy. It's sunlight and silicon; it's a breath of fresh air. Can you feel it?"

CAPTAIN COMATOSE: Going Out CD (PLAY 007CD). $16.00

"Can Oral is Khan — this is the name he's been known by for many years. As an authority in the international house, techno and electro scene, his productions are innumerable, as are his pseudonyms, but there's a leitmotif in all of Khan's work: no matter what style he happens to prefer at any given moment, it always has an irresistible groove to it, it has soul and it's sexy. Khan, born and bred in Frankfurt, until shortly living in New York, has now returned to Germany, choosing Berlin as his new domicile, armed with another new project: Captain Comatose. Khan shares the place at the helm with his music partner in crime, DJ Snax, who he met at a fashion show in Berlin back in 1996 — only to find out they were virtually neighbours in New York. Three 12" releases on Playhouse in the last three years gave a hint of what to expect on the first Captain Comatose album: a sleazy mix consisting of disco, electro and house, a rhythm that gets your hips swinging and soulful vocals that hold you spellbound. Thanks to Captain Comatose, the world of electronic music has gained two more super heroes — two artists who casually and sexily fuse the very best the different worlds of dance music have to offer: cool soul with funky techno and trashy disco meet pushy electro and house beats. An album which has ever more to discover, multifarious and ravishing. And a project that's especially impressive at live performances — in Khan's own words: 'We're definitely a disco band in the true sense.' The journey has only just begun."

VILLALOBOS, RICARDO: Alcachofa CD (PLAY 008CD). $16.00

"Welcome to the New Profundity. In the last several years, Ricardo Villalobos has emerged as one of the foremost producers in that Zone That Has No Name — minimalism that's too rosy-cheeked to be minimal, techno too slinky (and dare we say: feminine) to be techno, house too adamantly anti-anthem to be called house. On singles for Playhouse, Perlon, Frisbee Tracks and more, Villalobos — both under his own name and as half of Ric Y Martin, alongside Martin Schopf (aka Dandy Jack) — has broken open techno's crank-case and reconfigured its motor to run on nothing but pebbles and honey, silicon and grass. Less minimalist than profoundly, proudly, regally restrained, his music is full of pauses, patience and white space; he overlaps genres until only their outlines remain, like a kind of subtractive synthesis used to blot out all but the essence of a given combination of tones. Which brings us to Alcachofa, an album that, like its namesake — the humble artichoke — peels away in layers, stripping back rubbery leaves to reveal a sweet, pulpy interior crowned by a halo of thorns. 'Easy Lee', the album's opener, is perversely delicious, pure dancefloor introversion. Graced by plangent, computer-modified vocals, the tune — a staple in Richie Hawtin's after-hours sets — is at once stark and darkly romantic, surface-bound and curiously hollowed, hyper-sexed and dead to the touch. It expands upon Villalobos' newfound interest in processed vocals, introduced with 'What You Say Is More Than I Can Say' on previous 12" Play 62 — here in an edited version, which offsets rubberized techno stomp with delusional robot groans to produce a uniquely sensual disorientation. Not all of Alcachofa is so introverted, but most of it is marked by the same kind of restraint. Not hesitation: Villalobos knows just 'Theogenese' juggles South American syncopations, minimalist click-tracking, and 80s syn-drums, all suffused in a delicate sunrise aura, until every beat glows golden. 'Bahaha Hahi', traveling under a name suggesting some tropical imbalance, dresses up subconscious vocals in clicks and gurgles — the sound of snorkeling while stoned. A simpler rhythmic experiment is 'I Try To Live (Can I Live)' an excursion into flattened-out funk and artificial mouth harp. But the record's crowning glory must be 'Dexter', which steadily cycles through a series of improbable chord changes like a cat prowling one of M.C. Eschers surreal staircases. Pensive, poignant, moving like water under ice, the track sucks you in and holds you deep in the heart of things — and in the heart of Alcachofa. This isn't techno as we knew it; it's a biological experiment, a Petri dish of private elation and muttered damnations, a morphology of voices and tones and exhalations rubbed raw with salt and gravel. Alcachofa presents metamorphosis in play: restless, irrevocable. Wrapped in rubber, green and meaty, the world sounds different now."

VA: Famous When Dead III CD (PLAY 009CD). $17.00

"The common grounds of the tracks on Famous When Dead 3 lie less in the technical side of the production. Because Isolée's future swing on 'Can't Sleep All Night' fuses so many broken and straight beats, beeps and vocals until the tracks almost explode at some point. Or Villalobos' summer hit 'Easy Lee' that's catchy and at the same time as complex as a closet full of forgotten tunes. Melchior Productions produces ever-surprising proof with 'Let's Go Deep' just how compelling constantly repeating the basic beat can be and how exciting slight changes in the embellishment are. With Rework it's similar. The upbeat way the drums come in on 'You're So Just Just' illustrates their typical severity. The depth of their bass is surprising. In contrast to the sweet as sugar Vocoder sound of 'No Under On The Ground' by the Visitors. Captain Comatose's groove on '$100', which will probably kick off just as well in some strange revue as in the club. Then there's the extraordinary, almost fluid track 'Inside The Freakbox' by Spektrum: freestyle, a house bastard."

The atmosphere is what forges the bond between the tracks on this compilation. Playhouse sounds sophisticated and elegant in all its facets and colours. Stylish. Regardless whether a record rocks or prefers to cuddle. We can hear the quality and the amount of work the producers put into it. There isn't any cheap showmanship, nothing's overhasty, everything seems balanced. Playhouse records want to sound good and they manage to convey a feeling of certainty that it is a good thing if a track doesn't appeal to you one hundred percent. We sit down on the couch and notice: The tracks follow one another so cleverly that they don't ever become boring, not even after listening to the record a zillion times — despite having danced to them at the club often enough too. The fact that they're danceable goes without saying, that's crucial. If it says Playhouse on the outside then there must be house in it. And the fact that Famous When Dead 3 still sounds fresh, even though some of the tracks are already a year old, is equally important. The retrospective has to assert itself here and now. A label that releases bittersweet songs such as 'Say Goodbye' by Khan and Julee Cruise, the embracing final tracks of the albums, does have an advantage. And so does a label that doesn't pursue any fads and fashions, instead opting for finding and cultivating a style of its own."

Playhouse is regarded as one of Germany's most important house labels, partly also because it's always on the lookout for ways of integrating new sounds and structures from the aspect of danceability. Ways of being innovative. And thus Playhouse's catalogue of harmonic colours is constantly expanding, becoming bigger and more vibrant, between black and white."

SPEKTRUM: Enter the Spektrum CD (PLAY 010CD). $17.00

"We had only just come to terms with the fact that the 80's have meanwhile been exploited to death. All the references and quotations were fun, and, in many a place, the pop and the dancefloors were driven to a frenzy. Yet can one revive it all anew? Can one shed one's experience of NoWave Funk, bone dry bass and vocoder vocals once more and rediscover the whole thing? Of course one can. It happens almost automatically, if you encounter the right kind of music. Music that, with its magnitude of ideas, self-confidence and energy, in other words purely by its mere existence, wipes away any dust that may have gathered. Spektrum stood in front of a mirror and saw themselves smiling in it. But soon the mirror warped under the strain of retro-styles and got stained because pop history spat on it. Spektrum, however, began to scrape at the surface with one or two 12"s and noticed that the smile was still there. Luckily, many people noticed this too. Breaker and Freefall took over the clubs, DJs sighed 'My salvation!', and 'Freakbox' subtly drew attention to itself in such an irresistible way that the general nodding of heads meant not only dance but also approval: yes, one had to experience it. Spektrum smashed the mirror. Splinters. Enter The... Spektrum."

MELCHIOR PRODUCTIONS: The Meaning 2CD (PLAY 011CD). $17.00

"Thomas Melchior creates musical and tonal entities. Endless loops that one could listen to forever. His music comprises Yin and Yang. The later the evening, the more of a fan you become." — Ricardo Villalobos. Playhouse is proud to present the third significant founder of minimal techno after Peter Ford and Ricardo Villalobos: Thomas Melchior with his first solo album."

VILLALOBOS, RICARDO: Ibiza 99 12" (PLAY 035EP). $9.00

"Ricardo Villalobos, producer and remixer on countless labels, wicked DJ on numerous illegal parties, traveller between South-America, Ibiza and Germany has finally surprised Playhouse with two fresh and brilliant deep House tracks."

ISOLEE: Rest 2LP (PLAY 038LP). $16.00

Double vinyl version.

LOSOU: Belong 2LP (PLAY 040LP). $16.00

Double vinyl version.

KHAN: No Comprendo LP (PLAY 049LP). $13.00

"Playhouse, in co-operation with Matador, is proud and delighted to present the vinyl version of the Khan album No Comprendo. Khan's debut together with DJ Snax as Comatose Captain on Playhouse was followed by further bizarre excursions into the abysses of New York City. Unlike the Blaze productions, which elucidate the spiritual and self-contained world of deep house, this illustrates the New York of 'White Trash', the burning hearts, the dark cramped basement flats and bizarre encounters foreboded by American myths."

VA: Famous When Dead 3LP (PLAY 050LP). $19.00

Triple vinyl version.

TEJADA & ARIAN LEVISTE, JOHN: Syntax Free 12" (PLAY 052EP). $9.00

"John Tejada (here in cooperation with his friend Arian Leviste) from California USA, can definitely be called one of these artists of the year so far. After his big hit 'Western Starland' on his own Palette Recordings imprint and numerous releases on different labels, for example Dan Bell's 7th City, we are proud and happy to finally present him on Playhouse. Really self confident he musically moves over a cut-up like Funk technique, in a way not unlike to Matthew Herbert's style, into an extremely elastic gooving sound."

COMATOSE CAPTAIN: 2nd EP 12" (PLAY 053EP). $9.00

"Here they go again: DJ Snax and Khan, both coming straight from New York. On their Tour De Force they are travelling through sound & styles and all kinds of night time experiences, going where everything is invented brand new — or even better, where something fresh is becoming so ultimately fresh that in the end we get pure musical dynamite. This 12" rocks — Not slightly or seemingly, not cryptic or minimalistic, on the contrary — it comes with strong background vocals, fat brasses and rocking synthesizer sounds."

MELCHIOR PRODUCTIONS: Let's Go Deep 12" (PLAY 054EP). $9.00

"Thomas Melchior delivers a loose bouncing disk for the new year. The native German who lives in London is part of Baby Fords I-Fach Collective. Both are known for their releases under the Sunpeople moniker on Trelik. Solo, Melchior with his 4 new tracks adopts an imperturbable course. After the DJ's warm-up, when the first beats of 'Come Closer' start, one will be pushed onto the dancefloor by its bassline. And this, no less, is the case with the sublime dub-version."

BLANKO, BENNY: All The Way Down 12" (PLAY 055EP). $9.00

2/2002 release. "Fresh from funky London now available on Playhouse! Benny Blanko brings us lots of fresh air to inhale. No doubt that Benny is rooted in an old school styled groove, but his stuff turns out fresh and relaxed. 'All The Way Down' should be entitled 'All The Way Up', that's how good-humoured it sounds. And who could resist his invitation to bounce and Keep Bouncin!?! Dobie's bedroom mute mix with its funky snare and a slightly slower tempo than the original is as restful as its title suggests."

LOSOU: Warriors 12" (PLAY 056EP). $9.00

"The first 12" of Peter Kremer aka. Don Disco aka. Losoul after his legendary Belong album (fall 2000) and again with Malte on vocals. After their very successful live-tour in 2001 they finally went back to the studio to produce one of the highest quality tracks they've been doing so far. Consequently A1 as much as B1 are both developed out of their common live show and have simply been perfected in the studio concerning arrangement and sound. It's almost scary how flexible Malte is tuning his voice to fine shades in the music and vice versa, the music supporting the expression of the voice. The perfect fusion of voice and music is creating such a unique atmosphere that is slightly reminding us to the good days of Robert Owens. Losoul."

GOLDFISH UND DER DULZ: EP 12" (PLAY 057EP). $9.00

"Playhouse welcomes two new talents from Bremen. Goldfish and Dulz, the two precision mechanics from way up north do it in a very filigree way on their debut EP. You might think of Ursula Rucker when listening to the intro of 'Lila', but this is a bit misleading as you will hear. Smallest possible pieces like chopped up guitar samples fit well into a solid frame of beats without having a disturbing effect on the dancers. Music for the next millennium? By no means, it's more likely music for the present, because it's too charming and demands instant listening."

WANG, DANIEL: Panoramic 12" (PLAY 058EP). $9.00

"Here's the Daniel Wang's new stroke of genius in the field of 80's synth dance music: Panoramic, his second release for Playhouse after the legendary Light Fantastic EP. Bubbling acid-basslines combined with 808 claps and toms, and above all, like a spider's web, lies a steady arpeggio and a masculine sprechgesang. With a lot of love for details this is increasing into a full bliss. Perfect! The two bonus tracks suggest an infinite distance of a synthetic world and with their scarcely arranged rhythms create an atmosphere just like the background music in Californian police-porno flicks."

KHAN: Say Goodbye - Losoul & Rework Remixes 12" (PLAY 059EP). $9.00

"And first of all it's 'hello' to this fantastic new Rework remix of one of the catchiest tunes on Khan's No Comprendo LP. On side A Losoul wraps up Julee Cruise's wonderful voice (remember Twin Peaks?) in a hypnotic coat straight from Offenbach, the capital of leather. So who wants to feel homeless anymore? Each time we're enthusiastic about the moment when the bassline starts to come in! It's getting even better with the appearance of the 'machine with the ping!' Losoul's rolling and rolling and rolling and..."

FABRICE LIG: Deep Inside EP 12" (PLAY 060EP). $9.00

"Fabrice Lig (yeah, you're right, the first white man who released on Kevin Saunderson's KMS label!) delivers with his Deep Inside EP a warm and organic piece of pure black magic on Playhouse; a record which shows his fascination for the Motor City Sound. Lig, who recently released an album as Soul Designer on F-Com, various 12"s on labels like Raygun, Daniel Bell's 7th City and on the Titonot Duvanté related Starbaby imprint, is a producer who's true to the original Detroit/Chicago sound."

GOLDFISH UND DER DULZ: Clubber 12" (PLAY 061EP). $9.00

"Using the smallest samples on a very groovy foundation, it's unmistakably their special sound which finds its way right into your heart, leg and ear. But this time the guys from Bremen really go for it! It seems that the sound in its entirety has become a little bit more brusque and direct. There are still all those tiny particles but wrapped up in a 'oh so solid' beat. Acid-like basslines wrap round his body like boas and don't let go. Plus this slight hint of a melody... just lovely!"

VILLALOBOS, R.: Halma EP 12" (PLAY 062EP). $9.00

"This is the new Villalobos! It's the one that made you dancing at the Loveparade, grinning from ear to ear — and not only there, no, just everywhere! Ooops, there goes my rhyme... And we don't have to say a word about Ricardo Villalobos. He's a master of one's craft, as the saying goes, and truly a star!"

VA: Famous When Dead Two 3LP (PLAY 063LP). $19.00

Triple LP version.

SHINTO: Kibou EP 12" (PLAY 064EP). $9.00

"Shinto is one of numerous projects of the Austrian musician par excellence Hans Platzgumer in collaboration with the half-Japanese CaMi Tokujiro. Platzgumer, who, since the end of the 80's increased his musical output under such various names as HP Zinker, Aura Anthropica, Sperator, Fingerfood and Cube & Sphere on such illustrious labels like Matador, Thrill Jockey, Disko B, Cheap and Domino. The Playhouse camp feels honoured to put itself on a par with these names! The Kibou EP introduces us to four titles by singer CaMi Tokujiro and Hans Platzgumer with his hands at the controls."

REWORK: You're So Just 12" (PLAY 065EP). $9.00

"After two splendid EP's, here's Rework's new disc! And it will shorten the time till the album's release. And with these 2 tracks, tailor-sized for the dancefloor, Daniel Varga, Michael Kübler & singer Laetitia show us what's what. 'You're So Just' haunting handful of clubs since 3 months, played, amongst others, by no other than Richie Hawtin himself! Rework are on the right track, baby — and this 12" shows just their clubby-side!"

REWORK: Fall Right Now 2LP (PLAY 066LP). $16.00

Double LP version. "Rework are a trio and consist of Laetitia, Daniel Varga And Michael Kübler. It's about pop music, sometimes to dance to, sometimes to dream to, sometimes to sing along to. Accordingly, the new LP, Fall Right Now, is equally eclectic. The album begins with the fierce club stomper 'You're So Just' released as an advance single release in November 2002."

SOYLENT GREEN: At The Gates 12" (PLAY 067EP). $9.00

"It's been a while since the last Soylent Green record came out. 'Pass The Coke' leads off in a great funky way, clad in Hi-Tek gear and a very hypnotic effect on the dancers. A sound which goes straight to your head. Side 2 opens with this calm, nearly stoical stomper 'At The Gates'. Super-solid bassdrum, brilliant percussion, and a little echo predestine this track for the use at the start of the night on the one hand; on the other hand, it's also a good choice for the early morning hours—no question. 'Cold Showers' does not give you the feeling that you were having a cold shower, it's more like you need lots of 'Cold Showers' after dancing to it. A vehemently dashing shuffle created by Mr. Flügel and truly a monster to end this capital 3 tracker!"

MOHR, MAX: Time Travel 12" (PLAY 068EP). $9.00

"No one else than Max Mohr is once again coming on the scene with his second record (still available: 'Sweet', whose title 'Tomty' could be heard recently on Carl Craig's Mix-CD The Workout on React). Max Mohr is capable of putting an ease and pop-appeal to that 12", which makes them unmistakable and recognizable for everybody."

FUNKY TRANSPORT: The Bedford Files e.p. 12" (PLAY 069EP). $9.00

"Here we go again! Still fresh in 2003 with a debut on Playhouse: Funky Transport otherwise known as Iain Macpherson from Aberdeen. The Scotsman, who had already releases on 20/20 Vision, handles this groovy and funky affair courageously, like it should be done at the beginning of a new year and like his pseudonym suggests."

INTERNATIONAL PONY VS. LOSOUL: International Snootleg 12" (PLAY 070EP). $9.00

"Yep! Here it is! International Pony's superhit 'Leaving Home'. On Playhouse? Yes, on Playhouse! Nobody else than Losoul liked this track so much that he had the idea to combine it with Malte's vocals of their 'Warriors' 12". Very satisfied he showed up in our office where we decided immediately to give this gem to the public."

GLOVE FEAT. JULIA W.: Wunderbar 12" (PLAY 072EP). $9.00

"And nobody else than Tobi Neumann (of Chicks On Speed fame) & Thies Mynter aka Glove together with lovely débutante singer Julia W. made a mark on this song. They originally tried to do an edit of the original but decided, while working on it, to re-record it instead. A nice and long intro and Glove's irresistible 'kinda stiffy' groove lead us to Julia W.'s beautiful vocals which are second to none to the charm of the original."

CAPTAIN COMATOSE: Don't Come Back (Album Version) 12" (PLAY 073BEP). $9.00

"This is it! This limited 12" is here to whet your appetite for the forthcoming Captain Comatose album. After 2 great EP's for Playhouse, Going Out, which is the album's title, is the logically consistent development of Khan's & Snax' work on their common material. One strength of this sympathetic duo is their live appearance which steals the show from every conventional 'electronic' act due to their fabulous entertaining qualities."

CAPTAIN COMATOSE: $100 EP 12" (PLAY 073EP). $9.00

""$100" — the official single of the Captain Comatose album Going Out. And what a smash! So we decided against the 'classic' a/b side separation and made it a double-a-side. '$100' shows the more vibrant side of the duo which comes to light especially live. Makes us bawl — I mean sing along right away to the refrain. 'Masoquista' — exclusively on this EP — is an instrumental with a slight dubby touch which shows even more the many faces of Captain Comatose, and which can be discovered on the upcoming album." Includes a remix by Electronicat.

TEJADA & ARIAN LEVISTE, JOHN: Fairfax Sake 2LP (PLAY 074LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

SPEKTRUM: Freakbox 2x12" (PLAY 075LP). $16.00

"The band of four with main players Lola Olafisoye handling vocals & keyboarder Gabriel Olegavich are above all a live-project. Let's see what the press info says: 'As a band Spektrum are hard hitting tight 21st century funk with punk attitudes, think Kelis, Missy Elliot or Grace Jones collaborating with ESG, A Certain Ratio or 23 Skidoo.' A fact you can hear on their 3 singles so far ('Breaker', 'Freakbox' & 'Freefall')." Remixes by: Richie Hawtin, Alter Ego, Destillat + Original Mix.

CAPTAIN COMATOSE: Going Out LP (PLAY 076LP). $13.00

LP Version.

ISOLEE: Can't Sleep All Night 12" (PLAY 077EP). $9.00

"Isolée is back with a new single for Playhouse! Having worked on some remixes lately, Mister Rajko Müller now delivers new, own material. And the typical Isolée sound reveals itself to the listener immediately on this 12". Rajko makes us nod our heads right from the start — a tremendous groove. Bassdrum and handclap action galore! Rajko's masterly use of melodies is shown here by the way of his synthesizer playing. Different parts are glued perfectly together, creating the Isolée track with the Isolée sound in the end. No question that you Can't Sleep All Night of course..."

SPEKTRUM: Freakbox Pt. 2 (Losoul + Villalobos) 12" (PLAY 078EP). $9.00

"Here's the remixes second part of this monster track. This time gentlemen Villalobos & Losoul get their hands on the original. 'Freakbox' gets the very special Villalobos treatment. Twisted sounds coming out of the speakers with a deep deep pounding bassdrum. A dark atmospheric affair with the typical slight touch of psychedelia. 'Freak Out!' On the other side of this black magic vinyl Losoul works the bassline and makes all heads nod immediately."

MELCHIOR PRODUCTIONS: No Elevator EP 12" (PLAY 079EP). $9.00

"After the Let's Go Deep EP (PLAY 54) in the beginning of 2002 we now have the great pleasure to present 4 new tracks by London resident Melchior who is part of Baby Ford's I-Fach Collective and runs the Trelik label. As Melchior is a real groove addict it's no wonder that these 4 exuberant tracks will make everybody on the floor move their limbs in just a few seconds. Starting with the bouncing bassline of 'Love Is...', side A leads us to the highly hypnotic 'Chocante'. It's one of Melchior's great skills to create this hypnotic atmosphere in a track. Once his music got you on the dancefloor you become totally absorbed in it. There's no stopping when you flip the side — on B1 you find the same machine funk storm as in all the other tracks — and that's really 'All There Is'."

VISITORS, THE: No Under On the Ground 12" (PLAY 080EP). $9.00

"They have arrived. The Visitors. That's the name Mille & Hirsch from the beautiful city of Leipzig go by on their debut 12" on Playhouse. Some of you may remember them from their title 'business jazz' on the second Famous When Dead Playhouse compilation. This time they are hitting us with something a bit different from what we know them for. Not really deep House, more like... (check this out): Italo Disco! You think Playhouse has finally lost control? — Not really! And well, to be honest, isn't there a hidden Giorgio Moroder in all of us?"

LOSOUL: Don't Play My Story 12" (PLAY 081EP). $9.00

"The incredible Losoul aka Peter Kremer is back again. Since his last work of 'bootlegging' International Pony's 'Leaving Home' on PLAY 70 — which already contained the very good but short Losoul original 'What The F...?' — it's been a half year that we had the chance to listen to some R-E-A-L Losoul shit. But it was worth waiting when we hear these two wicked new tunes."

VILLALOBOS, RICARDO: Alcachofa Tools 12" (PLAY 082EP). $9.00

"Two CD only tracks plus the exclusive 'Back To Back' only available on this 12". A truly original Villalobos composition with beautiful fingersnapping handclaps... yeah, you better believe it! Great bassline implanted in the typical psyched out soundscapes of Señor Ricardo. What's more to a perfect tool to fool around with? 'Fools Garden (Black Conga)' and 'Waiworinao' deliver the same crazyness and rhythmic extravaganza as present as it is in the whole Villalobos oeuvre. But there's also a beautiful sunny mood to these 2 tracks which puts a smile on everybody's face. It's there when you listen to the nice guitar playing in 'Waiworinao' or while losing yourself in the dreamy atmosphere created in 'Fools Garden (Black Conga)'."

VILLALOBOS, RICARDO: Alcachofa 3LP (PLAY 083LP). $20.00

Triple vinyl LP version.

REWORK: Like Me 12" (PLAY 084EP). $9.00

"Daniel, Michel and their 2 singers Caro & Laetitia deliver another piece of truly original (Re)Work. 'Like Me' seems to go into the same direction as 'You're So Just Just'. Pure energy right from the start with typical thrown in vocal snippets by Laetitia. Good bassline action, a nice rimshot snare and a fat bassdrum make this one a great dancer."

FABRICE LIG: Meet U In Brooklyn 12" (PLAY 085EP). $9.00

"The beguiling Belgian is back on Playhouse! Mr. Soul Designer Fabrice Lig returns with 2 tracks that could easily be seen as New Yorican hymns. 'Meet U In Brooklyn' is filled with handclaps and mellow madness chords that remind you of the fabulous summer we had this year. The bassdrum's constant beat gets covered up with layer upon layer of sounds culminating in these beautiful synth vocals doing their 'bah bah bah bah'. A hi-hat that sizzles like a deodorant spray will extend this late summer vibe forever and ever. An epic dreamy hymn you will love after hearing it for the first time."

VA: Famous When Dead III 3LP (PLAY 086LP). $19.00

Triple LP version, gatefold sleeve.

SPEKTRUM: Kinda New 7" (PLAY 087BEP). $8.00

"They're back! Remember 'Freakbox'? Sure you do! This is another piece of fine Spektrum art. Taken from their forthcoming album, 'Kinda New' and 'Interference' on the 7" show the band's nice repertoire already tested live."

SPEKTRUM: Kinda New Tiefschwarz Mixes 12" (PLAY 087EP). $9.00

"Slammin organic techno house reworks from Tiefschwarz. Dropping organic disco basslines over tight techno house grooves with vocals."

TEJADA & ARIAN LEVISTE, JOHN: Geriatrics 12" (PLAY 088EP). $9.00

"It's time again for Mr. & Mr. Productivity: John Tejada & Arian Leviste on their constant mission to bring their music, their very special sound to the world. So fasten your seatbelts and get ready for some bouncy beats and basslines straight outta Cali."

BLANKO, BENNY: Homestyle 4 12" (PLAY 089EP). $9.00

"It's time for some heavy headz action with Benny Blanko's new Homestyle EP. After 3 sought after EPs on his own Homestyle imprint, this is the first real cooperation between Playhouse and the London based label. And again it's a journey to warm and funky D o w n b a s s t e r r i t o r y and Deep House heaven."

SPEKTRUM: Enter the Spektrum 2LP (PLAY 090LP). $19.00

Double LP version, full color gatefold sleeve.

MELCHIOR PRODUCTIONS: Searching 12" (PLAY 092EP). $9.00

"Thomas Melchior on the rise. Having released 2 excellent 12"s for Playhouse so far, the guy who also successfully works with Baby Ford (a.k.a. Soul Capsule), is now going to give you a preview of his upcoming Playhouse album The Meaning."

VILLALOBOS, RICARDO: Alcachofa Remixes 2x12" (PLAY 093LP). $18.00

"Here they are: the remixes of Villalobos' Alcachofa album. And off we go with Andrew Weatherall's and Keith Tenniswood's Two Lone Swordsman remix of 'Dexter'. Next one in line and a definitely smash is Berlin's own Smith N Hack remix of the album hit 'Easy Lee'. They took the catchy vocoder voice and twisted it around on top of an Italo Disco meets New Order type beat. Side C is completely in the hands of Messieurs Melchior and Ford aka Melchior Productions and Baby Ford. Also in Señor Villalobos' record case is Jay Haze's clattering remix of 'Easy Lee'. It's a typical Ricardo tool that shows its impact in between one of his meandering DJ sets."

MELCHIOR PRODUCTIONS: The Meaning 2LP (PLAY 094LP). $19.00

Double LP version.

RECLOOSE: Cardiology (Isolée Remix) 12" (PLAY 095EP). $9.00

"All praise to the man who nearly made Carl Craig eat his demo...Remember the story how he slipped his demo tape between some bread into Carl's to-go order in Detroit? Anyway, Carl did NOT eat the tape, nope, he gave us the first Recloose record on Planet E instead. Enter Isolée: Still working on his next album for Playhouse, the guy got the job to lay his hands on the original track and out came a typical Isolée tune that is full of atmosphere with its muted trumpet and effective use of a very soulful vocal phrase courtesy of Malik

Alston."

PLAYMADE MINUS (GERMANY):

AUDISION: Solid State 12" (PLAYMAD 006). $9.00

"With 'Solid State', Audision have created a very deep, but also slightly poppy track. Precisely set hi hats pushing forward the track stand in contrast to dark strings and a pulsating looped sound, slowly broken up by a bassline that enters. With increasing power the track builds up and grows on the listener with its hypnotic beat. Particularly effective are those subliminal, biting strings slightly changing in colour, spicing up the other elements of the track and putting a spell on the listener. Quite a new approach for Audision, but of course not leaving away their typical flavour."

PLEXIFILM:

PALMER & DAVID WEISMAN, JOHN: Ciao! Manhattan DVD (PLEX 001 DVD). $21.00

First release on this new NYC-based DVD company; all Plexifilm DVD's are NTSC format, region 0 (for the world). "For some a primary source document of the 1960s, for others a transcendental viewing experience, Ciao! Manhattan is a fascinating yet unsettling peek at the final drugged-out days of famed heiress and Andy Warhol Factory muse Edie Sedgwick. Ostensibly a dramatic feature in which the actors play themselves, shot by two underground filmmakers in 1967 (black-and-white) and 1970 (color), this cult film is now best remembered as Edie's last screen appearance, well after her 15 minutes of fame had elapsed. The film also features Warhol Factory luminaries Paul America, Viva, Brigid Berlin, and Baby Jane Holzer; Texan hitchhiker Wesley Hayes and veteran Hollywood movie star Isabel Jewell (Lost Horizons, Gone With The Wind) in her final screen role, as well as cameos by French directors Roger Vadim & Christian Marquand and Beat poet Allen Ginsberg. Ciao! Manhattan parallels Edie's glory days, her inevitable downfall and the tragic addiction that would take her life only weeks after filming wrapped. The film serves as a bold and vivid examination of both her eccentric lifestyle and her enduring legacy. Filmmaker David Weisman recently discovered over 30 hours of pristine 35mm outtake footage from the film, believed lost for decades. The DVD will feature selections from this astounding trove of archival material, including rare glimpses of Edie — making her entrance into the legendary Max's Kansas City, shopping at Paraphernalia with Uma Thurman's mom Nena, and chatting with Allen Ginsberg amid thousands of flower-children at the first 'Be-In' in Central Park on Easter Sunday 1967." "The 'Citizen Kane' of the Drug Generation." — Village Voice. Specs: 92 minutes, color/b&w, 35mm, 1.85:1 (original ratio).

COHEN & PETER SILLEN, JEM: Benjamin Smoke DVD (PLEX 003 DVD). $21.00

"Benjamin Smoke is the highly acclaimed documentary by directors Jem Cohen (Fugazi: Instrument) and Peter Sillen (Speed Racer) on legendary underground musician Benjamin. Benjamin Smoke follows the crooked path of this fringe-dweller, speed-freak, occasional drag-queen and all-around renegade living in the hidden Atlanta neighborhood called 'Cabbagetown', and playing with his band Smoke. Benjamin Smoke is a hauntingly beautiful yet unflinching look at a performer whose life has had a profound effect on many artists, including R.E.M.'s Michael Stipe, Cat Power's Chan Marshall and Patti Smith, who appears in the film. The DVD extras include two moving performances of songs written for Benjamin by Cat Power and Vic Chesnutt. Over a decade in the making, the film traces Benjamin's life from his childhood, to his work with Smoke and previous band the Opal Foxx Quartet, to living with HIV. But Benjamin Smoke is not a traditional music documentary; it is an intricate collage of interviews, live performances, and time-lapse cinematography, all intercut with still photographs by award-winning photographer Michael Ackerman. What results is an open window into Benjamin's relationship with drugs, music, friends, lovers and the world around him, a little-known and rapidly disappearing pocket of the American South. Above all, Benjamin Smoke is an extension of the performer and his music and a portrait of a true American original." Specs: 78 minutes, color/black & white, super 8mm & 16mm, 1.33:1 (original ratio); NTSC format, region 0.

WEERASETHAKUL, APICHATPONG: Mysterious Object At Noon DVD (PLEX 004 DVD). $21.00

"The inspiration for Mysterious Object At Noon was the Surrealist storytelling technique known as Exquisite Corpse, wherein a variety of writers would contribute to a story one sentence at a time, without knowing much about what the previous sentences contained. Thai independent filmmaker Apichatpong Weerasethakul used the technique to interview people throughout Thailand, learning a little bit about their lives and then asking them to contribute to the film's evolving story. What emerges is at once a portrait of Thailand's disenfranchised lower classes — farmers, fruit vendors, village performers of 'mor lam' (a song-and-storytelling hybrid extremely popular in the rural northeast) — and a fractured group-narration of a story about a handicapped boy and his tutor, a woman named Dogfar. The finished story was then shot in dramatic form, using nonprofessional actors, and intercut with the earlier footage. It's a film unlike any other... you're likely to be utterly enchanted by this unique dish of entertainment that may be the beginning of a new art form: Village Surrealism. Mr. Weerasethakul's film is like a piece of chamber music slowly, deftly expanding into a full symphonic movement." — Elvis Mitchell, The New York Times. Specs: 85 minutes, b&w, 16mm, letterboxed. In Thai with English subtitles; NTSC format, region 0.

VA: Style Wars 2DVD (PLEX 006 DVD). $24.00

Unbelievably detailed double-disc presentation of this NYC graffiti/hip hop document, with 3.5 hours of bonus material (23 minutes of outtakes, directory commentary, artist galleries and interviews, 30 minute loop of entire trains and burners), etc. "When director Tony Silver and co-producer Henry Chalfant delivered the broadcast version of their prize-winning film to PBS in 1983, the world received its first full immersion in the phenomenon that had taken over New York City. The urban landscape was physically transformed by graffiti artists who invented a new visual language to express both their individuality, and the voice of their community. In Style Wars, New York's ramshackle subway system is their public playground, battleground, and spectacular artistic canvas. Opposing them by every means possible are Mayor Ed Koch, the police, and the New York Transit Authority. Meanwhile, as MCs, DJs and B-boys rock the city with new sounds and new moves, we see street corner break-dance battles turn into performance art. Style Wars has become an emblem of the original, embracing spirit of hip hop as it exploded into the world from underground tunnels, uptown streets, clubs and playgrounds. New York's legendary kings of graffiti own a special place in the hip hop pantheon. This film is regarded by many as the definitive document of the emerging hip hop culture, and the continuing struggle to keep its authentic spirit alive." Region 0 (world), NTSC. Digitally remastered 5.1 Dolby soundtrack featuring classic tracks from Grandmaster Flash, The Treacherous Three, Trouble Funk, The Fearless Four, Rammellzee vs. K-Rob as well as music from: Def Jux recording artists ELP, RJD2 and Aesop Rock, plus Mr. Wiggles, Kimson 'Angola-Red' Albert, and Darryl Jenifer.

WILCO: I Am Trying To Break Your Heart 2DVD (PLEX 007 DVD). $25.00

"In the fall of 2000, Wilco entered the studio to record their highly anticipated fourth album. Building on three critically acclaimed albums and a reputation for phenomenal live shows, the band seemed poised to cement its reputation as one of the great American rock groups. So how is it that one year later, with completed record in hand, the band found itself rejected by its corporate record label and missing two of its original members? First-time filmmaker and award-winning photographer Sam Jones was on-hand, chronicling this turbulent chapter in Wilco's history as it unfolded. The recording process is always rife with tension. That's to be expected, especially when the band is as ambitious as Wilco. The real surprise comes when the band delivers the final album to Reprise and all they get in response is two weeks of ominous silence. Soon, contracts are being broken and partnerships are being severed as Jones discovers he has a far more tumultuous tale to tell than he originally envisioned. Throughout the film, Jones tempers the backstage dramas and unfathomable corporate shenanigans with inspired live performances, as frontman Jeff Tweedy and company perform songs from the beleaguered Yankee Hotel Foxtrot album, recently released and already considered a modern classic. Shot in luminous black and white, I Am Trying To Break Your Heart is a riveting portrait of a band making the best music of its career." Specs: 2002, 92 minutes, black & white, super 16mm, 1.85:1 (original ratio), NTSC, region 0 (world).

RATLIFF, GEORGE: Hell House DVD (PLEX 008 DVD). $21.00

"Hell Houses are a distinctly American phenomenon which began in 1990 just outside of Dallas, at the Trinity Assembly of God Church. The original Hell House was conceived as a modern-day fire-and-brimstone sermon. Today, this religious ceremony of sorts is replete with actors, extensive lighting equipment and full audio-visual tech crews. Inside the Hell House, tour guides dressed as demons take visitors from room to room to view depictions of school massacres, date rape, AIDS-related deaths, fatal drunk driving crashes, and botched abortions. Hell Houses have now spread to hundreds of churches worldwide. With full access to the behind-the-scenes action, Hell House follows the process from the first script meeting until the last of the 10,000 visitors passes through the Hell House doors. The movie gives a verite window into the whole process of creating this over-the-top sermon, while showing an intimate portrait of the people who fervently believe its message. The film also features a score by Bubba and Matthew Kadane, formerly of the band Bedhead." Specs: 90 minutes, color, 16mm, 1.33:1 (original ratio); NTSC format, region 0.

NICHOLS & RICK CHARNOSKI, COAN: Northwest DVD (PLEX 009 DVD). $21.00

"The new film by Rick Charnoski and Coan Nichols, creators of the renowned pool-skating documentary, Fruit Of The Vine. In their latest real-life road movie, Nichols and Charnoski focus their super-8mm lenses on hand-sculpted concrete skate parks and the skaters who build and ride them, while making friends, visiting old ones, and wreaking havoc across the Pacific Northwest. Skateparks to drain pipes, transition is key: camp out, wake up, skate. Capturing the lifestyle of DIY skateboarders who 'create their own reality', the characters write their own visual short stories of what it means to live the life of a full-hearted skateboarder. The pace and understated aesthetic of the cinematography help the audience begin translating the terrain on their own." Specs: 84 minutes, color/black & white, 1.33:1 (original ratio); NTSC format, region 0.

RA, SUN: Space Is The Place DVD (PLEX 010 DVD). $21.00

Directed by John Coney. "Science fiction, blaxploitation, cosmic free-jazz and radical race politics combine when Sun Ra returns to earth in his music-powered space ship to battle for the future of the black race and offer an 'alter-destiny' to those who would join him. Intentionally created as an homage to the low-budget science fiction films of the 50's and 60's, Space Is The Place became a visual embodiment of Sun Ra's Afro-Egyptian myth of salvation in outer space. The special effects, outrageous plot line and apocalyptic message harmonize with the otherworldly score and a climactic live performance by one of the most innovative and profound groups in jazz history. After having traveled through space in a yellow spaceship propelled by music, Sun Ra finds a planet he believes could serve as a new home for the black race. Returning to earth, he lands in Oakland, California circa 1972 and has to battle The Overseer, played by Ray Johnson (from 1971's Dirty Harry), a supernatural villain exploiting the black people. The Overseer, the FBI, and NASA — who are after Ra's Black Space Program — attempt to assassinate Ra, who escapes into space with his followers before the destruction of Earth. Cosmic blaxploitation cum sociological critique, Space Is The Place defies categorization. It is at once a platform for Sun Ra's radical racial philosophies, an indictment of the government's policies in Vietnam-era U.S., cult camp flick, sci-fi movie and concert film with unforgettable performances by the Intergalactic Solar Arkestra. Since its extremely limited release in 1974 — the film played very briefly in San Francisco and New York — Space Is The Place has become an underground legend spoken about but never seen, and if so, in poorly dubbed bootlegs or in the severely adulterated 1992 VHS version. Plexifilm is proud to present Space Is The Place for the first time in its original uncut form." Original Director's Cut with over 20 minutes of restored footage, never-before-seen home movies of the Arkestra in Egypt, deluxe booklet with liner notes by Sun Ra biographer John Szwed, introduction by Sonic Youth's Thurston Moore. 82 minutes, color, 16mm, 1.78:1 (original ratio), NTSC format, region 0.

THEY MIGHT BE GIANTS: Gigantic (A Tale of Two Johns) DVD (PLEX 011 DVD). $21.00

"Welcome to the surreal and poetic planet of They Might Be Giants, the Brooklyn-based musical duo of John Flansburgh and John Linnell, who have spent the past twenty years crafting their singular alt-pop style — cerebral, dark and humorous. Embracing the Do-It-Yourself ethos of true independent artists, They Might Be Giants has followed a unconventional path to cult stardom — from John and John's first meeting in a Lincoln, Massachusetts grade school through the East Village performance art scene of the early '80s to their 2002 Grammy Award — aided by stunning, low-budget music videos, trailblazing use of the internet and a truly groundbreaking utilization of the telephone answering machine. Gigantic (A Tale of Two Johns) is a comprehensive chronicle of the band's 20-year history, told through performance, animation, videos and hilarious commentaries from friends and fans."

MORRISON, BILL: Decasia: The State of Decay DVD (PLEX 012 DVD). $21.00

"Decasia: The State of Decay is Bill Morrison's moving avant-garde visual symphony, which sets decaying archival film footage to an original symphonic score by Bang On A Can co-founder Michael Gordon. Created by award-winning avant-garde director Bill Morrison, Decasia was edited entirely from found film footage left in archives that had decayed over time. The severe emulsion deterioration reveals the film stock in its basic chemical form and the images are stripped to their most primitive emotional state. The film was shaped to Michael Gordon's moving symphony performed by the 55-piece Basel Sinfonietta. The soundtrack is decaying itself: Gordon took the orchestra to musical extremes by detuning the instruments and using prepared pianos to further emphasize the powerful hallucinatory visual experience. Decasia finds its inspiration in such sources as Godfrey Reggio's Koyaanisqatsi (1982), Peter Delpout's Lyrical Nitrate (1991) as well as the work of experimental filmmakers Peggy Ahwesh and Bradley Eros." Specs: NTSC all regions, 67 minutes, b&w, 35mm, 1.33:1 (original ratio).

LEO & THE PHARMACISTS, TED: Dirty Old Town DVD (PLEX 013DVD). $21.00

"Dirty Old Town is a day in the life of Ted Leo, with his band the Pharmacists, as he descends on Coney Island, NY to play at the 3rd Annual Siren Music Festival. Director Justin Mitchell (Songs for Cassavetes takes a deeper look at the man behind the praised albums Tyranny of Distance and Hearts of Oak (Lookout! Records). Ted Leo mixes his punk politics, intricate songwriting and blistering guitar work and spits them out as earnest catchy-as-hell rock."

MAYSLES, ALBERT AND DAVID: 5 Films about Christo & Jeanne-Claude 3DVD (PLEX 014DVD). $48.00

"Announcing our most elaborate DVD release yet: a deluxe three-DVD box set of five award-winning films by pioneering filmmakers Albert and David Maysles, documenting the art projects of environmental artists Christo and Jeanne-Claude. Five Films About Christo & Jeanne-Claude represents a 30-year collaboration, and includes the Academy Award-nominated Christo's Valley Curtain (1974), Running Fence (1978), Islands (1986), Christo In Paris (1990) and Umbrellas (1995). The films have been digitally remastered with new transfers supervised by Albert Maysles, along with new video interviews, feature commentary on all five films by Christo, Jeanne-Claude and Albert Maysles, and an 82-page full-color book featuring photos, drawings and essays." NTSC All-region; 282 mins.; 1.33:1 Aspect Ratio; Full Screen; Dolby Digital sound

GALAXIE 500: Don't Let Our Youth Go to Waste 1987-1991 2DVD (PLEX 015DVD). $24.00

"Don't Let Our Youth Go To Waste is a comprehensive visual document spanning the history of Galaxie 500. A compendium of all their music videos, a TV appearance, and an archive of over 40 songs performed live, this 2-DVD set includes a performance of an unreleased original song 'Buzz in My Head' and a live version of Jonathan Richman's 'Back in Your Life,' both of which were never recorded or released in any other form. The deluxe booklet contains photos and a new interview with all three members, Dean Wareham, Damon Krukowski and Naomi Yang conducted by Yo La Tengo's James McNew. The first disc contains all four of their videos, directed by friend and photographer Sergio Huidor as well as segments taken from five concerts—from early local performances in Boston to 1990 west coast tour dates—which all came from the band's personal collections. It is rounded out with a performance and interview for UK television, taken at the band's peak in popularity. The second disc, or 'Bootlegs' disc, has two full concerts from 1990: the first in Atlanta and the second in London, both shot by audience members. After receiving tapes by a call-out to fans from around the world, the band curated all the footage and picked what best captured their career." NTSC, all regions DVD; 235 mins., 2 discs, multiple film/video formats, 1.33:1 (original aspect ratio).

BYRNE, DAVID: Ile Aiye (The House of Life) DVD (PLEX 016DVD). $21.00

"Ile Aiye is David Byrne's breathtaking documentary on Candomblé, the African-influenced spirit cult the Bahia region of Brazil. Ile Aiye explores the ways in which Candomblé has influenced the daily life and culture of the people of Brazil in music, art, religion, theater, food, dance, poetry and more. Ile Aiye is not a traditional documentary, but instead uses experimental film techniques, music, and cultural observation to express the life and rituals of Candomblé and the symbolic manifestation of the Orishás, the deities which represent the wide range of natural and spiritual forces. The rhythms of the sacred drums and bells, a dance of spiritual ecstasy, offerings and sacrifices, divination and the visitation of Orishás through trance are all part of the color and life of Candomblé. The music is central to the spirituality of the culture and specific rhythms and dance correspond to the individual Orishás, or deities. The Music in Ile Aiye includes ritual music recorded during ceremonies, popular Brazilian songs influenced by Candomblé, and an original score by David Byrne recorded with Brazilian musicians in New York and Bahia." 51 minutes; 1.33:1 Full Screen; NTSC All Region.

PLEXIMUSIC:

KADANE, MATT & BUBBA: Music from the film Hell House CD (PLXM 003CD). $9.50

"Matt and Bubba Kadane are the collaborative force behind the now legendary band Bedhead (Trance Syndicate), and their recent incarnation The New Year (Touch and Go). Their music has always had a cinematic quality that lends itself perfectly to their first original film score for Hell House, directed by George Ratliff. The film is an in-depth look at a religious community and the house of horrors they create each year to depict modern day evils such as abortion, drug use and date rape, and how these sins will send you to hell unless you choose salvation. Hell Houses have now spread to hundreds of churches around the country. Recorded by Steve Albini at Electrical Audio Studios in Chicago, Music from the Film Hell House is an all-new instrumental EP of haunting melodies and shimmering guitars."

PLINKITY PLONK (NETHERLANDS):

BEEQUEEN: Gund CD (PLINK 11 CD). $15.00

"A final dig in the vaults for the Beequeen, Gund is now available as a CD on Beequeen's private Plinkity Plonk label and has two recordings for two vinyl projects. The first four pieces on the CD were recorded early 1998 for a 12" vinyl single on which these tracks were supposed to be cut at different speeds (16, 33, 45 and 78 RPM). Due to its complexity of pressing this record was never realized. The fifth and sixth track were originally intended to form a 10" album of a most unlikely meeting by Beequeen and MSBR, the well-known Japanese noise act. Based upon a mutual sound exchange, both Beequeen and MSBR worked independently on their pieces. The label that intended to release this, stopped while both bands were still recording. Beequeen finished their piece in 1998 and MSBR decided to do a new piece in 2001. All five Beequeen pieces are Beequeen 'old' style, recorded before their decision to alter their direction in music, but it's probably one of their most refined moments in this style. Gund is released in a limited edition of 500 copies and comes in a gorgeous hand-printed sleeve by Knust, Nijmegen, designed by Meeuw."

FLIM: Holiday Diary CD (PLINK 12). $16.00

"The album is entirely based on field recordings and melody sketches made during Flim's various holidays in 2002. The whole album was put together in a single session on September 15, 2002. The results are beautiful, laid back sketches with a very private and intimate atmosphere. Holiday Diary is released in a limited edition of 500 copies and comes in a gorgeous hand-printed sleeve by Knust, Nijmegen, designed by Meeuw."

DE FABRIEK: Neveleiland CD (PLINK 17). $18.00

"In 1983 Dutch experimental band De Fabriek released their second album Neveleiland on their private label in a limited edition of a few hundred copies. Consisting of two beautiful and delicate sides of story-telling (in the Moluccan and Icelandic language) set in a droney, outer world landscape, the album was a landmark in the history of Dutch experimental music. Influenced by the Residents (circa Eskimo) and Conrad Schnitzler, this album has a somber electronic sound in which the stories become alive. One story is about a young moluccan soldier who came in 1951 to Holland with his family. On this record he is telling the story of Indonesia that became independent at that time, whilst the other story is about a farmer living high up in the mountains of Iceland. He is living his life slowly day after day till one day two witches are coming and destroy his life. So the story say Neveleiland sold out quickly and has remained a closely guarded secret for over 20 years. Now Plinkity Plonk records is very proud indeed to present you this amazing album, remastered from the original tapes in the usual gorgeous carton Plinkity Plonk cover."

GIRLFRIENDS: Flora 7" (PLONK 08). $8.00

"At the time of recording, Girlfriends were a four piece group, two guitars, one bass and drums. They play instrumental rock music, influenced by thirty years of sonic explorations. They have been coined as post rock - oh well."

THE BEAUTIFUL GLASSBOTTOM BOAT: Wild Geese Fly With The Moon On Their Wings 7" (PLONK 09). $8.50

"Brunnen is dead — long live The Beautiful Glassbottom Boat. From the more musical half of Beethoven, Freek Kinkelaar presents two dreamy pieces of organ playing, tinkling bells and environmental recordings."

FRIEBAND: See Play b/w At Night 7" (PLONK 10). $8.50

"Among the many names used by Frans de Waard, Freiband is his latest and this is the second release after the well-received 'Microbes' CD on Ritornell. Both pieces take his interest in crackling laptop musics further. The a-side is to be understood as remix of some well known dinosaur rock group and the b-side could very well be a remix of material recorded at the rehearsal of the Beethoven/Girlfriends concert, but heavily processed."

PANHUYSEN, PAUL: A magic square of 5 to look at and A magic square of 5 to... CD (PLONK 15). $18.00

"...listen to". "This work is a composition in two parts. The same magic square is transposed in two versions. One can be experienced by the eyes, the other one by the ears. A magic square is a series of numbers arranged in a square grid so that the sum of each horizontal and vertical row and of the corner diagonals is always the same. Magic squares reveal harmony of number and refer to the nature of existence and a cosmic order dominated by mathematical regularity. Number is the origin of all things, Pythagoras said, and Boethius said music is numbers made audible. Presented as a room installation, 'A magic square of 5 to look at' is a floorpiece of 5 x 5 m, and 'A magic square of 5 to listen to' can be heard through a quadrasonic sound system, performing the four staffs of the score independently, starting about 5 seconds after each other. The audience moves around the floorpiece in the space. Panhuysen (1934) is an internationally recognised artist. Best known for his site-specific long string installations all over the world, he also is involved in systematic visual art. Calculus links his visual and sound art together. Furthermore he has been the artistic director of Het Apollohuis for about 2 decades."

LEGENDARY PINK DOTS, THE: Crushed Mementos CD (PLONK 16). $18.00

"The Legendary Pink Dots recorded some of their best work for compilation and private tapes in the early 1980's. These tapes have now long gone and the material, as included on this disc, has been unavailable for many years. You will most likely never hear the Dots sounding so intense as on the original version of 'Close you eyes, you can be a spacecaptain' or so experimental as on 'Premonition 15' or on 'March', which has been unavailable for over 20 years. Also included is the long-deleted 23-minute track 'The People Tree' and one of their most abstract and beautiful songs 'The Punchline'. Packed in a in the usual gorgeous carton Plinkity Plonk cover."

PLONG (GERMANY):

LE DUST SUCKER: Le Dust Sucker 2LP (PLONG 012LP). $16.00

"Here's Le Dust Sucker's debut album release! Take the last two 12"s on Plong and multiplate it with 2, and you'll get an idea of the dancefloor energy this album has to offer. Incomprehensible 'heavy-disco' album from the crew that chanted 'Mandate My Ass!'"

OSTER, ANDREAS: Travelog 12" (PLONG 03). $9.00

"Crazy rockin' slightly psychedelic housetracks from Cologne."

LE DUST SUCKER: Love Me 12" (PLONG 09). $9.00

"Tune of the week. Mean & superheavy futuristic housebomb to make you screeaaaaa."

ILAR, ANDERS: Rendthree EP 12" (PLONG 11). $9.00

"Anders Ilar is domiciled in Gothenburg / Sweden. 'Rendthree' is his third release on Plong!. He early starts handling with electronic equipment. He is one of the guys who are standing sometimes at the streets recording the noises of broken cross walk controls, or who name their labels Pinesky, which I first didn't combine as Pine Sky, so someone could suppose that not only ( broken ) electronic environment but also nature has influence on his music. Anders Ilar also has releases on Shitkatapult and Audio.nl."

PLOP (JAPAN):

GEL: Dolce CD (PLIP 3008CD). $16.00

"Dolce (a word for 'softness' in Italian) is his second album under this alias and you can hear influences from post-classical music but something totally different. He recalls this album as his most delicate work ever using many live instruments like acoustic guitars and piano. The recorded instruments are processed and combined with electronic tones and glitches in his laptop and stirred up and arranged over and over. The results are melodic layers flowing with constant changes disrupted into chaos and on and on to another scenery... Incredibly dense tracks full of numerous colorful fragments."

SORA: re.sort CD (PLIP 3009CD). $16.00

"Sora is the alias of Takeshi Kurosawa from Kyoto, Japan. (the city of great tradition where all the temples are...) Sora means 'sky' and also the key's 'G' (so) & 'A' (ra) in Japanese. He grew up playing the piano and began to create music by digital samplers from early 90's being influenced by the 'intelligent techno' scene lead by the Warp label. He's talent revealed soon by participating in England's General Productions (GPR) label compilation under his real name. After making tracks for several compilations and music for Issey Miyake's new fashion brand Tenalys, this is his first full album Re.sort. Re.sort is a beautiful combination of digital glitches & warm analog sounds and they are constructed by using various techniques like cut-ups, field recordings, sampling from bossa nova & jazz records etc... His arrangements are really unique and original (almost every loops are slightly different!) but sophisticated keeping the tender & pleasant atmosphere full of heart-warming melodies."

PLUG RESEARCH:

VA: Plug Research & Development CD (PR 010 CD). $13.00

Very happening compilation of experimental techno from this CA-based label, their first full length album, from late '97. For fans of post-Autechre, Skam, A-Musik, etc. This label has probably suffered a bit in terms of under-exposure due to a) their US address (tremendously uncool) and b) by pressing their records in quantities large enough to find (first rule of IDM:

you can't want a record until you can't find it). " Soft soundscapes to more abrasive textures, and listening to dance oriented pieces. Unapologetically esoteric and uncompromising. Each track exemplifies a different direction of electronic music. Artists include Mike Paridinas, Jamie Hodge, OST, Low Res, Beautyon, Ken Ishi, Kim Rapatti, Lustmord, John Tejada, Phthalocyanine, Mannequin Lung, r.e.a.l.m, and Trash Aesthetic." Limited stock

LOW RES: Approximate Love Boat CD (PR 015 CD). $12.00

Low Res is Danny Zelonyk and this is his debut album, a record that should stand as one of the finest American electronic documents for some time. "Packed with swinging grooves, beautifully fractured melodies, and indescribable sonic textures, Approximate Love Boat is extremely musical and listenable, yet owes virtually nothing to today's techno genre. According to the artist is inspired by 'mistaken alien interpretations of Earth music'. Echoes of African polyrhythms, jazz, classical and electro-acoustic music, 'field hollers' (slave chants), hip hop, nursery rhymes and, yes, even American techno are everywhere in this work, but only as starting points for highly original reinventions by the masterful Mr. Low Res."

MR. HAZELTINE/DIVINE STYLER/MR. MOTO: Plug Research Split 10" Vol. 1 10" (PR 020). $8.00

"On the 1997 Plug Research release The Art of Travel by Mannequin Lung, a very interesting remix closed the album. The track, 'City Lights' was redesigned by the masterful Mr. Hazeltine, otherwise known as John Tejada, and the vocal was delivered by the legendary Divine Styler, late of Ice T's Rhyme Syndicate, and the author of several albums under his own name. This popular team is reunited here, and Mr. Styler adds his unique vocal seasonings in the manner which has earned him international acclaim. The track itself might be characterized as reminiscent of retro Chicago House. The other side of this release also features Mr. Hazeltine, this time in collaboration with Mr. Moto, a jazz guitarist with whom he has been working on a post-rock project for upcoming independent release."

CHESSIE & COMPUTER SOUP: Plug Research Split 10" Volume 5 10" (PR 024). $8.00

"Chessie is a project of 24 year-old Arlington, Virginia native Stephen Gardner. Intended as a means to process and relate the physical, emotional, and aesthetic aspects of railways through sound, Gardner, who has worked for various railroads, has produced 2 full-length albums (1997's Signal Series, and 1999's Meet), and a single for the Drop Beat label. 'Lost Not Found' continues this work, and continues to employ analogue tape techniques, acoustic instruments, and sequencer-free recordings. Computer Soup is like a fresh report from the front lines of the electronic jazz wars. Computer Soup's jazz tracks are all live, no programming. It may remind you of Miles Davis' In A Silent Way. But also very electro/techno/ambient. And at the same time, it is none of those. Computer Soup resets the perspective of sound, stimulates you to recognize things you've forgotten, or have failed to notice. These sounds are suitable for a cafe, a club, a street, a museum and, of course, a bedroom."

DOWER, JEREMY: Sentimental Dance Music For Couples 2LP (PR 025 LP). $15.00

"The debut album by Australia's Jeremy Dover. Somehow crafting an impossible marriage between the steely aesthetic of SND on Mille Plateaux and the quirky jazz-dub hipsterism of Amon Tobin, Dower's Sentimental Dance Music for Couples is eleven tracks of glitch music without the glitches. Filled with emotional, pleading refrains, this in an album of an entirely new form of robotic bebop. Possessing warped, synthetic saxophones channeled from a space-age Coltrane and Cannonball, it's like Louis Armstrong conducting a fleet of mid-20th century IBM supercomputers. This is lounge music for the Mir space station, or a club in downtown Berlin."

VA: Intermission CD (PR 026 CD). $14.50

"Intermission is like a high speed slide show, flashing snapshots of electronic music in its various exciting forms, simultaneously fresh, yet familiar. Astounding selections from reknowned and hard-to-find artists assembled with taste and respect for today's busy lifestyles exclusively by the reknowned Plug Research team. Exclusive tracks from Move D, Roman Flugel, Thomas Fehlman. Astonishing debut of MVFS (Phthalocyanine and Crank). US up and comers Safety Scissors, Unagi Patrol, Tenants. Plug Research has once again scoured the planet in search of music to please the endorphin-producing regions of your brain. Driving while using this product is not advised, as you may be overwhelmed with a variety of primal emotions and moods. Among the exciting talent included in this must-have collection."

SAFETY SCISSIONS: Either Or EP 12" (PR 027). $8.00

"Matthew Curry (Safety Scissors), gives us a taste of his upcoming album Parts Water with his debut single, 'Either Or' for Plug Research. On Side A, he delivers a swinging rhythmic house track, consisting of trademark Safety Scissors vocals, entitled 'Before'. Then we are treated to an electronic west coast, DSP, Hip Hop, instrumental remix by the one and only, Mr. Smyglyssna. If that doesn't satisfy your expectations, you are then welcomed to a funky electrotec track leading you back to the early 80's breaking era."

SAFETY SCISSIONS: Parts Water CD (PR 028 CD). $14.50

"In the glass on the bedside table and in the boundless bodies covering the earth, water permeates us and our world. I suppose this is why it is the metaphor we all know and love. A meaningful subject we can drink, cook with, swim in, bathe in and more. The music presented here is meant to function in the same way. The boundary between 'artist' and 'geek' is fine, yet frequently unacknowledged or concealed by overzealous intellectuals. MPC (i.e., Safety Scissors) does little to hide his social awkwardness in the quirky techno he produces and performs. If anything, he would rather admit to being a geek than to being an 'artist' or a 'musician'. Anonymity is much more interesting. Although he is the ultimate dork debonair, MPC does not over-obsess with the computing process. Singing on his latest works for Force Tracks and Plug Research, MPC experiments with camp techno. He uses these vocal elements on his Debut album Parts Water for Plug Research Records. MPC has an abstract and clumsy approach to making music and distinguishes himself from the intellectualism of abstract/minimal techno. The proud drop-out of the art school establishment pursues neither expressions of unmediated human feeling found in Abstract Expressionism or regimented lines of sturture in minimalism. Rather, with subtlety and smoothness, he references both in his unique sense of sarcasm."

SAFETY SCISSIONS: Parts Water 2LP (PR 028 LP). $14.50

Double LP version.

SOULO: CD (PR 030 CD). $14.50

"Soulo levitate from a point on the horizon and land on our step. Not to say that Soulo is courageous. Soulo is inward reflective rock — unsteady. A discrepancy worth noting is that Soulo illuminates what kind of musical terrain they go at with equipment and habits appropriated from ye olde rock, and its predecessors. With guitar/bass/percussion for a skeleton, and melody as prime fluid, Soulo make electric songs like a whale-oil torch illuminating the future. Soulo's music is too discreet to be rock, too jamming to be ambient and too eventual to be the blues. But you could use any title from the Jimi Hendrix song book to name any given Soulo track. Wind Cried Mary 3rd Stone from the Sun etc. That would make the Krauts happy. And that would make Soulo happy."

CHESSIE: Overnight CD (PR 031 CD). $14.50

"Somewhere between asleep and awake there is a suspended dream state where sounds float and pulsate, where you can no longer trust your senses. Chessie is the soundtrack to this special place. Over the course of three albums, Chessie's Stephen Gardner and Ben Bailes have plumbed a swirling, indistinct realm of sonic abstraction with influences ranging from the Beach Boys to My Bloody Valentine and Satie. Inspired by the sounds of railways, their work has blended electro-acoustic production techniques, live playing and non-sequenced electronics in an effort to capture the spirit and emotion of rail travel. The propulsive, inexorable clank of steel on track forms the rhythmic backbone of the Chessie compositions, and makes a particularly American counterpart to the motorik rhythms of much post-Kraftwerk music."

CHESSIE: Overnight 2LP (PR 031 LP). $14.50

Double vinyl version.

DNTel: Life Is Full Of Possibilities CD (PR 032 CD). $14.50

Repressed and available again! "Dntel aka Jimmy Tamborello comforts himself by combining melancholy melodies with an assortment of electronic production styles, as well as enlisting friends to add vocals and guitar on some tracks. The results range from Timbaland-inspired minimal techno to pop songs buried in static, cut-up acoustic guitars, sampled symphonies struggling to find somewhere to settle, found sound and blissed-out drones. Dntel's debut album Life Is Full Of Possibilities includes vocal contributions from Chris Gunst (Beachwood Sparks, ex-Strictly Ballroom), Mia Doi Todd (City Zen Records), Meredith Figurine (Figurine), Rachel Haden (ex-That Dog), and Benjamin Gibbard (Death Cab For Cutie), plus guitar by Paul Larson (Athalia, ex-Strictly Ballroom) and Brian McMahan (The For Carnation, ex-Slint)."

DAEDELUS: Invention CD (PR 034 CD). $14.50

"Caught between myth and reality, past and future, Daedelus produces his sonic mazes from a studio deep in Santa Monica, California. Crafting his waxen wings from a background in live instruments, he began as a boy noodling bass clarinet notes, and soon graduated into the covenant of double-bass. After his ill-fated affair pondering classical and jazz, rave paved the way, and a burgeoning record collection fuelled his artistic creativity as he prepared the path to his first full length release Invention. With 30ies, 40ies and 70ies inspired grooves, Daedelus gradually begins to venture into the L.A. afterdark, by defying genres such as downtempo and hip hop. The music on Invention combines multiple instruments, including non-traditional ones such as computer printers, toy pianos, and the techno harp known as the Omnichord. He also invites local MC talents Busdriver and Sach to flow over two masterful tracks. Invention unfolds in dynamic ranges of emotion — Open your ears to Daedelus' world of musical tinkering and you'll be walking faster, seeing clearer and feeling deeper."

DAEDELUS: Invention LP (PR 034 LP). $11.00

LP version.

TEJADA, JOHN: Daydreams In Cold Weather CD (PR 035 CD). $14.50

"With a discography of over 50 releases to date, there is always an interest in the Tejada sound. Daydreams In Cold Weather is the follow up album to Backstock, which was released on Defocus Records in 2000. Mr. Tejada begins his journey into the emotions of sound, which he masterfully creates while using warm synth washes and funky off-the-wall rhythms. John Tejada's music takes you on a journey where you can actually feel his artistic expression in his production. The album is signature John Tejada, composed of gorgeous sounds layered with elaborate rhythms. From the outset of the album you will begin to hear heartwarming electro, witty and breathtaking electronica, and an assortment of nostalgic and intimate melodies. Mr. Tejada has also invited long time friend, Mo Wax recording artist Divine Styler to join him on 'The Silence Of Us' an exclusive hip hop / electronic hybrid."

TEJADA, JOHN: Daydreams In Cold Weather 2LP (PR 035 LP). $14.50

Double vinyl version.

DNTel: (This Is) The Dream Of Evan And Chan CD (PR 036 CD). $8.00

"This is the second single from Dntel's critically acclaimed album Life Is Full Of Possibilities with vocals by Ben Gibbard (Death Cab For Cutie). Up-tempo fractured beats make this the closest thing to a pop song you'll find on the album. The original version appears here for the first time on vinyl and is joined by four remixes. Safety Scissors, enlists the help of Erlend Øye from Norway (Kings Of Convenience) to rewrite and re-sing the entire song, Barbara Morgenstern turns it into a duet, Kompakt recording artist Superpitcher makes this into an anthem for this summers outdoor festivities, and Lali Puna (members of The Notwist) take the vocals out altogether and add their own melancholy melodies."

LOW RES: Blue Ramen CD (PR 037 CD). $14.50

"Low Res aka Danny Zelonky from Milwaukee/US has pulled off the impossible! Capturing the vibrance and immediacy of improvisationally-composed music as played by an amazing ensemble but without the benefit of players, instruments, or microphones! Low Res imagined an ensemble, perhaps a time and place, and most certainly a music. Then, in an unprecedented achievement, he rendered all of this within the walls of a common electronic music studio. Unbound to reality, this imagined ensemble accelerates and tumbles into unknown realms of post-human music-making, and in the process stakes a claim as the best (ok, the only) non-existent composer's orchestra working in 2002! Stylistically, we hear echoes of jazz, 'blaxploitation' soundtracks, nuyorican salsa, bawdy stripper music, free jazz, and lots of bits which can best be described simply as Low Res moments. Blue Ramen with its nine tracks is 'a whole new category of shit' as only Plug Research can present!"

LOW RES: Blue Ramen LP (PR 037 LP). $12.00

MEANEST MAN CONTEST: Merit CD (PR 038 CD). $14.50

"Meeting Meaneast Man Contest is like shaking hands with a newborn cloud. Their compositions unfold and bloom before wide-open ears. Ever growing shapes elevate from simple states. Tones roll out layers for crackling drums to bounce on. Words streams burst the surface to bless dry speakers. Undulating syncopation reconstructs the unexpected. Merit is floating abstraction grounded in strong urban influence. Meaneast Man Contest is based in the fog shrouded music hotbed of Oakland, California. The secret duo unveiled are: Quarterbar (beats) and Eriksolo (vocals). Merit is a drunken jazz serenade. Sound silhouettes filtered through smoky shafts of light. Don't be fooled by the sway & wobble. Meaneast Man Contest punch out lights with heavy drum swings. Creaky organs wail from floor cracks, rhythms ride skyward on glistening guitar strings, and cymbal-spun ceiling fans keep it cool. Meaneast Man Contest offer a newflash for fans of DJ Vadim, DJ Krush, and Prefuse 73."

MEANEST MAN CONTEST: Merit LP (PR 038 LP). $12.00

Vinyl LP version.

SOULO: Man, The Manipulator CD (PR 039 CD). $14.50

"This time around they blossom in a wide, spatial wall of sound. Psychedelic rock, bluegrass, and avant-garde electronic are micro-mixed into hypnotic tapestries. An orchestra of French horn, clarinet, banjo, flute, and trombone make the mix rich. Drums crunch in line with bleeping blips as violins drip sweet nothings into open ears. Think the glacial crescendos of Sigur Ros, cosmic rock of the Flaming Lips, and the hyper eclecticism of the Beta Band. Guest-musicians include John Tejada, Jussi Lehtisalo of Finnish band Circle and Pharaoh Overload and Ted Casterline of NY's Krakotoa. Co-mixed by Scott Benzel who has worked with Jon Spencer Blues Explosion, Calexico and Fat Possum Records."

DAEDELUS: The Quiet Party CD (PR 040 CD). $12.00

"The Quiet Party EP sees immense talents reworking classic compositions from Daedelus' genre-blurring album Invention. Madlib straps on his Yesterdays New Quintet helmet to reshuffle 'Playing Parties'. Drums billow smoke screens into illuminated jazz dreams. Madlib then unleashes dynamite charged boom bap bonus beats with blasts of Stevie Wonder keyboard bars. Anti Pop Consortium's musical mainframe High Priest reworks 'Muggle Born' into an epiphany of electro bounce. Chimes spread ears wide open to the awareness of new sound as Priest exclaims battle cries of underground integrity. 'Girls' is the anthem for an endless summer spent halfway between humpback whale watching and tight jean disco dancing. Abstract Rude and Busdriver outline the search for a perfect girl and the romantic notions it takes to set her mood in motion. Daedelus' mic star Busdriver is featured on the album track 'Quiet Now'. This ballad leaps into a new territory of robotic love songs in a hip hop mode. The CD version closes with the unabashedly adventurous bonus tune 'A Touch Of Spring'. Daedelus and friends sweep mental break-dancing circles clean with variations on wholly unique musical themes."

CAMPING: Suburban Shore CD (PR 042CD). $12.00

"Camping is German Bossa Nova recorded in Washington, DC featuring the indie darlings, Chessie. Is it an oddity? Yes, a delicious mutant engineered to startle ears and electrify curiosities. The shining spirit behind Camping is German musician, Henning Fritzenwalder. His voice flows with the lyrical coo of Bossa Nova father Joao Gilberto. Language barriers crumble as melodies rise. Vocals soar with understated sophistication evoking warm breezes. Henning enlisted friends Stephen Gardner and Ben Bailes to color the sound complete. The American duo, known for making railway inspired sound waves as Chessie, spread the instrumental palette while refining the essence. The cornerstones of Bossa Nova stand tall. Drums, guitar, and voices shine with soul while abstract elements fly into the mix. 1960's Brazil tuned in by a time traveling radio. Short-wave crackles and static frame the shuffling glow. Camping is an excursion into fantasies conjured by sizzling rhythms and sparkling chords. The heat of Brazil is reflected through DC's humidity."

ADVENTURE TIME: Dreams of Water Themes CD (PR 043 CD). $16.00

"Adventure Time is the new sound for hip shaking sea floors. Daedelus and Frosty have weaved an album of swirling soul sure to spin heads. Dreams Of Water Themes features heavyweight vocal talent such as Pigeon John of hip hop collective LA Symphony, internationally acclaimed poet Saul Williams, and the mysteriously sublime Sagajawea."

ADVENTURE TIME: Dreams of Water Themes LP (PR 043 LP). $14.00

LP version.

DAEDELUS: Of Snowdonia CD (PR 044CD). $14.00

"Daedelus, the electronic experimentalist and celebrated underground DJ, is back with his second full-length album for Plug Research, entitled Of Snowdonia. The follow-up to the critically acclaimed Invention, Of Snowdonia takes the introspective themes and subtle evocations of dramatic scenery from his Plug Research debut and expands the palate to include even more majestic melodies, musical song structures and fidgety, visceral rhythms that defines his unique compositions. The perfect melding of organic and analog orchestration, Daedelus has created a musical realm that reflects the antiquated desolation of the Kingdom of Wales, based on his own perception and experiences. Snowdon, an actual mountain in Wales and the highest peak in the U.K., gradually builds to a shale-covered summit amidst the flat, graying landscape of the countryside. In this context the mountain becomes a reference point for the hopeless romantic, lovelorn and wandering amongst the melodies and blue structures that populate Of Snowdonia."

AMMONCONTACT: Sounds Like Everything CD (PR 045 CD). $14.50

"Ammon Contact is Los Angeles super producer Carlos Nino and bedroom beatmaker Fabian Ammon Alston. Enter: Sounds Like Everything, the 20 track debut mega album that is as fresh and focused as you can get. The guts of the album consists of funky-electro-organic beats with flowing melodies, beautiful harmonies and boomin' bass lines, if you're a DJ that loves unique instrumental hip hop in your set for some freaked out flavor, make sure you carry this record in your box."

AMMONCONTACT: Sounds Like Everything LP (PR 045 LP). $9.00

LP version.

MILOSH: You Make Me Feel CD (PR 046CD). $12.00

"Mike Milosh (Toronto, Canada) makes optimistic music for pessimistic times on his debut album. His melodic, electronic masterpieces are like blossoms unfolding in darkness. Even those songs seeded in sadness are lined with bright hope. He's erased his classical music training in favor of unique self-construction. Throughout the album, light tones and static-clad drums roll under intricately treated vocals. His voice floats in on delicate waves that explode into exhilarating being."

MILOSH: You Can Make Me Feel LP (PR 046LP). $11.00

LP version.

LANGUIS: The Four Walls CD (PR 047CD). $11.00

"Their fifth album, The Four Walls shows how much the guys have grown musically from their last album, Unithematic. In previous albums, Languis combined live instrumentation with electronic music, always placing a stronger emphasis on the latter. In The Four Walls, a stronger balance between the two mediums is established, placing an increasing focus on the use of live drums, guitars and vocals. The track 'Never Now' is a perfect example of where Languis has taken it's sound, mixing subtle electronic elements, with the music you might have heard from The Stone Roses, Joy Division or New Order in the 80's. The music of Languis conceives mental images via melodies and moods. They construct sonic sounds that interact, much like color and shape evolve and dissolve in paintings. Their melodic warmth is a signature that they developed through songwriting and experimentation in the studio."

VA: In The Loop: 1 12" (PR 048EP). $6.50

"In The Loop represents the next phase in Dublab's constantly blooming sonic spectrum. Each 12" compilation showcases four rising musical talents. With creative input from the Labrat DJ's, In The Loop crystallizes Dublab future roots radio programming. These are all A sides. As the needle travels, discover new waves of genre transforming talent. Explore the four top-notch, previously unreleased tunes on volume 1." Featured artists: Dntel (Postal Service mix), Caural, Ellay Khule (Nobody, Omid), Camping.

HEADSET: Space Settings CD (PR 050CD). $14.50

"Produced by Jimmy Tamborello (Dntel, The Postal Service) and Allen Avanesian, with additional production by Daedelus, John Tejada and Thomas Fehlmann (The Orb). Guest appearances by Beans (Anti Pop Consortium), Subtitle, Non-GENETIC, Sach, Metalogic, Rocmon and Lady Dragon."

PLUS 8 (CANADA):*FALSE: Untitled 12" (PLUS 8081). $6.00

"Ann Arbor's False (Matthew Dear) delivers volume two of tech-house flare on Plus 8."

FALSE: Beginner's Luck 12" (PLUS 8082). $6.00

"After a string of critically acclaimed releases for the Ghostly International and Spectral Sound labels, Ann Arbor, Michigan's False (aka Matthew Dear) closes up his trilogy of three singles for Plus 8 with the sizzling Beginner's Luck. Beginner's Luck nabs Dear's chunky approach to minimal tech-hop with an additive element of vocal hiccups, clackety percussion and random bleep melody. His basslines continue to impress, driving his shifty beats and panned accents into a sole sound ala False."

FALSE: False CD (PLUS 8083 CD). $13.50

"As false, Matthew Dear delves into a similar plunderphonic territory of hard grooves filled with deep textures, sampled vocals, and warped, squelchy synths. But this isn't just some nose-deep-in-Powerbook, chin-scratching audio collage of blips and clicks. false occupies that tight space between abstract techno and straight up, four-on-the-floor mayhem that will have subwoofers, dancers and academics straining to keep it all together. Matthew Dear was first introduced on the Spectral Sound label from the Ghostly International family, gaining the attention of Plus 8 by his hard working attitude as a DJ and producer and all around seriousness to his music. Not one to sit for long, he has a new single out this spring under the name Jabberjaw for Berlin's esteemed Perlon label. Of the false philosophy, Dear comments, 'All of our actions and thoughts [are] mere reactions of the molecular world. Therefore, our emotions could only be chemical reactions to the physical universe and are not ours at all but only a piece of the larger scheme. They are false. We are false'."

DREAMLIFE: Dreamlife 12" (PLUS 8084). $6.50

"Woody McBride's return to form this past year is more than welcome. He holds a list of legendary acid techno releases to his name from his production start back in the early 1990's and has recorded for labels such as Communique, Bush, Drop Bass and many more. Dreamlife is his first release for Plus 8. 'DreamLife' is a scorching techno rally, full of attitude and driving rhythms. The flipside is backed with two tracks co-produced by Joe Manu (aka DJ Hyperactive) from 4trak Records in Los Angeles."

TESTE: The Wipe 12" (PLUS 8085). $6.50

Reissue of the 1992 techno classic 12". "In 1992 two Canadians captured a stirring moment in techno, uniquely harnessing the inner power of their machines into the haunting edge of 'The Wipe'. Easily recognized by its flanging hi-hats and the warm analog sub harmonics of the TB-303, 'The Wipe' is unmistakably a track with the means of escape on a dancefloor. The production duo of Himadri and Huren (aka Teste) have been pushing avant-garde electronic music forward since 1991 working as Teste, Turph, Perceptons and their own names individually for labels such as Switch and Zhark. 'The Wipe' was originally released in 1992 on Probe Records (a Plus 8 off-shoot label created by Richie Hawtin & John Acquaviva) and has been out of print since the late 1990's. From the start 'The Wipe' was an instant classic within Detroit's fertile underground scene of the early 1990's, having a massive impact at Plus 8's legendary events. Its dark moody tone and relentless bassline quickly became an underground anthem in techno corners around the globe. From the first time he played it out in a set Richie Hawtin recalls it as, 'still the only track to this day that sounds like it's physically ripping through a sound system'."

PLUS 8 CLASSICS (CANADA):*SPEEDY J: Something For Your Mind/Pullover/Remixes 12" (PLUS 8009). $6.00

"Born in 1990 by Richie Hawtin and John Acquaviva, Plus 8 Records continues to move forward in 'Phase II' of the label. Known for pushing electronic music forward, Plus 8 debuted artists such as Speedy J, Kenny Larkin, Daniel Bell, Ken Ishii and Plastikman. With the original catalog (Phase I) having been out of print since 1997, we are proud to announce the re-release of a select few titles, newly remastered from the original tapes along with new label designs." "Two classic techno gems are back in circulation from Rotterdam's Jochem Paap, who continues to record and push the limits today still as Speedy J. 4 mixes total. Originally released by Plus 8 in 1991."

PLASTIKMAN: Sheet One 2LP (PLUS 8028). $12.00

"Critically one of the most revered electronic albums of the 1990's, Sheet One took techno closer to the edge with its synthetic beats and atmosphere. The debut Plastikman album that started it all, originally released by Plus 8 in 1993."

PLASTIKMAN: Recycled Plastik 12" (PLUS 8032). $6.00

"Spaz b/w Naturalistik. Two percussive rollercoasters. Originally released by Plus 8 in 1994."

PLASTIKMAN: Krakpot 12" (PLUS 8033). $6.00

"Krakpot b/w Elektrostatik. Stripped to the essentials of rhythm & basslines. Originally released by Plus 8 in 1993."

PLASTIKMAN: Plastique 12" (PLUS 8041). $6.00

"Plastique (full mix) b/w Ethnik, Frek. Single from the second Plastikman album, 'Musik' originally released by Plus 8 in 1994."

PLASTIKMAN: Musik 2LP (PLUS 8043). $12.00

"Written and produced by Richie Hawtin, Musik was originally released in 1994 by Plus 8 Records and NovaMute, featuring the single 'Plastique' (Plus8041R). This second Plastikman album contains a hybrid sound of electro, techno and dub with the effects that still make Hawtin's sound unique today. Its popularity was accelerated by his electric Plastikman live sets during the mid-1990's. This is the first time Musik has been available on vinyl from Plus 8 since 1997, here newly re-mastered."

PLASTIKMAN: Sickness 12" (PLUS 8058). $6.00

"Sickness b/w Panikattack. Mesmerizing two-tracker. Originally released by Plus 8 in 1996."

HAWTIN, RICHIE: 0068 12" (PLUS 8068). $6.00

"Tracks 005 b/w 003, 002. Minimally deep techno from Richie Hawtin, originally released by Plus 8 in 1997."

VA: 1990-1992: Volume One CD (PLUS 8071 CD). $13.50

"Occasionally a record label transcends its function. Far from being merely a provider of music or a collection of disparate artists, it assumes an aesthetic quality, an agenda or belief that enhances and embellishes the end product. It's hard to separate New Order and Factory and similarly difficult to think of Depeche Mode without the Mute connection. However, a label's initial intentions often crumble leaving them as homogenized and sterile as many of today's major players. Plus 8, a label born over ten years ago, the brainchild of two fanatical Canadians, Richie Hawtin and John Acquaviva, never abandoned its militant and single-minded stance. Resolutely independent and fiercely determined, Plus 8 provided a welcoming stable to artists from around the globe, establishing a name for itself as a forward thinking progressive label that refused to pander to whim or fashion...Plus 8 was an inspired label. A futuristic vision brought to life by the drive and enthusiasm of two enlightened Canadians, it's hard to image the history of electronic music in the last decade without Plus 8. It continued to diversify right to the end in an attempt to remain one step ahead of the trailing pack. And this was its strength, it's single-minded approach and refusal to be swayed by fad or fashion marked it out as an individual. Few labels have come near to achieving what Plus 8 achieved in its short history, in seven years it managed to alter the course of electronic music forever. Here's to phase two." Artists on the first volume include: States of Mind, Cybersonic, Psyance, Kenny Larkin, Final Exposure, Speedy J, Fuse, V-Room. Plus an Alan Oldham comic book (PDF on enhanced CD-rom).

VA: Plus 8 Classics 2LP (PLUS 8071 EP). $12.00

"In celebration of the Plus 8 Classic CD releases, a limited edition vinyl double pack of four Classic tracks from the past have been remastered for this special release. Years after their original release, each of these Classics hold continual popularity on the floors and in stores. It's been some time since we've released any of the Plus 8 back catalog on vinyl, so these few gems should be a welcomed return to wax." One track per side, 2x12". Cybersonic: "Technarchy", Speedy J: "Evolution", Fuse: "Substance Abuse", Fuse vs LFO: "Loop".

SPEEDY J: Pullover 12" (PLUS 8071X). $6.00

"Releasing his first projects through Plus 8 and Probe in the early 1990s, Rotterdam's Jochem Paap has built an internationally loyal following with records under his Speedy J moniker. As his records and live sets began to grab attention in the growing techno culture circa 1990-1, Paap released 'Pullover'. The track's infectious simple melody was heard throughout the world, turning heads with its upfront tuning and raw use of just a few drum machines. It was a premonition to the rise of hardcore techno and beyond. For the first time ever, this 'original demo mix' is now being released by Plus 8, on a special edition one-sided single, from the label that delivered the original nearly a decade ago."

VA: 1993-1994: Volume Two CD (PLUS 8074 CD). $13.50

Second volume detailing the seven-year history of Richie Hawtin and John Acquaviva's Plus 8 Records. Artists include: Fuse, Speedy J, Utu, Plastikman, Sysx, Born Under a Rhyming Planet, Himadri. Plus Matthew Hawtin's 'Blue Neuron' (UEG on enhanced CD-Rom).

VA: 1995-1997: Volume Three CD (PLUS 8075 CD). $13.50

"By way of documenting and bringing to a close the end of 'phase one' of its history, Plus 8 Records is releasing the Plus 8 Classics trilogy series. Volume Three features more of the labels successes including Plastikman, Speedy J, The Kooky Scientist and Fuse (aka Ritchie Hawtin) vs (legendary UK techno act) LFO, the album continues to chronicle the labels development from its awkward adolescence through to its celebrated maturity. A near perfect snapshot, highlighting the label and its artists desire to progress far beyond the rigid confines of any given genre, Plus 8 Classics is a series full of far reaching pieces of music." Tracklisting: R Hawtin: "Call It What You Want," Born Under A Rhyming Plane: "Spasm Band", Fuse vs LFO: "Loop", Plastikman: "Panik Attack", Silvershower: "1", The Kooky Scientist: "O.L.D. vs N.E.A.U.", Speedy J: "Pannik", R Hawtin: "005", Theorem: "Mantra One".

TAKSI: Schneesturm 12" (PLUS 8077). $6.00

"Richie Hawtin returns from the studio just in time to usher in the cold months with a remake of the underground techno slammer, 'Schneesturm' from Berlin's Takti Records. 'Schneesturm' (snowstorm in English) is a stronghold of a grinding bassline, fierce pounding beats and sinister rhythms that does more than just 'visit' the dancefloor — it invades it! A product of Richie's (now year-long) use of the Final Scratch digital-vinyl system, his DE9 remix was born from playing out the original track in his sets, layering and effecting it with his DEP (decks, efx & 909) set-up. By stretching the breakdown and adding effects, this remix is insight to now he can tease a dancefloor with certain special tracks that can extend the night into the morning."

PLASTIKMAN: Spastik 12" (PLUS 8078). $6.50

"Written and produced by Richie Hawtin, 'Spastik' was originally released in 1993 by Plus 8 Records. A smash with DJs off the bat, it's playtime on dancefloors around the globe is unimaginable. 'Spastik' is one of few tracks recognized purely by its energy. Its stripped down scheme of just drums and effects continues the minimal ethos that less is more."

FALSE: Warsaw Bread 12" (PLUS 8079). $6.00

"After a string of critically acclaimed releases for the Ghostly International and Spectral Sound labels, Ann Arbor's Matthew Dear arrives on Canadian shores with a triad of tech-house EPs. The 23-year-old Dear has been quietly redesigning the Detroit landscape over the past few years and the time has come for his presence to be felt. His hybrid of live PA/DJ set has been honed to the finest point, playing alongside some of the world's top producers and DJs in clubs throughout the US. His records combine equal parts Basic Channel's minimal funk and Akufen's samplerphonic ethos, treading a fine line between heady armchair listening and phreeked, minimal, four-on-the-floor techno."

POCKETGAME:*VA: North & South 2LP (POCKET 001 LP). $21.00

Double LP in full color gatefold. A collection of the label's favorite artists. Concept: Ambiguity. Artists: Ladytron, Steril, Clay Spoorri, Markus Lange, Maru + Comix, Detune, Carsten Franke, Hong Kong Counterfeit, Westend Ghetto Possee, STR / Tim Tycoon, Mutron, Nitsch & Gleinser, Break 3000.

STR: We Are He-Men 12" (POCKET 005EP). $14.50

POGUS:*LINDBLAD, RUNE: Death Of The Moon CD (POGUS 21011). $13.00

Electronic and concrete music from 1953 to 1960 by this Swedish composer, reissuing material previously available on LP via the Pogus and Radium labels. "Rune Lindblad was born in Gothenburg, Sweden in 1923. He began composing music in 1953. This was a time when composers in Germany and France were feuding over the merits of electronic music made by pure wave oscillators versus musique concrete, which used the tape recorder as its main instrument. Rune Lindblad did not see these genres as mutually exclusive. In fact he extended his work to incorporate other mediums along with his approach to music. Deeply involved with woodcuts and painting, Lindblad was already experiment with using damaged 16mm film in his 'Optica 1' as early as 1959."

OLIVEROS, PAULINE: Alien Bog/Beautiful Soop CD (POGUS 21012). $13.00

Features 2 long tracks (63 total minutes) of early, emotionally stunning electronic music from Ms. Oliveros. "Her revolutionary work in the use of tape delay and heterodyne techniques, coupled with experimental use of combination tones and supersonic frequencies, presaged techniques now being explored digitally," and there's never been better evidence of it than the brain-eclipsing "Alien Bog" — a masterpiece of electronic tone squelch. Only an excerpt of this has been previously issued, while "Beautiful Soop" is released for the first time. "During her first year at The Tape Music Center at Mills College in Oakland, CA, Pauline Oliveros completed 'Beautiful Soop' (1966) and 'Alien Bog' (1967) utilizing the original Buchla Box 100 series created for the Tape Music Center by Don Buchla and her tape delay system. "I was deeply impressed by the sounds from the frog pond outside the studio window at Mills. I loved the accompaniment as I worked on my pieces. Though I never recorded the frogs, I was of course deeply influenced by their music."

LINDBLAD, RUNE: Objekt 2 CD (POGUS 21014). $13.00

Second steller CD of stark, mesmerizing & historical electronic and concrète. "Volume 2 of the music of Rune Lindblad (1923-1991). This CD consists of the remainder of the long out of print Radium double LP. These works cover the years 1962-1988. Lindblad, a Swede, began composing in 1953. Ignored by the musical establishment of Stockholm, Rune went his own merry way, composing over 200 works of electronic music. Limited in the early years to often primitive equipment, he carved out his own musical niche. The sounds were often raw, occasionally scary."

VA: Travels of the Spider: Electroacoustic Music From Argentina CD (POGUS 21015). $13.00

"Compilation of, well, electroacoustic music from Argentina spanning the last decade or so (1988-1998) containing several fascinating extensions of recent computer-aided-composition/processing technology by an otherwise unheralded crew of composers working within the tresses of the global computer-music 'scene'. Pieces by Daniel Schachter, Ricardo Dal Farra, Martin Alejandro Fumarola, Alejandro Iglesias Rojas, and Teodoro Cromberg, all forge impressive new avenues of 'sound research' through an inescapably mutant collection of timbres/waveforms/sonic events. It's understandable why this was brought into the world by the same folks that unearthed those prime Pauline Oliveros & Rune Lindblad tape masterpieces right when we needed them the most. Stunning." — Hrvatski.

OSTROWSKI, MATTHEW: Vertebra CD (POGUS 21016). $13.00

"A former member of Krackhouse, denizen of NYC's downtown scene (particularly PS 122 and A Mica Bunker etc.) and crack (no, not head) ARP synthesizer player, Ostrowski has spent the last few years in Holland — studying elektronik music at Utrecht and working as a freelance composer. This is his first solo CD. But let him speak: 'My music runs without stopping, and at a vertiginous speed. The architecture is simultaneity....Not to perceive noise as music but music as noise....This is a recording of a live performance: one member of a set of possible solutions. Vertebra is a computer program, an environmental construction, a scaffold, in which the activity of making sense and its suspensions are not merely illustrated, but actually taking place.'"

RUTMAN, ROBERT: 1939 CD (POGUS 21017). $13.00

Reissue of the original Pogus LP by the Steel Cello sculptor/performer, with an additional 20 minute track. "CD reissue of previous a Pogus vinyl offering by this now-known sculptor/artist whose 'Steel Cello' sound-installations are clearly some of the most ear-pleasing examples of the genre. Contains the original 4 LP tracks ('Tabla and Buzz Chime,' 'Steel Cello and Bow Chime,' 'Chant, Bow Chime, and Horn,' and 'Three Bow Chimes,' recorded in Winchester MA during March of 1989 & aided by Carsten Tiedermann and Danny Orlansky) as well as a 20-minute contemporary track ('Song of the Steel Cello,' recorded live in Berlin). Fans of the Bertoia/Panhuysen/Fullman school of teutonic site-specific instrumentation should already know this stuff cold. If not, said Steel Cello's Martien overtones/massive low-end challenge cleanse the soul in ways users of St. John's Wort/Astral Travelling could never attain. Seminally drift-worthy." — Hrvatski.

GABURO, KENNETH: Tape Play CD (POGUS 21020). $13.00

"Over his career, Kenneth Gaburo (1926-1993) produced a lot of electronic music. However, works for tape alone are fairly rare in his output. Over about a thirty-year period, ten works for solo tape were produced. Of the ten tape pieces, five were created in the mid-1960s at the University of Illinois, one was created in 1974-5 in his home studio in La Jolla, and four were made in the studio at the University of Iowa, Iowa City, which he directed during the 1980s and early 1990s. Not surprisingly for a composer whose stated aim was to blur the distinctions between language and music, six of the ten pieces feature an overt use of the voice, while two of the 'purely electronic' pieces use timbres that are so vocal in character that one is constantly thrown back onto a consideration of Kenneth's main obsession, the voice. Only two of the pieces, both from the Illinois period, seem to not deal with the voice in any way." — Warren Burt. One track is in collaboration with Henri Chopin.

ROSENBOOM, DAVID: Invisible Gold CD (POGUS 21022). $13.00

"David Rosenboom (b. 1947), who has been widely acclaimed as a pioneer in American experimental music since the 1960's. He is a composer, performer, conductor, interdisciplinary artist, author, and educator having explored ideas in his work about the spontaneous evolution of forms, languages for improvisation, new techniques for ensembles, cross-cultural collaborations, performance art, computer music systems, interactive multi-media, compositional algorithms, and the structure of the brain and nervous system. These two works, Portable Gold and Philosophers? Stones (1972) and On Being Invisible (1976-77), are classics of live electronic music involving extended musical interface with the human nervous system."

OLIVEROS, PAULINE: No Mo CD (POGUS 21023). $13.00

"In the summer of 1966 I worked in the classical Electronic Music Studio at the University of Toronto for six weeks. The system I used to create 'No Mo' and 'Something Else' consisted of Lafayette tone generators, noise source and tape delay. In the Fall of 1966 I was the newly appointed director of the Mills Tape Music Center formerly the San Francisco Tape Music Center and now the Center for Contemporary Music at Mills College. 'Bog Road' was created at the Mills Tape Music Center in the Summer of 1967 with the Buchla Series 100 Box. The studio overlooked a pond where frogs were singing a chorus that inspired a series of Bog pieces." — Oliveros

REYNOLDS, ROGER: All Known All White CD (POGUS 21025). $13.00

"Pogus is delighted to be reissuing these 3 long out of print works. From the liner notes: ...the serpent-snapping eye (1978) was composed for trumpet, percussion, piano and 4-channel tape. The work is twenty minutes long, divided into three roughly equal sections. In the first, the primary aim of the performers is to match, submit to and intensify the taped sounds. The second, in which the synthesized sounds are sparse, introduces a felling of independence as the performers respond, reflecting on models provided by the tape. In the final section, the live performers complement and elaborate upon — they attempt to augment — the synthesized sound. Ping and Traces, were composed to complement one another. Ping represents a continuing interest in theater and intermedia running through Reynolds' compositions since The Emperor of Ice Cream (1961-62). In live performance the three strands of events occur simultaneously but are not synchronized. As a recorded performance, Ping is a self-sustained composition of instrumental improvisation over taped and electronic music. Traces was written for the composer-pianist Yuji Takahashi. Scored for solo piano, with flute, cello, ring modulator, signal generator, and 6 independent channels of taped sound, this work is concerned not only with events but their residues (traces)."

DUNN, DAVID: Four Electroacoustic Compositions CD (POGUS 21026). $13.00

"...with zitterings of flight released,' (in memoriam Kenneth Gaburo) was composed over an intense and continuous five-day period (including nights). While working on the piece I had in mind various images and metaphors for the drama of the spirit's separation from the body as described by a variety of shamanic and spiritual traditions. It is a memorial for my teacher Kenneth Gaburo. Simu760342102625lation 1: (Sonic Mirror) was an attempt to model a utopian project yet to be built. The original concept was conceived as a stationary cybernetic sound sculpture capable of processing acoustic data within an outdoor environment. Eventually the sculpture might function as an autonomous system structurally coupled to its surrounding environment in a manner that might allow for 'learning' between components. This initial modeling was generated from a soundscape recording of the Cuyamaca Mountains of California. Wildflowers is a bit of nostalgia for the 20th century composer's search for the unique sonic and expressive attributes of electronic technology, an ideal mostly out of fashion. I wanted to compose a reclamation of the sounds of circuitry as material substance, those 'sci-fi' clichés and glissandi now banished to the video game parlors. Ennoia 2 is a computer-generated composition that explores the time-domain synthesis algorithms created by Arun Chandra's Wigout program. These algorithms generate continuously changing waveforms with unique structural behaviors over time. The resulting sounds have continuously changing interdependent parameters that are controlled by very few variables."

ANTUNES, JORGE: Savage Songs - Works from 1961-1970 CD (POGUS 21027). $13.00

Early Brazilian electronic music, featuring works composed 1961-1970. Electroacoustic, sine waves, tape pieces, pure electronic music, etc. A well done compilation with extensive notes; there have been some Brazilian LPs and 3" CDs floating around in the past, but this conveniently puts everything in one place. "Jorge Antunes (b. 1942, Rio de Janeiro) studied violin, composition and conducting at the University of Rio de Janeiro, as well as studying physics at the same institution. He further studied composition with Alberto Ginastera and Luis de Pablo. From 1970-71 he attended the University of Utrecht (Gottfried M. Koenig). From 1972-73 he worked with Groupe de Recherches Musicales in Paris. In 1962 he began his research in electronic music thus becoming a pioneer in the development of this field in Brazil. He is the director of the Electronic Music Laboratory and the conductor of Orquestra da Universidade de Brasília."

BURT, WARREN: Harmonic Colour Fields CD (POGUS 21028). $13.00

"Harmonic Colour Fields is a set of five computer pieces which explore static microtonal harmonic fields. This means that once a piece begins, harmonically, it's going to stay pretty much the same for it's entire duration. The pieces are descended from the 1970s 'drone' pieces of such composers as La Monte Young, Charlemagne Palestine, Hal Budd, and myself, but they make greater use of slow harmonic progressions to make more varied musical surfaces. I wanted to make pieces where the quality of the harmony was the primary focus, and so used very simple rhythms, plain electronic timbres, and a minimum of melodic structuring. In fact, in these pieces, any sense of melody is simply the result of how the harmonic material is articulated. That is, change in harmony, and not construction of melody was my aim in making these pieces. The title refers to the 'colour field' minimalist painters of the 60s and 70s. I thought of these pieces as analogous to those paintings, in that they explore the varieties and shades of one particular harmonic musical colour."

HAMILTON/MIKE SILVERTON/AL MARGOLIS, TOM: Analogue Smoque 2CD (POGUS 21029). $19.00

Mike Silverton (text, voice); Tom Hamilton (sounds, assemblage); Al Margolis (sounds). "A truly surrealistic pillow of a text/sound work, Analogue Smoque combines poet and La Folia honcho Mike Silverton's epic poem (with Mike reciting) and the sounds (both electronic and not) of Tom Hamilton and Al Margolis. Sounds combine and contrast, highlight and ignore, as Silverton's opus unfolds in all its glory."

ANDERSON, BETH: Peachy Keen-O CD (POGUS 21030). $13.00

"This CD has pieces with an auctioneer, a Kentucky farm with birds & clover, a jazz dancer, a quivering, vibrating, sexually tinged piece full of women saying supplication, a saint dying in flames, a drum piece about frustration, mother/daughter miscommunication, a pipe organ, and punk rap with overtones of yoga. Many of Anderson's compositions from 1973-1979 use words or parts of words to make either all or part of the music. Sometimes the music is derived from the words. Some of it is considered to be part of the genre known as text-sound. Beth Anderson (b. January 3, 1950, Lexington, Kentucky) is a composer of avant-garde works that have been performed all around the world and that have brought her much acclaim. Over the years, Ms. Anderson has studied with Robert Ashley, Larry Austin, John Cage, and Terry Riley, among others. She is a pioneer in the field of text-sound music, which uses words and phonemes to make a kind of vocal-percussive music."

TRIOS: Trios CD (POGUS 21031). $13.00

Tom Erbe (recording, editing, processing); Chris Mann (voice, texts); Larry Polansky (fretted and fretless electric guitars); Douglas Repetto (computer, electronics, recording); Christian Wolff (piano, bass, percussion, melodic). "Trios is a collaboration between five musicians, over time, and over space. It combines instrumental and electronic improvisation with non-real-time computer processing and editing. Chris Mann, Douglas Repetto, and Larry Polansky recorded several hours of live improvised material in one session. Months later Repetto, Polansky, and Christian Wolff recorded some more. The recordings were then sent off to Tom Erbe, who culled interesting sections from both sessions and then processed, edited, and mixed them to form the six tracks on the CD. Or: organized sound. (Re)assembled improvisation."

REYNOLDS, ROGER: Process and Passion 2CD (POGUS 21032). $13.00

"A special 2 CDs for the price of 1 deal — with CD 1 (stereo) music encoded for CD 2 (binaural - headphone only listening), the listener gets their own personal surround sound-for-the-head version — the same music — but different. This is a recording that explores the 'extra'-ordinary potential of the CD not only as a carrier of traditionally recorded instrumental sound (CD 1), but also offering a different view through binaural encoding of the same materials spatialized (CD 2). First you are presented with two solo compositions — Kokoro and Focus a beam, emptied of thinking, outward... — and the duo Process and Passion, in an acoustic recording, albeit with each instrument deliberately confined to one side of the stereo field. Then all three pieces are presented with extravagant sound processing, using spatialization concepts and binaural encoding, revealing unsuspected depths and energies within the sound of each of the pieces' ideas and unfolding."

POKER FLAT (GERMANY):

TEJADA, JOHN: Presents Poker Flat Vol. 3 - 5 Year of Poker Flat Recordings 2CD (PFR 010CD). $16.00

"Poker Flat Recordings proudly presents a special compilation to celebrate its five-year anniversary. Since DJ / producer Steve Bug founded the imprint in 1999, it has been a continuous story of success. The artist roster expanded steadily and now includes Hakan Lidbo, Jeff Samuel, Detroit Grand Pubahs, Martini Bros. and JussiPekka. Poker Flat has established itself as one of the leading suppliers of high-quality funky minimal house. Five Years of

Poker Flat (Poker Flat Vol. 3) features nine tracks exclusively produced for this album as well as the best tracks from the 12" releases of the current season, many of which are being released on CD for the first time." Artists: Detroit Grand Pubahs, Martini Bros, Steve Bug, Phonique, Phonogenic, Jackmate vs. Nick Reiff, Hakan Lidbo, Jeff Bennett, Jeff Samuel, Martin Landsky, Glowing Glisses, Guido Schneider, Mr Brooks, Martin Landsky, John Tejada, Jussi Pekka, Brian Anuersm.

TEJADA, JOHN: Presents Poker Flat Vol. 3 - 5 Year of Poker Flat Recordings 2LP (PFR 010LP). $18.00
Double LP version.

DETROIT GRAND PUBAHS: Galactic Ass Creatures From Uranus CD (PFR 011CD). $13.50

"The seminal electro-funk outfit from Detroit returns with the second album. Galactic Ass Creatures From Uranus is a true masterpiece that spans a full variety of minimal Techno, dirty P-Funk, raw hip-smart booty beats and relaxed downbeat electronic grooves — all spiced up with a healthy portion of humor, cartoon sexuality and the search for the perfect booty. The vocoder pitched vocals by Paris The Black Fu and the other odd characters mark their distinctive signature sound without being limited to that."

DETROIT GRAND PUBAHS: Galactic Ass Creatures From Uranus 2LP (PFR 011LP). $18.00
Double LP version.

LIDBO, HAKAN: Tech Couture CD (PFR 03 CD). $15.00

"After releasing three 12"s on Poker Flat Recordings, 35-years-old Stockholm DJ & producer Hakan Lidbo delivers his first full-length album for Steve Bug's highly credible tech house label: Tech Couture. Hakan Lidbo was born in Malmö, an industrial town in the south of Sweden. He started playing the piano as a kid, became quickly bored and bought his first synthesizer. Actually Hakan was also the very first one to buy a sampler in his home town. He soon became aware of the fact that electronic dance music was his mission and spent all his money on synths until he finally had built up his first complete studio. During the 80s he also played with a series of rock bands, but never really liked it, because he realized his aversion against working with disorganized people — drummers that always are late or bass players that rather play jazz — Hakan preferred doing everything himself, that's why the studio became his favorite environment and he soon separated from all dependencies. To take electronic music to new levels, that was and still is the main intention in Hakan Lidbo's studio work. "As the method of recording dance music has completely changed when computers came into the studios, it's amazing that it still sounds pretty much the same. Some producers who call their music experimental are nothing but copy cats, the technology gives us an opportunity to make music in a completely different way so the music should sound completely different", Hakan states with an enormous portion of self-confidence — a critics he can easily afford, because there is no doubt about his tunes are always authentic evidences of what happens in the depths of his musical heart."

LIDBO, HAKAN: Tech Couture 2LP (PFR 03 LP). $14.00

Double LP version, initial copies with limited poster.

LANDSKY, MARTIN: In Between CD (PFR 04 CD). $15.00

"Fallen in love with dance music due to his activities as a breakdancer in the early age of eleven, now Berlin based Martin Landsky is dealing with manipulation and production of own sounds since then. Now, which actually means four years after releasing his first 12" as City Nord on London-based Mc Projects-imprint, he introduces his first full-length album. In Between, surrounded by deep structures, is paying homage to his roots in house music, using samples and classic sounds without being a retro-record like many others are nowadays. In Between means contemporary dance music at its best, where being deep and a peak-time record at the same does not mean a contrast but a working symbiosis of qualities."

LANDSKY, MARTIN: In Between 2LP (PFR 04 LP). $14.00

Double LP version.

MARTINI BRÖS: Pläy. 2LP (PFR 06 CD). $15.00

"Debut longplayer of the highly appreciated dance duo Märtini Brös: Pläy. The artists behind Märtini Brös are DJ Clé and Mike Vamp from Berlin/Germany. Both can be seen as pioneers of the electronic music movement in Germany since its early days end of the eighties. Both are influential DJs with international value and combined forces and abilities in 1998 to found the project Märtini Brös. Märtini Brös in combination with sparkling sounds and a vocal style that generates a mixture of German and English language as the cool corporate identity of the band. Märtini Brös are sounding fresh as spring and are all based on that certain vibe that performs a lovely transfer from the eighties to the first decade of the 21st century — our presence."

BUG, STEVE: Sensual CD (PFR 07 CD). $16.00

"Germany's minimal dance connoisseur has done it again with his eclectic 3rd solo album on his young but already famous Poker Flat imprint. Whatever secret ingredient he has been using, the recipe always works and he always hits the mark with precision. But even though Steve Bug is something like a treasured gem in the heart of innovative electronic house music and someone like him literally can't mess up, it took him nearly forever to put this baby to bed. Studio production breaks due to never-ending overseas gigs, tours and remixes threw his album concept overboard again and again and made him start from scratch each time. Well worth the wait, Sensual is seriously seductive, minimal but hot, loose limbed, laid-back, playful and funky. This adventurous album holds unexpected surprises that will make you grin, basslines that will smack your hips and make you want to wriggle out of your clothes. Not once rigid or stiff, but slinky and ultra-now, Steve manages to produce a warm and clubby 100% naturalsample-free album. This album reveals once again that Steve has an over-abundance of funk and minimal melody coursing through his veins and once again, the club gets all the love."

BUG, STEVE: Sensual 2LP (PFR 07 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

GLOWING GLISSES: Silver Surfer CD (PFR 08 CD). $16.00

"Glowing Glisses (aka Florian Schirmacher and Guido Schneider) are one of the most promising acts to sprout out of Berlin and Poker Flat is very proud to present their debut album Silver Surfer. Their first full-length album features twelve tracks of fantastic tunes reaching beyond the typical scope of pure club-orientated club music. So what's the mystery behind Silver Surfer? Having already caught the attention of clubheads, hipsters, nightlife addicts, hedonists and of course music lovers, it combines dry and groovy minimalist clicks and bleeps with Florian Schirmacher's excellent vocal skills, which are deeply rooted in 70's jazz and soul. This combination has led to an electrifying new sound that could only be described as Deep Tech House, or Micro House meets Electroclash."

GLOWING GLISSES: Silver Surfer 2LP (PFR 08 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

BUG, STEVE: Da Minimal Funk 3 2CD (PFR 09 CD). $19.00

"In 1996, Germany's minimal master Steve Bug, responsible for labels like Poker Flat Recordings, Dessous Recordings and B-Series, created the first volume of Da Minimal Funk compilation series on his former imprint Raw Elements. This outstanding album was a groundbreaking release in the growing minimal techno and house movement. Today, Steve delights us with a sequel that is even more funky than the first. He has selected a fine blend of tracks from some of the world's best producers including Jeff Samuel, Chris Lum, Freestyle Man, Sergej Auto as well as Steve Bug himself alongside Dessous / Poker Flat artists like Frankman and The Jackals. Steve delivers an album full of energy, packed with tunes designed to fill the dancefloor. Deeply influenced by the funky jacking groove of early Chicago house, Bug has stripped down many of the tracks to the bone. While the first CD is a full on DJ-mix, displaying Steve's great abilities as a long-time club DJ with perfect mixes, cuts and blends, covering the whole spectrum of minimal funk, the second CD is dedicated to calming broken, downtempo tunes with an organic feel. All tracks have been carefully selected and include work by Jimpster, Ursula Rucker and Antonelli Electric."

BUG, STEVE: A Night Like This Remixes 12" (PFR 15). $8.00

"After the enormous success of the last Steve Bug 12" 'A Night Like This', Poker Flat headquarters decided to release a remix 12" of this highly appreciated title. The remixes included here were done by no one else but Richie Hawtin and Octave One."

ROBOTMAN: Hypno Freak 12" (PFR 16). $8.00

"Poker Flat proudly presents the re-release of this ultimate Richard Michaels classic of 1992 incl. remixes by german top producers Michael Mayer and Steve Bug. The outstanding track 'Hypno Freak' is actually the B-Side of the famous Definitive release of 1992, Robotoman 'Do Da Doo'. As the main track 'Do Da Doo' was remixed and re-released several times in the past, it was 'Hypno Freak' catching Steve Bug totally at that time and let him keep the record in his case until today."

POLYDOR (GERMANY):

THOMAS, PETER: OST Edgar Wallace/Jerry Cotton CD (POLY 17096). $13.00

Reissue of this 1967 soundtrack. "The rediscovery of Peter Thomas is one of the happiest results of the renewed interest in space age pop and exotica. Like Esquivel, Thomas was always known to a few ultra-hip fans, but went unnoticed by labels, listeners, and pop historians, and it's only thanks to the pioneering work of a handful of champions at tiny labels that we can now recognize and celebrate his wonderful music. Here is a selection of soundtracks he made for the Edgar Wallace and Jerry Cotton movies in the 60's."

PINK FAIRIES: Neverneverland CD (POLY 95502). $13.00

Definitive reissues, digitally remastered from original master-tapes, with bonus tracks, of the first 3 Pink Fairies albums. These were originally issued by Polydor in Europe in 1971-73; previously reissued CD in Japan-only in the early 90s. Each volume contains a 16 page book of Phil Smees-designed liner notes and artwork. Very well done overall, the same level of quality exerted on the EMI Hawkwind reissues, with the same "punter pricing". This first one has 4 bonus tracks (23 minutes worth): "The Snake", "Do It" (single edit), "War Girl" (alternate extended mix), "Uncle Harry's Last Freakout" (first demo version). Neverneverland was the group's first album, originally released in 1971. Featuring a line up of: Paul Rudolph, Duncan Sanderson, Russell Hunter and Twink, the Fairies were a quintessential element of the early 70s British underground rock, most strongly linked with the Deviants, Post-Tomorrow, Think Pink and SE Sorrow. Neverneverland opened up with the pre-punk anthem "Do It" (just to say thanks to Jerry Rubin) and "people's rock" would never be more authoritatively pummeled out.

PINK FAIRIES: What A Bunch of Sweeties CD (POLY 95512). $13.00

The bonus tracks on this volume are "Going Down" (unreleased track from the first ever PF recording session) and "Walk Don't Run" (previously unreleased 10-minute alternate version). What A Bunch of Sweeties was the group's 2nd album, from 1972. "Sure: the albums that chronologically flanked it fore and aft WERE better focused, maintained a consistently higher level of energy and direction throughout, etc. But The Pink Fairies were a casual proposition to begin with, based in all manner of freak flag flying in front of an anarchic musical backdrop of incorrigible racket making. Sweeties is a mystifying jumble of tracks as exuberant as they are shambolic, though resonating for most of the time with a simple clarity of feeling and passion. ...for all its inconsistencies, Sweeties just might be a more punk statement than one may have initially guessed? And at top volume it's damn near undeniable." — The Seth Man.

PINK FAIRIES: Kings Of Oblivion CD (POLY 95522). $13.00

Definitive reissue, digitally remastered from original master-tapes, with 4 bonus tracks; "Well Well Well" (single version & alternate version), "Hold On" (single version), "City Kids" (alternate mix). Kings of Oblivion was the third & final (original era) Pink Fairies album, originally issued in 1973. "An album of soaring Marshall Superfuzz anthems and Ladbroke Grooves, this was their last album while they were still (for a short time, anyway) a cohesive unit. The guitarist was none other than Larry Wallis, who had moved onto later-period Blodwyn Pig and then UFO before Farren's suggestion. Lazza Wallis — a true Pink Fairy if there ever was one! He brought not only his cranked Stratocaster riffing and a good sense of structured songwriting to hang his flowing reckless guitar style upon, but a gleeful sense of humour and overall wisecrack rock and roll sensibility...an album most people weren't expecting from The Pink Fairies at this point in time — a strong, vibrant testimony to their no-bullshit rock and roll. And live it was even shatteringly LOUDER than before, which is damn near incomprehensible and frightening to even think about." — The Seth Man.

POLYDOR (JAPAN):

EGG: The Polite Force CD (POCD 1844). $22.00

Reissue of the 2nd Egg album (first one seems to be o/p now), originally issued by Decca in 1971. Features last of your basic jazz-tinged Canterbury progressive rock moves; plus a great 9 minute experimental soundscape piece with backwards tapes, bell tones, and much strange sound, called "Boilk".

PIKE SET, THE DAVE: Album CD (POCJ 2670). $21.00

"1971 album, same line-up (sans sitar) featuring, by far, the two best vibes-through-Marshall-stack solos in recent memory (two, maybe three weeks). A few notable acid-damaged moments ('Toys,' a 3-minute epic involving solely the sounds of plastic junk, 'Country Shit,' etc...). Patrons of the arts might find something worthwhile to sample herein, others, well..." — Hrvatski.

HARMONIA: Musik Von Harmonia CD (POCP 2387). $21.00

First of 2 classic albums by this trio, combining Cluster's Joachim Roedelius & Dieter Moebius with Neu!'s Michael Rother, originally issued on Brain in 1974. One of the classic Krautrock albums, period. Perfectly looping instrumental texture-works for guitar, organ, synthesizer, piano & percussion, performed in stunning and purely magical form.

HARMONIA: Deluxe CD (POCP 2388). $21.00

2nd and final Harmonia album from 1975, also originally issued on Brain. The trio of Rother, Roedelius & Moebius, plus guest drummer Mani Neumeier (Guru Guru). A more lush, song-like atmosphere than its predecessor.

BJORK: Joga/Bachelorette CD (POCP 7289). $28.00

Handy Japanese-only full length collection of remixes, issued as a series of EPs by One Little Indian in the UK. Track listing: 1) "Bachelorette" (Radio Edit) 2) "Bachelorette" (Howie "Spread" Mix) 3) "Bachelorette" (Mark Bell "Zip" Remix) 4) "Bachelorette" (Alex Empire "Hypermodern Jazz" Remix) 5) "Bachelorette" (Alec Empire/Grooverider "Jeep" Remix) 6) "Joga" (Buzz Water Mix) 7) "Joga" (Alec Empire Digital Hardcore Mix1) 8) "Joga" (Alec Empire Digital Hardcore Mix2) 9) "Joga" (Album Version) 10) "Joga" (String & Vocal Mix). "Japanese-only single CD collection of about six CD-singles worth of Björk versions/remixes by the likes of Howie B, Mark Bell (LFO), Alec Empire (4 separate mixes!), and additional 'production' by the likes of Grooverider and RZA. Of course, with all Japan-only remix retrospectives there's a CD-ROM portion of the CD which lets you see the broadcast videos of both songs (the original mixes) while allowing you to pause every so often to take in Ms. Gudmundsdottir's lovely frame... Essential for completists and novices (which I believe were decreed extinct last July) alike. And a third of the price of the separate singles. Gear." — Hrvatski.

KARIE, KAHIMI: aKiSaKiSaK CD (POCP 7344). $30.00

A full length remix project by the Japanese vocalist who has release numerous records for Trattoria/Polystar (Cornelius's label in Japan), recently anthologized in the US by Minty Fresh. Features remixes by Yasuraru Konishi (Pizzicato Five), Shinco, Add N To X, Kenji Takimi, Tomoki Kanda, Buffalo Daughter, Tsuchi, Shizuo, Hirohisa Horie.

POLYDOR (SWEDEN):

FLASKET BRINNER: Flasket CD (POLY 18301). $17.00

Reissue of the 2nd and last Flasket Brinner album; their first self-titled album was issued by Silence in 1971 (never reissued on CD) and this was their even more obscure 2nd album, originally issued by the Polydor subsidiary, Ljudspar in 1972. Issued by Mellotron in coordination with Universal, this CD features the original, "controversial" cover art in a foldout digipak, with inner booklet of English notes and photos. In the world of acid-laced progressive reissues, this is exceptionally well done. "The reissue that everybody in to the Swedish 60s-70s underground scene has been waiting for but never thought would be re-released due to contractual difficulties but here it is now. One of the most legendary and sought after of all Swedish 1970s LPs. Long track with extended jams and superb acid guitar voyages. Comes with the original (that was censored on most original copies) sleeve. This CD contains the complete 2xLP Flasket. A landmark in Swedish 70s underground sound history."

POLYDOR/UNIVERSAL (GERMANY):

BACHARACH, BURT: Lounge Legends CD (UNI 5021CD). $13.00

Lounge Legends is a new series of compilations from German Polydor, focusing on the classic era works of the "original masters of lounge"; good track selections, thematic packaging with liner notes and repro's of the original LP jackets that these tracks come, cheaply priced. "Burt Bacharach often tells a story about his early days studying composing in California. The vogue among students at the time was towards the atonal and avant garde, but his professor, Darius Milhaud, spotted something in the young man and offered a simple piece of advice: 'Never feel embarrassed by a melody people can whistle,' thus granting permission for the birth of the 20th century's greatest melodicist and the creation of a body of work that is as sophisticated as the best Lounge Music and at the same time as heartfelt as the best Pop and Soul. Bacharach's Songs have been interpreted by nearly everyone. They bring out the best in the singers, instrumentalists and arrangers who touch them, as this compilation proves." Includes performances by: Scott Walker, Sergio Mendes, Brenda Lee, Dusty Springfield, Connie Francis, Astrud Gilberto, The Sandpipers, etc.

SPRINGFIELD, DUSTY: Lounge Legends CD (UNI 6469CD). $13.00

"20 incredible tracks that define the very best of sophisticated, soulful sixties pop... Maybe it's the name. Maybe it's those famous panda eyes and beehive hair. Maybe it's the air of tragedy that coloured Dusty Springfield's life. Maybe it's all this and more, but something about Dusty resonates and puzzles all these years down the line. An hour or two with this compilation will provide you with the one answer you really need — it's the music, for make no mistake, Dusty Springfield knew how to make great records. The depth and conviction of her artistry is cut into every track on this compilation and blows away the stylish image, the tragedy, even the very pretty name. At the end of her adventure we are still left with the one answer we really need — it's the music, all the rest is glitter."

VA: Lounge Legends LP (UNI 6688LP). $12.00

For the first time available on vinyl; 180 gram pressing, mastered from original tapes. Artist include: Tom Jones, Roberto Delgado, France Gall, Max Greger Und Sein Orchestera, Burt Bacharach & Orchestra, Sammy Davis Jr., James Last And His Orchestra, Gunter Hallmann Choir, Kai Warner, Lee Hazelwood, John Barry, Dusty Springfield, Bert Kaempfert And His Orchestra, Peter Thomas Sound Orchestera, Engelbert, and Orchestre Horst Jankowski.

POLYDOR/UNIVERSAL (FRANCE):

FONTAINE, BRIGITTE: 13 Chansons Décadentes Et Fantasmagoriques CD (UNI 9699). $17.00

New remastered digipak reissues of the earliest Brigitte Fontaine & Jacques Higelin recordings from the mid-sixties. Before their historic alignment with the Saravah label, they recorded a series of albums for, Jacques Canetti (who also worked with Jeanne Moreau, Boris Vian, Jean Cocteau, etc.). More in the style of 50s/early 60s French orchestral arrangements and direction by Jimmy Walter.

HIGELIN & BRIGITTE FONTAINE, JACQUES: 15 Chansons D'avant Le Déluge (suite et fin) CD (UNI 9701). $17.00

The first recordings from Higelin and Fontaine, originally released 1965-66. Orchestral arrangements by Jimmy Walter. Many songs written by Boris Vian. Produced by Jaques Canetti.

POLYFUSIA:

DISJECTA: True Love By Normal CD (FUS 001CD). $14.00

Debut releases on a new Mark Clifford label (ex Seefeel, Disjecta, the forgotten Woodenspoon — for the Warp and Too Pure labels). Polyfusia was the title of the classic 1993 Seefeel EP compilation on Astralwerks. Mark is practically the Kevin Shields of electronic music, rarely heard from except for the occasional remix, but totally worshipped for the emotional depth and ambience of unforgettable '90s recordings. This EP represents the first new Disjecta release since 1996's defining Clean Pit And Lid album on Warp & will hopefully re-ignite a flurry of Mark Clifford activity. Tracklisting: 'True_Love by Normal' 06:44; 'Flos' 05:51; 'Lumina_Lamina' 06:11; 'Feeding Buzz' 06:53.

AUTECHRE/SEEFEE: Spangle CD (FUS 002CD). $11.00

Long overdue release of Autechre's epic remix of the seminal track 'Spangle' by Seefeel. Just one track, but it's 12:12 minutes in length and a legendary build-up electronic track. The original of this track first appeared in 1994 n Warp's Artificial Intelligence II, but this remix has never been released before.

POLYSTAR (JAPAN):

WORLD STANDARD: Lé Train Musical 2CD (PSCR 5916/7). $29.00

World Standard is a long-running Japanese project run by Sôichirô Suzuki, produced by directed by YMO founder Haruomi Hosono. Their first album came out in the mid-80s, but it wasn't until their 4th release (Country Gazette) in 1998, released by Hosono's Daisyworld label in Japan and Asphodel in the US, that the name came to greater prominence. Lé Train Musical is a deluxe-packaged double CD (for the price of a single Polystar release) reissuing their long unavailable first album from 1985, World Standard. The 2nd disc, subtitled Youthful Standard features previously unreleased material from 1982-85. World Standard is a series of exquisitely produced easy-listening stylized tracks, with Fellini & Rota themes thrown in for good measure. Very 'pop ambient', very Hosono, will chill out the spines of every supermodel who comes over to use up all of your lawn furniture, no problem. Group leader Suzuki is found on 6/12 string guitar, Ukulele, mandolin, pan flute, timpani, xylophone, etc., but the ambient-country territory of their recent works is not as predominant. Thrilling and glacial.

POLYSTAR/SHOCK CITY (JAPAN):

OOIOO: Shock City Shockers Vol. 2 OOIOO Remix CD (PSCR 5980). $28.00

Second volume in this series on the Boredoms Shock City imprint label (distributed by Polystar). Features remixes of Yoshimi's OOIOO by Zak, OOIOO, Chari Chari, Eye, Woodman, J.A.K.A.M. (Juzu a.k.a. Moochy), ASLN/Dub Squad/Rovo, Kiyoshi Izumi, Nobukazu Takemura, L?K?O, Moodman, MT.Yamar, Kan Takagi&K.U.D.O. With one new OOIOO track, "Open Your Eyes You Can Fly". Produced by Yoshimi P-We. Beautifully designed in the Shock City style.

POM POM (GERMANY):

POM POM: 01 12" (POM 01). $9.00

First of 5 12"s on this new frenzy-inducing label. 3 unique tracks, the long a-side is like some kind of underground Octave One tribute fantasy, a mesmerizing track. "Anonymous producers from Berlin break every rule. This label is not."

POM POM: 02 12" (POM 02). $9.00

"Totally exciting new techno from Berlin. Drexciya-inspired genius druggie stuff. Limited."

POM POM: 03 12" (POM 03). $9.00

"Pom Pom-ania goes on. Totally awesome fresh techno in their unique dirty style."

POM POM: 04 12" (POM 04). $9.00

"Who the f*** are these people? Another insane example of sexy modern underground techno."

POM POM: 05 12" (POM 05). $9.00

"Oh, yes, it's true. Nr. 5 is even better than all before. Ace psychedelic rock techno."

POM POM: 09 12" (POM 09). $9.00

"Dirty technostompers in a Ostgut-style. Green Velvet meets Frankenstein's creature."

POM POM: 10 12" (POM 10). $9.00

"Leading Techno further. Where? No idea, but it feels great."

POM POM: 11 12" (POM 11). $9.00

11th volume in this mysterious series. "The most friendly Pom Pom up to date. But don't be scared they are still insane & not from this world!" [caveat: there is no identification on this record; the matrix number carved into the groove which usually ID's the catalog # says POM POM 7 and is wrong! This is really POM POM 11]

POM POM: 12 12" (POM 12). $9.00

"In hell with Pom Pom. Clashing & dirty sounds thrown on poor souls. Mercyless razor sharp techno."

POM POM: Pom Pom 14 12" (POM 14). $9.00

"Very mysterious this time. Sounds a bit like an execrated techno knight in the magic forest, the bass blowing the leaves from the trees."

POM POM: Pom Pom 15 12" (POM 15). $9.00

Latest volume. In a total sell out move, this one actually has a catalog#/bar code sticker, identifying what it is. "Straight, firm & lightly mad as well as eccentric, dirty & totally mad. New Pom Pom signals for 2004."

POM POM: 16 12" (POM 16). $9.00

"Two extended sides. 'Black', 'Reduced' and 'Autarkic.'"

POON VILLAGE:

GATE: Live In Boston, NYC 1994 CD (PV 01). $13.00

Gate is Michael Morley (Dead C., Precious Metal Inc.) and whoever he feels like working with. This CD features performances from the 1994 Gate tour, when Morley travelled around with Keiji Haino & The Thurston Moore Male Slut trio. Lee Ranaldo (who recorded a ton of studio Gate stuff with Morley around the same period that has yet to surface), joined him for a single-song 30+ minute guitar duo instrumental extravaganza in Boston, which is reproduced in its entirety here as the first track on this CD. Building layers of feedback, sonic delay and looped drones, this is a mesmerizing work of organic power. It's followed by six shorter tracks, recorded a few days later in NY, with a trio lineup of Morley, Ranaldo and electric harp improviser, Zeena Parkins; densely organized sectors of gloriously abstract noise combinations are faded in & out for appraisal. Packaged in Poon Village's elegant trademark screenprinted card-folio.

WHITE WINGED MOTH: I Can See Inside Your House CD (PV 04). $13.00

The White Winged Moth represents the solo activity of Dean Roberts, of the New Zealand improv/drone trio Thela (whose debut CD on Ecstatic Peace was released in 1995). Beautifully ringing guitar tones of organic-metallic origin (sounding akin to some of the sweetest extrapolation of electric string activity since Sonic Youth took Bad Moon Rising on tour), occasional whispered vocals, bits of piano and taped-haze add together for the effect of ultimate dreamsearch ambience. Simply, one of the most gorgeously resonating releases of the current millennium. Typically stunning Poon Village screen-printed, die-cut folio packaging wraps it all up.

WHITE WINGED MOTH: I Can See Inside Your House LP (PV 04 LP). $13.00

LP version in a deluxe all-white screen-printed fold-out cover.

TOBARI, DAISUKE: Till The End Of The Dream CD (PV 05 CD). $13.00

"First offered to earth on cassette available only in Japan circa 1995, these recordings prove Tobari as an eloquent ambassador from the hidden planet of the imagination. With a unique hybrid of bedroom ambience and uni-versal atmospherics, singer-songwriter Daisuki Tobari weaves his folk stylings into a tapestry of oblique lullabies, introverted expansionism & timeless cosmic plunder. Obscure & sublime ruminations on the essence of endlessness draw parallels with the maverick visions of Magical Power Mako, Sun City Girls, Jandek & The Holy Modal Rounders. Fold-out sleeve (packed in CD jewelbox) screenprinted by the legendary original C.O.N. artists serigraph company. File Under: Turgid Clarity & Lucid Murk." "It's the Sgt. Pepper's of lo-fi recordings — ambitious and nuts and fun." — Damon Krukowski.

DIRTY THREE: Sad & Dangerous CD (PV 27 CD). $13.00

Debut release by this Australian instrumental trio: Warren Ellis (violin), Mick Turner (guitar), Jim White (drums). This CD adds two tracks that couldn't fit on the LP.

POOR PERSON PRODUCTIONS (UK):

MYND MUSIC: I? A Concept of Reality CD (PPPR 6). $12.00

Mid-90s album, reduced in price. Second album by this group and the first CD on this UK label. Contemporary space-psych with odd elements (violin, didgeridoo, recorders) thrown in.

PURPLE ALGAE: Adrift On A Sea of Sound LP (PPPR 7). $12.00

Debut LP by an Exeter, UK band, who play a fairly traditional twin guitar rock with vague hard/glam references; anthemesque, heavily phased guitars, etc. The label says they would have fit right in with the Jefferson Airplane, Quicksilver and Neighborhood Children in the SF 60s scene — believe it if you must. Reduced price.

EAR CANDY: Tasting 1, 2, 3, Tasting LP (PPPR 8). $12.00

Latest dose of meandering concept psych by this UK outfit. Post Gong-like phasery, dumb drug jokes, did I mention yet that this one is destined to be "really collectable"? Some of the "moves" found herein are about starting to sound pretty predictable. Did I mention yet that every copy is really, really "numbered"?

POOR RECORDS (SWITZERLAND):

KID CHOCOLAT: Life And Death Of Romano Poal CD (POOR 007 CD). $15.00

"Welcome to the astonishing, bewitching and magical world of Swiss genius sampler/electronic player Kid Chocolat. With original ideas and a vivid imagination, Kid Chocolat creates a rich, incredible and explosive cocktail of electronic, pop and old-fashioned music. Combining warm samples of old movies, loops of old records, recorded conversations, atmospheres of other times, magic ambiances, happy and entertaining songs, dreamy emotional landscapes, imaginary ambiances, flashy melodies, groovy atmospherics, psychedelic punch, fragile samples, delicate and spacial enchanted atmospheres — as well as electronics, voices, discreet guitars, synth, rhythms. Kid Chocolat has built entertaining and varied songs, which won't give you a minute to breathe by their intensity and dynamics. For fans of: Amon Tobin, DJ Shadow, Avalanche, Cornershop."

POP UP (GERMANY):

POP UP: 1 12" (POPUP 01). $8.00

"The wellknown Cologne labels Italic and The Popular Organization have founded IPC (Italic Popular Cooperation) and launched Pop Up, a joint series of parties with its own label. Regular 12" releases will accompany the series. Pop Up Volume 1 is jointly produced by the musicians Stefan Schwander (Antonelli Electr.) and Jörg Burger (The Modernist), and presents minimal, elegantly swinging tech-tools with a sublime pop appeal and stunning qualities to rock the floor."

POP UP: 2 12" (POPUP 02). $8.00

"The well known Cologne labels 'Italic' and 'The Popular Organization' have founded 'IPC' (Italic Popular Cooperation) and launched 'Pop Up', a joint series of parties with its own label. Regular 12" releases will accompany the series. Like its predecessor, 'Pop Up Volume 2' is jointly produced by the musicians Stefan Schwander (Antonelli Electr.) and Jörg Burger (The Modernist), and presents minimal, elegantly swinging tech-tools with a sublime pop appeal and stunning qualities to rock the floor."

POP UP: 3 12" (POPUP 03). $9.00

"This is the third part in this series of great functional Cologne minimal releases. The A-Side of Pop Up 3 already caused a stir on many dancefloors with its suggestive vocoder voice: 'we're looking out for something special / we're looking out for something new.' Pop Up 3 again is jointly produced by the musicians Stefan Schwander (Antonelli Electr.) and Jörg Burger (The Modernist)."

VA: Hinterzimmer Pop CD (PR 0503CD). $17.00

"EFA is proud to present the compilation Hinterzimmer Pop. Attention! This CD is not a mixture of radio hits or commercial tunes. This compilation contains exclusive tracks of the independent electronica scene in Germany. Hinterzimmer Pop consists of music which is located beside the mainstream. Thus, this compilation was combined for open-minded people searching for new pieces which complete their 'personal discotheque'. All songs belong to electronic music in its broadest sense. Some pieces such as Mense Reents 'This Is The Way', Stuerz's 'So Wenig Wie Möglich' or Jan Gazarras 'Blow' could be described as Indiepop. Nevertheless, all songs belonging in this context are characterised as being influenced by electronic production techniques, which have developed in recent times. Thus, their sound characteristics refer to roots of electronic music such as Kraftwerk or other Krautrock formations. Others come from the context of the Minimal Techno or Electronica scene. As they contain catchy melodies they do not only belong to underground clubs, but are also made for being played in your living room. That's why we made them now available for you on CD and that's why this compilation has the big word 'Pop' in its title." Artists include: Jürgen Paape, Mense Reents, Stuerz, Kratzke, Hardman, Ocker, Ada, Mica, Jan Gazarra, C.M. Smith, Moore:Music, Erdmöbel, Riviera, Elias, Phil Stumpf, Hetterich, Meta.83, and Andi Teichmann.

POPSCAPE (GERMANY):

ENGKILDE PRESENTS EPO, AUGUST: Electronic Panorama Orchestra CD (POPC 001CD). $15.50

"Basically EPO is an open collective of musicians, founded by August Engkilde in 2002. Although the overall sound is based on jazz, EPO expand and extend this aural fundament with irreverent snippets of hiphop, dub, latin and funk. Subtle electronics determine the tracks' structures: most of the time, it might just be a gentle, almost indiscernible pulse ticking away in the background, swathed in a warm double bass, brass section and guitar. Then again, synthesizer and samples might fight their way to the surface and decide to lead the expedition for a while. Last, but by no means least, there is the voice of Frida Asmusen, leaving no room for uncertainty why Scape had to initiate a pop label just for this project: her characteristic, precisely accented vocals rush into wonderful choruses to warm the heart and open the sound. EPO blend elements of different styles and cultures into a cohesive whole, treating all of their influences with the greatest respect. Analogue sound generation and electronic foundation are so tightly entwined that the layers become almost inseparable. Their album manages to sound both timeless and modern, unpredictable and coherent, experimental and down to earth. With great optimism it allows us a glimpse of the productive co-existence of what used to be different."

ENGKILDE PRESENTS EPO, AUGUST: Electronic Panorama Orchestra LP (POPC 001LP). $14.50

LP version.

POPULAR MUSIC (GERMANY):

TRINKWASSER: Extraleben 12" (POPM 001). $8.00

"The first release on Popular Music, very limited 12" featuring the original collaboration of The Modernist and vocalist Lothar Hempel and 2 remixes by Jürgen Paape and a 'Mofular Monroe Mix' by M. Flux & Wieland Samolack."

POPULAR ORGANIZATION (GERMANY):

MODERNIST, THE: The Modernist Explosion 2LP (POPT 003 LP). $21.00

Double vinyl version with bonus 7" featuring 2 live tracks. Limited stock.

INTERNATIONALISTS: Pt. 2 12" (POPT 006). $9.00

"The best Pop Tools so far. Modernist kicks like hell and D. Klein does the same."

POPWATCH:

POPWATCH: #9 MAG (POP 09). $3.95

Features interviews with Michael Hurley, Malcolm Mooney (Can), Flying Saucer Attack, Coffee, Pip Proud, Davey Williams. Plus a section of various writings about soundtracks by Alan Bishop, Eugene Chadbourne, Robin Amos, Michael Cudahy, Holger Czukay & Roy Montgomery. A large historical overview of the Xpressway label. John Fahey on his experiences with the man known to us as "Antonioni". Reviews. Full color Michael Hurley cover. 152 pages.

POSITION CHROME (GERMANY):

HEINRICH AT HEART: CD (PC 33 CD). $15.00

"Heinrich At Heart is a project by Frankfurt based Martin Maischein. He has released 4 EPs on Position Chrome and now his first album. Like the albums of Panacea and Current Value his new album marks a return to futurism for German drum & bass. The tracks are wandering around with a synthetic and cold psychosis, but HaH also produces warm elements, especially when he is involved in different styles. The album includes also Nu Skool Electro in a minimalistic style like on his Sandbenders EPs on Force Inc. or Abstract Hip Hop like on the Electric Ladyland compilations. At least the album is a fascinating soundtrack and offers a new perspective in musical self-analysis."

POSTHUMAN CORPORATION (UK):

POSTHUMAN: The Uncertainty Of The Monkey CD (SEED 01 CD). $15.00

"The Uncertainty Of The Monkey is the debut album from the enigmatic cousins Posthuman, who are believed to be working with Skam records on various projects. The label 'seed' is an evolution of 'seed showcases', their live electronica night most recently acknowledged for their album launch, hosted in a disused tube station in London, which was joined by various artists from Skam records, Warp djs, Fuel records and Switzerland's Spezial Material. The Uncertainty of the Monkey comprises work they have produced since their first inception in which they debuted in a 5 hour live gig for Skam records 'Compression' night in Manchester last summer. Posthuman provide the avant-garde in electronica and this is their beginning."

POSTHUMAN: The Uncertainty Of The Monkey 2LP (SEED 01LP). $16.00

Double vinyl version.

POSTHUMAN: Posthuman CD (SEED 02 CD). $12.00

"The return of PostHuman on their own Seed imprint, offering up a bit of a departure to say the least. The opener Kitchen attaches itself to a kinda 'Come to Daddy' darkcore aesthetic that finds us within the murkiest realms of dangerously tweaked breakbeats and guitar riffs that progressively come across as commercial in the best sense of the word. Yup, this is PostHuman doing a bit of a Prodigy while keeping their integrity firmly intact. 'It Started with a Kiss' rolls out deliciously maladjusted electronix that fit snugly between the b-boy eruptions of Autechre and Team Doyobi's developed analogue melody stylings, while 'Billy Bob's Moustache Day' brilliantly evolves a glitched-up, bass-heavy break into a guitar-riffed hillbillytronix anthem that defies the cheese and comes on top in a blaze of vision. Killer stuff. 'The Absolute' is another winner, devastating beats around a treated vocal, the pop aesthetic draped with so much darkness a kind of delicious pop claustrophobia sets in with much enjoyment."

POTLATCH (FRANCE):

BAILEY/JOELLE LEANDRE, DEREK: No Waiting CD (POT 198). $17.00

Debut release on a new label. A live recording of Derek Bailey (electric guitar) and Joelle Leandre (bass) made in Paris in May 1997. "Bailey's sound is out there, endlessly redefining its musical structure (can there be a better example of Stockhausen's concept of 'moment form')?, continually recycling tiny exquisite pitch constellations with Weberian finesse." — Dan Warburton.

POW WOW:

ANIBALDI, LEO: The Virtual Language CD (PW 7448). $13.50

Not part of the Tresor-related series, but an interesting extreme electronics album nonetheless. Subtitled "Techno In Another Tongue" this is a strange album out of the Italian electronic underground, from 1994. More recently, Anibaldi released the brilliant Void album on Aphex Twin's Rephlex label. This features more of his sensational alien transmissions.

You'll never forget the rather hideous and stupid cover art. Limited stock.

PRECIOUS METAL (NEW ZEALAND):

GATE: The Wisner Table CD (PM 77). $15.00

"Recorded by a Gate band proper, this recording was completed in 1997 and is the final part in the trilogy of rock albums The Dew Line and The Monolake released by Gate in 1994 and 1997 respectively. In this recording Michael Morley is joined by Sally Millenium (Furr Grrls), and James Kirk and Nathan Thompson (Sandoz Lab Technicians. This album is the only total proof of a band that never performed live but rehearsed like their lives depended on it. Sadly they cease to exist."

GATE: The Lavender Head v.3 CD (PM 79). $15.00

"The latest of what has become the favoured modus operandi of Gate. The infinite universe of sound and our obsession with the truth of it. Five tracks are featured in this ravens paradise. Ms Ciccone is thankfully absent from this most recent of party mix tapes constructed by Mr Morley alone. This cannot be true. There is also talk of a Bootylicious remix with video coming very soon indeed."

PRESERVATION (AUSTRALIA):

VA: Motion - Movement in Australian Sound 2CD (PRE 003 CD). $19.00

Featuring: Pimmon, Alan Lamb, Joyce Hinterding, Tim Koch, Oren Ambarchi, Clue To Kalo, Scott Horscroft, Cray, Minit, Matthew Thomas, Qua, Chris, Smith, Ray Diode, Sue Harding, Brendan Walls, Pretty Boy Crossover, GCTTCATT, Dworzec, Julian Knowles, Magmafinder, Peter Blamey. "2-CD overview of 22 artists representing Australia's burgeoning terrain of electronic and experimental music. From Scott Horscroft's mesmerising piece for eleven guitars, the sublimely sweet, driving tones of Pretty Boy Crossover, Sue Harding's melodies from dot matrix printers to renown veteran Alan Lamb's awe-inducing casting of field recordings from the West Australian outback, Motion casts wide to expose some of the most creative and fascinating sonic brilliance Australia has to offer. To ensure some kind of cohesiveness with such a diverse array of artists, as well as fresh, original material, each act was asked to contribute a track with an open-ended brief in mind — exploring ideas of motion in some way through sound. The resulting overall quality shows a depth of thought and feeling from some seriously engaging talent, pushing boundaries as well as coming up with some most moving music."

ONEIL, TARA JANE: Bones CD (PRE 004CD). $16.00

"The Preservation label presents Bones, from Louisville, Kentucky born Tara Jane O'Neil. After playing bass with Rodan, pioneers of post-rock and post-hardcore, the long-respected and much-lauded O'Neil has formed bands like The Sonora Pine and Retsin. Consistently on the move, O'Neil records all over the US, from ballrooms in Louisville, apartments in New York to rural cabins. Similarly, there's a wandering spirit to her music, her songs an engaging mixture of folk, pop, ambience and electronic sounds, tropicana and melodies that span references from Joni Mitchell to Brian Eno. Bones is a collection featuring new material from O'Neil, often at her most stripped back and full of her raw, alluring essence. Her delicate, vivid acoustic guitar playing is a feature of tracks such as 'The Poisoned Mine' and 'Without Push', her subdued, enigmatic vocals floating over the top in airy layers of guitar, strings and piano. Other tracks showcase new directions — her burgeoning interest in electronica to allow for new shapes and rhythms in her songs (the beat-laden, trippy melodies of 'Enter This House' and her reworking of an earlier track, 'Bullhorn Moon') and found sounds that she turns into hypnotic instrumentals."

PRESSURE SOUNDS (UK):

PERRY, LEE: Divine Madness - Definitely 2CD (PS 032CD). $16.00

"Pressure Sounds will release their 3rd album by legendary Jamaican Producer Lee Perry. Following on from the other two highly successful releases Voodooism and Produced and Directed By, Divine Madness - Definitely is probably the strongest of the three and is a 2 CD package with one CD devoted to an hours worth of music and the 2nd CD is a 25 minute interview with 'Scratch' himself. The interviews with Steve Barker and Roger Eagle took place in the early 80's and 'Scratch' is as at his most witty, lucid and entertaining, talking about everything from his time at Studio One to his work with Bob Marley. The CD containing the music has many musical highlights and all the 'tunes' are rare collectors items. 'Woman and Money' by Denzil Dennis dates from early '73 and is a splendid boogie-woogie style piano excursion with soulful vocals. Junior Byles's track 'Africa We Are Going Home' is as rare as hens teeth and features one of Jamaica's most talented vocalists. Milton Henry, The Viceroy, Eric Donaldson, Augustus Pablo and Jimmy Riley all have some of their finest tracks on this album. The double vinyl will appear in a luxury gatefold sleeve — the interview is as well included."

BURNING SPEAR: Spear Burning CD (PS 033CD). $16.00

"Burning Spear's music is undoubtedly one of the cornerstones of reggae music. Born in St. Annes Bay on the North Coast of Jamaica and recording his early output for the legendary Studio One label he has consistently made music that is exceptional in both its quality and themes. Burning Spear is probably the most respected roots artist of his generation and has toured and recorded consistently for the last 25 years. Pressure Sounds have collected 17 tracks that were recorded after Burning Spear aka Winston Rodney had recorded for Studio One. All the material was self-produced being both rare and never before released on CD. Tracks such as 'Travelling', 'Spear Burning' and 'Free Black People' were all recorded and released in the mid to late 70s when Spear was at the height of his vocal powers and released on his own label. Spear never recorded for dozens of producers so the quality of his output was always high. Spear Burning will be Spear's major release for two years."

BURNING SPEAR: Spear Burning 2LP (PS 033LP). $21.00

Double LP version in gatefold sleeve.

ROYALS, THE: Pick Up The Pieces CD (PS 036CD). $16.00

"The Royals, represented by Roy Cousins and his ever-changing line-up of backing singers, are arguably the last great unsung Jamaican vocal group from the 'golden age of reggae', who have remained much of an underground phenomenon since the 60s, 70s. The songs, beautiful and harmonious, were influenced by Jamaican harmony groups as well as US acts like The Drifters and The Temptations, and are concerned with obvious truths put in a heart-felt manner that uplifts the spirit. The compilation contains 18 tracks, many of which have never been released before — alternative versions of some of the Royal's greatest recordings tastefully packaged with a 16-page booklet, unique photographs, and extensive sleeve notes. Another great Pressure Sounds package."

ROYALS, THE: Pick Up The Pieces 2LP (PS 036LP). $21.00

Double LP version.

GIBBS & THE PROFESSIONALS, JOE: No Bones For The Dogs: Dubs From 1974-79 2LP (PS 037LP). $21.00

PABLO, AUGUSTUS: In Fine Style CD (PS 038CD). $16.00

"In Fine Style is the second album of Augustus Pablo's material to be released on Pressure Sounds. It's a unique set of material in that much of it has never before been released on CD and much of it was only ever available on rare 7" and 12" vinyl. Not only are the records on this set beautiful music, they are the product of love, humanity and an exceptional devotion to a higher force. It's powerful music in the best sense of the word. 'We play music by feeling it. We call it the Far East sound. Cause we play in minor chords. When you play those chords its like a story without words', Augustus Pablo. Unlike many of his contemporaries, Pablo was able to understand and fully explore the possibilities of the 12" mix. It perfectly suited his instrumental jazz-like approach to reggae music. The full melodic range of his work was brought to the fore. Gathered on this compilation are some of the best examples of Pablo's 12" explorations. Tracks such as 'Phillips Showcase' and 'Pablo In Fine Style' are not limited by the 7" format. The album is stunningly packaged and is one of the classiest sleeves we have had on Pressure Sounds for a while."

PABLO, AUGUSTUS: In Fine Style 2LP (PS 038LP). $21.00

Double LP version.

BOVELL, DENNIS: Decibel: More Cuts From Dennis Bovell (1976-1983) CD (PS 039CD). $16.00

"If any one individual can be credited with being the catalyst for English reggae and dub then Dennis Bovell is that man. From the mid-seventies onwards he has been at the center of the English reggae scene. Pressure Sounds has gathered 16 of his most rare dubs and instrumentals as well as a couple of outstanding vocal tracks on to one album. Decibel brings some of his heaviest productions out for the first time since their original release in the mid-seventies. 'Rama' and 'More Cuts' were Dennis' labels in the seventies and he produced many dub plates and specials that have never been heard outside of the Sound system. Several of these 'Dubs' will be on Decibel. The music on Decibel is very much attached to Dennis' early output with the emphasis on his 'out there' dub productions. Musicians from Matumbi, Aswad and the Jamaican drummer 'Style' Scott from the Dub Syndicate all appear on the album. With super rare photos from the period and comprehensive sleeve notes this is an original and exciting release that fits in perfectly with the Pressure Sounds catalog."

BOVELL, DENNIS: Decibel: More Cuts From Dennis Bovell (1976-1983) 2x12" (PS 039LP). $21.00

Double LP version.

VA: Red Bumb Ball: Rare and Unreleased Rocksteady (1966-1968) CD (PS 040CD). $16.00

"Pressure Sounds' first real foray into the rocksteady era is Red Bumb Ball, a 22 track collection of some of the most beautifully crafted rocksteady music. Focusing on tracks that have been lost in the past or never saw the light of day since their original release, Red Bumb Ball gathers a handful of these overlooked gems together for the first time on CD. 'Red Bumb Ball' by Lloyd & Devon and 'In A Rocking Mood' by Austin Faithful are both stunning examples of the art of rocksteady. All the tracks feature the genius of Lynn Taitt & The Jets probably the best backing band during the rocksteady period. The Black Brothers, Derrick Morgan, Roland Alphonso, and The Viceroy's all contribute fantastic songs with beautiful harmonies backed by unrivaled musicianship and progressive production techniques. The fact that much of this music has been ignored and overlooked in more recent times is one that Pressure Sounds is hoping to address. We have waited until we could find the right material before attempting to compile an album such as this and with our usual care and attention to detail we feel we have finally found a 'cracking' album with sleeve notes by Harry Hawk and exemplary artwork and packaging."

VA: Red Bumb Ball: Rare and Unreleased Rocksteady (1966- 2LP (PS 040LP). $21.00

Double LP version.

VA: Sounds And Pressure - Volume 5 CD (PS 041CD). $12.00

"Back for their fifth installment, Pressure Sounds drops a tasty sampler pulled from their recent releases that showcases killer tunes and rare tracks that have never appeared on CD before. Sounds & Pressure - Volume Five is a perfect taste of the label's recent adventures into the roots of Jamaican music. It collects fifteen tracks ranging from heavyweight dubs from legendary producers like Joe Gibbs and Dennis Bovell to unreleased rarities from Mike Brooks, Jimmy Riley and I Roy. So whether you are a new reggae fan looking for a diverse sample of Pressure Sounds' astonishing catalog or an established dub fiend, this compilation is sure to please."

WAILING SOULS, THE: The Wailing Souls at Channel One: Sevens, Twelves & Versions CD (PS 042CD). $16.00

"The Wailing Souls are undoubtedly one of the finest exponents of vocal harmony singing to have come out of Jamaica. Their work at Channel One for the Hookim Brothers is gathered here for the first time on one CD. The Wailing Souls at Channel One brings together a 16-track set of extended 12" mixes, versions and dubs. There is an extended 12" version of 'War' featuring DJ Ranking Trevor as well as an original 7" cut of 'Lawless Society' along with the dub. This is a radically different mix than the one previously released on Pressure Sounds and a beautiful collection of material that covers one of the key bands of the genre at the zenith of their career. From the vocal interplay and stunning harmonious singing, backed by the explosive drumming of Sly Dunbar & The Revolutionaries, this is definitely another essential release from Pressure Sounds."

WAILING SOULS, THE: The Wailing Souls at Channel One: Sevens, Twelves & Versions 2LP (PS 042LP). $21.00

Double LP Version.

SLY & ROBBIE: Unmetered Taxi 2LP (PS 043LP). $21.00

Double LP version. "Sly and Robbie need little in the way of introduction. They have already graced many of the previous Pressure Sounds releases. As a rhythm section they are probably the best known from Jamaica. On Unmetered Taxi we will be concentrating on their Taxi productions. Taxi has a stunning catalogue and on our new release we will be showcasing the very finest of the labels early output. Black Uhuru, The Viceroy's, Tamlins and Dennis Brown have all recorded for Sly and Robbie. They are all gathered here along with several super rare dub plates and hard to find versions. Spread out over four sides of vinyl, 21 tracks."

PATTERSON/KING TUBBY, CARLTON: Psalms of Drums: The Black and White Story CD (PS 012CD). $14.00

Compilation of material from the Jamaican label, Black & White, as run by Carlton Patterson, featuring the engineering genius of King Tubby. "Patterson's label is one that is synonymous with legendary Jamaican producer King Tubby and this compilation has several extremely rare dub tracks mixed by Tubby...and this is some of the strongest material that Tubby was let loose on. This compilation embraces not only the dubs from Tubby, but also some of the best DJ's from the period. Both Trinity and Dillinger have some of their best DJ cuts. The backing musicians are some of Jamaica's finest and include Sly and Robbie, Ansell Collins, Flabba Holt, Skully and Rancie McClean."

PATTERSON/KING TUBBY, CARLTON: Psalms of Drums: The Black and White Story LP (PS 012LP). $11.00
LP version.

TECHNIQUES: Techniques In Dub CD (PS 015CD). $14.00

Pressure Sounds is a subsidiary of On U Sounds, with the intention of reissuing dub classics. "The 15th release on Pressure Sounds is probably one of the great dub albums of the 70's. Techniques In Dub was first released in the mid 70s on Winston Riley's own Techniques label. Featuring dub versions of seminal cuts such as 'Purify Your Heart', 'Find Yourself A Fool' and two cuts of the brilliant 'talag' rhythm, Techniques In Dub is an important part of the evolution of Reggae music in the 70's. Featuring the skills of musicians such as Sly Dunbar, Robbie Shakespeare, Earl 'Chinna' Smith, Jackie Mitoo, and the production skills of Winston Riley himself."

VA: Sounds And Pressure Vol. 3 CD (PS 016CD). $10.00

The 16th release on Pressure Sounds is their third sampler and manages to combine the best of both past and future releases. There are also 5 tracks that are exclusive to this particular release (Jackie Mitoo, Alton Ellis, Mike Brooks, Gladstone Anderson). Also features: The Techniques, Big Joe, King Tubby, The Overnight Players, Prince Far I.

VA: Randy's 17 North Parade CD (PS 017CD). $14.00

"To the uninitiated who may feel that Randy's Record shop and recording studio located at No. 17 NorthParade in downtown Kingston was just another reggae label amongst the labyrinth of labels that existed at that time, then they will be pleasantly surprised when they hear this collection of material from a label that was known within reggae circles as the Jamaican Motown. All the music on this release is the work of producer Clive Chin." Features: Broadway, Alton Ellis, The Gladiators, Sweeney and the Wailers Band, Senya, The African Brothers, Randy's All Stars, Errol Dunkley, Donovan Carlos, Black Uhuru, Lloyd Parks, Dennis Brown, Delroy Crutches Jones & The Heptones.

VA: Randy's 17 North Parade LP (PS 017LP). $11.00

LP version.

PRINCE FAR I: Health And Strength CD (PS 018CD). $14.00

"Health And Strength was originally supposed to have been released on a major record label in the early 80's. Dating from the late 70's this album 'disappeared' almost from the time it was completed. It was finally unearthed recently by one of the producer Adrian Sherwood's ex-business partners, so nearly 20 years on Pressure Sounds is able to release for the first time one of the most treasured vocal records that the late Prince Far I was ever to make. This release goes beyond being rare; it's actually a real scoop for Pressure Sounds to have an unreleased record that has never been previously released on any format. The master tapes for this record were searched for many many years, it's been a total stroke of luck that a tape was found at all. This is a truly classic Far I album. The musicians feature Style Scott (Dub Syndicate) and Flabba Holt on bass as well as many of the original Creation Rebel band."

PERRY, LEE: Produced And Directed by the Upsetter CD (PS 019CD). $14.00

2nd Perry album for this label focussing on classic 70s dub/reggae reissues. "There are 20 tracks from the Black Ark period, all of them have been unavailable for many years and consequently will appeal to both the Perry aficionados as well as the casual Reggae fan! Kicking off with King Burnett's 'I Man Free', a track by the origin Congos bandmember, you'll have tracks by some of the most talented artists Perry was to work with, The Heptones, Junior Marvin, The Meditations, The Silvertones, Winston Heywood and The Hombres' George Faith. All the Versions are included and some brilliant rare dubs with Perry's trademark mixing at it's most exciting."

PERRY, LEE: Produced And Directed by the Upsetter 2LP (PS 019LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

VA: When The Dances Were Changing CD (PS 022CD). $14.00

"Another excellent compilation, this time focusing on the early '80s output of the legendary Channel One studios at a time when reggae was formulating a harder, sparser sound that was for Kingston's heavyweight sound systems. At the forefront was Jo Jo Hookim's Hitbound label working with newer artists such as Barrington Levy, Franky Paul, Weldon Irie and Ringo as well as old hands Horace Andy, Gladiators, Sugar Minott and Black Uhuru's Don Carlos all backed by pioneering rhythms from the Roots Radics. All are included on this set with some of the best vocal recordings from the early dancehall days complete with killer dubwise versions."

VA: When The Dances Were Changing: Hitbound Selection LP (PS 022LP). $11.00

LP version.

VA: Sounds & Pressure Vol. 4 CD (PS 023CD). $10.00

"The fourth in the very successful series of samplers that we have released on Pressure Sounds. As with the previous releases we have 3 extra special bonus tracks that are unreleased on any of our other releases. All three bonus tracks come with their original dub versions. The three extra tracks begin with an all time classic Lloyd Parks song 'Mafia' — this an extremely rare tune and this is its first airing on CD. The tune was a big On U Sound favorite and was even covered by Bim Sherman and Adrian Sherwood. We have also included the dub with its superb Melodica playing to the front of the mix. Earl 16 — His song 'Malcolm X' is one of his finest 7"s with a soulful vocal and crisp dub. Both tracks are previously unreleased on CD. Mike Brooks is one of the great-unsung artists working in Reggae music. His song 'Rum Drinker' is another 'rare groove' which has never been released on CD. These 6 tracks are supplemented by 5 more classics from Derrick Harriot, The Flames, Prince Far I, The Uniques.

VA: Roots Techniques CD (PS 024CD). $14.00

"Probably one of the strongest roots compilations that we have released on Pressure Sounds. Winston Riley recorded some of the most compelling roots tunes on his Techniques label and featured on this collection are DJs, I Roy and Big Youth. Singers Horace Andy, Johnny Osbourne and Jimmy Riley. There are some fantastic versions and real obscure gems. Donavon Adams' 'Don't Mock Jah' and Morvin Brooks' 'Cheer up Blackman' are both sought after records and both are included in this selection. The artwork and packaging will be of the usual high Pressure Sounds standard and will consist of rare photographs and sleeve notes by Harry Hawke."

VA: Roots Techniques LP (PS 024LP). $11.00

LP version.

VA: The Crowning Of Prince Jammy CD (PS 025CD). $14.00

Compilation of early tracks produced by King Tubby's right-hand engineer, Prince Jammy. Mostly recorded in Jamaica, late 70s & early 80s. Detailed liner notes by Dave Hendley (whose Sufferer's Delight label first issued some of these tracks) lays it all out in spectacular detail. Features tracks by: Black Uhuru, Wayne Smith, Prince Jammy, Johnny Osbourne, Earl Zero, Augustus Pablo, Half Pint, Mighty Rudo, Sugar Minott, Black Crucial and Hugh Mundell.

LITTLE ROY AND FRIENDS: Packin House CD (PS 026CD). $14.00

Packin House is the second release on Pressure Sounds that is dedicated to the work of the artist Little Roy, who through his releases on the label Tafari recorded some of the most classic reggae tunes of all time (notably "Tribal War" and "Prophecy"). This album will concentrate on the Tafari releases that feature not only Little Roy, but some of the artists that recorded with him for the Tafari label. The Heptones, Dennis Brown, and Winston Scotland all recorded some very high quality roots tunes for Tafari. There are two never before released songs from Little Roy from the Tafari vaults: the beautiful "Hurt Not the Earth" and the hauntingly melodic "Rat Trap". Little Roy has impressed everybody that he has ever worked with, from the early Wailers and Lee Perry to his more recent work with Adrian Sherwood and Sinead O'Connor. He is surely in the premier rank of reggae artists, and by the simple fact of not over-recording his work has managed to keep the standards of releases very high."

VA: Phil Pratt Thing CD (PS 027CD). $14.00

"Although producer Phil Pratt is not someone whose name is amongst the best known of Jamaican producers, he is someone who has always worked with the cream of Jamaica's recording artists. Here on the first release by Pressure Sounds in the new century is a collection of his finest work. The soulful vocalist Ken Boothe has two standout tracks, 'I'm Not For Sale' and 'Ain't No Love'. Big Youth has 3 tracks, including the very rare 'Love Jah Jah Children', which has not been reissued since its original release in the 70s. The Heptones have arguably the definitive version of the classic 'Partytime'. Dennis Brown has a beautiful version of 'Let Love In'. The best versions and instrumental tracks have also been included. Phil Pratt himself has never before agreed to be interviewed, and it was only through the coaxing of his old friend Adrian Sherwood that we have managed to elicit an interview to complete the most comprehensive Phil Pratt album ever."

VA: Phil Pratt Thing LP (PS 027LP). $11.00

LP version.

VA: Don't Call Us Immigrants CD (PS 028CD). $14.00

"The development of a distinctive 'homegrown' British roots reggae scene began in the early 70s and was developed throughout that decade and on into the 80s and 90s. Groups such as Black Slate, Matumbi, Aswad, Steel Pulse, and Reggae Regular, were all key players and managed to break down many of the prejudices that true roots music could only be made in Jamaica. Through hard work no small amount of talent and sheer persistence these pioneers managed to carve a name for their homegrown music. Dennis Bovell was probably the most important producer of U.K. reggae in the 70s as well as playing bass in Matumbi, he produced the much of the early U.K.'s reggae output. This is the first time that a project has put the early U.K. reggae scene in the spotlight. To put the whole album together and put the music into its context, Adrian Sherwood and Dennis Bovell (who first worked together in the 70s) have pulled together interviews with the key players and put a coherent overview of the whole period into an exhaustive and witty set of sleeve notes. Beautifully packaged with the usual Pressure Sounds vinyl and CD attention to detail adds up to another storming Pressure Sounds release. Artists: Tabby 'Cat' Kelly, Lion Youth, Misty, Aswad, Matumbi, Slate, Pablo Gad, Reggae Regular, African Brothers/Trevor Hartley, Steel Pulse."

VA: Don't Call Us Immigrants LP (PS 028LP). $11.00

LP version.

PABLO, AUGUSTUS: El Rocker's CD (PS 029CD). $14.00

"The 29th release on Pressure Sounds is El Rockers and features perhaps one of the greatest of Jamaica's musician/producers, Augustus Pablo. This is one of the first major re-issue since Pablo's untimely death in 1999. El Rockers focuses on the rhythms and tunes that were used to make up the epochal King Tubby meets the Rocker's Uptown album. Seventeen tunes that are all rare outtakes, alternate cuts and hard to find gems. No Pablo aficionado's collection will complete without this album. Tastefully packaged with a twelve page booklet and probably the best sleeve notes on the artist that one has ever seen. Recorded at Randy's Studio 17, King Tubby's, Dynamic Sounds, Black Ark. Mixed by Errol Thompson, King Tubby, Prince Jammy, Lee Perry. Produced by Augustus Pablo."

PABLO, AUGUSTUS: El Rocker's LP (PS 029LP). $11.00

LP version.

PRINCE JAZZBO: Mr. Funny CD (PS 030CD). $14.00

"The 30th release on Pressure Sounds gives the opportunity to showcase the talents of one of Jamaica's premier DJs. Prince Jazzbo was born in Clarendon, Jamaica in 1951. He recorded and produced for his own labels Ujima and Mr. Funny, but first came to prominence with the album Natty Passing Through for producer Lee Perry. Jazzbo recorded for Studio One with the collection Choice of Version and was a fixture on the always competitive Jamaican sound system scene. His on-vinyl clash with I Roy has gone down as one of the legendary clashes in musical folklore. This collection was instigated by longtime Jazzbo fan Adrian Sherwood, and we have 17 of his best cuts gathered on Mr. Funny. Sleeve notes by Noel Hawks and the usual high quality artwork and photography means that this is another heavyweight Pressure Sounds collection."

PRINCE JAZZBO: Mr. Funny LP (PS 030LP). $11.00

LP version.

VA: Channel One: Maxfield Avenue Breakdown LP (PS 031LP). $11.00

LP version.

VA: Firehouse Revolution CD (PS 034CD). $14.00

"King Tubby's productions are invariably linked with his stunning 70s output. However during the 1980s Tubby had far from given up. He rebuilt his studio and continued to keep it right in the heart of the Kingston ghetto. The Waterhouse area of Kingston had earned its reputation as a catalyst for innovation and produced many of Jamaica's finest vocalists. It also had a reputation for violence hence the residents referred to it as 'Firehouse'. King Tubby now put his energies towards building up the studio while not being as 'hands on' as he had been in the past he encouraged some of the younger talented Waterhouse youths to the forefront of his studios output guiding them through their engineering duties. What we have on this album are 16 tracks that Tubby essentially executive produced. This mid 80s is a period that is often overlooked by reggae fans, but slowly the collectors market is starting to acknowledge the value of these forgotten gems. Pressure Sounds feels it is time to put the spotlight on some brilliant music that is as exciting as any of their past releases. The album begins with three stunning cuts of the 'Tempo' rhythm. The album then works through some of the best music from between 1985 to 1989. Anthony Red Rose, Little John, Johnny Osbourne, King Kong all have stunning contributions including three standout cuts of Lloyd Hemmings' 'Rude Boy', followed by Tinga Stewart's 'Dry Up Your Tears' and a wicked dub version. King Tubby actually mixed a version of the 'Sleng Teng' rhythm called 'Under Me Fat Thing'. There are fantastic photos by Dave Hendley and Beth Lesser and sleeve notes by Harry Hawk on the whole Firehouse King Tubby story. While this music could hardly be described as new, it comes from a much more recent period than the usual sixties and seventies 'revival' compilations and is every bit as exciting, innovative and important as anything that has come out of Jamaica."

VA: Firehouse Revolution LP (PS 034LP). $11.00

LP version.

PRINCE FAR I: Psalms For I CD (PS 035CD). $14.00

"Pressure Sounds continues its long association with Prince Far i with the release of the album Psalms For i. It is his arguably strongest vocal outing. Produced by one of reggae's great unsung heroes Producer Lloydie Slim and mastered from the original tapes. There is one super rare extra track on the cd which is a version of psalm 44 which has never been released on cd before. This is Far i at his best, deep spiritual roots music with tight rhythms and fantastic playing supplied by the Aggravators and the Upsetters. Far i as the Voice of thunder the Spear of the nation. Many of the great Jamaican session players are featured Chinna Smith on Guitar, Horsemouth on Drums Robbie Shakespeare on Bass. Rhythms layed at Bunny Lee's studio and Lee Perry's Black Ark."

PRINCE FAR I: Psalms For I LP (PS 035LP). $11.00

LP version.

GIBBS & THE PROFESSIONALS, JOE: No Bones For The Dogs: Dubs From 1974-79 CD (PS 037CD). $14.00

"Joe Gibbs and the Professionals recorded some of the heaviest pounding music of the 1970's. Collected here are some of their most outstanding and rare tracks from the period. Producer Gibbs and engineer Errol Thompson, known as 'The Mighty Two', were accompanied by the cream of Kingston's session musicians and together they turned Gibbs' label into a highly successful hit factory. On No Bones for the Dogs we have focussed on the dub output of Gibbs' label. Many of the tracks on No Bones for the Dogs have never been released on CD and have not been available on vinyl since their original Jamaican pressings. Standout tracks are 'Earthquake', 'Babylon Bridge' and 'Burning Version'. There is a stunning sonic depth to much of Gibbs' output from this period. Much of this is due to Errol Thompson's engineering genius and Gibbs' training as an electronics engineer. We have brilliant artwork and graphics with a full colour booklet and double vinyl package. Another stunning Pressure Sounds package for your delight."

KING TUBBY: Tempo 12" (PST 001). $7.50

"The promised 12" release of 'Tempo' and cuts backed with 'Rude Boy' and cuts eventually grew into a big Firehouse 12" so that sound quality was not lost in the transfer process. Packaged in a very nice facsimile of the 'Firehouse' side of King Tubby's dub plate sleeve."

PRION (GERMANY):

TESENDALO: Muuh LP (PRION 085). $13.00

"New album by Peter Schuster on his own label, limit to 300 copies worldwide, individually hand-painted sleeves." Repetitive vibes-influenced German minimal electronics.

PROFAN (GERMANY):

DIGITAL: Intoleratio 12" (PROFAN 011). $10.00

Some early Profan vinyl in stock for the first time. Wolfgang Voigt in alias mode. 4 tracks of solid techno rigidity recorded just before AND just after four other tracks of solid techno rigidity. Completely indiscernible. Makes you want to do everything BUT dance. Makes me want to sleep." — Hrvatski.

PENTAX: Pentax People/Stoff 12" (PROFAN 013). $10.00

"Lo-lump thump, coated in primordial ooze, set out to ferment. Just plain grim." — Hrvatski.

BRINKMANN, THOMAS: Studio 1 Variationen 1 12" (PROFAN 018). $10.00

"4 Variations on vinyl of the original Mike Ink/Wolfgang Voigt tracks on the Profan label (you know the setup; one turntable with two balanced tonearms placed at hocket-points along the groove-path resulting in a constant in-time doubling of the original audio), and from what I can tell (give or take a few insanity points gained from even trying) at least on of them is NOT on the CD version. If you like music, you NEED this on vinyl." — Hrvatski.

BRINKMANN, THOMAS: Studio 1 Variationen 2 12" (PROFAN 019). $10.00

"4 more variations of Profan tracks, again one included here is NOT on the CD. Well conceived pieces of techno-drift keeping in mind the collected works of Reich et.al in form & function. Good." — Hrvatski.

M:I:5: Mikrophon 12" (PROFAN 023). $10.00

"Solid EP of innovative Popacid sound from Wolfgang 'Grungerman' Voigt, completely Minted out in true Mike Ink fashion. Primed Trance Atlantic Excess for the Gas/Digital set, should appeal to fans of DOM and Studio 1." — Hrvatski.

PENTAX: Konkret 2LP (PROFAN 024 LP). $18.00

Double vinyl version.

ALL: Überall 12" (PROFAN 025). $9.00

All = Wolfgang Voigt. This 3-track EP emphasizes the same sort of sonic-glaze invention as 1999's riveting 'Keep On Rockin' EP (Profan 026). The full color architectural sleeve seems to perfectly coincide with the sonic elevation at play here.

STUDIO 1: Keep on Rockin 12" (PROFAN 026). $9.00

"Even if you're not confused at this point, this single should have you scratching yr head a bit. So... Studio 1 is the artist now, and Profan is the label? Eh? Besides, it looks completely unlike anything on either Profan OR Studio 1 (full color photographic artwork — enough to shock the life out of any Cologne purist), although it's clearly a Mike Ink production. Three long tracks of deviant rhythmic accent, slightly modulating pitch track & trademark chordal punctuation. Top form." — Hrvatski.

WASSERMANN: W.I.R. 12" (PROFAN 027). $9.00

"Yet another alter-aegis of Wolfgang 'MikeInkGrungermanProfanStudio1DadaJack' Voigt, invented to slam you sideways through a very tiny portal. 4 colors, 4 tracks. — Hrvatski.

WASSERMANN: W.I.R. Die Remixe 12" (PROFAN 028). $9.00

"Coming from the heart is the solid-rocking version by Frankfurt's DJ-high priest Sven Vath. In collaboration with the supersmart producer-duo Roman Flugel/Jorn E. Wuttke (Alter Ego, Eight Miles High) he handed in a fat modern DJ-tool. As heartily is the mix of the Cologne DJ-heroes Michael Mayer and Tobias Thomas. Sweated out Studio 672-like, spaced out and tranced into form. And finally once more by the original Wassermann."

VOIGT, REINHARD: Premiere World LP (PROFAN 029 LP). $14.00

VA: Profan CD (PROFAN CD1). $15.00

Repressed after a long absence. Profan is one of Mike Ink's numerous labels out of Germany. Mike records as Gas and Love Inc., with many releases available through Force Inc./Mille Plateaux. Under the Profan imprint he has issued a series of beautiful and abstract/minimal techno 12"s, some of the best of which are collected here on this first CD. Features: M:I:5, Pentax, Jurgen Paape, Digital, Sweet Reinhard, Gas, Mint, Grungerman. Mildly disruptive waveforms, addictive pulse beats, Oval-like click tracks and waves of organic hum typify these tracks. Essential contemporary ambiance, perfectly presented.

BRINKMANN, THOMAS: Studio 1 — Variationen CD (PROFAN CD2). $13.00

A fascinating remix of Mike Ink's Studio 1 CD, released in early '97. Featuring great stereo-phonic effects of paint-peeling intensity, making this a true minimalist magnum opus. "Profan is Profan. Thomas Brinkmann is a young artist out of Cologne. Not only new on Profan, but also in his way of working, using a self-constructed High-End turntable, Brinkmann has re-worked the legendary releases on Profans sub-division Studio One. His special turntable features two needles, which pick up the sound off-beat, extremely divided in right and left channel, following the sound aesthetics of Studio One, there is a brand new feeling of music built up. Bass seems to be doubled, speed to be halved. Some kind of pitch down dub, as an exciting result of re-working a given already glimmering music. Probably the sound of a new age, which let's classical remixing look pretty old-fashioned."

M:I:5: MaBstab CD (PROFAN CD3). $13.00

"The man behind M:I:5 is nobody else but Wolfgang Voigt (aka Mike Ink, Mint, Digital, Gungerman, Love Inc., Gas (on Mille Plateaux)), — you don't need it to be written on the cover of this CD. For a long time this special side-project of Voigt's has been known only by insiders. Since his M:I:5 masterpiece 'Rosenkranz', released on the Finnish Sähkö imprint, 'reverence' is probably the right word to describe his worldwide reception. M:I:5 is not only another release platform, but means a very special concept of composition, already described in the title 'Mass-stab 1:5' (to a scale of 1:5). The music of M:I:5 is the result of the distance in which two rhythmic samples (loops) are set to another, when they are started at the same time. The gap between them is a fifth, so both 'meet' each other exactly after five turns. What you get is a unique impression of rhythm, which seems to be in a permanent movement. In this kind of music the computer takes over the responsibility for the whole groove design, so that man as authority can keep distance in a very pleasant way. This is music for the time after. Man and machine in a new scale."

PENTAX: Das Album CD (PROFAN CD4). $17.00

Fourth Profan CD is a solo album by Reinhard Voigt. A low-key electronic stunner of shifting muting beats, cloaked sound emanations and fascinating abstract vibe. With this new batch of releases Profan has quietly moved into the forefront of essential and important contemporary labels — all titles are recommended. "And it goes on: Pentax Music. Profan presents Reinhard Voigt in a longplay format and on a temporary climax of seriousness. Minimal Bass without frontiers, spectacular groove-artistics. Reflecting particles, low, little, very small. To save the groove, you have to hide it sometimes. Anyway, it will never disappear. Everything is rolling, nearly out of tune, all pieces get out of place, into every little corner of hearing. Experiences of pain and healing. Eleven tracks like the Ten Commandments. Trendspotting magazines like Spex and De:Bug already declared it a monument of the New School of German Techno."

PENTAX: Konkret CD (PROFAN CD5). $17.00

"Scarily accurate rendering of contemporary anti-utopia by Reinhard Voigt (aka Sweet Reinhard, etc...). Extremely damaged post-post dancefloor militancy, devoid of ANY pleasure-inducing elements save for the harsh, foreboding THUD of crisp 808 kicks sampled & filtered 10x over. Babelfish says (of Pentax): 'and anti-No. andantino cuts itself a piece of sausage of the finger and feeds thereby its turteltauben dog if the turteltauben dog from birth without hearing is, takes it feeds gratefully against otherwise possibly remembers it at their sight a phonograph record this incommmodity can andantino and its turteltauben dog, if this was accustomed to the playplay play, thus save that it inverts the turteltauben dog before feeding the huendische turteltaube is with grains to feed from serious jandl.'" — Hrvatski.

VOIGT, REINHARD: Premiere World CD (PROFAN CD6). $15.00

"Fantastic new record by Reinhard Voigt, a.k.a Kron, Sturm, Pentax, and others. Instead of the dark turbulent drones of his records as Sturm, or the impossible to dance to rhythmic workouts of Pentax, this one is closer in spirit to his LP as Kron on Harvest, minus the kick-drums. Lush, populated with ringing keyboards and washes of breathy atmospherics, as captivating as an ambient record can get. Some of the components of his usual sonic palette are present, which sort of makes the whole thing sound as if it's playing backwards in places, the center always shifting, tones reflected, decaying, only to appear again out of nowhere. There is a warmth that hovers around this whole record, and the wealth of detail here is neither glaring nor forceful — it inhabits you, instead of hitting you on the head. It's tempting to refer to the dinosaurs depicted in the booklet of the CD, the soundtrack to some long lost utopia, this thing is so goddamn idyllic in places, like the title says...stunning. No titles, 6 tracks, 40 minutes." — Billy Kiely

PROGRESSIVE FORM (JAPAN):

VA: Forma 1.02 CD (PFC 003CD). $16.00

"For this first installment, this compilation features artists such as Aoki Takamasa, Tsuchiya Yasuyuki, and Eutro. Progressive Form also welcomes label newcomers, Yoshihiro Hanno aka Multiphonic Ensemble who also runs his own label, Cirque and is a member of Hoon whose leader is none other than the world renowned Ryuichi Sakamoto. All the artists have converged to Progressive Form and have condensed an assorted variety of essence of contemporary electronic music."

HANNO, YOSHIHIRO: 9 Modules+ CD (PFC 004CD). $16.00

"In 1997, releasing an album out of distinguished Belgium label Subrosa as Multiphonic Ensemble, was the beginning of an illustrious, multi-creative, and worldwide-based career for Yoshihiro Hanno. From that point onwards, Hanno was involved in many collaborations, produced soundtracks for a couple of movies, released his own music on his own Cirque label, and became a member of Ryuichi Sakamoto's group Hoon — to mention a few. Yoshihiro Hanno's new album is his own progression of his peculiarity towards the expression of beats and rhythm which surpasses the many sounds of Hip Hop, House, Techno, electronics, contemporary music, and Jazz which he has journeyed through in the past. This album expresses Hanno's 2002 reality which was produced in Paris, Berlin, and Tokyo."

PROPTONIX (GERMANY):

PIGEON FUNK: 12" (PROP 01). $8.00

"Proptonix is a new label dedicated to fake electronics. The label is operated by Safety Scissors, a producer of electronic music that ranges from techno to noise. The label will release material from a closely knit Californian collective as well as others who will surrender to the un-serious side of electronic music. San Francisco's two biggest nerds, Kit Clayton and Sutekh, drop their serious guise to reveal that they are no more than pigeons in human suits. This 5 track EP has been especially engineered as dance music for pigeons, the highly intelligent but commonly disregarded street fowl. Studies have already shown the urban birds responding well to this warped ornithologic electro and beak bobbing techno. Even though the physics of the pigeon world are much different than that of humans, humans will also enjoy these tracks, whether on the dancefloor or in listening environments

(ie. Proptronix enhanced living simulations)."

VA: Proptronix Presents: Elektrik Pants 12" (PROP 02). $9.00

"Several years have passed since a select group of musicians first became interested in the potential benefit of electric pants to the electronic music world. On this five track EP, the results of extensive research in the sonic sweatshop are presented in their original form. Pants of all styles and sizes can be electrified leading to diverse musical applications for the dance floor or listening environments (i.e. Proptronix enhanced living simulations). Kit Clayton's (Orthlorng, Scape) contribution is more of a shocking spelling bee than a fashion show. Sutekh (Context, Force Inc) showcases a style that reinforces how electric pants can enhance ordinary dancing. Riding on the hem of their trousers, Safety Scissors (Plug Research) sports two tailored tracks this season — one comfortable and the other featuring some fitting belted out vocals. Demonstrating the athletic versatility of electric virility, Jake Mandell (Carpark, Force Inc) flexes his high fashion leg wear. Try them on for size and see what they can do for you."

JACKSTONE: Don't Stop 12" (PROP 03). $9.00

Geoff White sampling record. Features an amazing laptop version of Michael Jackson's "Don't Stop Til You Get Enough".

PJ POOTERHOOTS: Barf (Liebe Meine EP) 12" (PROP 04). $9.00

"Sometimes you just have to barf! and in fact it can feel so good to do so. Everyone knows this but you can hear here that PJ Pooterhoots (aka Craig Drake) is a strong purveyor of this sentiment. Back in the day, in the d' (Detroit that is) PJ previously presented recapitulations and regurgitations of familiar things under the name Cantina on definitive, the house label connected to Plus 8, run by Jon Aquaviva. He performed dangerous musical stunts in the rave duo, Hatatomic. Now, he rudely reintroduces himself with this amazing journey from the belly outward, after years of indigestion. The first side finds two hits that will send you sliding across the dancefloor in your own puke; a robotnick styled disco gurgles lovely French food and then a house bumper makes rolling waves in the tub (causing seasickness?). On the flip, Safety Scissors of Plug Research and Proptronix fame, sprays out an acidic mixture of half-digested sounds from PJ, a remix located somewhere between the club and the lounge."

MY ROBOT FRIEND: Why Won't You Call Me Back 12" (PROP 05). $9.00

"I have a friend who is a robot. His name is Howard Robot and he lives in New York. He is My Robot Friend, an ace automaton who is articulating music that appeals to humans worldwide. Like most other sentient mechanical entities, he longs for flesh and emotion, and in order to synthesize such tendencies he creates songs like the ones you will find here. My Robot Friend presents a spectrum of his various programmed personalities on this vinyl only publication; from an tentative yet hopeful question at the start, to a declarative statement of his identity in a sonorous soliloquy on the second side. His positronic matrix of a brain has simulated all sorts of musical styles but the sound is always sharp and the feeling dialed in with precision. An acrid smell of ozone makes one wonder if a wire or two has not been crossed in Howard's head (but maybe he is actually just a human). More friends, Matmos (Matador, Vague Terrain), punch in *69 on the telephone with a new wave disco remix of 'Why Won't You Call Me Back?' which very much sounds like one of the member's side projects, Soft Pink Truth. Neon lights and loud sound systems provide another setting to ask the same question."

STOP DISCO MAFIA: Stop Disco Mafia 12" (PROP 06). $9.00

"'Luckily, when the gang came in and shot up the restaurant, they done it with just water pistols. Otherwise, I would've been dead meat rather than a soaked ham.'" Ronald Gonko rolls out Stop Disco Mafia, his debut electronic release. Here is a record that is sometimes mistaken for a soundtrack from a demented Russian cartoon, which you cannot tell who's on whose side. Action lines are illustrated with rubbery melodies and a flurry of truncated funk. Each track is an animated scene with parts and counterparts chasing each other through obstacle courses while lobbing exchanges of practical jokes; bouncing around on an absurd dance floor with repetitive slapstick. Nora Below (BPitch Control) puts in a few words on 'A Quarrel' and a whole gang of other henchman Ronald has employed, armed with synthesizers and singing saws, are accomplices on the other numbers. You may have seen Ronald before, accompanying an orchestra of mandolins on bass. They are known as Kapaikos, a highly trained group of subversive string players. Or perhaps you have been subjected to his punk noise under the name Discounter. If not, just note that Mr. Gonko has been surfacing in different musical projects in the underground of Germany since an early age. The everlasting residents fan and survivor of the punk and new wave socialization in the early 80's presents a new invention of his history here. Stop the Disco Mafia or the Mafia will Stop Disco."

SAFETY SCISSORS: Fridgelif (New + Improved) 12" (PROP 07). $9.00

"A cold dark basement and lack of sleep both contributed to the inspiration for adding some vocals to a bopping house ditty late one night. In the spring of the year 2000 Safety Scissors' 2nd EP ever and his first on the new-at-the-time label, Force Tracks, was released. On it appeared a track with lyrics organized in a Sesame Street melody about living in a refrigerator. Here Proptronix, his own label dedicated to fake electronics (and appliances too), brings four new mixes out of refrigerated storage to the table. First, PJ Pooterhoots and safety engage in a food fight to make a wicked mess. Ingredients include new expanded lyrics about the lonely life in the fridge and many industrial rave flavors. With the second remix, Safety Scissors and Watson Macletus (Plug Research) relive the original experience with chilled techno rhythms, fart synths and live rubber bass. John Tejada (Palette, Playhouse) organizes the shelves and throws out the leftovers with the most dance friendly mix. Dancing will keep you warm since it is cold in here. Lastly, Akshual Jakshun (Incomplet records) rudely drinks straight from the milk carton with his remix, adding some lo-fi vocals of his own and embellishing the anthemic refrain."

FAKE: Electronix Catalog Vol. 1 12" (PROP 08). $9.00

"This release is a fake electronic music sampler appropriately issued on Safety Scissors' label dedicated to fake electronic devices...props posing as functional devices. Usually, fake electronics are scattered throughout furniture stores, not seen on a floor of their own in a department store and especially not consolidated in a special catalog. It is even more peculiar that the electronics are abstracted further as they are represented by audio; the system of representations can be abstruse. So rather than filling out empty cardboard boxes with hollow concepts (and use confusion as a sales tactic) let me show you what I have in the back of the van and we can do some business: a brand new model from the Rip Off Artist with turbo kick and sampled vocal components. The artist also makes products for Palette, Vertical Form, and his own Inflab! labl. Comes with the guarantee it will sound as good on the dancefloor as it did on the showfloor."

PROSPECT RECORDINGS (NETHERLANDS):

VA: Expertise CD (PROS 001CD). $15.00

"Prospect Recordings is a Fresh label focusing on creatively inspired electronic music.

Prospects surprises with a full length album with relatively unknown artists which is absolutely fantastic! It is not very common to start the label with a compilation.... but if this compilation is a showcase for the following Prospect releases then the future looks bright. An emotional compilation of different electronic disciplines from 16 different artists (EU, Mr Projectile, Funkarma, Loess, Multiplex and others) who all seems to be very talented... In every way this album is a delight to play and to listen."

PLAT: Biraefni 12" (PROS 002 EP). $10.00

"2nd release on this small obscure but fine label from Holland. Four lush, melodious tracks by two Icelandic multi instrumentalist producers. Biraefni is their debut release and combines abstract electronic structures and beautiful melodies with live drums and guitar. Although they claim not to be inspired by nature most listeners will find themselves embedded in a field of subtle layers with new sights on every horizon once you start listening... over and over.. On top a final massive bonus remix by the Funkarma bros. is included. Their treat is a rough change of mood in comparison to the original, with a more extreme complex rhythm section, not to miss."

PRUDENCE (GERMANY):

THOMAS, PETER: Kriminal Filmmusik CD (PRUD 6533). $15.00

"Original soundtrack recordings by the Peter Thomas Sound-Orchestra for a series of Crime Dramas by noted director Edgar Wallace (keep repeating to yourself, mantra style, 'Klaus Kinski... Klaus Kinski... Klaus...') dated 1961-1966. This music predates the already proven Raumpatrouille themes by quite a few years, and fails not to raise a few hairs/hackles within the dermal structure/spinal column of prospective auditeers. Those w/o a taste for the finer points in life (bumper cars, ripe malangas, flag day...) need not shed an ounce of moisture pining over the relative importance of these leitmotives as compared to, say, Can. I can't think of a single individual who can resist crime-related mouth emittance (screaming, death moans, gangster yelps, etc...) & their resultant overtones (post-echoplex) gracing the 'space' throughout druggyspiralled (& often dissonant) beat-jazz/plated E-bass epics. No one. Completely in it's own element/orbit. You're all looking ten years to late for the 'meat'. Classy." — Hrvatski.

ROEDELIUS/ALQUIMIA: Move & Resonate CD (PRUD 6557). $15.00

"For Move & Resonate Roedelius has found an equally illustrious and congenial creative partner: London based Mexican singer, composer and sonic innovator Alquimia has brought a rare Latin american/world music influence to his electronic and ambient pieces. Singing in various languages such as Spanish, English, French and dNahuatl amongst others, she also uses her voice to create multilayered choirs and electronic vocal soundscapes." Roedelius (Ensoniq TS 10-keyboard, pre-prepared soundmaterial, various samples, voice), Alquimia (flutes, ocarinas, clay drums & pots, timbales, teponaxtil, huehuetl, wood block, rain stick, seeds, bones, gabasa, shakers, maracas, guiro, cowbell, gongs, various chimes and bells, cymbals, electronics, synthesizers and voice).

ROEDELIUS: Roedeliusweg CD (PRUD 6563). $15.00

"German electronica legend Hans-Joachim Roedelius looks back on over 30 years of highly influential work in avantgarde, electronic and New Instrumental music. The self-educated composer has made music history as founder/member of groups such as Human Being, Cluster/Kluster and Harmonia, and through his collaborations with Brian Eno, Holger Czukay of Can, Conny Plank or Michael Rother. His influence threads throughout contemporary electronica having informed the work of David Bowie, Stereolab, The Orb, Tortoise, a.o.. On Roedeliusweg Hans-Joachim Roedelius himself is clearly influenced by the grooves of the younger generation. He has composed, played, arranged and recorded most of the material in his homestudio in Baden/Austria, before longtime collaborators Fabio Capanni and Eric Spitzer-Marlyn added their guitar tracks."

PSEUDONYM RECORDS (NETHERLANDS):

AHORA MAZDA: CD (PSEUD 1064). $16.00

First legit/CD issue of this Dutch progressive psych album from 1970, with 5 previously unreleased bonus tracks (demos recorded a few months before the album). Spacy, free-psych explorations, not totally dissimilar to something like Annexus Quam's more abstract moments. 'Ahoru Mazda (the western corruption of Ahoera Mazda) is the name of the god of light from the Zend-Avesta, the holy book of the ancient Persians. After concerts throughout the country and after the American record label ESP had shown interest- without leading to any definite contracts — Joop Visser of the group Bovema took the initiative to produce an album for this group. Instead of recording elongated sets they decided to record shorter, more conveniently arranged numbers. After three days of recording at the Bovema studios, where they enjoyed the many possibilities of dubbing and special effects, there was enough material for the Catfish label LP Ahoru Mazda. It was released on May 31, 1970 and shortly afterwards on the Pathé Marconi label in France."

OUTSIDERS: C.Q. CD (PSEUD 1073). $16.00

Restocked. Long awaited reissue, with 5 bonus tracks (originally issued in 1968; first CD reissue was done in 1993, but has been unavailable for about 5 years now). From master tapes licensed from Universal, packaged with an elaborate 20 page booklet of notes and color photos. "During the spring and summer of 1968 the new line-up spent a great deal of time in GTB Studios in The Hague, working on an ambitious set of recordings that would become their final album: C.Q. The Pretty Things had their S.F. Sorrow, the Beach Boys' (almost) had their Smile, for the Outsiders, C.Q. was the album where the limits of musical and studio experimentation were pushed to new extremes. However C.Q. not only includes some startling innovations, it also contains some of the band's strongest material. The ballads 'You're Everything On Earth', 'It Seems Like Nothing's Gonna Come My Way Today' and 'I Love You No. 2' are absolutely stunning — vocalist Wally Tax was clearly born to sing material like this, and he's at his heartrending best here. Meanwhile the band's harder punk edge can be heard on 'Misfit', 'Man on the Dune', and the maniac fuzz and feedback overdrive of 'Doctor Doctor'; 'Zsarrah', with it's strange voices and plinking Eastern scales conjures up a genuinely disturbing atmosphere, as does the apocalyptic title track, while the slamming blues rocker 'Happyville' tells of the dark, seedy side of Holland's sex industry, and 'Daddy Died On Saturday' wraps a tale of deceit and murder in a catchy pop melody (and somehow sounds not a million miles away from Ziggy Stardust-era David Bowie!). Released on Polydor in October 1968, C.Q. was acclaimed by many critics and fans but sold extremely poorly. It's estimated that less than 1000 copies were sold, making it virtually impossible to find today." — Mike Stax

ZIPPS: Be Stoned! Dig: Zipps LP (PSEUD 99002). $23.00

Limited LP version, 500 copies made. 180 gram vinyl, from master tapes.

OUTSIDERS: C.Q. LP (PSEUD 99008). $23.00

Limited edition of 1,000 copies, pressed on 180 gram vinyl. Originally issued in 1968; this vinyl version is taken from master tapes licensed from Universal, packaged with an elaborate gatefold sleeve.

PSF (JAPAN):

TAKAYANAGI/NEW DIRECTION, MASAYUKI: Live Independence CD (PSF 057). $18.00
Another previously unreleased archive release from Takayanagi, the premier Japanese free-guitar stylist. Recorded live in 1970, waves of trademark feedback abound, but also some more serene segments with flute, freedom atmospherics, etc. Not as overwhelmingly brain-bombing as his previous release on the label (PSF 41), but definitely another important piece in the crucial documentation of Takayanagi's career.

FUSHITSUSHA: 2CD (PSF 003/004). $36.00

Long demanded reissue of the self-titled debut Fushitsusha double live album from the early 90s. An entirely different record to the wildly popular Double Live 2CD (PSF 15/16) which came out a couple years after this one. "This is where it all began. One of the first releases on the then fledgling PSF label was a DLP by Fushitsusha, Keiji Haino's ultimate rock unit. Haino was already an underground legend in Japan and had been for the previous twenty years, but was still virtually unknown anywhere else and this was only his second LP release. The all-black gatefold with the silver spray painted cross on the inside was one of the mysterious items to have appeared out of a scene already cloaked in mystery. The sounds it contained seemed to suggest nothing so much as the primeval mythic soul-soup from which all music originated. Word began to spread outside of Japan, and the 1000 copies pressed soon began changing hands for ludicrous sums. To the few that got to hear it, it was a record of breathtaking originality that hinted greatly at what was to follow. Haino is now one of the undoubted gods of the underground, inspiring devotion and awe whenever he plays. There have been a flood of releases, spreading the name worldwide. But throughout it all Haino has steadfastly refused all offers to reissue the Fushitsusha DLP. At one stage there was talk of the current line-up of the band re-recording all the tracks. Finally this autumn, Haino relented and these sounds will at last reach the wider listener audience they so deserve. One of the essential records of the last ten years. It is truly a joy to have it finally available on CD." —Alan Cummings.

HAINO/MIKAMI/YOSHIZAWA: Live In The First Year of Heisei Vol I CD (PSF 005 CD). $18.00

Live improv folk-noise, between Keiji Haino (guitar), Kan Mikami (guitar, vocal) and Moto Yoshizawa (bs). These 2 companion volumes were (as LPs) amongst the first batch of releases on the fledgling PSF label in the late 80s. Now available on CD as well. Accurately described as "twisted folksongs, harsh voice and noise guitar passage. Very strange atmosphere."

HAINO/MIKAMI/YOSHIZAWA: Live In The First Year of Heisei Vol II CD (PSF 006 CD). $18.00

Second, equally interesting volume of the above.

HAINO, KEIJI: Nijiumu CD (PSF 007). $18.00

Solo project from Haino, with his voice/guitar/percussion combining to make up one of the most alien, "mysterious energy" listening experiences imaginable? A caenient excursion into the ecstasy-sounds of train wreckage and higher consciousness. Evidently this is the result of a study of Chinese breathing methods, 12th century troubadour music and Blue Cheer.

YOSHIZAWA, MOTOHARU: Gobbledygook CD (PSF 008). $18.00

Yoshizawa is a legendary, long-time bass improviser in the Tokyo scene. This albums consists of improvisations recorded in NYC with E.Sharp, Butch Morris and Ikuu Mori.

MUKAI, CHIE: Kokyu Improvisations CD (PSF 010). $18.00

Chie Mukai has long been a legendary figure in Japan (going back to the Taj Mahal Travellers), and more recently has been working with her band Che-Shizu (2 CDs on PSF). This CD features her playing an ancient Chinese violin (Kokyu), with bits of voice, pieces of metal, bronze rings, cymbals, tape-soundscapes added in. Much appeal for anyone interested in a Fluxal/Theater of Eternal Music-influenced hour of subtle screech; the sound of "floating atmosphere."

WHITE HEAVEN: Out CD (PSF 011). $18.00

Finally reissued; this was one of the early PSF LP-only titles and had been out of print for a number of years. The debut recording by this Tokyo psychedelc unit, it features scorching post-Cipollina guitar work by Michio Kurihara, and is one of the flat out great rock records of the 90s.

VA: Tokyo Flashback I CD (PSF 012). $18.00

This is a good and obvious place to start with the Poor Strong Factory (P.S.F. — originally stood for Psychedelic Speed Freaks, which was the name High Rise first used for their group) label? unquestionably the best, weirdest, wildest currently ongoing label in Japan. Exclusive tracks by Ghost, Fushitsusha, White Heaven, High Rise, are here & the 68 minutes of overloaded distortion and simple, modern, psych-underground destruction going on here is honestly breathtaking. First of 4 volumes (to date), all editions of Tokyo Flashback are worth investigating.

MIKAMI, KAN: I'm The Only One Around CD (PSF 013). $18.00

Great guitar/vocal acoustic zoner folk from this legend, his first release on the label. Solo studio performances.

KADOTANI, MICHIO: Rotten Telepathies CD (PSF 014). $18.00

This was a tribute CD of sorts to a late Japanese underground legend from the 70s, who never had anything officially released. His solo music, as documented here, was fuzzy, aggressive, angular-punk-influenced junk; at it's best, a muzzy flair rears its head.

FUSHITSUSHA: Double Live 2CD (PSF 015/16). $36.00

Keiji Haino's rock trio debuted to the world of recordings with a double live LP set (PSF 3/4 — long deleted) and then followed it up with this one — another double live set (completely different material). Mind boggling guitar/bass/drums extensions from the heaviest rock band on planet earth. This 150 minute double-CD (wrapped in stunning all-black cover) is one of the quintessential documents of the modern era.

GASENETA: Sooner Or Later CD (PSF 017). $18.00

Described as: "Legacy of Japanese late 70s legend. Frantic voice, over-the-top distorted guitar, thunderous rhythm section made a killer garage sound. Gaseneta had inestimable influence on High Rise's sound (indeed, High Rise covered Gaseneta's song in their early days.)" Recorded in 1978, this is really fried stuff, some of the most aggressively gargled Japanese music (in a sorta acid-punk vein) ever witnessed.

LOST AARAAFF: CD (PSF 018). $18.00

Haino's first band, recorded 1971; piano, percussion and vocals, from his "influenced by Albert Ayler" period. Amazingly out performance.

BORBETOMAGUS: Live At Inroads CD (PSF 019). $18.00

Reissue of a long deleted cassette, live on 11/27/82, now only available as Japanese CD. The sheer sonic purity of Borbetomagus' onslaught makes them the only US artist worthy of a PSF release to date.

MIKAMI, KAN: Jo-You (Actress) CD (PSF 020). $18.00

Trademark rough, distorted folk-esque material that stands outside parameters of time/space. 2nd release on the label.

YOSHIZAWA, MOTOHARU: From The Faraway Nearby CD (PSF 021). $18.00

The long standing free improv "operator" developed a homemade 5 string bass and this is a solo recording of him playing it with the addition of electronics and "quadruplexed" multi-tracking.

YOSHIZAWA/TAKEHISA KOSUGI/HARUNA MIYAKE, MOTO: Angels Have Passed CD (PSF 022). $18.00

Trio improv; Yoshizawa playing 5 string bass, Kosugi on violin, and Miyake on piano. A post-Cecil thirdstream air about it that's real avant-classical. Fluxus member Kosugi was also a member of 70s legends Taj Mahal Travellers.

HAINO, KEIJI: Affection CD (PSF 023). $18.00

"This is another side of Haino. Full of dark and beautiful atmosphere." A live solo performance from '91, vocals and guitar. Stunning folked-out passages elevate into new parameters of density. Truly peaked, alien music.

VA: Tokyo Flashback II CD (PSF 024). $18.00

High Rise (w/ Haino singing), White Heaven, Ghost, Fushitsusha (raging cover of a song by the Jacks? mythical Japanese 60s garage band), Marble Sheep & a totally thrilling cut by Kousokuya. Etc.

SATO, MICHIOHIRO: Works Of CD (PSF 028). $18.00

Playing the ancient instrument Tsugaru-Shamisen (3 strings) w/ temple-floating power. Sato is perhaps best known for his NY downtown collaboration album produced by Zorn (Hat Art 6015), but here you can hear his genius minus the interruptions. Beautiful, unique transport.

TOMOKAWA, KAZUKI: Fault Of Flowers CD (PSF 029). $18.00

"Legendary singer-songwriter similar to Kan Mikami, but more sensitive like Tim Buckley. This is solo recording beyond the long blank." First of 7 albums for PSF; it's tends to be very difficult to drag westerners into Tomokawa's insanely wired world, but once attached, his music has breathtaking depth and charge. With lyrics and liner notes (by Mikami Kan) translated to English.

MIKAMI, KAN: U.S.E. CD (PSF 030). $18.00

His 3rd for PSF. "Kan has perfected a form he calls Japanese Blues, but every album he has made over the past 20 years has raised it to a new height of creative intensity... regulars come back year after year to hear songs that are raucous, splendiferous, surreal, Japan itself, both image and critique. The words are sometimes soft, as limp and multidimensional as Dali watches, other times razor sharp, slicing through the screen of conventional morality. And the triumphant voice! Like gravel scratching on a riverbed, a crow and then an eagle, screaming out of range, then soft and mellow, silky and sublime. There's nothing like it in Japan. And there's no rival to Mikami Kan anywhere else, either."? Drew Stroud.

NIJUMU: Era of Sad Wings CD (PSF 031). $18.00

Nijumu is the performance group of Keiji Haino. Here his reverb drenched voice careens over a wash of unearthly electronics into a holy storm of late night moan and non-conventional-human atmosphere. "Collaboration of various acoustic instruments and electric effects. Present-day medieval music!"

BERTOIA, HARRY: Unfolding CD (PSF 032). $18.00

"Ambient and strange atmosphere" from the late sound sculptor. This reissues two of this American genius's many self-released LPs as a great public service. His "sounding sculptures" consist of "ranks of tall slender rods, placed either upright or at special slants in rectangular formations. These metallic faces are not rigid, but 'give' when stroked — at the same time releasing lingering musical chords of a weirdly haunting nature."

TOMOKAWA, KAZUKI: Beauty Without Mercy CD (PSF 033). $18.00

2nd Tomokawa CD on PSF, a reissue of a 1985 masterpiece. More of his aggressive and inspired folk. "Lyrical screaming vocal with band sound. The one and only!"

VA: Tokyo Flashback III CD (PSF 034). $18.00

All unreleased material by White Heaven, Fushitsusha (w/ an amazingly dense live track), Ghost, Mahel Shalal Hash Baz, Shizuka, Uchu Engine, Sweet & Honey, Overhang Party, Kumo to Hae, Daichi-Hakkensha, etc.

CHE-SHIZU: Nazareth CD (PSF 035). $18.00

Live material from Chie Mukai's group, recorded in 1981, who play "ambient psychedelic music... includes Tori Kudo, leader of Maher Shalal Hash Baz." From Alan Cummings's "Japanese Psychodelia Primer" in The Wire: "'The dream-pop psych unit Ché-Shizu are one of the rare examples of a traditional Japanese instrument (in this case, the three-stringed kokyu bowed fiddle) being used in a psychedelic context. Nazareth is a sometimes shambling compilation of their live recordings and features the fascinatingly atonal sound of Chie Mukai's kokyu drifting through the cracks of conventional melody. The group's interest in traditional English folk music is just one more indication of the breadth and complexity of underground Japan's continuing interaction with the West."

TOMOKAWA, KAZUKI: Live Manda-la Special CD (PSF 036). $18.00

3rd Tomokawa (Buckley-esque folk legend) release on PSF, a collection of live performances.

HAINO, KEIJI: Watashi-Dake? CD (PSF 038). $18.00

Much needed reissue of the first solo Haino, a self-released album from 1980. This is an incredible record, guitar and voice and the extreme personal depth that every Haino release exudes. This CD adds an unbelievably good 28 minute previously unreleased track that is possibly the single greatest guitar overload blow-out of all time. An absolute must.

CINORAMA: Three Lies And Ding at 5 O'Clock CD (PSF 039). $18.00

"New project featuring Toshi (ex-Brain Police? legendary 70s Japanese cult group). Great complex avant garde sound with female vocal." Weird, most outright "progressive" band on PSF, and pretty interesting to hear.

ABE, KAORU: Solo 72 CD (PSF 040). $18.00

The late Kaoru Abe is a legend in the Japanese free Jazz underground, who died at the age of 29 over a decade ago. A few years ago the DIW label issued a fairly astounding 10 Volumes of his solo improv (his main instrument is alto sax, which he plays in a very free-form style). I believe he was friends with Haino (who wrote liner notes for Vol 6 of that series), although there are no available recordings of them together.

TAKAYANAGI/NEW DIRECTION, MASAYUKI: Call In Question CD (PSF 041). $18.00

Takayanagi is the premier free-guitarist legend in the Japanese underground story. This CD features unreleased material by the master, from 1970. The sound is heavy improv, with Takayanagi's explosive feedback wail in prominent display. As fine an introduction to his music as you could hope for (most of his albums from the 60s & 70s are impossible to track down).

DISLOCATION: Peak to Peak CD (PSF 042). $18.00

Underground improvisation saxophone/noise-electronics band, in a vague Borbetomagus-vein.

TOMOKAWA, KAZUKI: Playing With Phantom CD (PSF 043). $18.00

Studio recording, with a great avant-bent acoustic backing band (featuring bass, cello, percussion) to go along with Tomokawa's trademark guitar and vocals.

MIKAMI, KAN: Shichigatsu No Eiketsu (A Great Man Of July) CD (PSF 044). $18.00
4th release of intense guitar/vocal exorcism for PSF. From Alan Cummings' liner notes: "Haino Keiji has said that Mikami is the only person he trusts to sing in his place."

HAINO/PHILLIPS/TOYOZUMI: Two Strings Will Do It CD (PSF 045). $18.00
A trio improvisation between Haino (guitar), Barre Phillips (bass), and Sabu Toyozumi (percussion), recorded in 1991. Four tracks of sparse, very free-form improv, more in the FMP or Incus mode.

ABE, KAORU: 1972.4.11 CD (PSF 046). $18.00
3 solo alto sax improv-screed sessions from '72. "Another side of Abe. Warm and tenderly sounds. This is also previously unreleased."

YOSHIZAWA/MOTOTERU TAKAGI, MOTO: Deep Seal/Abyss Duo 1969 CD (PSF 047). $18.00

"Precious document of early Japanese improvised music scene. Tensional performance of heavy sounds from reeds and bass."

MIKAMI/KAZUKI TOMOKAWA, KAN: Goen CD (PSF 049). $18.00
Live record by these two legendary members of the Japanese 70's singer/songwriter/guitarist school, with their combined gruff, emotional styles. Starts out as solo Mikami, then joined by Tomokawa and a larger ensemble. Both of these guys have been resurrected career-wise by PSF, in a pretty impressive way.

FUSHITSUSHA: Pathétique CD (PSF 050). $18.00
The 4th overall release by Keiji Haino's Fushitsusha group (following the Double Live LP (PSF 3/4), Double Live CD (PSF 15/16) and Allegorical Misunderstanding (Avant 008). This has 4 long tracks, 74 minutes of music; stylistically it's in the heavy over the top guitar trio mode a la PSF 15/16 and absolutely the dream Fushitsusha release that everybody was waiting for. Packed again in a gorgeous black fold out, with a first: English lyric translations.

HIRANO, GO: Distance LP (PSF 051). $28.00
Curious, beautifully produced violin, guitar and electronics improvisations, vaguely referable to the Organum school of music. Only on vinyl, for whatever reason.

SHIZUKA: CD (PSF 052). $18.00
Debut release by this band, previously heard on Tokyo Flashback III. Pretty great 3 piece rock band, with exquisite female vocals by Shizuka; some tracks are in a darkish, somber range with piano and cello embellishment, others have staggering, practically Haino-esque fuzz guitar throughout. Their more recent 2nd CD is on the Persona Non Grata label.

CHE-SHIZU: A Journey CD (PSF 053). $18.00
2nd CD by this group featuring Chie Mukai. The sound is a very advanced, mature/classic form of "rock," with guitars, piano, bass, drums and streaming, evocative vocals from Mukai. Hard to classify, there's a non-clichéd slant to their music that one almost never experiences in the horrific corridors of near-rock. Surreal dreamscapes, perfectly realized.

YOSHIZAWA, MOTOHARU: Empty Hats CD (PSF 054). $18.00
1994 recording for solo electric vertical five strings bass, one of Yoshizawa's personal inventions, a terrain previously explored on PSF 8 & 22. The sound here is small, noisy interludes and quirky improv, very quietly recorded & tough to really get into.

YOSHIZAWA, MOTOHARU: Cracked Mirrors CD (PSF 055). $18.00
Reissue of a fantastic solo bass album from 1975. With tracks dedicated to Steve Lacy, Barre Phillips and others, this is bowed, flowing higher-key music for the spheres and probably the most interesting Yoshizawa document to date. Not to be dismissed as a mere "solo bass" album.

ABE TRIO, KAORU: Shinjuku CD (PSF 056). $18.00
Earlier recordings yet released by the late/great alto sax player of the Japanese underground, from March 1970, in a bs/drums trio setting. Two long, powerful, exploratory improv blast-outs. If you're into Ayler-like stamina displays, here's your lost man.

TOHO SARA: Eastern Most 1-7 CD (PSF 058). $18.00
Described as a Japanese Underground shamanistic avant garde music outfit, Toho Sara is a new trio featuring Nanjo (High Rise), playing an assortment of instruments like cello, flute, bass recorder, china gong, tabla, bass, piri, oboe, harmonium, vibes, kei, biwa, shakujō, viola, violin, hansom, etc. "A mystery group ala Third Ear Band. Mystic music with ancient instruments."

TOMOKAWA, KAZUKI: Dance A Bonodori Alone CD (PSF 059). $18.00
5th CD on PSF by Tomokawa; including Moto Yoshizawa (bass) and Toshi Ishizuka (perc.; Cinorama). Emotionally played acoustic chant exorcisms by a master; English listeners who've had trouble getting into Tomokawa might want to try again here; this is avant-folk expression like little you've ever heard before, and the opening track (title track) would have to go on any best of PSF sampler you'd want to put together.

MIKAMI, KAN: Jazz And Other Things CD (PSF 060). $18.00
5th album for the label, and another astounding visionary triumph for the emotionally bursting singer/guitarist. The second track here, where Mikami enunciates just one word over and over, is one of the most spirally, physically stroked tracks in the extensive PSF catalog (we're only talking about the world's most aesthetically perfect record label). "Mikami is the blues; pure uncut humanity and universal force that don't need no words? you going to tell me you didn't understand a single word of Blind Willie Johnson's 'Dark Was the Night,' or Loran Mazzacane's early moaning, or even Ayler's soul scream? Mikami's got a voice, a soul, and a guitar and you should be able to deal with those." ? Alan Cummings. Comes with English notes and lyric translations.

MUSICA TRANSONIC: Introducing.....Musica Transonic! CD (PSF 061). $18.00
Debut CD by a Tokyo supergroup featuring Asahito Nanjo (High Rise) on bass, Tatsuya Yoshida (Ruins) on drums, and Hajime Kawabata (Toho Sara) on guitar. Totally distorted monster heaviness in an early High Rise meets Ruins mode. Essential.

VAJRA: Tsuguru CD (PSF 062). $18.00
Vajra is a new trio made up of Kan Mikami (vocals, guitar), Keiji Haino (vocals, guitar) & Toshi Ishizuka (percussion; ex-Brain Police, currently with Cinorama & Tomokawa's group). "The name Vajra is a sanskrit word which has many meanings, including 'outsiders' and 'those people with the power to change an era.' Tsuguru refers to an area in the far north of Japan, which has given birth to many of Japan's most powerfully unique musicians, writers and performers (it is also Mikami's birthplace). This CD represents an improvised studio performance of unprecedented force and musical empathy. Ferocious, bleak, beautiful and inspiring — the true soul of Japanese spirituality!"

CINORAMA: Garden, The Garden CD (PSF 063). $18.00
2nd album for the label. Cinorama is a trio, made up of Toshiaki Ishizuka (percussion, piano, synthesizer; also member of Vajra), Sachiyo Sakata (vocal, clarinet, flute, jews harp, ocarina) & Hiromichi Sakamoto (cello, musical saw, auto harp, kalimba, musicbox). They are also joined by Haino on one track as well (voice, maracas). Together they create a mysterious haze of pastoral sound, a mysterious progressive-folk hybrid that is full of alien intuition and knowledge. One of the unknown monsters in the ever-expanding PSF catalog of real music.

TAKAHASHI, AYUO: Private Tapes 1985-1995 CD (PSF 064). $18.00
First release on the label by the son of avant garde pianist Yuji Takahashi, and a one-time member of Fushitsusha. "20 tracks self-recorded over a period of 10 years. Sound-wise it's enticing mixture of Hammill-ish progressive rock, dark folk, medieval-influenced instrumentation and some almost Xpressway-like singer-songwriter stuff (entirely in English). Influenced by Arabian, Celtic and Chinese court music, James Joyce, biwa music (the traditional accompaniment played by blind musicians to recitations of Japanese epic poetry), Richard Thompson and Joao Gilberto; impressive stuff."

TOMOKAWA, KAZUKI: Shibuya Appia Document CD (PSF 065). $18.00
Tomokawa's 7th release for PSF consists of live performances recorded in 1993-95 at Shibuya Appia. He plays acoustic guitar and sings throughout, with only minor backing on piano or accordion. The power of musical performance demonstrated here is typically staggering; Tomokawa's guitar playing is purely invigorating and intense (as physical as acoustic playing can get), and his voice is a towering outlet; an emotional songform beyond all international limits.

ABE, KAORU: Mokuyobi No Yoru CD (PSF 066). $18.00
Aka: Thursday Evening 1972. Three solo alto sax improv pieces from 1972. This is the 3rd disc of solo Abe work on PSF. When you're talking about sheets of sound-motion, little can approach this stuff; waves of shimmering sound build repeatedly, essential if you're into a certain kind of blare. Supposedly there is a feature film out in Japan about Abe and his cult status, which also features Keiji Haino (playing himself).

ABE, KAORU: Jazz Bed CD (PSF 067). $18.00
Duo performance from 1971, featuring percussionist Yamazaki (best known for his 20 year association with the late guitarist Masayuki Takayanagi in the revolutionary New Directions Ensemble).

HAINO, KEIJI: 21st Century Hard-y-Guide-y Man CD (PSF 068). $18.00
"Solo hurdy-gurdy improvisations. Haino has long been a fan of medieval music, which is one of the few places where the hurdy-gurdy makes an appearance. It's a pity that the instrument isn't more used since it has great possibilities for higher-minded multiple drones that can vary in sound from a high-pitched violin-like scraping and squealing to deep quaking resonances. The beauty of the instrument is that you can combine the various drones to build up a multi-layered effect...He's been experimenting with them over the past year or so in various permutations — solo, with Fushitsusha, with Vajra and in duos with other musicians. The sounds produced have ranged from gentle accompaniment to a dense brain-altering fug that blows everyone else off stage...Five tracks of beautiful late-night drones, suffused with instantly recognizable Haino atmosphere of mystery." —Alan Cummings.

VA: Tokyo Flashback IV CD (PSF 069). $18.00
Features Haino (solo vina), Musica Transonic, Shizuka, High Rise, Broomdusters, Pukapuka Brians, On-na Kodomo (female voice/bass/violin ecstasy), Akiyama-Sugimoto (psych-blues deconstruction), Kakashi, Construction (acid-punk extensions), Psychedelic Crazy Horse (jazz-psych guitar trio improv), Hikyo String Quintet (another Taku Sugimoto project; world transporting string density). Typically non-compromised view of interesting music out of Tokyo.

IMAI, KAZUO: How Will We Change? CD (PSF 070). $18.00
Solo improvisations for viola da gamba, gut guitar, electric guitar & live electronics. "Imai's resume places him firmly at the centre of Japan's free improvisation scene. He studied for 13 years under the guidance of late guitarist Masayuki Takayanagi, and played on occasion with the New Direction ensemble. He was the only graduate of Takayanagi's infamously tough private music school; in addition he was a student of Takehisa Kosugi and participated in Kosugi's 'legendary' pioneering multi-media improv unit, The Taj Mahal Travellers. He also made live appearances with groups such as East Bionic Symphonia and the Kosugi Quartet... the ghost of Takayanagi especially hovers over Imai's improvisations for acoustic guitar. His work on the viola da gamba displays an amazing sense of control over technique and pure sound, coupled with a very enticing emotional intensity. And for all you loud guitar freaks, Imai also reveals a love of volume and distortion in his work on electric guitar."

HIRANO, GO: Reflection Of Dreams CD (PSF 071). $18.00
2nd album for PSF; that is nearly an all-solo affair, with Hiranō playing piano, pianica, organ, windchime, glockenspiel, percussion, voice. "...a compilation of 14 short tracks recorded between 1990 and 1995. There is a genuine late-night quality to most of the tracks — delicate, almost hesitant in places, gorgeously lyrical in others — a real contrast to the buzzing harshness of his last album. I'd almost be tempted to use the word ambient to describe a lot of this album, but that word has become particularly debased of late... and besides, there is a quality of surreal, dreamlike naivete to Hiranō's works that's thousands of miles away from most purveyors of featy textures... puzzling, but good." —Alan Cummings.

MIKAMI, KAN: Dune 963 CD (PSF 072). $18.00
Sixth solo album for PSF. "There's not really a lot to say about Japan's most powerful singer-songwriter of the post-war generation. He is simply one of the most unique artists you're ever likely to hear (or not). This CD sees the shaven-headed powerhouse in a slightly more pensive mode than the previous Jazz, and Other Things — there's a warmer, gorgeous semi-acoustic glow to the proceedings (at least compared to the last outings full electric attack). Some amazing Tsuguru tongue-action too. It's still not too late to remedy your ignorance re: one of the contemporary world's original truth-tellers. You need this." —Alan Cummings.

YAMADA, CHISATO: Fantastic World CD (PSF 073). $18.00
"PSF debut by Chisato Yamada, the godfather of Tsuguru Jamisen (the traditional three-stringed folk instrument from the north of Japan — also played by Zorn hero Michihiro Sato). Here Yamada's amazingly vibrant, percussive attack and spirit power are featured in two avant settings. Two tracks recorded late last year feature Keiji Haino on guitar and percussion, amply fulfilling Kan Mikami's prediction that these two masters would create a fuckin' immense music if they ever met. The other three tracks are a suite for contemporary flute/percussion trio and tsuguru-jamisen, composed by Ken'ei Sasamori, recorded in 1978 and promptly lost for the next 17 years. Yamada is a true out-on-the-edge innovator, and these classic recordings prove that his experimental leanings have a long history. Yamada's age (he's now in his sixties) has only served to increase his unique power and authority. An essential, and too little known voice!"

PHILLIPS/KEIJI HAINO, BARRE: Etchings In The Air CD (PSF 074). $18.00
A crazed, unique duo album, with Haino on vocals only, and Phillips on bass and vocals. "Barre was in Tokyo recently for a couple of workshops and performances, and managed to make it into the studio for a follow-up to Two Strings Will Do It (PSF 45). Haino's vocal work, as opposed to his actual singing of identifiable 'words' hasn't had that much recorded exposure of late, but here given the space and a collaborator of Barre's canniness he shows just how wild a field of sound he can summon up and control. Phillips is always a joy to hear in the relatively unconfined solo and duo space, where his technique can be given full room to flourish. This is just a beautiful release, lots of room for both performers to move, nonstop inventiveness, emotional communication beyond words (even some humour!). Oh yeah, and the recorded debut of Barre's vocal technique." —A. Cummings.

PHILLIPS/MOTOHARU YOSHIZAWA, BARRE: Uzu CD (PSF 075). $18.00

"Two of the world's master freeform bassists in a lush textural showdown. 25 years ago Moto Yoshizawa and Barre Phillips began playing solo bass improvisations. They are now recognized as two of the most unique voices in the world of freeform playing. This is their first ever duo recording. Yoshizawa's otherworldly circling electric soundscapes collide and fuse with Phillips' mastery of acoustic human textures in an orgy of sensitivity, pure inventiveness, whatever...A crystallization of a quarter of a century's freedom." — A. Cummings.

MUSICA TRANSONIC: 2nd CD (PSF 076). $18.00

2nd album by the trio of Tatsuya Yoshida (Ruins), Asahito Nanjo (High Rise) & Hajime Kawabata (Toho Sara). "Improvised heavy psychedelia from the Magnificent Three. If you've heard the staggering first album by this PSF supergroup then you'll know what to expect. Basically, more of the same. Totally over the top, utterly stupid, hugely inventive, loud and obnoxious — in other words, just what you need. The sound has been slightly cleaned up this time, so you can hear a bit more of what is going on."

VAJRA: Ring CD (PSF 077). $18.00

"Second album from the amazing supergroup of Haino, Mikami and Ishitsuka Toshi (from Cinorama, etc.). Following on from last year's Tsugaru, this is a lot closer to Vajra's stunning live sound. Ishitsuka's martial power drumming provides the perfect foundation for Haino's soaring, roaring flights into the infinite abyss, which in turn combine in rare grace and (sub) conscious empathy with Mikami's improvised vocals (Mikami sings entirely in his native Tsugaru dialect which is totally incomprehensible to speakers of regular Japanese). The raw invention and communication here are honestly on a par with anything you care to think of. There's something very very special about this group — three masters at the peak of their powers, playing with total commitment, total sensitivity, total passion."

BROTZMANN/KEIJI HAINO, PETER: Evolving Blush Or Driving Original Sin CD (PSF 079). $18.00

Studio recordings of duets for reeds (Brotzmann) and vocals (Haino). "Texture and rhythm; restraint and release; space and fullness. Brotzmann senior toured Japan in April this year, and exceedingly memorable shows were played with Fushitsusha and Evan Parker amongst others. You couldn't be there, but luckily he also found time to step into the studio with Keiji Haino. This is the result, and a most worthy addition to Haino's on-going duo series (previous collaborations with Barre Phillips and Chiato Yamada) it is indeed. Brotzmann's style of late has tended to hold in check all that legendary ferocity, and the occasional outburst sounds all the more powerful for the surrounding restraint. His use of space has developed into something really special, and it is here where the link with Haino is perhaps the strongest. With a number of dates behind them the sense of telepathic communion and empathy between Haino and Brotzmann on this release is almost tangible. Two contemporary 'legends' at the peak of their powers. A superb exhibition of controlled alchemy." — Alan Cummings.

AMM: From A Strange Place CD (PSF 080). $18.00

"Undisputed deans of the meta-music, captured live on their first ever tour of Japan in October 1995. After 30 years of AMM there's very little left to be said about the group. Suffice to say that this is more of their totally committed style of pure improvisation, scaling new heights of non-derivativeness. Music created with a piercing awareness of place and time, once created never to be repeated, even by themselves. This set was marked by an extreme level of quietness, a grappling with silence and subtle vibration, and their mastery of instantaneous technique. An instant captured. Gone yet living." The trio of Prevost (perc.), Rowe (guitar) and Tilbury (piano).

URABE, MASAYOSHI: Solo CD (PSF 081). $18.00

New CD issue of what was previously a limited LP-only PSF release. "Urabe is doubtless an unknown name to most of you. Here's the beef — he's a young (well, thirty one) alto saxophonist. Born in Tokyo, he first took up the alto sax in 1985, mostly concentrating on solo work. In recent years his base of operations has been the famous Kidoairaki Art Hall (which also played host to Masayuki Takayanagi in his later years), just down the road from the Modern Music shop. This album was recorded there on May 22nd of this year. I believe that this is his first release. Urabe basically concentrates on the relationship between sound and silence, and those mysterious spaces in between ('ma'). All extraneous notes/sounds are stripped away, leaving Urabe with a very minimal (though strong) sound. High keening notes, sparkling clusters of notes hand in space, enfolding and defining. This is great, adventurous alto work, not immediately comparable to anyone else — and pretty distant from the work of other Japanese altoists like Tamio Shiraishi or the late Kaoru Abe. Looks like PSF may well have unearthed another great individual talent." — Alan Cummings.

TOMOKAWA, KAZUKI: Zeiniku Na Asa (Fat in The Morning Light) CD (PSF 082). $18.00

"Eighth CD on PSF from the true master of unalloyed humanity and possessed song-spirit. Too many underground dilettantes are unable to deal with the idea of 'song' per se, pinning their faith in some nebulous idea of 'improvisation' as the only touchstone of musical worth. Thus the complete unacceptance of Tomokawa outside of Japan. But, for real unlimited minds with open ears there's beauty that Tomokawa manages to wring from every possessed note and syllable. Life-on-the-line-every-time, emotionally transcendent playing doesn't get any better than this!"

KONITZ, LEE: Unaccompanied Live In Yokohama CD (PSF 083). $18.00

"Altoist Lee Konitz toured Japan in Oct/96 and he touched bass with musicians such as Keiji Haino, koto virtuoso Kazuo Sawai, Kazuhisa Uchihashi of Altered States, Seiichi Yamamoto of the Boredoms, etc. This is Konitz's first solo disc in 22 years (and it also features him in a duo with Takayanagi pupil Kazuo Imai, who has a startling solo CD on PSF: How Will We Change? — PSF 70). The first five tracks here are a 45 minute solo medley, which displays Konitz's unique structural sense and refined tone. Konitz is far more ignored in underground circles than he should be — the last living reminder of the Tristano groups of the forties, and along with Eric Dolphy an exemplar of the heights that individualistic, non-standard (read: non-free) improvisation can aspire to."

MIKAMI, KAN: Touge No Syounin CD (PSF 084). $18.00

"7th solo PSF album. This CD sees the shaven-headed powerhouse in a similar pensive mode to the previous Dune 963 — there's a warm, gorgeous semi-acoustic glow to the proceedings (at least compared to the full electric attack of earlier albums like Jazz, and Other Things. Some amazing vocal-action as ever, too. It's still not too late to remedy your ignorance re: one of the contemporary world's true original truth-tellers."

WILHELM, MIKE: Live in Tokyo CD (PSF 085). $18.00

"Ex-Charlatans, ex-Flaming Groovies, ex-Mainliners psych-folk guitarist and vocalist Mike Wilhelm has always been a big hero around PSF/Modern Music, so when we heard that he was coming over to Japan to play a couple of shows at the beginning of January this year we jumped at the chance to do a live record. Wilhelm has had a long and interesting career at the fringes of the American music scene, and his few solo records have been released on minor labels and have seen a lot less distribution and appreciation than they deserve. This is Mike's first live CD, and it showcases an intimate gig in front of an appreciative audience. Resonant guitar and simple vocals, echoing with a rare inner strength and drunken weariness."

SATO, MICHIIHIRO: On A Cold, Cold Night CD (PSF 086). $18.00

"Michihiro Sato is a recognized master of the percussive, hugely exciting Tsugaru-jamisen style that originates in the deep north of Japan. The rough-hewn, freewheeling spirit of the Tsugaru style is perhaps comparable in iconography and individual expression to the Delta blues. Its history is full of blind shamisen-men, wandering forlornly from town to town through desolate winter snows, maybe not selling their souls to Satan but certainly playing till their fingers bleed. Either way, it's about a million and one miles away from the limp, effeminate plucking soundtrack you might be used to from nights at your local sushi emporium. In the West, Sato is best known for his collaborations with John Zorn (one of which, Ganryu Island, was recently reissued on Tzadik), and with the cream of the NY downtown scene on Rodan. In Japan, though, Sato's profile is higher as a master of the traditional repertoire of his instrument, and his improvisational experiments have a lower profile. On this totally solo disk (his previous releases have always featured accompanists). Sato manages to fuse his two obsessions: combining several pieces from the traditional canon with a lengthy improvisation. Sato coolly reigns in the pyrotechnic grandstanding that has won him a clutch of national trophies, substituting a sensitive control and sense of space. It's a breathtaking performance, fully the equal of the verve with which he revitalizes the traditional pieces. Of all the Japanese folk styles, tsugaru-jamisen is the most immediately approachable, and Sato is a contemporary master at the peak of his powers. This disk can only serve to underline his brain-melting prowess. The cover-painting by Baku Ueda is equally transporting." — Alan Cummings

HALLELUJAH: Niku O Kuraite Chikai O Tateyo CD (PSF 087). $18.00

"Hallelujahs were a band led by Shinji Shibayama, during the mid-eighties. This was their sole album, released in 1986 in an edition of 300 on Shibayama's fledgling ORG Records label. ORG went on to release some great records by Maher Shalal Hash Baz, Reiko Kudo and Love Beach (Shibayama's current dream-pop psych band). Musically, pop psych is about as close as I'm going to want to get to a description of what they do. There's something about this record that's hard to get a grip on. It seems to float on layers of melody rather than rhythm, and in places it has an incomparable start of autumn melancholic atmosphere. Subtle, but a grower if you give it enough time. Part of yet another invisible Japanese scene." — Alan Cummings. Shinji Shibayama (vocal, guitar, synthesizer, bass, piano etc.), Chie Mukai (kokyu), Idiot (guitar, vocal, drums, tape effects), Koji Soga (bass, bass sitar) etc.

VAJRA: Sichisiki CD (PSF 088). $18.00

Third PSF album (aka The Seventh Consciousness) from the trio of Kan Mikami, Keiji Haino & Toshi Ishitsuka. "This album, in contrast to the previous two, features Mikami only on vocals. The absence of his rhythm guitar totally alters the dynamic of the group, moving the focus to Haino's guitar and Ishitsuka's martial, textured drumming. Anguished vocals, eruptions of black fire from Haino, drifting deep-space echoscapes, stumbling blues. Vajra have a sound totally unlike any other group's — and as a result they are an unsettling, weird listen. As essential as their previous two."

CHE-SHIZU: Live 1996 CD (PSF 089). $18.00

"Third PSF release for the otherworldly lo-fi psych-pop group, led by Japanese underground pin-up/muse Chie Mukai. There's something unidentifiably unique and unsettlingly lyrical about Ché Shizu's records, a quality hardly ever found in other groups that flirt with the edges of 'rock'. There's a fascinating atonality to the sound of her kokyu, a sound that exists in between the cracks of organized tones and rhythm. The group's approach is undoubtedly best served by live-recordings, and this collects 13 of the best from their '96 gigs, including a couple of traditional British ballads. Beautiful and haunting music." — Alan Cummings

KOSOKUYA/MASAYOSHI URABE: The Dark Spot CD (PSF 090). $18.00

"Masters of inner space rock meet long breathed king of eruptive silence. Kosokuya are one of Japan's most mysterious psychedelic rock groups with an obscure history dating back to the late 70s. A previous self-released LP in an edition of 400 copies set rumours flying, but very few actually ever got to hear it. That situation was remedied by a live CD on FE which showcased their mesmerizing brand of heavy, weirdly-timed psych rock. Since that release the band have had all kinds of personnel problems including the departure of long-suffering vocalist/bassist Mik and percussionist Takahashi... Masayoshi Urabe is the staggering young altoist who had his debut LP released on PSF last year (PSF 81). His music deconstructs all boundaries between sound silence with a magnificent hoarse tone — uncategorizable individual music. This CD was recorded at one of the first gigs played late last year by Kosokuya's new line-up. Outstanding work, not necessarily reminiscent of anything other than itself. Great sensitive + heavy playing, lovely vocal action from Kaneko and Urbabe's unique atmospherics."

MUSICA TRANSONIC: The World Of Musica Transonic CD (PSF 091). $18.00

"Third PSF album. If you haven't heard Musica Transonic before, where have you been? They describe themselves as a 'Contemporary Improvised Psychedelic Group', and the music itself is the most hyper over-the-top rock mayhem imaginable. If anything, this set tops their amazing previous record in pure sonic collision, ludicrously over-amped guitar solos, spastic time-changes. In other words, the usual staggering sonic alchemy take to unforeseen heights of majestic stupidity."

POLY BREATH PERCUSSION BAND: P.B.2 Live CD (PSF 092). $18.00

"Recording of the debut gig by the Poly Breath Percussion Band (aka P.B.2) at the Tokyo Pit Inn in April 1997. Dynamic percussionist Shoji Hano has made a name for himself through several self-released albums, and his work with Peter Brotzmann. However the real revelation here is the 75-year old altoist, Keizo Inoue. Despite having played and taught on the Japanese jazz scene for over 50 years (his pupils include Akira Sakata) and having appeared at the Moers Festival, Inoue has remained a marginal figure in the history of free music. This disk reveals him to be a thoughtful and inventive free player on both alto and clarinet. Soundwise, P.B.2 suggest a more rhythmically complex Last Exit, with Tetsu Yamauchi's heavily-effects altered electric bass providing a lot of tonal interest. Inoue knows just when to step back to give the percussionists the space they need to take off into torrents and whirlpools of pulsating rhythmic heat. A rare antidote to the acres of tedium that are usually taken to represent Japanese jazz."

ACID MOTHERS TEMPLE & THE MELTING PARADISE U.F.O.: CD (PSF 093). $18.00

"First release for the 'freak-out trip' group led by Makoto Kawabata, long-haired guitar monster of Musica Transonic, Mainliner, Toho Sara etc. notoriety. Kawabata has been around for a long time, but mostly involved with his own projects far from the Tokyo and Osaka limelight, and so far his only releases have been on cassettes sold at gigs. Some of the other members may be familiar too — Koizumi is ex-Mainliner, Yasuda is ex-Toho Sara, Casino is from Mardi Gras Blue Heaven. Musically this record is going to moisten a few gusts around the globe. Deep-space synth-float signalling, cosmic voices, drugged trickery, and whirlpools of churning percussion topped with Kawabata's trademark speed psycho guitar, all recorded with at speaker-destroying fuzz level. Track titles like 'Zen Feedback', 'Amphetamine A GoGo', 'Satori LSD', and the 20 minute 'Speed Guru' should tell the cognoscenti all they need to know. Recorded under the influence of the teachings of the Acid Mothers Temple, and of internalized psychedelic states."

GAYLE, CHARLES: Solo in Japan CD (PSF 094). $18.00

"Modern sax legend and presumed bearer of the hallowed flame of Black American free jazz made his first ever trip to Japan in July of this year. He played 9 or so mostly solo (although he did play with Keiji Haino, and Japanese free-drum stalwart Sabu Toyozumi) gigs around the country to much applause from the cognoscenti. He seemed slightly bewildered by the whole experience. This is a document of one of those solo gigs. Five tracks, fifty-eight minutes. Four of the tracks feature Gayle on alto, the final one on piano - his original instrument before he took up the sax. Long-time fans of Gayle's sax pyrotechnics are going to be slightly surprised by these recordings — that raging, barely in-control, going-through-the-wall sound has been tempered down, to produce four meditative spirituals that still burn inwardly with a smouldering intensity. Gayle never had the cleanness of tones, but the low-volume intimacy of these recordings allows you appreciate ever slur, slap and grunt — like having him playing in your living-room. An exemplary solo sax (plus some nice blurry piano) album by one of the contemporary masters." — Alan Cummings

YOSHIZAWA, MOTOHARU: Play Unlimited CD (PSF 095). $18.00

"Yoshizawa is beyond doubt one of the most important, yet unknown, giants of Japanese free improvisation. He has been playing for forty years and was a leading figure in the Japanese free jazz scene of the late sixties and early seventies, both in his own (undocumented) trio, and in groups with such groundbreakers as Masayuki Takayanagi, Masahiko Togashi, and Kaoru Abe. He ranks shoulder to shoulder with Barre Phillips as the leading bass innovator/improviser. Yoshizawa is perhaps best known in the West for his work on his effects-laden five string bass, which has dominated his previous releases on PSF (Gobbledygook, From the faraway nearby, Angels have passed, Uzu, and his guest spots with folk-singer Kazuki Tomokawa). However Yoshizawa started off on acoustic bass and his three solo LPs (The Cracked Mirror and The Fossil Bird has been rereleased on PSF) on that instrument from the mid-70s stand as unsurpassed monuments to his genius. Twenty years on, this CD again features Yoshizawa on acoustic contrabass, recorded live at Shibuya Appia last year. The beauty, invention, strength and spirit on display are truly peerless. A stunning document from a player who should be as well known as Bailey, Parker et al." — Alan Cummings

TOMOKAWA, KAZUKI: Yume Wa Hibi Genki Ni Shinde Yuku CD (PSF 096). $18.00

Title translates as Dreams Die Blithely Day By Day. "Commemorating 25 years of unheralded existence for this unknown lyric poet/artist/betting tipster/folk-singer maniac. Tomokawa first emerged, with Kan Mikami, during Japan's underground folk boom of the early 70s, and has remained as a uniquely uncompromising obscure figure ever since. This is his ninth record for PSF, and features him in alternately introspective and insane screaming modes, with the accompaniment of longtime collaborator Masato Nagahata and legendary free bassist Motoharu Yoshizawa (whose previous collaborations with Tomokawa on the Hitori Bonodori and Maboroshi to asobu albums were some of the most exciting psychedelic acidfolk-avant collisions since Brigitte Fontaine met the Art Ensemble of Chicago). There remains little left to say about Tomokawa — he possesses one of the most distinctively human voices and approaches anywhere. Maybe the fact that he sings equally convincingly in English on a couple of tracks on this record will finally gain him some long-deserved attention outside of Japan."

MIKAMI, KAN: Arashi Ame Arashi (Storms Rain Storms) CD (PSF 097). $18.00

"Eighth (!) PSF solo record for Japan's mythic, acerbic underground folk singer. The previous seven (not to mention his appearances with Vajra and the Haino/Yoshizawa/Mikami trio) have defined a perfectly-realized world entirely his own, in which pearls of surreal poetic wisdom delivered in Kan's immediately recognizable powdered-glass-in-chocolate baritone ram head on into a unique riff-rhythm guitar style. The guy is honestly a living national treasure — an inspiring outsider-philosopher-poet, with a dark soul the size of Fuji. No one was particularly surprised when he name-checked enka legend Akira Kobayashi, Miles Davis, Charlie Parker and Glenn Gould in a recent interview. Kan's work is non-referential emotional and intellectual genius of the highest order. If you haven't got it by now there's no particular reason to think that you're going to get it with this one. Your loss." — Alan Cummings

MUSICA TRANSONIC W/ KEIJI HAINO: CD (PSF 098). $18.00

"Long-awaited fourth release on PSF for the loudest, most over-the-top, in-the-red group in the world, Musica Transonic. This unlikely outing sees them teaming up with Keiji Haino for a series of epic, bruising collisions. Frankly I'd had my doubts when I heard about this project — in spite of both artists renowned love of volume and guitar pyrotechnics, Musica are all primary colours, pro-wrestling and over-amped stoic silliness (not to mention, heavy post-production), whereas Haino is most definitely black, serious and for-the-moment. But somehow they have managed to pull off a record that finds much common ground where myriad new possibilities lie open for incendiary investigation. Especially dig the tracks with Haino trading licks with Kawabata. You will too. Believe me." — Alan Cummings

HIGH RISE: Desperado CD (PSF 099). $18.00

"Long awaited sixth album for PSF (following the epics II, Dispersion, Live, and Disallow) by this time-honored post-motor-city rave up clan, featuring Nanjo Asahito on bass/vox, Munehiro Narita on 'motor-cycle-guitar' and Shoji Hano on drums. Phrases like 'in the red' or 'amped-up' don't even begin to relate present levels of near-fatal voltage abuse. Contains some off-kilter exploratory cuts that don't veer to far from paths cut by sister ensemble Musica Transonic, which I suppose could be determined as a 'new direction'. Still, a ridiculous display of caffeine/sugar energy converted into audible wavelengths by Tokyo's premiere baff-rock scuzz-manics." — Hrvatski

VAJRA: Sravaka CD (PSF 100). $18.00

"Fourth album by the power-improv trio of frightening instinctual authority. It seems entirely appropriate that the one hundredth release on PSF should be by Vajra. Appropriate, of course, because the group contains two of the most legendary talents that the label has introduced to an unsuspecting world — Kan Mikami and Keiji Haino (who between them have appeared on almost a third of PSF's releases). But also appropriate because there is no group on the label that better sums up the PSF aesthetic — breathtaking sounds of mystery that somehow never fail to move on a deeply human level. Experimentation and 'progress' but possessed of a wide knowledge and love of all music and a soul (if that that were not too much of a cliché). This fourth album see Vajra scaling yet higher peaks of collective individuality. I can only pray that both they and PSF continue to enlighten the world as to the meaning of committed and genuine music for as long as (a few) ears remain open." — Alan Cummings

STARS, THE: Today CD (PSF 1001). $13.00

"The long awaited return to PSF sound by former White Heaven frontman, You Ishihara. White Heaven were of course one of the label's signature groups, and their blend of West Coast acid-cool and NY drug punkishness soon attracted attention from psych connoisseurs outside of Japan. Since the Heaven (as no one ever called them) imploded in late 1997, Ishihara has managed to keep his hand deep down in the psych cookie jar. A solo album, Passivite for Creativeman was a fine, low-key piece of out-of-time work: introspective folk-punk moves. He's also produced a clutch of Tokyo bands, including the suddenly (and unbelievably) hip Yura Yura Teikoku. His own music has found a recent outlet with new project, The Stars. The group reunites Ishihara with White Heaven compadres Ken Ishihara (drums) and acid-flash guitar genius Michio Kurihara. This is their debut release, and comprises three tracks. Twenty-five minutes (and priced accordingly) of non-clichéd, contemporary psychedelia of the highest standard. There is an enticing rough-cut garage feel to the tracks, and Ishihara's patented English drawl is pitched at just the right level of down-ness to alternately caress and trouble your addled synapses. Kurihara's guitar spreads and gleams just where you want it to, and the rhythm section keep it frenetically moving. It's a fine debut that promises much." — Alan Cummings

TOMOKAWA, KAZUKI: Best Of 3CD (PSF 101/103). $54.00

"PSF's first triple CD, celebrating 25 years (his recorded debut was in 1974 on Toshiba-EMI) of musical activity by legendary 'sensitive' folk-singer Kazuki Tomokawa. In spite of his criminal lack of name-value in the West, in a strange way it's entirely appropriate that PSF's first triple CD should be by Tomokawa. Painter, poet, singer, manual labourer, gambler, actor, legendary drinker (and more recently, invaluable bicycle-race tipster) — Tomokawa is cut from a truly human, outsider cloth they don't make anymore. The first CD is a compilation mostly focussing on the eight previous Tomokawa releases on PSF, but also including some tracks from earlier in his career. The second disk features unreleased excerpts from three live performances in 1976, '85, and '89. Quality on these is fairly rough in places, but as historical documents of blasted outsider-folk you are not going to see their like again. The final disk is 13 new tracks of heavily-accented symbolism, all recorded solo in Tomokawa's patented raw murmur/scream with guitar thrash-abuse. The only true inheritor of the Buckley mantle..." — Alan Cummings

MARGINAL CONSORT: Collective Improvisation CD (PSF 104). $18.00

"Gorgeous extended drone-n-clatter collective improvisation recorded live on 10/18/97 at Asahi Square in Tokyo. Excerpted from a four-hour performance. Marginal Consort was the name chose for the reformed version of the East Bionic Symphony, yet another 'legendary' lost Japanese improvisation collective. The original group was a class project formed by students of the minimal violinist and multi-media guru Tkahisa Kosugi (of Taj Mahal Travellers fame). They released one rare record of everything-but-the-kitchen-sink ambient fug at the time (in 1976). This version of the group features a lot of names that may be familiar to PSF obsessives — Kazuo Imai has had a great solo record on the label, and was a pupil of both Kosugi and freeform guitar-god Masayuki Takayanagi. Masami Tada is a sound-sculptor of some note who has many solo documents 'available'. Yasushi Ozawa is of course better known as the bassist with Fushitsusha. Chie Mukai is the leader of dream-psych group Che-Shizu and a solo performer in her own right." — Alan Cummings

INABA, SHUJI: Land Of Prayer CD (PSF 105). $18.00

"Deep and cracked, raw Outsider Folk from the deepest depths of rural Japan. First PSF release by a name that will be unknown to most of you. Shuji Inaba has had one previous self-released CD (Innen Kaho) on his own Planktone label two or three years ago. That record was notable for its out-of-nowhere trembling, almost theatrical intensity of emotional virulence. Inaba lives in rural Shimane on the Japan Sea coast of western Japan, and has apparently been playing for the last ten or so years. That, it seems, as much as anyone knows about him. Sonically Inaba is very much out of the Kan Mikami (indeed Inaba's vocals are close enough in places to deceive the casual observer) school of one-man-against-the-universe, guttural outsider folk. Dripping with melancholy, his lyric concerns would seem to be of the environmentalism/ghetto mother/Hiroshima issue-driven ilk, though with a finer than most eye for the telling image. What sets this release apart is a consummate PSF sense of music fully-inhabited, of individuality and emotional purity. That it comes from an unknown voice from the boondocks is testament that the genius-impulse that gave rise to Mikami and Tomokawa still flares in secret. Great skewed folk percussion on a couple of tracks too." — Alan Cummings

ACID MOTHERS TEMPLE & THE MELTING PARAIISO U.F.O.: Pataphysical Freak Out MU!! CD (PSF 106). $18.00

"Announcing the long-awaited 2nd album from Makoto Kawabata's millennial hippy-group Acid Mothers Temple & The Melting Paraiso UFO! The band slip even further into cosmic overdrive with the addition of Atsushi Tsuyama (Omoide Hatoba) on bass and Haco (ex-After Dinner) on vocals!! Core-meltdown is guaranteed with their raging psychedelic acid-trip, spacey hard rock!"

ISHIZUKA, TOSHIKI: In The Night CD (PSF 107). $18.00

"Second solo album (the first was self-released a few years back) from the dynamic Vajra drummer. The more diligent PSF linernote cataloguers amongst will doubtless also have noticed Ishizuka's long involvement with folk-poet Kazuki Tomokawa's group, an involvement that dates back to the seventies. Back then Ishizuka was best known in Japan as part of the legendary ur-punk group Zuno Keisatsu. He is also the leader of the elegant cinematic (funnily enough) Cinorama, a frequent collaborator with Kan Mikami, and all-round irrepressible drum-slinger for hire. In the West, Ishizuka is probably best known for the martial powerhouse thunderstorms he calls down with PSF supergroup Vajra, but, as this album shows, there's a lot more to him than plain old sweat and muscles. Complexly layered gong tones, bottomless toms, and a multi-varied rhythmic sense that is all his own. The whole thing is shot through with a most appealing sense of fiercely still concentration. This is one of the deepest and, dare we say it, most spiritually resonant percussion records you're going to hear this year." — Alan Cummings

MUSICA TRANSONIC: Swing Strong Mod CD (PSF 108). $18.00

The trio of : Asahito Nanjo (bass), Makoto Kawabata (guitar) & Tatsuya Yoshida (drums). "Latest two blasts from the hyper-productive Asahito Nanjo camp. Fifth album overall from the speed-fuck volume terrorists, following up their last PSF release (PSF 098) which saw Keiji Haino cranking up his amp alongside the band. For this release, Nanjo has been strangled into tuning down his usual all-in-the-red speaker-destruction mix — and as a result, the full range of amazing punk interplay and crazed rhythmic invention is a hell of a lot easier to appreciate. Kawabata's soloing is a real standout this time around, hitting an eye-glazing fractured jazz style at times. No one's going to mistake him for Pat Metheny though..." — Alan Cummings

TOHO SARA: Mei Jou Tan Sho CD (PSF 109). $18.00

"The second album from one of Nanjo's most mysterious units, who attempt an unearthly fusion of ethnic droning and rock methodology, electric and acoustic vibrations. Edgy and unsettling heretical onescares that unconsciously silence the impulsive reconnaissance of pre-determined formats. It is thought that the members this time around are the duo of Nanjo and Makoto Kawabata (of Musica Transonic, Acid Mothers Temple et al). — Alan Cummings. Kawabata (Dholak, Hojok, Zurna, Algoza, Yörük, Kemenje, Mey, Sarangi, violin, viola, Blockflöte, harmonium, ching), Nanjo (cello, bassrecorder, China gong, Hansho, bass, Eastern String, electronics, Sitar, Saz) & Mido Mineko (organ).

ACID MOTHERS TEMPLE & THE MELTING PARASO U.F.O.: Troubadours From Another Heavenly World CD (PSF 123). $18.00

"Third PSF album from the Nagoya-based (but always heavenly-bound) Acid Mothers Temple & the Melting Paraiso U.F.O., led by Japan's current king of the long-hairs and mystic rock-guitar guru Makoto Kawabata (also of Musica Transonic, Mainliner, Toho Sara). Their previous releases were delirious communal Gong/Hawkwind patchouli collisions, colorful as a Life with the Hippie Jetsons cartoon, but with an acid punch that proved their music was beyond any idea of pastiche or irony. A couple of extensive American and European tours have gained the Acid Mothers an unbeatable cachet on the contempo-trip scene. Kawabata's international reputation has been cemented with solo and group releases on his own ATM label, SIWA, Eclipse, Swordfish, Detector, Elsie & Jack, Last Visible Dog, etc. For their latest flight though, the Acid Mothers have stepped back off the delirium pedal, and bumped up the luminous folk-mysticism faders. To be sure, the space synths, guitar supernovas, and stoned cosmic mumble are still present. It's just that now they're deployed to entirely different effect — this is no longer the soundtrack to your first highschool acid 'n' beer party, it's more like a solitary roadtrip seeking enlightenment, a hermit's cell halfway up Magic Mountain, the cosmic butterfly gently enfolding its pan-dimensional wings over your bruised psyche. It's a slowly hypnotic, deeply meditational platter of god-honest real-time wonder." — Alan Cummings

HIGH RISE: Psychobomb - US Tour 2000 CD (PSF 124). $18.00

"First live High Rise album on PSF since the still astounding peak of Live (PSFD-48). Seven tracks, fifty-two minutes. If there's anyone that doesn't already know, High Rise were where it all started. A group that boiled down improv, the hardest psych, the fastest punk into an injectable shot of accelerated adrenaline. The group were source of the first psychic rumbles to reach the West, indicating that something quite remarkable was happening in the Tokyo underground. Without High Rise there would have been no PSF (the acronym stands for Psychedelic Speed Freaks — the group's early moniker and the title of their debut album), no Musica Transonic, no Mainliner... This latest release features the group live in New York and Seattle on their most recent US tour, before an adoring audience of speed-rear boneheads (maybe you'll even hear yourself hollering 'louder' or 'faster'). Surprisingly, the trademark Nanjo production aesthetic has been toned down a notch, leaving the splattered acid genius and tonal control (!) of Narita's solos the most evident they've ever been. Nanjo and ex-White Heaven drummer Koji Shimura are as poundingly heavy a rhythm section as you could wish for. But it's the guitar where it is at: there's still nothing quite like Narita kicking open the throttle and tearing into a manic solo, leaving shit-eating grins to eat dust in his wake..." — Alan Cummings

MAINLINER: Imaginative Plain CD (PSF 125). $18.00

"Fourth 'real' album (after two on Charnel Music, and the anomalous Psychedelic Polyhedron on Fractal, and discounting a ton of self-released cassettes and CD-Rs on the existentially dubious La Musica label) from Tokyo underground freaks Mainliner. The group's leader, legendary Tokyo speed freak Asahito Nanjo is best known as the bass-playing, shades-wearing polymath behind High Rise and Musica Transonic. Stylistically, this is just where you would want it to be — exactly half-way between the acceleration-obsessed garage psych of High Rise, and the more spastic time shifts of Musica Transonic. There is a seriously sticky gloopiness to the Mainliner psych-as-group-mind universe, which even the hydrochloric guitar of Acid Mother Kawabata only momentarily manages to extricate itself from. The rest is cemented down by the straight pounding of new member Koji Shimura (ex-White Heaven) on drums, and Nanjo's usual sterling bass work. The five tracks of super-heavy, super-dense rock-psych improv are all liberally smothered in the trademark Nanjo pile-driving needles-in-the-red production aesthetic. In terms of rock, this is the most truly satisfying album that this group has made since Mellow Out. Heavier than anything else you're likely to listen to this week." — Alan Cummings

KANEKO, JUTOK: Endless Ruins CD (PSF 126). $18.00

"Jutok Kaneko is not a name that will ring too many bells among lightweight cognoscenti of the Japanese psychedelic underground, but too those with sharper ears and deeper wallets the news that Tokyo's OTHER black-clad guitar master has finally made a solo album is true cause for rejoicing. Kaneko is known, if at all, as leader of Kosokuya, one of the most idiosyncratic and least appreciated rock groups in Tokyo. The group have been in existence since the late seventies, pounding out a unique take on the space-rock idiom that sucked crushing chords and spiralling solos into the heart of blank, bleak emptiness. Not as career-minded as certain other scenesters, the group only released three albums over those 22 years (Ray Night 1991-1992 Live on Forced Exposure, and The Dark Spot collaboration with Masayoshi Urabe on PSF [PSFD-90] are still available). Although Kaneko frequently guests at improv gigs in Tokyo, non-Kosokuya recorded appearances have been equally rare, encompassing only a duo album with Rinji Fukuoka on Pataphysique and a very limited live improv video with Chie Mukai and others. Hence the excitement at this solo release. Naked and mostly alone, Kaneko hurtles into a deep, dark hole of his own devising, his immensely distinctive vocals howling out his pain as his guitar shoots out pulsating tendrils of beautiful black light. Stylistically not that distant from Kosokuya's deployment of heavy space, it's at once a depressingly nightmarish and exhilarating sound, utterly unique. On two tracks he ploughs a deeper furrow with the help of Takuya Nishimura (Che-SHIZU) on bass, and Koji Shimura (ex White Heaven, Mainliner) on drums. One for those select moments when you dream that Jandek had jammed with Quicksilver." — Alan Cummings

KANEKO, JUTOK: Endless Ruins LP (PSF 126 LP). $35.00

Japanese LP pressing, limited to 300 copies; printed cover, obi, fold-out insert. First PSF LP release in a while. Limited stock...

NARITA & SHOJI HANO, MUNEHIRO: Kyoaku no Intentions CD (PSF 127). $18.00

"Kyoaku no Intention (which translates as Worst Intention) were a legendary no-wave psych group led by wunder-guitarist Munehiro Narita at the beginning of the eighties. Usually consisting just of Narita and drummer Hiroshi Yokoyama, they blended tighter-than-tight Neu drumming with lengthy and harsh guitar soloing. Documentation was minimal, and the group seem to have split up in late 1982. However, Narita revived the concept during the 1998 High Rise tour of the US and Europe. He and lucky drumseat occupant at the time, Shoji Hano, would sometimes kick off the shows with intense instrumental duo blasts that not just reanimated the long rotten corpse of Kyoaku no Intention, but got it up and dancing too. The three extended studio pieces here see Narita smearing his heavily-effected guitar much wider than he ever could in High Rise. Hano constructs the perfect solid wall for just such a smearing in his usual resourceful and intensely, sweatily physical fashion. Together, Narita and Hano have zero qualms about incorporating a seriously ROCK vocabulary — distortion, fuzz, emphatic string bends, lightning fast runs, pummelling forward motion — into a full free improv context. In a field with few reference points between Gary Smith and Snyder & Thompson's Daily Dance, this one stands proud and tall. And at appropriate volume, it'll clear your sinuses better than Vicks."

KNEAD: 1st CD (PSF 128). $18.00

"Keiji Haino (guitar, vocals), Tatsuya Yoshida (drums, vocals), Hisashi Sakaki (bass). Knead is a new unit which brings together two of the most unmistakable voices in the Japanese underground, juddering prog-thrash duo Ruins, and master of all darkness he surveys Keiji Haino. Haino and Ruins drum-master Yoshida have bumped heads on several occasions before — several years ago in Haino's collaboration with Musica Transonic, more recently on a duo record released on Hong Kong label Sonic Factory, and a couple of months back the two toured China together. Recorded live at Manda-La2 last December, this is a full-on, hang-on-for-dear-life rock rumble, with added moments of very special spectral tremble. Haino's guitar full-spectrum roar pushes the Yoshida and Sakaki rhythm-section away from their usual stop-start vocal led patterns into more instinctive territory. Less an uneven tussle between two weedy prog guys and a guitar monster than six-legged quest for instant-by-instant rock nirvana." — Alan Cummings

VAJRA: Mandala Cat Last CD (PSF 129). $18.00

"Fifth studio album from the heavyweight PSF super-group of Keiji Haino, Kan Mikami, and Toshiaki Ishitsuka. Veterans all, the group members have a combined playing career of virtually a century. The group has been in a state of suspended animation for the past four years, but this album will hopefully kick off a new phase of activity for them. What makes Vajra unique is its bizarre energy dynamic. Entirely improvised, the three players seem to shoot off in utterly opposing directions: Mikami's rhythm guitar and vocals providing a pulse universal to no one but himself, Ishitsuka beating martial time signatures like three military bands on the one parade ground, and Haino scuttling around slicing and dicing beautiful abyssal depths out from beneath everyone else's feet. Somehow (proof that space is curved?), three individuals arrive at the same place at roughly the same time. Highlights include the third track, which comes as close to their massive live sound as anything the group has yet recorded. And the set's inevitable eyebrow raising moment? The accapella nursery rhyme version of Mikami's 'Koppu wa kowareru daro' (off Live in the First Year of Heisei vol.2). Another uncompromisingly great one then? You bet." — Alan Cummings

KAWANI, HIROSHI: Flashback CD (PSF 130). $18.00

"Hiroshi Kawani is a little known figure in the West, but he has been crucially central to the Tokyo avant-garde scene since the fifties as performer, commentator, theorist, organiser, and agitator. He was part of the sixties experimental art nexus that included Takehisa Kosugi and Yasunao Tone as well as radical artists like Natsuyuki Nakanishi and Genpei Akasegawa (in the greatest cause célèbre of the 60s Japanese art world, the latter was prosecuted by the Japanese state for creating one-sided simulacra of bank notes). Later, as an editor at publishers Gendai Shichosha Kawani was responsible for bringing out Japanese translations of work by Artaud, Bataille, Derrida and others — works that galvanised a new generation of radicals. Kawani has been active as a solo voice performer since the early 80s, and though now in a wheelchair he still performs regularly. The private home recordings presented here have been unearthed by alto terrorist Masayoshi Urabe from a mountain of cassettes of unknown provenance, and would seem to date from around 1983. There's the unmistakable feel of low-level mania throughout, as Kawani moans, jabbars and obsesses wordlessly into a microphone over an patterned tapestry of feedback and amped everyday objects (rubber bands, cans, bottles, knives, steel pipes, shoes, chopsticks etc). This touches on all kinds of synapse-warping art bases from Robert Ashley to the Nurse With Wound in a gloriously messy, unacademic (and yes, psychedelic) way." — Alan Cummings

DOO-DOOETTES/KEIJI HAINO: Free Rock CD (PSF 131). $18.00

"Long-awaited archival collaboration from 1982." The Doo-Dooettes, mainstays of the LAFMS, were: Dennis Duck (drums), Fredrik Nilsen (bass), Tom Recchion (home-made instruments: mock cello & strungaphone), with Rick Potts (guitar) and Haino (guitar). Keiji Haino was visiting LA shortly after the release of his first solo album on Pinakotheca Records and this impromptu session was recorded on August 3, 1982. The first ever release of this one thirty-five minute piece (titled by Recchion: "Blueprint For The Shimmering Quivers Of The Deep Purple Ultraviolet Tuning Fork"), recently discovered in the cassette collection of Dennis Duck, unheard for 18 years. Liner notes & cover artwork by Tom Recchion.

KOSOKUYA: 1st CD (PSF 132). $18.00

"Reissue of one of the absolute, no-doubt-about-it, stone classics of the Tokyo underground, with one bonus unreleased track. The first album by Kosokuya was originally released on the group's own Ray Night imprint in 1991. The original edition was of just 200, with very few copies making it out of Japan and as a result has long fetched huge sums amongst collectors. Kosokuya's unique brand of space-rock has been a fixture on the Tokyo underground rock scene since 1978, and both Narita and Nanjo (who would go on to form High Rise) were one-time members. By the time this album was recorded, though, the group had stabilized into the classic trio line-up of Kaneko, Mikk, and Takahashi — the same line-up that appeared on the tracks on Tokyo Flashback, and on the Forced Exposure album. The infinite, echoing spaces contained in this music still sound unbelievably great. Kosokuya specialized in loud, very extended pieces with the capacity to utterly destroy your sense of time. Takahashi's heavy drumming and Mikk's bass lay down a defiantly non-linear foundation, layering just-out-of-time accents that perfectly fracture the cold darkness that envelops the group. Kaneko, armed with nothing more than a single Marshall amp and a beat-up old fuzz pedal, twists and weaves immense feedback fields and eloquent clusters of single notes in and around Mikk's anguished voice. This is a heavy, heavy record, fully on a par with the early Fushitsusha classics or the second High Rise album." — Alan Cummings

EXIAS-J: 2002.11.17 Live at Aire-Gin, Yokohama CD (PSF 133). $18.00

"Formed around the nucleus of full-on guitarist and theorist Hideaki Kondo in 1999, Exias-J (shorthand for Experimental Improvisers Association of Japan) have succeeded in building up their own self-contained scene over the past three years. Working as a kind of collective, with members from a wide variety of musical backgrounds (classical, jazz, experimental film, acoustic design, philosophy) showing up on different electric and acoustic projects, their Bishop Records imprint has to date released nine CDs worth of impressively focussed (and on occasion, unashamedly noisy) free improvisation. The collective have taken it upon themselves to 'deconstruct and reconstruct Japanese music', freeing it both from the cult of imitation of Western avant-garde patterns and the idea that Japanese music must somehow be ethereal and beautiful. What this means in practice is that their love of free jazz, free improv, minimalism, musique concrete, electronic music et al gets sucked into an industrial-strength blender, amped up to eleven, and splattered all over the rear wall. For this, their first release on PSF, the collective call up their electric brigade and put in a set of performances whose volume+density+full-on flail equation approaches pretty damn close to Takayanagi New Direction-esque levels of pleasure. Even when they turn it down for explorations of AMM-space, there's a purely physical heft to their music that is as enticing as any to have emerged in the past decade."

TOMOKAWA, KAZUKI: Box 13CD Box (PSF 134/46). $200.00

"The multi-talented Tomokawa (singer, author, actor, painter, drinker, raconteur, bike-race tipster) remains curiously unappreciated in the West, in spite of creating some of the consistently inspired, emotionally resonant outsider folk music of recent years. Perhaps this set will inspire a few more stragglers to catch up with his genius. Whether screaming his lungs out while thrashing his guitar within an inch of its life (his legendarily wild performances frequently end up with all strings snapped during a single song), creating gorgeously romantic and limpid tone-scapes, or collaborating with the likes of improv bassist Motoharu Yoshizawa (both of the albums that they recorded together are included here) or Keiji Haino, Tomokawa never remains any less than himself. He walks a path of untutored intelligence, piercing sensitivity, and fully exorcised passions all too rare in the shallow husk of today's debased world. Limited to six hundred copies, the set comes housed in a heavy-duty, LP sized box, with accompanying booklet and postcard. It contains all ten of the solo Tomokawa studio albums previously released by PSF. Three exclusive bonus disks are also included (these will not be available separately from the box). The first is a compilation of classic, original tracks from Tomokawa's first three little-heard albums, released between '75 and '77 on Tokuma. The second bonus disk is made up of new musical settings for poems by the tragic Japanese symbolist poet Chuya Nakahara (1907-1937). Tomokawa has drawn deeply upon the modernist mania of these poems throughout his career, constantly revisiting them on record and live, and these new readings are the most mellifluous yet. The final disk, Satoru is an album of new recordings with his telepathically sensitive long-term group (which features Toshi Ishizuka of Vajra on drums), including a clutch of deeply resonant new classics that Tomokawa outed at his first ever overseas appearance at the Le Weekend Festival in Scotland." — Alan Cummings.

URABE, MASAYOSHI: Ware Wa Seidai No Kyojyo Zo CD (PSF 147). $18.00

Masayoshi Urabe: (alto saxophone, metal joints, chains, harmonica, electric guitar). Latest masterpiece of purely rock 'n' roll flesh-breathing, recorded live and relentless in Japan and Belgium, by this generation's most radical alto terrorist." — Alan Cummings. "My joints ache so much that I walk weird. Improvisation?? Improvisation??!! I've never seen it, heard it, or played it. You say that you're uncomfortable. I felt so good that I stopped laughing. I love silence because I am so brutal, but because I breathe there can be no silence. I call it Rock 'n' Roll. Because I breathe — because I have a mouth. Duo 1988, Julia Brute, Urklang, Soingyokusaiyo — Improvisation can eat shit, that's what I've always said. Musicians are the scum of the earth, and hell's a lie, that's what I've always said. Do you know a word that means both look at me and leave me alone? I'm so fuckin' glad that I've got no reasons, no dreams, nothing to believe in. I'm so fuckin' glad that I have no interest in the occult, in salvation, in playing my part, in meanings. I'm so fuckin' glad I met you and left you. I'm so fuckin' glad that I'm not you. What I really mean is that I'm so fuckin' glad that you're not beautiful. What I really mean is that I'm so fuckin' glad that you mean nothing to me." — Masayoshi Urabe, from his liner notes.

DARE DEVIL BAND: Inomusha CD (PSF 148). $18.00

Shoji Hano (drums); Atsushi Tsuyama (electric bass, vocals); Kawabata Makoto (electric guitar, etc.). "The Dare Devil Band moniker first showed up in the early nineties on a duo album by German sax titan Peter Brotzmann and master drummer Shoji Hano. Hano obviously has a soft spot for the name, as he has resurrected it for this new project — a hardcore improvised rock trio, consisting of Hano with Makoto Kawabata and Atsushi Tsuyama from acid-freak commune Acid Mothers Temple. Hano made his name as an intensely physical free drummer who draws upon a multitude of esoteric physical practices to energize his playing. He's recorded with Peter Brotzmann, Derek Bailey, Werner Lüdi, William Parker, Keiji Haino and a host of other leading free improvisers as well as proving his rock credentials on two albums with the legendary High Rise. Inomusha was recorded live earlier this year in Osaka and Kyoto, with the trio locking down into some seriously wired and sprawling rock craziness. Comes in a gorgeous mini-LP style gatefold jacket with English liner notes by Hano."

JOKERS: Jokers CD (PSF 149). $18.00

Hiroshi Nar: (vocals, guitar, organ, chorus); Yohkai Takahashi: (bass, chorus); Toshi Ishizuka: (drums, percussion, chorus). "Accelerated senility, inspired lunacy, and grotesque rock pranks from a trio of Japanese underground veterans who should really know 'better'. If meaningful Pete Frame musical histories are what you're after, then this trio has it in spades. Ritalin-huffing vocalist and smeary-fingered guitarist Hiroshi Na was a member of both acid-goth mystery group Les Rallizes Denudes and seminal anarcho-folk-punkers Zuno Keisatsu during their heaviest periods in the seventies. Hairy, speaker-shaking bassist Yokai Takahashi was in a bunch of no-wave carcrash groups like Bunrets before serving a lengthy stint in Rallizes during the eighties and nineties. More recently he's been a central plank in Gyaatees, which throws mentally-challenged priests together with hoary rock improvisers to chaotic ends. Wildman drummer Toshi Ishizuka was a founder member of Zuno Keisatsu and Vajra, a constant presence behind folk legends Kazuki Tomokawa and Kan Mikami, as well as leading his own group Cinorama. But instead of a full-frontal assault, the Jokers have decided to tunnel under the gates of perception with an arsenal of rhythmic patfalls, riffing slapstick and spluttering vocal raspberries. Theirs is an indescribably freaky but endearingly unaffected universe, where village idiot vocalizations happily rub up against stop-start rhythmic morse code and some very wild and fuzzy guitar soloing. Against all the odds, this convinces, entertains and thrills. Adult rock from a group who never grew up." — Alan Cummings.

KYOAKU NO INTENTION: Astral Projection CD (PSF 150). $18.00

Munehiro Narita: (guitar); Shoji Hano: (drums). "Back at the dawn of the eighties, several years before the inception of High Rise, foot-down speed-freakin' guitarist Munehiro Narita had another unit which he called Kyoaku No Intention (Worst Intentions). Usually comprising just himself on electric guitar and a drummer, they cranked out some of the hardest hitting no-wave rock-improv of the time, analogous to very little apart from perhaps a more Neu-shackled version of the Doug Snyder/Bob Thompson 'Daily Dance' duo. Documentation was, unfortunately, minimal. That was until a couple of years ago when, with High Rise in one of their periods of dormancy, Narita decided to revive the name for some solo and collaborative shows around Tokyo. One of those gigs was with drummer Shoji Hano, and the combination of his resonant power and free-jazz inflected propulsion with the stinging, icicle-edge attack of Narita's guitar proved to be so explosive that the duo has now become a regular unit. On their second album for PSF, Narita and Hano are caught live in Tokyo a mere three months ago. Hano is always inventive around the kit, but he knows that crazed flail is just as valid in certain contexts as textural subtlety. Narita too was never one for treating the guitar as an ambient paintbrush, and his soloing here is as splattered and nerve-shreddingly exciting as ever. This is a brutal, consistently thrilling, cold fusion sound that makes little allowance for weak constitutions. Oh yeah." — Alan Cummings.

KAWABATA & JEAN-FRANCOIS PAUVROS, MAKOTO: Venus CD (PSF 151). $18.00

"Second duo outing (following Extreme-Onction on Fractal) for a sympathetically resonating pair of cross-culturally twinned Franco-Japanese souls. Makoto Kawabata is of course the hair-flailing, chain-smoking motorpsycho guitarist who first appeared on the radar in Musica Transonic and Mainliner, but is of late known to space-rock junkies the world over through the endlessly touring, cosmic freak-power bandwagon that is Acid Mothers Temple. Jean-Francois Pauvros is still a far lesser known name to those outside France, but he has a solid-gold history in European free-rock shenanigans stretching all the way back to the late seventies, when he played alongside Jac Berrocal in Catalogue. Recent years have seen many collaborations with dancers, poets, and Japanese musicians such as Makoto Sato, Setsuko Chiba, and Keiji Haino. Caught together two years ago in Paris, it is clear that Kawabata and Pauvros breathe very much the same air. An air dense with tobacco smoke, red wine fumes, and the alluring perfume of beautiful women. Bowed guitars, communal psychedelic geography, heavily quivering clouds of harmonics, deep drones, and that unmistakable miasma of unwashed rock spirit in telepathically free motion..." — Alan Cummings.

KOUSOKUYA: Live Gyakuryu Kokuu CD (PSF 152). $18.00

"The fatigue or Mick's voice became the lullaby to me. And when I woke up I was released from the permanent waves of the depression. I can testify from this experience that Mick's vocal has the effect against depression. And if you can add Ritalin and Betanamin, you feel no scare!" — from Tetsu Fujii's liner notes. Absolutely stunning dark matter psychedelics from one of the Tokyo scene's most elusive groups. Kousokuya have existed as a group since 1979, although leader Jutok Kaneko's activities in bizarre performance unit Kokugaisho go back even further into the mid-seventies. But in spite of the group's twenty-five year history, they have somehow managed to release just three full albums — a self-released debut since reissued as PSFD-132, a live album on Forced Exposure, and The Dark Spot [PSFD-90] with Masayoshi Urabe. These newly uncovered live recordings date back to 1991, the year that the group's debut album was released. Two long tracks of grinding, soaring blackhole sonics that chart the empty gulfs of tension-space like no one save Fushitsusha. Don't pass up this chance to catch a barely acknowledged group-mind at an almost-never glimpsed peak of staggering beauty and dynamic force." — Alan Cummings.

VA: JMSA Presents Wave from Free Music CD (PSF 153). $18.00

Previously unreleased live recordings during Sep. 2003 - Feb. 2004. Features: Keiji Haino (hurdy-gurdy); Kazuo Imai (guitar); Junichiro Okuchi (piano); Michihiro Sato (tsugaru syamisen); Yoshihide Otomo (turn-table); Masayoshi Urabe (alto sax).

"Compilation containing six lengthy solo tracks by some of the most fascinating improvising musicians currently active in Japan. The CD documents a series of lecture-concerts, exploring the meanings, methods and implications of free music, which took place between September 2003 and February 2004 at Mesar Haus in Tokyo. Approaches vary between the endlessly fascinating, grey kaleidoscopic fields of Haino's hurdy-gurdy, the art-brut physical terrorism of Masayoshi Urabe, the traditional improvisatory, plucking style of Sato's tsugaru-jamisen, and the anti-fundamentalist feedback dialectics of Otomo's turntable work. All bore channels through time-space continua and consensus reality like no one's business." — Alan Cummings.

EXIAS-J: Balance of Chaos CD (PSF 154). $18.00

"Thrilling document of seriously wired Japanese improv collective, raising electric ghosts and phantom sonorities live in New York. Exias-J (short for Experimental Improviser's Association of Japan) have been around since 2000, and this is their second release on PSF. The group express a dedication to bringing the sounds of classic euro free improv into collision with free jazz, minimalism, electronic music, scalp-raising rock improv and a dozen other musical discourses. Balance of Chaos captures the collective, in a number of shifting trio and quintet permutations, live on their first tour of the US in the autumn of 2003. The stated aims of the collective's 'electric conception' is to disrupt traditional instrumental hierarchies through the application of electro-acoustics. However, that pat explanation gives little sense of the kinetic physicality, knife-edge tensions, and complex structural density embodied in these thrilling performances (though the whooping and hollering audiences were clearly feeling it). If you have any bottomless holes in your musical history that need filling, these boys and their diachronic spades will more than do the job." — Alan Cummings.

MIKAMI/HE YON/ISHITSUKA/SATOH: Fu-kon CD (PSF 8001). $18.00

"Historically, the relations between Japan and its closest neighbors have not been among the smoothest in the international arena. For a long time there was a blanket ban on Japanese culture of any sort being sold in Korea, and cultural exchanges were by necessity greatly limited. There have been notable underground exceptions, such as university performances by theatrical renegade Kara Juro (who also brought back Korean musicians and actors to play at these performances in Tokyo). Now there is another to add to that list. Female Korean percussionist and vocalist Shin He Yon met up with THE leading voice of emotionally-saturated Japanese outsider art-folk Kan Mikami at a festival in Iwaki in 1997. With similar oral shamanic cultural backgrounds the two immediately hit it off, played together, and they were easily coaxed into the studio to lay down some tracks of transcendent cultural detente. Kan gets to sing his soul out in Korean (not that you're going to be able to tell the difference), Shin croons with a beautiful cracked edge to her voice and then drums up a storm, and countercultural icons Ishitsuka (drummer of Japan's first underground rock band Zuno Keisatsu, longtime Kazuki Tomokawa collaborator, Vajra stalwart), and Satoh (Shamisen maverick with Zorn-connections) get to sketchin the backgrounds. There's a hard-to-articulate perfect sense of acid-folk looseness in this record. Rarely has Kan's voice been given such a sympathetically warm setting. Shin is the ideal counterpoint, both on vocals and heavy percussion." — Alan Cummings.

MIKAMI, KAN: Nanbu-Shiki CD (PSF 8002). $18.00

"Another staggering masterpiece from Japan's king of philosopher singer-songwriters. Volume nine of his continuing series of solo works on PSF. Includes one track with longtime live collaborator Toshi Ishitsuka (Vajra, Kazuki Tomokawa band, ex-Zuno Keisatsu) on percussion. The title, Nanbu Shiki refers to the model of handguns used by the imperial Japanese army during WWII."

TOMOKAWA, KAZUKI: Sora No Sakana (Sky Fish) CD (PSF 8003). $18.00

"Latest album from Tomokawa — Japan's other greatest underground folk singer, not to mention accomplished poet and painter, inveterate on-stage drunk, and now successful bicycle-race tipster. Eight new tracks of deeply zoned, uniquely identifiable, pure folk-soul communication, that range from melodies of limpid beauty, to sudden plunges into viciously hammered guitar, that voice rising, now screaming, and cracking into violent fragments as the other instruments following into a flailing and cathartic rhythmic purge. On Sora No Sakana, Tomokawa returns to some familiar obsessions — the possibilities of the nursery rhyme form, musical settings for the poems of Japan's tragic symbolist poet Chuya Nakahara (in the '70s Tomokawa recorded an entire album of Nakahara's poems), and deceptively opaque natural imagery. At the centre of each song is Tomokawa's acoustic guitar and unmistakable voice, augmented with an unusually resourceful and sympathetic group of longterm collaborators (including Toshi Ishitsuka from Vajra). A unique individualist talent worthy of more support." — Alan Cummings

KAN, MIKAMI: 13/4,900,089,658 CD (PSF 8004). $18.00

The new Mikami album (previously available as part of the massive PSF 13CD box set (PSF 110/122))

TOMOKAWA, KAZUKI: Akai Polyan (Red Polyanthus) CD (PSF 8005). $18.00

"Eleventh PSF album from the Japanese underground's most handsome folk-truthteller and all-round renaissance man. Nine new songs, including two more musical settings for the symbolist poems of Japan's Rimbaud: Chuya Nakahara. Tomokawa has inhabited an utterly unique world very much of his own making for over twenty-five years now. A world where the most limpid of minor melodies and symbolism-inspired natural imagery can happily rub shoulders with EXTREMELY peaked torrents of pained screams over the densest of acoustic noise-scapes. What welds it all together is Tomokawa's self-evident to desire to take himself and his audience through the wall with every performance. Forget any image of the sensitive folkie, Tomokawa's music is as violent and cathartic as anything in the underground rock or free jazz canon. For anyone at all still concerned with the possibilities of words, voice, and acoustic communication, Tomokawa is an unparalleled contemporary touchstone. There is more truth and beauty in any one of his songs than in most singer-songwriter's entire repertoires. Believe it." — Alan Cummings

AIHIYO: Live CD (PSF 8006). $18.00

"Second album from Haino's 'covers' unit, who specialize in pulling apart hoary old Japanese MOR classics and rebuilding them into single-minded masterpieces of grunting/floating garage-psychelia. The group's debut album appeared a couple of years back on the Japanese major label Tokuma, and was doubtless missed out upon by billions still bemused by that label's mischievous foreign 'distribution' policies. Since their inception though, Aihiyo have played out around Japan roughly once a month, and this release is a document of some of those marathon, thrilling shows. Possibly the last document too, as Takahashi has since left the drum seat in favor of smoking his pipe in a rural setting, and bassist Kawaguchi (of Tokyo's finest garage-Fushitsusha hybrid Broomdusters) is talking about taking a sabbatical. Anyway, this new release features nine long tracks, including covers of a Spiders tune, the Ronettes' 'Be My Baby', and lots more you won't know. Most staggering of all is the cover of the Stones' 'Satisfaction', which neatly transforms Jagger's baby-in-a-Perspex-box mixture of rage and boredom into truly on-the-edge jumpy paranoia, encapsulating the song's mental entirety without replicating the riff, rhythm, faux-Americanisms or any other elements of its external whist. As a textbook example of how to do a cover it's right up there with, what? Fushitsusha's 'Marianne'? Jandek's 'Rite of Spring'? Not much else, for sure." — Alan Cummings

MIKAMI/ISHIZUKA, TOSHI: Shinshi-no-Yuuutsu CD (PSF 8007). $18.00

"Another March, another spring, another studio record by Japan's folk philosopher-king Kan Mikami. If you were wondering how he was planning to top last year's monolithic 13 CD boxset, here's the simplest of answers. A duo record with long-time comrade in arms (and the Tokyoscene's most self-effacing drummer), Toshi Ishizuka. Ishizuka is best known as the ball of percussive energy that powered Vajra, but he has an underground history as long as your arm, stretching right back to Japan's original seventies rock-punkers Zuno Keisatsu. As well as being Kazuki Tomokawa's drummer of choice for the past 30 years, Ishizuka has led Cinorama, released a couple of solo drum disks (including last year's wonderful PSF release In The Night (PSFD-107)), and held down a career as a session drummer. For as many years as anyone cares to remember he's also played in a regular monthly duo with Mikami (first Sunday of each month, Aketa's Place in Tokyo's Nishi-Ogikubo). That duo has seen some previous low-key documentation on a couple of compilations, including the Opprobrium benefit Waiting To Be Old, but this is their first full album release. On the six new tracks on Shinshi No Yuuutsu (which can be translated as A Gentleman's Depression), Mikami is in as fine a fettle as ever. Gruff, hoarse and strangled, choking out a multi-voiced pearly stream of wisdom, his guitar rippling and jerking through those convulsive A-minor patterns akin to little else on god's earth. Ishizuka is the perfect partner to Mikami's unique phrasing, all in the eternal now as straight forward momentum is fractured into a schizophrenic tumble in twenty dimensional directions at once. His playing has a rock heaviness, but broken through with delicate improv shadings and an occasional and unexpected processed whoosh. It's a naked and innocent record, as yielding as granite and as hard as new-born baby..." — Alan Cummings

TOMOKAWA, KAZUKI: Erise no Me CD (PSF 8008). $18.00

"Tomokawa's twelfth leader album on PSF (the title translates as The Eyes of Elise), and hence his nineteenth in a career that dates back to the mid-seventies. Tomokawa stands, together with Kan Mikami, as one of the most unique singer-poets thrown up by Japan's folk boom of the late sixties and early seventies. Each new album from him represents not simpleminded 'progression' but a privileged glimpse into a sound continuum as forcefully individual and special as any other name you might want to drop in this field (duh — Buckley, Drake, Hurley, Jandek even). In Tomokawa's universe, melodies of limpid and mellifluous grace rub shoulders with rhythmically violently and convulsive purges of soul bile. Tomokawa's voice is one of the most special in the Japanese underground: ragged, strained and deeply accented, far removed from conventional standards of singerly intonation, but undoubtedly a sound of deeply human beauty. The group provide the ideal un-square settings for Tomokawa's complex symbolist songs, at all times attaining a perfect marriage of acoustic density and forward lope. As an added bonus, long time admirer Keiji Haino adds some trademark abyssal guitar on two tracks." — Alan Cummings

HANO & DEREK BAILEY, SHOJI: Fish CD (PSF 8009). $18.00

"Latest in a very long line of guitar and drums duo releases from Bailey, encompassing sessions with Han Bennink, Jamie Muir, Andrea Centazzo, John Stevens, Cyro Baptista, Tony Oxley, Susie Ibarra, Eddie Prevost, and probably several more that have slipped my mind. This is his first record with Japanese powerhouse drummer Shoji Hano, recorded at Moat Studios in London in June 2000. Hano is best known outside of Japan for his brief tenure as drummer in speedfreak rock band High Rise. But he has had an even lengthier career as an improv drummer, with his own roster of groups (including the Polybreath Percussion Band, as documented on PSFD-92) and with the likes of Peter Brotzmann and William Parker. This session with Bailey was the realisation of a long-held dream for Hano, and he was fully psyched up for the date. Bailey's playing is squarely in his recent style, centering around dry note clutches and some gorgeously controlled feedback swells. Hano's drumming here sacrifices his exemplary rock motion in favour of a more pulse orientated approach. He brings a weighty presence to his work on toms especially, the result of years of rigorous training in locating the spiritual through the physical. The results are pleasingly heavy, with a density of detail that repays high-volume playback. Four tracks, two of them just under the twenty minute mark, the other two hovering around five or six minutes. Each one named after a species of fish. Very fetching picture of a monkfish on the cover, too." — Alan Cummings

FUSHITSUSHA: Origin's Hesitation CD (PSF 8010). $18.00

"Expectations exploded, intentions fleetingly revealed, faith justified. A new album from Keiji Haino's Fushitsusha is always going to be a major event. And to make the release of Origin's Hesitation even more significant, it is the first new album from the group in almost two years, the first studio recordings by the new duo line-up, and the first Fushitsusha album on PSF since 1994's stunning Pathétique. The popular perception of Fushitsusha has usually been as a rock band, albeit one that pushed the definition of that term further than anyone had ever done before. While the group's approach has always been (and remains) rock to the core, the outside manifestation of those intentions have gradually moved further and further away from the rock framework. Shockingly, on this release, Haino takes the process to its natural conclusion and has decided to eschew the guitar entirely. In its place, nothing but the eerily empty hiss of overdriven amplification. Here Haino sings, plays drums, and conjures with spectres. Consequently, the sound palette is starker, and Haino's intentions plainer than they have ever been before. The no overdrubs policy remains, though both Haino and bassist Ozawa work with realtime loops. The unique dynamic hallmarks of the group are preserved, the focus on individual sounds and their interaction underlined. Attack, duration, beginnings and endings all merge into one heartrending, emotionally eternal present. This is a hugely important, hauntingly insistent, spectral blast of a record. Quite simply and beyond any doubts, one of the releases of the year." — Alan Cummings

MIKAMI, KAN: Lesbos CD (PSF 8012). $18.00

"For the past twelve years, the coming of spring has also heralded a new Kan Mikami album. Lesbos, his 11th solo album for the label, is yet another step into that same ever-flowing river of truth that Mikami has been bathing in for over thirty years. The format is unchanging — rough and abstractly percussive electric guitar accompaniment, a voice capable of a delicate caress, a wistful cajoling, or flesh-stripping ferocity, and songs of arcane wisdom as personal and poetically impenetrable as anything Jandek has ever laid down. This time out the topics include the mystery of Michael Jordan, the rain in Rome, and cans of pineapple chunks. Just like Heraclitus's river, Mikami's world defines it eternity through constant flux. Isn't it about time you stepped up and got your feet wet?" — Alan Cummings

TOMOKAWA, KAZUKI: Kenshin e ichigeki CD (PSF 8013). $18.00

"Screaming folk-poet Tomokawa's twentieth album in a career that stretches back to the seventies. And there's still no sign of him mellowing with age — he still spits lyrical bile and emotional venom like no one else on this earth. His forceful long-term group provides loose and translucent settings for Tomokawa's beautiful madness, and the return of Ayumi Matsui on soaring violin is a very welcome development. This latest album was inspired by and is dedicated to the memory of Kenshin Sumitaku, a young free-meter haiku poet who died from leukaemia at the age of twenty-five. Yet another genuine, humanly touching, inspiring masterpiece from one of the unsung contemporary masters." — Alan Cummings

HAINO, KEIJI: Mazu Wa Iro O Nakuso Ka CD (PSF 8014). $18.00

(Translation: First Let's Remove the Color). "Gorgeous new bag of home-recorded mystery from Haino. Apparently recorded alone, late at night and at minimal volume, these latest recordings tremble with the same deep-welled emotional sensitivity and sense of veiled threat that animated classics like Watashi Dake?, Affection and Era of Sad Wings. With the trademark roar of his guitar held in check by necessity, Haino instead builds up a base of gently fractured looped riffs, over which he unfurls snaking, jagged ribbons of blue notes, layers of choral chant and whispered warnings. The atmosphere is replete with suggestions of medieval music, delta blues, and jazz — but glimpsed through a constantly shifting, dark and alien fog. The effect is entirely beautiful, managing to be impossibly touching, deeply meditative, and truly scary all at once. This is one that will suck the air out of the corners of your room late at night." — Alan Cummings

MIKAMI, KAN: 1979 CD (PSF 8015). $18.00

"Twelfth solo album from Kan Mikami in as many years — and, seemingly, the last in this monumental series. Mikami is Japan's undisputed, one and only voice of urban folk surrealism. 1979 presents few surprises for the converted — tightly gripped clusters of electric A-minor riffing, weird phrasing, and those unmistakable honey-over-broken-glass vocals. Even better than usual are Mikami's bizarre and incisive ruminations on the state of modern Japan (megaliths in the garden, a Gibson guitar hang from the rafters of a rural shrine, the return of Elvis, sake-guzzling crabs and the resurrection of the dead). As a poet-analyst of middle-aged male frustrations and everyday epiphanies in the toilet, Mikami has no equal (well, maybe Richard Meltzer). Comes with full English translations of the lyrics and liner-notes." — Alan Cummings

FUSHITSUSHA: 1978: Eien no ho ga saki ni te o dashita no sa CD (PSF 8016). $18.00

"From 1978, the earliest group recordings by Fushitsusha yet to be released. A vital document for understanding the Japanese underground and the truest, most exciting rock group of the contemporary era. Now here's something unexpected and utterly fascinating. The earliest years of Fushitsusha have long been shrouded in mystery, palely illumined by only the dimmest of rumours and half-facts. As a live entity the group seems to have begun sometime in 1978 (also the year that Friction, Japan's first punk group formed), initially in a couple of strange duo line-ups, one of which included Tamio Shiraishi on synth. But soon after that it took on the familiar rock trio form, with Jun Hamano (of the legendary acid-splatter group Gaseneta) on bass, and a shady character called Takashima on drums. This version of the group lasted for about a year before falling apart, and documentation was pretty much non-existent. Until now. On the usual all-black textured paper gatefold, the only distinguishing mark is a small silver '1978'. Unchanging timelessness is one of Fushitsusha's most salient characteristics, and this release reveals that the group's radical dissection of rock rhythm, fracturing of attack and summoning of vibration was born entirely fully-formed. That the group has retained an identical level of intensity, experimentation and commitment for twenty-five years is a truly a testament to something. Either way, this is one more piece of a puzzle too vast to be grasped in its entirety by anyone other than Haino. And further proof, as if any was needed, that Fushitsusha are the most exciting rock group of the contemporary era. For those that pay attention to such things, the title means something approximately like 'It was eternity that reached out its hand first?'"

HAINO, KEIJI: Hikari Yami Uchitokeishi Kono Hibiki CD (PSF 8017). $18.00

"First album of solo guitar by Keiji Haino in quite some time, but very much a departure from the mountain-levelling, continent-sundering, weather-system huge electric guitar releases of years past. Hikari yami... is played just on acoustic, gut-strung guitar, entirely forsaking the effects and extreme amplification characteristic of his electric work. Over three lengthy improvised pieces, recorded in clothes-rustling close-up, Haino explores the full dynamic range of the instrument, working abys deep into his eternal preoccupations of duration, decay, sustain and resonance. Vast spectrums of reference, from Bailey and Fahey to flamenco, oud music and bluegrass are invoked in single notes and brief phrases, only to be dismissed with confident authority. Another masterful piece of work from Haino, as replete with mystery and the sadness of existence as ever. The title roughly translates as 'Light darkness melting into one this vibration'. Haino advises the listener to play as loud as possible — surely a first on an album of acoustic guitar." — Alan Cummings.

HAINO & MICHIHIRO SATO, KEIJI: Tayutayuto Tadayoitamae Kono Furue CD (PSF 8018). $18.00

"Fascinating and incendiary string-meshing duel between two contemporary masters of musical metaphysics. Michihiro Sato is a master of the tsugaru-jamisen, a traditional plucked and strummed stringed instrument. But forget anything you may have heard about the delicate restraint of Japanese traditional music. Sato plays in the rough, ultra-speedy, explosively percussive style associated with the bleak, rural and snowbound far north of Japan. Originally associated with blind minstrels, the instrument underwent a huge revival in the sixties and seventies, becoming a counter-cultural symbol of brutal hardship, rural authenticity, and indigenous creativity. In the hands of a virtuoso like Sato (a two-time winner of the national championship), the shamisen is an instrument that can generate emotional involvement and pulses of sheer, untrammelled excitement. Sato is also unique in his field for his willingness to experiment and play with other improvisers — previous collaborators have included John Zorn, Fred Frith, Bill Frisell, Butch Morris, Christian Marclay, Sean Meehan and Kan Mikami. Sato's first studio meeting with Keiji Haino sees a rare melding of open minds and taut strings. Common languages are invented, experimented with and discarded at will. Haino revisits the evocative nylon-strung guitar style he first explored on Hikair yami uchitokeaish kono hibiki (PSFD-8017), laying down fields and forests of string texture, while Sato burns blazing trails of narrow-beam intensity straight through the middle of your skull." — Alan Cummings.

ITSUMI, YUJI: Free Will BOOK/CD (PSFB 001). $60.00

Softcover book with bonus CD, 140 pages, edition of 500 (mostly full page b&w photography; text is in Japanese only). "For the past ten years, Tokyo-based photographer Yuji Itsumi has taken a series of remarkably evocative B&W photos of many underground musicians for the PSF magazine G-Modern. Itsumi's intensely intimate photos capture the musicians off-stage in their everyday lives, but still manage to capture a sure sense of their music. This book compiles Itsumi's work for G-Modern, along with short interviews (in Japanese only) with each of the twenty-nine musicians featured. Those pictured include giants of the Japanese underground like Keiji Haino, Yoshihide Otomo, Motoharu Yoshizawa, Chie Mukai, Kan Mikami, and Masayoshi Urabe, alongside international doyens of free-playing such as Derek Bailey, Arthur Doyle, Charles Gayle, Han Bennink, and Peter Brotzmann. The book comes with a nine-track, hour long CD containing previously unreleased tracks by Derek Bailey, Keiji Haino, Yoshihide Otomo, Kazuo Imai, Motoharu Yoshizawa, Toshiaki Ishizuka, Hiroshi Kawani, Chie Mukai, and Kan Mikami with Masayoshi Urabe." — Alan Cummings.

VAJRA: 3" CD (PSFM 1001). $10.00

PSF's only 3" single, by the Haino/Mikami/Ishizuka trio, featuring 2 re-recorded versions of tracks off the Vajra album (PSF 62). "If somebody told me 'Chiru-ha' is a Scott Walker tribute, I'd be inclined to believe them." — David Newgarden.

HAINO, KEIJI: Percussion Solo VHS (PSFV 3). $38.00

"Solo performances for percussion have always been at the centre of Keiji Haino's art. In them, Haino deploys a huge variety of handheld percussion, from tiny cymbals, bells and gongs, to tambourines, jagged pieces of metal and Harry Bertoia-esque specially-made resonating sculptures. These performances, legendarily intense present the crystallization of the physicality of Haino's music, his attitude to rhythm, to the persistence of sound itself. Though relatively rare now, these solo percussion concerts always have a special hushed atmosphere of concentration, silent communion, and mystery. Although several releases in Haino's extensive discography have already showcased elements from these percussion performances, the intensely visual nature of what occurs has rendered them little more than shadowy traces of the actual event. Haino has long talked about releasing one of these performances on video, and now that wish has become reality. Coming a week after Haino's 50th birthday, this is a unique and new chapter in the continuing documentation of one of the most compelling and unique performers of our, or any other, age."

ITSUMI, YUJI: Photography Meets Music VHS (PSFW V1). $18.00

Video version of the Yuji Itsumi book. Itsumi Yuji (photography); Ohkuchi Junichiro (piano); Imai Kazuo (Live electroacoustic); Urabe Masayoshi (alto sax). Color; 80 minutes.

PSI (UK):

PARKER, EVAN: Lines Burnt in Light CD (PSI 01.01). $17.00

"With the release of Psi 01.01 Evan Parker begins a new chapter in the work he started in 1970 with Incus Records. After leaving Incus and a long period of working with other independent labels E.P. has decided to start a new label of his own (assisted by Martin Davidson of Emanem). 'Much has changed in the intervening years. The LP format with all its attendant technical woes and disappointments has been replaced by CD; the technology and economics have changed markedly in favour of the small independent producer; a whole global culture for improvised music has developed. P.S. I called it Psi for all the associations with irrational numbers, golden ratios etc but above all for the Psi phenomena which I am convinced are at the heart of improvised music making.' — Evan Parker. His first solo soprano saxophone record in several years, recorded in the inspiring acoustics of St Michael and All Angels Church in west London. 62 minutes, previously unissued."

DUDEK, GERD: 'smatter CD (PSI 02.01). $17.00

"The saxophonist in a straight-ahead jazz date with John Parricelli (electric guitar), Chris Laurence (double bass) & Tony Levin (drums)." From Evan Parker's liner notes: "Gerd is a holy one. Music incarnate, an Adolphian centaur — impossible to say where the body and the saxophone separate."

BENNINK & EVAN PARKER, HAN: The Grass is Greener CD (PSI 02.02). $17.00

"The percussionist meets the tenor saxophonist again for their first duo recording." A series of 8 "instant compositions", recorded at Gateway Studios in London, 3/16/2000.

PARKER, EVAN: Six Of One CD (PSI 02.03). $17.00

"Soprano saxophone solos recorded in a church. Reissue of Incus LP 39 plus a 7-minute piece from the same session." Recorded June 18th, 1980 in St. Jude's on the Hill, London.

PARKER & GEORGE LEWIS, EVAN: From Saxophone & Trombone CD (PSI 02.04). $17.00

WHEELER, KENNY: Dream Sequence CD (PSI 03.04). $17.00

"The flugelhornist in 1995-2003 recordings from solo to sextet distilled from an epic series of visits to Gateway Studio over a period of seven years with Ray Warleigh (alto saxophone & flute), Stan Sulzmann (tenor saxophone), John Parricelli (electric guitar), Chris Laurence (double bass) & Tony Levin (drums)."

VON SCHLIPPENBACH, ALEXANDER: Broomriding CD (PSI 03.05). $17.00

"Schlippenbach (piano), Rudi Mahall (bass clarinet), Tristan Honsinger (cello) & Paul Lovens (percussion) recorded at DeutschlandRadio Berlin in 2002, using pieces by Schlippenbach, Honsinger & Eric Dolphy."

PARKER, EVAN: The Snake Decides CD (PSI 03.06). $17.00

"Soprano saxophone solos recorded in 1986 in St. Paul's Church, Oxford by the late Michael Gerzon — 'a giant in the field of audio'. Reissue of Incus LP 49."

WHEELER, KENNY: Song For Someone CD (PSI 04.01). $17.00

"Between the legendary Windmill Tilter and Music for Large Ensemble came Song for Someone from 1973, the first music Kenny Wheeler recorded for a large group of his choosing. Featuring Derek Bailey, Alan Branscombe, Duncan Lamont, Ron Matthewson, Mike Osborne, Tony Oxley, Evan Parker, John Taylor, Norma Winstone, and others. Now on CD for the first time. Reissue of Incus LP 10. 43 minutes."

TRACEY & EVAN PARKER, STAN: Suspensions and Anticipations CD (PSI 04.02). $17.00

"A sequence of free improvisations — eight duos, two piano solos & one tenor saxophone solo — recorded at Gateway Studios." Recorded 9/28/03. 62 minutes.

VA: Pisa 1980 Improvisors Symposium 2CD (PSI 04.03/4). $29.00

"Ten leading free improvisers assembled in Pisa in the summer of 1980. Maarten Altena, Derek Bailey, Barry Guy, George Lewis, Paul Lovens, Paul Lytton, Evan Parker, Paul Rutherford, Giancarlo Schiaffini & Philipp Wachsmann. Two duos, one trio & two quintets. Reissue of Incus LP 37 plus 94 minutes of extra material." 142 minutes.

VA: Free Zone Appleby 2003 CD (PSI 04.05CD). $17.00

PSI-FI (UK):

PYRAMID: CD (PSCD 004). $20.00

Three more albums of "unknown" Krautrock from the early to mid 70s, from the Pyramid label archive. Pyramid features one 36 minute track, produced by "personnel unknown" on instrumentation of: Hammond organ, electric guitar, bass, drums, mellotron, mini-Moog, electric piano, and Tibetan bells. It's a long cosmic journey, etc.

TEMPLE: CD (PSCD 006). $20.00

"Psych/prog Krautrock issued in a tiny quantity of just 20-30 in Germany 1976-77. Heavy full on guitars, spacey Moogs with male/female vocals." Features Poseidon on vocals, Pauline Fund (vocals, tambourine), Zeus B Held (Hammond, mini-Moog, Mellotron), Heinz Kramer (guitar), Rolf Foller (guitar), Joachim Weiss (bass) and Otto Bretnacher (drums).

PSI49NET (GERMANY):

FROYD: Kleiner Engel 12" (PSI 011). $8.00

"With his current PSI-Release Berlin based electro producer Froyd features a refreshing, truly unique sounding hymn. 'Kleiner Engel' means 'little angel' and with its German lyrics develops into an outrageous uptempo electro track. 'Schütz mich, schütz mich, kleiner Engel!'. An irresistible voice that will definitely mess up your mind, body and soul. The spherical Space Synth Mix takes the original version even on a higher level. Highly infectious! Or as Froyd says 'Gib mir mehr Electrofutter...'"

NETZWERK FRANKFURT: Hot Body 12" (PSI 012). $8.00

"After the success of Netzwerk Europa this release marks a new highlight within the Netzwerk series. For the Netzwerk Frankfurt project Anthony Rother is joined by Berkan Gülen. Their mind-bending 'Hot Body' invites you to a virtual darkroom in a future club-space, featuring a dark metallic 4/4-tune with the necessary killer instinct. This rough, hypnotic and almost ten minute-long techno smash is destined to be massive in all the right places."

LITTLE COMPUTER PEOPLE: The Remixes CD (PSI 014 CD). $8.00

"Anthony Rother and his Little Computer People project finally come with another special release after the successful album Electro Pop and it's one of their strongest yet. The L.C.P. title tune was one of the biggest blowup tracks to emerge from the PSI49NET camp so far. Here they offer a superb package with a string of new remixes by some of the world's leading electro scientists. Almost an album for itself. Besides the original version, still a huge and timeless tune, label head Rother gives us a brilliant re-edit that again can only be described as genre-defying. Here he reinterprets the vocal and injects a more human touch to the song. Psylocity respectfully give their props, stay close to the original and with their crazy 'punk mix' keep the vibe alive. Karl Bartos of Kraftwerk fame chops up the vocal and bassline to create an excellent string-laden effort. Tero's 'C64 Mix' is a unique piece of old school lo-fi electro flavour that messes with 'L.C.P.' in an arcade mode like only this finnish maniac can do. Kanzleramt-mastermind Heiko Laux comes up with an excellent deep floating early morning take and once more shows his exceptional talent as one of Germany's most prolific artists. Then we have the freaky mirrorball madness of the '1979 Original' and the enigmatic 'Little Computer Men'. A great package that should even satisfy the most demanding electro heads out there and not only includes some damn useful new edits but 2 quicktime videos and a C64 Emulator by Tero. An essential release!"

NÖVÖ: Inoculed 12" (PSI 016 EP). $8.00

"Anthony Rother is proud present his newest signing to the Psi-label stable. The refreshing sound of promising french outfit Nööv is already championed by the leading electro DJs. The project is also featured on the label's latest compilation Electro Commando 1 - Welcome To Psi City. Their very own style is one that displays robotic computer funk as well as an irresistible analog feel to create some serious floor-shaking electro movers. 'Inoculed' is a dark, psychotic vocal affair that incorporates a twisted atmospheric vibe and is sure to make some noise on the international electro circuit. An overall impressive debut that causes great expectations regarding Nööv's upcoming releases."

VA (ANTHONY ROTHER PRESENTS): Electro Commando 1 ? Welcome to Psi City 2CD (PSI 017 CD). $19.00

"Now here is what all die hard electro heads have waited for: Electro Commando 1 - Welcome To Psi City. Anthony Rother and Germany's most prolific electro label PSI49Net finally open their vaults to present the ultimate electro collection of new and unreleased material. Two CDs, 25 tracks (most of them unreleased!), introducing lots of new talent and projects as well as some of the recent highlights that have gained the label such an enormous reputation worldwide. Both as an artist/producer and a&r for the label, Anthony Rother once again proves to be the man with the midas touch and the driving force of the genre. Electro Commando 1 includes some of the greatest moments of the label's discography such as Rother's very own remix of 'Little Computer People', his visionary and genre defying 'Simulationszeitalter', Froyd's 'Kleiner Engel', and on top of that some excerpts of the highly acclaimed Netzwerk series (Netzwerk Florida, Netzwerk Europa and Netzwerk Frankfurt). And if these were not enough to put together a compilation more than worthy, this double CD offers more than fifteen unreleased tracks." Artists include: Anthony Rother, Netzwerk Florida, Nööv, Psycloity, Labor E, Christian Berg, Boris Divider, Netzwerk Europa, Studio, God of the Gods, Netzwerk Frankfurt, Mulletronic, Froyd, Frequenzberater, Little Computer People, Si-Com, Muzzfuzz.

PSYLOCITY: Der Klang Der Maschinen CD (PSI 019 CD). $15.00

"Psylocity, aka esteemed production duo Henrich & Duniz, return with their first full length album on Psi49Net entitled Der Klang Der Maschinen. After already creating some mayhem with their contribution to Anthony Rother's Electro Commando compilation, they have been concentrating on taking their unique dark robotic machine grooves to the next level. Der Klang Der Maschinen showcases Psylocity's typical sound, throwing in a slight industrial approach, tech synths and phased vocals for good measure. Roping in a plethora of dirty basslines, effects-laden breakdowns and extremely crisp beats, this monumental album is not your average electro fare... These ten masterfully crafted tracks embrace an almost psychedelic feel that the deep minded electro DJ is begging to work harder in their sets and underlines Anthony Rother's determination to move forward with the Psi label. Der Klang Der Maschinen is another great, original innovation, taking the listener on a truly intense mission. The future of electro starts here..."

PSYLOCITY: Der Klang Der Maschinen 2LP (PSI 019 LP). $16.00

ROTH, ANTHONY: Hacker CD (PSI 021 CD). $15.00

"Fans and music critics have been in eager anticipation for quite a while now, as PSI49Net finally celebrates the arrival of Anthony Rother's new full length album! Hacker is the logical progression both for the label as well as for Rother himself and picks up where he ended with his recently released unique sound designs. Hacker is a breathtaking odyssey into the depths of state-of-the-art electro, that can almost be described as a concept album. Rother once again blurs the lines between sexy and dark, old and new, and will again be the topic of heated conversation within electronic music circles worldwide. Dark and mysterious, but deeply poetic at the same time, this superb collection of upfront electro jams and anthemic soundscapes will elevate Anthony Rother and PSI to the status of the world's leading electro force. Hard pumping bassdrums, sci-fi like melody elements and Rother's trademark crystal clear sound aesthetics — nothing short of stunning! The title tune 'Hacker' is Rother's homage to an underground movement that corresponds with his approach as an independent and revolutionary artist. All lyrics are in German as Rother tried to keep the concept close to his very own reality. Other sensational tunes on the album are 'Die Macht', 'Futurist' and 'Leben', all of them constructions of Rother's very own post-modern electro pop amalgam. A visionary album and a must have for all true electro heads."

NOVO: Konstruktivism CD (PSI 022 CD). $15.00

"Already with his very first track on Psi49Net called 'Inoculed', Laurent Boudic from Belgium showed off his great musical potential with almost provoking ease — and therefore was championed by many, even outside of the inner circle of leading electro DJs and producers. Konstruktivism now pays tribute to all expectations ever made to this yet young talent with superior sovereignty. Within the 17 tracks of the album, Nööv showcases his extremely independent style and the result ranges from irresistible electro clubhits ('Informatie Centraal'; 'I've Been Inoculed V1.0') and dark machine funk ('Computer Madness') to song-like, psychoactive electro pop ('Relative To U'). Inbetween of the twisted tracks and light-footed electro movers, one can even find more experimental sound snippets which represent Nööv's very personal interpretation of an musical constructivism: the pure display of technical components, free of association. In any case, this album will definitely be one of the most authentic soundtracks to our life in the matrix for a remarkable period of time."

ROTH, ANTHONY: Dreampeople 12" (PSI 023). $8.00

12" maxi single. Side A: "Dreampeople". Side B: "Breakdown the Wall". "On this 12? the most experienced electro producer/artist delivers 2 major club tracks. Perfectly display his unique producer skills as well as his bulletproof feeling for true dancefloor action. Not to be missed."

ROTH, ANTHONY: Live Is Life Is Love CD (PSI 024 CD). $16.00

"Has Electronic Dance Music an authentic way to be performed live? In the times of Ableton-equipped Laptops crowding the stages of German clubs, you could have serious doubts about that. Anthony Rother, Elektro's long time ambassador, has nevertheless at no time kept to this limitation of stimuli. Rother live was and is always the promise of a highly demanding connection between man and machinery, which can sometimes only be operated by going into contortions. For Anthony Rother, playing live means also to welcome spontaneity as a musical factor, not to fall under the digital reign — sweat, not software, so to speak. Live Is Life Is Love now strikes the balance of six years' real time experience in music with the original recording of Anthony Rother's performance at the FUSE Club in Brussels in January 2003 — a high-pressure reunion with old mates in a facelift, in between 'Hacker', 'Die Macht' or 'Machineworld'. There's hardly another artist who celebrates Elektro in such a dense, driving and variable way, yet always operating with elegant sensibility at the same time. And containing three previously unreleased tracks, Live Is Life Is Love widens the perspective of Elektro far beyond the year 2003."

PSYCH-O-PATH RECORDS:

TERRESTRIAL TONES: Blasted LP (SP 001LP). $13.50

"Terrestrial Tones is the home recorded project of roommates Dave Portner (Avey Tare of Animal Collective) and Eric Copeland of Black Dice, published by an emerging label in the underground noise scene, Psych-o-Path records. Blasted, their debut record combines a creepy parade of burlesque musicalia with the underwater travels of a submarine 20,000 leagues under the sea. Deep almost unrecognizable vocals hidden in layers of sub-bass warbles are reminiscent of work on the Charhizma Label, particularly Christof Kurzmann and his collaborations with Dafeldecker and dieb13. Likewise there are nods to the diverse almost pop-twist of Dat Politics and the polyrhythmic patterns of the Basic Channel/Chain Reaction projects. It's a dance music record (microtonal future extremely abstract dance) for people who like to wiggle to shoes tumbling in washing machines with monkey cymbals and puppet shows. It is serious yet unpretentious, even whimsical, and will appeal to fans of experimental electronics, IDM, Throbbing Gristle and related, the drones and squeals of Black Dice and the nouveau pop psychedelia of Animal Collective."

AXOLOTL: Axolotl CD (SP 008CD). $12.00

"After several years in New York collaborating on and off with various members of the noise underground (Sightings, Mouths, Black Dice, Double Leopards etc.), Karl Bauer (Violin, voice, electronics, percussion) moved to San Francisco and began Axolotl, soon recruiting William Sabiston (percussion, electronics, drums) and Brian Tester (guitar, electronics) to expand their dense psychedelia. The self-titled debut album (Psych-O-Path 2004) conjures comparisons to the dream syndicate era work of John Cale, Japanese psychedelia from Magical Power Mako to Taj Mahal Travelers, the tactile electronic blankets of the Mego label and the layered drones of Phil Niblock. Axolotl meld acoustic instrumentation and electronic processing, harsh blasts and soothing drones, free jazz clatter and teutonic pulse."

PSYCHEDELIC GEMS (GERMANY):

VA: Psychedelic Gems 2 CD (PGCD 02). $19.00

A second compilation of bands associated with the CCA label in the early to mid-70s. Features Alaska Range, Scorpions (unreleased tracks from 1971, pre-hard-rock era from the Schenker brothers!), Lazarus' Bra, Red Fug (7" tracks from '73), Fifth Dead (7" tracks from '73 & '76, plus 4 unreleased tracks)

VA: Psychedelic Gems 3 CD (PGCD 03). $19.00

This third volume starts out with a very pleasing surprise, a complete and unedited 25-minute version of "Flash" by My Solid Ground. A shorter, different recording of this track is found on this group's one and only classic album from 1971 (CD on Second Battle). Heavy, surging psychedelic Krautrock at its peak. Also on this volume: Mr. Grabstein (unreleased progressive psych from '74) and Werwolf (unreleased demos from this German progressive band from 1979, whose one album was reissued by Laser's Edge years ago).

PSYCHEDELIC PIG:

MASSTISHADDHU: Shekinah CD (PIG 01 CD). $15.00

"Originally issued in the UK by United Dairies in 1988, it remains one of the most enigmatic albums brought forth by the label, even though its release was somewhat overlooked at the time. Featuring a trio headed up by R. Rupenus (New Blockaders, Mixed Band Philanthropist, Bladder Flask, etc.), this was Masstishaddhu's sole release, and it contained music unlike any of the other multiple projects within the realm of Rupenus' pantheon. As with the original LP, this CD features two extended pieces of droning instrumentation overlaid with an ever-shifting array of moaning chants which meld together perfectly to create a finely detailed organic compost of sound. Crisply remastered at ICR studios in England by Colin Potter, these recordings can now be revisited and heard with newfound clarity. In addition, the packaging features new artwork with deluxe gold-and-black printing. Limited edition of 500 copies."

DIE TÖDLICHE DORIS: Kinderringelreihen Für Wahren Toren Des Grals CD (PIG 02 CD). $14.00

"During the years 1980-87, German trio Die Tödlische Doris (Deadly Doris) was a vital presence in the Berlin underground music and art scene. Early records on cult labels Zickzack and Atatak revealed Doris as a willfully obscure component of the 'neue deutsche welle', and their live shows melded their particular brand of raw post-punk cacophony with high-minded performance art sensibility. This overdue release, whose title translates to 'Nursery Rhymes for True Fools of the Grail', adds greatly to the canon as it is only the second CD by Die Tödlische Doris, and contains 20 strange, rare and unpublished tracks from 1980-85. In addition to a wide cross-section of previously unreleased live material, it culls several unheard recordings from the Doris archive, and documents some unusual collaborations, switched identities and lo-fi early tracks such as 'Doris Intakt', 'Schuld-Struktur' and the group's primitive take on 'Warm Leatherette'. With photos, fully annotated liner notes and an attractive package designed by Richard Chartier, this CD will prove a valuable document to both Doris cognoscenti and neophytes alike. Limited edition of 750 copies."

DAMENBART: Impressionen '71 CD (PIG 03 CD). $14.00

"The world of Krautrock was forever changed in late 1987 when the master tapes for the mythical never-released album by the early 70's trio Damenbart were discovered in Spain by a former associate of the band. The incredible find was whispered about in elite collector circles for months and when the tapes were finally played back publicly for the first time, it quickly became apparent that all of the legend and hype that surrounded these mysterious 1971 recordings had been completely justified. The tapes were soon handed to members of the German experimental group Hirsche Nicht Auf's Sofa to give the album a proper release and allow this music to finally see the light of day. The resulting LP was immediately hailed as a classic of Krautrock, with one excited reviewer calling it 'the best album Ash Ra Tempel never made!' Unfortunately, as this LP was issued in only a very small edition, many Krautrock fans wound up bitterly empty-handed. Now, once and for all, this amazing album is being brought forward again for all of the hungry ears out there to fully digest. In addition to re-issuing the recordings contained on the LP, this CD appends an additional 19 minutes of previously unreleased studio material from the original sessions, as well as a live track from 1972. The packaging features several photos of the band along with some mind-blowing collage art." Reissued on April Fool's Day, 2003.

PSYCHO (UK):

FAPARDOKLY: LP (PSYCHO 5). $25.00

PSYCHOSTASIA RECORDINGS:

DOKE, REGGIE: The Afrotation CD (PSY 001CD). $13.00

Impressive debut album from this Detroit artist, fitting into a post-Transmat and post Theo/KDJ universe, with a unique rhythmic expression. "Afrotation is the first full length by label head Reggie Dokes. A rare blend of Detroit downbeat techno, jazz, house music & African influences. Absolutely essential, this album is a Detroit music masterpiece reminiscent of the best of the Black Jazz label."

PUBLIC DOMAIN (JAPAN):

KARATE PSYCHO: Craft Works CD (PD 0000). $20.00

"The first release from Karate Psycho who have already released more than 10 cassettes. They are still high school students. Their funny collage techno is done by sampler, analog synthesizer and 4 track MTR. New generation artist."

FUNNY CHAIR: Music For Your Chair CD (PD 0001). $20.00

"Funny Chair is Kawashima's (Slug Pharmacy) solo project. Soft techno is New Lounge music and Music for Furniture." Detuned Casio damage and child-like bleepage all over the place. Your plastic pillow has just been destroyed.

PUNKT MUSIC (GERMANY):

DAVIS, RICHARD: The Remix EP 12" (PUNKT 015 EP). $9.00

"Four remixes of the last Richard Davis longplayer, that stick to the album's incredibly high standard or even top it. Swayzak for example deliver one of their best remixes of the last years, 14 minutes of majestic maritime dub, that could be the missing link between Isolée and Sueno Latino."

LAUER, P.: Free Entry For Girls EP 12" (PUNKT 019EP). $9.00

"Phillip Lauer debuts on Punkt music, home of artists like Richard Davis, High Tide or Holger Flinsch. After his releases on Separé which have been played heavily by all House / Tech house jocks, he leaves the deep house paths and takes things into a more darker way. The titletrack 'Free Entry' has been reworked by Freude am Tanzen honcho Robag Wruhme who delivered a remix in the typical and unique Wruhme style, well done mate. 'Starkweather Swing' is a trip into the darkest minds of a human, Starkweather was a serial killer, so don't say you haven't been warned. And now: sing baby sing, the 'Starkweather Swing'."

PURE:

MOORE, THURSTON: Please Just Leave Me (my Paul Desmond) CD (PURE 37). $8.00

Pure was a RRR-subsiary label designed to flood the market with a theoretically endless series of generically packaged albums of consumable sound/noise. Select titles are now available in a jewel case with new & unique color xerox artwork. This Thurston Moore CD is 31 minute solo guitar work that mixes electronic high pitched drone and spacious assembly in an effort to secretly implore the casual Pure completist.

PURE PLASTIC (UK):

RUE EAST: Indoor Culture CD (PP 038 CD). $15.00

"Mark Broom and Dave Hill aka Rue East brings us thirteen tracks on this album. They take us through he full range of their repertoire with the moody chords, funky rollin drums and percussion of Birmingham (8) to the hard edged loops of March (11). All Rue East's production talents are realized with the versatility of the music provided showing that techno is not a sound but an artform with the subliminal Winter (4) reminiscent of the old skool with a look to the future of music very Detroit house."

PURE SONIK RECORDS:

DJ T-1000: The Last DJ On Earth CD (PURE 014CD). $14.50

"Alan Oldham's second mix CD rocks hard. Recorded in real time on three decks and effects, T-1000 supercollides his own tracks as well as international hits by such well-respected artists as Jeff Mills, Oliver Ho, DJ Rolando aka The Aztec Mystic, Christian Smith, Mike Dearborn and others. Wilder, louder and more reckless than his previous Live Sabotage, The Last DJ On Earth captures the global sound and on-stage pyrotechnics of one of North America's best-known and most sought-after techno DJs."

DJ T-1000: Neutra CD (PURE 017CD). $15.00

"The follow-up to 1999's Progress album on Tresor Berlin, Neutra (named after 1950's west coast avant-garde architect and Frank Lloyd Wright contemporary, Richard Neutra) finds producer/composer Oldham again committing his worldwide DJ travels and life experiences to music, ranging from full-stereo, DJ-friendly, bangin' techno ('Neutra', 'Karma 2') to moody ambience ('Cold Sleep') to his first drum-and-bass experiment ('The Five Fighting Styles of the Four Elements') to industrial ('Contempt'), all packaged in a provocative and professional manner, as you've come to expect from Pure Sonik."

PURPOSEMAKER:

MILLS, JEFF: The Circus 12" (PM 010). $6.00

Tracklisting: 1. Circus-The Greatest Show On Earth mix 2. Circus-The Parade mix. "Produced, mixed, and edited by Jeff Mills for the Purposemaker label."

MILLS, JEFF: Jet Set 12" (PM 012). $6.00

Tracklisting: A1. Mighty A2. Power B. The Soul Shaker. "Jet Set is produced, edited and mixed by Jeff Mills for the Purpose Maker/Axis Records."

MILLS, JEFF: The Electrical Experience 12" (PM 014). $6.00

"The Electrical Experience is produced and mixed by Jeff Mills for Purpose Maker/Axis." Fourteenth release on Mills' functional-track subsidiary label, Purposemaker.

MILLS, JEFF: Divine EP 12" (PM 015). $6.00

Produced and mixed by Jeff Mills for the Purpose Maker/Axis. Recorded at Spider Formation-Chicago. Four tracks brilliantly bridging the techno/house divide, with near-rollicking piano riff pushing it along. Classic Mills, like it ever was.

PUSSYFOOT (UK):

INEVIDENCE: Stuff'd 12" (PUSSY 021). $3.00

On Howie B's Pussyfoot label. "...these boys fuse sweet melodic strains with slabs of percussive white noise, filtering abstract sampledelia into the equation for a medley of dexterous textures, compounded with the toughest drums and alien bass — the resulting blend could shift tectonic plates or at the very least render altered states." Reduced price.

SPACER: Elements Of Twist 12" (PUSSY 022). $3.00

Three track EP, partially in collaboration with Ian "Juryman" Simmonds. Reduced price.

SHIINA, KENSUKE: Ring Of Fire (Remixes) 2x12" (PUSSY 026). $5.00

"Our man in Japan has delivered no less than eight remixes of his Gamelan groove 'Ring of Fire'. Originally released on PUSSY 011, it's been radically reworked by a bunch of Japanese artists, some of whom you'll already know from that sonic collision of a compilation, Fish Smell Like My Cat." Features remixes by Chari Chari, Natural Essence, Salon Kitty, Mad Vibes, Luke Gordon (original mix), Arrow Tour, Amino Computer. Reduced price.

PWOA:

KOENIGSBERG, CHRISTOPHER: Brains CD (PWOA 011). $10.00

Subtitled "Audiophile Computer Music," this is a self released disc by an Illinois composer influenced by Xenakis, Curran, Stockhausen, Barry Truax, Chris Brown, etc. Most of it is loud, insanely dense, speaker crippling tones, built from "tiny individual grains of sound," sampled pianos, etc.

PYRAMID TRANSMISSIONS (UK):

ADJ + PATHIC: Progress EP 12" (PT 004EP). $9.00

"ADJ's long dormant Pyramid Transmissions label finally returns to the fold following an incredibly busy period for Mr Jagers (for he is ADJ!) that has found him delivering the goods for Andrea Parker's Touchin' Bass imprint & shaping up for his debut work for the Ai label. ADJ and John Cranmer (Pathic) combine forces for a four-ply slice of finest UK electro-badness. All the elements are there, a melodic floating chord, a rude ass bassline, state of the art drum machinations and a winning sotto voce lyrical line intoning 'So much temptation...so little time'. You have to say this puts all electro disco pretenders to shame, yet would still sound bitching in any self respecting club environment. The duo's tracks together blend the same adroit grasp of melody and adroit, well defined bass movement — prime electro, as it should be."

QBA (GERMANY):

QBA: 1999 12" (QBA 1). $9.00

"Extraordinary Prince-cover version out of the Perlon (!) camp, party like it's 1999."

QBICO (ITALY):

PARKER/FRANK PERRY, EVAN: For The Love Of... LP (QBICO 04). $20.00

"Unreleased recording, available here for the first time after little more than 30 years. Evan Parker- soprano saxophone/Frank Perry- percussion. Recorded live Feb. 11, 1972 at the Royal Commonwealth Society, London, UK." "... Evan and Frank played a duo which was recorded by Frank on a primitive cassette recorder for a personal record. It has been decided that the improvisation was significant enough to warrant a release. Despite the unsophisticated recording equipment the quality was astoundingly good. Frank and Evan had met and played together as a duo only once a couple of years before as a blow." — F. Perry

BAROQUE BORDELLO: 1st Trip LP (QBICO 05). $20.00

"Recorded at R.E.P. Studio, 1979. Originally issued on cassette on the R.E.P. (Revolutionary Extrication Project) label in the 80's in very limited quantities, then re-issued on a 10 CD-R box set entitled Makoto Kawabata early works 1978-1981." "Our first release after changing the name of the band from the Dark Revolutionary Collective to Baroque Bordello. With our concept of restoring the independence that music possesses in and of itself, we began composing and playing in an improvised idiom that refused to be tied to any pre-existing style. As the synthesizer was still the only instrument that we owned, we were forced to build the other instruments ourselves. The A-side of the tape was made up of performances on these homemade instruments (which remind me of Joe Jones Music Machines-Qbico). The B-side was an electronic soundtrack for aerobics, incorporating some doubtless Pink Floyd-inspired sound effects. There was also a piece for guitar and cable noise. Both sides sounded very weird." —M. Kawabata

DOYLE ELECTRO-ACOUSTIC ENSEMBLE, ARTHUR: Conspiracy Nation LP (QBICO 07). $20.00

"Legendary Alabama tenor sax player Arthur Doyle broke all boundaries with his Electro-Acoustic Ensemble, successfully fusing free jazz (fierce tenor sax solo burts, otherworld wild screaming vocals, meditative flute interludes) with contemporary electronic music/instruments. This is the 2nd release by this fascinating Ensemble (after Plays The African Love Call), which comprehends some of the most fearless young blood from the East Coast: Leslie Q who made few records on Majora, David Cross of Coffee fame, Ed Wilcox leader of Temple of Bon Matin, ect. One of the very few remaining sax player with a raw and primordial sound; sound which derive from a non-ordinary deep soul. As himself clearly asserts 'Free jazz soul music is what I play!' and with Conspiracy Nation you got the chance to hear his next evolutionary step: free jazz electro-acoustic soul music."

KAWABATA, MAKATO: Musique Cosmique Electro-Acoustique PIC. DISC (QBICO 11). $22.00

"Makoto Kawabata: direct touching a resister. Recorded at Acid Mothers Temple Aug. 01 (2001) and Feb. 02 (2002). 'Space King Joe' already available on the CD-R; 'Private Tapes 5', ltd ed 100 copies only/other piece; 'Planet O' unreleased. A new, very futuristic and unique sound in electronic music."

A BAND: LP (QBICO 12). $22.00

"Recorded over two days in late Summer 1991 at the Canning Factory, Nottingham, England. After a Live LP (on Silbreeze, rec. 1990/91), a 7" and a self-released CD (rec. 91), Qbico proudly present the only studio rec. of this A-mazing Band. It features two young promising artists: Neil Campbell and Richard Youngs (now well-renowned master of sonic experiments), along with other brave and intrepid musicians which were part of a radical and unfortunately pretty obscure scene. As for the music, it's very varied and it changes moods every few minutes (a tight editing by Richard Young, 'a la Faust tapes'): it ranges from collective freak-outs, surreal interludes, hypnotic drones, electronic motifs and strange experimental passages... there'd be one word which'd give a better idea of the music on this special rocket: wild."

BAROQUE BORDELLO: Ultra Trip Cat LP (QBICO 13). $22.00

Makoto Kawabata: (gt, b, synth, kb, perc, vo). Tetsushi Kawagishi: (gt, synth, kb, perc, vo). Yasuo Iwaki: (perc, kg, synth). Recorded at R.E.P. Studio, 1980. Originally issued on cassette on the R.E.P. label in the 80's in very limited quantities. "Our first release with a normal instrumental line-up (guitar, bass, keyboards, drums, etc...). However, since we still had no way of knowing musical theory or how to play our instruments in a normal way, we played in a style completely of our own. We played our 1st live gig around this time. We plugged straight into the amps that had been provided and proceeded to improvise at maximum volume for just under an hour. Finally the amps caught fire and the other bands were unable to play; needless to say that our reception from the audience and promoter was not the most favorable." — M. Kawabata.

BARKER/CHARLES WATERS, ANDREW: Dialogues in Now! LP (QBICO 14). $22.00

Andrew Barker: (drums, percussion, indian folk fiddle, wood flute); Charles Waters: (alto saxophone, flute, clarinet, bass clarinet, percussion). Recorded April 24th, 2000. "Inspiring compositions + aggressive playing = suggestive creative music from two of the most exciting young bood of the NYC scene. Members of William Parker & The Little Huey Creative Music Orchestra and half of the Gold Sparkle Band."

DOYLE/HAMID DRAKE, ARTHUR: Your Spirit Is Calling LP (QBICO 15). $22.00

Arthur Doyle: (tenor sax, flute, recorder, piano, voice); Hamid Drake: (drums, percussion). Recorded June 7th, 2003 at MU REC Studio, Milano. "A rare meeting (1st time ever that they played together) among two soul brothers for some deep spiritual & primitive free music. Unique and inimitable."

COFFEE: Pissing Contest LP (QBICO 17). $22.00

One side recorded 1996, the other in 1988. Edition of 350 copies, splatter/color vinyl. "Side A. imagine to hear five 'Babi' rockets played together in Echo Tunnel Park, pretty strange and for sure heavy stuff ! Future free jazz !? Side B: dramatic electronic music with some cosmic synth/trumpet interludes....".

QDK MEDIA (GERMANY):

DASENT, PETER: OST Braindead CD (QDK 006CD). $15.00

"Peter Jackson's third shot. This one was made in New Zealand in 1992. Braindead is so full of Gore and Splatter it would fill 2 or 3 common horror films. It gave Peter Jackson the opportunity to make bigger films for US studios. A masterpiece in film and music. Released as CD only in 8-panel-Digi-pack loaded with behind the scenes fotos."

MEYER, RUSS: Lorna/Vixen/Faster, Pussycat! Kill! Kill CD (QDK 008 CD). $15.00

With a bit of an apology to the more superior members of the human race, we offer you the near-complete available output of QDK's series of original Russ Meyer soundtracks. Each volume includes soundtracks to 3 full length Meyer epics, as delineated in the titles. The CDs are packaged in full-color fold-out digipaks with a28 page photo booklets inside, depicting various "actions" from the films in question. "Selection of dialogue/music (often interlaced) from Meyer's scattered gelatin-obsessive film auteurship. On this volume there's a rather nasty feminine conspiracy monologue (the sample-source for the dialogue from Base Force One's classic 'Welcome to Violence'), inept lo-fi crime-jazz interludes, inept rockabilly bits w/sax, and a few scattered inept garage rock rumblings. Music by Igo Kantor, Bert Shefter, Paul Sawtell, James Griffith, Hal Hopper, and Bob Grabeau. 65 minutes, 17 tracks." — Hrvatski.

MEYER, RUSS: Lorna/Vixen/Faster, Pussycat! Kill! Kill LP (QDK 008 LP). $16.00

The LP versions of these Russ Meyer soundtrack albums come in full color gatefold sleeves, with the same booklet of photographs found in the CDs taped inside the covers. Elaborate.

MEYER, RUSS: Up! Mega Vixens/Beneath The Valley of the Ultravixens/Super Vixen CD (QDK 009 CD). $15.00

"Patriotic hollywood-inspired 'show' music, bad stripper jazz, something that sounds like a pre-alcoholic Bob Seger with gratuitous moaning, lounge piano, and a lot of screaming/fighting/splashing, all seemingly ripped directly off of nth generation VHS copies of the films. Attractive. Music by William Loose, Daniel Dean Darst, Paul Ruhland, Syd Dale, and William Tasker. 73 minutes, 26 tracks." — Hrvatski.

MEYER, RUSS: Mudhoney/Finders Keepers Lovers Weepers/Motor Psycho CD (QDK 011 CD). $15.00

"Slick surf-cycle rock, more sultry jazz, paranoid dialogue (the 'cold guy' bit's a bit intriguing, best renew your Blockbuster account), alcohol-induced coughing, motors discharging, yelling, sirens, the whole nine. Best title of the set: 'better things to do than talk about three weirdos'. Music by Bert A. Shefter, Paul Sawtell, Andre Brummer, N. Carras, Jan Kubelik, Jack Meakin, William Loose, Stu Phillips, and Marvin Elling. 72 minutes, 21 tracks." — Hrvatski.

MEYER, RUSS: Mudhoney/Finders Keepers Lovers Weepers/Motor Psycho LP (QDK 011 LP). $16.00

PAGE, BETTY: Danger Girl: Burlesque Music CD (QDK 012 CD). $15.00

The first of 5 QDK Betty Page releases that have come out since the mid-90s. Each of the CDs (there is also a CD-ROM release) is packaged in a deluxe digipak with huge booklets of original photographs by renowned photographers Irving Klaw and Bunny Yeager. "The stunning foldout packaging features dozens of classic Irving Klaw photos of Betty Page at the very pinnacle of her modeling career. The disc itself is an excellent collection of 22 tracks of 'spy jazz.' Dramatic, horn-driven arrangements, heavy on the percussion (bongos and tympani abound) and twangy early-60s guitars. The lack of liner notes leaves the origins of these tracks to the listener's imagination, but given the titles (e.g., 'Path of Crime' 'Johnny's Dive' 'The Big Strip' and the title track, Danger Girl!) one can conjure up some great sources. The composer list will be unfamiliar to all but avid soundtrack collectors, with John Barry (Bond films and an extensive career in movie scores) being the best known. The obscurity of the music's origins, however, only adds to the overall air of this package's mystery."

PAGE, BETTY: Danger Girl: Burlesque Music LP (QDK 012 LP). $16.00

VA: Electronic Toys CD (QDK 013 CD). $15.00

Subtitled "A Retrospective of 70's Synthesizer Music". Features tracks by David Vorhaus, Ron Geesin, Mladen Franko, Steve Gray, Brian Bennett, Heinz Funk, Eric Peters, Roland Hovac, Gerhard Trede, Ted Atking, Claude Larson & His Computer Controlled Oscillators, Dave Richmond, Rex Brown Company & Wersi-Electric-String Orchestra and Cecil Canterburn. "This compilation of Electronic tunes from the early 70's are real fun. 19 great tracks, morning cartoon like and way more experimental than most of the mainstream stuff released in those years. All tracks where taken from several library companies and that makes them so visual. They're composed for films and commercials. Electronic Pling-Plong-Music for Lounge Fans."

MEYER, RUSS: Good Morning...and Goodbye!!Cherry, Harry & Raquel/Mondo Topless CD (QDK 014 CD). $15.00

"The most 'psychedelic' volume by a long shot, the theme from Cherry, Harry & Raquel (by far the best pre-Rambo Charles Napier vehicle) would fit it nicely with Nuggets-era vault finds. So dirty, you'll catch Hepatitis-C removing the shrink-wrap w/yr teeth. Music by Igo Kantor, William Loose, and The Aladdins (some sort of mod/garage rock combo). 28 tracks, 68 minutes." — Hrvatski.

MEYER, RUSS: Good Morning...and Goodbye!!Cherry, Harry & Raquel/Mondo Topless LP (QDK 014 LP). $16.00

PAGE, BETTY: Jungle Girl: Exotique Music CD (QDK 017 CD). $15.00

Again packaged in a deluxe fold-out digipak, with a 20 page booklet of photos by Bunny Yeager. "Jungle Girl is naturally the exotica set. Here, the mood ranges from high spirited latin numbers (Roses Roses' 'Rubanita') to Moog exotica (Nino Nardini's 'Jungle Jazz') to psycho pop swing ('X cest' by Hawksworth). Like Danger Girl, this compilation features few marquee names, but still offers cool tracks. It's 24 tracks of leopard skin bathing suits, beach and boudoir & will fill out your exotica collection nicely."

PAGE, BETTY: Jungle Girl: Exotique Music LP (QDK 017 LP). $16.00

LP version in full color gatefold sleeve.

PAGE, BETTY: The Complete Interview CD (QDK 018 CD). $15.00

A 60-minute interview of Betty Page by comics illustrator Dave Stevens. Packaged in a digipack with a booklet that includes a transcription of the interview.

VA: Love, Peace & Poetry: American Psychedelic Music CD (QDK 021 CD). $15.00

A compilation of tracks from the most hyperventilated private press/real-people-psyched albums from the late 60s/early 70s, as gloriously exploited over the last decade+ by delusional dealers & professional hypsters. For the first time ever, this music in being presented in legit(?), mass-market form so that regular common folk can lend an ear, so if you've been wondering what you've been missing, here's a nicely varied overview. Featuring representational tracks from: Darius, New Tweedy Bros., Arcesia, Victoria, Damon, Jungle, Hunger, Trizo 50, Music Emporium, Brain Police, Michael Angelo, Zerfas, Lazy Smoke, Hickory Wind, New Dawn, Sidetrack, Patron Saints.

Klopjaeger (South Africa), Los Brincos (Spain), We All Together (Peru).

VA: Electronic Toys Volume Two CD (QDK 028 CD). $15.00

"Second in this highly regarded, much sought after import series of early synthesizer music. Artists include: Harry Breuer, Gil Trythall, Mort Garson/The Blobs, Jim Cuomo, Fred Weinberg, Bruce Haack, The Mindexpanders, Tom Dissevelt/Kid Baltan, Walter Sear."

VA: Electronic Toys Volume Two LP (QDK 028 LP). $16.00

Full color gatefold sleeve.

VA: Love, Peace & Poetry: Asian Psychedelic Music CD (QDK 029 CD). $15.00

"Love Peace & Poetry Volume Three is undeniable evidence of the global impact of the music of the 1960s. Containing bands from Thailand, Cambodia, Singapore, Malaysia, Korea, Japan, Hong Kong, India, and Turkey doing original songs and covers of classic 60s songs by Cream, Jimi Hendrix, Jefferson Airplane, and the Beatles." Artists: Teddy Robin & the Playboys, Erkin Koray, San Ul Lim, Justin Heathcliff, Baris Manco, Cambodian Rocks, The Mops, Yuya Uchida & the Flowers, 3 Hür El, The Fontones, Mogollar, Confusions, The Quest, Jung Hyun and the Men.

VA: Love, Peace & Poetry: Asian Psychedelic Music LP (QDK 029 LP). $16.00

Gatefold sleeve, marble-colored vinyl version.

PAGE, BETTY: Private Girl: Spicy Music CD (QDK 031 CD). $15.00

"Private Girl offers the sub-title/description 'Spicy Music'. 24 quirky tracks from the '50s, including cuts by John Barry, Mel Young, Pete Thomas, Roger Roger, Malcolm Lockyer and Jack Dorsey. So Betty is now a 'private girl'. Judging from the photos enclosed, this means you the listener may enjoy a private moment with Betty. Digipak packaging, which contains a 20 page booklet of photos of the legendary risqué '50s pin-up girl, both color and black & white."

PAGE, BETTY: Private Girl LP (QDK 031 LP). $16.00

LP version in full color gatefold sleeve.

HAACK, BRUCE: Hush Little Robot CD (QDK 032 CD). $15.00

"Collection of tracks (from '68-74) by this somewhat obscured "musical-Frankenstein" whose discography has graced many an aspiring space-astronaut's record collection over the last thirty years or so. "Created and totally performed by Bruce Haack. An Electronic musical-poetic treat for children and high school-people revealing more wonders of our earth-ship. Most of the music on this album was programmed on a polyphonic music computer built by Bruce Haack from surplus parts furnished by Ver-Tech Radio Philadelphia. The machine was made in 18 months without diagrams or plans (Bruce Haack has never studied electronics) and will produce up to twelve simultaneous voices in sequence via a memory holding over four-thousand bits of information. It will also compose at random." Contains most of the classic Electric Lucifer LP on Columbia, considered by many the all-time high point in the continuum of 'Jesus-Moog' records... Killer. — Hrvatski.

HAACK, BRUCE: Hush Little Robot LP (QDK 032 LP). $16.00

Deluxe full color gatefold 180 gram vinyl version.

VA: Doob Doob O'Rama: 70's Filmsongs from Bollywood, India CD (QDK 033 CD). $15.00

"Bombay Bombshells doing great moviesongs from Bollywood, India. As you might know, India is the biggest producing filmindustry. There is an awful lot of music in all these films. They use every style you can imagine. Fast rhythms, exotic instruments, howling organs, cheap synthesizers and amazing vocals. This is pure High Speed Music." Just think, inside Alan Bishop's head, it rains like this all the time!

VA: Porn To Rock LP (QDK 034). $16.00

LP version of this1999 release, full color gatefold sleeve. The CD version is released in the US via Callner Music. "The performers on Porn to Rock range from retired legends of the business like Ginger Lynn to newcomers like Chloe Nichole. Some performers already have a connection to the music world, like Candy Kane (who has a release on Sire records), David Burrill (on Macola records) and Geoffrey Karen Dior (who duets with 80's icon Stacey Q). The CD crosses lines of sexual preference with gay film stars like Marshall O Boy, and famed S/M team Vinnie Spit and Mistress Jacqueline. The release also includes tracks by Hyapatia Lee, Suzi Suzuki, Johnny Toxic, Nina Whett, Midori and Madison. The music on Porn to Rock is as varied and eclectic as the mix of performers. Virtually all styles are covered, from Rock

'n' Roll to Swing, Techno and Dance, music fans will find something to like in these tracks. What will come as a surprise to many is how good these songs are — many of them live up to todays top radio hits."

VA: MUSIC For Gracious Living Volume 2 CD (QDK 035 CD). $9.00

Low-priced sampler of music from the QDK & Shadoks catalogs. Featuring selections from QDK's Betty Page & Russ Meyer CDs, Pepperisms comp, Love, Peace & Poetry Latin American, Asian and American psychedelic comps, Electronic Toys collections of 70's synthesizer music, plus Bruce Haack, Spoils of War, Maitreya Kali, Butterfingers, Simla Beat, etc. 18 tracks, booklet of the entire QDK catalog.

VA: Doob Doob O' Rama 2: More Filmsongs From Bollywood CD (QDK 036 CD). $15.00

"A super slab of of Bollywood kitsch. Not remixes, but the actual soundtrack cuts from the films that made India famous. Get the Indian film spin on Japanese music with Lata Mangeshkar's 'Sayonara' from the movie Love In Tokyo. Big band country boogie woogie Bombay-style with Getta Dutt's 'Mera Naam Chin Chin Chiu' from the movie Howrah Bridge to western swing the eastern way with Kishore Kumar's 'Ina Mina Dika' from Aasha. Asha Bhosle's and Mohamed Rafi's 'Gulabi Raat Gulabi' mixes Cab Calloway's 'Minnie The Moocher' with Indian-style spy movie guitar and smoldering call and response duet vocals."

VA: Doob Doob O' Rama 2: More Filmsongs From Bollywood LP (QDK 036 LP). $16.00

Vinyl version packaged in elaborate gatefold sleeve as usual.

HAACK, BRUCE: Electric Lucifer Book 2 CD (QDK 037 CD). $15.00

"Bruce Haack is perhaps best known for his innovative and engaging (and extremely hard to find) electronic records for children made from the mid/late 60's through the 70's and even into the 80's. Current 'electronic' acts and collectors seek these albums out for their exciting use of homemade synthesizers (homemade because it was difficult to find much else in the mid 60's), all built by Bruce himself to enhance his and his musical cohorts' (dance instructor Esther Nelson, pianist Praxiteles Pandel and numerous children) fun and instructional songs in which the children lucky enough to hear them were invited to participate, learn, dance and sing. Many of the songs on these albums gave hints of Bruce's intellectual side, but it was his one major label release, The Electric Lucifer, put out by Columbia in 1970 (all other albums were released on Bruce and friends' own label, Dimension 5), that better showed just what Bruce was capable of: a groundbreaking mixture of contemporary rock, futuristic electronic sounds, and high-concept philosophic poetry. To quote Bruce from the liner notes of that album, 'I have unlocked a few media — both philosophical and technical — this is a good age of unblocking.' Musically, it was sort of a blend of the Moody Blues and Kraftwerk, four years before the latter would even begin to create the sounds for which they would best be remembered. The album explored the war between Heaven and Hell, with Earth being caught in the middle, and asserted that even Lucifer could be forgiven if only there was enough love in the world. This may have been too much for the mainstream to handle, unsurprisingly, so Bruce continued recording and releasing great albums on Dimension 5. In 1979, however, he would revisit his earlier hallowed ground and record The Electric Lucifer Book 2, which remained unreleased in Bruce's lifetime (he died in 1988), but now, finally, the rest of the world will be able to hear the fabulous sequel, as Bruce intended it to be heard. The context of the sequel is one in which Satan, fancying himself a 'mean ole devil,' tries to tempt a young Jesus by telling him about all the hurt and betrayals he will go through in life before his dramatic death. There are tender moments, funny moments, and frightening moments, but all moments end up catchy or moving or both. The album is no more 'religious' than works by Dante or Milton; Bruce merely uses well-known mythologies and icons to explore his own ideas about a universe that is bigger than anything anyone could say about it — a universe made smaller by words themselves. And behind the ideas is the best damn electronic album you never heard! While Book One involved 'professional' singers and friends being brought in to sing along with Bruce's homemade electronic voice, which he called 'Farad,' Book 2 is purely Bruce. The entire album is sung using his somehow very moving robot/vocoder vocals. The music is more Kraftwerk this time than Moody Blues — imagine that the Residents made an album about words by Dante or Milton, and then for some reason had Kraftwerk re-record the whole thing and you will begin to describe the wondrously strange beauty that dominates this album. Bruce was always somewhat prophetic in his works and in predictions to friends (he once described a future age in which all music would be shared by everyone — though who could have predicted Metallica), and the highly insightful lyrics on this album will give plenty of philosophic fodder to be discussed 'round the ole jukebox, while the music coming from it will set your soul a-tappin'." —Eric Carlson

HAACK, BRUCE: Electric Lucifer Book 2 LP (QDK 037 LP). $16.00

Full color gatefold sleeve, 180 gram vinyl.

VA: Asian Takeaways CD (QDK 038 CD). $15.00

QDK-Media consistently peers into the underbelly of obscured and sometimes unknown underground culture worldwide, from Bruce Haack to Betty Page & Russ Meyer soundtracks, to their unsurpassed Love, Peace & Poetry compilations of psychedelic weirdness. Asian Takeaways is another new venture, a compilation with great tracks from Hong Kong, China, Korea, etc. All from the 60's and 70's, little takeaway-tunes with beautiful vocals, twisted musical elements and just as satisfying to consume as a great Chinese noodle dish. What Doob Doob O'Rama is for India this is for the Chinese world. Guitar Boogies, singalong tunes, fast Chinese compositions, fast to eat and easy to digest." Artists featured are: Jing Ting (Hong Kong), Yoon Il-loh (Korea), Chung-ae Ahn (Korea), Yao Su-Yong (Malaysia), Chang Loo (Malaysia), Chang Siao Ying (Singapore), Che-Hong Beck (Korea), Thu Su Yung (Hong Kong), Yiu Peng (Hong Kong), Wang-Li (Singapore) and Shung Sister (Korea).

VA: Yee-Haw! The Other Side of Country CD (QDK 039 CD). $15.00

"There is another side of Country. All North American music from the late '60s & '70s which just don't fit with a normal country & western release. Arlie Neaville sings composition from Jim Cuomo (Spoils of War) just before he became a Christian singer... Porter Wagener sings 'The Rubber Room' before he became insane?... Mother Tucker Yellow Duck sing 'Kill the Pig' ... before this song was banned and many more obscure and beautiful tracks. Many of these feature the same sense of desolation as beautifully evoked on Skip Spence's Oar, a pure isolated spirit of forgotten Americana." Artists featured are: Spur (1969), Arlie Neaville (1969), Peter Grudzien (1973), Palmer Rocky (1980), Maitreya Kali (1972), William C. Beeley (1968), Alex Kubelin (1980), The Bluebird (1970), Weird Herald, Fresh Blueberry Pancake (1970), Flying Circus (1970), Mother Tucker's Yellow Duck (1968), The Wilson McKinley, Dennis The Fox (1975), Kevin Vicalvi (1974), Merrell Fankhauser (1968) and Greenwood, Curley & Clyde (1972).

Vinyl version, 180 gram vinyl, full color sleeve.

VA: Love, Peace & Poetry - Japanese Psychedelic Music CD (QDK 040 CD). $15.00

Fourth volume in this phenomenal series of compilations focussing on the weirdest and most uncommon records from the late 60s/early 70s. After volumes of American (QDK 021), Latin American (QDK 022) and Asian (QDK 029) obscurities, here comes Japan. "Right up front I think it's only right to note that anyone allergic to heavily distorted blues-based psychedelic lead guitar may very well not survive this disc. Japanese psychedelic music of the 1960s & 1970s is very heavily invested in a hard rock aesthetic and much of what we've chosen to include here features some phenomenal over the top electric guitar excess. Many Japanese records from this period are either very heavy psychedelic rock, or they are very experimental and avant garde with little in the way of classic UK & US Sixties 'underground' psychedelia to be found. As a result, while Japan and the United Kingdom released a comparable number of records during this period, there are a great many rare and expensive Japanese records that remain virtually unknown on this side of the globe. A few of the top rarities are only now finding their way to these shores. The LP by Ceremony creates a musical trip based upon a Buddhist mass, employing exotic instruments and building to a guitar assault but is impossible to really excerpt a small piece of for our purposes here. Only two or three Japanese collectors own the $4,000 original album. My American and European friends who have visited Japan almost unanimously describe the experience as what they imagine visiting another planet might be like. A very friendly and inviting planet, but disorientingly different in many ways. I think what they are describing is really the experience of a first encounter with a non-Western culture and imagine the experience of a Japanese traveler's first encounter with, for example, Arizona or New Mexico, would resemble an even greater interplanetary experience. Unlike most compilations which focus on rare singles tracks, the Love, Peace & Poetry series collects tracks from the world's rarest and most obscure psychedelic albums believing that, no matter how passionate a music fan you might be, you shouldn't be too surprised to find that you may have missed at least a few things along the way. Our intent is to make the claim that the world is a bigger place than you first thought, and to provide some convincing evidence to back that up. So here's a little Love, a little Peace, and a little Poetry to get you by until next time." — Stan Denski. Artists include: The Mops, Yuya Uchida/Flowers, The Happenings Four, Foodbrain, Apryl Fool (Haruomi Hosono), Speed, Glue & Shinki, Blues Creation, Shinki Chen & Friends, The Jacks, Tokedashita Garasubako, Justin Heathcliff, Masahiko Sato & Sound Breakers, Kuni Kawachi & His Friends, The Beavers.

Fifth volume in this phenomenal series of compilations focussing on the weirdest and most uncommon records from the late 60s/early 70s, this time focussing on underground UK releases. "Not just another collection of rare singles tracks, this series is designed to introduce you to a large box of albums you may have heard of but have never heard; designed to show you that there was a bit more Love, Peace and Poetry around than you might have thought." — Stan Denski. Artists include: Red Dirt, Gary Walker & The Rain, Andwellas Dream, Dark, Dogfeet, Tony, Caro & John, Candida Pax, Pussy, Mark Fry, Motherlight, Light Years Away (Astral Navigations, aka Bill Nelson), Bodkin, Forever Amber, Oliver, Parameter.

WEINBERG METHOD OF NON-SYNTHETIC ELECTRONIC ROCK, THE: The Weinberg Method Of Non-Synthetic Electronic Rock CD (QDK 042 CD). $15.00

Reissue of an obscure electronic music album, originally released in 1968, with bonus tracks. Another historic event for fans of experimental exotica: Martin Denny, Bruce Haack, Pierre Henry, Dick Hyman, Perrey & Kingsley, etc., described as "a synthetic sound revolution with great songs, like Bruce Haack with a Psychedelic touch." From the LP's original liner notes: "The Weinberg Method of Non-Synthetic Electronic Rock (or the Electronic Rock Method of Non-Synthetic Weinberg) is a revolution in sound (or sound in revolution). To be more precise, the W.M.N.S.E.R., as it is affectionately known, is a way of taking the sounds of common musical instruments (twang), sounds of every day life (beep-beep), sounds of the human body (hic-cup) and altering them electronically to create a totally new concept of recording. In the hands of Mr. Weinberg, the human heart-beat becomes a bass drum, an ambulance siren becomes a slide trombone and the sound of a secretary filing her nails becomes a 24 piece string section. Undoubtedly, Fred Weinberg is the first man in history to orchestrate an alka-seltzer fizzing, a computer-card computing and a toilet flushing. When Mr. Weinberg leads his orchestra, the whole world is in the pit. One of his earliest experiments in sound was the time he recorded an ant walking on sand. Unfortunately, the experiment was cut-short by a myopic ice-cream vendor. Of course, this is not to say that Fred Weinberg was the first man ever to discover that the sounds of every day life can be more harmonious than the sounds of traditional music. For instance, George Bernard Shaw once said, 'Nothing soothes me more, after a long and maddening day of pianoforte recitals, than to sit and have my teeth drilled.' (Shaw? Didn't he used to be the lead singer with the Del-Vikings?) To sum up, then, The Electronic Weinberg Rock of Non-Synthetic Method is simply an assortment of natural sounds that are slowed-down, speeded-up, turned upside-down and inside-out. Sound like sound never sounded before."

VA: Love, Peace & Poetry — Brazilian Psychedelic Music CD (QDK 043 CD). $15.00

"Music, and the arts in general, in the 1960s provided first hand experience with freedom and creativity of thought and ideas that stretched far beyond the confines and borders set by oppressive regimes and repressive political leadership in general. In Brazil the musical artists of the 1960s and 1970s blended rock, tropicalia, classical, jazz, eastern music and regional music with everything available to create an amazing music universe that we have just skimmed the surface of in this collection." Artists include: O Brando, Os Brazões, A Bolha, Liverpool, Bango, The Buttons, Assim Assado, O Têrço, Spectrum, Módulo 1000, Os Lobos, Rubinho E Mauro Assumpção, Sound Factory, Terço, Paulo Bagunça, Lula Côrtes E Zé Ramalho, Marcos Valle, Hugo Filho, Marconi Notaro.

CUOMO: eJazz CD (QDK 044 CD). $15.00

"The Village Voice said this in 1973: 'James Cuomo's Zetos... is more sensitive. By this time a great variety of colors could be programmed, and this short piece has some lovely splashes of notes. Less was left to chance here, and the material and its sequence all make normal musical sense. In 'The Computer and Music', Columbia University Press 1972, is found: Zetos 2,...,2* based on the jazz blues form, consists of twelve 12-measure choruses. Probability changes are substituted for harmonic changes. Parameters so controlled include rhythm, octave choices, timbre, density, and instrumentation. The tape part was written to conform with the instrumental parts, and was prepared with the ILLIAC II system. Early 60's recording of pure Jazz (Bebop) with massive electronics composed on a huge computer, music concrete, from the mastermind of Spoils Of War & Mormos. Real swinging but scary."

VA: Love, Peace & Poetry: Mexican Psychedelic Music CD (QDK 045 CD). $15.00

"The most recent volume of the Love, Peace & Poetry series, Mexican Psychedelic Music, takes as its focus what was one aspect of our second collection in this series, Latin American Psychedelic Music. While there are some parallels between the evolution of rock and roll in the US and Mexico, the stories are out of synch with each other in interesting ways. In the US, the first wave of rock and roll presented a challenge to longstanding racial divisions and repressed sexuality that was fought off (by 1960 Elvis was in the Army, Jerry Lee Lewis in exile, Chuck Berry in prison and Little Richard turned to Jesus) and replaced by the mostly bland and neutered pop of singers like Fabian, Dion, Paul Anka, Frankie Avalon and Pat Boone (if you've ever wonder what music might sound like in Hell listen to Pat Boone's covers of Little Richard; possibly the most frightening music ever made). The history of Mexican pop music remains calm and fairly controversy free through the 1950s and into the late 1960s. The economic prosperity that fueled the Baby Boom generation in the United States didn't exist for Mexican youth, nor was Mexico as racially volatile or sexually repressed. In the 1950's the culture of the United States was far more shook up by Elvis and his gyrating army than was Mexico. Rock and roll became dangerous in Mexico when it began to be mixed with a challenge to the political status quo. Tracks from rare LPs by The Flying Karpets, Grupo Ciruela, Los Onvnis, La Onda De Survival, and Nahuatl help complete our tour through the various climates of 1960s-1970s Mexican psychedelia, and readily demonstrate the origins of a musical culture that continues on into contemporary times in the many bands that make up the active Mexican music scene here in the new century."

QUAKEBASKET:

KOTCHE, GLENN: Next CD (QB 014CD). $13.00

"Next is the appropriately titled second solo recording by Glenn Kotche, recorded during a brief break with his regular musical companions Wilco and OnFillmore. Similar at the most primary level with its electro-acoustic/concrete predecessor Introducing, Next is an acoustic attempt at exploring the concept that Kotche refers to as coincidental rhythms — or rhythms out of the range of contrivance and design. To increase the sound possibilities of these rhythms, Kotche employs a number of homemade mallets, sticks, and drum head preparations. Much like what John Cage's work with Sonatas and Interludes did for the piano, Glenn is attempting to do for the drum. Next creates sounds and textures that break free of the conventional ideas of drum music."

TREE, CHRISTOPHER: At The Cathedral Of St. John The Divine CD (QB 015 CD). $14.00

"Multi-Instrumentalist and Ancient Child Christopher Tree came out of the Primordial art coop that was pre-Beat Los Angeles. Untrained as a musician but innately skilled in the creation of things Forcible, Spontaneous, and Beautiful, he garnered his first audiences performing with the earliest Light Show Happenings of the 1950's. He went on to share stage bills with such divergent forces as Captain Beefheart, The Who, Incredible String Band, John Cage, Jefferson Airplane and even Mr. Lenney Bruce. With infatuated supporters such as Angus MacLise, Jack Cassidy, and Harry Bertioia, Tree's evocation of improvised sound soon became one of the best kept secrets of the American Avant-Garde. Opting for his grass roots aesthetics over Major Label record offers, and a self-imposed exile in France for 25 years, Christopher Tree has remained a secret. The recording of At the Cathedral of St. John the Divine took place in NYC sometime during 1970. Tree's majestic vibrations of boundless music collapses air as it moves from eruption to a whisper in this grand construct. As an improvising dervish, he weaves around an arsenal of gongs, cymbals, chimes, timpani drums, bass drums, windwinds, as well as instruments Bertioia designed for him, and blends them into a nameless hymnal — a field of sound where only a few such as Morton Feldman, Don Cherry, Earle Brown and Black Myth era Sun Ra had been given passage. These recordings were originally planned as a release for the legendary Aspen magazine, but the tapes vanished with the wayward editor. Thirty odd years later the diamond is back in its setting. All you need to do is lean down and listen."

MACLISE, ANGUS: Astral Collapse CD (QB 016 CD). $14.00

"Volume 3 of Quakebasket's Angus MacLise series. At this point, you probably sleep a little better having been exposed to the overt psychedelia and commune-esque bump and grind of Angus' previous releases. Well, here is an exploration into the genius of Angus MacLise that will throw you back into that insomniatic haze you truly enjoy. There are no large ensemble of New York's who's who here. Instead, the focus is just on Angus and his compositions, some of which are the last things he ever recorded. Even though there is a piece for hand drum and prepared tape on this record, this is not an Angus drum record. In the 70's, Angus' interest in tape music, noise, and the extreme gradualisms of music had reached its apex, and these pieces were born. Nowhere else will you hear Angus shredding apart the circuits of an Arp synthesizer, or the powerful undertow of his shimmering organ waves."

NAKATANI & PETER KOWALD, TATSUYA: 13 Definitions Of Truth CD (QB 017 CD). $14.00

"This is the air rattling construction of the hardest working drummer in the New York improvisation community (Tatsuya Nakatani) and the hardest working bass player in the Global improvisation community (Peter Kowald). Their work together as a duo is always covering a vast dynamic landscape, as well as discovering new ways to communicate their collective spirit. Both Nakatani and Kowald have poignant histories of music innovations. First, Peter's presence in Peter Brotzmann's first free music trio in of the late 60's, which virtually changed the way we listen to jazz. Second, Tatsuya's participation in the near silent textural musics of the group Nmperrign (featuring Greg Kelley and Bhoj Rainey) which deconstructed the harmonic characteristics of jazz instrumentation. On November 27th and 28th of 2001, this duo was finally captured on tape during a performance in Brooklyn, at the 'action art' space b.p.m. Their music projected meditations and aggressions alike, and demonstrated their willingness to listen to the humming quietude of their instruments' resonance and pause. It has taken Nakatani and Kowald almost year to break away from their schedules and arrange these tracks for release. Unfortunately, due to Peter Kowald's untimely death on September 21, 2002, 13 Definitions Of Truth now remains as one of Peter's last recording projects. His name and activism lives on."

ROSENFELD/TOSHIO KAJIWARA/TIM BARNES, MARINA: A Water's Wake CD (QB 018 CD). $14.00

"This is a group drafted from the shadows of the New York City Avant-Underground. The three members have come from different corners of this community, but alas, here they are — two turntablists and a percussionist, splattering conceptual scores of deliberate dizziness. As individuals, Rosenfeld, Kajiwara, and Barnes have played with such creative figures as Kim Gordon, Otomo Yoshida, Christian Marclay, John Zorn, Ikue Mori, Jim O'Rourke, and Toshimaru Nakamura, while also performing their own work throughout Europe and Japan. Recorded in the swelter and draught of Summer 2002, A Water's Wake spoils off motion and fixity, expansion and brevity. Yet there is hardly any sense of the future. The pointillism of Rosenfeld, Kajiwara, and Barnes acts as an anti-forward ping — like watching the road disappear from your car's rear window. Have a seat . . . bzzzzzt. This release represents the first of many that is dedicated to documenting the Next Wave of New York City."

AKIYAMA/TIM BARNES/MASAFUMI EZAKI, TETUZI: Futuro CD (QB 019CD). $13.00

"In early 2003, Akiyama (guitar) and Barnes (percussion) began a tour that took them from Kyoto, Osaka and Tokyo in Japan, to New York, North Hampton, and Boston. Along the way, they picked up many friends (Ami Yoshida, Matt Valentine, Sean Meehan, Toshimaru Nakamura) to perform with them as trios. One night in particular, a below freezing evening in Osaka, Akiyama and Barnes were joined by one of the most exciting trumpet players to emerge from Japan in the last 20 years — Masafumi Ezaki. Protected from the frigid world outside, Akiyama, Barnes and Ezaki found themselves surrounded by an amazing collection of Art Deco furniture and Op-Art wall hangings which filled the petite Café Futuro. The trio packed themselves into the smallest corner, and began to respond to all the sensations and elements surrounding them. This completely acoustic musical situation gather its sounds into sparse vertical patterns that continually collapse back into itself. The players seem to travel beyond their own instrument. You rarely hear them play any conventional gestures or tones, as if they were using these instruments to channel some other musical mission."

QUATERMASS (BELGIUM):

VA: Copier.Coller 2CD (QS 100CD). $16.00

"This project was initiated in September 1999 and presented at the La Bâtie festival in Geneva, giving the audience an opportunity to see performances from such artists as To Rococo Rot, Scanner, Kreidler, DJ Olive, Rehberg & Bauer, Srock Hausen and Walkman, David Shea and Vincent Hanni. Each artist worked on the same sound bank, provided by the Young Gods' Franz Treichler. This was an excellent opportunity to feel and see how these musicians, representing different techniques and approaches to sound and music, manipulated a common sound material. A second show took place in Le Botanique in Brussels a few days later. Once again, another magical night. The line-up in Brussels was the same except that Vincent Hanni was replaced by the duo Bump & Grind. This double album is an exceptional document of these very particular events, the only traces of the entire festival recordings, which is close to 6 hours of music. All the artists chose and edited what they considered to be the best of the sets."

VA: Copier.Coller 2LP (QS 100LP). $15.00

Double LP version in full color sleeve.

FIBLA: Landscapes CD (QS 101CD). $13.00

"Sometimes, while listening to electronic music, one experiences a feeling of solitude and coldness. The sound of machines need the human soul's energy and warmth for fuel. Even if Fibla's sound is close to the British or German electro scenes (e.g. Chain Reaction, Blue Spirit, Force Tracks or Raum Musik), there is something more, some detail that indicates that this guy is from a place where the sun never fails to shine and the subtle breezing of the sea is a musical background. A first strike for a new electro wizard simply called Fibla. This is Spain's electro at its best: subtle rhythmic patterns, filled with a taste for smooth arhythmic methodicity, lunar sounds and melodies, treated in such a way that it directly reaches your cortex right in the place where it longs for pleasure, coziness and 'feeling good'. With a reminiscent and obvious taste for the late 70's, early 80's electro pop, Fibla built a world where pain is nonsense, and hectic is out of the usual vocabulary. This doesn't mean that the album is for the chill-out addicted. Far from these clichés, you will find here the sunny side of electronic music, a shared introspective moment without any guilt, while staring into somebody else's secret garden. Mix these elements with a solid sound deeply belonging to the currently diversified electronic scene, you will once and for all agree that there is no future without looking back."

FIBLA: Landscapes LP (QS 101LP). $12.50

BISK: Moonstruck Parade CD (QS 102CD). $13.00

"Our Japanese spearhead is back with a 4th album filled with a new hip-hop like taste... Just a little something, floating over the hectic musical universe from Bisk. Sometimes danceable, concrete and beautifully mad, contemporary and contradictory. To summarize: another 100% Bisk album. Naohiro Fujikawa aka Bisk proposes you to ride a rocket aimed to the planet of grooves. Put on your space suit and get 'crazy-groovy-fied' by these deconstructed sonic sculptures based on beats, tenderness [sometimes], floating voices of soul, of course an inimitable skill and taste for the hardest way to reach a melody. Sometimes more accessible than the previous opus, but still in a pure Bisk style: unpredictable and sophisticated. Another immersion into the sublime and contradictory world of this unique Japanese artist, as always everything is possible...if beats are the basis of this new plot, acoustic sounds, contemporary touches, naive little soundscapes, loungey bad manners and more surprises are ready to transform your daily life in a unpredictable way. Another piece to the incredible musical jigsaw-puzzle started with his precedent releases."

BENGE: Silicon Valleys CD (QS 103CD). $13.00

"After a Very Best Of Benge is now guiding you through the labyrinth of old-school new technologies. In a strange world where human computerization is no longer a myth, listen carefully to the guide's voice, read between the lines and find out how to survive...still employing the services of vintage music machines, the whispers of old processors and the secret soul of forgotten technical sources. Benge is back! After a Very Best Of, a magnificent exploration through his expanding label back catalogue, let's go to silicon valleys! A guided tour of this mythical universe, listen carefully and you might hear the beating heart-core of strange computers, the musical echo of this incredible world of ideas and visions, a place where the perfect symbiosis between man and machine is first made reality. But what are the consequences of this synthetic cross-modulation, this obsession filling our minds and bodies with new technology. Can Bengé really survive in this head-to-head battle with our cybernetic future."

VA: Quatermass Vs. Rather Interesting CD (QS 104CD). $13.00

"Living in a pleasant 'exile' somewhere in Chile, the German electronic Atom TM is developing on his label Rather Interesting the art of pseudonyms and 'latino-jazzy-loungy and whatever pleased you' electronic sound system out of bound...we are proud to present you, as our third versus, an incredible wrestling in the mud contest featuring in the left corner representing Rather Interesting: Fonosandwich, Dropshadow Disease, Lisa Carbon, Naturalist, Pentatonic Surprise. In the right corner as guests, fighting under our banner: Plaid, Pole, Pram, Fibla, Mash'ta. Be sure that you will attempt an unique show, full of action, moog, girls, jazz and class, rhythm, sweat, dance, dreamy spheres! Wild, wilder, wildest!"

VA: Quatermass Vs. Rather Interesting LP (QS 104LP). $12.50

RIP-OFF ARTIST, THE: Kids Are Alright CD (QS 105CD). $13.00

"Matt Haines, a.k.a. The Rip-Off Artist, went over to the dark side a couple of years ago. Before that, he was happy making little dinky dance tunes, mostly in the electro and drum-n-bass genres. Using names like Mental Blox, Control-X and Front BC, he released four albums and seventeen singles, and even ran an electro label called Spiny! for a few years. But then everything grew dim. Unbeknownst to Mr. Haines, the local electricity company, in an effort to save costs and increase profits, had gradually been reducing the voltage they delivered. While they claimed it was US standard 117 volts, it had dipped to just over 90 volts before their plot was discovered. Meanwhile, their customers' lights grew dimmer, which had a subtle but undeniable effect: paranoia and other mental problems. There were thirty-seven reported cases of psychological stress directly connected with this incident. Mr. Haines was one poor victim, but fortunately his was a mild case. Mr. Haines has for the most part recovered, and is living in seclusion in the Los Angeles area. Perhaps fortunately for us, there have been lasting effects however. When he had recovered enough to attempt production again, he found that his music had changed. No longer was it the happy, carefree, mindless dance music of before. Instead, it had mutated into something bizarre, like oversized fluorescent mushrooms in some dark radioactive closet. The beats remain, but fall apart almost as soon as they materialize. Voices enter at random, sounds that shouldn't be used together are used together. What were once friendly little synthesizer melodies are now dark, or crazed, but mostly nonsense. Quatermass has seen fit to release some of this nonsense on the album The Kids Are Alright."

FREEFORM: Audio Tourism Vietnam / China CD (QS 107CD). $13.00

"Freeform released so far on labels like: Warp, Skam, Worm Interface and Law & Auder. Audio-Tourism (Vietnam/China) is the follow-up to Freeform's acclaimed album Green Park. Going further into the crossover in between organic/harmonic acoustic sounds and the machines & additional unique recordings made during a 3 months journey in China, Vietnam and Hong Kong. But the best thing is to let Simon Pyke talk about it: 'As 'Tourists' the idea was to source snapshots of life. sounds of the lashing monsoon, the serenity of Lugu Lake, the intense song of cicadas and the chatter of Saigon. Armed with a minidisk, pair of 'in ear' microphones, radio, portable sampler and camera every experience, however small and quiet, was recorded. Collecting sounds and instruments unique to the environment was the chrysalis for a spontaneous musical dialogue. A conversation between Western and newly acquired Asian influence. This album is the result of two months exploring the backstreets of Vietnam and the Yunnan province, China as Audio Tourists'."

FREEFORM: Audio Tourism Vietnam / China LP (QS 107LP). $12.50

LP version, textured sleeve.

VERY MASH'TA: The Psychedelic Mochi Case CD (QS 108CD). $13.00

"This is a tribute to, and a celebration of non-standard electronic music. Think of Suicide's 'Ghost Rider', the unique universe of Coil, the sublimity of Detroit's techno sound with an obvious fascination for Asian kung-fu/love/saber movies, and John Carpenter's obsessed musical anthems (remember the ultra-classic 'Halloween'?). Very Mash'ta is a unique universe working as an interface placed in between the constant overflow of information surrounding us, and everyone's mind, reshaping our environment through filters and techniques belonging to electronic music's history and culture. No descriptions allowed, check for yourself. The project Very Mash'ta is an adventure that started as a 28 minute track composed for a radio broadcast throughout Brussels on January 1st, 2000. It is a piece based mostly on sounds provided by a distorted media's sound database. Most of these sounds are anonymous field recordings or abstract soundscapes: voices, steps, conversations, laughter, supermarket atmospheres, drops of water banging on metal, conversations stolen by way of a scanner, etc. All of these elements were reshaped in order to fit the global envy: to create a unique soundtrack of the conceptual; to recompose these urban spheres. But as the project took form, new elements were rapidly added. This included minimal electronic touches, samples crudely extracted from movies or TV shows, audio collage, and so much more."

MASH'TA: 70's Zen Manifesto CD (QS 109CD). $13.00

"The Psychedelic Mochi Case (2000) was the first release from the project Very Mash'ta. A year later, the project reappears with newly recorded material. 70's Zen Manifesto is a story about memories and anticipation. In a kaleidoscopic manner, Mash'ta presents images culled from everywhere and nowhere; while everything and nothing is deconstructed and recomposed through the mind's filters. Rest assure that Very Mash'ta is not a nostalgic trip! In this manifesto kung-fu heroes are fighting against infra bass, while rhythms are the backbone of the absurd. Electronic textures surround the global village with reverence, yet maintaining a sense of humor. This new album is based on two sources: material composed in the perspective of telling a new story, and extracts from a soundtrack composed for an Art Festival in Shanghai (Polarize). This is futuristic vintage music, a soundtrack fed by multiples sources, genres and approaches."

SHUDO: Shudo CD (QS 110CD). $13.00

"Under this strange pseudo you will find happiness and desolation, the initial chaos that turned into a world, with human beings and feelings. Everybody has a 'dark' side that is helping the evolution; one's got the face fear in order to defeat it. This is evolution's subtle rumbling... Don't be afraid, shadows are just there because of light, the balance. Shudo is a young artist from Barcelona, working in the multimedia sector. He is part of reform communications, an interdisciplinary collective that develops different projects related to the experimentation in video, audio, interactivity and the internet. Their attitude brings back the real spirit of DIY, rejecting the role of the creator as professional. In a favour of democratization of the artistic production tools through the use of computers and technology from the approach of the common user. Knowing what the interaction between image and sounds means, and following this spirit, he developed an incredible parade of 'freaky' and groovy sounds from the wildest sound appropriationism. As he says, he is not a musician, he just works with the sounds in a very visual and plastic way, just like he could work with images or volumes. Some little soundscapes for abstract inner visions. An universe full of emotions, tension, stress, melancholy, all recreated in order to fit the musical language, so close to the organic part of ourselves as well as talking smoothly to our soul. If loop rhythms are the basis of each track, strange samples, spooky sounds emerge deeply in order to communicate with your cerebral cortex, a direct adrenaline shot waking you in the middle of a dream. But don't get it wrong, Shudo isn't a repertoire of dark tales or sounds from a bad ambient trip... At the same time experience energy and serenity, the sublime of a cold snowy night, echoes of laughter giving you inner peace in a bad moment. Mixed emotions, the sound of life simply..."

DJ WALLY: The Creepy Crawlies CD (QS 111CD). $13.00

"DJ Wally must be mad! The DJ bug bit during his adolescence, turning him into an inspired teenager practicing the Art of deejaying; and secretly developing a unique universe of scary fun and abstract humour giving the audience thrills and goose pimples. But this wasn't enough, so in order to go further into sound exploration, producing his own music was the next step. This challenge had to be organized seriously, so perhaps in a cave in the middle of nowhere, DJ Wally transformed his inner-vision into a nightmarish delight. During this period, our mad scientist created an organic blend of 'illibient', abstract hip-hop, radical sample skills and many more elements that must have been gathered in unknown places. This turned into solid pieces of genetically manipulated sound compositions. The Creepy Crawlies is another freakshow ready to satisfy the desire of the most demanding audience. Danceable creepy halloween tales from the abstract are presented here to give your nerves a sudden stimulation that will control your muscles and transform your body into an echoing moving reply to DJ Wally's subtle groovy fields of action. Freak your mind, and your ass will follow."

SHEA, DAVID: Tryptich CD (QS 112CD). $13.00

"David Shea released several masterpieces for Sub Rosa within a few years. In The Prisoner, Tower of Mirrors, Satyricon, Eastern Western Collected Works which gave an idea of what this unique 'samplermaster' is capable of. Through his work one might find at the same time ability and fascination for audio-collage, contemporary music, easy-listening, jazz, soundtrack, traditional music and so much more. This new album is the first to be released on Sub Rosa's twin label Quatermass. These three new pieces are taken from the performances of recent solo work developed since the creation of the first solo CD. The pieces were composed and performed on the sampler as solo live performances, which has been the focus of work made in 2000. Tryptich's focus is on scored material for live musicians recorded, composed and performed on the sampler with combinations of electronic and collage sources in the form of a sampled large ensemble. The works as a whole represents a shift towards an exploration of an orchestration between live instruments, sampled live musicians, collaged recordings and sampler playing techniques in the form of solo composition and performance."

FISHEROFGOLD: In My Vessel CD (QS 113CD). $13.00

"Fisherofgold is based at the sea of possibility somewhere close to Ireland. This album is a reflection of life, one fragment of time transformed into a still reflection. Sounds are gathered via minidisks/cd/videtape, microphones hanging out windows. Sneaking and peeping street scenes, industrial sites, squeaky shopping trolleys, the sound of the universe flying through his window nearby the 'vessel'. In the lab, all sounds subjected to secret processes analog/digital, ripped and torn and left out to dry, stretched and scraped. Plundering the world or recorded spoken word, looking for the inadvertent wisdom. Tunes grow like coral, an new breath is given to environmental sounds and life. No master plan, just following the path. Doing The Work and watching... Waiting to see what appears in this vessel. Just a word for Arthur Rimbaud: 'like a fisher of gold ...or shells...to say I gave no thought to drinking'. Fisherofgold's first appearance on recent release Personal Settings vol. 1 featuring Pan American and Komet."

LISA CARBON TRIO: Trio De Janeiro CD (QS 114CD). $13.00

"Twisted programmings, an unique humour and futuristic improvisations are some of the characteristics of Lisa Carbon's sound, which has been copied by many throughout the years. Partly recorded in San José (Costa Rica), Lisa's hometown, Trio De Janeiro was then mainly completed under the guidance of her long time companion Atom TM in his Frankfurt studio. When the first Lisa Carbon recording was released back in 1992 (The Lisa Carbon Trio: 'Opto Freestyle Swing', 12", Pod Communication), the German magazine Frontpage gave it one star (out of 6) and declared it 'not music'. Magazines come and go, but Lisa is still here. The music was controversial, and while for some it was the most unholy thing to listen to, for others it was an enlightenment. Much has happened since then and Lisa Carbon ignored styles and trends, and instead created them. In 1995, musical fashion caught up with her. Her music, once declared unmusical, had become the hype to follow when U.K.'s Rephlex released her second album Polyester after a two year delay. Lisa's sound was still fresh, so fresh in fact that it was even emulated by those who used to be trendy in 1992. But Lisa grew tired of the unprofessionalism in the music business and so joined producer Atom Heart's label Rather Interesting in 1997, and the album you have in front of you was born. Now that we have crossed into the millennium, you can see and hear that Trio De Janeiro still sounds amazingly current. This re-release contains the two bonus titles 'Tempo Feliz' and 'Song For Frank Brown', which up until now had only been available on the 1997 Japanese release. Also the entire album has been extensively re-mastered to match today's audio standards and to give you, the listener, the full enjoyment of this timeless masterpiece."

"Our annual visitcard and introduction to the world of Quatermass have a bite of the releases to come in 2001 with 11 unreleased tracks from: Freeform: unreleased. from Audio-tourism: Vietnam/China forthcoming album. DJ Wally: high talented 'ill-hop' dj from New York City. sample(s)-killer! This track is coming from the 'to be released' creepy crawler full-album. Tal: an unreleased one, more to come.A 12" and the 2d full album. Bengé: unreleased 'straight' techno track from we won't say more. Rip-Off Artist: freaky bridge between the 80's and 2001 — from electro-funk to electro space odyssey. vol. 3 in our electro cocktail lounge serie. Richard Thomas + Jon Tye: an introduction to their common project 'milky globe' recorded in Paris. Zappacoustic-like. Bump & Grind: a first extract from the 'remixes' (Speedy J, Mick Harris, Elixir, Scanner, ...) and 'unreleased' follow-up to 'ATV' last opus. (very) Mash'ta announcing '70's Zen Manifesto', second full-length album. Bisk: extract from his last album. 2 new comers complete this annual-strike. Shudo: tension and rhythms, spooky sounds/serenity. The art of paradoxes highly recommended. Fisherofgold: new signature from Ireland. Analogic sonic disturbance, deep organic but urban ambient soundtracks. A vessel, a travel."

VA: Substancia 3 LP (QS 115LP). $7.50*CALLA: Televisé CD (QS 116CD). $13.00

"Occupying both the garage and the temple, Calla are at once dissonant and pristine, harmonious and rhythmic. They cling to the dirty residues of NYC with an attention always affixed upward to cosmopolitan refinement. A fact perhaps explained by the group's roots in Texas and their emigration to Brooklyn. Unlike most of their contemporaries, Aurelio Valle (guitar/vocals), Wayne Magruder (drums/programming/percussion) and Sean Donovan (keyboard/bass/programming) understand the way in which the dirtiness of rock intersects the world of high art. Their third release Televisé pushes harshly against complacency with stunning sophistication. The music allows avant gestures to collapse into supple pop while catapulting their dark breathless aggression into a furious swelling of feedback. This is the moment when the curtains are opened and light floods the room. Angular guitars bend across thick bass lines; weightless electronics become pulled into the harsh simplicity of minimalist percussion; Aurelio's fragile voice rises boldly against the torrents of expressive noise. It is for this reason that artists like Nick Cave, Godspeed You! Black Emperor and Sigur Ros have been eager to perform with them. Calla are unquestionably a band whose work will be dissected and reevaluated long after their beautiful static energy burns away."

FREEFORM: Audio-Tourism Remixes 2CD (QS 117CD). $14.00

"The album Audio Tourism Vietnam / China released in October 2001 by Freeform aka Simon Pyke is a unique musical vision, his personal account of a journey he made in Vietnam and China with a tourists eye and ear. During this period he collected sounds on a purely aesthetic level, rather than trying to document their cultural context. This is a successful attempt to broaden his style by actively going out and seeking new influences and sound sources. All tracks were composed with the sources gathered during this trip, sampled and reshaped through machines. Whilst recording the album real instruments, collected during the trip, were used with a kind of playful ignorance. Modified Zither, human beat box through Tibetan horn, electronically processed traditional folk songs and the Vietnamese monochord as the ultimate sub bass machine. Following the album Audio-Tourism Vietnam / China, this 'remix' album is based on works inspired and derived from the original one. A two-part project, the first CD is the original Music/Sources. The second part is a double CD with re-interpretations by artists including Bill Laswell, Autechre, Atom TM, Colongib, Jan Jelinek, Shudo, Mash'ta, Tal. All the remixers selected received different sources: the original sounds gathered in Asia, some 'work in progress' etc. With these elements new compositions were made. Better than doing simple remixes, the musicians took the option to work in their own style, as if the material provided was their own. The result is a thrilling extension to 'A/T' completed with a CD including some of the original source and a CD-Rom interactive part."

CALLA: Custom (The Remix Project) CD (QS 118CD). $13.00

"Calla is a three-piece band with Aurelio Valle (guitar/vocals), Wayne B. Magruder (drums/programming/percussion), and Sean Donovan (keyboard/bass/programming). The three roommates formed Calla at the end of 1997 and recorded their debut LP throughout 1998 at their home in Brooklyn. Calla's self-titled debut was released in mid 1999 on Quatermass. Their second album Scavengers was co-produced by Michael Gira of Swans' fame and released in 2001 on Quatermass (on Young God in the USA). For their new project Calla let other renowned artists like I-Sound, Pan American, Couch and Tarwater transform their 'Radiohead-meets-Nick Cave'-like songs into something quite new and exhilarating. Electronic sounds melt together with Calla's unique fragile sensibility. All of the original songs are treated with great respect, nevertheless some of them are reconstructed in a totally different form leaving nothing but the spirit of the originals intact. This is music for anyone interested in great songwriting and modern electronica."

VA: Vs Kitty-Yo CD (QS 119CD). $13.00

"Here is our first versus of the year: Vs Kitty-Yo. After the first 3 volumes: Vs Shi-Ra-Nui (Japanese Abstract Beats), Vs Kompakt (Köln's Techno Sound) and Vs Rather Interesting (Atom's Label), we choose to share a moment with the astonishing and eclectic german label Kitty-Yo, an open-minded independent label giving thrills and chills to music lovers in various musical ways. The german label Kitty-Yo is sure the home of eclecticism with artists such as Gonzales and his freaky-fun hip-hop, the new goddess of sex rock known as Peaches, the post-rock from Couch, the straight groovy electro from Rechenzentrum, the subtle soundscapes from Stöl and so much more (a.o. Tarwater, Laub, Kante...). On this 'Versus', you will find beside original tracks remixes from Add N To (X), Mira Calix, Calla, Tal, Fibla all giving new orientations to the artists's works. Get some good vibes for 2002 with this spectacular styles confrontation."

PARKER, ANDREA: The Dark Ages CD (QS 120CD). $8.50

"Inky Blacknuss, Two Sandwiches short of a Lunchbox [R&S], Angular Art [Infonet], an acclaimed album Kiss My Arp on Mo' Wax.... these are some of the many projects in which you may find Andrea Parker's touch as composer. Beside an impressive discography, she is of course, a unique DJ, find traces of her ability in the Studio! K7 'DJ Kicks' series. another aspect of her work is the art of 'remixes': Depeche Mode, Patrick Pulsinger, Lamb, Mira Calix (Warp), The Orb, Tipper, Ryuichi Sakamoto, Steve Reich... another non-exhaustive list. Along with live work with Philip Glass and Bang On A Can. How to define Andrea Parker's particular electronic universe? One might think about some amplified heartbeats recorded during a tribal ceremony, some dry waves of sounds recycled from Andrea's environment, floating sonic ghosts grabbed from vintage machines. If you listen closely, depth is obvious. In the forefront, bass, snares, hats and other rhythmic elements are moving in some kind of molecular agitation, creating a massive structure in which the subtle abstract touches are floating in a non-random disorder. This is surely the purest electro sound you'll find, but don't expect Andrea Parker to make music for dancefloor addicts only. These tracks are ready to make you move, but the more you pay attention the more you get. This might be the missing link in the mutually exclusive worlds of 'techno' and 'experimental music', now breathing side by side. danger is a duty."

FREEFORM: A.T. Home EP 12" (QS 12102EP). $7.50

"Freeform invites you to share his slide collection. Some traces gathered during an 'audio-tourism' travel in China and Vietnam. Fragments of emotions, furtive images, moments of jet-lag distorted perceptions and an abundance of memories subjectively 'stolen' from the daily Asian life. A new 3 tracks 12" that proudly announces the imminent release of a new full length album filled with furious breakbeats built around electronic devices and field recordings. Gamelan fighting with beatboxes, flutes and cymbals defying basslines and sampler. This is a step into a new form of intelligent 'techno' and cutting-edge 'dance' music. Enjoy an original trippy trance effect with this blasting encounter of traditional Zen spirit and kicking beats, with Freeform as the master of ceremony. These tracks will surely be a welcome addition to your record collection, to be filed somewhere in-between soundtracks, traditional music and the electronic evolutionism sections."

VA: Personal Settings Preset 1 to 3 12" (QS 12103EP). $6.00

"The series 'Personal Settings' started last year with the Preset 1 presenting new and unreleased works from Pan American / Komet (aka Frank Bretschneider) and Fisherofgold. Some more material from Gez Varley (1/2 LFO), David Morley, Modern, Meat Beat, Manifesto, Mark Van Hoen (Locust), Electric Birds will be released soon on the Preset 2 and 3. As the Personal Settings 1 wasn't released on vinyl, we decided to present two extracts (Pan American and Komet) on an E.P. Furthermore this will also include some preview from the next volumes to come. From Personal Settings 2 we selected a track from David Morley, who released an amazing album (Tilted) on the Belgian label R&S, some 12" and work closely with Andrea Parker. Morley is back, and this is more than a good news! The Personal Settings 3 will be represented by Electric Birds, the project from Mike Martinez who released two albums on his own label (Deluxe rec.), and should be soon back with a full album on Mille-Plateaux. This E.P. is the perfect illustration on the PS series's spirit, deep and groove electronica, eclectic. From dubby killers to hypnotic electro."

VACUOUS NINNIES: Vacuous Ninnies CD (QS 121CD). $13.00

"Vacuous Ninnies is based somewhere in the North of England. He has been living there for a year now, having returned from seven years in the scenic cultural backwater of Norwich, where he worked as a Graphic Designer. He produced a short film called Career Opportunities For Biomechanical Cyborgs, an absurd vision of a dystopian future where the machines have stolen all the jobs, which has been shown in a number of animation festivals. Vacuous Ninnies has been making electronic music since 1997, when he blew his grant and savings on a small studio (EMU ES14000 Sampler, Spirit F1 Mixer, Korg Kaoss Pad, Boss SX700, Korg Prophecy). Before that, he used to play drums in a band called Sourmouth doing Godflesh and Pitch Shifter covers! His method of working is to sit down (very important) and grab a handful of cassette tapes picked at random from a box containing hundreds. 'The tapes can include anything from Autechre, Tortoise and Mouse On Mars to Napalm Death, Stockhausen and Madonna. it really doesn't matter. I then play these tapes on a beaten old ghetto blaster with a knackered EQ. it's completely fucked but gives everything a wonderfully warm and compressed sound. I find a clean digital sample makes the music a little too cold. The signal is then fed through a Korg Kaoss Pad to completely mash things up. I might flick across to the radio, too, to cram as much information into a sample as possible. The more that you have going on in a sample, the less control you have over it. As a result, the end product — the music — is far more unpredictable."

SHUDO: Ri.t CD (QS 122CD). $13.00

"What does it sound like when you take the alternately tense and wide open spaces of post-noise rock and underpin them with the muscular metronome of a rugged hip hop beat? Art, baby, that's what happens. On Ri.t Shudo uses a minimal approach to give the greatest impact to the melody. Whereas most producers would take a gorgeous melody and build enormous swells around it until it was grossly overstated, Shudo gives us pristine glimpses of a remarkably honest sound. It's as if he's decided to go much further to sea, out into the deepest waters — in a rowboat. Or better yet, a kayak, because his sound is about balance. True to the spirit of the eponymous first album 'Shudo', and it's very personal musical perception, there is evidence of maximalising the minimal. Ri.t goes further into this subtle and crafty method of utilizing deconstruction to build a new musical expression. Shudo is back with a deeper approach of how to build melodies on the lightest translucent structures possible: sounds that echo off and click into, reminiscent of serene ghosts demonstrating what urban pop should be about. Taking underground hip-hop's rhythmical strength, post-noise-rock's freedom and so much more! All processed through a laptop and with a more contemporary language, aiming to experiment and combine electronics with a pop/rock/guitar background. This is about music, melodies and occasional tension...The expression of an inner vision and sound, the osmosis between the breathing of a city and its inhabitants. Close your eyes and think about nature's continual cycle of destruction and rebuilding, like perpetually sweeping waves that endlessly change a landscape. Shudo's music is about the very different aspects of evolving organic life. On the other hand there is a more personal statement without words, an expression of a musician concerned about what this world is coming to. The underlying political content of Ri.t is expressed through electronics, not only because it is the most contemporary and somewhat universal language, but because digital tools offer a level of autonomy allowing one to create a personal space; not only in music, but also in image and communication, separate and removed from the claws of corporatism. Blurred textures, floating chords, harsh spheres, deep beats, data corruption, music as visual narration..."

B'N'G: Atv2 CD (QS 125CD). $13.00

"Some more musical surprises from our dynamic electronic duo. After two first strikes Init Sequence and Abstract Theme Variations, this third album is once again based on a total freedom of composition. This time the language is straighter, going on louder, faster and ready to blast your stereo with bass-o-lic and distorted dancefloor orientation. Dropping the flag of soundtrack-like universe, B'N'G is here to express loud and clear the pleasure of abstracts grooves, sometimes squares but surely full of syncopated and arhythmic corrupted rhythmbox files. Atv2 is filled with some new compositions, alternatives takes and remixes from Speedy J, G-Man (aka Gez Varley, 1/2 LFO), Mick Harris and Ellixir providing some more unreal and fascinating kicks and energy. With some new parameters and dropping the useless letters in their name, those who were once Bump And Grind are back with their unique blend of melodic strategy, abstract dance machine and unique personality."

B'N'G: Atv2 2LP (QS 125LP). $15.00

Double LP version.

QUOIT: Properties CD (QS 126CD). $13.00

"Mick Harris, former member of the well known british band Scorn, returns with his project Quoit to full length format with an exploration of the darkside sound on the new LP Properties. Darkside is roots and Mick Harris is showing us where he comes from with an onslaught of overloaded bass and transformed breaks. Properties strikes a careful balance between advanced dancefloor material for the DJs and intense listening structures that take the Quoit sound into as yet uncharted territory. Packed with fresh rhythms, dark dance-floor, and using cutting edge tools to shape the sounds, Properties takes a decidedly Mick Harris approach to drum n bass. Twisted, razor sharp drums collide with aggressive bass sounds designed to make you move. From the cut up breaks and granulated turns of 'Lurker' to the mindbending centrepiece 'Close Season'. Properties is a loaded weapon, constructed for maximum damage, to the dancefloor and to the mind."

QUOIT: Properties 2LP (QS 126LP). $15.00

Double LP version.

VA: Personal Settings Feat. Pan American, Komet, Fisherofgold CD (QS 127CD). $13.00

"This series is based on a simple principle: subjectivity. When exposed to the media, the electronic often becomes an abstract and anonymous vector of sounds. subjectivity. In this selection of the work provided, the musicians had a total creative freedom in a parametric space of approximately 15 minutes to be divided or utilized in order to present a single piece. It's all about subjectivity and giving back the artists their own identity. On this first volume you will find new tracks from Mark Nelson, Frank Bretschneider and Joe Kingman aka Fisherofgold. Mark Nelson, Guitarist and vocalist from Labradford started in 1998 his acclaimed side-project Pan American. He sure knows how to make you both dream and move by roovy, jazzy, dubby atmospheric soundscapes. Frank Bretschneider: His personal definition concerning his music is economic, microscopic, impulsions, sounds from outer space. Using a minimum to obtain the maximum. Through his many projects (Komet, Saal, Flex...) Bretschneider redefines the universe of sounds. Fisherofgold aka Joe Kingman is a brilliant new artist from Ireland. With his analogic logic, he builds massive but subtle universes around different ancient and secret techniques. This is his first official release."

SHAKEFACE: Puddle Jumping During A Monsoon CD (QS 128CD). $7.50

"Puddle Jumping During A Monsoon is the debut EP by Shakeface alias Doug. In the age of 15 he played in a questionable indie band and started to work on his early Shakeytracks and was soon making Shakeytapes every couple months and copying them for friends and random people who were feeling the vibe. Doug spent a spell at Berklee School of Music in Boston, even if it was basically a dark period in his life, that is where he began to seriously dig in the crates. The sampler was his new instrument, and he would stay up until dawn every night to perfect it. Soon enough, Shakey had to get to New York. Late night beat making sessions lasted until the wee hours. At the same time, Shakey also promoted a monthly party that allowed him to envelop his DJ style as well the chance to work with some amazing musicians: Africa Bambaataa, I-Sound, We(TM), Grandmaster D.ST, Push Button Objects and many others. Puddle Jumping During A Monsoon is a sonic mish mash in the most wonderful sense of the word. Dub, jazz, soul, found sounds, 60's pop, odd bits and pieces here and there, all of these things were put in a hip-hop blender and set to puree. Raw soul floats over electro bleeps while chunky hip-hop beats dance with reggae riddims. From the opening dubbed out piano lines of Helpless, underpinned by military drums and vocals about feeling lost in our increasingly militaristic society to the lazy hip hop of AheadBehind and the meditative 'Crazy, Crazy Like A Fox', Puddle Jumping During A Monsoon is a glorious sonic collage and emotionally as well. Shakeyface's music is based on the juxtaposition of opposing moods and feelings."

VA: Quatermix CD (QS 130CD). $7.50

"In order to properly represent the Quatermass catalogue with its 'eclecticism into the groove system' touch, we are proud to present an adventurous new sampler mixed with liquid elasticity by DJ Faskil (from BNG), closer in spirit to the excitement and spontaneity of a pirate radio program, yet delivering the purity and energy of a specialized sphere and focused narration. The tracks demonstrate the label's philosophy and form a statement concerning it's vision, reflecting integral elements of our history — past, present and future... During an excursion running slightly more than 70 minutes, you will have the opportunity to meet artists such as Andrea Parker, DJ Wally, Komet (aka Frank Bretschneider), Gez Varley, Lena, Nodern, BNG, Spectre, Jan Jelinek featuring tracks from forthcoming Personal Settings 3 release, as well as choice cuts from Fibla, To Rocco Rot, Mash'ta (unreleased), Shakeface etc.. Massive gratitude to all the artists for their contribution towards the building of what Quatermass represents."

VA: Personal Settings 2 CD (QS 131CD). $13.00

"The PS series started last year with the Personal Settings CD presenting new and unreleased works from Pan American, Komet (aka Frank Bretschneider) and Fisherofgold. Personal Settings 2 is fully loaded with exclusive tracks from David Morley (remember the amazing album Tilted released on R&S) and his stylish deep and massive melodic electronic spheres, Gez Varley (1/2 LFO) presenting some new dancefloor orientated anthems and the first tracks to be released from Nodern who explores the fields of noisy chill electronica. Three artists, three individuals presenting their skills without concessions, that what the PS series is about, 15 minutes for each in a totally personal approach. Check their presets!"

LENA: Lane CD (QS 132CD). $13.00

"A great Neo-Dub/Electronica album from Lena is going to be released on the highly acclaimed Quatermass label. The ghost in Lena's machine has possessed it's share of echo chambers and mixing boards — it was there long ago during the delirious sessions at The Ark, where Monsieur Lee 'Scratch' Perry would taunt it's spirit with a fearless and life-affirming Caribbean insouciance; it's been there when Adrian Sherwood would unexpectedly lunge toward the console and let fly with a slide of the volume fader; it's been a vital element in the steaming, bubbly, concoctions found in the Mad Professor's laboratory, and more recently, it's inhabited the tiny slivers of runoff vinyl that regroup and metamorphasize into Pole's macro/microcosmic wallowings. Mathias Delplanque (aka Lena, Bidlo, DJ Jecho, Konstan, Paul Shade) has given in to the more radical side of his Bidlo audio persona, emerging from some very haunted studio sessions as Lena — a sort of idiot savant twin to Bidlo — more intuitive and viscerally receptive to the dub ghost than Bidlo. The centre of Lena's universe of sound is a sonic black hole of infra-bass from which sound particles manage to frenetically escape, spiraling off into the cosmos in a frenetic rhythm, leaving trails of white light and buzzing noises which soar past the listener. On this new record Lena pairs thing down to the sweet minimalism and groovy melancholy of deep space, whilst remaining ever mindful of the universal constant that African music taps into. Suffice to say, it's complex, despite it's sonic immediacy."

SPECTRE: Parts Unknown CD (QS 136CD). $13.00

"After completing the Hip Hop trilogy of terror — The Illness, The Second Coming and The End — The Overlord of the Underground a.k.a. The Ill Saint a.k.a. Spectre convened at his hinterland retreat, The Temple of Smoke in order to partake of the manna of the Gods and await further illumination from the Mighty Unseen Force. But during his dark days in the wilderness, new revelations fell from the sky like comets, and he inscribed his visions into the sonic tablet you now hold. 'And Lo, Out of the darkness.....came Light.' Parts Unknown presents a schizophrenic amalgam of styles, flavors, colors, textures, and moods. These are sounds from the beyond to take you even further out, surpassing the realm of the senses to where space and time have no meaning. Parts Unknown is a new strain of The Illness, complex yet simple, wayward and unpredictable, and lethal in its impact."

SPECTRE: Parts Unknown LP (QS 136LP). $12.50

LASWELL, BILL: Final Oscillations 2CD (QS 137CD). $16.00

"Bill Laswell's Drum'n'Bass odyssey started in 1996 with release of the album Oscillations, some ambitious work based on hardstep kicks challenging rumbling basslines and indian influences. Treated in an open minded fusion-like approach, this material — was and is still — considered as a classic. So are the two other volumes: Oscillations 1 with its more jazzy-dark-chill approach, and the Oscillations Remixes featuring some wild re-interpretations by artists such as Nico, Atom Heart, Dj Grazhoppa and UI. This trilogy is now available only as a 2CD set including the entire Oscillations 1 & 2, plus a selection of the finest cuts from the remixes album, plus a new one from N-Y's Spectre. This is Final Oscillations, nothing more to say, the music is speaking for itself in this new mastered edition."

Double LP version.

VA: Rocker's Delight: The Rock Sound Of Darkest Paris 1990-96 CD (QS 141CD). $13.00

"Before the French touch, a darker and harder sound ruled over underground Paris... featuring Arielle, The Micronauts, Patrick Vidal, Mirwais, Discotique, Daft Punk, Sutra, Dr Love & Nature, Tom Bouthier, Costes, and Les Claques 2 Velours. Do you really think there was nothing before the 'French Touch'? France has always been packed with musicians who opened up new ways. Some bands have actually developed a cult following, whether it is Marie Et Les Garçons, for whom Patrick Vidal was playing, or Taxi Girl composed of Mirwais Ahmadzai and Daniel Darc. These bands blended the energy and revolt of punk with either electronic instrumentation or dance floor grooves. But we have not heard the last from these pioneers of the electronic French sound. Rocker's Delight is the testimony of an effervescent era that laid the foundations, through various hybrid projects, of a new musical idiom and an unabashed attitude, giving way to the emergence of a new musical approach that literally took the whole world by storm. Rocker's Delight: The Rock Sound Of Darkest Paris is the result of a crossing of the swords between Electronica and Rock, Funk, old school Hip Hop, House, etc. Far from being a patchwork of dissonant tunes, this album gives a glimpse of a more sombre Paris, more decadent, and in an unconventional need for grooves. 'Rocker's Delight' is a reference to the Sugarhill Gang and their hit 'Rapper's Delight', the first rap music hit. 'The Rock Sound Of Darkest Paris' is a reference to Joey Negro's compilation on Republic, tracing back the history of garage rock (The Garage Sound Of Deepest New York)." Artists include : Discotique, Sutra, Les Claques 2 Velours, Dr. Love & Nature, The Eurostars with Tom Bouthier, Patrick Vidal, Costes, The Micronauts (Daft Punk Remix), Arielle Par Nature.

VA: Rocker's Delight - The Rock Sound Of Darkest Paris LP (QS 141LP). $12.50

"The vinyl version of the forthcoming Rocker's Delight compilation. This DJ-friendly package contains one LP and one 12."

ELIXIR: Don't Be Scared CD (QS 142CD). $13.00

"Elixir's second album on Quatermass Don't Be Scared is the follow up to 2000's Music Mathematics Magic on Sub Rosa and is a menacing album, full of hostility yet containing an undercurrent of beauty and humour which cleverly contrast the overall brutal feel. Don't Be Scared is a reaction against all the over-produced, slick, lightweight acts who currently infest the broader genre of dance music. Elixir deliver a no-nonsense album of raw, nasty breakbeat cocktails, full of pummelling beats, twisted samples and distorted instrumentation. Filthy dirty bass is the foundation for the majority of tracks and whatever the tempo, the beats flow with head nodding accuracy, subdued where necessary and brutally powerful for maximum impact when required. Building on that foundation is a collection of varyingly conceived sounds, both sinister and sleazy, and melodic and uplifting. Recorded to the point of overload at times, tracks appear to be heading towards collapse, conjuring up images of decay and desolation, yet there are frequent flickers of hope within the album which suggest there is light at the end of the tunnel. Which of course there is, as the final track provides the most calming moment of the album."

2ND GEN: Flicknives CD (QS 143CD). $13.00

"Containing fragments of Techno, Hip Hop and Rock with a driving Industrial noise mentality, Wajid Yaseen's aka 2nd Gen's unique musical project is a bulldozing distillation of genres, intertwining and contorting sound to serve his will. His primary desire, manifesting within his inspired compositions, is to constantly challenge himself and those who are listening. His latest album titled Flicknives to be released on the fiercely independent Quatermass label, again threatens to break down any expectations of what can be done with sound. 10 tracks ranging from the melancholic opener 'Evov' to the sonic thrill of 'Middle Finger Motif' to the stripped rawness of 'Sliding into Stereotypes' — even more seductive and adventurous than ever."

VA: Mother Tongues CD (QS 144CD). $13.00

"Mother Tongues is a record label dedicated to the development of female artists, whether they are MCs, DJ's or producers. Here we have a collection of tracks from Australian women, or women who have spent a substantial amount of time there and have contributed to the female hip hop scene 'collective'. It represents the various skills that the artists are developing in hip hop, so as well as hearing rap tracks you will get a taste of poetry, spoken word, instrumental production, breakbeating and skits. There's a lot of variety but it is all part of what is happening in the genre worldwide." Artists include: Beats R Us vs Jay-Q, Maya Jupiter & Moka Only, Trey, Ebony Williams, Maya Jupiter, Shorti RV, Beats R Us, Dana Diaz-Tutaan, Ebony Williams with Neotropic, and Phoenix.

KING RHYTHM: What's Left CD (QS 145CD). $13.00

"Drum & Bass and Hip-Hop. People want to keep them separate. Put each in its own folder and file them away. Thus, a line has been drawn. King Rhythm completely erases this line and moves forward without any memory of one existing. So What's Left? First, music can consist of any sound, any feeling, any texture. From symphonic orchestral suites in E flat, wailing fuzz guitars of the 60's, to present day love of the digital malfunction speaking.

How about a digital orchestra played through a fuzz pedal malfunctioning? Now that's more like it! Second, lyrics have always been used as a medium to initiate social change as well as a commentary tool used to address all aspect of life. This must continue! Rhyming, in this case by Son Of Nun, brought this to the forefront as the most direct and easily understandable way to get a message across. Relevance is the key to maintaining this striking power. Third: We live in a society with two focuses. Everything can be linked to these: justice — either internal or external and technology — obsolete or cutting edge. Because of this constant seeking, life is non-stop without pause or fade. We need an anthem. The foundation has been built, the plan has been laid. This is What's Left."

SPECTRE: RetroSpectre CD (QS 146CD). $13.00

"RetroSpectre is not a greatest hits collection, rather, as the title suggests, a journey back through an illustrious career spanning 10 years, 5 full-length albums, and numerous singles and remixes. In fact, most of the selections here are some of Spectre's more obscure productions culled from various compilations and B-sides as well as a few previously unreleased treasures from the vaults of The Other Side. Hand picked by The Ill Saint himself and digitally remastered, these tracks sound even better now than they originally did.

Not many artists working in the hip-hop idiom have attempted to build a career on instrumentals, but, then again, Spectre's aim has always been to blow away all preconceived notions of what music is, and wreak havoc on your mindstate. Since his opening salvo, 'Crooked', which first appeared on 1994's critically-acclaimed Crooklyn Dub Consortium: Certified Dope, Volume 1 (WordSound) and subsequently became the title-track for the WordSound film of the same name, The Ill Saint has consistently elevated his art with something original, innovative, daring, demented and downright dope.

Often misunderstood for the esoteric and occult knowledge forwarded in his moody, exotic beatscapes, Spectre stands alone in the musical field as a sonic shaman conjuring up images of the Unknowable and providing a gateway to The Other Side. While his sound is often described as apocalyptic, the end only marks a new beginning in his constantly evolving cycle in progress. His work can also be described as paranoid, claustrophobic, and foreboding, a fitting reflection of the world today where terrorism and plagues, Big brother and big business have reduced humanity to a sorry state. Spectre's solution is anarchy, if only in the mental.

For, in the end, music is only music, and sound, the abstract. world where rhythm is business, Spectre's art is warfare." — W. Nobel Savage.

LANGUAGE COMPUTER: Mouse Back Riding CD (QS 149CD). $13.00

"Language Computer's essence lies in the integration of the turntable and scratches as self-sufficient instruments. It introduces a new sound marked by both experimental HipHop and electronic sonorities. Instead of being just another demonstration of technique, which is often the case in turntablist projects, here the performance has been researched in order to leave room for a certain sonic esthetic to blend into the whole and form a unified sound. The results are technically beyond reproach, but much more subtle in content and form. Language Computer consists of two members: John Bloug takes care of all compositional aspects, while Detect handles the turntables for the scratched episodes and sonic add-ons. Influences are plural and widely spread. The paths of experimental HipHop artists the likes of Anticon, Mush, Def Jux, Project Blowed or Living Legends crisscross with the catalogs of Warp (mostly Boards of Canada, Aphex Twin, and Autechre), Tigerbeat6, or Rephlex, or even with artists such as Console, Murcof, Plaid, and Squarepusher."

TINO'S DUB SELECT: Tino's Dub Select CD (QS 152CD). $13.00

"This essential collection of tracks is culled from the original albums in the 'Tino's Breaks' series, Volume 5 / Dub and Volume 6 / Halloween Dub on the Tino Corp. label — tooled by co-producers Jack Dangers (Meat Beat Manifesto), Ben Stokes (D.H.S.) and Mike Powell (Bo Square). In the grand tradition of studio alchemists like Lee Perry, Augustus Pablo and Mad Professor, Tino and friends mingle deep deep basslines and fat effects but the furious funk still flows and the creative warp here is truly Tino's own stock in trade. Sample the home-grown and share it with a friend. Serving Tino's Dub Select, 'nicely toasted'. Tino Corp. is a record label founded by Jack Dangers and Ben Stokes dedicated to curating unique beats and sounds. As CEO and principal artist, Tino launched the label with a series of instructional albums called Tino's Breaks, which teach a new style of drumming with each installment. DJs test Tino records for scratching flexibility and overall funkiness, including DJ Krush, Cut Chemist, Nu-Mark (Jurassic Five), DJ Shadow, Z-Trip and DJ Quest. Tino Corp. is also affiliated with the Bay area turntablist collective, Future Primitive Sound whose 'associates' include Radar, Rob Swift, Faust & Shortee, Pam The Funktress (The Coup) and Romanowski."

OBJECT: Pandemic CD (QS 153CD). $13.00

"Object sees Australian sonic experimentalist, Lawrence English cut a fresh pathway into the foliage-ridden realm of leftfield Hip Hop beatscapes. Tipping his hat to movements such as NYC's swelling Rooftop Music community, contemporary Hip Hop, Jamaican Dancehall and abstract electronics, English's work as Object seeks out the unfamiliar and the submerged. Object draws together the overlooked elements of many styles and clashes them together in a controlled explosion of rhythm, texture and composition. Based in Brisbane, Australia — a place known to most as the gateway to the sunny post-Los Angeles themed lands of the Gold Coast, Object (known to friends and family as Lawrence English) has been contributing uncharacteristic sonic debris to the soundscapes of the region for almost ten years. In that time, his work has shifted focus, moving between various extremes and has seen him spawn a multitude of guises, each equipped to address a differing stylistic form and approach."

MUSIC AM: A Heart & Two Stars CD (QS 154CD). $13.00

Music AM = Luke Sutherland (Mogwai, Long Fine Killie); Volker Bertelmann (Tontraeger); Stefan Schneider (To Rococo Rot, Mapstation). "A textbook case of how a band might get together: what's conceived and desired from within, ensues without. Three individuals, three attitudes, three paths, influences, backgrounds and visions complimenting one another, composing then recording what transpires, meticulously organizing, talking, falling silent, selecting, ultimately realising the highest common denominator: Music A.M. And now their first album is here — A Heart & Two Stars — the title at once alluding, if you will, to the creative triumvirate, whose collective name in turn extols the early morning, itself a radiant metaphor for inception, something new, hope. Musically speaking, Music A.M. has carefully, almost bashfully woven diverse stylistic threads together: contemplative, ambient electronica, textures from country, folk and pop music, the structural ease of what is known as post-rock, and finally a synaestheticism, which I call 'data pop'. A Heart & Two Stars is cheered by its inherent wistfulness, anaesthetized by atmospheric calm and reserve, muddled by one's own nightly dreams which, when transported into daylight, become fantastic, comical everyday stories. Luke Sutherland sings as one who would be silent, whilst the instruments are played as though they were listening. Music A.M. does not purvey a torpid, pseudo-romantic, introspective indie-electronica, having discovered instead its own narrative mode, which, given the choice between the reference points Yesterday and Today, chooses Tomorrow as the beloved Present. Music, which my ears long to hear when, in the first light of day, my eyes behold something which makes me smile." — Tobias Thomas.

MUSIC AM: A Heart & Two Stars LP (QS 154LP). $12.50

LP version. Music AM = Luke Sutherland (Mogwai, Long Fine Killie); Volker Bertelmann (Tontraeger); Stefan Schneider (To Rococo Rot, Mapstation).

HARDMAN: Shirts and Pistols CD (QS 169CD). $13.00

"Hardman's debut Shirts and Pistols takes stock of deep soul and white trash culture, folkrock and microprocessor-aesthetics on both sides of the atlantic and makes it all their own. Kraftwerk live again, but with Howlin'Holf as their frontman — or maybe it's the other way 'round? Sampling and resampling themselves Hardman deconstructs and reconstructs a relaxed cocktail of digital collages, songwriting and old school popmusic. This product contains no third party ingredients. Shirts and Pistols was produced by Hardman and Mark Bihler, who has lend his producing/remixing talents to bands like Appliance, Saint Etienne and Mellow and enjoys success in Great Britain with his project Bridge and Tunnel. Created, with extensive use of the internet, and over a two month production period in Berlin the album celebrates songs as well as collages and fragments. Hardman lives what in many cases is merely the result of artistic calculation and therefore they have a credibility, that is very rare to find these days."

QUECKSILBER (GERMANY):

AMBARCHI & MARTIN NG, OREN: Vigil CD (QUECK 001CD). $14.50

"Vigil is the second duo album by Australian composers Oren Ambarchi and Martin NG from Sydney after 2001's Reconnaissance on the Staubgold label. It's a dreamlike sonic excursion based upon the fluid architectural modulation of harmonics and resonances. Recalling the landmark experiments of the sonic arts union (Robert Ashley, David Behrman, Alvin Lucier and Gordon Mumma), Ambarchi and NG create an enigmatic tapestry of pulsing, shimmering and shifting sound which represents a subtle and compelling realignment of eastern and western minimalist traditions. Austrian designer Tina Frank of Mego has added two short films in mpeg format to this release which in its slow and subtle moves match perfectly with the fragile beauty of Ambarchi's and NG's music. Ambarchi has become a solo performer whose stirring sonic experiments with the guitar have seen him recently record for acclaimed exploratory music labels Touch, Staubgold and Tzadik, and perform and collaborate with artists such as Fennesz and Otomo Yoshihide, and revered minimalist composer Phill Niblock. Martin NG whose main instrument is the turntable is another outstanding character in Sydney's rich experimental music circuit. He released an album for the Mego label with Farmer's Manual's Hiaz Gmachl, recorded for Grob with Jim Denley and was part of 2002's 'Turntable Hell' tour with among others Otomo Yoshihide and Martin Tetrault."

HORSCROFT, SCOTT: 8 Guitars CD (QUECK 002 CD). $14.50

"8 Guitars is a totally absorbing and trance-inducing work of psychedelic beauty. Here eight guitarists are patched to a computer; recorded and manipulated live with no overdubs. Each player observes strict, unchanging rhythmic patterns over the course of the recording. However, the dense, shifting rhythms in 8 Guitars are derived not from the physical attack of the performers, but through the complex interaction of the overtones and harmonic characteristics of the instruments themselves. This makes for one of the most unique and compelling works for electric guitars in recent memory.

8 Guitars is a finely balanced exploration of restraint and delicacy and is at the same time a full-blown raucous electro-catharsis. The sort of work that will satisfy not only the chin-stroking lovers of abstract electronica but also power-chord enthusiasts. 8 Guitars is the first release by 24-years old Scott Horscroft from Sydney/Australia."

TAU (BORIS D. HEGENBART): somethingmovinginsideplasticbox CD (QUECK 003 CD). $14.50

"The second solo CD of [#/TAU], is a narration about encounters. Recorded in cafes, back rooms, in attics and in streets. 13 miniatures, music in little boxes. Places to keep minute objects in, crumpled up sketches, handsome things, space junk and the like. 13 Encounters, 12 dialogues. Everyday poetry, driven, harried and carried by electronic impulses and shimmering planes, anchored in grounding bass sounds, electrified by a whirring current. Nothing much is happening — the air is tight. [#/TAU], founded in 1996 by Berlin-based computer-sound-artist Boris D Hegenbart, is a project, which from its very beginnings strove to combine electronics with human sounds. Initially hailing from dub music, Hegenbart is now better known for his filigree sound-poetry. The sound material used is comprised of cut-ups, field-recordings, purely synthetically generated waves, 9 kHz atmosphere..."

WIRKUS, PAUL: Intelletto d'Amore CD (QUECK 004CD). $14.50

"Paul Wirkus is a drummer from Poland who has been playing jazz and improvised music for quite some time. During the '80s he played in the well-known Polish punk band Karcer, by the end of the '90s he participated in a post-rock project by the name of Mapa (you might remember the article about them in the Wire magazine). All this information Paul Wirkus does not judge as important, and indeed, to approach the music on his new solo album, it really isn't. What is important is the fact that this CD — the music on which could broadly be described as 'minimal electronica' — is Paul's third release under his own name. This time, he didn't want to be too experimental and just rely on the powers of commination of the work itself. The music on this release was created live with several MiniDisc-players hooked up to effects instead of, as one might think, by editing processes done with computers. Thus the tracks have a warmer, more organic character than most other electro-acoustic music. Accidents, coincidences, minute shifts and 'aural snap shots' characterize this music. In contrast to earlier solo-outings, not only samples of strings and piano and white noise are to be heard, but also generated analogue sounds, fragmentary melodies and even vocals. One of the tracks on which he sings is called 'blask' which roughly translates to 'shimmer', a word that characterizes his music very well. Paul is primarily concerned with the sound of the voice itself, his lyrics are more or less 'open'. Searching and finding. Sometimes, he says, it takes some time to realize that you've already got what you want."

LOOP ORCHESTRA, THE: Not Overtly Orchestral CD (QUECK 005CD). $14.50

"The third album by the legendary Australian Loop Orchestra in their more than 20 years of existence. All compositions are rendered with tape loops on reel-to-reel tape machines only. The genesis of The Loop Orchestra occurred in the ashes of a simple two-tape-machine-noman-band, The Nobodies, which died in a fire in 1980. From those ashes, and with a pastiche taken from the likes of Terse Tapes, home of seminal Australian Industrial outfit Severed Heads, an ashen poultice was formed to take up further and more involved household heretical experimentation, this time with reel-to-reel tape machines. This idea was subsequently expanded upon in the studio of Sydney radio station 2MBS-fm amid a group of experimental radio programmers. Two, John Blades and Richard Fielding, were using the studio equipment as an instrument, experimenting with tape machines through processes involving cutting, dissecting, rearranging and rejoining prerecorded tape, creating tape loops and playing them back. They felt a need to formalize their studio experimentation and so conceived the idea of creating a full blown machine orchestra. The intention of the Orchestra was for groups of instruments of an orthodox orchestra to be represented by reel-to-reel tape machines playing loops of the instruments' sounds. In 1983 an ensemble comprising 4 reel-to-reel machines playing slowly evolving tape-loop constructions, made its live debut playing a live-to-air performance in the studio of Sydney radio station 2MBS-fm in 1983, as The Loop Orchestra. In 1990 The Loop Orchestra released its first LP. Given the extraordinary length of time between the formation of the group and the debut release it was appropriately entitled Suspense. It was followed by a compact disc, The Analogue Years, in 1999. The current lineup consists of John Blades, Richard Fielding, Emmanuel Gasparinatos, Patrick Gibson and Hamish MacKenzie."

AGF: Language Is The Most CD (QUECK 006CD). $14.50

"How code made its way into my music. As a singer and producer, I rely primarily on content, and that can get to be a real encumbrance. After many years of creating music, I feel that I'm being confronted over and over again with the fact that listeners — and especially when it comes to Germans dealing with the German language — have problems getting to the music. Content always comes first — the message, the brain. In cutting the tracks for my album Head Slash Bauch (head slash gut), I wanted to free myself from this coercive pressure to have to say something understandable. On my way to becoming an independent producer, I geeked my way through the process of self-education in matters of hardware, software, user's manuals and all the other stuff that goes with it. And that's how the computer/laptop came to exert an extremely positive — except for the chronic back pain — influence on my working and lifestyle options, my communication and production possibilities, and makes possible more and more flexibility, speed and personal control. So that's how I discovered the poetry and beauty of this technically practical programming language. Since then I've been experimenting with this tension between technical coolness and rhythm and melody in connection with reality, feeling, vision. For the opening of the Ars Electronica Klangpark 2003, I presented a live performance featuring some of this work and my recent album Westernization Completed and integrated into it a composition especially based on the dictionary entry for 'code'." — AGF

KAMMERFLIMMER KOLLEKTIEF: Hysteria CD (QUECK 007CD). $14.50

"Re-release of this long-deleted Kammerflimmer Kollektief classic feat. 15min+ of new studio recordings. An assemblage of intriguing electro/acoustic elements, Hysteria is the newest offering from Karlsruhe's Kammerflimmer Kollektief. Incorporating samples, analog synths, and a plethora of stringed instruments (including an acoustic jazz ensemble), Hysteria taunts the fine line of control between abstraction and realism, with a beauty that's stunning at times. Kammerflimmer Kollektief began as the one-man experimental excursions of Thomas Weber. Trapping ambient noise, live and synthetic drums, guitars, strings, upright bass and keyboards into interlocking rhythmic explosions, Weber expanded the group to a live six piece in 1999 and has been brilliant and busy ever since. From their Karlsruhe, Germany home base, this ensemble effortlessly blends experimental electronic elements and moody free-form jazz to stunning effect. File under: cosmic country."

R&S RECORDS (BELGIUM):

APHEX TWIN: Classics CD (RS 95035). $14.00

1995 CD collection of Aphex's early singles. Includes historic early tracks like "Digeridoo" (originally issued about 7000 IDM-years ago on the short-lived Rabbit City label in 1992) & "Analogue Bubblebath 1". The fresh remnants of acid filtered through the dilated cheeks of a pre-tank-living Cornwall lad soaking wet in the excitement of it all. The world would never quite be the same again. Tracklisting: 1. Digeridoo 2. Flaphead 3. Phloam 4. Isopropanol 5. Polynomial-C 6. Tamphex (Hedphug Mix) 7. Phlange Phace 8. Dodeccaheedron 9. Analogue Bubblebath 1 10. Metapharstic 11. We Have Arrived (Aphex Twin QQT Mix) 12. We Have Arrived (Aphex Twin TTQ Mix) 13. Digeridoo (Live In Cornwall).

R&S/APOLLO (BELGIUM):

BERNOCCHI, KONDO, LASWELL: Re-Charged #3 (Remixes by Thomas Fehlmann & Pole) 12" (APOLLO 043). $8.00

"Toshinori Kondo, Eraldo Bernocchi and Bill Laswell released their collaborative opus Charged last summer. Re-Charged is the ongoing project to reinterpret their work, with collaboration being the fine thread that holds it all together. As we progress throughout the year, various musical styles will be applied to the original tracks. There will be five 12"s in total, resulting in a compilation album in the Autumn." On this third Re-Charged release, the remixes are by Thomas Fehlmann and Pole!

R2 RECORDS (UK):

OSUNLADE: Presents... Offering CD (R2 004 CD). $16.00

"R2 Records is proud to present a mix CD from one of the true rising stars of house music... Osunlade is a DJ, producer, musician, and remixer who has taken the soulful house scene by storm with his beautiful productions and awesome DJ sets. Osunlade has been building his reputation for years having worked with such industry heavyweights as Patti Labelle, Lauren Hill, India Irie, Eric Benet, Musiq Soulchild and even Sesame Street! He then brought this soulful influence to his house productions when he founded the Yoruba label in New York, (now Puerto Rico). Offering is a mix CD capturing the best of his deep, jazzy, soulful, afro-centric latin-tinged house sets. Featuring artists like Jazzanova, Faze Action, Truby Trio and French house luminary Gregory, Offering takes you on a seamless global journey through the freshest dance music, from chilled intro to club peaktime. On this compilation, Osunlade has bridged the gap between modern club music and ancient beats, the future from the past."

RABID GOD INOCULATOR INDUSTRIES:

HOOKER, WILLIAM: The Heat Of Light "Dream Sequences" CD (RGI 003). $13.00

Solo studio recordings, drums and poetic verse. "The work is a 45 minute piece, divided into 8 segments, the propulsive forward energy of which is impressively tangible. Beginning with a soft, metallic wash of cymbals and coursing through varied levels of human intensity."

RADIATE (UK):

SHORT BREAK OPERATOR: E.P. CD EP (RDT 009 CD). $9.00

"Short Break Operator is a delicate and hypnotic sound often dropping to below a whisper, divining its dramatic tension in the unsettling open spaces created by the absence of form with alternately tense & relaxing beatwork endlessly repeated in shifting combinations. James Chapman's a.k.a. Short Break Operator's roots are planted firmly in a uniquely British experimentalism, yet these songs have a rare quality of burying themselves under your skin, while the arrangement and melodies make you think of sunny afternoons by the pool."

RADIATION (SPAIN):

FREE KITTEN: (K) 7" (RAD 015). $5.00

A Germs cover ("Sex Boy") and tribute sleeve by the quartet version, featuring Yoshimi and Pavement's Mark Ibold. Elaborate gatefold pop up sleeve.

RADIOACTIVE RECORDS (UK):

FIREBIRDS: Light My Fire CD (RR 003CD). $16.00

"A thoroughly intriguing (and engaging) album that appeared on the Crown label (CST 589) in 1969. Absolutely nothing is known about the band other than their albums have become highly sought-after for their over-the-top heavy psych-blues-rock mayhem that owes much to Hendrix, Iron Butterfly and Blue Cheer's Vincebus Eruptum. There's a loose, reoccurring fire-ish theme running throughout the album, starting with one of the hottest photos ever to grace an album cover — a stunning woman in a red dress engulfed in flames...hot with a capitol H! Besides a number of 'fire' tunes (including a great version of the Doors' 'Light My Fire'), there's a little gem called 'Free Bass' which features something you don't often hear on albums — a three-minute bass solo."

MORGEN: Morgen LP (RR 008LP). $24.00

LP version.

GRODECK WHIPPERJENNY, THE: The Grodeck Whipperjenny CD (RR 017CD). $16.00

"Produced by James Brown's favourite arranger and conductor Dave Mathews, The Grodeck Whipperjenny, recorded in 1970 in Cincinnati and released on Brown's People label, is an album that won universal critical claim but still failed to propel the highly talented outfit into the big time. Described by one critic as 'a superb psychedelic/progressive effort — full of imagination and fresh ideas' others locked into the album's abundant funky rhythms, prompting another pundit to excitedly proclaim Grodeck as 'an acid funk monster of an album which will blow the flavour savour right off you mug!' Every track is excellent in its own right which makes it difficult to single out particular highlights, but 'Conclusions' is a superb instrumental of jaw-dropping strings, heavy Hammond and stinging guitar, while 'Evidence For The Existence Of The Unconscious' features fine keyboards, echoed vocal and fuzz guitar."

H.P. LOVECRAFT: H.P. Lovecraft II LP (RR 018LP). $24.00

LP version, full color gatefold jacket. "Having relocated to Marin County in Northern California in the spring of 1968, H.P.Lovecraft's second, and it must be said, superior album, appeared later that same year. Moving south to LA later that year, the band recorded their 2nd eponymous album that contained some fine moments of sheer artistry. The sleepiness of tracks like 'Spin, Spin, Spin,' 'Möbius Trip' and 'Electrallentando' was reminiscent of It's A Beautiful Day's first album, and there was a fine version of 'High Flying Bird', a song which had become a favourite amongst West Coast groups and At The Mountains Of Madness captured the band's outstanding vocal style, very much the hallmark of their first album, to perfection. H.P.Lovecraft II was reputedly the first major label album (both records were originally released on the Philips label) where all those involved in the recording were actually high on acid!"

RELATIVELY CLEAN RIVERS: Relatively Clean Rivers CD (RR 020CD). $16.00

First ever reissue. "Former Beat Of The Earth leader Phil Pearlman assembled Relatively Clean Rivers in the early '70s and eventually recorded this excellent rural rock album in 1975. Although it should be easy to pigeonhole the sound of Relatively Clean Rivers, it is actually anything but. At times sounding like The Grateful Dead in all their American Beauty pomp, or CSNY circa Déjà Vu, this tight, richly talented ensemble produces an album of almost majestic quality. The sound is superb, and clearly no time or expense were spared to produce an album which is probably the most flawless snapshot of Californian '70s under ground music that you will ever here. Originally there were 2 pressings of this unique album, each of only 500 copies each, and this is the first time that this, or any of Pearlman's other recordings has been reissued. An album highly recommended to anyone even remotely interested in '70s West Coast music or simply top-notch music in general."

RELATIVELY CLEAN RIVERS: Relatively Clean Rivers LP (RR 020LP). $24.00

LP version, full color gatefold sleeve.

OTHER HALF, THE: The Other Half CD (RR 025CD). $16.00

"Hailing from America's West Coast, The Other Half achieved a small amount of fame when The Fall covered their punk-garage single 'Mr Pharmacist' in the '80s. In point of fact, the band's sound was more psychedelic than garage, with the sustain-laden guitar style of Jeff Beck-inspired axeman Randy Holden (who later went on to join Blue Cheer) strongly underpinning the group's musical thrust. Holden's guitar is at its best on a selection of fine original compositions such as 'Morning Fire' and the album's finale, 'What Can I Do For You?', as well as on a superb re-working of Arthur Lee's 'Feathered Fish'."

OTHER HALF, THE: The Other Half LP (RR 025LP). $24.00

Numbered 180g vinyl version.

FLOWER TRAVELLIN' BAND: Satori CD (RR 031CD). $16.00

"Possessing the vision to select Akira 'Joe' Yamanaka as their vocalist, the Flower Travellin' boys elevated themselves above other Japanese bands of the time, whose efforts were largely confined to imitating British and American bands of the era. Satori, which was released in 1971, is a conceptual hard rock/psych album driven by Hideki Ishima's furious guitar licks which erupt and explode over the harmonic heart beat of the drums and bass and Yamanaka's banshee-like vocal style which was turning him into an accidental Iggy Pop or Ozzy Osbourne while the band itself was rapidly becoming Japan's answer to Led Zeppelin or Black Sabbath. Satori is a huge album in every way. From power chords to Easterntinged North African six string freak-outs and crashing tom-toms, the band flexes its collective muscle from start to finish."

HENDRIX, JIMI: Studio Out-Takes Vol. 3: 1969-70 LP (RR 047LP). $28.00

"This, the third and final album in our three-volume series of studio out-takes spanning Jimi Hendrix's all-too brief career from 1966 to 1970, finds the guitarist back in America and recording at Electric Ladyland and The Record Plant. We are again invited to follow Hendrix as he endeavours to fashion loose musical ideas into developed songs or frameworks for his electrifying live jams."

HENDRIX, JIMI: The Studio Out-Takes 1966-70 2CD (RR 048CD). $24.00

"The 28 tracks assembled for this double CD were originally released as three individual vinyl LPs, each one reflecting a different period in the brief career of probably rock's greatest guitarist, Jimi Hendrix. These are rare studio out-takes, comprising of forgotten songs, forgotten versions and recordings that were found in studios, lofts, garages and basements. The false starts and abrupt endings are all part of the experience, the magic moments that provide a unique glimpse of one of rock's true sonic explorers in the studio as he endeavours to fashion loose musical ideas into developed songs or as frameworks for his electrifying live jams. So much of Hendrix's musical output was poorly recorded that sonic quality played a significant part in the selection of these tracks. Most sound extremely good, but some, such as 'Angel', which was recorded in Jimi's apartment, are excellent. 48-bit mastering technology was used to enhance the audio quality as much as possible. Here, then, is an opportunity to hear Jimi Hendrix working in the studio, behind closed doors and at various stages in his short career."

HOLMES, JAKE: The Above Ground Sound Of... CD (RR 049CD). $16.00

"When folk-rock singer/songwriter Jake Holmes opened for The Yardbirds in New York in August 1967, little did he suspect that one of his songs, 'Dazed And Confused', would be 'commandeered' by guitarist Jimmy Page and become one of his next band's major live showpieces. The band in question is of course Led Zeppelin, and although The Yardbirds did incorporate the song into their live set, it is the Led Zep version that provided Holmes with his 15 minutes of fame, although Mr Page, clearly suffering from a temporary bout of amnesia, forgetfully claimed the song writing credit himself. Holmes had done the rounds of the New York folk scene, working in bands with the likes of Tim Rose before going solo. His first recording, The Above Ground Sound Of Jake Holmes, originally appeared on the Tower label (ST 5079) in 1967. The album is considered a folk-rock masterpiece, and was described at the time as 'a songwriter, three guitars and a mirror'. The guitars of Holmes, and Irwin (later to play with Elliot Murphy, Roy Buchanan and various country singers) are the only backing for Holmes' voice and the 10 short tracks are outstanding, but especially the sparer, stripped down original version of 'Dazed And Confused'."

HOLMES, JAKE: The Above Ground Sound Of... LP (RR 049LP). $24.00

LP version.

ZERFAS: Zerfas CD (RR 050CD). $16.00

"This album, by the Indianapolis outfit featuring the Zerfas brothers David and Herman, is one of the best and probably the best-known self-pressed US psych albums ever to have seen the light of day. All the material is self-penned which comes as a surprise as the tracks are uniformly strong, with lots of keyboards, sound effects, and some great harmonies. The first side is rather Beatlesque, from the superb backward guitar intro of opening track 'You Never Win' to the first class synthesized rock of 'The Sweetest Part'. Another stand-out track from side 1, 'I Need It Higher', recently found its way onto the CD compilation Love, Peace And Poetry."

ZERFAS: Zerfas LP (RR 050LP). $24.00

LP version.

HENDRIX, JIMI: The LA Forum Concert 26 April 69 2LP (RR 052LP). $35.00

"If a live album had been released before his death, this is the one that Jimi Hendrix would have chosen ahead of all the others. In fact, Hendrix and Eddie Kramer actually prepared mixes of the show, but unfortunately their efforts never saw the light of day in their entirety until now. So here it is. Just two months after the legendary Albert Hall concert in London, Hendrix and the band hit LA six dates into what was to be The Experience's last tour of America. And what a concert it was. Against a backdrop of a belligerent audience doing their best to provoke the police, we are privileged to hear Jimi deliver one of the finest live performances of his career. His dry musical and verbal wit are a delight ('scuse me while I kiss that policeman' he sings during 'Purple Haze'), his timing impeccable, and his tone and control simply sensational. Each song is a tour de force with Hendrix, Noel Redding and Mitch Mitchell unreservedly giving their all to produce a truly memorable performance."

MUSHROOM: Early One Morning CD (RR 053CD). $16.00

New version (previously reissued by Little Wing). "Original copies of this incredible album by Mushroom, the Dublin duo consisting of Pat Collins (violin) and Joe O'Donnell (everything else), fetch hundreds of pounds on the rare occasions that they actually come up for sale. Musically, Early One Morning, originally released in 1973 on the Hawk label (HALPX 116) is a real one off, combining brilliant, heavy progressive rock and psychedelic Irish folk, with blazing guitar leads battling with fiddle attacks. The results are awesome, fully justifying the hefty price tag of an original."

FRACTION: Moon Blood CD (RR 054CD). $16.00

New reissue (previously done by Flashback and Rockaway), "This 1971 release on the Angelus label (Angelus 571) was limited to only 200 copies, so originals are worth a small fortune. Fraction, with vocalist Jim Beach bearing an uncanny vocal resemblance to Jim Morrison (although he was singing on Sunset Strip long before Morrison took to the stage), were often compared favourably with the Doors, although their quasi-religious message would probably not have found favour with the recently-departed Morrison. Indeed, this rather fine album was once famously described as the album the Doors probably wished they had made! Underpinned by guitarist Don Swanson's superb Ritchie Blackmorestyle guitar work, this is an album full of beautiful psychedelia, acid and hard rock, at once emblematic of the era but not dated by its association. The five original compositions are all of the highest quality and the contribution of Beach's Morrison-esque vocals place a stamp of originality on the recording that endures from beginning to end."

FRACTION: Moon Blood LP (RR 054LP). $24.00

LP version, 180 gram vinyl.

SNOW: Snow CD (RR 056CD). $16.00

"Released on the Epic imprint in 1968 (BN26435), the sole, eponymous release by the Cleveland, Ohio outfit Snow, although being very much a record redolent of the period, is also an album of two halves. On the original record, side 1 kicks off with the band's attempt to infiltrate the singles chart with 'Where Has My Old Friend Billy Jones Gone', a folk-psych effort featuring a female vocalist brought in for the occasion, and who's influences clearly included Grace Slick amongst others. The side builds momentum, with its melodic harmonies and short, incisive guitar solos setting the scene for the brilliant Englebert and the clever tempo changes of 'You Let Me Know'. Side 2 is even better, starting with piercing guitar on 'Song Of The Sirens' and culminating with the outstanding 'Caterpillar' which, in the space of three minutes, escorts the listener through a plethora of sound effects, key changes and bold experimentation which still sounds as 'cutting edge' as anything comparable from the period. The band's songs often surface on compilations, but this is the first reissue of the entire album in more than 30 years."

BEAT OF THE EARTH: The Beat of the Earth CD (RR 060CD). $16.00

First ever reissue! "Phil Pearlman, whose Relatively Clean Rivers album (RRLP020) has received universal acclaim, assembled Beat Of The Earth in 1967 with this, their first, eponymous album, appearing on the Radish label (AS0001) in the same year. BOTE is often compared with their illustrious East coast counterparts, The Velvet Underground, an apt comparison given the Velvet's penchant for long, unstructured jams using a myriad assortment of acoustic and electronic instruments. This is the earliest incarnation of the band, and the one that is most familiar to collectors fortunate enough to own a copy of this incredibly rare album. The album consists of a single track per side, and this, the band's recording debut, is considered an unusual and singular item of significance from the California '60s alternative rock scene. Although guitarist Pearlman managed to keep Beat Of The Earth together for much of the remainder of the '60s, it is fair to say that no more 'proper' recordings were made, although Pearlman continued to add to his personal collection of studio recordings, drafting in new musicians for impromptu after-hours recording sessions arranged at short notice. Another fascinating psych album from a true musical innovator."

ERIK: Look Where I Am CD (RR 061CD). $16.00

"During the '60s, Vanguard Records, founded by brothers Maynard and Seymour Solomon, became renowned as the premier folk and blues label of the era, boasting such diverse talents as Joan Baez, The Weavers, Buddy Guy, Doc Watson and Buffy St. Marie. It was clearly the commitment to folk that led the brothers to sign and record the previously and subsequently unknown hippy folk singer, Erik, whose sole musical offering, 1968's Look Where I Am (VRS9267) remains one of the label's undiscovered gems. The 11 tracks on Look Where I Am cover the full range of psych/acid folk, from the strong opening track, with its multi-instrumental backdrop of flute, vibes, horns and bells, to the voice-and-guitar of 'Why Come Another Day' to the heavy fuzz guitar of 'You Said/But I've Got My Way'. There's even a long, soulful Davis-esque muted trumpet passage on 'Lights Across The Field'. The album has a dreamy, almost wistful Donovan-like feel, with tons of acoustic guitar and ethereal flutes."

PRICHARD & GIBALTAR, JOE: Joe Prichard & Gibraltar CD (RR 062CD). $16.00

"Very little is known about Joe Prichard or his sidekicks, except that the band, which hailed from Missouri, drew its inspiration from influences far and wide, resulting in each of the 5 tracks being very different in character, ranging from the power chords and staccato guitar breaks of the Jimmy Page variety, to the throaty sax of 12-bar blues specialists Climax as well as the dual guitars of ZZ Top. There's even a 9-minute jam a la Jethro Tull or Traffic with flute and sax giving a decidedly jazzy feel to proceedings. This is another extremely rare record (only 500 copies were pressed on the private Kendall-Lee label in 1974)."

TOTTY: Totty CD (RR 066CD). $16.00

"From the blistering Southern rock instrumental opener, 'Thus Saith The Lord', to the final chords of 'Somebody Help Me', this explosive album by the Oklahoma-based Totty brothers simply rocks from beginning to end. Dennis and Byron Totty, supported by a revolving door of drummers, rock their way through 9 self-penned tracks as if they're a major headlining act, instead of an obscure duo from Tulsa whose privately-pressed eponymous album from 1977 enjoyed sales of just 50 copies (the number the brothers reportedly pressed!). Rumour has it that the brothers Totty recorded another album later, but it is only on this stylish debut that we are able to make our judgement. Influences are in abundance, but more often than not it is Led Zeppelin's power R&B that we are reminded of, although Lynrd Skynyrd and ZZ Top also spring easily to mind."

DEEP, THE: The Psychedelic Moods of The Deep CD (RR 071CD). $16.00

"The Deep's Psychedelic Moods is probably one of the most fascinating and sought after psychedelic albums of all time, and this Radioactive reissue of the incredibly-rare stereo version is the one that all collectors want to own. The Deep were a Philadelphia-based studio-only band whose one and only album, Psychedelic Moods Of The Deep (Cameo Parkway 7051) was released to critical acclaim in 1966. Conceived and produced by Mark Barkan and Rusty Evans (both of whom were involved in Freak Scene) and the legendary David Bromberg, whose playing credits include just about everybody from Bob Dylan to Jerry Jeff Walker, Psychedelic Moods is hailed as the very first album with a consistent psychedelic theme running throughout. It is even rumoured that the album was recorded in the middle of the night, in a blacked-out studio when the band was more than likely on LSD. The album is incredibly strange, full of weird sound effects, haunting vocals and acid-drenched lyrics. Some critics mistook The Deep for another cult psych band, The Seeds, and tracks such as 'Color Dreams' and 'Your Choice To Choose' do sound a little Seeds-like, and both bands have been widely credited for their influence on The Doors."

VALHALLA: Valhalla CD (RR 074CD). $16.00

"During the '60s United Artists signed a succession of very good bands (Thunder and Roses, Boffalongo and Pookah, for example) but almost invariably neglected to give them the promotion which commercial success demanded. Led by organist and vocalist Mark Mangold, now a celebrated AOR artist, who also composed their material, Valhalla is another of those forgotten groups whose lone album deserves to be rediscovered, mixing as it does heavy rock, prog and psych with heavy, dominant organ and powerful vocals."

LUCAS, TOM: Red Letter Day CD (RR 075CD). $16.00

"Another top-notch release from the series of private label pressings that is becoming an important part of the Radioactive reissue programme, this time by the New York electric folk/rock singer-songwriter, Tom Lucas. Although virtually nothing is known about Lucas, Red Letter Day is an extremely fine album on the New Fate label (New Fate 500) that in all probability the artist funded and distributed himself. The sound is awesome, the song writing tight and occasionally politically motivated (particularly the title track with its eye glancing towards Woody Guthrie's tribute to Sacco and Vanzetti), and the music often risky and experimental. Lucas's vocal style is almost pure Neil Young (although on 'Broken Wheel' his New York roots do make him sound very similar to Lou Reed), and at times Red Letter Day feels almost like the album Young never got around to making. Other influences come up and take a bow without in any way detracting from Lucas's own original style. However, it is the consistently-high standard of just about everything to do with this superb folk/rock album that leaves the listener gasping in disbelief that any record this good has only been heard by the 500 people (and possibly some of their friends) who were fortunate enough to acquire a copy when it was originally released in 1976."

RAFT (UK):

RAUM/B.C. GILBERT: I Play All My Records.../Radiator Plane Bang 7" (RAFT 114). $6.50

"Raum: One of the 500 artists on RRR's 500 Lock Grooves LP. A newly presented electronic artist with a forthcoming full length CD release planned on Raft for later this year. Minimal, electronic, effective. Full title: "I Play All My Records Through The Vac-O-Rec Anti Static Discharge Cleaner". B.C. Gilbert: Bruce Gilbert is a founding member of Wire. Also responsible for a brace of solo releases (including early dance commissions for Michael Clark), collaborations as Dome, P.O., Cupol, etc. with Graham Lewis of Wire. In the mid-nineties acted as the resident DJ for Blast First's Disobey Club (DJ Beekeeper) and performed solo in many electronic festivals. Constantly prolific, his discography is too large to list. His Raft piece is in the context of archive/installation/agitation/field recording/art work."

CATCH 20-22: Catch 20-22 12" (RAFT 120). $10.00

"A random digital group was brought into being and they groove around a semi-tone change and step-time backbeat that was never originally played. From where did this music emerge? This random digital shuffle has located in the familiar and questions the nature of associative identifications...there are no 'samples' on this record. This record was not intentionally structured. Serendipitous indeterminacy creates results beyond the realm of intention. Without any guiding input a 'finished' result occurs, appearing as if by magic. This record was no mistake. But... 'How random is random?'"

VITAMIN B12, THE: System Six/68 x 32 7" (RAFT 122). $6.50

"The Vitamin B12 is Alasdair Willis. Reclusive Brighton based author of contemporary surrealist artifacts. This single was commissioned for Rafts instrumental series, specifically with the 7? medium in mind. The two pieces are vastly contrasting and perhaps some small clue to their aesthetic may be placed within the titles themselves... '68 x 32' is a Musique Concrete assemblage so therefore must be art, and as such it can only be judged by posterity, no one yet can really say what the record is like. 'System Six' is a melodic composition for tuned percussion sounds, with a surprisingly liberating, yet oddly mind-bending ascending motif, which calls on the infinite resources that can be gleaned from careful application of the laws of repetition, that can be gleaned from careful application of the laws of repetition laws of repetition of repetition. This record exists precisely because it was made to be."

RAG & BONE (UK):

NOYEAHNO: The Babylon-don EP 12" (TOTTER 004EP). $9.00

"Erupting from one of the freshest scenes in the last few years, UK garage renamed dub-step, owing to an evolution toward a darker more techy production edge, the leading lights have been a few small labels coming outta South London, and at the forefront is the Rag and Bone label. Totter 4 drops hard and heavy on the deck, kicking off with the aptly named 'Brixton Bells'. Suitably dark, the beats open the 12" with sharp clanging drums creating a steppers rhythm, these build up until the destructive bassline drops and completely mashes it up, this is how you rock a floor. Harking back to the hardcore days of the early 90's with hoover sounds and a direct, hedonistic disregard for subtlety, NoYeahNo crafts amazingly simple yet rocking tracks backed by heavy sounds, searing synths, Brixton bells and some classic little vocal samples."

RAPSTER:

DJ JAZZY JEFF: The Magnificent CD (RAP 008 CD). $16.00

"BBE and Rapster Records proudly present the anticipated first ever solo record by DJ Jazzy Jeff. Already a household name from his work with Will Smith the Fresh Prince and a highly respected producer in Philadelphia celebrated music scene, DJ Jazzy Jeff joins an A-list of producers including Jay Dee, Pete Rock, Will.i.am of the Black Eyed Peas, and Marley Marl as part of the Beat Generation. BBE Records acclaimed series of artist albums focusing on the influences, inspirations, and artistic innovations of some of the most forward-thinking studio masterminds working today. The Magnificent showcases the very best of the Philadelphia Hip Hop/ Soul scene. From the catchy and uplifting first single, 'For the Love of Da Game' featuring Baby Blak and Pauly Yamz, to Jill Scott's palatable prose on 'We Live in Philly', Freddie Foxx's anthemic bravado on 'Scram', and Raheems heartening soul, 'My People, The Magnificent' is an authentic celebration of Jeff's commitment to nurturing the Philadelphia underground."

DJ JAZZY JEFF: The Magnificent (Instrumental) 2LP (RAP 6008 LP). $18.00

"The Magnificent Instrumentals is the authoritative showcase of Jeff's signature sound. Whereas The Magnificent features guest vocals from the very best of the Philadelphia Hip Hop/ Soul scene, this instrumental counterpart focuses on his melodic brand of hip-hop and future soul production."

RASTASCAN:

BRAXTON/GINO ROBBAIR, ANTHONY: Duets 1987 LP (RAST 002). $11.00

Rastascan is a SF-based label, run by percussionist Gino Robair & here are some of their more interesting titles. This first one is the only LP, and it's a slobbering '87 duo performance, in a letterpress sleeve. Limited stock.

PLUTO: Shoe Horse Emerging CD (RAST 014). $13.00

Pluto are a Bay Area collective "psychedelic improv-rock" group: guitars, bass, drums, horns, tapes, vocals, including Ralph Carney & MX-80's Marc Weinstein. Their sound is flowing, charged, occasionally truly surreal and inspired; an ability to pull mundane "jazz," "noise," and "psychedelic" influences into such a big, unique pile, all under an improvised banner is practically unparalleled.

BOISEN, MYLES: Guitar Speak CD (RAST 017). $13.00

Myles is a member of the Splatter Trio and an improv guitarist. This album consists of a lot of short tracks, with numerous guests like Tom Djiil, Marc Weinstein, Lonberg-Holm, Fred Frith, etc. The whole album has the aura of classic Metalanguage-era Kaiser exp. guitar explorations; loud, discordant, vague Beefheartian chatter, all in all, quite good and relatively essential for guitar improv freaks.

VA: Wavelength Infinity: A Sun Ra Tribute 2CD (RAST 018). $20.00

32 artists, spread out over 2 CDs, with all proceeds going to benefit the Arkestra. This has a lot of Bay Area jazz/improv artists (Splatter Trio, Tom Djiil, Rova's Jon Raskin, etc.), some bigger names (Residents, NRBQ, Elliot Sharp, Chadbourne/Carl Black) and much more. Inbetween the music tracks there are a number of Ra poetry recitations by the likes of David Greenberger, Thurston Moore, Malcolm Mooney, Art Hoyle, etc.

SPLATTER TRIO: Hi Fi Junk Note CD (RAST 021). $13.00

"Taking its title from a phrase by William Burroughs in Nova Express, Dave Barrett, Myles Boisen and Gino Robair have edited house of Splatter recordings to create a mix of free jazz, industrial and ambient musical stylings... Splatter has layered these recordings into one 'stream of consciousness' work in a way that is somewhat akin to the 'Plunderphonic' approach developed by John Oswald, but without the legal hassle."

RITUEL: New Music For A New America CD (RAST 022). $13.00

"Experimental music quartet that blends the furious noise of New York free jazz, the crazy rock structures of Captain Beefheart and the rage of Diamanda Galas." Female voice, saxophones, bass, percussion.

ROBAIR, GINO: Singular Pleasures CD (RAST 023). $13.00

"His 2nd solo recording...focuses on new ways of playing the drum set using drumsticks & mallets as well as files, battery powered motors, and motorized kitchen implements...this is percussion music that bubbles, grinds and swells like nature intended. For fans of Zappa's 'Black Page' or Varese's 'Ionization'."

THOMAS/GINO ROBBAIR, OLUYEMI: Unity In Multiplicity CD (RAST 025). $13.00

"A live performance by Positive Knowledge multi-reed player Thomas and Splatter Trio percussionist Robair. Five improvised duos that range from quiet and introspective to raging, furious free jazz offerings."

SAXOPHONE QUARTET, ROVA: Morphological Echo CD (RAST 027). $13.00

"Rova celebrates their 20th anniversary together with the release of one of their most fascinating pieces: 'Maintaining the Web Under Less Than Obvious Circumstances'. Inspired by the game pieces of John Zorn and the conductions of Butch Morris, Rova has developed a complex 'web' of strategies that allows each of the players to direct the group both compositionally and improvisationally. Cues are given using a combination of hand gestures and props that change the rules of each piece as it is being created. Some of these elaborate props include decorative fans, flags and wind-up toys. There are 6 versions of the 'The Web' included on this disc, each going in a radically different direction."

TOHIR & HIS BACKBONE, DAVE: Angels Dancing In Virga CD (RAST 028). $13.00

"The name Backbone is short for feedBACK trombone, an invention of trombonist Dave Tohir. The Backbone is the closest thing any horn player has ever gotten to sounding like Hendrix burning his guitar. Screaming, wailing, diving fighter planes — it's all here, but in the form of a brass instrument." With Gino Robair, Myles Boisen, etc.

GEBBIA, GIANNI: H Portraits CD (RAST 037). $13.00

Solo alto & soprano sax recordings, recorded in Berkeley, 2/28/97. Features various tribute works to Herman Von Helmholtz (German acoustic scientist), Houdini, Ichiruya Hiroshige, Jascha Heifetz (Lithuanian-American violinist), Julius Hemphill, David Hilbert (German mathematician), Christiaan Huygens, Werner Heisenberg, Katsushika Hokusai & Lewis Carroll. A pleasant listening experience, especially considering the context (solo sax recordings). With extended drone techniques, etc.

CONNAH, GRAHAM: My God Has Fleas CD (RAST 040). $13.00

"This CD is his second, and finds him moving in the direction of Carla Bley and Sun Ra's big band (he appears on our Wavelength Infinity — Sun Ra Tribute CD). Snaky melodies, tumbling rhythms, and very hot soloing by Ben Goldberg (clarinet), Trevor Dunn (bass) and Rob Sudduth (saxophones)."

GEBBIA/GARTH POWELL/DAMON SMITH, GIANNI: People In Motion CD (RAST 044). $13.50

"An elegant trio session featuring Sicilian saxophone legend Gianni Gebbia, teamed up with Ritual percussionist Garth Powell and Oakland bassist Damon Smith. This is not your typical horn/rhythm section session. Each player expands the sound of the instrument in ways that defy description — and make it difficult for the listener to tell who's playing what."

RASTER MUSIC (GERMANY):

SCANNER: 20' To 2000 CD (RASTER 023). $14.00

8th release (August 1999) in this monthly series. One twenty minute piece, "Cystic", written by Robin Rimbaud. Nicely developed droning electronics and nothing to be afraid of. Limited stock.

VAINIO, MIKA: 20' To 2000 CD (RASTER 025). $14.00

Tenth release (October) in this monthly series "about the cutting edge of the millenium". No track info supplied. Mika Vainio is the other half of Pan Sonic, alongside Ilpo Vaisanen.

COH: Vox Tinnitus 2X7" (RASTER 029EP). $14.00

Double 7" version (CD version is o/p), limited to 500 copies. "Ivan Pavlov (aka COH) lives in Sweden and works as an acoustic engineer. Guests featured on this release include Peter Christopherson & John Balance (aka COIL providing vocals & lyrics respectively) on track 2 — described by Ivan as 'a beautiful true love song', and Little Annie Anxiety (vocals & lyrics) on track 4."

SIGNAL: Centrum CD (RASTER 030). $14.00

Part of the Raster Static series. "Signal is a special project from the member of Raster-Noton, Carsten Nicolai/Noto, Frank Bretschneider/Komet and Olaf Bender/Byetone. The music is a result of improvisation during playing."

DEUPREE, TAYLOR: Polr CD (RASTER 031). $14.00

Part of the Raster Static Series. "I's nano-rhythmic with filigree defects, minimal and digital. Taylor Deupree is the member of 12k records n.y.c."

NOTO: Telefunken CD (RASTER 032). $14.00

Part of the Raster Clear Series (first one in a while). "OK. Noto won the 'Golden Nica' (highest honors' at the Prix Ars Electronica festival) this year. This is a mixed-media Noto EP. Mixed media in that there's both audio and visual information on the CD. How you use this CD is you wire your CD player into your VCR, the left channel into the video input, the right into the audio input (although its irrelevant which you plug where as they're identical signals). Then you sit back and you watch, and you listen, and you learn. And it works. Sonically it's a series of rising tones and test jolts. Visually it's a bunch of wavering (damn helical scan) horizontal lines of growing thickness, occasional bursts of pure white, often complete darkness (echoes of Kubelka's 'Arnulf Rainer' abound). It's either a carefully plotten exercise or a complete happy accident. Highly enjoyable either way, especially in shuffle mode (some tracks are very short, others are longer)." — Hrvatski.

SENKING: Trial CD (RASTER 035). $14.00

"Jens Massel aka Senking, Fumble, Kandis has established to an integral part of Cologne music scene during the last two years. Creating music far away from the typical party sound or subtle humoristic style of label A-musik the 'Sound of Cologne' gained a lot from him. Trial, the latest release of his Senking project, is an attempt to go into the field of 'clicks and errors' where he puts his main interest on creating songs, density and deepness. The tracks are a kind of tale — nearly melodies and quotes from dub integrated in a tension that works with dynamics. Send through effect tools again and again and replied up it's rather about expression and carrying personal trademarks than technical process. The guitar in the last track is thus logically the consequence of the ambition of the release."

MOKIRA: Cliphop CD (RASTER 036). $14.00

"Andreas Tillander works as a music assistant at a Swedish music company and already took part in some productions. He cooperated with Mikael Stavöstrand (Mitek, Staalplaat, etc.) for few times but lately he is involved in his own projects Komp, Mokira. As Mokira it's his debut release on label Raster-Noton. Coming from hard industrial music he has always been more interested in sounds rather than songs. Nevertheless the rhythmic tracks on Cliphop circle around a tangible groove. Digital crackling, fragmented hard disk statics provide the sampler. Enclosed in ultra-low baselines it spreads out warmth. The sometimes quite long tracks increase straightly to compact arrangements that let you flex within the music."

LIPPOK, ROBERT: Open Close Open CD (RASTER 037). $14.00

"Open Close Open, the title of Robert Lippok's latest release can obviously be seen in the context of daily maxims: instructions as you can find on packaging, household appliance, stereo systems and other operating instructions. Nevertheless Open Close Open also stands in connection with making things like space and perception accessible to yourself — and therefore with the opening of a fictitious memory. On this release analogue field recordings, digital remains and cultural fragments are condensed into an acoustic space. The call of crows and door slamming noises meet looped soundpieces from a minidisc recorder and samples from a Mahler-symphony."

VON HAUSWOLFF, CARL MICHAEL: Ström CD (RASTER 038). $14.00

"There has been a connection between Carl Michael and Raster-Noton since the early days of the label. First meeting was at Documenta X in Kassel in 1997 where Carsten Nicolai, Olaf Bender, Frank Bretschneider, Mika Vainio and C.M.V. Hausswölff came together to do a spontaneous session at Kassel Autospindel. Their common interest in focusing on underrated qualities of sound or music has brought them together. Above all Carl Michael Von Hauswollfs work is about presentation of static quality of his sounds. A fluent flux of energy. The presence of a sound as aesthetic statement. Even so Hauswollfs release on Raster-Noton is about 'ström'. A 50 minutes basswall that causes different reactions while listening, but always somehow changing the time as frame, manipulating your feelings depending on listening situation."

Ø + NOTO: Wohlt temperiert CD (RASTER 039). $14.00

"All music by Mika Vainio and Carsten Nicolai. Recorded between 1998-2000 in New York and Berlin." The followup to the early Raster classic Mikro Makro, another collaboration between Pansonic's Mika Vainio (whose releases under the Ø moniker on Sähkö pretty much set the contemporary standard for the modern electronic pulse) and the Raster founder Carsten Nicolai. Beautifully packaged in a clear plastic case (this is part of the Raster Clear series) inserted into a printed card jacket with a drawing by Ralph Nicolai. "Most of the material for this release was created in NYC in winter '98. Their friend Larry Seven provided the equipment. so very spontaneous and open tracks have been arranged. Compared to their first album Mikro Makro which was a concept for architecture, public space this latest release is more about private working modus, working condition — 'moments-notices' of analog machines. Maybe it's the rough winter in New York that provided the somehow dark elements for this release." Last copies.

ALVA NOTO AND OPIATE: Opto Files CD (RASTER 040). $9.00

"Thomas Knnak aka Opiate is one of the most acclaimed artists coming from Denmark. In the early beginning of the 90ies he started as a DJ, establishing himself as one of the first to bring ambient, electronica and drum'n baas to the clubs. As a keyfigure in electronic music field he has been working on several projects like compiling 'boredom is deep and mysterious' series with Anders Remmer (Dub Tractor), his own band Future 3 and solo as Opiate. Since 1999 he is running his own label Hobby Industries. His debut Objects For An Ideal Home has been considered as an electronic landmark. Among the people to recognize his talent outside Denmark are Björk, Bomb the Bass, Piano Magic and Carsten Nicolai aka Noto. Thomas has since worked with all of them in different collaborations. Tracks from Future 3 were remixed by people like Coldcut. His release on Raster-Noton came into being through e-mail contact. Files had been exchanged and the material had been remixed. So a CD with a lyric elements had been created. Digital sounds arise 'satisfied' abstract melodies without getting lost in playroom-charm. The mixture between Noto's mathematic structures and Opiate's pop-qualities is well done. The EP spreads out a dark warmth which follows the typical static series sound." 33-minute EP

CYCLO: CD (RASTER 041). $14.00

"On the occasion of a New Forms series of concerts in 1999 Ryoji Ikeda and Carsten Nicolai did their first joint performance at Galerie Für Zeitgenössische Kunst Leipzig/ Germany — the project Cyclo. was founded. Between 1999 and 2001 files had been exchanged, material was collected and tracks were made. Cyclo. sets up a priority on digital quality of the tracks. Selective use of automated processes like the overlapping of loops and their falsification through wrong calculation or incorrect condensation algorithms, errors and the translation into rudimentary rhythmic constellations is the result of their work. The error itself becomes topic of this first release from Cyclo."

BASINSKI, WILLIAM: The River 2CD (RASTER 048). $16.00

"The River is the culmination of William Basinski's shortwavemusic experiments. It was recorded in real time in 1983 using tape loops and shortwave radio static. The loops were all culled from the airwaves, short bits of string melody taken from the Muzak radiostation, slowed down and mixed live to cassette from two 50's Norelco reel-to-reel decks with a random accompaniment of shifting shortwave radio static. 'Growing up in the 70's, with a love for the lush sound of the Mellotron, but not having the pocketbook to own one, I decided to try to create my own. I had heard that the sounds were recorded on tape loops, so I began recording small bits of lush strings from intros and interludes in Muzak songs touse as my keys. The aspect of pulling all the sounds from the airwaves, to create something from nothing, fascinated me. With these elemental, organic loops that I had saved aside for The River, I was attempting to record the music of the spheres. The 90 minute length was decided by the length of the two sides of the cassette. The idea was to have a piece which could repeat endlessly creating an eternal, meditative womb of tranquility.'" "

NIBO: con. duct. spc. trm CD (RASTER 049). $14.00

"The young Japanese artist Nibo lives and works in Tokyo/Japan where he also has his own label 'n160'. Since 1997 he has been working on sound and visual projects where he puts special interest on scientific mathematical features. His release on Raster-Noton is a Macintosh programmed mixed mode CD connecting audio and visual components. Minimal digital sounds are transformed into images which are generated from the soundwaves. Geometric forms get their parameters directly from the audio signals. Raster-Noton's idea was to document this basic working concept because it shows the current aesthetic, multimedia and technic level of those approaches. Even though his release follows the tradition of Ikeda's and Nicolai's live performance work Nibo is part of the Japanese generation that seem to have found their own way to work with sound and image."

ALVA NOTO + RYUICHI SAKAMOTO: Vrioon CD (RASTER 050). $14.00

"During his first live tour in Japan, Carsten Nicolai met Ryuichi Sakamoto in Tokyo. A year after it happened that he was asked to remix material from Sakamoto for the Japanese magazine Code Unfinished. "...The material that was given to me was already layered with digital effects. From one little clean piano piece I made the first track. Those simple piano chords I combined with a clear rhythm constellation. Somehow Ryuichi was very surprised and really liked my work. Weeks later he sent me another specially for this project recorded track." This was the beginning of an almost 2 year process of music exchange and creation. Vrioon is very relaxing, it opens rooms, landscapes blur before listeners eyes. Static rhythmic pieces circle round and vary one and the same theme that, with its impressionistic sphere, reminds of soundtracks and ambient compositions. In this cooperation 2 different generations meet and share the idea of electronic music as an inspiration source for new musical structures."

ALVA NOTO + RYUICHI SAKAMOTO: Vrioon LP (RASTER 050LP). $14.00

LP Version, clear vinyl/clear sleeve. Limited stock.

VA: weltecho.box 2CD (RASTER 052). $15.00

CD1: Robert and Ronald Lippok, William Basinski. CD2: Lumen, Errorsmith. "The artistic emancipation of noise in the sense of organised sound effects was achieved as early as 1913. At least since the technological development of sampling once can not think of popular music without the notion of organised noise. At four exhibitions held at the Chemnitz gallery Voxxx between April and September 2002 musicians experimented with electronically generated tones in the context of an artistic space. So unsynchronised film projectors (Weltecho was also the name of a former cinema in Chemnitz) for example created rhythmic structures for sound oscillations. The curator of Weltecho, German artist and musician Carsten Nicolai, stands for many instances of interaction between music and the fine arts and is well established in both disciplines. Nicolai helped set the wheels in motion for

Weltecho, in which, amongst other things, the ten-year history of the Voxxx project — an amalgamation of film, music, theatre, the arts and communication — is reflected upon."

SENKING: Tap CD (RASTER 053). $14.00

"With his new album Tap Senking expands his personal style in a consistent manner. Atmospheric fields and brief fragments of melody are again and again combined with autonomous, multiple piled, percussive sound particles. Nevertheless Tap has nothing to do with producer attributes like 'clicks and cuts' or 'microsound'. Senking knows how to hide the technological aspect of these purely electronic tracks. He stresses the more timeless and more important facet of his compositions — the atmosphere. Openly structured tracks flow, fill the space and produce a certain density communicating very privately with the listener. Jens Massel aka Senking lives and works in Cologne, Germany. Besides the 'Senking' project he regularly works under the pseudonym of 'Kandis' and 'Fumble'. Tap is a hundred per cent studio album in contrast to the Rasterpost predecessor Forge."

KOMET: Gold 12" (RASTER 053 EP). $15.00

12" vinyl LP version. Includes exclusive versions not found on the full-length album.

PIXEL: Display CD (RASTER 057). $16.00

"Pixel aka Jon Egekov was born in Denmark in 1973. He studied jazz at Copenhagen Conservatory with saxophone as his main instrument. These studies allowed an unconventional approach to modern electronic music. He mixes swing and complex polyrhythmic structures. He employs Indian metres like the 'Konnakol' and creates correlations to tightly quantized music. Display shows that he knows how to ad-lib with melodic lines, to spontaneously wind and melt these lines into each other again and again. On his debut album, Pixel succeeds in keeping a balance between sensitive lyrical melodies and lively vibrant rhythm patterns. He establishes relationships between them and aggressive digital sounds as well as static waveforms. So he creates an energetic music which carries many elements of jazz in a vivid way."

MODUL: Isol CD (RASTER 058). $16.00

"Donnacha Costello lives and works in Dublin. Beside his own label minimise he releases also on Mille Plateaux and Force Inc. At Raster-Noton he uses the pseudonym Modul. Isol keeps a deep inside structure. Wide loops go beyond the borders of the first three tracks, so that they seem to grow together to an united piece. Nevertheless, breaking up rhythm makes the boundaries perceptible. In 'Shift I' the oscillating loop-universe is kept down on the bottom by a syncopated rhythm: a futuristic Bossa-version! 'Shift II' gets a different, more agile rhythm-figure. A tiny melody-phrase, which becomes more and more intensive, emerges in front of that figure. In this way, an idea, formulated by Einstürzende Neubauten, becomes acoustic reality: 'Das Lied schließt in der Maschine' (the song is sleeping in the machine). Clear seems to divide Isol in two segments and it figures as a caesura. The rhythm includes a static noise, giving the track a virulent character. 'Kkun I' opens the second part of Isol and is aside from 'Shift II' the other great track, referring to the abundant creation and especially the atmosphere. It is a digitized deep-sea-landscape. The idea, to put the voice of a woman in this digital world is very efficient. The rhythm rears up to a pulse beat, on the climax appears a voice of mikroskopische size. 'Kkun II' refers to this sphere and grows together with 'Kkun I' to an organic-living unit. The mathematical-digital process, presented at the beginning of Isol, is woven into a biomorphic emotional experience."

BOGHOSIAN, HERVE: Mouvements CD (RASTER 059). $14.50

"With Mouvements the artist Herve Boghossian presents his newest work. Regarding the technique of composition as well as the acoustic effect, the album is an exception. Starting point is a guitar-composition played live into computer as one track. In a second step the composition is re-worked using plug-in-effects. The result are gliding sounds. A pleasant harmonic take in the glassy-metallic sound — a far reminiscence of the primary of the guitar-composition. Thus the complete album becomes a real transcendence. Structures of tact where completely dissolved. The magnetic-acoustic stream get a wide perspective. Several titles commenting the tracks and show, how they belong together in a deeper sense. Track I 'Mouvement Aerien' (airy movement) carries the music to the listener. Until Track IV a shift of accent is remarkable. This cumulate in Track V 'Organe Ouvert' (open voice - the core and climax of the album. The significant atmosphere of this Track is taken up once again in Track VII 'Memoire Cyclique' (cyclic remind). From this point on the music seems to go away from the listener, a process which ends after 'Fin de Conversation' (Track IX). It leaves him, flying away in a 'Mouvement Aerien', leaves him behind with a strange-thoughtful feeling, alone. Herve Boghossian lives and works in Paris."

RASTER NOTON: Oacis BOOK/CD (RASTER OACIS). $28.00

"Following the Noto book Polyphoto, Raster produces a dedication to it's entire label. Oacis: optics acoustics calculated in seconds, a 104 - page catalog, 4 - colour print with a stitched matt cellophane paperback. It is accompanied with articles by Susanne Binas, Martin Pesch, Rob Young, Pinky Rose and Peter Kraut. Artist group Raster-Noton will be presenting its working models on the cutting edge of electronic music, art and serial production. A CD+ with audiotracks from the artists and multimedia data for Macintosh will be included. The book appeared on the occasion of taktlos 2000 bern/switzerland. Catalog, 17 cm x 23 cm, German/English. Includes audio CD with tracks by COH, Noto, Komet, Byetone."

COH: Mask of Birth LP (RASTERVYR026). $14.50

Vinyl-only release that represents one of the first works from Ivan Pavlov, recorded in Nov. '97 to August '98. Fourth part in the Raster Static Series, packaged in a clear plastic sleeve, with a gold folded art sheet, black vinyl. "COH aka Ivan Pavlov, actually born in Russia — lives and works in Sweden, his cultural roots are in his mother country — that means he himself feels more a rapport to the Russian avantgarde than to the Western rock-pop tradition. As a qualified acoustic coupler he is very involved in developing different possibilities for soundsynthese-types; he has a way to compose rare tones to an ensemble which shows more of a lyrical than comic association (ie. not 'artificial intelligence'). Meanwhile, his live acts can be seen in Germany. He is a member of artist group of Raster-Noton. Mask of Birth is his debut work although 2 other releases (Enter Tinnitus & Vox Tinnitus) have come earlier. This album is a very personal record which he dedicated to his daughter. Written and recorded by Ivan Pavlov/COH. It was very hard to cut these frequency ranges on vinyl."

RASTER MUSIC/KANGAROO (GERMANY):

LIIMA: Version 1/2 10" (RASTER 043). $10.00

"Kangaroo is the label of the Finn Ilpo Vaisanen.7", 10" and 12" that have a strong connection to the Jamaican dubstyle are to be released on this label Raster-Noton is in charge of. All releases will be limited to 1000 pieces. These 10" are to start this series off. Spontaneity and typical Pansonic elements show that Liima's version are not a simple adaption of a style but rather more have a spiritual kinship to the dub producing technics. The rough beauty of those tracks automatically remembers on numerous 7" releases of the Jamaican scene."

LIIMA: Version 3/4 10" (RASTER 044). $10.00

Second volume in this series.

RATHER INTERESTING (GERMANY):*FLEXTONE: 10th Anniversary Box 2CD (RI 023CLCD). $23.00

Classic Atom Heart material, from 1994 - 2004, limited to 900 copies. Features a reissue of RI 023 (Flexitone — which was the first CD on RI), plus an entire 2nd CD of unreleased material. Disc One: originally released in 1994. Disc Two: alternative versions, outtakes, unused and abandoned music 1994-1998. Autographed and numbered limited edition. "It was 10 years ago, when prolific composer and producer Atom Heart decided to found his own label Rather Interesting in order to become independent from record company capricious which he had experienced over the years. The first release was the CD Flexitone, back then limited to 500 copies and quickly sold out. Due to the high demand Atom decided to re-release this album, freshly remastered at 24-bit, together with a collection of unreleased materials he had come across while listening through tons of recordings, stored on DAT cassettes, laying around in his vast archive. Both albums, limited to 900 copies, autographed and numbered by the artist himself, accompanied by a booklet which shows detailed information, artwork, liner notes (written by James Dean Brown), released as RI 023 CL will initiate a new series of R.I. releases called 'Rather Interesting Classics', which will mainly contain both, the R.I. back catalogue as well as long out-of-print releases by Atom, previously issued on other labels."

THE DISK ORCHESTRA: [K] CD (RI 057). $15.00

"One of Atom's his most demanding works. The Disk Orchestra is a 50 minute continuous flow of audio, bouncing between cut-up, collage, composition and ridiculous surprises. Those 50 minutes of sound are composed out of 99 tracks, some of them as short as 4 seconds. 'The most difficult part' states Atom? 'was to come up with 99 tracktitles'. Amongst the 99 segments the astonished listener will find modified J. S. Bach pieces (computerfuge), a reprise of Johann Strauss' 'blue danube' as well as either abstract or rhythmical pieces touching almost any musical style known to mankind. Amongst the masterpieces on this album may be the track 'philip's fill' a 1:30 minute rollercoaster ride through drummers madness, created editing (no overdubs!) drumfill samples."

VA: Real Intelligence IV CD (RI 059). $15.00

"On this compilation you will find the 1999-2001 highlights, which surprised and inspired listeners during the last couple of years: Dos Tracks, Erik Satin, Los Samplers, XXX, BDP, Midisport, The Disk Orchestra and the Roger Tubesound Orchestra. As if this was not enough, rather interesting decided to include 4 previously unreleased bonus titles which make this compilation a 'must have' for all those who like the sound and of 'R.I.'. The bonus titles 'space bossa', 'mambo si, trabajo no!', 'affirmative' and 'hypnotize' perfectly complete this selection of 'r.i.' classics, ranging from Latino influenced compositions via abstract funkiness to electro." The four bonus tracks are all produced by Atom? (as is every other track on this compilation, of course), under the image/name of "Real Intelligence IV"; 26 minutes of exclusive music.

STEREONERDS, THE: HD Endless CD (RI 060). $15.00

"It all started early 2002, when The Stereoners, based in Melbourne, Australia, made a couple of tracks which contained samples from Atom's 'Harddisk Rock' 12". John and Tad decided to write to Atom himself and ask for permission to use the samples on an album they had been working on. To their surprise Atom liked what he heard and soon both parties got into closer contact. Now, a couple of months and hundreds of emails later, Rather Interesting proudly presents you HD Endless. The Stereoners manage to expand the way too narrow classification called electro. Tracks such as 'HD Endless', 'Transhuman Melody' or 'Präzision' evoke futuristic flashbacks, utilizing well known musical references which are skillfully twisted into unheard digital masterpieces...from down under."

CARBON, LISA: Standards CD (RI 061). $16.00

"Producer and executive programmer: Atom. Lisa Carbon plays Moog. a remarkable sonic cocktail that refines the artistic approach of the previous album Trio de Janeiro in a very interesting way. In fact the new album is a kind of 'flashback signal' that reflects essential aspects of the earlier RI catalogue like Machine Paisley, Midisport or the first Senor Coconut album published in May 1997. Beside the jazzy style and latin mood transported by most of the songs the album also features a wide spectrum of technical experiments that are characteristic of the whole RI catalogue: The listener is confronted with humorous electronic freestyle-tracks such as 'Duck-Cha Cha' (with sampled voices and moog-sounds imitating Donald Duck), 'Gagarin' (with late 60s backward-tape experiments and 'serious sci-fi-electronic space music' in the middle part of the song) and 'A Bailer el Tape-Charleston, perhaps the most experimental track of the CD; an eccentric cut-up of harddisc electronics combined with samples similar to animated cartoons — incredible. Even a song by David Bowie is featured on the album — 'Space Oddity' — a wonderful soft and light synth-journey with added guitars and electronic latin rhythms, sometimes interrupted by strange digital chords — perhaps the climax of the album. The last song 'Fiesta En Belo Horizonte' almost morphes to the musical style of Senor Coconut's latest production Fiesta Songs? the perfect outro of the newest masterpiece by the innovatress Lisa."

RAUM MUSIK (GERMANY):*DIGGLER, D.: Feel My Heat CD (RAUM 014CD). $15.00

"New full length CD by Germany's D. Diggler, compiling a couple of his 12" singles for Raum Musik as well as tacking on a few unreleased tracks. D. Diggler is one Andreas Mügge, and though at first glance this might look like the new DJ Assault record with titles like 'Girls & Money', 'Silicone' and 'Superpussy', it's actually a pretty great collection of tracks in a non-vocal tech house vein, kind of mellow and funky as hell. A lot of the best tracks here seem like they might emanate from the Harvest school, smooth, with a throbbing bassline and/or guitar loop, with the occasional Doctor Who style electro driftage mixed in for good measure. And I don't really know the exact chronology of these tracks, but by the second half of the CD Andreas gets pretty damn deep — extended intros, a few subtle vertigo inducing loops, much 'sexier' than the titles of the tracks imply. Satisfying." — Billy Kiely. Tracklisting: "CherryPoppers" (unreleased edit), "Feel My Heat", "Babydoll", "Superpussy" (shaved edit), "Lovemachine", "Boogiemonster", "Boobybuster", "Angeldust", "Girls & Money", "French Bikini", "Silicone", "Foxy Lady" (previously unreleased).

DIGGLER, D.: Feel My Heat 2LP (RAUM 014LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

VA: Prasentiert Vol. 3 CD (RAUM 018CD). $15.00

Compilation of prior 12" tracks, plus exclusives by this this euphoria-obsessed minimal techno label, based in Frankfurt Tracks by famous Raum artists like: Unai, Kingsize XS, Michael Langlois and Mike Pung. Plus exclusive tracks by: Licht & Schatten, Dave, Hisashi Ito, Tojami Sessions, Dub Taylor and D. Diggler. And a D. Diggler videoclip of his anthem "Babydoll".

DIGGLER, D.: Microcrystal 12" (RAUM 019). $9.00

"The A side is a nice grooving techhouse-track which one can relate to the sound of Marco Carola's Question releases. It's basically the strings and samples creating a nice mood here. It's a very functional track. B1 is more some kind of minimal track with certain samples and decent shuffles. It is very reduced, but through this it also brings good tool abilities. On B2 D.Diggler returns to his specialty, the Basic Channel inspired dub style. It is a mellow track, in which mainly the delays create a very deep atmosphere. Again he is capable of developing his own personal note within the tracks. Altogether Andreas Muegge proves that that he is definitely one of Germany's most talented producers of the post Basic Channel era!"

TAYLOR, DUB: Forms & Figures CD (RAUM 020CD). $15.00

"Under the alias Dub Taylor, the 26 year old Alex Krüger from Berlin has been known for verb-chord based techhouse-tracks for quiet a time now. After numerous releases on different labels like United States of Mars, Force Tracks, Raum?musik, and Konfekt he had a good reputation. As a result, the long awaited album of Dub Taylor was born? . Forms & Figures is capable of presenting all the different faces from Dub Taylor. On the album you can find deep-tracks (with sweet female-vocals) alongside with harder minimal-tracks. Between that, you will discover certain, nice intros (gimmicks), listening-stuff for the use at home. But he is also paying tribute to the roots with a fat, classic dub-track. On Forms & Figures, he gives every single-track an own special character which keep a charming variety through the whole album."

DIGGLER, D.: 12" (RAUM 022). $9.00

Four track EP of Diggler reduction, all info in Japanese! Features "new edits of 'Superpussy', 'CherryPoppers', 'Boogiemonster', 'Babydoll'."

LICHT & SCHATTEN: Lichtblick 12" (RAUM 023). $9.00

"It's got everything it takes for a good Raum release. Effective dubby minimal."

DIGGLER, D.: Early Years 12" (RAUM 024). $9.00

Repress of a recent Diggler 3-track EP. "Phat chords, subtle melodies & irresistible beats. A true Diggler smasher."

DIGGLER, D.: 2LP (RAUM 027LP). $16.00

Second full length album on Raum for Diggler, following up the classic Feel My Heat album. "In 1998 Diggler launched the first production of Raum?musik. His production style is similar to The Modernist, or the Kompakt releases from Cologne. You can also find in nearly every production dub-references like the Basic Channel-Crew in Berlin did. But still he gives his tracks something very unique. It often seems as though he gives his tracks that bit of extra euphoria." [CD version forthcoming]

DIGGLER, D.: Sounds Fiction CD (RAUM 036CD). $15.00

"D.Diggler is known for his his continous development of sound quality. With a larger variety in style he is able to even precise his tracks and their sound. On Sounds Fiction D.Diggler is redefining the rather too often heard term 'minimal dub techhouse' — and gives it a new meaning. Compared to Atomic Dancefloor, where most of the tracks were more tool based, Sounds Fiction has a lot more tunes with a 'classic' song structure, meaning arrangement, single sounds and the melodies. The songs have a lot more variety, but without never losing the club aspect. Andreas Mügge has used his experiences as a DJ — worldwide and produced an album where he blends several influences and gives them, his own very special brand. Sounds Fiction is a well developed album — probably his best so far? "

DIGGLER, D.: Sounds Fiction 2LP (RAUM 036LP). $16.00

Double vinyl version.

VA: Raum Musik Presents #5 CD (RAUM 039 CD). $18.00

"Raum..Musik was founded more than five years ago. The first release of the label was a compilation called Raum..Musik Präsentiert #1 to define the label's taste and style. Based somewhere between minimal, house, techno and dub and always open for surprises. The compilation featured tracks by well known artists like for example Rhythm & Sound or Beanfield among new artists based around the owners of the label. One of these artists was D.Diggler with his legendary tune 'Boogie Monster'. His first single 'Love Motel' followed shortly after that. The success of the label quickly increased and so today we can look back on an exclusive artist roster with acts like D.Diggler, Dub Taylor, Dick Richards just to mention a few, almost 30 singles, 5 albums and now 4 compilations. For it's 5th anniversary the label now presents a small collection of it's biggest moments which only have been released on vinyl until now." Artists: D.Diggler, Dub Taylor, Junkie Sartre, Olavi, Dorian Paic, and Dick Richards.

DUB KULT: On And On 12" (RAUM 041EP). $9.00

"After the massive success of his recent release on Warp's new sub label Arcola, which was picked by DJ's like Sven Väth, Ricardo Villalobos and Andrew Weatherall all over last year's summer, we are now very proud to enable Dub Kult's first release on a German label. Dub lives in London, his real name is Neilon Pitamber and he works as a DJ since the mid-nineties. His style could be described as edgy deep tech, which also has it's roots in house. The two main songs on this single are called 'On and On' and 'Blue', beside those you find some other short interludes as a special DJ Gimmick. 'On and On' catches the listener with it's twisted, psychedelic vocals, 'Blue' is more crispy, tool based, but always surprises with it's arrangement and builds a good contrast to the a-side."

CHARDRONNET: Ledge 12" (RAUM 042EP). $9.00

"Patrick Chardonnet lives close to Stuttgart, Germany and this single is his first release ever. He presents three tracks, which are all very different from each other, which also indicates his large musical capability and variety. The a-side 'Ledge' is a more old school sounding techno tune with slight house references. B1 'Knisterboogie' is sound wise based on more recent minimal techno, but the very pumping kick and the unbelievable dryness give it also a very special note, if compared to others. B2 'Digit' is a more experimental based track without using any kick drum."

RAW VISION (UK):*RAW VISION: #11 MAG (RAW 11). $9.50

Raw Vision is a UK-based "International Journal of Intuitive and Visionary Art, Outsider Art, Art Brut, Contemporary Folk Art, Self Taught Art". Published quarterly, it definitely rates as one of the most beautifully produced magazines ever, printed in full color on lovely heavy-matte stock. Each issue has mind blowing visual features on obscure and previously unknown artists from around the world, heavily recommended. Cover feature of #11 is on Joe Coleman; also featured: Minnie Evans, Nicolae Popa (folk carvings), Environments in British Columbia, constructions of Genevieve Seille.

RAW VISION: #12 MAG (RAW 12). $9.50

#12 features Mose Tolliver (Alabama folk artist), "The Hidden Costs of Outsider Art", John Baptist Greco (designer of the miniature city of Holy Land), "Mexico: Days Of The Dead," "The Watford Shell Garden," etc.

RAW VISION: #14 MAG (RAW 14). $10.50

RAYGUN:

FABRICE LIG PRES. BUG ORCHESTRA: Electro Shop CD (RG 013CD). $15.00

"Fab Lig presents Electro Shop under his alter ego Bug Orchestra. In all 15 tracks you'll find a sweet-smooth atmosphere combined with wild 808 drum patterns and some sweet vocoder-vocals, all together making the album a classic. A perfect fusion between 80's electro-funk, Chicago-house, and Detroit-techno with Fabrice's typical handwriting. After his latest release under his alter ego Soul Designer for Laurent Garnier's F-Com, Fabrice is definitely one of the hottest new producers/DJs of our time. The new kid on the block without any doubt. With Electro Shop, Fabrice shows once more his talent to merge deep soundscapes and funky rhythms into a beautiful piece of music."

LIG, FABRICE: Roots of the Future CD (RG 017 CD). $16.00

"After his successful Soul Designer album on F-Com last year Belgium's greatest export returns to grace Oliver Kapp's rather fine Raygun imprint with a timely retrospective album of his Detroit edged contributions from the past few years, spiced up with 10 new unreleased cuts. Obviously then, this is classic Fabrice all over, laden with tight 909 driven percussion (enhanced with the occasional Latin contribution), walking synth basslines, lush strings, and, of course portamento drenched 101 lead lines. As always with this man too, this album is pure Detroit, retaining all the essential elements of that classic sound — unique, stark programming, jazzy melodic textures, and an ample dose of electronically induced soul."

RCA (GERMANY):

WU-TANG: Reunited — The Remixes CD (RCA 604172). $10.00

Now available on CD. German-only EP with 4 remixes by Hithunter, Westbam, Zulutronic (Jammin' Unit & Kerosene) and Funkstörung(!), plus the original version of this classic binged-out track from Wu-Tang Forever.

REED, LOU: Metal Machine Music CD (RCA 90670). $10.00

Older version, reduced price. The 1975 album that is Lou's defining moment in his oft-derailed quest for human attainment and the one unquestionable artifact of supreme art that allows him to achieve perfect slumber whenever he dares to attempt to shut his eyes. You're only going to buy one Lou Reed album this decade and this it. An "Electronic Instrumental Composition" split into 4 sides, specifications as follows: "Sony 1/2 track Uher 1/4 track Pioneer 1/4 track 5 piggyback Marshall Tube Amps in Series Arbitor distortor (Jimi's) Marantz Preamps Marantz Amps Altec Voice of America Monitor speakers Sennheiser Headphones Drone cognizance and harmonic possibilities via a vis Lamont(sic) Young's Dream Music Rock orientation, melodically disguised, i.e. drag Avoidance of any type of atonality. RD (SWITZERLAND):

MELTZER, DAVID & TINA: Green Morning CD (RD 01CD). $16.00

"David and Tina Meltzer, the leaders of Serpant Power, from San Francisco recorded an album in 1969 for Capitol records which was never released. Music goes into Serpant Power direction — same fantastic songwriting, great acid folk tunes and crystal clear voice of Tina make it to an outstanding album, better than the Poet Song on Vanguard. Contains detailed bio and is from the original mastertape."

MELTZER, DAVID & TINA: Green Morning LP (RD 05). $19.00

LP version.

HAYMARKET RIOT: Live 67 LP (RD 07). $19.00

LP-only release of previously unreleased recordings by this SF group, not to be confused with Haymarket Square. Packaged in a deluxe textured gatefold sleeve. "This band was introduced in the Cream Puff War magazine by Alec Palao a couple of years ago under 'Berkeley, the class of '66'. They started with Rolling Stones and Animals cover version but the material soon mutated under the growing influence of the psychedelic trend across the Bay. The beat stayed but the sound changed. They were featured at the legendary 'First Unitarian Church of Kensington' shows in late 67 and early 68. The music here was recorded at this place in December 1967. Bill Graham sums up the Riot's illustrious, if low-profile, career. At their audition he said, 'You guys are one of the greatest bands I've ever heard, and you have absolutely no commercial potential!'"

TRANSATLANTIC RAILROAD: Express To Oblivion LP (RD 08). $30.00

"The second record in the series of unreleased obscure bands mentioned in Ralph Gleason's book The Jefferson Airplane and the San Francisco Sound after RD 7 (Haymarket Riot) this rural Westcoast/blues/psychedelic album from the early days (1967) includes 5 long tracks with furious guitar, organ jams and powerful vocals, reminding to many of the numerous milestones of legendary SF era. All recordings are arranged professional, which guarantees a perfect sound from the original mastertapes. Contains an insert with a very detailed band story, thick cover and thick vinyl."

REACT (UK):

VA: Artcore CD (REACT 059). $14.00

UK-only 1995 compilation of "ambient jungle" — what React attempted to identify as "art-core". Compiling classic singles of the era from Moving Shadow, S.O.U.R., V, Certificate 18, etc by the likes of: Omni Trio, Alladin, Austin Reynolds, DJ Krust, Jazz Juice, Sounds Of Life, DJ Crystal, Justice, Rogue Unit, DJ Phantasy, Little Matt, Link.

CLARKE, DAVE: World Service 2CD (REACT 199CD). $21.00

"World Service is the first true representation of Dave Clarke's infamous DJ style. CD1 is an uncompromising club techno set featuring Stacey Pullen, Jeff Mills, Joey Beltram, The Surgeon and The Horrorist. CD2 is an eclectic electro mix, with tracks like 'Idiotique' by Radiohead mixed up with electro favorites Anthony Rother, Fisherspooner, Keith Tucker and Japanese Telecom. Both discs are live one take mixes, demonstrating his hands on, fast, aggressive mixing style. In the mould of Laurent Garnier's Laboratoire Garnier, Jeff Mills' Live at the Liquid Room & Richie Hawtin's Decks, FX & 909 this is a warts and all document of the DJ at work."

SLATER, LUKE: Fear & Loathing 2CD (REACT 210CD). $21.00

"Like peers Dave Clarke, Slam and Andrew Weatherall, Luke Slater combines astonishing deck skills with his own artist productions and a hectic re-mix schedule. Luke has a maverick, uncompromising vision of techno. Dark, often brutal, sounds contrasting with sparse, light, electronics. It's this that his Fear & Loathing mix album delivers. Techno — be it minimal, experimental, electro, breaks — played with skill, precision and passion, live across 3 decks. 44 tracks of Luke Slater approved beats from the likes of Jeff Mills, Two Lone Swordsmen, Rennie Pilgrem, Tipper, B.L.I.M., Felix Da Housecat and FC Kahuna. And of course some essential Planetary Assault Systems and Luke Slater productions! CD1 brings on some solid 4/4 club action from all the true people in dancefloor techno, where CD2 branches out through experimentalism, tech-house and breaks and out into a headstart style electro finale!"

VA: Africansque CD (REACT 221CD). $17.00

"As with the Arabeque series, Africansque is the brainchild of Mourad 'Momo' Mazouz. To Momo, Africa is the source of the blues, of reggae, of jazz, of funk and — with that — all 'dance' music. Africansque explores this worldwide influence — the 'Esque' says it all — as we take in modern African tracks from Italy, Germany, France as well as Nigeria, Mali, Senegal, Cameroon, Kenya, Angola and Zaire. As with the Arabic series this is not for purists, it is more an introduction to the breadth and depth of African influenced musics. Africansque veers deliberately from ballad to dance track, electronic to acoustic, traditional to modern, African country to African country, while keeping the home listener firmly in mind." Artists include: Jestofunk, Tony Allen, Henri Dikongué, Kanda Bongo Man, Bonga, Adesosse Wallace, Sellam-Rennes, Oumou Sangare, Ali Farka Toure with Ry Cooder, Kaouding Cissoko, Another Fine Day, Palmer Brown & Blaze, and Dennis Ferrer.

DJ HELL: Electronic Body House Music 4LP (REACT 226LP). $30.00

4-LP Version

VA: Arabesque Tlata CD (REACT 233CD). $19.00

"Arabesque Tlata features a broad spectrum of quality Rai music from the biggest names in the scene, including Sahraoui & Fadela, Rachid Taha, Omar Faruk Tekbilek and Natasha Atlas. Despite the recent deluge of third rate 'ethnic' albums, the Arabesque series has built itself a reputation for selecting the best tracks from the Arabic world, and delivering them as a beautiful package." Artists include: Sahraoui & Fadela, Cheb Bilal, Rachid Taha, Biyouna, Cheikha Rimitti, Hasna El Becharia, Natasha Atlas, Omar Faruk Tekbilek with Steve Shehan, Cheb Khaled & Safy Boutella, Nitin Sawhney, Rasha, Dzihan and Kamien, Aisha Kandisha's Jarring Effects, and Swan featuring Mohamed Laziz.

SLUT, JONNY: Nag Nag Nag 2CD (REACT 243CD). $18.00

"Nag Nag Nag, the now legendary London club, has been a major catalyst in re-defining UK club culture. The weekly subterranean party at The Ghetto is the anti-thesis of identi-kit corporate clubbing and as a result has been lauded with praise for putting the hedonism and excitement back into the UK's club scene. Although deliberately DIY and Lo-Fi, Nag Nag Nag's distinctive young crowd and subsequent notoriety has attracted fashionistas, rock stars, celebs and arty types such luminaries as The Strokes, Primal Scream, Bjork, Kate Moss, Zoe Ball and Sam Taylor-Wood amongst many others. Now, for all those not lucky or brave enough to have ventured inside its hallowed walls, the club's revered electric/eclectic soundtrack has been captured on Nag Nag Nag - The Album by Nag's very own DJ Johnny Slut. Jonny set out to provide something more than just another throw away club compilation and with its uncompromising selection featuring the very best of New Wave, Electro and Punk classics from the late 70's and early 80's." Artists: Tiga, Radio 4, Adam Sky And Crossover, Avenue D, Technova, Swayzak, Crazy Girl, Electronica, Atomizer, Adriano Canzian, Superpitcher, DJ T., T. Raumschmiere feat. Miss Kittin, Chicks On Speed feat. Peaches, Mysterymen, Back To Nature, The Normal, Adam & The Ants, Devo, Spizz Energi, Deutsch Amerikanische Freundschaft, Bauhaus, Virgin Prunes, Delta 5, Liliput, Cabaret Voltaire.

SLUT, JONNY: Nag Nag Nag 3LP (REACT 243LP). $25.00

Triple LP version.

SMAGGHE, IVAN: Suck My Deck CD (REACT 248CD). $20.00

"Following the successes of numerous mix CDs last year, React brings you Suck My Deck, a brand new series highlighting some of the more cutting-edge, up and coming artists who play regularly at Bugged Out! events throughout the UK. We kick off the series with Parisian DJ extraordinaire Ivan Smagghe. As the resident DJ at Paris' hippest night Kill the DJ, Ivan has gained respect behind the decks and in the studio as one half of the legendary production duo Black Strobe with Arnaud Rebotini. Over the last few years, Ivan has established himself through his trademark electro/acid/bleep house sets that are ripping up the dance floors everywhere — so much so that UK's Jockey Slut Magazine has declared him

'The Hottest DJ on the Planet'."

SMAGGHE, IVAN: Suck My Deck Sampler 12" (REACT 248EP). $7.00

"This 12" Sampler provided full length versions of tracks featured in the CD, and can be used as a great promo tool for the CD. Included is the standout track by Germans Zombie Nation: 'Souls At Zero', a classic example of Ivan's trademark gothy/electro sound. Also featured is a the awesome 'Make it High' by the uber-hip Parisians Scratch Massive representing the bleppier side of Ivan's style. On the flip, Chelonis R Jones makes an appearance — his second track to make it onto an Ivan Smagghe mix."

REAL SOON (UK):

ULTRAMARINE: Hooter (Carl Craig Rmx) 12" (RS 003EP). $11.00

"Re-issue of a rare and sought after deleted Remix of Ultramarine's 'Hooter' by Detroit pioneer Carl Craig, originally released on Blanco Y Negro back in 1993. Additional unreleased Carl Craig V1.25 remix only available on this future classic."

RECKANKREUZUNGSKLANKWERKZEUGE:

VA: Attention: Cats 12" (RKK 0). $9.00

"Remaining copies of the first Reckankreuzungsklankwerkzeuge release, a 14-track 'compilation' of pieces produced by Keith Fullerton Whitman (aka Hrvatski, ASCIII, etc...) with help from various allies between 1994 and 1997, the source material for the rkk13cd. Granular DSP studies, bird-themed hyper cut-up amens with Burroughs samples, blunted 4-track hip hop, tape machine experiments, latin breaks with ghost piano, minimal techno constructed out of field recordings, 'high-rise influenced breakbeat shock!', phase studies, timestretching. Clear green vinyl in a picture disk sleeve with an assortment of stickers for you to apply/share. A transmission directly from one man's mind to yours. The first of the outsider home-electronic genre hopping short attention span statements, a classic in certain (small) circles. Insane."

VA: RKK 13 CD (RKK 13). $13.00

"The pivotal Reckankreuzungsklankwerkzeuge release, three years in the making, the albatross around our necks for so long, finally available to the public. Collaborations and remixes with/by some of our favorite people involving tracks and sounds found on the first RKK LP, Attention: Cats. Soft and hardware solutions from Fennesz, Pita, Farmer's Manual, Jim O'Rourke, Kim Cascone, Pimmon, Wheel, Cartesian Faith, and Blitter. Analog and digital noise terror from Thurston Moore, Airlack, Antenna Farm, MUTA, and VVM. Beats broken and intact from Kid606, EOSS, (Jay)Rope, Cathars, Bauri, N.A, Drusca, Config.sys, Lord, and /Rupture. Dirty hip hop and serene IDM from Push Button Objects, Chessie, Cex, Adrien75, Electric Birds, Solvent, and ESP. Musique concrete from Alejandra & Underwood, Suetsu, and Sister Sunshine & DJ Planar 78. All 35 tracks were completed specifically for this release. Far too incoherent to be a mere compilation. Your guide to the post-desktop universe. Ace."

RECOMMENDED (UK):

ZNR: Barricade 3 CD (RER ZNR 1). $14.00

The 1st of two releases by this legendary French duo, originally issued in 1977. "A startling collage of re-composed skittish Erik Satie vignettes/early synthesizer experimentation/George Auric's behind the mirror for Cocteau's Orpheus/Pere Ubu (Alfred Jarry not David Thomas!) little ditties of the sort that show up on Faust albums/voice-overs out of Godard's Alphaville/piano-sax improvisations/Robert Wyattish fuzz organ tunes/Zappa-esque flourishes/strange allusions to Henry Cow..."

ART BEARS: The Art Box 6CD BOX (RER ABOX). $90.00

"Art Bears — The Art Box marks the 25th anniversary of one of the most eclectic, dynamic and productive creative alliances in the history of experimental music. Featuring legendary composer Fred Frith, groundbreaking percussionist Chris Cutler & vocalist Dagmar Krouse, this assembly of genius has made an 'incalculable' contribution to the post-context art-rock scene. A 6-CD set, the collection features the first 3 albums (Hopes & Fears, Winter Songs, The World As It Is Today) remastered and in their entirety, a 2-CD set of remixes & re-workings with contributions from Christian Marclay, The Residents, Ground Zero, Biota, & more, plus a bonus CD of previously unreleased material not available elsewhere."

BIOTA: Tumble CD (RER BCD). $14.00

A 1989 release, their first intended strictly as a CD issue. A loose, studio-only collective from Colorado, Biota's reputation is based on an unparalleled ability to create a reality-shaking wall of dense sound, though they generally limit themselves to acoustic instrumentation ("treated" to devastating levels). Pure sound aesthetic and attention to detail dominates every second of their various releases; few American sound artist collectives have ever maintained such sonic integrity for so long. "...where nothing is quite in focus, timing is distinctly idiosyncratic, and landmarks loom in and out of the fog."

BIOTA: Tinct/Bellowing Room CD (RER BCD2). $14.00

This CD reissues 2 of their LPs from the 80s, "dense, dark icebergs of sound, shifting like layers of dirt-plate grafted onto yr skull by one Dr. Benway's interns."

BIOTA: Almost Never CD (RER BCD3). $14.00

3rd CD. So alien it'll cause you to question all previous modes of mental-thought motion.

BIOTA: Object Holder BOX VERSION CD BOX (RER BCD4BOX). $18.00

A limited edition box set version of the 4th Biota CD (the regular version is now deleted), produced by the band in limited quantities back in 1995. A simple card box with rubber-stamped cover encloses the CD (same as the regular edition), and attached to the bottom inside of the box is a small original painting by various Biota members — in the same style as the fantastic art that has graced their releases since day one. If you've never gotten this album, your opportunity to get a one-off deluxe version has never been greater. Limited stock.

BIOTA: Invisible Map CD (RER BCD5). $14.00

"If fans of Biota were shocked by the pop songs that appeared for the first time on the previous Biota release, Invisible Map is going to send them reeling. They are sung by Genevieve Heistek, from the same school of Montreal musicians who spawned Godspeed You Black Emperor. The songs provide a central point around which Biota hang their esoteric production ideas. Crazy shawms suddenly spurt out of the mix, unsteady tripping rhythms from the drums counterpoint interlocking guitars, and unsettling sound processing pushes the material to the edge of oblivion. The tracks were built up from solo accordion or rubab, drums and guitar, and the whole piece is woven into an ambiguous cinematic journey. Mixing and effects were applied in real time, 'by hand'. This gives a wonderful spontaneous feel to the music, and Biota have made an art out of accepting and working with freak accidental effects."

WOODBURY, BRIAN: Variety Orchestra CD (RER BW1CD). $14.00

"The Variety Orchestra is a sparkling new CD of melodic post-modern jazz compositions. The music is built around a one-of-a-kind line-up combining a driving jazz rhythm section, Latin and Big Band horns, and the down-home Americana of pedal steel, banjo, fiddles & accordion. This mix is peppered with tabla, new music violin, tone rows, NYC bar band, Satchmo cornet growls, and a 15th century brass chorale. The CD features phenomenal players from both coasts — a who's who from New York's downtown and LA's experimental music scenes."

CUTLER/FRED FRITH, CHRIS: Volume 2. Live in Trondheim... CD (RER CCFF2CD). $14.00

"With such limited resources they manage to produce a startling range of sound; unidentified noise, bubbles and squeaks, flying underwater sopranos, low level industrial waste, crash courses in unknown languages. This is Derek Bailey meets AMM meets early Pink Floyd territory."

CUTLER/FRED FRITH, CHRIS: Two Gentlemen In Verona CD (RER CCFF3). $14.00

Chris Cutler: electrified drums/flotsam. Fred Frith: electric guitar/voice/jetsam. Recorded live April 16th, 1999 at Interzona — Verona, Italy. "There must have been something special going on in Verona last April. By far the most aggressive of their duo albums, it leads us via howling fuzz guitar & machine gun percussion into walls of post-rock improvisation, obsessive industrial rhythms, and levels of excitement rarely generated by two people on a stage."

MARCLAY, CHRISTIAN: More Encores CD (RER CM1). $14.00

Repressed, after a number of years of unavailability. "Since 1979 Christian Marclay has been experimenting, composing and performing with phonograph records. His interest in records, both as objects and bearers of sound, is expressed through sculpture, performance, video and music. In performance, he mixes a wide variety of records on up to 8 turntables, fragmenting, repeating, altering speeds, playing the records backwards, etc. More Encores was originally released as a 10" vinyl record on No Man's Land (Germany) in 1988, composed entirely of records after whom each track is titled. "John Cage" is a recording of a collage made by cutting slices from several records and gluing them back together into a single disc. In all other places the records were mixed and manipulated on multiple turntables and recorded analog with the use of overdubbing. A hand-crank gramophone was used in "Louis Armstrong". More Encores is a classic slice of primal Plunderphonia, the natural companion to John Oswald's suppressed Plunderphonics masterpiece, featuring a series of viciously beautiful vinyl collages from this important and influential sound sculptor and turntable terrorist." Other tracks are based on the music of Johann Strauss, John Zorn, Martin Denny, Frederic Chopin, Fred Frith, Arthur Ferrante & Louis Teicher, Maria Callas, Jimi Hendrix, Jane Birkin & Serge Gainsbourg & Christian Marclay.

ARCANE DEVICE: Engines of Myth CD (RER DLM1). $14.00

"There is a strange new electronic music about, where the musicians play no conventional instruments — not even synthesizers or samplers. They simply set up electronic equipment to feed back on itself. Amongst the first to use this method, and perhaps the very first to work with no inputted sound at all, was David Lee Myers. The record he made under the name Arcane Device, in 1988, is a marvelous concoction of sonic vignettes, and an epic attempt to wrest vast archetypal noises from the stuff of the universe. The end result sound of this music is like a mixture of Brian Eno's ambient series, Tod Dockstader's post-cartoon soundscapes, machine sounds from an industrial dump, and more than a few wacky echoes of experimental pop musicians, from Faust to Autechre. It's incredibly varied for music that has been produced by an automated process, and Engines of Myth threatens to give electronic music a good name; it's both challenging and accessible, and has a fabulously spontaneous feel."

FAUST: Seventy One Minutes Of... CD (RER F1CD). $14.00

Re-released, now in digipak packaging. Combines the late 80s posthumous 5th & 6th Faust LPs: Munic & Elsewhere/Return Of A Legend LP ("various unreleased tapes intended for release") and The Last LP (the '71 "Faust Party" tapes). Recordings are from Faust's classic era, 1971-3.

FAUST: Tapes CD (RER F2CD). $14.00

Re-released, now in digipak packaging. 3rd album masterwork of '71-73 leftover genius. Considered by most as the group's finest hour, and one of the most obvious cornerstones of the whole early 70s German explosion.

FAUST: You Know FaUst CD (RER F4). $14.00

"Faust's return to the recording studio opened up into a voyage of inner discovery that returned to their roots but also served to push the band's career toward the approaching millennium....Faust mix electronics, acoustic guitars, sheet metal percussion, oompah band music and farm equipment together to produce sounds that plunge from fractured pop song, to industrial techno stomp and undiluted Krautrock in its purest and most potent form."

FAUST: BBC Sessions + CD (RER F5). $14.00

"Of the five CD's in the box, only the BBC Sessions, derived from a John Peel radio session, has never been available before on CD. The radio session was first broadcast 1/3/73, and is 20 minutes of pure Faustian hell. The Lurcher is a kind of electric period Miles Davis slouching drum rhythm, augmented by stabs of horn and electric guitar. Krautrock is a 12-minute post Velvet Underground riff, drone and noise-driven meditation, far superior to the version on the Virgin release Faust IV. The session ends with Do So, an outrageously corny slice of sixties pop. The remaining 30 minutes of the CD is prime Faust, culled from the ReR LPs The Last LP and Munic and Elsewhere (which could not appear on the ReR CD release Faust- 71 Minutes for reasons of space). They feature splattered repeating percussion, half heard voice-overs, stray dogs, renaissance music played by kazooes, the surreal song 'We Are the Hallo Men', and alternative and wonderful versions of the classics So Far and Meer."

FAUST: The Wumme Years: 1970-1973 5CD (RER FB1). $65.00

A small repressing available now. "The ultimate collection from the legendary inventors of krautrock. This 5 CD set contains all Faust's early classic albums, a John Peel session, and unreleased early material. The 40 page booklet is stuffed with unpublished photos, stills from Super 8 footage from the famous studio at Wumme, and revealing interviews with many of the key players in the Faust story. CDs: Faust (the famous clear first album), So Far (the famous black second album), The Faust Tapes (for the first time ever with a track listing), 71 Minutes (The Last LP and Munic and Elsewhere LPs), BBC Sessions (classic radio session plus substantial extra material). Interviews include band members Jean Herve Peron and Jochen Irmeler, with a memoir from Blegvad. Reclusive producer Uwe Nettlebeck and legendary sound engineer Kurt Graupner speak here for the first time. Many of the photos illustrating the book are from private collections, and have never been published." This box set is a limited edition and it's long term availability is not likely. The enclosed albums will be available as individual CDs in the future, but the booklet is exclusive to this box set.

FRITH, FRED: The Previous Evening CD (RER FF1). $14.00

"Former Henry Cow guitarist Fred Frith pays homage to three giants of contemporary classical music: John Cage, Morton Feldman and Earle Brown. In his own inimitable fashion, Frith has tried to incorporate the chosen composer's own working methods into each of the three pieces that make up The Previous Evening. As he explains in the enclosed booklet regarding his John Cage homage: 'Fragments of text heard in Part 1 were taken at random from Cage's book Silence. Tape editing, the structure of the events, and dynamic markings in this section were also determined using chance methods.' Performed by: Christian Kaya (clarinets), Claudio Puntin (clarinets), Heike Liss (perc.), Bernd Settelmeier (perc.), Bernd Weber (voice) and Frith (voice & all other instruments and manipulations).

GROUND ZERO: Revolutionary Pekinese Opera CD (RER GZ1). $14.00

The 3rd album overall by Otomo Yoshihide's amazing group. "This work is based on a re-sampling of Heiner Goebbels & Alfred 23 Harth's sampled rendition of a 1960's Revolutionary Pekinese opera from China, the Peking Oper (from the LP Frankfurt-Peking; CD: Goebbels Heart) from 1984." An insane, important album.

GROUND ZERO: Consume Red CD (RER GZ2). $14.00

Repressed. Domestic issue of the sampling masterpiece first issued by Creativemandisc in Japan. Yet another phase in Omoto Yoshihide's Sampling Virus Project. Consume Red is the first of a three volume series, and acts as Ground Zero's original document for the set. [Volume 2 (Conflagration) and Volume 3 Consummation on the Creativeman label are now o/p]. Consume Red consists of Ground Zero sampling the music of Korean national treasure Kim Suk Chul, playing Hojok (literal reed streams with bagpipe-like intensities), accompanying on Shamisen, turntables, periodic noise interjections, etc. It's one 60 minute "ambient" piece, beautifully paced and powerfully presented. "Hints at the beautiful chaos ahead. A work that is spiritually uplifting and terrifying as a single squalling blast from an ancient sounding horn is overlaid with a steady building sound collage of sampled noise static, guitar overload, instrumental anarchy, and a drum duo who hammer home a beat that is subtly constructed yet relentless in its attack...will surely be regarded as one of the year's major recorded highlights."

HACO/SAKAMOTO HIROMICHI: Ash in the Rainbow CD (RER HACO3). $13.50

Previously released by the Detector label in the US. "Charismatic singer, lyricist and performer Haco came to the fore in the early 80s with the group After Dinner, a sublime incarnation of surreal, direct, and offbeat Japanese/European pop. They featured astonishing swathes of ambient sound, over which Haco's voice soared, before undertaking daring sonic maneuvers; surround sound, backwards/sped up/reversed tape work. These pioneering effects and more are brought up-to-date on Ash In The Rainbow, Haco's most crafted album yet. Her voice is interwoven with the cellos of co-star Hiromichi Sakamoto's 'cellos, starting with a massive bout of what sounds like classical strings and soprano voice forged into ambient before transforming into skewed but delicate Japanese pop, with equal parts of kitsch and experimentalism. The exquisite arrangements feature bowed saw, plunked pizzicato, and complex and seductive noise-scapes. With the help of lo-tech gadgets, songs like 'Channelling' posit a post-human persona, which the likes of Laurie Anderson can only dream of. The whole album is imbued with a magical, Zen sense of wonder, and a terrific economy of means."

SLAPP HAPPY/HENRY COW: Desperate Straights CD (RER HCSH1). $14.00

2004 remaster (previously reissued on Virgin UK). Feat: Dagmar Krause, Fred Frith, Peter Blegvad, Chris Cutler, Anthony Moore, John Greaves, Tim Hodgkinson. "Regarded as a paradigm in Artrock circles, the extended line-up of Henry Cow with Slapp Happy in 1975 produced this legendary recording for Virgin Records. It features a veritable who's-who of Recommended artists, all of whom have gone on to relative fame with ensuing bands, as well as some of the more respected names associated with the famous MANOR studios during the 70's. This oddly accessible gem boasts both Anthony Moore's and Peter Blegvad's greatest creations as writers, as well as some of the Henry Cow group's greatest arrangements. The songs themselves are a bizarre mixture of slanted pop-rock, showtunes, dadaistic revelations and 70's Prog-Rock virtuosity. This record ranks extremely high amongst life-long fans of both bands and, by means of this long-awaited reissue will surely win over a new generation of listeners as well."

ROSE, JON: The People's Music CD (RER JR7). $14.00

"The People's Music is part homage, part parody, and part meditation on these themes. A string orchestra whisks through re-composed shards of the classical repertoire; a Red Guard factory guide barks instructions; a three-piece percussion ensemble from time to time intervenes destructively. Meanwhile, Rose himself conducts with a plastic replica of Mao's embalmed left hand, and interjects with bursts of his electronic hyperstring violin. Not to mention that this spectacle was recorded in the unlikely and inaccessible Australian outback location of Wogarno Station, Murchison, about six hours' drive north of Perth — somehow with the press there in full force."

GLANDIEN, LUTZ: Lost In Rooms CD (RER LG3). $14.00

"At the threshold of organic sound and simulacrum stands Lutz Glandien, the Berlin based composer whose multi-genre fluency in classical training and as an electronic producer make him the perfect compositional vessel for a work as quixotic as Lost In Rooms. Blending the aforementioned ingredients into a 'investigative' musical piece, Lost in Rooms examines both the conflicting and intersecting points of 'real' and manipulated sounds. Glandien deftly dissects, mixes and melds a hyper-real illumination of the powerful tensions that defines the mix-and-match metaphor, deconstructing conventions as quickly as he creates new ones with a compositional discipline that is rare for such a diverse artistic pallet."

WEINGER, LAUREN: Silo CD (RER LW1). $14.00

"Lauren Weinger's album Silo is drawn from the soundtrack of a large-scale installation project, Picture Powderhorn, which was 1st performed around the grain silos in Minneapolis, in August of 2000. Featuring aerialists covered in mics and recorders ascending and descending the conical towers, historically resonant fiddle solos, sounds of children's songs, all interspersed with Latin dance music. Also included is the voice of the silo manager recounting the intricacies of making bread as the haunting echoes of rolling stock reverberate throughout the building. A provocative slice of musique concrete, a textured narrative that explores the form of the post-industrial Midwest."

ABSOLUTE ZERO: Crashing Icons CD (RER M-R.2). $14.00

"Absolute Zero, the spirited collaboration between Enrique Jardines (bass) and keyboards/vocalist Aislinn Quinn, is a project which integrates post-Canterbury (Soft Machine, Hatfields, Caravan) and Rock In Opposition (Henry Cow, Art Bears, Universe Zero) suffused with Teutonic precision and obsessive repetition. Joined in 1999 by drummer Pip Pyle (late of alternative super groups Deliver, Gong, Hatfield, North, and National Health) Crashing Icons offers a full album of what New England Performer called 'Epic, enthralling, edgy, twisted, and unique' music."

MNEMONISTS: Horde CD (RER MN1). $14.00

"The 1981 electro-acoustic electronic classic by the group that morphed into Biota. Their 3rd album & their first true classic, which is a high-water mark of churning sonic storms. The first release by the Mnemonists to be reissued on CD & one of their finest works overall." Based in Fort Collins, CO, the Mnemonists gave modern American experimental music a good name in the early 80s as they dug themselves out of the trenches of post-industrial alignment. Ultra-detailed processing, beautiful graphic presentation (in place of the near mandated shock/repulsion attacks of most of their contemporaries) and an overall sense of sonic attainment were some of their trademarks. A classic of its era.

NECKS, THE: Hanging Gardens CD (RER NECKS1). $14.00

"Australian trio the Necks have caused a huge stir recently, creating ripples in the usually calm waters of improvised contemporary jazz. Their daring fusion of improvised jazz with chill-out dance music and minimalism has been hailed by the international music press, and with ten years of recording and playing live behind them, they have established a substantial following. With just acoustic piano, double bass, drums and the odd sample they have created their own unmistakable style. The method is simple; they start playing, and whatever it is they start with they just keep doing it, while any changes are only allowed to be gradual. It makes for a hypnotic dream-like experience, as if Miles Davis's In A Silent Way had been filtered through the minimalist concepts of Terry Riley and Phillip Glass, and then performed with more than half an ear towards ambient dance music."

NECKS, THE: Aether CD (RER NECKS2). $14.00

"The Necks are an improvising post-jazz trio from Australia, whose music is about as far from New Orleans as you could imagine. It's jazz that has been stripped of all its excess, and been re-forged out of the belly of minimal trance club culture. Hanging Gardens used a single rhythm held for an hour, with sumptuous chords occasionally rising and falling at huge intervals. For the first 30 minutes of Aether they've gone even further; they've dropped the rhythm altogether, and what remains is just a single chord which emerges and then fades into nothing, again and again. There are just small variations on electric piano, bowed double bass and electronics. At the 35-minute point a high-pitched keyboard pattern gradually emerges, and imperceptibly the group swing in to a Steve Reich inspired interlocking pattern, which builds to a climax. It finally subsides into a series of hypnotic cymbal washes. The Necks are drummer Tony Buck, double bassist Lloyd Swanton and pianist Chris Abrahams. Their records and live concerts are all made using the same process; they start with an improvising idea, and then transform the material ever so slowly as each piece progresses. It's a devastatingly simple but original approach."

NECKS, THE: Drive By CD (RER NECKS3). $14.00

"Hypnotic, sensuous, dream-like, enveloping, funky, seductive, subtle, credible — Australian jazz trio The Necks have re-written all the rules. They are a (mostly) acoustic piano trio whose music sounds as much like ambient electronic dance music as it does like conventional jazz. But healthy doses of influence from R&B, Kraut Rock, The Doors, ethnic musics, Miles Davis and John Coltrane also abound. The Necks are drummer Tony Buck, double bassist Lloyd Swanton and pianist Chris Abrahams. Their records and live concerts are all made using the same process; they start with an improvising idea, and then transform the material ever so slowly. It's a devastatingly simple but original approach, which calls for extreme concentration from the players, but for the listener the experience is as fluid and profound and as meditating on a sunset or watching the ebb and flow of the ocean. Somehow with a seemingly effortless cool they charm the sounds out of their instruments."

NECKS, THE: The Boys CD (RER NECKS4). $13.50

"The latest release by the extraordinary Australian improvising ambient/jazz trio, The Necks, is drawn from a soundtrack the group composed for the prize-winning Australian movie, The Boys. For the Necks this is a revolutionary move; gone are the hour-long shifting luminous improvisations which they have made their own special territory. Here you will find seven short-ish instrumentals, each developing a different sound and mood. The usual Neck's components (floating acoustic piano, anchoring double bass, and skimming drums are all present, but are set to very different tasks. There's a darkness absent from their other releases, and the CD ends with full-blown Joy Divisionish rock, with fuzzed up bass and heavy tribal drums. Along the way, The Necks expand on Erik Satie-like vignettes, tempered with electronic sounds and ambiances, insistent rhythms reminiscent of the Velvet Underground, and music and sounds that are subtly sensuous and extremely addictive."

KODJABASHIA, NIKOLA: Reveries of the Solitary Walker CD (RER NK1). $13.50

"The award-winning Macedonian composer, Nikola Kodjabashia, is best known for his classical works, having studied extensively with Anatol Vieru. Reveries Of The Solitary Walker is an oddly beautiful mixture of contemporary, Balkan-esque folk aesthetics, Byzantine-age leanings, and just enough shards of Avant-gardism to make it appeal to those who like things a tad 'different'. Joining him on this disk is his latest group, the Project Z'lust Ensemble, who augment his piano work with an arrangement of brass, upright bass, percussion and a violin duo. Strictly speaking, this wonderful song cycle adheres to the melodic principles of Eastern Orthodox chant music as composed by the 18th-century Macedonian cantor, St. Joan Harnosin-Ohriski, but this ensemble's interpretations display an up-to-date twist, which eschew the rigorous routine of classical theorems while pushing forwards in a stylistic way."

SCIENCE GROUP, THE: Spoors CD (RER SCIENCE2). $14.00

"Experimental rock that breaches the boundary of impractical theory, The Science Group's second groundbreaking album Spoors is an intense, emotional mix of instrumental virtuosity, wild sonic extremes and impulsive compositional forms. Using song cycles as the musical schematic, Spoors delves into the ambiguities of Chaos Theory, the mysteries of Black Holes, and galaxy formation. Featuring legendary percussionist Chris Cutler, classical composer Steven Tickmayer, and ex-Hail member Bob Drake on bass, Science Group offers a richly textured primer on the exigencies of science and the fundamental laws of physics."

RA ARKESTRA, SUN: Cosmo Sun Connection CD (RER SR1). $14.00

"Recorded live in 1984 at one of Sun Ra's many American concerts, Cosmo Sun Connection captures the Arkestra in full big band mode, blowing up a storm that could probably be heard on Venus. The original vinyl LP was released by Recommended in 1985 via an agreement with Sun Ra's Saturn label. Long deleted, this is now the first time that it has surface on CD."

DIMUZIO, THOMAS: Slew CD (RER TD2). $13.50

"Dimuzio is a true sonic alchemist who can seemingly create musical events out of almost anything. Those paying close attention to this innovative sound artist's recorded activities are also familiar with the large and compelling body of work Dimuzio has produced for compilation projects. This material has finally been united by R&R Megacorp into a single release, the aptly named Slew. Slew blurs the bounds of electro-acoustic, digital musique concrete, drone, noise, dark ambient and industrial. Dimuzio's sonic reworkings range from an Elvis impersonator (on parade), junkyard talk, electric guitar, piano, voice, clarinet, feedback and shortwave sounds to cellist Tom Cora and the music of Dr. Nerve."

DOCKSTADER & JAMES REICHERT, TOD: Omniphony 1 CD (RER TODD1). $14.00

"In the early 1960's Tod Dockstader was a young maverick composer of electronic 'organised sound', and James Reichert a film composer and music supervisor. They met in New York in 1963, and launched one of the most extraordinary collaborations in modern music, a unique attempt to integrate electronic sounds and the classical orchestra. Unlike Varese's Deserts, and Stockhausen's Kontakte, it does not merely have the orchestra play along with a tape, or even process orchestral sounds live. What makes this project unique is that the orchestra was transformed by electronic processes at a fundamental level, and organically fused with the purely electronic sounds. The completed work is a bizarre blend of Dockstader's fundamentally intuitive approach to sound, and Reichert's more conservatoire-based feeling for melody and orchestration. It often sounds like an unlikely collaboration between Stravinsky and Frank Zappa in avant garde mode, or Stockhausen and his alter-egos, Stock, Hausen and Walkman. Its not simply an important historical document, but an intriguing and entirely convincing listen; a truly extraordinary combination of electronic and orchestral textures, in which the orchestra seems to have been drenched in Technicolor, and dragged through a cartoon sound studio."

VRIL: Effigies In Cork CD (RER VRIL1). $14.00

"VRIL is an adrenalized, poppy, rampant batch of rock guitar instrumentals. The Shadows, The Ventures, Surf music, early Hendrix are invoked, but they're all put through the intense mangle of 21st century thinking and studio trickery. It's a twangy guitar album gone mad, complete with a fascinating art-and-texts booklet which reads like a liner notes by Edgar Allan Poe. The album features three unlikely avant-garde musicians: Dutch guitarist Lukas Simonis, bass player/mastering wiz Bob Drake and famed percussionist Chris Cutler."

RECORD MAKERS (UK):

ARPANET: Wireless Internet CD (SOUR 058 CD). $15.00

"Arpanet is the new project to come out of the Dataphysix laboratory in Detroit (USA), where the acclaimed and cult combo Dopplereffekt project had been recorded. Dopplereffekt were one of the strangest and most mysterious units of the contemporary electronic music scene. This release is brought to you from Air's own label Record Makers, who quickly signed Arpanet up after being blown away by their work. It is a poetic and prophetic Kraftwerk type concept-album devoted to the revolutionary technologies of Japan's leading telecommunication company NTT DoCoMo, which will soon change our day-to-day lives. After a great success in Japan (30 million users), NTT DoCoMo are about to release their 'i-mode' cellular phones worldwide. These are permanently connected to the internet. In a very near future, cellular phone users will have in hand their own remote control for their life. All the information in the business press confirms that the technology praised by Arpanet will conquer the western world in 2002, where NTT DoCoMo have signed agreements with various local mobile phone companies. Japan is wireless. Are you wireless?"

ARPANET: Wireless Internet 2LP (SOUR 058 LP). $19.00

Double LP version.

RECORDED:

FLYNT, HENRY: You Are My Everlovin'/Celestial Power 2CD (NAEM 01). $19.00

First volume in a series subtitled: New American Ethnic Music. "Two 45 minute sets of live improvised 'avant-garde hillbilly and blues music' featuring Henry Flynt on (a rather gained) violin, one (YAME) is a duo with an unaccredited tambura player (drenched in reverb/background acoustics), the other (CP) featuring 1 track of violin, and 2 tracks of volume pedal guitars — all performed by Flynt (drenched in reverb/background acoustics). Henry Flynt is a vanguard American conceptual artist, key Fluxus participant, ally to both La Monte Young (esp. in the early New York years, contributing to the key Fluxus document; the La Monte-edited An Anthology) and George Maciunas (several mid 60s collaborations including 'Communists Must Give Revolutionary Leadership in Culture'), author of many pamphlets and public propaganda works (Blueprint for a Higher Civilization, Down with Art), magazine articles ('Extracts from Personhood's Self Cancellation', perhaps more relevant 'The Meaning of My Avant-Garde Hillbilly and Blues Music'), recently obsessed with furthering the ideals of Meta-Technology. An interesting set of performances, both extended extemporizations on extended alpha-state ascension through excessive application of overtone-series note relationships/harmonics over a single chord/form. Close in spirit to La Monte perhaps, closer in application to something like Tony Conrad or Arnold Dreyblatt, only with a unique country-fried holler-bent that's at once alienating to art-music lovers but at the same time much more personable. An important cultural and historic link, one of the only fully realized Fluxus audio documents (despite it's 10+ year delay to the 'classic' era) available in the CD age. Seminal" — Hrvatski

FLYNT, HENRY: New American Ethnic Music Volume 2: Spindizzy CD (RECORD 006). $15.00

"This record also has a much clearer hillbilly/bluegrass quality than his previous releases, including some fiddle solos that can be mistaken for field recordings of inspired musicians from the heyday of traditional bluegrass music. At the same time, the record is also full of surprises and some very strange compositional ideas, all tightly unified within Flynt's ineffable singular vision."

FLYNT, HENRY: Hillbilly Tape Music CD (RECORD 007). $15.00

Third volume in the New American Ethnic Music series, following: You Are My Everlovin' & Spindizzy (and by our count, the 8th Henry Flynt archival CD release since 2001). Featuring recordings from 1971 through 1978, this focuses on shorter tracks that explore the third-ear mania of looped violin playing as well as could be imagined. Breathtaking stuff and essential for all followers of the Tony Conrad/post-minimalism timeline. "This is an amazing document of the nihilist father of concept art and inventor of electronic Hillbilly music (see <http://www.henryflynt.org>). The record shows more than ever Flynt's musical genius, the audacity of his compositions (which seek to exalt rural southern music to a level beyond this civilization) and the strange qualitative fluidity of his playing."

NAGOSKI, IAN: Effortless Battle CD (RECORD 010). $15.00

"Baltimore musician Ian Nagoski cites electrical transformers and cicadas as strong musical influences on his work, two sound making entities that people come in contact with almost daily during some periods of life, but objects that most people wouldn't be willing to concentrate on for anything more than a few minutes. This information is indispensable when examining Nagoski's music, as its ambient, slowly developing nature. Effortless Battle begins with the disc's thirty-one minute title track, the soundtrack to a Catherine Pancake film of the same name. It begins with a very subdued, but dense fluttering, but nearly five minutes in, Nagoski utilizes a buzz which pans from left to right so vigorously that its circular motion seems almost baroque (by Nagoski's standards, of course). Slowly, though, a more constant tone takes control, a sound that makes up the majority of the rest of the track. Vaporous sounds slowly emerge from below, and the music swells in intensity." — Adam Strohm, fake-jazz.com.

RECORDTHINGS (ITALY):

VA: Fluxus Anthology LP (RT 9001). $26.00

"A collection of music and sound events edited by Maurizio Nannucci with full integrity towards the ideology and spirit of Fluxus, one of the most radical and experimental art movements of the last century. Featuring tracks by Walter Marchetti, Juan Hidalgo, La Monte Young, Ben Vautier, Wolf Vostell, Milan Knisak, Robert Filliou, Alison Knowles, Emmett Williams, John Cage, Joseph Beuys, Yoko Ono, Dick Higgins, Philip Corner, Eric Andersen, Robert Watts, Nam June Paik and Ken Friedman. Contains also written excerpt by George Brecht, Ben Vautier, Emmett Williams, Henry Flynt and Dick Higgins plus the 'expanded arts diagram' with an introduction. Strictly limited edition of 600 copies. Gatefold sleeve. 180 gram clear vinyl."

VA: Poesia Sonora LP (RT 9002). $26.00

"Precious reissue of the 1975 Cramps LP of the same name on audiophile clear-as-a-bell wax. Features a perfect 'who's who what's what' selection of sound & concrete poetry from none other than Brion Gysin, Henri Chopin (perhaps my favorite piece of his, the obfuscatory 'Dinamisme Integral' with its permeating, lupine feedback howl), Bernard Heidsieck, Bob Cobbing ('Hymn to the Sacred Mushroom'), Sten Hanson, François Dufrène, Ernst Jandl, Paul de Vree, Franz Mon, Arhtur Petronio, Arrigo Lora Totino, and Maurizio Nannucci. Short, sweet selections offer the goods in all curd manner. Extensive liners (in Italian, sorry) trace the lineage of the form, offer short biographies of all involved, and offer a decent-sized era discography (wherein label/catalogue information can get you one step closer to realizing your dream of some day coming across the complete Chopin-compiled OÙ Cinquième Saison LP series in your local five & dime). Outrageous and entirely integral to your learning curve." — Hrvatski. Strictly limited edition of 600 copies. Gatefold sleeve. 180 gram clear vinyl.

RECTANGLE (FRANCE):

GRUBBS, DAVE: The Coxcomb LP (REC AA). $14.00

Two side long pieces, only available on vinyl on this French improvisers label (we were lucky enough to get zeroed on the supposedly "ultra" limited picture disc version, so please thank us for sparing you the trauma of choosing which one to buy). "The Coxcomb" is an adaptation of Stephen Crane's "The Blue Hotel" featuring Stephen Prina (The Narrator), Sascha Andrés (The Cowboy), David Grubbs (The Swede, guitar), Thierry Madiot (bass trombone), Didier Petit (cello, voice), Yves Robert (trombone), and Quentin Rollet (alto sax). For those of you who support the theory that Robert Nedelkoff has the right to a life on the planet of earth, may you sink your ears into this one. The other side, "Aux/Noctamboules" is a chatterless-duo work in the "minimalist style", Noël Akchoté on guitar and Grubbs on organa. Limited stock.

CHADBOURNE/DAUGHTERS/OTHERS, EUGENE: The Aquaduct LP (REC E). $13.00

Rectangle is a new French vinyl-only improv label, largely based around the activity of the most interesting guitarist Noël Akchoté and other French improvisers. This record by Eugene is touted as: "Country, experimental music, noise, pop, tout est possible avec Dr. Chadbourne." Includes a collaboration with Mexican improvisers, a Henry Kaiser guitar loop, a Nashville session, etc.

CHADBOURNE, EUGENE: The Aquaduct CD (REC E2). $14.00

"Eugene plays vocals, guitar, and dobro, and appears with his daughters Molly, Lizzy, and a lot of other musicians. Recorded in a wide variety of settings. Reissue of the LP from December 1996."

BAILEY/PAT THOMAS/STEVE NOBLE, DEREK: And LP (REC S). $13.00

RED (SPAIN):

VA: OFFF 03 - Who is Your Superhero? 2CD (RED 001CD). $19.00

OFFF 2003 is a double CD plus booklet that resumes all the artistic worries that converges at OFFF and includes information about every artist taking part in the fest. The first CD, 'Experimental Audio', contains 19 unreleased or rare tracks by musicians playing at OFFF 2003. From click-techno (Sutekh, Mikael Stavostrand) to digital dub (System, Johan Skugge), and also avant-pop (Ulrich Troyer, Daedalus), IDM (Fibla, Iso 68, Oso Bucco), surrealist collages (The Rip-Off Artist, Stephan Mathieu, Simon Marino, Un Caddie Reverse Dans L'Herbe), extreme minimalism (Taylor Deupree, Z.E.L.L.E., Fantasmagramma, Heimir Björgulfsón, Ferran Fages) and brutal plunderphonics (Kein Babel). The second CD, 'Unusual Video', contains 19 unreleased or rare films and interactive pieces as MPG files (PC and Mac) made by artists like Hoogerbrugge, Nando Costa, Random Media, Adversative, Kleber, Systemsoul and Adversative, among many others. OFFF 2003: The Festival: In only two years the Online Flash Film Festival (OFFF) has become a globally recognised brand for enthusiasts and professionals of web creativity and new audiovisual languages. Since its birth OFFF has also paid special attention to be at the vanguard of digital music creation, marrying technological development and multimedia creativity."

VA: Primavera Sound 2CD (RED 002CD). $19.00

"The third edition of Barcelona's Primavera Sound Festival brings again to the city some of the most well-know independent artists (both national and international). The fragile and fresh pop of The Go Betweens; the acoustic sensibility of L'Altra; the cinematic country of John Parish or the oppressive lyricism of Arab Strab. These are just some of the highlights of this year's edition of the Primavera Sound Festival. Other names, closer to the new electronic tendencies are also listed in the line-up of this two-day festival. Among others, you'll find: Tocotronic, Console, Rjd2, DJ Rupture And Super_Collider." Artists include: The Go-Betweens, L'Altra, Tocotronic, Nacho Vegas, Thalia Zedek, Arab Strap, Grupo Salvaje, A Room With A View, John Parish, Migala, Calc, Audience, Soledad Brothers, Standstill, Tokyo Sex Destruction, Mishima, Élena, Beef, Console, Motormark, Larry Tee, Ellen Allien, Mártini Brós, Le Hammond Inferno, Rjd2, Dj/Rupture, Super_Collider, and UmeK.

MOLINA, ANGEL: Frágil Discos Mix: Pasada Profesional CD (RED 003 CD). $16.00

Restocked. "The young Red Label celebrates its third release with Pasada Profesional. This is a transatlantic meeting between Angel Molina, one of the most renowned Spanish deejays, and Frágil Discos, an amazing label from the city of Buenos Aires that keeps growing in popularity and acceptance both inside and outside Argentina. Described by Angel Molina as an Argentinean version of the sound associated with Traum, Kompakt or Force Tracks, the catalogue of Frágil Discos is the main source of this mix where you will find, among others, the names of Pablo Reche, Leandro Fresco, Fantasías Animadas, Gustavo Lamas and Romina Cohn, all of them members of the Frágil crew. What we get from this meeting between Molina (well know for his work in the sheer-techno field) and the crystalline and minimalist Frágil selected tracks is an interesting collection of melodies, rhythms and acoustic textures, melted with imagination and highly exploratory techniques."

RED ANTENNA:

VA: Impulse Sealer 12" (RA 012A). $6.50

"Pod Launch", an upbeat glitchy container of low frequency sparks and hums. The mysterious and ubiquitous Karl Zeiss follows swiftly with 'Karo': a refined interface constructed from orthogonal lines & meticulously rendered bots & zoids — it's house music for minimalist designers. On side B, Candy Chang sets the record straight with 'My Radio is So Casual', pushing a thick bass and snare through a spare field of snips and flourishes. Gen_Des.Com unveils a new Constructivist sub-bass theory on 'Fifth Main Target', and Ms. Chang finishes things off with 'Desk Lamp Intercom' — which is, simply put, 3 minutes of straight uncut electrofunk."

ZEISS, KARL: Berlin-New York 12" (RA 012B). $6.50

"Gritty, offbeat techno funk with slippery keyboards and booming bass from Karl Zeiss. Catch the classic 'house music' vocal hook. 130g vinyl/Hand stamped cover art."

COM.MUNIKATION: 1 Westbound 12" (RA 012C). $6.50

"With scientific precision and admirable restraint, Com.Munikation crafts pristine soundtracks for shimmering highways, futuristic thoroughfares, and your local discotheque. Taking inspiration from Chain Reaction, he ventures deep into expansive worlds of sound unknown. 130g vinyl/Hand stamped cover art."

VA: New Electric Policy 2 CD (RA 014CD). $11.00

"The New Electric Policy 2 compiles fresh leftfield disco, house, and electro from New York's Red Antenna Recordings with underground hits from Ghostly International, Intuit-Solar, and the DFA, among others. Karl Zeiss's mix jaunts from slick, honey dipped micro-house to gritty, dystopic mutant disco, illuminating up-and-coming talent from a loose family of electronic musicians. Guests include The Juan Maclean (DFA), Dykehouse (Ghostly International), Sneak Thief (Intuit Solar), $tinkworx (downlow), and Dick Richards (raum)."

TOMORROWLAND: Anemone CD (RA 015 CD). $11.00

"As Tomorrowland, Stephen Baker and Nick Brackney conjure staggering vistas of the microscopic and present a startling advance in contemporary sonic nanoscience. Specializing in decomposed layers of filtered guitar loops and bright synthetics, the duo has put out several records since 1995. Anemone deftly locates the ideal (and far too rare) territory where the analogue and the synthetic unite into a perfect accord. Combining warmly affected guitars with the live drumming of former Fuxa drummer Eric Morrison, Tomorrowland delivers a striking, unexpected, and altogether unique 7-track system of radiant electro-acoustics. 500 copies."

RED PLANET:

MARTIAN, THE: LBH6251876 CD (RP 10). $15.00

Compilation of tracks from the highly coveted series of 12's on the Red Planet label from Detroit. There's Underground Resistance linkage (some people might like to insist that Mad Mike Banks is The Martian), and pure futuristic mystery throughout. Heavy emphasis on alien space-jazz influenced techno, a bit smoother and certainly less militant than UR, but still quite revelatory. Another key summation of a key ongoing Detroit angle. Track listing: "Comet LBK - 6251876" (?), Lost Transmissions from Earth (RP-1), "Sex In Zero Gravity" (RP-3), "Stardancer" (RP-2), "Journey to the Martian Polar Cap" (RP-3), "Ultraviolet Image" (RP-3), "Skypainter" (RP-5), "Windwalker" (RP-6), "Voice of Grandmother" (RP-8), "Search your Feelings" (RP-4), "Firekeeper" (RP-7), "Soulshine" (unreleased). "The Spirit of the People is Greater than Mans Technology." — Eldridge Cleaver

MARTIAN, THE: Pipe Carrier 12" (RP 12). $6.50

The Martian is Mike Banks (Underground Resistance) and the series of 12's he's released under the aegis of Red Planet are some of the most definitive and euphoric in the Detroit cannon. This NSC-cut 2 track single is yet another monster. Forget about your Gas Chromatograph Mass-Spectrometer, there's life all around you. Tracks: "Tobacco Ties", "Eagle Dance".

MARTIAN, THE: Tobacco Ties 7" (RP 12-7). $4.00

7" version, with exclusive b-side. Tracks: Tracks: "Tobacco Ties (Edit)", "Spacewalker".

REEL MUSIC (UK):

FLR: Easy Filters Part 5-6 12" (REEL 30). $9.00

"FLR, a.k.a. Flare, is as you well know, one of Japan's biggest exports (it's Ken Ishi). The series that started many years ago, is back with parts 5 and 6. Reel Music is one of the labels which form the vanguard of the flourishing Japanese scene."

REEL MUSIQ (JAPAN):

FLR (AKA KEN ISHII): Easy Filters 2CD (REEL 002 CD). $17.00

"Japan's leading techno imprint Reel Musiq unleashes its debut artist album courtesy of their biggest DJ/Producer FLR/Ken Ishii, who recently released another album project on the Sony backed Exceptional. He has still found time to complete a brand new track, 'Part X' exclusively for this release. Ken Ishii made his 12" debut in 1998 for Reel Musiq/Sublime with his first part of the acclaimed Easy Filters series. This album is a collection of the best tracks from the past 4 Easy Filters 12" releases including previously unreleased material. So far the Easy Filters series has received support from the likes of Thomas Schumacher, Dave Clarke, Luke Slater, Chris Liebing, Advent, Sven Vath and more. Please note that the DJ friendly vinyl format will only feature eight trax. And the CD package includes a free bonus CD including Easy ? filter part X remixes."

REGAL (UK):

INCH FEAT. MARK E. SMITH: Inch CD (REG 027 CD). $10.00

"Two young Mancunian producers, Simon Spencer and Keir Steward, got together with one Mark E. Smith and came up with 'Inch'. The result was so good that the NME pressed up on copy on a white label and sent it to John Peel (Fall fan #1) as a birthday present. He made it #7 in his best tracks of 1997, and now 'Inch' is made available to the public. 'Inch' features crunching beats topped by Mark E. Smith's inimitable vocals, and comes with mixes by Val Hooligan and Dose, with whom Mark released another memorable collaborative single a couple years ago."

INCH FEAT. MARK E. SMITH: Inch 12" (REG 027 EP). $10.00

REGGAE RETRO (UK):

MORGAN, DERRICK: Ska Vol. 1 CD (RRT 006CD). $17.00

"Hot on the heels of recent the Pressure Sounds compilation of Derrick Morgan productions Red Bumb Bull... Derrick Morgan's career now spans over five decades, starting with Smith's in the late 1950's with mainly R&B output. In the ska era of the early 1960's he moved on to work with producers: Prince Buster, Coxsona Dodd (Studio One), Leslie Kong, and later in the 1960's and in the 1970's with the ubiquitous Bunny Lee. This compilation concentrates on a selection of Derrick's early ska/shuffle sides, through ska itself and to late ska/rocksteady. The Beverley's productions featured were produced by Derrick Morgan and the late Leslie Kong. Also featured are Duke Reid productions."

MORGAN, DERRICK: Ska Vol. 1 LP (RRT 006LP). $13.00

LP version.

REGULAR (SPAIN):

VA: Regular, My Friends and I CD (REGUL 001CD). $16.00

"This album is meant to be a combination of a CD-mix of interconnected songs that offer a sampling of the musical spectrum of the label, and the reflection of the connection among a group of friends who, using electronic dance music as a point of union, offer their particular view of what a regular project is for them. The very essence of regular comes through in this album: the human connection with musical goals. This CD mix was recorded by Jaumetic + Sergei 'naturally,' in a single take. We don't use PC or post production cut & paste tools." Artists: Duplex 100, HD Substance, Alex Under, Swat Squad, Jaumetic, Falko Brocksieper, Rene Breitbarth, Sergei.

VA: Regular, My Friends and I 2LP (REGUL 001LP). $17.00

Double LP version. Artists: Duplex 100, HD Substance, Alex Under, Swat Squad, Jaumetic, Falko Brocksieper, Rene Breitbarth, Sergei.

PROCESS/JAUMETIC: At First Glance 12" (REGUL 003EP). $9.00

"It's time for Traum and Trapez, 2 icons to understand the electronic minimal stuff produced in Cologne, and in this 12" this is the first part of the work made together between the artists of the 2 labels. The side a include 'Sense', a track produced by the English man that shows very well the style that gave the best reviews in Germany with the last album in Traum and the other 12" edited in labels like Scape. Elegance, sensibility and a touch of the strong personality developed in each one of the tracks produced for this musician that was remixed in other works for example for Akufen? there is no doubt, sense is one of the bests tracks edited by process, it's up to you.. and in the side b, Jaumetic produced a track that minds a new step in the production of the owner of this label, deep atmosphere, electronic sounds but looking to introduce some references of other styles, and it shows that is not only influenced for the minimal stuff of the moment."

RAHN/INAKI MARTIN, M.: On Second Thoughts 12" (REGUL 004EP). $9.00

"5th reference of Regular that continue with the collaborations with the best labels of the moment. It's time for Traum and Trapez, 2 icons to understand the electronic minimal stuff produced. The side A includes 'Sense'. Elegance, sensibility and a touch of the strong personality developed in each one of the tracks produced for this musician. And in the side B, Jaumetic produced a track that minds a new step in the production of the owner of this label, Deep Atmosfear electronic sounds but looking to introduce some references of other styles, and it shows that is not only influenced for the minimal stuff of the moment. A really especial and personal track."

JAUMETIC/SCHAFFHÄUSER: Heroinal Being Wild 12" (REGUL 005 EP). $9.00

"Label headhonocho Jaumetic delivers smart popish shuffle-tech-house and Schaffhäuser puts it a bit weirder."

BREITBARTH, RENE: Startover 12" (REGUL 006 EP). $9.00

"Known for his productions for Pokerflat, Treibstoff, Substatic, Tongut, etc, and of course for the last edition of his great album Solar in Treibstoff with remixes also of Steve Bug, René is far from this usual minimal house sound. Here he presents three tracks of minimal electronic deep house, with slow tempo, and strong personality."

MARIN, INAQUI: All-Bran 12" (REGUL 007 EP). $9.00

"A 100% electronic tech pure sound, for the floor, full of details and colors, and with a strong personality confirmed in this EP All-Bran. On the a side we find 'Schmerzraum', a really personal track with an amazing sound, working with aggressive and deep textures direct for the audience. In some moments more industrial, in some moments, more shuffle, but everybody feels something special when heard this track, it's really special, like the usual style of Regular. Another hit for the label? On the b side, he shows his way to understand the more formal forms on the dance floor, preparing 2 bombs in terms of 'minimal-tech-house'. 'El Extraño' and 'Ouija' are 2 tracks that demonstrate the way that Iñaki understands the electronic tech-house music in Regular code."

BOLIVAR, PABLO: Nominal 12" (REGUL 008EP). $9.00

"Essential minimal-dub meets Spanish easiness. Smooth gliding through cosmic spheres."

DK BERLIN: Swing 12" (REGUL 009EP). $9.00

"Regular arrives to their 10th release showing the first work of Dave Krasseman for the label based in Terrassa (Barcelona). After his works for labels like Raum Musik or Muller, and after a time dedicated to renovation and trying to find new forms in a new style: tech-house. Dave arrives to Regular with a 12" that is personal and perfect to start a relationship with the label that will continue with some new releases in the next months after the summer. Dave is a kind of musician that is always trying to develop a new sound and changes in the typical forms of electronic tech-house style, and always is looking to develop interesting new textures and forms inside the difficult to find new sounds in tech-house style. Swing have 3 simple tracks but with a strong work made in the studio. The details are always involved in the track and the groove bass and rhythm structure is always changing during it."

REIGER RECORDS REEKS (NETHERLANDS):

KAYN, ROLAND: Cybernetic Music 2CD (RRR 9503/4). $35.00

Roland Kayn is a avant garde Dutch composer, perhaps best know for his boxset Tektra (reissued on Barooni). Less known is the fact that he has issued 12 CDs (all but one a double-disk) of his complete works on his own Reiger Records Reeks label; in somewhat Stockhausen-like fashion, the CDs are not cheaply priced and have rarely been distributed, anywhere. We present here the first volumes of this very obscure label, more to follow.

"Roland Kayn was born in Germany in 1933 and started composing at an early age. He was just 20 years old when he won first prize at the festival of 20th century music in Karazuwa, Japan. Shortly after working in electronic studios in Poland, Germany and Italy, he joined the Gruppo Nuova Consonanza and this crucial detour into improvisation with Franco Evangelisti, Aldo Clementi and Ennio Morricone helped him find his definitive musical direction. Kayn decided to pursue his musical quest through composition with the intention, strange as it may seem, of excluding the composer as much as possible. He concentrated solely on electronic and electro-acoustic music from 1970 onwards.

From an early age, Kayn was influenced by information theorists rather than other composers, and it was as a result of this that he started using the term 'cybernetic' when describing his music. Basically, Kayn would design networks of electronic equipment and then develop a system of signals and commands that it could obey and execute. Words like 'melody,' 'harmony' and 'rhythm' do not apply to Kayn's music. Music, supposedly, should have every detail defined by the composer. Kayn insisted that his 'cybernetic' music should regulate itself, thereby relinquishing the narrative elements and the psycho-emotional details usually associated with the ideas of 'authorship' and 'work of art'. This meant that even he could not predict the eventual composition, which were sound processes without an epicentre, where every sound is equally important. For Kayn, 'Music is sound, which is sufficient in itself'. Roland Kayn feels that present day composers should avail themselves of the electronic techniques at their disposal and that electronic music is more than just the result of rapidly expanding technology."

Cybernetic Music was first issued in 1995 and features:

CD1: 'Ready-Made I'; 'Ready-Made II' (1982). CD2: 'Collage'; 'Decollage' (1984) for Johannes Th. Baargeld.

KAYN, ROLAND: Cybernetic Music II CD (RRR 9601). $24.00

2nd volume of Kayn's Cybernetic Music. Originally released 1996. Features: 'Assemblage' (1984), 'Refractions' (1995). "Kayn interpreted the phrase 'cybernetic music' as a sonic process. 'Process' as progression or development, and these terms cannot be too literally applied to his music. Terms like melody, harmony and rhythm, atonality or serialism do not apply to Kayn's music. His music is more like a continually changing resonating structure. More than that, the composer presents his music as an artifice which he constructs and sets in motion, but once he has done this, it is left to move through space, without outside interference, according to its own internal laws." — Frans van Rossum.

KAYN, ROLAND: Cybernetic Music III 2CD (RRR 9602/3). $35.00

Third volume of Cybernetic Music, originally issued in 1996. Features: CD1: 'Cybernetic Serendipity' (1987), 'Transfluxion' (1990), 'Syntropie' (1995). CD2: 'An Artificial Acoustic Environment' (1986), 'Szygy Dynamical Units' (1991), 'Equivalence Sonore I' (1996).

KAYN, ROLAND: Electronic Symphony IV 2CD (RRR 9703/4). $35.00

Second of 2 volumes of Kayn's 'Electronic Symphonies'. Originally released 1997. CD1: 'Electronic Symphony IV' (1988-96)- Abschnitt 1-3. CD2: 'Electronic Symphony IV' - Abschnitt 4, 'Frottage' (1996), 'Minimax' (1996).

REINFORCED (UK):

VA: Enforcers: The Beginning Of The End CD (RIVET CD09). $19.00

Reinforced is the legendary drum'n'bass label run by Mark & Dego of 4 Hero, whose discography goes back to mid-1990, including the earliest Goldie tracks. Their 1996 compilation Above The Law is one of the definitive d'n'b collections and this is the follow up to that. New tracks from Nucleus & Paradox, Nasty Habits (Doc Scott), Sonar Circle, Wings (Roni Size, Krust & Die), Procedure 769 (G-Force & Juice), Innervations, Leon Mar (Arcon 2), Seiji, Cold Mission (Marc Mac), DJ Stretch and Aquasky. Although this is definitely within the parameters of steppin' UK jungle, it's a fresh and experimentally-vibed variant and quite worthwhile. This CD features the complete tracks; the following CD is a separate mixed version.

VA: Enforcers: The Beginning Of The End (mixed) CD (RIVET CDM09). $19.00

Mix CD featuring all of the tracks on the above CD, plus tracks by Grooverider, Tom & Jerry, Nookie, 4 Hero, Wax Doctor, DJ Randall. Mixed by DJ Stretch.

ARCON 2: The Beckoning 3LP (RIVET LP 08). $18.00

Triple LP version; only 6 of the 14 tracks on the CD (which is 30 minutes longer). "Pioneering drum and bass label, Reinforced present their latest artist album project from long standing talent Arcon 2 (aka Leon Mar). The Beckoning sees Arcon 2 continuing to explore the harder edged side of his musical output with a journey into alien atmospheres and precision programmed futuristic beats. It also includes earlier masterpieces like the stunning 'Liquid Earth Parts 1 & 2'. New material continues to push the boundaries and explore both the experimental and dancefloor sides of drum 'n' bass. Other highlights include 'Xenophobia' with it's funky breaks and distorted whispering vocals and the slowly building, complex break-beats of 'Zorak', while appropriately titled 'Wasteland' provides contrast with an ultimate electronic aligned soundscape. All tracks are 100% fresh, for true techno breakbeat fans."

REINHARD WILHELMI (GERMANY):

DIE TÖDLICHE DORIS: Liveplaybacks LP (RW 008 LP). $16.00

"A warehouse find brought this rare LP from 1986. The Tödliche Doris ended their musical career with a live record. Listening to the record, one notices how the sound becomes worse from piece to piece. The reason for this is not the bad quality of the recordings, but a deliberate concept: The group played each piece live only once. For subsequent concerts the Tödliche Doris used the original recording as a playback, to which they feigned. This was in turn recorded with the applause and sounds of the respective audience. This process was repeated several times, so that by the last piece of this layer cake one can hear the sound of seven auditoriums at the same time. The original music exists only as a distorted and blurred noise in the background."

RELEASE:

MERZBOW: Venerology CD (RR 6910). $14.00

Relapse sub-label that is the first to make an effort to market Akita's extremities into the same sprinkler system that founted out several million scatological bibles' worth of eight-syllable verbiage. Can you stand the thrill? Limited stock.

MASONNA: Inner Mind Mystique CD (RR 6940). $14.00

"The audio alter-ego of 1960's psychedelic clothing entrepreneur Maso Yamazaki, Masonna delivers sanity-splintering sounds, augmented with transcendently inhumane vocals that have to be heard to be believed."

REMOTE AUDIO (UK):

VA: Control Freaks - An Electrofunk Compilation CD (RA 1001 CD). $15.00

"Welcome to Remote Audio, instrumental electro funk for 2002. Remote has brought together a number of like-minded artists to twist things up for electroheads from all corners of electronic music. Here is the first helping from the imprint. Control Freaks is a collage of contemporary electro joints from the global electro community. The album offers eleven exclusive new school tracks from the 'next up' electro artists. None of these tracks have been seen before on any format. Artists include Scape One (Kurt Baggailey), Transparent Sound, Fictional Character, Bitstream, Lunar, Rob Euroh and Silicon Scally."

VA: Beyond Control: Adventures in Electrofunk CD (RA 1002 CD). $15.00

"Welcome to the second in Remote Audio's 'Control Electro' Series, an exclusive journey into Electro funk. We have a manifesto to show you the real electro players and the real Electro sound, Electro Funk. Come enjoy the twisted beauty of these unique and inspirational tracks from the Electro's Global Community. Beyond Control Serves up 12 new joints form some of the most important underground Electro producers and acts in the world right now." Artists include: Scape One, Rob Euroh (famous for inventing the 'Euroh Scratch' and is also a brilliant Graffiti Artist), Solar, Retrofit (the Synthetic Funk project by Scape One aka Kurt Baggailey), Mesak (Tatu Metsahti who is one half of Mr Velcro Fastener), Sir Real, Delinquent Dialect (Minimal Experiments & Dislocated Funk), 8-Bit Apocalypse (AKA DJ Sherwen), Bitstream, Cybernet Systems (Phil Klein aka Bass Junkie), Parsec, Redshift.

RENDEZVOUS (FRANCE):

YOUTHANASIA: Mondo Cane 12" (RENDEZ 001EP). $9.00

"Two tracks in the fashion of the 80ies. 'Mondo Cane' is inspired by New Orders' 'Blue Monday' and the Manchester music in general the musicians visited frequently Manchester 'Hazienda' in the end of the 80ies, beginning of the 90ies enjoying 808 State and Mike Pickering at the decks. 'Normalize' is a cover version of a famous but widely unknown hi energy classic from 1983, here with vocals and additional programming."

REPERTOIRE (GERMANY):

CLARK HUTCHINSON: Retribution CD (PMS 7088). $16.00

The second album from 1970. Emphasizing an IQ-reducing bluntness of blues guitar destruction, most fully communicated on the opening 'Free To Be Stoned'. Now expanded to a full band, their sound is a bit more rooted in the bar-rock-misery of young British life in the early 70s, compared to the eloquent Eastern-tinged inspiration that makes their duo debut A≡MH2 such a stunning force. [deleted release, last copies]

BURDON & THE ANIMALS, ERIC: Winds Of Change CD (REP 1003). $16.00

"Newcastle rocker Eric Burdon had quit his stormy R&B period with the original Animals and assembled The New Animals (Mk.2), opting for a brand new sound. Winds Of Change was packed with outstanding compositions and instantly became a psychedelic classic, even though it was underrated by critics at the time of its first release, back in 1967. 'San Franciscan Nights' and 'Good Times' are simply irresistible, while 'The Black Plague' and 'Hotel Hell' still send shivers down the spine, and their reworking of The Stones' 'Paint It Black' is a truly great cover version. Additional singles round up one of the ultimate recording highlights of the unforgettable Summer of Love."

EXUMA: Exuma CD (REP 1006). $16.00

First legit reissue of this 1970 debut album, originally issued by Mercury. Freaked-out music, with elements of voodoo, Bahamian folklore, African/Caribbean shamanism, etc., in a cultish variation of early Dr. John. Well-time for rediscover. "In 1970, decades before 'World Music' became a music biz trade term, a New York based seven-piece ensemble called Exuma caused an international stir. The superb debut album of this multi-racial outfit from the West Indies and the Bahamas, fronted by singer Tony 'The Obeah Man' McKay, is now available for the very first time on CD. At the time, their magnificently rhythmic sound fell on fertile grounds, notably in Europe, where Exuma ('the ghost of water and air') became a cult item. Take a chance on this one and explore 40 minutes of sounds from another hemisphere."

EXUMA: Exuma II CD (REP 1007). $16.00

First legit reissue of this 1970 album, their 2nd. "Only a few months after Exuma's tremendous success with their eponymous debut album (Exuma), charismatic singer Tony 'The Obeah Man' McKay and his band released their follow-up LP on the Mercury label. Based once again on intriguing Afro-American and Indian percussion and tribal chants, the seven-piece New York City based group landed another great album, that will now be available in the record stores for the first time on CD. A cult recording, like its predecessor, it will delight both rock and world music fans alike."

QUINTESSANCE: In Blissful Company CD (REP 1009). $16.00

Originally issued on Island, 1969. "As pop music made its way into rock in the late sixties, several of its protagonists decided to leave behind the well-trodden paths of the past. Native Australian Ron Rothfield (flute) formed Quintessence, a six-piece outfit based in London's Notting Hill, that blended jazz, folk and meditative sounds. The group's highly sought after debut album, originally released on the legendary Island Records label, produced a cornucopia of Far-Eastern elements, taxing rock improvisations and religious themes — all brilliantly executed by six adventurous soloists. For its Repertoire CD debut, In Blissful Company has the addition of two rare extra A & B-side tracks taken from a rarely found single."

TROGGS, THE: From Nowhere CD (REP 1010). $16.00

"Recognized in hindsight as pioneering 'proto-punks', The Troggs — led by vocalist Reg Presley and buddies from Andover, England — exploded onto the UK pop scene in May 1966. Their raw offerings (which include notable 60s classics such as 'Wild Thing' and 'With A Girl Like You' among many others) resulted in nine UK chart smash hits by the end of 1968, four of which are featured here. This expertly compiled CD combines the band's debut album (including all the contents of the respective UK and German releases) together with five additional singles tracks from their Fontana/Page One period."

QUINTESSANCE: Quintessence CD (REP 1016). $18.00

2nd album, originally issued by Island, 1970. "The unique sound of these pioneers of new age rock and can be fully enjoyed and appreciated on this remarkable CD. Quintessence was the band's second album and was first released in 1970. Featuring a sparkling blend of spiritual lyrics and jazz and rock instrumentals, it still sounds remarkably fresh today. Flute player Raja Ram and vocalist Shiva Shankar, who tear into such classic Quintessence performances as 'Sea Of Immortality', and a 'live' recording of 'Burning Bush', front the group that veers stylistically between Cream and Jethro Tull. Repertoire is proud to reproduce on this important CD the classic cover Quintessence with an LP style gatefold sleeve and striking cover picture of Shiva."

JADE WARRIOR: Jade Warrior CD (REP 1019). $16.00

"Jade Warrior — an eclectic group led by Jon Field (percussion) and Tony Duhig (guitar) — are hailed pioneers of World and New Age music. The group released three albums, Jade Warrior, Released and Last Autumn's Dream, and their sound combined a straightforward rock style with the varied tempo changes and experimental instrumentation typical of early '70s Art Rock' bands. This reissue of British prog/art rock, originally released in 1971 presents tracks that are positively strange. The sound ranges from tribal music to an indescribable sort of psychedelic rock. Superbly performed and very unusual."

TROGGS, THE: Trogglodynamite CD (REP 1020). $16.00

"'Oh No' is just one of the highlights of this superb collection of performances by The Troggs, originally released in 1966. It typifies the group's mixture of musical aggression and saucy humour that helped make them a Sixties' pop sensation. We hear The Troggs, fronted by singer Reg Presley, in action on 14 dynamite numbers that include a spirited version of Chuck Berry's 'Little Queenie' and Bo Diddley's 'Mona', as well as several Reg Presley originals, notably 'I Want You To Come Into My Life'. This CD includes eight bonus tracks featuring A and B-sides of such singles as 'Any Way That You Want Me' and 'Give It To Me'."

TROGGS, THE: Cellophane CD (REP 1021). $16.00

"Reg Presley's song 'Love Is All Around' — memorably featured in the hit movie Four Weddings And A Funeral — is one of the highlights of this CD. First released in 1967, the album brings back memories of one of the best-loved British pop groups of the Swinging Sixties. Reg and The Troggs roar through a dozen rocking numbers, including 'Little Red Donkey', 'Her Emotion' and 'My Lady', which demonstrates their songwriting skill as well as their ability to play with fire. We have added eight bonus tracks, comprising selected A and B-sides from 1969-70 plus four special bonus cuts — featuring both sides of solo singles from Troggs' drummer Ronnie Bond and leader Reg Presley. All these rare items have been carefully restored and remastered for this release."

AMON DÜÜL II: Play Phallus Dei DVD (REP 3016 DVD). $24.00

First ever commercial release of this legendary ADII movie! DVD/digipak, Aspect Ratio 4 : 3; Original Mono + Dolby Digital 5.1; US-compatible NTSC, regionfree. "This is a cinematic retrospective, focusing on the early experimental days of Amon Düül II. The original film, shot in the Summer of 1968 at a Munich studio, features the German rock group with their legendary line-up. A few months before signing their first recording contract, the group was filmed performing the title track from their 1969 debut album. The movie was launched at the Edinburgh Film Festival. 'The film could be entitled 'The Creation Of Sound',' remarked the programme notes. A respected national daily newspaper enthused: '...a German rock music movie — Rüdiger Nüchtern's one of the Munich rock group Amon Düül — turned out to be the most successful entry and the only one to earn spontaneous applause and requests for a repeat performance, in addition to earning the curious accolade: 'It's rough, it's vicious, it's drama.'"' [Technical note: it appears that the above sound information, as published on the disc, is incorrect; there is only 1 audio track on this release — and its companion version, REP 3017 — which is 2 channel Mono; there is no 5.1 sound as advertised]

AMON DÜÜL II: Plays Phallus Dei DVD (REP 3017 DVD). $24.00

Now available in the more standard DVD-styled Super CD package. First ever commercial release of this legendary ADII movie. DVD/digipak, Aspect Ratio 4 : 3; Original Mono + Dolby Digital 5.1; US-compatible NTSC, regionfree. "This is a cinematic retrospective, focusing on the early experimental days of Amon Düül II. CLEAR BLUE SKY: Clear Blue Sky CD (REP 4110). $16.00

Originally released on Vertigo in 1970.

BROUGHTON BAND, EDGAR: CD (REP 4409). $16.00

The Repertoire catalog is available again in the US, at new lower pricing. Reissue of this UK underground cult-rock group's third album, originally issued by Harvest in 1971. Following Wasa Wasa and Sing Brother Sing, this self-titled album is generally referred to by its cringe-specific meat-hook rack cover. Prominent in sludge-riff blues extrapolations and heavy boogie-step slashing/flavor, this represents one of the groups's most memorable moments. This CD reissue (first issued in 1994) adds 4 bonus tracks from 1970 Harvest 7"s.

HAPSHASH & THE COLOURED COAT: Western Flier CD (REP 4415). $16.00

2nd album from 1969. "The talents of Groundhogs guitarist T.S. McPhee and songwriter Mike Batt are heard on this 'strange' LP, the second and final release from Hapshash. The ultra rare 'Colinda' single is included amongst the 10 featured tracks. Contrary to the first album, which mainly consisted of free music, lyric poetry, Gregorian chants and Andalusian/oriental folk music, Western Flier is a crazy, high-spirited collection of old, well known folk-rock and blues material, spiced with all such currently used, individually distorted studio effects such as fuzz, feedback, phasing, etc." [deleted release, last copies]

MONKS: Black Monk Time CD (REP 4438). $16.00

"The Monks were G.I.s who billed themselves the 'anti-Beatles'. They were heavy on feedback, nihilism and electric banjo. They had strange haircuts, dressed in black and rocked harder than any of their mid-60s counterparts while managing to basically invent punk." Right. Included music is considered the pantheon of 'outsider' music's brief but impactful mid sixties explosion, the kick-off to Krautrock, psychedelia, yadda yadda..." — Hrvatski

AMON DÜÜL II: Made In Germany CD (REP 4631). $12.00

This album, considered the first German Rock Opera, was released in 1975 as ADII's 9th full length; this CD reissues the complete double album (the American LP at the time was reduced to a single). A somewhat mediocre ADII album, but with some okay mock-arena moments... [deleted release, last copies]

HAWKWIND: Sonic Boom Killers CD (REP 4676). $16.00

Subtitled: "Best of Singles A's and B's from 1970 to 1980". All time classics like "Silver Machine," "Urban Guerilla," "Hurry On Sundown," "Kings of Speed," "The Psychedelic Warlords," "Motorhead," etc. Digipak sleeve, with interior booklet of photos and notes.

AMON DÜÜL: Para Dieswärts Düül CD (REP 4678). $12.00

Definitive reissue of perhaps the most musical Amon Düül 1 album, a complete masterpiece of the early 70s psychedelic acid-folk sound. Layers of acoustic guitars, bongos, flutes, and vocals deeply entwined with the universal tongue. For sit-back-and-melt-into-your-carpet albums, this is right there at the top of any pile you want to start. This version included the 2 bonus single tracks as well. Booklet has a previously unpublished photo of the group and more detailed session information than I remember being published elsewhere. [deleted release, last copies]

MORODER, GIORGIO: From Here To Eternity CD (REP 4759). $12.00

Reissue of this 1977 classic (originally issued by Casablanca). Italian producer Giorgio Moroder is best known for his "computer disco" productions in the late 70s, most famously displayed on Donna Summer's legendary track "I Feel Love" (if you don't own at least one double-digit length version, you're missing a piece of the puzzle). His career as a producer of music dates from about 1966 on into the 90s but most of his music is pretty dismissable — even a popular series of movie soundtracks that are spotty at best. But in 1977 he peaked with this awesome, all electronic album (originally issued by Casablanca). Taking the sequencing pulse strategies of prime Kraftwerk and adding an inexplicable Italian cheesiness via vocoders, synth washes & ridiculously happy lyrics, he came up with a rhythmically intense, futuristic and maddeningly accessible work. You can hear the roots of Air and a lot of other contemporary electronic producers within the studio details found here — and if you're willing to allow just one Moroder album into your consensual reality, this has got to be the one.

MORODER, GIORGIO: The Best Of CD (REP 4825). $16.00

A collection of hit singles and album tracks from the computer disco king. Starting with obscure and historically revealing rock and metronomic power pop tracks from the mid-60s, this starts to really heat up with tracks from his classic mid-70s albums Knights in White Satin & E=MC2 (previously unavailable on CD). Also perhaps most importantly: the alternate single version of "From Here To Eternity" and the quintessential Moroder disco track "Chase" (from the Midnight Express soundtrack). The 2nd half of the album delves into the 80s material, collaborative singles with Paul Engemann, Philip Oakey and Donna Summer, etc. More of a made-for-TV power ballad style, but you gotta put it all in perspective, I guess. Liner notes by Chris Welch are typically half-ass.

WRITING ON THE WALL: The Power Of The Picts CD (REP 4854). $16.00

New version (remastered by Eroc) of the lone album by this Edinburgh-based group, originally issued on the hallowed Middle Earth label, in 1969. Progressive hard rock with trademark organ and beer'n'blues vocals, belted out with typically brain-reducing power. If you've ever carved concrete to the accompaniment of the Edgar Broughton Band or Stackwaddy you could probably melt a new cap to the sound of this one. [deleted release, last copies]

AMON DÜÜL II: Phallus Dei CD (REP 4872). $16.00

The Amon Düül II saga continues with new remastered versions of these classic early albums. After carrying these on Repertoire (2 different prior versions), Mantra, Captain Trip & Gammarock, we are always ready for more. These versions feature digitally remastered sound and bonus tracks. Phallus Dei is the first ADII album. As with all CDs in this series, it has been "Restored and remastered by EROC at The Ranch". Amon Düül II were one of the leading German underground commune-psychedelic bands from the early 70s. Split apart from the more politicized fraction that would go on to record as Amon Düül I (Psychedelic Underground, etc.), ADII emerged in 1969 when they released this fantastic debut album. It's a masterwork of drug-dazed guitar psych, long tracks, middle eastern influence, churning trance rock, etc. With the same four bonus tracks as found the prior Gammarock version: "Freak Out Requiem I", "Freak Out Requiem II", "Freak Out Requiem III", & "Cymbals In The End".

AMON DÜÜL II: Yeti CD (REP 4914). $16.00

New digitally remastered version. Mid-line pricing, with a 12 page booklet of liner notes & photos detailing the history of ADII. This is at least the sixth CD version of Yeti, an all-time classic Krautrock album from 1970, that we have carried to date (previous CD versions were on Repertoire, Mantra, Captain Trip and then Repertoire again, and most recently the ill-fated Gammarock series), and by all appearances, this is the best sounding & visually appealing version yet. And as can be expected, the quality of the performance remains as staggering as ever — Yeti is one of the deepest rock records of all time. A follow up to their debut Phallus Dei, the structures here are even more extended, the vibe even more wasted and the music's psychedelic excess is at a personal peak. The shimmering oscillations and over-bleeded vocals that nearly drown the hard power-drive psych of the 7 minute "Eye-Shaking King" are amongst some of the coolest in the annals of sound. The final tracks are a series of long, stoned improvisations, etc.. Endlessly devastating. This version features 2 bonus 7" tracks from 1970: "Rattlesnakeplumcake" and "Between The Eyes".

AMON DÜÜL II: Tanz Der Lemmings CD (REP 4915). $16.00

Aka Dance of the Lemmings, the 3rd ADII album, from 1971. ADII's 2nd sprawling "double LP" set in a row, this is the record that secretly destroyed J. Cope's brain. Slightly less intense than Yeti, this moves into the progressive space-folk territories, still with plenty of psych guitar flashes and violin streakings, that sorta defined the style of advanced-structure psych that would dominate their sound for a good few years. As with prior reissues, there are no bonus tracks added to Tanz Der Lemmings.

MORODER & JOE ESPOSITO, GIORGIO: Solitary Men CD (REP 4949). $16.00

German reissue of the disco legend's 1983 album with Joe Esposito. 14 tracks including 3 bonus 'Face To Face', 'Chase' (1985 remix by Brian Reeves) & 'Valley Of The Dolls' (Instrumental). 2001. Pretty tough release to digest in an 80s synth-wave vein (Joe's vocals are described as "husky, rich and emotive")...

AMON DÜÜL II: Carnival in Babylon CD (REP 4986). $16.00

New 2002 remastered version (comparing these new "Restored by Eroc" versions in A/B fashion to old Captain Trip or Mantra editions is ridiculous, entire layers of murk have been transformed & revealed). The fourth ADII album, from 1972. Features shorter, more accessible ADII tracks, still quite compelling; "C.I.D. in Uruk" and "Kronwinkl 12" are totally mesmerizing. This version adds 4 bonus tracks not found on previous versions released by Mantra and Captain Trip: "Light", "Between The Eyes" & "All The Years Round" (single version) & "Lemmingmania".

AMON DÜÜL II: Wolf City CD (REP 4987). $16.00

Definitive 2002 reissue. The 5th ADII album, from 1972. Restored and digitally remastered by Eroc, no bonus tracks. "Rather than focusing on standout virtuosity, AD2 sought to create a hybrid of progressive and psychedelic styles in which mood and texture were the most important features — to this end, the presence of various guests serves them remarkably well. The seven tracks on Wolf City are all imbued with a certain brilliance that transcends individual contribution — the perfect sort of music for psychedelic dungeons of any description...The obvious standout is 'Wie Der Wind Am Ende Einer Strasse', an early excursion into world-music fusion featuring drones, sitar and tabla in accompaniment with the psychedelia proffered by the other musicians." — The Christopher Currie.

AMON DÜÜL II: Vive La Trance CD (REP 4988). $16.00

2002 definitive reissue, restored and remastered by Eroc. The sixth ADII album from 1973. With one bonus track: a single version of "Mozambique". "Vive La Trance" shines, with world music rhythms on 'Mozambique', strangely dissonant sounds on 'Jalousie', wondrous organ noises on 'Fly Unlimited' and with short, succinct rock songs, such as 'Trap', 'Dr.', and 'Pig Man'."

T-REX: The Singles A's & B's 2CD (REP 4993). $23.00

2002 release of this double CD of singles' tracks, as originally released 1972-78. Features 50 total tracks, 6 more than the UK version on Edsel. "This double CD mid-price package features all A-sides issued from 1972 to 1978, accompanied chronologically by their 28 B-sides (several singles had two tracks on the B-side). Many of these singles did not appear on Bolan's contemporary albums; they show the diversity of Marc's work in the studio, whether creating amusing diversions, experimental album tracks or simply material that couldn't be placed in any category." 16 page booklet of photos, sleeve reproductions and Chris Welch liner notes.

ART OF NOISE: Into Battle With The Art of Noise CD/DVD (REP 5001). $18.00

"UK based pop experimentalists Art Of Noise were formed in 1983 and featured Trevor Horn and Anne Dudley. They were the first artists to be signed to Horn's own ZTT record label. Determined to be a different kind of group, the band positioned themselves as the link between Talking Heads, Abba, Kraftwerk, Zappa and The Archies. Art of Noise achieved early success as dancefloor favourites in America with their innovative Into Battle... EP, which is featured on this CD/DVD combined with two superb versions of the hit single Close Up (84) and four rare DVD tracks."

AMON DÜÜL II: Live In London CD (REP 5005). $16.00

"Amon Düül was one of the first German rock groups. Formed in 1967 from a commune, they were conceived as a musical and ideological reaction to the global political situation of the day. The band members all emerged from the hippie movement and experimented with drugs. Two of the most significant recordings, Phallus Dei and Tanz Der Lemminge paved the way for their first British tour in Autumn 1972. During the tour — marred by chaotic organization, numerous transport breakdowns and financial inconsistencies — Amon Düül recorded a gig at the Greyhound Club in Croydon, which was released in 1973. The media approved. When Live In London saw the light of day, a German critic wrote in the magazine 'Sounds' with an undertone of praise: 'It offers a nice imprint of what Amon Düül II represented in those days, when they'd just reached their first pinnacle of success with 'Archangels Thunderbird'."

REPHLEX (UK):

JONES: Like Me You're Like Me CD (PEN 015CD). $9.00

Debut release from Jones, a new artist on Rephlex and a member of the Cornwall Posse (ie. a friend of Richard James, Luke Vibert and Tom Middleton). Rephlex continues to throw everyone's expectations into the sewer, with this strange, somewhat "funny" release of prog/big-beat thumpery, electronic whistls and the closest approximation of Rephlex Rock that there has ever been. "An eclectic 8 track single that Jones recorded in his caravan. As Jones himself says on the artwork, 'It all started when I went out to dinner with Bernie Winters, age 7. By 9, I was friends with Rod Stewart. My brother is Tom Jones. First band at 13 with Luke Vibert. Later, joined 'Arnold' (kicked out, thankfully) and decided to get solo'd up. My dad is Howard Jones. First place with Tom Middleton in Roger Taylor's Cornish Breakdance challenge. Maybe you've heard me on Kiss, or even seen me in Echoes, Melody Maker, or Penthouse. I enjoy talking to MTV and streaking at festivals. I am an orange teddy bear. Every word of this is true, I swear on my sixth string."

JONES: Like Me You're Like Me 12" (PEN 015LP). $9.00

One extra bonus track on the vinyl that plays backwards.

AFX: Analogue Bubblebath 3 CD (REPH 008CD). $12.00

Packaged in a clear slimline jewel case, this is a much desired reissue of a near impossible to track down Aphex artifact from '93. "AFX is Richard D. James aka Aphex Twin aka Caustic Window. Analogue Bubblebath 3 is a repress of a 'lost' album originally released in 1993. This 13 track CD is a great value for money featuring a broad spectrum of AFX magic. For any self respecting fan of Mister James this album is a must...[he] lives in a bank, drives a tank and is considering buying a submarine. The man is a genius and the re-release of Analogue Bubblebath 3 gives newcomers to his world the opportunity to sample some early sonic delights." Track Listing: 1 .215061 (cd version) 2 .1993841 3 .0180871a 4 .942937 5 .0180871b 6 .000890569 (cd version) 7 .55278037732581 8 ————— [analogue bubblebath vol 3 cd - #8] 9 ————— [analogue bubblebath vol 3 cd - #9] 10 AFX 6/b 11 ————— [analogue bubblebath vol 3 cd - #11] 12 ————— [analogue bubblebath vol 3 cd - #12] 13 ————— [analogue bubblebath vol 3 cd - #13a] ————— [analogue bubblebath vol 3 cd - #13b]

AFX: Analogue Bubblebath 3 2LP (REPH 008LP). $16.50

"One of Aphex Twin (and Rephlex's) greatest musical moments rereleased with all the tracks (as they are on the CD) for the first time. Now double vinyl, remastered, repackaged and reordered for lushness! AFX is Richard D. James aka Aphex Twin aka Caustic Window. Analogue Bubblebath 3 is a repress of a 'lost' album originally released in 1993. For any self respecting fan of Mister James this album is a must...[he] lives in a bank, drives a tank and is considering buying a submarine. The man is a genius and the re-release of Analogue Bubblebath 3 gives newcomers to his world the opportunity to sample some early sonic delights."

CAUSTIC WINDOW: Compilation CD (REPH 009CD). $14.50

Repressed. Caustic Window is Richard D. James AKA Aphex Twin/AFX/Diceman/Gak/Polygon Window/Q-Chastic/Soit-PP/Blue Calx/Rich of Mike And Rich/etc.... This release collects ALL of the audio from his classic Joyrex J4/J5/J9i/J9ii releases (originally issued in the early-mid nineties on a head-scratching array of picture disc singles and limited vinyl) onto a neat (albeit far less graphically appealing) CD/3LP compendium, a welcome surprise after seeing the demand for original vinyl increase near-exponentially as of late. A varied mix of Dicky's trademark AFX melancholy and hardcore acid maelstrom. "The Caustic Window EP's were the first to appear on Rephlex and instantly set the standards for everyone else to follow. The first 2 EP's were limited to 2000 copies each and remain among the most in demand records on many a trainpotter's list.". Hotly tipped. In demand. Rephlex's new motto is "File under Brainsdance".

μ-ZIQ: Tango N' Vectif 2CD (REPH 013CD). $14.50

"Re-release of the groundbreaking debut album by μ-Ziq aka Mike Paradinas with complete tracks from previous vinyl and CD releases plus already deleted 12"s and unreleased rarities. With all tracks being digitally remastered, this double CD comes for the price of one." μ-Ziq is the most recorded name for Mike Paradinas. Tango N' Vectif is the legendary first μ-Ziq album from 1993, mixing excessive distortion (on everything) and accessible melodic lines piled on top. "On this occasion, the capable pushers of switches are μ-Ziq, an imaginative young duo, one of whom plays Double Bass. The other is a noted arranger and conductor, although in this project he prefers to direct an ensemble composed of a sine-wave generator, square wave generator, saw-tooth generator, pulse generator, noise generator, multi-vibrator, band-pass filter and a ring modulator, with the occasional percussive obligato produced with the aid of some small metal bars and a piano...they gather the electronic sounds, chop them about, tone them down, tone them up, alter their pitch, alter their speed and pile them in layers...The cheerful melodies they have composed are served up with an accompaniment that is a fascinating stream of tapping sounds, hisses, bubbles, bumps, rattles, squeaks, whistles, moans, sighs, twitters, clanks, muffled explosions and unmuffled explosions. This may appear to be a cosy little chaos, but these works are in fact as highly organised as anything conceived by Schönberg."

AFX: Analogue Bubble Bath 4 CD (REPH 019CD). $8.00

Long unavailable 1994 EP repressed at last. Twenty-seven minutes of Richard's most insanely drilling 'ardcore, packed side by side with some twinkly electro bubble-bursts of melancholic AFX sound. It's really quite a goddamn laugh to be sitting here listening to this in the late 90s, surrounded by an entire universe of live oxygen and leak-free inks — life's pleasure's are just incessantly tremendous, sometimes.

MIKE & RICH: Expert Knob Twiddlers CD (REPH 027CD). $14.50

The one-and-only duo album from early '96 by Mr. Mike Paradinas (aka μ-ziq) and Mr. Richard D. James (aka AFX). Not the experimental freakout experimental electronic-fest many expected but somewhat underrated at the same time for it's collection of cheesy effects and programming & incessant melodies. A "funny" record of illusionary game sound-tracking that might get better with proper datage.

SQUAREPUSHER: Feed Me Weird Things CD (REPH 037CD). $14.50

Restocked. Squarepusher is Tom Jenkinson. Stunning, complex programming intertwined with fusion-flecked electric bass creating some of the most euphoric, havoc-wrecked sounds of the contemporary era. This is the album that put it all together (to be followed by a series of albums for Warp) and is, in simple terms, one of the cornerstones of mid-90s sound recordings. "The next thing I felt was a fuzzy vibration, as monophonic sound waves that had travelled from the other side of the room at the speed of light, compressed the air and displacing the the smoke of ten spliffs, hit me in both ears simultaneously. It was Mr. Jenkinson who was turning my heartbeat into the sound of a ring piece modulated resonant phaselocked trapezoid backwards edit phlanged kick drum. He made the sound of ambulances turn into slide trombones and the sound of a secretary filing her nails into a 24-piece string section... Undoubtedly, Tom Jenkinson is the first man in history to orchestrate an akai-seltzer fizzing a two mega byte simms memory upgrade chip (with 1 nanosecond access time) and a toilet flushing. When Mr. Jenkinson is conducting, the rest of the world is a pit... The Squarepusher is someone who wonders what the holes of a flute sound like without the flute. Sound like sound never sounded before. Richard Rogers and Julie Andrews gave us the Sound of Music, John Cage and Simon and Garfunkel gave us the Sound of Silence and now the Squarepusher gives the Sound of Sound." —PRichard.D.Jams

GENTLE PEOPLE, THE: Soundtracks For Living CD (REPH 045CD). $12.50

The Gentle People are Dougee Dimensional, Honeymink, Laurie LeMans & Leo Valentine Carnelian. "Renowned for their mellow easy-listening parties and performances at the Big Chill, these one time neighbors of Richard James are in a world of their own (literally). Their sound blends stereo demonstration kitsch and ambient sound pools with a healthy dose of 60's throw-away pop sensibility. The perfect soundtrack for a Paris schoolgirl living in a black and white French New Wavefilm. Their two EPs and full length album for Rephlex have brought them attention from swingers worldwide." —Gonzi Merchan.

SAM & VALLEY: 2nd, 3rd, 4th Selection CD (REPH 048CD). $10.00

A bit overstocked on this one, so onsale at a reduced price. A new, utterly odd and disconcertingly charming group from Japan, discovered by Aphex. Naive computer rock/pop, barely connected to planet earth, performed by this trio on keyboards, vocals, bass, computer, guitar. According to their official bio, "Alex de K' who was solo-active passing through the Japanese Punk band 'clarise' etc, met 'Special & Max' the computer-programming artist in Tokyo. They were kindred spirits, formed the unit (Sam & Valley) in 1995. The minute melody by 'Special & Max', roughhewn sound by 'Alex de K', putting them together, (Sam & Valley) can create unknown rock style. It is named 'unsuitable rock' by them. In 1996, 'Tango Rooster' who was enthusiastic-fan of (Sam & Valley) since 3rd as a changeable guitarist. All of them are Japanese."

K-ROCK: New Deal 12" (REPH 050EP). $10.00

"As his graffiti tag states, K-Rock, nee Kelly Potter comes from the N5 borough of London, and lives on Highbury estate. Kelly started his professional raving career as a dancer for Baby Ford — you can spot him spinning in the 'Children Of The Revolution' video a top 40 hit back in 1991 — and has been a long-time Rephlex Assault Squad member as an international DJ, MC and dancer. After released two highly acclaimed EP's on ED DMX's celebrated Breakin records, K-Rock's music comes home to Rephlex this summer, expect an EP of rough moody old school tracks with a strong garage influence, reflecting the sounds of the streets around Kelly's area and the techno, house and rare groove he loves so much. With 10 tracks 'New Deal' is an EP in absolute full length format and even features a free 7"."

LEILA: Like Weather LP (REPH 056LP). $16.00

Vinyl version, limited remaining stock. "Debut full length, following 2 singles for Rephlex. Amazing outsider-pop record that will someday be "discovered," and one of the most startling Rephlex releases in a while. "Thirteen tracks of quality genre defying music from Bjork collaborator. This album covers many styles from Aphexesque noise abortion to sultry r'n'b. So if you're looking for an easy listen run away now, but if you want to hear a unique and timeless album this is the one for you." Limited stock.

FREAKWINCEY: I Farted CD (REPH 060CD). $8.00

"Rephlex has given up releasing groundbreaking records and is now concentrating on wind breaking records! As soon as you hear the bottom end rip, you can tell this outfit comes from good stock, with production qualities that you don't get on this side of the Atlantic. This could be because half the members of the band have fathers who were in George Clinton's Parliament. Ray Billups' son is in the band on rapping duties. Freakwincey have been together for 15 years and have toured all over the world supporting the likes of Colonel Abrams, Parliament, Funkadelic, Portrait and Morris Day & The Time."

LEILA: Space, Love 12" (REPH 062EP). $8.00

12" vinyl version.

GENTLE PEOPLE, THE: Mix Gently CD (REPH 063CD). $8.00

"The Gentle People return to sooth our fevered brows and supply an antidote to the harshness of life, this time with the superb remix talents Ed DMX with a full on flurry of dance-floor electro, and the unique Global Goon in tow. Mix Gently features remixes of some of The Gentle People's finest moments, plus a glimpse into forthcoming material in the shape of 'Groovin' With You'; a fusion of ambient, psychedelia and future pop."

BUCKLE, J.P.: Flying Lo-Fi CD (REPH 064CD). $12.50

Debut album by the guy who recorded the Rubber Johnny CD for Warp (he's also a member of All Seeing I). Sound-pleasing fidelity ramification with acid tonality, and another screwy but perfectly sensible Rephlex release from outside whatever normal parameters you might expect. "He's from Sheffield, as you might guess from the title of his debut album, his musical equipment is not the most advanced money can buy. But what the 'eck — this is definitely brainsdance. Remember, we brought you debut albums by AFX, μ-ziq, Squarepusher, The Gentle People and Leila and they all seem to be doing all right."

LEILA: Feeling CD (REPH 067CD). $8.00

The first new single from Leila since her debut Rephlex album Like Weather. Features a remixed version of "Feeling" from the album — mixed at the Bubble with a very Plaid-ish vibe, backed with "Outro-vert" and the instrumental "Intro-vert". Every Leila record meets the head-turning quotient, if you ask me.

LEILA: Feeling 12" (REPH 067EP). $8.00

12" EP version.

BODENSTANDIG 2000: Maxi German Rave Blast Hits Vol. 3 CD (REPH 068CD). $12.50

"Bodenstandig 2000 are two German boys Bernhard Kirsch and Dragan Espenschied, who, after living life in this age of rapid technology development, have decided to utilize their talents in writing and publishing music software and become popstars. Using the aforementioned software (Deluxe Mjuzakk Zerbastel Kit) along with various other devices which they saved for with their pocket money, Bodenstandig 2000 now create the defining sound of our generation that was born next to computer monitors, with outstanding lyrics telling their subtle poems of their lives as computer kids and cablefreaks. Although Bodenstandig make their music on the cheap, they stand for maximum commerciality and first class sales figures, every track from the album is a guaranteed dance-floor smash, as well as for those thoughtful moments in your lif. Basically, they are catchy as hell." Big at www.paperrad.org(?)

BODENSTANDIG 2000: Maxi German Rave Blast Hits Vol. 3 2LP (REPH 068LP). $12.50

DRED/PETER GREEN, MIKE: Virtual Farmer CD (REPH 070CD). $12.50

"The result of a fated collaboration between Mike Dred and Pete Green aka Machine Codes. Mike recorded some of the first releases on Rephlex as the Kosmik Kommando: hard electronic sounds and rhythms that are great to listen to. Pete completed an MA in Electroacoustic Composition at the University of East Anglia, based around challenging electronic sounds and non-rhythms. The two met over the sale of a sampler, exchanged views and realised that here lay the seed for something mould-shattering. On Virtual Farmer, Mike and Pete have united cutting-edge factions from club music with state-of-the-art electroacoustic techniques. Touch analogue beats dissolve into spectral mush; half-sounds dive across the stereo image, before regaining their rhythmic footing. Sounding unlike anything you've ever heard before, Virtual Farmer is pushing the boundaries of Braindance back — way back."

O'DELL, ROBERT: Presents... 12" (REPH 073TEP). $8.00

O'DELL, ROBERT: Presents... CD (REPH 073XCD). $8.00

A split EP of sorts, featuring Robert O'Dell productions: Pop Device doing 'Black' and Indigenous Tribe doing 'Flight 313'. Freaky, but not like Freakwince (thankfully). Only about 6 minutes long. "An EP of dope Stateside electronic hip hop/dance pop with boomin' bass and baaaad lyrics. Robert O'Dell has done two remixes for George Clinton that are currently unreleased. He's worked in Detroit and LA as engineer and producer for countless number of professional artists, and has played live a lot. O'Dell's influences range from Bowie, Prince and Björk to B52's, James Brown and Busta Rhymes. He loves to engineer hip hop and has recently taken up professional go-kart racing."

CYLOB: Living in the 1980's CD (REPH 075CD). $8.00

"If this song was released with St. Etienne (or Cher!) on the cover it would, without doubt, go straight to number one on the hit parade. The A side is the catchiest pop song ever, so much so Cylob thought it too catchy to release at first, but was swayed by the overwhelming weight of public opinion. Female vox on '1980s' by Jane Sharp from Australia. The track was her idea as she is a big fan of 80s acts like Adam and the Ants, Duran Duran, and Kajagoogoo. The guitar solo by Jones Machine is R-O-C-K. And to top it off, Cylob does a live rap, which took a lot of persuading to get him to do. The B side 'Sex Machine' is in the same style as 'Rewind', but much more raw — and deals with the tricky subject of whether it's possible to find true satisfaction with a domestic appliance."

D'ARCANGELO: Shipwreck CD (REPH 078CD). $12.50

"First full length album from the D'Arcangelo duo, marking not only a virtual return to Rephlex's L'Age D'Or via quality project #3 so far this year (#1: Reissue of 808 State's Newbuild LP, #2 Bogdan Raczynski) but a return to the solid 35-minute LP (all killer, no filler) that takes 3 years to make. Official Rephlex site propaganda: "SUBJECT: Fabrizio D'Arcangelo, Marco D'Arcangelo AKA: D'Archangelo; Twins who have admitted to being influenced by J.M. Jarre, Kraftwerk, Eno, Tangerine Dream and finally AFX himself. The brothers have released singles on the Italian labels Hot Trax, ACV, Out of Orbit, Disturbance and Germany's Disko B dating from 92 — 95. Their first EP for Rephlex was released in December of 96." A brilliant set of electro-tinged triggers that'll only strengthen the interest in the mystical scene of Italian electronic producers currently practising in the wake of computer disco and IDM. Set." — Hrvatski.

LEKTROGIRL: I Love My Computer CD (REPH 079CD). $12.50

"Rephlex presents the debut release from a new lady artist from Tasmania. Her name is Lektrogirl aka Emma Davidson. If you were wondering what elektronik music might sound in Tasmania, imagine the most catchy music from your favourite N64 or Playstation game, then imagine a whole album like that (but it doesn't give you sore eyes or sore thumbs). You might think in the first case, it might sound basic at first, especially if you flick through it quickly when first listening to it. But imagine taking John Carpenter's classic album Escape From New York and getting it remixed by DMX Krew and Bpdmständig 2000. This is why everyone loves it and Rephlex had to release it. Lektrogirl, a total Braindance."

808 STATE: Newbuild CD (REPH 080CD). $14.50

"The long awaited reissue of 808 State's groundbreaking and much sought after debut album. Originally released as a limited single vinyl LP in 1988, Newbuild is presented here for the first time on CD and as a 3x12" vinyl set (meaning it can be played much louder in discotheques!). Newbuild features the original 808 State line up of Graham Massey, Martin Price and Gerald Simpson aka A Guy Called Gerald back in his acid days before drum'n'bass was invented. Newbuild is hailed by many, including the likes of Aphex Twin, Squarepusher and Luke Vibert, as one of the most influential records of all time."

808 STATE: Newbuild 3LP (REPH 080LP). $16.50

Richard Hector Jones(?)'s liner notes sum it all up and put the tap on the tip of your tongue. "Rip off or straight-up cultural exchange between the USA and Manchester? Graham Massey was never entirely sure. But one thing remains certain — a glitch occurred in the Transatlantic transfer of ideas and 1988's Newbuild was the product. As a group, Massey, Martin Price and (A Guy Called) Gerald Simpson were never primarily interested in the increasing amount of dance music that was making its way out of Chicago and Detroit towards Manchester between '86 and '88. The idea of 'jacking' records meant little to 808 State. It was only with the advent of the full-on mental weirdness of the acid that the real connection was made and flashpoint achieved. These were alien sounds, sounds without cultural baggage, sounds that didn't feel the need to sound real. These were the days before Roland had its renaissance. No-one wanted drum machines that sounded like drum machines. The 808, 909 and 303 were the slices of redundant technology you'd easily find at Johnny Roadhouse and other second-hand music shops around Manchester. 808 State's technology on this album was far from 'hi'. Hi-tech meant expensive, which meant out of the question. Original acid house like this became a necessity for three simple reasons: inspiration, affordability and availability. Music of the future made by virtually redundant boxes might seem quite quaint now, but Newbuild was made before computers dominated production. All the sounds on this album, bar a few, are triggered by the drum machine. This is why you can hear mistakes on the album as it was laid down live to two-track tape recorder. The great thing about Newbuild now is that it hasn't been diminished by the passage of time. It's still dirty, cavernous, messy, full of mistakes and profoundly fucked up — acid house from a brief period before it all went love-up, blissed-out, whatever. Newbuild is unhinged, genuinely lysergic, made all the more vivid by the overwhelming sense of optimism that a new music was being formed right here and right now. The tyranny of formula had not yet made its presence felt on the scene. The injustice, if you're looking for it, is that out of that whole Manchester scene of the time, The Inspiral Carpets and the Stone Roses are seen as history's heroes. All the while, Gerald's 'Voodoo Ray' and 808 State's Newbuild were championing a whole new way of making music. A music that had no reference and didn't need or want anything to do with guitars. Listening to Newbuild today, it still sounds righteous, necessary and inspired — the blueprint for any musician looking to start off on the right foot. Not even 'Acid Tracks' itself sounds as good today as a track like 'Narcossa'.

Not bad for an album named after a housing project in Bolton." — Richard Hector-Jones's line notes.

OVUCA: Lactavent CD (REPH 081CD). $11.00

"Think of him as a mixture of J.P. Buckle and Bogdan Raczynski tanked up on booze with nothing to listen to but a tape of a Pirate radio station from the heyday of rave. Some people say 'I wish every day was like Christmas'. Well, it is for Aleksí Perala, who lives in the arctic circle, and when he's not helping Santa out he's making the best tunes (or DJing naked at his student bar). I've always been a self-adhesive music leprechaun or something. I work best alone, isolated almost. But I used to sing in a rock band called Hippo Complex, did some projects, like music for modern art installations, a few gigs in Finland. Tape mixing hahaha. For the first years I used to have a self-customized Roland D-20, but then it packed up. Most of the Lactavent album was made with it. Then I had a Roland XP-80 for a year, but I sold it and bought an Akai MPC 2000, and that's all I've got right now. I only use the MPC, and my mouth. Lots of people live there, I'm trying to get that D-20 back to life again."

JONES MACHINE, THE: You're The One (Part Two)/I'm The Disco Dancing CD (REPH 083CD). $8.00

Second release from one of Aphex's dancing teddy bears, Jones. Rephlex claims that his last single ("Like Me You're Like Me" was once NME's single of the week. "Having been on white label since the end of last year, it is already in big demand, probably due to additional production duties preformed by Cylob, who has turned it into a 'dancefloor pleaser'." Four tracks, two of which are Cylob mixes.

FUSCHIMUSCHI: Super Sexy Lady/My #1 CD (REPH 084CD). $8.00

"Fuschimuschi was started as a solo project in 1997 by multi-instrumental funky boy Fuschimuschi Math-Ice. His first release Fuschimuschi's Short Stories was recorded in two weeks entirely on a 4-track. The result got to the best critics in the German music press, and was compared with Prince, Ween, and Beck because of the trashy, cheap funkiness and humor in the music. The release of the 12" Boogie Down followed in 1998, and now Rephlex presents Super Sexy Lady. This is the first official single from the Fuschimuschi band, who are Fuschimuschi Math-Ice, Don Jovanni, and DJ Juicy Snare." Features a Bogdan Raczynski remix.

"Operating from a blind spot in a parallel universe has often creates new situations, and more importantly, new beginnings. For instance: Luke Vibert's first recorded release; Drexiciya's first mission outside the USA; Terry Housemaster Baldwin's Future Sound compilation; Atom Heart's Lisa Carbon Trio collaboration with Pete Namlook; Seefee's leftfield excursion Ch-Vox, Squarepusher's debut album; Leila's debut album; Mu-Ziq's debut album; Jp Buckle debut album (now UK Top 10 artist and co-writer for Britney Spears!); Electro Godfathers Dynamix 2 retrospective; the re-release of 808 State's classic debut album; Slipper release featuring original member of The Damned!; debut single of co-producer of Juan Atkins and George Clinton, Robert O'Dell... and The Philosophy of Sound and Machine project with A.R.T, which kickstarted the bigger picture, inspiring a whole new breed of forward-thinking electronic music labels across the globe. It's a hardcore mission to summarize the 'best' or 'most interesting' things that have happened in a decade of Rephlex records, especially in public! Here, Maddog Wallace (co-founder of said institution) has a bash at doing it: 'Best was actually starting the label with my friend Richard. Seeing the records in the shops, hearing them played on pirate radio, getting our first review in Echoes, a full page photo of our T-shirts in ID... our initial ambition was quickly achieved. Soon after that, one of our tracks was used on the Pirelli ad (Carl Lewis with treads on his feet, running across the sea). This was the first of many audiovisual interactions for film and TV... the most recent being Channel 4's Hackers documentary, where 'Braindance' was used exclusively for the duration. By reaching people in this way, we get to ralf back all the chod that is usually fed to us in the mainstream and show how good things can be. The finest moments of all however, are when we sign a great demo. Meeting new artists like Leila, Squarepusher and Cylob makes our world very colourful and, after 100 releases, I hope that our small band of renegades are representing for the massiv' at large. We think we've summed it up well on our compilation, The Braindance Coincidence." Artists include: The Gentle People, Global Goon, Cylob, DMX Krew, D'Arcangelo, Bochum Welt, The Railway Raver, Baby Ford, AFX, U-Ziq, Vulva, Vibert Simmonds, Chaos A.D., Bogdan Raczynski, Mike Dred/Peter Green, Ovuca.

ENSEMBLE: Sketch Proposals CD (REPH 101CD). $11.00

"Ensemble hosted their own radio show for 3 years (1994-1997) on Radio Campus (Toulouse) every Friday from 9-10.30pm. It was improvisation (music) shouting / collages / theatre / pizza-deliveries / audio orgies / cooking / b-level drama / noise / games / talk-shows / everything and nothing and was most ridiculous and outrageous. Ensemble is a French/English, male/female altered-pop duo containing Olivier (24); who was born in Toulouse, France, therefore he's French; and Channele (21), who was born in London but is half-Persian. Olivier was 8 when he first started music; he was cutting, scratching and burning his parents' records in order to make them sound better. Channele was 5 when she recorded herself repeatedly saying: 'I want Cornflakes, Mummy', and at the time she had a lovely pink tracksuit. Then Olivier, aged 11, got his first tape machine, did his first tracks recording his sister's voice, outside noises, radio waves, deforming pop tracks. Chanelle was 8 and got a primitive computer got bored with it, since she was much more fascinated by the noise of the boiler pipes inside her room and her hair dryer. At 13 Olivier used, opened, burned or overvoltaged cheap synths in order to have more interesting sounds with of course no electronics knowledge and sometimes catastrophic results. Between the age of 16 and 18 Olivier lost himself in cheap rebellion / teenage angst with a punk / noise band, but after months of no rock'n'roll, because of sex and drugs, some of the members fell straight into mental hospital depression or employment at Pizza Hut. Chanelle was in London, and had friends, but didn't know if she was indie or rave or neither. When Chanelle was 16, and Olivier 19 they met in London, fell in love badly, and discovered slowly that both loved the boiler / pipes / static / electricity sort of sounds and the same type of harmonies. During two years, they didn't live in the same place, it was hard but they saw each other occasionally. Apart from these times, Olivier was locked up in his room generating digital sound corruption with his cheap PC and studying architecture. Chanelle was using Casios to do cute love songs for Olivier and working on her A-levels. The third year Chanelle came to Toulouse and they decided to be constructive about the unbearable mental life in Toulouse, and created a group that would mix experimentation and pop music together, Ensemble. In 1998 they went together to live in London to make it happen. The album (Sketch Proposals) could be described as explorative pop music, denatured pop tracks in terms of structure, production or harmonies, but strongly emotional and harmonic. That is, pop music after all."

SLIPPER: Invisible Movies CD (REPH 103CD). $11.00

"Although you might not be familiar with the name Slipper, these people are certainly no strangers to the music business. Slipper is a solo project by London's Sam Dodson (a.k.a. Sam Gita), with a little help from his friends Linda Finger (a.k.a. Nidhal Bulbull) and Liz Fletcher. They've both sung for Loop Guru. And yes, Rat Scabies, that punk legend from the Damned who had already done remixes for Pop Will Eat Itself, Jean Michelle Jarre and Mickey Hart. Slipper's first appearance was on the Art of Ruins, and he's also appeared on David Toop's Hot Pants Idol album. These people know what they're doing and so do we. Brainsdance for the new millennium."

OVUCA: Onclaments CD (REPH 104CD). $11.00

"No man I can't. Why don't you make something up? You know, I've been far away from Onclaments lately. I don't even remember. I just hate mixing words with music. Those 808 rave tracks I made when I was living in a hectic dorm called Pampolandia with fucking crazy people. I busted my amplifier and then found a big bass speaker from the basement that was only waiting for stupid and loud Peppi Pitkatossu type of sounds to compress out the window amongst non-existent people going to work in the mornings. The mellow tracks are from a different time period, in the winter when it was only, dark, cold and snowy, and I just had to stay indoors a lot and eat shilloads of chocolate under a blanket with my yakface and other Star Wars figures dwelling around. Laugh parts were made when I was most fucked I've ever been, I remember Uppidsaai coming out when I was very, very drunk (it's from the movie Spaceballs, when Yoghurt is trying to lift a statue with Schwartz) and totally pissed off my roommate. He was trying to sleep when I was making it. Yeah, I reckon it can be a pain to live with me sometimes. "She's Gone For A While" is a song Karoli wrote and sang. It was a really nice, quiet moment when we were the only people staying at the dorm on a weekend. I also used that song on another track that is on Onclaments. I think it's called "Jodemaster". It has the vocal bits that are from that song. Those jamming bits were funny to produce with Tomplex, we were in this weird basement of my old school for I think 8 hours just having a laugh, but it turned out to be alright. I used lots of material from that session on Onclaments. Yup, yup, Tomplex is a funny man to play with. We still have our sessions every now and then. Rephlex records' Gilles Peterson said that when he played Leila on his show."

OVUCA: King Stacey CD (REPH 105CD). $5.50

"Think of Ovuca as a mixture of J.P. Buckle and Bogdan Raczyński tanked up on booze with nothing to listen to but a pirate radio tape from the heyday of rave. Some people say 'I wish every day was like Christmas', but it is for Aleksi Perala, because he lives in the Arctic circle. When he's not helping out Santa, he's making great tunes, or DJing naked at his student bar. Aleksi says: 'I've always been a self-adhesive music leprechaun or something. I work best alone, isolated almost. I used to sing in a rock band called Hippo Complex, did some projects like a music for modern art installation, did a few gigs in Finland, and some tape mixing. A few years ago I used to have a self-customized Roland D-20, but then it packed up.' Most of his 1999 Lactavent album was made with it. He also had a Roland XP-80 for a year, but then sold it and bought an Akai MPC2000, and that's what he has right now. He only uses the MPC and his mouth. Aleksi says: 'Lots of people live there. I think I'm trying to get that D-20 back to life again.'"

PP ROY: You Can't Help Liking...PP Roy CD (REPH 106CD). $11.00

"While most modern artists pursue impossible dreams of flying into space with your brain on board, the genial, unhurried figure of P.P. Roy raises an eyebrow as if to say — ?!...In at the shallow end of the mid-'90s easy listening boom, then-DJ P.P. Roy wanted more from his music than just retro laughs. He wanted to make NOW music of warmth and character. The examples he followed in achieving this included such soundtrack composers as Ron Grainer and Stu Phillips, whose scores often had a longer lasting appeal than the films they accompanied, and electronic pioneers like Walter Sear and Dan Hill, men who made music in laboratories wearing suits and ties. Then there were the unsung arrangers, orchestra leaders and composers of untold anonymous instrumental mood and library music of the last four decades, and the unavoidable signposts left by legendary production visionaries such as Joe Meek and Giorgio Moroder. Some challenge — but shouldn't a man's grasp exceed his reach? From the propulsive shake-up of 'In At The Beep End' to the spray can and water-colour 'Theme From EZPZ', it's this musical vision — and an innate understanding of the concept of 'Brainsdance' — that brought PP Roy to the attention of Rephlex records."

LIKE A TIM: Red & Blue Boxing CD (REPH 107CD). $11.00

"Tim Van Leijden, also known as Like A Tim, got interested in electronic music when he was about ten years old, and was really hooked by the electronic pop that appeared around that time ('Ni-Ni-Ni-Ni-Ni-Nineteen', 'Rockit'). Later on, hip hop music like the Ultramagnetic MCs, Public Enemy, and BDP also had a big impact on him. All music on the Red & Blue Boxing album was created on two small machines from Korg, one drum box and one synth box. The drum box is red and the synth is blue, hence the name."

KOSMIK KOMMANDO: Laptop Dancing CD (REPH 108CD). $11.00

Operation Brainsdancer. "You are to travel & perform around 4 continents. Europe, Australia, America & The Far East.' 'Take your PowerBook & do not return until you have made an album!' The result is Laptop Dancing. Ten tracks, each one recorded in a different country — from Reykjavik to Byron Bay and Old San Juan to Tel Aviv. Ranging from programmed breaks & scratches. Electro & Techno for raving at the steelworks, chamber orchestration and a masterclass in dark and moody sound design. —MIKE DRED (Kosmik Kommando, Universal Indicator, Chimera).

YEE-KING: Super User CD (REPH 109CD). $11.00

2000 release. "Matt Yee-King (25), another new artist on Rephlex, but by no means a stranger to music making. At 16 he started playing drums and was in a school band with Tom 'Squarepusher' Jenkinson and Jordan 'Railway Raver' Muscott. He went to university in Leeds and learnt how to drink cheap cider and genetically modify viruses. After graduating with his BSc in Zoology and Genetics he moved to Brighton and wrote loads of tracks and was in a band with Jamie Lidelle (Supercollider) and did a couple of improv gigs with Tom Jenkinson. Then he went back to university again to learn what artificial life is and how to genetically modify music. He is java programmer by trade, and also designed the website for Action on Smoking and Health. www.ash.org.uk/. He likes strong cheese and fish, claims to be musically influenced by Aphex, Squarepusher and any 'funny rock bands' like Whitesnake and James Joyce and he doesn't like people who won't argue. Basically he's a brainbox-computer-wizzkid. Most people own a copy of Warp's Artificial Intelligence, Matt Yee-King went one step further and got an MSC in it."

YEE-KING: Super User 2LP (REPH 109LP). $11.00
Double LP version.

OVUCA: Wasted Sunday CD (REPH 110CD). $12.50

"Aleksi Perala aka Ovuca is from Lapland. Wasted Sunday, the successor to last year's critically Acclaimed Ovuca album Onclaments, is mellow and warm and natural. Electronic music along the lines of Aphex Twin's Selected Ambient Works, Autchre's Amber and Brian Eno's Appollo. Notes on Aleksi's equipment: I used to have a self-customized Roland D-20 but then it packed up. Most of the Lactavent Album was made with it. Then I had a Roland XP-80 for a year, but I sold it and bought an Akai MPC 2000, and that's all I got right now. I only use the MPC — and my mouth. Lots of people live there. I think I'm trying to get that D-20 back to life again."

RAILWAY RAVER, THE: You'll Never Get Anywhere...EP CD (REPH 111CD). $5.50

"Acid house that was left on the train back in 88. Jordan aka The Railway Raver was influenced (under the influence) by Mr. Fingers, Peter Ford, Farley Maskingtape Barley. At the time his house had 7 railway tracks behind his house that he raved on at night with Tom Jenkinson aka Squarepusher. Listening to tracks on the tracks, as it were. Worked as a butcher for one week, in a record shop for 3 weeks. Gained grade 4 in Piano and Clarinet at the age of 4!. Member of Tonkatopia — a school indie band while aged 16/17. 'I do music to avoid doing a shit job'. The record is mellow and warm? deep and easy going elements of house and electro styles with a hint of p-funk, mixed with a subtle, lushed vibe and optimistic mood."

GREEN, PETER: Macbeth: An Original Score CD (REPH 114CD). $5.50

"Award winning composer Peter Green aka Virtual Farmer, who co-produced Mike Dredd's wonderful Kosmik Kommando album Laptop Dancing, was commissioned by the United Spirits Theatre Company (under the sponsorship of the Lloyd Webber Company) to write a complete score and ambient electro-acoustics for their latest West End production of Macbeth. Mesmerising strings-arrangements meet medieval flutes."

12" EP version.

RACZYNSKI, BOGDAN: My Love I Love CD (REPH 115CD). $11.00

"Rephlex have nurtured this peddler of noise and prose through 3 albums and at least 39 war-torn performances, as well as evictions from 3 countries. However, on MyLoveIlove, his 'soundtrack for sobbing', Bogdan resurfaces with an assault on the human heart in his strongest album to date. Crying accordions, broken-hearted beats, wallowing trumpets stolen from an anonymous grade school, flutes, solid-wood guitars and a vocal repertoire reminiscent of the fall season in Nagoya (when birds sing gently, yet rain pours) all feature on this musical document, depicting 2 years of the joys, pain and anguish of love. It has been noted that tracks from this album would fit well in between the music of Aphex Twin, Leila, Ennio Morricone, Air, Radiohead or Beck in a popular radio show. So Rephlex asks that you to give this relatively under-exposed and hugely-talented artist your full support."

NORMANDEAU, ROBERT: Sonars CD (REPH 116CD). $12.50

"Robert Normandeau was born on March 11, 1955, in Québec City (Canada). After a BMus in Composition (Electroacoustics) from Université Laval (Québec City, 1984) he moved to Montréal and completed a MMus in Composition (in 1988) and the first DMus in Electroacoustics Composition (in 1992) with Marcelle Deschênes and Francis Dhomont. He is a founding member of the Canadian Electroacoustic Community (CEC, 1987). From 1986 to 1993, he was an active member of the Association pour la création et la recherche électroacoustiques du Québec (ACREQ) where he produced the Clair de terre concert series at the Planetarium of Montréal. In 1991, he co-founded Réseaux, an organisation for the production of media arts events. Having produced several instrumental and mixed works, his current endeavors are focused on acousmatic music. More specifically, his compositions employ aesthetic criteria whereby he creates a 'cinema for the ear' in which 'meaning' as well as 'sound' become elements which elaborate his works. Along with concert music he now writes incidental music, especially for the theater."

VA (UNIVERSAL INDICATOR): Innovation In The Dynamics Of Acid: 21st Century Megamix CD (REPH 117CD). $12.50

"Universal Indicator began over a decade ago with various members of the Rephlex crew continuing their obsession with acid house music after the Chicago originators seemed to disappear and the movement got trampled on by some of today's Ibiza/Radio 1 Trance-suckers. Inspired by UK legends as well, like Baby Ford, Tony Thorpe, Gerald and 808 State, not forgetting the Belgian Newbeat phenomenon, Rephlex didn't understand where this form of music had gone? So we started continuing the good work... just getting home after raves and switching on the gear, or knocking stuff up on the train. Pretty soon it was clear that we had enough tracks to make the record we wanted to buy. We packed them ourselves with a some journalists form Germany's Frontpage mag in Maddog Wallace's garage. You can see a picture of that at the V&A museum. The original idea was the Battery Chickens EP, but by the time we had mastered it, we'd come up with more tracks and another EP was ready. Universal Indicator was born. We didn't care about artist names, track titles etc. They were just quick acid tracks to dance to... we wanted the emphasis on bringing acid back. And it worked... just after everybody jumped on it... massive European record labels were born off the back of them and techno started to get colourful again. (About the only record of that genre I can remember at that time was one by the legendary Mike Ink.) The series was a nod to the past-masters and a message that Lo-Fi can kick it! There are lots of rumours about these records and who made them on the internet. Even the supposedly informed versions aren't correct. We've never read the true story anywhere yet — maybe that's because there would need to be the 8 or so participants all confessing at once for a clear conclusion to be made. For instance, exports were famously stamped with certain info — but that was by a warehouseman at our distributors who we'd never met. The main reason we're releasing this is because it's been a while and too many people are begging. Also, we hate to think of people paying inflated prices when they could be buying more Rephlex Braindance music instead. Besides, people still drop this stuff in clubs today. This CD is a one hour DJ mix by the Kosmik Kommando featuring 27 or so tracks that were originally released on 4 12" vinyl singles."

BASTIEN, PIERRE: Mecanoid CD (REPH 119CD). $14.50

"Pierre Bastien has created an orchestra of robots built from meccano called the 'Mecanium', which each either a traditional musical instrument, or a lock groove from an old record in a repetitive loop. For the benefit of the listener the ten palindromic titles reflect the way the robots function, they play palindromes back and forth, often with unplanned for results, creating a strange hypnotic swing of wheezy scratchy noises which underpin nostalgic melodies. What is more, his orchestra of Robots is a masterful parody of sampling technology, subverting the music of the current crop of glitch worshippers and acting as an eye-opener for lovers of streamlined digital interfaces."

BASTIEN, PIERRE: Mecanoid LP (REPH 119LP). $12.50

LP version.

CYLOB: Cut The Midrange Drop The Bass CD (REPH 121CD). $6.50

"Cut The Midrange Drop The Bass: Using a computer voice singing classic clichés and samples from hardcore rave tracks in a choral style over a church organ and a funky beat. Cylob likes to think of this as the 'raver's prayer' the raver kneels before the DJ and cries, 'Lord we beseech thee, cut the midrange drop the bass!', truly a dance floor epiphany. This song is in the tradition of the particular genre of the 'shopping list' record; see Billy Joel 'We didn't start the fire', The Beloved 'Hello' and R.E.M 'The end of the world'. Cylob is proud to follow in the footsteps of these acclaimed songwriters. 'With This Ring': This song was started from the desire to make the harmony and the melody as odd as possible, the words fitted, but Cylob revealed to me that he is fascinated by the possible horror of entrapment in marriage but also fantasies about being married. 'What Shall We Do With A Drunken Sailor?': It was Rephlex label boss Grant's idea to cover this song and it lends itself particularly well to a modern dance style. The backing is kept to a minimum, just drums, bass and vocal, the vocal is not sung by the salty sea dogs of yore, but by a cold cynical computerised voice that has never once left the land!"

CYLOB: Mood Bells CD (REPH 122CD). $14.50

"A beautiful home listening album from inventive rephlex stalwart Cylob, conjures up an imagined magical occidental music. Cylob's thoughts on the album: 'Mood Bells' was started after a two-week trip to Japan, where I got to check out a few temples, gardens and mountains. There is a chilled out feeling to some of those places that seems unique and it inspired me. This album is my idea of a Japanese traditional music that doesn't exist, based around bell and gong-type sounds. The music is intended for contemplation and relaxation, and to be listened to in one sitting, perhaps accompanied by a cup of green tea. I wanted the album to have a very natural atmosphere, even though the processes of its production were very unnatural. Initially I was going to list the sound sources used on the album sleeve notes, but the music is a figment of my imagination, and I didn't want anything to ruin this 'illusion'. Some things are recognisable though, such as the vibraphone and the tam tam gong at the beginning of the album."

ASTROBOTNIA: Part 1 CD (REPH 123CD). $12.00

"Astrobotnia is a new and mysterious signing on Rephlex with three (!) releases coming up this year, taking in influences from braindance peers such as Aphex Twin, Squarepusher, Bogdan Raczynski, Drexciya and Luke Vibert. Part 1 is a fluffy musical bed and starts with the sound of gasps as fireworks explode and ends with canned applause for a lonesome piano player. Throughout, you will hear music inspired by the dream of a pregnant male friend and a voice that intones, 'Satan is good, Satan is our pal'. Sounds weird and scary? It certainly does, but Part 1 is a most relaxing, melodic journey through Astrobotnia's cosmos. However, there could be turbulences along the way. Astrobotnia is along the best and most interesting music that was ever released on Rephlex and an absolute must for everyone into new and exiting music."

ASTROBOTNIA: Part 3 CD (REPH 125CD). $14.50

"Part 3 is the third and final release of Astrobotnia, the new mysterious braindance artist on Rephlex. Combining the ambient atmosphere from 'Part 1' with the dancefloor elements from 'Part 2' this long play CD showcases the whole range of the Astrobotnia universe: Unearthly chimes, whispers of Enochian languages, deep space drum-and-bass programmed using broken components from the flight deck of an old space shuttle, with radar bleeps and the sound of supernovas. The ultimate part of the series."

ASTROBOTNIA: Part 3 LP (REPH 125LP). $12.50

LP version.

PP ROY: Seven Up CD (REPH 126CD). $8.00

"PP Roy returns with a distinctive brain blast of flavours on his new ep: Seven Up. Hearing is believing. Over its seven tracks, the music on this EP is even more fantastic than on his outstanding debut album You Can't help Liking PP Roy. Featured on this sumptuous cornucopia the listener can find breakstep classics, a collaboration with fellow Rephlex artist Global Goon, electronic bird bleeps, oap poetry, new country, ambient and illbient and fine string arrangements. These sum parts add up to a genre-busting bonanza that will delight whether you are relaxing in the living room or dancing in the disco tech. This is a release that could slide up to Missy Elliot, share some canapés with the avalanches then compare notes with DJ Shadow."

D'ARCANGELO: Broken Toys' Corner CD (REPH 127CD). $14.50

"The musical siblings Marco & Fabrizio D'Arcangelo grew up listening to English new wave and electro-pop and were so enchanted by it they wanted to make their own contributions. However, their records along with the music of other vital artists contributed to the definitive 'sound of Rome', coming through on labels like Sounds Never Seen, ACV, Nature, their own Monomorph label and more recently on Canada's Suction records. Broken Toys' Corner is their second album for Rephlex. In contrast to the critically acclaimed Shipwreck released in 1999, this new album is a more relaxed and rather groovy listening experience. Using vocoders, complex Hip Hop rhythms and minimal synths, they make a deceptively simple, soulful contemporary sound."

D'ARCANGELO: Broken Toys' Corner 2LP (REPH 127LP). $16.50

Double LP version.

TRANSLUSION: L.I.F.E CD (REPH 128CD). $14.50

"Translusion aka Drexciya aka The Other People Place are back on Rephlex. Rephlex was the first label outside of Detroit's Submerge Collective to release Drexciya's music back in 1993. Since then they've released albums and singles on Warp, Tresor, Clone, and of course Detroit's legendary Underground Resistance. On their new album L.I.F.E Translusion unleash another wave of their unequalled Electro."

STAKKER: Eurotechno CD (REPH 129CD). $12.00

"Rephlex presents the first ever release of the soundtrack of the video Eurotechno from 1989. Hailed as a visionary landmark in dance music culture this mini-album is must for everybody into Acid Techno magic. The man behind the music is Brian Dougans who is most famous as half of the duo Future Sound Of London, but early recognition came for him with the European and UK hit single 'Stakker Humanoid', under the name Humanoid in 1988. Around the same time, he teamed up with the groundbreaking video artist Mark McClean aka Stakker, after meeting at Salford College. Mark built a video suite around a Fairlight Graphics box; Brian found a Roland TB303 (the machine responsible for the squelchy acid noise) in the basement of his college and began using it, creating sketches similar to those he was hearing emerge in Manchester at the beginnings of the Acid House scene. Their synergy was unique and extremely exciting, and the partnership culminated in the creative masterpiece Eurotechno, released on Virgin's Videola label. This video was the first time the emerging bedroom electronics scene expanded into the visual medium. It was essentially one of the first commercial VJ tools, showing just how much could be done by bedroom programmers. When the video was released, Rephlex were still in school uniforms and living in Cornwall, but it was one of the main things that inspired us to set up a label. For us this is the fulfilment of a long-term dream; to make the soundtrack of this visionary film available for the first time on CD and Vinyl. The album was painstakingly tracked down and mastered direct from the original master tapes of the film. It captures the audio overload of the incredible music in all its intricate, precise detail. The release of this soundtrack isn't an exercise in nostalgia, or a cash in on all things 'old school'. We are delighted to release this music, as we genuinely feel it sounds as fresh, exciting and unsurpassable at this time as any other, and for this reason it needs to be listened to and enjoyed rather than forgotten."

STAKKER: Eurotechno LP (REPH 129LP). $12.00

LP version.

HUMANOID: Sessions 84-88 CD (REPH 130CD). $14.50

"Brian Dougans is most famous as half of the duo Future Sound Of London, but early recognition came for him with the European and UK hit single 'Stakker Humanoid', under the name Humanoid in 1988. This mostly unreleased collection of tracks from the period 84 - 88 includes a special mix of that track as well as full length versions of some of the tracks on this releases sister album Stakker Eurotechno. It also contains some of Dougans lost Zeebox tracks, experimental and industrial tracks that indicate where Dougans would go with the ambient overgroup Future Sound Of London."

HUMANOID: Sessions 84-88 2LP (REPH 130LP). $12.50

Double LP version.

RACZYNSKI, BOGDAN: Renegade Platinum Mega Dance Attack Party CD (REPH 131CD). $12.00

"The governor Bogdan is back with a mid priced compilation featuring 9 tracks in total from the Eat Your Children EP plus tracks from the limited edition Drum & Bass Classics album. Myloveilove, his last album proper, saw him coaxing sweet, strange love songs from the accordion and the guitar as well as the drum machine. This time sees him back to the old Bogdan we all know and love, creating beautiful hysteria. These tracks would be hard as hell if it wasn't for the rapturous, almost obsessive joy and passion expressed in the lyrics and music. Why the stunning collaborations he did with Bjork aren't released yet we'll never know, but Rephlex are working on it."

LORY D: Sounds Never Seen CD (REPH 132CD). $12.50

"Lory D is a name you will find missing from the list of celebrated dark techno producers, e.g. Jeff Mills, The Mover, Lenny Dee and the Aphex Twin although his music, is as essential. He's an ex Italian D.M.C champion who has been playing since 1989 and owns the seminal Roman techno label Sounds Never Seen. He was one of the first people to bring the Acid House and Hardcore sounds of London to Rome, where he is regarded as something of a god. His inspiration comes from Rome's nighttime metropolis, the darkness and beauty of the city and the overwhelming feeling of the underground raves he plays. His musical influences are as wide ranging as Aphex Twin, Suicide, Drexciya, Spk, Ligeti, Frankie Bones, The Mover and Underground Resistance. Sounds Never Seen has released a clutch of twisted metal soundtracks in recent years... never more than 500 copies pressed and all fanatically collected by likeminded freaks. All the records are most effective floor fillers, all are 'sounds never seen'. Together with Rephlex label-mates, Leo Anibaldi, Bochum Welt and the D'Arcangelo brothers, Lory D best represents the sound of Italy, or even the 'sound of Rome', since 1991. Lory's music is fearless, original and strong Electro and Techno. There isn't much of that around and the world needs to hear this album."

LORY D: Sounds Never Seen 2LP (REPH 132LP). $12.50

Double LP version.

DJ SCUD: Ambush CD (REPH 133CD). $12.50

"South Londoner DJ Scud aka Toby Reynolds is boss of the premier breakcore label Ambush records established in 1997. The way he makes music is by thinking 'will this record mash the place up, and infect the vibe?' So when you listen to this, bear witness. The music he makes was inspired by dancing all night at the peak of the UK rave scene, also European clubs like Tresor and the Bunker, the UK free party scene and the dance floor militancy of labels such as Underground Resistance. Over his career he has released material on a number of other notable labels including Position Chrome (under the alias The Redeemer co-produced with Panacea), kool.POP, Klangkrieg, Full Watts and more recently on I-Sound's newly formed imprint Transparent. His music is a cross fertilisation of Dancehall, Jungle and Breakbeat Hardcore with the shrill noise and energy of Punk. It's a powerful collision of styles and approaches combining uncompromising experimentalism with healthy doses of sound system inspired populism. DJ Scud has gained a reputation as a fine re-mixer, lending his skills to artists such as DJ Rupture and Asian Dub Foundation and was dubbed the new Aphex Twin by Radio 1's Steve Lamacq. He regularly plays at parties in Europe and the States and has gained a reputation for his punishing, shrill sets, maintaining his total commitment to single minded full-on uncompromising sonic assaults whilst still keeping feet on the floor with infectious breaks and beats."

BUG, THE: Pressure CD (REPH 134CD). $16.00

UK version on Rephlex (licensed to Tigerbeat 6 in the US); different cover artwork. "Aphex Twin's Rephlex label releases one of its biggest artist albums for years. Truly amazing album from The Bug aka Kevin Martin/Techno Animal, an exhilarating mutant ragga/dancehall/techno mash up, follows the massively acclaimed singles on Razor x. Features the following guest vocalists: the legendary Daddy Freddy, Toastie Taylor (Big Dada), Singing Bird (Sofa Surfers), Wayne Lonesome (Run Tings) and the mysterious Paul St. Hilaire. Pressure provides heavyweight evidence of the bassbin blowing, mechanoid mash ups that have become The Bug's trademark sound. Having been indelibly marked by the skull-crushing impact of seismic UK dub sound systems (Jah Shaka, Aba-Shanti - I, Iration Steppas etc.), and increasingly obsessed with Ragga's bionic gyrations, The Bug crunches up reggae's sub-genres into a physically brutal, psychologically deep, low end feast for non-conformist dance floor fiends. From the thug-step ragga of 'Beats, Bombs, Bass, Weapons' to the electronic dub of 'Live & Learn' via the dancehall punk of 'Killer', Pressure ignites basement anthems and exhausts the echo chamber, as basstronic frequencies are mercilessly exploited."

GAMA, VICTOR: Pangeia Instruments CD (REPH 135CD). $14.50

"Victor Gama was born in Angola of Portuguese origin. In 1993 he started to create his Pangeia Instrumentos, inspired by the notion that because of migration and nomadism, traditional African instruments have had to adapt throughout history, whilst keeping their traditional identity and sound. This suggests that, traditional acoustic instruments from ancient times could still evolve into contemporary musical instruments. This is exactly what the Pangeia Instrumentos are. What is also unusual about the instruments is that two people can play them at the same time. The music has beauty and ragged harmony, transcending the ancient and modern, African and Occidental. At times it echoes the American minimalist composers. This is the second release on Rephlex to explore the craft of instrument building; Pierre Bastien's 2001 release Mecanoid, being the first."

BUG FEAT. CUTTY RANKS, THE: Gun Disease CD (REPH 137CD). $5.00

"This release is the sister release to AFX's Smoiphace EP which features a remix of the track 'Run The Place Red' from The Bug's Pressure album. The Bug aka Kevin Martin was indelibly marked by the skull crushing impact of seismic UK dub sound systems (Jah Shaka, Aba-Shanti-I, Iration Steppas etc.) throughout the 90s, and became increasingly obsessed with Ragga's bionic gyrations. Under various guises (Ice, God, Techno Animal, Curse Of The Golden Vampire), Kevin Martin has worked with Bill Laswell, John Zorn, Kevin Shields (My Bloody Valentine), Alec Empire And Def Jux's El-P, among many others. Cutty Ranks is one of the greatest Deejays ever to come out of Jamaica. His debut 45, 'Gunman Lyrics' was a dancehall hit, which was quickly followed with tunes like 'Out Of Hand' or 'Fisherman Lyrics' for Winston Riley's Techniques label and 'The Bomber' (Shocking Vibes) which was his first worldwide dancehall smash at the beginning of the 1990s. Rephlex is proud that The Bug has recorded with Cutty, because, unlike a large number of the stars of dancehall, he doesn't voice out too many tunes keeping it strict. This track is a reworking of the aforementioned Gunman Lyrics."

ANDREWS, AMEN: Volume One 12" (REPH 138EP). $8.00

"First in a series of EP's from Luke Vibert, returning to the Rephlex fold (His debut Weirs came out on Rephlex over 10 years ago) under the name Amen Andrews. First in a series of five jungle records, that's jungle as in Amen breaks firing off, heavy bass-lines, 'ardcore mash up business created with Luke's intricate programming, accessible innovation and humour. If you remember the Plug records of eight or so years ago you will recall Luke's pretty canny with the drum and bass template. The Amen Andrews sound takes off from where those records ended."

ANDREWS, AMEN: Volume 2 12" (REPH 139EP). $8.00

"If you checked in the last time you'll know Luke Vibert's returned to the fold under the name Amen Andrews with a series of awesome jungle records. But as you'll see, each EP has a very different feeling from the last. 'DX' marries Derrick May style late 80's techno and break beats in a way you've never heard. 'Blomen' leers and bugs out like a very drunken man, and 'Amen Renegade' is the sound of a ruffneck marching band after listening to P-Funk records. This is EP number two in a series of five made to murder the dance floor."

ANDREWS, AMEN: Volume 3 12" (REPH 140EP). $8.00

"Third and finest release yet in this series from Luke Vibert aka Amen Andrews, 3 slamming tracks of innovative jungle. You might recognize 'Babylon' as a version of the jungle classic by Splash featuring the longest timestretch ever, gentle percussion, and big chunky piano riffs over catchy drum programming. 'Jungle Bunny' is built around samples from a little known masterpiece of British cinema, truly mashed up and very exciting. 'Thames Slick' is a high speed rush of dark piano stabs and mournful reggae vocals over heavy drums and deep bass."

ANDREWS, AMEN: Volume 4 12" (REPH 141EP). $8.00

"The penultimate record in Rephlex's series of Drum & Bass mash ups courtesy of Luke Vibert. 'Rock' displays some crazy fret action stolen from a diminutive 80's rock god. 'Evil Pave' is well, pretty evil and 'Fear' features the MCing debut of Luke Skywalker's dad over some 'satan's choirboys' style synthy stabs. These new tracks adhere to the original Jungle feeling of energy on wax with added quality and imagination. Pure braindance."

ANDREWS, AMEN: Volume 5 12" (REPH 142EP). $8.00

"This is the last in the series of Luke Vibert's innovative Amen Andrews EP's that have been running throughout the summer. The records take off from where the legendary Plug series finished and twist things in a style that only Luke Vibert can pull off. Amen Andrews 5 features three awesome, joyous tracks of mad drum and bass style braindance. Once again Luke has a totally fresh take on drum and bass from these soon to be classic and collectable EPs."

KERRIER DISTRICT: Kerrier District CD (REPH 143CD). $14.50

Now available on CD in addition to the 3LP version. "Once again Luke Vibert has delivered Rephlex a delectable slice of musical pleasure, which unusually, is singularly dedicated to the delights of disco music. "I don't think many people will believe it's me who's made it," says Luke. "It doesn't sound anything like me. Just simple disco grooves. It sounds live, but it's all programmed to sound like old disco." It might come as a bit of a shock after the rave-tastic and well received junglist anthems of 2003 as Amen Andrews or the acid Tinged Yoseph album released on Warp records. Luke's inimitable take is stripped down like early house, organic sounding but with a lush glowing contemporary electronic feel, all groovy hand-claps, strings, cowbells, horns and creamy basslines, highly addictive and very fresh. If you're wondering why the album is called Kerrier District, it's named after a local council in mid Cornwall where Luke grew up, not a place known for it's glittering debonair nightlife but it's a name that sounds well, pretty cool. A fellow Cornishman and contemporary of Rephlex label boss Richard James, Luke Vibert has released music under various pseudonyms including the off-kilter funk of Wagon Christ, the seminal drum 'n' bass of Plug and a collaboration with steel guitarist BJ Cole as well as remixing a host of his peers. Kid 606 even did a track called 'Luke Vibert Can Kiss My Indie Punk Whiteboy Ass', which pinched a sample from the Plug track 'Military Jazz'. (Always a gentleman, Luke played a gig with the Kid in Los Angeles in 2001). Luke has also compiled two albums of library music (Nuggets, Further Nuggets) for Lo Recordings. He regularly D.J.'s all over the world when he's not busy making excellent tracks like these."

KERRIER DISTRICT: Kerrier District 3LP (REPH 143LP). $18.00

Triple LP version.

CYLOBOTNIA: Cylobotnia CD (REPH 144CD). $12.00

"Cylobotnia is a bargain priced 8 track collaboration between, as you might guess, Cylob and Astrobotnia...2 of Rephlex's most respected artists. It was during a 2 week tour of America last year that they decided to work together, and after much long distance file swapping this 8 track EP came into focus. Their styles complement each other very well, crunchy beats, hip hop gamelan, gongs and bells, surging strings and almost endless sonic details."

BLACK DEVIL: Disco Club CD (REPH 146CD). $8.00

"Originally released on Out Records way back in 1978, Black Devil's Disco Club is an extremely rare disco masterpiece, an epic journey into the deepest electronic disco ... It's already whipped up a storm in the UK — Hip dance bible Jockey Slut have made it their single of the month for March, and it's the most asked for record in Berwick Street's tastemaker shops. In other words there is a huge buzz about it. The record was discovered by Rephlex's own PP Roy for 20 pence at a car boot sale, and quickly found favour with friends Richard D. James and Luke Vibert. Keen as ever to share fantastic music, label co-founder Grant Wilson-Claridge has managed to secure the exclusive license for Rephlex, unwittingly beating Metro Area's Morgan Geist (a long time fan) to the snap. This version contains the other 2 tracks — the poppy vocal tracks that didn't make the first release plus a great new remix by Kerrier District, (Luke Vibert), who's brilliant album was just released on Rephlex." Tracks: 'Timing Forget Timing', 'Timing Forget Timing (Kerrier District Remix)', 'We Never Fly Away Again'.

BLACK DEVIL: Disco Club 12" (REPH 146REP). $8.00

Tracks: "Timing Forget the Timing" (Kerrier District Remix), 'Follow Me' (Instrumental), 'No Regrets'.

BLACK DEVIL: Disco Club 12" (REPH 146TEP). $8.00

3 track EP featuring remix by Luke Vibert. Tracks: 'Timing Forget Timing', 'One to Choose', 'H Friend'.

TIK & TOK: Tik & Tok EP 12" (REPH 148EP). $8.00

"Here is the Tik & Tok EP. We think you can see in their style where Fisherspooner got all their ideas from and hear where a lot of techno and electroclash got it's sound from. Obviously Tim is supercool as well, just read the bio! This EP is made of older tracks and unreleased material, all remastered. In 1980 Tim Dry formed a rock/mime/burlesque/music troupe named Shock. They travelled the world, made some records, got a lot of press and found themselves in the vanguard of the New Romantic cult of the early '80s, alongside Boy George, Duran Duran, Adam Ant and Spandau Ballet. Tim also created a robotic mime and music duo called Tik and Tok with Sean Crawford who was also a member of Shock. They supported Duran Duran at Birmingham Odeon in '82, worked with Vangelis at his home studio, were supported by a fledgling Depeche Mode, got a huge amount of press coverage and released 5 singles and a well received album on the Survival label in the UK, Germany and Japan."

CYLOB: Music System Volume 1 12" (REPH 151EP). $8.00

"Cylob returns with the first in a series of E.P.'s. After past adventures into everything from computer singing rave anthems to abstract minimalism, this release gets back to basics with 4 storming instrumental tracks of electronic funk and classical braindance. Cylob has road-tested these tracks extensively during his D.J. sets over the past year, all around the world. At last, his many fans can finally get hold of them. Cylob, real name Chris Jeffs, has notched up 17 releases with Rephlex over the past 10 years, including the underground hits 'Rewind!' and 'Cut The Midrange, Drop The Bass'. He has remixed for Aphex Twin, Mike Flowers Pops, Soulwax (a.k.a 2 Many DJs), Cristian Vogel and DMX Krew, and collaborated with Astrobotnia (a.k.a. Ovuca) and Squarepusher."

CYLOB: Music Systems Volume 2 12" (REPH 152EP). $8.00

"Following on from Volume 1, the second installment of the Cylob Music System E.P.'s is here. Once again taking a stand against notions of genre purity, the mix of Electro-Funk, Techno-Comedy, Emoto-Acid and Stringrush surely means something for everyone. Extensively tested during the past year in Cylob's D.J. sets to excited audiences all over the world, at last these masterpieces are finally available to the public. 'Metallic Justice': A stomping beat and vengeful bassline articulate a feeling that continues to shape the world at large in dramatic and violent ways. 'Chuckie Midget': The little mischief-maker that dwells within us all, takes on a life of its own and is let loose on the dancefloor. 'Acid Inseminoid': This is an acidic remix of the lead track from CMS Volume 1. A bank of paranoid and fearful 303's wail over a pumping beat. 'Cylobian Sunrise': Stirring strings and twinkling sounds break over the horizon, recalling the experience of a fresh new morning through the medium of sound."

COLLAPSE OF THE WAVE FUNCTION, THE: Volume 1 7" (REPH 153EP). $6.50

"This is part one of a series of 3 records from a rephelex artist recording covertly. Part one is two tracks on 7" black wax of fat spacious analogue electro-influenced dancehall riddims. Part one is preceded by part 2 in the same format, then part 3 will be released as a mini album. All will be revealed at this point. Due to the nature of this release it will be limited."

COLLAPSE OF THE WAVE FUNCTION, THE: Volume 2 7" (REPH 154EP). $6.50

"This is part two of a series of 3 records from a Rephlex artist recording covertly. This second single will be succeeded by part 3 the Collapse Of The Wave Function mini album. "Part two is two tracks on 7" black wax of fat spacious analogue electro-influenced dancehall riddims. All will be revealed at this point, to everyone's pleasant surprise."

DMX KREW: Collapse of the Wave Function LP (REPH 155 LP). $12.00

"Collapse of the Wave Function is the new mini album from DMX Krew aka Ed Dmx. It's quite simply, different from anything else Ed has ever done before, but still recognisably DMX Krew. It's Music from the golden age of the future. This is an album based around the 'Copenhagen Interpretation' of quantum physics, which is to do with the dual wave/particle nature of reality. For instance electrons tend to act like waves and are 'smeared' out over all possible states until their location is measured. The act of making a measurement or 'observation' causes the wave function of the electron to decohere and it then occupies a particular point in spacetime. It isn't just that the electron could be in a number of places and you don't know until you look, experimental evidence has shown that, until you look, the electron really is every (possible) where. According to the Copenhagen Interpretation, any quantum system simultaneously occupies all possible states for that system until it is observed. Since we believe the quantum theory of matter to be true, and everything in the universe is made of matter (or antimatter) this holds for all systems on all scales, in fact the entire universe is a quantum system. Extrapolating from here, it is true to say that, until you remove it from its sleeve, place it on the platter and listen to it, the album you are holding in your hands contains every conceivable piece of music. Only the act of listening to the record causes the wave function of the music to collapse, allowing the listener to enjoy the mellifluous sounds therein. We believe we are the first to apply this principle to recorded sound and are therefore proud to be able to bring you an album of previously undreamed of uncertainty."

VA: Grime CD (REPH 156CD). $14.50

First major compilation of this breaking new UK underground scene. Post-drum'n'bass, way-post-UK-Garage, 'Grime' is intense and mindblowing. And no, Plasticman (one of the three featured artists here) is not from Canada. Features numerous tracks each from three of the main developing producers in this scene: Mark One, Plasticman and Slaughter Mob. "Grime. Sublow. Dubstep. It's Music. Different people call it different things, depending on when they discovered it. In the 80's, maybe it was House, Techno and Electro. In the 90's it was UK-G, Drum and Bass, Breaks or whatever. Now there are so many terms for it that the journalists can't pigeon-hole it any more. This is a good thing — it's music. Moody music, multifunctional, multifaceted music created by Humans with Brains, Hearts, Machines & Electricity. Music that's great for dancing to in clubs, or submerging yourself within your headphones, your car, your home, wherever. It's instrumental dance music, but it's the perfect forum for the best MC's and vocalists. We at Rephlex call it Grime to publicize to the people at large, outside of the specialist world of its producers. The purists might debate the name, but while they do that, crews around the globe are uniting in this strong & fresh dance movement. In this age of Information Technology, people are able to easily find real quality that they actually want, without being spoon-fed compromised product. Now, it is a time of change and the soundtrack is Grime."

VA: Grime 3LP (REPH 156LP). $18.00

Triple LP version. Vinyl 1: MarkOne - 'Stargate 92', 'Interference', 'Hear This', 'Too Hard'. Vinyl 2: Plasticman - 'Camel Ride', 'Death By Stereo', 'Industrial Graft', 'The Music'. Vinyl 3: Slaughter Mob - 'Scavenjah', 'Fireweaver', 'Creeky Door', 'Black Hole'.

K-ROCK: EP 2 12" (REPH 157EP). $8.00

"This is K-Rock, i.e. Kelly Barnett's second E.P. for Rephlex after his New Deal EP two years ago. The EP is a collection of rough, cut and paste tracks taking in R and B and disco influences from K-Rock's collection of rare grooves and the grimy sound of the London pirate stations. The feeling of the EP is dark and dirty, with a tense nervous energy. As his graffiti tag states, K-Rock, comes from the N5 borough of London. K-Rock started his professional raving career as a dancer for Baby Ford — you can spot him spinning in the 'Children of the Revolution' video, a top 40 hit back in 1989. He's also released two records on Ed DMX's excellent Breakin records label."

BUG FEAT. WARRIOR QUEEN, THE: Aktion Pak CD (REPH 158CD). $8.00

The Bug is Kevin Martin of Techno Animal, Ice, God, Curse of the Golden Vampire. His album Pressure on Rephlex/Tigerbeat 606 was described as "an exhilarating mutant ragga/dancehall/techno mash up." "The Warrior Queen — by day she's Annette, sweet and friendly and meek as a lamb but when she gets on stage and gets wild she's Warrior Queen. Warrior queen is an x-rated ruler and aims to conquer in all her endeavours. Some men would like to make out they're dynamo in bed, tougher, faster, rougher stronger but the Warrior is here to dominate and take over, stand up for her rights and conquer men weak or strong. She's worked with the Bug on several radio sessions and countless gigs across the UK. This is her first release with the Bug and she truly holds the crown as a champion for strong women everywhere. She was born and raised in St Catherine's Spanish town, Jamaica. In the late nineties she cut the following tunes as Wendy Culture: Penthouse label — frenchcot produced by Donovan Germain with Steelie and cleevie wheeling dance on their label and on Shocking vibes — still a rush me — new style with producer Patrick Roberts. The tracks are x rated and bad as hell!!!!"

BUG FEAT. WARRIOR QUEEN, THE: Aktion Pak 12" (REPH 158EP). $8.00

Vinyl version with 2 exclusive vinyl tracks. Vinyl track listing: "Aktion Pak" (version), "World War 3" (version).

LIKE A TIM: Remixes Bochum Welt/Cylob/DMX Krew CD (REPH 467CD). $8.00

Tim Van Leiden is a Dutch producer and remixer with a long association with Miss Saskia's Djax Up Beats label, first releasing tracks in 1991. The name Like A Tim comes from the nickname kids at school gave him. They thought he looked like a corpse so they called him 'Lijke Tim' which meant 'Dead Tim', and if you pronounce it in Dutch it sounds like the English 'Like A Tim'. So now you know. He's remixed the likes of Robert Armani, Hardfloor and Speedy J in recent years and here tackles three recent Rephlex tracks: a full remix and "micromix" each for Cylob's "Diof '97", Bochum Welt's "Greenwich" and DMX Krew's "You Can't Hide Love". The micromix's are pretty condensed, with the Cylob one in particular is a real "mad twiddler". Kind of a "headshaking" record.

SOUNDMURDERER + SK1: Soundmurderer + SK1 2LP (REWE 001LP). $16.50

"Todd Osborn, also known as Soundmurderer ran the first Drum & Bass record store in the Detroit area as the ex-owner of the legendary Dubplate Pressure shop. His obsessions with drum and bass led to him setting up his own label Rewind record label. Under the name Osborn he has recorded jacking techno and classic house for Ghostly International records, coincidentally once on the flip side to one of our stalwart artists, DMX Krew. He also recently released Wired for Sound, an incredible DJ mix of old skool Jungle called 'The best jungle mix ever' by Simon Reynolds for Kid 606's Violent Turd records. He has also done a mix of Rephlex/Tigerbeat6 artist The Bug's 'whowanseelwar' with SK-1 for Tigerbeat 6. Todd was also listed in influential US magazine URB's top 100 ones to watch for 2003.

SK-1 is one of the aliases of Tadd Mullinx, an Ann Arbor resident who also records abstract instrumental hip hop as Dabrye for Prefuse 73's Eastern Developments label and has had releases as Dabrye, James Cotton and under his own name for Ghostly International. His album Instrmnti was lauded with much praise and was a Gilles Peterson favourite and he was selected in 2001 by Carl Craig to perform at the Detroit Electronic Music festival. The Rewind label has been gaining a steady fanbase in the US, Toronto and Japan as leaders of a wave of American junglists obsessed with the development of the original ruffneck ragga and frenetic breakbeat sound. The tracks are a mix of dancehall, sound-clash energy and hip-hop influences with a dose of the kind of mind blowing drum programming only artists of the calibre of Squarepusher and Afx are capable of at their best."

REPHLEX/GENUINE (UK):

VA: 100% Genuine CD (BOX 2676CD). $13.00

Catalog # 2676 equals Rephlex's PO Box #, which might be the only way you can be sure this is a Rephlex record. But who else would publish an album consisting of "a series of 40 answerphone messages to a dating agency from the mildly amusing to the inane"? "Some people might find it offensive, but when you consider the programmes that there are on television night after night that highlight the seedy side of people's loveslives — is this different or any worse? This is British humor at it's best — 100% Genuine — please support it."

REPRISE/WARNER (GERMANY):

CAPTAIN BEEFHEART: The Spotlight Kid/Clear Spot CD (WEA 26249). $13.50

European pressing of this two-fer, featuring 1972's Clear Spot and it's followup from later that year, The Spotlight Kid. May or may not still be out int the US, why buy American when you can support the EEC? Critical mid-period Beefheart albums, chronologically following Safe As Milk, Strictly Personal, Trout Mask Replica and Lick My Decals Off, Baby. "In 1972, Warner Bros. Records producer Ted Templeman, already riding high with the Doobie Brothers and soon to be known as Van Halen's producer, decided to produce Beefheart. The result was Clear Spot, the first of two albums in this compilation, one of Beefheart's best-sounding records. It's also one of the rare occasions when Beefheart's music survived commercial staging without failure. Throughout the album, the band — Zoot Horn Rollo, guitar, steel guitar and mandolin; Rockette Morton, rhythm and bass guitar; Ed Marimba (Art Trip), drums and percussion; and Oréjon (Roy Estrada ), bass — cooks, Beefheart is in great voice and the sound is crystal clear. Later that year, Beefheart released the 2nd album in this collection, the self-produced The Spotlight Kid, with a band consisting again of Zoot Horn Rollo, Rockette Morton and Ed Marimba, joined by Winged Eel Fingerling (Eliot Ingber), guitar, in addition to Drumbo, Ted Cactus and Rhys Clark on drums." — Pete Johnson/liner notes.

SHANKAR, ANANDA: CD (WEA 72632). $17.00

Mid-line reissue of this 1970 world-fusion kitsch classic, by the nephew of Ravi Shankar; his debut and most renowned album. "Now this is an album which is an all time classic. In order to understand the importance of Ananda Shankar the artist, it is important to understand the importance of this album. Ananda Shankar, is to the modern desi drum-and-bass movement, what George Clinton and James Brown are to the Hip-hop — the mother lode. He pioneered the fusion movement — seamlessly blending the east with the west. No one had thought of using the Mridangam with guitar or backing the Sitar or Sarod with a rock beat or electronic sound effects. The album features the sitar-enhanced versions of rock-n-roll classics such as 'Jumping Jack Flash' and 'The Doors' Light My Fire. For my money this is a must have album for all desi music lovers."

RESONANT (UK):

KEPLER: Fuck Fight Fail LP (RES 001 LP). $12.00

"Debut from UK indie label Resonant. Ottawa based Kepler were recommended to the label by the mighty Constellation label following their collaborative efforts on the Do Make Say Think EP. Deluxe limited edition vinyl with lavish artwork, metallic ink, full color inner sleeve. For fans of: Will Oldham, Red House Painters, Low."

FINDLAY, SZAM: Die Hautfabrik CD (RES 003 CD). $15.00

"Latest Resonant album project and undoubtedly the most 'out there' yet; this is the debut release by Vancouver-based prodigy Szam Findlay, eight years in the making and without parallel in the current musical climate. Defying categorization, Die Hautfabrik (loosely translated as 'Factory Of Flesh') is equal parts Wagner, Vangelis, Autechre and Einstürzende Neubauten, resulting in a compelling longplayer of contemporary classical music underpinned with minimal, glitchy electronics. Seven tracks, with a total running time of 72mins-plus, and housed in truly one of the most impressive sleeves you've seen in a long, long time — featuring a 14-page steel ring-bound booklet of sculpture by artist Dandilion Schlase augmented by heavy uncoated stock, housed in a thick card sleeve — and all put together and bagged by the artist."

SK/UM: I Thagu Fallsins CD (RES 004 CD). $12.00

"The second Icelandic release on Resonant also heralds the label's second foray into the realms of electronica: following the majestic Borko EP from early 2002 comes more Grade A output, with this flawless, varied and engaging mini-album. This is the debut release from Reykjavik-based producers Sk/um. aka Skurken and Prince Valium, aka Johann Omarsson and Thorstein Olafsson. Available on ultra-limited 8-track LP and 9-track CD (CD includes an exclusive remix by Arnar Helgi of the opening track 'Tornatar' and clocking in at 30 minutes-plus. I Thagu Fallsins (loosely translated as 'For The Fall') expands on the established template for the genre and remains endearing and accessible throughout, without ever becoming generic or mundane."

SK/UM: I Thagu Fallsins LP (RES 004 LP). $13.00

LP Version.

STAFRAENN HAKON: Skvettir Edik á Ref CD (RES 005 CD). $16.00

"First release outside of his homeland for Iceland's Stafrann Hakon, centered around the majestic soundscapes of Olafur Josephsson, a young man with incredible talent and a big future. Skvettir Edik A Ref doesn't represent his recording debut, but it certainly announces his arrival on the international scene in a grand style. This is the first of two Stafrann albums to be released in 2003 on Resonant (Astaandi RJ Punnar follows) and collectively they form the finest body of work in the post-rock genre in years. That said, to pigeonhole Stafrann's work as post-rock doesn't even tell half the story. Bringing to mind Labradford. Tarentel or an instrumental Sigur Ros, his music is epic, incredibly emotive and atmospheric — and though the component parts tread a fairly familiar path, the end product is anything but formulaic."

STAFRAENN HAKON: Í Ástandi Rjúpunnar CD (RES 006 CD). $17.00

"Stafrann Hakon is the musical project of Olafur Josephsson, a young Icelandic experimental musician. Since early 1999, he's been experimenting with guitars, drum loops and various instruments in his basement using a 4-track recorder. The concept of music has always been in it's basic form for Stafrann Hakon, mostly played on distorted guitars and an acoustic guitar along with drum loops and melodia. Both these albums are presented as digipack CD's and will appeal to all those with a love of drifting, ethereal soundscapes ala Labradford, Tarentel, Aerial M etc etc."

DIALECT: buildings.with.towns.in 12" (RES 007 EP). $9.00

"Debut release from Dialect — and the first UK-based artist on the eclectic & acclaimed Resonant label. Loathe to be classified electronica but ultimately resigned to being pigeonholed as such, the music herein is reminiscent of U-Ziq's Planet Mu imprint and the Din label (Arovane/Dynamo). The opening track is one of the most startling, inventive and powerful blasts of electronic music in a long time — uncompromising, with sledgehammer beats and a nod to the more open-minded dancefloors. The second track is more accessible but no less creative, marrying an infectious bassline with vocal samples and stuttering beats. Side B continues in much the same manner, making for a complete and fulfilling listening experience."

ESMERINE: If Only A Sweet Surrender To The Nights To Come Be True 2x10" (RES 007 LP). $17.00

Double LP version. "Magnificent. expansive, sprawling neo-classical compositions. The work of Bruce Cawdron & Beckie Foon; their first release as Esmerine, outside of their capacity within Godspeed You! Black Emperor and A Silver Mt. Zion.. Musically closer to Rachels or Clogs than any of the previous GYI BE splinter projects. Esmerine takes the guitars out of the equation, and is based almost entirely around drums, melodic percussion and cello. Eight tracks clocking in at around 50 minutes — beautifully packaged as a double 10" vinyl format."

OLVIS: Olvis CD (RES 008CD). $16.00

"Burgeoning UK leftfield label Resonant debuts yet another artist — and once again, Olvis is Icelandic: their fourth musician from those shores. Following the electronic forays of Borko and 5k/um, and more recently the much-lauded digital post-rock soundscapes of Stafrann Hakon, Olvis' music inhabits a more easily-defined territory, concentrating almost solely on warm, engaging guitar based instrumental pieces — very accessible but without being generic or staid in any way. The first release of 25 year-old Orlygur Thor Orlygsson, this also features contributions from several leading lights on the vibrant Reykjavik music scene, but the album is essentially the work of one man: all written, recorded and played by Orlygur, with drums and synth added by his guests."

BORKO: Trees And Limbo EP 12" (RESONANT 05). $9.00

"Majestic EP of fragile, organic electronica from a small rural community near Reykjavik, Iceland, the debut release from a hirsute young man named Bjorn Kristjansson. As Borko he delivers four subtle, melodic & engaging tracks which come across as if they were sound-tracks to fairytales: gentle and serene, evolving slowly and beautifully. Produced with the guidance & expertise of his close friends from his home town, the EP echoes the work of Tugboat/Fat Cat artists Mum without being derivative or lacking an identity of its own."

BAILIFF, JESSICA W/THE DITHERING EFFECT: 10" (RESONANT 4). $9.00

"Limited edition clear vinyl 10". Only 750 copies. Following two majestic and mesmeric albums on Chicago's Kranky label (Godspeed etc.) comes this 4 track ep on the UK's Resonant label. 20 minutes of beautiful music from one of Kranky's most popular artists. Features two vocal tracks and two instrumental."

KEPLER: Waterfall/The Dog Watcher 7" (RESONANT 6). $6.00

"Uber-limited tour single featuring two exclusive tracks from Canadian four-piece Kepler, on the back of their UK/Irish dates at the tail-end of March supporting Godspeed You Black Emperor! and the recent second full-length Missionless Days. Strictly limited to 400 copies, one-off pressing."

RESONANT/STATIC CARAVAN (UK):*CIRCLE: Prospekt 2LP (STATIC 06). $17.00

"Circle effortlessly devours and personalizes skewed progressive-rock rhythms, distorted guitar firepower, cosmic sound paintings, gleaming minimalism, Kraut-influenced phrase repetition, and hymnal incantations written in a made-up language called Meronian. Like a Steve Reich or Terry Riley piece performed by a rock band. Basic riffs are stretched and reshaped, creating bleak, underwater grooves and dizzily repetitive rhythms sounding like an otherworldly This Heat or a heavier, more damaged Can. Mellow jazzy moments and delicate melodies intersect with heavy, Bonham-esque beats and crushing hypnotic force."

NISHINIHON: Nishinohon 2LP (STATIC 3). $19.00

"A Japanese supergroup trio consisting of three members of the terminally cool Acid Mothers Temple & The Melting Paraiso U.F.O.. Full on 70's rawk action, heavy rifferama, wiggled out extended lunar solo's ... weird singing ... maybe a dash of humour but it's never comic. A nostalgic space trip thru the world of Blue Cheer esque guitar worship all powered by vintage space cakes. never has an album from the 00's sounded so 70's . It's well and truly freaky journey but totally balanced, this is no noise album ... it's a return to the sounds of the classic rawk years (it's even got a track called 'Let's Zeppelin' !!!). Even the stoner kids will like this one and if they don't they should go listen to coldplay."

RESOPAL SCHALLWARE (GERMANY):*ALKA: Deployed 2LP (RESOP 001 LP). $14.50

Double LP version.

DALESSANDRO, BILLY: Dark Matter 12" (RESOP 003). $9.00

"This three-track EP is reassurance that the Resopal Chicago connection continues with great music. After his releases on Force Inc. and on the konvex I konkav sampler 'The Midas Touch', Resopal shows up with a groovin' yet effective release from chicago producer Billy Dalessandro. Opening with classical Minimal Techno soundclash of 'Dark Matter' you can ask yourself : 'Bloody hell, this is a bit cool old school' isn't it?' before you start raving to this fantastic track."

MISC.: Loverfair 12" (RESOP 004). $9.00

"A prelude of what more is soon to come. This 12" release marks a recent turning point for Cologne duo Misc. who have releases on Richie Hawtin's label Minus, Force Tracks, Sender, K20 and konvex I konkav. In the club it's best choice for playing a pearl of melodic and consequent music. The Loverfair EP is a two-track whammy of house and minimal heaven. The A side bursts with infectious house grooves, warm and lush sounds which envelope the listener whereas the B side takes the vibe harder with layers of pacy minimal soaked rhythms by remixers Croon Inc fresh-as-fuck mixing gives this track a real big system edge and is the sort of tune that makes digging around the record shop fun."

MISC.: In Between 2LP (RESOP 006LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

JARL VS. GUS GUS, MARTIN: Moonstruck e.p. 12" (RESOP 009 EP). $9.00

"And in fact, when Martin Jarl's CD-R hit the office everybody at Resopal and Force Inc. was immediately banned by the energy of this track. There was no doubt that it must have been a promising talent behind this production-work, as this track actually sounds like it's done by someone who's experienced and has already championed and optimized his sound for the last years in the electronic circuit. 29-year old Swede Martin Jarl, who released already on Mitek and KonvexIkonkav introduces us into the fields of Swedish electronica and consequently it controls the effect of this vinyl completely. But let's take a look at the flip. No other than Icelands finest electronica magicians Gus Gus themselves came down to transform this musical masterpiece into a Gus Gus typical evil knivel, bass in your stomach, how low can you jack action flip-side. And if the pad hits you after 7 minutes you know this is mental stuff."

JACKMATE: The Prodigal Son 2LP (RESOP 010 LP). $14.50

Double LP version.

MUEGGE, A.: Trailblazer EP 12" (RESOP 011 EP). $9.00

"Cocoon artist A. Muegge, also known under his famous alias, D. Diggler, has already sparked the attention of the global electronic music community with releases on labels such as Raum...Musik, Planet Vision, Punk!, Bipolar and Konvex I Konkav. His new 12" on Resopal comes along with 3 fresh and energetic techno tracks, fully loaded with that special energy left over from this extraordinary summer."

TIGERSKIN: Back To Chicago 12" (RESOP 013 EP). $9.00

"Resopal delivers the 13th treat by Berlin based Tigerskin, also known under his famous alias Dub Taylor who has already sparked attention with releases on Forcetracks, Morris audio etc. His new 12" Back To Chicago comes along with four fresh and energetic tracks, all made for the dancefloor, fully loaded with that special energy left over from this summer. All in all this 4-tracker genuinely proves that the Berlin mastermind is simply one of the most innovative and direct electronic music producers of the moment. The title gives a hint of what to expect from this record: Jackin' Tech-House beats with that special Old Skool feeling transformed into a modern and rocking dancefloor filler. This record should work as a teaser of the forthcoming album to let you know what the Resopal crew is cookin' in the pan in spring 2004."

LUOMO: What's Good - Rmx 12" (RESOP 014EP). $9.00

"Luomo is back with the second maxi from his highly appreciated album Present Lover. Again 'What's Good' is a vocal fuelled masterpiece. Enchanting lyrics integrate with the sensual flow of Luomo's pop house rhythms that has made him one of the most sought after producers of our time. Germany's top producer Ian Pooley has done an outstanding job of turning 'What's Good' into a peak time stomper. Kwaliti Kontrol from Canada and Adjuster from Sweden delivered fine dub tunes for the clubs. And Frank Elting from MRI follows with a nice postmodern remix."

ALKA: Deployed CD (RESOP 001 CD). $14.50

"A new label for all forms of modern electronic music from Frankfurt/Germany: Resopal® Schallware. The A&Rs behind this label are Stephan Lieb and Frank Elting who also run the Konvex I Konkav label and are better known as M.R.I.. New York's DJ & Producer Alka follows up the media and dancefloor furor left from his releases on Gravitonium and with his debut album Deployed on Resopal®. Alka's uncompromising direction and message is that of a clear-minded, solid player whose scope is not limited to just the groovy minimal techno he single-handedly built up: 'The idea behind Deployed is to create an album, which is based on algorithmic thoughts. For this album I have used various modular synthesizers as well as some acoustic field recordings made during my Asian trip. The sounds have been further manipulated via custom software patches. For this project I liked the idea of using analog sequencers, because they are very intuitive and spontaneous. I use minimalism approach because I love purity of objects in sound space. For this work I have also tried to employ some new synthesis methods. The recording apparatus being properly adjusted, its indicators became fainter and fainter with the increasing distance of the sound waves emission, until they cease altogether. I am listening eager expectation. As a source of the disturbances moves away the receiving circuit comes successively upon they nodes and loops. Many times, in regularly occurring intervals, the same actions repeated until the emission, which, as evident from simple computations is moving at constant speed."

MISC.: In Between CD (RESOP 006CD). $14.50

"Cologne Duo Misc. releases it's first full artist album which features 12 brand-new tunes — all with their phenomenal and unique Cologne sound-aesthetic and chocks full of infectious, typical Misc. suicide-style grooves (eat this, Kylie!). Hannes Weener & Christopher Bleckmann aka Misc. have established themselves as one of German most respected electronic music producers. What makes them so essential on the greater scope of musical advancement is found in their multitude of strong relationship and association with other like-minded producers around their homebase who share their vision and have worked in a collaborative format to achieve a greater good and common goal: simply good music. In Between is an album with conviction, imagination and the courage to experiment, resulting in a collection that is electrified, club orientated and above all, extremely musical."

DALESSANDRO, BILLY: Midievalization CD (RESOP 007 CD). $14.50

"If you are looking for boarder-breaking pieces of real Chicago Techno beats, Billy Dalessandro's fresh album Midievalization and the label Resopal will share the same emphasis and the labels seventh release surely will do his job too. No need to introduce this Chicago guy anymore. In shortest period Billy has risen to one of the most demanded young american producers and is a mainstay for energetic, yet effective groovin' Techno. Recent releases have been launched on labels as Force Inc., konvexikonkav and of course Resopal. After his last 12" 'Dark Matter' which already gained huge support from the likes of Miss Kittin, Diggler, e.g., this here is a step forward of this promising talent: Billy Dalessandro's debut album Midievalization features minimal and energetic Techno just right for the peak-time as well as it refers to the good old sounds of Chicago. All in all Midievalization features some real floor damaging material."

VA: Jack To Future CD (RESOP 008 CD). $14.50

"Featuring only new and exclusive tracks. Beyond all electro-clash and pseudo-trendy hypes, Resopal's 8th strike hits the scene with a bold, twinkling eye and futuristic step into the depth of the past, otherwise known as Chicago Jack-House. Back to the past and deep into the future. Those who are familiar with our label and our music understand our capabilities to show up with some of the best international flavor. To name just a few, this project's list of international producers include artists such as Baby Ford, Rob Acid, Hakan Lidbo, Misc., Dub Taylor, Jake Fairley, Matthias Schaffhäuser (Aka Matthieu Matique), Billy Dalessandro, Moonboutica, Falko Brocksieper and others. Through all of them, you are prepared for a flashback to the dancefloor — with a bold, new step in the realm of the past... we call it, Jack-Tech. In honor and respect to the old days, we would like to call it, Jack To Future — Take the vitality and revolution of the early House movement and mix it with the fine flavor of our currently growing artist stable of top international micro-house producers. The result is a transcendent collection of 13 unreleased tracks that provoke the vast continuum of conventional dance music and frighteningly catchy songs, perfect for every dancefloor, that will surely reflect a new phase for the label's evolution. Jack To Future defines the modern curriculum of Jack and Acid infused house as well as some of the hottest label outputs directly out of the studios of the leading producers in the emerging international microhouse scene, a direct imprint of Chicago/Detroit."

JACKMATE: The Prodigal Son CD (RESOP 010 CD). $14.50

"Following the international success with his recent remix work for Columbia recording act International Pony and prior releases on labels Pokerflat, Playhouse, Treibstoff, Mosaic, Kurbel, Morris Audio and Perlon, Michel Baumann's most popular artistic alias, Jackmate makes his anticipated debut album release. Jackmate's The Prodigal Son is a versatile blend of Chicago-influenced house, micro-house and jackin' electro. Every track unfolds an atmosphere that truly revives the original spirit of the early days of techno and house but with a modern touch. Somewhere in between an unrestrained lust for life and mindless party fun, this album is all that and what Jackmate represents with every millimeter of his body and every part of his soul."

RETRACTOR (UK):*THIGHPAULSANDRA: Double Vulgar CD (RETRACT 001 CD). $18.00

"Double Vulgar is the latest release from Thighpaulsandra and continues the voyage of sonic discovery and juxtaposition started on Thighpaulsandra in 2000 and strays further from the paths trodden by his brothers in Coil and Spiritualized. On Double Vulgar ensemble performance is brought to the fore. Thighpaulsandra has marshalled his collaborators into a vital and efficient unit. Dorothy Lewis, Martin Schellard, Siôn Orgon and The Boy Anal steer an obscure and sometimes perilous course slipping seamlessly between complex arrangements, chemical fuelled improvisation, hard electronics and joyful glam ejaculation.

There are also guest appearances from John Balance, Ossian Brown and Cliff Stapleton. The controversial cover is by Peter Christopherson."

RETURN TO SENDER (GERMANY):

VAN ZANDT, TOWNES: *Live At The McCabe's CD (RTS 032). $15.00

"This recording is live from McCabe's Los Angeles, Feb 10, 1995. Van Zandt on guitar and vocals, with Kelly Joe Phelps on dobro. The songs of Townes Van Zandt are destined to be for folk artists what the works of Gershwin are to saloon singers...the quintessence of troubadour music, thanks to the somber grace of the late Lone Star legend's language and the engaging simplicity of his melodies. The recently released Poet: Tribute To Townes Van Zandt album, featuring performances of his most historic tracks by the likes of Nanci Griffith, Emmylou Harris, Cowboy Junkies, Steve Earle, Guy Clark, & Willie Nelson raises the interest in Van Zandt to an all-time high. McCabe's is a fine performance from the later years; a nice, semi-rare 'Pueblo Waltz', 'Shrimp Song', and 'Snowin on Raton'. Other highlights are 'Katie Belle Blue' and 'A Song For', and 'The Hole'. This album best captures an intimate latter day concert by Townes — sounding old, sage, funny and dear. Limited to 2000 copies."

BROKAW, CHRIS: *Wandering As Water CD (RTS 042). $15.00

"A musician's musician, Chris Brokaw has been making records for over 15 years, as a drummer for Codeine, a founding member and guitarist for Come, and a drummer again with the New Year. In 2002 he broke out with a critically-lauded and fully adept solo piece: Red Cities on Atavistic. His prowess as a guitarist has him touring year-round with acts like Steve Wynn, Consonant, Evan Dando, Pullman, the Willard Grant Conspiracy and his former Come partner Thalia Zedek. A long-time admirer of the songwriter Townes Van Zandt, now Brokaw has an opportunity to let his own songwriting shine on Wandering As Water. If you've seen Brokaw live, you know how much staid energy can come from one man. Armed with his guitar and a lone tapping tambourine, these recordings echo those performances in both their simplicity and in their power. Instrumental pieces imbued with harmony and coated in emotive grace. Brokaw's vocals come just as easily as the slide on his guitar, and soon enough, the listener is drawn into the kitchen, where he's found a place to play and a few sympathetic ears. Like Van Zandt, Brokaw already has a wide swath of experience from which to draw pointed observations and gruff realities. People shift, things change, live goes on. But that guitar sound and tapping tambourine seem to remain. Constant. Another stripped-down gem from Return To Sender."

MINUS 5: *I Don't Know Who I Am CD (RTS 043). $15.00

6th album overall by this supersession-led group, started in the early 90s by Scott McCaughey (Young Fresh Fellows), with Pete Buck, Wilco, etc. guesting. Subtitled: Let The War Against Music Begin Vol. 2, this album is a sequel/expansion of sessions from their 2001 album. "These songs were recorded during the sporadic and sprawling Let The War Against Music Begin sessions. For reasons both clear and confounding they did not appear on that record. I am extremely proud of Let The War Against Music Begin — in a strange way though, this is more the record Peter and I had originally intended to make, and perhaps more deserving of that belligerent, but triumphant, title. I hope you find it suitably harrowing. — Scott McCaughey." Musicians: Scott McCaughey and Peter Buck; with Barrett Martin, Ken Stringfellow, Jeff Tweedy, Morgan Fisher, Christy McWilson, Jon Auer, Mark Hoyt, Jason Finn, Dennis Diken, Charlie Francis, Rob Allum, Jason Bick.

VA: *Return To Sender 2001 CD (RTS 2001). $15.00

Compilation of artists involved with the limited edition German label, Return To Sender. Features mostly exclusive/previously unreleased tracks from: Idyll Swords, Veranda Music, Loretta, Fink, Hungry Ghosts, Tom Liwa, Missouri, John Wolfington, Hannah Marcus, Two Dollar Guitar, Ryan Adams, Christina Rosenvinge, Green Apple Sea, Tenfold Loadstar, Chris Cacavas, Sonja Hunter, Townes Van Zandt, Barb Donovan, Barbara Manning & Go-Lucky's, Mushroom.

REVENANT:

O'ROURKE, JIM: *Happy Days CD (RVN 101). $14.00

This CD marked the debut of a new label piloted by John Fahey, in 1997. "His first solo disc since 1995, Happy Days pits a lone acoustic guitar against a phalanx of hurdy-gurdies, a decided shift away from the composer's electronic-based work. O'Rourke's working relationships with Tony Conrad and John Fahey each find new resonance in this hybrid of early American minimalism and steel string guitar." A totally mesmerizing 48 minute work, indebted to the aforementioned mentors, but uniquely forging into all new territory. One of '97's most explosive pieces of music.

BISHOP, SIR RICHARD: *Salvador Kali CD (RVN 102). $14.00

"Relentlessly faceless these many years as a founding member of mystery-cloaked ethno-improv pioneers Sun City Girls, Rick Bishop steps out from behind the veil in Django-ized high style with 9 mostly-improvised solo peanos to the glories of knighthood. Note to the initiated: as lyrical, triumphant and, yes, song-smithy as Torch of the Mystics. Performed on guitars, piano and Harmonium in a most exquisite atmosphere.

FAHEY, JOHN: *Red Cross CD (RVN 104). $17.00

"Our late founder John Fahey's final album, Red Cross. An intensely personal project for John which he completed a few months before his death and originally intended for release in 2001. Red Cross can be heard as Fahey coming full circle, reinvigorated, at peace with both past and present. Includes spine-tingling interpretations of Irving Berlin's 'Remember' and the Gershwins' 'Summertime' alongside a number of stellar new Fahey originals. Featuring the acoustic fingerpicking of yore as well as some shimmering electric guitar vamps, Red Cross touches those peculiarly Faheyian regions in the heart and mind. A final, sparkling gem from a hue American original. Packaged in a special, limited-edition letterpressed chipboard jacket with an inspirational pamphlet nestled inside."

BAILEY/MIN TANAKA, DEREK: *Musical And Dance CD (RVN 201). $14.00

"In the pioneering spirit of his Takoma imprint, John Fahey presents Revenant, dedicated to 'raw musics' from a variety of idioms from the so-called avant garde (Cecil Taylor, Jim O'Rourke, Milford Graves) to the 'modern primitive' sounds of the early Stanley Brothers, Roscoe Holcomb and Jenks Tex Carman. Revenant collects the best in uncompromising, unadulterated work...these live recordings of Bailey's 1980 'accompaniment' to Japanese dancer Min Tanaka on a semi-outdoor Paris stage, previously available only on a privately released cassette, amply document Bailey's command of a highly individualized atonal language. 'Rain Dance' is the work of a remarkable ensemble: Bailey's ringing tones, Tanaka's percussive movements, rumbling thunder, a torrential downpour, and the rhythmic patter of rain dripping from a leaky roof. 'Saturday Dance' chimes and burns — a concentrated assault rivaling the incendiary Incus Taps."

TAYLOR, CECIL: *Nefertiti, The Beautiful One Has Come 2CD (RVN 202). $28.00

"By 1962, American pianist Cecil Taylor had been at the fringes of the jazz establishment for several years. His angular, percussive attack and unconventional harmonic sense bred controversy among players and listeners alike and proved at odds with most rhythm sections.

The Cafe Monmartre recordings of Nov. 23, 1962 capture the birth of the mature Taylor style. The boppish lines of Jimmy Lyons retain ties to the past, while Sunny Murray's coruscating, arrhythmic washes point the way to the future. Originally issued by Freedom in 1975 but up to now unavailable domestically on CD, Nefertiti has attained cult status as one of the crucial recordings of Taylor's career." Has two non-listed bonus tracks (a second version of "Call" and a twenty minute improv at the end of disc 2) that were tagged on at the last minute.

STANLEY BROTHERS: *Earliest Recordings: The Rich-R-Tone 78s (1947-1952) CD (RVN 203). $14.00

"In bluegrass, there's an oft-cited Holy Trinity: Stanley Brothers, Bill Monroe and Flatt & Scruggs. For a truly despairing, spectral, high-lonesome sound, however, Ralph (keening tenor, banjo) and Carter (earthy baritone, guitar) Stanley stand alone. This, the first complete collection of the rare 78s featuring their earliest, formative recordings for the Rich-R-Tone label, presents the Stanleys at their rawest and most unadorned."

BASSHOLES: *Blue Roots CD (RVN 204). $14.00

"From his days as a founding member of Ohio's legendary Gibson Bros. through his guitar-n-drum trawls with Bassholes, Don Howland has consistently hewn closer to music's great primordial gloop than anyone since Hasil Adkins. Originally released in 1992 on In The Red, Blue Roots is Howland at his most elemental."

BOGGS, DOCK: *Country Blues: Complete Early Recordings (1927-29) CD (RVN 205). $17.00

"Easily the greatest white country bluesman ever. One of music's most otherworldly and compelling bodies of work. The complete early recordings...Dock Boggs was a singer and banjo player who sounded as if his bones were coming through his skin every time he opened his mouth. In the mountains of eastern Kentucky/western Virginia in the 1920s he forged a highly personal music of singular intensity." The CD features transfers of his 78 recordings for the Brunswick label in 1927 and the Lonesome Ace label in 1929, plus five previously unissued alternate takes. The disc is packaged in a gorgeous 64-page hardcover book featuring rare photos and essays by Greil Marcus and Charles Wolfe. Boggs recently was included in the essential Smithsonian/Folkways Anthology of American Folk Music and the excitement on this stupendous release couldn't be more fever-pitched.

VA: *American Primitive Vol. 1: Raw Pre-War Gospel (1926-36) CD (RVN 206). $14.00

Subtitled Pre-War Gospel (1926-36). "26 High intensity/low varnish killers by: Charley Patton, Rev. I.B. Ware, Booker White, William & Versey Smith, Blind Willie Davis, Frank Palmes, Bo Weavil Jackson, Elder Otis Jones, Rev. Edward Clayborn, Blind Roosevelt Graves, Austin Coleman, Blind Joe Taggart, Eddie Head and Family, Dennis Crompton and Robert Summers, Luther Magby, Jaybird Coleman, A.C. Forehand and Blind Mamie Forehand. The definitive WORD in sacred street music, culled and remastered from the collections of Gayle Dean Wardlow and John Fahey."

TEX CARMAN, JENKS: *Chippewa! The Essential Dixie Cowboy! (1948-53) CD (RVN 207). $14.00

"In the naïf-genius one-man-band tradition of Joe Hill Louis and Hasil Adkins comes cowboy singer Jenks Tex Carman, armed with his wicked slide guitar and a crazed repertoire of cowboy, Hawaiian and Cherokee rave-ups. Imitating everything on his guitar from the sounds of battle—bugle, drums, fife, rifleshot, cannonball—the chug of the locomotive, Carman was an anachronism even in the 1940s and early '50s when these recordings were made. Hear life as it was for an Indian headdress-wearing, Cherokee language-singing, Hawaiian slide guitar-playing cowpoke from the days of yore, collected here from the original 4 Star and Capitol releases."

FEATHERS, CHARLIE: *Get With It: Essential Recordings (1954-69) 2CD (RVN 209). $30.00

Repressed. 42 track double CD, almost half of which is unreleased tracks; lavish 48-page photo-packed book with notes by Jim Dickinson, Colin Escott, Peter Guralnick and Nick Tosches. "Charlie Feathers. No other performer scaled such heights in both primeval rockabilly and keening hillbilly country. Presley? Nary a hillbilly wail in sight; Feathers' adenoidal whine could strip paint off walls. Here are all his Sun, Flip, Meteor, Kay, WalMay and Holiday Inn sides, plus rare, unissued tracks including Sun demos, alternate takes and early home recordings with the likes of Junior Kimbrough."

CAPTAIN BEEFHEART: *Grow Fins 5CD (RVN 210). $85.00

"Captain Beefheart & his Magic Band set rock on its ear from 1965 until 1982, when leader Don Van Vliet retired from music. Engineering a mutant strain of musical DNA (tuff-ass garage punk R&B, extraterrestrial field hollers, austere 'classical' miniatures, loping sea chanties, scorched-earth delta blues, free-blowing skronk, fat-bottom groove and post-everything clangor all found their way into the soup), compelling bands ever waxed. The closest to a Best Of collection as we are likely to see, this career-spanning set corals rare tracks from a variety of sources (band members' personal archives, live tracks, demos, work-tapes, radio spots) along with over 30 minutes of Enhanced CD footage of live performances, 112 pages of text and never-before-published photos, the completed Trout Mask Replica house sessions, and John 'Drumbo' French's 'colorful' history of the band. Hear a captain and his truly magic band." Track listing: CD 1 Just Got Back From The City [1965-67] (39:39) 1. Obeah Nam (1966 demo) 2. Just Got Back From The City (1966 demo) 3. PATTON, CHARLEY: Screamin' And Hollerin' The Blues: The Worlds of Charley Patton 7CD (RVN 212). $155.00

A mammoth slip-cased boxset, weighing in at over 6 lbs! "Historical Revisionism has written large the name of Robert Johnson in blues annals while according Charley Patton a comparative footnote. One of the founders of Mississippi Delta blues, Patton (1891-1931) was already the long-reigning kingpin of Delta bluesmen when Johnson was still in short pants. Take a listen and hear why many consider Patton the best there ever was. Possessor of a driving, percussive guitar style, a gravel-encrusted holler, often improvisatory lyrics, complex rhythmic dynamics, an unequalled 'talking' bottleneck and a deep reservoir of melodic hooks, Patton conjured up songstuffs that gave vent to both a restless artistic temperament and a palpable, lingering rage. A 7-CD primer on Mississippi Delta blues with Charley Patton as the central, generative figure, this set features 5 CDs with all issued and unissued recordings by Patton and sessionmates Son House, Willie Brown, Louise Johnson, Henry 'Son' Sims, Bertha Lee, Delta Big Four, Buddy Boy Hawkins, Edith North Johnson, and even talent scout HC Speir; a 6th CD of artists in Charley's 'orbit' like Ma Rainey, Howlin' Wolf, Poor Boy Lofton, Kid Bailey, Walter Rhodes, Rube Lacy, Blind Joe Reynolds (newly discovered track!), Tommy Johnson and Pops Staples; and a 7th CD of interviews with Patton associates Staples, Wolf, Speir and Patton protege Booker Miller. All tracks are fully remastered and pitch-corrected from the best possible sources, resulting in the definitive versions of this material. Also included are a freestanding reprint of John Fahey's 1970 Patton book, 128 pages of exhaustive new notes by Fahey and blues scholars David Evans, Dick Spottswood, and Ed Komara, complete lyric transcriptions, full-size reproductions of the 6 original 1929 Paramount ads, a full set of 78 record label stickers from all Charley's Paramount, Vocalion and Herwin releases, and dozens of other dazzling visuals. All housed in a deluxe '78 Album' hard-cover book and slipcase."

FAHEY, JOHN: Red Cross LP (RVN 6001 LP). $14.00

"Recorded in the months leading up to his death, Red Cross represents Fahey coming full circle, at peace with past and present. Includes spine-tingling interpretations of Irving Berlin's 'Remember' and the Gershwins' 'Summertime,' alongside a number of stellar new originals. Touches those peculiarly Faheyian regions in the heart and mind. A final, sparkling gem from a true American original. Textured sleeve with insert booklet of Glenn Jones' liner notes."

VA: Harry Smith's Anthology of American Folk Music, Volume Four 2LP (RVN 6002 LP). $24.00

"Harry Smith was a true polymath — avant-garde filmmaker, alchemist, folklorist, painter, magician, archivist and expert on string figures, paper airplanes, and Ukrainian painted eggs — but is perhaps best known for his pioneering three-volume Anthology of American Folk Music, originally released in 1952 and reissued to great acclaim in 1997 by Smithsonian/Folkways. Compiled by Harry Smith contemporaneously with the first three volumes, Volume 4 of Harry's historic Anthology went unissued for almost 50 years. In conjunction with The Harry Smith Archives, Revenant presents Smith's 'secret volume' in its intended song sequence, including tracks by Monroe Brothers, Carter Family, Robert Johnson, Bukka White, Lead Belly, Uncle Dave Macon, and Sleepy John Estes. Featuring the first in-depth narrative on Smith and his work, with essays by Ed Sanders (Fugs), John Cohen (New Lost City Ramblers), John Fahey, Dick Spottswood and Greil Marcus, and previously unpublished photos, including a teenage Harry Smith engineering some of his earliest field recordings. Two LPs plus a 20 page booklet housed in a deluxe double gatefold sleeve. Free poster included. Clear vinyl."

BOGGS, DOCK: Country Blues: Complete Early Recordings (1927-29) 2LP (RVN 6003LP). $24.00

New ultra deluxe double vinyl version, same material as RVN 205 CD. "Dock Boggs was a singer and banjo player who sounded as if his bones were coming through his skin every time he opened his mouth. In the mountains of eastern Kentucky/Western Virginia in the 1920s he forged a highly personal music of such singular intensity it retains the power to shock seventy plus years after it was recorded. Lots of text and rare photos. Over 60 minutes of music, including Boggs's 12 original 1927 and 1929 released recordings, 5 never-before-issued 1929 outtakes, and 4 1920s cuts by Boggs's Kentucky compatriots Bill and Hayes Shepherd."

STANLEY BROTHERS: Earliest Recordings: The Rich-R-Tone 78s (1947-1952) LP (RVN 6004LP). $14.00

Deluxe gatefold, clear vinyl version, same material as the prior RVN 203 CD from 2000. "For a truly despairing, spectral high-lonesome sound, Ralph (keening tenor, banjo) and Carter (earthy baritone, guitar) Stanley — the Stanley Brothers — stand alone in bluegrass. This collection features their earliest recordings, beginning in 1947 for the Rich-R-Tone label, and presents the duo at their rawest and most unbridled."

VA: American Primitive Vol.1: Raw Pre-War Gospel (1926-36) 2LP (RVN 6005LP). $24.00

Deluxe gatefold, clear vinyl version, same material as the RVN 206 CD from 2000. "77-minutes of gut-bucket, early gospel from the collections of Gayle Dean Wardlow and John Fahey, complete with a liner notes and photos. Included... Charley Patton, Rev. I.B. Ware with Wife & Son, Booker T. Washington 'Bukka' White, William & Versey Smith, Blind Willie Davis, Frank Palmes, Bo Weavil Jackson, Elder Otis Jones, Blind Roosevelt Graves, Blind Joe Taggart, Blind Mamie Forehand, Jaybird Coleman, and more."

REVOLVER (CANADA):

AKUFEN: Horrorama 12" (REV 010). $9.00

"Our third and most highly anticipated 12" from Montreal Canada's Marc Leclair (aka Akufen). 'The Sentinel' and 'Siamese Twins' are smooth and melodic classics that Marc wrote over three years ago, prior to his radio edit/microsample signature style."

HORROR INC.: Horrorama - Remixes 12" (REV 011 EP). $9.00

"The follow up to Horror Inc.'s (aka : Akufen) original blockbuster summer hit. Revolver Canada is very proud to present the debut of Perlon Recordings Dimbman. Wunderkind Mike Shannon of Cynosure And Force Inc. fame appears on the b-side with his interpretation of Siamese Twins."

REVOLVER (GERMANY):

SLAVE PIANOS: A Diagnosis, 1998-2001 LP/CD/BOOK (REVOLV 17). $75.00

"Artists/Musicians collective Slave Pianos (Odis Kemasinas, Neil Kelly, Rohan Drape, Michael Stevenson) from Australia reinterprets and recontextualize artists' records from the 20th century. On the record there are piano versions of works by Jean Dubuffet, Jean Tinguely, Ross Sinclair, Dieter Roth and many more. On the CD you'll find string quartet interpretations of pieces by Marcel Duchamp, Kurt Schwitters, Beuys & Paik, Christian Marclay, Bill Viola and many others while on the tape there are re-compositions by different musicians and DJs of Martin Kippenberger, Philip Corner, Paul McCarthy, Bruce Nauman, Christian Boltanski etc. etc. This set of recordings is accompanied by a 128 pp. book with three essays and a lot of photographs, documents and scores of the Slave Pianos. It all comes in a big box with a large photo of the Piano's archive of artists' records on the cover — an incredible release by this Frankfurt based publisher and label."

REWIND:

FUSE: CD (REW 55018). $15.00

"Fuse offers a fascinating glimpse into the musical beginnings of Rick Nielsen and Tom Petersson before superstardom beckoned as members of Cheap Trick, but it also stands on its own as a prime example of keyboard driven psychedelic pop, circa 1969. Rewind proudly announces the re-release of the complete 8 song Epic album by Fuse with 2 bonus tracks issued under their original name, the Grim Reapers."

FUSE: LP (REW 55018 LP). $15.00

LP version.

REWIND (GERMANY):

WILD, BENJAMIN: Musik Am Morgen 12" (REWIND 01). $8.00

"Next to the 2 step blueprint of Artful Dodger rewind above all signifies an audible backspin of a vinyl hit on reggae dances, if the crowd demands it. Rewind now also stands for a subdivision of Decode, a Hamburg-based label for electronic music, which wants to show its enthusiasm and admiration for King Tubby's endless echo-chambers and Lee Perry's innovative sound-modifications without forgetting about its musical inspiration through cities like Detroit, Berlin or Cologne. Although Rewind will predominantly concentrate on the classical disco 12" the label will also put a focus on sounds, playfulness and charm. This is represented by the first release from Hamburg-based Benjamin Wild and upcoming 12"s by Dub Star aka C-Rock and Duffer Swift, who already has released on Decode. After Benjamin Wild's rather minimal and more abstract release on Perlon (20 - 'Verschiebungen') 'Musik Am Morgen' is closer to his Kompakt 12" with a strong dub influence which makes him a many-faced musician."

RICE AND BEANS:

VA: Infiltrate 5.0 [5 Years Of Resistance] 12" (RICE 003). $9.00

"This latest weapon of mass construction from our friends in Miami has been welded to our decks over the last couple of months, ample evidence of the vital anti-Miami Winter Music Conference, and as prelude to the imminent full length CD showcasing artists from this year's festival. Proem's 'Permanent On Most Surfaces' displays IDM glitchcore spiced with hip-hop dynamics, from this talented and most wanted M3rck Recordings artist, while 09's 'Swap Acid' kicks minimal Aphexian booty crunch, largeness from the Must delicious crew! MC Serum and the Evolver crew, two of sister label Botanica del Jibaro's finest conspire, dropping words of intent on 'Resistance' over Equate & Day's killer rustic hip hop bombles and Flavor Flav's classic 'run a power move on em' line. Supersoul featuring Judah Manson & Cyne bring the unity of the Metatronix contingent in the shape of 'Sattva Guna (Make It Happen)'. An eastern-flavored downtempo Supersoul production, is truly blessed by Judah Manson and CYNE's lyrics and Omar's visceral basslines and slow-funked guitar lick. Induce is Counterflow Recordings' hip hop production magician, getting truly busy on 'Tracks', a jaw-dropping slice of deep, sonic, Prefuse 73 styled instrumentalism, razor cuts, flutes and the repeated phrasing of 'I do not exist'. Killer killer tune. The concluding remix from Plex, of the mighty Algorithm kicks traces of jazz organ over a full fat beat and gunfire samples. Keep low and watch out for friendly fire! Highly recommended — totally essential Miami tackle once again." UK-only release.

SPIKE: Operation: Binary 24 12" (RICE 005). $7.00

"...in 1998 Rome's Il Messaggero published documents seized by Peshmerga guerrillas in the command of Nawshirawan Mustafa from the Iraqi military intelligence in Kirkuk during the rebellion in 1991. Kirkuk was northern Iraq's security and espionage centre under the command of Ali Hassan Mejid, a cousin of Saddam Hussein. Mejid is referred to by the Kurds as 'Ali the Chemist.' The files, written by Iraqi officials in July 1990, reveal details of scenes of genocide reminiscent of the holocaust. During the 1980s, Iraq had used at least 2,400 Kurdish prisoners in a chemical weapons testing programme of binary gases codenamed 'Operation Binary 24'. The testing programme began shortly after the Israeli raid on Iraq's nuclear reactor in 1981. Baghdad, feeling the need for added security, inaugurated a series of tests to develop chemical weapons. From 1983, numerous Kurdish prisoners began to disappear. 8,000 in total were unaccounted for; many of whom are believed to have died in the testing programme...Spike's (rumored to be Takeshi Muto of Schematic and Phonem of Morr Music) debut EP delivers a lethal strike consisting of mechanical hip hop and melodic. Featuring a joint track with BBC's minister of information V8 and a remix by Patcha Kutek (rumored to be Jake Mandell of Carpark). Comes equipped with 8.5 x 11 info-poster and custom jacket print."

CYNE: African Elephants 12" (RICE 008). $7.00

"This heavyduty tough-work track is the debut single from Cyne. Their politically conscious rhymes tell a fluid tale of deceit, betrayal, and protection, while the track, the beats, and the hook truly deliver on their promises. Further expanding your consciousness and the record side, Beta Bodega Coalition brings you PH Dee. He doctors the track up like a dirty surgeon in an unmarked office down a dark alley. 09 of Must!Delicious, Planet-Mu, and Schematic will shock everyone who has or hasn't heard any of his previous material. With his hard, heavy, deep-as-fuck, straight-up hip-hop innovation, he sets new standards in forward thinking hip-hop. BBC also proudly introduces to the world: El Machetero. BBC found this man living in a flophouse in Miami's Overtown district. He is rumored to be wanted in three states for questioning, but has remained elusive. BBC was able to coax a complete track, a remix of 'African Elephants', due to the lyrical content. After picking up the master cassette tape from the drop point, BBC decided the track met standards. A bizarre mix of high end electronic wizardry, dirty Miami-bass and electro-reggae? For the DJ: We have included several acappella versions as well as an instrumental. This record is a must for both electronic and underground hip hop fans. Comes with beautiful records jacket design from the latino owned and operated design center, Pl3x. Top quality from Miami's underground."

MEGADEBT: Misadventures in Global Domination 12" (RICE 009). $9.00

"Supported by a wave of acolytes, the new music is Guerillacore. Spawned by a generation suddenly turning round and proclaiming, 'We're sick of this shit', Rice & Beans and Baked Goods are proud to present the first in the Rise and Defeat series."

DOCNUKE.COM: Petroleum Peepshow 12" (RICE 010). $11.00

Vinyl 12" version.

DOCNUKE.COM: Petroleum Peepshow CD (RICE 011CD). $17.00

"The third and fourth concluding parts of Beta Bodega Coalition's Rise & Defeat Series arrive — a double whammy at last completing this Miami collective's scathing assault on the New World Order, criminally propounded by the so called intellectual 'elite' of the 'free' world, and executed by their all too willing brothers in the military — industrial complex. Otto Von Schirach's guerillacore alter ego Docnuke's back and he's still seething with the fury of oil-rich, cash poor peoples, lined up like so many dominoes in a premeditated imperial world tour. The CD collects all three constituent vinyl salvos: begun late in 2003 with the Megadab — Misadventures In Global Domination MLP [Rb 009], continued on the latex glove 7" special Petroleum G-String [Bb13.5] and the eight track same titled vinyl released simultaneously. The breakcore psychosis stays strong, fusing bass, booty, jungle, and hip-hop to incendiary effect. This music should come to be seen as Otto's defining work...Protest and survive."

LANGE, ROBERTO CARLOS PRESENTS: BOOM & BIRDS: Confetti LP (RICE 012LP). $11.00

LP version.

LANGE, ROBERTO CARLOS PRESENTS: BOOM & BIRDS: Confetti CD (RICE 014CD). $13.00

"Beta Bodega Coalition's sub division literally caught fire at their Sonar showcase with Confetti, a starring role was played in Barcelona: an acoustica / hip hop / inverted folk hybrid that startles with originality and a summertime breeze. Roberto Carlos fills the fat-backed rhythms with melodic elements, processed guitars and intricate shimmers, aided and abetted by Adam Heathcott. 'Sometimes too lucky' maintains this connection to 'real' instruments — a lonesome guitar rides a rich bed of vibes, like an after hours jam led by the Compass Point All Stars. 'Serpent Regular' opens with a Sun Ra-ish moment, then again the stringed instruments come into focus, offering a reflective, cannily poised composition, a song. 'Yellow Kite' has to be the highlight here, fat synths like a long lost Tom Tom Club dub, out and out balearic heaven. Flip to the CD for a couple of bonus tracks — 'Help me out now' looping a breathy vocal, over a languid, relaxed beat — like a much funkier version of the early Tortoise sides. 'Hostas' ends with a suitably hushed tone: a Beach Boys inspired vocal, and music laying somewhere between early Mouse On Mars and the High Llamas."

RIFI (EUROPE):

CIRCUS 2000: LP (RIFI). $7.00

A few copies found of this early 90s European bootleg repro of the 1st of two LPs by this Italian progressive guitar-psych group, with real frothy female vocals that often bring about comparisons betwixt 60's Airplane and Aguturbia. Reduced price.

RINGELBEATZ (GERMANY):

KAMUEFLASH & BEE: Frohes Neues 12" (RINGEL 011EP). $9.00

"Due to violent riots of some zoo occupants concerning their lack of space and animal mistreatment the Ringelbeatz team decided to create a huge enclosure with the track 'Zoo'. A subliminal ravesound and prickly strings are paired with just the exact flash ratio to raise into an explosion with deep impact. In their usual manner Ringelbeatz identify themselves with love to fanaticism and the result is, every single scene of 'Zoo' being decorated with colourful details. 'I need space!' That's what the animals are asking for — and they will get it. 'Space! I am not a piece in a box'. After amusing trips in a severe time in which minimalism changed into misleading maximalism; / minimalism called the two producers back. 'Discount'(b1) is a puristic track: reduced, isolated and fascinating like a thriller. This track surrounded by cool acidlines reflects clearly, that in the end everything has its price, but not everybody knows the cost."

RIOT SEASON (UK):

MAINLINER: Mellow Out CD (REPOSE 001CD). $17.00

Reissue of this album originally released 1996 on Charnel Records. "Mainliner was started in 1995 by Asahito Nanjo from High Rise and Acid Mothers Temple leader Kawabata Makoto, in order 'to explore new possibilities' which would create 'a completely new type of heavy psychedelic group.' Labelling themselves 'Japan's Rising Sounds Vol. 1', Mainliner introduced the world to the free-jazz drummer, Hajime Koizumi, and Kawabata Makoto's 'Motor Psycho' electric guitar. Asahito Nanjo had commented before that Munehiro Narita, his guitarist in High Rise, was into the MCS 'for good or bad'. But he felt that the restrictions caused by such an influence prevented Nanjo from exploring fully the sheer dervish whirl possible by a power trio (as seen occasionally by such as early Guru Guru and Ash Ra Tempel). So Mainliner was seen as a chance to break out even further, and this first LP was certainly beyond rock'n'roll." —Julian Cope.

MAINLINER: Mellow Out LP (REPOSE 001LP). $17.00

Limited LP reissue.

TSURUBAMI: Tsukuyomi Ni CD (REPOSE 002CD). $16.00

"Third album proper from this Japanese trio consisting of Emi Nobuko (Drums) and Acid Mothers Temple duo Higashi Hiroshi (Bass) and Kawabata Makoto (Guitar). All the music on this four song/66 minute album was completely improvised, and not over-dubbed. The sounds fall through different styles of head splitting walls of sonic noise, quiet introspective lulls and freeform freakouts."

SIGHTINGS: Absolutes LP (REPOSE 003 LP). $17.00

"Screaming out of New York City, fans of Mainliner, free rock like Wolf Eyes, quiet walks in the park, Harry Pussy, Yoko Ono and herbal tea will really dig this slippery slab. This is a complete baaad-ass hate fest with sub-dermal bass, paper thin razor guitar and Axis of Evil drumfuckery. The vinyl is a strictly limited pressing and will be accompanied by a CD version on Load Records."

SHIT AND SHINE: You're Lucky To Have Friends Like Us LP (REPOSE 004LP). $15.00

"Who are Shit and Shine? A bizarre London/Texas hybrid of weird shit currently causing a stir down London way thats who. Musically this sits somewhere between early Butthole Surfers, PIL, Napalm Death, Merzbow, early Melvins, Mainliner, Serge Gainsbourg and Beach Boys. Limited edition of 500 numbered copies on lovely white vinyl in PVC outer with scrawled insert."

REYNOLDS: Deportation Symphony 7" (REPOSE 703). $8.00

"The sounds on this record were made entirely from sounds samples of the bands deportation papers hung in an Argentinean warehouse. No instruments. It creates a weird and eerie ambience as the band make their 'art' statement at the UK's immigration service."

RISE RECORDS:

SHIPP/WILLIAM PARKER, MATTHEW: "Zo" CD (RISE 126). $13.00

1993 piano/bass duo CD, a small supply found after a lengthy absence. Limited stock.

RISE ROBOTS RISE (GERMANY):

SUPER COLLIDER: Messagesacomin EP 12" (RRR 001). $9.00

"Cristian Vogel and Jamie Lidell return with their highly anticipated second collaboration as Super_Collider. The first single to be unleashed is the mutant purple funk of 'Messagesacomin', where the cleaving of Lidell's subtle, fluid falsetto vocal to the uniquely Super_Collider sound of deep, unsettled rhythms causes the sensation of pleasurable friction; unfettered charisma underpinned by studio precision. Very groovy. The 12" single features two radically different remixes. MDK (who's released two albums on Spymania) up the track into a spiraling, heatseaking breakbeat clatter. Brighton newcomers Chungking focus on Lidell's vocals and turn in a vibes-drenched, rain-falling-on-a-window-pane version full of melancholy uncertainty."

SUPER COLLIDER: Raw Digits CD (RRR 002 CD). $15.00

"Cristian Vogel and Jamie Lidell, two of electronica's most respected and talented producers, joined forces in 1997 to form Super_Collider. It has taken almost three years since their explosive debut Head On in 1999 to complete, but finally Super_Collider are back with the incredible, surprising second album Raw Digits. Maybe we have a future classic on our hands. The album was three years in making and recorded in Brighton, Berlin and Barcelona. Whilst Head On could be summed up by the word 'funk', 'Raw Digits' is pure soul — but with the uber-innovative production twists you would expect from this duo. It represents an exploration by Cristian and Jamie into the deep, smooth sound of Super_Collider. 'Messagesacomin' (which features on the first 12", with remixes by Chungking and MDK) opens the album, followed by the paranoid squelch funk of 'close tails'. The freaks rule on 'Bug Trackin'. The beautiful, heartbreaking 'Gravity Rearranging', features the lightening fingers of Matthew Herbert on bass keyboard. 'Soily Soul' slinks on dub-tronica style. 'Spillin Visions' is pure Collider, production perfect, with blissful vocals. 'In The Beams' is next with its sticky restlessness and space is the place lyrics. 'Radiations On The Rise' tells an often told tale of arrogance in high style. The album finishes with the gothic R 'n'B masterpiece that is 'Collide'n'Conquer'. Raw Digits throws up recurring phrases that please and perturb by turns. After listening to this you will feel like you've been somewhere...else."

METEORITES: Dub The Mighty Dragon CD (RRR 005 CD). $14.50

"The duo Max Turner and Marcus Rossknecht relocated separately from Germany to Barcelona in 2002, met each other and instantly started to record these songs of love, sunshine, heartache, vampires and milk. Their pounding, fidgety dancehall rhythms and 'odd-ball vocals' have lead them to being compared to their heroes The Neptunes, but their sweet style is all their own. This is the second album to be released on UK label Rise Robots Rise, following Super_Collider's groundbreaking Raw Digits."

METEORITES: Dub The Mighty Dragon 2LP (RRR 005 LP). $17.00

Double LP version, full color gatefold sleeve.

RITORNELL (GERMANY):

AYRES, MARVIN: Cellosphere CD (RITOR 01 CD). $14.50

"Ritornell is a new division of Mille Plateaux and is also inspired by French philosopher Gilles Deleuze. Ritornell means a type of refrain, the cosmic refrain of a sound machine, which is a bursting structure, torpedoing the point system and releasing the musical lines from their subordination to the points and notes of music. First release is made by London musician Marvin Ayres. He studied at Trinity Colleges of music, specialising in cello as a first instrument and is working today as a experienced composer and player for film and television. The result of his work in the 90s is the electroacoustic album Cellosphere, a fusion of ambient and classical techniques realised entirely playing solo cello and violin, using experimental bowing and treatments. The basis for the broad outline of Cellosphere was to create an amorphous soundscape using new technologies and treatments, but without the rigid confines of restrictive music sequencers. The main idea of Cellosphere is the same like the idea of the new label Ritornell: To have a richness of composition, sound and production that goes beyond what is usually called 'ambient'. Ayres utilises the subtleties of an acoustic instrument, coupled with layers of live playing and live samples. The result is a complex texture of multiple layers of sound that reveal themselves with each repeated listening. The tracks of the album stretch in time and space. They move with all the complexity of a symphonic work, with quiet and intense sections. Ayres uses unusual techniques including controlled and delicate distortion of the instrumental recording, and also controlled feedback. And there is also space for free development and improvisation. Cellosphere can be experienced on many levels, as a space in clubs, as a film soundtrack or as an electroacoustic composition."

DR. ATMO: Man Made Motion 2LP (RITOR 02 LP). $17.00

Limited stock of this now deleted item.

LIGHTS, THE: Money Media 12" (RITOR 03). $9.00

"Another project of Germany's ambient mastermind Dr. Atmo, this time with a young German artist from Rhein/Main called Doc Nic. Marvelous ambient tracks, designed for the new wave of chill out rooms all over the planet. The tracks are useful for meditation, but very sensitive and dynamic enough to make you dance in the ambient room. A milestone for all conisseurs of atmospheric electronic music."

WOLLSCHIED, ACHIM: CD (RITOR 04 CD). $14.50

"Special Digi pack and limited on 1000 copies worldwide! According to German law access to airwaves is subject to state control. It somehow seems logical that the permission for the free 'Radio X' station in Frankfurt was given at time when the Internet was allowing for an uncensored publication of opinion. The officially uttered anxiety of such a radio transforming into a political weapon in 'private' hands must have been tampered by the idea that the role of the spoken word in the media is now to be seen in relation of its context: the diversification and multiplication of voices in a media-landscape that ranges from fundamentalism to party gossip, from gay news to free philosophy seminars — a range (regarding Radio X we talk about 50 different initiatives) that makes the sole recognition of the respective voice and the classification of its context the problem, rather than the message or a aiming at a general public. Amiss to what text a presentation of experimental (or 'contemporary') music could be affiliated to under these circumstances, Achim Wollscheid chooses to eliminate all spoken text from his monthly 'Selektion' broadcast. Against the notion to differentiate each piece by intro, explanation, title and naming of authorship he decided to head for what he'd call an 'architecture of similarities'. Firstly this means to use all the CD and cassette players in the studio to arrive at 3 up to 5 simultaneous tracks when playing a momentarily decide how to re- or de-combine this selection to arrive at a sequence that on one hand merges or melts into a cohesive flow while breaking or interrupting it on the other."

RABELAIS, AKIRA: Elongated Pentagonal Pyramid CD (RITOR 05CD). $14.50

"Special digipack and limited to 1000 copies worldwide. Akira Rabelais is a Texas born, Los Angeles based composer and developer. He studied with computer scientists Bill Dixon and Tom Erbe. Since 1990 he's been coding sound and graphic software, and recording his own music. His first album is now released on Mille Plateaux's dark electronic sublabel Ritornell. 'I'm a composer writing software, not an engineer making music', he says. He created Argeiphontes Lyre, a sound tool, which is a firm favourite of electronic producers like Scanner or Thaemlitz. Rabelais' program takes a sound source and a target sound, thunks one into the other according to a process whose variables can be set by the user, and out comes a third, mutant sound file. On Elongated Pentagonal Pyramid he gingerly teases out the tissues of surface noise in similar vein to the likes of Terre Thaemlitz, Achim Wollscheid and Mego's Rehberg & Bauer. 'But simply because he insists on placing individual clarity of vision at the center of the creative process, rather than be enslaved and driven by the technological toys and tools of the day, he will always remain a liberating remove from any definable scene.' — The Wire. Computer randomization plays an integral role in creative decision making processes. The soul of digital media lies in creating and interacting with the plasticity of information, Rabelais' software and his music are about shapeshifts and transmutations."

CASCONE, KIM: Residualism CD (RITOR 19). $14.50

"Kim Cascone has been working on a triptych of computer music for the past four years. The first two releases Blue Cube and Cathode Flower were investigations in building sounds directly with computer code. The final installation of the triptych, Residualism, takes this technique in a somewhat different direction: instead of embracing long flowing sounds, Residualism contains smaller atomic pieces taken from the first two releases which were then recombined and layered by custom software designed in Max/MSP. The inspiration for this new working process came while Cascone was visiting a clothing boutique while on holiday in LA. The instore DJ had two popular sampling CDs playing on the music system. Cascone heard this as algorithmically generated, layered mix that became the conceptual basis of the software he designed for Residualism. Instead of the smaller parts making up the whole, the whole was composed algorithmically by the random combining of individual parts. Residualism is an attempt to utilize this process to explore how small units of sound information can be algorithmically combined to build a larger structure of sound. 'Residualism' is a blurring of the line between atomic samples and compositions. Taking this interest in modular sonic information one step further, Cascone describes this release as another approach to his concept of 'Residualism': 'the process of removing a signal until all that's left is its ghost-signal of the artifacts thrown off by the signal. By algorithmically combining these residual artifacts in a new structure a higher level of abstraction can yield new sonic structures.'"

RANDOM INC.: Jerusalem — Tales Outside The Framework Of Orthodoxy CD (RITOR 20). $14.50

"Now the label begins to explore new grounds in discursive electro-political sound engineering with the release Jerusalem (Tales outside the framework of orthodoxy) by Sebastian Meissner aka Random Inc., a former member of the now defunct group Autopoieses. Additionally, his work includes contributions and artist collaborations with the Beta Bodega Coalition, Achim Wollscheid, Nosei Sakata and Kim Cascone. Random Inc.'s Jerusalem is based on acoustic drafts, which were originally composed by Sebastian Meissner for the unfinished Autopoieses album Hubert Fichte. This raw material was re-worked and contextualized to a new plateau, creating the substance for this album. Jerusalem tells stories about Jewish and Arabic music using their historical archives and putting them into the esthetics of the digital-clicks & cuts production. The city of Jerusalem, playing a unique and central role for Jewish and Islamic cultures, symbolize the complexity of a seemingly divided and undivided capital. Through the digital process of his work Random Inc. tries to create an utopian moment in which this two music cultures, at least on this CD can co-exist in their own environments. The samples used for this album are picking up very specific moments of each musical influence, transforming them into acoustic landscapes, which allows them to harmonize, in an imaginary environment of digital processing. This album transforms the music of two cultures in a complex city, without forgetting about their own uniqueness."

MATHIEU, STEPHAN: FrequencyLib LP (RITOR 23LP). $11.00

LP version, the first LP to be issued on Ritornell.

STILLUPPSTEYPA: Stories Part Five CD (RITOR 24). $14.50

"With over 18 releases and a history of perplexing innovativeness, Stilluppsteypa return to Mille Plateaux's limited label Ritornell with their new album Stories Part Five. Recorded in Amsterdam's Mostlywood studios, Stilluppsteypa move forward towards producing a much more rhythmic variation of new material that distances these three members from their prior excursions into conceptual sound processing. Stories Part Five reflects a new aesthetic of Stilluppsteypa and brings them furthermore as purveyors of digital sound design. Stilluppsteypa is a group of sound artists known for collaborating with a wide range of experimental musicians. Originally from Iceland, the three members have relocated to mainland Europe. The group has worked with a long list of artists including The Hafner Trio, Nurse With Wound, Zoviet France and Stock, Hausen, and Walkman. What has made Stilluppsteypa so popular and unique has been their ability to mold disparate elements together to make interesting and cohesive compositions."

FREIBAND: Microbes CD (RITOR 25). $14.50

"Freiband is the latest monniker of Frans De Waard, who is actively involved in producing music since 1984 as Kapotte Muziek, Goem, Beequeen, Quest, Shifts and others not mentioned. For his new project Freiband he borrows ideas, machines and help. The idea was borrowed from Asmus Tietchens (cf 'Daseinsverfehlung'). Tietchens produced new music by scratching analogue tape against the heads of a reel-to-reel machine. While recording early 2000 a new Beequeen CD on a digital 8 track machine, Frans De Waard, scratched the hard-disc and recorded the resultant scratches. The instruments used on the new Beequeen is mainly drums, bass, guitars and organs and will be their most popmusic like production. From these scratched recordings, the twelve tracks of Microbes were produced. With the machines (8 track, effects) and help of others, it's now released. Warm digital music made out of clicks, pops, scratches. Popmusic that is 'pop' music. Highly rhythmical, moving back and forth, but also in places ambient. It's also a project of nostalgia, in the case of the music heard by De Waard in his teens. All of the track titles are parts of tracks of his favourite tracks, which appear in a shortened version. Freiband is a very personal project."

VA: Klangmaschine CD (RITOR 26). $14.50

"Klangmaschine (translates as Soundmachine) is the companion CD that compliments the book of the same title written by Marvin Chlada and Marcus S. Keiner. Klangmaschine attempts to demonstrate that the entire history of the so-called Chlada and Kleiner want to demonstrate that the entire history of the so-called popculture subversion is to be written in a totally new way. Sound vs Pop? Since popculture has become the ideology of the 21st century, there have been countless attempts to subdivide the phenomenon pop in a discursive way. What is talked about, when is pop discussed? Chlada and Kleiner answer in a scandalous way: About a zombie! The artists featured on this compilation are some of electronic music's finest players. From Twerk's intricate techno meddlings to Taylor Deupree's microscopical sounds, these artists reflect on the ideology that these theorists rationalize in the book. The main thesis of this CD is to imply that pop is dead. Here's to the pure sounds of tomorrow."

TIETCHENS, ASMUS: Gamma-Menge CD (RITOR 27). $14.50

"Since 1965, Asmus Tietchens has been creating some of the most influential avant-garde music out there. From his early days manipulating tape machines, his involvement with several albums on the Sky label in the 70's including the reknown Cluster & EnO LP, his now classic release Formen Letzter Hausmusik in 1984 all the way to the past decade where we have seen him in his most prolific times, with mentionable collaborations alongside Thomas Koener, Merzbow, Roedelius and Arcane Device. Tietchens himself describes his third and final installment of the 'Menge' series. 'Gamma-Menge is one more module on the way to the Perpetuum Mobile of the self generating sonorous figures. The seven pieces (Teilungen) have to be followed by myriads of others, which will be impossible even if the computers' capacity will increase enormously, because we still do not live in Lem's universe. Despite all permanent research the idealistic target of a sonorous Perpetuum Mobile must remain as an extended play of thoughts (Längeres Gedankenspiel, A.S.), abstract and fictitious."

WOLLSCHIED, ACHIM: 60 X x CD (RITOR 28). $16.00

"While the common modes of broadcasting, distributing and listening to sound seem to be changing rapidly it may make sense to tune into that process and give way to a flexible organisation of sonic structures — 60 X x bases on my monthly broadcast on Radio X, Frankfurt a.M. I use all available players at the radiostation to play different records, CDs and cassettes from my archive at the same time. The resulting layered stream of sound is re-structured and re-composed by a real-time computer-program. Composition thus becomes a method to select, transform and develop sonic presence on the brink or randomness."

ROAD CONE:

MAZZACANE CONNORS, LOREN: Evangeline CD (RC 021). $12.00

"Evangeline is a suite of sparse, desolate elegance, echoing Loren's quieter works from earlier this decade, and this 32 minute CD is as emotionally gripping as you'd expect."

ROLLERBALL: Einäugige Kirsche EP CD (RC 026). $5.00

"Aggressively abstract, largely improvisational blat: free-form noise meets crazy electric rhythms meets swank, loose reed stylings."

ROLLERBALL: Bathing Music CD (RC 027). $12.00

"An ambitiously diverse release of psychologically gnawed songs that range from melodic, piano-driven aches to jazz-damaged, decaying-cabaret smokers to blurred electronic-inflected soundscapes, as assembled by clarinet, bass, drums, trumpet, keys, accordion, voice and samples."

MAZZACANE CONNORS, LOREN: The Little Match Girl CD (RC 029). $12.00

"A 14 track, 38 minute affair that's divided into two suites. The first suite, 'The Little Match Girl,' consists of 6 raw, brief and beautiful songs. The 8 track second suite is also largely quiet and beautiful but it's darker, even menacing at points. It's called 'The Art of the Blues' and it's bookended by two swelling, fiery live recordings with guitarist Andrew Burnes (San Agustin) and Persian daf player Neel Murgai."

ROLLERBALL: Trail Of The Butte Yeti CD (RC 030). $12.00

"What other band would so purposefully damage post-cabaret atmospherics, fracture melancholic pop songs, claw at crumbling folk and marry electronic pestilence with slinking improv — all on one album — and still sound whole in the end? Trail of the Butte Yeti, the Portland quintet's third release on Road Cone, is whole the way a broken mirror sees just one you. It contains multitudes. It's an affecting and multitextured album that gels precariously at a place where madness, humor, beauty, insouciance and insolence meet for a hit off a resin-encrusted pipe."

GOODHEART ALLEN POWELL TRIO: I Can Climb A Tree, I Can Tie A Knot, I Can Have A Conversation CD (RC 032). $12.00

"This is the trio debut of Matthew Goodheart (piano), Josh Allen (tenor sax) and Garth Powell (percussion). I Can... showcases the Bay Area trio's masterful grasp of space and dynamics. Joy and surprise are their secret weapons, and their ability to move effortlessly from jagged oddity to dry humor to moving, zen-like reflection is stunning to behold."

CALIFONE: Sometimes Good Weather Follows Bad People CD (RC 033). $12.00

"These are the 12 songs first heard on the self-titled EP released by Perishable / Flydaddy in 1998 and on the other self-titled EP released on Road Cone in 2000. Now that both releases are out of print, it's time to make Califone's early music — plus two bonus tracks — available again. It's uniquely American folk churned up by noisy machines, with damnation and redemption unearthed in equal measure."

ROAD TRAIN (UK):

FAT TRUCKERS: Fat Truckers CD (RTR 003CD). $16.00

"After highly acclaimed limited edition singles and tracks on esteemed compilations such as Futurism (City Rockers), Gigolo Vol. 6 Sonic Mook's Future Rock & Roll Volumes 1 + 2, and the Collette compilations., Sheffield's Fat Truckers finally release their debut album. Sung professionally by the enigma that is Mark Hudson and expertly backed by Sheffield synth alchemists Ross Orton and Ben Rymer, the album is a triumphant result of two years hard labour. Featuring the two previous singles and also their current 3rd single, 'Anorexic Robot'. Their debut album is 10 tracks, 40 minutes of synth based rockin' mayhem."

ROARATORIO:

MUSIC ENSEMBLE, THE: CD (ROAR 03). $14.50

"The first documentation of this important free improvising group, featuring Roger Baird, Billy Bang, Malik Baraka, Daniel Carter, William Parker, and Herb Kahn. Existing during the heyday of NYC's Loft Scene, their name has often been cited as a crucial stage in the development of its members — the seeds of such current ensembles as Other Dimensions In Music and Test can be found here — but their singular music has gone largely unheard, save by those who were present at their concerts. This CD has been compiled from archival tapes recorded by Roger Baird; one complete performance from Brooklyn's Kingsborough College, on 24 April 1974, and excerpts from a concert at the Holy Name School Auditorium, on 15 February 1975. Packaged in a mini-LP gatefold sleeve, with liner notes by Parker, Bang, Baird, and Carter, paintings by Marilyn Sontag, and a reproduction of the poster for one of the shows, this is the recording debut of one of jazz's greatest 'lost' groups."

CAREI THOMAS FEEL FREE ENSEMBLE: Mining Our Bid'ness CD (ROAR 04). $14.00

"A revelatory debut album by a 64 year old pianist/composer may beg the question: where has Carei Thomas been all this time? Born in a culturally diverse neighborhood of Pittsburgh, Thomas cut his musical teeth in Chicago during a particularly fertile period for that city: gigging with Sun Ra as an improvising vocalist in 1959-60, joining up with the AACM for one hot minute in 1966, co-founding a group called The Light with Kalaparusha Maurice McIntyre (which also included Jerome Cooper and Wadada Leo Smith), and forming the compositional concepts that would provide a springboard for tireless exploration in the ensuing decades. Thomas moved to Minneapolis in 1972, where, in the mode of Horace Tapscott, he eschewed the industry-driven career path, choosing instead to work within the Twin Cities' community. Recorded live with a group that features, most notably, the unfettered talents of Curlew saxophonist George Cartwright, Mining Our Bid'ness represents the range of Thomas' no-boundaries Feel Free Ensemble, running the gamut from gorgeous Ellingtonian ballads to combustible free jazz testifying."

CURLEW: Gussie LP (ROAR 05). $16.00

"On a hot Minneapolis night in the summer of 2001, Curlew played a scorching gig at the now-defunct Gus Lucky's Gallery. Gussie documents that evening: the veteran improvising group dispensed with their compositions altogether and took an eminently successful walk along the free-improv tightrope. With a lineup featuring George Cartwright (saxophones), Davey Williams (guitar), Chris Parker (piano), Fred Chalenor (bass), and Bruce Golden (percussion). A limited edition of 436 copies, with handpainted covers by Anne Elias."

OLIVEROS & REYNOLDS, PAULINE: The Minexcio Connection: Live! At The Rosendale Cafe LP (ROAR 06). $12.00

"One of the most unexpected yet fruitful partnerships of recent years: in the mid-1990s, Pauline Oliveros, electronic music pioneer and sage of the environmental drone, began working with Reynolds, the prolific and resolutely undefinable Argentinian group. Their first joint effort sent Oliveros' music through the rigors of Reynolds' heavily processed studio treatments; The Minexcio Connection: Live! At The Rosendale Cafe finds them collaborating on-stage in real time. Recorded in August 2000 during Reynolds' first trek through North America, they offered up a version of 'Six For New Time' (originally composed by Oliveros for Sonic Youth's Goodbye 20th Century LP), along with idiosyncratic throat-singing and hypnotic dream/drones. The venue may have been a small cafe in rustic upstate New York, but the sonic results sound like emanations from the deepest of Deep Listening caves under the earth."

FUCCILLO, JEFF: Disturbed Strings LP (ROAR 07). $12.00

"In the spring of 1998, guitarist Jeff Fuccillo (Irving Klaw Trio, Wham-O, Hochenkeit) met avant-folk guru John Fahey while opening for his trio at a gig in Portland, Oregon. Fahey was sufficiently impressed, and booked studio time to record Fuccillo for his label. On the day of the session, Fuccillo arrived prepared to make a solo acoustic guitar album. To his surprise, Fahey had prepared a pile of samples — random snatches of music, all manner of sound effects — and without warning, began shooting them out into the studio room through the monitors, effecting a guerrilla collaboration of sorts. Disturbed Strings captures the highlights of that day: veering from hardscrabble stringgratting to modal melodicism, the album is ample testament to Fuccillo's wide-ranging inventiveness as an improvising guitarist, as well as a window into an aspect of Fahey's artistry not previously represented on record. An essential document of the New Weird America underground. Released in a limited edition of 500 copies, with artwork by Fahey and Judith Lindbloom."

ROBOT:

AEOLIAN STRING ENSEMBLE, THE: LassithiElysium CD (ROBOT 16). $15.00

Repressed. "The first full length release by the UK based Aeolian String Ensemble. Although originally set to be issued on the legendary United Dairies label, this material has now been remastered, includes a new piece, and is instead available in the US. The work was produced by David Kenny, a long time collaborator and engineer on many Nurse With Wound and Current 93 projects. Consisting of two evolving compositions, Lassithi (1992) and Elysium (a specially commissioned new work), this CD offers a more linear and fluid overview of this fascinating material than that of excerpted or early compilation appearances. Inspired by the tonal phenomenon associated with the Aeolian harp (a box shaped instrument with numerous strings tuned in unison on which the wind produces varying harmonic excitation over the same fundamental tone), The Aeolian String Ensemble's post production (harmonic extraction) on sounds generated by the strings of various materials, recorded at sympathetic locations, create a hazy, shifting, and spacious atmosphere for your total aural immersion. Also features mind-bending cover illustrations by Christoph Heeman."

ORGANUM: Volume One CD (ROBOT 17). $14.00

Repressed. "Robot Records is pleased to announce the first volume in a series of CDs that will finally re-releases much of the Organum/David Jackman back catalog in the digital domain. The series will not be exclusively limited to reissuing early vinyl releases in their entirety, but rather a 'collection' series that will also include alternate mixes as well as previously unreleased material. Remastered for truly maximum fidelity. Volume One includes material culled from the Tower of Silence and In Extremis 12" titles (originally released on Laylah, 1985). These pieces easily represent the raw beauty and intensity of the early Organum sound. Also included is Rasa (originally featured on the United Dairies split LP with Nurse With Wound, 1987) which offers a bizarre combination of female voice and dense droning space. This has still been regarded as the most unusual of all of Jackman's output to date."

ORGANUM: Volume Two CD (ROBOT 18). $15.00

Repressed. "The second installment in a series of CDs that will finally re-release much of the Organum/David Jackman back catalog in the digital domain. The series will not be exclusively limited to reissuing early vinyl releases in their entirety, but rather a collection series that will also include alternate mixes as well as previously unreleased material. Meticulously mastered for truly maximum fidelity, Volume Two includes material primarily culled from the In Extremis and Horii sessions (12" titles originally released on Laylah, 1985/86). Track 1, 'Valley of Worms', includes the complete b-side (album version) of In Extremis which features Jackman's collaborative work with the New Blockaders. This 20 minute piece is a massive eruption of relentless, burrowing atmospheres that are often disturbing as they are engaging. Track 2, 'Horii', is an alternateversion (differing from the 12" release) which features Jackman's collaboration with Andrew Chalk. At over 12 minutes, this piece offers a very bizarre mélange of sputtering bowed percussion, homemade woodwinds and voice. Track 3, 'Ich Reiste Weit Und Verweilte Fur Einigezeit In Tring', is a previously unreleased work from 1989 that capsules many of the (purely acoustic) compositional elements associated with the early Laylah sessions. As with Volume One, these early dynamic compositions easily represent the raw beauty and intensity of the early Organum sound."

ORGANUM: Ikon CD (ROBOT 23). $13.00

"Robot Records (in association with Siren Records, Tokyo) is very pleased to announce the re-release of the Organum Ikon EP in the digital domain. Appearing only for a short time as a small edition cassette on Aeroplane (1987), and then later as a 12" EP (1989) on Christoph Heemann's Dom Bartwuchs label, Ikon proved to be a monumental achievement in the Organum sound. Within the five compositions, Jackman combined self-made woodwind instruments along with vast droning environments to create spacious, haunting landscapes. These melodic undercurrents were paired with voice, percussive streams, and an assortment of textural elements that convey an incredibly eerie yet beautiful sense of space. Remastered and including an alternate mix of the title track, Ikon is an awesome document of one of David Jackman's most important works."

ORGANUM/NEW BLOCKADERS: Salute CD (ROBOT 25). $15.00

"Early collaborative material from 1984. Originally only available as a cassette (released initially by the UK's Frux label, then later on David Jackman's Aeroplane label) in very small editions. Salute is comprised of 8 parts and can be viewed as the first full-length collaboration between Organum and The New Blockaders following the release of the legendary 'Pulp' 7" in 1983. These pivotal sessions, as the title suggests, were landmark recordings. The result was in essence an appreciative 'salute' amongst the collaborators with respect to their individual as well as collective work. This remastered edition is a massive improvement in sound over the rare cassette versions. Not only do the intense tonal textures finally blaze through in their truly maximum form, but the CD edition also allows for an uninterrupted running program. Each disc is minimally packaged in a clear jewel box."

ORGANUM & THE NEW BLOCKADERS: Pulp CD (ROBOT 26). $15.00

"Arrectis auribus." No additional details available.

MARTIN/WILLIAM BASINSKI/CHRISTOPH HEEMAN, ANDREAS: untitled 2X7" (ROBOT 29). $16.00

"Double 7" set released on the occasion of the January 25th, 2003 with appearances in Austin, Texas at Ceremony Hall. Includes an amazing new recording for solo guitar by Andreas Martin along with an early composition for tape and electronics by William Basinski. Three sides feature remixes by Christoph Heemann. Both records pressed on clear vinyl with full color labels. Includes a clear acetate insert a packaged in a transparent sleeve. An edition of 400 copies."

ORGANUM: Sphyx CD (ROBOT 30). $15.00

"Originally released as a vinyl LP in '94 on David Jackman's Aeroplane label, Sphyx was the culmination of pieces recorded over a three-year period ('90-'93) that included a monster nucleus of collaboration that included Christoph Heemann, David Jackman, Jim O'Rourke, Eddie Prevost, and Dinah Jane Rowe. The result proved legendary and has been regarded as one of the finest Organum long-players to date. Right from the cascading shifts and interwoven percussion streams of the opening track, 'Aurora', the spacious landscape that is Organum emerges with a sinuous rupture of textural flares. The palette then expands with the title track, 'Sphyx', fusing deep distances and shakuhachi tonalities toward an intoxicating oblivion. 'Mutla' concludes the original triptych of album tracks with a mammoth, eruptive reckoning of harmonic punctuations and slipstreams of keyed feedback. Also included (as bonus tracks) for the CD edition are 'Æ' and 'Shining Star'. These two compositions further explore a synthesis of woodwind elements and vast, glittering terrain. Remastered for essential track-to-track fidelity by David Jackman with the final flourish being administered by Robert Hampson of Main. Disc is housed in a black and white digi-pak in an initial edition of 700 copies."

JACKMAN, DAVID: Up From Zero CD (ROBOT 31). $13.50

"Originally released in 1982 on cassette (Aeroplane Records AR3, UK), Up From Zero was David Jackman's third album of compositions. Integrating tapes, loops, shortwave radio signals, guitar tones, voice and a host of percussion elements, each piece accumulates into a complex collage of cycles that create a haunting set of 'movements' and bizarre spatial relationships. These are the most sought after of Jackman's first, solo recordings. The proto-Organum sound. Also included is 'Offshore', (1980). This track, recorded with the assistance of Philip Sanderson (of Stormbugs/Snatch Tapes/Claire Thomas & Susan Vezey fame), is Jackman's earliest piece to appear on CD to date. Fluttering tones along with sustained slabs of bowed guitar create a droning crest and a fitting 'outro' for these essential gems from the vault. Expertly restored from the original master tapes by Robert Hampson (of Main). Packaged in a card mini-jacket in an edition of 700 copies."

ROCK ACTION RECORDS (UK):

RANDOMNUMBER: The Fact That I Did EP 12" (ROCKACT 09). $8.00*RANDOMNUMBER: The Fact That I Did EP CD (ROCKACT 09 CD). $8.00

"Randomnumber is Matt Robson, a stalwart of the Leeds underground for some nine or ten years, Robson may well be best known for his 18 months of drumming action for Hood. After Hood, Robson had time to focus on the increasing expansion of his solo electronic project — Randomnumber. The epic 'Leopold B' (a concept song about James Joyce's Leopold Bloom who has a lengthy psychedelic episode in Ulysses) proved to be a vital bridge between the noise of yore and the more melodic territories of the contemporary random material. The rest of the EP is taken up by more recent outings showing a more measured, though equally beat mangled Randomnumber."

ROCKADELIC:

THUNDERDUC: LP (RRLP 23). $20.00

Previously unused psych from Cleveland, 1972.

STONE GARDEN: LP (RRLP 29). $30.00

"Includes the rate and up front 'Oceans Inside Me' from their 45 on Angelus. This band was thought to be Fraction...one listen and you'll know why. This is a gatefold LP with many, many photos of the band in action from the late 1960s to the early 70s." Pacific Northwest group from the early 70s, includes unreleased demos, etc. and is not a reissue of a released album. Like most of this ilk, only sincere hardcore "collectors" should even consider investing.

FRAMEWORK: Skeleton 2LP (RRLP 31/32). $38.00

Double LP of expressive psychedelic rock from San Diego, ala Brain Police; recordings made 1968-69. Never previously released (only one single was issued by this band during their lifetime), packaged in a deluxe triple gatefold full color sleeve, with inserts, etc. — making this one of the most extensive Rockadelic artifacts to date. From Clark Faville's liner notes: "The music produced by Framework ranges from ethereal overture ('Beautiful Weather'), to sublime harmonic beauty ('Like A Child', 'You're Going Home') to dissonant bluesy psychedelic mayhem ('The Direction'). Skeleton may be the most comprehensive document ever assembled to commemorate what is, in essence, an unknown American band."

IOTA: LP (RRLP 46). $25.00

"From the archives of the legendary El Paso, Texas Suemi label comes this previously unreleased psych masterpiece by Iota. This 4 piece band tore up Texas before re-locating to Memphis to record for Hi Records in the late 60's. They released two great 45's, including the amazing 'Within These Precincts' in 1971. Deemed too dark and disturbing for commercial radio, these two releases went nowhere and the band went their separate ways after two years of playing and recording. We have compiled the best tracks recorded in both Memphis and El Paso to put together what we feel is one of the finest Texas psych rock LP's ever released. Limited to 600 copies in a thick, full color jacket with amazing cover art and lots of band photos. Insert tells their story."

MUSIC: The Book of Music Volume I LP (RRLP 49). $25.00

"In the new millennium a few unknown bands from the late 60's/early 70's have surfaced with unreleased tapes, but to find an LP that was released back in the day that no collector has even heard about is a true rarity. That's what we discovered when we found an LP by the band simply called Music. Their first and only release titled The Book Of Music Volume I was pressed in 1972 in a quantity of 300 copies and sold out immediately for $5.00 each at their local Michigan high school. Amazingly, not a single copy surfaced within collectors circles until 2003. The LP itself is a mixed bag of mellow folk tunes and over the top hard rock. Side one is the lighter of the two with obvious CSNY influences while side two builds into a Grand Funk-like fury with vocals that must have had Robert Plant's ears burning. Rockadelic is about to release this unknown LP in a limited quantity of 300 copies, duplicating the music and jacket of the original release. This LP should have wide appeal as it explores a variety of styles ranging from Neil Young-like folk to Grand Theft-like heavy rock."

JOSHUA: Opens Your Mind LP (RRLP 50). $25.00

"When you think of 60's music from California the town of Sacramento doesn't immediately come to mind. But the state Capitol had a fertile music scene having given birth to mind melters Blue Cheer who paved the way for other locals like Joshua. Fronted by singer Mick Martin, Joshua were at the center of a scene that, for the most part, ignored the Flower Power shenanigans going on up north and worshipped at the altar of heavy Rock n' Roll. Along with other locals like Sio Lora and Jericho, Joshua created guitar lead, blues based rock music with lyrics that reflected the current events of the day, War, Drugs. While the band never released any music back in the day, they did record an LP's worth of material along with some legendary live shows. Heavy guitar crunchers in a style that will remind you of one of our earlier release, Stone Garden."

ROCKERS PRODUCTIONS (UK):

CASTELL/ROMAN STEWART/PRINCE MOHAMMED, LOCKSLEY: Love in your Heart/Cassanova 10" (RP 010EP). $11.00

Side A: Locksley Castell (Disco Mix) - 'Love In Your Heart', Roman Stewart (A. Pablo Dub Mix) - 'Casanova'. Side B: Prince Mohammed - 'Casanova Ride'.

IMMORTALS: Can't Keep a Good Man Down 10" (RP 011EP). $11.00

Side A: Immortals - 'Can't Keep a Good Man Down' (original version). Side B: Immortals - 'Can't Keep a Good Man Down' (Rockers Version).

ROCKET RACER:

FAX: Rudio De Fondo 2LP (RR 021 LP). $15.00

"FAX returns with a second brilliantly produced full length. This time, Fax's post wallpaper techno is augmented with various sound process patterns and background noise interludes. Syncopated clicks scatter all around, warm dreamy melodies abound while dark moisture slips through the cracks. The rhythms are minimal and comfy, the bass heavy and round, the pulses are blunted and dubby while the landscape is expansive and full of sun. Perfect for relaxed home listening, extended dance club sessions and audio excursions at the beach or the park. This is microhouse for the common man. Using the same album title as the new CD on Static, San Diego's Rocket Racer steps in to co-release a very special double LP version of Rudio De Fondo, although the vinyl shares only 3 tracks in common with the CD release, think of this LP set as a continuation of the tracks on the CD release."

SALVATORE: Fresh CD (RR 022 CD). $13.00

"Re-release of Norway's instrumental groove specialist's 3rd full length album. Recorded in Morocco and released on their own label in late 2001, the Fresh re-issue by Rocket Racer adds some additional merits to the classic release including lush digipak packaging with modified art and four bonus remixes by Pall Jenkins of The Black Heart Procession, Galena and two of Norway's own special surprises."

HOOD/THEMSELVES: Split Picture Disc 7" (RR 023EP). $7.00

"Another installment of the impressive limited picture disc series on Rocket Racer! The 3rd platter offers delicious new & exclusive tracks by Anticon team members Themselves (usa) with Domino champions Hood (uk). Themselves tweak out live drums and vocals upon a roll out carpet of panned sound treatments, bass rumbles and brilliant synth melodies. Hood tease us with their first released recordings in 2 years, letting Laughing Stock nostalgia take hold as electro and acoustic creations mingle through your lobes in innovative ways Hood always seem to produce."

ROCKET RECORDINGS (UK):

SUNCOIL SECT: Freeform Energy Freakout 12" (LAUNCH 010). $9.00

"Suncoil Sect's third single, recorded with Third Eye Foundation's Matt Elliot earlier this year. Draws on Alice Coltrane's modal explorations, DJ Shadow, My Bloody Valentine, the early 70s output of Miles Davis, and climaxes in a howling wig-out reminiscent of the MC5/Stooges' free jazz appropriations. The 12" features remixes by JC Galaxia and Foehn (which hints at Sun Ra during its trajectory)."

ROISIN (UK):

PORTAL: Reprise CD (ROISIN 09). $15.00

"This ten track affair showcases a diversity only hinted at on those singles, with melodic experimentation abounding within the guitar-based soundscapes and vocal interjections. Styles range from lush upbeat pop to folkish fragility to brooding ambience, in places recalling Galaxie 500, Brian Eno, and the Cocteau Twins."

PORTAL: Remixes CD (ROISIN 13). $13.00

"Drawing comparisons with Durutti Column, Massive Attack and Galaxie 500, Portal have gained praise for their blending of melody, atmosphere and noise. Contributors to this remix CD include V/VM, Yellow 6, July Skies, Schengen, Epic 45, Some of the Quiet, Toverdroom, Portraits of Diego, and Innerise."

ROLLED GOLD PRODUCTIONS (UK):

MIGHTY BABY: Live In The Attic CDR (RGP 002). $16.00

"Dubbed the English Grateful Dead at the time, Live In The Attic is their concept album (of sorts), containing just two tracks, both of which rework John Coltrane's classic free jazz odyssey 'India' and both of which are previously unreleased. The first track, 'Now You See it', was recorded live during their 1969 Love support slot at Lancaster University, a 26-minute elongated guitar-led jam which, while lacking the original's oboe and contrabassoon warbling, is nevertheless a worthy rendition. 'Now You Don't', however, is the stand-out track — a 40-minute epic of free-wheeling flute freneticism, fervent bongo bashing and discordant sax squawking à la Pharoah Sanders. The brew is definitely not for the faint-hearted." — Mojo. Note: this is a CDR release with lo-grade color xerox sleeve.

ROLLERDERBY:

ROLLERDERBY #11: MAG (ROLLER 11). $2.50

A recent voyage into the realms of inventory calculation revealed a small cache of back issues of Lisa Carver's once-loved fanzine, Rollerderby. We offer them here for the last time ever, a final glance at some early 90s cultural detritus, Dover-NH style... I could tell you that the contents of #11 include an interview with Combustible Edison (M. Cudahy and Liz Cox's pathetic ode to Cocktail Nation), a full page Ecstatic Peace ad, full color Royal Trux pin up, and a lot of other junk (letters, dream transcription by Ms. Stanger, etc.) that wouldn't necessarily look super appealing as a descriptive list. However, this mag has attained the transcendental state where Lisa and her associates have created their own self-universe that becomes the content (and it is interesting content), which any personal-driven publication can only dream of achieving.

ROLLERDERBY #13: MAG (ROLLER 13). $3.00

A full color Darcy cover, a story on epilepsy, interview with American hero Buddy Max, "Why I Want To Rape Olivia Newton-John, and an interview with Boyd Rice.

ROLLERDERBY #14: MAG (ROLLER 14). $3.00

A lot of inexplicable Fabio fantasizing, a Boyd Rice Manifesto.

CARVER, LISA (ED.): Generation L MAG (ROLLER L). $2.50

One-off publication of Lisa Carver's Generation L manifesto, with additional "suitable" material; 20 pages.

RONIN RECORDS (UK):

DECKWRECKA: V For Vengeance CD (RONIN 001 CD). $17.00

"The debut album by turntable/sample supreme the Deckwrecka, 28 beat-driven gems. Whatever your true taste you have to sit up, take note and acknowledge a modern musical pioneer. As much a fan of Jimi Hendrix and With Nail & I as Gangstar, it takes a dedicated, enthused and patient soul to blend what you hear on V For Vengeance. If the Deckwrecka is taking revenge as the title leads us to believe it can only be on those who haven't got it quite right yet. Pure wrecka beats merge with quotes, sayings and spoken word. This album tells a story, possibly several... but you may not get the plot."

23 SKIDOO: Urban Gamelan CD (RONIN 005 CD). $15.00

The third 23 Skidoo album, originally released in 1984 by Illuminated. "Unavailable for over 10 years. F.U.G.I. is the alternative version of underground smash Coup legendarily plundered by The Chemical Brothers for 'Block Rockin' Beats', and sampled by Ice T and many others, 'Coup' is the original dancehall bomb. Originally released in 1984, and more recently championed by Gilles Peterson, Andrew Weatherall, Patrick Forge and host of superstar DJs, this is the original post apocalyptic funk. First 23 Skidoo LP featuring services of now long-time member bassist Sketch. Urban Gamelan features the original metal percussive force from which the likes of Stomp borrowed heavily. Out of print since the late 80s, the band's extraordinary back catalogue is finally set to be re-issued on CD, beginning with Seven Songs (from 1982) and Urban Gamelan (1984), followed by The Culling Is Coming (1983) and a new compilation, entitled The Gospel Comes To New Guinea in January 2002. Original artwork by Neville Brody."

23 SKIDOO: The Gospel Comes To New Guinea CD (RONIN 006 CD). $15.00

"The long awaited compilation of singles by 23 Skidoo never before released on CD. Included are the classics: The Gospel, Last Words & Coup (lifted by the Chemical Brothers' Block Rockin Beats). Also included — the rare Tearing Up The Plans EP and the very rare & first ever 23 Skidoo release Ethics. The recordings date from 1979-1986. A must for any 23 Skidoo fan."

23 SKIDOO: Just Like Everybody Part Two CD (RONIN 008 CD). $15.00

"Originally titled The Lost Years, this CD features rare unreleased archive material from the precinct 23 studio. The CD charts the musical progression of the group from a live band to a more studio based outfit. A transition bought about by the loss of the group's rehearsal facility (the legendary once named 'Death Factory' belonging to Throbbing Gristle) and the advent of recording technology. The recordings date from 1986-2000. Another essential purchase for any true 23 Skidoo fan."

ROOM TONE:

TARWATER: Remix EP CD (RM 008 CD). $8.00

"The music of Tarwater as re-imagined by a cavalcade of international 'post-rock' superstars. Tarwater, aka Bernd Jesträm and Ronald Lippok, have been making music together for a while now, starting years ago in a punk band under the wary eye of the East German secret police. More recently, Tarwater have effected a more subtle subversion, garnering praise for their latest album, Silur which combines song structures with spoken word fragments and sub-aquatic electronics. Most of the mixes on this EP were sourced from Silur. Along with fellow travelers Mouse On Mars, To Rococo Rot and Kreidler, Tarwater is creating some of the most adventurous sounds to come out of Germany since the heyday of Krautrock..." Five track EP, with remixes by To Rococo Rot, Third Eye Foundation, Kiln, Birdwatcher (Windsor For The Derby) & Bundy K. Brown.

RIBBON EFFECT: Slip CD (RM 011 CD). $12.00

"Debut full-length CD. The band's music is haunting and cinematic, alternately evoking stasis and motion. An interplay of chiming guitars, dub-inflected bass, lingering keyboard melodies and electronics gives way to desolate tones and barren soundscapes which in turn evolve into pronounced rhythmic patterns. At times, Slip recalls the exploratory studio excursions of Fridge, Pluramon, Pan American, Augustus Pablo, This Heat, and Rome. At times it does not."

DYMAXION: Dymaxion x 4+3=38:33 CD (RM 012 CD). $13.00

"Dymaxion x 4+3=38:33 brings together the first four 7"EP's the loosely-knit duo of Jeremy Novak and Claudia Newell released as Dymaxion via Hemiola (UK). Vesuvius (UK), Duophonic (UK), and Roomtone in the late 90's. One happy family of split-level beats, sudden stops and reversals, distended oscillations, thumbtack-sharp prickly guitars, b-tech Pierre Henry telepathy, spooky robot dreams, and breaks that make you smile. Dymaxion create soundtracks where a sense of disorientation goes hand in hand with a playful sense of purpose. The stripped down songs simultaneously evoke the cartoon music of Carl Stalling, Raymond Scott's Manhattan Research Inc., The Swell Maps, the BBC Radiophonic Workshop, and contemporaries such as Thinking Fellers, Matmos, and Stock, Hausen, and Walkman."

ROOM40 (AUSTRALIA):

DJ OLIVE MEETS I/O3: Powerhouse Sessions CD (EDRM 400CD). $15.00

"The first in a series of edition releases from room40, DJ Olive Meets I/O3 was recorded live at Brisbane Powerhouse on Sunday November 11 2001. Originally spending some of his teenage years in Canberra, Gregor Asch aka DJ Olive has had a long association with Australia, as have Brisbane native trio I/O3. The edition is a collection of edited improvisations from the two sets performed by the quartet (Asch, English, Patton, Reigler), which captures the moods of the rainy afternoon on which it was created. Opening with a subtle soundscape, the session morphs and shifts between abstract audio cutups, alien chattering voices and segments of interacting rhythms, distressed guitars, delayed keyboard drones and spacious turntable soundscapes. These improvisations traverse an expansive range of sounds and styles and this edition collects but a few of the moments of this unique exchange."

TOOP + SCANNER + I/O3: A Picturesque View, Ignored CD (EDRM 401CD). $15.00

"Echoes of disconnected sound reverberate meshing together into a cascading river of intersecting sound elements — occasionally confrontational, ultimately unforgettable. A Picturesque View, Ignored brings together the talents of seasoned UK improvisers David Toop, Scanner and Australia's I/O3 (Lawrence English, Tam Patton, Heinz Riegler). With a backdrop of moonlight cast across the Brisbane River framing the performance, the five-piece ensemble traversed a vivid sonic terrain. At times the sounds produced are clouded and densely rhythmic, while other moments feel sparse and arid. There's no one theme cementing this improvised performance, though there's always a sense of narrative passed between the musicians. The combinations and interactions documented on A Picturesque View, Ignored are odd, but effective — dreamy, but all the while focused, clear and unexpectedly beautiful."

VA: Melatonin - Meditations On Sound In Sleep 2CD (EDRM 402CD). $19.00

"Melatonin - Meditations On Sound In Sleep collects together a vital and dynamic selection of today's most inventive sound artists and composers. These artists reflect on how sound is envisaged in their own sleeping lives and how these impressions can be used as an artistic reference point. During sleep, a process controlled in part by the body's use of the chemical melatonin, our brain functions in a markedly different fashion to our waking life. As an example, reading is noted by many sleep researchers to be a quite unusual process, whereby words simply fall off the page, their graphical meaning abstracted as various sections of the brain recline into states of rest. Something similar is true for sounds we hear generated within dreams. The way in which incidental atmospheres complement, interrupt or interfere with our sleep suggests a new set of understandings. It is these concepts that are explored here in a deeply personal and reflective manner." Artists: Chris Watson, Stephen Vitiello, Ai Yamamoto, Oren Ambarchi, John Chantler, Scanner, Zane Trow, David Toop, Steinbrüchel, DJ Olive, Lawrence English, Pimmon, Marina Rosenfeld, Skist, Timeblind, DJ/Rupture, Philip Samartzis, Barrett, Musgrove, Sinclair, Martin NG, Tetuzi Akiyama, Frost, Gail Priest, Tim Koch, Janek Schaefer.

ENGLISH, LAWRENCE: Ghost Towns CD (EDRM 403CD). $15.00

"Recorded in the later half of 2003, this composition that falls just shy of 20 minutes is composed largely of field recordings, the only processing being via eq and pitch shifting. The work is an abstracted impressionist sound portrait, sketching out the isolated soundscapes that exist, for the most part unheard, in these forgotten realms. It highlights the rich and at times unexpectedly synthetic sound world existing in these spaces. Cicadas are matched against 44 gallon drums popping in the morning sun and wire fences resonating to the backdrop of sites such as the haunted imperial hotel in Ravenswood, far northern Australia."

I/O: Calm CD (RM 400CD). $15.00

Room40 is a recently developed Australian-based experimental label, featuring beautiful matte-laminated sleeve packaging (somewhat reminiscent of old floppy discs). "Richly detailed textures, floating clouds of dense ambience, buried field recordings etched out with spacious broken rhythms. Recorded in part at Burrum Heads, a small coastal community in North Queensland (Australia) in December 2001, Calm is an album of environments. Underscored by field recordings, the album is deeply reflective of the spaces in which it was created. In essence, Calm is a soundtrack inspired by the typical, everyday surrounds of its creator Lawrence English. Featuring all manner of atmospheric soundscapes, from the sound of soldier crabs moving on mass along the dunes to the cries of lost children in a shopping district ('Cityscapes') and planes flying overhead through the suburban outer ring of our cities ('Flightpath'), Calm creates a deeply engaging audio map of various spaces and environments."

CHANTLER, JOHN: Monoke CD (RM 402CD). $15.00

"A tender clash of electronics, field recordings and acoustic instruments, playful yet considered — refreshingly emotive and clear in intent. Based on the rural Japanese island of Shikoku during the making of this album, John Chantler's Monoke is testament to his time spent there. An articulate and precisely crafted album, Monoke is a musical exploration of the sounds, textures and rhythms of the everyday life that surrounds him. The record has a reflective and considered tone; the result of many months preparation and dedication. With a meager amount of equipment, Chantler first stepped into this record in 2001 and set himself the task of creating an album that not only reflected the pace and temperament of his locality, but also challenged his musical methodologies and abilities. A few months passed and his position working at a local school brought Chantler in contact with the school's music department. Before long his album was reaping the benefits of this new exposure to a wealth of instruments. Recording hours of source material from the drums kits, melodicas, glockenspiels and keyboards, Monoke's sonic appearance was directly shaped by the items he found in the school. In essence Monoke is a detailed blend of melting melodies, shifting rhythms and dreamlike arrangements that form a sonic portrait of Japan. If Hiroshige Utagawa had made his Ukiyo-e prints with sound, pushing his sonic colours through a screen of distance and alienation — perhaps it might have sounded like this."

ROTTERS GOLF CLUB (UK):

ARAMCHEK: Benicassim EP 12" (RGC 002). $9.00

ARAMCHEK: Benicassim EP CD (RGC 002 CD). $9.00

"The Benicassim EP features 3 tracks of dense funk shaped from Latin granite. Aramchek (aka Nicholas Brady) was born in Chicago but raised in the Bay area of California. Hot sun beats down on concrete turning girders molten; compression hums and angels sing. Aramchek aims to cross house and techno divides, pitch it up, pitch it down, the funk remains the same. After spending time driving through Austria listening to Latin mix tapes work will begin on an album for RGC. Aramchek likes twisting the kick, the special edition and Philip K Dick."

ROUGH TRADE (GERMANY):

ONEIDA: Caesar's Column (remixes) 12" (RT 139LP). $7.00

"Oneida are a fascinating and frighteningly intense band, mixing distorted electronics with a fluent, dynamic rhythm section. They were formed in 1997 in Brooklyn, New York, and have been a mainstay of the underground scene there ever since, recording numerous cult records over the years, constantly touring America and Europe with their various line ups. The band like to be compared to ESG, Moondog and The Incredible String band, but have actually been compared to Faust, Pere Ubu, the Boredoms, the Butthole Surfers. This 12" remix album on Rough Trade includes the original album version (from Secret Wars) and four remixes by their NYC underground compadres, including hip NYC producer Nicolas Vernhes (of Fischerspooner, Black Dice, Fiery Furnaces fame), Phil Manley (of Trans Am) and The Liars (Mute Records)."

ROUGH TRADE (UK):

GOLDEN, JACOB: Jacob Golden CD (RTRADE 18CD). $16.00

"Solo debut from former lead singer of Blanco Y Negro band, Birthday whose Welcome To Life EP was released last year to great critical acclaim. Jacob Golden, a native of Sacramento California comes across as Jeff Buckley stranded in inner city London — intense modern songs of heartache. Produced by David Kosten from Faultline whose own album on Leaf last year was heralded as the 'saviour of electronica' — Kosten lends an experimental electronic edge to Golden's melodies." Total time: 23 minutes long.

ROULE (FRANCE):

BANGALTER, THOMAS: Irreversible Soundtrack CD (ROULE 001 CD). $15.00

French-only original soundtrack on Bangalter (half of Daft Punk)'s own label. Features 9 new exclusive soundtrack pieces by Bangalter, plus 4 of his previous 12" tracks on Roule (which are huge in Europe and have never been compiled on CD), plus 2 classical pieces (Beethoven and Mahler) and a track licensed from Virgin by Etienne Daho (French pop singer from the 80s or so). Irreversible is a film by Gaspar Noé (described as the French Pasolini), supposedly a thriller in the style of Memento. "After 2 years of silence, Bangalter's massive worldwide best seller label Roule makes its come back with a full intriguing album. Irreversible is a movie produced by Universal & has been nominated to Midem Cannes Festival 2002. Bangalter shows here his dark & techno side, & also adds previous early works."

BANGALTER, THOMAS: Irreversible Soundtrack 2LP (ROULE 001 LP). $16.00

Limited 2LP collector pack, full color gatefold. Same 16 tracks as the CD.

ROUNDER:

SPENCE, JOSEPH: Glory CD (ROUND 2096). $14.00

More 1978 home recordings; about half with the accompaniment of the Pinder family (on triple vocalise backing).

RA, SUN: Somewhere Else CD (ROUND 3036). $14.00

1982 studio session, featuring Don Cherry. Out takes from the A&M album Blue Delight.

RA SEXTET, SUN: At The Village Vanguard CD (ROUND 3124). $14.00

Rare small-format group live recording, from 1991. Ra (synthesizer), Chris Anderson (piano), John Gilmore (tenor sax), John Ore (bass), Earl Smith (drums), Bruce Edwards (guitar). Technically, the group is John Gilmore's All-Star Inventions, with Ra guesting.

RPM (UK):

MEEEK, JOE: I Hear A New World: An Outer Space Music Fantasy LP (RPM 103 LP). $16.00

"Idiosyncratic, mad genius of early British R&R, producer Joe Meek is considered to be one of the most important independent producers of the early sixties. Like musical mastermind Phil Spector, Meek also developed his own production style in a similarly eccentric manner, stamping each work with an inimitable sound and making him a legend on the musical fringes. Although Meek was responsible for some mainstream R&R hits as well (The Tornados' 'Telstar', The Honeycombs' 'Have I The Right', etc.), this album, recorded in 1960, was one of Meek's more extreme projects. Essentially I Hear A New World: An Outer Space Music Fantasy was a concept album, which took as its subject matter 'life on the moon' — with each song dedicated to one of the myriad populations that Meek suspected inhabited the moon's different regions (complete with a description of these inhabitants in the liner notes). Using clavichord, Hawaiian guitar and early electronic sound effects, Meek created futuristic sounding aural tapestries linked to a time when we still believed that the moon was populated by little green men. Released at the time as only a 4 track EP, the complete work has finally been restored and released with all 12 original tracks."

DANDO SHAFT: Anthology 3LP BOX (RPM 243 LP). $34.00

"Dando Shaft's three classic albums An Evening With, Dando Shaft and Lantaloan are now available on 180 g virgin vinyl in one box set. Drawing from the same deep well as Bert Jansch's Pentangle and the Fairport Convention, Dando Shaft's intricate blend of entirely acoustic instruments (including mandolin, violin and hand percussion) and the haunting vocals of Polly Bolton (on the second two albums) made it one of the most lastingly unique bands of the early seventies British folk scene."

SPENCER DAVIS GROUP, THE: With Their New Face On LP (RPM 508LP). $16.00

"Psych R&B masterpiece recorded during 1967 (and released in 1968) featuring two hit singles such as 'Mr Second Class' and 'Time Seller.' By the time With Their New Face On was released Ray Fenwick had replaced Phil Sawyer on guitar, and some of the guitar parts and vocals on the album had been re-recorded. Artwork of the original US version." 180 gram

HQ vinyl.

OTIS, SHUGGIE: In Session Information LP (RPM 509LP). $16.00

"This is the best of the sessions Shuggie Otis recorded around the same period (and in the same studio where) he cut the 1975 classic album Inspiration Information. Johnny Otis had embarked on a project to record some of the pioneers of R&B in a modern context for release on the Blues Spectrum label series. Shuggie was used as guitarist, pianist, arranger and writer. A mixture of blues, R&B, funk and soul all recorded in the same DIY lo-fi way at Hawk Sound studios between 1973 and 1977." 180 gram HQ vinyl.

RRR:*TIETCHENS, ASMUS: Ptomaine 3LP (RRR 101). $22.00

A 3LP set (in elaborate fold out gatefold) response by Mr. Tietchens to RRR's immortal RRR 100 7". That record was a collection of 100 locked grooves by various artists; this LP uses the original 7" as source material to expand upon the concept.

VA: 500 Lock Grooves LP (RRR 500). $12.00

VA: New England 5LP (RRR 555). $42.00

"Various 5LP box, 10 artists each getting 1 full side: Brutum Fulmen, Sickness, Can't, Skin Crime, Immaculate Grotesque, Prurient, Matt Brinkman, Human Is Filth, Diagram-A, Karlheinz. Basically the 10 best noise bands from New England (that I know of) the box is ltd 500 copies, each hand-decorated by one of the artists."

MERZBOW: Batzoutai With Memorial Gadgets 2CD (RRR CD06). $16.00

Restocked. Sub-titled: De-Composed Works 1985-86. Disk 1 is a remix of the long o/p RRR DBLP (with this new retrospective note: "Fake electro acoustic music dedicated to GRM/INA, Wergo, DG, Phillips & Erato recording artists"). Disk 2 is called "Loop Panic Limited," and is a recording of loud/dense cut ups from various records; recorded 1985-86. The disks are packaged in a hard plastic fold out case.

L.A.F.M.S. (LOS ANGELES FREE MUSIC SOCIETY): The Lowest Form Of Music 10CD BOX (RRR CD17). $100.00

The Los Angeles Free Music Society was a complete screwball fringe music collective that peaked in the true heart of darkness — America in the mid 70s. They self-released LPs, 7"s and cassettes in the dawn before real independent distribution and the myth that surrounds those sacred pressings has in recent years become feverish. Mixing pure sonic weirdness, musique concrete, free improv blare, fringe-noise-nonsense and much more, the musicians involved with LAFMS created a unique bounty of individualistic art. This unbelievable box of 10 CDs, which took a number of years to finally assemble, creates an awesome overview of this inspired, largely ignored scene. Features music by Le Forte Four, The Doo Dooettes, Airway, Tom Recchion, Rick Potts, Dennis Duck, Fredrik Nilsen, Joe Potts, Chip Chapman, Monique et Aviv, John Duncan and CV Massage, and more. Comes with a stunning 36 page booklet of full color photographs, 60 page book of extensive notes by the many contributors, a full color poster depicting all the original releases; all encased in a sturdy, letter-pressed chipboard box.

DUE PROCESS: Combine I — XVIII CD (RRR CD20). $13.00

A new trio version of Due Process made up of Thomas Dimuzio, Ron Lessard & John Wiggins. Limited stock.

CRANK STURGEON: LP (RRR2 002). $13.50

"Crank Sturgeon? A babbling what-does-it-mean portable fish-costumed bacchanal. Imagine if you will, something of a man-fish, bashing about with spiels and mantras and stories of nonsequitur while joyfully defiling himself or his homemade noise instruments. Performance art complete with alchemy, dada trickery, irreverence, and heaps of unwieldy volume. A Sturgeon man, not your average new millenium man, working the autonomous free zone of improvisational performance, with sound, visuals, lectures, and commotion. Glib tongued, tugging the tape out of cassette players, violently bowing any substance that will submit to vibration, screaming circle breaths through snorkel tubes or deer calls, and hammering away at consumer electronic fuzz. Always in some capacity inciting the audience to join in, breaking down that nonsense barrier between performer and viewer. His nibs Crank Sturgeon is something of a bipolar purgative: a noise collage creature let loose in the airwaves... or right there in front of you."

FOUR WAY ANAL TOUCHFIGHT: Heritage LP (RRR2 004). $13.50

"They can best be described as The Residents & Devo getting together to do songs about Viking Warriors & UFO's — actually very funny & catchy 'pop-metal' material. They recently opened for some MTV bands and were very well received."

RSM:*ROWE/BLAISE SIWULA/TONINO MIANO, TIM: CD (RSM 001). $11.00

NY trio playing experimental improv, with a lot of homemade and found instruments; the basis is various reeds (Siwula), piano or prepared piano (Miano) and percussion (Rowe). The result is a nice, grey-ish hollow-tunnel sound, somewhere between AMM and the classic FMP freedom blare.

RUBRIC RECORDS:*RAPP, TOM: A Journal of the Plague Year CD (RUB 04). $12.00

"Tom Rapp was the creative force behind the legendary ESP-Disk/Reprise/Blue Thumb recording act Pearls Before Swine from 1967-1973. Having been persuaded by the folks at Woronzow to take a break from his work as a civil rights lawyer, Rapp has recorded his first album in 25 years. The album was recorded in Damon & Naomi's studio and contains contributions from them as well as Adrian Shaw of the Bevis Frond. This album coincides nicely with the 30 year Pearls Before Swine retrospective released on the Birdman label."

RUDE PHOTO (UK):*FELIX DA HOUSECAT: Cyberwhore 12" (ZRP 001 EP). $9.00

"First release on Felix Da Housecat's new Rude Photo imprint. Produced with the help of Dave the Hustler, 'Cyberwhore' with it's driving beat, crunching guitar, sultry robotic vocal, and killer breakdown is sure to be one of this summer's dancefloor favorites. The 12" features the 'Cyberwhore Original Mix' as well as an instrumental."

RUE P-VILLE (KOREA):*GILBERTO, ASTRUD: With Turrentine CD (RUE 002 CD). $17.00

Korean pressing with mini-LP jacket packaging and 6 bonus tracks not found on the US edition. Recorded in 1971. "A killer album that mixes Astrud Gilberto's lovely Brazilian vocals with some funky 70s CTI backing. Eumir Deodato did the arrangements, and they're sweeping, jazzy, and lush — with Stanley Turrentine playing solos on tenor and great work by a range of players that includes Ron Carter, Sivuca, Hubert Laws, and Dom Um Romao. Highlights include masterful renderings of 'Ponteiro', 'Vera Cruz', and 'Zazueira'. This reissue also includes work from her rarest singles recorded with Ennio Morricone for the film Le Casse. Bonus tracks are 'Love story' (English version of 'Historia de amor'), 'If not for you', 'Acercandome a ti', 'En tu piel', 'Argomenti' (Italian version of 'Acercandome a ti'), 'Una donna che ti ama' (Italian version of 'En tu piel')."

RUF BEATS (UK):*MINDBOMB: Great British Beef CD (RUF 023 CD). $18.00

"Easily the best album to date by a Jeep Beat Collective producer, DJ The Ruf, who turns his club rocking beats into solid platforms to launch his verbal guerilla tactics onto a world currently opening up to the kind of quality British hip hop that Ruf Beats has helped establish. The album is chocka-full of forward thinking floorfillers such as the Keeny Dope influenced 'Ruf Beats', the conga-led 'Great British Beef' and the fatter-than-Fatboy churning funk guitar riffed 'Produce The Friction'." CD has 3 extra tracks.

MINDBOMB: Great British Beef 2LP (RUF 023 LP). $17.00*RUM RECORDS (UK):*POSITION NORMAL: Goody Time LP (RUM 001 LP). $15.00

"Second edition of this most loveable of records. The work of the slightly eccentric and enigmatic Chris Baillif and John Cushway, Position Normal's first release a couple of years ago on the Mind Horizon label was an instant classic. An assemblage of sampled children's records, lo-fi guitars and random car boot artefacts, together with that haunting, endearing, nostalgic voice, it was unlike anything we had ever heard while at the same time reminding us so joyously of early childhood. A bizarre series of events leads up to this second album, details we will never quite know except that, oddly enough, fashion designer Eley Kishimoto commissioned these tracks to be used for sale alongside his screen print work. The record itself is magical once again, a kinda proto Badly Drawn Boy-esque vibe crossed with the records your parents liked."

RUNE ARKIV (NORWAY):*FRA LIPPO LIPPI: The Early Years CD (RACD 101). $15.00

Rune Arkiv is a Rune Grammfon sub-label. "The Norwegian duo Fra Lippo Lippi was formed by Rune Kristoffersen in 1980. The name is taken from a poem by Robert Browning, dedicated to the Italian renaissance painter Filippo Lippi. A year later their debut album is released by the Norwegian indie label Uniton. In Silence shows a strong influence by groups such as Joy Division and The Cure. For their next album Small Mercies (1983) they get Per Oystein Sorensen to join as the new singer. The music shows a considerable development towards a more personal style, with the piano as the central instrument. The Early Years includes both In Silence and Small Mercies and 2 instrumental b-sides, all on one CD."

FRA LIPPO LIPPI: The Best Of CD (RACD 102). $15.00

"In 1985 they release their third album Songs, this time on their own label. Here the songs are more structured with stronger melodies and a much better production, recorded and mixed at Abba's Polar Studio in Stockholm. Songs is picked up by Virgin UK and some additional recordings are done by Depeche Mode and Cure producer Dave Allen. The album includes the hit single 'Shouldn't Have To Be Like That' and receives very favourable international reviews. On the basis of Songs and new demos, Virgin UK gets Walter Becker from Steely Dan to produce their next album. Light And Shade is recorded in Los Angeles and released in September 1987. The first single, 'Angel', is sent to selected US radio stations and gets very good feedback. But Virgin US have problems and need to 'trim the roster'. Several acts have to go. Out of nowhere, FLL is suddenly big in the Philippines. Being invited for one concert in Manila, they end up selling out 6 shows at the same venue, 70,000 tickets all in all. In 1989 they release The Colour Album on Record Station, a label under BMG in Sweden. In 1992 they release their last studio album Dreams.

The Best Of Fra Lippo Lippi includes tracks from Songs, Light And Shade, The Colour Album and Dreams in addition to one live track and a new track recorded in 1994 and not available elsewhere. For contractual reasons some of the songs have been re-recorded, but the original recording of 'Angel' is included, complete with Walter Becker's guitar playing."

RUNE GRAMMOFON (NORWAY):*SUPERSILENT: 1-3 3CD (RCD 2001). $28.00

Debut triple CD by a Norwegian deathjazz improvising unit! The group features Helge Sten (audio virus), Ståle Storløkken (synthesizer), Arve Henriksen (trumpet), and Jarle Vespestad (drums)." Many hours of studio recordings, which have been trimmed down into this debut. "Difficult music, perhaps, but also playful and stunningly beautiful, always trying to stretch the limits." New packaging, now comes in an elaborate fold-out digipak.

NORDHEIM, ARNE: Electric CD (RCD 2002). $15.00

Beautifully presented reissue of classic archival electroacoustic works, first released on now very obscure vinyl in 1974. Bright orange fold-out digipak, extensive booklet of notes package some of the most exciting, shimmering and crystalline electronic sounds to be unearthed in quite a while. Important and essential. "Born in 1931 and highly active, Arne Nordheim is considered by most as the greatest living Norwegian composer, his chamber music, orchestral and various other work spanning a 40 year period. He started to get international recognition in 1960 with his orchestral work 'Canzona per Orchestra' and soon after began to explore the use of pre-recorded tape as part of the compositions. His electronic works were recorded in Warsaw between 1967 and 1971, and have strangely enough not been available on record since the 70s. We are extremely proud to be able to present what can be termed the collected electronic works of Arne Nordheim. Furiously dismissed in academic circles in Norway when they first appeared almost 30 years ago, and in a way that have put an effective stop to weaker souls, we believe this music stands up remarkably well today. Compared to some of the more 'famous' electronic composers, Nordheim distinguish's himself by his sheer musicality and sense of structure...Electronic boxes, electric instruments and recorded tape glide in and out as a natural part of the orchestra, in constant pursuit of magical and spellbinding timbres. The orchestral parts reveal how working with mixers and tape splicing have influenced the development of musical ideas in more traditional arrangements."

CHOCOLATE OVERDOSE: Whatever CD (RCD 2003). $15.00

1998 release. "In '92 and '93 Chocolate Overdose released two very ambitious albums for WEA in Norway. However, the combination of a truly original band, a major label, an expensive producer, media hype and lack of immediate results once again proved to be a dismal one. The 5 years gone have been spent playing with others, producing other artists, writing and recording new songs and getting in a brilliant new guitarist (the old one left to front Libido and is now better known as Magnet). Whatever is mostly recorded live in the studio, almost underproduced and all the better for it. The sound has a rough carelessness to it, but is full of detail, depth and colour, and all in all it's a real grower."

NILSEN, TOVE: Flash Caravan CD (RCD 2004). $15.00

Highly exotic debut album from this Norwegian vocalist, with Björk-like tendencies, strange electronic-pop assemblage and plenty of intrigue — another out-of-nowhere and potentially explosive release from Rune Grammofon. "From the dictaphone surrealism of the opening track to the achingly beautiful 'Breaking The Girl', there's no doubt that we're dealing with a highly original and uncompromising artist not afraid to follow her creative intuition. Heavy electronics, twisted rhythms, triphop, and minimalist lo-fi country is all put together by the young singer/writer in her own musical universe. Several of the songs are built virtually without harmonic structures, quite unusual in most popular genres, and leave special demands on the vocal performances. Many of the songs are improvised in the recording studio, and she's not too fond of structural means like verse and chorus. Her often poetic/surrealist lyrics are quite peculiar, to say the least, and even if the 'rock' genre often is seen as a place for experimentation, it is relatively rare to see language challenged to such a degree as Tove Nilsen is doing here."

BIOSPHERE/DEATHPROD: Nordheim Transformed CD (RCD 2005). $15.00

A series of remix transformations of original materials by Arne Nordheim, whose archival CD of 60s/70s electronic music was previously issued by Rune Grammofon (RCD 2002) to great acclaim. This CD features a total of 7 tracks which use Nordheim's Electric as source material for new compositions by the Norwegian artists Biosphere (Geir Jenssen, long-acclaimed ambient producer) and Deathprod. The results are 49 minutes worth of ice-laden, sweeping electronic deepness, shimmering background fog, and mesmerizing ambience and abstraction. A fascinating all-Norwegian excursion. "Deep and haunting and acknowledged by Nordheim himself as more than worthy."

SUPERSILENT: 4 CD (RCD 2007). $15.00

Explosive, mind-battering second album by Norwegian group. "This quartet has quickly developed into being the most exciting group in what many will call the new wave of young Norwegian jazz. Still in their twenties, they have all been involved in numerous groups and projects, ranging from Terje Rypdal Skywards (Ståle Storløkken) to rock group Motorpsycho (Helge Sten). Arve Henriksen and Jarle Vespestad are considered two of the most personal instrumentalists in Norway, the former receiving due attention for his playing on Christian Wallumrød Trios No Birch, released on ECM. Helge Sten (aka Deathprod) is an in demand producer, and recently grabbed a lot of attention for his reworking of Arne Nordheim's electronic music. With total improvisation in a 'traditional' band format they stress the importance of realtime interaction, playing together and against each other. Although they can sound very electronic, there's not a computer or drumloop in sight and they will frequently slip into stretches that are much closer to something like Autechre than what is normally considered as 'jazz'. On 4 they appear more focused and to the point than on their 3 hour debut set and deliver an absolutely stunning album of improvised 'jazz', electronica, power and lyrical beauty." The group consists of: Helge Sten: Audio virus, Ståle Storløkken: synthesizers, Arve Henriksen: trumpet, electronics, Jarle Vespestad: drums. "While their sound has the added depth of modern recording techniques and digitized, one touch electronica, their improvisations have the ramshackle DIY qualities found in early live electronics projects by pioneers such as Gordon Mumma, Robert Ashley and Musica Elettronica Viva." — The Wire.

FURUHOLMEN/BJERKESTRAND/WADLING: Hermetic CD (RCD 2008). $15.00

1998 release. "Since the glorydays of A-ha, Magne Furuholmen has established himself as a respected painter and composer of film music. Kjetil Bjerkestrand is also a famous film composer in Norway, as well as being a composer, arranger and producer for several Norwegian and international artists. The enigmatic Swedish singer Freddie Wadling is best known for his work in groups such as the much acclaimed Flesh Quartet and Blue For Two. Here they team up for the music to the dark and unsettling Norwegian feature film 1732 Hatten ('Bloody Angels'). Several hours of studio jamming, fractured ideas, sketches and synth experiments in addition to a couple of 'real' songs has been edited down to make Hermetic an album in its own right, rather than being a traditional soundtrack album. In fact, most of the music here is not even in the film, but all through it there is a strong feeling of detachment and things falling apart, just as in the film."

CHOCOLATE OVERDOSE: Dingledoodles CD (RCD 2009). $15.00

1999 release. "Dingledoodles, their second album by Rune Grammofon, is a much more optimistic record than Whatever and in many ways a far more polished production. It's a more immediately melodic and catchy record; from the irresistible pop refrains of 'Memories' and the jazzy 'Black Rainbow' to the more enigmatic growers like 'Hint' and 'Satisfactory', from the hard-hitting title track to the lovely ballads 'Lou And Lee' and 'Shining At The Sun'."

SPUNK: Det Eneste Jeg Vet, Er at Det Ikke Er En Stovsuger CD (RCD 2010). $15.00

"Spunk is a young, all-girl improvquartet with backgrounds from classical, jazz, rock, contemporary and country (!?). The group has been going since 1995 and in spite of their young age, they have built a solid reputation in both jazz and classical circles (three of the members are studying composition). With their unusual line up they are hard to categorize, with soundscapes and musical material from all genres being used in a non-dogmatic and unprejudiced way. The title translates like this: The Only Thing I Know, Is That It Isn't A Vacuum Cleaner. (check your Pippi Longstocking references!)." Kristin Andersen (trumpet), Hild Sofie Tafjord (horn), Maja Solveig Kjeldstrup Ratkje (vocals), Lene Grenager (cello). Another out-of-nowhere, bewildering and idiosyncratic recording from the increasingly faithful Rune Grammofon label.

ALOG: Red Shift Swing CD (RCD 2011). $15.00

"Highly original and different music from a young Norwegian duo (Espen Sommer Eide & Dag-Are Haugan). Bits of classic minimalism (Reich), postrock, techno, jazz, this and that. Most tracks come from improvisations made with various reed, percussion and string instruments, as well as electronic keyboards and field recordings. The results are then manipulated in different digital and analog ways. Quite brilliant, we haven't really heard anything like it."

VA: Love Comes Shining Over The Mountains CD (RCD 2012). $15.00

"78 minutes of the finest contemporary electronics from both wellknown and unknown Norwegian artists and composers. All tracks and versions are exclusive for this compilation. Information (duo signed to Tromsø label Beatservice; their first CD, Artifacts, was last year nominated for a Grammy in Norway. Currently working on a new 99 track CD, the main theme being the importance of chance), Phonophani (Espen Sommer Eide from Alog; this is his first recorded output since his quite brilliant debut for the Biophon label a couple of years ago), Dúplo (something as old fashioned as a band; improvised electronics, analogue synths, treatments), A Threatened Logical Unit (according to himself, "skewed" is his final try to bridge elements from the Detroit scene and his own, more abstract electroacoustic universe. Olvind Idso is his name), Arne Nordheim (taken from an outdoor installation where a collection of randomly selected soundscapes continuously change according to the weather conditions, meaning that this selection is totally unique and will never be repeated in the exact same way), Monolight (first sign of life since the selftitled debut 5 years ago), Deathprod (outtake from the Nordheim Transformed session), Plirk (improvised live recording from art collective type of project, the main man being Morten Skogly), Supersilent (selection from live improvisation set to a screening of the classic silent movie The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari in Oslo last autumn), Furuholmen/Bjerkestrand (from A-ha and composer Ketil Bjerkestrand with slightly different mix from track off hermetic on Rune Grammofon), Alog ('we did a really good recording, you know, high quality, analog-digital-analog, noise and hiss. We have all the warm sound, all the really organic quality of sound: percussion instrument, piano, machinery, little old, but working well, the other: the voice, or wind instruments, field-recordings — poor technology, clear crystal nature of sound, and so say all of us'), Marhaug/Rishaug (the longtime electronic/noise master behind the Jazzassin label), Biosphere/Deathprod (live recording from their sold out church concert in Oslo last year)." Beautiful digipak cover and the finest in digital soundform. An excellent introduction to the label

VALEN, FARTEIN: The Eternal CD (RCD 2013). $15.00

Reissue of orchestral works by this mythical Norwegian-born composer, Valen Fartein (1887-1952). "It is with great joy and pride that we present this highly personal selection of works by one of Norway's greatest composers. Several years after I first heard 'The Churchyard By The Sea' it still remains one of the single classical pieces of music that has made the greatest impression on me. And although the violin concerto is often singled out as the 'entrance' to the music of Valen, it is probably in the symphonic poems, here represented by the three first tracks, that we come closest to the very core of his art. It now also seems like this was the format most suited to Valen, something that can easily nourish the view that he was never really comfortable with the larger frames of the symphonies. Most experts will probably question the inclusion of the first symphony rather than any of the others. The reason is simple: It's the one I like the most, possibly because it's the one that has most in common with the symphonic poems. This collection has been remastered using 24-bit technology. — Rune Kristoffersen/Rune Grammofon. From liner notes: "Valen's music is very distinctive. We need only hear a few notes to be able to identify his signature immediately. In technical terms, his music is strongly dissonant and based on polyphony. But the overall sound is more colorful than dissonant, more vibrant than strident, and airy despite its dense textures...Valen's world of sound is soft and supple, without the ironic or robust characteristics that dominate much contemporary music." — Morten Eide Pedersen.

JAZZKAMMER: Timex CD (RCD 2014). $15.00

"Jazzkammer is the joining of two Norwegian composer/musicians. John Herge is a guitarist, improviser, and composer who's been making music for over 15 years. He plays in Der Brief, a band often compared to Supersilent. Lasse Marhaug has been networking within the noise/experimental underground for ten years, having been involved in over 100 cassette, vinyl, and CD releases, playing concerts and taking part in countless collaborations. Timex features turntables, field recordings, guitars, static electric atmospheres, samplers, casios, and sine waves. All are used in free improvisation and to create collages. At exactly what time does the final track from an innocent New Year's Eve transform into the soundtrack from one of CNN's war reports? Lasse and John have previously collaborated on the Comfort of Objects CD with Helge Sten (Deathprod/Supersilent)."

ØKLAND, NILS: Straum CD (RCD 2015). $15.00

"Nils Økland is one of Norway's most remarkable fiddlers, a renewer of traditional folk music, building bridges to classical, contemporary and improvised music. His music combines freedom and tradition — he is concerned with the tradition of passing music by word of mouth and at the same time to see it in a fruitful meeting with modern impulses. Hallvard Kvale, an authority on Norwegian folk music and the founder of Norway's biggest and longest running record company for traditional music, Helio, names Nils Økland a visionary, the best thing to happen to Norwegian folk music in decades, and the closest the tradition has come to a Miles Davis." Økland (Hardanger fiddle, violin), Sigbørn Apeiland (harmonium, piano, organ), Torbjørn Økland (guitar, trumpet), Pål Thorstensen (double bass), Åsne Valland (vocal).

PHONOPHANI: Genetic Engineering CD (RCD 2016). $15.00

"The second album from Phonophani, aka Espen Sommer Eide (Alog), his first from 1998 so far being the only release on Biosphere's Biophon label. Phonophani's work is characterized by various manipulated 'live instruments' seamlessly integrated with pure electronic sounds. Espen will not admit to this being a concept album, but says of the title that 'sampling is a form of gene manipulation where you arrange and rearrange soundparts from your own playing and the works of others to create new organisms of sound.'"

ELGARØY, TORE: The Sound Of The Sun CD (RCD 2017). $15.00

"In our estimate the most personal and inventive Norwegian guitarist since Terje Rypdal. Tore Elgarøy's career soared to great heights when he appeared on Lee Clayton's comeback album and Europe tour in 89. After this he withdrew from the music scene, but started writing and recording some years ago, with a completely new approach. The Sound Of The Sun is a mix of solo guitar pieces and improvised sound abstractions, all deeply personal, intense and unlike any 'guitar' records we've heard."

SUPERSILENT: 5 CD (RCD 2018). $15.00

"New and long awaited album from a band that refuse categorisation and is the act whose improvisations are sketching out the areas in which Rune Grammofon operates, being ambient, jazz, electronica, rock, techno, noise or musique concrète. Critics have compared them to the Miles Davis band of the early 70s, to Stockhausen and groups like Einstürzende Neubauten and Can. Producer and member Helge Sten (Deathprod) went through some 30 hours of live recordings to come up with this 70 minute collection, including selections from Oslo, London and Bologna. With typical Supersilent unpredictability, the material chosen seems to avoid the confrontational aspects of the group's live presentation. Mostly a calmer, more reflective side of Supersilent, it proposes a raw, electronic lyricism."

ARCHETTI/BO WIGET, LUIGI: Low Tide Digital CD (RCD 2019). $15.00

"First non-Norwegian artists on the label, needless to say we really love this record and are proud to have it in our catalogue. With cello, guitar and electronics our Swiss friends weave a beautiful, detailed and fragile soundscape. References to ambient, electronica and contemporary music but basically beyond categorisation. We seem to be hearing Eno in here somewhere, but can't really say why. Both Archetti and Wiget have been involved in several groups and projects over the years, both as recording artists and touring in Europe, Japan, Russia and USA. Archetti is a member of vintage German psychedelic band Guru Guru since more than 10 years and appear on 4 albums including their triple CD set from 1999."

ALOG: Duck-Rabbit CD (RCD 2020). $15.00

"Follow-up to Red Shift Swing, an album that received massive critical acclaim and showed a totally fresh approach to the art of sampling. Duck-Rabbit follows this course but is to a greater extent born from improvisations during and after concerts, something that has given the album a more extrovert and energetic feel."

HENRIKSEN, ARVE: Sakuteiki CD (RCD 2021). $15.00

"The long awaited solo trumpet debut from one of Norway's most distinguished instrumentalists. 15 unique moments of quiet contemplation inspired by his fascination of Japanese music and culture, all beautifully recorded and produced by fellow Supersilent member Helge Sten (Deathprod)."

SPUNK: Filtered Through Friends CD (RCD 2022). $15.00

"Central artists from Norway's flowering electronica and noise scene join forces to remix female chamber anarchist quartet Spunk, the source being the group's debut album from 1999, Det eneste jeg vet er at det ikke er en støvsuger (RCD 2010). Contributions from Martin Hornthø, Kim Hiorthøy, Upper Rooms, Phonophani, Svalastog, Kristin Andersen, (X, Y, Z), Andreas Meland, Jørgen Træen, Sun Demon, Risto Holopainen, Lasse Marhaug and Andreas Mjos."

MONOLIGHT: Free Music CD (RCD 2023). $15.00

"Monolight is the studio alias of Rune Kristoffersen. Most of the tracks were made using a set-up of one digital synthesizer, two old analogue synthesizers, and a couple of effects processors. He points out that the pieces that bookend this Free Music, namely 'Stranded In Narrow Air' and 'Still Light', are actually the most structured pieces on the album. Newer pieces, centred around the 'Duo Abstractions' tracks, derive from the fresh approach to recording: 'Once a couple of sounds are selected I use a very basic set-up where I can improvise using sequencers, arpeggio patterns and synthesizers that are triggered on the spot and combined in real time. This is all recorded digitally to two-track, with no real possibility to make repairs. When it works, you get a result that is truly unique in the sense that it's impossible to reproduce it. So: if it's a good take it'll be kept, if not, it'll get binned. And because everything is based on improvised manoeuvres, you can't really go back and try the same idea again. Having worked for many years in an environment where the recording process has been relatively structured and calculated, I have found this new hit-or-miss situation very liberating.' Specific inspiration for improvisations on Free Music included 'the work of painters like Rothko, Pollock, Klee, and Braque'."

INFORMATION: Biomekano CD (RCD 2024). $15.00

"Third and easily the best album from these veterans of arctic ambient electronica. A beautiful and razorsharp production with plenty of depth and detail, this is an album that should most definitely appeal to Biosphere fans. Information is Per Henrik Svalastog from Tromsø and Jørgen Knudsen from Bergen. Previous albums are Artifacts (nominated for a Norwegian Grammy in 98) and the 99 track play at random experiment of Successor from 2000. The duo are known to collaborate with artists from other genres and have worked closely with writers, performance artists, painters, sculptors and jazzmusicians. For Biomekano they invited several of Norway's most interesting video artists to work on moving images for the tracks."

BJORKENHEIM/HAKER FLATEN/NILSSEN-LOVE: Scorch Trio CD (RCD 2025). $15.00

"The unique Finnish composer and guitar master Raoul Björkenheim teams up with the hot, young Norwegian rhythm section of Ingebrigt Håker Flaten (bass) and Paal Nilssen-Love (drums) in a classic powertrio setup. Burning with an untamed energy this is neither jazz nor rock, but a free spirited music that in places reminds us of another trio, Hendrix' criminally underrated Band Of Gypsies. Recorded live in the studio to analogue tape during two January days this year, the sound of this record is excellent with much warmth and clarity. The three of them have worked with names like Bill Laswell, Jah Wobble, Paul Schütze, Henry Kaiser, Nicky Skopelitis, Mats Gustafsson, Krakatou, Joe McPhee, Iain Ballamy, Dave Liebman, Tony Oxley, Pat Metheny, Django Bates and several others."

SPUNK: Den øverste toppen på en blåmålt flaggstang CD (RCD 2026). $15.00

"The new studio album from this increasingly exciting and colourful quartet boasts yet another Pippi Longstocking related title. This free spirited and anti authoritarian character is one of the most loved and wellknown from the late, great Swedish author of childrens books, Astrid Lindgren. It translates 'The very top of a bluepainted flagpole' and on reflection it gets clearer and clearer why the four young women (all still in their twenties) in Spunk so easily will identify with this character, going their own pathways and relentlessly breaking most rules in the book. In many ways both more accessible, varied and distinct than their debut from 1999."

FOOD: Veggie CD (RCD 2027). $15.00

"This is the third album from the quartet featuring Iain Ballamy (sax), Arve Henriksen (trumpet), Mats Eilertsen (bass) and Thomas Strønen (trommer), produced by Helge Sten (Deathprod). The blend of Ballamy's distinctive and lyrical saxophone and Henriksen's breathy trumpet textures is the perfect foil for the entrancing bass and drum trips created by the young rhythm section and Deathprod's electronic soundscaping. Veggie also includes an exclusive track from Deathprod."

RATKJE, MAJA: Voice CD (RCD 2028). $15.00

"The debut solo album from Spunk member Maja Ratkje will secure her a place among the finest experimental singers. From the weird and furious to the enchanting and beautiful, this is an album rich in atmosphere, colour and creative madness. Everything is based on her voice. Co-produced by Jazzkammer."

SUPERSILENT: 6 CD (RCD 2029). $15.00

"Supersilent have been a solid cornerstone in Rune Grammfon since the very beginning and are seen by many as representing the very essence of the label. From the monumental hardcore blizzard storms of 1-3 to the elegant electrojazz of 4 and the almost quiet soundscapes of 5, this new album is where the sum of all things Supersilent comes together in a shape of almost epic proportions. Like 1-3 and Scorch Trio, it was recorded at Athletic Sound in Halden, Norway. More than ever it appears clear that their music lives in a no man's land between the genres, somewhere between rock, electronica, jazz and modern composition. As with all their recordings and live performances, everything here is improvised. That most of the music on 6 appears to be written or at least arranged is testament to the high, almost telepathic level they work at. Needless to say, there are no overdubs. Often being labelled jazz because of the improvising aspect of the music and the fact that three of the members come from a jazz background, with 6 they are just as likely to attract followers of bands such as Goodspeed You! Black Emperor, Sigur Rós, King Crimson, (late) Talk Talk or Popol Vuh."

NORDHEIM, ARNE: Dodeka CD (RCD 2030). $15.00

"It is with great joy and honour that we are able to celebrate our 30th release with a new album by one of the most distinguished personalities in Norwegian music. Not only that, Dodeka, meaning twelve in Greek, is a small sensation in that the twelve pieces presented here have never been available on record before. These compositions are made from the building blocks and basic elements from Nordheim's work in Warsaw between 1967 and 1972. Considering the primitive working methods and the equipment available at the time, Dodeka is also special in that it's sonic qualities are quite astounding with a clarity and character all of their own."

EL GRANDE, JONO: Feveergreens CD (RCD 2031 CD). $15.00

Jono el Grande: (guitar, harp, synthesizer, programming); Erik Løkra: (saxophone); Håkon Stene: (xylophone, vibraphone, glockenspiel, percussion); Tomas Gantelius: (piano, synthesizer); Karl Strømme: (trumpet); Kjell Tore Innervik: (xylophone); Kjell-Asbjørn Bunæs: (flute); Rolf-Erik Nystrom: (saxophone); Håkon Thelin: (doublebass); Terje Engen: (drums). "Jono el Grande, born Jon Andreas Håton (29), surfaced in 1999 with the LP Utopiske Danser ('Utopian Dances'), a kind of concept album where Jono delivered his interpretations of 'utopian folk music' — a musical genre that only exists in the dreams of human beings (!). The album was both odd and quite reckless, but at the same time it was a promising collection of mildly absurd instrumentals recorded under the artists bed (!?) using primarily a workstation synthesizer. A lot of water has passed under the bridge since then and on Feveergreens Jono appears as a more complete artist with an uncommonly strong and personal vision."

Jono el Grande has no formal musical training and is a selfmade composer, musician and conductor. Authoritarian musical education institutions have never been his cup of tea. It is no exaggeration to say that Jono is a true outsider in the Norwegian music community, were most music outside the mainstream is made by pale young men with worried furrows on their foreheads. The concerts of the Jono el Grande Orchestra is quite a lively and entertaining musical rollercoaster ride. As a conductor Jono combines comic talent with Wagnerian patos and the ensemble has been a big live hit both in clubs and concert halls."

In many ways Jono el Grande's music has its origin in the early seventies, with references to Canterbury, Henry Cow, Frank Zappa as well as Burt Bacharach, Easy Listening and TV series music. It's both smooth and simple but also complex and cleverly arranged, a kind of light art music with hooks. Songs that in best pop manner crawl in through your ears and stick to your brain — in spite of the intricate melodies and arrangements."

VA: Money Will Ruin Everything 2CD/BOOK (RCD 2032). $42.50

"It's reasonable to say that Norwegian artists have provided some of the most exciting music during the last 5 years within the loose category where jazz and electronica 'got married'. Forerunners include Nils Petter Molvær and Bugge Wesseltoft while younger groups like Supersilent and Jaga Jazzist have developed the music further. But it doesn't stop there, and as you will hear it has all mutated into different forms of music that defy categorisation. A common quality among a young generation Norwegian musicians is their willingness to co-operate across musical genres. Rune Grammfon has been instrumental in getting this music the recognition it deserves. Initiated as a follow-up to the 1999 compilation Love Comes Shining Over The Mountains (RCD 2012) and to celebrate 5 years and 30 releases from Rune Grammfon, this exquisite package has been revised and developed into a much more ambitious project. The 96 page hardback book is designed and edited by the label's house designer Kim Hiorthøy and features graphic works, photos, essays by The Wire editor Rob Young and design writer Adrian Shaughnessy as well as an interview with RG head honcho Rune Kristoffersen. The CDs include exclusive tracks from Supersilent, Biosphere, Alog, Food, Deathprod, Jaga Jazzist, Arve Henriksen, Kim Hiorthøy, Nils Økland, Phonophani, Archetti/Wiget, Lasse Marhaug, Information, Martin Hornthø, Fe-mail and newcomers Svalastog, Skyphone, André Borgen, Isak Anderssen, Strønen/Storløyken, Øivind Idso, Andreas Meland and Susanna and the Magical Orchestra as well as key catalogue tracks from SPUNK, Maja Ratkje, Tove Nilsen, Scorch Trio, Arne Nordheim, Jono el Grande and Monolight. In other words, the best Norwegian improv, electronica, ambient, jazz, contemporary and all things in between."

SKYPHONE: Fabula CD (RCD 2033). $15.00

"Fabula is the debut release from Danish trio Skyphone. Aged between 29 and 31, Keld Dam Schmidt, Thomas Holst and Mads Bødker are childhood friends who grew up in the rainy marshlands of southern Jutland. Having played in various rock outfits during most of the nineties they slowly moved towards the electronica scene and the German dub scene before starting Skyphone in 1999 in the leftover room at a painters studio in Copenhagen. Since then they have steadily developed their own style, combining traditional rock instruments with electronics; scratching and carefully damaging the surface of the digital sounds, creating melodic pop-songs-without-singing, leaving it to the listener to infer what the songs actually could have been and what is lurking virtually beneath the constrained, deliberately ambiguous surface of the song. In the Rune Grammfon catalogue Skyphone is probably closest in spirit and musical ideology to Alog and Phonophani, especially in their extensive use of acoustic elements, either sampled or played by themselves. Thomas Holst plays bass and is responsible for the darker and sometimes moody side of Skyphone, occasionally in the shape of Joy Division sounding basslines and atmospheres. He has also gathered material from Mongolia and Nepal for their ever-expanding and quite vast archive of sounds. Keld Dam Schmidt plays modular synths and guitar, often acoustic, giving many of the tracks an organic pulse. He is also the man behind many of the simple but beautiful and effective melodies that are so characteristic of Fabula. Mads Bødker, the youngest member, plays analogue synths, samplers, effects, a wide variety of battered toy instruments and things that go snap, crackle and pop. Originally a saxophone player, he has retained a certain jazz sensitivity in programming the pulsating, layered rhythms."

SUSANNA AND THE MAGICAL ORCHESTRA: List of Lights and Buys CD (RCD 2034). $15.00

"Susanna and her orchestra is in fact a duo that has been around some four years on the Norwegian live scene, to much acclaim. Singer Susanna Wallumrød (23) is a new name while Morten Qvenild (24) is a profiled keyboard player with the likes of Jaga Jazzist, jazz quartet Shining, Norwegian pop diva Bertine Zetlitz and recently Nils Petter Molvær. The first time it hit us that this was something very special was when we heard a demo including their versions of 'Jolene' and Leonard Cohen's 'Hallelujah'. The second time was when they, with an intimate and intense performance, managed to silence a festive and lively audience at Rune Grammfon's five year celebration in London last year. Many were taken by their highly personal interpretation of 'Jolene', but also their own songs like 'Believer' and 'Hello' made strong impressions. On our own account we'd like to add that their approach to 'Jolene' and Susanna's heartfelt delivery brings a new dimension to this classic. Behind the maritime album title we find versions of the mentioned 'Jolene', written by Dolly Parton, and Leonard Bernstein's 'Who Am I' as well as nine originals that show a surprising degree of maturity, especially considering the writers young age and the fact that they operate in a landscape that requires a good deal of songwriting skills to hold your attention."

DEATHPROD: Morals and Dogma CD (RCD 2035). $15.00

"Deathprod, or Helge Sten as his name is, has been an important player since the beginning of Rune Grammfon. As a member of Supersilent he was part of the very first release in January 1998, Supersilent 1-3 (RCD 2001), and later the same year he and Biosphere remixed

Arne Nordheim's electronic works on the album Nordheim Transformed (RCD 2005). Born in 1971, he has worked under the name Deathprod since around 1990 in all his work as musician and producer. He was a member rock group Motorpsycho from 92 to 94 adding 'audio noise', theremin, keyboards and sound-collages to the band's hard rock. He has also worked extensively in theatre, dance, performance, art exhibitions and installations with particular emphasis on interactive media and improvisation. He has appeared as a player on some 20 albums and produced and/or engineered a further 80. Associates in diverse contexts have ranged from members of rock groups Swans, Mazzy Star and My Bloody Valentine to the contemporary music interpreters of the Cikada Ensemble. He lives and works in Oslo.

When talking about his work methods he has revealed that he often only uses one sound source for a track, and that he can elaborate on this sound for months until he's completely satisfied. This attention to detail makes him quite unique and it's difficult to compare him with specific contemporaries, but Biosphere and Thomas Köner comes to mind. From the Rune catalogue there's the aforementioned remix album with Biosphere as well as Supersilent 5 (RCD 2018). Morals And Dogma is the new Deathprod album, the rightful follow-up to Treetop Drive and therefore given a separate release. Morals And Dogma, four pieces recorded intermittently between 1994 and 2000, is presented as music for the ceremonies of an imaginary secret society, a soundtrack to the arcane rituals of a fictitious freemasonry. Violins may evoke symbolism of the glass harmonica; harmonium may evoke the encoded mystical language of the organ. This is fertile ground for unearthing symbols and cracking codes.

The title Morals And Dogma appears proscriptive, yet it alludes to obscure knowledge cloaked in sonic shadows, action glimpsed indistinctly through acoustic drizzle and failing light. That indistinctness, however, is paradoxically vivid. As the glint or shine of minerals externalize their interior structure, the shimmer and glow of this music registers the inner life of sounds and corresponding interconnectedness of our sensory responses to them. At the primeval level of perception, according to Merleau-Ponty, 'experience is so ambiguous that the rhythm of a sound brings about the merging of cinematographic images and creates space that allows for a perception of movement'. Such experience depends on 'acoustic sustenance'. This music supplies such sustenance, the image flow, the play of textures.

Morals And Dogma is a potent distillation of Deathprod music, simultaneously concentrated and diffuse, mining seams of potentiality in mood and slow movement, at once finely detailed and vast, microscopic and boundless, breaking open temporal cells to access zones of timelessness."

DEATHPROD: Deathprod 4CD BOX (RCD 2036). $45.00

Beautifully packaged 4CD boxset (4 digipaks in a heavyduty-box, nearly all black packaging). Includes the new Deathprod album Morals And Dogma (which is also available separately), plus 3 box-exclusive albums: Reference Frequencies, Treetop Drive, Imaginary Songs From Tristan da Cunha, with a 32 page of liner notes, all eloquently designed by Kim Hiorthoy.

"The four CDs here document the period from 1991 to 2001. Treetop Drive from 95 and Imaginary Songs From Tristan da Cunha from 94, both remastered and included here in full, were originally released in limited editions of 500 copies.

Sound is the host that animates the Deathprod audio virus. In his music laboratory in Oslo Deathprod (Helge Sten) works at the threshold between the latent potential of musical technology and the forms of life that sound assumes: the life of vibrations; the life of imagination.

Deathprod: the invented word no longer has a single fixed meaning. Instead it's suggestive of last and first things, physical decay and the processes of production, decomposition and composition, the breaking down of sound that precedes fresh musical creation. A guiding principle in Deathprod's laboratory work is that his music should have the capacity to evoke images without becoming excessively programmatic. He admires the soundtracks made by Florian Fricke and his group Popol Vuh to accompany films by Werner Herzog, and he admires the scale and ambition of Herzog's own achievement as director.

These four CDs document Deathprod music from 1991 to 2001, a decade of stylistic consolidation rather than change. The 'Reference Frequencies' series of nine live electronic improvisations was made in 1991, recorded to cassette using unpromisingly basic electronic equipment. The four released here for the first time have rawness that is softened or refined in the later composed work but the essential qualities are in place: fascination with the physical properties of sound and awareness of the unfamiliar spaces and uncharted expanses that organized sound can disclose. Loops mysteriously slide from the groove of repetition into swirling forms and cryptic atmospheres. Layers thicken, some congeal and sink as others thin and evaporate in glistening spray. Figures stalk through clouds; strange topographies form from molten matter then dissolve in crystalline streams; curious stories in remote languages cry out to be deciphered. At the pulsing heart of this gelling and melting, amidst the turbulence of changing states and the ethereal drift, Deathprod works unostentatiously with his unspectacular electronic hardware.

Imaginary Songs from Tristan da Cunha is an extraordinary adventure in ethnographic surrealism that started life as Helge's Sten's graduation sound-art project at the Trondheim Art Academy. Tristan da Cunha is the most remote island in the world, a volcanic mound in the distant reaches of the South Atlantic.

Treetop Drive, from 1993 and 1994, opens with a symphonic ending, a dying fall severed from some massive structure and reanimated as another music. Last and first things; the afterlife of a final chord; classical closure reversed by means of sampling and a homemade feedback device."

HENRIKSEN, ARVE: Chiaroscuro CD (RCD 2037). $15.00

Arve Henriksen (trumpet, vocal, electronics); Jan Bang (live sampling); Audun Kleive (drums, percussion). "Chiaroscuro is the follow-up to this fantastic trumpet player's debut album, the much acclaimed Sakuteiki from 2001 (RCD2021). This time he is joined by drummer Audun Kleive and sound artist Jan Bang to create some very beautiful musical soundscapes where the trumpet is the natural focal point. There's also more room for Arve's wordless singing, sometimes used to stunning effect with Supersilent. As with Sakuteiki, Chiaroscuro is recorded on locations in Norway, but this time in concert situations. The final selections have been chosen by Arve himself and treated and mixed by Jan Bang and Erik Honoré. The album's title comes from the Italian word meaning light and shade, referring to the technique of using these elements to achieve an illusion of depth in two-dimensional works of art and later in moving pictures, cue the titles of the individual tracks on the album."

SUPERSILENT: 6 2LP (RLP 3029). $23.50

LP version, packaged as a deluxe limited edition, gatefold 180 gram vinyl, limited to 1000 copies worldwide. The first Rune Grammofon vinyl release, due to customer requests! "More than ever it appears clear that their music lives in a no man's land between the genres, somewhere between rock, electronica, jazz and modern composition. As with all their recordings and live performances, everything here is improvised. That most of the music on 6 appears to be written or at least arranged is testament to the high, almost telepathic level they work at. Needless to say, there are no overdubs. Often being labelled jazz because of the improvising aspect of the music and the fact that three of the members come from a jazz background, with 6 they are just as likely to attract followers of bands such as Goodspeed You! Black Emperor, Sigur Rós, King Crimson, (late) Talk Talk or Popol Vuh."

RUSH HOUR (NETHERLANDS):

DEEPART: Collage #1 12" (RH 001). $9.00

"RH 001 starts off its A side with 'Pic 1'" a heavy bass track with a dark energy to it and those typical Deepart electronic funk twists that make them so unique. 'A Picture' is a two minute interlude that will remind you of those early Detroit days. On the flip you'll find two tracks starting with 'Select Window', a fat produced electronic track with the same kind of wide sounding atmospheres and offbeat twists, without losing its dancefloor appeal. Finally, you hear 'Colour Code', another four floor track, and a deep one it is — this time on a mystical tip, and again with the Deepart drum patterns that makes his music its own vibe."

AARDVARCK: Re Spoken 12" (RH 004). $9.00

"When Aardvarck came up with his first demo, it appeared to be filled with towards thirty dope beat tracks. Rush Hour decided to pass some up towards Delsin and together they did some sort of co-release. 'Spoken' (RH 002) and 'Non Spoken' (Delsin 006) were both released in 2000. To put a crown on this collaboration, we asked Aardvarck's favorite artists from the strong broken beat-scene, Nubian Mindz and Domu, to drop some remixes. Both Colin Lindo and Dominic Stanton took samples from both original EPs and created each a new track with it. Rush Hour dropped a limited promo earlier this year featuring 2 remixes of which only is available on this release, being the more broken beat version. On the other side Domu's version is never released before and sure worth it as he further explores his adventures in beats, dope soulful stuff."

RUTA 5/PAYOLA (GERMANY):

VA: Ruta 5: Austral CD (RUTA5 95672). $15.00

"Ruta 5 acts as a channel for new electronic music from the Latin American continent: first stop Chile, the most southern of the LA continent. The music featured in Austral has been created and produced in the hybrid cultural environment characteristic of the LA countries. The heritage from LAmusic has an obvious influence on European electronic music, especially in its rhythmical richness." Artists featured on this CD are: Atom Heart, ADN, Skip, Jorg, Rick Y Martin, Ricardo Villalobos, Sense Club & Bajo Tierra.

RXXISTANCE (SPAIN):

MULERO, OSCAR: Rxxistance Vol. 1 CD (RXX 002 CD). $15.00

"Without doubt he is the most famous DJ in Spain. 10 years behind the turntables ensure his professional career. His refined technique and his great 'knowhow' clearly visible in his appearance, has brought him to become the foremost per-former of the national techno scene." Includes tracks by: Jeff Mills, Autechre, Surgeon, Oliver HO, Female, O'Connor & Sutton, Pacou, James Ruskin, Oscar Mulero, Jamie Ball.

SAAS FEE (GERMANY):

SAASFEE*: Mt. Fern CD (FEE 012CD). $18.00

"Mt. Fern is Saasfee*'s first release on which the label, the artgroup or what specification ever one may have found for Saasfee*, is both composer as well as producer. Mt. Fern oscillates somewhere between ambient and minimalpop techno: warm and bubbly, without big frills or the pathos of ambient dub. The 16 tracks on the CD invite you on a journey and take you for a ride into a surreal world full of beautiful images and memories. The first acoustic rays of winter sun tickle your ears and nose. If you associate vast landscapes, icy mountains and deep deep glacial crevasses, that is exactly the effect this recording desires ... as is so often the case when the word ambient is used — but this time it bears the clearly audible distinctive mark of Saasfee*. Floating ups and downs, not pushy and not too far away. Never kitschy, with just the slightest amount of fragile melody. Sporadically Mt. Fern uses chords and minimal instrumentation but doesn't drift into clicks and cuts. The tracks range from euphorical and uplifting to the sounds of an icy dawn."

MUSIC LIBERATION FRONT SWEDEN: Music Liberation Front Sweden CD (FEE 013CD). $17.00

"The group (consisting of Aon Flux, Son of Piru, Captain Carpet, Hela, G, Jivaro, Vince Casino, Slaughter Joe plus guests) describes itself as an open collective of musicians with different backgrounds in music and influences working together under this name, and this collective nature thing of the MLF gives the jammy open feel to some of the tracks. This album incorporates a whole variety of feelings from dreamlike-ness to dark scary moods, but with pop-appeal always mixed in. On the one side the MLF doesn't deny to be hard influenced by the vibrations of early krautrock with its open structures and playfulness, on the other it's the love for lo-fi electro and punkrock that gives sort of a clash of styles to this album. And there's a lot of pure ambient beauty mixed in between...that may sound as too many structures combined into one thing, however, with these roots in mind the MLF have shaped an organic mixture which takes the best out of these influences — hypnotic beats as NEU! would produce with today's equipment, exaggerated old school electro bleeps, shabby punk-patterns manipulated for the club and neo-psychedelic ambient loops hard to resist."

SABOTAGE (AUSTRIA):

EPY: Alte Musik Von Morgen 12" (CRAFT 22). $9.00

"This is the real 'shmoov' 5 banging electro flavoured abstract hop trax for quality chilling! + 1 experimental sound scape madness feat. J. Linschinger from Austria's harshest music/performance group Fuckhead." Limited stock.

DELUXE, GERHARD: Spiral Architect 12" (CRAFT 26). $9.00

"Widely renown for his releases on Vienna-label Cheap, Gerhard Potuznik returns with some dope + true freestyle-electro and drum&bass. 4 humorous, funk-fueled tracks." Limited stock.

TEXTA: Geschwiegen LP (CRAFT 29). $12.00

"Hip Hop might not be the style that most people check for if they're into Vienna's mighty electronic imprint Sabotage. The instrumen-tals that the Austrian old-schoolers Texta come up with, fit in well with their funky electro-flavour, laid-back jazziness. If you were into Sabotage's Austrian Flavour EP, this dope LP will do it for you."

EPY: Schall & Rauch CD (CRAFT 32). $16.00

"The second release from the Vienna based three piece EPY. After showing the world their talent and production skillz in the field of abstract/trip hop/dope beats and advanced electronica on their debut EP Alte Musik von Morgen, they have now moved their interests more into the world of electro. The new album is dominated by phat and funky electro tracks, some of them old school flavoured. What makes them special is the way of producing; if you're into the stuff, combining old and new school electro like Breaking Records or Anthony Rother, then you should like this as well."

MEN AT ARMS: Vanguard 12" (CRAFT 37). $10.00

"Men At Arms are the latest signing straight out of the Vienna backyards representing the deeper side of the Alsergrund streets. They are definitely dope and dangerous - so don't *$% with em! The Vanguard titled debut EP features 5 phat dope beat instrumental tracks, produced by Rha7 and Kilowaz of 'Positive Conspiracy', a new HipHop project, which is preparing to take over world domination from the negative forces very soon — some call 'em the Wu of Vienna..."

POMASSL/KODWO ESHUN, FRANZ: Architectronics CD (CRAFT 38). $16.00

Architectronics a collaboration between Kodwo Eshun (The Wire/i-D) and Franz Pomassl (Sabotage/Laton), executed at the construction site of the Vienna Museum Quarter, performed right in the 60-foot deep pit, site of the future Museum of Modern Art and recorded live at the AR-60-Studio (ORF/FM4)/Vienna. Architectronics is the first time that Kodwo Eshun has transformed his theories on music, architecture and 'sonic fiction' into a performance. "Subtitled 'Black Atlantic Turns on Flow Line', a 1998 collaboration between the mind/throat of music-post-Neubauten-theorist/author/scribe 'du-jour' Eshun and Austrian abstract electronic genius Pomassl (his Trail Error on Laton took easily the finest direction in contemporary 'sound research' last year) executed at the construction site of the Vienna Museum Quarter. Originally perceived as 'dodgy' but actually rather effective through it's use of extensive audio signal DSP to render said vocal ruminations and related sibilance completely and totally unintelligible, thus saving us from any belated pop-culture pretension (judging by included prose, the casualty rate could have been rather high). What computer music SHOULD have graduated to a long time ago; a series of intriguing, often unbelievable sounds conceptually linked to individual acoustic audio-production engine components (lips/lungs/tongue). Stellar." — Hrvatski.

HUBER, ALOIS: Weekender 12" (CRAFT 41). $10.00

"After 2 years noiseless absence Alois Huber is back with his third EP. As manager of a Latin club, lifeguard, buddhist, and son of an asphalter, he presents a Disco House 6 tracker by burning down your dancefloor. The opening track 'My Boy' is a catchy mover that perfectly assimilates a cod House groove into its electronic matrix of mercury melody and stereo panning rhythms. The flipside is brewed in the engine room of a nuclear sub and boomin dark beats. The beat functions as an unerring metronome, bleeding stabs of cyborg bass dance, hooking the body into a euphoria at odds with the hovering mid-range."

TEXTA: Vis-A-Vis LP (CRAFT 43). $14.00

"Nine phat and tasty instrumentals from Austria's premier hip hop group Texta, after their first LP called Geschwigen on Craft records. With these nine dope and laid back tracks, taken from their new album Gegenüber, the Linz based five piece manage to continue their pliant way of producing without losing the dopeness and the realness of the upper Austrian steel-city. Deep and fluid, Texta will surely break your heart."

ALEX IS MY BRO: Action Extension 12" (CRAFT 44). $10.00

"Alex Is My Bro now follows with a large tune. Take the biggest thing you can think of, blow it up to forty times its original size, and this tune is still bigger than that. It's a King Kong of a bass record, a veritable monster of the discotech. Funkier than a damn funky thing. Demon Flowers drives deep into his pint pot to produce a distinctly downbeat funky affair. Chugging breakbeats with hypnotic vocal wail and jazzy keys. Brilliant. The high voltage players Men At Arms roll out a downbeat masterpiece from their warped east Vienna labs. Essential."

VA: Unreleased CD (SAB 04). $16.00

Classic early Sabotage compilation from 1996 featuring: Alois Huber, DJ DSL, Texta, Clemens Neufeld, Dr. Richard Inc.

VA: Five CD (SAB 20). $16.00

"The Five CD compilation was made for the 5 year Sabotage- anniversary and presents a wide range of electronic listening music from vienna's finest DJ's and producers feat: EPY, Farmers Manual, Alois Huber, Pita, Sluta Leta, A. Burger, Pomassl, Rhacoon, Sugar B, Beanfield, DFKT, Bluish, Def Con.

VA: 20 FAQ CD (SAB 31). $9.00

An unknown CD that supposedly contains "no music" (not exactly true). It's a 20-minute spoken word EP (in English at least) telling the Sabotage "story" in rather amusing form. If you've reduced yourself to a Sabotage completist, you may be able to talk yourself into this one. "Sabotage Communications presents the CD 20 Most Frequently Asked Questions, which should be understood as service and help. The questions/answers were picked out of an internal ask around and show the often asked points, which should show the background of Sabotage Communications and get the right interpretation."

SAHKO (FINLAND):

GIANNELLI, FRED: Telepathic Romance CD (SAHKO 011CD). $17.00

Dark, atmospheric, lo-volume rumblings, in a vaguely "contemporary classic" style from one-time PTV-er, Giannelli. Fred records more uptempo techno stuff under his own name or the Kooky Scientist; this is decidedly moodier and strange.

DIE BLUTLEUCHTE: Rus CD (SAHKO 018 CD). $14.50

"This thoroughly genius debut album from the Russian Industrial/Avantgarde duo Die Bluteuchte draws dark images from the evil Russian (war) history. A fictitious soundtrack starting from the middle ages around 15th century - for example the invasion of the Mongolian troops (track 5), the battle fought on a frozen lake (track 6 'Battle In Lake Peipos'), the armed forces of 'Ivan The Terrible' named Oprichnina (track 8), the northern war against Finland by 'Peter The Great' (track 10), World War I and II, the abduction of political dissidents to Siberia, to the developments of modern Russia with 'Glasnost' in the late '80s RUS is a black metallic soundtrack built with thick layers of sound varying from acoustic pagan folk songs to subtle electronics and brutal noise workout. A serious masterpiece full of visionary musical superiority."

SAHKO/PUU (FINLAND):

FREESTYLE MAN: Port Arthur 12" (PUU 009). $9.00

"Here's the follow up to the huge selling 'Que Domingo Inquieto'. Written and Produced by DJ Sasse, keys on 'Port Arthur Nites' by Jimi Tenor. 5 tracks of the finest house." Limited stock.

IFGRAY, BRANDI: Le Mutant CD (PUU 06 CD). $18.00

"Brandi Ifgray was labeled as a 'strange artist' long ago in the early 80s. His band Shadowplay melted cool 60s jazz into buzzing 80s guitar riffs. They smoked a lot. They stood still on stage. The same mood, Brandi's absent-minded piano chords, his smoky voice, and the atmosphere of 60s French movies are still there, but now combined with deep Moog baselines, string chorus and a distant slide guitar. Le Mutant is his first solo record and his release on Sahko. The album was produced by Jimi Tenor and it was recorded live at Jimi's farmhouse in the big freezing ballroom in late autumn '96. CD contains 3 bonus tracks."

REV, MARTIN: Strangeworld LP (PUU 17 LP). $12.00

"Martin Rev is known as the music-writer half of the legendary NYC duo Suicide, who pioneered a revolution in electronic sound in the late 1970s. Suicide's rough hypnotic and minimalist sound paved the way for most of the electronic bands of the 1980s and set the base for the following emergence of techno/electonica. In his solo career, Martin Rev has released three albums so far, his last in 1997. As a solo artist Rev, who was originally a free jazz keyboard player, has a more melodic sound than Suicide. Strangeworld is a collection of his new songs from the past few years, all of them previously unreleased. All the production, instruments, and vocals are done by Rev himself. The bare sounds of synths and electronics, his delicate voice and manner of singing, makes Strangeworld a very honest and intimate album. One cannot avoid the impression that Martin Rev has seen life from enough different sides to know what he's singing about."

CITY OF WOMEN: 12" (PUU 18). $9.00

"Jimi Tenor and Finnish jazz drummer legend Edward Vesala co-produced this furious excursion into the scary dark world of free jazz. I guess many of us didn't know these things exist. Vesala's drumming is raving mad and Tenor on the various collection of self-constructed electronics and noise mechanics make The City of Women another Sähkö milestone." 7 track EP by this group: Tenor (flute, electronics), Vesala (drums, vocals), Jimi Sumen (mix engineer, programming), Matti Knappi (instrument design & construction) and Sirkka (mechanical drum machine). Very outward-bound and a far cry from the more usual smooth/house-related sounds of this Sähkö subsidiary imprint. Impressive.

TENOR, JIMI: Cosmic Relief CD (PUU 25 CD). $8.00

"The return of Jimi. Returning to the Finnish label that set the wheels in motion, PUU (a subsidiary of Sähkö Recordings), starting things off with the Cosmic Relief EP. The great Finn-master returns. Jimi, of course, is in the world league of superstars. Just finishing his performances with full orchestra for his amazing Out of Nowhere LP, his third and final LP recorded for Warp. Jimi and Warp have parted company in a harmonious fashion, but he's off on his own, and returning, albeit briefly, to the label he never really left, PUU. Jimi over the years has recorded for Puu under the pseudonym Impostor Orchestra, and in collaborations with a variety of artists, including producing Brandi Ifgray, Nicole Willis, City Of Women and many others. Cosmic Relief includes the hit 'Moon Folks', which Jimi has performed repeatedly over the years. This EP and the forthcoming LP Planet One is Jimi at his lo-fi finest. Definitely the stripped down sound that Tenor made his name on in his early performances, but lacking nothing in groove, mellow vibe or deep spaced-out aura."

TENOR, JIMI: Cosmic Relief 12" (PUU 25 EP). $8.00

12" vinyl version.

TENOR, JIMI: Utopian Dream CD (PUU 26 CD). $15.50

"The sound of Utopian Dream is probably much closer to his first two Sähkö releases than the bigger Warp productions. It's more intimate, fresh, and back to the sound that got Jimi noticed in the first place. There is a cinematic vibe as found in his Impostor Orchestra productions on tracks like? And some of Jimi's finest-ever love ballads are included for those cosy nights when you want to make sweet lovin' in front of the fireplace."

TENOR, JIMI: Utopian Dream 2LP (PUU 26 LP). $14.50

Double LP version.

KUUSUMUN PROFEETTA: Kuusumun Profeetta EP 12" (PUU 27). $8.00

"Hailing from the city of Pori on the west coast of Finland is Kuusumun Profeetta, a truly unique musical experience. Kuusumun Profeetta have made music most often labeled as 'progressive rock' since 1994 under their English name Moon Fog Prophet. The members are also involved in more experimental bands like Circle and Ektoverde, but the new EP Kuusumun Profeetta is their first foray into a very different soundscape. The roots of Kuusumun Profeetta are in acoustic folk coupled with hypnotic jazzy stuff. In a way it combines Pekka Streng's 'In The Garden' kind of Rhodes driven bossa-psychedelia with Nick Drake's way of singing & guitar playing. However comparisons are more or less useless here, as was once said of the late great Eric Dolphy, they play as if they've never heard music before."

SAIGON (UK):

VA: Incoming CD (SAG CD01). $18.00

"Representing the Deep and Dark end of Drum n' Bass, No-U-Turn records limited of London produced tracks that were as dense as 'Techstep' could possibly be before 'Neuro-Funk' came by with it's (sampled) horns blaring and ended the focus on perhaps the highlight of the whole drum n' bass movement so far. Saigon, one of two No-U-Turn imprints (the other being No-U-Black) was set up to release the more experimental output at the onset of No-U-Turn's demise into formulaic two-step, and has succeeded in putting out some of the best tracks by the current crop of D'n'B avatars. Here, on their (now a trademark) label-retrospective, we get exclusives by Dom & Roland (of Dom & [Matrix/Optical/Ed Rush] fame, with records for Moving Shadow, 31, etc...), Future Forces (Renegade Hardware), Calyx (new Moving Shadow/Audio Blueprint signing), Kyan, Ryme Time, Ill Machine, Deep Rooted, Research, and Descending Angel, all pushing the envelope of 'in' jungle just far enough as to insure home-listening benefits rival that of bass-bin residency and sweat-loss @ Metalheadz night. Nothing groundbreaking of course, just solid, well-produced tracks with a few surprises tucked in for repeat listening. Dark." —Hrvatski

VA: Ambush CD (SAG CD02). $18.00

"The second strike in Saigon's mission to bring together a collection to check for a slice of the best of what's going in the next level of today's increasingly global underground, to launch new artists and fresh beats, to monitor the fantastic evolutionary rate of this music which is currently known as drum'n'bass...with quality control by No U-Turn's founding producer Nico. The album features totally exclusive tracks from Nico, Ryme Tyme, Kyan, Dom & Ryme Tyme, Roots, Unknown Face & Interrupt."

SALDISC (JAPAN):

VA: Mirror Ball Songs - Tribute To Neil Young CD (SALD 001 CD). $19.00

First in a series of Japanese-only tribute albums. Artists include: Tanaka Aya, Freebo, Noise On Trash, Commonbill, General, Ahh! Folly Jet, Sakana (featuring Yuji Katsui, violin), Indian Rope, Labrcy, Sugar Plant.

VA: Re:Movement - Tribute To New Order CD (SALD 002 CD). $19.00

Artists include: Color Filter, Rithium+3, Daffodil-19, the Primrose, Peltone, Hideki Yoshimura, Nyeed, Capsule Giants!, Salt Lake feat. Waka, Sugurumun.

VA: E2-E4 2001 - Tribute To Manuel Göttsching 2CD (SALD 003 CD). $19.00

The release in this series that really caught our eye, a double CD compilation of tracks inspired by Ash Ra Temple's Manual Göttsching and his amazing solo track/album from 1981 E2-E4. This classic piece of hypnotic electronics and guitar merely became a blueprint for decades worth of electronic musics.. Artists include: Dub Squad, Rovo, Sugar Plant, Hi Speed and Star Light Express, Buffalo Daughter & 2 other artists not translated to English; 2nd disk is an amazing DJ mix by EYE (Boredoms). 2CDs for the price of one.

SALO (GERMANY):

VA: Electronic Cosmetics CD (SALO 001 CD). $15.00

"Salo Records, based in Berlin, is pushing an untypical yet extraordinary niche of electronica forward: their interpretation of minimal music. The label is releasing artists mainly from the Russian and German scene while the founders are juggling themselves with clear and straight bass-lines tenderly arranged with cosmetic sounds. After various 12" record releases Electronic Cosmetics presents the first compilation of exclusively selected tracks forming a set of colors. Red for the lips, blue as eye shadow, silver mascara, and beige make-up. Cosmetics rely on a full spectrum of colors and a wide variety of choices where each one is a different way to enrich your musical life. All different selections of make-up depend on changing moods and feelings. You can put on a lot to enjoy clubbing, or just use a tiny bit to relax at home. Most importantly, you have to use electronic cosmetics." Artists include: Benno Blome, SCSi-9, T. Raumschiere, Progon, Neal White, Ill Doggy, David Hausdorf, Mindlab, Sascha Funke, Drastic, Noonlat.

VA: Electronic Cosmetics 2LP (SALO 013 LP). $15.00

Double LP version. Same 11 tracks as the CD.

STEREOFUSE: Casino EP 12" (SALO 019). $9.00

"Warm atmospheric club tools without frills. Four tracks for the minimal award 2003."

DE LA CALLE, EDUARDO: H.F. Version 12" (SALO 020). $9.00

"Come to this beautiful country called Spain and listen to Eduardo de la Calle's musical interpretation of what the Spanish street fair should sound like: energetic, fresh and with a lot of power. 'Monika' is already waiting for you at the entrance of this new club in Barcelona and she brought her new 'Font' along. It's not only available in different sizes but also in the special 'H.F.Version' which features more nasty beats than any other tune so far. Don't get too porno when you're laying under the shade of Julia's skirt. She only speaks Spanish but she happily repeats her wish: venido dejao de 'la sombra de Julia'."

MCDONALD, MIKE: Cyclic 12" (SALO 18). $9.00

"Pure powerful techno in a classic Berlin vein. Salo is back on track. Gorgeous..."

SALZ (GERMANY):

SALZ: In The Mix CD (SALZ 01 CD). $15.00

"To introduce you Salz is more than superfluous. For those who not know: Salz are two guys from Cologne who produce high recommended dub tech-house with slight Basic Channel influence and a great 80's appeal. This CD contains their 4 so far released 12" singles and 3 tracks which were made for different label compilations in the mix."

AKUFEN: Submarine Mix 12" (SALZ 010). $9.00

"Salz — The project and label run by Cologne-based artists Axel Erbstöber and Emanuel Geller was built up in 1997. Nine 12"s, two mix-albums and lots of pumping live-gigs, brought Salz a lot of respect in the dubhouse-scene worldwide. In the last 5 years they where cooperating with acts like Elting/Lieb aka Konvex/Konkav, Solar moon, Razoof, Aaron Bingle, Curse, Chin Chillaz, Alexander Robotnik and Philippe Cam. With 'Salz X' Manes and Axel are now developing their sound more into Electro-Pop, a style they are in love with since the 80s. Finally arrived: Amazing Akufen Rmx on this limited one-sided minimal-hit."

TURQUOISE: Dedication 12" (SALZ 011). $9.00

"Sweet popmusic from Cologne's electropop-maestro on the remix-side. Turquoise comes up with his first vinyl-release on Salz-music. Dedication features Sarah Doering (of Bandaloo fame) on lead vocals and is remixed by acts from Cologne's inner electronic circle: Salz, The Modernist, Razoof and Filmpalast. The a side contains uptempo electro-dub-house from Salz followed by a 'radio version' of Cologne's minimal-house pioneer The Modernist. On the flipside you'll find a deephouse excursion by Nesta recording artist Razoof, followed by a trance influenced stepper remixed by Filmpalast. The original version is part of Turquoise' debut album."

SALZ: The Remixes CD (SALZ 02 CD). $15.00

Compilation of various Salz remixes, made of original tracks from: Curse, Alexander Robotnik, Philippe Cam, Solarmoon Sound System, Julia Messenger, Razoof, Bolz Bolz, Rubbassol. Plus a Ko Lute Remix of a bonus Salz track. Salz are described as "high recommended dub tech-house with slight Basic Channel influence and a great 80's appeal".

TURQUOISE: Turquoise CD (SALZ 03 CD). $16.00

"Turquoise loves French movies. 'Even if a movie has dark and melancholic parts in it, you are left with a positive and relaxed feeling which lets you sink into bed contentedly.' This is how the music from Cologne explains his particular liking of the Film Noir. Apart from the pop-shreds mentioned, his musical cosmos was inspired most of all by Can'-like improvisations, chansons à la Serge Gainsbourg and uncompromising Detroit-techno. Who would have thought that a really nice electro-pop record would result from this broad mixture?"

DOLBY WITH SALZ, THOMAS: One Of Our Submarines CD (SALZ 04 CD). $15.00

"Salz... The project and label run by Cologne-based artists Axel Erbstöber and Emanuel Geller was built up in 1997. Nine 12-inches, two mix-albums and lots of pumping live-gigs brought Salz a lot of respect in the dubhouse-scene worldwide. In the last 5 years they were cooperating with acts like Elting/Lieb aka Konvex/Konkav, Solar Moon, Razoof, Aaron Bingle, Curse, Chin Chillaz, Alexander Robotnik and Philippe Cam. With 'Salz X' Manes and Axel are now developing their sound more into Electro-Pop, a style they are in love with since the 80ies. Their big heroes of that time are Howard Jones and Thomas Dolby.. Thomas Dolby is one of the electronic-music pioneers of the 80ies, entering the charts with 'She Blinded Me With Science' that time. The original track of 'One of Our Submarines' was written and recorded by Dolby in 1981. The song is about Dolby's uncle, who sunk with a submarine during the second world war." CD features mixes from: Akufen (CD-only!), Salz, Hardfloor, Ricardo Villalobos, Thomas Dolby, Paul Sebastian, Threshold Project & Jan Kha.

DOLBY, THOMAS: Forty: Live Anniversary Album CD (SALZ 05 CD). $16.00

"Thomas Dolby is one of the pioneers of 80's electronic music. releasing five albums over the last two and a half decades, he got two worldwide single-hits with 'Hyperactive' and 'She Blinded Me With Science'. Thomas Dolby was also a successful producer in the 80's, working with artists like Prefab Sprout, Whodini, Ofra Haza, Joni Mitchell and George Clinton. As one of the most wanted session keyboarder, Dolby played with Stevie Wonder, David Bowie, Ryuichi Sakamoto and Joan Armatrading to name just a few. After nine years of musical silence, Dolby will release a new live album called 40 in Autumn 2003: 'I thought my fortieth birthday was a good reason to dust the cobwebs off my patchbay, fire up the old fairlight and throw a party to my friends...' Dolby explains the reason for producing this album. It was recorded at two concerts in Half Moon Bay, California and Whistler, B.C., concluding seven of Dolby's all time favorites. The album will be released on Cologne's electronic label Salz-music. Manes & Axel from Salz are big Dolby fans for years and get in touch with Dolby through electronic-guru Klaus Schulze, who also worked with Dolby in the past."

FILMPALAST: The Sound Of Unexpected Kisses CD (SALZ 06 CD). $16.00

"Great album by Filmpalast, 'newcomer' artists who was born in the U.K. and moved years ago to Cologne. He started playing guitar in a rock band (releases on Motor Music followed) and Filmpalast also was part of a Can-influenced experimental band. His first bought record was Suzie Quattro's 48 Crash. Long-time later he started with so called electronica. Releases on Hope Recordings (Bristol), Trapez and Tonsport (both Cologne) followed. The Sound Of Unexpected surprises with great House to Tech-House and soulful Electronica. This guarantees an advanced listening experience with funky pleasure."

DOLBY WITH SALZ, THOMAS: One Of Our Submarines 2LP (SALZ 10 LP). $16.00

Double LP, gatefold theme. Also includes remixes by Ricardo Villalobos, Paul Sebastian, Threshold Project & Jan.

SAMADHI SOUND (UK):

SYLVIAN, DAVID: Blemish CD (SAMAD 001 CD). $19.00

A new solo album from David Sylvian, featuring guests Derek Bailey & Fennesz! Mainly intended as a mail-order only release, this will have limited distribution... "His first since Dead Bees on a Cake. It is the debut release for his own Samadhi Sound label. David set aside a month to write and record the album while taking a break from the project that he and his brother, Steve Jansen, are currently working on. He has created an impromptu suite of songs for guitar, electronics and voice. The compositions were crafted from improvisational sessions captured live in the studio. Working almost entirely alone David has created an emotionally raw, minimal work, of immediacy and stark beauty. Although there are elements in his previous body of work that hint at the direction taken here the CD, entitled simply Blemish, appears to cover new ground in style, content, intensity of emotion, and in the seemingly open ended nature of the compositions themselves. Adding to the intensity and air of experimentation is the presence of Derek Bailey. Three of the pieces included on Blemish were written with, and feature, the legendary free-jazz guitarist. The final track of the CD features a haunting electronic arrangement by Christian Fennesz."

SYLVIAN, DAVID: Blemish LP (SAMAD 001 LP). $26.00

A special vinyl version of this limited-distribution 2003 album including a bonus track ('Trauma'). Full color gatefold sleeve, 2000 copies worldwide. "David Sylvian's Blemish could hardly be bolder or more naked. Like pages from a diary on which the ink is barely dry, this raw acceptance of new ways to record, shape sound and form songs moves deeper into the personal unknown. Who else is taking such chances?" — DAVID TOOP.

SYLVAIN/RYUICHI SAKAMOTO, DAVID: World Citizen CD (SAMAD 002CD). $12.00

"Some months back Ryuichi instigated the chain-music project. A chain letter in musical form, anti-war in origination. He originally asked me to write a set of lyrics for the project. Initially I felt apprehensive about taking on such weighty subject matter lyrically. In a very real sense this approach to lyric writing is the antithesis to my own. I also happened to be travelling at the time the request reached me so, reluctantly, I felt I had to turn it down. However, as the week wore on I found myself pacing the streets of London with the beginnings of an idea for a piece called 'World Citizen'. On my return to the US, I found the chain-music composition waiting for me. My immediate response to the piece was to repeat two lines at the heart of the composition, one of which was the phrase 'World Citizen'. The title resonated in a simple way. A necessary redirection of focus away from the national towards the global. That evening I penned the song 'World Citizen'. I recorded a one-take demo a week later and sent an MP3 file to Ryuichi to see if, in his opinion, the piece was worth pursuing. The initial response was muted. A few days later Ryuichi said that he liked the concept of World Citizen and wondered if we couldn't write a more pop orientated piece with the same title. After a few false starts Ryu sent a loop of a sampled piano. To this I composed and recorded the lyric and melody of the song and returned the files to Ryuichi. He passed them onto Harumi Hosono and Yukihiro Takahashi (Sketch Show) who made valuable contributions to the piece. It was at this time that Ryuichi called and suggested we record the version of 'World Citizen' I'd originally sent to him. We spent a week putting the piece together in NY with Skuli Sverrisson (Laurie Anderson) on bass, Amedeo Pace (Blonde Redhead) on guitar and Steve Jansen on drums. Ryuichi and I mixed the piece together in NY. The following week Ryuichi returned to the composition now known as World Citizen (I won't be disappointed), finally making a connection with the song, completing it with rhythm, melody and producing the final mix." — David Sylvian September 2003. "Sylvian and Sakamoto collaborated for the first time in 1982 when they wrote the double A side 'Bamboo Music / Bamboo Houses', but it was in 1983 that they scored a Top 20 hit with 'Forbidden Colours'. Since then both David and Ryuichi have forged successful ground-breaking careers which have left in their wake such album's as Brilliant Trees and Dead Bees On A Cake for Sylvian, and the score to The Last Emperor and most recently a Morelenbaum tribute album for Sakamoto. There are five tracks included on World Citizen, in a different running order and with completely different artwork to the package that was released late last year by Warner Music Japan. The final track of the CD features a remix by acclaimed remixer Ryoji Ikeda. The songs were recorded in New York and New Hampshire, USA in the summer of 2003. Sylvian and Sakamoto have not released a record together for 21 years, which makes this a very special release. World Citizen, with its powerful lyrics and excellent melody, is a must have for all Sylvian and Sakamoto fans."

RABELAIS, AKIRA: Spellewauerynsheer CD (SAMAD 003CD). $19.00

"Spellewauerynsheer: Spell. Wavering. Shard. Spell as in speaking, incantation, a digitally constructed matrix of words and voices, summoning up a strange, distant past. Wavering: the shivering of those voices as they dissolve and recombine in Rabelais... rich filtering systems, turning into pulsating, frequency rich drones. Shard: fragments, of voices, of ideas, of memories, of the past, brought back to life again. Spellewauerynsheer is built up from found sounds, field recordings of traditional Icelandic accapella lament songs recorded in the late 1960s or early 1970s on Ampex tapes and then forgotten about. After discovering the neglected tapes, cleaning them up and digitizing them for a library, Rabelais became fascinated with the heartbreaking sadness of the voices and began to think of them as source material for a series of compositions."

SAMBA MOON RECORDS:

SETE (DJALMA DE ANDRADE), BOLA: Ocean Memories 2CD (SAMBA 890524). $16.00

New reduced pricing on these. "Long overdue CD reissue of one of the seminal solo guitar albums — in any genre — ever recorded. Brazilian guitarist Bola Sete (Djalma de Andrade) settled on the West Coast in 1959. Throughout the '60s he toured widely with various jazz artists and recorded for such labels as Verve, ABC-Paramount, Fantasy and Columbia. In 1972 he recorded Ocean, a departure so far afield from anything else he'd ever done that Fantasy declined to issue it. In 1975 Fahey purchased the tapes and issued the album on his Takoma label. A second volume drawn from the same sessions was planned but it never materialized. Ocean Memories (issued by Bola's widow, Anne Sete) restores to print the complete Takoma album (CD 1) and the eight previously unissued songs that would have completed Ocean II (CD 2). I could listen to this music forever — it's deathless, perfect, ecstatic. It's interesting to compare how different Bola is from Baden Powell and some of his more technically accomplished Brazilian brothers: he's more of a sensualist, a fantasist, and he's looser — more rock 'n' roll. — Glenn Jones. The following is a quote from an article John Fahey wrote about Bola Sete in 1976: "'Few living people have had such an enormous influence on my life, my music, my soul, my religion — you name it — as has Bola Sete. I first saw him playing — solo — in early 1972 at David Allen's Boarding House in San Francisco. That night, I was high on drugs as I had been for several years, and — as also had been the case for years — I felt that I was one isolated example of an experimental species that God had forgotten about (I was wrong here). I felt I had been — and was still — walking and talking among shadows: 'People' who had no depth, who were not related to themselves, did not know anything about themselves — endless, phony, shadow-people. And I was one of them. Bola played for about 45 minutes and grimaced and grunted through the whole set. Something was wrong. He couldn't 'get it out.' I knew how he felt, and I understood. Something was wrong. I was intrigued by his obvious frustration having felt that way myself almost all my life. The performance had been mediocre so far. However, the audience gave him a long ovation, and he reluctantly got up and started to play an encore, still looking frustrated, impotent, mad, seething. I knew that feeling well. But then suddenly he got hot. He got so cooking, he played song after song for another 45 minutes, forgetting (or not caring) that he was doing an encore, playing many of the same songs he had just played. My first impression that night, as I told a friend at the time, was this: Here is a man who has lived through hell and somehow miraculously got out of it. I went back to the Boarding House several times that week. I found that Bola's sets have an interesting 'plot.' They all begin and end with songs whose emotional contour is pretty, happy, light, peaceful, or ecstatic. But after the first two or three songs, the terrain gets rougher and darker, heavier and weirder. By the middle of his set, Bola is giving you pictures of hell, memories of perdition, demonic music. But then Bola gradually lightens up the spectrum of feeling and leads you out of the cave and into the sunlight, and life is paradise. Only now, one is so changed that one is temporarily aware that life really is paradise after all, the world is an ocean, etc. It is like a breath from the 19th Century or before; a breeze from times when people had passion and significance and were not mere shadows. It is as though something has finally changed. I talked to Bola's wife (I was too shaken to speak to him at the time). 'How does he keep from going crazy,' I asked her, 'when he has so much energy and tension? You can hear it in his music — a lot of passion and tension. How did he get out of hell?' ('How can I get out of hell?' That's what I really wanted to know.) His music is so good it's eerie — eerie because it comes from a different time, a different place, when men felt different things that we can no longer love or experience except as an echo or phantom in the best of art works. Most of Bola's music is eclectic and nongeneric. Take a song like 'Black Mommy.' Now, if you didn't know anything about Bola . . . what musical tradition, period, or era would you guess this song came from? Tasmania? Easter Island? It comes from everywhere and nowhere. The subconscious really is universal. Bola Sete's music is the best reminder of this that I have ever heard. He is a man of great spirit and great depth. Bola plays percussively, vertically, with a very heavy and insistent thumb. His playing is very masculine (the word is an anachronism). He plays erratically and restlessly like Boll Weevil Jackson, Blind Lemon Jefferson, or Bill Monroe. But he also has inner peace and breadth . . . rhythm and dynamics are constantly changing. Bola's playing gives the impression (and like my playing it is a false impression) of being very improvisatory. His songs, on the other hand, tend to be very short and terse (unlike mine), without undue repetition. But like me, he tries to recreate each song each time he plays it, which is in effect to destroy it. . . . The only elements of a song, which change from one performance to the next, are the number of repetitions of each idea. The order of the ideas stays pretty much the same. But the speed and intensity at which they are played may vary; if Bola doesn't like the room he is playing in, or the people he is playing for, he tends to play lousy. I do the same. We both play the way we feel, but within a rigid structure. We play that way because we have to — we can't do anything else. God help us." — John Fahey, "Bola Sete, The Nature of Infinity, And John Fahey," Guitar Player, February 1976.

SETE, BOLA: Shambhala Moon CD (SAMBA 90554). $11.00

Second Bola Sete solo guitar album to be issued on this label, a reissue of a 1982 session, originally issued as Jungle Suite in 1985 on Dancing Cat Records. Beautifully packaged with background notes from Anne Sete. From the original liner Notes by George Winston: "This is the great Brazilian guitarist Bola Sete's incredibly soulful suite, containing the music of hidden and magical places. The album, recorded in 1982, contains Bola's only solo recordings on the steel string guitar. His 1972 recording, Ocean Memories, marked a profoundly deeper level in Bola's music and solo guitar playing. With this album, Bola reached even greater depths. While Bola's work is deeply rooted in Brazilian music, he evolved a vision uniquely his own. His music is, in part, a synthesis of several influences, including Brazilian folk music, bossa nova, Spanish music, classical guitar, jazz, and American folk. The ultimate synthesis, however, defies classification and is Bola's own." John Fahey wrote about Bola Sete in 1976: "'Few living people have had such an enormous influence on my life, my music, my soul, my religion — you name it — as has Bola Sete."

SARAVAH (FRANCE):

MAHJUN: CD (SHL 0037). $16.00

Two-fer reissue of the 2nd & 3rd albums by this historic French progressive rock outfit: Mahjun (1973) and Fils à Colin-Maillard (1974) — both originally issued by the Saravah label. This CD was issued in conjunction with the Mantra label at the beginning of the 90s and seems to exist in small quantities in Saravah's warehouse (Mantra is long defunct at this point). The group's first album on Vogue (Vivre La Mort Du Vieux Monde with the spelling of Maajun) has never been close to CD release, while their lesser fourth album, Happy French Band is reissued by Spalax. Related to Lard Free and Mormos, the group has been compared to the likes of Soft Machine, East of Eden, Zappa, etc., combining psychedelic rock textures with progressive folk stylings. "Legendary French band...two albums. A melange of improvisation influenced by folklore, rock&roll, and psychedelia."

FONTAINE, BRIGITTE: Brigitte Fontaine LP (SHL 10034). $17.00

LP-only reissue of this self-titled album, what was the third Fontaine LP, originally issued by Saravah Japan in 1972. This was never released in Europe and has not been issued on CD yet. Classic mid-period Fontaine, beautifully packaged in original artwork, in a deluxe gatefold sleeve & heavy vinyl. Essential missing piece finally presented by the mysteriously moving hands at Saravah. "Initially released in Japan only. Featuring Olivier Bloch Laine, Julie Dassin, Areski, Georges Arvanitas, Jean Charles Capon, Jacques Higelin, Louis Gilbert, Benoit Charvet, Philippe Mate. Tracklisting: "Brigitte", "Moi Aussi", "L'auvergne", "Premier Juillet",

"Le Dragon", "Vingt Secondes", "Eros", "Une Minute Cinquante Cinq", "Ou Vas Tu Petit Garçon", "Marcelle", "Merry Go Round"."

FONTAINE, BRIGITTE: Je Ne Connais Pas Cet Homme LP (SHL 10041). $17.00

Deluxe vinyl reissue in gatefold sleeve of the 5th Fontaine LP from 1974. "A classic album composed and recorded with Areski Belkacem."

HIGELIN, JACQUES: Inédits 1970 CD (SHL 1008). $16.00

Saravah is an independent French label, founded by Pierre Barouh in 1965. They have documented strange French pop, folk and jazz and are still around, although their moto seems to be "Some years you don't feel like doing anything" which might explain their sporadic output. Jacques Higelin was a key tangential figure to the Brigitte Fontaine/Areski universe, who recorded a series of albums in the 70s, include these earliest ones for Saravah (Fontaine & Higelin were recording together as early as '67 if I'm not mistaken). Inédits 1970 is a CD original release of previously unavailable archive material recorded at the Saravah studio in 1970. Higelin sings, plays guitar, accordion, piano, banjo. Areski provides exotic percussion, etc. Brigitte Fontaine drops by for some background vocals. The first half of this is pleasant folk-rock, with a particular French slant & quite beautiful at times. The final track, "A Moi Les Monstres" is a nineteen minute freak-out, dominated by Areski's diverse percussion, acid-flash production and 3-sheets-to-the-wind vocalizing from Higelin. A wild and unknown tripped out cosmic intervention most deserving of attention.

HIGELIN, JACQUES: Crabouif CD (SHL 1009). $16.00

Crabouif was Higelin's second solo album. A strange ranting folk-rock album, with an incredible loose-cannon opening track, "I Love The Queen". The album finishes with another epic 20 minute monster, a free-folk anthem called "Musique Rituelle Du Mont Des Abbesses" which is performed on banjo, flute and vocals in true psych-blitz motion, with an almost Father Yod-like aura of otherworldly insanity.

ARESKI & BRIGITTE FONTAINE: Je Ne Connais Pas Cet Homme CD (SHL 1010). $16.00

Subtitled Fontaine 4, most discographies I've seen list this as her 5th album overall, following Est..., Comme A La Radio, self-titled 3rd (not on CD to date) & the BYG album (CD on Spalax, SPA 542815), L'Incendie. Je Ne Connais... is an exquisite acid-tinged avant-folk album from 1974, with Fontaine's partner Areski constructing a dark universe of strange atmosphere via tabla, hand clapping and other percussion — plus flute, strings, clarinet, bass, guitar, hypnotic chanted vocals etc. The lovely, naive charm of Est... is largely obliterated in exchange for mad, surreal, drugged vibes and quite an exceptional listen overall.

FONTAINE, BRIGITTE: Est... CD (SHL 1011). $16.00

Reissue of the first album from Brigitte Fontaine, originally issued by Saravah in 1970. Under the direction of Pierre Barouh, this is a stunning orchestral pop record, with psychedelic flourishes, outrageous melodies, fantastic production details and the ever-present and unforgettable voice of Fontaine. This album pre-dates her alignment with Areski, but her other collaborator of note, Jacques Higelin has a minor role. Arranged by Jean-Claude Vannier (famous Gainsbourg arranger). "In the early 70s, along with Catherine Ribeiro, she stirred up the French musical scene and asserted herself by the quality and originality of her songs. Her special way of singing, her profoundly original music and the delirious, committed or provocative themes of her songs helped to establish her as one of the best and most interesting French singers of her time. Sharing her fondness for original music, unusual sounds and a strange atmosphere with Catherine Ribeiro, she always succeeded in choosing the musical accompaniment which was perfect for the atmosphere she wanted to create and which adapted itself completely to the themes she developed in her songs." — Francis Grosse.

FONTAINE, BRIGITTE: Comme à La Radio CD (SHL 1018). $16.00

This was Fontaine's second album, from 1971, following Est... Along with her instrumentalist partner, Areski, she recorded the splendid L'Incendie album (reissued on Spalax) amongst others, and became one of the leading figures of the French chanteuse movement. A spell-binding vocalist with an intense, emotionally charged presence, she actually enlisted the Art Ensemble of Chicago to back her on half of this album, an amazing crossover that works quite well. The tracks w/o AEC delve into pure folk-rooted psychedelics however and are even better: "Lettre à Monsieur le Chef de Gare de La Tour Carol" (for guitar, cello & percussion) is a genuine masterpiece of the era. Find out why Fontaine rates as one of Kim Gordon's 12 Goddesses of the Gods!

FONTAINE, BRIGITTE: CD (SHL 1034). $16.00

"For the very first time on CD, this is the 3rd album of Brigitte Fontaine with Areski (initially released in 1972). Remastered/original sleeve. Features: Olivier Bloch-Lainé, Areski, Georges Arvanitas, Jean Charles Capon, Louis Guilbert, Jacques Higelin, Benoit Charvet..."

HIGELIN, JACQUES: Higelin & Areski CD (SHL 1036). $16.00

Reissue of the first proper Higelin album, known as L'inutile at the time of its release in the early 70s. Higelin sings and plays a variety of instruments (guitar, flute, banjo, accordion, etc.) while Areski provides the ethnic percussion variation (maracas, tablas, tambourines, many others). Free spirited, inventive avant-folk with a twisted chanson slant.

AKENDENGUE, PIERRE: Nandipol/Afrika Obota CD (SHL 1051). $16.00

1991 CD issue of 2 early albums by Pierre Akendengue (his first from 1974 and 5th? from about '78 — both originally issued by Saravah), recently listed by The Wire in their "100 Records That Set The World Of Fire" article. "Recorded in the early 70s, before 'world music' was the rage. A spellbinding encounter between an African poet, musician, story teller, Pierre Akendengue, and a Brazilian percussion wizard, Nana Vasconcellos. "Composer, guitarist, dramatist, poet and singer, Pierre Akendengue's influence in his home, Gabon, is huge; in the Francophone world, he's made a dent; everywhere else, he's barely a footnote. Nandipol, his first album, becomes a play — each song a dramatic act made of miniature scenes. Complementary voices (tight harmonic choruses, Akendengue's own trilling tenor and emphatic reading voice), arc above a collection of individual instruments, each running on their rhythmic line. The album is accented by soft acoustic guitar, shakers in stereo effect, slicing flexitone, berimbau and cuica, deep cello. With the assistance of Brazil's Nana Vasconcellos, Akendengue seamlessly incorporated the French popular melodic vocal style, brisk Amazonian percussion, and solid, soulful African themes, words and energy: a 'fourth world' styling several years early." — Robin Edgerton/The Wire

HIGELIN, JACQUES: Les Années 3CD (SHL 1905). $40.00

Box set edition of the three Higelin albums on Saravah: Crabouif, Higelin & Areski & Inédits 70.

FONTAINE/ARESKI BELLACEM, BRIGITTE: Vous Et Nous CD (SHL 2077). $16.00

The 7th Fontaine album, from 1977; apparently her last until a comeback album in 1995 on French Virgin. Areski continues to supply exotic backing via percussion, accordion, gumbri, bendir, guitar, banjo and strings — plus some cool Mini Moog primitive synth weirdness. Not as perfectly realized as earlier efforts, but a very interesting album all the same with some great, zonked moments.

LACY, STEVE: Scratching the Seventies 3CD (SHL 2082). $40.00

"This 3CD box set is the reissue of the 5 albums registered during the 70s at the Saravah studio. It contains Roba (1969), Lapis (1971), Scraps (1974), Dreams (1975) & Owl (1977). "Lapis is a classic solo album for soprano sax, percussion and tape — one of Lacy's most outside documents and a crucial solo outing. Dreams features Derek Bailey. Lacy regulars like Steve Potts (saxophones), Irène Aebi (cello, voice), Kent Carter (bass), Oliver Johnson (drums) contribute throughout the rest of the sessions, along with various guests. Classic-era euro freedom.

ARESKI & BRIGITTE FONTAINE: Le Bonheur CD (SHL 2091). $16.00

One of the remaining missing links in the Areski/Fontaine story, this CD finally reissues their 1975 album, Fontaine's 6th album overall. Released inbetween 1974's masterpiece Je Ne Connais Pas Cet Homme and her exit from the 70s recording scene (Vous Et Nous), produced one again by Saravah's Pierre Barouh. This one finds the two recording at home and in the studio (with a few short "live theatre" performances edited in for extra confusion/pleasure), at complete ease with the process of creating beautiful, surreal-tinged folk duets via mere guitar, percussion, flute and their unique tandem vocalizing. Another unbelievably intimate chapter into the song/madness purge process and a necessary addition for anyone who's ever been stunned into oblivion by Ms. Fontaine's immortal presence.

BRUNET/FRED VAN HOVE, ETIENNE: Improvisations CD (SHL 2103). $16.00

Etienne Brunet (soprano/alto saxophones); Fred van Hove (grand organ). "One Evening In St Germain-Des-Prés. It's been several years, and a few funerals, since I spent as much time sitting in a church. Entering by a side door and quickly turning our backs to the altar our gazes were unavoidably drawn upward by the large organ pipes, that on this day were helped by the pipes (portable in this case) of saxophones — soprano or alto — and, in alternation, bass clarinet. As Balzac said 'The organ, is an entire orchestra, to which a clever hand is able to ask anything'. This time it was not only a 'duo', but a sort of concerto for the breath of Etienne Brunet and a group of winds directed by Fred van Hove, (actually a symphony of pipes with lips and reeds) full of soft and rich interchanges, in waves, with either apocalyptic effect or like a combination of Sun Ra and Olivier Messiaen (at the time when he would improvise — but not every Sunday — on the keyboard at the Trinity church). Thus it's another language, religious and barbarian, of 'groove' — like searching for imaginary rituals while exploring a jungle, frozen in time — because from the first sound and throughout the smallest silences this space cannot be defined like that of a recording studio. The monument itself participates — its machinery — around which all is played: isn't it the only musical instrument inseparable from its home? And also one of the last instruments from the European tradition for which improvisation remains a perfectly legitimate practice? But here and now, these days, inspiration and feeling, organ and sax or clarinet were interlacing on the edges of musical laws." — Philippe Carrez/Jazz Magazine

BAROUH, PIERRE: Viking Bank CD (SHL 2114). $15.00

2003 remastered reissue of Barouh's third album, originally issued in 1977. Pierre Barouh is the founder of the Saravah label, and producer of Brigitte Fontaine. Well known for this orchestral-tinged, bossa-influenced composition style. "Recorded in 1976 over Jean-Pierre Auffredo's orchestrations, Viking Bank is one of the last ones from the 'great time' where Saravah had its office and recording studio at Montmartre. The record passed unnoticed at the time and Pierre Barouh's humbleness, or rather, his natural capacity of recognizing other people's talent, explains why this fine album is only now available to all enthusiasts."

BAROUH, PIERRE: Saudade 2CD (SHL 2115). $17.00

2003 release compiling Barouh's earliest works. "This is the compilation of Barouh's rare singles recorded in 1960 — 1963. Most of songs were co-written with Francis Lai. And some songs were re-recorded in the later albums. Young and lovely, but full of 'Saudade'. Though the sound production is like a conventional 'chanson' and not very much sophisticated, these songs definitely capture three constant features of Barouh. The most amazing song is title track, 'Saudade (Un manque habite)'. This was co-written and played with Baden Powell in 1960. This should be the first attempt of French Bossa Nova in the history. Considering that the "first" Bossa Nova song, "Chega De Saudade" by Joao Gilberto, was released in 1958, and "Getz/Gilberto", which made Bossa Nova international hit, was released in 1963, this recording may be the very first attempt of non-Brazilian Bossa Nova. More than a historical meaning of this song, it is a beautiful song which hits your heart directly. So, this is the first step of how an amateur in music, full of curiosity, could make the great records." — SaTou.

VASCONCELOS, NANA: Africadeus CD (SHL 38). $16.00

Classic trio record of trance-out improv from the early 70s by the grouping of Vasconcelos (berimba, voice, percussion), Nelson Angelo (guitar, organ, piano, voice) & Novelli (bass, guitar, piano, voice). "Early album by Brazilian percussionist, well known for several albums on ECM (as a member of Don Cherry/Colin Walcott's Codona trio as well as with Jan Garbarek) and his involvement with the Downtown NYC crowd (documented on several John Zorn records and his recent Tzadik CD "Fragments: Modern Tradition"). Mixes highly tweaked solo improvs (most notably the first title cut, 19 minutes of minimally-inflected solo berimbau with WIDE stereo spread for maximum-phase late-night trance-out) with trio improvs consisting of layers of percussion, acoustic guitar, vocal overdubs, and PLENTY of studio afterthoughts, recorded by Pierre Barouh in the Saravah studios during the 70's. Very little traditional (read: bossa) fare. A highly impressive vault find." — Hrvatski

SARGASSO (UK):

HARVEY, JONATHAN: Tombeau De Messiaen CD (SARG 28029). $14.00

One of 1999's most impressive experimental music releases. "The British composer has written some of the most stunning electronic music since Stockhausen, with dazzling combinations of synthesized sounds and realtime orchestral forces. 'Mortuos Plango' was realized at Boulez's IRCAM in 1980, where recorded sounds of bell and voice were crossbred with their synthetic situations. Seamless transformation was the aim — for instance, from a sung vowel to a complex bell spectrum. Both 'Mortuos Plango' and 'Ritual Melodies' have been remixed for this release, which celebrates Harvey's 60th birthday. Like abstract painting, electronic music runs the risk that by abandoning instruments and voices with their traditional associations, it becomes a mere design or pattern of sounds. But Harvey's transformation of vocal and instrumental sources overcomes this dilemma, showing a remarkable and sensuous aural imagination. 'Tombeau De Messiaen' mixes piano and tape. It's the second recent piece with a title that references one of the most beautiful works of 20th century music: Ravel's 'Le Tombeau De Couperin', written as a lament for friends killed in the First World War. Harvey's 'Tombeau', for piano and tape, generates some glorious scrunching between the equal-tempered piano and the Just Intonation of the tape part. It culminates in an exuberant Nancarrow-like conclusion of polyrhythmic madness." — Andy Hamilton, The Wire

HARVEY/FRANCES-MARIE UTTI, JONATHAN: Imaginations CD (SARG 28032). $14.00

"Now widely available for the first time, this re-release documents the historic meeting of leading contemporary composer Jonathan Harvey and internationally renowned cellist Frances-Marie Uitti. Imaginations is a set of nine extracts from an improvisation for cello and synthesizers. Although taken from a single and spontaneously-conceived creation, each selected extract concentrates on particular musical ideas and timbral sources. The result is a collection of eerie and evocative sonic landscapes that explore a variety of innovative and often surprising techniques. Recorded in the Harvey studio in 1993, these experiments in sound are only lightly edited — mostly to eliminate background 'noise' provided by the family dog Sappho. The cello is retuned but untreated electronically; the synthesizers used are the Yamaha SY77 and DX7 11."

TERUGGI, DANIEL: The Shining Space CD (SARG 28033). $14.00

"Currently director of the Paris-based GRM (Groupe de Recherche Musicale) Teruggi follows in the footsteps of GRM's illustrious founders Pierre Schaeffer, Pierre Henry, François Bayle, and represents the next generation of electroacoustic explorers. The Shining Space includes works written between 1997 and 1999. Each composition uses a single instrument, piano, electric guitar, voice, etc, as original sound source which is then transformed by the GRM's own processing tools (GRM tools). Teruggi's in-depth metamorphoses of the raw sonic materials reveals his inventiveness and mastery of the acoustical vocabulary. The listener is surrounded by sonic 'trompe l'œil', sensual disorientations and mirages. In 'Crystal Mirage', UK virtuoso pianist Philip Mead leads the listener through a labyrinth of mirrored sounds where piano and tape are endlessly intertwined. 'Fugitives Voix' features actor Jean Bollery and Brazilian singer Anna Maria Kieffer who lend their voices to Teruggi's manipulations. Other sonic 'guinea pigs' include Teruggi's own son on electric guitar in 'The Shining Space' and a full symphony orchestra in 'Images Symphoniques'. Going beyond the technological and cerebral aspects of a lot of electroacoustic music, the listener cannot help being drawn-in by Teruggi's unique emotional personality. The Shining Space is a soulful and luminous dimension in which to investigate Teruggi's musical territories."

VA: Spike: Works From BEAST CD (SARG 28034). $14.00

"A new collection of electroacoustic adventures from the Birmingham scene. Sargasso presents an unprecedented collection of sound explorations from the studios of Jonty Harrison's BEAST (Birmingham ElectroAcoustic Sound Theatre). All composers come from a diversity of musical backgrounds and have in common their passion for sonic metamorphoses. Their time spent in the BEAST studios has allowed them to experiment with sound objects and textures to create personal universes where anything is possible. All compositions on this CD were created in the Electroacoustic Music Studios at the University of Birmingham. Founded in 1982 at Birmingham University by composer Jonty Harrison, BEAST is dedicated to the public presentation of electroacoustic music through the use of multi-channel sound systems. Throughout the years BEAST has established itself as one of the world centres for the creation of electroacoustic music. A diverse choice of composers, including and compositional styles testify of the richness and excitement of pure sound. The best of BEAST."

PALMER, JOHN: Encounter, Hinayana, Epitaph, Between CD (SARG 28038). $14.00

"Following his critically acclaimed debut CD Beyond the Bridge, 2, John Palmer returns with four new thought-provoking compositions featuring Pete Lockett, Jane Chapman, Piet Van Bockstal, Neil Heyde, Matthias Cordes and Renate Bratschke. As Palmer states: 'The music on this CD reflects a search for deeper shades of meaning through the exploration of instrumental virtuosity not as a routine display of technical skills and dazzling-show-off dexterity — which I have always regarded as boring and suspicious — but as a key to a deeper level of expressivity.' As with previous works, Palmer achieves his goals by extending the playing techniques of the instrumentalists and by careful interaction with the electronics, blurring the boundaries of where the instrument ends and where the electronics begin. All this never distracts from the powerful emotional 'encounters' that are conjured by the music, leaving the listener with a sense of inner-journey and self-discovery."

WILLOX, MIKE: The Big Picture CD (SARG 28039). $14.00

"Sound-collage journey from Japan to London. Mike Willox's debut solo album was sparked off by a tour in Japan where he collected local urban sounds and atmospheres from the streets of Tokyo, Yokohama, Osaka creating a sort of sonic diary. Back in London in his Loungecape studios he created a unique musical sound-collage blending in other sounds from more personal sources. Willox seamlessly goes from electronica ambiances to sounds of pianos being tuned, and from jazz musicians jamming to the heartbeat of his unborn daughter Sappho."

CASSERLEY, LAWRENCE: The Edge of Chaos CD (SARG 28042). $14.00

"A special CD to celebrate Lawrence Casserley's 60th birthday and a follow-up to Sargasso's 1999 release Labyrinths. Using his self-designed computer processing instruments, Casserley has chosen in The Edge of Chaos to transform the sounds of metal percussion, gongs, cymbals beyond recognition, to creating intricate 'clouds' of sonic morphing. The inspiration for these pieces comes from the works of painter Antoni Tàpies and writer Jorge Luis Borges. Performer, composer and improviser Lawrence Casserley has been working with electronic sound since 1967, with a particular emphasis on live performance. Much of his work has crossed media boundaries, particularly with his multi-media group 'Hydra', and Peter Donebauer's 'Video and Music Performers' in the 1970s; 'Tube Sculpture' and the 'Electroacoustic Cabaret' in the 1980s. Over the years, Casserley and his ground-breaking live sound-processing set-up has performed and recorded with many of the leading European improvisers, including his close collaborator Evan Parker (Drawn Inwards with Evan Parker's Electroacoustic Ensemble on ECM, and Solar Winds on Touch). This new CD confirms Casserley as one of UK's most exciting live electronics artist."

HARVEY, JONATHAN: Mythic Figures CD (SARG 28044). $14.00

"Long-awaited new CD of chamber works by one of today's most powerful composers. Featuring the Het Trio, Jane Manning (soprano), the Ensemble Musique Nouvelle."

SATAMILE:

VA: Autobot CD (SAT 001 CD). $13.00

"The first CD release from Satamile Records. Due to high demand, this compilation will feature past Satamile tracks released only on vinyl. The length of the CD is 64 minutes (11 tracks). Artist's will include Satamile (NYC), E.M.S(NYC), Bolz Bolz (Germany), Silicon Scally (UK), Airlocktronics (Germany), Decal (Ireland), Scape One(UK) and Freezie Freekie (NYC)."

SATELLITE RECORDS (UK):

BELL: Numbers CD (STL 030CD). $18.00

"Fourth release by electro artists Bell entitled Numbers mixes Detroit and New York Electro (from Mantronic to Drexcia) with English Electronica (from Cabaret Voltaire to Add N To X). After three singles of electro, techno and acid house, this album shows all their influences, from other experimentalists such as Moodyman to Kraftwerk. 'Mantronic/Jonzun Crew inspired nod to early 80s electrobeat with just a touch of black-shirted Anglo electronics. Bell are a duo from London and this release is brilliant' — Muzik. Bell recently played alongside ESG at the last 1977 and have got fans from the likes of Andy Weatherall and Gilles Peterson. Bell are Dan Crouch and Adrian Stephens and both are from London."

BELL: Numbers 2LP (STL 030LP). $21.00

Double LP version in full color sleeve.

YOSSARIAN: Alley Dog/Black Cowboys 10" (STL 033). $9.00

"Yossarian's third single for Satellite pushes his unique persona further again, fusing pure pop with pop art experimentation, providing his most accessible offering to date. Catchy AND obscure in equal measure, Yossarian looks set to draw interest from a wider audience than ever before, as the dapper dog detective continues sniffing out that elusive perfect beat."

BELL: Mr Tone Has Left The Building 12" (STL 035). $9.00

"Latest release from London electro duo Bell in a two-step stylee. Released on sister label Satellite."

KARAMASOV: Divorce Your Loved Ones With Dignity CD (STL 037CD). $18.00

"Formed in London late 1997, anglo-german four piece Karamasov released their eclectic debut the following year. Comprising a diverse collection of largely instrumental improvisations, On Arrival made for a deceptively assured debut. Drawing on influences of Kraut, Rock, Jazz and minimal Techno, Karamasov's compliment of electronics, samples and ancient analogues is lent an added warmth by the less predictable addition of live instruments such as cello and a knack for improvisation, augmented in no small part by classically trained percussionist Berit Immig. Benefiting from a more coherent production, the new album, Divorce you Loved Ones with Dignity is a more accessible collection than previous more esoteric releases. Their left-field take on pop veers at times toward the rarefied dancefloor occupied by Stereolab, Tarwater and ex-labelmates Add n to (x), at others a gentle, affectionate nod to a past illuminated by the likes of Can et al will warm those possessed of an analogue soul."

SAND: Bromide Fist 12" (STL 038EP). $9.00

"Taken from their current album Still Born Alive this 12" is a new re-mix by Tim Wright (aka Tube Jerk on Novamute), who is also a founding member of Sand. Their intense electronic funk techno sound has made fans of DJs such as Andy Weatherall and Gilles Peterson. After two critically acclaimed albums (Beautiful People Are Evil and Still Born Alive) and a recent sell-out tour of UK cinemas, where they played alongside specially made interactive films, Sand continue their unique electro-techno-funk sound with this new release."

SAND: Still Born Alive CD (STL 039CD). $18.00

"Sand's music mixes Cinematic/Electronic/Dance/Techno/Funk elements to create their own sound. Sand musically walk the line between different worlds. They have played with, on the one hand, dance artists such as Robert Hood, Patrick Pulsinger, Andy Weatherall and Carl Craig and on the other hand with groups such as God Speed You Black Emperor, Squarepusher, Add N to X and ESG. Sand's music has been described as cinematic musical soundscapes. They are currently performing at a number of Cinemas in the UK with a series of interactive films by independent film-makers commissioned for this event. Film-makers include Chris Newby, Alison Murray and Clío Barnard."

SATIVAE RECORDINGS (UK):*DJ HELL: Diese Momente EP 12" (TIVA 008). $9.00

"Limited repressing of Sativae's highest profile record to date. DJ Hell is one of the leading figures on the global techno scene and has produced many classic releases on labels such as Disko B and R&S and is possibly best known for running the highly successful International Deejay Gigolos imprint. Here we find Hell reinterpreting the soundtracks of Blade Runner & the Great Gatsby in his unique hypnotic Moroder-esque style with help from DJ Naughty."

TUBE JERK: Shift CD (TIVA 023CD). $15.00

"Sativae Recording's presents the second Tube Jerk LP Shift: Tube Jerk, aka Tim Wright, has been producing electronic music for some time now. His earlier work appeared mainly on the GPR label under his original Germ guise in the nineties. In the same era he also released a remix of African Nightflight's 'Make up your Mind' which is still regarded as a classic amongst electronic enthusiasts. His Tube Jerk name first became noticed when Tim released the album Fold on London based Ill records. Shift is the next step for Tim Wright; showing the huge step he, as a producer, has taken expanding on the sound he has been shaping for a number of years. The bass moves and the quirky scratches & scrapes are all still there; but the sound is more driving, polished, and defined."

TUBE JERK: Shift LP (TIVA 023LP). $16.00

Double LP Version.

SATORI:*WORD OF LIFE: Further Ahead CD (SATORI 3001). $20.00

First album of relatively classic contemporary Swedish psych, originally issued on Xotic Mind. Limited stock.

SATURN:*RA, SUN: Lanquidity LP (PHILLY 666). $13.00

Tracklisting: Lanquidity, Where Pathways Meet, That's How I Feel, Twin Stars of Thence, There are other Worlds (They have not Told You of). Recorded at Blank Tapes Studio, New York, 7/17/1978. "The album was originally on the 'micro-label' Philly Jazz, owned by a Philadelphia recording engineer who knew Sun Ra from his live performances on University of Pennsylvania's WXPB. The album has become a much in demand rarity among the ranks of acid jazz DJs throughout the world."

RA, SUN: Interstellar Low Ways LP (SATURN 203). $13.00

Originally titled Rocket Number Nine. Tracklisting: Onward, Somewhere in Space, Interplanetary Music, Interstellar Low Ways, Space Loneliness, Space Aura, Rocket Number Nine Take off for the Planet Venus. Recorded at various locations, Chicago, late 1960.

RA, SUN: When Sun Comes Out LP (SATURN 2066). $13.00

Tracklisting: Circe, The Nile, Brazilian Sun, We Travel the Spaceways, Calling Planet Earth, Dancing Shadows, The Rainmaker, When Sun Comes Out. First two tracks probably made during the same session at the Choreographers' Workshop, late 1962 or 1963. Remaining tracks recorded during different sessions around the same period. The master tape of Side B is in stereo; all known pressings of the album are in mono, however. The master tape also includes a rejected take of an unidentified piece at the beginning. In addition, three pieces were recorded backwards (!) on the master used by Evidence.

RA, SUN: Super-Sonic Jazz LP (SATURN 216). $13.00

Retitled Super Sonic Sounds on Impulse. Tracklisting: India, Sunology, Advice to Medics, Super Blonde, Soft Talk, Sunology, part II, Kingdom of Not, Portrait of the Living Sky, Blues at Midnight, El is a Sound of Joy, Springtime in Chicago, Medicine for a Nightmare. Recorded RCA Studios, Chicago, 1956.

RA, SUN: The Nubians of Plutonia LP (SATURN 406). $13.00

Originally titled The Lady With the Golden Stockings. Tracklisting: Plutonian Nights, The Lady with the Golden Stockings (The Golden Lady), Star Time, Nubia, Africa, Watusa, Aiethopia. All from various clubs and rehearsal rooms, Chicago, 1958-1959.

RA, SUN: Angels And Demons At Play LP (SATURN 407). $13.00

Recorded between between 1963 and 1967. Tracklisting: Tiny Pyramids, Between Two Worlds, Music from the World Tomorrow, Angels and Demons at Play, Urnack, Medicine for a Nightmare, A Call for All Demons, Demon's Lullaby.

RA & HIS MYTH SCIENCE ARKESTRA, SUN: Cosmic Tones For Mental Therapy LP (SATURN 408). $13.00

Tracklisting: And Otherness, Thither and Yon, Adventure-Equation, Moon Dance, Voice of Space. The first two pieces were recorded by Tommy Hunter at the Choreographers' Workshop, New York City, 1963. The last three were recorded at the Tip Top Club, Brooklyn, 1963. 'Moon Dance' was recorded at a joint in Brooklyn called the Tip Top Club, where Hunter was playing in Sarah McLawler's organ trio. Sun Ra and company came in at 10 AM and played for several hours. I suspect that 'Adventure-Equation' and 'Voice of Space' were also recorded at the Tip Top. Ra is not known to have had access to a Hammond organ elsewhere, and although the recording quality is a little better on these pieces, the tapes are still mono, Hunter may have moved his microphones around, and the echo would cover up some of the faults anyway. Note the background talking on 'Moon Dance' and how it carries over into the beginning of 'Voice of Space'. Note whispers at beginning of 'Adventure-Equation'. Note the phone ringing around 4:00 and 7:50 into 'Adventure-Equation'.

RA, SUN: We Travel The Space Ways LP (SATURN 409). $13.00

Tracklisting: Interplanetary Music, Eve, We Travel the Spaceways, Tapestry from an Asteroid, Space Loneliness, New Horizons, Velvet. Recorded at "El Saturn Studio" (meaning some club or rehearsal room), Chicago, around 1959.

RA, SUN: Strange Strings LP (SATURN 502). $13.00

Tracklisting: Worlds Approaching, Strange Strings featuring vocal by Arthur Jenkins, Strange Strings featuring lightning drum. Recorded in New York, probably 1966. A very uncommon Sun Ra LP, originally issued on Thoth (a Saturn-subsiary?) in '66 or '67. A concept album of sorts, dealing with musicians playing unfamiliar instruments ("Chinese lutes, moon-guitars, mandolin, bass, koto," according to Tam Fiofiori). "It is a piece of astonishing variety...Sun Ra here succeeds in creating perhaps the most completely improvised but organic piece in the history of jazz, with no prepared rhythmic, melodic or harmonic material, performed by players on instruments foreign to them." — John Szwed.

RA, SUN: Atlantis LP (SATURN 507). $13.00

Rehearsal, possibly at Sun Studios, New York 1967-1969. Tracklisting: Mu, Lemuria, Yucatan, Yucatan, Bimini, Atlantis.

RA, SUN: Holiday For Sould Dance LP (SATURN 508). $13.00

Tracklisting: But Not for Me, Day by Day, Holiday for Strings, Dorothy's Dance, Early Autumn, I Loves You Porgy, Body and Soul, Keep Your Sunny Side Up. Hall Recording Co., Chicago, late 1960, except Early Autumn, which was made at the Wonder Inn around the same time.

RA, SUN: Monorails and Satellites LP (SATURN 509). $13.00

Tracklisting: Space Towers, Cogitation, Skylight, The Alter Destiny, Easy Street, Blue Differentials, Monorails and Satellites, The Galaxy Way. Recorded at Sun Studios, New York 1966 (a home recording).

RA, SUN: Sound Sun Pleasure!! LP (SATURN 512). $13.00

Tracklisting: 'Round Midnight, You Never Told Me That You Care, Hour of Parting, Back In Your Own Backyard, Enlightenment (taken from Jazz in Silhouette), I Could Have Danced All Night. Recorded by Alton Abraham, Chicago, 1958. Also seems to be a studio recording. Not the same session as Jazz in Silhouette.

RA, SUN: My Brother The Wind LP (SATURN 521). $13.00

Tracklisting: My Brother the Wind, Intergalactic II, To Nature's God, The Code of Interdependence. New York or Philadelphia, 1970.

RA, SUN: The Night of The Purple Moon LP (SATURN 522). $13.00

Tracklisting: Sun-Earth Rock, The All of Everything, Impromptu Festival, Blue Soul, Narrative, Outside the Time Zone, The Night of the Purple Moon, A Bird's Eye View of Man's World, 21st Century Romance, Dance of the Living Image, Love in Outer Space. Probably recorded in New York 1970. Small grouping of Sun Ra (Moog synthesizers, Roksichord), John Gilmore (sax, perc.), Danny Davis (sax, clarinet), Stafford James (bass).

RA, SUN: My Brother The Wind Vol. II LP (SATURN 523). $13.00

Tracklisting: Somewhere Else, Contrast, The Wind Speaks, Sun Thoughts, Journey to the Stars, World of the Myth "I", The DesignQCosmos II, Otherness Blue, Somebody Else's Idea (Somebody Else's World), Pleasant Twilight, Walking on the Moon. Recorded in New York or Philadelphia 1969. The session tapes also include a rejected version of an unidentified composition.

RA, SUN: Bad and Beautiful LP (SATURN 532). $13.00

All recorded at the Choreographers' Workshop, New York, November or December 1961. Tracklisting: The Bad and the Beautiful, Ankh, Just in Time, Search Light Blues, Exotic Two, On the Blue Side, And This is My Beloved. A tape of these sessions was sold to Alan Bates of Black Lion/Freedom records (probably in 1970). It also included an incomplete, untitled piano and bass duet and an incomplete title featuring piano and percussion.

RA, SUN: Magic City LP (SATURN 711). $13.00

Tracklisting: The Magic City, The Shadow World, Abstract Eye, Abstract "I". Recorded at Rehearsal, New York City, around 9/24/65 and Live at Olatunji's loft, New York, spring 1965.

RA, SUN: Other Planes of There LP (SATURN 98766). $13.00

Tracklisting: Other Planes of There, Sound Spectra, Spec Sket, Sketch, Pleasure, Spiral Galaxy. Recorded at Choreographers' Workshop, New York, 1964. 'Spiral Galaxy' is from a different session than the other three tracks. Probably recorded by Tommy Hunter.

RA, SUN: Art Forms Of Dimensions Tomorrow LP (SATURN 9956). $13.00

Classic Chicago Saturn release, issued in 1965, recorded at the Choreographers' Workshop, all but the last two tracks in the basement (where Ra liked the piano sound). Recorded in New York 1961/1962. Tracklisting: Cluster of Galaxies, Solar Drums, The Outer Heavens, Infinity of the Universe, Lights on a Satellite, Kosmos in Blue. Featuring: "Cluster of Galaxies", "Ankh", "Solar Drums", "The Outer Heavens", "Infinity of the Universe", "Lights on a Satellite", "Kosmos In Blue". With futuristic space interludes that are mindblowing... "This music, performed by a jazz band in the early 1960's, predates Syd Barrett, and occurred long before Tangerine Dream's Electronic Meditations. But you will swear you are listening to a lost Kraut/psych classic inspired by both of these. 'Solar Drums' is everyone in the band grabbing a percussion instrument except for the man behind the recording desk, who plunges everyone into a swirl of echo until they tip and tremble off each other luminously, plinking brightly in the dark...one of the most amazing documents of Sun Ra's foresight. In these two recordings he anticipated - created? - psychedelic music." — Happy Dog Potatohead.

RA, SUN: Fate In A Pleasant Mood LP (SATURN 9956-2B). $13.00

Hall Recording Co. and rehearsals, Chicago late 1960-early 1961. Tracklisting: The Others in their World, Space Mates, Lights of a Satellite, Distant Stars, Kingdom of Thunder, Fate in a Pleasant Mood, Ankhnoton.

SCANDINAVIA (UK):*SUGAR EXPERIMENT STATION: Ultramotone CD (SCAN 008CD). $15.00

"Sugar Experiment Station is an alias for Neil Landstrumm, one of the UK's most prolific DJ/producers on his own Scandinavia." Produced in conjunction with Tobias Schmidt. For followers of the UK weird-edge techno scene (Si Begg, Mosquito label, Noodles comp, etc.).

YOUNGMAN: Slightly Irregular CD (SCAN 016). $15.00

"Bill Youngman, a 22 year old from White Plains, New York. He believes his music is a direct reflection of his emotions. 'Innovation is the key to furthering my mental needs as a composer. I like to approach writing with a humorous head, combined with the dismal feelings experienced in everyday reality. The result is usually complete nonsense and insanity, but I enjoy doing it,' says Bill. For many years, Bill Youngman has been composing and performing electronic music. In 1995, his debut release Electro Step on New York's cult Serotonin label, was the first of many attempts to combine the tonalities of bleep techno and electro, incorporating the tempo and percussive elements of Drum 'n' Bass. Here he produces a storming 11 track album for Neil Landstrumm's prestigious label, Scandinavia."

SCAPE (GERMANY):*CLAYTON, KIT: Nek Sanalet 2LP (SCAPE 002LP). $15.50

"Remember Kit Clayton? That mysterious powerbookwizdard, who was behind Nek Purpalet on Berlin's Scape records? The sequel has arrived. Nek Sanalet is his longplay debut. It's even more day-dreamy, way beyond echo than its predecessor. Take the 'out of the woods' Dub approach from the first ep, add a little more flavor and you get Nek Sanalet. Designed to clear your view, Nek Sanalet is an excellent panorama in dub. Put on your headphones and set the virtual glasses straight, if you will. Then, Kit Clayton appears as a colorful, holographic guide. He is the observer and Nek Sanalet is his device to open all borders to multi-dimensional dubland. In olden times folks took a 'musical shower every hour', while for Nek Sanalet approximate traveltime is about 45 minutes. During the roundtrip you will be carried through all the interesting corners and niches of the electronic danceworld. It's a little more heavy down there than usual, because Nek Sanalet — the device — is wearing a dub filter. Be glad to have Kit Clayton as a tourguide with you because he's mixed emotion into his subsonic bass. These 8 tracks are 'all killer no filler'. Perfectly programmed, dark like a cloud, creepy crawling into every inch of your body. Versatility shows in the minimal tech-dub of 'Nele' and in the almost beatless, melancholic 'Inapiseptili'. Kit Clayton is calming you down, he lets you know, in every sense of the word, what will happen down there in the next echo. Nek Sanalet is a testament to his highly thoughtful and urban musical vision. As with Nek Purpalet (which translates to 'world of spirits'), all the track titles are borrowed from the indigenous language of the Cuna. Nek Sanalet ('world of substance') is then to be regarded as the opposite of its predecessor, which means a balance of forces is at work. Tracks like 'Kalu' ('spiritual fortress'), 'Aspocket' ('statue'), or 'Nia-Ikala' ('way of the devil') are manifest to an inner meaning and a hidden reality. Music is a means to remember the past, to foresee the shape of things to come, and to understand what is happening at present."

FRIEDMANN & THE NU DUB PLAYERS, BURNT: Do Not Legalize It 12" (SCAPE 003EP). $8.50

"Though the five trusty deckhands that make up the Nu Dub Players are only household names to those whose investigations of the underground have permitted them a peep below the surface, the arrival of all five of them on Great Barrier Island (New Zealand) in January 1996 caused immediate geothermal rumbles all around the musical world... Programmer, producer and engineer-turned-Burnt Friedman is the mucous substance that holds the highly creative and temperamental strands of the Nu Dub Players together. Having made his name as conductor for top pop combos Drome, Nonplace Urban Field and Flanger (collaboration with Atom Heart), one could imagine that this project (with the intense demands of the individual members) could be a trying one for the Kolonic cut crusader. But it is within the dub-soaked melange of misappropriated mischief and endless echo that the smouldering one is most at home. Reining in the individual skills of each of his semi-psychotic sidekicks and channeling them through the mixing desk Burnt ensures that the Nu Dubs highly skilled musical mutterings don't turn into a pile of muso wank."

FRIEDMANN & THE NU DUB PLAYERS, BURNT: Just Landed CD (SCAPE 004CD). $15.50

"From the far-flung corners of the world with a firm focus on heaving bass and rimshot rattling percussion Scape Records are proud to present Burnt Friedman and the Nu Dub Players. Recorded at a secret sonic hide-away on a Great Barrier Island just off the New Zealand coast Just Landed is the masterwork of five gunslingers of the gargantuan groove. Having made his name as conductor for top pop combos Drome, Nonplace Urban Field, SMC and Flanger, Burnt Friedman has summoned up new powers to bring this delightfully dubwise crew together. Those who associate his work with plunderous programming, brittle electronics and luring lullabies may be surprised find that it is within the dub soaked melange of misappropriated mischief and endless echo that the smouldering one is most at home. Reining in the individual skills of each of his semi-psychotic sidekicks and channeling them through the mixing desk Burnt ensures that the Nu Dubs highly skilled musical mutterings don't turn out as a pile of muso wank, this truly is like nothing else you've ever heard."

Double LP version.

VA: Staedtitzism CD (SCAPE 005CD). $15.50

Full length CD version with mostly exclusive tracks, from: Gramm, Vladislav Delay, Sun Electric, To Rococo Rot & I-Sound, Kit Clayton, Pole, Trash Aesthetic, Thomas Fehlmann, The Modernist, Burnt Friedman & the Nu Dub Players. "Departure. Here is what it takes. Headphones. A travelcard for your local transport authority. And a Walkman, preferably a digital one. Now, go to the railway station and look for suburban railway services. Choose an old, rusty train. They normally depart from the one and only platform that hasn't been redecorated yet. Take a seat by the window. As the train slowly leaves the station, press start. Watch the sun go down. The next station is Staedtitzism. 'Nonsense', you mumble to yourself, as the train leaves behind the shiny inner city. 'Staedtitzism...what the hell does that mean?' You'll soon begin to understand. As a matter of fact, you suddenly realize that what you hear fits what you see. As the train rumbles towards suburbia, you see powerplants, scrapyards, old, run down factories and spooky housing projects. Meanwhile, you listen to stories on your walkman which mysteriously circle around the same things. With Staedtitzism, Scape, the Berlin-based outlet for dub-influenced electronic music presents a soundtrack for an urban state of mind. Staedtitzism is a result of research. A piece of sonic evidence of what happens when musicians try to re-think and to re-design all they ever knew about reverb, delay, deepness, distance, width, melody, melancholy and successfully set to music their lives in cities."

VA: Staedtitzism 12" (SCAPE 005EP). $8.50

Four track vinyl version, compiled by Pole. Features exclusive tracks by: Thomas Fehlmann, Trash Aesthetic, Pole & Kit Clayton.

JELINEK, JAN: Tendancy 12" (SCAPE 006EP). $8.50

"Welcome to Scape, Jan Jelinek. So far the Berlin-based producer's release history includes four EPs as Farben (on Klang Elektronik) as well as an album for Source Records under the pseudonym of Gramm. As hinted at by his contribution to the Staedtitzism sampler on Scape, he will now add the Stefan Betke/Pole-led label to his publishing platforms. Using his own name for the first time and with the aid of his sampler he developed an exclusive music discovery concept for the Jan Jelinek-EP, transforming 60s and 70s Jazz sequences into spacious arrangements with just a little tweak of the in-built modulation wheel function. Linear second-long loops, Jazz chords and the index finger always on the trigger. A little twist, maximum impact."

JELINEK, JAN: Loop-Finding-Jazz-Records CD (SCAPE 007CD). $15.50

"Specific ideas require specific labels. Jan Jelinek releases a new album on the Stefan Betke/Pole-label -Scape and we welcome a new concept: 'loop-finding-jazz-records'. Jan Jelinek? You know, the production link no 1 between SND and Blaze, the human sound poetry generator any computer, be it Amiga or the Mac Cube, would be honoured to work with. With the aid of his sampler Jelinek has developed an exclusive music discovery approach, building on three central themes: jazz, the loop finding modulation wheel and moiré. Jazz sequences from the '60s and '70s are cut up into second-long loops, shifted by the wheel of the sampler and combined into spacial arrangements with maximum depth of field, re-creating the notorious moiré-effect, this ground-breaking painting technique of creating three dimensional space in a plane without the classic tools of perspective. When Vasarely slightly tilted a few lines in a square grid it seems to flicker three-dimensionally. Similarly, when Jelinek uses his modulation wheel to twist linear loops, sounds dance into zero gravity. It's just a little twist for Jelinek's index finger and a large step for the grammar of crackle poetry. Should anyone enquire after the lyrical scope of clicks and cuts and glitches, 'loop-finding-jazz-records' will overwhelm them like Jerichos trumpets. The more gentle, the more insistent. And the initial concept will be forgotten amongst excited listening surprise."

"No idea why the best time of the day for a good dream seems to be dawn. However, these short periods of time, periods of transit, during which the day transforms from dark into light, from silence into noise or the other way around, are very special moments of our daily 24 hours. It almost seems like the city, just for a moment, has gone offline, in order to prepare for the things to come. Being offline is wonderful. The computer has been put to sleep, your favorite record is playing, you look out of the window to catch a quick snapshot of the city, a little picture of endless rest and calmness. A picture for those moments when the city suddenly is slower than you and you, by pushing an imaginary button, can freeze a whole road. Listening to Staedtitzism 2, it almost seems like all the producers managed to make music for exactly these personal field trips. Short soundtracks for you only, engaging like the last remaining piece in the puzzle of the daily reset. As far as new music is concerned, a lot of things have happened since the release of the first Staedtitzism compilation about a year ago. Therefore, the second part of the compilation series features tracks by artists working in the currently most interesting fields. Their visions just fit our times. For Staedtitzism 2, projects like system, the Danish supergroup with Thomas 'Opiate' Knak and Anders 'Dub Traktor' Remmer joined forces with Scape as did Low Res and John Tejada out of the Californian Plug Research camp. Even Plug Research founder Alan Avanesian, supported by Dntel and his father J.A. Tamborello (saxophone) is on there under the pseudonym Headset. Process from Brighton, well known for his works on FatCat and Traum, Beige, Leaf Records' sensation from 2000, Sad Rockets (Matador) and unknown artists like Nolte and Bus they all made their computer-based dawn reveries available to Scape. In such a context, musical backup from Scape InHouse stars Burnt Friedman & The Nu Dub Players is as natural as the fact that this international group of artists used very different strategies in order to bring the fundamentals of the Staedtitzism idea like reset, calmness or rest to life. The crackling fascination of noisy chords (System) meet friendly yet eccentric ideas of House (John Tejada), microscopic and highly accurate experiments in Jazz (Low Res) and the Reich-influenced deconstruction of an electric piano (Kit Clayton). Once again Scape offers a very special view on the city and what makes the place so special. No doubt that it will be possible to have better dreams that way every time when, at dawn, the city belongs to you. Welcome to Staedtitzism 2."

POLE: R CD (SCAPE 009CD). $15.50

"R is the new album by Berlin-based producer and Scape founder Stefan Betke aka Pole. R stands for Room because central to the album are 'Raum 1' and 'Raum 2', two tracks produced in late 1996. Around this source of inspiration, all other tracks are clustered — formally re-workings by Burnt Friedman, Kit Clayton and Pole himself, but all of them totally new pieces. R stands for Rework as well because while Burnt Friedman worked on the two original 'Raum'-tracks Pole got inspired to try his own hands at the old material. Besides Friedman's and Kit Clayton's contributions the result was four new Pole-tracks, all centered around the idea of room and space. At the same time, all 'reworkers' studied the source material, entered into an intense relationship, re-modelled it and thereby transformed the tracks into something decidedly unique. R also stands for Redefine because it's Pole's first collaboration with another artist — his versions of the 'Raum'-tracks were recorded with D. Meteo (Submission) on guitar which wasn't easy as Betke says but nevertheless emphasizing the new horizons the collaboration has opened up and the creative potential to be reaped from collaborative production and bilateral feedback, contrasted by initial thoughts of 'compromise' or 'restraint' that often occur when a solo artist decides to work with other musicians. This influx of new ideas as well as the input by Burnt Friedman and Kit Clayton turn R into an extraordinary journey through sound."

POLE: R 2LP (SCAPE 009LP). $15.50

BUS: Westen 12" (SCAPE 010EP). $8.50

"After a sneak preview on Staedtitzism 2, the Scape compilation assembling a wide range of well-known electronic artists touched by jazz harmonies and dub approaches, Bus, a project by Daniel Meteo and Tom Thiel, has devised a unique formula to expand this medium. Like a chemical reaction they have synthesised a brand new alloy from pop and dub, leaving no obvious traces of the original input. Bus deal in subtleties: you won't find direct stylistic references or even discernible samples on either 'Westen' or 'Spanish Techno'. Preferring the file to the crowbar Bus marks the boundaries of soundscapes where slickly grooving, atypical noises adopt the rhythmic patterns of a hip-hop beat and undoubtedly reggae-based guitar picks merge into subliminal streams. This is music which, as Meteo suggests, would feel at home on a club's second dance floor — a place less concerned with forced exhilaration or the need to dance, but with fresh and open listening approaches. AG Penthouse's (aka Jörg Burger & Antonelli Electric aka PopUp) HDR-remix, too, is reminiscent of a chemical treatment: the recovery and isolation of elements. While Bus prefer to hide pop references, AG Penthouse do no shy away from experimenting with its heart-wrenching qualities, creating space pop more than a Cologne-Düsseldorf divide away from similar approaches favoured by the likes of Air."

PEKLER, ANDREW: Station To Station CD (SCAPE 011CD). $15.50

"On this, his first album under his own name, Andrew Pekler deals with the possibilities of combining the precise funk of machines with the unpolished playing of human hands. With an appreciation for the early jazz/electronics experiments of Herbie Hancock, Miles Davis and Sun Ra, but also with an interest in the use of sounds devoid of obvious musical-historical references, Andrew Pekler offers an interesting variation on the theme of man/machine interplay. Until now Andrew, a California native living in Heidelberg, was known for his involvement in Sad Rockets (Source/ Matador) and Berghelm 34 (Klang Elektronik). His relocation to Berlin in the Fall of 2001 brought with it not only a change of scenery but also new acquaintances, contacts and musical interests all of which combined, inspired the making of Station to Station. While tracks like 'First Snow, Last Year' suggest the influence of Berlin's urban dub history, 'Manchild' is centered around the inspired saxophone playing of Elliott Levin. A veteran of Cecil Taylor's big band, Levin is among Philadelphia's most free spirited jazz musicians, having played with members of the Sun Ra Arkestra and in various improve and experimental settings. This process of retro-fitting a track onto an improvised performance, (done on several pieces here) is indicative of the changeover from recording in real time onto analogue tape, as with Andrew Pekler's previous Sad Rockets records, to the programming of tracks and hard disk recording, (and the range of possibilities this brings with it) on this album. Similar to the music of Burnt Friedman, the tracks here break up the repetitiveness of their grooves with tiny details and variations. The somewhat static norms of loop based music are relaxed through the use of 'imprecise', (but not random) accents. The music does in fact travel from station to station, but along the way takes detours, short-cuts and a few surprising turns."

VA: Instrumentals - Staedtitzism 3 CD (SCAPE 012CD). $15.50

"With an ongoing diversion, HipHop adopted elements from all kinds of music and, at the same time, heavily influenced other musical genres as well. Within what we call electronic music these day, HipHop has a strong, solid standing, not only because people do not waste their energy any longer with 'genre-watching', but are interested in all kinds of music. More importantly, there is a growing number of artists who approach HipHop from a completely new direction. To dedicate the third part of Scape's Staedtitzism compilation series to HipHop, is nothing but a logical step. After Dub (part 1) and Jazz (part 2), it is up to HipHop, both a lifestyle and a musical genre open to all kinds of influences and references, to distill the perfect Scape sound. Open to all directions, it is easy for the artists involved to find starting-points creating their very own blends of HipHop. Somewhere in between Jazz and weird funk, A. Pekler, Jan Jelinek & Bus are floating along. Cappablack from Japan and John Tejada, who teams up with D. Styler, fan an earthquake full of Scratch-inspired Oldschool attacks. Kit Clayton's special brew of CutUp-R&B-Hop challenges Timbaland and, at the same time, invites him to hang out with him in San Francisco. In the meantime, Thomas Fehlman is more interested in the relaxing power of the break and how beautifully crafted dub chords can work with it best, Deadbeat from Monreal approaches HipHop from a much darker angle and takes advantage from what he has learned from minimal techno. Process then hits the brakes quite heavily, deletes a couple of sounds, just to make sure that his slow-motion jazz fits on top of the break. Gazoo aka Dan Bell follows this strategy, although he spells jazz with a Detroit-dawn-technobassdrum. Antonelli Electr. joins in with a cute little technogroove which makes everybody go out and sit in the sun. In the meantime, System are doing research on HipHop in Danish minimalism and win the Nobel Prize. Staedtitzism 3 is the perfect, long awaited showcase of new HipHop."

SYSTEM: — CD (SCAPE 013CD). $15.50

"System are three producers from Copenhagen, Denmark, who not only have been close friends for a long time but can also look back on a very successful joint musical history. They decided to start a new project, dedicated to special musical likings all the three of them share. While their other common project 'Future 3' over the years turned more and more into popmusic, Knak (known as well as Opiate and producer of the important tracks on the recent Björk album Vespertine), Remmer (aka Dub Tractor) and Skaaning (aka Acoustic) realised, besides a big variety of other influences, a common love for Dub and the sonic trademarks of this music: Reverb, Echo & Bass. Dub is a starting point, a always returning reference, the base for System's very modern, experimental sound, guided by a love for reduced, warmth full of digital static, motivated by an overwhelming interest for new software tools and driven by the gift of using these new technical possibilities in a very subtle way and integrating them into the sonic spectrum. Let's be honest here: Can you think of musical experiments of that kind which actually have such a flow?"

JELINEK, JAN: Avec The Exposures 12" (SCAPE 014EP). $8.50

"Jan Jelinek celebrates. He celebrates the discovery of straightforward directness. No more abstract concepts, no more hide-and-seek between glitchy hisses. Jan Jelinek invents Jan Jelinek. This is music like a passport picture, a full-frontal approach. Exposures. New contours emerge. If his Farben series was a paraphrased homage to soul, 'Jan Jelinek - Avec The Exposures' stretches from quiet smoulders to a Brazilian exuberance that catches us unawares — but on the right footing. How present and movement-inducing his music can be! Of course, Jelinek stays Jelinek and his crackling exploration of limbo states remains just that. But the evolutionary leeway lent to melodies and bass grooves is enormous, samples unashamedly betray their heritage. On 'Jan Jelinek - Avec The Exposures' sources are no longer anonymised in his atomiser, they are allowed to colonise the dancefloor as fully-fledged characters. With Jelinek in the middle. And his reaction? He sings, sings happily to himself."

DEADBEAT: Wild Life Documentaries CD (SCAPE 015CD). $15.50

"Scott Montheit, aka Deadbeat, has been an inner circle part of Montreals (Canada) very lively and inspiring new electronic music scene since the beginning. His first records were put out by Haute and Revolver from 1998. He has longstanding artistic and friendly relations to Akufen, Jeff Milligan and the Mutek festival. His scape debut album 'wild like documentaries' delves deep into the heritage of Dub: the entire idiomatic richness, the aural trade marks, the delays, the white noise, the tape echo, all the compressions and manipulations the history of dub has produced have found their place in his work, were used, re-interpreted, re-invented and transferred into the here and now. Technical finesse is never pushed to the forefront, though, because Deadbeat relies much more on the traditional roots elements of classic dub, their timeless soul and very own nostalgia. On Wild Life Documentaries sound experimentation joins the courage for direct, emotional statements. Deadbeat blends everything into a dub epic, a suite of nevertheless autonomous tracks, carried by a relaxed, organic warmth, the soul inherent in all true dub music."

JELINEK WITH THE EXPOSURES, JAN: La Nouvelle Pauvreté CD (SCAPE 016CD). $15.50

"Jan Jelinek has always enjoyed the play with concept and consistency — in the reassessment of soul music phrases (as Farben), reduced flirtations with the dancefloor (as Gramm), or by shifting linear loop fragments on his first Scape album Loop-Finding-Jazz-Records. After a number of consistent and concept based works, a productive urge to create a heterogeneous album, with equally varied references and tracks, has now resulted in La Nouvelle Pauvreté. The term is borrowed from a Belgian anti-fashion movement who once countered the overlaid 80s pompousness with deliberately angular, prudish creations. In the search for depth and true pathos Jelinek turns his production tools into pure means — centre stage is again taken by the actual material. Sources are no longer blurred, encoded or retouched, samples may betray their heritage, and even Jelinek's voice is allowed the part of an additional instrument. While Jelinek's previous explorative and sampling exercises were based on black music, house or dub, he now supplements these with a segment of musical history new to his compositions — classic white rock, pop and folk. Playing with the means and structures of traditional music The Exposures act as his fictitious backing band, Jan Jelinek's alter ego and extended self, bolstered by the new, carefully introduced rock references."

BUS FEAT. MC SOOM-T: Keep Life Right 12" (SCAPE 018EP). $8.50

"When, in 'Keep Life Right', she raps about disappointed love, loss of trust and realising that the only person she can truly rely on is herself, she conveys the perspective of a woman whose serenity and wisdom is far more real than stereotypical role models in- and outside of the genre would like to make us believe. Soom-T's presence is strong throughout. Her presence remains noticeable even during the strictly instrumental tracks, as if listening in to ready herself for the next song. Perhaps bus play a version of dub that illuminates the other side of the coin — definitely her agenda, too."

BUS FEAT. MC SOOM-T: Middle Of The Road CD (SCAPE 019CD). $15.50

"Whoever considers dub an invitation to either armchair or dancefloor will enter shaky ground with Middle of the Road, the new album by Berlin duo Bus. Here, in the middle lane, giving way on the left, overtaking on the right, rules are disregarded and accidents only a microsleep away. In the realm of Scape's characteristic tilde the coordinates of relational localisation fail in the same way as Daniel Meteo and Tom Thiel disobey any directional marching orders. Instead they have chosen to cruise the bermuda triangle of dub, minimal electronica and hiphop in a veritable craft, bursting the questionable airbag of attitude, ego and representation with their first stumbling beat. Bus do not stop at unmasking genre-typical poses, but move one step further. They collect all the tiny inconsistencies that unveil the desolate yet strong core of their own fragility, sometimes through a slightly wobbly beat, sometimes via brutally honest lyrics — and always head for the limits. But don't worry — the view remains enchanting, perhaps because it is so familiar. And the Bus dub, a warm engine, leads a likeable life of its own — with small hiccups and endearing quirks. Spurred by this drive, armchair and dancefloor are soon forgotten — and we step into the middle of the road, come what may. In their efforts to combine dub, minimal electronica and hiphop in one riff they have managed to win over strong vocal support from Glaswegian underground shooting star MC Soom-T — the only woman to reach the finals of the recent 8 Mile MC Championships 2003. Soom-T employs a wrongly forgotten recitative style, voice full of sharp, credible femininity and demanding involvement far from the prevalent lady, bitch or girl patterns."

TRIOSK MEETS JAN JELINEK: 1 + 3 + 1 CD (SCAPE 020CD). $15.50

"Sydney-based jazz trio Triosk and Jan Jelinek from Berlin have opened up a common equation. In musical terms, their joint album 1+3+1 does not make 5, but only one thing: sense. And the title reflects their production method: Jelinek mails selected samples and textures to Australia, Triosk use these as a basis for composition and recording, the enhanced material then returns to Berlin for Jelinek to finalize. But the mileage covered does not become audible. In fact, the origin of their music seems to be tied to the moment of synchrony, in this case 'four different instruments multiplied by four different approaches make one sense', irrespective of causal or temporal interdependencies. This might make Triosk meets Jan Jelinek an alliance in entangled space (analogous to quantum physics), but it is the rarely audible magic of a resourceful crystalline musicality which fills the album with sophistication and clarity. Triosk and Jan Jelinek play together with eerie assurance and emphatic sensibility. An important feature of their music is the synchrony of events. Seemingly loose ends of separate figures join in a clear train of thought, conveying information not in succession, but simultaneously. In return, the listener is free to leave this complex world of sound and decide by himself to follow the bass line, piano or vibraphone, to concentrate on drum patterns or decrypt electronic textures. Archetypal, dissolving jazz elements correspond to repetitive patterns not known to the genre, electronics and acoustics circle each other but remain conjoined. A double helix begins to form, a musical strand of DNA whose individual elements, taken by themselves, might not make sense. But in the right place and order, read out in their entirety, they define not only life itself, but (in their sequences) also its individual features."

TRIOSK MEETS JAN JELINEK: 1 + 3 + 1 LP (SCAPE 020LP). $14.50

LP version.

DEADBEAT: Something Borrowed, Something Blue CD (SCAPE 021CD). $15.50

"Deadbeat returns to Scape with the sequel to 2002's Wild Life Documentaries, a chronicle of the nine months leading up to his marriage in June 2003, entitled Something Borrowed, Something Blue. Continuing to explore dub's far-reaching root system, this sequel sees Deadbeat push the boundaries of his frame of reference to further extremes at both ends of the spectrum. While the legacy of Kingston's dub proper and Berlin's techno hybrids are still audible, the album's crunchier moments adopt a more aggressive version of the dub recipe, with echos of perhaps Tackhead or African Head Charge bouncing around some far corner of the reverb tank. The cinematic format of Wild Life Documentaries is also taken to new heights here, with track boundaries becoming increasingly blurred, thoughts left to unfurl in slow motion, and sounds disappearing and reappearing like characters in an ever-thickening plot...or perhaps forgotten and frantically remembered entries on an ever-growing wedding reception 'To do' list. As one might expect from a document of such an intense time in a person's life, Something Borrowed, Something Blue is an emotional landscape of widely varying elevation. 'A Brief Explanation' begins the journey by introducing us to a new friend, a cricket, who perhaps was caught in the hard drive spindle at the completion of the last chapter. Like all good friends, he remains for the duration of the journey. 'Head Over Heels' provides the warmth and comfort of a crackling fireplace on a cold winter night, set to a jangling ukelele melody augmented with piano shards and a round, insistent kick. 'White Out' captures the raging blizzard just outside the door: icy chords and a militant dancehall stomp build to a climax before being shattered and reconfigured into triplicate techno shrapnel. 'Requiem' provides an excellent reference for testing the bass response of even the most well-equipped sound system. Drums and bass are submerged to the furthest depths of the dub sea, with shimmering chords burbling to the surface throughout. 'Steady as a Rock' is perhaps the album's most deliberate nod to the Jamaican kings, with a roaring organ and fractured guitar line pulled along by a chugging engine of drums and bass. 'Fixed Elections' sees Deadbeat voice his political frustrations with a slippery Detroit synth line and a tear-jerking reggae chorus. 'A Joyful Noise Part 1' weaves digital-synth textures and heavily processed field recordings around a hopeful organ and rolling bassline. 'Part 2' sees the same sources deconstructed and reassembled to form a lullaby of static and melodic noise. On 'Quitting Time' Deadbeat bashes out a colossal kick-snare pattern on his bath tub in a mournful ode to the exhaustion we've all felt after a hard day's work. Our journey ends with 'Portable Memory (The Final Cut)', a cloud of digital debris that rises to a distorted crescendo before dissipating into the final sustained chord and the familiar chatter of our friend the cricket, bringing things, as is so often the case, full circle."

Double LP version.

SCAT:

ELECTRIC EELS: The Eyeball Of Hell CD (SCAT 062CD). $14.00

"First reissue to use original tapes in 13 years. While BTO and Grand Funk ruled the airwaves, the Electric Eels confronted the cities of Cleveland and Columbus with clothing held together with rat traps and safety pins, Marshalls covered in Fiberglas, a lawnmower, and songs like 'You're Full of Shit.' The Eels' music was unabashedly confrontational, angry, absurd, desperate, self-destructive and very ahead of its time. They played abrasive three-chord rock songs of utter despair, as well as free improvisations. They were beaten by police, each other and themselves. This release tells their story accurately and in detail."

ELECTRIC EELS: The Eyeball Of Hell 2LP (SCAT 062LP). $20.00

"The double-LP version contains six tracks different from or missing from CD. Sixteen of the LP's 27 tracks have never been on vinyl before, ever. It is 100 percent analog and assembled from the original tapes — at no point did any of this music enter the digital domain. The gatefold jacket features a different cover than the CD, twice as much written material, and is pressed on 150-gram vinyl."

SCATTER (UK):

DISLOCATION: Carve Another Notch CD (SCA 01). $17.00

The dense Japanese noise unit, whose previous CD was on PSF. Mixing reeds, guitar and electronics ala Borbetomagus, this CD "...suggests more of an affinity with Stockhausen than with the minimally-interventionist chance methodology of fellow Jap noise troupes such as Merzbow and Hijokaidan," according to the Wire.

XII GHOSTS: The Giganti Reptilius Destructro Beam CD (SCA 04). $17.00

The 13 Ghosts are a UK improv duo made of Alex Ward (cl, as, vocals, piano) and Switch (electronics, vocals), with a bunch of guests on guitars, reeds, percussion, etc. (including Pat Thomas). This features 46 tracks over 80 minutes, somehow dedicating itself to Chuck Dukowski and Greg Ginn! Incus-style free-form damage mixed with intense noise blemishes, this is a fairly indescribable blast of screwery.

SCENESCOF:

JONES, WIZZ: Dazzling Stranger CD (SCOF 1001). $14.00

First ever US release by a great, but still heavily obscured British folk legend. "The roots of the English folk scene are traceable to a few remarkable individuals. Paramount amongst them is Wizz Jones. Ask the greats of England's second generation of folk players to name the people who opened their eyes, and Wizz's name appears frequently. Bert Jansch says, 'I think he's the most underrated guitarist, ever.' 'We all used to follow Wizz around,' says John Renbourn. 'Him and Davey Graham. He's the great granddaddy, an excellent guitarist.'" Although he spent time busking in France with Clive Palmer in 1960, his solo recording career didn't fall into line until 1967 or so, recording a dozen or so LPs, many of which were only issued on small German labels. Dazzling Stranger is a mostly solo recording of guitar and vocals, including new songs as well as new recordings of material he's recorded previously. The enclosed booklet includes a complete discography, liner notes, etc.

TILSTON, STEVE: An Acoustic Confusion CD (SCOF 1002). $14.00

"Here is the first-ever reissue of the 1971 debut album by the very fine British acoustic guitarist and songwriter Steve Tilston. The album includes solo guitar and vocal tracks, as well as group performances with The Village Thing labelmates Dave Evans and others. One can hear in this unique and original early work — much more clearly than in his later recordings — the echoes of Steve Tilston's mentors and contemporaries Bert Jansch, Wizz Jones, Nick Drake, Davey Graham, Donovan and many others. This release of An Acoustic Confusion is intended to bring this long lost album from undeserved obscurity to be appropriately recognized as an important piece of Britain's folk tapestry."

CHRISTOPHER: What'cha Gonna Do? CD (SCOF 1003). $14.00

"The official and first-ever CD reissue of the legendary USA 1969 Psych LP by Christopher. 30th anniversary release of one of the absolute rarest American privately pressed hard psychedelic rock LPs of the 60s. An enduring work of stunning proportion, all the more amazing for having come out of the Carolinas at the time. All originals, high quality material, extended jamming, lysergic lyrics, effects, some fine vocal harmonies, and musically transporting, gutsy, creative heavy guitar work. Acid rock mixed with acid blues, and lovely melodic rock songs, at times reminiscent of Corpus, Moving Sidewalks, Quicksilver, American Blues Exchange, Dragonfly, Litter (circa Emerge), Love, Tripsichord, and many others. Had it been a major label release it would have been a staple in every hippie's ear diet. [NOTICE: this is NOT the S/T LP by the other Christopher on Metromedia]."

TUDOR LODGE: It All Comes Back CD (SCOF 1005). $14.00

"Freed from the archives of oblivion, this is progressive British folk that transports the listener back down the hippie trail to Morocco and forward into an eternal present of beautiful vocal harmony and textured guitar tones. A collection of 1970-1997 previously unissued recordings & a rare non-LP B-side (from their 1971 Vertigo LP sessions). Featured musicians include Tudor Lodge members John Stannard, Lyndon Greene, Ann Steuart, Linda Thompson (née Peters), Lynne Whiteland, joined on some tracks by Danny Thompson, Terry Cox, Joe Partridge, Mike Silver and others."

JONES, WIZZ: Magical Flight CD (SCOF 1006). $14.00

"The re-emergence of an integral piece of British folk history to the listening racks of the world. First-ever CD release, from crystalline master tapes of astonishing recording and musical quality. 1977 Plant Life label album by Wizz Jones, one of the definitive acoustic guitarists of the UK folk scene for the past forty years. Backed by a fine band on most tracks: Pete Berryman (Famous Jug Band lead guitarist), Sandy Spencer (from Lazy Farmer), Steele Span members Rick Kemp & Nigel Pegrum and others. All the qualities of the best of Wizz Jones' work are represented here in full glory, the magical crossover material that takes him into the ears of so many lovers of acid folk, to the Americanized folk and blues that created an early foundation of influences for Wizz, Bert Jansch, Davey Graham and so many of the British guitarists of their generation."

THE SUN ALSO RISES: CD (SCOF 1007). $14.00

"First ever reissue of a lovely sought-after 1970 British acid folk rarity from the Village Thing label master tapes of their only album. The Sun Also Rises were a mystical, magical hippie female and male folk duo, Graham and Anne Hemingway from Cardiff, playing guitars, dulcimer, glockenspiel, vibes, bells, kazoo, percussion and other instruments, joined by label-mate John Turner on string bass. Very much in the creative style and delivery of the Incredible String Band, with many similarities to Dr. Strangely Strange, COB, Comus, Comus, Forest, and Tir Na Nog. Songs of wizards, dragons, death, love, dreams and suicide; tripped-out, spellbinding, esoteric folk collages."

THOMPSON, CHRIS: Chris Thompson CD (SCOF 1008). $14.50

"The complete self-titled 1973 Village Thing label album (recorded 1971-73) from master tapes with six bonus tracks. Shimmering, hypnotic, flowing, psych-tinged, original acoustic folk guitar and vocal. An album of English-style acoustic folk guitar backed by Magic Carpet members providing an strong Eastern influence — (Keshav Sathe - tabla & tamboura, and Clem Alford - tamboura & sitar). Also one cut with Ed Deane (Woods Band guitarist), and other friends. While Chris' album was one of the most unique, captivating and mysterious psych-tinged folk guitar gems the label released, it had the dubious distinction of being by far their worst selling LP. Sales figures reached an unbelievably low grand total of only 101 copies sold by the time of the label's demise! (due to the label's financial and distribution problems at the time of release). He still performs and records today, but the release of these early recordings is a window into time gone by, evoking both a spatial and temporal quality that contemporary music oft seeks to emulate or revive, but will not come our way again."

JONES, WIZZ: Lucky The Man CD (SCOF 1009). $14.50

"A new studio album from one of the cornerstones of England's contemporary acoustic folk and folk blues guitar scene. A year in the making! Joined by various musical companions on a number of the tracks: John Renbourn (guitar, ex-Pentangle), Jacqui McShee (vocals, Pentangle), Clive Palmer (banjo, Incredible String Band, COB, Famous Jug Band), Gerry Conway (drums, percussion, Fairport Convention, Fotheringay and too many others to mention!), Bernd Rust (guitar, Rosie Brown), Martin Wheatley (National Tricone tenor guitar & ukelele, Hula Bluebirds), Simeon Jones (harmonica, sax one cut, played with Lazy Farmer and others), Gary Ricard (guitar, Balham Alligators). The album contains songs representing Wizz' definitive original guitar techniques (as on his rendition of 'Weeping Willow Blues'). Splendid guitar interaction with John Renbourn on a fine acoustic version of Cannonball Adderley's 'Sermonette'. A beautifully arranged version of 'Omie Wise' with both John Renbourn and Jacqui McShee, which smacks of Pentangle with Jacqui and Wizz' voices blending nicely. The album brings back Wizz and Clive Palmer playing together on a couple of songs, including the stunning and hypnotic 'Paris' (on which they both play banjo), appropriate, as they busked together in Paris streets over 40 years ago. Still traversing the landscape he helped to pioneer in England — folk, American blues, cowboy songs, jazz, the English tradition, broken hearts, and something entirely unique, THIS is Wizz Jones, in superb voice and guitar playing form."

JONES, WIZZ: Lucky The Man LP (SCOF 1009 LP). $17.00

LP edition limited to 800 numbered copies.

SCHEINSELBSTÄNDIG (GERMANY):

BAXENDALE: Your Body Needs My Sugar 12" (SST 004 EP). $9.00

"Scheinselbständig, charming minimal-pop-house label based in Cologne (and situated right in-between Parfüm and Onitor) come up with their fourth release. Thus, Scheinselbständig again reveal another new facet: pet shop boys-soundlike-madness-indie-pop. Other acts and their affirmative 80ies-hopping are but multi-regressive. Baxendale go way further and present their crystal-pearl-pop-dance-sound ascatchy as catch can. There is no space left for thoughts about serial houses, social democracy and similar dilute shit. This is existential, pushing forward right on to the nucleus of pop and nerd pride. This is not the new political mid. This is a flaming sword."

LUOMO: Waltz For Your Eyes 12" (SST 005 EP). $9.00

"Limited collectors item of this new Luomo tune with a lovely engraving on the flip."

REWORK: Montpellier 12" (SST 007). $9.00

"Here's another monster coming up: Rework's 'Montpellier'. The two Stuttgart based producers Michel Kuebler and Daniel Varga had themselves and their two vocalists shot straight into all our hearts with their club hit 'You're So Just Just' and their fantastic album Fall Right Now. You just can't keep yourself away from their pop house with that special French flair. 'Montpellier' takes their sound into a techno direction and really rocks. Whoever has seen Rework perform live knows what we are talking about. Though this 12" is that little bit more techno, drones and finally ends in a funny ironical way, 'Montpellier' still is the elegant pop we love them for. In short, there's a little love for everyone on the new Rework."

VA: Du bist die Stadt: Unter Dem Pflaster Der Strande CD (SST 008 CD). $18.00

Kompakt-distributed Cologne compilation of electronic music, featuring Reinhard Voigt, Thomas Brinkmann, Mathias Schaffhauser, etc. "The Strandbox has during the past one and a half years become a constant element in our cultural life here in Cologne which we don't want to miss at all. The Strandbox is the mobile bar: Always in movement; discovering new places for us; redefining old ones and not only leading us to newly awakened discussions on public space, but also, quite simply, to a diversified nightlife rich in happenings that we have always been looking for. Sometimes one even gets to visit places which one curses afterwards. Places with a negative, long-time resistant backlash. But we don't want to complain of dilemmas such as this which have nevertheless lead to a product as superb as this one." Artists: Brant, Tommy, Christian S., Reinhard Voigt, Lol-Lee Feat. Tweakin' B., Polarity,

Mathias Schaffhäuser, Bum Khun Cha Youth, Thomas Brinkmann, Slaves Of The Strandbox, Pal, Carlo Peters.

VA: Du bist die Stadt: Unter Dem Pflaster der Strände 2LP (SST 008 LP). $19.00
Double LP version.

BUM KHUN CHA YOUTH: Unendliche Freiheit 12" (SST 009EP). $10.00

"That's right. Bum Khun Cha Youth started in the mid 90ies as a kind of indie-rock outfit. The mission back in the days: kick ass out of all the boring folk bands between Frankfurt and Cologne (the hometown of the five band members) — which worked out perfectly. The first single was published on the toctronic-label Rock-O-Tronic. The second one on Ritchie Records. Both releases featured cover designs of Berlin's finest graphic girl Evelin Höhne. On the drums back in the days: Jens Friebe, currently on a big world tour with Berlin's Maximilian Hecker. After five years of indie-bohème-lifestyle and a lot of party excesses it is now time for the Bum Khun Cha Youth reload. Reduced to a duo with a lot of lofi-Pet-Shop-Boys-blood in their veins. New deals are here to make: the lyrics are quite sensitive, the sound is totally mind-weird. Bum Khun Cha Youth 2004 is turbo-hedonism. No time for minimal in this world — only the testosterone of these two androgyn alcoholics is minimal. Maximal are their hate feelings for the last Peter Licht record — cause: fun is easily possible for everyone, but style is quite hard to get these days. So: 'we're here to gay. Pardon: stay.'" 6 track EP.

DJ SHIRLEY: Exclusive & Famous 12" (SST 010EP). $9.00

"Bits/fragments/miniatures and weird moments from another reality. Art knows no limits and pop is fun — even this absurdity here."

SCHEMATIC:

TAKESHI MUTO: Expect More From A Past Life CD (SCH 001 CD). $13.00

"A compilation of mutoid waste from Miami's sunshine shoreline. Takeshi Muto's atomic beats may have more crackle than Geiger count at Sellafield's ground zero, yet they're propelled by an automation that retains vestigial visions of electro, disco, and hip hop. Takeshi aka Schematic supremo and Phoenecia member Romulo Del Castillo subjects these street signals to immense studio pressure, grinding and grating them into brittle staccato sequences that crack up under stylus scrutiny, leaving your ears to pick up the pieces." — Sleaze Nation Magazine. Ten songs previously unreleased on compact disc. Art by Designers Republic.

JESWA: Skone 12" (SCH 004). $7.00

Reissue of this long unavailable 12" EP, originally released in March of 97. Packaged in the new Designers Republic "blueprint" generic sleeve. "Although Schematic's first two releases were found by many to compare a little to favorably to U.K. IDM-founts like Autechre and the Black Dog, Jeswa's debut for the label remains on the respectable end of influence, integrating the odd rhythms and quirky percussion of those groups with a greasy, head-bucking funk decidedly American in origin. A four-tracker laboring for the most part in mid-to-downtempo electro territory, Jeswa also draws liberally from early bleep techno and the cinematic cartoon electronica of Mouse on Mars and Atom Heart." — Sean Cooper.

DEVINE, RICHARD COLEMAN: 12" (SCH 005). $7.00

"Originally released in March of 98, containing six vociferous songs displaying Devine's earlier musical concepts. Lush, ethereal melodies combined his own machine noises, and violently groovy beats, a paradox greatly explored by Devine. Known for the song with the modified Speak O'En' Spell. Only for the headstrong. Packaged in the nighttime Designers Republic generic sleeve.

VA: Ischemic Folks CD (SCH 011 CD). $13.00

Repress now available. "The Schematic music company proudly presents a variety pack entitled Ischemic Folks in the compact disc format. Features multiple compositions by Phoenecia a.k.a. Soul Oddity (Warp/Astralwerks), Richard Devine a.k.a. Trapezoid (Dropbass Network, Communique), Jeswa (1/2 Phoenecian warrior), Push Button Objects (Skam/Chocolate Industries), new tricks by Gliese and special honored guest, Montreal composer David Kristian. This compilation defines the Schematic sound that has caught the hearts and minds of beautiful people everywhere." A mesmerizing, defining compilation that could have the same impact in the US as Artificial Intelligence did in the jolly ol' UK. It's that heavy duty in statement of intent. Totally appropriate Designers Republic graphic representation tops it off.

VA: Ischemic Folks 2LP (SCH 011 LP). $13.00

Repress now available; this new edition adds an inserted full color poster of the awesome cover Designers Republic artwork! "The Schematic music company proudly presents a variety pack entitled Ischemic Folks. Features multiple compositions by Phoenecia a.k.a. Soul Oddity (Warp/Astralwerks), Richard Devine a.k.a. Trapezoid (Dropbass Network, Communique), Jeswa (1/2 Phoenecian warrior), Push Button Objects (Skam/Chocolate Industries), new tricks by Gliese and special honored guest, Montreal composer David Kristian. This compilation defines the Schematic sound that has caught the hearts and minds of beautiful people everywhere." A mesmerizing, defining compilation that could have the same impact in the US as Artificial Intelligence did in the jolly ol' UK. It's that heavy duty in statement of intent. Totally appropriate Designers Republic graphic representation tops it off.

VA: Lily Of The Valley CD (SCH 012 CD). $13.00

The second Schematic label compilation, following the genre-defining Ischemic Folks. "The Schematic Music Company would like to take you for a little while. Lily of the Valley is, in concept, all about love. All that was presented to it's contributors was to capture their own interpretation of love. From this concept, came ideas, from those ideas came sounds, from those sounds: compositions, and eventually a record. And it is a record, an account, if you will, of several encounters and visitations with the lily of the valley. Please experience this record in any manner you see fit, but know this: It is no longer a concept, it is now a place. Let us take you there. Here is the map: Richard Devine creates a frantic vision of love, taking his listeners to new emotional crevices previously unexplored by the human ear. This song transports you from the field where the Ischemic Folks live to the Valley of the Lily. 'Yamuna' takes you to the land of Phoenecia. You will travel everywhere you have been or will be, from Japanese gardens and Egyptian deserts to inner worlds as yet undiscovered. Delarosa and Asora are playing music somewhere in Saigon. There is jazz and there are alleys and voices. Writers are smoking and children are coughing. Are you in love or do you just have an itch? Takeshi Muto (50% of Phoenecia) is beating something and it's love, 'Rotea' — style. Phoenecia decode a message from Jake Mandell, entitled 'Untitled 27'. Can you guess what it says? Jeswa (50% of Phoenecia) meets Brazilian composer Heitor Villa-Lobos in a dream. Over a glass of purple cognac, Jeswa speaks of the new developments in music since Heitor's death. Filled with new visions of light-emitting diodes and laptop sequence composers, Villa-Lobos directs Jeswa to re-arrange his 'Poema Singelo'. Delarosa and Asora sample skateboards and create Lily's Theme. They have extracted all the love from their 3 recent Schematic EPs and formed a new bieng out of them. It breathes. It is talking to you. Disjecta takes Phoenecia's track 'Monday' out for a romantic walk in the park. They watch the insects and pick those little flowers that weeds make. The flowers have no thorns, and these insects won't bite you. 09 shares with everyone his most incredible 'Seven Milliseconds'. This is Jesse Legg, he wants to touch you. Gliese is in a post-coital haze. All he can manage to mutter is 'Bgah'. Takeshi Muto returns with his transportive 'Muto Love'. It is the lockgroove that will make you move, and then make your mind loop as you come back to earth, or off to sleep...or wherever you return to. Stop. Select Repeat: All. Play. Come again soon. Love, The Schematic Music Company."

DELAROSA AND ASORA: Backsome CD (SCH 013 CD). $11.00

Delarosa And Asora is Scott Herren, otherwise known as Prefuse 73 (Warp) and Savath & Savalas (Hefty). Luxurious sleeve artwork By Designer's Republic. A22 minute EP leading up to the Agony full length (thematically linked, but no musical overlap between these 2 releases). "There are a handful of artists in nearly every genre who create art that is dismissed when it first reaches the public because it is either out of vogue, too strange, or cannot be comprehended within the framework of that which surrounds it. In other words, its importance and significance can only be understood retroactively, meaning that it set the stage for a 'new wave' that had yet to break but this 'new wave' could only be understood once others joined its ranks. That is where Delarosa & Asora's Backsome EP must be located. Quite simply, it arrived too early to be absorbed and understood. This is astonishing to consider that this prescient EP, thankfully released by Delarosa & Asora (AKA Scott Herren, otherwise known as Prefuse 73 and Savath & Savalas) sounds as if it could have been recorded last week. Herren's ability to create towering sound sculptures with impossibly limited equipment is inspirational. Long before the present trend in 'electronic music' in which hip-hop and jazz were incorporated into the fabric of the music, Herren was creating these pieces in isolation in Atlanta. There are so few electronic musicians on the same historical wavelength: Carl Craig and Kirk DeGiorgio are the only two ones I can think of. And Scott Herren certainly should be mentioned in the same breath. Without a hint of contrivance, the Delarosa & Asora material brings together the spirit of Herbie Hancock and The Headhunters' finest moments, a leap into an ocean of rolling basslines, and tricky live percussion. Many thought that Herren's Savath & Savalas' Folk Songs for Trains, Trees, and Honey EP on the Hefty (licensed to Warp for Europe) was an electronic record, yet every track was made with live instruments. The Backsome EP again demonstrates that, like Richard Devine, Scott Herren is a composer of extraordinary skill, whose dexterity around both live and electronic instruments is a rare combination of skill and innovation." — Tim Haslett.

DEVINE, RICHARD: Lipswitch CD (SCH 015 CD). $12.00

The long awaited Richard Devine release on Schematic (licensed to Warp for Europe)!. "This is Lipswitch, directed by Richard Devine. Once a daring skater kid from Atlanta, now a computer science student/pioneer-to-be, Devine found electronic music and has reinvented it in his own way. In the latter part of his 25 years, he learned to build, manipulate, and master the machines of modern music. In the process, he has refined himself with the affiliation of some of today's more respected musical establishments. This year he worked with director Kyle Cooper on a Disney film project, remixed Aphex Twin, Matthew Herbert, Slicker, and Phoenecia to only name a few. He masterfully orchestrates a titanic array of rapidly moving information, cleverly channeling it into an organized stream of sound. There are seemingly endless layers of rhythms, spanning every notch of frequency, spiraling around one another like complex DNA strands hinged together in a grid-like lattice. Never competing, never repeating the same phrase. The result is amazement, awe. The human mind can only process so much information at one time. Devine knows this well, it is one of his sonic weapons. It is a lot like optic art, when the eyes are fed too much data and the overload produces a prismatic, entrancing effect. 'Entrancing' is not the word you would think to apply towards music whose elements rarely repeat themselves, but the groove is there, like a strange, mechanical funk music, and everything else revolves around it. Like a million minuscule sounds, obediently marching to the cadence of a heavy step. The music is in the beat itself. It is "funk for robots", a broken and restructured music. Mathematically reconstructed with futuristic tools, conceived by a highly evolved mind. For this, Richard Devine has become something of a hero to the overqualified working underclass, because he shows us a glimpse of a world where those with technological skills rule."

DEVINE, RICHARD: Lipswitch 2LP (SCH 015 LP). $12.00

Double 12" version in die-cut sleeve. With 10 bonus locked-grooves not found on the UK version.

VA: House Of Distraction CD (SCH 016 CD). $13.00

Featuring: Delarosa & Asora, Jake Mandell, Freeform, Push Button Objects, Takeshi Muto, Matmos, Otto von Shirach, Richard Devine, Mannequin Lung, Phoenecia, Radio Boy & Dino Felipe. "Schematic has invited some other folks to come join them on another field trip. Schematic's first compilation, Ischemic Strokes, was based around the concept of Schematic artists remixing one another. Ischemic Folks, the second compilation, was based around the artists showing their diversity and individuality — what it was that defined them as separate folks. House of Distraction is subtitled "Different Strokes, Distant Folks". It is a continuation of the Ischemic concept. Dino Felipe is the 4-track maestro from Miami. Little earthy songs sprout from him like Hedges. Here is the drumroll that introduces the album. Delarosa & Asora (Prefuse73 on Warp/ Savath and Savalas on Hefty) takes us on a speedy bicycle ride through his Paper Rout. He pauses for a pit stop and a heavy thought catches up with him. Jake Mandell revisits Japan in the pentatonic climbs of Nihon Sanzen. Freeform's reworking of Takeshi's 'Mud Dauber' is more of an adaptation than a remix. He takes the beat original and expands on it as Herbie Hancock might. Groove guides the instruments along until they take on the form of a giant many-headed monster. Push Button Objects adds a catchy, sentimental melody and an Adonis style bassline to Takeshi's 'Gutta Percha'. It is reminiscent of his groundbreaking Cash EP on Schematic. Freebloss finds Takeshi Muto parading through Disney World naked. Matmos infects Devine's surgical steel. It retains Devine's sonic integrity while adding a cough and some creeping soul. Otto Von Schirach's first opera is track 8. Mr.Magnesium falls in love with an android he noisily builds from technical relics in a junkyard. Complete with a love scene in the middle. Bring oil. Jake Mandell plays with Devine's balls until he gets them in the right order. With his mathematical precision, he lines the balls up to bump and bounce until they explode. o9 can't contain himself. Listening to 'Happy Bot' is like jumping through walls from an echoing back alley to the porch of a jug band to the cockpit of a spacecraft. Touching, clever, and deep, as always. More healing aural ointment from Jesse Legg. Key Angler provides a much needed rest in the pace of Distraction and in Devine's work in general. Although machine-like and robotic as ever, it is chilled, bubbly, and smooth as a glass of champagne. Mannequin Lung has Tea with Jeswa. Over a warm cup, they relax and soak up the glowing rays. The inventor of Plug Research puts a West Coast perspective into the mixture. Phoenecia reclaims 'Phase Inv.2' and plants a flag firmly in it's center. Pure cinematic science fiction with an ever-changing, mathematical groove. Radio Boy (a.k.a.Matthew Herbert, Dr.Rockit, Wishmountain) takes Richard Devine to the gym for a workout that is anything but rude. Of all the attempts on this album to remix Devine, it takes the least amount of influence from him. Guitars and whistles decorate the gentle groove beneath. One of 5 mixes (the others will appear on a limited 10" ), this is the most whimsical and different of all the songs. Richard Devine's Fovec Frame is a shadowy theatrical dream where electric turtles fitted with music boxes and rhythm makers, circle you whispering softly 'sleep now, the CD is over.'"

VA: House Of Distraction 2LP (SCH 016 LP). $13.00

Double vinyl version in full color sleeve.

VON SCHIRACH, OTTO: 8000 B.C. CD (SCH 017 CD). $13.00

PHOENECIA: Brownout CD (SCH 018 CD). $13.00

Long awaited full length from the Miami duo of Josh Kay and Romulo Del Castillo (previous EPs on Warp & Schematic). "It's a long-held belief that all music emanating from Miami can, sooner or later, be reduced to a simple connection with early 2 Live Crew, MC Ade, Pretty Tony, Dynamix II, and other pioneering Bass artists. There is nothing wrong with the comparison. Those prescient records made possible a generation of electronic music. However, the anxiety of influence often leads to such hasty and over-simplified conclusions. Which means that a great many people who hear Phoenecia's Brownout album are going to be puzzled. Obviously the title refers to a period when power stations reach a period of critical demand and electrical devices run at a slower rate and street lights covering the Southern Florida freeways are lit by what look like 40-watt bulbs. The record's name is telling, because it is Phoenecia's decisive break with their past. And that can be heard in the slow, contemplative way in which the record moves, almost as if it were being powered by a 40-watt generator itself. And, most surprisingly, the textures and shapes of Brownout have a far greater affinity for classic 70s roots dub than with the Roland Corporation's range of standard techno equipment, the 303, 606, 808, and 909. But that dub influence is immensely subtle. It's not of the Chain Reaction / Maurizio / Pole variety. Jazz drummer Max Roach once asked whether the beat lies in the drum strikes or between them. This album is an electronic dub record where the dub implements are put to use in between the beat. They slip into the cracks, peer around, then disappear again. References to and the sounds of the sea in Western art go at least as far back as Heraclitus, but here the listener gets a keen sense of slowly moving towards the ocean floor on the Mariana trench, the deepest part of the Atlantic Ocean. The metallic baffles sound like a submarine emitting a faint sonar pulse at 200 fathoms and the yawning gaps suggest a depthlessness that is almost inhuman. But this is not cold, lifeless, machine music. It draws the listener into a vast sound chamber where certain features remain constant, but others are restlessly shifting and squirming, like sea creatures. Brownout is, without doubt, Phoenecia's magnum opus, the place where the ideas found in the preceding records are allowed to come to full fruition." ? Tim Haslett

VON SCHIRACH, OTTO: Escalo Frio CD (SCH 020 CD). $13.00

The 2nd full length Otto Von Schirach album, following up his devastating 2001 release, 8000 B.C.. Featuring guest appearances from Matmos, Dr. Flamenco, Takeshi Muto, Jeswa, Mr. Egyptian hologram, Queeph Brotherhood & Mr. Soundwave. "The day Otto moved in, I was a little concerned. We had no spare rooms, only two couches in our modest downstairs living room - a room hardly fit for living in. When he pulled into the parking lot, his clunking '67 comet was filled with eyes and colorful faces, like the circus car that spews out an endless stream of clowns. Some of the faces were clowns, some were robots, there was an ET, a Transformer or two, scores of Smurfs, a Hellraiser Pin-head, a modified Pillsbury dough-boy, and about three hundred other odd characters. One by one, they came inside to live. We already had a junglist living in the master bedroom, and now it was sure to get mad. Otto's ritual began. Every day he would wake up at two or three in the afternoon, get in his car and clunk away into the river of cars on the way to his Grandmother's house. There he would do odd jobs and run errands, and in return he would leave with a large coveted pot of his Grandmothers magic black bean concoction, worth more than any salary. On his way home, he would stop make a few drop-offs to various delinquents and mutants around the city. This was very stressful to him, but upon returning, suite d256 was quiet. I was usually the only one awake, quietly clicking my mouse, illuminated by the glow of a liquid crystal display in the upstairs studio. I would come down from time to time to get a bowl of rice or make some tea, and there, in the near darkness he would be, staring profoundly into the two inch green window of his drum machine, like a peeping tom looking through his favorite keyhole. His headphones would chatter, slurp, and giggle on his head like Jabba the Hut's little pet (I think they made sounds without even being plugged in). We would listen to each other's songs in mutual amazement. Inspiration would draw us back to work, new ideas forming as we went off to our separate screens. Around the time I'd tuck myself in, I would hear Otto's car starting, clamorous as a rusted shipyard boat, and again he would sail off, just hours before the sun would arc around the Atlantic curve to scorch the land. This time he was off to rehearse with his band, appropriately named Insectdezyde Juice. I never heard them play or saw where they practiced, but at that hour I imagine it was pretty grim. I suppose it was pretty exhausting, because when I would arise, he was always there, comatose on the couch in the broad daylight. Those of us who were awake would play music, talk, and eat in that, the "living" room, providing the subliminal soundtrack to Otto's dreams. Deep inside, dreams filled his head with sleepwalking burnt smurfs, competing plant couriers tailgating close behind, magic microphones jumping like fleas, eluding his grasp, while Phoenecian Warriors wandered through lost Incan cities in search of secret frequencies. The black bean potion churned deep inside of his sleeping body, changing him. Across town, his grandmother is stirring a bubbling pot. For a moment she pauses, looks up above the rising steam, and smiles. -? Joshua Kay

VON SCHIRACH, OTTO: Escalo Frio 2LP (SCH 020 LP). $13.00

Double LP version.

PHOENECIA: Odd Job Discrimination CD (SCH 021 CD). $11.00

New 'Odd Job' remix project, featuring remixes by Matmos, Adult, Dino Felipe, Prefuse 73, Otto Von Schirach and Jeswa. "'Odd Job' made it's way back to Japan, the land that brought it's circuits to life. It was with great honor that the Schematic scientists agreed to share it's formula with the people of the rising sun. It's legend was great, and their ancestors loved and feared it equally. From it's conception, Odd Job Discrimination was intended to be exclusively released in Japan with additional reports of research. PhoeneciaTM the secret inventors of 'Odd Job' were nowhere to be found. Report: Where is Phoenecia? Do they exist, or are they as arcane as their ancient namesakes? If they do exist, they maintain a peripheral, even hypothetical existence. Pictures of them exist and their names appear on many recordings, but each song, each reworking sounds so vastly different from one to the other. Not only does their formula change from one to the next, but so does the sound of the recording, as if it were made by separate entities under the guise of group. One could manage to release anonymous recordings with their name on them, but why? Is it a hoax? In their place stands their army, a team of specialists. Matmos, the medics, specialize in microchip implantation and cybernetic limb attachment. Their report 'The climactic battle scene between Rom and Josh' catalogs the last time Phoenecia were seen before their disappearance. Adult, the husband and wife assassin team offers a stern warning about their rhythm black box. With their go-go rapid-fire electrocution techniques, they manage to be both Adult-like And childish at the same time. Dino Felipe's examination proves that he's been isolated for too long. His theory is that Phoenecia are in an elevator somewhere in Atlanta (Atlantis?). We pray that he's wrong. Prefuse 73 is the cook. He reanalyzes the formula for 'Odd Job', noodles it up, and serves us his simple, but effective recipe. Budget gourmet, exquisite flavor at a nice price. Otto Von Schirach is the recon agent. His job is to steal the original formula and replace it with the reworked prototype. "Tre duce ave. smash and grab" is the gripping tale of how he did it. From the sound of it, he had to break a few windows and a few necks. Finally, with a soft, deep voice, team leader Jeswa (rumored to be Phoenecian) submits his sweet, short, and final report. Odd Job Discrimination has been delivered, and once again Phoenecia eludes us. These additions make it 13 reworkings of the yet to be seen 'original' version of 'Odd Job'. Other accounts were issued by Soul Oddity (last seen with Phoenecia), Autechre, Richard Devine, Push Button Objects, Ectomorph and Godfather, and Takeshi Muto (also rumored to be Phoenecian). If Phoenecia is a disappearing act, then Odd Job Discrimination is their greatest feat yet. Will they ever come to the surface? Will Japan make peaceful use of their new technology? Will the cloned cows revolt? Stay tuned to find out..."

VON SCHIRACH, OTTO: Boombonic Plague: Chopped Zombie Fungus Vol. 1 12" (SCH 022 EP). $7.00

"On the way home from a mini-tour of the west coast Otto Von Schirach crashed his land craft and broke both of his legs badly. Special doctors were called in. They disassembled and rebuilt him; installed titanium, screws, cables, and microchips. He woke up not knowing his name. He sat in a white room in wheelchair for 6 months feeding on nothing but painkillers and new music. A new Otto emerged. More aware, more polished, more robotic. Boombonic Plague is chock full of pop-music. Mutated, vaguely familiar voices litter the beats asking 'do you really want it?', commanding 'shake that ass bitch and let me see what you got', and boasting 'boom i got your girlfriend' like a Brittney Spears collage on a serial killer's wall. Okay, so it's not pop music... It is hip-hop, or more appropriately, sitar-funk-hop. It is electro booty from the Miami side. It is drill (or some other power tool) and bass. It is shifted hardcore. It is junkyard broken (leg) beats. Otto says it's IDM. We don't know what to call it, but we like it and we think you'll dig it too. As the title implies, Boombonic Plague is the first installment in the Chopped Zombie Fungus Trilogy. It will be genetically spliced with the two following volumes — Pelican Moon Dance and Ear Juice Synthesis to form one Chopped Zombie Fungus compact disc for your listening pleasure. Until then, enjoy this introduction to the new(ly reconstructed) Otto."

FELIPE, DINO: Dino Felipe As Flim Toby CD (SCH 024 CD). $13.00

"Questions? Who is Dino Felipe? That question is easily answered. He's a 23 year old artist straddling the latitudinal stretch between Miami and Atlanta (home of other Schematic artists Richard Devine and Delarosa and Asora). No mystery in that? The real question is — Who is Flim Toby? Flim Toby first appeared on a cassette released by the American Tapes label in 2001. The cassette was a recording of tape music, 4-track collages, and toy compositions created by one Dino Felipe Delavega. Flim Toby is a film. A 'scrambled up film in the shape of a person', to be exact. His whole life is displayed in the pictures on the surface of his skin, so he has nothing to hide. Nor does he have anything to say, it's all evident — sort of an overstated interpretation of the life of an artist. During the recording of Flim Toby, Dino Felipe was 'obsessed with nature, life, and organisms', so he crafted collages out of untouched 'pictures' of sound. Samples of everything that touched him went into the mixture, from his neighborhood feathered friends, to archived childhood recordings, constructed by an expert machine operator and rythmatist, with the natural, unscopated touch of a free jazz musician. Does all this sound familiar? Flim Toby doesn't unless you're Dino. It is his life in pictures and sound, though you may feel as if some of his memories are yours. You may see yourself in the pictures that Flim Toby is comprised of. If you do, then you just might have a new friend and a new soundtrack for a while. Beats? Yes. Music? Yes, a lot of that. Noise? Yes, that too. Intense? Sometimes. Mellow? Sometimes. Soulful? Definitely. Schematic? Definitely."

VA: Well-Suited For General-Purpose Audio Work CD (SCH 025 CD). $13.00

Thirteen tracks, featuring the following artists: Tipper (Phoenecia remix), Otto Von Schirach, Dino Felipe, Kiyo, Phoenecia, Richard Devine, Canibal A.fraux. The Schematic crew returns once more with its fourth compilation of brain-straddling aural tanglements that realign your eardrums for this third modern millennium. Following ace products like Ischemic Folks, Lily of the Valley and House of Distraction, the Miami funkonauts reveal 13 more salvos of digital composition sure to set your stereo on its side. Along with the spiny, cryptic soundz of hardened Schematic vets like Otto Von Schirach and Richard Devine, we're introduced to new ischemic émigré Kiyo, whose Jay Dee vs. Cornelius Cardew cage-match crumbles expectations. Newest Schematic progeny Dino Felipe contributes 3 tracks of jewelry-box ambience and whipsnap beats. Label founders Phoenecia return from space exploration and divulge what they found: a breed of arachnids that trap tribal acoustics in their webbings. Unreal. Well-Suited furthers the phaser-enabled laptop kaleidoscope that is Schematic. Beats shatter like junkyard windshields, soundscapes are manicured with schizzors, tonal patterns toppled. The art-enhanced beats of Miami's maniacs belongs on the gallery of your mind before relinquished to electronica history. Start your installation today.

VA: Well-Suited For General-Purpose Audio Work 2LP (SCH 025 LP). $13.00

Double vinyl version, featuring the same 13 tracks as the CD. Including the following artists: Tipper (Phoenecia remix), Otto Von Schirach, Dino Felipe, Kiyo, Phoenecia, Richard Devine, Canibal A:fraux.

DOS TRACKS: : 2LP (SCH 026 LP). $14.00

Double-vinyl-only reissue of the now o/p Rather Interesting CD release. "As the name suggests, Dos Tracks : ) seems to be dealing with the concept of 'tracks'. Simplicity is the key, as a DOS computer would only be capable of in today's home supercomputer driven world. Each song sounds as if it is constructed of two (dos) tracks, that is, two distinct lines of rhythm and only Schmidt can achieve 'music' through such minimalism and make a statement at the same time. Dos Tracks : ) is sort of coming back to this musical theme for a last time before leaving the 90's. This album is a masterful interpretation of the soon to be obsolete machines this era represented by Schmidt in the form of digital pureness with a heavy glitch factor. Influenced by the internet, ASCII art, machine interfaces and various other 'end of 90's technology' artifacts and philosophies, this product stands out in it's unique structure and sound. From the monochrome 'Asciied' to clustered titles such as '1E.wav' and 'www.pringles.com', Dos Tracks : ) shows us the cool face of Atom Heart. You won't hear a single melody, no vocals, no emotions, no cheesiness and no humour on this album. Just pure binary neo-minimalism. Previously released only on compact disc through Atom Heart's Rather Interesting label, Schematic proudly presents Dos Tracks : ) on double vinyl because of it's inherent grooviness. Enjoy and destroy :?"

VON SCHIRACH, OTTO: Pelican Moondance 12" (SCH 027). $7.00

"Aside from Richard Devine and Phoenecia, no one embodies the Schematic sound like Miami-based Otto Von Schirach. On Pelican Moondance, the second installment in the Chopped Zombie Fungus trilogy, Schirach flashes his blades and edits techno to pieces, only to sew them back together into a beastly music. Comparable to the freakish soundtracks of Bernard Hermann or Tom Waits circa Swordfishtrombones, but refreshed an modernized to the hilt, the title track kicks it off. Schirach has cold-cocked his Powerbook, and it has mutated to produce a tempestuous, vipersine music. Like in 'Four Months, Four Walls' composed during his hospitalization, wherein you're suddenly deep in a spacious canyon. You notice the bass spreading all around your living room like space-fuzz, a low-end, warmly disruptive sonic buzz. Classic Schirach. Less spaztic than some copy-cat abstract beat projects, Chopped Zombie Fungus is compositional, like the tunneling soundtracks of the RZA or the sample arrangement from DJ Shadow. But Otto is not here to party — his villainous, deadly beats have more in common with El-P than Cut Chemist. Like others on Schematic, Schirach has the whole sonic spectrum at his command. Deep bass and sinewave shards can be had in seconds, then hammered into foundational beats, sped up so fast they start to frey, or slowed down so they start to shrink. This is past Squarepusher, past IDM and into the sedimental, the fantastic. You might say he's ready to blow up, but Schirach prefers to conquer. Surrender while you still can."

FELIPE, DINO: Xanaconvex CD (SCH 028 CD). $12.00

New mid-sized followup to the debut Dino Felipe As Fliim Toby. "We feel that Xanaconvex and is best (and inadvertently) described by a dream Dino had prior to the record's release. This morning I was dreaming a three dimensional collage composed of very sexy body parts and pieces of sound that were all melded together in the air and on the floor. The 'song' was based on the breathing sounds and sighs emitted from the body parts. All the sounds and shapes were different colors, all of them translucent, overlapping, converging, and receding. They were all live, organic performers and every once in a while I would shift to audio "mode" and the sexy image would switch to song. I would edit, mold, and fade the shapes by moving them around with my hands. I would arrange an elbow, move a shoulder, or shine a hip trying to perfect the collage, then I would stand back and say 'Wow, that's hot!' When I really liked it I would 'save' it, as if I were composing it on my PC, then go back to refine it. I knew I was dreaming, because part of my motivation for saving the collage was to show it to my friends in the 'real' world.' Befriend Dino Felipe and enjoy Xanaconvex today."

FELIPE, DINO: Xanaconvex LP (SCH 028 LP). $10.00
LP version.

FELIPE, DINO: Spreadder/Sprigg 7" (SCH 029). $4.00

"As much a collectible as a piece of sound-art, Dino Felipe's wonderful-looking new 7" is a roughshod electronic beat micropiece. Like a pool cue stubbing on felt, or flat rocks on a pond top, DeLaVega bounces beats, handclaps and looped cell rings off your inner ear and between your speakers. Always stonking, the beat encounters some pitch-up sinewaves and fluttering static as the track progresses, as if they were pink puffy horseflies. Lament and luscious. Then it's onto a short-circuit firecracker, scaly with noise. Sonic splatter drains from your tweeters, running into puddles onto the floor. Don't slip on this. The flipside puts you in the middle of the silicon circus, an organ-grinding bonk. A banging three-song slab designed to get your attention and lock it under a heart-shaped clasp, where it will glow warmly until you open it again. A lovely confection. Suck it and see." — David Day

VON SCHIRACH, OTTO: Chopped Zombie Fungus CD (SCH 031 CD). $13.00

"It has finally arrived. The new CD from the Dr. Moreau of beats, Otto Von Schirach. Chopped Zombie Fungus collects the three massive vinyl 12" EPs that have been storming headphones worldwide. 'Boombonic Plague', 'Pelican Moondance' and 'Earjuice Synthesis'. Twisted, sinister and as vicious as a wolverine, the Cuban-American Schirach decimates everything you know about Booty Bass, the Dirty South, IDM and Ghetto Tech, flattening their edifice and rebuilding with corrupt, artful even straight-up beastly replicants. Otto's laboratory is his laptop, where aural animals are spliced, recombined and mutated beyond recognition. You could imagine RZA taking Oxycotin, DJ Shadow in a K-Hole or Morton Subotnick conducting a gearhead orchestra. Like King Tubby, Schirach is a master of suspense. You're never quite sure when the train will switch tracks. Stonking, manic beat patterns might instantly disappear into an ambient fuzz, only to return moments later back-wards and stupefied. And Schirach's creative obsession is only topped by his technical detail. Bass tones crack foundations, arpeggios splinter ceiling tiles and busted-speaker beats will have you dashing to the hi-fi shop. Guest appearances from asthmatic MCs, ghoulish interludes and empty space turns Chopped Zombie Fungus into an experience through an electronic psychedelic underworld. Spindly snakes squirm from speakers. Collapsing corpuscular chords crunch cones. Twitching, twisted twirls tweak tweeters. Reinforce speaker stands before playing. Not to worry. Although under constant multilateral surveillance, Dr. Von Schirach has only the best interests of the human race at heart: to push all sonic boundaries to the edge, implode the funk and stand back while art splatters skulls. Hold onto something."

VELEZ, GLEN: Internal Combustion CD (SCH 033 CD). $13.00

"Schematic's reissue of Glen Velez's phenomenal hand-drum improvisation from 1985 acts as one of the essential links to an understanding of the relationship between modern electronic composition and prehistoric sound, wherein Internal Combustion finds Velez's intense, lifelong study of the frame drum — all his work for such artists as Steve Reich and Zakir Hussain, his decades of solo and ensemble recordings, his inspiration on, among others, John Cage — is displayed with a total mastery and utter oneness with his instrument, showering the listener with nimble, double, triple, all-finger rumble patterns on the drum, circular and mesmerizing in structure, and reminiscent of Moroccan slave songs, Indonesian ritual music, Native American trance, as much as the sooty percussive sound of Phoenecia or Autechre, exploring an intense, almost palatal clap to the drum, searching for an unconscious connection to the higher power, like speaking in tongues through the skin of a drum — a kind of incredible psychic ascension happens here, and it's a fitting tribute, not to mention an accurate lineage, to see Velez's ancient music has found a home at one of our most forward-thinking labels." — Lee Henderson, Feb. 2002.

FORTÉ, NICK: Pasted Lakes CD (SCH 034 CD). $13.00

"Nick Forté is from Brooklyn, but geographically speaking, his music falls somewhere between his living room (which he seemingly reconstructs in his visual design of Pasted Lakes) and Twin Peaks. He is half of the duo called Christmas Decorations whose recent album Model 91 on the Kranky label crept quietly into many charts and cd players late in 2002. Pasted Lakes is the remains of Nick's first foray into computer music, an album which may never see the light of day. From it's remains, he took scraps and reassembled them in an somewhat random manner, recycling and remodeling them until they bore no resemblance to their source and took on a form of their own. Forté used old punk and hardcore records like the first Wire album, early Minutemen records, and Renaldo and the Loaf as inspiration — but more as a guide than anything else. These albums did not lend influence sonically or musically at all, but towards pacing, structure, attitude, and sequencing. For Nick, these groups had really terse and impacting songs, and he wanted to apply these ideas to electronic music as much as possible. Musically, there was not much outside influence upon Pasted Lakes because he was heavily remixing himself, and 'really just trying to entertain myself at 3am by making new and strange sounds I had never heard'. Forté admits that if anything had an effect on his sound, it was his apartment. Hearing things like boiling water or rickety pipes and figuring out how to capture those ideas comes across in the record's faux yet life-like textural themes. In Nick's own words: 'The best music to me is dead serious but also really funny, so I started to go for that with Pasted Lakes.' The title of the record is more of a description of a style of song construction than anything, making finite pools of sound, and slapping them together with joyous reckless abandon. Cut, paste, listen, and save."

FORTÉ, NICK: Pasted Lakes LP (SCH 034 LP). $10.00
LP version.

KIYO: Chaotech Odd Echo CD (SCH 036 CD). $13.00

"A package arrived at the doorstep bearing the message 'Enjoy warm noise from Japan'. Contained within was the music of the newest addition to the Schematic family. Kiyo has arrived fully formed, after only one compilation track on Miami's Merck Records and two compilation tracks on Schematic's Well-Suited for General-Purpose Audio Work. Hailing from Japan, Kiyo is one Kiyoshi Ono and his debut album, Chaotech Odd Echo is a peaceful foray into the same territory as Schematic's celebrated Lilly Of the Valley, modernized with the same precision and angle that the label flaunts today. Chaotech is rare in that it achieves tranquility without the use of the somber and sedentary. Straddling the region between Takeshi Muto's rhythm experimentation, Delarosa & Asora's melodicism, and Dino Felipe's gritty interference, Chaotech Odd Echo will be a welcome addition to the collections of fans of the former, who are looking for a few more melodies, and for those who have been sidetracked by Schematic's recent venture into music for the severely distracted."

KIYO: Chaotech Odd Echo 2LP (SCH 036 LP). $13.00

2LP version, full color sleeve, same 12 tracks as the CD.

PHOENECIA: Odd Job 12" (SCH 808). $7.00

The original "Odd Job" from 1999, finally available again, once again packaged in the classic blue "wired steak" cover. The "Odd Job 12" is the latest addition to the Schematic product line. Rebuilt by Soul Oddity around the sophisticated Phoenecia version, this 12" combines power and rhythmic innovation to make any dancefloor compatible with the latest technology. The Odd Job 12" requires only a single expansion slot: your mind. It can be easily installed using ordinary tools. Odd Job comes complete with an external communications port that makes dancing convenient and easy." Features 2 tracks by Soul Oddity: "Get Fresh" & "Rhythm Box". Soul Oddity was the pre-Phoenecia duo of Romulo Delcastillo and J. Kay.

PHOENECIA: Odd Jobs CD (SCH 8X8 CD). $11.00

CD version which combines the 6 tracks from the two Phoenecia: Odd Job 12" EPs (SCH 808 & SCH 8X8), plus one Takeshi Muto remix that is exclusive to the CD. Original music by Soul Oddity (pre-Phoenecia). Remixes by: Autechre, Richard Devine, Ectomorph & Godfather, Push Button Objects & Takeshi Muto. One of the most important events to date in the world-wide explosion of Miami-based electronics! "ODD JOB: The Scurvy Dog Version. As the mighty Schematic sailed its way back into the port of Miami, back from pillaging foreign lands, the scurvy dogs at the helm of the pirate vessel brandished a new flag. Aye, these brash bucaners were dancing on deck to a new tune. It was an Odd Job if I may say so myself. Some time had past and the smarmy crew grew impatient and hungry, having squandered their booty on wine and women. They took to recruiting some fresh blood, searching the taverns and brothels for men like themselves, thirsty for blood and hungry for treasure. Argh. It did not take long. The lusty scamps they call Autechre were plucked from the beds of two lusty sea wenches. Twins. Aye. The most feared thief and a most perverse pirate, Richard Devine, stumbled aboard as well. Ectomorph and Godfather both took a fair bit of coaxing, but the promise of gold debloons put pirate spirit back in their hearts. The Asian Assailant, Takeshi Muto, a lover, and by all means the scariest sea dog there be, did come aboard in his tattered rags, carrying only his pipe. Push Button Objects were found sleeping ?neath the starry sky naked on the jetty. Tossing him some knickers and a new shiny brass hook, the Schematic crew had procured the last of the Dancefloor Pirates. And so they set sail to plunder. No one was spared. No man. No woman. No child. Especially not the woman - childs. Aye. Now they're coming home. Argh. They are to share their bounty with all the scurvy dogs and wenches there be. Come aboard. We've been expectin' ya. Arrrrghh."

DEVINE, RICHARD: asect:dsect CD (SCH 023 CD). $13.00

"After two profoundly evocative and technically rigorous releases, you'd think it would be impossible for 26 year old Richard Devine to up the ante on his own style. Even so, it should-n't come as any surprise. This is after all the man quoted as saying 'I don't like to be limited by my equipment, if there is going to be any limitations I want them to be in my mind.' Damned if his newest record isn't his best full-length yet. asect:dsect is the synapserattling 24-bit 96khz stereo culmination of Devine's work to date, a throbbing and vicious animal product that laces the overwhelmingly syncopated breakbeat assault of Lip Switch (Warp/Schematic) with the throat-sore howls creation groans of 2001's Aleamapper (Schematic). Masterfully orchestrating a titanic array of rapidly moving information, on asect:dsect, Devine spans every inch of the frequency spectrum, effortlessly moving from musique concrète to DSP in his own inimitable style."

DIN-ST: Yamu D'Din CD (SCH 041CD). $13.00

"Din-St [Dynasty, aka DIN, aka DJ Maximus, aka Fever, aka F. Stader] tips club culture over like a four-hundred-pound speaker cabinet, slicing party sounds into wild-style minimal/broken rave/bounce mash-ups. As Senator Joseph Biden's Rave Act receives Congressional approval, the party moves abroad, reborn under a Berlin overpass, sexy, broken, funky and punk. Empty factories are slathered in booty rave shellac, and before it cakes onto aluminum sheeting, it's set on fire. Hip-hop steez work on P.L.U.R. sentiment under PA/laptop/turntable configurations. They call it 'possible sound' and 'fresh-techno': raw, deep trax mounted on cinder blocks and run in neutral until it smokes and cracks. Technoid squibbles underneath while freyed chords sizzle from the vocal stabs running down gutters of noise and panic. Stone-like synth shakes the screws out your speakers. A garbled MC drowns in the mix. The party is out of control. Something has happened. Something has broken."

HEARTS OF DARKNESS: Music for Drunk Driving CD (SCH 042 CD). $13.00

"Crawling out of the decimated ooze that is 3rd period study hall, Schematic Waste Management is humiliated to announce Hearts of Darkneses' debut full-length, Music for Drunk Driving. HoD's epileptic beats are pure placenta future pudding topped off with rancid whipped cream processed aggro vocals and guitar that will touch the Chrome/Renaldo and the Loaf fan in you. This is downloadable shareware punk rock at its finest. Frankie Musarra, AKA Heart's of Darkneses, is one part composer, five parts spaz and a dope emcee to boot. Musarra once became so entangled in his mic cord during a performance that he fell and broke his collarbone."

HEARTS OF DARKNESS: Music for Drunk Driving LP (SCH 042 LP). $13.00

LP version. "HoD's epileptic beats are pure placenta future pudding topped off with rancid whipped cream processed aggro vocals and guitar that will touch the Chrome/Renaldo and the Loaf fan in you. This is downloadable shareware punk rock at its finest. Frankie Musarra, AKA Heart's of Darkneses, is one part composer, five parts spaz and a dope emcee to boot."

O9: Church of the Ghetto P.C. CD (SCH 043CD). $13.00

"Church of the Ghetto P.C. is an aural experience of jaw-dropping agog, like reading a new language, a kind of graffiti action-script dedicated to all the industrial back-alley disjuncta of our Bill Gates-induced modernity. Sharing slang with the Schematic crew, o9 can still talk minimal with the Raster-Noton label, noise-therapy with Mego, and knows the uprock narratives of Warp's great masters. o9's voice has the whole idiomatic spectrum intact and yet still the gospel truth is that o9 has a vocabulary all his own. Nothing can prepare you for his application of shamanistic sound, those carked beats and rhythm clusters, that catechistic technical polish that brings beaming luster to screen-frozen darkness. Considering the near anonymity of the o9 project-he's gone live at one Warp party in the UK and toured bruised America. And, given the fact of his so few releases — singles and compilation appearances on revered labels such as Planet-Mu, Nophi, and of course, Schematic — the question remains: Who the hell is o9 and where did the apostles of Schematic discover his burning laptop to release this first awesome full-length? Church of the Ghetto P.C. is a stunning and convulsive ripple of deep-membrane funk and syntactical synth notes. It's not old school, it's old testament, not high-tech, but high priest. It's as important as the fucking Bible. Cracking the egg code on total beat typography, o9 has written the first hard-driven masterpiece of this new dead-end, face-to-the-terminal century." — Lee Henderson.

SCHNITTSTELLE (GERMANY):

ANDERSON, LEE: Fast Food Remixes 12" (SCHNITT 004). $9.00

"Excellent build up/minimal in Lo Soul's 'Open Door' tradition. Phat release!!" Music by Lee Anderson, remixed by Don Disco and S-Max. Distributed via Kompakt.

ANDERSON, LEE: "Life"/"Guren Morgen" 12" (SCHNITT 005). $9.00

"Narrative build-up minimalhouse to heat up the floor. Gets monstrous after 5 minutes."

SCRATCH (CANADA):

VOTE ROBOT: In Meorm NA CD (SCR 39). $14.00

"The debut CD, and second album proper, of Kelowna, British Columbia, Canada's Vote Robot. An electronic/analog music duo comprised of Scott August (aka French Paddleboat) and Kevin Rivard, Vote Robot stand quite defiantly far apart from the endless crop of current electro experimenters in that they work exclusively with tapes, turntables, mixers, and analog synths; creating a subtle, and engulfing flow that is uneasy and pleasing both. No laptops, no sequencers, no Pro-Tools, no drum machines, nothing high tech, or barely even a product of the 1990's present here. The key ingredient being the murky and essential intangible better known as warmth. By near definition, most electronic music cannot be warm, yet the two young men of Vote Robot just have it, and in spades, owing I suppose to their methods and equipment, strange and easily amusable personalities, and the fact they have good good ears that influence everything they do through editing, composition, and ruthless quality control. It seems more and more people everywhere are seeing the difference, and indeed more and more people are prepared to Vote Robot."

SCREWGUN:

BERNE'S BLOODCOUNT, TIM: Unwound 3CD (SCR 70001). $30.00

Triple live CD of this NY jazz ensemble led by saxophonist Tim Berne (as, bs). Featuring Chris Speed (ts, cl), Michael Formanek (b) & Jim Black (d). "Mr. Berne's composing style suggests classical modernism — extended lines, atonal but not starchy, becoming looped themes through the music — and a saxophonist's splintered, abrupt rhythm-and-blues sensibility, the sound of a James Brown song hitting a glitch in a CD player." — Ben Ratliff.

PARAPHRASE: Visitation Rites CD (SCR 70002). $13.00

"The debut recording by Paraphrase, a cooperative trio founded in 1994 and made up of three of the most highly regarded musicians in modern jazz: saxophonist Tim Berne, bassist Drew Gress and drummer Tom Rainey." Recorded live in Berlin, 1996.

BERNE'S BLOODCOUNT, TIM: Discretion CD (SCR 70003). $13.00

"Since 1993, Bloodcount has been Tim Berne's working group of choice. The band's four previous releases on JMT and Screwgun have met with tremendous critical and popular acclaim. Discretion will be especially in demand as it presents five new, never-before-recorded pieces from the 1997 tours of the US and Europe." Beautiful Fireproof Press printed covers.

BLOODCOUNT: Saturation Point CD (SCR 70004). $13.00

1997 live release that was previously only sold direct via Screwgun's mail order dept. now available for slightly wider distribution. Live in St. Louis, the quartet of Tim Berne (alto, baritone sax), Chris Speed (tenor sax, clarinet), Michael Formanek (bass) & Jim Black (drums).

DUCRET, MARC: Un Certain Malaise CD (SCR 70005). $13.00

"The first ever American release by acclaimed French guitarist Marc Ducret, who enjoys a tremendous audience in Europe and Japan and has released five previous albums on the European labels JMT, Winter & Winter and Label Bleu. Electric jazz, modern classical music, free improvisation and Hendrix collide in Ducret's unique music."

FORMANEK, MICHAEL: Am I Bothering You? CD (SCR 70006). $13.00

"The first ever solo release by double bassist Michael Formanek (best known for his four highly acclaimed albums on the Enja label, all of which feature his original compositions).

Am I Bothering You? strips Formanek's musical conception down to its bare essence, displaying his strength, agility, intelligence, wit and daring more clearly than ever before and revealing the virtuoso musician whose basslines have anchored bands led by Tim Berne, Marty Ehrlich, Cito Baker, Joe Henderson, Tony Williams, and Fred Hersch, among many others."

BATES, DJANGO: Quiet Nights CD (SCR 70007). $13.00

"The Screwgun debut of acclaimed British keyboardist/composer Django Bates. Bates has released three previous albums on JMT and a classical release on Argo, and is well known for his work in drummer Bill Bruford's Earthworks. Featured on this album are Django's band Human Chain plus the beguiling Swedish vocalist Josefina Cronholm. Björk meets Astrud Gilberto in a smoky jazz bar in this set of vocalists and original compositions, setting the singer against a background of intensely melodic yet deceptively complex arrangements that echo the sounds of traditional and contemporary jazz, electronica, lounge and other diverse styles."

HEMPHILL, JULIUS: Blue Boyé 2CD (SCR 70008). $18.00

"Some music snarls. Some music simmers. Julius Hemphill's music was often eloquent enough to do both at once. Manipulating elemental blues motifs into intricate webs of sound, the saxophonist-composer caught the attention of almost everyone devoted to jazz during the last quarter of the century. Through his successes with the mighty World Saxophone Quartet and his own Sextet, Hemphill transcended fringe status before dying in 1995. And both the sum of his work and the power of his legacy make it clear: he was a determined progressive, one of the most fertile writers jazz has produced. This long-out-of-print solo recording Blue Boyé was originally released in 1977. It's one of the most enchanting discs in Hemphill's considerable canon."

BERNE, TIM: The Empire Box 5CD (SCR 70009). $42.00

"This specially priced 5CD set offers a journey into Tim Berne's first recordings as a band-leader. The set comprises four albums recorded between 1979 and 1982 for his own Empire label, perfectly capturing the independence, spirit and musical vision for which he is continually acclaimed. Berne assembled a distinguished cast of musicians for these projects, incorporating key NY figures such as Olu Dara and Paul Motian and a variety of musicians who were part of the thriving LA Creative Music Scene: Alex and Nels Cline, Vinny Golia, Glenn Ferris, Roberto Miranda and John Rapson. The resulting group interactions are dynamic, energetic and propulsive, and clearly stand the test of time. This is doubtless a 'must have' for the ever-increasing circle of Berne/Screwgun aficionados, but will also appeal to anyone who is interested in exploring a unique approach to improvised music."

DUCRET, MARC: L'Ombra di Verdi CD (SCR 70010). $13.00

"After two critically acclaimed solo records, French guitarist Marc Ducret now presents his first group recording in over seven years, a powerful offering which features the members of his active working band, bassist Bruno Chevillon and drummer Eric Echampard. Electric jazz, free improvisation, the blues and Hendrix collide in Ducret's unique music."

PARAPHRASE: Please Advise CD (SCR 70011). $13.00

Live in Germany 11/98. The trio of Tim Berne, Drew Gress & Tom Rainey. "Consists of two fully-explored collaborative pieces, 'Critical Mass' and 'Good Evening'. Gress and Rainey are among the most in-demand sidemen in NY, and are perhaps best known as the rhythm section for the Fred Hersch Trio. Gress was previously a member of the collective quartet Joint Venture; Rainey was previously a member of the band New and Used and also performs with Mark Helias' trio Open/Loose. In Paraphrase, a collectively improvising ensemble, each of the three band members has an equal voice in the music."

BERNE & THE COPENHAGEN ART ENSEMBLE, TIM: Open, Coma 2CD (SCR 70012). $21.00

A Danish radio broadcast from 7/16/2000. Featuring Tim Berne (alto sax), Lotte Anker (soprano/tenor sax), Thomas Agergaard (tenor sax, flute), Peter Fuglsang (clarinet, bass clarinet), Herb Robertson (trumpet), Lars Vissing (trumpet), Kasper Tranberg (cornet), Mads Hyhne (trombone), Klaus Löhner (bass trombone, tuba), Thomas Clausen (piano), Fender Rhodes, Marc Ducret (guitar), Nils Davisen (bass), Anders Mogensen (drums), Ture Larsen (conductor).

BERNE, TIM: Science Friction CD (SCR 70013). $13.00

"Tim Berne plays alto sax and writes music, Marc Ducret plays guitars, both electric and acoustic, Craig Taborn plays electric keyboards, Tom Rainey plays drums. Produced by David Torn."

BERNE/CRAIG TABORN/TOM RAINEY, TIM: Acoustic and Electric Hard Cell Live CD (SCR 70014). $13.00

Tim Berne: Alto; Craig Taborn: Electric keyboards and electronics and acoustic piano; Tom Rainey: drums. Tracks 1 and 3 recorded on location in front of a studio audience at the Iced Membrane in Brooklyn, 2004 by an ordinary person in an orderly manner. Tracks 2 and 4 recorded by Jules Ryan at The Firefly Club, Ann Arbor as part of the Edgfest festival.

SCSI RECORDS (UK):

SILICON SCALLY: Mr Machine CD (SCSI 009CD). $15.00

"2002 undoubtedly belongs to Carl Finlow; after demolishing dancefloors with his tremendous Electricity series for the Device label, reshuffling sizzling house for Sur Muziq, building up the reputation of the 20/20 Vision label as Random Factor, and battling it out with the Wee Deejaays on their ace Gasoline imprint—Mr. Finlow finally returns home to his nearest and dearest label Scsi-Av. Having starved us for quite some time of his Silicon Scally material, Finlow finally delivers an album that will not only rank as the finest electro record of the early noughties but will cement his reputation as one of the most important exponents of new electro in the world today; sitting alongside his Detroit compatriots in innovation, precision, crunchiness, and bass devastation. Destined for huge things, this is a seminal electro album from a living legend."

SILICON SCALLY: Mr Machine 2LP (SCSI 009LP). $16.00

Double LP Version

WILLIAMS, DEZ: Elektronik Religion 2LP (SCSI 012LP). $17.00

"14 monster tracks from young producer Dez Williams. An album that is sure to set the tone and shake up the electro scene severely. Dez Williams is a 25 year old DJ and producer based in North Wales. His influences range from oldskool elektro that he used to break to when he was just 8 years old, through to Jean-Michael Jarre, Carl Craig, Luke Slater, Aphex Twin and the numerous horro films that he has watched over the years."

PIXELLATED VISION: Star Gazing 12" (SCSI 014EP). $11.00

"This is one sizeable mini album, 8 tracks spanning a palette of bassy electrofunk comparable to Drexciya, early Ectomorph and The Other People Place — some listeners have even reflected that its soundbed has considerable affinities with the Pametex crew of Clone. A distinguished debut from quite who, the label is contractually obliged not to reveal. Check the label info, none the wiser — cryptically copyrighted as Project Zeron 2000-2003. Further intrigue on coming across the killer content. With the likes of Ellen Allien bigging up Scsi's last bomb from Dez Williams (Scsiid12) as the key electro album of last year, and Silicon Scally's 'Mr. Machine' rightfully accorded classic status — be sure not to miss out on this spring essential in the reliably excellent SCSI-av catalogue."

SEA NOTE:*PAPA M: Sings CD (SN 08CD). $10.00

6 track CD EP on Papa M's new label, Sea Note. "This is a weird release. We really don't want to push this record on you as 'the next new Papa M record' because it doesn't really represent the way things will sound on the next new Papa M record. That's part of the reason this Papa M release has been 'officially bootlegged' on Sea Note, to emphasize its different-ness. As well as its defiant hilarious-ness! As well as its straight-forward deviance, of course."

SEAL POOL:*COLECLOUGH/TIM HILL, JONATHAN: Beech For John and Miho CD (SPOOL 001 CD). $14.00

"Beech for John and Miho was originally commissioned as a short piece for 'in return', a private wedding CD, where it appeared alongside music by Joe Weismann (The Jaztronauts), If Thousands, JLIAT, and Space Machine. That fifteen minute version then blossomed into this bold, 74-minute work. An invitation to the wedding spawned a short Japan tour during which Coleclough performed solo and in duos with Aube, Kuwayama Kiyohara, and Narita Mamoru. An epic piece: shimmering and metallic."

SECOND BATTLE (GERMANY):*TOMORROWS GIFT: CD (SB 017). $19.00

Second Battle is one the longest running and best respected CD reissue labels, specializing in mostly German psych/hard rock/progressive titles from the early 70s. They've got about 30 albums in print to date; these are our favorites to date, but we will be adding more. Tomorrow's Gift were an obscure German group, who released a debut double LP in 1970. Lead by the rather heroically wailing vocals of Ellen Meyer (bringing to mind the better moments of Italy's Circus 2000), the group behind her provided a pummeling backing of vintage 1970-style progressive psych via guitars, percussion, bass, keyboards, drums and flute. The tracks are long, just complex enough to keep you motivated and are recorded to raw & devastating effect by Dieter Dierrks.

GILA: CD (SB 021). $19.00

Reissue of the first (of two) LPs by this Krautrock group, featuring Conny Veit (pre-Popul Vuh). New digipak edition, with small fold-out poster inside of what is sometimes referred to as the Free Electric Sound album. Drifty, blasted psychedelic rock with electronic effects, tabla, and Eastern exotica piled on. Recorded in Cologne in 1971 (released by BASF), and certainly superior to their follow up from '73, Bury My Heart At Wounded Knee, which was more of Popul Vuh-offshoot. This is one of the classic Krautrock albums, a flowing, conceptual masterpiece.

GOMORRHA: Trauma+ CD (SB 022). $19.00

New reissue of the 2nd Gomorrha album, originally issued by BASF in Germany, 1971. This is the second reissue of this album by Second Battle, this time adding as a bonus their entire first self-titled first LP from 1970 (sung in German & more beat-influenced material). "A normal person is able to hear a frequency of 25-18,000 hertz. Within these boundaries much is possible. From Mozart to jet fighter. Here now is Gomorrha, a band which has discovered in this sound forest a playground for themselves. And to play is fun. I realized this in the cellar of a bourgeois home in Cologne where I happened to be. The guys invited me to join in and together we brought the playground into the studio, where this record was made. If you want to sing, sing along. Or do you have a violin?" — Conny Plank.

TWENTY SIXTY SIX AND THEN: Reflections! CD (SB 025). $22.00

New pressing of this 1994 CD which compiles the best material by this briefly extant German group — their lone album from the time was issued on United Artists in 1972. "Twenty Sixty Six & Then made one of the most touted of heavy psychedelic Krautrock albums, Reflections... took the atypical Kraut hard-rock style, added some Zappa touches, riffing aggression of the heavy Bacillus-label bands, and even some off-the-wall electronics." — Crack In The Cosmic Egg.

MY SOLID GROUND: CD (SB 035). $19.00

First legit reissue of this 1971 Krautrock album, recorded in Köln and issued on Bacillus at the time. Includes 6 bonus rehearsal tracks from 1970 plus an unreleased 25 minute version of "Flash". A couple of tracks like the massive 13-minute opening "Dirty Yellow Mist" and "The Executioner" reveal the secrets of early 70s psych/rock as well as anything to be named, w/ monotonous, spacy riffing grinding into the third mind zone. "My Solid Ground's first and only record presented the full atmosphere of psychedelia — sometimes aggressive, sometimes melancholy. Superb guitars, hypnotical voices and classical keyboards recall Pink Floyd or Group 1850 at it's best."

HAIRY CHAPTER: Can't Get Through/Eyes CD (SB 038). $19.00

Reissue of the first 2 albums by German underground heavy rock/psych group. Their first album, Eyes is from 1970; the 2nd, Can't Get Enough is from '71 (first issued by Bacillus). The latter album is one of those screaming diz, dumb IQ-reducing monsters that some people can never get enough of. "Swamped with fiery guitar work and unusual rhythm structures, topped with feedback and psychedelic effects." — Crack In The Cosmic Egg.

PROF. WOLFF: CD (SB 045). $19.00

Reissue of the lone album by this German group, originally issued by Metronome in 1971. "...typical of the era they had a very German sound, akin to Ainigma, Frumpy and early Jane's." — Freeman's. "Excellent German folky progressive rock with German lyrics, a bit comparable to Ihre Kinder, but with appealing classical-inspired instrumental parts. Digipak reissue contains previous unreleased bonus material."

VIRUS: Thoughts CD (SB 047). $19.00

Reissue of the 2nd & final album by this German group, from 1971, originally issued by Pilz. More obscure than their highly rated debut, Revelation, this is still a decent plunder through the spiralling doomscape of early 70s German rock. "The music had changed somewhat to a more hard-rock and psychedelic edge, with lyrics about drugs and paranoia, much closer to Pilz label-mates Dies Irae. A justly legendary band." — A. Freeman.

KROKODIL: CD (SB 052). $22.00

Reissue of the first album from 1969, originally issued by Liberty, by this Swiss Krautrock-aligned band, who went on to record 5 albums in total for UA and Bacillus by 1973. This reissue is from master tapes and includes bonus tracks. Packaged in a fold-out digipak with fold-out poster of notes/photos. First in a trilogy of reissues on Second Battle, this debut album features vocalist/pianist Hardy Hepp ("the Tom Jones of the Alps"?), who would no longer be with the group by the time they got around to releasing their more commonly acclaimed masterpiece An Invisible World Revealed. Blues-rock origins can be easily discerned here (Liberty apparently attempted to present them as Germany's answer to the Groundhogs).

KROKODIL: Swamp CD (SB 053). $21.00

"First legit reissue of Krokodil's second album from 1970 (originally issued by Liberty), assembled with the care and single-mindedness we've come to expect from Second Battle. Vocalist Hardy Hepp ('the Swiss Bob Dylan') was to part ways with the group, and judging from the mediocrity of this compared to its truly blasted follow-up An Invisible World Revealed, this was probably a good thing. Folky, at some points more like the Swiss Kevin Ayers, this one never really gels into anything that begs repeated listening, even with a track called 'Get Your Personality Together'. In a way it's hard to believe that these guys went on to make such a great record, but it seems Hepp had more commercial aspirations, and it was only after they were no longer being glorified session toads for the likes of him and Demon Thor (!) did their music really 'take off'." — Billy Kiely

KROKODIL: An Invisible World Revealed CD (SB 054). $21.00

First legit CD reissue (previously bootied by Germanofon in the mid-90s) of the most highly regarded 3rd Krokodil album, originally issued by United Artists in 1971. "Here's one for all those who like their Krautrock 'Swiss', one that straddles the Second Battle 'heavy' requirement with the more psych flavors of Teutonic slop. Decidedly more focused on exotic instrumentation and effects than their preceding LPs, the opening track 'Lady of Attraction' lays it all out immediately: flanged vocals, distorted organ, acoustic guitars and the sound of the sacred mellotron, all in the first four minutes. By the time you get to the 15 minute 'Odyssey in Om', you know percussionist Dude Durst isn't lying when he says that 'we had been on pot most of the time...'. Imagine a more psychedelic Black Sabbath, and your getting warm. Great cover, excellent sound, and 20 minutes worth of bonus material that should make anyone who isn't put off by more bluesy sonorities grateful that there are obsessives out there that are making this stuff available at last." — Billy Kiely

TOAD: Same CD (SB 061). $16.00

The first Toad album, originally issued by Halleluja in the 1971. Ex-members of Brainticket investigating the synapse-destroying realm of "hard rock". Already out on Akarma, assumably with the same bonus tracks.

TOAD: Tomorrow Blue CD (SB 062). $19.00

Reissue of the 2nd album by this Swiss hard rock group, originally issued by the Hallelujah label (this is the 2nd CD reissue of this album, but the first one to be complete, with 7 tracks). The rhythm section of Werni Froehlich (bass) and Cosimo Lampis (drums) had appeared on Brainticket's legendary debut, Cottonwoodhill, earlier that year, but Tomorrow Blue was decidedly more hard rock in style. As with Brainticket, this one is commonly referenced in Krautrock territory, irregardless of form or aesthetics. Compared by the Freeman's to Sperrmüll, Hendrix and Status Quo!

DOM: Edge Of Time CD (SB 063). $19.00

"Finally it will be available — an official CD of this outstanding early 70's psychedelic underground trip. Original LP in best available remastered quality and added by several bonus tracks. Thick booklet with many unseen photos." Previously bootlegged in rather poor form by the Witches & Warlocks label. From Crack In The Cosmic Egg: "One of the legendary classics of the German underground. A strange, spacious and innovative album fusing rock, folk, ethnic and the avant garde musics most uniquely, Edge of Time is one of those albums that is extremely difficult to describe. Just consider, it ranges from atmospheric Yahta Sidhra realms via electroacoustic collage, and free-form jazz, onto the chaotic psychedelic underground of Amon Düül. All this is the framework for a dreamy poetic semi-spoken song recanting the lyrics on the cover. Enigmatic through and through."

I DRIVE: 2CD (SB 065). $28.00

"The sought after progressive-Rock LP from 1972 for the first time in its original outfit coming as 2CD-Premium-Digipak — with thick booklet, the complete bandstory and many unreleased photos....and for the first time on CD the first I Drive single plus many rare tracks. As usual all songs have been digitally remastered for best sound quality."

SECOND COMING (UK):*VA: Resurrection - The Amplified Bible Of Heavenly Grooves CD (SEC 001 CD). $15.00

"A new compilation brought to you by Martin Green (who brought you The Sound Gallery), Jonny Trunk (brought you The Wicker Man) and the Great One upstairs. Basically it's an almighty collection of intriguing music all influenced by God. And before you say 'Oh God', it's far better than you may imagine. It's funky, hip, experimental, it rocks and it's punky in a kind of sixties fashion. There are cool breaks and freaks telling you why He is The One. There's a beat poet take on the Nativity and even some gentle folk to sooth your soul. You can hear Tubby Hayes wiggling out with swinging hymns, Pat Boone rapping and the Torchbearers telling you all about Jesus H. Clown. Features tracks by: The Sunworshippers Speak (A spoken word number on which psychedelic Christians renounce drugs & fast living!), Ted Taylor Organisation featuring Tubby Hayes (Hymn with jazz breaks), The Torchbearers (Late 60s Garage Punk), John Ylvisaker (US Folk with a Psyche folk twist), Pete Levin and Bill Comeau (Jazz experimentation with spoken word: out there!), Pete Levin and Bill Comeau (Total lunacy. Breaks & divine wordplay), All Things New (English freaky garage circa '71), Ralph Carmichael featuring Pat Boone (Classic Hip-Hop breaks with Pat Boone chanting Psalm 13 over the top), John Ylvisaker featuring Dick Hyman (Amazingly groovy version of this Baptist classic), Judy Mackenzie (Whistful sixties hippy folk from the UK. Truly beautiful), The Torchbearers (Rare US 60s garage punk from the St. Paul the apostles own label), The Crusaders (Leftfield US version of the Sunday school classic, with mad drumming incidentally), Johnny Pearson (Wild jazz version of this cool crypt kicker), The Sunworshippers Speak Again (a farewell from the Psycho Christians)."

SECRET AGENT (UK):*MARY VS LIQUITEX: 73 Club 7" (AGENT 012 EP). $4.50

"73 Club" by Mary is taken from the aborted album Hello My Name Is Rich and I Come From Whalley, which is the first clue to the famous producer behind this pseudonym. This producer is better known for his work on a massive pop hit last year, and looks set to have another top 10 hit in the near future. On the flip is a sharp, funky electronica number from Liquitex who has previously released on the Skam label. This treasure of a 7" is limited to 750." According to Baked Goods, it's über-producer Richard X (aka Girls on Top).

SECRETLY CANADIAN:*ANTONY & THE JOHNSONS: Antony & The Johnsons CD (SC 104CD). $13.50

"Antony and the Johnsons present chamber cabaret in darkest blue, creating music that is highly dramatic, emotional, and lyrical. Compared to everyone from Nina Simone to Lotte Lenya, Antony's voice is hauntingly evocative. The Johnsons, an ensemble featuring a string trio, piano, bass and drums, lay a foundation of lush yet minimal orchestral arrangements. Antony & the Johnsons is a reissue of the group's debut album, which was originally released in 1998 on the London-based label Durtro, which is run by David Tibet of Current 93. It was followed by the EP I Fell in Love with a Dead Boy EP, which includes a cover of David Lynch and Angelo Badalamenti's 'Mysteries of Love.' Antony accompanied Lou Reed as a part of his band on his 2003 world tour, on which Antony sang lead vocals on the Velvet Underground classic 'Candy Says'. It, as well as several other songs on which Antony sings back-up vocals, was documented on Reed's latest double-live album Animal Serenade. Antony also contributed vocals for Reed's most recent album, The Raven."

LEKMAN, JENS: You Are the Light CD (SC 106CD). $4.00

"Just as pop stars Serge Gainsbourg, Scott Walker and Prince segued from their early work into their more wildly iconoclastic periods, You are the Light signals not only a birthing for Jens, but also the end of an era for him. On this EP, we also find Jens at perhaps his most vulnerable, the spare 'A Man Walks Into A Bar', is essentially just Jens and a mic — nada mas. This EP serves as a coda to his upcoming debut full-length When I Said I Wanted To Be Your Dog, having been recorded at the tail end of those album sessions, and, ultimately, it gives a small insight into where this burgeoning maestro is going. Lekman has been called 'the latest and possibly greatest Scandinavian export... A modest commercial success in his homeland and a genuinely compelling artist, as evinced on the Maple Leaves EP and Rocky Dennis EP. Perched at the center of an unbelievably lush swirl of strings and background cooing, Lekman comes very close to evoking the early solo work of John Cale."

WINDSOR FOR THE DERBY: We Fight Til Death CD (SC 110CD). $13.50

"This record was recorded and mixed over the last year at Burton's Grotto Home Studio with Burton and a few other locals sitting in. WFTD finds a way to take each release to a wholly different trajectory while at the same time creating a progressive connection to the last. The skewed pop sensibilities of The Emotional Rescue LP are hinted at on We Fight Til Death as well as the dark refrains of 1998's Minnie Greutzfeldt. By combining elements of previous releases and exploring new terrain, We Fight Til Death is Windsor For The Derby's most realized release to date."

WINDSOR FOR THE DERBY: We Fight Til Death 2LP (SC 110LP). $13.50

Double LP version.

LANGILLE W/ LOREN MAZZACANE CONNORS, SUZANNE: The Enchanted Forest CD (SC 18 CD). $12.00

"After a decade of appearances on Loren Mazzacane's albums, Suzanne Langille releases a full length of her own songs. The Enchanted Forest combines Suzanne's celestial voice and lyrical talent with Loren's crystalline guitar work. Loosely based on John Lebar's 1945 film of the same name, Suzanne acts out the story of a lost child, a forest's impending end and those that try and save it, through the voices of six characters. As on previous MazzaCane albums, Suzanne's soulful and blues filled moans created burning holes in the hearts and ears of many during each song. Loren's guitar stays at a constant whisper pitch throughout the album, his minimal chords and lone notes have never been this fragile. Reminiscent of the St. Joan era collaborations between Suzanne and Loren, these two have never sounded so brilliant."

LANGILLE W/ LOREN MAZZACANE CONNORS, SUZANNE: The Enchanted Forest LP (SC 18 LP). $10.00*LANGILLE, SUZANNE: Let The Darkness Fall CD (SC 26 CD). $12.00

"The return of singer/lyricist Suzanne Langille. She is once again joined by longtime collaborator and partner Loren Mazzacane Connors as well as Atlanta's Andrew Burnes and David Daniell of the group San Agustin. The result is an intensely bleak, yet satisfying, musical excursion. It showcases her lyrical intonation and her zesty, more sensual vocal style. The album is full of gently churning and ethereal moments which are steeped heavily in the musical and emotional concentration that only the wisdom afforded to veterans of this group's tenure can allow. Six of the seven songs are darkly textured by the bending tones of what is often a three-guitar chorus."

LANGILLE/LOREN MAZZACANE CONNORS, SUZANNE: 1987-1989 CD (SC 34 CD). $12.00

"In 1987, Loren Mazzacane Connors first played with his future wife, Suzanne Langille. Together they performed Langille-adapted traditionals and gospel standards, slowing them 'down to a crawl'. Two albums were released on his own St. Joan label under the moniker Guitar Roberts with Suzanne Langille, entitled Bluesmaster 1 and Bluesmaster 2. This album represents the best of their material as a duo from those two records, plus the one song they performed as a duo from Loren's 1989 In Pittsburgh full-length ('Haunted House') and three previously unreleased recordings from the same period."

BR. DANIELSON: Brother is to Son CD (SC 66CD). $13.50

"This sixth Danielson album has been a long time coming for Daniel Smith. All the specialness that the full band brought to previous Danielson albums is fully intact. The earnest vocal chirp of head Danielson himself is still there, not to mention the impassioned and punk-inspired hard strum of his acoustic guitar. He still leads his folk jamboree through the familiar boy-girl harmonies as the banjos, bells, piano keys and jaw harp all team with kinetic energy, like a deconstructionist jug band led by a man who follows in the bold footsteps of Sun Ra, Don Van Vliet and Johnny Lydon as a truly original art terrorist. What is unique about this new window into the Danielson brain-cage is its pervasive tenderness, most clearly manifested in the ever-broadening vocal range of Daniel. Taking a cue from Dylan's Bringing it All Back Home, Brother is to Son opens confidently and intensely while slowly turning in on itself by its second half, on which Smith brings a vulnerability unmatched on his previous five albums."

BR. DANIELSON: Brother is to Son 2LP (SC 66LP). $13.50

Double LP version.

HAVERGAL: Elettricità CD (SC 91). $13.50

"The mark of minimalist composers Erik Satie, Steve Reich and Terry Riley have all been left on Havergal and can be traced throughout Havergal's second album Elettricità. The strength of the single note (versus the fat meaty chord) is something that Havergal has always embraced. And with unlimited tracking, the cactus needed single notes of Lungs for the Race have blossomed a bit on Elettricità, retaining that fragile sound while finding strength in numbers — an army of individual notes so deep in number that the land they traverse becomes unrecognizable in their wake. The music meanders as the hypnotic rhythms build upon one another and change into slow beach breaks. In the studio, Havergal does not set out to record an event that occurs in a moment in time, but rather to create a sound collage that can only be created in his home studio. Havergal's commitment to make a modern music that is beyond his personal abilities — relying on technology to multi-track very simple parts forty times over. Yet the music still retains a very humanistic quality, conveying moods of the most complicated sort. Yes, this highly processed music has a subtle pastoral quality to it that allows it to transcend the glitch pop soup of the day. Movietone, Califone, early Tangerine Dream and Eno's Another Green World are interesting touchstones for one looking for kindred spirits."

HORNS OF HAPPINESS: A Sea As A Shore CD (SC 93CD). $13.50

"Like a glorious pillow fight in the heavens between Paul & Linda McCartney and Granddaddy, A Sea As A Shore is full of fuzzed out psychedelic pop songs composed with acoustic & electric guitars, pumping organs and dreamy vocals. They are interspersed with instrumental interludes where pianos mingle, banjos bark and tape loops shuffle. Built upon simple, spontaneous parts, and sculpted onto the tape, the songs as a whole take the listener by the hand guiding him to the revelation that music can transport the listener to another place. Fans of Maher Shalal Hash Baz, the Microphones and the Olivia Tremor Control will find a good friend in A Sea As A Shore."

NORMANOK: Born a Black Diamond CD (SC 94CD). $13.50

"NormanOak is Chris Barth. Born a Black Diamond is NormanOak's debut — a wind chipped, folk meditation on the universe's creation, mycology, the Tree of Life and a bit of Aleister Crowley mysticism. It was recorded over the 2002-2003 winter while NormanOak's band the Impossible Shapes (in which he is the songwriter, lead vocalist, and plays guitar) were sequestered in the forest outside of Bloomington, Indiana. Barth takes a similar free-spirited hippie wanderer approach on Born a Black Diamond that psychedelic forefathers like Donovan and Marc Bolan's Tyrannosaurus Rex took a few decades earlier, a time when NormanOak was pecking the trees. Though inside the strums and animal claws, there is a complexity, a sap that has flown from the leaves of Ya Ho Wa 13 and Robert Wyatt. He takes great pride in his use of the 4-track (which has been squashed over the past several years due to the ubiquity of digital recording), which may be enjoying a renaissance of sorts as like-minded artists like Iron & Wine, Devendra Banhart and The Blithe Sons have been making champions of albums with its use in the past two years."

SEDIMENTAL:*LOPEZ, FRANCISCO: Untitled Music For Geography CD (SED 024). $13.00

More minimal electronics from this composer from Madrid, a 1997 work commissioned for a dance theatre work directed by the Paul Lemon Company. One 46-minute piece of distant, geographical drone.

REYNOLDS: Whistling Kettle Quartet LP (SED 024 LP). $13.00

"A singularly brilliant work for baritone, tenor, contralto & soprano whistling kettles from this unpredictable Argentinian collective Reynolds seems to be more active than ever. Responsible for a bunch of highly conceptual projects such as the '10,000-chicken Symphony', 'BlanTapes', 'Fire Music', 'Reynolds Plays the Eiffel Tower', etc. this sound-art piece redefines a traditional format in classical music, 'the quartet', in order to expand its boundaries and possibilities. Through the three movements of this composition (Andante Mogal, Moderato uno Surido Fermo and Allegro Repulmion Lanidelo), the sound of the four whistling kettles create deep textures, ranging from minimal static drones to complex pitch counterpoints. If the String Quartet has, for centuries, been a must for composers, what can we expect from the coming XXI century quartets? Maybe this release starts eying in key an answer."

BLOCK, OLIVIA: Pure Gaze CD (SED 026). $13.00

"Block is an electro-acoustic and modern instrumental composer whose recorded compositions combine layered, processed wind and string instruments with processed sound from sections of field recordings she has collected from various natural landscapes. Her performances include minimalist scored musical sections played live by a quintet accompanied by taped material, often sounds of field recordings, or the same quintet previously recorded and electronically manipulated. Block herself 'plays' found objects and instruments (trumpet). The resulting surrealistic sonic landscapes and the contrast between elements create a paradoxical element to her work. In all of her recent works she emphasizes comparisons between organic or 'real' sounds and electronic ones, and she demonstrates how electronic technology imitates natural evolution using similar sounds from both worlds. She also explores the difference between 'sound' and 'music' and the creation of experience through emotional, subjective or intellectual, objective means."

LEWIS, SUSANNE: CD (SED 027). $12.00

"From musician, multi-instrumentalist and songwriter Susanne Lewis comes a new, long-awaited solo album. Self-titled, the album contains solid, superb tracks that delve into lyrical themes concerning love, lust, confusion, nature, hometown reflections, traveling, trees, wondering/wandering, the FDA, the future of the human race, and professional sports, all delivered in Susanne Lewis' special way."

COLEMAN, JAMES: Zuihitsu CD (SED 030). $13.00

"In our continuing quest to bring you new and young talented experimental musicians, Sedimental is proud to release the debut cd from Boston improv heavyweight, Thereminist James Coleman. Coleman draws inspiration from the unique spatial & timbral elements found in Morton Feldman, Giacinto Scelsi, John Cage and the British improvisatory group AMM, the stylistic & phrasing innovations of Miles Davis, traditional Japanese music, minimalist art forms, Fluxus-ism and the sounds & movements of birds and other animals. The artist has a long held interest in the austere compositions of Feldman, which often display the slow, unfolding of a single note(s) in space, which in turn, relates to the 'quietness' & sparseness inherent in traditional Japanese art forms. The artist sculpted a particular Theremin sound for the recording of the two undr quartet pieces Each Spire An Animal and Released To The Stars, incorporating Japanese aesthetic concepts of Wabi (rustic simplicity), and Sabi (loneliness, weathered surfaces). The Theremin in these two pieces has a burnt, irregular, grainy sound using amp noise to achieve this sensibility. This sound in combination with the sound of the undr quartet suggests vulnerability, beauty, potential of life, energy in transition, and epiphany."

SCHUMACHER, MICHAEL J.: Four Stills CD (SED 032). $13.00

"Schumacher has a strong presence on the experimental scene with his refined guitar 'drone' compositions but parallel to this activity he has been working with number system applications of sampled material through electronics, a direct extension of his audio installations. Where as much digitally generated material succumbs to a hermetically closed world of glitches and electronic landscape Schumacher's work opens up this environment, despite the density of the material, into a breathing, organic spaciousness while still maintaining the intimacy inherent in the form. 'The Four Stills are expressions of the number system that I have used since 1989 in my electronic compositions. These numbers form the basis for dozens of rhythmic processes executed by the computer, from playing a midi grand piano, to deciding a range within a sample buffer to play, to determining larger structural aspects such as the alternation of sound and silence within a particular part. The fact that they are prime numbers prevents predictable patterns from emerging. The limit of six maintains structural coherence. The Four Stills were recorded direct to stereo in real time. Though the sounds used in a given piece are predetermined, their interaction with each other over time is left to chance. These pieces are extensions of my installation pieces, which evolve over long time periods, and are also created in real time by generative algorithms. However, in contrast to the installations, which utilize distance as an important perceptual feature and employ as many as 16 independent channels of sound, allowing for meaningful variations in texture, these recordings, being limited to two channels, are more compact in their presentation of the sonic material. They therefore remind me of certain styles of painting, which present the spectator with a static field of color that is experienced in no particular order. Though the music obviously unfolds over time, the analogy seems appropriate to me, since the dense textures (sometimes as many as 27 simultaneous parts) invite a contemplation of the many layers of sound and their relation, not in time, but in space."

TONALAMOTL: Movement (sum) CD (SED 033 CD). $13.00

"Mysterious improvised electro-acoustic ensemble recorded in one take at the Movements Dance Studio in Austin. There was another Tonalamotl record that came out a few years ago on Bobby J but it sounds nothing like this surprise genius. Three long extended explorations using percussion, electronics, home made gadgets, etc. Certainly this has roots in the likes of Morphogenesis, AMM and even Polwechsel but this is American music, from Texas no less, so check your pale complexions and copies of Les Particules Elementaires at the door."

BLOCK/SETH NEHIL, OLIVIA: Sunder/Unite CD (SED 034 CD). $13.00

"Sunder/Unite began with the destruction of musical sources through the insertion of silence and/or faulty connection. It continued with the playing of small objects, fire and grass on our tour of Japan in 2000, being multiplied on many small speakers in each space and recorded in these situations. Sources continued to be recorded in our locations, train stations, a market in Kyoto ... Sounds were traded and holes punched in, surfaces distorted. Transparencies of sound were overlaid and cut, residues remain. We followed an ever-shifting ground and rate-of-change. A skip and fade, an intuitive mix and then traded again. The crumbling recording of metal. A walking recording of creaking wood. Speakers in a room. Composed 1999-2001. Instruments and treatments by Seth Nehil and Olivia Block except: Kyle Bruckmann (oboe, Chinese oboe); Michael Northam (objects); Michael Shannon, (reeds)."

IELASI, GIUSEPPE: Plans CD (SED 035 CD). $13.00

"A year and a half in the making, this remarkably dense and subtly musical effort marks a rupture/diversion in Ielasi's creative output. The intersection of electro-acoustic sonographies infused with fragments of melancholic melodies creates a near dizzying disorientation. In 1998 Ielasi founded the well-respected Fringes label, in order to document his own work as well as that of other artists. In addition to his work on Fringes, he has recorded for such labels as Leo and Sonoris, Erstwhile and Absurd. He has performed live with Taku Sugimoto, Jerome Noetinger, Dean Roberts, Thomas Lehn, Michel Doneda and Brandon LaBelle, Domenico Sciajano among many others."

DOERNER/GREG KELLEY/ANDREA NEUMANN/BHOB RAINEY, AXEL: Thanks, Cash CD (SED 036CD). $13.00

"This long-awaited document of an historic tour marrying two of Berlin's finest improvisers with Boston's hometown sluggers (nmpengin, The BSC) has finally been released, and is sounding luscious. At the end of August, 2001, Doerner and Neumann arrived at Boston's Logan airport for a tour that would cover the continental United States and take up the entire month of September. They started by recording with Boston's BSC (released on Grob Records as Good), and then embarked, with Rainey and Kelley, on what would normally be a significantly perception-altering tour of the U.S. It turned out to be more literally mind-melting, which brought out the bottomless magnanimity of each player. The music lets light in through dark slats, and is filled with the richness of sound these musicians bring to their best projects. It retains a 'live' feel while apparently derived from a tattered, ancient score, reserved for especially confounding times."

GROSS/LIZ TONNE, DAVID: Performing Sunday 7:30 10" (SED 10-001). $7.00

"Labeled as 'One of Boston's steadfast explorers,' by Bob Blumenthal of the Boston Globe, saxophonist David Gross has been transforming the saxophone, for nearly a decade, into exactly what it is: a metal tube with keys, mouthpiece, and a reed. Liz Tonne is a vocal artist inspired by the unorthodox use of the human voice. Her work explores the infinite possibilities of the human voice, unmodified by electronic effects and typically without amplification. As an improviser, she deconstructs the traditional role of the singer as both story teller and 'melodic center' using her voice purely as a sound source. Removed from it's historic context the voice begins to resonate hidden languages, passions, stories and emotions that are buried within our collective memories."

SEE FOR MILES (UK):

PINK FLOYD: Interstellar Overdrive/Nick's Boogie CD (SFM 4 CD). $11.00

1991 EP featuring: "Interstellar Overdrive" (16:46) and "Nick's Boogie" (11:43). Both tracks were recorded for Peter Whitehead's sixties film Tonite Let's All Make Love In London and can be found on the In London 1966-1967 2CD. These tracks are considered as the bands first known recordings. This CD version (same as the now deleted 12") adds some snippets of movie dialog from Lee Marvin and David Hockney.

SEED (UK):

POSTHUMAN: La Grange Point CD (SEED 009 CD). $15.00

"Posthuman are cousins Rich Bevan and Josh Doherty, formally cohorts of Manchester's guerilla cohorts Skam. The growth in their sound is shocking, a new found melancholic lyricism will really surprise even hardcore Seed aficionados, yet their attention to a tough bass and rhythm still shows their auspicious heritage. 'Purgatory' might seem a strange place to start an album, but the bad beats build in serious fashion, and very soon you just know this is a fitting opener to an epic. 'Walking from the gallows' opens like some of the best moments of Anthony Manning's work, before a squashed, other worldly sound, kinda like skinning a bullfrog, ushers in a darkly haunting piece. After this, the acoustic piano of 'Two Brothers Fall' offers a personal, grounded moment — quietly beautiful, even autobiographical in its tone, Posthuman are moving through to the other side here. 'Up against the wall' steps back through the portal, bringing still the crystal melodies, until one wicked crisp break drops, pushing the centre of the album on to new heights. 'A child after beating' sustains this strangely altered, disturbed but resilient mood, 'As Old As The Waterfall' revels in almost symphonic bliss, riding a deep, puttering electronic undertow, like an underground stream. 'The skull' brings a rude awakening, square bass as we like and a brooding, gathering, time is running out sensation. Ending with the title track, there's an eerie feeling of images seen, energy dissolving, time travelled — the heightened beats' production bring to mind classic moments of the Boards' darker, more intense cousins."

VA: Seed Records Volume One CD (SEED 06CD). $7.50

"Uniting all the best elements of electro, breaks, 2 step, melodic electronics and serious bass, this is real London circa Spring 2003. Seed Records, co-founded by Skam artists Posthuman, and DJ & writer Bruce McClure, has fully grown from a label for their own productions to an engrossing, encompassing family of sound system challengers. Tracks from glitchy 2-step breakmaster Ardisson — the beautiful violins of sometime Toytronic operator Digitalton — the twisted breakbeat, robotic humour of Chicago's [snyzch] and the unique sound of Germany's On/Off, this is a varied, comprehensive overview of Seed's next 12 months worth of killer releases. Newcomers The Video Age drop some bugging cut up booty style business, and on this evidence their first release proper should be a corker. Jazzfinger and Cold Fusion Mafia brandish a subtle inflection to jazz and digital dub, then check the impersonal electro and breaking data of Kansas City Prophets and the spannered junglisms of Peachfish's 'Pushkin', and if there was any doubt in your mind, check the deliberate build up to the massive beats of Posthuman's awesome 'Moment of weakness'."

SEELAND:

NEGATIVLAND: These Guys Are From England And Who Gives A Shit CD (SEE 021CD). $13.00

"Ten years ago this September, Bay Area culture-jammers Negativland found their latest record sued out of existence by the mainstream music industry. Now, ten years later, delivered to Seeland Records in a brown paper wrapper with no identifying information, comes this historical audio archive of Negativland's apparently illegal acts involving some unwilling guys from Ireland (though it says here they're from 'England'). If you've ever wondered what made Negativland (in) famous, this legally impossible compilation of studio and unreleased live radio and in-concert versions of their 'most sued work' should suitably exhaust your interest forever. From its casually unconsidered inception to its final induction into the Rock 'n' Roll Lawyers' Hall Of Fame, this is the definitive collection of Negativland's most criminal music."

NEGATIVLAND: Deathsentences Of The Polished And Structurally Weak BOOK/CD (SEE 023CD). $24.00

"An elaborate 6"x12" 64-page full color book with full-length CD, packaged together inside a die-cut custom designed automotive courtesy envelope. Four years in the making, this release is an ambitious, moving and astonishing project, even for Negativland. The book offers poignant, funny, sad, and voyeuristic glimpses into lives which may be very different than your own... or perhaps quite familiar. The CD soundtrack is a meticulously layered and ever-shifting electro-acoustic soundscape created to accompany the book. Negativland's newest conceptual opus moves into a very different direction than the cut-up anti-corporate creations they are more known for. 'Found art' replaces 'found sound,' and this 'art' is drawn from some very personal places."

VA: Deconstructing Beck CD (SEE 507CD). $9.00

"Actual copies of this now somewhat legendary release, sponsored/funded by the covert prankster/cultural-sabotage/art-terrorist organization Artmark (@?ark), responsible for such direct anti-corporate acts as authorizing the yingyang switch of respective voice-synthesizing circuits in Barbie/GI Joe dolls (resulting in a somewhat whimsical genre-bent controversy), released on Negativland's Seeland imprint. Beck himself has apparently repealed the cease & desist order laid out by his parent/holding company, Geffen and their investors/associates, so owning this is no longer an anti-establishment deed. The tracks themselves are made up wholly of Beck-audio (the brunt of which was sampled legally by the Dust Brothers with a bit more tact) and fashioned into somewhat uninspired collage-work or doss lo-beat techno bump. In fact most of these tracks are made solely of the Johnny Jenkins 'I Walk on Gilded Splinters' break (used famously by Beck on 'Loser') making this effectively more of a Deconstructing Jenkins release than anything else. But the reality of Beck-musik pouring out of every hidden Mall-corner broadcast system makes it a somewhat necessary example of the bastard-art/layman-culture bonding process." — Hrvatski.

OSTERTAG, BOB: Like A Melody, No Bitterness (Solo Volume One) CD (SEE 508CD). $12.00

"Solo sampler set, recorded February 1997 at the University of Technology, Sydney, under the sponsorship of the Australian Broadcasting Corporation. 'The source audio was culled from the sound palette I have been using in improvised music for some years. These include the guitar playing of Fred Frith (used for several minutes about two-thirds of the way through), the sax playing of John Zorn (used for a few seconds), and a whole bunch of other stuff. All of it has been pretty much twisted beyond recognition.' Pretty great electronic improv-plunder-mania from the guy that pretty much put that sort of activity on the map." — Hrvatski.

OSTERTAG, BOB: Verbatim Flesh & Blood CD (SEE 512CD). $12.00

Mark Dresser, bass; Gerry Hemmingsway, drums; Phil Minton, voice. "Seeland is proud to release Verbatim Flesh & Blood, the fourth and final CD in Bob Ostertag's seven year 'Say No More' series. This project is, without exaggeration, unique in the history of music. On the surface it is simply a superb quartet featuring four virtuosos. But the group coexists with a digital mirror of itself. Changing form as it becomes virtual, then flesh and blood, then virtual again, the music combines the emotional power of live performance with the technical power of computer music, making a hybrid that transcends both media."

OSTERTAG, BOB: Sooner Or Later CD (SEE 514CD). $13.00

"Seeland is proud to announce the reissue of Bob Ostertag's? Sooner Or Later, an underground classic of digital sampling and sound manipulation. The sounds Ostertag uses are all from one recording of a young boy in El Salvador burying his father, who had been killed by El Salvador's US-backed army. There is the sound of the boy's voice, the shovel digging the grave as it strikes stone and dirt, and a fly buzzing nearby. The only other sounds come complements of British avant-guitar master Fred Frith. Recorded in 1989 when Ostertag had just returned to music after years working in the Salvadoran revolution, the first edition quickly sold out and has been out of print for 10 years. This may be the most intense piece of music ever made, and may be too intense for many. Excruciatingly sad, it is also unbelievably beautiful."

PLUNDERPHONICS: 69 Plunderphonics 96 2CD (SEE 515CD). $28.00

"Eleven years after Michael Jackson forced a halt to this 'wild...brilliant' (Rolling Stone) package, Plunderphonics is back, and it's twice as big as ever. Five dozen tracks on two discs in this deluxe twenty-seven year retrospective box set packed with legendary and notorious previously banned cuts, including the first rap song ever ('Power', from 1975), the first jungle track ('Birth') plus never-before-heard material; complete with double-size replications of all the Plunderphonics collages and a long revealing interview with project reproducer John Oswald, in a full-color 48 page exposé, all wrapped in an eye-catching, spot-the-celebrities, digibook hardback case. The genre Plunderphonics is the transformation of familiar music into surprisingly new music by any of dozens of unique and radical techniques. This collection is as categorically diverse and evocative as a blockbuster movie soundtrack, with symphonic orchestral implosions (Strauss, Beethoven, et al) interspersed with speed metal, C&W, swing, and exotica. Every curious listener will want to find out if it's really the Beatles, Metallica, Elvis, Sonic Youth, The Doors, James Brown, Public Enemy, Igor Stravinsky and dozens more, including Dolly Parton's infamous aural sex change. Get it while you can."

OSTERTAG, BOB: Getting A Head CD (SEE 516CD). $13.50

"Before Sampling, there was analog tape, and...Bob Ostertag's Getting A Head with Fred Frith and Charles K. Noyes. An underground classic of tape manipulation from before the days of samplers. Best known for his work with computers, here a young Ostertag plays an instrument consisting of a highly unstable and peculiar recording system, which uses helium balloons to hold up tape loops between three tape recorders made to malfunction in a variety of ways. Even today there is no computer that can do quite what this contraption does. Ostertag uses this rather sculptural and bizarre contraption to manipulate the brilliant guitar playing of Fred Frith, and the elusive percussion work of Charles K. Noyes. Originally released 21 years ago as an LP on Rift, the 1,000-copy run quickly disappeared into the abyss of the collectors item."

OSTERTAG, BOB: Say No More Volumes 1 & 2 CD (SEE 521CD). $15.00

"Seeland announces the first of two releases that comprise the entire Say No More Project of Bob Ostertag. This project is, without exaggeration, unique in the history of music: a virtuoso quartet that co-exists with a digital mirror of itself. Ostertag began by sending the musicians, separately, into studios with no instructions other than to record improvisations. Using a computer, he exploded the solos into fragments, and created a virtual 'band' from the pieces, then challenged the musicians to learn the works he had created — in effect, to re-learn their own playing, but as heard through the prism of Ostertag's manipulations. The ensemble began to develop a life of its own as the musicians struggled to perform the computer-derived material. The Say No More Project, CDs 1 & 2, shows this remarkable work. The first CD, Say No More, features the works Ostertag made on the computer. The second, Say No More In Person, features the live ensemble performing the fractured computer composition created from their solos. These are re-issues of out of print titles long unavailable and never available together, packaged in a beautiful hand silk-screened steel box with color inserts. The presentation is as original and elegant as the music."

OSTERTAG, BOB: Say No More Volumes 3 & 4 CD (SEE 522CD). $15.00

"This project is, without exaggeration, unique in the history of music: a virtuoso quartet that co-exists with a digital mirror of itself. Ostertag sent the musicians (featuring Mark Dresser and Gerry Hemingway, who were members of the Anthony Braxton Quartet for 10 years), separately, into studios with no instructions other than to record improvisations. Using a computer, he exploded the solos into fragments, and created a virtual 'band' from the pieces (Vol. 1). The musicians then learned the resulting compositions, and eventually recorded a live CD (Vol. 2). He then put the live concert recording back into the computer, blew it up, and made a new work (Vol. 3). Finally, the group recorded this piece in a stunning concert in Gent, Belgium."

XEROPHONICS: Xerophonics CD (SEE 524CD). $13.00

"Xerophonics is a CD for anyone who has stood near a copying machine and found the sounds of staple sorting oddly groovy, the noises of the paper jam compellingly funky, and the hum of standby mode vaguely soothing. Recombining the sampled sounds of copying machines, Xerophonics delivers an extended pun on sampling itself, copying the sound of copying. Fans of the cut-up, reorganized sounds of Christian Marclay; Stock, Hausen, and Walkman; and Negativland will enjoy these sonic x-rays of the ghosts in photocopying machines. Xerophonics is dance music for disaffected office workers, grindcore for fanzine formatters, and ambient soundtrack for mystics in the age of ubiquitous machines."

OSTERTAG, BOB: DJ of the Month CD (SEE 526CD). $13.00

"Bob Ostertag's second volume of solo electronic improvisation. As 'DJs' multiply like bunnies in a field, Seeland invites you to check out the work of someone who has been working at electronic music for more than five minutes. A lifetime, in fact. A true master. Is he sampling? Manipulating turntables? Playing a synthesizer? To tell the truth, we don't really know, and neither will you. But he is playing it live, and it sure sounds cool. Like music, as a matter of fact. By almost any measure, Ostertag is an extreme radical. His strategies range somewhere between those of John Cage, academic computer musicians, brutally expressive free improvisers, and Che Guevara. With entrance into Ostertag's world comes a severe attitude adjustment. You have to curb your brain, dump your 'common sense' judgments, and peel away the calluses that have built up over the vulnerable core of your senses. Listening becomes cultural time travel at warp speed."

EVOLUTION CONTROL COMMITTEE: Plagiarhythm Nation v2.0 CD (SEE 527CD). $13.50

"Columbus, Ohio-based band for 16 years. And the name is apt as The ECC evolved the world of music as the grandfathers of the Bastard Pop craze that swarmed the UK in 2002. Their grandchild: the legendary and heavily bootlegged duet of Chuck D. (Public Enemy) and Herb Alpert, which got The ECC's name appearing in The New York Times and elsewhere. Many bands get MTV play, but how many have C-SPAN in their credits? THE ECC do, thanks to a narrowly-avoided suit from CBS after sampling Dan Rather over AC/DC."

POREST: Prude Juice for the Heritage Swinger CD (SEE 528CD). $13.00

"The debut album from Bay Area-based composer and audio documentarian, Porest (a founding member of improv-ethno-pranktioners Mono Pause). Prude Juice for the Heritage Swinger is a collection of carefully-arranged sound weavings variously employing cut-ups, music and field recordings, and is stacked with snappy plunderphonics, exploitative pop tunes, paranormal suites, loops, drones and imaginary radio dramas. Somewhere between the manic and the meditative, Prude Juice for the Heritage Swinger blurs the sonic truths and lies about sheep, Gordon Lightfoot, paranormal misogyny, gamelan-soaked war veterans, our Nazi heritage, law, order and diseases known well to those who have ever reluctantly caressed the cancerous underbelly of Americana. Porest spits the juices all over the concrete, then pieces the tiny pillage back together like an insolent jigsaw."

MANASSEH MEETS THE EQUALIZER: Step Like Pepper 2LP (SELEC 1010). $17.00

Double LP version.

MORE ROCKERS: Select Cuts From More Rockers 12" Selection 2LP (SELEC 1011 LP). $15.00

[CD version forthcoming] "Select Cuts proudly presents the essential peaks of the dub, break beat, jungle, early garage beats and subsonic disco time of More Rockers original 12" Selection. It's the place where 70's Reggae merges with the millennium, and soulful vocals add a softer edge to the jungle beat. Brought to you by Bristol Producers Rob Smith (formerly one half of Smith & Mighty) and Peter D (part of the early Massive Attack line up), come the vibes of a previous era via the technology of the future. Originally following their own direction, which has led them around the globe, the pair eventually united after years of friendship and respect for each other's work, to create something new in the town that has been the backdrop for many individuals responsible for changing the face of modern music. Out of the rave scene of the 80's mutated the break beats that were to evolve into the jungle of the early 90ies, leading to the artist and label collective known as More Rockers. Home grown in Bristol at its own pace, this compilation of early vinyl digital dub tracks, mixed with more cutting edge vibes, features the talented vocals of Henry & Louis and Marilyn McFarlane. Included on the album is 'First Time I Saw Your Face'. Voted by Melody Maker's music critic as his single of the year in December 1995, due to it's 'superb use of dub effects and spine-shifting chords, elaborated upon by melting Joanna Law's a cappella version of Roberta Flack's track over the top and twisting the f*** out of it.' Laid back and enjoy the buzz..."

VA: Select Cuts From Nation 2LP (SELEC 1014 LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

VA: Wild Dub - Dread Meets Punk Rocker 2LP (SELEC 1017 LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

LEBLANC, KEITH: Major Malfunction 2LP (SELEC 1023 LP). $17.00

Double LP version. "Keith LeBlanc started out as a session drummer with Sugarhill Records, early 1980's. He formed the Sugar Hill House Band with fellow Americans Doug Wimbish (bass) and Skip 'Little Axe' McDonald (guitar), working with leading rap artists as The Sugarhill Gang (Rapper's Delight), Grandmaster Flash and Melle Mel on The Message and Freedom. From his own Malcolm X No Sell Out, the first ever sampling record, on Tommy Boy Records (1983) to his involvement in creating the sound of funk noise giants Tackhead with Wimbish, McDonald and British dub producer Adrian Sherwood, he has gained recognition as one of the top and most innovative drummer/programmers around. His landmark album Major Malfunction (considered to be the first Tackhead recording, although credited to LeBlanc solo) was of great influence to a whole generation of musicians. When Keith LeBlanc saw space shuttle Challenger blow up on January 28, 1986, in a live television broadcast, it inspired him to make the track 'Major Malfunction', and the tracks name was to become the title of his debut album with heavy political avant-industrial-dub."

VA: Select Cuts From Blood & Fire Vol.2 CD (SELEC 2002 CD). $14.50

"The first part of the Select Cuts From Blood & Fire series was given an enthusiastic reception on dancefloors and soundsystems the world over; so it was a joy for Select Cuts to compile a worthy successor from extremely intriguing sound files. The Select Cuts label proudly presents — once again — a remix — or rather reconstructed — album of a very special kind. In collaboration with Blood & Fire, Manchester's top label for reggae re-releases, an unprecedented project has been realized: Old reggae classics in modern styles. Blood & Fire generously provided the rights to their catalogue which caused quite a few first-rate dub and reggae loving artists and remixers to be more than just a little interested. They were given the unique opportunity to choose from the rich and fabled B&F archives and then produce a 'reconstructed' version of their favourite track. Creativity and technical knowledge were called for — the multi-tracks of those titles disappeared years ago! The superstars of the progressive dub-dance-letfield scene rallied to pay tribute to their heroes and the result is a most excellent super-smooth dance album (with a very very impressive track-listing)." Original tracks by: Scientist, Yabby You, Max Romeo, I-Roy, Glen Brown & King Tubby, King Tubby & Soul Syndicate, Morwell Unlimited meets King Tubby, Linval Thompson, Prince Alla, King Tubby feat. Horace Andy. Remixes by: Dan Donovan, Apollo 440, Segs Jennings/Steve Dub/Holt, Winston Blissett/John Tonks, Nick Manasseh, Leftfield's Half Past Dub, Zion Train, Kid Loco, Plexiq, Black Star Liner, Iration Steppas vs Kitachi, Mr. Scruff, Jah Wobble, Seven Dub, Dubphonic.

VA: Select Cuts From Blood & Fire Vol.3 CD (SELEC 2003 CD). $14.50

"The Select Cuts label proudly presents — once again and a final chapter: a remix — or rather reconstructed — album of a very special kind. In collaboration with Blood & Fire, Manchester's top label for reggae re-releases, an unprecedented project has been realized: old reggae classics in modern styles! Blood & Fire generously provided the rights to their catalogue which caused quite a few first-rate dub and reggae loving artists and remixers to be more than just a little interested. KING TUBBY: 100% Of Dub — Select Cuts CD (SELEC 2005 CD). $12.00

"Jamaican sound engineer and musical aesthete Osbourne Ruddock aka King Tubby is widely credited with being the original dub creator. The results of his experiments in the early and mid-1970s pervade all areas of contemporary dance music. King Tubby's instrument was the mixing desk, and like jazz musicians before him, his passion was finding ways to make it do things that hadn't been done before. It began during a stint with Ruddy Redwood's Treasure Isle Sound System. Tubby decided that more could be done and introduced primitive echo and reverb units to his Home Town Hi-Fi system, adding the extra spatial dimension that became the hallmark of dub. He played an instrumental right after the original version and the crowd went crazy. Back home in his primitive studio, he went further, creating a sort of DIY graphic equaliser that allowed him to take out various elements, accentuate others and end up with the signature, beautiful bass-heavy echoing sound. It was a sensation — a full, warm, mind-bending groove — and soon enough, King Tubby was the most sought-after engineer in Jamaica. Now Select Cuts proudly presents twenty ground breaking tracks of shimmering bass-heavy magic. All of the productions are under Fatman and Bunny Lee control with mixing beauties by King Tubby in his studio. Dizzy rhythms by Sly &

Robbie and more significant perfection by the creme of Jamaican studio artists like Earl 'Chinna' Smith, Jackie Mittoo, Aston Barrett or Augustus Pablo just to name a few. 100 % Of Dub - Select Cuts presents 20 different cuts of Tubby's dub experiments in a style of music that possessed its own innate spirituality, the spacious echo and vast reverb emitting a profound vibe."

DUBBLE STANDARD: Streets Of Dub CD (SELEC 2007 CD). $14.50

"Out of Vienna, Dubblestandart is working since the early 90's for dub music as their musical direction, combining mid-European inspirations with their love for reggae music — focusing on dub, flexing electronic tools, analogue delays and synthesizers with reggae beats, while experimenting with a lot of styles being reggae untypical. Working also as a backing band for Dillinger, Lee Perry, Topcat or Lillian Allen on their European tours made them also become a strong live-formation. Surrounded by an upcoming electronic scene in their hometown, their new long player Streets Of Dub shows some of their early works and brand new stuff, but also remixes with local artists like Waldeck, or the host of Dub Club Vienna, Sugar B (= early Kruder & Dorfmeister MC). Working with Mad Professor or Rootsman made their music remixed by leading producers of the international dub scene. Streets Of Dub also shows that dub music is not just reflecting a higher need in the public for contemporary contra-commercial, spaced out music with a roots touch, but also that dub music might move from behind the mixing desk to the front of the stage, with powerful instrumentalism and an ability to reflect vibrations of a freaking planet."

COOL HIPNOISE: Select Cuts Showcase & More CD (SELEC 2008 CD). $14.50

"Cool Hipnoise started in Lisboa, Portugal, 1994 with a perfect merge of several musical styles, from Jazz to Soul, to Reggae, to African and Brazilian beats. The main influence of their musical repertoire are the world metropolitan cities like Havana, Kingston, and Lisboa. All of the tracks appear in a showcase style, means vocal version is followed by a special dub or instrumental version, except for the cover of Nirvana's 'Come As You Are', which appears strictly dubwise. Manasseh's production was exactly the style Cool Hipnoise was looking for: pounding rhythms, merciless bass, keyboard hooks, percussion bubbles and vibrating vocals. The Last Poets, for example, contribute with their excellent voices and very specific lyrics on the smasher 'C'mon Family', and Marga Mungwambe and Orlando Santos with their own sort of latin-afro flavour, making the album a blistering pulse of contemporary life style."

VA: Babylon Is Ours - The USA In Dub CD (SELEC 2009). $14.50

"American artists offer an exceptionally diverse take on the sonic ideals of the mystical genre dub. Just pop this bad boy into your player, and absorb these 12 exclusive tracks for the dubwise revelations that they are. From the gently stepping 'Warrior Style' by Nashville/New York's Phase Selector and the sunbaked 'Prisoner Of Dub' by Texas's Sub Oslo, to the now-school dub 'n' bass mash-up of 'Uptown Jungle' by Avatars Of Dub from Washington DC and the skank-bounce of 'Distant' by ZEB from NYC. Babylon Is Ours - The USA In Dub was conceived and compiled by Ron Nachmann, journalist for the electronic music and culture magazine XLR8R and DJ Sep aka Sep Ghadishah of the San Francisco club night Dub Mission."

MANASSEH MEETS THE EQUALIZER: Step Like Pepper CD (SELEC 2010). $14.50

"Nick Manasseh began producing music for sound system exclusives around 1986 with the project Sound Iration In Dub which first single 'Seventh Seal' was the first new wave UK dub track. The album was released on W.A.U. Mr. Modo Records, a label that was the brainchild of Alex Patterson (The Orb) and Youth (Killing Joke). Since that time, Nick Manasseh is an exclusive part of the international reggae roots-soundsystem scene with crossover potential to jazz, avantgarde and black flavour. On double vinyl and CD they are presenting 14 new tracks and mixes in a quality you never heard before. Wicked and wild — straight to Brixton Town, London with a return to Kingston Jamaica."

VA: Meteo Sound CD (SELEC 2013 CD). $14.50

Featuring: Tikiman, Thomas Fehlman, Bus, Dntel, Barbara Morgenstern, etc. "Braiding together what belongs together: between experimental reggae, dub-influenced laptop sounds, dubby remixes of Berlin fragility and exponents of the UK neo dub tradition, the Select Cuts label presents the Berlin based sound operators Meteosound and friends which have joined the winding ways of a wide variety of dub experimentalists on a compilation. Combining the best of both worlds with his Meteosound nights at celebrated Berlin venue Maria Am Ostbahnhof, mastermind Daniel Meteo did not just organise blinding dancehall and reggae events with international favourites like Adrian Sherwood's On-U Soundsystem and Blood & Fire Soundsystem as well as local activists. At the same time he kept a close eye on the genre's more eclectic frontiers, inviting artists such as Thomas Fehlmann, Alex Paterson (both heavily associated with The Orb), Kitty?Yo artist Rechenzentrum, Scap artist and label owner Pole (on whose latest album he played guitar), Monolake or last but not least his project Bus where Meteo is one half beside Tom Thiel, the Sun Electric member — check out the Bus remix for Plug Research recent artist shooting star Dntel. Furthermore Meteo nurtures a far-reaching network of all songwriters, laptop and electronica experts with an affinity to reggae and dub. Meteosound now takes an in-depth look at the broad spectrum of their activities. Overall, the tracks gathered are listening music that is nevertheless capable of cooking up a storm on the dance floor, bursting with surprises in the down- and midtempo ranges while irreverently trying out everything short of cosy and huggy dub. The 12" EP accompanying the CD release again points towards the club, a sphere regularly frequented and furthered by Meteo. With the exception of Vienna Dub Club, G-Stone associated Sugar B artist, all tracks on Meteosound are exclusive."

VA: Select Cuts From Nation CD (SELEC 2014 CD). $14.50

"Select Cuts proudly presents this collection of excellent selected stuff from the Nation Records label. Welcome to a world where the breakbeat sits happily with the dharabuka and the tabla; where Middle Eastern vocals weave themselves around Middle Western dance grooves; where the sweat from the ceiling of a packed London club drips onto the concentrated face of a Sufi Qawwali master. The idea of sounds and instruments, normally thousands of miles apart, existing harmoniously in the grooves of the same track is not the novelty it was ten years ago and Nation were some way responsible for this. The artists featured on this album are a few of the many that have passed through Nation's bowels: Fun-Da-Mental, Transglobal Underground, Joi and Loop Guru, who were all there right from the beginning and early work by Talvin Singh, Jah Wobble and Natacha Atlas. As the 90s progressed, Nation were exploring further ideas of fusion via a variety of names: Asian Dub Foundation, Lunar Drive, Urban South, TJ Rehmi, Xangbetos and Swami. Today the sounds Nation had released a decade ago still carry a healthy spoonful of groundbreaking innovation and creativity. The music can gain without conforming to someone else's rules, with integrity uncompromised and intact."

SCIENTIST: Step It Up (Black Star Liner + Don Letts Remix) 10" (SELEC 6004). $7.50

"Side A has Leeds Asian rocker Black Star Liner's 'inna cool vocoder' version with a little vocal sample lifted from Glen Brown. The connections between dub reggae and the massive developments in the variety and extent of the Asian music scene in the UK has not yet been fully explored, but Black Star Liner would be a good place to start as the fit between the two apparently disparate genres is best demonstrated by this outfit. On the B-side Don Letts, combines with ex-Dreadzone member Dan Donovan for this steppers-style reconstruction on the Scientist dub of 'Step It Up' from 'Dub Gone Crazy', the second release in the history of Blood & Fire which featured King Tubby and his main disciples like Scientist and Prince Jammy from Dromilly Avenue, Kingston."

YABBY YOU: Upsetter Mix + Apollo 440 Mix 10" (SELEC 6005). $8.00

"Features the original Lee Perry 'Upsetter Mix' entitled Rally Dub (taken from Yabby You's Jesus Dread album) and a great version of the 'Run Come Rally' anthem by rave rockers Apollo 440 — Howard Grey the old dub 'n' punk mastermind in the house with mix programming from Simon Crom. The original was cut at the Black Ark circa 1974 and is to be found on the double CD compilation of the artist/producer's finest moments compiled by Dub Vendor's Noel Hawkes (BAFCD021). Apollo 440 quotes their mix as follows: 'Central to working method is the idea of the recording studio as an instrument. Everyday for spiritual uplift and sonic inspiration we turn to the Old Testament prophets of dub — Lee Perry, King Tubby, Scientist and the other innovators at the controls, alchemists of magnetic iron oxide who prepared the way for all those of us who make electronic music. The opportunity to have Yabby You's righteous words and Lee 'Scratch' Perry's dubbery pulsing through the console at our Apollo control was to good to miss, it was a pleasure and a privilege. Dedicated to Adrian Sherwood, Mikey Dread, The Ruts, Jackie Mittoo and the UB's who taught me how to skank."

MORWELL UNLIMITED MEETS KING TUBBY: Kid Loco Remix EP 12" (SELEC 6006). $8.00

"Kid Loco is the French equivalent of UK's Mr. Scruff and the US's Peanut Butter Wolf, total beat mayhem with absolutely no scruples as to where the samples are sourced from — it could be some ultra cool seventies jazz thing or on the other hand a cheesy listening piece of vinyl ignored in the junk shop for years. Morwell Unlimited was the band of guitar player Bingy Bunny, a pre Roots Radics outfit — this band got a full portrait on the original Blood & Fire album BAF018 in conjunction with King Tubby. This Select Cuts version of the track 'Morpheus Special' relocates the action from Channel One in Kingston to a gymnasium somewhere in Brooklyn, or is it the Hi Studios in Memphis, for a piece of sassy cool funk. Version by version inna various version style by Kid Loco."

DUBBLE STANDARD FEAT. DILLINGER: 10 Tons Of Dope EP 12" (SELEC 6007). $8.00

Four track EP featuring mixes by Rootsman & Vienna Scientist, plus Superlistenr Dub. "Out of Vienna, Dubblestandart is working since the early 90's for dub music as their musical direction, combining mid-European inspirations with their love for reggae music — focusing on dub, flexing electronic tools, analogue delays and synthesizers with reggae beats, while experimenting with a lot of styles being reggae untypical. Working also as a backing band for Dillinger, Lee Perry, Topcat or Lillian Allen on their European tours made them also become a strong live-formation."

VA: Meteo Sound 12" (SELEC 6013 EP). $8.00

4-track 12" featuring Tikiman, Thomas Fehlman, Dntel, Bus, D Meteo + TTT. "Braiding together what belongs together: between experimental reggae, dub-influenced laptop sounds, dubby remixes of Berlin fragility and exponents of the UK neo dub tradition, the Select Cuts label presents the Berlin based sound operators Meteosound and friends which have joined the winding ways of a wide variety of dub experimentalists on a compilation. The 12" EP accompanying the CD release again points towards the club, a sphere regularly frequented and furthered by Meteo."

SELEKTION (GERMANY):

VA: Selektion CD (SCD 006). $15.00

Selektion is a German collective specializing in "organized sound," and has been one of the most truly mysterious, fascinating labels of crimped experimental sonic output for quite some time. This comp serves as a fine introduction to the label, featuring P16.D4 (the label's founding group) and much material by various members (in solo and combination) — including A. Wollscheid, RLW, Charly Steiger, etc.

RLW: 14 CD (SCD 014). $15.00

Restocked. An overview of P16.D4's R. Wehowsky's recordings from the years 1980-1993. The result "reflects continuity and development in an aesthetic approach embracing discontinuity as a main principle." Comes with a nice set of art prints.

GÜNTHER, BERNHARD: Details Agrandis CD (SCD 018). $15.00

2nd solo CD of very quiet organized sound. Consisting of 3 long pieces (dedicated to Jim O'Rourke, Richard Long & Giancarlo Toniutti respectively), these slowly crawl toward a sound emittance of high pitched tones, low-end disruptions, etc., establishing Gunter as some sort of king of new minimalism. Limited stock.

WOLLSCHIED, ACHIM: Moves CD (SCD 022). $15.00

A CD of lovely, resonating installation sound from Selektion founder Wollscheid. "Once I had the idea to play a house. This happened when the city of Frankfurt, in charge of an investment company and intending to raise the acceptance of a deserted industrial complex, planned to perform a vernissage (make over) in this place. Therefore they needed an artist and an artwork. When I was asked, I thought that it would be apt to the situation to leave the huge space empty of artworks and instead attach a compute-generated clapper to each of the 1400 windows to transform the space into a poly-rhythm box. I liked the plan, but the investors didn't. Nevertheless, I pursued the idea to activate the resonance frequencies of given objects in a space in order to arrive at site- and space-specific compositions which would change with every place and given situation." — Wollscheid.

RLW: Tulpas 5CD (SCD 024). $32.00

Selektion label founder Ralf Wehowsky (aka RLW) has invited some 50 artists to interpret and reflect on his pieces, which are compiled on this stunning 5CD set. Comes in unique packaging, with a 40 page booklet. The participants on this set are: Action Concret, Artificial Memory Trace, Aube, BarAka, M. Behrens, Brume, M. Büsser, Contrastate, Crawl Unit, P. Duimlinks & R. Meelkop, J. Duncan, W. Durand, M. Gendreau, D. Grubbs, C. Heemann, Husk, Idea Fire Company, R. Ikeda, In Be Tween Noise, A. Jasenka, R. Kundrotas, K. Kusafuka, E. Lanzillotta, F. Lopez, L. Marchetti & J. Noetinger, K. B. Moreigne, N.N. und ähnliche Elemente, NMF, J. O'Rourke, Rehberg & Bauer, Runzelstirn & Gurgelstock, B. Russell, M. Sato, J. Smolders, J.P.E.R. Sonntag, Ch. Steiger, Das Synthetische Mischgewebe, J. Thomasius, A. Tietchens, G. Toniutti, Toy Bizarre, T. Tsunoda, E. den Uijl, F. deWaard, J. Watermann & A. Wollscheid. Limited stock.

WEHowsky/LIONEL MARCHETTI: L'Oeil Retourne/Vier Vorspiele CD (SCD 026). $15.00

A split release between the French electroacoustic composer Marchetti (previous CD on Metamkine) and a response to Marchetti's work by Wehowsky. All 3 new CDs come in the new Selektion packaging — elegantly individualistic fold-out card-sleeve designs by Charly Steiger — the maker of the Tulpas design. Regarding Marchetti's original 'L'Oeil retourne' (a 25-minute piece): "Musique concrete realisee en 1995/97, au studio du CFMI de Lyon. Voix de tete: Helene Bettencourt. Citations-collages: Roger de la Frayssenet, Kitnabudja Town; Ralf Wehowsky, Eyes, Pullover; Josephine Leask in London; Bruno et Lionel marchent dans la montagne, ainsi que divers hasards radiophoniques... Une premiere version de cette piece a ete realisee pour une installation plastique de Pierre-Jean Giloux, au Fort Beaugard de Besancon, (France), en Mai 1995." Re: Ralf Wehowsky's 'Vier Vorspiele' (a 17 minute response): "Realized 1996/98 in his kitchen, Karlsruhe. Based on Lionel Marchetti's 'L'Oeil retourne' (version 1995) with additional vocals by Dorothea Conradi and quotations from Splintered/RLW's 'Morraine's Eyes Pt. 4'."

WOLLSCHIED, ACHIM: Acts CD (SCD 028). $15.00

"A 'documentary' CD. 5 pieces (and 5 texts) that document events that used the participation of 'people' or 'audience'. From very early events (a complete reading of the Ulysses in 5 minutes, 1986) to recent ones (the transformer and clapping pieces). Has a hole in the middle."

MS + TOSHIYA TSUNODA: Ful CD (SCD HS 002). $15.00

Second release in Selektion's Host Series, by Minoru Sota & Toshiya Tsunoda. "First of all the recording of the differing states of a sound-scape which developed in and about a room over the period of 60 minutes. At this given time and situation the room and its resonating material was the instrument, which was 'played' by the recording, the recording, which we can listen to was part of the material setting which helped create it: a loop. With a contact microphone attached to the room's window, the sustaining long frequencies of ground noise as well as the cracking sound of a smaller window which derived from changes in the atmospheric pressure and the resulting warps of the window frame, were recorded. All sounds were amplified and at once replayed into the room resulting in a more or less intensified presence of feedback."

SYNAPSES: Synapses IV and V CD (SCD HS 005). $15.00

"Synapses: Jean Luc Guionnet & Eric Cordier (Instrumental device). Synapses is an instrumental device of combined string instruments (acoustic and electric guitars, detuned piano, spinett-vina, hurdy-gurdy and cello), percussion instruments and metal resonators - all interconnected with double-bass, cello and guitar strings. When one string is played the resulting sound or movement is transferred by the connected strings to the next resonator. Thus one action causes several sound events. In fact, it's impossible to touch one element of the system without getting response of the whole device. Synapses is a hanging sensible network. The suspended instruments are kept in tension by strings and springs so that the system will enter a rocking movement in relation to the sonic in — and output of each instrument. These oscillations result from the musicians' actions and constitute steady rhythms, the musicians have to deal with. One string generally connects two resonance bodies, so that the resulting sound is in 'stereo'. While the musicians are moving in the scrub of strings and instruments, there is no head-on relationship between stage and audience. In a concert this device is amplified and spatially distributed via 8 channels. In contrast to the usual stage setting, Synapses is located in the center of a space, while the audience is free to move around during performance."

TMRX: difficulté de comprendre dans le bruit CD (SCD HS 006). $15.00

"A startling combination of field recordings and processings which mutually transform and develop: a sound track of the 'real' in a way, which subcutaneously shifts the symbolic reference between inside (the listeners space) and an imaginary outside."

INADA, KOZO: c) CD (SCD HS 007). $15.00

"All of my music is ruled by one philosophy. The best way for me to create my music is to ignore all conscious sensory input, which places me in a type of subconscious realm with stillness and motion, giving me a feeling of harmony without perception. Through my music I express and hide all of the elements that bring about this feeling. This sounds like a contradiction, but there is a niche for us to enter where this fine balance exists. After you discover this niche, you will identify a feeling that can totally devastate you afterwards. The feeling I get at that moment comes from an inorganic energy, which controls all things. With the aim of expressing this feeling, I use symbolic and realistic sounds, which are very different from each other, while maintaining harmony. With a computer, utilizing natural rules, I continuously strive to make music that produces a perfect audio stream that will carry the listener to this place of harmony." — Kozo Inada

LABELLE, BRANDON: Shadow of a shadow CD (SCD HS 008). $15.00

"...sound is always undermining its own systemization, signifying more than a one to one relation. Rather, a multiplicity of connotations appear with sound and are amplified within its wave: conversations are set in motion between the sounds I make and the sounds already occurring, between the cultural work and the real, between listening and responding. This conversation fluctuates in the slippery fold of meaning, in the agitated space of the real, making it uncertain where one sound originates and the others fade out, where public space starts and private impulse ends, where music is heard and interference disrupts." — Brandon Labelle

RAINEY/GREG KELLEY, BHOP: nmperign CD (SCD HS 009). $15.00

"The accidental nature of the fragile ecology that sustains this tenuous constellation — already under great stress under normal circumstances (perhaps even thriving it) — would not necessarily survive a reconfiguration of its constituent parts, or even an assimilation into existing systems of arts production and dissemination. It is in this context that nmperign war born, and that you find the latest jewel of their music." — Maria Klein

MUZARC: Music and Architecture CD ROM (SCD ROM1). $15.00

"Collected pieces on music and architecture. Your tutor is Achim Wollscheid, with the participation of students of the University of Karlsruhe. The CD-ROM presents an architecture on its own. Compatible for Macs and PCs (Windows 95/98)." The labels's first CD-ROM release, designed as a multi-tiered, very Selektion-like universe of Quick-time videos, looping sound-tracks, aesthetic texts and general mysterious presentation.

SELLWELL (GERMANY):

ESTERMANN, ANDRE: Balloon 2LP (SWLP 001). $14.50

Double LP version in beautiful spot-varnished jacket.

SEMISEXUAL:

MR. PROJECTILE: Love Here EP 12" (SEMI 001EP). $10.00

"The first release on Mr Projectile's new Semisexual imprint pairs him with the vocal talents of Amy Jennings and the remixing skills of Idm luminaries Funckarma and Lusine. The original mix of 'Love Here' is a gorgeous arrangement of complex percussive arrangement, atmospheric melodic overlays and Amy's deeply evocative, layered vocal. Paced in slow motion, the production here is superb, crisp digital cuts and a broad melodic canvas that makes rich use of the vocal element that is so often missing from electronic material of this ilk."

SEMISHIGURE (GERMANY):

GILLICK, LIAM: Capital CD (SEMI 001 CD). $13.00

"A label specialising on CDs made by contemporary visual artists. The first release is the soundtrack CD for the film Capital by painter and video artist Sarah Morris. Released last year and shown in the Hamburger Bahnhof in Berlin and the Guggenheim in New York amongst other places, it gives a fast-paced and gorgeously filmed look into the (political) life of Washington DC. The 18-minute soundtrack score has been made by artist Liam Gillick and has been rerecorded especially for this CD release. Released in an edition of 500."

KUBISCH, CHRISTINA: Diapason CD (SEMI 002 CD). $14.00

"Germany most famous sound artist with a new album recorded exclusively with tuning forks. A meditative album that takes on a different meaning, feeling and association with every sound, in places almost microsound-ish and in others like a heavily delayed gamelan set. Comes with a beautiful 16-page colour booklet with shots of the tuning forks and the installation where this piece is taken from. Limited to 500 copies."

KUBISCH, CHRISTINA: Twelve Signals CD (SEMI 004CD). $18.00

"New CD from German sound artist Christina Kubisch on Semishigure, a similar exploration of sound & silence as the first one, Diapason (semi 002). On Twelve Signals Kubisch used original miner bells from a German mine to produce an hour long piece of bell tones. Several electrical bells were hit with small hammers each giving forth a sequence of clear bell tones that hover in the air. This live recording was made in the St. Matthaeus-Kirche in Berlin: halfway through the recording the original ringing of the church bells mixes with the sounds of the recorded miner bells."

ROCKENSCHAUB, GERWALD: Private Pleasures CD (SEMI 005CD). $18.00

"Gerwald Rockenschau is one of the most wellknown visual artists, currently living in Berlin. Apart from making art he has been deeply involved with music from the start, playing in bands, DJ-ing, organising parties in his former hometown Vienna and occasionally composing music which got released mostly through his own Definitely Something label. Private Pleasures is his first album in more than 5 years, a perfect showcase of his weird and very personal hybrid of half-defunct techno rhythms and a great sensibility for electronic music."

SENDER (GERMANY):

LAKIZZ, K.: Schwebstaub 12" (SENDER 001). $9.00

"The first female producer from Cologne, K. Lakizz sends out three deep minimal tracks with a special flow. She also did a track called 'Ein Geist gab mir Feuer,' that was released on the Coletiva de Gigolos 12" EP, which features soulful sounds with strange beat-programming. The half-Italian K. Lakizz appears now with her debut EP. It contains magically arranged minimalism with a strong atmospheric mover ('Bayer ag'), an emotional, fragile track, and on the a-side, 'non importa' with a deep bassline, an Italian vocal-sample and important string sounds."

KONFEKT: Krokant 12" (SENDER 005). $9.00

"One crispy shuffle techno track & one spheric punchy minimal stomper."

WELTZWEI: Intercity 12" (SENDER 006). $9.00

"Minimal tekhouse a la Plug Research. Very crispy & precious!"

FAIRLEY, JAKE: CN Tower 12" (SENDER 007). $9.00

"Very hot minimalmover with Studio 1-like basslines from Canada's finest. A must."

VA: SL 24 12" (SENDER 008). $9.00

"24 Huge lockgrooves by Technasia, Rok, Auftrieb, T. Schaeben, Raumschmiere, M:I:5, Dietrich Schoenemann, Oliver Kopp, Vincent Radar, Kero, Konfekt, Trike, etc. Each artist's name is etched in between the grooves..."

RADAR, VINCENT: Broadcast 12" (SENDER 009). $9.00

"The next smash for Sender: genius advanced clubtrax containing a brilliant shuffleburner."

VA: Sender Compilation CD (SENDER 010). $15.00

"The label with the TV-Tower-Logo presents its own Status Quo with the Sender - Panorama CD. Swinging between the German fixed points Cologne and Berlin one was established after meanwhile ten releases quite fast as international base for minimal Techno. The timeless sound, reduced to the substantial, paired with funkiness and innovative functionality in the club belong to the brand name. Two years label history are now taken up for this only on CD available compilation, and clarify the line of Sender. 8 of the most outstanding themesongs from the label catalog as well as 2 so far unreleased Tracks are radiated, whereby the own Style expands quite communications-engineering-wise, between transmitting and receiving." Artists include: Benno Blome, Weltzwei, T. Raumschmiere, K. Lakizz, Jake Fairley, Sluts'N'Strings & 909, Vincent Radar.

FAIRLEY, JAKE: Exploder 12" (SENDER 011). $9.00

"Sensational high resolution funk by Toronto's finest techno performer. Essential."

FAIRLEY, JAKE: Crisis CD (SENDER 015 CD). $15.00

"Berlin based Sender Records releases with Crisis the first long player by Canadian Techno artist Jake Fairley. This album shows the broad range of Fairley's style from funky Techno to deep, minimal TechHouse and ambient tracks. All this is tied closed together by Fairley's charming attitude towards his music. Crisis is Jake Fairley's most sophisticated production so far and an exiting piece of music."

FAIRLEY, JAKE: Crisis 2LP (SENDER 015 LP). $16.00

Double vinyl version.

JOST, CARSTEN: Pinksilver 12" (SENDER 016). $9.00

"Two deep, pervasive tracks provide thrilling suspense and cultivate the best moments of the night, no matter if 'Pink' or 'Silver'... After releases on Dial, Ladomat and Klang Jost now appears on Berlin's Sender Records. 'Pink' is burning post-minimalism at its best. Once reversed 'Silver' is rocking dark, dry and hypnotic."

MISC.: Grey Noises 12" (SENDER 018). $9.00

"Grey Noises is the follow-up to the favoured Relay EP from the multilateral techhouse-duo Misc. With this twotracker they are back again to take another step forward. Grey Noises is a technoid floorburner, whereas You can go comes along more housy. Both sides are predestined to be played at the peaktime. Misc. are Christopher Bleckmann and Hannes Wenner, also known for their numerous projects, that are musically oriented in different directions, like for example Niederflur, Monophase, Van Delta or Clubsessel. With Grey Noises they represent explicitly the typical Sender-Sound with crisp noises, funky Basslines and encoded voice messages."

BABY FORD: Messenger 12" (SENDER 019). $9.00

"A bassline to loose your pants and very sexy in general. Real killer by this legend."

VA: SL24_2 12" (SENDER 020). $9.00

SL24_2 is the follow-up to the first SL24 record from 2001. It's a series of Loops — Compilations with 24 Loops, 12 on each side, made by the Sender artist-family and friends. From minimal, hypnotic to funky, driving techno, each loop is a timeless DJ tool. The SL24- project is a perfect exercise in minimalism, because less is more, a loop can be a track, check it out..." Artists include: k.lakizz, Carsten Jost, Benno Blome, Dicks On Weed, Konkord, Trike, Jake Fairley, Misc, Baby Ford, 2 Dollar Egg, weltZwei, Eight Miles High, Wassermann, Memory Foundation, Thomas Gwosdz, Akufen, Michael Mayer, Peter Grummich, Marc Holste, Kero, Dave Tarrida, and Dimbman.

RADER/TRIKE, VINCENT: Split 1 12" (SENDER 021). $9.00

"Strong minimal in a typical Sender style. Heavy bottom and electrifying highs. Tip." First release in a new series of split singles.

FAIRLEY, JAKE: Cold World 12" (SENDER 022). $9.00

"Cold World has created excitement ahead of its release. This is not without reason since 'Cold World' is a straight-up anthem — an obvious hit. The epic-strings in the Trance-Rock mix produce a deep and emotional mood without any doubt. Arms will be up in the air by the time Jake's electric guitar-broken voice hits the mic. The Original Mix is much more subtle, yet still moving minus the vocals, and reaches the signature crisp-techno-funk of Sender. 'Cold World' will probably be heard frequently in the near future, it's the official winter anthem in the house of Sender."

GRUMMICH, PETER: Big & Humble 12" (SENDER 023). $9.00

"Brill, raw techno by Berlin's rising star. 1 shuffle, 2 straight ones. Recommended."

WELTZWEI: Expander 12" (SENDER 024). $9.00

"The new Weltzwei is here. The project of Benno Blome and Matthias Klein takes it once again to their familiar signal-tower techno, nether-worlds. On the A-side 'Expander' comes along all smooth yet full of the type of vibes that simply beg you to move to the check what De:Bug had to say: 'very dark and dry flashes along with a digging monstrous bass, worked-up acid slices, and a rave-the hunt until the bass-line manages to penetrate into back brain regions. Wow, what glorious deteriorated drug sounds. Ah well, 'Reflektor' gives us a charming B-side. Weltzwei goose bumps seem to be programmed. Glitch-pop vs. ambient noise, the bass-line destroys."

FAIRLEY, JAKE: Going Down The Road 12" (SENDER 026). $9.00

"Jake Fairley, the unquieted deliverer of heart-warming techno tracks, has done it again: his new 12" Going Down The Road throws us three of these unforgettable intensive tracks before our feet, which emote the typical Fairley suction force onto the dance floor. The title Going Down The Road comes from a Canadian cult movie that has to do with travel on the roads and highways of Canada. The A-side's 'The Rock' makes its way with easy force and brittle rock planes, simultaneously uncompromising and emotive. The A2 track, 'Highway 10', swings under its porous surface incomparably lax and uninterested in letting you loose. On the B-side there hides 'Oshaw' that some might have heard on Fairley's crisis CD from 2002. Now 'Oshaw' is available on wax for all the dj's and vinyl-junkies out there. Until now it was merely released as a promo B-side which DJ's like Sven Väth and Laurent Garnier shot into clubs worldwide. Jake Fairley combines almost sacral strings with his charming hypnotic funk. A bass line chugs steadfast underneath it all, getting by with what's necessary to make the last few heads flip out."

BLOME & GRUMMICH: Headcleaner 12" (SENDER 027). $9.00

"The first collaborative production between the Berliners Peter Grummich and Benno Blome cleans your ears very thoroughly. Basically, 'Headcleaner' is about pressureful and crackling bass lines that continuously modulate towards the climax. It rocks and grinds heavily with this shrubbing climax that seemingly never wants to end. The broken broadband grooves distort the charm of Sender's typical TV tower techno. Benno Blome is the Sender Records chief as well as a member of the project weltZwei which just recently landed a fat club hit with Expander. Peter Grummich we know from his very crunchy releases on Kompakt, Auftrieb, and of course Sender. Soon there will be more in the same place on the same wave?"

WELTZWEI: Expander Remixed 12" (SENDER 028). $9.00

"Weltzwei, consisting of label-chiefs Benno Blome (Sender) and Mathias Klein (Areal), should have sparked the attention of a few with previous releases on Sender. Four remix-assignees were able to continue designing the possibilities for an expansion in relation to the current release Expander where the Berlin-Cologne duo provide a Musical blueprint for 'glorious, decaying drug sounds' (De:Bug). The first is completed by the Berliner Peter Grummich. His conception of expansion goes by width more than anything else: he lets it bang abrasive and delighted while staying quite close to the original. The Cologne Areal-act Metope moves happily into electro-fields for the sending area of his choice. He even rocks alongside of it quite well with what the stuff has got. Everything is notably set under 120 bpm. The Hamburg dial-chief Carsten Jost, who just recently became well-known for his Swayzak remix, searches underneath the surface of expander for potential further broadening. He is successful. The original is disassembled piece by piece with loving care, every fragment researched for its specific density. Everything is then poured out as a finely disseminated track from some not intuited depth that might remind one of very old Transmat releases. Coming from Toronto lastly we have the old buddy Jake Fairley with his view of things. His sending time is determined to be midnight; his interpretation comes out from the ether, accordingly dark and spooky, in order to give the inclined listener one earnest haunting after the other. There should be something in it for every heart with this rock-solid remix package."

MISC.: Trash Talk EP 12" (SENDER 029). $9.00

"The Cologne based producer duo Hannes Wenner/Christoph Bleckmann aka Misc. returns with a suspenseful 4 track ep. After their successful Sender-releases Relay EP and Grey Noises they again demonstrate their extreme versatility on Trash Talk EP. As usual the tracks are characterized by pointy basslines, crisp funk and lucid arrangements. 'Frühling In Beton' marches technoid right to the front whilst 'Störsignal' takes an excursion to the subcutaneous depths of the floor-psyche. 'Trash Talk' comes around extremely deep and marks with well dosed pressure and finest strings hypnotic potentials in the minimal-universe. 'Computable Life' is the blood pressure lowering conclusion of this highly felicitous EP."

VA: Receiving Data...Ah It's Coming! CD (SENDER 030CD). $17.00

Sender label comp, featuring: Carsten Jost, WeltZwei, Metope, T. Raumschmiere, Jake Fairley, Baby Ford, Maetrik, Misc., Sten, etc. "Ready to receive data, we copy. Ok, here's the text: Sender records has been beaming since 1999 with a techno-signal. Sound package 30: 2 formats with 13 digital files and 8 analog pieces from different sources. 5 of them are from new users. All in all they are compatible with one another. End. Data registered, thank you for the message. Response is as follows. Sender is on a new level. It remains fully suitable for the club, however the tracks on Receiving Data...Ah It's Coming! increasingly reveal atmosphere and narrative strength: dance music has never been so home-listenable. Sender embodies not a condition but rather a development. It is as tight stylistically as the concrete base of the tower on its logo. The clear thread, however, lies far away from lay generic commodification. The artists revolt in The shadow of the tower by showing their sharp profile. 'Strahler' pulses with dark showers and static loads. Blome & Grummich are completely inside the signal searching for a release just before the short out. Carsten Jost's 'Lake's Camp' seems rather easy and swingin'. The sun pervades the clouds, the light breaks through the last rain drops that drip down the glass facade. Yes, the music of Sender incorporates urbanity with the tower being its highest symbol. There is enough of the continuous big city cess-pool and industrial romance. This compilation sounds sensible as if representing humanized music. It is best to look out from the observatory platform of the city and hear this (second) Sender panorama. This a machine indeed: still rustling, crackling, and sharpened like sand in the engine of the tower's rotating restaurant."

VA: Receiving Data...Ah It's Coming! 2LP (SENDER 030LP). $20.00

Double LP version.

FAIRLEY, JAKE: Blood From A Stone 12" (SENDER 031). $9.00

"Jake Fairley has given it his all once again coming out of a stint in German exile. He left nothing untouched to please Sender fans. This was again accomplished well in the face of temporary home sickness. A majestically throbbing bass line builds the basis for the a-side 'Foreigner'. The Sender rave is off and running with marching snares and an ultra-crisp breakdown. It could be called rustling stadium techno funk of the highest grade. Jake Fairley makes the impossible possible on 'Blood From A Stone' by fusing the gigantic rave with the small sweaty club in an arty kinda way. Apparently, Fairley has found a little island in between Toronto, Berlin, and Cologne that drives him with strong inspiration."

JOST, CARSTEN: uccellacciuccellini 12" (SENDER 032). $9.00

"Known for his excellent work on Klang und Dial, Carsten is one of those producers who consistently delivers and here is just the latest example. Focusing on two spins off the same idea, Carsten raises the stakes with a sumptuous chording over a finger clicking, snappy house workout, faintly reminiscent of the baby ford school, all the elements are familiar but the execution is singular, muscling into a powerful acid segment which is just dynamite. Flip and again those chords to die for, tempo raised just a touch and just watch the momentum of this cut for full dancefloor raising capability. The breakdown employs a brittle melodic to great effect and the impact is large — impressive."

BASTEROID/VOCOPHON: Split 2 12" (SENDER 033). $9.00

"The second split features again one artist per side. After the first with Vincent Radar and Trike it's Basteroid from Areal and Vocophon aka Andreas Leifelds turn. As opposed to the first, which turned out dark and crispy, the second split became a bit more twinkle-toed. But with enough pressure. as always at Sender. Basteroids nerd with a bird comes out of the same work period as his big hit from 2003 against Luftwiderstand which just hit the stores again with a Weltzwei-remix. Vocophons 'Konzentrat' can also be found on the Receiving Data compilation-CD. For a perfect dawn."

MISC.: Rocket Skating EP 12" (SENDER 034). $9.00

"After the sensational Pinksilver disc, the solid hit from 2002, Carsten Jost is back with a new release for Sender. His remix for Expander of Weltzwei (send028) also drew a lot of attention including a licensing for the current mix-CD of Sven Vath. Carsten Jost, who just recently migrated to Berlin, continues his extremely deep style on uccellacciuccellini with two adrenalin-pushers of a special kind. The title comes from Passolini's Italian film with the same name and stands for big birds / small birds. Besides Sender, Jost also releases music on his own label Dial as well as for Ladomat."

STEN: Restless 12" (SENDER 035). $9.00

"Who the hell is Sten? May be a new talent from Scandinavia? Far from it! He comes from Hamburg and is already known as Lawrence and a cofounder of the label Dial. He gave his Sender debut on the Receiving Data compilation with the track 'Faces'. Sten is the rougher, dancewilling brother of Lawrence. Romantic with full of desire appear the two tracks 'Restless' and 'Frost'. They go to the core. Dry basslines, chimes and melancholic strings give their honour on restless and invite you to indulge into the deep atmosphere."

METOPÉ: Second Skin 12" (SENDER 036EP). $9.00

"Metope from Cologne — for his first own Sender 12" he chose a programmatic title: Second Skin. Under the first layer lies a second. To begin with, Metope creates tension. At the base is a beat with razor sharp accents, in between a funky distorted bass. Keyboards shove psychotically. Bleeps evoke deranged flickering; the hi-hat bestows an ordering buzz. Metope rolls and grinds himself snakelike on the edgy, perfectly interlocking elements. If you stretch the surface over the permitted tolerance, it bursts. Metope knows when it is time to moult. Almost redeeming comes a melody from the inside of the mantle. Be it spaghetti western dramatic in 'Second skin' or longing as in 'No Esc'. Because for Metope Second Skin means: two shells for a consistent core."

MISC.: Rocket Skating Rmx. 12" (SENDER 038EP). $9.00

4 track EP, with remixes from Basteroid, Pan Tone, Frank Martinique, M. Schaffhauser.

MISC.: Rocket Kontrol 12" (SENDER 039EP). $9.00

"The gents Wenner and Bleckmann, better known as Misc, strike again. Alongside the official 'Rocket Skating' remixes is Rocket Kontrol the four-in-one-mix from Misc. It consists of elements from all four 'Rocket Skating' tracks. And as to be expected it is a new knarz banger for Sender. Rocket Kontrol is limited to 1000 copies. We await the Misc. album in fall with excess pressure."

BLOME & GRUMMICH: Programmier die Nacht 12" (SENDER 040EP). $9.00

"Blome & Grummich, the central committee from the broadcasting centre! First they give you a brain wash (Headcleaner send027), then they implant their new ideologies. Blome & Grummich's successor is an appeal: 'Program your Night'. Be so free and take what makes you happy. Not indiscriminately, because everything is galore. Sometimes less is more. Essential is that it comes from you. Grab your favourite person, enter your preferred party. Don't let anybody fool you. Green or blue, red or white... This one, the other one, something from everything or all together. You have to say which colour the flow has. You know: 'whatever gets you through the night, it's alright...'. Blome & Grummich deliver the adequate soundtrack. The voice of conviction, beats like barricades, a precise and equally brute bass sequence. By the end it becomes, like a powerful motorcycle, sullenly ripped open, whilst the 'Knarzfactor' has been full throttle from the start. Sender takes you to the highway. Hair in the wind, eyes to slits through air and smile — self conquered: the might of the night."

SENSORY/LASER'S EDGE:

GORDIAN KNOT: CD (SR 3005). $13.00

"In early 1998 Sensory signed Sean Malone, a former member of the avant-garde metal band Cynic, for the release of his instrumental solo album, Gordian Knot. He pushes the Chapman Stick to its limits — whether he is playing percussive bass lines, flowing glissandos, or pure shredding leads that would wither most guitarists. Only musicians of the highest caliber could perform music of such complexity. Drawing from the genres of progressive rock and metal, Malone invited an all-star line up to participate. Featured are: Trey Gunn (King Crimson), John Myung (Dream Theatre)..."

SENTON RECORDINGS (UK):

MULTIPLEX: Mixt CD (SEN 002 CD). $14.00

"Following hot on the heels of their excellent Multiplex album for Toytronic, the brothers Dormon have managed to assemble a tantalising list of contributors for this hugely ambitious remix project for their Multiplex material. OK, here goes, reworkings come courtesy of: Herrmann and Kleine, Funckarma, Isan, Monolake, Eu, Mr Projectile, Kreidler, Kettel, Mitchell Akiyama, Lackluster, Phonem, Fuxa, Animals on Wheels and more..... The material is of an almost unbelievably high standard here — ranging from the opening texture and cinemascopic scene-setting of Herrmann and Kleine, through to Funckarma's deliciously warm and crunchy vocoded electrozizzling twinkles, Eu's electropopped frozen module, Monolake's shocking breakbeat-driven crunchy weave of blue moods and that entirely unique Henke vibration, Mr Projectile's playful skip through choppy beats and layers of neon melody, Mitchell Akiyama's sublime static ambience (just too good!), Kreidler's reduced dubby disco, Kettel's immense fractured breaks and chops, Lackluster's stop/start/stop squashed lectrobumps, to Phonem's dissected laptop microscopic inspection."

SEOUL RECORDS (KOREA):

KIM, JIN HI: *Komungo 'Round the World CD (SRCD 1234). $14.00

Duets between Kim on the Korean Komungo and: Adam Plack (didgeridoo), Rahul Sariptura (sitar), Hideaki Kuribayashi (bass koto), and Mor Thiam (African percussion — djembe & dogodrum).

SEPIA-TONE:

COLTRANE, ALICE: *Transfiguration 2CD (STONE 01 CD). $15.50

"In 1966, she replaced pianist McCoy Tyner in her husband John Coltrane's group. Coltrane's work became a spiritual wellspring for her, but she surely developed her own style on piano, organ, harp, and later, Indian instruments such as the tamboura. After Coltrane's death in 1967, Alice began recording under her own name for Impulse!, leading groups that included at various times saxophonists Pharoah Sanders, Archie Shepp, Joe Henderson, Frank Lowe, and Carlos Ward, double bass players Cecil McBee and Jimmy Garrison, and drummers Rashied Ali, Ben Riley, and Roy Haynes. In the mid-70s she moved from Impulse! to Warner Bros., for whom she recorded some of her most spiritual and adventurous music ever. Deeply infused with Hindu religious music, whole sides of her albums were devoted to arrangements of religious chants. Transfiguration was recorded live at UCLA in 1978, during a time when she briefly set aside the Hare Krishna choirs and exotic instruments in favor of the trio format of her early period, revisiting with Reggie Workman on bass and Roy Haynes on drums several of her own tunes as well as her late husband's way-out opus 'Leo.' This performance was deeply spiritual, but definitely jazz. Originally released as a double-LP, Sepia-Tone inaugurates the label with this historic recording on CD for the first time ever, newly re-mastered and released as a double-disc package with brief new notes from Alice herself."

COLEMAN QUARTET, ORNETTE: *This Is Our Music CD (STONE 02 CD). $13.00

"With the release of his 1959 debut album, Something Else, Coleman had ushered in a new era in jazz history. This music was free from the prevailing conventions of harmony, rhythm and melody, and transformed the art form with a concept he called Harmolodic. 'When our group plays,' Coleman once stated, 'before we set up to play, we do not have any idea what the end result will be. Each player is free to contribute what he feels in the music at any given moment.' Soon he was signed to Atlantic Records, where he recorded some of his most brilliant work, characterized by an 'immensely vocal' sound, 'with virtually no vibrato: it is gutsy without being raspy, because there is a sweetness to it. He also had what in conventional mainstream jazz would be called the 'Texas cry,' only he pushed it further, distorted it more often.' Originally released in 1961, This Is Our Music marked Coleman's third release for the label and certainly one of his finest. Sepia-Tone has newly re-mastered this important release, presenting it with the best sound quality it's ever had. The Ornette Coleman Quartet made music that was simultaneously radical and beautiful — This Is Our Music is incontrovertible evidence."

WHITE, TONY JOE: *CD (STONE 03 CD). $13.00

"The self-titled third LP by Tony Joe White — newly remastered for Sepia-Tone — was originally released by Warner Bros. in 1971, a collection of soul-flavored, blues-drenched swamp rock with a few reflective, soul-tinged ballads about life and love thrown in. Recorded in Memphis, this is classic Tony Joe White: an influential mixture of rugged country and powerful rock songs garnished with gritty vocals, fuzzed-out wah-wah, and the brilliant sounds of the Memphis Horns. White has long occupied a revered place in the pantheon of completely laid-back Southern white-guy recordmakers (along with J.J. Cale, Don Williams, and Dan Penn). His style has been described by Jackson Griffith of Pulse as the 'ideal soundtrack to watching the world fall apart from your front porch.'"

WHITE, TONY JOE: *The Train I'm On CD (STONE 04 CD). $13.00

"Dubbed 'the godfather of swamp rock,' White has a laid-back, misty, sensual charm and a voice to match. The way he tells a story, his southern drawl at times sounds almost like another language. It should also be noted that Tony Joe White had some of the coolest sideburns in rock'n'roll history and he actually made leather pants work. The Train I'm On marks the fifth album in Tony Joe White's career, his second recorded for Warner Bros. Produced by Jerry Wexler and recorded at the legendary Muscle Shoals studio in Alabama, The Train I'm On delivers more of his classic, swampy, soul-infused rock 'n' roll."

COLTRANE, ALICE: *Eternity CD (STONE 05 CD). $13.00

"As jazz tried to crossover to pop during the mid-'70s — sometimes succeeding, sometimes sounding death knells for jazz careers — Alice Coltrane headed in a different direction, although where is still a subject of debate. On the reissue of her wildly eclectic Eternity, which originally brought her from Impulse! to Warner Bros in 1975, two tunes are lush horn-and-string-orchestra settings; two are meditative, Eastern-sounding pieces; the album is rounded off by her first use of vocals (on 'Om Supreme'), and the percussion-heavy, rumba-esque 'Los Caballos.' As is customary all the tracks feature spiritual annotation and explanation."

COLTRANE, ALICE: *Transcendence CD (STONE 06 CD). $13.00

"Transcendence is Alice Coltrane's most successful vocal album. Side two is especially mind-twisting for its use of surprisingly funky Hindu chants accompanied by Alice's organ and the Indian percussion of the singers. Purists might balk at calling Hare Krishna filtered through a gospel sensibility 'jazz,' but they're too busy arguing about Ken Burns' documentary to worry about Alice Coltrane reissues anyway. This is probably the most 'swinging' Alice Coltrane material since Ptah The El Daoud."

BANKS, DARRELL: *Darrell Banks Is Here CD (STONE 07 CD). $13.00

"A great soul singer, contemporary of Edwin Starr, veteran of chart battles with Stevie Wonder and Supremes. Late in 1967, Atco originally issued Darrell Banks Is Here! LP, consisting of Banks' four singles, their B-sides, and two new tracks. The album is one of soul music's best, though it never achieved the cult status of Howard Tate's Get It While You Can or Edwin Starr's Soul Master, but collectors of Detroit soul music have long treasured this obscure gem."

INCREDIBLE STRING BAND: *Incredible String Band CD (STONE 08 CD). $13.00

"The Incredible String Band formed in late 1965 in Edinburgh, Scotland. Before that, founding members Robin Williamson, Clive Palmer and Mike Heron had played around the Edinburgh and Glasgow clubs. Originally known as Robin & Clive, the duo added Heron who brought just the bluesy feel that was needed. The initial sound was Scots old-timey with a bit of bluegrass and the blues. In 1966, a new eclecticism arrived in the folk and traditional circles, changing the three young men forever. The new wave of British folk had 'arrived' with Donovan, Bert Jansch, John Renbourn, Shirley Collins, The Watsons, and the Incredible String Band as the most genre-defying leaders. Almost immediately after The Incredible String Band had finished recording their debut album for Elektra Records in 1966, virtuoso banjo player and third guitarist Palmer left the group to travel to Kashmir (and eventually to form C.O.B.). The first Incredible String Band album is the only one to feature this original trio lineup. It stands alone in the ISB catalogue, for its unique charm that precipitated the more hippie-laden records to follow. At this point, the trio still had a strong link (via Palmer) to traditional Scots old-timey balladry and ragtime and bluegrass, not to mention the traditional folk method. Yet, even in the beginning, traces of the Balkans, North Africa, and the Middle East come through clearly."

INCREDIBLE STRING BAND: *Liquid Acrobat As Regards The Air CD (STONE 09 CD). $13.00

"During their lifespan, The Incredible String Band contained several wives, children and pets, and were a five-piece when they disbanded in November 1974. Basically, everyone else acted as a supporting cast to the songwriting nucleus of Robin Williamson and Mike Heron. Liquid Acrobat As Regards The Air marks the halfway point, more or less, of the Incredible String Band. This 1971 release was their first for Island Records, following Joe Boyd (formerly Elektra UK's director of A&R) to the label. The 'Incredibles' (as fans may know them) mined the successful formula of past releases on Liquid Acrobat, a sprawling, epic, and fanciful collection of folk musics from around the world, complete with Williamson's soulful brogue or Heron's bluesy warmth. Somehow, the ISB managed to combine numerous styles and add their own magic to the brew in order to make the sound uniquely their own. Many consider Liquid Acrobat to be the final release in the golden era of this legendary band."

DICKINSON, JAMES LUTHER: *Dixie Fried CD (STONE 10 CD). $13.00

"James Luther Dickinson is perhaps the best known unknown musician Memphis has ever produced. As a band leader, session musician and producer, his legacy stretches back to the early '60s, when he started out in garage rock bands like Flash and the Memphis Casuals. He developed into a session musician who was involved in recordings by a number of legendary artists at Ardent, Stax and for Sam Phillips. He played the piano on The Rolling Stones' 'Wild Horses' and can be seen in the studio with the Stones in the film Gimme Shelter. In the late '60s he was part of amazing house studio band called The Dixie Flyers. Jerry Wexler, impressed by their ability to play just about any style, signed them to Atlantic to back various artists he'd sign to the label. During this time the Dixie Flyers backed Aretha Franklin, Sam and Dave, Lulu, Delaney and Bonnie and many others. Wexler decided to sign the Flyers on to do their own album so that they might become a band in their own right and begin touring, something in which the Dixie Flyers had no interest. Dickinson convinced Wexler to allow him to do a solo album instead. The resulting album was Dixie Fried — nine tracks of pure southern fried boogie. Dickinson got the cream of local talent to participate on this album, including Dr. John and Charlie Freeman. The album has been out of print for decades and fetches a high dollar in collectors' circles."

COVAY & J. LEMON BLUES, DON: *House of Blues Lights CD (STONE 11 CD). $13.00

"The compositions of R&B and soul songwriting great Don Covay have been recorded by everyone from the Rolling Stones to Jimi Hendrix, Gladys Knight to Wilson Pickett, and many others. Mick Jagger has even cited Covay as his all time favorite singer! During his period at Atlantic in the late '60s and early '70s, Covay's tunes were continually cut by other artists (most notably 'See Saw' and 'Chain Of Fools' by Aretha Franklin, 'Watch Dog' and 'I'm Gonna Take What He's Got' by Etta James; and 'Think About It' and 'Demonstration' by Otis Redding). But Covay's own recording career had reached an impasse, so he began trying different approaches to reach a new audience. One such attempt was the Jefferson Lemon Blues Band, featuring former Shirelles guitarist Joe Richardson and John Hammond, a favorite of the Greenwich Village coffee house folk/blues crowd. Recorded at Herb Abramson's A-1 Studio, the album was aimed at what was then called the 'underground' audience. What may have seemed like an odd direction at the time produced one very rare and potent marriage of soul, blues and rock. Out of print for years, The House of Blue Lights has become a desired album by record collectors everywhere."

DMZ: *DMZ CD (STONE 12). $13.00

"In 1975 five Bostonians with a shared obsession for '60s rock'n'roll and the Detroit sounds of The Stooges and the MC5 deemed the current musical landscape so bleak that they had to form their own band, with the sole objective of 'fusing the sound of the Chocolate Watchband and The Stooges,' according to their outspoken frontman, and notoriously obsessive record collector Jeff 'Mono Man' Conolly. DMZ developed a strong local following in Boston and, in New York, became fast friends with The Ramones (with whom they would eventually share many bills). The band released an EP on Bomp! in early '77 and soon caught the eye of Sire Records, who snapped them up for the label's growing roster of 'new wave' bands (which included the Ramones, Dead Boys, Richard Hell, The Saints, and Radio Birdman, to name a few). Flo & Eddie were chosen to produce the group's debut full length; the two former members of The Turtles turned out to be an appropriate production team for DMZ's smoldering batch of originals along side very well chosen covers by The Sonics, The Wailers and The Troggs. The album's release was greeted with a deafening silence when it came out in 1978. Their long-haired appearance in the current 'new wave' climate and the lack of a single live show outside of the East Coast did not help. They split up shortly thereafter, and Mono Man started The Lyres, who relied even more heavily on a retro '60s sound than DMZ."

BAKER, MICKY: *The Wildest Guitar CD (STONE 13 CD). $13.00

"The first and only solo album by one of early rock'n'roll's most influential guitar players (along with Chuck Berry & Bo Diddley). Micky Baker is best known as one half of Micky & Sylvia, but his track record for incredible guitar work on countless '50s R&B cuts (many for Atlantic) is what makes The Wildest Guitar, his first and only solo album, so desirable among collectors. Despite Baker's well deserved reputation as one of the most influential guitar players of early rock'n'roll, The Wildest Guitar is one of the few chances he really gets to strut his stuff as a solo artist. This entirely instrumental set features keening, sharp, bluesy riffs in much the same distinctive style that gained him fame on 'Love Is Strange' and other tunes with Micky & Sylvia."

WHITE, JOSH: *Empty Bed Blues CD (STONE 14 CD). $13.00

"Political activist and sex symbol, downhome bluesman and urbane stylist, Josh White's credentials as a genuine representative of Southern blues and gospel traditions were undeniable. Empty Bed Blues was his final record for Elektra, and this reissue should help reestablish a place in music history for this remarkable musician who has received relatively scant attention in blues circles over the past decades. With Elektra White rode the wave of the '60s folk revival, subsequently becoming one of the most popular performers on college campuses. With hundreds of amateurs jumping on the folk music bandwagon, White stood out with his brilliant guitar work, radiant stage presence, and seasoned professionalism."

BRUTE FORCE: Brute Force CD (STONE 15CD). $13.00

"Brute Force were a soul jazz group formed by brothers Richard and Ted Daniel, who invited childhood friend and free jazz guitarist Sonny Sharrock to join the band some time before the recording of their sole album which was released in the summer of 1970. The album, produced and originally released by Herbie Mann, credits Sharrock on three of the seven tracks (a mistake Sepia Tone replicated exactly despite better judgement), while the unmistakable Sharrock can actually be heard on six of the seven songs. The album is an amalgamation of 'right on' personal politics-type songs with themes of both alienation and coming together. The band's soul jazz moves toward the free style of Pharoah Sanders' psychedelic classics Tauhid, Karma, Izipo-Zam, and Jewels of Thought — perhaps the real reason Sharrock was asked to join in the first place. Except there's more groove with the tight eight-piece band. Two bass players and Richard Daniel's Bitches Brew electric piano will fry your ass. An uncredited vocalist (perhaps Stanley Strickland) really lets it out against long hairs on 'Some Kind of Approval', and yodels away on the mind-blowing, 16-minute 'Ye-Le-Wa'. Brute Force is an as-yet-undiscovered classic and a boon to Sharrock fans who probably only listened to the three songs the album credits him on."

REVELONS: Anthology CD (STONE 16CD). $14.00

"In 1978, everybody was in a band. As a backlash against disco, the eclectic underground new wave movement exploded in all directions. From poetry to punk, hardcore to art rock, all were unified by energy, excess and a contempt for the ordinary. The Revelons were pivotal to this exciting time, their angst-ridden poetry set to melodious, hard-driving rhythms. Band leader Gregory Lee Pickard's vocalizations have been described as 'rival[ing] David Bowie or David Byrne,' his delivery characterized as 'unhinged and intense,' and his use of abstract, poetic lyrics positioned as a link between Tom Verlaine and Patti Smith. Herein are recordings compiled from numerous sources and incarnations that reflect the band's evolution, including commercially released material, studio sessions, live performances and three newly recorded tracks especially written for this album."

SEPTEMBER GURLS (GERMANY):

CRYSTALIZED MOVEMENTS: Revelations From Pandemonium LP (SG 09). $8.00

German-only vinyl version of the final CM's album (which is currently o/p on CD). Fifth and final album by this pre-Magic Hour group, and the most full-on pinnacle of guitar/psych fuzz obliteration that they had chased for a good 10 years. Reduced price, last copies.

VA: The Blow of Oblivion 3x7" (SG 10). $6.00

Mid-90s release, German-only 3 single set of unreleased tracks from the Twisted Village vaults. Features tracks by Vermonster, C. Movements & Luxurious Bags. Reduced price, last copies.

ETHEREAL COUNTERBALANCE II: Mellifluous Confluence LP (SG 15). $12.00

2nd LP (only) from Rustic Rod (Rustic Hinge, Magic Muscle, Third Ear Band, etc.). His first solo LP from 1990 on Woronzow disappeared quickly and was one of the few blasts of inspired psychedelic dustings from the bleak United Kingdom this decade. "...an album worthy of its title and one of the absolute psychedelic masterpieces of 1994. A mandatory 'head' LP for anybody into contemporary psychedelics."

DUNLAVY: The Spinning Dog LP (SG 17). $15.00

2nd album.

MARY JANE: Hazy Days LP (SG 19). $12.00

BROTHER LOVE: Rock'n Roll Criminal LP (SG 20). $12.00

"LP contains a bonus 7" including the two hidden tracks of the CD."

ZANEY JANEY: LP (SG 23). $13.00

SMELL OF INCENSE, THE: Through The Gates of Deeper Slumber LP (SG 24). $16.00

Gatefold LP version.

MOOSEHEART FAITH: Cosmic Dialogues CD (SG CD04). $16.00

MOOSEHEART FAITH: Global Brain CD (SG CD09). $16.00

"Fourth landing by these LA based psychonauts on their way to the center sun. 10 new songs from the weird and wonderful cosmos of Todd Homer & Larry Robinson. Colourful psychedelic universe rock, little excursions in time and space, melodies that will gently linger in your mind." CD has 2 extra tracks.

MARY JANE: Hazy Days CD (SG CD10). $16.00

"A young folk-rock band from Southampton, UK... their music encompasses both traditional English and Celtic folk music as well as original material which expands to include psychedelic, progressive, Eastern, blues and jazz influences. The group was formed by Paul Alan Taylor (acoustic, electric and 12-string guitars) around the considerable feminine vocal talents of Joanne Quinn (who in addition plays recorder, flageolets and acoustic guitar). CD contains 2 bonus tracks." The vocals may or may not be an acquired taste, but pretty riveting listening within the genre.

ETHEREAL COUNTERBALANCE II: Mellifluous Confluence CD (SG CD11). $16.00

Reissue of previous LP-only 2nd album by Rustic Rod Goodway (ex-Third Ear Band, Rustic Hinge, Magic Muscle, etc.). "Rod takes you on a magic carpet ride. Distorted voice, spaced out guitar, Bo Diddley on acid rhythm patterns, bizarre stories and more."

BROTHER LOVE & THE HOMEBACON GANG: Rock 'n Roll Criminal CD (SG CD12). $16.00

"Album no. 2 1/2 by this NZ psych rock outfit. Brother Love would not look amiss in the 70s US and the new Texas psych rock scene. Influences of 70s Krautrock as well as subtle overtones and fuzz noises peripherally link them to the current 'space drone wave' (Bardo Pond, Jessamine) or bands like Fuzzhead. Rock'n Roll... is more song-oriented than its predecessor and more diverse. West Coast grooves, rich Hammond organ sounds, melodic ballads, eruptive free noise excursions. This record is dedicated to Jerry Garcia. Peace!"

STUNTZ'S BLUE LEG EXPEDITION: Traveling by Spore CD (SG CD13). $16.00

"The side project of Cary T. Wolf, singer, guitarist and main songwriter with the Milwaukee based psych-folk-band The Petals. By using flutes, mandolin, sitar, banjo, tambourine, autoharp, etc. SBLE succeed in creating an atmosphere that is playful and relaxed, flowery and fragile, moody and magic. The music ranges from acoustic-based psychedelic folk rock to intense dreamlike psychedelia."

ZANEY JANEY: CD (SG CD14). $16.00

"Jo Quinn (vocals, flute, recorder, flageolets, kazoo) and Paul Alan Taylor (lead and rhythm acoustic and electric guitars, 12-string guitar, jew's harp, perc.) both are from Southampton, UK, based folk/rock group Mary Jane. Zanezy Janey use varying styles of music to express a story of journeying through the events and characters of an unconscious, archetypal world of dreams and experiences. Fragile acoustic folk, joyous and pensive, that touches on rock, jazz, psych, Celtic folk."

DISCOLOR: CD (SG CD16). $14.00

"Discolor is the solo-project of Stefan Lienemann alias Limo of Shiny Gnomes and Fit + Limo (supported by friends on Moog, cello, violin). Discolor combine new space travelogue with Fit + Limo folk sensibility. The songs expand into pastoral, multilayered guitar landscapes. Solar distortions, white noise acoustics, hypnotic sitar-driven Eastern Kraut dub and chamber string drones created a deeply psychedelic space trance experience. The sound hints at a romantic yearning for blissful harmony between nature and mankind (may we refer you to chapter 35 of Moby Dick)."

MOOSEHEART FAITH STELLAR GROOVE BAND: Coronal Mass Ejection CD (SG CD18). $14.00

"The fifth album by LA-based quartet Mooseheart Faith Stellar Groove Band, consisting of Todd Homer (vocals, autoharp, bass, harmonica, analog sequencer), Larry Robinson (vocals, guitar, keyboards, synths, theremin) at the core. The colorful weird & wonderful Mooseheart world in full bloom: a state of their timeless aura of otherworldliness. Positive, subversive, alien psychedelia. Echoes of 60s West Coast/acid rock/US garage psych. Kaleidoscopic, finely crafted songs. Gospel/blues grooves. Alien hymns vs. US anthem. Visions of UFO's, alien visitors, space travellers, secret governments, flying eggs, the human race dancing with Hale Bopp to outer space." One remaining copy.

SMELL OF INCENSE/ETHEREAL COUNTERBALANCE: 10" (SG TEN 2). $14.00

Split 10" release. Smell of Incense are from Oslo, and "offer long & freely interpreted versions of two early Gong songs. Based on a trancey floating repetitive drum/bass carpet — guitar, keyboards and violin create an open atmosphere." Ethereal Counterbalance is the contemporary UK guitar-psych group featuring Rod Goodway.

SEQUENCE:

DAN THE AUTOMATOR: Wanna Buy A Monkey? CD (SEQ 8001). $17.00

Mix CD. "Not many producers can boast the credentials of Dan The Automator. Most widely known as the producer and beat mastermind of the platinum selling Gorillaz album, and as the production guru behind the legendary Dr Octagon joint with Kool Keith, Dan has become firmly established as a major player in underground hip-hop with his Handsome Boy Modeling School (with Prince Paul) and Deltron 3030 (with Del the Funky Homosapien & Kid Koala) projects." Artists include: Bobby Digital, Brand Nubian, Depeche Mode, Tortoise, Air, Deltron 3030, Lovage, Sigur Ros, X-ecutioners, Redman, De La Soul, Gang Starr.

X-ECUTIONERS: Scratchology CD (SEQ 8007 CD). $17.00

"Critically acclaimed turntablists follow up their phenomenally selling Built From Scratch with another dose of cut n paste beat-juggling insanity. Taking inspiration from the entire history of hip-hop, Scratchology fuses tog other elements of classics and the underground into a full-length sonic barrage. This latest offering in Sequence's innovative 'Mix Tape Session' series continues to expand the boundaries of the hip hop mix genre."

X-ECUTIONERS: Scratchology 2LP (SEQ 8007 LP). $13.00

Double LP version.

SERIES 500 (UK):

MAPSTATION: Millenium Come EP 12" (SER 515). $9.00

"Mapstation is the solo project of Stefan Schneider, the melodic component in the modernist landscapes of Germany's To Rococo Rot. Mapstation's music is closer to minimalist techno, but even then Schneider can't help but bring a graceful glaze to the music. Another dimension to Mapstation comes from the influence of recent Jamaican dancehall, with Schneider citing it's incorporation of electronic sounds, and his own practise of mixing reggae acapellas into his DJ sets. On this release, Schneider takes this idea further with a stunning collaboration with reggae singer/DJ Ras Donovan. Schneider and Donovan have evolved a different style, with the voice seeming to mirror the psychotic drift of the music, while at the same time referring to the poetry and ragga tradition in reggae music."

SEVENTEEN (FRANCE):

METAL URBAIN: Les Hommes Morts Sont Dangereux 12" (SEVEN 002LP). $19.00

Limited LP reissue of this 1981 collection of singles, BBC sessions, etc. "Echoes of Metal Urbain can be heard in popular indie bands from the '80s like Big Black and Jesus And Mary Chain, but only now, almost 30 years after their first release, can their genius and foresight be fully appreciated." Face A : Hystérie Connective / Ghetto / Clé de contact / Lady Coca Cola / Panik / Futurama / Snuff Movie / Numéro Zéro. Face B : Paris Maquis / Pop poubelle / 50/50 / Ultra Violence / Anarchie au palace / E 202 / Crève Salope. 140 gram vinyl.

SFMOMA:

ALVA NOTO + SCANNER: Uniform CD (SFMOMA 01). $10.00

A limited issue CD EP put out by the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art in conjunction with the exhibition "010101: Art in Technological Times". "A collaborative performance between Carsten Nicolai (aka Alva Noto) and Robin Rimbaut (aka Scanner). They performed a three hour set for the opening of the exhibition, and the CD is a twenty minute edited-down version of this performance. After the show, Carsten and Robin emailed files back and forth to each other, edited, tweaked and finessed the capsule and came up with this CD. Carsten designed the digipak, so the visual design definitely has a Raster-Noton feel."

VA: Ju-jikan - Ten Hours of Sound from Japan 2CD (SFMOMA 92). $21.00

"In September of 2001, the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art presented Ju-jikan, a sound festival comprised of a ten-hour survey of contemporary Japanese sound recordings ranging from the hyperminimalist to extreme noise genres. Ju-jikan was curated by renowned musicians and performers Atsu Tanaka, Ryoji Ikeda and Shunichiro Okada (aka i.d.). In collaboration with 23five, inc., SFMOMA is pleased to present an edited cross-section of the ten-hour program as a compilation CD. This record features work ranging from the 1950s to the present, thus establishing a historical perspective by tracing a continuum in the development of the sound scenes in Japan. Artists on the CDs are: Tamami Tono, Pain Jerk, Yasunao Tone, Nerve Net Noise, Otomo Yoshihide, Atsu Tanaka, i.d., Masonna, Kozo Inada, Ichiro Nodaira, Hanatarash, Yuji Takahashi, Masahira Miwa, Ryoji Ikeda, Merzbow, Kazuo Uehara, Astro and Tetuo Furudate. It comes with an exquisitely printed 20 page book with extensive texts and program notes covering the Laptop, Computer Music, Academic, Sound Art, Noise Music, Improvised Music, NHK Studio, Studio Music, Electronic, Anti-Academic, New Wave, Techno/Ambient and Post-Pop music of Japan from 1950-2000."

VA: Variable Resistance - Ten Hours of Sound from Australia CD (SFMOMA 902).

$13.50

"Ten Hours of Sound from Australia, a selection of work by contemporary Australian sound artists. Organized by the multi-talented Australian musician and curator Philip Samartzis, Variable Resistance surveys a cross-section of contemporary trends in Australian sound art practice. To underscore the extensive nature of these explorations in sound, the exhibition features a ten-day 'listening room' presentation of prerecorded material as well as an evening of live performances by four of the leading experimental musicians in Australia at present: David Brown, Pimmon, Philip Samartzis and Darrin Verhagen. The companion CD consists of 11 tracks by Oren Ambarchi, Robbie Avenaim, Philip Samartzis, David Brown, Jim Knox (xonk), Thembi Soddell, Darrin Verhagen, Pimmon and Delire. The beautiful 24 page booklet that accompanies the CD contains program notes and extensive writing about Noise and the Australian contemporary music scene."

VA: 33 RPM - Ten Hours of Sound from France CD (SFMOMA 903). $13.50

"An exhibition companion compilation to SFMOMA's 2003 listening room program 33 RPM: 10 Hours of Sound from France, curated by Laurent Dailleau. 33 RPM's Compact Disc companion features compositions from Kasper Toeplitz, Kristoff K. Roll, Jean-Claude Risset, Lionel Marchetti, Christophe Havel, Laurent Dailleau, Mathieu Chamagne, pizMO, Jean-Philippe Gross, and Mimetic. Comes with a 24 page booklet and original program details."

SHADAZZ (UK):*VA: The Invisible Insurrection Of A Million Minds CD (SHADAZZ 002CD). $13.00

"The Invisible Insurrection of a Million Minds is an invaluable trawl through Glasgow's currently vibrant electronic underground. Casting aside the city's reputation for all things twee and jangly in the eighties, this record takes over from where brilliantly fucked-up new wave electro funk acts like set the tone left off in 81, centering on acts coming out of the highly regarded 13th Note and the infamous Optimo club the album features 17 unique cuts. Pro forma reinvent Beefheart's Hothead as electro sleaze, Mount Florida put Solex through a blender and Manchiron serves up a version of the Strangers Golden Brown minus the smack references with added musical experimentation. Be sure not to miss the fantastically sinister sci-fi dub of closing track ufo by the Painkillers, a minor masterpiece. Anybody who thinks the Glasgow scene is all about simple minds and slam is going to be in for a rude awakening. For centuries, man has striven to produce a compilation of electro, minimal 4/4, pop and weirdness that doesn't suck. Now, in the year of our lord 2002 ad that dream is a reality, thanks to a scottish label and their all-scottish roster. If you need a specific reason to hunt this down, how about a heavy electronic version of Golden Brown. Yes."

SHADETEK (UK):*DANNY L / LOGREYBEAM: Split 12" (SHT 005EP). $9.00

"New York's finest crew set aside some time to deliver the long awaited new release on their own Shadetek imprint. Bringing to the world two new artists: Danny L and Logreybeam, Matt and Zak Shadetek wreck some deep sh*t with this obliterating, complex and downright devastating assembly of intricate electronix at their very best. Danny L gets side A, kicking in with the gargantuan mass of beats that is 'Last Night', finding itself a home somewhere between the mathematical extrusions of the mighty Autechre and the psychopathic discordance of Squarepusher, this is digital sound supreme, getting into a sparkling, twisted groove of its own just in time for the abrupt ending. Logreybeam opens the flip, and provides us with a glimpse of what to expect from his collaborative project with Xela."

SHADOKS MUSIC (GERMANY):*SPOILS OF WAR: CD (SHAD 001 CD). $15.00

"CD version of this 1969 'psych-concrete' masterpiece (previously issued on Shadoks as an über-pricey LP/7" EP set as well as an LP edition "as texture sleeve plus 7" EP, 25 numbered copies") that would certainly qualify for 'private-press' status were it originally released in 1969. Spearheaded by James Cuomo, a student of Professor Herbert Brün (WDR studios heavy during the 50's; worked alongside Beyer/Eimert, Stockhausen, Gottfried-Michael Koenig, later taught at the university of Illinois... 4 recent CD's on EMF fill in a few gaps) whom also designed the original cover (CD/LP reissue cover uses Malcolm Smith's 1954 'Imagination' painting to rather appropriate affect). Includes the 3 aforementioned 7" tracks (credited solely to James Cuomo) from 1970. Some rather inspired promotional muckery would lead you to believe: "Never pressed before so you don't have to look for originals, folks. Heavy Psych with tiny Folky edges plus electronic soundscapes like first album by Mothers of Invention. Has a connection to Marmos but only the musicians, not the music. This is real heavy Acid stuff, weird and twisted, stoned to max, pure LSD (Loud Screaming Distortions), Warning, people with fragile heart condition and emotionally unbalanced should not play this album....". It actually sounds nothing like that (although the Mothers reference isn't too off base), but contains some rather twisted musique concrete interludes (what could be more ideal than the tonal vocabulary of tape music fed through the medulla of a Cest-Coast-wannabe hippie-freak beatnik circa 1969?) that weave throughout some pretty damaged era-ideals-in-song-form replete with O/T guitar solo bits, flute, organ & the rest." — Hrvatski.

MERRY AIRBRAKES: LP (SHAD 002 LP). $40.00

"LP edition in extra heavy sleeve, engraved coloured artwork, 180 gr. pressings, 450 numbered copies. Raw Psych with bluesy touch from Nam veterans, actually the first post-Vietnam record (recorded 1973). With songs about the Vietnam's point of view. Wonder why this never made it onto a major label. Bill Homans great voice is getting you. He, his brother Peter plus 4 other musicians recorded this album for a private studio to get attention from a big label. Some songs sound like Cpt. Beefheart doing Vietnam songs, others are fragile and MOST beautiful. We love it forever."

MERRY AIRBRAKES: CD (SHAD 002CD). $15.00

"Raw Psych with bluesy touch from Nam veterans, actually the first post-Vietnam record (recorded 1973). With songs about the Vietnam's point of view. Wonder why this never made it onto a major label. Bill Homans great voice is getting you. He, his brother Peter plus 4 other musicians recorded this album for a private studio to get attention from a big label. Some songs sound like Cpt. FINE, PETE: One Day Of A Crystalline Thought CD (SHAD 003 CD). $15.00

"Great early 70's guitar concept album with tiny progressive touch to it. Only 100 copies released at the time this is a very rare and sought after collectors piece. Beautiful vocals, Pete is a master on the electric and acoustic guitar. An electric Psychedelic Concerto."

FINE, PETE: One Day Of A Crystalline Thought LP (SHAD 003 LP). $40.00

"LP edition in extra heavy sleeve, engraved coloured artwork, inserts, 180 gr. pressings, 450 numbered copies. Great early 70's guitar concept album with tiny progressive touch to it.

Only 100 copies released at the time this is a very rare and sought after collectors piece. Beautiful vocals, Pete is a master on the electric and acoustic guitar. An electric Psychedelic Concerto."

BUTTERFINGERS: CD (SHAD 004 CD). $15.00

"This album was released as a test pressing only and recorded in the US Midwest 1970. Nothing is known about this album, a mystery like Jungle. 10 great heavy tracks loaded with extra heavy fuzz-guitar, organ and soully male vocals. The guy sings like a male Janis Joplin, the music sounds like a tough version of Big Brother & Holding Comp. Nothing for sweet Folk-psych fans. This is big-boys-stuff. Heavy and full of soul. It bites." Fake R. Crumb artwork, ala Cheap Thrills.

KALI, MAITREYA: Apache/Inca 2CD (SHAD 005 CD). $17.00

First CD reissue of this strange late 60s set of artifacts (previously reissued as an elaborate 2LP set on Little Indians). "California deep Psychedelic loner. Acid leads, mystical vocals, tons of effects, completely stoned feeling. Came out as 2 single albums and even more limited as a double album. Only 3 copies known. The music is outta space psychedelic with great songs and beautiful vocals. A real killer from beginning to end."

VA: Simla Beat 70 & 71 2CD (SHAD 006 CD). $17.00

"Simla Beat is an India compilation set up by a 'Tobacco company'. They might have the idea to catch hippy-non-smokers with cool sounds. If you can imagine to join the Yardbirds or early Velvet Underground in their homestudios you might get an idea how this records sounds like. Great All-English vocals, fuzz-guitars and organ. Totally stoned and rough. We personally think those bands are actually from US. There is not a single sitar/tabla or other India influence music on it. Instead: ROUGH GARAGE-SOUND and FUZZED-OUT MAYHEM. Originals are rare as gold dust." Lots of vague-approximation covers of English language standards such as "I'm So Glad", "Killing Floor", "Born On The Bayou", etc.

WALLFLOWER COMPLEXION, THE: 2CD (SHAD 007 CD). $17.00

"Twenty-four great garage songs on 2 CDs by The Wallflower Complexion recorded and originally released in Columbia only. Every garage collector's wet dream. This band was made of teenage children of U.S. Government staff in Columbia. The music is pure and raw garage. Great guitars, beautiful vocals. The original albums are nearly impossible to get at any price. Here is your first chance to own them both."

BRAIN POLICE: CD (SHAD 008 CD). $15.00

"CD reissue of this private press album by this 60s band from San Diego. The music is absolutely perfect fuzz guitar psych with great rhythm guitars, organs and Sgt. Pepper-style vocals. With more luck this band could have been as famous as the Strawberry Alarm Clock and Steppenwolf, two bands with which they shared many bills. Only five copies of the original LP are known to exist. CD contain many bonus tracks, 20 tracks total." Previously reissued on LP by Rockadelic.

BRIGADE: Last Laugh CD (SHAD 011 CD). $15.00

Reissue of this obscure LP release from 1970, originally from the Pacific Northwest. "This is one of our alltime favorite album when it comes to Underground & Psychedelic music. One of ten we would take on an island. Full of dynamic and strong fuzz guitar solos, driving drums and amazing vocals, which deserves this official reissue. We located tons of unknown photomaterials which will be included in the booklet and some liner notes will give you the full background of the band. We can even include all tour dates the band made between 1967 and 1970. (Originals are impossible to find because only 100 copies were made at the time and some even had the wrong record in)."

JUAN DE LA CRUZ: Up In Arms CD (SHAD 013 CD). $15.00

"Reissue of the unknown Juan De La Cruz album originally released in 1971. With 30 minutes of extra live tracks released for the first time. Juan De La Cruz were from the Philippines and this is their debut album. LP originals are very obscure and valued at $2000. The album is a beautiful heavy Psych Rock jammer, better than all the other albums released by the band. An incredible view into early 70s psychedelic rock madness, from the Philippines!

FATE: Sgt. Death CD (SHAD 017 CD). $15.00

"Here is another amazing release, a previous Rockadelic label LP. Way back then it was only made as a test pressing. This is pure psych with a Doors' touch to it. Beautiful compositions, amazing fuzzguitar, organ and songs about the Vietnam war. Every track a winner. One of the best Rockadelic releases ever." Recorded 1968.

NEW TWEEDY BROS., THE: CD (SHAD 018 CD). $15.00

Reissue of the lone album this SF-based psych band, originally issued in 1966. This is a legit reissue, with three bonus tracks (now packaged in regular jewel case). "This album became to most sought after Psych album and so many collectors love it. It was recorded in 1968. New Tweedy where based in San Francisco and played several times at the Fillmore with bands such as Grateful Dead, Them, Beach Boys and 13th Floor Elevators. Because of a very bad management this album never had an official release and came only out as a very limited pressing way back then. Every track is a winner." "Even better is the much-rumored but long-lost music inside, which manages to hit all the worthwhile points of early-SF songage in a way that often betters their more-known contemps. Starting from a sorta jugband/Birds base (surprise), they head straight out from there: 'What's wrong With That' kicks up a kazoo-led jug-blues wail that leaves even the Charlatans just sitting there; 'Wheels of Fortune' deals in a mystic-folk code so obscure that it achieves some weird protest anthem status, at least until somebody flips a switch and the cosmos stops by for a visit; 'I Can See It' is the sorta driving folk-pounding that Moby Grape or the Springfield woulda killed for, with a great spaced/jazzy drop at the end; and so on, and so on.... Every cut kills, the sound is nicely lo-fi, and this one pushes all the right buttons with a naively blasted optimism that's really hard to put into words but that will absolutely slay anyone whose head is into this stuff." — Kevin Moist

FRAMEWORK: Skeleton 2CD (SHAD 020 CD). $17.00

Double CD of expressive psychedelic rock from San Diego, ala the semi-infamous Brain Police. These recordings were originally made 1968-69, but never released at the time (only one single was issued by this band during their lifetime), packaged here with a 8-page booklet of notes and photos from the band's past. Previously issued on the limited vinyl reissue label Rockadelic, this double CD version adds 2 additional bonus tracks & ranks as one of the best resurrections of post-Elevators rock exploration to emerge in recent times. From Clark Faville's liner notes: "The music produced by Framework ranges from ethereal overture ('Beautiful Weather'), to sublime harmonic beauty ('Like A Child', 'You're Going Home') to dissonant bluesy psychedelic mayhem ('The Direction'). Skeleton may be the most comprehensive document ever assembled to commemorate what is, in essence, an unknown American band."

TONY, CARO & JOHN: All On The First Day CD (SHAD 021 CD). $15.00

Official reissue in jewelbox with five bonus tracks. Tony, Caro & John recorded this album in London 1970 in a homestudio. They've pressed only 100 copies and sold the album at concerts. The music reminds us a lot of Incredible String Band and is as good as Hangman's Beautiful Daughter. All tracks are amazing, no filler. Tony's voice makes you shiver and the music is taking you on a trip. For many collectors this is the best unknown Underground release ever. There are no greater Heroes."

FRESH BLUEBERRY PANCAKE: Heavy CD (SHAD 022 CD). $15.00

"This band was from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. They formed in 1968 and by 1970 they were performing primarily original material which necessitated the recording of the demo album. Only 54 copies were pressed, and they were used for promotion... it's now rather difficult to locate. It ranges from post-Hendrix/Blue Cheer brain-numbingly heavy acid-rock (watch out for the opener, Hassles), through bluesy moods, lighter jazzy touches, to jangly almost-folk-rock restraint. The lyrics occasionally head in a religious direction but are not preachy; the overall feel is more one of 'Old Crow' than 'Old Testament'. Fresh Blueberry Pancake shortened their name to Pancake before calling it quits in 1972. Extra heavy Westcoast Psych (like Butterfingers) with a touch of Country & Western."

SHIVER: San Francisco's CD (SHAD 023 CD). $15.00

"Rising from the same scene of Texas freaks like The 13th Floor Elevators, Johnny Gee & The G Men, and a pre-ZZ top, Warlocks, Shiver moved to SF and this CD documents their complete output of early 70s heavy psychedelic rock. In a city known for peace, love and flower power, Shiver was an over the top, in your face, balls to the wall 'gang' of musicians that felt at home with Hell's Angels and Hippies alike. Free Love, Free Dope. Shiver played a lot of Street Fairs on Haight, Market and Castro streets, and got to jam with guys from Big Brother (Gurley & Albin) and other local heroes. These recordings were done on a twotrack machine at 2909 Mariposa in the Summer Of '72 and feature no overdubs or studio 'wiz-ardry'. What you hear on these tracks is Shiver in it's raw, powerful glory."

MY INDOLE RING: CD (SHAD 024 CD). $15.00

"The home base for My Indole Ring was The Retinal Circus in Vancouver B.C. An album planned for Vanguard Records is now released for the first time. Acid Westcoast rock with trippy guitars, soundeffects and vocals with soul. With bonus tracks. In 1966 a rock band whimsically named The Jabberwock was formed in Vancouver, British Columbia. This group evolved into the unique acid/blues/rock phenomenon My Indole Ring. Most of the songs on this LP are original Ring compositions and soon became signature tunes for the band, such as Orange Float Petals. This is a selection of raw cuts recorded in just one or two takes in the studio — giving them a spontaneous feel, reminiscent of the era. The exception is the last three songs — 'Wake Me Shake Me', 'Come See Me in the Morning', and 'Orange Float Petals' — all recorded live at the Retinal Circus. You can sit back and imagine yourself in the midst of the sunken dance floor with the pulsating light show swirling about your head and the floors and walls literally vibrating with the movement and sound. This is a unique insight into the unbridled energy and excitement of the Retinal Circus, a venue that became legendary in the West Coast music scene. A glimpse into a piece of music history."

SPECTRUM: Geração Bendita CD (SHAD 027 CD). $15.00

"If you like Modulo 1000 you'll love this one. Maybe the best Psych album ever released in Brazil with heavy guitar sounds, beautiful vocals and wellcrafted songs. A hippy soundtrack starring the band itself. The movie was banned in Brazil. Geração Bendita (Blessed Generation). It was 1971, two years after Woodstock, and the Brazilian youth were still trying to live the hippie dream of the 'Age of Aquarius', even though a little late. In the wave of peace and love, a group of young musicians and moviemakers from Nova Friburgo, in Rio de Janeiro, dove into the production of what became known as 'the first Brazilian hippie movie'. Entitled Geração Bendita, the movie, directed by Carlos Bini and shot in Rio, has become something of a cult classic, remembered for both its visual imagery of the period and the rare and wonderful Original Soundtrack album that it spawned. Recorded in the studios of Todamérica in Rio de Janeiro, the album, also called Geração Bendita is credited to Spectrum, formed by the ex-members of the 2000 Volts band and actors/musicians appearing in the movie. The album assembles twelve songs with lyrics in Portuguese and some in English, most of them speaking about peace, love, freedom, nature and other themes and meaningful values of that time. Accentuated with plenty of fuzz guitars and vocals in a 'Beatles-style', the record was hailed as a world-class production and the talents of the group above the national standard of that time."

PEACEPIPE: Peacepipe CD (SHAD 029 CD). $15.00

Official CD reissue of this psychedelic rock trio's lone recordings, originally from 1969. Packaged in jewelbox with many extra tracks (previously issued by Rockadelic on LP), a booklet great photos in b/w and colour and bio. Extra heavy Psych, great guitars and vocals. There's a ton of great rock from California's underground scene... that's a given. But if you're after serious guitar pyrotechnics, you'll be hard-pressed to top this CD. The hideously rare Peacepipe single is one of the most utterly possessed recordings of the late 60's. Both tracks have a unique dark energy to them that is not easy to describe with words — but they are indisputably lysergic."

SHUTTAN: The Image Maker Vol. 1 & 2 2LP (SHAD 030 LP). $50.00

"500 numbered, heavy vinyl, textured gatefold cover, silver engraved artwork, the rarest Psych LP from England, only 1 known copy. This is a real Underground concept album with a progressive touch. Needs a few spins to get it right. Wellcrafted songs, great vocals, sound-effects, organ and heavy fuzzguitar. Could be one of the better albums on Vertigo label with a good dose of Acid in it."

C1C2: LP (SHAD 031 LP). $38.00

"450 numbered, heavy vinyl, leather sleeve. Only 1 copy found of amazing testpressing from midwest USA. Mixture of early Mothers, Butterfingers & Quicksilver, killer guitars, to different singers, amazing production. Nothing known about this beauty but will appear on many collectors wantlist soon."

CIRCULATION: Tank Tracks LP (SHAD 032 LP). $34.00

"300 numbered, heavy vinyl, heavy cover. Beside Parameter maybe the rarest DEROY album. Real Garage sound like early VU. Most songs by the band, wellcrafted with the right spirit. Not as perfect as the other DEROY but really stoned and trippy with cheezy organ and raw guitars."

SPOILS OF WAR: 2LP (SHAD 033 LP). $46.00

"Finally here is the real SOW Double LP with 25 unreleased LP tracks. The first LP we did 3 years ago sold out immediatly. We got those first recordings before we've found the composer Jim Cuomo. With some luck we located him and he presented all the material to us which made it onto this double LP. 1 LP with studiorecordings and 1 LP recorded live in 1967 / 68. If you liked the first album you'll love this one. With tons of bandphotos never seen before. We love this forever."

MENDELBAUM: Mendelbaum 2CD (SHAD 034 CD). $17.00

"Mendelbaum was different. Musically led by the lightning fast, ripping licks of Chris Michie's cherry-red 1968 Gibson SG Special (later stripped to the wood and emblazoned with a bald eagle medallion from an officer's hat) and fueled by the 'sturm und drang' of Tom La Varda's pick-up modified Guild bass, and Keith Knudsen's Ludwig drums, they played and sang hard and fast, loud and high. While their colleagues, the Doobie Brothers, were singing about how 'Jesus Was Just Alright' for them and that we should all just 'Listen to the Music', Mendelbaum was quite a bit darker in nature. Chris Michie sang about 'Learning To Die' and similar subjects not usually shared at the love-ins and the pot-fueled discussions of how 'beautiful and groovy' everything was in the sixties. Ahead of their time, or simply coming around again in the cycle of life and of music, Mendelbaum defied commercialism and categorization in their hey-day over thirty years ago. Their thoughtful songs and brilliant playing continue even today to fly in the face of the corporate, pre-marketed 'cool' that pervades our popular music culture. Mendelbaum's music, like any true art form, functioned on many levels. First, it provided a catharsis for them as writers and musicians. Secondly, it reached out to countless fans in the sixties and seventies, acknowledging their own pain and isolation. Finally, Mendelbaum's music is returning today to echo the strains of an era long gone, yet in many ways as current as today."

MENDELBAUM: Mendelbaum 2LP (SHAD 034 LP). $46.00

"Best recordings we ever had, from Masters. Real Westcoast Rock with extra heavy Psych guitar played by Chris Michie who later joined Van Morrison, with Keith Knudsen on drums (Doobie Brothers). 21 tracks all original, wellcrafted songs, was a demo for WB and the 2nd album is live recorded at Fillmore West by Bill Graham & Matrix S.F. Real cookin' San Francisco sound."

SOUND FACTORY: Sound Factory CD (SHAD 035 CD). $15.00

"1970 brought mixed feelings for Brazilians. Victory at the World Cup was an all-too-brief distraction from the dictatorial regime that was ruling the country. At that time, doing 'art', whatever it was — music, painting, literature — was a way of achieving some kind of freedom. And soon Sound Factory started to rehearse. Their first gig was at the Vale do Ipi Country Club in a working-class suburb of Rio. Of the 10 tracks on the album, there were only three originals: 'Restless Time', 'Let's Go', and 'Midnight Inspiration'. The others were covers from Traffic, Blind Faith, Johnny Winter, It's A Beautiful Day, Jefferson Airplane and Cream. Amazing Hard Psych. A real beauty. The guitar sound screams like hell. Very few known original copies."

VA: The Shadoks Music Compilation CD (SHAD 036). $6.00

Budget priced sampler CD. "In the beginning there were Ten Little Indians. Ten of the most luxurious vinyl reissues ever produced for the collectors market. Named after the children's finger play, the numerically-doomed series counted backwards to its demise over the course of three years, releasing now sought-after limited edition repressings of Damon: 'Song Of A Gypsy', Maitreya Kali: 'Apache/Inca' (double), Jungle, Ladies W.C., and the rest, all in breathtaking textured and/or gimmick sleeves. It was an experiment in excess whose time had come. The bar having been raised, other reissue labels (including long-established ones) found it necessary to upgrade all of their own productions, and a new era was begun for serious archivists of vintage music. Shadoks Music is three years old now and has outdistanced its parent company by some fifteen albums in that time, as well as marketing a number of CD releases which do not necessarily parallel the vinyl catalogue. Like the Little Indians series before it, Shadoks vinyl projects are handmade in limited edition, produced in Germany using the finest materials available in Europe. These vinyl issues traditionally sell out within a few weeks of release." Artists include: Peacepipe, Spectrum, My Indole Ring, Shiver, Tony, Caro & John, Framework, The New Tweedy Bros!, Fate, Juan De La Cruz Band, Brigade, The Brain Police, The Wafflower Complexion, Simla Beat, Maitreya Kali, Butterfingers, Pete Fine, Merry Airbrakes, The Spoils of War.

LOVE DEPRESSION: The Love Depression CD (SHAD 037 CD). $15.00

Venezuela 1968. Band members were 17 to 18 years old at the time of the recording. Guitarist Alvaro Falcón came from a band called The Snobs and previously a band from Washington D.C. The Laymen, Richard Aumaitre came from a famous Venezuelan band Los Darts and Jesus Toro from The Nasty Pillows, a local soul and Hendrix oriented band. What an amazing record this is. On same label as Ladies WC. This masterpiece is full of fuzzguitar, acid leads and pumping sounds. Covers only this time but played so wild that you will like it better than the original composition. This album is as good as Ladies WC. Really amazing Psych artwork too." Alvaro Falcón: (Guitar, Piano, Organ, Harmonica, Background vocals), he was 17 at the time; Jesus "Torito" Toro: (Drums and Lead vocals); Richard Aumaitre: (Bass and Background vocals). Recorded in Estudios Continente, Caracas, Venezuela April 1968.

STEVENS, MICK: See The Morning / No Savage Word 2CD (SHAD 038CD). $17.00

First CD reissue of both Mick Stevens albums, originally released in 1972/75, and extremely unknown. Stevens is credited on: words and music, vocals, guitars, banjo, percussion, bouzoukists. "Loner vibe, beautiful vocals, a mixture of acoustic and electric numbers. If you like Michael Angelo with a Billy Nichols touch, this one is yours. The recording quality is top major studio. Both albums where pressed at Dero studios, the famous collectors label among Psych and Folk freaks. All Dero albums are rare because you could press as little as 10 copies for a start. So most Dero production are under 100 copies pressed. Some famous Dero LP's are: Candida Pax, Parameter, Complex, Circulation... This 2 album set, which features that came out separately in 1972 and 1975, beats all other Dero productions, sound-wise and musicwise. Mick Stevens was able to create a sound of emotions with an underground touch. Just like in the movie Blow Up."

IOTA: Iota CD (SHAD 042 CD). $15.00

"From the archives of the legendary El Paso, Texas Suemi label comes this previously unreleased psych masterpiece by Iota. This 4 piece band tore up Texas before re-locating to Memphis to record for Hi Records in the late 60's. They released two great 45's, including the amazing Within These Precincts in 1971. Deemed too dark and disturbing for commercial radio, these two releases went nowhere and the band went their separate ways after two years of playing and recording. We have compiled the best tracks recorded in both Memphis and El Paso to put together what we feel is one of the finest Texas psych rock LP's ever released."

HEATHCLIFF, JUSTIN: Justin Heathcliff LP (SHAD 044 LP). $43.00

350 numbered, heavy vinyl, heavy textured cover, OBI, insert, gold engraved artwork. Originally released by Warners Japan in 1971. "You might know the track on Love, Peace & Poetry: Japan LP. British Underground/Pop from a Japanese band who spent a long time in London. All songs well-crafted and killer tracks from beginning to end. This is so good it beats most British LP's." Limited reamining stock.

CHEN, SHINKI: & His Friends LP (SHAD 045 LP). $43.00

450 numbered, heavy vinyl, insert, heavy Gatefold cover. "This is Shinki Chen's solo album (from Speed Glue & Shinki). So rare and so good. Extra heavy fuzzguitar all over, songs about drugs & girls, if this was sung in Japanese they would have banned it. The ultimate Psych album from Japan."

LADIES WC: Ladies WC CD (SHAD 046CD). $15.00

Reissue of this all-time classic South American psych record from 1969. "This is the most innovative 60's record made in Venezuela. A full blast fuzz and wah-wah assault with backwards noise, screaming baby sounds used as a solo instrument, tons of effects, English vocals, a real masterpiece. Maybe this piece of psychedelic art deserves to be known as the most important record made in South America in 1969. Stephen Scott and Mario Seijas from Homer and The Don'ts, and Adib Casta from Los Claneras, who later became a famous painter and who passed away this year, came together to create this album for the Souvenir label (famous label in Venezuela). But the music was just too strange. So besides playing live (which was very dangerous at the time with this music and words) the album became rare and you can call it real 'underground' in any sense. The put people in prison for less than those days. This is the first official reissue of this album on CD."

EL CONGRESO: El Congreso LP (SHAD 049 LP). $44.00

"350 numbered, heavy vinyl, heavy cover. There are 3 albums you need to hear from Chile: Kissing Spell, Embrujo and this amazingly rare El Congreso. On 5 original Kissing Spell you might find 1 El Congreso album. Original released on Odeon, the 3 brothers Gonzáles plus bass & drums recorded this album in 1971. Music-wise it goes in the same direction as Kissing Spell and Embrujo. Mellow underground psychy tracks, trippy jungle sounds, dreamy vocals, great guitarwork just the kind of music you want to hear while reading Castaneda and trying out a few pleasure-cactuses."

FLOW, THE: The Flow's Greatest Hits CD (SHAD 050 CD). $15.00

"Very rare album by The Flow with Pete Fine on guitars/vocals, Monte Farber on bass/vocals, Steve Starer on drums, compositions by Pete Fine and Monte Farber. This is a guitar burner total. If you're into Blue Cheer and extra heavy Fuzz guitar is your thing, you'll love this album. Great songs, a mindblower. Finally it came out on CD with 3 bonus tracks and poster-booklet. 'In those rebellious and psychedelic times we barely earned enough to pay for food at times, while developing our musical horizons. I am amazed we survived those days. Eventually, we became a 3 piece band - The Flow. We rented a room in NYC — also renting a room was Wicked Lester, a band later to be known as KISS. We used the space for our own explorations. With our limited funds, we could only complete half of the project so we released the record with one blank side and later on, added more material.' — Pete Fine."

ARIESTA BIRAWA GROUP: Vol. 1: Indonesia 1973 LP (SHAD 051 LP). $45.00

350 numbered, heavy vinyl, heavy cover. "Our first release from Indonesia, featured in Hans Pokoras new 4001 book as one of the rarest items from Asia. Beautiful wellcrafted songs with lots of guitars. Heavy Psychedelic with a good Progressive Indonesian touch. If you like Juan De La Cruz-Maskara or the Comodian Rocks comp. this one is for you. This is really special. If there would be a Vertigo release recorded in Indonesia this could be the it."

LA FACHADA DE PIEDRA: La Fachada De Piedra LP (SHAD 052 LP). $45.00

Mexico 1971. 350 numbered, heavy vinyl, heavy cover. "Here is one the best and longest album we ever did. Side A has 8 tracks studio (25 minutes) and side B 7 tracks live (28 minutes). This band from Guadalajara, Mexico never did a complete album (only 7 inches and an Comp. on Orfeon). La Fachada de Piedra (The Stone Facade) is a 6 piece band with 2 guitarists. The Cream influenced bluesy Underground blows you away. All English vocals, original songs, effects, screaming guitars (like Eric Clapton & Peter Green in best action) with Hendrix style drugout Psychedelic."

WAILING WALL: Wailing Wall CD (SHAD 053CD). $15.00

Reissue of this psychedelic rock band from El Paso, TX, originally issued in 1970; previously reissued on the collectable Rockadelic label. Noted for its "real American Indian/Desert vibe", this was the band's only release. "This latest Rockadelic release out as Shadoks CD now came also from the vaults of El Paso's Suemil label (like Iota) and has been turning some heads. Very unusual sounds spearheaded by brothers Darrell and Doug Adams who later moved to the West Coast and released LP's with the middle eastern influenced band Light Rain. The album has a spooky, late night vibe and the lyrics that reveal new meanings upon every listen. Great guitar work by Mike Cancelarre and twisted vocals by drummer/songwriter David Rutledge. Visions of late night desert peyote hallucinations on songs like 'Scissor-Tailed Swallow' and 'Country Of The Goose' compliment a hard rock, Captain Beefheart vibe on 'Mad Rapper'. Unusual timing and phrasing makes this journey into the twisted back roads of El Paso's great rock & roll heritage."

TIME: Before There Was... LP (SHAD 054LP). $50.00

"Time was recorded in 1968 in Toronto, Canada. Lynn David Newton, the founder of TIME studied in the same class as Jim Cuomo from The Spoils Of War in Urbana IL. Beside 2 other members the artist David Rosenboom was a member of TIME. This is a musical masterpiece. Well-composed, well-played, touchy and twisted. All original songs with a big influence from the British Underground, with harpsichord, flutes, percussions, horns, many effects and lot's of heavy fuzzguitar and a singer who sounds like Robert Wyatt in the early 70's. A year later they moved to NY and became Think Dog, which will be also released this year. The Dakota Building (the home of John Lennon in NY): Imagine Mia Farrow in the movie Rosemary's Baby sitting in her window and watching the NY streets below while it's raining outside.....that's what the music feels like."

FINGLETOAD, STRANGE, & SIHO: Mazzola 2LP (SHAD 055LP). $70.00

"The first album was recorded in 1969 in Chicago as Fingletoad & Strange. Only very few acetates where pressed. A year later the band recorded another album as Fingletoad, Strange & Siho under the title Mazzola. Perhaps less than 100 records where pressed. This band of young bohemian Americans recorded 2 albums with all original songs. The music takes the listener into a Psychedelic Trip merging imaginary landscapes with Teenage Angst. Clearly influenced by the top musicians at the time, The Beatles, Neil Young and Jimi Hendrix, they undoubtedly manage to create a sound all their own ranging from beautiful lyrical ballads with harmony vocals to over the top Fuzz and Feedback frenzy. Professional execution but still retaining a Garage atmosphere and production, creates the perfect mix for one very special DLP."

FINE, PETE: Northstar LP (SHAD 056LP). $40.00

"Finally here is the second solo album by guitar wizard Pete Fine recorded 2 year after his first album On A Day Of A Crystalline Thought. This album Northstar sound a bit more tight with same fuzz guitar but with better song structures. Some tracks are instrumentals which blow guitar lovers away. Others have female and male vocals with a touch of west-coast sound. If there is a guitarist in this music scene we adore Pete Fine would be among the top 5. One of our best Shadoks releases."

GONZALEZ, WALLY: On The Road/Tunog Pinoy 2LP (SHAD 057LP). $55.00

"For the first time both rare LP's reissued as a double album. Those 2 albums are the rarest and best LP's beside Juan De La Cruz Up In Arms. Wally Gonzalez is the amazing heavy fuzz guitarist on all Juan De La Cruz albums. If you like heavy fuzz guitar / prog music similar to Shinki Chen and Speed Glue and Shinki, you will love those 2 albums by Wally. These days Wally is still on the road playing clubs in the Philippines."

SHADOW RECORDS:

ACQUAVIVA, JOHN: Mainhattan Sound CD (SDW 108). $14.00

First mix CD from Acquaviva since the monumental Skills CD on K7. This time he focuses on the Force Inc label, including tracks from: Porter Ricks, Ron Spank, Hakan Lidbo, Bellrangers, Stewart Walker, Ian Pookay, DJ Rush, Heckmann, Funkknarz, Welt in Sherben, Rob Acid, Sutekh & Exos. "John Acquaviva is rekown for this association with +8 Records, the label he co-founded with Richie Hawtin. He is also one of the most prized techno/house DJs around the globe. With Mainhattan Sound delivers a mix of hard and funky analogue beats, with a slow number or two thrown in at the end."

VA: Filmstrip (Frame 1) CD (SDW 111). $14.00

"Filmstrip (Frame 1) brings together previously limited edition tracks from the wonderfully off-beat label Mush Records. A new genre of electronic jazz breaks, indie hip-hop and alt-rock influenced tracks." Artists include: Neutrino, Lulu Mushi, Fat Jon The Ample Soul Physician, Clouddead, Reaching Quiet, J Cru, Jel, So Called Artists, Aesop Rock, Labtekwn, Boom Bip & DJ Osiris, Glenn Underground, Nickodemus And Jay B., Radioinactive, The Pedestrian, Odd Nodam, Boom Bip & Doseone.

HINGE, RICHARD: Munich Manhattan CD (SDW 119). $14.00

"New York based DJ, producer and owner of Conrail Records, Richard Hinge takes on the Shadow Mix Challenge with Munich Manhattan. Bringing the best of Germany's Disko B label, Hinge introduces to you both the DJ and Producer side in him, providing a compact 22 track explosion of tech-electro-pop featuring the likes of DJ Hell, Kirlian, and Richard Hinge himself. Munich Manhattan presents the aggressive drum rhythms, subtle string and vox sounds that make way into an electro cut that sounds like something straight out of the 80's electro pop era." Artists include: Kirlian, Hell & Jonzon, Dakar & Grinser, I-f, Unknown Artist, Richard Hinge, Richard Bartz, Jay Denham, Cai Boisen-Moller, Patrick Pulsinger.

DJ SPOOKY VS. SHADOW RECORDS: Modern Mantra CD (SDW 135 CD). $14.00

"Through his work as a conceptual artist, writer, and musician, he has created a definition to the term 'six degrees of separation' all his own. Now Spooky brings his aural skills and palate to the Shadow Mix series. Modern Mantra is a collection of hand-picked tracks sequenced to perfection." Artists include: Russell Mills/Undark, Sharpshooters, DJ Krush, Goo, Sneakster, Fugitive Elf, Saru, DJ Cam, Aesop Rock, Blend, Jack Dangers, Hanna, DJ Krush w/Toshinori Kondo, Cujo, Quentin's Ladder, Ilfornio, Omicron, Nostramus, Obo, Droid, Spaceways, Shinju Gumi, Prototype 909, Terre Thaemlitz, Moby.

SHAGRAT (UK):

REDBIRDS, THE: Truth Justice and a Wholesome Packed Lunch 12" (SHAG 002). $6.00

'92 4-track Larry Wallis project (ex-Pink Fairies).

SANDOZ: Pay Attention LP (SHAG 004). $15.00

Archival release of amazing Beefheart/Broughton/ Amon Duul-influenced UK underground album, recorded in 1971, but never previously released. Kinda short (3 long-ish tracks), but well worth it for the handsome display of power-thug ethics. Last copies, reduced price.

DYNAMO HUM: Four Cute Creatures 10" (SHAG 005). $6.00

"Extends Stackwaddy's drug blues rampaging tactics even further than Motor Boys Motor (this band's actual practical precursor) did." ? B. Coley.

GREEN RAY, THE: Sighs Wales And Trees 12" (SHAG 006). $6.00

New 3 song 12" by a group that is made up of 3/4's of the Archers (previous Shagrat discovery of unknown & amazing UK instrumental psych), who emit a similar brand of extended jamming, in a no-vocals, many-guitars quartet setting.

SHITKATAPULT (GERMANY):

HORZU!: Herr Pitzelberger gibt sich die Ehre 12" (STRIKE 006EP). $8.50

"5 track EP from this (these) mystery artist(s). Beautifully diminished high-pass pads & sonics over straight techno kicks with post-acid/digital influences creeping in through the framework. Totally sorted." — Hrvatski.

NANOSPEED: Kopernicus 12" (STRIKE 007EP). $8.50

2nd EP on this rather mysterious Berlin-based label. Bizarre cover art showcases a long 4 track EP, featuring truly static-y recordings of electronic-based disturbance. Very far out and worthy of additional inspection.

STATIC LOUNGE: Stauraum 12" (STRIKE 009EP). $8.50

"Straight & functional technotunes based on weird sequences."

HERR PITZELBERGER: Drent Auf 12" (STRIKE 012EP). $8.50

"Charming clubby minimal house, with Italic-related sounds."

NANOSPEED FEAT. SPACETANK: Membran Tracks 12" (STRIKE 013EP). $8.50

"Deep crackling technodubs. The music combines a pulsating mechanical beat with fizzing, crackling, whirling electronic effects. Only the opening track dispenses with the thumping beats in favour of a low rumbling drone. What would be a dark menacing sci-fi soundtrack is lifted several levels and transformed by the addition of the throbbing rhythmic beats, reminiscent of a huge industrial machine relentlessly pounding steel. Various layers of electronic fizzing, bubbling and grinding evolve and mutate under this beat to create a beautifully dark undertone. This album conjures images of endlessly throbbing industrial machinery."

HERR PITZELBERGER: Mischt Sich Unters Volk 12" (STRIKE 014EP). $8.50

"Supergroovy dirty techtrax with murderous handclaps. Irresistable."

RECHENZENTRUM: Heimkehr 12" (STRIKE 015EP). $8.50

"Overwhelming soundcollage by this Peel Session-approved artist. Unique. Marc Weiser (the man behind the music) and Lillevaen (the man behind the visuals) provide deep aquatic techno and raspy electronic hip hop under the name Rechenzentrum. They construct an elaborate and highly complex collage of deep hypnotic techno house sounds and intricate well-defined visuals... intelligent and deep without being overtly chin stroking. Like Markus Nikolai, Dimbman, and Ricardos Villalobos from Perlon, Rechenzentrum are putting the funk back into deep minimal techno."

RAUMSCHMIERE, T.: Zartbitter 12" (STRIKE 016EP). $8.50

"Truly stellar new 12" from Marco Haas aka T. Raumschmiere, a release that will hopefully elevate this label in more peoples eyes (and ears) to the 'buy on sight' status. The first track 'Zartbitter' is a crushing mid-tempo groover with some awesome eastern tinged strings oozing in and out of focus, and that sets the tone for the whole record. 'Bitterseuss' slouches along at a similar pace but this time it's the sound of your drunken neighbor passing out with a My Bloody Valentine record stuck in the runout groove. The whole thing is some sort of drone/techno hybrid, perhaps swimming in the same murky pool as Fred Bigot/Electronicat, evocative and brutal in turns. A no-brainer." — Billy Kiely. 4 tracks, 23 minutes.

MAGNUM 38: Revolver Tracks 12" (STRIKE 017EP). $8.50

"Great modern breakbeat tunes coming along with a superb Kraftwerk-style sleeve."

NANOSPEED FEAT. SPACETANK: Membran Tracks 5-8 12" (STRIKE 018EP). $8.50

"Excellent deep techno release, creamy pressurized post-Chain Reaction sound."

FENIN: Container 12" (STRIKE 019EP). $8.50

APPARAT: Multifunktionsebene CD (STRIKE 020CD). $15.50

"Debut album from Sascha Ring 'mathematically calculated using algorithms from 1999-2000'. Impressive in its deviation from the Autechrearian mind-set (slightly more repetitive, slightly more bleepy, slightly less post-apocalyptic). Has less in common with the Shitkatapult 4/floor backcatalogue than... say... Team Doyobi. Some nice trick(l)y sounds and b(l)leats, could go over well with the Arovane/Phonem IDM (innit dark, mate?) crowd. Mastered by Robert Henke, if that's any indication of anything you'd want to know about Sascha's rank. Quizzical..." — Hrvatski.

KERO: CFC WindsoriDetroit CD (STRIKE 021CD). $15.50

"Experimental jetset tracks by one of Detroit's finest underground producers, Sohail Azad, aka Kero. A veteran of the Detroit/Windsor underground club community, his work as a multimedia designer and producer has made him an established fixture within the region. Musically, Kero is inspired by 'unusual sonic landscapes and complex sequencing techniques' coupled with a taste for the experimental, achieving a unique sound that should inspire an increased profile in the near future. Grounded with a more solid bottom-end groove than most experimental pieces, this LP is as advanced stylistically as it is dancefloor-friendly. Fans of Phoenecia and Autechre will appreciate Kero's sonic dismantlement and hybrid sound designs as he works a fabric of complex edits and melodic abstractions into a funkily flow over a series of cybernetic grooves. Another laptop wizard from the Detroit/Windsor school of robotix."

BOXTYPE: Goiter EP 12" (STRIKE 023EP). $8.50

"Boxtype — that is Bao-Nghi Droste from Heidelberg. With his ultra-reduced, minimal knarz tracks — deeper than San Andreas fault — he keeps on rattling the dancefloor crowd. Is the PA not working? Is the record scratched? Or is the DJ a roughneck? Yet, under the swarm of scratches and noises, the clubber will notice a mighty bass drum crawling deep down into his ear. And all of a sudden, well-known dub elements emerge resulting in a seemingly senseful whole. But only for a short moment until the situation escalates again. Well, brilliant. You won't stop smiling. A good, rocking knarz tune."

"Furiously fucked-up technobase by this Finnish wonderboy, including a genius Radiohead cover version."

PHON.O: Cockflinte EP 12" (STRIKE 025EP). $8.50

"Berlin-based artist Phon.o — with previous releases (2 EPs + 1 album) on Kit Clayton's label Cytrax — wildly shoots around on SK 25 and he truly hits the goat (->bock). The prey are 4 really funky and groovy tracks: 'Parlarsam The Cat' is like a hunted puma running around on dubby, off-beat, shuffle paws. 'Back And Fore' reloads the shotgun with heavy, deep chords and paves the way for 'Samstag Slicker', a damned nasty dance floor rocker battering brutally around with weird, rough chords and a sneaky synth. With 'Francesca Boogie', phon.o shows us how to use the goats shotgun (-> bockflinte) in a different way and comes up with an extremely groovy, hip-swinging experimental dub slammer."

APPARAT: Ttttrial And Error CD (STRIKE 026CD). $11.00

"The Apparatus strikes again! Shortly after his first release Multifunktionsebene, which received much attention worldwide, Sascha Ring is presenting his new mini-LP/CD Ttttrial And Error, on which he tries more than before to get his machines under control. The results are stunning: Kind of abstract, deep and minimal but still following the harmony and the groove. Tricky beats and surrounding sounds which are far away from 4/4 floor but closer to the dancefloor than one might think. For the track 'Pressure' the Apparatus invited the saxophone player Hormel Eastwood, recorded him and put the sounds in his machines for recalculating. The emerging sounds are outstanding and differ from any other electronic music, old or new. Despite his studio work Sascha Ring is never tired of playing live and rocking the crowd with his laptops."

VA: The Cozmick Suckers Vol. Black & White CD (STRIKE 030CD). $15.50

"The Berlin based recordlabel Shitkatapult and its owners Marco Haas a.k.a. T.Raumschmiere and Sascha Ring a.k.a. Apparat strikes back for the 30st time! With the The Cozmick Suckers Compilation Vol. Black & White. After Vol. Orange, Vol. Blue, Vol. Yellow and Vol. Silver this is the fifth compilation in the Cozmick Suckers series and again it is featuring the whole wide music range of Shitkatapult dimensions: from abstract gnarz sounds to high-end micro house and from punkrocking techno to jazzy ambient spheres. Shitkatapult spreads out a concept of musick (how we call it outernational) to cure everyone electronically polluted hearts and desires. The release features well known Shitkatapult artists like Apparat, Sami Koivikko, T.Raumschmiere, Rechenzentrum, Fenin and Magnum38 new faces like Munit, Napoli is not Nepal and Zoy Winterstein plus special guests like Kyborg, Steinbruechel, John Hughes (Slicker) and Charly Cooper (Telefon Tel Aviv) of Hefty Records/Chicago. It is 71 minutes of musick for clubs and homes, days and nights, car rides and chill out zones. Minimal deep funkiness meets relaxing atmospheres. With The Cozmick Suckers Compilation Vol. Black & White Shitkatapult shows once again that it is a recordlabel far outside the norm and not easy to be categorized. Shitkatapult delivers special music for special people."

RAUMSCHMIERE, T.: The Great Rock'n'Roll Swindle CD (STRIKE 032CD). $15.50

"There's definitely something real big taking charge here! Mr. Raumschmiere flashes his two-finger British fuck-off pose as if it just took two to do all the work - straight up punk attitude. His new EP/CD titled The Great Rock'n'roll Swindle doesn't just gleam with presence of mind but actually ends up being a great big lie. What we have here rocks and rolls in quite a major way. So where's the swindle? The opening title track knocks down pins as seldom heard before. It belongs in every real DJ's first-aid kit for those moments when the crowd is waning in need of a boost. The unmistakable gnarz-bass battles venomous melodies in a high-tech web. It's a track for all thugs with a prep-school degree. First slam it in your face and then think about it later. Sami Koivikko doesn't fuck around with the remix long, shamelessly plunging the scenery into a rave-mood without loosing the bounce. Up next and once again there's the techno-punk T.Raumschmiere: his fuck-off fingers pound the 'enter' key, hitting the system with flatulent bass noises that burst into soundscape crackles, which he probably borrowed from label-mate Apparat? 'bow down big man to get your credit!' In the end Raumschmiere and Rechenzentrum wrestle for the correct anti-posturing of slightly dubbed basslines coming from the adjacent hall along with absurd quotes out of the clothing chest. You're even getting cut-ups from a metal guitar! Think they're having fun with us? The CD contains six tracks that have been released on different 12"es before, plus two new tracks. It does not contain the remixes, which are only available on the 12" EP."

NAPOLI IS NOT NEPAL: Revolv_er CD (STRIKE 033CD). $15.50

"Napoli is not Nepal, Shitkatapult is not Karaoke Kalk — nothing is as it already was before. Hendryk Bayrhaoffer follows the charming logic of his artist's name with the full-length release Revolv_er, a relaxed hoax of mysterious connections that appear hidden beneath the truth. In so doing, this Cologne musician by-passes copy-paste samples and instead appropriates solid jazz musicians onto his hard drive who all carry his name. Napoli is Not Nepal grabs us gently by the ears with the last church-day motto 'du stellst meine fuesse auf weitem raum' ('you put my feet into vast space') and takes us delicately into an unknown world made of lo-fi swabs that slowly but surely begin to turn. In 'A Night Outside the Bunker' a hippie-style guitar digs steadily into even downbeat valleys in order to guide the way. The 'Electrobastard' cuts the path like an adulterous song from air. An insight floats towards us from the loudspeaker of the psycho-delicatessen shop: 'this world is sound moving around.' Right on, feet remain standing in vast space and only the world underneath moves while a western-style guitar plays lonely loops in bangkok — as if sobbing. A portable piano is pulled out and swings to the emotive crackling lines of the jazz sonnet 'Selma.' A beaten-up trumpet whispers with the glissandi of a peace-style guitar that shoots sparks from a cosmic camp-fire in order to proclaim: 'l'univers c'est moi.' A vibraphone sends its sound waves like some donated life into the ether. A vocoder transforms prayers from nightly depths. A sitar twangs at dawn and, in the distance, a complete jazz orchestra plays evergreens at the amphitheater. This world is reality as long as it's listened to. Do not be scared."

LP version.

ILAR, ANDERS: Replik 12" (STRIKE 034EP). $8.50

"Damn Swedes, Shitkatapult gets frosty! 'Replik' is the fitting title this 29 year-old Goeteborger, Anders Ilar, has chosen for his clear gletscher-like winter-techno 12". Trimming' up where Edward Scissorhands cut off, Anders seems to be slicing three laissez-faire ice sculptures from Shitkatapult's frigid repertoire. For 'Replik', he finally grabs the ice-pick and carves the name Shitkatapult in big letters up on the shimmering green, iced ceiling of the Skagerak. He does this just in case T.Raumschmiere comes flying through on a wild goose looking for a landing place. The techno bat strikes into the suffocating and echoing surface without sense or hesitation. Fine rips split sound tracks into the depth and hit rock bottom. It's true, northern lights, as them Swedes know, make insomnia a regular occurrence so that depression is met again. Complete pragmatism comes from Sweden and has unveiled itself as a real exported craze in the shape of Abba, furniture, and pornos. The principle is that ideas must work."

PHON.O: Mokkastübchen EP 12" (STRIKE 035EP). $8.50

"Phon.o comes out of his playpen with a crushing package and supplies Shitkatapult with four monstrous turds as lethal munitions — the shit is hot. This Berlin man has the digestion of a power plant and a rectum like pliers; one with which you could tweak the Eiffel tower. With that he serves up crude raw materials consisting of Hip-hop and Breakbeats, Techno and Dub which become raucous monsters of an intimidating size. In 'The Weird Soap' beats the size of a bat bang away in precise cut-up scratch scenes of a looped television. 'The Garagedude V2' is a plowing, intelligent beast of a track even if it's on the tragic side: it's about a folk singer with an acoustic guitar who wants to cross himself via teleporter with a laptop in a self-made experiment; however he fails to achieve the materialization of this digital make up. 'What is kleingehacktes?' is in no need of an explanation as phon.o skips in zigzag mode across the dance floor while slapping his open hand. Like a thunder-gnarz, the gadget takes apart the helium-suffocated last words of an MC who just asked the wrong man the wrong question. For dessert Phon.o gives out a piece of 'Sachertorte Am Morgen' tasting best when consumed in a techno-armchair. You can smell it all the way to America when Phon.o releases his digital-pop flatulence. It's no wonder that Kit Clayton demanded a stool sample for his label Cytrax, from which three tracks have already been completed. 'Mokkastübchen' is Phon.o's second EP on Shitkatapult and it really just has this title as camouflage. Were it ever to come to a celebrity death match in the states, a battle against Prefuse 73 would be promising for this 25 year-old German — the element of surprise being on his side."

DAS BIERBEBEN: Wir Sing EP 12" (STRIKE 036EP). $8.50

"Shitkatapult has snagged three songs for a 12" release which will almost immediately earn the respect of the directionless masses, late-punks, and post-ravers. Here we go with the funky aerobics for released reservists of the highest rank who fuse bodily conditioning with mental fixation. This happens before any visit is possible to the Portuguese street cafes of your given breakfast hood. 'Wir sind und wir bleiben die Unreparierten' merges two girls' silver voices with the unparticipatory tone of an automated subway intercom to the point where all waiting passengers are dancing in synch with the chorus line. 'Sturm brich los' comes as an electro-shock and whoever dared go near the EBM-niche of the early 90s will hear alarm bells ringing. Yup, it's all about a hi-tech cover version of the equally titled Tommi Stumpf piece from a 1991 LP Trivial Shock, which the former musician actually sees as his worst record. 'Gnadenlos' is yet another Stumpf text from the year 1989 which has breaking relevance in context with the forever-current 80s hype. 'Verkauf dich so schamlos wie noch nie' could be referencing the inflation-like relaunches of past heroes and anti-heroes incenated as a self-ironic typical German synth-pop-dance-floor-smash-hit."

ILAR, ANDERS: Everdom CD (STRIKE 037CD). $15.50

"The new album awakens that what used to be called Ambient with mindful greatness. Everdom is simply a gift. It displays realness which seems to have gone under in the volume of the information craze and knowledge hysteria: sensibility, slowness, introversion, courage — freeing your mind and letting it flow. The music carefully pushes the listener into an intimate place of self-reliance without the need for outside brotherly love. Now, when too many fingers are shaking nervously, where too many faces look anxiously and where too much music is consumed rapidly, Everdom unties all the knots of fixed listening and experience. One could almost call releasing a record like this in the present courageous. Anders Ilar's Everdom is the antithesis of your current state of mind. Everdom is progress but there's no progress without conflict. Whoever takes the dive here has courage."

ILAR, ANDERS: Everdom LP (STRIKE 037LP). $8.50

4-track vinyl version.

LIDBO, HAKAN: Clockwise 12" (STRIKE 038EP). $8.50

"Microsonic" is an electro-stomper stapled together with the most important conventional effect elements of the last 20 years. This is polished up with refreshing and silly micro-music fragments. Well, there is almost nothing out there musically that evades Mr. Lidbo's grasp. 'My First Honest Penny' illuminates the fact that this old Swede knows exactly what kinda sound is necessary to wrap label chief T.Raumschmiere around his finger. Here we have the Munster family with their artificial hips on the black and white dance floor of their deteriorated home combined with gnarling thunder beats, while a suspenseful organ plays the mighty song of dread. If a video-clip were ever to be made for this track then only Ed Wood would be ripe and worthy enough to do the job."

DAS BIERBEBEN: Schlag Deinen Fernseher Kaputt 12" (STRIKE 039EP). $8.50

"With the given reactionary cult culture based on punk socialisation, the future-objectors Alfred Bierlek and Wolf Dosenbierrmann, der ostent und der westen respectively, reach for the most modern means of production in order to distribute secret prophecies of timeless meaning to the people. Das Bierbeben operate tactically with repetitive electro beats and synth-pop appeal in the same vain as one once had to hear a Judas Priest record backwards to decode the satanic verse. On top there are few but poignant verbal messages with which the ensemble beam their listeners into a time warp that diminishes somewhere in a deja-vu interval between two Jaegermeisters. All this at a time when the DDR still existed, when watching TV was retarded, and when the future was a beer can away." W/ T. Raumschmiere remix.

GWEM: Frank Sinatra/Fymw 7" (STRIKE 040EP). $8.50

"Shitkatapult, the favorite label of special people who like special music, is on again with something outstanding: Gwem aka Gareth Morris from London, described as 'micromusic-glampunk-raverocker' releases his new single. Signed by the label because of two tracks that Gwem left on Shitkatapult's answering machine, you can be sure to find new and exiting music on this 7". The arrangements, simple and earnest, are somewhere between rave and rock. This is no electronic music on the basis of a punk socialization, but rather punk music as the result of nerdy adolescence. This is 'Jackass' for geeks."

APPARAT: Duplex CD (STRIKE 041CD). $15.50

"From Schallstrom and Mexican beer, Berlin based Apparat emerges with a full-length that has hit the jackpot (minus the bling), partakes in the recent fornication between acoustics and electronics and reaches deep into conveying new and evocative sound scapes. This new long player's screw-music will penetrate deep into your ears and hunt out the pain. Duplex is a collection of new material, poetically absorbing you in every way, steering a symphonic cakewalk blitz through your emotions, and successfully/intentionally bypasses the mundane and empty laptop sounds of the giant electronic music sweat-shop. It's full of shock-and-awe, not unlike when you first took that hit of acid and listened to trance-techno (ok, maybe we're going a little too far but hell, we're excited about this album). Listen to the songs on headphones after a long day. Listen intently and you'll hear the recipe a la Duplex: Mexican digi-mosquitoes, droning Catholic organs, heart-wrenching distorted horns, and finally Apparat's renown, shuffled thump beats."

APPARAT: Duplex LP (STRIKE 041LP). $14.50

LP version.

ILAR, ANDERS: Hydro 12" (STRIKE 042EP). $8.50

"Anders Ilar is an ol' bastard. First he seduced us with winter-techno and then he gave us a cure in the form of an ambient pill we had to swallow. Now he is packing three completely different tracks onto one 12" for at least 23 dance floors. What's he up to? At least there's DJ fodder for everyone! It is said that freezing to death is peculiarly more pleasant than other fatalities. As if kissed by the Schneekönigin herself, one sinks into self-loathing with 'Hydro' and gets drunk by the hydrostatic depths of the frozen soul-mometer. White cotton-ball harmonies float, suppressed and held by a short line, to the naturally glossed waves of bass-strings made of elk organs as thick as an arm, which simulate osmotic melodies out and about. One used to call it Trance but we hate this word because it was terribly overdone. So we'll take this opportunity to call it Trans: Transporter-Musik."

KOIVIKKO, SAMI: Salmiakki CD (STRIKE 043CD). $15.50

"Debut full-lengther that hits you with a mean one-two combination that ought to throw you back to the dance floor every time. Sounds like Berlin, but he's really from Finland. The ten perfectly synched tracks push rapidly through this album, not in any real rush to get to where they're going, but rather more driven by a malevolent urge to hunt down unsuspecting road kill-to-be from time to time. The road kill is that perception that good techno died back in 2001. This is definitely something for the dance floors but not the meat markets, even if it means dancing alone on a crowded floor. Still one can certainly understand Salmiakki as techno-listening, if you will. It's this modest yet distinct presence animating you like a dream of rhythm. Daytime thieves, butterfly collectors, music empathizers, emotional doofs, they should all be able to make some sort of discovery on Salmiakki. Sami Koivikko's subtle emotional shifts are simply a ton of fun. There are long-lasting riffs, miniaturized melodies, vague signs swaying between melancholic joy and harmonic sense, always well hidden in the logical web of elements."

KOIVIKKO, SAMI: Salmiakki 2LP (STRIKE 043LP). $16.50

Double LP version.

MAGNUM 38: 4 Fois Le Petit Mort 12" (STRIKE 044EP). $8.50

"It's time to start 2004 with some retribution. 4 Fois Le Petit Mort summarizes four tracks of music into one that we would die for: cross-cutting work on Shitkatapult's sound without any residual handicap. Whoever had hoped for an extension of drum n bass crimes should now look to call the serious fraud office. 4 Fois Le Petit Mort is the right ammo for the DJ magazine when blow up dolls and cardboard persons block the dance floor. The 'Sägemann' dresses up as a dentist who is pushing down his nervous foot onto the bass pedal of the patient's chair, thus giving the gnarl-sound some root treatment. Is someone trying to up the ante here at Raumschmiere's throne? 'Klink Jive' is the shuffling night sister under minimal techno vibes and a runner in every rubber clinic amongst patients with open legs. The concept of 'Klick Klick' could easily be heavyweight rawkus garage at marching tempo. It's a track for the trucker disco with free parking for a 40-ton truck. Last but not least, the 'Zerstäuber' dies a small death in the final groove. This doesn't happen without sending a 101 guide to broken rhythm schemes through the pa for idm-SAT test-takers. This is the perfect record for in-between two Shitkatapult discs."

APPARAT: Duplex Remixes 12" (STRIKE 045EP). $8.50

"Accompanying vinyl-only EP of remixes by some of today's most adventurous and respected electronic producers. Whereas the original work reveled in the enviable austerity of moodiness required for an optimal home-listening headphone experience, these remixes are perfect for solitary dancers who prefer dark rooms and corrosive beats to the strobe-controlled world of club culture. The a-side features manipulators from both sides of the Atlantic. Kompakt artist and The Orb collaborator Thomas Fehlmann takes 'Schallstrom' and all but strips it of the delicate piano refrain that centred the original, in the process transforming it into a lean and dirty track befitting Berlin's long and twisted dub wise techno backing. Seattle-based L'usine ICL, who has recorded previously for such labels as Ghostly International and Hymen, distorts and buries the vocal-heavy 'Contradiction', trading in its stridently syncopated beats for a crunchy blip-hop anthem of melancholic proportions. The b-side veers into more constructive and thoughtful territory. Monolake (aka Robert Henke) captures the cinematic tendencies of 'Steinholz', but opts to make a completely different movie along the way. As illustrious and otherworldly as its inspiration, this version holds true to the intricate and organic textures that make Apparat's music so enigmatic. To finish things off, the operatic and soaring 'Wooden' is deconstructed by Shitkatapult's own Anders Ilar, who underscores the track's core emotional thrust with a broken rhythmic bed that sounds as wooden as its namesake."

LIDBO, HAKAN: Clockwise Remixes CD (STRIKE 046CD). $11.00

Extended remix EP, featuring remixes from Matthew Dear, Si Begg, Apparat, Lidbo. Plus bonus video. 11 track CD. "The life of Anne Frost and John Lane can definitely be described as a routine. Anne is hard working, lives in London, works in a restaurant, and has a thirteen-hour day. John Lane, also from London, is a bank employee and the typical nine-to-five. Breakfast hours are regulated strictly. This is the deeply sharp plot of 'Clockwise,' the identical name from the piece on Hakan Lidbo's Shitkatapult EP (Strike 38 from 2003). That one swerved with a musical narration between pulp'n'bass and yap-phonics painted by undertones of toothpaste and edible sounds. The actual interesting part about Anne and John's catchy stories remains in the fantasy of the listener. In some way it stays open, whether or not they both know each other, maybe even fuck, given a nice lunch break. As for fucking, it was obvious that Hakan Lidbo wouldn't forget to finger the ol' label whores at Shitkatapult. In so doing, it will only be a short while before the Proms are called up and turned onto pushing a special version of 'Clockwise.' Sibegg, Brighton Noodles Imperialist, is busy transplanting Anne and John's story into a British undercover-agent comedy. A bomb is ticking, suspicious signs strike keys conscientious of accusations as the protagonists stutter, since the emergency number isn't working with Dr. No in charge of the bass-buzzer on the power lines. Hakan's punkslut Minimax has nothing but quacking spite for Anne and John's day in day out routine, coming and going as fast as the point of a ridiculous joke. Apparat, that old fog, winds the tempo down so far until it's running backward since it's nighttime and John is dreaming Anne's dream. Matthew Dear, the platinum boy from Ghostly International who respectively gave the minimal techno experience life and enjoyment in 2003, shuffles with Anne and John in the clacking and scratching infinity of reduction, where beginning and end always hang out in the middle. Vinyl has been pressed for all those who like to see big names united on one record without needing to switch the plate. The CD is complete with all the tracks and remixes of the EP as well as an extra mini-movie for home use. Hair dressers would be smart to buy it for their salons, where people like Anne and John go to have their hair done up. Of course there will be others who gaze in the mirror and wonder about it."

LIDBO, HAKAN: Clockwise Remixes 12" (STRIKE 046EP). $8.50

Five track vinyl EP version, with the original mix, plus remixes from Matthew Dear, Si Begg, Apparat, and Lidbo.

DAS BIERBEBEN: No Future No Past CD (STRIKE 047CD). $15.50

"Germany and the others! It can't go on like this! Das Bierbeben churns forth this time with a whole agenda of timeless white wine wisdom. Its deducible quality from the system is as overdue as the revolution of commercially viable target groups between the ages of 14 and 49. No Future No Past is a poetic album for the modern dissident ethos. It is the mobilization of the fraternity with a polemic banner and the vengeance of the mirror image with its original — the cream of the crop of German brewing art forms. It's a huge downer that one can't guzzle this music with its rockversive booze-pop being pumped from an infinite keg. It's not just that the dial is on par, but the synth and emo-phonetics here also find a home beyond the eighties somewhere between today and a forgotten time. Each track comes along so powerfully that these people from the Bierbeben have no choice but to embrace any accusation of over-achievement. Even the four old ham tracks from their previous EPs receive a new finish. All songs are as much danceable in public as all alone at home. You can listen to all of them one after the other even the one with Jake The Rapper, who is a guest on this record and is loved by almost everyone. One comment in regard to the lyrics: fuck yeah! It's not so bad that this music will appeal to folks who wear cute sweaters with 'Hamburg' or 'Berlin' printed on them. Bierbeben has even composed a track for them: 'File Up In Line'. Then there are two videos to watch on a computer since your TV must be broken by now and since it's twice as nice to see them in double vision. Damn straight we're not worthy."

DAS BIERBEBEN: No Future No Past 2LP (STRIKE 047LP). $16.50

VA: Musick 01 12" (STRIKE 048EP). $8.50

"Musick to play in the club: Musick is a new division of Shitkatapult — no further words: Just Special music for Special people." Four track EP featuring: Elastic Heads, T.Raumschmiere & Peter Grummich. "We're talking about a new project called 'Musick', a 'division' founded to connect new investors with realistic 'option models', i.e. by going public at the record exchange. Musick is more than just a label - Musick is a word that doesn't even actually exist! With 'Kicking!' the Elastic Heads (Andreas Stoberneck aka Kyborg, NBI and Trike, BPitchControl) make counting-rhyme techno, ideal for a fun game of musical chairs in the conference room during the lunch break. Jerry Abstract is a guy that T. met in Seattle, and right away one of his tracks was stapled onto Musick. The track sounds almost like it could be from the boss himself, just different, not to be understood as flattery, since 'Grittin' is way too coarse and XXL — just like Americans tend to be. And the boss himself is entangled in finely knit techno: With 'König Shuffle (Pt. 2)' he blows a dented fanfare from the pinnacles of the rusty knight's castle down to the disco-barn where office buffalos like us live. And then there's the unknown Peter Grummich, who sent a demo and a business plan, which, in terms of minimal techno, calls for more investment in marketing this brand, particularly 'Dirty Disco Rock', as he calls his campaign."

Comp of the real subterranean British scumbucket scene, "ranging from the Rudolph Grey free-skrunk gtr/drums attack of Derv to the hopeless distorto-dunt insanity of Beautiful Penis to the tape-loop dementia of Cosmonauts Hail Satan." Also features Ascension, Themikepostmortem.

HESSION/WILKINSON/FELL: The Horrors of Darmstadt CD (SX 025). $15.00

2nd CD by this hard-free-jazz trio, described in the Penguin Guide to Jazz on CD as "Thrillingly intense... a band that outdoes the old Brotzmann groups for sheer firepower."

BLUE HUMANS: Incandescence CD (SX 028). $12.00

A complete 23 minute performance (at an EP price) from June of 1988 by the trio of Rudolph Grey (guitar), Jim Sauter (tenor sax) and Beaver Harris (perc.). The slow feedback-laden opening builds into a sincere spiral of psychedelic sound-core, and in its own way this cuts to the heart of the Rudolph Grey sound experience as well as any other extant document. Most homes could use a copy.

SHOCK RECORDS (AUSTRALIA):

VA: Do The Pop! The Australian Garage-Rock Sound 1976-87! 2CD (DTP 1976). $18.00

"Over two decades before the White Stripes and the Hives made 'garage-rock' the new buzz-word, numerous Australian bands were cranking out a raw, high-energy music with all the elements that the international music media is hot for today. Inspired by two legendary punk-era bands, The Saints and Radio Birdman, Australia exploded in the late '70s with literally scores of bands who melded the wild sounds of classic '60s garage-rock and the Detroit rock action of the Stooges and the MC5 into a raw and powerful sound which was unlike anything else in the world. Do The Pop! is the definitive 'Nuggets'-style compendium of this sound. The double-CD set features 50 of the greatest tracks from the period, including 2 or 3 apiece from the key acts." Artists include: The Saints, Radio Birdman, Psycho Surgeons, The Victims, Johnny Kannis, The Hitmen, Visitors, Passengers, Lipstick Killers, The Scientists, The Fun Things, Sunnyboys, New Christs, New Race, Celibate Rifles, Le Hoodoo Gurus, Minuteman, Lime Spiders, Screaming Tribesmen, Died Pretty, Decline of the Reptiles, The Eastern Dark, Exploding White Mice, Hard-ons, Psychotic Turnbuckles, The Stems, Some Loves.

SHOCKOUT:

KID 606/THE BUG/WAYNE LONESOME: Buckle Up 12" (SHOCK 001 EP). $7.00

"Kid606's over-the-top original mix of 'Buckle Up' clashes booming sub-basses with twisted analog sirens and squelches amid a downpour of drill'n'bass junglist warfare. He cools it down a hundred degrees for a laidback, contemplative, groovy-but-still-thundering version with a steady, tabla-driven pulse and more focus on the vocals' interaction with the almost Arabic droning instrumentation. More dancehall than dancehall, The Bug mashes up Wayne Lonesome's infectious original, cut into a distortion-splattered pulp. Sounding like Dillinja's big, bad bass transmitted through a terminally overdriven sound rig, the Razor X-style remix amplifies the sound of a thousand blown woofers into a body-pummeling, ribcage rocker where half-speed jungle meets full speed ragga. The Bug's yardcore violence matches Lonesome's verbal threats. No less aggressive, yet appropriately more spacious, the 'Dub Mix' recalls the gory days of On-U-Sound's finest audio abattoir by viscerally invoking the specter of Mark Stewart's Mafia with its transformation of Kingston ghetto warfare into white noise central for a death-match soundclash."

DJ RUPTURE/SHADETEK/WAYNE LONESOME: Dem Nuh Know Me 12" (SHOCK 002 EP). $7.00

"Although Rupture's legendary DJ sets have led to performances in over a dozen countries, his unique audio imagination shines in his original studio productions. Here he gives two completely different beats for the same Lonesome a capella. The 'Anti-Alias' version weds Lonesome's manic lyricism to an uptempo electro beat braced by punchy bottom-end and a searing synth hook made of equal parts melody and electronic noise. Rupture's 'Override' version opens with an otherworldly polyrhythm that explodes into a breakcore frenzy via an eerie cello breakdown. Hot, alien, and uncompromising. On the flip side, Team Shadekek's 'Yoga' riddim constructs funk-filled links between the yardman futurism of contemporary Jamaican dancehall and the micro-scratches and filtered chirps of the post-rave electronica set. Their slinky, kinky 'Yoga' instrumental — perfect food for DJs — completes the 12-inch."

TIMEBLIND/OVE NAXX/DJ C/WAYNE LONESOME: Come Back Wicked 12" (SHOCK 004EP). $8.50

"This installment of Shockout's 12-inch series pits a dancehall MC of serious weight and lyrical force against innovative and capable electronic musicians. Come Back Wicked is a tuff bad-boy salute to vengeance and confrontation voiced by Jamaicanborn MC Wayne Lonesome (The Bug, Razor X). Music is provided by esteemed techno/electronica innovator Timeblind. Also stepping up to the international soundclash scene are Ove-Naxx and DJ C."

STRATEGY: Going Street Dub/Dunes Dub 7" (SHOCK 005EP). $4.50

"Strategy comes correct with two new dub reggae burners. The spring reverb returns here — the vibe is half purist '80s reggae, half out-there electronica. Strategy's dubs pay respects to the best elements of the old school, while still bringing his own distinctive beat-shifting, layered sound fragments, and signature soupy production style."

DJ RUPTURE/COM.A/WICKED ACT: No Heathen 12" (SHOCK 007EP). $8.50

"No Heathen has a dynamite vocal delivered with apocalyptic fervor by Jamaican dancehall MC Wicked Act, an aptly named friend and collaborator of Wayne Lonesome. Renegade global turntablist DJ/Rupture takes a break from nonstop touring for studio production; the blazing 'Blacksmith Riddim' is the first fruit of his work. Rupture joins Wicked Act's strident ragga vocals to a dancefloor-ready, post-Neptunes beat. The instrumental version allows the bad-ass bassline and uncategorizable, funky hip-hop-reggae riddim structure to shine. Another Rupture banger, perfectly timed for a summer soundsystem meltdown."

SHOWBOAT/SKY STATION (JAPAN):

TENJO SAJIKI: Den'en Ni Shisu CD (SWAX 057). $34.00

First reissue of this 1974 JA Caesar-performed theatrical underground classic. "The early 70s in Japan are often painted as an era of political and artistic disillusionment. On the one hand, the state rode roughshod over widespread opposition by renewing a mutual security treaty with the US by forcibly purchasing farming land near Tokyo for the construction of a new airport and by stamping down hard on student occupations of universities. In the face of the implacability of state power, the protest movements' fluffy dreams of peaceful revolution were viciously scalped-sculpted into new and violent forms by Red Army hijackings, lynchings and hostage taking. The sense of confusion and lost innocence was further emphasized by teenage thrill killers, coin locker babies and the bizarre coup d'état-cum-public suicide of novelist Yukio Mishima. Against this background Japanese youth music began to discard the perky Western imitations of the Group Sounds boom and the college folkies, and slide into more appropriately brutal forms of self expression. Folk turned angry and personal, while rock groups like Las Rallizes Denudes, Flower Travellin' Band and Keiji Haino's Lost Aaraaff discovered bad acid, dissonance and heavy electric blues.

Some of the most exciting and evocative music of the time, however, was born out of the avant garde theatre groups that had played such a central role in the 60s ferment. One of the most important was the Tenjo Sajiki Company (its name taken from Marcel Carne's wartime occupation fantasy Les Enfants Du Paradis), formed by poet, film maker, boxing fan and all round agent provocateur, Shuji Terayama. Renowned for Living Theatre-inspired audience participation happenings and extreme street theatre designed to shock the bourgeois, by 1970 the group had already become a haven for runaway teens, and a focus for police investigation. Terayama was canny enough to realize that co-opting their music was an ideal way to hijack adolescent energies, and he consistently used heavy amplified rock to jump-start his chaotic, socially critical acid operas.

Heard today, even independent of their lyrical message, they're astonishingly powerful as pieces of music, deploying huge Magma choruses alongside juggernaut organ, guitar, bass, drums and fully out-there vocalizing. The pick of this bunch is the soundtrack to Terayama's 1974 film Den'en Ni Shisu (Death In The Country). Described as a fictional autobiography, it tells of a sensitive adolescent poet who later becomes a film director, stuck with his neurotic mother in a rural northern backwater, who dreams of running off first with a neighbour's wife and then with a traveling freakshow. The film's fractured narrative of awakening sexuality and severing of parental bonds is captured in hallucinatory imagery and an equally ambitious soundtrack by JA Caesar, which binds the whole film together with a subtle, subconscious logic.

The deployment of disparate elements in an all-consuming flow, which works even independently of the images, is masterly. The familiar psych guitar, organ and choral chanting are heavy enough in places — as on the disc's definitive reading of Caesar's massive and haunting 'Wasan' — to approach Sabbath levels of dense pounding, and there's also a frighteningly visceral vocal turn from folk singer Kan Mikami. But the score also sees Caesar expanding his instrumental palette, scoring some tracks for sideshow brass band or gently plucked guitar, weeping violin and chant. The weird intervals of his sparse, medieval-influenced melodies linger in the memory with the force of nostalgia for a past not directly experienced. It's an amazing performance: from street hippy who'd never picked up an instrument to film soundtrack composer in five years. Caesar's soundtrack for Den'en Ni Shisu lost out by a single vote to Toru Takemitsu for the best film soundtrack of 1974. — Alan Cummings, The Wire.

TENJO SAJIKI: Throw Away The Books, Let's Go Out on the Street CD (SWAX 062). $34.00

"Typical of the company's early, crazed style is the recently reissued Throw Away The Books, originally released on their own label in 1970. Confusingly, there is a film soundtrack of the same title, but this is the extremely rare original theatrical version and contains entirely different material. Subtitled 'a high-teen symphony', the performance centers around untrained adolescents reading out their own tortured, angry (and in one case, stuttering) texts and poems. Their stories of family disintegration and mother-hate, dreams and hopes for the future, and love songs to teen murderer Norio Nagayama and Mick Jagger are set to an attractively rough and ready pounding psych-rock soundtrack largely composed by organist Kuni Kawachi. Kawachi had been a member of pioneering Prog group Happenings Four and his brooding organ riffs feature throughout. As well as heavy rockers like the great opening 'Let's Go Ornette', with its ripping fuzz lead, Off-style choral chants and motorbike effects, Kawachi was also capable of delicate, folksy pieces ideally suited for some of the company's outstanding female vocalists, several of whom developed successful singing careers outside of Tenjo Sajiki. Also of note is a track composed by a young design school dropout, Shinjuku street hippy and winner of a nationwide longhair competition, by the unlikely name of JA Caesar (Tenjo Sajiki also had his own Sinatra and Salvador Dali). Set to a simple handclap rhythm, Caesar's tale of the panhandling life possessed a subtle melodic strength and depth that hinted at the minor keys of traditional folk song. Caesar soon came into his own, composing all the music for Terayama's performances and films for the next decade, and finally inheriting the remnants of the troupe after Terayama's death in 1983." — Alan Cummings, The Wire.

TAJ MAHAL TRAVELLERS: July 15, 1972 CD (SWAX 501). $34.00

Official CD reissue of the first Taj Mahal Travellers album, licensed from Sony Japan. Originally issued by CBS in Japan in 1972, this has been incredibly in-demand for quite some time. The precursor to the 2nd and final Taj-Mahal Travellers album, August 1974 (reissued on P-vine in the late 90s and still available), this represents Fluxus-inspired drone and improvisation at its peak. The line up for this album is: Takehisa Kosugi (electronic violin, radio oscillators & voice), Ryo Loike (electronic contrabass, suntool, harmonia & sheet iron), Yukio Tsuchiya (vibraphon, suntool), Michihiro Kimura (electronic guitar & percussion), Seiji Nagai (electronic trumpet, harmonica & castanet), Tokio Hasegawa (vocal), Kinji Hayashi (electronic engineer), Go Hamada (producer). Recorded live at Sohgetsu Hall, Tokyo on 7/15/72.

SIAMESE TEMPLE BALL:

SIAMESE TEMPLE BALL: CD (STB). $13.00

"Flight comes to Thailand in the Year of the Rat. Siamese Temple Ball provide the lilting soundtrack for a chemical journey. Secret and silent, its shadows are full of life and joy. Night is the time to indulge in the national passion for fireworks at the illuminated mind festival in November, vast mental constructions are launched teetering dangerously on the water, hot air balloons carry candles into the black sky like giant fireflies. Broad-hatted women sell their wares in the shady corners of the klongs. Schoolgirls dance bashfully for the expectant throng. Life continues at a comparatively slow pace away from the rigours of fierce sun-light: 'Welcome To The Land Of Smile'. In the tradition of Sun City Girls, Ya Ho Wha 13, The Spacious Mind, Taj Mahal Travellers, Mu, Word Of Life, Group 1850, and Ghost, Siamese Temple Ball give maximum pleasure for thirsty brains. Deceptively simple beat-band instrumentation riffs into mantra to assure relaxation complete. A mysterious find from distant lands now out in the world, date and musicians unknown. Please step forward and accept our gratitude!"

SIDEBURN (GERMANY):

CONCORDE 3000: Moshi Moshi 12" (SB 008). $9.00

"Concorde 3000 aka DRL and LoopM have created this supersonic lofi acidnoise in their studio in Amsterdam...using analog equipment, tape loops and hanging records. Inspired by ambient noise and clubpop, as well as French and Japanese culture, Concorde 3000 are truly eclectic, deeply in love with club culture from chansons to industrial." Limited stock.

SIDETRAXS (UK):

VA: Classics From Detroit And Beyond 1 2LP (TN 001). $19.00

Grey area reissue of this classic Detroit techno comp from the UK. "Tracklisting: Side A: Carl Craig - The Climax (Full Length), Side B: X-Ray - Lets Go (Remix), Mayday - Wiggins (Master Reece Mix — from the 1988 Pheerix City release), Side C: Carl Craig - No More Woods (from the 1991 Retroactive release), Reese - Heavens (Mayday Mix), Model 500 - Time Space Transmat, Side D: 3MB feat. Juan Atkins - Jazz Is The Teacher, Komulus - Cloudchaser (String Mix)."

SIEBEN (GERMANY):

RUPP, OLAF: Mai 12" (SIEBEN 7.3). $8.00

"Berlin-based Olaf Rupp is also guitarist with Beastie Shop Beach and Stol (Kitty Yo). 'Mai' is purely electronic though, improvised mighty frequencies, subtle soundlayers, Rupp calls it 'Sound-Geology'."

PRINS, GERT-JAN: Sub 8/9 12" (SIEBEN 7.4). $9.00

"Head of X-OR label, after one solo CD and a collaboration with Werner Puntigam, trombonist, it's his first vinyl release for the 'rhythm meets noise' label Sieben (a joint venture of A-Musik and Entenpfuhl). Prins plays radio, tv, live electronics."

SIGMA EDITIONS (AUSTRALIA):

HAINES, D.: Blither CD (SIGMA 004). $14.00

"The musical structures of David Haines' Blither may be traceable to an adolescence steeped in the experiments of contemporary composition — Reich, Stockhausen, Varèse, Nancarrow — and by default an inclination to amplified sound through rock music. Track two fades into a methodical piano jangling which increases in density layer by layer until you are straining to aurally reconcile the highest trill and deepest throb. The speed, range and configuration are repeatedly outside the scope of what could physically be played by one person. The unswerving movement between two piano chords which form the underlay of track one milks the possibilities of repetition. It establishes stasis and portent at once — one can feel on the one hand that movement has been obliterated, that there is no longer such a thing as a 'passage' in this piece, and on the other hand, that it may be building up to a crescendo so gradually as to arrive there unnoticed. Blither is also redolent with the inflections of the piano performance. The charged and mythologised space between pianist and piano which originates in the performance fills one's imagination when listening to these constructions built in part with samples taken from a CD of notes made on a Bosendorff piano. One can hear the expression in the act of playing which one listens for in a performance. In track seven for example the notes are banded out with a dramatic insistence who's composite effect creates a broadband swell of overtones. Rather than recreating at the level of decorative detail, Blither presents the emotional possibilities and historical associations of piano performance at a meta level. This is how the suppressed rumblings of a completely distinct piano concerto seems to occupy the bass of track one for a time. Blither schematises and distills musical conceits and motifs from their conventional forms. Perhaps this is how describing track seven as 'a little piece of lace which is sucked into a hole' can be apt."

WORKMAN/ROHAN THOMAS, DION: K CD (SIGMA 006). $14.00

"K is a collaboration between Dion Workman (one half of Parmentier) and Rohan Thomas (an Australian sound artist) which was constructed during 1999 and 2000 while both artists were living in The Netherlands. Originally sourced from minidisc feedback the physical nature of K's sound lies, for the most part, at the higher end of the frequency range. Its fragile clips and tones are assembled with a delicate randomness that avoids repetitive rhythms yet has a strong sense of development and direction. After the initial impression of the work as ultra minimal, electronic in its sources and coldly calculated in its execution, what unfolds is a work heading elsewhere — a kind of launching forth of sound. The pieces are mediated just enough to allow for a sense of compositional logic to appear, sidestepping the fuzziness that is a pitfall in some process based work. This is the artfulness within the work: the artist creating a tear or slit in the enfolding firmament like tapping a well spring, but holding the work within the threshold of listenability. K is a sound arena of certain modes belonging to expression: speed and rest, sonorous apparitions, a sense of the inside and the outside, a holding off and a letting go. These events, tied for the listener to memory and emotion, activate a new life for each listening. At certain volumes, the sounds effect on the body has the power to transfer and inhabit organs in ways not often felt. K produces from the most unlikely of sources a new form of folded landscape art untied to the more familiar tenets of what we have come to know as soundscape."

CONOCO: Kemikoski 12" (SIGMA 007). $9.00

"For those familiar with the output of Vladislav Delay it should be obvious upon hearing Conoco's Kemikoski that this is another product from Delay's Helsinki studio. Conoco is, in fact, the name that Delay was making music under before any of his music had been released and the tracks constituting Kemikoski (Koski, Keppi and Ventola) are recent reworkings of material first developed in 1996/1997. Chronologically Kemikoski could be placed either as the first or last release in Delay's discography but stylistically it fits more comfortably between The Kind of Blue EP (Huume, 1997) and his debut full length release Ele (Sigma, 1999). The tracks 'Koski' and 'Keppi', in particular, share many of the same interests that Delay explored with Ele, from the length of the tracks, 20 and 16 minutes respectively, to their methods of construction. These two tracks hint at consistent beats more than they hold them and when the rhythm is allowed to solidify its deconstruction begins again almost immediately. Delay's refusal to 'ground' the music could be seen as an attempt to evade the hypnotism of techno and the refusal to leave the music free enough to float, an attempt to evade the dreamy and disinterested listening state encouraged by ambient music. As with Ele a strong dub influence is evoked by the immersive quality of the delay soaked sounds. With 'Ventola' Delay's concerns shift towards those of The Kind of Blue EP and to a lesser extent his 1999 release on Chain Reaction. Here a jaunt and jaundiced techno is experimented with. If techno has been typified by a kind of health, an ease of production, listenability and danceability (the proliferation of minimal techno in recent years would seem to support this view) then it is only natural that some producers are embracing an unhealthy state where even the most basic tenets of techno are repeatedly attacked and weakened. Delay is certainly among the techno producers who show little regard (or is it, in fact, the highest regard?) for the tradition of techno. The tradition is used as the base for formulating the parameters of an experimentalism that necessarily calls for the negation of that tradition. An outright dismissal of everything developed within the tradition would be as senseless as an uncritical acceptance of it and it is for this reason that even in this 'impo-erished' form it still resembles, and warrants the name, techno."

MINIT: cc/bb 12" (SIGMA 008). $9.00

"cc", the 'a' side of Minit's second release on Sigma Editions, develops through a slow and deliberate build up of subtly differentiated tonal layers. The need to listen with close attention is established in the first seconds through a scarcity of elements: simply a single regulated pulse, clear and insistent, repeated amid a barely perceptible atmospheric hum. The track then unfolds through a sub-division of this originating loop, quietly branching into a harmonic fifth and double time. And in this, different rhythms emerge and submerge, taking predominance in turns, although it is not clear whether this predominance is occurring within the music, or is determined by your own shifting attentions or your position within the stereo field. Eventually comes a twist: out of this fabric of accidental and partial cadences springs a piece of deliberate melody. Its beauty is such that you may begin to look forward to this moment when the notes harness themselves into elegant poignancy, in the same way that you wait for the chorus in a pop single. In contradistinction to how one would listen to stripped-back minimalism, actively; here you wait in passive expectation for particular sensations to be delivered to you. Study any object which has an element of ornament, and the same relation would be revealed: examining the scratches and anomalies on the smooth silver band of a ring, for example, you come to the emerald or the sapphire. Suddenly there is a more familiar beauty laid before you. It is embedded in the whole, but is of a different nature: its nature is to seduce. Minit craft enchanting sonic objects. These objects are not difficult in the traditional 'assault' form. The coherent movement between parts which ask for different kinds of attention from the listener, gently fractures 'listening' and signal what is rich and unusual and experimental, not only about this track, but about Minit's whole musical project."

HAINES, D.: Emo CD (SIGMA 009). $14.00

"This CD is David Haines' second full-length release on Sigma Editions, following his 1999 release Blither. It is comprised of three monumental yet subtle pieces of music, each aptly named after a rock formation or mountain — Kosciuszko, Peak Communism, and Gibraltar, respectively. The three pieces together represent a kind of modern ecstatic dirvish music in homage to the benign, unyielding immensity of such isolated and isolating ascensions. They embody both fullness of exaltation and poverty — poverty in the sense of a restricted means, a limitation of movement, a minimalist form. In light-light objects have the appearance that they are amorphous, multiple outlines and contours forever manifesting themselves. In this music there lies a similar quality. On first listening one might wish to identify a singular source of instrumentation for the music. Are its origins in the piano? strings? horns? harmonium? accordion? or an oscillator? One soon comes to understand that such a singular location is beside the point, that there isn't necessarily one dominant timbre, that the work lies within a shadowland between signal and feedback, and lays open an immense transparency: like a gauzy and radiant fabric of diaphanous folds, fine and translucent, so that behind one tonal layer and its timbre lies veiled another, if not another again; thus creating overall a very tumultuous, protean drone. Within this there exists at least three separate levels or planes of action, perhaps most apparent in Kosciuszko — very low, middle ground, very high — of which the higher, by nature of frequency, is projected far out into listening space. These are subtle emanations, abuzz with electric charge which tend to coalesce in the ear as random whispers of melody, over and above the main foundations. Despite the live randomness of these three pieces, cycles and patterns are discernible. Some of the rotations are long and tidal, others short and idiosyncratic like eddying whirlpools on the edges of a river. The rhythms are various but often obscure as one process of sequencing is masked, accentuated or cancelled out by the interference of another oscillation pattern. This system of pattern-making and manipulation is intrinsic to the creation of these compositions, however its complexity is hidden by the fact that the note relations are close and dissonant and the layering dense. In Blither what remained as disparate elements of 'classical' piano configurations coupled with an overlay of electronic effect has in Emo become an intrinsic, organic whole, one that has done away with the constructs of a stasis through repetition, replacing it with a stability of constant change. For this reason the music aligns itself by analogy with the potent activity of the natural world, perhaps like the imagined sounds of a convalescing forest, a crystal forming, or a mountain amidst arresting winds. In a contemporary musical climate where software has come to drive the very latest of effects, often for effects sake, Haines has carefully integrated a process of effect into a more traditional arcane musical form, so that such a process works as a force equal to that of any other; in other words it becomes instrumental. A change has taken place in Haines' composition as a result of such an integration. What the nature of this change is exactly remains a matter of subjective perception. What happens within oneself when one integrates previously unconscious contents with the consciousness is something which can scarcely be described by words. It can only be experienced." — Torben Tilly

PARLANE, ROSY: Getxo CD (SIGMA 010). $14.00

"With this new work, entitled Getxo, the Parlane sensibility is recognizable: an interest in sublimity, minor keys and mesmerizing repetition. Track one, for example with its simple repeated four note phrase, is like melancholy carnival music devoid of sentimentality. The repetition in this track mimics mechanical reproduction in that the quality degenerates over the course of the track, ending in an enveloping, ever stronger fuzz. In comparison to #1-4, Getxo is lighter, looser, takes itself less seriously. However, at the same time its tracks are more varied, intricate, difficult and internally more complex, moving between density and thinness. The relationship between the six tracks is also more complex, with the tracks existing as pairs (1&6, 2&5, 3&4) in terms of structure, source material and method. Since making #1-4 Parlane has shifted from relatively lo-fi techniques of construction to the digital realm of computer music and this shift in technology is reflected in the intricacy of the tracks and the quality of the sounds. #1-4's dark and urgent rumblings have been superseded by crispness and clarity. Getxo is part of the evolved and evolving Parlane aesthetic, very knowledgeable, drawing on a wide range of influences, and innately musical, seductive and affecting, full of quiet and not so quiet catches and hooks, so easy that the difficulty is camouflaged."

OTTAVI, JULIEN: Nervure Magnetique CD (SIGMA 011). $12.00

"Nervure Magnetique's two mountainous tracks shock by bleeding unpredictably out of audible range at both ends. Because track two for example, does not present expected musical progressions beginning with a methodical test pattern format in which basic analogue-sounding tones of varying duration and texture are laid down in guileless succession at a drastically low volume leaving you vulnerable to the sonic assault at 12-odd minutes, you are never sure where to set your listening parameters. You must either accept the loss of the shadow or highlight detail or excavate from these extremities with the volume control. Ottavi is not the type of experimentalist so inclined to subtly expand the listeners' perceptual horizons as to forcibly prise them open. The experiments he conducts on you have a similarly gaping range from the fuck you boy's noise to a subtle strategy of loosening his grip on the listener's attention so perilously with the low tones at the end of track one that you forget what it is you are supposed to be engaged in. Ottavi knows how to manipulate with the direct physicality of sound. In track one, simply with a slowly building increase in volume, reedy contemplative tones become pressing and forbidding, and effects a complete inversion in scale around the listeners' body, moving from it is in you, to you are in it."

SILENCE (SWEDEN):

HANSSON, BO: *Sagan Om Ringen (Lord Of The Rings) CD (SRSCD 3600). $15.00

Reissue of what was the first ever release on Silence, initially issued in 1970. This was also the first Bo Hansson album, the Swedish legend known to be one of the earliest to place "space music". Produced as a tribute to the Tolkien trilogy, this is stunning instrumental psychedelic music, with lush atmospherics — Don't Fear The Hobbit! This version is the original Swedish titled version, with one bonus track ("Tidiga skisser Från Midgård"); there is also an English-titled version with different bonus tracks. This is a digitally remastered issue from 2001. Performed by: Bo Hansson (Organs, guitar, moog, bass), Rune Carlsson (drums, congas), Gunnar Bergsten (saxophone), Sten Bergman (flute). "Lord of the Rings was released late in the fall of 1970 and became an immediate success. Bo himself was in the midst of a very creative period, new melodies were constantly popping up in his head, so when Lord of the Rings finally got released in other countries there were already three more tracks added compared to the first Swedish issue. In the encyclopedia Guide to Progressive Rock, Bo Hansson is mentioned with reverence and respect. He is the first to play 'space music', he is a precursor to the French prog-celebrities Gong and English Henry Cow, and contemporary style-formers as Genesis and Yes. Bo Hansson is an innovator in the most noble sense of the word."

GUDIBRALLAN: *T-Doja CD (SRSCD 3601). $15.00

2002 reissue of the first 2 Gudibrallan albums (Uti var Hage — the first ever Silence label album, originally issued in 1970) and Gudibrallan II (1971). With a bonus track, 72 minutes in total. "Gudibrallan was the first record ever released on the Silence label. We discovered them at the very first G...rdetfest, the small one with only about 500 people visiting. It was held without permission from the police and there was a lot of trouble because they wanted to shut it down. We recorded the record in one day, mixed it in one day only a few days after the G...rdetfest and when the next, big official one was held 35 days later, we proudly sold the record there! Gudibrallan was the very first punk band in Sweden and that long before the word was even invented! But they had just that attitude of punkrockers. No one could really play and some friends, or any one who felt like it, used to join them on stage. They made fun of the intellectual left wing people and the government and they showed solidarity with the lowest of the low standing individuals in the society. They didn't exactly try to hide their opinions, they shouted them out loudly and straight on, no poetry. We think that Gudibrallan is one of the reasons why S-PO (The Swedish CIA) had investigations going on Silence for some years." — Eva Wilke/Silence.

TRAD, GRAS OCH STENAR: CD (SRSCD 3602). $15.00

1995 reissue of the first Träd Gräs och Stenar album, originally issued on the Decibel label in Sweden in 1970. Their name translated as Trees, Grass & Stones. A rock group led by Bo Anders Persson (after his works with Pärson Sound, Harvester, International Harvester), this was their first of 3 albums (and still the only one on CD), a definitely more "rockist" continuation of the post-minimalist experiments of the earlier groups, but still with that undefinable Swedish underground "feeling". Similar in vibe to the live document on Subliminal Sounds, Gardet 12.6.1970. This will be the only record in your collection to start off with covers of "All Along The Watchtower" and "(I Can't Get No) Satisfaction" that you won't want to kill somebody with.

SAMLA MAMMAS MANNA: CD (SRSCD 3603). $15.00

The Swedish Silence label has finally moved forward in completing the reissue of their classic catalog from the 70s, with 7 new titles (the first Älgarnas Trädgård, Samla Mammans Manna's Måltid, & first Trad, Gräs och Stenar are older titles that were first issued in the early 90s). Simply put, A Major Event. From Silence's press release about this reissue program: "The seventies was one of the most interesting decades from a musical point of view in Sweden. Rock music had had a few years and all sorts of musical theories and expressions met and changed old expressions into music never heard before. Even though you might say that the modern record industry was born sometime in the earliest seventies the whole scene was rather innocent at the time. Stars like The Beatles and Jimi Hendrix had been touring in the smallest towns in Sweden during the sixties and Hendrix had had jam sessions with almost who ever musician he met and as for the musical forms you could do almost anything. The audience was as curious as the musicians. Bodyguards, tough managers or stuck up representatives for the record companies were not around. In the midst of this jumble of new expressions and musical experiments Silence was born, most because other Swedish companies were not interested, they were mostly doing middle-of-the-road Swedish mumbojumbo and other more traditional kinds of music, and because all this new exciting music just had to be heard by more people and also because we had great fun. Silence was consciously looking for the most odd, most thrilling expressions and was most fascinated by those who had the courage to follow an idea to the far end. Parallel to this the movement that came to be called 'The Swedish Musicmovement' started and it was an attempt to gather all sorts of different interests under the same hat — like political youthclubs, Vietnam movement, environmental groups, hippies, intellectuals, musicians and 'ordinary' young people with an interest in music. Of course it did not work for very long, especially when people started to claim that they were 'the only correct movement' and finally it was more wrangling than workshop. The musical broad-mindedness that was to be found among the musicians around Silence was almost totally lacking within the so called Movement and Silence was soon considered the black sheep in the herd and accused of being non political and fuzzy because our records did not have clear political statements and instrumental music was kind of the top of the fuzziness. It is not without pride that we now are reissuing 7 almost instrumental records from the late sixties and early seventies. It is clear that these records with totally different expressions yet are a mirror of the spirit of the time? the lust for experiments, a freedom in the musical expression that there is hardly room for today." About the first Samla Mammans Manna: "Exact reissue of the 1970 debut album by this trailblazing Swedish kwartet, led by composer/pianist/organist/accordionist/vocalist Lasse 'Lars' Hollmer, just prior to any knowledge admitted or otherwise anything called "RIO" (Rock In Opposition mind you, not a reference to Nagel's finest work). Formed in the late late 60s in Uppsala, SMM canvassed the festival circuit (appearing on the same bill that Trad Gräs Och Stenar recorded their mammoth Live Gardet 1970 at) to popular and critical appeal. Later SMM would team up with groups like Henry Cow and such to affix a politically bent moniker to their particularly labyrinthine chord progressions. This is a few years down the line yet apparently, as here they're seemingly taking the piss... We get a few prog-polkas for the kids, a bit of tasteful Rhodes bob (esp. the nice & short 'Flickan I Skogen', a dope jam), a few Swedish-folk sounding numbers, a fast carnavall-ing segue or two, near Deep Purpleque organ snaking, etc... Some of the band-recorded material (assumably mono, practice space stuff) could pass for the sort of raw fun nuggetry you'd find on one of those Keb Darge comps, albeit of distinctly Euro white male origin. Altogether pleasing, crude at points, plenty of humor, handclapping. Not bad at all." — Hrvatski.

SAMLA MAMMAS MANNA: *Måltid CD (SRSCD 3604). $15.00

The second Samla Mammans Manna album, originally issued by Silence in 1973. With 2 bonus tracks. Two more albums would follow on Silence under this spelling of the name, then they would change it to Zamla Mammaz Manna and finally Von Zamla, going into the mid-80s. "I highly recommend Måltid for the experimental listener. It falls well into the 'progressive weirdness' category that Gong, Area, and Pell Mell are part of. While some of the many short tracks have a considerable amount of 'noise' (screaky vocals, strange sounds), the band has, not unlike Gong, a killer musicianship that makes Måltid a listenable (and enjoyable) offering... Not unlike early Magma or Moving Gelatine Plates, but with more of a sense of humour." — Mike Ohman/Gibraltar

KEBNEKAJSE: *Resa Mot Okänt Mål CD (SRSCD 3606). $15.00

First ever reissue of the first 3 Kebnekajse albums on Silence. This debut album was originally issued in 1971. Liner notes for these 3 are in Swedish only, but English translations will be found on www.silence.se. "When this album from 1971 is reissued and some of you hear it for the first time and others will hear it again after 30(!) years, there will be a lot of wide open ears. But did Kebnekajse really sound like this? Yes, Kebnekajse sounded like this? also. On their first album? with the perfect title? A Journey to destination unknown? they still have not discovered the Swedish folk melodies but are a loud and hard Swedish rock-band. A few references could be Cream (England), Mountain (USA), November (Sweden) and even Jimi Hendrix (both US and England). Brittish hardrock, psychedelic influences from the American west coast and Swedish lyrics? but it is not just the lyrics that make Kebnekajse's rockmusic sound 'Swedish'. There is, mainly in Kenny Håkansson's way of handling his guitar, something else, something unspecified, a tone, a mood that my ears not quite can capture, something Swedish or Nordic. 'We did not play blues notes', said Kenny. It must have been that thing I heard -? or not heard: a space which was emptied and filled with something else and something new. Kebnekajse did not play electric blues. Strangely enough the rockmusic Kebnekajse played did not have its roots in the Afroamerican music but was rather torn up by its roots and then replanted into the Swedish soil -? just to see if it could grow and flourish here in Sweden." — Bengt Eriksson

PHILEMON ARTHUR AND THE DUNG: *Musikens Historia Del 1 Och 2 CD (SRSCD 3607). $15.00

CD release from 1992 which compiles the complete works of this strange Swedish duo, including their lone self-titled LP release from 1972 (which supposedly won a Grammy in Sweden(?) and is considered "the most cult album in Sweden ever") and a cassette-only follow up from 1987 (sounds like outtakes of the '72 sessions). The group is two Swedish males, who apparently have never been positively identified. The music they perform is in the realms of experimental folk-rock, with the opening track "In Kommer Gösta" featuring a devastating Godz-like brilliance (easily one of the memorable tracks in the entire Silence catalog). Shakers, wobbly effects, lethargic acoustic guitars, bedroom percussion and one of the most idiosyncratic band names ever — for shambling stoner nonsense, this is Sweden's finest entry into the field by far.

KEBNEKAJSE: II CD (SRSCD 3608). $15.00

First reissue of the 2nd Kebnekajse album, originally issued on Silence in 1973. "It was something in the air", said Kenny Håkansson in the booklet to the first album Resa Mot Okänt Mål (Journey to Destination Unknown). He was then referring to the Swedish lyrics and the name of the group. In the early seventies the Swedish folkmusic was also 'in the air.' From Scented Gardens Of The Mind: "...a clear change of directions towards a new kind of Swedish folk-rock with fiddle and electric guitar to the fore, but it also added the hot African percussion of Hassan Bah and jazzy experimentation."

KEBNEKAJSE: III CD (SRSCD 3609). $15.00

First reissue of the third Kebnekajse album, originally issued by Silence in 1975. "Kebnekajse's music ignored traditional musical boundaries (which must be a hallmark of the term 'progressive music'). It continued very much in the same vein."

ZAMLA MAMMAZ MANNA: *Schlagerns Mystik 2CD (SRSCD 3610). $18.00

New, year 2003 reissue of this 1978 double album. Hans Bruniusson (drums, xylophone, chimes, vibraphone, song), Eino Haapala (electric guitar, acoustic guitar, vibraphone, song), Lars Hollmer (electric piano, Korg polyphonic, Hohner-symphonic grand piano, accordion, song), Lars Krantz (electric bass, double-bass, acoustic guitar, song). "Samla Mammans Manna started in the early seventies and are still a vivid band and an evident part of the progressive music today under different names as Zamla Mammaz Manna, Von Zamla. This intense and energetic music is filled with happy pranks and fast turnings and has for more than 25 years amused its listeners all over the world. Frontman Lars Hollmer has beside his solo career also been part of several international musical constellations."

ÄLGARNAS TRADGÅRD: *Framtiden är ett Svåavande Skepp, Förankrat i Fortiden CD (SRSCD 3611). $15.00

1995 reissue of this Silence album, originally issued in 1972. Älgarnas Trädgård's name translates as Garden Of The Elks and this debut album (their only studio recording until the newly unearthed Delayed) has always stood as one of the pinnacles of underground psychedelic rock — comparable to early Pink Floyd, Group 1850 and other world masters of space-out genius. The title translates as The Future is a Hovering Ship Anchored in the Past. The group employed an instrumental array made of: violins, rebec, cello, guitars, sitar, piano, zither, organ flutes, zinks, jew's harps, tablas, percussion, Moog-synthesizer & VC-3 Putney-synthesizer. Recorded at Studio Decibel in 1971, this CD reissue adds 2 bonus live tracks from 1972. From Dan Söderqvist's notes: "We have known each other since 1968, when we met in our home neighbourhood Västra Frölunda, Gothenburg. We listened to everything; Perotinus heavenly choirs from the 13th century, Messien's heavy works for orchestra, Beethoven's Safe as Milk, with it's surreal lyrics, King Crimson's endless string of chords, the beautiful acoustic Third Ear Band, Terry Riley's minimalism and above all the psychedelic music of early Pink Floyd. Sometimes we played our 'dägga-dång-music', crazy rhythmic plays with acoustic guitars and hysterical giggles. Sometimes we just sat and listened to the sounds slowly disappearing into space... We listened to each other and played with tones. We did not call ourselves musicians, we created music out of feelings. We experimented with getting strange sounds out of our instruments, started to use amplifiers and played with echoes. We went so far we even drank tea with echoeffects...Jan Ternald had built a couple of tone generators, painted in a psychedelic way. We constantly expanded our possibilities to get new sounds, with organs, mouthharps and pedals...We got our hands on the first Moog modulesystem that just about had reached Sweden. We mixed middle age instruments such as zinks and rebecs, soundeffects, churchbells, fragments of both Bach and the Beatles and improvised our way through the first album."

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER: *Sov Gott Rose-Marie CD (SRSCD 3614). $15.00

First ever CD reissue of this all-time Swedish underground classic, originally issued on the Scandinavian Love label in 1968. International Harvester were the 2nd incarnation of Bo Anders Persson's group, after Pärson Sound (whose early sound experimentation was finally documented in 2001 by Subliminal Sounds). "Early in the 60's Bo Anders Persson had envisioned a new kind of communicative music...would it be possible to create a more contemporary kind of rhythmic music that could play the same role as the traditional folk music, a music that was both sensual and transcendent? In 1967 came the answer. The hypnotic Around-and-Around-feelings of Terry Riley's eternity music + the rough Around-and-Around-riffing of Rolling Stones = a new alchemical wedding. Pärson Sound was formed, which started to perform publicly in the summer of 1967. The next year they changed the name into International Harvester, taken from the American company manufacturing agricultural machines, trucks and ambulances. Metaphorically it was an exciting and disturbing name for a music group. It meant death. Death to the western culture. Death to all kinds of borders. The astonishing thing with the two official recordings of the group, Sov Gott Rose-Marie (Sleep Tight Rose-Marie) recorded in the autumn of 1968, Hemåt (Homeward) from 1969, and the archive recordings from the time when the group was still calling itself Pärson Sound on Ti'lndien, is the complete freedom of the music. The way of perceiving and presenting the materials and the structures of the music is probably a lot easier to grasp for a wider audience of today. Maybe mostly because of the development of experimental techno music during the 1990s, with its diversity of different dub and repetitive techniques - a long song isn't long in the same sense any more. Pärson Sound/International Harvester/Harvester is in that respect a perfect example of the theories presented in David Toop's book Ocean of Sound - Aether Talk, Ambient Sound and Imaginary Worlds. One of the tracks on Sov Gott Rose-Marie is the 11-minutes long 'I Mourn You'. It's a good example of what had happened to the repetitive structures of Terry Riley's music when they were united with the free-wheeling-rhythms of Thomas Mera Gartz's and Torbjörn Abelli's drum-and-bass-playing (a unit as organic as the Jamaican masters Sly & Robbie), and the intertwining of Bo Anders Persson's guitar, Thomas Tidholm's saxophone, Arne Ericsson's cello and (sometime-member) Urban Yman's violin. The atmosphere is both utopian and dystopian. The mourning of the song is not just a romantic pose, it's a reflection on the forces threatening to kill all kinds of lives on the earth. One of the inspirations behind this early environmental awareness, deeply reflected throughout most of the tracks on the album, came from the pioneering ecology philosopher and food industry researcher Georg Borgström. The phrase that is repeated over and over on side one of the record, 'Klockan är mycket nu' ('It's getting late now'), comes from one of Borgström's books. Sov Gott Rose-Marie starts with the strongest of statements: the Latin death hymn 'Dies Irae', played like it was a medieval heavy rock-theme. Pain. Sorrow. Melancholy. Not at all the idyllic view of the 60s pop culture that has come to dominate so many of the after-pictures of the time. A music of turmoil and inner upheaval, mostly played in the slowest of rhythms, but still with a sense of constant change. The eleven tunes on the first side form a fragmentary montage work, with atmospheres similar to the Godard-films from the same era. There's constant juxtapositions going on between documentary sounds and floating states of mind; hard rocking tunes, demonstrations against the war in Vietnam, bird song, sounds from the police radio, psychedelic tranquility, lullabies."

HANSSON, BO: Magician's Hat CD (SRSCD 3615). $15.00

2002 remastered version with extensive (Swedish-only!) liner notes of the 2nd Bo Hansson album. More elevating and plush psychedelics, ala Lord Of The Rings. With 2 bonus tracks. "By 1972, as his first album was being promoted worldwide to critical acclaim, Hansson had already recorded his second album titled, Magician's Hat or Ur Trollkarlens Hatt (in Swedish). This time round all recordings were at Studio Decibel, Stockholm with the services of Lind, Carlsson, Bergman and Bergsten retained from the Lord Of The Rings album. More importantly, the sound was further augmented with the introduction of a guitarist (Kenneth Håkansson).

HARVESTER: Hemåt CD (SRSCD 3616). $15.00

First legit CD issue from the Silence vaults, forget about the recent "Decibel" label bootleg. With 12-page booklet, including English liner notes, photos. One bonus track not found on the original LP. Recorded 1968-69, digitally remastered in 2001. "The lone album by this post-International Harvester group, originally issued in 1970 on the Swedish Decibel label, once again led by the academic tape-composer turned radical folkie psychedelicist Bo Anders Persson (he who shared wax-space with Folke Rabe on the other side of the same Wergo release that housed Rabe's Va22, reissued on Jim O'Rourke's Dexter's Cigar label as What22). Accompanied by an able body of co-conspirators including Thomas Gartz (drummer/glue of the Mecki Mark Men, whose LPs on the Limelight label are... killer), Torbjörn Abelli, let's not forget Ulla ('with the ice cream', no less) on 'small cymbals'. Thunder-plod of magnificent tidal proportions, recalling the burnt splendor of the Trad Grad Och Stenar Live Gardet 1970 set. Quite accurately as, get this — TGOS was nothing more than a stripped down quartet version of Harvester! (fancy that...). Another piece to the incestuous little jigsaw that was the 1967-1972 Swedish druggist music school dropout sector. Completely burnt, devoid of restraint, massive (some of the best sounding drums this side of Zeppelin, to boot). Blown through and through and through." — Hrvatski.

ALGARNAS TRADGÅRD: Delayed CD (SRSCD 3626). $15.00

"In a flash of brilliance, the Silence organization has decided to bestow upon us the completely unreleased (as in never heard, bootlegged, wept over, joints rolled on flimsy paste-on cover assembled commune-dwelling idealists, etc...) SECOND Ålgarnas Trädgård LP, recorded 1973-74. Exact same lineup as witnessed on their epos Framtiden är ett svävande skepp, förankrat i fortiden (or The future is a hovering ship anchored in the past). None of that Embryo-Roman Bunka light jazz fusion led by the touring bassist/soundman shit, the real deal. And what a fantastic offering... despite a mildly dated sounding (bad synth) intro-statement, it slowly extends into meta-improvisations with distant guitars (very Karoli-esque in tone & repetition, God bless 'em), heavily effected organs, swirling strings, plenty of space, reaching an early peak-build amidst the detritus floating through the 12-minute 'Interstellar Cruise'. Later, an eastern-themed campfire freakout (sitar, tablas, yod-chant) breaks out, then a bit of the mellow reverberated flute, later still a long vocal loop fade out over some well placed drones. One could say this record has a bit of everything. One would be correct. Astonishing that this has lain dormant in the vaults for so long. Essential, essentially." — Hrvatski.

PHILEMON ARTHUR AND THE DUNG: The Very Pest of Philemon Arthur and the Dung CD (SRSCD 3627). $15.00

Swedish title: Far Jag Spy I Ditt Paraply? "Philemon Arthur and the Dung turned the music industry up side down 1972 by getting a Grammy award for 'Best Swedish LP' and the music industry stopped the Grammy galas for 15 years in protest! 1987 when they decided to start again it was of course time for a new Philemon release. This time it was a cassette packed in a tin can. Not very many people heard the songs on the cassette since they didn't want to open the can...and the music industry was relieved. (We made a CD of the LP and half of the cassette and rightly called it The history of music part 1 and 2 in 1992.) We at Silence think that every 15th year is good for a new Philemon release (it takes about 15 year to digest the full understanding of the music), so this is it! 20 brand new songs recorded 1967-1972 in the bedroom of Philemon Arthur and the rest 11 songs from the cassette. Just for your pleasure and wisdom. Nobody still knows who they are. But they send their greeting."

TURID: I Retur CD (SRSCD 3629). $17.00

"For the first time on CD — A compilation with one of the Sweden's best female sing/song-writers in the seventies. Already in the late sixties Turid became famous in the underground of Stockholm as a Swedish Buffy Saint Marie or a Lotte Lenya or a Joni Mitchell. Her voice has been described as 'a thin thread of gold'. She won a radio competition and were soon known even outside the underground. She was chased by the bigger record companies but took a stand and chose Silence that just had started and in 1971 her first record Vittras Visor and Silence's eighth hit the desks. She worked with the finest musicians around at the time, such as, Kenny Håkansson (Kebnekajse), Björn J:son Lindh and Palle Danielsson. This record is half in English and half in Swedish. Silence released two more albums — Bilder 1973 and Tredje dagen 1975 before moving out to the countryside. Turid stayed in Stockholm and one of the bigger companies finally got to work with her. Turid is a very shy person who really doesn't like publicity and after 1982 she nearly stopped performing and has pretty much withdrawn to her own private sphere. Anyhow, even if you don't understand her brilliant and poetic lyrics you can still enjoy this record with her beautiful voice and music. We have compiled the most and the best of the three albums and carefully tried to restore the sounds."

TRAD, GRAS OCH STENAR: Ain Schvajn Dräij CD (SRSCD 4758). $15.00

New reunion album, recorded 1998-2000! Featuring original members Bo Anders Persson, Torbjörn Abelli & Thomas Gartz (all related to: Harvester, In't Harvester, Pärson Sound). This a layered, textural rock record and very strong for the times. "We want to thank the patient horses who were our closest neighbours when we recorded in Jacob's joiner's workshop on the island Färingsö. It's true that they sometimes pawed the wall — in appreciation or annoyance? When they were out in their pasture we had to shut off the electric fence. The impulses came into the tape, it sounded like a metronome with co-operative problems. A few tunes are recorded in a room in Öllåsa old school outside Stjärnhov, in Torbjörn's sister Bissa's home. All the instrumentals were created at the very moment, the result of an accidental alchemist occurrence — a meeting of four old men at the crossroads of an imaginary landscape. 'Ain Schvajn Dräij!' is what ran out of the test tubes after Thomas Mera's experiments with cloning TGS. The doo-choir The Nymphettes is his own highly temporary change of gender. The recordings are made by Träd Gräs och Stenar during several occasions from 1998-2001 on 2 ADAT tape recorders."

SILKE MAURER (GERMANY):

ATMO.BRTSCHITSCH: Change Your Life CD (SIM 001 CD). $16.00

"Atmo.Brtschitsch is the ambitious project of two mature musicians who have set the bar high in order to break new musical ground. Change Your Life, their first joint album, presents clear tonal sequences spliced with celestial elements, flattering vocals, electronic hip hop beats, deep ambient influences form a rich tapestry which soars over harmonies and melodies. This is the genesis of a strange and bewitching new type of ambient pop music. The first release from the brand new Berlin Label, Silke Maurer. Silke Maurer was conceived as a strong brand from the outset, inspired by and orientated like a big fashion label, but with a knowing ironic wink. Electronic music, influenced by hip hop and soul, is the main concept behind the forthcoming programme of releases which will be dominated by the strong images and personalities of the artists."

SILKHEART (SWEDEN):

GAYLE, CHARLES: Spirits Before CD (SILK 117). $14.00

More cascading trio blow outs of emotional carnage, as above.

HOBBS TRIO, JIM: Babadita CD (SILK 133). $14.00

Trio w/ Hobbs (as), plus bs/drums. Hobbs is a great, screamingly Ornette-ish sax player, often at "a furious pace with both jazz inflections and the non-stop energy of punk rock."

LACY, STEVE: 5 x Monk 5 x Lacy CD (SILK 144). $14.00

Solo soprano sax, recorded live in Stockholm in 1994. Five Monk compositions and 5 of his own. "I recall being utterly ravished by the musicality of Lacy's improvisations; his attack, his pitching, and the way he was placing certain notes of the inferred chords under his improvised lines to yield an extraordinary three-dimensional tension and structure to the music he was proposing." — Keith Knox. Limited stock.

ETHNIC HERITAGE ENSEMBLE: Ka-Real CD (SILK 150). $14.00

Joseph Bowie (trombone, perc.), Ernest Dawkins (reeds, flute, perc.), Kahil El'Zabar (perc.) & Atu Harold Murray (perc., flute). "The Ethnic Heritage Ensemble's music builds complexity from simplicity, diversifies through repetition, transcends time by emphasizing it. Their laser-like ability to set the rhythm button on infinite repeat creates a hypnosis similar to the mind-buzz of classical minimalists like Steve Reich and Terry Riley." — Marc Masters. Limited stock.

BORGSMANN/MORRIS/CHARLES TRIO: The Last Concert CD (SILK 151). $14.00

Thomas Bergman (tenor/soprano/sopranino saxes, Egyptian double flute), Wilber Morris (bass), Denis Charles (drums). Recorded live in Germany on 3/6/98.

JORDAN QUARTET, 'KIDD': New Orleans Festival Suite CD (SILK 152). $14.00

"Featuring William Parker, Joel Futterman, Alvin Fielder & Edward 'Kidd' Jordan. Recorded live at the New Orleans Jazz Festival in 1989."

SILLYBOY (ITALY):

MAKOTO & JENNIFER GENTLE, KAWABATA: The Wrong Cage CD (SILLY 004 CD). $11.00

"Recorded during his first Italian tour last May, The Wrong Cage witnesses Kawabata Makoto's (leader of the much praised psychedelic ensemble Acid Mothers Temple) curious meeting with pop oddballs Jennifer Gentle, one of the most important bands from the Italian underground scene. Strange encounter it may be, but the results are glowing, unashamed psychedelic music: two long, guitar-driven freakouts taken from the JG catalogue and an eerie sarongi improvisation played by Kawabata alone. From the serene, shimmering main theme of Bring Them until the manic conclusion of Couple In Bed, The Wrong Cage is just primordial, ignorant and innocent rock n' roll: massive wah wah doses, cavernous echoes, metallic distortions and the icy space guitar of Kawabata frantically battling the psychedelic magma of Jennifer Gentle."

LAND OF NOD: The Colli Di Pedona Tapes CD (SILLY 005 CD). $13.00

"Based on a series of field recordings taken during a Tuscany stage of the Giro D? Italia 2002, The Colli di Pedona Tapes is probably the most psychedelic release to date from this fascinating Welsh duo. After a series of albums on the Ochre label that established them as one of new rising forces from the UK underground, Colli di Pedona is a slightly different take on their trademark sound: languid, luminous ambient tracks melt into minimal drones (the aptly titled 'Vortex'), while the guitars sound even softer and lighter than usual. The Colli di Pedona album is all about painting with music and capturing the sleepy, sun-soaked atmosphere of a Tuscanian summer afternoon — subtle, mesmerizing, dream-inducing sound-waves build up an ecstatic, meditative sensation that peacefully flow through the album — and it's just beautiful to lose yourself in these tranquil waters. Cycling never sounded so good."

SILTBREEZE:

GUIDED BY VOICES: Get Out Of My Stations CD (SILT 028 CD). $10.00

"Originally released in 1993, Get Out Of My Stations boasts the same classic Guided by Voices lineup as Propeller. Too frequently overlooked — due to the unavailability of this record for many years — is how great these tracks are, even compared to the spate of seven-inch EPs that turned up in the wake of Propeller hysteria. Not one throwaway track exists upon it. This is blood, sweat and beers, otherwise known as blue ribbon GBV. Get Out Of My Stations, in all its lo-fi glory, now on compact disc for the first time, contains four extra live tracks from the same era."

SHEPPARD, JIM: Picking Through The Wreckage With A Stick LP (SILT 032). $8.00

Mid-90s solo record by Vertical Slit/V-3's Sheppard. Last copies of this long deleted item.

LIGHT, ALAN: Rabbi Sky CD (SILT 076). $14.00

"Musically, it would be rather fantastic to describe Rabbi Sky as a hybridization of this previous two efforts (The Evan Dando of Noise?, Corpus Hermeticum, 1997 and Sink The Aging Process, Siltbreeze, 1993); if you feel a compulsion to nod in their direction, console yourself by thinking of this one as a most excellent extension. Listening to the opener, the title track executed in four movements, the listener is cast headlong into a minimalist menagerie; the bracing, string-tinkling beginning segues into hypnotizing, ecclesiastical chord organ drone that then resurrects into a tremendous cut-and-paste finale of looped and overdubbed guitar that whirls around in the air like a white-winged moth performing a lascivious, improvisational fandango. On the other hand, 'All Blues' (the second and final track, dedicated to both James McNew and Phill Niblock) is pure aggro-muzz that takes on an almost anthemic persona."

VERTICAL SLIT: Under The Blood Red Lava Lamp CD (SILT 077). $14.00

Long "This CD collects all the tracks from both the Smudge EP and the Lava Lamp cassette, both of which were recorded in the latter part of 1980. They pinned back ears Cream-style; three meth-baked, beer-soaked shamen who concocted a unique midwestern prog/metal slobber somewhere between In The Court of the Crimson King and Sabbath Bloody Sabbath."

MACLISE, ANGUS: Invasion of the Thunderbolt Pagoda CD (SILT 078). $15.50

"The late percussionist and poet Angus MacLise was pure 60s free spirit all the way. A founding member of the Velvet Underground (who quit as soon as he found out they were being paid to play their first gig), MacLise's collaborators and compadres read like a Who's Who for the Halana generation: LaMonte Young, Marian Zazeela, Terry Riley, Tony Conrad, Henry Flynt, Jack Smith, Andy Warhol, Gerard Malanga and Ira Cohen. His intricate, India-influenced drumming propelled any number of tranced-out jams in New York's lofts of the era (a Milford Graves for the psychedelic set, if you will). Though he was meticulous about his recording, very little of MacLise's music has ever been made available. The vaults have been opened, and Invasion is the first authorized collection of MacLise's work to appear, with other volumes to follow. The 45-minute opening track, 'St. Marks Epiphany,' provides an incredible glimpse of MacLise's music — his unstoppable cross-rhythms, his wife Hettie's droning organ and tamboura, and the crazed echoing flute and vocals from an ensemble known as the Mutant Repertoire Company, whose cacophony is rather like an unholy marriage between Amon Düül 1 & the Taj Mahal Travellers. Part of this piece was used as the soundtrack for Invasion of The Thunderbolt Pagoda (from which the CD's photos are taken), the masterful psychedelic film by Ira Cohen, photographer of Spirit's Twelve Dreams of Dr. Sardonius and John McLaughlin's Devotion — this is also the complete version of 'The Joyous Lake' — released long ago in excerpt form on a flexidisc with an issue of Aspen magazine. Also in this first volume is a wild piece for shortwave radios from one of MacLise's India excursions, as well as the Sufi trance of 'Heavenly Blue Pt.4&5' and the communal free jam of 'Blastitude'. 'Invasion...' closes beautifully with the delirious celtic lula-bye 'Humming in the Night Skull', featuring MacLise on chimes with harmonium and guitar. What else is there to say? This is a remarkable and long overdue celebration of an overlooked and necessary figure of the New York avant garde."

HALL OF FAME: CD (SILT 080). $14.00

"Like their previous output on the Amish label, this one's a melange of tribal thump, east-ern drone, raga concrete and melodious melancholia. Hall of Fame's unique, not easily identifiable sound has been compared to revered outfits such as Flies Inside the Sun and The Shadow Ring, sometimes even in English...Hall of Fame's healthy smattering of influences stretches back to Ludlow Street-era Velvet Underground, Prestige-era Moondog, The Godz and Angus MacLise."

MACLISE, ANGUS: Brain Damage in Oklahoma City CD (SILT 081). $15.50

"Brain Damage in Oklahoma City is the second installment in the Siltbreeze/Quakebasket series of music by poet/mystic/shaman Angus MacLise. Culled from the archives of Mr. Tony Conrad, this volume (covering the years 1967-70) highlights MacLise's unique and intricate drumming style. Cembalum, bongos, hand drum, barrel congas — all are majestically thumped'n'bumped for maximum orgasmic sensory satisfaction. Comprised of eight tracks, the acme of this collection is the two large ensemble pieces, 'Dreamweapon Benefit for the Oklahoma City Police Dept. parts 1 & 2,' featuring Angus (barrel conga), Hetty MacLise (tampura), the poet Jackson MacLow (recorders and voice), Henry Flynt (song flute and voice) and Tony Conrad (limp string). These tracks, recorded in May of 1968, are the apex of maximalist loft style psychedelic improvisation. Conrad's illuminating, occasionally hilarious liner notes set up the narrative of this volume and offering a brief glimpse back into the mind-scrambling fracas that was NYC, USA, Earth 1968. Along with more gorgeous, brain-warping Invasion-style sleeve art, included in the CD booklet is a reproduction of the poster for the Dreamweapon Benefit, confirmation in black and white that for four nights in May, 1968, Wooster Street Cinematheque was definitely one witchy place to be."

1929: Last But Not Leased CD (SILT 100). $14.00

"Brother JT sideman leads his own away-team to the planet's surface, and returns drunk. The sonic, slurring, instrumental tonic they have decided to bottle up and pass off as their own is a dab of Hawkwind, a pinch of Dead C., and a sprinkle of any number of desert rock's heaviest comancheros. You could say it's the finest non-vocal release to pass through the turnstiles since the Smashchords' 12". Or if you weren't born then, how about Earth 2? Say whatever you like. So long as it's not Gone!!!."

SILVA SCREEN:

GIOVANNI, PAUL: The Wicker Man CD (SIL 1141). $15.00

New deluxe US version, variant track listing to the mono UK version on Trunk from 1998 (which is actually a couple minutes longer), with a 20-booklet of elaborate liner notes and photos. "Music and songs by Paul Giovanni. First ever release of the stereo masters of all the songs from this cult British Horror Film. The original stereo masters that were prepared for a US album release in 1977 were thought lost but have now been discovered. From the booklet liner notes: 'It is impossible to understate the importance of these historic recordings that up until now, have only been heard by a select few. This truly is the stuff that myths are made of, but then The Wicker Man has always courted mystery and controversy ever since it first saw the light of day in 1973. Once famously credited as the 'Citizen Kane of horror movies', the enduring enigma of the film has inspired eminent critics and a worldwide legion of fans to wax lyrical about the movie's incredible power and engaging intrigue. Even today, nearly thirty years after the film's release, the ball continues to roll; web-sites, fan clubs, documentaries and books, all pay homage to what is without doubt, one of the most innovative and provocative British films ever produced.' —Simon Wells."

GRAINER, ROB: The Prisoner File #1 - Original TV Soundtrack CD (SIL 1144). $15.00

"Starring Patrick McGooohan, The Prisoner lasted for 17 episodes and its TV debut in 1967 caused a storm of protest amongst audiences who didn't get it. Today the Cult series is celebrated for being innovative and ahead of its time. Ron Grainer (Dr Who, Tales of the Unexpected) composed the distinctive theme tune which appears on all three Prisoner discs available from Silva Screen in conjunction with Carlton. Disc 1 of 3 CDs celebrating the 35th anniversary of the cult television series. Digitally restored and remastered. Music presented in episode order for the first time. Bonus dialogue clips from the TV series included."

OST: The Prisoner - File #2 CD (SIL 1145). $15.00

"Ron Grainer (Dr Who, Tales of the Unexpected) composed the distinctive theme tune which appears on all three Prisoner discs available from Silva Screen in conjunction with Canton. Music presented in episode order for the first time; bonus dialogue clips from the TV series included."

OST: The Prisoner - File #3 CD (SIL 1146). $15.00

Vol. 3 in this series.

ROTA, NINO: The Essential Nino Rota Film Music Collection 2CD (SIL 1153). $21.00

"Nino Rota, probably Italy's best-known film composer, composed all the scores for the classic Fellini films. His other international credits include: The Glass Mountain, War And Peace, The Leopard, Romeo And Juliet, Waterloo, Death On The Nile, and The Godfather. The films directed by Federico Fellini are regarded as classics of the cinema all over the world. La Strada, The Nights Of Cabiria, 8 1/2, Amarcord all won Oscars for Best Foreign Film. The music in all the Fellini films plays an important role, being both memorable and nostalgic and has proved to be some of the most popular and enduring of all film music."

SILVERDOOR (IRELAND):

DOYLE, ROGER: Babel 5CD (SIDO 003/7). $55.00

A gigantic 5CD conceptual release by legendary Irish experimental composer Roger Doyle (previous albums on Christoph Heemann's DOM label; Doyle also recorded as Operating Theatre — reissued on CD by United Dairies). "Babel is a large-scale musical structure making use of many technologies and music languages, with each piece of music being thought of as a 'room' or place within an enormous tower city. In the main section are 3 CDs where each track corresponds to a virtual architecture. The pieces are divided into two kinds: aural representations of actual spaces (e.g. The Dressing Room, The Stairwell, Mr. Brady's Room), and internalised dream spaces (e.g. The Room of Rhetoric, Mall Fountain, the Spirit Levels, the Mansard childhood memory room). Listeners can navigate their way differently through this CD building at each hearing if they so wish. The instrumental solos in some of these 'chamber musics' evolved in collaboration with the musicians and would not have been possible without the unique approach and talent of each performer. As a Babel 'supplement' are the 2 CDs of KBBL — the Tower's fictitious radio station. Each of its 4 'shows' has its own style and atmosphere. Collaborating with DJs, actors, writers and singers, KBBL is made to sound like a real radio station with ads, traffic reports, phone-ins etc. There are also 'live' circus and nightclub recordings associated with KBBL in this supplement and in the main section. Other than these connections, and others not mentioned, Babel celebrates language (a slight variation on the Biblical morality tale) and musical expression in all its variety."

DOYLE, ROGER: Fairlight Memories 2CD (SIDO 009). $22.00

"The music on these CDs was composed on a Fairlight Computer Music Instrument between 1983 and 1988. Together with the Synclavier (made famous by Frank Zappa's use of it) the Fairlight was among the first synthesizers controlled by a computer. It had a sampler, a sequencer (called 'Page R'), on-screen waveform display — very popular with bands on Top of the Pops showing off their new Fairlights — and a central processor unit (CPU) that took two people to lift. In 1982 I was involved in a studio that bought one, and after two months teaching myself how to use it I warmed to its possibilities and limitations. There were things it did that no other piece of equipment has done since, yet at the same time I was forced to input material into the sequencer monophonically. The sequencer held up to eight monophonic lines, forcing me to think contrapuntally. This 8-voice polyphony was like having a constantly changing chamber octet at my disposal. By 1988 it was gathering dust in the corner of the studio, having been superseded by newer technology and fashion, so I made an offer and bought it cheaply for my own embryonic home studio. In 1990 I sold it and it drifted out of my life. I made great use out of it — sometimes composing pieces in a few hours — and have very fond memories of the Fairlight."

DOYLE, ROGER: Thalia/Oizzo No CD (SIDO 012). $15.00

"The music on this CD represents the early works of Irish composer Roger Doyle — pieces composed in the late 1960s to mid 70s, re-packaged and re-mastered in 2002. It includes his extremely rare self-released 1975 debut LP Oizzo No and his second LP Thalia from 1978, originally released on CBS Classics, all on the one 77 minute CD. The earliest piece is Bitter-Sweet Suite for out-of-tune piano composed when he was 18, and the latest Thalia, his first large-scale electronic piece, composed at the age of 26. Doyle is most well-known for his United Dairies' Operating Theatre masterwork Rapid Eye Movements, his third LP. Thalia/Oizzo No contains his work leading up to this legendary piece and fills in the picture of his early development. Beautiful, totally strange stuff."

DOYLE, ROGER: Rapid Eye Movements CD (SIDO 013). $15.00

Brilliant and unique experimental tape works (from 1968-1980) reissued on this Irish composer's own label.

"Roger Doyle is most well-known for his United Dairies release of his legendary masterwork Rapid Eye Movements, which was described in 1982 upon its release, in the UK Sounds magazine, as: 'without doubt one of the most exhilarating LPs and unorthodox concepts ever submitted to vinyl'. Now remastered and repackaged on CD with 2 extra tracks from the period, this work becomes available again." Consists of the two tape-manipulation pieces from the original LP (issued on UD in '82); 'Finestra' ('77 studio transformations of previous orchestral recordings), and 'Rapid Eye Movements' ('77-'80, recorded at various locales, including the Institute of Sonology, Utrecht), with 2 other pieces from the same period - one of which is for solo piano.

SIMBALLREC:*VA: 45 Seconds Of: CD (SIMBALL 07). $15.00

"Exciting new compilation from California-based imprint Simballrec. (Languis) that takes an almost punk-rock approach to contemporary electronic listening music. 45 Secs. Of... features 99 tracks from some of electronic music's most talented exponents, all contributing 45-second long tracks. Dazzling in its scope, 45 Seconds... is a fascinating, kaleidoscopic listen from beginning to end." LANGUIS: Untied CD (SIMBALL 08). $15.00

"Soothing, dreamy, hypnotic... Languis' music is all these things and more. The reference points are all there: emo, My Bloody Valentine, Air, La Bradford, Bjork, but Languis combine these influences to create something wholly original and unique. Their previous release, Unithematic was met with universal praise and the Los Angeles duo's live performances have been widely acclaimed. Untied is an entirely bewitching experience where gentle rhythms meet shimmering soundscapes for a listening experience unlike no other."

SIMPLE MUSIC (GERMANY):*BÖSKE, LARS: Single & Partner 2x12" (SIMPLE 001EP). $21.00

"Simple Music is a new label for DJ tools with the musical main focus on minimal electronic music. Besides the 'normal' 40 unending grooves, unending grooves with a new technical feature are equipped on this release 6. The stereo sum of the unending groove is in Here it argues and left canal track split and with two different loops busy."

SIMULATED:*PERSONA: Uptight CD (SIM 01 CD). $12.00

"Based out of Dearborn, Michigan, Persona offers up a ten song, fifty-two minute hyper-electronic excursion across the overstated, the underreported, and the somethingorother. It's not so much ecstasy and pot smoke, as caffeine headaches and Nicorette gum. It's double-time distorted dub, latenight A.I. jazz, and the sound of your computer humming tunes from its childhood."

PERSONA: Omnithrope 12" (SIM 02). $9.00

"Booming avant ambient doused in scurrying rats, borderline IDM and a salt-shaker of gabber breakbeats (er... whatever), plus a remix of Detroit body masters, 12 Tech Mob."

SINERGIA:*THESE TRAILS: CD (SR 4059). $14.00

Reissue of the lone LP from 1973 by a Hawaiian folk-psych group, that was privately pressed at the time and largely unknown until recently. This CD appears to have been legitimately reissued by the band. Mixing fragile female vocals, guitars of an acoustic, electric and slide variety, dulcimer, tabla, recorder, sitar, and synthesizer this has a soft, wavy edge that could easily pinch you if it sounds like a desirable cup of exotica.

THESE TRAILS: LP (SR 4059LP). $22.00

LP version.

SIREN (JAPAN):*COLECLOUGH, JONATHAN: Cake: Alternate Version CD (SIREN 03). $15.00

"Originally released in 1998, Cake represented the first solo release from the U.K. based sound organizer Jonathan Coleclough. Cake was met with very favorable interest amongst those familiar with Coleclough's earlier collaborations with Andrew Chalk and Ora — a project featuring the work of Darren Tate, Colin Potter, Daisuke Suzuki, and Lol Coxill. Now an alternate version of Cake is available. Composed at the same time as the initially released edition, Coleclough has referred to this variation as an 'inversion' or 'mirror image' of the other. While both versions include aspects of the same source material, each stand apart as unique and individual pieces as two sides of a coin. Consisting of a single evolving piece, this alternate version of Cake further explores Coleclough's interest and use of field recordings while employing a sensitive amalgamation of organic textures. With a delicate yet pronounced sense of droning space, including an often filmic impression of landscape, the alternate version of Cake manages to produce a hauntingly beautiful atmosphere that should easily engage those interested in the likes of Organum, Giancarlo Toniutti, Eliane Radigue, a.o. Featuring the original artwork, this version of Cake is differentiated from the previous with a reverse of the booklet images creating a 'new' front cover. Released in association with Siren Records (Tokyo) in edition of 400 copies only."

SIROCCO (FRANCE):*VA: Stereo Ultra Vol.3 2LP (SIR 120LP). $17.00*VA: Stereo Ultra Vol.3 CD (SIR 121CD). $15.00

"This is an exciting delve into the obscure and forgotten music libraries of French music from the 70's. It's an aural odyssey into widely adventurous instrumental gems created for TV, film & radio that graced the undisputed hip French media; and all these incredible tunes were composed and created by elite group of little-known yet highly talented artists like Pierre-Alain Dahan, Sauveur Mallia, Daniel Humair or Eddie Louiss. The music of this compilation came about a period that saw the psychedelic beat parties and love-ins of the 60's give way to peace protest and space hoppers; But people still wore their hair long — They still knew how to party. Guitars may have lost their fuzz to the wah-wah pedal, and musicians did become fedup with moving & _ tonne Hammond around in a hearse — They put minimoog in their Mini instead. But that doesn't mean that themusic became lightweight too — there are enough dark, rumbling basslines, intoxicating fat beats & solid instrumental jams here to burst big holes in your dad's new music centre. And so here is the music that acts as a soundtrack of that time, a music that was a backdrop to the supersonic jetSet parties frequented by Serge Gainsbourg, Brigitte Bardot or Michel Legrand. It's music that sums up a period in french style that has gained the admiration & respect of the world up to including today, and because these tunes had never been made available to the music-buying public, they sound as fresh as ever."

SIRR.ECORDS (PORTUGAL):*VITRIOL: Randonée CD (SIRR 2001). $11.00

"Formed by Paulo Raposo and Carlos Santos, Vitriol is one of the more important portuguese electronic and intermedia projects. Their continuous interest in soundscape composition and immersive ambients is finally documented in this CD which assembles pieces performed during the Internet event 'Le Placard: Headphone Room', organized by the BURO association (Paris) and transmitted from the art gallery ZDB in Lisbon. 'The idea came out of a desire of finding new ways to diffuse and listen to electronic music: bringing out a relationship inbetween time/work/diffusion. We would like to try to bring this intimacy to a test via electronic communications, see how intimate it can stay 'through-line'. Departing from soundfield recordings and digital manipulative processes this CD creates a compulsive and organic soundscape, but where all coordinates are erased and deterritorialized, leaving the listeners' perception open to find his own (imaginary) space."

BERTHOLO, RENÉ: Um Argentino No Deserto CD (SIRR 2002). $13.00

"René Bertholo, born 1935, is most known as plastic artist and co-founder of the KWY group in the late fifties with Christo and Jon Voss. His interest for electronics began when he started to make objects with eletric movement, called 'small-scale models' which used eletric devices producing aleatory noises, and which he made between 1963 and 1973. 'In 1973, when tired of repairs I had decided to give up making them, a friend gave me one of those musical boxes with a handle, a drum bristling with prickles and a steel comb. Although I had seen similar ones, that particular one fascinated me and I had an urge to make one like it, but using eletronics'. René Bertholo started then building and programming himself a digital machine for making sounds. Since then he destroyed and rebuilt the machine several times, he even named her Alice, now he calls her just 'mak'. This CD covers all twenty years of his sound production and it was recorded directly from the machine. At last."

KARKOWSKI & ANTIMATTER, ZBIGNIEW: Function Generator CD (SIRR 2003). $13.00

"Function Generator features the collaborative work of Zbigniew Karkowski and Xopher Davidson aka Antimatter. The two combined forces using minimal low frequencies (100 hz is the maximum level) reveal a hidden powerful world of pulsating waves and entwining drones that will not leave the listener indifferent. Not glitch music, not drone music, but beyond."

BEHRENS, MARC: Integração CD (SIRR 2004). $13.00

"Integration is a composition that Marc Behrens has been performing live in several versions. It was composed in a process of integrating all experiences made throughout almost one year of performing the basic score. With every performance, new aspects were added to the whole piece. In all the performances there is a basic repertoire of sounds consisting of a nucleus of tree recordings made in a mountain forest close to the Italian/Slovenian border in 1998, which in the performance arrangement became broadened with more recent material. The tree recordings were made by shaking the trees, thus the patterns of the sounds were generated partly by the plants, partly by human intervention, and arranged later according to coincidences and inherent keys in the material. The CD version does neither contain any live recordings nor the original sound of the auxiliary speakers which were specifically made for the performances. For this version Marc Behrens used the tree recordings along with a few field recordings of urban infrastructure, made during the preparation of the composition Advanced Environmental Control and later, preserving the original intention of the first performance: integration of a naturalistic and a technicized conception of sound."

VA: Sul CD (SIRR 2006). $13.00

"Sul features tracks by Atau Tanaka, Oren Ambarchi, Pimmon, Eric La Casa, Vitriol, id and Marc Behrens. Sul is dedicated to the french film-maker Chris Marker, author, among other films, of La Jetée (1962), Le Fond de l'air est rouge (1977), Sans Soleil (1982) and Level Five (1997). 'Chris Marker is a sculptor of memory — he can make us reminisce of things we have never lived, to remember places we have never been. If the future can become as sentimental as the past, then he has succeeded in manipulating time to an emotional end. Music can only aspire to become what Marker does — music is the art of sculpting time, of evoking memory for transitory sonic moments.' — Atau Tanaka."

ZINGARO, CARLOS: Cage Of Sand CD (SIRR 2007). $13.00

"Cage of Sand consists of several improvised pieces for violin and electronics. All the sound sources used derive from the violin itself, in 'real time'. Each track explores a different approach, from the repetitive and the noisy to the evanescent, redefining shifting spaces of tension, which are reinforced by the intricate, sometimes intimate, use of electronics. Live sampling software (written in max/msp) interacts organically with the gestures, doubling or dissolving the acoustic input in various forms, structures, states. The result is a work that is challenging and engaging. Carlos Zingaro has been active in the european improvised music scene since 1975. He has been a regular partner of people like Otomo Yoshihide, Joëlle Léandre, VoiceCrack, Richard Teitelbaum, Thomas Lehn, Matt Wand (Stock, Hausen & Walkman) and Gunther Muller, among many others."

SCHAEFER, JANEK: Black Immure (Music from the Casa de Serralves in 12 phases) CD (SIRR 2010). $13.00

"Janek Schaeffer is a London based sound artist, known for his innovative turntablism (his triphonic turntable being the most famous) but also for his interest in audio architectural research, concerned by relationships with a built environment such as bringing live sounds into buildings from outside through hidden microphones. His recent works combine in a delicate and masterful way vinyl manipulation techniques with field recordings and electronics. Janek spent 3 days collecting, manipulating and editing sounds found in and around the Casa de Serralves in Porto, Portugal. The Casa is located in the museum landscaped gardens and had a superb natural reverb. For the resulting concert this prepared material was improvised and combined with locally purchased 'Portuguese' vinyl and recordings he made using their Steinway piano. During the performance Janek physically 'played' the building by slowly winding down the enormous shutters and windows to envelop the audience in darkness. 'Immure' means to enclose within walls, to incarcerate. Towards the end of the concert Janek opened the terrace shutters and doors behind him as a sound reactive light installation cast shadows and light into the interior. The performance ended as he ran out into the moonlit garden away from the villa and audience as the final sounds flickered and faded away, leaving them in silence, alone."

É NE: ..op.10218 CD (SIRR 2011). $13.00

"Pal Toth alias é né is a Hungarian sound artist and radio producer, living in Budapest. In the frame of his radio programme, we can regularly hear what he calls 'ether concerts', compositions made to the medium itself and comprising an improvised (real-time) method of editing, Pal Toth confronts the listener with an evolving sense of time and duration that transcend questions of musical form to focus in the idea of shape, in the potentialities of a sound representation as stream of consciousness. Demanding and engaging. Imagine if Morton Feldman had played in a Punk band when he was young!?"

RAPOSO + CARLOS SANTOS, PAULO: Insula Dulcamara CD (SIRR 2013). $13.00

"Insula Dulcamara features a series of connected compositions made from field recordings and a (no-input) amplifier. Travelling notes, reverberating spaces, delicate resonances, all form to build a almost lyrical imaginary space with many layers. The sounds move quietly through the fragmented landscapes of field recordings and the transforming electronic processes create a highly delicate ever-shifting but detailed sonic flow."

VOICE CRACK + CARLOS ZINGARO: Ba Kaggja CD (SIRR 2014). $13.00

"Voice Crack and their cracked everyday electronics have been out there for over 25 years. The Swiss duo Andi Guhl and Norbert Möslang, a.k.a. Voice Crack, that someone called 'the godfathers of glitch' twist and unravel their microchips as a pair of experimental scientists in their laboratory, in the company of Carlos Zingaro who interacts with his laptop computer, which captures and manipulates the sound elements he and his fellow musicians produce. Ba Kaggja is one of Voicecrack's last recordings before their longtime collaboration came to an end."

KAHN, JASON: Miramar CD (SIRR 2016). $13.00

"Miramar features new pieces live in studio using analogue synthesizer, floor tom and small cymbals. Recorded with eight different room microphones, the room being extremely large, with 20-meter high ceilings. Each room microphone picked up a different frequency range, depending on its placement and how the room's resonant frequency mixed with what I was playing." In addition to analogue synthesizer and percussion, the room itself was thus the third 'instrument' Jason Kahn used on this recording. Jason Kahn was born in New York, grew up in Los Angeles, moved to Berlin in 1990. He now lives in Zürich. His audio work is a mix of electronic and acoustic sound sources, produced with minimal percussion, laptop or analogue synthesizer."

LABELLE, BRANDON: Concert CD (SIRR 2017). $13.00

"In his installations the audio artist Brandon LaBelle focuses on the dynamics of spaces, objects, bodies and language. His interest is primarily in the performative possibilities of language: how the various consonants and vowels collectively form an architectural whole that enables us to form words and sentences, and subsequently how they achieve, influence and complicate communication. In his new installation Over/Hear his attention shifted to that which has been said: overheard conversations."

SIWA:

TAKAHASHI, IKURO: Anoyo No Dekigoto LP (SIWA 10). $18.00

"Anoyo No Dekigoto is a duo performance unit, consisting of dance by Yoko Muronoi and music by Ikuro Takahashi. The project has existed for four or five years, but this is their first release with any substantial physical footprint on this corporeal plane. The name 'Anoyo no dekigoto' means something like Happenings in the Other World, an entirely appropriate moniker for the indeterminate, non-linear and metaphysical nature of the communication between Muronoi and Takahashi during their improvised performances. The music is not simply a background score for the dancer's movements. Takahashi even shies away from the description of what they do as communication. Rather, he refers to a complex series of 'negotiations' between dancer, musician, environment, and audience that serve to create a sense of enveloping, trembling communal space. On these recordings, Takahashi takes his interest in electronics to another level. On one track he deploys over thirty tiny oscillators to create a constantly moving, deeply immersive field of higher-function insect chatter. Even without Muronoi's wraith-like physical presence, the music on this album exerts an eerie and oblique dominance over any room in which it is played. It subtly modifies the listener's perception of time and space, leaving behind a tangible and mournful reminder of its presence, like the luminescent tracks of some passing phantom slowly decaying back into incorporeality. The LP is an edition of 300. It's pressed on white vinyl and comes in a 3 color silkscreened cover." — Alan Cummings.

SIWA RECORDS:

NMPERIGN: We Devote Every Effort To Offer You The Best That You... 2LP (SIWA 12/13). $24.00

...Deserve To Have for Your Enjoyment. "Nmperign is Greg Kelley and Bhub Rainey. The first LP of this 2LP set consists of the title track which was recorded in Mhere, France. The music on the second LP is from a performance at Wesleyan University and is entitled 'I Am Sitting In A Fucking Room'. Instrument credits are given as 'marantz pmd 130, sony micro20002, horns'. In the past Nmperign has collaborated with Le Quan Ninh, Günter Müller, Jason Lescalette, Jerome Noetinger, Lionel Marchetti, Axel Dörner and many others. Their previous recordings have appeared on labels such as Selektion, Rossbin, Twisted Village and Intransitive. Limited vinyl only edition with 5 color screenprinted cover."

SKAM (UK):

TEAM DOYABI: Demons to Diamonds/Little Plastic Bricks 7" (KMAS 005EP). $7.00

"Team Doyobi return (after their Push Chairs for Grownups EP, several comp tracks including their cover of 'Fuck Tha Police' on Kid606's Attitude compilation) with this curious little nugget; a 2 track EP of trademark crisp rhythms & sounds. The A-side flavors things with a constant slow kick & double time dsp rhythms, where the B-side (apparently recorded live, or simulated as such) works a dancehall/two step kick with some angly computersounds. Jacket clearly reads: [revolutionofrecordinisixtyseconds] 33 [point] 333 [recurring] [revolutionofrecordinisixtyseconds] rpm [return], no confusion there. One of the more vital Kmas titles in recent history from the artist bent on sustaining Skam's street cred. Blistering." — Hrvatski

TEAM DOYABI: Mod Truckin' 7" (KMAS 009EP). $7.00

A little taster for their new album Choose Your Own Adventure (SKALP/SKALDOO9) out in October. Tracklist: Side A: Mod truckin' Side B: Incandescent VPO array 335.14 neo-STAK\ hazardin pipe...

NMB ALLSTARS: Bolton 8 EP 12" (NMB 002EP). $0.00

"Almost two years since their first fully fledged 12", the reclusive North Manc Beds [NMB Allstars] return with more bedroom bug[A] beats. The freaked out crew are attaining new levels of agoraphobia, one member (Chuck Rock) has not moved outside of a 500m radius of his bedroom for almost two years, but his self engineered WAN maintains contact with the outside world. The Bolton 8 EP is a tribute to the history of mass transportation intrinsically linked to the industrial revolution and the North of England. Most of the NMB have travelled on GM Buses Day Saver tickets foremost of their natural lives, apart from when you could buy the 'Big Orange, Bury Slice'."

BOARDS OF CANADA: Hi Scores CD (SKA 008CD). $7.00

Reissue of this six-track masterpiece, originally released on Skam in Dec. of 1996, which was at the time the first findable Boards of Canada release (before their breakthrough Warp album Music Has the Right to Children; earlier BOC releases like Play By Numbers, Hooper Bay & BOC Maxima from 1994-95 barely exist). Boards of Canada are the Scottish-based duo of Mike Sandison and Marcus Eoin and this record is one of the definitive melancholic IDM cloud-floaters of it's generation. Totally classic.

BOARDS OF CANADA: Hi Scores 12" (SKA 008EP). $7.00

Limited repress of the vinyl version.

PUSH BUTTON OBJECTS: A Day In A Life CD (SKA 011CD). $7.00

Repress of long out of print classic from 1999, now also available on CD for the first time.

PUSH BUTTON OBJECTS: A Day in A Life 12" (SKA 011EP). $7.00

Repress of the third release from Edgar Farinas aka PBO (previous releases were on Schematic and Chocolate Industries), originally issued in 1999. 6 tracks. Textured graffiti sleeve.

ALDER & ELIUS: Parental Advisory Explicit Lyrics 12" (SKA 013EP). $7.00

"A Skam single featuring 'music created by justin and jesika' which was in turn given titles like 'Bionic Vagina', 'Digital Toddler' (erm...) in a pleasing enough lo-fi electro w/found vocal sounds (crowds, movie dialogue, obscene hip-hop toasting) context. Tough." — Hrvatski.

BOLA: Mauver 12" (SKA 015EP). $7.00

"A successor to Soup in chronology only, this EP concerns itself with rampant use of computer sound processing technologies, a move certain to irk most who see a Bola as a tangible link between the Artificial Intelligence movement of nearly ten years ago (which itself was concerned with soft melody-oriented analogue textures and repetitive rhythms) and the 'neo-Artificial Intelligence' movement of today (producers like Passarani, recent Plaid, just about everything American or anything that gets too overwhelmed with the possibilities of contemporary digital sound design and related 'Autochretianisms', or production related effort in general). Not sure why this music is even relevant save for the Skam connection; the first track is a midtempo hip hop thing with vocoded vocals, the second a kind of midtempo tech-electro thing with industrial influences (sounds like a 'shapes' cast-off to these ears), the third an almost sub-Plaid downtempo thing with killer bleeps and first-track vocal bits, and the last another 'shapesey' one, pleasant enough if not a snoozer (but I suppose that's just it then, isn't it)." — Hrvatski. Currently unavailable on CD...

TEAM DOYOBI: DFO Bad 12" (SKA 018EP). $7.00

"8 brand new tracks from the Wolds-massive 8-bit operators Gladwin & Peverett, straight from their grubby little CPU's and into your ear-holes. Highlights include the blissed up squeals and floaty melodies of the electronic ballad 'Aviate', the slappy yet smooth sax-sex contours of 'Style 'n' Stance', and the orch-blast workout of 'On The Money'."

MEAM: Meam CD/DVD (SKA 019CD). $14.50

"Playing around where image, sound, and choreography collide. Meam are responsible for the (Skam) website visuals, a/v sets, and much much more... one member has been working with Bola for the last 3 years both in still, and animation. Not only do you get the usual very high quality electronica but also a superb 20 minute DVD with each format. Warning — DVD contains strobing, with extra color, and is multi-regional. File next to: Squarepusher/Bola/Aphex." Note: the DVD is "multi-regional" PAL format, which means it will not play on normal NTSC players in North America; should play on most computers...

GESCOM: ISS SA CD (SKA 020CD). $7.00

"First release from Gescom since 1998. Four brand new tracks." Geiger-esque sleeve, braille sticker, no standard info provided.

QUINOLINE YELLOW: Cyriak Parasol CD (SKA 021CD). $7.00

"Following up the extravagantly car themed three inch CD (LMW Motors), Luke Williams returns (minus his tax disc pockets, air fresheners and key rings) with his first full length single. A resident of the north again, Quinoline Yellow is still enjoying his Gran's cawl, his mates customary tractor refits and the clean air they allow him to breathe on his return trips to Wales. Expect a Quinoline Yellow long player to arrive very soon."

QUINOLINE YELLOW: Cyriak Parasol 12" (SKA 021EP). $7.00

12" vinyl version.

WIEVE STONDER: Kenyan Harry CD (SKA 023CD). $7.00

"New EP from Skam pranksters Wieve Stonder. This 7 track shocker takes Wieve's quest to the next level with tracks described as 'an underground tale of true life on the mean streets of Hove', 'a cheese shop is visited, raided & fully electronically enhanced by deadly dance-floor mayhem'. 'A torn page from an antique Indian diary brought eerily back to life' and in the case of last track 'The Rooney Man...', 'a late night alley fight between a drunk man & a cucumber'."

WIEVE STONDER: Kenyan Harry 12" (SKA 023EP). $7.00

Vinyl 12" EP version.

FREEFORM: Wildcat CD (SKA 024CD). $7.00

"To record Wildcat Simon Pyke moved his studio 'The Freefarm' to a new venue on the south coast of England. Detached from the civilisation of London and positioned 15 bracing steps from the sea it was the perfect place to rediscover the joys of vocal gymnastics and beach-comb beats. Freeform strives for the perfect balance between hands on improvisation and good old traditional song melting. It's amazing what a lung full of fresh air and eye full of sunshine can do for the imagination. Get prepared for another excursion into junk funk utopia."

FREEFORM: Wildcat 12" (SKA 024EP). $7.00

Vinyl EP version.

SHADOW HUNT: Vampire EP CD (SKA 025CD). $7.00

"Shadowhuntz are back with Vampire their new EP which spotlights K Eyes, an auxiliary member of Shadowhuntz — who lent his hand to 'American Dream' on the LP. The record also features a new version of 'Night', 'one of the 3 alternate versions we have for each track on Corrupt Data' explains Shadow 1, Non. They first arrived with a highly collectable EP on Plug Research, back in 2000, that ruffled both hip-hop and electronic feathers alike. Then, more recently, they have got together with Dutch soul mates Funkkarma in an 'internet virtual studio' — 'me in my lab in L.A. Funkkarma on their own in Holland aka the haze-hills' continues Non — to tease out some truly progressive hip hop and the result is the album Corrupt Data."

SHADOW HUNT: Vampire EP 12" (SKA 025EP). $7.00

Vinyl EP version.

BOLA: Soup CD (SKALD 002CD). $14.50

"Rerelease of the classic Bola album Soup (originally issued in 1998). Remastered and with new sleeve artwork. This album still sounds fantastic, and even better following its new mastering at the Bolamachine, it looks spectacular, and is now relevant visually with the Bola image provided by Meam conspirator Mr. England." One of the all-time European classics of the IDN sound, file next to Boards of Canada's Music Has The Right To Children.

BOLA: Soup 2LP (SKALD 002LP). $16.50

Double LP; 2003 repressing, with new sleeve artwork (deluxe full color gatefold, with braille lettering).

ALDER & ELIUS: Parentalguidance CD (SKALD 003CD). $14.50

"Debut album from Skam's lone US-based offering, the duo of Justin 'Consectetur' and Jesika, two greater Detroit area 'yoots obsessed (perhaps) with 80s dance pop, bleeps, basically all the good stuff. Quite lovely electro jams (on the soft side), assorted sonic tomfoolery abound, strict 8th note pulse programming, striking resonances, yes. A concept album of sorts to boot (not revealing... how... exactly), melancholic, well played, full of vigor, displaying substance. Another nail yanked out of the Skam coffin, so to speak. Galliant, brash. Living." — Hrvatski.

ALDER & ELIUS: Parentalguidance 2LP (SKALD 003LP). $16.50

Deluxe full color gatefold version.

FREEFORM: Human CD (SKALD 004CD). $14.50

"Electronica album of the very highest order from Simon Pyke aka Freeform. 14 new tracks tracks, limited double vinyl with gatefold sleeve, CD in jewel case. Brighton based, Freeform has released tracks for Warp, Language, Skam Schematics, Ninja Tunes, Leaf and many other fine labels. Style of Music: junk funk, super-acoustic, freeform. Typical applications of music: barbecues, bus journeys, creative dance therapy, armchair travelling."

FREEFORM: Human 2LP (SKALD 004LP). $16.50

Double LP version, full color gatefold sleeve.

TEAM DOYOBI: Cryptoburners CD (SKALD 005CD). $14.50

"Skam recordings of Manchester, England, are proud to release the first full-length recording by Team Doyobi. Following their many releases and remixes for various labels, last year saw the first solo eight track EP ska016 Push Chairs For Grown Ups. Team Doyobi see Cryptoburners as a culmination of ideas over the last seven years. This is, in no way any kind of an ending, but more of a beginning, an arrival, Team Doyobi has finally loaded."

TEAM DOYOBI: Cryptoburners 2LP (SKALD 005LP). $16.50

Double LP version, in deluxe full color gatefold sleeve.

WEVIE STONDER: Drawing On Other People's Heads CD (SKALD 006CD). $14.50

"Imagine locking Boards of Canada, Ween and a sheet of LSD in a white padded room for 2 weeks... this could be the result. Wevie Stonder are Itchy Genius, Henry Music and M.C. Hat who joined Skam in 1999. The release of their infamous EP 'Eat Your Own Ears' followed a compendium of styles including cack, advanced music and dog interviews, receiving worldwide acclaim and several international trophies. Debut full length proper for Skam, Wevie Stonder combine electronic music, live instruments and unpredictable narrative."

WEVIE STONDER: Drawing On Other People's Heads LP (SKALD 006LP). $14.50

LP version.

BOLA: Fyuti CD (SKALD 007CD). $14.50

Repressed. The long awaited followup to Soup, from Darryl Fitton aka Bola. "The return of Darryl Fitton, still making music quite snugly nestled in the Artificial Intelligence id(i)o(m), a welcome warm & fuzzy synth time capsule amidst all that angry digital sput (scary, huh?... a music fetishizing FUNCTIONAL electronic music-gear...). Not quite as new-age as originally perceived, there's a fair bit of beautifully dovetailed oscillation(s), stop-on-a-dime beats, backward-verb, etc... Present on a few tracks is that pesky Tricky-esque singer-fellow last seen on Mauver (Dennis Bourne perhaps? Andy Gott? Wayne Edwards? Dave Shabadoo?) in various states of vocosion and complete resynthesis. No insight as to what possibly the title refers to (bowl of fruities, bow laugh u tea, bo love(s) you dee, bowl of uitti (frances-marie?)... Impressive in its weight of sound (as in... well produced), a record fully deserving the tag 'lush'. Quite lush indeed." — Hrvatski.

TEAM DOYOBI: Choose Your Own Adventure CD (SKALD 009CD). $14.50

"Updating a lost era when horror movies weren't 'ironic' and the directors knew how important the right synthetic soundtrack was. An era when 'progressive' was a word to cherish and musicians were sincere and serious in all their free-expressive ways. Team Doyobi have produced their long awaited second long player for Manchester's legendary Skam label. Choose Your Own Adventure is a modern conceptual album, a true journey from start to finish. As soon as the needle hits the record the listener is transferred into a world rooted within the fantasy and mythologies of a computerized new world. Where ancient psychedelic dreams mix with more futuristic ideals, immersing the listener between depths of serious modern electronic architectures. The fantasy landscapes accompanying the adventure in a 16 page full colour booklet, bridge the gaps beautifully between abstraction and science fiction illustration. As does the Audio bridge points between electronica, progressive rock, computer based experimentation, academia, funk and fun. Neither retrospective nor nostalgic C.Y.O.A becomes inappropriate as a lifestyle accompaniment, this album exudes freedom for the individual to shake loose to and trip out into the future. Land your mind through the dust clouds of their world, and travel safely along the rollercoaster ride of the collective Doyobi imagination. But always remember to Choose Your Own Adventure."

TEAM DOYOBI: Choose Your Own Adventure 2LP (SKALD 009LP). $16.50

Double LP version, full color gatefold sleeve.

SHADOW HUNTAZ: Corrupt Data CD (SKALD 012CD). $14.50

"Corrupt Data is the result of the internet being used artistically...the Funkarma brothers picked up Shadowhunta record 'Medic' on Plugresearch in 2000 and were so impressed by the sound they heard that they emailed them and offered there ample abilities in production. After Shadowhunta heard only one CD of a few remixes from Funkarma, they knew the album was going to happen between these two teams of men. With the advent of Data file transferring using program such as aol, icq and msn messengers created virtual Lab. During this process the error Warning 'Corrupt data' was occasional hazard thus the name of the album was born. In 15 months time the two Dutch brothers made 35 tracks with the 3 American MC's, without seeing or speaking each other. This experiment in global village recording resulted in a sound that is a perfect mix of electronic music with hip hop

The first result is a seven inch on skam records, Manchester, being followed by the debut album Corrupt Data in January 2004, to be followed up by twelve inch. For more info Shadow Huntaz is a 3 person multi-regional assembly of M.C.'s, with one duty; To preserve the state of hip hop by any means necessary. With musical roots reaching further underground than liquid magma and lyrics with the heat to match. The Shadow Huntaz look at their place in hiphop as a para military organization, not militant, just conscience and with a sense of responsibility. The members are ranked in order of origin, the first being Shadow1 aka 'Breaff'. Based in Chicago, with the regional responsibility of Northeastern united states, Breaff's lyrical content can only be described as science non fiction with an uncontained non uniform style of delivery. The second member, Shadow2 aka 'Dream' is posted in the A.T.L. -Atlanta, GA. With the regional responsibility of the dirty south, 'Dream' code name Sabotoge is just that, an obstruction of normal operations. His lyrics will enter your mind causing a synaptic revolution, taking you to the darkest corners of your unconscious thought and not a moment to soon. Third is Shadow3 aka 'Non' based in Los Angeles with a regional responsibility of the west coast and beyond, including the 50th state. 'Non' is the spirit of the hungry MC incarnate, eating food for thought with a style that flips like pages in the book of life.

If van Gogh was alive today and in Holland he would use his good ear to listen to what's emanating from Funkarma. One of the headleading musicians in electronic advanced music in the Netherlands. Soundscapes reverberate with a wall of melodies and echoes combined with complex crisp beat structures. The brothers Funcken, a sublime fusion of styles underpins their music as the esque percussion develops and becomes more complex. Cinematic music at it's most evocative. Call it electronic nuttiness that never fails to engage or abrasive, lush, haunting sound; a moving and viscerally intense evidence that Funkarma's music is full of emotion, mechanical, distorted and coming from a dark aesthetic funkarma material, displays more of 'intellectual appeal', requiring a certain barrier of entry to fully get into the music. trained ears and complete attention is definitely a requirement. sound to them is not a vehicle for there expression but in fact tools, mastered and use to make creations that are them selfs inspiration."

SHADOW HUNTAZ: Corrupt Data 2LP (SKALD 012LP). $16.50

Double LP version.

MR 76IX: Hits of 76IX CD (SKALD 013CD). $14.50

Debut release by this unknown artist. "We have been preparing this album for human consumption for a while now. Meticulously trawling through countless CDs and minidisks of his music spanning many years and every conceivable subgenre to find the tracks we liked the best. It wasn't easy with so much material to choose from but, finally, here it is. This is the first release by Mr 76ix, for Skam or anyone else, and expands on the playfully punishing (and now infamous) live set that he delivered to an unsuspecting, pleasantly bemused audience in the Skam room at last years ATP festival. Following this album, will be another, and then another, and then..."

MR 76IX: Hits of 76IX 2LP (SKALD 013LP). $16.50

Double LP version.

SKINT (UK):

CLARKE, DAVE: Devil's Advocate CD (SKINT 031CD). $16.00

"Techno pioneer Dave Clarke has always mined the edges of the mainstream for his explorations into speaker-bustin' dance music. The one-time hip hop and soul DJ spun hip hop deep into the mix of his 1996 debut Archive One, but on his second album Devil's Advocate, he's digging even deeper. Clarke is indeed a man of many sounds but he's undeniably an international techno ambassador of the highest degree. He's been criss-crossing the globe every weekend for the last fifteen years playing the best in funky electronic music and the album reflects it. From 'Dirtbox' a totally death-disco moment with a narcotic bassline to knock your socks off and the gothy reinterpretation of Bauhaus' 'She's In Parties' with Berlin electropunk Chicks On Speed to the jack-track blatin opener 'Way Of Life' featuring Chicago ghettohouse master DJ Rush and the screeching, slo-motion story of death and resurrection titled 'Blue On Blue' with politicised indie hip-hop MC Mr Lif, Devil's Advocate is an adrenalinised album, cherry-picking the best of the last three decades and hammering it into a record laden with funk, groove and attitude."

CLARK, DAVE: The Wolf 12" (SKINT 078). $9.00

"A limited edition 12" picture. Techno king Dave Clarke comes up with a growling, hairy beast of a track — a sneak preview of good things to come; this is Dave's first new track for Skint and he's busy in the studio working on his album."

INTERNATIONAL PONY: Leaving Home 12" (SKINT 083 EP). $9.00

"Second single taken from their widely acclaimed debut album We Love Music. Remixes come courtesy of ever popular Akufen. 'Leaving Home' is an infectious ride through electro-boogie showing another side to International Pony's hard to categorize sound, best put simply as 'modern soul'. It is impossible to push International Pony into a category. Their sound is diverse — the album We Love Music is a playful frolic through swing, electro-boogie, p-funk, R & B, hip hop and house — the result being an adorable slice of modern soul."

Tracks: UK edit, Afufen Mix, and Special Mix.

INTERNATIONAL PONY: Leaving Home 12" (SKINT 083X EP). $9.00

Limited remix pressing. Tracks: Radio Slave Remix, Product 01 Remix.

CLARKE FEAT. CHICKS ON SPEED, DAVE: What Was Her Name? CD (SKINT 094CD). $6.50

"Borrowing some 'gothy cool' from Bauhaus', 'What Was Her Name?' is one of two tracks Dave recorded with Chicks On Speed for the album. "It's a new song, written around the hook 'She's In Parties'" says Dave. This release features a mix from recent techno comeback genius LFO who delivers a tough, driving audio assault, white Paris' hottest exports Blackstrobe turn in a classic filthy synth orgy of a mix."

SKINTONE (JAPAN):

YOKOTA, SUSUMU: Laputa CD (STR 009 CD). $16.00

"Internationally reknowned Japanese producer Susumu Yokota releases his new album Laputa via his own Skintone imprint. Laputa follows on from the themes explored on the hugely acclaimed ambient/electronic albums Sakura, The Boy and The Tree, and The Grinning Cat. As with previous releases on Skintone (released on The Leaf Label in the UK), Yokota's new album combines layers of sonic ambience with fragmented rhythmic and melodic patterns. He manages to create an otherworldly, richly textured, organic musical experience that flits effortlessly between the spheres of live instrumentation, found sound and electronic music in a way few other producers can match. Laputa's title is taken from one of the imaginary worlds in Gulliver's Travels, and the album represents Yokota's subjective take on Laputa."

SKIPP (FRANCE):

AELTERS: El Frustrator CD (SKIPP 002). $12.00

"As a member of Dat Politics (first album released on Skipp & A-Musik respectively), Aelters knew the frustration of living in a green hole and making some music through compulsive behavior. After ten years of crazy manipulation on analog tapes, here he is with his twelve fragmented, stereophilic tracks — straight from his discount PC. Limited edition 500 copies. 12 Tracks. Twenty nine minutes and twenty nine seconds."

KUBIN, FELIX: The Tetchy Teenage Tapes 1981-85 CD (SKIPP 005). $13.00

"In the beginning of the 80s, when Punk and NdW-experiments (NdW = Neue Deutsche Welle) were still broadcasted on NDR Radio and children weren't call 'kids' yet, a vivid scene of children bands came to existence in Hamburgs suburb Bergedorf. The groups had names like Rekronstruirtes Relativpronomen, Architektonisch Sehenswertes Bauwerk, Unversalanschluss und Die Egozentrischen 2. Behind the two latter ones the nowadays nearly famous Sci-fi Pop impresario Felix Kubin, his brother Max and a friend called Stefan Mohr were agitating. Zick-Zack boss Alfred Hilsberg supported them and organized gigs in clubs and avantgarde furniture galleries like Markthalle and Moebel Perdu. Some highlights of their work are now released by A-Musik and Skipp with different track selections on LP and CD. While listening to them one has to wonder which kind of medicaments theses hyperactive pre-mature weirdos must have get from their bourgeois-liberal parents. A 7 year-old child reflects the 'quality of the state' while a 13-year-old sings: 'Crematories have a lot to do, even Marilyn Monroe didn't want to live anymore'. These lines are accompanied by up-tempo beats and rhythmic rattling of analog synthesizers as well as bizarre instruments like the Dosophon, a percussion set of little tin cans for sweets where they hit on with little drum sticks. Back then adults doing things like this called themselves 'Geniale Dilletanten' (genius dilettants). The megalomaniac nonsense of Kubin is also quite genius. It's an accumulation of irritating time documents which still provide a lot of fun and pain even 2 decades after they've been created."

SKY (GERMANY):

MOEBIUS: Blue Moon (Original Motion Picture Soundtrack) CD (SKY 3056). $18.00
"Original score to the 1986 Roxy Film Production Blue Moon by Dieter Moebius (of C/Kluster/Harmonia/_ & Roedelius fame...). Nice, if somewhat short selection of synth-themes & pain-relieving sonics. Surprisingly low usage of era sound-producing technologies, although they ARE in there (the DX7 ruined E-Music for an entire generation...). 80's Moebius/Roedelius output is only now starting to ripen w/age, no reason not to enhance your personal selection w/a crate or two of this fine ruby port." — Hrvatski.

SKY JUICE:

KING TUBBY/PRINCE JAMMY: His Majesty's Dub LP (SJ 003LP). $13.00
"Limited Reprint. Recorded in Jamaica during the late 70's/early 80's at Randy's, Joe Gibbs and Channel One studios. Featuring hot shot Jamaican musicians like Sly & Robbie, Ansel Collins, Yin Gordon and members of the Wailers band. Contains dub cuts to Bim Sherman's 'What Sweet You So', Joseph Earlock's 'Free Up The Blackman' and Jah Woosh's 'Jah Is The Ruler'. Produced by Jah Woosh and mixed by King Tubby and Prince Jammy (before he was crowned King)." Only available on vinyl.

SMAK (UK):

QUINOLINE YELLOW: L.M.W. Motors 3" CD (SMAK 111CD). $14.50
"Ltd edition CD that comes in a printed car tax disc holder. 150 copies of the CD contain a coupon, send back the coupon to the label and they'll send you a limited edition keyring. 'Whatcha' chief...after a new motor are you? Step through here into the yard."
VA: Smak CD 1-10 Issue 1+2 2CD (SMAK CDW1+2CD). $18.00
"Awesome double CD which comes in a limited edition dedicated CD wallet (Case Logic) containing the two CDs plus additional pockets for future installments. Skam offshoot Smak started life as an outlet for quickly releasing new music, the vinyl runs were limited to 500 only and are now collectors items. Now the vinyl has been compiled for this lavishly packaged double cd. Features tracks from Posthuman, Tatamax, Made, String Theory, Ola, Geiom, N.M.B. Allstars, Liquitex, Quinoline Yellow, Massimo."

SMALLFLOWERS PRESS:

SMALLFLOWERS PRESS: #1 MAG (SFP 001). $4.50
Debut issue of this Malden-based mag. Features extremely extensive interviews with Dredd Foole (whose classic 1995 album In Quest of Tense has become some kind of cornerstone), Sunburned Hand of the Man, and Chris Corsano. No reviews, almost no ads. Just one pilldriving Q and A after another. "I spent 2003 interviewing free-folkers (hardy har har) Dredd Foole, Chris Corsano, & especially Sunburned Hand of the Man. The result is issue one of a zine called Smallflowers Press. It is the most in-depth, horse's-mouth document to date on what The Wire called 'new weird america' and features about 200 exclusive photos and 80 pages."

SMALLTOWN SUPERSOUND (NORWAY):

ELEKTRO NOVA/ELECTRO NOVA: 2CD (STS 030). $15.00
"Elektro Nova/Electro Nova is Kare Dehlie Thorstad's one man project. This double CD is the follow up to the critically acclaimed Trans.Inter.Ference 10" which was released in August '98. Both these releases were part of Thorstad's exam in photography (!) at the university in Scotland, and although he was the only one who didn't deliver a photograph for the exam, he got the top grade. He has also written a 100 page report on the releases and artwork, as a part of his exam. The artwork is important and you have to look at the music and the artwork as a whole. This double CD contains 2 tracks, one on each disc. On this release Thorstad takes the minimalism even further, almost as far as you can take it. Dark, clean and minimalistic soundwaves. Absolutely brilliant."

SMELLS LIKE RECORDS:

HAZLEWOOD, LEE: Farmisht Flatulence, Origami, Arf!!! and Me CD (SLR 031). $15.50
"Recorded in Tempe in 1997, this is the first Lee Hazlewood solo album released domestically in over two decades. Farmisht is a collection of pop standards that Lee grew up with and has sung all his life. His voice has matured from the pure baritone drawl deployed in the 60s and 70s to a seasoned, smoky croon. The Al Casey Combo, a group who knew their way around the lounge long before the words 'space-age' and 'bachelor' ever became common currency, back up Lee on such classic vocal standards as 'Ain't Misbehavin' and 'Don't Get Around Much any More.' A classic and classy tribute from a man who's been there and back."
HAZLEWOOD, LEE: Trouble Is A Lonesome Town CD (SLR 037). $15.50
"Released in late 1963, Trouble Is A Lonesome Town was Lee Hazlewood's first proper solo album, appearing between the dissolution of his trailblazing late '50s partnership with Duane Eddy and his chart-topping late '60s work with Nancy Sinatra. While Lee himself considered Trouble primarily a 'writer's album' (to showcase his songs for bigger artists), it's actually the first manifestation of what would become his own unique aesthetic, a highly personal vision that would be difficult to imagine being interpreted by anyone but its originator. Like Faulkner's mythical Yoknapatawpha, Lee's Trouble (loosely based on his birthplace) brims with baroque American people, places and stories: the debonair undertakers, embalming fluid-quaffing Indians, ugly ducklings, unattainable ice-queens, and assorted jokers, cowards, heroes are all extravagantly named, with histories and exploits that unfold in 10 short, spare musical portraits. Between songs we're treated to perversely hilarious Hazlewoodian narrations on everything from class politics to the mating game. Lee's penchant for fantastic storytelling can be traced back to his early career as one of the first rock-'n'-roll DJs in Phoenix, where he caused a stir by inventing several eccentric on-air personas, often inhabiting them simultaneously. It should also be mentioned that Trouble is merely the first in a trilogy, the second of which is The N.S.V.I.P.s (coming from Smells Like Records in 2000), and a third 'sketched' but as-yet-unwritten album."

HAZLEWOOD, LEE: Requiem For An Almost Lady CD (SLR 038). $15.50

"Released in 1970, Lee Hazlewood's Requiem For An Almost Lady may well be the heaviest breakup record no one ever heard. This sublime collection consists of 10 short, simple, economically orchestrated songs, featuring Lee's lovesick baritone cushioned only by bass, acoustic guitar and occasional steel. Though overall a dark and fragile meditation, Requiem, like all of Lee's solo works, thrives on an arch alchemy of humor, passion and smarts. His sadness is wet with wily wit, his curses cut with cleverness. The frank, quasi-explanatory spoken word introductions to each song are further proof of his unique poetic gift, and continue a tradition dating back to early efforts such as Trouble Is A Lonesome Town and The N.S.V.I.P.s. Requiem is also one of the rarest LPs in the Hazlewood canon (originally released only in Sweden and the UK) — unheard even by many of the most devout Lee fanatics."
HAZLEWOOD, LEE: Requiem For An Almost Lady LP (SLR 038 LP). $11.00

HAZLEWOOD, LEE: 13 CD (SLR 040 CD). $15.50

"Newly minted from a wave of success with Nancy Sinatra, Lee Hazlewood began traveling abroad, landing in Sweden in 1970, where he met director Tobbjörn Axelman. The two embarked upon a Cowboy In Sweden, and continuing through Smoke and A House Safe For Tigers. The Swedish Viking label also issued two very rare but strong Hazlewood solo albums. Whereas Requiem For An Almost Lady, released in 1971, is an aching meditation on love lost (with some harrowing narration), 13, from the following year, is a horn-laden R'n'B-tinged departure from the Hazlewood formula that succeeds on the strength of its exuberantly dazed mania. Of all the Hazlewood albums coveted by collectors who seem to own every object ever made by anyone, this one really fills their drool buckets. During this period, Hazlewood emerged as a singer and performer inseparable from his writing and production. After hearing these 70s albums, but especially 13, one gets the feeling that Lee is perhaps the best interpreter of his own ideas, and without a doubt the albums benefit from everything he had developed up to that point: a singular signature sound synthesizing swinging cowboy shanties, the rhythmic heat of rockabilly, and soaring symphonic pop, punctuated by dark, poetic lyrics at once esoteric, witty and honest."

HAZLEWOOD/ANN-MARGARET, LEE: The Cowboy & The Lady CD (SLR 041). $15.50

"Smells Like Records continues its Lee Hazlewood reissue series with perhaps the strangest of Lee Hazlewood's recordings — his album of duets with actress Ann-Margaret (star of Tommy, Carnal Knowledge, Speedway, and The Flinstones). This 1969 odd gem was originally released as the debut LP on Lee's own LH label, following several singles by Ann-Margaret and Lee, Honey Ltd., and others. Lee Hazlewood took a break from his songwriting frenzy of the late '60s to record this collection of Hollywood/country epics about the sweetness and loss of love. The duo perform songs such as 'Dark End of the Street' and 'Only Mama That'll Walk The Line' with utterly unique style — archetypal, in fact, for Lee and Ann-Margaret. In addition, Lee performs Tom Rush's 'No Regrets' solo, taking a cold, hard look at the aftermath of love gone wrong in typical Hazlewood fashion. Also included on this CD are four extremely rare songs from the first two singles on LHI: 'Sleep in the Grass' and 'Chico' (a pair of Hazlewood originals performed as duets with Ann-Margaret, produced on par with his most baroque masterworks), were first released as LHI-2; 'You Turned My Head Around' and 'It's A Nice World To Visit (But Not To Live In)' are two slices of Nuggets-era psych-pop sung by Ann-Margaret solo, possibly two of Lee's rarest and strangest productions. These four songs have been out of print since the time of their release and, along with The Cowboy and The Lady, make their first Hazlewood-approved appearance in 30 years."

WOLFINGTON, JOHN: CD (SLR 043). $14.00

"Cat Power, Arab Strap, and PJ Harvey serve as influences, but Wolfington's sound — vocally unique and without artifice — is actually somewhere between Ian Curtis and Nick Drake. 'Cinerock' is how he would describe it."

SMILED RECORDS (UK):

NELSON, BILL: Northern Dream CD (SM 777 CD). $15.00

Reissue of the first Bill Nelson solo album, originally issued as a private press in 1971 (produced by Mike Levon from the Holyground label). A charming album with hippy-esque tendencies, this was heavily touted by Mr. John Peel at the time, which led to Nelson's success with the major label placement of Be-Bop Deluxe. An almost completely solo recording by Nelson on guitars, vocals, bass, flute & recorder and drums. Primitive pastoral blues and a bit of cosmic/psych/folk.

SMITHSONIAN FOLKWAYS:

SMITH (EDITOR), HARRY: Anthology Of American Folk Music 6CD (SF 40090). $75.00

The historic 1997 reissue which re-ignited interest in this seminal anthology, originally issued as a three volume set of double LPs in 1952. This beautifully packaged box (12" x 12" red cloth heavy duty box, with gold foil stamping) contains six carefully remastered CDs, 84 tracks in all, of early American folk, blues, bluegrass, old time, ring shouts, gospel and cajun music, as compiled by Harry Smith. "Perhaps the most influential collection in the history of recorded sound, the Anthology brought virtually unknown parts of America's musical heritage to public attention, and created a cultural wave with lasting impact. Smithsonian Folkways brings the the Anthology to a new generation of listeners with digitally remastered sound, Smith's original handbook, and a 68-page book with essays by Greil Marcus and other noted writers, musicians and scholars. Plus an enhanced CD-ROM to access rare photos, historic video footage, artist interviews, and background information." The precursor to the more recent Revanant release, Harry Smith's Anthology of American Folk Music, Volume Four.

VA: There Is No Eye: Music For Photographs CD (SF 40091). $15.00

"Featuring previously unreleased tracks from Rev. Gary Davis, Bob Dylan, and Bill Monroe, this stellar collection of roots music contains a total of 10 previously unissued recordings. Classic and eclectic, this CD also includes Woody Guthrie, Roscoe Holcomb, Alan Lomax, the New Lost City Ramblers, Carter Stanley, Muddy Waters, and many others."

VA: Classic Bluegrass CD (SF 40092). $12.00

"It all began in 1956 with the release of the historic Folkways album American Banjo: Three-Finger and Scruggs Style, the first-ever full-length bluegrass LP. From that point on, Folkways Records was synonymous with great bluegrass music. Folkways founder Moses Asch released scores of bluegrass albums, and this collection comprises the cream of the crop from these recordings, including works from giants of the genre such as Red Allen & Frank Wakefield, Bill Monroe, Doc Watson, the Stanley Brothers, and The Country Gentlemen. It serves as an outstanding introduction to the wealth of great bluegrass Smithsonian Folkways has to offer. Extensive notes, photos, 62 minutes."

VA: *Classic Old-Time Music CD (SF 40093). $12.00

"This collection of old-time social and instrumental string-band music spotlights instrumental prowess. Old-time music features playing styles that pre-date bluegrass, emerging from the string band tradition stretching back to the early years of United States history. Both African-American and Anglo-American ingredients are at its core, the banjo having African origins, the fiddle European. Some of the most revered sources of old-time roots music — Dock Boggs, Roscoe Holcomb, Wade Ward, Tommy Jarrell, and more are heard playing in their original styles."

VA: *Classic Mountain Songs CD (SF 40094). $12.00

"Riding the wave of the renewed interest in traditional American music, Classic Mountain Songs from Smithsonian Folkways showcases a handful of the greatest mountain ballads as performed by some of the most influential folk singers and songwriters of the 20th century. This collection features many classic performances from a wide variety of regional instrumental and song styles. These diverse styles and song types from the mountain communities of North Carolina, Virginia, Kentucky, and Tennessee include old-time fiddle and banjo pieces, early bluegrass, and traditional ballads, with a special emphasis on Appalachian vocal traditions. Doc and Merle Watson, Roscoe Holcomb, Clarence Ashley, and Dock Boggs are just a few of the revered roots artists who appear on this stellar compilation. This is an essential album for both old and new fans of American mountain music. Extensive notes, 24 tracks, 70 minutes."

VA: *Classic Folk Music CD (SF 40110). $12.00

"We often take for granted the supremacy of artists such as Doc Watson, Woody Guthrie, Pete Seeger, Lead Belly, Big Bill Broonzy, Brownie McGhee, and other folk music legends. Classic Folk Music sheds new light on the success of the urban intellectual-driven movement that made rural white and African-American artists and their music favorites of audiences everywhere. This recording features classic performances by classic artists doing some of their classic songs during the great folksong revival of the 1940s through 1960s. It is some of the great performances from the vaults of Folkways Records."

DAVIS, REVEREND GARY: *If I Had My Way: Early Home Recording CD (SF 40123). $15.00

"When young John Cohen went to the home of Reverend Gary Davis in early 1954, Cohen could not have known the importance of the recordings he made. These historic recordings of the Reverend predate his seminal albums and feature Davis singing with his wife and another preacher, a rarity among Davis recordings. The 18 tracks provide a window into the world of this blind preacher caught between the blues and the church. Fans of Davis' work will find these recordings to be a revelation, as a full ten songs were never recorded again and cannot be heard elsewhere."

HOLCOMB, ROSCOE: *An Untamed Sense Of Control CD (SF 40144). $15.00

"Bob Dylan stated, 'Roscoe Holcomb has a certain untamed sense of control, which makes him one of the best.' Eric Clapton called Holcomb 'my favorite [country] musician'. Holcomb's white-knuckle performances reflect a time before radio told musicians how to play, and these recordings make other music seem watered-down in comparison. His high, tense voice inspired the term 'high lonesome sound'. Self-accompanied on banjo, fiddle, guitar, or harmonica, these songs express the hard life he lived and the tradition in which he was raised. Includes his vintage 1961 'Man of Constant Sorrow'."

VA: *Havana & Matanzas: Cuba ca. 1957 CD (SF 40434). $15.00

Batá, Bombé and Palo songs. "The third installment in this highly acclaimed series documenting the Afro-Cuban spiritual and musical sounds of pre-revolutionary Cuba. These recordings, made just prior to Fidel Castro's rise to power, reflect Afro-Cuban musical and spiritual life in Havana and around the Sugarcane mills of Matanzas...a fascinating snapshot of African slave-descendant communities performing their religious songs and ceremonies. 28 tracks, 78 minutes, and new digitally remastered sound."

VA: *The Silk Road: A Musical Caravan 2CD (SF 40438). $20.00

"What if Marco Polo had owned a tape recorder? And what if his epic travels across the heart of Asia had taken place not at the end of the 13th century, but at the beginning of the 21st? The Silk Road: A Musical Caravan presents a panoramic sweep of the vast and rich musical territory that an adventurous traveler like Polo might uncover in this vitally important region today. Produced in cooperation with The Silk Road Project, an international cultural initiative founded by renowned cellist Yo-Yo Ma, this 2-CD set includes music from Afghanistan, China, Iran, Kazakhstan, Mongolia, Tajikistan, and other Central Eurasian nations and peoples, most of it never previously released."

OMAR, USTAD MOHAMMAD: *Virtuoso From Afghanistan CD (SF 40439). $15.00

"Ustad Mohammad Omar, Afghanistan's finest rabab player, became the first Afghan musician to teach in the United States when he arrived at the University of Washington in Seattle in 1974. This CD documents his only public performance in America and is the first full length album of his to be released in the United States. Playing his rabab, a short-necked lute that is plucked with a plectrum called a shahbaz, and accompanied on the tabla by a young Zakir Hussain, Mohammad Omar shared Afghan traditional music with the West in this memorable and important concert. Hussain and Omar had never met before that day, nor did they speak a common language, but their musical voices intertwine magically on this classic recording, available here commercially for the first time. The music is steeped in traditions of Afghanistan and that country's own relationship to Indian and Pakistani musical influences, but this virtuoso performance stands alone as a triumph of Eastern music."

REYES Y SUS PLENEROS & CUERDAS DE BORINQUEN, MARCIAL: *Puerto Rico In Washington CD (SF 40460). $15.00

1996 release. "Puerto Rico in Washington presents the musical traditions of bomba, plena, and jibaro recorded at the 1989 Festival of American Folklife. Spontaneous, powerful, and resonant, this recording of Marcial y sus Pleneros and Cuerdas de Borinquen is the first to capture the energy and creative genius of these masters as they draw the audience into their performances. Extensive notes with photos and lyrics in Spanish."

VA: *Bosavi: Rainforest Music From Papua New Guinea 3CD (SF 40487). $22.00

"This is the most comprehensive musical portrait ever of life in a Papua New Guinea rainforest community. Three CDs and an 80-page illustrated booklet feature two generations of Bosavi musicians and twenty-five years of field recordings. These recordings feature a remarkable range of creativity — instrumental and vocal music spanning the most sacred ritual and ceremonial songs to the current Western popular-influenced guitar bands — all in harmony with the environment around them. Women and men, modernity and tradition, everyday life and ritual recorded in village and forest settings make this unprecedented anthology one of the most extraordinary world releases to date."

GRUPO DE CAPOEIRA ANGOLA PELOURINHO: *Capoeira Angola 2: Brincando na Roda CD (SF 40488). $15.00

"Grupo de Capoeira Angola Pelourinho follow their 1996 release, Capoeira Angola from Salvador, Brazil, by delving deeper into Capoeira's poetry in motion. Brincando na Roda sets the tone for these expressive dances bringing to life this graceful art form's self-defense style movements. Mestre Pedro Moraes, inheritor of this most African of the Brazilian capoeira traditions, exhorts the musicians and dancers with his ringing voice and the rhythms of the berimbau, the musical bow. Today, capoeira's popularity reaches far beyond Brazil and in capoeira angola offers a pathway to self-knowledge. The ritual combat ring of Capoeira is seen as a microcosm of real life, in which geometric form facilitates the propagation of energy. The movements made inside the circle symbolize the adversities we encounter in our lives."

VA: *Havana, Cuba, ca. 1957: Rhythms And Songs For The Orishas CD (SF 40489). $15.00

"Recorded in Havana in 1957, the ritual rhythms and songs collected by Lydia Cabrera and Josefina Tarafa feature the batá drums, used by practitioners of Santería to salute and summon the gods (orishas). The disc includes a complete cycle of batá salutes to the orishas, called the orú de igbodú, as well as rhythms played during ceremonies to mark the presence of an orisha. With origins in Yoruba religion in West Africa, this disc serves as a hub of Afro-Atlantic music, with ties to related religions in New York, Miami, the Caribbean, and Brazil."

VA: *Matanzas, Cuba, ca. 1957: Afro-Cuban Sacred Music From The Countr CD (SF 40490). $15.00

"Recorded in Matanzas in 1957, these ritual rhythms provide a direct link to the music of 19th-century colonial Cuba, and provide a window into the religious life of the first generations of Africans who worked the sugar mills. Collected by Lydia Cabrera and Josefina Tarafa, these recordings preserve extremely rare bembé lukumi ritual drumming used by practitioners of Santería to summon the gods or salute Cuba's African nations. It is remarkably different from the urban style heard today in Havana, although some of the same songs were sung in both city and countryside. With origins in Yoruba religion in West Africa, this music reveals the roots of today's Afro-Cuban ceremonial practices."

VA: *Mahagita: Harp and Vocal Music of Burma CD (SF 40492). $15.00

"Burma's preeminent player of the arched harp and one of Burma's most respected singers provide a beguiling, sampling of the Burmese tha chin gyi (classical song,) repertoire in these stunningly beautiful recordings made in Rangoon in 2000. The Burmese arched harp is a little-known treasure among, Asian musical instruments that figures prominently in Burma's classical music tradition. That tradition, developed over several centuries in Burma's royal courts, exhibits the restraint, subtlety, and elegance of many aristocratic traditions — but in an idiom uniquely Burmese."

VA: *Badenya: Manden Jalliya in New York City CD (SF 40494). $15.00

"Originally from Mali, Guinea, Gambia, and Guinea-Bissau, these artists are now part of the global beat of New York City's music scene. Though their music has a distinctively contemporary Afropop sound, they are all jallilu practitioners of ancient performance traditions dating back to the 13th-century Empire of Mali. This exquisite recording showcases singing by masters of the soaring vocal style of jalliya and virtuoso instrumental playing on the bala, kora, n'goni, tambin, djembe, dundun, guitar, and bass. A testimony to the vitality and creativity of immigrant communities in America, this music and its performers seamlessly combine contemporary life in urban New York with ancient African traditions."

VA: *Abayudaya: Music from the Jewish People of Uganda CD (SF 40504). $15.00

"Abayudaya: Music from the Jewish People of Uganda presents a unique collection of African-Jewish music in which the rhythms and harmonies of Africa blend with Jewish celebration and traditional Hebrew prayer. This compelling repertoire is rooted in local Ugandan music and infused with rich choral singing, Afro-pop, and traditional drumming. The repertoire includes lullabies, political and children's song. Religious rituals, hymns, and celebratory music, with song texts in Hebrew, English, and several Ugandan languages. This singular community of African people living committed Jewish lives has survived persecution and isolation arid asserts, 'We have been saved by our music.'"

VA: *Jibaro Hasta el Hueso: Mountain Music of Puerto Rico... CD (SF 40506). $15.00

"...by Ecos de Borinquen." "The resurgence of cultural and racial pride in the United States during the 1960s and 1970s had a parallel in Puerto Rico so much so that today, the mere sound of música jibara can provoke a cheer of cultural and national pride. In the forward-looking words of the young singer on this recording, Karol Aurora De Jesus Reyes, the music 'will make us shine around the world, until the people hear the music and say, 'Look, that is the music of Puerto Rico.' It's the music of my country, that which represents us and that which identifies us as a people.' Leader Miguel Santiago Diaz hand-picked this group of virtuosic instrumentalists to let the music shine at its brightest."

VA: *Mali Lolo! Stars of Mali CD (SF 40508). $15.00

"Mali Lolo! Stars of Mali showcases the preeminent musicians on the forefront of Mali's modern musical renaissance. It features the Super Rail Band — Mali's headline group for 30 years -Grammy winner Ali Farka Toure, kora masters Toumani Diabate and Ballake Sissoko, Wassoulou diva Oumou Sangare, guitarist and singer Habib Koite with his Bamada group, and more of Mali's best talent. This collection exemplifies each artist's exploration of the rich ground between revered musical traditions and the innovations of modern Mali that draw upon a myriad of Western influences. Modern Mali, a powerhouse of African musical tradition, reverberates far beyond its geographic boundaries, harnessing its rich culture and history to create unique contemporary sounds."

VIENTO DE AGUA: *Materia Prima CD (SF 40513). $15.00

"The bomba and plena heard on this recording are the materia prima (raw material) of today's two most African Puerto Rican musical traditions. When its dynamic leader Tito Matos created the group Viento de Agua ('Wind of Water'), he vowed to keep alive the 'streetcorner sound' of the plena, music rooted in the lives of ordinary people. Viento de Agua Unplugged plays the stripped-down, straight-ahead version of his music, foregrounding its essence — the sound of unbridled percussion, underscoring lyrics that proclaim local topics. In these performances by veterans of bomba and plena, Tito proves his claim that 'There is no way to create if you don't have the roots.'"

COWELL, HENRY: *Piano Music CD (SF 40801). $14.00

Cowell was an immensely influential composer and pianist; his use of dense tone clusters (a technique involving palm, fist and forearm) "revealed resonances, harmonic color and dynamic timbres that conventional finger technique does not," and has had a great effect on atonal transcendence over the last half-century. This essential CD (reissue of an old 1963) album includes original performances by the composer.

CAGE/DAVID TUDOR, JOHN: *Indeterminacy 2CD (SF 40804/5). $21.00

Cage reading 90 one-minute "stories" of Zen-wonder at various speeds while Tudor (in another room) injects randomized noise-sound blarings (via piano & tape) into the mix. First issued in 1959, this is one of the most essential Cage documents.

VA: Sounds Of North American Frogs CD (SF 45060). $15.00

1998 release. "The amphibian song revival begins here! This classic of both biological field-work and natural sound recordings, originally released by Folkways in 1958, presents 57 species of frogs and toads on 92 tracks, digitally remastered from the original master tapes. Compiled and narrated by renowned herpetologist Charles M. Bogert, these sounds were recorded in swamps, lakes, woods, creeks, and road-side ditches all over North America. Sit back and let the bewitching tones of the Pig Frog, Dwarf Mexican Treefrog, Little Green Toad, Southwestern Woodhouse's Toad, Great Basin Spadefoot, and other famed vocalists entrance and amaze you. In a time when frog and toad populations are in rapid decline, this recording reminds us of the remarkable diversity and beautiful music we are in danger of losing. Extensive notes with a new introduction by Richard G. Zweifel, bibliography, discography, and photographs are included."

SMOG VEIL:*ROCKET FROM THE TOMBS: Rocket Redux 2LP (DFM 058LP). $17.00

"Smog Veil in conjunction with Morpheus Records is proud to release Rocket From The Tombs Rocket Redux, a collection of 12 new studio recordings on a beautifully packaged double vinyl set."

ROCKET FROM THE TOMBS: Rocket Redux CD (SV 050 CD). $12.00

"Collection of 12 new studio recordings with the current lineup. Featuring David Thomas (RFTT, Pere Ubu) on vocals, Cheetah Chrome (RFTT, The Dead Boys) on guitar and vocals, Richard Lloyd (Television) on guitar, Craig Bell (RFTT, Saucers) on bass and vocals and Steve Mehlman (Pere Ubu) on drums, the 12 tracks on Rocket Redux are: 1. 'Frustration,' 2. 'So Cold,' 3. 'What Love Is,' 4. 'Ain't It Fun,' 5. 'Muckraker,' 6. '30 Seconds Over Tokyo,' 7. 'Sonic Reducer RFTT,' 8. 'Never Gonna Kill Myself Again,' 9. 'Amphetamine,' 10. 'Down In Flames,' 11. 'Final Solution RFTT,' and 12. 'Life Stinks.' David Fricke, editor of Rolling Stone, wrote of Rocket From The Tombs: "No one else in American rock, underground or over, in 1974 and '75, was writing and playing songs this hard and graphic about being f**ked over and fighting mad. No one else is doing it now."

AMOEBA (RAFT BOY): Bad Fuggum From The Mysterium CD (SV 35 CD). $10.00

"In pure budget-busting form Smog Veil is known for, we proudly announce the latest bankruptcy inducing release from the creators of Electric Eels and Styrenes — 2 bands everyone should be familiar with. Amoeba (raft boy) was a rock 'n' roll project of John Morton, formerly of the Electric Eels and X-Blank-X, and Paul Marotta of the Styrenes. The band existed for a few years in the early 1990's playing numerous shows in and around their home base of New York City. Excellent live recordings, along with a couple studio takes round out this release of original material and rocking covers of Electric Eels classics 'Agitated' and 'Jaguar Ride'."

ROCKET FROM THE TOMBS: The Day The Earth Met The... CD (SV 37 CD). $13.50

"Cleveland's only real legitimate claim to house the Rock 'n' Roll Hall of Fame is a band that will never be inducted there. In fact, it is more than 25 years after the group broke up that a legitimate album of their material is now available on Smog Veil. This was Rocket From The Tombs — the mutant daddy to Pere Ubu and the Dead Boys. Originally, singer David Thomas started the band in May 1974 as a kind of comedy act, though later the group would have a good grasp of theatrics. A gifted guitarist/writer named Peter Laughner showed up at some of these farce-filled gigs, jammed with the band and joined soon after that. Thomas and Laughner would make a new more musical lineup that included Gene O'Connor (AKA Cheetah Chrome) (guitar), David Bell (bass) and Johnny Madansky (AKA Johnny Blitz) (drums). Somehow this disparate crew got opening gigs ranging from Iron Butterfly to Captain Beefheart to Television (who Laughner actually joined briefly). Without Rocket From The Tombs, the world may have never heard 'Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo', 'Final Solution', 'Ain't It Fun', 'Sonic Reducer', and 'Down In Flames' — all Rocket's originals, and all contained on this release, along with 14 other tracks culled from archival live recordings, some of which have never previously been bootlegged. Comprehensive liner notes and never before seen photos are jam-packed in this complete retrospective that showcases the true inception of the Cleveland underground sound."

SNAIL ARTICLE:*FLORES/IANEK SCHAEFER, CHRISTOPHER: Split LP LP (SA 002LP). $13.50

"This split LP marks the first release from Baltimore resident Christopher Flores. After touring throughout the US with various post rock and experimental bands, Flores has recently focused more on solo activities, blurring the lines between acoustic and digital composition. Although the opening track, 'M.O.R.T.', is created purely in the digital realm one begins to hear gently plucked strings, soft bells and waves of radio beneath it's tactile surface. In the second track, 'Edits for Piano' Flores creates an intricately defined landscape using only piano as source. Within this overall sound, delicate melodies begin to form as distortion slowly swells to the surface. Janek Schaefer's Orders EP collects five pieces ranging in sound from the crackle and hiss of record debris, to the carefully layered hum of bass, to a chorus of family members singing the word love. The record also features a meticulously edited locked groove created using Schaefer's custom made audiol!Splicer software. An extremely diverse EP that effectively carries the listener from one sonic environment to another."

SNAKE EYES (UK):*KORU: Spirit CD (SE 002). $16.00

"First full length release on the new offshoot label of Worm Interface, which deals with warmer, more organic music. Very different from Worm Interface, this deep trancey progressive drum'n'bass album is exquisitely produced. This will appeal to fans of Roni Size and the more ambient, dreamy tendencies in drum'n'bass. It will also appeal to lovers of progressive, trancey house looking for an alternative to 4-to-the-floor beats. The album contains some vocal tracks which are definitely reminiscent of Goldie's more lyrical moments."

SO DENS (SPAIN):*DJ LOE: Dancing Moog: Lo-Fi Funk CD (SD 007 CD). $17.00

"Dancing Moog Barcelona. Small club in Barcelona's downtown, opened June 1996. 250 people allowed. Residents DJ Joe and DJ Omar (Minifunk Records). Some guests from the past 2 years: Richie Hawtin, Jeff Mills, Laurent Garnier, Tresor DJs, Steve Bug, Oscar Mulero...just to name a few. For this CD, Loe has chosen to record it in a very live way, one Saturday night at the same Moog club. So it is the real soundtrack of the Moog club. It starts with breaks and electro patterns, to flow into more techno-house...a party of dirty house, funky techno and disco breaks. " Featuring tracks by: An Der Beat, Shoota, The Skinless Brothers, Voice Stealer, E-Troneek Fynk, Maybe and her Boneless Sister, Groove Machine, Oriol Ainslie, Lima, Porter Ricks, The Bellingrings, Dubstar, Glory B, 343.

MOLINA, ANGEL: Wax Sessions #1 CD (SD 016). $15.00

"When you stand up in a set of Angel Molina, you realise that he is one of the most talented DJ's ever passed along of the electronic scene. In addition to his technical efficiency (only few people know how to take so much performance from a mixer), our DJ has two essential qualities which make difference between Djing and just playing records. 1- That's entertainment. His sets don't unnoticed. Angel Molina makes happen, there where he DJ's he creates a unique performance with his music...A record leads to another and so on, with such skill and coherence that his sets arise to the category of musical experience. How many times have you gone back home and felt this? 2-Sense and sensibility. There are no unjustified tracks in his sets. There is no stuffing. Each track, each mix corresponds to a project an intention: in short, they are all parts of an artistic speech that Angel draws by his head and his heart. Quality and taste decide all what goes in and out of his DJ bag. This CD is a brief but explicit example." Artists include: Leandro Fresco, Theorem vs. Stewart Walker, Salz N° 3, Angel Molina, 3ST, Terrence Dixon, Agent Cooper, Tube Jerk, Dietrich Schoenenmann, Fucked, Jeff Mills, Rhythmic vs. Ratio, G-Man, Jo Paap, Sterac, Scorp, Laurent Garnier, Tintonon Duvanté.

VA: Sónar 99 4CD (SD 440307). $24.00

SOCIAL REGISTRY:*ICEWATER SCANDAL: No Handle CD (SOCIAL 004CD). $13.00

"Gathering moss is not for Icewater Scandal; they are constantly percolating with ideas. They take what they have accomplished before redefining it and then heading for new horizons. Their first album travels over new territory from their debut EP released under the AM Radio moniker. Though still filtered through their concept of taking 60's experimental music a la the Dream Syndicate et al, and merging that with the elan of 80's indie rock; No Handle is at times more muscular and other times more cerebral, without losing any flair. Part of this can be attributed to their producer Lee Rinaldo of Sonic Youth. Recorded and mixed at SY's studio, Echo Canyon, there has been great care in getting the sound just right. Recorded, mixed and mastered all on analog equipment was a decision that allowed no ones and zeros to come between what was played and how the band wanted it heard."

ICEWATER SCANDAL: No Handle 2LP (SOCIAL 004LP). $13.50

Double LP version.

PAINTING SOLDIERS: Horizon Falls 12" (SOCIAL 005EP). $11.00

"From The Social Registry's new 12" EP series (strictly limited to 600 copies and packaged in identical metallic blue jackets): Andrea Hansen, though a member of the angular, surging rock group Icewater Scandal, has so much she wants to do that it cannot be contained within just one group. From her fertile mind and nimble fingers comes Painting Soldiers. Most of her work was recorded in a small one room apartment, on a lonely block above a gun shop, with just her guitar and a four-track recorder (and the occasional helping hand from various friends.) Andrea has been able to unleash her talent and imagination that is clear and unadorned with post production by Lee Rinaldo. From the gentle rollicking of 'Heaven And Mars' to the stormy psychedelic 'Mighty Fumble' this EP stands by itself. This debut 12" is sure to transport the listener into an existence that transcends the common and everyday."

GHOST EXITS: Cincinnati Riot Blues 12" (SOCIAL 007EP). $11.00

"We are proud to present the debut offering from NYC two piece Ghost Exits; a four song 12" EP. Ghost Exits have seen incarnations as a free jazz combo & rock band but it was late in 2001 when the current incarnation began to take shape. Trading in their drums & guitars for a sequencer and some out-moded analog synths Christopher Exit & Ivan Sunshine began looking to the British post-punk aesthetic and early 80s hip-hop for inspiration to create a new starting point from which to deliver their sound. Fast forward two years and you find the fully realized sound of Ghost Exits taking shape as they created a new beast to be reckoned with. It didn't take long for the rest of the NYC population to catch up with these two; and it wasn't long before they began landing shows with the likes of !!!, ESG, James Chance & The Warlocks."

ELECTROPUTAS: Piano Blooms 12" (SOCIAL 008EP). $11.00

"The Electroputas are finally ready to unleash the spatial sound groove attack from their modern era with this the second release in The Social Registry's 12" series. Think krautrock in the realm of Can with dashes of no wave, free rock, and just plain freakiness. This is the antidote for all of those bands who are 'pushing the envelope' with all the force of baby sloth. This is for the people who swing their hips in more than just one direction. Sure to be playing on your turntable until the needle gives out or your mind does."

ARTANKER CONVOY: Ocean Parkway 12" (SOCIAL 009EP). $11.00

"The Social Registry 12" series continues with this silk and flame infected barnstormer from Artanker Convey. This four track EP is sure to get feet moving and hips gyrating with their catchy and irresistible flow (people who have tried resisting have ended up in traction or worse). But this EP is not only for the floor-cutting set. It is layered with a multitude of different influences and experience (soul jazz, krautrock, bossanova, bubblegum pop to name a few) that set this group apart from the typical club ravers, they compose pieces that allow them to really stretch out and continue to evolve the more they play them. You can sit back and just enjoy this, but your body might have different ideas. Organic Grooves remixes one of the pieces shooting AT into an even higher orbit."

SOFA (NORWAY):*TRIDIM + JIM O'ROURKE & BARRY GUY: 2 of 2 CD (SOFA 510 CD). $16.00

Håkon Kornstad (reeds); David Stackenäs (guitar); Ingar Zach (drums/percussion); Barry Guy

(bass): Jim O'Rourke (remix). "This CD presents three different tappings of TRI-DIM. TRI-DIM was one of the first young improv groups to rise to the surface on the vital, ever growing music scene in Oslo. This is TRI-DIM's second album and it should in more than one way document the work they have been doing over the last two years. The first track is a live recording from Blå from April 2002. Second, a remix by Jim O'Rourke, using some of TRI-DIM's unreleased material."

OLOKUN PROPHECY, NAJITE: Africa Before Invasion CD (SOFA 001). $16.00

"Son of an Urhobo tribal chieftan, Najite Agindotan is a Master Drummer who, from a very young age traveled with the Urhobo cultural music troupe under his father's direction as they traveled throughout West Africa and performed at national festivals in their native Nigeria. In his early teens, Najite was introduced to the internationally renowned Nigerian superstar Fela Kuti and his new music called Afrobeat, a very potent combination of popular Nigerian dance styles layered with funk guitars, and an Africanized reinterpretation of the arrangement approach. Later, Najite became a student of Fela. This exciting debut of Najite Olokun Prophecy rocks hard in a funky way! You get the chicken-scratch guitars, the blazing horns, the wall of percussion, and the spacey keyboards of Afrobeat, set to the memorable melodies and rhythmic hooks of the wonderful songs Najite has composed especially for this album. 'Showtime', 'Lasisi', and 'Aorieo' are red hot, while 'Honesty', changes the pace with an almost housey-feeling mellow groove, and the joyous title track recalls Highlife music and the roots of the Afrobeat movement."

SOFTL MUSIC (GERMANY):

MACHIDA, YOSHIO: Hypernatural #2 CD (SOM 101). $15.00

"Softl Music is an independent record label founded by Tom Steinle (Tomlab) and Andrés Krause (bmblab) in April 2001. Softl Music will start a line of releases focused on compositions at the crossing point of field-recordings, advanced electronics and acoustic environments. This line will be accompanied by a strong design identity." "My works are concerned with radiance, echoes and signs suggested by them in landscapes that are entwined with strata of traces (memories). They are also propositions of how we should grasp the natural world, and interpretations of them. The theme of Hypernatural #2 is transparent existence. There isn't whole nature in our consciousness. We can't realize all of the nature. Out of our consciousness, or in the unconsciousness area, there are many remarkable things. These tracks will give us the chance to reach to one of the instinctive areas. The important thing is not only listening the sounds but also feeling something behind the sounds." "Unlike many of these 'investigations' into area sonorities, Hypernatural feels genuinely transporative, opening up massive forest areas or tiny devotional paths when his bird chirps chime with bells and flutes." — The Wire

SOLARIS RECORDS (RUSSIAN FEDERATION):

VA: Omnipresence LP (SOL 003). $15.00

"Beautiful Russian electronica with Theremin sounds and light exotic atmo. Eastern soul." Limited stock.

GERMAN POPOV: Metametics - Aelita 2X7" (SOL 001). $17.00

"A new label called Solaris. And pretty unique...its an Russian label.. and as far as we know there aren't that many of them! The first release is a very limited 2x7" EP called Aelita and comes in nice handcrafted sleeves and features Omfo and his martian lullabie. Melodious electronic utopia inspired by the futuristic Russian silent movie Aelita (Protazanov, 1924). It also includes a three remixes done by notorious masters of electricity: Dub Tractor - a cluster of floating pulsations, Metametics - a harvest of abstract, quantize free harmonys and CiM-creator of spaces and surfaces."

SOLEILMOON RECORDINGS:

RICE, BOYD: Presents: Music for Pussycats CD (CAD 013CD). $13.00

Girl Group compilation from 2001, repressed. "These songs literally constitute the soundtrack of my life, going back to age 16 or perhaps earlier. It never ceases to amaze me that when I encounter aficionados of girl pop, none of them have ever heard of singers like Robbie Winston, Susan Rafey, Diane Ray, or most of the others on this comp-all women who I feel have contributed works equal (if not superior) to the best the genre has to offer. These singers, and the songs they've recorded, have long occupied a special place in my heart. And the knowledge that I was listening to songs that virtually no one else seemed to know of, afforded me a peculiar kind of thrill. A mentor of mine once told me that the power of forgotten music, is that when you're perhaps the only person in the world listening to it, it's as though it's yours alone. Consequently, the experience of something magical becomes ever more magical. For going on 25 years, I've shared these songs with everyone close to me, all the while wishing that everyone interested in this type of music could be exposed to them. As much as I loved keeping these songs more or less to myself, I always had an odd sort of melancholy that they were never the huge hits I'd felt they deserved to be. In a better world each of these songs would have been a chart-topper, and the girls who sang them still playing sold out concerts in Vegas. I've spent years trying to track down some of these singers, and even the more well known among them (such as Priscilla Paris) seem to have vanished into thin air. But I didn't want their memory-or music-to vanish, so I compiled this CD as a sort of tribute to them. They, and others like them, may have missed out on the glory and rewards that they so sorely deserved; yet they created something uniquely enduring and endearing. And it deserves to endure. So I share it here with you, dear listener..." — Boyd Rice.

LEGENDARY PINK DOTS, THE: Live at La Luna DVD (SOL 001DVD). $13.00

"DVD reissue of the Legendary Pink Dots' first and only official live video recording. Recorded in 1997 near the end of their Hallway of the Gods tour of Canada and America, and originally issued in VHS format in 1998, Live at La Luna reveals like never before the magical atmosphere of sound and light created by Edward Ka-Spel and his talented crew. Captured by a pair of roving cameramen and a center camera filming from the balcony, the performance is presented as an ever-evolving collage of music and faces, from the keyboards of The Silverman to the saxophone flourishes of Niels van Hoorn, from the rhythm-n-bass section of Ryan Moore (Twilight Circus Dub Sound System) and Edwin von Trippenhoff to the inimitable vocals of Edward Ka-Spel." It runs 60 minutes. NTSC Region 0.
