"Acid Mothers Temple and Important Records have decided to release the complete Magical Power From Mars in its entirety with the addition of the fourth and final track 'Aladdin Kane.' Magical Power From Mars comes housed with completely new front and back art and no expense was spared on more 3D lenticular covers for the front. This is the complete album available for the first time in its entirety. Magical Power From Mars is an album full of epic statements from the Acid Mothers. Each track has an average length of 17:27 (we did the math) and each track has its own unique musical ideals and arrangements which stand out in the Acid Mothers diverse catalog. Makoto Kawabata and crew successfully set out to create an album unique in its look and sound and were extremely successful in the execution of that goal." Previously issued as 3 separate EPs, now all out of print.

DAWSON, KIMYA: Knock Knock Who? CD (IMPREC 018). $11.00

"On break from Rough Trade and her band The Moldy Peaches, our friend Kimya finds herself at home on Important Records releasing two full length albums at once. Both albums are full of moving original folk songs about Atari 2600's, love, growing up, growing old, overcoming hardships and Matlock. Kimya is one of the most genuine voices in modern music and the superstar of NYC's Anti-Folk scene. Both solo albums were recorded after her Rough Trade solo debut. Knock Knock Who? and My Cute Fiend Sweet Princess find Kimya stronger and more confident than before, creating more powerful records every time."

DAWSON, KIMYA: My Cute Fiend Sweet Princess CD (IMPREC 019). $11.00

"Obviously, both of Kimya Dawson's solo albums are highly recommended to fans of the Moldy Peaches, but don't expect sex and drug jokes, these albums are more serious, transcending the novelty and humor of the Peaches. Embracing nostalgia, melancholy and sincerity, Kimya proves to be as unique as she is brilliant, creating two albums both compelling and charismatic. My Cute Fiend Sweet Princess is an instant Anti-Folk classic."

MERZBOW: Last Of Analog Sessions 3CD BOX (IMPREC 022/4). $24.00

"Last Of The Analog Sessions is a three CD box set compiling Merzbow's final three albums recorded entirely on analog equipment. These albums sat unreleased until now and mark a historic compositional change in the world of Merzbow. Upon completion of these three albums Masami Akita traded his analog equipment for an Apple laptop which he has been composing on ever since. This change in equipment marks a change in sound and a whole new period for Merzbow. This box set documents the end of one era and the beginning of another. The first 1000 copies include an embroidered Merzbow Analog Sessions patch. Each CD is packed in an LP mini jacket featuring cover art by Masami Akita. The entire package is housed in a deluxe silver foil-printed box featuring the EMS Synthi, one of Akita's primary instruments during Merzbow's analog era."

MUSLIMGAUZE: Zuriff Moussa LP (IMPREC 025). $14.00

While Staalplaat gears up to reissue this highly sought after Muslimgaule gem on compact disc, Important Records is excited to release the limited edition of 1000 vinyl edition. "Instead of the drones and mostly beatless atmospheres of many previous Muslimgaule recordings, Zuriff Moussa presents quite a danceable switch for Bryn Jones. Dedicated to a Palestinian martyr, the album sounds like a cleaner version of Techno Animal, with Eastern influences instead of dub. For messed-up beat fans who are able to find it, Zuriff Moussa is close to a crucial purchase." — All Music Guide.

SPACE MACHINE: 3 CD (IMPREC 026CD). $12.00

"Space Machine is Yamazaki Maso's solo synth-psych side project. This single CD release includes both the Space Machine 3 studio sessions as well as Space Machine live at Big Cat in Osaka, Japan with Makoto Kawabata of The Acid Mothers Temple. From around 1998 Maso Yamazaki started to incorporate trippy, spacy electronic elements into Masonna performances. In order to better pursue these elements alone, he started Space Machine in 2000, his self-labeled 'analog electronic cosmic sound project'. For as long as he had been performing under the Masonna moniker, Yamazaki had been ardent fan of early electronic music from the 50s and 60s, and in order to research the impact that electronic sounds had upon the spiritual lineage audible in sixties US and British psychedelic music and seventies krautrock, Yamazaki began collecting analog synthesizers and vintage electronic equipment. He continuously experimented with these instruments in his home studio, and while groping towards an understanding he discovered a new direction for his own music, a direction different from his work as Masonna."

HAFLETRIO, THE: Kisses With Both Hands From Gods Little Toy CD (IMPREC 027CD). $10.00

"From the ashes of several points consumed by an inner flame, a construction to rekindle the embers left by A Small Child Dreams Of Voiding The Plague. Recorded in Perceptivision(tm), using the latest in emotional resonance techniques, never has a small piece of plastic done so much to move hydrogens to a higher rate of vibration." — Andrew McKenzie. Limited edition of 500 housed in deluxe 3 panel screen printed jackets.

ANP (ABSOLUT NULL PUNKT): Live In Japan CD (IMPREC 029CD). $10.00

"ANP (Absolut Null Punkt) was originally formed in 1984 by KK.Null (before he started his progressive hardcore rock trio Zeni Geva) and Seijiro Murayama (founding drummer of Keiji Haino's Fushitsusha). Live In Japan was recorded at dates between December and February 2003 in Osaka as well as Tokyo. The live setting is a perfect showcase for ANP's diverse inspirations and unique approach to creating music. An echoing chamber of stark, pummeling fusion is created by combining strong elements of free jazz, heavy rock, industrial noise, glitch and free improvisation dynamics."

FAHEY, JOHN: Hitomi 2LP (IMPREC 030LP). $22.00

"John Fahey's final record released in his lifetime was the discrete album titled Hitomi. Previously available on CD only, Hitomi finds Fahey at peace with all his musical phases, working them together with a frail, fragile aesthetic supported by various reverb, echo and digital delays. Fahey creates a stark, naked sound which is 100% Fahey at its core. Important Records is proud to release John Fahey's Hitomi album pressed on double 180 gram virgin vinyl and housed in a deluxe tip-on heavy duty gatefold jacket. This is a limited edition release."

DAWSON, KIMYA: My Cute Fiend Sweet Princess LP (IMPREC 031LP). $12.00

"Limited edition of 500 vinyl version. Obviously, both of Kimya Dawson's solo albums are highly recommended to fans of the Moldy Peaches, but don't expect sex and drug jokes, these albums are more serious, transcending the novelty and humor of the Peaches. Embracing nostalgia, melancholy and sincerity, Kimya proves to be as unique as she is brilliant, creating two albums both compelling and charismatic. My Cute Fiend Sweet Princess is an instant Anti-Folk classic."

DAWSON, KIMYA: Knock Knock Who? LP (IMPREC 032LP). $12.00

"Vinyl version limited to 500 copies. On break from Rough Trade and her band The Moldy Peaches, our friend Kimya finds herself at home on Important Records releasing two full length albums at once. Both albums are full of moving original folk songs about Atari 2600's, love, growing up, growing old, overcoming hardships and Matlock . Kimya is one of the most genuine voices in modern music and the superstar of NYC's Anti-Folk scene."

FE-MAIL: Sykkub Fra Hælvete (Sewing Club From Hell) CD (IMPREC 033). $12.00

"Out of Norway comes the most exciting noise LP I've heard to date. These two women romp thru stimulating noise compositions fresh and clean w/ a distinct Scandinavian frost. But there's always an undercurrent of warm embrace, sweet and masterful." — Thurston Moore. Already an incontestable figure of the Scandinavian music scene, Maja Ratkje follows the release of her stunning first solo album, Voice (Rune Grammaphone), with Fe-Mail. A compulsive musician who, beside her main activity as part of all-female avant-garde free-improvisation quartet Spunk, is, at only 29, a lecturer in composition at the Norwegian University of Science and Technology, a world-renowned contemporary composer, an impressive singer and accomplished musician. Together with fellow Spunk-ette Hild Sofie Tafjord, Ratkje improvises with analogue electronic gear, samplers, voice, harmonica, and miscellaneous acoustic instruments to shape a more defined and delicate, if such a word can in any way define the realm in which Fe-mail evolve, series of soundscapes."

KING MISSILE III: Royal Lunch CD (IMPREC 034EP). $12.50

"The notoriously outspoken and eloquently sardonic John S. Hall is back with the third incarnation of King Missile and this time his unrelenting lyrical avant-poetry/spoken-wordism is angry, irreverently subversive and politically charged. Though not the only topic on the album, Hall has taken aim at the Bush administration and Royal Lunch is a direct shot at the heart of the monster. Royal Lunch has the feel of an America on the brink of disaster, the exact climate the album was written in, and as always, John S. Hall channels the socio-political climate of the globe, mixing in his slanted wit, creating a brilliantly acrimonious masterwork."

P-ORRIDGE, GENESIS: When I Was Young CD (IMPREC 035CD). $13.50

"As the world awaits the remarkable reunion of Throbbing Gristle and a subsequent studio album from the group, this surprise full length from Throbbing Gristle and Psychic TV founder Genesis P-Orridge, and produced by Astrid Monroe, has been slowly coming to fruition and it arrives with perfect timing. The true identity of Astrid Monroe has been kept a secret from all parties involved in the release of this CD. His production work is the only indication we have of who this gifted artist could possibly be. Slow, deliberate and lushly orchestrated, the eccentric instrumentation swirls pensively around audio tracks created by Genesis P-Orridge almost as if P-Orridge was the leader of a more adventurous Portishead or possibly even Massive Attack. Dark and dreamy, When I Was Young is a surprisingly unique addition to the P-Orridge catalog. It's emphasis on P-Orridge's unique word play, voice and announcement create an eloquently pronounced lyrical and music journey."

BARBEZ: Barbez CD (IMPREC 036). $12.50

"Imagine Kurt Veill chewing sausages with the Residents underneath the Williamsburg Bridge while watching a Russian wedding dance and you have some approximation of Barbez, Brooklyn's one-of-a-kind post-cabaret punk chamber ensemble. Provoked by such musics as Slavic folksong, Argentine tango, post-war classical and pre-MTV punk, Barbez wrings these disparate worlds into the band's own unique soundscape."

MAKOTO, KAWABATA: O Si Amos A Sighire A Essere Duas Umbras? CD (IMPREC 037). $12.50

"In tribute to Sardegna where Kawabata's creative life recently achieved a highly influential spiritual climax. According to Kawabata, these recordings represent one of the most important moments in his life. While in Sardegna he found his 'cosmos.' At some point on his trip, a new cosmos opened for him and he received 'many wonderful vibrations' from these cosmos. These are the very first of his works created after this transcendental experience. Hearing and feeling these tracks it is apparent that Kawabata has been deeply spiritually affected since his last solo outing. O Si Amos A Essere Duas Umbras? is comprised of two epic, deeply meditative, spiritual and transcendental compositions."

DANGERS, JACK: Forbidden Planet Explored 2CD (IMPREC 038). $15.00

"You may know Jack as the founding member of the most experimental and influential group ever to hit the dance floor, Meat Beat Manifesto. His intensely elaborate work with Meat Beat Manifesto. This double CD release contains Jack's now famous soundtrack for the legendary sci-fi film Forbidden Planet. As a special bonus, Forbidden Planet Explored contains a second cd full of sci-fi sound effects inspired by the BBC Radiophonic Workshop."

IMPRESARIO (UK):

BRAIN DONOR: Get Off Your Pretty Face 7" (IMP 009). $5.00

Limited 7" picture disc version.

BRAIN DONOR: Get Off Your Pretty Face CD (IMP 009 CD). $8.00

"Brain Donor is a. Stuporgroup. Brain Donor is Julian Cope and two members of Spiritualized, Doggen and Kevlar. Speed metal band playing ballads is a Brain Donor. Van Halen jamming with a Hoover is a Brain Donor. Japanese noise-rock playing Troggs is a Brain Donor. U-gotta listen Donor just know it."

BRAIN DONOR: Love, Peace & F**k CD (IMP ODDCD001). $19.00

"Brian Donor is Julian Cope and Dogman and Kevlar from Spiritualized. Thighpaulsandra provides the synthesization. Brain Donor is a Stuporgroup. Limited Edition of 5000 CDs, packaged in a fluorescent green slipcase." Julian Cope offers a bit more in the way of explanation: "Brain Donor employs pure sound. It's not intellectual — it is headbanging. In a state of laughing and stupefied disbelief, the human re-enters a pre-teen, non-intellectual state of dancing and delight. I didn't see Donor as anything more than the natural summation of all things Shamanic and Odinson and very very human.. Even the Brain Donor make-up was for real, and so was the chewing - like Klaus Schultze's lipstick on the Join Inn album, it was done to strike an immediate chord of otherness."

IMPROVISED MUSIC FROM JAPAN (JAPAN):

VA: Extra 2003 BOOK/2CD (IMJ 302/3). $21.00

"Bilingual English-Japanese. 128 pages in total. This is a special issue supplementing the well-received Improvvised Music From Japan 2002-2003 (IMJ-301), the launch issue of an annual magazine (published last December). While the annual magazine provides an overview of the year's trends, each Extra will include an expansive special feature on a particular theme. The special feature of IMJ Extra 2003 is 'Improv's New Waves,' a close look at Japan's young improvisers (with an emphasis on electronics musicians). It contains a comprehensive essay by music critic Yoshio Otani, and interviews of artists like Taku Unami, com-yas and Tetsuro Yasunaga, BusRatch, Takefumi Naoshima, Kazumi Namba, asuna, and nentegaine, as well as articles on labels associated with these artists—Hibari Music, commune-disc, cubic music, and Flyrec. In addition to the special feature, Extra includes interviews of Ami Yoshida, Shoji Hano, and Katsura Yamauchi; a conversation between Tetuzi Akiyama and Toshimaru Nakamura; and a wealth of CD reviews. The two accompanying CDs contain 17 tracks by musicians presented in the special feature (asuna, Masafumi Ezaki, Takefumi Naoshima, Kazuhiro Kinoshita, Ju Muraoka, Masahide Tokunaga, DJ Peaky, DILL, Taku Unami, Taku Hannoda, nentegaine, aen, Yoichiro Shin, Kazumi Namba, Takumi Toki, Teruyuki Ohshima, and BusRatch), plus two bonus tracks—a sax solo by Katsura Yamauchi, and a duo by Shoji Hano and Masaharu Shoji (19 tracks in all)."

NAKAMURA/TETUZI AKIYAMA, TOSHIMARU: Meeting At Off Site Vol. 1 CD (IMJ 501). $17.00

"Toshimaru Nakamura (no-input mixing board), Tetuzi Akiyama (guitar, turntable, contact microphones). With Ami Yoshida (voice), Brett Lerner (amplified ukelin), Thomas Ankersmit (sax), Taku Sugimoto (guitar), Tetsuro Yasunaga (electronics), Toshihiro Koike (trombone), Utah Kawasaki (synthesizer), Jason Roeke (bass), Yoshihide Otomo (guitar), Gregor Hotz (sax), Michel Henritzi (MD players, electronics), Sachiko M (sampler with sinewave), and Bruno Meillier (synthesizer, electronics), Seymour Wright (sax)."

OTOMO, YOSHIHIDE: Ensemble Cathode CD (IMJ 502). $17.00

"Taku Sugimoto: electric guitar, Tetuzi Akiyama: turntable without records, contact microphones, Yasuhiro Yoshigaki: waterphone, Kumiko Takara: snare drum, Masahiro Uemura: bells, Ami Yoshida: voice, Itoken: crotales, Mari Furuta: snare drum, Yoshimitsu Ichiraku: cymbal with bow, Sachiko M: sine waves, contact microphone, Yoko Nishi: prepared 17-string koto, Andrea Neumann: inside piano, Yoshihide Otomo: turntable." "This album was recorded intermittently between May 2001 and March 2002. Most of the tracks were recorded almost like live performances...In terms of musical concept, these pieces are located somewhere between Cathode and Anode. Although the musicians basically improvised, they were given a fairly limited amount of freedom. Depending on how you look at it, however, it could also be said that they were given a great deal of freedom. The pieces were created in such a way that the direction of the whole would not be determined by the will of any one musician or composer. This is similar to the way in which Anode was created. Like all of my works so far, none of these pieces could have been realized without the improvisational and compositional skills of the participating musicians. Thus, they are not 'composed works' in the narrow sense given to this term by traditional Western music; nor can they, in my view, be categorized simply as improvised music. All I can say is that for me, this is the most natural way to make music. The same goes for any type of work I do—jazz, turntable and guitar solos, and so on." - Otomo Yoshihide.

MATTHEWS/ANDREA NEUMANN/SACHIKO M, KAFFE: In Case Of Fire Take The Stairs

CD (IMJ 503). $17.00

Kaffe Matthews (laptop), Andrea Neumann (inside piano), Sachiko M (sinewaves, contact microphones). Recorded live in Tokyo, 3/17/02. "Although I and II include two and three tracks, respectively, each is a single work. They are divided into multiple tracks for listeners' convenience. Kaffe Matthews created her sound by live-sampling and processing her own and the other musicians' sounds as they played."

YOSHIDA, AMI: Tiger Thrush CD (IMJ 504). $16.00

"The long-awaited solo album of amazing 'howling voice' performer Ami Yoshida is finally here. It's hard to believe Yoshida's sounds, with their myriad nuances, are those of a human voice — they could easily be mistaken for minute digital noises. Over the past several years, this artist's work — including projects with Yoshihide Otomo (guitar, turntable); and the duos Cosmos, with Sachiko M (sinewaves), and Astro Twin, with Utah Kawasaki (analog synthesizer) — has garnered considerable attention on the improvised music scene both inside and outside Japan. Her 1997 release Spiritual Voice was a collaboration with the CD's producer, Tamaru (bass guitar, effects), so this is essentially Yoshida's first solo album. Consisting of 99 tracks, Tiger Thrush is a compendium of her extraordinary vocal powers. In her own words, it's 'like a pictorial dictionary, arranged by category, of the sounds [she is] currently able to produce.'"

HANO, SHOJI: 48 CD (IMJ 505). $17.00

"Drummer Shoji Hano began his performing career in the '80s, playing with artists like Toshinori Kondo (trumpet) and Kaoru Abe (alto sax, etc.). Since his first European tour in 1990, he has played in many countries and collaborated with a wide range of musicians. Some of Hano's performances with sax players Peter Brotzmann of Germany and the late Werner Ludi of Switzerland, American bassist William Parker, English guitarist Derek Bailey, etc., have been recorded on CD. As evidenced by his great collaboration with power sax player Brotzmann, Hano's drumming, with its amazing strength and speed, is situated firmly in the realm of free improvisation and free jazz; but it also has roots in the rhythmic style of the Kokura taiko drumming he grew up hearing at local festivals in his native Kokura, Kyushu. Hano has established an incomparable and absolutely inimitable style, and the clearest expression of his unique approach is undoubtedly in the drum solo. This performance was recorded live in March of this year at Bin Spark in Tokyo. It is Hano's first all-drum-solo album, and a superior document of the full range of his talent."

"Tetuzi Akiyama plays amplified acoustic guitar on all tracks except #2 (turntable and air duster), and #7 (electric bass). Toshimaru Nakamura plays no-input mixing board on all tracks except #7 (tabletop guitar). Gallery Off Site in Yoyogi, Tokyo — one of the world's most well known venues for performance of the new improvised music. Off Site's core event is the monthly improvisation series 'Meeting at Off Site', established and still hosted by Tetuzi Akiyama and Toshimaru Nakamura. Following the critical success (both domestic and international) of Vol. 1, released last year, this second CD of live recordings documents the period between December 2001 and May 2002. Like the first volume, it consists of excerpts from concerts by the two Meeting hosts, plus one or two guest musicians. The difference is that here, the excerpts are fewer and longer, allowing the listener to better appreciate each musician's unique style. This CD documents the musical evolution — which one might even call the Off Site sound — characterized by extreme quietness and sparsity of sound. This is an indispensable record of the improvised music avant-garde currently gaining worldwide attention."

TANAKA, YUMIKO: Tayutauta CD (IMJ 507). $19.00

Yumiko Tanaka (Futozao Shamisen, vocal). "Yumiko Tanaka made her mark as a traditional shamisen artist specializing in the female-school gidayu style. Tanaka was a member of Otomo Yoshihide's Ground-Zero in 1996-'97, and she is currently involved in a number of fields, ranging from contemporary classical music to free improvisation to avant-garde theater. Among her many international activities, one of the most notable is her participation — as both musician and actress — in German composer Heiner Goebbels' acclaimed play Hashirigaki (now on a world tour). Surprisingly, this energetic and multi-faceted musician has to date released no solo or leader recordings — making this collection of 10 totally improvised solo works a debut CD of sorts. On Tayutauta, Tanaka uses the gidayu shamisen in ways that leave traditional playing methods far behind. Here, the instrument's characteristic flavor is nowhere to be found. The performances — which incorporate such techniques as plucking, bowing, and the use of 'prepared' objects — are calm and sedate, but suffused with a strong feeling of cohesion backed by Tanaka's distinctive musical stance and sensibility. This is improvised music of rare quality."

RAKU SUGIFATTI (RADU MALFATTI AND TAKU SUGIMOTO): Futatsu 2 CD (IMJ 508/9). $24.00

"Vienna resident Radu Malfatti, who turns 60 in December, is a trombonist and composer with a long and impressive career. In the nineties he established the unique compositional/improvisational style, using very few sounds, that he continues to develop. Thirty-something guitarist Taku Sugimoto has since the late nineties followed a similar path, pursuing a playing style marked by extreme sonic sparseness. His work has received critical acclaim in Japan and abroad and has greatly influenced many young Japanese musicians. Their 20-plus-year age difference notwithstanding, these two artists have made a powerful impact with their duo performances in Austria and their first Japan tour last December 2002. Futatsu is a two-CD set bringing together one studio piece and two live-performance recordings. The former is a mix (by Malfatti) of recordings the two made separately this year in Tokyo and Vienna. The live recordings are of performances that took place in 2003 in Vienna and on the 2002 Japan tour. In the studio work, sounds are set down one by one on a background of absolute silence. Despite settings that take in background noise and the sound of passing cars, their live performances are as quiet as ever. This amazing recording will give you a new perspective on the relationship between sound and silence."

ONDA, AKI: Bon Voyage! CD (IMJ 510). $17.00

"Aki Onda's many activities since the nineties have included participating in the group Audio Sports, with Eye Yamatsuka and Nobukazu Takemura, and releasing albums under his own name, as well as producing recordings by numerous musicians in Japan and other countries. For three years beginning in 2000, Onda was a composer in residence at Dartmouth College (in New Hampshire). He recently shifted his base of activity to New York, where he is working with cassette recorders and electronics to create highly abstract, original works of music. To make this album, Onda spent two years editing a huge collection of field recordings that he'd amassed over a 14-year period (between 1988 and 2002), randomly taping sounds in locations around the world. To Onda, this is both a document and a memory of a personal journey. Various sounds—a city's hustle and bustle, the chirping of birds, music being played, children's voices—are layered one atop another. Except for the last track, there is little in the way of what would normally be called a 'work of music.' On the other hand, no work digs so painfully deeply into the interior of the artist Onda."

YOSHIDE/PARK JE CHUN/MI YEON, OTOMO: Loose Community CD (IMJ 511). $17.00

"Otomo Yoshihide (turntables, guitar) is active on a worldwide scale in such fields as free improvisation, composition, and film music. On a trip to Seoul in May of 2002, Otomo made a studio recording with Seoul musicians Park Je Chun (percussion) and Mi Yeon (piano). Known as a brilliant student of Kang Tae Hwan, the pioneer of the Korean improvised music scene, Park was formerly a member of Kang's band. Mi Yeon, an artist firmly grounded in contemporary classical music, has collaborated with Park for a number of years. Some of the five works on this CD are partially overdubbed with separately recorded improvisations by Gunter Muller (electronics, selected drums), Sachiko M (sine waves), and Yumiko Tanaka (futozao shamisen). This is Otomo's first trio project with percussion and piano, as well as one of his rare collaborations with Korean musicians. The tension-filled performances are superb. This uniquely fascinating recording should not be missed."

BROTZMANN/SHOJI HANO, PETER: Funny Rat CD (IMJ 512). $17.00

"Free jazz drummer Shoji Hano and German saxophone giant/leading European free improviser Peter Brotzmann first met in Japan in the early eighties. In 1990 Hano went to Europe for the first time and played with Brotzmann; then he invited Brotzmann to Japan for a duo tour in fall '91. This album is the complete recording of a concert they gave during that tour, at Aku Aku in Tsukuba. In '92 Hano released (on his label EGG) a cassette tape of that performance, with the same title, omitting one of the pieces played in the concert. The omitted number is restored on this CD release (track four), making for a total of five pieces. Since that tour Hano and Brotzmann have continued to play together frequently. This valuable recording captures the powerful collaboration of that early period."

NAKAMURA, TOSHIMARU: Side Guitar CD (IMJ 513). $18.00

"Toshimaru Nakamura's main instrument of late has been what he calls the 'no-input mixing board.' Rather than input external sound sources into the mixer, he treats it as a self-contained instrument by controlling its internal feedback — the result being a truly original performance style. Over the past four years, Nakamura has released the solo NIMB CDs No-Input Mixing Board (on the Zero Gravity label), No-Input Mixing Board 2 (a bruit secret), Vehicle (cubic music), and No-Input Mixing Board [3] (Alcohol). These releases and his many live performances in Japan and abroad have been widely acclaimed. But Nakamura started out as a guitarist, and still plays his guitar from time to time. Side Guitar is the solo guitar album he's been itching to make. The title comes from the term used in the sixties and seventies, in the heyday of Japanese 'Group Sounds' bands, for backup — or rhythm — guitar players. This is Nakamura's homage to the 'side guitar' playing he once aspired to. Don't be misled, however, by the album title, or by the track title 'Rhythm Guitar.' This is still the Nakamura of the no-input mixing board: the sound, consisting mainly of feedback from the guitar, is uniquely abstract. As you listen, you'll catch sight of a musician who remembers his 'side guitar' — idolizing self of 30 years ago as he pursues the joy of making sound."

BENNINK/KAZUO IMAI, HAN: Across The Desert CD (IMJ 514). $18.00

"European free jazz/free improvisation pioneer Han Bennink (drums) made this studio recording with Kazuo Imai (guitar) in Tokyo in May of 2002. Imai, who in the '70s studied with Masayuki Takayanagi and Takehisa Kosugi, currently performs both on his own and with the annual five-member collective improvisation project Marginal Consort. Across the Desert contains nine duo pieces. Imai plays both acoustic and electric guitar while Bennink delivers strong, constantly changing rhythms. Here are two musicians who know their instruments inside out. Their unique affinity is powerfully conveyed in these dynamic exchanges."

NAKAMURA/TETUZI AKIYAMA, TOSHIMARU: Meeting at Off Site Vol. 3 CD (IMJ 515). $18.00

"Gallery Off Site in Yoyogi, Tokyo, is one of the world's most well known venues for new improvised music. Meeting at Off Site, the monthly improvisational performance series hosted by Tetuzi Akiyama and Toshimaru Nakamura, has in recent years been Off Site's main event. The six tracks on this CD are edited recordings of the Meetings of May through October, 2002. This is the final collection of original-format Meetings, in which hosts Akiyama and Nakamura improvised with one or two guest musicians from Japan or overseas. (Subsequently, the format was changed to a solo session by a guest musician.) In other words, it is the final segment of a trilogy. Here is the 'Off Site sound,' characterized by extreme quietness and sparsity of sound. As a document of internationally recognized cutting-edge improvised music, Meeting at Off Site Vol. 3 should not be missed. Guest musicians are Hakon Kornstad, Masafumi Ezaki, o.blaat, Sachiko M, Oren Ambarchi, Keiichi Sugimoto, Paul Hood, and Gunter Muller."

BENNETT, SAMM: Secrets of Teaching Yourself Music CD (IMJ 516). $19.00

Samm Bennett (Korg WaveDrum, vibrators and contact mics, Korg ER-1, Alesis AirSynth, Sams VL-Tone, CD player, Bias, bumble ball, can, gong, beepers, effectors and crank-toy with portable karaoke mic). "Percussionist Sam Bennett was active on the New York improvised music scene in the '80s and '90s. Later he moved to Tokyo, where he's been involved in multidisciplinary projects including SKIST (his duo with Haruna Ito) and R.U.B. (his trio with Kazuhisa Uchihashi and Ned Rothenberg). From early on, Bennett has explored the fusion of acoustic and electronic. At the same time, he's employed a variety of materials — electronic drums like the Korg WaveDrum (his main instrument), household products, toys and so on — in the creation of a highly original, richly colored sound that subtly combines humor and seriousness. While the playful title suggests that anyone, regardless of talent or experience, can enjoy making music with familiar objects, what this album of 19 tracks (almost all live recordings) makes abundantly clear are Bennett's fine musicianship and excellent taste. Bennett has released quite a few leader and co-leader recordings, but this is only his second solo album to date — his first since 1984. It's worth the 20-year wait."

M, SACHIKO: Bar Sachiko CD (IMJ 517). $19.00

Sachiko M with two sinewaves on one empty sampler. "Sachiko M is a musician who uses the sampler as an instrument. Rather than apply the device's original function of sampling recorded material, she makes music using nothing but its internal test tone sine waves. Her approach to this radically minimalistic sound and meticulously thorough music has created a sensation worldwide. Currently one of the most sought-after improvisers on the scene, Sachiko M collaborates with influential artists both inside and outside Japan. Her projects include Filament, a duo with Otomo Yoshihide, and Cosmos, a duo with Ami Yoshida. This is Sachiko M's third solo album, following Sine Wave Solo (Amoebic) and Derive (Noise Asia). While the two earlier recordings are made up entirely of short tracks, Bar Sachiko is a single 60-minute performance using just two sine waves. A shocking creation."

OKURA, MASAHIKO: Time Service CD (IMJ 518). $19.00

"Over the past few years, alto sax player Masahiko Okura has led an astonishingly full and varied musical life. Active as a soloist, as leader of the jazz-rock band Gnu, and as a member of the improvisational trio Bject (with Tetuzi Akiyama and Utah Kawasaki), he also collaborates with many other improvisers, including Otomo Yoshihide, Taku Sugimoto, Ami Yoshida, Axel Dörner, Alessandro Bosetti, Werner Dafeldecker, and Günter Müller. With the recent addition to his repertoire of two more instruments — the bass clarinet and the 'tube,' a reed instrument of his own invention made from a tube and a mouthpiece — he has further enriched his musical vocabulary. Okura has released three CDs with Gnu and two with Bjct. Time Service is his very first solo album. None of its six tracks contain the slightest trace of Gnu's pop sensibility. This is a highly abstract work that brings out the subtle tones and resonance of the alto sax, bass clarinet, and tube, and illuminates Okura's unique musicianship. A masterpiece."

AKIYAMA AND MARTIN NG, TETUZI: Oimacta CD (IMJ 519). $19.00

"Tetuzi Akiyama has in recent years attracted tremendous interest on the Japanese and international improvised music scenes. In addition to performing many times in Europe, America, Australia, and New Zealand, he's been releasing a steady stream of solo and group recordings on these countries' labels. Oimacta, a duo album he recorded in a Sydney studio with Martin Ng (turntable feedback), promises to become one of his most widely recognized works. Akiyama's instrument here is the acoustic guitar. Ng, who lived in Sydney at the time of recording and has since moved to the U.S., is known for his duo album with Sydney guitarist Oren Ambarchi, and for his participation, along with Martin Tétrault and Otomo Yoshihide, in the 'Turntable Hell' UK tour of May '02. If you didn't know beforehand what instruments the musicians were playing on these four tracks, you'd be hard put to identify the sources of their sound. Its rich colors, and the mysterious atmosphere it evokes, are awe-inspiring."

IN POSSIBLE (FRANCE):

ART ZOYD: Faust CD (AZ 2001). $15.00

"Following the success of Nosferatu, Art Zoyd created a new musical score for another masterpiece of Mumm: Faust. This creation is renowned as one of the most extreme ever created by Art Zoyd. Composed in 1993. Remastered."

ART ZOYD: Nosferatu CD (AZ 2002). $15.00

"In 1988, legendary avant-garde group Art Zoyd composed a musical score to accompany the movie of FW Mumau. This composition was a new experience for Art Zoyd, and it turned out to be an incredible success: 5 years of international touring clng ans de tournées devant 60000 personnes, from New York to Moscow, Stockholm to Rome. This is available on CD at last. Very awaited. Music by Gerard Hourbette & Thierry Zabolteft. Remastered. On top of the 18 sequences of Nosferatu this CD also features the music composed in 1987 by Gerard Hourbette & T. Zabolteft for the ballet of the Vorgänge Bewegungstheater of Salzburg."

ART ZOYD: u.Bique CD (OCD 01). $15.00

"The French veterans of experimental symphonic music are back with a new project based on a symphonic interpretation of Philip K Dick's novel Ubik. As usual with Art Zoyd this piece is clearly about death & sonic illusions. This was recorded with the usual Art Zoyd line and with 50 part time musicians." Recorded in 2000.

IN TONE MUSIC:

BROTMANN, WILLIAM PARKER & MICHAEL WERTMÜLLER, PETER: Nothung CD (INTONE 005 CD). $12.50

"Peter Brötzmann (saxophone, clarinet, tarogato), William Parker (double bass), Michael Wertmüller (percussion). Recorded live at the Knitting Factory, New York City, June 1, 2001. Nothung is a scorching excursion into the deep dynamic realms of creative free improvisation. The trio work as one to create an awe-inspiring energy and excitement in solos and interplay. Fans will delight in the crisp digital recording that captures every nuance of this very special night at the Knitting Factory in New York City."

TOKYO 77: Tokyo 77 CD (INTONE 008 CD). $13.00

Tokyo 77 = George Budd, Rick Cox, Thomas Newman, Chas Smith. "Tokyo 77 survey an electro-acoustic terrain haunted by a dark beauty. Exploring the intersections of New Music and Free Improvisation, they come armed with a complex assortment of instruments both conventional — piano, violin, alto sax and unconventional — Budd Box (a melange of wood and metal pieces attached to a resonator), prepared guitar (an electric guitar whose strings are braided with metal strips and then played with sponges and glass slides), as well as the Pez-eater and Guitazilla (unique, hand-crafted sound generators fabricated by master instrument maker Chas Smith). Collectively and in real-time, Tokyo 77 take us on a journey through a soundscape of fleeting sonic images, of shifting textures and densities, of half-remembered thoughts, of mysterious voices speaking to us in tongues we cannot recognize yet whose meaning we grasp. Intriguingly matrixed by a hushed stillness at its core, Tokyo 77 present us with a music which is a provocative, introspective, and elusive union of opposites."

INA GRM (FRANCE):

SCHWARZ, JEAN: Quatre Saisons CD (INA 1004). $15.00

A recording of Goethe's Four Seasons text; "the soloist's voice is accompanied by electronic sounds combined with concrete and instrumental sounds treated on a computer ? sounds from nature and transformed orchestral sounds. Only German corresponded to the conditions I had set for myself ? expressionism, distance from the text (which does not need to be understood), musical language."

DUFOUR, DENIS: Notre Besoin de Consolation est Impossible CD (INA 1010). $15.00

A work for text (by Stig Dagerman, "a declaration of absolute despair") and electroacoustic backing.

LEJEUNE, JACQUES: Le Cantique des Cantiques CD (INA 1011). $15.00

One long piece ("The Song of Songs"), combines Egyptian erotic ditties, Hebrew, Lebanese and Transjordanian love songs and Syrian wedding chants that treat the couple as king and queen for the duration of the wedding fest," with the idea of transforming text into sounds. "His approach essentially reflects a preoccupation with analogies and image ambiguities, which he interprets in an essentially terratological polyfiguration closely associating the living with the abstract." Another intensely mind liberating vocal/electronic hybrid.

TERUGGI, DANIEL: Syrus/Sphaera CD (INA 1014). $15.00

Music for percussions and Syter (a real time digital processor, developed at INA GRM; it permits various possibilities for sound transformations and also permits sound synthesis and sampling).

KIENTZY, DANIEL: Sax-Computer CD (INA 2000). $15.00

Three long pieces for saxophone and tape, using the computer transformation program Syter. The composers are Daniel Teruggi, Jean-Claude Risset and Gilles Racot; the saxophone parts are performed by Daniel Kientzy. Gilles Racot's "Exultitudes" is the cosmic masterpiece here: "When I was in my teens, I liked to dream that it would be possible for me to make an interstellar journey one day. Racot probably had the same dream. But unlike me, he took off. Far, far off. Music is his rocket. And his galactic world is atoms, particles, the world of the infinitely small where at last the urge to see new places can be unlimited. The worlds he takes us to are by turns sinister, funny, attractive, repulsive and invariably filled with an internal traffic and chain of collisions. One thing is for sure: if the atoms that make up our good old human carcass behave the same way as Racot's particles, then clearly the external atomic wars that await will be terrifying. Fortunately, all this seems to be a somewhat confused dream, for sometimes, when a bell rings, we find ourselves on an alpine slope, not Sirius 4...in a nutshell, this film of Gilles Racot's is human, all too human." —Philip de la Croix.

REDOLFI, MICHEL: Appel d'Air CD (INA 2005). $15.00

Three electroacoustic works on the theme of music & painting. "Appel D'Air" consists of only flute sounds, but the processing is so extreme you'd never know it. "Jazz, D'après Matisse" was made up only using a few laboratory oscillators in order to obtain a palette of pure and contrasting waves," and is real nice and flitting. "Portrait of Jean-Paul Celea with Double Bass," consists of solo bass recordings and their processed partner.

MALEC, IVO: Doppio Coro 2CD (INA 2006/7). $30.00

A staggering collection of works by this Croatian/French composer. Includes the spectacular electroacoustic suite "Triola" (aka "Symphony For Myself"), which is one of those all-time isolation tank classics. Also included: "Luminetudes" (hectic solo magnetic tape work), "Reflects" (sounds related in character by vibration, quivering, oscillation, granulation), "Lumina" (for 12 strings and tape; "...one of the classics both of its author and of contemporary music... it is an active balance, an oscillation, with the keen feeling that an imbalance is always possible." —Michel Chion.

ROQUE ALSINA, CARLOS: Hinterland CD (INA 2009). $15.00

First CD on INA by this composer/pianist born in Argentina. "Hinterland" is a 29 minute piece for piano, percussion and tape. An epic constantly evolving work, with furious improv elements betwix piano and drums, sequenced by strange tape injections, lovely percussive ambience, vocal moans and other droning sonic strangeness. A unique and excellent addition to the INA catalog. "Entre Vents et Marées" is a good, short concrete piece. "Klavierstück VI" is a piece for piano and tape, performed by Alsina.

RACOT, GILLES: Subgestuel/Diffuences/Phonophonie CD (INA 2013). $15.00

"Collection of three contemporary electro-acoustic pieces ('Subgestuel', for six percussionists and tape (1991), 'Diffuences', for piano and tape (1994), and 'Phonophonie' for tape (1998)) from this GRM member, student of Pierre Schaeffer and Guy Reibel's who has also "contributed to the musical research activities of the IRCAM, in the Atelier de Recherches Instrumentales (1985 and taken part in the development of the QUATRON, the real-time synthesis computing system of the IMCA at AUCH (1989-1990)". — Hrvatski. On 'Diffuences': "The relationship between tape and piano is not the classical one between two instruments in concert, but rather a blending, a block of pianos! The title 'Diffuences' alludes to these two aspects of the composer's work, the writing and the treatment of sound from beginning to end; the most important thing being to establish a balance between these two approaches to composition, so that each may play a mutually dynamic role. Energy? — Albert Jacquards' idea of a torrent goes well with these ideas coursing along. And the joy of the torrent? It's up to you to listen..."

REIBEL, GUY: Choeurs Imaginaires CD (INA 2014). $15.00

"CD issue compiling three of Reibel's voice-themed works over the years: 'On eût dit des coups d'ailes' (an homage to Pierre Schaeffer from 1996 incorporating digital processing into a post-Penderecki/Ligeti landscape), 'Suite pour Edgar Poe' (a super-beleaguered setting of three poems from the Beaudelaire translations of Poe ('Nouvelles Histoires Extraordinaires') to concrete sound from 1973), and a section of 'Langages imaginaires' (also a grouping of poetry, in this case Rimbaud and Butor, and word-sound from 1981). Reibel's up there in my book with Parmegiani and Bayle as one of the chief architects of the digital-age INA sound and this serves as a fine introduction to his 'monde de bruit'. For those who don't mind a little human breath in their computer world." — Hrvatski.

PASCAL, MICHEL: Puzzle CD (INA 2015). $15.00

"An extension of the 'virtual orchestra' in which composer Pascal composes music out of gathered individual instrumental tones and lines (with the musicians never having met or convened in one space at the same time, natch). Participants include Vinko Globokar (trombone), Raymond Boni (Guitar), Barre Philips (Bass), Michel Godard (Tuba), Daniel Kientzy (Saxophone), Pierre Yves Artaud (Flute), etc... Similar in application to John Oswald's plunder-phononic construction of the free jazz quartet out of Steve Lacy and Cecil Taylor (etc...) solo recordings." — Hrvatski.

LEJEUNE, JACQUES: Messe Aux Oiseaux/Ave Maria CD (INA 2016). $15.00

"Classic 1986/87 electro-acoustic pieces from current GRM member (since 1969) Lejeune, previous CD version on GMVL now out of print. 'Messe' is based around transfigurations of the Roman Catholic mass replete with processed choral renderings and oscillating bird-song tones, separated into three parts ('Kyrie', 'Gloria-Credo', and 'Sanctus - Agnus Dei'). Ave Maria is a shorter vocal-derived piece. Mythical in certain parts, Lejeune's sound-world that is. Find out why." — Hrvatski.

PARMEGIANI, BERNARD: La Mémoire Des Sons CD (INA 2019). $15.00

AKA The Memory of Sounds. Features 3 works: "Capture Éphémère" (1967); "Sons-jeu" (1987); "La Mémoire des Sons" (2001). "Excepting some rare mixed pieces, Parmegiani's works as a whole take the form of music for 'fixedsounds', coming within the scope of the immense repertoire of electro-acoustic music. From his training in the art of mime and his experience as a sound engineer, Parmegiani has retained a taste for a hand-to-hand approach (sound/embodyment, as we could be tempted to say) with various sound mate-rials which he has developed throughout markedly diverse works." RE: "Capture Éphémère": "The beating of terror-stricken wings, gliding ascents, rockets, dull explosions: the fission of the fine powder of the sound is then recovered, in layers of 'captured', beating time: impossible stases of reso-nance ('fleeting' by their very nature ...) which however persist, beating out their miraculous cohesion: a magical effect even today: proof that it is not due to technique. Or: a sequence of utter loss, waste: an accumulation as Schaeffer would have said ('reiteration abounding in brief elements'; 'like a shower of stones dispersing...'), having the fluidity of a waterfall, with one hundred thousand elements interwoven in discontinuity, 'eccentric', generous, suffocating... Or: this furious vibration, which in its steep ascent, is imbued with a triumphant appearance of tireless virtuosity... And so many intimately interwoven composite sequences, as they advance, hurtling through space (and the Russian mountains ...) with seemingly inexhaustible energy; and marked several times, just before a silence, by the same small elegant asterisk. However, all of this (deafening volubility) is finally calmed by a short coda: where a movement to reduce and rarefy particles splits this mass in extremis into an ethereal shower of sparks, having the effect of a prolonged pause." — Jean-Christophe Thomas.

PARMEGIANI, BERNARD: De Natura Sonorum CD (INA 3001). $15.00

Classic 1975 recording of mostly quiet, resonating electronic sounds. "With the music of Bernard Parmegiani something in us is freed and comes out of passivity. This thing, which I know now was blocked without my knowing where, is the buzzing and Time within the flesh ? a humming of millions of closed mouths between the cells. What is the murmur made up of? The body develops a tongue in listening to this music, and there is within it great movement of the sound material... it is music that makes the organic breathe, lifts it up and stretches it... music that takes the ear 'beyond' work, but touching the inner side." ? Bernard Noel.

ZANESI, CHRISTIAN: Arkheion CD (INA 5001). $12.00

New series of CD EPs (in the 20-30 minute range); regular size CDs packaged in full color digipaks. "A tribute to the two emblematic figures from my musical planet: Karlheinz Stockhausen and Pierre Schaeffer. Based on interviews and archives unearthed in that tower of Babel, the INA." Two pieces composed 1994-96, which feature cut-up voice clips of the 2 composers, streamlined into Zanési's electroacoustic works. High quality and effective.

TERUGGI, DANIEL: Instants d'hiver — Summer Band CD (INA 5002). $12.00

This Teruggi CD consists of "Winter Instants" (ten different frames of sound) and "Summer Band" (for bandoneon and bandoneon images). "This work is a homage to the sound of my country and to all those that obtain from this portable organ called the bandoneon, a sound of an incredible beauty, conveying the fascination of its overlapped rhythms and the firuletes. A new acousmatic destiny opens up here for the bandoneon."

LEJEUNE, JACQUES: Pour Entrer et Sortir d'un Conte CD (INA 5004). $12.00

Latest CD by Lejeune, who has been a member of the GRM since 1969, and defines his music as "a person passing through a series of landscapes." "In his work the composer is guided by the act of reflection and the will to go on creating a personal oeuvre based on themes taken from everyday reality, sometimes from the sacred or from animal mythology, sometimes from burlesque or from critical satire, but always very much inspired by the mixture of images and figures, their metamorphoses and the resulting ambiguity."

LARIVIERE, REGIS RENOUD: Futaie/Tchernoziom CD (INA 5008). $12.00

Debut INA GRM CD by this young French composer, featuring 2 works: "Futaie" (1996) & "Tchernoziom" (1998). 33 minutes of music, released as part of INA's cheaper short-length CD series. "Futaie" unfolds in time like a long, slow sentence in which only the punctuation remains. 'Futaie' is composed of immobile masses and lightning flashes that oppose one another making the piece a fleeting moment that has been hollowed out, widened and extended. A succession of temporal occurrences convey the feeling of dual time, of a 'common presence' of events the duration of which is both individual and joint, similar to the way in which trees form a forest. 'Tchernoziom' is the continuation and amplification of work on the tremor of sound sketched out in the central section of 'Futaie'. It is a study on effusive sound material that is both undeveloped and renewed. The grain of which constantly suggests possible interruption. The result is one of fleeting ideas and precarious stability of the overall structure. 'Tchernoziom' means 'black soil' and refers to the lands in the Ukraine that are renowned for being extremely fertile."

BAYLE, FRANCOIS: Motion-Emotion CD (INA 5009). $12.00

"One 22 minute piece from 1985, Bayle's entry to the recent series of EPs on INA-GRM. Bayle was the director of the GRM from 1966 until he retired in 1997 (when succeeded by Daniel Teruggi) to build his own 'digital/multiphonic' project room, The Magison Studio. He's considered by many to be the chief architect of the contemporary GRM sound, and has been amazingly prolific over the last 30 years (this is his 11th CD). Low-watt sonics with a high-gurgle factor mixed with more traditional acousmatic stylings." — Hrvatski.

ELOY, CHRISTIAN: Musica Mundana/L'estran CD (INA 5010). $12.00

"Musica Mundana": Mixed, fusion and root music, work on 'harmonisation' of various music and vocals. A genuine alchemy! 'L'estran': What a beautiful metaphor is this piece of coastline. It conveys an impression of in-between, uncertainty, contraries. After studying music in the French National Music School, a decisive encounter with Ivo Malec, Guy Reibel, Jacques Lejeune and Jean Schwarz at the GRM will introduce him to electroacoustic music which he will afterwards focus on. He has composed around fifty instrumental, vocal and electro acoustic works. Teacher in the Bordeaux Conservatoire and in the Paris Adac-GRM workshops, he is deeply involved in teaching and transmission of knowledge within Scrim and Octandre associations."

ASCIONE, PATRICK: Primitive CD (INA 5012). $12.00

33-minute EP, featuring two works: "Primitive" (1995); "Espaces Paradoxes" (1987-89). RE: "Espaces-Paradoxes": "The first acousmatic work designed and projected in 16 real tracks, in full stereo. It deals with the question of writing a three dimensional space into the very act of studio composition. A continuum of singular spaces, real and suggested, give rhythm to the overall structure. The alternating of imagined spatial situations that oppose each other, answer each other or superimpose on each other, and wherein the sound effects are seemingly but a pretext for these figures in space. In return, and paradoxically, these give a sense and a life to the sound forms themselves. Thus, a specific form of discourse is borne of the simultaneous and successive perception of all these planes, trajectories and centres transmitting distinct sounds into the air."

LEJEUNE, JACQUES: Fragments Gourmands CD (INA 5201). $12.00

"Lejeune's first foray into INA-GRM's EP series, after a bunch of stellar LP's and CD's (L'Invitation au Départ, Le Cantique des Cantiques, and of course Messe aux Oiseaux ('Mass with Birds')). Here he's paired with saxophone virtuoso Daniel Kientzy (previous CD on INA-GRM, 'ax Computer, rocks...), who provides an endless stream of squeaks & blat to the otherwise synthesized/plundered univers of Herr. Lejeune. Quotes abound: 'Gruel is a healthy food which calms the pangs of hunger, is easily digested not very restorative.' Conversely, 'Animal tongues do not exceed the scope of their intelligence; but the human tongue texture, enrobed in its various membranes, heralds the sublime purpose for which it is destined.' Sexy, sexy stuff indeed..." — Hrvatski.

PARMEGIANI, BERNARD: Sonare CD (INA 5203). $12.00

One 25 minute piece, from 1996. A State/CIRM commissioned work. "There is already music... of an Italian character in this title! Sonare: I love this word because it is Italian and because upon hearing it, music simply springs forth from within it. For each of the 5 movements, I have chosen a pseudo-instrumental or synthesis sound which I sense will allow me to bring out its very essence to develop it until it is within the deepest levels of the soul, if the soul can at all be rendered accessible to such acoustic resonance!!! I had to imagine the most suitable interplay to bring out such 'intrinsic resonance'. Now of course, no interplay can be genuine unless certain freedoms are present within or inherent to it, the rule being that such an interplay should remain musical whilst the sounds, 'in a real context' become linked to or opposed to each other. No combat, just interplay for its own sake, for itself alone, and at the same time, changes in contour, an opening or closing in the tone, range, patterns of rhythm, as if the work were a living being in itself which these creations in sound so often closely resemble, these same creations in sound, intended firstly for our ears but not only for our ears." — Parmegiani.

SCHWARZ, JEAN: Makinak - Capriccio CD (INA CL 9516). $15.00

Two long works: "Makinak" is a Basque term for "machines" and is concerned with machine produced rhythms. "Capriccio" is a computer work, completely wiggled out fragments building a polyphony of sound movements.

SCHWEYDER/SCHWARZ/TERUGGI: Transe CD (INA CL 9717). $15.00

One 55 minute piece, subtitled "Music in Three Dimensions," from 1996. "Exploration of an attitude is the essential aspect of the encounter of the three musical dimensions proposed by the Scheyder-Schwarz-Teruggi Trio: piano improvisations by Patrick Scheyder, sound creation on tape by Jean Schwarz and real-time transformations by Daniel Teruggi."

SCHWARZ, JEAN: Erdal/Symphonie/Surroundings 2CD (INA CL2022/3). $30.00

Sharp double CD set containing four of Schwarz's attractive 70s tape works. 'Erdal' (1971) is a 27 minute piece in eight sections ranging thematically from 'Grillons' ('evocation of world of the insects'), '54 Oiseaux' ('songs of stereotyped birds such that give them the generators of studio 54' (HELLO!!!)), and 'Klook'/In Memoriam' (both tributes to jazz greats; Kenny Clarke and John Coltrane respectively). 'Symphonie' (1974) is a filmic 24 minute work using orchestral and flute timbres along with subtle tape effects and re-iterative motions. 'Surroundings' (1978) is an extended 53 minute piece that invokes 9 discrete locations (Broadway in Manhattan, Bourbon Street in New Orleans, a cable car in San Francisco, etc...). It features Charles Austin on saxophones and flute and Joe Gallivan (of Love Cry Want fame) on percussion and Moog synthesizer. Lastly (and certainly not least!), 'Sonances' (1971), which is based around the figures and materials of the Baschet brothers sculptures adorning public and private grounds around the GRM center. "The sheets of the Baschet instruments which haunted the studios of Research centre always fascinated me. I constituted a basic material to start from these sheets. The part proposes a voyage in this worrying world which goes from pointing out that of heart, with the fine metal rattling evoking the noise of the sea against the rocks". Schwarz is perhaps the least visible/most mysterious (alternatingly the most prolific in the CD age) INA composer, alas we've finally been given an insight to his early output. Absolutely necessary." — Hrvatski.

SCHWARZ & BENAT ACHIARY, JEAN: Goni'ko Zalduna/Itzala 2CD (INA CL9820/21). $30.00

Features two relatively recent works: "Goñi'ko Zalduna" (1994) and "Itzala" (1997). Both are long, CD-length epics, 74 & 70 minutes respectively. "Goñi'ko Zalduna" is an opera about "the Legend of the Knight of the Goni". Incidental sounds and ethereal coral effects have their merit, but in limited fashion. "Itzala" is also operatic, but to a much more insane degree — I'd hate to kill the potential of ever selling a copy of this, but if you could imagine a more musically trained version of Costes — well, there are moments on this CD that replicate that sort of disdain for convention. Plus a classicist feel for surreal imagery and in general: very flipped atmosphere.

ZANESI, CHRISTIAN: Le Paradoxe de la Femme-Poisson CD (INA K198). $15.00

"Music for contemporary dance piece by choreographer Michel Kelemenis by Zanési, a former student of both Pierre Schaeffer and Guy Reibel, currently in residence at the GRM (since 1977). Not entirely different than Cage's dance pieces (for Merce Cunningham) in content (record crackle, various natural-occurring sounds) but miles away in approach (constructed in an entirely digital environment). 7 tracks, 40 minutes." — Hrvatski.

DUFOUR, DENIS: Dix Portraits CD/BK (INA M197). $30.00

Beautifully produced 5" hardcover book with 48 pages of notes & photos about Dufour's work (in French & English), with CD. The disc features 2 major Dufour pieces: "Douze Melodies Acousmatiques" (1988) and "Dix Portraits" (1984). "It is to answer Michel Chion's 'Dix Études de Musique Concrète' that Denis Dufour has composed the 'Twelve Acousmatic Melodies'. A such a title is needed to emphasize the passage from the art of making (which means the working on concrete matter) to the act of hearing (for the acousmatic listening involves the perception of acoustic and mental pictures deprived of their sources). The concept of melody is here extended to the size of the perceptive field allowed by the acousmatic vocabulary. Procession of images, collage of resonant objects, ghostly breath, all these by turns put on stage, piece into space, handled by the 'acousmatic sorcerer' whose quick interventions barely leave the ear enough time to adjust its perception. Through their kaleidoscopic series, the 'Twelve Acousmatic Melodies' supply also the elements of a portrait, image after image, the one of Dufour's resonant world which is built up with its colors, its quarters of shadow, its moods, and we always perceive the sensitive fiber which binds one to another in an unique constellation." — Michele Tosi.

VA: Prix Noroit 1991 CD (INA NOR 2). $15.00

The Leonce Petitot is an annual competition for composers of acousmatic music, judged by the likes of Bayle, Chion & Lejeune. This series of CDs gives you an overview of a few years of the competitions, and an appealing way to find out about new composers. With Normandeau, Todoroff, Parmerud, Morand, Le Goff, Waters.

VA: Prix International Noroit 1995 CD (INA NOR 4). $15.00

Fourth in this excellent series, featuring young-ish electroacoustic composers from around the globe. Included are Ned Bouhalassa (anecdotal and abstract representations of animal and human movement), Randall Smith (sounds based on the geological activity of the earth), Lelio Camilleri (voice transformations), Benjamin de La Fuente, Marc Tremblay (exploring the sound of the telephone), Mauricio Bejarano & Adrian Moore (a radiophonic production for natural and electronically manipulated sounds).

BAYLE, FRANCOIS: Camera Oscura/Espaces Inhabitables CD (MGCB1400). $15.00
Volume 14 in INA GRM's continuing documentation of Francois Bayle's complete works. Featuring 2 long pieces: "Camera Oscura" (1976) & "Espaces Inhabitables" (1967). "Camera Oscura" is a literal 39 minute-minute tour de force of Bayle's stereophonic fabric, the perfect "ping", so to speak: "At first a rhythmic maze, mirrors-form that look more-or-less alike, that are assembled, woven, fuged. Then we find ourselves thrown into windings and crystallised sonorities, in which the lines would be lost if they were not supported by low layers, from plateau to plateau, seemingly leading to a muter and muter deep, to the bottom of an abyss that heat and light would reach (maybe), in extremis. But for the ear, those constructions in sequence, processes, stretching, extensions, transpositions, thickenings, harmonisation, spatialisation, reverberations and dissipation are only forms and impressions left on the memory, in view of a joy of a multidimensional, fulfilled hearing."

INCIDENTAL MUSIC:

ROVO: Imago CD (IM 0001). $12.50

"Imago" is the 1999 debut full-length release from Japanese underground super-group Rovo. Rovo is centered on the duo of guitarist Yamamoto Seichi (also of The Boredoms) and electric violinist Katsui Yuji (Bondage Fruit, Demi Semi Quaver), joined by bass, keyboards and electronics, turntables, two drummers and an array of traditional percussion, gongs, and wind instruments. On record, and onstage during their mind-blowing live performance, Rovo brings these ingredients together to create a rich sonic stew comprising elements of Kraut-rock, indie space-rock, dub, trance, techno, and jam-oriented psychedelic drum-circle freak-out. Rovo makes head music your ass can relate to. And vice-versa. Imago was originally released by Sony Japan, and its live polyrhythmic, two-drummer attack and calculated buildup to frenzied climaxes made the album one of the most hypnotic and persuasive Japanese releases of the year."

ELDERS OF ZION: Dawn Refuses To Rise CD (IM 0003). $12.00

"The Elders of Zion are a hard-drive based cut and paste quartet split between Seattle and San Francisco. Mixing equal parts hip-hop, dub, drone rock, and noise, the Elders' debut recording, Dawn Refuses to Rise, seamlessly fuses progressive politics with a beautifully consistent exploration of genres. Moving from the French dance floor cut-up of 'Disco Communiste' (featuring dialogue sampled from Jean-Luc Godard's legendary 1967 New Wave classic, La Chinoise) to the punk reggae of 'Hymn For a New October War,' (built around a recording of a Russian cantor begging for forgiveness,) the Elders typify the new artistic sensibilities of post-Cold War hipsters piecing together the political detritus of globalization."

HESSION/WILKINSON/FELL/MORRIS: Registered Firm CD (INCUS CD33). $18.00

"1996 grouping of saxophonist Alan Wilkinson, bassist Simon Fell, and tubsman Paul Hession (known collectively for their body of work for the Bruce's Fingers and Shock recording organizations, individually for records on Leo and Incus) and guitarist Joe Morris (leader of many fine sessions released on the Aum Fidelity, Knitting Factory, Soul Note, Leo, Hat Art, etc... labels) notable for bridging the Atlantic chasm of US/UK 'energy' jazz circles (a feat worth noting in the apparent cul-de-sac of pan-national out-jazz ensembles). A fine display of blurted spirituality in a decidedly non-bearded setting (despite the appearance of just that on the mugs of mssrs. Morris/Hession). 7 pieces (such as 'Spaceships are Crap' or 'If I've Offended Anyone, I Apologize') over 53 minutes... Red-blooded." —Hrvatski.

BENNINK/DEREK BAILEY, HAN: Post Improvisation Vol. 1: When We're Smilin CD (INCUS CD34). $17.00

JOSEPH HOLBROOKE: '98 CD (INCUS CD39). $18.00

"Derek Bailey (guitar), Gavin Bryars (bass), Tony Oxley (drums). First performance together since 1966. Recorded in Cologne 1998." "So here they were, together again after 32 years, which is equivalent to the period separating Louis Armstrong's Hot Five recordings and Ornette Coleman's Tomorrow Is The Question. The essence of the trio was there from Bailey's opening pair of acerbic chords, through Bryars' ever attentive basslines, to Oxley's orchestrations of time itself. There was no sense of nostalgia here, more the feel of three men resuming a conversation they had begun some time ago, while mindful that their subject matter back then has been widely discussed in many languages since, and that this was a restatement through minds enriched with subsequent experiences." — Andy Shone/The Wire.

BAILEY/KEIJI HAINO, DEREK: Songs CD (INCUS CD40). $18.00

Derek Bailey (guitar). Keiji Haino (voice). Recorded Nov. 1996 in the UK.

This is the fifth in a series of records made by members of Company, a pool of improvisors from which different groupings are drawn for different occasions and settings. Although representing various musical attitudes and styles, the musicians in Company have in common a preference for making music by free improvisation."

COMPANY: Epiphany 2 CD (INCUS CD42/43). $24.00

Featuring Ursula Oppens (piano), Fred Frith (guitar, live electronics, percussion), George Lewis (trombone), Akio Suzuki (glass harmonica, anaplos, spring gong, kikkokikiriki), Julie Tippetts (acoustic guitar, voice, flute), Moto Yoshizawa (bass), Anne Le Baron (harp), Keith Tippett, Phil Wachsmann (violin, electronics), Derek Bailey (electric and acoustic guitars). Epiphany recorded 1982, re-issued on double CD. Originally Incus double LP 46/47. "By this time I had begun to find it useful to invite people who were not primarily, sometimes not at all, involved in improvisation to join us in our improvising. So, for Company Week in 1982, we were ten musicians most of whom had never previously met and some of whom had not previously improvised. It turned out to be a week of fine music-making, exceptional in its openness, its constructiveness, in its atmosphere of inquiry and in its goodwill." — Derek Bailey.

COMPANY: In Marseille 2 CD (INCUS CD44/45). $24.00

"Derek Bailey (guitar), Rhodri Davies (harp), Simon H. Fell (bass), Will Gaines (danse claquettes), Mark Wastell (cello). A double CD recorded in Marseille 1999."

ACOUSTIC GUITAR TRIO: CD (INCUS CD46). $16.00

"Recorded Los Angeles 2000. Rod Poole (acoustic guitar, bowed guitar), Nels Cline (acoustic guitars), Jim McAuley (acoustic guitars)." This is an improvising trio that have been playing around in the LA area in recent times; McAuley and Poole are both on Nels Cline's all-time "Top 200 Guitarists" list. McAuley is known as a specialist in Renaissance and Baroque (classical guitar), and Poole is the genius Just Intonation force of modern times (see his mesmerizing solo albums The Death Adder and Jasiz). The result is more richly detailed and sonically pleasurable sound base than one sometimes gears up for when approaching the Incus label. According to Nels these guys are known to make up tunings mere minutes before improvising, but the results would indicate a deeply engrained empathy.

HOLBROOKE, JOSEPH: '65 (Rehearsal Extract) CD EP (INCUS S01). $12.00

"CD single (10 & 1/2 minutes) of the Joseph Holbrooke group, recorded in 1965. With Derek Bailey (guitar), Gavin Bryars (bass) and Tony Oxley (drums) — a legendary ensemble, and a key to the whole dawn of the European free music arena. The first and only issued recording by this trio (named after an obscure turn-of-the-century UK composer, Joseph Holbrooke). Includes an addition of some poorly designed CD Rom material (text, photos and other ephemera about the brief and generally undocumented existence of this trio) that doesn't seem to commonly function (doesn't work with Netscape, seems to auto-crash on Explorer — but maybe you're made of tougher stuff). "This short piece was recorded in rehearsal in the front room of my ground floor flat at 329 Crooksmoor Road, Sheffield some time in 1965. It was a medium-size living room, carpeted and with an open fireplace, and was just big enough for the three of us to have sufficient space to play. I had lived in the upstairs flat during my last two years as a philosophy student, a period when, in reality, I was spending more time working virtually as a professional musician even before I graduated in 1964. Throughout the time that I lived there, until the end of the summer of 1966, the three of us would rehearse frequently and try out ideas. Sometimes just Tony and I would practice together, working on complex approaches to pulsed time, especially in order for the trio to become familiar with Tony's increasing interest in subdivisions of triplets (even when we were still playing relatively conventional jazz compositions). At other times the three of us would rehearse, basically testing possible procedures in our transition from jazz to free playing. We would perform regularly in public, playing each Saturday lunchtime in an upstairs room in The Grapes, Trippet Lane." — Gavin Bryars.

BAILEY/WILL GAINES, DEREK: Will VHS (INCUS V01). $22.00

First 2 volumes in the new Incus video series both feature unusual duets between Derek and renowned dance virtuosos. Gaines is a tap dancer, and really elevates Bailey into some aggressive territory (on electric guitar). Of the two videos, this is the more professionally shot and recorded, and if you've never been able to see Bailey live, probably the next best thing for insight into his physical approach. As with all videos we carry, these are in the NTSC USA-compatible format.

BAILEY/JOHN STEVENS, DEREK: Gig VHS (INCUS V04). $22.00

Live recording from a 1992 "pub" gig, with Bailey on electric guitar, Stevens on drums and mini trumpet (51 minutes). "The pub gig has been a staple of British musician lowlife for as long as anyone can remember. It figures pretty low on any list of preferred playing situations for me, but for John Stevens, I think it might have been his favorite playing context, one in which he could combine his commitment to music and to, let's say, conviviality...The lighting is poor, there is the occasional unexplained lacuna and the cameraman doesn't always seem to have the best seat in the house, but, after all, this is a pub gig." — D. Bailey.

FINE/SUSAN J. SPERL, MILO: Gutter Cleaners VHS (INCUS V05). $22.00

"Video document of an August 1984 dance-studio collaboration pairing Fine's (has recorded in various forms with his partner Steve Gnita and with ensembles such as Borbetomagus and, from 1969 on, the Milo Fine Free Jazz ensemble for labels such as Hat Hut, Fusetron, The Lotus Sound, Cadence, Leo, etc...) 'm-drums', piano, clarinet, and electronics with Sperl's (student of Jennifer Muller & Fred Matthews, James Moore, and Velta Cernonok) body-motion. An interesting view/listen no doubt, not just for the spurious actions committed by said Sperl but for the general countenance and almost anti-action from Milo's side of the room while creating such a din. A curious selection for the Incus video shelf..." — Hrvatski.

INDIGO (FRANCE):

LUCAS, GARY: The Edge Of Heaven: Gary Lucas Plays Mid-Century Chinese Pop CD (LBLC 2582). $16.00

"Gary Lucas, who is well known for his work with Captain Beefheart and the Magic Band, is an incredibly talented and versatile NYC-based guitarist/singer/songwriter who has earned a worldwide following in his own right over the last several years. Lucas has been hailed for his brilliant solo guitar work, the long-standing band Gods and Monsters (based around Lucas' guitar and songwriting encompassing almost every style imaginable) and his work with many other outstanding musicians, including contributing songs and guitar playing for major label debut albums from Jeff Buckley and Joan Osborne. Lucas is moving beyond his reputation as one of the most innovative guitarists in the world today to firmly establish himself as a composer and Grammy-nominated songwriter. His new album, The Edge Of Heaven - Gary Lucas Plays Mid-Century Chinese Pop, is a tribute to the Chinese divas Chow Hsuan and Bai Kwong."

INDIGO INC. (AUSTRIA):

MICROTHOL: Sexy Lady EP 12" (INDIGO 003EP). $9.00

"Microthol are two Vienna's finest talents in electronic music: Philipp Haffner & Constantin Zeileissen who both come from the Trust Orbit, the one and only Viennese electro label. Their track 'Sexy Lady' — rough and Chicago acid influenced in an uninhibited old-school way — fascinated Electric Indigo immediately when she heard it in their studio: this would make her dance and smile! Indigo:inc 3 features the original version and her straight and quite a bit faster remix on the b-side."

INFLAMABLE:

DJ CAM: The Beat Assassinated CD (NR 2026). $14.00

"The third album by French abstract hip-hop pioneer DJ Cam. 1995's Underground Vibes. (US title: Mad Blunted Jazz) and 1996's Substances, established Cam one of the premiere abstract hip-hop DJs worldwide today. The Beat Assassinated is a tribute to old school, NY style hip hop (Public Enemy, Gangstarr, Eric B & Rakim). The album pushes the boundaries of trip hop and drum 'n' bass music beyond the strictly ambient realm, into a dynamic, urban frame of reference, creating a hybrid of electronica and hip-hop music."

INFLATABLE LABEL:

VA: Dub Tribunal CD (FLAT 001 CD). $12.00

"With seven albums to his name, and over 100 tracks released so far, Matt Haines (aka The Rip Off Artist) has started a new label: Inflatable Labl. And the first release, dub tribunal, is a unique twist on the concept of a compilation album. The big idea: three artists agree on a style of music they're not currently known for, something that will challenge them. From this starting point, each creates four tracks. It's like 'Reality TV' for musicians! The result: three different interpretations and lots of interesting music. dub tribunal uses dub music as a reference, but is twisted into new and exotic shapes by: Atom TM (aka Uwe Schmidt, Atom Heart, Señor Coconut, LB, Geez n Gosh, etc.), Small Rocks (aka Matt Wand, one half of Stock, Hausen & Walkman, Hot Air Records), The Rip Off Artist (aka Matt Haines, Mille Plateaux artist, Dean Martin's 'Sway' remixer)."

HDJ TOM: Taste CD (FLAT 003 CD). $11.00

"Taste is all crunchy crispy noise on the outside, and rich creamy goodness on the inside...just like butter wrapped in sandpaper. Tamas Szoke, one half of the Hungarian pop duo Golden Army, has with this solo effort created something rare in the world of glitchy electronics: digital music with a profound sense of structure. Hdj Tom isn't content to just set his computer on 'loop' and go out for coffee. These tracks won't sit still, but rather will wander off into other rooms, root through the refrigerator while you're not looking, and if you're lucky might even make you a sandwich. And isn't that what we demand of our music?"

VAUXHALL 44: Sub-i CD (FLAT 004CD). $11.00

"Inflatables fourth release is Vauxhall44's first full-length album, entitled sub-i. The artist is Yuki Kiba, a Tokyo resident who began playing guitar at the tender age of fourteen. He has seen his share of go-nowhere garage bands, playing experimental rock, jazz, reggae and soon, and didn't start making computer music until he was twenty-one. Sounds like a typical kid from the suburbs, right? What we can't figure out is how this shy, deferential Japanese kid makes such fascinating music. Each track is constantly changing, sometimes jump cutting to the next big idea, sometimes gradually evolving through shifting elements that never play the same way twice. Superficially, there are techno and house elements to his tracks, but there are so many little details that the mind has no chance to wander. This makes sub-i an uncommonly satisfying experience."

RIP-OFF ARTIST, THE: New Clear Days CD (FLAT 005CD). $12.00

"Is nuclear power a pollution-free solution to the world's energy needs? Or is it a dangerous ticking time bomb? The answers, of course, are contained in his latest release, New Clear Days. Unlike most people (who have already made up their minds) Matt Haines is not quite sure what to think about all those little subatomic particles zooming around. But rather than lose sleep over it, he's decided to work through these issues on his latest album. This is the tenth full-length album for Haines, but the first to be released on his own label, Inflatable Labl. From the beginning the label has had a loser-focused strategy: to release music that is structurally and rhythmically interesting, and that has a high ideas-per-minute ratio. In other words, it thumbs its nose at DJ-oriented music and its so-called experimental off-spring. The label's motto is 'Say it fast, say it well, and move on'."

INFRACTION:

ZAMMUTO: Solutione of Stareau: Disc One CD (INFX 002). $12.00

"Arising from a mammoth triple CDR released by Nick Willscher (aka Zammuto) a few years back as a private pressing, Infraction brings to light disc one of the Solutione of Stareau trilogy (following the Apt. B records release of disc three entitled, simply, Willscher). This disc one is a quiet atmospheric minimal soundscape. Distant radio waves floating in the night, warm drones rising and falling, punctured by a faint yet insistent pulsing rhythm. Deep listening in which surface variation is so subtle — getting lost in the recording for hours is almost inevitable if YOU give it the time. Time well spent."

BEEQUEEN: Owlness CD (INFX 003). $12.00

"In it's attractive cover, Owlness offers trip-hop rhythms, guitar-ambient, beautiful road-movie-music, strange samples and loops deliver with a twist only the Beequeens can master. From the opener 'Clockwise' to the long melancholic piece 'Beam Ends' (featuring a ticking clock, atmospherically guitarwork, environmental recordings and cellos) this new CD offers the most musical product Beequeen has released so far. It will certainly appeal to Beequeen fans old and new, offering an album full of beautiful tracks. Owlness proves Beequeen more alive than ever, willing to take on new challenges in their music."

LILES, ANDREW: An Unworld CD (INFX 004). $12.00

"Liles has taken many small portraits of the soundtrack for the underside of the world and has carefully meshed them with samples that are as theoretically unsettling as any of the authentic EVP recordings conducted by Friedrich Jurgenson. A deceptive lullaby of electronic tones, stereophonic acrobatics and drowned words; the samples continue, that of wind-blown rain against the window, voices down the hall, piano interludes, indiscernible conversations in muffled tones on the other end of the line and sine waves expanding in rooms otherwise acoustically dead. Liles carves his own distinct sound, but a natural comparison may hint towards the instrumental works of Coil, the Hafler Trio (particularly How to Reform Mankind), Eliane Radigue (Trilogie de la Mort) as well as the subtle influence of Bernard Parmegiani. A moribund and profoundly disquieting recording of sadness and beauty."

LILES, ANDREW: All Closed Doors CD (INFX 006). $12.00

"With a title such as 'Largactil and Dilaudin for the Soul' this newest release from British composer Andrew Liles should give an indication of the eccentricities from where this recording is coming from. One track of stark resonating piano followed by the slow warming of the orchestra that draws you in. Once there, it tip toes, echoes and dissolves with each track re-emerging more fractured than the next. Intricacies of creaks, dull thuds, traditional instrumentation and then subtle ambient drones. All Closed Doors could be the aural equivalent of living in a disused cupboard; dusty and empty — dark and damp. Perhaps the definitive song on the album, 'What Never Will Be' is a bizarre ghostly version of the 'que sera sera'."

INFRA SOUND:

ELOE OMOE: 12" (7HZ 002). $9.00

"Eloe Omoë is a bass and drums duo of rock refusers from Charlestown, MA. Driven by tandem tactics of low-end subterfuge and drum tumble, their aggressive abstractions and brown sound rumble have stopped shows, upset stomachs, rattled skulls, and melted minds. Recorded live and unrehearsed in the industrial wastelands of the Northeast, this debut release charts Eloe Omoë's real-time navigations through arrhythmic tensioning and hyper-sonic squall. Their clairvoyant collaborations are way-the-fuck-out and abrasive; this quick spinner offers short attention span jams of ecstatic thrash interrupted by satanic screech and space jitter."

USAISAMONSTER: Masonic Chronic 12" (7HZ 003). $9.00

2nd release on this label. "No name-checking necessary, USAISAMONSTER is crucial on its own terms. With psychic unity and telepathic muscle memory, this terse and tweaked rock duo channels chaos into beauty with songs both poetic and pummeling. Their psychedelic punk is a pacifist full force attack; heavy rock that penetrates dominant reality and will change the world for ten minutes or so every time a needle drops on the Masonic Chronic. Three color fold-out poster screenprinted on tree-free hemp paper."

USAISAMONSTER: Citizens Of The Chronic CD (7HZ 004 CD). $11.00

"No name-checking necessary, USAISAMONSTER is crucial on its own terms. With psychic unity and telepathic muscle memory, this terse and tweaked rock duo channels chaos into beauty with songs both poetic and pummeling. Citizens of the Chronic surveys dimensions near and far, and will skewer even the most jaded tastes: it rocks past 'prog' & progs past post.' USAISAMONSTER's twisted songs of soul and psychedelic anarchy are driven by duo exchanges that dance along a tightrope between jangly reflex rock and hardcore brutality. CD collects all tracks from Masonic Chronic EP (7Hz 003) and Citizens of the Universe LP (7Hz 001)."

FOUNTAIN, JUDSON: Completely In The Dark CDR (INNO 200). $13.00

"First-ever CD release of 'The Ed Wood, Jr.' of radio drama. Original radio dramas (1969-1974) produced, written and directed by Judson Fountain. Produced by Irwin Chusid and Barbara Economou. Before TV captured the nation's attention, radio was the most popular form of home entertainment. Nowadays that box offers mostly music, news, and backtalk, but from the 1920s through the '40s, the airwaves boasted drama, comedy, and murder mysteries. Judson Fountain (b. 1952) grew up after the heyday of classic radio theater, but as a child heard vestiges of programs that had enthralled his parents. He developed an obsession with suspense-filled shows like The Shadow, Inner Sanctum, and Lights Out!. While most Americans were evolving into couch potatoes, Judson embraced radio as the superior theatrical medium, and felt compelled to single-handedly revive the art. That he lacked training, technology, skilled staff and a budget did not deter him. Ed Wood, Jr. made movies; Judson produced radio dramas. Judson was between 17 and 22 when he produced these extremely primitive affairs. His simple, derivative plotlines employ Halloween kitsch — spooks, witches, haunted houses — as vehicles in morality plays about redemption for the honorable and damnation for evil-doers. Judson's work was characterized by cliché scripting, egregious ethnic accents, and inept editing — all seasoned with copious needle-drops of creaking doors and howling wolves from the timeless Elektra Sound Effects Library. But this extreme amateurishness and unwavering sincerity synergize to great advantage in Fountain's theatricals. There is charm in the clumsiness, and befuddled amusement in the often-abrupt plot twists. Over the past decade, Judson's recordings have circulated among collectors of the bizarre, and in the process have attracted a cult following." CDR release.

PARTCH, HARRY: Enclosure 1 VHS (INNO 400). $20.00

Innova Recordings is the label run by the Minnesota Composer's Forum, and they are releasing this shocking series of Harry Partch archival items. This first volume, in video form, is sub-titled: Four historic art films by Madeline Tourtelot with music by Harry Partch. Simply put, this is an all-time visual treat for anyone interested in the state of the universe. There is an 18 minute film that acts as a documentary about Partch's home made instruments — full color footage shot in 1958, showing him playing all the instruments in his Chicago studio, packing orders of his Gate 5 LPs, etc. Equally mindblowing is another 25 minute film, shot in the same studio around the same time, with his full ensemble performing "U.S. Highball." I think it's possible to say that these 2 films are the ultimate artifacts to use in the discovery and enjoyment of this utterly unique composer — nothing else could get it across better. The other two films included are experimental movies by Tourtelot, with soundtracks performed by Partch. "Rotate the Body in All Its Planes" is a dizzying gymnastics display and quite funny. "Windsong" features the ancient Greek legend of Daphne and Apollo as they are transported to Lake Michigan. It too is a cracker. Total time is about 68 minutes; comes with a 12 page book, including Partch's original notes about the films.

PARTCH, HARRY: Enclosure 2 4CD BOX (INNO 401). $38.00

This massive 4CD set is the second "enclosure" in the series. It is sub-titled "Historic Speech-Music Recordings from the Harry Partch archives," and includes "archival recordings, including works from the 30s & 40s, a lecture on just intonation, excerpts from the 1935 hobo journal Bitter Music, and a sound documentary featuring Partch at the piano."

PARTCH, HARRY: Enclosure 4: Delusion Of The Fury VHS (INNO 404). $20.00

The 2nd video to be released as part of Innova's series "documenting the life and work of one of America's most remarkable artists, who hand-built a corporeal, microtonal, musical world of his own." The main item here is the 75 minute film from 1971 by Madeline Tourtelot: Delusion of the Fury: A Ritual of Dream and Delusion. Considered Partch's major dramatic work, it was a ritualistic, theatrical presentation, that established his international reputation and guru-like status. The film shows Partch's hand-built instruments performing an African and Noh-inspired score in some of his most compelling music in his mature style. Also included on this video, is 28 minute film, The Music Of Harry Partch, produced in 1968 for San Diego television. It documents an outdoor performance of Daphne Of the Dunes, as well as two duets from "And on the Seventh Day Day Petals Fell in Petaluma," w/ Partch and Danlee Mitchell.

PARTCH, HARRY: Enclosure Five 3CD (INNO 405). $32.00

"The fifth part of The American Composer's Forum series chronicling the life and work of Harry Partch (1901-74), one of America's most extraordinary, yet central, composers. Partch was a self-taught musician, eclectic visionary, instrument-builder, microtonal theorist, gay, sometime-hobo, who conceived and composed a Corporeal, integrated, ancient ritual theater. Enclosure Five is a 3-CD set focussing on Partch's works inspired by ancient Greece. It includes important works published here for the first time, reissues of out-of-print recordings, and new performances. With this issue, the entirety of Partch's recorded oeuvre (with one exception) is publicly available for the first time. Taken with the rest of the Enclosures series and the Harry Partch Collection on CRI, we can now begin to assess Partch's whole output. Works include: A reissue of 'Ulysses at the Edge' with Jack Logan playing the trumpet part originally intended for Chet Baker; 'Revelation in the Courthouse Park (after The Bacchae of Euripides),' in its original version recorded at the University of Illinois in 1960 and excerpted on Partch's own Gate Five records; 'King Oedipus,' the culmination of Partch's Speech-Music period, in its original version using the translation by W.B. Yeats. Although Partch considered this his most important work (it took 19 years to write) and an excellent performance (featuring the incomparable Allen Louw as Oedipus), it was never released because of a permission dispute; Miscellaneous short Speech-Music works: 'By the Rivers of Babylon' (reorchestrated from the version heard on Enclosure Two); 'Come Away, Death' from the lost collection, December 1942. This work, for voice and guitar, appears in with the work by Douglas Moore that inspired Partch's own setting; and 'Minuet,' a curious Baroque duet performed by Partch and his then-student, Ben Johnston; 'The Bewitched (A Dance Satire)' in a 1980 recording from Cologne featuring an extraordinary performance and recording of this major Partch work (produced by Kenneth Gaburo for the Berlin Festival, with Danlee Mitchell, music director and Isabelle Tercero as The Witch). Partch's own spoken introductions to two of the works are included as well as an extensive booklet. The Enclosures series, named after Partch's last contemplated work and released on the Innova Recordings label of the American Composers Forum, is the culmination of a 13-year endeavor by Dr. Philip Blackburn, a Minnesota-based composer, performer, administrator and scholar. Inspired by Partch's pioneering spirit and dearth of published materials, Blackburn worked with the Harry Partch Foundation, colleague Kenneth Gaburo, and many others to bring Partch's singular voice to the public, attempting to 'let Harry speak for himself.'"

PARTCH, HARRY: Enclosure Six: Delusion of the Fury CD (INNO 406). $13.00

Finally, the major missing piece of the Partch discography has been reissued! "To mark the 25th anniversary of the composer's death (on September 4, 1974), and just in time for his centenary (June 24, 2001), Delusion of the Fury, the monumental work of ritual-theater that propelled Harry Partch into the limelight, is being released on CD. Originally recorded for Columbia Masterworks and long-since out of print, Innova, in conjunction with Sony Music Special Products, has reissued this central item of American musical history. With the appearance of this recording, the complete works of Harry Partch (1901-1974), one of the most important of American artists, are available for the first time (the remaining works are published largely by Innova's Enclosure series and the CRI Partch Collection). Like composer Conlon Nancarrow, Partch had to wait until late in life for his radical contributions to the arts to receive wide attention. With the 1969 production of Delusion he was 'discovered', idolized, and guffawed, as a 43-tone-to-the-octave, ex-hobo, eccentric, maverick, iconoclastic instrument-builder, and a 'philosophic music-man seduced into carpentry.' Hippie hyperbole notwithstanding, Partch was a genuine far-out radical whose time has come. Again, Delusion of the Fury is a 72' totally-integrated, corporeal, microtonal, elemental work of ritual theater, incorporating almost all of Partch's hand-built orchestra of sculptural instruments. Using mime, dance, music, vocalizations, lighting, and costume, Partch presents two tales concerning reconciliation of life and death, one after a Japanese Noh drama, the other after an Ethiopian folk tale. The video release Enclosure Four: Harry Partch (Innova 404) features the film version of Delusion, but this is the first time that the high-quality stereo sound version is available on CD. Perhaps the most astonishing, seductive and compelling of Partch's works, Delusion stands as the 'Choral Symphony' or 'Ring Cycle' do to other composers: a culminating testament to a lifetime of 'doing your own thing.' The 16-page illustrated booklet features Partch's introduction and a new text by conductor Danlee Mitchell."

BRANT, HENRY: The Henry Brant Collection, Vol. 1 2CD (INNO 408). $21.00

"At ninety, the composer continues to produce formidable, trail-blazing symphonic works like 'Ice Field', which captured the Pulitzer last year. And his place in the history books is assured. Consider the specs: friend to Copland, Varèse, Antheil, Cowell and Partch, source of inspiration to scores of musicians worldwide, and the composer of over 100 strikingly original spatial works, a dozen of which incorporate truly massive ensembles. Nope, Brant looms large regardless. It's just that the scope and magnitude of Brant's work, its seemingly inexhaustible creative intensity, its expressive deployment of musicians in space, its fantastic combinations of tonal flavors, and, most importantly, its intrinsic listenability, would seem to make it a prime candidate for big-screen exploitation. As matters stand, though, Hollywood's denial is Innova's gain. It is with unbounded delight that we present the first installment of a great and glorious undertaking: a series of CDs featuring some of Brant's major works, most previously unreleased. The Henry Brant Collection, Volume 1, a deluxe 2-CD set featuring a pair of Brant's monumental works, 'Northern Lights Over the Twin Cities' (100 mins, 6 conductors) and 'A Plan of the Air' (25 mins, 2 conductors) provides a marvelous introduction to Brant's world."

NEWBAND: Harry Partch/Dean Drummond CD (INNO 561). $13.00

"A CD featuring works by former cohorts and microtonal pioneers, Harry Partch and Dean Drummond. This stunning new recording, engineered by Grammy-award winner Judith Sherman, is performed by members of Newband primarily on the original Partch collection of hand-made instruments, notable for their sculptural and acoustic beauty. The music integrates declaimed poetry (masterfully performed by Bob Osborne) with colorful instrumental accompaniment. The Drummond pieces are first recordings, the Partch are the first since the 1940s. Partch's 'Eleven Intrusions' is a suite of eleven rather short pieces of mixed instrumentation composed from 1946 to 1950. A wide variety of techniques is utilized, from the incorporation of two ancient Greek scales and a Zuni (native American) song to Partch's typically microtonal speech-song settings of texts by a variety of poets."

FANCHER, SUSAN: Ponder Nothing CD (INNO 564). $13.00

Compositions by: Steve Reich, Giacinto Scelsi, Mark Engebretson, Ben Johnston, Wolfram Wagner, Alexander Wagendristel. Performed by Susan Fancher on saxophones.

PELLMAN, SAMUEL: Selected Planets CD (INNO 597). $13.00

"Samuel Pellman isn't the least bit afraid to tackle the big issues, as his new Innova Recordings release, Selected Planets, demonstrates in great and glorious abundance. Pellman's musical tour of our Solar System utilizes an array of resources worthy of NASA itself: a number of unique and highly satisfying microtonal scales, a staggering range of compositional techniques, and an arsenal of creative weapons ranging from the latest software to venerable analog synths — all of which Pellman deploys with a masterful touch that undoubtedly would have impressed old Mr. Hubble himself. From the molten continents of Mercury to the frozen plains of Pluto, by way of Pellman's own home turf in upstate New York, Selected Planets radiates the kind of charm, depth, and beauty that should easily earn it a place alongside Francois Bayle's Erosphere, Bernard Parmegiani's La Creation Du Monde, and Morton Subotnick's Silver Apples of the Moon amidst the great works of electronic music. In other words, the real music of the spheres starts here."

INSTINCT:*VA: Chronologi: 12k Year1- Year4 2CD (INS 572). $13.50

"Instinct records, in a joint effort with 12k, has released Chronologi: 12k Year1- Year4, a double CD recalling the first 4 years (1997-2000) of 12k's growth and output from the early ambient and minimal techno releases to the solidification of 12k's vision and aesthetic and move into microscopic sound. The collaboration between 12k and Instinct Records was a natural one due to Taylor Deupree's early discography and past history with Instinct... and will prove to be a great introduction for those unfamiliar with the label as well as an interesting retrospective (with extra material) for 12k's collectors. Disc one contains one track from each of the first 12 12k releases. From 12k1000, Human Mesh Dance 'thesecretnumber-twelve' to 12k1011, Shuttle358 Frame... including tracks from all of the out-of-print titles... which are often very sought-after. Disc two contains the Shuttle358 'frame' video. Disc two also includes 3 archival, previously unreleased, tracks."

INSTITUT DU MONDE ARABE (FRANCE):*BIN FARIS ENSEMBLE, MUHAMMAD: Le Sawt de Bahrein CD (IDMA 321040). $19.00

"The sawt (literally 'voice' in Arabic), the most highly esteemed vocal art in countries round the Gulf, has its sources in the vast repertoire of classical and dialectical poetry and the poetic and musical cultures that have left their mark in the area. In the wake of the great upheaval of tradition that took place in the thirties, Muhammad bin Faris, a remarkable writer and composer of the sawt, played a large and vigorous role in the renewal of the genre, founding Bahrain's first school of sawt."

AL-UMAYRI ENSEMBLE: Le sawt de Koweit CD (IDMA 321041). $19.00

"Kuwait has forged the urban musical genre known as sawt out to the different cultural and ethnic mixtures there. Its influence has spread as far as the rest of the Gulf and the Indian ocean. The modernization of the Kuwaiti sawt is forever linked to the name of Abdallah al-Faraj, a poet, composer and singer, and the source of several titles on this album."

KHOUSHID, NOUREDDINE: The Path of Ecstasy CD (IDMA 321051). $19.00

"Mystical tales attribute a divine origin to music, recounting that the celestial soul refused to become incarnate, but was seduced by the voice of an angel ordered by God to settle inside the body so as to attract it there. Now trapped inside the body, it feels nostalgia for its origins. This is how the Sufis sing of their separation from the original source and their ardent desire to be reunited with it. The ensemble on this album brings together nine hymn-singers from the Shadhiliyya order led by Nouredine Khourshid to present some wasla-s, suites of music and poetry. This is the musical setting for a ceremony held in the zawiya-s, holy places for the religious cult, and home of the whirling dervishes."

INSTITUTE FOR ELECTRONIC ARTS:*INOUE & ANDREW DEUTSCH, TETSU: Installation Sound CD (IEA 05). $9.00

"Installation Sound documents Tetsu Inoue's sound installations from around the world. Included are installation works for Diapason Gallery, New York, NY, Engine 27, New York, NY, and Castello di Rivoli Museum Italy 2003. In addition, there are several collaborative tracks by Tetsu Inoue and Andrew Deutsch which exemplify what might be called 'isolated energy' compositions. Overall, this work exhibits beautiful combinations of sounds scatter threw space and time focused through the extraordinary compositional lens of Tetsu Inoue. Graphic inserts, (designed, printed on high quality paper and hand assembled by Deutsch at the Institute for Electronic Arts), includes digital photography by Tetsu Inoue with treatments and image processing by Andrew Deutsch."

INTERCORD/EMI (GERMANY):*KRAAN: CD (INTER 26682). $13.50

First CD reissue of their debut album from 1972. A legit issue with 3 previously unreleased bonus tracks (demos from 1971) and 12 page booklet of notes & photos. "Kraan's debut is a remarkably original album, that whilst not being overtly weird or experimental, had a groundbreaking original character, especially so for a type of progressive jazz-fusion. Wolbrandt's unusual guitar, Pappert's flowery sax, and a most imaginative song style, were all factors. But, more than that, it was their intuitive playing, Arabic textures (witness the extraordinary 'Kraan Arabia') blending in a psychedelic spiced fusion, resulting in what was uniquely Kraan." — Crack In The Cosmic Egg.

KRAAN: Wintrup CD (INTER 26692). $13.50

First CD reissue of the 2nd Kraan album, originally issued by Spiegelei in 1973. With one bonus track, a previously un-issued demo from 1971, "Fat Mr. Rich". "Their 2nd album, Wintrup named after their new home, was a much calmer light-hearted album, more song-based yet still eclectically Kraan." — Freeman's.

KRAAN: Live CD (INTER 26712). $13.50

New reissue of the fourth Kraan album, originally issued by Spiegelei in 1976. "A double album recorded in Berlin's 'Quartier Latin', which gained Kraan the chance to tour Britain. Live was Kraan's hottest moment on vinyl, having many of their favourite tracks extended with great energy, and being largely instrumental, giving all the musicians ample room to really let go."

KRAAN: Let It Out CD (INTER 26722). $13.50

New mid-line reissue of the 5th Kraan album, originally issued by Spiegelei in 1975. "Kraan came up with one of their best albums, an offering that embarked on new stylistic paths and — like all their previous releases — presented another, even more multi-layered side to the band."

With Gerhard's explorations, Interdimensional Transmissions continues it's adventures into unique individualistic stand out electronic music."

GD LUXXE: The 21st Door CD (IT 16 CD). $13.50

"Finding inspiration from the darker side of electronic music of all eras, Gerhard Potuznik has put together a groundbreaking album entitled The 21st Door. Gerhard Potuznik began making music in Vienna in the early 80s, initially as a guitarist. A staunch fan of all things dark and quirky, Gerhard is perhaps the hardest working man in electronic music. From production to songwriting to releasing his music in multiple genres in many countries, this man does it all. With an unfathomable amount of material already released (including his productions with Pulsinger & Tunakan on Cheap as IO, and his production work for Chicks on Speed) it is his G D Luxxe project that is his strongest. With releases as G D Luxxe on Ersatz Audio, Breakin, and Suction, he is dedicated to taking his quality music to as many worthy outlets as possible, but his Factory obsessed full length for IT is a totally different story. Herein we find him exploring his obsessions while crossing so many boundaries: rock (a cover of T Rex included), IDM, EBM, Italian Disco broken English, electro, techno and beyond. This is fresh music from a true innovator. This is a record sure to cross boundaries and turn heads."

GD LUXXE: The 21st Door LP (IT 16 LP). $12.50

LP Version.

ECTOMORPH: Dada 12" (IT 17). $6.50

"Culled from their forthcoming full length album, this 12" showcases rare concepts in electro these days: originality and new directions. This is organic electronic musk hand made from the finest synthetics. Ectomorph have materialized in many forms since their 1995 debut release on IT, and continue to document these progressions with their latest 12", DADA. Ectomorph exist as an amplified id with the god of conjuring pure forms of rhythm and sound. They have long functioned as a collective with ever-changing members and nameless contributors revolving around main conduit Brenden M. Gillen."

GDX: Pain 7" (IT 18). $5.00

Limited to 500 copies.

INTERMEDIUM (GERMANY):*BECKETT, SAMUEL: ...the whole thing's coming out of the dark CD (INTER 001). $14.00

Repress now available. Impressive debut release on this new German label. "... the whole thing's coming out of the dark", it was Samuel Beckett who used this term about the origin and quality of his radio plays. The recordings in this production provide an impressive documentation of Beckett's 'visual writing'. To the fore in the selection of texts for this CD were the author's so-called 'eye pieces', together with some of his observation and movement sketches: Molloy (1951), L'Image/the Image (1959), and Company (1980) — three texts from different phases in the life of the Irish author and Nobel literature laureate. They are read by actors Natasha Parry, Barry McGovern, and Raymond Federman. The playing directions for the instrumentalist on this CD (Uwe Dieksen) are derived directly from the so-called sucking stones sequence in Beckett's novel Molloy, where the author has his protagonists invent three variations of the correct way to suck 16 pebbles — distributed between two coat or trouser pockets. Everything takes place inside the head, and yet these image provoking speech rituals find their way to the outside. Everything becomes the listener's projection room. We look on the speakers as we would an open, exposed interior. Speech is its own dissecting instrument. Existence is transferred into speech, being is removed from its time. The images remain, the sound of speech remains — in which the secret of an entire world is concealed."

RUETTMANN, WALTER: Walter Ruttmann Weekend Remix CD (INTER 003). $14.00

Featuring remixes by: DJ Spooky, To rococo Rot, Mick Harris, John Oswald, Klaus Buhlert, Ernst Horn. Plus the original Ruttmann track from 1930 (previously issued as a 3" by Metakine). "'Weekend' by Walter Ruttmann (1887-1941) is a pioneering work from the early days of radio. In an 11 minute 10 second collage of words, music fragments and sounds, the film-maker and media artist Walter Ruttmann presented on 13 June 1930 an avant-garde and radically innovative radio piece: an acoustic picture of a Berlin weekend urban landscape. After his experience with his films, Walter Ruttmann deliberately sought possibilities for producing an audio-film for radio. 'Everything audible in the world becomes material', he wrote in a manifesto in 1929. Tones and sounds should exist in their own right. For 'Weekend' they were recorded as arbitrary and intentional elements on the soundtrack of an optical sound film using the so-called tri ergon technique. For the first time an artistic radio production was created whose material could be assembled and designed according to rhythmic, musical principles. The technique used also meant that a repeat broadcast would have been possible. But this never happened. The original of 'Weekend' was long considered lost. A copy was only rediscovered in New York in 1978. 68 years after the creation of the original, Barbara Schäfer and Herbert Kapfer invited international artists to make six Walter Ruttmann Weekend Remix versions for Bayerischer Rundfunk. The radio play classic, which had opened up new aesthetic perspectives for the genre at a very early stage, underwent the digital endurance test and was confronted with the means and possibilities of the digital age and the remix technique. The remixes of Klaus Buhlert and Ernst Horn took Ruttmann's compositional principles of 'Weekend' and circumscribed them with their own compositions. With the new digital technology new methods of composition were also applied. Pathos and rhythm were given a contemporary drive, the ironic moments of the disrespectfully edited original were amplified further with a subsequent treatment by the composers Horn and Buhlert, new audio spaces were opened up. In 1998 Berlin, To Rococo Rot sought acoustic equivalents to the elements Ruttmann had recorded in 1930. Their version is ?- in film terms ? a remake, in musical terms a cover version, and at the same time a homage to Ruttmann and the City of Berlin. In their 'Weekend' remixes, the British musician Mick Harris and DJ Spooky from New York staged a return to the fatalistic mood of the original. The remix compositions focussed on machine noises and the acoustic signals of disturbed communication. Apart from the added bass and rhythm tracks, Harris and DJ Spooky used only the original as material, processed with digital machines. The basis for the remix by the Canadian John Oswald was the loud noise on the copy of the 1930 original. Oswald's remix conducted a digital material battle with the original, one which duplicated in Ruttman's discontinuous rhythm the copying noises which had developed over time."

MOVE D/THOMAS MEINECKE: Tomboy/Freud's Baby 2CD (INTER 004). $16.00

"In Tomboy, Thomas Meinecke and David Moufang pose the question of the cultural conditions for the construction of sexual identity, beyond all biologisms. The fragmentary texts used concern the scandalous social situation of women, strategies of feminine masculinity and of masculine femininity, and the political discourse on the discontent of the sexes (from Otto Weininger to Judith Butler). As a continuation of this 1998 studio production, which was committed to deconstructive feminism, Meinecke and Moufang wrote Freud's Baby in 1999, a concert piece with words and music, which was performed live at Intermedium 1 in Berlin and is concerned with the other identity-forging and damaging phallogocentric projections of the sexual. Based less on male descriptions of women than Tomboy, but rather (again mainly in already established texts) on a demonstration of man's no less breathtaking constructions of femininity on his own body, Freud's Baby contains irritating manifestations of so-called Great Men menstruating and even giving birth (when, for example, the Viennese doctor Sigmund Freud bears the baby of the Berlin doctor Wilhelm Fließ). A further (directly related) basic motif in the work emerges from the fatal parallel between anti-Semitism and antifeminism (and their reinterpretation with a positive spin in more recent Jewish studies). David Moufang, alias Move D, has run the techno label Source Records in Heidelberg since 1992. His album Kunststoff, brought out on this label, attracted worldwide attention in 1995. The vibraphonist Karl Berger, also born in Heidelberg and living in Woodstock and Frankfurt am Main, has been one of the most highly respected musicians on this instrument since he first played with Don Cherry and Steve Lacy in 1964. Together with David Moufang, he plays in the international formation Conjoint. Andrew Pekler came to Heidelberg from the USA and, under the name Sad Rockets, he brought out albums with electronic music on the Source and Morbid Records labels. He is a member of the electronic combo Berghem 34 and the rock'n'roll band Mucus 2. Thomas Meinecke, who spent his childhood between Mannheim and Heidelberg and who today lives in Upper Bavaria, last brought out the album Tel Aviv with his band F.S.K. on the Sub-Up Records label and the novel Tomboy in Suhrkamp Verlag."

VA: Soundstories/Materialmeeting CD (INTER 005). $14.00

"The archive with tens of thousands of programme hours stored on sound recording media is the broadcasting station's memory. Over more than seven decades, a broad spectrum of narrative forms has developed in the radio art genre. The aim with the 'soundstories / materialmeeting' project was to extend this spectrum by a further variant: the six-part project is a play with acoustic material and it draws on the extensive historical repertoire of German radio play production: the recordings of historical productions were copied and transformed digitally to render them absolutely unrecognisable. In the radio play studio of Bayerischer Rundfunk in Munich the musicians and authors Console / Thomas Meinecke, Hans Platzgumer / Caroline Hofer, To Rococo Rot / Stefan Schneider, Hans Nieswandt / Kathrin Röggl, Resut / Thomas Palzer and Zeitblom / Laar / Ulrich Schlotmann were confronted with the newly created audio material: in three days in the studio they wrote, composed and created 'soundstories' from the hermetic and non-narrative radio play material and presented them live on Bayern2Radio. The stories and dramas of the past are not told anew; they remain unknown to the authors and musicians involved in the project. The result was 'soundstories' — without any allusion to the content of the historical radio play sources."

VA: Günther Koch Revisited ? Voll in Den Mann 2CD (INTER 007). $16.00

A conceptual electronic music compilation based around the voice of the most famous German soccer announcer, Günther Koch, an update on previous radio play experiments in this mode by Ror Wolf. "If there was ever a man of football, a man of today's, totally shabby media football, if there was ever such a one who managed to become first a so-called 'cult figure' and then a figure of art, a subject for media art, an artistic character, then it has to be Günther Koch. This symphony in twenty-two parts, pays tribute to, honours and to a small extent, as befits contemporary art, destroys and, as far as I'm concerned, deconstructs a living legend of sports commentary, or more accurately: live radio reporting. Of course, it would not be totally inappropriate to ask whether Koch, often and quite rightly called a 'poet' and 'virtuoso' and 'artist', whether someone who is his own DJ can be outdone, ennobled, so to speak out-arted. Koch improvises like no other; Koch tuts, shouts, bellows, whispers, sings, implores, blubs, celebrates, curses and extols with passion and fidelity; Koch modulates maniacally, piles up monstrous sentences, assembles and combines the incompatible as one obsessed, the bright tone of hymnal enthusiasm with digression, the dialect touch with an educated bon mot, casual chat with concentrated information, objective description with the tumult of the fans. What and who can do justice to him, this original tenor, the Pavarotti or, hm, perhaps more the Bergonzi of the microphone? Yes, a liaison between Koch and radio drama/music, 'that's not totally unriskey' (Koch), not to put too fine a point on it: it's not totally blessed with lack of risk. And since, with the gloomy foresight of a Kafka, football will possibly be over and done with in the near future, the remembrance, blessed consolation, of its most beautiful, wonderful moments ('Babble! Babble! Babble! Babble!') will remain, embedded in our collective memory, preserved in the resounding works of the eternally Olympian art. Something like that, anyway." — Jürgen Roth. Artist list: Sparks, Khan, Gringotone, Lions Den Dubshower, Hans Platzgumer, Loopsoul, FC Einheit, Curs Duca, Wolfmanson & Dr. Walker, Jennifer Minetti, Dead City Radio, Funkstörung, Hans Nieswandt, Goldenholz & Andrej, Melita, Squadra Ragazzi, Timrestrecht Paradise, Caspar Brötzmann, Narcotic Brothers, DJ Hell, Sportfreunde Stiller.

JECK, PHILIP: Vinyl Coda IV CD (INTER 008). $14.00

"No cracking is like another. In the world of Briton Philip Jeck, that old familiar substance vinyl takes on a reality beyond what was previously etched artificially into this industrial material. Its apparent drawbacks — the hissing and cracking emanating from its extremely vulnerable surface — are turned by Philip Jeck into an asset. Whereas the surface noise was previously only an annoying accident, it now becomes the actual substance. Almost with the skill of an alchemist, Philip Jeck creates gramophone art from these sounds, he directs the release of the sound-emitting material, causing the surface itself to speak. Skillfully Philip Jeck guides the listener from the abstract, sophisticated composition back to an apotheosis of the pure material nature of the crafted singles and LPs. Of course one should actually watch him carefully lowering the arm with the needle onto the vulnerable and scarred surface of the vinyl, going thoughtfully to and fro between his dozen microphoned portable record players. One almost imagines one can SEE how the layers of sound superimpose themselves and how the vinyl slowly reveals the secret of its obstinately sound-emitting materiality. But the astounding thing is that Philip Jeck's totally composed 'Vinyl Coda', the fourth part of which now exists, also exercise a fascination without the visual stimulus of seeing how they are created. Indeed the hypnotic enchantment of this gramophone art becomes more intense, this art that condenses coarse hissing, the finely alienated sound track and the suddenly emerging song fragment into collages, that is now only vaguely obsessed by its own cracks and interfaces: a slowly swelling sea of sound. Philip Jeck is not really interested in the consensus beat spoon-fed by the pop industry. He loves the unheard-of sound, the free, delirious play of fragments which attract and repel one another like magnets. The meaning shifts repeatedly, Jeck directs the listener's attention back from the recognisable — and for the most part ironically alienated — musical fragment to the sound of a needle scraping along a channel. With Philip Jeck there is no longer any antagonism between background and foreground, between the sound and its medium: rather he stages a play of continuous changes of perspective, giving prominence first to one and then the other. The musical form thus reveals itself as an advancing, inconclusive process which repeatedly abandons its assumed centre anew. Sometimes his pieces are like seductive meditations on the nature of perception, and then again they tell of the ecstatically suggestive power which arises from the enduring tension between sonic abstraction and the unbridling of material: reflections on sound and its medium." —Harry Lachner

VA: Audiolounge CD (INTER 009). $14.00

"From midnight on 21 November 1999, the foyer of the Academy of Fine Arts in Berlin was transformed into a sound laboratory. Within the framework of the media art festival Intermedium 1, four teams of artists were invited to work on sound files before an audience under the title Audiolounge: Sound and Picture Electric Shocks Live: four hours of electronic music, something between a sound workshop and a club evening. Those taking part were: Robert Lippok, visuals: Visomat inc.; Andreas Ammer and Console, visuals: Anton Kaun; Kalle Laar and Georg Zeitblom, visuals: pReview; Robert Merdzo and Bülent Kullukcu, visuals: Lillevän/Computer Centre. The Berlin musician (To Rococo Rot) and graphic artist Robert Lippok opened the night with Callanetics and set the mood for the Audiolounge with gentle, digital sounds. Electronic minimalism from a laptop was the contribution of Kalle Laar and Georg Zeitblom. hypersound concrete stems from musique concrète: 'Music as electronic raw material: the starting point for manipulation and reconstruction.' The nearest to a concert performance was that of the Munich musicians Robert Merdzo and Bülent Kullukcu with not a question of balance. Electronics: Bülent Kullukcu, guitar, bass and vocals: Robert Merdzo. engine noises, voices, samples from the mixing desk coupled with the good old sound the electric guitar."

SHONEN A: A Case From Japan CD (INTER 010). $14.00

"The story is quickly told. 'Shonen A', Japanese for 'Boy A', is the anonymous name for a fourteen year old who is convicted of the cruel murder of a younger schoolboy. The case 'Shonen A' took place in 1997 in the Japanese port of Kobe. A shocked public bemoaned the decline of high-tech youth and, among other things, blamed brutal videos, superhero computer games and comics for this violent act. The written records and statements of the perpetrator were influenced to a large extent by the subject matter of the games which are popular with Japanese youth. The sound is on the track of this crime. 'Shonen A' takes newspaper reports on the case plus published threatening letters and diary entries by the perpetrator and turns them into 19 music tracks: pop songs to dance to, with techno, house or freestyle electronics, meditative chants, instrumentals, vocal samples and thriller-type soundtracks with 70s movie and psychedelia inserts. A German voice (Peter Veit) leads us through the plot of the murder, presents the pompous, gruesome records of the perpetrator and the newspaper reports in a constantly matter-of-fact tone. Hans Platzgumer's soundscapes in the background maintain and increase the tension, secretly scrape away at the nerve-endings. For the singing part of Ca Mi Tokujiro, Platzgumer finds different free forms of electronic music which ignore the common genres and rely totally on strong rhythms. Tokujiro sings in Japanese. Lyrics which interrogate the perpetrator, which depict his confusion between the virtual and the real worlds. Speech and voice convey autonomous, exotic, emotion-laden atmospheres. Easily recognisable lines of song in pop refrains, with easy-to-reproduce melodies, alternate with meditative chants of the Buddhist prayer "Hannya Shingyo" in the traditional style? the best known sutra of Buddhists. 'Shonen A' does not contain any explicit criticism of society or the media. And yet the electropop soundtrack poses uncomfortable questions about the causes of the worrying youth criminality in Japan and the recurrent phenomenon of the youthful murderer who claims he killed 'to see what it was like'. The fragile scenario of an Asian high-tech dolce vita between traditional education rituals, a scenario that has declared a generation to be the collective target consumer group of an efficient industrial nation — that is what 'Shonen A' turns quite incidentally into its musical focus." —Barbara Schäfer

VA: One Word One Sound CD (INTER 012). $14.00

With: Alexander Hacke, Chrislo, FX Randomix, Kid 606, Loopsoul, Merzbow, Peter Rehberg, Sparks, Zentralflyghafen, Lesser. "One word and one recorded sound a few seconds long, this is the minimal specification of the BR Radio Drama and Media Art Department in its invitation to musical and media art formations to participate in the project One Word One Sound. The word and sound called for may be used to generate a radio play, either appearing or disappearing in it. This acoustic requirement may be used as a stimulus or as a quote, or it may be contradicted in some form. Whatever: this invitation is not just a form of arbitrary actionism. It continues a number of traditions. On the one hand, the concept is a play on the one-word poem of modern literature, on serial texts such as those created by the American lyric poet Robert Lax. On the other, the requirement relates to the tradition of the minimalists. Although the projects created are not expected to lead to minimalistic radio plays. A third strand comes from the Radio Play and Media Art Department of BR; there is a tradition here of issuing invitations to help create projects, the last occasion being in 2000 with soundstories. This time it is intended to give the artists invited maximum scope for creative action with minimum preset requirements. On one level, word and sound are closely linked. The creation of sounds makes use of the material basis for the written or printed word: of paper. On the other hand, the words spoken by authors can be understood as sounds. In this way, word and sound are given a material relationship which not only suggests the traditional genesis of a radio play, of text or music — notes on a piece of paper. By means of sampling, it also highlights the artistic development of this material using improvisation and digital media. At the same time the samples on which 'One Word One Sound' are based point beyond this interconnection. They take on a life of their own by virtue of their special material and acoustic qualities. As signifier and acoustic event, word and sound are connected in an as yet undefined relationship — and they thus open up scope for creativity. Word and sound are linked through the metaphor of paper, without anticipating or limiting any further artistic bridging."

JANDL, ERNST: 13 Radiophone Texte & Das Roecheln Der Mona Lisa CD (INTR 014). $14.00

Classic archival sound poetry recordings from this Austrian, who has previously appeared on Poesia Sonora and River Run amongst other compilations. 13 Radiophone Texte contains the famous sound poet's BBC radio-play recordings from 1966. 'Das Roecheln der...' is a re-release of a CD/cassette which is out of print for a while, featuring Berlin Radio performances from 1970. Richard Kostelanetz on Jandle: "The most interesting of the [sound poets], in my experience, is Jandl, a Viennese high school teacher of English, who works exclusively in unaided live performance (the pre-WWII way), declaiming published phonetic texts, mostly in German but sometimes in English, which are usually inventive in form and witty in language. In part because of his anti-technological bias, Jandl's work seems to terminate a style, rather than suggest future developments."

VAN BEBBER/PHILIP JECK, CLAUS: Vinyl 'Istien CD (INTR 015). $14.00

"Recording of their performance at 'Intermedium 2', March 2002. Each of them solo for 15/20 minutes and as a duo for another 30 minutes. Great one!" "On their prepared sound recording media Claus van Bebber (*1949) and Philip Jeck (*1952) decipher a vinyl requiem, a swan-song of incredible beauty using obsolete reproductive instruments. Many a single dies on their turntables undergoing strange torments. 'After two or three revolutions these pointed fish-hooks have already scratched out fine elements, and the number grows with each new revolution, until the music has almost completely disappeared' (Claus van Bebber). Philip Jeck's record-players — he has several hundred — come from the flea market. They bear the names Pye, Bush, Philips, Ferguson, Fidelity or Dansette, they have built-in loudspeakers and four speeds. None of them cost more than five pounds. 'These record-players — nobody else wants them. I'm the only one who collects them all, as far as I know. I painted them and did things with them. They're now worth even less than when I bought them. I recycle these things and give them a different life.' That's what the two have in common: they don't throw anything away. Claus van Bebber, who calls his performance Schallplattenkonzert (Record Concert), also has barns full of materials on his farm on the Lower Rhine: 'I started early on to collect all possible kinds of objects and my favourite artists were always those who worked with found materials. Fluxus and Dadaism have strongly influenced me and my artistic work.' Their common sound ideal is the opposite of high fidelity. Jeck's effect devices are cheap: a small echo pedal and a toy sampler which can store one and a half seconds of sound. They are used to blur the sound even more, to overlay the loops on the discs with additional layers of repetition. Van Bebber uses wah-wah and distortion pedals for electric guitarists to further modify the signals of his crystal pick-ups. In this first encounter between two broken music artists at the media art festival intermedium 2 a fusion of the medium and the message takes place: Low-tech becomes the moving obituary for the extinct world of vinyl, that material whose varied surface noises stood for an era of easier comprehensibility. 'Where are we going? .... Don't be so curious, little Piccolo! First to the other side of the record.' (Andre Popp: Piccolo, Sax & Co.). —Ulrich Bassenge

VA: On/Off Intermedium 2CD (INTR 016). $14.00

SCANNER: Warhol's Surfaces CD (INTR 017). $15.00

"It is no surprise that Robin Rimbaud, aka Scanner, chose to make a one hour sound-piece of Warhol. Though, basing a 60-minute radiopiece for Bayerischer Rundfunk upon boredom, as is the case here, might seem a bit boring. Or as Warhol might have said: Gee, uhm, really up there. Because Warhol really liked boredom. He liked repetitiveness, copies, details. He liked the surface, the new technology. In fact: he would have liked to be a machine himself. Because Scanner takes the sound as Warhol took the soup; creating a universe where the looping everyday becomes interesting in the blurred domesticity most people see as the very essence of plain, repetitive boredom. Touching upon the fact that it does not matter how famous or ordinary you are: A sausage is just a sausage. Or is it? I guess it's up to each individual to choose what to make of it. Warhol and Scanner are, it seems, just showing us the cans / scan. — Mathilde Schyzt.

INTONE (UK):

SANDOZ: Afrocentris CD (INTONE 01CD). $15.00

"Cabaret Voltaire's Richard H. Kirk relaunches his Intone label with this awesome new album from his own project Sandoz. Afrocentris is in true Sandoz style, a blend of funky electronics, African and Latin American rhythms with elements of Jamaican dub, regga, all underpinned with the trademark Kirk cut and paste of found sounds, radio programmes and processed human voices. Trouser flapping bass meets blissed out ambience in the heart of the congo! Best known as the musical force behind the hugely influential Cabaret Voltaire, he also recorded as Sweet Exorcist as well as numerous other releases for Warp."

KIRK, RICHARD H.: T.W.A.T. v4.0 (The War Against Terror) CD (INTONE 02CD). $14.00

"We are now entering a war with no end...This is the second release on Richard H. Kirks (Cabaret Voltaire) revived Intone label. The music shifts continents (Europe, Middle East; Africa, U.S.A.) in a mirror image of the shifting battlegrounds in the global fight against terror. Richard H. Kirk has dealt with this subject before, back in the 70's, as part of Cabaret Voltaire (Baader Meinhof). File next to: Cabaret Voltaire/Sandoz."

KIRK, RICHARD H.: Intone Unreleased Projects Vol. 1 CD (INTONE 03 CD). $16.00

"This is a collection of previously unreleased dance oriented Kirk tracks recorded between 1996 and 2000, edited and post produced in 2003. More up tempo and uplifting than the previous two Intone albums, the music has its roots in 70's Disco (think Fatback Band gone Electronic), House, Detroit Techno and Dub...four on the floor with a twist, filtered through the usual Western Works Studio electronics. The album works equally well in a club environment, or as home listening coffee table disco. The CD includes known Kirk projects such as Sandoz or Nitrogen as well as many new and groovy alter egos. All written, arranged and produced by Kirk."

KIRK, RICHARD H.: URP Vol 2 CD (INTONE 04CD). $19.00

"Intone Records is a label concerned solely with the release of various Richard H. Kirk recording projects. URP Vol. 2 carries on with 'electro/breaks/latin/Dub', a retrospective collection of spikey beats/joints totally unreleased previously... all written and produced by Richard H. Kirk. Kirk has been sitting on much of this material for several years, until the facility to digitally edit and enhance it was in place; so what you have is a body of work which has recently been sonically overhauled and now ready for release in 2004. Old school breaks and electro with a difference, the beats embellished with cheeky latin grooves and shed splitting dub interventions welded to some serious head pounding rhythm. Will be followed later in the year by the 3rd and final installment in the series, URP Vol. 3, chilled beats and ambient funk."

INTR VERSION (CANADA):

VA: With.Naive Assurance CD (INTR 002). $13.00

"Roster-spanning-plus comp from this new Montreal-based label, run by visual artist/composer Mitch Akiyama. An impressive lot of sound, some reverb/thump oriented examples, some rhythmic trickery, a bit of the digital signal processing abound, and Richie's case, a smooth one with Detroitian strings clearly not of THIS era. Features Richard Devine, Sutekh, David Kristian, Hermann & Kleine, Thomas Jirku, Tim Koch (aka Thug), Mitchell Akiyama, (sic), Deadbeat, Mateo, Pheek, Dacka, and Jet One. Some to watch, others to listen." — Hrvatski.

DEADBEAT: Primordia CD (INTR 003). $13.00

"Deadbeat, aka Scott Monteith, is one of the key musicians in Montreal's fertile, burgeoning electronic music scene. Primordia, Deadbeat's full-length debut is more than a mere collection of songs — it is a self-contained world where crackling, popping digital artifacts are the basis of the acoustic environment. It is a rich and organic work that lives up to its name. Monteith's debt to the Chain Reaction/Mille Plateaux school of minimal techno is clear, but his work isn't an emulation, it's a continuation, an extrapolation. On par with works by Vladislav Delay, Gas and Thomas Brinkmann, Primordia is a compelling, beautiful and haunting work."

DESORMAIS: Climate Variations CD (INTR 004). $13.00

"Désormais, a French adverb meaning 'from now on,' is an apt — if somewhat oblique — tag for the collaboration between Mitchell Akiyama and Joshua Treble. Begun in the fall of 2001, the resulting album, Climate Variations, is the product of mundane exchanges — sound file uploads, emails, phones calls, CDR's, etc. Located somewhere between the drone rock of My Bloody Valentine and the glitch-scapes of Christian Fennesz, Climate Variations is a mosaic of guitar shards, piano fragments, field complaints and borderline copyright infringements. It is a sublime and sometimes jarring work that is as captivating in its intricacy as it is in its raw emotional power."

POIRIER, GHISLAIN: Sous Le Manguier CD (INTR 006). $13.00

"A parched, sunburnt savannah; a sandy ocean floor illuminated by dancing shards of light? Such descriptions of Ghislain Poirier's Sous le manguier might seem lavish, but ten seconds into the album's opener, L'hiver neige, and it's impossible not to be struggling to find appropriate descriptors. The Montreal-based musician and visual artist first caught the electronic music community's attention last fall with his lush, but haunting record, Il n'y a pas de sud, for Taylor Deupree's 12K label. In his second full-length release, Poirier returns to the same exotic landscapes that he explored a year ago, this time with even more assurance and sensitivity. If pressed for a comparison, talk of dub is inevitable. King Tubby's there, as is Augustus Pablo. Maurizio and the Basic Channel crew are supervising the project, but at its lowest level, it's raw, 'primitive', almost devotional. Muted waves of languid melodies tumble over unhurried beats. Koras and other instruments of possibly African, possibly imaginary origin offer up shimmering, dreamy melodies. Sous le manguier is a soundtrack for memories of exotic places we've never visited."

VA: Saturday Morning Empires CD (INTR 008). $13.00

"Since its beginnings in 1999 Intr-version records has emerged as one of the premier Canadian experimental electronic labels. Formed while the fledgling Canadian scene was finding its feet, Intr-version has played an important role in attracting international attention to this country's active and fertile electronic music scene. Saturday Morning Empires, Intr-version's first compilation since 2000's With Naive Assurance..., includes new work from artists on the label's current roster as well as music from artists that either have a strong affiliation with the label or will be releasing work in the near future. This collection of music includes some of Canada's best and most compelling artists as well as a couple of international collaborators. Curated to reflect Intr-version's eclectic span, Saturday Morning Empires ranges from Tomas Jirku's icy dub to Tim Hecker's melancholic treated guitar works to Beans' dreamy post-rock driftscapes to Avia Gardner's off-kilter dream pop. All tracks are exclusive to this compilation." Artists: Palomino Falls, Vitamins for You, Mitchell Akiyama, Joshua Treble, aMute, Loscil, Ghislain Poirier, Polmo Polpo, Tomas Jirku, Avia Gardner, Tim Hecker, Beans.

POIRIER, GHISLAIN: Conflicts CD (INTR 009). $13.00

"Montrealer Ghislain Poirier returns with a followup to last year's stunning Sous le Manguier. Following hot on the heels his mini-album for Chicago's Chocolate Industries, Conflicts explores the same offkilter hip hop beats while further exploring Poirier's geopolitical quebequios rantings. Dense layers of cascading horns; sticky, twisted beats; lush melodies; Conflicts is a new mutation in the ever changing hip hop organism."

VITAMINSFORYOU: I'm Sorry Forever and for Always CD (INTR 010). $13.00

"Vitaminsforyou stepped out of the Canadian prairies and into our hearts. Was it the melodies that stayed in our heads for days or was it his shy folded-up voice? Was it the crispy sizzle beats or the rock-a-bye acoustic guitar bits? It certainly wasn't the comparisons to the Notwist or to Telefon Tel-Aviv. We like him much more than just about anything else. So let us say that Vitaminsforyou's debut is the kind of record you should play for the special someone you're trying to woo, for your parents when they're mad at you, for your insomniac dog or just for yourself."

TREBLE, JOSHUA: Five Points Fincastle CD (INTR 011). $13.00

"Cincinnati based Joshua Treble (aka Tony Boggs) has quietly been making beautiful, delicate and enduring music for the past four years. Author of the sublime Cold Filthy Techniques to Keep you Close on American label Pitchcadet (a label responsible for early records by Jetone and Accelera Deck, among others) Treble, along with Mitchell Akiyama also makes up half of the instrumental deconstructionist duo Désormais. The group's two albums of sublime post-rock/post-classical compositions have received almost unanimous critical praise, earning them comparisons to Fennesz and My Bloody Valentine, among others. Five Points Fincastle, Joshua Treble's second solo full length, is an album of delicate fragments and little epics. Smeared guitars, obscured strings and ghostly field recordings are woven into melancholy tapestries. Treble's compositions are full of a blurry majesty — enormous in ambition and instrumentation, but far away, somewhere on the horizon, enshrouded in mist. An essential album for fans of Tim Hecker, Gas and those interested in the future of instrumental electronic music."

AMUTE: A Hundred Dry Trees CD (INTR 012). $13.00

"Every so often a work of stunning beauty and maturity masquerades as a debut. Belgian artist Jérôme Deuson's (aka aMute) first full-length is a wind-swept, moonlit tapestry of delicate guitar-work. aMute's gentle articulate songs recall Mogwai's quieter slow-burn moments, Tarantelle's elegant understatement, Tim Hecker's attention to the life of every hiss and crackle. After his appearance on last year's Saturday Morning Empires compilation left hopes high, A Hundred Dry Trees' effortless symphonies and tiny smoldering epics are indications that an important new artist has arrived."

BEANS, THE: Bassplayer CD (INTR 013). $13.00

"Vancouver based The Beans have emerged as one of the premier post-rock groups in Canada since their formation in 1995. Along with kindred spirits such as Godspeed You! Black Emperor, Do Make Say Think and Broken Social Scene they've helped to bring attention to Canada's vibrant left of rock scene. Influenced by artists as diverse as Lamonte Young, Terry Riley, Neil Young and Dirty Three, their epic instrumental compositions are as breathtakingly beautiful as they are imaginative and intricate. Their fifth album, Bassplayer, is a riot in soft focus — a tumbling, complex series of instrumental shards. An album as delicate as it is dense, Bassplayer is a revelation."

INTRANSITIVE:

GAL: Relisten CD (INT 018). $13.50

"The work of Austrian sound artist Bernhard Gal is concerned with the discovery (as opposed to the imposition) of musical structures within the nuances of everyday life. The stammering in the spaces of spoken language, the ubiquitous noise of urban environments, the steady stream of buzzes and whirs that are a byproduct of mass transportation, all become subjects examined under Gal's extraordinarily precise microscope. He explores ideas about time and language, extrapolating and enlarging and repeating the often overlooked details and minutiae until their inherent sonic beauty supercedes their typical mundane habitat. The piece 'lv, nv' uses adaptive filters to uncover hidden musical elements always present at a Vegas casino. Another, 'Tong-hua yie-shi' could be described as real-time musique concrete, created by walking through a Taiwanese night market equipped with a stereo microphone, DAT, and headphones."

NERVE NET NOISE: Meteor Circuit CD (INT 020). $13.50

"Nerve Net Noise is the synthesizer duo of Tsuyoshi Nakamaru and Hiroshi Kumakiri, who confused and irritated just about everyone with their CD 160/240, published by the Meme label several years ago. Each Nerve Net Noise album is an astoundingly thorough exploration of one aspect of what their rough and barely controllable homemade synthesizers can do. Meteor Circuit explores rhythms and beats, but it's no minimal glitch album, and neither is NNN a 'noise' band; they are after something much more elusive and beautiful than mere obvious full-bore screech. With a strange new angle on electronic improvisation, their twisted knobs until their machines produced rhythmic pulses, then hit record and let the instruments decide what would happen next. The 'natural' imperfections of the synthesizers' circuitry determined how each piece would evolve with little or no interaction from the artists. They then edited the works into a coherent, intense and (it must be said bluntly) immensely bizarre album."

STELZER & JASON TALBOT, HOWARD: Songs CD (INT 021). $13.50

"Songs contains eight concise pieces of electro-acoustic music created from cassette tapes and a single turntable. Since the duo's inception on 1999, they have worked toward developing a unified, improvisatory sonic language by approaching their machines in a decidedly instrumental manner. Though the music is informed by both free improvisation and musique concrete, it does not fit comfortably into either category. Stelzer elicits percussive blurs from his cassette tapes, manually applying pressure to the motors and gears of the tape decks. Talbot amplifies various parts of his turntable, exploring the body of the machine with such objects as paper clips and balloons. Their music takes the form of energetic, tightly-focused pieces which may, perhaps, resemble songs."

JGRZINICH/SETH NEHIL: Confluence CD (INT 022). $13.50

"The exploratory focus of Stria/Confluence is the idea of resonance; the phenomenon of natural vibrations that give rise to intensified or stable structures within sound bodies and fields. In the production of these works, the composers' approach to resonance encompassed not only acoustical behavior but also included analogies of the phenomenon in group interaction and/or participation within the social context of sound generating activities. It was again applied to the studio in the use of massive multiplications and layerings, resulting in deeply transformed, evolutionary sound fields. Seemingly infinite layers of minute actions accumulate into a deep wash of sound, not unlike the similarly-minded Jonathan Coleclough or mnmouth. Repeated listening reveals more and more subtle details so that the piece appears to change each time it is experienced."

VA: Intransitive Twenty-Three 2CD (INT 023). $19.00

All exclusive tracks, "all music composed without the use of digital devices". Music by Jonathan Coleclough & Colin Potter, nmperign, Atau Tanaka, Olivia Block, Ronnie Sundin, Magali Babin, Nerve Net Noise, Gal, Le Quan Ninh, Artificial Memory Trace, das Synthetische Michgewebe, Frans de Waard, Haco/View Masters, Hideaki Shimada, Francisco Lopez, Eric La Casa, Lethe, Giuseppe Ielasi, Alexandre St.Onge, Birchville Cat Motel, and Thomas Andersmit.

INTUIT-SOLAR:

DEASON, SEAN: Allegory & Metaphor Remixes 12" (ITU 005). $7.00

"On this release Sean Deason offers the original version of the title track on his full-length album. On the B-side, Detroit house legend Alton Miller presents his up-tempo interpretation of Deason's work."

VA: Comin' From Tha D: Blueprint 12" (ITU 008). $7.00

"This 12" release features four tracks from its companion CD, Comin' From Tha D: Blueprint. Continuing in the tradition of Intuit-Solar's critically heralded 'CFTD' series, these releases strive to present the current sounds of Motor City. Presented on this piece of wax are 4 stylistic approaches to the 'Detroit Sound', courtesy of DJ Godfather, Ectomorph, Le Car, Japanese Telecom, and Adult. Keith Tucker, Sean Deason, Tony Olliviera and Dopplereffekt offer the classic sounds only they can provide, while Andy Toth, Paris the Black Fu, MAERSK, and the Detroit Grand Pubahs explore the dark, deeper sides of electro and techno."

VA: Comin' From Tha D: Blueprint 12" (ITU 009). $7.00

Second volume in this series, featuring tracks from: Japanese Telecom, Andy Toth, Tony Olliviera & Maersk.

DJ ASSAULT: Hot n'Horny Taco EP 12" (ITU 014). $6.50

"DJ Assault continues to accelerated the funk with his newest and most exciting release to date, the Pink, Hot n' Horny Taco EP. It contains an array of slick instrumentation and production that is certain to put some juice in your otherwise stale and dry taco."

DETROIT GRAND PUBAHS: Funk All Y'all 2LP (ITU 016). $11.50

"The Detroit Grand Pubahs mission is to introduce you to techno music with a big pinch of funk and an even bigger dash of raunch. The teaming of Mack Goudy Jr. (AKA Paris the Black Fu AKA the Schizophrenic Brainchild of Funkno) & Andy Toth (AKA Dr. Toefinger AKA The Scientific Thinger) was a natural disaster that happened at just the right moment. Their debut LP, Funk All Y'all, is a mixture of funk, techno and a healthy dose of the bizarre. Their musical influences range from punk to funk, soul to retro to hip hop but not pop." [CD version of this release is on the BMG/live label]

VA: Comin' From Tha' D CD (ITU 1004). $14.00

Delayed issue of the first proposed CD installment in Intuit Solar's continuing Comin' From Tha' D series. Originally proposed for release (and pressed) in late 1999, this has never been properly released until now. Not to be confused with the new Comin' From Tha D: Blueprint CD. "The best artists of Detroit's ghetto-tech movement (with hip hop influences), finally available on CD, edited by Carl Craig. Features DJ Godfather, Ectomorph, DJ Assault, Disco D, Keith Tucker, Shake, Reclouse, Dan Bell, Terrence Parker, Sean Deason, etc."

DEASON, SEAN: Allegory and Metaphor CD (ITU 1006). $14.00

Classic post-Transmat Detroit techno mode from Sean Deason, previous albums on his Matrix label as well as K7. Claude Young guests on one track. "There is no word to adequately define the genre of complex sounds meticulously assembled by Deason on this album. He has absorbed the multitudes of electronic musical styles prevalent today and assimilated them into a unique listening experience, while maintaining his characteristic soulful sound. Overall the album maintains a generally low-key demeanor, sometimes picking up pace with the help of drum 'n' bass percussion. Deason layers each element of his tracks with patience and precision, allowing the listener to fully enjoy the beauty of each component individually and then ultimately as a unified, undulating, and intricate creation."

VA: Comin' From Tha D: Blueprint CD (ITU 1007). $14.00

"This latest release in the critically acclaimed 'Comin' From Tha D' series features tracks from sixteen talented producers central to Detroit's electronic music scene. In keeping with the tradition of the series, Blueprint showcases the current sounds of the Motor City and the innovative genre combinations that keep it humming. Included in this compilation are Detroit's heralded ghetto-tech staples DJ Assault, DJ Godfather, and Aaron-Carl. Also presented are unique brands of electro from genre stalwarts Perspectives, Ectomorph, Le Car, Japanese Telecom, and Adult. Keith Tucker, Sean Deason, Tony Olliviera and Dopplereffekt offer the classic sounds only they can provide, while Andy Toth, Paris the Black Fu, MAERSK, and the Detroit Grand Pubahs explore the dark, deeper sides of electro and techno."

DJ ASSAULT: Jefferson Ave CD (ITU 1009). $15.00

"Everything that Assault has released to date has only hinted at the genius contained here-in. Jefferson Ave finds Assault in top form; perfecting his production skills, completely eliminating the lines that have previously existed between techno and hip-hop culture and, in the process, inventing a whole new genre of music which he likes to call 'accelerated funk'. Just don't make the mistake of lumping Assault in with the whole ghetto-tech scene: this is the sound of New Detroit."

INVISIBLE SPIES (UK):

TOAH DYNAMIC: Movement LP (INV 001). $15.00

"A mystery record of the finest sort (all ruminations forth strict hear/say). Toah Dynamic appear to be a collective consisting of the following: Amps for the Poor, Urban Fox, Supreme Vagabond Craftsman, 64 Cousins, Tue (sp?) Knowledge, Kid Acne, Benjamin and Earl Shilton. What starts out as a series of Sun City Girls-esque instrumental theme-statements (clarinets mostly, distant drums, bass) warps, shifts, ends up in the lap of a sedate Swell Maps/Fall/Shadow Ring variation by way of a stream-of-consciousness vocal delivery or so. Which is unsettling enough until the electronics start filtering in (drum machines, blips). Or the chemical artifact toast-chant that opens side two. What, fuck-all, this has to do with the world is yet a mystery (sleeve at least appears to be of UK origin). The by-product of a keyed set of acerbic wits no doubt. Brilliant is as does." — Hrvatski.

INZEST (GERMANY):

KARAOKE BROES: Karaoke Broes 12" (INZEST 001EP). $9.00

"Marco Haas aka T.Raumschmiere said 'Berlin, fuckin' itself!', when Feed from Mitte Karaoke asked him and many other friends to join the new project called Inzest. Its always the same story: two musicians meet at the bar in a club (it could be the WMF in Berlin f. E.), haven't seen each other for a while, talk a lot and finally the conversation ends with the very serious decision to meet somewhere out there and to make some music together. Next day they forgot about it. In order to preserve this magic moment the guys from Mitte Karaoke first started a battle series and now the label Inzest starts hosted by the WMF posse. These two musicians/acts who usually are not a production team jam around and get a killer track done (hopefully). This is the A-side of the 12". Then each of them makes a remix and those are featured on the other side. Inzest #1 has now arrived — guess who made it."

HERRMANN KARAOKE: Herrmann Karaoke 12" (INZEST 002EP). $9.00

"Mitte Karaoke und Thadeus Herrmann stellen das zweite tagteam auf Inzest. Und weil der herr Herrmann so ein großer Depeche Mode fan ist, wühlen sich die drei im original mix schön in anschwelende synthies kombiniert mit dem mitte-karaoke-typischen haspeligen funk voller bleeps und dominiks schmachtenden vocals. Der remix der beiden strippt das ganze zu einer leichtfüßigen pophymne mit inspiert bassline herunter, während Thadeus melancholisch schöne elektronika-tugenden ins spiel bringt und einen endlos weiten, introvertierten minimalhouse-track aus dem ärmel zaubert, der einen sanft rockt und die frage aufwirft, warum der herr Herrmann nicht öfter die bassdrum gerade sein lässt. Sehr fein."

IPECAC RECORDINGS:

YOSHIMI & YUKA: Flower With No Color CD (IPC 034 CD). $15.50

"Pop rock icons Yoshimi (Boredoms) and Yuka Honda (Cibo Matto) have joined forces to bring you an unexpected ambient gem. Tribal, beautiful, and classic(al) all at once, and much like the women who created it, the album is dreamy and classic. Recorded at Mt. Ikoma in Nara & at Free People Studio on Osaka over 4 inspired days. Share an easy stroll with Yuka and Yoshimi through a foggy Japanese mountain-top. Yoshimi: vocals, drums, percussion, grang tang, guitar, piano, trumpet, keyboard synthesizer, bamboo flute, and whistle. Yuka: piano, chorus and vocals, bass guitar, keyboard synthesizer, and ele. piano."

MONDO GENERATOR: A Drug Problem That Never Existed CD (IPC 041 CD). $15.50

"Mondo Generator was formed in 1997 by Queens of the Stone Age bassist/singer Nick Oliveri. A Drug Problem That Never Existed rightfully takes its place amongst the sickest rock records of this, or any other, hangover — a one of a kind testament to what really dwells in the malfunctioning hearts, chemically horsewhipped minds and overly stimulated joins of everyone with balls and leftover brain cells enough to admit it. Trip on the seam, dance with the devil, and make sure to heed the call of this seductive voice of evil — Mondo Generator."

MONDO GENERATOR: A Drug Problem That Never Existed LP (IPC 041 LP). $14.00

"Mondo Generator is: Nick Oliveri (Queens of the Stoneage), Brant Bjork (Kyuss, Fu Manchu), Dave Catching (QOTSA, Earthlings?), & Miss Molly Maguire (Earthlings? Yellow #5)."

CURSE OF THE GOLDEN VAMPIRE: Mass Destruction CD (IPC 042 CD). $16.00

"Justin Broadrick and Kevin Martin met whilst sharing tours with God and Godflesh. Mass Destruction is the result of their mission to fuse the energy of Napalm Death's anarcho thrash with the amen break attack of No-U-Turn and the incendiary fire of free jazz. Death Jungle, Scum'n'Bass? Call it what you like... this album manages to incorporate every uncompromising element the duo have ever incorporated into their past sonic endeavors, but still manages to capture something totally fresh and relentlessly intense. Drawing on the inspiration of their earliest obsession with Discharge and Crass, Curse Of the Golden Vampire turn up the heat with startling state of the art production techniques and uncompromisingly nihilistic sentiments."

QUEENS OF THE STONEAGE: Songs For The Deaf 2LP (IPC 043 LP). $18.00

"The limited edition gatefold vinyl version of everyone's favorite band Queens Of The Stoneage. With more twists and turns than Mulholland Drive and a plot almost as confusing, the eponymous Songs for the Deaf arrives like a neo-Bohemian Rhapsody boasting three lead vocalists and more low-end than Nell Carter at a wet thong contest."

VA: Desert Sessions 9 & 10 CD (IPC 044 CD). $16.00

Josh Homme (Queens of the Stoneage) organizes a yearly pilgrimage of rocks greatest to Joshua Tree to make music for music's sake. He started in the 80's, & later began recording them. Lucky for us, this one was captured on tape. Desert Sessions Vol. 9/10 features the likes (or dislikes) of: Josh Homme (QOTSA), Dean Ween (um, ... Ween), Dave Catching (Mondo Generator, QOTSA, Earthlings?), Chris Goss (Masters of Reality, kyuss), Josh Freese (the Vandal, A Perfect Circle), Alain Johannes (Eleven, Chris Cornell), Twiggy Ramirez (Marilyn Manson), Joey Castillo (Danzig, QOTSA), Natasha Shneider (Eleven), Brian 'Big Hands' O'Connor (from C. Aguilera to F. Sinatra!), Troy Van Leeuwen (A Perfect Circle, QOTSA), Jeff The Tuff Gentleman, PJ Harvey (You know her?).

VA: Desert Sessions 9 & 10 2x10" CD (IPC 044 LP). $18.00

Double 10" vinyl version.

FANTÔMAS: Delirium Cordia CD (IPC 045 CD). $16.00

Mike Patton, Buzz 'King Buzzo' 'El Hombre' Osborne, Dave Lombardo, Trevor Dunn. 'Delirium Cordia' is one track. It is several pieces that are weaved together to form on piece. It showcases a quiet side of Fantômas. The Ritalin seems to be working. Possibly the soundtrack to a very dark, fever induced nightmare. The momentary ambience is followed by chaos and confusion."

KID 606: Kill Sound Before Sound Kills You CD (IPC 046 CD). $16.00

"Kid606's second album for Ipecac Recordings Kill Sound Before Sound Kills You successfully manages to bring you to a fiery musical climax. Although only his third proper album, this record manages to be the definitive Kid606 release. Kill merges all the thoughts & ideas previously spewed out by Kid606 while advancing to the next level of over the top danceable power electronic technopunkhyper rave gabber junglist madness."

BOHREN & DER CLUB OF GORE: Black Earth CD (IPC 048CD). $16.00

"With skull-imprinted black on black packaging, Black Earth looks like a heavy metal release, but in fact is a smoothly sophisticated excursion into a deep, dark, jazz, lounge underbelly. Their style sits somewhere between Godspeed You Black Emperor! & Sigur Ros. They call it horror jazz. Hailing from Germany, Bohren has been wooing Europe since 1988 and has a strong cult following across the continent. Black Earth is their 4th record, originally released in 2002 on German label Wonder."

END: The Sounds of Disaster CD (IPC 049CD). $16.00

"This is End's second full-length album; his first was on Germany's Hymen Records. While Science/Fiction was filled with spooky space themes, this recording is on a totally different planet. Sure, there are recognizable moments — surf rock guitars, crazed breakbeats, cop show riffs, theremins and moogs, screaming choirs, horn sections, spy music, Japanese noise, scat vocals... but they've all been forced together into a frenzied mass as catchy as it is schizophrenic. There are jump-up-and-down rock numbers, sitar spaghetti westerns and even apocalyptic sing alongs. Not for the feint of heart, this is the musical equivalent of a car crash."

KANG, EYVIND: Virginal Co-Ordinates CD (IPC 050CD). $16.00

"Virginal Co-Ordinates is Kang's fifth record — an excursion into minimalist territory that nods to Steven Reich, Henryk Gorecki, Terry Riley and Tony Conrad. Recorded live in Bologna, Italy in 2000 at the Angelica Festival, the compositions combine a written musical score with subtle improvisation. The glide of Kang's smooth violin presides over a 22-member orchestra (The Playground Ensemble — a loose collection of European musicians who performed a variety of works at the festival), which includes Mike Patton on vocals and electronics. The compositions work as full-bodied excursions, parsed out in minimal doses that glide towards stunning emotional grandiosity."

VENOMOUS CONCEPT: Retroactive Abortion CD (IPC 051CD). $12.00

"Shane Embury (Napalm Death, Lock-up, Brujeria), Buzz Osbourne (the Melvins, Fantomas), Kevin Sharp (Brutal Truth, Damaged), Danny Herrera (Napalm Death) — A combined eighty years of recording history...men who know what they are doing and do it well. Nothing fancy, no huge recording budget, no aspirations of Headbangers Ball/Warp tour... Make no apologies... It's all raw noise."

DUNN'S TRIO CONVULSANT, TREVOR: Sister Phantom Owl Fish CD (IPC 052CD). $16.00

"Trevor Dunn, co-founder, composer and bass player for a multitude of bands including Fantômas and Mr. Bungle, partner to modern day madmen John Zorn and Mike Patton is set to release his second Trevor Dunn's Trio Convulsant album. A long-time purveyor of not only the eccentric but of jazz in all forms, he was eager to explore the history of The City's jazz clubs — clubs with revered names such as Showman's, Lenox Lounge and the Blue Note. Now... don't get the wrong idea, while he appreciates the past, appreciates the typical genre boundaries, Trevor doesn't work within them, he pushes them to the extreme, bends them at one end and whittles them away on the other. One moment you have a jazz improv, the next a shrieking guitar, the next the soft tap on a cymbal and the next a beat not akin to any Jazz outfit but probably more in tune with a Norwegian death metal band; this album is what the word avant-garde was created for."

IRDIAL (UK):

VA: The Conet Project: Recordings of Short-Wave Numbers Stations 4CD (IRD TCP1). $55.00

Repress now available of this all-time cult classic shortwave radio transmission CD. "Numbers stations are found all over the shortwave spectrum. They emit unusual transmissions of synthesized voices reading sets of phonetic letters and or numbers. The origin of these stations is in dispute. Their purpose is unclear. There are many dozens of different signal types on the air, each run by different organizations. Some of these organizations should have been closed down after the end of the cold war, yet they continue to transmit like clockwork. No one has ever compiled a set of numbers stations recordings for sale to the public. Until now. The Conet Project: a quadruple CD of 150 recordings covering 25 years of numbers station activity, with detailed logs, essays, and a definitive lookup table of all known numbers stations, including morse numbers stations. An invaluable and fascinating resource for all listeners, this is the definitive reference work on the mysterious field of numbers stations, containing very rare recordings from as early as 1971 and up to date examples of currently operating stations. The quadruple CD comes with an 80 page perfect bound booklet in two jewel cases, with a post card."

IRIS LIGHT (UK):

CRACKLESTONE: Journey To The Sea Of Sparks CD (ILIGHT 028 CD). $17.00

"Crackletone is a new solo project from Jim Sutherland, who has been working in the field of ambient electronica for nearly twenty years, contributing soundtrack and background music to many film and television projects as well as writing material for more mainstream artists after being signed to both CBS and Sony in a production capacity. Journey to The Sea of Sparks has been compiled from Sutherland's more atmospheric dark ambient work (which includes material from the series 'Taggart'), and is presented here in a jewelbox edition, with full colour artwork throughout."

IRMA (ITALY):

VA: Groovy Vol. 6 CD (IRMA 0182 CD). $16.00

"Sixth volume of the best known Irma Records Rare Groove series, selected as usual by Luca Trevisi (LTJ X-Perience). This time the tracklisting covers an even wider spectrum, searching for the most forgotten and hard to find records, reaching also soulfolk and rockfunk sonorities. We start from the marvellous Waters opening track, where the sound of water introduces the whole compilation. We move on with the latin softness of Seawind, the fantastic jazz voice of Carmen Lundy (here with her companion Curtis) and the Brazilian frenzy of Velho 4 (early 90's unreleased production by Banda Favela's leader). Then we find the unmistakable, sophisticated voice of Jon Lucien, Freddie Hubbard's jazzfunk sound (the initial sound of this track is one of the most used samples in drum'n'bass), the rock influenced sound of Ned Doheny, the classic Italian jazz/music library sound of Angel 'Pocho' Gatti and the peculiar funky version of the unforgettable Fever by Patti Drew. Finally the psychedelic soul of Syreeta (here produced by Leon Ware), the discosoul hit by Idris Muhammad and a splendid easy cover of Pais Tropical by one of the Italian masters of the genre."

VA: Groovy Vol. 6 2LP (IRMA 0182 LP). $18.00

Double LP version, gatefold sleeve.

VA: Sister Bossa Vol. 4 CD (IRMA 0461 CD). $16.00

"Fourth installment of this highly successful series, keeping the Brazilian sound alive in every shape and form. Old school, new school: we got it all, starting from the super energetic Banda Favela with 'Forro de Pe' remixed here by Belladonna to new acquisition Dirty Worx feat. Barbara Mendes with 'Ipanema Girl' a nice deep house tune with a lot of percussion to the hyperventilated 'Bossa con Affanno' by Mr. Blumemberg to the odd couple of LTJ and Joe Bataan with 'When The Rain Begins To Fall' a new composition written by LTJ and co. especially for Mr. East Side Soul himself."

DEODATO: The Bossa Nova Sessions Vol. 2 CD (IRMA 0836 CD). $16.00

"Fourth Irma Casadiprimordine back to back reissue of the legendary albums from Eumir Deodato in his first Bossa Nova period in Brazil. The titles of the two original albums are: Tremendao and Ataque. Apart from Deodato himself, among the many musicians taking part to the sessions are: Dom Um Romão, Raul De Souza, Rubens Bassini, Sergio Barroso, Geraldo Vespar. Among the authors we find: Marcos Valle, Luiz Bonfá, Henry Mancini, Baden Powell, Vinicius de Moraes and Pingarilho, who's also been taking care of the liner notes."

DEODATO: The Bossa Nova Sessions Vol. 2 2LP (IRMA 0836 LP). $18.00

Double LP version, gatefold sleeve.

VA: Mo'Plen Bacharach 2LP (IRMA 1044 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

DEODATO, EUMIR: Plays Marcos Valle: Summer Samba CD (IRMA 7901 CD). $16.00

"The name of Eumir Deodato needs no introduction: one of the biggest artists on the Brazilian scene during the last 30 years. He is side by side with Jobim and Joao Gilberto among the fathers of the Jazz Bossa/Jazz Samba sound that today is eventually gaining international recognition. If we combine his name with Marcos Valle's, one of the historical composers of this music style, the result is guaranteed. This album was conceived and selected by Deodato himself and contains only Marcos Valle's penned songs, all recorded with Os Catedráticos in Brazil during the '60s and all previously unreleased. 13 tracks. Super-cool artwork."

DEODATO, EUMIR: Plays Marcos Valle: Summer Samba LP (IRMA 7901 LP). $15.00

2LP version.

MONTEFIORI COCKTAIL: Re*Shaken / The Remix Album Project CD (IRMA 7984 CD). $16.00

"A fantastic collection featuring exclusive tracks/remixes by Fantastic Plastic Machine, Nicola Conte, Le Hammond Inferno, Ursula 1000, Claudio Coccoluto, The Easy Access Orchestra and lots more. The usual tasty Irma package."

MONTEFIORI COCKTAIL: Re*Shaken / The Remix Album Project 2LP (IRMA 7984 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

DEODATO: The Bossa Nova Session Vol. 1 2LP (IRMA 8350 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

VA: Modern Soul: Livin' For The Weekend CD (IRMA 8379 CD). $15.00

"Modern Soul - Livin' For The Weekend features a vast array of obscure mid seventies sounds performed by well known artists like the Temptations, Gloria Gaynor, Smokey Robinson, Bobby Womack, and Esther Phillips as well as current big in-demanders like Brown Sugar's 'The Game Is Over', Philly sound perfection. All the tracks deliver genuine soul music that has been hidden or forgotten by DJs and music lovers, not to mention big audiences. To add value to the whole project, most of the material is reissued on the CD format for the first time ever. It is aimed at both soul connoisseurs and the average record collector who wants to investigate one of the most exciting period for black music. Forget all those tried and tested classics, we have arranged something completely fresh for your ears, a mix of sought after tunes that still fill collectors' wantlists, as well as tracks that should a DJ believe in, would really go big in the clubs."

VA: Modern Soul: Livin' For The Weekend 2LP (IRMA 8379 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

VA: Soul in Motion: A Collection Of Soulful Futuristic Grooves 2LP (IRMA 8816 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

VA: Nordic CD (IRMA 9518 CD). $16.00

"New important partnership between IRMA Records and Colors, Benetton Group's bi-monthly publication, printed in eleven languages and distributed worldwide. For the next three years each issue of Colors will be tied to the release in the record stores of a concept CD compilation, connected to the subject of that month's Colors magazine. For instance, the September issue of Colors will deal with Northern European countries, so the CD on sale in the record shops, aptly titled Nordic, will be dedicated to the best emerging Scandinavian sounds from the Electronic, Chill Out and Nu Jazz scenes. Fabrica, Benetton's massive multimedia campaigns co-ordinator, will take care of the promotion, advertising and communication side of the project. Including Blue Foundation, Roxykopp, Xploding Plastics, Jimi Tenor, He Said Omala, Pan Sonic, Mind Over Midi, Motion Control, City Of Women, Goran Kajfes, Nils Petter Molvaer, Hilmar Orn Hilmarsson & Sigur Ros. And Deathprod."

DEODATO: Skyscrapers CD (IRMA 9563 CD). $16.00

"Another official Deodato re-issue on Irma Records, following 'Summer Samba' and 'Bossa Nova Sessions Vol. 1'. It's time for the legendary Skyscrapers, one of the most famous albums by the Brazilian musician/arranger/composer/producer, unavailable for many years and specially remastered for the occasion. It's one of Deodato's classic albums from the 60's, a must for anyone interested in the true origins of Bossa music."

DEODATO: Skyscrapers LP (IRMA 9563 LP). $15.00

LP version, gatefold sleeve.

IRML:

BRYANT, ALAN: Spaceball CD (IRML 01). $11.00

Bryant was an original member of the legendary 60s improvisational ensemble MEV (Musica Elettronica Viva). He later took up invented guitar language, releasing an infamous album on CRI (currently available as CRI CD 699); this new CD, self-released on his own new label, continues in the spirit of Space Guitars — droning, long-string-like ambience, space-pulse variations, all embedded in some of the deepest fields of cosmic invention that the current musical universe can offer. A music that Bryant claims is about whirling, speeding, smashing space particles and stormy, exploding matter — a drama that touches our very existence, origins and being — or not being. (I paraphrase, his unique personal spelling methods are much more exotic). I'm sure this will add up as one of the quintessential personal documents of recent times.

MEV: CD (IRML 02). $11.00

A previously unreleased document of MEV — four sections of an improvisation recorded in London, 1968, spread out over 43 minutes. The line up was Bryant (synthesizer), Alvin Curran (trumpet, percussion), Frederic Rzewski (amplified percussion, singing), Jon Phetteplace (amplified cello). Powerful, historic noise and the first easily available MEV music on CD. Also comes with a Bryant solo synth w/o-out piece at the end. Both of these IRML CDs come in regular jewel cases, and endearingly primitive xerox graphics; essential stuff to say the least.

BRYANT, ALAN: Space Tecno CD (IRML 03). $11.00

Solo electronics from the ex-member of MEV. Primitive xerox sleeve in jewel case, ala previous IRML documents. "Contemporary electronic musings from this MEV founder and producer of arguably the finest electric-guitar-process-as-musique-concrete-slab in the history of such an amalgam (that would be the Space Guitars CD on CRI). Despite the slightly sickening title, involved musics have less to do with 'techno' than, say, a selection of gold doubloons found off the Ivory Coast. Musically, these multi tracked solo synthesizer tracks (sonically akin to bending concave/convex sheets of hard vinyl) overlap in a most pleasing/mystically organized way. Liners feature new phonetically challenged texts to baffle in-laws and fans alike. Trance-inducing." — Hrvatski.

MEV: Rome Cansrt CD (IRML 04). $11.00

The original MEV (Allan Bryant, Alvin Curran, Frederic Rzewski, Joh Phetteplace), recorded in the spring of 1968 in Rome. "Vault held recordings of a MEV concert from Spring of 1968, featuring the original lineup of Allan Bryant (synthesizers), Alvin Curran (percussion, trumpet), Frederic Rzewski (percussion), and Jon Phetteplace (cello, percussion). Booklet reprints prime Bryant rants on church/state separation ('TH' 10 GRAETST AMERICNZ WR AGENST ORGANYZD RLJIN (OR)'), questionable medical practices ('SRCMSIZHN(S)-ITS DUN FOR MNI($)!'), the IBM theft of Apple technologies ('Just lyc Bill Gates mest up 7 Mac sstm, wich hi stol, n Uzd a cAmpx DOS sstm t mc it a mes U had t go t school t lrn, n wth cn upgrEdz ($)'), and quantum physics ('invent btrz fcl-xpl'nESnz 7an PAW, jumps, chans Es, Its bcm a stupiid wrd:'). You really can't find more convincing MEV recordings than this, excellent field-scraps with low-frequency peaks & valleys (incorrect tape speed during mastering process? You be the judge) and solemn, sub-aqueous anti-gloss tones... Excellent." — Hrvatski.

BRYANT, ALAN: Can'bl Sel CD (IRML 05). $11.00

"Pretty great albeit confusing new CD by Mssr. Bryant, he of MEV and the Space Guitar, once again in fact eschewing said guitar and utilizing what appears to be some recordings of thunderstorms followed by some wonderfully primitive electronics. Like the title 'says' this seems to be a meditation on Darwinism on the cellular level, all of the squishy and gurgly electronics mirroring (perhaps) the soundtrack of the alleged primordial ooze, and given that premise and the pedigree of the man behind the curtain, how can you go wrong? Easily the best music concerning microbes since the Incredible String Band's 'A Very Cellular Song'. In addition it's packaged with a wonderful broadsheet exhorting the virtues of phonetic spelling and mandatory organic chemistry classes for all. Still confused? Alan's track listing might illuminate things: 1. Intence THUNDR! - a real storm this x! (time) 2. bblG: N7 benz C6 intu amino n nucleic asidz (RNA)bacTria, vyRs, plants (procaryotes). 3. O8-cryss(crisis) = sunlyt n CO2-eatrz kild by 7er O8 waste 4: Supersel aryvz(arrives). Hi (he) eats O8 - a hypowrd fUl (fuel) 5. If its smalr, get 7 kechup. 7 last 1/2 BY (billiun yearz)." — Billy Kiely

MEV: Pieces CD (IRML 06). $11.00

Third archival MEV release on Allan Bryant's label. The first track, 'Quadrupl Play', is a piece for rubberbands recorded in 1966 by Allan Bryant. It can be described as 'variations on melody' and was played at the first MEV concerts in St. Paul du Vence, France and at Teatro Argentina in Rome. The second track, 'Pich Out' (or 'Rocket Take Off'), for 4 guitars, is loud and thundering, played by 4 musicians through 4 speakers at Sala Beloch, Rome in March 1967. Features Rzewski, Phetteplace, Curran, Bryant.

ISLAND (UK):

WHITE NOISE: An Electric Storm CD (ISL 09482). $18.00

"Classic electron-psy LP from '68 (released by Island). Spearheaded by one David Vorhaus, a staff member at BBC studios and widely rumored as co-creator of the music to BBC television's cult classic Dr. Who series. 'Welcome to the world of the frequency shifter, signal generator and azimuth co-ordinator. A world that existed before the dawn of the synthesizer, when a 'sample' was a length of recording tape delicately and skillfully spliced in place. The 1968 White Noise: An Electric Storm LP became the holy grail amongst collectors of 'Science Dimension' music, a staple ingredient for lovers of cosmic electronic space-rock'. Features longtime Evan Parker cohort Paul Lytton on drums, some familiar Perrey/Kingsley-esque tape-sound juxtapositioned with concreté-styled jump cuts. An authentic must-have, a truly important record in the continuum of electronic rock. — Hrvatski.

SLITS, THE: Cut CD (ISL 81862). $17.00

Mid-line reissue of this 1979 debut album, as produced by Dennis Bovell. With new liner notes, additional loincloth-session photo outtakes, two bonus tracks, etc.

4LP version, packaged in massive 4 color gatefold sleeve.

PESHAY: Miles From Home CD (ISL PFA1CD). $28.00

"Dear lord... Originally slated for release on Mo' Wax around early 1997, this was going to be the 'be all end all' of UK Jungle LP's (very few @ the time), only to have Mr. Peshay jump ship from Mo' Wax (after only one EP, the title track, and a remix on a promo-only DJ Shadow single) to this Island UK subsidiary. For a little background on why this all means cotton: "An early protégé of Goldie while the two worked on production at 4 Hero's Reinforced Records during the early '90s, Peshay's style of jungle/drum'n'bass, influenced both by house and the more polished forms of jazz fusion, allies itself both with Goldie and 4 Hero. A breakbeat DJ from early in his career, Peshay debuted on wax with Reinforced in 1993, recording the Protegé EP before joining Goldie's Metalheadz stable and releasing its second single, 'Psychosis.' He also recorded several twelves with LJT Bukem's Good Looking Records, including 'The Piano Tune' and '19.5.' Though hampered by a serious illness which sidelined him during jungle's breakout year of 1995, Peshay returned in 1996, remixing singles from Goldie's Timeless ('Inner City Life' and 'Angel') and contributing tracks to the Mo'Wax compilation Headz II. Signed up to Mo'Wax, Peshay released the 'Miles from Home' single in mid-1998 and worked on material with Hotek's Rupert Parkes. Following de rigueur for top-flight jungle producers, he also formed his own label, Elementz Records, which released twelves from Decoder and Technical Itch." That's some history, considering all. Drum n' bass still sounds good, wake up from the dull routine that has become your life." — Hrvatski.

ISMA'A (FRANCE):

VA: Creole Love Calls CD (YEB 2001 CD). $15.00

"As we listen to Creole Love Calls it's a surprise to discover, 20 or 30 years after their creation, some unknown antillan masterpieces of the Latin music. This rich and original production from the 60's and 70's has unfortunately rarely crossed the West Indian community. The musicians from Martinique and Guadeloupe have explored the whole panel of the Carribean music while keeping in touch with their own languages. This selection of rare and really-hard-to-find magical tracks will put a spell on listeners with the creole poetry and the various rhythms: beguine, mazurka, santeria, boogaloo...So, look out. You're about to discover the hot and fevered atmosphere of straw-walled ballrooms, the 'dens of iniquity' where in the 1970's every honest West Indian mother dreaded finding her children mixing with the riffraff." Features: Henri Guédon, La Perfecta, Ryco Jazz, Eddy Louiss, David Martial, Dolor et ses Etoiles, Marius Cultier, Les Vikings, Les Aiglons, Les Rapaces.

VA: Creole Love Calls 2LP (YEB 2001 LP). $16.00

Double vinyl version in full color sleeve. Same 12 tracks as the CD.

GUILLAUME, JEPHTE: Bourrique La 12" (YEB 2003). $8.00

"In 2001, the label Isma'a produced Creole love calls, a compilation of 70's tunes from the West Indies, inspired by latin, soul, jazz and african rhythms. Following the interest aimed to this compilation by the electronic scene DJ's, influenced by latin and African music, and, through the impetus given by Discograph, the label Isma'a has decided to keep on going the Creole adventure through a concept of modern production. The project called 'Creole Re-Creation serie', is about one series of twelve inches dedicated to modern rerendering of old antillan compositions. Jephthé Guillaume chose for the first 12 inches, a title from the amateur singer Dolor Méliot, called 'Bourrique la' that came out on 7 inches in 1970. Jephthé lighted up this melancholic and roots track, for a spiritual and afrocentrist variation, carried on by his mystic voice and a trombone. Some simples arrangements but dense, magnified by the use of an old school keyboard to the glory of Larry Heard etc?"

BRIVAL, ROLAND: Waka CD (YEB 2006 CD). $17.00

"New Diaspora Soul. Waka: a name for what Roland Brival calls the 'mythic source' of Caribbean music (wa, voice, and ka, the drum). But also a name for a dialogue at the core of art. Brival, a stunning polymath — as an accomplished visual artist as well as the author of ten novels and a number of screenplays — says that 'for me, voice and rhythm are the essential tools of all communication, and thus of any art form. Even a painting is the expression of an inner voice, and there's no sculpture without rhythm.' Brival's music pursues that source in the main mode of Caribbean culture: creolization, a mixing of styles and languages, insistent and infectious. This record was deliberately recorded in just four days mainly in 'live in studio' single takes, in order to evoke the freshness and urgency of a range of music from the late 1960s and early 1970s — whether the free-and-loose Antillean bands of the era, or the convergence between funk and free jazz that brought Sly Stone towards the Art Ensemble, or Funkadelic towards Sun Ra. With such an approach, this record defies expectations about French Caribbean music. It's not nostalgic folklore, and it's definitely not prepackaged studio confection. From the first notes of 'To Be One' (where Carnival street

BRIVAL, ROLAND: Waka 2LP (YEB 2006 LP). $19.00
Double LP Version.

ISOPHLUX RECORDS:

MARINKOVIC: Kinetix 12" (ISO 016). $6.50

"Straight from war torn Yugoslavia, 19 year old Alex Marinkovic draws deeply from the discord of his surroundings, unclocking the chaos of his native land in his explosive debut release, 'Kinetix'. The compelling sounds are reflections that bleed forth harsh beats, combined with the 'lo-fi-feel', Marinkovic produces music that is distinct. Influenced by his Detroit heroes, Marinkovic takes shape, allowing a glimpse of hope to come through in his work with tracks like, 'Personal Distorted Trip'. In this track the swinging structures play against the motoring norm of the harsh beats. Isophlux is honored to have Marinkovic in the family. 'Kinetix', is a welcome step out of the living room and on to the dance floor for Isophlux." Limited stock.

LONG, WYNDELL: Deep & Dark 12" (ISO 018). $6.50

"A devoted music fiend since the age of 7, Wyndell grew up on black radio during the P/Funk era in Chicago. A move to the Suburbs changed his listening perspective to a much wider spectrum of music. Prince, Streisand, Rolling Stones, any body who made a song he liked was purchased no matter what genre it was. He was also lucky enough to be right in the middle of the Chicago/Detroit house-techno movement. His first endeavors into the dance scene started with co-production and remix work as well as monthly mix tape productions. Without any contacts or help he pursued a EP deal of his own and hooked up with Peacefrog (UK) in 96 and have been busy and consistent ever since (recording for such respected labels as R&R, Plastic City, DJAX, Sublime and surface). Wyndell's style fits in perfect with releases by Black Nation, UR, Hardwax, and Purpose Maker."

VA: Isophlux Records 1995-2000 CD (ISO 020CD). $12.00

"This CD compilation is compiled from our past releases starting in 1995 to our current releases coming out in 2000. We waited along time to come out with a compilation that we felt completed the Isophlux story, of our first five years. The music that was chosen comes from all different mind frames, geographic regions, and covers many sub-genres of electronic music but, all stand in the class of timeless. We hope you enjoy our first five years as much as we have. Artists: L'usine, Scenic, Gosub, Marinkovic, Lyunx Productions, Lexauncult, Protocol, Influx, Metal Beast, Greg Chin, Shad T. Scott.

GOSUB: A Collection Of Mind Frames CD (ISO 021CD). $11.00

"Gosub A.K.A. Shad T. Scott co-founder of Isophlux Records has finally come around again to release a record of his own music. After 4 years of working with major pop producers, Glen Ballard, Rick Nowels and artists Alanis Morissette, Fiona Apple, and The Corrs, Shad decided to go back to his beginnings as an artist. Not since 1997's classic Metal Beast vs. Lustmord on Side Effect Records has Shad emerged from behind the scenes to record a new album. With his move back to the east coast (Brooklyn, New York), Shad has returned to his Miami roots of electro music. Gosub's A Collection Of Mind Frames was put together with creative writing in mind. Keeping his mind clear with no expectations of what might be the end results. These songs were written in the mild heat of this past summer. From the electro of 'Tra-Fuse 1' to the dance floor of 'Spoon Feeder' we see Shad's versatility within his music and his collective thoughts. The end results is a body of work that has something for everyone. No matter if you are into house, techno, booty bass, or IDM we know there will be a mind frame you can get into and maybe even open your mind to new ones."

GOSUB: Miami To Brooklyn EP 12" (ISO 023). $6.00

"Back with a classic Miami-Brooklyn electro blend of tracks which relate to Shad's early days of producing Electro-Bass and dance music down in South Florida. Builds on those foundations to bring the listener a new stage in electro, which is designed to be played in multiple types of environments. The main goal for the Gosub project is to smear boarders, people, and to break the easy stereotype of break dancing, body popping, over used robot voice played out electro shit. This release brings to mind works by Drexciya, DJ Assault, and Remote."

CENIK: Lies EP 12" (ISO 025). $6.50

"Two Dutch brothers (Don+ Roel Funcken) A.K.A Funckarma have in the past few years made a name for themselves on such respected labels as Dub, Musik Aus Strom, and a hand full of others. We are happy to bring you their exclusive project for Isophlux of dark melodies and complex beat arrangements. Not too much we can say except it's just some good ass electronic music from some good guys across the pond that have a great way of making emotion filled music with unemotional devices."

LONG, WYNDELL: What I've Done EP 12" (ISO 026). $6.00

"Chicago's Wyndell Long is back with another four tracks of deep dark techno-house with a twist of Getto-tech in the mix. These recent activities reflect the new sound coming from his home town of Chicago and sister city of Detroit."

MARINKOVIC: Unexpected Transmissions EP 12" (ISO 029). $6.00

"Alex Marinkovic is one of Yugoslavia's fastest up and coming techno DJ/producers. His music can be found from Speedy J's living room turntables, to the halls of Germany's world famous Tresor club. Coming from war torn Yugoslavia, Marinkovic feels a need to produce music that can express his anger over the powering government of Yugoslavia and the hardship his countrymen have had to face over the last few years. Marinkovic has had to produce these tracks using a gas power generator to operate his recording equipment, due to the unpredictable electrical supply in Yugoslavia. We describe Marinkovic's music as just good honest techno. No bells, No whistles, just strong electronics with a meaning behind it."

ISOTA:

MOODY AND ONE RING ZERO, RICK: Rick Moody and One Ring Zero CD (SODY 023CD). $10.00

Includes a rare tribute to proto-metal heads Deep Purple. Features track notes by Rick Moody written exclusively for this release."

ITALIC (GERMANY):

ANTONELLI ELECTR.: Me, The Disco Machine 2LP (ITALIC 005). $15.00

"Me, the Disco Machine by Antonelli Electr. is a compilation of the early 12" vinyl works released originally between 1997 and 1999 for ecstatic dancing non-stop. All the early 12" maxi single are deleted and are now for the first time re-released as a luxury double vinyl edition with worldwide limited 1000 copies. Me, the Disco Machine is a pure, digital sound: minimally arranged, using economical aesthetics, a hedonistic attitude, abstract programming, a crisp style and class detail featuring various dancefloor hits like 'I Don't Want Nobody Else But You', 'Automatic Music', 'Bohannon', 'Dubby Disco' and many others. This 2x12" contains one bonus track not available on the CD version."

VA: Dancefloor, I Can't Get Enough Of Your Love 3LP (ITALIC 011). $19.00

"For the love of pop and euphoria, Italic presents its first label showcase. Very dance, very pop, very Italic. Rafräichissant et glamour, bruits synthétique et mélodies. All tracks are new and exclusive for this compilation." Artists include A Rocket In Dub, Antonelli Electr., Binford aka Kreidler, April, and Borneo & Sporenburg.

APRIL: If... 12" (ITALIC 013). $9.00

"April is a project by Andreas Reihse, a pop-musician from Cologne with various musical identities and passions. These include membership in the techno project Binford and the pop band Kreidler. He releases his solo works on Italic under the name April. If... is his debut 12" maxi-single. The 'Penthouse Park Mix' of If... was the hit song of the Italic compilation Dancefloor, I Can't Get Enough Of Your Love (3x12"), released at the end of last year. This song is now being released as a single in 3 new previously unavailable mixes. 'If It Doesn't Happen Naturally (Don't Leave It)' on side A with its bright house piano and pop quotations turns dancefloors into catwalks: euphoric, decadent and dreamy. The If-Girl!, the first song on side B, is a duet with April and Düsseldorf artist, Thea Djordjadze. The second track on side B, 'If - the tube edit', is pure pop amour. 3 mixes for lovers of vocal, deep and minimal house. Very Italic."

ANTONELLI ELECTR.: The Strings 12" (ITALIC 015). $9.00

"The first single release from Click. 'The Strings' is a flamboyant hymn to string instruments. A light rhythm initially sets in, before the strings suddenly appear from nowhere, sublime and drifting. They can create that unique, addictive feeling. They are accompanied by a pumping bass sequence, very dry hand-claps and stunning house piano. The monotony and speed of 'Same player, again and again' is only varied by minute sequential adjustments and the use of a 'digibass' in the last part of the track. This is machine funk at its best."

ANTONELLI ELECTR.: Click CD (ITALIC 016 CD). $15.00

"After the euphoric reception of the CD Me, The Disco Machine and various hits in the last two years, pop dandy Stefan Schwander has programmed a new album entitled Click. The new album's most important attribute is its modernity. Click is now, a prototype for the future, providing an independent musical language and expression for Antonelli: his personal digital creation, minimally arranged, using economical aesthetics, a hedonistic attitude, abstract programming, a crisp sound and class detail. Click is a personal comment on electronic music in 2001 and displays Antonelli's view of digital club music. Click is an unambiguous statement for a kind of music which must be constantly renewed and repositioned. The music delivers despite its discipline, sublimity, elegance and beauty. The digital sound swings, every single click vibrates. The sound's precision is perfect. A pure, digital sound."

ANTONELLI ELECTR.: Click 2LP (ITALIC 016 LP). $15.00

Double LP version.

ANTONELLI ELECTR.: Chrome Vanadium EP 12" (ITALIC 017). $8.00

"Chrome Vanadium is the second single release from the new album Click and features 4 new unreleased tracks: 2 new versions of "Chrome Vanadium" (version and chrome) and 'Tense' and 'Unintense' 2 brand new hits by Antonelli Electr. A prototype for the future, providing an independent musical language and expression for Antonelli: his personal digital creation, minimally arranged, using economical aesthetics, a hedonistic attitude, abstract programming, a crisp sound and class detail. Chrome Vanadium EP is a personal comment on electronic music in 2001 and displays Antonelli's view of digital club music and an unambiguous statement for a kind of music which must be constantly renewed and repositioned. The music delivers despite its discipline, sublimity, elegance and beauty. The digital sound swings, every single click vibrates. The sound's precision is perfect. A pure, digital sound. The minimal techno of 'Chrome Vanadium' is an exact groove aesthetic for connoisseurs and dancers. Perfect swing for the dancefloor."

VA: The Vogue Remixes 12" (ITALIC 019). $8.00

"Italic welcomes some guests: Steve Bug, Michael Mayer, Farben and The Freestyle Man did a remix from 'The Vogue' by Antonelli Electr. Featuring Miss Kittin. What comes out are 4 digital remixes between Pop, Techno, House and Disco. The Mix by Steve Bug (Pokerflat, Cocoon) is an abstract, minimal and Hedonistic Techno track, climaxing in repetitions of the duet Miss Kittin & Antonelli Electr.: We dance. We dance. We lose control. His Mix Reduces The Vogue to the absolute Maximum. Funky as hell! Michael Mayer (Kompakt) rocks! As sweet as ever. His Remix is better Than 'Hush Hush Baby', more erotic than 'Amanda', sweeter than Zimt, more Fashionable than Kompakt, more minimal than Cologne. Jan Jelinek aka Farben (Klang Elektronik, Scape) remixes The Vogue As an instrumental Disco Classic with wonderful Strings and a light soulful Arrangement. Swinging, sophisticated and fantastic. The secret tip on the Record! Our Friend Sasse from Finland aka The Freestyle Man (Sähkö) dedicates His remix to his love of Housemusic. Very deep & rocking."

BORNEO & SPORENBURG: Remember Today LP (ITALIC 020 LP). $11.00

LP version, 2002 release in stock for the first time. "Borneo & Sporenburg is not a new brand of nail varnish from 'Chanel', but a new musical fragrance from the Cologne (minimal) dance label Italic. Borneo & Sporenburg are the Zurich/Stuttgart DJ and producer duo Daniel Varga and Frank Wössner."

A ROCKET IN DUB: Rocket No.3 12" (ITALIC 021). $8.00

"The 2nd Release from Stefan Schwander aka. Antonelli Electr. as A Rocket In Dub. With this Project Stefan Schwander works closer to dub & electronica techniques in opposition to his more dancefloor orientated alter ego Antonelli Electr. To summarise the idea of A Rocket In Dub: the tempo is definitive, 100 BpM is simply the 'dubby' tempo. But it stays minimal. Here, the attempt to use dub elements means the layering of individual elements. Even though the production concept for A Rocket In Dub is carefully calculated — ninety percent of the ideas for a track are determined in advance — that still leaves room for surprises. Like the statement about generally not working with samples. A Rocket In Dub therefore develops its own version of dub technique: A mixture of a pared-down musical language with a little bit of melancholy."

BORNEO & SPORENBURG: Wiedersehen 12" (ITALIC 022). $8.00

"Borneo & Sporenburg is a new musical fragrance from Cologne (minimal) dance label Italic. Borneo & Sporenburg are the Zurich/Stuttgart DJ and producer duo Daniel Varga and Frank Wössner. Together, they add the fitting music to every day, working on the border between pop-songs and club-tracks. 'Wiedersehen' is the first single release from their debut album Remember Today. The wistful, subtle lyrics sung by Philippe could apply to anyone. His voice is distorted by a Vocoder-like module. Philippe also sang 'This Is Music Added To My Day' and has inspired many people with his voice. 'Wiedersehen' is a dance-pop song for lonely hours on the beach as well as for euphoric moments at the club."

VA: Dancer CD (ITALIC 024 CD). $14.00

"Italic presents a new series of compilations: The Dance Collection. The first CD is an Italic label compilation that leads through the Italic coordinates system: Pop, Dance, Digital. Dancer is a compilation of tracks that have not previously been released on CD, some of which are officially no longer available. This compilation provides an overview of the various methods of production and individual approaches of each artist that form and characterize the Italic sound. Dancer defines a new style of digital pop music popular from the club scene, while at the same time applying classical songwriting elements. Through the integration of song structure and vocals in the various tracks, Italic sets itself apart from the traditional techno/house context while creating the kind of music to accompany you throughout the various moods and moments of everyday life and digital lifestyle: the romanticism and the gracefulness to capture the moment and/or the euphoric and decadent impressions of a long night at the club. The techno and house tracks on Dancer have more of a film like character rather than fulfilling any certain function. Music for the dancefloor or catwalk. Everybody is a Dancer! Admit it!" Artists include: Antonelli Electr., A Rocket In Dub, Borneo & Sporenburg, Soda, Antonelli Electr. f. Miss Kittin.

ANTONELLI ELECTR.: Pictures 12" (ITALIC 025). $8.00

"Antonelli Electr. works mainly with sequencers and drum machines; a computer is used only for studio work. Only sequencers and drum machines are used for the live interpretation as well. This minimalist procedure has proved effective over the years and it has been perfected and viewed as a challenge. His way of working is often conceptual and serially motivated, which is reflected in the visual interpretation of his work as well (cover design, live performance, music video). Antonelli Electr. creates an independently unique language of music and means of expression: his own personal digital draft, minimally arranged, slender in aesthetics, hedonistic in attitude, abstract in programming and detailed in sound."

ANTONELLI ELECTR.: Love And Other Solutions CD (ITALIC 027 CD). $14.00

"Techno Pop dandy Stefan Schwander aka Antonelli Electr. presents his third album Love & Other Solutions. After his minimalistic TechHouse masterpieces Me, The Disco Machine and Click Antonelli's new material is heading in a slightly more ambient direction, but still always keeps the dancefloor in mind. The minimalist procedure has proved effective over the years and it has been perfected and viewed as a challenge. So are sequencers and drum computers the main tools, computers are only added for studio work. Antonelli's way of working is often conceptual and serially motivated, which is reflected not only in the music, but the visual interpretation of his work as well (cover design, live performance and video). Antonelli Electr. creates an independently unique language of music and means of expression: his own personal digital draft, minimally arranged, slender in aesthetics, hedonistic in attitude, abstract in programming and detailed in sound."

ANTONELLI ELECTR.: Love And Other Solutions 2LP (ITALIC 027 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

A ROCKET IN DUB: Rocket No. 5 12" (ITALIC 028). $8.00

"Stefan Schwander (aka Pop Up, Rhythm_Maker) presents his new 12" under his A Rocket In Dub alias. With A Rocket In Dub he is going into a very melodic and experimental Detroit influenced Dub direction with two new cuts of emotional beautiful laid back Techno and full listening and dancefloor appeal. The production concept for A Rocket In Dub is carefully calculated, ninety percent of the ideas for a track are determined in advance, but still leaves room for surprises: Apart from his two previous A Rocket In Dub 12" he works on his new tracks with a very old fashioned instrument: the trombone takes the listener on a trip through a new musical landscape, ranging from deep excursions through the fields of minimalism and harmony. A Rocket In Dub therefore develops its own version of Dub technique. The attempt to use Dub elements means the mixture of a pared-down musical language with a little bit of melancholy. Only the music should speak."

BORNEO & SPORENBURG: What's Going On Tonight Remixes 12" (ITALIC 029). $9.00

"The smart outfit Borneo & Sporenburg from Stuttgart guarantees excellent entertainment. It is made up of the Stuttgart DJ and producer duo Daniel Varga (Rework, Playhouse) and Frank Wössner. Their productions on the Cologne label Italic consist of a good mixture of deepness, melancholy, pop and house. The remixes of 'What's Going On Tonight' are by Losoul and the hip Extra Produktionen (Freizeitglauben) from Berlin."

SUSTAINER: Cuantico CD (ITALIC 030 CD). $15.00

"Italic is beginning the New Year with another wealth of emotions. After Love And Other Solutions by Antonelli Electr., Sustainer's Cuantico will be released: It presents deep, delicate and vulnerable instrumental music. Alex Alarcon aka Sustainer was born in Barcelona in 1975. He was a quiet child, but still asked for a drum kit at the age of 7. Without any luck: His aunt gave him a toy synthesizer, which he immediately used to imitate Italo-Disco tracks. At the age of 16, he bought a guitar equipped with sound-effects devices, as his musical horizons continued to grow. By then, he had come across various records that impressed him, including Loveless by My Bloody Valentine and Quique by Seefeel. With this background, he bought his first modern instruments, namely a synthesizer, a sampler and an Atari. He was already almost exclusively listening to electronic music: from dubby to experimental, from Barcelona to Berlin, and from fast to slow. His output grew and grew, as initial live gigs followed both in clubs and at experimental music festivals. Today, Sustainer focuses entirely on producing. His music is light, quiet and enchantingly vivacious, its straight bass drum, softly driving drum sounds, chords and clicks all producing club and pop-oriented music. New Spanish Modernism."

SUSTAINER: Cuantico 2LP (ITALIC 030 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

A ROCKET IN DUB: Rocket No. 7 12" (ITALIC 031). $9.00

"As could only be expected from Stefan Schwander, sooner or later, faster, danceable tracks emerged which however have nothing to do with obligatory Saturday night dancing: You can dance, but you don't have to. The Spartan list of numbered tracks is no less densely and functionally structured than Stefan Schwander's other productions: The tracks take their time to create warmth and depth. Such depth corresponds with the work of the Berlin artist Hendrik Krawen, whose pictures were used for the maxi releases: Concrete situations in a timeless and disoriented age point to other, past or future situations. The music by A Rocket In Dub is also characterised by an enchanting lack of boundaries and cannot be fixed to a single genre or scene. Although it delves in various well-known and more obscure stylistic and production methods, it does without specific reference points in favour of relaxed functional freedom."

A ROCKET IN DUB: If Music Could Talk CD (ITALIC 032 CD). $15.00

"Once a space ship has positioned itself in orbit, its room for manoeuvring from the earth is considerably reduced. Similarly, once a music producer moves in a certain direction, public expectations quickly become restrictive, making it equally difficult to tread new paths. Some take the easy option of producing many different versions of the same piece (not just for the sake of simplicity). Others constantly work on further developing and enhancing their musical ideas. As one of the most active electronic music producers, Stefan Schwander aka Antonelli Electr., Pop Up, Swimmingpool, Rhythm_Maker, Repeat Orchestra and A Rocket In Dub could prove his instinct for the requirements of dancefloor music in numerous releases. Each new release was also an attempt to expand his tonal cosmos and perfect the simple, friendly functionality of his dance tracks. Yet functional (electronic) dance music means sacrificing the element of slowness. This was reason enough to open a new chapter with tracks that don't fit into the '4-to-the-floor' tempo and pattern: A Rocket In Dub. These tracks were developed without any pressure in terms of time or production to attempt something new or use something old in a different way. As could only be expected from Stefan Schwander, sooner or later, faster, danceable tracks emerged which however have nothing to do with obligatory Saturday night dancing: You can dance, but you don't have to. The Spartan list of numbered tracks is no less densely and functionally structured than Stefan Schwander's other productions: The tracks take their time to create warmth and depth. The music by A Rocket In Dub is also characterised by an enchanting lack of boundaries and cannot be fixed to a single genre or scene. Although it delves in various well-known and more obscure stylistic and production methods, it does without specific reference points in favour of relaxed functional freedom."

EINMUSIK: Weekender 12" (ITALIC 033). $9.00

"Einmusik is the 'Techno Boygroup' consisting of the DJs Cranque & Unique, together with the producer Nicol from Hamburg. The music of Einmusik is somewhere between 'minimal pop' and 'bombastic techno', without ever losing sight of what some critics might call kitsch. The three have been influenced by contrasting musical experiences: Drum 'n' Bass, Gabba and Techno."

SKUA LOVELLE: The Morris Jesup Rise 12" (ITALIC 034). $9.00

"This is propaganda. Here comes Skua Lovelle aka Sebastian Weber. A new star in the Italic universe straight outta Cologne. Young & fresh, romantic & rocking, deep & personal. The a-side 'The Morris Jesup Rise' is a happy & sexy driving tech-house track with a killer bassline. 'The Return Of Good Fun': This is more than a track. It's a catchy pongsong. Watch the harmonies on the b-side: b1 'Nansen Ridge' and b2 'Wandel Sea' create darker feelings. Deepest house music with an abstract electronica feeling. What a starter for a young boy. Cologne's future hits back."

LITTLE ANNIE & THE LEGALLY JAMMIN': Little Annie & The Legally Jammin' CD (ITALIC 035 CD). $16.00

"Little Annie & The Legally Jammin' play a wild, hormone-saturated mixture of spoken song and sometimes harsh, but always swinging rhythms. 'No Wave' based on electronic beats recordings from the epicentres of pop music: New York, Mexico City and Düsseldorf. The very first weirdly choked echo gives you an idea of what kind of sound system The Legally Jammin' is, sometimes playing 'Disco Dub', sometimes 'No Wave Disco'. Little Annie adds her words to the beat, bass and fat soul-electric harmony of The Legally Jammin'. When her voice picks up on a melody and she begins to sing, she is closer to the lasciviousness of Grace Jones and the emotion of Marianne Faithfull than the solitude of Wanda Robinson. New York Just sit down beside Little Annie on some steps in the sun-drenched heat of New York and she will begin to tell you a story. She has never been to the cinema, didn't pick it up from books these are no stories she has stolen. Annie Annie Ty is adventurous. She travels through the visible world, acts the Bohemian chanteuse, sees, hears and is always right at the centre of events, collects experiences from the street and writes her book every night. And she performs it on stage. Broadway is the hardest way: inside and outside. Her texts tell first of redemption and then of sin. 'Backtrack Jack', for instance, the Pepsi Cola song, and therefore a loose homage to Leigh Bowery's 'Useless Man' but much less dirty. Or '2nd Avenue Blues': It tells of peeling oneself. Does an onion float without its seven skins? And 'Bleach' is my favourite cliché. It all sounds incredibly sexy even when it is at its most morbid. Blessed by a late birth, one can innocently say: New York poetry meets dub electro-clash. And why not: That is how it should sound, the lovers' rock album of the year."

ANTONELLI ELECTR.: Bohannon 12" (ITALIC 07). $9.00

"The new Antonelli Electr. 12" Bohannon is the last single release from the successful Me, The Disco Machine CD, which includes this year's most popular underground dance tunes. From the lovely vocoder vocals of 'I Don't Want Nobody Else But You' to the more minimal and raving 'Dubby Disco' to the groundbreaking German vocoder pop hit 'Automatic Music', which links Antonelli Electr. directly to New Order's 'Blue Monday'."

BORNEO & SPORENBURG: This Is Music Added To My Day 12" (ITALIC 12). $9.00

"Slick & chic deephouse by this new Italic act."

AUTOMATIQUE: Nightclubbing 12" (ITALIC 26). $9.00

"If anyone else other than Grace Jones can use the word 'Nightclubbing' then it's definitely the Hamburg-based project Automatique, which is actually the DJ-Producer team Harre Kühnast & Henry Stamerjohann. Both have been actively involved in the Hamburg club scene since the mid-90s. The Automatique DJ sets are characterized by minimal techno with pop appeal and also reflect their love of Detroit techno and Chicago house. Now their first production on Italic is being released. Their tracks on 'Nightclubbing' range between flamboyant minimal techno and classical Italic school. Grace Jones would have fun with it!"

ANTONELLI ELECTR.: Me the Disco Machine CD (ITALIC 5 CD). $15.00

"Super classy album from Düsseldorf's mega hip Antonelli Electr., who successfully combines the best elements from minimal techno (a la Basic Channel), electro (a la Kraftwerk), disco and house. Me the Disco Machine is a compilation of 12" released between 1997 and 1999 for ecstatic dancing. It includes the lovely vocoder vocals of 'I Don't Want Nobody Else But' as well as the more minimal and raving 'Dubby Disco', plus the vocoder pop hit 'Automatic Music' that links Antonelli Electr. directly to New Order's 'Blue Monday'. All tracks are released on CD for the first time." Recorded and mixed by Antonelli Electr. and Pyrolator at Ata Tak.

VA: Anti-Establishment 1: Hamburg 12" (ITALIC 036 EP). $9.00

"Anti-Establishment is a new series of 12"s from Italic and presents individual producers of electronic club music from selected cities. The first contribution is from Hamburg: the label Dial comes up with four tracks full of rocking minimalism, sad romanticism and abstract deepness. A1. Sten: Hypnotic minimal track with highly pressure funk from Pete Kersten aka Lawrence, the hero of sad deepness. A2. Lawrence: With his second track Lawrence dives in the deepness of 'the audition'. A film by Takashi Miike: 'the dark in the sunlight. What makes them different is what keeps them alive.' B1. Carsten Jost: The hero of working class starts the second side with a crisp groovy knister techno track. B2. Again Carsten Jost comes up with a more abstract micro minimal mover and gets back to the power of early techno. Very Anti-Establishment."

ELEKTRO MUSIC DEPARTMENT: Anti-Establishment 2: Berlin 12" (ITALIC 037EP). $9.00

"The second part of the 'Anti-Establishment' series comes from the Berlin based 'Elektro Music Department' label: Monotonous simplicity, strong bass, static beats, pure melody, vocals with attitude, minimal, fragile, techno, melancholy, superficial, signal, banality, anti-establishment, bourgeoisie, Elektro Music Department, elektro club, styling, logos, industry, emblem, electronic music, product elektro, end of identity, pop-aesthetics, chance, sex, kotai, rave, extreme Und psychedelic, clubphantom, cool, ideology, message, horror, nightmare of the beautiful And the naive, radically, uncontrolled reality, sound-interval, simultaneous, individual, statement, interpretation, emotional, rigorous, meaning, fun factor, gegenpol, sexy ultradeepness, Uncompromising, experimental, fragment, understatement, black acid, incalculable, generosity, machine, structure, bass and bassline, desolate, hopeless, slow, schleifen, sequenz, garage, service, corporate identity."

MINIMAL ALLSTARS: Radical Rhythm 12" (ITALIC 038EP). $9.00

"Dear friends of Italic, After the very successful start of the 'Anti Establishment' series, the most recent product of our pop manufactory is the Radical Rhythm of the Minimal Allstars: Automatique from Hamburg (a1) are kicking techno — elegant and classically minimal. The new piece of Skua Lovelle on a2 is very deep and musical. Einmusik from Hamburg are producing as 'techno boygroup' maximum techno with Raveappeal. They continue with 'Devotion' (b1) where they have stopped with Weekender some time ago. Finally the last piece on b2 is from A Rocket In Dub with his 'Rocket-Series' and his vision of a neo cut-up disco dub. ...if music could talk. With its Minimal Allstars concept, Italic continues to work on an up-to-date pop draft for you DJs out there — in all its varieties. Between techno pop, disco pop, agit pop, concept pop, pop art, minimal pop, rave pop and Cologne pop."

ANTONELLI ELCTR.: Anti-Establishment 3: Dusseldorf 12" (ITALIC 039). $9.00

"The 'disco machine' from Dusseldorf, stylish as usual."

EINMUSIK: Jittery Heritage EP Part 1 12" (ITALIC 040EP). $9.00

"The new Einmusik comes as 'acid salsa' board. The young Hamburg producers want to remain the maximum and thereby staying minimum in the sound design. 'Wave Scanner' on the a-side begins with a momentumful beat and increases slowly by pushing sounds of key-boards until the vocals began and the beat takes over the body work. Perhaps the track with most pop appeal so far. 'Full Moon' on the b-side carried by the very unusual beat construction with hell-like sounds, deep bassdrum and the suggested acid melody line. Under drugs it blows away like typography of 'Peter Saville'. Ibiza and 'Hacienda' were so close never."

SKUA LOVELLE: Breaking 12" (ITALIC 041EP). $9.00

"Skua Lovelle's first 12": The Morris Jesup Rise (ita 034) played itself in the hearts and cases of the knowing DJs (Ricardo Villalobos and Carsten Jost). On its new 12" Skua Lovelle inspires with dark acid funk inclusive two remixes of M.I.A. (Substanc) and Thomas Schaeben (Firm): deep sequencer bass meets kicking and loud snaredrum meets Detroit strings meets cologne acid meets electro beat. The renegades of white funk."

JACK:

JACK MASTER: Basement Trax Vol. 1: Bang The Box 12" (JACK 001 EP). $6.50

"Largely out of print and circulation for years, Plus 8 is proud to reissue a classic, Basement Trax Vol.1 by Jack Master (aka Richie Hawtin). The featured A-side 'Bang the Box' has been a house standard since its original release in 1992 on Jack Records (a small output Plus 8 offshoot during the 90's) with its plain red and white label. A tribute to the influential house sound from Chicago, the bonus a cappella 'Bang A Pella' has been cut up and layered by all types of DJs from techno to hip hop, most recently used in SLAM's The Mix (DMC, 2002). Raw, stripped, and Jackin'... get it now while its back in session."

JACK WRIGHT:

WRIGHT & FRIENDS, JACK: Thaw CD (JW 002). $10.00

Self-produced CD from 1992 with hand-painted covers; Colorado-fuel improv, featuring Wright (alto, soprano, tenor saxes, piano) with Murray Reams (drums), Terry Sines (bass), Mike O'Neill (guitar), Justin Perdue (trumpet, guitar), Bob Marsh (cello, flute, violin), etc.

JAGJAGUWAR:

YOUNGS, RICHARD: Sapphie CD (JAG 19). $12.00

"Originally issued in 1998 by Oblique recordings, Sapphie was Richard Youngs' fifth solo full-length and quite a unique album in his already unique oeuvre. Made up of three acoustic tracks — spanning over 37 minutes in length — featuring just classical guitar and voice, Sapphie is quiet and introspective. The songs feel like an intimate journey by hand through a song cycle of loss and renewal. Within the context of his massive and ever-growing body of work, Sapphie is his most song-based and arguably his most personal. Fans of reclusive sages like Nick Drake, Anne Briggs, and Robert Wyatt will most appreciate the timeless quality inherent in Youngs' songs."

YOUNGS, RICHARD: Making Paper CD (JAG 26). $12.00

"Richard Youngs' first three-song 'full-length' release shone down like a beacon from above. It opened with a chorus of tape hiss and a patently English-sounding piano. Eventually there was a British man pleading in song for mercy, for pardon, or, at the very least, for conviction to a lesser charge. This was Advent and it was 1990. Youngs had just introduced himself to the universe at large through his No Fans label. Fast forward to the New Year, 2000. Youngs is back on the stool, this time in Edinburgh, Scotland, with long-time collaborator Brian Lavelle engineering. Youngs has another three songs in him, and they show him to be a much wizened, more patient man. Distilled to only piano and vocals, the album is epic to say the least. Opening with 'Warriors', a 19-minute journey the size of Scotland, the song pleads, 'Warriors see through battle lines.' The second song, 'The World Is Silence In Your Head', is vintage Youngs fare, offering further evidence that there is significant kinship between him and the ranks of the late-60's to early-70's progressive rock set such as Peter Hamill and his Van Der Graaf Generator, as well as first wave Yes and King Crimson. The song is as sprawling and imaginative in its mythology as the most inspired of prog's deep canon ever got. Yet it tells the tale in less than three minutes and with only one phrase and one instrument, with unprecedented clarity and precision-not to mention poesy. Certainly it warrants that Youngs be crowned the king of the progressive minimalists. He preys on the most meditative tendencies in each of us, and he finds the essence in each of his songs (throwing out the rest) which endeavours to put erstwhile listeners in a trance-like state."

FAIR & DANIEL JOHNSTON, JAD: It's Spooky CD (JAG 33). $12.00

"First released in 1989 on Jad's own 50 Skidillion Watts Records, Jad Fair & Daniel Johnston's It's Spooky seemed like the perfect pairing of two of the most unique and idiosyncratic songwriters to emerge from the post-punk rubble of the late-'70s. On this new expanded reissue — which contains 6 bonus tracks not on the original version — It's Spooky stands up as a true masterpiece, sadly overlooked in its day. A magical trip through the child-like universe of two kids at heart, it is even more impressive now with twelve years of perspective that just how uninhibited Jad & Daniel are as they walk you through their best fantasies and worst dreams."

SPOKANE: The Proud Graduates CD (JAG 35). $12.00

"Spokane's second full-length The Proud Graduates finds quietness abundant in the most unlikely places. Coupling the spare and orchestral, the album draws in tone from influences as diverse as Simon and Garfunkel's Parsley, Sage, Rosemary and Thyme, Leonard Cohen's Songs of Love and Hate, The Cure's Faith and Galaxie 500's On Fire. According to one writer, 'like Talk Talk's Mark Hollis, Alverson's lines trigger emotions in your consciousness with the lightest touch.'"

YOUNGS, RICHARD: May CD (JAG 43). $12.00

"May, recorded at various times in Harpenden, England, is Richard Youngs' newest solo meditation. His music is magical, but not in the sense that it merely conjures up fantastical imagery or 'transports the listener to another place'. None of that is really happening. Richard Youngs' spell lies in the transformative qualities of his music. From so little we get so much. It is minimalism without pretense, songwriting that abhors artifice. It resides in the spiritual nexus between the oft disparate realms of traditional folk and the avant-garde. Following in the same spirit of his more celebrated solo works, Advent (1990), Sapphie (1998) and Making Paper (2001), May is, like Sapphie, just acoustic guitar and Richard Youngs' voice. Like the others it has an unmistakable 'drone-like' quality that has, over time, become one of Youngs' trademarks. But what sets May apart is that it is almost a conventional record; six songs, just over 36 minutes, no song over 8 minutes. If you listen carefully enough to the plaintive, stripped-down and gentle rumbling of the songs on May (and squint hard enough), you can almost discern a semblance of verse-chorus-verse structure. And, for sure, May derives much of its glory from the traditional and the hymnal. If there is a 'psych' or 'trance-like' quality to Youngs' music, it is charged only by internal endorphines, nature's most underated drug-mechanism at work. Richard Youngs treats his body of work very much like his own body. He is very careful with what he lets in."

NAGISA NI TE: On The Love Beach CD (JAG 45). $13.00

"Shinji Shibayama recorded and released On The Love Beach, a beautiful, slow and entrancing work pulling equally from American and British rock traditions. Thus was born Nagisa Ni te, which means 'on the beach' in Japanese, an homage of sorts to Neil Young's 1975 masterpiece. Their psych folk tendencies notwithstanding, Nagisa Ni te also did well to take cues from the avant rock world around them at the time, comfortably implementing the minimalist credo 'less is more' throughout this record. Though On the Love Beach was Nagisa Ni te's debut, it is the second Nagisa Ni te record brought to the United States and Europe by Jagjaguwar. And like Feel, it does bring to mind the very best of sixties' and seventies' psychedelic, progressive and folk rock (i.e. early to middle-era Pink Floyd, George Harrison, Crazy Horse, and Roxy Music). Maher Shalal Hash Baz's Tori Kudo may describe Nagisa Ni te best when he says: 'Nagisa Ni te's naked Progressive rock-based worldly songs, which are sung not so much deliberately as seriously, on their love beach, now fill a blank somewhere between underground hi-fi and overground lo-fi.'"

NAGISA NI TE: Feel CD (JAG 46). $12.00

"Feel, the new record by the Osaka band Nagisa Ni te (aka Shinji Shibayama and Masako Takeda) is now available for the first time outside of Japan, the first in a series of Nagisa Ni te records to be released in the United States and Europe by Jagjaguwar. Nagisa Ni te ('On the Beach' in English) are on the vanguard of the burgeoning psych-avant-folk movement in Japan. Their contemporaries include Maher Shalal Hash Baz and Naoki Zushi, artists who also have work on the inspirational Osaka-based label Org (founded by Nagisa Ni te's Shibayama). The songs within Feel bring to mind the very best of sixties' and seventies' psychedelic, progressive and folk rock (i.e. early to middle-era Pink Floyd, King Crimson, or George Harrison) while steadfastly remaining in the modern by introducing to the mix avant touches ala' Eric Dolphy, Derek Bailey or Robert Wyatt. Soaring Gilmour-esque guitar solos abet the colliding forces of heaven and nature. And that is where Shibayama and Takeda reside, either on their way towards or in the process of departing the Garden of Eden."

ASPERA: Oh Fantastica CD (JAG 53). $13.00

"Oh Fantastica is full of minimal yet memorable melodies driven by Drew Mills' most upfront and un-effected vocal performance to date. The beats are intentionally raw?composed of deep, 808 / 909 textures and laced with gated, acoustic percussion takes and dirty synth bass lines. On Oh Fantastica, Aspera ride a dream-like wave enjoying and sharing the fruit of parallel universes — where the epic '80s pop production (as heard in early work of Simple Minds and Tears for Fears) exist side by side with hip-hop's old school (Afrika Bambaataa) and new school (Swizz Beats, Anti-Pop Consortium, Missy Elliott & Timbaland, and producers the Neptunes), and, perhaps most-notably, electronic music's contemporary experimentalists (Boards of Canada) as well as its early trailblazers (such as the pop sound-scapes of another Green World-era Brian Eno; Giorgio Moroder's militant electro; and the early-80's tech-adventurism of musical veterans as manifested in Herbie Hancock's Future Shock and Paul McCartney's McCartney II)."

ASPERA: Oh Fantastica LP (JAG 53LP). $12.00

YOUNGS, RICHARD: Airs Of The Ear CD (JAG 59). $13.00

"Richard Youngs' impressive body of work continues to mount. It resembles, unwittingly for sure, a slow zig zag march towards some Hegelian musical ideal in the distant horizon. Youngs, the leading wizard of drone and minimal psychedelic folk, has unleashed Airs of the Ear, his new opus invoking new magic looking for new ears to ensnare. Building on his esteemed recordings Advent (1990), Sapphie (1998), Making Paper (2001) and May (2002), Airs of the Ear goes beyond merely residing in what is the essential ecology of Richard Youngs — the spiritual nexus between the oft disparate realms of traditional folk and the avant-garde; it now embodies this ecology. Acoustic instruments coexist perfectly with electric ones, while neither class of instrumentation is ever trumped by the other contraptions on the record, namely ring modulation, the square wave or the theremin. Perfect balance is almost achieved. There is harmony, true emotional resonance, even on what is Youngs' most captivating work on the record, 'Fire Horse Rising'. Despite the ever-escalating nature of this song, where Youngs powerfully and repeatedly invokes '...and I don't understand, ...and I don't want to know...', the listener is never allowed to feel overwhelmed or be pushed out of that special meditative and trance-like space. The spell is never broken."

ONEIDA: Secret Wars CD (JAG 60). $12.00

"Oneida's Secret Wars is a Pacific summerjam. It's got Balinese gongs, Hawaiian ukuleles, red wine, injuries, glee, and a song called 'Wild Horses' that's written by Oneida. It's also got a lot of good advice. With their new full-length record, Brooklyn sons Oneida simply start where they left off with Each One Teach One. Their trademark iterated and psych-tinged noise attack is still fully intact, both nervous and subdued at the same time — like what happens when you give meditative children trained in the ways of yoga an excessive amount of caffeine. If there are any new wrinkles to be discovered, it is perhaps that, even more so than on Each One Teach One (Oneida's Tago Mago), Oneida seem to be mining the same fertile ground as Kraut-rock visionaries Can, effortlessly shedding the constraints of pop forms and structures while still remaining soulful and spiritually centered all along. Like spazzing out in the Lotus position."

ONEIDA: Secret Wars LP (JAG 60 LP). $12.00

LP version.

BEVEL: Down the Puppet String, Marionettes CD (JAG 63). $9.00

"Bevel makes pastoral folk music in the same vein as Vashti Bunyan, Nick Drake and Maher Shalal Hash Baz. Bevel is the project of Via Nuon (lead guitarist of Manishevit and now defunct Drunk). Down the Puppet String, Marionettes began in the early parts of 1998, is now being introduced for the first time since its original conception 6 years ago. Comprised of old and new songs diligently re-worked and re-recorded between 2001 and 2002, it also includes a chilling rendition of a Civil War-era traditional and a suitably deconstructed version of Donovan Leitch's 'Teas'. Melodious and interwoven throughout this mini-album are the lull-like tones of Deanna Varagona's baritone sax exhalations. Sometimes an undulating piano line — played by Michael Krassner — can be heard punctuating against the textural rhythms tapped out by Gerald Dowd. Although only 19 minutes in length and operating in a stream of consciousness-like fashion, Down the Puppet String, Marionettes, captures a transitory world, whose bucolic plains and uncharted beaches are characteristic results as one awakens, diluted and immersed, such as from an afternoon reverie."

YOUNGS, RICHARD: River Through Howling Sky CD (JAG 68). $13.50

"If the 'musical' real number line is infinitely dense, then the most recent work of Richard Youngs endeavors to fill in all of the holes on it. River Through Howling Sky is Youngs' latest full-length. It returns to the more meditative and drone-y side of his songcraft (circa Sapphie (1998) and Making Paper (2001)), although this is no true devolution: all of his recordings to date have some measure of these qualities. So what is it that sets River Through Howling Sky apart from its predecessors? It is the density on the recording, both intra-spatial and otherworldly. The howling guitar that points unerringly to some imagined horizon line. Throughout, Youngs is the calm and steady wolf, chanting odes to infinity. Expose the ancient Brotherhood of Pythagoras to River Through Howling Sky, and you would find knowing nods, pursed lips, and secret incantations in caves. An unwitting acceptance that not everything is rational or conceptually circumnavigable. Our western tonal system relies on ratios, i.e. strings whacked at particular intervals. Young's howling guitar and circular chants — with the help of a spartan amount of percussion and electronics — may just encompass all the possible ratios and, mystically, more."

NAGISA NI TE: The Same As a Flower CD (JAG 69CD). $13.50

"Nagisa Ni te (aka Shinji Shibayama and Masako Takeda) are back. Their new record The Same As A Flower, recorded between 2002 and the beginning of this year, is the third to be released by Jagjaguwar. Much like on previous records, the songs on the new record by this Osaka, Japan-based group are about nature, about the singularity of two people immersed in nature together, and about experiencing life as 'being', not 'becoming' or 'recovering from'. And like their previous full-length record, Feel, The Same As A Flower still brings to mind the very best of sixties' and seventies' psychedelic, progressive and folk rock (i.e. mid-60s Roy Harper, Pink Floyd, 13th Floor Elevators and early Neil Young)."

MINUS STORY: The Captain Is Dead, Let the Drum Corpse Dance CD (JAG 73). $13.00

"Minus Story's mystical third full-length, The Captain Is Dead, Let the Drum Corpse Dance, is fuzzy and full of sunshine but also full of dark clouds and cold rain and is wistful and billowing, much like the music of The Zombies, Smile-era Beach Boys, Circulatory System and Neutral Milk Hotel. It also embraces those indefinable qualities found on records like Mt. Eerie by Microphones or Fragile by Yes. It is experimental pop, through and through, with all the attendant haunted edges, including a story-line about some young boy who rallies together an army of children, a black cloud that eats birds, and a girl who comes back as a ghost in a marching band. A masterpiece that will creep into your consciousness and lay anchor."

CREELEY, ROBERT: Robert Creeley CD (JAG 901). $12.00

"This is an unaccompanied recording of the internationally renowned poet Robert Creeley. Captured on tape at his home in Waldoboro, Maine in the summer of 2000, the poet reads a selection of new and previously uncollected poems. This marks the first occasion in which Mr. Creeley has appeared unaccompanied on a CD, his work read in all its bare and vital intimacy. His landmark importance as a modern and uncompromising voice in the 1950's and 60's has continued through subsequent decades with work as crucial and innovative as in those formative years. He has been a distinct and relentless documentarian of age and its changing perceptions. From the tender, inquisitive addresses of a father to his growing children to meditations on growth, memory and reality, these fifteen pieces reveal a poet in maturity. Among them is a 25-part poem in response to the paintings of Francesco Clemente."

VA: *Canada's Message To The Meters CD (JMAN 001 CD). $16.00

"The Best of...Frank Motley & the Hitchhikers And King Herbert & the Knights. The past 30 years has seen record collectors from around the world pick the bones of the US in the search for elusive and rare records of all types of music. And in none of these types of music are there more avid collectors than those who collect soul and funk, both LPs and 45s. American funk came from the innovation and explosive power of James Brown, the hard & heavy street funk produced early in the career of Meters. But it wasn't just the American artists that got down to business. Up north in Canada they were knocking out their own rough and ready funk groups although they remain largely unknown. Musical pioneers like The Majestics, Billy Martin and Thomas Chatman all paid their dues — and cut some of the most mind-blowing super heavy funk ever to be waxed. But it was Canadian independent record label Paragon that led the field producing a handful of album releases in 1970 by deep funksters Frank Motley & the Hitchhikers, Frank Motley & the Bridge Crossings and King Herbert & the Knights. Original copies of their records are highly sought-after by dedicated funk DJs and collectors. However, they are very seldom seen and so command scary prices on the collectors circuit — so we've delved into the Paragon catalogue to present here a selection of their toughest tunes. So to all their US counterparts, this is Canada's Message to the Meters."

VA: *Texas Funk CD (JMAN 006CD). $15.00

"It was only a couple of years ago that I, like many other DJs, collectors and funk enthusiasts spread across the world, thought Texas was home only to country & western and Tex-Mex music. How wrong I was. Funk 45 fever was beginning to grip the world, prices were reaching stratospheric levels for just one 45, and I started to read the small print on the record labels in order to try and track them down. And of all the 1000s of funk 45s made during the golden years of 1968-1974, more and more I began to notice that the rarest and the best appeared to come from Texas. And so with veteran collector Malcolm Catto, we decided to investigate further, tracking down the labels, studios, producers and the artists themselves in order to release the definitive anthology of Texas funk. And now, after spending a great deal of time wandering around in the hot Texas desert, we've finally finished." Includes properly researched liner notes including an introduction by DJ Shadow; pictures, interviews, and information on all the artists; all tracks are officially licensed. Nearly all are seeing their first ever official re-release, some have never been released at all. Reproduction from original master tapes. R&D by DJs Jazzman Gerald & Malcolm Catto.

VA: *Midwest Funk CD (JMAN 007CD). $15.00

"Following the critically acclaimed Texas Funk album, Midwest Funk is an additional collection of rare, collectible and previously-unreleased funk 45s. This time collector Malcolm Catto and I drove 1000s of miles across the endless cornfields of the American Midwest, a vast expanse of farm land that covers the region between the Rockies in the West and the Appalachians in the East. Summer is typically stifling hot and winter extremely harsh — Tornado Alley also runs through the entire region. We worked hard but were lucky too — not only did we avoid the tornadoes, but we also found some incredibly rare 45s and some amazing unreleased master tapes. And we've presented the best of them here in this CD/double LP. It was great to be the first people to meet and hang out with the often-bootlegged Soul Tornadoes, guzzle whiskey in Henry Peters' basement, and chill out in one of Jessie Wallace's vintage white Cadillacs. We chatted about their wild gigs and gruelling recording sessions in the '60s & '70s, they gave us amazing photos, told us fascinating stories and shared priceless anecdotes filled with their inspirations and their failures. Their life story in music was often captured on one solitary, but brilliant, 45, and that musical story is told here." — Dante Carfagna.

VA: *Midwest Funk 2LP (JMAN 007LP). $20.00

Double LP version.

VA: *Thatswhatfriendsarefor CD (JMAN 008CD). $15.00

"This is the third in our series of CDs celebrating the weird and wonderful world of groovy 7" records. For a few years now we've been scouring the earth for the wildest, most obscure and best recordings known (and unknown) to man! Then we put them out on 7" vinyl, and unlike most record companies we make sure both sides are killer sides. This time we've included 12 songs from our third batch of releases, catalogue numbers 21 - 30, and many favourites such as the late great Nina Simone's perennial in-demander 'Funkier than a Mosquito's Tweeter', France Gall's essential French-Braslian-scat-jazz rarity 'Zozoï' and the insane sonic library mayhem of 'Poltergeist' by cult librarian Nino Nardini are included. These titles alone make this utterly indispensable, unless you have the originals of course."

JAZZPRINT (UK):

VA: *Soupsongs Live: The Music of Robert Wyatt 2CD (JP 101CD). $21.00

"From his early days in Soft Machine and work with the likes of Brian Eno, Mike Oldfield, Kevin Ayers and Scritti Politti, to remarkable interpretations of Elvis Costello's 'Shipbuilding', Peter Gabriel's 'Biko', and The Monkees' 'I'm A Believer', Robert Wyatt has become a legendary, lyrical figure in British music. Wyatt has not appeared on stage for over twenty years, but he and musical director Annie Whitehead have organised an exceptional group of musicians who have played with him over his long career to celebrate his work. She and Robert selected the music, which Annie then shaped and arranged for the band, many of whom have contributed to Robert's records. The Soupsongs project was commissioned in 1999 by the London Jazz Festival and Nottinghamshire Live & Direct and had two performances. Both received great acclaim by critics and warmth and affection from audiences. This live recording from Nottingham features work from Robert's solo albums, ranging from Rock Bottom and Ruth Is Stranger Than Richard to his last album Shleep. Musicians: Annie Whitehead (musical director, trombone); Julie Tippetts (vocals); Ian Maidman (vocals, guitar, ukelele, accordion); Harry Beckett (trumpet); Larry Stabbins (saxes); Didier Malherbe (saxes and flute); Phil Manzanera (guitar); Janette Mason (keyboards); Steve Lamb (bass); Liam Genockey (drums)."

JAZZPUU-LOVE RECORDS (FINLAND):

STRENG, PEKKA: *Puutarhassa 12" (JAZZPUU 01). $8.00

"Jazzpuu release Pekka Streng's 'Puutarhassa'. Jazzpuu, a new subsidiary of PUU and Sähkö Recordings (Helsinki) which is dedicated to re-releasing Finnish 70s jazz classics that has previously only been found and appreciated by jazz aficionados. The tracks are mastered from the original master tapes and will be available to a wide audience for the first time. The originals are extremely rare, expensive and are only in the hands of a few lucky collectors. This the first release of at least ten 12"s, to re-release 70's Finnish jazz classics as 12" singles. Pekka Streng was a mysterious 60-70's hippie type of fellow that died very young in 1974 and made two albums for the legendary Finnish jazz label Love Records. Mika Snickars, who has done the extended edit, is a brilliant jazz/dub/break/DJ/producer and shop owner/collector from Stockholm. Handling edit details with loving care. Recorded in 1972, the track is a diamond in the dusty Finnish jazz history. The vocals are really psychedelic with a nice warm summer of love approach, describing small happenings amongst animals, plants and people in a summer garden. Warm bossa beats and tender vocals make it one of those feelgood classics for future years to come."

OILING, MATTI: *Cyclops Dance 12" (JAZZPUU 04). $8.00

"If there ever was a grand old drummer in Finnish jazz it must be Matti Oiling, who just celebrated 40 years in the business both as a musician and an educator. Oiling studied Latin-American styles in Brazil in the mid-70's and second-line beats in New Orleans. The A-Side contains two funk-influenced jazz cuts dominated by organ and Matti Oiling's distinctly funky drumming. The third track is a slightly more progressive effort, but still with Oiling's trademarks: a killer backbeat and excellent horn and guitar work. All tracks were originally released in 1970. On B-Side: From 1977, 'Cyclops Dance' is pre-old school electro. This stunning masterpiece was found by Helsinki's Lifesaver DJ's who recognized immediately it's outrageous dancefloor appeal. The track appears together with an excellent remix by the Finnish DJ/producer group Pepe Deluxe."

AHVENLAHTI, OLLI: Countenance 12" (JAZZPUU 06). $8.00

"Pianist Olli Ahvenlahti, born in August 6, 1949, is a familiar name to fans of club-oriented jazz. 'Countenance' is the main track from Olli Ahvenlahti's debut LP Bandstand. It is a 'total musical experience', starting from the sinister bass line, it's uplifting horn theme and synth backing. The track has a unique uptempo atmosphere with a slight latin touch. On the flip-side Jori Hultkonen's jazz acid mix adds some extra drums, synths and bass line to underline the original tracks' dancefloor appeal."

JCR (GERMANY):*JAZZANOVA: Remixed 2CD (JCR 040 CD). $19.00

"Jazzanova, the Berlin based collective of DJ's and producers, brings to you the remix album of their highly successful debut artist album In Between. To create a new sound for their album, Jazzanova collaborated with an array of different artists to remix their work. In the end they were able to create a beautifully flowing album that combines a variety of different styles. Whether it's Bugz In The Attic and King Britt, with a more house oriented slant, Madlib and Jazzy Jeff with a downbeat Hip Hop style or Stereolab and Dr. Rockit (Herbert) with a more independent approach, these remixes are a stand out products on their own."

JAZZANOVA: Remixed 2LP (JCR 040 LP). $18.00

Double LP version, full color gatefold sleeve.

JENNY DIVERS (UK):*PAN SONIC: Live In London 1995 CD (JD 099). $18.00

"This live set by Pan Sonic was recorded at the Garage in London on 5th of October. By then Pan Sonic had slim down to a duo: Mika Vainio, Ilpo Vaisanen and where still known as Panasonic. This is the 2nd offering on Jenny Divers, a new label dedicated to release a series of limited edition CD's, mostly from the artists live archive, in a unique generic stark minimalist package."

PAN SONIC: Live In NYC 1995 CD (JD 100). $18.00

"These two live sets by Pan Sonic from the 19th & 20th of January 1995 were recorded at the Disobey (London) club nights visit to The Knitting Factory, New York. These sets are Panonic's first ever recorded live performances outside Finland! At that time they were a trio : Mika Vainio, Ilpo Vaisanen & Sami Salo. This 76 minutes long CD is the first on Jenny Divers, a new Mute sub-label dedicated to release a series of limited edition CD's, mostly from the artists live archive, in a unique generic stark minimalist package. Future confirmed releases will include further Panonic live sets, plus other releases from Jimi Tenor, Caspar Brotzmann, & Cabaret Voltaire." Limited to 2000 copies worldwide. "The infamous Panonic live set from the single stateside venture of the traveling Disobey club (in which the lineup consisted of Aphex Twin performing his piece for turntable/electric blender/sandpaper, Bruce Gilbert performing under his DJ Beekeeper moniker, etc...), live at the Knitting Factory in New York city in early 1995. Signed in 1994 to Blast First (after Paul Smith witnessed their first UK concert @ the Vox in late 1994), this was their American debut, spreading ripples of mis/disinformation about this unique Finnish trio (Sami Salo was still an active member at this point) throughout the US underbelly. As impressive sounding now as it was 5 years ago, if not more so (given Panonic's recent forays into more dancefloor pro-active styles, dub grooves, less and less use of custom analog gear, etc...), it's still very much a mystery just exactly how these sounds came into life, what those boxes do, etc... An awesome extended meditation on machine sound, presented by it's finest latter day proprietors. Cold." — Hrvatski.

JESTER (DENMARK):*ULVER: Ulver 1993-2003: 1st Decade In The Machines CD (TRICK 025 CD). $15.00

Remix album featuring: Third Eye Foundation, Bogdan Raczynski, Neotropic, Stars of the Lid, Fennesz, Pita, Jazzkammer, V/vm, Merzbow, Alexander Rishaug, Information, Upland, Martin Horntveit. "1st decade in the machines is a party platter. The celebration of Ulver's ten years of metamorphosis. Finding it hard to amass a coherent Best of from their volatile history, the pack has invited cutting edge doctors from audio research labs worldwide to operate on the catalogue. The result is a full 79 minutes disc turning from calm to storm, sometimes simultaneously. Not another irrelevant remix release, surely, but a veritable jack box for those in want of sound ahead. Because wolves evolve."

JETSET:*GO-BETWEENS: '78 'til 79: The Lost Album CD (TWA 19 CD). $12.00

"The seminal Australian pop band of the 80s. This is NOT a reissue. The Lost Album is all original material that was supposed to comprise the Go-Betweens debut LP but was lost 20 years ago. These songs have never been heard before, let alone released. Also includes their first 2 singles, never released in the US."

JIP (NETHERLANDS):*VA: Jip 2 12" (JIP 03). $9.00

"The second release of the Eat this sublabel Jip records. (The label who releases a new record once a year to celebrate the birthday of Jip who officially is the youngest label owner in the world...she just turned 2) This year soft music wick serves a 2 year old girl just right... we fear the future when she will be into Idols and teenage pop bands or Britney Spears...but for now she releases the most elegant and sweet electronica by artists such as Loden, Mitchell Akiyama, Loess and others."

JIVE (FRANCE):*DOCTOR. L: Temple On Every Street 3LP (JIVE 20381LP). $23.00

Triple vinyl version

DOCTOR. L: Temple On Every Street CD (JIVE 20382CD). $18.00

"The album that follows the EP. Slightly more auto-tuned (i.e. Cher; "Believe", Kid Rock; "Cowboy", Baha Men; "Who Let the Dogs Out", etc...) vocals than necessary. There's a nice little blurb evident on the CD's spine which reads "No samples from external source have been used but replaced by a direct to disc system, using live instruments. All instruments and recording were done in my room (La Maison Studio). Drums, bass, guitars, percussions, keyboards, moog, rhodes, drum machines, analog sequencer, vocoder, sherman & special effects processed by computer, mixed with environmental sounds", which for an electronic music record is highly unorthodox (actual instruments? get right out of town...). Still worthy of repeated listens. Anything that brings elements of Fela Kuti/Herbie Miles 69-73 into a large-scale pattern-based (i.e. "dancefloor") context can't be all that bad really afterall." — Hrvatski.

DOCTOR. L: Mountains Will Never Surrender 2x12" (JIVE 20501EP). $13.00

Double vinyl version, same 10 tracks at the CD.

DOCTOR. L: Mountains Will Never Surrender CD (JIVE 20502CD). $7.50

"Interesting solo debut EP (10 tracks, 47 minutes) from this Parisian musician-fellow-personality, producer of Tony Allen's 'comeback' LP Black Voices (on the Comet Label), in fact Tony's loose-limbed drumming is featured sporadically throughout this EP as well. L also worked with Franco-Hip-Hoppers Assassin, Les Negresses Vertes, scored tracks for the SourceLab and Freezone comps (forging a direct link to the 'New French New Wave'). An interesting mix of electric Miles-era instrumentation (Rhodes, analog sequences, many layers of oscillating synths, loose drumming, fuzz bass, machine sounds) processed by a boat-load of VST plugins rendering all of these 'natural' sounds quite digital/alien in the process. Occasional spoken overtones bring the alpha factor down a little but overall quite impressive, especially given it's major-label status. The best introduction to this guy's sound world, retro but still highly technology-oriented, an odd paradigm." — Hrvatski.

JLIAT (UK):*JLIAT/Y9V9: The Ocean Of Infinite Being CD (JLIAT 9601). $13.00

Third CD by this obscure English duo playing meditative electronic drone music. Sixty minutes of subtly charged minimalist anima, from one of the most unique and out-there sound collectives of the 90s.

JLIAT: The Nature Of Nature CD (JLIAT 9701). $13.00

4th CD; "A single piece of electronic drone, made July '96 through Jan. '97 in Walsingham England's 'Nazareth'." Jliat's longest thus far, and also, to some extent the darkest...This is nothing else then a single piece of electronic drone, but let this not put you to sleep. The drone on this CD changes slowly and takes various shapes, but only notable to the concentrated listener. The unconcentrated one, he/she who plays this at this a soft volume will find a meditative piece of music. Just wonderful!" — Frans de Ward.

JMZ RECORDS:*MATEEN & BEN KARETNICK, SABIR: Sun Xing CD (JMZ 001). $12.00

"Recorded live in Rochester, New York in December 2000, Sun Xing is the debut collaboration between master reedsman Sabir Mateen and percussionist Ben Karetnick. Mateen has been at the forefront of the New York improvised for over a decade working with TEST, Raphe Malik, One World Ensemble as well as recording with such acts as Sunny Murray, No Neck Blues Band and Yo La Tengo. Prior to coming to New York, Mateen was a longtime member of Horace Tapscot's Pan-African People's Arkestra in Los Angeles. On Sun Xing, Mateen is captured in top form effortlessly switching horns — tenor and alto sax, two clarinets and flute not to mention some vocals. Karetnick is a leading contributor to the emerging Western Massachusetts improv scene and has studied with Susie Ibarra, Andrew Cyrille and Barry Altschul. Sun Xing marks the debut CD recording of this fantastic new drummer."

PARKINS, NELS CLINE & THURSTON MOORE TRIO, ZEENA: Live At Easthampton Town Hall CD (JMZ 002). $12.00

"Benefit live recording from January 2001 by this all-star cast of improvisers captures a night from one of the most intriguing experimental tours of the past year. Live at Easthampton Town Hall marks this trio's first recording. Zeena, a leader among the downtown New York music scene who is currently on tour with Bjork, plays electric harp. Cline (Geraldine Fibbers, Gregg Bendien's Interzone, etc) and Moore (Sonic Youth) are among the most in-demand improvising guitarists around. This marks their first collaboration since 1997 when they released a pair of stunning duo recordings on Father Yod and Little Brother."

BRAXTON, TYONDAI: History That Has No Effect CD (JMZ 003). $12.00

"Tyondai Braxton's debut full-length solo CD introduces his trademark 'orchestrated loops' that feature voice, guitar and found objects manipulated in real time by guitar pedals, as if to emulate a DJ. 'There is a balance between organic and artificial sound as live sound is processed via guitar pedals that are used to compose, remix, sample and recompose content. This is a step towards having a totally self contained ensemble of textures and timbers as a solo musician without relying solely on electronics, but more on the source material,' says Braxton, a Connecticut native, who now lives in Brooklyn where he has performed with Ian Williams (of Don Caballero) and Glenn Branca."

PARTS & LABOR: Groundswell CD (JMZ 005). $12.00

"The group combines No Wave dumpy keyboards with a rhythm section that can rifle sounds in an almost Lightning Bolt kind of way. Not that they do so all the time, but the tracks on here — instrumentals all — wham their way into new post-free Prog territory. About the only thing I can really say it recalls are some of the stranger, lesser known groups of the later No Wave era, like Philly's notekillers or something." — Byron Coley

JNANA (CANADA):*FINN, SIMON: Pass The Distance CD (JNANA 1970). $15.00

"The official legit re-issue of this incredibly rare dark acid folk masterpiece, originally released in England on the legendary Mushroom label in 1970, has been remastered from the original two-track tapes. Four extra tracks, including the never-released seven-inch single of which only a solitary acetate remains, are also included on this 54-minute CD. The 20-page booklet, with full-color cover reproduction of the original artwork, contains all the lyrics to the album, photographs of the musicians, and extensive liner notes by Simon Finn, David Toop (who also plays on the album), Vic Keary of Mushroom Records, and David Tibet of Current 93. Tibet cites this album as one of his 10 top records of all time."

JOINT (UK):*HRK: System Error 12" (JOINT 001EP). $9.00

"HRK is Haruka, a seventeen year old Japanese female singer, who is just breaking into the Japanese 'Pop' scene. Her producers approached Third Ear to find three 'cool' remixers from outside Japan, to each produce a 12". No original version of the tracks will be released, only a strictly limited edition remix with full vocal and instrumental versions. Only 1000 copies of each 12 are being produced. First up is Thomas Fehlmann with 'System Error' (JOINT A:001), a pumping dubby techno remix. The track is a classic Thomas Fehlmann dancefloor record: grooving, sunny, trippy, feel-good electronic music that is guaranteed to put a smile on the face of the most jaded clubber. Thomas draws directly on reggae dancehall for his dub sensibilities. Thomas Fehlmann's dubs are always sweet, light, and soulful, but with plenty of kick. Haruka's plaintive voice sits in the track perfectly, making an intriguing instrument in the mix. Whether the listener understands the Japanese lyric or not, the cadences of the voice over all three of the 12s draws the listener in."

HRK: Love World 12" (JOINT 002EP). $9.00

"Next up is Ulrich Schnauss with 'Love World' (JOINT A: 002). Ulrich Schnauss demonstrates why he is such an up and coming talent. Ulrich creates an anthemic ballad that is totally contemporary, and yet timeless. Provided with a strong melody, very characteristic of Japanese 'Pops', Ulrich underpins the track with a thumping bassline that really grooves.

This is overlaid with his trademark swirling synth lines and delicate cymbal patterns. Sounds blend and twist, creating a sonic environment that is beautifully crafted and sculpted. A track to make the hair on the back of your neck stand up."

HRK: Break My Code 12" (JOINT 003EP). $9.00

"Finally, comes Thomas Brinkmann's remix of 'Break My Code'. What can we say? Thomas Brinkmann demonstrates why he is so highly regarded. Original, Soulful, Humorous, Mesmeric. The 'Lipstick' remix (the instrumental mix) will be a dancefloor sensation — slow burning, sexy, funky, a killer track."

6TH SENSE: Paradise (Afronaught & Hiroshi Watana.be Mixes) 12" (JOINT 004EP). $9.00

"A super new 12" from the Joint label containing remixes of the group 6th Sense, who float around the nu soul scene while giving eighties flavours via some sweet Sade'esque vocals. First up the big deal. Orin Walters comes with a made rare Afronaught remix that is Bugz In The Attic in full effect. Phasing in and out of pure melodious broken beat funk then dropping into digital bass and sparse stab effects it's a bomb up there with the recent Macy Gray rework. Two versions from Hiroshi Watana.be aka Tread aka Kaito delve deep into Detroit house lushness like Truby Trio meeting Moodymann. Two versions (vocal/inst dub) with deep keyboard sounds, crisp percussive drops, funky bass, jazzfunk drums and moogy pimp keys. All housed in a full on Designers Republic colour splash sleeve."

6TH SENSE: Illusion/On A Wing 12" (JOINT 005 EP). $9.00

"Following the Paradise remixes, Joint Records release the second 12" of remixes of tracks from 6th Sense's downbeat album Sleepless. A1 features the return of downbeat legends The Irresistible Force, Mixmaster Morris gives us a wonderful sun stroked version of the original, reminiscent of 'Dear Prudence' by The Beatles. On A2 Why Sheep? presents a psychedelic wig out, B1 is Bus' (Scape) remix of 'On A Wing', B2 has Tokyo newcomers Valou distorting the 'Dear Prudence' echo of 'Illusion' to take the track on another path, B3 is the original mix of 'Illusion'."

MEG: MGRmx 2x12" (JOINT 006 LP). $15.00

"Remixes of tracks by female Japanese artist Meg, selected by Third Ear... includes remixes By Theo Parrish, DJ Assault, Dennis Desantis, Hiroshi Watana.be (Aka Kaito, Tread), Christ, Valou, Yamauchi And Note Native. This really is a mixed bag from electronic (Theo Parrish, Yamauchi) to looping techno (Dennis Desantis), detroit bass (DJ Assault), broken beat (Kuro), ambient (Christ) and D&B (Valou)."

JWD MUSIC (CANADA):

LE CAINE, HUGH: Compositions/Demonstrations 1946-74 CD (JWD 03). $13.00

"Hugh Le Caine, early electronic music pioneer, demonstrates his Electronic Sackbut in 1948 by playing the opening clarinet solo from Gershwin's 'Rhapsody in Blue'. And there's more. Working at his Toronto laboratory, supported by the Canadian National Research Council, he went on to engineer and prototype the touch sensitive organ, variable speed recorder, multi-track recorder, and numerous other magnificent electronic instruments. And he demonstrated his inventions by composing his own music and by arranging well known tunes, demonstrating at the same time that he was a talented musician and that he had a great sense of humor. This CD, produced by Gayle Young, Le Caine's biographer, is a comprehensive compilation of his music, much of it not available before. The CD also includes many of Le Caine's spoken explanations of his demonstrations which make the CD come alive with human interest. Le Caine's compositions on this CD include 'Dripsody: An Etude for Variable Speed Recorder' (1955), 'Ninety-Nine Generators' (1956), 'Invocation' (1957), 'Study No. 1 for Player Piano and Tape' (1957), 'The Burning Deck' (1958), 'A Noisome Pestilence' (1958), 'Textures' (1959), 'Nocturne' (1962), 'Bird Spectrogram' (1963), 'Music for Expo' (1967), 'Safari: Eine Kleine Klangfarbenmelodie' (1964), 'Mobile: The Computer Laughed (Perpetual Motion)' (1970), and 'Paulution (Charnel Number Five)' (1972). In its commemoration of a remarkable personality and in the historical importance of its content, this is an essential CD. In the extent to which it is also enjoyable, it is a stunning accomplishment."

K RECORDS:

CHICKS ON SPEED: The Re-Releases Of The Un-Releases CD (KLP 120 CD). $13.00

US mass market reissue of this previously limited to 1000 copy release. "Swelling at nearly 72 minutes in length via 33 tracks, The Re-Releases of the Un-Releases claims the throne as the definitive Chicks on Speed document. It is a remix collage of Chicks on Speed tracks by Viennese Ramon Bauer (Mego) and Gerhard Potuznik (Cheap, Mego, Breakin, IT). It features the more experimental and avant-garde side of the chicks, sewing the songs together with live recordings, chicks interviews, caustic noise bursts, and a lot of rare historic chicks material like the very first chicks recordings ever made. Equal parts cultural commentary and audio alchemy, you'll be hard pressed to encounter anything more crucially modernist than Chicks on Speed. Melding effortlessly the scorching tirade of Atari Teenage Riot, the sassy wave of the Human League, the nihilistic spiral of Suicide, and European techno from Kraftwerk to Pan Sonic into a singular fire-breathing animal, The Re-Releases of the Un-Releases documents the organic movement of Chicks on Speed."

K-RAA-K 3 (BELGIUM):

TOSS: LP (K3 011). $12.00

"The debut album from this vaguely guitar oriented Belgian trio searches lines into the desert. The field is filled with foggy waves, tickles sustain the sonic sprawls and cloud the area. The structure of most songs vary from ultraminimal course to rock/pop timed changes, but the wire will run through your brain. The sounds and the melodies build an overall density. The color experiments of such avant guitar bands lead you into a new world of industrial solitude and madness."

KOHN: 2 CD (K3 014). $15.00

"Köhn is an a electronica-bedroom-project from a young guy, Jurgen De Blonde, living in the very small Belgian village Knesselare. His first music was normal guitar pop but without throwing his guitar, he discovered the possibilities of a sampler. A first CD was released on K-raa-K filled with a lot of weird skipplings and bleeps. Jurgen De Blonde is still involved in a dozen other projects/bands and he made some remixes but Köhn has always been his main project, so we kinda trusted it. Now the second album is finished. It took him a long time but we think it was worth waiting. His live-concerts announced it already: a big step forward from his debut CD. The new album is more mature and warm. He experiments with beats and melodies like he is born to do nothing else. Strange sonorities keeping your attention to check your hifi-system. A couple of guitars and vocals break down the barriers between electronix and songs. Skipplings and scratches result in zigzag melodies. His sound library won't sound familiar but if you listen closely, you'll discover real pop music. Where electronic bands like Oval, Notod, Farmers Manual mainly focus on pure sounds, Köhn explores that field into structured sound-clashing and real songs. So, you'll have some kind of dance tracks, ambient sounds deconstructed by musique concrete and Pavement."

SHIFTS: Mechanica CD (K3 015). $15.00

"Shifts is Frans De Waard. Famous for his ground-breaking releases on his own Korm Plastics/Bake/Microwave labels (all available as CDRs) and his work for Staalplaat (which he didn't found, contrary to popular belief) and from a thousand other projects as Goem, Beequeen and Kapotte Muziek. Shifts produces another angle of De Waard's minimal music. The guitar is the source of Shifts. After a string of 7"s, 10"s and 2 CDs, we are proud to say that Mechanica is one of his best. The album is a continuation of his work on Meme but probably more guitar oriented. No surprise since this CD is the first in the (K-RAA-K)3 improv-guitar series. The music builds up like a rolling thunder of quiet guitar strumming, processed through several effects. Like Dean Roberts, he creates a world on his own, leaving the listener very relaxed. While the tension is sometimes very stretched, the music develops into a bewildering experience you take in yourself. It only leaves your mind hours after the CD has stopped spinning. A mechanical orchestra humming on end."

SCHAEFER, JANEK: Out CD (K3 017). $15.00

"Janek Schaefer is an architect. This might explain his vision on his music. A good building closes up into your memory without you even noticing it. The same goes for Schaefer's soundscape. Clearly structured soundloops baffling their way into perception. You can use his music in art-galleries, train-stations, living-rooms: anywhere really. Each time/place conducts his work to a different perception. Even a high volume or low volume defines another way in the listening experience which unfolds upon your ears. Janek Schaefer is one of the leading persons in the Turntable Terrorist wave nowadays. He only works with one sound-source, namely The Triphonic turntable, which he invented. The manipulations that he causes, create a spectacular result: sounds coincide, clash together and fade away. This CD collects two live concerts: one during the Fat Cat evening in Zaal België, Hasselt and one performance recorded during a session in a nuclear bunker in Scotland. But Schaefer doesn't see those two long pieces as just two live pieces — they are his two best performances and he cares about them. And it is the only recording that he wants to release to represent his public work. So this CD doesn't belong at all in the compartment of cheap live recordings pushed by the fucking music industry. The two sound-spheres are at the razor's edge, and very enjoyable to listen to."

ADLIB: CD (K3 018). $12.00

"Adlib is another moniker from the young Kristian Petters, a.k.a. Novisad. He lives in Rostock, Germany and studies informatics. Petters combines perfectly the software computer culture with intensity. His music reflects so much emotion through electronic wires — you start wondering why more electronica people don't succeed in the same way. Everything is done with a detailed precision which makes it difficult to relegate this to the background. Even if it's 'ambient', it still turns your brain around and hits you."

ES: Flick CD (K3 019). $15.00

"Second release in the guitar improv series (the first was Shifts). This Finnish guy is pretty young, but has a distinctive feel towards his guitar play. Excerpts from his talents can be found on the Kila 7"s, but here he is operating alone on his self-built guitar and other 'soundlabs'. Its dark and quiet with lots of floating, hissing and inspired constructions. Every now and then a melody pops up which brings together the harmony between improv and a 'listenable' experience. Difficult to point out references, but try mixing labels like Mike Droner and Corpus Hermeticum — or even Kranky — into one melting pot, and you'll come close. As for guitar technique — he's got his own way of 'sweeping' the strings. You'll get the same feeling as Richard Youngs' or even Alastair Galbraith's records. Es quickly becomes something very personal and introspective in each individual life he touches."

WIO: CD (K3 022). $15.00

"Musicians often forget to focus on direct approach to the listener. This is exactly where Wio specializes in: he's got something to say. Each song tells another story, like a fairytale from Grimm. Sometimes lovely, sometimes threatening. Who doesn't waste time. His music is pretty straight, and his target is visible for everyone. Just listen closely to his voice: whispering, and still clear for everybody. His gentle guitar touch resulting in songs so beautiful you wonder why he isn't in the same league as Nick Drake, Flying Saucer Attack, (early) Smog or Alastair Galbraith. His second album simply proves what everyone expected from him... Sure it isn't all songwriting but somehow he tries, in his own way, to fill the gap between experiment, pop and pure lovesongs. His first album was a real lo-fi gem, this one is really 'hifi' and his first proper album (since his previous one was a kind of collection of tapes, radio sessions etc.)."

AZUSA PLANE: The Highway's Jammed With Broken Heroes CD (K3 024). $15.00

Gas-station attendants around the world will rejoice at news of this final missive from Jason DiEmilio (aka Azusa Plane), a cleverly titled reminder of one of the Boss's most visionary & epic lines. Featuring two long tracks of cable glitch, amplifier hum and microphone bumping, this CD has such comedic aspirations that even Neil Hamburger will probably have to sit up and take notice. Thank you, New Jersey.

DAG ARE HAUGAN: 9 Solitaires LP (K3 030). $11.00

"Dag Are Haugan is certainly for most people not the most common name. Being half of the legendary Norwegian outfit Alog made him one of the most original musicians of the last decade. You can call it guitar-glitch if you want... The result comes close to a beatless Gas, a more guitar-driven Novisad, etc... Pressed on vinyl-only, with artwork from Rune Gramofone's Kim Hiortioi, this album will make you reconsider electronica (aka the 'glitch/microsound-movement'), while the guitar world will be surprised to see how both, old and new traditions can be melted into one brilliant artwork. The music is very introspective creating different state of minds."

MAIN: Tau CD (K3 031). $14.00

"Main is back in grand form... After finalising his Firmanent CD's it's been a bit quiet around Robert Hampson. Although very busy with other projects as Comae (with Janek Schaefer), Chasm (Fatcat), his Main output has been a bit low. Tau shows the first full album in years from a talent whom showed us the way to turn guitars into ambient. His unique way of concrete sounds and manipulating these into something of his own has always been his identity. Tau is no more or less a classic mover for quiet, threatening soundscapes with lots of attention for details. Details who are there to demand your attention. There is no way you can put this on as background music. The layers of overtones and quiet climaxes are very demanding for ears and brains."

TOSS: Titles Of The Greatness Of Been CD (K3 033). $14.00

"Floating of directly direction improvisation this record have almost no overdubs. Coming close to the abortion of sounds genuinely overlooked by contemporary artist, they succeed to use 'noise' as a base to build quite direct tracks. At times very soft and gently showing of a romantic side of things, followed by a psychiatric attempt to slaughter all neighbours. The general feel after listening to the album is gasping for breath. It took them 4 years to do this album of top guitarimprovisation setting comfortably in the shelves between Ashtray Navigations, Vibracathedral Orchestra, Corpus Hermeticum, 20 city or even the more loopy based projects of Philippe Jeck and Es."

OVIL BIANCA: The Wide Album CD (K3 038). $15.00

"It took Tim Wijnant two years to complete the successor of his debut-album Gravity=Love. All this resulted in a stream of ideas, influences which were put into this new album. This is a mature CD ranging him amongst the likes of Pimmon/Fennesz/Markus Schmickler. The Wide Album is a progressing work. Started out by collecting 'sounds' from different sources. Manipulated, and processed into rough tracks and fitted alongside one another until a definite version was completed and fine-tuned as a whole. An album, which will not only appeal, electronica-fans worldwide, but also the more adventurous pop-listener and the avant-garde scene. It's a musical history trip almost without the use of conventional instruments. Ovil Bianca is one of the few electronica-artists whom still discover new territories within a listenable concept. This is probably a result to his statement about being influenced by Syd Barrett, Dj Tiesto, Bonzai Records and Wesley Willis. These influences say off course more on the mental state of Ovil Bianca then on actual musical references of this CD."

K2O RECORDS (GERMANY):

PSI PERFORMER: Is A Division Of Pain Remixes Vol. 4 12" (K2 08). $8.00

4th volume features remixes by: Scorn, Anthony Child, Karl O'Connor, Pan American, Tom Tyler, Russ Gabriel.

PSI PERFORMER: Art Is A Division Of Pain Remixed 2 CD (K2 10 CD). $15.00

About 30 remixers coming from different fields of electronic music rebuilt the PSI Performer original album in their very own ways. On five 12inch parts and two separate CD's you can find some of the best and most innovative artists in electronic music. On CD 2 you can find the final 14 remixes by even more diverse and wellknown artists. File under: 14 more advanced PSI Performer interpretations by leading artists of electronic music. Again almost 80 minutes of pure listening pleasure." Features: Tom Tyler, Fal, Two Lone Swordsmen, Sutekh, Pan American, Faithful Echo, Scorn, Anthony Child, 210, Iota, Stars of the Lid, ISAN, Gentle People.

PSI PERFORMER: Art Is Division Of Pain Remixed Pt.5 Of 5 12" (K2 11). $8.00

"The final remix 12" of that extraordinary remix series contains the final six remixes including two vinyl exclusive mixes by Iceland's Sanasol member Thor and the wellknown Italian Rephlex artist Bochum Welt."

SHAPES & FORMS: Shapes & Forms CD (K2 12 CD). $15.00

"Shapes & Forms are the 21 years old swiss Kanzleramt artist Diego and the former drummer of the legendary Punk bands Discharge and Flux Of The Pink Indians Dave Ellesmere, now living in the Netherlands. Shapes & Forms is their project for dub based experimental techno in the wellknown Basic Channel tradition. The same titled debut-album contains 8 tracks of their previous work and opens a series of upcoming Shapes & Form releases on K2O. File under: deep Basic Channel influenced dub-techno."

DESANTIS, DENNIS: Deviant 12" (K2 13). $8.00

"Dennis Desantis was born in Warren, Michigan in 1973 and was raised in Sterling Heights. His early musical influences included jazz, funk, classical, and roots electronica (Tangerine Dream, Kraftwerk, etc.). After college, and several years of playing drums in rock and funk bands, Desantis now lives in Rochester, NY where he is a graduate student at the Eastman School Of Music. Beside his house productions he is active as a composer of contemporary concert music, a percussionist, and as an organizer & producer of concerts and multimedia events with the organizations Ossia/Alarm Will Sound and the Minimum Security Composers Collective. With his debut 12" 'Deviant' Dennis Desantis has returned to his roots in the minimal electronic sounds of Detroit, drawing inspiration from such artists as Theorem, Maurizio, Richie Hawtin, Aril Brikha, and Kenny Larkin."

VA: Multicast Presents Further Obliq Perspectives CD (K2 14 CD). $15.00

"Since 1996, projects including Multicast, Ted Sturgeon and Freq Modif represented this perspective to the contemporary electronic ideology, but with a more psychedelic and improvisational twist. From tracks constructed with the basics of noise and rhythmic sequences to full on melodic washes, Obliq artists sculpt aural images aimed not at the dance floor but the armchair. These artists employ methodologies of sequencing not too familiar with modern technology, but rather more traditional and improvisational in approach. Multicast, for example, creates most of their tracks from live, late night sessions. Guitars, electric mandolins, kalimbas, modular synthesizers, analog sequencers & effects and digital synthesizers are all part of the Obliq arsenal located at the Larkspur, Wallstreet and Erie facilities. Think of Multicast as an ever-evolving music project. A revolving door of ideas. A meeting of the minds from various individuals involved with the other projects within Obliq. It's the flagship and corner stone project and even further an ideal representation of the Obliq record label as a whole. If you listen closely to the Multicast material, you will notice a sort of mesh of musical influences and backgrounds from all individuals involved yet close attention is paid in how the various parts are combined. The physical landscape of rural Colorado surrounding members of Multicast play a big part in the environmental influences in the music itself. These are wide-open spaces with room enough for ideas to flourish away from the confines and distractions of an urban environment. This isn't to say that Multicast lives in a music vacuum or an environment void of art and music culture. Rather, the geographic location gives the project an opportunity to observe the world of electronic music from the outside in and not consumed by a metropolitan music clique. Therefore, members of Multicast rely on each other to be energized and inspired to create and follow through with ideas and bring them into being. A lot of the popular software-based music making tools — the ones dominant in modern day electronic music — are put aside which allow Multicast to focus on improvisational and organic composition. All members of Multicast are DJs, but styles may be surprising as compared to their musical output."

VA: Multicast Presents Further Obliq Perspectives LP (K2 14 LP). $12.00

LP version.

TENECKE: Adi-Pre Puddled 12" (K2 15). $8.00

"Tenecke is a project created by Wayne B. Magruder utilizing lo and hi-fi recording techniques, combining live performance with samples. Beat heavy, textured, random, and Brooklyn-inspired. Wayne B. Magruder was born and raised in Texas, where he met Sean Donovan (his Calla Band colleague on Sub Rosa) at grade school. Desiring to integrate electronics, triggers, and samples in a rock format, Magruder formed Calla with Donovan and Valle in late 1997. In late 2000 he released Tactile Defense EP under the name tenEcke, combining Brooklyn inspired beats with textured debris."

LAZYFISH/MEWARK: Lazyfish/Mewark CD (K2 16 CD). $15.00

"Lazyfish, one of the most talented up-and-coming artists from Moscow's electronic music scene, will release his second album in collaboration with Alexander Petrunin aka Mewark. Alexander Potekhin aka Lazyfish's artist name originates from a small pirate company he ran with his friends to produce skateboards. Lazyfish has already released an IDM album on the Russian Label Art-Tek and some more dubby techno tunes on Trapez. Alexander Petrurin aka Mewark works as a sound designer & jingle maker on MTV-Russia. Both met about 2 years ago programming for Native Instruments' 'Reaktor' and started working on the album. Lazyfish/Mewark contains 12 songs highlighting in the different aspects of these 2 Moscow Boys expression: starting with some dsp-ambient-dub, floating into some bitter-sweet Plaid/Autechre influenced melody-monsters, some tricky 'technical' freak-outs, coming down to dsp-ambient again and ending in some dark and modern 'Coil transferred in 2002' like atmosphere."

CLUBSESSSEL: Clubssessel CD (K2 17 CD). $14.00

"Something's going on between the club and the lounge: Clubssessel! A new project recently started by Christopher Bleckmann and Hannes Wenner, whose minimal recordings for M-nus / Detroit added some new aspects to the minimal techno-world. Keeping the faith to minimal sound-structures, Clubssessel combines rhythm-pattern which may appear simple with deep pad-sounds and noisy ambient soundscapes. The club is always part of the music but more in the background, like a memory. Steady live editing and mixing of sounds while recording add an live-performance-like atmosphere to the tracks. One part of each track coming from the machines, the other coming from the hands of the producers, Clubssessel comes with the human touch of a live-recording-session in this slowly developing soundscapes. Somewhere between noisy ambient and minimal techno Clubssessel finds its own way of sound. Not necessarily dance-music, but music to move your head slowly while listening: in a lounge or at home, or wherever you may find this music appropriate."

CLUBSESSSEL: Clubssessel LP (K2 17 LP). $11.00

LP version.

DESANTIS, DENNIS: Promotion Of Vice 12" (K2 18). $8.00

"Since our fresh new talent Dennis Desantis released his debut-12inch 'Deviant' just in January 2002, we got very positive feedback from some of the worlds best DJ's like Laurent Garnier, Josh Wink, Funk D'Void, Fabrice Lig, Dan Bell and many others. Here we go with the next chapter: Dennis' second 12" contains 2 new tracks following the melodic techno style of 'Deviant' and a very intense Remix of the title track by Alexander Kowalski on the flipside."

VA: No Space For Dogma CD (K2 20 CD). $14.00

"Since the Kanzleramt sub-label K2o got reactivated in May 2001 one year of consistent work and many diverse releases brought the label a very positive international feedback. No Space For Dogma celebrates some of the best previous moments on k2o, some exclusive and unreleased tracks as well as some parts of the forthcoming albums by Monophase and Kareem, one track from the debut 12inch by Diego Hostettler's project Echelon Network and Jake Mandell's DVD release." Artists also include: Lazyfish/Mewark, PSI Performer, Clubssessel, Multicast, Tenecke, Lazyfish, Dennis Desantis, Apathism, Shapes & Forms.

DESANTIS, DENNIS: Clock Wise CD (K2 22 CD). $14.00

"Dennis Desantis was born in 1973 in Warren, Michigan to parents who were semi-professional musicians with diverse and eclectic listening tastes. He serves as a performer and administrator with the group Alarm Will Sound, with whom he has recorded the music of Steve Reich for Nonesuch and Cantaloupe Records. Meanwhile, by the spring of 2001, Dennis had produced enough finished techno to feel comfortable about letting it be heard. Almost immediately after circulating some of these tracks online, he began receiving offers from DJs and independent labels. He eventually signed with the Kanzleramt sub-label k2o, who released his debut 12" 'Deviant' (k2o13) in January of 2002. Selling out almost immediately, 'Deviant' has garnered rave reviews from De-Bug and Groove and has appeared in the sets of such luminaries as Dan Bell and Laurent Garnier followed by the even more successful 'Promotion Of Vice' 12inch. Clock Wise — possibly the most emotional techno/house debut album ever — features the most diverse stylistic elements of it's genre all together compiled in sweetest perfection of harmony."

DESANTIS, DENNIS: Clock Wise 2LP (K2 22 LP). $16.00

Double vinyl version.

MONOPHASE: The Need 12" (K2 23). $8.00

"Here we go with the first real electronic pop tune on k2o! No worries, it's certainly no 80's revival crap or another stupid cover version of unforgotten childhood memories. The boys also didn't learned how to play the guitar in a 2 hours crash course. No, no, no, it's just the simple perfection of what they even used to do. Hannes Wenner and Christopher Bleckmann aka Monophase finally left the fields of usual drum & bass to discover further territories of unheard electronic beats'n'breaks. 'The Need', with it's lovely tingle song feat. Dahlia Strecker and her amazing voice comes as a pre-single for the upcoming Monophase album Random Factor. It features 3 songs (incl. 'The Need' in 2 versions and 2 more songs). The Cologne (Germany) based project Monophase strikes back with an amazing definition of up to date breakbeats and additional soundscapes far beyond all traditional drum & bass structures. It ranges from electronic-2 step-pop on 'The Need' to experimental clicks'n'breaks on 'Certified', the electro meets house fusion of 'Recall' on the b-side and finally the instrumental of 'The Need' for a perfect ending close to where it all started."

MANDELL, JAKE: Crusty Effluvia 12" (K2 24). $8.00

"K2O and Kodama Records proudly present 'Crusty Effluvia' — the 12" teaser for Jake Mandell's upcoming 5.1 Surround DVD album Slither with Jeffers Egan. The 12" contains the Original Version (converted to a Stereo Mix) as well as remixes by Jake himself and Monolake! Jake Mandell is possibly most known for his works on Worm Interface, Force Inc., Carpark Records and his own little baby Kodama Records. Monolake is without a doubt one of the best artists in the wide fields of electronic music around the globe. His remix follows the broken beat adventures on his last 12" 'Polaroid'."

MEWARK: Little One CD (K2 26 CD). $14.00

"Alexander Petrunin aka Mewark works as a sound designer & jingle writer for MTV-Russia. Together with Lazyfish he released a collaboration-album earlier this year on K2. Little One is an album which shows Alexander's talents to combine live recorded instruments with the unnatural but interesting world of Reaktor sounds. The results range from sweet and melodic (almost pop) songs to deep and dark (almost scary) soundscapes. All 8 tracks on Mewark's amazing debut album tell individual chapters of one story. It's a fairy tale about the 'Little One' and it's just 8 chapters long. They include the beginning and the end. Close your eyes and listen..."

KAREEM: Full Spectrum Dominance CD (K2 28 CD). $14.00

"Full Spectrum Dominance is an instrumental Hip Hop album by the Berlin based producer Kareem. It contains selected works recorded in the past three years and follows the strong movement of new and more advanced Hip Hop like Def Jux, Fondle 'em, Anticon, Beyond Real, Word Sound, Mush, Counterflow and many others, but this time out of Germany! Kareem's Hip Hop coming out on the well acclaimed vinyl only record 'Ramadan 01' was released some years ago and got massiv feedback from the international underground. Kareem aka Patrik Stottrop is so far most known for his label Zhark and numerous dark and minimal techno and experimental noise releases. He is living in Berlin and works at the software company Native Instruments. Let's start the Full Spectrum Dominance!"

CHILD & ANDREW READ, ANTHONY: Guitar Treatments CD (K2 29 CD). $14.00

"It was in the early nineteen-nineties, as members of the avant-rock group Blim, that the guitarist and the treater began constructing musical works using electric guitar and the electronic treatments of the sounds produced. A significant point came about the day Frank Zappa died, when guitarist and treater performed and produced 'The Eagle', a piece of music involving four tracks of slow, simple and sustained, interwoven guitar lines, treated using a variety of exotic effects. Sadly, it is believed that only a poor-quality recording of this piece still remains. In light of this recording, it was suggested that a future project should take place, involving variations, far and wide, on this theme. As events progressed, the guitarist and the treater became separated physically, and time passed. Eventually it was decided that a short, but intense project should, and could take place, the result of which you hold now. The pieces were constructed in the same spirit, manner and framework as with the earlier pieces, a key aspect being that the works were split into two very distinct halves; those of guitar and treatment, the 'sound' being separated into two constituents, those of before and after it leaves the electric guitar. The guitarist played the electric guitar. Though he chose and produced the pitch and duration of the individual notes, he was not involved in any way with the 'colour' of the notes, nor the treatments applied to the notes. The treater treated the electric guitar. Though he had no involvement with the choice of pitch or duration, nor of the playing of the individual guitar notes, he applied all the treatment subsequent to each note being produced. Guitar Treatments was produced between the 16th and the 18th January 1998 in Birmingham, UK. In many ways, due to the nature of the pieces, some being ideas, though unheard and unpractised, and others being purely improvisational, this 'production' involved the totality of composing, arranging, playing, recording, treating and mixing. This intensity of effort over the two days was expected, was indeed planned, and it was welcomed. It was within in the spirit."

DESANTIS, DENNIS: Warning Fatigue 12" (K2 30). $9.00

"Before his second album will be released, Dennis fires off 2 teaser 12"s. The first one Warning Fatigue contains 2 brand-new deep and melodic tech-house tracks as well as an additional (extremely deep) Jeff Bennet Remix on the flip-side. Jeff Bennett is best known for his great dubby tech-house records on Pokerflat, Konvex/Konkav, Morris Audio, Treibstoff and Episode."

LAZYFISH & ALEXANDROID: OS CD (K2 31 CD). $15.00

"Just one year after his last years CD with Mewark, Lazyfish presents his next multifarious great collaboration album OS — this time with Alexandroid from Riga. The album contains 11 tracks on CD and nine on the limited LP version (500 numbered copies!). Slow melodic tunes and dark heavy beats altogether! Alexander Potekhin aka Lazyfish's artist name originates from a small pirate company he ran with his friends to produce skateboards. Lazyfish has already released an album on the Russian Label Art-Tek, some dubby techno tunes on Trapez, an interactive track on the Native Instruments compilation (WMM Records) and his above mentioned collaboration CD with Mewark in 2002. Andrew Antonets aka Alexandroid is from Riga. He released an album called Sinoptic with his production partner Alex Matrosov on Art-Tek. Most of the tracks on OS are made by Alexandroid, four by Lazyfish. OS is the digital translation of experiences and emotions, a shadow of the past and a view into the future. At the moment many electronic musicians start playing 'analog' instruments like guitars, bass and drums and seem to be almost denying their past digital productions and interests. Lazyfish and Alexandroid present their rich collection of the (still) wide-range of purely digital-electronic music in many different styles and colours with fantastic additional vocals by Kristi, Alex Matrosov and Andrew Antonets himself."

LAZYFISH & ALEXANDROID: OS LP (K2 31 LP). $13.00

K7 (GERMANY):*HERBERT: Addiction 12" (K7 131 EP). $6.50

"His compositions have attracted some of dance music's most inventive producers to rework, remix, and reinvent his songs for the all new Addiction EP featuring remixes of the Bodily Functions tracks 'Addiction', 'Suddenly', and 'The Last Beat'; this EP also features the previously unreleased 'I'll Do It'. Anchored by Herbert's remake of 'Addiction' with the legendary Perry Farrell (of Jane's Addiction fame) as guest-vocalist, the EP also includes mixes by long-time collaborator Phil Parnell and Japanese keyboard wiz Emerson Kitamura."

TIGA: DJ Kicks CD (K7 142 CD). $16.00

"Helming 2003's first installment in IK7's seminal DJ-Kicks series, Montreal's TIGA is making yet another colossal splash in the electronic music scene he has been championing for over a decade. As a world-renowned DJ, party promoter, record store owner, label executive, and producer, TIGA has not only helped establish Montreal's burgeoning music scene but runs one of the most respected labels in North America, Turbo Recordings. Initially known for his techno and house sets, TIGA has recently garnered mass adulation as a central figure in the global resurgence of electro alongside Larry Tee, Fischerspooner, and IK7 alum DJ Hell and his international DJ Gigolo imprint. TIGA's remake of Corey Hart's 80's classic 'Sunglasses At Night' with Zyntherius (a/k/a Jori Hulkonnen) went directly to the top of the charts across Europe, propelling him to international stardom. For his DJ Kicks mix, TIGA has chosen a diverse collection of danceable grooves, ranging from straight up techno to mutant disco and icy electro. Mixed to perfection, TIGA's set is a definitive picture of where music is heading in 2003." Artists include: Jolly Music, Chromeo, 2Raumwohnung, Traffic Signs, Tutto Matto, Sir Drew, Le Tigre, Antonelli Electric, Break 3000, TIGA & Zyntherius, Codec & Flexor, Carl A. Finlow, Stevie V., Crowdpleaser & St. Plomb, Schatrax, Swayzak, Charles Manier, and Martini Bros.

TIGA: DJ Kicks EP: Man Hrdina 12" (K7 142 EP). $6.50

"Obligated by rote DJ-Kicks tradition, TIGA has deigned to bequeath an original track which listeners will surely adore. 'Man Hrdina' marks a new 'back to basics' approach for the 29-year old Montreal-born DJ/Producer, resulting in a real powerhouse track. 'Hrdina' acts at once as both lure and chastisement, the hum of the bass coos in shackled estrus, drawn into the cunning predation of a space becoming, then enticed, engorged by assured swaths of melody. The track offers a glimpse of TIGA's brazen futurevision, one which eschews the humanist froth of Blade Runner in favor of something more, something somehow unconcerned with cyborgs."

TIGA: DJ Kicks 2LP (K7 142 LP). $18.00

Double vinyl LP version, full color gatefold sleeve.

SWAYZAK: In The Car Crash 12" (K7 143 EP). $6.50

"The A-side starts with the shaken-but-not-stirred album mix of 'In The Car Crash', a brilliant slice of dub techno from Roger 23. The Canadian producer duo Headgear, who co-produced the original track, provided their epic re-interpretation for the B-side. Over ten minutes, they slowly but surely mutate 'In The Car Crash' into a monumental vocoder pop tune. Finally, Hamburg DJ and producer Carsten Jost, a new recruit into the universe of the Swayzak's best friends, drops an eight-minute instrumental remix sure to be a hit with fans

SPACEK: Vintage Hi-Tech CD (K7 144 CD). $16.00

"The incredible hypnotic sonic architecture on which Steve Spacek and Morgan Zarate — together with Edmund Cavill — have been working with since the mid-90s has never been so defined. Spacek's stripped-to-the-bone brand of R&B, harmonious downbeats and the soft, but strongly evocative, floating style of their vocals have earned Spacek comparisons to everyone from Massive Attack through to D'Angelo, but their sound essentially remains beyond explicit classification. The ten tracks on Vintage Hi-Tech emphasize Spacek's exceptional artistic perspective. In a world of their own, the boys have cooked up some real treats: delayed, swinging tracks rooted in hip-hop, groovy cutting-edge thrillers, and songs where the beat gives just the slightest suggestion of funk."

GHOST CAULDRON: Invent Modest Fires CD (K7 147 CD). $16.00

"At the core of Ghost Cauldron is DJ Kaos, a graffiti legend and former member of the Berlin band Terranova and his old skateboarding buddy CE.EL, a peerless keyboard player and studio whiz. Around them swirls a cadre of top-shelf collaborators, who lend vocals to many of Invent Modest Fires' ten tracks. Though Ghost Cauldron's earlier singles, the hip-hop flavoured 'Whole World' and the house and disco-inflected 'Bozak' hinted at the collective's eclecticism, Invent Modest Fires is truly a genre bounding experience. It's rock, it's hip hop, sometimes it's folk and then proto-disco. It's an eclectic mix, close in form to the eclectic sets that have made DJ Kaos one of Europe's most in-demand DJs."

GHOST CAULDRON: Invent Modest Fires 2LP (K7 147 LP). $18.00

VA: K7150 2CD (K7 150 CD). $13.00

"This release only contains the double CD. Always ahead of the curve, IK7 Records has been one of the most defiantly eclectic labels in electronic music. Whether it's house, downtempo, hip-hop, electro or minimal techno, the instantly recognizable exclamation point logo has become a symbol that represents exceptional music. The simple series number says it all: This is not just another compilation, but something special. IK7 Records' 150th release is a milestone and a celebration. More precisely, IK7150 is not only a retrospective of this legendary label's seminal artists and releases and a survey of its current roster, but a peek into where things are headed." FIVE DEEZ: Kinkynasti CD (K7 151 CD). $16.00

"Cincinnati becomes Kinkynasti as Five Deez transform their unassuming Midwestern hometown into a space-age hip-hop dance party. Producers / MCs Fat Jon and Pase Rock along with Sonic and Kyle David have been together since 1999, releasing the acclaimed Koolmotor and sought-after Japanese import Slow Children Playing albums. The release of Kinkynasti should surprise and delight fans of their previous outings as well as a hip-hop heads across the globe. Nonchalantly blending classic hip-hop elements with jazz and electronics, Five Deez have set off on a musical journey along the path of street soul, but never forget to look over their shoulders. A piano-led intro featuring Stones Throw crooner Dudley Perkins gives way to banger party starters like 'Funky' and 'Kinkynasti' which exist alongside ethereal instrumentals like 'The Ocean' and 'The Rain' exemplifying the range of sounds present on the album. Clearly focused, but bitingly sharp around the edges, Kinkynasti is not your average throwaway backpack hip-hop album. Five Deez satisfyingly refrain from skills based fisticuffs. The vibe is the difference. The lyrics are never short on clear statements, but Five Deez still allow themselves the luxury, from time to time, of having nothing more than the next block party in their sights."

FIVE DEEZ: Funky 12" (K7 151 EP). $6.50

"Five Deez are putting Cincinnati on the map with the first single from their upcoming IK7 Records album Kinkynasti. The A-side features the playful party track 'Funky'. Pushing the BPMs into the red, Five Deez are sure to dominate dancefloors with this house-tempo banger. Double time lyrical bombs and furious scratching perfectly compliment the fun, driving beat. Also included on this side are the instrumental and acapella versions for added DJ pyrotechnics. On the flip side, Five Deez slow the tempo and rock their microphones on the introspective head-nodder 'Hey Young World'. Positive lyrics and a perfectly chopped funk beat make this single a must have for both uptempo and downtempo crowds."

RUCKER, URSULA: Silver Or Lead CD (K7 153 CD). $16.00

"Philly-born poet, Ursula Rucker knocked 'em out of the box with her debut album, Supa Sista. Intricately weaving words with music on her sophomore effort, Silver or Lead, she cracks her whip on unsuspecting and complacent ears worldwide. Dropping knowledge on everything from womanhood to slavery, to love, sexism, politics and more, Ursula redefines spoken word with her trademark socio-political urgency and sweet 'song-speak.' Following in Supa Sista's acclaimed footsteps, Silver or Lead boasts even more provocative music and word fusion. With song after poem after song — the two become one as Silver or Lead proves that poetry has never been this head bobbing."

RUCKER, URSULA: Silver Or Lead 2LP (K7 153 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

TERRANOVA: Peace Is Tough CD (K7 154 CD). $16.00

"Berlin's resident audio experimentalists Terranova return with a stunning album that refuses to be easily classified. Fresh off last year's Hitchhiking Nonstop With No Particular Destination, the crew of Fetisch, Meister and Shapedom wasted no time in creating a powerful companion piece to that album. Together with Hitchhiking..., Peace Is Tough forms a sort of double album by fusing together five new tracks with six new versions of previously released tracks (which have so far only been available on vinyl or in limited editions). Never the kind to create nondescript dance tracks, Terranova take their loves for hip-hop, electro, rock and dub and throw them all into their bombastic music bouillabaisse. Fuzzed-out guitars collide with rough beats to form dark, yet danceable tracks. Vocals come courtesy of dreadlocked punk princess Ari-Up, the stepdaughter of the Sex Pistols' Johnny Rotten and singer from seminal punk/new wave misfits The Slits. Ari's one-of-a-kind voice brings an urgent energy to Terranova's thumping rhythmic backbone."

TERRANOVA: Peace Is Tough 2LP (K7 154 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

CHICKEN LIPS: DJ Kicks CD (K7 155 CD). $16.00

"2003 is the year in which tracks by London's Chicken Lips are ubiquitous in every serious DJ's box. Whether it's their own tracks or their various remixes, Chicken Lips is the 'in sound' of the new decade. Perfect for the newest installment of the legendary DJ-Kicks series from K7 Records. Many of the producers that have influenced Chicken Lips in their characteristic sound are featured on their DJ-Kicks mix. There's Brainticket, Colourbox, Nina Hagen, Sharon Redd, Jellybean, and Larry Levan... their names and their music symbolizing timeless dance music. This is music from the late 1970s and early 1980s, than even today sounds so individualistic and fresh. In their DJ-Kicks mix, Chicken Lips also mix this timeless sound with various musical individualists from today. You'll hear Karin Krog & Herbert mixed with a Jellybean remix of Jimmy Spicer, the Carl Craig remix of The Congos blended with a track by Chicken Lips themselves. Chicken Lips' contribution to the DJ-Kicks series is sure to be the talk of left-field dancefloors across the globe. Spanning genres from disco and electro to dub and rock, it's total disregard for tired musical classifications will undoubtedly strike a chord with music heads of all types."

CHICKEN LIPS: Bad Skin 12" (K7 155 EP). $6.50

"'Bad Skin' is the exclusive track recorded for Chicken Lips' insanely eclectic DJ-Kicks mix album for IK7 Records. Here the Lips present the sound that discerning DJs all over the world love them for these days: A nu wave boogie beat, funky synthesizer chords, noisy dub effects and the sexy, ESG-style singing of 'Crazy Girl' all mixed up into a superb neo-80's dancefloor filler. Formerly members of Chicken Lips have developed quite a reputation for their own instrumental tracks and 'Bad Skin' is their first time incorporating a vocal into their sound."

CHICKEN LIPS: DJ Kicks 2LP (K7 155 LP). $18.00
Double LP version.

SICILIANO, DANI: Likes... CD (K7 156CD). $16.00

"The voice of Dani Siciliano will be familiar to many of you, as her distinctive jazz coloured tones have been heard on the remarkable albums of Matthew Herbert. Many of his most memorable songs, and live shows, have been enhanced in no small part by Dani's vocal performances. This is only one facet of Dani's work; as you'll hear when you listen to this, her debut, solo album. This is a song based vocal album that uses the relationship of technology and sampling in combination with live instrumentation. Dani's approach to song writing and recording is beautifully original, however the tracks on Likes... are still based on the wordplay and hooks of great pop music. Each song has a unique character and the surrounding productions have been tailored to fit each one perfectly. Dani has an extraordinary musical world-view. Informed in equal parts by jazz and soul, punk and country, go-go and hip-hop and of course house and electronica. Fragments of all these can be heard on Likes..."

SICILIANO, DANI: Likes... 2LP (K7 156LP). $18.00

Double LP version, gatefold sleeve.

DUPLAIX, VIKTER: Singles (Prelude To The Future) CD (K7 160CD). $16.00

"With his new collection Singles - Prelude to the Future, Vikter Duplaix presents obscure b-sides, remixes and rarities that represent a unique sound. Vikter Duplaix strolls between luscious pop, hot R&B, elegant chill out sounds and a never ending groove. His heart beats a breakbeat rhythm: nested, syncopated, complex but with the simplicity of the Afro American tradition, which Duplaix, as a percussionist has inhaled deeply. The sound of Vikter Duplaix is of flesh and blood. 'Sensuality' is the magic word: While his rhythmic patterns are abstract, there is no cyborg dancing here as is fashionable amongst the standardised industrially produced R&B."

DUPLAIX, VIKTER: Singles (Prelude To The Future) 2LP (K7 160LP). $18.00
Double LP version.

ØYE, ERLEND: DJ-Kicks CD (K7 161CD). $16.00

"The job title of DJ may not be the first thing that comes to mind when thinking of Erlend Oye. The singer, songwriter and indie pop star behind Kings Of Convenience has only owned a set of turntables for a few months, but despite all this, Erlend Oye the DJ is anything but a joke. With his compilation for the latest installment of the DJ-Kicks series, the Berlin-residing Norwegian not only redefines the DJ mix, but unleashes a monster set of leftfield party tunes as well. In a certain way, Oye brings to mind DJ-Kicks alums like Kruder & Dorfmeister, however, where they enriched their mixes in the studio using dub effects, keyboard overlays and distortions, Erlend Oye takes to the microphone. Having re-sung nine songs for this mix, Erlend deftly blurs the line between a DJ mix and a full on artist album. Three of these are so far unreleased compositions of his own and the other six are cover versions of tunes by Elvis, Bananarama, Pet Shop Boys and others. Erlend's selection for his DJ-Kicks draws from the best of both the dance and rock worlds. NYC dance rockers The Rapture are here, as are French house heads Phoenix, Japanese quirk-rock master Cornelius and electronica stars Royksopp. While this type of eclecticism is a constant in the DJ-Kicks series, few have left as distinctive a mark on their mixes as Erlend Oye."

ØYE, ERLEND: DJ-Kicks 2LP (K7 161LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

FUNKSTÖRUNG: Disconnected CD (K7 162CD). $16.00

"Known for orchestrated, electronic deconstruction, and unrestrained hip hop acrobatics, their new album Disconnected holds true to the Funkstörung coda while simultaneously revealing the duo's passion for pop music in the form of acoustic instruments and dynamic vocals. With an amazing cast of vocalists and their unparalleled production style, Funkstörung have created a jilted, electronic pop masterpiece deeply rooted in leftfield electro and next-level hip-hop. German vocalist Enik is featured on four of the album's tracks, but you'd never know as he transforms from soul singer to indie-rock, depending on the song. Smoldering vocals are present throughout the album with vocal contributions from Lamb's Lou Rhodes as well as Sarah Jay, best known as one of the voices of Massive Attack's Mezzanine album. Just because they've revealed their love for vocal pop, the men of Funkstörung have certainly not forsaken their affinity for hip-hop. New York MC Ties, who records for Warp's Lex Records flows furiously on 'Chopping Heads' and 'Fat Camp Feva' while Rob Sonic of Sonicum and German beatboxer Mark Boombastic also tear up tracks on their own. Longtime fans will be surprised and refreshed by the evolution of the trademark Funkstörung sound while an entirely new audience will no doubt be dazzled by the complex pop and funk-fuelled electronics of Disconnected."

FUNKSTÖRUNG: Disconnected 2LP (K7 162LP). $18.00
Double LP version.

SICILIANO, DANI: Extra Ordinary 12" (K7 163EP). $7.00

"The first single from her debut, solo album. 'Extra Ordinary' is an exercise in cutting-edge digital soul. Beats stomp around Siciliano's sultry vocal delivery in what Dani herself describes as 'a camp stampede of elephants escaping from the circus'. Rather than opt for the familiar, modern route of getting other artists to remix a song, Dani has asked for 'Walk The Line' to be reinterpreted by the chosen artists in their own way, by recording cover versions. The 'Crazy Girl Cover' by Jiff McGinnis is a wonderful 'electro soul' take on the song. Continuing on the cover version theme, Bjork's track masters Matmos turn in an enchancing take on the already fantastic album cut 'Red'."

SWAYZAK: Keep It Coming 12" (K7 166EP). $6.50

"Advance release single to Swayzak's fourth artist album. Brun's vocal is carried by a stomping bass drum, which blows the sounds through the length and breadth of the room — the whole thing is surrounded by a dubby haze of delays. The at times dreamy depths of 'Dirty Dancing' has given way ever so slightly to a more British directness. A track between reduced dub techno and 80s pop à la New Order, between dance floor and Walkman."

KAİROS (GERMANY):

RIHM, WOLFGANG: Musik für Drei Streicher (Music For 3 Strings) CD (KAI 1204). $14.00

"Wolfgang Rihm's Music For 3 Strings is both evocative and provocative. Rihm is a composer who, in his own words, 'composes with nerve ends and not only with the pencil'. He is contemporary in vision and texture, but the raw emotion, which is evident every time bow is set to string, provokes a wide range of responses from the listener. The work is mapped out in three large movements. The first movement consists of three sections, in which the music grows from introspective yet firm to more agitated gestures. The second movement is made up of three expansive canzonas, darkly lyrical, each with their own individual moods and colors. The third movement is, in a way, the emotional culmination of what has gone before, full of wild swings of mood and pulsing energy. The music is stylistically free, yet there is structure beneath the surface. It is in the direction of atonality, but there are plenty of anchors for the ear." Limited stock.

PINTSCHER, MATTHIAS: Orchestra Piece in 5 Parks/Musik AusThomas Chatterton/Choc CD (KAI 1205). $15.00

"Prizewinning young German composer Matthias Pintscher is going to be a force to be reckoned with in the musical world of the new century. The contrast between subtle introspection and massive outburst are key, especially in 'Choc' (Antiphon for Large Ensemble). The title, literally translated as 'shock', is inspired by a line from French symbolist poet Rimbaud: 'Music, veering from the abyss and the shock of icicles against the stars.' This image of contrast and conflict is apt for such a bold work. The five part structure of his 'Orchestra Piece' draws the listener's attention to the relationships of each movement, while still developing and metamorphosing organically." Limited stock.

LANG, BERNHARD: Differenz / Wiederholung 2 CD (KAI 1211). $15.00

"Texts by Gilles Deleuze, William Burroughs and Christian Loidl combine with electric guitar, electric violin and chamber ensemble to create a unique musical and philosophical melange of sounds and ideas. Originally commissioned by the Austrian Radio Music Production division Differenz / Wiederholung 2 is an original and experimental work that can be experienced on several different levels." Limited stock.

KYBURZ, HANSPETER: Malstrom, The Voynich Cipher, Manuscript, Parts CD (KAI 1215). $15.00

"40 year old composer Hanspeter Kyburz' music has gained acceptance in Europe and he is now attempting the same in the United States. He is a professor of composition at the Hochschule für Musik in Berlin. He has won several prestigious awards including the Boris Blacher Composition prize in 1990." RE: Maelstrom" (for orchestra, in four groups): "Engulfed in the whirlpool — pressed into a drifting cylinder as flotsam, whose suction power offers resistance...in wild circles, that carries away all swiftly sweeping parts of age-old musical rubble sink into a chaos of resounding foam forever, there is cold metal spray and the muffled baying of the percussion wood...the hissing, whizzing, or screeching cymbals and gueros, destructive, subversive, drifting toward the cortex, bringing forth the eternal and devouring the finite." ABLINGER, PETER: Der Regen, Das Glas, Das Lachen, Ohne Titel, Quadraturen IV CD (KAI 1219). $15.00

The listener is invited to find harmonies and melodies in the carefully constructed layers of sound. Quadraturen IV is an acoustic self portrait based on six tape recordings of ambient city sounds of Berlin accompanied by various musical instruments. Packaged in a deluxe digipack." Limited stock.

KANZLERAMT (GERMANY):

WILD, DAMON: Downtown Worlds CD (KA 101CD). $14.50

"It's his 3rd solo album and the first for Kanzleramt. This album is more on the groovier, clubbier side of Damon. Downtown Worlds does sound harder and more minimal than other Kanzleramt records and especially albums but the general mood of all tracks on this album fits very well with label owner Heiko Laux's understanding of pushing but groovy club-techno. Damon Wild is the president of Synewave. He has been producing music since 1991, and DJing since the age of 15. He is recognized for his productions as a solo artist as well as for his collaborations. He is well known for his early Acid tracks such as 'Bang The Acid', 'Ego Acid', 'Afghan Acid', 'Equinox', 'Pulzar', 'Avion', 'Morph', to his more recent electronic 'Subtractive Synthesis' series."

HEIL, JOHANNES: Illuminate the Planet CD (KA 33 CD). $17.00

"Johannes Heil, the 'techno producer of the year 1999' has a brand new album called Illuminate the Planet. This follow-up to his very successful album Reality to Midi offers 13 versatile techno and downbeat tracks on triple vinyl or CD. Through the eyes of Johannes, Illuminate represents positive energy and a perception of being part of the whole without following role models or styles. In the context of techno and his position as a producer it means that he is renewing the whole through innovation and the joy of experimenting — which does not mean Johannes is trying to teach the crowd. The album will probably be one of the most important techno releases this year. Illuminate the Planet stands for innovation and alteration combined with functionality as well as positive energy."

LAUX, HEIKO: CD (KA 39 CD). $15.00

"Sense Fiction', the science of senses, starts where consciousness loses the leading function and the senses them self get the master control. Senses are also responsible for the production of this album. Heiko Laux presents on his new album his personal definition of techno in the new Century. All tracks were produced in Berlin and transfer the mood of the changes for the label as well as for the person Heiko Laux caused by the moving to Berlin to the listeners ear. The same as ever machines, the sensual mood of the Liquidism continues. Sense Fiction has been made as a part time record for a special part of the listeners life. As expression of the listeners moods, feelings and thoughts this album will be something very personal for the listener as well as for the producer — Heiko Laux. Heavily influenced by the musical structures of jazz, Heiko tried to break with the conventional 4/4 techno drum pattern system and produced an album with a very unique funk, floating and still pumpin' techno.

LAUX, HEIKO: Sense Fiction Remixes Part 2 12" (KA 44). $9.00

"On this 12" Ricardo Villalobos added his drifting minimal house grooves to the melancholic feeling of the album track 'Moved' and made an emotional 13 minutes long variation of the very sensual album track. This remix was a real big hit at the time and is still a timeless classic! Alexander Kowalski, the new techno superstar on Kanzleramt, defined Sense Fiction as a sci-fi monster for the dirty techno floors. Diego, the second promising young artist from the Kanzleramt family made out of the quite soft original track a raging techno bullet. Massiv!"

LAUX, HEIKO: Sensefiction Remixed CD (KA 44 CD). $15.00

Remixes from Heiko Laux's most recent album, Sensefiction, Alexander Kowalski, Diego, Surgeon, Double X, Alter Ego, Johannes Heil, Heiko Laux, DJ Indicator, DJ Slip, Ricardo Villalobos. This compiles the various remixes that have appeared on a trilogy of 12" releases, but three exclusive CD mixes.

HOSTETTLER, DIEGO: Mouth Full of Fresh Cut Flowers 2LP (KA 48 LP). $15.00

Double LP version in full color sleeve.

HEIL, JOHANNES: Future Primitive CD (KA 49 CD). $15.00

"Johannes Heil seems to be like the chameleon. The colours of his music are changing from album to album. When people tried to catch him on the Reality to Midi sound, he was already illuminating the planet. When they thought to get him at the dark mood of Illuminate the Planet he was again miles away on a trip to the future — a primitive future. The new album is once again an undoubted typical Johannes Heil album, but again different from the one before. Back to the simple but very effective charming harmonies from the first album he's building up a little planet of sweet dreams and experiences of clubbing and ... Future Primitive with it's elements of Techno, Hip Hop, Electro or Ambient is the so far most versatile and meaningful J. Heil album in aspects of production and expression."

HEIL, JOHANNES: Future Primitive 2LP (KA 49 LP). $15.00

Double LP version in elaborate full color gatefold sleeve.

VA: Fully Fledged 1/2 2LP (KA 50.01). $16.00

First of 2 double packs which act as the vinyl version of the new double CD. The vinyl editions focus on the new and exclusive tracks and remixes taken from the CD. "The first vinyl part opens with excellent tunes by our Swissman Diego, another exclusive subway track by Munich-hero Richard Bartz, some deep birthday wishes by NY-based John Selway, one more exclusive by Heiko Laux, and a very beautiful ending by electro-master Anthony Rother. Not to forget the 3 remixed by Samuel L. Session, Steve Rachmad and di_indicator."

VA: Fully Fledged 2/2 2LP (KA 50.02). $16.00

"The 2nd part of the vinyl edition welcomes the missing tracks by the new Kanzleramt talent Christian Boree, our favorite Cologne-based groove Christian Morgenstern, Ibiza-minimalist Ricardo Villalobos, certainly an exclusive track by everybody's darling Johannes Heil, as well as NY weirdo DJ Slip and remixes by the fresh un-Gleich Rockers Double X, our man Alexander Kowalski and last but not least Heiko's 'Tunneling' remake."

FAMILY LOUNGE (AKA ANTHONY ROTHER): Kamakasi (Get Pretty Baby) 12" (KA 57). $9.00

4-track 12" version

MORGENSTERN, CHRISTIAN: Malaria EP 12" (KA 59). $8.00

"Back from his holiday on Hawaii Blue Christian Morgenstern, infected by the dubby Malaria virus, explains how to feel irie! His 2 organic dub-house tracks and the 1 layered back summer-soundtrack fit perfectly with the well known summer-beach-cocktail-mood and can easily be recognized as typical Morgenstern tracks following his last years 'The future is on fire' Kanzleramt 12". The perfect summer-record for holidays, beach parties, cocktail-bars, bikini-shopping, barbecues, sunbathing or anything else."

DIEGO: The Persuasion Channel CD (KA 61 CD). $15.00

"The Persuasion Channel — Being exposed to the media's efforts to manipulate us day by day, we constantly lose control of our liberal opinion-forming. In this connection the television as Persuasion Channel plays a significant role: 'Call us immediately... only a few copies left... this unique offer... exclusively for our best clients... recommended by experts... xy has changed my life... therefore I can really give advice to all of you...' Or more subtly in terms of deliberately chosen dialectics belonging to a reporting, that comes objective at first sight. Even listening to The Persuasion Channel the very first time, it appears musically more mature, less aggressive, more feelingly but not less energetic than Diego's last-year debut album Mouth full of fresh cut flowers. A retry to fill functional Techno with contents that surpass pure drum-programming and thereby provide an alternative to the doctrine of the simple Loop-Techno."

HEIL, JOHANNES: Feiern CD (KA 63 CD). $15.00

"Johannes Heil's new CD Feiern presents for the first time 13 of the most essential previous 12" only tracks of Johannes's 5 years on Kanzleramt. Almost every single track can be named club-hit without any doubt. 'Calling' as well as the different parts of 'Feiern' or 'Pax', completed with the last years Love Parade hit 'Golden Dawn' are wellknown techno classics and have been played by almost every famous techno DJ for a long time. This is the first chance for all techno lovers, who are not able to by all 12inches, to get the first Johannes Heil club-hit selection."

KOWALSKI, ALEXANDER: Progress 12" (KA 64). $8.00

"After his recently released debut-album Echoes just dropped two more bombs which we couldn't wait to release. Both tracks are brand new recordings by the man with the rollin'basslines. Last but not least Diego's remix gives another great perspective to the title-track."

KOWALSKI, ALEXANDER: Progress CD (KA 67 CD). $15.00

"Progress — the second album by Alexander Kowalski contains 10 brilliant atmospheric deep house and very funky techno tracks incl. the lovely 'All I Got To Know' featuring Raz Ohara (Kitty Yo). Upfront this will be a very hard to hit album for 2002. Highlighting in potential techno club hits as well as funky deep house tunes with a strong dancefloor-guarantee. Most of the tracks concentrate individually on their House or Techno elements and the album becomes more varied and full of suspense. Progress — many different aspects on their way to perfection. Following a strong line of well acclaimed releases on Tresor, Konsequent, Surface, BCC, Proton, Ungleich and of course Kanzleramt, as well as very successful remixes for the likes of Christian Morgenstern, Ben Sims, Sender Berlin, Elektrochemie LK (aka Thomas Schumacher) and others, Mr. Kowalski reached a new status in the world of Techno and House."

KOWALSKI, ALEXANDER: Progress 2LP (KA 67 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

HEIL, JOHANNES: Heilstyle CD (KA 68 CD). $15.00

"The fifth album by Johannes Heil, contains 11 brand new and possibly some of Johannes' best tracks ever. The tracks got the powerful saw-lines of 'Reality to Midi' a bunch of 'Paranoid Dancers' the deep atmospheres of 'Illuminate the Planet', the sweet and lovely melodies of his 2000 Love Parade Hit 'Future Primitive' the straight power of 'The Eye of Providence', potential club-hits like 'Feiern', slow-building tech-trance soundscapes like 'Calling' and last but not least all tracks are based on the long experience of being one of the worlds best techno producers for a while now."

LAUX, HEIKO: Ornaments CD (KA 69 CD). $15.00

"Heiko Laux presents his 4th full-length artist album Ornaments on Kanzleramt. Ornaments reflects bits and pieces of all that previous records: the most common detroit flavour of 'Liquidism' and 'Souldancer', the laidback mood of the 'Old School Street', the house tunes of the Yoshitoshi record and finally the jazz-appeal and funk of Sense Fiction. In the 8th year of it's existence Kanzleramt, Heiko Laux's brainchild, presents one of it's most essential records so far. Ornaments is not following any hyper-modern-trends. It's not particular future. It's as beauty as deep, following Heiko Laux's understanding of time- and ageless music, even outstanding, even good, when all trends of today are gone."

HIGHRISE: Hope For Peace 12" (KA 70). $8.00

"We are very proud to present John Selway's debut-12inch as Highrise on Kanzleramt. There's the lovely and very intense title track 'Hope For Peace' in 2 different versions (a straight one for the harder Techno DJ's and a more sensual one with a softer flow and long sensitive build-ups) and the very funky extra track 'Wash From Up Here' on top."

HEIL, JOHANNES: Paranoid Dancer 12" (KA 72). $8.00

Two track 12" version featuring Heiko Laux's Don Quixote Mix and an Alexander Kowalski remix.

HEIL, JOHANNES: Paranoid Dancer CD (KA 72 CD). $9.00

7-track CD version featuring remixes by DJ Hell & Alexander Kowalski & Heiko Laux. "Johannes Heil's and Kanzleramt's possibly most know classic tune 'Paranoid Dancer' got remastered and remixed for it's 5th anniversary. Originally part of the '97 Reality to Midi album, this song marked the international break-through for Johannes Heil. Now 'Paranoid Dancer' got a full-side vinyl cut in a re-mastered 2002 version for the a-side of the KA71 12" release. The International DJ Gigolo DJ Hell met Johannes in January 2002 @ the dialog-park studio near Frankfurt to rework this classic tune in the traditional DJ Hell Freestyle-Super-Techno-Funk-Style. As Johannes Heil described the rework by Hell recently: 'If the original version of 'Paranoid Dancer' has been Gold, now it's Platinum!'"

KOWALSKI FEAT. RAZ OHARA, ALEXANDER: All I Got To Know (Mini Album) CD (KA 74 CD). $9.00

"'All I Got To Know', the most outstanding song of Alexander Kowalski's recently released album Progress features some hard-night-club-life-vocals by Kitty Yo's Raz Ohara. Here and now the incredible Josh Wink (Ovum) remixed this even massive original for some further club attacks. Is there really someone out there, who doesn't know Josh's mega hits 'Don't Laugh' or 'Higher State of Consciousness'? His remix is just waiting now to follow that."

LAUX, HEIKO: Ornaments (Re-inhaled) 12" (KA 75). $8.00

"One of the most emotional moments on Heiko Laux's recently released album is without a doubt the title track 'Ornaments'. The saxophone intro followed by an intense housy beat makes the song something very special. It's the perfect example for Heiko's understanding of songmode techno as an alternative to the most simplified loop or minimal-techno-tools these days. On 'Ornaments Re-Inhaled' you'll find 2 reworks of this track done by Heiko Laux himself shortly after he finished the album. As a bonus on this 12" you'll find a funky DJ Tool called 'Granulate One' featuring bits and pieces of album elements."

DIEGO: Two Times High 12" (KA 76). $8.00

"On his new 12" 'Two Times High' Diego combines the energetic and rough techno power of his early Kanzleramt works with the deep melodic flavour of The Persuasion Channel (his last album). You'll find some links to old-school-chicago-jack-techno grooves & basslines in the b-side track 'Hi Jacker' as well. 'Two Times High' comes as a strong DJ-Tool with Body and Soul."

KOWALSKI FEAT. RAZ OHARA, ALEXANDER: Hot Spot/Delicious 12" (KA 77). $8.00

12" version. "The dream-team is back with the follow up to their collaboration work 'All I Got To Know'. The new 12" is obviously a split-single and contains the 2 best tracks of the Alexander Kowalski feat. Raz Ohara Live-Sets, experienced at many gigs across Europe since months. 'Hot Spot (Girls Outside The Window)' is previously unreleased. 'Delicious' appeared originally on Alex's first album Echoes as a beautiful instrumental tech-house tune. This time it comes with the fantastic voice of Kitty Yo's Raz Ohara. Tom Clark got his hands on 'Delicious' and reworked it housy, minimal, instrumental."

KOWALSKI FEAT. RAZ OHARA, ALEXANDER: Hot Spot (Girls Outside The Window) CD (KA 77 CD). $10.00

7 track, 42-minute CD EP, including "Hot Spot" remixes by the Advent and Jesper Dahlbäck. Monstrous Euro flair from this Kanzleramt super-duo affair. "The dream-team is back with the follow up to their collaboration work 'All I Got To Know'. The new EP contains the 2 best tracks of the Alexander Kowalski feat. Raz Ohara Live-Sets, experienced at many gigs across Europe since months. 'Hot Spot (Girls Outside The Window)' is previously unreleased. 'Delicious' appeared originally on Alex's first album Echoes as a beautiful instrumental tech-house tune. This time it comes with the fantastic voice of Kitty Yo's Raz Ohara. Tom Clark got his hands on 'Delicious' and reworked it housy, minimal, instrumental."

VA: temp.space: Heiko Laux DJ Mix CD (KA 78 CD). $15.00

"Kanzleramt founder Heiko Laux wishes that you 'please don't try to analyze this mix in terms of how many tracks mixed on as many decks as possible with just one hand in the shortest possible time standing backwards' but does mention that it was recorded on a 'hard disc in June 2002 in using a Rodec mx180 (mk1) DJ Mixer, 3x Technics 1210 turntables and the Motu 2408 soundcard.' I guess we'll leave him alone but I'm not sure what it is we're not supposed to do or talk about? Anyway, maybe what he's getting at is that we should take his mix for what it is and not try and hype him like the other DJ egos being blown up around the globe. Thank god for DJ's like Laux with his focus on the music approach and hard techno selections. This disc contains some of his favorite tunes of the past couple of years and proves once again why some of the best damn techno has always come from the city of Berlin. Heiko Laux keeps up a relentless energy and properly lays down some top-notch tunes without all the hype and attitude. Perfect for the Jeff Mills/Tresor/Detroit/Berlin crowd and those looking to return to their techno roots without getting nostalgic." Artists include: Smith n' Hack, The Horrorist, Acid Scout, Ben Sims, Alexander Kowalski feat. Raz Ohara, Calix, Johannes Heil, Brian Zenz & Aaron Nesbit, Damon Wild, Mannix, Daniel Gronlund, Agent Cooper, Chris Liebing, Mark Broom, Soul Designer, Steve Rachmad, Surgeon, and Jeff Mills.

KOWALSKI/HOSTETTLER/DESANTIS: Reasons 2LP (KA 80 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

KOWALSKI/HOSTETTLER/DESANTIS: Reasons CD (KA 80CD). $0.00

"What happens if you get your 3 most talented young producers together in the studio to produce an album with just one software? What if it's Propellerheads 'Reason 2.0'? What if the brilliant 'gold-hand' Alexander Kowalski is one of the 3 producers? What if Diego, who already produced two fantastic albums for Kanzleramt (plus the extra-ordinary Shapes & Forms album for K2o) is also heavily involved? And what if the newest signing Dennis Desantis, who just released his extremely deep debut album Clock Wise on K2o, is the 3rd in this all-stars round? It must become an amazing album of deep techno, right? Couldn't it be called Reasons?"

ITEM ONE: Sliced Behaviour 12" (KA 81). $8.00

"Does anyone remember the early rough acid tracks of a very young Johannes Heil in co-operation with his Bad Nauheim mate Heiko Laux as Item One on Utturn? "Sliced Behaviour", the first Item One record in 4 years, got recorded in early summer 2002 @ Dialog Park in Bad Nauheim. Way ahead of all hard and rough acid past, but easy to recognize as a record done by the techno masters Heiko Laux and Johannes Heil, 'Sliced Behaviour' sounds as fresh as a record could be. It's full of updated 303 sounds, moody Detroit chords and funky rhythms."

HEIL, JOHANNES: 20.000 Leagues Under The Skin 12" (KA 83). $8.00

"The A-side features a slowly upbuilding epic track in the tradition of mental Johannes Heil masterpieces like 'Calling' or 'Future Primitive' — melancholic sweet strings and a pulsating bassline on a long ride to the nirvana of the lost souls. The B-side contains two bengin' floor-tools with a stronger techno attitude."

DOUBLE X: Charis 12" (KA 84). $8.00

"In the last 2 years, both members of Double X mainly focused on their solo-careers. Alexander Kowalski released his second album Progress, as well as the 2 hit singles 'All I Got To Know' and 'Hot Spot/Delicious'. Just recently he contributed his talents to the collaboration album Reasons with Diego and Dennis Desantis on Kanzleramt. His Double X partner Thosten 'Stassy' Litschkow finally released the second album as Sender Berlin (with Hendrik Vaak) on Tresor Records. In early autumn 2002, Alexander and Thorsten recorded a few new tracks for their Double X alter ego. The four strongest tracks of that sessions made their way on the new 12". The title track 'Charis' opens as a slow and mental introduction and the A-side twin 'Inflame' fires a bundled staccato beat straight on the dancefloors. The most classic Double X tune 'Hesitant' on the B-side features the full-power Kowalski beats in harmony with a strong Post-Detroit-Styled Sender Berlin influence."

DIEGO: Instant Reality CD (KA 85 CD). $14.00

"Instant Reality — the 5th album by Diego Hostettler is a total clash of hard but funky techno tracks and smooth nu-jazz listening tracks. The LP with it's 8 essential techno bangers, concentrates more on the DJ aspects, whilst the CD contains a couple of nice listening pearls on top."

DIEGO: Instant Reality 2LP (KA 85 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

WILD, DAMON: Downtown World Pt. 1-4 12" (KA 86). $9.00

"The Synwave runner and longtime-techno-activist Damon Wild opens a new 12" series of invited and very welcome Kanzleramt guests. His 12" contains 4 absolutely brilliant techno tracks, which all sound like a perfectly coalesced record of 50% Synwave and 50% Kanzleramt."

VA: Kanzleramt 3 CD (KA 87 CD). $13.00

"The third edition of this Kanzleramt-compilation series collects 11 more of the best previously on vinyl only released tracks of the Kanzleramt backstock ranging from 2000-2002. The 2 bonus tracks from upcoming records by Dave Ellesmere and Diego & Voco Derman are served as delicious appetizers. The music on Kanzleramt 3 is as flexible as the general style-range of the label: Post-Detroit-Techno from hard to trance, but always deep and with multiple-layered structures and House from sweet to dubby, but constantly on a high quality level." Artists include: Heiko Laux, Christian Borée, Alexander Kowalski, Diego, Double X, Highrise, Dave Ellesmere, C. Morgenstern, Diego & Voco Derman, Alexander Kowalski, and Johannes Heil.

HEIL, JOHANNES: 20.000 Leagues Under The Skin CD (KA 88 CD). $15.00

"Johannes Heil is back with his 6th and best full length album for Kanzleramt on CD and LP. 20.000 Leagues Under The Skin tells from a deep ride under the skin in 12 adventurous chapters. (About microscopic worlds, mystic corporality, hidden procedures, emotional networks and even more.) It's the most epic and deep album Johannes Heil has produced so far. You can find more sensuality instead of radicalism. The album contains more stylistic influences and homogeneity than ever before. 20.000 Leagues is less rave, more music, still techno."

HEIL, JOHANNES: 20.000 Leagues Under The Skin 2LP (KA 88 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

LIG, FABRICE: Universal Tech EP 12" (KA 89). $9.00

"Fabrice Lig was born in 1972 in Charleroi, Belgium. At 16 he started collecting records, subsequently landing DJ gigs at small parties in the area. Two years later Fabrice began to get the itch to extend his creativity into the realm of production, and thus began building his own studio. It was around this time he spearheaded underground projects like Intervaves. Since the release of this first EP, Fabrice has produced many other underground projects under a slew of guises (see discography) and making something of a name for himself. His remix for E-Dancer aka Kevin Saunderson makes him, in the words of Mad Mike (Underground Resistance) 'a part of Detroit music's history' by being the first white producer to record on the mythical Detroit label KMS, and the first double groove recording from NSC."

KOWALSKI, ALEXANDER: Belo Horizonte 12" (KA 91). $9.00

"Belo Horizonte is the extra-large follow up to Mr. Kowalski's last years best-seller Hot Spot with Kitty Yo's Raz Ohara singing. 'Hot Spot' is one of the best songs of 2002 voted by the readers of the 2 most important German dance mags Raveline and Groove. Belo Horizonte contains the same titled A-side (Hit! Hit! Hit!) and 2 deep techno-smasher called 'Lightning Field' (heavy-bass techno with melodic elements) and 'Dynamite Sun' (old-school harder techno) on the B-side. The first 2000 copies of this 12" comes as a limited edition in white vinyl."

ELLESME, DAVE: Angry Young Computer CD (KA 93 CD). $14.50

"Angry Young Computer is the exciting debut album by Dave Ellesmere from Amsterdam. To call Dave a newcomer would be stupid, because he's active in music since the late 70's. Dave Ellesmere has already gone through the very early days of Punk (when Heiko Laux, the head of Kanzleramt, was just born), had a short stop in the fields of Dub-Techno 20 years later, had an eye on Electro next and finally presents his first album Angry Young Computer on Kanzleramt in the diversity of many different styles of electronic music. From the Jazz of 'Spring Ding' to the post-detroit Tech-House of 'Doing Things On Impulse' via the smooth and melodic Electro of 'Laguana Sunrise' to the aggressive and punishing electro beats of 'Isolated Blue Cube' through a clicky Chill-Out period with the lovely 'Optisoma' and back to floorfilling Tech-House with 'MMS'. If you like the music of Heiko Laux, Carl Craig, Drexycia, Juan Atkins, Anthony Rother or Underground Resistance you should definitely check out this amazing debut album."

ELLESME, DAVE: Angry Young Computer 2LP (KA 93 LP). $16.00

Double LP version. "Angry Young Computer is the exciting debut album by Dave Ellesmere from Amsterdam. To call Dave a newcomer would be stupid, because he's active in music since the late 70's. KOWALSKI, ALEXANDER: Response CD (KA 96 CD). $14.50

"Response includes all of the best and beloved previous Kowalski records, but its even better — the massive techno floorfills 'Response', 'You Think You Know', 'Days Of The Liar' and 'Emtec', the moody tech house tracks 'And I Will Find You' with Raz Ohara and 'Scarpia', the pop track 'Lock Me Up' with Turner (Ladomat/Dial label) singing and last but not least the even more summer-like Brazil tech album version of the best selling pre-single 'Belo Horizonte'. Most tracks on this album were made for Alexander Kowalski's live set so he could successfully test out most of the tracks in many different clubs over the last few months."

KOWALSKI, ALEXANDER: Response 2LP (KA 96 LP). $14.50

Double LP version.

VA: Kanzleramt 4 CD (KA 97 CD). $12.00

"The fourth chapter of this very successful compilation series contains the 10 best, previously just 12" released tracks, from Kanzleramt's January till September schedule plus one unreleased Ellesmere. Besides the excellent titles by the 'regular' Kanzleramt family (Alexander Kowalski, Johannes Heil, Diego, Heiko Laux, Double X and Dave Ellesmere) two well known guests appear on Kanzleramt 4 with their killer tracks — Damon Wild and Fabrice Lig."

LIG, FABRICE: Los Pícaros 12" (KA 98). $9.00

"Los Pícaros is damned hot sunshine techno with a strong Detroit-flavour. Fabrice produced the track with Jean Vanesse and Philippe Deroyer (who did the live percussion) in Jeans studio in Brussels. It's a brilliant teaser for the upcoming Fabrice Lig album on Kanzleramt (April 2004). The Diego Remix on the flipside features even more tribal percussion elements and turns out as a great Brazilian nu-jazz techno tune."

LAUX, HEIKO: Presents Offshore Funk CD (KA 99 CD). $14.50

"Offshore Funk is the new project by Kanzleramt owner Heiko Laux and his studio neighbour Teo Schulte, a jazz musician and producer from Berlin. Both celebrate their 10 years artist/producer/DJ anniversary in 2003 with this album. 'Offshore Funk' stands for the style clash of jazz chords, rock drums, Latin percussion, house grooves, funk licks, techno kicks and an overall disco flair. You can hear a large studio environment as well as recorded percussions (Quica shakers), alienated voice recordings, guitar licks, vocoders and an electronic wind instrument."

LAUX, HEIKO: Presents Offshore Funk 2LP (KA 99 LP). $14.50

Double LP version.

MORGENSTERN, CHRISTIAN: The Future Is On Fire 2 - More Kanzleramt Years CD (KA CM2). $15.00

"2 years ago, Christian Morgenstern invited you with The Future Is On Fire — The Kanzleramt Years to a 73 minute-travel into the depth of his soul. All 17 soundscapes on the CD were released on vinyl only until then and it makes throughout sense to put them in this order on a album-CD. Since Christian Morgenstern has just recently reached much more public's focus, many of his early releases are even unknown to insiders. The Future Is On Fire Pt.2 — More Kanzleramt Years completes the CD collection of Christian's tracks only released on vinyl yet. These 13 tracks in addition to the first CD (KA CM1) offer you a comprehensive CD-collection of the 30 best Morgenstern productions of the last years. The future of yesterday is still more utopic than most productions of today."

ROTHER, ANTHONY: Sex With The Machines CD (KAAR 1 CD). $13.00

1998 album, now at mid-line pricing. "This album presents state of the art electro — maybe the best new electro record up till now. This record has been compared to Kraftwerk's timeless sound and enthusiasts who know and understand the phuture of electro like Freddy Fresh, who charted the record number 1, has included the record in his worldwide playlists for BBC essential Mix. We could go on with the reviews but the music definitely speaks for itself."

KAON (FRANCE):

CASPAR, C.O.: Thus Long Lights Light CD (KAON OC98). $0.00

"Born in 1936 and living in Berlin and Sweden, he combines archaic tone patterns and modern technical equipment in his compositional work. His performances take their form through installation of sound objects in a given space, taking the specific architecture of the room into consideration." Limited stock.

MEELKOP/TOY BIZARRE, ROEL: 4 Pieces CD (KAON OC99). $17.00

"Roel Meelkop is your 'no-bullshit' type of person. Always open for new work, new challenges, no big stories. Recently he completed with his pal Peter Duimelinks and Ralf Wehowsky a three way collaboration, and now he presents another one of those 'I mail you, You mail me' works. This time with Toy Bizarre, who have not yet thrown off their 'group' identity, behind which there is one person. The CD has, oh wonder, four pieces. One solo by Roel, one collaboration between Roel and Toy Bizarre and two solo by Toy Bizarre. Roel's solo piece is of the usual high Meelkopian standard. It dwells for a great part on (partly processed) environment recordings. Slowly the whole piece is torn apart and small sounds remain. Then samples take over. The collaborative track is cleverly placed after this one: familiar sounds from the first piece return. If I understood correctly this is a linear track: each artist got equal parts and on harddisc it's put together. Small bit of Meelkop, small bit of Toy Bizarre, small of Meelkop, etc. It turns out to be a somewhat more electronic piece with various interceptions." — Frans DeWaard

KARAOKE KALK (GERMANY):

WUNDER: CD (KK CD2). $16.00

Repressed. Another exquisite out-of-nowhere Karaoke Kalk discovery "Karaoke Kalk's new talent Wunder's (= miracle, wonder) first creation proves a talent for textured electronica combined with strange emotional songwriting. Drawing together influences & inspiration from jazz to Mouse On Mars, Wunder creates what would be a fine soundtrack with occasional pop-moments."

KANDIS: Dilldop 12" (KK 05). $9.00

"Third release from Kandi on Karaoke Kalk. Kandi developed his own individual style to interpret the different kinds of electronic music from ambient to minimal techno. There are no dancefloorfillers on the Dilldop EP, but it's music for your soul and you have to love it."

SENKING: Ping 12" (KK 08). $10.00

"Following the fine & acclaimed Wunder LP is Karaoke 2nd mastermind Senking with a beautiful 4-tracker with a near mystic dub-atmosphere, hypnotic rhythms and an unusual love for detail. More of Senking's electronic pop jewels will be unleashed on a full-length CD later this year." "Music by Jens Massel of post-rock group Genf. Second single as Senking after a triad as Kandi for this mysterious Köln label closely affiliated with A-Musik and the artist known as Saucer/Visor. Blunted, often grime-coated electro-bleep set in aqueous echo chambers, oxygen-deprived caverns, and other treble-quashing geography. Slumber-inspired ruminations from the emerald beyond, instant somnia." — Hrvatski.

KANDIS: Claps 12" (KK 10). $9.00

"The new Kandi goes deep and dense, with warm grooves & melodies on the near pop track 'Waiting'. 'Moving' is Kandi in a stunning rock style, whereas 'Claps' is a rhythmic, dubbed track minimal track that somewhat resembles the deepness of house. The most intense Kandi so far."

FUMBLE: Melo 12" (KK 16). $9.00

"Jens Massel is a true artist. He is a curious person, like every artist should be, but sadly enough we are positive that only a handful of them are. Jens Massel is never satisfied. He is longing. He is struggling. He is gain by fighting for every single note. And — be sure — his yields even surprise himself. After feeling at home with Senking and Kandi, you may rate his debut as Fumble (KK#12) as too ostensibly playful — for all its nice and friendly melodies. Now with Melo you'll be definitely caught from the first take on: the airy chip starts with tight and dry beats. And you'll have to listen quite conscientiously to discover all the cuteness of Fumble's tonality. Melo is a light and delicaterecord. We're not talking about a playground at midnight. We're talking about slightness in its Taoistic sense: gentle, relaxed and awaken. With a grown self-confidence since the first release of Fumble. Melo is direct, clear and straight-ahead. And in catch you can watch both of Jens Massel's eyes focussing the dance-floor."

SCHÄFER, PASCAL: Melody Express 12" (KK 33). $13.00

"Melody Express is the name of Pascal Schäfer's debut EP on Karaoke Kalk. Holding it in your hands for the first time, it might come across as a little old-fashioned. The sleeve design, colouring and the title itself all bring to mind the aesthetics of early jazz singles. But don't be misled by this first impression, as these are only playful and maybe also a little fad-dist details. In fact, Melody Express turns out to be largely what the name already tells us: a series of melodies, harmonies, combined with curious beats and sounds. a musical train journey — sometimes slow, then again faster, passing through six stations. The train never stops too long, nor does it carry any overload. On the contrary, the arrangements as well as the chords gain in charm by their simplicity while taking us through the most different moods on this short ride — from the much cited melancholy to simply feeling like going to a café with old friends, sharing a huge piece of cake and talking about past experiences. And when you've finally reached the end of 'szczęście', it makes you want to start all over again because it's been so much fun. Even if this is all quite everyday stuff."

KUCHEN: Kids With Sticks CD (KK CD10). $16.00

"Kuchen is Meriel Barham. She's living and working in Leeds, England, and Kids with Sticks is her first album. Subdued and friendly is her music. It consists of brief, sometimes very personal stories that do entirely without words. The seven tracks on this album are little pleasant bricolages of colourful sounds that walk up softly until they stand right in front of us with all the courage they could muster and say hello. Kids with Sticks can also be the perfect soundtrack to withdraw, together or alone, under the sofa blanket in cold winter months."

DONNA REGINA: Northern Classic CD (KK CD11). $15.00

"If only it wasn't that drab and miserable outside. Yes, if, then this here text may read completely differently. But as it is, the new Donna Regina album hits right into the author's winter depression. Not knowing what to write about these new enchanting songs by this duo, he instead starts rambling about sense and nonsense, possibility and impossibility of casting into words the unique qualities of music — until it all comes down again to music. 'Blue' is the track we're listening to. And if we didn't know better, one could think this would be the last we'd ever get to hear from these two. It cuts deep into your heart, sounding so very much like the last time, that dreadful moment of parting for ever, to be surpassed a couple of tracks onwards by 'Who's You Who's Me', until the title track 'Northern Classic' leaves us standing alone in the dark and the rain. Music is always at its best when it gets to you where it hurts most — where you're most capable of feeling: fear, loneliness, despair, doubt, longing, dreams, beauty and, yes, love ... All of these words rush past when listening to Northern Classic. And the best thing is: You want to be part of this trip, you start losing the fear of words because you know there's someone walking right beside you who feels the same. Yes, music can still do that."

GARLAND, WECHSEL: Liberation Von History CD (KK CD12). $14.00

"Liberation Von History somehow reminds one of a jumbled up jigsaw puzzle. You are easily tempted into trying to fit together the obvious pieces in your mind according to your customary logic — until those few little pieces turn up that just wouldn't fit in, and you realise that it isn't meant to be rearranged at all, that, rather, it's those stereotypes lodged in your head that are to be tidied away. On liberation von history, Wechsel Garland is playing a lot with seeming contradictions. The two very different facets of his music whose cohesion is not immediately accessible correspond to the album's two sides: while side one sounds sad and melancholic, side two appears very at ease and liberated from musical conventions. Jörg Follert has come a long way since his Wunder album. With Liberation Von History, he in a way liberates himself from the stereotypes or clichés that had then been attributed to him. you will nonetheless find everything you used to love about his music, everything that fascinated and enticed you, here again — only different, taken much further. The album features guest performances by Jens Massel (the person behind the Karaoke Kalk projects Kandi, Fumble and Senking) at the bass, Jacques Palminger (member of the Hamburg-based band Universal Gonzales) and finally the voice of Japanese singer Hirono Nishiyama."

MÄRZ: Love Streams CD (KK CD13). $14.00

"Sometimes you think all has been said about some music, and maybe there is always a bit of truth in that. However, the good thing about music is that it is never confined to one 'true' moment but is with us in many different ones. And just like these moments change, the perception of and emotional response to the music you are listening to change as well. the music of März again creates new sensations and emotions once you let yourself be captivated by it — some moment or other: at home, in the park, in the evenings in the company of friends. Some things on Love Streams will sound familiar, yet new — as if having moved to a another neighbourhood, which is neither better nor worse than the old one. The overall composition of each separate piece and of the encompassing whole is so self-contained and dense and at the same time so close to us that one feels like sinking into it. This fascination might best be compared to that of some classic singer-songwriters, who by way of the lyrics let us share in their pain, melancholy, joy — and their personal revelation. Only here, it's not the words but the music that is doing this to you. Maybe this is 'new folk'."

MASAKATSU, TAKAGI: Eating CD (KK CD14). $14.00

"All those many little pieces on eating — one time bearing such seemingly abstruse names like 'Fausel' or 'Frousfre', then simply being called 'Spring' or 'Come March' — can beautifully be subsumed under one heading: music for short films written by life itself. Short films, because all tracks have a fragmentary, unfinished air about them. The momentary, fleeting quality of the pieces stirs up an intense, acute emotion that one wishes to preserve after the song is over. Though which emotions are aroused, Takagi Masakatsu willingly — and wilfully — leaves up to us. Music written by life itself, because the feelings one experiences with eating are simple, natural, everyday. Without superfluous weight or sadness, celebrating the joy of the little things — birds chirping in the morning, the sound of children playing in the street, the calm of night. Maybe it's exactly these moments, snapshots of life, that characterise Takagi Masakatsu's way of thinking. It wouldn't come as a surprise, since he's been working as a video artist for some time now and has often related his music directly to films or animated films of his that deal with everyday worlds of perception."

KANDIS: Airflow CD (KK CD15). $14.00

"Kandi by now has become something like a good old friend on Karaoke Kalk. This time, it's nine tracks that come across as a well-rounded, self-contained whole. Musically, Airflow alternates between gloom or even detached coolness and little conciliatory sounds and melodies that suggest and create closeness or intimacy. Following an imaginary script, the pieces evolve like a soundtrack. There is an atmospheric development and, for the first time, a glimpse of the classical album. However, there is never so much as the impression that Jens Massel is trying to draw clear lines or to set fixed limits. Too many open questions remain, too many possibilities of how to proceed. Once again, as with all the other releases by Jens Massel on Karaoke Kalk — as Fumble, Senking or, like here, as Kandi —, this multi-layered complexity, this apparent openness in all directions does arise from the diversity of the individual projects on the one hand and the numerous parallels and points of contact between them on the other. Here, many elements we already know from neighbouring releases reappear, such as the soundtrack-like character of Senking, without copying or repeating themselves — though with the knowledge that all these different pieces of music are at home in this one individual person. It reminds one of that contradiction lodged inside all of us, only that rarely someone gives sound to it so honestly."

HAUSMEISTER: Weiter CD (KK CD16). $14.00

"Here is the third Hausmeister album to be released on Karaoke Kalk. And like its predecessor unser (our) it bears a plain and modest name: weiter. This inconspicuous word — which means 'further', 'forward', 'onwards', 'additionally', 'moreover' and also, in a different sense of the word, 'wider', 'broader' — leaves room for every imaginable individual interpretation. At the same time, it can simply be left standing on its own, even if, or indeed because, Christian Przygodda would surely have had his very own reasons for bracketing his new tracks with this title. All sorts of things may be 'weiter': the music, life, love, sorrows, thought — or oneself, as an individual, as a person. Most of all, whatever 'weiter' may mean for any one of us in any particular moment, it is a word full of hope, it speaks of looking forward, no matter what might be standing beside or behind. And this is a wonderful thing because it is really so simple — though still rarely accomplished in life by most of us. To forget or just to let go and look forward can sometimes be very hard, since you do not know what awaits you and are afraid to take the step. Hausmeister had the courage to take that step. With the newly added vocals his music presents itself in a new light and moves much more than before in traditional song structures. melody and composition are still prominent, as is the passion for conventional instruments, but everything appears clearer, more self-contained and as naturally proceeding from his previous works. The title track is the last one on this release by Hausmeister. The album thus appears as a review or re-working of things past, closing with a hopeful look forward, on whatever is to come. in this sense, weiter is a beautiful declaration of love to life with all its tricks and traps..."

ROMAN: 5 Minutes To Match CD (KK CD17). $14.00

"Sometimes it can be very difficult to say something about a work of music, even if you feel at home with it immediately. With Roman's debut 5 Minutes To Match, this is the case. Certainly, countless possible references spring to mind to describe what you hear. Vocals, arrangements, melodies and lyrics may remind one of the pop music of someone like Kid Montana or Aztec Camera. But what do you say when you find out that the person who made this music has just nothing in common anymore with the references we could possibly establish and that everyday history has placed him somewhere else completely? How do you proceed when it becomes clear that his music does not connect to those references from your own past and the seemingly detectable comparisons are nothing more than an awkward sheet anchor to put into words what you hear because we simply have forgotten how to see music as what it actually is, namely an accumulation of sounds brought to life by someone who tells a new and personal story through it? Roman's lyrics tell stories — beautiful, short, long, strange, funny, and sometimes a little sad; and with his music he brings them to life for all of us; so much so that you sometimes even catch yourself singing along to the tracks. Rarely can this be said about music nowadays — though at the same time it's one of the nicest qualities of pop music to obliterate for a brief moment the memory of your many, constantly repeated connections and references."

LE ROK: Hausarbeiten CD (KK CD18). $15.00

"Le Rok is from Hanover, is in his everyday life called Christoph Döhne, and Hausarbeiten is his musical debut. It is not easy to put a definite name to his music, as the twelve tracks on his album are all rather different. Sometimes minimal, then again pop-like, sometimes even with a trace of rock; sometimes gloomy, then again cheerful; twice with vocals and otherwise without. There is one thing all tracks have in common though: the beat is always prominent. This quality provides the album with continuity, forms a bracket to include its diverse parts and turns it into a unified whole. With this compilation of tracks created between 1997 and today, Le Rok demonstrates how playful and cheerful music can sound. And this may be the reason why he has found his home on Karaoke Kalk, which has never been about the pursuit of one particular idea of music but about presenting music in its diversity and confusion."

TOYAMA, TAKEO: Hello 88 CD (KK CD19). $15.00

"The first impression of Takeo Toyama's music on his album Hello 88 is playful, colourful, cheerful. A bit like the illustrations for Jungo Terade on the cover showing a manikin in a kind of sailor suit and a cute little bird. But just as you start wondering, after looking at the pictures a bit longer, if they couldn't be part of a very sad story indeed, a feeling of melancholy sneaks in now and then whilst listening to the tracks. Thus, Takeo Toyama's music alternates between funny little creaking sounds and atmospheric flute and violin arrangements, making Hello 88 a very narrative piece of music with a lot of highlights. Sometimes even vocals are added, as in 'Hello Birds', which reminds one of the pop of the Beach Boys."

KUCHEN MEETS MAPSTATION: Kuchen Meets Mapstation CD (KK CD20). $15.00

"One & 1/2 years ago, Meriel Barham from Leeds released her debut album Kids With Sticks as Kuchen on Karaoke Kalk. With Kuchen Meets Mapstation now follows the second release by Meriel, former member of the British Pale Saints; though this time, as the title reveals, it's a joint project with Stefan Schneider from Dusseldorf, the person behind Mapstation and also part of To Rococo Rot. To those who are already familiar with the music of Mapstation and Kuchen, the title will also give away something about what we are about to hear: two people, two musicians, meet; each of them bringing with them their very own idea of music and together trying to merge these into a unified whole. Rather by chance, their paths crossed last year. There was a liking for each other and for each other's music. Ed Martin from Leeds had the idea, that Kuchen and Mapstation should do a record together, more a kind of remix album at the first step. And finally the result is the album at hand, which took two years to realize it. In between this time sometimes they both did work together on the realization and sometimes for themselves, until they finished it together in Berlin this year. It's ten tracks, reminds one of a long, intense and also very personal dialogue. A dialogue between two individuals who nevertheless harmonize in their ideas and who seem to like each other — even when at variance. Kuchen's sometimes more playful music connects seamlessly with Mapstation's perhaps more serial sound; and yet each one's distinctive qualities remain in the foreground without challenging or levelling the other's. Rarely has the attempt to bring together two different projects been so successful."

"Masakatsu's second album appears on Karaoke Kalk, and its title Eating 2 is certainly more than coincidental. His new tracks pick up where Eating ended. Again, his music is very associative. It leaves room for the listener's imagination in the interpretation of the music and its potential messages. Masakatsu captures very different moods that always — even when seeming gloomy — resonate with a trace of cheerfulness. The sounds he uses are arranged in a similar way to the images in his installations: small scraps or longer sequences are put into new contexts. Melodies or recurring soundscapes hold all this together, making the individual tracks appear much more self-contained than those on Eating, and less fragmentary and dispersed. His music has become more compositional, in its pieces and as a whole. Eating 2 by Takagi Masakatsu conveys an intensity and at the same time an openness that are almost mesmerizing at times. And you are constantly under the impression you weren't listening to something new and unfamiliar but to something that has always been very close to you."

DONNA REGINA: Late CD (KK CD22). $16.00

"Late is the new Donna Regina release and the third album by the Cologne duo Regina and Günther Janssen to appear on Karaoke Kalk. Their lyrics still tell of very personal questions, fears, longings and experiences, as on the albums before, and that spark of pop-like melancholy still resonates in them. Only the angle from which these thoughts and feelings are viewed seems to be a different one. The lyrics appear more confident, self-assured, bolder. In 'Not A Girl Anymore' Regina Janssen speaks of this fact without regrets or doubts but simply describes what it means to her. Less questions remain unanswered in the air. Instead, they are being thought through to the end and then presented, together with the answers, as experiences. The arrangements of the tracks, the related sound elements, melodies and instrumentations show a similar development. More experimentation takes place; new, as yet unknown facets emerge. Sometimes the tracks are unexpectedly electronic and minimal, then again remotely reminiscent of classic singer/songwriter tunes. With Late, Donna Regina have once again moved an enormous step forward. And again they succeed in surprising even those who had long been convinced anyway."

PLURAMON FEAT. JULEE CRUISE: Dreams Top Rock CD (KK CD23). $16.00

Repressed. "The new album is Pluramon's most accessible work today and features the voice of 'Twin Peaks' actress Julee Cruise. The songs on Dreams Top Rock have a powerful, yet almost melodramatic 'wall of sound' impact that at points almost drifts away to return with a darker, even more striking song. 'For A Lie' might remind you older folks of rock-bands from the early 90s with a sound of today. The work for the album was very extensive and the collaboration between Julee and Marcus was intense not to say manic, if you know what we mean. But we're happy to present this kicking result as their first release on Karaoke Kalk. The man behind the scenes, Marcus Schmickler, is well known in a lot of different contexts related to electronic music, let it be techno, improvised music or even classical music and needs no further introduction (if so, check out the additional info). As well as earlier Pluramon albums featured appearances of guest musicians by Jackie Liebeziet (Can) or Jan Werner (Mouse On Mars), Dreams Top Rock features musicians Julee Cruise, Kevin Drumm, Marcus Schmickler, Jochen Rueckert, Hayden Chisholm, Felix Kubin and Keith Rowe."

HAUSCHKA: Substantial CD (KK CD25). $17.00

"The Scene: The Welsh mountains, remote and harsh, a special place. A good place to produce a special album. The characters: Volker Bertelmann in his friend Adam Fuests' studio, equipped with only a piano and a laptop. The Project: To record an album of piano music. Title: Hauschka. Substantial is a snapshot of a life spent with the black and white keys, and is simultaneously both moment and history, thought and feeling, yet without turning into an unduly meaningful concept album. Rather, Substantial is based upon the least conceptual of all concepts: Improvisation. Each track is based upon an opening sequence, the theme of which is extended, modulated and varied with, as far as form or length is concerned, no specific objective in mind. What has come out is music of a differing, well, substance: Eleven atmospheric pieces in which a variety of different techniques overlap and rhythmical images with narrative depth unfold; in which further instruments, such as double bass or vibraphone make a fleeting appearance, at once lending a hint of pop, but at no time detracting from the piano as central instrument; in which experimental and electronic music is accessed without compromising the directness and ease of the improvisational approach."

SCHÄFER, PASCAL: Dawn CD (KK CD26). $17.00

"After his EP Melodyexpress had already gained much attention, instrumentalist and DJ Pascal Schäfer has now released his first longplayer on Karaoke Kalk. And again Schäfer is surprising the listener with his fine sense for atmosphere/moods, composition and arrangement and his individual, unusual and associative use of a great variety of musical references including electronic, exotica, techno, ambient, jazz and minimal. Fine spun melancholy, emotional deepness, playful curiosity, contemplative introspection and bewitching still lives ... Dawn is a declaration of love to the suggestive power of music, to its open limits and its subtle magic. This is what dreams are made of."

DONNA REGINA: A Quiet Week In The House CD (KK CD3). $16.00

"Excellent full-length follow-up to the 'Pool' 10" from singer/songwriter Regina Janssen, backed in both production and direction by fellow Janssen Günther (and on one track, Matthew 'Wishmountain' Herbert). For some reason I can't help but think of Angelo Badalamenti/Julee Cruise's 'Industrial Symphony #1' as a possible precedent to this softened electronic/double tracked female-vox hybrid, although the people to whom this will appeal the most are fans of early Too-Pure label excesses (they're literally going to wet themselves) or perhaps the contemporary equivalent: Bungalow fans. Perfect for that mid-winter anti-outing." — Hrvatski.

SENKING: Ping!Thaw CD (KK CD4). $16.00

"Senking AKA Jens Massel delivers his second full length CD on DJ Strobocop's Karaoke Kalk, and it definitely expands on his aesthetic of the seeming hybridization of Klaus Schulze's Cyborg and Black Ark Studios ca. 1975. Which is to say that his records aren't necessarily defined by their bottom and so much as their bottomless end. Evolving rhythms, distant loops and enough affinity with the Sound of Cologne to encourage setting your CD player on repeat, your strobe light on catatonic and relaxing on a bed made of marshmallows." — Billy Kiely. "Jens says that he's mostly inspired by the mu-Ziq LP Tango n Vectif, all the Sea And Cake records, early Aphex Twin stuff and the last Talk Talk LP Laughing Stock. Where 'Ping' showed him flirting with the enthusiasm of the the dancefloor, the four pieces of 'Thaw' turn their back on: the vexation, the contrary, the unexpected moves in the centre of interest. Now gloomy, now gay, now sweet and tender crackling, now harsh and pitiless banging — each track leads any musical rule and settlement up the garden path. Jens Massel's playful keenness on experimenting is neither drifted away nor silly, his open-mindedness neither tense-up nor naive. It's fun to take part in his artistic development and fun to listen how much fun he has in developing his skills. In one breath Senking carries you away and leaves you disturbed behind."

FUMBLE: CD (KK CD5). $16.00

"New release from yet another alter ego of Jens Massel, also known as both Senking and Kandis on previous Karaoke Kalk release. As Fumble he embraces slightly less of the bottom end of the sonic spectrum, and as a result this release comes off as a bit more whimsical, a little 'busier' perhaps, than his past output. His style is still informed by rhythms and periodic snatches of melody seemingly cobbled from bits and pieces of reggae and (especially) dub, but stripped down, processed, and compressed into something a bit slicker, sketches instead of songs. Akin to Pole sans the griminess. At first, there are occasionally moments where a track will veer a little too close to an IDMish epiphany, but these moments pass quickly, and actually by the second half this can be forgiven and/or forgotten completely. Anyway, this one is not as immediately gripping as the other records with their Quaalude beats, endless echo and mist, but it's a lot of fun anyway. You remember fun, don't you? This is one for a summer afternoon whiled away in the middle of a lake sleeping in a canoe. 8 tracks, 40 minutes." — Billy Kiely

KANDIS: 1996-1999 CD (KK CD7). $16.00

"The history of Kandis is to some extent the history of Karaoke Kalk, too. Jens Massel is Kandis. But he also gave birth to two other projects: Senking and Fumble. All three together are quite different but somehow live in the same neighbourhood. Jens Massel is a sound exploring path-finder. He is a willful guy, with an own definition of groove, a kind of stoical groove. Anyway always surprising, anyway astonishingly playful. And Jens Massel is the man behind nearly half of all Karaoke Kalk releases. No wonder that his music, his style, his skills set the tone of the company. Kandis is his most popular project. Kandis 1996 - 1999 is a survey of tracks and songs which were so far only available on vinyl. Shortly before the arrival of his new regular album we knew the time is now to release this CD compilation. Take a view back and dip in the world of Kandis. Discover a different world of music. Discover a different kind of pop. Discover the vision of Jens Massel."

HAUSMEISTER: Unser CD (KK CD8). $16.00

"The Hausmeister's new album is Ours (Unser). Ours means something to share or to share something. Ours is just the opposite of me myself and my — as in selfishness, but as in loneliness, too: ours life, ours thoughts. Hours of pleasure. Our friends, our family, our house. Or simply our music. Ours describes a relationship. Coincidental also the ending of it. To come apart. To part company. Ours is something we share. Even if we beg to differ. The creation of ours is tied to a certain moment of communication. The Hausmeister's Ours doesn't dare to speak. But his music does. And so his ours is an ours for all of us: together with the Hausmeister, but also an our of you and me both."

SENKING: Silencer CD (KK CD9). $16.00

"The twenty-sixth Karaoke Kalk release all in all. Out of those, fifteen are by Jens Massel — or his three alter egos: Senking, Kantis and Fumble. Just for the statistics, the name Senking initially only appeared in track titles — as on the first two Kantis records, being as it were also the very first releases on Kalk. Senking eventually grew into an independent project, now on one level with Fumble and Kantis. It's those small things that can tell us a lot about Jens Massel. Look at the track titles, at the different moods he creates on his records, at the cover artwork that is being modified just a little with every release and that also changes with his different projects. Jens Massel's discography, therefore, reads almost like a biography. A biography though, that does without words, without lyrics, and works on a purely musical basis. The language of music itself suffices, its expressiveness clear and telling to a point where it becomes narration, tells a story. This is one of the most wonderful traits of Jens Massel and Senking: the narrative in music. Now Silencer, it's exactly what it promises to be. An album that exists through silence, revolves around silence. A silence which is continually broken — almost imperceptibly — by a distant, steady and not even very restrained throbbing beat that dies away as unnoticed as it came alive. Thus Silencer resonates with moments of surprise that first of all call for one thing: close listening. If you really want to know everything this album is able to tell you, that is."

KARAT RECORDS (FRANCE):

VA: Katapult CD (KARAT 002CD). $17.00

"Karat is pleased to introduce you to its first compilation. More than a simple showcase of its roster or a defined product on such music, it's a collection of tracks exclusively recorded for this project. We offered to the artists, some who already had released tracks on our label such as Ark, Krikor, Chloé or Cabanne, and some others that we like, to produce something for us without giving them any artistic direction. The result is rather amazing because despite the different styles of the tracks, there actually is a real coherence. We can explain that by the fact that they have something very deep in common, that is the ability to get away the musical genres and thus to look ahead of the pack and to express their full personality in their music. We think that these artists as a whole entity, blow some fresh air on the Parisian and French scenes and announce a bright future. Now you can listen to this compilation and enjoy it whether you're in a party or relaxing mood, in a happy or sad one. Come into the new Karat's sensation." Artists: Ark, Kean, Aysam, Chloe, Krikor, Cabanne, Sety, Feadz, Automat, Blackstrobe, Mikael Weill, Noze.

VA: Katapult 2LP (KARAT 002LP). $20.00

Double LP version.

KARLOFF (GERMANY):

FRIVOLOUS: Somewhere In the Suburbs CD (KARLOFF 001CD). $16.00

"Now the Karloff headquarters show some consideration, bringing this synthesis of the arts called Somewhere in the Suburbs to the deserved, handy CD format, plus bonus tracks. Thus there's finally an album to close the ever gaping gap between the Pulp Fiction soundtrack and the Kruder & Dorfmeister mix CD, which so often caused this perplex mimic of students looking at their flat share's CD rack. This year Frivolous provides the most beautiful music for the current barbecue season, and with his minimal-experimental singer/songwriter house, he has finally made up his very private spot on the map of electronic music. Over are the times of Isaac Hayes as the only patron for romantic snogging, or couple dance being strictly taboo on electronic dancefloors. The time is right for the next big step, and the first artist album on Karloff — your specialists in noisy crackle rave and whisked instrumental pop. Now you're being administered a bundle of full-grown catchy tunes that seem to remain in your bloodstream forever, knowing no frontiers. Who ever wanted to know how Paolo Conto may sound through vocoder, or your prime minister on weed, now should enjoy himself and stop questioning the fact that aliens need love, too..."

FRIVOLOUS: The Romantek EP 12" (KARLOFF 002 EP). $9.00

"Vancouver's Daniel Gardner aka 'Frivolous' has released two 12" EPs on Background Records so far, making him known for minimal clicking house with that certain flavour of its own. The current Romantek EP on Karloff now does a further step to his stylistic peculiarity, and turns out to be a true firework of slightly ironic, musical bizarreness, combined with loads of clatter and a reduced, but well-grounded house groove, being particularly effective with the floor-oriented 'Song Of The Kwaning Bird'. Especially the ever unexpectedly emerging fragments of guitars, brasses and vocals contribute to a fresh, disharmonic musicality, somewhere between Texan prairie and the jump-an-run-game-spooky-castle. Scary darkness and that cheerful way of minimalism have never been so close before."

ARCHITECT, THE: After What My Boy Told Me... 12" (KARLOFF 004 EP). $9.00

"Jay Haze aka The Architect belongs, no doubt, to the most exciting activists of the current minimal techno league, with this ever unpredictable tightrope walk between experimental minimalism, straight beats, electronic dub and all kinds of musical absurdities. His labels Contexterrior, Tuningspork, Future Dub and the netlabel Textone.org are standing for an uncompromising crusade against pop, rave, and other musical superficialities, and this Karloff release is no exception. 'Inside Out' drops in as a mighty atmo track, whose seething bass potage gradually spawns a swarm of analogue hornets, until the piece finally gets to a weirdo funkiness through Jay Haze's ubiquitous live jam character. 'Fo Shizzy' switches the styles even more extensively, madly distorting anything that gets in its way. Mr. Jackson's judgment: 'Alright!'. 'Don't Stop' proves itself a bit more gentle, and by awfully few elements Jay manages to carpenter a fresh, funky house piece over a cool, casual groove, easily making it a swinging dancefloor mover. And the bonus track 'Light Friend' finally betrays what the new-Berliner from Philadelphia means by 'Representin' P-Style'..."

DB: Gdansk EP 12" (KARLOFF 006EP). $9.00

"Always a good deed to be done: after the recent releases by lump, the architect and Jeff Samuel, who partly came up on Karloff with their deepest track ever, Vienna's Daniel Bemberger is now back to condense his minimal-mutant-funk even more than he already did on his previous EP Petrzalka. The hot spots are the small little details, which are not to be overlooked, but even at a first glance DB's tracks provide the blueprint for the most amazing out-of-body experiences. The head is meant to stay, but don't be surprised if it places these seductive, uncommon 4/4 electronica back on its feet, as a cramp in the calf is to be prevented. But DB always knows a way out of any absentminded situation, and no dead end can ever hold back his ever rolling hybrid groove. He sails around every sand bank and knows to avoid any kind of flat-titude. Jazz and house have never been this close, while never permitting just touch of pleasingness."

FRIVOLOUS: Coquitlam BC EP (1 of 2) 12" (KARLOFF 007EP). $9.00

"If the last beach boy would trade his surf board for a laptop, this wouldn't keep him from writing pop songs for the eternity. Unfortunately frivolous now steals a march on him, by releasing Coquitlam BC, the first part of his two-EP-set on Karloff, which will surely make this world a better place. Being known for his previous releases on Karloff and background, the man from Montreal has secretly raised the level to the highest stage, while all those slick, snippet-moving sound nerds have already suffocated from their latte macchiatos. As a result we get hip house with some extra hop boggledop for the plush disco at home, but also being loudly welcomed by this world's advanced dancefloors. Still open is the question, who gave the vocoder to Paolo Conte, as well as our dance recommendation: couple dance, along with champagne on Asperol — this vitalizes and stimulates the libido."

T-POLAR: Splatterhaus 12" (KARLOFF 008EP). $9.00

"T-Polar is from Belfast, and without further ado he defines his home town as the new bubble metropolis of an alien nation living on the deepest ground of the ocean. After his recent sensational album on Morris Audio Citysport, he now lowers the oxygen gauge to an extremely dangerous level, turning out to be a Drexigian agent on a downright deep mission. Like Tron on Sedativa, the mumbling beats are rolling through the gangways, finally gathering to a kind of sirene house, that would never remind you of red-haired backs or pints of Guinness beer. However one could imagine that the latter one has been enjoyed a bit too much, at least this would explain the certain extra loss of reality, and who ever stumbled out of a pub having that blurry tunnel view maybe considered himself as a gill breather already. However you are warned for your own safety, that surfacing too quickly leads to an immediate lung collapse. So better stay down."

FRIVOLOUS: Whonock BC (2 of 2) 12" (KARLOFF 009EP). $9.00

6 track mini-LP. Along with KARLOFF 007, this makes up the vinyl version of Frivolous' Somewhere In The Suburbs album.

KARMA GIRAFFE (UK):

VA: Chris Brann Presents Inspirations CD (KG 002 CD). $15.00

"Latest installment in the Inspirations series after editions from IG Culture and King Britt on the Dynamite Joint label. Chris Brann is perhaps best known for his UK No.1 single 'King Of My Castle' under his guise the Wamdue Project. As well as the Wamdue Project, Chris has also recorded as Ananda Project, Wamdue Kidz and most recently as Ptaah for the Ubiquity label. Through his various guises Brann has explored deep house, drum & bass, leftfield/downtempo, jazz and beyond in his quest to redefine musical boundaries. Features Alice Coltrane, George Duke, Roy Ayers Ubiquity, Mr. Fingers, Can, Marvin Gaye, Gwen Guthrie, Chick Corea/Gary Burton, Teena Marie, etc." "The songs gathered here represent a small cross-section of the eclectic musical collage that ignited my interest in (and passion for) creating music." — Chris Brann

VA: Chris Brann Presents Inspirations 3LP (KG 002 LP). $16.00

Triple LP version.

KASOA (ITALY):

PEGGY'S LEG: Grinilla LP (KASOA). $20.00

Reduced price on some dead stock of what was a rather ludicrously priced Euro bootleg issue from the mid-90s. Peggy's Leg were an Irish band from 1973, in a rock/prog vein. Duel acoustic/electric guitars, layered lead vocals, some vaguely intense guitar at times; could be referred to as Europe's answer to Thunderpussy (similar dated sound, but not as hyper in its changes). Packed in a heavy jacket with two-color paste on sleeve. Limited stock.

KEEP DIGGIN' RECORDINGS (UK):

RED SNAPPER: It's All Good CD (KEEP 001 CD). $16.00

"Red Snapper, have been creating hybrid musical genres since 1993, including three ground breaking and highly successful albums on Warp. UK label, Keep Diggin is now proud to present Red Snapper's first ever compilation. As you would expect, the album contains a healthy dosage of jazz (in its loosest form), taking you through elements of electronica, beats & breaks, deep house, and downtempo moods. It commences with the collision of 4AD indie band His Name is Alive with Detroit's minimal electro extremists, Ectomorph. The album also includes offerings from Riton, Prefuse 73 and a couple of Snapper's own productions. Also watch out for the two exclusive tracks on the album - one from Andrew Weatherall and Keith Tenniswood under their Aramcheck moniker and one from Richard's new recording partner Jake One."

RED SNAPPER: It's All Good 2LP (KEEP 001 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

O'BRIEN, IAN: Desert Scores 2LP (KEEP 003 LP). $16.00

Double LP version. "Who'd have thought that six years had passed since Ian O'Brien had released his critically acclaimed and groundbreaking debut album Desert Scores and here it is again in its former glory re-mastered and re-released by those nice people at Keep Diggin. The album features ten tracks of various genres, from the Detroit inspired techno of 'Mad Mike Disease' (a homage to Mad Mike Banks of UR) to the pre-Jazzanova killer cut of 'Dayride', Desert Scores takes you on a electronic journey through mood shifts and melodies. Desert Scores was originally released on the now defunct Ferox label and only ever had one pressing so has never been found in record stores since. This re-release also features a bonus track in 'Monkey Jazz'."

KENTAURACING (SWEDEN):

LEGOWELT VS LUKE EARGOGGLE: Catnip 3 12" (KNTR 1201). $9.00

"New Swedish label (friends from Stilleben records/Luke Eargoggle) get the honour to release the 3rd Catnip EP. Probably the best one so far! 4 track EP with smooth phat basslines with classic disco/synth lines and the wellknown Dutch disco funk. Don't exercise the bird!"

KEPLAR (GERMANY):

FONODA: blinker:farben CD (KEPLAR 004 CD). $14.00

"As the first three releases at keplar were rather electrical, on blinker:farben guitar, bass and drums are dominating. Completed with keyboards, piano, cello and transverse flute, a rich sound image develops, in which the four guys of Fonoda have weaved cleverly various clicks and electrical sounds. This beautiful instrumental drone pop is packed into a fine digipack."

MUI: Mui CD (KEPLAR 005 CD). $16.00

"Mui are Stefano D. Inecco and Fabrizio Tropeano from Milano or Pescara, Italia. The two guys explore the depths of analog and digital sound possibilities and weave them together. Classic and acoustic guitars meet electro-beats which can't rather be told from the real drumkit: Mui use a digital synth, sampler, bass, guitars, as well as some computers, which are used above all as multi-effects and multi-tracker."

RADIO MAGENTA: I Am Sorry, I Am' An Some Other Heartteaching Stories... CD

(KEPLAR 007 CD). $16.00

...By Radio Magenta. "You discover ambient-related audiospheres, which sound like the reverbed guitars of some drone-escapists, combined with chopped electronic, which often feigns hip hop/big beats but in the end seems more related to the late 80s and soon 90s indie rock. Though digitally created, the bass sounds stringed (you can hear the pluck). The melodies and harmonies go hand in hand and create this wonderful melancholic feeling which sends shivers down your spine and makes you sigh and smile like while the best times of the New Yorker noise or the Chicago postrock. This often gets enriched through the voices of the two: spoken word performances and speech song transport messianic lyrics. Every track is arranged with an unbelievable love for details and it functions with an almost organic matter-of-factness."

PANTASZ: str.d.par.komm. CD (KEPLAR 008 CD). $16.00

"Pantasz presents contemporary diary writing, no music concrete. He's inspired by chance and creates a masterpiece of taken back pop largeness: On this record you come towards pop, great pop. And then you get a feeling of techno and immediately thereafter you hear electro. Once it is flowing and beautiful, then hypermotorically restless. You even can dare an excursion to the disco to dance for a while. But that certain melancholy, which attends to the most pieces, takes you back to reality. And again this moment of chanson appears and becomes to a central thread of the whole work. The technical revolution with computers and the related possibility of home recording surely plays a not too insignificant role on the record. But despite all that the huge composing talent of Fabian Fenk is inescapably audible. How he connects guitars, electronics and various other instruments and how he uses his famous vocals, sometimes sporadically, sometimes song-determining, will be hard to match around here."

WASHER, ZIMMER & THE GUITAR PEOPLE: Eat Your Friends CD (KEPLAR 010CD). $17.00

"After finishing their second album with Radio Magenta, Henry OK and Andi Kurz decided to leave the world of high standard indietronics and to take a trip into ambient. While working on the material for the project called 'Washer, Zimmer' it became clearer every day that the result won't be a classic ambient piece. There are many ambient-like spheres, but the dense arrangements also contain lots of noise-electronica and complex beat and rhythm structures hardly to recognize as such. So beauty giving destruction of sounds is an important topic on the whole record. By inviting Florian Doelzer and Matthias Neufeind of Fonoda 'The Guitar People' came into play. Several basses and guitars give the tracks more structure to hold on to and turn them slightly into songs and the typical Fonoda harmonies fit perfectly into the basic electronic tracks. The final result is a collection of spherical concepted tracks with repetitive pop elements somewhere between Markus Pop's So and Labradford."

KERO JETTER RECORDS (JAPAN):*MAGICAL POWER MAKO: EROTIC ELOhim CD (KJX 1001). $18.00

The newest Mako album on his own new label imprint. The most techno-like thing he's released to date, this features chirpy electronic patterns, blatantly cheesy synth lines and samples, etc. There's a certain aura of an older-prog head taking his aim at a Mouse On Mars-like bouncy atmosphere that actually isn't without appeal. But the actual sounds used aren't a million miles away from the kind of stuff Molly Ringwald used to hum along to during her "classic" phase. The MPM "touch" that one usually finds on all of his records is still here, but it's buried in a much different maze.

KIFF SM (GERMANY):*KREIDLER: Weekend CD (KIFF 004 CD). $17.00

"First and much ballyhooed LP from the band at the forefront of Germany's now-thriving 'neo-kraut' hub. Comparisons abound to Liquid Liquid, Ui, Tortoise, etc., etc., etc... A quartet of Thomas Klein (drums), Andreas Reihse (keys/electronics), Stefan Schneider (bass/keys), Detlef Weinrich (electronics). Mutant alien synth-grooves supported by bass-led rhythm section. Touches of dub, minimalism, rare groove, electronic(a), and space-disco. Of the hip-shaking variety; more so than, say, Faust, but fully aware of the regional sonic history of the last thirty years or so. Groundbreaking." — Hrvatski. Limited stock.

KREIDLER: Weekend LP (KIFF 004 LP). $13.00

LP version. Limited stock.

KREIDLER: Au-Pair CD (KIFF 010). $10.00

Pre-Appearance And The Park single, with 2 mixes of the title track (an extended version and radio edit) and 2 non-album tracks ("Gain" & "Now the Necessity"). Limited stock.

KREIDLER: Appearance And The Park CD (KIFF 011 CD). $17.00

1998 full length from this German four-piece of post-human superheroes, recorded in luxurious 'some-fi' at Mouse-On-Mars' 'St.-Martin-in-the-Streets' studio, Düsseldorf. Their 2nd for Kiff SM, following their debut, Weekend & the brilliant remix album Report on Stewardess. Grandiose looping, loping jams, thinly veiled as 'electronica' with hints to virtually all forms of post-1950 music. "They have attracted many, many comparisons, amongst them Can, Neu!, Tortoise, Mouse On Mars, Kraftwerk and Broadcast, though their music remains entirely their own. The album features 12 tracks, a brilliant and complete album and a significant step forward from Weekend. While still proclaiming their love for skewed melodies and a unique blend of live instrumentation and organic electronica, this new music is far more immediate and arresting than much of what has become known as post-rock."

KREIDLER: Coldness CD (KIFF 013 CD). $9.00

5-track remix EP. Kreidler's most outlandishly accessible moment, in a synth-electro style that is totally captivating. "Coldness" is the first track since 1994 on which Kreidler have worked with vocal parts. For the second single of the album they reworked the track completely and arranged it new. An urban declaration of love between neon-lights, cocktail-glasses and new wave romanticism which rather watches the unknown beauty from the distinct than obtrusively approaches her. Frankfurt's Shantel who already supported Kreidler as DJ on their recent tour, pushes 'Coldness' into a completely different direction. The opening remix of this release is contributed by Daniel Miller from Mute Records and Frank Tovey, collectively known better as Fad Gadget or from Daniel's productions with Depeche Mode. Miller and Tovey's 'Sunroof Mix' filters Kreidler's reminiscences and forms there from a perfect piece of 80s synth pop. Retrospective-future music and that's no contradiction."

POLE: 12" 12" (KIFF 016). $9.00

"Like a good wine, Pole records get better as they age. This is of course as true for the new 12", which gains rather than loses from the wear and tear vinyl is subject to. With this single, Stefan Betke primes his audience waiting with anticipation for the third album: 'Rondell One' and 'Two' make a smooth progression from the previous Pole releases, featuring the now familiar Waldorf filter idiosyncrasies."

KILL THE DJ (FRANCE):*ESSIT MUSIQUE/SEVERED HEADS: Kill the DJ Exhibit [b] 12" (TSKT 001EP). $9.50

"This is a special rave-kit courtesy of the kill the DJ team. For all ya out there who should know better or who've done too much of the things that cost too much. Tracklisting: A: 'Essit Musique' (Smaghe-Corral edit) — Will you be enuff of a twat for this one? Be stupid! Be acid! Tis by the way, an ultra rare cut. B1: 'Severed Heads: Dead Eyes Opened' (Joakim Edit) — An electro-indus Australian classic - my, my, didn't know that such things existed. Epic synths à la 'Jaguar (UR)'. Already ranking as an all time fav in the collection of the like of Ata, Optimo, Smaghe, Geoffroy etc. This is actually a break / click-n-cut edit by Joakim. B2: 'Secretary Blues' (Roman BNO Edit) — Some tenderness to finish you off. Courtesy of gentleman lover, BNO label owner, and DeeJay extraordinaire, Roman."

KIN (UK):*JUNIOR BOYS: Birthday/Last Exit 12" (KIN 001EP). $9.00

"Featuring a remix from Christian Fennesz, this four track EP is set to take the world by storm. Heirs to Timbaland and David Sylvian, Junior Boys are equal parts emotive wistfulness and stop start stutter rhythms; a combination that's as unique yet natural as their ever so (slyly) generic name." — Kodwo Eshun."

JUNIOR BOYS: High Come Down 12" (KIN 002EP). $9.00

"The first 12" from Ontario's Junior Boys, sounded utterly unlike anything else in the pop spectrum, fusing falsetto crooning, delicate electropop arpeggios, and the wide open syncopations of US R&B and UK Grime; Fennesz's shoegazing remix made you wonder if there was any limit to the sounds they could call their own. On their second EP, they expand the range yet again, essentially redefining in a single stroke the limits of electronic pop. The title track takes off from where 'Birthday' left off, smoothing over a stuttering, pothole-ridden beat with icy synthesizers and Jeremy Greenspan's bedroom croon. But the six minute epic 'Under the Sun' sounds like another group entirely, fusing a grinding electro disco groove with the sun-kissed harmonics of 4AD's Dif Juz. Deep in the mix, a sampled yelp punctuates every beat, and brooding chicken-scratch guitar carves a deep, indelible funk, but it's the airy, billowing feedback that captures you. Taking yet another direction, Manitoba reprises 'Birthday' in his own fashion, pasting the original vocals over a scuffed beat battered with bells and scuffed vinyl."

JUNIOR BOYS: Last Exit 2LP (KIN 003LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

KINDRED SPIRITS (NETHERLANDS):*EVERETT, PEVEN: Kissing Game/Puerto Rico 12" (KS 002 EP). $9.00

"Peven Everett, a Chicago born and raised music prodigy is most known for his collabs with Roy Davis Jr. ('Gabrielle') and his Studio Confessions album on ABB/Genuine more recently. He's one of the most gifted multi-instrumentalists as well as a singer around, bringing the most soulful music today. On this project he works with a new singer Billie Jewel as well as percussionist Larry Billups, also both residing in Chicago. Both tracks are taking from the forthcoming Kissing Game album to be released on Kindred Spirits later this year. Both 'Kissing Game' and 'Puerto Rico' are two of the most dancefloor tracks, specially mixed and extended for dancefloor/DJ pleasure. Both super soulful, vocal tracks which will appeal to nu soul and house lovers alike."

EVERETT, PEVEN: Kissing Game CD (KS 002CD). $19.00

"Peven Everett, a Chicago born and raised music prodigy is most known for his collabs with Roy Davis Jr. ('Gabrielle') and his Studio Confessions album on ABB/Genuine more recently. He's one of the most gifted multi-instrumentalists as well as a singer around, bringing the most soulful music today. Kissing Game is based on his love for soulful house music, in true Chicago style (remember his releases for Large & Prescription with Roy Davis). Though playing many instruments himself he brought in 2 artists; the vocal talents of Billie Jewel and Larry Billups on percussion to spice up this release. Though the main element is house music, it is a musical trip, really. From the downtempo jazz of 'The Lillie Walk' to the rap influenced 'High Life' via the musical uptempo 'Kissing Game' & 'Puerto Rico' to the more minimal old Chi house influenced 'Parrell'... its all there... to make it a perfect suitable release for Kindred Spirits once again."

EVERETT, PEVEN: Kissing Game 2LP (KS 002LP). $21.00

Double LP version.

VA: A Sun Ra Dedication: The Myth Lives On CD (KS 003 CD). $17.00

Beautifully packaged Sun Ra tribute album, feat: Francisco Mora Catlett (w/ Marshall Allen, Carl Craig, etc.), Jimi Tenor, Theor Parrish, Micky, Offworld (Kirk Degiorgio), King Britt, Yesterday's New Quintet (Madlib), Redcloose, etc. "This year it's been 10 years since jazz legend and philosopher Sun Ra died. Therefore Kindred Spirits is releasing a dedication album and what a way to do it. Many contemporary artists / producers from different parts of the music spectrum have been asked to do a cover or inspiration. They all had one thing in common: they were heavily inspired and/or influenced by the live and music of Sun Ra. On a straight jazz tip are Francisco Mora's (drummer of Sun Ra's band, the Arkestra) Outerzone Band, Madlib's Yesterdays New Quintet (feat. Dudley Perkins) and Micky. Jimi Tenor gives 'Love In Outta Space' a soul twist and also Kirk Degiorgio as Offworld comes with a souled out cover of 'Astro Black'. Redcloose and Theor keep it slightly house and Mustang remains close to his offbeat production, while LA based Build An Ark debuts with a African vibed cover of 'Door Of The Cosmos'. King Britt pays homage to his fellow Philly musician on a hip hop tip, while Philip Charles closes off in synthesizer wonderland. We could keep on describing this, but in essence it is all jazz, an experiment, put together by many of the great musicians of today. Sun Ra lives on — forever."

I.G. CULTURE: Space Is The Place 12" (KS 003 EP). $9.00

"Kindred Spirits continues to pay homage to Sun Ra with a 12" release of two Space Is The Place covers by I.G. Culture & crew. I.G., who goes under his special moniker Likwid Continual Space Motion Oper-Ra for this project, really outdid himself here. He delivers two outer space mixes of 'Space Is The Place'. Side A is a 10 minute uptempo vocal broken affair, while the B side is a 15 minute downtempo journey. Both beautiful voyages into Sun Ra's space, created with love. I.G.'s crew on this journey include: Son Of Scientist, Eska (Ma Futura), Bembe Seque, Demus and many more..."

VA: A Sun Ra Dedication: The Myth Lives On 2LP (KS 003 LP). $19.00

Double LP version, full color gatefold sleeve.

MORA CATLETT, FRANCISCO: Amazona 12" (KS 004EP). $9.00

"Originally to be released on Planet E's Community Projects sub-label, this late 80's recorded vocal Brazilian Jazz gem was picked up by the Kindred Spirits camp and it was decided to co-release it with the Community Projects label. It was recorded with the New World Jazz band, which features Marcus Belgrave on trumpet, Kenny Cox on piano and Rodney Whitaker on bass a.o. Beautiful as the original is, Carl Craig decided to edit the intro, mid and outro break and add some effects to ensure that this will be a cross-over dancefloor hit on any dancefloor begging for percussive rhythms. A full album is in the pipeline."

SINGS, BENNY: Champagne People LP (KS 006LP). $15.00

"Benny Sings is Holland's latest singer / songwriter sensation. After releasing his album Champagne People on Dox Records last year, Benny started performing heavily with his band. The K.S. team was so impressed by the album and the shows that they decided to release a limited album to promote Benny Sings through out the world. Benny Sings' songs all have a dreamy, almost naïve element to them without losing their groove. With all songs covering the whole song aspect without crossing the four-minute duration barrier, it shows that Benny has a true talent for song arrangement. Concepts of Chet Baker's music can be heard on this album, which Benny states as his prime influence. Also Shuggie Otis and like-minded artists spring to mind. For the pop inventors of our time the challenge remains to mix the original ingredients of pop into something hip, groovy and authentic and Benny has definitely succeeded at this; each song sounds fluid and familiar from the first listen."

KINETIC RECORDS:*LUOMO: Present Lover CD (KTC 54733). $14.00

"Finnish producer Vladislav Delay is Luomo. Present Lover is the follow-up to Vocalcity (Force Tracks). On the new CD, Delay explores new dimensions in upfront vocal house. Present Lover is a self-confessed outsiders perspective on the club scene, seamlessly blending pop and club elements to deliver a cunningly original take on pop, house and R&B, replete with meticulous arrangements and seductive vocals. Quietly intense yet intensely physical, this is distilled sensuality with a twist, intelligent music that works above and below the belt. From its icy exterior to its red-hot core, from its eclectic minimalism to its disturbing funkiness, Present Lover waltzes unabashedly into your stereo, messes with the settings, and leaves you wondering if you'll have to wait another two and half years for the next Luomo album."

KING (JAPAN):*MISS NELSON & BRUCE: Dance Sing and Listen CD (KICP 2631). $25.00

Japanese-only reissues of these early classics from Bruce Haack & friends. Licensed directly from his estate/Dimension 5 (his original label); Dimension 5 released 11 albums between 1963 and 1976, here are 5 of the most desirable ones (some of these tracks were licensed on the Emperor Norton compilation Listen Compute Rock Home). Dance Sing and Listen was originally released in 1963 on Dimension 5, this is the first time it has appeared on CD. "Dimension 5 takes great pride in presenting this new concept in recordings for children. Here is a living, growing record designed to bring the exciting personalities of Esther Nelson and Bruce Haack into your homes. Children of all ages will respond to elements in all sections of the recording — and will discover more and more wonders as they grow... 'Love with Discipline' is Esther Nelson's explanation of the phenomenon which has made her one of Americas foremost educators in the realm of children's dance. The magnetism of her personality and the exceptional musicality of her speaking voice spellbinds children with the result that in her presence their bodies live they know the beauty of movement and free imaginative expression. And through this comes the discipline and knowledge of the fundamentals of dance and body movement presented in a way no child can resist. Every note of music on this record was played by Bruce Haack (who modestly says he is not a performer). Bruce Haack is indeed the legendary Pied Piper and his piping employs every conceivable instrument of the orchestra and many electronic ones which he has invented). By the skillful use of multitrack recording, and by means of his own particular magic, he weaves instruments and sound in manner hitherto unequalled. Besides being the total orchestra, he was his own recording engineer."

MISS NELSON & BRUCE: Way-Out Record For Children CD (KICP 2632). $25.00

Originally released in 1968 on Dimension 5. First time on CD. "Features an 'Introduction' to the Dimension 5 gang, and movement songs like 'Medieval Dancing,' 'School for Robots,' an ear-body coordination game, features robotic vocals created by Haack speaking in a monotone and tapping his Adam's apple; this low-budget innovation is just another manifestation of his practical but innovative approach." From Jim O'Rourke's liner notes for this reissue: "Bruce Haack is an American underground hero, and while these were technically 'kid's records', there may have been no one out there, outside of Jim Copp, who could warp and bend young minds. He utilized an amazing pile-up of synthesizers, tape editing, electronic manipulation, and most importantly, he treated kids as young adults instead of simpletons. The Way Out Record... has been a favorite on my turntable for years and years, and these records are in their way more radical than the 'adult' records he made. Essential stuff."

HAACK, BRUCE: Electronic Record For Children CD (KICP 2633). $25.00

Originally released in 1969 on Dimension 5. First time on CD. "1969's The Electronic Record for Children adds more freaked-out fun to the basic menu of electronic-based story and activity songs shared by all the Dimension 5 releases. This time, Bruce Haack and Esther Nelson pretend they are on a spaceship orbiting the earth, and this theme plays out in their between-song banter as well as on songs like 'Mara's Moon' and 'Clapping with Katy,' where the duo calls a friend on earth to play a clapping game with her. Includes a trip to the planet of the singing mice and a choir of Greek children."

JACKPINE SAVAGE: Together CD (KICP 2634). $25.00

Originally released in 1971 on Dimension 5. First time on CD. Original back cover notes: "Play this album on stereo equipment. The spaced-out movement of sound from speaker to speaker is important. Sometimes listen with earphones at moderate volume — you never know what you might discover. The songs are recorded so that they become complete when you add your voice to them. ackpine Savage wrote the album, played all the instruments and sang it all (except for his back-up chorus which is electronic)."

HAACK, BRUCE: Ebenezer Electric CD (KICP 2635). $25.00

Originally released in 1976 on Dimension 5. First time on CD. Performed with Ted Pandel. Comprised mainly of Christmas songs.

KINGSIZE (UK):*CHICKEN LIPS: Re-Echoed, Re-Extended & Re-Hashed CD (KSR 022 CD). $16.00

"Andy Meecham and Dean Meredith have come a long way since their commercial success with Bizarre Inc. and as Chicken Lips they are now one of the most popular remix/production units around, having remixed the likes of Underworld, FC Kahuna, Stereo MCs, Mo' Wax and Justin Robertson to name a few. The Lips are also currently working on a mix album for NRK's Nitelife series, and getting plenty of press as part of the 'Punk Funk' movement. They are a favourite of Playgroup's Trevor Jackson and look set for very big things this year. This album showcases the quality remixes of their own material they have picked up along the way."

KINGSTON SOUNDS (UK):*VA: Kingston Allstars meet Downtown at King Tubbys CD (KING 002CD). $18.00

"Kingston Sounds follow up with another great compilation in the shape of Kingston All Stars... Bunny Lee productions are once again under the spotlight, with rare tracks from Freddie McKay, Horace Andy, Jimmy Riley, Cornel Campbell, Wayne Jarrett, Johnny Clarke, Ronnie Davis and curiously a handful of tracks not usually associated with Striker Lee, like Locksley (sometimes Lacksley) Castell's 'Some Good' (on the same rhythm that Augustus Pablo used for Hugh Mundell's 'Revolution a Come'), Linval Thompson's 'Wicked Dem' (on Pablo's own 'Rockers Dub' rhythm) and Yabby U's 'Stand Up and Fight'."

VA: Kingston Allstars meet Downtown at King Tubbys LP (KING 002LP). $17.00*LP version.*VA: Sound System Rockers 1969-1975 CD (KS 001CD). $16.00

"Introducing Kingston Sounds, a brand new label who plan to unearth and reissue classic reggae music from the 'vintage years'. First up is an excellent compilation of classic sound system favourites dating from the years 1969 to 1975. The tracks on this album were produced by the legendary Bunny Lee, who gave this album full backing and helped compile the tracks. Bunny is also interviewed in the sleeve notes in the CD booklet. Includes Horace Andy's timeless 'Guiding Star', Ken Booth's version of the Abyssinian's 'Satta Massagana', Leroy Smart's killer 'Shame & Pride', Linval Thompson's wicked 'Whip Them Jah' and also tracks by Dennis Brown, Cornell Campbell, Delroy Wilson, Gregory Issacs, Johnny Clarke, Freddie McGregor, Barry Brown and Alton Ellis."

KISSING SPELL (UK):*DOGFEET: CD (ERE 36002). $20.00

Includes the rare 1970 album (previously issued by KS on LP, ERE 36001) by this "heavy-blues band, with subdued dual guitar, echoing vocals & atmospheric percussion and bass... sometimes reminiscent of early Fleetwood Mac." This CD adds 4 previously unreleased demo tracks for the LP, and 2 long live jams by a recent reincarnation of the band (from 1991).

BLACK SPIRIT: LP (KS 9439). $12.00

Italian band, recorded in Germany, 1970-78. "Long tracks led by electric guitar with much intense jamming. English vocals." Kinda sleepy hard rock in the "grand tradition," you'll laugh.

DARK/TARSUS: LP (KS 9494). $12.00

Split LP w. a 28 minute guitar jam by Dark ('75) & 3 awesome tracks by the unknown Tarsus recorded in 1970, which combine Doors style vocals with a hard-progressive edge."

HELLHOUND: Live LP (KS 9496). $12.00

"Long lost archive tape of one-off session recorded in '70 by pre-Leafhound, post-Andromeda band with Pete French on vocals, raucous & completely over-the-top hard rock w. manic Zeppelinesque vocals; side 2 is instrumental jamming."

ANDROMEDA: Live At The Middle Earth Club 1967 LP (KS 9497). $12.00

"Very early recording just discovered with these psychedelic legends rehearsing on stage. From a mouldering mono master, approx. 38 minutes long with just 4 extended tracks. Historical archive material?"

AXE: Live 1969 CD (KS 9592). $12.00

The one previous Axe release on Kissing Spell was widely heralded as the label's finest revelation. This one finds Stephen Smith Inc. digging pretty deep in the scunge barrel, looking for a follow-up relic. This album supposedly features an entire live performance of their debut performance at Lord Barford Croquet Tournament in 1969. Material is all covers (Jefferson Airplane, Canned Heat, Traffic, Neil Young, etc.), with plenty of tape wobble to extend the detuned meter into near avant garde territory. Tons of (uncredited) (lead) sax playing make this one a "must hear." Oh, the historical significance. Promo material mentions bonus tracks on the CD which do not in fact exist. Did I tell you about how this one was described in a recent Record Vault rare records catalog out of Pleasanton, CA (Zarrence Smith, proprietor)? "Tremendous heavy psychedelia... a real classic acid-rock sound, top of the line! Housed in a deluxe color art cover. Highly recommended head-grooves!" Huh? This record is not tremendous nor heavy, barely classifies as "psych" or "acid-rock," and is nowhere near the "top" of any line I've ever seen, heard, or pished on. A couple of lame and out of focus live gig snapshots has never earned the term "deluxe" before, either. What this record is, is a historical curiosity, an unearthed artifact of the nascent, semi-coherent rumblings of what would become a semi-interesting genesis. For that purpose, it's worth a spin, maybe even all the way through. Expect anything more and you're as fucked as Mr. Smith. Good night.

AXE: Live 1969 LP (KS 9595). $12.00

LP version of KS 9592. Jacket lists 2 bonus tracks (Love & Airplane covers) not found on the CD, but they are not actually on the record!

KITSUNE (FRANCE):*VA: Kitsune Love CD (KIT 001CD). $16.00

"Kitsuné Love is the lovechild of the Kitsuné clothing label. Enlisting contributions from eleven of Europe's most hyper-creative and diverse talents, the result is Kitsuné Love, a compilation about love, exclusively commissioned for and conceived by the Kitsune label. Eleven original, diverse, all-new or previously unreleased tracks, Kitsuné Love features tracks from such established names as Gonzales (covering Daft Punk's 'Too Long'; capturing on CD this longtime Gonzales live show favorite), Fantastic Plastic Machine (with an alternate dub mix of 'Why Not?' featured on the Austin Powers soundtrack), Shakedown, Playgroup, and 2-step garage forefather Todd Edwards. Kitsuné Love also includes appearances from Daft Punk collaborator Alan Braxe & Fred Falke, Emest Saint Laurent, DJ Gregory (of Africanism fame), Dimitri From Paris co-producer Dominique Torti. This compilation rounds out with two French producers who are tipped as 'ones-to-watch' on the French music scene Lacquer and Romuald."

VA: Kitsune Midnight CD (KIT 002CD). $16.00

"Enlisting contributions from twelve of Europe's most hyper-creative and diverse talents, the result is Kitsuné Midnight. Midnight is the theme, with twelve original pieces, one for each toll of the bell. Names to remember and pseudonyms concealing people we cannot even think to mention. Kitsuné Midnight features exclusive tracks from such established names as Julien Jabre, Freeform Five, Black Strobe, and Cosmo Vitelli as well as hotly tipped up-and-coming artists Captain Comatose, Zongamin, and Romuald, Meeks, & Bondurant."

MAN WITH GUITAR: Man With Guitar 12" (KIT 007EP). $7.00

"This will be the first single of the long awaited Kitsuné Midnight album. The album boasts exclusives from Zongamin, Freeform, Blackstrobe, Julien Jabre and Cosmo Vitelli amongst others. A shadowy title by a mysterious, unnameable artist, but just to hear should be enough. Already taking people on its twisted spiky journey the world over, 'Man with Guitar' is getting love from dancefloors and interest from major label record companies. It is all that Kitsune can do to keep the artists identity secret."

KITTY YO (GERMANY):

KANTE: Zwischen Den Orten CD (KY 007CD). $15.00

"To put it nicely: with Kante you can be safe and secure. Elegiac. That's how it grows. It's ten years from Kante 1988 to Kante 1998, and it's a long way. Five people: 2 guitars, bass, vocals, drums, keyboards from the high-scholl band rolling over John Zorn and other topheavies to something, that people like Tom Verlaine, Cpt. Kirk and Talk Talk have achieved: the great flow and sound. Today this is called Post Rock. Before that, it had no name. The infamous bridge between Rock and Electronic, Song and Track is also Kante's path. It was recorded partly at Atatak Studio (Düsseldorf) with Kurt Dahlke (formerly Der Plan, Pyrolator). Kante are: Peter Thiessen (guitar and vocals, also bass player for Blumfeld), Felix Müller (guitar), Sebastian Vogel (drum, also drums for Laub), Andreas Krane (bass), Michael Bugmann (keyboards, also for Brumfeld)."

STOL: 12" (KY 016). $9.00

"It's not easy to talk about Stol. Listen to it. Carefully — it's quiet and it hides. And it takes many hurdles. It obviously makes you think of the minimal electronics and their popular companions: Oval, Microstoria, Panasonic. But it's not — once you see them alive. There's Olaf Rupp on the guitar and Stephan Mathieu on the drums. Classical analog set. Try to find that on this record! Imagine a way to create something as Stol are able to. File Under: minimal electronics."

OHARA, RAZ: Realtime Voyeur LP (KY 022LP). $12.00

"The new guy in Kitty-Yo-town: the 'Wunderkind', the future, path, goal and the truth. Raz Ohara alias Patrick Rasmussen from Denmark (meanwhile in Berlin) has changed lives, since he crashed over Kitty-Yo six months ago like a comet. With tracks that can turn the unbelievable to simple reality: Soul from a whiteness, home production, modern, funky, clear, cool. And he can sing, the songs settle, move and have space, they're Hits. Reggae 2000, Prince style, Tom Waits songstructures with HipHop grooves. On his debut Realtime Voyeur, you can find a Pixies cover version of 'Where is my mind' as a summer-reggae version amongst downtempo R&B ballads and furious dance tracks."

LAUB: Intuition (Remixes) 2LP (KY 024 LP). $17.00

"The Laub remix album, reworked material from their last album Unter Anderen Bedingungen als Liebe. Featuring their labelmates Tarwater (Kitty-Yo), the new signing on Kitty-Yo Gonzales and Michael Heilrath from Couch (aka Blond/Payola), their former Kitty-Yo partner Stephan Mathieu (Stol); Berlin colleagues Schneider TM (City Slang), Pole (Kiff SM), the minimal technoists Rechenzentrum and Elektronauten; countryfellows such as Matthias Schaffhaeuser (Musik aus Strom/Ware), Max Schneider & Phoneheads (Infracom), and UK guys Richard Thomas (Leaf Label) & Clifford Gilberto (Ninja Tune) and last but not least Jonathan More (Coldcut/Ninja Tune). Most diversifying: going from drum'n'bass killer, four-to-the-floor dance tracks to melancholic ballads up to the most abstract titles heard in a long time. Beyond the classical remix idea, this production features new artist collaborations, i.e. Pole and Gonzales reworked original album titles together with Laub in the studio."

VA: Freischwimmer 2CD (KY 026 CD). $15.00

"The Kitty-Yo anthology on double CD and double LP: 1994-1999. Time to look back, do the accounts, and to look forward to five years of celebrating and (re)creating, struggling, (trend)setting, changing, and surprising. CD/LP 1: Autodidakt: learning by doing. Hits from the first three years and rare material which is not to be found any longer. The first 'Wuhling 7" (later on City Slang), the first Surrogat 7", tracks from the first To Rococo Rot longplayer, Laub's 'Kopffastig', Go Plus pop from 'La Montanara', Kante, Bruellen, the early Tarwater, and many more. CD/LP 2: Staffel: starting blocks are set, Kitty-Yo on relay around the world. Where it's going to. Go Plus 'Largo', new Surrogat material which is only to be released this autumn, exclusive Tarwater and Laub tracks, posthumous Stol material, Preed, Schwermut Forest, and Couch, still unreleased songs by new Kitty-Yo artists like Raz Ohara, Gonzales."

TARWATER: Animals, Suns & Atoms LP (KY 029 LP). $11.00

RECHENZENTRUM: 2LP (KY 030LP). $15.00

"Marc Weiser (Music) and Lillavaen (Video) aka Rechenzentrum (data processing center in English language) are clearly what everybody would call a "devil of a fellow". The debut album features a very unpretentious mixture of styles from minimal-techno-housetracks, abstract hip hop to dark majestic soundscapes. As musical guests for the album are this time invited the Elektronauten member and Berliner soundtrack composer Christian Conrad as well as Jannek Siegel from Rope (Geist). A vocal-remixalbum and diverse 12"s (Shitkatapult/Kompakt) are in preparation."

RHYTHM KING AND HER FRIENDS: I Am Disco CD (KY 4082CD). $15.50

"The first album of Rhythm King And Her Friends.. Linda Wölfel, Pauline Boudry und Sara John founded the band in 2000. They developed their own special music style and complex texts, which shows that they pay a lot of attention on the traps and contradictions of society. Queer electronica, marvelous pop melodies with corners and edges, combine sampled rhythms and a playful use of different instruments and singing (in several languages, English, French and Bulgarian). Rhythm King and her Friends have something else in their mind. Instruments such as samplers, drumcomputers, guitar, bass and xylophone are used, in order to make music, embodied in the field of queer and gender politics. 'I know I need some vacation from my boyish closet'. Meanings are transported by the means of quotations, an appropriate performance and a free, but stylish handling of popsong-structures. The attitude and general atmosphere of Rhythm King and her Friends reminds one of casual but non-conformist bands like Lilliput, The Slits, Au Pair, Peaches and Stereo Total. With Le Tigre, they share the creativity that is fused within queer and gender discourse. With Luscious Jackson they share the easiness of working with different styles."

RHYTHM KING AND HER FRIENDS: I Am Disco 2LP (KY 4082LP). $16.50

Double LP version.

TENOR, JIMI: Beyond the Stars CD (KY 4084CD). $15.50

"Jimi Tenor's first Album release on Kitty-Yo Higher Planes (KY03066CD/LP+7") has already been perceived as Genre spanning masterpiece. Together with the Finnish Big Band Umo, Jimi Tenor had send us on a trip to the past, Jazz, Psychedelic, Rock and Funk had been purified for the present and the future. Beyond the Stars is smoother, but still stimulating for comparisons, Zappa, Soundtracks of the 70ies, Softpornos, Spike Jones, Sun Ra and many more. But it is less a tribute to the past, more a personal evaluation of significant sounds, that were combined to a homogene, soulful and happy album Jimi was inspired by the singing of birds, little waves of finish lakes and especially by the singing and drumming of the Barcelona Buddhist community that is based next to Jimi's apartment. And probably by one or two glasses of Caxa. Percussion has taken over an important role. For the recordings of Beyond the Stars Jimi went to the studios together with the luminaries of Afrobeat Rhythm Taxi in Berlin. On board was Nicholas Addo Nettey, who had performed with such legends as Fela Kuti und Ogene Kologbo (Felas Guitarist). Rhythm Taxi are the spearhead of the Berlin Afrobeat and Reggae scene. Previously also know as Kantata, Saraba, Roots Anabo, Dzen Bii with a history of performances with Fela Kuti, Ras Donovan and George Darko the Star of the so called Burger Highlife. They all play in other formations such as Vitamin x, Afrika Mma or Famaja. Again Chris Dawkins is setting directions with his Wah Wah Guitar, and Jay Kortehisto and Jukka Eskola are taking care one more time of the brass and big band parts. And of course Nicole Willis joins for some sweet background vocal parts. At the end you start comparing again, because there is so much happening beyond the stars, that you cannot explain otherwise, and you cannot deny the cosmic references to Sun Ra. Jimi revitalized a way of arranging an producing formally known from big band arrangements. It sound as fresh as if time has stood still and you wish it did."

TENOR, JIMI: Beyond the Stars 2LP (KY 4084LP). $16.50

Double LP version.

SEX IN DALLAS: Around The War CD (KY 4086CD). $15.50

"Sex In Dallas (Adrienne Walter, Jean Marc & Mohini Gesiweiller) are French born electro slackers, they have replaced guitars by samples, a 4 track recorder by a laptop, and instead of staying in bed all day, they stay up all day and night to hang out in bars and clubs not to miss any input. The last years they have sucked up a lot of input, that is now outpouring on their longplayer Around War. It could be the soundtrack of your life. Founded 2003 in Paris and driven by the idea to make a different sound compared to Daft Punk, Air, Phoenix and typical french house music that made french electronic music so popular. Following their highly recommend (John Peel, Laurent Garnier, Trevor Jackson, Andrew Weatherall, Miss Kittin & Mark Moore just to name a few) 12"s 'Everybody Deserves To Be Fucked' (KY04092MS) and 'Berlin Rocks 1 +2' (KY04083+85MS) with Remixes by The Hacker, French Fragg, Tomcat in Tokyo, Stewart Walker, The Architect, Sammy Dee, Whignomy Brothers here is the debut full length album. It creates an unexpected darkness, but not frightening rather embracing like a Nick Drake song. Adrienne, Jean Marc, and Mohini combine Punk, House, Hip Hop, Detroit Techno and turn it into a dark but groovy electronic longplayer. They were and are influenced by New Order, Aphex Twin, Grandmaster Flash, Sex Pistols, Juan Atkins, John Carpenter, Georgio Moroder, Outkast."

SEX IN DALLAS: Around The War 2LP (KY 4086LP). $16.50

Double LP version.

KLAKSON (NETHERLANDS):

DEXTER: I Don't Care 12" (KLAK 001). $9.00

"The great debut EP of Dexter wich created a small hype. Being featured on Dave Clarke's new mix album and being played (and rated) by many influential people in the music biz. Funky electro with razor sharp beats."

DEXTER: Intruder 12" (KLAK 002). $9.00

"The second release by the talented Dexter. After the success of his 1st ep he comes with more funky electro tracks with that same massive sound as his first EP. Freaky analogue basslines with razor sharp beats."

MESAK: Haivenet EP 12" (KLAK 005). $9.00

"New project of Mr Velcro fasteners Tatu Mets...t...hti. Deep spheric driving electro. Nice advanced almost Detroit kind of techno electro with smooth warm and subtle sounds and effects. Mr Velcro Fastener meets Kenny Larkin."

DUPLEX: Overdue 12" (KLAK 006). $9.00

"Surprising release on Klakson with this great new EP by Duplex (Clone). 3 great beautiful techno tracks with nice string arrangements and driving percussion. The main track is an uptempo track with a deep driving bassline and layers of strings almost making you a lift off. Thru soulful techno which can bring you (yes watch this.. an old fashion word) in extacy. The b-side comes with two mid tempo tracks but despite the slower tempo not less effective on the dancefloor. Three track for the mind and the feet."

JYLHÄNKANGAS, PAULI: Clutz 12" (KLAK 007). $9.00

"Pauli Jylhänkangas goes solo (after release together with Sami Liuski/Bangkok Impact as Putsch '79). Smooth warm grooving electro/house tracks in a Metro area meets Jimi Tenor meets Dexter style. Another hot one from Dexters Klakson label."

SEYMOUR BITS: Bonparapara Attack! 12" (KLAK 008). $11.00

"Klakson is moving more to the electro-funk sound and Bastian delivers 4 tracks who are really rocking the house. Main track is 'Free' which is a uptempo electro-funk track which brings a smile to everyone's face who owns a Prince record. The loose funky bassline and Prince-like vocal are amazing. The title track is a little more electroish and has definitely a Funkadelic funk feel over it. Funky beats with a bold rolling bassline and typical weird vocals. The b-side bring more variations of these two funk tracks. Solid funky beats...a incredible bass line and top notch production. This will be a big one again on Dexter's Klakson label."

KLANG:

BERGHEIM 34: It's Not For You As It Is For Us 2LP (KLAK 077). $16.00

Double LP version.

BETRIEB: Bubi Ehler EP 12" (KLAK 079). $9.00

"Ekkhard Ehlers comes again! This time with a very original interpretation of Funk, Soul & Hip Hop. Starting with 'HOPPIHOP', a digital ride on the big dipper with a computer on the lap."

BERGHEIM 34: It's Not For You As It Is For Us CD (KLAK 10 CD). $15.00

"Bergheim 34, the band that isn't one, was formed in 1998 and has since delighted perplexed music enthusiasts with three remarkable EP releases. At last they have crawled out of their virtual sanctuary again to present their new album. It's Not For You As It Is For Us is the result of two years' collective silence with each of the four members going their own ways to concentrate on their own projects. Meanwhile, light years away from the former living room combo of Bergheimer Str. 34, Heidelberg, they have all moved to different cities, and rehearsing together has become a rare exception. Instead, Bergheim 34 have adopted a process of file sharing. Ideas are transmitted, passages added, sounds changed until a track evolves that is then circulated on each of the four hard disks. In the classic sense, the band has thus perhaps become an ingenious fake but in the modern sense they could also be pioneers. Nothing has changed as regards their key band characteristic: the way they musically communicate. Besides pragmatism, Bergheim 34 also sees developing new work styles as a means of improving their musical qualities. They can be a real pack of artists once live performances have been put aside, because they think they're not self-confident and good enough. Of course that's complete nonsense (they're probably just too lazy), because when seen back to front they are really top at improvising as 'cold curry (why can't we play live together in Prudel HH)', a track from their previous Klang release, clearly proves. But that's how it goes, It's Not For You As It Is For Us is about the discrepancy between what Berghem 34 experience and how the outsiders world experiences them: as a band called Berghem 34."

KLANG DER FESTUNG (GERMANY):

GRUNWALDT, MARTIN: Rückblende 10" (KDF 003LP). $17.00

"Solo release by the ex member of Große Freiheit, a Hamburg band from the early 1980's. Seven tracks, which are mostly cover versions of Grunwaldt's favourite German songs from the time when he was kid, played on a Minichord and accompanied by his voice. One song sung in Japanese. 300 copies."

HEMATIC SUNSETS: Zu Gast in Aroma Club LP (KDF 004LP). $20.00

"Hematic Sunsets is Asmus Tietchens. The music he releases under this name is sometimes similar in style to the 'Pop' Music he produced in the early 80's during his SKY phase. This is the third LP release on his own Klang Der Festung label following Musik aus dem Aroma Club (KdF1) and Rendezvous im Aroma Club (KdF2) which were both recorded by himself. With Zu Gast im Aroma Club he, for the first time, invited guests to join him in his club: Michael Rother, Okko Bekker, Felix Kubin, Jetzmann, Stefan Ebinger."

KLANG ELEKTRONIK (GERMANY):

CONTINUOUS MODE: Disinformation Design CD (KLANG 04 CD). $13.00

Latest project from Andy Mellwig (Porter Ricks). "Fired by his fascination for electronic sounds, Andy Mellwig built his first synthesizer single-handedly at the beginning of the eighties. That, a ring modulator, a Vox keyboard and various other pieces of lo-fi equipment soon made up a small electronic studio. The first gigs took place in the middle of the eighties in the form of live electronic sets at performances or the exhibition openings of underground artists and were a mixture of Wave, Punk, EBM, Industrial and experimental music. Mellwig developed his technoid project 'Async Sense' at the beginning of the nineties, followed by his first album that emerged from the Basic Channel milieu and was released on Moritz Von Oswald's Label Imbalance. Further recordings appeared on Bill Laswell's label Sub Meta (for the first time with Thomas Köner) and Interference. On the heels of Async Sense, Mellwig developed a real-time software (Continuous Mode) and his close collaboration with Thomas Köner gave birth to the project Porter Ricks. For his new Continuous Mode album, Mellwig concentrated on a certain musical style that emerged in the late sixties. Free Rock. Several times in the past, it had peered out from the undergrowth and even the average Beatles fan had a vague impression of all it could entail via songs such as 'Revolution No 9' or 'Helter Skelter'. Unfortunately this young bud did not grow up to be big and strong because basically everyone wanted a piece. Some pruned away the Rock and lost themselves in the realms of musical acrobatics, others didn't really understand the 'Free' bit and it all became rather orchestrated. On the whole, the result was an unholy alliance, somewhere between Yes, King Crimson and Weather Report — a place in which some still reside. The only one to really comprehend the sign of the times was Miles Davis. The albums he recorded between 1969 and the mid 70's filled a pool of creativity that remains unequalled even today, a pool overflowing with Free and with Rock. One must say, and probably thank the Lord, that up to now no-one has seriously tried to work on an adaptation of that legacy — not taking into account the occasional lame remix-treatment. Now, thirty years later down the line, that history has been re-united on this album from Continuous Mode. Without making explicit references, without even the slightest of suggestions, the complete spectrum created in the past is seen again as if through some distant looking-glass. And you want to see it done live! Andy Mellwig's concept of the discless DJ is realised not technically but musically on this record. This is history showing itself but not drawing upon real, acoustic sources or making use of quotations, satirical, ironic, seriously intended or otherwise. Continuous Mode play history as a continuum and not as a gratuitous sample archive to be plundered. That's why you get the impression that their melodies and layers of sound are something you've heard before (years ago, decades ago, in an earlier life). And at the same time, you can't help thinking: this music is from another world."

SPIESS, PETER F.: Crystal Polymorphs CD (KLANG 05CD). $13.00

"Peter F. Spiess' first album fuses digital background noise, click-on cuts and minimal sound structures creating remarkable functionality. Thanks to Daniel Bell the term Funk now also stems from FUNKtional allowing minute network distortions to become surprisingly big shockers. Following three 12" singles on Klang featuring projects such as Jan Jelinek's Farben, Roman Flügel's Eight Miles High and Peter Ford that define Klang Elektronik's 'New School', the impulse was there to venture into new sectors without losing sight of the clubs."

BABY FORD & THE I-FACH COLLECTIVE: Sacred Machine CD (KLANG 06CD). $14.00

"Following further sensational projects [Minimal Man on Trelik, Sunpeople (with Thomas Melchior), Birds (with Mo + Kotai + Jochen Bader) e.g. on his Pal-SI-Label and many others], Baby Ford's fourth album Headphoneasy Rider was released in 1997. It not only documented the changes, but also drew the attention away from the UK, where not much was happening anymore, to Germany, Berlin in particular. He moved there for a while and collaborated with Klaus Kotai on EMD, amongst others. Another reason for the upsurge of sub genres in the present techno world is the widespread success. People who had the same ideas eventually found each other and deliberately condensed their ideas. The same went for Peter Ford and Kotai. Back in Britain, he now produced a new album after having released a few ground breaking tracks (e.g. for Sunpeople). It was his first for Klang Elektronik. Here too, you get the impression as though you can still hear the hysteric pop acid of 'Chikki Chiki Ahh Ahh' between the lines. Despite all the musical changes and the 'mellower' sounds, Baby Ford still resounds in unmatched beauty. And yet he is someone who picks up achievements, compresses them and lets them arise again in his own sound cosmos. This is why you think you can hear the influence of early L.F.O. in 'On The Floor'. 'Late Check Out' is a quiet, magical track that yet again emphasises how pleasant synthetic warmth can be. 'Bad Friday' shows that Baby Ford has got the ability, as only few others have, perhaps one could mention Richie Hawtin, to orchestrate a club so compactly, to draw the listener into a sealed-off space that is also a mental state. Again the use of vocals ('Word For One Word') plays an important role here. 'Grand Central' is likewise pure minimal techno, if you take for example, the mental dimension as a criterion that an acoustic constant in the course of a track is not perceived as monotony, but as a psychological change. Your level of perception is adjusted in such a way that any small effects can be attributed to almost any large causes. In this respect, the classical piano passages loop through '24 Hr' which actually comes across as an apparently endless acoustic sub-text on everyday life. The concoction of voices on 'The Healing', the last track, is reminiscent of Chicago house, Felix The Housecat, of how it climbs to light from the abyss of dark reverberation — healing through music, the constant topic especially in house music. That is the ancient secret of techno. You never know how you will experience the track the next day, whether it will shine like the evening before or just be another track. Time after time, the tracks unfold their own acoustic laws. And last but not least, the Robert-Hood-like 'Ambo' will rock the clubs in the form of a 12-inch single release in spring. It's all still the way it's always been. Baby Ford makes no concessions to the world of pop, regardless of how many ideas, sounds and fun of former pop models he uses. Someone once wrote the following about him: 'This is TECHNO as a belief system. Techno has a natural way of deciding whether something has been done with the right attitude or not.'

FARBEN: Textstar CD (KLANG 07CD). $14.00

"It's hard to put your finger on what, exactly, makes Jan Jelinek's recordings as Farben stand out the way they do. After all, minimal, dubby techno is nearly 10 years old, and while Farben's music is far from a textbook example of the genre, it's undeniably linked to the blissed out, horizontal house of Basic Channel and Chain Reaction. Meanwhile, the 'clicks and cuts' school has popularized the palette of glitches, ticks and pops that characterize Farben's textures. Admittedly, this kind of gritty, grainy techno, or post-techno, or whatever we're going to call it this week, is by now hardly a radical exercise in form. And yet: there's something here you haven't heard before — not in minimal techno, not in DSP-distressed post-techno, not even in Jelinek's work as Gramm (e.g. 'Personal Rock' on Source) or under his own name. There's a smoothness, a softness, a billowing-out of sound that stands apart from the angular, pixel-prone minimalism of its contemporaries. You can hear it in 'Love to Love You Baby,' in the way the horn sample darts out from behind parted curtains of crackling static, a come-hither whisper caught on the dividing line between concealing and revealing. It's a hell of a lot sexier than give-up-the-goods-vocal house. Jelinek first combined his interest in jazz samples and moire patterns on Loop-Finding-Jazz-Records (Scape), cutting millisecond-long loops out of jazz recordings from the 50s and 60s and overlaying them until nothing of the source was identifiable, having disappeared into a black hole of crosshatching. In Farben's tracks, though, especially the four new tracks released on the 12" Farben Says: Don't Fight Phrases, the jazz samples are allowed to root and to bloom — just enough to distinguish their green shoots from the gravelly rhythms in which they've been planted. Just look at the titles and you'll see a difference from Jelinek's peers: while their tracks are formatted like filenames, choked with punctuation and shorn of vowels, Farben tracks suggest a deep romanticism: 'Beautone,' 'So Much Love,' and the inimitable 'Love Oh Love.' It can't be a coincidence that 'Love to Love You Baby' echoes Donna Summer's and Giorgio Moroder's revolutionary cyborg sound: disco ripples run through the shirred fabric of many of these tracks. (And if you never knew Jelinek was a disco fan, well, you never knew Jan, did you?) And 'Live at the Sahara Tahoe' — not many minimal techno producers have named tracks after Isaac Hayes albums. But this counterintuitiveness is at the heart of Jelinek's practice: 'Actually the recording is not one of my favorites. I always have problems with Hayes' live records, 'cause his arrangements lose their deepness Studio/mixer-virtuosity does not work on stage. Nevertheless Live at the Sahara Tahoe is a famous/popular record of Hayes — that's the reason I chose this reference. Famous live records and concerts, a gesture of popular music, that stands in contradiction to electronic music.' (If you've ever been to a Tahoe casino, they textstar in stark contradiction to most electronic music as well — but that's another story.) Textstar collects tracks from four of Farben's six EPs: Live at the Sahara Tahoe (1999), Raw Macro (2000), Beautone (2000), and Farben Says: Don't Fight Phrases (2002). This represents the first time that Farben's music is available on CD. In introducing new ears to these sounds, Textstar reinforces Jelinek's position as one of the most innovative, nuanced, and soulful producers working today."

EIGHT MILES HIGH: Katalog CD (KLANG 08CD). $14.00

"Eight Miles High' is perhaps the most beautiful song by the American country/rock band The Byrds: in 1966 the legendary bass, crazy sound ideas and the guitar inspired by John Coltrane defined the way of life of a generation between beat and psychedelic. Nothing could be taken for granted anymore, everything seemed to be changing. However, the prevalent talk about free love, flower power and mind-expanding drugs did not exactly sharpen one's senses: although 'Eight Miles High' describes the band's first flight to Britain, many journalists interpreted the lyrics as a hidden drug allegory. The hippie hype was more powerful than their interest in a unique song. Techno was likewise long regarded by many people as a mere collection of clichés: as strictly functional, fun terrorism, concerned solely about effectiveness. The individual musician/producer had to disappear in the DJ's mix just out of principle, dissolve in the collective 'us' frenzy. Yet, after all, samplers and computers are nothing else than the contemporary equivalent of guitars. Of course one can create pumping tracks and bizarre soundscapes with them, hack songs into tiny pieces until no beat sounds like the next. But that needn't be. 'Eight Miles High' catapulted the Byrds into the whirl of the upcoming flower-power hype. In contrast, Frankfurt-based producer Roman Flügel's Eight Miles High project profits from the fact that electronic music is no longer inevitably regarded as a collection of dehumanised tracks. This creates room for his own personal approach, one could almost call it songwriting. The project name Eight Miles High is little more than the vague memory of a piece of pop history. Ironically shattered by the fact that Roman first heard Roxy Music's wistful version of the song. So it was not a collective emergence into the summer of love, but a retreat into a new form of individuality. Sometimes Katalog seems like 'Looking for the perfect sound'. Inquisitive experimenting, a mellow conquest of an aural world. Nonetheless, Roman Flügel does not suppress the subjective and emotional aspect of his music. Sporadic melodies seem like a tender reminder of the fact that there's more to life than the constant abstract search for something you've never heard before. The attraction of Eight Miles High often lies in the combination of different sources of sound. These include self-played piano passages or the sound of a plectrum scraping on guitar strings. For Roman, who at some point even studied musicology, it also has something to do with becoming older. First see the person and his art — then the context in which he works. Every sound."

SAPIANO/THE PARTYCRASHERS: Greatest Hits CD (KLANG CD3). $16.00

"When it comes to an album on Klang Elektronik by these legendary three (Tony Sapiano, Kenny C and Felix), it's time to take a closer look at their biographies and careers. In March 1996 Tony, Kenny, and Felix recorded for the first time together as Sapiano and the Partycrashers. They went on to release several records on the Sabrettes label and also Andy Weatherall's Emissions label. Most of the tracks on Greatest Hits are very rare and classic releases from their extensive history on these critically acclaimed labels."

CONTINUOUS MODE: Running Status 12" (KLANG 033). $9.00

"Andy Mellwig is without any doubt one of the most brilliant musical poets of the German Techno-scene. In the early 90s he pioneered new standards in vinyl cutting and mastering at the famous Dubplates & Mastering in Berlin, where he was responsible for the unique and trend-setting sound of the legendary Basic Channel and Maurizio records. In addition he is one half of Porter Ricks and his former releases of his solo-project Continuous Mode on Chain Reaction are classics. Klang is pleased and proud to present the continuation of Continuous Mode with 3 new songs. A1: 'running status' is a suburban track, with its cycling noisy sound-loops it agitates loads of dirt that is spread carefully all over the sound structure. Finally the 'ride' and the 'high-hat' make you feel like sitting on a motor bike with Alan Vega and Martin Rev (Suicide), blasting through Downtown Manhattan. Fuckin' Rock'n Roll! A2 'criminal funk' is kind of Science-Fiction-Krautrock. The melody sounds like a space-soundtrack from a far away past when people still believed in a future with space-ships that have built-in kitchens. A3 'like children' is based on an Electrорockbeat. White light, white heat, white 'criminal Funk' for Techno-philosophers and Rockers."

EIGHT MILES HIGH: Chamber Music 12" (KLANG 042). $9.00

"Roman Flügel, a.k.a. Eight Miles High, with his fourth attack on Klang Elektronik. Roman continues his brilliant soundtrack in his usual variety of reduced rhythms and sci-fi soundscapes."

ALTER EGO: Slaughterhouse 12" (KLANG 044). $9.00

"After the overwhelming hit 'Betty Ford' EP by this Alter Ego duo of Roman Flügel and Jörn Elling Wuttke, we announce the follow-up concerning the subject 'Slaughterhouse'. It's a little bit like the impression of a long, dark and damp way, where the listener gets lead through the starting point of this sideseeing-tour again."

CONTINUOUS MODE: Disinformation Design 12" (KLANG 049). $9.00

"Andy Melwig (together with Thomas Köhner better known as Porter Ricks) is Continuous Mode and with this 12" he introduces his upcoming album on Klang Elektronik entitled Disinformation Design. About his past as head-mastering engineer at Basic Channel (Dubplates & Mastering) in Berlin we don't have to say any more words, you can still hear the influence he had on this legendary institution. Approaching here and now we are experiencing his music as something extremely intensive and actually we are happy that his music demands highest attention."

SIKORA: Metropoler 12" (KLANG 051). $9.00

"Stephan Straka aka. Sikora reduces the speed in his music, improving his deepness in the sound, letting the bass roll while magical hypnosis is sneaking in through the backdoor. 'Grown' is a clear statement in the subject of: Big City Club feeling with less superficiality for a conscious dancing therapy. Soon spring is coming and you can actually feel the awakening mood shining through in the music. 'Duft' ('smell' in english) is inviting you to open the windows of your car, letting the fresh breeze passing by your elbow. 'Astronaut' is a classic technotrack on which Sikora proves, how the subject of time can be fooled by careful tricky arrangement."

BETRIEB: Baltus EP 12" (KLANG 052). $9.00

"Eckehard Ehlers, a new artist who is already releasing music under different names like Autopoesis (Mille Plateaux) or Auch (Force Inc.) enriches the minimal-electronic territory of the Klang Elektronik Forces. Dedicated to the famous painter Balthus, Betrieb signs his digital sound-sketches sometimes very concrete and rock-like (A1), sometimes kind of abstract, in a classical music style (A2) or sometimes more playful, simply following his very own interpretation of DeepHouse (B2). The extremely reduced and repetitive elements in his music can not be overheard."

SPIESS, PETER F.: Crystal Polymorphs 2LP (KLANG 053). $16.00

Double vinyl version.

ANTIGA PRIME: Radio City EP 12" (KLANG 054). $9.00

"Tobias Lorscheid and Mirco Mengler aka. Antiga Prime, a brand new, very talented production-team from Mainz (Germany) with their promising 'Radio City' debut EP on Klang Elektronik. Sound on sound is gearing perfectly, continuously forming a musical impression of a futuristic sound travel. The same continues with track B1 and B2 but slightly deeper and with a more calm and warm feeling. Talking about the atmosphere Antiga Prime's music comes obviously close to former productions by Soyent Green (Playhouse) or early LFO."

ALTER EGO: Betty Ford Remix 12" (KLANG 055). $9.00

"What could you say about this record, that hasn't been said already or experienced at the club when played? Nothing! A masterpiece of a classic, voted for the technorecord of the year 2000, pure energy/hysteria — musically translated in perfection. All you could add is done in these two awesome remixes by two true heroes of the electronic music scene in their very own ingenious way. We are listening, we are amazed and we are dancing our ***** off. Over and out, Betty Ford 2001"

ALTER EGO: Betty Ford Remix Pt. 2 12" (KLANG 056). $9.00

"The continuation and irresistible completion of the fantastic Betty Ford remix package. DJ Rush: dangerous and uncompromising, März: very melodious, calm and moody. No words to match. Betty Ford 2001."

BROOM & BABY FORD PRESENT, MARK: Ambo (Remixes) 12" (KLANG 057). $9.00

"Mark Broom and Baby Ford from London are two producers who don't really need an introduction. Already in the late 80's, early 90's Baby Ford was becoming a star in the Acid House scene with cult tracks like: Oochy Koochy, Flowers or his famous Ford Trax album on Rhythm King. Now, since the middle 90's the production team Broom/Ford (both important parts of the Ifach collective) is continuously feeding the microcosmos of perfectionized Minimal-Techno and -House, especially with their productions on their own labels: Ifach, Trelik and Pal."

JIRKU, TOMAS: Go! Turn! 12" (KLANG 058). $9.00

"A Canadian guy named Tomas Jirku released his first EP on Klang like Farben or Betrieb. 'Micro-House' sound is what it has lately been called in famous British Wire magazine. A sound which they believe has mainly been created and influenced by German producers. Well, even though Tomas Jirku proves that it has already become a global phenomenon and the he really goes deep, carefully using the sweet elements of dub on his journey."

DRYER: Lite Mar 12" (KLANG 059). $9.00

"Anders Bryngelsson aka Dryer from Sweden is a brand new artist on Klang Elektronik. His sound is seriously Dub-Reggae influenced by the likes of Basic Channel or even more Rhythm & Sound. You could imagine Tikiman singing over it. His music is warm, very rhythmic and simply deep as hell. Every single sound is warped perfectly with the other, slowly streaming into a deep sea of Dub. Dryer continues the deeper path of Klang, artists like Siro, Farben or Maus & Stolle were following before."

BABY FORD & THE IFACH COLLECTIVE: Sacred Machine 2LP (KLANG 060). $16.00

Double vinyl version.

BETRIEB: Harmolodic House 12" (KLANG 061). $9.00

"Eckehard Ehlers returns with his 2nd EP on Klang Elektronik. A summer trip to the swimming pools of Germany seems to be the headline of his music this time, at least if you judge it from the titles. According to his own saying, this is above all the fact with 'Maria Einsiedel (a swimming pool based in Munich). 'Harmolodic House', the actual headline of this EP contains additionally the phrases 'harmony/melody' (= tradition) and 'House' (= still not completely explored). Using the latest digital cut and arrangement ART on his homey Laptop."

HUMAN LEAGUE: All I Ever Wanted - Alter Ego Remix 12" (KLANG 062). $9.00

"We are pleased to announce that we can finally present the rarest and greatest Alter Ego remix of recent times. Due to the amazing and careful work of Flügel/Wuttke, Human League, the mothership of all Electro-Popbands, doesn't sound like 80's revival at all. On the contrary, it completely sounds like Human League is supposed to sound here and today. 'Blue Eyed Soul', song-structured and still perfect for every club."

SIKORA: Jugendfußball EP 12" (KLANG 063). $9.00

"Sikora comes with his new EP in two different ways. Side A is more in the 'Metropoler' (Klang 51) tradition. A quiet beater, but with high radiation, mindtripping! Side B is a storming Techno blaster, sucking the dancers into a loophole of noise. B2 is for those who like to chill in the special Sikora manner."

SIENKIEWICZ, JACEK: Slope 12" (KLANG 064). $9.00

"Luckily the Techno-East-Expansion has quickly progressed already. Jacek Sienkiewicz from Warsaw is the living proof and has recently surprised — as much as he amazed us with his releases on labels like Recognition (his own imprint), DE:Bug or WMF Records. On Klang Elektronik he presents us four tracks that finally introduce the long awaited spring time with their solid energetic grooves and sunny refreshing weirdness. Featherlike light Dub-sounds, powerful basslines and ecstasized percussions are creating a magical soundfield that will make more than one raver meditating in the early hours."

FARBEN: Farben. Says: Don't Fight Phrases 12" (KLANG 065). $9.00

"Farben aka Jan Jelinek is back at last! His sixth 12" on Klang Elektronik completes a four-piece series starting with Klang 32, Featuring The Dramatics, and presenting simultaneously his works on the Farben CD Textstar. And Jelinek does an even better job compared to his previous productions. Completely dedicated to the subject of love he paints a fantastic, romantic and even dramatic soundscape consisting of an incredible calmness, at the same time expressive and gentle."

FARBEN: Starbox 4x12" / BOX (KLANG 066). $43.00

"The complete Farben-oeuvre in the deluxe-edition vinyl version! The four-part 12" series is bedded like chocolate candy in a beautifully crafted — of course in four-colours — LP-sized box, waiting to find a special place in your record shelves. In contrast to the CD issue Textstar you have six bonus-tracks which will touch the heart of every electronica lover. Jan Jelinek presents his micro-house-package in all its coolness and gentleness that is now so typical for him. And the artist knows how to keep his groove of modern electronic soul & funk going like any funkmaster of the past." Features the previous Farben 12" releases on Klang: "Featuring the Dramatics", "Raw Macro", "Beautone", "Says: Don't Fight Phrases". Limited stock.

JOST, CARSTEN: A Certain Kind 12" (KLANG 067). $9.00

"Carsten Jost is one of Hamburg's most talented and truly most well known DJs and producers of the town's relatively young Techno-musicians-generation. His music is versatile, you can hear great diversity in moods and atmosphere in his tracks as well as romanticism, dedication and passion, maybe a little 'dreaming away.' His counter attack could be brusque (B1 'a certain kind'), damage maybe not avoidable. One from the darker side, but with an enormous strength, outstanding atmosphere and intensity. A real 'Klang'..."

DRYER: 2nd EP 12" (KLANG 068). $9.00

"The continuation of 'sounds from the north' on Klang Elektronik. In Anders Bryngelsson's case this means in no way coldness or darkness — no, it's more like getting tickled from the warming midnight sun. On side one Dryer remains true to a certain Basic Channel-sound. One's really waiting for Tikiman's voice to come in. But Mr. Bryngelsson pleases us with no sweet vocals, so why not do it yourself? Grab the mike and go! Not that we would call for a karaoke competition, but... Side 2 starts more powerful, the tempo is increasing, though 'Grop' is still in a tradition of dub-oriented music. It's in 'Fett Med Skillnad' that Anders is treading new paths."

CORTEJ, ALEX: Reticarga EP 12" (KLANG 069). $9.00

"Alex Cortej should already be known for his releases on Source or Kanzleramt. One of the characteristics of his sound is determined by the use of his 8 bit sound card. Alex Cortej created six parts of a whole for Klang and called them 'Reticarga'. Four of them which are framed by two jazz-influenced miniatures, are reduced tracks built mostly upon one single sequence."

BETRIEB: Schlechte Vorbilder EP 12" (KLANG 071). $9.00

"Wellknown for his work as Autopoesis on Mille Plateaux, his Eckehard Ehlers Plays... series on Staubgold and März on Karaoke Kalk, this is EP features Eckehard Ehlers as Betrieb on Klang Elektronik. On 'Bad Examples' Ehlers presents his modern and forward-looking approach, build upon a very playful and melodious work. Well placed basslines, jumping stoically while you have these shimmering digital particles in the background, floating around your head. It's especially the work with his laptop and small detailed sounds that make Ehlers' compositions stand out."

LUCIANO, LUCIEN N.: Future Senses 12" (KLANG 072). $9.00

"Now this is the first record of the Ricardo Villalobos friend after releases on the Genevan (his adopted city) label Mental Groove for Klang Elektronik. 'Una Cancion' — an airy opening with spanish singsong points the way — at least of the a-side. Lucien keeps on moving pretty cool and loose in 'Lilou Swan'. Now we come to the true hit of the record: 'Future Senses' (feat. Francisca Leon). An echo-drenched work with Francisca's extremely erotic voice. You can find this typical sound made of chopped up mini-parts also in the last track 'Ritmos Estancados'. But you still have a full overall picture."

DESTILLAT: Azur 12" (KLANG 073). $9.00

"It's a great honour to welcome two new guys with their debut on Klang Elektronik! A big warm round of applause for: Destillat with their 'Azur' 12" And they have a brilliant start with 'Super G', a driving dancer with a creaking bassline and a smashing conga. But Kirpacz and Laven step on the gas and pounce on the b-side with verve and a really kicking bass-drum. 'Kaliber' is the name of the track and it's here again that you find this extraterrestrial bass which could have travelled to us straight from the P-Funk universe."

ALTER EGO: The Frigde 12" (KLANG 075). $9.00

"Absolute" first saw the light of day around 1997 as one of the last releases on Harthouse. Because of the label's bankruptcy it sunk without trace... One of the reasons we decided to give this timeless, very concrete and minimal produced track a re-release. The bassdrum thumps a real groove while this acid-like figure massages nicely our synapses. That's why this piece from the 'Klangfabrik' is again and again part of the Alter Ego liveset, cause it's the 'Absolute'."

BERGHEIM 34: Random Access Memory 12" (KLANG 076). $9.00

"Random Access Memory" is one of those catchy songs once heard you can't forget, which of course is due to Anne Vortisch's beautiful singing and such lines as: 'Don't Push Me Cause I'm Close To The Edge' or 'Bakerman Is Baking Bread'... So what's the message of the band? Guess you have to find out yourself... Move D & D-Man start their work on the basis of a very rocking old-school type a beat. Very solid and 'straight in the face.'

CORTEX, ALEX: Huyendo 12" (KLANG 078). $9.00

"Starting with a short small hip hop instrumental (yes yes, y'all!) and ending in a meditative way with Huyendo Pt.6. A2 gives us one of those monotonous tracks that captivates everybody on the dancefloor after 2 minutes. Side 1 finishes a bit more gentle with 'Part 3' — a tune which could easily stand the test of time on any deep house floor. There is a little miniature of sound at the beginning of side 2 before we come to the truly hit of the record — but please switch to 45 rpm on your record player... 'Huyendo Pt.5' makes you shake your limbs right from the start. A fabulous 'house of groove' built by master Cortex! No chance your legs and arms will resist! Well, and as we said before, there's gonna be a quiet ending with 'Part 6'."

DESTILLAT: Regatta 12" (KLANG 080). $9.00

"After their short trip to Playhouse shores with their version of Spektrum's already classic 'Freakbox' track, Alex Kirpacz and Michael Laven are now back in great shape storming onto the wild wild sea of twisted sounds with Regatta. It's true that they already achieved creating a typical Destillat sound — a sound which owes as much to psychedelic as to straight forward percussion orientated groovy tech styles. They don't loose themselves in too warped things — they always keep their eyes on the dancefloor first."

BERGHEIM 34: System 12" (KLANG 081). $9.00

"System' is the choice this time plus a new version of 'Random Access Memory' by Hamburg based 8Doogymoto member Viktor Marek and a very nice treatment of 'Ding Dong' by Farben aka Jan Jelinek. Sounds good? You're right! 'System' is one of those songs you won't forget when you've heard them once. Beautiful pizzicato strings make this track a special adventure in sound. The slightly 'Modern R' n' B' touch is picked up by KRll who delves even deeper into these fields. The guy from Finland twists and twiddles the knobs creating a wicked Dancehall-esque beat. Strike! Viktor Marek pushes 'R.A.M.' into a more -straight-to-the-dancefloor direction which works out very well. Simple but effective... but of course with a lot of charm."

BETRIEB: Sekt 12" (KLANG 082). $9.00

"Part 5 of the Betrieb saga starring no one else than the unmistakable Ekkehard Ehlers with his hands on the keypad of his Mac. 3 Tracks this time dedicated to champagne's little brother, good old German sparkling wine in three variations: with 'Orange' juice, on the rocks ('Auf Eis') and with strawberries ('Erdbeere') — a delicious affair that shows Ehlers in a more straight forward way than usually. Deep House record translated into Ehlers' very special digital language. So get your tickets, buy some popcorn and take your girl/boy to the movies. Betrieb V now playing at your local cinema, uhh... record store."

2 DOLLAR EGG: Graphit 12" (KLANG 083). $9.00

"This one's a debut on Klang Elektronik by two nice guys that named themselves after some very expensive food, eggs especially... Hmm... if that sounds strange to you, you should listen to their music...! They had releases on Zenith subsidiary I220, Nummer Schallplatten and made a remix for Benno Blome's Berlin based Sender so far and originally started in 1992."

ALTER EGO: Rocker (Black Strobe Rmx) 12" (KLANG 084B). $9.00

"Without exaggerating one can say that 'Rocker' is already one of these dancefloor events of 2004. Wolfgang Voigt calls it 'noble techno', DJ Koze says, he didn't experience such reactions since Nirvana's 'Smells Like Teen Spirit' and the limited one-sided 12" went strictly to number 1 in the German Dance Charts. And now it's time for the official release with a remix by French guys Blackstrobe. Ivan Smaghe's project is, together with Tiefschwarz, part of a spearhead of a new sound which the British call Electronic House whereas in Germany it's simply called Rock-Techno. Song structures and a sound that owes much to the eighties but avoids the mistakes made in the nineties gave way for Blackstrobe as the ideal candidate for the remix."

ALTER EGO: Transphormer 3LP (KLANG 085). $21.00

Triple LP version.

FARBEN: Presents the Preset: The Sampling Matter EP 12" (KLANG 086). $10.00

"It's been a long time... — that's what Rakim was rapping some time ago. And it's been also a while that we had the honour to present a new record by Mr. Farben himself, Jan Jelinek. This time he Presents The Presets: The Sampling Matter EP to us. 4 oddly named tracks of warmth and beauty that bear the typical Farben trademark sound featuring 'The Presets': Lorenzo Montana (handclaps), Roco DeStefano (fingersnaps), Pucho 'Eddie' Rivera (whistle) and Rose Bellotte (toms). The first track, 'I don't write the title down this time...' is built upon many different sounds: fingersnaps, pizzicato strings, P-Funk synthesizer stabs, all held together by a nice lullaby-like melody."

ALTER EGO: Transphormer CD (KLANG 11CD). $17.00

"We would like to thank Einstein for his theory of relativity, Edison for the phonograph, Van Gogh for this ear and Alter Ego for being reliable. In times of vast popularity in the field of electronic dance music, Alter Ego focus on consistency in every sense of the word. With superior ease, they couple the most exciting moments of traditional techno with mega hip, state-of-the-art silicon funk. Deeply rooted in tradition, but always with their data glove on the pulse of time, they concentrate on the essentials. Ten specially selected little pieces of art have managed to make it onto Transphormer, all of which mastered their way round the chic obstacle course brilliantly taking purism and hit alarm in their stride. Straightness and a crazed love for detail are what make the difference on this album. Artistic breaks that entice, not force, the listener into a euphoric state. Sophisticated techno 'Made in Frankfurt' which once goes to show how exciting functionality can be."

KLANGBAD (GERMANY):

FAUST: You Know FaUSt LP (KLANG 0169). $17.00

German-only vinyl edition of the 1997 studio album released on CD by ReR. The trio of Zappi Diermaier, Hans Joachim Irmeler & Jean-Hervé Peron.

FAUST: Ravvivando CD (KLANG 36002). $15.00

"Nearly thirty years after rock music briefly flirted with the avant garde, Faust have remained true to the spirit of their early incarnation. Faust also remain switched in to contemporary musical culture, and if the word 'retro' can be applied to them, it is in the good sense of the word; they have not sullied the memory of their former glories by indulging in musical banalities, like so many other veterans of seventies music. Faust is still Faust, and Ravvivando is sound proof of this. Ravvivando is the result of over a year's work in studios. Live Studio Sessions and compositions in Faust-like manner serve as raw material to be constantly reworked. Ravvivando is a term from European creative music and means growing faster, giving life. This music could not be better named. Giving life, cleansing, deconstructing, playing with tradition and modernity, seriousness and humour. Structures are broken down and built up again. Acoustic, electronic, music, noise, harmony, sounds — these terms play no part in Faust's universe. Everything melts together. Everything is one. One great river forges its path recklessly and unfalteringly through a wide, open landscape of sounds. A soundscape that opens countless possibilities for the experimenting musicians and listeners alike. The atmospheric intensity, the radical expression and the startling cacophony of Ravvivando, is not unlike the music on the original album, Faust, from the seventies. Is Faust 'retro' after all? No, this music is timeless. As long as Faust remains ahead of other bands, their influence on future generations of musicians will remain intact and for this reason alone, Faust is more up-to-date today than ever before." — Albert Koch

FAUST: Ravvivando ? Remixed By Soft Cell CD (KLANG 62832). $8.00

"The new single consists of a series of remixes of the track 'Wir brauchen dich' from Ravvivando, all by Dave Ball (Soft Cell/The Grid) and Ingo Vauk. Dave Ball & Co. have managed to showhorn Faust into the Neu! framework. Think 'Motorik Noise'. Think Kraftwerk(!). Think Industrial-Can. Think of it as the single that might put Faust into record collections that have never seen their like before. All pop records should sound like this, only with each one just ever so slightly different so we can tell them apart. Strange to tell, but Ball and Vauk have done a fantastic job. I can't wait for the full Ravvivando remixes album.... But on this evidence there should be a campaign to get Ball & Vauk to do some more remixes."

FAUST: Freispiel LP (KLANG 62891LP). $15.00

LP version.

FAUST: Freispiel CD (KLANG 62892). $14.50

"Faust, the legendary Krautrock band, is back again. In their 31st year they are releasing a remix album, proving once again their timeless importance to the international music scene. This album is a collection of remixes of most tracks from Faust's spectacular masterpiece Ravvivando, released in 1999. Take your time listening to it, and you will get lost in these amazing soundscapes and more dancefloor-tracks of Freispiel. As you might know, musical borders and limits do not exist in the fantastic sound world of Faust. The knowledge about this first Faust-principle was a great challenge for the participating artists of Freispiel. The wide diversity of sounds spans from The Resident's work to the infectious dance grooves by the Sofa Surfers and Soft Cell to deconstructed versions by people like Funkstoerung and Howie B. You will also fall in love with the final track the Canadian band Dead Voices On Air (who had been involved with the Can-solo-projects) made of the Faust-song 'Du weißt schon'. Freispiel shows Faust in a complete new framework and is a must for bothany serious record collector and the urban club-scene of many open-minded people. Wherever you go, in the tube, in the cafe, on the street under water... you will hear the sound of Faust since all sound is potential music, music like Faust's, limitless.. So the unlimited world around us is both the laboratory and the stage for this outstanding German band."

VA: First Steps CD (KLANG 62932). $6.50

"Label compilation featuring unreleased tracks from Faust, Circle, Dälek, and others. If one were to capture the release policy of the Klangbad label in a nutshell, one could say: no stereotypes. It seems that there is no such thing as the typical Klangbad-sound. With Klangbad, Cornelia Paul and Jochen Irmeler have created their own creative biotope. At the core of this creative cell they are themselves. Their built-in studio plays a leading role in all their artistic processes. It's here that Jochen Irmeler together polishes and hones future releases. It is also the place where the dialogue between the artists and their label takes place. Not the 'product' and its marketing according to certain trends are the focus of attention, but the creative process. Like Faust as a band have always done. The research and exploration of new sounds that the band started, is now carried on by the label. So in a way the sound of Klangbad does exist, but not as a fulfillment of stereotypical clichés. On the contrary, it is the incalculable, the non-stereotypical and the surprising element which is at the core of Klangbad's catalogue. Intricate Psychedelia, Rock with a cutting edge, intelligent HipHop, Electronica — the curiosity is boundless and they are not afraid of exploring new horizons. Faust, Circle, Dälek, Ole Lukkoje, Kagaroo Moon and the others: as varied as their individual music may be, everything sounds original and unmistakable. Because boredom is death. Welcome to the sound of Klangbad!"

CIRCLE: Alotus CD (KLANG 62952). $15.00

"Inventors, spacemen, brain surgeons. Ambitious lovers. Music like a sexual act — physical, sensitive, instinctive, experienced. A similarly steady as well as uneven ride through buzzing textures, precisely distorted guitar drones and monochromatic monsters of (dis-)harmonies: this is where Circle are. Alotus, the title of their new album, means as much as first step, but it is only outside of their Scandinavian home worlds that it is such. Before that were ten LPs, a few EPs and several contributions to compilations of an experienced group, which in 1991 first saw the sparse light of the Finnish small town of Pori at the Botnic gulf. The result: a high-dense, at times paradoxical concentrate of shimmering prog-rock, sparkling minimalism and interwoven archaic and uncanny singing in a dialect from somewhere far out. Only the drumming (which distinctly tastes of wood) manages to keep these floating spirits in their orbit. True space rock. Never was there music, which fitted this term better than that of Circle."

FAUST: Edinburgh 1997 CD (KLANG F2). $15.00

Live at the Flux New Music Festival in Edinburgh. "Three weeks of festival, theatre, pantomime, experimental arts and music. In amongst these, Faust: A legend for the connoisseur, with constantly changing sound experiments over the past 25 years. Faust mixes industrial noise with tattered sounds, jazzy harmonies and rock rhythms. Unfettered and minimalist. A concert at a venue resembling a low, hot cave. There is a huge metal sheet in front of the stage beyond the reach of the audience. Guardian: '... an alarming, emotionally exhausting and strangely uplifting ritual and probably the most intense live theatre of the Edinburgh Fringe. Worth selling your soul for, in fact!'"

FAUST: Faust Wakes Nosferatu LP (KLANG FLI 5). $26.00

Limited vinyl version, contains a different performance of the material than the previous CD version. Elaborate triple gatefold packaging.

PELTOLA, MARKKU: Buster Keatonin Ratsutilalla CD (KLANG 025CD). $18.00

"Have you met Markku Peltola? No?! Well, maybe you have but cannot remember. Peltola played the main character in Aki Kaurismäki's prize-winning film The Man Without A Past. On Buster Keatonin Ratsutilalla, guitarist Peltola and his accompanying musicians play a place- and timeless folk music. One just can't tell if these very laid back yet very cleverly arranged pieces have a set form or if they are excerpts from a jam-session. But then maybe Peltola and his cohorts are not so sure themselves. They probably don't care anyway. Their music oscillates solemnly between queer humour and touching melancholy. This music sounds... well, easy, unobtrusive and sparse. Peltola and his band use their means in an extremely economic way. Most of the time, the main melody is played by the violin. With very few notes, it says all there is to say. All other instruments — electric and acoustic guitars, piano, brass and drums — are playing in a very loose formation. Everything remains natural, easy and friendly. Thus the soft percussion grooves and the simple themes and their variations seem almost conclusive. If, in the presence of non-Scandinavians, Peltola claimed that he played traditional Finnish music on this album, he'd probably succeed with it."

KLANGKRIEG PRODUCTIONS (GERMANY):*SONIC DRAGOLGO: Don't Stop The Music CD (KKREIG 06 CD). $15.00

"Kozaburo Narita, so his civil name, seems to have dedicated himself more to the free interpretation of Madonna, the B-52s, Philip Boa, Scooter and the Ramones, and is thus creating a kind of happy-hardcore-melody-punk-rock for the 21st century. The result are catchy songs, enriched with dirty metal guitars, euphoric noise attacks and really thick, hyped-up beats. And this is about to start like anything else for a very long time. In between there are tracks like 'Deep Angel' or 'Emergency Code' which sound like a mixture of Jeff Mills and an eurotrash-club in the suburbs. So his music combines all components of a real Klangkrieg party, too. We have been looking for him, he has found us. Isn't that great?"

VA: American Breakbeat 2 Rebuilt 2CD (KKREIG 09 CD). $16.00

"The Rebuilt-project: musicians from 33 countries remixed the tracks of American Breakbeat. In comparison, American Breakbeat Rebuilt is much more pop, but Klangkrieg would not be Klangkrieg, if we have not recruited musical border crossers for such a mammoth project... at the end listeners will experience a kind of 're-hearing' with many old acquaintances and some surprising new discoveries. Already when we have worked on American Breakbeat, we could not find anything 'typically American'. Referring to Rebuilt, it's very obvious, that finally no stereotype grasps anymore. Electronic music thus proves to be an international code escaping all categories. But — really — who of us needs categories? Although American Breakbeat 2 Rebuilt is kind of conceptual, it first of all promises an unique pleasure for your ears. The two CDs remain floating, while the connection is made between clicks & cuts via really nice electric pop to break core and noisy drones." Remixes by: ES, Borko, Leafcutter John, Ultra Milkmaids, Pastacas, Xploding Plastix, Donnacha Costello, Random Logic, Andreas Tiliander, Belgradeyard Sound System, Ambidextrous, Sonic Dragolgo, Slepicy, Miraq, Chris Wood, Ford Proco, Desertstorm Breakcore Squad, Goem, Rosy Parlana, Fibla, Pimmon, Intricate, Kubik, Epy, Somatic Responses, Com.a, Noize Creator, Panacea, Andrea Benedetti, Mambotur, Ruzina Frankulin, Ammo, Insursion, Vultures. The original artists being remixed include Kid 606, Matmos, Cex, Electric Company, Marumari, many others.

VA: Who Wants To Be A Millionaire CD (KKREIG 15 CD). $17.00

"Guy Mitchelmore (Television- and Media-Composer and proprietor of Music For The Media, 'the world's only distance-learning-course for media-composers') announces a competition: He asks musicians to compose a signature-theme for a new game show and to send it to him. The reward? A free Music For The Media-tutorial for the five best compositions." Artists: Panacea, Harald "Sack" Ziegler, Jayrope, Transformer Di Roboter, Zeitkratzer, Donna Summer, Miniklon, Ekkehard Ehlers, Ekkehrank, Guido Möbius, Noize Creator, Vert, Mondomarc, Chloreschlecht, Francois Sarhan.

MONDOMARC: Sau Ra CD (KKREIG 17CD). $17.00

"On his debut as a solo artist, Mondomarc has widened his stylistic horizon considerably and produced an album that sounds like one of those mixtapes you give a friend for his/her birthday. 100% party-compatible electro-killer-tunes, experimental sound-play, straight songs, sprawling electronic follies and determined HipHop result in an out and out homogeneous style-clash, or — to put in a nutshell: a modern pop album. On this album, Marc has been supported by his Mondo Fumatore-colleague Gwendolin, Kat Cosm-chief Sebastian Skalei and Derick Rhodes aka Ladyboy, singer with Solarscape."

COM.A & DATACH'I: Connected#3 12" (KKREIG KK10). $9.00

"No. 3 of the 'Connected'-series is again bringing together two remarkable musicians of the current electronic scene: Joseph Fraioli aka Datch'i and Age Yoshida, better known as Com.a. After releasing two furious lonplayer on Caipirinha, Datch'i back with brandnew material: 'Triangular acid and lipstick stain concerto for computers opus 125 in d minor' is a fast breakbeat track which starts with fluttering violin sounds and goes on working its way along a rumbling acidline. Com.a from Tokyo can be seen as the founder of a new sub-genre, best described as 'euphoric idm'. In his special energetic style both of his tracks are tumbling lively forward, accompanied by cheerful melodies."

KLANGKUNST EDITION (GERMANY):*NIEHUSMANN, FRANK: Fragrance 1-4 4CD (KLANG 3/5). $38.00

"Fragrance: Electronic music in four parts on four CDs. Each of the four parts is a complete composition in itself. Fragrance, however, is also suitable for playing via all four CDs running concurrently through eight loudspeakers: whoever has access to four CD players and four stereo units can play the Fragrance CDs one through four almost parallel to each other. Exact synchronization is not necessary. Playing with non-synchronization opens up new possibilities. Four CD players with automatic replay functions can make Fragrance into a sound installation of indefinite length. The musical character of Fragrance is like the structure of aroma: you cannot locate the beginning or end point of an aroma in a room. It's more like this: the beginning and the end of 'things' that happen in fragrance are wiped out — blurred. This is analogous to many natural phenomena: they are missing clear on/off structures. Outside of all frontiers of rhythm and harmony is pure sound."

KLEPTONES (UK):*TOYDEATH: Locked Grooves LP (KLEP ??). $12.00

"On the ever mysterious Kleptones label comes a new piece of vinyl, taking plunderphonics again a step further: a do-it-yourself piece of plunderphonics, cut into many locked grooves for the more adventurous DJs."

KLING KLANG/EMI (GERMANY):*KRAFTWERK: Expo 2000 CD (EMI 8879842). $11.00

"Title track of Expo 2000 live in Hannover." First new material in 13 years, a 23-minute EP with four mixes of the title track. CD is packaged in a nice 3CD jewel case sleeve, limited to 50,000 copies!. Tracklisting: 1 Expo2000 Kling Klang Mix 2000 2 Expo2000 Kling Klang Mix 2001 3 Expo2000 Kling Klang Mix 2002 4 Expo2000 radio Mix The Radio Mix is exclusive to this release and not found on the US edition on Astralwerks.

KRAFTWERK: Expo 2000 12" (EMI 8879846). $11.00

12" vinyl version.

KRAFTWERK: Expo Remix CD (EMI 8896122). $9.00

Remixes of the acclaimed 1999 comeback single, "Expo 2000". Tracklisting: 1. Orbital Mix 2. Francois K & Rob Rives Mix 3. DJ Rolando Mix 4. Underground Resistance Mix 5. UR Infiltrated Mix 6. UR Thought 3 Mix. The Orbital mix is a functional track, but the most glossed over mix here. Kevorkian's mix is deep and electro-influenced. But having 4 UR remixes on a Kraftwerk single is what really puts this into the stratosphere. Adding "Jaguar" style splashes and a riveting new vocal line ("They Soul Electric: Detroit...They Soul Electric: Germany"), DJ Rolando's mix is flat out stunning and might take on "Jaguar"-like proportions itself in 2001. Thanks to Florian and Ralf for all the excitement.

KRAFTWERK: Expo 2000 Remix 2x12" (EMI 8896126). $12.00

Double vinyl version, same 6 mixes as on the CD.

KRAFTWERK: The Mix CD (EMI 96650). $24.00

A 1991 remix album of greatest hits. The "music data mix" is performed by Ralf Hutter, Florian Schneider & Fritz Hilpert. An interesting update of various classic tracks like "Autobahn," "Trans Europa Express," "Die Roboter," etc. into the 90s techno soundprint. Somewhat dismissed by purists, but if you accept it for what it is, a curious enough listen.

KNIT CLASSICS:*CREATIVE MUSIC STUDIO: Woodstock Jazz Festival 2 CD (KCR 3009). $14.00

Chick Corea (piano), Jack DeJohnette (drums), Lee Konitz (alto sax), Miroslav Vitous (bass). Recorded at Woodstock NY, 9/19/81. Same line up & recording date as above with the additions of: Pat Metheny (guitar) & Anthony Braxton (alto sax). Limited stock.

ALI, RASHIED QUARTET/QUINTET: Moon Flight CD (KCR 3023). $14.00

James Vass (alto saxophone), Charles Eubanks (piano), Benny Wilson (bass), Marvin Blackman (tenor saxophone), Rashied Ali (drums). "Moon Flight evokes the spirit and inspiration of John Coltrane, for which Rashied held the drum chair from 1965 to 1967. This band is ready, but not rough, strong but not clumsy, gentle and lyric but not punkish. It is a band that projects joy, power, and sensuality. Rashied Ali has recorded and performed with jazz greats such as Albert Ayler and John Coltrane. Recorded in NYC 8/26/75."

WILSON & BOND STREET, JOE LEE: What Would It Be Without You CD (KCR 3024). $14.00

Part of Rashied Ali's Survival label reissue series. "It's hard to believe that What Would It Be Without You is the first US release from this great jazz vocalist. This 1977 recording is a long overlooked jazz gem highlighted with a warmth reminiscent of the best of jazz offerings. Working with a band featuring Monty Waters on sax, Ryo Kawaski on guitar, Ronnie Boykins on bass, George Avaloz on drums and Rashied Ali on congas; he has created a time-piece that remains a classic."

ALI FEATURING ROYAL BLUE, RASHIED: NY Aint So Bad/Ally Plays the Blues CD (KCR 3025). $14.00

"Royal Blue, who hails from Texas, is well versed in the deep tradition of the blues, from John Lee Hooker to Big Joe Turner and Joe Williams. As this tradition dictates, Blue knows the terrain of hard, urban living. New York Ain't So Bad is a collective sharing of what both the traditional and modern blues experience is all about. It paints an ornate tapestry of melancholy blues with the ever fluid foundation of Ali's incredible poly-rhythmic free jazz drumming. It is a celebration of the spontaneous expressive creations of musicians at their prime of soulful and musical growth as they pushed the blues to a level which no one has explored previously. Combining the basic structure of the blues as a foundation to launch explorations of free improvisation, Rashied Ali and Royal Blue have perfected a new genre: free New York blues. New York Ain't So Bad was partially a studio record and partially a live record. It was recorded at an August 1975 party during a live set at Ali's Alley (Rashied's own jazz club) and after the doors to the Alley had closed the bar was converted into a studio. Royal Blue was a regular musician at Ali's Alley, whom Rashied now remembers as 'the greatest young blues singer I have ever heard.' This is the only record on which Royal Blue had ever appeared before his mysterious murder by his brother-in-law. Blue sang about the turbulence of love and women, and his songs were autobiographical laments. Ali came from a blues background and found it a challenge to combine the soulfulness of blues with the free improvisation of jazz."

ALI/LEROY JENKINS DUO, RASHIED: Swift Are The Winds of Life CD (KCR 3026). $14.00

"Created by two master 'free jazz' players in the context of the duet, a simple concept based on musicianship. As John Coltrane pointed out, Rashied Ali is 'one of the great drummers'. Ali is an improviser and composer exploring polyrhythmic worlds while adding texture to the melody. LeRoy Jenkins plays the violin with sweet precision that dances with Ali's drumming. Jenkins sounds like he's been inspired more by the likes of horn players such as Albert Ayler and Sonny Rollins than by any string player."

KOCH:*STEREOLAB: ABC Music...The Radio 1 Sessions 2CD (KOCH 8623). $17.00

"As there is no 'Best Of' Stereolab record available, this outstanding collection of studio quality live recordings by the prolific group featuring their best known songs may be accurately considered such. ABC Music...The Radio 1 Sessions is both a wonderful Stereolab primer for anyone looking to find out more about the band and an essential document of their considerable accomplishments for completists."

KODAMA:*MANDELL, JACOB: Underling CD (KODAMA 02). $13.50

"Underling is about edges — those between sound and space, time and place. Underling will set you on a pier overlooking a thousand oceans and ten thousand continents. It will transform you into a single point where all the countless micro-things surrounding you are on a universal scale. Listen with a microscope or telescope. Underling rides the boundary between instantaneous and infinite. Using an interconnected feedback path with several banks of parallel processors that resemble a subway map of Tokyo. This album is the second in a series of twelve releases on Jake Mandell's own Kodama label. With acclaimed releases on Force Inc/Mille Plateaux, Worm Interface, Carpark, and Beta Bodega, Mandell has established himself as one of the leading electronic producers. Recording under his given name for this series, Jake advances his exploration of contrast between his trademark ultra-programming and the micro-minimalism established in Healing and continuing now with Underling."

VA: Across The Cell Wall CD (KODAMA 13). $13.50

"The Lineup: Stewart Walker, Kid 606, Mannequin Lung, Kevin Blechdom, Twerk, Richard Devine, Jake Mandell, Brian Tester, Arovane, Unit, Safety Scissors. The Assignment: A wall is a barrier, a border, a boundary. The unsuitably named 'Cell Wall' is actually a constantly shifting dynamism. Known to biochemists as a Fluid Mosaic, this fascinating membrane is more than a divider between cells. It is a transport system, air traffic control, highway network, and a police force. Countless proteins, hormones, nutrients and toxins are processed, passed, and shuffled around by the ever-moving membrane that encompasses each cell into an ovoid, providing the mechanism which allows trillions of cells to link together into a higher organism. You are invited to play a little game of imagination. You are a tiny point, perhaps the size of a small molecule such as nitrous oxide or water. Your assignment is to write a song/track/sound as you pass through this vastly complicated biochemical machine — the cell wall. Your submission should hint at the wonder, the uncalculably complex nature, and the simple elegance of the cell wall, from the perspective of a tiny molecule."

The Results: Every cell of the same type is virtually identical, yet somehow trillions of cells link together to create infinitely unique individuals. Likewise, all eleven of the world-class musicians who were asked to participate in this assignment had dynamically different visions of what it would be like to pass through a cell wall. The results are not always easy listening — but then again, that is why this breathtaking lineup was chosen: Stewart Walker takes a break from his world-touring techno regime to create a different sort of fluttering rhythm. After teasing us with the beautiful Carpark Soccergirl EP, Kid 606 once again shows us that molecular biology is part of his gentler side. Mannequin Lung amazingly still manages to make proteins sound like sine-jazz. Kevin Blechdom puts her laptop through a 300 rpm pirouette and records it trying to maintain its balance. Twerk explores the beauty of contemplation. Richard Devine makes the most un-Richard Devine track possible: for him the Cell is stability. Jake Mandell uses only one sound, a sound with a surprising origin that is revealed at the end. Brian Tester resynopsates the 15/16 time signature into a recombinant autonomy. Arovane recalls the fluctuation of an intracellular dust storm, while Unit's winds whip across rhizomes with a howl. Safety Scissors sings about sliding across to another side. Or maybe not — you can interpret each interpretation in countless ways."

DETINGER: Oasis LP (KOM 022LP). $12.00

LP version, full color sleeve.

EHLERT & LOHBERGER: Vito EP 12" (KOM 023EP). $8.00

"Nice varied six tracker with some live sounding minimal percussion and those falling-down-the-steps kind of filters pads and chord stabs we associate (and love) coming from blokes like Vladislav Delay & Cristian Vogel. There's a house-tempo hip hop track, one that uses what sounds like the Casio home console rhumba preset over some deep pulse, one with this cool record-scratch shift type effect, even one in 3! Pretty progressive stuff from Kompakt, which is saying something far greater..." — Hrvatski.

GUENTNER, MARKUS: Regensburg 12" (KOM 024EP). $8.00

"Three slow burners on the GAS-eous tip, rhythmic but beatless (no kicks to speak of) long tones and hoth-like drones. Reminiscent of Various Artists' epics '8', '9' in spots. Very cool, an interesting (but not necessarily non-sensical) choice for a Kompakt release." — Hrvatski.

MAYER, MICHAEL: Pensum 12" (KOM 025EP). $8.00

"Who still dares to believe in this guy? 3 tight techtrax for the 00's."

SPIETH, JOACHIM: You Don't Fool Me 12" (KOM 026EP). $8.00

"Two years after his debut release 'Abi 99' (Kompakt 5) and his respected album Fluchtpunkt on Oni:tor, Joachim Spieth returns to his Cologne homebase. 'You Don't Fool Me' marks a new step in his young career. His sound became much tighter and sexier. Follow the subtle development of the A1 techno track and be amazed like we were when the funk embraces you from behind. On the flipside you'll be surprised to find two brilliant pop ambient gems. Especially the second track surely makes you wanna do a somersault — like the first touch of your teenage love. Ready for a romance?"

LAMAS, GUSTAVO: Mañana 12" (KOM 027EP). $8.00

"What is beautiful? Flowers, butterflies, diamonds, fluffy clouds, sunset, Kylie Minogue.... and Pop Ambient! Especially if it comes from Buenos Aires' finest: Gustavo Lamas. Already known for his fantastic releases on Traum (Cologne) and Fragil Discos (Argentina) he now presents his guest performance for Kompakt. Amazing dreamy textures layered around a subliminal groove. 'Manana' means tomorrow. It seems like there's a vision of a better one on the other side of this planet. Hi-tech-kitsch for all people that are sick of depressive IDM stuff. Call your friends. Turn off your radiator. Turn on your stereo. Dance in the sheets. Love is in the air."

BERING, JONAS: Emballages 12" (KOM 028EP). $8.00

"Great EP between kickin' bassdrivin techtrax and fluffy harmonic stuff. Kompakt invites you to a visit to beautiful smalltown lille, next to the belgian border. This is where Jonas Bering develops his unique warm-sounding techgrooves already impressively shown on his debut album Bienfait in summer 2000. With his new EP Emballages he takes a step further by adding some more catchy melodies and unconventional rhythmic structures to his lovely deep drowning textures. Each of the five tracks is creating a sort of exciting restlessness — stepping on the gas with the handbrake locked. This is prototype minimaltechno for 2001. New economy rave for overcrowded clubs. This is oxygen."

FUNKE, SASCHA: Drei Auf Drei 12" (KOM 029EP). $8.00

"As Sascha is a native (East-) Berliner, deeply involved in technohouse history from the very beginning, he can hardly staty with his already achieved knowledge of producing funky Cologne-style techtrax. His third release for Kompakt testifies the restless effort of this young talent — still hungry and on the hunt for excitement and progression. The epic A1 track touches the dancer's heart with it's dreamy pop feel. There's another brilliant rocking techno piece on the flipside reminding us of Funke's friendly relationship to Berlin's fresh Bpitch Control-outlet."

VA: Speicher 1 12" (KOM 030EP). $8.00

"The legendary cologne-based techno label Kompakt celebrates its 30th release with this stunning and ultra-energetic four-tracker that represents every musical style from 'Pop-Ambient' to 'Schaffel'." Featuring: Jürgen Paape, M. Mayer, Superpitcher, Auftrieb.

LOHMANN, ULF: Because 12" (KOM 031EP). $8.00

"Ulf Lohmann, the newcomer of the year. From the deepest suburbs of Cologne, he spreads his musical message around The world. Resistance is futile. His music disarms even the unarmed. Innocence has become sound — unservingly pure and beautiful. Like the electronic immaculate conception Truthful as love itself. So, leave the container and enter into the paradise of active oblivion. Shut up, you real world! Here comes Ulf Lohmann, here comes Pop Ambient 2001."

SCHAELEN & VOSS: Ach Komm 12" (KOM 032EP). $8.00

"What should we say about guys like Schaeelen & Voss? It's completely embarrassing to release records by such nasty bastards that never fasten their safety belts while chasing in their roaring Honda Civic Turbo through cologne's Pedestrian precinct. Mothers are crying for their young girls, a protestant youth centre moves to another neighbourhood and even dogs refuse to do their business in front of their apartment. But though we love them! And so will you if you once listened to this amazingly fresh and wild new 3 Tracks on 'Ach Komm'. The a-side is what we call Seattle Techno: Ultraphat askicking freaky chainsaw-driven techno with a snotty attitude and dark sexy whispering vocals. Purest typical Schaeelen & Voss — rockers to burn the floors. The long track on the b-side will surprise you with it's incredibly intimate atmosphere and a huge housey bassline to carry you through 8 minutes of sheer ecstasy. What a tune. It touches you to the quick and will leave you with a slightly red face."

VOIGT, REINHARDT: A.S.P. 12" (KOM 033EP). $8.00

"Another real monstrous clubbomb by our man Reinhard Voigt. Known for his works on the legendary Profan label and numerous releases on Mille Plateaux, Force Inc., Harvest & Auftrieb, he's now back with his most smashing techno production to date! 'A.S.P.' carries three straight ahead tunes without mercy apart from the usual 'toolism'. This one's without a doubt the meanest & hardest release on Kompakt today."

ALL: Alltag 1-4 12" (KOM 034EP). $8.00

"Shimmering soundscapes — clear and pure like a rock crystal — are weightlessly floating uphill — straight into the disco of your heart.... All is all over between laptop, ABBA and the twin brother of Gas. All is Wolfgang Voigt and after a number of releases on Profan/Kreisel 99/Mille Plateaux, now finally on Kompakt. Pop Ambient's treasure chest has got a new jewelry. Another milestone on Kompakt's special way — no sublabel necessary. It's all about getting the ambient variation of techno out of the eternal chillout room of oblivion. And to make it the musical focus. All is pop using techno."

SUPERPITCHER: Heroin 12" (KOM 035EP). $8.00

"Superpitcher is Aksel Schaufler who is resident DJ at the Total Confusion club in Cologne's legendary studio 472 among Michael Mayer and Tobias Thomas. After his storming contribution for Speicher 1 and a remix for Contriva's club hit 'Monika' which became one of the hottest moments during the last cold winter nights he presents his new beautiful record 'Heroin' for heights of this season. Kompakt is his work place, technopop his mission — watch out — you'll get addicted!"

VA: 4 Remixe Für The Modernist 12" (KOM 036EP). $8.00

"Let's talk about schizophrenia. One of the most exciting achievements of electronic music's history is the artist's possibility to be more than one person without having to go to the doctor's. Au contraire, Kompakt's new release is able to show you the excellent advantages for the one affected by and the whole society. The situation: person A gets remixed by the persons B, C, D & E. Person A is also person F & G & H. As the persons B, C, D & E all live in the same body (person J) it took the Kompakt people only one phone call to organize the whole remix-orgy. Great, isn't it? Legend: person A = The Modernist; person B = Wassermann; person C = All; person D = Freiland; person E = Auftrieb; person F = The Bionaut; person G = Geometric Farms; person H = Jörg Burger; person J = Wolfgang Voigt."

RAUMSCHMIERE, T.: Musick 12" (KOM 037EP). $8.00

"Those of you who were drawn into the 'Bolzplatz EP' surely want to take part in this round, too. On 'Musick', bone-dry beats and neck-breaking, 'knarzing' sequences are placing the ball precisely under the bar. Berlin-based T. Raumschmiere aka Marco Haas demonstrates another time his immense floor-affinity. His first-class releases on the Sender label and his own label Shitkatapult, and last but not least his fat live gigs have made him the very king of new German shuffle-techno."

VOIGT, REINHARD: Hier Und Jetzt 12" (KOM 038EP). $8.00

"Those who never experienced how it feels when the bass hits you with 10.000 Watt will unfortunately never understand a record like this. But if you ever and hopefully still enjoy this phenomenon then we got some great news for you. Reinhard Voigt is back after his fantastic 'a.s.p.' which is still played out by the likes of Ellen Allien, DJ Hell, Sven Väth... The A-side of 'Hier Und Jetzt' (here and now) brings you a real killer. Fat rave signals and an extra-tight groove will delight all fans of hard banging techno. On the flip Reinhard adds a good portion of what we call soul to it. High class deep pumping harder cologne techno. Don't miss this 220 gramm of pure energy."

KAITO: Beautiful Day 12" (KOM 039EP). $8.00

"No long time ago the Kompakt people were sitting in their sun-heated office thinking about the good old days when tracks like Humate's 'Love Stimulation' or Energy 52's 'Cafe Del Mar' were played everywhere and loooooove was in the air ...That was then but this is now. No nostalgia but a wish rose up: We want nu trance! All at a sudden the postman dropped a little package containing some tracks by the Tokyo-based artist Kaito aka Hiroshi Watanabe who also releases under his Aqua guise on the well known Japanese Frogman imprint. Still captured by the 1993's trance euphoria his music made everybody at Kompakt feel like: 'yeah, this is it!' The perfect mixture between Kompakt's minimal style and good ingredients of classic trance. The title track 'Beautiful Day' is a slamming masterpiece with a little kitsch inside while 'air rider' on the flip will surely be the royal flash in every DJ set. Brilliantly arranged catchy goose pimple techno at its best. Love is back in town. Please file this record under: Hymn!"

VA: Kompakt Total 3 2LP (KOM 040LP). $14.50

Double vinyl version. As is usually the case with these Kompakt Total comps, many of the tracks are exclusive and not found on the corresponding CD version. This vinyl version features non-CD tracks by: Peter Grummich, Superpitcher, Sascha Funke, Schaebe & Voss, Dettinger & Lawrence. Also appearing, as on the CD: Closer Musik, The Modernist, Jürgen Paape, M. Mayer, Reinhard Voigt.

LAWRENCE: Teaser 12" (KOM 041EP). $8.00

"He has repeatedly become remarkable due to his remarkable repetitions and this record overdue. Absolutely. His home is Dial, a label based in Hamburg. A rip-roaring one. Lawrence-techno is poetry, poetry as a kind of resistance against- and for- the -what is up to you. And so is your hairdo. This record definitely proves that laptop-technopop not necessarily has to be a finger exercise for programmers — it can be as real as life and love, and as sexy and groovy as yourself."

GUENTNER, MARKUS: In Moll 2LP (KOM 042LP). $14.50

Double vinyl version.

GRUMMICH, PETER: Schleusen Auf 12" (KOM 043EP). $8.00

"With Peter Grummich's new record, an (more or less and so far) unknown artist steps out into the public light. But did someone say 'unknown' here? Actually, he's not really unknown. Over the past few years, he has released a number of records under various pseudonyms. Characteristic of him is the clever way he assembles complex, rhythmic elements to form incredible kicking grooves and intelligent techno tracks that generate a kind of soul out of their brute beauty. or, in other words: Peter Grummich is Lawrence's low-down, big brother. Irresistible also his talent to interweave abstract sounds together thus creating a buzzing whole. New techno, new funk, new soul. On with the show."

VOIGT, REINHARD: Im Wandel Der Zeit 2LP (KOM 044LP). $14.50

Double LP version.

KAITO: Everlasting 12" (KOM 045EP). $8.00

"Soul-petting almost spiritual neotrance by our Japanese superhero. Perfect mixture of typical Kompakt-style, early nineties trance & soul (?!). Outstanding release with lovely 4-color-sleeve. Let yourself be loved."

GWOSDZ, THOMAS: Ring Frei 12" (KOM 046EP). $8.00

"Gong! The first round. Direct and straight forward. No tactical skirmish. The vibes are hot. The crowd is raving. Gwosdz starts punching with his legendary A-side. Rough, straight and hard. Followed by salvos of deep hits in sewing-machine tempo. His opponent would better watch out for not going straight onto the dance floor. Gong! The second round. Gwosdz starts with his dreaded schaffel tactics. Much discussed and often copied. But now, it's only about the moment Gwosdz arranges the killer break. The opponent's resistance has almost reached vanishing-point. Gong! You can hardly stand it anymore. Gwosdz again shows his crudest hooks and combinations. For him, it's like a gala performance. His opponent tries to take refuge in the lockgroove. But it's too late now. Thomas Gwosdz is new heavyweight champion. He grew up in Wiesbaden. His career has started at clubs like Basement and Schlachthof. Still resounding throughout the land is his first EP 'push' (Braintist and Schnittstelle)? Produced in co-operation with sparing partner Peter Grummich alias Lee Anderson. Nobody and nothing will stop this guy!"

LOHMANN, ULF: Before 12" (KOM 047EP). $8.00

The 2nd Lohmann 12" on Kompakt. "Five tracks, pure and beautiful like the electronic virgin birth plus one monstrous clubtrack. Worth mentioning is the A-side of the maxi: a most kicking rectanglebassline monstertrack for the dance-floor which stands — as grim and straddle-legged as the bouncer of your favourite club — in front of the gate to paradise of active oblivion."

BERING, JONAS: Marine 12" (KOM 048EP). $8.00

"Four smart grooving minimaltechno sculptures from Lille, France."

KÖHNCKE, JUSTUS: Jet/ShelterJet (M. Mayer Mix) 12" (KOM 049EP). $8.00

"The dream of flying is as old as mankind. But what's left is a daily jet race. The airspace is completely jammed. I repeat: The airspace is jammed! And it's vast, the airspace! That's why Kompakt tower has decided to better reroute Justus Köhncke's virtual supersonic jet into the club. First tests have proved highly satisfactory flight qualities and a 100 percent guarantee against pressure drops on the dance floor. A real turbo-blast by the ex-Whirlpool! Fit to loop the loop, too, though in a less vertiginous tuning, the remix by M. Mayer, who cuts down the energy consumption by 50 percent and doubles the propulsive force. And it goes without saying — at constant aerodynamic. When it comes to 'Shelter', there's nothing more to add than this track crushes 'Marmor, Stein Und Eisen' (english: marble, stone and iron...), and that love is back on firm ground again."

VA: Pop Ambient 2002 LP (KOM 050LP). $12.00

LP version. Same 9 tracks as found on the CD. Artists: Tal, Triola, www.jz-arkh.co.uk, Donnacha Costello, Dettinger, Novisad, Ulf Lohmann, Markus Guentner, All.

FEHLMANN, THOMAS: Whistle 12" (KOM 051EP). $8.00

"A single sheet of paper would hardly be enough to describe who is this Thomas Fehlmann and how wonderful his new record. Though you could also expect that everyone knows that this guy from Switzerland is one of the most dazzling figures in German pop culture and Pioneer electronic pop music. As a member of Palais Schaumburg, he side-parted punk and catapulted German pop music out of its impossibility. At times when the toilets at Tresor were new, Thomas Fehlmann and Moritz von Oswald, both used to shake hands with Detroit Techno. He was co-producer of outstanding albums e.g. by Blake Baxter and Eddie Flashin Folwkes, and later, with the Orb, he became chill-out-history. To cut a long story short, in the last two and a half decades Thomas Fehlmann has taken part in the decisive revolutions of music and sound and now, with 'Whistle', he comes back and on to the dance-floor in a most impressive way. Fehlmann 2002 breathes in the hippest sounds of the jetzt-zeit and breathes out a perfect EP which proves that he is still in touch with today's club culture. The A-side 'Making It Whistle' combines textures of clicks and cuts with pressure and soulful techhouse. 'Gratis' takes up the shuffle fever theme and flirts with happy ska tendencies and 'Luftkuss' forms the glamorous ambient end."

CLOSER MUSIK: You Don't Know Me 12" (KOM 052EP). $8.00

"Cologne based Kompakt label releases this appetizer from the soon to come Closer Musik album After Love. 'You Don't Know Me' is a very dark and subtle mixture of Minimal Techno, Electro and Pop with very sexy vocals by Closer's Matias Aguayo and definite underground hit qualities."

GUENTNER, MARKUS: Regensburg / Remix 12" (KOM 053EP). $8.00

"New 12" from Kompakt's Markus Guentner featuring four tracks of orchestral ambient style Minimal House. The title track is included in two remix versions, one by Wolfgang Voigt aka Gas and one by Michael Mayer."

KÖHNCKE, JUSTUS: 2 After 909 12" (KOM 054EP). $8.00

"After his glorious start at Kompakt with the 12inch 'Jet/Shelter' (which is already proofed to be a real club banger) he now comes up with a mouthwatering new one taken from his album Was Ist Musik. The track on the A-side, '2 after 909', is definitely a homage to 'Metro Area 4', one of the groundbreaking consense records in 2001. Köhncke destils and synthesises the funk. The result: it's minimal, it's retro-modern, it's ecstatic. In other words: It's a real bomb! The track on the B-side features a prominent guest of the German pop music scene: Tocotronic's Dirk von Lowtzow. Dirk and Justus, singing a duet, dash forward with the track 'Weil du mich verstehst' (engl. 'Because you know me') and straight into our hearts. It's a ballad. It's about love ... an ode to the children of the night."

CLOSER MUSIK: After Love 2LP (KOM 055LP). $14.50

Double LP version.

KAITO: Awakening 12" (KOM 056EP). $8.00

"The sun is shining again and so are the records. Summer is not far. But what would summer be like without any hymns? Kaito, Kompakt's man in the far east, nips this question in the bud and comes up with his new record 'Awakening'. With only 2 releases, Kaito has managed to conquer the hearts of Techno-germany. 'Beautiful Day' and 'Everlasting', both records have styled a new sound, a style, DJs as well as any kind of record collectors could agree upon. The buzzword: neo-trance. It's trance without any bad breath or fluorescent tubes, it's pure and fresh. It's gentle euphoria. For a better Ibiza. For a splendid summer of love 2002."

KÖHNCKE, JUSTUS: Was Ist Musik? 2LP (KOM 057LP). $14.50

Double LP version.

VOIGT, REINHARD: Jetzt Erst Recht 12" (KOM 058EP). $8.00

"Superelegant minimaltechno with a slight acid touch and weird noises. Total confusion!"

VOIGT, REINHARD: Recht Erst Jetzt 12" (KOM 059EP). $8.00

"We are extremely pleased to complete the first half of 2002 with a real energetic double-banger produced by Reinhard Voigt, one of Kompakt's co-founders and now honorary member. His track on 'Speicher 2' (Kompakt Extra 2), which is far from any revival or retro mood, keeps on rocking the dancefloors and is another prove of Voigt's antenna for strong minimal techno burners. His twin releases 'Jetzt erst recht' and 'Recht erst jetzt', keep the energy level, but replaces the hefty elements in favour of uplifting and acid-ish sequences. The flawless breaks and the fab, fat sound, both make the twins not only a must-have tool for any modern DJ but also a big event in our fun society. Acid heads go!"

VA: Total 4 2LP (KOM 060LP). $14.50

Double LP version, 9 tracks. Artists included on vinyl version: Autobiachi, Freiland, Jürgen Paape, Schaebe & Voss, Thomas Fehlmann, Reinhard Voigt, Justus Köhncke, M.Mayer, Superpitcher. Vinyl exclusive tracks from: Schaebe & Voss, Fehlmann.

KLIMEK: Milk & Honey 12" (KOM 061EP). $8.00

PAAPE, JURGEN: So Weit Wie Noch Nie 12" (KOM 062EP). $8.00

"The original version of this gorgeous schlager techno track, released in august 2001 on Kompakt's Total 3, would put a smile on a lot of people's faces. Apart from the reworked original version, you'll get two sensational remixes: The one from frankfurt's high-esthete, super hipster, club- and label-owner with a three-letter name: Ata. Since the very beginning, his Playhouse label has always been a guarantee for finest german House music. It's his first (!) remix ever and his first studio work since the legendary first Playhouse release 'Holy Garage' in 1993. The 'Playhouse Mix' turns the original version into a mega-hip, late-night monster and reminds a bit of the great Larry Levan and Metro Area's congenious adaption of early-80s disco music. The 'Robert Johnson' club is going down on its knees. Wonderful. The other remix comes from one of Kompakt's in-house pioneers of pop ambient: it's Olaf Dettinger. Who didn't want to miss this chance and has interrupted his creative pause only for doing this wonderful 'Moonlight Mix'. Dettinger's cosy hi-tech sounds and Sonja Luebke's seraphic voice, both singing a duet to the moon. Very, very beautiful, indeed."

SCHAEBE & VOSS: So Diebst Du Aus 12" (KOM 063EP). $8.00

"Devastatingly rocking techno by our favourite go-getters. Highly entertaining clubfood."

FEHLMANN, THOMAS: Streets Of Blah 12" (KOM 064EP). $8.00

"Pretaster to Thomas Fehlmann's upcoming new album Visions Of Blah. After being a member of German Post-Dada combo Palais Schaumburg in the early 80ies, Thomas Fehlmann dug deep into the German Techno and Electro scene and created new and exciting music ever since. With his new 12" Fehlmann shows that he still stays ahead and melts elements from House, Pop, Dub and Electronica into something that is purely Fehlmann music."

KAITO: Special Life 2LP (KOM 065LP). $14.50

Double LP version.

SUPERPITCHER: Yesterday 12" (KOM 066EP). $8.00

"In Superpitcher's case, the past is 'Tomorrow', an unpretentious, little Song on his 'Heroin' EP, released on Kompakt in 2001. A track which has already broken innumerable hearts, decorated a number of compilations and found admirers from all over the world. And now, it's the elegant uptempo version of 'More Tomorrow' which encroaches the dancefloors and ranges among this summer's great superpitched moments (just listen to the gorgeous remixes he did for Plug Research's DNTL, Cocoon's 'Glove' and his tracks for Speicher 4' and Total 4. Apart from the clubby track 'More Heroin', the B-side also features the brilliant 'Time To Cry', a track which not only follows in the footsteps of 'Tomorrow' as far as the B2-positioning is concerned. At present, there isn't anybody or anything who would be able to occupy more convincingly the interface between indiepop and techno than Superpitcher. This is real glam!"

FEHLMANN, THOMAS: Visions Of Blah LP (KOM 067LP). $12.00
LP version.

KÖHNCKE, JUSTUS: Was Ist Musik ? Remix 12" (KOM 068EP). $8.00

"Everybody's darling-track 'Was Ist Musik?' taken from the most successful album of the same name by Justus Köhncke starts to conquer the dancefloor. After all the worldwide craziness his maxi singles 'Jet' and '2 After 909' have caused, here is finally a fat extended club version and an instrumental version of his track 'Was Ist Musik?'. When talking about german acid schlager music, we also have to mention Wassermann aka Wolfgang Voigt — the sole pioneer of this genre. In his famous Grungerman-tradition (see remixes he did for Andreas Dorau/Ladomat), he comes up with two chic minimal acid remixes: the one as dry as dust, very pure and structured, the other a real pumping hammer which, and that's for sure, will set your local club on fire."

FRESCO, LEANDRO: Amor Internacional 12" (KOM 069EP). $8.00

"Buenos aires has its own flair and there's hardly any city in the world that can compete with its spirit of urban beauty. It's full of lightness, melancholy and cosiness which makes it a perfect place for sound artists like Leandro Fresco, vital element around key people of Buenos Aires' electronic music scene like Leo Garcia or Gustavo Lamas. Leandro's music is like his town. His style seems to be purely emotional or emotionally pure. The spirituality inherent in his music pervades marble, stone and iron. His record 'Amor Internacional' features a fine little club hit called 'Cero Uno': a track which reminds you of Adamski's 'Killer' groove with mind-blowing harmonies that will ruffle up your hackle and make it swing and dance. A real must-have for lovers of stylish entertainment and more sophisticated 80ies sounds a la DFA or Playgroup. The three other tracks of 'Amor Internacional' are floating in the seventh heaven of pop ambient music, a heaven that above Buenos Aires in particular sounds to be full of violins. Despite recession or just because..."

MAYER, MICHAEL: Speaker 12" (KOM 070EP). $8.00

"Two new tracks from Kompakt's very own Michael Mayer that mingle the Cologne Sound with Chicago. Very straight and kicking."

VA: Pop Ambient 2003 LP (KOM 071LP). $12.00

Single LP version; 6 of the 10 tracks found on the CD (Grummich, Guentner, All, Klimek, Triola, Lohmann).

VOIGT, REINHARD: How We Rock 12" (KOM 072EP). $8.00

"New for new. We recycle the future. Here comes the highest common denominator of Cologne 2002, Ibiza 2003 and Belgium 1991. This guy definitely has bumble bees there where people usually sit on. Quite a lot of. And rather big ones. This feels good. This will rise the mood. Well, someone has to do it ...Tradition obliges. And so does nobility, but who cares. Scottie, energy, please. This is how we rock!"

THE ORB: Kompassion 12" (KOM 073EP). $8.00

"One of the most influential bands of electronic music, who has taken a creative break of almost two years, is back! For the first time, The Orb — a.k.a. Alex Patterson and Thomas Fehlmann — are sailing under the German flag and approaching the sound of Cologne: The A-side featuring 'Cool Harbour' is really hot. Cascades of strings and overdubs, typical of The Orb sound, are merging together thus resulting in a racy shuffle format. With 'Gee Strings' they have examined the microhouse-phenomenon and consider it right. And of course, the ambient aspects are not missing, either. 'Dilmun' is cruising the pop ambient sea, thus closing the circle of the past and future of of chill-out sounds."

KAITO: Special Love LP (KOM 074LP). $12.00

LP version.

SPIETH, JOACHIM: ICH 12" (KOM 075EP). $8.00

"Idyllic comeback with a tech-house trip that got you under your skin."

MIKKEL METAL: Testan/Hemper 12" (KOM 076EP). $8.00

"Testan" deploys a smoke screen of grainy static, and this turns out to be one mother of a click track. Quite rocky bass motif leads into a fantastic synth melody, like the most amazing, unreleased Eno band tune you've never heard, soundtrack to an imaginary movie. 'Hemper' stings it in a much more Chain Reaction kinda style, wicket little pools of microscopic dub sounds, to a walking pace beat, chilled and as we say, quietly awesome stuff."

KÖHNCKE, JUSTUS: Homogen 12" (KOM 077EP). $8.00

"Early in 2002 Justus Köhncke's second 12" for Kompakt. '2 After 909' became something of an immediate and what proved to be highly enduring anthem for the Minimal Techno scene, still a fixture in jockeys' boxes to this day. Justus showed himself to be the master of suspense, Daft Punkish electrofunk building tension and excitement with enormous breakdowns and pickups designed to cause pandemonium at the biggest parties. Early words on this twelve, indicated that when Michael Mayer dropped this on his recent visit to Fabric/London, the audience went absolutely ballistic. The title cut is oscillating house-funk-disco shrouded in an intoxicated sheen, reaching an ambient stillpoint until a huge break ensues, as it threatens to reach crescendo point, it continues — the feeling's almost too much — it drops and Justus sweeps all before him. Total anthem alert! Flip for some more, err, homogenous action, a more rolling feel, all tomtom stabs and synthed strings, huge orchestration and yet still the one note jams kill us."

FERENC: Yes Sir, I Can Hardcore 12" (KOM 078EP). $8.00

"To make a long, long story short: this record was meant to be released a year ago on Nitsa — the label and also one of the world's most wonderful clubs based in Barcelona. But due to thousands of mishaps and blows, this record has never been released so far, apart from various promos mercilessly hammered by their lucky owners. Ferenc is Nitsa's resident DJ Fra and his co-partner Autan, both sharing a mutual passion for early-90ies Brooklyn bass, also called hardcore, with releases on labels like Nu Groove, City or Bonebreaks and produced by Lenny Dee, Joey Beltram, How & Little and the scuffproof Frankie Bones. 'Yes Sir, I Can Hardcore' is meant to be a homage to the era when hardcore was not yet gabber and simply was the most intensive form of house music. Michael Mayer — also one of the biggest fans of Nu Groove hardcore — has been made weak with a number of drinks while DJing at Nitsa club (where he is regular guest-DJ) and has put on his remixing machine. The result may be called insane hardcoresohouse and it just got licensed for the busy Tigersushi collective's new How To Kill The DJ compilation. That's all for now. Get your clothes off and put your hands in the air!"

BERING, JONAS: Normandie 12" (KOM 079EP). $8.00

"With his fourth offering on Kompakt this smart Frenchman from Lille intensifies his storytelling style of hypnotising Minimal. Enormous layers, deep and soft like a oriental carpet flying over his trademark digital grooves. On both tracks, Bering puts more stress on the physical aspects of his music. You can call it what you want in the end this record might be closer to the good tradition of Trance than nerdy laptop Minimal. Closer to Manuel Gottsching than to the makings of those pimplefaced wacks around your corner. Epic sounds from old Europe.... enjoy!"

VA: Total 5 2LP (KOM 080LP). $14.50

Double LP version. 8 tracks, 5 of which are on the CD, 3 of which are exclusive to this format, from: M. Meyer/Reinhard Voigt, Modernist, Heib.

SCSI 9: All She Wants Is 12" (KOM 081EP). $8.00

"It should not be necessary anymore to introduce this Russian wonderkid to the public. His numerous releases on respected labels like Traum, Trapez, Salo, Freizeitglauben, Force tracks and others can be found in every record box from here to Novosibirsk. With 'All She Wants' he undoubtedly delivers his ripest production to date. A strong piece of emotional, driving techhouse with a highly recognizable vocal sample some older people should have heard somewhere before... This track has truly mesmerizing qualities when it comes to open the audience's hearts. On remix duty we find two of the most promising producers around these days. Known through his incredibly creative outputs on Musik Krause, Robag Wruhme transfers the original into a fierce shuffle monster in its own right. The Wighnomy bros add an excellent light weight minimal house version and everybody who checked their latest Freude Am Tanzen outing 'Bodyrock' should start mouthwatering now. It's the new breed here, ready to conquer your attention. For now and ever."

SUPERPITCHER/WASSERMANN: Schaffelfieber 2 12" (KOM 082EP). $8.00

12" version of the CD-exclusive tracks: Superpitcher "To Turn You On" & "Wassermann "Hot Love".

VOIGT, REINHARD: Kontakt 12" (KOM 083EP). $8.00

"Everybody who had an eye on the recent musical past of this guy should be already aware of what we can expect from this record. This is about techno in its purest immediate way. Reinhard Voigt has cultivated a sound that is able to devastate everything around it with the most simple methods. His live sets are already legendary and the rumour is going that techno finally found its 'Mick Jagger'. If you subtract around 30 years and exchange the guitar with a powerbook you'll see that it's not really wrong. 'Kontakt' follows the powerful livesound and goes straight in your face. Yes, it's tough stuff but still it has this typical Voigtish smile in its face. And that's a highly infective one..."

MIKKEL METAL: Rujoni/Nepal 12" (KOM 084EP). $8.00

"Mikkel Metal, uncrowned King Crackle from Denmark takes the scepter and attends upon the Death Valley. That's the only way to explain this piece of desert rock. No, it's not dry — quite the reverse. Equipped with assistants carrying 87 casks of water he shows the way and got all time of the world to enjoy himself. An absolutely vacuum sealed record which don't lose a drop of water."

DJ KOZE: The Geklöppel Continues 12" (KOM 085EP). $8.00

"Now it's time to strike back. On Speicher 11 (Kompakt Extra 11) — the sawyer of Saint George — has threatened us to do so, but now it has finally come true: The daring venture between Germany's almost most favourite DJ and Germany's most favourite guerrilla pop label. This record features everything a real Kompakt record needs: courage, glamour, fun, hunger, thirst, lust, sex and drugs and a straight bass drum, techno, pop and laptop trash. And even ambient. Two sides of globalism within the limits of 93. On the first side, you'll get a wildpitch techhouse stomper with Profan-ish side blows. On the second side, a straying minimal popper as well as an ambient die-away track with sound planes and fanfares you don't need to feel ashamed of calling it wonderful. This is the way how you become Hamburg's governor."

THOMAS, ANDREW: Fearsome Jewel LP (KOM 086LP). $12.00

LP version.

MAGNET: Rising Sun 12" (KOM 087EP). $8.00

"Euphoric sequencer-driven techno on the cutting edge of Mainstreet and Heckmann. Two deep killers."

BERING, JONAS: Sketches For The Next Season 12" (KOM 088EP). $8.00

2 track 12" version featuring these album tracks: "Out To Out" and "Circus".

MAYER, MICHAEL: Privat 12" (KOM 089EP). $8.00

"M.Mayer presents two heartily minimal tracks from his very own repertoire. A shuffle & a disco-tech version."

VA: Pop Ambient 2004 LP (KOM 090LP). $12.00

LP version. 8 of the 9 tracks on the CD.

VOIGT, REINHARD: How We Rock Remixe 12" (KOM 091EP). $8.00

"The Modernist lights up the track in his very own, charming 'Modernist-ical' style. And Electric Indigo has decently chosen the discreet 'At the First Beat'-version."

REX THE DOG: Prototype 12" (KOM 092EP). $8.00

"In the often-quoted 80ies, they would call it a 'smash hit'. A term as British as the mysterious guy from London who sends out his dog to take this monster hit into all the clubs around the world. The dog's name is Rex and 'Prototype' is his message — and it's probably the most trendy prototype of a brand-new digital format ever. Imagine someone, after having started his time machine, flying over the mountains and valleys of music history at bright sunlight and his dog snatching at everything that looks somehow interesting. A little bit of 1984, a little taste of 2011 and a long, extended free flight over 1990. At times when the human voice was replaced by bleeps and clonks and bands like LFO, tricky disko and sweet exorcist labelled the hysteria arising from techno music as glam pop 'made in England'. 'Prototype' — definitely not retro at all — forwards one of the currently most beautiful quotation plug-ins. And it is also a prime example that techno music has already gone down in history and still is the planet's most exciting style of music."

PASS INTO SILENCE: Calm Like A Millpond LP (KOM 093LP). $12.00

LP version.

FERENC: Cronch 12" (KOM 094EP). $8.00

"Inventive 303-acid embedded in a floating monster carpet. Plus shuffle track on other side: a brilliant support for special moments — push nicer with Kompakt."

KÖHNCKE, JUSTUS: Zwei Photonen 12" (KOM 095EP). $8.00

"If Chanel would do techno it would sound like this... Tres elegant and supereuphoric. He did it again..."

SUPERPITCHER: Here Comes Love 2LP (KOM 096LP). $14.50

Double LP version.

FEHLMANN, THOMAS: Little Big Horn 12" (KOM 097EP). $8.00

"Aristocracy obligates. To combine the power and the subversive aesthetic of the timeless classic techno with jazzy elegance and the glamour of the wide world of pop, is undoubtedly the art of Thomas Fehlmann. Also on 'Little Big Horn' he continues the elegant line of his previous Kompakt releases. These beats unyieldingly drive us in the summer. Live and in colour."

KLIMEK: Milk & Honey LP (KOM 098LP). $12.00

LP version.

KAITO: Soul of Heart 12" (KOM 099EP). $8.00

"After a long absence, our Japanese soulbrother is finally back for spring-cleaning the technoworld with a hearty loading of warm water. And again it's not easy to say what exactly Kaito is doing. A little try of explanation: 'Sometimes a single person has to do something forbidden to exceed a border, to change something.' Kaito changed a lot with his records. He exceeded a border. Astonished the popes of taste. Got discussions going. He broke embankments and found new friends. He recharged the perception of 'Trance' positively, familiarized it with Minimal and Deephouse. With prominent support of integer people like Larry Heard, Francois Kevorkian or Joe Clausell he reestablished Trance in a fair and gentle way. Again it got totally self-evident. Recently in the club: 'Hey Trance, you also here? — Great!', 'Yes you're right. By the way, I name myself NeoTrance now.', 'Really? Sounds chic!', 'Exactly. Also a Sake on the rocks for you?', 'Of course, with lemon. Thanks, cheers!', 'Cheers!', 'Hey Neotrance, ...?', 'Yes?', 'What's so bad about taking warm showers?'"

VA: Kompakt 100 4LP (KOM 100LP). $28.50

Mayer, Kaito, Superpitcher, Fetting, Closer Musik, Markus Guentner, Jürgen Paape, Jonas Bering, Leandro Fresco, Ulf Lohmann, etc.

SCSI 9: Mini 12" (KOM 101 EP). $8.00

"Two Russians take off the gloves. Anton Kubikov and Maxim Milyutenko belong to the finest of what Russian clubscene can offer. The precision and complexity of their productions are as impressive as reliable. Cool funkiness with charm and grace. The discography embraces over 20 releases by now on Trapez, Morris Audio, Force Tracks, Kompakt... Anton as DJ, as well as both together as live-act SCSI-9 are a date of duty in your party-calendar. Welcome in club Europe."

SUPERPITCHER: Happiness Remixes 12" (KOM 103EP). $8.00

Remixes by M. Mayer and Lawrence. "Happiness", the most splendid track of the currently released Superpitcher album Here Comes Love, was indispensable to get remixed. To increase or reinterpret the dramatic beauty of the original, was a difficult job. Difficult but also tempting. It was not necessary to ask Michael Mayer twice and Lawrence was quasi finished before he was in demand. The result is two excellent affirmations to the hope, that a remix can be much more than just recycling. The mix by Mayer rebundles the energy of the original and couples 'Happiness' with a lot of craziness. Without losing the primal warmth, he drives your feelings by roller coaster and hits you in the middle of your heart and soul. It got a modern noble rave-tune. Please wack out to it with a big smile on your face. Hamburgs' expert for poetic techno is called Lawrence. His albums on his own label Dial are a class of its own and certainly belong to the most emotional moments of the newer club-history. You can hear that for Superpitchers' 'Happiness' he invested a lot of heart's blood. His mix sounds as if angels would sing, so wonderfully lost in reverie. You would like to put yourself inside this track. If you don't feel anything there, you're as cold as a Siberian lamp pole. The cover artwork is from Petra Hollenbachs' amazing 'Happiness' videoclip." This record only exists because of one thing: "...to cause you happiness."

MAYER VS. VOIGT: Kompakt Extra For Cisco 12" (KOM EX001EP). $8.00

"It's our Japanese friend's birthday and here comes our present: Wolfgang Voigt: Nachschub" (Auftrieb 5 — M. Mayer remix), Michael Mayer: "17 & 4" (Kompakt 4 — W. Voigt/Auftrieb remix), Grungerman: "Fackeln Im Sturm" (original!!!!) + bonus."

MAYER & REINHARD VOIGT, MICHAEL: Speicher 2 12" (KOM EX002EP). $8.00

"Two of Kompakt's most prolific artists appear on this split 12" and they both have moved away from the typical Kompakt minimalism (for this 12", that is) to show the world that pure raving techno can also come from Cologne. Both tracks are a bow down before the bassdrum and their straight forward 4/4 beats. This is made to make the dancefloors burn, so rave on!"

KORN & ROXY: Speicher 3 12" (KOM EX003EP). $8.00

"The summer release attack of Kompakt enters the next round with another offering on the Kompakt Extra label. This time brothers Reinhard & Wolfgang Voigt aka Korn & Roxy share a split 12" and present two minimalist TechHouse anthems with huge acid influences guaranteed to rock every dancefloor. Again, Kompakt is way ahead of other dance labels concerning the right instinct for the future of dance music. Massive!"

SUPERPITCHER/WASSERMANN: Speicher 4 12" (KOM EX004EP). $8.00

"Superpitcher and Wassermann go for gold. Blockrocking anthemic techno, folks."

VOIGT & VOIGT: Speicher 5 12" (KOM EX005EP). $8.00

"There is a new term going around cologne: abspeichern! ? friendly beckoning to frankfurt where they have been heavily pumping for quite a while now, Kompakt sends out a new racer: it's hard but it's fair. It's simple but two- to three-dimensional. But above all, it's rocking as if there wasn't a tomorrow. Following the hot predecessors by M. Mayer, Superpitcher and the brothers Voigt, it's now time for the 5th push — again released by the brothers voigt: Reinhard Voigt — also called 'the kompakt animal' due to his most successful live performances in Germany and abroad — at his best regarding pressure and hardness. His track 'Dorn' is a pitbull with knackig acid sounds. Wolfgang Voigt, in contrast, comes up with 'Vision 03'. A real jewel where he concentrates the very beginnings of 'Roxy'/Speicher 3 to a so far unknown mutation of disco music and which, if played at the right time, exhibits an tremendous emotional power. The tempo is sexy, the sound like a soft stone. A kaleidoscope of colours. And the world is plunged in a light of hope and a better tomorrow. May the planet keep on dancing. But with a vision..."

SUPERPITCHER/QUARKS: Speicher 6 12" (KOM EX006EP). $8.00

"It's the good old, but still highly enjoyable, story of 'every cup finds its cupboard'. You've heard a hundred times before. Two things match so perfectly, it looks as if it has always been like that. The perfect fusion.... And so forth. When two become one. Actually, these little miracles do happen time and again. And Kompakt is really pleased and highly delighted to partake in such a miracle again. On the one hand, there are Quarks who have left their mothership Monika and taken a new course on Home records. The result is a new album and a gorgeous single. And of course there are remixes.... On the other hand there is Superpitcher who ranks among the top 10 in the German remixer scene. At the moment, he is the inimitable interface personified combining indiepop with techno or electronica. No pains, no gains. No rock, no roll. 'I Walk Superpitcher Shuffle Mix' is full of sexual, subversive energy, it's almost obscene. The voice, the digital air guitars, the bass drum, the hi-hats, the breaks, the sweat. This really is the new danceable rock music everyone is talking about. The Hives, The Strokes, The Ark, The Faint....ok ok, but: 'if it doesn't ass, then it's for the rock'. Amen.

MAYER & REINHARD VOIGT, MICHAEL: Speicher 7 12" (KOM EX007EP). $8.00

"Number 7 in the succesful installment of the 'Speicher' series on Kompakt Extra features two of the labels masterminds working together. 'Unter Null' is Mayer & Voigt's track for Techno-Glamrock stadiums, which still have to be built. 'Bring It Back' is Techno-Trance in the best Kompakt tradition. Another unmissable dancefloor highlight."

SPIETH/M. MAYER, JOACHIM: Speicher 8 12" (KOM EX008EP). $8.00

"Joachim Spieth's 'Under Pressure' is a straight, kicking Techno track with razor sharp hi-hats and a monstrous bassline. Michael Mayer reworks Reinhard Voigt's Techno slammer 'Supertiel' into a dancefloor heartbreaker. Typical 'Speicher' high quality."

FAIRLEY, JAKE/SUPERPITCHER: Speicher 9 12" (KOM EX009EP). $8.00

"Kompakt Extra presents another meeting of dancefloor giants. Jake Fairley's 'Motor' is a fast-paced techno track with slight Detroit influences. Superpitcher slows down the tempo a little with the dark 'Hysteria'."

VOIGT & VOIGT: Speicher 10 12" (KOM EX010EP). $8.00

"Ultradry & funky acid tune reminiscent of Robert Armani's 'Hightimes' and a supereuphoric, let's say neotrance bomb from Cologne's most rocking brothers."

DJ KOZE AKI MONACO SCHRANZE: Speicher 11 12" (KOM EX011EP). $8.00

"Slamming dark technowave with that kompakt feel. Awesome synth lines and gritty funk. Top Pick."

FREILAND/JENS HARKE: Speicher 12 12" (KOM EX012EP). $8.00

"Harke is a very bold guy with sensitive feelings within a hard shell. Beauty and beast in one person."

VOIGT/JAKE FAIRLEY, REINHARD: Speicher 13 12" (KOM EX013EP). $8.00

"Reinhard Voigt and Jake Fairley — the double pack already happily headbanging side by side at live gigs, here united in an unavoidable stroke on Kompakt Extra. Without much preliminary fumbling and in the unmistakable Speicher-style, they go straight into the deepest depths to toast to their German-Canadian friendship. The dance of the lunatics continues. Take this clout, baby — Speicher rules. And by the way: are cement mixers allowed at Loveparade?"

THE ORB/M. MAYER: Speicher 14 12" (KOM EX014EP). $8.00

"Hot shuffle burner by The Orb... A real 'Masterblaster' where M. Mayer and his track 'X' ecstasies not only his fans with a Kompakt first-class, energetic, melo track."

NAUM/JOACHIM SPIETH: Speicher 15 12" (KOM EX015EP). $8.00

"The a-side: Naum - 'Ari': Three perfect shuffle-headbanger track from our most favourite Scotsman As thrilling and overwhelming as stadium rock. As tasty as alcopops. It's break played at >98 decibel will relieve any stress and tension. Guaranteed. By the way, when's AC/DC on tour again? The b-side: Joachim Spieth - 'Use Case': The shaman from the south of Germany calls for fight against the icemen. In typical Spieth manner, he generates sounds which ancient cultures would have called 'trance'. But we call it Speicher techno and feel a lot better. By the way: this time, the eagle is blue."

INK/BURGER INDUSTRIES, MIKE: Speicher 16 12" (KOM EX016EP). $8.00

Volume 16 in the Kompakt "Speicher" (aka "memory") series of split EPs. This time featuring a return of Mike Ink (Wolfgang Voigt). "Fight of the synonyms with old- and new-skool weapons. A further step on the way to the upcoming acid revival?"

FERENC/NAUM: Speicher 17 12" (KOM EX017). $8.00

"Yes, yes friends. Just when Schaffel — the ghost that nobody has called — seemed to roll in the flow of the unintentional hype, two guys, that didn't know anything about each other are now turning the wheel of history. Schaffeltrance — that's how you can call both of these dodges without turning red. Ferenc from Spain and Naum from Scotland are arranging the map of the new Schaffel-Europe."

VOIGT/HEIB, REINHARD: Speicher 18 12" (KOM EX018EP). $8.00

"The anvil of god and the answer to DJ Pierre cross the swords. They drink the blood of their enemies and sing the songs of their fathers. 'Where the words are vodka clear forgetfulness has brought us near'. Stalin bassdrum and eight-o-eight celebrate the unclassified society of the night. What does Helmut Berger, by the way?"

MAGNET/WIGNOMY BROS.: Speicher 19 12" (KOM EX019EP). $8.00

"Here we are again. In the middle of life. Those rituals of the urbans in summer are so oddly affecting. There is a comprehensive offering of wonderful periphrasis and comparisons coming up. And we have chosen and decided: what happens outside, on innocent sun-, mon- or whatever-days afternoons under the sun from wherever, pent-up between several towers of boxes, mostly resembles to the droll ad on a baboonrock. The males and females, always striking weird poses and grimaces, sometimes hilariously romping out of the group, sometimes scratching their forehead, yelling, racing, delousing, making love and so on. These things are totally obvious for us. There is no difference. If you want to know it precisely check out papa's bookcase, in 'Brehm's' animal life under b like baboon. It's right that we only clambered a few steps of the evolution ladder, but who promises us, that it gets even better upstairs?"

DJ KOZE/JUSTUS KOHNCKE: Speicher 20 12" (KOM EX020EP). $8.00

"The Speicher 20 is like the popular device 'four fists for a hallelujah'. Two of the most notorious rough diamonds since end of the prohibition, standing alongside to rock your favourite club. On one side Hamburgs' most wicked DJ Koze and on the other side Cologne's half-silken schlager king Justus Köhncke, both in the best mood to rough up."

OXTONGUE: Delight 12" (KOM POP001EP). $8.00

"Summer of love. Summer of Pop. And if climatic catastrophe means that in Germany, the sun is shining brightly from February through June, well... then let's talk about it again. Oxtongue is Gian Luca Palotta from Piemont in Italy. With his debut feature Delight — already released on the Traum label half a year ago — he has captured some of the Italian ars vivendi on to vinyl. As if it was best, pressed barolo. And whoever thinks that vocoder vocals are out will definitely change his mind. Now Kompakt, with its marked preference for Pop has decided to give this track it's own platform. This 12" features remixes by Voigt & Voigt (Wolfgang and Reinhard, that is) and the very groovy Benjamin Diamond. Furthermore this is the very first release on a new Kompakt sidekick, aptly named Kompakt Pop. So, put this on your record player and serve some pasta with truffles."

SUI, PHONG: Wintermute 12" (KOM POP002EP). $8.00

2nd release in this new Kompakt series. Featuring remixes by Superpitcher and Burger/Voigt.

VOSS, HEIKO: I Think About You 12" (KOM POP003EP). $8.00

"You are drunk, extremely excited and you shout: 'music is a command!'. The idea is slowly ascending together with the warm air, condenses and falls back down in black threads on dyed hair. The result is a felt which I read as: 'the snare has to sound very dry in order to hear the machine. And the guitar has to remind you of this other track so that no one is alone anymore. And the bass drum has to be loud, if not, it doesn't work. And the more artificial the voice, the more you'll be able to change, to transform. And this is music! Ten minutes later: the glasses on the table are bursting almost on command, thus forming a lake of toxic colours. A heart opens and a hot laughter predominates the scene. A dancer enters the stage and starts dancing in the grim light. A bit of the real reality is looming from the background. We won't look but what we do is going down under the table. Slowly, we are getting human at the crack of the dawn outside. 'Have you got a spare bag', you ask. And I say 'yes!'. "

DORAU/KOHNCKE: Durch Die Nacht 12 (KOM POP004EP). $8.00

"Beginning of the nineties, when Andreas Dorau was the unquestioned master of the disco-oktav-bass for already ten years, Justus Kohncke was still one third of Whirlpool and Wassermann was called Grungerman, a marvelous techno-schlager liaison arose, which in all the years brought out the greatest and wildest mixes and remixes again and again. The unmistakable voice of Andreas Dorau combined with so far unprecedented manners of minimal techno, led on the high point even into the French top ten. (Andreas Dorau Girls In Love/Grungerman mix). Also in two thousand four this liaison has existence. Summit of the schlagertechno guerilla. Two masters of the marathon discotheque condescend to the fight against the night. Supported from 'Mr. Unplugged' Geiger, the virtuoso with the pitch license on one side, and Schaffel-king Wassermann on the other side, we follow the voice of unknown origin through the night. We are coming today but tomorrow, We are free."

VA: Köln Kompakt 1 CD (KOMP 001CD). $12.00

The debut Kompakt CD release, a brilliant sounding compilation of the Cologne minimalist techno scene. Features Kandi, Studio 1, Thomas Mayer, The Modernist, Dr. Walker & Freddy Fresh, tandem, M.I:5, Thomas Brinkmann, Pentax, Triple R & Emanuel, Jürgen Paape, OM1, Dr. Walker & M Flux. If you're attuned to the Profan and Studio 1 labels operated by Mike Ink, this is another must-add to the pile.

DETTINGER: Intershop CD (KOMP 002CD). $14.50

First full length CD by Olaf Dettinger (two previous 12"s on Kompakt). Beautifully lush ambient-stroked instrumental electronics, powered by warm Cologne beats and pop-infused sensibility. A killer release for fans of the Profan/Studio 1/Kreisel scene and one of most convincing full length albums to emerge from this sector.

VA: Kompakt Total 1 CD (KOMP 003CD). $14.50

"There were many different colors. After nine swinging 12 inches over the last two years, Kompakt reaches its first little jubilee. A unique visual style, pretty hard work, and not the smallest amount of passion made Kompakt one of the most respected minimal house and techno platforms in Germany and beyond. The compilation Total 1 looks back with pride and forward with hope. It's a presentation of all the songs to remember, to get to know, or just to spin. The CD format offers you a nice, balanced mix between romantic reviews and some visionary unreleased material. All the excitement ranges from good old mates like Jürgen Paape, M. Mayer, or Reinhard Voigt, up to shooting stars like Olaf Dettinger, Benjamin Wild, and Marco 'Shitkatapult' Haas. Please notice: this is no Cologne compilation. Integrating a bunch of young and restless talents from all over the country we can pretend this system has no frontiers." Different track listing to the vinyl version, 13 tracks in all, including 7 not found on the 2LP.

VA: Tobias Thomas- Für Dich CD (KOMP 004CD). $14.50

"Friday night? The party? In this case it can only mean total confusion at Cologne's Studio 672, where for 2 years Tobias Thomas and his back-in-the-days friend Michael Mayer are hosting Cologne's most kicking club night. But the musical happenings here are quite the opposite of unwinding: in a long decade behind the turntables Thomas and Mayer have specialised in winding up the floor with precise techno. And what would otherwise take 6 or 7 hours is compressed into 70 minutes on Tobias Thomas' mix CD. After a short opener from Jochen Distelmeyer's second album with Blumfeld, the first healing chords of Lali Puma warm up the ceremony. Contemplatively sleepwalking between his own Cologne biotype (Boris Kauer, Dettinger, Wolfgang Voigt), Berliners and Leipzigers (Paul DB, Gamat 3000), and various others (Baby Ford, Vladislav Delay, Nick Holder, Fumiya Tanaka), no track here seems to be without a personal relation. And this seems to be a central theme running through the work of Thomas. Every track in this set is also a private memory of a mood that ruled in its moment or context, or even got generated through it. Great DJs, it's said, possess the ability of turning other people's records into theirs — to project their own emotions on someone else's music. And that's an idea that builds to a perfect line communication for a DJ and head like Tobias Thomas, especially on a Friday night. The epilogue of his trip through the width and depth of his record case naturally leads to Tobias' own productions (like the ones with his group Forever Sweet). And here we have Stereolove, produced with Michael Mayer. Finally things are allowed to unwind a little. For DJ Tobias, it's all a question of the build-up: and so when he plays the sound is not only architectural, it also sounds spiritual."

BERING, JONAS: CD (KOMP 005CD). $14.50

Most spectacular album yet on the illustrious Kompakt label, krispy minimalism (as they say), with dubbed out flavor, a theoretical merger of post-Basic Channel filter and some kind of unspoken French elevation. "Finest subtle techno from France. Jonas Bering lives and works in Lille. Therefore he's the first French artist on Kompakt, but don't worry: no disco here. With his debut album Bienfait he convinces in all important disciplines of modern 4-to-the-floor music between laidback crackling dub and serious clubanthems. Or, like we used to say: 'Der Bering, Der Rokt!'"

"Total 2 is an entertaining review of the last 12 Kompakt-months featuring well-known friends as for example the 'primary rocks' The Modernist, Reinhard Voigt & Michael Mayer where nothing more needs to be said. Under his Dubstar-alias, skillful C-Rock of Lo-fi/Stir15 Recordings gives a thunderous guest performance. Nomen est Omen. Schaeben & Voss, however, who have been on board Kompakt for a long time, are in the meantime regarded as insane. Soon live at your local club. Big party fun. Dettinger again presents his kicking modern crackling techno style. His new ambient album Oasis is due to be released in a few weeks. Closer Musik are represented on this CD with their cuddle techno hit 'One, two, three (no gravity)' and at the moment, they are reaching the stars also in live gigs. On the vinyl edition, they deliver an exclusive, harder club track. Very sexy. The Teichmann Bros. came down to us from the high up North. It's worth paying attention to their label Festplatten. It moves. Proof that the Hamburg city is differently heavy. Sascha Funke has been haunting the capital for a couple of years now. His records are also released on Ellen Alien's Bpitch Control Label. He is probably the only 1st FC Cologne (our famous soccer team) fan in Berlin and holds up the Cologne flag also with his music. Lithe, lissom and elegant. A smart representative of the up-and-coming electronic music scene in Lille/France is Jonas Bering who has torn down the frontiers with his debut album Bienfait. Now, on Total 2, he is starting off with a straight new track. The latest fledgling pampered at Kompakt is a young guy called Superpitcher, a real good techno DJ and resident at Studio 672 club along with Tobias Thomas and Michael Mayer. His track 'Shadows' is one of the deeper moments on Total 2. And by the way: chilling-out is 'in' again in downtown Cologne. From the friendly associated label Traum Schallplatten, we have borrowed Philippe Cam's hymn 'Karine' (yes indeed, a hymn.). Definitely a magic moment. Yet another artist: Lawrence, of the Hamburg-based label Dial. Groovy crackling techno with pop appeal, the big sound at the moment. No one can tell exactly who Jimmi Moon is, but he also proves that ambient and pop come from the same stock, and a rather good one, we think."

DETTINGER: Oasis CD (KOMP 007CD). $14.50

"Considering that Intershop blew it's fair share of head's minds last year, delineating exciting ideas about what a 'techno' full-length could be about, makes his new record that much more exciting — it is NOT more of the same. Like the awesome cover art by Bianca Strauch, this is a record that is in turns so subtle, evocative, mystical and mystifying that I honestly think that people are going to be listening to this record ten years from now — still wondering how he did it, what is it exactly that makes it so good. The nexus of the LP, the third track, has the same indefinable majesty to it that made Mike Ink's 'Life's a Gas' THE comedown track for DJ's all over Europe a few years ago, and the rest of the record just radiates outward from that point, Deus ex Machina, no track sounding the same twice. Buy the CD, put the player on repeat, and you might never have to leave the house again. 40 Minutes, 7 tracks, no titles." — Billy Kiely. "Mister Knister (Mr. Crackle) is back. Two years after the release of his wildly acclaimed debut album Intershop, Dettinger forces his great passion even further. With Oasis, he sets another milestone in the genre of modern ambient music. You should know how to knister. This guy really has been working hard which he proved on his EPs Puma and Totentanz. It has become ultra modern at Dettinger's. Equipped with the fastest computers and the finest periphery, he has refined and polished his sounds. Again and again. Some say hightech is romance's enemy. We say Dettinger has been able to reconcile romance and technique with the ease of a poet and without using any dubious methods. With Oasis, as well as with Intershop, you always have the feeling of meeting good old friends of the easy days of pop. However, on Oasis you will not find any illustrative quotations. Everything is a constant calm flow — too raging, not too shallow, but perfect to go for a swim. The dazzling, beautiful third track of the album is accompanied by a videoclip featuring animations of the well-known minimal graphics of Bianca Strauch and Joanna Grondahl."

VA: Schaffelfieber CD (KOMP 008CD). $14.50

"Whenever you DJ, let's say between the 2nd and 3rd round, switches over from the cosy 4step-techno to a somewhat bizarrely tryolese-rocking sound and you never can tell exactly where your longing for linking arms and swaying from side to side comes from, the mix or the vodka, then it's shuffle tiime, schaffel zeit. A variation of familiar club techno rhythms with rocking and swaying tendencies. But don't worry, it's not rock, it's a variation of minimal techno — the world's still most important music — and a most pleasant change in the monotony of the all-nighty boom-boom-techno. It's high time to give a first overview of a trendy trend. Here they are, 12 hot shuffle techno burner featuring Wolfgang Voigt, Sensorama, Christian Morgenstern, T. Raumschmiere, Sascha Funke, M:I:5, Superpitcher, Freiland, Roman Flugel, Thomas Gwosdz, Bolz Bolz, Electronica! Fred Bigot, Gary Glitter, Elvis Presley, Jesus .... Wir machen weiter (we keep on rocking)."

VA: Pop Ambient 2001 CD (KOMP 009CD). $14.50

"Lovely lucent light, red white modern entertainment, responsibility seduction bewitching bewildering a lovely illusion, a real vision with head put inside the laptop and feet into the whirlpool. Artfully artlessly edited sensuality and even more free than pop my dear friend. Wearable data timeless and elegant sterile water exhilarating for everyone. This CD contains four exclusive new tracks by Dettinger, Wolfgang Voigt, Markus Guentner & Jörg Burger, who introduces his new project Geometric Farms plus some of the most beautiful pop ambient moments already released on vinyl by Reinhard Voigt, Joachim Spieth, Gustavo Lamas, Markus Guentner & our latest discovery Ulf Lohmann."

VA: Kompakt Total 3 CD (KOMP 010CD). $14.50

"Cologne-based label Kompakt comes up with its third compilation of the 'Total' series featuring a runaway show of its existing news. On vinyl you'll get exclusively new tracks which have not been released so far and produced by well known good old friends as well as promising new talents. Apart from that, the CD features a selection of Kompakt's 12 inch-hits of the last year plus 7 future classics from the vinyl edition. Innovation first — safety second. You'll find a number of cool new variations of the minimal genre starting from the obligatory clicks to the re-invention of the human voice." CD features: Sascha Funke, Schaeben & Voss, M. Mayer, The Modernist, T. Raumschmiere, Reinhard Voigt, Lawrence, Dettinger, Superpitcher, Ulf Lohmann, Jürgen Paape, Closer Musik.

GUENTNER, MARKUS: In Moll CD (KOMP 011CD). $14.50

"After the massive success of his debut 12" 'Regensburg' which has been recognized as a blissful beatless variation of our most favourite music amongst others by german 'DJ pope' Sven Vaeth and the current 'No Title' 12" on Mathias Schaffhäuser's Ware label, Markus Guentner comes up with his first longplay album In Moll (In Minor). Effortlessly he leads us to an ocean of slowly modulating shimmering textures. New romantic laptop emotions drowning through a thicket of enchanted honeycombs of harmony. Water has no beams."

VOIGT, REINHARD: Im Wandel Der Zeit CD (KOMP 012CD). $14.50

"Q" In times when the supposed 'new' often burns up more quickly than we can download it, Reinhard Voigt bets on timeless roughness with his first longplayer for Kompakt. He deliberately abstains from the glitchy crackling that's all around at present and consistently puts forward uncoded straight signals. Like on his two latest smashes 'A.S.P.' and 'Hier Und Jetzt' he indulges in the virtue of classical minimal-techno. From sawing to rustling, from blitting to blaring he approaches the impulsive force of fashionable techno tools with an elegantly dense joy of playing, yet without denying the 'Koelner Schule'. Oh four-to-the-floor — so clear and true tradition throughout the ages."

LOHMANN, ULF: Because Before CD (KOMP 013CD). $14.50

"Ulf Lohmann is back from the future. Out of Wesseling, he spreads out his message into the world. And there is no point in resisting. His music disarms even those who are unarmed. Innocence has turned into sound. Pure, fair and beautiful like the electronic virgin birth. As true as love itself. Ambient can't be more beautiful. Following the divine debut mini LP Because, Ulf Lohmann comes up with his new 12" 'Before' and a CD Because Before which is a combination of the both vinyls. World, shut up. Here comes Ulf Lohmann."

VA: Pop Ambient 2002 CD (KOMP 014CD). $14.50

"A soft touch, a butterfly, an alien in the ruby-red glowing dawn at a glade somewhere in the wide web of oblivion smooth contours - blurred though, levitating sounds, light and pure and even more fair and beautiful than you may imagine. In the warm, gleaming light, you'll find the interface of remembrance truth is turning into sound on heavy rotation in the popperlessencenetworkmachinery that knows everything but doesn't explain anything. It's meant to protect us. Quiet is the new loud." Features exclusive tracks from: Tal, Triola, WWW.Jz-Ark.co.uk, Donnacha Costello, Dettinger, Novisad, Ulf Lohmann, Markus Guentner, All.

MAYER, MICHAEL: Immer CD (KOMP 015CD). $14.50

Classic 2002 release. "Mr. Kompakt himself Michael Mayer releases a very fine CD-Mix in the typical Cologne style: Dubby Minimal House with Click-Techno elements. Immer features artists from all over the world in a continuous 70 minutes flow aimed at the more sophisticated dancefloors." Artists include: Auch, Audision (Tobias Schmidt), A Rocket In Dub, M. Rahn, Carsten Jost (Superpitcher mix), Stargazer, Phon.o, Thomas Fehlman, Akufen, Phantom/Ghost, Selway, Paul Nazca, Frank Martinig.

CLOSER MUSIK: After Love CD (KOMP 016CD). $14.50

"After Love is the first album of Kompakt new Pop-Techno heroes Closer Musik. After several singles and compilation contributions, e.g. Kompakt Total 3 Matias Aguayo and Dirk Levers aka Closer Musik are ready to rock the underground clubs of the world with their dark, warm, electro-tinged version of the Cologne sound in full length. One of the highlights on After Love is the voice of Matias Aguayo which adds a subtle erotic quality to the tracks he's singing on. After Love is cosy, sexy and an absolute must for the late hours on any Dancefloor. Includes the underground hit singles 'Closer Dancer' (deleted) and 'You Don't Know Me'."

KÖHNCKE, JUSTUS: Was Ist Musik? CD (KOMP 017CD). $14.50

"Justus Köhncke is on to release his second solo album and his first for the Kompakt label. For some years now Justus Köhncke is an integral part of the German dance community, releasing records as a member of Subtle Tease and the immense successful Whirlpool Prod. (their Dancefloor hymn 'From: Disco To Disco' was heard all over the world). What distinguishes Justus Köhncke from other producers of dance music is his extraordinary pop sensibility, his eclectic taste (which is by no means at haphazard) and his feeling for the future of dance music. So it is no coincidence that Was Ist Musik? is the second album on Kompakt after the recent release of Closer Musik's brilliant After Love album that features the extensive use of vocals, merging Pop music with the minimalistic approach of the Kompakt sound. But Was Ist Musik? shows a broader range of styles: From the abstract TechHouse of '2 After 909' to true pop ballads like 'Weil Du Mich Versteht' (which features guest vocalist Dirk Von Lotzow of Tocotronic fame) Justus Köhncke offers an electronic universe that includes Brian Wilson as well as Bernard Edwards. Next to his own compositions Justus Köhncke features three cover versions. The first is Jürgen Paape's 'So Weit Wie Noch Nie' from Kompakt's Total 3 compilation, then there is 'Der Augenblick' by artistic friend Barbara Morgenstern, but the real surprise is the cover of 'Du Bist Nicht Allein' by German MOR Band Münchner Freiheit, which is transformed into rare and pure beauty. It is often said, that an album functions as well at home as it does in the clubs. This one does."

VA: Total 4 CD (KOMP 018CD). $14.50

"The vinyl version consists of all new smashing tracks by the usual suspects while the CD also compiles some of the past 12 month's greatest hits." The fourth attitude-defining compilation from Cologne's Kompakt. 13 tracks on the CD. Artists included on CD version: Thomas Fehlmann, Jürgen Paape, Jonas Bering, Superpitcher (startling cover of "Baby's On Fire"), M. Mayer, Justus Köhncke, Schaeben & Voss, Freiland, Reinhard Voigt, Voigt & Voigt (Wolfgang & Reinhard), Autobiocchi (Jörg Burger), Kaito, Closer Musik.

KAITO: Special Life CD (KOMP 019CD). $14.50

"Kaito is Hiroshi Watanabe. And what he's doing is magic. He is a moving interface, Techno poet and soul man. He mixed classical New York Deep House with Pop Ambient and Neo-Trance to a thrilling something which can be considered as the future of Soul. Seriously. Euphoric audiences at Kaito's DJ sets are swept off their feet by the cosiness this charming and discrete man from the far east is able to create. This guy definitely knows what he's doing and can look back at a vivid music past. He'd spent a couple of years in the US where he gained a lot of credibility in New York's Deep House scene: he was resident DJ at Save The Robots, guest DJ at Twilo, Tunnel and Speed, and not to mention his numerous productions for legendary labels as King Street, Nitegrooves and Oxygen Music Works. And now, Hiroshi is bundling his exceptional sense of emotional music in his New project called Kaito. Unscrupulously romantic, he mixes trance music elements (Cosmic Baby, Energy 52) with spiritual House ingredients (see Joe Claussell) and spices them up with Cologne minimal sounds. A really drop-dead gorgeous mixture. Kaito, this wonderful delicate lichtgestalt, has already conquered the hearts and DJ cases from all over the world with his three maxi singles 'Beautiful Day', 'Everlasting' and 'Awakening' (all on Kompakt) and with his debut, he will definitely keep on shining there."

FEHLMANN, THOMAS: Visions Of Blah CD (KOMP 020CD). $14.50

"To explain who Thomas Fehlmann is and what his contributions to modern music are would take some time. A few catchwords should be enough: Ex-member of German post-dada band Palais Schaumburg, worked together with The Orb, Eddie 'Flashin' Fowlkes, Blake Baxter, Moritz Von Oswald (Rhythm & Sound) and numerous others. This man obviously knows some things about good music and other people know that he knows. There are not many musicians out there who still have an impact on the current club scene after so many years in the business. Thomas Fehlmann has, as his new album Visions Of Blah impressingly proves. After several successful and highly acclaimed 12's and compilation contributions (not only on Kompakt), Thomas Fehlmann explores the possibilities of the minimalistic yet pop-fueled Cologne Techno/House sound at full length. The styles on Visions Of Blah range from groovy Ambient tracks to clubby Techno smashers, all spreading soul and a deepness that many club records just don't have. To put it simply and short: Visions Of Blah is a fantastic dance album you should't miss, your life would be poorer without it."

TRIPLE R: Friends CD (KOMP 021CD). $14.50

"Richard Riley Reinhold aka Triple R has his roots in the Cologne Undergroundtechno scene since the early 90s. As clubowner, freelance journalists for magazines like Spex and Frontpage, label co-owner (Traum und Trapez) and DJ he had great impact on the Cologne sound. Friends is his first ever Mix-CD and combines Minimal Techno with glamorous Vocoder Pop." Artists include: Metaboman, Dialogue, Ada, Luciano, Process, Broker/Dealer, Jeff Samuel, Sami Koivikko, Pwog, Schaeben & Voss, Dntel, Oxtongue.

VA: Pop Ambient 2003 CD (KOMP 022CD). $14.50

Featuring tracks from: Klimek, All, Markus Guentner, Triola (Jörg Burger), The Orb (Paterson/Fehlmann), Peter Grummich, Leandro Fresco, Ulf Lohmann. "It's time for contemplative meditation again. When the days are getting shorter and it's getting darker sooner. And when the shops stay open longer. The windows are brightly decorated, like every year. Expectation. And everywhere, you can hear the pleasant shop Musik, soft and gentle as granite, for meat is neither vital, nor force. Stairs are moving up to heaven. It's raining, the sun is shining, it's snowing, softly. Hello, is there anybody out there who can hear us? In the matrix, pixels are pearly down your lotus skin. Leave the bones outside. Come in. Have a shot ready and relax for resistance. It's real. It's true. And absolutely gentle. We will kiss awake all the softly sleeping agents of sensuality. This year again under the Christmas tree: Pop Ambient 2003."

KAITO: Special Love CD (KOMP 023CD). $14.50

"Kaito's album Special Life was a one of 2002's most talked about records. Throughout all music scenes and stylistic preferences. And it is one of the rare records that found its way into the cases of Larry Heard, Gilles Petterson, Sven Vath and Miss Kitten at the same time. It is a powerful dedication to House music in a most euphoric and sophisticated way. A sweet reminder of the emotional depth and strength of House. It is about love to this music. About this 'special love'. Kompakt now releases a beatless version of Special Life for everybody who shares this love. Special Love pushes the emotional essence to the forefront. Unlike the 'Pop Ambient' series this is not about modern concepts. Special Love is about Ambient tradition. A good tradition. The vinyl version comes as a limited edition of 1000 copies. It works both as an ultimate DJ tool or just as what it is: Pure bliss. The person behind Kaito is the Tokyo-based DJ and producer Hiroshi Watanabe. This project is dedicated to and named after his 3 years old son. In translation the Japanese word 'KAITO' means: 'The one that is able to explain the universe'."

THOMAS, TOBIAS: Smallville CD (KOMP 024CD). $14.50

"Smallville is Tobias Thomas' second mix CD on Kompakt after the 1999 album Für Dich. Smallville is a musical try to compare the structures of living in small communities with the restrictions and possibilities of the dance community. It was mixed on two analogue record players in the empty Studio 672, Kompakt's homebase club, in Cologne. This is not so much a dance CD, this is a CD with story about the feeling of listening and dancing to music in a club. So Smallville starts rather quiet and romantic, grows and reaches a small climax and ends with a hymn." Artists include: Dntel, Kaito, Glowing Glisses, Anders Ilar, Sten, Jan Jelinek, Sami Koivikko, Aril Brikha, Feadz, Le Dust Sucker, Tonetraeger, and Forever Sweet.

VARIOUS ARTISTS: Schaffelfieber 2 CD (KOMP 025CD). $14.50

"For all those poor souls who got rid of their turntables the merciful Kompakt label presents this CD compilation full of present/future Cologne Techno/House classics that were mostly available before only on vinyl. Featured on Schaffelfieber 2 are some of the best producers and DJs around with new or still fresh tracks. Also included are two new tracks. Listen, enjoy and dance! " Artist listing: Wighomy Bros & Robag Wruhme, Superpitcher, Komeit, Paul Nazca, Node 1, Naum, Wassermann, The Orb, SCSi 9, International Pony vs. Losoul, Mikkil Metal.

VA: Total 5 CD (KOMP 026CD). $14.50

The Kompakt "Total" series was started in 1999 and has revolutionized the compiling of German electronic music into friendly, eagerly-anticipated state-of-the-art components. All you have to do is supply the couch and the electricity. A recap of recent vinyl highlights and exclusive moments, you buys these because you have to keep track. This is the fifth volume and features: SCSi-9, Superpitcher, Phong Sui, Justus Köhncke, T. Raumschmiere, Reinhard Voight, M. Mayer, Joachim Spieth, Thomas Fehlmann, Mikkil Metal, Jonas Bering.

THOMAS, ANDREW: Fearsome Jewel CD (KOMP 027CD). $12.00

35-minute Pop Ambient mini-album. "At last, this unbelievable summer has come to an end and we are now able to breathe fresh air again...Once upon a time, Andrew Thomas from New Zealand has fallen in love with a beauty called pop ambient from Cologne. Enchanted by her charm and grace, he declares his love to her by softly blowing 10 musical breezes from the coast of New Zealand to the River Rhine. Though the lady is moody, she simply cannot resist these delicate sounds, the most subtle temptation since Ulf Lohmann...Legend has it that Andrew Thomas is a celeb film score composer (Wellington International, Cannes, Montreal Film Festival) and ex-frisbee champion who is loosely connected with involve records and lives happily in his coastal house. And even if Kompakt keeps the sound saw running for a better world, it eventually stops it in order to softly blow a sweet smell of beatless weightlessness straight into your living room. So, here comes the ultimate water softener for your winter fake fur."

BERING, JONAS: Sketches For The Next Season CD (KOMP 028CD). $14.50

"Jonas Bering — the grand seigneur of timeless, beautiful minimalism, knows exactly what he wants: to freeze great moments. A good solid wine needs time to mature, and so does a good album. The first one — Bienfait (Kompakt 18) — dates back to 2000. But now, Jonas Bering finally presents his second album: Sketches Of The Next Season with 10 glamorous, cool-cool jewels full of lightness and grace. He skillfully glides between melodious klicker pop and transparent noble minimalism and makes them a perfect match. And with an almost provocative sangfroid, he defies any kind of music trends, microtrends and hypes: he braves the saw, the rock, the shuffle and keeps on dreaming of the purest, everlasting, timeless minimal techno. Maybe the most global dream ever — even with a French accent."

VA: Pop Ambient 2004 CD (KOMP 029CD). $14.50

"Pop Ambient is programmed poetry, feeded data processing, it is like a sweet way of getting drunk without having a hangover. Those of you who have seen the movie Hero know that real art cannot be replaced by technique (Matrix 2). Well, there is such and such music, too. And Pop Ambient is still the orchid among the variety of ambient music. Pop Ambient 2004 features not only wellknown heroes like Markus Guentner, All, Ulf Lohmann and Triola, but also some new artists: Andrew Thomas from New Zealand for example, or Tetsuo Sakae from Japan and his project called 'Pass into Silence': with his fragile, little treasure 'Sakura' he presents a most promising view onto his new album to be released in spring 2004 on Kompakt. Pop Ambient 2004 also features Donnacha Costello and Klimek: with their guitarsque jewels, they manage to close the narrow gap between Johnny Cash and cosmic noise blown through the open doors of the endless universe of pop ambient sounds. To be announced in the Pop Ambient year 2004. As in Heaven, so upon the Earth."

DJ KOZE: All People Is My Friends CD (KOMP 030CD). $14.50

"Steeped in a solid history of hip hop deck manipulation and a member of International Pony, DJ Koze brings his deft fingers to the new sound of Cologne, digging deep in the crates, brushing the dust off some classics and unheard gems, and coming up with some of the most leftfield choices ever assembled on a DJ mix album. Not as in leftfield techno or leftfield house, but right out in leftfield. Genre is not an issue or a constraint in this mix, and Koze holds it all together with his strong sense of rhythm and his all-encompassing musical know-how. Beyond being the album's title, All People Is My Friends is the back-to-basics attitude Koze brings to his selection. This mix sounds like it was made with the love and care of one friend making a mix tape for another. What starts off essentially as a campfire listening session slowly builds into a solid groove of Jan Jelinek hisses and crackles, Jackmate electro, and the lazy slide guitar samples of Thomas Brinkmann's 'Isch'. Further still, with tracks by Langley School Music Project, the Christians, and more than a few buried surprises book-ending the beats, All People Is My Friends is a very personal mix assembled out of music that would otherwise never meet in this way. Also included are stellar cuts by Mr. Oizo, Isolée, and Grungerman (Wolfgang Voigt). Rather than being a regurgitation of today's biggest 12"ers, Koze has opted for music that he really likes, songs that carry meaning. This is the perfect mix for jaded listeners who say that electronic producers show no emotion." Features tracks from: World Standard/Garland, Jan Jelinek, Jackmate, Mr. Oizo, Isolée, Fabrice Lig, Thomas Brinkmann, Villalobs, Smith n Hack, Matthew Jonson, Grungerman, DJ Koze.

PASS INTO SILENCE: Calm Like A Millpond CD (KOMP 031CD). $14.50

"Real Power lies in tranquility. After four Pop Ambient releases and a number of solo albums, our listeners are well acquainted with releases and understand by now that we are constantly breaking our necessary 'Will to Bang' and strive to come up with the most delicate ambient bloomers. Kompakt provides both thesis and anti-thesis at the same time. We do not wish to get too ahead of ourselves or nostalgic, but due to the disarming smoothness of this album, we ask your forgiveness for us softly sighing 'Oh My God' here. Japanese duo Pass Into Silence is the realization of producer Tetsuo Sakae and video artist Mayuchi, whom also is responsible for their graceful live visualizations. Tetsuo's music takes the listener into sound spheres of unfathomed purity — heights we have only previously penetrated by Ulf Lohmann (Kompakt CD13). An otherworldly portrait of bells and whispers, Voices hauntingly recalls Elizabeth Fraser and the Cocteau Twins, but you can never tell if vocalist Yukari is a woman or machine. This is a bewitching album and evokes images of Oscar-winning anime master Hayao Miyazaki and the Chinese movie Hero by Zhang Yimou. Overall, Calm Like A Millpond through its audio and video, fully captures the warmth of Pop Ambient with organic visual elements and insatiable harmonies. For us, ambient is essential, though you may not find it necessary." This is an Enhanced CD, includes 3 Quicktime videos.

SUPERPITCHER: Here Comes Love CD (KOMP 032CD). $14.50

"I came the long way..." or 'Good things come to those who wait...' can be taken quite literally when it comes to how far we've travelled to get to this point. It's been 3 years since Aksel Schaufler a.k.a. Superpitcher dropped the legendary debut single Heroin/Tomorrow (KOMPACT 35). Since then, he has earned a fervent underground following thanks to a string of singles and remixes — perhaps the most promising purveyor of the schaffel-techno surge since Wolfgang Voigt. With Here Comes Love, Superpitcher effortlessly succeeds in delicately balancing songwriting and DJ music. The result excretes charm and personality — referencing the most dazzling moments in club and pop music's history. Envision this scenario floating on a cloud fuelled by pure emotion — Françoise Hardy and DJ Pierre slow-dancing in Jamaica's Studio One, Brian Ferry taking an inebriated Elvis Presley's temperature, and contemporary R&B flirting with Cologne's minimalism — straight into your own soul-stirring disco. From the Moroder-tipped bass and mood bells tolling the opening of 'People', it's plain to see that Schaufler studio trickery has opened up to make room in the mix for the vocals that will figure heavily into every track that follows. The underlying agitation of 'People' gives way to the jump-up bounce of one of the album's highlight tracks, 'The Long Way', in which Schaufler's hazy cabaret crooning attests over and over again, 'I came the long way just to find you.' From hereon in the album swings back and forth from periodic lapses of introversion from boys who think too much ('Sad Boys') to the openhearted diary-like affectations of 'Love Me Forever', 'Lover's Rock', and 'Happiness'. Here Comes Love features previously unreleased tracks recorded over a continuous period of over 12 months. The result is proudly an album rather than a simple compilation of new tracks. It's difficult for us to avoid repeating that over-used P-word as it's so pleasurably melting in our mouth. Here comes POP. Here comes Superpitcher. Here comes Love."

KLIMEK: Milk & Honey CD (KOMP 033CD). $14.50

"Sebastian Meissner, living in Frankfurt/Main, is a concept artist, composer, sound designer and photographer and presents his newest musical oeuvre with Milk & Honey. After very considered works for labels such as Mille Plateaux, Sub Rosa, Beta Bodega or Cronica he installs his project Klimek on Kompakt, which also has an optical correspondence from the acoustic expression published as a multimedia performance. Meissner's works are mainly concerned with 'the coincidence in digital music compositions', which in case of his Klimek projects are based on the most classic of all analog soundsources: the guitar. These slow motion-like soundshapes unfold a feeling of boundless width and contemplative silence. The effect is not far from the Kompakt pop ambient sound: pictures, references, associations appear in front of our imaginary eye. With Milk & Honey they don't live on the memory treasure called pop, but rather from the classical roadmovie or even the best times of the Italian western. Meissner rather refers to the country where milk and honey flows, which is reflected on the coverartwork and in the Quicktime movie contained on the CD version. His photographs also form the raw material for the multimedia installations. The least common denominator of roadmovie and western is the desert; this album sounds as if a lonely guitar — scattered to the four winds — escapes the ear. It is a perfect soundtrack for a sultry night of thunderstorm, one of the nights we may expect again next summer. Music for the romantic side of the climatic disaster."

VA: Kompakt 100 2CD (KOMP 034CD). $17.50

Kompakt artists remixing Kompakt! 21 new, exclusive tracks. "Approaching the magic number 100, we were aware of the fact that we had to come up with a special jubilee edition. And actually, there were two reasons for choosing this format: On the one hand, we didn't want to release just another compilation, but rather make a well thought-out concept record. On the other hand, at times when music is undergoing radical changes, we wanted to seize the opportunity to not only celebrate the label, but also a sustainable vision of techno music. As regards content, the concept was rather easy: Each participating Kompakt artist was asked to choose one title of the previous 99 Kompakt releases and make a remix. The result: 21 amazing, brilliant, sometimes unexpected, but always very inventive tracks, ranging between cosmic, rattling tunes and primetime sawing sounds. So far, this is the most encyclopedic overview of Kompakt's tradition of constantly re-defining the limits of techno music. Apart from these internal formalities, it is more important for us to mention the record's prospective rather than its retrospective view. It is 2004, i.e. 15 years of Techno music. Techno is not a new anymore, but it still is the most up-to-date, thrilling, unpredictable, exciting and best of all music styles on this planet. Wir Machen Weiter (->We Won't Stop!)." Featuring: The Orb, DJ Koze, Reinhard Voigt, Sascha Funke, Thomas Fehlmann, The Modernist, Justus Köhncke, Joachim Spieth, M.Mayer, Kaito, Superpitcher, Dettinger, Closer Musik, Markus Guentner, Jürgen Paape, Jonas Bering, Leandro Fresco, Ulf Lohmann, etc.

VA: Speicher CD1 (Mixed by M. Mayer) CD (KOMP EX001CD). $14.50

"Finally, the Kompakt label is on to release the first 'Speicher' CD and to top things off, this one's mixed by one of Kompakt finest, namely Michael Mayer himself. Speicher CD 1 is 70 minutes+ of the finest, kickin' Cologne Techno and combines some of the best tracks of the 'Speicher' 12" series as well as some associated friends like the great T. Raumschmiere and Markus Guentner, whose new album Audio Island on Ware is definitely one of the TechHouse albums of the year. No need to say more, Speicher CD1 will be the essential Techno Mix-CD of 2003." Artists include: Superpitcher, T.Raumschmiere, Wassermann, M. Mayer, M. Mayer/Reinhard Voigt, Reinhard Voigt, Joachim Spieth, Ulf Lohmann, Markus Guentner, and Voigt & Voigt.

KOMPLOTT (SWEDEN):

FIGURERA: De Reperare LP (KOMPLOTT). $10.00

"Utterly surprising follow up from Swedish electrowizzards going classic. Sure, you still have these twisted Autechrian bleeps but more importantly is the whole feeling the 6 tracker breaths... lots of the tracks going quietly and softly direction 19th century romantic music.

So, if you ever wandered how Schönberg would sound today, this might be pretty close. Throw in a little 'autumn' George Winston, Fs Blumm and some typical 2000 glitches. Melt it all down into one stew and you have an album to treasure for years to come."

KOMP: Vena LP (KOMPLOTT 02). $11.00

"Whilst Andréas Tillander has been composing music for almost ten years this LP represents his debut release except for his current appearance on the Merc compilation Squadron. He started composing his music through his personal computer and all the tracks on Vena is arranged through computer software together with modern digital instruments. The result is an album of modern sounding electronica charged with alternative beats, noise and suggestive melodies all tied up with a broad spectre of influences, techno, ambient, hiphop, dub etc. This album looks just to be the beginning of several releases for Andréas Tillander this year. Another album is scheduled for release on the German imprint Raster-Noton and a appearance on a forthcoming Fat Cat compilation is also planned. Vena is available on vinyl only limited to 1000 copies."

TWINE: Circulation LP (KOMPLOTT 03). $12.00

"Since 1997, Greg Malcolm and Chad Mossholder have been performing their glitchy, dark, ambience around the region with such artists as Oval, Thomas Brinkmann, Mouse On Mars etc. Their debut CD, Reference, gained them wider attention. Both Greg and Chad collaborate on studio projects, and they have a kind of post-modern digital age working relationship. Circulation is Twine's first release since the much appreciated 12", 'Immediate Action' dub etc. This album looks just to be the beginning of several releases for Andréas Tillander this year. Another album is scheduled for release on the German imprint Raster-Noton and a appearance on a forthcoming Fat Cat compilation is also planned. Vena is available on vinyl only limited to 1000 copies."

KONINCK (UK):

JANKOWSKI, LECH: Institute Benjamenta: OST to the Film by the Quay Bros. CD (KON 001 CD). $17.00

Much in-demand soundtrack to the Quay Brothers film Institute Benjamenta, by the Polish composer Lech Jankowski. This CD has been released by the film's producer on a very limited mail order-only basis and these are the first copies to be more widely distributed. "Original Soundtrack Recording to recent (1995) Brothers Quay film Institute Benjamenta" their first full-length live-action film (they are known mostly for their groundbreaking animated films such as Street of Crocodiles and The Cabinet of Jan Svankmajer, involving 'fantastic decor and Kafkaesque puppets' as well as for collaborating on Peter Gabriel's 'Sledgehammer' music video), concerning itself with the titled 'school for domestics' & its faculty/enrolled parties. Lech Jankowski's music switches gears from VERY austere acoustic-jazz settings to eastern European themes & occasional (limited) free-jazz/chamber squeal/scratch, a pleasing set of pieces not far from the tonal universe used in the films of Tarkovsky (a noted influence on the visual appeal of the Brothers Quay). An intriguing lot of sound which stands well on its own as an emotional centerpiece. Sussed." — Hrvatski.

KONKURRENT (NETHERLANDS):

TORTOISE/THE EX: In The Fishtank 5 CD (KONK 05 CD). $11.00

"In The Fishtank-series number five: Chicago's famous post rock stars Tortoise meet the Dutch punks from The Ex X in the studio. The result are these six tracks with a duration of around 25 minutes. Tortoise being the introvert and The Ex being the EX-trovert, it seems an unlikely combination. Still we can say it has worked out really well. A little more The Ex than Tortoise, but still you can hear from both bands what they are known for. It's rhythm paradise."

TORTOISE/THE EX: In The Fishtank 5 LP (KONK 05 LP). $11.00

LP version.

KONSEQUENT (GERMANY):

RUBBERNECK: "Pot" Remixes 2LP (KSQ 007). $17.00

Four track double 12", featuring the original version (produced by Swedish minimal techno artist Cari Lekebusch) and three remixes by: Christian Morgenstern, Claude Young & Thomas Brinkmann! This is the first Brinkmann track to be issued in standard remix form.

KORM PLASTICS (NETHERLANDS):

KAHN & STEVE RODEN, JASON: Brombron 06: Shimmer/Flicker/Waver/Quiver CD (BROM 06). $18.00

"In the year 2000 Frans de Waard and Extrapool started the Brombron project. Two or more musicians become artists in residence in Extrapool, an arts initiative in Nijmegen, The Netherlands, with a fully equipped sound recording studio. These artists can work in a certain amount of time on a collaborative project; a project they always wished to do, but didn't have the time or the equipment to realize. In September 2002, Jason Kahn and Steve Roden joined forces in the Extrapool studios. Steve Roden played small acoustic objects, electric guitar, contact microphones and guitar pedals whereas Jason Kahn played minimal percussion, laptop and analogue synthesizer. Their focus on sound is a central factor in this work. Six beautiful pieces of microscopic, precise music — like watching through the looking glass at the smallest particles available."

BOURBONESE QUALK: On Uncertainty CD (KP 3003). $15.00

"2001 marks the the emergence from hibernation of Bourbonese Qualk. A group who originated in the UK in the early 1980s and remained at the forefront of experimental music in europe for the next decade. Bourbonese Qualk were never a purely electronic band, but incorporated 'traditional' acoustic instruments and musical forms alongside computers and synthesizers. From 1983 to 1993, Bourbonese Qualk released their work on their own labels Reclose Organisation and New International (as well as releasing works by other artists such as Muslimgauze) and toured extensively throughout Europe, Eastern Europe and the USA. Bourbonese Qualk were known for their anarchist political views and involvement in events such as the Stop The City and Trafalgar riots in London and the underground political scene in eastern europe before the fall of the Berlin wall. Bourbonese Qualk are back and it sounds like they were never away. On Uncertainty is their new studio album, displaying their skills with ambient like guitar pieces, funky beat driven electronic rhythmical soundscapes — sketches with noise. Bourbonese Qualk after two decades remain true to their original sound."

VA: 45:18 CD (KP 3005). $15.00

"Perhaps the most controversial composition of the twentieth century is John Cage's '4:33'. Performed for the first time in 1952 by David Tudor, the piece consisted of opening the piano lid, and closing it after the given time, without having played a single note. Silence became music. Some years ago composer Roel Meelkop suggested to Meeuw Muzak a compilation CD of various interpretations of '4:33'. After years of compiling and harsh judgement, nine versions were selected. '4:33' is performed here by Keith Rowe, Voice Crack, Jio Shimuzo, Tsudo Tsunoda, Alignment (Mark Posyden & Radboud Mens), Artificial Memory Trace, Pauline Olivieros, Thurston Moore, Clive Graham. Also included are two extensive liner notes by Frans de Waard and Mark Posyden. As Meeuw Muzak releases no CDs, the whole project is now being released by Korm Plastics. As radical as the original composition, the nine interpretations range, of course, from sheer silence to sheer noise and digital data streams."

ANTENNE: #2 CD (KP 3006). $15.00

"As the title implies #2 is the successor to Antenne's debut album #1 (2000, Korm Plastics), a mix of minimal, melancholic songs and repetitive electronica. #2 contains 7 tracks and starts out with a cover-version of 'Black Eyed Dog' by Nick Drake — one of the last songs the legendary British folk singer recorded before his death in 1974. Antenne's version extends and enhances the sadness and melancholy of the original with a beautiful, repetitive mix of acoustic guitar, piano, glitch-electronica and the voice of Marie-Louise Munck who also sang on #1. This, and the other 6 tracks are all dark and intelligent trip-hop and ambient experientially open towards a wider audience but still progressive enough to satisfy listeners of experimental electronics."

MYERS & THOMAS DIMUZIO, DAVID LEE: Uncertain Symmetry CD (KP 3008). $15.00

"New York's David Lee Myers and San Francisco's Thomas Dimuzio shared a stage at Tonic in New York City in March 2001 — Myers' first public performance in ten years — which immediately sparked a year long regenerative process. The ensuing 2001-2002 project actually picks up where a paused 1991 collaboration for the Generations Unlimited label left off. Myers' first round of source material represented a veritable sound library of feedback tones, texture and contours for Dimuzio to compose from. The structures Dimuzio created, along with several tracks of feedback-induced source sound (recorded for their project 10 years prior) were sent back to Myers for additional manipulation and arrangement; the result of this phase became the first section of their new effort. A second stage involved Myers sending material (from a rehearsal for an upcoming performance) to Dimuzio, who sliced, diced and reworked the sounds into a series of in-depth sonic beds, eventually returning the mixes, along with a new disc of live-sampled feedback, to Myers who reworked and honed them into the second half of the album. The product of these manipulations is titled Uncertain Symmetry, the result of a bicoastal ping-ponging which is an even balance between the two artists—symmetrical— but which the specific contributions from each can no longer be determined."

SMALTS: It's Good To Be On A Well-Run Ship CD (KP 3009). $15.00

"Exactly two years after the disaster with Russian submarine Koersk, the album It's Good To Be On A Well-Run Ship by Dutch group Smalts is released. It's dedicated to those who died and in support of the those left behind. Musically Smalts move between Harry Partch, John Lee Hooker, Brian Eno, Residents, Minny Pops, Heiner Goebbels, Terry Riley and Lee Perry, as a soundtrack to a film by Serjey Paradzjanov. It has been quiet for Smalts in the last twenty years. The band was formed in 1982, right after the release of the Minny Pops album 'Sparks In A Dark Room'. Minny Pops members Wim Dekker and Pieter Mulder work together on instrumental music, at first to be the basis of new Minny Pops songs, but soon it became clear they worked on their own sound. The two musicians become a quartet, together with drummer Rubin Oates and Minny Pops soundman Zip Boterbloem. In this line up they still exist. Currently Smalts is recording classical minimal music compositions by people as Terry Riley and a pure intonation piece inspired by Harry Partch."

BEEQUEEN: A Touch Of Brimstone CD (KP 3011). $15.00

"A Touch of Brimstone features many unreleased recordings from 1989 to 1995, as well as a one cut from the now long-deleted Scala Destillans LP. This release comes with a 32-page booklet, with many exclusive flyers from concerts and hilarious, never before seen, photographs of the band and a fully updated discography. Many of the previous releases by Beequeen are no longer available and this collection fills a gap in many ways: the gap in the collection of truly devoted fans and newcomers alike, who wish to take a look in the past. Beequeen explores the depths of mind music in their own blend of electronics, drones and unique use of samples."

MATHIEU, STEPHAN: Kapotte Muziek By CD (KP 3012). $11.00

Original recordings from a Kapotte Muziek concert from August 1996, reworked by Stephan Mathieu. "With my rework for the Dutch band Kapotte Muziek, this concept topped itself out. I spent eight months processing raw material, resulting in the usual several gigabytes. When it was about time for me to finish the piece I returned to my files to edit them down in ProTools (Mac OS9). I re-listened to everything, made some adjustments, and then rebooted in OSX to work in Soundhack. After a little while my machine crashed, hard — so hard that all I could do to restart it was to take out the batteries. When I finally rebooted in OSX it did nothing else but play this music for 30 minutes, a medley of my Kapotte Muziek material, finished by the computer itself. Kapotte Muziek, ironically enough, translates as 'damaged music'."

TSUNODA, TOSHIYA: Kapotte Muziek CD (KP 3014). $13.00

"This is in many ways a break with tradition. Normally Toshiya Tsunoda writes detailed descriptions of what he does per piece, but in this case it is just said he reworks an old cassette by Kapotte Muziek, called 4 stukken. This is the second break: up until now musicians involved in this series used live recordings, but Tsunoda is the first to use a studio recording by Kapotte Muziek. Like the cassette there are four parts, corresponding with the original release and they are reworked in the best Tsunoda tradition, involving field recordings and strange and unusual on-site recordings. The sound work of Japanese artist Toshiya Tsunoda represents a radical rethinking of the concept of field recordings. Rather than being documentary or naturalistic, his pieces appear as unique music compositions concerned with the relation between space and cognition, rendering the vibration of objects audible, revealing the hidden beauty in each sonic detail. With the meticulously scientific approach of a catalogist, Tsunoda captures the depth of the landscape, the vital breathing of things."

MOORE, THURSTON: Kapotte Muziek By... CD (KP 3015). $13.00

"In April 2002, Kapotte Muziek returned to the USA for their second tour (the first one was in 1993), this as a trio of Frans de Waard, Roel Meelkop and Peter Duimelinks. On stop was at the rural city of Easthampton and the audience that night was rather small, but among them were Scott Faust, Gregory Whitehead and Thurston Moore. That particular concert showed Kapotte Muziek in probably their most fluxus element: the process of making music was made audible. The amplification of the opening of the bags, searching out objects to play and from there built the concert was a new, and as of yet, unrepeated, idea. For the 12th part in our series of Kapotte Muziek by... we asked Thurston Moore to expand on this idea and in a totally free setting of piano, guitar and small objects, he recreates the concerts by removing the concert and replacing it by his own playing, where the original recording serves as a score. Thurston Moore is a well-known improviser, having played with Nels Cline, Loren Mazzacane Connors, Tom Sargal and William Hooker. Besides all of that, he also plays in rockband."

HAFLER TRIO, THE: Kill The King CD (KP KTK). $18.00

"The first re-issue in the Hafler Trio re-issue series will be Kill The King. Saved from bit-rot, ergonomically enhanced, notated, commented, added and lubricated to perfection, Kill The King rises again to slip inside systems and penetrate that which used to be called Mind with an effortless bobbing and to-ing and fro-ing, which connects the other centres with a loud 'PING!', leaving all joyous and fruitful. Believing is seeing. Experience the thrill of several lifetimes and invest in your grandchildren's uncertain future. Originally released in 1991 by Staalplaat and Silent Records, this is one of the most sought after classic Hafler Trio releases, the original being unavailable for a decade. Packed in the usual Hafler Trio carton sleeve and with booklet and wrap arounds (like the recent release on Die Stadt and Nextera)."

HAFLER TRIO, THE: The Sea Org CD (KP TSO). $20.00

"The second re-issue in the Hafler Trio re-issue series will be The Sea Org. From the strangely becalmed waters of the past comes the regurgitation of The Sea Org, now extended and both sonically as well as visually enhanced beyond the wildest dreams of even the most advanced Operating Thetan. revel in the now perfect presentation of the live removal of engrams, and feast the senses of all kinds on the banquet set before you — unreleased material in both audible and pictorial and written form. There is no sense in ignoring this. Obtain now before the Wog World envelops you and makes all this impossible. Originally released in 1987 by Touch as a 10" record, sold out since many years and once part of 'The Golden Hammer' series, now re-issued in the most definite version. Including four extra tracks, one video (in .mov format), 28 page booklet and postcard."

KOSINUS (FRANCE):

PERREY, JEAN-JACQUES: Good Moog: Astral Animations & Komputer Kartoons CD (KOS 55). $16.00

"Jean-Jacques Perrey was one half of the Perrey/Kingsley duo that, most famously, brought us In Sound from Way Out (later parodied by the Beastie Boys, etc...) and on his own, the track 'E.V.A.' (later re-fashioned by Fatboy Slim, covered by something known as 'Sure is Pure', etc...) as well as recent collabs w/"French Band Air". Strangely enough, this is a collection of music previously only available as a 'function music' (i.e. music for business presentations, airline commercials, Stanley Kubrick movies, radio plays (post Orson, natch), pagan rituals, etc...) LP series entitled Sonosyntheses Electriques (which, incidentally, are rare). Perhaps not quite as 'punk' as the Perrey/Kingsley set, but still highly enjoyable/cheeky through the use of all that trademark obsolete technology (Ondes Martenot, Ondioline, Moog, Marimba) that the youth oh so love. I'll spare you all the anecdote about Jean Cotteau/Edith Piaf aiding in Perrey's departure to the US." — Hrvatski. Limited stock.

KPFA/PACIFICA:

VA: Is Freedom Academic? LP (KPFA). $25.00

Small warehouse find of original LPs from mid-60s. "A Documentary Of The Free Speech Movement At The University Of California, Berkeley — Fall 1964 (LP released by KPFA-Pacifica Radio in 1964)."

KRACFIVE:

VA: Penguin Mechanics Vol III CD (KFAT 003 CD). $12.00

"The mechanics were given nearly complete freedom, with the rough guideline of constructing a track that resembles the machine, possibly utilizing recorded/synthesized sounds of — klankgrinding, motor whirring, metallic collisions, beeps and buzzes — into rhythmic components. Resultant mechanical devices complement one another: warring machines, lighthearted apparati, anxious robotics, mighty bomotracors with wide loads, thumping gadgets ready for inspection... all in the genus groovemechanismi. Features these artists: brothomStates, Freeform, Colongib, Versh Gear Choir, Bauri, Octopus Inc, VVM, Proem, Pacman, Chaircrusher, Phthalocyanine, Lackluster, Miragliuolo, Cex."

COLONGIB: Mapping Music CD (KFAT 004 CD). $12.00

"Colongib's song 'Megablastierfiend' on Blip Bleep: Soundtracks to Imaginary Video Games made a point to delve where no Atari was ever meant to go. You will probably jump at the difference in sound on Mapping Music. The beats approach Schematic-like crunch and the melodic track is everywhere: once funk, then jazz (lots of that, but totally messed up), then mulches & granules. It is a dense album which has its share of surprises throughout. This inclassifiable breed of sounds which you can't really call jazz, yet recognize a pattern of something which has jazz in it. And it happens to swing and groove and be happy with itself." — David Turgeon, No Type

KETTEL: Dreim CD (KFAT 006 CD). $13.50

"After a year of hard working and gnome hunting, the chicken punisher finally delivers its debut album. Reimer Eising with his Kettel-Dreim LP has built a cool trunk-full of melodic nostalgia and grooves with a hip-hop attitude. His use of repetition and layering is done similar to the way of Plaid or Boards of Canada, feelings drawn from simple movements with purpose. Dream-like connections between the parts. Memorable songs. Discover a great album where the ambivalent DSP frills of some are replaced with original fun and emotion."

COLONGIB & CHRISTOPHER GRAVES: Special Rumble CD (KFAT 008). $13.50

"20 years in the making, this album hears Colongib collaborating with life-long soul-mate Chris Graves. Songs and soundscapes are assembled with great detail and changing nonrepetition, yet not 100% abstract: still accessible and with 80% more funk. This album has personality. A sense of humor from an odd Krafive land. Colongib and likeminded fellows (elsepeople de Krafive, Bisk, Freeform, Ae, Atom, Phthalo, Hrvatski, Sonig camp) seem to be building a new language in music — sourcing sounds from all walks of life (microphones in hand at all times, electronic synthesis, sampling, altered often beyond recognition and fitted together as if originally from the same world) and composing with them in a technically impressive manner while retaining an organic feel. A beautiful and appropriate machineplant mess for artwork, built by Tpolm and Graves."

ORIGINAL INSTRUMENT: CD (KFAT 009 CD). $13.50

"This album sees Colongib, Miragliuolo, Octopus Inc, and Kettel collaborating with all sound sources being human vocals. Constructions use a wide range of real human instruments, the result being funky, unexpected, surreal, sexy, 'emotional', dynamic. What a load of fun these guys have! Real songs! Human emotion! Human voices! They must be crazy to imagine such songs as these! The beginning and end of music at the same time? Vocal cutups and distortions are taken to extremes — not woven in, they are the music. It will be a marvelous, completed album with the pointed upward precision the Scherapparates arrange of the blow of the axe the voices to bring around the Vergngen and make you surprised."

OCTOPUS INC: Fluid Freedom CD (KFAT 010 CD). $13.50

"Noah Sasso further builds his style with his second Octopus Inc full-length for Krafive."

Since his works throughout the nineties as Pacman, Noah has developed with the mind of the mighty octopus a beautiful blend of electronic and acoustic instrumentation, where through clever sound design and processing one can't be distinguished from the other. Love of detail doesn't stop at the sonic design stage however; here the sounds are arranged into full things. Songwise the music is melodic as always and purposeful, with good use of space. Here it's playtime, there a changing move to groove to, a bit of fun, and up over here a violent spasm. Where previous album Mere things... stepped comfortably through genres of electronic music of the past & future, Fluid Freedom moves into styles that haven't even been discovered, accompanying pioneers such as Zammuto, We, Matmos, and Bisk."

COLONGIB & OCTOPUS INC.: CD (KFAT 012 CD). $12.00

"Long awaited collaboration album from Kracive veterans Graves & Sasso Building on the sounds of their earlier works in Penguin Mechanics and Original Instrument, it's a gritty and weird and dreamy time. Like a gritty dream, about insects and increments. No, no, seriously though, this is "electronic" music about metal and dust. On the internet. CD version comes with enhanced data track with music videos, sequencer."

COLONGIB & OCTOPUS INC.: LP (KFAT 012 LP). $11.00

LP Version.

KETTEL: Look At This! Ha Ha Ha! CD (KFAT 014 CD). $12.00

"The noble Reimer Eising returns for his second outing on Kracive, again enlisting his loyal gnome-choir to sing and play synthesizers for his catchy melodic folksongs. They've learned a lot and can really groove. Similar to his Plaid-influenced debut LP Dreim, Look At This... is heavily melodic and equally satisfying, but catchier and further developed. Look At This calls into mind rolling hills of Netherlands campgrounds, flying catbirds, and gnome hideouts. Following releases on Holland's Dub and England's Neo Oujia and Planet Mu, as well as the collaboration album Original Instrument with Colongib and Octopus Inc and Miragliuolo, this collection of songs recorded between 2001 and 1999 is Kettel's most upbeat and uplifting release yet."

KETTEL: Look At This! Ha Ha Ha! LP (KFAT 014 LP). $11.00

LP version.

KRAKED (FRANCE):

DRUGS VS. CHATEAU FLIGHT: Brain On Drugs LP (KVM 002). $9.00

Against a silhouette of Dubya's evil brain, this single walks ahead of the pack as the pharmaceutical-groove moment of the year. "An eerie lackadaisical atmosphere emerges from the extremely mellow confrontation of Parisian duo Chateau Flight and funk super-combo Drugs. The intertwined themes of drug-experimentation, sedition against the powers that be and inner City Blues. As if it were Moodymann but not quite. Thrilling."

KRANK (EUROPE):

DJ FRENCHBLOKE & SON: Haggis Trax LP (KRANK LP). $13.00

Repress of this "bootleg" LP, in the Girls on Top style. Mix'n'match duets from the likes of Kraftwerk, Sparks, Dead Kennedy's, Destiny's Child, Britney, Phuture, Anthony Rother, Chic and other names that can't be mentioned in a family publication.

KRANKY:

LABRADFORD: Prazision CD (KRANK 001CD). $13.00

A Richmond, VA duo consisting of guitar and analog synthesizer who exhibit a very cool driftiness. A press release merely compares them to: Neu, F/i, Spacemen3, Gate, Dead C. & Jim O'Rourke.

DADAMAH: This Is Not A Dream CD (KRANK 002CD). $13.00

The complete recorded works of this now defunct New Zealand band, including the 2 singles on Majora, Drag City comp track and This Is Not A Dream LP (also Majora). Some of the coolest mantra-dream rock of the last decade.

JESSAMINE: CD (KRANK 003CD). $13.00

Debut full length by this Seattle band with a couple singles and a bit of a Silver Apples fixation behind them. "moog-guitar duels," "electron wave lapping," and other forms of cloudy pop damage within a somewhat straight indie format a la Stereolab (or some other utterly fantastic band that I'm too lazy to listen to).

DISSOLVE: That That Is...Is (Not) CD (KRANK 005CD). $13.00

A Christchurch, NZ duo made up of guitarists Chris Heaphy and Roy Montgomery (ex-Dadamah, Pin Group). "Extrapolating from the drone of Dadamah, Dissolve move into new, stark landscapes marked by the spindly interplay of the 2 guitarists... will remind you of Bruce Gilbert's work with Dome, the crystalline structures of This Kind of Punishment, the sidwinding interplay of Mark Riley and Craig Scanlon in the Fall..."

DISSOLVE: That That Is...Is (Not) LP (KRANK 005LP). $8.00

LABRADFORD: A Stable Reference CD (KRANK 006CD). $13.00

2nd album by heavily acclaimed Chicago trio. Guitar, keyboards, bass & subdued vocals mix up a brew of lo-ball ambiance and occasional icy sadness, it's no wonder they're huge in the UK.

BOWERY ELECTRIC: CD (KRANK 007CD). $13.00

NY trio that play a monotonous, heavy-fuzz edition of slightly glazed rock.

BOWERY ELECTRIC: LP (KRANK 007LP). $8.00

FLIES INSIDE THE SUN: An Audience of Others (Including Herself) LP (KRANK 008LP). $8.00

MONTGOMERY, ROY: Temple IV CD (KRANK 009CD). $13.00

When his lips are sealed, Mr. Montgomery suddenly becomes quite listenable. This second solo album, following the Scenes From The South Island CD on D. Fish, is another instrumental trance epic. "Mayan aficionados out there will link the title and the famous site at Tikal. The tracks on the album are thick with interwoven guitar lines and moog drone, inspired by the Guatemalan rain forests and mysterious ruins of the temple there."

MAGNOG: CD (KRANK 010CD). $13.00

Debut from a young guitar/bass/drums/moog trio from Washington state. "Not since the heyday of early Guru Guru and the original Ash Ra Tempel have we experienced such unrestrained, free playing taking place within the confines of a 'rock' band. More recent examples of this aesthetic might include the early recordings of Dif Juz on 4AD, Milwaukee's F/i, the recent collection of 4-track recordings from Cul de Sac or the homespun psych of Charalambides..."

MAGNOG: 2LP (KRANK 010LP). $13.00

Vinyl version has a full color gatefold and 11 extra minutes of music (CD could only hold 77 minutes).

JESSAMINE: Long Arm of Coincidence CD (KRANK 012CD). $13.00

"From beginning to finish, The Long Arm... is a remarkable work that documents the range this quartet can cover; from moog squiggles to blissful balladry to rhythmic tangle and stellar directed drones. The full integration of percussionist Michael Faeth into the band has resulted in a more confident and varied rhythmic base. The Long Arm... is a resolutely percussive album, inspired in part by the extended interplay of Can in their Tago Mago period. More directly, it is the result of Jessamine's commitment to live improvisation."

JESSAMINE: The Long Arm Of Coincidence 2LP (KRANK 012LP). $13.00

LABRADFORD: CD (KRANK 013CD). $13.00

Self-titled 3rd album from this Richmond, VA trio (keyboards, bass, samples, guitar, vocals). "From the beginning strains of chains dragging across a Co2 canister on 'Phantom Channel Crossing,' Labradford have infused the album with sampled and real time percussion traces, at times faintly delving into actual syncopation."

LABRADFORD: LP (KRANK 013LP). $8.00

BOWERY ELECTRIC: Beat CD (KRANK 014CD). $13.00

Transcendent 2nd full length album for the label, recorded 6/96. "With their now familiar sense of economy apparent in the arrangements, Beat finds Bowery Electric adding layers of analog synth and sampled guitars to their 'drone n' bass' foundations, along with programmed loops and live beats; further befuddling those Luddites still wondering whether the band is rock, post rock, ambient or dance." Stolen off the internet, summing things up:

"Beat is a STUNNING record. A truly seamless meeting of their dreamy glacial drift, the muscle of the first (Loop-ish) 2x7", and the overpowering dub-erotic feel of Mad Professor/Massive Attack. Organic, metallic, and icy/hot. A compendium of contradictions which is one of the sweetest listens you'll hear all year. They certainly deserve the 'drone & bass' tag — but don't expect Jenkinson breaks. The electronic elements are kept simpler (and buried)." —G Man II.

STARS OF THE LID: The Ballasted Orchestra CD (KRANK 015CD). $13.00

CD version of the new album by this Texas outfit, following 2 released on Sedimental. Purely droning ambiance. "...finds Stars of the Lid adding harmonica and didgeridoo to an arsenal of sound sources that already includes guitars, effects and field recordings."

STARS OF THE LID: The Ballasted Orchestra 2LP (KRANK 015LP). $13.00

Double LP, following 2 albums released on Sedimental. "...finds Stars of the Lid adding harmonica and didgeridoo to an arsenal of sound sources that already includes guitars, effects and field recordings."

DOLDRUMS: Acupuncture CD (KRANK 016CD). $13.00

First full length following an EP on VHF by this trio. "Doldrums have carved out their own section of the neo-futurist pavilion, combining instrumental improvisation (created entirely by a bare bones lineup of two guitarists and one drummer), spatial exploration, folkish strands and textural condensation. The debut EP drew comparisons to Main, Cul de Sac, Labradford, the Dead C., Cluster and Jessamine. With the new album, listeners ought to draw more appreciation for the considerable rhythmic maneuverability Doldrums bring to the table as well as the mathematical skills they can use when the mood fits them."

AMP: astralmoonbeamprojections CD (KRANK 017CD). $13.00

"Any association between the3 group Amp, its origins in Bristol, England and the various bands based in that area ought to be put aside for a moment. With their second album, Amp have moved beyond any scene identification or family tree into a realm of their own creation. Their initial singles, debut album Sirenes and collaborations with the Third Eye Foundation found Amp moving between delicate piano figures, jungle rhythmic clatter, outer limits drone and cosmic balladry. This new double album on Kranky finds Amp delving into speleological explorations, working within sound caverns that echo with bass and the distant thunder of drums."

AMP: astralmoonbeamprojections 2LP (KRANK 017LP). $13.00

Has 2 extra vinyl-only tracks.

DISSOLVE: Third Album For The Sun CD (KRANK 018CD). $13.00

"Recording sessions for the 2nd Dissolve album began in October, '96 in New Zealand. Guitarists Roy Montgomery and Chris Heaphy were joined by John Chrisstoffels of the Terminals, who contributed some cello and percussion, Kaye Woodward of the Bats who added guitar and vocals and Arnie Van Bussel on bass. The finished work is a measure darker and more abrasive than Dissolve's first album, with added skins of texture and melody."

PHILOSOPHER'S STONE: Preparation CD (KRANK 019CD). $13.00

Solo recordings by Gareth Mitchell, a contributing member of the UK group Amp. "Mitchell's home recordings sound like a combination of Zoviet France, Robbie Basho and Scott Walker, with guitar-originated textures floating over percussion, loops and Mitchell's wavering voice. The soundfields he constructs with guitars and loops expand and swirl around the listener's head. Melodic vocals flutter above strings and guitars burst through pushing meters into the red. Sound is tingled, smeared and looped. Within the mass the listener can hear what sounds like the chiming of bells, gongs and faint voices."

PHILOSOPHER'S STONE: Preparation LP (KRANK 019LP). $8.00

STARS OF THE LID: Gravitational Pull vs. The Desire For An Aquatic Life CD (KRANK 020CD). $13.00

"Reissue of the very limited LP that was on Sedimental label, with additional material added."

LOW: Songs For A Dead Pilot CD (KRANK 021CD). $11.00

New 36 minute six song EP from this trio from Duluth, MN. Three previous albums have been released on Vernon Yard, as well as a split single with the Dirty Three. "The careful unveiling of melody has always been Low's forte, with the new album the group adds the transformative factor that the blurring and merging of an eight track tape deck brings to the recording process. Low have retained the patient song craft, the riveting vocal interplay...and the relaxed pace that allows songs to stretch themselves out. Keyboard drone, throbbing drum patterns and waves of bass feedback are new flavors added to the mix, giving Songs For A Dead Pilot a subtle, experimental feel."

MAGNOG: More Weather 2CD (KRANK 022CD). $15.00

Double CD collection of early demos from this Edmonds, WA trio whose debut self-titled album was released on Kranky in 1996. This consists of 4-track recordings from 1994-96, guitar, delay, bass, Moog, drums, vocals, bag, etc.

LABRADFORD: Mi Media Naranja CD (KRANK 023CD). $13.00

"With their fourth album, Labradford have once again broadened and varied their sound, while maintaining their distinctive identity. Mi Media Naranja adds a string section, Fender Rhodes electric piano and slide guitar to the trio's sound bank. It is the most cinematic of Labradford's recordings to date. The music alternately stretches, ripples or lofts its way past the listener as if it was coming off a screen and not through speakers. The sounds here are reminiscent of John Barry, Bill Evans and most of all, Labradford." LABRADFORD: Mi Media Naranja LP (KRANK 023LP). $8.00

WINDY & CARL: Depths CD (KRANK 024CD). $13.00

"Put aside whatever preconceptions you might have about Windy & Carl. Their new album for Kranky is well named: a journey into deeper and more unsettling waters than you may have come to expect from the Dearborn, MI duo. Across two albums and a slew of singles, Windy Weber and Carl Hultgren have created some lovely, blurred melodies and extended drones. On Depths they put down layer upon layer of guitar and construct a wider and darker album than their previous releases might lead you to expect."

WINDY & CARL: Depths 2LP (KRANK 024LP). $13.00
2LP gatefold version.

PAN AMERICAN: CD (KRANK 025CD). $13.00

"Mark Nelson has been recording and trading tapes under the name Pan American for some time now. Mark's contributions to Labradford, as the trio's guitarist and singer, may prepare the listener somewhat for the debut Pan American album. It is a resolutely rhythmic album, carrying with it traces of dub and bossa nova. A drummer plays on 2 tracks. All of the other beats you hear are samples. Tones generated from voice, guitar and electronics are maneuvered and warped across the soundfield. At times Pan American is reminiscent of the long lost Embrace the Herd album by the Gist (with the low key traces of dub rhythms) and at other times of current practitioners of minimalist techno such as Panasonic or Porter Ricks or of old school sound organizers like Zoviet France." A lo-pulse mood-enhancer and one of the finest Kranky label home-listening documents to date.

PAN AMERICAN: LP (KRANK 025LP). $8.00

BAILIFF, JESSICA: Even In Silence CD (KRANK 026CD). $13.00

Debut album from Jessica Bailiff from Toledo, OH. "Across Even In Silence extended guitar figures float over Jessica's vocals, bass, drums, samples and percussion. The album is an affecting mix of instruments and Jessica's beautiful vocals that leave trails of melody for the listener to follow. The mix of the album allows echoing piano chords, traces of bass guitar or whiffs of percussion to emerge from the clouds of guitars. A delicately balanced mix of organ lines and rhythm is placed next to Jessica's fragile vocals, followed by deep guitar drones."

GODSPEED YOU BLACK EMPEROR!: f#a# CD (KRANK 027CD). $13.00

Remixed/remastered reissue of this Canadian's group's debut LP-only release. "Taking the epic scope of Ennio Morricone, the artsy slash of 17 Pygmies, the desert-tones of prime Save Republic, bolster the mix with rhythmic chugalug of The Ex and add the Canadian tradition of radio drama and you begin to get a hint of what the band are up to. With twin percussionists, three guitar players, violin, cello, glockenspiel and tape loops, godspeed... can make a big rumbling sound or stretch out into delicate filigrees."

STARS OF THE LID/JON MCCAFFERTY: Per Aspera Ad Astra CD (KRANK 028CD). $13.00

"The unique pairing of the tonal feedback duo Stars of the Lid and NYC minimalist line painter Jon McCafferty. McCafferty (best known for the cover art of R.E.M.'s Green album) approached Stars of the Lid in the summer of 1995. McCafferty had done a series of paintings influenced by Stars of the Lid's Music For Nitrous Oxide. After discovering the similarity in McCafferty's paintings to the colors of sound in Stars of the Lid, Adam Wiltzie contacted McCafferty and collaboration began. In an attempt to blur the distinctions between the mediums, Wiltzie has incorporated the sounds of Jon McCafferty painting in his studio into the music. In arranging this recording, the acts of the visual artist have become sound worthy — they determine a context and become music."

STARS OF THE LID/JON MCCAFFERTY: Per Aspera Ad Astra LP (KRANK 028LP). $11.00

TOMORROWLAND: Sequence Of The Negative Space Changes CD (KRANK 029CD). $13.00

"Tomorrowland's music is the sweet sound of robots singing to themselves. The duo use guitars augmented with organs, synthesizers, percussion and audiometer to construct swirling masses of dancing colors and shapes. Sequence Of... was recorded on an 8 track deck, which allowed the band to overdub and open up a wide sound spectrum. The result is a subtle album that flows, bubbles and chirps as filtered loops and drones create an electro/organic atmosphere."

TOMORROWLAND: Sequence Of The Negative Space Changes LP (KRANK 029LP). $9.00

JESSAMINE: Don't Stay Too Long CD (KRANK 030CD). $13.00

"From the initial tickling and teasing of a Fender Rhodes electric piano, Don't Stay Too Long announces that Jessamine have harnessed their experimental muscle to song craft. They link the instrumental forays of The Long Arm of Coincidence to the melodic invention of their singles to make a definitive statement. Dawn Smithson's crystalline vocals float over bubbling synths, trade off with Rex Ritter's voice, counter cascades of guitar and weave around Michael Faeth's superb drumming to make each song here direct and effective."

JESSAMINE: Don't Stay Too Long LP (KRANK 030LP). $10.00

AMP: Stenorette CD (KRANK 031CD). $13.00

"The third album from the English duo Amp. Richard Walker and Karine Charff have distilled the exploratory and songwriting sides of the band into a potent, accessible brew. Recorded and mixed with the help of Robert Hampson, Stenorette marks a return to the rhythmic emphasis of the first Amp recordings, with lock stepping, stuttering and clattering percussion moving behind, around and through the music. Richard Walker composed a good deal of the music here on piano, a point of origin that is reflected in the more delicate pieces as well as in the melodies and moving sheets of sound. Focal points of sound Stenorette shift from the grooves to looped drones to smears of guitar and finally to Karine Charff's seductive vocals. Amp have made a recording that reaches the listener on many levels, from the simple effectiveness of a beautiful tune to whirling sonic vertigo."

AMP: Stenorette LP (KRANK 031LP). $9.00

PLOTKIN/MARK SPYBEY, JAMES: A Peripheral Blur CD (KRANK 032CD). $13.00

"The five pieces included on this release were made primarily through the use of processed electric guitars and acoustic instruments. Music that requires active participation by listeners. Music that seeks to utilize repetitive structures with occasional harmonic references. Central to Spybey's and Plotkin's collective approach is their preference for improvisation. They are both enthusiastic collaborators with a wide variety of people. Both have preferentially abandoned the need to orchestrate live concerts, preferring to play unrehearsed and raw, often meeting 'band' members for the first time on stage. A Peripheral Blur was created through the recording of first take improvisations which were carefully arranged by the duo. Spybey sent tapes of his work to Plotkin, who added to and then remixed the compositions to reveal a whole which the duo feel is indicative of their current concerns."

MONTGOMERY/CHRIS HEAPHY, ROY: True CD (KRANK 033CD). $13.00

"Roy Montgomery has a well-deserved reputation for crafting music that evokes images of place and time. The music on True was composed to run continuously as the undercurrent to a play of the same title written by Stuart McKenzie and performed in New Zealand in 1996 and 1997. Roy recorded most of the music at home while tracks 4-7 are studio improvisations done with his partner in Dissolve, Chris Heaphy. True matches the introspective, unfolding melodies of Montgomery's solo work with the stark, edgy guitar interplay displayed on the first Dissolve album."

GODSPEED YOU BLACK EMPEROR!: Slow Riot For New Zero Kanada CD (KRANK 034CD). $11.00

"Presenting 2 new pieces from the Montreal collective. Consider Slow Riot... a travelogue of sorts; across the expanses of North America or inner landscapes not so easily charted. The sonic crests and swells that this nine member band achieves is apt reminder of the physicality godspeed you black emperor! works with. Three guitars, two bassists, two drummers and a string section coordinate together with a nimbleness that defies the expectations you might have of a nine piece band. Add field recordings and you have an unparalleled listening experience."

LOW: Secret Name CD (KRANK 035CD). $13.00

"Perhaps it is best to describe Low's approach as essentialism — allowing each musical gesture to make maximum impact. This is their fifth studio album and first for Kranky. Low remains tied to the simple grace of the voices Alan Sparhawk and Mimi Parker. Instrumentally they have stretched out, but each song continues to be based on deceptively simple patterns of voice, bass, guitar and skeletal percussion."

LOW: Secret Name 2LP (KRANK 035LP). $15.00

All-analog processed 150 gram vinyl. Features 2 tracks not found on the CD.

PLOTKIN/BRENT GUTZEIT, JAMES: Mosquito Dream CD (KRANK 036CD). $13.00

"James Plotkin and Brent Gutzeit met in Japan in 1994. Plotkin was touring with Scorn, Gutzeit was living in Tokyo. They began a collaborative project. Plotkin recorded a guitar track. Gutzeit destroyed it and rebuilt it. Gutzeit used handmade instruments (an upright 18 string steel 'bass' strung with piano wire and a 3 string instrument strung with 100 foot piano wires), boom box, stereo and four track tape deck to create 5 different tracks. Plotkin remixed those tracks and sent Gutzeit 40 minutes of music. Each remix of became Mosquito Dream took a year to complete. Mosquito Dream is expansive yet attentive to details, reverberant but granular."

LABRADFORD: E Luxo so CD (KRANK 037CD). $13.00

"Soft-focused, haunting and beautiful, this is the frontline of guitar-based modern American music.' It's hard to improve on this description of the music of Labradford written by Dave Howell in Obsessive Eye fanzine. Labradford have, over the course of four albums, constantly expanded their sound. With their fifth studio recording, E Luxo so, the trio have done it again...utilizing a string section, dulcimer, tape loops that stretched around a room as well as integrating digital technology via samplers. The result of these efforts are six songs that combine organic and electronic elements into a seamless whole. Labradford leads the listener to fill the gaps in their music. They do more than create an atmosphere, Labradford take the listener across a descriptive landscape in which process is just as important as product."

LABRADFORD: E Luxo so LP (KRANK 037LP). $10.00

All analog production, pressed on premium grade 150 gram vinyl.

BAILIFF, JESSICA: Hour of the Trace CD (KRANK 038CD). $13.00

"With her second album Jessica Bailiff has expanded and defined the ravishing sound that typified Even In Silence. Hour of the Trace can entrance with Bailiff's delicate and alluring vocals, overwhelm with waves of guitar feedback, stumble along in molasses slow rhythms, evoke country gatherings around the pump organ, or puzzle with a clackety-clack that sounds like an old kinetoscope. It is not only an incredible personal statement from Jessica Bailiff but a work that invites complete immersion. Unlike so many post-rockers content to coast on a few effects pedals, Jessica Bailiff combines serious sonic research with songwriting. It's the familiar aspects of the pop song and Jessica's beautiful vocals that lure the listener in."

PHILOSOPHER'S STONE: Apparatus CD (KRANK 039CD). $13.00

"The materials used on this recording were made from the sampling of Gareth Mitchell's own sounds — derived mainly from electric guitar — which were then processed and reprocessed, edited and reedited over a 9 month recording period. Each sound was chosen individually for its own specific identity. Compositions stemmed from what these sounds gradually suggested. The pieces demanded time to gestate, then to metamorphose (often several times) before finally revealing their form. Apparatus is designed with many carefully placed details. Those details form part of equally considered structures. It is hoped that the listener may be drawn into the music, whether investigating its minutiae or experiencing a more overall, visceral impression. Two years after the release of the debut Philosopher's Stone album, Gareth Mitchell has made an entirely different second album utilizing the capacities of digital sampling and editing. Apparatus may have familiar elements from Preparation like looping sounds and outbursts of static, but the second Philosopher's Stone album is a departure. Gareth Mitchell has crafted an album that will leave you puzzled but delighted, curious enough to lean in for closer listens."

DOLDRUMS: Desk Trickery CD (KRANK 040CD). $13.00

"The title refers to the computer technology applied to the mixing process. There's a great deal of computer-mutated guitar damage going on. You may think it's sampling, looping, sequencing, breakbeats, or the like, but it's electric guitar sounds transformed via silicon chips. There are also some wah-wah jams. Of the seven tracks, guitarist Bill Kellum sings on two. Lots of folks talk about mixing instrumental improvisation and the transformative capacity of digital technology — Doldrums actually do it. They've dragged the swollen corpse of prog rock straight into the future, and brought along some mountain boogie too. No clinical demonstrations of instrumental technique or digital editing will be found on Desk Trickery, just a commitment to kick it out."

PAN AMERICAN: 360 Business/360 Bypass CD (KRANK 041CD). $13.00

"The second recording Mark Nelson has made under the Pan American imprint continues and expands the rhythmic intricacies of its forerunner as new instrumental and melodic textures are added to the mix. Like Pan American, 360 Business/360 Bypass was recorded by Mark Nelson at his home studio. Special guests Alan Sparhawk and Mimi Parker of Low add vocals, cornetist Rob Mazurek from the Chicago Underground Duo/Trio contributes some distinctly Cherryesque horn solos, and the entire album was mixed digitally with the aid of Casey Rise, the designer at Classics, Chicago. Rhythms trace and underpin vaporous melodies, or disappear altogether. Pan American balances atmospheric dread with hints of dub, funk and bossa nova as few artists can, hinting at a whiff of Studio One while utilizing digital technologies."

PAN AMERICAN: 360 Business/360 Bypass 2LP (KRANK 041LP). $14.00

FONTANELLE: CD (KRANK 042CD). $13.00

"This all instrumental project features the talents of Andy Brown and Rex Ritter of the late, great Jessamine. Fontelle extends and develops the sound of the last Jessamine album, Don't Stay Too Long, taking the bubbling electric piano and synthesizers of that album into even more complex patterns. Guitars and keyboards repeat looping, Reichian melodic lines over drums that can click into Can-type patterns of shift into a funky lope. Melody and rhythm weave, bob and play off each other subtly."

FONTANELLE: LP (KRANK 042LP). $10.00

GODSPEED YOU BLACK EMPEROR: Lift Your Skinny Fists Like Antennas To Heaven CD (KRANK 043CD). $15.00

"Appropriately titled in Franglais, Lift... was recorded at Chemical Sounds in Toronto, with 4 track snippets and field recordings added in Montreal. After months of touring, the band is at the peak of its powers. They've spread an audio net out across the continent, recording the static on the radio, the random airwave proselytizing, and the corporate spokesperson of the service station that are the companions of the long distance driver. Whether it's rickety piano melody, the gentle foreplay of strings, the roar of guitars and drums, or a reminiscence about sleeping on the beach at Coney Island, Godspeed You Black Emperor work on the smallest and grandest of scales (often simultaneously). Nearly two years after the recording of Slow Riot For New Zero Kanada, the band's studio skills have sharpened, bringing the guitars to a howl and the drums to a rumble. The two CDs work well as discrete units or as one extended work."

AIX EM KLEMM: CD (KRANK 044CD). $13.00

"Aix Em Klemm is Adam Wiltzie and Bobby Donne. It is pronounced 'ex em clem'. These are songs. Stretched out at times, sometimes with fragmented pieces of song structure carefully placed inside. Present are slowly developing melodies that still manage to hook your ears. The guitar-based clouds of Stars Of The Lid are here, as well as the clanks of Bobby Donne's bass, augmented by a deft mixture of samples and keyboards. And Adam Wiltzie sings. The measure of any collaboration is the extent to which it exceeds the sum of its parts. Aix Em Klemm is more than a combination of one part Labradford and one part Stars Of The Lid. The attention the musicians paid to range and detail is reflected in the rewards the listener receives."

AIX EM KLEMM: LP (KRANK 044LP). $10.00

LP version in full color sleeve.

WINDY & CARL: Consciousness CD (KRANK 045CD). $13.00

"With this fourth long player, Windy & Carl instantly justify the time lapse between releases with a work of shimmering textures and delicate tunefulness. A touch lighter than Depths, the new music on Consciousness is bright, tranquil and multi-layered with Hultgren's guitar lines taking on a folksy melodicism. The billowing wall of sound that is something of a trademark remains, channeled into unwinding tendrils that reach for the light."

WINDY & CARL: Consciousness LP (KRANK 045LP). $11.00

LOW: Things We Lost In The Fire CD (KRANK 046CD). $13.00

"It's the new Low album, what more do you need to know? The trio have succeeded in topping Secret Name, Things We Lost In The Fire has songs that are lush ('In Metal') and songs that are naked ('Whitetail') and adds a layer of fuzz and distortion ('Dinosaur Act'). Alan Sparhawk and Mimi Parker's voices remain at the center of Low's music, Zak Sally's bass anchors the whole with carefully placed pauses making every second count. After five albums Low have moved beyond tags like 'slowcore', pace is not nearly as important now as placement."

LOW: Things We Lost In The Fire 2LP (KRANK 046LP). $15.00

Double vinyl version in gatefold sleeve. All analog production (AAA). 2 extra tracks on the vinyl version (taken from the last UK single).

LABRADFORD: fixed::context CD (KRANK 047CD). $13.00

"To record their sixth album, the members of Labradford met in Chicago to work with Steve Albini at Electrical Audio in June 1999. fixed::context finds the trio stripping off the string trios of the last two albums and working with interlocking sound sources and modifiers; Carter Brown's vintage synthesizers, organs and electric piano, the distinctive Duane Eddy plays Satie guitar of Mark Nelson and Bobby Donne's four and six string basses. Beginning with the 16 minute 'Twenty', Labradford demonstrate grasp of the dialectic between organic sound sources, digital processing and composition. The guitar duet 'Up To Pismo' shows a refocusing on basic elements like melody and twang while samples pulse below and keyboards waft above."

LABRADFORD: Fixed::Context LP (KRANK 047LP). $11.00

FONTANELLE: F CD (KRANK 048CD). $13.00

"The music on F is taken from various sessions over Fontanelle's 3 years, reflecting a variety of moods. By turns wiry and rubbery, the three keyboardist, two drummer, two guitarist line up creates complex, syncopated tunes that reveal the band members' experience in improvised music, electric done, IDM style electronics, and noise electronics."

LOSCIL: Triple Point CD (KRANK 049CD). $13.00

"Scott Morgan records and performs under the name Loscil. Morgan uses sampler, synths, fx, and a healthy dose of computer programming to create Loscil music. The entire album is based on the concepts of thermodynamics; the exchange of energy, heat, the transformation of liquids into solids and so forth. It is conceptually a fake scientific document. The fluctuating tones and pulses reminded us of long time personal favorites Cluster as well as new-fangled electronic artists like Gas and Monolake. Morgan points to predecessors like Hugh Lecain, Henry Mancini, Gavin Bryars and Raymond Scott as influences, explaining both the texture and melodic sense at play."

STARS OF THE LID: The Tired Sounds Of Stars Of The Lid 2CD (KRANK 050CD). $15.00

"Are there other earthing-conjured soundworks rivaling the majesty of Henry Flynt's minimalist hillbilly fiddle fantasias or the heavens-rending power of Messiaen's works for organ? Undoubtedly, else why bother listening. But the only thing speaking at us right now from these charmed regions are the celestial ayres of these Stars of the Lid. Alternately lulling and wielding a potency that wholly escapes 'experimental' musics, SOTL bring big, whomping chunks of sonic firmament with a sustaining, life-affirming sweep. For the most part the latest SOTL missive offers sound sources which refuse to readily reveal themselves. Treated strings, organ or backwards tubular bell runs — it's simply a sublime chorus of instrument voices, irresistible as the undertow. Also gurgling up in the mix are whimpering pups, shuffling feet, dictaphone-preserved foreign lecture hall blather, a city bus shouldering to an unsteady stop — common enough stuff, but rendered here as the sounds of civilization heard distantly, the human receiver filtering everything through a palpable dis-ease that bespeaks a Higher yearning." — Dean Blackwood

STARS OF THE LID: The Tired Sounds Of Stars Of The Lid 3LP (KRANK 050LP). $18.00

Triple LP version.

PAN AMERICAN: The River Made No Sound CD (KRANK 051CD). $13.00

"Mark Nelson stepout in his Pan American guise on a third long player. Recorded in his home studio, The River Made No Sound matches Pan American's established dub sensibility with stripped-down electronic hums, blips and pings. The River Made No Sound is the subtlest Pan American release yet, gently mixing in house rhythms with distanced electronic melodies."

PAN AMERICAN: The River Made No Sound 2LP (KRANK 051LP). $15.00

Double LP version.

LOW: Trust CD (KRANK 052CD). $13.00

"Trust was recorded with Tom Herbert at 3rd Ear Studios in Minneapolis, and mixed in London by Tchad Blake (Latin Playboys, Lisa Germano, Pearl Jam). Guest vocals are contributed by Gerry Beckley of 70s soft-rock giants America on 'It's In The Drugs' and 'La La Song'. Marc Gartman plays banjo on 'It's In The Drugs'. Blake's presence is immediately apparent with the bells, whistling and echoing drums on '(That's How You Sing) Amazing Grace'. Trust is the most assertive and expansive Low album yet, and loaded with meaningful sonic details. This record grazes you with a brick then knocks you over with a feather."

LOW: Trust 2LP (KRANK 052LP). $15.00

Double LP version, gatefold sleeve, all analog production.

CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS: Model 91 CD (KRANK 053CD). $13.00

"The exploded view, deadpan pop of Model 91 marks the recorded debut of the Brooklyn, NY duo Christmas Decorations. Using vocals, guitar, bass guitar, low budget digital sequencers, and melodic Christmas Decorations recorded Model 91 in Spring 2002. The band have started to call their music 'ambient punk' and point to modern electronic composers like Gert-Jans Prins, Carsten Nicolai (Alva Noto) and Wolfgang Voigt (Gas, M:15) and abrasive minimalists The Shadow Ring as inspirations as well as older referents like Ike Yard and Desmond Simmons' Alone on Penguin Island album. The 13 tracks veer from claustrophobic to expansive and can be choppy or mesmerizing. Christmas Decorations take a succinct, direct approach to song structure and instrumentation while experimenting with mood and melody."

CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS: Model 91 LP (KRANK 053LP). $10.00

BAILIFF, JESSICA: CD (KRANK 054CD). $13.00

"Call it Jessica Bailiff, Untitled or anything you want; the third album from Jessica Bailiff is a delivery on the promise of her first two albums. Simultaneously clearer and murkier, it features a more acoustic focus and experimental sound placement. Two songs feature the violin-uke (most notably the stark 'Hour of the Traces'), there is a tin whistle on a few tracks, piano, a few computer fx, drums, smeary guitars and even sitar. The end result can best be described as narco-folk. Jessica Bailiff describes her new album as being about "...stage-fright, dreams, loss of creative energy/desire, love & time, living in the same place all your life, ghosts, near-death experiences, etc..." After recording two albums with the members of Low, Jessica Bailiff created a direct, stripped back album that showcases her-strengths in both songwriting and arrangements."

BAILIFF, JESSICA: LP (KRANK 054LP). $10.00

LP version.

WHITMAN, KEITH FULLERTON: Playthroughs CD (KRANK 055CD). $13.00

"The source material for every piece on Playthroughs is guitar: acoustic, electric or otherwise. From Sept. 2001 to April 2002 Keith Fullerton Whitman transformed those guitar pieces via laptop computer into the tracks on Playthroughs. Whitman has used ring modulators, granular shuffling algorithms, delays and spectral effects in a process that owes a lot to Terry Riley's Time Lag Accumulator and Steve Reich's 'Piano Phases.' Technology and Whitman's careful selection of notes combine to create shimmering drones and deep waves of sound. Though the source material was improvised guitar and the processing involved computer technology, Playthroughs reflects Whitman's mastery of composition."

FONTANELLE: Style Drift CD (KRANK 056CD). $13.00

"Like it's predecessors Style Drift was recorded at the band's Magnetic Park studio, where Fontanelle work their unique mix of instrumental improvisation and computer-aided arrangement. As a band, the quintet has forged a muscular, freaky groove; Style Drift has propulsion, edge and heft behind it. Fontanelle takes drums, keyboards and guitars, tightens up the interplay and weaves taut patterns that touch on the liquidity of fusion jazz and the crystalline angles of IDM electronics. Melody and rhythm joust, then mingle without being reduced to chin-scratching exercises in chops-mongering or Pro Tools gimmickery."

FONTANELLE: Style Drift LP (KRANK 056LP). $10.00

LP version.

OUT HUD: S.T.R.E.E.T. D.A.D. CD (KRANK 057CD). $13.00

"Here it is, the first Kranky release aimed at your ass as well as your head. Out Hud deliver the rhythm and restraint; recalling the dry, brittle funk of early 80s UK post-punk, Sherwood's beat-mashing across the On-U Sound catalog and even acid house and hip hop. The five piece doesn't sound hopelessly retro or preciously muso. At the core is an airtight, energetic live band transformed in the mix into a pounding system with a wide melodic range."

OUT HUD: S.T.R.E.E.T. D.A.D. LP (KRANK 057LP). $10.00

LP version.

LOSCIL: Submers CD (KRANK 058CD). $13.00

"Submers is the second album from the Vancouver-based Scott Morgan aka Loscil. All of the tracks are named after submarines, the final cut being a requiem for the crew of the ill fated Russian nuclear vessel Kursk. Recorded at home on computer with samples and keyboards used as sound sources, Submers is rife with source less echoes, steely surfaces and ominous melodic and rhythmic undertows. The sifted melodies are layered over muffled, clicking and pulsing rhythm tracks with an appropriately aquatic feel to the entire album."

STARS OF THE LID: Avec Laudenum CD (KRANK 059CD). $13.00

"Avec Laudenum was originally released on the Belgian Sub Rosa label in 2000. Adam Wiltzie and Brian McBride recorded the album via mail and by the time it was released Wiltzie had moved from Austin, TX to Brussels. Avec Laudenum marked a decided expansion of the Stars of the Lid drone methodology. The duo's use of guitars and samplers was more compositionally directed, creating long, exquisitely stretched out melodies."

GROWING: The Sky's Run Into The Sea 2LP (KRANK 060 LP). $15.00

Double LP version.

GROWING: The Sky's Run Into The Sea CD (KRANK 060CD). $13.00

"Growing are a trio based in Olympia, WA. The Sky's Run Into The Sea is their debut album and is aptly named; like the horizon line it delineates a place where elemental forces collide and overlap. Using guitars, bass and electronics Growing create rows of ascending and descending intervals of noise and silence which move rhythmically and reveal latent harmonies and dynamics. Growing recorded and mixed the album in their hometown."

CHARALAMBIDES: Unknown Spin CD (KRANK 061CD). $13.00

"Christina Carter and Tom Carter have been recording and performing as Charalambides since 1991. Unknown Spin is the first in a series of reissues of Charalambides material on Kranky. Originally issued by the bands Wholly Other imprint in a CD-R pressing of 300 [with a track by Scores], Unknown Spin is now available to a wider audience and will remain in print. Since their first self released cassette, Our Bed Is Green, Charalambides have shown themselves to be inheritors of the Texas psychedelic tradition, channellers of the American primitivist instinct, luminescent improvisers and creators of indescribable wonders. Now their music can be appreciated without anyone having to bid for a limited supply of CD-Rs online."

CLEAR HORIZON: Clear Horizon CD (KRANK 062CD). $13.00

"Clear Horizon is the culmination of two years of tape trading across the Atlantic between Jessica Bailiff and David Pearce (Flying Saucer Attack). Suffused with folky textures and bleached white noise (often simultaneously), the album collects the band's first formative recordings. Both Bailiff and Pearce contribute vocals and guitar, with piano, various effects and occasional percussive elements entering into the mix as well. Although the resulting nine songs do embody some of each member's trademark sounds; something strange, interesting and new seems to have developed in their fusion here as clear horizon."

CLEAR HORIZON: Clear Horizon LP (KRANK 062LP). $11.00

LP version.

ROBERTS, DEAN: Be Mine Tonight CD (KRANK 063CD). $13.00

"Be Mine Tonight is a recording of songs. Slow, often wrenching songs where the brush of a cymbal, a voice or a plucked string can have great impact. Through arrangement, processing and editing Dean Roberts has crafted out rock that presents listeners with familiar forms as it challenges them with oblique gestures. Improvisational and electronic strategies are ably utilized to push the dimensions of rock songs played by a group of people together in one room. It was recorded in Bologna, Italy from Dec. 2000 to Dec. 2002. Giuseppe Ielasi, of Fringes Recordings and a legend of Italian improvisational guitar, contributed prepared guitar, as did Christian Alati. The deft drumming by Antonio Arrabito marks his recording debut. Roberts played acoustic and electric guitars, piano, percussion, bass, harmonium and glass harmonica."

WHITMAN, KEITH FULLERTON: Antithesis LP (KRANK 064LP). $11.00

"An LP-only release of material from Keith Fullerton Whitman's archives that doesn't fit aesthetically with his upcoming Multiple studio album. The theme for the album is 'ensemble works', that is a combination of instruments played by Whitman himself with no computer interaction. Each piece was recorded in one of the different apartments Whitman has rented since he lived in Boston."

PAN AMERICAN: Quiet City CD/DVD (KRANK 065CD). $15.00

"Quiet City is the fourth album from Mark Nelson's Pan American project and combines the computer-centric approach of The River Made No Sound with the organic instrumentation that marked Nelson's work in Labradford and the first two Pan American albums. Three of the eight tracks were recorded with Charles Kim (Sinister Luck Ensemble) and feature upright bass, drums, trumpet and flugelhorn. Nelson even sings a bit. The rippling electronics and muffled beats of the first three Pan American albums are still there; distended into elegiac, resonant, wavering, and ambient song craft. The CD version of Quiet City comes with a DVD that contains a video essay shot and edited by Mark Nelson and Chicago visual artist Annie Feldmeier."

PAN AMERICAN: Quiet City LP (KRANK 065LP). $11.00

LP version.

STRATEGY: Drumsolo's Delight CD (KRANK 066CD). $13.00

"The second album Paul Dickow has made under the name Strategy. Dickow was a fan of synth-pop who simultaneously learned to play keyboards, the drums and program. He went on to drum in the art punk outfit Emergency, play keyboards in Fontanelle and multiple instruments in Nudge. Strategy wires together Dickow's programming and performing experience via a hodgepodge of table top electronics, computers and realtime musicianship. Combining a granular ambient aesthetic with an abstract, percolating rhythmic sensibility, Strategy unites small parts into complete melodies motivated by complex pulsations."

GUTZEIT, BRENT: Drugmoney CD (KRANK 067CD). $13.00

"If you have a short attention span, if you lack the patience to listen to music that progresses deliberately and in minute increments; then don't listen to this recording. Drug Money is three tracks of viscous, slowly forming drones. These are not cotton candy clouds of bliss out fodder. These are battleship chains, slowly dragged along rusty steel plates and then slowly dropping on the ocean floor. All of the source sounds for Drug Money were created by Gutzeit by placing electric motors on the strings of a piano."

CHARALAMBIDES: Joy Shapes CD (KRANK 068CD). $13.00

"To say that the words 'unique' and 'singular' are over-used in describing music is to state the obvious. To apply these words to the sounds created by the various duo/trio configurations of the Texas group Charalambides over the last decade plus would be understatement. To be sure there are numerous antecedents to their music; to deny this of any artist's work would be akin to saying that they are deaf. But they have surely broken new ground in the primitive/folk/mystic/improv/psych valley in which they toil. This new album is certainly not for the faint of heart. Five songs stretch and crawl over 75 minutes, with Christine Carter finding a new fearlessness in her voice that will draw comparisons to Patty Waters or the early work of Meredith Monk. Joy Shapes is the first studio album recorded by Charalambides in a long time."

CHARALAMBIDES: Joy Shapes 2LP (KRANK 068LP). $15.00

Double LP version, gatefold sleeve.

LOSCIL: First Narrows CD (KRANK 069CD). $13.00

"First Narrows is the third Loscil album and the first in which Scott Morgan uses real instruments and input from other musicians. Using sound sources that ranged from sampled instruments to miscellaneous lo-fi mini-cassette recordings, Morgan generated music on computer by custom programming sequencing and processing designed so that no two performances of the patches would be exactly the same. In turn, Jason Zumpano on fender rhodes piano, Tim Loewen on guitar and Nyla Rany on cello improvised over those electronic sequences. Morgan then edited and mixed the live and premixed sections together."

CARTER, TOM: Monument CD (KRANK 070CD). $13.00

"Monument is a recording of guitar music from Tom Carter of Charalambides and is the second in a series of Charalambides-related reissues by Kranky. The two tracks of solo lap steel guitar were recorded live to DAT by Tom Carter a few days before a live performance in March, 2001. Monument was originally released by Wholly Other in an edition of 55 CDRs.

The first track, 'Monument 1 (Memorial)' is slightly longer than two minutes and barely reveals itself. The second, 'Monument 2', is 47 minutes in length and considerably more expansive and louder than the opening cut. The album was made using lap steel guitar, glass slides, digitech tsr-12 stereo reverb, a rat distortion pedal and craftsman screwdrivers."

KREISEL (GERMANY):

KREISEL: 99/6 7" (KREISEL 06). $7.00

Artist is Mint, tracks are "Edeltrance" and "Struc".

KREISEL: 99/11 7" (KREISEL 11). $7.00

Artist is Riss, track is "Risiko Acid Catch". Kreisel was a Mike Ink label, which released 52 7"s in the year 1999. The theory behind the label was to reissue deleted tracks, present new artists and generally raise the spectre of mystery along the Cologne electronic scene. There was a heavy emphasis on early/mid-90s classic acid sound. General expected information like artist and track listings was excluded; each record came in a different colored sleeve and was numbered 1 of 52, and that's it. Very limited in production; because of the beautiful and infallible German aesthetic of efficiency, this series was completed right on time and left a lot of people in the dust. You can only get a few volumes now, sorry; these are the last copies. Musically essential if you're interested in the roots of contemporary Cologne diversification. These are the roots of Kompakt!

KUCKUCK (GERMANY):

DEUTER: D CD (KUCK 11009). $14.00

Late-90s reissue of the first Deuter album, originally issued by Kuckuck in 1971. Georg Deuter (pronounced Doy-ter) was one of the leading figures in the startling growth of the New Age music field in the 1980s, but his earliest material is more interesting. D is all solo affair recorded via multi-tracked guitars, electronics, percussion, flutes, etc. Very psychedelic processing, at times an almost ADII-like heaviness mixing with more Popol Vuh-like mystical spaciousness — with parts reminding of birdsong and natural sound. Perfectly crafted headspace and always a pleasure to absorb, this is one of the finest and most unheralded albums of the early 70s German scene.

DEUTER: Aum CD (KUCK 11017). $14.00

The second Deuter album from 1972; this was his last record before moving to India and falling under the guru-ship of Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh. The rock-related moves of D are eradicated, but beautiful atmosphere, echo guitar & experimental form are laid out with ease. Late night pleasure abounds. "His first attempt at merging sitars, tablas and flutes to the sounds of birds, wind and water (reflecting Deuter's deep relationship with nature), resulted in an addictive, aesthetic music." — Dag Erik Asbornsen.

RILEY, TERRY: Descending Moonshine Dervishes/Songs For the Ten Voices... 2CD (KUCK 12047). $24.00

...Of The Two Prophets. "2CD pairing two LPs released by Terry Riley on Kuckuck in 1982 and 1983 respectively. Descending Moonshine Dervishes is actually a live solo performance in Berlin from 1975, where Riley utilizes his signature tape delay device, the 'time lag accumulator', to process improvisations on a Yamaha YC 45D organ, chopped so it can be tuned to just intonation. His works 'Shri Camel', 'Poppy Nogood and the Phantom Band', and 'Rainbow in Curved Air' all utilize this device on assorted instruments, but this piece has most in common with the classic 'Persian Surgery Dervishes' (Shandrar, 1972) in process and intent. 'Descending...' is dedicated to Gururji a.k.a. Pandit Pran Nath, the masterful Indian vocalist with whom Riley started studying with in 1970, and though this is not a vocal piece, Gururji's influence shines through as it becomes apparent that not only does this music have a pulse, it breathes. With his left hand creating a series of drones, and his right comping on a pre-selected group of scales, it is quite easy to forget what instrument one is listening to after a while. Not as stunning as 'Persian...', this is a fine, fine listen nonetheless. The second disc is a group of three vocal and keyboard pieces (recorded 5/10/1982), with lyrics composed and sung by Riley himself. He rarely sings on his records, and judging from this it's a shame, he's an accomplished Eastern-style vocalist. With that said, the accompanying music played on a Prophet 5 synthesizer is actually a bit tough to take. It has nothing to do with the status quo ante position of 'back to analog', but there is something about this particular keyboard sound that puts me back in my yellow beanbag chair watching Space 1999. That said, it's still worth the price of admission for the first disc..." — Billy Kiely

KURO NEKO:

MOTOR: Freeze CD (KN 001CD). $13.50

"Freeze from Moscow's Motor combines dreamy rhythms and gentle melodies, with cozy, comfortable drones and oscillations in a work that bridges the gaps between minimal techno and today's electronic avant garde. Moving on from his more dance oriented work for the Dutch label Audio.nl, Freeze captures Motor's gentle side."

KYE:

LAMBKIN, GRAHAM: Poem (For Voice & Tape) LP (KYE 01). $16.00

New limited LP label from the Shadow Ring's Graham Lambkin. Edition of 200 copies. "I made the basic recordings of Tim Goss' voice during a recent return trip to England. Despite some initial reservations Tim ended up giving an animated and robust reading, drawn exclusively from work of his own creation. These tapes were then transported back to Poughkeepsie, NY, where the project was teased to completion." —Graham Lambkin

KYO (GERMANY):

VA: Futurism Ain't Shit To Me CD (KYO 001CD). $15.50

"Futurism was an international art movement founded in Italy in 1909. It was (and is) a refreshing contrast to the weepy sentimentalism of Romanticism. The Futurists loved speed, noise, machines, pollution, and cities; they embraced the exciting new world that was then upon them rather than hypocritically enjoying the modern world's comforts while loudly denouncing the forces that made them possible. Fearing and attacking technology has become almost second nature to many people today; the Futurist manifestos show us an alternative philosophy. What have Hip Hop and Futurism in common? If you think of P. Diddy and friends, nothing. The Hip Hop we are talking about is an alternative Hip Hop niche that has developed the last years and has been recently discovered by many electronic labels and producers. Warp, Ninja Tune or Mush started their own 'Alternative' Hip Hop Sublabels (Lex, Big Dada, Dirtyloop). 'Alternative' Hip Hop is playing with powerful & weird noises, groovy beats, strange flows and soft harmonious sounds with dirty industrial elements. Kind of old-school hiphop, electronic minimalist hiphop, art-noises in the strangest combinations, faraway from all that mainstream stuff in gangsta-style. KYO is trying to provide an insight into this scene that hasn't become one yet. From electronic producers like Pole, Funkstörung, AGF, or the Dub cantionated Meteorites with their feisty rhymes and Readymade FC (F-Com) who don't miss out on having a Juice Alleem Remix to already accepted artists like Aesop Rock, Antipop Consortium, Prefuse 73, the musical genius Gonzales or the HipHop-Noise-Terrorists Dälek and acts like The Bench, Dabrye, Dwayne Sodahberk, Shadow Huntaz, Slicker or White Hole. Discover a new scene that is as shiny as the milkyway and as nebulous as the London fog. Many new tracks, acts and labels to enjoy. Come along on a trip to outta Hip Hop space."

VA: Futurisme Ain't Shit To Me 2LP (KYO 001LP). $16.50
Double LP version.

L'AGE D'OR (GERMANY):

VA: Input 64 CD (LADO 4580CD). $16.00

"In 1982 the Commodore C64 was presented to the public. 17 Million sold units make the C64 the most popular Homecomputer of all times. It became the dominating game-platform of the 80s and introduced the computer to everyday life. As the C64 is equipped with a specially developed synthesizer-chip, the SID (Sound Interface Device), an active music-scene developed soon among the computerkidz. Input64 provides an introduction to the wonderful and endless world of C-music by presenting tunes, that had been used within computer-games between 1984 and 1989. The compilation includes some of the best-known game-tunes and shows a collection of some of the most popular artists incl. the most famous c-musicians of all times: Rob Hubbard and Martin Galway. Break-mania as in 'Bmx Kidz' or 'Turbo Outrun' meets Synthie-Pop-Hits like 'Crazy Comets' and 'Bubble Bobble'. Homecomputer-punk ('One man and his droid', 'Arkanoid' (first ever C64 tune to use samples)) besides psychedelic 8-bit-walls ('Yie ar Kung-Fu') and minimal sound-structures ('Boulder Dash'). All of them have one thing in common: the unique and characteristic 8-bit-sound of the SID-Chip, which is much liked within electronic music until today due to its rough, truly-digital sound. Let there be rock!" Composers include: Rob Hubbard, Jeroen Tel, Peter Liepa, Ben Daglish, Martin Galway, Peter Clarke, Chris Huelsbeck.

VA: Output 64 — Delete All Data: Input 64 Remixed 2X 12" (LADO 4573). $8.00

"Bikini Machine is best known from mixes for Elektrochemie Iik (German top 50 elektro act). It's an alter ego of Christian Morgenstern who's famous for his releases on Kanzleramt and Forte. Cut Out is Paul Gannaway. He is a buddy of Tobias Schmid (Tresor/Sativa/others)."

VA: Input 64 2LP (LADO 4580LP). $15.00

Double vinyl version in full color gatefold sleeve

L'AROME PRODUCTION (FRANCE):

AHMED, MAHMOUD: Ere Mela Mela LP (LAP 007 LP). $17.00

"The re-release series of original Ethiopian classic vinyl continues — finest Ethio Jazz by Mahmoud Ahmed and his band from 1975 plus two tracks from 1978. The linernotes: 'Melancholy blues, piercingly minimalist country airs, brassy, danceable urban jazz, heart-wrenching, off-key crooners: a rich and stirring patchwork of sounds, crossing afro-beat, latino-swing moves and Eastern arabesques (Anaïs Prosaic)'. Such were the first — informed and enthusiastic — opinions of the music press when the first strains of modern Ethiopian music sounded on our shores. This was in 1984-85. Such a positive note, struck about such a country at such a time, created plenty of reverberation. The country had been so thoroughly trashed by the media's feeding-frenzy, which spewed out a mix of horror and pious pity, bitter denunciation and humanitarian appeals, wallet-tickling clichés and refusal of identity. In one brutal swoop, TV-reality transformed Ethiopia into a cursed nation, forsaken by God and by man. (...) In contrast to these tragedies, but in the same hackneyed tones, Mahmoud Ahmed's life resembles an edifying fairy-tale where destiny, talent and achievement combine to triumph over poverty, fate and the evil eye. Biography, history and legend, with the help of god, infallibly weave the lesson of merit rewarded. But who can argue, in spite of the mockery that celebrities invariably draw, when faced with one of the greatest voices in all of Africa? Once upon a time there was a street urchin in Addis Ababa, who started off as a shoe-shine boy and went on to become one of his country's biggest stars, opening the door of Ethiopian music to Western audiences". (by Francis Falceto).

L'EMPREINTE DIGITALE (FRANCE):

FELDMAN, MORTON: Palais de Mari, Piano CD (ED 13137). $18.00

Performed by Ronnie Lynn Patterson (piano), 6/12/2001. "Palais de Mari" (1986) & "Piano" (1977) are the two pieces. "Morton Feldman's music explores the inner world of sound. His works make extraordinary demands on the performer, in that they must be utterly and totally open to the music's intellectual and technical complexities. Ronnie Lynn Patterson has lived between Mississippi, New York, Madrid and Paris; between drums and drumming and the piano; between John Cage and John Coltrane, Ornette Coleman and Rachmaninov, Satie and funk, Feldman and improv. Today he moves between jazz and contemporary music, leading a brilliant, multi-faceted career. His performance of Feldman's music is intimate, earth-bound, ambient — it speaks of vast spaces and inner time."

BNET MARRAKECH: Chama'a CD (ED 13144). $16.00

"These five mamas from Marrakech have given themselves the simplest name possible — they are the Bnet (girls of) Marrakech. In fact they've taken this word out of the sung dialect of their region, the Houara plain surrounding the Moroccan city. With a violin, percussion instruments and 'crotles' (enormous metal castanets specific to Gnawa music), Bnet Marrakech create furious, pulsating rhythm as backing to their songs taken from a large variety of styles from all over Morocco. Raucous, bittersweet, fiery voices, carried to burning point by the percussive rhythms; they sing of love and revolt, songs normally reserved for the women's gatherings at wedding feasts. On the program too are Gnawa songs, Chaabi and stirring instrumental improvisations."

LAB OF HAPPY DREAMS:

PERSONAL ELECTRONICS: The Story of Personal Electronics CD (LOHD 01). $13.00

First release on a new/unknown LA-based electronic label. "Personal Electronics, as the name would imply, is an outlet for music created by means of simply existing. Being aware of all sound minutiae, the performer goes about the day wearing a small, unobtrusive sound receiving and processing module. With a bend of the elbow, a smack of saliva, the give of sinew, an immense vocabulary of sound emerges. At the end of the day these modules are randomly uploaded into PE's growing collection of hacked 'professional' music software programs and shaped into the rough forms contained on The Story of Personal Electronics. Fans of Touch, Mego, Mille Plateaux, and A-Musik labels will find plenty to sink their teeth into." Limited stock.

LABELS (EUROPE):

ECSTASY OF SAINT THERESA, THE: Slowthinking CD (LABELS 90767 CD). $18.00

"Ecstasy Of St. Theresa are the only Czech group, that made it into the UK charts and recorded a session with John Peel. They have now confirmed their position at the forefront of the Czech independent music scene with this, their new album: a downbeat hybrid of Moloko and experimental beats. Fusing the sound of traditional instruments with electronic background noise the record proves that delicate, emotional music can also be audacious and non-traditional at the same time. Its musical content reflects what's happening in the world of modern experimentation. For example, no drums are used in the song 'I'm (Not Really) Optimistic'. The rhythm (or vocal percussion) is provided in an inimitable way by guest rapper Sifon, (the central figure of Czech hip hop legends WWW). A dialogue ensues between a clarinet and the voice of Kate on 'Then I'd Have Less Time For Myself'. On the other hand, Happy R offers a mixture of weird cosmic soul with crackling sounds."

OST: Demonlover CD (VIR 01802). $19.00

Original soundtrack composed for Olivier Assayas' weird thriller Demonlover. First 8 tracks by Sonic Youth, which were all specifically recorded for this soundtrack & are not available elsewhere. Previously released tracks by: Goldfrapp, Death In Vegas, Dub Squad, and Souffly also included. French-only release.

LABORATORY INSTINCT (GERMANY):

DAEDELUS: Meanwhile CD (LI 001CD). $17.00

"With a string of releases on Plug Research, Hefty, Tigerbeat 6, and Eastern Development, Daedelus has refined a style that has no imitators. Contrasting IDM styled cut-ups with childlike arrangements from the 30's and 40's, he has created a sound that is entirely new. His productions find the hidden common denominator between modern electronics and sampled music from days gone by. Recording out of Santa Monica, Daedelus has recently begun to incorporate hiphop into his mix, with guest spots from Busdriver (Afterlife), Sach (Nonce), Absract Rude (Project Blowed), Madiib (Stones Throw), and High Priest (Anti-Pop Consortium), all leading to his work on the Mush full length The Weather with Busdriver and Radioinactive."

DAEDELUS: Meanwhile LP (LI 001LP). $13.00

LP version.

DAEDELUS: A Gent Agent CD (LI 004CD). $17.00

"Acclaimed Los Angeles producer Daedelus fires his second salvo from the Berlin-based label Laboratory Instinct in the form of a new, full-length recording. A Gent Agent makes good on the promise made by the spy-meets-I-and-I spirit of the renowned bedroom artist's recent 'Meanwhile EP'. The BBC has called his music, 'fiendishly clever and devilishly original'. Pitchfork found his sounds 'effortlessly charming'. Audiences in Japan, Europe and the United States have witnessed the man the San Francisco Examiner called 'an alt-tronic genius' working his magic live."

DAEDELUS: A Gent Agent 2LP (LI 004LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

VA: Advanced Public Listening 1 CD (LIRD 1001CD). $17.00

"Already highly recommended by press worldwide, Laboratory Instinct showcases its wide musical range with contributions by great artists like Eight Miles High, Thomas Fehlman, Luke Vibert, Freeform, Sutekh, Soul Center and others. Ryo, who has been spinning records for ages, moved a few years ago from Tokyo to Berlin."

VA: Advanced Public Listening 2 LP (LIRD 1001LP). $20.00

Double LP version.

LADOMAT 2000 (GERMANY):

FOREVER SWEET: Geben & Nehmen CD (LADO 2071 CD). $17.00

Restock of this forgotten classic from 1998! Forever Sweet were the roots-of-Kompakt trio of Reinhard Voigt, Tobias Thomas and Michael Mayer and Geben & Nehmen was one of the most fully realized albums to come out of the contemporary Cologne minimal/techno scene. As with another radical Cologne album, Burger/Ink's Las Vegas, Geben & Nehmen explodes with a totally defining flavor that is inseparable from its very existence. Has vocal tracks that are completely accessible but tantalizing in sound at the same time, and is totally rooted in non-offensive sound aesthetics. And is loaded with totally maximal filtered grooves that sound just right throughout — thrilling stuff.

FOREVER SWEET: Geben & Nehmen 2LP (LADO 2071 LP). $17.00

Double vinyl version.

NIESWANDT, HANS: Lazer Muzik CD (LADO 2084 CD). $16.00

Another fine quality addition to Ladomat's roster (following recent releases by the likes of Turner, Sensorama, Forever Sweet, etc.) Elegant house with pop leanings. "Hans Nieswandt has been making music since the late 1980s. As DJ, journalist and member of Whirlpool Productions. Nieswandt is well-known and there should be no club in Germany that he hasn't played in. Later as 'Jack of all Trades' pop star and head of the trinity that is Whirlpool Productions, he has not only given us joy in the form of 'From: Disco To: Disco' but has also simultaneously won all kind of (Olympic) Games, hasn't he? Lazer Muzik is a leisure dome, a panopticon of 'H-Musik' (who's nothing but 'Hans Musik'), because 'Lazer' means leisure and is also a gamble with meanings. There are many ways but never pretend to know the right one. 'Freaks, I see life' — it echoes towards us when Hans Nieswandt sharpens his sight. 'The house next door' does not always have to be the club around the corner and pop ballads are not necessarily evil. No, it's not over yet, it has only just begun. Lazer Muzik is art, a grown necessity. It is also this way with records that draw their strength from fragments of history."

NIESWANDT, HANS: Lazer Muzik 2LP (LADO 2084 LP). $16.00

EGOEXPRESS: Bieker CD (LADO 2088CD). $16.00

"Egoexpress has been a Ladomat band since the first hour. Together with Whirlpool Productions they were one of the first Ladomat signings. Their 1995 album Foxy enabled them to lead a musical revolution in German house music. With Telefunken they secured themselves a firm position at the spearhead of the house scene and won themselves international acclaim. Their unique rave concept made their sound hit the nail on the head and got the party burning through the house clubs in Frankfurt, Zurich, and Barcelona. Now they've finally released their long-awaited second album Bieker. A grinding, siren-howling, backspinnin' collection of effects, endlessly kicking electro smut somewhere between Schorsch-Kamerun/Theo-Parrish-reduction and Mike Ink-acid-incantation. Naive, shattered, overlaid, realistic, disturbed, and blended."

KUSUMI, SUGURU: Usktot 12" (LADO 2095). $9.00

"Ladomat now have their own Japanese musician. His name's Suguru Kusumi and he plays techno-polka, he's sweet 16 and always wants his mum to be on the promo photos with him. Suguru comes from Japan, our favourite toy inventor country. This is what our kind of techno sounds like. A tough nut to crack, more like a slap in the face! To top it all, we asked our friends in Frankfurt for Daniel Bell's (DBX, Detroit) phone number and got him to do a remix. It was worth it!"

SAND 11: Tim 12" (LADO 2098). $9.00

Four track EP, featuring one track from the Around The Day In A World full length on Ladomat, plus 3 non-LP tracks (including a Donna Regina remix.)

COMMERCIAL BREAKUP: Global Player CD (LADO 2099CD). $15.00

"Welcome to the world of Commercial Breakup. Welcome to the world of Pop without doubts or regrets. Commercial Breakup is Vredus and Elke from Berlin. The most curious thing about them might be, that they've never been in the studio together, as Vredus is doing beats'n'sounds + arrangements and sends them to Elke, who's singing to the tracks. Their debut album a collection of catchy and cute melodies, with most-modern beats and sounds and heavenly arrangements somewhere between Saint Etienne, Moloko and Abba. The album features both singles 'All I Love Is Green' and 'Walking Back Home' besides two cover versions, 'Bizarre Love Triangle' (New Order) and 'Suffer The Children' (Tears For Fears), and seven other pearls. Recording guests have been Carsten Meyer (Erobique), Christiane Roessinger (Lassie Singers, Britta), Joern Hedtge (Department), Henning Rock'n'Roll (Jeans Team) and Schneider TM (Schneider TM/ formerly Hip Young Things)."

TURNER: Disappearing Brother CD (LADO 2102CD). $15.00

"If you classify Lukin Orgel as 'analogue', then Disappearing Brother is its digital counterpart. A central role in Turner's music is played by his voice. Lukin Orgel focused on instrumental pieces, whereas Turner now processes and samples his own voice, even going so far as to include vocal pop-pop passages, most vividly exemplified by 'Been Out'. Another next aspect in Turner's music is rock. After having moved in with Tocotronic's Jan Mueller in spring '99 and also creating a fantastic rmx for the latter's band as a result of this connection, Paul became increasingly interested in rock arrangements. References thereof are as varied as are indefinable and can be heard on tracks such as 'Sons' and 'Lord Stripper'."

TURNER: Disappearing Brother 2LP (LADO 2102LP). $16.00

LP version with limited bonus 12" of exclusive tracks: "Been Out" (original track by Turner, plus remixes by Isolée, Luke Solomon & Justin, and Quarks).

SAND 11: Sand 11 CD (LADO 2108CD). $15.00

"The most true truth is short and brief, kicking and catchy. That's what Sand11 is about. Being precise and offensive within the range of a minimalistic, cybernetic crossover between funky low-end house and the endless world of dub. Jimi Siebels (one half of Egoexpress (Ladomat2000/ recent singles 'Weiter' & 'Here comes the night', recent album Bieker)) and Pascal Fuhlbruegge (founding member of 'Kolossale Jugend' and L'Age D'or the label) are on the way to the horizon of bass, hi-hat and voice, only sparsely using more ingredients besides that. Resulting from this Sand11, their second longplayer, has become a collection of most-pushing, funky tunes that will lighten up one's life, ending in 'Drinks with umbrellas', a duet between Peta Devlin (Die Braut haut ins Auge) and Frank Spilker (Die Sterne)."

SAND 11: Sand 11 LP (LADO 2108LP). $12.00

LP version in full color sleeve.

VA: Hamburgeins CD (LADO 2110CD). $15.00

"Hamburgeins, is a compilation of the first 12"s released on Hamburg based Dial.label throughout the last year. Dial. Is Pete aka Lawrence, Dave aka C. Jost and Paul aka Turner. Together with their friends/posse/clique between Festplatten (label Gebr. Teichmann), Stella (band), Mense Reents (from Egoexpress), Parfuem (label) and Cross Fade Entertainment (label) they've become the most innovative platform for 4/4, minimal techno, pop-acid, clicks-funk, lofi-outsider-house in Germany. 13 hits full of glamour and individuality that promise a bright future."

SENSORAMA: Projektor CD (LADO 2120CD). $15.00

"One of the most important bands. Worldwide. Sensorama is the most ambitious project. Third album. After all the heart needs a home too... Frankfurt's most elite sound university in full effect. Sensorama aka Alter ego, aka Acid Jesus, aka Sven Vaeth album producers, aka favourite artists, aka pure audible bliss. we are delighted to have the pleasure of introducing Joern Elling Wuttke and Roman Flügel, somewhere between Warp and Underground Resistance in Milan's shopping paradise. Here comes the ultimate tech fashion editorial. The acoustic version of home decorating and a handful of hits. thank you, klangfabrik."

SENSORAMA: Projektor 2LP (LADO 2120LP). $16.00

Double LP version in full color gatefold sleeve.

KUSUMI, SUGURU: Manual Music CD (LADO 2128 CD). $15.00

"Suguru Kusumi creates his music with a 16TR sequencer and the aid of floppy disks. The shellac of the computer scene. In this way, the charm of 'kids playing football on the lawn across the road', as one can hear on Suguru's first album, remains. 'A premise for my recordings is to keep things as economical as possible without accepting any loss in sound.' Poverty as an instrument?"

LAWRENCE: Lawrence CD (LADO 2137 CD). $15.00

"One ought to mention a certain musician at this point whose methods in dealing with music material have inspired Lawrence: Detroit's house deviator Theo Parrish. The same way that Parrish's music does not abide by the hierarchical dancefloor grammar in that it develops a flat hierarchy without any central rhythms or melodies, Lawrence likewise organises a new form of juxtaposition in the house context. Though where Parrish's sampling retrospectives cover Black history from jazz to soul, Lawrence stacks different emotional states on top of each other. Two examples: starting with the intro, in which a dark passage creates a sense of inexplicable danger, plays round it, almost neutralises it with a glockenspiel and disordered hail of hi-hat drumming. Track 2 starts with a clear 4/4 bass drum, but this too is counteracted by the rhythmic sounds of a pop-like Rhodes piano. For a few beats, an intense moment of suspense builds up from which an anthem-like wall of sound eventually arises. Lawrence does not want these ambivalent moods to necessarily be taken as something personal. He always sees himself as just as much of a political artist whose music represents general topics and a political scene that has evolved at places such as Hamburg's Rote Flora or Pudel Club. Lawrence and Dave — cofounder of the dial label — frequently organise benefit performances for globalisation opponents or anti-fascist groups and thus contribute to not letting the world end behind the door of the club. Yet although he sympathises strongly with these political stances, his tracks search for a way of taking on a post-ironic, utopian approach. Instead of being a remote comment, this music checks out the possibilities of being part of a movement without inevitably amalgamating with it into an indistinguishable entity."

GROM: Sadness Sells CD (LADO 2139 CD). $15.00

"Welcome to the world of Grom: nothing is clear here and nothing is simple. Every state has its price. One drags oneself from place to place. It is dark. Cold. Any infantile optimism is out of place. However: love is possible. Euphoria could be founded on something. It just needs the right foundations. Namely, ones that encompass the possibility of failure and allow scepticism. This music writhes in agony, looks for the place to jump. It's a universe consisting of scattered electron fragments. Heroin funk. Grom avoid straight lines. They prefer light dissonance, a little intervention, avoiding surety. This ambivalence also leaves its mark on the CD title Sadness Sells. Here anti-theses are stirred up, set against each other, and watched with sparkling children's eyes to see what will be left at the end. Grom are still iconoclasts. They wear martial catsuits and take into account the provocation beyond the intentional statement. They don't even bother to try to control what they can't control: what their audience associates with it all."

GROM: Sadness Sells 2LP (LADO 2139 LP). $16.00

Double LP version, full color gatefold.

LANDSPEED RECORDS INC.:*KOOL G RAP & DJ POLO: The Best Of Cold Chillin' 2CD (LSR 8803CD). $14.00

"Awesome 2 CD at a single CD price from two of the true hip-hop pioneers, Kool G Rap and DJ Polo, compiled from their four records on Cold Chillin' (originally released 1984-92). Kool G catapulted to celebrity status on the East Coast scene after meeting Juice Crew head honcho Marley Marl in 1986 and appearing on the Juice Crew anthem 'The Symphony' with Masta Ace, Craig G and Big Daddy Kane. When their debut LP Road to the Riches dropped the following year, they established their trademark style of tough heart-punch styled beats, outré samples (Billy Joel comes to mind) and most importantly Kool G's lyrical style — gritty tales of ghetto life utilizing a linear lyrical approach that to this day rappers strive to bring back to the fore, the narrative as opposed to the non-sequiter. Often emulated (perhaps most notably by Jay-Z), this collection is an essential document for anyone interested in where hip-hop came from or where it's going to." — Billy Kiely. Track Listing: "I'm Fly", "It's A Demo", "Rikers Island", "Rhyme Tyme", "Poison", "Road to the Riches", "Truly Yours", "Men at Work", "Butcher Shop", "Streets of New York", "Money in the Bank", "Bad to the Bone", "Wanted Dead or Alive", "Talk Like Sex", "Erase Racism", "Ill Street Blues", "On the Run", "Fuck You Man", "Letters".

This specially priced double CD includes classics such as 'It's A Demo', 'Talk Like Sex', 'Streets of New York', and 'Erase Racism' which features Biz Markie and Big Daddy Kane. SHANTE, ROXANNE: The Best of Cold Chillin' CD (LSR 8810CD). $15.00

"Landspeed and Cold Chillin' present the best of Roxanne Shante, the first and only female member of the legendary Juice Crew. The collection starts with the song that set it all off, 'Roxanne's Revenge', the famous rebuttal to UTFQ's classic 'Roxanne, Roxanne'. Juice Crew founder and legendary producer Marley Marl would take the Queens' teen to the next plateau by pairing her up with evolving rap legends Biz Markie ('Det Fresh Crew') and Kool G Rap ('Deadly Rhymes'). Although most renowned for her baffles and dis tracks like 'Revenge', 'Big Mama', and 'Have A Nice Day' (targeting UTFQ, The Real Roxanne, MC Lyte, Queen Latifah, or any other female MC for that matter), the Big Mama released two full length albums, Bad Sistah and The Bitch Is Back. This collection takes the best from the Queen Pin showcasing her blistering vocals over production by Trackmasters, Large Professor, Kool G Rap, Grand Daddy IU, and of course Marley Marl."

BOOGIE DOWN PRODUCTIONS: Criminal Minded CD (LSR 8812CD). $11.50

"Landspeed and B-Boy Records present one of the most influential and original albums in black music history: Boogie Down Productions' Criminal Minded. KRS-One's combination of street slang and Webster's dictionary knowledge backed with Scott La Rock's hard hitting, minimal beats set this record apart when it was originally released in 1986. With this now classic debut album, BDP helped redefine the New York rap music scene. Criminal Minded elevated the standards to a new level and proved that hip hop could be a dynamic and consciousness-raising medium. A true hip hop classic, Criminal Minded was included in Vibe Magazine's 100 Essential Albums of the 20th century."

MARLEY MARL: The Best of Cold Chillin' 2CD (LSR 8814CD). $15.00

"Landspeed and Cold Chillin' present Marley Marl's only two albums in one package. This specially priced double CD contains the very rare and out of print 'In Control Volume I' and 'Volume II' and features the founder of the Juice Crew and one of hip hop's most celebrated producers' best work. The discs also feature the two greatest 'posse cut' songs of all time. 'The Symphony' with Masta Ace, Craig G, Kool G Rap, Big Daddy Kane & 'The Symphony II' with Masta Ace & Craig G, Big Daddy Kane, Kool G Rap and Kane's brother Little Daddy Shane. In addition to Marley's Juice Crew brethren, tracks feature rap legends Heavy D, Roxanne Shante, Chuck D (Public Enemy), LL Cool J & Kevy Kev."

BIZ MARKIE: Greatest Hits CD (LSR 8816CD). $12.00

"Biz Markie is the first and foremost class clown of Hip Hop's old school. Now Landspeed opens the Cold Chillin' vaults to put forth Biz's best at the best price ever. From classic cuts such as 'Vapors' and 'Pickin' Boogers' off Biz's debut Goin' Off to 'Just a Friend' from the Gold selling The Biz Never Sleeps, it's all here. Also included are must have cuts such as 'Nobody Beats the Biz', 'Biz is Goin' Off', and 'Biz Dance', right through to 2001's 'Turn the Party Out'. With the production genius of Marley Marl backing him up, Biz proves on cut after cut that Hip Hop can simultaneously be hilarious and relevant. To this day Nobody Beats the Biz."

KOOL G RAP: Greatest Hits CD (LSR 8818CD). $12.00

"Landspeed reaches into the Cold Chillin' masters and pulls out this collection of Kool G Rap's most slammin' cuts. Back in the day the Kool Genius of Rap was a leading member of Marley Marl's Juice Crew. Though Kool G Rap never had a big mainstream crossover, his work with Marley and DJ Polo has had a lasting effect on the world of Hip Hop. From his 1986 debut 'It's a Demo' to 'Poison' and 'Streets of New York' all of G Rap's finest tracks are included."

LANGUAGE RECORDINGS (NEW ZEALAND):

DEAD C, THE: New Electric Music CD (LANG 03). $15.00

Restocked. "Recorded during the period September 1999 - October 2000 and mixed in early 2001, this represents the twentieth long player release by The Dead C. Stepping further out into the universe of 'the song', they have again crafted an antidote for the very idea of rock music. Unlike their double cd from 2000, this release does include vocals, and certain pieces were even showcased at their All Tomorrows Parties show in Los Angeles in March of this year. Stripped and minimal, the sound could easily be referred to as 'their pre-California period'. Morley, Russell and Yeats are currently working on their next release which sets to further extend their investigations into lazy."

LASER'S EDGE:

WHITE WILLOW: Ex Tenebris CD (LE 1029). $14.00

"The second release from Norway's White Willow carries on the in the tradition of their debut Ignis Fatuus. White Willow's music embraces gothic, folk, and classical elements within a progressive rock framework."

NEBELNEST: NeBeNeSt CD (LE 1032). $14.00

"A new instrumental quartet from France. They create dark exploratory music in the tradition of King Crimson, Shylock and Present with a flair for cohesive improvisation. Their debut features intense guitar/keyboard interplay over a pounding Magma-esque section."

UNDERGROUND RAILROAD, THE: Through and Through CD (LE 1033). $14.00

"The Underground Railroad creates forward thinking symphonic rock with a reverential glance backwards. Their influences range from modern classical music to early Genesis, Gentle Giant, Echolyn, and Allan Holdsworth."

WHITE WILLOW: Sacrament CD (LE 1034). $14.00

"White Willow's third album Sacrament is a mystical blend of gothic atmospheres and intricate, classically influenced progressive music. Imagine a blend of The Gathering, King Crimson, and vintage Jethro Tull and you have just scratched the surface of the intense sounds this band creates."

LASERGUN (GERMANY):

VA: The Lasergun Compilation Vol. 1 2CD (LG 001CD). $17.00

"After approximately 25 releases it's time to hold back for a minute, and reflect what's done and what'll come. Back and forward. The Lasergun Compilation Vol.1 is a representative summary of the work produced by artists all over the world, which has lead to a maximum variety of music: electro funk, clean techno, trashy pop, future disco, it's all there. Northern Lite, Neonman, John Starlight, Silversurfer. They're all there. Let's call them electrophonic dance tracks. Danceable music to listen to." Artists: Sneak Thief, Neonman, Northern Lite, Total Macchina, Ural 13 Diktators, Steril, Mr. Lovelace, Nitch & Geinsler, John Starlight, Lectric Workers, Mr. Kemi & Amox, The Addiction, Water Lilly, Silversurfer, HakanLibbo, Universal Power, Puberty Love, The Spider, Ulysses, Sexual Harrassment.

LIDBO, HAKAN: Sexy Robot CD (LG 016 CD). $15.00

"With his debut on Lasergun he brings us pure Madness in Sound, somewhere between Daft Punk and Ural 13 Diktators. An awesome release. Future Music, Vocoders, p-funk influences proving that Hakan Lidbo is one of the best producers around — awesome! Hakan's signature Stockholm sound is unique, each track a gem of polished and pure Dance Music stripped to its cleanest Essentials. One of the biggest Producers to emerge in the noughties by a long shot, never fails to amaze us with the Quality and Originality of his Work... This is the Future."

LIDBO, HAKAN: Sexy Robot 2LP (LG 016 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

LATITUDE:

NZOMO TRIO, THE DAVID: The Sweet Soul of Kenya CD (LATIT 002CD). $14.00

"The Sweet Soul Of Kenya resuscitates a long-lost gem of a disc by the East African David Nzomo Trio from 1950s Kenya. Listen in on a glimpse of eight beautiful selections of swinging guitar and rich male/female harmonizing, sung in the native Kikamba language. Cradled by jazzy rhythms and upbeat melodies, The Sweet Soul Of Kenya is a lovely, quiet revolt cut at a moment when countrywide rights to organize were illegal."

LE CHANT DU MONDE (FRANCE):

ELAHI, OSTAD: The Celestial Music of Ostad Elahi CD (CDM 7741026). $16.00

New series of 6 archival CDs by this late, rarely documented Iranian master of the tanbur lute, Ostad Elahi (1895-1974). This first volume features recordings from Tehran, 1964-72. For music of transcendental quality via stringed instruments, these are some of the most important releases of recent vintage. "Ostad Elahi is a fascinating figure, a unique 20th century musical giant. His whole adult life he worked as a magistrate in Iran, yet he was acclaimed as a musician embedded in a tradition of Islamic mysticism stretching back to the tenth century. Even after retiring aged 62, in order to devote himself full time to music and spiritual research, he never performed a concert either in public or for the radio. Elahi's instrument of choice was the humble Kurdish tanbour, a long-necked lute associated more with the epic ballads of central Asian nomads than the sophisticated delights of Persian classical music. In fact, Elahi doesn't play Persian classical in the strict sense, though that is one of the many traditions he studied. He is a prime example of a musician stepping out of the tradition, drawing on Persian, Azeri, pre-Islamic musics, even Kurdish popular tunes, stretching all forms to his own visionary purpose. Between 1964 and 1972, when Elahi was in his early 70s, someone finally got a microphone in front of him. These are no-nonsense, no-effects, mono recordings, and occasionally they sound like the teapots spilt on the tapes. But Elahi's earthy mysticism comes shining through, a relentless quest for the divine via the physical propulsion of playing, and then more playing."

The Celestial Music Of Ostad Elahi is a good place to start. The opening 'Jab Shahi Suite' is 32 minutes of playing over the same drone, out Elahi shifts the tonal centre from mode to mode, so we feel the music is modulating naturally. Likewise his rhythmic sense is far from right. As his left hand flutters like a dragonfly in endless ornamentation, Elahi conducts the listener through metrical gear changes. This is spacious, large scale solo music, but never feels lost or meandering." — Clive Bell/The Wire.

ELAHI, OSTAD: Celestial Harmonies CD (CDM 7741122). $16.00

Recordings from Tehran, 1964-72 (with one excerpt from 1950!). Compositions, modes and improvisations on the tanbur lute. "Ostad Elahi makes use of all the polyphonic possibilities offered by this instrument...doubling certain patterns to produce parallel fourths while integrating dissonance through daring finger techniques. His intimate relationship with his instrument and total lack of inhibition are the secret behind his music, power and audacity of which may at times seem to part even with the tradition of middle-eastern music."

ELAHI, OSTAD: Mystical Orison CD (CDM 7741137). $16.00

Recorded in Tehran, around 1970. "Mystical Orison is Elahi's homage to the saints of western Iran. This includes 'Baba Fad', a poem recalling the days when the price of attaining enlightenment could be death, as happened to one Mansur Hallaj in 922. In a moment of ecstasy he declared, 'I am the Truth'."

ELAHI, OSTAD: Cascade CD (CDM 7741150). $16.00

One 48-minute piece, recorded in Tehran around 1970. Compositions, modes and improvisations on the tanbur lute. "Some of the melodies in this composition originate from the repertory of a classical Iranian music, expressing a state of inner rapture where the intensity would cause steel to melt. approximately forty minutes in length, the Qatar suite on this CD is considered the most complete among the recordings that remain of Ostad Elahi's music...Accentuation and repetition of notes, pure and ornamented motifs, breaks in harmony and rhythm, alternation of melodic fragments and organized flights, disconnections and continuous flows: all converge to form a veritable aesthetic discourse that Ostad Elahi builds and structures based upon a heterogeneous musical subject that maximizes the potential of his instrument."

XENAKIS, IANNIS: Metastasis, Pithoprakta CD (LDC 278368). $12.50

"Metastasis, Pithoprakta: Orchestre National de l'ORTF/Maurice Le Roux. Eonta: Yuji Takahashi (piano); P. Thibault, L. Longo (trumpets); J. Toulon, G. Moisan, M. Chapellier (trombones)/Konstantin Simonovic. The works presented here are typical of a certain side of Xenakis production: extreme musical complexity — 61 different parts in Pithoprakta — and intensity. One can only be impressed by these experimental works which had a fundamental influence in the musical evolution of the late 20th century. This version, first released in 1965, received the praise of Xenakis himself."

LEAF (UK):

ELLIS, ROB: Music For The Home Vol. 2 CD (BAY 029CD). $15.00

"Three years after the first volume of Music For The Home, Rob Ellis returns with a new, intensely personal solo album which opens a treasure chest of archive recordings from the last decade, documenting a turbulent period in his domestic life. Where volume one was created and edited almost entirely inside a computer, this album includes many piano pieces recorded live. A self-taught pianist, Ellis's idiosyncratic approach to composition has drawn comparisons to Messiaen, Reich and Cage, among others. The album also utilizes domestic recordings and concrete techniques, notably on 'Church Opposite,' which uses the sounds of church bells to starting effect."

WELLS, BILL: Pick Up Sticks CD (BAY 034CD). $10.00

"In the esteemed company of To Rococo Rot's Stefan Schneider, Robert Wyatt's sometime musical director Annie Whitehead, and Berlin singer/songwriter Barbara Morgenstern, Scotland's leading avant-garde outsider Bill Wells joins The Leaf Label for this remarkable collaboration. With Pick Up Sticks, Wells moves away from piano-based work toward a warm, largely improvised, electronic group sound, colored with the tonality of Whitehead's trombone. This is a recording unlike anything Wells has done before, combining adventurous electronic touches to classy jazz compositions."

WELLS, BILL: Pick Up Sticks LP (BAY 034LP). $13.50

LP version.

A HAWK AND A HACKSAW: A Hawk and a Hacksaw LP (BAY 035LP). $14.00

"A Hawk And A Hacksaw was conceived and performed by genre-defying one-man orchestra Jeremy Barnes of Bablicon and Neutral Milk Hotel. The album features intricate piano-based compositions layered with accordion, percussion, horns, bells, a chicken, geese, gongs, cats, a duck, spoons, and pieces of tin. It was recorded over the course of 15 months in the Loire Valley (Saumur, France) with a variety of guest performers. Recalling Kurt Weill's orchestrations, Carl Stalling's visionary cartoon soundtracks and Tom Waits's more whimsical works, Barnes creates a playfully gothic atmosphere with his multi-layered, frantic compositions. Mixing field recordings with accordion, piano and bursts of drunken choruses, he generates a singular and unnerving orchestral whole. Influenced by everything from Eastern European folk music to Pierre Schaeffer to Spike Jones & His City Slickers, there's a healthy disregard for boundaries at play."

ICARUS: I Tweet the Birdy Electric CD (BAY 036CD). $14.00

"Cousins Sam Britton and Ollie Bown created Icarus in 1997 to represent a collision of ideas that were best expressed musically. I Tweet The Birdy Electric is an adventure in sonic construction and musical history, melding the base of electronic culture's past with new bricks of originality. Like their peers Autechre, Supersilent and Burnt Friedman, Icarus walk a tightrope between inherited musical tradition and experimentalism, using the former in service of the latter without compromising the power of either. The album twists its musical elements much in the way its title plays on Walt Whitman's famous poem pointing to a possible new direction for electronic music, recombining the past in new ways to render it completely innovative, while incorporating distinctly recognizable acoustic instruments to ground the compositions in an approximation of reality."

ICARUS: I Tweet the Birdy Electric 2LP (BAY 036LP). $19.00

Double LP version.

VA: Delivery Room CD (BAY 037CD). $4.50

"A full-length compilation for the price of a CD single, Delivery Room is the third budget-priced Leaf compilation, following 2002's Lost For Words and Osmosis from 1999. At the forefront of music eclectic and innovative, but unpretentious and accessible, The Leaf Label has introduced the world to Susumu Yokota, Manitoba, Asa-Chang & Junray, Murcof and Colleen, among others. Delivery Room offers a taste of The Leaf Label, which for nine years has presented the most engaging and exciting musicians currently recording. Delivery Room gives CD buyers a pocket-money chance to hear tracks from recent Leaf albums; tracks from forthcoming releases by recent signings A Hawk And A Hacksaw, Icarus, and Bill Wells; and a selection of exclusive tracks by established artists."

MURCOF: Utopia CD (BAY 038CD). $10.00

"Since the release of Martes, Murcof's debut album, Corona has progressed into film soundtracks, recently finishing work for the producers of one of the biggest Mexican films of all time, Amores Perros. He has been commissioned to remix both Kronos Quartet and Miles Davis; will continue to tour extensively in Europe, Japan and North America; and has been nominated for the prestigious Ars Electronica award."

MURCOF: Utopia Remixes 12" (DOCK 040EP). $7.50

"Murcof (aka Tijuana resident Fernando Corona) follows the magnificent Ulysses EP from summer 2003 with a couple of remixes. San Francisco-based Sutekh turns in an incredible techstep reworking of 'Memoria' (the original track was first released on Sutekh's Context Free Media imprint) that manages to be both radical and faithful to the original. The flip-side features an epic reworking of 'Ulysses' by Tijuana's Fax (who shares the Static Discos label with Corona, and also creates Murcof's delicious artwork)."

MURCOF: Ultimatum 12" (DOCK 041EP). $7.50

"Collects several tracks from the Utopia CD that have never before been available on vinyl, because quite a few Murcof fans out there need these tracks on wax. The EP includes the two previously unreleased Murcof originals, 'Ultimatum' and 'Una,' as well as two fine remixes by Jan Jelinek (-scape, Klang Elektronik, etc.) and Deathprod (Rune Grammofon). Together with last year's Ulysses 12", and the 'Utopia' Remixes 12", most of the tracks on Utopia are now available on vinyl."

BEIGE: The Rhythm The Message 12" (LEAF DOCK18). $8.00

"Alien funk of the highest order. House music stripped to the bare essentials, recontextualized and rebuilt by one of Cologne's best new mood engineers. Vocal snippets on the lead track courtesy of Dr. Kosmos. Two B-side tracks exclusive to this release."

LEICHTES HÖREN (GERMANY):

VA: Leichtes Hören - Teil 1 2LP (LH 01 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

LEITERWAGEN (GERMANY):

M.N.D.: Westberliner Stadtmusik 1969 I-IV CD (LWR 014 CD). $15.00

"An amazing discovery from the West Berlin scene, 1969. Moderne Nordeuropäische Dorfmusik was a free-improvisational trio consisting of Norbert Eisbrenner, Werner Goetz, and Sven-Ake Johansson. While Johansson is perhaps best known as the percussive madman behind some of FMP's wildest sides, including the legendary Peter Brotzmann 'Machine Gun' octet, he was also a friend and contemporary of Conrad Schnitzler, Klaus Schulze, and Edgar Froese, the trio forming the core of Electronic Meditation-era Tangerine Dream. In other words, the blotter was passed around pretty freely in those days, and the influence of English interstellar travelers like Pink Floyd and Soft Machine was reaching beyond the avant-classicists (Can, MEV, Kluster) and proto-Krautrockers (Amon Duul, Ash Ra Tempel, Guru Guru) and touching the European disciples of Coltrane and Ayler. An ever-shifting maelstrom of soundtempered by tense but delicate arpeggios, propulsive rolls, whoops and hollers, Westberliner Stadtmusik revels not only in its sound, but in space. No one else began to approach the psychedelic scorch laid down by this trio at the time (with the notable exception of Japan's Masayuki Takayanagi's New Direction Unit). This recording prefigures Anima by a good year or so, even foreshadows aspects of the Incus sound we've come to love. The nearest antecedents might have been Wolfgang Dauner's Free Action (1967) and Brotzmann's evil-genius Machine Gun (1968), but even those could scarcely prepare us for the 77-minutes of action contained herein."

LEOHTAN (UK):

JOWONIO PRODUCTIONS: Hands/Birds EP 10" (LEOH 08). $9.00

"A northern England collaboration venture from artists whose murky pasts included involvement with V/M in one capacity or another in their early days. This is a seven track long play 10". Very soundscape led with mood shifting qualities. Found sounds, drones, poetics, reflective, gentle noise. Jowonio Productions made music for people who have never been cool, nothing they ever did at school or there after was cool, we never listened to what we were supposed to. Which is why we some how fit with Coil, Merzbow, Current 93, V/M, but then again we don't really 'cos we'd rather be Abba or the Spice Girls or Queen. We don't bloody know."

LES DISQUES DU CREPUSCULE (BELGIUM):

CALE, JOHN: Le Vent De la Nuit CD (TWI 1083). $16.00

Original soundtrack, composed and performed by John Cale, to the movie by Philippe Garrel (featuring Catherine Deneuve). "The album Le Vent De La Nuit is improving John Cale's actuality. After La Naissance De L'Amour (1993), Philippe Garrel asked once more for a new soundtrack from the Velvet Underground founding member. Close to the film in the first part, later the album is revealing another of Cale's personal universe, his collaboration with Mark R. Deffenbaugh reaching its zenith with a title like 'What Mrs. Ives Said to Mr. Ives'."

LEVEL GREEN:

BERNE/HANK ROBERTS, TIM: Cause & Reflect CD (LEVEL 22004). $13.00

Berne (alto and baritone saxophones), Roberts (cello). "In the late '80s Hank and Tim teamed up with drummer Joey Barron to form Miniature. Miniature was a trip-hop 'power trio' that explored compositional structures and improvisation. Now, five years later, comes Cause & Reflect. This recording features nine resonant narratives woven by these two long-time friends."

LEVEL RECORDS (GERMANY):

VA: Quartet EP 12" (LEVEL 001EP). $9.00

"Quartet EP is the first release of the new minimal-electronics label Level Records from Düsseldorf/ Germany. This record features four artists with one track each and reveals the variety of different fresh approaches on minimal from Düsseldorf. Oliver Hacke, who also released on such labels as Traum, Trapez and Background, starts with a slightly dark, very deep ambience, but nevertheless very dancy track. In comparison to his past 12" releases, Andy Vaz (sound variation [—]/ background) contributes, a much straighter/cleaner arranged track without losing the dense and sometimes weird atmosphere many people appreciate his tracks for. Stephan Schwander as Rhythm_Maker (aka Antonelli Electr., Repeat Orchestra), set the tempo for the B-side to laid back 120 bpm's with very deep, melodic chords, acoustic-bass and tiny distortion effects. Daniel Fritsch has his debut-track on this 12". Its slowly upbuilding surrounding sound scapes go in hand with filigran beat-patterns and effects. This results in a very complex and dense composition which is on the edge of listening and club-music."

LEX RECORDS (UK):

DISFLEX6: Hot Season EP 12" (LEX 001 EP). $5.50

"4 cuts, 20 minutes of neck-snapping abstract beats and tight flows from this Bay Area group (pronounced like 'dyslexics'). Amazing sleeve via designers Holdnohostages (Skam Records, etc.)."

VA: Lexoleum CD (LEX 002CD). $16.00

"The Lexoleum compilation chronicles the first 18 months of Lex Records output and also features exclusive songs by non-Lex artists. From Sage Francis to Peaches, Edan to Supersoul, Boom Bip to J-Zone — Lexoleum highlights the diversity of Lex output. This CD will be a must have for fans of Lex and all the featured artists." Artists: Boom Bip, Tes, Mummy Fortuna's, Non-Prophecs, Disflex6, Why?, Edan, Kid Acne, Peaches & Mignon, Jamie Lidell, Subtle, Madlib, Supersoul, Tactel, Danger Mouse & Sage Francis, Waxfactor, J-Zone.

BOOM BIP: Mannequin Hand Trapdoor I Reminder/Closed Shoulders 12" (LEX 003 EP). $5.50

"These two songs are taken from the forthcoming Boom Bip album. This is an album sampler. Both tracks are absolutely stunning. The first track features Dose One from CLOUDDEAD."

BOOM BIP: Seed To Sun CD (LEX 006CD). $15.50

"The first album on London's Lex records. This is an immense, beautiful debut solo album from Cincinnati producer Boom Bip. The music transcends its component parts — hip-hop, jazz, ambient electronica and space-rock. Seed To Sun features cult MCs Dose One and Buck65 who also delivers scratches on the album."

BOOM BIP: Seed To Sun 2LP (LEX 006LP). $19.00

Double LP version; intense die-cut/embossed sleeve.

TES: New New York 7" (LEX 009 EP). $4.00

"'New New York' is the stunning new single, with the most contagious hook around, taken from the hugely acclaimed album x2 which was released on London's Lex Records this May. This 7" features the stand-out track from the album plus the acapella which has proved to be a hit with DJs packaged in a lush EHQuestionmark designed collectable sleeve. Originally released as a promo only single through selected stores around the world this is now available to buy for the first time."

D.M. & JEMINI: Ghetto Pop Life CD (LEX 010 CD). $12.00

Now mid-priced. "This is the genuine article. A modern hip hop masterpiece: a fabled MC — Jemini The Gifted One plus a talented new super-producer — DJ Danger Mouse, with help from a clutch of the greatest innovators in hip-hop history — Organized Konfusion's Prince Poetry, Tha Alkaholiks, The Pharcyde and New York's J-Zone. Ghetto Pop Life is a landmark album. On Ghetto Pop Life Danger Mouse takes it back to '95, chopping funk, classic rock and country to make dance-able boom-bap beats with a quirky edge — think Prince Paul or Pete Rock. Jemini flips rhymes, in two voices (hence the name) and with an unmistakable flow. On GPL he weighs up the ethics of drug consumption, the necessity of getting paid, he dissects his position as a Black American in the era of Bush imperialism and of course spends plenty of time explaining why he's so sick on the mic."

D.M. & JEMINI: Ghetto Pop Life 2LP (LEX 010 LP). $19.00

Double LP version.

TES: x2 CD (LEX 012CD). $14.00

"This is the anticipated debut album from Brooklyn MC/producer Terrence Tessoro aka Tes One. 32 minutes of raw New York rap. After two EPs on Brooklyn's VF label, releasing a track on Lexoleum One and appearing alongside his friends Aesop Rock and Cannibal Ox on Embedded Productions' The Bedford Files mixtape anthology, Tes was ready to compile the best tracks from a year's work and drop an album. x2 is that album. x2 (read that 'times two') is built around tough sample based production, delivered straight up. The vocals however, betray this as a very personal album with leagues of depth that bares repeated listening."

TES: x2 2LP (LEX 012LP). $19.00

BOOM BIP: From Left To Right 12" (LEX 014EP). $6.50

"A stunning new 20 minute-long EP featuring a brand new son plus remixes of tracks from the album not available anywhere else — including the hugely anticipated Boards Of Canada remix of 'Last Walk Around Mirror Lake'. Boom Bip's new song is built from layers of intricately programmed and live percussion behind heavy bass, lush synth melodies and straining Thurston-Moore-style guitar. Each remix on this is a total reworking of the original. Oakland's cLOUDDEAD twist 'Closed Shoulders' from a song built around hard, driving percussion and droning synths in to a heart-beat slowing symphony reminiscent of early Mercury Rev... 'The Unthinkable!' becomes a spastic nightmare, the original form torn to pieces by Venetian Snares' unforgiving editing — Buck65's vocal is shredded and reassembled beyond recognition."

PRINCE PO: Hold Dat 12" (LEX 015EP). $5.50

"Prince Po is a rap legend. He's Pharoahe Monch's partner from the golden-era New York rap duo Organized Konfusion. For Hold Dat, Richard X ('Finest Dreams', 'Freak Like Me') has bootlegged the Warp bleep-house anthem Nightmares On Wax's I'm For Real(1990) turning it into a slick club masterpiece. The B side features a is a totally different production, massive dirty electro, like The Neptunes beat for Grindin'."

DANGER MOUSE & JEMINI: Conceited Bastard EP 12" (LEX 016 EP). $5.50

"Two brand new songs from the forthcoming Danger Mouse & Jemini album plus an exclusive remix. The title says it all — Jemini's favourite subject is himself — he is a conceited bastard. On these two cuts taken from the forthcoming album Jemini The Gifted One demonstrates that he still kills it, he's still the funk soul sensation. Producer, Danger Mouse has built the tracks from breaks, chipmunked country vocals and guitar loops."

NON-PROPHETS: Hope CD (LEX 018 CD). $16.00

"The Non-Propheets are producer Joe Beats and MC Sage Francis. Joe Beats has been in the lab creating an intricate album that builds momentum from song to song. His music articulates as much emotion and energy as Sage's rhymes, but never strays from the language of classic hip hop production. Joe Beats matches hydraulic bounce with an air of American gothic which creates a unique ambience for this album."

NON-PROPHETS: Hope 2LP (LEX 018 LP). $19.00

Double LP version.

HYMIE'S BASEMENT: Hymie's Basement CD (LEX 019 CD). $16.00

"Yoni Wolf (aka Anticon's Why?) and Andy Broder (aka The Fog) have teamed up to make a beautiful song based album. The album runs through territory touched on by Yo La Tengo, Beck, Simon & Garfunkle, Boards Of Canada, Eric Satie and Radiohead over the course of an hour."

HYMIE'S BASEMENT: Hymie's Basement 2LP (LEX 019 LP). $19.00

Double LP version, embossed jacket.

BOOM BIP: Morning and A Day EP 12" (LEX 020EP). $6.50

"The Morning And A Day EP, features an epic brand new Boom Bip production plus remixes of songs from Boom Bip's Seed To Sun album by Mogwai, Four Tet, Lali Puna and a never-before-on-vinyl Boom Bip song 'In The Tree Top'. This EP cements Boom Bip's position as an experimental artist. His music is created by fusing elements of live rock, electronic production and a hip hop aesthetic."

BOOM BIP: Corymb CD (LEX 021CD). $12.00

"Boom Bip's Seed To Sun album was released in 2002 to widespread critical acclaim. Corymb, features remixes of songs from that album by Boards Of Canada, Mogwai, Four Tet, Lali Puna. Cotyrb also features five original Boom Bip songs, including two lush tracks he recorded with his band for John Peel's legendary BBC Radio One show."

DANGER MOUSE & JEMINI: Twenty Six Inch EP CD (LEX 022CD). $6.50

"The Twenty Six Inch EP features amazing new remixes from Ghetto Pop Life, brand new songs and the CD version features the B-sides from the last two 12"s. The EP has exclusive guest spots from the Dungen Family's Cee Lo and legendary Brand Nubian Sadat X."

DANGER MOUSE & JEMINI: Twenty Six Inch EP 12" (LEX 022EP). $6.50

Vinyl EP version.

PRINCE PO: The Slickness CD (LEX 025CD). $16.00

"Prince Po is half of 90s legendary rap group Organized Konfusion. In 2002 he met with Danger Mouse when DM was recording Ghetto Pop Life. After making a guest appearance on that album, Prince Po and Danger Mouse started work on a new LP — The Slickness. It's turned out to be a stunning rap album. DM produced several tracks with Po and also enlisted Madlib, Jel, J-Zone and Richard X to produce beats for the record. They also roped in guest emcees MF Doom, Raekwon, Jemini The Gifted One and J-Ro from Tha Alkaholiks."

PRINCE PO: The Slickness 2LP (LEX 025LP). $19.00

Double LP version.

DISFLEX6: Presents Lazerus Jackson 12" (LEX 5040). $5.50

"The second D6 EP on Lex. Disflex6 return with a 3 track EP of new music. All three cuts come from self-distributed CDs available in their NoCal locale. This 12" puts the spotlight on emcee Lazerus Jackson — highlighting his unique slick delivery. The B side features the Elon.1s produced instrumentals."

DANGER MOUSE FEAT. JEMINI THE GIFTED ONE: Take Care Of Business 12" (LEX 5050). $5.50

"3 brand new heavy-weight hip-hop tunes designed for the dancefloor. The debut EP from Athens Georgia's Danger Mouse: producer and dj on a mission... it's the prelude to the forthcoming Danger Mouse album on London's Lex Records. This EP was recorded with Brooklyn's own fabled emcee Jemini The Gifted One at Old Maid Entertainment's 'Pimp Palace East' Studios in New York. Also present was New York's most ignorant, J-Zone, who kicks a verse on the title track... Danger Mouse beats have the quality of classic early '90s production. Jemini's rhymes are on time. If you've heard him spit a rhyme before, on his Organized Konfusion collaborations or on his cuts on Tommy Boy, you'll know what to expect."

MUMMY FORTUNA'S: Born Of Man And Flies EP 12" (LEX 5070). $5.50

"Mummy Fortuna's are teenagers from Brighton, England. Along with producer and graf writer Req One, they are central to the city's bohemian hip-hop scene. This EP is an introduction to a new band who record beautiful music. There's a possibility of an album next year and Mummy Fortuna's are going to be around for a while."

DJ SIGNIFY: Sleep No More CD (LEX 5240CD). $14.50

"DJ Signify is a major new talent — a producer in the vein of DJ Shadow and at the centre of the US turntablist scene and with Mr.Dibbs, Buck65 and Egon he's at the core of the 1200Hobos. Sleep No More, Signify's ambitious debut album, is a dark cinematic concept record — which has coupled Barry-Adamson-like quirk with a Shadow-esque deliberate thump. It's a collaboration with Sage Francis and Buck65 whose stories add a creeping David-Lynch-horror to the LP."

DJ SIGNIFY: Sleep No More 2LP (LEX 5240LP). $19.00

Double LP version.

LEXICON DEVIL (AUSTRALIA):

BOY DIRT CAR: Heatrig CD (LEXDEV 003). $13.00

"Boy Dirt Car may hardly be a household name in the world of pop, but for noise aficionados worldwide, those three words conjure up visions and dreams of a time when the words 'noise' and 'industrial' really meant something. Starting out in Milwaukee in '81 with the duo of Eric Lunde and Darren Brown, they eventually settled into a semi-stable quartet lineup that also featured Dan Kubinski and Keith Brammer of local hardcore kings, Die Kreuzen (whose albums on the famed Touch & Go label are all well worth checking out). With a string of albums on the RRR label (there's also a boxed set in there) and even an appearance on the seminal Sub Pop 100 LP, BDC made their stamp in the underground but then sadly called it quits in the late '80s, whilst individual members pursued other projects. Amidst this mess and turmoil lay Heatrig, their swan song and finest moment, left unreleased until now. The BDC 'sound' is not easy to pin down. There are some graspable elements in place: the metal-banging clang of Neubauten, the drones and scrapes of Nurse With Wound or early SPK and the uncategorisable 'rock' stew that made Die Kreuzen such a fine band in their day, though mainly BDC remain BDC. Forever and always."

F/I: Blue Star/Merge Parlour CD (LEXDEV 006). $14.00

"Yep, it's time to wrap things up in the F/I reissue stakes, the last of the long out-of-print RRR LPs has finally been put to rest on CD: the fantastic live/studio Blue Star LP from 1990 and the Merge Parlour EP. Suffice to say, the Blue Star LP is a space-rock monster, wrapping its gargantuan riffs around its metronomic beats and beating its circular riffs into submission, and with a hyperbolic description like that, you know that before you can utter the words 'Whoa, dude!', that those of you out there with a hankerin' for some cosmic-rock action need this sitting fancy in your CD collection. Containing three epic-length tracks — the first two recorded live in Germany, the 3rd in a meat cooler of a sausage factory(!) — the sonic delights within concentrate more on F/I's brutal rock leanings, the end result approximating a kind of Midwestern take on the classic Space Ritual-era Hawkwind or UFO-period Guru Guru sound. Mighty tasty. The remaining three numbers are taken from F/I's split LP with fellow Milwaukee brethren, Vocokesh, otherwise known as the Merge Parlour EP, and are a studio affair quite unlike any other F/I disc. With a much cleaner sound than ever before, and a heavy emphasis on electronics, the band — stripped to a trio — created what is, at least for myself, their most singularly awe-inspiring recorded effort. The opener, 'Theme for an Industrial Western', twangs and blips like an outer-space Morricone; 'Zombie in the Slave Trade' possesses some of the most amazing fret-strangulation/amp-destruction this side of Keiji Haino; and 'Pleasure Centre/The Beach' is the real clincher here: a reckless dirge that eventually collapses into a miasma of loops and noise, bringing to mind a collision between Helios Creed ca. 1989 and Chrome ca. '78. The CD features some beautifully spartan artwork taken from the original Blue Star LP — pure minimalism, no fuss; the music itself is fully remastered from the original tapes by the band, and the killer sounds within have been kept out of the public ear for a good decade or more."

JENNIFER GENTLE: Ectoplasmic Garden Party 2CD (LEXDEV 007/8). $19.00

"We've decided to reissue their two albums onto one big double CD pack, tart it up with some dazzling new full-colour artwork and a new title. So what the hell do they sound like and why are they so special? As Alan Bishop of the Sun City Girls said of them, 'I think they've discovered a rare sound'. There are elements in their music that remind me strongly of others in the Holy Pantheon of Total Greatness — Syd's 'Floyd, Van Dyke Parks, Os Mutantes, Captain Beefheart, early Meat Puppets, Mothers of Invention, Funkadelic, Bongwater/Shockabilly, Godz, Residents, Faust, the Nuf Sed stable (Carolinier/TFUL 282), Half Japanese — but their synthesis of these influences (assuming they listen to these people) is the key to their sound."

BOY DIRT CAR: Winter / F/I Split CD (LEXDEV 009). $14.00

"Milwaukee's Boy Dirt Car were their good city's preeminent punk-noise-industrial outfit who roamed the state and country from roughly 1981 'til 1989. Formed by the disgruntled duo of Eric Lunde and Darren Brown after being inspired by a local cacophonous Glen Branca gig, they decided to gather a group of fellow miscreants from the Milwaukee punk scene with a mission to create a truly inspired, ungodly, riot-inducing racket. Roping in, amongst others, Dan Kubinski and Keith Brammer from local hardcore kings, Die Kreuzen (whose Touch & Go albums are some of the finest albums of their time), they formed Boy Dirt Car. With a sound approximating some sort of bizarre stew of Throbbing Gristle, early Sonic Youth, Birthday Party, AMM and Einstürzende Neubauten, they set about documenting themselves through a slew of self-released cassettes. Playing the circuit with everyone from Fred Frith to Flipper to Shockabilly to Screamin' Jay Hawkins(!), BDC caught the ear of noise aficionado, Ron Lessard, of the famed RRR label out of Massachusetts, who released the 1986 split LP with fellow Milwaukee space-rockers, F/I. Winning praise from the hipsters and running through a few pressings for its troubles, the band went and did it again in 1987 with their debut full-length, Winter. Both have these have been out of print for almost 15 years and never been given the CD treatment, until now. So why bother with Boy Dirt Car? For the simple reason that they are one of the great missing links in '80s US punk-noise underground culture. Listening to the CD is like revisiting a time in history that really drew a line in the sand: are you with us or not? It was a time when 'getting in the van' was all a 'challenging band' could do to survive; a time when Whitehouse and Black Flag were one and the same; a time when 'industrial' meant more than some New Romantic reject churning out z-grade speed-metal riffs with a drum machine. It's all part of a link to a puzzle, and Boy Dirt Car, as obscure as they may seem, were truly one of those great links that need reinvestigating."

CURRITUCK CO.: Ghost Man On First CD (LEXDEV 010). $14.00

"Currituck Co. is one Mr. Kevin W. Barker of New York City. An ex-resident of Washington DC, he's been kicking around that good city's underground rock scene for a good half-decade or more, and indeed has a couple of discs on the estimable Teen Beat label to show for it. Currituck Co. is just Kevin, his guitar and a smattering of assorted instruments. With a record collection that undoubtedly contains a few titles on the Topic, Folkways and Takoma labels, Mr. Barker creates an awesome world of sound that thankfully avoids the pitfalls of being cute, overbearing, whitebread or simply the Sounds Of A Man With A Cool Record Collection. With a transatlantic sound that brings together both UK and American folk influences, Currituck Co.'s Ghost Man On First CD is a unique blend of sonics that occasionally brings to mind an imaginary meeting of Bert Jansch and Robbie Basho, the mixture of covers and originals is a mesmerising stew. With a busy show schedule alongside such kindred spirits from the East Coast Out-Folk scene as Devendra Banhart, Animal Collective, Tower Recordings and Fursaxa, previous material on respected labels like Troubleman Unlimited and Teen Beat and raves from the indie press, Lexicon Devil is proud, pleased and excited to announce the release of Currituck Co.'s Ghost Man On First CD to anyone who'll listen."

LIFELIKE (UK):

MUGISON: Lonely Mountain CD (LL 18 CD). $16.00

"The debut album from Icelandic singer-songwriter Mugison. Signed to Lifelike from a demo he sent to the label, Lonely Mountain is entirely the work of one Ornelius Mugison and his fevered imagination. With Lonely Mountain Mugison has achieved the making of an album that sounds otherworldly and like nothing else but at the same time familiar and easy on the ear. So how to describe Lonely Mountain? The openers 'Sea Y' and 'Ear' sound like an off-key tribute to Abbey Road (you can hear George Harrison's slide guitar sound on 'Pet' too). Elsewhere we can hear the gruff tones of Bonnie Prince Billy, the wonkiness of Herbert ('One Day She'll Park The Car'), Bone Machine-era Tom Waits and Sigur Ros ('Poke A Pal'), but mostly we can hear Mugison. Lonely Mountain is staggering in its ambition and fits more original ideas and melody into its 8 tracks than most manage on an album of twice the length. Like Cody Chestnutts Headphone Masterpiece, another of this year's most startling debuts, the lo-fi, one man production and 'accidental sounds' of Lonely Mountain lend it an honest, singing-in-your-ear, bluesy quality."

MUGISON: Sea Y 12" (LL 19EP). $9.00

"Debut single by Icelandic one-man band, Mugison, described by The Face magazine as 'one of the best singer-songwriters recently seen creeping out of a computer'. Remixes by Arny Lindsay (ex-DNA/Lounge Lizards) & Melvin Gibbs (ex-Rollins band) and Phil Parnell (Herbert)."

LIKE RECORDS (NETHERLANDS):

LIKE A TIM & GINA V. D'ORRIO: Bass Girl LP (LIKE 003LP). $15.00
LP version.

LINE:

CHARTIER, RICHARD: Series CD (LINE 001). $13.00

"12K proudly announces the formation of a sublabel created jointly by Taylor Deupree and Richard Chartier. Line will focus on new, ultra-minimal conceptual sound projects from many artists who not only experiment with sound but in other media as well. Many Line releases will be intended for low-level or headphone listening. Series is the 4th solo full length CD by minimal sound artist/composer Richard Chartier. Created over an 8 month period, Series is Chartier's most minimal and subtle work to date. Employing soft hushed almost imperceptible high frequencies, bursts and static quiet low shifting tones. The works explore an implied silence that is not silent. A quietness that belies the activity and energy of the sounds. Cyclical, meticulously subtle structured, vaguely atmospheric digital compositions."

IMMEDIA: 2 / 1 CD (LINE 002). $13.00

"Line is proud to present 2 / 1 by UK sound/visual artists, Immedia. A collection of material from two very limited edition CDRs, In Audio and Virtual Recordings of Imagined Spaces. The sound of Immedia's work implies silence/microcosms and the underlying resonance of spaces and is intended for quiet amplification or headphone listening. In audio: sound works that exploit the limitations of basic digital equipment, utilising a combination of malfunction, error and accidents to produce new data. In audio is a constantly evolving project. These pieces are not intended as a final product but as a documentation of works that are inherently in progress. These works are also open to reinterpretation and continuation by other artists. Virtual recordings of imagined spaces: the invisible presence of imagined spaces: domestic and industrial, public and private. The looped recordings and the listening environment merge to create a new sonic space. Immedia are Vicky Paniale and Darren Reynolds, a duo from London, UK."

YUI, MIKI: Lupe Lupe Peul Epul CD (LINE 003). $13.00

"The latest release from sound/installation artist Miki Yui. Miki was born in Tokyo, Japan and currently resides in Cologne, Germany, presenting her work in galleries, on CD, and as soundtracks to theatre/dance performance and film productions. Lupe Lupe Peul Epul is an extension of her well received 1999 release small sounds (BMB Lab, Cologne) taking sounds recorded in various spaces, often sampler processed natural/acoustically based, and woven them into intricate multi-layered compositions. These acoustic fragments are meant to fill in the sonic environmental gaps and create a new space that implies a layer of memories. Miki's sounds mirror memory loops — bits and pieces of past sights, visions, feelings, echoed in warm sine tones, clicks, grit, and vibrating timbres — recalled and then merged into the environment to return as new memories that let the listener sink into the moment of listening, creating a loop. This work is a loop for listening to our environment. It is designed to be played back in loop/random mode and at a quiet, transparent level."

GUNTER, BERNHARD: Monochrome White / Polychrome w/Neon Nails 2CD (LINE 005). $19.00

Repressed and available again. "Originally begun in 1999, this new series of compositions by German composer Bernhard Günter utilizes Immedia's in audio work, available on the collection 2 / 1 (LINE 002), as source material, for which the release was originally intended — an origin for new sound works. The idea for Monochrome White originated while viewing a Bill Viola retrospective in Frankfurt, Germany. Inspired, Günter conceived that 'the piece would only use high frequency spectra to lift it off the ground, so to speak, and it would only use 'empty' intervals (4ths and 9ths) to not have it rest on a root note, but to keep it harmonically floating/suspended.' The second piece Polychrome w/Neon Nails is a transformation of the Monochrome White, lower in pitch and doubling the rate of change, it results in a sound world that might be likened to a swarm of digital insects. This release is the first double CD, as well as the first US only full length recording, by Bernhard Günter."

Z.E.I.L.E.: Nth CD (LINE 006). $13.00

"Z.E.I.L.E. is the project, founded early 2000, of Italian duo of Maurizio Martusciello and Nicola Catalano, both of whom reside in Rome. Their debut CD Nth is a collection of points strewn across an implied graph of a sound field; delicate crackles, clean sine waves and sibilant washes create a mechanical room tone of deliberate precision. Z.e.i.l.e.'s use of a transparent and airy sound palette make Nth a highly contemplative and listenable study of sound and space."

CHARTIER, RICHARD: Of Surfaces CD (LINE 008). $13.00

"Of Surfaces suggests an incremental process of reduction. Compositional focus placed in the space between sounds and silence. Barely audible events negotiated through surfaces — implied sounds heard through the conduit of a surface, sounds in another room, in between and beyond surface levels create the fabric of this work. Of Surfaces is a space between the Chartier's pointalist series and the layered orchestrations of decisive forms exploring the relationship between sound, silence, focus, and the act of listening. Richard Chartier, minimal sound artist/composer and graphic designer, has recorded critically acclaimed solo recordings for such labels as Trente Oiseaux (Germany), LINE (USA), Meme (Japan), Fallt (Ireland) as well collaborative works with Nosei Sakata (*0) and Taylor Deupree on 12k (USA)."

GUNTER, BERNHARD: Monochrome Rust / Differential 2CD (LINE 009). $19.00

"Monochrome Rust, the third piece in a triptych, initiated with the works Monochrome White and Polychrome w/Neon Nails, (LINE 005) presents what a shiny new, digitally clean piece like Polychrome might become after fifty years of degradation and corrosion — the neon nails have become rusted, and lost their shine. Nevertheless, this study of transience is not negative — it rather contains some of the calm of handling memories of long gone events, seen in a new perspective created by the passing of time. Differential is, in a way, the epilogue, the final touch added to the triptych of Monochrome White, Polychrome w/Neon Nails, and Monochrome Rust that completes this cycle based on the work In Audio by British duo, Immedia as part of their LINE release 2 / 1 (LINE 002). Differential is a very subtle, very filigree piece, maybe even more abstract, and minimalist than the three pieces it was derived from, much like a translucent version of Monochrome White."

MEELKOP, ROEL: (To Be Announced) CD (LINE 010). $13.00

"The first full length release for Roel Meelkop on Line showcases his amazing use of the sound field shuttling across low elements, high frequencies, quiet movements, and jarring unexpected loud events. (To Be Announced)'s unique 'acoustic' sounds and synthetic sounds makes repeated listening reveal a myriad layers and juxtaposition."

DUUL DRV/NIBO/VEND: Clean CD (LINE 011). $13.00

"Duul Drv is S. Arden Hill, sound artist and painter, who explores the environment of miniature re-juxtaposition. His sound work combines various forms of processed audible texture, ranging from phonographic recordings to abstract and pop ambience. These textures are processed with lo-tech software, manifesting slow and organic compositions. Nibo is active in sound, design and visual art. Many of his works including his multi-media installation pieces focus on scientific or mathematical themes. Vend is Alex Peverett and Joe Gilmore. Over the past three years, they have worked together under various project names. Vend was the result of a mutual interest in understated generative/algorhythmic audio design. vend.clean consists entirely of sounds constructed using various forms of audio synthesis."

STEINBRÜCHEL: Circa CD (LINE 012). $13.00

"Circa is Zurich based sound/installation artist and designer Ralph Steinbrüchel's (b.1969) first full length CD and first US release. Based on his sound installation zeit= which was exhibited on August 9, 2001 at the Platzspitz Park in Zurich, Switzerland, all sound sources on Circa are recordings of rain. Zeit=s sounds formed a landscape, a soundscape in it's original meaning. Samples and tones create an intensive atmosphere. Sixteen speakers were spread throughout the Platzspitz Park. Each releasing zeit (translated: 'at the same time') — a sound, a tone, a noise. What we usually only know as a finished product (on records or during a concert) the visitor of the installation forms during this day: moving throughout the landscape of sound, collecting tones, sounds, noises, and form unique spacial compositions and arrangements."

CHARTIER, RICHARD: 2 Locations CD (LINE 013). $13.00

"While Chartier is known for his quiet and subtle works incorporating silence and implied silence, this pair of compositions presents quite audible and apparent constantly shifting sounds. These pieces contain no points of silence. Location especially presents a departure for Chartier. During the process of creating these works he moved from outside of Washington, DC to Baltimore, MD. This shift in location can be felt between the two pieces. Richard Chartier (b.1971) has produced critically acclaimed recordings for labels including Trente Oiseaux (Germany), Line (USA), Meme (Japan), and Fallt (Ireland), as well collaborative works with Nosei Sakata (*0), Taylor Deupree, and Kim Cascone on 12k (USA). His work explores the relationship between sound, silence, focus, and the act of listening."

SKOLTZ, KOLGEN: Hyalin CD (LINE 014). $13.00

"For projekt no.10 [ Hyalin ] Skoltz_Kolgen developed various acoustic combinations from a series of macro-photographs of forms of glass. Transposing certain optical attributes of the photographs (transparency / opacity / density) onto audio sources and assembling them in multiple layers, the results are a micro-system of isomorphic tones. From stratified fluid tones to dried out agglomerates, we go through the different states of a translucent body. Skoltz_Kolgen is the Montreal based plurimedia duo of Dominique [T] Skoltz and Herman W. Kolgen. Their artistic thought essentially focuses on the immediate relationship between sonic systems and visual material. Using digital platforms, they intuitively create a dynamic dialogue of fusion between the particularity of each medium. By injecting digital audio data into the images, and vice-versa, an optic influx into the sound, they construct what they like to call acoustic pigments. Their multipolar work includes, among others, pictorial, sonic, and kinetic objects, installations, as well as performances."

YUI, MIKI: Silence Resounding CD (LINE 015). $13.00

"LINE is proud to present the third full length work by Miki Yui, Silence Resounding. This is the second CD for Yui on LINE. Silence Resounding was made after working on a series of Installations and compositions, relating to environment and to acoustic perception. It draws a map between acoustic landscapes and amorphous memories. Silence Resounding is a continuation of aesthetic themes from Miki Yui's well received 2000 release Lupe luep peul epul, taking sounds recorded in various spaces, often sampler processed natural/acoustically based, and woven them into intricate multi-layered compositions. These acoustic fragments are meant to fill in the sonic environmental gaps and create a new space that implies a layer of memories. Her sounds mirror memory loops-bits and pieces of past sights, visions, feelings, echoed in warm sine tones, clicks, grit, and vibrating timbres-recalled and then merged into the environment to return as new memories that let the listener sink into the moment of listening, creating a loop."

TIETCHENS/DAVID LEE MYERS, ASMUS: 60:00 CD (LINE 017). $13.00

"LINE is proud to present 60:00, the fourth collaborative album from influential electronic music pioneers Asmus Tietchens and David Lee Myers. On their first three collaborative projects the working method for this pairing was essentially the same: Myers provided Tietchens with raw feedback sound banks and the later constructed the compositions from this source material using his varied processing and editing techniques. For 60:00 this approach was altered; again beginning from the feedback sources, tracks were repeatedly exchanged between the two composers, transformations and edits by each resulting in several levels of manipulation. In the final pieces, the particular contributions of each composer can no longer be precisely identified."

LISSY'S:

DELUXX: The Forgiveness Towel LP (LISS 14). $12.00

UK-only vinyl edition of the Bolide CD. The Boston duo of Bob Fay (drums, vocals) and Mark Perretta (guitar, vocals, loops), who are known as "one-half of DFI, the Deluxx Folk Implosion. The Forgiveness Towel is a 30 min., multi-faceted offering drawn from a collection of bedroom tapes, live radio broadcast, and an overload of improvisational inspiration. With a one-take wonderment and a no-fuss ethic, Deluxx captures a mayhem wash of emotive moments, recorded live, often in overdrive, sometimes with a reverb soak."

LIST (FRANCE):

MOU. LIPS!: Peanuts And Shells Geometria CD (LIST 003). $15.00

"Andrea Gabriele, formerly of tu m', and Emanuela de Angelis, based in Pescara, Italy gave birth to an open and vivid universe. What you will find here is a carefully assembled collection of minimal anthems crafted from additive loops hooked onto soothing hisses, diffuse emotions trapped in obsessive repetition fading away after a brief but exhausting dance across a fragile line. A corpus of eight songs without lyrics eager to haunt you, the m o u, l i p s ! debut CD just might soon steal your ears away..."

VA: Minima-List CD (LIST 01). $13.00

LITTLE BROWN & CO.:

MELTZER, RICHARD: The Night (Alone) Book (LITTLE 5). $22.00

Richard Meltzer's long awaited first novel. Small bits of this have appeared in EE magazine over the years, but after many anxious years of waiting the whole kaboodle is here. Meltzer is merely the kingpin of 20th century American writing; after inventing rock journalism in the mid 60s he quickly kissed it over into the deserving gutter and concentrated on "life" instead. His books on this subject are few and far between (this is about his 6th or so, depending on how you count them), and major events when they occur. 320 pages, hardcover. List price is: $22.95

LITTLE WING (GERMANY):

PINNACLE: Assassin LP (LW 2007). $22.00

Hardish UK rock, originally privately issued in 1974.

KAHAVAS JUTE: Wide Open LP (LW 4034). $25.00

"One of the most outstanding Australian LPs of the early 70s...a progressive Cream inspired guitar fire work ? sparkling and deep in feeling." This master tape reissue in elaborate gate-fold is of the band's only LP, from 1972.

HUMAN INSTINCT: Pins In It CD (LW 4056). $18.00

Reissue of the 3rd Human Instinct album from 1971 (originally issued by Pye in New Zealand). First time on CD for any of the albums featuring the NZ legend Billy T.K. Previously available as a part of the long deleted Little Wing Human Instinct 3LP box set. A member of the Maori tribe, Billy took the Hendrix guitar-psych trio to some pretty intriguing peaks, perhaps best documented by the first 2 albums: Burning Up Years, Stoned Guitar from 1969-70 (reissued with original cover art by Ascension Records in Australia). Following this album Billy T.K. left Human Instinct to form Powerhouse (only documented on the rather fantastic Little Wing 2LP Live Beyond The Material Sky).

PAN: LP (LW 5032). $30.00

A good, grunting Scandinavian-sounding rock group, reminding a bit of Finland's Kalevala. From 1970, in a fantastic embossed cover.

LO RECORDINGS (UK):

Most of the most obscure names feature Tye production or mixes. Experimental dope breaks, weird beats, isolationist shebang, some drum'n'bass, seemingly applied.

THOMAS/THE WORMHOLES, RICHARD: Seven Point Plan to Destroy Astrology CD (LO 10 CD). $16.00

"Logical pairing of these two 'outsider' acts by their UK record label, Lo Recordings. Richard Thomas was introduced to the world via his tracks on the initial Invisible Soundtracks volume on Leaf, and has since released a 12" and full-length CD for Lo (the brilliant Shoes and Radios Attract Paint, a set of multichannel tape constructs that through some tormented logic earned him the tag 'The Welsh Sun-Ra') and a recent 7" for Leaf. The Wormholes are low-bit live improvising rock 'unit' who sired a few tracks which found their way onto the Mutations series of compilations (that would be United Mutations and Further Mutations, both on Lo) thusly introducing them to the whole lot of miscreants aligned with said releasing organization. Thomas' analog-tape 're-productions' refashion The Wormholes' July '97 London show into something that's not quite 'post-rock' or 'electronica)', it's more free-jazz/concreté in spirit. Sounds jump out of the stereo spread in no particular order." — Hrvatski.

DEFEVER, WARN: I Want You To Live A Hundred Years CD (LO 13 CD). $16.00

"Fruits of a single autumnal day-stupor inspiration session by Defever (His Name is Alive/4AD/funds placement officer: TIMESTERE imprint), focalizing on a sort of hybrid Guthrie/roots/OMATW/loafy approach (replete w/Opcode VINYL plug-in crackle overlay/ancient FOLK folk candids), not entirely like anything recent/tangible in head-cell-banks A/B (save maybe perhaps those two John Frusciante solo records. I can only imagine the look on Tye's face opening the mailer, expecting a Control Panel record (Warren's out-ronic alt-ter-ego) & instead getting a Sentridoh/Jandek/Revenant style soul-bleeder epic & attempting to talk anyone within earshot into seeing its genius. Kudos to the Lo staff for such brazen sensibilities. Inclusion of spurious Willie Nelson/Zeni Geva covers only confound further. Excellent." — Hrvatski.

FLOWERS MEETS CYLOB/ORBITAL: 1999/Chime Mixes 12" (LO 13 EP). $9.00

Limited repress of this late 1999 single that originally sold out instantly. "One side features Orbital's club classic 'Chime' going interstellar with some vocoder driven space funk courtesy of ex-Orb person Kris Weston aka Krisp Doubleu, plus a Hairly Butter version. Other side features Cylob's vocal and instrumental mixes of Prince's '1999', all with added Mike Flowers."

BRIK, ADDIE: My Little Pony Ride 12" (LO 14 EP). $9.00

"Awesome six track EP which boasts a Plaid mix. A surprisingly ear-friendly release from Lo Recordings with vocals, melody, strings and much Twin Peaks style beauty. Addie Brik is an American singer/musician who has sung with Sugarhill Gang, Wendy & Lisa and more recently Luke Vibert & DJ Cole on the highly acclaimed Stop the Panic album. On this record, Addie is joined by Jono Modmore, the Russian Chamber Orchestra of London, Richard Thomas, and of course Plaid, whose stunning remix of 'Bonded' is released here for the first time on vinyl."

TWISTED SCIENCE: Deep and Warm CD (LO 15 CD). $16.00

"A brand new offering from Twisted Science, a.k.a. Jon Tye. After last year's most abrasive and critically acclaimed The Sharpest Tool In The Box comes Deep and Warm, an altogether more friendly album and yet still deeply twisted. A cut and paste collage that recalls the cinematic scope of DJ Shadow, the layered psychedelia of Jim O'Rourke or Cornelius at his most abstract. This is electronic music at its most challenging, yet like the recent Uziq album, full of melody and humor."

THOMAS, RICHARD: Soggy Martyrs CD (LO 16 CD). $16.00

"Richard Thomas returns with his second magnum opus, Soggy Martyrs, hot on the heels of his collaborative live EP with Squarepusher. An electronic folk jazz kidscape of carboot sale electronics, Sun Ra space jazz, and Astrud Gilberto coffee table musik. An aural swoon of an album that luxuriates in rich aquatic textures, and emotionally and sexually charged atmospheres which are constantly underpinned with sinister Wicker Man style foreboding."

VA: Alternative 3 (Original Soundtrack) CD (LO 19 CD). $16.00

"Conspiracy theory alert! In 1977 Anglia Television aired a documentary called 'Alternative 3' as one of their Science Report programmes. A3's basic premise is that our planet is doomed to die from global warming and America and Russia have been secretly co-operating for decades, have colonised Mars with selected superior humans and plan to leave the rest of the human race to die when the time comes. The response to the broadcast was unprecedented with many people phoning in, newspaper articles and even questions in the house. In an effort to stop the panic the producers of the programme issued a statement claiming that the show was in fact a hoax and had been originally scheduled for broadcast on April Fools day. This bizarre story has now been made into a major feature film starring Cornelia Fischer and Oliver Tubbs with a suitably eclectic electronic score featuring Add N to X, Stereolab and Hairly Butter that recalls classic sci-fi soundtracks of the 70's such as The Adromeda Strain and Demon Seed. The film itself will be released in the summer of 2001 with preview screenings scheduled to coincide with the release of the album."

VA: Alternative 3 (Original Soundtrack) LP (LO 19 LP). $12.00

LP version.

VA: Barry 7's Connectors 2LP (LO 25 LP). $16.00

Double LP version. Limited stock.

VA: Because You're Funky CD (LO 26 CD). $15.00

"Funk 45s, Deep Funk, its everywhere. But not like this. Because You're Funky brings you 24 seriously fried instrumentals from the collection of the legendary Rustler — a veteran of 20 years on the 45 scene. Some of these tracks are so rare that even DJ Shadow doesn't have them and some are so far out that no one but The Rustler would play them! — and one in particular is so rare and so good that Penny?Dope Agonizes offered £1000 for it. It took us 2 years to persuade The Rustler to let us put these gems out. Bordering on Psych, heavy on the breaks this stuff is hot — DJ's get your samplers ready. All the cuts are from the late 60s, early 70s in that pre-disco, no drum machine era when men were men, women were women and funk was most definitely funky. This is the roots of all that is funky from Peaches to Aphex, Ed Rush to the Wu Tang clan, George Clinton to Prince. Without this shit no one would be feeling the funk. So whatever your bag, you need this album. Why? Because You're Funky."

LO-FI STEREO (GERMANY):

MACHADO: NELSON 12" (LOFI 010). $9.00

"Dark Basic Channel-inspired trax. Unusual but good release for Lo-Fi."

VA: Lo-Fi Stereography CD (LOFI 012 CD). $18.00

VA: Lo-Fi Stereography 2LP (LOFI 012 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

VA (MIXED BY BEN NEVILLE): The Peripheral Fix #1 CD (LOFI 024 CD). $14.00

"Lo-Fi Stereo presents with The Peripheral Fix Vol.1 the follow-up-compilation to the successful debut-compilation-cd (Lo-Fi Stereography LOFI 012CD, 2000). This long-awaited and long-planned DJ-mix-CD gets you deep in the lo-fi-stereo 'style-universe' and presents a selection with no boundaries in genres exploring the cool peripheral fields of eclectic electronic music. So dub meets electro as well as techno and retroesque electro-pop all compiled and mixed together by the UK DJ & producer Neville Attree who might also rock your desk this summer with the slamming Further-Release 'Stone Cold'. The Peripheral Fix Vol.1 comes out as a superbe genre-mix that takes you on a journey along tracks by Jeans Team, Atom Heart, Zongamin, Louie Austin, the Berlin based Martini Brös, Mathias Schaffhäuser and the UK/German Klang-Elektronik Act Berghem34. After all it's a very versatile and entertaining mix that gives you the scoop about what's happening at the moment in the electro-pop-rock-funk-techno-dub-universe! This is another non-conform and outstanding product out of the Lo-Fi-Stereo-Lab that proves the labels unique position along labels like Klang, Perlon, Playhouse, Kompakt or Blauo."

MONNE AUTOMNE: Introducing Light & Sound CD (LOFI 026CD). $16.00

"Monotone sounds and colours do not have any variations or shades according to definition, so it must have been with more than a little irony that Luciano and Pier Bucci conjured up the name Monne Automne. Their debut album Introducing Light and Sound is quite simply a revelation. There is beauty here, there is humour, there is also a sense of timelessness echoing through the intricate soundscapes they create. Fragmented rhythms jar into infinity interlinking with delicate melodies to create the perfect blend of head and heart... fire and water. Each of the ten tracks offers a new twist on their trademark electrolatino sound. From the sombre tones of 'Automne' to the delirious rush of 'Teco', from the unquestioning belief of 'El Salvador' (appearing here in its original form after last year's excellent remix pack) to the downright freakiness of 'Too Late'."

MONNE AUTOMNE: Introducing Light & Sound LP (LOFI 026LP). $12.00

LP version.

MONNE AUTOMNE: El Salvador Remixes 12" (LOFI 027). $9.00

"Debut of Monne Automne — the new project by the men of the moment Luciano, Argenis Brito (Gonzalo Martinez / Siegfried Die Sonne) and Pier Bucci. The three Chilean top musicians and producers are now spread to Geneva, Berlin and Santiago de Chile and present us one of the most thrilling remix-packages of this summer. Find the original 'El Salvador' (to be release this fall on the forthcoming album on Lo-Fi Stereo) re-arranged and re-constructed by Pier Bucci & Luciano himself to an ultra-cool longbuilding slammer — our anthem for this summer. Star*dub tweaks the knobs to a crazy-cool acid-house DJ-tool where Ricardo takes it down to his typical tripped out crazy Villalobos style. Longbuilding, pure and abstract. So there should be one for each of you... Clubheads, tripped out DJs and cool minimal acid-lovers going where labels like Perlon and Playhouse go at the moment too."

VILLALOBOS/CLEVER & SMART: 808 The Bassqueen/Flitadelic 12" (LOFI 028). $9.00

"So here we go with a real classic — a collector's item delight still rocking floors worldwide. Ricardo Villalobos' breaking '808 The Bassqueen' a favourite of DJs like Sven Vath, Michael Mayer, Swayzak And Steve Bug combining deephouse and techno in a very special way... Some people even say this is Ricardo's best recording ever. On the flipside you find Steve Bug's 'Clever & Smart' project with the hypnotic and kicking 'Flitadelic' that rocks floors perfectly somewhere between house and minimal Cologne-styled techno. All in all this classic re-press is one of best releases of German tech-house by two of the best DJs & producers around."

FURTHER: Nowhere Left To Run 12" (LOFI 029EP). $9.00

"Hot on the heels of the Monne Automne remixes and Bassqueen reissue, Lo-Fi serves up another slice of dancefloor pressure. Nowhere Left To Run marks the return of Further... (Stardub & Neville Attree) together with a special version of their original underground hit stone cold remixed by Richard Davis. The 'Secret Destination' mix is a long, slow burning affair that pays homage to the duos old skool influences — acidic basslines, filtered vocal fx, driving beats and sweeping electro samples combine to produce a really classy club tool guaranteed to seduce even the most discerning crowd... For all you DBX-fans out there."

LOAD RECORDS:

LIGHTNING BOLT: Lightning Bolt CD (LOAD 026 CD). $12.00

"Originally issued in the Spring of 1998 by Load Records as an LP-only release in an run of 750 copies, this is now available again! The response to their second full length Ride the Skies has been incredible. This record is a raw slice of Lightning Bolt welding drone and trance-like bass-and-drum lock with some of the of the jet blast riffs they have mastered. As a bonus, this records also contains the cassette companion piece (Load Records 26.1) that was previously only available from the band by writing away. The bonus track features three bass and drums songs combined with ambient and found sounds for a mix pushing the sonic boundaries."

LIGHTNING BOLT: Ride The Skies CD (LOAD 031 CD). $12.00

"The future of music has arrived! With just drums and bass, trainspotters will name check outfits like Ruins and Godhead Silo. Prepare yourself for much more! Lightning Bolt, from Providence, RI, has been in existence since 1994 and has done four U.S. tours and a Japanese tour. They've toured and played shows with Sonic Youth, Melt Banana, Ruins, Black Dice, Deepdead and Orchid. These shows struck unprepared audiences like a swinging sock full of pennies."

LIGHTNING BOLT: Power Of Salad DVD (LOAD 040 DVD). $16.00

"Strap yourself to a 3800 watt two-piece freight train as it steams its way across America. Follow the band Lightning Bolt as they drop jaws in locales from ultra-boho Williamsburgh, NY to sweaty Lubbock, Texas. It's a wild ride that has some swank bug-eye filmmaking from Peter Glantz and Nick Noe capturing 19 shows. This shit is wall-to-wall, Rhode Island to Texas to California. Talk to 'em as they crowd into a van too deep. This is no Guns N' Roses style party rock, this is planet-flattening sound waves that will make your croutons nuclear. Professionally edited, 83-min. digitally shot video of 19 dates of a cross-country tour of Lightning Bolt. Also includes bonuses such as 2 (two!) brain-melting animations, a poster gallery, chapters, and lots of other bonus footage."

LIGHTNING BOLT: Wonderful Rainbow CD (LOAD 041 CD). $12.00

"The much anticipated follow-up to 2001's album Ride the Skies, Wonderful Rainbow pulls out all the stops. Recorded loud and proud over a year, this record grabs your throat with eight songs of bass so nasty, it seers human flesh on contact and drums so mighty they liquefy brain cells on impact. Yes, reference two-piece/crazy/heavy rock bands like Ruins, Slayer and Boredoms, but you'll come up a few cents short on every pound of this two-tan heifer. Lightning Bolt is a two-piece that boasts a 3800-watt bass amp competing for volume with hammer-of-the-gods drum strikes."

LIGHTNING BOLT: Wonderful Rainbow LP (LOAD 041 LP). $10.00

LP Version.

PINK & BROWN: Shame Fantasy II CD (LOAD 043 CD). $12.00

"At long last, a fitting plot has been laid out for Pink and Brown for their diaper-soiling antics in the field of two-man screech. Yes, a plot for this defunct band. Although gone, their dead body dances like that dead guy in Weekend At Bernie's III. Pink and Brown continue the tradition of masked two-piece units and add some anthems to slovenly undress and general turpitude. Pink and Brown have toured with Lightning Bolt and are stalwarts of the San Francisco scene that has birthed such stars as the Numbers and Erase Errata. This release is nothing like either of those two however; it is scuzzed out love songs to parking meters and naked hot tub parties."

NOXAGT: Turning It Down Since 2001 CD (LOAD 044 CD). $12.00

"Hailing from Norway, Noxagt have come to burn your dirty soul. Three piece in the bass, viola, and drums format. This record is heavier than all the weight Richard Simmons lost before becoming the annoying skinny man he is. Produced by Billy Andersson (Sleep, High On Fire, Neurosis), this record is a pummeling masterpiece. Songs that breathe through their mouth very loudly. Noxagt is at the forefront of the Nor-Wave movement that takes cues from the American wrecking units like Lightning Bolt and Pink and Brown and adds a distinctly Norwegian heavy slant. Liner Notes by Stefan Jaworzyn."

NOXAGT: Turning It Down Since 2001 LP (LOAD 044 LP). $10.00

LP version.

PINK & BROWN: Shame Fantasy II LP (LOAD 045 LP). $10.00

LP version.

FRIENDS FOREVER: Killball CD (LOAD 046 CD). $12.00

"Friends Forever is a Denver, Colorado band that cannot be contained on a stage and will play synthno-drum/bass/whatever whammy thwack attack from within their van outside your precious club. The band is touring non-stop. Friends Forever's Killball details an ultra-violent future where games are played to the death. Killball is similar to American football circa 1920-2016, except the players wear no pads and are given PCP to ensure a grizzly game. Each player is equipped with a switchblade and a machete. To be tackled is to be destroyed. Tonight you have been chosen to play Killball. Can you win? Ha, ha, ha. Reference sound generators like Devo & party-friendly anthem rock with a healthy helping of appliance clatter. The record is dedicated to the Denver Broncos, if only they could understand."

FRIENDS FOREVER: Killball LP (LOAD 046 LP). $10.00

LP version.

VIKI/HAIR POLICE: Split CD (LOAD 047 CD). $12.00

"Number Three in the Load Split Series. A standoff match up between Dearborn, Michigan's pride Viki and Lexington, Kentucky's offspring, Hair Police. Viki brings a free range roving donkey ride with squeaky beats, microphones up mouths and zooming crunch. Prepare to be astounded with sounds that make the goose loose. Viki's dates with Adult., are proof that she brings the cars with boom. Think Viki in the same fresh breath as lo-fi speaker technicians like Suicide and Wolf Eyes' minimal electronic splurt. For those not afraid to get their sneakers dirty. Hair Police are another side of this silver coin that channel classic crunch climbers like Throbbing Gristle. Hair Police have been known to expend thousands of calories during their live sets, amounts not seen since Black Flag's heyday."

SIGHTINGS: Absolutes CD (LOAD 048 CD). $12.00

"Eight songs that take apart rock music atom by atom so that you are left with a skeleton of sound. Sightings still use the tools of the trade — guitar, bass and drums — to take both rock and roll out of rock n' roll. Reference weirdo deconstructo outfits like Einstürzende Neubauten, (mid-period) Black Dice, and Mainliner. This is the sound between the guitar strings, inside the bass amp, and within a drum stick. Yes, the truth. If punk rock used to mean fucking shit up and doing it your own way, this record erects a mile high middle finger facing the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame."

KHANATE: No Joy (remix) / Dead 12" (LOAD 049 EP). $10.00

"It's been said about Khanate before that 'slow is the new loud.' This being true, Khanate's sound is a deafening roar. Take the brutal, slow dynamics of Eyehategod or Earth and add a slow menace and then you have a good start on where this record will leave you. Members in the band are in bands such as Burning Witch, Sunno O))), Scorn, and Blind Idiot God. This record is a remix 12" record, though not in the usual sense banded about by skinny tie-wearing fools. The 12" remix adds some thick squall to a song — 'No Joy' off their first record (Southern Lord). It comes off as a dense and oppressive crush that fits comfortably into the post-nuclear universe of the Load Records sound, but also into the afterworld metallic funhouse of Khanate. James Plotkin administers mix on both sides."

VINEBUS ERUPTUM: Vincebus Eruptum CD (LOAD 051 CD). $12.00

"Debut record from Providence, RI based sludge station managers, Vincebus Eruptum finds the band generating some dense spew. Features Dan St. Jacques of Olneyville Sound System/Landed. Features guitar, bass, drums with deranged screams from the dungeon. Topics addressed are surely of adult origin but include wholesome activities such as human hygiene, disagreements with strangers, and illicit drug use. The sound? Definitely in the heavy side: think Eyehategod and Mayhem for reference. Big guitars, skull pounding drums and hell spawn bass combine for a raunchy skull burn for those liking their rock hard."

"Mr. California and the State Police, brings drum machine and guitar fortified crunch home. A 10"/CD crammed to the rafters with 51 songs. Rock has overcome its fear of stupidity and is blazing new trails into your earholes. Its time to have some fun kids and Mr. California is here. He's gonna school you good with potty logic songs like 'The Violation of Burt Ward', 'Kill Dr. Phil' and 'Handjob'. Think punk rock weirdos Sockeye and Men's Recovery Project for reference."

KITES: Royal Paint With Metallic Gardener from the United States... CD (LOAD 053

CD). $12.00

...Helped into an Open Field by Woman and Children. "Hyper real poundings for the short bus from this one man electrical system operator. Simple songs taken to the edge of the cliff. Really simple songs, a virtual Casey Kasem Top Ten within one CD buried deep within a blanket. Kites has toured the netherworld of the Middle West of the United States of America and put out a shingle that few can deny. It may look like a man fighting a machine, but the battle is for your mind. Shows with Neon Hunk, Mindflayer and the Hair Police have resulted in unsupervised surgery and caused at least three (3) Amber Alerts. Join now for chewy choogle."

TOTAL SHUTDOWN: The Messiah Will Not Come Till He Hears Your Tears... LP (LOAD 054 LP). $9.00

"San Francisco noise metal dive bomber jazz aggressors Total Shutdown is a 5 piece bass guitar keyboard sax drummer screecher band that flails about, stopping, starting, with their minute-long, tantrum-like songs. Think weirdo deconstructos like Monochid with short attention spans. The band likes to fancy themselves as Bernard Stoltzman's (ESP-Disk domo) mohawked other brother. This is full length #2 for them. CD is out on the esteemed Tigerbeat 6 label."

USAISAMONSTER: Tasheyana Compost CD (LOAD 056 CD). $12.00

"The USAisammonster is a brilliantly fried two-piece guitar and drums band of sun spotters hailing from Brooklyn, NY. The band has roved the planet with instruments strapped to their backs playing the tops of mountains, skin-melting deserts, and rusted out America. The band has trekked across Europe, America (too many times to count), and Mexico. The sound of the record is a synapse firing melt of rock and other-worldly whisper. The rock goes from balls out to a gentle, massaging hand reaching into your cortex. Think astral plane hitchhikers like Gong and Sabbath in the same mental fart as Load two piece terrorists. The fidelity of this record is total."

NOXAGT: The Iron Point CD (LOAD 057 CD). $12.00

"Norwegian three piece Noxagt come at you with record #2. Bass, drums and viola configured for maximum damage to ear canals. This record swings hard my friends, rocks like a demon and has some majestic dynamics. The Iron Point even has Nils Erga's (Noxagt's viola player) octogenarian grandfather singing on one track. Noxagt is for fans of hard rock and swinging unconventional riffage like the Dirty Three, dirty crawl such as the Melvins, and single minded pummel like label-mates/touring partners Lightning Bolt."

NECRONOMITRON: Necronomitrone CD (LOAD 058 CD). $12.00

"Demonic wails from Providence — bearded guitar-ists. Frothing fast leads, crunching power, and wailing screams at a planet choking on its own vomit. The kids are truly insane. Two guitars and drums. Features a past member of the USAisammonster clan for added incestual sensuality. Artwork on this record is constructed from 24K gold and inscribed by a team of middle earth dwarves in the smitty halls of hell. Gold will be the currency the world uses after George Bush destroys this cursed ball of dirt known as Earth. For ball park references think Voivod and Man Is The Bastard."

MINDFLAYER: It's Always 1999 CD (LOAD 059CD). $12.00

"Robo generated psychic booty pulse coupled with metro scrambled drumstick action. Battle station personnel on this disc includes Brian Chippendale of Lightning Bolt and Meerk Puffy of Forcefield. The duo have oscillators working overtime in the psychic war deck and gabba friendly drums. The sounds on this record are the hustle and bustle of bass-bin boom on the space thoroughways of the Milky Way circa 3167 A.D. Slowed beats with the force of tree roots hitting supertanker hulls. Vast radio dish networks with squelch and pulse tremors using solar systems as tweeters and white dwarfs as shredded woofers. Your head is caving in, your eyes are melting. Time is space and colors are sound. All is brown, hail the ramparts, to the battle stations."

METALUX: Waiting for Armadillo CD (LOAD 060CD). $12.00

"Clipped and chopped radio beamings from a Middle American bunker, Metalux bring a rodeo of galactic proportions home to your speakers. M.V. Cärbön and J. Graf play a dual synth/tape soundtrack to an uneasy nation. The vibe is dark and alien and the recording on this record is top-notch. Crazy voices and spectacle mounting live action! Ballpark reference points include Chrome and the Residents in the same thought as Chicago form shapers from the early 90s Milk of Burgundy scene like Duotron, Scissor Girls et al."

NAUTICAL ALMANAC: Rooting for the Microbes CD (LOAD 061CD). $12.00

"From the sooty corridors of the rusted out skeleton of Baltimore, Nautical Almanac has taken the urban crack of electronic halftone entertainment and dragged it squarely into the times of horse and buggies. As the band clearly states no electricity or computers were used in the music making process. The sounds generated are from machines specifically built for the recording process or from real lab experience. Custom equipment made of weird alloys of plastic, leather, wire, and rubber. Longtime collaborators Carly Ptak and Twig Harper worked on this record along with 10 other guests from wall-to-wall of this saggy country: Forcefield, Paperrad and Costes associates were all involved. Nautical Almanac has records on Hanson and is an integral forefather of much of the Midwest noise scene. The band has many other releases on its own label Heresee. Wanna understand the throb of shirtless noise boys and girls in Michigan? Climb onto this crisco-coated locomotive and get the real deal of steel. Answers not included and sound not found."

KITES/PRURIENT: Load Split Series #4 LP (LOAD 062LP). $10.00

"Another jammed-elevator mismatch between two of Providence, RI's hottest pedal jackers and circuit board melters. Kites has a record on Load already and this side of the split evokes a crunchy square toned melodic flair with organic almost organ-fueled Disneyland melodies. These are the rockers. Prurient is another Providence-based sound artist doing low toned rumble jammed up against cassette culture screech. Live shows are a blur of power and volume. Yes the cream of the noise crop. This record is a bit more subdued in all out attack and more drenched in total murk-o-phonic atmosphere. Percussive chug and downer vibes."

LOADED (UK):*SUPER COLLIDER: Head On CD (LOADED 001CD). $15.00

Originally released in April of 1999, this has previously been licenced in the US to the now-defunct Medicine label, but that version is no longer available. So here is the original UK version on Loaded. One of the most inventive/tweaked DSP-electronic albums of the late 90s. "Super Collider is Christian Vogel and Jamie Lidell, members of the Bristol No Future set. Not surprisingly, then, Head On bears comparison with Vogel's Busca in certain respects. However, because the album contain traditional/found vocals by Lidell, and because the album uses primarily traditional song structures, the album is nearly pop, albeit incredibly warped, twisted, and experimental pop. But don't let the weirdness or the 'popness' fool you: this is electronic music at its finest. The album is filled with amazing techno synth sounds, traditional, CGD, and found beats, and other unusual and original sounds. For instance, 'It Won't Be Long' has both Vogel's beats and noises and Lidell's vocals that are filtered, altered, and resampled to resemble the most freaked out George Clinton clone who ever lived. 'Alchemical Confession,' meanwhile, would fit perfectly on a traditional house album (by someone like Deep Dish), except the beat is too complex (too noisy), the melody includes an analog feedback solo, and the vocals are compressed to the point of fragmentation. In other words, it's a wonderful song, but it is wonderful precisely because it manages to reinvent the very sounds and very forms that other artists depend on."

LOCUS +/CHARRM (UK):*SEMPER, JONTY: The 1 Minute Silence From The Funeral Of Diana, Princess of Wales 7" (CH 60997). $8.50

"This is the first part of a 2-part project by British artist Jonty Semper. The 1 minute silence from the funeral of Diana, Princess of Wales was recorded in Hyde Park by Jonty Semper on 6 September 1997 as the live BBC television broadcast of the ceremony was shown on a big screen in the park. All around the world people similarly observed the ritual unfold, a communal gathering unprecedented in contemporary times: levelling divisions, uniting through grief and contemplation, loaded with specific current social and political meanings. The single places the contemporary public silence observed during the mourning of Diana's death in context with the second part of the project, Kenotaphion, produced as a result of researching, locating and anthologising all the existing archive recordings of the two minute silences from the Armistice Day or Remembrance Sunday ceremonies at the Cenotaph, Whitehall, London."

SEMPER, JONTY: Kenotaphion 2CD (KEN 01CD). $18.00

"This is the second part of a 2-part project by British artist Jonty Semper. Kenotaphion is a double compact disc album of the newsreel and broadcast archive recordings of the 2 minute silences from Remembrance Sunday services dating back to 1926. Kenotaphion was produced as a result of researching, locating and anthologising all the existing archive recordings of the two minute silences from the Armistice Day or Remembrance Sunday ceremonies at the Cenotaph, Whitehall, London. There is, in fact, very little silence in the recordings as they are location recordings from the Cenotaph and include the chiming of Big Ben striking eleven o'clock as well as the ambient sound from the immediate vicinity. Some of the earlier newsreel recordings also contain voice over commentary. The title of the album, Kenotaphion, is taken from the Greek words from which the word cenotaph is derived and literally means 'empty tomb'."

LOCUS SOLUS (JAPAN):*HAYWARD, CHARLES: Live In Japan Volume One: Escape From Europe CD (LSR 001 CD). $19.00

A trilogy of live CDs, only released in Japan by Locus Solus. Volume One is a mostly solo affair from the legendary drummer and This Heat founder, Charles Hayward (drums, voice, tapes, melodic). Makoto Nomura (piano, melodic) and Akira Toyonaga (guitar) guest on one track. Recorded April, 1996. "Solo performance in his unique style. He sings, plays drums, operates two or three cassette players by means of an MTR, and a tape machine with foot switches, all at the same time."

HAYWARD, CHARLES: Live In Japan Volume Two: Double Agent(s) CD (LSR 002 CD). $19.00

"Very exciting live improvisations with Tatsuya Yoshida (drums & voice), Yoshihide Otomo (turntables, CD player & sampler), Keiji Haino (guitar & voice), and Peter Brotzmann (tenor saxophone & clarinets)." Recorded April, 1996.

HAYWARD, CHARLES: Live In Japan Volume Three: Near + Far CD (LSR 003 CD). $19.00

"Tracks 1-4 are from his solo performances, songs that weren't able to be released on Escape From Europe. Tracks 5-7 are new songs composed in the studio by remixing and overdubbing sessions with Tatsuya Yoshida, Yoshihide Otomo, Kazuhisa Uchihashi. Track 8 features Hayward singing with a melodic, recorded in a temple garden by Tatsuya Yoshida." As above, recorded April 1996.

LOCUST:*MIGONE, CHRISTOF: Crackers CD (LOCUST 01). $15.00

"In 1997, electronic sound installation artist Christof Migone enlisted the bodily aid of a group of Canadians through classified ads and over the radio for a cracking session and interview at Ottawa's Gallery 101. A what, you ask? Part ambient sound investigation and part wacked out art science project, Crackers is a 7 track collection of unadulterated recordings and clever digital remixes of the sounds of cracking knuckles, knees, wrists, jaws, toes, ankles, backs, necks, elbows, and hips. The percolating, popping polyrhythms are at once amusingly bubbly and oddly trance inducing. Cheaper than a trip to the chiropractor and far more entertaining, Crackers was first presented as an installation in a group show curated by Emmanuel Madan entitled 'Incredibly Soft Sounds' at Gallery 101, in January 1998 (originally documented in an exhibition catalog and limited cd-r). Documentation of Crackers was also featured in Site Of Sound: Of Architecture And The Ear, a book with CD edited by Brandon LaBelle and Steve Roden (Los Angeles: Errant Bodies Press, 1999) and presented the following year as a solo installation curated by Michael J. Schumacher and Ursula Scherrer at Studio 5 Beekman in New York City, January 2000."

ET SANS: L'Autre CD (LOCUST 02). $15.00

"Et Sans is the Canadian duo of Roger Tellier-Craig (Fly Pan Am, Godspeed You Black Emperor) and Alexandre St-Onge (Undo, Shalabi Effect). Composed using upright bass, guitars and musique concrete style collages of their own tape treated voices, L'Autre is a drifting, hypnotic exercise where continuously unraveling ribbons of sound shape shift into a sonic surprise of other worldly cinematic proportions. This 42 minute epic is et sans debut CD."

FLYNT, HENRY: C Tune CD (LOCUST 03). $15.00

"Henry Flynt is a seasoned tourist of The World Of The Other Ear and C Tune is his ringing, psychedelic meditation on/from the cosmos. Call it a sonic postcard or call it late night head music or even call it ecstatic Minimalism if you have to. On this forty seven + minute foray, our man Flynt takes his electrified fiddle and blends his droning sonic calisthenics with lonesome swing melodies and high decibel screech to the somnambulistic playing of his expat mathematician pal Mr/Mrs. C.C. Hennix on Pran Nath Tamboura. Recorded in 1980 in an undisclosed pocket of the galaxy and now available for blissful consumption."

FLYNT, HENRY: Raga Electric CD (LOCUST 06). $14.00

"In the early '60s, fresh from his clean behind the ears years at Harvard, Henry was undergoing rapid ideological shifts: cavorting with Maciunas and the whole Fluxus bit, doing performances at Yoko Ono's loft and recording with La Monte Young; having it out with his Stalinist cohorts over the relative merits of a good blues run and searching for a new musical language outside of the various generic artistic restrictions before him at the time. What he arrived at was an expressive practice he dubbed audact (auditory acognitive cultural activity) and that is what you will hear on this collection. Collecting key material from 1963 to 1971, Raga Electric is a 7 piece distillation of some of Henry's most adventurous, audactious, outsider musical endeavors. The record begins with, of all things, a hybrid, off the wall treatment of the traditional supranationalist anthem The Marine's Hymn sung in a thick tongued, fully untutored Hindustani vocalese to brilliantly sun drenched, lightly strummed acoustic guitar accompaniment. The title cut, 'Raga Electric', is a twisted, howling fake hindustani rag with staccato untuned guitar and bleating screams recorded at his home just a few short hours after catching Pandit Pran Nath at a downtown morning concert. The howling orgasmic yodel of a visionary's self-possession and certain surrender on this 1966 cut puts Henry somewhere at the epicenter of the folk isolationist world of Jandek and the ethnodislocation of the Sun City Girls, to name but a few. The side long closer, 'Free Alto', is a monstrous exploration of the ins and outs of the tenor saxophone which, upon hearing it, Terry Riley referred to as 'a very articulated musical program'. Though it remains Henry's single meeting with the instrument, over the course of some 13 odd minutes, he finds out everything he needs to know about the horn and gets into some pretty hairy free squeal and squeal territory in the process. 'I was just pulling sounds out of a hat and just stringing them together,' he recently told me. As hats go, this one should fit the heads of today's listeners just fine." — Dawson Prater

FLYNT, HENRY: Raga Electric LP (LOCUST 06 LP). $42.00

Limited picture disc, edition of 250 copies.

ON FILLMORE: On Fillmore CD (LOCUST 07). $14.00

"The duo of On Fillmore is a rhythm section's revenge. After years spent in the coach house while bandmates bathed in caviar and showered in fine wines up the proverbial hill in the proverbial mansion, Darin Gray (Dazzling Killmen, Brise Glace, You Fantastic, Loren Mazzacane Connors, Will Oldham, Hoffman Estates) and Glenn Kotche (Wilco, Jim O'Rourke Band) concocted a lovingly brewed collection of spacious and glacial instrumentals that combine the irresistible power of raw improvised jazz grooves and pared down jam rock with emergent spooky and melodious lullaby suites. The result is a finely crafted collection of sonic architectonics between bassist Gray and percussionist Kotche that reflects a most deep understanding of Space, when to fill it out and when to file it down."

KOTCHE, GLENN: Introducing CD (LOCUST 08). $14.00

"As a member of Wilco, the Jim O'Rourke Band and On Fillmore and frequent soundtrack contributor (most recently co-scoring Ethan Hawke's Chelsea Walls with Jeff Tweedy), 31 year old native Chicagoan Glenn Kotche has come into prominence as one of the leading high demand percussionists on today's musical horizon as both a stabilizing rhythmic force and a sound explorer with a sense of wide eyed adventurousness and creative zeal. On Introducing, Kotche explores the concept and boundaries of rhythmic patterns in their broadest sense and transforms them into a subtle, deeply melodic aural lozenge that feels so good on the ears you can almost taste, touch, feel and see it. Over the course of four tracks, Kotche effortlessly blends microscopic particles of sound with warm, lush musical arrangements and seamlessly shifting rhythmic variations into a cinematic tour-de-force that brings to mind RZA's Ghost Dog soundtrack, mid-60s Steve Reich and Fennesz's Endless Summer. Derived solely from traditional and salvaged percussion, Introducing is the crowning achievement of 6 years of independent studio recording, electronic tweaking and obsessive mixing, matching and welding of sound patterns and rhythms a la the ingenious back room chemistry of a Smile era Brian Wilson."

LIGHTBOX ORCHESTRA, THE: First Contact! CD (LOCUST 09). $14.00

"First Contact! brings together highlights from nearly half a decade of recordings by an extended and ever changing superstar lineup of Chicago jazz, punk and rock musicians under the tutelage of cellist/ leader Fred Lonberg-Holm. What you'll hear on this disc is an uproarious gathering of sonic jouissance featuring composer, songsmith and producer Jim O'Rourke, laptop guitar cum electronics-whiz Kevin Drumm, Jeb Bishop, Guillermo Gregorio, members of Town and Country, Pillow, TV Pow, and dozens of other bright lights from this city's creative gene pool on acoustic instruments, homemade sound concoctions and blistering digital and analog electronics as they explore elements of sonic growth, guttural horn-speak, and wistfully spaced out playing. But this isn't just some dandy's hoity toity conceptual affair. Counterpoised somewhere between video game warfare and an explosive Arkestral moog freakout from many a Sun Ra episode, this superb collection begins surely enough teetering on the edge of a sonic collision that sets the pace for a grand, adventurous listening experience that just as easily blends the pointilism and angular attack of classic European free music with the raw, blissful emotional group flow of mid-1970s Henry Threadgill."

HURLEY, MICHAEL: Blueberry Wine: The First Songs Of Michael Hurley CD (LOCUST 10). $14.00

"Blueberry Wine: The First Songs of Michael Hurley is the first proper reissue of these fabled 1964 recordings (previously issued by Folkways records) by this legendary, eccentric nomadic folk singer. A frequent collaborator with the Holy Modal Rounders with releases on Rounder, Koch, Warner Brothers subsidiary Raccoon and a host of other labels, for close to 40 years Michael Hurley has lived the life of a modern day Johnny Appleseed: moving about the country collecting great tales, drawing funny pictures, sharing his crazy-beautiful songs and building an unflinching fan base (including, among others, Cat Power and Yo La Tengo) that extends from Portland, Oregon to Portland, Maine and the world over. The genesis of these earliest recordings was the result of such travels. Recorded on the same Starmaker microphone and reel-to-reel tape as Leadbelly's final sessions, Blueberry Wine features the perennial fan favorite the Werewolf Song and 11 other matchless, introspective and quirky songs on the theme of heartbreak, rage, wandering about and getting drunk. Features brand new retrospective liner notes by Hurley. New hand painted cover artwork by Hurley as he originally envisioned the LP. Deluxe packaging. Digitally remastered from the original master tapes."

JACOBS' VORTEX, HENRY: Electronic Kabuki Mambo: Highlights From The Legendary Vortex Exp CD (LOCUST 11). $14.00

"Electronic Kabuki Mambo is a stupefying pre-psychedelic vintage 50s affair featuring a tapestry of then local musical talents (One Henry Jacobs, Gordon Longfellow, David Talcott, and William Loughborough). Prepare yourself for a liberation of your senses. Prepare for an irresistible taste of the 50s in all of it's sonic sci-fi glory because this caravan of sound is where head music really began! Think Taj Mahal Travelers meets Harry Partch in an echo chamber. Think? Think? It's difficult to believe but for a period in 1955, Henry Jacobs, the grandmaster of left coast Zen Surrealism (known to some for his radio art innovations, his many recordings of Lenny Bruce, satirical forays as Shorty Petterstein, a fringe personality with the beat poets and a dear collaborator with Buddhist icon Alan Watts) and coveted experimental filmmaker Jordan Belson convinced San Francisco's fledgling Morrison Planetarium to allow the duo to put on the Vortex Experiments — a quadrasonic sound and vision show premiering strange audio collages of works by famed composers Takemitsu, Stockhausen, Berio and countless ethnic field recordings with weird, tripped out oscilloscope flicks, excerpts from Belson's classic Allures, and other kaleidoscopic visuals to a regularly sold out, packed crowd of local residents interested in seeing what this new and crazy sensory experience was all about. Electronic Kabuki Mambo presents the first digital reissue of the original 1959 Folkways in its entirety. Fully remastered. Features new liner notes and never before published photos and other ephemera."

GINSBERG, ALLEN: New York Blues: Rags, Ballads and Harmonium Songs CD (LOCUST 12). $14.00

"Here it is! This is the defining document of the beat legend Allen Ginsberg and celebrated lower east side shaman, odd ball filmmaker and songcatcher Harry Smith. New York Blues: The Harry Smith Recordings brings together vintage 1970s tunes by Allen Ginsberg and his trusty harmonium. Such favorites as CIA Dope Calypso, Dope Fiend Blues, Come Back Christmas and 5 other enjoyable ditties are intimately captured by Smith in his Chelsea Hotel haunt. New York Blues is as much a commemoration of a lifelong kinship between the two free spirits as it is a rare chance to get a truly whimsical earful of Ginsberg doing his thing. Digitally remastered from the original Folkways tapes."

FLYNT, HENRY: Back Porch Hillbilly Blues Volume 2 CD (LOCUST 14). $14.00

"Here we find ourselves hot on the skidmarks of Henry's brawl with sonic self invention documented on last summer's splendid Raga Electric with two complementary volumes emerging from the same physical time but a very different head space continuum indeed. On BPHB Volume 2, avant-hillbilly master fiddler Henry Flynt scuffles through a most peculiar set of electrified and acoustic bumpkin fiddle howls and screeches circa early to mid 1960s. From the enviable opening 'echo rock', in which Flynt does his best to compete with the electro-echo buzz of a Jorgen Ingmann or Link Wray to the beauteous instrumental glow of the extended modal country jam of 'Jamboree', Flynt proves once again that his is not a music simply rooted in the taut belt of New York isms, schisms and jisms. This is music that howls from a unique voice whose love for the folk songbook (known and imagined) is as resonant as a cowbell and as deep as a freshwater well."

FLYNT, HENRY: Back Porch Hillbilly Blues Volume 1 CD (LOCUST 16). $14.00

"Like a hidden relic from the far side of the Harry Smith catalog, these early 1960s recordings are a splendid collection of High Lonesome hillbilly fiddle and ukulele instrumentals that are surely Henry Flynt's most articulated statements to date of his honest to god, true to life affinity and love for that dry earth choogaloo upper mountain lower boogaloo foot stomping folk music. Standouts include the acid fried 13th Floor Elevators-ish 'Sky Turned Red' and the 15 plus minute lazy zen epic hum and strum album closer, 'Blue Sky, Highway and Tyme'. No doubt, this is Appalachian bruit driving music bar none."

JACOBS, HENRY: Radio Programme No. 1: Henry Jacobs' Music And Folklore CD (LOCUST 18). $14.00

"Locust Music continues its foray into the many sided head of Henry Jacobs with the re-release of his coveted 1955 Folkways debut. Culled from hours and hours of bits from his weekly radio program 'Music & Folklore' which originally aired on Berkeley's once revolutionary KPFA radio station, Radio Programme No. 1: Henry Jacobs' Music & Folklore is a stunningly surreal sonic goulash of brilliantly conceived, tight rhythmic loops & tape collages, ethnic and experimental musics, twisted satirical interviews with Shorty Petterstein (Henry's beat hipster alter ego), phony academic authorities (the muttering Jocko on Raga and politics, imagined Hebrew scholar Sholem Stein waxing bogus on the subject of calypso!) to Berkeley field recordings of Kay Dunham (nephew of the legendary Katherine Dunham) and friends getting lost in an informal drumming session. This is, no doubt, an essential document in the annals of early American oddball recordings."

WHITMAN, KEITH FULLERTON: Dartmouth Street Underpass CD (LOCUST 19). $14.00

"With the release of Dartmouth Street Underpass, Keith Fullerton Whitman (AKA Hrvatski) inaugurates the first of 12 monthly installments in our new Location Sound Series, 'Met Life', in which we asked a number of musicians from all over the world to field record an event in a city of their choice and devise a response to it (both source recording and response comprise the two tracks on the CD). For his efforts, Whitman sat in on the acoustic world of the tunnel that connects Boston's back bay station to the Copley Plaza under Dartmouth street. The sounds are a combination of pumped in Muzak, children's voices bouncing off the glass walls, the sudden rush of commuters, and the glorious, rumbling low end buzz and rattle of the train ushering in and out of the station. Whitman electronically processed elements of the field recording and devised a brilliantly conceived thing of beauty that slowly and effortlessly unravels into an entrancing long form drone."

AU: Recycling CD (LOCUST 22). $14.00

"Part of the Location Sound Series devoted to city sounds and reactions, we're happy to present the first stateside release by the psychedelic electronic duo, AU. Based in Holland, multimedia artists Jan Borchers and Paul Klau, naturally bring us into the soundworld of the Haag by doing what most everybody there does — they ride their bikes. The twist in the spoke is that AU recorded their tour through the city and captured everything from the squeaky sound of old bicycle seats to a sudden intrusion on a street parade. The result is a fun panoramic earshot of the pace of the city's life. AU's musical response is a subdued yet loose piece incorporating elements of the field recording, analogue electronics and reverberating guitars that recall the efforts of German Krautrock bands like Cluster or a mellowed out Faust."

DORNER AND FRED LONBERG-HOLM, AXLE: Object 1 CD (LOCUST 23). $14.00

"The Object series is Locust Music's shot at documenting worldwide currents in creative improvisation and composition but as you may expect by now, we're doing it with a twist. For each release in this ongoing series, we've worked with the musicians to arrive at audio-visual ties between sounds and objects that may indicate a visual tie to the music. In this case, a bowling ball and a brillo pad grace the cover. Object 1 teams together trumpeter Axel Dörner, an internationally celebrated German instrumentalist of prodigious technique and deep sensitivity, with one of the hardest working musicians and organizers in Chicago, Cellist Fred Lonberg-Holm (The Brotzmann Tentet, The Lightbox Orchestra). Together they produce a series of 5 remarkable pieces that brew and percolate into a deeply tactical tableau of raw yet calculated creative sound."

EKG: Object 2 CD (LOCUST 24). $14.00

"Volume two of our splendid Object Series. EKG is the Chicago based duo of sound artist and musician Ernst Karel on trumpet and analogue electronics and classically trained musician Kyle Bruckman on english horn, Chinese suona, raita and analogue electronics. On Object 2, prepare yourself for a remarkable miasma of extended, swelling sound meditations that at once soar an emotive, elevated plane while still tracing the coarse contours of sudden eruptive pulses and rumbling electrical sound signals. Stunning."

LEARY, TIMOTHY: The Psychedelic Experience: A Manual Based On The Tibetan Bo CD (LOCUST 27). $14.00

"The readings presented here can best be regarded as radio-signals sent out from a satellite tracking station to the explorers floating freely through space. The instructions can be attended to or ignored but at least they provide a kind of basic signal around which the voyager can orient his explorations. We dedicate this recording to the many men and women whose accounts and reports of their explorations in the interior universe have helped us prepare these maps." — Timothy Leary and Ralph Metzner. The Psychedelic Experience is a rare, early document of the emergent hippie era issued in 1966 on Moe Asch's Broadside records. Join the legendary father of LSD with Ralph Metzner & Richard Alpert (aka Ram Das) as they indulge in the fruits of their 'research'. Two extended tracks of spoken meditations accompanied by occasional Tibetan Bell: 'Going Out' and 'Coming Back' naturally line this journey. Features archival photos, 12 pages of original notes and remastered sound."

REYNOLDS: Rampotanza Ronil Rempelente CD (LOCUST 28). $14.00

"The primordial psychedelic sounds of Argentina's Reynolds continue the Met Life Series with the raw, rhythmically entrancing field recordings of city workers in Buenos Aires drilling a hole into a busy city street. The natural response by this mysterious quartet doesn't drill so much as gleefully massage the head with a monumental freakout of onomatopoeia and uber-intonation commandeered by the band's lead vocalist Miguel Tomasín with the accompaniment of some seriously spaced-out delay driven tribal percussion, bellowing horn, piano plod and guitar plunder."

HELVACIOGLU, ERDEM: A Walk Through The Bazaar CD (LOCUST 29). $14.00

"Hervacioglu is a tremendous electronic music talent based in Istanbul, Turkey whose contribution to the 'Met Life' series captures the energetic day to day activities of an Istanbul market where one can hear the sounds of hawkers buying and selling things, children running about, traditional music in the distance and get a feeling for the texture of the place. His response is almost like an enriched memory of that place that musically retains much of that raw earth feeling one initially encounters. By incorporating field recorded voices into harmonically rich choruses, he elevates the source material into a highly rhythmic, infectious danceable tune that seems to soar above the very marketplace. It's reminiscent of Holger Czukay's (of Can fame) shortwave radio experiments."

VA: Wooden Guitar CD (LOCUST 33). $14.00

"A simple title with a simple concept. Wooden Guitar is an inspired excursion into the creases and folds of modern deltadelica & a thinly veiled homage to the great Takoma compilations of yore (remember that great Kottke, Lang, Fahey collection?) where guitarists could sit back, work those muscles in their fingers and go the extra musical distance. Four of the great worldwide guitarists — Germany's Steffen Basho-Junghans, Seattle's Sir Richard Bishop (the Sun City Girls), Japan's Tetuzi Akiyama & Virginia's Jack Rose give us a fresh look at a very old instrument with gloriously stretched out solo compositions."

DELAURENTI, CHRIS: The Night I Met Maria C. CD (LOCUST 34). $14.00

"Locust's fifth installment of their adventurous 'Met Life' series of city field recordings and responses brings us a tongue firmly in cheek offering from the rapid cut up techniques of Seattle's Chris DeLaurenti. Simply put, it's a little exercise on waste and getting wasted. This field recording documents the removal of waste at a transfer station in Seattle and the response rides the pun to its excessive extreme as DeLaurenti quickly becomes a participant in the flailing and drunken fanfare at a party, raising the ever important question 'What on earth are we all doing!' No doubt, it's this style, edgy humor and raw guerrilla techniques that make DeLaurenti a sort of Fellini of the audio underworld."

NO.9: Where Come From? And Where To? CD (LOCUST 35). $9.00

"No.9 (Joe Takayuki) is an unsung electropop mastermind from Tokyo's invigorating onkyo scene whose knack for melodious electronic pop, jazz grooves and varied rhythms owes as much to the cinedelic scores of Umlilani and TV spy jazz as it does to the simple, meditative sounds of nature transformed. Where Come From? And Where To? features the aforementioned cut off of his forthcoming disc, Mushi no-n, and two generous remixes: Hrvatski locks No.9 into a galactic rub and dub mix of typically high quality tom foolery and Chicago producer/musician Bundy K. Brown (Directions in Music, Pullman) gives Where come From? his usually high caliber surgical treatment." 18 minute EP.

DOCKSTADER, TOD: 8 Electronic Pieces CD (LOCUST 36). $14.00

Reissue of a 1961 Folkways electronic music album. "Tod Dockstader assembled this terrifically unique and fresh collection of synthetic analog sound for release back in 1961. Dormant and nearly forgotten for some 40 years, Locust brings this gem back into print for another go around you won't want to miss out on. Dockstader has been characterized by many as a true antecedent to the techno and ambient electro scenes popularized by the likes of Aphex Twin, a visionary figure who the Washington Post has called One of the Giants in his Field. This brand new re-edition features original notes, newly remastered sound and new liner notes by Jason Ankeny with present-day reflections by Dockstader himself."

ROBB, J.D.: Rhythmia: Electronic Music From Razor Blades To Moog CD (LOCUST 37). $14.00

Reissue of a 1970 Folkways electronic music album. "Not many people walk away from a successful international law career to devote their time to making electronic music at the ripe age of 49 years. John Donald Robb did just that when he set up shop in Santa Fe, New Mexico in 1941 and dove head first into a career as a composer, ethno-musicologist and an early electronic music noddler whose bizarre and singular electronic music recordings are short on same old same old and long on quirky, beat audacity. This exciting collection combines the choicest cuts off of his two off beat Folkways records into one great package of out there moog music."

BAUDER & JASON AJEMIAN, MATT: Object 3 CD (LOCUST 38). $14.00

FLYNT & THE INSURRECTIONS, HENRY: I Don't Wanna CD (LOCUST 39CD). $14.00

"Our man Flynt shatters the categories once again with this surprise collection of his short lived basement rock protest band, The Insurrections, from 1966. Let there be no doubt in anyone's mind: Flynt's version of protest music isn't your cultural-commissar school of folk posturing. It's agro and Flynt is an unhinged showman on helium induced vox and the electric guitar (his teacher was none other than Lou Reed). Imagine a mix of Sky Saxon (of Seeds fame) with a dash of Roky Erickson thrown in on vocals, a little bit of the Cramps' scary monster dramatics thrown in for good measure & the swamp chugalug laziness of vintage Pussy Galore and you get an idea what Flynt was up to at this phase in his non-career."

Features legendary sculptor Walter De Maria on drums, confirming our hidden suspicion that in every great artist there's a desire to rock & beneath every fine gallery, there is a basement. Photos by George Maciunas."

DRAGONS 1976: On Cortez CD (LOCUST 40). $14.00

"Dragons 1976 is the Chicago Horn-Bass-Drum trio of Aram Shelton. Jason Ajemian & Tim Daisy. Cool, steady and swinging, On Cortez is a perfect tonic for the modern jazz lover in search of a shady retreat from the hot coals of fiery free jazz. These boys make a catchy, flavorful music — let's call it noir jazz. Dragons 1976 turn more corners with their brand of infectiously tight grooves and cinematic twists than a Screen Gems tornado roaring through the heart of downtown Los Angeles."

GAMELAN SON OF LION, THE: The Complete Gamelan in the New World 2CD (LOCUST 41/42). $17.00

"This is the first proper re-release of two legendary recordings by the innovative Gamelan Son of Lion. This New York performance group has counted as its founding members Fluxus pioneer Phillip Corner, electronics composer Daniel Goode (Tzadik), and core member Barbara Benary. Equally inspired by the resonant decaying sounds of New York school composers like Morton Feldman, the stunning pacific gamelan music of its namesake & the wild antics of Fluxus, their sound is trancelike and beautifully inspiring collection. Brought back into print for the first time in over 20 years, this fully remastered features new liner notes by Author Marcus Boon."

ESPER: Espers CD (LOCUST 44). $14.00

"Espers are a boy/girl/girl trio from Philly featuring singer/songwriter Greg Weeks, Meg Baird and Brooke Sietins who combine the elemental sound of acid-folk with the baroque arrangements of late 60s chamber rock. Fully versed in the sumptuous vernacular of drug music, the cradle of Appalachian song, and the succinct truths of the three-minute pop ballad, their full length debut is an irresistible collection of sweet and subtle songs essential for fans of Fairport Convention, Pentangle, Jackson C. Franck, Bread, Love & Dreams and Bert Jansch. Espers are the sound of the New Weird America the way it should be heard — with the ease, infectious grace and absolute beauty of an ever expansive trio bound for ever greener pastures."

NO.9: Mushi-No-Ne CD (LOCUST 45). $14.00

"No.9 is Joe Takayuki, an unsung electropop mastermind from Tokyo's invigorating Onkyo scene. No.9's sound is focused but there's no doubt that he has a knack for combining all 31 musical flavors and then some. Right from the opening track, 'Gate', with it's chase scene thematics and stuttering rhythms, it's hard not to get pulled into a Rollercoaster that's a wily, playful joyride rife with the wistful mod 60s pop hooks ('Where come from?', 'Alternate'), a tv spy jazz vibe ('survive'), an occasionally somber feel propped up by chill natural field recordings of insects ('bug beats', 'Eco Ego'), minimal techno ('Insatiable World') and a perfect blend of flamenco style acoustic guitar playing and electronics ('For Sister')."

CYANN AND BEN: Spring CD (LOCUST 46). $14.00

"The Parisian quartet, Cyann & Ben, recorded their extraordinary debut, Spring, in an isolated country house in 2002. The pastoral retreat made a perfect backdrop for Cyann's delicate, breathy female vocals and the band's organic, analogue sound. The result is a dense and lovely and often intense musical landscape that owes its sound in equal measure to epic catharsis of groups like Sigur Ros, the folk flavors of Robert Wyatt & the Canterbury folk-rock scene as it does to the exceptionally concentrated psych soundscapes of early 70s Pink Floyd."

BEN-ISRAEL, DANNY: The Kathmandu Sessions CD (LOCUST 47). $14.00

"To a small circle of psychedelic music fans, the re-discovery of native Israeli, Danny Ben-Israel's sole, privately released album, Chantari 3, a few years ago was nothing short of a revelation. Despite having been sung in his native Hebrew, there was no getting away from the blissfully fuzzed out guitars and a voice that belted out resistant words like some mad cantorial singer. Now, after 35 years, Danny Ben Israel's much talked about Katmandu Sessions produced for a Western audience and recorded in Tel Aviv and Austria between globetrotting stints around Europe finally sees the light of day. The seven tracks that make up the Kathmandu Sessions are nothing short if not completely over the top — both of its time and prophetic (take the line, for instance, 'the hippies of today are the assholes of tomorrow'). Every tune is delivered with that rare combination of wisdom and wonder, sung in a joyous English that brings together Tim Buckley's melancholic operatics with the lunatic vocal escapades of Mick Farren (of Deviants fame) making this easily one of the true revelations for the 21st century."

WATTS AND FRIENDS, ALAN: This is It CD (LOCUST 48). $14.00

"A psychedelic holy grail re-issued. This is It — originally cut in 1962, is regarded by many of the who's who of psych fanatics as the first aural document of psychedelia. It is a plundering, blistering, free form freakout of totally unconscious group sonic exploration. What's more: it's a great, great album that stands the test of time. Legendary Zen guru Alan Watts led a cadre of musicians and non-musicians alike through communal chant, primitive choogles and raw American tribalism that features many of the same Bay Area Heads that appeared earlier on Locust's Electronic Kabuki Mambo — the inimitable satirist and collage whiz Henry Jacobs, genius percussionist William Loughborough (early performer with Chet Baker/Harry Partch) among many others. This is where the so-called 'Weird America' begins and if you don't find yourself with that rare facial twitch of awe, befuddlement and unbridled glee, then surely you need your head checked."

WATTS, ALAN: Zen and Senryu CD (LOCUST 49). $14.00

"During his lifetime, Alan Watts (1915-1973) became, and remains, one of the most beloved interpreters of Eastern thought. For more than forty years, Alan Watts introduced the Western world to the full range of eastern philosophies and arts all filtered through his buoyant personality and charm. His life and work reflect an astonishing adventure. There remain few treats as wonderful and lively as this, one of three records originally put out on the Sausalito based MEA label. Haiku and its companion release, Zen and Senryu, hold the truly unique position of documenting a poetic form (Haiku) or philosophy (Zen) and Satire (Senryu) through both lecture and stunning performance. Both discs feature the instantaneous Japanese translations by Sumire Hasegawa Jacobs to the spare musical accompaniment of Vince Delgado, Robert Garfias and Henry Jacobs. This brilliant tension between Alan Watts' self assured delivery and Sumire's urgent cries, makes both Haiku and Zen and Senryu two of the most essential documents for admirers of Watts' rich personality, eastern thought, and the heavy ways of 1960s counterculture."

WATTS, ALAN: Haiku CD (LOCUST 50). $14.00

BORN HELLER: Born Heller CD (LOCUST 51). $14.00

Josephine Foster: (harp, mandolin, guitar); Jason Ajemian: (stand up bass). Born Heller are the earthen folk duo of Josephine Foster (Children's Hour) & Jason Ajemian and one of the better kept secrets to emerge out of Chicago's clandestine campfires and music dens. Their sound captures an Appalachian-transatlantic folk tradition so effortlessly that if it didn't already exist, they would have had to invent it themselves. Foster's spine tingling vocal delivery has been rightly compared to the likes of British folk legend and current hipster fave, Shirley Collins. On their debut, that voice is finally given full justice by the spare rhythmic arrangements of Ajemian on strings. Recorded by Paul Oldham in Louisville Kentucky."

ESTRIBOU & JEAN-PAUL PICKENS, GENE: Intensifications CD (LOCUST 52). $14.00

"By no means household names, both Jean Paul-Pickens & Gene Estribou levitated around the Bay Area scene and each made a subtle mark along the way: Pickens was one of San Francisco's legendary 'Diggers' and a knockout banjoist with poet David Meltzer's folk rock outfit Serpent Power. Gene Estribou famously recorded the Grateful Dead's second studio sessions & released their first 45 single in 1965. Footnotes? Sure. But that should only make the discovery of this lost gem all the more tantalizing. Cut in the mid-1960s, Intensifications is an obscure and illuminating slice of Marin county raga folk, a taste of latter day deltadeli that's a must for fans of the acid folk sound old and new. Together, Estribou and Pickens each cut a side of brilliant, meandering unaccompanied instrumentals: Estribou on acoustic guitar and Pickens on banjo. This single document has only ripened with age and should make it clear to anyone who ventures to give it a listen that both Estribou & Pickens deserve their place in the inner sanctum of charismatic acoustic guitar legends. Originally released on Henry Jacobs' MEA label."

LIGHTBOX ORCHESTRA, THE: Two Lightboxes LP (LOCUST 53LP). $15.00

"Vinyl only release of two fiery performances led by Fred Lonberg-Holm. Side A is the Brotzmann Lightbox recorded in maximum fidelity at the Old Town School of folk music here in Chicago. Features the entire Brotzmann tentet lineup — Peter Brotzmann, Joe McPhee, Hamid Drake plus a rare guest appearance by William Parker & Roy Campbell. Side B is the Munich Lightbox. The gang is all here — Jeb Bishop, Mats Gustafsson, Jim Bakker, Ken Vandermark, etc. — and in a particularly chaplinesque jazz mood, no less. Two Sides, Two Lightboxes, Two fine Jazz performances wrapped up in lovely hand assembled package. Edition of 500."

MATMOS: Rat Relocation Program CD (LOCUST 54). $14.00

"A street rat was breaking into our apartment, eating our food and chewing holes in our clothes, skittering across our kitchen in the dark, scuttling inside our walls late at night. Since we already had a pet rat, the prospect of trying to kill one rat while feeding another struck us as intolerable hypocrisy, so we bought a non-lethal 'Have-a-Heart Trap'. After several days of luring the invader closer and closer towards and then inside the trap with peanuts, we captured her. The first track is an unedited recording of the rat protesting its incarceration. The second track is our response, in which the timing and duration of the rat screams from the first track have been preserved. The following morning we took the rat to a wealthy suburban neighborhood and set it free." — Drew Daniel. "The dynamic hybrid electro-rock duo Matmos strike again hot on the heels of last year's celebrated Matador full length the Civil War with this zany, completely mesmerizing 2 track contribution to the Met Life series of field recordings and ingenious sound responses. The Matmos boys stretch an ominous canvas with the bare sounds of an incarcerated rat ensconced in a friendly trap and paint an unlikely response. Rat Relocation Program is a heavily elevated, gleeful electro-rock epic that combines Matmos' patented blend of humor, drill & bass with cinematic prog reminiscent of the cult fantasy sci fi film The Fantastic Planet."

SENDER, RAMON: Worldfood CD (LOCUST 55). $14.00

"In those pre-Buchla Box days, we cobbled together whatever odd bits of equipment we could beg, borrow, steal and occasionally buy to coax whatever squeaks and chirps or sequences of noises we could from their complaining depths." — Ramon Sender. Worldfood is a wild, psychedelic warble & drone of looped, overlaid tape pieces produced by 'goosing' an ampex tape player with a computer calibration device. The resulting two pieces — 'Worldfood III (To See With my Eyes)' and 'WorldfoodXII!' — both part of a number of variations in a series — make for gorgeous, careening ungazing music. Leave your glasses behind. Ramon Sender is a legendary figure in the Bay Area scene — first paving the way for the San Francisco Tape Center with Mort Subotnick (Silver Apples of the Moon) and Pauline Oliveros at the dawn of the 1960s where the stunningly odd pieces on this disc happened. In subsequent years, he played an active role with the San Francisco Diggers — the anarchist guerilla street theater group that challenged the emerging Counterculture — and co-founded the legendary Morningstar Ranch Commune in Sonoma County. Worldfood is the first in an ongoing series of archival discs to come from Ramon Sender's exceptional vaults."

BJECT: Object 4 CD (LOCUST 56). $14.00

"The Object Series is Locust Music's shot at documenting ongoing currents in creative improv with a devotion to the Synesthetic curveball ties between everyday and not so everyday static objects and sound. Following their knock out debut on Japan's Hibari label, the collective trio Bject comprised of three fabled players in Tokyo's vibrant Onkyo scene — Masahiko Okura, Tetuzi Akiyama & Utah Kawasaki — deliver us the 4th installment in our Object series of creative improvised sound. Over four tracks, Cell phone trickle, turntable w/out records, disemboweled guitar, willowing tube & saxophone chirps & ticklish synthesizer sputter produce a warm, surprisingly shapely textural soundfield."

LE DOIGT DE GALILEE: Object 5 CD (LOCUST 57). $14.00

"The slowly developing collaboration between Nicolas Field on drums & percussion & Jaime Fennelly (PSI) on electronics & bass drum cross several thresholds without ever losing a sense of cohesion. At times, subdued electronic sounds fizzle, evaporate & growl over a bed of undulating bass. At others, the magical meeting takes the form of a squeaky, scattershot percussion summit. Volume 5 of the Object series."

BNSF: Object 6 CD (LOCUST 58). $14.00

"Inspired by natural cycles of texture and repetition, BNSF creates music with an organic momentum. Building music from the melodic noise and polyrhythms of industrial activity, BNSF exists between aleatory structure and song form, music and noise. Adam Diller, Jason E Anderson, and Matt Crane met through their involvement with Open Music Workshop, an offshoot of the recent explosion in Seattle's improvised music scene. A sense of purpose was established during the first improvisations of the trio, spurring the formation of BNSF. Meeting at their practice space near a train junction in downtown Seattle, they realized the importance of the environment's influence on their music. Drawing on their surroundings, BNSF took their name from a passing train car. They began experimenting by playing in construction zones, under a highway overpass, through a huge metal tube in a shop yard, and next to unloading freight trains. Volume 6 of Locust Music's Object series."

MIMAROGLU, ILHAN: Agitation CD (LOCUST 59). $14.00

"Finally back in print, we're happy to present two albums of 'agitprop' electronic music — Tract & To Kill A Sunrise cut between 1968 and 1975 — by mysterious & controversial Turkish composer Ilhan Mimaroglu — one of the truly underrepresented pioneers of the golden age of the Princeton-Columbia electronic music scene. Produced as a direct reaction to an extended period of intense repression, counterrevolutionary terror, & execution style murder in Turkey, Tract is a scrambled mash up peppered with spunky electronic bursts, radio ads looped ad nauseum, the breathy, soulful & defiant voice of Turkish singer Tuly Sand & the go-goliosic backing jams of little known psych group Topsy Turvy Moon — all shot up with lines lifted from old left wing standbys Chairman Mao, Karl Marx & Bertolt Brecht among others. To Kill a Sunrise follows suit with a wild, uncompromising oragistic electro-durge for those who are murdered by the lackeys of the ruling class while the collection closer, La Ruche, brings the audio gestalt to a somewhat more subdued end. Brilliantly remastered from the original tapes, Tract features close to 80 minutes of music and original liners. Ilhan Mimaroglu emerged out of the Columbia — Princeton Electronic Music Center and public radio programs at New York's WBAI where his socially and politically charged radio programs took the city by surprise. He is best known for his work with Edgard Varese, mentor Vladimir Ussachevsky, a spellbinding collaboration with jazz musician Freddy Hubbard and as a chief composer of Fellini's Satyricon as well as electronic albums released on his own Finnadar label."

PATCHEN, KENNETH: Reads with Jazz in Canada CD (LOCUST 60). $14.00

"This modern-day minstrel is as fascinating and interesting as any swing or blues singer - phrases and thoughts so beautifully woven into the jazz background, and so expertly phrased and timed, that it is a revelation to the ear and mind." — Los Angeles Examiner. "On a single October evening in 1959, fabled people's poet Kenneth Patchen and Vancouver's Alan Neil Quartet made a little bit of history. Together, they cut one of the first jazz-and poetry recordings to disc — fiery, spontaneous and free of pretensions, where hard bop playing wailed neck-and-neck with Patchen's scathing, slurred, rabid vocalizations. Today, many see Jazz in Canada as among the very first truly beat documents on record — preceding efforts by Kerouac, Ferlinghetti & Ginsberg. This new edition features original notes by Alan Neil & new retrospective notes by rock'n'roll poet of the San Francisco renaissance David Meltzer."

LOGARHYTHM (GERMANY):

BERING, JONAS: En:No 'From The Nape Of The Neck' 12" (LOG 001). $9.00

Forgotten 2001 release. "Mauritz Von Oswald, Wolfgang Voigt, and Jiri Ceiver are his main influences. The result: Deep, dub, minimal, ambient. Like them and and Autechre, he is attracted by an internal, hypnotic and obsessing dance. He bases his music on redundancy and the imperceptible, a mix of love and chaos. With Tez, understanding is optimum. I have decided to compose my music in a time when medias wanted by anyway to define what was techno. It upset me to always hear caricatures. But I kept this energy for me. What counts today is being able to reward my close relations for the every day confidence they put in me."

LOGISTIC (FRANCE):

HOOD, ROBERT: Rare Species CD (LOG 023 CD). $16.00

Robert Hood mix CD. "Le fondateur d'Axis, Hardwax, M-Plant, réputé indomptable livre ici un mix de 29 titres qui révèle la substantifique moelle de ses labels. Il sagit ici d'une hard techno soumise au funk torride et jousissif qui vient rappeler au public que cette musique est avant-tout faite pour danser, très minimale tout en restant ultra-groove. Robert Hood passe très rapidement d'un disque à l'autre sans faire d'effet de style, sa techno n'en reste pas moins sensible et mélodique nous faisant passer d'un univers oppressant à un voyage beaucoup plus subtil où les morceaux viennent s'entrecroiser comme les strates d'un étrange chateau." Artists include: Raekwon, Robert Hood, Mark Broom, Pulsinger & Tunakan, John Thomas, Derrick May, Moments by Murat, Jay Denham, D Wachman & HD Substance, Christian Smith vs Block, Recycled Loops, The Cause, G.M. Cole, Grudge, John Bacto.

HOOD, ROBERT: Monobox EP 12" (LOG 025). $9.00

"3 tracks taken from the forthcoming release Monobox, one of Robert Hood's most interesting and beautiful projects. The tracks 'Down Town' et 'Untitled', put us back in the days of the unforgettable 'Minimal Nation'."

THOMAS, JOHN: Blackstage Re-Works CD (LOG 026 CD). $16.00

"After a couple of well-recommended releases and contributions by artists such as, Robert Hood, DJ Slip, Avril Brikha, Claude Young — and John Thomas, Logistic Records shares not only the process of working with each other — people get together for sharing an ideal of music. John Thomas is labelowner, producer, musician in just one person. More influenced by George Benson and 70ies Motown Soul, than by 80 electro. The right funk. Logistic Records and the minimal-sublabel Telegraph (co-A&R by Cabanne) try to bring back the focus on the connection between black music, like Funk, Jazz and HipHop — and to develop Techno music without missing the origin and the progress. Today, Blackstage Re-Works follows the same path, presenting a series of remixes produced by some of the best techno producers around: Rolando, Octave One, Daniel Bell aka DBX, Losoul, Cabanne, John Tejada."

THOMAS, JOHN: Blackstage Re-Works Part 2 12" (LOG 027). $9.00

Second volume on vinyl, featuring remixes by Octave One, Losoul and DBX vs. Cabanne.

HOOD, ROBERT: Molecule EP 12" (LOG 028). $9.00

"Detroit's minimal master is back on Logistic under the alias Monobox with an atypical project for his discographie; a journey into time and space ... Deep, dark and spellbinding, the Molecule album, from which this EP is taken, is surely one of Robert Hood's most beautiful projects. An impressive upturn in his career that displays the quality of Hood's work over the longterm."

BELL, DANIEL: The Button-Down Mind Strikes Back CD (LOG 028 CD). $16.00

"After John Thomas and Robert Hood, the production work for the third part of the DJmix series 'Caught in the Act' has been handed to legendary Detroit producer Daniel Bell. The Button-Down Mind Strikes Back! mix of Daniel Bell represents the minimal and funky sound Daniel's always been developing. Contained rhythms and a strong DBX flavour terminate in an irresistible groove and a unique DJ set made of rare tracks. Released on labels such as Classic, Kompakt, Frictional, 7th City, Perlon, Playhouse, Palette or Karat. Sonic landscapes evolve from stripped down techno structures, to melodies and skilfully scattered vocals, creating a very hypnotic, Detroit rooted atmosphere. A trip into the mind of Daniel Bell: here is an intimate experience with one of electronic music's pioneers you cannot miss. Feat. Akufen, Drug Punk, Ricardo Villalobos, Closer Musik, Anthony Shakir Cabanne, Pepe Bradock, Jazzbug and more."

MONOBOX: Molecule CD (LOG 030 CD). $16.00

"Now boarding for Robert Hood's interstellar project Monobox. The master of minimalism takes us on a trip through another alcove of his universe, somewhere between Minimal Nation and Nighttime World. Robert Hood is back on Logistic under the alias Monobox with an atypical project for his discography; a journey into time and space on a deep and hypnotic mode. Surely one of his most beautiful projects... Robert Hood was a founding member, along with Jeff Mills and 'Mad' Mike Banks, of the Underground Resistance cult label. He also founded the labels Hardwax, M-Plant and collaborated with Jeff Mills on the label Axis. Robert Hood distinguishes himself with a very personal, sparse and contained minimalist sound, evoking a free-jazz spirit and rejoining the African-American musical tradition."

MONOBOX: Molecule 2LP (LOG 030 LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

VA: Always Trying CD (LOG 032). $16.00

"To celebrate its 7th birthday, Logistic has uncovered and remastered its Greatest hits. 15 tracks, mostly released on vinyl only, all together on one CD." Artists include: Static Drum, Octave One, Technasia, Robert Hood, Interlude, John Thomas, DJ Slip, Claude Young, Atil Brikha, Oliver Kapp, Fumiya Tanaka, Olivier Micheli.

BELL, DANIEL: Bleep, Blurr, Blip: The Music of Daniel Bell CD (LOG 033 CD). $16.00

"A compilation CD featuring the best excerpts of this Detroit pioneer's amazing discography. Daniel Bell often gets credit for creating a new vocabulary in electronic music, composed of acid sounds and streamlined repetitive rhythms, showing an approach of music that is based on refinement and economy in the use of effects. His original and innovative style has influenced a whole generation of producers and has shaped the minimal-house sound coming out of Germany, where he now resides. Under his own name or as DBX, Daniel Bell released several classics during the 90's, including Bleep, Flying Saucer, Phreak and the eternal Losing Control, released on his own labels (7th City, Elevate) or on labels like Peacefrog and Klang. Today, Logistic has the honor of gathering these precious tracks on a CD."

BELL, DANIEL: Squirrel Bait EP 12" (LOG 034). $9.00

"Daniel Bell's new material have been over the last years very sparse, and are consequently very awaited. After the release of Blip, Blurr, Bleep, a CD compilation of his best tracks, we are proud to propose today three unreleased tracks from DBX on vinyl, including 'Squirrel Bait', the bomb featuring on Ricardo Villalobos' CD-mix Taka Taka." B-side tracks are previously unreleased altogether, recorded in Detroit, 1995.

MONOBOX: Remixes Vol. 1 12" (LOG 035). $9.00

"First chapter of a four 12" series introducing Robert Hood's Molecule album, remixed by the leading producers of the minimal scene. This first remixes project of Mr Hood's music will be concluded by the release of a CD bringing all the 12" together. On this first volume, Pantytec and Ricardo Villalobos give their version of Trade."

MONOBOX: The Remixes Vol. 2 12" (LOG 036). $9.00

"Second chapter of a four 12" series introducing Robert Hood's Molecule album (released in April 2003), remixed by the leading producers of the minimal scene. This first remixes project of Mr. Hood's music will be concluded by the release of a CD bringing all the 12" together and a limited vinyl box edition. On this second volume, America's new techno artist Matthew Dear (aka False (Plus 8) and Jabberjaw (Perlon)) give his interpretation of 'Trade' while Ultrakurt, French duo of twisted beats makers Cabanne and Gluck, remixes 'Realm 2'."

MONOBOX: Monobox - The Remixes Vol. 3 12" (LOG 037EP). $10.00

"Third chapter of a four 12" series introducing Robert Hood's Molecule album (released in April 2003), remixed by the leading producers of the minimal scene. This first remixes project of Mr. Hood's music will be concluded by the release of a CD bringing all the 12"s together and a limited vinyl box edition. On this third volume, Substance (Chain Reaction's Peter Kuschneret) give his interpretation of 'Realm 02' while Dr. Frankfufen Akenstein (aka Akufen) does his 'Molecular Reconstitution', a dematerial arrangement of sounds taken from the whole album."

LOK MUSIK:

Mostly a 12" label to date, they have now released these 2 CDs. This sampler features exclusive tracks from 8 Japanese artists associated with Lollop: Reflection ("the most watched band from Lollop. The sound was created by programming and guitar. LONDON MUSICIAN'S COLLECTIVE (UK):

CUSACK, PETER: Your Favourite London Sounds CD (RES FLS1). $16.00

"Field recordings by one of Britain's leading electro-acoustic artists that comprise an astounding audio portrait of London. Taken as a whole the favourite sounds reveal a fascinating perspective on London — that of the ear. It is quite different from that of the eye. London's soundscape is regularly described as general urban noise, loud, undifferentiated and not usually pleasant. The amazing variety suggested here shows otherwise. Sounds range from the extremely loud to the very quiet, from the natural to the digital electronic. There are those found under, at or above ground level, indoor and out. Some are deeply personal and others all-encompassing atmospheres. They clearly distinguish between season and time of day and take London's unpredictable weather very much into account. No two suggestions are exactly identical. London's sounds are appreciated with a surprising degree of detail which obviously relates closely to individual lives. The tiniest sound differences can become significant if they are within the pattern of someone's daily life. It is also good to be reminded that, even with the ever increasing levels of background noise in urban areas, we can still be sensitive to the smallest and most local sounds of everyday London life."

A classic collection of field recordings, found material, incident and occluded music from one of Britain's foremost electro-acoustic experimenters. Released to coincide with a multi-media festival along London's canals, this is a journey into the mind of the city. Corpses dragged from the canal, tadpoles eating, plentiful bird song, buzzing electricity pylons, frogs, bees, footsteps, trains, old timers and the dispossessed. At the opening concert of 'Alternativa' Maestro Riley performed as a soloist and a duo with double-bass player Vladimir Volkov. The second half of the concert featured his most famous composition 'In C.'"

CAGE, JOHN: Four Walls CD (CDLA 2048). $15.00

Performed by: Alexei Lubimov (piano), Marianne Pousseur (soprano). Live performance at Lockenhaus Chamber Music Festival, Austria in the night of July 8/9, 1994, recorded by WDR Koeln. Music for the Dance Drama, choreographed by Merce Cunningham, New York 1944, for piano solo and voice. "What are 'Four Walls'? Is it no so that the four noble truths comprise a series of four sounds? Incidentally, when there are four, there always will be a place for a fifth. However when there are more than seven — it starts to be dangerous. A piece begins with a chord — the sound emblem of the name JOHN CAGE (the letters correspond with the Latin names for the notes) and is all constructed on diatonic permutations of the motto, derived from the name, with the addition of the notes D and F, which add up to an octave. (If one has the wish, one could assemble other words from this set of notes-letters.)"

LONG DISTANCE (FRANCE):

ENSEMBLE IBN ARABI: Arabo-Andalusian Sufi Songs CD (LONG 45013). $17.00

"Thanks to successive generations of old Moroccan families whose lineage goes right back to the Spain of three cultures, certain Sufi-inspired zaouias have been able to preserve an Arabo-Andalusian tradition in their music, both sacred and secular. The Ibn Arabi ensemble, directed by Ahmed El Kheligh, has taken up the challenge of reviving music from this heritage in the Sididiya zaouia, tucked away in the heart of the casbah in Tangiers — no easy task in musical, aesthetic or philosophical terms, out the result is a hauntingly beautiful album, singular and unforgettable."

TEMPVS FVGIT: Nebbiu - Sacred Songs CD (LONG 460103). $17.00

"Tempvs Fvgit caused a sensation at the 2002 Calvi Festival of Polyphonic Music. The group was singled out not only for its unusual vocal technique, but also for its innovative repertoire from the Nebbiu region, the result of extensive research by ethno-musicologist Corinne Bartolini. This new CD includes prayers for Holy Week, a 16th century Genoese professional song and the Vultum Tuum Mass, a Roman office from the very earliest times with a slight Byzantine touch, conceived as a depiction of the Virgin's face in sound."

FArida & THE IRAQI MAQAM ENSEMBLE: Beautiful Music from Baghdad CD (LONG 470103). $17.00

"The art of Iraqi maqam reached its ultimate refinement during the golden age of the Abbasid dynasty in Baghdad, a key city on the borders of the Arab, Turkish and Persian worlds. Used by classical and popular musicians, it was not only favored by the local aristocracy in their music rooms but also used at religious celebrations and Sufi ceremonies. Unusually, it is sung here by a woman, Farida, accompanied by the Iraqi Maqam Ensemble. Playing santur, a hammer dulcimer, and the four-stringed djoza, the ensemble's virtuosity and musicality add an indefinable waft of the Orient to the singers warm voice."

WEMILERE: Sacred Afro-Cuban Music CD (LONG 490203). $17.00

"Wemilere (Yoruba for 'party') brings together some of the best Cuban musicians who play music in the African tradition. Led by Roman Diaz, one of the island's greatest rumberos and a true master of Cuban percussion, Wemilere takes us right to the heart of Cuban music and its African roots. This CD from Long Distance features a program of bata drums from the Santeria, rumba and music of the Abakua secret society."

SHAGAN, MAZHAR: Ragas in the Punjab CD (LONG 510104). $17.00

"Hindustani classical music, a legacy of the historic Mogul Empire, has developed over the entire northern part of the Indian sub-continent from the twelfth century right up to modern times. Based in Lahore, Pakistan, Mazhar Shagan is one of the small group of modern musicians who have managed to preserve the essence of these age-old ragas, untouched by certain modern Western influences thanks to Pakistan's relative isolation. Shagan is also one of the rare instrumentalists to perform Hindustani classical music on the rebab and the mandolin."

LONG HAIR (GERMANY):

JUD'S GALLERY: SWF Sessions Vol.1 CD (LHC 001). $18.00

"Vol. 1 presents the band Jud's Gallery from Offenbach (Southwest Germany). In two sessions they recorded 9 songs 1972/74 in perfect studio quality. Intelligent Kraut-progressive-rock, self-composed long tracks with heavy-blues-rock and classical influence. A new chapter with unreleased original Krautrock. Continues the sound by those legendary labels as Brain, Pilz and Ohr."

COUPLA PROG: Sprites CD (LHC 002). $18.00

Long Hair is a new label focussing on previously unreleased Krautrock studio sessions from the SWF radio archives in Germany. Excellent master tape sound quality (all officially licensed), authentic liner notes with band histories & photos — these releases are the most significant early 70s Krautrock revelation in a number of years, really impressive. "An introduction to the Long Hair label: the legendary SWF (regional radio station from southwest Germany) radio sessions from 1970-1975 were for a long time considered lost. Now after extensive searching through their archives they have been recovered and remastered to their original glory. These recordings from original mastertapes are a 'must' for progressive music and Krautrock fans. These lost tapes form the basis for a new series for Long Hair — and will also reflect SWF's pioneer work with young unsigned bands over this period.. Coupla Prog represents Volume 2 in the Long Hair series of previously unreleased sessions from the SWF library. From Rastatt (southwest Germany), Coupla Prog played very individual progressive underground music that is varied and not commercially oriented. Heavy blues rock, electronic music, free style, occasional classical music references and echoes of post-Syd Barrette-era Pink Floyd, Vanilla Fudge and also Procal Harum distinguished the sound of the band — a great musical trip! Sprite contains 7 tracks that were recorded 1970/71, a new chapter of unreleased original Krautrock. Continues the sound of these legendary German labels Brain, Pilz and OHRI!"

FASHION PINK: ...To Brainstorm CD (LHC 003). $18.00

Volume 3 in the Long Hair series of previously unreleased sessions from the SWF library. Fashion Pink went on to become Brainstorm (see reissues on the Garden of Delights label). "Formed in 1968 by Roland Schaeffer (guitar, bass, vibes, sax, vocals), these recorded sessions from 1970/71 of these three schoolmates are contemporary underground/progressive rock. These enthusiastic guys, well educated on their instruments, developed a complex and refined music, influenced by acts like Jethro Tull, Caravan, Soft Machine, Zappa, Hendrix... A varied, exciting Kraut and progressive rock experience was created. A new chapter with unreleased original Krautrock continues. This collection shows the band's development from song-oriented progressive and psychedelic material to more complex arrangements, which ended in epics in excess of ten minutes. In league with the sound of those legendary German labels Brain, Pilz and OHRI!"

COUPLA PROG: Edmundo Lopez: SWF Sessions Vol. 4 CD (LHC 004). $18.00

"Vol. 4 presents a second recording by Coupla Prog — a 60 minute psychedelic and progressive masterpiece. This rock opera tells the story of a young guy (E. Lopez) under the revolutionary disorders in South America during the late 60's and early 70's. The music was recorded in 1970. Fantastic organ work, fuzz-bass and guitars, great emotional vocals and drums. A new chapter with unreleased original Krautrock. Continues the sound by those legendary German labels as Brain, Pilz and OHRI."

KOLLEKTIV: SWF Sessions Vol. 5 CD (LHC 005). $18.00

"Kollektiv are well known because of their 1973 LP on Brain Label, produced by Conny Plank. On these unreleased recordings also from '73 they play an incomparable, unmistakable sound with echoes of Organisation and early Kraftwerk — spacey but melodic, elevated yet rocking, innovative — progressive and consequent in the realisation of intent, forging new musical territory without denying their roots."

VIOLENCE FOG/JERUSALEM: SWF Sessions Vol. 6 CD (LHC 006). $18.00

"SWF Sessions Vol. 6. presents the 2 bands, Violence Fog and Jerusalem — 30 minutes unreleased music by each band. Jerusalem is Westcoast influenced with 2 guitars (great jams) 3 long tracks. Violence Fog Heavy Psychedelic Krautrock with trippy flute, 5 tracks. Both Sessions were recorded in 1971."

IMPROVED SOUND LIMITED: CD (LHC 007). $18.00

"First time released on CD — This German psychedelic Pop/Rock band released in 1971 their first LP, a double album on Liberty/U.A. 17 emotional tracks, lyrical sound with superb flute and great harmony vocals with more than 70 mins in the direction of the Beatles White Album, with more psychedelic underground influences. Contains a 17 min song 'A Soldiers Songbook' from the Beatnik movie Wer im Glashaus liebt oder der Graben by Micheal Verhoeven — a real music trip!"

PACIFIC SOUND: Forget Your Dreams CD (LHC 008). $18.00

"Awesome Swiss psychedelic masterpiece, with lots of flying acid leads, roaring organ and haunted vocals. For the first time with bandstory and lots of photos from the masters — originally recorded in 1972 plus 3 bonus cuts from 71. One of the best European releases ever."

IMPROVED SOUND LIMITED: Catch A Singing Bird On The Road CD (LHC 009). $18.00

"The second album recorded in 1973 by this great German band contains a very cool laid back sound with complex arrangements. The style of the compositions is leaned towards Country Westcoast Rock. The home recorded version 'The Dark Lord' (bonus track) recited by the famous Austrian poet wordsmith H. C. Artman, (Lord of the Rings poet), sophisticated compositions with intelligent lyrics, great mellotron on 'Humphrey Bogart', and fine guitarwork (acoustic and electric)."

BLAST FURNACE: Blast Furnace CD (LHC 010). $18.00

"Danish heavy progressive rock masterpiece recorded in 1971 and released on Polydor — for the first time reissued on CD. Recordings were taken from the original mastertapes (perfect sound)! Brilliant songwriting in the tradition of Jethro Tull, Pretty Things and The Beatles (during their fertile period from 1968-70). But more uncommercial for the bride public, because of very intense instrumental breaks, heavy acid guitar flashes, Hammond organ, flute, wild and tough vocals. Later almost the complete band joined Culpeppers Orchard. Contains one bonustrack and a detailed bio. One of the best European heavy progressive albums."

MY SOLID GROUND: SWF Session + 2001 Album CD (LHC 011). $18.00

"Brilliant German Krautrock Underground band, famous for the collectors because of their 1971 Bacillus album. This CD contains 4 unreleased tracks from 1971 (19mins) recorded at a broadcast session for SWF radio. Those songs are in the vein of the original album — even better — heavy guitars cosmic organ! Bonus: A complete album recorded in 2001 by band-leader and guitar player Bernhard Rendel with a scope reaching from space rock and lyrical elements to floating psychedelic sounds. Resourceful and innovative: My Solid Ground 2001. Informative 12 page booklet cool photos — 66 minutes."

IMPROVED SOUND LIMITED: Rathbone Hotel CD (LHC 012). $18.00

"Third album from 1976 of brilliant German band in the tradition of Beatles, Byrds and Eagles. 12 catchy songs with remarkable hook lines produced by David Hitchcock (early Genesis, Caravan etc.) and recorded in London CBS-Studio. 'Suicide Road' in a vocal version of the main theme from Wim Wenders movie In the Course of Time of which the Soundtrack was composed by Improved Sound Limited. 'If I could read her Mind' is definitely one of the best ballads we ever heard. Great informative booklet with support of the band."

MADE IN GERMANY: Made In Germany CD (LHC 013). $18.00

"First Reissue of amazing German Band who released one totally underrated album in 1971 on Metronome (same series as: Birthcontrol, Zarathustra, I Drive, Professor Wolff...) and one 45 record on BASF. This is one of the Top 5 Krautrock releases — sometimes in the veins of heavy American Psychedelic Rock with killer fuzz leads and otherwise progressive, organ driven typical Krautrock with classical touch, acidic flute, crazy and creative long cuts, by well educated musicians. 7 of the 9 album tracks are outstanding — a kind of Progressive Hard Rock/Psychedelic version of Shocking Blue — the German 'Music Emporium'! Highly recommended not just for Krautrock freaks — really a big surprise. Bonus tracks from 73/74 go into mellow pop-rock. Detailed bio + photos."

ALCATRAZZ: Vampire State Building CD (LHC 014). $18.00

"First CD reissue of progressive Krautrock album originally released on Phillips, titled Vampire State Building the quintet Alcatraz from Hamburg presented a pleasant and mainly instrumental progressive and experimental jazz-rock sound, with instant recognisable elements from Miles Davis' In A Silent Way and early King Crimson albums. Most successful was the 12 minute track 'Simple Headphone Mind'. The 13 minute title track was a long improvisation. The album was recorded in Tonstudio Wumme, where Faust and Slapp Happy also recorded albums, all engineered by Kurt Graupner. From the master tapes with bio and photos."

SITTING BULL: Trip Away CD (LHC 015). $18.00

"Originally released on CBS in 1971, and now for the first time on CD. These 4 guys from Bremen (Northern Germany) played with US Westcoast feel in some ways comparable to Quicksilver, but with the unique Kraut flavour. Electric and acoustic guitars with occasional keyboards dominate the jamming sound. Outstanding is the title track Trip Away — really a good commitment, that will be hold within the 11 mins! From the masters and informative booklet."

LIFE: Spring CD (LHC 016). $18.00

"Original album was released on German CBS 1971, produced by Julius Schittenhelm (worked also for OHRI Records). Two of the musicians were American Germans, the other 2 guys came from Munich. They sound between jamming Westcoast and raw Krautrock, with a bit of Edgar Broughton. Spacey flute, trippy guitars and very mystical long tracks — a great experience with an unknown album on a high level of proficiency. Informative booklet and 3 bonustracks (59 mins)."

IMPROVED SOUND LIMITED: Road Trax CD (LHC 017). $18.00

"The previous three Improved Sound Limited CDs (LHC 7, 9 and 12) were re-releases of vinyl albums, Road Trax is a genuine first release of Improved Sound Limited music from three films. While the previous CDs contained predominantly songs of the band, 39 of them, here we find different musical forms: mostly instrumentals, fragments and 'songs without words'. Why is this album called Road Trax? Simply because the music is about being on the road, or at least it conveys a very mobile feeling. Acoustically, the music reflects the feeling of being on the move. It is a companion for long journeys, whether with the film camera or in a car. Moving at a slow pace, it portrays long and wide spaces, breathes melancholy, distance and boundlessness."

RAINBOW BAND: Rainbow Band CD (LHC 018). $18.00

"Formed in early 1970 as Denmark's first super group consisting of Young Flowers guitarist Peer Frost, two members of Beefeaters, ex-Maxwells vocalist Lars Bisgaard, great sax and flute player Bent Hesselmann and two former jazz players. Rainbow Band's idea was to play progressive rock in the style of Burnin' Red Ivanhoe and Traffic's second album. The music is powerful and very indicative of the hippie era. In late 1970 singer Lars Bisgaard was replaced by Allan Mortensen and the band decided to remake their first album but with a lot of changes. The 14 minute 'Living On The Hill' is the highlight on both versions with great guitar paying by Peer Frost. Both versions on 1 CD with the exception of 'Rainbow Song' (unchanged). A great effort and one of the best Scandinavian albums. Over 78 minutes, with informative booklet and liner notes by Bent Hesselmann; from the masters."

COUPLA PROG: Death Is A Great Gambler... CD (LHC 019). $18.00

"This CD rounds off the SWF produced Coupla Prog trilogy. With the new line-up, Coupla Prog recorded four outstanding tracks — extreme professional and intelligent arrangements. The wide spectrum goes from slow, melancholic over trippy, experimental instrumental parts to marching drums with heavy wah-wah guitars and pounding organ. An outstanding track on the CD is the 18 minute title track 'Death Is A Great Gambler ...', a true emotive and hypnotic masterpiece of German psychedelic underground rock dedicated to Rolf Peters. Also included a highly individual interpretation of Donovan's 'Season Of The Witch' and 'Your Time Has Come', an early version of 'Pamphlet To Mr. M. Thompson' which appears on Coupla Prog's rock opera Edmundo Lopez. They combined virtuosity and creativity in a unique way — sometimes reminding to other German likes as Gila, Amon Duul and Eloy's 'Inside', a must not just for Krautrock fans."

IMPROVED SOUND LIMITED: The Final Foreword CD (LHC 020). $18.00

"The 5th CD of Nuremberg's finest (and one of Germany's greatest) contents their early singles, soundtracks to films and TV productions including a lot of previously unreleased tracks to satisfy their numerous fans. Wonderful songs influenced by the beat era and the psychedelic music of the late 60's. Funny and competent lyrics combined with fresh and well played music show the great talent of the band playing on a very high standard. Excellent sound quality, informative booklet."

MR ALBERT SHOW: Mr Albert Show CD (LHC 021). $18.00

"First album (1970) of underrated Dutch band. A powerful collection of freaky, powerful progressive rock tracks with psychedelic leanings, dominated by composer, vocalist flute and sax player Bertus Borgers. Their music style was quite original and reminds sometimes to early Colosseum with frenetic sax and fuzz guitar riffing; also good use of organ and electric piano. A well done album which should have a wider audience. Informative booklet with band history by Bertus Borgers. From the masters."

MR ALBERT SHOW: Warm Motor CD (LHC 022). $18.00

"The second album of the Dutch band Mr. Albert Show from 1971 Warm Motor was a worldwide release. The US-Version had a different cover and was named Dutch Treat. This album is more on the trippy side than the first one, spheric organ, flute/sax, and great guitarwork. The 6 tracks show the bands outstanding talent for progressive rock music with trippy jazz elements but also straight Hardrock. Music ranges from Golden Earring, King Crimson, Colosseum style over to several Krautrock bands. Also included 5 great non-album 45' tracks and outtakes + photos."

APOCALYPSE: Kannibal Komix CD (LHC 023). $18.00

"First reissue of the first album from 1968 of one of Germany's finest pop psychedelic bands (feat. Jürgen Drews), in Germany released under band name 'Die Anderen'. Catchy songs with intelligent arrangements played by well educated musicians knowing how to use their musical potential. Hard to believe, but nearly all songs could have been a No. one hit. Beside the strong musical abilities the outstanding harmony vocals even more convince. Great stuff! All friends of psychedelic pop will love this records. 4 bonus tracks. Digital remastered 24 page full coloured booklet."

APCALYPSE: Apocalypse CD (LHC 024). $18.00

"First reissue of the second album of 'hitwonder' from Germany. The band developed and refined their music forward psychedelic rock. The tracks now became longer and instrumentation more variative — great sitar in 'Let it Die'. Partly stoned and intelligent compositions great jamming guitars and outstanding vocals make this underrated album to a truly gem. 2 bonus tracks, 12 page booklet, digitally remastered. Highly recommended!"

HALLELUJAH: Hallelujah Babe CD (LHC 025). $18.00

"First reissue of this only in Germany on Metronome issued great Psychedelic rock album of well known musicians from Munich's psychedelic and underground rock scene. Paul Vincent and Keith Forsey (played with Amon Düül II, Doldingers Motherhood etc.) plus English top session musicians Rick Kemp and Pete Wood recorded in London's Trident Studios 1971. Influenced by Sid Barretts Pink Floyd and a touch of the Beatles 'A Day In The Life', the music shows the outstanding talent of songwriter Paul Vincent, an accessible blend of psychedelic and progressive styles. Highly recommended album with one bonus track, informative booklet, digitally remastered from the original tapes by Paul Vincent himself."

THRICE MICE: Thrice Mice CD (LHC 026). $20.00

"Originally released in 1971 on Philips. This solely album of Hamburg's six piece is a crossover of progressive- and jazz rock, notably with influences as wide-ranging as Blodwyn Pig (two covers as bonus tracks) and Curved Air. Long jammings by highly talented musicians, all blending into an unique sound with the distinct spirit of krautrock. Over 25 minutes bonus material, digitally remastered and with informative booklet."

DROSSELBART: Drosselbart CD (LHC 027). $20.00

"Originally released in 1970 on Polydor. This is an example of early German heavy psychedelic rock, akin to early Tomorrow's Gift and The Doors as a rock critic. Clever German lyrics and music which touches your brain but also your skin. 13 Excellent tracks (including 2 bonus tracks), digitally remastered from the original tape and with informative booklet. One of the wanted Krautrock collectables."

MAXWELLS: Maxwell's Street CD (LHC 028). $20.00

"Originally released 1969 on MPS Records Germany — which became world famous for Dave Pike's Noisy Silence Gentle Noise released in the same era. This is a true jewel for all progressive music enthusiasts. Ahead of its time the album is an eclectic mixture of Beat, Psychedelia and lysergic Trip Jazz. The album is compared with the similarly styled debut of Burnin' Red Ivanhoe. 14 Minutes title song 'Maxwells Street' sounds like a continuation of the Rolling Stones' 'Their Satanic Majesty's Requests'. Lars Bisgaard and Bent Hesselmann later played with Rainbow Band. Comes with bonus tracks, digitally remastered from the original tapes and with informative booklet."

RUFUS ZUPHALL: Weiss der Teufel CD (LHC 029CD). $19.00

"The first album Weiss der Teufel (1971) has gradually gained legendary status and is definitely one of the best early 70's album from Germany. All tracks were recorded live in the studio, resulting in a raw and unpolished sound. The side-long title track developed into a twisted and frenetic flute solo guiding the way on this trip. Some people regard this track as one of the finest moments of German rock. Weiss der Teufel sung in English, is typifying the raw-edged, largely instrumental early progressive hardrock. Here it comes with original album sleeve cover art, informative booklet in known Long Hair-tradition and with lots of bonus tracks (over 70 minutes). A must, not just for Krautrock freaks."

RUFUS ZUPHALL: Phallobst CD (LHC 030CD). $19.00

"Reissue of the second Rufus Zuphall longplayer originally released BASF Pilz, in 1971. Additionally as bonus tracks the second part of the Farewell concert Aachen 1972 (pt1 is on LHC 29). Cool photos....Belongs to most legendary progressive Krautrock LPs from the 70's."

LONGHAUL (UK):

ANDERSSON, SVEN: Hem Ljueva Hem CD (LONG 002 CD). $15.00

"Sven Andersson follows up his recent '2000-07-07' single for the label with an excellent album from the Swedish underground. His style is like Thomas Brinkmann, Max Ernst, Mike Inc and Ricardo Villalobos crossed with a bass heavy techno-phunk house sound. Unlike the techno sounds of fellow Swedes Adam Beyer and Cari Lekebusch or the deeper vibes of Hakan Lidbo, Sven draws on the organic aspects of electronica alongside original and infectious melodies. Hem Ljueva Hem takes us through deep & dirty electronica, stripped down percussion, throbbing beats and trippy tech-house to form one of the most exciting albums we've heard in a long time."

ANDERSSON, SVEN: Hem Ljueva Hem 2LP (LONG 002 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

RADIOACTIVE MAN VS. TRANSPARENT SOUND: Beatz Clash Volume One 2CD (LONG 003 CD). $17.00

"Beatz Clash Volume One is the first of the new series on the genre bending Longhaul label (home of EON). Beatz Clash will be showcasing some of the most forward thinking electronic experimentalists from around the globe to blitz the airwaves with their sounds and is available as a double mix CD and limited quadruple vinyl. Longhaul has invited two of the UK's finest beat abstractors and all round top gezzers, Mr Orson 'Transparent Sound' Bramley and Mr Keith 'Radioactive Man' Tenniswood to complete the first edition. Transparent Sound are Orson Bramley and Martin Brown. Having grown up on electro and 70's electronica legends such as Kraftwerk, they set about creating their own live four-piece electro band. Summer 99 saw the arrival of two heavy weight slabs of eighties-tinged electro on Colin Dales Abstractact Dance imprint and on Aubrey's Solid Groove label. Now Um and R-ning the Binarytypes imprint, the guys have also had output on Billy Nasty's Electrix label, Surreal, Outside, Mass Transit, and Rotters Golf Club. Keith Tenniswood first worked with Weatherall doing sound on the Sabres of Paradise tour. He has leant his talents to David Holmes' Lets Get Killed album and has also worked with The Aloof and Red Snapper. He continues to work with Weatherall as Two Lone Swordsman and also records under the solo guise of Radioactive Man and with his cohorts as Bargecharge."

ANDERSSON, SVEN: 2000-07-03 12" (LONG 004). $8.00

"New single from the hotly tipped Longhaul label whose first releases by EON and Bolz Bolz have caused a stir amongst the more discerning end of the dance market. Already getting props from the likes of Andy Weatherall, Laurent Garnier, Keith Tenniswood, Si Begg, Sven's sound is an infectious one. The sound: imagine a dash of Thomas Brinkmann, a scoop of Max Ernst, a pinch of Mike Inc. and a slice of Ricardo Villalobos mixed into a steaming pot of voluptuous, bass heavy techno phunk house stew as only Mr. Anderson could create."

EON: Sum Of Parts CD (LONG 004 CD). $15.00

"Brand new album from the legendary Eon, 10 years after his debut album on Vinyl Solution....lan 'Eon' B is still one of the most innovative producers on the scene. Eon started his career in 1987 with 'Cuban Jakkin' on Eddie Richard's Baad label, then followed the legendary Vinyl Solution singles 'Light Colour Sand', 'Spice', 'Innermind', 'Basketcase'...the album 'Void Dweller' and Eon also kick started Red Jerry's 'Hooj Tunes' label under the name Rio Rhythm Band. Now signed to Longhaul which is gaining a name as one of the most forward looking electro labels around. Sum of Parts does not disappoint, keeping the fans happy with his trademark analogue dark 'n' dirty rollin funk. Eon also includes 4/4 workouts which are equally effective."

EON: Tantalus 12" (LONG 005). $9.00

"Longhaul welcomes back lan 'Eon' B (who kickstarted the label last year) with another outing into electroland. You may already be familiar with many of his previous releases on labels such as Vinyl Solution, Electron Industries and Ifach, showcasing his deep inventive Electro. His last release found the boxes of eclectic jocks including the likes of Dave Clarke, Annie Nightingale, John Peel, Laurent Garnier, Mr G, Andy Weatherall and Keith Tenniswood, and this 12" is sure to follow suit. The three varied trax explore different terrains of electronica covering the more floor friendly beats through to the deeper realms of beat abstraction."

LUCA TRIO, NICK: Little Town CD (LOOSE 135 CD). $16.00

"Nick Luca has engineered, produced and performed on, and sessioned for a whole host of visiting bands including Rainer, Richard Buckner, Howe Gelb, OP8, Bill Janowitz, Francois Breut, Steve Wynn and local Tucson heroes Giant Sand on career best Chore Of Enchantment. A man of diverse influences, when it came to recording his debut with the Trio he was faced with the slight problem of how to bring Miles Davis, Anton Webern and Jimmy Page together. By placing them all in the Wavelab blender and filtering the results through the off kilter sensibilities of his adopted home he came up with the cinematic dreamscape of Little Town."

TURNER, STEVE: Searching For Melody CD (LOOSE 141 CD). $16.00

"Mudhoney guitarist Steve Turner releases a solo album on Loose, featuring Mudhoney's Dan Peters (drums) and Pearl Jam's Stone Gossard (bass). Steve wanted to make a folk record, and he almost did. There's no doubt that the ghosts of dead folk singers (Tim, Tim, Tim, Townes Van Zandt and even early electric Dylan etc) are well represented—there's a Dave Van Ronk cover for Christ's sake!" UK-only release.

LOS APSON (JAPAN):

LOUNGE ESSENZEN (GERMANY):

VA: Lounge.Essenzen.03 CD (LOUNGE 03). $16.00

"Since the December of 2001, Mannheim's weekly Thursday evening _Lounge club has been something of a platform for regional audio and video artists, and internationally celebrated electronica artists, allowing them to present their creativity to a wide audience. In those last two years, the _Lounge has managed to make a name for itself in Mannheim and beyond, and today counts as one of the most renowned club nights in the land — not just because of its musical variety. The _Lounge has given electronic music fertile ground to thrive on. And it is only a handful of that which has borne fruit that can now be heard on this third release of the in-house compilation series. _Lounge.Essenzen.03 brings together tracks by artists who appeared and performed at the _Lounge between December 2001 and January 2003. They stand for the _Lounge's openness and, combined, buck the musical trend with which 'lounge-music' is normally associated. The tracks featured here are only seldom what you might refer to as 'fluffy', or 'easy listening'. Instead, they trace the entire spectrum of contemporary musical innovation, and in doing so reflect the current state of Production quality in Germany, Europe and beyond." Artists: Roland Fiege & DFO, Baier & The Box, Munit, Magnum38, Notebook Junkies, GMan, Cloinc, Klangforschungszentrum, Michael Langlois, Frank Martiniq, Lufth Rotes, Clark Kent.

LOVE RECORDS (FINLAND):

VA: Arktinen Hysteria: Suomi-avantgarden Esiputarhureita CD (LXCD 635CD). $13.00

"The Arktinen Hysteria compilation that came out in November 2001 was compiled by Jukka Lindfors, based on his series of radio documentaries for Finnish Broadcasting Company. Together here are gathered for the first time some seminal tracks usually considered the milestones of early Finnish electronic music; being the real predecessors of the sounds of Mika Vainio, Pan sonic & et al.; combined with some rarities and previously unpublished tracks. The album concentrates mostly around the output of the now-legendary Love Records label, varying from electronic music to avantgarde sounds, free-jazz and experimental rock. Here one can witness some truly timeless electronic pioneering works, delving into the real Finnish analogue roots of glitch, clicks & cuts and even modern laptop sounds. Artists include: M.A. Numminen, Tommi Parko, Pekka Kujanpää (future underground guru M.A. Numminen and his cohorts burping and gurgling to a simple blues theme playing in the background, as part of this home-made tape recorded in 1961), M.A. Numminen & Sähkökvartetti (Holy Grail of Finnish electronic music, creepy-sounding and even hymn-like, with wailing and sounding like electronic insects), Tommi Parko (avant-gardistic pranks), Erkki Salmenhaara (sounds like a constant switching of dial between radio stations: snippets of orchestral sounds, reverberated electronics, harpsichord, piano etudes, whatever), Blues Section (the territory of backwards tapes, tape loops and other "mind-blowing" sonic regalia of the late 60s), Erkki Kurenniemi (This could be something by Hecker of Meg Records, only 30 years before laptops), Jukka Ruohomäki (non-machine-like electronic pop music), Jouni Kesti & Seppo I. Laine (Pure noise inferno of explosions and chaos), The Sperr (a combination of an experimental rock group and a provocative performance group, features undecipherable vocals mumbling, screeching, murmuring, screaming utter nonsense), J.O. Mallander (Dadaist piece of conceptual art, an aural counterpart to what Andy Warhol did with his movies of repeated boredom), The Sperr (a free-for-all melee of cacophony, like some collective lunatic asylum art therapy), Pekka Airaksinen (murky sauna hut sound expressions, total antimusical and again, totally ageless), S. Albert Kivinen (This 'aleatoric assault' is about the then-US Vice President Spiro Agnew).

KURENNIEMI, ERKKI: Äänityksiä — Recordings 1963-1973 CD (LXCD 637CD). $13.00

Brilliant collection of obscure early electronic music, on one of Finland's longest running independent labels; packaged with detailed liner notes (Finnish/English). Not to be missed. "One of the undeniable pioneers of Finnish electronic music is Erkki Kurenniemi (b. 1941), who founded The University of Helsinki Electronic Music Studio in the early 1960's. Kurenniemi built his own series of synthesizers, named as DIMI, which are nowadays mostly possessed by Swedish collector and electronic musician Ralph Lundsten, and published some of his experimental compositions like 'Dance of the Antropoids'. Alongside such Finnish pioneers as Eino Ruutsalo (for whose short films Kurenniemi composed music), Kurenniemi also did some early work on the field of Finnish media art and contributed to Finnish video art and happenings. Kurenniemi created the first commercially manufactured and marketed microcomputer already in 1973 — two years before the American MITS Altair. These days Kurenniemi works as an independent researcher, specialising in such subjects as artificial intelligence."

AIRAKSINEN, PEKKA: Madam I'm Adam 2CD (LXCD 642CD). $23.00

Intense double CD from this avant-garde underground icon from Finland, who recorded solo and with groups like The Sperr (who released one legendary freak out LP, Shh! in 1970), Gandhi-Freud, Ajraxis, etc. Disc one is a historical compilation, featuring mostly the first CD issue of original tracks from 1968-2002. Disc 2 is all new previously unreleased remixes from: Nurse With Wound, Simon Wickham-Smith, Es, Mira Calix, Curd Duca, Anton Nikkila etc. If you were impressed by the Love Records compilation Arktinen Hysteria, this is the next step. "The music of Petta Airaksinen (b. 1945) has been far ahead of its time for most of his 40 year long career. His finest recordings from the 60's are more reminiscent of industrial music and noise (which would emerge ten years later) than of the music of his precursors and contemporaries. In the early 80's few people, if any, were mixing mechanic beats and free jazz like he did — favourable conditions for this kind of music didn't really exist until the turn of the century. His latest genre-hopping work will also probably take a long time to become fully appreciated. This compilation is a fairly subjective selection of his works from each of these periods. The selection of remixes commissioned for the second disc of the compilation aims to find a contemporary context for his work and to expand connections, some of which already existed. For example Nurse With Wound namechecked Airaksinen on their famous list of influences that came with their debut LP Chance Meeting on a Dissecting Table of a Sewing Machine and an Umbrella (1979), while Finland's Es played together with Airaksinen in his first live performance since 1987 at Avanto Helsinki Media Art Festival in 2001."

LOVELY MUSIC:

ASHLEY, ROBERT: Private Parts (The Record) CD (LCD 1001). $13.00

1990 CD issue of a 1977 recording, which was the first Lovely Music release. A softly pedaling mood enhancer of exotically weird proportions, this suffers quite a bit from misappreciation in today's harsh reality scenario. Ashley's words hover just above your lips like a glowing lung, and it's easy to understand why all of Kyle Gann's friends in the 70s were going around reciting phrases memorized from this album, as they emanate connectively to some false dream society like little else in the world of 70s contemporary art. Not for everyone, I suppose, but the properly channelled will melt right into the couch. "Eventually he recognizes what he's created as the first and last episodes of his opera for television, Perfect Lives, the middle opera of a monumental trilogy tracing the history of the movement of consciousness across America (east to west). This original recording with Ashley's voice, accompanied by 'Blue' Gene Tyranny on keyboards, and 'Kris' on tablas, remains a classic. It is a masterpiece in its simplicity of form and in the purity and intensity of its effect on the listener...Everything in Ashley's creation makes metabolic connections; there's a transpersonal, time-exempt freedom in it; 'the feeling of the idea of silk scarves in the air.' In other words, the effect of his engaging, lyrical expression is that the mind opens. Only a masterpiece does that." — Melody Sumner.

ASHLEY, ROBERT: Automatic Writing CD (LCD 1002). $13.00

A 1996 CD compiling three early Ashley works from the years 1967-79 — some of his most experimental and out-there works. A classic electronic music collection and an ideal intro into the somewhat foreboding oeuvre of Robert Ashley's recorded works. The title piece is a 46-minute classic from 1979, which rather famously formed the basis for Nurse With Wound's A Missing Sense. Steven Stapleton's commentary upon this summarizes the intense vibe of this recording: "A Missing Sense was originally conceived as a private tape to accompany my taking of LSD. When in that particular state, Robert Ashley's Automatic Writing was the only music I could actually experience without feeling claustrophobic and paranoid. We played it endlessly; it seemed to become part of the room, perfectly blending with the late night city ambience and the 'breathing' of the building." The piece features the voices of Ashley and Mimi Johnson, with electronics and Polymoog backing, with a switching circuit designed and built by Paul DeMarinis. A fascinating and mysterious work focused on "involuntary speech". The second piece on this CD is "Purposful Lady Slow Afternoon" from 1968. It features the voice of Cynthia Liddell, backed by singers, bells and crackle. Originally issued on the Mainstream label, as an excerpt for a theatre work for amplified voices and tape. The final piece, "She Was a Visitor" is from 1967, originally issued on the infamous electronic compilation Extended Voices (CBS Odyssey), featuring experimental vocals works. Performed by The Brandeis University Chamber Chorus, directed by Alvin Lucier.

ASHLEY, ROBERT: Yellow Man With Heart With Wings CD (LCD 1003). $13.00

1990 CD issue of this 1978 piece for voice and electronics. The electronics (with additional Clavinet by "Blue" Gene Tyranny) start out shimmering and subtle, slowing building up in strange, menacing fashion. The first part is in Spanish (with Guillermo Grenier providing the voice); the second part is "in English" (heavily processed vocals by Ashley) and quite radical — easy to imagine this one sitting very high in a United Dairies-like universe.

ASHLEY, ROBERT: eL/Aficionado CD (LCD 1004). $13.00

1994 release, with 48 page libretto. Featuring Thomas Buckner as The Agent and Sam Ashley, Jacqueline Humbert & Robert Ashley as his interrogators. Orchestration by Robert Ashley. Engineering and mixing by Tom Hamilton. "This is the fourth opera in Ashley's Now Eleanor's Idea tetralogy: Junior, Jr.'s story. A group of scenes from the life of an Agent. The scenes are a kind of debriefing to a jury of interrogators, in which the interrogators challenge the Agent in various forms of musical dialogue. The mood of the opera owes much to our fascination with espionage and with the character of those people who lead double lives."

ASHLEY, ROBERT: Your Money My Life Goodbye CD (LCD 1005). $13.00

"An opera commissioned by Bayerischer Rundfunk Munich's Hörspiel und Medienkunst department about an internationally renowned swindler, who almost took down the European and American banking system. Featuring the voices of Robert Ashley, Sam Ashley, Thomas Buckner, Jackie Humbert, and Joan La Barbara. Recorded and mixed by Tom Hamilton."

ASHLEY, ROBERT: Dust 2CD (LCD 1006). $26.00

"Dust features the voices of Robert Ashley, Sam Ashley, Thomas Buckner, Tom Hamilton, Jacqueline Humbert, and Joan La Barbara. 'Blue' Gene Tyranny and Tom Hamilton provide synthesizer and live mixing. The electronic orchestration is by Robert Ashley, Tom Hamilton and 'Blue' Gene Tyranny, with sound effects for 'Friends' composed by Tom Hamilton. This recording was made live at the Kitchen in April of 1999. Modeled upon the medieval form of a motet, Dust layers the voices of five characters, drawing upon the 'street-talk' practice of speaking and hearing at the same time. Introducing new techniques in vocal and orchestral styles, and featuring video projections by Yukihiro Yoshihara, Dust conjures up a futurist fusion of dream and reality to deal with questions of memory and irretrievable loss. Through a series of related works over the past two decades, Robert Ashley has connected opera with stream-of-consciousness poetry, with advanced forms of narrative and with new ideas about the nature of operatic ensemble. A major figure in American experimental music theater, the depth of Ashley's librettos reveals a highly developed literary mind as well as that of a first rate composer."

LUCIER, ALVIN: Music On A Long Thin Wire CD (LCD 1011). $13.00

Alvin Lucier is one of America's quintessential minimalist innovators, composing & performing extreme music for pure tones, brains waves, the "generation of visual imagery by sound in vibrating media," etc. Music On A Long Thin Wire is one of his all-time classic works of hovering tones & sonic phenomena, recorded in 1979. "A 50-foot length of taut wire passes through the poles of a large magnet and is driven by an oscillator; the vibrations of the wire are miked at either end, amplified and broadcast in stereo. The thin wire is set vibrating four times at four different frequencies; what results is not the low drone one might expect from a long, vibrating wire, but a complexity of evocative, ethereal chords. First released on Lovely Music in 1980, Music on a Long Thin Wire is a classic example of Alvin Lucier's investigations into the physics of sound and the sonic properties of natural processes."

LUCIER, ALVIN: Panorama CD (LCD 1012). $13.00

Consists of 1990-94 recordings, released in '97. "A gorgeous recording of works for trombone and piano, transformed by Lucier's electronics and oscillators. 'Wind Shadows' (1994), 'Music for Piano with One or More Snare Drums' (1990), and 'Panorama' (1993) — were written for the Swiss musicians Roland Dahinden and Hildegard Kleebe, who play them on this CD. Also included: 'Music for Piano with Amplified Sonorous Vessels' (1990), which was originally written for Margaret Leng Tan."

LUCIER, ALVIN: I Am Sitting In A Room CD (LCD 1013). $13.00

One of Lucier's most classic works and a cornerstone in the world of resonant frequencies. Performed by Lucier on recorded voice, tape machines, delay. "In this fascinating exploration of acoustical phenomena, Alvin Lucier slips from the domain of language to that of music in the course of 40 minutes and 32 repetitions of a simple paragraph of text. In I am sitting in a room, several sentences of recorded speech are simultaneously played back into a room and re-recorded there many times. As the repetitive process continues, those sounds common to the original spoken statement and those implied by the structural dimensions of the room are reinforced. The others are gradually eliminated. The space acts as a filter; the speech is transformed into pure sound. All the recorded segments are spliced together in the order in which they were made and constitute the work. I am sitting in a room was composed in 1970; this recording was made by Alvin Lucier on October 29th and 31st, 1980, in the living room of his home in Middletown, CT."

LUCIER, ALVIN: Still and Moving Lines of Silence in Families of Hyperbolas 2CD (LCD 1015). $26.00

Double CD release of a four-part work, initiated in 1972 and recorded as presented here in 1983/4 and 2001. This reissues 2 long o/p LPs on Lovely, with 4 added parts released for the first time. A series of mostly solo instrument works for the likes of: clarinet, marimba, viola, voice, xylophone, violin, flute, glockenspiel, cello, horn, vibraphone. Performed by: Thomas Ridenour, William Winant, Dan Panner, Rebecca Armstrong, Conrad Harris, Susan Palma, Gregory Hesslink, James de Corsey. An absolute masterpiece of "interference sound".

LUCIER, ALVIN: Crossings CD (LCD 1018). $13.00

"1990 CD reissue of prime-era Lucier product, with works from 1982-85. Features 'In Memoriam Jon Higgins (for clarinet in A and slow-sweep pure wave oscillator)', 'Septet for Three Winds, Four Strings and Pure Wave Oscillator', and 'Crossings (for small orchestra with slow-sweep pure wave oscillator)'. Said slow-sweep pure wave oscillator produces slowly swept pure waves that oscillate (on separate occasions) a clarinet, three winds and four strings, and a small orchestra. Maximum beat frequency heterodyning, often at an audible pitch. Similar acoustic phenomena as Tony Conrad/Penderecki string work and just as aurally stimulating (for those with lazy ear-ciliae)." — Hrvtvski.

LUCIER, ALVIN: Clockwork CD (LCD 1019). $13.00

Another classic Lucier catalog item, a 45-minute recording made in 1991 of this piece that he first conceived in 1978. The piece is for: amplified clock, performer with galvanic skin response sensor and digital delay system. The sounds that emanate are beautifully shifting patterns of tock-collage that reveal dramatic sonic details. "I wanted to make a work in which a performer could speed up and slow down time, stopping it, if possible, simply by thinking. I bought a Westclox Silver Bell Monogram in a local store and ordered a galvanic skin response sensor through the Edmund Scientific Catalogue. A GSR is designed to measure differences in skin resistance caused by changes in emotional state. A small current is sent through the body, the response to which is amplified, producing an output voltage which can be used to control various devices...later I added a bank of fixed delays which, as they play out from the voltage controlled delay, create multiple reflections that almost convince the listener that the room is changing size."

HASSELL, JON: Vernal Equinox CD (LCD 1021). $13.00

"Early experiments (76-77) in fourth-world algorithms from this oft-overlooked composer. Features the dynamic/tasteful instrumental stylings of Nana Vasconcelos, David Rosenboom (recent Braxton collaborator), William Winant, Nicholas Kilbourn, and someone/thing monikered to the known universe as 'Drone'. Mostly light island rhythms augmented by Hassel's alien effector-trumpet. Recalls the peaceful slumber of Miles's In A Silent Way in spots. Don't forget the most important credit: "256hz pitch standard: Motorola Scalatron" (Wouldn't want to run into THAT in a dark alley...)." —Hrvatski.

BEHRMAN, DAVID: On The Other Ocean CD (LCD 1041). $13.00

"1996 CD reissue of a 1978 LP. "On the Other Ocean" is an improvisation by Maggi Payne and Arthur Stidfole centered around six pitches which, when they are played, activate electronic pitch-sensing circuits connected to the 'interrupt' line and input ports of a microcomputer, Kim-1". The other piece on this CD, 'Figure in a Clearing' is of similar intent, only featuring David Gibson on Cello and Behrman on electronics. Beautifully presented live-improvisor/computer-accompaniment studies by this well-known composer and founder the Sonic Arts Union in 1966 with Robert Ashley, Alvin Lucier, and Gordon Mumma." — Hrvatski.

BEHRMAN, DAVID: Leapday Night CD (LCD 1042). $13.00

"A series of three pieces/suites; 'Leapday Night', 'A Traveler's Dream Journal', and 'Interspecies Smalltalk' involving Rhys Chatham/Ben Neill (on trumpet/mutantrumpet), Fluxus mainstay Takeisha Kosugi (violin), and Behrman himself on electronics. The system consists of pitch sensors ("ears" with which it listens to the performing musicians), various music synthesizers (some homemade), a computer graphics color video display and a personal computer". Heavy period-synth float w/ bare accompaniment, thankfully just-pre DX-7. See above for relative cultural importance." — Hrvatski.

MONK, MEREDITH: Key CD (LCD 1051). $14.00

This album contains Meredith Monk's earliest compositions for voice. The songs that make up Key were composed and performed in a 3-year period between 1967 and 1970, when Monk collected them into this 45-minute "invisible theater" experience. Monk (travelling voice, electric organ, jaws harp), Daniel Ira Sverdik & Dick Higgins (companion voices), Collin Walcott (companion voice & mrdingam), Lanny Harrison and Mark Berger (vision monologues). "In 'Key' I wanted to create a constantly shifting ambience. Each song dealt with a different vocal character, landscape, technical concern or emotional quality. I was trying for a visceral, kinetic song form that had the abstract qualities of a painting or a dance. I knew that I didn't want to set music to a text; for me, the voice itself was a language which seemed to speak more eloquently than words. I chose certain phonemes for their particular sound qualities. In a sense, each song became a world in itself with its own timbre, texture and impulse." — Meredith Monk.

TYRANNY, BLUE GENE: Take Your Time CD (LCD 1066). $13.00

A CD of works for solo piano. "Thirty-five of the 36 songs in this 'audio storyboard' are individually built around an atmospheric primary chord, counter-rhythms, and a body of notes which creates a potential melody that unfolds bit by bit. 'The Driver's Son' is scored for a narrator, a chorus of 5 people creating 15 voices, an electronically modified orchestra of folk and concert instruments and parts for a lighting designer and a live video animator known as The Guide. The realization for electro-magnetically stimulated piano (1993) heard here employs feedback circuit devices, designed by composer David Meschter, that initiate subtle sustaining tones when placed on the strings. The slowly appearing, ethereal sounds in this piece are 'artificial harmonics' that resonate high in the piano strings when one chord is silently depressed and another chord of the same form but a half-step lower is loudly struck and quickly released. 36 of these, interlaced with 36 'natural harmonics,' were recorded and then the initial loud attack was removed with computer editing. This procedure left a bed of subtle, non-corporeal sounds that seem to lie on the surface of the strings like a cloud, and allowed listeners to hear sounds that normally are only perceived by the pianist sitting a few feet away from the strings."

JOHNSON, TOM: An Hour For Piano CD (LCD 1081). $13.00

"A trance music piece made up of repeating 4/4 cells in which an absolutely steady eighth-note motion predominates. Often several cells are going on simultaneously, and one cell frequently mutates into another through the addition or subtraction of a note or two. One has to step back far enough to get a perspective on the large-scale shifts in density and tonality before the impact of An Hour For Piano can be felt. Frederic Rzewski plays very percussively throughout, giving the piece an intense forward motion."

MUMMA, GORDON: Studio Retrospect CD (LCD 1093). $13.00

A collection of six compositions made in electronic music studios from 1959 to 1984. All were composed for concert hall or theater performance with choreography, as well as for distribution on recordings. "Long-awaited CD collection of early electronic works from this Sonic Arts Union member (along with Alvin Lucier, Robert Ashley, and David Behrman) and co-founder (with Ashley) of the Cooperative Studio for Electronic Music in Ann Arbor, MI (rumoured the first EMS in the US) as well as the ONCE festival(s, 66-74), not to mention his involvement with John Cage and David Tudor as one of the principal composers for the Merce Cunningham Dance Company. Oh yeah, and Mumma 'was among the first composers to employ circuitry of his own design in compositions and performance.' Features the pieces 'Retrospect' (1959, whose 'Densities' interlude beat B.Gunter et al to the punch [line] by about 30 years), 'Music from the Venezia Space Theatre' (1964, as brilliant a headfuck as implied), 'The Dresden Interleaf 13 February 1945' (1965, after six minutes of near-silent ghost echoes, one thousand bees invade for exactly 25 seconds, then...), 'Echo-D' (1978, harpsichord and Buchla box sources are given 15 minutes in which to roam freely), 'Pontpoint' (1966-80), and 'Epifont' (1984). Mumma's been one of the more obscured blokes in possession of a misfiring neuro-transmitter set (his 'portable recording apparatus' and related getup puts the MD sham-antics of the Lucky Kitchen set to shame) and what with the 'electron-arhchaica' movement being graced with it's own Ellipsis Arts boxset (like they were all fucking Babenzele Pygmies) you'll surely find a local pen-pal with which to co-tirade on themes of his inherent era genius and contemporary shadow-likeness (as far as output is concerned, although 1987's video-performance of his 1974 piece 'Some voltage drop' wherein 'various parts of musical piece are played on musical saw in an empty amusement park; other part is electronic squeals emitted from accelerometers' would make Gord seem at bat w/old demons) over firelight and fine tawny port. Music, alive, perhaps crawling towards the sun." — Hrvatski.

TUDOR, DAVID: Three Works For Live Electronics CD (LCD 1601). $13.00

David Tudor was an avant garde pianist (most closely associated with John Cage, also performing Feldman, Stockhausen, Wolff, etc), who became a crucial pioneer in the world of live electronic music in the 1960s, developing custom-built electronic devices. These 2 Lovely Music CDs are the only commonly available recordings of his electronic music. Three Works includes: "Pulsers" a work from 1976, exploring the world of rhythms created electronically by analog, rather than, digital, circuitry. Incorporates a tape of electronic violin work by Takehisa Kosugi. "Untitled": "a series of works composed in the 1970s that were developed through experiments in generating electronic sound without the use of oscillators, tone generators, or recorded natural sound materials."

TUDOR, DAVID: Neural Synthesis Nos. 6-9 2CD (LCD 1602). $26.00

"Performed by David Tudor; produced and recorded by David Tudor and John D.S. Adams. Binaural and stereo mixes on 2 CDs. This recording combines the art of music, the engineering of electronics, and the inspiration of biology. In it, David Tudor orchestrates electronic sound in ways analogous to our biological bodies' orchestration of consciousness. The performance originates from a neural-network synthesizer conceived and built especially for Tudor. He surrounds this synthesizer with his own unique collection of electronic devices, and in the recording on this CD made for headphone playback, he uses a new binaural technique for translating sound into out-of-head localizations in which sound seems to originate from specific, changing points within a space around the listener."

OLIVEROS, PAULINE: Crone Music CD (LCD 1903). $13.00

"Studio recordings from 1989-90, 'commissioned by Mamou Mines, the New York based experimental theater collective, for their production of Learn by William Shakespeare.' In use herein is a fairly complex series of pitch-modulated foot-controlled digital delay units which render Oliveros' solo accordion playing into a full accordion ensemble. This all results in SERIOUSLY dense overtone/ghost chord action, complete with microtones and counter-melodies emulating something like a grand-pipe-organ jam session. Heavy. By far the most ear-triggering of all Oliveros's explorations with said instrument." — Hrvatski.

RADIGUE, ELIANE: Songs of Milarepa 2CD (LCD 2001/2). $26.00

Double CD of all 5 of Radigue's songs in tribute to the Tibetan saint and poet from the eleventh century. Two of the tracks date from an 1983 LP (Radigue's first release), 2 are previously unreleased and the final 62-minute track was previously issued as a sole CD in 1987. The material is performed by Radigue (synthesizer & recording), Robert Ashley (English voice) & Lama Kunga Rinpoche (Tibetan voice). Radigue was born in France and has studied under Pierre Schaeffer and Pierre Henry; her musical has an extremely organic and mystical electronics vibe, and has been previously documented on Phill Niblock's XI label, as well as Metamkine and Lovely.

CAGE, JOHN: Music Of Changes CD (LCD 2053). $13.00

Performed by Joseph Kubera, the first complete recording of this important solo piano work. "Music of Changes is a manifesto. It marks Cage's first comprehensive 'exploration of non-intention' through the systematic use of chance operations to create a complete, major work. Begun in May 1951, Music of Changes was named in honor of the I Ching, or Book of Changes, the ancient Chinese book of oracles that had become Cage's means of synthesizing chance with rigorous discipline. Cage's notation heralded a new concept of musical time, placing the performer in a new relation to the score, one in which orientation is the occurrence of events rather than to the relations between them, which is to say to action rather than to memory. Performances of Music of Changes have been rare since David Tudor ceased playing the work in the late 1950s; Herbert Henck and, more recently, Joseph Kubera are among the few pianists to have assayed the obstacles posed by its innovations. For all its prominence in the history of postwar music, Music of Changes has remained more discussed than heard, more treatise than artwork." —John Holzaepfel.

KOSUGI, TAKEHISA: Violin Improvisations CD (LCD 2071). $13.00

"1990 CD release of solo violin & electronics recorded in NYC in September of 1989. Kosugi is of course the main 'Taj Mahal Traveler' and key player in Fluxus related activities during the sixties. This is some of the most beautiful mathematical-relationship inspired solo performance grate/scape out there, it's really hard to believe that all present glossed-out cavern/tank sonics are derived from a single violin & a digital delay unit. Just enough trace of certain 'Eastern' micro-tonalities & alien gesture to keep your ears dancing on end. Sublime." — Hrvatski.

LA BARBARA, JOAN: Voice Is The Original Instrument - Early Works 2CD (LCD 3003). $26.00

Collection of early works & her first vocal compositions, originally released on LPs in the 1970s and early 1980s on her own Wizard Records. "One of my earliest pieces, 'Hear What I Feel', was a self-exploratory, sensory-deprivation experimental work, designed to help me discover new sounds, delve into psychological aspects, as well as communicate with the audience on a pre-verbal level of awareness. After spending an hour in isolation with my eyes taped shut and nor touching anything with my hands, I was led our into the performance space where my assistant had placed a variety of substances in six small glass dishes. As I touched the material, I tried to give an immediate vocal response to what I felt both emotionally and physically, without the benefit of visual information. I expected the shock of bringing a solitary state of mind into the heightened awareness of a performance situation to intensify my experience, and the poignancy of my 'prepared' state to affect the audience. The sounds are presented here in their raw state; it is truly an experimental work with no intentional musical implications or designs. 'Voice Piece: One-Note Internal Resonance Investigation' explores the color spectrum of a single pitch. Circular Song was inspired by the circular breathing technique of horn players. 'Des Accords pour Teeny', an exploration of multi-phonetic technique or choral singing, was dedicated to Teeny Duchamp. In much of my early work I dealt with sound as a physical presence, sculpting it, building up layers in complex constructions, letting the flow of thought and the visualization of sonic gestures direct my studio art. Voice Is the Original Instrument was both a statement of purpose and a manifesto as, through various experiments and explorations, I tried to rediscover the basic function of the voice as the first means of expression as well as to release untapped sonic material. As I gave my classically trained voice its freedom, letting it direct me toward new places and ideas, I developed what was a unique vocabulary and used those sounds to score an orchestra of layered voices."

SVARD, LOIS: Other Places CD (LCD 3052). $13.00

Solo piano recordings of works by an usual trio of composers: Elodie Lauten, Jerry Hunt & Kyle Gann. Svard's style is soft, eloquent and pedal-extensive, resulting in a sublime, low-key recording. "Elodie Lauten's 'Variations on the Orange Cyle' is a richly-textured combination of transcribed improvisation and intentional notation that creates lush, every-changing tapestries of sound. Jerry Hunt's 'Trapani (stream)' is a contemplative work exploring different facets of sound through a progression of tremolo chords played with a variety of voicings, dynamics and pedalings. Kyle Gann's 'Desert Sonata' is based on his unique rhythmic language developed from the multi-tempo structures of Conlon Nancarrow and the dances of the Hopi, Zuni and other Pueblo Indians."

JENKINS, LEROY: Solo CD (LCD 3061). $13.00

Solo violin and viola, recorded live in Santa Fe, 10/24/92. Jenkins was an early member of the AACM, founded the crucial Revolutionary Music Ensemble with Sirone & Jerome Cooper and has been one of the most gifted and rewarding voices in the world of fluid violin communication for decades now.

DOWNTOWN ENSEMBLE: Downtown Only CD (LCD 3081). $13.00

"The Downtown Ensemble was formed in 1983 by co-directors, Daniel Goode and William Hellerman. The Ensemble has several points of focus: music for open (unspecified) instrumentation, emerging composers, commissions, graphic scores, ritual/intermedia music, and large ensemble works. While the Ensemble has a consistent core of players, performances always involve a variety of other artists. There have been over fifty such collaborations since the group's inception. This Lovely Music CD presents four of them!" Features works by: Goode, Hellerman, Mary Jane Leach and Peter Zummo.

MANN AND THE USE, CHRIS: CD (LCD 3091). $13.00

HUMBERT, JACQUELINE: Chanteuse CD (LCD 4001). $13.00

"Chanteuse is a collection of new or previously unreleased songs, many of which were written for me by a broad range of contemporary American composers. My performance style resides somewhere between musical speech and melodic interpretation in a lyrical, poetic approach to the articulation of words, capitalizing on their inherent sound shapes, vernacular and colloquial origins, and intricate vocal rhythms. (Really!) I am fortunate to have such a wonderful variety of works to present in this collection, all of which extend, reinterpret, and re-conceive what we think of as belonging to the musical genre, song. (JH). Since the early 1970s, Humbert has collaborated as performer, visual artist, and designer with leading innovative artists, filmmakers, choreographers and composers worldwide. Her approach to vocal performance has influenced many composers, and the works in Chanteuse represent a new and exciting extension and reinterpretation of the 'song' genre." Composers: Sam Ashley, David Rosenboom, Joan La Barbara, George Manupelli, Jacqueline Humbert, James Tenney, Larry Polansky, Alvin Lucier, Gustavo Matamoros, Katrina Krinsky, Jacqueline Humbert & David Rosenboom.

ASHLEY & PAUL DE MARINIS, ROBERT: In Sara, Mencken, Christ And Beethoven There Were Men And Wo CD (LCD 4921). $26.00

New definitive CD reissue of this original Cramps label album from 1974, an early classic from Robert Ashley (previous CD version on Cramps is now deleted). This deluxe slipcased version features an 110 page book, reproducing the original Wolgamot text along with fascinating liner notes explaining the whole project from Keith Waldrop and Robert Ashley. The CD features one long composition with Ashley reading a text by poet John Barton Wolgamot. The poem has 128 stanzas; each stanza is made up of the same phrase, into which are introduced four variables, three are names or groups of names or constructions of names, and the fourth variable is formed by the adverb of the active verb. The result is considered "one of the most unusual and difficult linguistic textures in the English language". The underlying music is supplied by Paul DeMarinis on Moog synthesizer. Ashley on De Marinas: "(Paul) has elaborated seven different modular combinations, each of which can be controlled by programmed impulses. These derive from the sound of the reading of the poem passed through the regeneration high frequency filter and successively translated into a series of command impulses."

LUCIER, ALVIN: Theme CD (LCD 5011). $13.00

New 1999 release previously unrecorded Lucier works from the mid-90s. Features: "Music for Piano with Magnetic Strings" (performed by Lois Svard, piano), "Theme" (Sam Ashley, Thomas Buckner, Jacqueline Humbert and Joan La Barbara, voices set to a poem by John Ashbery) and "Music For Gamelan Instruments, Microphones, Amplifiers and Loudspeakers" (performed by the Wesleyan University Gamelan Ensemble). "'Music For Piano...' is a work in which the strings of a piano sound by themselves. Several EBows (small electromagnets used primarily with electric guitars) are placed on the strings of the piano. The pianist works from a prose score which describes the process and suggests (s)he freely position and reposition five EBows on the piano strings, creating strands of sounds of varying density and texture. Much of the pianist's time is spent listening for harmonics, audible beating, occasional rhythms produced as one or more magnets vibrate against adjacent strings, and other acoustic phenomena. 'Theme' sets a poem of John Ashbery's to music. Lucier didn't want to violate the flow of the words of the poem by fragmentation or any other cut-up method. The stanzas seemed musical enough just as they were, and he wanted the audience to hear the poem more or less in its pristine state. So working intuitively and by ear, he wrote out the poem for four readers in the order it was written, repeating words and phrases, overlapping and superimposing them in various ways. To 'set' the poem, he inserted microphones into the mouths of various vessels, including a small milk bottle, a sea shell, a vase, and an empty ostrich egg, to pick up the words as they were sounding inside the vessels. The readers speak normally, allowing the pitches of their voices which match those resonances of the vessels to create musical sounds."

LUCIER, ALVIN: Still Lives CD (LCD 5012). $13.00

"Three new pieces for piano soloist with accompanying pure wave oscillation. Titles: 'Music for Piano with Slow Sweep Pure Wave Oscillators' (performed/composed for Marilyn Nonken), "On the carpet of leaves illuminated by the moon" (performed/composed for Ryuko Mizutani), and 'Still Lives' (performed/composed for Joseph Kubera). All pieces exhibit Lucier's unique take on performance-environment concepts. Quiet, melancholy, rather soothing. Gaining age with grace I suppose." — Hrvatski

In addition to electronic stalwarts Komputer and White Town, Robopop introduces new acts from the UK, USA and Europe, many of whom are releasing material on dedicated labels which are springing up in a way not seen since the early-80s emergence of Mute and Some Bizarre."

LUSAFRICA/BMG (FRANCE):

CRAIG & PEPE BRADOCK, CARL: Angola 12" (BMG 10861). $9.00

"No needs to introduce the greatest diva of Cabo Verde Cesaria Evora. Today the compliment is musical and it is served by the masters of beats and house music, with the likes of Château Flight, Soldiers of Twilight, 4heroe, Osunlade, François K (all remixes to be released soon).... Coordinated by the infamous French Label Versatile, these remixes pay the tribute of house music to the so-called 'world' rhythms and to the melancholic sensuality of Cesaria's ballads. The track 'Angola' comes from the 1992 album Miss Perfumado. Carl Craig's work: straight to the point. Nine minutes of pure progressive and raw house music, the lucky DJs who already tried it exploded the dance-floor. Hypnotic! Pepe Bradock offers first a happy version of 'Angola' with strong basses; then his dub version plunges straight into the depth of 'Angola's' sound."

LUX NIGRA (GERMANY):

ZORN: The City's Collapsing (But Not Tonight) CD (LN 14 CD). $15.00

"The City's Collapsing (But Not Tonight) is the first album release by (Michael) Zorn, who grew up and lives in East Berlin. Musical influences that seep through in his own work were, on the one hand, mid-eighties electronic dance and pop around Depeche Mode, but all-important has been Berlin's Hardwax record store, where he shares more than a few roots with the Din and Chain Reaction labels, from Detroit to dub reggae to British electronica. The 12 tracks of the album expand on the blue summer night mood of his first 12", fueling its relaxed electro calm with the undercurrent tension of more upbeat techno. Zorn's refined focus on atmosphere, melodic development as well as groove and rhythmic arrangement lead to a record that remains straight and accessible without becoming backward and impersonal. With its modest restraint from sound trickery, Zorn's methods and sensibility leave him plenty of room to play with ambiguities on and between all levels, which mark the main source of lasting fun for the listener. Hence, while DJ's will pick out particular favourites either for floor or lounge, the album works just as well at home, where a varied but coherent flow reveals Zorn's unique voice."

ZORN: The City's Collapsing (But Not Tonight) 2LP (LN 14 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

BIOCHIP C.: 2001 CD (LN 15 CD). $15.00

"Like 1984, 2001 is a date that recalls classic outlooks to a future that we're leaving behind. While Martin Damm has always enjoyed playing with retro elements particularly in his electro works, his game has never been so refined, veering off in multiple uncharted directions yet always clinging to a foothold in abandoned futures. As a result, a detached melancholy pervades the album, which offers a variety of scope that can only be called cinematic and a particular rhythmic inventiveness stretching far into uneven grounds, all presented in clear and richly detailed production that is the author's trademark. Complete with his subtle, teasing humour, the whole approach of Martin Damm is a rare one. Ignoring the innocent soundtrack-of-my-life requirements that define the pop of the day, and oblivious to the taboos of cool, it provides us with the most truthful mirror possible, a short but bright glimpse into the ongoing collective dream of future that never happens."

VA: Lux Nigra Allstars CD (LN 21 CD). $16.00

"Celebrating five years since its inception, this is a comprehensive 15 track overview of the Lux Nigra label from Berlin, comprising much of its extended family and relations. Artists featured include label owner Multipara, Thaddi Herrmann, Arovane, Zorn, Biochip C., Society Suckers and a host of other names, providing an invaluable cross-section of this most ambitious, diverse label and 6 previously unreleased bonus tracks. Couched in one of the finest pieces of packaging we've seen in a long while, this is a highly developed and yet personal compilation, like an inspired mixtape given as an introduction, by a bastion of the Berlin underground." Artists: Multipara feat. Blaxista, Thaddi Herrmann + Zorn, Blackjewishgays, Christian Gierden, Biochip C, Rockin' Pony, Arovane, Artificial Duck Flavour, Zorn, Lords of Gabber, Society Suckers, Blätter.

ZORN: Apnoe LP (LN 22 LP). $12.00

"A well-balanced combination of influences lies at the heart of the nocturnal urban landscape of Michael Zorn's music — mid-eighties electronic dance and pop around Depeche Mode, but most importantly, the selection of Berlin's Hardwax record store, with its particular combination of Detroit, dub reggae and British electronica. Apnoe is his long-awaited second EP for Lux Nigra. On the six tracks of Apnoe Michael Zorn continues his quest for an accessible combination of complex and unusual grooves with moody melodic atmospheres. It is less upbeat that his album (and his live sets), but retains the focus on rhythmic energy. Most importantly though, this is Michael Zorn's darkest record. Always softened the edges of his music, moments of sadness, despair and silent horror shine through — a cathartic moment in his discography."

VA: Marianengraben LP (LN 24 LP). $12.00

"Revisiting the defining track from Zorn's Apnoe mini album which dropped late last year. Marianengraben is literally the deepest part of the ocean, where all is murk, mystery and darkness. First remix to the line is Christian Kleine, who by now should need no introduction to readers of these pages, for a wonderfully deep piece of four-four, an aquatic visit to some of the territory his last Firm EP suggested. Sublime stuff. Next up is Boulderdash, Hans Möller, one half of the much fancied Boy Robot, who settles on bass elements, movin the track further from its steppers basis to a deep sea ride, slippery but still with a huge amount of bleeped-out-funk. Arne Van Petegem's Styrofoam project ties up the first side, pushing the tempo into a proper 004 dubsteppa style, adding biscuit tin drums and some nifty melodic exploration. Hey-o-Hansen begin faithful to the original, then preside over a more dubbed up, rustic skewed folk approach. Pony m, known to his mum as Sasha Rozet, half of Rockin' Pony, develops on his fine album for Lux, shifting and altering perspective with a dope head nodder, while Blätter's Akira Shiozawa takes us apparently inside the diving bell, with a delicious, breathy, ethereal deep dub. Jonesco from Nottingham first surprised us with his lovely electroacoustic album for Zorn's own Engelszorn imprint, here he sets everything to rewind with uncanny and pleasantly unsettling results."

SONIC SUBJUNKIES: *Molotov Lounge LP (LN 25). $13.00

"Sonic Subjunkies is the project started by Thaddi Herrmann back in the mid 90's together with his close friend Rob Marvin. The pair were the first act signed to Alec Empire's fledgling DHR imprint and their live shows (in particular at the Suicide Club back in '95) became legendary for their blend of obliterated junglist outbursts, decimated breaks and a realignment of classic Hardcore traditions. By the time Molotov Lounge (their first and only album) came out on CD format back in 1998, Thaddi and Rob had decided to disband and move on to fresher pastures. Molotov Lounge was released to a hail of acclaim and became the definitive album of its kind — a landmark blend of industrial beat posturing and innovative sampling twists that re-shaped Hardcore into something altogether more fierce and uncompromising. The album was cut for vinyl a year later in 1999 but never saw the light of day...until now. This limited vinyl edition is at long last available — courtesy of Berlin's most uncompromising label — Lux Nigra, and marks the end of a process started over 10 years ago in a small Berlin bedroom. Molotov Lounge is a landmark album, a dark stretch of brooding drum machines, chopped-up breaks and twisted Manga samples — it's one of the definitive albums of its kind and stands as a testament to some the influences and sounds that inspired us back in the late 90's and that still sound so good today."

VA: *No Movement No Sound No Memories Removed 12" (LUX 03). $11.00

Remix EP of an original track by Thaddi Herrmann (Sonic Subjunkies) & m.z.; the original track was issued on the Biophilia Allstars comp LP on Lux Nigra a year or so ago — but there is no artist name for the project. This new EP features six tracks, in dark, minimalist styles (not in any way DHR-like); remixing the original track, with a new edit of the original as well. "This 12" will feature remixes by Arovane, Pole, Multipara, Artificial Duck Flavour, and No. 9 (Fat Cat, man behind the Din label), plus an edit of the original track."

M (GERMANY):*MAURIZIO: *M Series CD (MCD). $16.00

"The classic Maurizio/M-Series CD, originally released in 1997 and out of print for quite a while now, is being remastered and reissued in a DigiPak. The track list features Dub-Techno essentials like 'M5', 'M4.5', 'M6' or 'M7' (CD-exclusive mix) some edited for CD release — still kicking! Maurizio is a Berlin minimal techno producer, aligned with Basic Channel/Chain Reaction, who has also recorded with Juan Atkins as 3MB. He has produced a series of 7 12"s on his own self-named label (just referred to as the "M" label for lack of anything else) and this CD compiles some of that material. This launches deep, dub-inflected layers of hiss, perfectly phased-away computer squelch, and pummeling bottom into a totally satisfying array of aesthetically assured sound. Tracklisting: M06 (original 12 mix), M07 (unreleased mix), M04 (edit), M05 (original mix), Domina (original 12" mix), M07 (edit), M04.5 (edit), M06 (edit)."

M:NARSITIK (SWITZERLAND):*LANDOVITCH, VELMA B.: *Cyclique2 (Series for Spectacles No. 1) CD (MN 001 CD). $15.00

2001 releases, in stock for the first time. "Velma B. Landovitch is a side project of the Swiss band Velma, already known for their excellent and special hypnotic post-pop-electronic music. For this record, most of the main 'themes' and songs are taken from their Cyclique album (Emperor Norton/Noise product) and reworked in a more 'abstract' way. It's in this atmosphere that Cyclique 2 takes place, a never seen and unique performance which combines electronic music with a visual aspect, built around a cyclical idea of course. This record is the soundtrack of this spectacle and can be described as minimal, hypnotic, rich, original and unique. Electronic loops, abstract drones, soft electro pulses making rhythms, frequencies, abstract rhythms, clicks, saturation cuts, whispers, sometimes enigmatic discreet far piano notes are being played.... this is a never heard before and unique work, a secret garden, a treasure of sound and structures."

LANDOVITCH, VELMA B.: *Natal (Series for Spectacles No. 2) CD (MN 002 CD). $15.00

"Another record for this Velma side project. Natal is the music which has been composed specially for Swiss choreographer Fabienne Berger's modern dance performance with visual/projections. Minimal electronic loops play while enigmatic and beautiful sound landscapes fly in the background, aquatic ambient sounds follow a linear structure, heavy ultra bass frequencies start pulsing to form complex rhythms, while different clicks and cuts give it a strange but captivating aspect. Long fragile tremolo drones and soundscapes tremble, creating something like beautiful northern and deep atmospheric landscapes. Then some abstract linear beats come in with repetitive sounds around static electronic drones, more sound computer manipulations.... This record really sounds like 'never heard' and unique, somewhere between electronic and minimal music, done in a very clever and brilliant way."

LANDOVITCH, VELMA B.: *Finalé (Series for Spectacles No. 3) CD (MN 003 CD). $15.00

"Third and final release in the 'Music for spectacles' series by Velma B. Landovitch, the more ambient/abstract side project of the Lausanne, Switzerland band Velma. Final release, and surely the best. This release explores more rhythmic patterns built up with loops, digital and abstract sounds, computer manipulations, drones, cold and enigmatic atmospheres, computer saturations, frequencies, electronic reverberated ambiences, beautiful abrasive abstract computer landscapes, with sometimes a distant voice which comes into the electronic loops mixed with far abstract-computer cold atmospheres, while some discreet enigmatic guitar notes meet low abstract sound frequencies looped to create repetitive sounds landscapes. All these superposing themselves maybe in the way that Steve Reich does minimal music to create kinds of intense and dynamic movements. Definitely a very novative and intelligent work, electronic-experimental music with a minimal/evolutive and clever approach, in always changing and evolving and keeping entertaining. A monument of original ideas and sounds put together in a brilliant way."

VELMA: *Panoramique CD (MN 005 CD). $15.00

"The music of Velma could be described as a post-electronic work with an intelligent touch of minimalism, created in quite an experimental way. They have put together guitar, voice, and drums, with electronics (such as samples, loops, and many other sounds). The cross between machines and instruments with a more human touch make their music very interesting and exciting. 'Parole' is the result of some days they spent in studio in October 1999 to create songs specially for Stetic records. The result is a more minimal work than usual, made with different loops and electronic sounds crossed with minimal guitar melodies and other surprising effects." Includes remixes by: Pluramon, Jan Jelinek, Ma Cherie For Painting, Köhn, Alog, Bruce Gilbert, Liryc E.H., Terre Thaemlitz.

M4S (NETHERLANDS):*PRONT, HARCO: *Jibberish CD (M4S 022 CD). $17.00

"It was less than a year ago that Harco Pront emerged from obscurity with his stunning debut release Skifo EP on M4S. His tracks, loaded with an uncompromising intensity, were immediately picked up by DJ's like Gilles Peterson, Carl Craig and John Peel, to name a few. With his second M4S release Epos, Harco enhanced his status as major upcoming talent. Harco captures the raw funk vibe, adding some wicked, fragmented drum programming and fat grooves to create his special blend of 'Harconics'; deranged vocals, ragged blues licks, dirty bass galore, acoustic and electronic frenzy. On his debut album Jibberish, Harco presents no less than 33 tracks, varying from miniature guitar songs to far out electronica. With his sense for 'old fashioned' songwriting as well as avant garde dance music, Harco combines the best of both worlds in a fresh and original way that's already proven to be irresistible for many DJ's, as well as home listeners."

SONAR LODGE: *Needlework CD (M4S 024CD). $19.00

"Richard van Kruijsdijk & Marie-Claudine Vlanvlemen's eponymous debut Sound Effects was hailed by many as a great collection of intricate nu-jazz / trip noir / future soul gems. Their four EP's on M4S, until now only released on 12" vinyl, are equally evocative, more danceable without being identikit, less vocal, more instrumental, yet just as at home on your bedroom stereo as in a club. Remastered and mixed into a 72 minute trip of jazz influenced broken beats, blurring the lines between live and studio, sampling and live playing, Needlework displays the authentic musical logic of Sonar Lodge, presented by themselves as well as interpreted by renowned remixers like Domu, Atomhockey's Kasar, Attica Blues' Tony Nwachukwu, Relaxo Abstracto, Max 404 and Cellvoice. Starting with tight broken beats, Needlework digs ever deeper into more acoustic, loose drummed nu-jazz with a darker edge, maintaining the same clarity in sound and atmosphere. Needlework has become much more than just a megamix of crossfaded tracks, it is a beat-based collection of songs that cover the range between minimal electronics to maximum jazz-funk complexity, inviting both jazz aficionados and clubbers to bask luxuriantly in the seductive, cinematic ambience."

Beautiful, higher-minimal, mostly acoustic improvisation, that is supposedly the first part of a trilogy of CDs.

SAKANA: *My Dear CD (MABO 007). $20.00

First release in a few years from this strange Japanese pop/folk duo featuring the female voice of Pocopen and the guitar of Nishiwaki. With Katsui Yuji (violin).

VA: Industry Wannabes And Radio Anomalies CD (DEC 11). $15.00

Phone pranks and other approximate forms of human behavior, spoon-feeding the Celebrities at their Worst generation, one more time. "The funniest rare shit you only heard about from your college roommate in the most hushed of tones." Features: "J&H Productions, Paul Super-Apple (demos and song commentary sent to Keith Richards in 1980, "taking the concept of 'Industry Wannabe' to previously uncharted heights in this mind-bogglingly heartfelt plea"), Poor Naive Mary ("a tantalized actuality from the upcoming Computer God multi-volume anthology chronicling KDIL, 'America's most notorious pirate radio station'"), FCC Mexican Penis Test ("a classic of the prank call genre"), Judy Mae vs Mufresboro ("these Bible-Belt Baptists are out for heretical blood"), Biafra ("a disturbing dinner-time teaser from another upcoming Computer God series, Celebrity Endorsements and Questionable PSA's"), Cambodian Refugee Calls ("truly groundbreaking work...the most exalted among all prank-calls").

VA: Speaks!: Celebrities at their Worst Vol. 2.9 CD (DEC 13). $15.00

"A completely unexpected Volume in this series of legendary spew containing 73 minutes of material not being included in the forthcoming 'official' Volume Three. Opens with truly sickening Christmas material with Joan Crawford and her children; Roger Waters, Courtney Love, Melvin Belli, and Billy Crystal throwing tantrums onstage or on the phone; Mark Lindsay/Raiders psychedelic 'Swings' doll and Pontiac ads; Sharon Tate's tanning tips; various filth from leading ladies Angelyne, Florence Henderson, Talullah Bankhead, and Mae West (ads and a reverse prank phone call, a la Jerry Lewis's 'Bill Lynch'); and total race baiting from Dr. Nina Simone in a lengthy rant that has her hipster interviewer dismayed — as well as the only extant copy of an NBC internal memo: a deluxe produced song-musical sent out to let everyone know how badly the network was performing that year; Peter Frampton's Mazda ad audition and a melange of dozens of 'Voices of the 70s' doing snippets of commercials to promote their ad agency — the entire CD supporting the Computer God's label's assertion that reality is its own best satire. Features a guest appearance from poster boy Marlon Brando and friend."

MAD MONKEY RECORDS:

NEUTRAL: Font Translation Errors CD (MMR 03). $13.50

Re-promotion of this 1999 album. "Neutral, a.k.a. Nicole Elmer, and her lauded album Font Translation Errors, released on Austin's Mad Monkey Records, is a wonderful testament to where electronic music heading. She blends electro, industrial and synth workouts while processing them through the cinematic wringer. Font Translation Errors is piston-punching aesthetics matched up with driving tempos and pristine electronic engineering that recreates the feel of original industrial."

BURNING ROME: Whistler's Bombardier CD (MMR 04). $13.50

"Whistler's Bombardier is a composite of musical textures that inform Mark Kolmar's education and training in musical composition and computer sciences. The album flirts with ambient before hitting a rhythmic stride and a full-on Amen-break-fest on 'The Strength To Be Weak' which will make Hrvtski and Squarepusher run for cover. Always one for variety, Burning Rome also covers downtempo processed-beats and experimental percussion on Whistler's Bombardier, not to mention throwing a loungey climax and dramatic resolution." Includes a remix by Atom Heart.

DEAD HOLLYWOOD STARS: Gone West CD (MMR 05). $13.50

"Guideposts to Dead Hollywood Stars are few and far between, especially for those familiar with Sellekaerts' eclectic electro-industrial experimentalism for such labels as Ant-Zen and Nova Zembla. It's not dance music, but you can dance to their charged down-tempo rhythms. It's not chill-out music, but few things this year will engage your ears and mind like their ambience-washed sound. Should you need a starting point for comparison, look to, off all things, classic country and western music, but not exclusively, as Dead Hollywood Stars operate primarily in the digital realm, generating a mechanical ghost town of down-tempo rhythms amidst glitched breaks."

MADE TO MEASURE (BELGIUM):

GYGIN, BRION: Self-Portrait Jumping CD (MTM 33). $14.00

1993 CD of Brion Gysin's songs, poems and stories, set to music by Ramuntcho Matta, performed by Gysin and Matta, with Don Cherry, Elli Medeiros, Steve Lacy, Lizzy Mercier Descloux & Caroline Loeb, Abdoulaye Prosper Niang, Polo Lombardo, etc. "Album based on texts by the legendary American poet, painter and writer who has influenced two generations of artists. After a brief involvement with the Surrealists, Gysin was one of the first Anglo-Saxons who moved to Morocco in the early Fifties. He became a close friend of William Burroughs', and invented the cut-up technique, which was largely used by the author of The Naked Lunch throughout his work. Recorded shortly before his death in 86, this album is a unique document featuring Brion Gysin singing/raping his own texts on music by Ramuntcho Matta."

MADNET (GERMANY):

MAGIC CARPET (UK):

MAGIC CARPET: CD (MC 1001). $15.00

"Originally released in 1972 on the legendary UK Mushroom label, and is an exquisite blend of sitar (Clem Alford), female vocals (Alisha Sufit), guitar and tabla, producing one of the very few early examples of Eastern Psych Folk. This reissue comes complete with a truly amazing previously unreleased extra track lasting twenty minutes!" This is one of those records that never fails to mesmerize and deserving of its status.

ALFORD, CLEM: Mirror Image CD (MC 1003). $15.00

Reissue of an album from 1974 by the Magic Carpet sitar player. The original album was divided into 2 styles: one side features "electronic sitar" (a contact mic and wah-wah pedal allowing him to duel with electric guitar) and a psych rock backing. Interesting, but ultimately a failure. Side 2 was more traditional Indian classical style. This CD adds a few more recent bonus tracks; 2 relatively bad ones with more contemporary elements, and 2 more classical-moded. A curio that a lot of people are gonna wanna hear, but there's tons of way better Indian stuff available that oughta be checked out first.

MAGIC CARPET: Once Moor CD (MC 1004). $15.00

Reunion album from the mid-90s. "The line up is the same as before ie. sitar, vocals, guitars, tabla, plus dulcimer! There are 8 tracks of music altogether plus a 20 minute new and very dynamic raga from sitar player Clem as a bonus on the CD (LP = just over 40 minutes; CD = just over 60 minutes). It's all new material, but very acoustic and natural sounding, very much in the character of the first LP."

MAGIC CARPET: Once Moor LP (MC 1004 LP). $18.00

Limited LP version.

SUFIT, ALISHA: Alisha Through The Looking Glass CD (SUFIT 010). $15.00

More contemporary sounding solo album from Magic Carpet's vocalist, Alisha Sufit, recorded in 1993. "This recent recording is diverse and richly recorded with guitars, dulcimer, bass, fiddle, mandolin, congas, saxophone, accordion and tabla."

MAGISON (FRANCE):

BAYLE, FRANCOIS: La forme du temps est un cercle CD (MGCB 01). $15.00

Vol. 15. of INA's complete Françoise Bayle series, featuring the 60-minute title piece (from 1999/2001). "Nature — that reservoir of organisms and temporal forms — proposes many patterns to our rhythmic imagination breathing, pulses, ebb and flow, a day's circle or the passage of seasons... My project, the idea behind this work, is to arouse the desire or pleasure of listening by presenting rather temporal perceptions based on their images, figures, impetus and vividness. Several 'moments' therefore that such entities traverse shall attempt to demonstrate special aspects of time's 'grain,' in order to prolong its emotional potential. Here then, are some of time's such figures at work. There is the one that hurries then flees, - the one that pounds and hammers, - that breaks the wave, - that moves backwards and does an about-face, - that splashes into a shower, - that trickles like rain, - that flows, while dripping off, - that slowly forms a bead, - that spurts out in jolts, - that gyrates in a whirl, - that evaporates... Variations from 'knocks' to 'traces,' from a heavy pulse to melody, from a tolling bell and its mysterious concurring powers to the furrows of clouds of dust and orbits circulating at various speeds, not to mention the various 'paces' of the pulse itself. At the end of the five stages, the listener will have completed a trajectory, one of temporal unity beginning from the finest 'grain' and progressively focusing his/her perception in order to discern and identify images and forms. Colors' transience, speeding figures will be resolved in a spiral (the three-dimensional form of a circle), by which the initial sound-image (tolling bells) will infinitely evolve into the final sound-image: that of summer crickets during a night of suspended, dream-like time." — Bayle.

BAYLE, FRANCOIS: Fabulae CD (MGCB 93). $15.00

Vol. 4 of the series. A series of works from 1990-92. "...a polyphony of impacts, a broad, sparkling, iridescent fabric, such as are often to be found in Bayle's works." — F. Druhen.

BAYLE, FRANCOIS: La Main Vide CD (MGCB 96). $15.00

Few things in life are more heavily anticipated around here than a new volume in the Francois Bayle series on INA GRM and here at last is Volume 8. It features a 42 minute work entitled "La Main Vide (The Empty Hand)" which is broken up into three sections and was recorded over the years 1993-95. Beautiful, subtly complex electronic montage from an absolute master, found here at a new height of transcending power — stunning stuff. About the first section, "Rain Stick": "A faint beating mingled with a dull rumbling and the sonorities of a sheet of rain. Work on the haze of indeterminate sounds contrasting with sounds of fixed pitch and resulting in complex, composite textures and masses. The relative austerity of the Experience Acoustique has given way to a style that is generous and poetical. The space has broadened and the rain stick is now surrounded by elegant garlands. The result is almost reminiscent of runs on a baroque organ. We recognize the play of the flute that is so dear to the author, the cascading sounds of glass, the furtive breaths, the shivers, the glissandi in a space that is inhabited, alive. The piece is teeming with ideas, yet it gives an impression of perfect coherence, not so much because of any apparent structure as because of an admirable sense of sequence and coordination." — Jacques Bonnaure.

BAYLE, FRANCOIS: Morceaux de Ciel/Theatre d'ombre CD (MGCB 98). $15.00

"Volume 12 of INA-GRM's Bayle series, pairing one new (1997) 25 Acousmatic work, 'Morceaux de Ciel' ('Pieces of Skies'), with 1988's 'Theatre d'Ombres', previously available with 'Mimameta' on Volume 2 (the now o/p INA-MGCB 91). "Dedicated to Karlheinz Stockhausen, 'Morceaux de Ciel' calls to mind the early successes of electroacoustic music, refers to its earliest finds, the re-injection of a sounds energy into itself gives rise to striated layers of colour circulating amongst themselves and upon which the wave exists before it has been perceived. The sounds move from the inside." Beautiful stuff, on par with anything he's done (or anything that's come out of the INA) over the last 30+ years. Mesmerizing." — Hrvtski.

MAGNATONE:

GROSSMAN TRIO, RICHARD: Remember CD (MGT 512). $12.00

Richard Grossman was a genius, totally free, improvising pianist, who only received minor documentation on the 9 Winds label before cancer took over in 1992. Here's one more artifact of his trio with Alex Cline (perc.) and Ken Filiano (bs). "What more can I tell you? That the guy was without doubt the most important jazz pianist to die since Thelonious Monk, or jazz figure at large (cut off in full creative flight) since Albert Ayler? I say that, you'll think I'm nuts. But enough about dying... and 'importance'. Artists like Richard Grossman don't have a gift, you have a gift: you receive it. Receive this now that you may wake other mornings, many mornings, and not only breath but SIGH." — Richard Meltzer.

MAGNETIC NORTH (UK):

VA: Demagnetized 2CD (MAGNET 13). $16.00

Mid-line release documenting on CD for the first time the best moments from the Magnetic North catalog, run by Dave Clarke before his classic tech-house album Archive 1 blew up in '96. "Double CD gauntlet of output on Dave Clarke's own Magnetic North imprint, which existed for a wink between 92 and 94 and released some serious madness by the likes of Clarke, Russ Gabriel, Christian Vogel, DJ Hell, Adam X & Heather Hart, Woody McBride and Roland Casper (all represented to some extent here, although most tracks are Clarke under guises such as Directional Force, Graphite and Ortanique). Tracks are a varied lot of hard-acid stompers, with a high squiggle factor and supreme backwards-flange-echo programming. Not dated sounding at all. Fill in the gaps between the 'Detroit 101' and 'Advanced Berlin' classes offered, no doubt, at your local community college." — Hrvtski.

MAHOGANI MUSIC:*3 CHAIRS: 3 Chairs 2CD (3CH 003CD). $24.00

Now available as a double CD, the long rumored album from the Detroit supergroup of: Malik Pittman, Theo Parrish, Rick Wilhite, Kenny Dixon. As expected, awesome deep-space house, in the grand KDJ tradition. "The long awaited full-length release from Detroit's famous foursome is now available. Acclaimed throughout Europe and Japan for their skills on the turntable, this release proves their might in the studio as well. While each individual producer's sound is present, 3 Chairs seamlessly melds their talents into a cohesive blend of unforgettable funk. The CD includes 6 songs not available on the triple-pak vinyl."

RANDOLPH: About Last Night 12" (MAHOG 009EP). $7.00

Latest release on Moodymann's label. One track, three versions (vocal, instrumental, dub). "This is the first single from the full-length album/CD This is What It Is scheduled for release later in the year on Mahogani Music for bass player and producer Randolph."

MAINPAL (DENMARK):*GOODIEPAL & FRIENDS: LP (MAIN 002). $15.00

"Eleven tracks shared between the above group of friends and accomplices. Mr. Goodiepal is known for his awesome 7" series in conjunction with V/M Goodiebag and Demonbag. Current releases include a split release with Opiate on Thomas Knaks Hobby Industries label and a 7" return favour with Unbearable acts, Nish and Cursor Miner. And mixes and tracks for District 6 and City-Centre-Offices amongst many more. Gamers In Exile and My Selfish Desire are part of the Unbearable family, of Italian extraction here they experiment further than the usual Unbearable music fine and dandy. Per Hoier, Tordis, and an unknown oriental fellow are all key members of Mr. Goodiepals world and share his wonderful vision. Musically we find found sound manipulation encompassing, horticultural, trains travelling sideways (not intentionally), laptops out on holiday — taking photos of bears in the woods. Gales blowing from the devils stomach. imagination running wild. Do not stare at the vinyl young child. For lovers of Mego, Dat Politics, V/M, and laptop hoppers of planet earth."

MAJORA:*SUN CITY GIRLS: Valentines For Matahari CD (MAJ 7001). $13.00

Reissue of this all-time classic first issued on LP-only in 1993, and the first of a series of CD reissues of Sun City Girls material on this label. Chronologically, this is the 8th Sun City Girls album, following the first 3 on Placebo, and the early Majora titles: Torch Of The Mystics, Dawn of the Devi, Live From the Planet Boomerang & Bright Surroundings Dark Beginnings. Majora never issued information as to the source of their material, but the albums were laboriously edited for home listening perfection and these few records documented this American band's apex in terms of inspiration, instrumental explosivity and third mind delirium. Mostly recorded live on earth (not necessarily in front of other humans), the material on Valentines... is mixed blazingly loud, up front and in your face, particularly notable for the special crystalline nature of Rick Bishop's guitar playing — a melding of psychedelics, sharding post-Ginn scale extensions and Eastern-tinged luminosity. Alan Bishop's bass is in full accompanying force, pushing the improvisational zig zaggy element of the band to its core (although perhaps best known for his sparkling skills 'n manners of deception, manipulation & charm, Alan just might be the most significantly underrated bass player of the last 15 years!). Charles Gocher's clattering traps fill out the remaining spaces in the middle perfectly. The record starts with the deliriously powerful "Black Tent" and closes with the next-planet conversation piece, "Circus Haddam", by which time things have cracked up pretty goddamn far. A most significant record, back again.

SUN CITY GIRLS: Bright Surroundings Dark Beginnings CD (MAJ 7002). $13.00

2nd CD in the Majora reissue program, this was the 7th Sun City Girls album, first issued on LP-only in 1993. It contains just three long tracks, opening with the ultra-gorgeous Eastern-laced ballad "The Venerable Song (The Meaning Of Which Is No Longer Known)" — a track which features a throbbing Alan Bishop bass-line mantra, much exotic Charles Gocher percussion and some unbelievably gliding lip numbrness in the vocal dept. — one of the most instantly recognizable sounds in modern music. "Omami Red Light" is one of those staggering trio cuts where Rick Bishop takes off for outer limits guitar-wise, heavily psychedelic and emotionally expressive, easily blowing away so much "real" psych that we all have to wade through. The final track is "The Multiple Hallucinations of an Assassin" — a glowing improv-rock instrumental piece of perfectly intense resonance. The sequencing gives you an ideal feel for the mesmerizing frequencies this band was intent on emitting during the height of their live activity years, an era in American music when they were as threatening, confounding and potentially awe-inspiring as anyone that could be named. Yet another classic document.

DETROIT, EDDY: Immortal Gods CD (MAJ 7003). $13.00

CD reissue of the first (of two) self released albums put out by Eddy Detroit (his third album would come out many years later on Majora, Jungle Captive, in 1997. Very exotic cult folk and primitive rock album, led by the irrepressible vocal presence of Eddy. "A reissue of more material from the early 80's Phoenix underground music scene, contemporary with Paris 1942; this time none other than the first LP by Eddy Detroit... this was self released in 1982 and has been pretty impossible to find for quite a few years. Featuring an all star lineup including Mary and Dan Clark (Victory Acres), Charlie Gocher and Alan Bishop (Sun City Girls), James Verlaine (aka J. Akkari from Paris 1942) and others, this has turned out to be one of my favorite records documenting a scene I pissed away a whole lot of my just barely post adolescence loitering in and around." — Nick Schultz.

CRAWLSPACE: The Exquisite Fucking Beauty Of Crawlspace LP (MAJ CR). $9.00

This might be the most perfectly zoned 'Space album to date. The side-long title track is a trance-jam epic, and there are a few people who've wasted $600 in the last year so buying Can bootlegs from '76 who oughta get their priorities in order. The second side continues with 2 great exploratory tabs of nada-research and improvisation.

CRAWLSPACE: The Dark Folds of Infinity Grow Pink With Desire LP (MAJ CR2). $9.00

Second full length for Majora. Dense, complex spaced jamming blurb from an extended collective form of Crawlspace, featuring synthesizers, pennywhistle, Piping Chanter, subliminal drums, autoharp, clarinet, chimes, vocals and more. One of the most tweaked items in their now extensive discography.

TOTAL: Here, Time Is Space 2LP (MAJ HER). $11.00

This is the 3rd Total album, following the stunning Beyond the Rim debut and the Sky Blue Void CD on Frek Records UK. Total is the solo project of Skullflower's Matthew Bower, and here he presents 4 sides of long, glorious washes of guitar noise splendor.

Q, LESLIE: The Casual Plane LP (MAJ LQ2). $9.00

Second solo album of spectacular personal intimacy; absolutely hammered acoustic guitar mantra-esque tunes and enchanting droned vocals on top. This is a sound for many unanswered dreams.

NATISUTA HETEKATA: Ki LP (MAJ NAT). $8.00

Little is known about this group, but they apparently reside in Finland and were turned on to Majora by the legendary Bad Vugum label. Featuring three Japanese guys (exchange students in Finland?) and two decidedly Nordic-named members (Ari & Petri), they play (numerous) guitars, bass and drums in an instrumental pummel style not entirely dissimilar to the trance/jam stylings most prominently displayed by Vermonster during their Holy Sound Of American Pipe sessions. One long track entitled "Ki", spread out over two sides. A completely frenzied mess, with guitars extrapolating all over the place.

Q, LESLIE: Presque Vu! LP (MAJ PRE). $8.00

Leslie Q is a new discovery from Tennessee I believe, who records songs in a solo bedroom style that are startling in their immediacy, power and ability to fly out of the known universe. Really rough textured acoustic guitar, insanely personal vocals, perfectly realized individualistic style. While Lou Guru and the rest of the Lo-fi-kill-me-now generation feverishly scour their Boy's Life back issue set-collections for subject matter and inspiration, it's nice to hear somebody maintain & actually add to the Real Person cannon.

Q, LESLIE: Other Space 7" (MAJ SPA). $5.00

Final copies of this very limited single from 1995 or so.

MANHUNT (UK):*VA: Manhunt 12" (MHUNT 018 EP). $10.00

Vinyl EP version.

MANIFESTO:*BUCKLEY, TIM: The Dream Belongs To Me CD (MFO 40706). $15.00

"Rare and Unreleased Recordings 1968/1973. In his nine-year career, Buckley had a prolific output, releasing nine studio albums by the age of 27, beginning with Tim Buckley in 1966 and ending with Look at the Fool in 1974. During his brief life, he incorporated a wide range of styles into his music, including folk, rock, and jazz. Manifesto has discovered eight recordings from late in Buckley's career, from early 1973, several months before he went into the studio to record Sefronia. That album has often been criticized as over-produced and out-of-character, but these tracks offer fresh insight to what might have been. Included are two songs that have never been heard before, 'Falling Timber' and 'The Dream Belongs to Me'. In addition, we have included six bonus tracks from 1968. These six recordings, including some of Buckley's most beloved works ('Song to the Siren,' 'Sing a Song for You,' and 'Buzzin' Fly) were previously unreleased, except for the internet-only CD Works in Progress (Rhino Handmade 1999)."

MANTRA (FRANCE):*HENRY, PIERRE: Messe de Liverpool/Pierres Reflexchies CD (MAN 023). $16.00

"...Liverpool" is a piece from 1967 with cool, eerie sound-texts; "Reflechies" is an almost anthemic, crescendo-building electronic work from 1982. Limited remaining stock.

RIBEIRO, CATHERINE: Fenetre Ardente CD (MAN 081). $8.00

Recent (1994) studio album.

VA: In The Land of Mantra CD (MAN 102). $8.00

Budget priced label sampler featuring album tracks by Dashiell Hedayat, ADII, Tim Black, Gong, Reich, Riley, Henry, etc. I remember the day when they used to give these things away for free. Limited stock of this deleted version, reduced price.

HOPPER, HUGH: Best Soft CD (MAN 105). $8.00

"Compilation features 12 of the most interesting songs composed by Hugh Hopper, ex-Soft Machine bass player." Poorly annotated comp. of material from solo albums and Hopper-led sessions issued under his name 1973-1983. Limited stock of this deleted item, reduced price.

MARGINAL TALENT (GERMANY):*SCHNITZLER, CONRAD: 00/44 CD (MT 366). $15.00

"He is melting music and experiments of a new kind of art. He is using technical devices not to create well-known sounds but to alienate them. He is working between 'intermedia and structured noise'. 00/44 is dramatic electronic music composed, produced, arranged and mixed at Con's own studio by Schnitzler in September 1993."

SCHNITZLER, CONRAD: Gold CD (MT 526). $17.00

"A real sensation for lovers of electronic music. Gold is for insiders a real gem. Although generally known that Conrad had quite a few unreleased recordings from the 1970s, this recording remained a legend for Conrad's many fans, and was never released, until now. Think about it, Conrad, together with Mobius And Roedelius as Kluster, released their Eruption album which influenced many of Germany's most respected artists, like Kraftwerk and Can, an album which today, as an original pressing, fetches 500 Euro or more on the collectors market. Gold is from the same era, recorded 1974 -1978, and considered by many as one of his most important albums, eagerly waited by his many fans. It is one of the first albums he recorded on his own, free from compromise and devoted to his artistic vision, locked up and unheard for almost thirty years."

MARGUERITA RECORDS (NETHERLANDS):*DOUBLE DUTCH: Plan Of Action 12" (MAR 0044). $9.00

"One of Hollands obscure electro labels returns with another fine piece of raw electro. After the previous very well recieved releases (Mar 0036 and Mar 0039 by Edo8 and Proskool) its now Double Dutch (also known as Pro skool, Ototax and Cosmic Force and partly Edo8) who delivers some raw Drexicyan electro which would fit perfect on labels such as Underground Resistance and V-max to name something...This ones for the freaks out there."

E8: Cruise Control 12" (MAR 0047). $9.00

"Fast driving Model 500 influenced electro cuts (in the tradition of UR, Vmax records, Direct beat). Two shorter darker driving cuts and two longer more conventional/traditional Detroit influenced tracks. Good uncompromising driving techno electro on this obscure Dutch label."

EDO-8: Neon Light/Mirror 12" (MAR 0054). $11.00

"Yess.. Marguerita is back. The obscure little label from Holland (owned by the Cosmic Force guys) with some badd ass uptempo electro shit. This is true electro for the die-hards. This is as far away from all the 80's retro stuff and electro clash as Michael Jackson is from playing in a kindergarten right now (not sure if this stupid joke makes any sense...but you get the point). Two dark haunting uptempo tracks and a long slowburner on the flip in a true classic Detroit metroplex way."

MARINA (GERMANY):

THOMAS VS MAXWELL EXPLOSION, PETER: Opium 12" (MA 41). $11.00

"German master of soundtrack and easy listening art brings you here one of his funkiest tracks called 'Opium'. Gets the remix treatment by Bungalow Records artists Maxwell Explosion & Dauerfish. Comes in a 4-color picture sleeve — a must for all early 70s sound-track fans."

FREE DESIGN, THE: Cosmic Peekaboo CD (MA 52 CD). $14.50

"One of the most idiosyncratic and original groups from the sixties returns: The Free Design — cited as a main influence by artists like Stereolab (who named an entire EP after the group), The High Llamas, Saint Etienne and Cornelius (who reissued their sixties recordings on his own Trattoria label). Cosmic Peekaboo presents the first new material by The Free Design in almost 30 years. Performed by the original line up that recorded their 1967 debut album Kites Are Fun, Cosmic Peekaboo is a complex masterpiece of unique beauty, abstract vocal harmonies and truly unusual arrangements of all new original songs."

THOMAS, PETER: Moon Flowers And Miniskirt CD (MA 56 CD). $14.50

New digipak version for 2003, with 2 previously unreleased tracks. A collection of tracks from the late 60s/early 70s by Germany's leading film composer, who has been described as "Germany's answer to Burt Bacharach, Henry Mancini, Esquivel, Stereolab and Aphex Twin all rolled into one." "It seems like Sir Thomas's previous prolificacy is finally starting to pay off. Whatever quality control there was to begin with has yet to collapse; this has to be some of the most dauntingly odd music to find it's recent vogue with the jet-set types... Here's the hippy dippy/dawn of electronics era of Thomas's long career. Everything from Perrey/Kingsley-esque synth simplicity to easy-soul stirrers (the track 'Black Power' is sung by none other than Donna Summer, her 'first ever recorded vocal', pretty amazing) to fuzz-drenched psychedelic-cop-jazz to, well, whatever you'd categorize something called 'Rockin' Computer'... The exotica revival is almost 10 years strong now & we're finally starting to hit paydirt. Hallelujah." — Hrvatski.

MARKANT (GERMANY):*MARKANT: #10 10" (MARKANT 10). $18.00

Limited stock.

MARKANT: #14 LP (MARKANT 14). $18.00

Volume #14, which is the number that follows #13. Which proves that some things are the same, in every known zone of potential human thought. Carsten Endrass (aka "Markant") had produced many hours of music this year, and here's another one. It's got a very vibrant blue sleeve, which you won't have any trouble separating in your mind. But will you ever be able to say the same about the music? This latest release blurs together 5 tracks of aching synth melodies, with Carsten's chittery beat specifications running fast and then flow. I guess I meant to say slow. It's about a million miles away from "Cavity Job" anyway.

MARKANT: 17 LP (MARKANT 17). $18.00

"Newest volume in the Markant series of LPs, boasting it's own color-code (Yellow!) and slight formal development/innovation (although you'd REALLY need to train your ears to pick it up) from precursive volumes. Epic IDM twitter, well aware of the Warp/Skam/MaS/MASK/CI buy-now smile-later appeal of 'innocent' lazy bedroom micro-press peaks. I'd give the planned obsolescence rule at least few more months to kick in." — Hrvatski.

MARKANT: 23 LP (MARKANT 23). $18.00

"4 very varied tracks, from a dark, slightly industrial sounding escapade to nearly funky dubbed out ones, to an unusual breakbeat track. Limited as usual."

MARKANT: 25 —LP1 LP (MARKANT 25A). $18.00

The new Markant is a broken up into 2 separate LPs, LP1 and LP2. These LPs break into new Markant territory, with actual cover art and song titles (sample from LP1: "Shake Your Boody"). Pressed on heavy duty colored vinyl. Limited stock.

MARKANT: Infam CD (MARKANT CD01). $15.00

The first CD release from Markant, this combines the tracks from Markant 26 & 27 along with 5 exclusive tracks (78 total minutes). "The tracks are in the vein of early Autechre mixed with the beauty of the sounds that could be made by Arovane or Pole. Still as original as a Markant can be."

MARKANT: Vice Versa CD (MARKANT CD02). $15.00

"Since more than 5 years, Carsten Endra? aka Markant has turned his rounds in the electronic music scene. Idealism paired with unique sounds have left tracks. Almost 30 releases and an excursion to the national and international press of electronic music have been paving its way. In the summer 2001, the first CD album Infam was worldwide welcomed and another chapter was opened: The strict limitation was given up, and Markant was able to present itself to a wider audience. Typical Markant — nevertheless different. While Infam carried an abstract handwriting, you feel the peace and calmness with this new album. Vice Versa is the logical continuation and reflection to CE's older works. An Hommage and reminiscence on a feeling, which he experienced at the beginning of the 90's with electronic music. Analogue warmth surrounds the listener. You feel like a friend in the first row. Dive into Markant's emotional sound worlds and enjoy yourself. With Vice Versa, Markant is in the change and in balance."

MARKANT: Theme LP (MARKANT TH). $20.00

"Other new Markant volume, this time going against his self-afflicted numerically tagged grain (you've got to watch out for these digitally-obsessive types, 2040's right around the corner...) to bring us a somewhat timely entry in the form of a beatless (drumless, for the most part) drift-conscious effort. Mellotrons and analogue-synth gush galore folks, light years away from Markant's beginnings as a distorto-beat loop-head. A surprisingly palatable substitute for 'space-rock', try it w/ your friends after the next band rehearsal." — Hrvatski. Limited stock.

MARQUEE (JAPAN):*MAGICAL POWER MAKO: Trance Resonance CD (MARQ 9484). $18.00

All the reissue madness has inspired Mako to make new music. This is a live album, recorded in 1994. "...performance was mixture of music and dance by 'breathing' artist. 'Breathing' is an interesting method to open human's mind. Performer consciously makes heavy-breathing condition for doing fast, intense and deep breathing. Mako's music must be quiet to pull performer's mind into trance-vision. Not meditative music. This is real progressive style music." One 67-minute uninterrupted piece with much sampling, contemporary electronics, etc. This is a long way from this basement genius on the Mom 'n Dad series; but not a terrible dance record either? there's weird ethnic percussions, great psychedelic landscape soundtrackery with guitars, cello, keyboards, etc.

MAGICAL POWER MAKO: Lo Pop Diamonds CD (MARQ 95100). $18.00

"Hello World, how are you? Now we present 80's Mako's very private collections. There are good POP tunes featuring two girl singers Reira & Asuka. Two Japanese traditional tunes Goeika & Neputa. Woh — it's coming very deep enjoy precious time." — Magical Power

Mako '95/3. Way more contemporary sounding than his early classic works, but there's still a fucked up quality as with all of his works that eventually shines through.

MAGICAL POWER MAKO: Blue Dot CD (MARQ 95131). $18.00

"Brand new studio recording by Mako. Psychedelic improvisation similar to Ash Ra Tempel's early works." Recorded in San Francisco in 1995, this marks a return to form for Mako into the world of psychedelic murk and is his most outstanding effort post-Music From Heaven. Atmospheric guitar & drums.

PNEUMA: Psychabuse CD (MARQ 9588). $18.00

"Japanese artist. His musical career began from mid-70s. He started playing German electronic type sound. His sound style is very similar to famous Klaus Schulze but of course he blended his own character into the music. Taken from his works in '79 to '85 era."

MARQUIS RECORDS:*BIANCHI, MAURIZIO: Plays The Clockwork Orange LP (MART 005). $32.00

Last copies, now at a higher price. "While producing the second ArcheoMB boxset (including the CD edition of 5 original M.B. LP records from the early 1980s: Das Testament; Endometrio; Carcinosi; The Plain Truth and Armageddon), the documentation staff working on the Maurizio Bianchi reprint series came across a very strange and peculiar object. It was a private tape dating back from 1980, never mentioned in official discographies and given only to close friends (this copy actually coming from the archive of mail-artist Vittore Baroni). The music was introducing a unique approach in MB sound. It was soon evident that this tape marked the passage from the Sacher-pelz concrete techniques to the new M.B. universe; the loop brutal approach applied to poor & pure electronic sounds and concrete material, so typical in Sacher -pelz projects (see full documentation presented in Mutation for a Continuity 4CD boxset), was here pushed to its extreme consequences and used to manipulate the soundtrack of the famous movie by Stanley Kubrick, A Clockwork Orange (it is whispered that some Kraftwerk records also suffered the same treatment, but evidences of this were never found). In the same days, M.B. also produced his first power electronic tapes titled Cold, Voyeur and the epic double C90 Mectpyo Blut which set the new orientation to all his following works. M.B. plays A Clockwork Orange was a unique moment in Maurizio Bianchi sonic researches and is made now available for the very first time; the first LP record by M.B. issued in about 20 years. Due to the specific kind of material reproduced it was decided with M.B. to issue these historical recordings in an edition limited to 300 copies only."

MASSIVE ADVANCE (UK):*FUJIYA & MIYAGI: Electro Karaoke in the Negative Style CD (MADV 003 CD). $15.00

"The album reveals more of Fujiya & Miyagi's sound, combining warm analogue synth sounds with good old-fashioned guitars, whispered vocals and irresistible melodies. With the band getting a rapturous response every time they play live and remixes in the pipeline from Two Lone Swordsmen, Chung King, Cristian Vogel and Wevie Stonder, this looks set to be a good year for both Fujiya & Miyagi and Massive Advance. They can already count amongst their fans Andrew Weatherall, Super Collider, Lali Puna, Keith Tenniswood, Colin Greenwood from Radiohead and Gigolo m of the moment Tiga, who is featuring 'Electro Karaoke' on a forthcoming mix CD on his own Turbo label."

MASTERCUTS (UK):*VA: Mastercuts The Best Of Jazz Funk 2CD (CUTS 047 CD). $21.00

"Ten years and 7 volumes of Jazz Funk Mastercuts, the time is definitely right for The Best Of. With the continued success of Jamiroquai and exciting new acts such as The Breakastars coming through interest in Jazz Funk has rarely been higher. This is the complete package of classics for both the nu skool kids just discovering the genre and the old timers who bought the early Mastercuts on vinyl (hands up if that includes you!). These are all the biggest tracks from the biggest artists in Jazz Funk. This is not just a story about an album though. Mastercuts are teaming up with the Jazz Cafe for the Mastercuts Jazz Funk Festival at the legendary venue in Camden. Lonnie Liston Smith, the Blackbyrds, Tom Browne, Ronnie Laws and Tania Maria are all due to roll back the years through the month of March."

VA: Mastercuts Bar Social 2 2CD (CUTS 048 CD). $23.00

"On this, the second Mastercuts Bar Social the only rule is that the tracks are of highest quality and put a huge grin on the punters faces. It's all there from progressive house (Deep Dish) to rock (Primal Scream), contemporary R'n'B (Kelis) to old skool hip-hop (Sugarhill Gang) not to mention some of the biggest names in music old and new — Mos Def, Massive Attack, Dilated Peoples, The Avalanches, the list goes on." Artists include: Stevie Wonder, Spanky Wilson, James Brown, Ice T, NWA, Kelis, Primal Scream, Donna Summer, ESG, Q Tip, The Avalanches, Sugarhill Gang, Family Tree, Babe Ruth, Deep Dish feat EBTG, Paperclip People, Massive Attack, St Etienne, Soul II Soul, 4 Hero, Loose Ends, Odessey, Annie, Alan Braxe, Gotan Project, Blackbyrds, Stretch, Lucy Pearl, Mos Def feat. Ronny Jordan, Dilated Peoples, Delinquent Habits, Talib Kweli, The Clash, Sly And Robbie, Horace Andy, Badly Drawn Boy, Funboy Three.

MATADOR:*CAT POWER: What Would the Community Think CD (OLE 202 CD). $14.00

"What Would the Community Think was the second album Chan Marshall released in 1996, but its richness suggests a longer period of evolution. From the first warm notes of 'In this Hole,' it's clear that Marshall's voice — as a singer and a songwriter — is not only stronger and more focused, but more empathetic as well. Where her previous works were dense and cathartic, What Would the Community Think gives her voice and lyrics space to unfurl and involve the listener; the title track alone holds an album's worth of eloquence in Marshall's hushed, clear vocals, backed by guitar, feedback and an eerie, echoing piano. Fortunately, that leaves Marshall 11 other tracks with which to forge a fine balance between angular, angst-ridden punk and her gentler, folk-country tendencies. Different combinations of these extremes make Cat Power's sound more diverse but also more cohesive. Tense, tight songs like 'Good Clean Fun' and 'Nude as the News' retain the reflective, thoughtful nature of quieter numbers like 'King Rides By' and 'Water and Air,' which turn the power of the album's louder moments into slow-building, implosive tension. Two of What Would the Community Think's finest moments, 'They Tell Me' and 'Taking People,' are unabashedly blues and country-inflected, revealing Marshall not just as a cathartic vocalist, but as a true soul singer. Similarly, her covers of Peter Dinklage's 'Fate of the Human Carbine' and Smog's 'Bathyspherer' show off Marshall's ability to make any song a Cat Power song. An intimate, personal album, What Would the Community Think makes imperfection beautiful and turns vulnerability into musical strength."

BELLE AND SEBASTIAN: Lazy Line Painter Jane 3CD (OLE 313). $16.00

"This budget priced box set compiles Belle and Sebastian's first three EPs, hitherto available only as expensive imports. It includes the fabulous Dog On Wheels, Lazy Line Painter Jane, and 3, 6, 9 Seconds Of Light EPs. All songs are non-album. Packaged in a lovely cardboard slipcase with new artwork, containing full-size jewel cases."

CORNELIUS: Point CD (OLE 332 CD). $14.00

"Tokyo's Cornelius, aka Keigo Oyamada, presents the long-awaited follow up to his 1998 US debut Fantasma. Where that influential album was an exaggerated media collage which deconstructed the history of pop and reassembled it into a heart-breaking tangle of sound, Point is altogether more atmospheric, involving mood-driven soundscapes alternating with dizzying environmental sounds built out of harmonious Wilsonesque choruses, plangent beats and sudden driving guitar breaks."

PIZZICATO FIVE: Playboy & Playgirl CD (OLE 333 CD). $14.00

"Tokyo's Pizzicato Five turn moody and introspective, even minor-key, on their fourth U.S. album. In a departure from the drum'n'bass influenced stylings of their previous record and its companion remix volume, the seminal Shibuya-kei duo now take their inspiration from the soft-rock arrangements of Curt Boettcher and Jimmy Webb (The Association, The Fifth Dimension). Harpsichords, lush orchestrations and multi-part harmonies are the score for this rich, slightly uneasy record. An essential purchase for P5 fans and a superb introduction for the newcomer to this complex, influential band."

BURGER/INK: Las Vegas CD (OLE 334 CD). $14.00

US license of the German Harvest album first issued in late '96 or so. A mesmerizing Cologne-style minimalist techno excursion, with warm samples (including some lush guitar sounds that are inexplicably beautiful) and relaxed programming. This might be the definitive soundtrack of the contemporary Cologne scene and that would be saying something. "Burger/Ink is a collaboration between Jörg Burger and Mike Ink — two pioneering electronic musicians from Germany. Jörg Burger has released tons of 12" singles and LPs under various monikers; Burger Industries, B. Movement, Bionaut and more. Jörg has been making music and releasing records since 1977. Jörg and Mike have collaborated on and off together since 1983. The techno-dub styles of Basic Channel were a big influence on Mike Ink — perhaps the catalyst for his musical change a few years ago from Acid house to the minimal techno sound he's now known for with his Studio One and Profan labels. Jörg meanwhile, developed a bit more of a melodic, poppy techno sound, utilizing vocals. He did a lot of projects for Harvest and his own Eat Raw label. Las Vegas came out about a year and half ago on Harvest. It's not that weird a collaboration or anything, since their styles are often very similar, though it appears Jörg bought to it a slightly poppier sensibility."

KHAN: Passport CD (OLE 338 CD). $14.00

"Whenever he's not running Temple Records in NYC, cavorting on stages around the globe in his briefs, or upsetting the entire New York Police Department with his 'Fuck The Police' campaign (he says he meant it much more 'literally' than NWA), Can Oral has somehow found the time to release music under a dizzying number of names (latest count 15+), each representing a unique stylistic avenue. Hardcore fan and neophyte alike will delight in this handy compendium of singles, rarities and unreleased nuggets spanning the nomenclature of Khan's recorded output. Highlights include the propulsive electro-funk of Cube 40, a collaboration between Khan and his brother, Jammin' Unit of Air Liquide. Jörg Burger (Modernist, Bionaut, Burger/Ink) weighs in with a hypnotic remix of 'Body Dump'. A special bonus inclusion is 'Suck Blood' from Khan's semi-legendary bootleg-plus release, Black Sabbath Riot." Features tracks by Global Electronic Network, Cube 40, H.E.A.D., 4E, etc. Cute mini-passport style packaging.

KHAN: Passport 2LP (OLE 338 LP). $18.00

POLE: CD1 CD (OLE 339 CD). $14.00

US license of the debut Pole album, originally released on Kiff SM. "While drum and bass may have the heart of reggae to thank for its rhythms, the genre's left behind its spacious soul. That's where Pole comes in; instead of frantic drum machines, the low sparks and crackles from a malfunctioning Waldorf-Pole Filter from Stefan Betke's daytime job as a vinyl master. LP1/CD1's deep, minimal basslines and abstract dub infusions sound like the futuristic progeny of Kingston, both otherworldly and human at the same time. Sonic terrorist or minimalist composer...or perhaps, neither. Berlin's Pole utilizes the surface noise & crackle of vinyl to create music like no other...do your scratched acetates sound this beautiful?"

POLE: LP1 2LP (OLE 339 LP). $18.00

US license of the 2LP set originally released by Kiff SM.

ARSONISTS: As The World Burns CD (OLE 343 CD). $14.00

"Freestyle, Q-Unique, Jise, Swel and D-Stroy are Brooklyn's Arsonists, exploding out of the NY underground hip hop scene. After five years and legendary 12"s on the Fondle 'Em and Serchlite labels, the superverbal quintet are set to drop their debut album on Matador. The Arsonists already have the fuse lit, with unbelievably articulate and fast, smart songs showcasing rich lyrical concerns. With new directions in hip hop music desperately needed, this album provides a welcome change filled with the True Meaning and 'blazin' hot material' — the four elements of hip hop laced with infectious, blistering, phat tracks."

KHAN: 1-900-GET-900 CD (OLE 345 CD). $14.00

"The full length Matador debut for Khan (aka Can Oral), a Turkish/German New Yorker whose prior albums under the names 4E, Global Electronic Network, H.E.A.D., Bizz O.D., Gizz TV and collaborations with Dr. Walker, have established him as a worldwide force in electronic music. 1-900-GET-KHAN functions as an imaginary soundtrack through a world of sex, sleaze and spooky goings-on. Distancing himself from the anonymous club/DJ culture, Khan is confronting the audience with sex — going so far as to operate his own 900 line (advertised on the albums' front sleeve). There are nods to established styles like minimal techno, exotica, neo-ethereal, retro-futurism and vertical horizontalism, but there are just as many winks." A distinct and easily embraceable album from Khan, emphasis on the "vertical horizontalism"s and crushingly puffy guest vocals by Julee Cruise which melt the sky just right.

KHAN: 1-900-GET-900 2LP (OLE 345 LP). $18.00

CORNELIUS: FM (Fantasma reMixes) CD (OLE 349 CD). $14.00

"If the remix album is the '90s equivalent to the powerhouse live albums of the 70s, then Cornelius has upped the ante on the concept and delivered his Intensities in Ten Cities. Over the past year, Cornelius has been doing a series of remixes for friends and mutual admirers alike. All he asked for in return is for them to do the same with material from Phantasma. Now he is releasing the two sets of remixes as a pair of full-length albums. This one, FM (Fantasma Mix), is a collection of the remixes done by Cornelius." Artists remixing Cornelius: Money Mark, High Llamas, Buffalo Daughter, The Pastels, Konishi Yasuharu, Damon Albarn, U.N.K.L.E. and Coldcut.

CORNELIUS: CM (Cornelius reMixes) CD (OLE 350 CD). $14.00

The companion remix project of Cornelius remixing other artists. Track listing: U.N.K.L.E.: "Ape Shall Never Kill Ape, "; Money Mark: "Maybe I'm Dead"; Buffalo Daughter: "Great Five Lakes"; Coldcut: "Atomic Moog 2000"; The Pastels: "Windy Hill"; The High Llamas: "Homespin Runer".

JEGA: Spectrum CD (OLE 353 CD). $14.00

Domestic issue of the 1998 album originally issued on Planet µ. "Following a series of releases for Manchester's Skam imprint, Spectrum marks the debut Jega release for Mike Paradinas' Planet µ label. Jega, aka Dylan Nathan, has hit upon a genuinely fucked up drum & bass/breakbeat/jungle hybrid that has blown minds everywhere. One of 1998's most revered records is now available in North America with two bonus tracks."

JEGA: Spectrum 2LP (OLE 353 LP). $18.00

Double LP version, same 16 tracks as the CD.

NIGHTMARES ON WAX: Carboot Soul CD (OLE 357 CD). $14.00

"It's been a long four years since Nightmare On Wax's American debut, Smokers Delight (released on Warp/Wax Trax/TVT). The passage of time may have obscured just what a stunner this release was. The elements had been there from the beginning with the early singles and import-only A Word of Science LP...Detroit techno blips, deft sampling technique, hip hop breaks... Smoker's Delight saw NoW pitch the groove down a bit and weave an intricate soulful tapestry, adding an expansive depth to the music. Going back, you can hear the early strains of what became the much-lauded musical movement centered around the Mo'Wax label. Which makes sense, considering their groundbreaking Headz compilation included a NoW track. The new album reflects mainman George Evelyn's incorporation of a full line up of musicians and vocalists to aid him in bringing his creations to life in the studio and live. Elements of reggae and dub have crept out from behind the basslines and beats for a more obvious presence, but the familiar influences remain intact."

PLONE: For Beginner Piano LP (OLE 358 LP). $11.00

LP version; CD is deleted in the US.

POLE: 2 CD (OLE 359 CD). $11.00

The highly anticipated follow up Pole release, released simultaneously in the US as in Europe. "Following the critical acclaim lavished upon Pole's CD1/LP1 in 1998, Stefan Betke has returned with a new 6 track, 33 minute double 12"/single CD that expands upon the experimental dub possibilities of Pole's debut." From The Wire: "...yet out of the stuff that lesser musicians would bounce around like so much silly putty — crackles and phuts splattering over the surface like fireflies against a windowpane — Betke fashions a music of overwhelming intimacy and poignancy, full of devious interactions and Gordian entanglements."

POLE: 2 2x12" (OLE 359 LP). $13.00

TIMONY, MARY: Mountains CD (OLE 363 CD). $14.00

"From her late-80s work with D.C. quartet Autoclave, to her 90s ouvre with Boston avatars Helium, through her recent collaborations with Sleater-Kinney's Carrie Brownstein as one-half of The Spells, Mary Timony has attracted a legion of followers, more than a few of whom have tried to appropriate her sound or persona. Mountains, her first solo full-length, is a stylistic tour-de-force in which Timony flexes her considerable compositional muscle. A powerful work which alternately recalls the direct approach of Helium recordings like Pirate Prude with flashes of the progressive elements heard on Magic City. A stunning solo debut."

MOGWAI: Come On Die Young CD (OLE 365 CD). $11.00

"2nd album proper. Thunderous, epic, powerful...these are all the words used to describe Apocalypse Now, a very fine movie I just watched the other night. The new Mogwai album is quite awesome as well. On their previous works, we got the feeling that the sky was the limit for this band, but after hearing Come On Die Young, we can confidently state they have scraped the ceiling of the sky and there are big chunks of plaster falling all over the place."

YO LA TENGO: And Then Nothing Turned Itself Inside Out CD (OLE 371 CD). $14.00

"Serene but complex, enormous but jewel-like, Yo La Tengo's tenth album is a mature masterpiece that redefines the boundaries of pop and jazz, songs and soundscapes. The now-telepathic interplay of Georgia Hubley, Ira Kaplan, and James McNew means the trio now approach their music as one; they are solid and powerful, comfortable enough to allow room for improvisation. A quietly intense melange of pulsing beats, acoustic guitar strum, ringing vibraphone and organ washes, with electric guitar buzzing underneath dreamy, nearly whispered vocals. And Then Nothing Turned Itself Inside Out (the title is a Sun Ra reference) is as much mood swing as song cycle."

VA: Warp 10+1: Influences 2CD (OLE 405 CD). $15.00

"Warp10+1: Influences is the first of a trilogy of releases celebrating ten years of electronic adventurism on the part of Warp Records. The groundbreaking label was founded by Steve Beckett and Rob Mitchell in response to the burgeoning house/electronic scene that was developing in and around their homebase of Sheffield in the late '80s. As the name might suggest, this is a collection of some of the sounds that shaped the tastes and artistry of the label early on. Many of the classic sounds from the heady days of '80s house from both sides of the Atlantic are represented: from the foundations of house music via Chicago legend Farley Jackmaster Funk to Manchester mainstays like A Guy Called Gerald and 808 State. Nostalgically massive." Tracklisting Disc One: Nitro Deluxe: "Let's Get Brutal" Mr. Fingers: "Can U Feel It" Master C & J: "Dub Love" Adonis: "No Way Back (Vocal)" Fallout: "Morning After (Sunrise Mix)" Reese & Santonio: "The Sound (Smooth Mix)" Model 500: "Off To Battle" Steve Poindexter: "Computer Madness" Rhythm Is Rhythm: "Nude Photo" Da Posse: "It's My Life (Aluh Mix)" Phuture: "Acid Tracks" Disc Two: Unique 3: "The Theme (Original Chill Mix)" 808 State: "Let Yourself Go (303 Mix)" A Guy Called Gerald: "Voodoo Ray" No Smoke: "Koro Koro" Bang The Party: "Bang Bang You're Mine (Rock Me Gently Original Radio Mix)" K Alexi Shelby: "My Medusa" Farley Jackmaster Funk: "The Acid Life" Plez: "Can't Stop (Acid) Rain Forest Mix)" Virgo Four: "In A Vision" Ital's Rokers: "It's Anthem (Trebledown, Bassup Mix)" Juno: "Soul Thunder"

VA: Warp 10+2: The Classics 89-92 2CD (OLE 406 CD). $15.00

"The second part of a trilogy of Warp Records anthologies covers the early years of dance-floor eclecticism and electronic mayhem. Be it the longterm influences of the likes of Nightmares On Wax, LFO (Mark Bell has gone on to produce for Björk, amongst others) and Sweet Exorcist (featuring Richard H. Kirk from Cabaret Voltaire) or supernovas like Tricky Disco and Coco Steel and Lovebomb, this compilation documents a furious burst of inspiration and subversion that sometimes found itself in the UK Top 40. This compilation encapsulates many of the early hard-to-find singles, many of which have become seminal classics in their own right. Warp10+2 The Classics is a collector's dream." Tracklisting Disc One: Forgemaster: "Track With No Name" Nightmares On Wax: "Dextrous" Sweet Exorcist: "Testone" DJ Mink: "Hey Hey Can You Relate" LFO: "LFO" "Track 4" LFO: "Probe" Nightmares On Wax: "Aftermath (LFO remix)" Sweet Exorcist: "Testfour" Disc Two:

Nightmares on Wax: "I'm For Real" Nightmares on Wax: "Aftermath" Tricky Disco: "Tricky Disco" The Step: "Yeah You (Rob's mix)" Sweet Exorcist: "Clonk (freebase)" Tuff Little Unit: "Join The Future" Nightmares On Wax: "Case Of Funk" Coco Steel and Lovebomb: "Feel It" LFO vs FUSE: "Loop (FUSE mix)"

VA: Warp 10+3: The Remixes 2CD (OLE 407CD). $15.00

"The last installment of the trilogy of releases celebrating ten years of Warp Records. A spectrum of artists were offered an opportunity to select any track from the Warp catalog to remix and these are the results. The quality and range of original artists and remixes are sure to make this an especially attractive package: Aphex Twin, Autechre, Stereolab, Spiritualized, Squarepusher, Nightmares on Wax, John McEntire (Tortoise), Mogwai, Oval, LFO, Mink Ink, Red Snapper, Boards of Canada, Jim O'Rourke and far too many more to list here. If this got any more artistically relevant, we'd be eligible for a big NEA grant. All new material, previously unavailable." Tracklisting Disc One: Pram remix of LFO/Aphex Twin: "Simon from sydney/yellow calx" Luke Vibert remix of DJ Minks: "Hey Hey! Can U Relate?" Stereolab remix of Boards Of Canada: "Kid For Today" Isan remix of Seefeel: "When Face was Face" Plaid remix of Autechre: "Vletrmx" Four Tet remix of Aphex Twin: "Untitled SAW2 track1" Surgeon remix of LFO: "Nurture" Winston and Ross remix of Sweet Exorcist: "Testone" Autechre remix of Nightmares on Wax: Sal Batardes John McEntire remix of Nightmares on Wax: "Playtime" Underdog remix of Broadcast: "Hammer Without A Master" Bogdan Raczynski remix of Autechre: "EP7 / Envane" Disc Two: Push Button Objects remix of Boards of Canada: "An Eagle In Your Mind" Red Snapper remix of Sabres Of Paradise: "Wilmo" Ellis Island Sound remix of Two Lone Swordsman: "Spine Bubbles" Wunder remix of Mike Ink: "Polka Trax 3" Labradford remix of LFO: "Freeze" Oval remix of Squarepusher: "Big Loada" Andy Votel remix of Broadcast: "Booklovers" Richard Devine remix of Aphex Twin: "Come To Daddy" Mira Calix remix of Seefeel: "Air Eyes" Jimi Tenor remix of Sweet Exorcist: "Mad Jack" Phone remix of Tricky Disco: "Tricky Disco" Jim O'Rourke remix of Autechre: "Characi" Spiritualized remix of LFO: "Tied Up" Mogwai remix of Link: "Arcadian"

MOGWAI: Mogwai EP CD (OLE 412 CD). $6.50

"Mogwai regularly go into the studio for a day or two to flex their creative muscle and allow a few ideas to stretch out. Usually, a song or two comes out of it. This last time though, they walked away with four stellar new compositions; they felt so proud of them, they had to put them out ASAP. The four new pieces ('Stanley Kubrick', 'Christmas Song', 'Burn Girl From Queen', and 'Rage: Man') showcase the band's trademark dynamic tension complemented by gentler arrangement flourishes." Plus 2 tracks not found on the UK version (taken from the No Education = No Future EP).

JEGA: Geometry 2LP (OLE 413 LP). $18.00

Double vinyl version, full color sleeve.

PIZZICATO FIVE: The Fifth Release From Matador CD (OLE 415 CD). $14.00

"Pizzicato Five's brand new album, released earlier in 2000 in Japan under the title Pizzicato Five, is now available worldwide with a new title, a new cover, and 3 additional exclusive tracks. Showcasing producer and impresario Yasuharu Konishi's wide-ranging musical, artistic and theatrical talents, The Fifth Release From Matador is a paean to the pop styles and sounds of 1960s and 1970s Italy. From the Italian modernist furniture, design and clothing depicted in the lavish booklet and the press photos taken on location in Rome, to the judicious go-go beats and smooth soundtrack backdrops in the music, the album pays tribute to the best-dressed culture of the past four decades."

PIZZICATO FIVE: The Fifth Release From Matador 2LP (OLE 415 LP). $18.00

RED SNAPPER: Our Aim is to Satisfy Red Snapper CD (OLE 416 CD). $14.00

"London's Red Snapper return with their second Warp/Matador album. Co-produced with Hugo Nicholson (Primal Scream, David Holmes), they have created a new dark funk for the year 2000 and onwards. An explosion of standup bass, jazzy samples, the thrilling vocals of Karim Kendra and the intense jungle rants of MC Det, Our Aim is to Satisfy Red Snapper is one of the most exciting releases of the fall."

RED SNAPPER: Our Aim is to Satisfy Red Snapper 2LP (OLE 416 LP). $18.00

Double vinyl version, full color sleeve.

CONSOLE: Rocket In The Pocket CD (OLE 424 CD). $14.00

"One of the most amazing electronic albums in not-so-recent memory, hands down. Warm synth swells and deft rhythm programming will draw you in; the clever production and fine craftsmanship will keep you there. Console is one German guy most of the time: Martin Gretschmann."

CAT POWER: The Covers Record CD (OLE 426 CD). $10.00

"In this solo guitar/vocal outing, Chan Marshall flexes her considerable interpretative muscle, tackling classics by the Rolling Stones, Michael Hurley, Nina Simone, Bob Dylan, Moby Grape, Smog, the Velvet Underground, and even a re-recording of a Cat Power original. It showcases Marshall at her most haunting and powerful, taking songs you thought you knew and turning them into something entirely new."

CAT POWER: You Are Free CD (OLE 427 CD). $14.00

"You Are Free is the first album in four years from one of the premier female singer-songwriters of our generation, Chan Marshall. Better known by her stage name Cat Power, Chan's richly complex vocal stylings and minor-key poetics have made her an independent superstar by stealth. The album, printed on recycled paper and recorded with renewable resources, explores the natural world of relationships and fame, from the anguished, layered 'Speak to Me' to the searching irony of 'He War'. By turns catchy, intense and beguiling, You Are Free will be one of the most anticipated albums of 2003."

CAT POWER: You Are Free 2LP (OLE 427 LP). $11.00

Gatefold LP version.

POLE: 3 CD (OLE 428 CD). $14.00

"Structurally, the music of Pole is based on abstract, irregular rhythms created by a defective analog sound filter called the 'Waldorf 4-Pole' filter. These rhythms are primarily defect frequencies full of interference (in audio terms, commonly referred to as 'noise'). They're not unlike the crackling sound of vintage vinyl, except for a harder, purely digital quality which makes them very immediate. Quoting the production methods of Jamaican dub-taking monotonous rhythms out of context by using echoes and repetitive loops — Betke has put out three albums, titled 1, 2, and now 3. All three possess a frugal use of melodies and bass woven into a texture of crackling rhythms emitted by the filter. Outbursts of reverberations and the persistent crackling appear to be a simple recipe, but in reality each Pole composition is as elaborate as the central nervous system, complex both in structure and texture. The crackling remains on 3, but you can sense invisible undercurrents of energy, a sublime suppression of power on the album. Like a car's engine revving angrily against a pulled handbrake, there's tension throughout; it is, however, heavily mantled by a pervasive calm. Repetitive bass lines and evasive flurries of melody are simultaneously persistent and laid-back. The means to Betke's end are multitudinous: 'Karussell' (carousel) is slowed down to the pace of footsteps; you can literally hear the energy being held back; 'Kletter' (climb) excites with manifold guises that could be likened to the layered splatter of Jackson Pollack; on 'Strand' (beach) garbled voices are trailing in from faraway realms, distant, estranged, not recognizable as voices anymore. These sounds evoke real emotions and memories, and in fact Betke titles each song based on his subjective associations alone."

POLE: 3 2LP (OLE 428 LP). $18.00

BELLE AND SEBASTIAN: Fold Your Hands Child, You Walk Like A Peasant CD (OLE 429 CD). $14.00

"The much-anticipated fourth album from Glasgow's Belle & Sebastian. An altogether more complex album than The Boy With The Arab Strap, its direct predecessor, Fold Your Hands Child, You Walk Like A Peasant introduces harpsichord, mellotron and full orchestrated strings. The subject matter is similarly varied and nuanced. 'The Chalet Lines' explores the mind of a woman raped while on holiday. 'I Fought In A War' uses war as a metaphor for the end of a relationship, while 'Nice Day For A Sulk' is certainly the first song ever to namecheck both The Fall and Manfred Mann."

NIGHTMARES ON WAX: Sound of N.O.W. Remix EP CD (OLE 432 CD). $7.00

"Six hot remixes from Nightmares on Wax's 1999 hip hop/dub classic Carboot Soul. Remix EP features amazing names from the hip hop, techno and French ambient worlds in the chilliest-ass chunk of mix-plastic to hit the racks in early 2000." Features remixes by De La Soul, Alex Gopher, Rae & Christian and DJ Food. US-only release.

NIGHTMARES ON WAX: Sound of N.O.W. Remix EP 12" (OLE 432 EP). $5.50

MODERNIST, THE: Explosion CD (OLE 435 CD). $14.00

"Explosion explores Jörg Burger's drift towards the melodic minimalism and fractal arrangements of some of his Cologne cohorts. Compositions like 'Victor Ludorum' and 'Global Entertainments' building/shifting hausprogressions carry their own inertia as they hypnotically build to their throbbing conclusions, both delightful and disorienting. Burger doesn't completely abandon his acoustic/electro experiments, as displayed with the plaintive 'Manson Soup'. Elegant guitar lines mingle with pulsing sequencers for a melancholic delight reminiscent of his work with Burger/Ink. Released in Germany in December, 1999, the US version of Explosion has new artwork, and more importantly, three new tracks especially prepared for this release. The original versions of last year's excellent singles, 'Architainment' and 'Mrs. New Deal' are contained herein as well."

MODERNIST, THE: Explosion 2LP (OLE 435 LP). $18.00

Double vinyl version.

LESSER: Gearhound CD (OLE 449 CD). $14.00

"Lesser's second proper album (after Gigolo Cop, a few singles for VC/BT/KB, splitsville with Kid606, comtrax, etc...). Despite affluent rumour, it would appear (at least after cursory listens; who knows what horrors could lurk in within upon deeper catacomb penetration) that the LP and CD are in fact one and the same release. Something of an anomaly in the underground American electronic blah blah... in that he's mixing in the hackneyed guitars and chops of yore (licks & whatnot from live sessions of his Metallica cover band 'Creeping Death'), field recordings, yeah, all in with the VST grit, hip hop beats, crisp 0s & 1s for the college professors/kids. A bit confounding in places (might throw the aesthetically challenged fans of his former 'agressor' drumbash off a bit) but a great energy-oriented approach to computer constructed sound nonetheless. Vietnamese mail-order brides notwithstanding here with forth. Resolute." — Hrvatski

LESSER: Gearhound 2LP (OLE 449 LP). $18.00

BARDO POND: Dilate CD (OLE 459 CD). $14.00

"Where eerie, droning, psychedelic feedback meets textured, multi-layered song-writing, there we find Bardo Pond. Their 4th Matador album, Dilate is their most fully realized record to date, providing a fresh yet familiar insight into the band's unique take on apocalyptic tension and noise distortion. Stylistically, Bardo Pond venture further into the stoner-drone territory that they pioneered but bring with them a newfound diversity which is unparalleled."

BARDO POND: Dilate 2LP (OLE 459 LP). $18.00

Double vinyl version with LP-only exclusive track.

TENOR, JIMI: Out of Nowhere CD (OLE 460 CD). $14.00

"Out of Nowhere is Tenor's third album for Warp and his first for Matador. It is NOT his long-awaited 'pop' album. It marks Jimi Tenor as a serious composer, extremely dislocated from everything else going on. This is Jimi's first orchestral record, and was recorded with the 60-piece Orchestra of the Grand Theatre Lodz, in Poland. The results are insanely varied. 'Blood On Borscht' sounds like Carl Orff's Carmina Burana covered by a heavy metal band with a cast of 1000 slave extras... on the Planet of the Apes. In other words: terrifying. Single and video track 'Spell' riffs on Curtis Mayfield in his sublime early 70s period on the Curtmod label. And the opener "Out of Nowhere" marries the high drama of Lalo Schiffrin to music reminiscent of a scene of alien abduction somewhere in Nevada. Elsewhere, Jimi has Baluji Shrivastav, his blind sitar player, tune his instrument to the Chinese scale to approximate a 'Hollywood idea' of Asian music. Yes, that bizarre." [CD-only release in the US]

SAD ROCKETS: Transition CD (OLE 463 CD). $14.00

"Sad Rockets is Andrew Pekler, a 20 something, Uzbekistan-born, California-raised, and Berlin-residing multi-instrumentalist. His first 2 albums of Sad Rockets instrumental music, available on the Morbid and Source labels, are a whirlwind trip through Andrew's bedroom studio, a place where screechy moog/reverb-drenched Hammond, soundtracky noir styles, sideways R&B, appropriate nods to punk, funk, suave romantic moments, sleazy jazz, high comedy, and lots of low end somehow all fit onto 4 tracks. None of that laptop/desktop style either, this is all for real, recorded by a real guy with real instruments in a real way."

ARSONISTS: Date Of Birth CD (OLE 476 CD). $14.00

"The Arsonists' eagerly-awaited second album is a confident, stripped-down, well-produced step forward to a larger audience. Without compromising the ultraverbal Brooklyn crew's well-known insistence on artistic integrity and massive verbal skillz, as well as production from Psycho Les of the Beatnuts, Date Of Birth's fewer, tracks and bigger sound make it a better play for radio and new listeners."

TECHNO ANIMAL: Brotherhood Of The Bomb CD (OLE 482 CD). $14.00

"Fuses mutant hip hop, warped metal and depth trawling dub into one almighty sound-clash. Life has been breathed into machinery with an aggression and passion that combines brutal riffs with cutting edge rapping. With guests drawn from the cream of the burgeoning underground hip hop scene, such as Anti Pop Consortium, El-P (Def Jux/Company Flow), and Vast Aire (Cannibal Ox), as well as Chicago's Rubberroom, dalek and Toastie Taylor."

TECHNO ANIMAL VS. DALEK: Megaton/Classical Homicide 12" (OLE 483 EP). $5.00

"Edition number 5 in the Matador hip hop series is the collection's most adventurous to date; a ferocious soundclash between England's Techno Animal and Newark, NJ mutant hip hop crew Dalek (pronounced 'dial-ek'), featuring one new track by each artist, plus remixing each other's contributions. Dalek, whose 1998 release Negro Necro Nekros (on the Gern Blandsten label) has received critical plaudits around the world, are a hip hop trio with an experimental bent as pronounced as that of Techno Animal. Their intuitive combination of raw beats, hints of metal, drone & psychedelia with incisive, stream-of-consciousness poetry presents as great a challenge to the listener as it does to whomever does the filing in the record shop."

YO LA TENGO: Danelectro CD (OLE 484 CD). $6.00

Six track EP featuring three versions of "Danelectro" plus remixes by Q-Unique, Kit Clayton and Nobukazu Takemura.

YO LA TENGO: Danelectro 12" (OLE 484 EP). $7.00

Same 6 tracks as the CD.

MATMOS: A Chance To Cut Is A Chance To Cure CD (OLE 489 CD). $14.00

"On their debut recording for Matador the San Francisco based electronic duo of Matmos push their rhythmic collage tendencies even further, sidestepping that record's pastoral orientation in favor of an electro cut-up concept album that samples recordings of plastic surgery and medical technology. After gaining the trust and cooperation of surgeons and patients, the band was allowed to record in operating rooms and clinics. Once back in the studio, Matmos performed surgery of their own upon the sounds they had gathered, building rhythms from the clanks, rasps and snips of the scalpel, kick drums from the sound of bones being broken, and rich drones from the buzz of human skin conducting electricity through acupuncture points."

MOGWAI: Rock Action CD (OLE 490 CD). $14.00

"Recorded in upstate New York with longtime co-conspirator Dave Fridmann (Mercury Rev), Rock Action is alternately the most daring work of Mogwai's brief career, yet also the most fully realized. Expanding their palate to include a wider range of instrumentation — keys, banjos, strings previously untouched — and the frequent vocal accompaniments, the only thing Rock Action has in common with prior Mogwai outings is the album's sweeping, epochal feel. And it's never felt this good before."

KHAN: No Comprendo CD (OLE 497 CD). $14.00

"Khan composed and played all the music on No Comprendo, then invited a host of vocalists to come up with vocal melodies and lyrics. Some of the singers Khan already knew, others were people he admired for some time. Featuring vocals by Jon Spencer, Diamanda Galas, Julie Cruise, Andre Williams, Kid Congo Powers, Francoise Cactus [Stereo Total], Hanin Elias [Atari Teenage Riot], and Khan." LP version is on Playhouse.

THE SOFT BOYS: Underwater Moonlight...And How It Got There 2CD (OLE 500 CD). $16.00

"Matador is pleased to bring you one of the most essential records of the last three decades: the definitive reissue of The Soft Boys' Underwater Moonlight. In addition to the original 1980 album and the extra tracks featured on the long out-of-print Ryko one-CD set, the Matador version adds a second disc with the rehearsal sessions illustrating the creation of this landmark recording. This second disc is entitled ...And How It Got There. Featuring the Soft Boys' best loved lineup of Robyn Hitchcock, Kimberly Rew, Morris Windsor and Matthew Seligman, Underwater Moonlight is one of the most brilliant rock'n'roll records of that generation or any other."

ARAB STRAP: The Red Thread CD (OLE 503 CD). $14.00

"The Glasgow duo of Aidan Moffat and Malcom Middleton return to their previous label(s) with the most intense, haunting and powerful work of their young career. The Red Thread is meticulously recorded, deftly performed, and topped off with Moffat's considerable lyrical & vocal skills."

TECHNO ANIMAL: Dead Man's Curse CD (OLE 507 CD). $5.50

"In collaboration with guest MC Roger Robinson (a former Attica Blues contributor), Techno Animal's apocalyptic vision combines the deadliest elements of hip hop, dub, mutant metal and drum & bass."

LARGE PROFESSOR: 1st Class CD (OLE 509 CD). $14.00

"The long-awaited debut album from The Large Professor, legendary producer and MC. Featuring tracks from his proteges Nas, Busta Rhymes, Q-Tip and Akinyele, 1st Class is a tour-de-force of beats and flows. The master of the SP-12 now takes the ASR-X Pro to its limits, exploring all manner of twisted sounds and effects. Nothing is overkill, however — Extra P still sticks to the stark simplicity and crystalline purity that has marked his sound from the very beginning. Evolution, revolution, ineffable genius. Hip hop distilled."

LARGE PROFESSOR: 1st Class 2LP (OLE 509 LP). $11.00

Double LP version.

BELLE & SEBASTIAN: Jonathan David 12" (OLE 510 EP). $5.50

BELLE & SEBASTIAN: I'm Waking Up To Us CD (OLE 511 CD). $5.50

"A teaser for their forthcoming soundtrack to controversial director Todd Solondz's upcoming New Line picture Storytelling, though none of these tracks will be on the soundtrack album or in the film."

BELLE & SEBASTIAN: Storytelling Original Soundtrack CD (OLE 512 CD). $11.00

"Late in the year 2000, as controversial director Todd Solondz was wrapping up shooting on his third film, Storytelling, he realized that Belle and Sebastian would be the perfect band to write the soundtrack. Solondz already had one old Belle track in the roughs, and its barbed wit and wistful sentimentality was the perfect complement to his tale of suburban outcasts and losers attempting to be cool. Clocking in at 34 minutes, this specially low priced soundtrack album contains 8 instrumental tracks, 5 snippets of spicy dialog from the movie, and 6 new vocal tracks. A treat for fans of the band or the director, Todd Solondz."

BELLE & SEBASTIAN: Storytelling Original Soundtrack LP (OLE 512 LP). $12.00

LP version.

TIMONY, MARY: The Golden Dove CD (OLE 521 CD). $14.00

"The second solo album from former Helium vocalist/guitarist Mary Timony ranks as the most focused and original work of her colorful career. Taking the adventure begun on 2000's Mountains, Timony's mind has never been sharper, rendering issues of genre, time and space completely irrelevant."

TIMONY, MARY: The Golden Dove LP (OLE 521 LP). $11.00

LP version.

THE BIONAUT: Lubricate Your Living-Room CD (OLE 524 CD). $14.00

"One of the most influential voices in techno returns with a collection of the essential and long-out-of-print European-only tracks he released under the name The Bionaut from 1993 to 1997. A leading exponent of Cologne (Germany) minimalism, Burger is also well-known for the groundbreaking work he did under the names Burger/Ink, The Modernist, Trinkwasser, and, most recently, Geometric Farms. In addition, he has run the Popular and Eat Raw labels."

HELL, RICHARD: Time 2CD (OLE 530 CD). $17.00

"The first disc of this vital collection consists of two fearsome concerts never before released, one from London in 1977 and the other at CBGB in 1978. The second disc consists of an expanded version of ROIR's cassette-only R.I.P. collection, featuring never-before-heard studio material. While these live recordings (including a guest appearance by Elvis Costello and an introduction from Johnny Rotten) are undoubtedly raw, the performances are absolutely scorching — the lineup of Hell, Robert Quine, Marc Bell (aka Marky Ramone) and Ivan Julian delivering the goods in ways we can only fantasize about 23 years later."

AEREOGRAMME: A Story In White CD (OLE 533 CD). $14.00

"Glasgow-based Aereogramme, led by former Ganger guitarist Craig B, have made a quantum leap beyond the sum of their disparate influences. A man with the voice of Alex Chilton and the guitar skills of John Cummings of Mogwai, Craig leads the kind of gloriously melodic rock group that recruits fans-for-life. Masters of discipline and finesse, their loud-to-quiet-to-loud transitions are a cool enough rollercoaster ride as is."

MOGWAI: My Father My King CD (OLE 538 CD). $5.50

"Back to the wall of shimmering guitar power after the more mellow moves of Rock Action, the EP is a single 21-minute long song of epic power and beauty. Based on a simple ancient Jewish melody taught to the band by Arthur Baker, Mogwai surround it with their trademark sound to produce a gigantic composition that has been a huge hit at recent live performances. In this case, they worked with veteran producer Steve Albini to ensure that the full glory of the live performance was adequately captured in the studio, and the result is nothing short of stunning."

SPENCER BLUES EXPLOSION, JON: Plastic Fang CD (OLE 542 CD). $14.50

"Back with their first album in nearly four years is the revered NYC gut-rock trio The Jon Spencer Blues Explosion. The album simultaneously returns to rock basics (after the electronic flirtations of the last album, Acme) and introduces real singing and vocal melody for the first time."

SPENCER BLUES EXPLOSION, JON: Plastic Fang 2LP (OLE 542 LP). $21.00

Double LP with 4 more unreleased songs.

CORNELIUS: Drop CD (OLE 544 CD). $8.00

"Featuring remixes from The Kings of Convenience and Matthew Herbert. With its atmospheric setting against a watery background, 'Drop' is the first single to be lifted from Point which is Cornelius' hotly anticipated follow-up to his ground-breaking Fantasma. 'Drop' is a folk-tinged, harmony driven track splattered with beats and loops, a beautifully crafted, exquisite song, ideal for lazy days and relaxing nights. The song conjures images of blissful sunshine, the perfect soundtrack to bring a sparkle of joy to the dreary British winter."

INTERPOL: Turn On The Bright Lights CD (OLE 545 CD). $14.00

"Turn On The Bright Lights is a filler-free, fully realized statement of intent. Few inaugural albums have sounded this confident or displayed as much emotional range." Now at full price.

INTERPOL: Turn On The Bright Lights LP (OLE 545 LP). $11.00

LP version.

GUIDED BY VOICES: Universal Truths And Cycles CD (OLE 547 CD). $14.00

"Dayton's Guided By Voices follow up last year's acclaimed Isolation Drills with a brand-new album of 19 glittering pop melodies. In a return to self-production, the band recorded Universal Truths and Cycles in a variety of different studios, on different media, on 8-track and 24-track. The result is more akin to the collage sound of their earlier albums, but combined with the efficiency of execution and musicianship of the more recent recordings."

GUIDED BY VOICES: Universal Truths And Cycles LP (OLE 547 LP). $12.00

LP version.

NEW PORNOGRAPHERS, THE: Electric Version CD (OLE 551 CD). $14.00

"Electric Version is the second album from Vancouver's supergroup The New Pornographers, featuring Carl Newman (Zumpano), Neko Case (Neko Case), Dan Bejar (Destroyer) and other local luminaries in a joyful cascade of slightly jaundiced power pop songs that will knock your socks off."

NEW PORNOGRAPHERS, THE: Electric Version LP (OLE 551 LP). $11.00

LP version.

SOFT BOYS, THE: Nextdoorland CD (OLE 553 CD). $14.00

"Nextdoorland is the first new album in 20 years from Robyn Hitchcock's Soft Boys, featuring the classic lineup of the great Kimberley Rew on guitar, Matthew Seligman on bass and Morris Windsor on drums. A whirling maelstrom of psychedelic guitar and creepy lyrical concerns. Vocal harmonies abound just as on the classic Soft Boys records, but the arrangements and subject matter introduce a new vitality."

SOFT BOYS, THE: Nextdoorland LP + 7" (OLE 553 LP). $11.00

Vinyl LP version. Initial copies include a 7" with non-CD tracks.

PAVEMENT: Slanted & Enchanted Luxe & Reduxe 2CD (OLE 557 CD). $16.00

"The classic 1992 debut from indie rock originators Pavement, remastered and augmented with 15 bonus tracks from the sessions (4 unreleased) plus a second CD containing the legendary 1992 Peel sessions and live recordings. The definitive edition of the definitive indie rock album."

DEAD MEADOW: Shivering King and Others CD (OLE 566 CD). $11.00

"Think of the heaviest rock band you can possibly imagine. Black Sabbath, Bardo Pond, Blue Cheer, Cream and Zep rolled into one. Now triple that. You will have achieved a distant approximation of the mighty Washington, D.C. power trio Dead Meadow."

DEAD MEADOW: Shivering King and Others 2LP (OLE 566 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

MOGWAI: Happy Songs For Happy People CD (OLE 567 CD). $14.00

"This one is called Happy Songs For Happy People, a nice name for a summer record whose song titles allude to paranoia, vague threats, the Bible, boundless horrors and '80s hair metal. Happy Songs For Happy People is compact — just over 40 minutes — and extraordinarily skilful at sucking you in. The big crescendos don't come after long passages of quiet, they grow organically and stealthily. The metal power, the hardcore methodology, the pastoral prettiness are hard to separate any more. Rather, they exist in a state of grace that's moving and inspiring and all those other vague emotions music regularly promises, but rarely delivers."

YO LA TENGO: Nuclear War CD (OLE 568 CD). $3.50

"In the spirit of the times, the band has recorded several versions of Sun Ra's defiant anthem 'Nuclear War', a favorite at live shows over the past few years. Each version features different guest musicians: Daniel Carter and Sabir Mateen on sax, Roy Campbell, Jr. on trumpet, Susie Ibarra on timpani, and Josh Mandell on percussion. 16 minutes. Eleven young children singing along. 8 minutes. The original Yo La Tengo trio. A remix by rapper Mike Ladd (Ozone)."

AEREOGRAMME: Sleep And Release CD (OLE 571 CD). $14.00

"2nd album from the Glasgow quartet, the new stuff takes Aereogramme's loudsoft dichotomy and splits it wide open. As much as we like to kid around about the scary looking band who mix the pretty with the harsh so effectively, 2003's Aereogramme are a bit harder to typify. Sleep and Release is a work of epic proportions — we've not heard guitar-based music this intricate or this anthemic since... well, the last Aereogramme album. Yet the dynamic shifts this time are a bit more subtle, the material just a bit more tuneful...and the performances, way more explosive."

MALKMUS, STEPHEN: Pig Lib CD (OLE 572 CD). $14.00

"Pig Lib embraces the classic rock ensemble. If the form is familiar, however, the contents are not. A delectable array of antecedents inform the music herein, from Irish prog-folk greats Mellow Candle to the jazz-inflected musings of Kevin Ayers and Lol Coxhill to some of the more outré moments on Pavement's weirdest album, Wowee Zowee."

MALKMUS, STEPHEN: Pig Lib LP (OLE 572 LP). $11.00

LP version.

GUIDED BY VOICES: Earthquake Glue CD (OLE 574 CD). $14.00

"The latest combination of GBV musicians seems to have fully internalized the unmedicated riff-genius of Robert Pollard's song writing, and they meet this material on the field of battle in full blues-wailing flight. As with Universal Truths & Cycles, the songs on Earthquake Glue have the shine of instant classics. In Pollard's songwriting the cunning listener will hear strains and echoes of Ray Davies, John Entwistle, Syd Barrett, Roy Wood, and countless other craftsmen of the first psychedelic pop era. Pollard has consumed their work like oysters, and the stuff he spews as a result is a very special kind of sonic gas. Earthquake Glue is a fine bit of an achievement. The songs are of the highest caliber, the band's playing has a holistic grasp of rock dynamism that swings like a horse's testicles, and the whole thing flows like a tureen full of the sweetest, softest butter imaginable." — Byron Coley. Limited, numbered digipack edition.

GUIDED BY VOICES: Earthquake Glue LP (OLE 574 LP). $11.00

LP version.

MATMOS: The Civil War CD (OLE 590 CD). $14.00

"The Civil War once again represents a total departure: beats meet folk/bluegrass, closely miked acoustic instruments and honky-tonk mixed with highly unorthodox samples sources such as a rabbit pelt, or the pounding of blood in M.C. Schmidt's carotid artery. Featuring guests from the experimental aristocracy such as Keith Whitman (Hrvatsky), Jay Lesser, Blevin Blectum, David Grubbs, Keenan Lawler, The Civil War is a wonderfully soulful, humorous and eclectic achievement."

MATMOS: The Civil War LP (OLE 590 LP). $11.00

LP version.

MISSION OF BURMA: ONOFFON CD (OLE 613CD). $14.00

"The first new recordings in 22 years from avant-rock titans Mission of Burma, whose recent reunion concerts have sold out major venues across the nation. ONOFFON is a work of staggering complexity, showcasing a group just as exciting in 2004 as they were in 1982. Produced by Robert Weston (Shellac), the album brims with all the raw power of their '80s releases Signals, Calls, and Marchesand Vs., yet reveals tones, textures and lyrical themes unimaginable the first time around."

MISSION OF BURMA: ONOFFON 2LP (OLE 613LP). $18.00

Double LP version. "The first new recordings in 22 years from avant-rock titans Mission of Burma, whose recent reunion concerts have sold out major venues across the nation. ONOFFON is a work of staggering complexity, showcasing a group just as exciting in 2004 as they were in 1982. Produced by Robert Weston (Shellac), the album brims with all the raw power of their '80s releases Signals, Calls, and Marchesand Vs., yet reveals tones, textures and lyrical themes unimaginable the first time around."

MISSION OF BURMA: ONOFFON CD (OLE 613SACD). $16.00

Hybrid SACD version. Will play regular CD sound in standard CD players, and high-resolution digital sound in SACD-capable players.

SPENCER BLUES EXPLOSION, JON: Plastic Fang CD (OLE 666 CD). $15.00

Special "candy-pack" plastic-bag CD version.

MATADOR (UK):

MATMOS: CD (OLE 380 CD). $15.00

Matador-UK-only reissue of the first Matmos album, previously issued by the band on their own Vague Terrain imprint. "Using samplers, analog keyboards, field recordings and guitars, Matmos make atmospheric, idiosyncratic electronica. Need some reference points? Imagine the neo-electro of Autechre, the attention to guitar textures and production detail of Moebius & Plank's RastaKrautPasta LP, the clamorous musique concrete of Tod Dockstader...There's a lot of lip service paid these days to various electronic-based music being 'experimental' — but Matmos' musical practice genuinely deserves this much abused term. In addition to incorporating chance operations into their sequencing environment, many songs are based upon a working methodology of "conceptual restriction" — songs are built entirely out of samples from a single sound source: field recordings, contact microphones on hair, even the sound of an amplified synapse from crayfish nerve tissue. Sometimes these samples and recordings are built up into elaborate rhythmic sequences verging on (but tweaking) the by-now familiar subgenres of trip hop, drum and bass and electro; sometimes these sound sources are kept beat-free, and sculpted into frighteningly noisy atmospheres, or shot through with eerie silent pauses and gaps."

MATMOS: Quasi Objects CD (OLE 381 CD). $15.00

Matador-UK-only reissue of the 2nd Matmos album, previously issued by the band on their own Vague Terrain imprint. "As the title indicates, on this release Matmos have an ethic of restricting sound sources to everyday and not-so-everyday objects (balloons, whoopee cushions, walkie talkies, latex fetish clothing, a banjo, the human body). These objects and bodies are 'sounded' for their vocabulary of whumps, squeaks, twangs, tears, clicks and groans, and the resulting banks of raw materials are hammered into polyglot rhythmic shapes."

YO LA TENGO: Summer Sun CD (OLE 548 CD). $14.00

"Recorded with longtime associate Roger Moutenot, is a subtle stylistic shift from its predecessor — upbeat, swinging and sweet, but no less haunting when the moment calls for it. The trio of Georgia Hubley, Ira Kaplan and James McNew have issued their every-couple-of-years reminder that no one does this kinda thing better (even if we've never quite determined what this kinda thing is)."

YO LA TENGO: Summer Sun 2LP (OLE 548 LP). $18.00

Double LP version, gatefold sleeve.

MOGWAI: Happy Songs For Happy People LP (OLE 567 LP). $11.00

LP version.

ARAB STRAP: Monday At The Hug & Pint CD (OLE 577 CD). $14.00

"Arab Strap's 'love-sick spoken word tales of sex and betrayal' get to a new level on Monday at the Hug & Pint, an uplifting, orchestrated, string-laden record that turns the band's black-and-white blues into technicolor. After a couple years off (and some solo albums in the interim), Monday is an exhilarating step forward for their terrifying but gorgeous vision of the after-hours world."

ARAB STRAP: Monday At The Hug & Pint LP (OLE 577 LP). $11.00
LP version.

MATCHLESS RECORDINGS (UK):

PREVOST, EDWIN: No Sound Is Innocent Book (MR COPULA). $35.00

Published by a Matchless imprint, Copula, this book documents the history and underlying philosophy of AMM by its percussionist and founding member Eddie Prevost. Essential for anyone curious about the internal fabric and inspiration of AMM. No cover price; 192 pages, trade paperback.

PREVOST, EDDIE: Minute Particulars Book (MR COPULA2). $35.00

Eddie Prevost (AMM)'s 2nd book of writings to be published by Matchless. Subtitled: "Meanings in music-making in the wake of hierarchical realignments and other essays." Paperbound, 178 pages. The first half of the book is a series of essays relating to the subtitle; the 2nd half is a collection of additional essays (written 1984-2002) on: The Ganelin Trio, John Zorn, Keith Rowe & John Tilbury, etc. — including various album liners notes, magazine articles, etc.

PREVOST, EDDIE: Live Vols 1 & 2 CD (MRCD01/02). $19.00

AMM's drummer Eddie Prevost has also led some fine British free jazz groups; these LPs (from 1977) feature: Geoff Hawkins (tenor sax), Gerry Gold (trumpet), Marcio Mattos (bass) & Prevost (drums). This CD reissues the deleted LPs from the 70s.

AMM: To Hear And Back Again AMM CD (MRCD03). $19.00

A reissue of what is chronologically the 3rd full AMM album, following AMM:1966 and The Crypt. Recorded during the years of 1973-75, this marks an unusual and little recognized period in the group's history. For about 5 years, Keith Rowe (and his guitar and electronics) had left the group (along with Cornelius Cardew), leaving AMM as a working duo of Eddie Prevost (drums) and Lou Gare (tenor saxophone). That makes this the most jazz-like version of AMM, but as the liner notes (by Martin Davidson) make clear in fascinating detail, this is not jazz; "absolutely nothing (melody, harmony, rhythm, tempo) was predetermined." This CD add three pieces of previously unavailable material. Unique document in their saga, but not necessarily the place to start.

AMM: The Crypt - 12th June 1968 2CD (MRCD05). $35.00

This monstrous, early set of noise is now available in complete form (31 previously non-LP minutes on this dbl CD - total of 110 minutes). Dense, original, crucial to the history of massive sound presentation and its aesthetics.

AMM: Generative Themes CD (MRCD06). $19.00

Studio recording from 1982, with the addition of a previously unavailable 31 minute piece from 1983 added (from the o/p LP version). This marks the recording debut of John Tilbury (piano) in the group, plus the now reunited core of Prevost and Keith Rowe (guitar, electronics). Absolutely stunning improvisational "noise" from a very serious standpoint ensemble.

PREVOST QUARTET, EDDIE: Continuum+ CD (MRCD07). $19.00

Larry Stabbins (tenor, soprano sax), Vervan Weston (piano), Marcio Mattos (double bass), Eddie Prevost (drums). Re-mixed re-release of the LP Continuum which featured the performance made at the Bracknell Jazz Festival, 3rd July 1983, together with 30 minutes of hitherto unreleased studio material recorded in 1985. "It moves forward in a complicated, constantly mutating web of stylistic references to musical precedents within jazz and twentieth century music, overlapped in a restless search for new textures, moods, dramatic interludes, and possible resolutions. Some listeners may feel — as others have over the years — that sections of the Quartet's music sounds like bebop heard at a distance or in a dream." — Alan Durant.

RESOUND: Resoundings CD (MRCD08). $19.00

"Peter McPhail (soprano saxophones, flute); Tony Moore (double bass); Eddie Prevost (drums). Re-release of an LP first issued in 1986 together with additional material.

AMM: The Inexhaustible Document CD (MRCD13). $19.00

Recorded live in London on 1/10/87. Prevost, Rowe, Tilbury, and Rohan de Saram (cello). The organic control of sound on this disc is spectacular; pretty much a must for serious listeners worldwide.

SMITH, DAVE: First Piano Concert CD (MRCD14). $19.00

Solo piano works composed by a member of the Scratch Orchestra, covering a broad selection of styles, performed by AMM's John Tilbury.

DUNMALL, PAUL: Soliloquy CD (MRCD15). $19.00

A solo release of multi-tracked saxophones.

AMM/TOM PHILLIPS: Irma CD (MRCD16). $19.00

An opera by Phillips featuring AMM plus guests like Lol Coxhill, Phil Minton, etc.

SUPERSESSION: CD (MRCD17). $19.00

Evan Parker (ss, ts), Keith Rowe, Barry Guy (b), Eddie Prevost.

FREE JAZZ QUARTER: Premonitions CD (MRCD18). $19.00

Paul Rutherford (tnb), Harrison Smith (ts, ss, bcl), Tony Moore (cello) & Eddie Prevost (d). Recorded in the UK, 7/6/89.

ROWE, KEITH: A Dimension Of Perfectly Ordinary Reality CD (MRCD19). $19.00

1990 solo CD by the AMM guitarist. "Rowe is a master of an invented instrument made out of electric guitar, amplifier, speakers, various accessories (mostly quite ordinary), radios and himself... The playing interweaves and overlays human and electric forces in such a way that they become extensions of one another. As solo performance it involves a remarkable virtuosity, in the ingenuity inventing the system and its components, the ways in which they are deployed, the sustained energy and presence of the sound produced." —Christian Wolff.

AMM: The Nameless Uncarved Block CD (MRCD20). $19.00

Live in Zurich 1990. 74 minutes of Gare/Prevost/Rowe/Tilbury, showing they have hardly run into a creative wall in their 3rd decade of existence.

CONSPIRACY: Intravenous CD (MRCD21). $19.00

Improvising ensemble from UK in a somewhat similar vein to AMM.

MOORE, TONY: Observations CD (MRCD22). $19.00

Great, reverberating solo cello recordings.

AMM: Newfoundland CD (MRCD23). $19.00

76 minute piece recorded live in 1992, featuring the Rowe/Prevost/Tilbury trio; tremendous atmospherics and one of their ultimate recordings.

ORGANUM: Veil Of Tears CD (MRCD24). $19.00

Collection of recent tracks, recorded by the Organum core of David Jackman, Michael Prime, Dinah Jane Rowe and Jim O'Rourke; further mastering of sound cluster presentation and development.

CRISPELL/EDDIE PREVOST, MARILYN: Band On The Wall CD (MRCD25). $19.00

Great 1994 piano/drum duets, of an intense, physical nature.

AMM: Combines & Laminates & Treatise '84 CD (MRCD26). $19.00

CD issue of material previously available as an LP on Pogus, with an additional 32 minute track, called "Treatise '84" ("an improvisation inspired and guided, rather than dictated or controlled by Cornelius Cardew's graphic masterpiece"). New artwork and additional notes by Prévost compared to the LP. Recorded live at the Arts Club, Chicago on 5/25/95, this is the trio of Tilbury, Rowe & Prévost.

ORGANUM/EDDIE PREVOST: Flayed/Crux CD (MRCD27). $19.00

CD issue of an LP previously issued on Silent Records in 1985. "Crux" is an Organum track, featuring Andrew Chalk on bowed gong, David Jackman on drone flute & bowed piano, Dinah Jane Rowe on drone flute and Stephen Stapleton on chair. It's a pretty classic piece to say the least. "If you like the dronescapes of traditional Far Eastern musics, you'll love 'Crux'; if you wiggled out to La Monte Young at his most conceptual, you'll do much the same with this. Better still, you may love 'Crux' having previously heard none of these supposed influences; you're simply wired for sound." —David Ilic. "Flayed" features mainly AMM's Prévost on drums, general percussion and acme thunderer whistle, while Jackman added some bowed gongs and electronic sounds.

MOORE/JOSEPH VALLRIBERA, TONY: Assessments and Translations CD (MRCD28). $19.00

2nd Matchless CD by Moore of double-tracked cello works, as inspired by the abstract artwork of Vallribera. Lines blend, collapse and overlap within the weave, speaking to those who close their eyes just right.

TILBURY, JOHN: Cornelius Cardew Piano Music 1957-1970 CD (MRCD29). $19.00

Studio recordings from 1996 of solo piano music by the late composer (and key figure in the early days of AMM), Cardew, as performed by AMM's Tilbury. "All the music included in this recording belongs to Cardew's early period of radical exploration and experimentation in the late 1950s and 60s, when having fully assimilated the advanced language of the European avant-garde, he went on to develop new techniques and new aspects of indeterminacy, to use notation in increasingly flexible and open-ended ways and to encourage the creative involvement of performers in the realisation of his musical ideas."

AMM: Live in Allentown USA CD (MRCD30). $19.00

Recording of a concert given at the Muhlenberg College Arts Center Recital Hall, Allentown, PA, on Sunday 4/24/94. The trio of Keith Rowe (guitar), John Tilbury (piano) & Eddie Prévost (percussion). One beautiful 60-minute piece in the style of expansive, spatial-detailed improvisation that they have so fully mastered in recent years — the purest in absolute sound.

AMM: Laminar 3CD (MRCD31). $48.00

"A three CD set marking thirty years in the making of AMMmusic. Three concert performances: Aarhus, Denmark, 1969. London, 1982. New York, 1994. Featuring variously: Cornelius Cardew, Lou Gare, Christopher Hobbs, Eddie Prévost, Keith Rowe and John Tilbury. Includes an illustrated booklet with commentaries by Jim O'Rourke, Victor Schonfield, Malcolm LeGrice and John Tilbury." Tremendous historical document of all exclusive material to this box, perfectly packaged, desperately awaited. "AMM moves on or comes together on any plane: it could be volume, speed or density as much as pitch. The most peaceful and united parts might be the ones which are the busiest and most crowded. AMM uses all the dimensions of musical space to create the feeling that sound is a solid object in solid space — complete with size, shape, performance. It depends where they are sitting, what they are focussing on, how long and at what stage they can concentrate, and how widely or narrowly. There is no whole or centre, only parts. AMM reveals the behaviour of sound, and its anomalies. Low sounds absorb high ones, loud sounds blot out soft ones, but most sounds placed side by side either co-exist, reach out to each other or merge. Sometimes you can hear one sound being squeezed until it splits into two or more. The melody need not be sound changing: it could simply be sound being" —Victor Schonfield.

PREVOST, EDDIE: Loci Of Change: Sound And Sensibility CD (MRCD32). $19.00

First ever solo percussion release by the founding member of AMM, recorded in 1996. "Such complex layering is a characteristic of AMM music and it is to AMM music that the most immediate comparisons must be made. The 'landscape' pieces presented here evoke most nearly the unhurried, laminar, deep listening qualities of AMM music. Comparisons and parallels may be found with the big drum cultures of Africa and Japan, the Korean ajaeng and komungo, the invented instruments of Harry Partch, the low-tech electronics of Hugh Davies and Paul Lytton: but these are comparisons of detail, the broad structural concerns are the same ones to be heard in classic AMM performance... The surprise lies in the technical achievement involved, since such an evocation is no easy task for a solo performer. To reveal the nuts and bolts of how this astonishingly rich, complex, many coloured multi-layered music is made is perhaps as crass and unnecessary as explaining how Ad Reinhardt maintained such control over nine shades of black pigment or how Sonny Rollins can alter the tone colour of the tenor saxophone to sound like a flute or a baritone. Of course there is a technical explanation involving motorised beaters and plectra, strings, bows, hollow bridges of metal and wood, etc. — these are the inventions which EP has always been so good at. The resulting music is the discovery."

PARKER/EDDIE PREVOST, EVAN: Most Material 2CD (MRCD33). $35.00

1997 studio recordings between Parker (saxophones) and AMM's Prévost (percussion). "Double album, double solos of two distinctive musicians, becoming duets in a relatively rare space between solo playing and ensemble. Reed and percussion start at different places, the working through breath, the other pulse of materials being struck, one typically characterised by line, the other by attack, producing in the first pitch configurations, in the second beat patterns (Prévost doesn't use the specifically pitched mallet instruments). Each player comes with a distinctive sonic identity, but they're frequently crossing, the main intersection is sonority. The saxophone can splutter, click and gesture, notably in the extreme registers and the rapid shifts between them, with just sound. Prévost makes long, sustained attackless sounds by bowing his cymbals and gong, and his invented string drum tosses up melodic fragments. Percussion drives and saxophone sings, Parker can drive just as hard and Prévost makes a singing sound. Sometimes you can't tell which of the two's sounds you're hearing." —Christian Wolff.

PREVOST TRIO, EDDIE: Touch CD (MRCD34). $19.00

A new exploratory impov trio featuring Tom Chant (soprano sax) & John Edwards (double bass). "This trio, quite intuitively (because I never spelt out what I hoped would happen) works in a subtle, attentive way: examining what the music is and where it is going all within the process of playing; feeling the sound to be complementary and in contrast to other sounds; feeling the stuff of the instruments, and sensing the presence of other creative beings. This is part of the extraordinary and gloriously uncertain matrix of what making and listening to music should be about." —Prévost.

AMM: Before driving to the chapel... CD (MRCD35). $19.00

...we took coffee with Rick and Jennifer Reed. The Recording of a concert given at Rice University, Houston, TX, USA on Friday 19th April 1996. A stupendous continuation of the 90's AMM sound, ala previous documents such as Newfoundland, Live In Allentown and From A Strange Place. Shifting patterns consistently emerge; via Prévost's bowed percussion; via Rowe's distinct prepared guitar emanations that so distinctly verify the interior nature of electricity; via Tilbury's near-hallucinatory piano lines which seem to take on three dimensional status on this recording. Ultimately, it's AMM. Whose albums have been described as "alike or unlike as trees." This is another one, but it's not like the others. Music that you can play at almost any volume, at any time, forever.

ROWE/JEFFREY MORGAN, KEITH: Dial: Log-Rhythm CD (MRCD36). $19.00

"A duo consisting of AMM's guitar-played-by-household-utensils-ist Keith Rowe and also saxophonist Jeffrey Morgan. This CD is a recording of a concert held at The Loft, in Cologne Germany on October 14, 1997, abound with great textures/sonics & certainly a textbook case for abstract-guitar invention in a real time/reactive setting. Earnest." — Hrvatski.

PREVOST/VERYAN WESTON, EDDIE: Concert, V CD (MRCD37). $19.00

Eddie Prevost (drums) & Vervan Weston (piano). Recorded in England, 5/98, mixed by Evan Parker. "Beauty as an Ear Thing" is a meticulous exploration of texture, full of soft explosions, the reverberant ring of spinning metals, and overtones that glow like embers, dying into silence; this music wouldn't be misplaced on an AMM disc. 'Clustered' rebuilds something out of the emptiness. The dislocated rhythmic feel is like an abstraction of something Monk and Max Roach might have played together. 'Fingers and drums' also conveys the sense of inventing almost from scratch, asking 'what material?' and digging into it to find out. Finally, 'Hammer and Tonic' a roaring thing, leaps from the starting gate as if all questions were resolved long ago..." — Steve Lake.

SUCH: The Issue At Hand 2CD (MRCD38). $35.00

Such is the trio of Yoshikazu Iwamoto (shakuhachi), John Tilbury (piano), Eddie Prévost (percussion). This double CD consists of one 151-minute continuous piece of beautiful Morton Feldman-inspired minimal driftage. "In this recording session, right from the start one confronts aural magic. John Tilbury is one of the most outstanding interpreters of Morton Feldman's music and one hears a certain Feldmanesque sensibility in the extraordinary way the piano sounds are placed in time and the unique quality of his touch. How wonderfully this complements Yoshikazu Iwamoto's contributions that seem to encase the spirit of bamboo and to draw us into the silence at the heart of the Buddhism. Eddie Prévost by his presence, draws everything together into an indivisible whole, through responses that have been honed from years of working in free or improvised music, where the freedom and openness have always triumphed over narrower and more provincial stylistic considerations. It offers an inspiration to our own aspirations as listeners to find what it is to be simply human...it requires a quieter courage, the courage of kindness, sensitivity, thoughtfulness, mutual respect, listening as well as playing, supporting, taking a chance, working together. These are all qualities at the heart of the music recorded on this CD. We should cherish them." — Frank Denyer.

TILBURY/EVAN PARKER, JOHN: Two Chapters and An Epilogue CD (MRCD39). $19.00

Studio recordings from 8/3/98: Tilbury (piano), Parker (tenor and soprano saxophones). "These musicians have chosen to eschew the given media of jazz, from whence Evan Parker received much of his initial inspiration, and the classical world from which John Tilbury received his early and formative training, in order to become autonomous human beings who can engage creatively and practically — not only with the world of sound, but with the world of philosophy, and thence reflect upon a civil society. Why make are if not wanting to indicate other worlds and to transcend this one?" — Eddie Prévost.

PREVOST, EDDIE: Silver Pyramid CD (MRCD40). $19.00

"Eddie Prévost's Silver Pyramid — directed by Keith Rowe. An historic recording from a Music Now festival, London 1969. Features the Music Now Ensemble including Cornelius Cardew, Keith Rowe, Lou Gare, Eddie Prévost and others." One continuous scraping, atmospheric 74-minute live piece, part of a Roundhouse festival which also featured works by Sonic Arts Group, John Cage, Christian Wolff, LaMonte Young, Terry Jennings, Alvin Lucier, Robert Ashley, etc. The piece is based on a silver pyramid art icon designed by Prévost ("a wooden framed structure covered with shimmering, reflecting material that shot light out at every angle"). This piece anticipated the imminent arrival of the Scratch Orchestra and is a vital missing link in the documentation of the AMM-associated free-sound continuum. "I listen to the silvery threads of sound catching a near glimpse of this or that person. Keith is prowling and growling the whole time — worrying at the music, there are metallic scrapings, cello sounds (that I think must have come from Cornelius) and wistful whistling on penny flutes." — Prévost.

BARK!: Swing CD (MRCD41). $19.00

Ex-Manchester scene electroacoustic ensemble coming out of the same scene as Stock, Hausen & Walkman, the Spaceheads and the Honkies; featuring Rex Caswell (electric guitar), Phillip Marks (percussion) and Paul Obermayer (electronics). From Richard Scott's liner notes: "...the music appears as a kind of conversational game, built of molecules and fragments, dots and dashes, calls and responses, moves and counter-moves...it is quite severe music, sometimes ugly and disturbing, but it's also always striving to be beautiful. At its best, when its shapes evolve patiently and inevitably into clear and tangible orders, vistas and architectures, the result is really quite magnificent."

CHARAOUI/LELY/WRIGHT: 396. CD (MRCD42). $19.00

Yann Charaoui (cymbals and table top samplers), John Lely (piano and prepared bal-bal tarang), Seymour Wright (alto saxophone). "The new austerity on the first CD from the young exponents of the growing art of improvisation...in the year 2000, this approach in which traditional musical instruments are twisted into complex sound transformers which match the new sound sources available from the burgeoning electronics and computer sciences has become a medium in its own right." — Eddie Prévost.

EDDIE PREVOST TRIO: The Virtue In If CD (MRCD43). $19.00

Eddie Prevost (drums) with Tom Chant (soprano saxophone) and John Edwards (double bass). Recorded at at Gateway Studios, England on 8/28/00.

AMM: Tunes Without Measure Or End CD (MRCD44). $19.00

"Rowe/Tilbury/Prévost. Recorded in Glasgow, Scotland May 2000, at the free radiCCAIs festival, curated by Evan Parker. First AMM CD since 1996 recording. One continuous 58-minute piece."

CARDEW, CORNELIUS: Chamber Music 1955-1964: Apartment House CD (MRCD45). $19.00

"Recorded by Apartment House directed by Anton Lukoszevics. First commercially released recordings of many of Cardew's early compositions."

AMM: Fine CD (MRCD46). $19.00

"Recording of the concert they gave with together with the dancer Fine Kwiatkowski at Musique Action festival produced by CCAM, Vendoeuvre-les-Nancy, France on 24th May 2001." One continuous 59 minute piece by the current Tilbury/Rowe/Prévost trio.

VA: Matchless Day At The Freedom Of The City Festival? 2001 2CD (MRCD47). $35.00

"CD1 features: Bark!, Eddie Prevost solo, Particles, Romuald Wadych and Denis Dubovtsev. CD2 features: The Eddie Prevost Trio (with Tom Chant and John Edwards), Yann Charaoui, John Lely and Seymour Wright, John Tilbury and Evan Parker." "The Evening: The little official, institutional or media recognition (to examine the equivalence which is taken for granted between these three adjectives reveals plenty of horrors) which is (not) enjoyed by free improvisation sends its defenders into habitual errors of groupuscular logic. There's nothing new under the sun, in the arena of polemics concerning the presumed parallels (or lack thereof) with (free) jazz, everyone is right and wrong at the same time, because there is no one improvised music or one (free) jazz, and from the start one can say everything about nothing or vice versa — it is rare to hear Eddie Prevost's remark to Derek Bailey cited: 'They criticised us by saying 'that's not jazz' — in an important sense, these remarks were completely erroneous.' The founder of AMM is not dogmatic. We cannot now explore in depth the implications of this spiny 'in an important sense', but Eddie Prevost's music will illustrate it this evening some ten years down the road." —Philippe Alen

PREVOST, EDDIE: Material Consequences CD (MRCD48). $19.00

A solo percussion CD from AMM's Eddie Prevost. Studio recordings from 7/61/01. From Eddie's liner notes: "My work on the accompanying CD has particular connections with my experience within AMM. There is a strong concern with tonal, textural and tactile qualities, and the relationships we have with sound. These might be considered as the aural equivalents of fabric and shading. There is also, of course, a strong polyrhythmic component to this music. However, the dynamic priority is definitely dialogical...Alone in the studio, it is just me trying to breathe life into the materials I have chosen to have at hand. The gongs, chimes, bells, strings, skins and resonating boxes are a rich environment."

SAKADA: Undistilled CD (MRCD49). $19.00

Sakada is: Mattin (computer feedback), Rosy Parlone (computers and radio) and Eddie Prevost (percussion). "Undistilled was recorded at live performances in London and Rotterdam in 2002. Components are a restricted range of percussion (Eddie Prevost), electronic sounds confected earlier for intuitive, tweaked release (Rosy Parlone), and nervous hyper-attention to every noise present, allowing spontaneous digital transfiguration of some (Mattin). The product is a formidably dense mesh of textures and a subtle alignment of urgency and stasis, persistence and interruption. A sound-body exalting in its raw and varied outer abrasions, tormented by heaving intestinal bass and pierced irregularity by silver screeches, yet somehow concealing a few inner surfaces of all but languid smoothness. Needless to say (or to continue demonstrating), it is wholly incommensurable with any attempt at verbal description."

FURT: Defkt CD (MRCD50). $19.00

Furt is the long running duo of: Richard Barrett & Paul Obermayer: electronics. They have been performing together since 1986. This CD collects 5 pieces recorded over the years 1997-2001; "Plint" is a studio piece derived entirely from piano-duo improvisations. "Gute Nacht" uses 7 songs from Schubert's Winterreise as its point of departure. "Volksmusik" features the voice of Charlie Chaplin. The 45-minute "Ultimatum" is dedicated to Karlheinz Stockhausen.

WOLFF, CHRISTIAN: Early Piano Music (1951-1961) 2CD (MRCD51). $35.00

Early Christian Wolf piano music (written 1951-61), performed by: John Tilbury & Christian Wolff (pianos), Eddie Prevost (percussion). Studio recordings from 2001/2. "During the period when these works were composed (1951-61), Christian Wolff was closely associated with John Cage, Morton Feldman, Earle Brown and David Tudor (they are sometimes referred to together as the New York School)". Feldman later remarked that he was profoundly indebted to Christian Wolff ("I think of him as my artistic conscience")... First impressions may be of a music unlike any other: abrupt, delicate, astringent, enigmatic, disconcerting. The effect is as of isolated objects in space, sounds which seem to come from nowhere and lead nowhere, appearing and disappearing unpredictably, framed by silences. Attention is drawn to the immediacy of each sound. The ear is finely tuned to precise details, a microscopic world in close-up. Expectations derived from other kinds of music are not much help here; one is encouraged to listen afresh, with special alertness, as in unfamiliar territory, searching for clues. Technically, the music arises directly from the mechanical action of the piano and emphasises its percussive character. The sounds are not joined up in familiar ways, the pedal is not used to give continuity, there is no legato phrasing, no illusion of the 'singing line'; instead there is a sharpness of attack, a stark exposure and isolation of individual sounds. The use of preparations enhances this impression: a method developed by Cage in the 1940s of transforming the sounds of the piano by the insertion of small objects (screws, coins, wedges, wood, rubber and other materials) between the strings. The sounds are altered in a variety of ways, in terms of pitch, timbre and resonance; new timbral qualities are discovered, reaching out into the diverse sound world of percussion instruments."

BROWN, EARLE: Chamber Music CD (MRCD52). $19.00

Recorded 1999-2002. A collection of early works by Brown, written 1952-64. Includes: "Folio", "Corroboree" (for three pianos); "Four Systems" (multi-timbral realisation); "Tracking Pierrot" (for ensemble). Return of the long dormant Max label (Ernst's non-color-coded brother-like imprint). Last release was Markus Schmickler's storming "Daniel/Christian" 12" in 1999. "2 wild & quirky acid-like trax to burn the house down!"

MAXERNST (GERMANY):

BRINKMANN, THOMAS: Rosa CD (ERNST CD001). $15.50

First compilation of tracks that was issued by Germany's Thomas Brinkmann, original released in 2000. This CD compiled many of the legendary Ernst 12" series, partly with new mixes and versions. That series of classic late 90s orange sleeved/labeled 12"s, featured all German-ish female names for tracks (aka Anna/Beate, Clara/Doris, Erika/Frauke, Gisela/Heidi, Inge/Jutta, Monika/Nicola, Petra/Olga, Susi/Trix, Ulla/Vera, Wilma/Xenia, Yvette/Zora). Ultra-minimal, cutting, Brinkmann-esque. Some of the most riveting electronic music of the last decade and self-defining. With one bonus previously unreleased track.

BRINKMANN, THOMAS: Klick CD (MAXE 001CD). $15.50

Year 2001 release. Brinkmann's compilation of his classic "cut" (with a knife) techno tracks on the Max Ernst label. "And in fact a 'cut' in many senses. 10 tracks cut with a knife into the final loop of old records. 2 decks, a mixer, an isolator and a multi-effect processor had been necessary to play the cut'n'scratch loops you'll find on this CD. The whole project is based on a loop which was done in the 70s on a 'Tamlia Motown' record by Thelma Houston. While the needle was going round and round, the idea arose to take a cutter and scratch directly into the vinyl, into the last groove, the locked groove. You'll hear one of these first experiments on track 7 with an additional loop. The strong ground noise is a result of about more than 1000 revolvings of this loop to be found on 'Feran Loop' (suppose 07) but less noisy. The two tracks (1+10) with vocals are done with two decks as well and there is no post production at all except the mastering of Lu-Sky-D. Some tracks are done without effects like the third or ninth and purely made with the help of the Vestax Isolator. Great machine! And by the way thanks to Japanese engineering and Christian Marclay." — Thomas Brinkmann

LUCIANO: Live At Weetamix CD (MAXE 002CD). $15.50

The 2nd CD release on Thomas Brinkmann's MaxErnst label, from the Swiss producer Luciano (previous 12" releases on Mental Grooves, Bruchstucke, Klang Elektronik). Beautiful Q-tip cover artwork. "This outstandingly good Weetamix session from Mental Groove's Luciano has hit us like a bolt out the blue on this fine Summer afternoon. For those of you in need of enlightenment, Mental Groove is Switzerland's answer to Berlin's Bitch Control — a house of disoid madness and futuristic electronic exploration. This, however, offers us something a little different from the impossibly cool Luciano. 9 tracks mixed in from start to finish, the aroma here is one of pure innovation, sounds culled from an archive of musical inspiration that makes constant audio reference to Atom Heart, Akufen, Autechre and Brinkmann himself, tracks intricately pieced together from an array of found sounds, layer upon layer of tweaked samples and loops that come together in one giant impressive stretch of beats and cuts. As live sets go, it really doesn't get much better than this."

BRINKMANN, THOMAS: Row CD (MAXE 003CD). $15.50

2002 release. Brilliant Brinkmann compilation, featuring a selection of tracks from the MaxErnst vinyl catalog (many in new versions), plus other obscure tracks and one brand new unreleased track. Repetitive, euphoric, Brinkmann's best music is far better than heroin and this CD is fine reminder of his importance in the world of contemporary music after a relatively quiet period in his release schedule. Track listing: "Corvette" (from max.E.10), "N.M.Q.P. (from Fragmente, Swiss vinyl), "max.E.3" (new version), "max.E.3" (another new version), "max.E.4" (new version), "isch" (from the limited Oral CDR), "Loplop" (from max.E.6), "Mexico" (from max.E.8), "ribosom" (from Supposé 170), "tooth-paste" (unreleased). Brinkmann on music: "The same structures can often be found behind different media — music, architecture, stone, paint, whatever. If you strip the surface, you'll often find the same underlying structures in different artistic fields. Take architecture from ancient Greece, for example. It reminds me of a good techno track. You have the columns — these are the hookline — then there's the roof, the stairway that leads you into a large room. A good track has a room as well, though much more virtual. The structure which is working on you is in a way not so different from this architecture. People like the simple structure of architecture, precise styles, and in this sense it's the same for both architecture and music."

TBA (AKA NATALIE 'TUSIA' BERIDZE): TBA CD (MAXE 005 CD). $15.50

"24 year old female music producer from Tbilisi / Georgia, also known as a member of Goslab, a Georgian art laboratory. Her academic education in political and media sciences at American Institutes went in radically different direction from art and music. but it constantly appeared to be a strong challenge surrounding around her, starting from her family, ending with friends and people she worked with, such as Nikakoi (WFM Rec.) Erast (Laboratory instinct) and Gogi Dzodzushvili, who used Tusias' vocals and lyrics in most of their songs. Tusia grew up within a space, which is something like an erratic mixture of controversial and at the same time logical records, which leads to a mixed Georgian, Russian and European production. It initiated in childhood under the tunes of The Smiths, Lou Reed, Weather Report, David Bowie, Cocteau Twins, Bjork, Aphex Twin, Squarepusher, Stravinsky, Prokofiev, Shostakovich, Jeff Mills, Autechre, Kraftwerk, Georgian folk music and much more, which came out transformed from the rough speakers of Soviet production in the tiny studio space of Goslab, which appeared to be a shelter and a medium for translating brutal external reality into the means to survive within it. This was the soundtrack of the political and social transformations in Georgia. From Georgian monarchs to Russian ones, from the collapse of Soviet colonial blockade to the undermined democracy, independence in poverty and finally to 'satin revolution' of the transmitting forcelines. The 21 tracks from the TBA album are precise and straight sketches of the background between such different cultural influences, from the edge, between Asia, Russia and the so called western world. Music from the geographical top (Kaukasus) and very end of Europe in the south east, where despite the whole external chaos, it rounds up with one clear sentence: Georgia is like a spiritual Tokyo."

BRINKMANN, THOMAS: Tokyo + 1 CD (MAXE 006CD). $15.50

"Sound can be a strongest narrator. All-medium-integrated lens, channeled to all organs and senses. As soon as it enters us, it starts to be controlled by our predisposed notions and somewhat familiar projections, that link to all kinds of data in our unconscious. It leads to forsake the roots and toughest DNA programs running in us by touching so called untouchable and inviolable areas of our being with its huge emotional input, hypnotizing by bouncing algorithms, translating thousand bodies into one whole, determining our emotional and intellectual oscillation flow. And yet, there are certain tones that our ears are not able to perceive as specialties that are worth capturing and analyzing. Analyzing, because those sounds are the very basics of our brain machineries. Without ever knowing, just like millions of unnoticeable smells, the most ordinary sounds control our unconscious much more than any other music on tape or perfume in a bottle. Often we find ourselves frustrated and we fail to realize that this condition is due to the bad soundtrack that assisted us during the day. And even if we realize it, we're unable to mute it. The only thing we can do is to explore it, just like any musical piece or movie and track it's input through us. The more we're completely integrated into this sounds, the more alienated we become while encountering them in the closed room, where all this same noises gain gravity and become one concrete sequence. Our brain starts to resist the resemblance of these noise with the musical tunes. [Tokyo + 1] is compiled of the aforementioned sounds, recorded in Japan and Greece. As we thoroughly listen to 9 tracks, we first find ourselves in a certain maze of discouragement, which is derived from incapacity of finding the similarity and comparison. Shortly this illogical puzzle vanishes along with the walls and geographical borders and we find ourselves in the middle of the unknown culture and location. This virtual traveling becomes in fact most factual in next moment, bringing our entire body into motion, moving through the places where the sounds have been initially captured. But even after this point, the sounds accelerate our expectations, by their earsplitting level, unnaturally sharpening the picture and our motion through it. Usually blurred environment around us becomes as concrete as never before, converting into close-up and giving each infinitesimal detail its' exceptional meaning. This is a concrete tour that initiates in Tokyo and rounds up in Ikaria, where the music ends and motion and sound around us return to their usual level of display and perception with one definite note: we can loose ourselves and repeat this tour over and over again."

POST INDUSTRIAL BOYS: Post Industrial Boys CD (MAXE 007CD). $15.50

"Post Industrial Boys is the debut album by Gogi Ge.Org aka George Dzodzushvili. Seven different voices are found on Post Industrial Boys. All share an affinity to Goslab, a group of artists from Tbilisi, Georgia (including TBA/Natalie Beridze, Nikakoi, Gio + Maya Sumbadze...). Goslab is a phantom, which manifests itself as a culture through the performances of individual members and their various projects. In this sense, Goslab is somewhat like Georgia. Georgia is a post-communist phantom — a pipeline in Off-Europe. A projection screen. There is a 5-hour time difference between London and Tbilisi. Tbilisi starts singing while America and Western Europe are still asleep. Post-industrial: The fifth Kondratieff wave will see the transition from hardware to software. Marx is on the finish line, somewhere between the greater and smaller Caucasus. Oil is entropy, ashes. 'Reproduction of what cannot be transformed' (Paul Valéry). Survival in global capitalism. Post-industrial joys. Streams. Sounds."

MAX ERNST & FREUNDE (THOMAS BRINKMANN): v2 12" (MAXF 02). $10.00

"Complete mystery record alert: On the first volume, it took us a while to get to the etchings (which read quite clearly: Philus, Triple R, two Brinkmann). This time we started there. Nothing. No information aside from the standard 'Pole @ D&M' tag, the MPO matrix number, and an e-mail address (withheld on the grounds of further anonymity). The A side tracks tinker with various 'variation' setups (see: "Studio 1 Variationen" or Concept 1 Variations) over unknown rhythms. The two B-Side use similar setups & could even be deemed 'jazzy'. Whatever..." — Hrvatski.

PLAGIA/BODY COMBAT: Max. Ernst # 14 12" (MAXF 14). $9.00

"Brinkmann has been scouting these fresh talents from Lisboa and giving both artists the Max Ernst stamp of approval. Freaky minimal electro-techno vibes, stunning, sophisticated soundscapes and subtle shifting melodicism all add up to a highly recommended release."

TBA (AKA NATALIE 'TUSIA' BERIDZE): Georgia Is Like Spiritual Tokyo LP (MAXF 15). $13.00

"TBA is Georgian and means 'lake'. TBA is 24 years old Natalie or Tusja Beridze from Tbilisi/Georgia. 6 new tracks + 3 from the CD + one remix from Nikakoi/Georgia, known from his works for WMF Rec.. The record is part of soundtrack for a movie from Georgian director Salome Machaidze. Some of their activities are based on ideas of 'goslab', a foundation for cultural movements out of the ex Russian nowhere land, in between contradictions such as Europe and Asia. Georgia — a pipeline ... from the silkroad to oil, to gas. Music like gas: fugitive, narcotic, incomprehensible. a pipeline to hidden sounds. The voice of Tusja is part of this electronic soundscapes. The music may remind of works from Björk or Richard D.

James. It's gentle and inconspicuous, nevertheless decided and clear and it has it's address: Georgia Is like spiritual Tokyo..."

BRINKMANN, THOMAS: Lovesong/Hatesong 12" (MAXF 16). $9.00

"Lovesong/Hatesong" is an extract from the upcoming Brinkmann album Tokyo+1 as a 2 track 12" with the 'Kid's War Cover' It's a strictly limited edition with 1200 copies. The tracks are banging the shit out of the head. Is it industrial, noise, techno? Is it love, is it hate? 2 sides of the same medal."

SOUL CENTER (THOMAS BRINKMANN): * CD (WVB 001 CD). $15.50

First of three Thomas Brinkmann releases under the aegis of "Soul Center" (followed by the 2nd, untitled, album [WVB 004] and III, released by Novamute). Originally issued in 1999. "Slowly reveals itself as a series of 'variationen' on themes from classic (i.e. Stax/Curtom era) soul CHARTERS, barely recontextualized and completely discernable to any student of the genre (hence previous/intended paranoia). If it's any consolation, Brinkmann is thanked [alongside J(ürgen) Paape, G(eorge) Clinton, Theo Parrish, (the) U(ndisputed) Truth, D(an) Bell, F(our) Tops, R.R.R., etc.]... Spherical." — Hrvatski.

SOUL CENTER (THOMAS BRINKMANN): CD (WVB 004 CD). $15.50

Year 2000 release. The second Soul Center album from Thomas Brinkmann dives into the minutiae of sampled groove like nothing previously known to man. Utilizing source music via the likes of "Anne", "S. Tax", "H. Hancock", "E. Floyd", "St. Singers", "R. Thomas", "C. Thomas", "G. Clinton", "B. Kays", "U. Finger", "C. Morgenstern", & "R. Powder", this album mainlines the concept of musical euphoria and achieves instant classic status. Official hype: "Can I ask you one question, ain't I clean? What you're doin'? 29 years later the new bastard: Soul Center based on Wattstax... Are you ready for this, Artur? A psycho set with respect. Boy...big stuff... who in the funk do you think you are? You'll never be a morning star. Cause there are no stars in the sky, they're all on the ground. "You may call it soul with hot sauce. We call it the African truthjuice...the sperm of the sun." (Jim Ingram). Figure it out!"

MAXIMUM PRESSURE (UK):

DIGITAL'S ROOTS PRODUCTIONS, BOBBY: Flag Down High CD (MP 001 CD). $14.00

"We've listened to all the arguments about digital reggae and we've also listened to the music and if you're still unsure we can only urge you to listen again. Every 'new' musical form seems to be regarded as the end of music as we previously understood it and every 'new' musical form subsequently takes its place among the all time greats. Some of us are old enough to remember when all reggae sounded the same, when it was boring and monotonous and that it would never catch on."

DIGITAL'S ROOTS PRODUCTIONS, BOBBY: Flag Down High 2LP (MP 001 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

THE X-TERMINATOR SOUND: Rough Inna Town CD (MP 002 CD). $14.00

"This compilation regroupes some of the best productions of Philip' Fatis' Burrell producer of Sizzla and Luciano's best recording works; this 18 track album (running over 75 minutes of music) also includes titles from Ini Kamoze , Mikey General, Capleton, Jah cure, L.M.S. , Malachi and Turbulence. X-terminator is Jamaica's most revered roots and dancehall label of the modern era. Not since the days of Coxson Dodd's famous Studio One had anyone witnessed such an impressive stable of artists as that assembled by Fatis during the mid-to-late nineties, when Luciano, Capleton, Sizzla, and Beres Hammond, to name but a few, would all avail themselves of his studio time, creating many unforgettable hits in the progress. X-terminator was to lead such changes for the rest of the decade, much to the delight of those longing for original, meaningful songs, great melodies and arrangements, and a production style that not only looked towards embracing the international market, but also reached back into reggae's past. All the care and attention to Pressure Sounds releases will be evident in this Maximum Pressure product; extensive sleeve notes and fantastic photographs will all be a feature of this release."

VA: Dancehall Techniques: Winston Riley Productions 1986-1991 CD (MP 004 CD). $16.00

"The unstoppable productions of producer Winston 'Techniques' Riley span 5 decades and are as vital today as they ever have been. Maximum Pressure's fourth release focus's on the late 80s early 90s output which caused true dancehall mayhem on their original release. We have collected a cross section of the super rare and the most sought after of the Techniques output from this period. Some of the biggest names in reggae recorded for Winston Riley, and we have Buju Banton; Supercat; Tenor Saw and Pliers who are all amongst the best of Jamaica's DJs. 18 tracks of outstanding quality as well as some super rare 'Dub plate' intros that were dropped in Kingston sound clashes. This is the first time they will have been heard outside of the Kingston Dancehall. As well as the music we have a beautifully packaged CD and double vinyl, lovingly re-mastered and packaged."

VA: Dancehall Techniques: Winston Riley Productions 1986-1991 2LP (MP 004 LP). $21.00

Double LP version. "The unstoppable productions of producer Winston 'Techniques' Riley span 5 decades and are as vital today as they ever have been. MCMLXV (UK):

ZEITER, J.S.: Switch/Motion Sickness 12" (MCMLXV 001EP). $10.00

"Two storming new tracks arrive courtesy of J.S. Zeiter on this new MCMLXV 12". Already finding big favour with Michael Mayer and the Kompakt cognoscenti amongst others, this is definitely one to watch — both epics ready made for the outdoors season and filled with enough darkness for the warehouse. The opening cut 'Switch' sets the record straight in the first few bars, crisp percussion and a staunch synth set the groove alight, all topped with mechanoid handclaps and some scintillating, melodic work. Using repetition as the starting point, Mr Zeiter constructs lengthy, subtly edited tracks — staying trenchantly within the boundaries of techno, each deep groove is lovingly fashioned for an outstanding, classic feel and pure incendiary dancefloor potential. The melodic synths that appear and fade throughout the track are just one facet of the deep production, hinting at chasmic depths and disguising the amount of considered editing within the track. Flip over for the huge cut that is 'Motion Sickness', a glass-like arpeggiated melody modulates over the beats and creates a vibe with unmistakable shades of Maurizio, a deep techno number with again that classic vibe, and a huge floor potential that explains the appeal to ravers everywhere. Top shelf tech-shizznizz."

MDG SCENE (GERMANY):*SCHLEIERMACHER, STEFFEN: *Piano Music of the Darmstadt School, Volume 2 CD (MDG 1005CD). $16.50

Performed by Steffen Schleiermacher (piano, toy piano). Pieces by: Earle Brown: "Corroboree"; Mauricio Kagel: "Mimetics"; Henri Pousseur: "Caracteres"; Helmut Lachenmann: "Echo Andante"; Karlheinz Stockhausen: "Intervalle". "Steffen Schleiermacher is famous for his recordings of modern piano music. Mauricio Kagel's Mimetics from 1961 requires that an additional piece be performed simultaneously. Schleiermacher chose to perform his own 'Piece for Toy Piano and IKEA Bells' 'Schoen Hut'. Schoen Hut is the manufacturer of the toy piano which he customized with bells from the toy department of the IKEA furniture store. Stockhausen's 'Intervalle' was composed and inspired by the societal turmoil of 1968. The composer identified with the Darmstadt Summer School movement took the stringent serialistic compositional methods of the 1950s and opened them up for improvisation and other devices."

SATIE, ERIK: *Piano Music Vol. 5 CD (MDG 1067 CD). $16.50

"The piano music of Erik Satie is a natural successor to Steffen Schleiermacher's award winning series of the music of John Cage. Steffen Schleiermacher has been awarded numerous prizes for his work on music of the twentieth century, both as a composer and pianist. Satie's solo piano music has become a favorite of film directors as background for foggy, melancholy scenes. Satie was famous for giving frivolous seeming names to his pieces like 'Sleeping Preludes' and 'Really Sleeping Preludes' both dedicated to a dog. Most of the music on this collection is dedicated or inspired by dogs in Satie's life."

RILEY, TERRY: *Keyboard Studies CD (MDG 1135). $16.50

"Performed by Steffen Schleiermacher (keyboard realization and programming) & Bernd E. Gengelbach (sound projection). Minimal music and its strangely fascinating suspended sound animation has long held cult status in the musical world. On this CD Schleiermacher offers more new innovations with Terry Riley's 'Keyboard Studies #1' and '#2'. The keyboard studies are a few pages with short musical formulas and a long 'user's guide' requiring a lot of thought and organizational energy before things can be put into practice. Schleiermacher soon recognized that one interpreter alone couldn't realize the tricky polyphony of the keyboard studies. Schleiermacher arranged the pieces for electronic keyboard. A computer exercises the proper control, so that the voices are never heard simultaneously and the tones occur in rapid succession. An oscillating sound fabric is the result — in dimensions creating the impression of eternity."

MEANWHILE (UK):*MURMUR/BOVILL: *Ground EP 12" (MEAN 001EP). $9.00

"Kicking off with 4 tracks of lovingly crafted tech grooves from the minds of Murmur and Bovill. The opening track will take you back to those moments when the first Shakir or Carl Craig tune grabbed you, 'Catnip' revolving around lush Detroit strings smothering the beats, rising and falling around the sonar ping that's tied to the groove to deliver an emotion worthy of those artists mentioned earlier. Imagine UR taking a deep house route and hitting the high peaks of BC'S Q1.1. While the slick editing and bell like synths add an extra dimension and reminisce about Black Dog's Bytes LP, brilliant stuff."

MEDICATION (NEW ZEALAND):*CROOK, BRIAN: *Bathysphere CD (MEDI 003). $14.00

"This is the solo debut by guitarist extraordinaire Brian Crook. For over 10 years Brian has been one of the key players on the southern New Zealand scene not only as a featured instrumentalist but also as a vocalist and songwriter in such groups as Scorched Earth Policy, Max Block, The Terminals, the Renderers and Flies Inside the Sun. Bathysphere's 12 songs were recorded in the shadow of Port Chalmers town over the '97-98 year. This is a heady brew of beautifully sad dustblown ballads, pulsing swamp trash and high altitude sound-field excursions. Possibly and hopefully the first of many solo conflagrations from this man."

MEGALON RECORDS:*WILLIAMS/NUMB RIGHT THUMB, DAVEY: *Texas Was Delicious CD (MEG 06). $12.00

"Davey Williams is singular in his approach to the guitar in that he has stumbled upon a combination of humor, technical skill, and lack of concern as to what might be going on in the music press. Numb Right Thumb provide a challenging obstacle course for Williams to stumble through with one of those geeky guitars that looks more like a baseball bat than an instrument. Silly heavy metal guitar solos erupt out of the din of saxophone, marimba, drums, violin, feedback, and noise. Animals grunt and kick up dirt as they prepare for violence or sex. Civil war marches suddenly give way to playground tomfoolery which obviously excites a participant so much that he voices his approval. Bass is not missed until Williams uses only of his many effects pedals to emulate the sound. This is improvised music so full of life that it could only have been achieved without any premeditated goals."

BLOOM/LOREN MAZZACANE CONNORS, KATH: *1981-1984 CD (MEG 07). $12.00

"Reminiscent of depression era folk music, Kath Bloom and Connors' recordings from this period occasionally bring the Carter Family to mind. These songs were released in the early 80s in such a limited number that the artists themselves don't have copies. Upon hearing these recordings, I was a bit confused due to the fact that I had no point of reference. These are formative years for Loren. Rarely do I get to hear LMC playing behind a singer, and yet here he is supporting the frail vocal explorations of Bloom. His playing is also significantly different than I'd ever heard. Almost all of these songs are characterized by Kath's plaintive voice and acoustic guitar backing by Loren's improvised guitar musings. But rather than the spacy, slow, deconstructed blues solos that you might expect, you will hear an artist finding his way through acoustic country blues and folk." — Megalon.

MEGAPHONE:*KRALDJURSANSTALTEN: *Nu Ar Det Allvar!! & Voodoo Boogie CD (MEGA 020). $13.00

Reissue of both records by this sorta legendary Swedish rock trio led by Michael Maksymenko, as originally issued in 1980-81. Heavily influenced by the convoluted blues of prime-era Beefheart Magic Band, these guys played a fairly unbelievable variation on the style — intense, full throttle guitar/bass/drum interplay with absolutely crazed Swedish vocals on top. Beefheart fanatics use to fall face flat when hearing this stuff back when it came out, and I'm sure there's a whole slew of newcomers ready for the same gust of Nordic madness. Guitarist Maksymenko went on to work with Henry Kaiser in the later 80s, forming the band Crazy Backwards Alphabet (along with Magic Band drummer Drumbo French). Limited stock.

WILLETT/JAD FAIR, JASON: *It's All Good CD (MEGA L 015). $13.00

29 songs of relentless punk assault, recorded '94/95. Limited remaining stock.

MEGO (AUSTRIA):*HECKER: *PV Tracks CD (HEC 002CD). $15.50

"PV Tracks is the 4th full length release from Florian Hecker. PV Tracks is the latest chapter in Hecker's individual take on computer music. Here we see audio tactics dissimilar from the Sun Pandæmonium release, with more focus on a developing narrative, albeit a highly distorted one. As we move through the disc we experience moments providing an enthralling exchange between the severe and the sublime. The overall feel is certainly alien, however not of another world as such. Instead, one that has always existed but has never been so fully articulated." Split release between Mego and Kolnischer Kunstverein.

FARMERS MANUAL: *No Backup CD (MEGO 008). $15.50

1999 remaster of the first Mego full length (the label name comes from futurologist Herman Kahn: "my eyes glaze over"). Originally released in 1996 in an awkward oversize cardboard sleeve (now reduced to standard card sleeve). "Nine mad tripped (but not hopped) pieces with the additional bonus in shape of (well) a surreal CD ROM, which no one really gets, but nevermind...deeply disturbing and strangely entertaining, Farmers Manual is absolutely some of the most cutting edge experimental techno and sound sculpture to emerge on disc!"

HASWELL, RUSSELL: *Live Salvage 1997-2000 CD (MEGO 012). $15.50

"Solo debut (discounting, rightly so, the 'Adaptable Man' flexidisc) from OR Records' CEO, after a Merzbow collaboration (Akita/Azuma/Haswell/Sakabira, Ich Schnitt Mich In Den Finger, MEGO 022) and several compilation appearances (remix of Thurston Moore on Lo's Root, remix of Merzbow on the Blast First Scumtron CD). Merzbow comparison(s) aren't that far off really (Pita, on the other hand, can sound JUST like Merzbow). A collection of field recordings, live performances (yelping and all), processed and gutted, presented as a touring catalogue of sorts. Cover photo by Wolfgang Tillmans, who all we all love to death. Quite rowdy." — Hrvatski.

HECKER: *IT ISO161975 CD (MEGO 014). $15.50

"Newest volume in the now familiar format of speaker damaging crackle/pop from this groundbreaking Austrian label, dressed in a Tina Frank/Inwiresments packet-sleeve (rife w/technical jargon/286 program codes). New signing Hecker here gives us 4 tracks (plus a 14-minute hidden track at the beginning of the CD, hit rewind as you start the CD) of sub-cholea-pickup rumble and gradual rising sounds, intent on either making you really miffed or sending you spiralling uncontrollably into a state of endless bliss. Flip a coin. Either way, a carefully planned out addition to the art-damaged audio-file-collection that is Mego proper." — Hrvatski.

EVOL: *Principio 3" CD (MEGO 018). $9.50

"Evol is Roc and Miguel from Barcelona. This is their first release. One is obsessed with chocolate and the misuse of digital formats, the other one a devotee of disco, funk and any kind of black-roots sound. Why? No reason, really. No concepts behind it. And, no, Evol (the name) is not a tribute to Sonic Youth. Both do love them, but it is the name of a plant, a very common plant (so common that you cannot identify unless you're a plant expert). Scientific name: Sambucus Bulus. You cannot see it even when you're surrounded by them — you hear it, but you may not realise it even if you're surrounded by their stupid clic-clic tracks. Cool. What? The sound is very minute but at the same time massive. The CD has 18 tracks and lasts exactly 18 minutes."

GCITCATT: *AmErase CD (MEGO 021). $15.50

"gcttcatt is a duo comprising of: Martin Ng (Grob, Staubgold - Turntables + DJ tools) and Mathias Gmachl (farmersmanual, Skot, Fuckhead - real time data processing). gcttcatt reference many tactics familiar to the 'movement' seekers of this overly documented world. We can see the headlines now! — 'turntablism dsp', 'hyperkinetic hands on beat boy meets doppler shredding maker' or maybe 'crab scratch tackles electroacoustic evidence in cross continent battle blitz!' Regardless of potential pockets it's in the outer where gcttcatt reside. Taking time to spit fury, often enveloped split-axe like (inside a realm channeled through Shaeffer, Xenakis, Marclay, Q-bert and the like). This disorienting duo practice an extreme exploration of their chosen tools. What becomes of such activities when they fold into one united, albeit fractured mass, is what makes this release so damn special! The relationship between machine + man is blurred on numerous counts via the symbiotic set up of 'live' turntablism meets 'real time' processing meets virtual turntablism — (ie: the violent skips of Ng's restless stylus' morphs into splinters of feisty electroacoustics courtesy of Hiaz' acoustic modeling program)."

HECKER: *[R] Iso I Chali CD (MEGO 024). $15.00

"A collection of remixes based on selections from Florian Hecker's prior release on Mego." Remixed by Bruce Gilbert, Francisco Lopez, Holger Hiller, Yasunao Tone, Lithops, CD_Slopper, Jim O'Rourke, Ilpo Vaisanen, Marcus Schmickler, Otomo Yoshide, Gescom, Zbigniew Karkowski. [deleted]

FUCKHEAD: *The Male Comedy — or Der Traum Vom Kleinen Glueck CD (MEGO 025). $15.50

"Essentially an art-sound 'group' consisting of D Bruckmayr (words, pressure, tonguing, scream, throat, damping, absorption, body), M Strohmman (synthesis, sequencing, ispw programming, engineering), J Linsinger (synthesis, sequencing, audiosculpt programming, grm tools, additional words), D Kern (percussion, sequencing), B Hauf (Flutes), and Ramon Bauer (aka General Magic, additional treatments). Dazzling contemporary industrial-rock-concrete stylings effective as a textbook case into state-of-the-art sound mutation/manipulation software (respectively, audiosculpt and grm tools are the fruits of all recent research at Ircam and the INA in France). A very strange mix, as if Mego suddenly decided to enter the 'proper' music marketplace, or clinch a Farmer's Manual opening slot on next years NIN/Rammstein global conquest... But, confusion is what we've come to expect from Mego, and assuredly will be all we'll get in the future." — Hrvatski. "... the dream of a lucky break... NACHTSTROM: 17 Songs After Midnight LP (MEGO 028). $14.00

"The first Mego release of Dr. Nachtstrom, a bedroom producer. The music of the album consists of 17 pop songs who are broken by several irritations and other more unusual stuff. The artist makes no exception in his sample resources; every style of music is welcome, from bebop to heavy metal. This album should not be related to a modern dancestyle. The music tends to be sitting between all chairs and feels comfortable there. Dr. Nachtstrom is one of this new characters of today's music, slowly gaining recognition in the music scene. His music tries to fill the space between the buzzing and humming noises of the so-called 'third vienna school' and the more song-orientated but nevertheless strange dance movement. He has no idols to relate, they are not needed anymore."

PURE: Noonbugs CD (MEGO 030). $15.50

"Pure's debut full length on Mego continues to explore realms of sinister sonic's and edge of the equation audio initially previewed on the highly regarded End Of Vinyl 3" CD/12" pic disc. As a complete serve the full extent of this world is revealed to be an elaborate exploration — rich in texture, variation, mood and quality. In some ways this release can be seen as a take on the darker edge of 20th classical / avant garde as seen through a 4th generation raised on industrial/electronic mediums. Comprising of a continuous work and what seems to be minimal process, this is by no means an unfolding minimal record along lines of Alvin Lucier or Elaine Radigue. Changes are more immediately discernable (whilst avoiding noise, distortion or any other 'immediate' tactics). The result is in an unsettling journey throughout an array of balanced elements : looped violins sway amongst ringing tones, a distant police siren adds an element of isolation to washes of dark frequencies. Fragments of suspense guide the listener on a series of subtle subversion's coming together as a dynamic thematic whole. A see-saw of subversive sonic's which make for some prime late night ambience. One could say this is as close to dark ambient as Mego has come, but like all the best Mego releases Pure's is one that questions the exact nature of the genre from which it has sprung whilst incorporating certain signifying elements in an entirely new way." Initial copies come in a trademark Mego cardstock sleeve, later copies will be jewel-boxed.

FENNESZ/JIM O'ROURKE/JOHANNES REHBERG: The Magic Sound Of FennO'Berg CD (MEGO 031). $15.50

"Christian Fennesz, Jim O'Rourke, Peter Rehberg (Pita). Recorded in Tokyo, Hamburg, Berlin, Vienna and Paris. With a hardcore attitude and approach to sonic manipulation that equals peers like Autechre, Pan Sonic, and Merzbow, Vienna's Mego label has been active at the cutting-edge of digital music culture for the past four years. Hacking out their own, distinctive audio print, based around abrasive tonalities, glitches and wrinkles, and skittering, abstract structures, they operate across a variety of modern electronic media, consistently pushing and interrogating the technology and searching out spikes, cracks and creative spaces. Like the above-mentioned trio, the visceral grain of the sound and its placement appear rigorously, obsessively worked. With Mego, you can literally feel the quality, the difference. Whilst a bunch of blokes sat ponderously at laptops may be visually dull, Mego's live shows have always seemed other than mere promotion. Providing a vital articulation of their NOW-ness, and a head-on engagement, they become the ground-zero of the label's activities. Recorded at various locations over the course of the last year, The Magic Sound Of FennO'Berg documents the live collaboration of Pita, Christian Fennesz, and US ally Jim O'Rourke. Each armed with a powerbook and mixing desk, and usually little prior knowledge of one another's material or intentions, the results are a stunning flood-and-fold adventure in sound. Of course, the very nature of improv necessitates periods of boredom, false-starts and wrong turns. Yet these excerpts generally witness a trio in staggering form. Whilst all three have delivered superb solo efforts, you get the feeling that it's perhaps the process itself, rather than finalised form that inspires them — twisting and pulling, re-working their sonics, getting off on the 'heat' of live collaboration. Dense and dark, murkier and more disorganised than Get Out, the live passages draw on a wider sound-world. Fizzing and flickering, bursting with gritty chatter, all manner of sonic detritus is pushed through the mangler: twinkling glockenspeils, bursts of piano, overloading bass drones and frequency-fogs, crumbling traces of pop. When a lengthy section of John Barry's stirring, string-lead 'Moonraker' theme takes the foreground, it works precisely because it's the last thing you're expecting. Not so much a series of new maps, as a doing away with them altogether, immersing yourself in the freeform thrill of (live) sounds/events unfolding around you. Wired in, the flow becomes a draining adventure. Fucking hardcore."

GENERAL MAGIC: Rechenkonig CD (MEGO 032). $15.50

"Another mad digital journey through the circuits residing in both the Vienna and Berlin studios, as well as the Czech train in between. General Magic is the recording guise of Mego label co-founders Andreas Pieper and Ramon Bauer. The two of them have been working together since 1988 as visual artists and since 1995 as musicians. In conjunction with Peter Rehberg they made the very first Mego record, the infamous 'Fridge Tracks' 12". Since then Pieper and Bauer have been using the many mistakes of life as source material for new production methods, as evidenced by the skewed electronics and humorous cut-ups of Rechenkonig."

FENNESZ: Endless Summer CD (MEGO 035). $15.50

"The historic 2nd Christian Fennesz album from 2001, Endless Summer. Much has passed under the bridge since the 1997 release Hotel Paral.lel, his first full length for Mego. Constantly active in the fields of performance, dance theatre and film music, as well numerous collaborative releases on labels such as Ritornell, Touch, Charhizma and Synaesthesia, not forgetting of course his work with Jim O'Rourke and Peter Rehberg as Fenn O'Berg. Fennesz's third full length album (after the 1999 Touch release 'plus forty seven degrees 56'37" minus sixteen degrees 51'08"') explores further the territory mapped out on the 'Plays' single release (currently available on Moikai as a CD single). Eight songs of sublime texture, solid melodies intertwined over vast valleys of digital sound. 'Endless Summer's geographic location is where analogue and digital worlds meet, however this is no battle or pointless pro/contra argument, but the perfect balance. A balance that many strive for but rarely reach. Possibly the first album of the 21st century which can be called 'classic'. His most accomplished work to date."

VAISANEN, ILPO: Asuma CD (MEGO 037). $15.50

Solo CD from Pan Sonic member Ilpo Väisänen, no further details provided. Jewel case edition, awesome Tina Frank design. 8 tracks: Autioitu 1, Tukahduttaja, Klikki, Asumaton, Vailitseva, Arvioimatton Ongelma, Jaettu, Autioitu 2.

TROYER, ULI: Nok 3" CD (MEGO 039). $9.50

"An 18 odd minute gem from this Vienna based sound/installation artist and co-designer of the lovely monochrom 'white long sleeve leiberl with handsewn softtouch buttons' who along with Maryanne Amacher, Kevin Drumm, SND, Ryoji Ikeda, Marcus Schmickler, Yasunao Tone, Dat Politics, Kaffe Matthews, Radian, and Matmos received an Honorary Mention in the Digital Music category at the Prix Ars Electronica 2000. A surprisingly polyrhythmic (i.e. almost 'techno' if not completely un-followable) array of crystalline digital clips and sub bass pulses, a high precipice in the recent Mego mountain." — Hrvatski.

MERZBOW: A Taste Of... CD (MEGO 040). $15.00

"One more bulletin from the depths of Masami Akita's hard drive. Ever since going 'digital' a few years his schedule is relenting as ever. For his debut full length for Mego, Merzbow presents a sparkling homage to delicate art of Japanese cuisine. Four tasty tracks full of Akita's trademark filter sweeps, distorted rhythm passages. Raw and sophisticated." Initial copies packaged in oversize Mego folio sleeve, artwork by Tina Frank. [deleted, last copies]

DDKERN: Gern 12" (MEGO 041). $9.50

"Debut 12" from Dieter Kern, who amongst other things is the drummer for bands such as Fuckhead, Wipeout, BulBul, Pest and the famous Starter-Combo. Giving his sticks a rest Kern has been busy carving out his unique brand of deep techno groove evident on this startling 4 tracker."

DR NACHTSTROM: Leidenschaft CD (MEGO 042). $15.50

"After his debut LP for Mego in 1999 (17 Songs After Midnight, MEGO 028), we are well happy to announce the good doctors debut in the digital format. Twisted breaks, out of context samples jostle for place on this 16 track disc. A shift towards more song orientation is evident with guest vocal appearances by Gerhard Potuznik (doing a cover version of Soft Cell's 'Youth'), Christian Fuchs and more."

HECKER: Sun Pandämonium CD (MEGO 044). $15.50

"Sun Pandämonium is the 3rd full length release from Florian Hecker. Moving away from the puzzling digital buzz and wash of his previous 2 full length new aged computer music albums, Sun Pandämonium strikes the listener from many angles with a diverse range of fiercely dynamic electronic scenarios. A sonic journey through the possibility of contemporary audio. Hecker's Sun Pandämonium is quite simply some of the finest audio pyrotechnics unleashed in recent times. Electronic music as psilocybin science. Florian Hecker (b. 1975 .DE) is an independent artist in the fields of computer music. He started making music with computers in 1996. Ever since then he researched on mobile performance tools, and is using laptop computers since the first wave of Mego related concerts in 1996. Occasional live collaborations with Farmersmanual, Russell Haswell, Zbigniew Karkowski, Merzbow, Shunichiro Okada, Marcus Schmickler, Yasunao Tone and Voicecrack."

TUJIKO, NORIKO: Shoji Toshi CD (MEGO 047). $15.50

"Born in Osaka, Japan on 28th August 1976. Now living in Tokyo, Japan. Started singing around 1978-79. Bought her first synthesizer and sampler in 1999. First album Keshou To Heitai (Makeup and Soldiers) recorded in January 2000, with her first live performance of that material at around the same time in Kyoto. But due to problems (unconscious due to getting so drunk just past midnight.), it ended in failure. For some months afterwards, she worked at a Japanese restaurant specializing in snapping turtle plates. In the summer of 2000, she started vigorously making music again for Shoji Toshi; as well as creating a model consisting of thousands of pieces of (?) photographs by Aki Onda (musician). In December 2000, at Buro 30 in Tokyo, she met Pita and handed over her tape. During the same month she joined SlideLab (Yoshihito, Marumaru, Noriko) and now she is also involved with the launching of a new magazine OK FRED: it's first issue will be completed soon. The sounds of Shoji Toshi are very melodic, poppy and mostly sung in Japanese. Very weird but at the same time very accessible. Some listeners have been reminded of Phew, but others disagree. Some pretty sweet stuff going on here. It's not the usual Mego fare — then again, what is?... 100% nerdy glitch boy free!"

PITA: Get Down LP (MEGO 049 LP). $14.00

"Get Down is the third full length release from Pita aka Peter Rehberg. 9 tracks on wax — sonic mayhem at it's finest. Despite it's often furious leaning's, much of this release remains playful and menacing — like kissing a train and then washing it down the drain. Music / Sound — You know, you love it. Picture it as it appears here — in a manner not dissimilar to that of audio lightning: hard angles swept in a fury of technology and vice. Techno as seen through the lens of a geneologist. Entire worlds of abstract electronics summed up in single moments. Contorted, twisted and stretched beyond any post techno / bedroom electroacoustic references. Extended actions for the dedicated abused audio fanatic. Highly efficient as a tool for daring DJ's (main floor, chill + experimental mediums suited!). Get Down also will also sit tightly in the fried dwellings of art / sound / techno / punk humans the world over. Vinyl only."

O'ROURKE, JIM: I'm Happy, And I'm Singing And A 1,2,3,4 LP (MEGO 050 LP). $14.00

LP version, limited available stock.

MASSIMO: Hey Babe, Let Me See Your USB and I'll Show You My FireWire 3" CD (MEGO 051). $9.50

FENNESZ/O'ROURKE/REHBERG: The Return Of Fenn O'Berg CD (MEGO 054). $15.50

"2002 — a good year for all. A year in which the good ship Fenn O'Berg (Christian Fennesz, Jim O'Rourke & Peter Rehberg) docked once again into the digital landscape sporting a brand new shiny silver platter. Having travelled this vast planet extensively, they once again return, to present us, the fortunate listener, with an edited compendium of their overseas sojourns (in truth it's actually recordings from Paris and Vienna, but hey, we are not about to let such technicalities get in the way of a good press release). Brimming with all kinds of tomfoolery, Fenn O'Berg stretch wide the improvised flag layering sound in sample on sound. The result is a playful and puzzling platter. Melodic loops, eccentric electronics, romantic interludes and emotional spontaneity — it's all here! Along this exotic journey, one can visualise the sweat dripping amongst the keys, the strain of performers fingers, and other on-stage shennanigans of our motley trio. Sounds like fun? It is, and cheap too, well, normal CD price, but with a snappy design AND that unmistakable Fenn O'Berg sound, who's to complain?"

FENNESZ/O'ROURKE/REHBERG: The Return Of Fenn O'Berg LP (MEGO 054 LP). $14.00 LP version.

COH: Mask Of Birth CD (MEGO 055). $15.50

"CD re-release of one of the first works from Ivan Pavlov aka COH, recorded in 1997 and 1998. Originally released (and now out of print) as a vinyl only album on Raster Noton in 1999, as part of their Static Series. Remastered in sparkling digital quality and featuring 2 tasty bonus tracks recorded around the same time ('Komputer Trilogik für Or' & 'Waltz Nuevo No. 1'). Born in Russia, Ivan Pavlov lives and works in Sweden. However, his cultural roots are in his mother country, and he seems to be more a rapport to the Russian avant-garde rather than to the Western rock-pop tradition. As a qualified acoustic researcher he is involved in developing different possibilities for soundsynthesis, yet he has a way to compose single tones to an ensemble which provides both lyrical and comic associations. Mask Of Birth is largely inspired by the late 70s/early 80ies dance music: as stated on the cover, it is 'new disco for the new human'."

DACM: ShowroomDummies CD (MEGO 056). $15.50

"ShowroomDummies is the latest production from Grenoble based dance company Groupe DACM, which has been recieved to critical acclaim from dance theatre audiences across France and beyond. In keeping with the radical nature of their works, Peter Rehberg (Pita) was enlisted to provide an electronic soundtrack for this work. It was stated by DACM that the intention of Showroom Dummies was 'to achieve a deliberately hybrid choreography, hence the use of different artistic disciplines such as contemporary dance, the fine arts, theatre, puppets and electronic music, all brought together over a project which opposes body movement and dummies'. Given this and the themes covered being: 'repulsion and erotism relative to appearance and stillness' and 'how one could possibly slide from submission into passive resistance'. The choice of Rehberg was a good one. For those used to the shock and tremble static bursts of Pita's 'Get Out' or even the banging contorted monster ambience of 'Get Down', one may be in for a surprise. This release offers a new perspective to Pita's world. One of more subtle twists and unnerving dynamics. This otherworldly sound world is shaped less on sine-wave bending and more on a development of deep unusual ambience, pulses, fog and static. A ghostly digital aura evoking the open and the empty simultaneously. An existential chilled out recording for the colder moments of the human sphere. Unsettling and engaging — here lies a fine addition to the abstract canon. A slippery relation to human 'reality' via suggestive repetitive repulsion and glacial construction."

ILSA GOLD: Regretten? Rien! 2CD (MEGO 058). $22.50

"They were the darlings of the young rave nation, the nightmare of investigative party journalism and, needless to say, the kings of schneiss-house: they were Ilsa Gold, Austria's legendary and probably most irritating contribution to the history of electronic music. It was 1993 that artist and record dealer Christopher Just joined forces with party organizer Peter 'DJ Pure' Votava — the year that techno was set to become the sound of the decade. Starting with their very first record on Vienna's Mainframe label, they turned into shooting stars of the new movement: Frontpage, the official organ of the German techno world, placed Ilsa Gold I at the top of its charts, and 'Up' was the track that set the pace on rave dancefloors that summer. After only three excessive years, in 1996 Peter and Christopher decided to go their musical separate ways. Since then Christopher Just has ironized electronic dance music in the guise of Punk Anderson, Disco Dancer, and House Motherfucker, while DJ Pure has devoted his efforts to experimental electronica, for Mego among others. Now in 2003 the influential oeuvre of Ilsa Gold is being celebrated in due and fitting extravagance. On a double CD, Regretten? Rien! documents the history of Vienna's most successful export article to the Rave Generation — as a balancing act between Actionism and foofaraw, as battlefield between pop and subversion. Besides all of their hits, the CD set includes unreleased tracks, rare remixes, and of course an excerpt of the historic 'La Boum deluxe' program. There is nothing to regret."

QUINTEAVANT: Floppy Nails LP (MEGO 059). $14.00

"Five leading lights of the French improvised, electronic, electroacoustic scene combine electronic tape, analogue synths and a united love for strange sonorities for this special vinyl only release. Unfolding as a dynamic cocktail of magnetic bubbles, creaking snapshots, analogue pops and ghostly voices, this is an exciting display of concrete improvisation. The fact that this was recorded and mixed live is an impressive attribute. One can sense a tip of the hat to the classic labour intensive concrete compositions of the French school (early to mid 'chuck flung' period Henry, the 'wild woosh' of early Ferrari etc). Given that this has sprung from the blank slate of open improvisation - resting on the dexterity, patience, and the listening ability provided by the participants sees the results as all the more inspired. Both sides of this release provide an enormous range of sounds: interlocking, overlapping, stretching, snapping, bending, morphing and panning, along with vast dynamics: calm and restrained through to hyperactive and fierce, hell one even detects the downright strange! The only request of the audience is to listen. Once locked in, sit back and absorb this rewarding collection of startling sonic's." Lionel Marchetti: magnétophone à bandes; Jérôme Noetinger: magnétophone à bandes; Jean Pallandre: magnétophone à bandes; Marc Pichelin: synthe analogique; Laurent Sassi: enregistrement / mixage (live).

VA: Playback Device Confusion Volume One featuring Aleph Empire 3" CD (MEGO 061). $12.50

"Live decks at Rhiz, Vienna: 05/30/02. 'Patience isn't a virtue!', he says and rather gets drunk and get it done straight with attitude. Very polarizing, even anti-social at times, but the aleph and his suburb homies don't hate you - 'we want to bring you joy and pleasure!!!', they scream. A true disc for those with a short attention span, and for all those who need something to moan about. Starring: Tiepunk Crew, Schimpfluch-Gruppe International, Good Looking Communists, Costes, Fear Of God (Dave Phillips remix), K2, R. H.Y Yau, Raionbashi. Plus very special guests: Noize Punishment (Rigid Crash records), Mouse (Reverse records), General Dub (Toolbox), Doormouse & Stuntrock (Addict records), Arsedestroyer (Devour). And it's a fucking shape-cd! Chuffed bloody sick."

TUJIKO, NORIKO: Make Me Hard CD (MEGO 062). $15.50

"Oh what a pleasantly perplexing melodic sonic cocktail our good Japanese friend Noriko Tujiko creates. This, her 2nd Mego album dives deeper into a pool of contorted computers, playful piano's, unorthodox beatwork and an odd mix of mildly diced melodic fun. Vocally the tunes shift from somnambulist sing-a-longs to sweet pop styling's. Where exactly the output of Noriko this sits in the context of current musical movements is inexplicable. For the sake of the timid let's say 21st Century electronic pop music — a child in love with air, a life with no despair. A whimsical world of charm, elegance and desire. Wrapped in a delicous nine card design by Slidelab."

MASSIMO: Hello Dirty CD (MEGO 063). $15.50

"You are Massimo right? Your CD 'Hello Dirty' ... ? well, it's the most exciting thing I have ever seen," she whispered. His hands were starting to shake. "You don't think this 'Hello Dirty' release is cute?" she asked teasingly. "A release stops being cute when a girl turns eighteen," he responded wryly. "Oh, so you don't want my new Mego release?" he continued to ask, lightly petting the light brown pelt of hair above her puffy lips. "I want it with all my heart." "Then promise me that you will attend all my future shows!" "The world will end in 29 days." "I know, but promise me anyway." "Of course you can," he sank down to sit beside her. "Thanks," she said with a smile. She pushed him back, knelt on the floor, and spread his legs. She slid between them and dropped her mouth to a freshly sealed copy of 'Hello Dirty'. He gave a shuddering gasp and fell back against the back of the couch. He watched her beautiful face bobbing up and down on the pristine digital surface. He hadn't seen that in so long. God, how he missed it. She looked up and locked gazes with him, then smiled. Time passed. She methodically bobbed up and down as the world continued outside. Horn's honked, people yelled, laughed, or cried out. Dogs barked and a plane passed overhead. The world continued, unaware that Massimo was unveiling his first full length release. She was very good. Her mouth was so hot and her tongue never stopped moving upon the limited card surface. Most women forgot to use their tongues when they gave Massimo's releases an initial inspection. "I'm going to be huge," he said suddenly. "I know," she said between licks. She licked the back of the raw disc with her long, agile tongue, then licked her lips and looked up. "Sapienza - I have decided to buy this, because I'm sure you do not have a promo for me. Am I right?" "Brutally so." File under: sex / noise / armageddon."

HECKER: *2 Track 12" 12" (MEGO 064). $9.50

"File under: Acid, Computer Music. 3 audio tracks and 6 locked grooves, 45rpm. Obscure, frenzied zigzag rhombus. Angular audio designed to dismantle perception. Florian Hecker (b. 1975, DE) is an artist in the fields of computer music. He started making music with computers in 1996. Ever since, he has researched on mobile performance tools taking part in the first wave of Mego related concerts in 1996. This latest 2 track 12" is a fine example of just how far extreme audio has come — electroacoustic whiplash courtesy of hypertense audio angles and intense digital disorientation. 'Pandämonium 9 Playlist' rides a manic curve with jagged edges, abrupt swoops, metallic bites and wild bass bombs — an all out war on the senses which leaves the listener simultaneously baffled + energised. 'Stocha Acid Vlook' hijacks the senses in a torrential digital storm. A macabre buzzing drills it's way through sweeping hiss and wailing sheets of sound propel the listener through a violent and furious lysergic 4 mins 30 secs. The bubblegum patch fantasy is dead. This is computer music with attitude. It is not your run of the mill kid with software exercise in audio angst but a whole hearted love affair of the medium in a classical sense and some solid evidence as to where it can be taken in the future, which is right here and now. Lusus naturae — an unnatural production. An end to audio — digital decay as ecstatic vision."

BULBUL: *Drabule 12" (MEGO 066EP). $9.50

"News from Europe's slowest beefmetal trashgroup. 4 track 12" featuring a Slutta Leta cover in their typical zombie garbage rottenrock style. Hear Ronnie Peterson play the Jew's harp whilst driving backwards in Monte Carlo, or Django Reinhardt at the fountain of youth with his ankles caked in mud. Crawl through the sewage system of dub beneath Marlon Brando babbling in your ear with a heavy nightingale's tongue. And, if you manage to get out of this there'll be a squadron of helicopters waiting to fall on your head one after the other. Abule, Zwabule, Drabule."

COH: *Electric Electric 12" (MEGO 067). $9.50

"New 4 track 12" from Ivan Pavlov's COH project, packaged in generic Mego vinyl jacket. Side A is the monolithic joint Run Doggy Run' + 'KOCMOČ'. The first is a pumping track which sits neatly alongside the early works of Elin, slowly building itself up only to break down to melody that intertwines between the frequencies. Side B kicks off with 'Novotel Suite Ext.', a sweeter near acidic variation of the previous side, followed by 'Square(s) For Loplop' which breaks it all apart stripping it down to its bass elements until finally disintegrating into gentle whispers. The record is said to be 'inspired by a nonexistent German record label run by a female DJ' and includes an insert which according to Ivan features 'sexually explicit images taken at a Russian university during Spring 2003'."

OSTERMAYER, FRITZ: Kitsche Concrète CD (MEGO 070). $15.50

"When I was young, I was embarrassed by everything. But now I'm so old that I can't be bothered anymore." Embarrassed by what, Ostermayer? Lyrics that wallow in explicit sexual content? Or by an unrestrained rage at God and the world that a 47-year-old is supposed to have gotten over by now? Or maybe even by a craving for the sounds of the 'cheap' instruments of your village-tavern social life? When Fritz Ostermayer says 'kitsch', it means 'the craftsmanship of emotionality' which was developed in the Baroque era but continues to survive as a submerged aspect of culture: in the banal hits of the 60s, in the simple three-chord pop song, and not least in the sentimental electronic dramas of the German forests and fields that appear in Kraftwerk ('Ohm Sweet Ohm'), Cluster, and Harmonia, right up to the kitsch-laden pieces of a Schlammpeitziger or Ulrich Schnauss. The point is that certain harmonic progressions and melodic lines can produce specific effects, that euphoria can be a psycho-physiological construct in just the same way that melancholy is, and that a good songwriter can play this keyboard of the emotions just as a highly talented dictator does — or, for that matter, that terrorist of sentiment, Lars van Trier. 'Two years ago when I performed on a boat in Paris, after the gig a young waitress said to me in charming French, 'I think, you like the work of Pierre Henry.' When I gladly agreed, she added, 'And you like kitsch as well.' No doubt about that either, I have to admit. 'Then I know which kind of music you are doing — kitsch concrète.' So, unknown mademoiselle, merci for this wonderful title!' Kitsch Concrète also features guest contributions by Martin Siewert, Franz Hautzinger and others."

PARKINS & IKUE MORI, ZEENA: Phantom Orchard CD (MEGO 071). $15.50

"A gentle stylistic morphing from two major figures in the global realm of experimental sound and improv. Zeena Parkins sits firm as a multi-instrumentalist, composer, improviser, well-known as a pioneer of the electric harp, she has also extended the language of the acoustic harp with the inventive use of unusual playing techniques, preparations, and layers of digital and analog processing. Ikue Mori has long been a stalwart of the New York improvisation via the post punk set. Her work has seen her evolve from drums to drum machine to laptop — how about that? Super. As a result the language she presents is as diverse as the wide range of people she has played with. Now, these two swinging cats have hooked up too create a delicate blend of organic acoustic and digital sources. Walk deep in the woods, think far beyond the reaches of our immediate environment. A soft mental and physical scenario in which to bathe, absorb and (gasp horror!) relax."

PRINS, GERT-JAN: Risk 3" CD (MEGO 072). $9.50

Gert-Jan Prins: Electronics AM/FM-Modulations, TV. "With Risk Prins creates a brutal world where electrical breaking points become blasting moments of sharpened sensual attention.

Gert-Jan Prins started out as a rock drummer, continued as an improviser, but restarted soldering self-made electronic machines in the mid-90s. His unique self-developed electronic system uses radio- and transmitter technology, and creates strong noises with great physical energy. During the last four years Gert-Jan Prins, living in Amsterdam, established himself as one of the central electronic performers in improvised music. Besides his solo-project, current collaborations include E-RAX (with Lehn, Van Bergen, Dolleman), The Flirts (with Cor Fuhler), MIMEO, and the Vacuum Boys, he played with Lee Ranaldo, Pita, Fennesz, Anne La Berge, Domenico Sciajno, Luc Houtkamp and Misha Mengelberg. What can one write on his music? What feeling is it made with? I try to squeeze the self created feedback sound till its on the edge of exploding, but it's also the fascination for the chaotic instinct of my machines, that they create shifting rhythmic patterns, as well as a sound of liquefied rock-music, the media inherent found fragments of speech/music, and a seemingly acoustic world cooking in between drum-, wind- and stringsounds'."

SLUTA LETA: Semi Peterson CD (MEGO 073). $15.50

"Ronnie Peterson was the smartest Swedish racing driver ever, the so called 'king of drift'. A man who dominated the F1 scene of the 1970's by style and skill. But this is the year 2003. And this is Sluta Leta. Before we plunge into the present, let's take a quick glance at the past for one last time: Sluta Leta, yes the same Sluta Leta that released digital fried disco 12's on Mego, Uptight and Cheap, as well as more dazzling rock-ish numbers via Chocolate Industries. All seemed quite rosy for this grand Swedish band, gaining respect in their homeland and abroad, the punters were crying for more, however, in recent years all has been quiet — so what has been happening? Well as it turns, and yes all will turn my friend, the original members — Bengt Liljstam, Jonas Bergkvist and later Yngwie Moskowich & Anders Rydberg — all left the band and were exchanged during recent years by the current band members: Andi Pieper, Ramon Bauer & Gerhard Potuznik.

So, here we have a new Sluta Leta line up and a brand new record. Their first full length. Quite a succulent mix of rocktronics is on offer here. All is balanced by acoustic rhythms, broken but never detached, warm vocals are sewn throughout, deep keyboard lines provide ecstatic moods. With guest appearances by such legends in their own lifetimes as: Catriona Shaw, Philipp Quehenberger, Anne Laplantine and ddkern. The pleasure's of Ronnie's excess pay off via elements of electro, punk, rock, cabaret and chunky groove. Unlike Mr Peterson's, Sluta Leta's debut full length is a smooth ride from start to finish — whilst still traversing many difficult hairpin's of the musical grid. For fans of life and all the pleasure's it can bring. Disco." www.mego.at

MAZUREK, ROB: Sweet & Vicious Like Frankenstein CD (MEGO 074). $15.50

"Rob Mazurek you ask? Words come by way of response — words such as Chicago, abstractivist, cornetist, improviser and composer... even hyphenated words like: multi-media, hard-bop, avant-jazz and dare we say it post-rock. More words of relevance, those which make for identity include: Jim O'Rourke, Stereolab, Tortoise, Gastr del Sol, Brokeback, Pan American, Sam Prekop and even the oh so wordy God Speed You Black Emperor! So many words and we haven't even really started yet... Let's roll on shall we? So, by now we all know this guy has some pedigree, it's true, we knew this already which is why we approached him for this full length. And yes we were most pleased with the results. Sweet and Vicious like Frankenstein is a multi-shifting work. Two tracks comprise. Throughout the journey that is Frankenstein, the considered listener is exposed to a cross section of the audio spectrum: From the small and subtle to more dense, dramatic and fast shifting events. A wide range of acoustic and electronic variables are at play creating a variety of mood's and texture's. Sources range from field recordings (macro + micro), electronics' (ana + digi) and sounds that are simply quite hard to locate/identify. A focus on the obscure within the audio realm seems somewhat intentional. Although abstract in nature, there is certainly emotional intent within Rob's creation, one which build's in momentum and intensity throughout the span of the two track's on offer. A narrative is open for the listener to decipher and as is the nature of this creation repeated listens are rewarded. Compositionally this temperamental little sucker straddle's the line between 'music' and 'sound' — no philosophical argument's here please. We are making a rash statement for all intents and purposes. And yes we have the nerve to take it for granted that you, dear reader dig — coolio? We thought so. File under: Frankenstein."

FARMERS MANUAL: RLA DVD-ROM (MEGO 777). $33.50

"Mego is proud to announce the long awaited new Farmersmanual release! Consisting of every locatable live recording and more dating from 1995 until now and beyond on one special hybrid DVD. A versatile archive documenting the live development of one of the most innovative computer based groups of the last 10 years.... etc blahblah." "Farmersmanual's performance was about algorithms and their artifacts. Clicks and textural discontinuities were rampant. The demeanor of the performers was stoic: that of accountants working a spreadsheet program rather than artists expressing themselves. Despite the apparent detachment of the performers, the musical pace was extremely rapid, both in terms of events per second and the speed of textural change. At several points the performance veered towards totally unexpected textures with complete confidence and synchrony among the performers (and in keeping with the straight-faced nature of the performance, no indication that anything unusual had occurred)." — Eric Lyon. Format: DVD-Video/ROM (Dual-layer DVD9, NTSC, Region free). Total running time: 03:21:38:03 (d:h:m:s).

VA: Fals.ch fb50 3" CD (MEGO FB50). $9.50

MEGO/RHIZ (AUSTRIA):

RADIAN: TG 11 CD (MEGO/RHIZ 1). $15.50

"Austria's Radian operate in the space between music and noise, between live and sampled sounds, between driving me up the wall and being intriguing beyond words. Drummer Martin Brandlmayr produces rolling, stop-start meters both funky and freestyle while bassist John Norman occasionally adds muted sonic waves. The essence of Radian is dependent on Stefan Nemeth's Korg MS 10 playing and the group's overall integration of noise shrapnel, piercing tones and electronic feedback. These sounds are both microscopic and minimal, cold and bitter but acceptable, like a hungover Sunday morning where the night's revelry still echoes through your ringing ears. Fascinating." — XLR8R

FENNEZ/ZEITBLOM/NIEMAND: Music For An Isolation Tank CD (RHIZ 007). $17.00

"An acoustic approximation of Oswald Wiener's legendary 'Booadapter', Phase 1. The listener goes through a station where one's body sounds are recorded by various microphones in a standardized way, not unlike a medical examination: breathing, heartbeat, voice etc. These sounds are then adjusted, changed and amplified by various effects, routines and algorithms, while the listener prepares himself or herself for the session (undressing, showering and receiving an explanation by an assistant). The musical material processed in a home studio environment is now played back on a common PC. The center piece of the project is an isolation tank similar to those used for relaxation and meditation purposes: an enclosed tank (looking much like a large covered tub) approximately 35 cm deep filled with water of high salt content. Both the water and air in the tank are at body temperature and it is totally void of light. The result is sensory deprivation. The listener chooses, after the preparation when entering the tank, one of several possible musical moods (stormy, moving, relaxing). The tank has both under water and above water loud speakers. The music which sets in after a quiet period, consists of a representation of the world (a selection prepared and completely abstract samples of undeclared origin) which are put in relation to the previously recorded body sounds with a layer of actual live sounds. The present edition is a representation of the acoustic screen, revised for the purpose of publication. A lying position, the dimming of lights and the use of earplugs are recommended, or even better under water speakers are suggested for listening."

MEHRWERT RECORDS (GERMANY):

MARTINI, FRANK: PMF Acht CD (MEHR 001CD). $15.00

Debut release by Frank Martini from Germany. Although I believe Frank has some Acid Orange label affiliations, he must have mellowed out a bit, because this out-of-nowhere album is a slow-motion finger-snap view into the chilled-out-thrilled-world of the Karaoke Kalk generation. Starting out slow & bundled with harmonic warmth, this moves forward into the process of extracting the cuddle out of early Funkstörung & BOC, an album focusing on pleasure.

MELLOTRON RECORDS (SWEDEN):

FLASKET BRINNER: The Swedish Recordings 1970-1975 4CD BOX (MELLO 011-4). $80.00

"Yes it's finally here: The gigantic deluxe 4 CD box with Swedish psychedelic/progressive 1970's music scenes most explosive and dynamical band Flasket Brinner. The beautiful box consists of 4 CD of previously unreleased material recorded by the Swedish National Radio between the years 1970-1975. Three classical line-ups of this legendary band is represented. The line-up with the world renowned pianist Bobo Stenson (Rena Rama) and the underground legend Bo Hansson (The Lord of the Rings, Hansson & Karlsson) never previously on record. During the Hansson/Stenson period the band performed The Lord of the Rings and The Magicians Hat live, which really should get this CD box international interest. The box also contains Swedish psychedelic celebrities like Bosse Skoglund (Peps, Lasse Gullin) and Sebastian Oberg (Flaskkvartetten, Algarnas Tradgard). A massive 32-page booklet with band history, discography and 98 previously unpublished photos and a holographic sleeve."

MECKI MARK MEN: Running in the Summer Night CD (MELLO 986608). $23.00

"Mindbending Heavy Acid Space Rock from Sweden 1969! Mecki Mark Men was (together with Hansson and Karlsson) Jimi Hendrix favourite Swedish band. When Jimi came back from his Swedish tours he probably told tales about the wild Swedish Organ tormentor Mecki Bodemark who did the same things with his grinding Organ as Jimi did with his guitar. For those of you who have not heard MMM I can tell that they sounds like a mix of Teargas, High Tide and Jimi Hendrix but with a wild organ player in glittering space costume. The mighty guitar wizard Kenny Hakansson has never been more psychedelic than this. While I was searching for the master tape to Mecki Mark Men's 2nd album titled Running in the Summer Night I discovered the original master which was originally meant to be released as the Swedish version of the album. Mecki Mark Men was contracted by Philips in Sweden but it was Limelight records in the USA who released the album in 1969. I compared the Limelight tapes and the newly discovered Philips tapes. Basically it was the same album but sound wise it was two totally different ones. Musically it is still brain melting Heavy Acid Space Rock driven by the fury of demons, but now with a fantastic pure and dynamic sound. The CD includes the album plus bonus material from the US version as well as short conversations from the studio. Detailed biography by Reine Fiske and Tommy Dahlén."

MELLOW (ITALY):

TRAVELLING: Voice La Nuit Tombe CD (MMP 390). $15.00

"Welcome reissue of one of the rarest European classic of the seventies, pressed in a very few copies by Futura records in France in 73. The music is great complex Canterbury sound, close to Soft Machine, Egg or Hatfield. The leader of this trio was Yves Hasselmann at the Hammond organ. His music takes also from modern composers blending these influences with subtle touches coming from jazz. A masterpiece."

MAHOGANY BRAIN: With (Junk-Saucepan) When (Spoon-Trigger) CD (MMP 402). $15.00

Long anticipated reissue of the first Mahogany Brain album, who were one of the strange and most primitive French avant-underground rock groups in the 70s. This was their first album, originally issued on Futura in 1971 — one of those mythical records that nobody has ever been able to hear (the second and final Mahogany Brain album, Smooth Sick Lights, has been reissued on Spalax for a number of years now). Originally issued as part of the historic Futura Red Series, alongside Red Noise, Triode, Fille Qui Mousse and Travelling. Featuring tracks like "Hot Milk Elbow" & "The Child With the Wind, the Snow, and the Yellow Top Waiting for the Magical Toy", this has a Godz-like flavor of outsider zonk and is well worth the wait. "Michel Bulteau e was at this time leader of the avant-garde band Mahogany Brain. It was a group playing pre-punk music, very influenced by drugs. This free music was at the crossing of Velvet Underground's White Light/White Heat and Captain Beefheart's Trout Mask Replica. Their story is quite short-lived : two albums in two years, highly respected, two classical of the french underground."

PERCEPTION: Perception CD (MMP 415). $15.00

First reissue of this Futura label jazz-rock/Zeuhl Music album, originally issued in 1971. Led by Jeff Seffer (aka Yochk'o Seffer) on bass-clarinet, soprano & tenor saxes, along with Siegfried Kessler piano, electric piano), Didier Levallet (bass) and Jean-Myl Truong (drums). Shortly after this Yochk'o Seffer joined Magma (on such classics as Mekanik Kommando & 1001° Centigrades) and then later founded Zao. "Colour splashes, melting magma, he plays like he paints and sculpts: he is the melting pot of the dancing lyricism of his compatriot Bartok, the Coltranian fire and the self proclamations of a Monk with a multi-instrumental virtuoso (from soprano to bass saxophone) and with an endless passion."

MELODIC (UK):*MINOTAUR SHOCK: Chiff Chaffs And Willow Warblers CD (MELO 009 CD). $13.50

"An awesome debut album, absolutely on par with Four Tet/Manitoba/Fridge. A more beautiful listening experience in a folk/electronic style will be hard to find this year. Minotaur Shock is the solo project of 25 year old Bristolian David Edwards. A man in demand and building a fair whack of a reputation with lots of plays from Radio 1 to Radio 3 as well as numerous remixes for the likes of Badly Drawn Boy, Andy Votel, His Name Is Alive and Tim Hutton to name a few..."

LUCKY PIERRE: Hypnogogia CD (MELO 013 CD). $13.50

"This debut album from Arab Strap mainman Aidan Moffat, AKA Lucky Pierre, is without doubt a contender for one of 2002's greatest albums...an absolute stunner. Lucky Pierre is one man, Aidan Moffat whose principle work began in Arab Strap five years ago with chum Malcolm Middleton. Lucky Pierre is Aidan Moffat's latest project, a beautiful, more soothing version of his usual trade full of immense tracks with cello and strings...Think DJ Shadow's Endtroducing meets Cinematic Orchestra and Arab Strap. Moffat's principal mission was to make 'music to fall asleep to'. Indeed, the inspiration to create a relaxing wind-down record of his own came from the incessant spawn of contrived chill out records which currently invade record stores everywhere. 'I can't stand those chill-out things and I was having real bad sleeping problems; I just couldn't relax. So I decided to find some sounds which I liked and put them together, it's as simple as that.'"

BAIKONOUR: Bake Your Tape EP 12" (MELO 014EP). $7.00

"Named after the Soviet launch-base in Kazakhstan, Baikonour brings forth a typically French goudon of electronica, idiosyncratic yet accessible, progressive yet funky and warm. Baikonour's fixation with Cocteau Twins and Krautrock bubbles beneath the surface of this 4 track EP, pricking the ear with occasional robotic bleeps but simultaneously offering the ointment of frothy percussion."

GAVOUNA: Warm Industry 12" (MELO 016). $7.00

"Limited edition (500 only) from new signing to melodic. The label that brought you Lucky Pierre, Pedro, Minotaur Shock and Baikonour to name but a few. With Gavouna's unfathomably beautiful Warm Industry EP Melodic have surpassed themselves. For his debut release London based Athenian Athanasios Argianas crafts 10 softly undulating tracks, replete with filigree rhythms and heart wrenching orchestral instrumentation that fuses the quiet moments of Aphex's 'Drugs' with the measured emotion of Steve Reich."

PSAPP: Do Something Wrong WP 12" (MELO 017 EP). $7.00

"Psapp is the latest limited (500 only) 12"-only release from Melodic, that fine label that has brought along releases in the past from Pedro, Minotaur Shock, and Lucky Pierre to name a few. Psapp is the collective experiences of Carim Clasmann and Galia Durant, a London based duo whose mutual obsession with odd noises and heart-prodding pop has resulted in a sound that sneakily slips between genres, dabbling with electronica, and glitchy folk and jazz."

PEDRO: Pedro CD (MELO 018 CD). $13.50

"This album has twists and turns but is not one that cannot be understood. This album was well worth the wait. Shall we dispense with the Folktronica tag at this stage then? Why not. When a record has so many signifying strands, it would be trite to dismiss it as simply that. As James puts it himself, 'I was trying to take a hip hop aesthetic and expand the range of references to stuff like 20th century classical, jazz, 2 step, early electronic music — all the stuff that I get inspired by. I wanted to move on from the sound of my 2 EP's and I think I'm progressing'. A humble heart or simple understatement? We think the recordings are a validation of him chasing hell and high water for that new found aesthetic. Essentially, he is finding his voice, in the only way he knows how; through a distillation of many many music forms. The warmth of To Rococo Rot, coupled with the hip hop backbone of Boom Bip and the ambition of Jim O' Rourke. A morphing electronic player with the underpinning of rock."

PEDRO: Pedro LP (MELO 018 LP). $13.50

LP version.

LUCKY PIERRE: The Heart Of All That Is 7" (MELO 019 EP). $7.00

"Limited Edition Picture Disc 7". Opening is Minotaur Shock's epic take on 'The Heart Of All That Is' which, along with the remix he's just done of Super Furry Animals' 'Cityscape Sky Baby' must rank as one of the best he's accomplished. Next comes Pedro's remix of 'Sometimes I Feel Like A Motherless Child' comes in typically stripped-to-the-bone style all glitchy and shiny in its technical excellence."

VA: Tracks For Horses CD (MELO 020 CD). $9.00

"The Melodic label began in 1999 with the release of the Pedro EP and Tracks For Horses is the 20th release. The last compilation A Room Full Of Tuneful met high critical acclaim (see above quote) and was, like Horses, a platform for the label roster. Which means tracks from Baikonour, Gavouna, Lucky Pierre, Pedro, Minotaur Shock, Psapp and Topo Gigio but also the inclusion of some of Melodic's favourite, as yet un-released tracks from demos and friends etc. What's different this time around from the folktronica-fest of the last compilation is a larger spread of diversity. Notes' 'It's A Good Thing' is quirky old skool hip hop from Texas. The Memory Band provide a 70s jazz/folk hit in 'Catch As Catch Can' taken from their most recent 'T' single on the Hungry Hill label. Audiowhere's track is a classic in waiting; a paen to possibly the greatest (or worst) game show of all time. No Talent Kid provides some too authentic-to-be-true Rick James / Prince-influenced P-Funk. There's still what has become a loose Melodic convention of trademark instrumental music with bags of melody. Opening the album is the prog opus that is Baikonour's 'Lick Lokoum' written when asked by Louis Vuitton Japan to provide music influenced by the Bay of Persia. Erm? Yeah, that's what we thought. But beautiful, big and overblown ambience — it just had to be the opener. Gavouna provides full-on live strings and the kind of instrumental music we all dream of being able to make. Pedro's first new track since his album makes us think of what a Japanese version of the Neptunes might sound like. The Earlies have their debut album released next year (at last) and we reckon Lambchop meets Minotaur Shock meets Mercury Rev — 'Bing It Back Again' is the title track from their latest EP. Psapp provide their trademark quirky and wistful pop-driven electronica. Topo Gigio breaks a musical silence with the shimmering 'Lezard'. Minotaur Shock delivers (we reckon) something like a sexed-up version of the theme from Country File (as he would). Finland's Noos deliver a gentle ambient instrumental that Boards Of Canada would be proud of. Lucky Pierre previews a new track from his 2nd album to be released next year. The closing track comes from Micah Paul Hinson soon to be released on the Sketchbook label and currently collaborating with Gavouna."

VA: Tracks For Horses 12" (MELO 020 EP). $7.00

"Tracks For Horses is a CD-only 14-track album to be released early November, in the meantime four of the best and most DJ-friendly numbers are released on this sampler EP. Opening the EP is 'It's A Good Thing' from Notes which we'd describe as quirky Texan hip hop. Next up are PSAPP with their trademark quirky and wistful but pop-driven electronica, Audio Whore's track is a classic in waiting....a paean to possibly the greatest (or worst) game show of all time? As Lucky Pierre's music was created to send it's author Aidan Moffat to sleep, what better track could close proceedings."

MINOTAUR SHOCK: Rinse CD (MELO 021 CD). $13.50

"For the uninitiated, Minotaur Shock is the solo project of 26 year old Bristolian David Edwards. His debut album Chiff Chaffs And Willow Warblers, received exceptional critical acclaim in December 2001. Rinse, compiles the much sought after first two vinyl only EPs plus extra tracks and shows just how accomplished David Edwards is. Rinse sits nicely next to work from artists such as Aphex, Squarepusher, Prefuse 73, Boards Of Canada and Four Tet. From the space-age scrapes of 'Let Me Out', to one of the best pieces of ambient music anywhere 'Albert Park Music', to the anthemic 'Motoring Britain', it was always inevitable that this music would have to be released in CD format for the masses."

BAIKONOUR: Hot Milk EP 12" (MELO 022EP). $7.00

"It was only 18-months before Baikonour's new EP that the original EP (where these tracks originated from) came out. In true Melodic fashion, like a fine wine, maturity is something that takes time... either that or Melodic is very slow at getting records out. Let's go for the former; Baikonour, the electronicist on the Melodic stable that has that distinct prog-jazz-odyssey flavour brings forth his friends/remixers to the table.... As you'll soon find out each remix here is something very special and the one thing that runs in common is that all of the people who participated in this project are friends. For the initiated, Baikonour is Jean-Emmanuel Krieger, not only a resident of Melodic Records but inhabits the real world in Brighton. Named after the Soviet launch-base in Kazakhstan, Baikonour brings forth a typically French goudon of electronica, idiosyncratic yet accessible, progressive yet funky and warm. You may already have guessed from the name his Gallic origins; Versailles to be precise, home to such names as Air, Super Discount and Alex Gopher. The very water must be imbued with the essence of great electronic music." Mixes by: Amon Tobin, Gavouna, and Topo Gigio.

L. PIERRE: Total Horizontal 7" (MELO 023EP). $7.00

"Lucky Pierre has, Puff-Daddy-style, changed his name for this single and forthcoming album. He will now be known as L. Pierre. The previous meaning was a bit rude (go figure) and the lad's gonna be turning 30 soon so a more mature L. Pierre is what we have. Aidan (Moffat, one half of Arab Strap and one full portion of L. Pierre) felt there were two halves to the song so he decided quite simply to cut them in half for this single. Taken from the forthcoming new album Touchpool (released in July 2004) 'Total Horizontal' is the longest track on the album weighing in at ten minutes forty four seconds. The first half is what you'll be familiar with — the trademark epic samples over drum machine loops. The second half has more live instrumentation (guitars and trumpets) — the main difference between the new album and Hypnogogia."

MEME (JAPAN):*SUKORA: Tower CD (MEME 002). $18.00

"This is the brilliant debut CD of Japanese young sound artist. Anti-conceptual response to '4:33' and 'Trente Oiseaux.' A 69-minute CD (w/ 68-minute opening track), that's safe to play all the way through (ie. no disruptive sonic peaks to destroy your concentration of the low-level fumbling and hiss that make up the content of this CD). At no point is it clear that anything "happens," but nothing has been "happening": ever since God built the first mountain out of sands and ants. If you're desirous of a new minimalist challenge, enter here."

NERVE NET NOISE: 160/240 CD (MEME 004). $18.00

"This is the new work of Japanese inventive electro-noise duo (Tagomago and Kumakiri). They use handmade synths only. System rouge (one of their synth) could not stop to repeat... The profile about Tagomago (Tsuyoshi Nakamaru): Born in Tokyo 1963. Released his 1st Album as Tagomago in December, 1994. Related with the scene of noise-techno music in Tokyo, and has released his original works of electronics sounds. Playing synthesizer made by himself as the ambient-noise unit Nerve Net Noise with Hiroshi Kumakiri who is the formative artist, since 1996. And in May, 1998, got into the action of Toki-Meki Science which is a Meta-Pop project with a female vocalist." "Here are five more offerings from Meme, a Japanese CD pressing hub paralleling only Tzadik (possibly Cleopatra, depending on your definition of 'outsider') in brute-force release prolificity of head-scratcher audio documentation. Nerve Net Noise have two releases on Zero Gravity (This Island Earth and their collaboration with Dub Sonic Roots, Live at Uplink Factory) as well as a bevy of tracks/albums as TagoMago. This CD has tracks, a square-pulsing analog signal that takes 31:11 to modulate down a half step, and a faster 50/50 pulse/signal mix that takes 31:52 to double in speed. So fucking zen it barely qualifies as audio (this sound could have been derived from any of several phase-test methods, then recorded through an audio path). Test your will to live, go on..." — Hrvatski.

SHIFTS: Seven Dots CD (MEME 006). $18.00

"This is the 2nd full length CD by Frans de Waard (Kapotte Muziek, Beequeen, Goam, Quest, Captain Black)'s guitar drone unit. Not seven songs, there are seven dots..." "Solo recordings from Staalplaat/Vital info-head Frans De Waard, a member of recent Raster signings Goem. Telephone-band (375hz-1.5K) oscillations spiralling around the resonant frequency of your block's arterial structure/sinuses, intent on making you feel 'woozy' or 'gelatinous'. Resultant pulsations don't offend; they merely massage the temple area thoroughly and with vigor. Label completists: if you made it through the Sukora CD (your effective hazing), this one should be a breeze. 'Recorded 1997 in Den Haag, The Netherlands using guitar, four tracks and the pt device'. Points to guesser of the origins of said device." — Hrvatski.

*0: 0.0 CD (MEME 009). $18.00

"This is a new CD from a Japanese tech-noise creator. His music has something in common with Mika Vainio, Ryoji Ikeda, Noto, etc. You'll find delicate sculptures of pulses, tones, and silences."

LOST IN TRANSLATION: Domestic Bliss CD (MEME 013). $18.00

"Sound! In quantity! Lost in Translation is one Jace Krause, whose singles on Cariburetor, Burnt Hair, and History of the Future, along with tracks on the very recent Trash 2: Where the Fuck is Mr. Million? CD (alongside Cristian Vogel, Speedranch & Jansky Noise, etc...) freak the 200+ BPM breakbeat divine quite inappropriately. This stuff's more a processional wash of 4-track buzz & the dragging chains of Marley's ghost. Fucking sinister murk. 6 tracks, 65 minutes." — Hrvatski.

MEMPHIS INDUSTRIES (UK):*FORT LAUDERDALE: Time Is Of The Essence CD (MEMPH 017CD). $15.00

"In it's luxurious folk psychedelia and behind-the-drapes decadence redolent of 19th century leisured classes, the album recalls both the crack'd genius of Syd Barrett and the utopian visions of HG Wells, the album is best described as downtempo space funk meets psychedelic electronica. Check out the backwards guitar styled tea dance of 'Flux 1912' and the Bowie-on-a-bontempi that is 'Fixing Spaceships'. 'A twisted journey into the depths of the mind that takes in space-funk and electronica making it infinitely listenable.'"

FORT LAUDERDALE: Flux 1912 CD (MEMPH 020CD). $8.00

"From the label that brought us Blue States and Broadway Project, a new EP of luxurious folk psychedelia from Fort Lauderdale (aka Black Neon and The Squire Of Somerton), Memphis Industries' other major artist. This EP features the main track from the album Flux 1912 plus two new tracks, 'Obbey Osse,' an homage to a Cornish fertility ritual involving a man dressed as a horse and local womenfolk, and 'Beauty,' subtly perverted and degenerate. File next to: Jean Jacques Perry meets The Wicker Man."

FORT LAUDERDALE: Flux 1912 10" (MEMPH 020EP). $8.00

10" vinyl version.

JUKEBOXER: Man Throughout The Ages EP 12" (MEMPH 022EP). $9.00

"Limited Edition (500 only) EP from new Memphis Industries signings. Brooklyn based Noah Wall aka Jukeboxer. Jukeboxer is the sound of melodic pop juxtaposing off kilter arrangements that bring to mind Brian Wilson and Magnetic Fields. A colorful swirl of boy girl harmonies, scratchy rhythmic melodies. Playground chants and owl noises. Wurliitzer, Farfisa, Minimoog, guitars, percussion, toy pianos and kitchen utensils all make beautifully proportioned appearances."

J.XAVERRE: Great All Great CD (MEMPH 028CD). $4.00

"JX is, to all intents and purposes. Pete Gofton. Recorded in Pete's bedroom it's a tricky combo of dirty great bass, acoustic strumming, sweet vocals and topped off with lo-fi electronic atmospherics."

J.XAVERRE: Great All Great 12" (MEMPH 028EP). $9.00

Vinyl EP version.

BROADWAY PROJECT: The Vessel CD (MEMPH 031 CD). $16.00

"Dan Berridge, along with his new accomplice in sound, vocalist Richard Palmer, have finally completed their sophomore album The Vessel. The Vessel is a precious one; within it a diverse collection of broody, filmic washes ('Beauty', 'Angel Heart') spiralling, emotive plumes of music ('I Believe In Superman' — the recent single) and ideas seemingly too fragile to put to record." "Imagine Tom Waits duetting with Portishead and being produced by Boards of Canada. Desolation, anger, and redemption hasn't sounded this alluring in a long time." — Jockey Slut.

BROADWAY PROJECT: The Vessel LP (MEMPH 031 LP). $13.00

LP version.

J.XAVERRE: Saturday CD (MEMPH 032 CD). $6.50

"3 track CD with two exclusive tracks 'Strange Thing' and 'Making The Most Of A Beautiful Day'. Recalling the great lost George Harrison/Beta Band collaboration, or Kid A on Sunny D. It gives the likes of the Polyphonic Spree and the Sleepy Jackson a run for their money in the nu soft-rock stakes. JX has managed once again to draft in Los Angeles wunder-producer David Trumfio of Wilco and My Morning Jacket fame, to assist with production duties."

J.XAVERRE: Saturday 12" (MEMPH 032 EP). $9.00

3 track 12" featuring exclusive Manitoba and Blue States remixes.

J.XAVERRE: These Acid Stars CD (MEMPH 033 CD). $16.00

"J Xaverre finally gets around to releasing his debut album, These Acid Stars. And what an eye-opener it is. Having gained his reputation blending electronica with his songwriting instincts, J Xaverre — (aka former Kenickie drummer/guitarist/producer/songwriter type Johnny X aka Pete Gofton) — has made an album several notches up from his previous lo-fi explorations. Self produced in parts, mixed by Dave Trumfio of Wilco and My Morning Jacket fame in others ('Great All Great' and 'Saturday') and collaborating with King Of Woolworths in others ('Ex-Wonderboy'), These Acid Stars ditches any notion of JX being solely an arbiter of lo-fi introspection. These are pop melodies enough to give Damon Gough a seizure, and epic moments, which recall anything from Mercury Rev to Grandaddy and Sparklehorse."

J.XAVERRE: These Acid Stars LP/7" (MEMPH 033 LP). $13.00

LP version. + 7".

FORT LAUDERDALE: The Chilling Place CD (MEMPH 034 EP). $6.50

"A weird and wonderful combination of soaring vocals, drunken horns, bubbling synths and the greatest ever guitar solo committed to tape...honest, it is. The Chilling Place comes backed with two new songs, the first, the lovely Velvets-esque 'She's in Bloom', a nostalgic glance at love past, whilst the second is a perfectly poised cover version of electronic legend Bruce Hook's 'Incantation' with Toby casually tossing off a perfect frippertronic impression on his trusted Gibson. The most coherent example yet of genre-bending schizadelica' Sleazation."

FORT LAUDERDALE: Pretty Monster CD (MEMPH 035 CD). $16.00

"Fort Lauderdale return with their third, and most ambitious album yet. And mark our words, this isn't Time is of the Essence part deux. Those of you who have checked out the two singles to be pulled from this album so far, 'Rock'n'Roll', and 'The Chilling Place' will have some idea of what to expect: think T-Rex meets Super Furry Animals. But even those singles won't prepare you for the sheer chutzpah on display. Imagine if Ray Davies instead of Jack Nicholson had taken over as caretaker of the Overlook Hotel in Stanley Kubrick's The Shining. Then you might get some idea of the eccentric genius that lurks within Pretty Monster. From lo-fi ('Insane Overdrive') to neo-classical torch ballads ('Prey To The Stars') to jagged shards of psychedelic-pop ('As A Boy') to sleazy disco ('Sexy Creature') it spills over with classic pop songs whilst at the same time evoking the sense of two minds unravelling in spectacular surroundings. Fans of everyone from Roxy Music to Super Furry Animals to The Animals will be enchanted."

MEN (UK):

AFX: 2 Remixes By AFX CD (MEN 001CD). $8.00

"2001 Aphex Twin single! Released on mystery label Men, first single since the massive 'Windowlicker'. 2 excellent, new percussive/melodic recordings by AFX in the style of AFX. A track 1: 120 bpm / 4? 59" / bears the inscription 'squidged out at the bank by afx'. B track 2: 168 bpm / 6? 30" / cockney raver's voice halfway thru track, recounting his experiences of 'E'. B track 3: bonus high frequency sounds. Vinyl format is a white label 12" in a standard paper innersleeve. There is a sticker on one label and also in the centre/top of the sleeve. Very nice, dj-friendly cut. CD format is a plain CD, with the words '2 remixes by afx' on the disc and a similar sticker to the vinyl format affixed to the centre/top/front of a standard clear plastic album jewel case." This has nothing to do with the "new" post-"Windowlicker" Aphex Twin single as implied above, but instead features classic acid remixes of tracks from 808 State ("Flow Coma") & DJ Pierre. Pure insanity in the spirit of 1988 (anybody who doesn't own Newbuild should go ahead and fall down). Plus a couple minutes of bonus Aphex sine-tones at the end. No packaging, because who fucking needs it.

AFX: 2 Remixes By AFX 12" (MEN 001EP). $8.00

12" version in plain white inner sleeve.

AFX: Smoiphace EP CD (MEN 002CD). $8.00

"Richard D. James aka AFX aka Aphex Twin grew up in Cornwall, England where he began taking apart electronics gear as a teenager. Inspired by acid-house in the late '80s, James began DJing raves around Cornwall. His first release was the Analogue Bubblebath EP, recorded with Tom Middleton and released on the Mighty Force label in September 1991. Early in 1993, Richard James signed to Warp Records, the influential British label that virtually introduced the concept of futuristic 'electronic listening music' with a series of albums sub-titled 'Artificial Intelligence' — James' release in the series, titled "Surfing On Sine Waves", was recorded as Polygon Window and released in January 1993. A second album was released that year, Analogue Bubblebath 3, for Rephlex recorded as AFX. Many releases followed until now. This single presents the remix of 'Run The Place Red' by The Bug. Cutty Ranks from the 2003 album Pressure and two excellent, new percussive and melodic recordings by AFX exclusive for the Rephlex sublabel Men."

MENLO PARK:

HAINO/LOREN MAZZACANE CONNORS, KEIJI: Vol. 2 CD (MPK 7005). $13.00

Following their first collaboration from 1992 on the Persona Non Grata label, this features a performance and soundcheck recording from the Cooler in NYC, 4/11/95.

HAINO/LOREN MAZZACANE CONNORS, KEIJI: Vol. 2 LP (MPK 7005 LP). $13.00

Limited vinyl version, last copies.

BUNNY BRAINS: Sin Gulls (Goring St. Eddy): 1998-1998 CD (MPK 7013 CD). $12.00

"The 'brains' formed in late 1988 deep in Danbury, CT; some college kids, some art freaks, people who felt that time should not be passed, but slaughtered with the primitive sweet sounds of the depraved. The Brains were never a noise band, or an art band, or particularly high brow; you could probably argue that they were never a band at all. Over the course of ten years or so the Bunnies recorded a fairly impressive output, a great many albums, singles and comp tracks. Their singles are by far some of their best work, and are collected here for you to finally get your hands all over."

ALVA: Slattery For Ungdom CD (MPK 7014). $12.00

"Alva are three enigmatic young girls, people generally say they're from Tampa, FL. A disturbing loosely glued combination of classically influenced instruments weaned on children's songs, pop music, rebellion against religious spattering and traditional folklore...you really have no idea what you're in for. Are you surprised to find that you won't find guitar-bassdrum here? They've been replaced by violin, saxophone and piano, and some vocal assaults; yeah, there's some drumaccordianwhistles and other fun stuff in here, 'cause yeah, it's a ride." Follow-up to the mysterious Fair-Haired Guillotine on Zorn's Avant label.

YIPS, THE: The Seven Pillars Of The Yips CD (MPK 7016). $12.00

"Stripping down to the basic essentials of guitar and drums, vocalist/guitarist Gilmore Tamny and drummer Jon Davidson possess the unique gift of being able to rock the rock. Monster rave up riffs that hearken to the days of that stripped down Ohio power thing, but much beyond the power trio, this spastic duo that seems to have had trouble fitting in at the school dance will thrill you with their screwed up salivatingly current vision. I guess that world would consist of raw garage like chirps spawning with light rock, high risk students, Ohio, bacterial infection, and of course that old mainstay 'indie rock'."

TO LIVE AND SHAVE IN L.A.: The Wigmaker 2CD (MPK 7020 CD). $16.00

"For five years people have been asking about, talking about, and wanting to frolic in The Wigmaker; incredibly complex, and (already) steeped in musical folklore, there is no doubt you have never heard anything like this before. For five years each track was intensely labored over, mixed, splintered, and tweaked to perfection. This is unique; Tom Smith, T.L.&S.I.L.A. founder, has an incredible array of musical knowledge, using recording and mastering techniques that span every kind of music imaginable, he took ideas from whatever flew into his ears during his years, and found a way to apply those sounds to his art form; understand that this is not noise or experimental, or avant-anything, this is the inspired journey of one man's mind, uncompromised, and to the gut... these songs have melody, dense structure, incredible character, and a fuji sized gamut of dynamics. This isn't post anything, this is a new beginning, this is against the grain, this is 'pre'."

MENSTRUATION SISTERS: Dead At Slug's LP (MPK 7021). $13.00

"Enter Australia's finest primates, 'menstruation sisters' armed with drums a guitar and attitude, Dead At Slug's rips through two sides of war cries with the aggression & balls that hasn't been heard since the big bang." "To witness Menstruation Sisters live where they can confound, nay, dumbfound an audience into stunned wonder is a beautiful thing. It stands to reason that any recordings they may issue, this one notwithstanding, shall do the same to any one serendipitous enough to experience such a moment. Unlike anything, book or animal - M. Sisters destroy wholly." — T. Moore

DEERHOOF: Half Bird CD (MPK 7022 CD). $13.00

"Deerhoof rock with the fury of 1000 suns, cacophonous and dangerous, but they're also the masters of 'quiet-loud', the idea that moments, though soft in decibels, can be incredibly and sonically deafening, that pure beauty has a loudness all its own. Greg's drumming is nothing short of spectacular and inspired, the guitar chunks, the bass roars, Satomi's vocals make you tingle. They've got the chemistry scientists long for, and although they accept fan mail on this planet, Deerhoof are from another one, and on this, their fourth full length, they've offered arguably their best record to date. There was careful attention paid to detail, the fawning over of ideas, and the notion that this would be a complete album, a transporting album, and when inspired beauty seeps, it's impossible to contain."

MONOTRONA: Hawkeye & Firebird CD (MPK 7023 CD). $12.00

"Hawkeye and Firebird are two of the characters and the first release, from the soon to be legendary 'super-beings' series of recordings to be released on Menlo Park, and assembled to bring meaning and understanding to all the peoples of the world. You've never heard a record like this... incredibly inspired and beautiful art punk electro beats form what is soon to be the talk of the town.... Monotrona is one of the most respected and innovative members of the NYC electro scene; whether good or bad, to a lot of 'people' electro is here, and it's now... let me be straight, a lot of the so called electro clash acts, well, they suck, Monotrona chews and spits em..."

JAPANATHER: Leather Wings LP (MPK 7024). $12.00

"Straight from Brooklyn, Japanther brings it to you straight up and raw, but catchy and beat junkied as hell...Japanther are 2 guys: Ian Vanek and Matt Reilly. These guys are one of the most unchained and next step bands that have come along in years. Japanther play rock music you move your stuff to...made up of drums, a bass guitar, and beats made on an MPC....punk attitude, noise attitude, pop attitude, hip hop attitude...they're a garage band made up of all that they feel, and they're here to stake their claim is the next NYC thing...They play for their friends, the ragers, the bombers, the bike riders and the skaters...they love to have a good time. Leather Wings is their debut LP; their debut full length CD Dump the Body in Rikki Lake is forthcoming."

DEERHOOF: Apple O' LP (MPK 7026). $12.00

The vinyl version of the Kill Rock Stars CD. "After absorbing a few of these 'pop songs, love songs, antiwar songs for kids!' on my way to work, I was so overjoyed I wanted to leap skyward with my arms outstretched — but inhibition and the low ceiling on the subway got the better of me at the time. Apple O' should be celebrated as the eclectic masterpiece that it is. 4 out of 4." JANE.

GERTY FARISH: Means Lots Of Treble 1996-1999 CD (MPK 7027CD). $11.00

"When Gerty Farish started out in 1995 they didn't know they'd become infamous... John Donahue - guitar/vocals, and Jess Daniels - keyboard/vocals... they were both fans of punk rock, and noise, cartoons, mayhem, yellow ducks, and all things cute and cuddly... they originally were hatched in Massachusetts, where they honed their skills, they then moved to Brooklyn in 1997, where the little band learned to walk... the script was written, and when they played, the air turned to one thousand little monsters, and creatures of all shapes and size...the musical notes became cartoons that lived in your ears...Jess's dream was to write video game music...are you getting the idea?? In 1999 Gerty Farish disbanded, and the world was without one more great band...but we have this. A compilation of all their 7"s, 10"s and 12"s here for the first time on the glorious digital format..."

JAPANHER: Dump The Body In Rikki Lake CD (MPK 7028 CD). $11.00

"Enter the world of the infectious beat down, of unpredictable chaos, the cries of eagles, rock chariots, and the unchained expressions of 2 youths ... Japanther. They love you, so come with them ... heavily laced in graffiti, bike riding, and now creating a higher level of do what you feel — their splintering punk & beat tightness will fill your pleasure center with warmth. They make music that causes uncontrollable dance, beats so infectious you convulse, punk so tight you sweat your cares to the ground, and make one realize that sometimes, a great time is just a great time ... these kids know their history, and are not doomed to repeat; Japanther is an attitude."

JAPANHER: The Operating Manual of Life On Earth LP (MPK 7031LP). $11.00

"For the last 2+ years Japanther has been tearing up America and the world at large with their unique brand of punk, beats, noise, fun, extreme creation and a 2004 full of 'do what you feel'. This new EP is easily some of their best work yet, and a taste of their 'new' to keep your belly full until the next meal... all 6 songs are recorded with most of the time member 'Claudia Meza', who joins the 2 boys (Matt Reilly - bass/vocals, Ian Vanek - drums/vocals) on their ride to musical obliteration..."

MENTAL GROOVE (SWITZERLAND):

LE COEUR: Suddenly CD (MG 002 CD). $18.00

"Le Coeur is a one man project from the growing Geneva scene. Although this production is musically rather far from Mental Groove's usual signing, the spirit is still there and the quality and originality of this record shine like never before in Mental Groove's empire. Using various analog electronic machines and other samplers, synth, electronics, pianos. Suddenly is a good lesson in how to make nowadays a brilliant record in today's stifling world of lap top/computer and other digital and new electronic music too often based on technology rather than on originality and ideas. Suddenly brings a happy freshness to today's world of electronic music by using classic electronic machines with its very own and distinctive way to approach it. Lonely, lazy, dreamy and imaginative, Le Coeur takes you on a lovely and magic electronic trip full of spacious analog sounds, deep and soft melodies, shining bells, vast and infinite dreamy landscapes, brilliant simplicity, moving atmospheres, complex and mysterious sound enigms, organic fairy-like ensembles, minimal sounds, cosy sequences, amazing and candid melodies, ethereal rhythms, beautiful and cloudy atmospheres. Resulting in a lovely, charming, dreamy and most elegant release to help you escape from the humdrum routine of everyday life. For fans of : Susumu Yokota, The Orb, Brian Eno."

VA: Where Is Here CD (MG 003 CD). $15.00

"A collection of exclusive techno and electro gems showcasing the best of Geneva's growing scene, ten mental groovers to enjoy irresponsibly courtesy of your favorite Swiss label. Unfasten your seatbelts and hit the floor! Smacking you in the face by way of introduction, Evil C lashes out with a distorted electroid monster that is actually rather subtle in its arrangement. Paparazzi Records' Dave The Hustler and diva Cassy Britton last heard singing on a smashing Elin remix — do the business on a rocking slice of techno infused with the spirit of desperate shuffled punkitude. Crowdpleaser and Selfish In Bed aka Melistar from The Glitz fame whisper dark things into your ear while entertaining your legs, in pure minimal & binary fashion. Luciano's dreamy and slick electro track pulsates with a slight experimental edge, while mysterious Dr Awkward goes for a more hard-hitting approach not so far from current UR-style electrotech. Then we are treated with a fantastic Miss Kittin & The Hacker outtake: feelgood techdisco hit featuring holiday reports from a beach-tan Kittin, pure dancefloor sunshine. Next up is DJ SID, doing the business in refined style, his 'My Melody' stomping about desperately in abandon. A superb countrytech piece! Lanaeq serves a Detroit-tinged electro workout with skillful breaks programming, perfect highway music or end-of-night tune. Water Lilly & St Plomb round up the collection with their straight, minimal rock-out for the long-haired beat lovers out there, in the spirit of a darker 'Warm Leatherette' and last by Italian connecction Rosario who do his business at the edge of the deepest and darkest territories of electronic music."

VA: Hosomaki: Mix 2 CD (MG 005 CD). $16.00

"Four years have passed since the first & second volume of Hosomaki:Mix, a series devoted to represent emerging electronic music producers from the French-speaking part of Switzerland. First volume featured now established talents like Alex Attias or Rollercone, both now living in London and signed to prestigious labels. During four years the scene has evolved from jazz & funk coloured music (popularised here by Gilles Peterson) to a more electronic, modern & updated approach, supported by many clubs and improvised block parties around the lake, not mentioning the explosion of virtual studios." Featuring: Luciano, Velma (Jan Jelinek remix), Gunga, Lee van Dowski, Plastique de Reve, Le Coeur, Stephane Attias, //DIY, Cassy & Dave the Hustler, MPC, Bauchamp, Katexaw, Welcom, St-plomb, Honey for Petzi, AD's.

VA: Where Is Here 2LP (MG 026 LP). $16.00

Double LP Version

CATANZARO, GABE: Nothing To Loose 12" (MG 029). $9.00

"A hypnotic (tango-like), effective, elegant, deep and yet percussive fat-free groove for the ladies with subtle chorus added on the top. On B-side, Gabe goes full on vocoder with two little jewels. First 'Robot Love', which starts where 'dadada' by Trio ends, and, to end, a more relaxed melodica groove, 'Still In My Heart', which finds without trouble his place between King Tubby, Black Dog and Alexander Robotnick. A versatile EP for every moment, which has received strong feedback from the usual suspects."

LUCIANO: La Limonada de Pepe Bombilla 12" (MG 031). $9.00

"Luciano's own fresh & experimental productions are destined to the wiser dancefloors worldwide that have enjoyed his live sets (Peru, Spain, Chile, France, Argentina, the U.S., Germany & Switzerland). This new 2 tracker goes for a more dancefloor orientated flavour with the massive & totally ecstatic 'La Limonada', a long, smart and effective piece of hypnotic future funk action that takes no prisoners, and the magic of 'Artamis', a melodic and flying piece of music to blow you away in the early hours of the morning."

CASSY & DAVE THE HUSTLER: Her Dream 12" (MG 032). $9.00

"Second single of a series of four extracted from the critically acclaimed Where is Here compilation, showcasing the best of the growing Geneva scene. Vocalist Cassy (currently enjoying success w/ Luciano 'Alpine Rocket' single on Perlon) and producer Dave The Hustler (currently working with Puff Daddy & Felix da Housecat), are delivering one hell of a bastard tune, a nasty & devastating electro shuffle rock song that takes no prisoners on the floor. Alongside the original version comes two phat remixes, first one by french David Carretta, a super & effective peak hour time 4/4 electro mix, then second one by our favourite Patrick Pulsinger (featuring Philip Quehenberger on keyboard) who delivers probably one of his best re-work so far."

CROWDPLEASER, ST.PLOMB & SELFISH IN BED: Rather Be - Rmx 12" (MG 033). $9.00

"Time for the remixes. Third track extracted from the Where Is Here compilation (MGCD003/MG026) by Geneva's hottest duo Crowdpleaser & St Plomb, featuring the oh so sexy voice of Selfish in Bed. First the much hyped Scratch Massive mix, delivering a devastating bassy'n'bleepy techno excursions with a wicked guitar breakdown to die for not mentioning the added vocals of Maud Geffrey; then B Rave records recently signed rave act GE&GM go for a true-to-the-bone old school chicago acid house version with that piano sounds, and finally a classic Thomas Brinkmann liquid smile version, you know the score with him. And as a present, we give you the original demo version, which is deeper and dubbier than the released one."

MISS KITTIN & THE HACKER: The Beach 12" (MG 034). $9.00

"First single of a series of four extracted from the critically acclaimed Where Is Here Compilation, showcasing the best of the growing Geneva scene. No needs to introduce this well known duo. Miss Kittin used to live in our city for more than four years and recently left for Berlin (sniff). As a 'byebye' present they gave us their one and only italo-disco tune 'The Beach', a fantastic and easy feel-good summer anthem featuring holiday reports from a beach-tan Kittin, a pure dancefloor sunshine in this hectic world. This is now available as a limited one-sided single, with a special artwork cutted @ d&m on the B side by Kittin herself."

IANEQ: The Light Remixes 12" (MG 035EP). $9.00

A: 'The Light' (Moonstar remix), 'Electric Thoughts'. B: 'The Light' (Original), 'Cloudy Picnic'. 'The Light' taken from MG 026 Where Is Here.

WATER LILLY & PLASTIQUE DE REVE: You Remix Kisses 12" (MG 036EP). $9.00

"Water Lilly & Plastique de Reve's hottest track 'You Kiss' (from mg027) has been remixed four times on this single by Savas Pascalidis, Mr Lovelace, Steril and Legowelt (that mixes could make John Carpenter jealous). We have also added the original mix for those who have missed it before."

LE COEUR: Suddenly LP (MG 040 LP). $16.00

"Suddenly will please fans of new electronic music as well as relaxed chill-out headz or even addicts of older classic ambient music like Susumu Yokota, The Early Orb, Brian Eno's Ambient Series & Klf's Chillout. All 11 tracks of this album have been specially mixed together with natural sounds, urban ambience and other sweet sources recorded all over the world. Also some video games addicts will recognize a wonderful cover of Lara Croft's Tomb Raider hidden somewhere." Gatefold sleeve.

ST.PLOMB: Mister Magic Evil 12" (MG 041). $9.00

"Ex-Water Lilly production partner and hiphop veteran from the old school scene, St Plomb delivers here a versatile four tracker, starting with peak-hour-burning-with-ecstasy rave track 'Spectacle', followed by a housier 'A Bat in My Shoe', a simple cut-up syncopated funky numbers. Then for something completely different, some devastating hiphop flavoured beats, 'Mister Magic Evil' and 'Rock the Joint' (feat scratches by DJ Sensay) will prove that the door between hiphop and techno is definitively open and rocking."

HOSOMAKI: Mix 2 12" (MG LTD002). $9.00

Limited to 500 copies. 4 track EP, features: Bauchamp, Lee Van Dowski, DIY (DJ Assault remix), Plastique de Reve.

MISS KITTIN: Radio Caroline Vol. 1 Sampler 12" (MG LTD003). $9.00

"Here's a cute little limited 12" from Miss Kittin, featuring some of the most sought after tunes from her critically acclaimed mix CD Radio Caroline Volume One. These classic tracks were long time deleted and we are happy to make them available again." Tracks: Autechre: "Flutter"; Alexander Robotnick: "Dance Boy Dance"; Kinesnesia: "Flicklife".

LUMP: Bleux/B-Print 12" (MG LTD004). $9.00

"Part two of four releases by Swiss artist Lump on MGLTD (sublabel of Mental Groove), which will end with a 4x12" inches box (limited to 200) + a full album release (with fresh tracks and edited versions of these 12" inches). Here are two tracks of minimal dada house cuts, related to the minimal scene, but with a more organic and live approach to it. 'Bleux' is the moody one here, deep and crunchy as we like, while 'B-Print' and its German spoken words, goes to a more happy vibe, like 'Better Eat Strawberries' did on the previous release. This has been rated by DJ's like ark, Ivan Smaghe, Cabanne, Mo and so on. Enjoy Lump and check his forthcoming EP on Mo'wax as Are Dee."

LUMP: You Better Eat Strawberry 12" (MG LTD005). $9.00

"LUMP says 'I try to work exclusively with samples, whose history and formation I know. They are victims of my personal hunt. And I cut them hard whenever possible. What probably arises from my desire for the tangible. My music wants to suggest something to the audience. Entertainment in which there is no need to give up yourself. I don't prescribe any longing. Which does not mean that there is no longing to find in my music. But please find it yourself. And my head shall stay at home now, it shall not come to the studio with me today'. LUMP music is just unique, always effective, it's a breath of fresh air for the dance-floor and home listening, somewhere between microfunk, dirtyhouse, minimalshit and brokenbeats, whether it's vocal or instrumental."

LUMP: Hardlycan/Wer Einen Und At 12" (MG LTD006). $9.00

"Two more fresh slices of orgasmic funky microhouse ('Hardlycan') and deep clickadelic techno ('Wer einen und at') produced by our favourite Swiss boy in Berlin. Perfect after hours moody feelings and home listening pleasure, Lump's sound is like none other, like a journey in some new minimal- and broken-friendly territories, reminding you something you haven't experienced yet. A kick-asses in the actual boring minimal productions with a big smile. This is part three of four releases by Lump on MGLTD (sublabel of Mental Groove)."

LUMP: Drop Dead Gorgeous 12" (MG LTD007). $9.00

"Lump 4th and final (yellow) release for MGLTD series, beware of imitations. Lump is minimal, dirty, gritty, funky, freaky, nerdy, housey, slappy, jazzy and scratchy. Lump is getting more and more attention from the public (you) as well as the media (them). Lump's music is mostly played by female DJ's (Sylvie Marks, Magda, Sonja Moonear) Lump is actually recording a full length for us, various style here, and various guests. Lump is also having a limited package of his four mgld release to come out soon."

MERCK:

SYDRONE: Triskaideka CD (MERCK 001). $13.50

"Triskaideka is the premiere release from another electronic label to emerge from the depths of Miami, Merck. Sydrone is an American musician who produces complex bedroom electronics, and whose music can be compared to Autechre and Funkstörung, specifically combining the tricky programming and sad melodies of AE with the crunchy beats of Funkstörung. His compositions are usually 6+ minutes long, but change throughout to keep the song interesting and dynamic. Any fans of older AE and the new wave of IDM will really enjoy this debut 70 minute full length release — as it perfectly melds the older sound with the newer manipulation techniques of today's cutting-edge electronic labels."

MD: Appelsap CD (MERCK 003). $13.50

"This is the debut full length CD from Finnish and now UK resident musician md. The CD consists of 11 tracks from md's original project entitled Appelsap, as well as 6 recent remixes of the original tracks. The remixes are by a talented and renowned bunch of producers, namely: Thug, Rrothomstates, Crankshaft, Frank Bolero, Xhale, and Ilkae. Fans of MD's squadron track 'Fres Core', and his rhythm changing from straight feel to 16th triplets style should definitely check this out."

VA: Aurora CD (MERCK 004). $13.50

"The Aurora compilation is a departure from the Merck releases thus far. It is a compilation composed of ambient tracks created by released and unreleased producers alike. Most of whom are primarily known for their IDM output. The music has alot of warmth to it and a very high melody/noise ratio (as you would expect from IDM musicians doing ambient). A lot of the tracks are reminiscent of Saw 2 era's inviting warmth and smoothness. Featuring tracks by: Sense, Melf, Phonex, Proem, Salice, Ilkae, Oblique, Threehz, Sydrone, Kiyoshi Ono, Pandorabox, Soundstate, and Eu. This CD is an exciting departure from the traditional roles of IDM producers and something that is very refreshing to hear after a lull in boundary pushing IDM music."

MACHINE DRUM: Now You Know CD (MERCK 005). $13.50

A brand new pressing of 1000 with brand new artwork and digitally remastered. "Now You Know by Machine Drum is probably the best CD yet to fuse the cutting edge loveliness and warmth of IDM, with chopped up vocals and hard hitting hiphop beats. Containing stunningly well crafted compositions that meld together the downtempo organic feel/breakbeats with experimental electronic music. 13 tracks that took several years of time to craft and whos wonderful composition is strict head nod and tons of cutthef*ckup vocal snippets. Featuring the mangled lyrical stylings of Poly-Sci on two tracks, as well as the lovely melodies and percussion that will have you throwing your drum machine out the door. Everyone will soon be talking about this collection of inner city electronics."

ILKAE: Pistachio Island CD (MERCK 007). $13.50

"The seventh Merck CD, delayed and released out of order due to its complexity and epic content, is finally available for purchase. Ilkae is composed of Aaron and Krystian, 16 and 19 years of age and representing from Canada and Poland respectively. Their musical style could best be described as a mangled pairing of video games, hip hop and electronic fuckery. Their youth is reflected on this 44 track, 64 minute adventure. A light hearted romp with most tracks remaining around one to two minutes in length. Served best on shuffle, or when you can't find your ritalin."

MD: Between Gaps CD (MERCK 008). $13.50

"This is md's second full length CD on Merck, and proves to be another wonderful exhibition of md's original sound. md fans will enjoy this release thoroughly, but his sound has burgeoned onto a more warm and organic feel. The release has everything from dense ambient and vocal cutups to skittering and frayed dynamic beat structures that make his music so unique. It is a 13 track enhanced CD, in addition to the audio tracks there are 2 music videos(mpeg & .exe) by the group Blasphemy, made for tracks on the CD."

KRISTUIT SALU VS. MORRIS NIGHTINGALE: My Mines I CD (MERCK 009). $13.50

"Detroit based sound artist Jimmy Edgar aka Kristuit Salu / Morris Nightingale has established himself as the newest member to the Merck Camp. Specializing in using hybrid sound tools and modern computer technology to create precisely formed sound. Kristuit Salu is a mathematical process in itself, emulating the rhythms of hiphop using random processes, clicks, glitches, and other exceptional devices. Morris Nightingale is a vastly different approach, using vinyl samples to create an opposing addition. With My Mines I, these two aliases of 18 year old Jimmy Edgar come together to stand above and prove their status in the realm of computer-generated music. The best analogy for the this CD among Merck fans would be something like Proem vs. Machine Drum, gone through the digital washing machine and spit out 384 kbits short of a plug-in."

PROSWELL: Konami CD (MERCK 010). $13.50

"This compact disc is Proswell's first full length release on Merck records and represents three years of work and experimentation. Konami is an hour of dark engrossing melancholy melodies and thickly layered lo-fidelity percussion, a perfect companion for late nights in front of all types of glowing screens and steaming cups. Konami is specifically calculated to send vague waves of video game nostalgia past your nostrils like the fumes of hot caramel syrup or cinnamon tea and cream. Proswell's previous material is only sparsely available on compilations (Merck's Squadron & others) and is occasionally performed live in Chicago. Definitely check out this release as Proswell brings the fuzzy SPC700 nostalgia."

MACHINE DRUM: Half The Battle CD (MERCK 011). $13.50

"6 tracks from the Half The Battle vinyl put to CD plus NINE other remixes by the likes of: Proem, Brothomstates, Ilkae, Proswell, Lackluster, Xela, Esem, Tstewart, Secede, Vim, Tim Koch and Sydrone. This release is off the chizain. Period."

MACHINE DRUM: Urban Biology CD (MERCK 012). $13.50

"Sophomore album from Machine Drum, Urban Biology is a dense and chilled out version of his cutthroat style. That being a blend of hip hop, IDM, crunch, and melody."

BLAMSTRAIN: Ensi CD (MERCK 013). $13.50

"This is the first album by Blamstrain, a young Finnish lad by the name of Juho. Heavily influenced by other notable Finnish acts like Brothomstates, Lackluster and Vladislav Delay; his album straddles the divide between idm and techno. We like to describe the music as splatterfuck smooth electronic soundscapes, with harsh melodies and crisp percussion. 9 tracks with a running time around an hour, this is a solid CD for dark nights and early mornings flying down the expressway, or whiling out in a field in the Finnish highlands watching the sky shift."

ESEM: Serial Human CD (MERCK 014). $13.50

"This is Esem's first album on Merck and second full release overall. He also contributed a remix of 'Machine Drum' for Merck previously. Serial Human is not a sequel to his last album Enveloped, instead it departs from its sound in the direction of more aural grit, and bit-crushed dsp crunch. Trying to not be pretentious, this CD is more based on a true story, compared to the dreamy nature of Enveloped. Several of the tracks have been previously available on the net but all tracks have been remastered for CD. Another exciting new release from Merck, from a relatively unknown talent. Who would know that music this great could come from Bulgaria?"

LACKLUSTER: Showcase CD (MERCK 015). $13.50

"Merck is proud to present the full length album, Showcase, from Finnish electronic music composer, Lackluster aka Esa Ruoho. Prior to this Lackluster has done two vinyl releases and few compilation visits on Merck, plus some remixes. Showcase is a stunning collection of Lackluster's tracks from 1999 to 2001. With nineteen tracks, it doesn't only fill in the gaps between his previous albums Container, Spaces and Wrapping, but also expands the familiar LL sound with hints of electro, techno and even house."

JOHNSON, ADAM: Chigliak CD (MERCK 016). $13.50

"2003 finds Minneapolis native Adam Johnson emerging as one of the midwest's most gifted and dynamic new producers. Increasingly adept at melding dub, electro, idm, and experimental influences into his own unique style. Adam can crunch the cranium as well as throw down the dance floor hustle. Elegant, crystalline idm rides shotgun with deep, bassline driven minimal techno in a 21st century electric soul stew. 16 tracks and 77 minutes long, this is a solid release brushing on many genres with Adam adding his own superb style to them all."

SECEDE: Bye Bye Gridlock Traffic CD (MERCK 017). $13.50

"This is young Lennard Van Der Last aka Secede's first album for Merck, his only previous release consisting of an emotive remix of Machinedrum for Half the Battle. For this release he has delved into lush ambience intermingling with piano and a variety of breaks plus peripheral undulating bass. If you have ever wanted to walk through the fog laden 8-bit Nintendo Castlevania maps, duck the occasional bat, slay the bitmapped Dracula with a candy cane, hop into your rad racer and speed off, this release will satisfy. Slow building pads and samples escalate until the CD climaxes in a beaty romp through melodies and nostalgia. Clocking in at 13 tracks and 74 minutes long."

VA: Miasmah CD (MERCK 018). $13.50

"Miasmah is a internet collective of artists dedicated to the output of experimental electronic music in laidback forms. Merck, being big fans of the Miasmah content for several years, went through and chose their favorite tracks from the catalog to release as a compilation. Containing musical styles ranging from jazzy hiphop, Farbenesque minimal techno on through to freestyle jazz. A new direction for the Merck label, but one we are sure the fans will appreciate with its lush melodies and innovative percussion."

TIKI OBMAR: High School Confidential CD (MERCK 019). $13.50

"High School Confidential is the debut CD from the Minneapolis based band Tiki Obmar. With 3 members, friends for years and playing together for almost as long, baring their souls with the intricate framework of the dense indie-idm compositions. Guitar originated sounds bounce and grind in with excellent drum sensibilities and floaty touching pads. Basically, they are multi-instrumentalists running live drums, bass, guitar, and keys through samplers and effects. Another quality Merck CD with aesthetic and tunes that move you with deft arrangements and mood-driven melodies."

VA: Dosage Compilation CD (MERCK 020). $13.50

"This is the fifth compilation Merck has done to date, focused on exposing new and upcoming talent from the label, as well as artists that you may be seeing more often around the scene. Its focus is on electronica with a hip-hop influence, and won't be easily described here. It contains a new exclusive track from Machinedrum, as well as one of the gems from Deceptikon's hit 12 "Lost Subject", for the first time on a digital format. Xela from CCO/Type also appears to show off a few more upbeat headnod oriented tracks. The CD also features the debut music from Epstein (1/2 of Rom from Counterflow) showcasing some organic live sounding hiphop. And not to be missed is the new talent of Phobode and his severely electrified breaks."

VA: Double Down Compilation CD (MERCK 021). $13.50

"The sixth compilation Merck has done to date, focusing on exposing new and upcoming talent from the label, as well as artists that you may be seeing more often around the scene. Its one part Squadron and one part Aurora, but with several steps forward, and readily harkens back to the sound and feel of the early compilations on the label. Starting off strong and in your face and then slowly bleeding out into some undulating paddy ambient. Xhale's upbeat cluttered style blends into Twerk's glitchnod idm, then rolling more around Sense's emotive paddiness, which then bounces into Pretty Boy Crossover's mellow bump-nod. The CD then takes a turn down into some new and chilled out material by Tstewart (aka Machinedrum), plus other lush ambience by Blamstrain, Sabi, and Semiomime, who cover a wide range and scope of ambient sound."

PROSWELL: Carrot Dossier CD (MERCK 022 CD). $13.50

"Carrot Dossier is Chicago based Proswell's sophomore album, twenty tracks of uniquely nostalgic and wickedly melancholic 8-bit pop. In contrast to his 2002 debut Konami, Carrot Dossier is upbeat and energetic, and the selections are presented in a playful but meticulous precession. Proswell's previous material includes his last album Konami and appearances on various Merck compilations including Squadron and Half the Battle. Fans of melodic electronic music are assured satisfaction."

PROEM: Socially Inept CD (MERCK 023 CD). $13.50

"Mr. Richard Bailey, aka Proem, has been quiet for awhile,... but he's been busy. Very busy making Socially Inept, the most densely emotive Proem record to date. His second album on Merck, and fourth overall. Described by Richard as being sweeter than a vegan triple chocolate peanut butter mousse with an extra thick crust. You'll find many of his 'patented sweet' Proem melodies and arrangement. He has traded in most of his Burnplate crunch for some of the smoothest and most precise beats around. As well as his more varied structure and progression definitely display a maturity not seen previously."

MR. PROJECTILE: Sinking CD (MERCK 024 CD). $13.50

"Sinking by Mr. Projectile marks his newest work to date, as well as his first release on Merck. It builds upon the sounds set forth previously on labels such as Toytronic, Parotic, and Musik Aus Strom. He presents a very clean and mature sound here, demonstrating his mastery of IDM as well as a sense of a classical electronic sound. With everything from female vocals, to lush ambience, to bouncy melodic breakbeats, he covers a lot of ground, and with a lot of skill."

SYDRONE: Salmataxia CD (MERCK 025 CD). $13.50

"The second album from the first artist to ever be released on Merck, Sydrone. This album while sticking to the stylistic mannerisms of the older Sydrone material, moves light years ahead. He has traded in a lot of the dated sounds of Triskaideka for some of the smoothest and most precise programming and beats around. As well as his more varied structure and progression definitely display a maturity not seen previously."

HELIOS: Unomia CD (MERCK 026CD). $13.50

"This is Keith Kennif aka Helios's first album and release for Merck. With previous compilation and remix appearances, including a track on the Neo-Ouija Cottage Industries 3 CD. For this release he places the listener into a lush atmosphere sprinkled with piano, guitar, and a variety of downtempo experimental breakbeats. Subtle ambience, found sounds, and treated acoustic elements escalate and wash over the listener creating a harmonically dense, and melodically rich environment. Complimented by a remix from Philadelphia's Loess as well."

DECEPTIKON: Lost Subject CD (MERCK 027CD). $13.50

"Debut CD from Portland area based producer Deceptikon. Jazzy sample based hip hop beats with heavy emphasis on melody. No rhymes on here, but the bobbing of heads shouldn't be strange to listeners of this CD, musically falling somewhere between Machinedrum and the recent Merck hip hop discovery, Aphilas. Containing well known breaks combined with pads and horns, plus a touch of west coast style. Composed of fifteen tracks made over the last several years, expect high quality hip hop from this elusive north-western producer."

LANDAU: Thepicompromise CD (MERCK 028). $13.50

"Merck is proud to present the debut album from Landau, Thepicompromise. Clocking in at over an hour in length, it represents six years of labor by a conglomerate of indefinite size. This network, formed by a small core of musical minds, has developed a method of composition by a contingent permutation system. The result is a balance of acoustic intimation and electronic craftsmanship that seamlessly pays proper homage to a chronologically diverse spectrum of musical styles. Landau brings the fruits of hearty negotiation between lush melodies and gritty hip hop beats to this truly 'epic' album."

TIKI OBMAR: Seasons CD (MERCK 029CD). $13.50

"Seasons is the second CD from the Minneapolis based band Tiki Obmar, featuring new tracks by the band and remixes by Merck artists and friends including the likes of Helios, Cepia, Proswell, Machine Drum, Proem, Tim Koch, Deru, Deceptikon, La Muerte Blanca, Miles Tilmann, and Adam Johnson. With a wide range of remixes, from Helios's well crafted reworking, to the bump and grind of Proem and Machine Drum, down into lush ambience concocted by Adam Johnson. Guitar originated sounds bounce in and out with excellent drum sensibilities and floaty touch pads, creating a truly ethereal sensibility. Another quality Merck release with tunes that move you with deft arrangements and mood-driven melodies, not to mention the superb remix work as well."

JOHNSON, ADAM: Chigliak Sampler 12" (MERCK AJ). $6.50

"Chigliak was Adam Johnson's first release on Merck and first full length ever. 2003 finds Minneapolis native Adam Johnson emerging as one of the midwest's most gifted and dynamic new producers. Increasingly adept at melding dub, electro, idm, and experimental influences into his own unique style. Adam can crunch the cranium as well as throw down the dance floor hustle. Elegant, crystalline idm rides shotgun with deep, bassline driven minimal techno in a 21st century electric soul stew. This is a 12" containing 6 tracks from his Merck debut."

MACHINE DRUM: Half The Battle 2 12" (MERCK BA2). $6.50

"This is the second 12" to come from Machinedrum's classic remix album Half the Battle. The A side contains 3 tracks, one of them 'Jewlea' from the original Now You Know album. The others being a remix by Machinedrum alias Syndrome, and an unreleased (not on the original CD) remix by new Merck talent, Secede. The flip has 3 more: Vim's jungle mashup, Esem's smooth reworking, and TStewarts lush piano composition. Those used to Machinedrum know what to expect, bouncy headnod beats and cutup vocal stylings come together for more delicious idm-hiphop tracks."

MACHINE DRUM: Half the Battle 3 12" (MERCK BA3). $6.50

"This is the third 12" to come from Machinedrum's classic remix album Half the Battle. The A side contains 2 tracks, both perfectly done downtempo leaning remixes by Lackluster and Secede. The flip has 3 more: A vinyl exclusive remix by Nautilis, Tim Koch's bouncy jaunt into Machinedrum reworkings, and Proswell's masterful re-composition. Those used to Machinedrum know what to expect, bouncy headnod beats and cutup vocal stylings come together for more delicious idm-hiphop tracks and remixes."

KIPE, MALCOLM: Breakspiracy Theories Vol. 1 12" (MERCK BT1). $6.50

"Debut Merck 12" from Austin, Texas based producer Malcolm Kipe, better known to some as Nautilis (of Planet-Mu). Jazzy sample based hip hop beats with heavy emphasis on politics. Rhymes scattered here and there on this one, complementing the extremely well produced break collages. Eleven tracks made over the last year, this preludes a second 12" and then full album coming sometime later in 2004. Expect high quality material from this skilled southern producer with a sample collection of gold."

VA: Dosage 2 12" (MERCK D02). $6.50

"Compilation 12" from Merck featuring: Machinedrum, Epstein, Shift, Phobode, and Xela. Intended to expose new and upcoming talent from the label, as well as artists that you may be seeing more often around the scene. Its focus is on electronica with a hip-hop influence, and won't be easily described here. It contains a new exclusive track from Machinedrum as well as the debut music from Epstein (1/2 of Rom from Counterflow), showcasing some organic live sounding hip hop. Not to be missed is the new talent of Phobode and his severely electrified glitch breaks. The vinyl closer is Xela, ending with a redone version of his cutup hip hop remix of Machinedrum, filled with melodies and ambience."

ILKAE: Bring Extra Dragons 12" (MERCK DR). $6.50

"This is Ilkæ's second release on Merck, and second release overall, complemented by a few compilation appearances on Neo-Ouija, H. Dukebox, and of course Merck. Ilkæ is made up of Aaron and Krystian, bringing us their last work before entering their 20's, and representing from Canada and Poland respectively. Their musical style could best be described as a mangled pairing of video games, hip hop and electronic fuckery. Their youth is reflected on this 8 track 12" made entirely on trackers."

BLAMSTRAIN: Sansi Empler 12" (MERCK EN). $6.50

"This is the first 12" by Blamstrain, a young Finnish lad by the name of Juho. Heavily influenced by other notable Finnish acts like Brothomstates, Lackluster and Vladislav Delay; his release straddles the divide between idm and techno. We like to describe the music as splatterfuck smooth electronic soundscapes, with harsh melodies and crisp percussion. 4 tracks from his debut CD entitled Ensi put onto 12", a great vinyl for dark nights and early mornings flying down the expressway, or whiling out in a field in the Finnish highlands watching the sky shift."

APHILAS: Instrumentally III 12" (MERCK II). $6.50

"Debut 12" from two Helsinki based producers that go by the name of Aphilas. Jazzy sample based hip hop beats with heavy emphasis on melody, somewhere between Deceptikon and Machinedrum. The bobbing of heads shouldn't be strange to listeners of this slab of wax, composed of six tracks with some familiar samples here and there. Expect more high quality stuff from these skilled Finnish producers in the future."

SALU, KRISTUIT: My Mines I Sampler 12" (MERCK KS). $6.50

"Detroit based sound artist Jimmy Edgar aka Kristuit Salu/Morris Nightingale has established himself as the newest member to the Merck camp. Specializing in using hybrid sound tools and modern computer technology. Kristuit Salu is a mathematical process in itself, emulating the rhythms of hip hop using random processes, clicks, glitches, and other exceptional devices. The best analogy for the this music among Merck fans would be something like Proem vs. Machine Drum, gone through the digital washing machine and spit out 384 kbits short of a plug-in. This vinyl features new randomized parameters of 5 selected Kristuit Salu tracks from My Mines I CD plus a bonus track."

LACKLUSTER: A Lackluster Remixer 12" (MERCK LL). $6.50

"Esa Ruoho a.k.a. Lackluster provides Merck Records with a brand new soon to be rare release on 12". 'A Lackluster Remixer' consists of him remixing Marumari & Machine Drum, and a special treatment on the A-side as a bonus for those in the know."

DECEPTIKON: Lost Subject 2 12" (MERCK LS2). $6.50

"This is the second 12" from Portland area based producer Deceptikon. Jazzy sample based hip hop beats with heavy emphasis on melody. With a sound falling somewhere between Machinedrum and the recent Merck discovery Aphilas. Containing well known breaks, combined with pads and horns, plus a touch of west coast style. Composed of eight tracks from the recent Lost Subject CD, this 12" complements the first Lost Subject 12" that contained a majority of the other tracks from the CD release."

VA: MD2 Sampler 12" (MERCK MD2). $6.50

"This 12" release features five handpicked selections from the MD2 various artists compilation, initially released exclusively on mini disc format by the notorious n5md imprint. In cooperation with them we present these top notch tracks on vinyl for the first time. It features the tracks: L'usine icl - don't interfere, Proem - laid back off, Jvov ? cadona, Tim Koch(aka Thug) - poly800vs.6581, and Spark ? array. From the minimal ambling bass of Proem, to the Nintendoesque lovesong of Tim Koch, this release presents top notch music by some of the best people in the genre from around the world. File this one in 'top drawer IDM'."

VA: Merck Mix 1 - Spring 2003 CD (MERCK MIX1). $8.00

"The 3 year anniversary of Merck brings their first mix CD. Composed entirely of tracks from the Merck catalog plus a previously unreleased remix of Machinedrum by Secede, thrown in for the trainspotter touch. It was mixed by Terrahertz, a Baltimore resident Merck DJ, including some of his favorite Merck classics plus a smattering of the new releases that the label has continued to assault us with over the last few months. Including: Adam Johnson, Lackluster, Esem, Blamstrain, Machinedrum, Morris Nightingale, Kristuit Salu, Proswell, MD, Ilkæ, Proem, Brothomstates and more."

Mixes that weave the songs together in a variety of creative and interesting ways, even the most die-hard Merck fanatic will have something new to enjoy. This is the second mix to be done by Ben Cormier and Dan Hartrell from Toronto, who displayed their adept mixing skills on Merck Mix 2."

LACKLUSTER: R u oho 12" (MERCK RU). $6.50

"Originally released in 2000 on the now classic, but extinct, Defocus label. Though you may be able to track down the original gem at Smallfish (UK) or around London. We felt it didn't really get proper attention with the rest of the world, so we have re-released this superb collection of under-exposed tracks with new mastering and art. Remixes of Lackluster by well known Merck artists, Brothomstates (Warp), Sense (Neo-Ouija, U-Cover), Esem, and Xhale fill this vinyl with superb electronica, plus a bonus cut by Lackluster himself."

VA: Squadron Sampler 12" (MERCK SA). $6.50

Repressed. "Featuring five tracks taken from the Squadron CD. By Frank Bolero (Skam), MD (Surgery), BrothomStates (Warp), Machine Drum (Merck) and an vinyl exclusive track by Lackluster (Defocus). With sounds ranging from classic idm, to dark electro, to melodious electronic hip hop. A quality release to reflect the content of the well received compilation CD."

PROEM: Socially Inept Sampler 12" (MERCK SI). $6.50

"Mr. Richard Bailey, aka Proem, has been quiet for awhile,... but he's been busy. Very busy making Socially Inept, the most densely emotive Proem record to date. His second 12" on Merck, described by Richard as being sweeter than a vegan triple chocolate peanut butter mousse with an extra thick crust. You'll find many of his 'patented sweet' Proem melodies and arrangement. He has traded in most of his Burnplate crunch for some of the smoothest and most precise beats, and his more varied structure and progression definitely display a maturity not seen previously. Containing 5 tracks from the CD, plus a bonus vinyl only remix by Esem."

MACHINE DRUM: Urban Biology 2LP (MERCK UB). $14.00

"Urban Biology by Machine Drum is his second album to delve into the realms of fusing the cutting edge loveliness and warmth of idm, with chopped up vocals and hard hitting hip hop beats. 12 tracks (3 of the ambient interludes were left exclusive to the CD) that took a year and a half to craft and whos composition is strict head nod and a small smattering of the genre's trademark cutup vocal sounds. This double vinyl album is more chilled out than his previous releases, but still gets people moving and enhances any urban experience."

MERCURY (JAPAN):

SIZE, RONI: Replica The Remix Album CD (PHCR 3066). $25.00

Japanese-only collection of remixes from recent Talking Loud singles and EPs, generated by the universal success of the Reprazent New Forms album. A much more desirable presentation than having to track down all the various UK EPs. Tracklisting: "Brown Paper Bag" (Photek Remix); "Heroes" (Origin Unknown Remix); "Share The Fall" (Grooverider's Jeep Style Mix); "New Forms" (Krust's Wide Screen Version); "Brown Paper Bag" (Nobukazu Takemura remix); "Heroes" (Kruder Long Loose Bossa); "Down" (Bel Air Remix); "Western"; "Electrics".

VELOSO, CAETANO: Cinema Caetano CD (PHCY 1001). $30.00

"Japanese only compilation of Caetano's choicer pop moments ranging from 1971 to 1991 not necessarily related to the film industry in any way (the title is most likely a reference to Caetano's 1979 LP Cinema Transcendental). Caetano was of course a major mover and shaker (along with Gilberto Gil, Gal Costa, Os Mutantes, etc...) in the tropicalismo movement of late 60s Brazil, was jailed briefly by the military dictatorship and subsequently forced into exile in London shortly thereafter, disrupting the flow of the tropicalistas. But you know all that already. Caetano's is some really beautiful blissed out ambient Brazilian pop, a perfect introduction to his creative force." — Hrvatski.

LEAO, NARA: Vento De Maio CD (PHCY 3005). $26.00

First time on CD, a Japanese-only pressing of this early Nara Leao album, originally issued in 1967. Approximately her 7th album overall, this features her trademark bossa nova vocal style over delicate arrangements by Gaya and Dori Gaymmi. "The cliché about Nara Leao (1942-1989) was that she was 'the muse of bossa nova.' As a teenager in the late 'Fifties, she opened up her parents house as a salon for the movers and shakers of the early bossa nova scene — Jobim, Joao Gilberto, Roberto Menescal, Vinícius, Carlos Lyra and others — to hang out in. As an adult, she became one of Brazil's sweetest, most delectable singers, recording political songs which were critical of the military dictatorship, as well as many beautiful pop and bossa standards. Though hard to find, most of Leao's records are well worth checking out." — slipcue.com

GAINSBOURG, SERGE: L'étonnant Serge Gainsbourg No. 3 CD (UNI 8423CD). $15.50

The entire output of Serge Gainsbourg for the Mercury/Philips labels has now been reissued in a newly remastered/repackaged series of 18 CDs. 24-bit remastering from original analogue tapes, with extended booklets of liner notes (French text only) and photos. Many of these albums have been long unavailable as single CD reissues with original graphics. "The mastermind behind the bubblegummy French girl-group ye-ye fad of the 1960s, Serge Gainsbourg (1928-1991) was well known as a songwriter and impresario, as well as a performer and all-around bad-boy celebrity. Gainsbourg cultivated infamy, and made a point of appearing as sleazy and dissolute as possible. One of his biggest hits was 'Soixante Neuf Année Erotique' ("69: The Erotic Year"), a 1969 duet with Jane Birkin in which they celebrated (and simulated) oral sex. Gainsbourg also guided the careers and musical sound of ye-ye singers France Gall and Brigitte Bardot. His own music is in the midst of a hipster renaissance, with several high-profile domestic reissues, tribute albums and cover versions, as well as a flood of European reissue imports. One of the most complex talents in modern French music, Gainsbourg holds up rather well after all these decades." L'étonnant... is the third Gainsbourg album, originally issued by Philips in April of 1961. Serge Gainsbourg (vocals), music by Alain Goraguer & his orchestra

GAINSBOURG, SERGE: L'étonnant S. Gainsbourg 10" (UNI 8423LP). $15.00

Legit LP repressings of the complete Mercury-era output of Serge Gainsbourg. They have been pressed in a #4 edition, limited to initial pre-orders and these will not be available on any kind of long-term basis. The first 4 chronological albums have been issued in 10" form, as originally released. With original sleeves and track listings faithfully reproduced, many of these have not been available on vinyl in decades. "The entire collection of our best French composer Serge Gainsbourg. From the 60's to the 90's, his music has influenced many contemporary artists and still sounds more than modern."

GAINSBOURG, SERGE: Gainsbourg Percussions CD (UNI 8426CD). $19.00

The sixth Gainsbourg album, originally released by Philips in 1964. Musicians: Serge Gainsbourg (vocals), Alain Goraguer & his orchestra.

GAINSBOURG, SERGE: Vu De L'extérieur CD (UNI 8430CD). $15.50

Originally released 11/16/73. A pleasant folk rock album & relatively obscure.. Serge Gainsbourg (vocals), Alan Hawkshaw (keyboard piano, electric piano organ), Chris Karan (percussion), Brian Odgers (bass guitar), Alan Parker (electric guitar, acoustic guitar), Judd Proctor (acoustic guitar), Dave Richmond (bass guitar), Dougie Wright (drums)

GAINSBOURG, SERGE: Rock Around The Bunker CD (UNI 8431CD). $15.50

Originally released by Philips in 1975. A boogie-ish glam-rock simulation, with the same band as on Vu De L'extérieur. "In 1975 his album Rock Around The Bunker ruffled feathers because he hurled his legendary sarcasm at political ghosts. Gainsbourg insists that Nazism does not stop at the German border, and pokes fun at I-love-a-man-in-uniform chic. He, a Jew who wore the yellow star, is denounced as anti-semitic. Gainsbourg is by now everywhere — TV, film, scandal sheets, he publishes a novel, has a photo exhibit, does more soundtracks — at least everywhere in France." — Bart Plantenga

GAINSBOURG, SERGE: Rock Around The Bunker LP (UNI 8431LP). $15.00

LP version.

GAINSBOURG, SERGE: L'Homme À La Tête De Chou CD (UNI 8432CD). $19.00

GAINSBOURG, SERGE: Aux Armes Et Caetera CD (UNI 8433CD). $15.50

GAINSBOURG, SERGE: Confidentiel LP (UNI 8610LP). $15.00

Originally released in 1984 by Philips. Features the infamous "Lemon Incest", recorded with his daughter Charlotte Gainsbourg. "Love on the Beat" touches on homosexuality and incest. 'Beat' is a homonym for 'bite' which is French slang for penis. This is not lost on his audience."

LP version.

MESH-KEY:

WE ACEDIASTS: Pre Acediasts 12" (MKY 001EP). $12.00

"Remember this one? Originally supposed to be out on TMU, but the band broke up. So it was released by the band in a limited edition of 500 copies. Vinyl only. This was WAY before its time. Disco-fied Kraut-influenced awesomeness based out of Japan/NYC. Justin Simon (Native Nod!!!) moved to Japan to study. He also started this band. Produced by the DFA in 2001 before they blew up. This is 'pre-everything'. See how it was before everyone in NYC was famous. I think the Rapture was still playing Brownies back then. On this release the band's relentless thump recalls Can or PIL (with A.D.D.?). While Takamoto's insane screech summons the ghosts of Inu-era Machida Machizo and Jacks-era Hayakawa Yoshio."

MESS MEDIA:

PEOPLE LIKE US: Recyclopaedia Britannica CD (MESS 001 CD). $13.00

Selected works from 1992-2002. "The work of People Like Us rests gingerly between two dangerous positions: on the one hand, the risk of fashioning merely stylish pastiche out of borrowed finery for the sake of self-conscious kitschiness; on the other hand, the risk of making simplistic, heavy handedly 'topical' audio-jokes at the expense of one's raw material to a smug effect. If the lounge creeps uncritically snack on their sonic ingredients and coast on being 'groovy', the cads of pseudo-critique take cheap shots at straw men and call it subversion. Happily, Vicki Bennett has yet to fall down either precipice, but yodels down contentedly from her own Alpine audio-cottage. There, with loving care, she snips and tucks at the lycra jumpsuit until the fit is snug, places every plastic shrub on the Happy Valley Ranch just so, and throws another dance record on the bonfire. Undercutting her own utopian mirages with formal breakdowns and sneaky semantic pranks, Vicki Bennett is One Funny Lady, with a deadly sense of comic timing that puts her in my personal pantheon of edit intensive music makers: Steinski and Mass Media, Hank Shocklee, Tod Dockstader, Teo Macero, the Hanatarash, John Oswald, Runzelstirn & Gurgelstock. Serving her birthday cake with a turd, her gags are always lined with a virulent creep factor. One minute you're laughing until tears roll down your face at toilet humor, cheese chat and absurdly drawn out attempts at 'making conversation', and then you notice the flashes of aging, obsolescence, isolation and breakdown darting in amongst the ruthlessly snipped 'ums', 'ahs', and 'hmms'. You get the feeling that the vacancy and pointlessness of empty speech is being lampooned and mourned in equal measure. In sticking to this balance of celebration and critique, People Like Us genuinely hates and loves People Like You. The least you can do is head up to the Happy Valley Ranch for a spell and have a listen." — Drew Daniel

PEOPLE LIKE US & KENNY G: Nothing Special CD (MESS 003 CD). $13.00

"The best-selling instrumentalist in the world, with over 70 million albums sold to date, Kenny G. is an international superstar who has earned countless prestigious awards throughout an illustrious career that spans three decades. He has distinguished himself as a master craftsman and one of the most gifted artists in the world, through nineteen best-selling releases. Now add one more to that list of multiple-platinum chart-topping records: Nothing Special. Kenny's first album in at least 10 weeks finds the multi-talented artist and WFMU DJ once again effortlessly bridging the genres of pop, psychodrama and the avant garde with his distinctive and instantly recognizable style. From the languid beauty of 'Close To Me' to festive rhythmic flavor of 'Counting Time', Kenny demonstrates why his music has had such an enduring and memorable effect. The simply almost-classical sound of 'Too Far' contrasts with very limited edition bonus track 'Anal Magic,' a so-funky jam with a decidedly 'cut-up' feel that features many off key musicians. Keeping the groove moving, People Like Us offers 'Wake Up', another perky slice of avant-flavored edgy jazz; while the intoxicating 'Give Up It's Mine' conjures up visions of horror with no consolation."

MESSTHETICS:

HOMOSEXUALS, THE: Astral Glamour 3CD (MSS 204CD). $26.00

"The Homosexuals created a musical world of their own. Holed up in no-rent studios and squats, they mined every genre from psych-folk and Afrobeat to punk and dub, added killer hooks, then exuberantly tore it all apart. They wrote and recorded for five years, but they never took out an advert, sent out a promotional record, or got paid for a gig. The legend has grown, and today the Homosexuals are arguably the most acclaimed-and-least-heard band of the postpunk era. After more than a year of research and restoration, a hundred hours of conversations with band-members, and endless surprises, the story of The Homosexuals can now be told. Astral Glamour gathers 81 songs and three-plus hours of legendary 1977-1983 artpunk — every Homosexuals song from their records and the C-60, plus a dozen other tracks never released anywhere before. Astral Glamour also features a full-colour 32-page booklet with scores of unpublished photographs, posters, lyrics, song-by-song comments and an extensive history of their early years."

METAMKINE (FRANCE):

BOKANOWSKI, MICHELE: Tabou 3" CD (MKCD 003). $7.00

Metamkine is a French label specializing in tape sounds/musique concrete, an area in which France has always had a very special touch, with this series of 3" CDs intended as "Film for the ear." Each has about 20 minutes of actively disorienting, fully whacked musique concrete, and you pretty much have to collect the set if interested.

CHION, MICHEL: Gloria 3" CD (MKCD 015). $7.00

M., ERIK: Frames 3" CD (MKCD 026). $7.00

"Frames is the result of a work that originates in the audio CD medium itself: ('Anomalie Numerique et du Support Lui Meme (Digital Anomaly and Anomaly of the Medium Itself)'; it was produced within the specific frame of hijacking the CDs from the Metamkine Cinema Pour L'Oreille series. The work is composed of four parts that can alternately be played back randomly. Within, the footprints from the series can be found, as well as a whole set of improvisations for three CD players and effects. All the elements were compiled, re-edited on MiniDisc, and then played back randomly in various ways. 'Various forms of superimposition were useful afterward to the pace of development of the track.' 1. Acoustic sound recordings were made during a performance in the studio. 2. Work on one or many jammed frames, produced by the CD players (themselves 'bip.cd' CD players). 3. Further developments of jammed frames from specific parts and varying in duration from short to longer, played back using one or more CD players, as well as some work following the same principle, applied to the whole set of audio devices this time, and played back at various speeds. Some of the sound materials result from various manipulations of the CD medium itself, such as using oil, glue, etc., in order to distort (or fault?) the mirror and divert the trajectory of the laser. Different parts were mixed and filtered using a sampler, recorded back on MiniDisc and delay, and then played back using the techniques described earlier. I think it's needless to add that the final result was edited using a well-prepared sampler. So much for the technical side. A Sunday of boredom, gray and rainy, in a room on the fifth floor of a suburban tower with fixed partitions, tearing themselves at the slightest moanings of an anxious baobab: there's the content and the artistic direction of the project."

O'ROURKE, JIM: Rules of Reduction 3" CD (MKCD 009). $7.00

Ferrari-inspired environmental sounds, the silence motif, more. "A 17 minute musique concrete piece by Chicago's incredibly active musician and producer whose credits include work with Illusion of Safety, Gastr del Sol, Henry Kaiser, Nicolas Collins, KK Null, Organum, Mimir, and Tony Conrad as well as many solo releases. Although generally known as a guitar player, this release focuses more on his studio manipulation skills with varying sections of loud and soft environmental noise and short samples from a variety of musical styles."

MION, PHILIPPE: Confidence 3" CD (MKCD 017). $7.00

Musique concrete from 1994, with typical fabric-rippling potentials. More synthetic blippery than perhaps found on "Gloria".

GÜNTHER, BERNHARD: Impossible Grey 3" CD (MKCD 023). $7.00

Very quiet, crinkle-laced sounds, recorded in 1997.

MARCHETTI, LIONEL: Train de nuit (Noord 3-683) 3" CD (MKCD 029). $7.00

"Dedicated to Pierre Schaeffer. Musique concrete for one loudspeaker composed at CFMI in Lyon (1998-99). 'We have to imagine the first steps of Musique Concrète, in the studio, during the 40s of the last century, like a strange and disturbing face to face between a Loud Speaking unique diaphragm and the Ear Head of the listener. Even though from the beginning, its creators often wanted it to be heard on a multi-phonic device, I still wonder whether this music hasn't lost its original specificity through this practice. As a native experience, it has tackled and felt, at stake with the focal point as a near magical instance. By leaning above this well of sounds, it becomes possible to enjoy a real encounter with the true location of all sounds in the World. How could we work poetics today with in our hands the simplicity of a sound that speaks rather than a profusion of techniques? Train de nuit (Noord 3-683) is played in concert on one loudspeaker and should be played as so on record.'"

KARKOWSKI, ZBIGNIEW: Consciously Unconscious. Unconsciously Conscious CD (MKCD 033). $7.00

"Zbigniew Karkowski is a Polish-Swedish composer/musician presently living and working in Tokyo, Japan. He has worked professionally in the areas of written contemporary music, industrial music, pop music and experimental performance for the last 15 years. Karkowski has presented his work in more than 30 countries on nearly all continents. He is convinced that it is a responsibility of an artist in present time to travel and move and work around the World in order to learn and understand different cultures and traditions and discover truth about us and our planet. He is not interested in traditional definition of what is music, in his opinion all theory and systems of music as a cultural concepts have to be destroyed. So in his latest work his main concern is on realizing drama with sound electronic and acoustic walls with scores based on architectures of ruins."

METATRONIX:

VA: Plug Tunes CD (MX 006CD). $14.00

"Plugs connect. Connections in culture, music and spirituality being the focus of this Plug Tunes project. Following the success of Plug Tunes Vol.1, Miami's Metatronix delivers it's first full length compilation CD. The source is not simply what is seen on the surface; the vibe runs much deeper. Metatronix draws from a well of spirituality which spans the globe. Reaching far beyond the urban streets of Miami and the Rastafari movement of Jamaica, making links on other side of the world with African roots and the ancient Vedic culture of India. It's all grounded back to Miami, where Supersoul and crew weave and mix using threads of plugs, wires, cables, and modern-day machinery to give birth to a vibe. One might compare this vibe to that of Augustos Pablo (an influential Jamaican instrumental producer from the late 70's). Head-nod hip hop beats, cosmic moods, and eerie atmospheres are recorded and mixed with a heavy dub influence. What others in the past have tried to duplicate only to come up short, comes with ease for the cast of Plug Tunes, who's base is straight from that endless source. Featuring exclusive tracks and remixes by: Supersoul, Fat

Jon, Push Button Objects, DJ Vadim, Jake Mandell, Calamalka AKA Mike Pre-Amp, Digital K, Strategy, Eternal Golden Void."

SUPERSOUL: 40 Acres And A Moog CD (MX 007CD). $14.00

"Supersoul has melted his 3-dimensional blend of twisted beats, sick basslines, and mysterious melodies to complete his long awaited debut, full length CD. Experience that mystical yet mechanical and organic yet robotic funk that manifests into the signature Metatronix label sound... featuring/ Judah Manson, Dynas, Skam, DJ Infamous, Cyne, and Push Button Objects."

DIAMOND ICE: Funk 4 Da Trunk CD (MX 008CD). $12.00

"Miami home to an ocean of thugs, pawn shops, strip clubs and lowered cars that make the ground shake. A place so hot it can make your head fry, and just when you thought you had the Metatronix sound all figured out — in steps Diamond Ice. The eerie bass-heavy soundscape he provides is that of a Miami Vice episode handed over to Timbaland, Magic Mike, and Supersoul. His funk is simple yet futuristic and straight to the point. Though new to the world, Diamond Ice goes way back into the Miami urban underground music scene. Ice having lived for 2 years at the infamous 90.9 FM THA BOMB, one of the pioneering pirate radio stations in Miami, is where he met and became friends with Miami Bass legends such as, Ghetto Style DJs, Uncle Al and Jam Pony Express and that's also where he first met Supersoul. These instrumentals are an ode to bass, the monster stereo systems and the cars that push them. Ice serves tracks designed for cruising, profiling and testing your sound system. Born and raised in the ghettos of Miami Dade County, this is truly experimental ghetto music, no tight long sleeve turtle necks, lap tops and Martinis. More like wife-beaters, $50 second hand drum machines and quarts of left over, back-washed Old English from the night before. Diamond Ice is the real thing like the diamond in his tooth."

DIAMOND ICE: Funk 4 Da Trunk Vol. 1 12" (MX 010 EP). $6.50

"Metatronix supplies on demand the critically acclaimed Diamond Ice Funk 4 Da Trunk on black vinyl... This 12" Features 4 tracks taken from the CD plus 1 exclusive joint with lyrics by Miami's space-age playa MC, P-Nutty.. Experience the unique blend of Dirty South beats and bass-heavy soundscapes; Hand picked, mixed and mastered by Omar Cletmetson AKA Supersoul."

SUPERSOUL: Soma-Rasa 2 12" (MX 1108). $6.50

"Once again Omar Cletmetson aka Supersoul delivers his brand of well-crafted metaphysical funk. This time he has called upon the mysterious MC, The Grand Inquisitor, who has developed a reputation for just showing up (unannounced) to freestyle competitions and open mike sessions throughout the East Coast, and leaving MC's bewildered with his abstract rhymes and mystical flow. The end result is nothing less than super smooth yet deadly." From XL88B: "Opening with a stutter-step instrumental (like Plaid if they were from the Bronx).....think early Sabres of Paradise or Depth Charge with a Miami-style electronic swag-ger."

VA: Plug Tunes: Volume 1 12" (MX 2108). $6.50

"Supersoul: Advanced drum programming with romantic science fiction moods and fat dub basslines (plus a Push Button Objects remix). Calamalka: Live dub meets hardcore hip hop. Wicked dub fx... Eternal Golden Void: Head-nod hip hop beats with sick dub basslines and experimental textures. Brimstone 127: Produced by Miami's universal b-boy, Seth Schere. More head-nod hip hop beats with eerie pads and haunting melodies."

SUPERSOUL: Backa Wall 12" (MX 4108). $6.50

"Supersoul returns from the Sound Clash battle unharmed to deliver his next wave of attack, Backa Wall. Backa Wall, a Jamaican term used to describe the roughest of ghettos on the island, calls upon the most rugged lyrical street warriors and promising stars from the Metatronix camp, Judah Manson & Sess. The 2 combined lay down a deadly mix of hip hop and dance hall rhymes which dig into the universal state of poverty, crime and corruption. Hardcore lyrics backed by Supersoul's trade mark production, twisted yet funky beats soaked in a reverie of mysterious melodies. Take the journey with Supersoul, Push Button Objects (who provides an ill remix), Judah Manson and Sess but watch your back."

This 6 tracks of state-of-the-art-dub-music opens a wide range of musical styles: uptempo tech stuff ('3 Snare'), rootical electronic dub ('Half a Song'), 'Warning'), shuffle mid tempo techhouse ('Shake') and Lars Fenin's first cooperation with reggae singer Gorbi (on 'No C.I.A.'). Following meteo 007 — Fenin's Driven EP — Sustain EP is presenting a second step towards a deeper cooperation between techno floors and listening dubs and still handles the Meteo idea of modern pop-club music, facing a very simple statement: driven by dub — sustaining the idea."

METONYMIC (NEW ZEALAND):

PIETERS/BRUCE RUSSELL/PETER STAPLETON, KIM: Sex/Machine CD (MET 005). $14.00

"Only the second release in four years by this meeting of New Zealand free-noise like minds. Sex/Machine was recorded at Purakaunui through 1996-8 and is more sonically diverse than their 1995 Corpus Hermeticum debut; it features Bruce Russell's saturating guitar in layered interaction with Kim Pieters's articulate bass and Peter Stapleton's percussion and radio sorties. Bruce Russell is well known as a member of the Dead C, A Handful of Dust and as a solo artist with involvement in numerous collaborations. He runs the Corpus Hermeticum label and formerly was the man behind Xpressway. Kim Pieters is a visual artist and responsible for Metonymic art design. As a bassist/vocalist she is also a member of Sleep, Rain, Flies Inside the Sun and formerly Doramaar. Peter Stapleton is also a member of Sleep, Rain, Flies Inside the Sun, Terminals and at times A Handful of Dust. He runs the Metonymic and Medication labels."

FLIES INSIDE THE SUN: Cactus Sky CD (MET 007). $14.00

"The third CD by Flies Inside the Sun following their self titled 1996 release. Selections from an intensive series of recordings by Brian Crook (guitar, organ & synth), Peter Stapleton (drums, shortwave radio), and Danny Butt (guitar, synth & computer). With 2 typically abstract vocal contributions by Kim Pieters. Eight sound pieces ranging in tone from the frazzled to the serene, strongly cinematic and psychedelic...in the wider sense of the word. Cactus Sky is the last of the three salvaged fire tapes featuring this cardwrap design. Originally slated for release in 1998 it has been successfully reconstituted from various surviving mixes after destruction of the masters by fire."

CM ENSEMBLE: Love Central CD (MET 010). $14.00

"The CM Ensemble are part of a new generation of New Zealand improvisers. They exist in both small and larger group modes, each based around Christchurch multi-instrumentalist and bandleader Nick Hodgson. Over the past two years they have gained a well-deserved reputation for the exceptional power and range of their live performances. Love Central is their debut CD release on Metonymic and perfectly encapsulates the different shades in their music from fiery jazz and rock free play to levitational string drones."

MCPHERSON, DONALD: Bramble CD (MET 012). $14.00

"Donald McPherson falls easily into the 'best kept secret' category. Over the past five years he has released a succession of Geraldine lathe-cut discs, in small editions notoriously unavailable to any but a select few from the Dunedin inner circle. This is his long overdue CD debut. Previous releases had a number of blasted 'almost folk' songs but here he is in full improvisatory mode. Bramble is a collection of elegant solo guitar pieces, recorded over the period 1995-2000. The music is melodic and organic, with mainly acoustic picking, at times offset by extra sound colouring. It traverses a variety of moods with clear-eyed subtlety and inventiveness. 12 tracks, total running time 58 minutes. Edition of 500."

DWORZEC: Wednesday CD (MET 014). $14.00

"Second CD of spatial examination by this quartet from Melbourne, Australia. Metallic, industrial, mysterious, alien, but overall quite restrained and even delicate. Extended tones rising and falling, here more forceful there meditative, but always unhurried, abstract, and nicely unconventional."

METROPLEX:

VA: Timeless CD (MCD 001CD). $14.50

"As the source distributor for Metroplex Records, Submerge is proud to release the first ever Metroplex compilation. This is the definitive collection of the Metroplex releases that have influenced so many of the worlds electronic producers. It also contains many recent tracks released by some of Detroit's best artists." Compiled and Mixed by Juan Atkins featuring: M500, Audiotech, Channel One, Aaron Carl, Chaos, X-Ray, Eric Travis, Model 600, Gerald Mitchell, Model 500, Eddie Fowlkes, Shake, Infiniti, and DJ Bone.

MIAU MIAU INTERNATIONAL:

CATHARS: Amorpheus CD (MIAU 02). $12.00

"Glossed abstract sensibility abound from one Kurt Ralske (Ultra Vivid Scene/4AD) modifying/further-hollowing-out-of trenches dug by msrs. Popp (Oval), Eno, Koner/Mellweg (Porter Ricks), Takemura (Child's View), Chessie, Rehberg (Pita/Mego), Robert Hampson (Main), et.fucking.al, nicely presented and actually mass-pressed onto MANY CD's by a manufacturing plant (how novel an idea...) allowing people the artist doesn't actually know personally the chance to hear said music. Anyways, present audio examples float very well on their own and continuous exposure/exploration via high/low volume personal broadcast results in some new, not entirely unpleasant perceptions/sensations. Music that definitely benefits from being heard. Perfect dream-fuel, ripe for application." — Hrvatski. Limited stock.

MIDDLE PILLAR (UK):

MIRROR REVEALS, THE: Frames of Technicolor CD (MPP 997). $16.00

"This album's title, Frames of Technicolor, refers to a line in the opening track, '1939', where the narrator of the piece compares her life to the golden age of cinema. The title also refers to the album as a whole, each track being a dark, poetic tale, a separate frame in the overall film. The songs weave their tales over ethereal yet hauntingly minimal atmospherics. Violins pluck at the heartstrings in '1939', bitter isolation invades your dreams in 'Confined', the gods call down the fury of the storms in the fairy tale 'The Undying Man'. Each shimmering melody invokes an emotion through a sultry voice that brings the poetic lyrics to life. The epilogue is the beautiful, 'Frozen In Time', a haunting ballad that explores the phrase what might have been through piano, guitar, and enchanting female vocals."

MIKROLUX (GERMANY):

SUBTONAL: Electricité De Nuit CD (MKX 004 CD). $15.00

"From the time when Mikrolux was celebrating its birth a few months ago until the time being, only a handful of releases have been put out by Mikrolux, but yet the label managed to gain an incredible amount of respect in the world of music. And among the few releases, it is especially the likes of Andreas Kauffelt that help Mikrolux raise higher and higher with delivering outstanding quality music. Kauffelt, known to many as the mastermind behind Aural Satisfaction Records, has now put out his second release of his very successful Subtonal moniker. Produced in Sydney, Australia, Electricité De Nuit is a very deep and personal work that perfectly blends electro of all kinds — may it be futuristic, club-orientated or simply visionary. An altogether awesome album!"

SUBTONAL: Electricité De Nuit 2LP (MKX 004 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

FLINSCH, HOLGER: Regayov CD (MKX 006 CD). $15.00

"Fans of the visionary and unmistakable sound aesthetics of Holger Flinsch have been anticipating this moment for long time: after two incredibly strong single releases ('Run For Cover' and 'On The Border') the long awaited album release of Holger Flinsch on Mikrolux finally hits the streets. With Regayov, Flinsch now gets to play out his unique understanding for minimalistic grooves in full playing time. The result is an outstanding hypnotic masterpiece that manages to thrill its listeners with incredible atmospheric density. The many melancholic compositions with extremely creative names, mix with dark noise monsters, igniting subtle grooves between old-school ('Deretia') and high-tech ('Sloptsea'). Songs with a wonderful romantic electronic feel to them enchant everyone who is listening while provoking a permanent state of trance. In their emotional deepness, Flinschs music even manages to remind of the fragile melancholy that one usually only finds in the releases of Björk."

RUXPIN: Magrathea CD (MKX 007CD). $15.00

"People who are very familiar with the recent Elektrolux history should have best memories about the man behind this massive album release. When releasing his groundbreaking debut Midnight Drive, Jonas Thor Gudmundsson aka Ruxpin was one of youngest, yet one of the most promising artists within the Elektrolux family. Now the 21 year old music talent from Iceland comes back in full effect with his second longplayer beating all expectations by far. Ruxpins epic masterpiece 'Avalon' embraces the two chapters 'Arrival' and 'Departure', which contain a total number of 29 outstanding songs. Both parts of the album deliver an impressive proof of Ruxpin talent to blend dreamy melodies with electronic grooves. Again and again the Iceland-sound typical fairy tale melodies get distorted by tiny sound fragments, just to change themselves into fragile but incredibly funky chillout tracks. With this album release, Ruxpin has definitely opened up a marvellous new chapter in his musical career. After having performed with the pop stars like Björk and Alex Paterson (The Orb) as well as an underwater concert in the city of Reykjavik, Jonas Thor Gudmundsson is bound to present more wonderful surprises in the near future."

KRÖM: It All Makes Sense Now CD (MKX 008 CD). $16.00

"It is simply unbelievable, which kind of potential in regard of electronic music has been hiding in the Northern latitudes and has only started to really happen in the past couple of years. Mikrolux today proudly presents another promising project from the Northern Hemisphere: Kröm. The creators of this interesting sounding name are the two highly talented producers Andrew Lord und Úlfar Thordarson. With It All Makes Sense Now, our debuting duo has delivered a more than convincing release for Mikrolux. Inbetween of the introductive 'Nebula' and the smooth 'Shimmer' outro, Lord/Thordarson have embedded twelve beautiful poetic pieces of electronic music which manage to deeply touch almost every person listening immediately. Whether it is the long-lasting darkness during the eclipse of the sun or just the Northern nature, who knows — but the way our Scandinavian artists are combining the most fragile fairy-kind of melodies with extremely grooving rhythms is impressing us every time anew."

SNIPER MODE & MBP: Travellers Beyond CD (MKX 009 CD). $16.00

"Welcome back to the wonderful world of Sniper Mode. It is almost unbelievable at which pace the project of Gregor Trescher has evolved over the past eighteen months: following a highly acclaimed debut, the young talent Trescher has gathered some respect with a series of outstanding remixes. Yet, this new long-player is not a Sniper Mode solo album but is a joint venture with Swiss producer Murat Boyuk Pilavci aka MBP. It reflects an intense collaboration which has been going on for more than three years now. Despite all distances, Trescher/Pilavc have constantly met to work on Travellers Beyond in their Swiss and German studios and created the fifteen tracks of the album. The combined style of the two producers is undoubtedly characterized by most tricky beat arrangements and an irresistible electro sound which shows reference to techno as well as electronica influences and therefore creates a vent unique atmosphere..."

SNIPER MODE & MBP: Travellers Beyond 2x12" (MKX 009 LP). $19.00

Double 12" version. "Welcome back to the wonderful world of Sniper Mode. The combined style of the two producers is undoubtedly characterized by most tricky beat arrangements and an irresistible electro sound which shows reference to techno as well as electronica influences and therefore creates a vent unique atmosphere..."

SNIPER MODE: Mikromix.One: The Electro Mix Session CD (MKX 010CD). $18.00

"Among DJs and producers worldwide, Mikrolux is looked at as one of the most creative talent breeders of the genre. Artists like Kröm, Subtonal, MAS2008, Twofourteen and, of course, Sniper Mode have found their home base here and are building a stronger growing collective together with their labelmates. About time, to gather the fast progress of this label in a bigger picture: the Mikromix.One-Compilation, mixed and presented by Gregor Trescher aka Sniper Mode, is the very first show case of the recent Mikrolux output. In his strong DJ-Mix, Trescher manages to show all the different Electro approaches of each producer in an absolutely club compatible tension. In between the tight mixes and great hits, lots of previously unreleased highlights are only waiting to be discovered..." Artists: Twofourteen, Azure Taint, Sniper Mode, Subtonal vs. Fresh Moods, ÜNN, Insektoid, Kröm, Drön, Mas2008, Subtonal, Sniper Mode & MBP, Ruxpin.

TWOFOURTEEN: Esemplastic CD (MKX 011CD). $17.00

"Chris Roman, the man behind TwoFourteen, is of Puerto Rican origin, has been living in Florida for most of his life and with outstanding talent did manage to establish his very own style in the eleven tracks of his first album. Spheric and relaxing electro grooves ('Above See Level') meet acid-housy movers ('Distancia'), while sensitive android hymns ('Plugs') and futuristic roboter songs ('Idiomflux') mix up with funk-loaded rhythm excursions ('Surfaced'). And there are no better words for the associations set free by this future electro than those described about producer and DJ Chris Roman's musical style: 'A lap dance in the side room of a space ship'."

MILANO 2000 (ITALY):

VA: Living In The Ice Age Vol. 2 CD (MI 2018). $16.00

"Second chapter in this series compiled by Stefano Ghittoni. From downbeat jazz to psychedelic sounds. Previously unreleased and/or alternative tracks by DJ Vadim, The High Llamas (Jim O'Rourke remix), The Clifford Gilberto Rhythm Combination, The Cinematic Orchestra, Animals On Wheels, Vincent Dalschaert, The Dining Rooms, Lagash, Spiral Man and more."

VA: Orient Express Vol. 1 CD (MI 2022). $16.00

"An excellent compilation featuring tracks by Talvin Singh, Tosca, Parviz R. Panah, Jesse Cook, Atman, Badmarsch, Gotan Project, Francisco and Nacho Sotomayor, Oliver Shanti and more. 12 tracks of ethno chill out."

MILK (UK):

FINGER: Swollen CD (MILK CD001). $14.00

"Initial CD release documenting the studio labor of Si John (bassist; of Reprazent fame) and Alex Swift's recording project, on a recently birthed Cup-of-Tea label subsidiary. Dub-gnawed midtempo D'n'B w/ horns, hyper-filtered/distorted rollers, big beat (w/ tabla), some extra-wack break/chop, all w/ the jazz (read: not 'jazzy') element fully in tact and all of those trademark 'noisy' acoustic bass samples (totally killer). One of the stronger debut offerings to hit these D/A converters in some time. Should be huge." —Hrvatski

VA: Silver Top Collection CD (MILK CD002). $14.00

"Showcases the brilliance forthcoming on the new Milk label, younger sibling to Cup Of Tea records. Brimmed with jazzy samples, huge break beats, and inspiration. In step with the Bristol vibe is Vine, fronted by Roger Mills who is best known for his work with Purple Penguin and Static Sound System. Another Bristol duo is Finger, comprised of Roni Size/Reprazent bass player Si John and Alex Swift." Also features: Jazz Spanky and the Sound Approach, Pendulum, Universal Sound, Mr. Neveux, Phylar, N.F.T., Oska & Edison (Andy Keep and John Baggot of Portishead)

FINGER: Swollen 2LP (MILK LP001). $14.00

KID 606: P.S. You Love Me CD (MP 101 CD). $14.50

"Kid 606 is undoubtedly the bastard child posterboy of America's next wave of producers. Last year was a massive year for this underage sensation, whether it be his reworking of Straight Outta Compton, the infamous Down With The Scene album on Ipecac Records, his obnoxiously wonderful Tigerbeat6 label, or the mass of media coverage he continues to achieve world-wide, Kid 606 is easily one of the most dynamic and well known producers currently. And those who know his music knows the kid loves to remix. Last year's Mille Plateaux release p.s. i love you became his most critically acclaimed album to date — a step away from the bold schizophrenia of his previous records, Kid 606 went into a more matured and melodic territory of sound. The essence of these tracks have been brought to life with remixes from some of Kid 606's favorite artists. Force Inc. recording artist Twerk resounds his high-wave, multi-layered skills into a euphoric treatment for the techno masses. Farben (aka Jan Jelinek, Gramm) pulls out a click-house masterpiece that resonates the sweet ambience of sometimes. Matador recording artists Matmos, having just come out of the studio with Bjork, take no trouble tackling twirl into a humorous dance floor killer. Geez 'N' Gosh (aka Atom Heart) brings forth a remix that totally resonates the click-house genre he helped revolutionized. Pan American (Mark Nelson of Labradford) does a mesmerizing interpretation in beat driven splendor. Kitty-Yo's Rechenzentrum also use the 4-4 but uniquely add Kid 606's sounds to totally reanimate his sound. Finally Electric Company totally renovates the purpose of the remix with a definitive twist and Fennesz takes a truly eclectic approach. Of course, Kid 606 couldn't resist to pull out 2 new versions of together and twirl, furthering them into magnificent beat filled lullaby's."

THAEMLITZ, TERRE: No! It's Rubato (Piano Interpretations Of Devo) CD (MP 103 CD). $14.50

"Let me shovel some dirt. The Devo boys of summer are cruisin' Sunset Boulevard in a deep sleep, going under cover with 2.2 kids and turkey in every car. We can only hope that secret agents Mark Mothersbaugh, Jerry Casale, Bob Mothersbaugh (Bob #1) and Bob Casale (Bob #2) are continuing their covert operations at Mutato Muzika, sleeping amidst spiritless giants who should know better but don't. Devo's Chinese Computer Rock'n'Roll has devolved into the soundtracks of commercials for McDonalds, Toyota, Coca-Cola, Sony and Nickelodeon. Italy's newly elected fascist-tainted government uses the term 'devolution' to identify their project to decentralize power by reinforcing regionalism, leading to the sanctioned local ostracization of immigrants. Meanwhile, a restless secret agent Alan Myers maintains his cover as an electrician, waiting bravely and patiently for the signal. Fear not. Today I am the bearer of great news to scatter the blackest frown. Facing the possible loss of our most important de-evolutionary troopers, General Boy has been removed from his prophetic tour of duty. What's that you say? 'Is this gal for real?' You betcha. Command of the De-Evolutionary Army has been passed to the Big Sister with a wiggle in the middle, General Grrl, and I'm still shouting, 'Entertainment remains the cancer that we must eradicate!' The Devo takes on many forms, and even the weakest link strengthens the chain. Don't be fooled by promises of a kinder, strofter nation from the Evil energies of the Digital Music Business, the endless supply of so-called 'glitch music,' and the laptop jockeys who live in the past along with our leaders. A record distributor lays crouched behind every bank teller's window across the land. It's time to de-value the strange pursuit of commodities and oversized novelty foam hands announcing whose team is #1. We're all in for the big lose together. To help us march down that road of de-valuation, I am happy to announce that Prof. Thaemlitz has emerged from the lab with yet another worthless addition to the Rubato piano series, 'Oh, no! It's Rubato.' She's the man with a plan, his finger pointed at Devo. Now they must sacrifice themselves that many others may live. Okay, they've got a lot to give. Hop off the band wagon and lend your ears to DEVO de-evolved, out of sync, jerkin' back'n'forth, not necessarily beautiful but mutated. Every spud and spudess must repeat. Q: Are we not men? A: We are Deva! Three cheers! We're yellin' again. Three cheers! We'll be at it to the end."

COSTELLO, DONNACHA: Together Is The New Alone 2LP (MP 104 LP). $14.00

Double LP version.

RIP-OFF ARTIST, THE: Pump CD (MP 105 CD). $14.50

"Matt Haines, a.k.a. the Rip-Off Artist, releases his seventh album on Mille Plateaux. This album, appropriately entitled Pump, is a story of oil and love, petroleum and sex. A world in which hard iron meets soft earth, and deep pressures are relieved. Prior to his music career, the Rip-Off Artist worked for several years aboard an off-shore oil-drilling platform off the coast of California. Working for weeks at a time in twelve-hour shifts, surrounded by the constant din of sea and machine, the crew of the platform are extremely isolated. Gut-wrenching loneliness and frustration permeates the atmosphere, and the crew (both male and female) think constantly of home. Close relationships onboard are discouraged, and so the 'roustabouts' and support crew naturally turn to thoughts of distant spouses and lovers. This sexual tension is obvious in the names of tools and machinery used by the oil industry. Odd words such as 'swage nipple,' 'downhole,' 'stuffing box' and 'packing gland' expose the emotions attached to mere objects. These words become titles of music about longing in the midst of grindingly hard work. The Rip-Off Artist captures this bizarre juxtaposition of flesh and metal on Pump."

VA: Electric Ladyland - The Clickhop Version 1.0 2CD (MP 106 CD). $18.00

"Mille Plateaux's Electric Ladyland compilation series finally returns. The acclaimed series set an unprecedented platform for electronic musicians to conjure new forms of experimentation into hip-hop and breakbeat, providing global identity for DJ Spooky, Alec Empire, DJ Vadim, Techno Animal and many others. Now, Click-Hop Version 1.0 attempts to invigorate the sensibilities of hip-hop and r'n'b by some of the leading members of hip-hop and electronic music's experimental underground. The cut-copy-paste of the unessential sound fragments that have been identified as the ungenre of clicks & cuts, take on a new element of maximizing their potentials. The break beat becomes the platform for new perspectives and interpretations. Whether it be the twisted sonic assault of NYC's High Priest of the Anti-Pop Consortium, DJ Spooky and his unique conceptualizations, Vladislav Delay and the ghostly vocals of Antye from Laub refabricating r'n'b, Spectre of the illustrious Wordsound label shape-shifting the crackle of a skipping record with free flowing beats and ambience to the digital electronic genius of alva.noto (aka Carsten Nicolai) precise usage of sine tones, Fullclip's soulful click-stepper and Safety Scissors timba-beated opus. Overall, Electric Ladyland aims to infect and persuade a growing movement with one of Mille Plateaux's most accessible releases. Ever. Features exclusive, unreleased tracks from: High Priest of The Anti-Pop Consortium, Spectre of Wordsound, I-Sound, DJ Spooky, Captain Comatose, Rip Off Artist, Kid606, Jetone, Safety Scissors, M.R.I., M2 And MC Chief, Twintone, Andreas Tilliander, Din, Alva.Noto, Frank Bretschneider, Monoplace, Zulutronic, Deltideskapis, Vladislav Delay and Antye from Laub, Akufen, Geoff White, Fullclip, Errorsmith, and others."

VA: Electric Ladyland - The Clickhop Version 1.0 3LP (MP 106 LP). $18.00

Triple LP version.

SND: Tender Love CD (MP 108 CD). $14.50

"Sheffield, UK based duo Mark Fell and Mat Steel aka SND mark their return with their anticipated 3rd album, Tender Love. Their ingenious sculpting of experimental sound constructions have earned the attention of artists such as Radiohead and Bjork, but most notably are one of Mille Plateaux's favorite crowd pleasers. Their last 2 albums Makesand Cassette and Stidio have given these lads legendary status for their influential progressions in electronic experiments. Now with Tender Love, SND move in a far more melodic context than ever before. The results are striking but all the same familiar. The sensibilities of funk find it's way into syncopated rhythms, breakbeats and jittered doses of r'n'b percussives mingle with a unique assortment of tones and ambience. Could this be taken as new sources of lounge music in 21st Century living? You be the judge, with Tender Love SND reach a new level of pushing the notions of contemporary listening."

MOKIRA: Plee CD (MP 110 CD). $14.50

"Stockholm, Sweden's own Andreas Tilliander aka Mokira jumped out of nowhere with last year's influential Raster Noton release Clip-Hop, then followed by Mille Plateaux's Ljud, the latter being one of the label's most popular releases of 2001...and rightfully so. Mokira has the uncanny ability to take the popular aesthetic of minimalist glitchy soundscapes then spasmodically integrate it with the essence of r'n'b and hip-hop's most outlandish sensibilities. With Plee, the evolution of Tilliander's tendencies broaden, a series of offerings that reach near-sublime quality. Mokira stands out of the overwhelming spectrum of minimalist electronics currently out there, and accentuates that the click-electronics field is much more than a passing fad."

GEEZ'N'GOSH: Nobody Knows... CD (MP 111 CD). $14.50

"For those of you who know Atom Heart know that he stands for surprises — whether it be covering versions of pop classics, his recent latin covers of Kraftwerk songs (as Señor Coconut), pornographic hip hop sung in Spanish, psychedelic ambient music or Japanese pop, Atom Heart has brought together a world of magnificent oddities unlike any other composer. Now you are confronted with an album that confesses the deep connection of its creator: Nobody Knows. Like so many other productions we know from Mr. Heart, this release basically provokes a questionmark of remarkable size. These questionmarks are Atom Heart's way to communicate to the listener...throwing or leading him/her into a realm of references codes, styles, truths, fallacies, emulated or simulated realities. In fact like so many of his releases, this is not an album 'about' anything at all. 'My Life With Jesus' is a questionmark, by touching another code amongst thousands, Atom Heart is simply asking questions so basic as - can this be authentic? Like so many times fusing fringe aesthetics as well as allegedly 'well known' stereotypes, we are left confused about 'what is real'. His last album as Geez 'N' Gosh, My Life With Jesus crossed the lines of house and glitchy experimentation with a dose of gospel for good measure, reaching a vast array of fans — even becoming a regular played record at NYC Body & Soul! It seemed a favorite journalist term that has kept being used since his debut has been 'click-house'. Nobody Knows? keeps the pace and furthers the house treatment in exceptional form. As always, expect the unexpected from Atom Heart."

GEEZ'N'GOSH: Nobody Knows... 2LP (MP 111 LP). $14.50

Double LP version.

RANDOM INC.: Walking In Jerusalem CD (MP 113 CD). $14.50

"Walking in Jerusalem is a walk through a city. This is the second album in which German based Random Inc. (former half member of Autopoeies) has experimented with sounds from Jerusalem; but note much has changed since the last album. The conceptual separation between Jewish and Arabic sounds have gone, and Random Inc. has invited other electronic musicians to add their own arrangements. Walking In Jerusalem will be released in two versions: a CD geared for more reflective listening and a vinyl version designed to rouse the dance floor with more progressive sounds." Artists include: Tim Hecker, Ran Slavin, The Rip-Off Artist, Dub Taylor, Bizz Circuits, Ultra-Red, Andreas Tilliander, Mikael Stavöstrand, Anton Quibikov, Electric Birds, Open Source.

RANDOM INC.: Walking In Jerusalem 2LP (MP 113 LP). $14.50

Double LP version.

TILLIANDER, ANDREAS: Elit CD (MP 114 CD). $14.50

"Prolific would be one way to describe Andreas Tilliander's work. Extremely talented would be another. His new album, Elit singularly attests to his proficiency as a producer. Add to this the fact that it is his third full-length to be released this year alone, and you begin to see why people have been paying a lot of attention to a sound that is becoming increasingly Tilliander's own. Apart from the music he has released under his own name, this young producer has also put out prodigiously well-received albums and 12's as Mokira, Komp, Rechord, Skitus, and Lowfour. Take the cerebral rhythmic template established by innovators like SND, mix in the low-key funkiness of acts like Boards Of Canada, and you begin to get an idea of what Elit is all about. It's about taking the experiments with the clicks and the cuts, with the whole notion of unessentialist sounds, out of the willfully obscure pockets that seem to burden electronic music, and then using these sounds to damage and manipulate established and popular genres like R'n'B, Hip Hop, and Reggae."

TILLIANDER, ANDREAS: Elit 2LP (MP 114 LP). $14.50

Double LP version.

SHUTTLE 358: Understanding Wildlife CD (MP 115 CD). $14.50

"Dan Abrams aka Shuttle358 has made an unforgettable mark on the American electronic music community. His highly revered releases on the legendary microsound label 12k and his release as Dan Abrams on Mille Plateaux, have established Shuttle358 as a premier standout due to his wonderful ability to create fluent, natural sounding music in a category where clinical approaches to making music has dominated much of the clicks & cuts / minimalist aesthetic out there. Earning critical acclaim and a fanbase that has not forgiven him for taking almost two years to release this album, Mille Plateaux is proud to give this anticipated third installment in the Shuttle358 cycle the exposure that it deserves. Truly magnificent in all means, Shuttle358 expresses his personal experiences and musical ideals about objects and forms that have carried through his whole life. Understanding Wildlife finds deeper meaning and attempts to contemplate the alienating way many perceive the world and act to it as strangers. The sounds of harps, bells, strings and synths give the listener the ability to relate more to the natural affirmation that strikes through listener in its emotional swell.

Captivating."

VA: Clicks & Cuts 3 2CD (MP 116 CD). $19.00

"The successful and highly acclaimed series that proclaimed the 'un-genre' of digital music returns with the next installment: Clicks & Cuts 3. Clicks & Cuts, Glitch, experimental, whatever you want to call it, has become an established part of much of what is listened to. Truly infecting a populace that includes Techno, House, Rock, Hip Hop and R'n'B — the use of unessential sounds is now almost a regular part of every genre. Over the past nine years, Mille Plateaux has supported the evolution of digital music, inviting musicians to experiment and achieve new paths in the realm of digitality. Concept has always played an important role with the label, hence Clicks & Cuts provokes a new generation of producers to explore different realms in their own right. What the output holds has more of a 'human' element than found on prior Clicks & Cuts releases." Artists include: SND, Frank Bretschneider, Andreas Tillander, MRI, Bizz.Circuits, Claudia Bonarelli, Geez 'N' Gosh, Alva Noto, Rob Acid, Luomo, Antonelli Electr., Mikael Stavöstrand, Swayzak, Donnacha Costello & David Donohoe, Rechenzentrum, AGF, Tim Hecker, Dat Politics, Boris Polonski, Robin Judge, Ekkehard Ehlers, Pomassl.

VA: Clicks & Cuts 3 3LP (MP 116 LP). $19.00

Triple LP version.

THAEMLITZ, TERRE: Lovebomb CD (MP 117 CD). $14.50

"Rather than songs of love and unity, I long for audio of love's irreconcilable differences. Not the love-lorn elegy or torch song, but crossed strategies and layered content. Audio in which promise, expectation and momentum are merely possible byproducts rather than essential elements. Despite attempts to 'get over' past loves, today's patterns collide with memories of the lost love still longed for, or the bad relationship never to be repeated. New urgent desires are fed by outdated themes, samples and techniques. At risk of invoking another over-used term, I long for songs of 'diversity' — conflicted diversity devoid of unity. Such diversity does not threaten a future collapse of contemporary society. Rather, it is a reflection of the longstanding separatism and divisiveness implied in every 'holy union' whereby social units break down into cultural microcosms. Empowerment, like love, is when and where you find it. A perverse mirror of the cult." — Terre Thaemlitz.

KÖNER, THOMAS: Zyklus 2CD (MP 118 CD). $18.00

"Thomas Köner is easily recognized as one of the most renowned and respected electronic composers. Over the past 15 years, Köner's dedication to the intensive sound research and collaborations with leading filmmakers has placed him at the epicenter of where sound and contemporary art collide. Beyond that, he is half of the legendary techno act Porter Ricks. Their releases on Chain Reaction and Force Inc. have electrified and influenced to no end. Zyklus is a momentous feat for Köner. Mille Plateaux is tremendously proud to present this double CD release. CD1 is a stunning one hour piece taken from a Radio France performance in 2002. A sound topography that pays attention to atmospheric conditions of nature. CD2 is a series of live performances, recorded in some of the world's most prestigious museums — Centre G. Pompidou Paris, Walker Art Center Minneapolis, La Cricie CAC Rennes, and the Schirn Kunsthalle Frankfurt. These recordings show a dynamic track to track that move from his more classic grey-glacier-noise to material that could easily be mistaken for new Porter Ricks."

HECKER, TIM: Radio Amor CD (MP 119 CD). $14.50

"Tim Hecker is considered one of the most talented and inventive in Canada's new breed of electronic musicians. Whereas his contemporaries often work within the confines of recognizable genres, critics and peers alike have been quick to note that Hecker's work has grown increasingly original and unclassifiable. If one were to draw a comparison, an apt description for Radio Amor would fall somewhere in between Fennesz's Endless Summer and Oval's Diskont 94. Because of its combination of sheer experimentation and organic fluidity, this album rises to a level of synchronicity achieved by only a handful of albums in the past few years. Truly an exciting artistic achievement."

RECHENZENTRUM: The Director's Cut 2LP (MP 120 LP). $16.00

Double LP version. "Over the course of five years, two albums, and numerous singles and remixes, Berlin's Rechenzentrum have managed to carve out a niche of their own in the world of electronic music. Their symbiotic relationship between the audio and the visual has inflected their music with an atmosphere unparalleled within the genre. On Director's Cut, the trio have surpassed all expectations and delivered what could quite possibly be their best work to date. Epic in proportion, visionary in execution, and piercingly evocative in intention, the creative achievement that endures here is the unprecedented sensory terrain on which this album engages the listener. It is comparable in ambition to the work of Godspeed You! Black Emperor."

TWERK: Living Vicariously Through Burnt Bread 2LP (MP 121 LP). $14.50

Double LP version.

EHRHORN, TILMAN: Task CD (MP 122 CD). $14.50

"Mille Plateaux is proud to release the first electronic music full length from one of Germany's most highly regarded modern jazz saxophone musicians, Tilman Ehrhorn. A graduate of Hamburg's prestigious Hochschule für Musik and known more in the Big Band circles, Ehrhorn has performed with the likes of Brian Blade, Danilo Perez and Wayne Shorter (of Weather Report fame). Now with Task, Ehrhorn moves into the realm of digitality. A diverse assemblage of tracks, Task characterizes his love for swing and modern jazz through a rhythmic reassembly of micro-samples and digital tones that are used to build a complex hierarchy of sounds. Though this process may read as unconventional, Task translates with a high level of organic warmth and musicianship that is rarely achieved in electronic music. Ehrhorn takes an array of different influences — IDM, house, techno, swing, nu jazz, and creates a euphonious congregation of these elements that provoke arguably one of the most captivating listening albums of the past year."

STEEL: CD (MP 16 CD). $15.00

The obscure debut from 1995 by the human (or operation) known as Steel.

EMPIRE, ALEC: Hypermodern Jazz 2000.5 CD (MP 23 CD). $15.00

Empire's 4th album, from 1996. "Another step in the ever-evolving art of Alec Empire. Not a mere interpretation of easy listening and jazz, Hypermodern Jazz 2000.5 is full of humor and gusto; an all-out destruction of musical forms and their genesis in jazz. Entering a field in which there is neither perspective nor limit nor outline nor center, Empire uses the power of repetition as a mechanical force that pursues an infinite movement. Speed and slowness of beats and the strange use of jazz keyboard patterns reconstruct a smooth space. In one lone effort, Alec Empire has invented space jazz." Limited stock of this now deleted release.

VA: Electric Ladyland Vol. 2 CD (MP 24 CD). $15.00

2nd volume featuring Alec Empire, Kerosene, Techno Animal w/ Dr. Israel, DJ Vadim, Ian Pooley, Biochip C, 4E, G 104, Gas, Signal Theory.

PEETERS, ARNO: Aeroson CD (MP 38 CD). $15.00

"I've always been fascinated by the effect that sounds can have on us humans. The dramatic impact of the sound of a dentist's drill, a wild animal, or the suspense produced by tremolo strings. Once one forgets to think of music as a hierarchy of melodic intervals, this psychological power of sound reveals itself. And because of the simple fact that I can read nor write notes, or even play a 'real instrument', this is the way I perceive sound and music. By recording and archiving sounds for some years now, I can create atmospheres with layers of sound, not unlike blending colors on a piece of canvas. Using modern digital audio technology, by the possibilities of this alchemy of mixing are infinite. An interesting side effect is that blending two sounds together (seemingly without any similarity) can create associations or suggest emotions which can be daring. Sometimes, zapping through my library in MTV style, I wonder why I have to combine certain sounds. But in hindsight however, there appears to be some form of unity within the newly created material. 'Aeroson' deals with our ever changing audio-environment. Once the sounds of water and simple customs of our fellow tribe-members were comforting and well known to us. Nowadays modern telecommunications and industrial noise guide us through a hectic urban environment. Television and radio-broadcasts bring us sounds traveling by air, that were never heard before. Faxes and beepers produce coincidental harmonies. Sounds of generators, elevators, computer diskdrives and engines provide a constant hum, or on second view: an aerial symphony. One could toy with the question if and how the sounds of cellular phones and TV-commercials replace crickets and forest noise. In Aeroson I tried to combine natural elements with their artificial counterparts. I also experimented with recreating atmospheres which have long been gone or have never been existed by combining acoustic realities with electronic look-a-likes. Aeroson is a piece about the relationship between man and the technology he surrounds himself with." — Arno Peeters. Produced for NPS as contribution for The International Rostrum of Electro-Acoustic Music, held in Amsterdam, September 1996."

VA: Electric Ladyland IV CD (MP 39 CD). $15.00

"To understand the music of Electric Ladyland one needs to consider its cultural and political context. Electric soul for rebels. This ostensibly simple statement articulates some of the complex micro-political processes that are involved in electronic music. The music is involved in history but the tracks on Electric Ladyland are existing without the privileged position of language as the main authorized means of communication. There is no pre-dominant code, no signifier that predetermines how the listener should physically or mentally respond to the music. Electric Ladyland destroys the conservatism of Hip Hop. But the sounds are also deterritorialized in relation to musical tradition. Trip Hop always uses the clichés of musicality (Jazz, Ambient, etc.) and Electric Ladyland allows to move away from the conservative forms of Trip Hop to new investments of desire. The response to the music of Electric Ladyland becomes how to continue an intense flow. Desire comes up against the special forms of capitalist music business and it is not surprising that Electric Ladyland is highly underrated in the mainstream music press. The compilation opens an intense field for experimentation which is used by hardcore terrorists Alec Empire and Panacea, NY's finest in illbient DJ Spooky, noise terrorists Techno Animal and Zulutronic, and the 'Hip Hop' minimalists of Brooklyn's Wordsound label and DJ Vadim.

RESTGERÄUSCH: Vol. II LP (MP 40 LP). $12.00

PORTER RICKS: PORTER RICKS CD (MP 42 CD). $15.00

Porter Ricks (aka Thomas Köner and Andy Melwig); previous album was on Chain Reaction, singles on Force Inc. & Barooni. "Porter Ricks belong to the few projects of 1996 whose form of dance music, while not derived from the traditional structures we know as techno, still manages to bring across a strength otherwise only heard from the likes of a Jeff Mills. Their sonic semantics seem new, independent from trends. Basic structures on this album contains heavy bassloops, repetitive keyboard patterns and microscopic dub effects. The music emits soundwaves, sound which is always travelling, never arriving. What makes sound travel is very pure and simple sound, an emission or wave without harmonics. Sound captures forces like duration and intensity but opens also endless horizons and spaces which can be filled with analogies, myths and images. The album spurs you to listen to fragile works, music without center, and to driving dance tracks. Porter Ricks take funk riffs and allows them to explode out of the archives of 70s disco. Even here the spatial perspectives are dominating the tracks. Regardless of genre, dance or more ambient, Porter Ricks are bringing back an intuitive feel to electronic music by relying on musicality rather than on the execution of implemented features and pre-installed presets of the technological machines."

VA: Modulation & Transformation Vol. 3 2CD (MP 43 CD). $22.00

"The third offering by music innovators of the electronic scene in Europe and the States. This compilation, containing 23 tracks on double CD or triple vinyl blends the best of electronic music into an excellent display of contemporary music regardless of genre and method, arranged and improvised, notated and programmed, instrument based and electronic, analog as well as digital. Modulation...Vol. 3 again redefines electronic music by rendering the parameters playable, re-entering the musical domain with unprecedented ease. Sound machines are inhabited by heterogeneous sound material, disjunctive varieties, perhaps tones, sounds, noises. Successful musical bodies are something of unique singularity that does not erase the trail of heterogeneity but follows multiples it. Most of the tracks are bringing back a spontaneous feel to electronic music by building up a musical body rather than on the more execution of implemented features and pre-installed presets transforming digital design workplace efficiency into effortless improvisation." Features: Oval, Curd Duca, Jim O'Rourke, Blue Byte, Arno Peters, DJ Spooky, Terre Thaemlitz, Scanner, Gas, Andy Melwig, Sidewinder, 4E, Steel, Pluramon, Heinrich at Heart, Thomas P. Heckmann, Cristian Vogel, Fetischpark, Kerosene & Jammin Unit.

DUCA, CURD: Elevator CD (MP 47 CD). $15.00

"New album after the success of his compilation series Easy Listening Vol. 1-5 and the transformation of Richard Wagner sounds on Switched On Wagner. This new release is not his concept art, it is electronic mood music for listening or even electronic cool jazz and it is more complex than the Easy Listening series. Elevator also contains the effort to build up rhythm without drum machine and sampled grooves and the samples are not integrated in a rhythmic framework. Every sample used by Curd Duca's music has its own quality and sounds totally different in the original context. It is about sounds and textures and Curd Duca's music stands for the purity of timbre. Important are not the cultural context and some significant associations, every sample has its own rhythm and timbre combined with metallic 'Rauschen' and low frequency basslines. The tracks on Elevator cannot be separated? — they are creating a beautiful context. Elevator shows Curd Duca as the perfect cut-up artist."

PLURAMON: Render Bandits CD (MP 51 CD). $14.50

"Pluramon is the project of Cologne artist Markus Schmickler. He is part of the electronic collective A-Musik, the homebase of acts like Mouse On Mars. On his new album Jan St. Werner (MoM; Microstoria) and Jaki Liebezeit (Can) are involved with additional instruments (gongs, keyboards, drums). Render Bandits includes a large range of sound sources and a massive battery of drums. Schmickler himself and Liebezeit are responsible for the complexity of rhythms on the album. Pluramon is definitely in the tradition of the main German Krautrock band Can, but neither is the sound of Pluramon a copy of the 70s sound nor is the project part of the alternative post rock movement. The use of manipulated instruments like gongs, guitars and special keyboards is inspired by electroacoustique and electronic sources and becomes very percussive on the album. The amplification of sounds creates an immersive environment of acoustic space. The music emits massive soundwaves, sound which is always travelling, never arriving. Sound opens endless horizons and spaces which can be filled with analogies, myths and images."

VA: Electric Ladyland Vol. 6 2CD (MP 55 CD). $23.00

"To understand the music of Electric Ladyland, one needs to consider its culture and political context. 'Electric soul for rebels.' This ostensibly simple statement articulates some of the complex micro-political processes that are involved in electronic music. The music is divided in history but the tracks on Electric Ladyland are existing without the privileged position of language as the main authorised means of communication. There is no pre-dominant code, no signifier that pre-determines how the listener should physically or mentally respond to the music. Electric Ladyland destroys the conservatism of Hip Hop. But the sounds are also deterritorialized in relation to musical tradition. Trip hop always uses the clichés of musicality (jazz, ambient, etc.) and Electric Ladyland allows to move away from the conservative forms of trip hop to new investments of desire. The response to the music of Electric Ladyland becomes how to continue an intense flow. Desire comes up against the special forms of capitalist music business and it is not surprising that Electric Ladyland is highly underrated in the mainstream music press. Involved with Electric Ladyland 6 are the main producers of Abstract Hip Hop or illbient like NY star DJ Spooky who produced two exclusive tracks, one with heavy dub feeling and one with great soundscapes; Mark B from DJ Vadim's Jazz Fudge offers minimal Hip Hop tracks; Brooklyn's Wordsound crew gives us NY's finest in Dub and Hip Hop collages. Also from NY are 4E from Temple Records and DJ Soul Slinger from Liquid Sky. German drum'n'bass star Panacea is involved with two brand new tracks. Techno Animal produced a track, a fine fusion of noise, film music and deep hip hop beats. From Germany's Pharma label we have tracks from Kerosene, and Jammin' Unit and Frankfurt offers Sandbenders and Steel."

BABICZ, ROBERT: MoMente CD (MP 57 CD). $15.00

"The first solo album of Robert Babicz on Mille Plateaux. Babicz, better known as Rob Acid and Cicabor, is label owner of Junk Food Records. His new album blends innovative electronic music, from the beginnings (musique concrete and Cologne electronic school) to contemporary electroacoustique methods. The music is also arranged in the point of intersection between electronics and techno. MoMente is a successful musical body, which is something of a unique singularity that does not erase the trail of heterogeneity but follows and multiplies it. Most of the tracks are bringing back a spontaneous feel to electronic music by building up a musical body rather than on the mere execution of implemented features and pre-installed presets. The music contains gentle sounds but also bizarre soundsculptures. It is Babicz's musical diary of the last 3 years."

STURM: CD (MP 60 CD). $15.00

One of the deepest records yet from the explosive Cologne, Germany electronic music scene. "Sturm is the first album of Reinhard Voigt for Mille Plateaux. Reinhard is part of the Kompakt scene in Cologne and brother of Wolfgang Voigt aka Mike Ink. Sturm is a special concept to make sound travel. That what is necessary to make sound travel and to travel around sound, is very pure sound, an emission and wave without melody. The more rarefied the atmosphere, the more disparate the elements you will find. Although Sturm has all the elements of minimal music, but the music of Reinhard Voigt is different. It is contemporary electronic music mixed with elements of Techno and even pop. The 4/4 bassdrum gives the music this special hypnotic touch, the music involves forces like duration and intensity. Sturm is Reinhard Voigt's first concept album, all the elements of Techno and Pop are exploding in a new powerful sound and music."

STURM: 2LP (MP 60 LP). $17.00

VA: Modulation & Transformation 4 3LP (MP 61 LP). $18.00

ULTRA-RED: Second Nature CD (MP 52 CD). $15.00

"Second Nature is an investigation into queer sex in Los Angeles Griffith Park. A compilation of actions, performances and installations, the album tracks the group's work in the 3500 acres of this park. Ultra-Red approaches field recordings with the curiosity of a corner, dissecting wounds, magnifying them and folding them upon each other, creating new soundscapes out of the remains of pre-recorded source tape. It's no wonder that Ultra-Red find kindred-spirit in Mille Plateaux artist Terre Thaemlitz. Both artists working methods insist on a kind of materialist dialectic between the remnants of ambient music and the over-all social context of musical production. But whereas Thaemlitz locates his materialism in the man-machine interface, Ultra-Red scour the sound fields of urban public spaces in their hometown Los Angeles. The sounds of crickets and rustling foot-falls collapse into digital clicks and pulses, exploding the nature versus machine duality onto the threshold of desublimated sound. The opening track, 'Lewd Conduct', features the orgiastic sounds of twenty public sex offenders. From there Second Nature departs from the more elegiac representations of public sex. And Ultra-Red raises a red flag giving a listening to the inherent antagonism within queer spaces, even the utopian spaces of cruising."

CRANK: Wanton Phenomena CD (MP 64 CD). $15.00

"Crank is a project from Danny Zelony. He has been recording under the names Low Res and Crank and for labels such as Plug Research, Metroplex, Sony and now Mille Plateaux. Zelony's start in electronic music is traceable to his high school days, when he studied musique concrete. The diversity of Zelony's current output, however, is more likely attributable to his subsequent interest in and study of other genres of music and he remains for the most part innocent with regards to trends in techno and academic genres. A primary concern of the artist is the augmentation of imagination and intelligence through the discovery, instigation and selective exploitation of the non linear and asymmetrical aspects of sonic phenomena. Sounds might be constructed/deconstructed by countless techniques, each yielding a different character of asymmetrical transformation. This album would appear to represent an attempt by Crank to 'jam' with physics. Crank is also revealing of the raw underlying phenomena. Sounds might be constructed/deconstructed by countless techniques, each yielding a different character of asymmetrical transformation." Very A-Musik/Plug Research sounding release for Mille Plateaux; includes a Phthalocyanine remix.

DUCA, CURD: Elevator 2 CD (MP 66 CD). $15.00

"Subtitled 'electro acoustic mood music', Duca's new Elevator album transcends the style he once established in his Easy Listening series. Starting with one of his trademark psychedelic tracks, it soon veers off into uncharted territories of digital explosion, non-metric pulses, jazzy cut-ups and mindblowing transitions-executed with a casual precision that makes even the most experimental tracks highly listenable. Curd Duca's music is at once lavish and parsimonious, synthetic and soulful. He is able to put his hands on a piece of chrome and make it radiate with warmth. Elevator 2 airy and elegant, at times rough and scratchy and off the scale: It is quite a journey."

monious, synthetic and soulful. He is able to put his hands on a piece of chrome and make it radiate with warmth. Elevator 2 airy and elegant, at times rough and scratchy and off the scale: It is quite a journey."

DUCA, CURD: Elevator 2 LP (MP 66 LP). $13.00

New vinyl version of the recent CD release. "Subtitled 'electro acoustic mood music', Duca's new Elevator album transcends the style he once established in his Easy Listening series. Starting with one of his trademark psychedelic tracks, it soon veers off into uncharted territories of digital explosion, non-metric pulses, jazzy cut-ups and mindblowing transitions-executed with a casual precision that makes even the most experimental tracks highly listenable. Curd Duca's music is at once lavish and parsimonious, synthetic and soulful. He is able to put his hands on a piece of chrome and make it radiate with warmth. Elevator 2 airy and elegant, at times rough and scratchy and off the scale: It is quite a journey."

STURM: Die Glocken Von Sturm 12" (MP 67 LP). $12.00

Awesome vinyl-only extended 3 track EP, following up the self-titled full length Sturm album on Mille Plateaux (MP 60). "Sturm is a project by Cologne artist Reinhard Voigt who is part of the Kompakt scene. Basic structures on this maxi contain heavy loops, repetitive keyboard patterns and microscopic effects. It is fragile music, music without center. Regardless of genre, dance or ambient, sound are travelling through time and space."

BRETSCHNEIDER, FRANK: Rand CD (MP 70 CD). $15.00

"Frank Bretschneider is part of one of the most interesting Electronica labels around, the East German based Raster. He's released several CDs under the names Komet and Produkt, his last CD was released on the 20' to 2000 series. His first solo album for Mille Plateaux contains an evolutionary music built on spatial metamorphic rhythm patterns, tinkling synthetics, high frequency clicks, whirs and machine grinding. 20 tracks of the album are the result of a computer based, modulated synthesizer system. There is no difference between sound and composition anymore. One sound may represent the whole track. Tracks are not created by classic sequencer technology, but all movements, series of sounds, and orders of tones are the result of unorthodox connected Synthesizer modules (LFO's, oscillators, filters, amplification). Developed sound-events, which are mostly chaotic and accidental, are brought into 'form' by special controllers. The result is minimal, often sketchy tracks, which are more constructed than improvised and are most often finished after the idea of the track is crystallized. Fragments of minimal structure are added slowly and carefully, sometimes taken out and then put back in after further thought. Other beat fragments seem lost and out-of-place, until low frequency clicks are locked in. Even if the album is contemporary electronic music, it is still inspired by the idea of new and experimental pop music."

THAEMLITZ, TERRE: Replicas Rubato CD (MP 71 CD). $15.00

"Replicas Rubato is the second installment of Thaemlitz's Rubato releases, which feature piano renditions of songs by influential electronic producers. The melodies on Replicas Rubato are drawn from a number of Gary Numan's albums spanning 1978 to 1983. As a continuation of Thaemlitz's previous piano renditions of Kraftwerk titles, Die Roboter Rubato, the performances were composed through a combination of annotations digitally stepped in note-by-note, open meter improvisation, and computer aided composition. In keeping with Numan's caborg theme of 'Replicas' inspired by sci-fi author Philip K. Dick, Thaemlitz uses technology to create highly 'human' sounding piano performances filled with spontaneity, sensitivity, and unexpected turns of melody. In Thaemlitz's own words, 'as 'Replicas' of their namesakes, they are lies at worst, ambiguous half-truths at best.' As usual, there is a larger agenda behind Thaemlitz's audio production other than pleasure. His accompanying text to Replicas Rubato interprets Numan's lyrics in relation to the UK's post-glam sex panic and policing of gay male cruising in the 1970s, as well as ambiguity in the media about Numan's sexuality. It goes on to theorize the various implications of Numan's portrayals of sexual deviance in relation to behavior rather than identity. Questions are also raised about the lack of discussion around such contents in Numan's music, as opposed to commonplace discussions of his music in relation to science fiction. Thaemlitz's arrival at these analyses is positioned in relation to his admittedly obsessive childhood relationship to Numan's music and its impact upon his own perception of sexuality, which ultimately helped facilitate his adoption of queer theory and transgenderism as strategies for self-definition."

THAEMLITZ, TERRE: Replicas Rubato LP (MP 71 LP). $12.00

NEINA: Formed Verse CD (MP 72 CD). $15.00

Neina is a unit produced and assembled by Hosomi Sakana, a keyboard player and producer active in Japan's music scene. The unit is comprised of an unrestricted and irregular lineup. Neina is the word for 'song' in Ainu, the language of the indigenous people of Japan. After graduating from the conservatory, Hosomi commenced his career in 1984 as a professional keyboardist for a variety of artists and bands. Before long his talents as a programmer, arranger, and producer came to the attention of many; and the number of artists with whom he has collaborated since, in performance and recording, has exceeded one hundred, the number of records he participated in easily over two hundred. Alongside accomplishing a busy schedule of support work, he has continued tirelessly in pursuit of the challenge of his own mode of expression, mainly in his own studio. Meanwhile as an arranger, continuing to work with ever-increasing variety of musical instruments utilizing digital technology has led him to new methods of working. The vast information contained within the digital world and the often, almost organic logic within it, as well as the image it holds of chaotic and limitless possibility, grew to fascinate him. Eventually, all this came into being in the shape of Neina. Techno, drum 'n' bass, noise, ambient, all the music of recent years, and its rapid progress and proliferation, has brought an anticipation for the emergence of the next, new music, for both the enthusiast of the floor and the contemplative in the living room. Neina brings a new musicality into digital weirdness, one step further than projects like Oval and Microstoria. Neina also involves new processes of production, distribution, and reception."

STURM: Sturmgesten CD (MP 74 CD). $14.50

"Sturm is a major project of Reinhard Voigt who released already one album and one maxi on Mille Plateaux. Sturmgesten, the new album, is the third part of his homogeneous creative power. In comparison with his first album the new one is more consistent and Reinhard is producing without compromise. The album is the result of concentrated working, manifestation of darkness and seriousness without losing a specific pop appeal. The affinity to Gas, a project on Mille Plateaux by his brother Wolfgang Voigt, is amazing. Sturmgesten varies continuous returning sounds. The album works with the possibility of creating a fascinating atmosphere with one special idea. Music through time travelling. Clarity, purity and intensity of sound are the main aspects of Reinhard Voigt's new album."

STURM: Sturmgesten 2LP (MP 74 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

PLURAMON: Formant Remixes 12" (MP 76 EP). $12.00

"This is an amazing collection of dance remixes of Pluramon's track 'Formant' from their album Render Bandits. Stunning mixes by Brighton techno hero Cristian Vogel, Cologne's minimalist Thomas Brinkmann, minimal house of Frankfurt based label Perlon (Pantytect), and one mix by Pluramon producer Marcus Schmickler himself. Postrock goes techno and house."

AUTOPOIESES: La Vie A Noir Remixes 2LP (MP 77 LP). $16.00

"After the release of the album, which redefined noir in terms of digital music, parts of their music were immediately used by William Forsythe for his new ballet 'Endless House'. This double 12" contains 28 loops constructed by Autoipoeses, using sounds and rhythms from their album. Also included are 4 fantastic remixes by dancefloor hero Gez Varley (former member of LFO), new Finnish minimalism star Vladislav Delay, the California based artist Kit Clayton, and Terre Thaemlitz. A superb package of new electronica."

VA: Clicks And Cuts 2CD (MP 79 CD). $19.00

Classic 2000 genre-defining release. "The manifesto of a generation of digitized and redigitized faults and advancements that comes to terms with its basis of sound: Clicks And Cuts. Combined on this compilation are acts that in their own scene have been responsible for most of the excitement and fascination going on in electronic music within the last years, monsters such as Pan Sonic, Thomas Brinkmann, Wolfgang Voigt (Mike Ink). The originators, those whose influences are unmeasurable, and the purveyors of the new input, the born as a cult people like SND, Pole, Vladislav Delay, Farben, Kit Clayton, Jake Mandell, Frank Bretschneider, Noto, Autoipoeses, etc., that gave the new sound of minimalism an unforgettable face. Every track is a whole school of sound, a formula on which to construct the future, a tool for the masterbuilders and purpose makers of the next millennium. More than just another compilation, Clicks And Cuts is the basis of generations to follow, the sound and structure of the electronic revolution in progress, and one of the first utterings of a finally globalized, and not even afraid of it, scene of minimalisms. Clicks And Cuts is the raw elements of computerized music turned to digital dust."

IHAN: Iota CD (MP 81 CD). $14.50

"Ihan is an electronic duo of two design students from Toulouse, France. Having started from an instrumental background, today they explore the abstract 'plates-formes' of sound. Their first album ever fits perfectly in the electronic imperium of Mille Plateaux. Like SND or Bretschneider, Ihan works with all the new soundfiles and glitches of digital music, but they use it in a very special lighthearted but also cool way. Digital music or sound design still takes place not only on the level of symbolisation and signification, as insignificant material, non-coded forms of expression and elements play a role in the production of the digital as well. In the combination of music and composition, things have to be considered, circumstances which concern the artist but also exceed him. A process of production is initiated in which sound and composition, selection and production in the context of digital synthesis go together. The world of Iota is built on the coexistence of electroacoustic research gains ('techniques de montage', microscopic study of sounds) and the rational pulsation of minimal techno. Dealing with software sets free potential and impulses for something new. Ihan makes the artificial implications of glitch music audible with their 11 titles. It is singular electronic music, pared down, thin, cold and strong at once. Flows of intensity, fluids, continuums and conjunctions of effects, fine segmentation, micropereceptions- and always there are colors, sounds, noises, all perfectly programmed in a way, that you have to expect the unexpected."

CURD DUCA: Elevator 3 LP (MP 84 LP). $11.00

"Marks a new level of Curd Duca's art of the digital cut-up and advanced sample-based sound-scaping. The subtitle 'digitalanalog mood music' refers to its mostly analog source material and its affinities to jazzy digital improvisation and the non-mechanistic sensibilities of late-romantic classical music, also employing a rather expanded notion of mood. In 48 (!) tracks, a wide variety of sounds, textures, and rhythms, floats by and mysteriously coalesces into a stylistically coherent work, transcending contradictions between experimental and emotional, intellectual and enjoyable: ELEVATOR 3' is atmospheric concept art: light and dark, complex and simple, laid back and elegant."

GEEZ'N'GOSH: My Life With Jesus CD (MP 90 CD). $14.50

"Geez 'N' Gosh is a new project by top electronic producer Atom Heart. He is now living in Santiago de Chile and is running the label Rather Interesting. His first album on Mille Plateaux is part of the new movement of electronic minimalism, firstly documented on the Clicks & Cuts compilation. It is the cut-copy-paste-Funk of the most unessentialist sounds ever, the clicks & glitches, the movements from zero to zero, that find also their ways to Atom Heart's new album. My Life With Jesus is sophisticated in its game with complex rhythms and the use of soul elements. The album is the first statement of the clickhouse-genre. Acts like Farben and Sutekh, first releases on Force Inc. and Geez 'N' Gosh bring funkiness and swing into electronic minimalism and give the new sound of Clicks & Cuts a powerful and unforgettable face. This new sound is starting the world domination for the entire cyber dancefloors of 2000."

GEEZ'N'GOSH: My Life With Jesus 2LP (MP 90 LP). $15.00

Double LP version.

PLURAMON: Bit Sand Riders CD (MP 91 CD). $14.50

"The heterogeneous mixture of remixes and styles here is not accidental. By selecting remixers and their way of working (pluralistic), the individual components which are essential for the monistic Pluramon sound are highlighted clearly. There's the fat, dark rock of the Scottish band Mogwai, but also an airy track from Sensorama: working with guitar sounds & processing the sounds of the laptop master Hecker (Mego); or the melodic approach of the British High Llamas. As a band, Pluramon moves between electronic and guitar instrumentation and not least because of this is regarded as one of the most interesting acts internationally. Today, even the more obscure Lo-Fi bands work with digital equipment, i.e. with 'electronics'. Many of the discourses concerning this topic and the points which emerged from it have long been their focus. Unlike the first Pluramon album from the year 1996, when hard disc recording made the search for references to one's medium urgent, today music can be refined with the entire range of technical equipment in the digital domain. Therefore the latest Pluramon release Bit Sand Riders is a remix album. The bands who have been invited for the remix challenge are: The striking Sensorama of L'age d'Or as well as London's High Llamas; Mogwai, 'the best guitar band 99' (Viva 2); F.X. Randomiz, the hyperactive electronic freak and M. Schmickler's label colleague; Hecker, processing sound in Mego style; Matmos, who is known for playful drum & bass from San Francisco on Matador; electro mastermind Atom Heart (Rather Interesting); the New Yorker Lee Renaldo, the guitarist from Sonic Youth; SND, the minimal techno heroes from Sheffield; the noise evangelist Merzbow from Tokyo; and a remix from Pluramon themselves, on the vinyl version, there is an additional mix of Cristian Vogel which has already been released on 12".

PLURAMON: Bit Sand Riders 2LP (MP 91 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

KID 606: P.S. I Love You CD (MP 93 CD). $14.50

"Kid 606 is one that many have become acquainted with. Adored by the critics, he can be found in most current music magazines and performs world-wide continually. Whether it is reworking Straight Outta Compton, cheekily stating that 'Luke Vibert Can Kiss My Indie-Punk Whiteboy Ass' on his recent release for the Ipecac label or running his own label Tigerbeat 6. P.S. I Love You is a step into more tranquil listening than what he is most known for producing, and a remarkable maturing over his Soccer Girl EP. His track on the essential Clicks & Cuts compilation has been heralded by the Wire magazine as 'the stand out track'. Kid 606 immerses himself in a more revealing territory of the laptop musician, a soothing assemblage of intonations. P.S. I Love You takes the fabrication of minimalist composition and rekindles it with his distinctive signature."

BRETSCHNEIDER, FRANK: Curve CD (MP 96 CD). $14.50

"Frank Bretschneider is definitely one of the vital producers in the global electronic network. A key member of the prestigious Raster-Noton collective (that includes the talented Carsten Nicolai), he has critically acclaimed releases under the names Komet and Produkt. Bretschneider has created some of the most influential spacial electronics of the late 90's, unlike so much output in the microscopic music scene, his music has always flourished with activity. Precise sound placement, volume levels and the contrast of tones in Bretschneider's production makes his compositions uniquely captivating. Bretschneider returns for his second full length release on Mille Plateaux. Curve takes a different approach that accomplishes the sensibilities of minimalist pop music. The unessentialist sounds of Clicks & Cuts that have dominated Mille Plateaux are an integral part of Curve, however the evolution of this new genre continues with the eloquent construction of majestic complexities. Bretschneider goes beyond the plug-in or plug research electronics. He redefines the Clicks & Cuts genre by rendering the parameters playable, reentering the musical domain with unprecedented ease. Bretschneider discovers the complexity of the virtual: microtonality, clicks, complex rhythm textures, melodic fragments. A perfect musical body. Bretschneider succeeds again in progressing the new age of laptop production and delivers a stunning exhibition of sound."

BRETSCHNEIDER, FRANK: Curve 2LP (MP 96 LP). $14.50

Double vinyl version.

TILLIANDER, ANDREAS: Ljud CD (MP 97 CD). $14.50

"Mille Plateaux has earned critical acclaim for its support and releases in the new direction of click-electronics. Click represents sounds that aren't supposed to be there, that take up time and space but have no justification for being on a record. But the times have indeed changed; click is arguably the first new genre to emerge in the 21st Century. Last year's compilation Clicks & Cuts brought these unessentialist sounds to the public and the reaction was immense — both Spin and Urb magazines named it in their best of 2000 issues ('vibrations that set off a series of nervous ticks throughout the body of electronic music' — Urb, 12/00). Now, Mille Plateaux continues this evolving process with one of its most promising new producers. Enter the click-hop. Stockholm Sweden's Andreas Tiliander has produced an album that is destined to forever change the perceptions of click-electronics. With a prior album on Germany's prestigious Raster-Noton label, Tiliander moves forward in producing an essential full-length that utilizes the clicks, pops and crackles of insensibilities, then molds them exquisitely them with the drive of hip-hop, r&b and dub. Ljud is indeed an experiment in electronics, however the groove dominates the rhythmic patterns, truly a path that only portrays the future of evolution in click. A captivating album that will surely open the ears beyond the confines of experimental fans, Ljud reaches to all listeners. Like nothing you have ever heard but all so familiar, Tiliander is destined to open the minds of many."

TILLIANDER, ANDREAS: Ljud 2LP (MP 97 LP). $14.50

VA: Clicks & Cuts 2 4LP (MP 98 LP). $20.00

Heavy duty 4LP version.

ABRAMS, DAN: Stream CD (MP 99 CD). $14.50

"Dan Abrams is a student of packaging at Los Angeles's Art Centre College Of Design, a fact that is reflected in the elegant simplicity and organization of his music. Also known as the critically acclaimed artist Shuttle 358 on the NY based label 12k, Dan Abrams has created quite a stir in the US minimal electronic scene due to his extraordinary releases on the 12k label. With his Mille Plateaux debut Stream, Abrams makes further developments uncovering dance music's archetype; be it techno, trance, drum 'n' bass or downtempo — and shows them in their most sublime state. Stream represents a series of experiments all done synthetically with a script based software synth. A 'stream' is a software term that describes a series of processed (or 'dumped') elements registered into an index to define an order and sequence. all of the tracks use my script that pulls arbitrary clips from his library of songs (some even from 'frame' and 'optimal') and into a software step-sequencer. Some of these are only half a second in length, but are used in rhythmic patterns. others are pitched wildly to form pad sounds. When completed, the tracks become a glitchy, almost dithered collage. Playing up any internal fuzz or clicks that occur naturally in the software, these are the basis that support the compositions. Some are techno, other ambient. Some play with overlapping tempos and time, others are very repetitive. The track titles humanize it all a bit, attempting to stray away from the common style convention ... these are very natural, they are not some strange technological niche."

MILNORMODERN (GERMANY):

VA: Mod.Cooperate.One. 12" (MILNOR 001 EP). $9.00

"Tasty 4-tracker between crackle dub and innovative techno by Bpitch's Housemeister aka The Otherfucker."

WRUHHME, ROBAG: Jena Makks EP 12" (MILNOR 002 EP). $9.00

"With the brand-new release on Milnordmodern we present Robag Wruhme of the German labels Freude am Tanzen and Musikkrause, which was responsible for many sensational releases and remixes during the last few years. This time with picture of Robag Wruhme gracing the cover of the Milnordmodern.002, he provides us with his tracks 'Jena Makks', 'Minatsmoten' and 'Esmaralda oing' for an unforgettable dance experience through the turn of the year. Additionally Koerner & Treplec have created a fat remix with the original sound-samples of 'Jena Makks'. All together 4 really funky and damn deep tracks."

MIMICRY:

SECRET CHIEFS 3: Huroalya: Second Grand Constitution and Bylaws CD (WOM 004). $14.00

SECRET CHIEFS 3: Book M CD (WOM 006). $14.00

"An instrumental odyssey, Book M, features full string sections, an assortment of Persian, Turkish and Arabic stringed and percussion instruments (played by people who actually know how!), microtonally altered synthesizers, organs and guitars, innovative compositions and truly off-the-map production techniques. The album is deceptively focused and deliberate, making the out-of-control aspects seem perfectly natural. Even moments of violent aggression are merged with the tenderness and subtlety of the band's blatant otherworldly passions." Members include: Eyvind Kang, William Winant, the cast from Mr. Bungle (Danny Heifetz, Trevor Dunn, Bar McKinnon and Trey Spruance).

ESTRADASPHERE: Buck Fever CD (WOM 008). $14.00

"Their music is a fusion of Balkan, Gypsy, black/death metal, throat singing, Latin, surf, rock, jazz and more. Styles blend, exist in juxtaposition, or undergo penetrating simultaneous exploration. Imagine going to the dentist on the Discovery Channel naked. Comprised primarily of saxophone, guitar, violin, bass, drums, and a home studio that gives them opportunity to expand their sound capabilities, Buck Fever incorporates 40 to 80 tracks of instruments on each song. Buck Fever makes use of advanced dada-composition and thick orchestration and improvisation, both traditional and forward-reaching, so it's not surprising to find Trey Spruance of Mr. Bungle making several engineering/production appearances throughout the album."

DANUBIUS: Danubius CD (WOM 010). $14.00

"Danubius specialize in Hungarian, Romanian, Transylvanian, Moldavian, Macedonian, Bulgarian and many other types of Balkan folk and gypsy music. Based around the San Francisco Bay Area, they enjoys access to a great deal of difficult musical terrain. Fans of Taraf de Haidouks, Muzsikas or Fanfare Ciocarlia and other Balkan musics already know that an aspiring musician couldn't merely dabble on the weekends and expect to produce anything (other than his own shame and embarrassment). Danubius soars way above the hurdle. Their collective passion for doing things right yields a special intensity and remarkable musical payoffs. Whether bringing the house down and dropping jaws with their marvels or bickering over arrangement details, Danubius is destined to emerge from obscurity."

DENGUE FEVER: Dengue Fever CD (WOM 012 CD). $14.00

"That Cambodia Rocks CD tapped into a serious jones for Vietnam War-era Cambodian psychedelic surf/garage rock. Given the dodgy availability of such releases, there are reasons aplenty to hail the arrival of Dengue Fever — in vivid, stark, hallucinatory reality, an actual, real live band. Fronted by amazing vocalist Chhom Nimol, Dengue Fever has surprisingly universal appeal. Chhom herself is already quite accustomed to seizing the hearts of listeners (including the King and Queen of Cambodia), as she comes from a family best considered as a Cambodia pop music dynasty — not unlike a Cambodian version of the Jacksons. The rest of the band is no flake-fest either, consisting of Zac Holtzman (Dieselhead) and his brother Ethan on Farfisa organ, Seemon Williams (Radar Brothers), David Rallicke (Beck) and seasoned drummer/engineer Paul Smith. Their covers stay remarkably true to the crazy party music spirit of the '60s- and '70s-era originals. But there are also original songs, some of which veer off into the darkened corridors of lost love and ghostly noir romanticism, dissolving sometimes into spaces of genuine bleakness and tragedy — all in the Khmer tongue. Far from mere novelty or cheap Orientalophile thrill, Dengue Fever keeps listeners on their toes, dancing to their way-out tones."

ESTRADASPHERE: Quadropus CD (WOM 013). $14.00

"Every band contracts Departure Album Syndrome at some point in their career. With Estradasphere, one has to ask what 'departure' could mean for a group who never bothered to establish much of anything about themselves, other than capable and graceful navigation of any musical landscape, and the daily performance of feats unimaginable to most musicians. On Quadropus, the band navigates terrain usually reserved for people who take themselves quite seriously. Who's kidding whom? These guys could eat most of the Downtown pros for breakfast. It's finally evident that the shameless flaunting of the innerness that has banished Estradasphere to the annoying joke bin is not by any means the end of the story."

SECRET CHIEFS 3: Book of Horizons CD (WOM 014CD). $14.00

"Book of Horizons is the first release in an elaborate trilogy and meta-composition by Secret Chiefs 3. It's huger than anything the band has ever done: beyond psychedelia, beyond experimentalism, and beyond classification. The Secret Chiefs 3 enhance their usual multiple personalities and divide into seven individual and distinct bands, enabling the overall musical content to be distilled into pure vessels. One band incorporates multi-ethnic instrumentation and seasoned, soulful playing (by Eyvind Kang and Shahzad Ismaili), while the rocking, suprasensory surf band (with full orchestra) bloodies up the waters. John Merriman (Cephalic Carnage) and Unhuman keep the ultra-death metal grind band well within the pummel zone of utter mayhem."

ESTRADASPHERE: Passion For Life CD/DVD (WOM 015). $22.00

"The insatiable minions who make up the always-growing Estradasphere peanut gallery ought to be delighted by this live DVD-and-CD package, released on the heels of their Quadropus album and tour. Fans of this powerhouse unit of ultra-electicism will be treated to an inside look at how their favorite proponents of the 'aural collage' can just make it happen without the usual smoke and mirrors... Whaaaaaah? No laptops? No samplers? To those enamored with the recent, ahem, 'progress' made in those areas, good old-fashioned musicianship might seem a bit odd. But 'odd' hasn't ever been seen as a bad thing in Estradasphere-land." DVD: All Region, NTSC.

MIND HORIZON RECORDINGS (UK):

LISP: Flatspin CD (MHR 004 CD). $9.00

"Lisp, a five piece, are the sound of the dark side of London and 'Flatspin' is the first fruits of their 18 month recording 'burst' which resulted in the forthcoming album Cycles. The single is a high, holy piece of work featuring the powerful Scott Walker, Art Garfunkel stylings of vocalist Jonnie Gordon, and their sound is technologically on the cutting edge with a firm foundation in acoustic beauty."

LISP: Flatspin 12" (MHR 004 EP). $9.00

LISP: Long Way To Climb CD (MHR 005 CD). $9.00

"A million miles away from the reigning pop vacuity on the one end and the post rock indulgence on the other, Lisp exhibit a rare sense of conviction and emotional depth, which sounds like both the future and the past. Long Way To Climb portrays all the things which Lisp do best- a delicate beauty and sweeping epic scale, mesmeric rhythm and strange words. The single is backed with the extremely bizarre Visitor's remix of the track 'Let It Go'."

VA: Different Noise CD (MHR 008 CD). $18.00

"This is not a cut and paste compilation. Different Noise is the product of an independent record label actively seeking a need for something fresh, something new and something different. Mind Horizon have sought out and developed a collection of forward thinking music makers, setting a new accessible musical direction for the future. By placing tomorrow's hip hop artists with futuristic guitar bands, left field vocalists with breakbeat heads and avant garde musicians with commercial contenders, Mind Horizon reach out to a generation of people searching not for a next big thing, but rather for a fulfillment and renewed love and desire for music." Artists include: Shift, Stopcock, Echelon, L'Roneous, Kweku Aacht, Davidian, Lapwing, Covert, Lisp, Wisdom of Harry, Lazarus Vs Hijacker, Position Normal.

MINIFUNK (SPAIN):

GLORY B: Sunday Island 1 12"+10" (MFR 028). $15.00

"Minifunk industries presents Venna's premier electronic combo mr. Martin 'Tin' Retschitzegger & Mr. Michael 'Duke' Peter, a.k.a. Hi-Lo, Glory B, The Memory Foundation, The Skinless Brothers, Ratio, and Maybe and Her Boneless Sisters. Here they come with the first release of a series of three twelve inches full of deep dub techno and a 10" with two deep electro tracks. Some tracks are beautiful 4x4 deep tech-funk tracks, with those kinda dub staccato sounds and those building 'n' hypnotic structures Hi-Lo are known for. Some others have broken rhythm patterns, but still keeping those ever-building structures and that deep funk sound."

DJ DAB: Original Sound Tracks CD (MFR 031 CD). $16.00

"Dab. Who is DJ Dab? Once Dab jumped into the Minifunk's stable with his demo tape, crying out it was the work of his whole life. But it wasn't born yet He's the swindler musician who tried to cheat Minifunk's A&R. It wasn't necessary to do too much knocking before Dab started singing like a cabaret soprano. So he told: after gathering a huge and beautiful mountain of grass (from his neighbour's garden), Dab locked himself into his old Uncle Buddy's 80's discotheque. Dab had been driving himself crazy in that room for up to 18 months, only leaving twice: in order to change his burned Akai 3000 for a 5000+, and for getting some more pot from his desperate neighbor. He listened to and sampled and cut and re-cut all the old records he could before his brain hemorrhaged, and we must advise that they included some suck shitty recordings, like Catholic musical newreel soundtracks or Catalan rapped hip hop demo tapes from early 90's. The results of this serious self-attack to Dab's mental health is entitled Original Sound Tracks because nothing better came to his mind after this abuse. This record is so mad, it's so weird and fucked up that Minifunk had no option, no way out: this shit had to be released by Minifunk. And there is only one thing more that Minifunk could do to protect their Spanish way of life. Minifunk recommends: smoke and listen."

GROOF: I Want You 12" (MFR 034 EP). $9.00

GLORY B: Sunday Island CD (MFR 038 CD). $15.00

"After two vinyl releases, fulfilled with the best dub techno and hypnotic electro, here goes the CD release, embodying most of the tracks enclosed on the two previous double packs plus some unreleased ones. Tin & Duke (Hi-Lo), the combo of producers responsible for this Glory B project, are also responsible for the Berlin based labels Grow! and Central. Under a long list of names — The Memory Foundation, The Skinless Brothers, Ratio, Maybe and her Boneless Sister — they have released some of the most interesting pages of the European techno history of late 90's. They started their career in the Robert Hood's label M-Plant and the Dan Bell's 7th City before they started their own imprints. The sound of this album is somewhere between their beautiful deep dub techno (the original Glory B sound which we already enjoined in their two previous releases on Grow!) and this very unique and particular view of electro they've showed in some other project. A superb, perfect album of hypnotic deep techno, no matter which rhythm patterns do they use.

MINIMISE (IRELAND):

COSTELLO, DONNACHA: Color Series Blue 12" (MINIMISE 004EP). $9.00

"Start of the new Minimise series with two ultra-extended sides full of stoically reduced minimalism. An absolute highlight for 'concept' lovers."

COSTELLO, DONNACHA: Color Series: Green 12" (MINIMISE 005). $9.00

"Donnacha Costello's 'Color Series' continues with the release of Green. Green blends the tightness of the cologne sound with the echoes and reverbs that one has come to associate with Costello's sound. Green comes in two versions, the a-side is lighter but still energetic with more complex drum programming and a noticeable relation to Blue, the previous release in the series. The b-side is a strong, direct and ever building groove that just rolls and rolls, ideal on the dancefloor. Again, these tracks are produced with hardware machines and reject the micro/click/software trend, standing in relation to a more classic approach to techno production, which is clearly audible."

COSTELLO, DONNACHA: Color Series Rubine Red 12" (MINIMISE 006EP). $9.00

"Donnacha Costello's Colorseries continues with the release of 'Rubine Red', bringing a tight yet playful a-side and a hands in the air b-side. The a-side recalls Costello's debut album Growing Up In Public (Force Inc). The dub element is removed however and in it's place is the early sound of acid house, 303 mixing with 101, trapped in Costello's tight and formalized grid. The b-side maintains links to the a-side but takes the acid reference further, blending Chicago with the early Sheffield bleep sound and the early 90s UK sound with it's repetitive chord hook. Overall, another strong record of trend bucking hardware music."

COSTELLO, DONNACHA: Color Series Grape 12" (MINIMISE 007EP). $9.00

"Donnacha Costello's Colorseries continues with the release of Grape. Taking a more relaxed and altogether European look at the American midwest acid sound of the early 90's, Costello explores this territory while stamping it with his own individual style. The a-side presents a solid, sophisticated groove, with clever interaction of elements over a hissy 303 pattern which remains insistent but buried, almost unseen at the heart of the track. The b-side brings the 303 to the front as the track builds steadily until it achieves meltdown."

Overall, an energetic yet tasteful record."

COSTELLO, DONNACHA: Color Series Pistachio 12" (MINIMISE 008EP). $9.00

"Donnacha's Colorseries continues, going deeper into his own unique blend of classic acid house, UK bleep and a contemporary minimalist attitude. Donnacha rejects current trends in techno/house, attempting instead to return to the feelings and sounds that switched him on to this music in the first place. Subtle 303 lines are blended with deep bass and 707/909 percussion in driving arrangements. Picture 200 people at a small basement party at a time when bpm never rose over 130, groove and intensity ruled and people lost themselves and their inhibitions to acid and bleep. The Color series simultaneously belongs to this time and our own."

COSTELLO, DONNACHA: Color Series Orange 12" (MINIMISE 009EP). $9.00

"Donnacha shows no sign of slowing down as the Colorseries continues. Listening to the aside of Colorseries Orange, with it's nod to Warp's Artificial Intelligence sound and warm string sounds, one can almost feel the heat on one's back as the summer sun rises above a field in middle England and things start to mellow out. Inside, people continue to party to the b-side. Strings, bleeps, hissy 303 and a bassline deeper than the grand canyon all lock together like one insistent machine pounding forwards, shaking the ground as it goes. Sheer bliss."

COSTELLO, DONNACHA: Infinite Now 12" (MINIMISE 016EP). $9.00

"It's as if clickhouse and the computer revolution had never happened, while the rest were hacking, one man kept on jacking. Sometimes one has to take a step backwards to move forwards. For some time now, Donnacha Costello has been offering an alternative to the palpable entropy of the click, the glitch and the tricky, skippy, flippy rhythms all too common at present. So far, this is the closest he has come to a mission statement, urging us to remember the past and try to imagine an alternative future. With its sublime melody, classic synths and big strings, 'Infinite Now' (Leeds warehouse mix) is a joyful celebration, a wide open, sublime composition, a manufactured memory of a moment on a huge dancefloor when you just couldn't smile any harder. Flip to the b for 'Into Tomorrow' and you can almost feel the heat and smell the sweat of an old school basement party in full swing. This record was too big to be confined to the colorseries and has it's own message to spread, hence its own release outside of the series. Soon to be joined by more extra-series releases. Of course, the title is a reference to the classic 'Ifo' (Leeds warehouse mix) and the spirit of that record and of that time."

MINISTRY OF SOUND:

VA: This is Tech-Pop — 21st Century Electro & New Wave CD (MOSUS 5007 CD). $17.00

"What is tech-pop? This is Tech-Pop - 21st Century Electro and New Wave is a seminal greatest hits collection for a revolutionary new sound! Featuring Fischerspooner, Soviet, Green Velvet, Felix Da Housecat, and many others — this is one essential collection! Tech-Pop, a hybrid of Techno, Rock, Electronica, House and Pop, is already creating a commotion big enough to have indie shops buzzing about it and clubs around the world playing it exclusively." Artists include: Fischerspooner, Console, Zoot Woman, Tiga & Zynthierus, Soviet, Circ, Green Velvet, Waldorf, Tomcat, Swayzak, Yellow Note vs. Pukka, Golden Boy, Felix Da Housecat, Crossover, FC Kahuna, Selway, Ladytron, Tok Tok vs. Soffy O, Mirwais, FPU.

MINMAX RECORDS:

WOLD, ERLING: A Little Girl Dreams Of Taking The Veil CD (MINMAX 012). $13.00

"One of the San Francisco Bay Area's most dynamic composers, Erling Wold has been hailed as 'the Eric Satie of Berkeley surrealist/minimalist electro-artrock' by the Village Voice. This chamber opera is based on a Max Ernst 1930s surrealist collage novel, which explores the non-rational but very real world of religious ecstasy and erotic desire. Featuring Bay Area conductor Deirdre McClure and a seven-piece ensemble of flute, clarinet, horn, percussion, piano, viola and cello."

MINUS (CANADA):

HAWTIN, RICHIE: Concept I 96:CD CD (CONCEPT 1). $14.00

Debut release on Richie Hawtin (Plastikman)'s new label (replacing the now defunct Plus 87). A CD extract of Hawtin's 1996 monthly 12" series, known as Concept I. Those original 12"s are long gone by now, but featured some of Hawtin's most ultra minimal moments. Perfect, electronic patternization, finally issued on the home listener's format of choice. "This compilation is a reflection of the body of work within those 12 months of development. Only listeners who collected the project during the time of release will be able to see the full picture of Concept I. 96:CD contains one bonus track in addition to previously unreleased movements from the original sessions. This compilation is a continuous mix by Ritchie Hawtin."

HAWTIN/PETE NAMLOOK, RICHIE: From Within I CD (FW 01). $13.50

Reissues of these collaborations; the first 3 volumes of which were originally issued by the Fax label. "The fusion of electronic masters Richie Hawtin and Pete Namlook has set its own course of time and tone. Three chapters of musical departure and introspection have made these three albums some of the most sought after ambient recordings of the last decade. Elements of classical, jazz, atmospheric and world rhythms are all present, brought together by analog and digital synthesis. Hawtin and Namlook are currently planning the fourth and final installment."

HAWTIN/PETE NAMLOOK, RICHIE: From Within III CD (FW 03). $13.50

Third volume is this collaborative series, originally released by the Fax label in 1997; as the original CD length was 54.25 and this one is 78.38, it looks like some bonus material has been added. From the Fax web site about the original release: "It has taken nearly 2 years to get these two composers together again. Richie wanted to wait until the new studio (4 times the size of Klanglabor Frankfurt) was ready for recording. After successful testing with The Dark Side of the Moog VI it was time to refine the studio and to use even more of its features. The compositions have been created in the way the AIR recordings of Peter were done. Different parts... all in one take... instead of being compiled later. With this technique all the parts lead perfectly into each other and seem to be all an organic progression of one gentle entity. As this music is another step in Electronic Fusion Music the different styles of Ambient, Jazz, Environmental and Intelligent Electronic music have been combined to what we call 'Silent Intelligence'."

THEOREM: THX: Experiments In Synchronicity CD (MINUS 10 CD). $13.50

Theorem vs. Sutekh, Stewart Walker & Swayzak. "Experiments in Synchronicity" compiles Theorem's THX series of net-based collaborations with like-minded producers of the minimal tech-house massive. Originally released as a collection of 12-inch singles during 2000-2001, the THX project was an experiment borne of technology. With the use of phone Lines, CDRs and FTP uploads, Detroit's Theorem (a.k.a. Dale Lawrence) provided source materials and Swayzak, Stewart Walker and Sutekh tweaked, layered, arranged and produced the end result. In the case of Swayzak and Walker, new ideas were bounced back to Detroit where Lawrence took over production duties, culminating in even more tracks. While trading (c)licks back-and-forth, Theorem and friends grafted new technotic hybrids rather than simply remixing each other's work. The end result is a fantastic display of risk and restraint. While straddling the line between minimal dub/techno and micro-house, all four collaborators push and pull, allowing each other's fingerprints to firmly embed themselves in the mix."

NIEDERFLUR: ND4 CD (MINUS 11 CD). $13.50

"The Cologne U-Bahn is a 30-track, 100-mile labyrinth that snakes itself through the city and over the Rhine, consuming every neighborhood in its path. The only vehicle capable of traversing its corridors is the low-floor tram or Niederflur. ND4 collects Niederflur's examinations of the depths of this subway system as they sample its natural acoustics, machine manifestations and other sounds indigenous to the platforms of the Teutonic underworld. The duo of Hannes Wenner and Christopher Bleckmann compose human-like, emotive passages from stark field recordings of the U-Bahn while embracing their city's mechanical current. Niederflur rides the rails of rhythm and repetition to a Zen-like, hypnotic effect. Their obsession with movement, precision and efficiency reaches a new height in minimal docu-techno."

BERICOCHEA, I.A.: A 12" (MINUS 14). $6.50

"Tapping warmth from his lifeless machines, the sincere introduction of A delivers Ignacio Bericochea's debut release. Interestingly, Bericochea didn't really attack electronic music until recently. It wasn't long after that Ignacio dropped out of the Physics program at the University of Madrid, bought a computer and began composing his own tiny symphonies in the digital realm. Now he takes his influence from John Coltrane, minimalist composer Erik Satie and Tango king Osvaldo Pugliese, adding to the already complex arrangements of his first release for Minus."

BERICOCHEA, I.A.: Rojo LP (MINUS 15). $6.50

4 track 12" version.

BERICOCHEA, I.A.: Rojo CD (MINUS 15 CD). $13.50

"With Rojo (the color red in espanol), his Minus debut, Bericochea gives lifeless machines a sense of humanity, injecting character and warmth into the coolest depths of their binary makeup. Interestingly, Bericochea didn't really attack electronic music until recently. In 1999 a friend turned him onto Richie Hawtin's Concept series and he was immediately taken with its use of intense bass and stereo effects. It wasn't long after that Bericochea dropped out of the Physics program at the University of Madrid, bought a computer and began composing his own tiny symphonies in the digital realm. Now he takes his influence from John Coltrane, minimalist composer Erik Satie and Tango king Osvaldo Pugliese, adding to the already complex arrangements of his first release for Minus. While Rojo may be an allusion to Pugliese (his orchestra always left a red carnation on his piano during his blacklisted absence), Bericochea contends that the color refers to the heart and living emotions, those things that deliver far more feeling than any circuit ever could."

ALGORITMO: Indus EP 12" (MINUS 16). $6.50

"New project on Minus from Brooklyn's Algoritmo, aka Ilana Ospina and GoodandEvil. When Ospina moved to New York City to continue DJing and begin producing her own tracks she was introduced to GoodandEvil by a mutual friend, Felix da Housecat. The vibe was instant and the two began producing tracks as Algoritmo almost immediately. Both Ospina and GoodandEvil continue to work in other realms of the NYC art scene. Ospina is the co-founder of Soniccontinuum, an artist collective with a vision based in the futuristic philosophies of Alvin Toffler and intent on delivering audio and visual art in the digital realm. GoodandEvil has recently recorded with Northern State for Sony. In addition, he has two collaborations in the pipeline for the Thirsty Ear label, first with avant pianist extraordinaire Matthew Shipp and the second with a group of Cuban musicians."

PLASTIKMAN: I Don't Know 12" (MINUS 19). $6.50

"Minus is releasing a one-sided special edition 12" single of 'I Don't Know', from the album Closer. This track is one of few that did not appear on the original album vinyl edition, found only here as a Minus world exclusive." With etched b-sided.

PLASTIKMAN: PK 12" (MINUS 2). $6.50

"PK was recorded during Hawtin's Consumed sessions, taking a dark journey down the sparse and spatial path that gave his Plastikman album Consumed such critical acclaim. Produced along a similar axis, PK stretches out to the dancefloor in a beat heavy acidic taste more keen to the likes of his Sickness angle."

RUN STOP RESTORE: Geometry 12" (MINUS 20). $6.50

"At a time when national borders are under scrutiny and politics make the loudest noise, Run Stop Restore is in an advantageous position. The duo actually holds dual citizenship. The studio-strong Marc Houle resides in Windsor, Ontario, Canada while Troy Pierce — the DJ of the group and recent Berlin transplant — spent the last few years in Brooklyn, NY. Nonetheless, like happy accidents, creativity is born out of chance meetings, even in Windsor. Their introduction was by a mutual friend (and third member of Run Stop Restore) — now the Berlin-based Magda. Even with the help of technology, living in different cities meant their work took time to come into shape and form. Houle, the analog mastermind, delivered dozens of tracks to Pierce, who then edited, chopped, enhanced, and boiled them down to a select few, putting a more current flair on the production. That's when things really started to get. Musically speaking it's the past more so than the present that has influenced them. Kraftwerk, Human League, Berlin, Bauhaus, and some Baby Ford — it's in there."

FALSE: Sink the Ship 12" (MINUS 21). $6.50

"False — one of the alter egos of Detroit's Matthew Dear, returns to his Canadian stable for a new romp of minimal techno. It seems that even in the view of critical success and a 2003 full of top-notch releases Dear shows no signs of slowing down. 'Sink The Ship' brings his now-established sound and production know-how forward, delivering four brand new tracks of minimal groovy digital funk."

DJ MINX: A Walk in the Park 12" (MINUS 22). $6.50

...with remixes by Matthew Dear & Magda. "Some background...Minx was a key component of the legendary 'Deep Space Radio' weekly program on Detroit's WGPR 107.5 FM. This radio show was headed by the innovators of techno music: 'Magic' Juan Atkins, Kevin Saunderson, Eddie Fowlkes, and Derrick May. Currently she can be heard on the weekly 'Rhythm Gallery,' an afternoon mix show that she co-hosts with Jerry the Cat on CIAM-FM. In December 1996, Minx gave birth to Women on Wax, a collective of lady DJs from the Detroit area that held frequent events to support up-and-coming female talent."

JONSON, MATHEW: Decompression EP 12" (MINUS 24). $6.50

"The irresistible force of 'Decompression' and lofty pulse of 'Ultraviolet Dream' are crafted by Latin-infused rhythms sheared by gripping basslines and synths that swell. Jonson's productions are somewhere in between cosmic house and minimal techno with influences of jazz, fusion and analog electronic music of decades past. His live shows deliver a refreshing force against a stark laptop set, with Jonson pushing live analog boards, drum machines and effects to the edge, programming, tweaking and reworking his tracks on the fly."

PLASTIKMAN: Artifakts (BC) 2LP (MINUS 3 LP). $13.00

"The last installment of the trilogy of albums started with Sheet One and Musik. Artifakts (BC) is material recorded after Musik and (B)efore (Consumed). With attention to and from the dancefloor, this album delivers classic Plastikman fervor." CD will be on Mute and not carried by us.

HAWTIN, RICHIE: Decks, EFX & 909 12" (MINUS 4). $6.50

A 12" of selected excerpts from the new Hawtin CD-only mix album, Decks, EFX & 909. Artists included in this 17-minute selection are: Grain, Santos Rodriguez, Richard Harvey, Richie Hawtin, Nitzer Ebb, Heiko Laux, Baby Ford & Eon, Savvas Tsatis and Stewart S. Walker.

ROBOTMAN/FUSE: Hypnofreak/INT 12" (MINUS 7). $6.50

Split release between Minus and Plus 8. "The acid?house classic Robotman project resurfaces with a 2001 tune-up by old school believer Steve Bug, known for his Poker Flat releases out of Berlin. 'Hypnofreak' was originally released in 1993 on Definitive by Robotman, a secret alias of Richie Hawtin, well known by the single 'Do Da Doo' which also boasted a Plastikman remix shortly after the original. Steve's version brings up the bass and pulls out the catchy pulse of a melody while adding his own trademark tones. Richie Hawtin pulls one out of the acetate archives reminding us of his Fuse identity from the early-mid 90's. 'NT' was a Detroit-play-only acetate which Rich pulled out for special occasions when DJing his now legendary JAK events in Detroit. It ties in the spatial effects that branched his Fuse sound into Plastikman while sticking the dancefloor with a haunting bassline and drum programming that is impossible to ignore."

HAWTIN, RICHIE: DE9/Closer To The Edit/Parts 2LP (MINUS 8). $13.00

"Minus proudly presents DE9/closer to the edit/parts, compiling 120 different single bar loops (lockgrooves) that Richie created in the studio to assemble his full length CD release of the same title. The project began with over 70 different tracks from some of the world's cutting edge producers and labels, ending up into over 300 loops that Richie then constructed into a 53 minute ride of rhythm and sound. Featuring loops from 2 Dollar Egg, Antiga Prime, Basic Channel, Soul Capsule Productions, Baby Ford & Zip, Blue Train, Carl Craig, Crane A.K., Mike Shannon, David Wulle, Echoplex, Richie Hawtin, Don Disco & Jeremiah, Baby Ford & the Ifach Collective, Decomposed Subsonic, Thomas Brinkmann, M-Core, T.A.C., Blue Train vs Dean De Costa, Narcotic Syntax, MD Jr., Rumenige, Peter F. Spiess, Pantytec, Paperclip People, Philippe Cam, Bodo Elsel, Rework, Plastikman, Rino Cerrone, Roman Flugel, Rhythm & Sound, Sergej Auto, Sikora, Mike Ink, Sutekh, Stewart Walker, Theorem, Jacek Sienkiewicz, Process, and Ricardo Villalobos." [CD version is on Mute]

HAWTIN, RICHIE: DE9/Closer To The (R)Edit 10" (MINUS 8E). $6.50

"For Closer to the (r)edit Richie Hawtin takes elements from the album and further reworks them into a DJ friendly ten inch, featuring pieces from his own previously unreleased track Freek and the Rhythm & Sound classic Range amongst others."

HAWTIN + STEVE BUG, RICHIE: Low Blow 12" (MINUS 9). $6.50

"No strangers to producing and performing a hybrid mix of 'call it what you want' top-notch electronic music, these two deliver up a new collaboration that brings it all together for a dark and cloudy dancefloor with Low Blow. Recorded at Hawtin's studio in winter 2002, Low Blow delves DEEP into a hard house groove backed with a gripping and edgy bassline. Precise rhythms meld into the beat and bass as the occasional weirdness creeps in unexpectedly. Styles of each of their monikers (Plastikman, Steve Bug) can be slightly detected, but something new has developed here that is sure to please."

NIEDERFLUR: Zollstock 12" (MINUS NDS). $6.50

"Number 3 of the Niederflur project from Cologne's Hannes Wenner and Christopher Klos returns, revisiting the land of low-end frequencies. Amongst the familiar throbbing bass, a gentle tick and voice resounds throughout their subway-inspired/sampled soundtrack. Barbarossaplatz is the next stop."

HAWTIN, RICHIE: Orange 12" (MINUS ORNG). $6.50

"Richie Hawtin returns with a dancefloor inspired EP from the deejay's point of view." A deconstruction/tribute to Yellow's track "Oh Yeah". Written by B. Blank, D. Meier, R. Hawtin. Construction and reduction by R. Hawtin.

THEOREM: Ion CD (TH 5). $13.50

"Ion is a compilation of the TH Series from Detroit's Dale Lawrence (aka Theorem), featuring the singles 'Shift', 'Embed', 'Cinder' & 'Fallout', all for the first time on CD. The album compliments a spectrum of melodic and muddy elements in both dancefloor and atmospheric avenues. Ion is Theorem's first full length since his 1996 debut Nano (Plus 8)." Totally classic minimal pulse inspiration, in a league with Hawtin's Consumed-era efforts and contemporary German production.

THEOREM VS. SUTEKH: 12" (THX 5). $6.50

"After a year of silence, the return of the Theorem rings in with a friendship-turn-project with San Francisco's Sutekh. Marking another chapter in tech house expertise, these two leaders of the genre slam samples and moods into one EP, featuring the tracks CANIS (B1) and Mitochondrio (A2). THX5 showcases the range of both producers/performers, thinking and composing for both the head and the dancefloor in unison. Now that a 'minimal sensibility' has crept into so many styles of dance music, it's the addition of emotion and a soulful style that shines in the work of both Theorem and Sutekh."

MIO RECORDS (ISRAEL):

MAGICAL POWER MAKO: Hapmoniyum 5CD BOX (MIO 001). $120.00

First release on this Israel-based label that plans to "reissue RIO, psych, avant-guard and progressive masterpieces mainly recorded in the 60's and 70's." Magical Power Mako is the Japanese underground legend who made a batch of amazingly dusted psych LPs for the Japanese Polydor label in the 70s, sometimes referred to in terms of "the Japanese Faust". His first 2 records in particular, the Magical Power debut from 1973 & Super Record from 1975 are as good as it gets. This box reissues the first 5 volumes of the proposed 15 volume Hapmoniyum series that Mako recorded in the early 70s (the Japanese Mom'n'Dad label originally issued these 5 volumes in 1993 as individual CDs; they are still working on getting around to volumes 6-15). The box is in an edition of 500 numbered copies. Five slim-line jewel case CDs packed in a heavy-duty and gorgeous feeling box; with booklet of liner notes (English and Japanese language), photos. Extremely well done overall. "The 5 CD's set named Hapmoniyum was created between 1972 and 1975 in Mako's private studio, while he was working on his second album, Super Record. Hapmoniyum is Mako's best piece recorded in these years. It's composed of a few magnificent ideas and sounds and recorded in a very free atmosphere with friends and colleague musicians. The music Hapmoniyum is offering consists of progressive rock, psychedelic, avant-garde & experimental sounds. Hapmoniyum box set number one is the first part of a trilogy of pure experiments that has mostly never been published. The 5 CDs contained in this box were released in a very limited edition in 1993, then becoming unavailable. This new re-sale edition of Hapmoniyum is printed as set number one, planned to be followed by two additional boxes: number Two and Three. Each set will include five CD's. Set number one is composed of parts one to five. Each part is included in one CD with one long piece edited by Mako himself, sound engineered by Naohiro Ukawa. We are very proud and pleased to release this masterpiece in MIO records."

BEGNAGRAD: Begnagrad CD (MIO 006). $15.00

"Begnagrad was a group from the former Yugoslavia that released their only album in 1983. Considered one of the best albums to come out of eastern Europe, this reissue includes several live bonus tracks and a 20+ minute MPEG video of the group in concert in the early '80s that's never been seen; the record has also been meticulously remastered and sounds phenomenal. RIO-influences, Balkan folk, and electric rock combine with humor & sadness in wild compositions that are completely unique. Accordion, melodica, keyboards, clarinet, sagra, baritone sax, ocarina, whistling, voice, bass, mandolin, screaming, drums, violin, conga, percussion, tiny instruments, and guitar."

KRAUSE, SCHMUEL: A Criminal Record CD (MIO 007). $16.00

"A slab of rock/psych/garage/improvisation, a lost monster from 1970. A well-known singer in Israel, Krause resided for several years in an asylum. He recorded many of Israel's classic popular songs, beginning with the Ofarim Trio and later High Windows (in 1967), Israel's best-known folk-rock band, that released Israel's first pop record. His Cape of the Big Hope was released in 1969, with musicians who appear on Danny Ben Israel's Bullshit 3 1/4 (MIO Records). In 1970, some problems with the law landed him in jail. He managed to get his guitar, and composed the songs for A Criminal Record. On a 48-hour furlough, he sped to record these tunes with session musicians; this hurried recording session gives the album a 'live' feel. Only 300 copies of A Criminal Record were distributed. It has become the most sought-after album ever made in Israel, an unavailable gem for collectors all over the world. 40 minutes. No bonus tracks were recorded, and no pictures of the sessions exist. Krause continues to write and record."

BESOMBES, PHILIPPE: Libra CD (MIO 008). $15.00

"A chemist by training, Philippe Besombes was engaged in the French avant-garde music scene from the early 1970s. Abandoning his doctoral degree for his groundbreaking work with new electronics in a variety of musical contexts, he supported himself through the seventies creating and composing the sounds for theater and ballet. Besombes was also well-known as an audio engineer in the French contemporary concert scene. Perhaps best known for his group Hydravion, Besombes still records and releases music at his studio in Versailles. Conceived as the soundtrack (and, in fact, the ONLY sound in the movie) for the avant-garde film Libra, the music on this 1973 album ranges in style from electronic pop mixed with music concrete ala Parmegiani/Henry to psychedelic exercises, progressive rock, sitar raga, and fusion. By including a mix of rock musicians and electronic treatments, Besombes was a pioneer in a very new way of working. Bonus tracks will include three cuts from the Libra sessions that have never been released, and a lengthy, experimental minimalist prepared-piano composition will also be included. From the Nurse With Wound list. Libra is the first in a trilogy of Besombes's albums MIO will release."

FLAMEN DIALIS: Symptome-Dei CD (MIO 014). $15.00

"After releasing a 45 in England in 1971 as the Yecta Plus Band (a trio, with guitars, vocals, and keyboards) Didier Le Gallic formed Flamen Dials in 1976. They recorded a 7" that was released in 1978. The basic components for their following masterpiece are evident on this short release. For their 1979 LP Symptome Dei, a number of players, vocalists, and instruments were added, and the band's sound became much richer and dense. The music developed an otherworldly atmosphere combined with child-like melodies composed around sequences of unearthly themes and solemn chanting, whispers, and injections of flute, bombarde (a twin-reed precursor of the oboe) and vibraphone to weave a sound that is both disquieting and dreamy. Yet with the next breath, the atmosphere can turn both heavy and strangely familiar. Layers of Mellotron and airy keyboard sonorities further underscore the music's dramatic tensions. Elements of this recording call to mind Franco Battiato's Fetus and Pollution and the vocal exercises share similarities with the French group Magma, although Flamen Dials are certainly unique for their impressionist cosmic music and a powerful dramatic intensity. Completely unavailable for decades, this reissue includes the group's first 45 as bonus tracks. These two releases represent the group's entire body of work."

BEN-ISRAEL, DANNY: Bullshit 3.1/4 CD (MIO 016). $15.00

"Very little is known about Danny Ben-Israel, as his career never really took off in Israel and he left the country in the early 70's. By 1969 Ben Israel met the 'Israeli Jimi Hendrix', an aspiring young guitar virtuoso called Shlomo Mizrahi who led a power trio called Ha'Bama Ha'Hashmalit (The electric Stage). Mizrahi inspired Ben-Israel and together they recorded a Psychedelic masterpiece of an album Bullshit 3.1/4 which was released on small and unknown label. This is revolutionary ground breaking album which since his release in 1970 until this very day is largely unknown, however the few people who know this gem consider it to be one of the greatest Psych albums of all times and original vinyl copies of this album change hands for hundreds of dollars these days. The music itself mixes psych and avant-garde, full of fuzzed out and distorted guitars, studio effects, tape loops, tone generators etc. Ben-Israel sings, a scream, murmurs, whispers and moans throughout all of the tracks, he sings as if his life was depended on it and manages to convince he is sincere. His vocals are often doubled and used as an instrument like Tim Buckley, Alan, Sorrenti, Robert Wyatt and Peter Hammill, but in a totally twisted manner. The whole album sounds like a big acid trip, sometimes nightmarish, sometimes more optimistic. Mizrahi's guitar playing is fantastic and very inventive and loaded with fuzz and distortion effects. But what is most amazing about this album is the amount of fresh ideas and innovation reflected in the production of this album. Ben-Israel is rumored to spend countless hours in the studio polishing every sound and experimenting with every knob on the mixing desk, the result is sometimes very spacey or very heavy almost industrial sounding. One of the most important Israeli (and psych) albums ever, most psych fans know the Churchill's which is a great band, all I can say is that Ben-Israel's album surpassed them and it should be discovered by other people as well, it deserves it. A psychedelic Monster LP which can compete easily with the likes of: White Noise, 50 Foot Hose, The Churchill's, Spoils Of War."

KYRIE ELEISON: The Complete Kyrie Eleison Box Set 3CD (MIO 017/9). $48.00

"Kyrie Eleison is an Austrian band that existed between 1974 to 1979 and then turned to become Indigo. The music Kyrie Eleison seemed to be most inspired by is Trespass, Nursery Crime and Foxtrot and those records represents in my opinion the best period of Genesis. The 3CD boxed set includes the band's known album The Fountain Beyond the Sunrise from 1977, including a studio demo recording track from 1978, another album that was released only on CD in 1994 called The Blind Windows Suite, which includes the band's initial demo sessions (1974-1975) recordings, and a third CD containing a live show in Vienna from 1975 which includes even more unreleased material. Also, the box set includes a prestige 36-page booklet. The music of Kyrie Eleison is categorised as symphonic prog where classical influences are strong. The band opened for bands like Van Der Graaf, Amon Düül, Eela Craig, Colosseum etc. They toured several times through Austria with their concept of a 'Symphonic Rock Theater'. Mainly the long concept stories of the Fountain recordings are very strong with Genesis influence, not at least caused by the very P. Gabriel-similar sounding voice of the singer and Banks-like keyboards."

ATMOSPHERA: The Lady Of Shalott 2CD (MIO 020/1). $22.00

"A progressive rock band from Israel, Music recorded 1977. Legendary Unknown Yes-like long pieces. CD #2 features also VCD tracks along with 80's works which are more experimental and some radio performances by the band."

DECIBEL: Fiat Laux (Complete Recordings 1977-2000) 3CD (MIO 022/4). $50.00

"A Chamber/Experimental/RIO & Progressive rock band from Mexico. The band started in 1974 as a trio and then they became a sextet. The band were influenced by European acts like Magma, Faust, Henry Cow and also by Avant-Garde composers like Pierre Henry, Kagel, Stockhausen. In 1978 they recorded their masterpiece 'El Poeta Del Ruido' which is considered by many as a Masterpiece. They evolved then into Nazca and only in the 90's formed back. The box set features a 28 pages booklet in a thick carton box with three CD's (Each more than 74 minutes). CD #1 is made from the 70's and featured for the 1st time the complete unedited 'El Poeta Del Ruido', Unreleased UNAM sessions which one of them was on the ReR sampler and never on CD plus the 1st RIO Festival live performance. CD #2 features the 90's material including the bands favorite improvised album Furtuna Virilis and other unreleased material. CD #3 is a new live performance of new material never on CD and with great interest plus 30 minutes if Archives from the 1977-1978."

COHEN-SOLAL, JEAN: Flute Libres & Captain Tarthopom CD (MIO 025). $17.00

"Jean Cohen Solal is a professional musician which majors are the Flute & Double Bass. In 1971, Jean released his first solo album Flute Libres and in 1973 Captain Tarthopom. Those two albums are considered as masterpieces among Progressive Rock collectors all over the world. The first album is build from three short compositions in side A which are really interesting and catchy in a way. Those includes great Bass lines and Hammond organ riffs while Jean is blowing the flute apart. The album includes also an Indian Raga (Sitar/Tabla & Flute) which is really one of the most exciting meetings between East & West cultures. Side B of this album is a 17 minutes epic which is pure research of sounds where Jean is experimenting in a way which sounds like early Tangerine Dream & Ash Ra Temple only not as electronic. Jean had it's own style with the flute which was a mix between classical and Jazz to Avant-Garde. His method consists among others the use of multiple tracks for different flutes and also the added value of effects like distortion/wha wha etc.... He also played the double bass in a very unique way which took his music into more dark territories. Captain Tarthopom, his most sought after LP was released in 1973. If we need to describe it in short then the best would be to say that this album is like a mix between Pink Floyd (Ummagumma era), Magma & Focus (Or J.Tull). This was wrapped with great sense of humor and a massive production with fantastic guest musicians. Jean Cohen-Solal is a name which you can find in the famous Nurse With Wound list and it fits their as best as possible."

BIRGE GORGE SHIROC: *Defense De CD/DVD (MIO 026/7). $30.00

2 discs, one CD, one DVD. First ever reissue of this cult album from 1975, on the famous Nurse With Wound list! "Jean-Jacques Birge and Francis Gorge began to play together in 1970 and produced the first rock concert of their high school, at Lycée Claude Bernard in Paris. Gorge was composing the music and playing the guitar, Birge was writing the words and singing."

Defense de was their first album, before founding Un Drame Musical Instantané, in 1976, with Bernard Vitet. Two bonus tracks were intended to be index 2 and 4 before Birge and Gorge met Shiroc a few weeks later. These two tracks were replaced with new tracks recorded with Shiroc and so they were forgotten until today.

The four initial pieces were recorded in the family apartment of Sébastien Bernard, a free jazz producer, where his father kept a lot of beautiful instruments (a pipe organ, an electric piano, a xylophone, a cello, etc.) and a 8-track tape recorder. Antoine Duvernet, another schoolmate who was playing with Urban Sax at that time, passed by on a sunny afternoon and added the tenor sax parts. The two new pieces with Shiroc and Bucchi were recorded live in studio four months later. During the following year, Birge and Gorge played a lot of concerts as a trio with Shiroc, and sometimes as a quartet with Gilles Rollet (also on percussion). All their repertoire was recorded and it will be included on the DVD as 'June Sessions' (Over 6 hours of music). Over the years, the LP Defense de became a cult object people would buy a fortune, as well as appearing on the Nurse With Wound famous holly recordings list. So we are very pleased to have it finally available as a CD, specially with the four previously un-issued bonus tracks which were discovered recently in the Drame's archives. The band took it from this point to become Un Drame Musical Instantané. Un D.M.I (in short) who is considered to be one of the top avant-garde / experimental acts ever to emerge from France and the entire world as well.

The audio CD will include the complete Defense De LP plus 4 bonus tracks (approx 80 minutes of music in total). The DVD will include the experimental movie La Nuit Du Phoque made by Jean-Jacques Birge and Bernard Mollaret in 1974. The movie is a mix between avant-garde French movie and experimental ambience which takes the viewer back in time to 1974. The second part of the DVD will include 'June Sessions' which are very long pieces made by the trio (or quartet at times). Total of about 7 hours of music and 40 minutes movie in a double CD & DVD set."

MR. TOAD: Trench Art CD (MIO 028). $17.00

"The Israeli band Mr. Toad was formed by Maor Arbitman and Shimry Mesica in 1998. The band started its way named 'Katross'. All the musicians are mostly classical trained. The lyrics written in English while the music was characterized as British folk-rock reminding of Nick Drake, Gryphon, After Crying and Fairport Convention. The band decided to try and combine baroque reminiscence along with the original material. For that matter Dana Eizen, a baroque flute player came along. With Dana's arrival and her McDonalds like flute playing, the group established it's music as progressive rock in the early King Crimson spirit. The music material was rearranged and the band started recording it's debut album. The musical substance in the album Trench Art included along with the progressive basis classical music and jazz influences. The best references to compare the band are: Early King Crimson, Celeste, Lalo Schiffrin, Gryphon, After Crying but Mr.Toad is not a clone but truly unique."

MOSAIC: Ultimatum CD (MIO 029). $15.00

"A lost jewel in the crown of the French underground. Mosaic made this, their only album, in 1978. You'll hear similarities to Zeuhl bands, Hatfield and the North, King Crimson, National Health. The music is mostly instrumental fusion/progressive performed on acoustic and electric guitars, synths, cello, double bass, electric bass, keyboards, drums and percussion. This reissue includes their 1977 demo tape Cuvée 77 and two additional bonus tracks."

PLATINA, THE: The Girl with the Flaxen Hair CD (MIO 030). $15.00

"A popular jazz group (think Perigeo, Dedalus, Wolfgang Dauner, ECM) who's members were Israel's biggest names in jazz, The Girl with the Flaxen Hair (1976) was The Platina's third album (recorded two years after their Newport Jazz Festival appearance). Unreleased until now, this 78-minute disk has the original mix-downs from the master tapes, live versions of the lost masters, and additional bonus tracks. Their best effort, the CD was released for a memorial concert for wind player & leader Roman Kunsman (1941-2002). Energetic, well-played, yet pastoral fusion. With their pianos (Fender Rhodes & acoustic), flute and wordless female vocals, Platina sound most like the mid-70's work of Hubert Laws on CTI. Fans of Kornet, Finnforest and Camel should like this."

MISC:

COMUS: First Utterance LP (COMUS LP). $10.00

Fairly lame b&w no-label boot reissue of this British '71 acid-folk piece. We have a couple of copies for whatever reason, sorry.

DOC WOR MIRRAN: Gravy Slam LP (EMPTY 134). $10.00
1991 LP.

MISPLACED MUSIC (UK):

HOOD: Singles Compiled 2CD (MM 101CD). $16.00

"68 tracks/101.35 minutes. A long overdue retreat through the profusion of long gone singles issued by Hood between 1995 and 1998. Containing records that originally came out on labels like Earworm, 555, Love Train, Happy Go Lucky, Orgasm and Rocket Racer, this limited double CD compilation also boasts 15 unreleased tracks and an 8 page colour booklet with liner notes from the band. The music here shows Hood's songwriting veering wildly between lo-fi pop gems, avant noise, electro/acoustic experiments and the drawn out majestic post rock that preceded last years universally well received Cold House album."

HOOD: Compilations 1995-2002 CD (MM 102CD). $15.00

"20 tracks/ 66 minutes. Released concurrently with Singles Compiled, Compilations 1995-2002 is a round up of rare and impossible to find tracks issued on compilations and split singles. This really is a treasure trove of lost classics covering all eras of the bands development from the scratchy lo-fi beginnings to the more recent genre-disregarding highly acclaimed work on Domino. Hood remain one of the UK's most interesting and isolationist bands forging a fascinating if willfully idiosyncratic career path."

MISTER BONGO (UK):

ARAKATUBA: Brazilian Explosion CD (MRB CD006). $20.00

"Essentially an album-project by this Brazilian percussion group that combines traditional batucada instrumentation with club fare programmed by outside producers. So it's more like a remix of a record that never came out...I suppose. Skint-label darlings The Ballistic Brothers forgo their normal arena-big-beat posturings to deliver a nicely styled tweak of the original 24-track parts. Pork label mainstays Fila Brasilia main the original audio a bit to produce a rather hazy anthem caned to birth a 'a drug-induced delirium state.' Great. Other third-party acts include Faze Action and 'weird-house exponent' Box Saga. A bit 'mersh perhaps... But nonetheless an authentic foray into pan-cultural experimentalism (it's everything these days...). Crowd-Pleasing." — Hrvatski. Limited stock.

MISTER E:

GILES, GILES AND FRIPP: Brondesbury Tapes (1968) CD (MRE 001CD). $14.00

"Important document of the origins of King Crimson — the historic, lost 'heavy sequel' to The Cheerful Insanity of... Unbelievably pristine 'bedroom' recordings from 1968 by Robert Fripp's group with the Giles Brothers. Also features King Crimson founding member Ian McDonald, along with Fairport Convention's pre-Sandy Denny vocalist, Judy Dyle. Intricate like King Crimson, with a wicked pop sensibility — if Crimson was the butterfly, GG&F were the caterpillar. This is the first time that these recordings have been available on CD. They've been digitally remastered and incorporate previously unreleased material. Sleeve notes by Peter Giles are highly detailed and feature previously unpublished photographs."

FLYING LIZARDS, THE: Secret Dub Life Of... CD (MRE 002 CD). $14.00

"The source tapes for this CD were recorded in Jamaica by Jah Lloyd (aka Patrick Francis) as part of a series he made for Virgin Records' Front Line label. The original players of this music remain unidentified. Jah Lloyd used various combinations of musicians but did not include who played on which tracks. In the late '70s the original tapes were not released and were offered to The Flying Lizards' David Cunningham with the suggestion that he remix the music. Cunningham accepted the project, expecting lots of time in one of Virgin's studios to play with the music and the equipment, only to be presented with a mono master tape, which forced him to invent (or perhaps re-invent) techniques of editing, looping, filtering and subtraction to deal with unremixable mono material (these were the days before samplers). This very quirky, ambient dub record will remind listeners of some of Lee 'Scratch' Perry's earlier albums (reggae / dub beats with samples and sounds buried deep in the mix), mixed with the low-tech tape butchery of Perry and Kingsley's early proto-sampling work."

ALLEN, DAEVID: Gentle Genie CD (MRE 005CD). $15.00

"Daavid Allen's acid folk vibration. Previously unreleased compilation with new artwork. The songs on Gentle Genie all come from 1985-2000 and are the best of the period's acoustic songs. The album is the companion to Dreaming A Dream and has been remastered for release."

GONG: Acid Motherhood CD (MRE 004CD). $15.00

"When the standard-bearers of 21st Century psychedelic Acid Mothers Temple merge with experimental originators like the maverick Anglo/French collective Gong, it's total music — post-industrial nu-psychodelia at its most intense and beguiling. Gong return to the creative fire once more — to be reborn. From the crucible comes the glorious chaos that had to happen. In February 2003, Kawabata Makoto and Cotton Casino (both of Acid Mothers Temple), with guitarist Josh Pollock (of University of Errors) joined Gong originators Daavid Allen and Gilli Smyth, plus drummer-son Orlando Allen and Indonesian bassist Dharmawan Bradbridge in Byron Bay, Australia, to record a new Gong CD together — an album is like no other in the band's 35-year history. For the first time there are three wildly different guitarists, no sax and, on half the tracks, no bass player."

MITEK (SWEDEN):

VA: Reslab CD (MITEK 0200). $13.00

Exclusive tracks from: Andreas Tilliander, Grecl, Silent Comfort & Mikael Stavöstrand. "Mitek presents four Swedish artists in the field of experimental electronica, ranging from abstract soundscapes to minimal dub-techno. Swedish electronic musicians are in most cases wellknown internationally but usually totally unknown in their home country, hopefully this situation will change at a time as now when theres a whole bunch of talented young artists coming up in the daylight, releasing albums all over the world. The Reslab CD is just a pick of a few of these artist, and I'm sure that soon the world will notice and appreciate the whole spectra of new electronic music from Sweden. Andreas Tilliander: should be known by most people by now, after a hectic last year with albums on Komplott as Komp (Vena LP), and on Raster-Noton as Mokira (Cliphop CD). And his new and highly acclaimed album under his real name on Mille Plateaux (ljud). We're sure you will hear a lot from this guy's soft and groovy 'clickmusic' in the future, on Reslab he presents a different approach than usual, and the result is a hypnotic dub-tech groove. Gred: young newcomer from north of Sweden (Östersund), groovy and harmonic dub-tech. Silent Comfort: aka Bauri, Deltideskapism & Mirjam Och Stalakiten, always active artist with releases on City Center Offices, Saundart (his own label) as well on the Clicks & Cuts 2 compilation on Mille Plateaux. Silent Comfort explores the dubby fields within electronica. Mikael Stavöstrand: always active, with recent releases on Force Inc. (Reduce) + various compilations. Always searching for new ways of expression, the tracks on Reslab goes thru hypnotic grooves and harmonies, but still on the edge with sharp and crackling sounds, this mixture creates deep atmospheric soundscapes."

BERTHLING, ANDREAS: Tiny Little White Ones (Like Handfuls Of Salt) CD (MITEK 03). $15.00

"Andreas Berthling, also is part of the new Swedish digital artists scene. He holds majors in intermedia arts at the Arts Academy of Trondheim, Norway. Berthling is working with long-time electronic music experimenter Kim Cascone, who also released on Fällt and other musicians such as John Butcher, Kaffe Matthews, Leif Brush, Toshimaru Nakamura, TV Pow, Sony Mao, Needle, Spunk. He developed a quite unique style focusing on the exploration of the soundscape in disregard to its source. Soundbytes are cracked down until only single bits remain. Their arrangements invoke the impression of reengineered data structure rendered audible in a sonic range between super high and ultra low sinewaves. Documentations can be found on Staalplaat, Boxmedia, Microwave, Anechoic, Betabodega, Fällt."

FOLIE: Misspass CD (MITEK 04). $15.00

"Mitek is proud to present an other excellent electronica artist from the hotbed of Hälslehom (south of Sweden), the town who also brought us Andreas Tilliander. Folie is electronica mastermind Stefan Thor, he brings us 12 chilling tracks of cut/up beats, swirling melodies and harmonic washes of 'noise'. All together makes this work to stand out with it's warm and harmonic textures. Folie has also just been signed to Swedish techhouse guru Håkan Lidbo's publishing company (container) to bring him more fame and glory."

LIDBO, HAKAN: 6/10/60 CD (MITEK 05). $15.00

"One of the big names within the Swedish techno-house scene, maybe a surprise to find him on Mitek, but nevertheless this is an exciting recording of music which suites Mitek's profile and concept well. Lidbo explores the sounds and moods with brilliant technical skill with fresh ideas, which proves that he is one of the essential Swedish producers within the electronic music scene. 60 min. of pure and minimal tech-funk were Lidbo twists and bends ideas and sounds into an exciting and tickling flow of minimal groovy tunes, shuffling, developing constantly, carefully organised and arranged. swinging and shifting delicately within its micro-movements, stripped down to funky four to the floor grooves, fine sculptured with the cleverest delicacy .... this is for sure a different side of one of Sweden's most well known producers, with over a hundred of releases so far. And remixes for artists such as Fatboy Slim, Ashley Beedle, Lisa Shaw, Si Begg, Reset, Mikael Stavöstrand, Vladislav Delay, Midfield General and Truant. Also working with Yello on their new album .. to mention a few. 6/10/60 explores new ideas of producing minimal electronic music, with its mixture of techno, funk and electronica a step further with its incorporation of groovy baselines and clever rhythms."

VA: Mitek: Process CD (MITEK 13 CD). $16.00

"Mitek continues to present a wide range of clever electronic music, with Mitek: Process, 13 tracks of the most talented and interesting contemporary artists from Sweden. Mitek: Process, comes from the idea of bringing the Mitek related artists closer, to get a possibility to 'collaborate' and to inspire each other. The artists worked from a soundbank of whom all the artists contributed sounds. We did not felt that the concept should be restraining the artists to such as following specific rules; instead it was a possibility to share and use each others unique sound styles. We think the result speaks clear, each artist have approach the task with open mind, and still you have his or her special sound. Like Sophie Rimhedens catchy 'Wild at Heart', or Martin Jarls up-tempo tech hybrid 'Sound & Computer'. The same base, but very different result, each unique to the artist." Artists: Son of Clay, Johan Fotmeijer, Sophie Rimheden, Folie, Andreas Tilliander, Dwayne Sodahberk, Pfefferbauer, Minimalistic Sweden, Hakan Lidbo, Johan Skugge, Mikael Stavöstrand, Martin Jarl, Vita.

MIXER (NETHERLANDS):

AGF: DelayOnMyPillow 3" CD (MIXER CD03). $12.00

"Over the past few years AGF has been critically well acclaimed for her poetry-based music and soundworks. Sound and speech have melted into one unique entity. The delicacy and intimacy AGF displays in her work knows very little equals in today's electronic and digital musics. delayOnMyPillow is no exception and simply is a great piece. Stichting Mixer is very proud to release this excellent work of integration of the human touch in the clinical digital domain of sound."

MARCHETTI, LIONEL: L'Incandescence De L'Etoile 3" CD (MIXER CD04). $12.00

"A Musique Concrète piece based on the everlasting universal (re)cycle. It is it's own modulator, oscillating at immense speed, almost standing still. The composer has interpreted and given an auditive representation of these cosmic forces, melted together in a solid musical gesture, perpetuated on a little disc. Captured time, but where to next? L'incandescence de l'étoile is a great example of the fine craftsmanship of Marchetti; it's been composed up to it's most delicate detail, with a great feeling for suspense and time-elapse. As any process, the piece travels through several stages, to end up at it's beginning again."

WRIKKEN: 8ste Mixer Door 7" (MIXER7 03). $8.50

"Wrikkien is a collaboration between Dutchmen Joris van Perlo and Ivo Bol. The combination of electronics and their former acoustic instruments, or rather the electronic re-interpretation of those, is like a red-line through their work. Although not recognisable as such, the sound of Wrikkien is based on sampling and distilling their acoustic recordings, which are manipulated over and over. You could say they use/sample the real-time accessibility and behaviour of these instruments, rather than the sound of them. The result is a divers mix in sound and atmosphere. Limited edition of 200 copies."

RECHENZENTRUM: Negende Mixer - Schulerblatt 7" (MIXER7 04). $11.00

"Schulerblatt" continues in this approach but sounds in no such way as their previous works. It displays an atmosphere in which an almost contradictory use of digital clippings and warm, flowing record-samples, become one and interact. It allows even a reversed night-club singer to go hand in hand with today's plug-in army, speaking a language which is not demonic at all, on the contrary. Limited edition of 300 copies."

COLLEY, JOE: Twaalfde Mixer, 8 Phased Loops 2X7" (MIXER7 06/7). $15.00

"Joe Colley has been producing sound and initiating related projects for some time now. To some known as Crawl Unit, he has been working under his given name more and more over the past few years. Colley makes music, builds installations, works with video-artists, dancers and prisoners. Twaalfde Mixer - 8 phased loops is really not much more than that, but not much less either. This title is the unpretentiousness itself, showing you the simple fade-in, crossfade and fade-out of eight loops, each layered in four loops, four sides, two loops per side to make eight again. These tracks shift around and take on many faces despite their mantronic behaviour. Tiny discrepancies between loopingpoints make them stumble, spin around, velocitate, build-up, break down and start all over again. They display the very simple but rich idea of repetition and phase-shifting very well. The minimalist idea of using many sources which lay very close to each other both in tone as well as in body, can be found here as well. Maybe not so much in appearance but most surely in the way these tracks were made. The composition in them, was created through friction between several layers, given a certain time. Neither beginning nor end are that important, what happens in between is and that is what is captured by the composer. Luckily these tracks don't stick and die at this old and strong concept, but go further and turn out to be energetic and fascinating pieces of music. All four have a propelling drive in them, at times purely rhythmical even, as well as a steady, calm and almost droney undertone."

THU20: Live In Groningen CD (MIXERCD 02). $18.00

"Dutch electro-acoustic ensemble Thu20 is the co-operation between Roel Meelkop, Peter Duimelinks, Sjap van Bussel and los Smolders. Live in Groningen is an edited version of a performance they did during the Casa Electronica festival high up north in the Netherlands. The hearplay-like character of their set/ music is very much imaginative and holds a lot of reminding — but not recognisable — elements. It's almost as if a parallel world of sound is created, making the one it refers to as estranged as well. The sound of THU20 is a multi-layered whole, compiled of many smaller and bigger happenings, going through the complete range of audible sound and using it in many different ways. From highly digital to dusty acoustics, from very calm to disturbingly hectic. One moment all happens together, a spare moment later there is not much more left than a basic building block. It is exactly this tension and variation which keeps you tuned and fascinated. The way basic elements like repetition, tonal differences and time-elapse are used is truly original and surprising."

KÖHN/PIMMON: Zesde Mixer LP (MIXERLP 01). $12.00

"Mixer invited Belgium artist Köhn and Australian Pimmon for a split LP release. Both artists have a strong melodious and harmonic sound, though both with a very personal twist. Pimmon's more recent works show wide stretched sound-streams, freshened with little sharp elements floating around. His side on this split-LP is made up from 4 tracks, showing his desire for reduction. These tracks are among his most minimal work, consisting of not much more than a few chords, strings and occasional melodies. Köhn's answer to contemporary glitch culture can be heard in the first 2 tracks, although there's too many musical elements surrounding to make any mix-up while tracking down the artist responsible. Microscopic fragments in a wide range of high and low-end sound, arranged to build strong rhythms and adding a lot of groove... glitch as a source, not as a goal. Zesde Mixer is a split LP vinyl release in an edition of 500 copies."

DE WAARD & ROEL MEELKOP, FRANS: Elfde Mixer LP (MIXERLP 02). $13.00

"Elfde Mixer is compiled of material taken from the Kapotte Muziek USA tour back in 1993. Both musicians have a lot of experience in several musical projects and therefore with different ways of working. Their versatility is clearly to be recognised in their work. The use of sounds, compositional choices and aesthetic display is one of clear decisions and conviction. Both pieces are minimal in the sense that there are no decorating elements. On the other hand both composers don't scare back of completely opposite choices in process and sound-use and take their 'concept' as binding as they prefer to. Hardly to be called minimal, more the opposite... Scanning through all surrounding possibilities they create their own, unique (and minimal!) universe. This universe is mostly dark, relatively empty and rather strange... It shares characteristics of soundscape-music, but what is it we hear? Is it concrete music, synthesized sound, or...? Exactly, it has a puzzling alienated form of it's own. The focus lays very much with the raw appearance of sound and interaction between elements. It shows clear composition; the patience in build-ups, the abruptness of cuttings and the interaction between layers and parts is delicate but strong. In this case, less is definitely more."

MNW (SWEDEN):

ARBETE & FRITID: Arbete & Fritid CD (MNW 039CD). $15.00

First reissue of this legendary Swedish band from the early 70's; this was their third album (first for MNW, prev. 2 were for Sonet), originally issued in 1973. Arbete & Fritid were very much in the Silence-label underground style, comparable to Träd Gräs och Stenar (with whom they shared some bandmembers). Nice looking reissue (with a rare bonus track), only downside is that the considerable liner notes are in Swedish only! "Arbete & Fritid was formed in 1969 and was for ten years an ever-changing band that explored all types of musical directions but with a solid folk music base. The band frequently changed members with cellist and composer Ove Karlsson being the exception. The musicians teaming up in Arbete & Fritid all had a experimental jazz background but were also inspired by avant-garde minimalist composers such as John Cage, Terry Riley and LaMonte Young. But it was the newly awaken interest in Nordic folk music traditions that got the band started in 1969 and it was the bands unique blend of folk music, jazz, rock and avant-garde experiments that made them one of the truly unique bands in the early 70's, long before anyone heard of world music. Arbete & Fritid was one of the most appreciated live acts during the 70's, maybe because you never knew what the concerts were going to be like. It could start off as a rock concert, as a meditative Indian concert, as a vital folk music gig or as an avant-garde jazz night — and before it was all ended you could be sure to have all your preconceptions turned around. These concerts would many times also include some half-crazy vocal tracks, in dadaist tradition. Arbete & Fritid have inspired many other artists to experiment with Nordic folk music and with the nearly 1000 concerts they played they opened a lot of people's minds for music without boundaries. Many of the lengthy jams that made up their gigs were never transformed into records. This album was recorded in Vaxholm in 1973. This CD reissue includes a bonus track 'Östpusten-Västpusten', that was recorded by the Swedish National Radio in 1972."

ARCHIMEDES BADKAR: Tré CD (MNW 078CD). $17.00

"Archimedes Badkar 'Archimedes' Bathtub' was a Swedish group formed by percussionist/pianist/composer Per Tjernberg that existed between 1972 -1980, recording four LPs (including a 2 LP set) that has since achieved cult status in several camps. 'World Music' was not yet a household term, but for once that description seems perfect for what Archimedes Badkar must definitely be regarded as one of the pioneering bands. Several of the members had travelled and studied music in North and South India, Morocco, Mali, Ghana and other countries, and several of them were well educated in the languages of jazz and contemporary music. What still seems unique and fascinating about this band is that there seemed to be no limits in terms of musical styles and instrumentation : in live performances and on recordings they would transform themselves from a Greek village orchestra to an african thumb-piano duo to a wild horn-driven jazz-combo to a Indian ensemble with sarod, santoor, tablas and the works but with electric bass taking the lead... this might not seem entirely sensational today, but think again — this was thirty years ago. The late Don Cherry, who some claim actually invented the term 'World Music', was residing in Sweden at the time and was a very important influence on Archimedes Badkar. Tre is, as it's title implies, Archimedes Badkar's third album, extended for this first-ever CD-release with five bonus tracks from the second album and 'Bado Kidogo' (a collaboration with members from Tanzanian pop band Afro 70 with whom the group toured as a big band in the summer of 1978). "Archimedes Badkar will always remind me of easy times, the joy of discovering something new and making it sound easy to do". — from Jim O'Rourke's liner notes.

MO'WAX (UK):*DJ SHADOW: Introducing 2LP (MW 059 LP). $28.00

Official reissue. "UK vinyl version of the debut album (from 1996) that introduced America proper to the 'Mo' Wax Sound" some time ago. Years in the making, probably the single most important collection of hip-hop/something-else crossover to hit any shelf. An instant classic." —Hrvatski

MONEY MARK: Hand In Your Head CD (MW 066 CD). $9.00

"Money Mark is well known as the keyboard player with the Beastie Boys, both in the studio and on tour. 'Hand In Your Head' is the result of a collaboration with Russell Simmons (Jon Spencer Blues Explosion) and Sean Lennon. This single represents a departure from Mark's usual experimental lo-fi obscura — it's a very accessible, structured pop song." Also features a Dust Brothers remix of "Cry" +1 track.

MONEY MARK: Maybe I'm Dead CD (MW 089 CD1). $9.00

The remixes are split up over 2 separate CD singles (which come as shaped discs, MM in "action"). CD1 has the original track, Dust Brothers remix and Underdog remix.

MONEY MARK: Maybe I'm Dead CD (MW 089 CD2). $9.00

PARKER, ANDREA: Kiss My Arp CD (MW 099 CDX). $35.00

Special deluxe packaging limited version. Beautiful vellum-printed cover artwork on this edition; it also features the addition of the track 'Melodius Thunk', her first Mo'Wax single from '96 (now out of print as a single and not included on the Japanese version of Kiss My Arp). Following an exquisite set of singles going back to '96 (Melodius Thunk, The Rocking Chair & Breaking Ball), this album finds Andrea exploring the various sonic territories outlined by her Mo'Wax catalog to date. From sub-bass electro scronch to breathless vocal works of ecstatic pop reverie (backed by scorching cello lines played by Parker herself), this album focuses on a secret sound sensory-glitch that would be laughed out of context in lesser hands. An arena of non-pre-sets, where unique sounds are prosperous and attention to details ping-pongs over ever centimeter of clutter. Leaving the twinkle-twinkle to the eyes of the beholder. In a better world it gets the attention of U.N.K.L.E. x a million.

URBAN TRIBE: The Collapse of Modern Culture CD (MW 102 CD). $23.00

"Urban Tribe revive the old school techno ideology with the release of their debut album. Urban Tribe are a collective of some of the most well-known figures from the Detroit house scene, including Sherard Ingram, Anthony ('Shake') Shakir, Carl Craig and Kenny ('Moodyman') Dixon. Ingram has been an underground DJ on the Detroit techno circuit since 1982, released 'Can't Stop Now' under the moniker NASA on Express Records in '87 and has more recently remixed a track for Kirk DiGiorgio. Carl Craig is a legendary producer and composer who has a reputation as a pioneer of the Detroit sound. Kenny Dixon, a disco terrorist, is the most celebrated of the new school of Detroit producers and one of the biggest new names in underground house. Urban Tribe's previous releases under this moniker have been 'Eastwood', a four-track single released in 1996 on Mo'Wax, and the highly sought after 'Covert Action' on Headz II, as well as a couple of single's on Carl Craig's Planet E label."

Three-track CD EP. "Featuring mixes by Stereo MCs and DJ Spinnna."

DIVINE STYLER: Word Power 2: Directrix CD (MW 122 CD). $28.00

"Last heard from in 1991 on his Spiral Walls Containing Autumns of Light, Divine Styler returns, finally quelling rumors that he had moved to Mecca, done too much acid etc. in his absence even spawning a zine in Canada called In Search of Divine Styler. Let me back up a bit: first album in 1989 Word Power on Ice-T's Rhyme Syndicate imprint, musically in the style of the day with it's JB infected musical approach crossed with his psychedelized Moslem lyricism, later heard in 1991 on his Spiral Walls Containing Autumns of Light, which sort of alienated most headz with it's opaque production, strange live instrumentation (all played by himself) and it's general dusted atmosphere, dropped from his label and subsequently seemed to drop off of the face of the earth. Wound up producing Everlast's Whitey Ford Sings the Blues, but don't let that put you off, it probably afforded him the ability to record this, his latest, released on his own DTX records here in the states, and the ever prescient Mo Wax presents the UK version, 3 different tracks, and though lyrically his stuff is just as bizarre as ever, it's the music that's really on point here. From the muezzin call that starts off the record that goes on just a little too long, the twists and turns of this record are like the labyrinth of a great walled city, and what's around the next corner one can only guess. More bangin' than expected, this is an impressive return for one of the legends of the hip hop." — Billy Kiely.

DIVINE STYLER: Directrix 2x12" (MW 125). $15.00

AXELROD, DAVID: CD (MW 141 CD). $23.00

New self-titled album, a surprise release on Mo'Wax. Features previously unreleased backing tracks from the late 60s, with some new finishing touches. Very strong classic Axelrod feel, in the spirit of his albums Songs of Innocence & Songs of Experience. From DJ Shadow's liner notes: "...the material on this album, as fresh as it sounds, was written over thirty years ago. Always the visionary, David had been toying with the concept of recording an album for Reprise based on Goethe's Faust (he often used literary and political themes for inspiration). Interpretive lyrics were written by Steven Poncher. Since each of the songs had already been written as lead sheets, Axelrod went into the studio and recorded the rhythm tracks. At the end of the session, an acetate was cut, as a reference. Unfortunately, due to an internal problem at Warners, the tracks remained shelved in anticipation of completion." Axelrod was in touch with Mo'wax in 1999 and eventually was convinced to complete work on this project. Seven of the 9 tracks make use of the original acetate tracks, with additional strings and texturing. There are also 2 new tracks, which feature vocals from M.C. Ras Koss and Lou Rawls. More Shadow: "Listen to the arrangements, listen to the way Carol Kaye's bass dances around Howard Roberts' guitar, listen to the way Earl Palmer's snare cracks, listen to the awesome command of melody. This is the David Axelrod sound. L.A. bred and ahead of its time. Thirty-three years later, finger still on the pulse."

AXELROD, DAVID: LP (MW 141 LP). $23.00

Regular single LP version.

SKELF: Coming At Ya 12" (MW 147). $9.00

Four track debut EP by this new Howie B project. "His new project Skelf sees him ditching most of the high tech equipment he's been experimenting with over the past few years. He's gone back to the drawing board and back to basics in an effort to create a new sound without all the fuss. So, it's been goodbye multi faceted studio and hello drum machine and sampler. And judging by the evidence on this first 12" release, he could have been living a lie for the last few years. Sparse, raw drum patterns and 23 Skidoo style minimalism make for some very interesting listening."

GUERRERO, TOMMY: Junk Collector CD (MW 149 CD). $9.00

"5 track EP, including a John Herndon (Tortoise) remix. "Skateboarding legend Tommy Guerrero has traded his dazzling ollies and kickflips for smooth guitar licks with effortless grace, displaying as much confidence and assurance in his new profession as he did his old one. It's not like Guerrero has a whole bunch of friends helping him out; he plays guitar, bass, keys, and occasionally even percussion — oh, and he writes and produces all his music too. His sound is super laid-back and upbeat, with little hints of jazz and electronica, focused on relaxed funky grooves and sauntering melodies. With its obvious similarities to Tortoise and The Sea and Cake, Guerrero's stuff clearly falls in the so-called post-rock camp, but it lacks the self-consciousness of much of that music."

DIVINE STYLER: Concept Design Deflon 12" (MW V002). $9.00

Three track EP following up Mo'Wax's release of Wordpower 2: Directrix. Three exclusive tracks, with "Mono" and "Come Into My Space" on the b-side. Awesome Futura 2000 (make that Futura Non Scripta Est) generic sleeve design. Limited stock.

MOABIT MUSIC (GERMANY):*MALARIA!: Compiled 1981-1984 CD (MOABIT 006CD). $14.50

2001 year release which compiles 16 tracks from all their early releases, originally released 1981-84. Malaria were an all-female art-wave group from Berlin, with connections to Die Haut, Einsturzende, Nina Hagen, Static, etc. A seminal early 80s document. "Contagious diseases, uncertain modes of transmission: Malaria evolved from Mania D., a trio that had already gained a following even without music through their style and artwork. When they expanded into a quintet, they not only retained the first two letters, recurring in medieval, mask, magister artium and mama, they also kept a world of signifiers: heat, illness, fever, ill-defined states. At the time, the beat and the saxophone, which signalled the continuity of both bands, could only be comprehended through inevitable misunderstandings and other contemporary beats and sounds. And — like an italicised letter — they incarnated the promise contained in the title: elusive funk, undeveloped jazz, an unresolved and strained insistence on a difference for which no words existed at the time, and certainly no music that one could put a name to." — Diedrich Diederichsen

MOBILÉ (GERMANY):*VA: The Asthmatic Worm CD (MOB 001 CD). $14.50

A compilation of twelve electronic accordion & melodica tracks. "Asthmatic Worm, 19th century nickname for the accordion. Since their invention in the first half of the 19th century accordions have been played mostly as classical concert and folk instruments. Even today little has changed in that regard. Only recently the accordion has found interest by a number of electronic music producers. Björk collaborated with Japanese accordion player Coba, Rephlex artist Bogdan Raczynski has recorded a full album of accordion music and Uwe Schmidt sampled it for his Senor Coconut record of Kraftwerk covers ..." Artists include: Müm, März, Sensorama, Hey, Doctor Rockit, Gotan Project, Burnt Friedman & Jaki Liebezeit, Atom TM, Markus Nikolai, Dntel, Wechsel Garland, Gonzales.

VA: The Asthmatic Worm 2LP (MOB 001 LP). $15.00

Double LP version, gatefold sleeve. Same 12 tracks as the CD.

VA: Seasonal Greetings CD (MOB 002 CD). $15.00

"New and previously unreleased Christmas and winter songs by Erlend Øye (Kings of Convenience), Múm, Opiate, Future 3, Domatic, Orso, Morgan Caney & Kamal Joory, Komët, Saint Etienne, Badly Drawn Boy, Hood, Low, Hermann & Kleine. Booklike CD package by Herzog-Ilex (Asthmatic Worm, Jazzanova, Disco Nouveau...). Paul Auster's 'Auggie Wren's Christmas Story' printed in the booklet."

VA: Feedback To The Future - A Compilation Of Eleven... CD (MOB 003 CD). $16.00

...Shoegazing Songs From 1990 -1992. "For a brief and almost forgotten time shoegazing dominated what passed for the British indie scene. In the early 90's — right after Madchester and right before Brit-Pop — bands such as Lush found their way into the top 40, Ride headlined Reading festival and Curve were the darlings of the music weeklies (this was a time when you could still speak of them in plural). Influenced by the distorted swirling guitar sounds of My Bloody Valentine and the ethereal quality of Cocteau Twins songs, the music of shoegazing bands was — as US journalist Corey DuBrowa writes — most accurately expressed in liquid derivatives: 'Waves of distortion, cascading guitar feedback, oceanic swirls of keyboard and percussion, rainswept sonic vistas, washes of sound where no one voice (human or instrumental) was distinguishable from another.' Named 'shoegazers' by Melody Maker's Steve Sutherland for their on-stage habit of staring down at their shoes and numerous effect pedals, these groups wedded blissful guitar feedback with dreamy vocal melodies often sung by women such as Rachel Goswell (Slowdive), Miki Berenyi and Emma Anderson (Lush) and Toni Halliday. Today — more than a decade beyond the shoegazing scene's initial impact — the sounds of these groups surfaces again. Their sound had an impact on bands such as Sigur Ros, Mogwai and Mew and also feeds back in the music of melodic electronic producers like Ulrich Schnauss and M83. This compilation offers an opportunity to listen once again to the original shoegazers — most of whose records unfortunately remain out of print." Artists: Revolver, Moose, The Telescopes, Ride, Blind Mr Jones, Slowdive, Pale Saints, Lush, Drop Nineteens, Adorable, Swervedriver.

VA: Feedback To The Future — A Compilation Of Eleven... LP (MOB 003 LP). $15.00

...Shoegazing Songs From 1990 -1992. LP version, same 11 tracks as the CD.

SLOWBLOW: Slowblow CD (MOB 004CD). $14.00

"The Icelandic duo, Slowblow (Orri Jonsson and Dagur Kári Petursson), has been active for almost a decade. They have made their mark on the Icelandic underground scene with a certain kind of friendly dust-music. They exhibit a uniquely Icelandic aesthetic of home-made, lo-fi analog tinkering, which both musically and lyrically blend together the everyday and the fantastic. On the album, Slowblow match the gentle hum of ancient amplifiers and the tinkling hammers of an old upright piano with the soft squeaking of pump organ pedals or the sound of mechanical sewing machines; for them these are not unwanted artifacts, but the very essence of their sound."

SLOWBLOW: Slowblow LP (MOB 004LP). $16.00

LP version.

MOCKY RECORDINGS (NETHERLANDS):*MOCKY: In Mesopotamia CD (MR 2001.03). $14.00

"Brilliant Debut album of Mocky. Crazy funk up tracks from his crazy mind. Mocky has a long history as a musician (used to play in a band with his friends Peaches and Gonzales, was bassplayer for Talvin Singh and released music on his own label which he sold from his car-booth back in Canada during his study at the Boston's famed Berklee Jazz College where he would study acoustic bass by day and produce hip-hop by night.) Now he finally releases his debut album after great response which he did get on various releases (which has been played by people such as Gilles Peterson and Jazzanova). His music is hard to describe but best to put it between labels such as Kitty yo, Cheap, Ninja Tunes, Warp etc). The CD includes many of Mocky's classic underground tracks including, Soul Control, and Me-So-Funky but mostly fresh unreleased material specially produced for this album (which contains 14 songs). It also includes the manifesto style Heavy Shit that features his good pals Peaches and Gonzales. You can expect the agenda of Sun Ra combined with a strangely pop naïveté. Gangsta-chic mc-ing and Chet Baker style crooning are also thrown into the mix. Muzik magazine described his last release as 'a combination of Money Mark and Squarepusher' and you can easily add Jimi Tenor and many others to his unique blend of styles."

MOD LANG:*BANHART, DEVENDRA: Oh Me Oh My... LP (MOD 011 LP). $15.00

... the Way The Day Goes By The Sun Is Setting Dogs Are Dreaming Lovesongs of the Christmas Spirit. Repressed. "1st time on vinyl. Limited edition 180 gram vinyl in gatefold sleeve with new artwork from Devendra himself."

MODE:*CAGE, JOHN: The Works For Violin 4 CD (MODE 100). $15.00

"Volume 4 of Irvine Arditti's masterful traversal of the complete works for violin by Cage combines two of his beautiful early pieces for violin and piano along with Two, also for violin and piano; and two later works for violin solo. An overlooked gem in Cage's early style, the Nocturne receives a rare CD recording here. The beguiling 6 Melodies is an instantly simple work in which the violin must play (as in much of Cage's music for violin) without vibrato. Its exotic quality is as hypnotic as an Indian raga. Together, these two works offer a wonderful, appealing introduction for the uninitiated to Cage's music."

COWELL, HENRY: Dancing With Henry CD (MODE 101). $15.00

"Some of the most revered compositions of the twentieth century arose from the collaboration of composers and choreographers. Henry Cowell sought solutions that would treat both art forms with equal respect. Works on this disc — the majority of which are recorded for the first time, many from unpublished manuscripts — were composed for Doris Humphrey, Charles Weidman (Dance of Sport), Bonnie Bird, and Martha Graham (Heiwa Dance and Suite for Woodwind Quintet)."

SCELSI, GIACINTO: Music For High Winds CD (MODE 102). $15.00

"Ixor" (1956, for clarinet), "Suite" (1953, for flute + clarinet), "Pwyll" (1954, for flute), "Tre Pezzi" (1954, for Eb clarinet), "Rucke di Guck (1957, for Piccolo + oboe), "Preghiera per un'ombra (1954, for clarinet), "Ko-Lho" (1966, for flute + clarinet), "Three Latin Prayers" (1970, for Eb and A clarinet). "This recording presents pieces for woodwind instruments played solo or in duo. The majority date from the 50's, when Scelsi abandoned his classical and 12-tone training to undertake a relentless and solitary quest toward the interior of musical sound. The listener will notice elements such as conflicting harmonic centers, sustained notes, brief frenetic passages, tempo changes by section, and tremoli, that are reinforced by constant dynamic activity, to create a characteristically heady, non-static quality."

FELDMAN, MORTON: The Straits of Magellan? Indeterminate Music CD (MODE 103). $15.00

"A unique collection of Feldman's 'indeterminate' works; incorporating new types of notation (including graph scores) and involving a considerable degree of indeterminacy in regard to pitch, dynamics, etc. This is the first time the complete Durations and Projections series have appeared on a single disc. It is a rewarding experience to hear the Durations and Projections played together, imparting a sense of Feldman's mastery of instrumentation and timbre while savoring the metamorphosis of its shifting colors, weights and densities of sound. The Two Pieces (first recording) reveal techniques which evoke a piano's resonance, as Feldman uses chords in which most tones immediately fade after their entrance, leaving only one or two sustained tones. The Straits of Magellan focuses on static the and 'vertical' experience, as well as on the constantly changing and fluctuating density of their sonic events allowing one to relish the subtlety and sensuousness of this music which startlingly also conveys a jazzy character. The superb performances, recorded in Germany, are by acclaimed pianist Philipp Vandrè and the Turfan Ensemble."

CAGE, JOHN: The Works For Saxophone I CD (MODE 104). $15.00

"Between 1983 and 1991 John Cage wrote three pieces specifically for saxophone or including saxophones, Four5, Five4 and Hymnkus, which are combined here for the first time on one CD. In addition, Cage authorized Ulrich Krieger's arrangement for saxophone of Ryoanji. Krieger also made a saxophone arrangement of Five, one of the few compositions from this period performable on any instruments. Krieger is joined here by a top group of German new music performers, including noted pianist Mario Bertoncini."

SPEACH, BERNADETTE: Reflections CD (MODE 105). $15.00

"Speech, a student of Morton Feldman, often captures the suspended dynamism and coloristic vision of her mentor but the work is further infused with her own considerable musical personality. It deftly bridges new music, jazz and an appealing, easily enjoyed sensibility — bursting the bonds of postminimalism to evoke a thoughtful, introverted romanticism. Reflections consists of recent compositions. Les ondes pour quatre was written for the Arditti Quartet at the request of Irvine Arditti. When It Rains...Leuve showcases the pianistic and vocal talents of regular Speech collaborator Anthony de Mare."

CAGE, JOHN: The Works For Piano 4 CD (MODE 106). $15.00

"Until recently at Cage's publisher in New York, C.F. Peters, there was a box of works which Cage had held off publishing or had simply forgotten about. Among them were the dance pieces, Triple Paced and Ad Lib, Jazz Study and the film score, Works of Calder, all composed between 1942 and 1950. At Peters' request, Margaret Leng Tan was enlisted to edit these works as part of a new volume of Cage's piano pieces — they have been recorded here in conjunction with that publication."

FELDMAN, MORTON: The Barton Workshop Play Voices & Instruments CD (MODE 107). $15.00

"This CD is comprised of works from Feldman's Early Period (late 40's until the late 60's) and Middle Period (late 60's/early 70's until the early 80's). In the beginning, like all young creative artists, Feldman was working through alluring influences as well as the influence of his teachers, towards the moment when he would find his personal creative voice. With the exception of the vocal solo Only, this disc documents all the earliest works that Feldman chose to publish. Journey to the End of Night (1949) shows unmistakable influences from his study with Stefan Wolpe, yet it also shows a clear command of this musical language. This dramatically clear and forceful work — with extremely high vocal writing — is set to texts extracted by Feldman himself from the long novel of the same title by Céline. In 1957, Feldman began to use repetition of material to make a homogeneous texture, static yet with small degrees of movement. By the early 1960's, he created timbral ambiguity by having all instruments play very softly, with a minimum of attack."

CAGE, JOHN: The Orchestral Works 3 CD (MODE 108). $15.00

"Cage scored 108 for the largest number of players in any of the Number Pieces — its duration of 43'30" makes an oblique reference to his groundbreaking 4'33" (1952). 108 can be played on its own or with either of two solo works from the same year, One (for cello) and One for the sho, a mouth organ with bamboo pipes that acts as one of the harmony-producing instruments in Japanese gagaku. Both solo works were composed for artists very important in Cage's final years — cellist Michael Bach and Mayumi Miyata, who had pioneered the sho as a contemporary concert instrument. When One? is performed with 108, it becomes a concerto but a very unusual one, and a fine example of Cage's aesthetic. The orchestra disappears entirely in two sections of the piece, but not to herald a grand cadenza: the sho music continues much as it had before, a quiet, serene, almost timeless utterance. Indeed, the regal simplicity of the sho makes it an ideal instrument for Cage, who tried to make his final work like writing on water — an action, incomparably graceful, that would leave no traces."

WOLFF, CHRISTIAN: Look She Said CD (MODE 109). $15.00

"This disc collects all of Wolff's large body of works for the bass, including a piece for solo electric bass guitar. Two of the works were written specifically for Robert Black, who prepared these pieces with Wolff. The composer attended all of the recordings sessions. Two works are for solo bass: String Bass Exercise out of 'Bandiera Rossa' (written for Fernando Grillo), and Look She Said (written for Robert Black), which is based on folk and fiddle tunes, including one movement where the bassist is asked to sing along with the harmonics being played. It is a tribute to Laurie Anderson."

GARLAND, PETER: Another Sunrise CD (MODE 110). $15.00

"Peter Garland's music is a unique mixture of minimalism with influences from South/Central America, Asia and Native Americans; along with American mavericks Cage, Partch, Harrison, Cowell, and Varèse — while being uniquely American. The works on this record share a special meditative, and at times ecstatic, spirituality. Born in 1952, he studied with Harold Budd and James Tenney. Garland has a long artistic association with the performers on this disc. Essential Music's percussive talents present this music's exotic and brilliant sound in an authoritatively persuasive way. The recordings are composer supervised."

ZIMMERMANN, WALTER: Schatten der Ideen CD (MODE 111). $15.00

"The influence of two American composers — John Cage and Morton Feldman — has been decisive on Walter Zimmermann (b. 1949). With Cage, it was his music from the late forties — works like the String Quartet, the Suite for Toy Piano and the Six Melodies — that caught his attention: works underpinned by precise numerical construction, yet with an engaging directness of expression. Feldman has been an inspiration to Zimmermann's lyrical impetus, and Cage to his constructivist urges. Yet the two do not always co-exist comfortably, and it is partly the constant conflict and confrontation of the two which ensures that, far from being a 'displaced American', he is a quintessentially mid-European creator. The result is a totally individual sound; 'detached' in tone, yet often strangely touching. Its sparse, yet highly precise notation actually makes great demands on the performer, and the resulting 'introverted virtuosity', as Zimmermann calls it, remains a hallmark of his music."

FELDMAN, MORTON: String Quartet No. 2 5CD (MODE 112). $57.00

"Feldman's monumental String Quartet No.2 is in one unbroken movement. The FLUX Quartet performance is complete, lasting a total of 6 hours 7 minutes and 7 seconds.

Available in 2 Editions: a 5-CD set OR complete and uninterrupted on 24-bit audio DVD! In the 1970s Feldman took up the study and collecting of antique Turkish rugs, a highly evolved and exquisite folk art. The rugs are intricately patterned, symmetrical in basic design but with constant variation and displacement in the detailed execution of that design; strikingly and subtly colored, including fine variegations of principal colors resulting from the dyeing process. Analogies are clear to Feldman's music as it takes up large-scale patterning, partly working with his familiar subtle gradations of rhythm and instrumental color and ostinati, loops or extended repetitions of a sounds, partly — and especially in this second string quartet — continually finding new and surprising qualities of color. There are a number of sounds in this piece unlike anything one has heard from a string quartet. One can experience the work uninterrupted complete with no need to change discs on the DVD Edition."

FELDMAN, MORTON: String Quartet No. 2 DVD-AUDIO (MODE 112 DVD). $38.00

Audio-only DVD edition, playable on any DVD player. Contains the entire 6 hour performance uninterrupted on one DVD, in uncompressed 24-bit PCM stereo.

CZERNOWIN, CHAYA: Shu Hai Practices Javelin CD (MODE 117). $15.00

"Shu Hai Mitamen Behatalat Kidon (1996-97) for solo female voice, nine versions of the same voice on tape, and live electronics in two movements. Six miniatures and a simultaneous song (1998) for a trio of guitar, viola & guitar, and a quartet of bass flute, bass clarinet, alto saxophone and cello. Shu Hai in orchestral setting (2000-01) for voice, nine recorded versions of the same voice, orchestra and live electronics."

CAGE, JOHN: The Works For Violin 5 CD (MODE 118). $15.00

"Irvine Arditti continues his acclaimed traversal of the complete music for violin by John Cage. This disc contains music from two different periods of Cage's composition. The Chorals have their origins in Erik Satie's Douze petits chorals, dating from Satie's years of study at the Schola Cantorum (1905-8). Its notation calls for precise microtonality, and demonstrates Zukofsky's suggestion 'to make a continuous music of disparate elements, single tones, unisons, and beatings'. 'One' is, perhaps, the most unusual of Cage's violin works. The first note, a single F, is sustained for an extremely long duration. This note is followed, after a short silence, by another F, and then another! Other notes appear eventually, but the result is one of the listener losing all sense of relating one to another, verging on a kind of trance."

FELDMAN, MORTON: Edition 7: Carol Robinson play Late Works for Clarinet CD (MODE 119). $15.00

Clarinet & String Quartet (1983) — with the Quatuor Diotima (Paris); Bass-Clarinet & Percussion (1981) — with Francoise Rivalland & Peppie Wiersma, percussion; Three Clarinets, Cello & Piano (1971) — with Olivier Voize, clarinet; Elena Andreyev, cello; Vincent Leterme, piano.

BANCQUART, ALAIN: Livre du Labyrinthe 2CD (MODE 120). $31.00

"French composer Alain Bancquart (b. 1934) is one of the leading composers of microtonal music in Europe. Labyrinthe du Minotaur explores the myth of the Minotaur and the labyrinth. This large scale piece constantly delves into microtonal and harmonic relationships along with a lyrical polyphony. It is based on texts by his wife, author Marie-Claire Bancquart. The ensemble is comprised of leading European performers including Pierre-Yves Artaud (flute), Pascal Galloï (bassoon), Carol Robinson (clarinet), vocal ensemble Voxnova, Martine Joste (piano), Gerard Pape (sound-projection), Nicholas Isherwood (bass), and Roland Auzet (cymbalum), among others."

HARRISON, LOU: Mass To St. Anthony CD (MODE 122). $15.00

'Mass To St. Anthony' (original chorus/percussion version, 1939); 'Marriage At The Eiffel Tower' (original septet version, 1949); 'Easter Cantata' (1966); 'Arias From Young Caesar' (2000); 'Music For Remy' (1998); 'Vestiunt Silver' (1994); Short set from 'Lazarus Laughed' (1999). This disc provides an overview of Harrison's work, from 2 movements of a mass composed in 1939 to 3 vocal arias composed in 2000.

CAGE, JOHN: The Works For Piano 5 CD (MODE 123). $15.00

'Haydée Schwartz (piano); Jack Bruce (vocals). 'Four Walls' (1943-44), 'Soliloquy' (1945), '3 Easy Pieces' (1933). 'Four Walls' is a powerful and pivotal work in Cage's oeuvre. This large-scale piece was written as a 'dance-drama' with text and dance by his long-time collaborator Merce Cunningham. Cage said that 'Four Walls' deals with the 'disturbed mind.' This feeling is accentuated by the dramatic music, whose use of repetition, intense ostinatos, and silence evokes at times a harrowing closed-in sensibility. 'Four Walls' shows Cage's seminal ideas on silence, repetition and gradual change, as well as influences of Eastern philosophy and music — its use of repetition foreshadows later minimalist music."

LUCIER, ALVIN: Navigations For Strings/Small Waves CD (MODE 124). $15.00

"'Navigations for Strings' For String Quartet. 'Small Waves' For String Quartet, Trombone, Piano and Two Water Pourers. The Arditti Quartet: Hildegard Kleeb, Roland Dahinden. Alvin Lucier (b. 1931) has been a pioneer in many areas of music composition and performance, including the notation of performers' physical gestures, the use of brain waves in live performance, the generation of visual imagery by sound in vibrating media, and the evocation of room acoustics for musical purposes. 'Navigations for Strings' (1991) consists of 4 tunes, for which a long stream of continually changing melodic and instrumental combinations occur. In 'Small Waves' (1997), six glass vessels, some partially filled with water, are mounted on pedestals scattered around the performance space. Microphones are inserted into the mouths of the vessels, then routed through corn compressor-limiters to amplifiers and monitor speakers. During the course of the performance, the volume levels of the amplifiers are raised and lowered, causing feedback at pitches determined by the size and shape of the containers and their proximity to the loudspeakers. Both works are remarkable microtonal musical experiences."

COLGRASS/GUNTHER SCHULLER, MICHAEL: Déjà Vu CD (MODE 125). $15.00

"Michael Colgrass and Gunther Schuller have led lives musically rich in the varied influences — performing music of the 19th century tradition, embracing the 20th century innovations of both the academy and the avant-garde, and the exploration jazz and ethnic music. They are composers who enthusiastically cross musical genres and cultures, combining the elements they discover into works of great color and energy. The three works on this disc represent extraordinary contributions to the repertoire of wind ensembles and wind orchestras."

WOLFF, CHRISTIAN: Pebbles: Complete Works for Violin & Piano CD (MODE 126). $15.00

(Written for Sabat/Clarke); Duo for Violinist and Pianist (2 versions) — Sabat/Clarke Duo. Composer supervised recordings. "Duo for violinist and pianist" (1961) has structural parts which are repeatable and whose sequence is determined by cues — a particular sound (e.g.) high violin pizzicato, very quiet low register sound on piano, or length of silence — which, as a player, reaches the end of a structural part, determines what part must directly be played next. Each player, under determined conditions, proceeds independently (there is no fixed score relating to the two instruments). The cues from the one player to the other occur in the process of playing; neither players knows when what she plays will function as a cue, i.e. cannot control where the other player will play. The material of the structural parts is flexible and, if repeated, variable. Within time spaces (e.g. 4 seconds, 1/2 second, etc.) sounds may be chosen from variously specified sources, collections of pitches, dynamics, ways of playing and combined and distributed variably. There are also places in the music where individual sounds are coordinated between the players, for instance, violin plays a sound that must be sustained till the piano's next sound is heard (which is not for the violinist predictable), or the pianist must wait until the next sound from the violin ends, then play directly after. This may sometimes result in an impasse: piano cannot play until the violin stops playing while the violin cannot stop until the piano plays. This can be taken as the end of the piece's performance, as it is on this recording for the two versions of the piece played, in one case the impasse not happening till after some time, in the other coming much sooner. I think of the music of the Duo as resulting from the conditions of the piece's being performed, both fluid and requiring a highly focused and flexibly alert attention."

KAGEL, MAURICIO: Transición III/Phonophonie CD (MODE 127). $15.00

"'Transición II': for piano, percussion & 2 magnetic tapes (1958-9). 'Phonophonie': 4 melodramas for two voices & other sound sources (1963-64). 'Transición II' was an early exploration of what 'live electronics' are now being used to achieve. The score is in individual pages which can be placed in any order by the performers. Repetition of any of the musical material is not allowed — instead, as the players continue to perform in the present, the tapes can recall music already played. In addition, the tapes can be manipulated to change timbre and frequencies in order to make recognition of the original sounds impossible. For this recording, the modern technology of live electronics is used in place of the analogue tape loops. This allows the electronic technician to become an actual third performer — creator of the 'tapes' and in charge of the sound direction. "Phonophonie" is intended to be the portrait of an anonymous 19th century singing actor, captured at the moment of his vocal decline...", to quote Kagel. Conceived as a melodrama, the singer reacts with the other sounds as well as having to rapidly switch between four roles: the singer, the mimic, the ventriloquist and, in addition, the deaf-mute. The dramatic function of this dissociation is redefined over the course of a lengthy series of schizophrenic dialogues and 'trialogues' between the persona of the singer and his disconnected parts."

CARTER, ELLIOTT: Quintets and Voices DVD (MODE 128 DVD). $23.00

First Recordings: Quintet for Piano & Strings (1997), Fragment for String Quartet (1999) With: Quintet for Piano & Winds (1991) - Steve Taylor, oboe. "An American master in 24-bit. 96khz sound, available on DVD. Released to celebrate the 95th birthday of Elliott Carter this year — an amazing figure who remains one of America's most active and vital composers. This collection combines two of his quintets with two major works for voice(s) and ensemble, and two recent, extraordinary miniatures." NTSC, 80 min.

CAGE, JOHN: Variations I-III CD (MODE 129). $15.00

'Variation 1' (1958), 'Variation II' (1961), 'Lecture On Nothing' (1959), 'Variation III' (1962-63). Performed by the Motion Ensemble. "John Cage's 'Variations' are from his most experimental period. They are graphically notated pieces which allow the performers to create their own scores within specific guidelines. 'Variations I, II, and III' are scored for any number of players and any sound producing means. The goal of this project is to produce a document in sound of Cage's musical philosophy, which allows for aesthetics that are rather independent of those in traditional western music. Each piece is presented here in a very different manner. The realization of 'Variation I' uses traditional instruments in combination with typical 'Cagean' toys and gadgets (eg. whistles, squeaky toys, etc.) that were common to many Cage-supervised orchestra pieces. 'Variation II' introduces the idea of simultaneous performance with the addition of 'Lecture on Nothing' (as an 'instrument' for the Variations II score) as well as featuring extensions of the traditional violin and double bass sounds. Finally, 'Variations III' uses only electronic instruments to bring the spectrum of sounds as far from the traditional instruments as possible."

CAGE, JOHN: From Zero DVD (MODE 130 DVD). $23.00

"Four films on John Cage by Frank Scheffer and Andrew Culver. 84 minutes (plus extras). DVD only release with bonus extras of 'Making of' film and interviews. A Major film on John Cage by renowned Dutch director Frank Scheffer in collaboration with Cage's associate Andrew Culver. The group of films, entitled From Zero are: '19 Questions': Cage answers 19 questions on a variety of subjects, using chance operations to determine the duration of his colorful and often witty answers. 'Fourteen': The acclaimed Ives Ensemble perform Cage's piece of the same name. Filmed with multiple cameras using chance operation to determine the position, angle, focus and aperture settings of each shot. 'Pay Attention': Agreeing on a predetermined duration, Scheffer worked with the video portion and Culver the audio from an interview with Cage. 'Overpopulation and Art With Ryoanji': The audio combines Cage's spoken performance of his text Overpopulation and Art simultaneously with his Ryoanji four voices and percussion."

NIBLOCK, PHILL: Disseminate CD (MODE 131). $15.00

'Disseminate Ostrava': For orchestra; Ensemble OCNM, conducted by Petr Kotik. 'Kontradictionaries': For trio with electronically sampled sounds; The Kontra Trio. 'Disseminate Q-02': For ensemble, Q-02 Ensemble. First Recordings. "Phill Niblock (born in Indiana, 1933) is a seminal figure in 'drone' music who crosses the Downtown and Improv scenes. A characteristic of Niblock's drone style is its subtle, gradual alteration of pitch which leads one to lose a sense of 'time' and draws one deeper and deeper into the sound itself. The remarkable thing is that Niblock achieves this effect by almost always using traditional acoustic instruments. Niblock is an intermedia artist using music, film, photography, video and computers; he initially was trained in the visual arts and worked as a photographer; he takes inspiration from minimal artists, including Rothko, Judd and Andre."

'Disseminate Ostrava': In this orchestra piece, the players read from a conventional score. There is no after-recording manipulation of the material. The recording comes from the Ostrova Days Festival in the Czech Republic, where the 41-piece Ensemble OCNM is supplemented by members of the Janacek Philharmonic. 'Kontradictionaries': This work was written for the Kontra-trio. The trio (formed in 1992) of Bischof, Mejer and Bachmann concentrates on the sound of low wind instruments. The three wind contrabasses are used as sources for acoustic phenomena. Here, the musicians recorded 'samples' of the notes in a recording studio. Niblock then edited the samples, made pitch shifts of them, and combined this material in a multi-track score. There is no manipulation of the sound of the instruments, the combination of the different microtonal pitches and timbres of the instruments modifies the sound. The musicians later added 'live' parts to the Niblock multitrack-mixed-to stereo recording.

'Disseminate Q-02': Written for the Belgian ensemble for contemporary and improvised music, Q-02. The work creates a haze of slowly shifting, vibrating sounds."

SUBOTNICK, MORTON: Vol. 2: Electronic Works - Sidewinder/Until Spring CD (MODE 132CD). $15.00

"Sidewinder" (1971) - new surround mix with liquid light show by Tony Martin. "Until Spring" - new surround mix. "Morton Subotnick was a phenomenon in the late '60s, the first composer to write substantial works for synthesizer that had a wide audience. He has been mentor to generations of composers, and his influence is so pervasive that it would be impossible to trace completely — the electronic movement, for one, reveres him. This release brings together two of his classic analog electronic works which were previously only available on LP."

SUBOTNICK, MORTON: Vol. 2: Electronic Works - Sidewinder/Until Spring 2DVD (MODE 132DVD). $27.00

Double DVD version featuring video interviews and documentary. One disc is a DVD-Video disc (with music and videos, playable on any DVD player); the other is a DVD-Audio disc (requires a DVD-Audio player, with surround-sound and stereo mixes). 48/24 bit Hi-definition; DTS Surround Sound. "Subotnick's music of this period projects and unmistakable sonority and style, like nothing else heard before or since. 'Sidewinder' unfolds in seven sections, each articulated by a specific vocabulary: rattles, drones, bouncy tones, sparse bleeps, flutters, and howls over filtered noise." — Curtis Roads.

WOLFF, CHRISTIAN: (Re): Making Music, Works 1962-99 2CD (MODE 133/4CD). $22.00

'Violist Pieces' (1997) - for viola; 'Kegama' (1991) - for ensemble; 'Peace March 1' (1983-4) - for flute; 'Peace March 2' (1984) - for ensemble; 'Emma' (1989) - for viola, cello & piano; 'Digger Song' (1988) - for violin, viola, cello, percussion; 'From Leaning Forward' (1988) - for ensemble; 'Three Pieces' (1979-80) - for violin & viola; 'For 5 or 10 Players' (1962) - 2 versions; 'Exercise(s) (15,16,17, 18)' (1975); 'Dark as a Dungeon' (1977) - for clarinet; 'Schoenen met veters' (1999) - for ensemble. "The scores presented on this 2-CD set cover 37 years of Christian Wolff's composing, and present many different musical surfaces and syntaxes. The early 'For 5 or 10 People' is a graphic score from Wolff's most experimental period. It is presented twice, once for 3 players and again for 10 players. Since the 1970's, Wolff has chosen songs from the political protest movement as starting material for many of his works. These authoritative performances are by The Barton Workshop and James Fulkerson, who have had a long tradition of playing Wolff's music. Mostly first recordings."

SATOH, SOMEI: From the Depth of Silence: Orchestral Music of Somei Satoh CD (MODE 135CD). $15.00

'From the Depth of Silence': for two tubular bells and orchestra; 'Burning Meditation': for baritone and string orchestra; 'Kyokoku': for baritone and orchestra; 'Kisetsu': for orchestra. "Somei Satoh has emerged as one of Japan's most highly acclaimed composers. Filtered through Toru Takemitsu's cross-cultural prism, his work shares similarities with the post-Minimalism of composers such as Arvo Pärt and Henryk Gorecki as well as the sacred music of iconoclasts such as John Tavener. All this to say that Satoh's music is dramatic, powerful and unabashedly gorgeous without descending to melodrama and the wearing of his heart on his sleeve. This disc marks the first recording of Satoh's music for orchestra."

FELDMAN, MORTON: Triadic Memories 2CD (MODE 136CD). $25.00

Performed by Marilyn Nonken, recorded 2003. "The place Triadic Memories takes us is full of illusions, not only of function and direction but also of timelessness and stasis. This almost 90 minute, single movement work for solo piano is available in two formats: as a specially priced 2-CD set and complete and uninterrupted on one DVD-Audio. There is no indication of tempo. For this recording, Ms. Nonken chose a steady eighth-note pulse throughout that approximates the heart rate at rest. Unfolding in time at this rate, the work's geography is its rapturous peaks and long, low valleys is brought into relief. Of Ms. Nonken's October 2003 performance of Triadic Memories, John Rockwell wrote in The New York Times: "Ms. Nonken played it with a relaxed, almost rubber-wristed calm, caressing the keys without losing rhythmic definition. A lovely performance of a lovely piece."

ECKARDT, JASON: Out of Chaos CD (MODE 137). $15.00

"An American who came of age in the late 1980s, Jason Eckardt's music captures the essences of the genres that led him first to performance (as a guitarist), and then to composition: heavy metal and art rock, jazz, gagaku and p'ansori, the Second Viennese School, American post-serialism, and the new complexity. It evokes the power of inspired, virtuosic improvisation, the incisiveness of classical ensemble playing, and the raw expressivity of ethnic music. The first complete CD of young, New York based composer Jason Eckardt's music. All first recordings."

DAHINDEN, ROLAND: Silberen CD (MODE 138CD). $15.00

'Silberen' (2000): for piano and string quartet; 'Lichtweiss' (1996): for solo vibraphone; The Arditti Quartet: Hildegard Kleebe, piano; Bernd Thurner, vibraphone. "As a composer, Dahinden is influenced by John Cage, Morton Feldman and Alvin Lucier. His works are often influenced by works of art. Built in as movements, every time in a different instrumental combination, 'silberens' tonal material is highlighted from a different side, as if one were walking, in a circle, around a sculpture. The piano, setting its tones with the echo of the open pedal; and the quartet, which is able to modulate its sounds, creates an interior to the wide sound space of the piano. This is quiet music that is full of subtle changes."

GITECK, JANICE: CD (MODE 14). $15.00

performed by the New Performance Group. "Greatly influenced by Native American as well as Asian and African music, her compositions are in turn rhythmic and meditative, ritualistic and serene... strives to recapture the ancient musical attributes of ritual and trance."

CAGE, JOHN: The Complete String Quartets Volume 1 CD (MODE 17). $15.00

Mode is an interesting NY label, perhaps best known for their intention of releasing a recording of every John Cage piece ever composed! An almost complete listing of their CD catalog is listed here. Volume 3 in the Music of Cage series (first 2 volumes are o/p LPs only, awaiting CD reissue). First of 2 CDs containing Cage's string quartets, performed by the Arditti Quartet. Recorded live at Wesleyan, 1988 Beautiful cover art of an original etching by Cage; liner notes by Cage & Arditti. Cage's string quartet works can be dazzlingly abstract and well worth absorption.

CAGE, JOHN: Music For Merce Cunningham CD (MODE 24). $15.00

Volume 4 in the Music of Cage series. The first audio document between Cage & Cunningham. It includes a 55 minute piece called "Five Stone Wind" performed by David Tudor (live electronics), Takehisa Kosugi (amplified violin, live electronics, bamboo flute) and Michael Pugliese (clay pots and tapes) as well as a 19 minute version of the classic "Cartridge Music" (same 3 performers, "using phonograph cartridges to play various objects, toys and furniture to create a cosmos of unusual sound"). Essential.

CAGE, JOHN: Roaratorio 2CD (MODE 28/29). $30.00

Repressed. Volume 6 of the Music of Cage series. 1987 Performance of this legendary radio-play, featuring the Joyce-inspired text "Writing For the Second Time Through Finnegan's Wake" mixed over a live group of Irish Folk musicians. "Some merely listening to the radio at home wrote to the BBC to complain of a concert which sounded like crossed wavelengths with liberal helpings of static and feedback." Comes with a thick booklet of information and some of the most supremely disorienting music you could desire.

SCHVARTZ, HAYDEE: New Music From Europe and the Americas CD (MODE 31). $15.00

Repressed, new 24-bit mastering. The recorded debut by Argentinian pianist Schwartz, playing works by Cage, Scelsi, Part, Kagel, Berio, Schumann, Bandini & Valverde.

RUSSELL, WILLIAM: Made In America: The Complete Works CD (MODE 34). $15.00

"Along with his friends John Cage, Henry Cowell and Lou Harrison, William Russell was one of the seminal figures in modern percussion music. Russell composed the majority of his landmark percussion pieces during the 1930s...he was the first composer to integrate African, Caribbean and Asian instruments along with found objects and the influence of jazz into his work." Performed by the percussion ensemble Essential Music, this is the first complete recording of his compositions. "Everyone interested in American avant-garde history needs this." — Kyle Gann.

CAGE, JOHN: Freeman Etudes, Books 3 & 4 CD (MODE 37). $15.00

Volume 9 of the Music of Cage series; volume 2 of the Complete Works for Violin.

CAGE, JOHN: Europeras 3 & 4 2CD (MODE 38/39). $30.00

Volume 10 of the Music of Cage Series. "Europera 3" is a dense, tumultuous work and a true celebration of opera. It is scored for six singers singing their favorite arias, six record-players playing excerpts from opera transcriptions, and the occasional intrusion of the 'Truckers' tape (a collage of over 100 superimposed operas that virtually obliterates the live action) — a multi-layered and multi-textured 70 minute collage of sound, sometimes almost transparent, sometimes almost opaque, but always joyous."

OLIVEROS, PAULINE: St. George and the Dragon CD (MODE 40). $15.00

Recordings between Oliveros (the legendary just-intonation accordion player) and the CT vocal group American Voices, live in a chapel ("specially chosen for the sessions because of its rich and vibrant acoustics"). Higher key sonic drone. Limited stock of this now deleted title.

LEBARON, ANNE: The Musical Railism of... CD (MODE 42). $15.00

2nd LeBaron CD on Mode; includes 2 solo performances for harp (one for extended techniques on prepared harp), the other a "blistering piece for electric harp, live electronics and tape... the electric harp transforms itself into Hendrix-style electric guitar solos, at times also sounding like a bass guitar, classical guitar and lute (as well as harp)."

WOLFF, CHRISTIAN: Bread And Roses CD (MODE 43). $15.00

Piano works (1976-1983), performed by Sally Pinkas. "Wolff came to prominence in the 1950s as an associate of John Cage, Morton Feldman, Earle Brown and the other American experimentalists of that period, later working with Cornelius Cardew and Frederic Rzewski. His work has gone through many transformations, including minimalism, indeterminacy, open form and works connected with political issues... Most of the works are recorded here for the first time, as one of the first all-Wolff recitals to be issued. First in a number of releases of Wolff's music to be presented by Mode."

CURRAN, ALVIN: For Cornelius CD (MODE 49). $15.00

First recordings of three solo piano pieces, performed by Yvar Mikhashoff; one dedicated to Morton Feldman, one to Cornelius Cardew and one to Julian Beck. First in Mode's series of discs performed by the late Mikhashoff. Beautiful, meditative quality.

CAGE, JOHN: The Piano Works 2 CD (MODE 50). $15.00

A new recording of "Sonatas And Interludes" for prepared piano, performed by Philippe Vandre. This is the first version to use a Steinway "O"-type baby grand piano (as Cage originally composed and designed the piece for). "Cage's masterwork is quite different — a big piece with a quiet voice. The prepared piano operates entirely by muting: by attaching objects to the strings of the piano. Cage alters their sounds in various ways, turning the piano into a percussion orchestra akin to a gamelan. The results are different from note to note — but always quieter than before."

XENAKIS, IANNIS: Ensemble Music 1 CD (MODE 53). $15.00

Five ensemble works, performed by the ST-X Ensemble: "Plekto" (first recording of a recent ens. work), "Eonta (for piano solo, 2 trumpets, 3 trombones — "like no music before or since: cascading notes like falling stars together with waves of sound from the brass"), "Akanthos" (for soprano and ensemble), "Rebons" (for percussion), "N'Shima" (for 2 amplified peasant voices, 2 amplified horns, 2 trombones, and amplified cello — "a ritual of chanting voices, singing Hebrew syllables, against a backdrop of roaring brass and solo cello").

FELDMAN, MORTON: Aki Takahashi Plays CD (MODE 54). $15.00

First release in Mode's new Feldman Edition, of shorter solo piano works. "Morton Feldman's sound-world no longer needs an introduction. Feldman was especially fond of Aki's playing, so much so that he had selected certain works particularly for her. Together they toured this program, with Feldman speaking about the compositions and Aki performing them. The CD contains selections from those recitals as well as works close to Aki's heart, many receiving their first recording and available on CD for the first time. Of particular note is the premier recording of Feldman's earliest published composition — ILLUSIONS — which is unique in his oeuvre: it is mostly loud and fast!"

XENAKIS, IANNIS: Ensemble Music 2 CD (MODE 56). $15.00

Follow up to Mode 54, recordings by the ST-X Ensemble, with the participation of the composer. Features: first recording of "A La Memoire de Witold Lutoslawski" ("It is a literal monument of sound, comprised of massive blocks of brass arranged as a dirge like fanfare."); "Akrata" (for 8 winds & 8 brass, "classic and seminal Xenakis. The work's skittering, repeated notes and extreme changes of dynamic yield a sense of vast, isolated space"); "Echange" ("a terrifying and mysterious 'concerto' for bass clarinet and ensemble"); "Xas" (for saxophone quartet) and "Okho" (for 3 djembes & bass drum).

CAGE, JOHN: The Piano Concertos CD (MODE 57). $15.00

Volume 16 of the Complete Cage Works. Includes "Concert For Piano & Orchestra" (performed by David Tudor & Ensemble Modern; "...an ever expanding galaxy of sonic possibilities with the principle of independence"); "Concerto For Prepared Piano and Chamber Orchestra (performed by Stephen Drury); "Fourteen" (perf. by Drury; "the solo piano is not played conventionally, rather its strings are bowed with rosined nylon fishing line, producing an ethereal, mysterious sound.")

XENAKIS/VARESE: Volume 3: Dammerschein CD (MODE 58). $15.00

Contains 3 works by Xenakis, including the first recording of a recent large orchestra piece ('Dammerschein' — "an energy charged, volcanic composition from the first note to the last, its massive contrasting blocks of sound give the aura of light passing through music"); "Persephassa" (for percussion ensemble) & "La Deesse Athena" ("a thickly scored chamber work, with the instruments often playing in their most aggressive ranges"). Plus Edgard Varese's "Ameriques" ("for a huge orchestra including 11 percussionists and sirens, was influenced by the urban landscape of NY — a thing of violent beauty. At the climax, the full power of the orchestra is unleashed in one of the most expansive and impressive passages in the entire orchestral repertoire. A sonic experience richly recorded and guaranteed to blow you out of your seat!"

DAVIES, PETER MAXWELL: Le Jongleur de Notre Dame CD (MODE 59). $15.00

Two works: "String Quartet" is Davies' earliest composition, performed for the first time by Arditti Quartet. "Le Jongleur de Notre Dame," a "virtuoso theater-piece" performed by Opera Sacra Buffalo (including Stephen Drury (piano) and Michael Pugliese (percussion)).

DAHINDEN TRIOS, ROLAND: Naima CD (MODE 62). $15.00

Dahinden (tenor & alto trombones), Anthony Braxton (saxophones), Joe Fonda (bass), Art Fuller (drums). "On disc, Dahinden is well known for his Hat Art recordings devoted to Cage and Wolff. This disc is the first release of his own compositions and interpretations of John Coltrane's 'Naima' and Anthony Braxton's 'Composition 136'."

CAGE, JOHN: The Piano Works 3 CD (MODE 63). $15.00

Volume 16 of the Complete Cage Works. Features 3 major solo piano pieces, performed by Stephen Drury. "The Seasons" (1947) — "this beautiful, tranquil work reflects Cage's newfound interest in Eastern philosophies." "Cheap Imitation" — a deconstruction of Erik Satie's 'Socrate' for two pianos. "ASLSP" — "consists of pointillist melodies played along with long-sustained notes whose open strings resonate with new tones to create a faint halo to the music."

FELDMAN, MORTON: First Recordings: 1950s CD (MODE 66). $15.00

"A remarkable discovery of over 75 minutes of Morton Feldman's music. This disc represents 13 unrecorded early works spanning 1950 to 1953, many previously unpublished. Highlights: his only works for magnetic tape, 'Intersection,' realized in 8-channels by Feldman with John Cage and Earle Brown. Considered lost, the work has been restored and presented here for the first time in 40 years. Also: his score for 2 cellos to Hans Namuth's film of Jackson Pollock, presented in its entirety including narration by Pollock himself; the solo piano collection 'Nature Pieces' which combine elements of Feldman's youth with his mature style; previously missing works from the Extensions and Intermission cycles. The performances are superbly played by pianist Philippe Vandré and the Turfan Ensemble from Frankfurt."

PAPE, GERARD: Electroacoustic Chamber Works CD (MODE 67). $15.00

"Composed between 1993-97, this second volume of works by Pape on Mode continues his richly dramatic style with new compositional turns. Pape sites these compositions as influenced by Xenakis, Giacinto Scelsi and Julio Estrada. Indeed, they combine the power of Xenakis with the microtonal explorations of Scelsi. All works, with the exception of 'Le Fleuve,' interact the performers with vivid use of electronics and/or tape, many composed on the UPIC computer." "Collection of ensemble/solo pieces (performed by the likes of the Arditti String Quartet, Vox Nova, and Daniel Kientzky) augmented by tapes and sound projection by this VERY post-1950 composer (born in 1955). Pape's more recent projects include 'Feu Toujours Vivant,' a piece commissioned by Art Zoyd (!) for 4 samplers and large orchestra, and an opera based on Clive Barker's novel Weaveworld (!). Extremely pleasant sound-worlds, rife with complex tone-clusters and occasional bursts of ultra-processed sonic-nonsense. Chaotic." — Hrvatski.

WOLFF, CHRISTIAN: I Like to Think of Harriet Tubman CD (MODE 69). $15.00

"Wolff is considered a member of 'The New York School' along with John Cage, Morton Feldman, Earle Brown and David Tudor. The superb performances come from The Barton Workshop, an Amsterdam-based ensemble founded by composer-trombonist James Fulkerson. Among the highlights: the 'Serenade' of 1950, an extraordinary individual work from a sixteen-year-old who had just introduced himself to Cage. It intimates the minimalist movement which was to come a decade later. 'For Morty' (1987), written in memory of Morton Feldman, used three instruments that have a particular significance in Feldman's work — the vibraphone, glockenspiel and piano. Its tender fragility reminds one of the unique sensibility of Feldman, while remaining music that only Wolff could have conceived."

REYNOLDS, ROGER: Watershed DVD (MODE 70). $24.00

Advertised as the "first classical DVD custom-designed for Dolby 5.1 5-channel sound." This is a DVD release and is NOT playable on CD players. "Roger Reynolds has been in the forefront of composition for multichannel sound for over 30 years. DVD (Digital Video Disc) technology, with its ability to realize 5-channel spatialized surround sound is the ideal medium to showcase these compositions. 'Watershed IV' is a spectacular work of a percussionist encircled by an imposing battery of instruments. The work's live-interactive spatialization is designed to pull the listener into the percussionists' perspective as sounds move and fly around him and listener alike. This experience is dramatically recreated here in a realistic display of the composition and of the DVD's sonic potential. 'Eclipse', (for computer generated and processed sound, with visuals by the legendary video artist Ed Emshwiller), involves waves of fire surging back and forth through space while gradually transforming into the sounds of water."

COWELL, HENRY: Mosaic 2CD (MODE 72). $30.00

Collection of Cowell's chamber music, performed by the Musician's Accord and the Colorado String Quartet. "Included are the three famous early string quartets, the open-form '26 Simultaneous Mosaics' heard in 3 very different performances, the infamous 'Polyphonica' for 12 instruments, the baroque-influenced 'Quartet of 1962,' and the Asian influenced 'Return' for percussion ensemble."

WOLFF, CHRISTIAN: Tilbury Pieces (Complete) CD (MODE 74). $15.00

"The works on this disc, volume 3 of Mode's Christian Wolff Edition, belong to his minimalist, and open-form, styles. The 'Tilbury' pieces (1969-70) are named for the pianist John Tilbury, whom Wolff had recently met. 'Snowdrop' (1970), from the same period, was named for the snowdrops among the earliest Spring flowers found in the Vermont countryside where Wolff lives. They attempt to integrate a systematic way of writing with chance and the excitement of early minimalism from Riley, Glass and Reich along with their English counterparts Hobbs, Smith, Nyman and White. A reaction against Serialism, their sound motifs come in fixed cycles, now and again two or more sounds appear at the same time, coincide and collide, making chords. 'Tilbury 5' was written 25 years later at the request of the performers Roland Dahinden (trombone, melodica), Hildegard KleeB (piano) and Dimiris Polisoidis (violin, viola)."

CAGE, JOHN: The Number Pieces 2 CD (MODE 75). $15.00

"During the last few years of his life, John Cage wrote many pieces in the same general vein as 'Five(3)'. They are often referred to as 'the number pieces.' This references the titles of the pieces, which are all simply the number of the performers. The superb Arditti Quartet, along with first violinist Irvine Arditti, continue their traversal of the complete works of Cage for string quartet and violin." Volume 19 of The Complete John Cage Edition.

KAVINA, LYDIA: Music From The Ether: Original Works for Theremin CD (MODE 76). $15.00

"Russian theremin virtuosos Lydia Kavina presents the FIRST RELEASE EVER dedicated to ORIGINAL compositions for the instrument — spanning the 'golden age' of the theremin from its invention in the 1920s to contemporary works. One of the first attempts to unite music and scientific technology in the 20th century, the theremin is considered to be the ancestor of modern electronic musical instruments. Its evolution from scientific curiosity to virtuoso classical instrument (played by Clara Rockmore in Carnegie Hall) to 'instrument of the future' (according to Cage, Varèse, Grainger and others) to Hollywood sound effect (played in soundtracks to Spellbound, The Day the Earth Stood Still, The Lost Weekend) to rock-and-roll instrument (used by the Beach Boys, Led Zeppelin and others) has been well documented. Lydia Kavina is the world's leading thereminist today. The granddaughter of Leon Theremin's first cousin, she was the inventor's last protégée. She began studying the instrument with him at the age of nine, and was concertizing by age fourteen. Since then, Kavina has given over 500 concerts."

CZERNOWIN, CHAYA: Afatsim (Chamber Music 1988-96) CD (MODE 77). $15.00

"Czernowin's sound occupies a unique world. Often many instruments are used to become one 'composite' instrument. Time is slowed down, so that the slow flow of sound enables one to perceive the smallest details of a texture or a sound. The resulting music can feel fluid, dense or agitated, at times echoing that of Xenakis and Ferneyhough." Performed by Arditti Quartet, Harvey Sollberg, Mayumi Miyata (Japanese mouth organ), John Fonville (flute), etc.

XENAKIS, IANNIS: Works for Piano CD (MODE 80). $15.00

"Xenakis' piano music is among the most powerful and virtuosic of the latter part of the 20th century. Full of dynamic energy and color, the works can evoke the sonic equivalent of an exploding cosmos or a mysterious, foggy world of mists through which glimpses of form and light can be perceived. At the hands of Aki Takahasi, they come alive with a special vitality. Of Aki's playing of 'Herma', Xenakis wrote in 1973: 'It was a difficult work and according to my French musician friends, unplayable. They thought it would need at least 1 year of work and advised me to rewrite it for at least two or three players and two pianos. Indeed, it introduced an expansion of the hands all over the keyboard simultaneously. When I first heard Aki play it in Paris last Fall at her Musée d'Art Moderne recital I was, in spite of my skepticism, conquered by her play. There was no problem with the huge technical difficulties. A tender and warm musicality irradiated through the piece in a bright, sparkling and powerful performance.' the breathtaking performances in audiophile quality sound make this one of the great Xenakis — and new music — recordings of all time."

FERRARI, LUC: Volume 1: Chansons Pour Le Corps CD (MODE 81). $15.00

Includes "Chansons Pour Le Corps" (1988-94; for voice, clarinets, percussion, piano and synthesizer; Elise Caron, voice), and "Et Si Tout Entière Maintenant" (1986-87; symphonic tale for voice, orchestral sound and tape; with texts by Collette Fellous; Anne See, voice; Nouvel Orchestre Philharmonique; Yves Prin, conductor). "The works on this disc show a combination of Ferrari's musique concrete and instrumental styles. The point of departure for 'Chansons Pour Le Corps' was a series of spontaneous interviews with women on the subject of female form which Ferrari recorded in the Jardin du Luxembourg. It's a great image, a young woman out for a Sunday afternoon stroll approached by a man wondering if she might allow him to record her talking about various intimate parts of her body. The interviewees were invited to speak about their eyes, hands, breasts and sex, and those who accepted did so with extraordinary candor. Novelist and radio presenter Colette Fellous was then asked to write texts based on the tapes to be set for soprano and ensemble interspersed with extracts from the original interviews. 'Et Si Tout Entière Maintenant' a 'symphonic tale' for voice, orchestral sound and tape is an extraordinary work. The orchestral score was performed, recorded and then treated electronically in his studio, though the orchestra is never deformed beyond all recognition. This is incorporated into the piece along with the authentic sounds of the Swedish icebreaker and its crew, and Fellous' spoken text. What results is typical Ferrari genre blending, inhabiting a region somewhere between fact and fiction, documentary and poetry, orchestral and electronic music."

FELDMAN, MORTON: Complete Works for Violin & Piano 2CD (MODE 82/83). $30.00

"Here, collected for the first time, are all of Morton Feldman's compositions for violin and piano. It is also a kind of walk through his compositional development, from the Webernesque early 'Piece for Violin and Piano' (1950); through the experiments with graphic notation in 'Projection 4' (1951); followed by an excursion into the jungle-like density of David Tudor's energy in 'Extensions 1' (1951); to the cryptic notational riddles of 'Vertical Thoughts 2' (1963); from the dry carpet-dusting 'Spring of Chosroes' (1977) to the extended sound canvas of the late Feldman in 'or John Cage' (1982). He remarked with an eye twinkling: 'My music is just like Webern. Only a little bit longer.'"

CAGE, JOHN: Cage Performs Cage: The Text Pieces I: The Artists Pieces 2CD (MODE 84). $30.00

"Cage's reading of his text pieces was legend — as recited in his unique, gentle voice — often had a 'musical,' soothing quality. And just as often, a humorous side. These are not stories in the traditional sense with a plot; rather they are based on mesostics. Basically, a mesostic uses a person's name or word as a vertical center for each stanza of the text. Cage would then choose texts and, using chance operations, search them for sentences containing a letter of this word. Each subsequent line of the stanza would have to contain the next letter of the word, and would be aligned underneath until the complete word was composed to form one stanza. The process would then be repeated over and over until the writing was completed (based on the parameters Cage would select for that work). In this way, Cage would be able to write something relevant about that person without knowing what he was going to say. This first set of Cage Performs Cage centers around mesostics for his friends and associates; the artists Jasper Johns and Morris Graves. And, in the 'Series re Morris Graves', we get the rare opportunity to hear John Cage sing." Volume 20 of The Complete John Cage Edition.

CAGE, JOHN: The Orchestral Works, 2 CD (MODE 86). $15.00

Includes "Etcetera: For Chamber Orchestra With 3 Conductors" (1973), "Etcetera 2/4 Orchestras: For Large Orchestra Divided Into 4 Smaller Ensembles With Their Own Conductors" (1986). "The first recording of two major orchestral works by John Cage, recorded under the composer's supervision at the New England Conservatory's John Cage festival in 1991. These works are about 'multiplicity' — of performing options, of ensembles, of conductors; tape music or live music, standard or unconventional notation, repetition or non-repetition. Each piece also contains a tape recording of the environment where the work was created — in the country for "Etcetera", the city for 'Etcetera 2/4 Orchestras'. The ensembles are directed by Cage specialist Stephen Drury." Volume 21 of The Complete John Cage Edition.

NONO, LUIGI: Vox Nova CD (MODE 87). $15.00

"Mode's new edition focusing on the work of Luigi Nono will include not only the noted works, but also recreations of his later pieces. These works, mainly from the mid-sixties and on, and including 'A Floresta E Jovem E Cheja De Vida', were orally transmitted 'interactive' compositions — in many cases without a completed score. Created with Nono's preference to experiment with certain musicians and sound engineers, they often made use of live electonics to achieve a unified, constantly mobile sound world. the vocal works on this disc come from both stages of Nono's oeuvre, and are of a decidedly political bent. All feature extended vocal techniques, using different mouth positions to produce a wide range of vocal colors which often transcend the meaning of the words."

CAGE, JOHN: The Works For Violin, Vol. 3 CD (MODE 88). $15.00

"Irvine Arditti (violin); Mayumi Miuta (shō); Stephen Drury (piano). The shō, a Japanese mouth organ, is a unique instrument with a mysterious, reedy sound- distantly comparable to an accordion, harmonica, and harmonium. Mayumi Miyata is the instrument's leading new music interpreter. The score consists of a set of materials in six categories, three for each instrument, one of which is silence. Both the violin and shō are encouraged to make extremely long held notes, often with microtonal shifts. The pianist can choose to play from a set of ascending pitches, as well as 'extended lullabies' which are modified from Satie's Vexations. The result is music that is mysteriously magical."

KOONCE, PAUL: Walkabout & Back CD (MODE 90). $15.00

"Have you ever experienced those remarkable moments when everyday sounds, similar in structure but different in function, coincide — the phone that rings through the trill of a Mozart piano cadence; the baby whose cry follows the meandering squeak of a nearby door? It has been with an ear turned toward these moments — their magic and the insight they give us into sound and representation — that Paul Koonce composed the works in this collection. These works were all created out of recorded materials, using collage and various computer manipulations to create a unique and evocative sound world."

SAARIAHO, KAIJA: New Gates CD (MODE 91). $15.00

"Kaija Saariaho (born 1952) is the most successful of contemporary Finnish composers. She studied in Freiburg, and finally settled in Paris, at IRCAM, the center for computer music. Tracks include: 'Cendres' (1991/6) for flute, harp and viola; 'Grammaire des Reves' (1998-9) for soprano, contralto, 2 flutes, harp, viola, cello; 'Solar' (1993) for flute/piccolo, oboe, clarinet, trumpet, 2 percussion, harp, piano/sampler, synthesizer, violin, viola, double bass; 'New Gates' (1996) for flute, harp, viola."

SCELSI, GIACINTO: The Piano Works 1 CD (MODE 92). $15.00

Performed by Louise Bessette (piano). "This marks not only the first volume in Mode's new Scelsi edition, but also the initial disc of the traversal of his piano works. Written in 1939, Scelsi's 'Second Sonata' was premiered by Yvar Mikhashoff in London (1979). Marking a new compositional direction, Scelsi suspended thematic development and frequently introduced various kinds of repetitions: reiterated single tones, chords, and patterns, often suggesting the sounds of bells or Oriental gongs. Scelsi characterized 'Tai' as 'a succession of episodes alternately expressing Time and Man, as symbolized by cathedrals or monasteries, with the sacred sound of Om'. Emphasizing the suite's calm, meditative and mysterious character, Scelsi wondered if this piece should be played at concerts at all, and advised in its preface: 'This suite should be listened to and played with the greatest inner calm. Nervous people stay away.' It features low contrasting musical material, repetitive elements, stationary tones and chords, and blurred sounds due to the frequent use of both pedals. The music manifests both constant flow and inertia, and since Scelsi rarely used bar-lines, it seems to unfold in an almost unrestrained manner."

VALVERDE, GABRIEL: Luminar CD (MODE 94). $15.00

"Gabriel Valverde is internationally recognized as one of Argentina's leading composers, noted for his strong electronic pieces (most created using traditional analog tape resources) and instrumental works. This is his first monograph disc, and a great opportunity to sample this special composer's voice. The CD's title, Luminar (taken from the second movement of the orchestral work Espacios Inasibles), aptly describes Valverde's unique sound: a luminous kaleidoscope of colors and shifting masses of sound which often resonate towards — and from — silence."

SCELSI, GIACINTO: The Orchestral Works 1 CD (MODE 95). $15.00

"Volume 2 in Mode's Scelsi Edition presents three of his rarely heard and recorded orchestral works, vividly captured in outstanding sound. Hymnos (1963) for large orchestra, Hurqualia (1960) for large orchestra, Konx-Om-Pax (1968) for large orchestra & choir, Canti del Capricorno (1962-72), selections, for voice with instruments. The Carnegie Mellon Philharmonic & Choir, Juan Pablo Izquierdo, conductor."

SUBOTNICK, MORTON: Vol. 1: Electronic Works CD (MODE 97). $15.00

All-time classic electronic works by Morton Subotnick, available on either regular CD or DVD in surround sound. "CD version contains only the three electronic pieces in new dedicated stereo mixes by the composer. Touch (for 4-channel tape, 1969); A Sky of Cloudless Sulphur (for 8-channel tape, 1978, first release of the complete version); Gestures: It Begins with Colors (1998-2000, first recording); Joan LaBarbara, voice."

SUBOTNICK, MORTON: Vol. 1: Electronic Works DVD (MODE 97DVD). $23.00

"Touch (1969, first discreet 4-channel release); A Sky of Cloudless Sulphur (for 8-channel tape, 1978, first release of the complete version); Gestures: It Begins with Colors (for 5.1 surround sound, 1998-2000, first recording); Joan LaBarbara, voice. Plus video interviews and interactive DVD-ROM. Experience Multi-channel electronic works in 5.1 Surround Sound. Immerse yourself in the classic multi-channel works Touch and A Sky of Cloudless Sulphur — both remastered from their original analog tapes, and Subotnick's latest electronic work Gestures (featuring new music vocalist Joan LaBarbara). DVD allows you to experience these works as they were 'spatially' intended in your own home — in high-definition sound. Special features: the early works were remixed to 5.1 Surround Sound under the composer's supervision. Gestures was composed specifically for the 5.1 medium. Touch, originally commissioned by Columbia Records for the Quad LP, appears for the first time as a 4-channel discreet version. A Sky of Cloudless Sulphur is reissued for the first time since the original LP. This also marks the first release of the complete 28 minutes version."

XENAKIS/UPIC/CONTINUUM: Electroacoustic & Instrumental Works From CCMIX Paris 2CD (MODE 98). $31.00

"This 2-CD collection documents more than 20 years of works composed on the unique computer music system called UPIC, and the evolution of the computer music center founded specifically to promote it — Les Ateliers UPIC, now called CCMIX. The UPIC system was conceived by Iannis Xenakis in the early 1950s; the first version of UPIC was built by Xenakis' research center, the CEMAM, in the late 1970s, and the system continues to be developed to this day. Instead of a keyboard to perform the music, the UPIC's performance device is a mouse and/or a digital drawing board. These are used to trace the composer's graphic score into the UPIC computer program, which then interprets the drawings as real time instructions for sound synthesis — the composition/performance of a graphic musical score and real-time sound synthesis are unified by the UPIC's approach." Composers include: Iannis Xenakis (featuring the 8-channel tape piece "Polytope de Cluny" from 1972), Brigitte Robinoré, Jean-Claude Risset, Nicola Picernino, Julio Estrada, Daniel Terruggi, Takehito Shimazu, Curtis Roads, Gérard Pape.

MODERN LOVE (UK):

BITSTREAM: One Third Standard Lux CD (LOVE 002CD). $17.00

"Bitstream is the brothers Steve and Dave Conner, born in the mid 70's in a small town in Northamptonshire, England. Compiling some of Bitstream's rarest material to date alongside their best known work, One Third Standard Lux is a perfect starting point from which to establish the importance the brothers Conner have had on the British electro scene over the last few years. Originally championed by the Autechre-related Skam label in Manchester and their pioneering DJ Rob Hall, Bitstream have been releasing innovative and complex electronic music to an ever-growing audience of dedicated followers. Their love of experimental music is also proudly on display, vocal treatments on the harrowing 'Lost Cluster' and 'Madame Resonance' showing this to most devastating effect, while the unadulterated crunchy euphoria of the classic 'Radiotherapy' acts as the perfect album opener. With a formidable catalogue of releases to date for labels like City Centre Offices and their own Pylon Recordings, Bitstream transcend the confines of the electronic dancefloor through to a much broader spectrum of sound. One Third Standard Lux is the definitive retrospective of that particular sound."

TROUBLESHOOTER: Troubleshooter 12" (LOVE 003 EP). $9.00

"There's a lot of excitement surrounding the debut material from this mysterious ex-Bitstream operator. The 6 tracks on board take us to over half an hour's worth of ruffage, emanating from the twisted mangled beat and bass mashup of opening track 'Freeform Render' to the classic late night IDM of 'Rotating Mass', the sparse synth-heavy electroid breakbeat of 'Micro-Dotz', heavy bass decimations on 'Nuclear Fusion', classic acidic spacious electro on 'Spacemission One' and the monstrous, rigid low-end magnetism of the closing 'Subversive Chasm V2'. There's a distinctive sound at play here that brings to mind all manner of electronic blueprints as defined by the likes of Afx, EOG and, of course, Bitstream, but there's a certain twist to the beats and the synths that you just won't hear anywhere else this year."

BITSTREAM: Departure Lounge 12" (LOVE 004EP). $10.00

"It's about time that Steve and Dave Conner showed their faces to the world once more — it's been a good while since the release of their 'Radiotherapy' 12" kick-started this label off in style a couple of years back. Having always looked to push the boundaries of electronic music and electro in particular, Departure Lounge marks a sharp turn in development for their always distinct sound. 'Psalm 22' takes over and destroys the whole span of the A-side. An epic 14 minute chug that takes its time looking into the fine detail of machinery and malfunction before erupting into a deadly, slowed down and outrageously nasty arrangement of staggered beats. Challenging scope and focus that lets off in catharsis just as the density of noise starts to fray at the edges — mighty stuff."

PENDLE COVEN: Trouble At Mill 12" (LOVE 005 EP). $9.00

"The mysterious Pendle Coven crew dropped in on us cloaked and masked, their credentials indisputable, their material absolutely devastating, their obscured faces oddly familiar to us from someplace. Trouble At Mill is the first batch of tracks to be released under this moniker (check out the NMB 12" and you just might hear another) — although an intermittent series of transmissions is planned. The music doesn't really start or end with an adherence to one school of thought or another, just a display of love for the music that has shaped their lives: music from Detroit, Berlin, Manchester, West London, Chicago, Sheffield...all being the operative cities in question."

ANONYMOUS: Special Blends Volume One 12" (LOVE 007 EP). $9.00

"We thought we'd bring you something a little bit special before the year's out — and here it is. This first Special Blends edition on Modern Love has been spliced up by one of the world's foremost producers of destroyed hip hop and electronic hybrids, an anonymous foray into a world where devastating hip hop cuts lace up with a monster raved-up hoover mangle. This is the dopestyle sh*t! Give this a listen, you'll know why it ain't easy to describe — a world where the b-boy cap-twisted attitude swamps up with that untouchable hardcore suck of the lip. It's that good party people. The flip offers up two more cuts — a nasty, dense, bass-heavy crushing dirty wreck of an instrumental hip hop attack straight out the Company Flow textbook, and a more breezy, broken bass modulated party number."

ILEK.TRO: White Void 12" (LOVE 008EP). $11.00

"Back in the mid-late 90's, Germany's mighty Klang imprint released two of the most revered and collectable electro 12"s of the last 10 years, both under the legendary recording moiker ILEK.TRO. Having met in Leeds back in the early 90's, Carl Finlow (Silicon Scally, Random Factor, Voice Stealer) and Daz Quayle (founder of the Scsi imprint) started using the ILEK.TRO tag through an insanely productive period of constructing and recording some of the most destroyed, fierce, always deep and sick electro the UK has ever brought to life or since witnessed. The Finlow / Quayle archives have been sealed for a good 9 years now, but this EP has been in the planning for quite some time. Collecting 5 previously unreleased tracks recorded during that frenzied period, White Void is the third and most disturbed record yet in this decade-long series, unleashing itself with the mutilated jacked-up beat mangling and bass rush of 'Charcuterie' — sounding like a cross between Autechre at their most devastating and quasi-human beat box, injected with unspeakable quantities of pharmaceuticals and left to deconstruct chunk by chunk. You just couldn't describe it as anything other than outright SICK."

MOFA (GERMANY):

VA: Electric Pop Vol. 1 2CD (MOFA 005 CD). $17.00

"Electric Pop, that is 2002 one of the key words. All the same, whether London, New York or Munich, everywhere the fresh sound from techno, electro and classical pop experiences a large eddy. CD compilations like Neue Heimat or Neo Pop made already first stocktakings. Particularly Germany proves with its citizen of Berlin like 2Raumwohnung and Martini Brös as fruitful soil for a new musician generation. Electric Pop creates an overview, which provides at present on the world-wide Electro stage for excitement and stretches thereby a far elbow of the underground, so-called synthcore things up to the electro-pop variant and remains always homelistingfriendly and dancable." Artists include: Felix Da Housecat feat. Miss Kittin & Melistar, Sergej Auto, Northern Lite, Romanthony (Jan Driver mix), Dr Walker & Electro Atomu feat Mr Oral, Golden Boy with Miss Kittin, Midnight Mike, Crossover, Carl A. Finlow, Ellen Allien, Op! Bastards, Ural 13 Diktators, G.D. Luxe (Adult mix), Kitbuilders, Chicks on Speed (Alter Ego mix), Hakan Lidbow, Nora Below, Creme De Menthe, Luke Slater, Linda Lamb (Tiga mix), Bankok Impact, Winnie, FC Kahuna, P.Lauer ft. Toni Macaroni, Felix Rennfeld, Nothingface, MIA, Mains Ignition.

VA: Electric Pop #2 2CD (MOFA 008 CD). $20.00

"These 80's influenced tunes were played at Mayday to Loveparade and everywhere else... Now Mofa Schallplatten continues it's big success after Electric Pop #1 with that great compilation called Electric Pop #2: Including electro-poppers like 2 Raumwohnung, The Faint, Radio 4, Grom, Martini Brös, Playgroup, Ellen Allien, Black Strobe or Codec & Flexor and hot-shots like Monosurround, Warren Suicide, Swayzak, Solar, Angie Reed, Whitey, Savas Pascaldis or Das Bierbeben."

MOIKAI:

RUSSELL, RAY: Live at the I.C.A./Retrospective 2CD (M04). $21.00

"The English free jazz improvisation scene of the late 60s and early 70s was an incestuous breeding ground. Robert Fripp was producing albums by Keith Tippett, Brian Eno was using Derek Bailey and Evan Parker on albums of odd Russian electronic music on Island, and labels like EMI and RCA were actually taking a stab at selling this music to a large market. Amidst all this was Ray Russell, a popular session guitarist, also playing in John Barry's group, also reputed to be the first guitarist in England to have a pedal setup, and also the man responsible for the guitar freak-out on the Dr. No soundtrack album. CBS and RCA started releasing records of his free jazz groups. They started innocently enough, but eventually Russell started to break free. At a time when hollow body guitars and a clean sound were the norm, he had his Fender guitar in one hand and a fuzz box in the other. For a period in the early 70s he made records of unknown hybridbastardization of the rock sound and free jazz energy. He was Caspar Brotzmann when Caspar's dad was still writing blueprints for the continental Europe free jazz sound. Then he moved on, as people do, and the records became impossible to get. His efforts dropped off the face of the free map. The sound is recognizably jazz — rhythm section, horn, playing heads, group improvisation. But even after all these years it's still a shock when Russell comes up to bat. His lines are not so much melodic variation, or even Coltrane-like walls of sound. Instead it is what, 20 years later, was termed 'skree'; sharp, angular bursts, like a Pollock painting mounted with guitar pickups, the sound of explosions. Like contemporaries Sonny Sharrock and Terje Rypdal, Russell makes it sound as if the guitar is not enough, as if he's reaching for something wilder, something that can't be contained within the 6 string cage."

FENNESZ: Fennesz Plays CD (M05). $5.00

Repressed. CD reissue of a Mego 7" only release, featuring 'covers' of "Paint It Black" & "Don't Talk (Put Your Head on My Shoulder)". Eight minutes of totally compelling electricity, suitable for non-stop repeated play. "Fans of 'tunes' take note, these 2 songs are electron-o-fied pop. The Rolling Stones and the Beach Boys would roll over in their graves and tell Stockholm the news if only their estates would allow us access to their holy remains! But seriously, there's no fucking way they, you or anyone else who's ever listened to music is going to recognize these all-too-familiar rock-n-roll staples...a singular beauty, pop music with plenty of pops, and skips, and clicks, and hums."

PITA: Get Out LP (M06 LP). $12.00

US-only vinyl issue of this Mego album, released on CD in Oct. 1999. "Get Out is Pita's second full length release (his first, Seven Tons For Free is widely regarded along with Ryoji Ikeda's ± and Panasonic's Vanio as a cornerstone of the beep generation). Get Out expands far beyond the scope of the first Pita disc, delving into textures unknown, all accessed from his happy laptop."

TORAL, RAFAEL: Sound Mind Sound Body CD (M07). $13.50

"Rafael Toral's music is guitar based, but doesn't seem to involve any of the usual guitar histrionics. Instead he focuses in on the little details, the expansion of the sustained note. Sound Mind Sound Body is indeed a sustained note; the music is not dissimilar to Fripp and Eno's classic extrapolations, to Toral's mentor (and former NYC landlord) Phil Niblock, or to other like-minded drone masters. What is special is its (for lack of a better word) tenderness and hands-off gentleness. For this reissue, Toral has restored some pieces that were edited from the original and remastered the whole bloody thing for maximum drone effect."

DRUMM, KEVIN: Comedy CD (M08). $13.50

"Comedy is his third album, recorded over two years ago. It floated around in a provisional version, entitled Organ, for quite a while and caused a genuine bidding war between labels, at least five of them, which caused our Kevin to retreat in his special endeavor way, and ultimately decide not to do anything at all with it. During this hibernation, Organ underwent some changes, being dissected and bisected and now including three electronically generated magnifications, bookended by the original monolithic organ recording. The album opens and closes with this would be title track, and it's awesome. 'Organ' is firmly in line with monster-minimalists Tony Conrad and Phil Niblock. The recording of this could honestly be heard over a block away from his apartment. The middle pieces are, like his album Second, extrapolations of microscopic detail and will be familiar terrain to fans of Bernhard Gunter and the Mego scene. But Drumm is so all-American, his sense of intuition over form is totally there, that classic intuition that got us all the patents."

SPACE PONCH: The World Shopping With Space Ponch CD (M09 CD). $13.50

"Space Ponch is strange even by Japanese standards. The World Shopping With Space Ponch is the sound of an odd electronic orchestra, a digital dance band, somehow not out of place if you imagine a 1970s ballroom and a stage full of keyboard players, all pecking away at their silicon instruments. Vocoded vocals are overused all over the world, but here, they go far beyond what you may have previously heard. Giorgio Moroder's got nothing on Space Ponch. This world have been perfect for Ken Russell. And cinematic comparison isn't that far off. There's a medley of music from Jacques Tati, as well as other good-times standards, a cartoon-cutup style of Perry and Kingsley, the pre-video game sound of Yello Magic Orchestra, the electronic equivalent to Dr. Buzzard's Original Savannah Band. Yet somehow Space Ponch goes somewhere very strange that they haven't been before. It's a case of mistaken identity, because you can't quite identify them."

TSUYUKO, AKI: Ongakushitsu CD (M10 CD). $13.50

"Aki Tsuyuko may be best known on this side of the planet as the voice for Nobukazu Takemura, but she has been making her own music quietly and unassumingly for the last few years. Tsuyuko's own music is subdued, and more introspective that what is expected from the current generation of Japanese electronic music. Instead of the sample-crazed, cartoon-pitched high speed cacophony of say, someone like Space Ponch, the sound of Ongakushitsu is rooted in more organic sounds. Fender Rhodes, disconnected flutes, slow melodies, and an Ash Ra sense of space. If anything, Ongakushitsu sounds like the afterhour extrapolations of a chanteuse who thinks everyone's gone home for the evening." Previously issued on Chidisc in Japan.

TSUYUKO, AKI: Ongakushitsu 2LP (M10 LP). $13.50

Double LP version.

ORTON SOCKET: 99 Explosions CD (M11 CD). $13.50

"Orton Socket is mainly comprised of main-man and mouthpiece Rob Mazurek, known for blowing horns (as well as eardrums and minds etcetera) on a variety of efforts by Stereolab, Isotope 217, his own Chicago Underground Duo, and some other folks you probably have heard of. Plus Rob's done a series of records under his own name. See, he's been a spotlight kid for years now. But for 99 Explosions, Rob has reemerged incognito, armed with synthesizer and powerbook, wearing the shimmering cloak of Orton Socket. The results, shall we interject, are outstanding. More in line with Nuno Canavaro's Plux Quba and Aki Tsuyuko's Ongakushitsu than Bill Dixon and Albert Ayler, 99 Explosions reveals a poet in the making, a tone poet, that is. Truly, the man is not limited by an embouchure. Fans of Mazurek and the soon to be named 'melancholy electronics' genre will equally be fulfilled by Rob's latest excursion into outer now-ness."

ORTON SOCKET: 99 Explosions LP (M11 LP). $13.50

LP version.

NIBLOCK, PHILL: G2,44+lx2 CD (M12 CD). $13.50

"Yep, in this day and age, there's money in this minimalism thing. Which is nice for a fellow like Phil Niblock, a man who's been out in the field for over thirty years. While some may be happy to dabble in approximate music, or that only hinted at in whispered tones by those who still subscribe to the idea of the 'tonal auteur,' Phil Niblock makes the very stuff around which this particular world of music revolves. Thusly (and finally and thankfully), a finished record, to add to the handful of other Phil Niblock releases available today. Guitar too for four, you say? Indeed. Phil Niblock has assembled here a full roster of 6 stringers, and that means simply, a lot of guitar players. The project started some time ago, when the original recordings were made by Phil and Robert Poss. These were then made into a 'version' (like a dub record — dig the crossover appeal!) by Portuguese man about town Rafael Toral. A new 'street-level' version was made in New York, with more chaos provided by Alan Licht, Kevin Drumm, Lee Ranaldo, and Thurston Moore. All of these folks have performed the piece live, and brought the 'vibe' into the studio. The whole thing was overseen by Phil and Moikai head honcho O'Rourke. The disc features both versions of the 32-minute 'live'."

TRIANGLES: Triangles CD (M13 CD). $13.50

"Triangles offers you more of the powerbook electronics sounds we're all digging on so much, and from speaking comparatively from the field as it stands today, Triangles sounds quite good, really amazing, in fact. Despite falling into the, dammit, start saying it — 'melancholy electronics,' hole that you clearly need filled, Triangles stands on it's own. Need more? Try this — Triangles occupies the space between powerbook extrapolations (quite reminiscent of the sole person in America who can do anything well at all on them silicon bastards, wink wink!), and middle 70's Italian melancholy electronics (yes, they did it first again, damn them!), like Alvin Curran or Franco Battiato. It hints at Robert Ashley's automatic writing and David Behrman's On the Other Ocean. A little bit anyways. But no matter what you think Triangles sounds like, it's definitely a 'trip,' as the kids on acid say. Yeah, Triangles will definitely keep those types busy for awhile. Meanwhile, critics will find it shocking easy to find angles and write reviews for Triangles, so expect much punning geometry in our near pulp future. But what of you, the listener? You can throw this disc on (after examining the cover graphics by Triangles and Swedish artist/soundmonger extraordinaire Leif Elgrend) and find some points of your own. Who knows? Maybe you'll say, Triangles — A hodgepodge of bleeps, scrapes, white noise, motor-like sounds, schmaltzy organ drones, sluggish acoustic guitar strumming, a morose piano note or two, an apoplectic fit of crunching and crackling and a clipped voice occasionally muttering something. Triangles use guitars (both electric and acoustic), piano, organ, PZM scrape and scratch as well as analog synthesizer and other modern electronic music producing equipment. Cold at times, serene at others, spacey, maybe gloomy for a few moments — you can throw harsh in there too. All that in just 38 minutes."

TRIANGLES: Triangles LP (M13 LP). $11.00

LP version.

MOLLSELEKTA (GERMANY):

BROOKS, MIKE AND FRIENDS: Just the Vibes 1976-1983 CD (MOLL 03 CD). $15.00

"Just The Vibes 1976-1983 is a tribute to Brooks' powerful roots-style songwriting and a document of his time as a deeply religious social critic in Jamaica. Next to roots rhymes like "Holy Jah Jah", "Money Is Not All" and "Living My Culture", there's two rare Lee Perry/Black Ark versions every sound system will benefit from: "Solid Ground" (a version of "Party Time"), and "Changes". Just The Vibes 1976-1983 is a collection of timeless roots songs in remembrance of the days when Jamaican culture was on the verge of setting out for worldwide triumph, spreading its language and religion through reggae music. Both the CD and vinyl appear with extensive liner notes, and the LP will be delivered in a luxury fold-out sleeve. Producer credits besides Brooks include Fatman, Joe Joe Hookim, Harry J., Jackie Mittoo, Moodie, Lee Perry, Prince Jammy, Scientist, and King Tubby. The studios have been: Black Ark, Channel One, Easy Street and as backing band The Aggroators, The Revolutionaries, and the Roots Radics."

BROOKS, MIKE AND FRIENDS: Just the Vibes 1976-1983 LP (MOLL 03 LP). $11.00*COLLINS WITH SLY & ROBBIE, ANSEL: Jamaican Gold CD (MOLL 04 CD). $15.00

"Moll-Selekta's fourth release showcases recordings by Ansel Collins, Jamaica's busiest and most famous keyboarder besides Jackie Mittoo. Laid down in 1979 with the legendary studio band The Revolutionaries at Channel One studios, whose members included the world-famous riddim twins Sly & Robbie, Jamaican Gold presents timeless Roots and Lovers Reggae, Dubs, numerous instrumentals, guest vocalists Tony Tuff and Roland Burrell as well as Deelays Mr. Mystic and Jah Thomas. A journey through the greatest musical inventions in the history of Jamaican music, in which Ansel Collins has played no small part. Growing up in the formative Sixties, when this small Caribbean island offered the pop world the gifts of ska, rock steady and the beginnings of reggae, Collins started out as a singer, then drummer before discovering keyboards. As a studio musician he participated in countless recordings with leading reggae producers like Clement 'Coxsone' Dodd at Studio One, Bunny Lee, Leslie Kong, Phil Pratt and Prince Buster. Jamaican Gold offers an insight into Ansel Collins' vast creative range at the peak of his powers."

COLLINS WITH SLY & ROBBIE, ANSEL: Jamaican Gold LP (MOLL 04 LP). $13.00

LP version.

CAMPBELL, CORNELL: Original Blue Recordings 1970-1979 CD (MOLL 05 CD). $16.00

"For more than four decades, Cornel Campbell has added jewel after jewel to the crown of Jamaican musical history, songs that can be heard in any good dancehall today, whether they come out of reggae, R&B or ska. Top of the list, the hits, 'Queen Of The Minstrels' and 'Stars', recorded for Clement Coxsone Dodd at the legendary Studio One with the Eternals. Known as the 'Sam Cooke of Reggae', due to his unique soul-infused falsetto timbre, Campbell remains remarkably unknown outside of his native Caribbean. The fifth Moll-Selekta release, Original Blue Recordings 1970-1979 showcases many of his best tracks, soulful lovers renditions and more Rasta influenced roots songs. Compositions by Marvin Gaye, Sam Cooke and particularly Curtis Mayfield figure among the timeless soul, lovers and roots evergreens to be found here. The compilation also features the hit 'Just One Kiss (Magic Spell)', the single 'Jah Jah Me No Horn Yah' and the - even on single - previously unreleased dub version of 'Devil In Bed' (on the CD only). Renowned bands The Aggroators, Soul Syndicate and the High Time Players provided the backing at Channel One, Harry J., Randy's, and Dynamic's studios whilst the mix was done at no lesser than King Tubby's. Bunny 'Striker' Lee, one of the islands' most important producers, who worked with Campbell in perhaps his finest and most prolific days in the Seventies, was responsible for production. Relive the crowning years of Kingston, Jamaica, 1970 to 1979 with Cornell Campbell at the peak of his powers. A must for serious reggae fans and a perfect introduction for the more casual observer."

LP Version, full color gatefold sleeve.

BROWN, BARRY: Rich Man Poor Man 1978-1980 CD (MOLL 07 CD). $16.00

"The Jamaican Bob Dylan — the 6th release from Moll-Selekta presents one of the greatest Jamaican Roots singers and songwriters Barry Brown. Famed for the direct and uncompromising lyrics which earned him so much street credibility and the nickname. Before digital sound locked on to Reggae in the 80s, Barry Brown was already a Dancehall star with a proven track record of hits like 'Step It Up Youthman', 'Politician' and 'Put Down Your Guns'. He worked with many of the producer greats: Bunny Lee, Joe Gibbs, Sugar Minott And Clement 'Coxsone' Dodd from Studio One. The incredibly deep and detailed Roots soundbuds come courtesy of some of the finest backing bands of the era. The Aggrovators With Sly & Robbie, Roots Radics, The Revolutionaries and the High Times Players — the perfect foil for Brown's sharp and dextrous tongue. King Tubby himself delivers the cutting edge mix, particularly impressive on the Dub-version of the title track. The producer is Rodguel 'Black Beard' Sinclair, Tappa Zukie's brother and Bunny Lee's right hand man for years. The owner of the Hulk and Mr. Tippy label has worked with Chaka Demus & Pliers and Beres Hammond amongst others and has since become the owner of Tubby's old studio. Rich Man Poor Man 1978 - 1980 presents Barry Brown in his most creative and potent phase, bringing together for the first time some of his best songs on one album."

KING TUBBY: The Roots Of Dub & Dub From The Roots 2CD (MOLL 08 CD). $18.00

"The new release by Moll-Selekta combines two of the most essential Dub-albums in a 2 CD set. The Roots Of Dub and Dub From The Roots, originally released in the late 1974 and early 1975. As a re-release this edition contains for the first time every track of the original LP's in an incomparable sound quality. Both albums are part of the historic and epoch-making early phase of Dub and demonstrate more than any other recordings the great pioneer collaboration of the duo King Tubby (engineer/mixer) and Bunny Lee (producer). Hardly any other artist than King Tubby has undoubtedly contributed more to the invention and the development of Dub. He was mainly responsible for the inclusion of the instrumental Dub-versions on the B-sides of the Jamaican hand pressed singles. He also played a major part in the making of Lee Perry's epochal Blackboard Jungle Dub, probably the first Dub-album in the history of music. Many of the most important riddims of all times are included here, most of them were — as vocal tracks — Bunny Lee's biggest hits — John Holt's 'A Love I Can Feel' and 'Man Next Door', stripped down to drum and bass and shaped with echoes in the same way as Cornel Campbell's 'Queen Of The Minstrell' or Johnny Clarke's 'Rock With Me'. The music was played by The Aggrovators in their best line up, featuring amongst others Robbie Shakespeare, Chinna Smith, Carlton & Aston Barrett, Tony Chin and Augustus Pablo. These songs have lost nothing of their atmospheric depth over the years, as musical statements they are as magical as ever. These historic works are an integral part of Jamaican history and resonant milestones on the way to King Tubby's hall of fame. Double CD in an eight page digi-sleeve-pack with liner notes and a picture of the original-LP covers."

Double LP version. "The new release by Moll-Selekta combines two of the most essential Dub-albums: The Roots Of Dub and Dub From The Roots, originally released in the late 1974 and early 1975. VA: Don't Give Up Your Culture CD (MOLL 09 CD). $16.00

"Don't Give Up Your Culture is the 9th release by Moll-Selekta — an essential Roots sampler with many brilliant and previously unreleased tracks by The Mighty Diamonds, Johnny Clarke, Jacob Miller, Horace Andy, Wayne Jarrett, Linval Thompson and Rod Taylor. In large part a collection of 'sweet high voices of Jamaica', especially characterized by the totally unknown Flick Wilson with his exceptional high falsetto voice. Above all his exiting and outstanding title track with its Roots & Culture-lyrics is a perfect example of the religious and political statements of the other classical Roots-singers on this collection. Beside The Aggrovators and Roots Radics, probably the most important backing bands in those days, most of the tracks were recorded with the rather unknown Ring Craft Posse whose line up also included the essence of Jamaica's studio musicians. Recordings took place at Channel One, King Tubbys and Sinclair's own Mr. Tippy studio in Kingston, Jamaica, between 1972 and 1984, the most important and exiting years of reggae."

VA: Don't Give Up Your Culture LP (MOLL 09 LP). $14.00

LP version, gatefold sleeve. 14 tracks. Recorded between 1972 and 1984 at Mr. Tippy, King Tubby's and Channel One.

RING CRAFT POSSE: St. Catherine In Dub 1972-1984 CD (MOLL 10CD). $16.00

"St. Catherine In Dub, the 10th release by Moll-Selekta, is a collection of the best dubs from the '70s and early '80s by producer Blackbeard and the backing band Ring Craft Posse. Rodguel 'Blackbeard' Sinclair, Tappa Zukie's brother, was Bunny Lee's right hand man for many years and meanwhile owns Tubby's old studio in Kingston. The Ring Craft Posse never quite achieved the fame of The Aggrovators or The Revolutionaries, although their line-up included Jamaica's elite session musicians."

ELLIS, ALTON: Arise Black Man 1968 — 1978 CD (MOLL 2 CD). $15.00

"A compilation of some of the best and rarest tracks of the 'Soul-Groover', the living legend of Jamaican-Soul. Lovers-tunes, Soul-Classics (like 'It's Your Thing' by The Isley Brothers) and mystical African tracks, a matter of interest for Reggae, Soul and World-music-fans. 16 timeless classics from the golden old days of the genre when Alton Ellis was the undisputed no. 1 in Jamaica before Bob Marley and carried the respectful title 'Mr. Soul Of Jamaica'.

Produced by the big names of the Caribbean island like C. S. Dodd (Studio One), Duke Reid (Treasure Isle) and a. o. Keith Hudson, recorded with the most important backing-bands of those times like The Sound Dimension, Soul Vendors and Soul Defenders. 8-page digi-pack packaging."

MOM 'N DAD (JAPAN):

HANATARASH: Live!! 84 Dec. 16 Zabo-Kyoto CD (MOM 002). $18.00

Mom 'n Dad is a sporadically operating Japanese label run by the other guy who was in the Hanatarash, Naohiro Ukawa. His first project was a series of 3 live discs by his band, first released in 1993 (the first volume is long unavailable). Each of the 3 volumes features a live recording of Naohiro & Eye Yamatsuka's performance-noise outfit Hanatarash (about 25 minutes each) — of primitive, grinding performance-noise by this inexplicable duo. Following the live set there is a selection of Space Age Bachelor Pad Music ? easy listening lounge records simply transferred off of LP and "disk raped" by Ukawa for your unending "pleasure". This volume features tracks by Dick Hyman, Morton Subotnick, Lex Baxter, The Moog Machine, etc. — and it's probably a pretty sensible come-down from the harsh aura of Hanatarash live. Each volume also features really really great found full color graphics.

HANATARASH: Live!! 82 Apr. 12 Studio Ahiru-Osaka CD (MOM 003). $18.00

Following the exhilarating skree of the 25 minute live piece by Hanatarash are a series of old Voodoo and Jungle Rhythm tracks spun by Ukawa & Toru Terashima. Artists like Prince Onago/Princess Muana, Hayman, Chaiho, Don Randi Trio, etc.

Alar release on Asphodel, this features mad scratch-back abstract mood destruction over supplied beats for the full stereo-panned disorientation effect. Funny, weird and unbelievable sound manipulations.

INVISIBL SKRATCH PIKLZ DJ Q-BERT VS A-TRAK: Buck Tooth Wizardz CD (MOM 021). $18.00

Repressed! All turntables played by Q-Bert and A-Trak, recorded at I.S.P. Studio 1997. RE: A-Track — "the newest inducted skratsh monster makes Montreal, Canada his home. A-Trak continues the championship legacy that the Piklz has brought to the DMC battle circuit — the most prestigious DJ competitions in the world."

MONIKA (GERMANY):

QUARKS: Zuhause CD (MONIKA 002CD). $14.50

Debut album by the German duo of Jovanka von Willsdorf and Niels Lorenz. "Here comes Quarks music. When you listen to it, you will go very quiet, because Quarks are not very noisy either, and that is very nice. Quarks feel homesick and distance-sick at the same time, but not always. Their songs have many 'clings' and 'dings' and fine melodies and 'katzen-gold'. They are German, so is their music, which is made from various electronica and an electric guitar. When they come to play, their bring their living room along — even a lamp, which then glows. Quarksland is small from the outside and from the inside infinite."

VA: Monika's Ascension DVD (MONIKA 002DVD). $20.00

Live DVD release featuring exclusive material from: Komeit, Masha Qrella, Cobra Killer, Contriva, Barbara Morgenstern. "With their Ascension night at the Berlin Volksbühne, Monika Enterprise presented five impressive concerts of those five bands and projects that are the core of the Berlin label's catalogue. After years of work and countless concerts of each individual band this night together was the time to lift their music up onto a higher level. Especially for this evening Javier Benitez, Niklas Goldbach and the video-group Transforma produced videos, that — hugely projected onto the back of the stage — gave each concert its own atmosphere. Now you are invited to celebrate once more with Monika, and from now on every day of the year... Komeit: reinventing their musical space. So clear and hypnotising that perspectives bend and stucco appears at the ceiling. With video footage of curious ufo sightings... Masha Qrella: Snotty, introverted and pleasantly open at the same time she presents her extremely personal songs, while giant air planes are revolving above her head... Cobra Killer: as special guest they expand the stage onto the irritated audience with their legendary red wine orgie. killer, as simple as that... Contriva: drifting off without ever actually doing so, the band inserts itself into images just before regaining front stage with their music... Barbara Morgenstern: amidst the firmament and planetary movements she invites us with her disarming nature to a heaven bound musical journey..." NTSC format for North America, region 0, approx 100 minutes in length.

MORGENSTERN, BARBARA: Vermona ET 6-1 CD (MONIKA 005CD). $14.50

Debut Barbara Morgenstern album from 1999. This predates her breakthrough classics Fjorden and Nichts Mues.

KRAUSE & POLE, MANUELA: Mein Freund Der Baum 7" (MONIKA 008EP). $6.50

"Finally: two artists have transferred this song - one that is a secret hit, not only in German prisons - into present. Coming now from the Monika Single-Series is a release that originated in the cooperation between Manuela Krause and Pole aka Stefan Betke. A cover version of Alexandras 'Mein Freund der Baum', less focussed on melody than the original, but reduced and refined in the typical Pole-style instead."

QUARKS: Königin CD (MONIKA 010CD). $14.50

"The electromagnetic pop duo Quarks were activists in the Berlin wohnzimmerscene, they released their debut album Zuhause and a vinylsingle with the minihit 'Wiederkomm' in 1997, last year the Japanese EP kikyō and they were always busy with touring through Germany and surroundings. We here at Monika enterprise are very happy to present the new Quarks album: Here comes Königin, mixed by electronicmastermind Pole (Stefan Betke)."

QUARKS: Königin LP (MONIKA 010LP). $13.50

MORGENSTERN, BARBARA: Fjorden CD (MONIKA 016CD). $14.50

2nd album from Barbara Morgenstern, with guest production assistance from Robert Lippok (To Rococo Rot), Thomas Fehlmann and Pole (production & mix on 5 tracks). "I was pleasantly touched by Barbara's debut album of autumn 1998 Vermona ET 6-1. With organ as her main instrument, the work was like an homage to the Czech organ of the same name, through without the trash quality. In that album Morgenstern melded warm analog sounds from the past and nineties beats in a techno-design of song writing, home recording and electronica, without retro-lounge-cuteness either. You could have called that work Indietronic, but the term didn't exist at the time. Even now, two years later, it won't fit. yet it comes to mind, because Fjorden has obviously been recorded with new equipment and new technique. Still working out of her own studio, using sampler and sequencer in her instrumentation, Barbara Morgenstern tells us stories. Her wonderful, heart-breaking voice, adds context to the beats and sounds. Fjorden comes across as familiar & intimate. This album is a clear step forward, without throwing the past overboard — with its warm analog sound, is like a good friend visiting — rotating in your CD player. You are not alone. Barbara Morgenstern is there with her music. And it's wonderful that she's there!" — Jan Ole Jöhnk, Ende

CONTRIVA: Club Hit EP 12" (MONIKA 018EP). $9.00

"5 remixes that were done within the closer and closest circles of friends and colleagues around Contriva. The songs of the band have been radically worked over, while the melancholy mood of the original material has impressively been preserved. From Iso68, Tom Thiel (Sun Electric) and Jan Jelinek (Farben) contriva have been done over for electro-lounge-compatibility. Jörg Burger (Modernist) delivers a pop-version that invites you to sing along on the dance-floor, once there you can sway melancholically to the superpitcher mix of stuck.

CONTRIVA: 8 Eyes (1996-1999) 2CD (MONIKA 019CD). $18.00

"In January 2000, after several smaller publications, Contriva released their first real studio album (Tell Me When). Now, about a year later, they bless us with a double-CD. The first CD in the set offers us a look at their earlier publications: the first tape and the first 10 inch (both still under the name of Zimt), the second 10 inch and the two singles (all on lok-musik); also there are three hard-to-get sampler-contributions. The CD documents the musical evolution of the Berlin-natives within the span of 1996 to 1999. Formed as a trio (Max Punktezahl-guitar, Masha Qrella-Bass, Hanns Lehmann-Drums), their first recordings still had a nervous postrock sound to them. It was after Rike Schuberty (keyboards) joined the band in the beginning of 1997, that increasingly songoriented structures of the still instrumental tracks became a distinct trademark of Contriva. This development continued on Tell Me When. The second CD contains eight remixes that were done within the closer and closest circles of friends and colleagues around Contriva. The songs of the band have been radically worked over, while the melancholy mood of the original material has impressively been preserved. From Iso68, Tom Thiel (Sun Electric) and Jan Jelinek (Farben) Contriva have been done over for electro-lounge-compatibility. Joerg Burger (Modernist) delivers a pop-version that invites you to sing along on the dance-floor. Once there you can sway melancholically to the Superpitcher Mix of Stuck. Isan deliver a do-over of Sure Enough, Ragazzi make Contriva sound like Depeche Mode and Chris Flor (Komeit) charms the melodies of Contriva into silent beauty."

VA: Raumschiff Monika CD (MONIKA 020CD). $11.00

"Not many people would call their label after a suicidal pet. And you might consider Monika a slightly unusual name for a goldfish. But then again Monika enterprise most certainly isn't your average label. With more love than money, impeccable taste and boundless enthusiasm label manager Gudrun Gut has managed to assemble an eclectic mix of surprising talent, uncovering the strange coherence and warmth of Berlin's finest purveyors of electronic pop music. Since 1997 Monika has been a secret source of cosy warmth, of personal sounds, of music you would love to be friends with. Spearheading a new generation of, frequently female, electronic introspective sounds, Raumschiff Monika invites you to put up your feet and listen." Low-priced label sampler featuring the best of previous vinyl-only releases, plus an exclusive Depeche Mode cover by Contriva. Featuring tracks from: Barbara Morgenstern, Quarks, Contriva, Komëit, etc.

MORGENSTERN, BARBARA: Eine Verabredung 10" (MONIKA 021EP). $9.00

"The autumn release of Barbara Morgenstern's new album Fjorden caused a general hysteria, love and addiction. Our new production was all because of Robert Lippok. He wrote one of the songs in corporation with Barbara and begged us to have the instrumental tracks released on vinyl. And of course, Robert's wish is our command. And here are the tracks on our beautiful and proved 10" vinyl: original album-versions of 'Eine Verabredung', 'Fjorden' and '37', a new mix of 'Dr.mr.' by Barbara and the live version of 'Der Wunsch Teil Vier' with Christian Obermaier."

FIGURINE: Impossible 12" (MONIKA 022EP). $9.00

Seven track 12" featuring remixes by Müm, John Tejada, Fingernail and others.

FIGURINE: Heartfelt CD (MONIKA 023CD). $14.50

"Features member Jimmy Tamborello (aka Dntel) of the Postal Service. Figurine creates electronic pop music perfectly poised at the transition between milleniums. Hints of 80's synth pop merge and mingle with early rave or current experimental electronics, a frantic jungle break beat is coaxed into a sweet pop structure, all while girl/boy vocals sing of love and loss in an increasingly digital world. The result is something both fresh and familiar, a soundtrack to a future where both love and technology are of primary concern. Now finally we have their new full length, The Heartfelt, which finds the three less interested in the sounds of the past and the world of the future, instead focusing on love in the present. The sound is still technopop, but finds it's inspiration more in the 90s and 00s, with nods to techno, house, booty music, glitch and just about every other electronic style you can think of."

KOMËIT: Falling Back Together 12" (MONIKA 024EP). $9.00

Five track remix EP. Featuring remixes by: T. Raumschmiere, DJ DSL, Robert Lippok, Bus & Betrieb.

KOMËIT: Falling Into Place CD (MONIKA 025CD). $14.50

"Just before Quite is the new Loud reared its tentative head in 1999 Julia Kliemann (vocals, sine keyboard) and Chris Flor (vocals, guitar) began to gauge the boundaries of calm fragility with their reduced tenderness. Currently based between Vienna and Berlin and with a touch of open naivety and idealism about them Komëit's simple stories and clear messages place them at the forefront of artists who are not afraid to expose their sounds and souls to the public — not in a shy, introverted way but via melancholically optimistic honesty. Their consciously minimalist approach results in humane directness, in a concentrated clarity. After the previous, intensely personal outpourings of which focussed on a dogma of conceptual purity, Falling Into Place allows a lot more space to electronica, piano and echoing guitars to fill the gaps with atmospheric warmth. Contemplative, romantic, heart-wrenching, slow, deliberately delayed and infused with their mutual musical past between Low, Codeine, Pastels and Brian Eno these two delicately interwoven voices almost hypnotically drag us into the intricate spheres of Komëit."

QRELLA, MASHA: Luck CD (MONIKA 028CD). $14.50

"It's here now, totally out of the blue: The first solo-album titled Luck by Contriva guitarist/bass player and Mina keyboarder Masha Qrella. On Luck, Masha Qrella is following some of her own concepts with even greater care. And the songs turned out as brittly beautiful and restrained passionate as her voice sounds. On the surface you can hear a production with soul and skill, that sometimes breaks a drum loop unevenly above the knee, that indulges in one gap or another and that leaves a note where it has been dropped. The tracks that first sound roughly put together in a way common in hip hop, turn out to be merely the gruff medium for the more airy song structures that they transport. There is (next to Mina and Contriva) as much Elliot Smith and Robert Wyatt in them, as the production opens up associations with Jim O'Rourke and Peaches. The instruments bass, guitar, drums and keyboards are mostly played by Masha herself and hint to the sound of a band. But the impression the songs make oscillates between that of the organically grown and that of being highly constructed by the exceptional details of the production."

COBRA KILLER: Heavy Rotation 10" (MONIKA 029EP). $9.00

"New record by Gina V.D'Orio (also in EC8OR) and Anika Trost — earlier on DHR, now on Monika. 'Heavy Rotation' mixed by Patric Catani & Cobra Killer, 'Show me your ruler' mixed by Alexander Hacke & Cobra Killer. Incl. two versions by Like A Tim."

CONTRIVA: If You Had Stayed CD (MONIKA 030CD). $14.50

"Apart from their diverse solo activities — Masha Qrella releasing a very convincing solo album, guitarist Max Punktezahl touring as a member of the Notwit, Hannes Lehmann and Rike Schuberty focussing on their acting studies — all of them continue to form Contriva since 1997, building a centre everything else is evolving around. Storytelling is still one of the quartet's main goals without using obvious techniques such as lyrics and actual singing. Concentrating on what is essential, Contriva have found their most conclusive 'voice' so far. Guitar slides, melodious basslines as well as tight beats build the foundation for their thoughtfulness, sometimes verging on a kind of contemplation, the melancholy of a circling acoustic guitar, the playfulness of organ accents and the arousal caused by the occasional outburst of r-o-c-k all help to wipe out any notes of a self-indulgent end in itself. Contriva knows refreshing ways to by-pass both amateurism and boring expertise. Contriva flow."

CONTRIVA: Foxy EP 12" (MONIKA 031EP). $9.00

"Fancy remix 12" for clubs with mixes by Mo (E.M.D.), M.I.A. (SUBstatic), Chica Paula (Oceanclub) and Niobe (Tomlab).

MORGENSTERN, BARBARA: Himmel Mixe (Heaven Mixes) 12" (MONIKA 032EP). $9.00

"What can be more promising than the ultimate melancholic groover Lawrence remixing the addictive harmony composer Barbara Morgenstern? Or DNTEL's Jimmy Tamborello giving her a charming remix revenge? Or when the Bitch dance queen Ellen Allien herself just joins in with Barbara and sings along and Berlin's mellow stars Tarwater do the same? All of them took extra care for their remixes and the result sounds purely wonderful. The A side is for dancing and the B side for lounging. If something beautiful comes out of the blue like that — don't you just have to have it?" Remixes by Lawrence, Ellen Allien, Jimmy Tamborello [DNTEL, Figurine] and Tarwater.

MORGENSTERN, BARBARA: Nichts Muss LP (MONIKA 033LP). $13.50

LP version.

CHICA AND THE FOLDER: 42 Mädchen CD (MONIKA 036CD). $14.50

"Chica Paula's 'coming out' as a musician. She did her debut album together with Max Loderbauer (Sun Electric; here 'The Folder'). If you have known Chica as a DJ, you'll be quite surprised now; having invited a lot of guests she switches from elektropop to punk, from fairytale to ambient and back to elektropop. She even does the most charming coverversion of a Brian Eno song! Daring, minimal, inspired and inspiring! But how could you resist 42 girls anyway?"

LIPPOK, ROBERT: Falling Into Komëit CD (MONIKA 037CD). $14.50

"Robert Lippok from To Rococo Rot. His Falling into Komëit might be called a remix-album but it is rather a tribute. The idea of reinterpreting Komëit's full-length album Falling into Place (m25) settled when he — among others — participated in a remix 12" (Falling Back Together) to the album. Now, almost two years since, he has realized his idea and finished Falling into Komëit. The album is a very simple, very personal way of paying credit to Komëit's universe of tender and fragile, minimalistic songs. Robert Lippok has been very careful not to destroy or to boldly paint over the distinctive structure of the songs but to keep their character and still to create something new that carries along his idea of music in general and Komëit's music in particular. This album is also about passion. It is about music as a passion, which is able to express emotions, thoughts and dreams, and about the many different ways and materials that make this expression possible. And above all it is about a very classical and beautiful understanding of music (which might have gone lost a little within the context of a very fast and somehow superficial pop industry) that saves music from transitoriness: This is the idea of music as a language that is passed on, getting supplemented and thereby growing in its ability to actually describe what you want to express. It is thus similar to fairy tales and myths that constantly change in the process of narration but never actually lose their original meaning. And this — ladies and gentlemen — is of course the main idea of Monika Enterprise as a label, too."

COBRA KILLER: 76/77 CD (MONIKA 038CD). $14.50

"Berlin's hottest act in town, Cobra Killer, are a reaction against the dullness of early electro stage shows. Their stage presence has always been as over the top as their sound. They have influenced many women with their wild and pioneering work. Peaches' first show was supporting Cobra Killer. They have also delighted artists from Underground Resistance to Sonic Youth. 'We played a couple of shows these last few nights in Germany with a band called Cobra Killer that completely knocked us out...it's two girls and a sampler, and it was just phenomenal...' — Thurston Moore. Cobra Killer's new album 76/77 sounds hot and highly energetic — 60s feel electronic rock with subversive lyrics and sharp breaks. They worked with artists such as the Devastations, Patric Catani, T. Raumschmiere, Erik D. Clark, Thomas Fehlmann and Rashad Becker. The two girls sampled, programmed and screamed and here we have their masterpiece: 76/77."

COBRA KILLER: 76/77 LP (MONIKA 038LP). $13.50

LP version.

MONOLAKE (GERMANY):

HENKE, ROBERT: Piercing Music CD (IMB 02). $12.00

"In 1993 Robert Henke, now better known as Monolake, created a sound installation which ran for a few weeks in an office building. The positive reaction of the audience led to a discussion about making a record out of it, which later became his first release. It went out of print a few years ago but is available once again, newly packaged, in a second edition. Piercing Music, is a one hour journey into a dark, warm and sometimes pretty noisy world, full of artificial life, created long before the terms 'glitch' or 'microsampling' were real words. This is probably Robert Henke's most serious academic work, composed using controlled random distributions to create a synthetic structure which behaves 'naturally'; this is achieved by deconstructing sound into tiny little particles and embedding them into a grid of slow permutating deep drones. Most sounds are derived from recordings of water, transformed into crisp spikes of noise with occasional low bursts. It was produced using one of the first versions of, the current state of the art music software, 'MAX' with a minimum of other equipment; but, nonetheless, already embodied the typical depth and width which has come to characterize his releases as Monolake. The repackaged re-release, on Robert Henke's own label Imbalance Computer Music, comes redesigned by visual artist Alexej Paryla, with technical liner notes. Piercing Music is 'serious ambient music', more connected to the works of Thomas Köner or Asmus Titchens than to the melodic structures of the '90s chill out productions. Today, ten years later, it still sounds up-to-date and stands out as a unique piece of music. Robert Henke is currently occupied with creating massive beats and complex textures as Monolake and with the ongoing development of the revolutionary music software Ableton Live."

MONOLAKE: Momentum CD (ML 011 CD). $16.00

"Monolake was from the early beginning a musical project which combined influences from club culture and the sophisticated sound design of academic computer music in order to create his very own and unique world of beats, structure and sound. Monolake's music is minimal techno, dub, breakbeat, ambient and each possible mixture of these genres. Momentum is a sequence of nine pieces exposing a darker, straight, rhythmic and 'technoid' side of Monolake. Optimized and approved by countless live performances, the material on Momentum is devoted futuristic techno, full of beauty, colour and power created by one of the most advanced sound alchemists in the known universe."

FELDMAN, MORTON: Routine Investigations CD (MO 782018). $18.00

Five Feldman works from his less-heavily documented "middle period," written in the early 70s and performed here by Ensemble Recherche in the early 90s. The pieces are for various ensemble combinations of flute, oboe, clarinet, piano, percussion, violin, viola, bass, etc. and make a great entry level introduction into Feldman's supreme mode of sustained-tone enhancement. The continued rediscovery and documentation of Feldman remains one of the crucial cultural movements of the CD era; if you've considered his lengthy Hat Art opuses too imposing (some pieces go on for up to 4 hours), start here. "Later, in his ultralong works of the 1980s, Feldman molded repetition, sonority, and memory in different ways, on a time-scale so large to overpower the listener's frame of reference. But the amazing quality of his sense of aural balance in these middle works makes them uniquely precious for the Feldman fan." — Kyle Gann. Limited stock, deleted item.

FERRARI, LUC: Piano — Piano CD (MO 782110). $18.00

Piano works, recently performed by Christine Lagniel and Michel Maurer; mostly solo works composed in the early 50s, with one 20-minute duo piece ("Comme une Fantaisie dite des Rémiscences," from 1989). Re: "Comme une...": "Just as if it had been an electroacoustic composition (with timings, echoes, shrinking and stretching) or even destined for artificial — and therefore unreal — intelligence, the composer intertwines obsessive dancing elements with deformed snippets, passed through a sampler of the The Well-Tempered Clavier." — Franck Langlois. Limited stock, deleted item.

MOON HARBOUR (GERMANY):

TANZMANN, MATTHIAS: Moon Harbour Flights: Volume Two CD (MHR 002 CD). $16.00

"2nd official mix-CD of the German DJ and producer Matthias Tanzmann. A CD containing a selection of the best club tracks of the last weeks and months in a harmonic mix. The result is a nice mixture of typical tracks recognizable from Matthias' DJ-Sets. Tracks of friends and colleagues like Steve Bug, Håkan Lidbo, Tiefschwarz, Marlow, Sunday Brunch, International Pony, DJ Buck, JT Donaldson or Losoul. Talking about facets of electronic music like deep-house & co., there are always different points of view to give an insight into the stylistic status quo. With this CD, Matthias Tanzmann delivers his very personal interpretation of modern House Music in 2003."

MOONDOG'S CORNER (GERMANY):

MOONDOG: ...and his Honking Geese: Playing Moondog's Music CD (MOON 45). $12.00

Reissue of an old Moondog 10", officially sanctioned by the www.moondogscorner.de website. "This is a limited CD-edition of one of the rarest records by Moondog which has originally been released in the early fifties. It consists of four pieces for saxophones and percussion: Originally there were only 100 copies of this EP which Moondog sold in the streets of New York City. Therefore it is hardly possible to get hold of an original one and this might be the only chance for you ever to listen to this great music."

MORBID (GERMANY):

SAD ROCKETS: Once Upon A Time Called Now CD (MORBID 05CD). $15.00

"A record for those who take their irony seriously, full of high kitsch, mid-brow art fakery, four track jazz and Moog madness. The ballrooms of Mars will surely be a-rockin' when this motherfucker drops. How it all began: after finding a demotape in their dirty laundry, Mr Pulsinger and Mr. Tunakan and decided to make a phonecall to Heidelberg where Andrew Heckler a.k.a. Sad Rockets has been busy since 1995. Before that he was busy growing up in California and before that busy being born in Samarkand, Uzbekistan. what else? sad rockets also plays guitar and sings in the blues-punk combo, mucus 2 and has released an LP on Source Records, (Sad Rockets Plays), as well as two 7" singles."

MORE ROCKERS (UK):

MORE ROCKERS: Cure 12" (MR 001 EP). $9.00

"More Rockers are loosely based Rob Smith, who is one half of Bristol's seminal outfit Smith & Mighty and Peter D. Rose who was at the time providing Massive Attack MK1 with basslines. 'Cure' is their version of Diana Ross' 'Love Hangover' and features the vocal talents of LD (Louise De Cordova). It utilizes the evergreen talents of the vocalist over a booming bassline and an old hardcore style break."

HOMOSEXUALS, THE: The Homosexuals Record CD (MRA 003 CD). $13.00

"One of the most enigmatic bands of the UK art-punk, sex pistols era UK scene, The Homosexuals carved a subterranean legend that far exceeded their discography of self released 45s and the posthumous release of The Homosexuals Record as a Recommended Records LP in 1984. Now, for the first time, UK experimental label ReR Megacorp in conjunction with Morpheus Archives are happy to present present most of the Homosexuals discography on one CD, including an audiophile restoral of the original 1984 ReR release The Homosexuals Record, plus additional tracks on one 73 minute CD (including four recently unearthed and previously unreleased/unmixed tracks which were only recently discovered to exist)." #### MORR MUSIC (GERMANY):

FLEISCHMANN, B.: Nico 7" (ANOST 001). $5.00

"For the first part in Morr's new 7" series, Bernard Fleischmann returns back to the old house and what a return it is. The man responsible for kickstarting the Morr Music label with the seminal Poploops for Breakfast LP, once again gets things going in style. 'Nico' is a dark and cloudy track, with distortion building up gradually over chiming bells, with crinkle beats and noise seeping in through every crack inbetween and finally taking over until there's nothing left but a pulsating mass of sound. On the flip there's 'Hyvä Päivä' that starts off with ear piercing test tones until Fleischmanns trademark lush drones take over, backed by a laidback hip-hop beat and topped with gently disturbing random pulses."

TEAMFOREST: Home 7" (ANOST 004). $5.00

"A meeting of a long forgotten new zealandish lo-fi-pop attitude with rattling electronica beats and sounds plus a few not so very hip instruments like banjo or synthie trumpets can actually result in something like a classic pop song with a finely tuned melody with just the right melancholic note. It gets its own special charms through the use of the electronic elements with the lo-fi attitude in mind — it's about the spontaneity of the moment that ideally lasts forever. The b-side shows an even moodier aspect of teamforest. Pure electronic melancholy with a slight shimmer of hope, all the while it grooves relaxingly like a respectful tribute to Boards of Canada."

FLEISCHMANN, B.: Pop Loops For Breakfast LP (MORR 001). $12.00

"First release on Christoph Kurzmann's (Polveschel/Shabotinski/Steminals/Orchester 33/frequent Fennesz collaborator) label. I will never be able to count the ways in which Babelfish has enlightened/eased my palid existence; "born 1975, live in Vienna. It received piano and instruction and played in different tape as a drummer into the last both tape 'speed is essential' and 'sore!', loud melodious guitars; concerts in completely Austria found those to CD 'my idea of fun' among other things in the scene Vienna, in the Viennese chelsea, flex, slaughterhouse wels, kapu linz, etc. were introduced. since beginning of the yearly 1998, B.Fleischman concerns itself concretely with electronic music. here harmonies and noises from various electronic music devices are in the foreground live will some songs of the rhythm accompanied and support, or to become to rhythms against in the song the prevailing placed the songs are calmly and warmly, for a red salon with deep sofas of pieces, to those one easily moved, as it the harmonies want that to rush are not as other noise to be felt, but each tone is to understand itself with the other one, and the thing of the songs is to close the eyes and open the ears the songs to become of warm basses carried, in addition there are knarrende noises and yield sounds. pop loops for BREAK almost." It's a good record, a perfect mix of innocent-enough electronic pop sensibilities & super mellow action (i.e. Kandi, Burger/Ink, Mouse on Mars, etc...), applications too numerous to list (wine tast-ing comes to mind). Really nice." — Hrvtaki.

ISAN: Slamander LP (MORR 003 LP). $12.00

LP version.

ACCELERATE DECK: Halo 12" (MORR 005). $11.00

"Accelerate Deck is a twenty something American who has had a myriad of releases on various labels such as: Endorphin, Blackbean, Rocket Racer and Pitchcadet. In the past he has used subtle guitar like textures and twinkling melodies, but here he pursues a more experimental approach. Fusing elements of digi glitch ambience with an angular approach to his usual beat science. Remixes by Arovane, Volvo Spy vs. Lo-coder & CDA Round out the 12" for a completely diverse listen."

HERRMANN & KLEINE: Kickboard Girl EP 12" (MORR 007). $11.00

Repressed. "Tinkling beats with an almost anthem-like approach. The 'Kickboard Girl' melody can hardly breathe. Beats like a fountain. Then, the lung of a synthesizer whispers of a magic carpet and hovering meadows full of flowers. Slowly, the air stops rattling. 'Kickboard Girl - Take Care On the Corner' covers the peaceful silence with buds. However, it doesn't take long until 'May In Fall' triggers the euphoric pulse of an old, long forgotten breakbeat extravaganza you thought you'd never feel again. A new melody takes your soul as a prisoner."

PANIC AMIGO: Piano Magic Remixed 12" (MORR 008). $8.00

"There is no need for us to be alone", Piano Magic state in one of their tracks. This, although short, statement sums up what the London-based collective of musicians around Glen Johnson is all about. Founded in the summer of 1996, Piano Magic, who always favored the 'revolving door' membership policy of bands like This Mortal Coil (4AD), have always been focusing on the irresistible mixture of warm, atmospheric electronics, bright soundscapes, a good portion of UK-indie-inspired guitars and a spooky skill of writing heavenly popsongs. With two albums (Popular Mechanics, iChe 1997 and Low Birth Weight, Rocket Girl 1999), numerous EPs and singles on a wide variety of labels, including Wurlitzer Jukebox, Staalplaat and Darla and a new album in the pipeline, it was only a question of time until friends, freaks and fans joined forces and remixed their idols. The results are now released on Morr Music."

KLEINE, CHRISTIAN: Valis CD (MORR 011 CD). $11.00

"First things first: Christian Kleine, Berlin-based multi instrumentalist and software crack, prefers music as a means of communication. Following two 7 inches, remixes for Bomb the Bass and Mum, forays into the great unknown with Herrmann & Kleine as well as his debut album Beyond Repair on allied label City Centre Offices, for Valis Kleine has now rediscovered his love for analogue instruments — a move that shouldn't really come as too much of a surprise considering his diverse musical background. As a subtle homage to heroes from Eno to Boards of Canada, from Seefeel to Pan American, on Valis Kleine exploits his extended range of instruments to refine delicately layered beats, to breathe a little soul into chilly electronics and coalesce melancholic fragility with persistent melodies, folkly electronica gliding past us like a wintry landscape. But definition doesn't suit Kleine, his work defies any categorisation according to genres or arrangements. Though computer-programmed Valis does not address our head or legs, but unfolds its hidden warmth only in the heart to lure out the autistic in us."

SOLVENT: Solvent City CD (MORR 013 CD). $16.00

"Hello, and welcome to Solvent City. Just pop on the monorail and we'll show you around for a day. Starting from the top floor of the Suction records tower, we see honorary citizen Jason Amm smiling down upon the city that he has built. With some assistance from fellow luminaries Lowfish and Skanfrom, Solvent has constructed a warm and inviting cityscape, bathed in the radiating glow of vintage synthesizers bordering the city's perimeter. 'Some Assembly Required' is the theme song, accompanying us along the highway to the city's industrial zone. Here we see a team of Canadian snowrobots working around the clock to the track's motorik pulse. These bouncy synth-pop melodies inspire great productivity in our robots. As we approach the downtown core, we hear 'Solvent City' booming from cars, bars and beatboxes. It's a big hit with the city's youngsters, recently bumping Depeche Mode out of the #1 position in the pop charts. 'A Panel of Experts' is a song for the suburbs. This is the lushest track in town, with dusty home-organ beats and a choir of heartbroken synthesizers. Our citizens are not simple robots; we grow introspective with age, and we have music to reflect this. Let's stop the train here and spend some time to learn about the people that make this city tick.. After returning from a busy day at the city's centre offices, our robots head over to the supermarket. Here we find Berlin immigrant Skanfrom offering a fine, remixed selection of 'Frozen Food', seasoned with majestic melodies and otherworldly bleeps. Once at home, citizens will turn on their desktop tape players for a study session in synth-pop architecture. 'Built-in Microphone', with its octave-hopping basslines and perfectly formed microscopic melodies, is a compulsory course, along with vince-clark-101 and moog-history. Solvent City is well-known for its stunning attention to detail, and the citizens make every effort to educate themselves in the finer details of classic robot-pop. Concluding our monorail tour, we'll wind down with the icy beauty of Lowfish's take on 'A Panel of Experts'. This remix picks lost vocal snippets out of the airwaves and places them in the frosty landscape of our city's night sky. Beyond Solvent City there's only barren land — littered with clicks, cuts, and cold digital noise. Make sure you stay within the city limits. This train is headed downtown — please put on your dancing shoes. The night is still young in 'Solvent City'."

STYROFOAM: A Short Album About Murder CD (MORR 015 CD). $15.00

"The Point Misser, the Styrofoam debut album on Morr Music, was a collection of eight wonderful and melancholy-drenched tracks of moody electronica, keeping a delicate balance between sparse melodies and distorted beats. Rather than being a fully fledged follow up, this new collection of seven thematically linked Styrofoam tracks is more of an interlude, a little something to keep you warm until spring arrives. A Short Album About Murder contains a mixture of instrumental moodiness and, surprisingly, some full on vocal tracks. Drawing inspiration from a multitude of books and movies, Styrofoam's new release once again features a very strong narrative content, reaching its high point on the outright cinematic 'if you tell me the truth I will kill you.'"

GARLAND, WECHSEL: CD (MORR 016 CD). $15.00

"Jörg Follert was Wunder, now he is Wechsel Garland. Great expectations? ('Große Erwartungen') One can easily trace the atmospheric relationship between the two projects — the synthesis of lightness and deep melancholy. A combination that is nearly impossible. How then? ('Wie Also?') Like an aeroplane a butterfly ('Falter') glides through the valley of deep sounds in the beginning, only to take a rest between melodic-percussive patterns made of minor scales later on. In a more accelerated and abstract way Steve Reich achieved that before, but here the music is much slower and far more intimate. It says: Come! ('Komm') There! — softly pointing at YOU with its forefinger, deep inside your body there's a resonance. That's the place where the floating and ringing sounds of the marimba, the Fender Rhodes piano or the xylophone can vibrate. Their echos will remain. Like insects ('Wie Insekten') bass sounds buzz, like dust in the light ('Staub im Licht') flutes, Hammond B3 and melotrone cover a soundscape that can be overlooked from any perspective. A peculiar idyll. With no star ('Ohne Stern') in the sky, nameless, removing, but even more real ('Wirklicher'): At least Wechsel Garland's music isn't based on samples anymore as with Wunder. There's no driving beats, but it's all rhythmic. Can you dance to it? Originally the music was composed due to an order from choreographer Gabrielle Staiger and had its première under the title 'This Very Moment' with the Arazzo dance ballet at the Brotfabrik, Bonn, in February 2000. By later extending the tracks, adding important details and inventing ingenious songtitles the debut of Wechsel Garland was finally born. It's music you'll find between the shelves in record stores; music that yet has to create its listeners — and that is only a small step along the way ('Viertel des Weges')."

ISAN: Salle D'Isan CD (MORR 017 CD). $11.00

"Isan, that's Robin Saville and Anthony Ryan, who met in sunny circumstances in Leicester/UK. The term Isan stands for 'integrated services analogue network', and beside other reasons it reveals their interest in using dodgy old keyboards to make dodgy old noise. But with their new 6 track mlp on Morr music even the listeners who are new to the Isan network will soon recognize that the definition of dodgy old noise and analogue synth-sounds becomes a completely new dimension. Isan's music is a kind of ambivalent thing: simple but pure, noisy but clear, strange but true, to mention only a few. Another important merit of Isan is maybe to completely calm you down because every piece of robins and Anthony's music creates an amazing feeling of being 'distant' to every unnecessary thought, so just sit back, relax and let yourself go. The intention of Isan to ignore common 4tothefloor dance-patterns doesn't prevent you from finding yourself on a ship of it's own rhythmic; sometimes it steams and rolls and later on it just seems to slide over a sea of melodies and all around you things just disappear and fade away..."

MANUAL: Until Tomorrow CD (MORR 019 CD). $15.00

"After an amazing release on the Hobby Industries label, Manual brings us with his debut on Morr Music even further melodies and reasons for picking up the guitar from the corner (again). Indeed Manual masters it amazingly well to overwhelm the listener with strong and soft melodies, soundscapish fragments and fluffy noizies which remind us to bands like To Roccoco Rot, and some of the newer Chicago scene. Manual mentions some of these as an influence but Denmark in general and Manual in particular seems not only in a geographical meaning really self-supporting. The combination of classical acoustic instruments like his skills on the guitar/bass/piano with droning and sweeping synth sounds and crackling electronic beats fixes broken pieces together and let you drift away in memories. Manual songs are principal downtempo 'cause this fact gives him the space for the big bunch of melodies he presents. Listening to it, we are reminded to asphodils in spring, with dew on it (of course). Sunny and dreamy, Manual draws a flowery picture of overwhelming colors within his wellstructured and arranged songs. No doubt, he has the potential to convince fans of modern electronica and Hoboken neo-folk and bring them all together to smell the buds of spring in the garden of Jim O'Rourke."

F.S.BLUMM: Mondkuchen CD (MORR 021 CD). $15.00

"On his LP debut on Morr music, Frank Schüttge aka F.S.Blumm presents a multitude of lovely popsongs and atmospheric soundscapes. Mondkuchen seems like a colorful picture transformed into music, telling little stories in many layers. Its tension covers a wide field from crushed acoustic sound experiments to perfect pop tunes. Ingredients of his sound-kitchen are mainly acoustic instruments like piano, kalimba, vibes or guitars or more rare ones like e.g. an accordion. The musical result is in a way original, so that the popular name-dropping doesn't help that much to describe F.S.Blumm's music. We still try it because we think there is a parallel to bands and projects like Gastr Del Sol or others who work on the combination of improvised elements with pop-approached structures. Likewise when thinking about Wechsel Garland, it's hard to believe that F.S.Blumm is a one-man-project. It shows the many skills of a multi-instrumentalist, but the best thing is that he manages it to sound like a perfectly tuned in orchestra, homogenous and well balanced. F.S.Blumm works with melodious sound, with deep buried memories and inner-mind visions but at the same time his music is determined by timeless elegance and an amazing facility. The correlation of different instruments and beautiful simple melodies rule the sound. Experimental ideas just communicate with accessible and friendly music and Mondkuchen is a good example to show how deep this combination can be without losing tension and humour."

ISAN: Lucky Cat CD (MORR 022 CD). $16.00

"These two luddites, ISAN (compared to ISDN, anything but digital) love old analogue electronic devices to make music, instruments from a time when synthesizers were developed in attics; when air-conditioned offices, where hundreds of coding-slaves would program new organ-presets, were still an unknown phenomena. equipment you not only need screwdrivers for, but also furniture polish. Synthesizers and drumboxes which were affordable even when they were manufactured and which rockbands with mellotrons and modular walls laughed at. Over the last few years, robin and antony ISAN proved that these machines are capable of great things too. With numerous releases — preferably on 7" — of course — they managed to book reservations for front row seats in our record racks. Little melodies appear, dragging you along on their journey towards dawn, slowly unveiling their real inner-self, and banishing evil ghosts. Lucky Cat starts where Salamander, ISAN's last album on Morr music, stopped. In a way, in reality, it is completely different. Well, you must listen to it for yourself. It is just that everything sounds more self-evident, lighter, more familiar, more personal and especially more lovable and adorable. It almost sounds like the happy studio cat Switched on all of the machines and played, while antony and robin were out buying milk from the corner shop."

ISAN: Lucky Cat 2LP (MORR 022 LP). $15.00

Double LP version.

PHONEM: Iliisu CD (MORR 024 CD). $15.00

"Iliisu is not an expansion on Phonem's previous output, nor a move towards greater complexity, but rather a purification, a clarification of what Phonem's previous releases were trying to communicate. Crispy crystal beats and minimal synth melodies don't battle it out but merely exist next to each other, like natural elements keeping each other in balance. And a perfect balance it is. Perfectionism also shows in Phonem's grainy sound design and carefully programmed beats, steeped in classic hiphop rhythms but somehow always carefully balancing on the brink of collapse. A delicate balance. Seeping through the cracks are Phonem's never ending melodies. Steering away from classic song and theme structures, allowing melodies to develop in a linear way, free from their own history, no need to return. Melodies that are sometimes cold and icy, often clear and liquid. Something to hold onto while they bring the beat down. Since the release of Hydro Electric, Phonem's previous album, Elliot Perkins has been playing live sets all over the planet, both as Phonem and as part of the expanded Beta Bodega collective, including appearances in the USA and Japan. Perkins has also released a twelve inch on Beta Bodega (as Spike) and a collaborative album with Berlin's Arovane on UK label Vertical Form. Iliisu could be considered as the final part in a trilogy that started with Phonetik (Phonem's first release for Morr) and was expanded upon with last year's Hydro Electric. Iliisu is a detailed album that demands detailed listening."

PHONEM: Iliisu LP (MORR 024 LP). $12.00

LIMP: Orion CD (MORR 025 CD). $10.00

"When Limp, inspired by intelligent electronica and Chicago rock, are also self-confessed admirers and recyclers of 'rock and pop elements from the 80s and 90s' — a universal red flag for any conscious human being — and innocently cite stadium largesse and touching pop moments of mainstream-compatible alternative phenomena such as The Cure, Depeche Mode or even U2, this is done in such a way as to quell any critical protest in its infancy. Irreverently objective when it comes to the dubious reference works of an elder sibling generation (for whom these are still inextricably tied to maudlin red wine beach dramas, traumatic teenage passion, first gig disasters or flagrant fashion faux pas) and without a second glance at source or zeitgeist coolness Orion displays the fresh and differentiated influence of four musicians with their own electronica projects (Manual, Aerosol, Syntaks) in this perfectly balanced interplay of classical instruments and digital aids. Ostensibly relaxed and dreamy, simultaneously as epic and stratified as Mogwai or selected snippets from Slowdive to Boards of Canada, Orion is not afraid to exploit incredible melodies for minutes on end. Contrasts blend and forget about their origin to lend the six tracks a continual narrative structure that sneakily conjures up vivid images."

LIMP: Orion LP (MORR 025 LP). $10.00

HERRMANN & KLEINE: Our Noise CD (MORR 026 CD). $15.00

"You know what it's like. You wander aimlessly through the streets, maybe trying to forget something, when all of a sudden the sun breaks through the clouds and turns everything into gold. In an instant all of your mind will be completely absorbed by this light and you will have forgotten anything you wanted to forget. Our Noise has exactly the same effect as this light has. There are crucial points in these ten tracks where luminescent melodies appear from out of nowhere that seem to push everything else aside. Subtle basslines and beat structures that sometimes perpetually move into rhythmic chaos cannot really conceal the fact that this is nothing less than glorious pop. Plinkpop as we call it when we're in the mood for it. Around this momentum swirls a dizzying complex of beats that range from calm to pulsating and september-warm soundscapes. Right in the middle of this ever flowing whole you'll find a shining cover version of Slapp Happy's Blue Flower, previously saved from obscurity by the likes of Mazzy Star and Pale Saints. On a blissfully piercing bed made out of thousands of guitars sits, majestic and modest, the voice of singer Ariane Hensel, making this point of reference her very own. Thaddeus Herrmann and Christian Kleine prove once more that a sum consists of more than just the contents of its parts. This music here comes from directions as diverse as HipHop (Kleine), 80s-Synth-Pop (Herrmann) and classic indie rock (both). But it's not about an easy formula, more like an interstation on a long personal path, ranging all the way back to DHR of which distant echoes are still audible up to the melodic presence of City Centre Officers."

MANUAL: Ascend CD (MORR 027 CD). $16.00

"Ascend, the title of Manual's second album shows the way this music is going. At any time it is uplifting in a melancholic way, it directs into the inner self or into some far distant nowhere. All these emotional paradoxes stand in a tradition of many a great sound-sculptor starting with 4AD-acts such as Cocteau Twins, the swathing surrealism of My Bloody Valentine, the intense lethargy of Talk Talk up to the sheer beauty of Slowdive. With these traditions in mind the music is carefully transferred into here and now while never losing a certain sunken quality. What more could titles like as the moon spins around or the distance give away? It's all there. Although Jensen is still only 20, he has some years of experience in making music. While in a way still juvenile enough to be real mood music, the tracks are mature in their reduction on essential components which give them a lot of depth and spaciality. All those soothing, opalescent sounds may come from out of old analogue synthesizers but Jonas' indie-heart is still beating on the right side. One or the other subtle guitar part bears witness to that. same goes for Limp, Jensen's other project in which he shares his vision with three friends to follow a similar path with different measures. Their debut album Orion was also just recently released as Morr Music 025 and is the perfect companion to Manual's body of work."

ISAN: Clockwork Menagerie CD (MORR 028 CD). $15.00

"This compilation of early material coming from long-out-of-print singles and compilations was a long time coming. Mostly because there should be many more people out there who should be able to listen to these tracks than those lucky few who were able to get the original copies in the short while they were available. These tunes seem to come from a different era when small labels like earworm, liquefaction empire, bad jazz or wurltizer jukebox were continually presenting interesting and exciting new bands, mostly on neatly packaged limited edition 7"s. The music ranges, depending on from out of whose vintage analogue equipment it comes, between simple melodies on swinging, feather-weight beats and rhythmically complex and transparent sound installations. May this be the right balance between pop and art. Maybe like an unlikely mixture of Plone and Seefeel."

MS. JOHN SODA: Drop = Scene CD (MORR 029 CD). $9.00

"On their album no p. or d., Ms. John Soda have taken unusual steps towards a new pop direction, where the melody, clarity, emotional directness and timelessness of song structures supersede the importance of aural experimentation. At the same time they wanted to employ classical instruments such as bass, guitar, drums and keyboards and they wanted to rock 2with a constant glance at the careful balance between instruments and electronics. Now the 'e.p.' 'Drop Scene' is a straight continuation of this idea, and like no other track the heated 'Go Check' distills the basic gist of this album. The 'elusive' rmx was done by Max Punktzahl (Contriva) and Florian Zimmer (Lali Puna, Iso 68), or rather their joint project Jersey. A small epic, almost twice as long as the original, defined by the inimitably fragile sound of Punktzahl's guitar and loop-based, lavish electronica."

VA: Blue Skied An' Clear - A Morr Music Compilation 2CD (MORR 030 CD). $15.00

"The perfect, personal mix of friends and family — few are fortunate to realise and release such a compilation. With his second, very intimate grasp of music's status quo (after Putting the Morr Back into Morrissey) Thomas Morr again delves deep into his own musical history. Now that many electronic musicians begin to (re-)discover guitars and especially the clever layering of My Bloody Valentine's finest tracks, Blue Skied an' Clear presents us with a truly loving homage to all time favourites Slowdive. Their eponymous secret hit perfectly describes the label's overall mood and direction. CD1 of this compilation allows label acts as well as guests (Komeit, Skanfrom, Múm etc.) to breathe new life into Shoegazing with their carefully crafted cover versions. Here long-term fans as well as new believers rediscover these damn fine songs, mingling them with their own substance while offering ample room to the ethereal, the audible silence of the originals. Inspired by Slowdive's output even sworn instrumentalists like I.S.A.N. unearthed hidden vocal talents and CD2, with its collection of original tracks by Morr Music artists, hints at a similar return to classic band techniques." Artists include: Future 3, Isan, Lali Puna, Ulrich Schnauss, B.Fleischmann & Ms. John Soda, Limp, Solvent, Styrofoam, Skanfrom, Komeit, Manual, Herrmann & Kleine, Mum, Guitar, Populous, Icebreaker/Manual.

MS. JOHN SODA: no p. or d. CD (MORR 031 CD). $15.00

"Ms. John Soda are Stefanie Böhm and Micha Acher, both part of the creative sphere around notable German label and distributor Hausmusik. It soon became clear that Ms.

John Soda would become their 'pop project': the melody, clarity, emotional directness and timelessness of song structures would supersede the importance of aural experimentation. At the same time they wanted to use classical instruments such as bass, guitar, drums and keyboards and they wanted to rock 2with a constant glance at the careful balance between instruments and electronics. If the need should arise to label Ms. John Soda 'Indietronics', then we should also resurrect the capital I in Indie. Because it is here that one of the genre's sound ideals, 'to rock without rocking' has been carefully, but determinedly, unearthed. This undoubtedly makes Ms. John Soda a Morr Music band project that dares to venture further out of the safe harbour of aural abstraction than any other and fulfils the old claim of creating a truly touching pop record."

GUITAR: Sunkissed CD (MORR 032 CD). $15.00

"This much is known: Guitar, a culture junky recently relocated to the green void of the German sauerland, requires neither introduction nor statement and uses this moniker with a healthy distance and dose of irony for his by now third musical project (besides major-distributed club hymns and his classically influenced experimental output) to exhaustively experiment with guitar sounds. At the same time, with Sunkissed he created an enthusiastic homage to My Bloody Valentine's Loveless period. A secret fan of the classic utopian thinkers Wells, Lem and Verne, Guitar, too, explores the geography of expanses and shifting horizons in his output, keeping a distance to life while cherishing a fascination for even the smallest detail. He allowed the music two years to boil down and evaporate, to reduce and grow again. By far more accessible than its paragon, garnished with a generous portion of pop and lightened by the heavenly sighs of Regina (Donna Regina) and Ayako from Tokyo, Sunkissed translates and transports its references into a euphoric presence, into 'symphonic guitar noise plus sirens with a relaxed, undriven and tied uyluses on a sunkissed boat deck full of time.'"

POPULOUS: Quipo CD (MORR 033 CD). $15.00

"22 year old Andrea Mangia comes from the Italian province. Strictly speaking, he's from Sogliano Cavour, a small town in South-Apulia, an area which might be known better as the Italian boot's high heel. Using the PC, Andrea starts organising and fusing his musical influences. Rock gradually falls into oblivion, making room for hiphop and a subtle sensitivity about pop mechanics. After a while Mangia's music moulds into a precise and reduced version of abstract electronica owing Andrea's all time faves A Tribe Called Quest as much on the one hand as it does to Phoenicia or Phonem on the other. Looking for an artist moniker the tiny adjective 'populous' grabs Andrea's attention, not because of its actual meaning but rather its onomatopoeic qualities. 'I loved that word immediately. It just sounded nice: two p's, two u's, two o's, including the word 'pop'!' Populous' personal Quipo now consists of the 'ones and twos' a hip hop dj uses to rearrange the popculture 'goods in storage'. It also consists of the 'zeros and ones' used by a computer to synthesize new compounds from those elements. Thus, Populous' abstract soundscapes, his fragile melodies contrasted by quite physical beats add up to a new flavour to the Morr Music pie, which cannot be summed up by a convenient and bloated category like 'indietronics' anymore, anyway."

STYROFOAM: A Heart Without A Mind EP CD (MORR 034 CD). $10.00

"Oh well, a radio mix. From indietronics to corporate rock, then? Not at all! It's only altruism and our hope, that things will change for the better. 'A Heart Without A Mind' is exemplary for Styrofoam's new album I'm What's There To Show That Something's Missing. It marks Arne Van Petegem's turning away from already quit song oriented productions towards a yet more classic songwriting oozing with subtle gestures, but profound emotions. This record could easily be a good friend." Includes covers of Codeine and the Mountain Goats' songs, a radio mix of the title track and a live track.

OPIATE: Sometimes EP CD EP (MORR 035 CD). $12.00

"Thomas Knak has managed to come up with an EP of almost cinematic proportions, striking us all with a perfectly balanced relation of organic sounds, sampled instruments like acoustic guitars, flutes and a piano as well as subtle digital manipulations and intricate beat programming. What is even more is that Knak knows how to provide his music with a spatial quality that clearly comes from his experience with dub as a production technique. At the same time, Opiate is never running the risk of drenching his compositions in confusing layers of delay and reverb. On the contrary: the EP's six tracks are as organized as they are emotionally touching."

STYROFOAM: I'm What's There To Show That Something's Missing CD (MORR 036 CD). $15.00

"Unlike Styrofoam's scarce ventures into the vocal domain in the past, he now seems to be completely at ease with his vocal qualities. He does not bury them deep in the mix or hide them behind complex layers of sound processing anymore. On the contrary, he puts them in front, loud and clear for anyone to hear. Those vocals on 'I'm What's There ...' will strike a multitude of chords with listeners familiar with the late 80s/early 90s indie-scene. Focusing on what was made possible by electronic music production (and trying to come to grips with this plethora of possibilities) on his last two Morr releases, Styrofoam partially returned to approach his production similar to how he has worked while fronting several guitar bands in his youth or going solo for the first time as Tin Foil Star in the late 90s. Right now, his music has shifted up a gear in terms of accessibility which has always been an important issue to Arne. 'I think there's a difference between accessibility in sound and in structure/context. I don't really find it a challenge to make an 'abstract' sounding record. I find it much more of a challenge to use abstract or heavily treated sounds within a more accessible context. I think this juxtaposition can create some very alienating effects within a track. The only way both a pop song and an abstract sound can truly shine is by opposing them within one and the same context.' One can truly argue that Styrofoam's new album has mastered the art of juxtaposing those aspects while keeping them perfectly balanced. Anyone with an interest in richly textured electronic sounds will be as satisfied as those who always crave for beautiful melodies, catchy tunes and: lyrics."

LALI PUNA: Left Handed CD (MORR 037 CD). $9.00

"Valerie Trebeljahr and Markus Acher have been working on their new full-length for Morr

Music and this release is the first taster of what's to come. The title track 'Left Handed' sees Lali Puna shift from their delicate, electronic sound to the use of an instrument which, until now, was never heard in their music — namely the sound of distorted electric guitars. Valerie is not shy in admitting that the guitars pay homage to her idols Sonic Youth. However it must be said that Max Punktezah, guitarist in Contriva and Notwist tour-member will undoubtedly carry some of the credit for this new sound as he was heavily involved in the recording of Left Handed. Compared to the introverted works that single out Lali Puna's previous releases, Left Handed is, for want of a better adjective, a very expressive number or ... or ... let's just say 'It rocks'. 'Left Handed' is followed up on the A side by 'Left Handed' - Dub by Markus Acher, a version assembled from the original 'Left Handed' sounds. The closing track is a cover version of The Human League's 'Together In Electric Dreams'."

GUTHER: I Know You Know CD (MORR 038 CD). $16.00

"Guthrie managed to update that kind of lo-fi-indie-pop reminiscent of labels like Teen Beat or Slumberland. But Guthrie are definitely not a lo-fi outfit. The means of electronic production — a computer, a synthesizer and a drum computer — have clearly left their traces in their sound. Listening to the ten songs from Guthrie's debut, all of them display a certain immediacy, which on the one hand clearly comes from the very private setting I Know You Know has been recorded in. On the other hand, it also comes from the really short and spontaneous production process."

TIED & TICKLED TRIO: Observing Systems CD (MORR 039 CD). $16.00

"With their third studio album Observing Systems the Tied & Tickled has delivered their most complex self-portrait of a freely-operating music collective. Altogether, the 15 pieces on Observing Systems, some of them not more than highly elaborate and articulate 'ideas', form a very tight system itself — based on musical references, different modi operandi and scientific research — which reaches less and less for an unconditional formal unity. With Observing Systems the Tied & Tickled Trio does refine the idea of 'space', both: sonic and spiritual, in which experiences and emotions echo, in a new and ultimately refreshing purity. Suddenly, what you hear becomes as important as the blanks in the music. In these regions of ruptures and uncertainties a fantastic vision evolves, which leads the Trio through an intense and continuously inspiring musical past. In these ruptures, music history becomes lively again. Observing Systems is music without a center. As in the architectural concepts of 'Tensegrity' by Buckminster Fuller each track represents one component in this self-suspending, durable construction, a structure whose strength increases with lightness rather than the heaviness of its components: the album as a whole."

MS. JOHN SODA: While Talking CD (MORR 040 CD). $13.00

"Ms. John Soda are Stefanie Böhm (Couch) and Micha Acher (The Notwist, Tied + Tickled Trio). While Talking is both the study and result of constant exchange between human beings and it deals with communication in numerous ways: conversations that work and sometimes don't, contradictions, misunderstandings and the incapacity to make oneself understood as well as to fully understand someone else. The opener 'No. One' presents itself almost defiantly. Compared to the debut, the song's calm sections appear more epic, whereas the expressive elements seem to be even more 'in your face'. The spectrum of Stefanie Böhm's and Micha Acher's musical influences is more varied than before. They use anything ranging from distorted punk bass to psychedelic twang sounds. 'If Someone Would Know', for example, is reminiscent of cruising through a desert by night just like in a David Lynch film. 'I Think It Could Work, Marilyn' reanimates Marilyn Monroe and Elvis taking a walk up in the mountains. Although Ms. John Soda's expression has become more varied, Stefanie Böhm's charismatic and beguiling voice remains the central element in all the songs. One cannot help but notice that Ms. John Soda has grown to be a much closer unit over the last year. Their ability to transform the entire range of human emotions into musical expression is breathtaking."

FLEISCHMANN, B.: Welcome Tourist 2CD (MORR 041 CD). $18.00

"Welcome Tourist is not just a political statement. It also is a document of growth and refinement. Despite a more instrumental approach (in the classical sense), you will still find Bernhard Fleischmann hunched over his tiny groovebox, creating the most sumptuous harmonies. On this record, however, he lets his musical talents unfold (you'll hear him on piano, drums and vibraphone) and engages the support of others, which turns the once solo artist into a band frontman. In harmony with this functional shift, the music also undergoes a change, which shines through on 'Le Desir' and 'Sleep', which have been previously released, but now feature new vocals by Charhizma label owner Christof Kurzmänn. Compared to Bernhard Fleischmann's earlier work, Welcome Tourist might not appear as accessible. Bursts of noise and distortion have now become as important as the trademark melodies circling through his songs. Bernhard does not want this to be seen as a (political) expression of uneasiness. Rather it just refers to his ongoing love affair with noisy guitar bands. Working with different musicians had a direct influence on the outcome of each song. Usually, a groovebox composition by Bernhard marks the start of the mutual working process. The initial composition retreats more and more during the development of the final piece until there's nothing left but a shadow, a blurry trace, that nonetheless leaves its mark on the result."

LALI PUNA: Tridecoder CD (MORR 002CD). $14.00

"Originally released in October 1999, the debut release by Lali Puna has garnered rave reviews from the press and industry luminaries, such as Radiohead. Tridecoder features 9 tracks of some of the finest electronic-pop and set the foundation for the band that would go on to record two more albums. Led on vocals by Valerie Trebeljahr, the rest of the band consists of members from The Notwist, Tied & Tickled Trio and Console."

MUM: Please Smile My Noise Bleed CD (MORR 020 CD). $14.00

Features 2 new songs by Múm and 6 remixes by Styrofoam, ISAN, Phonem, Christian Kleine, Arovane and B. Fleischmann. Not to be confused with the Mum Remixed album on Thule. "In a way it was only a matter of time before Múm would end up on Morr Music. Anyone who has had the pleasure of listening to the Icelandic quartet's celebrated debut album Yesterday Was Dramatic, Today Is OK, knows that Múm's 'eye shutting-bicycle beats, sounds and melodies' would feel suitably at home with Morr. This record came to be raw for Múm, like a raw carrot. In a way their machines wrote the musik themselves, while Múm were playing around on a mountain, lying down, standing up, running around. When they came back they were surprised by their beauty. This is where things started looping and feedbacking and even the old mountain radio swam in with a few random words and murmurs. A very old distant friend joined in singing, but only for a split second. When the songs had recorded themselves on tape, thomas sent them out to all his nice guys who made new pieces out of them, each one special in it being musik: Christian Kleine's old mountain radio is playing a steady diet of old school electro pop. 8 bit snare drums and a deep massaging subbass manage to puta headnoddingly near-perfect groove into Múm's delicacies. Styrofoam has the original múm melodies spinning out of control while somewhere along the way a vocoder and a steady kickdrum manage to sneak in. Bernhard Fleischmann makes a happy return with some splendid cut-up old school hiphop action and the Múm girls humming along gently. Phonem turns Múm's clearcut melodies into shifting layers of grainy sound and deep textures, only to be interrupted by an ever evolving broken beat. Arovane does what he does best. Lush homemade synths and basement beats. Two step amx style so to speak. I.S.A.N. contribute their dark and brooding cantena mix — all deep analogue bass and persistently ringing bells with the original melody making only the vaguest of appearances."

LALI PUNA: Scary World Theory CD (MORR 023 CD). $14.00

"Valerie Trebeljahr has been quietly whittling away at her very own blueprint of pop music. Steering well clear of prevalent harmless geniality, her aim is to cleverly and intelligently dissect our perception of the world around us. Lali Puna have now become a fully fledged band, carefully selecting band members (from Console, Notwist, Tied and Tickled Trio, Iso 68, Fred is Dead). Following their album debut Tridecoder, Scary World Theory has now achieved the perfect combination of pop and (personal) politics. Behind ostensibly shy, almost withdrawn vocals Valerie is by no means coy about confronting the world's ambivalent status quo, bluntly documenting current conditions underneath putative fragility. And the music, too, demands our full attention. Between hummable chords and sometimes soothing, almost hypnotic monotony, each repetition discloses multi-layered complexity as well as cleverly hidden counterpoints. No matter if atmospheric (Satur-nine), exuding classical warmth (Contratempo, Lowdown) or quietly breathy (Scary World Theory) — again and again Lali Puna tear heartbreaking harmonies from the sparsest of arrangements. '50 Faces Of' rewinds the beat to move our feet with funky House breaks, intersected by stubbornly chirping electronics. Nevertheless, Lali Puna's precision is best revealed on 'Nin-com-pop' or 'Don't Think' — here seemingly unemotional reduction coaxes its way into our ears with unflustered self-confidence and refuses to go away."

ISAN: Meet Next Life CD (MORR 042CD). $16.00

"What nobody knows is that Integrated Services Analogue Network (ISAN for short) is really a secret garden in southern England. In these mild climes, two men (Anthony Ryan and Robin Saville) in their early thirties founded Britain's first synthesizer home where neglected and forgotten instruments find a new way in life under love and care of their keepers. Every day Ryan and Saville visit their beneficiaries and feed them with wonderful melodies and soft rhythms that the two bring home from a day's daydreaming of far off, imaginary landscapes. Every day Ryan and Saville nurtured their growing affinity with their machines. And so the garden grew and flourished. So it is only normal that everyone is asking themselves when and what strange fruit ISAN's wonder-garden will bear next. After all it's been over two years since their critically acclaimed release Lucky Cat (4 1/2 stars by All Music Guide) and Clockwork Menagerie appeared on Morr Music. Now it's once again time that ISAN open the gates to their secret garden with the release of their new full-length album."

MAN'SBESTFRIEND: The New Human is Illegal CD (MORR 043CD). $14.50

"Till now Sole has stuck to rapping and hasn't released any of his own production. This is about to change with man'sbestfriend, the first record Sole has done on a label outside of Anticon since Bottle Of Humans dropped. mansbestfriend is the impulsive and self-indulgent side of Sole running shifty guitars through broken reel to reels, rusted keyboards, over compressed radioshack mics, recorded on an old adat and some on laptop. Most beats have been constructed on a dr sampler, and then further chopped up on the computer. The lyrics have been written out the window on various tours in alien places, where some songs have been developed from freestyles. The music was made purely for fun with an 'experimental' spirit, with additional music and assistance from fellow Anticon members Odd Nosdam, Jel, and Telephone Jim Jesus."

Double LP version.

LALI PUNA: Faking the Books CD (MORR 044CD). $14.50

"Faking The Books, Lali Puna's third album, is a maverick display of pop sensibilities applied to a world gone wrong. All the ingredients are there: The killer hooks, the subliminal fusion of generic undertones, Valerie Trebeljahr's alluring vocal delivery that at first soothes the senses and at second glance portrays the system in all its celluloid, deceptive glory. Faking The Books is all about the signs of our times, inverting the Zeitgeist into something that not only explores the musical fusion of raucous instrumentation and layered, soothing production, but that also tells its story with a multi-colored grip on our peculiar reality. The songs direct themselves with a pop conviction that isn't afraid to mix vintage synths, vocal effects, garage drum workouts, Detroit strums, carefully arranged strings, electronic bass drums and a homage to all the bands that have paved the way for such diversity."

LALI PUNA: Faking the Books LP (MORR 044LP). $14.50

LALI PUNA: Micronomic CD (MORR 045CD). $8.00

"This is the follow up single to Lali Puna's third album Faking the Books. The CD version includes a video to 'Micronomic'. To round things off, Micronomic includes two brand new Lali Puna songs, which have been written and recorded while the band worked on Faking the Books. 'The Daily Match' clearly focuses on Lali Puna's pop skills and is one of their most accessible songs to date. 'Harrison Reverse' is one of the band's rare instrumental compositions presenting Lali Puna's more electronic and abstract side. Features remixes by anticon artists Alias and Boom Bip (Lex Records)."

VA: Bite The Sound That Feeds You CD (MSQ CD001). $18.00

"This compilation is a representation of Mosquito releases over the last 4 years. Founded by Christian Vogel and Si Begg before their successes on such labels as Tresor, Force Inc, Language and many others, it hosts the cream of their work. In addition, this label has broken such talents as Neil Landstrumm, Justin Berkovi and Jamie Lidell. The tracks on this CD show the evolution of a strand in the rope that has made UK techno the driving force it is, by the artists that have consistently pushed the boundaries." MOSZ RECORDS (AUSTRIA):*KAPITAL BAND 1: 2CD 2CD (MOSZ 001CD). $15.00

"Nicholas Bussmann (Beige Oscillator, Ich schwitze nie) and Martin Brandlmayr (Radian, Trapist) are two of the most active musicians along the Vienna-Berlin axis. Quickly they found out that they share the same feelings about things they themselves call (not irony-free) 'pop' or 'funk'. Listening to the tracks on 2 CD it seems to be the abstraction of pop or funk that is of interest for them. You will not find a regular pop track on it, but in a mathematical sense 2 CD works as a function of pop. Pop that is somehow stripped down to its basic idea which gives room for new aesthetics. As the album was recorded in two or three sessions with only a few concrete ideas for the tracks, it is astonishing how dense and structured the album appears. Bussmann's electronics interact with Brandlmayr's drums in a way which often makes it impossible to say who plays what. Cascades of small electronic particles spin round a drum pattern, but you still have the feeling that there is a strong sense behind...not to forget about Bussmann's heavy bass-lines and particles of melody, which support the beat with an additional drive and a spatial and/or emotional dimension.... a kind of unique pop-bastard."

SIEWERT, MARTIN: No Need To Be Lonesome CD (MOSZ 002CD). $15.00

"Martin Siewert's first solo record, which is not only his first solo recording, but also what we would call another side of Martin Siewert: In contrast to his work to date, No Need To Be Lonesome focuses on melodies and, most importantly, grooves, and can be considered pop-music to a certain degree. Basically generated in the studio with an obscure selection of analogue synthesizers, electronic equipment and guitars, this album is more about the beauty of songlike structures than about abstraction itself. This might be confusing for the ones who know Siewert's discography, but simply shows an artist, who is active in different domains of contemporary music."

MOTEER (UK):*MANY FINGERS: Many Fingers CD (MOTEER 002CD). $13.00

"Second release on The Remote Viewer's own label. After nearly a year since the quietly acclaimed Clickits EP on Moteer crept out into our collective unconscious, things have been progressing at The Remote Views. Whilst working on their own awesome new mini album for City Centre Offices, they've convened this beauty of a record from Chris Cole — issuing from Matt Elliot's circle in Bristol and a formative member of his touring band, anyone who valued the Third Eye Foundation's amazing, tender 2003 release The Mess We Made should make a beeline for the gentle intricacies of Many Fingers. In places, this is similar in atmosphere to the way Vincent Gallo captured magic in the ether on his Recordings Of Music For Films. In short a alchemical journey into live instrumentation, with detuned pianos, accordions, flutes, reversed guitars, xylophones and creepy atmospheres, who can refute the beauty of this music?"

MOTEL RECORDS:*WILSON, GARY: You Think You Really Know Me CD (MR 007 CD). $13.00

Reissue of this late 70s Real People/lounge "classic". "In 1977 Gary Wilson was living with his parents in Endicott, New York. There he would spend his nights in the basement, wrapped in magnetic tape, covered in baking flour and recording beautifully twisted songs about the desperation of teenage romance. Every track full of fantastic lyrics about chrome, making out, mirrors, blind dates, Cindy, Karen, Debbie and Friday nights. These songs ended up on his only album, titled You Think You Really Know Me, self-released in small quantities and sold mostly at a handful of performances between 1977-79. Shortly after, Gary Wilson vanished into obscurity. Now we're very proud to drop this definitive reissue of the ultra-rare You Think You Really Know Me. Fully remastered and featuring deluxe packaging, extensive liner notes, personal photos and ephemera from his undeservedly short career."

MOTION (UK):*PERRY, LEE: Born In The Sky CD (FAST CD006). $16.00

All tracks from 1969-1975, a third of the tracks were mastered from Perry's recently unearthed original 1/4" tapes and include 9 previously unreleased cuts, including 4 previously unreleased songs and five previously released alternate takes. The rest of the tracks have never appeared on CD before and have been mastered from rare vinyl singles. CD contains 20 page booklet by Perry biographer Dave Katz, detailed sleeve notes, track by track breakdown and unseen photos. CD contains one bonus track."

Soon after, a dub set, Herb Dub — Collie Dub, appeared, but only in very limited numbers. ### MOTOR (GERMANY):

VA: Sound Of The City London (Compiled By Gilles Peterson) CD (UNI 41952). $15.00

Series of 5 geographic-based CDs from 1999. "Gilles has championed a truly global musical perspective by for the past 20 years. Gilles joined Radio 1 in 1998. Not only does he 'join the dots' between artists, producers and styles, but he's a DJ who places equal legitimacy on a Max Roach album and a Jig Master's 12". With WorldWide now broadcast in 15 countries from New Zealand to Croatia to Nigeria to the USA to Cyprus, his popularity and message can only grow. Brought up among the South London suburban soul scene in the early eighties, Gilles would avidly listen to listening to Level 42, Earth Wind & Fire, Central Line and the heavier, deeper pirate stations such as Radio Invicta. This inspired him to set up his own station — literally an aerial suspended between a tree and a phone box — playing an eclectic mix of jazz, funk, reggae, soul and early electro. With this compilation he presents his view about London." Artists include: The Cinematic Orchestra, Pnu Riff, Hefne, Urban Species, Circulation, Tim Hardin, Jeffrey Darnell, Da Lata, Interference, Reprazent, and Talvin Singh.

"Jazzanova are a Berlin based producer collective consisting of the Jazzanova DJ-team (Jürgen von Knoblauch, Alexander Barck, and Claas Brieler), the producers of Extended Spirit and Kosma. To Jazzanova, music means the search for a common language of international club music, to take in influences from all different cultures and musical styles, to fuse these styles together and get the audience involved in the whole musical spectrum of that fusion. Their love for deep jazz and modern beats has led their music to become a somewhat stunning amalgamation of retro and new sounds that echoes almost all musical styles from HipHop or Afrofunk to Drum & Bass, Boogie, Brazil, Latin, and Soul. Always reacting directly to new and fresh influences, Jazzanova have developed a percussion-oriented, sophisticated, clean and warm broken-beat-style that is constantly changing in form and allows no pigeon-holing. It's just simply Jazzanova! This CD features their 'Berlin's musicals scene' overview well selected and in the typical Jazzanova mixing style." ### MOVING IMAGE ENTERTAINMENT (ITALY):

BARRON, LOUIS & BEBE: OST Forbidden Planet LP (MIE 008 LP). $21.00

"A unique score for this 1956 MGM film. Forbidden Planet was the first Hollywood film score to use electronic music. It was entirely made of electronic tonalities generated by circuits feeding back. The music was unearthly as anything ever heard in a Hollywood soundtrack up to that time and for many years after as well. The score captured perfectly the film's futuristic extraterrestrial setting and action. 23 tracks. Original artwork. 180 gram vinyl."

COURAGE, ALEXANDER: OST Star Trek Vol.1 LP (MIE 009 LP). $21.00

"The mid-'60s NBC-TV series went on to become a phenomenon and Alexander Courage's music is something of a holy grail for Star Trek fans. This elpee contains the original and unedited master tapes of the awe-inspiring music to the two television pilots of the Star Trek: 'The Cage' (still not shown in its original form on television) and 'Where No Man Has Gone Before' (shown on September 22, 1966). The original tapes (recorded in 1965) have been meticulously remastered in digital form in order to provide the best possible sound quality. 35 tracks. Original artwork. 180 gram vinyl."

SCHIFRIN & JOHN DAVIS, LALO: OST Mission Impossible — Then And Now LP (MIE 010 LP). $21.00

"Re-release of the original quintessential cult soundtrack — still the best (even after a slew of ultra high tech re-makes)— especially when it comes to the music! This fabulous LP contains the music from all best episodes (e.g., The Contender, Submarine, The Killer, Takeover, Underground, The Plague, The Bayou, The Cattle King and more), plus different versions of the classic theme song and previously unreleased material. Gatefold sleeve with gorgeous vintage photos and biographical notes about the composers Schiffrin and Davis."

MPC LTD. (UK):

DAVIS, BETTY: Nasty Gal CD (UFOXY1CD). $18.00

"Third and final rock/funk monster from Betty Davis, originally released on Island in 1975. No credits this time out, and since very little seems to be known about Ms. Davis since she dropped off the map in the hard rock end at this point. On the same wavelength as Ike and Tina's records from the same era, as the first real effects of Jimi's Band of Gypsies were seeping into the musical meta-consciousness in myriad ways (see 'Nutbush City Limits'). Betty also sounds as if she's fueled with the same, uh, 'enthusiasm' that inspired Ike & Tina's records from that era. Her vocal limitations do become a bit apparent on the one ballad included here, but the rest of the tracks are top notch; ferocious bass, guitar, drum and clavinet blowouts as Betty vents her spleen all over the studio walls. Lots of trash talkin', a tribute to Ike & Hendrix et al., and the randomly placed blood curdling scream. Admittedly, records rarely have everything one wants, but how often do you hear one that tries to convince you it has everything you need? Truly unique." — Billy Kiely

DAVIS, BETTY: Nasty Gal LP (UFOXY1LP). $13.50

LP versions of the three Betty Davis albums on this label.

DAVIS, BETTY: CD (UFOXY2CD). $18.00

Reissue of the first self-titled Betty Davis album, originally issued in 1973 on the Just Sunshine label. She released a trio of albums in '73-75 (They Say I'm Different & Nasty Gal — CD version to follow). The only other available material is a set of '79 unreleased demos (issued on CD under the titles Crashin' From Passion and Hangin' Out in Hollywood). Classic 70s funk rock with attitude from the ex-wife of Miles Davis.

DAVIS, BETTY: LP (UFOXY2LP). $13.50

LP version.

DAVIS, BETTY: They Say I'm Different CD (UFOXY3CD). $18.00

"Miles Davis met Betty in 1969, when she was Betty Mabry, still in her very early twenties and hanging with Sly Stone and Jimi Hendrix. Betty Davis's photograph appeared on the cover of his Filles De Kilimanjaro album, but their marriage lasted not much longer than a year, finishing when Davis discovered she was sleeping with Hendrix. By the trumpeter's own admission, however, she turned him on to the funk rock that revolutionised his sound forever. Her own music was a pressure cooker of sex and adrenalin, equalled in guts by only a handful of her husband's records. They Say I'm Different contains the much sampled 'Shoo-B-Doop And Cop Him', the tough fetish-funk 'He Was A Big Freak' ('Pain was his middle name... he used to laugh when I made him cry'), and a title track that remains one of the decade's overlooked funk masterpieces. In Davis's own words: 'If Betty were singing today she'd be something like Madonna; something like Prince... She was the beginning of all that when she was singing as Betty Davis. She was head of her time.'" — Linton Chiswick, "100 Records That Set The World On Fire," The Wire, September '98.

DAVIS, BETTY: They Say I'm Different LP (UFOXY3LP). $13.50

LP version.

DAVIS, BETTY: Anti Love: The Best Of Betty Davis CD (VEX 03CD). $18.00

Twelve track best-of CD compiling songs from Ms. Davis's prior albums, as reissued by MPC: a trio of LPs from '73-75 (Betty Davis, They Say I'm Different & Nasty Gal). No additional bonus track, no liner notes.

MPS (GERMANY):

MANGELSDORFF, ALBERT: And His Friends CD (MPS 73752CD). $12.00

Reissue of this classic 1969 album, featuring duets between Mangelsdorff (trombone) and the following musicians: Don Cherry (trumpet), Elvin Jones (drums), Karl Berger (vibraphone), Attila Zoller (guitar), Lee Konitz (alto sax), Wolfgang Dauner (piano). "The genius of German trombone player Albert Mangelsdorff can't be experienced better than with these improvised duets, recorded with some of his best musical friends. Swinging, innovative, free-wheeling and poignant. This LP indeed captures all shades of Mangelsdorff's music: Fun and humour in the duet with Don Cherry; light, gently flowing swing, the sureness and consciousness of 'time' in the set with Elvin Jones; melodic sensibility in Zoller's 'Outox'; the ties with the 'tradition' of cool jazz in the dialogue with Lee Konitz; and the fascination by the avant-garde, the continuous further development as in the Berger intermezzo. In spite of all this diversity it may strike the one or the other attentive listener that there are certain motifs, ideas, phrases cropping up again and again in the various selections in a multitude of variations and modifications, as if being continuously developed further, thus creating the impression that the six duets contained in the grooves of this album are not merely six different selections but the somehow connected movements of one complete, cohesive suite. The six musicians playing these duets are representative for many others. Time and again, Albert is particularly brilliant in playing duets and dialogues."

MPS (JAPAN):

PIKE SET, DAVE: Noisy Silence — Gentle Noise CD (UCCM 9029). $23.00

"1969 album from this German/Austrian/American quartet (Pike: vibes/tambourine, Volker Kriegel: guitar/sitar, Hans Rettenbacher: bass, and Peter Baumesiter: drums) notable for it's inclusion of the Anokha-night anthem 'Mathar', itself a fine example of how NOT to mix Eastern/Western themes w/even a touch of accuracy/respect for either (effectively nailing up its own plaque in the hall of 'greatest scum ever'...). Other than that (& a piece based on Zappa's 'Mother People,' oh and 'Walking Down the Highway in a Red Raw Egg,' which features a pretty brilliant long-distance/phoned-in guitar solo) the music's pretty snoozy/make-out oriented, not too far off in tone from classic Gary Burton Quartet recordings. Feel their wrath." — Hrvatski.

MS (EUROPE):

BERBERIAN, JOHN: Ode To An Oud 2LP (MS 6023). $40.00

Bootleg reissue of the two LPs issued on Mainstream in the late 60s, in the spirit of the psychedelic/Eastern crossover. Titled Expressions East and Oud Artistry, these were his first well known LPs, issued approximately in 1965-67. He later went to record for Verve and Roulette and was perhaps most famously involved with Tony Scott's Homage to Lord Krishna (Verve, 1970). Packaged in a red box, with a liner note insert. Instrumentation: oud, bass, clarinet, bongos, canun, dumbeg, guitar, finger cymbals, tambourine, vocals. "This two records set should appeal, not only to belly dancers, but also to jazz fans with an ear for the unusual. As one of the musicians at the recording stated, 'The were oud players and there are John Berberians.' The oud is a pot-bellied instrument like that of a round black mandolin. It is the father of the lute and the grandfather of the mandolin. It has eleven strings and is tuned in to the playing of the violin. It is played with an eagle feather pick. For these albums, Johns organized the finest musicians in the city. Each one is a literate exponent of music in the Armenian, Turkish and Arabic idioms. Their repertoire is an imaginative cross-section of oriental melodies and intricate rhythms that are performed flawlessly."

MUCHO GUSTO (CANADA):

PELOQUIN: Sauvageau- Laissez-nous vous embrasser où vous avez mal CD (MGCD 004). $15.00

"Reissue of the classic 1972 Quebec masterpiece. Includes 'Monsieur L'Indien' and 'Mama Vagina'. When it was originally released, this record was 30 years ahead of its time. Now we're in 2004 and it's time has arrived. Launched in 1972, Laissez-nous vous embrasser ou ça fait mal is one of the most original records ever made in Quebec. Though avant-garde, it still managed to garner radio support and wide public attention thanks to the trance-like track 'Monsieur L'Indien'. The 'Us' in Let us kiss you where it hurts is Claude Pelouquin, con-traversal poet, And Jean Sauvageau, a Quebec electronic music pioneer. Together after memorable trips and artistic happenings throughout the 60's, they came up with this eccentric avant-garde masterpiece. With topics ranging from revolution ('Monsieur Emiliano'), to exploitation ('Monsieur L'Indien'), vasectomy ('Sterilization') or even scatology ('Mama Vagina'), the record exploded onto the local scene during the dark ages of Quebec Pop Music (something very similar to what's happening now). Claude Peloquin, the vocalist, can be heard laughing, screaming, babbling into the mike as he 'cracks open a brew' overtop a cocktail of explosive and highly original electronic music. A wall of sound shifting from synthetic psychedelic ambience, doped out choir to fucked up western. Techno spoken word? Electroclash? Experimental Rock? Pretty far from the hippie stuff you'd expect for the times."

MUCKRAKER:

MUCKRAKER: Muckraker #9 + CD MAG (MUCK 09). $8.00

MULTICOLOR (GERMANY):

SEÑOR COCONUT: Tour De France 12" (MCR 107). $8.50

"Futurism — an old-fashioned concept! It would be pointless and even superfluous to list projects or releases from Uwe Schmidt's past once again. Uwe Schmidt is Atom Heart, LB, label manager (Rather Interesting), musician, and — Señor Coconut! Ever since he moved to South America (Chile) some time ago, he has been presenting us with absolute delicacies in electronic music, i.e., the Pop Artificielle album (the cover songs of pop history) or with his album El Baile Alemán. You wouldn't expect anybody to do Kraftwerk covers in a Latin style, would you? Just listen to this EP and get a clue of what the album El Baile Alemán might sound like... Additional to the mixes by DJ Good Groove (well known through his Pulse project on Harthouse), "Tour De France", this 12" EP also contains two versions of the exclusive non-LP track 'Expo2000!'. Tracklisting:: A1 "Tour De France" (Merengue Album Version), A2: "Expo2000 (Mambo Original - exclusive!)", A3: "Expo2000" (Mambo Instrumental - exclusive!), B1: "Tour De France" (Good Groove's 501 Vocal Mix), B2: "Tour De France" (Good Groove's 501 Instrumental Mix).

SEÑOR COCONUT: Showroom Dummies CD (MCR 112 CD). $8.00

"Showroom Dummies' have never slipped across the smoothly polished dancefloor like this before. Señor Coconut has latinfected them as well: fitted them with a highly professional Cha-Cha dose for the perfect staging of their resurrection. As a result they appear realistically human, like supple gigolos who love to be ensnared by the drunken sound of the vibraphone. If they could talk and travel, they would sashay under an authentic sun, saying that 'Showroom Dummies' (the song) actually is a Latin traditional having been covered by Kraftwerk in the Seventies. We believe in everything they say. As a bonus on the 12" version, there's Markus Nikolai, who builds a pretty house made of palm branches for the Dummies, one gently breezed by the breath of euphoria. The gourmet is, as always, composing with the most tasteful essences: fattest sounds, highest dynamics, deepest passion, perfectly carved sound ingredients, clever coolness, humorously flavoured with the charm of naturalness. Tracklisting CDs: 1. 'Showroom Dummies (Radio Edit)', 2. Musica Moderna, 3. Showroom Dummies (Album Version)."

SIEG ÜBER DIE SONNE: You'll Never Come Back 12" (MCR 115 EP). $8.00

"The first single release from the ( ) x ( ) = ( + ) album containing vocals of Jorge Gonzales (Chile) and remixes by Plaid (Warp), Ricardo Villalobos (Playhouse, Perlon) & Tobi Neumann (exceptional producer, e.g. Chicks On Speed). Sieg Über Die Sonne are the two producers Pink Elin and Dandy Jack."

SIEG ÜBER DIE SONNE: I'm Not A Sound (Remixes) 12" (MCR 117 EP). $8.00

"Sieg Über Die Sonne (Victory Over the Sun) are well known for letting their gaze wander far beyond the musical horizon under Pop heaven. Now they have discovered and populated another paradise there, inviting everybody to enter whose heart beats for the peaceful coexistence of harmony and excitement, relaxation and urge for movement. Jorge Gonzales, most famous musician from Chile, animates the romantically blooming midnight mood of 'I'm not a Sound': his charismatic, aerosol vocals are warmed up by the sun. Pink Elin and Dandy Jack know definitely how to extract the core of Pop, at the same time enriching it with the finest essences of all musical styles." Remixers include: 2Raumwohnung, Mathias Schaffhäuser, Pink Elin.

MAMBOTUR: Atina.Latino CD (MCR 119 CD). $15.00

"The consciousness for traditional music of their native regions and its digital renovation leads to a cheerful collision of crunchy sound files of all genres. Mambo kings like Perez Prado and Tito Puente celebrate excessive discharges within the Disco Duro. On principle these reconstructive discipline had been carried over the Pacific by a traveller from Germany: at last, after countless conceptional, latinfected masterpieces Atom? alias Señor Coconut has given the album El Baile Alemán to us as a present in 2000, which proves that the popular Kraftwerk hits are originated in Latin traditionals in fact having been covered by the Düsseldorf Electroblots in the Seventies. Mambotur! Argenis Brito, Producer, bass player and singer i.a. with Señor Coconut he first had devoted to Pop and Rock music of his home country. Four years ago he began experimenting with electronic sounds. As a member of Gonzalo Martinez together with Dandy Jack, Pink Elin, Atom? as well as with the Chilean superstar Jorge Gonzalez, he already set standards very high for the complete genre of Latinotronics. Collaborations with Markus Nikolai (Perlon) and Sieg Über Die Sonne followed. Pier Bucu started five years ago to create his own vision of atmospheric rhythms via experimental musical programming. His first release can be listened to on the compilation Austral on the Chilean label 'Ruta 5'. In 2000, during the same period of time the production of the Mambotur songs occurred, he released an album of concrete music entitled 'Music for Architecture'. Now these two guys join the competition via Mambotur, refining Retro- to Mamboelectro. In search of tr(ropical) sounds beyond power (Kraft) and plant (Werk) they have intuitively recognized and consolidated the affinity of both styles not only to each other. Sabor!"

SEÑOR COCONUT: Electrolatino 12" (MCR 120 EP). $8.00

"The title of his new 12", independently produced from 'El Baile Alemán', is programmatic again: 'Electrolatino', boiling Salsa, is flowing like lava in the veins of all people addicted to motion and feels like Electro and Acid have always been natural components of all popular Latino dance forms. Ritmo Loco. Ruben Rodriguez, star DJ of the Latino club scene from San Juan (capital of Puerto Rico), responsible for numerous top-10 productions (mainly with his Techno-Merengue band Los Crazy People's) on the other hand eats his fill of European dance music traditions: he lets Salsa evaporate except the congas, strips the song down to its Electro frame and sinks the Brothers' Vibe on the Disco floor into an Acid bath, as if this just has been invented. The nature of the tool plays a central part in the 'Lectro Cariño rmx' by Ricardo Villalobos. He dissects the elements vocals, brass and congas, stretches the center part sensitively, by means of an exotic bassline to pacific expanse and creates a typical opus for the extra-long trip to his own, boundless continent."

SCHAFFHAUSER, MATHIAS: Selected Remixes Vol. 1 CD (MCR 123 CD). $15.00

"Producer and DJ Mathias Schaffhäuser has set up his own, first class within the 'Minimal School of Cologne' long since: He, like nobody else knows how to fill up the austere framework of Tech House with elastic, playful elements. The result (most famous example: his cover version of the 80es Icehouse hit 'Hey, Little Girl') easily conquered the dance floors, leaving hope for an ideal future where electronic music of all styles peacefully communicates with each other in every medium. The now available compilation Selected Remixes Vol. 1 is proving that Schaffhäuser's own style is respected by artists of most different characters. No wonder, considering the fact that he has consistently improved his image while never alienating from the current musical soundscapes. The remix compilation unites a multitude of musical directions: Coloma, a Cologne/London-based project, combines Clicks 'n' Cuts with songwriters' tradition. The Finn Luomo (a.k.a. Vladislav Delay) has injected a big portion of gentle euphoria to the Disco concept, in which one likes to take a full bath. The German/Chilean musicians of Gonzalo Martinez are the initiators of the Pacific spring tide of Latinotronics. Geoff White is one of the most sensitive, sensuous North American minimalists. If one would interweave his tender structures with the professional, perfectly arranged Pop appeal by Sieg über die Sonne (Victory Over the Sun), the result possibly will be a remix like a diamond as defined by Schaffhäuser? The Kitbuilders let their unbridled play instinct for Electro go without lowering their high demands in production. Steve Bug is one of the most kicking German representatives for erotically charged House Tech. Tracks by Raz Ohara, Digital South, J.C.A. and Decomposed Subsonic round off this first remix relay. Hot goods for the 21st century!"

SEÑOR COCONUT: Smoke On The Water 12" (MCR 124 EP). $9.00

"Smoke on the Water' has been produced by Deep Purple in the beginning of the 70es. One may be surprised about the fact that this song — which is leading the Pop Heritage of the World — has not been covered by several music producers since long. But the pressure having to devote to a serious arrangement of this successful world hit had impeded everybody accepting this challenge up to now — to the Señor's momentous decision to succeed to this estate by releasing a new multiColor single. Here the master expresses his respect for the sacrosanction of this title by presenting a breathtaking latin adaption. The Mambo alternative of 'Smoke on the Water' rocks every dance floor of passion. The theme, having been taken over by the incredibly well-tempered Coconut brass section, is sweeping straightly into all supple parts of the body." With Remixes by: King Britt, Pink Elin and Dandy Jack, and Swayzak.

SEÑOR COCONUT: Smooth Operator 12" (MCR 126 EP). $9.00

"Could one imagine a more perfect musical accompaniment for this exceptional summer 2003 than a sophisticated, yet passionately performed Señor Coconut version of the Sade classic 'Smooth Operator'? Of course, namely two versions. The combo treats this hit from 1984 with highest respect. Still the song is equally urging to flirt on the dance floor and to refresh oneself at a fashionable cocktail bar with the latest drink creations. First the Señor offers a perfectly arranged adaptation in original swinging Cha Cha acoustics, then he supplies a bonus of a cool midnight 'Version Suave'. Its enchanting atmosphere exerts the evening society on a warm breath of wind to the marble terrace where couples, who have found each other freshly, make a promise of love under the twinkling of millions of stars."

MAMBOTUR: Pacheco 12" (MCR 128 EP). $9.00

"In case you thought the original version is highly capable of sweeping the Pacific, be assured that the tune's remixes are straightly heading ultimate pleasure: No less a person than Luciano from Geneva, one of the most innovative, visionary producers/DJs today, could be won to restructure the track for the everlasting passion of the night. Stripped to the bones, 'Pacheco' has been newly clad in finely interwoven rhythmic tissue. The twitching percussive elements of exceptional quality correspond eloquently with the hi-hats pushing themselves as well as the crowd forward."

TELEMEN: God is a Computer 2LP (MCR 130LP). $19.00

Double LP version. "Danyell (a.k.a. Detective) — composer, musician with all his heart, trained singer and bon vivant — designs his project Telemen as a clever system of seduction. His debut album and single extract on Multicolor expand the intersection set of Club and Pop culture by a generously measured, well-tempered, hedonistic aspect. He has equipped a spacious, multi-functional terrain of well-being on the niches' ruins of many little specialists' scenes, which invites to have a fling. The House has given way to a fashionable villa including a vast dance floor and view to the future. It welcomes particularly those who are driven to exciting new sounds by curiosity. Its entrances are located to all cardinal points to grant free access to the breath of fresh air blowing around them."

SIEG ÜBER DIE SONNE: Gone 12" (MCR 132EP). $9.00

"Amazing, how clever Sieg Über Die Sonne arrange the sounds on their fourth album — nearly 10 years after their debut. The first single 'Gone' shows that the trend towards human factors on the dance floor in the form of singing voices is not to be ignored. The Rousing 'Barbados Mix' of Sieg Über Die Sonne perseveringly polishes the original's surface. The heavily shuffled 'Lunar Disco Mix' by David Duriez from Paris (runs his own label Brique Rouge) arouses by old 'French Kiss' tradition the very sexual desire letting the crowd constantly move to one another. Thomas Melchior (Melchior Productions and part of Baby Ford), handles his specialist tool with such a feeling that his version, shuffled in a Perlon manner, is washed out of the original's whirlpool like a crystal minimal sculpture in a new setting."

AIR LIQUIDE: Let Your Ears Be The Receiver CD (MCR 133CD). $18.00

"Air Liquide, founded in Frankfurt, Germany in 1991 as a platform within the so-called 'New Frankfurt Electronic School' is the electronic institution with heart and soul. Their current (and twelfth) album Let Your Ears Be The Receiver is closer to the audience, as well as to the real club philosophy, than each release before, because Cem Oral (Jammin' Unit, Berlin) and Ingmar Koch (Dr. Walker, Cologne) installed their recording equipment in the centre of the dancefloor of their own club. Not in vain the British 'New Musical Express' bestowed the unbeatable and inapplicable title of nobility 'first electronic supergroup since Kraftwerk' upon them in 1995."

AIR LIQUIDE: Let Your Ears Be The Receiver 2LP (MCR 133LP). $19.00

Double LP version.

SIEG ÜBER DIE SONNE: +1 CD (MCR 134CD). $18.00

"Amazing, how clever Sieg Über Die Sonne arrange the sounds on their fourth album — nearly 10 years after their debut. As if it is the most self-evident innovation in the musical world,  $\pm 1$  compresses the most moving dancefloor styles and renovates the greyed coating of Electrofunk almost in passing. Meanwhile both musicians Pink Eln and Dandy Jack (formerly with homebase Frankfurt) reside in Berlin, which one may notice by the first-class production of  $\pm 1$ . The contact to Chilean Jorge González who wrote, sang and arranged all vocals on  $\pm 1$  — partly live in the Sun Electric studio Berlin, partly via digital media, exists since the mid-Nineties and he already had given his voice to the club hits 'You'll Never Come Back' & 'I'm Not A Sound' (among others) from their third album  $\pm 1$  (multiColor). Jorge's professional approach to melody lines is remarkable, as well as his charming handling of language."

MURDERCAPITAL (NETHERLANDS):

NOVAMEN: 12" (MURD 007). $9.00

"DJ Overdose 'n Pauli (also connected to the Get it boys on Bunker) rocking the house with a Murdercapital mentality. The 3rd release of the Novamen ready to rock the place. 4 track bass-o-matic ghettonix."

MUSH RECORDS:

JEL: Meat & Oil 12" (MH 010 EP). $7.50

"Jel's follow-up to his critically acclaimed 10 Seconds is this twenty-minute hiphop instrumental EP. Targeted to hiphop and electronic DJs as well as underground listeners, the anti-con beatmaker's trademark SP-1200 drum chopping skills are in full effect, as he blends funk and rock samples with electronics and found sounds Americana from television commercials, newscasts, and radio. Staring at the American dream with a questioning eye, family values, soccer moms, the cattle industry, and oil conglomerates are all left bruised and battered as Jel adds another success to a series of impressive releases."

ANTIMC: Run 12" (MH 022 EP). $7.50

"AntiMC's solo debut is the three-part essay Run To Free. The first installment, Run, demonstrates his strengths as a producer and instrumentalist. The EP includes two full instrumental tracks: the Kashmiri-inspired 'Could You Think of Anything Better?' and the live electronic collage '15:01'. The bridge linking hiphop to jazz is established as hard-bop Atlantic Records legend Les McCann lends his vocal and keyboard talents to the track 'I'm a Star Now'. Fast rising Los Angeles based GSL recording artist Subtitle delivers a mind-warped poem of riddles and obscure pop-culture references on the track 'Click, Rattle, Rattle' to round out the release."

ASMAR, ANDRE AFRAM: The Transmigration 12" (MH 025). $7.00

"By defying convention and weaving together seemingly incompatible global threads of influence, Andre Afram Asmar won over audiences and critics alike with his worldbeat / dub / hiphop offering racetothetopbottom. Asmar now concentrates on the element that ties these genres together: the drum. 'Transmigration' attaches indigenous drumming, performed by Asmar and more than 20 collaborators, to sampled percussion in a celebration of one of the earliest forms of aural communication. Understanding the importance of setting, he veers from studio precision to experimenting with outdoor locations, allowing the environment into the recording. This entirely drum-based vinyl-only release is a beautiful detour into a world where percussion reigns supreme."

CLOUDDEAD: Dead Dogs Two 12" (MH 026EP). $7.50

"Boards of Canada team up with CLOUDDEAD on the latest release from Mush's successful left-leaning trio. Taken from their second full-length release TenCLOUDDEAD's original mix finds the group in top form, as an infectious melody, live bass, and odd nosdam's signature drum programming encompass vocals from Doseone and why?. The bonus cut 'Mulholland Instrumental' comes from the same sessions that spawned parts of their new album, and here CLOUDDEAD revisits the sweeping pads and ambient drones of their debut. Starting with the vocals from the original, Boards of Canada create a completely new backing track of epic strings and analog keyboards with an absolutely pitch-perfect ending. Dead Dogs Two combines all of the elements that have come to signify the CLOUDDEAD sound, and the addition of a Boards of Canada remix elevates this release to must-hear status."

DAEDELUS AND BOOM BIP: 28:06:42 12 7" (MH 027). $5.50

"During the presidential election of 1988, a teenager named Donnie Darko sleepwalked out of his house one night and saw a giant, demonic rabbit who tells him the world will end in 28 days, 6 hours, 42 minutes, and 12 seconds. Electronic auteur Daedelus and Mush Records' founding sound collageist Boom Bip use Richard Kelly's film as inspiration for this limited split seven-inch project. Both artists display a refined brilliance in their handling and reworking of the source material."

BUSDRIVER & RADIOINACTIVE AS THE WEATHER: Touch Type 7" (MH 201 EP). $5.00

"This release is Mush's first 7" release. It features two tracks by emcees Busdriver (Project Blowed) and Radioinactive (Wescoat Workforce). Side A, 'Touch Type', was produced by Paris, and Side B, 'Winthorp & Winthorp', by Daddy Kev. The release is the perfect introduction to the Busdriver/ Radioinactive combination (as The Weather)."

BOOM BIP & DOSEONE: Circle CD (MH 201CD). $15.50

Repressed. "The long awaited release from emcee Doseone and producer Boom Bip. A cohesive work of word and sound that ends where it gets and emulates the child-within. Circle combines the honest word and live instrumentation with an amalgam of sixties, seventies, eighties and ninties clay compositions. Doseone does it all, prose at light speed, in slow speak and even bird calls. Circle is at once like everything and nothing before it."

BOOM BIP & DOSEONE: Circle 2LP (MH 201LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

AESOP ROCK: Float CD (MH 202CD). $15.50

Year 2000 release repressed and available again. "Aesop Rock's first full length effort, Float contains twenty tracks of Avenue A hiphop deluge and exemplifies the classic explosiveness of the sub-terra emcee. It is the sound of a new New York underground speaking in full. The releases features guest appearances by Cannibal Ox and Doseone. Dense in meaning and gorgeous in sound."

AESOP ROCK: Float 2LP (MH 202LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

RADIOINACTIVE: Pyramidi CD (MH 203CD). $15.50

"Radioinactive's first full length release, Pyramidi follows a string of successful compilation appearances and self released EP's. Featuring thirty tracks of trademark West Coast Workforce stylings, Pyramidi showcases Radio's remarkable versatility and unique approach to writing. Whether he is commenting on the origin of modern man, telling a tall tale about stealing a thug's Pumas, or educating the listener on his father's homeland, Radio creates story-time for grownups with funny and poignant comments on the subject. Featuring production and guest appearances from OD, Sesquipedalian, RiskOne, AntiMC, Shovelhead, and others, Pyramidi is a complete and satisfying release that will only enhance Radioinactive's reputation as one of today's top avant-emcees."

RADIOINACTIVE: Pyramidi 2LP (MH 203LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

SO CALLED ARTISTS: Paint By Number Songs CD (MH 204CD). $15.50

"Sole, Alias & DJ Mayonnaise proudly bring to you... So Called Artists. The former Live Poets long awaited full length release Paint By Number Songs features twelve tracks of biting emo-rap, alt-rock production and crisp turntablist work. The overall feel is dark, brooding, and aggressive, as Anticon emcees Sole and Alias tackle subjects ranging from the depression caused by signing their music away, to the perils of war. Ca-ca drums are no where to be found as the production is handled by Alias and DJ Mayonnaise in their trademark goth-hop style. Paint By Number Songs has an edge unlike any other Mush release, and is one of the rare hiphop full lengths where all tracks are of equal caliber."

SO CALLED ARTISTS: Paint By Number Songs 2LP (MH 204LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

FAT JON THE AMPLE SOUL PHYSICIAN: Wave Motion CD (MH 205CD). $15.50

"Wave Motion, the first full length instrumental release from Fat Jon The Ample Soul Physician of The Five Deez explores the deeper side of instrumental hiphop. Using mature production and seductive jazz samples, Jon has created a truly notable record. Taking equal inspiration from 60's 'Kind Of Blue' jazz and 70's 'Innervisions' soul, Jon has crafted a release that chooses understated melodies and chord changes over cheap thrill loops and scratches. It is the work of someone who has spent years in the studio; it is the work of someone who has created thousands of tracks."

FAT JON THE AMPLE SOUL PHYSICIAN: Wave Motion 2LP (MH 205LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

CLOUDDEAD: CD (MH 206CD). $15.50

"CLOUDDEAD is the avant-hiphop grouping of Doseone, why?, and odd nosdam. Fusing abstract beats, ambient pads, and interweaving vocals, CLOUDDEAD has created a release that owes as much to the Beatles as it does to hiphop. Like Dose and why?'s Greenthink project, CLOUDDEAD renounces the traditional hiphop song format in favor of music made in movements. Six such movements were created to be released as a limited edition 10" series. Each release features a guest (Illogiq, DJ Signify, Sole, The Wolf Bros, Mr. Dibbs, and The Bay Area Animals) and focuses on a specific theme. All six are combined to create a full length CD that nullifies any preconception of style and raises the artistic bar for future Mush releases."

CLOUDDEAD: 3LP (MH 206LP). $16.00

Triple LP version.

LABTEKWON: Song Of The Sovereign CD (MH 207CD). $15.50

"Mush, in conjunction with Ankh Ba Records, has collected seventeen tracks from Labtekwn's extensive catalog for the career retrospective, Song Of The Sovereign. From his debut, 'Ghetto Gospel' through 'The Future's Now... What's Next', 'Da Dawn', 'Da Helpless Won', 'Balti-Moorish Science', and 'Nile Child', to his lo-fi live recording 'Proverbs Of Passion', and his most recent full-length, The Last Emcee/The Art Of Love, Labtek's releases have been as innovative as they are impossible to find. Effortlessly shifting styles and content, running from hundreds-of-words-in-a-breath stream-of-consciousness channeling to take-no-prisoner battle raps, Song Of The Sovereign is the perfect introduction to one of the underground's most respected and influential emcees."

LABTEKWON: Song Of The Sovereign 2LP (MH 207LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

JEL: 10 Seconds CD (MH 208 CD). $15.50

"From Mantronix to Marley Marl, the Beastie Boys to Large Professor, the Bomb Squad to DJ Muggs, and the RZA to Jel, the SP-1200 has been the most important instrument in hip hop's short history. Named after the unit's criminally small amount of sample time, 10 Seconds pays homage to hip hop's past without ever sounding dated. Featuring the signature drum programming and sample selection that has made him a favorite in underground circles, the instrumental format of 10 Seconds allows Jel the opportunity to structure his tracks without limitation. The result is a full length that flows while maintaining the standard hip hop boom-bap; a record that is sure to go down as a blueprint for future hip hop instrumentals."

JEL: 10 Seconds 2LP (MH 208 LP). $16.00

Double vinyl version.

ODD NOSDAM: Plan 9... Meat Your Hypnotis CD (MH 209 CD). $15.50

"Mush is proud to reissue Odd Nosdam's debut Plan 9... Meat Your Hypnotist. Originally released on a limited number of hand made cassettes and distributed entirely through the internet and tape trading, Plan 9 was created using only a Dr. Sample, an ancient Tascam 8-Track, and a beat up Teac cassette deck. It can be argued that it was due to this limitation, rather than in spite of it, that Nosdam cultivated a style that caught the ear of Doseone and why? leading to the formation of the trio CLOUDDEAD. Fifty-five short but sweet tracks of lower than lo-fi sonic mud, Plan 9's seventy-one minutes document the emergence of the trademark Nosdam production style. Of course, all of the original clicks, pops, tape noise, and hiss have been kept beautifully in tact."

ODD NOSDAM: Plan 9... Meat Your Hypnotis 2LP (MH 209 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

CURSE OV DIALECT: Lost In The Real Sky CD (MH 211 CD). $15.50

"Not content with recycling the same old beats and rhymes, Curse ov Dialect reach for the next level by reinterpreting sounds from all eras and arenas into unique sonic collages with a hyper edge and extreme bounce. Hailing from Melbourne, Australia, the group's political raps, razor-sharp writing, unique flows, and standout production accurately represent the multi-cultural climate of their homeland and is authentically Australian. Lost in the Real Sky is an 18-track introduction to their sound."

CURSE OV DIALECT: Lost In The Real Sky 2LP (MH 211 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

REACHING QUIET: In The Shadow Of The Living Room CD (MH 212 CD). $15.50

"Why? and Odd Nosdam, two-thirds of the CLOUDDEAD dirt-hop massive, have produced a full length of catchy hits that each maintain the mystique of a hidden track. A year in the life of two art school dropouts. In The Shadow Of The Living Room finds the obsessive-compulsive duo fighting demons from the bedrooms of their parent's suburban homes. Why?'s lyrics read like a list of secrets the world is keeping from itself; Odd Nosdam's production echoes the slow and low ghost of lo-fi past. Their first full length release nearly killed them; it's the sound of Edion's ghost, a player piano, and a drum machine broadcast over a Ham radio; or Daniel Johnston and the Ghetto Boys rolling deep in a '57 Chevy with the top down in the dead of winter."

CLUE TO KALO: Come Here When You Sleepwalk CD (MH 213 CD). $15.50

"Combining equally strong elements of laptop production, heartfelt vocals, and non-traditional songwriting, Come Here When You Sleepwalk is the extraordinary new release from Australian musician Mark Mitchell. Featuring both down and uptempo tracks, the release's strengths are its ever-morphing melodies, keyboard lines, and drum machine patterns, and understated vocals that never use more words or volume than necessary to set their mood. At first glance, the lyrics seem simple, yet they cut to the heart of their topic with precision. Damaged personalities, wounded relationships and underlying hope saturate tracks on a release that should establish Clue to Kalo as one of the finest songwriters and producers working in electronic music today."

CLUE TO KALO: Come Here When You Sleepwalk 2LP (MH 213 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

AWOL ONE AND DADDY KEV: Slanguage CD (MH 214CD). $15.50

"Awol One and Daddy Kev are back together to follow up the underground hits, 'Souldoubt' (Mean Street) and 'Number 3 on the Phone' (Records Broken) with Slanguage, their hip-hop take on free jazz. Daddy Kev has crafted a fifty-minute soundscape using minor-keyed pianos, brushed drums, stand-up bass, and jazz guitars over methodically programmed beats and the virtuoso turntable manipulation of D-Styles. Awol One's lyrics are genius in their simplicity, yet hide double meanings and depth rarely found in hip hop, and his voice remains one of the most recognizable in the business. Movements interweave without constraint, tracks start, stop, then start again, and the line between full vocal track, instrumental, and interlude is blurred beyond recognition."

AWOL ONE AND DADDY KEV: Slanguage 2LP (MH 214LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

BUSDRIVER, RADIOINACTIVE, & DAEDELUS: The Weather CD (MH 215CD). $15.50

"Busdriver and Radioinactive as The Weather have created, along with producer extraordinaire Daedelus, a million-word-a-minute marathon ('The Weather will talk your head off') of inside jokes, twisted narratives and abusive free-association backed with blip-hop beats assembled from samples of children's toys, a century's worth of recorded music, and other unearthed sounds, all deftly computer-twisted to optimum effect. The release combines the distinct talents and trademark styles of three individuals to create a sound all its own: left-field and envelope pushing, but still grounded in solid writing, well crafted music, and perfect execution that seems effortless."

BUSDRIVER, RADIOINACTIVE, & DAEDELUS: The Weather 2LP (MH 215LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

ASMAR, ANDRE AFRAM: Race To The Bottom 2LP (MH 216LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

LISTENER: Whispermoon CD (MH 217 CD). $15.00

"Whispermoon, the debut solo album from Listener, is a fourteen-song collection of undeniably underground hip-hop. Combining rhymes that bounce between spiritual observation and old-school wordplay with backing tracks based on melodic samples and grit-drum counter rhythms, Listener displays an ear for dark uses of sound and the ability to rely on traditional flow to remain memorable and accessible. Guest emcees include Manchild of Mars III and Listener's Deepspace5 and Labklik crew members. Acclaimed Mars III producer Dust is the force behind the bulk of the music, with additional production handled by Gruntwork, Fred Bruno, III, and Listener himself."

LISTENER: Whispermoon 2LP (MH 217 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

DAEDELUS: Rethinking The Weather CD (MH 218 CD). $15.50

"Daedelus hooked up with emcees Busdriver and Radioinactive to produce Mush's February 2003 hit, The Weather. Using the instrumentals of that album as a base, Daedelus has chopped, relayed, remixed, twisted, and given life to a new instrumental project dubbed Rethinking The Weather. Fans of the original should take note that this is not your typical hip-hop instrumental album, where the music is remixed without the vocals. Although the original was used as a starting point, the end result is something entirely unique and a glimpse into the mind of a one-of-a-kind artist."

DAEDELUS: Rethinking The Weather 2LP (MH 218 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

VILLAIN ACCELERATE: Maid Of Gold CD (MH 219 CD). $15.00

"Montreal transplant Sixtoo, following a string of well received productions (including work for Sage Francis's Personal Journals, his own instrumental classic Duration, and his latest LP Antagonist Survival Kit (Vertical Form), as well as a multi-record deal with Ninja Tune), joins forces with his old production mate, Stigg of the Dump as Villain Accelerate. Maid Of Gold is a barrage of breakneck drums, dark samples, pulsing bass, and destabilizing electronics, and may very well be the most accomplished instrumental release in the Mush catalog. It is the work of a production team schooled in hip-hop with the engineering skills of the most sonically challenging drum & bass producer."

VILLAIN ACCELERATE: Maid Of Gold 2LP (MH 219 LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

NEUTRINO: Neutrino CD (MH 220CD). $15.00

"With the self-titled follow-up to their successful Quest EP, Japanese duo Neutrino (Atsuhiko Murakami and Hideki Kuroda) use an economic approach to rhythm and an acute ear for melody to further establish the group as experts of minimal, late-night grooves. The album is packed with music of depth and beauty that combines the dirty beats of hip-hop, the warm sound of analog, and forward-thinking production techniques. With artwork by Michiharu Shimoda of the Silent Poets and tracks that are prime examples of the sounds emanating from Tokyo's narcotic downbeat club scene, the album could have only come from Japan."

NEUTRINO: Neutrino 2LP (MH 220LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

OMID: Monolith CD (MH 221 CD). $15.50

"Omid raises the standard on producer-driven hip-hop albums with Monolith, a project that rests in concept between his Celestial Recordings' smash Beneath the Surface and 2002's stellar Distant Drummer. Equally split between densely layered instrumental pieces and standout vocal tracks, Monolith features some of the world's most important emcees rhyming over Omid's beautifully crafted, Middle Eastern tinged productions: Buck 65, Busdriver, Abstract Rude, 2Mex, Spoon (of Iodine), Luckyiam.PSC, Slug, Aceyalone, and Murs all give noteworthy performances. Two standout tracks are turned in by Hymnal, whose world-weary tales of moral corruption bookend the album. In a time where some producers are content with just making beats, Omid's mature design speaks volumes with or without emcees."

OMID: Monolith 3LP (MH 221 LP). $16.00

Triple LP version.

OCTAVIUS: Audio Noir CD (MH 222 CD). $15.00

"Octavius has strived to perfect his stunning amalgam of hip hop, electronic and avant-rock music in the San Francisco underground over the past four years. This dedication has culminated in his Mush full-length release Audio Noir. Serving as somewhat of a departure from the beats and noise frenzy that ignited a buzz around his 2001 work with 4AM, the new release looks to establish Octavius as a purveyor of even more elaborate territories of sound. Experimental freak-outs collide with classic song structures, tension and attitude give way to raw vulnerability, and Octavius's vocal and production techniques are employed to unnerving effect. Audio Noir adds previously missing darkness and edge to the Mush catalog in a way that overwhelms, thrills, and astonishes in equal measure."

OCTAVIUS: Audio Noir 2LP (MH 222 LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

BECK, THAVIUS: Decomposition CD (MH 223CD). $15.00

"The sprawling arrangements on Thavius Beck's Mush debut burrow into the brain with a mix of melodic samples, chopped breaks, pulsating synths, and head-swirling delay, and then morph into genre-bending sound paintings adorned with hallucinogenic vocal samples. Four full vocal tracks — 'Open Your Fucking Eyes' (featuring vocals by Thavius Beck himself), 'June Gloom' (vocals by Subtitle), 'Amongst the Shadows' (vocals by Cedric Bixler-Zavala of Mars Volta), and 'Demons of Destruction' (vocals by Longevity of Darkleaf) — are right at home among instrumental tracks that are as densely layered and well crafted as modern electronic music. Decomposition is worthy of extended headphone listening. Indulge. Composer of mercurial soundtracks for uncertain times, Thavius Beck conjoins various strains of electronic music to arrive at a daringly ambitious sound."

BECK, THAVIUS: Decomposition 2LP (MH 223LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

HER SPACE HOLIDAY: The Young Machines CD (MH 224 CD). $15.00

"Change... love... death... infidelity... confession... a break up. Marc Bianchi is nearly surgical in his ability to slice delicate songs of love, loss, hope, despair, and optimism out of one very hard year. His striking new release as Her Space Holiday is an authentic foray into intelligent dream-pop. The production is everything one expects from Her Space Holiday; intricate string arrangements, analog synth patterns, lush guitar-like drones and tasteful drum programming abound, but the songwriting elevates the album to its elite status. Traditional song structures take unexpected turns throughout, highlighting the introspection and vulnerability most often missing in electronic music. The Young Machines is a ten-song encapsulation of a year on the edge and Her Space Holiday's most complete and personal release."

OPUS: Breathing Lessons CD (MH 225CD). $15.00

"After locking themselves in their Chicago studio with a mountain of dusty vinyl and two lifetimes' worth of musical inspiration, The Opus deliver this mesmerizing collection of reflective, instrumental hip-hop. Using their signature palette of chopped percussion and intricate drum programming as base materials, they expand their compositions with layers of strings, untuned piano, analog synths, floor-rumbling bass, and reverb to haunting effect. Although the all-too-brief vocal appearance of Lord 360 reminds listeners of their productions for emcees on Rubberroom's Archtechnology and their own 2002 debut First Contact, this release establishes The Opus as a production duo capable of creating music that stands on its own. Emotional depth and moodiness are essential elements of their work. Dark without being abrasive, difficult yet engaging, their sound is reminiscent of dark drum and bass, yet firmly cemented into the hip-hop annals."

RADIOINACTIVE AND ANTIMC: Free Kamal CD (MH 226CD). $15.50

"This forward-thinking hip-hop album of twelve songs that run the gamut of modern pop music is the culmination of years of growth by both artists. Incomparable wordplay, jaunting delivery, and the ability to craft tracks with positive thinking as their central theme endear Radioinactive to indie hip-hop fans worldwide. Co-conspirator Anti-MC is a man on a mission whose expert sampling, drum programming, and impressive live playing provide the foundation for the album. In all of its fits and starts, its tension and release, Free Kamal is the perfect summer record — a catchy, hook-laden album that captures the Southern California experience."

NEOTROPIC: White Rabbits CD (MH 227CD). $15.00

"After a string of successful releases for Ninja Tune's Ntone imprint, Neotropic (aka Riz Maslen) makes her Mush debut with her finest work to date. Utilizing collaborative live performances from a number of talented guest musicians on a bed of sparse programming, Neotropic has crafted a release that is a continuation of her migration toward warm, minimal, acoustically grounded compositions. Her blend of environmental audio and rhythms document many moods and transitions. Piano lines and strings drift above fragile drum loops, an unassuming guitar strum slowly develops into a moving body of instruments, and sporadic vocals muse on the difficulty of finding and maintaining love."

CIRCUS VS ANDRE AFRAM ASMAR: Gawd Bless the Faceless Cowards CD (MH 228CD). $15.00

"Gawd Bless The Faceless Cowards counters the left of left-field raps of Circus (head honcho of The Shapeshifters) with Andre Afram Asmar's elaborate, dub-inflected world beats. Socially relevant tones and the playfulness of daisy-age hip-hop mingle with the otherworldly word and sound barrage of space-rap. Asmar's bed of glitchy, expertly processed rhythms pulse and flow as Circus's stream-of-consciousness lyrics dissect religious dogma, political power struggles, alien abductions, reptilian invaders, doomed relationships, and sucker emcees. Both artists veer slightly from their established forms in true collaboration to produce this strange and often hilarious joyride."

CIRCUS VS ANDRE AFRAM ASMAR: Gawd Bless the Faceless Cowards 2LP (MH 228LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

CLOUDDEAD: Ten CD (MH 230CD). $15.00

"On Ten, cLOUDDEAD builds on all the elements that defined their debut: razor sharp vocal interplay, quirky found sound samples, ambient drone dreamscapes, lyrics that walk the line between observational and confessional, and a fair share of odd nosdam's drums slowed to a growl. Whether scorning America's gun culture, using a car crash as a metaphor for stardom, or describing a tour van window view that includes oil drills and a dead deer, Doseone and why? never take the cheap way out. Their lyrics may range from blurry and buried to sharp and surfaced, but each and every line has meaning. The music and production are collaborative, featuring Doseone's knack for articulating emotion, why's self-taught multi-instrumentalist efforts, and odd nosdam's flair for borrowed genius. Individually, Doseone, why? and odd nosdam are prolific and fearless as anyone in new music today, but together as cLOUDDEAD they create music that captures all the promise of their individual talents in an unequalled sound. Ten is cLOUDDEAD's crowning achievement."

CLOUDDEAD: Ten LP (MH 230LP). $14.00

LP version.

VA: Ropeladder 12 CD (MH 401CD). $15.50

"Cancel your piano lessons and sell off the livestock. It's a partial preview of the onslaught of full length releases to come forward from the Mush generator, a spirited gathering of the most prolific underground artists in hip-hop. If some of the names are not yet familiar, this is your wake-up call. Spanning the completely experimental to the sound classic, Ropeladder 12 assembles the most hungry and talented artists of our generation. From bare bones beaty to orchestral soundtracks, the music is of its own kind and standard. From meticulous rhyme to boisterous free-verse, the poetry is irreplaceable. Over 30 contributing artists share with Mush, their most unforgettable works." Features: Jel, So Called Artists, Aesop Rock, Reaching Quiet, Lulu Mushi Featuring DJ Signify, the Pedestrian, Fat Jon The Ample Soul Physician Featuring The Five Deez, Radioinactive, Nickodemus Featuring Apani, DJ Osiris Featuring Mr. Dibbs, Labtekwon, Boom Bip Featuring Slug, Revolutionary Ink Featuring Doseone.

BOOM BIP: Doo Doo Breaks Vol. 2 LP (MH 604 LP). $11.00

"Mush label mainstay Boom Bip stakes another claim to a chunk of the DJ tool market with this collection of jazzy breaks, leftfield tones, and classic hooks. Each Doo Doo Breaks release consists of jazz, funk, and '80s electro grooves and a selection of scratch fodder. Unlike most battle records, Doo Doo Breaks is DeeJay-, Emcee-, B-Boy-, and producer-friendly. The tracks have enough changes to make them perfect for an open mic or for casual listening. Like any release with Boom Bip's name on the credits, expect something dripping with influence and completely usable."

ANTI-MC: Bitter Breaks Vol. 1 LP (MH 605 LP). $11.00

"A lifelong purveyor of obscure jazz, worldbeat, and early electronic music, AntiMC delves deep into his record library for his DJ tool series Bitter Breaks. The collection of rare grooves, loops, and stabs follows the Mush framework for DJ tool projects set by Boom Bip's Doo Doo Breaks and Blackhead's Broke Beats. While most break record compilers are content with the original loops used on memorable hip-hop tracks, AntiMC digs deep to create tracks that are as usable in a rare groove DJ set as they are as emcee backing tracks. Crate-haulers and beat-smiths everywhere, help has arrived. Volume 1 in a series."

VA: Mush Tour Spring 2002 Live DVD (MH 901 DVD). $17.00

"In the spring of 2002, Mush Records embarked on its first organized tour. After two weeks of rehearsal in Los Angeles, seventeen people climbed aboard a tour bus for 30 North American and nine European shows. Headlined by CLOUDDEAD, the bill also included Reaching Quiet (backed by a full rock band), Boom Bip & Doseone, Radioinactive (with his Pyramid all-stars band in full costume), and Labtekwon. The final two shows in the US (San Francisco at The Great American Music Hall) and Los Angeles (at The El Rey) were professionally recorded (video and audio) and have been mixed down along with candid footage shot during the tour for this 90-minute DVD. The track list includes the best tracks from the artist's Mush releases and is a testament to the amazing live show and hard work that made Mush's first tour an overwhelming success." MUSIC FELLOWSHIP:

ALBUM LEAF: An Orchestrated Rise to Fall CD (MF 005CD). $13.00

"First solo record from Jimmy LaValle (Tristeza's main guitarist / songwriter). The interplay of piano, keyboards, guitars and found sound, creates a sense of warmth and eliminates any evidence of dry or technical pretension. LaValle created an album that will appeal to fans of Tristeza and those preferring music more intimate and soft. After touring twice with Sigur Ros, LaValle recently signed to Sub Pop Records, and recorded in A Safe Place, his next full-length album in Iceland with members of Sigur Ros, Amina, Blackheart Procession, and ex members of Mum."

YELLOW6/ROTHKO/LANDING: New Found Land CD (MF 010 CD). $12.00

"The first in the Triptychs — three-way split CD series, combines the elegant, layered, bliss-out drone and airy rhythms of Yellow6 (Ochre/Enraptured), the impressionistic and patient bass exploration of Rothko (Too Pure/Lo), and the lush, hypnotic aura of Landing (K/Strange Attractors), spanning sheer improvisation and gentle songcraft."

KINSKI/PAIK/SURFACE OF ECEYON: Crickets & Fireflies CD (MF 011 CD). $12.00

"The second in the Tryptychs Series — a three-way split CD sees Kinski (Subpop), Paik (Clairecords), and Drystonian ambassadors, Surface Of Eceyon (Strange Attractors) reunite after surviving 2002's three-day psychedelic folk festival, Terrastock V. It's the combining of reserved, minimal sound experimentation, full-blown overdriven rock explosion, and pure musical improvisation. Music for seducing, fucking and cuddling."

WIND UP BIRD: Whips CD (MF 012 CD). $12.00

"Whips retains the lush, dreamy sonic detail of the self-titled debut (Translucence, 2002), but finds the duo no longer content to languish in a relaxed, expansive drift of sound. A remarkable achievement, Whips is ambitious and dynamic, with more sweeping climaxes and forays into darker, noisier territories. The Wind-Up Bird is multi-instrumentalist Joseph Grimm (formerly of chamber-rock ensemble 33.3), often accompanied by Jeff Smith (formerly of screamy freakout outfit Jerome's Dream). Grimm feeds guitars, vocals, horns, and harsh white noise into his PowerBook, but the emotional immediacy of this album takes it out of the chin-stroking realm of the abstract and into the feverish, irrational heart of human passions."

MUSIC FOR FREAKS (UK):

FREAKS: The Man Who Lived Underground CD (MFF 005 CD). $16.00

"After a 2002's glut of coffee table compilations and dark, homogenous progressive house mix albums, The Man Who Lived... is the sound of house music reclaiming its soul spoken by two lifelong househeads with a platform to speak out against electronic music's mediocrity. Featuring the singles 'The Washing Machin' and 'Where Were You When The Lights Went Out?' moving through to the lo-fi squelch of 'Fix It' and the horror show electro of 'The Creeps'. It's an angry, bold, passionate and defiant piece of work, but a work that never loses sight of the dance floor or the CD player at home. Freaks is Luke Solomon and Justin Harris."

MUSIC MAN (BELGIUM):

MILLS, JEFF: Life Like: Axis Compilation Vol. 2 CD (MMAN 007 CD). $15.00

"Jeff Mills needs no introduction. This second Axis compilation is called Lifelike, which we're proud to present on Music Man. Lifelike is referring to the possibility of something that is almost human or something that reminds us of life. The tracklisting is as diverse as Jeff Mills could make it, including tracks in many different tempos, styles and texture. The titles that make up this album are the compositions that Jeff Mills has made in the past 10 years which possess the best arrangement and/or most distinctive character. Like life, no one-second is the same, the make-up of the tracklisting refers to this fact. Through compiling 14 selected compositions from the Axis Records, Purpose Maker and Tomorrow catalogue (as well as previous unreleased material), it is an attempt to display the soul of what Jeff Mills does and what has been created."

BLUNTED BOY WONDER, THE: Innuendo CD (MMAN 008 CD). $15.00

"Steve Stoll, a.k.a. the Blunted Boy Wonder, follows up 1998's self-titled album with another technified offering in the guise of Innuendo on Belgium's Music Man label. With thirteen tracks of pure NY blunted techno-funk, the boy wonder returns in style. Steve Stoll has successfully released records on labels such as Richie Hawtin's Probe, NY based and Damon Wild's Synwave, Chicago's revered Trax, Holland's Djax, Germany's Fax, as well as many remixes to his credit."

VA: Kozmooz: Spread the K CD (MMAN 009 CD). $15.00

"Kozmooz is Belgium's biggest and most respected techno event offering a platform for new innovative DJ/Producerz to play alongside world renowned DJ's such as Kenny Larkin, Jeff Mills, Damon Wild, Oliver Ho, The Advent and Residentz Kozz & T-Quest. Spread The K is the fourth compilation compiled by residentz T-Quest & Kozz requesting the style of music that has lead the Kozmooz eventz to become what they are today. Featuring some of todayz finest techno talentz including DJ Pierre, Jay Denham, Ben Sims, David Carretta, Keith Tucker (DJ K1), Soul Destroyaz, Drexicya forming a collection of deep intensity and solid grooves."

VA: Kozmooz-Spread the K 3LP (MMAN 009 LP). $19.00

Triple vinyl version, full color sleeve.

VA: Fuse Presents Hell CD (MMAN 010 CD). $15.00

"Following last year's first Fuse mix CD by the one and only Dave Clarke comes Munich's Helmut Geier aka Hell with a techno/electro/disco/synth/house fusion that is utterly unique, totally transfixing and 100% HELL. Featuring Donna Summer, Maurizio, Carl Craig's 69, Sparks, Phuture, Frankie Goes To Hollywood, Dopplereffekt, Liaisons Dangereuses, Todd Terry (Orange Lemon), Speedy J, Foremost Poets and fellow International DJ Gigolo 'DJ Naughty', Hell's mix is as diverse as it is funky and futuristic. Welcome to the new wave...welcome to Hell. Hell has, alongside Sven Vath, become one of Germany's most respected DJs and producers. From initial forays into punk in the late 70's and early electronic synth pop, Hell's journey into techno is as diverse as his Fuse mix. Coming to international notice in 1992 with his classic 'My Definition of House Music' 12" he then went on to release two well received albums on Disko B ? - Geteert & Gefedert (1994) and Munich Machine (1998) which even featured a cover of Barry Manilow's 'Copacabana'!). Now running and recording for his own International DJ Gigolos label Hell's wonderfully retro/nu-techno sound can further be heard in the sounds of fellow label contributors such as DJ Naughty, Richard Bartz, Chicks On Speed, Christopher Just and David Carretta. Now in collaboration with Belgium's most revered techno club Hell takes us straight down into the bowels of his uniquely, spun electro-fired Hades funk. The devil rides again."

FIXMER, TERENCE: Aktion Mekanik CD (MMAN 021 CD). $16.00

"Featuring classic 'EBM' (electronic body music) and Nu-Beat tracks from Nitzer Ebb, The Normal, Fad Gadget, Front 242, Crash Course In Science, Skinny Puppy, DAF, Liaisons Dangereuses and a new exclusive track from compiler (and Gigolo) Terence Fixmer, Aktion Mekanik brings together long lost/forgotten classics from the 80's Belgian Nu-Beat scene, whilst highlighting their influence on modern electronic composition. With tracks such as The Normal's 'Warm Leatherette' being covered by Chicks On Speed or bootlegged by Richard X and DJ Hell covering No More's 'Suicide Commando' and making the second half of his recent 'Electronicbody-housemusic' mix CD a homage to old and new versions of 'EBM', 'Aktion Mekanik' is a timely reminder of how we used to play. One such current producer who certainly used to play is Planete Rouge man, Terence Fixmer who has been fusing EBM with modern techno ever since 'Electrostatic' launched his life as a Gigolo in the late 90s. Born in Lille, on the Northern borders of Belgium it was at the tender age of 15 that Fixmer fell headfirst into the burgeoning EBM scene just across the border, where himself and fellow friends at Ghent's Music Man label fanatically followed bands such as Front 242, Klinik, DAF and Nitzer Ebb and frequented Belgian clubs such as Boccaccio and Skyline. 'I made this compilation as a personal journey and to remember the well respected electronic artists which are in some way our modern techno forefathers,' states Fixmer. 'I made it just because this is the music of my heart and nothing to do with any 80s trend.'"

MUSIK AUS STROM (GERMANY):

FAKESCH, MICHAEL: Marion CD (MAS 14.04 CD). $16.00

"Named in dedication to his girlfriend, this is the debut full length from Michael Fakesch. He is one half of Funkstörung, famous for their remixes of Björk and the Wu-Tang Clan, as well as many highly sought after limited singles. Previous Funkstörung releases have appeared on MASK, Chocolate Industries, Compost, Fat Cat, and their own legendary Musik Aus Strom label. For the already initiated, this album is what you'd expect from Michael Fakesch: hyper-tech beats and playful atonal melodies combined with oozing atmospherics. Not all of these tracks are new: 'Iomac', 'Rand Va', 'Surfaise', 'From Crocut', and 'Diesehle' are all previous out of print Musik Aus Strom releases taken from the Demon series of EPs. 'Rand VC-2' is a rework of 'Rand VC'. The CD includes a hidden secondary indexed track, '1Blet', only adding to the brilliant esoteric nature of this release. From metallic flange to jazz trapkits and from electro beats to tech stepping syncopations, Marion is destined to become a genre-defining classic."

CRUNCH: 1 CD (MAS 15.01 CD). $14.50

"I promise this is the by far best record we ever released on Musik Aus Strom....no ass-kissing!!! Although some of the tracks are almost three years old, the album is still far beyond most of the stuff which is released nowadays. Crunch manages to create a extremely warm feeling, the melodies are incredibly beautiful and the beats are just perfectly programmed. The album includes superrelaxing ambient songs, as well as hip hop and jazz influenced idm-tracks all with very crunchy sounds of course....ooohhhh, shit I can't explain it properly. You have to listen to it yourself! try the tracks 1 (GRAMA), 4 (POLLEN), 9 (ART PYLON) and 13 (TOE TAC TIC)... You are missing some personal information about Crunch or about Restate, the designers who did this fantastic sleeve?? Hmmm, that's because there is no information. I don't know anything about Crunch, I just got a fucking great demotape with an obscure e-mail adress on it only. Crunch refuses till today to give me any infos. I don't know how many people Crunch are, what their (his/her) name(s) are/is, I even don't know where Crunch is from (although the tape was posted in London)....and Restate??! They send me some supernice jpegs via e-mail with the offer to do some designs for Musik Aus Strom. Did they give me their names??? guess! I got all the designs via e-mail, I never spoke to anyone at RESTATE and even all their e-mails were written like you are talking to a smashed up computer (just try to read the infos on the sleeve, that's how all the emails looked like). ...Are all these people scared of Musik Aus Strom??? Anyway, who needs senseless information if the music is so unbelievably good? Take care, Michael Fakesch/Funkstörung."

MATH: Forces Combined 10" (MAS 16.1). $10.00

10" picture disc, Designers Republic artwork. "MAS16.01 is actually a remix EP of the Math track 'When Forces Combine', the only unusual thing is that the original version of this track never has been released ... anyway, our friend Don Funken from Funkarma send us this remixes a while ago and asked us if we wanna release it on Musik Aus Strom ... of course, we said yes! What we liked the most was the fact, that the original track is a pure Hip-Hop song and the remixes are done by IDM-artists ... is this EP Hip-Hop with Electronica influence or Electronica with a Hip-Hop touch .... who cares? It's definitely a mixture we like a lot! Anyway, here some infos about Math: the artist behind Math is the 29 year old Mattie Hendriks from Venray, Holland. He has done a few tracks under the name Quench, which is a collaboration with Funkarma from Utrecht. Besides to that he is working on a Hip-Hop-Electronica project together with Speedy J. Mattie started 15 years ago as Rapper and Beatboxer with Don from Funkarma together as Legal Dope and besides to that he is still member of the Hip-Hop band Freaky Force."

FUNKSTÖRUNG: Breakart 12" (MAS 2.09). $9.00

Musik Aus Strom is from Munich, Germany, run by the duo of Michael Fakesch & Chris De Luca. Michael & Chris record together as Funkstörung, whose releases were the first 2 items on MaS. They're also released 2 EPs on Compost and a full length remix comp on K7. The MaS label has quickly garnered a lot of attention as their records are heavily mystery-laden, distinctively packaged in heavy chipboard and, up and until recently, just about impossible to find. The world of Musik Aus Strom is one where Autechre/Gescom oversee as gods of intent: raw, distorted abstract beats, strange machine sound interface, post-acid inclinations and sweeping string melodies for the emotional knockout punch.

ELECTRIC SHEEP: Locust Lunch 12" (MAS 8.01). $9.00

"Munich actually houses other people, who are producing music besides all that horrible commercial techno/trance/Eurodisco crap. This one is produced by Jan Bruhnke, who came into the Delirium store nearly one year ago and left — a little shy — "...a tape for the Funkstörung guys...". The tape itself was really a big surprise — very noisy rhythms, which sound like the last sighs of a nearly dead drumcomputer. Sometimes the melodies and analogue sounds are influenced by old trashy science-fiction soundtracks, but sometimes they remind also of Funkstörung, if they would just sound a bit more 'cheerful' and analogue."

MUSIK KRAUSE (GERMANY):

WURHME, ROBAG: Wuzzelbud KK CD (MKR 001CD). $16.00

"Who knows what will actually happen to Michael Jackson's music, when the allegations against him have been proven true? Will the public still like the music, or even listen to it? At any rate he has been on a downhill slope musically, physically and psychologically since his groundbreaking Thriller. His legacy, whether as a member of the Jackson Five or as a solo artist, cannot pardon the ruinous effect of his being accused of pedophilia. Hopefully the mass media never looks inside the closets of other stars, some held as heroes, and see what dark secrets lie in their pasts. Picture the following announcement: bones found in the backyard of Aphex Twin — is he a cannibal! What then? The man responsible for the eleventh Musikkrause 12", has neither seduced children, nor played the role of Hannibal Lecter. He only touches his electronic toys, when his appetite craves artful noisemaking. With the teaser tracks 'Quetsche' and 'Konkklusiv', which are not included with the Robag Wurhme album, what you don't find on the album comes out here. 'Wuzzelbud KK' starts off in classic Chicago jack-style and is driven by a break and female voice sample through an intense, shuffling beat. Which, through superimposed, discordantly shining, psycho bass sounds, are refined through renewed breaks and echo sounds. The track is brought to an end through a booming bass line. 'Quetsche' is a trip to the center of the earth with a dancing Sir Capitan Wurhme at the helm. Or, perhaps cosmic 'Winnetou-house', which shows us where we all come from and eventually all must go until Manitou takes us to his kingdom. 'Konkklusiv' is the bending of minimal house taken from the harmonically experimental pages of Warp and Morr music. A discreet bass line, and playful hi-hat are carry you gently on the surface, showing you how large the ocean is."

WURHME, ROBAG: Wuzzelbud KK 2LP (MKR 001LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

WURHME, ROBAG: Wuzzelbud KK 12" (MUSIK 011EP). $9.00

KRAUSE DUO NR. 2: Rambazamba 12" (MUSIK 012EP). $9.00

"Play me that tune from wood! Metaboman and Carlsen Basu probably said to themselves, when they registered with the authorities as the swinging-weirdo pair, Krause Duo Nr. 2 in smallville Jena. Because their raw, smoky, as it were springy technical sound seems to have developed on completely wooden equipment: it resonates spatially, grinding, grating and roaring in the rhythmic forest. The results of all physicists and chemists were subject only now to a fatal flaw, namely that raw material can run the show. These two electro-forest workers supply the proof. Or could it be that the desired equilibrium is manifested by nature, technical achievements and shared understanding, in the form of dance music? If so, it is made for clubs where the porous discharging of body fluids is still more important is than the pierced, solarium-burned, and half-naked in the delirium of the presentation. That being, filthy-frickelravejazz with minimal bongo-techno rushes, of which Motown provided with a wink, the deepness, revealing in the correct moment the sheltered sound box exposed. The sweat-bathed never leave the cellar even though the door stands open and everything is already sore. A little blood runs from the lip and yet a happy grin is managed nevertheless."

MUSIQUE RISQUE (CANADA):

AKUFEN: Hawaii Vodka Party 12" (RISQUE 001EP). $9.00

New label by Akufen, 4 tracks.

CRACKHAUS: Blame Canada! EP 12" (RISQUE 002EP). $9.00

"Hot on the heels of Akufen's critically acclaimed Hawaiian Vodka Party, Musique Risquée unleashes it's next holy terror from the twisted minds of Montreal's dynamic duo Crackhaus, aka Deadbeat and long time partner in crime Stephen Beaupré. Side A get's the party started with the demonic harmonica action of 'Blow Brotha Blow', a frenzied assault of classic blues, blue grass, and blue cheese. With it's thunderous bassline, schizofrenic edits, and more plot twists than you can shake a stick it at, this one's guaranteed to put a smile on the face of even the most die-hard techno line dancers. Yee-hah! On 'French Cheese and Moonshine', the brothers add equal parts down home North Kakalaka blue Grass and Paris filtered house to create a bumpin' banjo banger, sure to conjure up images of disco 'Deliverance' style, only this time it's a party and no one's getting raped by inbred mountain men. Finally, the Blame Canada! EP closes out with a remix: Akufen's 'Morning Dump in the Bush of God', a title which we at Musique Risquée feel speaks for itself just fine."

TRESETER AND THE FOLLOWERS: Call to Action 12" (RISQUE 003EP). $9.00

"Chilean Vicente Sanfuentes, a.k.a. Original Hamster (Tigerbeat6), delivers the new dance-floor fascination, the awesome EP under his Trendsetter and the followers alias on Montreal's Musique Risquée label. His usual funky distorted sounds are now mixed with weird lyrics glorifying marketing concepts, noisy house beats and catchy melodies. It's a crazy Kraftwerk-like-dance appealing-future funky marketing class! (believe it or not). We don't know if we should sell it at the marketing section of Barnes and Noble or at the cutting edge electronics section of the record stores. Again, Musique Risquée hits us with a explosive and fresh release, discovering the path other labels will soon be following. There's trendsetters and there's followers."

MUST! DELICIOUS:

O9: Tacklebox EP 12" (MUD 001EP). $7.00

"Tacklebox, the debut release of the Must! Delicious label, and o9's (Jesse Legg) first EP limited to 500 copies (100 color vinyl), is a bold sonic statement inspired by the mysterious creatures and murky swamps of the Florida Everglades. This square-wave saturated bombshell was created using only an antiquated Amiga 500 and a rusty mixer. Fans of early Aphex Twin, Spacemen 3, DHR, Mike Paradinas, even Dark Side of the Moon era Pink Floyd, or dirty house music will have something to relate to here. Agit-prop psyche in sound. The jacket art, a silk screen, designed by Hernan Bas and hand-printed by Must! Delicious representatives, compliments the music perfectly. This EP contains 3 new tracks from o9 and a remix by Otto Von Schirach. o9 has several standout tracks on Schematic compilations, a 7" on Planet-Mu, and now this."

CYNE: Time Being CD (MUD 004CD). $10.00

"Must! Delicious Recordings is proud to announce the domestic release of Time Being, the new album by the Gainesville, Florida hip hop group Cyne. This critically acclaimed album, featuring the innovative psychedelic hip hop production end epic lyricism that was previously available only in Japan and Europe. Cyne has built a reputation for organic composition that stays true to the gritty cut and paste of classic hip hop, yet still manages to explore new sonic territory without the use of plug-ins and computer gimmicks. Producers Speck and Enoch bring deep emotional music to match the verbal explorations that emcees Cise Star and Akin embark on. There are 14 tracks on Time Being. Each one features a unique and powerful blend of conceived atmosphere — driven rhythms and expressive wordplay. You won't find the standard formula of a dude rappin' over a beat. At the same time, nothing is abstracted to the point of 'what is this stuff?' Every track is a song unto itself, showcasing the effort of two years' work. Cyne has put out a stunning 10 releases in 18 months. Witness their first album."

JOHNSON, MICHAEL: Nonsense Goes Mudslide CD (MUD 005CD). $13.00

"Nonsense Goes Mudslide, the first solo outing from Holopaw drummer Michael Johnson, is heavy with a kind of accidental grace that simply can't be manually inspired. Packed with peculiar, homemade twists and charmingly bewildered lyrics, the album is a wildly spontaneous and nicely composed platter of sound. Holopaw's self-titled debut was so soft and organic it almost felt edible; the band's yawning pedal steel, swampy electronics, and brisk acoustic strums established a crooked kind of Americana, something imminently more complex than the fetishized, backwards-country yelping of their contemporaries. Nonsense Goes Mudslide opts for a slightly less nostalgic turn, though, pairing Johnson's pert, friendly vocals with quirky electronics and fragile percussion, eschewing earnest acoustic laments in favor of perverse ideological lessons. Still, despite the obvious departures, there's a looseness to the record that mimics, however inadvertently, Holopaw's cowed, scrappy elegance. Each of Johnson's disparate components are laced tightly together, yet Nonsense still continually threatens to collapse on itself, as if any moment could bring the inevitable release of cymbals suddenly popping off their stands and rolling around the room, microphones spontaneously dissembling, and synthesizers shooting open, angular bits of black and white plastic rocketing in every direction." — Amanda Petrusich.

MUT A (GERMANY):

LAUTWANDEL: LP (MUTA 001). $13.00

"Markant aka Carsten Endrass decided to start with this Mut A. to build up new things, not only for himself but also for interesting upcoming artists. First release is done by Lautwandel aka Markant and features electro vibes more comparable to the early Markant releases." "Carsten Endrass, a nice enough bloke who offered the world about 30 LP's as Markant, each containing a solid few weeks worth of studio labor and available in micro editions (often as low as 100 to get the kids 'a-clam-or-eeng'). Some of us thanked him, others damned him, most were indifferent or never even got wind of this minor miracle. Either way, Muta is his new label, picking up exactly where Markant left off. I mean, EXACTLY, like this is in effect a new Markant record as far as the music contained goes, only it's under a new name to get an entirely new (hence unaware) group of souls onto the completist train.

If loopy, slightly abstract electro-tinged IDM with murky production is your thing, by all means investigate further... G(r)ifted." — Hrvatski.

MUTABLEMUSIC:

VILLA-LOBOS, HEITOR: Guitar Music of Villa-Lobos CD (MUTABLE 17513). $13.00

Joseph Bacon, guitarist. "Heitor Villa-Lobos (1887-1959), the greatest of Brazilian composers, was a man of instinct, vigor and passion; the antithesis of the academic composer who writes for the eye and brain, not the ear and heart. His innovations in the techniques of guitar composition are unparalleled. His own considerable ability as a guitarist as well as his fertile imagination led to the invention of many brilliant and telling effects. And the sheer beauty and vigor of the music place these pieces at the forefront of modern guitar music. Three distinct periods of Villa-Lobos' life are represented on this record. The Valsa-Chôro, Schottisch-Chôro and Chôros #1 date from 1912 when he was a young man playing his guitar in the street bands. The Etudes were written in 1929 when Villa-Lobos was in Paris for an extended visit. Here he met Segovia and he wrote a series of twelve études for the great guitarist. In character they range from dry 'finger studies' to rhapsodic and savage fantasies."

REVOLUTIONARY ENSEMBLE: The Psyche CD (MUTABLE 17514). $13.50

The Revolutionary Ensemble was: Leroy Jenkins (violin), Sirone (bass), Jerome Cooper (drums, piano). "Long awaited reissue of the Revolutionary Ensemble's 1975 album The Psyche. This group introduced New York to decided musical advances, many pioneered by Chicago's A.A.C.M. musicians. Ex-Chicagoan Leroy Jenkins, who played violin, of all unheard-of modern jazz instruments, had formed his concept from classical, swing, blues, and modern elements and had been one of the radicals who discovered new concepts of sound, space, and musical relationships in the late 1960s. Jerome Cooper had been a somewhat later Chicago explorer, while Sirone's freedom of motion had grown out of work with the most visionary New Yorkers. If you doubt the expressive capacity of stringed instruments, The Psyche should change your mind: Jenkins and Sirone have many ways of bowing and plucking, along with dramatic passages high and low on their instruments. Careful listening and sensitive responses sustain this music; accompaniments to solos grow into intense interplay. The ensemble regularly re-forms into solo, duet, and trio combinations, aided by the players' doubling instruments. Jenkins' mastery of thematic improvisation, including motive recall and motivic transformation, provides an especially valuable unifying element."

MITCHELL, ROSCOE: Solo 3 3CD (MUTABLE 17515). $25.00

"Sudden music! All alone, unprotected, Roscoe Mitchell confronts Silence: the void, the vast unknown. One and a half of the 38 pieces in this collection are composed. Two more are improvisations that begin with at least some conditions. The other 34 and a half pieces are completely improvised. Mitchell simply picks up a horn or mallets and begins playing. He's armed only with his wide-ranging imagination, his instruments, his virtuosity, and his experience — for what more does he need? Proof of his self-sufficiency is that each improvisation is a distinctive, flowing work that has its own meaning, its own unique story to tell. 'I started working on one CD,' he says, 'but I started getting more and more material, and I thought that at this point in my career, one solo CD is not enough. I'd better put out three CDs, because time is going on by.' Mitchell has been creating a cappella solos for around four decades now. He's one of the Chicagoans who virtually invented the unaccompanied horn solo in free jazz."

CRESHEVSKY, NOAH: Hyperrealism CD (MUTABLE 17516). $13.00

"Hyperrealism is an electroacoustic musical language constructed from sounds that are found in our shared environment ('realism'), handled in ways that are somehow exaggerated or excessive ('hyper'). Fundamental to hyperrealism is the expansion of the sound palettes from which music is made. Developments in technology and transformations in social and economic realities have made it possible for composers to incorporate the sounds of the entire world into their music. Essential to the concept of hyperrealism is that its sounds are generally of natural origin, and that they remain sufficiently unprocessed so that their origin is perceived by the listener as being 'natural'. Since the sounds of our environment vary from year to year, generation to generation, and culture to culture, it is impossible to isolate a definitive encyclopedia of 'natural' sounds, but there are a great many sounds that are familiar to nearly all of us. These are the most basic building blocks in the formation of a shared (if temporary) collective sonic reality. Hyperrealism celebrates bounty, either by the extravagant treatment of limited sound palettes or by assembling and manipulating substantially extended palettes."

MUTE UK (UK):

GALAS, DIAMANDA: The Litanies of Satan CD (ISO 001 CD). $13.50

Mid-line reissue of her radical debut. "Diamanda Galas' first album, originally issued as a 45rpm 12" on Y Records in 1982 and subsequently reissued on Mute (1988). The Litanies of Satan consists of two pieces, the title track based on texts of Baudelaire and 'Wild Women with Steak-Knives' listed as being 'for solo scream'. The latter is actually a series of vignettes with differing vocal characteristics employed for each section, from piercing banshee wails to quiet, whispered invective. She employs electronic effects both to enhance certain qualities of her voice (for example, extending its sibilance) and to overlay multiple lines, creating an unearthly choir of demons."

KIRK, RICHARD H.: Earlier/Later: Unreleased Projects Anthology 74/89 2CD (KIRK 006CD). $20.00

"Selected from over seven hours of archive recordings, the majority of which has never before been available, Earlier/Later - Unreleased Projects Anthology 74/89 documents a fifteen-year period of private research and personal development by Richard H. Kirk. Committed to cassette and then forgotten, they have been transferred onto CD with a minimum postproduction. Throughout the two CD release is evidence of Kirk reinventing himself through the sparse dynamics of dance music and laying down the groundwork for his later Sandoz and Sweet Exorcist projects. The earliest material, recorded onto open-reel tape machines using the most basic equipment, is raw and inventive."

KIRK, RICHARD H.: Detonate/Reworks EP 12" (KIRK 006EP). $9.00

"Newly remixed by Richard H. Kirk, this 4 track EP is the perfect companion to the Earlier/Later double CD anthology. Containing tracks such as 'Martyrs of Palestine' commemorating the attacks that took place simultaneously at Rome and Vienna airports in December 1985 when terrorists opened fire in the crowded passenger halls, the track sounds as direct and vital as today's headlines. 'It's news again only much more so,' comments Kirk. 'In fact it's the only fucking news that we seem to be living with right now.' Released on vinyl only these mixes are exclusive and aren't part of the CD set."

SANDOZ: Digital Lifeforms Redux 2CD (KIRK 007CD). $20.00

"As a founder member of Sheffield's legendary electronic cut and paste experimentalists Cabaret Voltaire and as a solo artist in his own right, Richard H. Kirk has been involved in electronic music and its development for over 30 years. Disc one of this set comprises the tracks that made up the original Digital Lifeforms CD release (1993) while the material on the second disc was recorded during the same period and with the exception of two tracks has remained unreleased until present. It's an account of how the Sandoz project developed and includes the first recorded Sandoz track, 'Medium Cool'. Richard still makes excellent Sandoz records with roots that are very much traceable to Digital Lifeforms and amongst the heated tribal rhythms, chanting samples and alchemic electronics there are some real moments on the set. Like the free-floating funk of 'Human Spirit' with its understated crescendo of tribal vocal lick and May-an drum-splatters that leave you hanging for more, there's the cooled-out head-hypnotiser 'Drum Meditation', the smouldering warehouse party energy of 'Zombie Astral', the future/past electro twin-tank of 'Beam' and 'Steel Tabernacle' and the cinematic electric voodoo-dub of 'White Darkness' that's full of multi-coloured echoed fx flicking out of the speakers like paint leaving the brush of Pollock. And that's all before the previously secret sonic-sorcery on disc two. As a collection it crystallizes much of what was happening in the electronic scene of the early nineties and helps define a period that facilitated in the acceptability of new sounds. Digital Lifeforms is often recommended as one of the essential electronic albums from the period, but this re-issue shows that its simple musical beauty has transcended well the cycles of time."

SANDOZ: Return to the Heart of Darkness/Reworks EP 12" (KIRK 007EP). $9.00

"Originally recorded in 1992 and newly remixed by Richard H. Kirk, this 4 track EP is the perfect companion to the Digital Lifeforms double CD re-issue. Released on vinyl only these mixes are exclusive and aren't part of the CD set."

SOUL CENTER: III 2LP (NOMU 089 LP). $15.00

"Soul Center III is the latest in Thomas Brinkmann's Soul Center series of albums and follows Soul Center I and II which were released to much acclaim on his W.v.B. Enterprises label. Funk charged electronic music and its very best; the new album features eleven tracks and is released on both CD and double vinyl. CD copies will also include the outstandingly original video of one of the album's standout tracks 'A Good One'. Cologne based, Thomas Brinkmann is one of Germany's most talented and respected electronic producers. A prestigious signing for novamute, Brinkmann has a fiercely independent attitude and has rarely worked with other labels. Choosing to avoid the 'industry', over the last few years he has released a clutch of outstanding records under a number of different guises including Max, Soul Center, max.Ernst, Ester Brinkmann/Supposé and Ernst." [we only carry the vinyl version; CD version is on Mute in the US]

CABARET VOLTAIRE: Nag Nag Nag 12" (NOMU 103). $8.00

"Original Mix, R.H. Kirk #4 Remix."

CABARET VOLTAIRE: Nag Nag Nag CD (NOMU 103 CD). $7.00

"Originally out in 1979 on Rough Trade, Cabaret Voltaire's electro punk classic 'Nag Nag Nag' will now be available on novamute on CD and 12" and features the timeless original version together with brand new remixes. TIGA and Zyntherius have contributed to the package with a re-vocalled rework which bears all the hall-marks of an intense 'labour of love' approach to the project. TIGA's vocal punks-up the original whilst Zyntherius's (Jori Hulkonnen) backing track propels the track firmly into the 21st Century. Techno whizz, man of the moment, Montreal's Akufen pushes the track into the stratosphere combining 2-step, techno, house, electro and bossa-nova. Even by Akufen current high standards this remix is, as they say, 'next level' shit. The Cabs' own Richard Kirk in turn has completed an intensely spot-on remix which retains all the excitement and atmosphere of the original."

CABARET VOLTAIRE: Nag Nag Nag 12" (NOMU 103LTD). $8.00

TIGA and Zyntherius full version remix and Akufen's 'Karaoke Slam' mix.

PLASTIKMAN: Disconnect 12" (NOMU 111 EP). $8.00

Vinyl EP version.

CABARET VOLTAIRE: Yashar 12" (NOMU 121EP). $9.00

"Yashar" originally appeared on the highly acclaimed LP 2x45, recorded in 1981. It was an early piece of ethno-techno, with a distinct middle eastern vibe. The track became an underground club hit circa 1983, after a remix by John Robie. Robie had a massive electro hit as 'C Bank', with the track 'One More Shot', as well as also shaping the sound of Afrika Bambaata & Soulsonic Force's electro classic 'Planet Rock'. Remixers include: Alter Ego (aka Roman Flugel and Jörn Elling Vutke), Richard H. Kirk, The All Seeing.

RAUMSCHMIERE, T.: Monstertruckdriver CD (NOMU 124 CD). $8.00

Debut Raumschmiere on Mute, only released in the UK. "T.Raumschmiere is the alias of 27 year-old Berliner, Marco Haas. He has produced music since 1997, mainly for his own label Shitkatapult and for imprints such as Cologne's Kompakt and Hefty Records of Chicago. Gnarled bass-lines, known in German as 'Gnarzigkeit' have become his stylistic device. His brand of 'minimalism' is to achieve the 'maximum' with as few means as possible — with a decidedly punk ethos: why go for sterile minimalism when you can rock out? This bluntness informs the T.Raumschmiere sound: bass sequencing with scratched up, brushed down beats and no unnecessary breaks in the sound." Remixers: Dabrye and Miss Kitten.

VA: Cutlass Supreme presents : UK BASS CD (NOMU 125 CD). $18.00

"For those who don't know, UK Bass is a decidedly pie'n'mash take on the Stateside booty bass phenomenon: a hyperactive hybrid of ghetto-techno, lowbrow boompty-bump and ragga-heavy jungle complete with lascivious lyrics and basslines so big you could abseil off of them, all cut up, fucked-up and pitched up to plus 16. It's not big. It's not clever. But damn, it is fun. Wide Productions are a collective of producers and DJs responsible for this monster of a genre. At its helm are Cutlass Supreme, UK Bass' mixmaster and The Paddy Pimp, fast-talking promoter. They set up Wide four years ago as a D&B night, but grew disillusioned with a scene losing its rude reggae edge to noisier, less danceable strains. By chance, Cutlass came across a Detroit ghetto-tech record. Like the Miami bass and Chicago ghetto-house scenes which influenced it, ghetto-tech shared a liking for super-fast BPMs, sexual lyrics and downright stupid b-lines. Techno, only far filthier. Music for getting shitty, slutty and sweaty to.

This CD is the sound of a Wide party condensed down into 62-minutes of madness. Featuring classics from Detroit and Chicago, forthcoming dancefloor destroyers from Wide Records and novamute and Wide anthems like 'The Chopper'."

Artists: DJ Nasty, DJ Slugo, Cutlass Supreme, DJ Godfather, Non Stop DJs, 313 Bass Mechanics, Debasser, Track Ghost, S.I.Futures, DJ Assault, DJ Rush, Ray Keith, DJ Deon.

UMEK: Telontel 12" (NOMU 129 EP). $9.00

"Slovenia's Uros Umek makes his second appearance for Novamute, and lays down four tracks of hard techno that depart slightly from the usual dancefloor sound he's best known for. He's already a man of some versatility, with a growing catalogue of electro work under his belt, as well as the Neuro project from last year — an impressive take on IDM style material. The tracks on this single are a mixture of taught, industrial funk, with more abstracted elements, making this some of his most engaging dancefloor output to date. The loop-oriented sound has been left alone in favour of dark metallic grooves and intense atmospheres, all held down by some nifty drum programming."

BEYER/SPEEDY J, ADAM: Collabs 100 12" (NOMU 130 EP). $9.00

"Collabs 100 is the first in a series of three releases which see Speedy J working together with other producers. This initial release unites Speedy with Sweden's Adam Beyer over two tracks of blisteringly intense hard dance music. It's possible that this teaming came about following Speedy's awesome recent remix of Beyer's 'Ignition Key' track. Dues paid, and critics silenced, it's the dancefloor from which both these men emerged, and with the broader respect commanded from their more diverse output, it's to the dancefloor to which they return for this release."

THROBBING GRISTLE: TG Now CD (RETG1CD). $17.00

Leftover copies of this limited edition CD that were sold at their recent UK live session. Black CD in printed plastic sleeve. "Yes Throbbing Gristle have reformed and will perform live for the first times in decades next year. And yes they have also reunited to write and record a brand new album which will come out in 2005. This mini album is a taster of the new material. Please note the versions of these 4 tracks are exclusive to this release and will not feature on any other release. Chris Carter, Peter Christopherson, Genesis P-Orridge and Cosy Fanni Tutti at their best!"

RICE, BOYD: LP (STUMM 04 LP). $15.00

Repressed again. The first Boyd Rice album, commonly known as "The Black Record". Featuring recordings made by Boyd in December, 1975 through January, 1976, it was initially released in a small edition of 86 copies on his own Gray Beat Records. It was reissued by Mute to a worldwide chatter of acclaim in 1977, as one of the earliest Mute full length projects, a cornerstone in the industrial culture crossover. The cover features no information except a raised-lettering proclamation of the artists name. No tracklisting, but it is divided into 9 banded tracks. Most significantly, considering it's date of release, the proud instructions, "playable at any speed" are found on the label. The music contains crudely sampled loops that glide into a grinding, hypnotic state, quite musical and unmenacing, with even an amusement-park level of cuteness at times. Amongst the anonymously chosen sampled content found here, this record is rumored to contain the word 'cry' from every Lesley Gore record — good luck finding them.

SPELL: Seasons in the Sun LP (STUMM 126 LP). $14.00

Vinyl repress of this 1993 collaborative album between industrial swBoyd Rice and Rose McDowall. An album of all covers, featuring acoustic versions of Terry Jacks' "Seasons In The Sun", Komedas's theme to "Rosemary's Baby", etc. Other songwriters covered: Brel/Mckuen, Lee Hazelwood, Dolly Parton...

NON: Might LP (STUMM 139 LP). $15.00

LP reissue of this 1995 album. The content of this album is based on Ragnar Redbeard's book Might Is Right.

EINSTÜRZENDE NEUBAUTEN: Silence Is Sexy 2CD (STUMM 182 CD). $17.00

"The new album Silence Is Sexy has been recorded in various locations since 1998, following their exhaustive tour in 1997. It consists of 2 CDs in a special digipack with a 20 page booklet. The first CD has 14 new tracks and features the single 'Total Eclipse Of The Sun'. The second consists of an 18 minute vocal improvisation over the mechanical installation of a drill hitting a row of aluminum strips. Recorded live without cuts or overdubs. Other instruments used on the album include metal bar, cellular phone, vase and brushes, car tires, free falling objects, plastic percussion and vibrator, presence, silk and polystyrene — not to mention the more conventional pneumatic piston and drills."

VA: Rough Trade Box Set 4CD (STUMM 191 CD). $32.00

"To celebrate 25 years of Rough Trade shop in London, they came up with this tracklisting and Mute is releasing it as a 4 cd box 56 tracks spanning 25 years of indie music." It seems

RAUMSCHMIERE, T.: Monstertruckdriver 12" (NOMU 124 EP). $9.00

Vinyl EP version.

THROBBING GRISTLE: Greatest Hits CD (MUTE 1001CD). $14.50

1997 reissue of the group's defining compilation, featuring "United", "Subhuman", "Hamburger Lady", etc. Dedicated to Martin Denny, liner notes by the late Claude Bessey! "Turning the idea of rock music on its head and injecting it with a lethal dose of electronica, Gristle was light years ahead of its time and suffered endless persecution from the British government because of their wild ideas. On this ironically titled collection, the band offers 11 tracks that plant the seeds for a number of genres. Standing heads and tails above the rest of their contemporaries, this is the best place to first discover Throbbing Gristle's difficult but rewarding body of work."

THROBBING GRISTLE: Second Annual Report CD (MUTE 1093CD). $14.50

The Throbbing Gristle reissue campaign, in stock for the first time. TG were: Genesis P-Orridge (bass, vocals, violins), Chris Carter (synthesizers, electronic rhythms, tapes), Peter Christopherson (tapes, machines) & Cosey Fanni Tutti (lead guitar, effects, tapes). This version of Second is the 1991 CD reissue of their debut album, originally issued in 1977 on the group's own Industrial Records. "A proper debut of sorts, Second Annual Report includes several versions each (some live) of early Throbbing Gristle standards like 'Slug Bait' and 'Maggot Death', as well as an 'Industrial Introduction' and the soundtrack work 'After Cease to Exist'. The music is relentless, grinding distortion, only occasionally leavened by vocal samples and percussion."

THROBBING GRISTLE: D.O.A. CD (MUTE 1094CD). $14.50

1998 CD reissue of the 2nd TG album, originally issued in 1978; digitally remastered by Chris Carter. Adds 2 bonus tracks from the legendary Sordide Sentimental 7" ("We Hate You (Little Girls)" & "Five Knuckle Shuffle". "Breaking from the live sound of the previous Second Annual Report, D.O.A. finds the group assembling collages of computer noise, cassette tapes on fast forward, looped feedback and tape hiss, surreptitiously recorded conversation, threatening phone calls, and much more, all to a grand alienating effect, the sound of a gray day in a British tower block after all the drugs have run out."

THROBBING GRISTLE: 20 Jazz Funk Greats CD (MUTE 1095CD). $14.50

1997 reissue of this classic 1979 album. "It's a break in the clouds from Throbbing Gristle's pummeling noise and a first glimpse at the continuing pop influence on the TG/PTV axis, but 20 Jazz Funk Greats still isn't best described by its title. If there is such a thing as a funky Throbbing Gristle LP, however, this could well be it. 'Hot on the Heels of Love', 'Hamburger Lady' and 'Six Six Sixties' add only occasional bits of distortion between the rigid sequencer lines. 20 Jazz Funk Greats is the best compromise between TG's early industrial aesthetic and the reams of industrial-dance and dark synth-pop groups that used the album as a stepping stone to crossover appeal."

THROBBING GRISTLE: Heathen Earth CD (MUTE 1096CD). $14.50

1990's reissue of this 1980 album, recorded live in front of an invited audience at the Industrial Records studio. Bonus 7" studio tracks "Adrenalin" & "Subhuman" added. "Live in the studio, this combines the best of both harrowing worlds."

THROBBING GRISTLE: Mission of Dead Souls CD (MUTE 1097CD). $14.50

1991 CD reissue of this 1981 live album, the final "official" TG album. Recorded in San Francisco, 5/29/81. Digitally remastered by Chris Carter, with bonus 7" tracks "Distant Dreams (Part 2)" & "Something Came Over Me" tagged on. "Their final and perhaps most extreme musical assault was recorded live in San Francisco."

SLICK SIXTY: Nibs & Nabs CD (MUTE 185). $15.00

"Their first album for Mute — an eclectic combination of laid back beat, deep bass grooves and eerie brass samples. Lo-fi downbeat tunes with hip hop inspired scratching fused with guitar licks."

SLICK SIXTY: Nibs & Nabs 2LP (MUTE 185 LP). $19.00

UK-only double vinyl version; full color gatefold sleeve.

APPLIANCE: Food Music CD (MUTE 227 CD). $9.00

Appliance are James Brooks (vocal & guitar), David Ireland (drums), and Michael Parker (bass). First single.

APPLIANCE: Pacifica CD (MUTE 229 CD). $9.00

2nd CD single by this group. "Appliance are James Brooks (vocal & guitar), David Ireland (drums), and Michael Parker (bass). Back in 1985, James and David were already friends making sounds with home made musical instruments. Years later when they met (after their time in University), they realized they both had acquired a taste for the Krautrock sounds of Neu! and Can and had developed a shared interest in the links between music and art. In 1995, Michael Parker entered the fray with a 4-track portastudio in one hand and a bag of home made electronic gadgetry in the other (effects pedals and tone generators). Appliance was born. Appliance have designed and built a series of tone generators which, together with the burgeoning collection of early sampling-keyboards and analogue synths, have become integral to their uniquely idiosyncratic sound."

ADD N TO (X): Revenge of the Black Regent 12" (MUTE 231 EP). $9.00

ECHOBOY: Frances Says The Knife Is Alive CD (MUTE 237 CD). $9.00

"Echoboy's debut recording for Mute Records. Featuring four new tracks, the EP finds Echoboy taking the adventure deep into the terrain of texture and drone. 'Canada' is a haunting 70s porno punk with luscious 60s strings and vocals played backwards, not so far from the Residents style. 'Frances...' is a piece of wild stereophonic electro."

ECHOBOY: Frances Says: The Knife Is Alive 2x10" (MUTE 237 EP). $13.00

"Echoboy's debut recording for Mute Records. Featuring four new tracks, the EP finds Echoboy taking the adventure deep into the terrain of texture and drone. 'Canada' is a haunting 70s porno punk with luscious 60s strings and vocals played backwards, not so far from the Residents style. 'Frances...' is a piece of wild stereophonic electro."

JON SPENCER BLUES EXPLOSION, THE: Heavy (Remix) CD (MUTE 239 CD). $9.00

"New York's finest release a new remix single, 'Heavy' taken from the forthcoming album Acme Plus. 'Heavy' is the band's most accessible single to date — a cool, summer, hip hop remix by Dante Ross, best known for his work with De La Soul, House of Pain, and currently Everlast. The single contains exclusive b-sides and remixes by Japanese DJ Duck Rock and French DJ MC Revolv, including a radical re-working of the classic single '2 Kindsa Love'."

JON SPENCER BLUES EXPLOSION, THE: Heavy 12" (MUTE 239 EP). $9.00

ECHOBOY: Turning On — The Remixes 2x12" (MUTE 257 EP). $10.00

"The double pack will come in a brown sleeve with hand stamped artwork as were Echoboy's first four ever releases. Three of which are now almost impossible to find and therefore very collectable. All the tracks are exclusive to this double pack: the mixes have been provided by Red Snapper, Thomas Brinkmann and Thomas Fehlmann. Also included is the brand new track 'Angel Band'."

HAWTIN & SVEN VATH, RICHIE: The Sound Of The Third Season CD (MUTE 3073 CD). $16.00

"Ibiza has an extensive European based club history which existed long before Tong, Oakenfold and the like arrived on its shores. There had been a unique glamour of European-ness to the island's club culture since the '70s which, by the late '90s, had begun to be seriously threatened by British Klub Corporations. In 2000, Frankfurt based Sven Vath made a crucial decision to open a night at Ibiza's club Amnesia, utilizing the exclusive talent signed to his Cocoon booking agency. The club night, called Cocoon, featured a stellar array of pan-global DJs and live acts, and was founded upon Vath's musical policy of quality techno and house music. The Sound of the Third Season features both Hawtin and Vath in the mix together showcasing the top drawer tunes from the 2002 season at Cocoon in Ibiza. Included in the mix are conversations, sound effects, and atmospheres from the club night, capturing the excitement and euphoria of actually being at the club. In effect, the WORKS! With a 2002 season that has featured Vath, Hawtin, Josh Wink, Funk D'Void, DJ Hell, Green Velvet, Marco Carola, Ricardo Villalobos, John Acquaviva, and more, Cocoon has proved itself as THE club for quality music on Ibiza."

PLASTIKMAN: Closer CD (MUTE 3081 CD). $16.00

"Exactly a decade since releasing Plastikman's Sheet One album (Novamute 1993), Plastikman's new album Closer does just that. Brings the listener a little closer to the artist himself. It further delves into the mind of this unique figure in the electronic music world, making this his most personal work ever. In addition, for the first time in his career Richie Hawtin (aka Plastikman) uses his own voice in his music. The resulting album — familiar yet alien, queasy yet comforting, intensely personal yet veiling its confessions in pseudonym and technological disguise — is, perhaps, the first Richie Hawtin record that truly arrives from his mind to yours. 'Instead of making a soundscape for people to lose themselves in, it's more like being locked inside my own head,' reflects Hawtin."

PLASTIKMAN: Closer 3LP (MUTE 3081 LP). $18.00

Triple LP version.

RAUMSCHMIERE, T.: Rabaukenskido CD (MUTE 3082 CD). $6.50

"The second single from his debut Novamute album Radio Blackout. Kevin Martin, aka The Bug, provides two rough and crunchy remixes for this single. Kevin also records as Porter Ricks, Techno Animal and God, and has recorded for labels such as Fat Cat and Mille Plateaux."

RAUMSCHMIERE, T.: Rabaukenskido 12" (MUTE 3082 EP). $6.50

Vinyl EP version.

THROBBING GRISTLE: Mutant TG CD (MUTE 3083CD). $12.00

"Almost thirty years on since their inception from the ashes of performance art troupe/media guerrilla cell Coum Transmissions, Throbbing Gristle's challenging, expressive and self-empowering manifesto's and music are as relevant today as they were back in the bleak mid 70s. This, the first ever collection of Throbbing Gristle remixes Mutant TG highlights just how significant they still are. From a world of free parties, performance art and punk attitude Hedonastik turn 'What A Day' into a psychotic dub fuelled mantra and Carl Craig shows his more experimental side via 'Still Walking' with a mix that reverbs and coils around itself like a trapped snake. Finally, two of TG's original line-up — Chris Carter and Cosey Fanni Tutti make mincemeat of Hamburger Lady and turn two tracks into one with HotHeelsUnited."

THROBBING GRISTLE: Mutant TG 2LP (MUTE 3083LP). $12.00

Double LP version.

LIARS: There's Always Room on the Broom 10" (MUTE 317EP). $6.50

Vinyl EP version.

ADAMSON, BARRY: The King Of Nothing Hill CD (MUTE 9176 CD). $15.50

"Born and raised in Moss Side, Manchester, a love of cinematic scores and the punk explosion of The 1970s inexorably led Barry Adamson headlong into a career in music. He was bass player in the innovative post punk band, Magazine between 1978 and 1982, then went on to become a founding member of Nick Cave's illustrious Bad Seeds in 1984. The anguished songs and poignant instrumentals, all comprised of a miscellany of musical styles, are deftly blended together in Barry Adamson's hands on his new album, The King Of Nothing Hill, and the result is his own assiduously distinctive and deeply personal cinematic sound and his singular narrative gift."

NON: Children Of The Black Sun CD/DVD (MUTE 9183 CD). $15.50

"Special edition CD/DVD two disc set. The CD disc offers the album in stereo, and the DVD is recorded in 5.1 surround sound. First new Non album in over two years. Boyd Rice, a.k.a. Non, the most extreme artist in Mute's left-field canon, has been amazing and annoying his audiences in equal measures since he first began recording music in 1975. Along with former contemporaries Throbbing Gristle and Cabaret Voltaire, Non is synonymous with the genesis of extreme music. One thing is certain: until things gets darker, Non will be the man in black."

LIARS: Fins To Make Us More Fish Like EP CD (MUTE 9184 CD). $6.50

"This new 'fins' EP from the Liars features two previously unreleased tracks, plus a new version of 'Grown Men...', which is originally from their debut album."

LIARS: Fins To Make Us More Fish Like EP 10" (MUTE 9184 EP). $6.50

10" vinyl version.

SCHNEIDER TM: Zoomer CD (MUTE 9185 CD). $15.50

"Dirk Dresselhaus' aka Schneider TM, second full length album, Zoomer, harnesses a sublimely modern depth of musical vision to the hard won wisdom of life experience. A proper album developed over the course of three years, Zoomer is the sound of electronica, at last, with something to say. What about genuinely crafted songwriting? Check. Pop hooks? Check. Catchy vocal melodies? Check. Schneider TM brings a singer-songwriter sensibility for words and music to the ambitions of a sonic explorer."

KOMPUTER: Market Led CD (MUTE 9186 CD). $15.50

"Market Led not only represents Komputer's first new album in nearly five years, it also marks a radical change in musical scope for the band. Where their debut album from 1997, The World of Tomorrow, quite obviously referenced Kraftwerk, Market Led sees Komputer leave their vocoders and drum machines by the road side, instead exploring a new, cerebral sonic territory. Although synthesizers are still prominent, Komputer have abandoned their synth-pop stylings, and on Market Led, they experiment with minimalist textures, clicks and whirs, and subdued, dub-like beats, which overall leads to a more discerning feel. Market Led is recommended for fans of To Rococo Rot, Mouse On Mars, and Pan American."

LIARS: They Threw Us All In A Trench And Stuck A Monument On Top CD (MUTE 9187 CD). $15.50

"If The Strokes were the sound of New York brats rediscovering their city's leather-clad heritage, then Liars pulse with the urge to push things further, deeper. Mute / Blast First announce the worldwide signing of New York City's Liars. The Liars' debut album They Threw Us All In A Trench And Stuck A Monument On Top was recorded with producer/engineer Steve Revitte (Beastie Boys / Jon Spencer Blues Explosion)."

LIARS: They Threw Us All In A Trench And Stuck A Monument On Top LP (MUTE 9187LP). $15.50

LP version.

TARWATER: Dwellers On The Threshold CD (MUTE 9188 CD). $15.50

"The fourth album from Tarwater, Dwellers on the Threshold, can hardly be classified. Strangely graceful, this is how their sound patterns change between traditional instruments and modern electronica, between songs and tracks. Tarwater use their material unpretentiously and with economy. In the past year, during the recordings in their own studio in Berlin/Mitte, a slowly growing archive of songs was being created. Dwellers on the Threshold is the result. During this time, Tarwater worked together with other artists such as Norwegian Tone Avenstroup, Nicholas Addo-Nettey (part of the legendary 70s occupation of the Fela-Kuti band) and Stefan Schneider (Mapstation and To Rococo Rot). While working on their new tracks, Tarwater wrote music for films, theatre and auditions as well."

TARWATER: Dwellers On The Threshold LP (MUTE 9188 LP). $15.50

Limited LP version.

SFT: Swift CD/DVD (MUTE 9189 CD). $18.00

"Composer, film sound-tracker and partially reformed noise freak SFT (Simon Fisher Turner) is set to release a new CD and DVD, Swift. The release of Swift will be the first of its kind, as the CD comes packaged together with a DVD: a film by Adam Shepherd. Shepherd has collaged footage from six film makers, including SFT, to make a short film to accompany from the album. Featuring 20 tracks, produced by Kevin Paul and Simon Fisher Turner, Swift was recorded with London based Israeli jazz musician Gilad Atzmon and a array of diverse musicians and players: The Action Jackson Orchestra Perhaps, Asaf Sikris, occasional Medieval Babe Dorothy Carter and French electronic dance artiste Norsque. The sound palette was further enhanced by Spring Heel Jack's Ashley Wales, Japanese producer Aki Onda, video artist Doug Aitken (who appears in The Action Jackson Orchestra Perhaps), Australian electronic wizz Andie GK Reynolds and with spoken and sung passages from Karen Thiele and Tali Atzmon."

CABARET VOLTAIRE: Best Of '78/'82 (The Original Sound of Sheffield) CD (MUTE 9190 CD). $16.00

"Cabaret Voltaire (along with Throbbing Gristle, Suicide, Chrome, and the like) were responsible for pioneering the acceptability and use of many sounds that were instrumental in defining a strand of popular music which became known as experimental or 'industrial'. Initially a three piece, Cabaret Voltaire began by playing around with recorded sounds manipulated by basic reel-to-reel recorders in Sheffield in 1973. Filtering influences as diverse as Stockhausen, Can, early Roxy Music, Velvet Underground and James Brown through various tape and electronic devices, their great blasts of noise were instrumental in freeing popular music from its narrow, restrictive definitions."

ECHOBOY: Giraffe CD (MUTE 9191 CD). $16.00

"Giraffe, the follow up to 2000's Volume 2, was recorded with legendary producer Flood and features ten brilliant new tracks from Echoboy, aka Richard Warren. More vocal orientated than any of his previous work, its undoubtedly the finest Echoboy record to date and as original and imaginative a pop album as you're likely to hear this year."

APPLIANCE: Are You Earthed? CD (MUTE 9192 CD). $16.00

"The English trio Appliance will release their third full-length. The instrumentation for Are You Earthed? has been broadened; keyboards and drum machines are featured where a guitar and drum kit once dominated. Surreal, abstract lyrics accompanied by refined electro-pop hypnotize the listener, leading one on a journey through mini dream-like vignettes. Are You Earthed? is certainly Appliance's most ambitious work to date."

SLATER, LUKE: I Can Complete You 12" (MUTE 9193 EP). $6.50

"'I Can Complete You' is the third single from Luke Slater's highly lauded new album, Alright On Top, his first album on Mute following his recent switch from the Novamute label. 'I Can Complete You' features remixes from Luke Slater himself, renowned techno producer Jon Carter, and legendary electro mainstay Silicon Scally (aka Carl A. Finlow)."

ADD N TO (X): Loud Like Nature CD (MUTE 9194 CD). $16.00

"The British trio Add N To (X) return with their new album, Loud Like Nature, featuring thirteen brand new tracks including the forthcoming single 'Take Me To Your Leader'."

ADD N TO (X): Loud Like Nature 2LP (MUTE 9194 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

SUICIDE: American Supreme CD (MUTE 9196 CD). $16.00

"Suicide are: Alan Vega, Martin Rev. In early 2001 they made a concentrated effort to record the new self-produced album American Supreme at New York's 6/8 Studios with engineer Perkin Barnes. The album, then almost complete, was then seriously delayed by 9/11, with Alan Vega living only a couple of blocks from the World Trade Center in the financial district of New York. The album carries the distinctive Suicide sound into the new millennium, driven by Marty Rev's alluring mix of digital electronic funk noise and skittish latin over-rhythms, intercut with haunting electro dance tracks, Vega's voice reaches new heights in expressing his paranoid, sci-fi visions of contemporary street life."

ERASURE: Other People's Songs CD (MUTE 9198 CD). $15.50

"Erasure's new album features a selection of the duo's favorite covers, from artists as varied as Peter Gabriel, The Righteous Brothers, Elvis Presley, Buddy Holly, & more. Erasure are not newcomers to the art of the cover version. They've included non-original material on several albums and famously released an entire EP of Abba songs, Abba-esque, in 1992. Other People's Songs is, however, a more weighty project, combining a bit of cheek with some iconoclasm, a sincere fascination with the mechanics of songwriting and a pure, fan-based love of pop."

ERASURE: Other People's Songs LP (MUTE 9198 LP). $15.50

LP Version.

POLE: 45/45 CD EP (MUTE 9203 CD). $6.50

4 track EP. "Structurally, the music of Pole is based on abstract, irregular rhythms created by a defective analogue sound filter Betke uses, namely the 'Walderf 4-Pole' filter. These rhythms principally are defect frequencies lull of interference (in audio terms commonly referred to as 'noise'), not unlike the crackling sounds of vintage vinyl, except for a harder, purely digital quality. Poles signature sound is also based on the production methods of Jamaican dub, and the foundations of modern composers like Steve Reich, Arnold Schoenberg, John Zorn, and Auto Lindsay."

POLE: 45/45 12" (MUTE 9203 EP). $6.50

Vinyl EP version.

SCHNEIDER TM: 6 Peace EP CD EP (MUTE 9205 CD). $5.00

"Schneider TM's 6 Peace EP is a special, limited edition EP containing remixes and videos of tracks from Schneider TM's critically acclaimed album Zoomer, plus songs from his import-only EP with Kpt.michigan, including their cover of The Smiths' 'There Is A Light That Never Goes Out'."

GOLDFRAPP: Black Cherry CD (MUTE 9206 CD). $16.00

"Goldfrapp return with their new album Black Cherry, following the worldwide success of their debut, Felt Mountain. Black Cherry was written and recorded over the last 12 months by the British duo of Alison Goldfrapp and Will Gregory. The magic of Goldfrapp's appeal is still potent and suggestive with the mystery, the sense of something below the surface, being just tantalizingly out of reach. With Black Cherry, they entwine classic songwriting with the most abstract of modern music, making a bold statement in an increasingly fractured world."

GOLDFRAPP: Black Cherry LP (MUTE 9206 LP). $16.00

LP version.

GOLDFRAPP: Train CD EP (MUTE 9207CD). $6.50

"'Train' is the first single from Goldfrapp's sophomore album Black Cherry, which follows the worldwide success of their debut, Felt Mountain. The Train CD EP features the album version, an instrumental mix by Goldfrapp, a previously unreleased track, and new Novamute signing T. Raumschmiere's vocal mix. The Train 12" features the album version, new Novamute signing T. Raumschmiere's vocal mix, and a vocal mix from Ewan Pearson."

GOLDFRAPP: The Train 12" (MUTE 9207EP). $6.50

Vinyl EP version.

CABARET VOLTAIRE: Methodology '74-'78 Attic Tapes 3CD BOX (MUTE 9211 CD). $22.00

"3 CD set from Cabaret Voltaire's most creative period. The CD box set charts the development of Cabaret Voltaire, starting from their early experimental period of '74/'75. The package contains recordings made during the same period as those featured on the CD, 1974-76, released on Industrial Records in 1978. The material contained in the box set sounds incredibly fresh when played alongside some of the new generation of 'laptop experimentalists', especially considering that the recording technology was quite basic compared to that available today. Initially a three piece, Richard H. Kirk, Stephen Mallinder and Chris Watson began by playing around with recorded sounds manipulated by basic reel-to-reel tape recorders in Sheffield in 1973. Way ahead of their time, these ideas cumulated in 1975, when the three staged their first performance of these sound experiments."

POLE: 90/90 EP CD EP (MUTE 9213 CD). $6.50

"With the 90/90 EP, part two in a new series of Pole releases, Stefan Betke has — for the very first time — allowed vocals to enter his minimal dub environment. On the title track 'Slow Motion', Ohio-based rapper Fat John precisely dissects the fabric of time, disregarding the familiar rules of hip hop showmanship. To an equally inescapable beat, aptly striking every second he turns time into a matter of politics and measurement into a question of definition. By thus laying open the backbone of his creative process, Betke forsakes the anonymity of most electronic musicians and chooses to collaborate with other artists instead. Besides double bass genius August Engkilde (already featured on 45/45), 'I Can't Hear's' minimal beat environment features saxophone passages by Copenhagen resident Thomas Haas."

POLE: 90/90 EP 12" (MUTE 9213 EP). $6.50

Vinyl EP version.

GOLDFRAPP: Strict Machine CD (MUTE 9215 CD). $6.50

"The second single from Goldfrapp's sophomore album Black Cherry. 'Strict Machine', with its whip-like snare is a twisted disco tune and a stand-out track on Black Cherry. B sides and remixes will fill out the track listings for both the CD Maxi Single and 12"." 9 tracks.

GOLDFRAPP: Strict Machine 2x12" (MUTE 9215EP). $10.00

Double vinyl EP version.

POLE: Pole CD (MUTE 9216 CD). $15.50

"With his new album and two EPs, Pole has gone back to the future, back to his own roots — from hip hop to techno and back again. Similar to the blue-red-yellow albums, which only revealed its overall idea in the combination of all separate recordings, Betke has managed to create a series which continues to evolve with every installment. And this almost architectural approach is accompanied by a fundamental musical change of direction. Also, for the first time, a voice has been allowed to enter the mix, that of Ohio-based rapper Fat Jon. Direct, subtle, unforced and forceful Pole gains more and more transparency, with or without its vocal support — no clicks, no scratches, no scrapes... nothing dilutes the strict clarity of his new output. Goodbye 'Walldorf 4-Pole', welcome Stefan Betke."

POLE: Pole 2LP (MUTE 9216 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

ALASKA: Returning Back To Sirius 12" (MUTE 9217 EP). $6.50

Alaska is Laurent Gamier, and 'Returning Back To Sirius' is his new 12" single.

CLIENT: Client CD (MUTE 9219 CD). $16.00

"As the first signings to Andy Fletcher of Depeche Mode's Toast Hawaii label, Client's arrival on the music scene couldn't have been more timely. Poppy without being sanitized, danceable without being identikit. Client take the contemporary trend for all things electro to the next level by combining pulsing, machine-funk, analogue sounds with classic song writing — imagine a sound jam between Kraftwerk, Joy Division and Dusty Springfield (with a northern accent) and you're half-way there."

PINK GREASE: All Over You CD (MUTE 9221 CD). $10.00

"Pink Grease was born out of a mutual appreciation of filthy parties, the necessity of rock, and the need for a massive injection of sex into the pop mainstream. Like a giant freak magnet Pink Grease came together out of frustration at a dead scene and the despicable inertia of bland live music. Their mission: to create super-powered, disco-driven punk (f) rock. All Over You was recorded at Russell 'Blues Explosion' Simins studio, Empire View, with Jason Buckle at the helm. New York affects the music, tightens it up so it flows with danger."

PINK GREASE: All Over You LP (MUTE 9221 LP). $10.00

LP version.

LAIBACH: WAT CD (MUTE 9222 CD). $16.00

"WAT is Laibach's first new album in 7 years, since 1996's Jesus Christ Superstars. Laibach, who formed in their home country of Slovenia in 1980, have produced some of the most controversial, thought provoking, and dramatic art over the past 20 years. The band famously co-founded the NSK guerilla art collective which was declared a virtual State in Time, issuing its own passports and staging embassy and consulate events in many countries and they have, throughout their career, entertained, provoked and confused diverse audiences from Siberia to California."

CAVE AND THE BAD SEEDS, NICK: God Is In The House DVD (MUTE 9224 DVD). $19.00

"The DVD contains live footage from Le Transbordeur in Lyon, France, plus the John Hillcoat directed documentary No More Shall We Part - The Recording Sessions. Recorded at Abbey Road, containing exclusive footage of the band recording No More Shall We Part. Also featured on the DVD are the videos Hillcoat directed for the singles 'As I Sat Sadly By Her Side' and 'Fifteen Feet Of Pure White Snow', the latter featuring cameos from the likes of Jarvis Cocker and Jason Donovan. The video for the Australian released single, 'Love Letter' is also included on the DVD. The Lyon concert from 2001's No More Shall We Part tour features the Bad Seeds lineup of Nick Cave, Mick Harvey, Blixa Bargeld, Thomas Wydler, Martyn Casey, Conway Savage, Jim Sclavunos, and Warren Ellis playing tracks from eight of their twelve studio albums." NTSC all-region, Letterbox, 140 min., stereo.

WARLOCKS: Phoenix CD (MUTE 9227 CD). $13.00

License of the Birdman edition, exact same packing. "Mute is proud to announce the signing of The Warlocks to its international roster. Formed in 1999, this seven piece's recently released Phoenix album has grown into a new underground phenomenon. With two drummers and four guitars pounding out a relentless, hypnotic and lysergic wall of sound, The Warlocks are quickly becoming a reason to believe again in the redemptive powers of rock and roll."

LIARS: They Were Wrong, So We Drowned CD (MUTE 9235CD). $16.00

"The last band to so expertly execute the cocktail of menace and artful, brilliant chaos that Liars achieve for their second album, They Were Wrong, So We Drowned, were fellow New Yorkers Sonic Youth, when they cut their epochal Bad Moon Rising album. It's a record from a band in transition, severing their ties with the scene they kinda inaugurated and have now, decidedly, outgrown. A band defining themselves only in terms of what they wish to achieve, the limits of their imagination. A band withdrawing to a basement deep in the wilds somewhere and letting their every little wrinkle of rampant creativity and twisted genius seep deep into the shadows of this most poignant and chilling ghost story."

GARNIER, LAURENT: 30 CD (MUTE 9236 CD). $16.00

"30 is Laurent Garnier's second artist album originally released on his own F Communications label in 1997, and long out of print in the United States. 30 spawned the classic singles 'Crispy Bacon', 'Flashback', and 'The Hoe'."

EINSTÜRZENDE NEUBAUTEN: Perpetuum Mobile CD (MUTE 9237CD). $16.00

"Following Silence Is Sexy and the Strategies Against Architecture III anthology, Einstürzende Neubauten's long-awaited new studio album has arrived at last, Perpetuum Mobile. Time brings about changes, and since their foundation, Einstürzende Neubauten have, like no other band, reflected these major and minor, public and private vicissitudes. Perpetuum Mobile expands the range of their music, enriching it with new facets: like in the radicalism with which melancholia, wafted through with farewells, is portrayed here. Or the long, almost epic narratives that rigorously take all the time they need to develop their perfect dramaturgy. Alongside these, we find subtle sonic images, whose intensity develops out of reduction, or songs that breathe a fragile beauty ('Paradiesseits') and deeply felt mourning ('Dead Friends (around the corner)'). But Einstürzende Neubauten also immediately continue their search for that unexpected new sound, with new installations (see 'Boreas') or surprising instrumentations consisting of wind players, tubes, pedal steel guitars, the clavi-chord, bird calls, and air compressors."

LIARS: There's Always Room on the Broom CD (MUTE 9238CD). $6.50

"There's Always Room On The Broom" is the first single from Liars' forthcoming sophomore album, They Were Wrong, So We Drowned. It's a record from a band in transition, severing their ties with the scene they kinda inaugurated and have now, decidedly, outgrown. A band defining themselves only in terms of what they wish to achieve, the limits of their imagination. A band withdrawing to a basement deep in the wilds somewhere and letting their every little wrinkle of rampant creativity and twisted genius seep deep into the shadows of this most poignant and chilling ghost story."

PINK GREASE: This Is For Real CD (MUTE 9241CD). $16.00

"Pink Grease release their debut album This Is For Real, which follows their mini album All Over You from 2003. Hailing from Sheffield, UK, Pink Grease came together out of frustration at a dead scene and the despicable inertia of bland live music. Produced by maestro Stephen Lironi, the new album features 12 brilliant new tracks that meld disco, guitar abandon, glam and true melody to a degree Pink Grease have so far only threatened."

THROBBING GRISTLE: The Taste of TG: A Beginners Guide to Throbbing Gristle CD (MUTE 9242CD). $16.00

"Almost 30 years on since their inception from the ashes of performance art troupe/media guerrilla cell Coum Transmissions, Throbbing Gristle's challenging, expressive and self-empowering manifestos and music are as relevant today as they were back in the bleak mid-70s. The Taste of TG... contains 14 of Throbbing Gristle's best tracks, a perfect accent to the devoted collector, or a necessary primer for the new fan. As historically important during their active period of 1975 - 1981 as contemporaries Can, The Sex Pistols, and Kraftwerk, Throbbing Gristle's influence on today's music (from experimental production techniques and confrontational live shows to independent promotion via their own Industrial Records label) runs far deeper than they are often credited."

PAN SONIC: Kesto 4CD (MUTE 9243CD). $30.00

"Kesto (234:48:4) is a brand new quartet of compact discs from Pan Sonic (Mika Vainio and Ilpo Vaisanen) available only as one complete set. The title means 'strength' or 'duration', entirely appropriate in both the size of this work (over 4 hours of new music) and the scale of the band's adventures since the release of their last album Aaltopiiiri in 2001. The original discussions of ideas for the new recordings were based around Mika's favorite painter Francis Bacon and his use of the triptych (a format Bacon used a number of times in his lifetime). Always pushing the boundaries, Pan Sonic were inspired to go on to record a fourth part. Those familiar with Pan Sonic's work may detect a correlation between their use of sound and Bacon's use of paint; the Kesto recordings represent a substantial new depth and vitality in the quality of their sound palette that brings a newfound life force and delicate violence into their music. The sounds within are complemented by the award winning photography of fellow Finnish artist Anne Hamalainen."

LIARS: We Fenced Other Gardens With the Bones of our Own CD (MUTE 9244CD). $6.50

"The second single from Liars' highly lauded sophomore album, They Were Wrong, So We Drowned. The single was produced by David Sitek (TV On The Radio, Yeah Yeah Yeahs). comes backed with two new tracks, a fantastic cover of LA punk band the Germs' 'Sex Boy' and 'The Fountain And Its Monologue'. The CD version also includes videos for both b-sides, directed by the band."

LIARS: We Fenced Other Gardens With the Bones of our Own 7" (MUTE 9244EP). $5.50

7" vinyl EP version. Three tracks.

M83: Run Into Flowers CD (MUTE 9247CD). $6.50

M83's distinct sound is both modern and melancholic via ambitious inter-galactic compositions influenced by Tangerine Dream and Mogwai. Run into Flowers contains remixes by fellow Gooom artists Abstrack Keal Agram, Jackson, and KG."

M83: Run Into Flowers 12" (MUTE 9247EP). $6.50

M83: Dead Cities, Red Seas & Lost Ghosts 2CD (MUTE 9251CD). $16.00

"Mute is proud to announce the North American signing of France's M83. A letter and a number make up the name of this band that touches upon all genres, from electronic to pop to ambient. M83's distinct sound is both modern and melancholic via ambitious inter-galactic compositions influenced by Tangerine Dream and Mogwai. CD album includes a bonus disc with five additional tracks and 2 videos, packaging not available on any import."

M83: Dead Cities, Red Seas & Lost Ghosts 2LP (MUTE 9251LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

GOLDFRAPP: Black Cherry CD (MUTE 9253CD). $6.50

The 'Black Cherry' single contains exclusive material, not found on any import, including: 'Gone To Earth' b-side, 'Black Cherry' remixes from fellow Mute artist M83 and Lawrence, 'Black Cherry' live video, 'Forever' remix from fellow Mute artist Mountaineers, a live video version of the fan favorite 'Sartorius' (a track that was never previously released), and the 'Strict Machine' and 'Twist' videos."

SPENCER BLUES EXPLOSION, JON: Experimental Remixes CD (MUTE JSBX3 CD). $18.00

Originally released as a 6 track EP, Mute will release a packaging of 10 tracks featuring brand new mixes by French DJ MC Relov, by avant garde musician John Oswald and Prince Paul of De La Soul fame. Tracklisting: Bellbottoms (remixed by Uncle), Flavor Pt. 1 (remixed by Beck Hansen, Mike Diamond, Mario Caldato Jr.), Flavor Pt. 2 (remixed by Beck Hansen, Mike Diamond, Mario Caldato Jr.), Soul Typecast (Mixed by the Dub Narcotic Sound System), Greyhound Pt. 1 (Additional production by Moby), Greyhound Pt. 2 (remixed by Genius of Wu Tang Clan), Bell, Diary, Implosion (remixed by MC Relov), XPLO (remixed by John Oswald), Blues Explosion Man (Prince Paul remix)."

SPENCER BLUES EXPLOSION, JON: Techno Animal Remix EP 12" (MUTE JSBX4). $9.00

UK-only release. "These two tracks are taken from the last album Acme Plus and have been remixed by electro-terrorist Techno Animal. Never released before, but you may have heard them at gigs before the Jon Spencer Blues Explosion came on stage. Please note this is a very limited release 12" only."

CAZAZZA, MONTE: The Worst Of CD (MUTE MONTE1). $21.00

Reissue of the first Monte Cazazza full length, including his Industrial Records "classic" "To Mom On Mother's Day". "Tracklisting: Psychiatric Review, To Mom On Mother's Day, Candy Man, Rabid Rats (Vietnam), Distress, Mary Bell, Kick That Habit Man, First/Last, Tiny Tears, Stairway To Hell, Sex Is No Emergency, A Snitch Is A Snitch, A Is For Atom, If Thoughts Could Kill, Mark Of The Devil, Six Eyes From Hell."

NON: Pagan Muzak 7" (MUTE PAGAN1). $15.00

"First released in 1978, Pagan Muzak is a 7" vinyl long playing record housed in a 12" sleeve. It consists of 17 locked/looped grooves, each of them containing a different noise. And it can be played back at up to four speeds — 16, 33, 45, or 78 rpm. The same 'tracklisting' is repeated on the b side. It's an album that prefigured many uses of vinyl as an instrument and pushed the experiment to limits few have reached. The locked groove is a simple, mechanical means of reproducing repetitive, minimal music. Playing one groove over and over for any length of time wears it down much faster. The corresponding deterioration of sound quality means the noise changes over time from one play to the next. Mute's reissue of Pagan Muzak coincides with the revival of the vinyl record as a specialist format for vinyl lovers and DJs. Possibly out of a reaction to the digital perfection of the CD, a strain of contemporary music from electronica through to post-rock has been working vinyl's scratches, glitches, and deteriorating sound quality into a kind of minimal music; treating vinyl's surface crackle as a texture or processing sticking needle sounds into rhythm patterns."

EINSTÜRZENDE NEUBAUTEN: Tabula Rasa 2CD (STUMM 156-CD). $19.00

"Einstürzende Neubauten's classic Tabula Rasa is reissued with a bonus CD, containing a wealth of Tabula Rasa-related material."

GALAS, DIAMANDA: Defixiones Will and Testament 2CD (STUMM 205 CD). $21.00

"Diamanda Galás releases two double albums on the same day, her first releases since 1998's Malediction and Prayer. For both of these albums, Galás continues her forensic acts of identifying long buried hurts. "On Defixiones, Will And Testament she investigates the little known Armenian, Assyrian and Greek genocides carried out by Turkey between 1914 and 1923, with the singer articulating the anger and sorrow of the dispossessed through the words of exiled poets and writers alongside her own texts. Galás covers a whole lotta dying ground in a babel of languages with adaptations of poems by Belgian writer Henri Michaux, Romanian-Jewish Paul Celan, Italian filmmaker Pier Paolo Pasolini, French symbolist Gérard Nerval, Peruvian Cesar Vallejo, Armenian Siamanto, Syrian Adonis, Assyrian poet-martyr Dr Freidou Bet-Oraham and more. The set is sung by Galás accompanying herself on piano, tape and a minimum of electronics, though you'd be forgiven for thinking that there are more of her out there coming at you from all sides, as her formidable voice rises to its full power and rattles the walls with its reverberating echoes. 'My voice,' she said in 1988, 'was given to me as an instrument of inspiration for my friends, and a tool of torture and destruction to my enemies. An instrument of truth.' With its much-touted three and a half octave range, Galás's voice is the most powerful weapon in her self-designed musical armory." 48 pages hard back book presentation."

GALAS, DIAMANDA: La Serpenta Canta 2CD (STUMM 206 CD). $19.00

"La Serpenta Canta aka 'The Serpent Sings', is a song recital recruiting blues, R&B, Motown, southern soul, Country & Western and her own 'Baby's Insane' (from This Sporting Life, her duo album with John Paul Jones) in Galás's ongoing campaign against forgetting. The songs are rendered in her own inimitable style spanning Eastern Orthodox liturgy, American roots and the rembetika songs of Greece and Asia Minor. This set is sung by Galás accompanying herself on piano and is a collection of live recording from around the world between May 1999 and November 2002."

EINSTÜRZENDE NEUBAUTEN: Perpetuum Mobile 2LP (STUMM 221LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

LIARS: They Were Wrong, So We Drowned LP (STUMM 225LP). $16.00

LP version, full color gatefold sleeve.

PINK GREASE: This Is For Real LP (STUMM 230LP). $16.00

LP version.

MUTE/GREY AREA (UK):

DOME: 3/4 CD (DOME 3/4). $14.00

"Mid-line CD reissue of Dome's third and fourth records, a post-Wire project by Messrs. Bruce Gilbert and Graham Lewis, recorded 1980-82. Whereas Wire inspired awe from their seeming scientific approach to punk and pop tunes, Dome's records are comprised of a lot of the unsettling sounds that color Pink Flag and Chairs Missing, and began to come to the fore on 154 and after. Cerebral is one word that comes to mind, and this time around it's not tempered with 'songs', more like 'processes'. All four Dome records constantly make me wonder whether I'm transfixed or just so enervated from the whole experience that I can't stand up to change the record. I suggested here at the office that these tracks sometimes sound like a Profan 12" without the kickdrum, just the grimy loops, but that remark was received with a sort of blank stare, whatever. Kind of cool, depending on your emotional stability. For fans of: clothes dryers, Epstein-Barr Virus, public transportation." — Billy Kiely.

SWELL MAPS: A Trip To Marineville CD (MAPS 001CD). $14.00

The original works of the seminal Swell Maps, now available as mid-priced reissues. "Originally released on Rough Trade in 1979; Swell Maps' debut album was a scattershot affair, ranging from blistering three-chord punk to free-form noise experiments, that was intriguing, yet frequently incoherent. Swell Maps released only two albums before disbanding in 1980. Noisy and experimental, Britain's Swell Maps experienced little commercial success during the course of their chaotic career, but in hindsight they stand as one of the pivotal acts of the new wave: not only was the group an acknowledged inspiration to the likes of Sonic Youth and Pavement, but their alumni — most notably brothers Nikki Sudden and Epic Soundtracks — continued on as key players in the underground music community." With 8 bonus tracks.

SPK: Information Overload Unit CD (SPK 001CD). $14.00

Mid-priced reissue of the first SPK album; SPK were an Australian outfit, primarily a duo of Graeme Revell and vocalist Sinan at the beginning, and of the key prototypical Industrial groups. "Originally released on Side Effects Records in 1980; A noisy record basically comprised of guitar feedback, synthesizer distortion and rigid drum programming, Information Overload Unit saw SPK still working through their influences, notably Suicide and Throbbing Gristle."

SPK: Zamia Lehmanni: Songs of Byzantine Flowers CD (SPK 003CD). $14.00

Mid-priced reissue of this later SPK album. "Originally released by Side Effects label in 1986, and in 1996 by Grey Area. Zamia Lehmanni (Songs of Byzantine Flowers) is a world away from the pop impregnated force of their earlier album Machine Age Voodoo. Its overall spirit is bathed in a classical mysticism conjured from the sounds and instruments of New Guinea and Indonesia. These textural pieces are occasionally accompanied by choral chants that add a haunting air. Their restraint belies an inner strength that sends shivers down your vulnerability."

SPK: Auta Da Fe CD (SPK 004CD). $14.00

Mid-priced reissue of the third SPK album (following Leichenschrei on Thermidor. "Originally released in 1983; The beginning of a more organized approach for SPK material, Auta Da-Fe presents an intriguing industrial-disco fusion, reminiscent of prime contemporary material by Cabaret Voltaire and DAF. An assortment of synthesizer stabs and progressive beats are the backing for lyrics best explained by titles like 'Retard' and 'Heart That Breaks.' Although fans probably thought of Auta Da-Fe as an unconscionable crossover attempt, it's still quite experimental in retrospect. Mute's CD reissue of the album also includes tracks from SPK's 1978 single 'Surgical Penis Klinik,' 1979's Meat Processing Sektion EP, and 1983's *Dekomposition*s EP."

MUTEK (CANADA):

VA: Mutek 03 CD (MTK 003 CD). $15.00

Third Mutek compilation CD, released in conjunction with the 2003 festival in Montreal. "MUTEK is dedicated to cutting edge electronic music and sound creation in the age of digital tools." Mostly exclusive tracks from: Clinker, Montag, Jeff Milligan, Egg, Matthew Dear, Mambotur, Timothy D. Hecker, [sic], Samiland, Deadbeat, David Kristian, Coil, T. Raumschmiere, Kontakt der Jünglinge, Marina Rosenfeld.

VA: MUTEK 2001 CD (MTK 01CD). $13.00

CD compilation issued in commemoration of the Mutek Festival in Canada, summer of 2001. Features tracks from: Akufen, Jonas Bering, Thomas Brinkmann, Goem, Matmos, Closer Musik, Dettinger, AE Lab, Jetone, Mikael Stavöstrand, Process, Mitchell Akiyama, Gustavo Lamas. Almost all tracks are exclusive or at least on CD for the first time. Well done.

GOEM: Gast CD (MTK CL01). $13.00

"Late May 2001, Goem (Frans de Waard, Roel Meelkop and Peter Duimelinks) landed in Montreal for their debut concert as Goem in Northern America at the prestigious Mutek festival. They stayed for a week in Montreal. In the hotelroom they worked on their Abri CD for 12K. While working Mutek connected artists dropped in the hotel room and asked 'what are you guys doing there'... This is not a pure Goem CD, neither a remix CD... it's something that is inbetween all of these. It has the traditional minimal Goem sound, but with fresh minds at the controls. These are: Matmos, Richard Chartier, Mitchell Akiyama, Taylor Deupree, Richard Di Santo, 18U, Mikael Stavöstrand, Ælab and of course Goem."

VA: Quality Hotel CD (MTK CL02 CD). $16.00

A collaboration by 4 composers: Janek Schaefer, Stephan Mathieu, Timeblind, Radboud Mens. Composed and recorded in an hotel room while at MUTEK 2002, cover by Stephan Mathieu, edited by Radboud Mens and Janek Schaefer. "Quality Hotel" is the result of editing the finest moments from probably several hours of improvising music together. It's hard to tell who did the final selection, but my guess it's Stephan Mathieu having a big hand in this. I don't hear Radboud Mens crazy minimal techno, Timeblind's hip hop inspired rhythms and from Janek we hear his turntable, but it's very much incorporated in the total. Leaves the warm crackles of Mr. Mathieu, still one of the more refined musicians when it comes to warm glitches, and it seems to me that he has a firm hand in editing this album. It's subdued ambient like music, with occasional crackles and hiss, maybe even an odd bang here and there (although rhythm is altogether not a theme here). Held back and refined, warm and glitchy."

EGG: Don't Postpone Joy CD (MTK FAB001 CD). $15.00

"The Montreal based duo Egg. Julien Roy is known for his work behind the renown artistic collective Artificiel and has releases on the Oral and PeP labels. Until recently known more as a percussionist, Guillaume Coutu-Dumont's experiences as a session musician have taken him from the International Jazz Festival of Montreal to the jazz festival of St-Louis (Senegal) and the recording of 3 albums. Together as Egg, they have successfully set themselves at the intersection of multiple influences — guided by a distinct experimental interest, Egg craft a blend of acoustic instrumentation, tinged with the elements of dub and micro-house, which result in an insatiable amalgamation of infectious body-music. Over a year in the making, their debut full-length, Don't Postpone Joy presents a softly subversive musical universe that is both playful and carefully calibrated to open itself upon repeated listens. Egg have truly defined a signature of their own that compliments the fellow artists in their community, but justly remarks them as a force to be reckoned with in the global electronic scene."

MY BEST FRIEND (GERMANY):

AVITABILE, GRAZIANO: Lass Mich Los 12" (MBF 12001). $9.00

"The birth of the label and at the same time the first record of Graziano Avitabile, who has been a member of Cologne's nightlife for quite a while. He has released a few records, one on Karmarouge records back in 2001. Since then he has developed his style and has with this release put forward a 12" with existential elements and sounds, timeless as we think, rather than clicks and cuts designed computer music but with lots of emotion, creating friction throughout this tough slamming techno track. The track comes in two versions, paying tribute to the 80s but relying on his hypnotic touch that after all, prevails. A stunning debut and the best way to start My Best Friend."

GABRIEL AND BIBI: Oh La La La 12" (MBF 12002). $9.00

"Gabriel and Bibi, a dream couple from Cologne? The sweet melody, at times really harsh pop techno with 'Trash Easthetik' communicates in a magic way that leaves our mouth open and dry. Where does it derive from? Who are they? We better not ask. Just enjoy. On the flipside a monster rocking remix by Argentinian master of disaster Jorge Gebuhr, slamming the vocals on his bouncing dry beat with fury."

TORO PROJECT: Planet May 12" (MBF 12003). $9.00

"Toro is an anonymous project of a producer duo. A joined venture, which at the same time shows a bit more of the direction the forthcoming release will tend to do go. Disko-tech-house, deep as well as 'right on - keep the beat going' style. 'Drive To ffm' on the a-side is a house track with a slightly blurred soundscape transmitting a psychedelic feel, deep and strong. 'Jam the Metro Dub' on the flipside is a super dry disco slammer with an ultrafat bassline that will shake the foundation of the club it is played in. It's Chicago inspired 'Lil Louis' sequences is the key for euphoria."

DIRT CREW: Cleaning Up The Ghetto Pt. 1 12" (MBF 12005). $9.00

"Dirt Crew is a new project on MBF. Behind the project hide no newcomers but artists that have released numerous records on other labels, but will keep this project exclusively for My Best Friend. James Flavour is reknown for his fabulous records on the Berlin label Highgrade and on the forthcoming 12" on Brique Rouge. Break 3000 has released music already on Trapez, K7, Meuse Muzique, Poketgame and has released a remix for Speedy J. Their music combines cool oldschool patterns with new approach in club music and a super strong production. Their first 12" together as Dirt Crew is the beginning of a series of records by the Dirt Crew as well as remixes by Break 3000 which will be released by Traum on MBF and Trapez."

DIRT CREW: Cleaning Up the Ghetto Pt. 2 12" (MBF 12006). $9.00

"Cleaning Up the Ghetto II is the follow up to the successful debut Cleaning Up the Ghetto I by James Flavour & Peter Gijsseders which was played by a lot of famous house DJs among people like Steve Bug, David Duriez, Freestyle Man/DJ Sasse, M.A.N.D.Y., etc. It features a very strong Chicago house anthem 'Rock Da House' highlighting it's past, referring to heroes such as Robert Armani, Paul Johnson and all the wonderful traxxmen around the world. 'Psycho' is a catchy melodic groover, a bit twisted with big key-changes."

BREAK 3000/ADAM KROLL: Discotronic 12" (MBF 12007). $9.00

"Peter Gijsseders, one half of Dirt Crew joins Traum artist Adam Kroll in this disco-hi energy house slammer 'Discotronic'. A perfect summer tune, uplifting with a slight french twist to it, whereas 'Lick It' stays deep with mighty chords and small vocal stabs. The duo that for the first time produced a record together, is an exiting project of bringing different ideas together for Traum's house imprint."

MYCOPHILE (UK):*BOHMAN, ADAM: Last Orders CD (MYCO 03). $16.00

Solo album by this Morphogenesis member. The palette of sounds is generated from: prepared violin, wine glasses, balalaika, home-made stringed instruments, muted trumpet, wire brush on tiles, springs, toy telephone, tapes (bells, trumpet, animals, etc.). The emphasis is still on collagist forms, but this has a different sort of density to proper Morphogenesis releases — hard to pin down, but definitely a variant. Processed experimental sounds, from lovely, crinkling drones to louder noise frequencies. Recorded '95-97, produced by Michael Prime. Limited stock.

MYSTIC (SWEDEN):*VA: Psychedelic Experience Vol. 3: Psychedelic Illusions CD (MYSTIC 10). $19.00

"We're happy to offer volume 3 of the ultimate psychedelic 60s CD compilation, subtitled 'Psychedelic Illusions'. All material taken from the rarest US 45s to appear for the first time on CD. The lysergic line up consists of: Jimmy White & The Relations, Perpetual Motion Workshop, Steve Akin, Tears, Section Five, One Of Hours, Finnigans Wake, Crosstown Bus, Electric Company, Elastic Prism, We Who Are, Lawson & 4 More, Hinge, Flyght, Grapple, Inferno, Kensington Forest, Logic Circuit, Missing Lynx, Popeo Stillo & The Companions, Renaissance Fair, David Santo, Scorpio Tue and Wild Things. 70 intoxicating minutes of mind melting sounds."

BLUE'S MEN, THE: Prohibido Prohibir 10" (MYSTIC 11). $19.00

"So you thought you heard it all? Well, I bet you haven't heard this one. The Blue's Men were from Argentina and their sole LP release is the rarest 60s beat/garage/weirdo release from over there. It wasn't even listed in the comprehensive Argentinean discography book released last year. The big time Argentinean collectors simply didn't know of it. The Blue's Men's sound is great garage rock with deranged bursts of fuzztone guitar and bizarre lyrics (in English) with song titles like 'The Day the World Fried My Brain' and 'Reflections of a Sun Freakout'. This might lead you to think its psych schmalz, but no, no, no. It's garage rock and deranged stuff from hell, with a lead singer sounding like Elvis o.d.ing on cough syrup. Limited edition 500 copies."

ORANGE PEEL: LP (MYSTIC 12). $21.00

"Yes we're here to blow all jaded 60s record collectors' minds, again. You thought you heard it all? Well, I bet you haven't heard this one. Totally unknown US mid-60s guitar twanger monster from 1965-6. Freaky, raw, and fucked up vocal and instrumental tracks with way out wild and crude guitar interaction and deranged vocals that goes beyond most anything. Yes, this LP is a totally unique killer and not like hundreds of other rare but boring US garage LPs. This is the major missing piece in all 60s garage rock collections. Limited to 500 copies."

VA: The Psychedelic Experience Vol. 3 LP (MYSTIC 15). $19.00

"Mind blowing acid punk compilation. Unknown monster 60s garage 45s (no boring reissue repeats) by freaked-out looser teens dropping LSD, jumping off rooftops and chewing the bark off trees. Chainsaw-fuzz guitars soaked in a vat of high-grade Owsley acid. 100% acid punk, no hippies or flowers. This compilation will blow you're little mind to bits. Including: Captain Crunch & The Crew, Stonemen, Beggars Opera, Famen, Finnegan's Wake, Peabody Hermitage, Them USA, Logic, Golden Grass, Mirrors Image, Electric Company, One Of Hours and Jimmy White & The."

MYSTIC FIRE VIDEO:*DEREN, MAYA: Experimental Films (1943-1959) DVD (MFV 7649 DVD). $29.00

"From the early 1940's until her death in 1961, Maya Deren evoked and exemplified the American avant-garde movement virtually by herself. Her first film, Meshes Of The Afternoon, set the tone for the decade and linked the movement to the older European avant-garde films of Cocteau and Bunuel." — Cecil Starr, The New York Times. "Intensely personal, symbolic and surreal films that reveal her deepest, darkest fantasies. She's Fellini and Bergman wrapped in one gloriously possessed body. Watching these films can change forever your concept of what cinema can be." — L.A. Weekly. Contents: Meshe Of The Afternoon, At Land, A Study In Choreography For Camera, Ritual In Transfigured Time, Meditation On Violence, The Very Eye Of Night. DVD edition. B/W. 76 Minutes.

NARITA (UK):*JOHNSON, ADAM: Malk EP 12" (NRT 001EP). $10.00

"Miami's admirable Merck imprint finally delivers the first release on their brand new off-shoot label — Narita. Expect some seriously uncompromising upbeat tunes over the coming months from a label that will focus on the deeper end of the dancefloor — delving deep into a tweaked twist on the classic 4/4 machinations of the motor city, via a distinct Miami-tagged restructuring....but more of that later. For the meantime, the first release on the label comes from Merck's very own dubwise operator Adam Johnson. Malk unleashes five of the most advanced four-square tracks taken from his acclaimed Chigiliak album. Demonstrates beautifully just why he has already been handpicked by labels such as Warp and Musik aus Strom for compilation inclusions. These tracks have never been on vinyl before."

(A)PENDICS.SHUFFLE: The Diligent Puzzle 12" (NRT 002EP). $10.00

"The Diligent Puzzle EP' is the second 12" by [a]pendics.shuffle aka Ken Gibson aka Eight Frozen Modules. All the tracks have been constructed and re-constructed by the man himself in beautiful Echo Park, California. From the outset, Ken adopts a measured, but suitably effects-driven, spaced out dubby techno approach. Tracks build from skeletal fragments of bit friendly percussive buzz, into a steadier mesh of melodic syllables and organic bass, pushing the beats straight to the dancefloor's head. Ken applies a refined template of micro-house adjustments, to the deep funk of all tracks on offer. The order of the day is heady, thoroughly dancefloor friendly techno: equally at home in smoked filled clubs or in the widescreen environment of outdoors parties. Rocking."

NARNACK:*FALL, THE: The Real New Fall LP CD (NCK 7018CD). $12.00

"This album is the strongest album in many years and truly is The Real New Fall LP. This album carries the excitement and freshness of early Fall. The Fall focuses everything that made them great onto one album avoiding filler and laziness. Mark E. Smith clearly orchestrates the sound and mood of each song with plenty of haunting back up vocals. The Fall manage to combine off-kilter beats with exciting, catchy as fuck building rhythms. The guitar hooks in the verse bring the vocal majesty of Mark E. Smith chorus's to full fruition. Every word is discernable, carried with confidence no matter how much alcohol was consumed. The lyrics seem wiser but definitely not more sober. It's a brooding swirl of dark, dancey, songs full of electronic blurs that acts like a shot of some bad coke in the mainline. Yet throughout, the wit and charm of Mark E. Smith permeates each track. There's no need to beat anyone over the head. But this is the Fall, taking a step forward as a band. This is Mark E. Smith reclaiming his throne."

FALL, THE: The Real New Fall LP LP (NCK 7018LP). $10.00

LP version.

NART RECORDS:*FREAKS AMOUR: Regressive Music For Mind And Body LP (NART 9001). $8.50

Obscure private release from 1990, of "Connecticut's Premier Improvisational Music Ensemble." Last copies, for real.

NATIONAL RECORD LABEL:*GOLDEN: Apollo Stars CD (NRL 001 CD). $13.00

First release on Trans Am's new imprint. "Golden formed in the dead of winter 1993, in blustery Oberlin Ohio. This perseverance, along with their synthesis of sub-equatorial sublimation and swamp-fried blues, allows Golden to weather the storms of rock-and-roll adversity."

GOLDEN: Apollo Stars LP (NRL 001 LP). $11.00

LP version.

NATURE (ITALY):*PASSARANI, MARCO: 6 Katun CD (NAT 2117 CD). $15.00

"Straight outta Planet Roma, Italy, underground electronic maverick Marco Passarani brings us his third studio album 6 Katun and his first for his own Nature label. His sound (initially influenced more by UR and early Detroit sounds) has morphed into a more abstract terrain of broken beats, electro and melodic discordance. Joining the dots between labels such as Skam, Rephlex, Musik Aus Strom and Markant, Passarani's tale is one fused with emotion and dynamics pushing the very boundaries of hip hop, electro, industrial, funk, techno and ambient into a polyrhythmic fusion of new and challenging music. 6 Katun ends Passarani's first production cycle and in doing so heralds the beginning of a new phase for both artist and label. 6 Katun is full of new and inspired ideas, highlighting the dedication and high quality of the new Roman Empire, which remains one of the most productive and underestimated European City's of sonic influence. The time has come and 6 Katun is the irrefutable evidence."

VA: Mission Three (Establishing Electronix Network) CD (NAT 2121 CD). $15.00

"This is the second compilation coming out on Nature Records that finally is putting out a new album since the last Monomorph release. This is the kick-start of the new season that will bring new works from J's Pool, Ambit 3 (a new band from Rome), Passarani and more new acts. The compilation once more aim to represent the network of electronic musicians that share the same attitude in music even if they come from different countries, proving that there's one big family trying to keep the underground sound of experimentation in dance music pure and fresh. The 3rd mission features artists from Italy as usual (such as Passarani, Jolly Music, Mat101, Monomorph, Prodamey Crew, Amptek and the new band Ambit 3), from USA (Adult / Ersatz Audio, Takeshi Muto / Schematic), from UK (Geiom / Neo Ouija, J's Pool / Nature Records), from Germany (Keen K / 8000 Trak, Scarcubem / Heimelektro) from Belgium (Disturbot / Surreal Sound) showing a wide vision of styles in experimental dance music that Nature wants to represent."

VA: Mission Three (Establishing Electronix Network) 2LP (NAT 2121 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

AMBIT3: Enwrapped CD (NAT 2122 CD). $12.00

"The return of Nature records in your recordshop has been signed by Ambit3, a new band from Rome. Ambit3 is formed by Andrea Angelini, Davide d'Onofrio and Fabio Scalabroni, three pretty young and talented guys that have been contributing to the local Roman scene since three, four years. Finally Ambit3 have put together some tracks to deliver a mini album, just an appetizer of what will come next. A journey into romantic melodies driven by pulsing electro-ish beats that represent their attitudes and feelings: their music is made to stimulate emotions creating sonic landscapes but also giving you a fresh groove, trying to combine the dance of both body and mind. The Ambit3 project started in 2001, but the guys had some solo experiences when they were running a very limited label called Syncretic (only two releases were out). Their influences go from contemporary electronica to the early Detroit techno, from hip hop to classic and new jazz."

AMBIT3: Enwrapped LP (NAT 2122 LP). $12.00

LP version.

RAIDERS OF THE LOST ARP: 4 CD (NAT 2125CD). $19.00

"Raiders of the Lost Arp 4 is the first solo album from Mario Pierro (aka the tall one from Jolly Music and Mat101 fame). He started the Raiders Of The Lost Arp project in 2001 with the aim of providing the audience with a late night dance sound composed with classic electro/techno beats and deep soulful melodies. This album becomes a virtual night drive through sonic highways surrounded by huge buildings and neon lights: a work that recalls certain electronic atmospheres, where human soul and mechanic drum-patterns ride together into the dimly lit city soundscape. Simply titled 4 it further highlights the jazz & soul within Mario's electro/techno rhythmic patterns and the emergence of a real Roman techno-funk sound."

RAIDERS OF THE LOST ARP: 4 2LP (NAT 2125LP). $19.00

Double LP version.

RAIDERS OF THE LOST ARP: 3 12" (NAT 2126 EP). $9.00

"Nature returns after a long break with a pre-release of the forthcoming Raiders of the lost Arp album. Raiders Of The Lost Arp are actually the same guys as Jolly music and Mat 101 (to give you an idea of its quality) These pre-release contains a great funk driven house/electro track called 'Highway' (a playful cocktail of Bangkok impact, Jolly music, Kevin 'Reese' Saunderson and a bit of Kool and the Gang). The tracks gets the remix treatment by Marco Passarani and gets restyled into a old school KMS, Reese kind of techno track wich rocks the dancefloors for sure Then there is a bonus track called 'Miles'. 3 great tracks from Rome which will be perfect in many electro,techno and house sets all over the world."

FRANCESCO: Moonroller 12" (NAT 2127EP). $10.00

"As we know from Marco Passarani's releases and Raiders of the Lost Arp and Jolly music (Both projects Francesco is involved), and in general the releases from Nature and Pigna, you know that you can expect some of the nicest music. Francesco comes with 3 dance floor orientated tracks somewhere in between Metro area, Raiders of the Lost Arp and classic techno by Kevin Saunderson. 3 tracks in the vein of Francesco's recent works on Pigna. Funking techno-ish tracks with a house, disco feel."

NATURE SOUNDS:

AESOP ROCK/I SELF DEVINE/CAGE: Numbil Want it All/Middletown 12" (NSD 003EP). $5.50

"The 12" comes equipped with 3 exclusive cuts from hip-hop's underground favorites Aesop Rock, Cannibal Ox & Cage. Aesop delivers one of his best songs since 'Labor Days' with his witty commentary on the war. Cage contrasts and rips the fast paced flip side to shreds courtesy of Nature Sounds in-house beatsmith Dev One (Masto Killa, MF Doom). These tracks are from the Nature Sounds compilation Convexed."

NEDS (JAPAN):

MSRB: Ultimate Ambiance LP (NEDS 1). $20.00

More nicely wrapped hand-in-the blender Japanese noise. Edition of 400. From a long time ago, still seem to be sitting on our shelf... Limited stock.

NEO OUIJA (UK):

GEIOM: Sellotape Flowers 2LP (NEO 006 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

SICA: You Are Not Milk Machines 12" (NEO 007). $8.00

"Matthew Itkin and Rami Abraham, hailing from Baltimore, Maryland (US), have been formulating their unique experiments in sound sculpting for just over a year now. Subtle ambience, relaxed squeaks, tempered clip-hop, and instrumental piano distortions are blended to perfection on 'You Are Not Milk Machines'. It's definitely a peculiar formula that Sica use, teasing you into the open with their casual electric manipulations before leaving you lost in the ether longing for more melody to lift your thoughts. Another example of effortlessly classy (experimental) listening music from the Neo Ouija label."

ACCELERA DECK: Digital Headrest LP (NEO 009 LP). $13.00

LP version.

INFANT: Growing Up CD (NEO 012 CD). $15.00

"Andrew Fearn also known as Infant first came to Neo Ouija's attention 2 years ago as a long time friend of the producer Geiom (Skam, City Centre Offices, Neo Ouija). Infant contributed to Geiom's fine remix EP 'Cut and Pressed' and also appeared on the first Cottage Industries compilation. Growing Up is Infant's debut album, an album of beautiful arrangements and pop sensibilities where Infant has developed and cultivated a quaint, idyllic place in which the listener can totally emerge themselves and relax in. Beautiful melodies, intricate programming and outstanding production all conspire to create a highly emotional and involving electronic landscape."

VA: Annexe - Cottage Industries 2 CD (NEO 013 CD). $18.00

"The second volume of the Neo Ouija compilations, with tracks from up and coming new artists and also established artists such as Funkarma, EU, Sense, Bauri and Kettel. The idea of this compilation was to bring together a network of electronic artists from a wide spectrum of the globe to offer their skills and sound, but also signaling the common bond between each artist, whether it be from Poland or Russia or even the USA, that we all share the same enthusiasm for beautifully crafted electronica. Here at Neo Ouija this is what we call world music!" Artists include: Sense, Amberdextrous, Funkarma, Sica, Novel 23, Lackluster, Bauri, Kettel, Bauri vs Yellow, Proem, Phonex, Maps & Diagrams vs Pem, Idmonster, Xela, Qeshi, EU, Tandy, ENV(ître), Sica, Kettel vs Pem, Ilkæe.

FUNKARMA: Elaztiq EP 12" (NEO 014). $8.00

"At last a new EP by Funkarma is here following their critically acclaimed album for Solid State. The Funcken brothers have released their music on labels such as MAS, DUB, On, Prospect, Eat This Records and now return with their latest opus 'Elaztiq' on the highly rated Neo Ouija label. Building on the existing Funkarma sound formula of heavy beats and dark undertones with gorgeous melodies, 'Elaztiq' has a very unique sound, not to say that it doesn't incorporate many facets of modern electronica. A dark and melancholy mood drips from each track, pushed and shoved slowly by strong, crackling beats and agonizing strings. 'Elaztiq' is a permeating mind excursion in dark and creative electronica, which we feel is outstanding. Here at Neo Ouija we feel proud and honoured to have such luminaries as Funkarma releasing their music through us and later on in the year we will be releasing a Funkarma album as a follow up to 'Elaztiq'."

BAURI: Slacker Journal 2LP (NEO 015 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

KETTEL: Smiling Little Cow CD (NEO 016 CD). $15.00

"Kettel is best known for his releases on Mike Paradinas' (μ-ziq) Planet Mu label and the Dutch based DUB Imprint run from Clone. His debut album for Neo Ouija uniquely captures an abundance of structured beats and an abstract dose of downbeat rhythms. With Kettel's (not Kettle) debut full length, a vivid quantity of subdued beats and tweaked melodic bursts have turned this producer into a quality sound engineer with a focused view. Kettel's debut changes the entire perspective into one that is chilled out, relaxed, and teaming with melodic simplicity."

KETTEL: Smiling Little Cow 2LP (NEO 016 LP). $17.00

Double LP version.

SICA: Partially Function Stub CD (NEO 017 CD). $15.00

"Matthew Itkin and Rami Abraham hailing from Baltimore, Maryland (USA) have been formulating their unique experiments in sound sculpting for just over a year now as Sica. Subtle ambience, relaxed squeaks, tempered clip-hop, and instrumental piano distortions seem to crash together peacefully on Partially Function Stub, Sica's debut album. The tracks are all exquisitely crafted boasting an unparalleled attention to detail that is one of Neo Ouija's hallmark characteristics. Definitely a peculiar formula for the Sica landscape, and a release that may put Neo Ouija in a comfortable position right in line with many other labels striving to attain this particular style of (experimental) listening music."

XELA: For Frosty Mornings And Summer Nights CD (NEO 018 CD). $15.00

"With a classically trained background and a love of everything from good old fashioned indie music to classic Hip Hop productions and experimental explorations, Xela has come up with an IDM formula which taps into all those definitive archetypes that attracted us to the embryonic electronic scene in the first place. And herein lies the genius of For Frosty Mornings...: a first listen only really displays fantastically rich production and an intimate love of tones that very evidently have taken influence from all the good electronic music that you could bring to mind in one go. Listen a bit closer, however, a second, third time, and what you discover is something altogether unbelievable. Fans of Shuttle 358, Arovane, Dabrye, Lexauncult, Brian Eno and all points beyond and either side will do well to check this album out, live with it for a while..... and fall in love."

DERU: Pushing Air CD (NEO 019 CD). $15.00

"Deru has previously come to our attention with his excellent contribution to the most recent installment in Mille Plateaux's Clicks and Cuts series, a blistering downcast blend of hip hop constuctions and deep micro-emissions that really stood out alongside a strong, more established line-up. This is an apt follow-up to Xela's masterpiece, finding in itself a love for the b-beats and the midnight tones, both ambient and syncopated, always deep. 'Soulik' is a real standout, the sound of a marimba, or a vibraphone of sorts presenting the lilting melody in sequence, a squashed stretch of reverberated hip hop beats, underground bass movements and tones, all produced with that fragility that is so addictive and moving. The album is interspersed with 5 mini-sequences or interludes, cut-up transition points that add to the overall cinematic effect that's at play throughout a brilliant album."

DERU: Pushing Air LP (NEO 019 LP). $13.00

LP version.

VERBOSE: Observe CD (NEO 020 CD). $15.00

"Allan Richmond is Verbose from England, and with a sense of good timing this beautiful, big-hearted, emotional work lands for autumnal mists and mellow evenings, spent in or out. A similar sensibility to Xela and Deru but with a refined delivery: this may still be idm, but looks to push the envelope, to swell the gourd beyond any restrictions of genre, out into the open fields of just good music. 'Socallit' presents an uncompromising beginning, tough beats, midnight melodies, pushing a developed, percussive manifesto which always remains driven by a sculptural, considered approach to melody. 'Alloneword' makes dramatic use of this winning disparity, always somewhere present at the core of much of our favourite electronic music: while 'Coinop' ties up a satisfying first side of wax with more cantering rhythms and exultant melody. CD bonus 'Misnomer' ties more nifty programming to a winning piece of square, fat bassline, but the compensation for vinyl lovers rests in the lower register pianos, and throaty hums of 'Theonlyreasonwhy', building on and up. 'Tombola' again delights with padding drums, addictive cross-rhythms, electronics overlaid with a human, fragile, gorgeous piano. 'Themeshark' provides a more than epic coda, diminishing gracefully, bowing out after an album, both fresh and classic."

VERBOSE: Observe LP (NEO 020 LP). $13.00

LP version.

VA: Cottage Industries 3 - Vestibule & Separate CD (NEO 021 CD). $16.00

"This third volume of the Cottage Industries series is by some distance the most accomplished, reflecting the artistic involvement of John Xela in conjunction with label owner Lee Norris, fashioning that rarest of compilations, one with no duff tracks. Xela's 'This Moment Will Last A Lifetime' was written exclusively for this collection, and it sums up the excitement this brightest of new talents in 2003, a deep as you like rolling bassline, half speed hip hop construction and a decidedly wistful acoustic guitar. Sheer magic. Elsewhere, RJ Valeo loans 'Filter' from his amazing Type album, and Parisian Julien Neto drops the churchical method of 'Voy', completing an impressive showing from the Type contingent. There's also a strong international flavour to the artists present here. Berliner Apparat comes fully correct with some kinetic IDM. Helios, from New England, delivers an awesome piece, sad and graceful isolated piano over some funeral drums. In addition, there's Sleepy Town Manufacture from Russia, Pandatone from New York, Greg Davis and Don Mennerich, providing some of the brightest highlights in this consistently strong album. Fitting that the album concludes with Xela and Metamatics in collaboration, this title track condensing everything that's good here: heart, soul, low end and melody in spades."

FACTION: The End of Tel Aviv CD (NEO 022CD). $16.00

"Yair Etzioni and Rani Golan are two such individuals making music in this city, although they shun the influence of their immediate surroundings in favour of a more disconnected, unusual approach to Mediterranean music making. Naming their project 'Faction' to highlight their musical alienation from the mainstream of their immediate environment, The End Of Tel Aviv is a record that explores the unusual complexities of growing up and living in a city that is at one and the same time brilliantly modern and painfully attached to its past. Citing the work of Brian Eno, Biosphere, 4AD, Boards of Canada, Autechre, Ulrich Schnauss, My Bloody Valentine, Anthony 'Shake' Shakir, Komet and Alva Noto as being of major influence, Faction somehow try to trace the musical path between the heavy digital sounds of labels like Raster-Noton and the warm blurry feel of 4AD. The End Of Tel Aviv, their debut album, is about the twilight of an era, a trip through a very personal image of Tel Aviv, from its neon offices, to the old disintegrating Bauhaus buildings and from there to the border of Tel Aviv and Jaffa. Where east and west meet. Like Tel Aviv this album is full of the salty flavor of the sea. If u listen quietly u can hear the sound of splashing waves."

APPARAT: Shape Modes EP CD (NEO 023CD). $13.00

"Sascha Ring, aka Apparat, has been quite the busy man these last few years. Manning the controls as producer and knob twiddler for renowned female operator Ellen Allien, Sascha has also continued to run his highly acclaimed Shitkatapult label, together with compadre T. Raumschmiere, as well as collaborating with Radiohead's favourite electronic men of the moment Modeselektor under the 'Moderat' moniker for Ellen's Bpitch Control imprint. Shape Modes is Sascha's debut for the Neo Ouija imprint. Shape Modes is all about these malfunctioning machines. Now that the scores of copyists and programmers have been safely returned to their bedrooms, what's left is artists willing to progress the format, advance with sounds, showstopping music. Just check 'Get out of your krib', for its delicious tempo and even more tempting low end theories, a feisty and palpable thump offsetting the melodic fireworks, testing the boundaries and evidently a move forward. Encapsulating digital and analogue processes, involving abstract forms within familiar song structures."

APPARAT: Shape Modes EP 12" (NEO 023EP). $13.00

Vinyl EP version.

PANDATONE: Lemons and Limes CD (NEO 024CD). $16.00

"Pandatone hails from New York. One listen to this debut album by Trevor Sias confirms what many felt on hearing his initial contributions to the Neo Ouija 'Cottage Industries' compilation series — here was a voice begging for a bigger canvas. Fitting into the latest currents of the New York city leftfield Flora and Fauna, moments here bring to mind a more electronic take on the activities of The Books, perhaps comparable at points to some of Zammuto's own early CDr only releases. 'Check 'Bureen' or the benign strummed and recorded folktronic 'Broadwalk' for an idea. Equally 'go f7' keys into some of the elements of New York serialism a la Steve Reich, yet adding some 'dance' chording bringing the style fully up to date. Eclectic-acoustic sound collages, glitched laptop shenanigans, inexplicably strange and yet curiously warm feeling — Pandatone has tapped into an unusual and yet absolutely crucial current within the zeitgeist."

NEPLESS (ITALY):

CHOPIN, HENRI: Le Corpsbis & Co. CD (NEP 1001). $15.00

"An impressive document of Concrete Poetry. This CD is an anthology of previously unreleased recordings from 1983-1994, electronic explorations of the voice, voice texture, vibrations of the larynx, joined by effective use of the tape-recorder and electronics. Audio Poems (not to be confused with 'poetry' in the traditional sense) that are based in vocal abstractions (noises) and mutated by electroacoustics and reverberations. Includes booklet in 4 languages with graphic reproductions of typewriter poems." Last copies available, now at a reduced price.

NESTA RECORDINGS (GERMANY):

RAZOOF: Montego Bay CD (NESTA 007 CD). $15.00

"It's about time that Cologne based label Nesta Recordings finally introduces the first artist CD release. A showcase album, that is. After the release of six deep, highly danceable 12" vinyl-EPs crafted by the label owner himself, Razoof now brings it all together on CD format: the very best of Nesta tracks so far, on the spot and in the mix for those who don't own a record player (by now). Or those who enjoy a nice DJ selection packed with hip-active club tracks of a different kind. 'Deep-dub-tech-house-brazil-afro-reggae-minimal-vibration-style' would have been the right word. Welcome to Montego Bay. Most of the Nesta music, by the way, is produced and crafted in tight collaboration with Cologne's minimal heroes Manes and Axel of Salz fame."

NETWORK CLASSICS (UK):

10TH PLANET: Strings of Life - Ashley Beedle Remixes 12" (NWK T088C). $9.00

"The 10th Planet, Strings of Life, written by Mayday/M.James. Based upon a live recording of 'Strings of Life' by Rhythm Is Rhythm (Derrick May and special guest Carl Craig) at Town and Country Club, London 14/9/89. Bewildered by the blitz of remixes, remakes and re-runs of 'Strings of Life'? Worry no further about the flood of plastic tekno copies — the classic Ashley Beedle deconstruction of the summer of love icon theme is being re-released as No. 1 in a series of 'Network Classics' re-issues. But this is no regular re-issue! The A side is the often talked about, by techno scholars and collectors, but never ever before released mix — basically Ashley lovingly bringing the Derrick and Carl appearance at the Town and Country to life (complete with crowd noises) with added production. Lovingly presented in a variation of the original Network sleeve and catalogue number, this is a limited edition vinyl only release to treasure."

NETWORK RETRO (UK):

TRUE FAITH/RHYTHM ON THE LOOSE: Take Me Away/Break Of Dawn 12" (NWK 2000). $9.00

"The first of the new Network Retro Back 2 Back Classics 'Millennium Series'? As the world goes old school crazy, Network joins in with a cracker of a double A-side. True Faith was co-written and co-produced by techno god Jeff Mills when he still lived in Detroit and called himself The Wizard. Put together as a sister disc to Inner City's 'Big Fun' it did nothing for 2 years and then suddenly became a massive rave anthem in the UK. Rhythm On The Loose's 'Break Of Dawn' originates from Leicester rather than Detroit but it's as good as it gets. A disco sample, an intro from Twin Peaks and full on house hysteria."

NEU (GERMANY):

ALTHOFF, KAI: Fanal LP (NEU 006LP). $19.00

"First Solo-record by well-known artist and musician Kai Althoff (Cologne). Melancholic Synth-compositions reminiscent to early Schlampeitziger and experimental, electronic music of the 70s (Conrad Schnitzler). Edited by Berlin-based Galerie Neu and limited to 500 copies."

NEUE BERLINER INITIATIVE (GERMANY):

VA: Neue Berliner Initiative Sampler CD (NBI 001 CD). $16.00

Theoretically the first release on this Berlin-based label, featuring tracks from: Kyborg (Raster), Farben (Klang Elektronik), Produkt (Raster), Move D (Source), N. Grandl, Salon, Trike, Kein Babel & Shir Khan. Moves nicely from Raster-styled lo-movement techno to some almost Kaoroke Kalk-like bliss-lifts, pleasant listening throughout, with the exception of a bizarre pop-culture/Mikeal Jackson construct by Shir Khan that has somehow been chosen to close the disc.

VA: Neue Berliner Initiative LP (NBI 03). $13.00

2nd compilation LP on this Berlin-based electronic label, featuring tracks from: T. Raumschiere, Brigade Mondaine, Grandle, Kyborg, Allures Lassives, Kyborg vs. Nino.

NEUTON (GERMANY):

VA: HouseCouture (Vol. 1 mixed by DJ Kom) CD (NEUHS 002). $15.00

Equally deep second volume, features tracks by Nick Holder, Jan Driver, Toni & Stephanie, Men From The Nile, Rhythm Master, BC Crew, Roy Davis, Boo Williams, Kate/Olivia Martinez, Peace Division, Ernst Viebeg, Diarr Her, Moon Man, Sleazy D, Clubheroes, Gene Farris & The Last Disco Superstars.

A mix CD by Gamez featuring selections from: Wishmountain, Leandro Gamez, Analog Confusion, Polyvinyl, Rotary Outputs, DJ Rush, Todd Sines, Klunk, Daniel Erbe, Groof, Cic, Section One, Slobodan, Christian Borée.

VA: Neuhouse: Slightly Different CD (NEUHS 001). $15.00

1997 release, the first in Neuton (large German dance distributor)'s series of underground house mix CDs. House music is generally painful to define, roughly associated with the lineage of post-disco music that continued on into the electronic era once that genre was thoroughly vilified into non-existence. Very repetitive by nature, house music that is heavily filtered/phased and sublimely mixed can entertain many psychedelic-trance effects, which these Neuton mix CDs illustrate as well as anything I've heard in a similar vein. The bridge that some listeners may have to jump off to access these effects might be excessively steep, but the rewards are there for the properly attuned. This first volume is mixed by Heiko M/S/O, resident DJ at the Wild Pitch Club. Features tracks from Blaze, Chris Cray, Epic Desire feat. Saverio, Mark Grant, The Jammy Dodgers, Oscuro P, New Century Souls, Peace Division, Lo Soul, Robotic Movements, Urban Farmers, Studio 54, Jeremiah, Wulf n' Bear & Chris Brann.

VA: Kompakt Köln präsentiert Michael Mayer CD (NEUHS 003CD). $16.00

The third volume in the Neuhouse album-mix series is the mind-blowing Cologne-scene mix CD you've been waiting for, featuring tracks from: Kandis (Karaoke Kalk), Sanasol (Matthew Herbert), Forever Sweet (Sweet Reinhard Voigt, on Ladomat), OZ Artists, Byron C., Forever Swestephan G., Reinhard Voigt, Soyler Green, The Modernist (J. Burger, on Eat Raw/Harvest), Christian Morgenstern, DOM (Mike Ink), W-Moon, Zimt (Michael Mayer, remixed by J. Paape) & OMI." Michael Mayer (of the Kompakt record store from Cologne) in the mix reveals his wisdom and understanding for aligning electronic music of a cool, restrained style via atmospheres, thus giving the new sensuality of minimal Techno the long overdue, encyclopedic forum. Mayer proves talent for exposing subliminal melancholic moods via gentle, emotional vinyl-gliding: e.g. from constructivist rhythms accompanied by slightly shifted harmonies out of the famous Cologne school (he actually is one of the top graduates of) to musical relationship, which initially didn't appear to be that obvious. The playful mix-caravan — rolling and sensitively syncopated — equals a respectful presentation of current club values: extremely balanced soul life, nordic-cool productions of unfathomable deepness, dinner and down-jacket House, whirring motors of exciting groove machines, mathematic beats and institution, unconventional funky coolness stirring up the mathematic element, hits of minimal tradition including surreal psychedelia and pot-heads' metaphors, vocals which everybody will agree to and of course the Cologne ascendant to Detroit. Not warmth is radiated, but the desire for warmth — lonely club hearts will find to each other via the reserved cuddle-coefficient. Splendid performance!"

VA: Slightly Different Vol. 2 CD (NEUHS 005CD). $15.00

VA: Microfunk - A Klickhouse Compilation 2CD (NEUM 001CD). $19.00

"It's rather the academic view of so called Clicks&Cuts (or simply Klickhouse) music; the intention to create and compile a contribution to the electronic music fans, was and still is, to work, to share and to exchange with each other; the DJ, the artists and the labels you love; mainly small labels based in Montreal, Paris, Cologne, Napoli, which share a certain, similar view of Klickhouse. It's amazing seeing all these great labels like Revolver, Logistic, Forcetracks, Dumb Unit, Sub Static doing what they do: pushing things in a creative way forward — what probably the major companies have lost on their marketing overswept business: creating and producing new music. Future music. Or how Mr. Afrika Bambaata back in the days used to say: searching for the right kind of funk. Microfunk showcases the finest in, including 4 brandnew tracks, carefully selected for the next music-lover of this very specific genre." Artists: Akufen, Extra Produktionen, Repair, Betrieb, Glowing Glisses, Swayzak, Tomas Jirku, Wesseling & Schrom, Defrag Sound Processing, M.I.A., Mitte Karaoke, Mri, Farben, Matthew Mercer, Alka, Jacksonelectronics, Andy Vaz, Antonelli Electric, Pantone, Boxtype, Broker/Dealer, Metope, Jackmate.

CLIC: Oui CD (NEUT 001). $17.00

A limited electronic music release, exclusively distributed via Alga Marghen. "Oui by Clic was first commissioned for an exhibition at the Centre d'Astronomie de St-Michel l'Observatoire during the day of the solar eclipse the 11th of August 1999. #### NEW ALBION:

CARDEW, CORNELIUS: We Sing For The Future! CD (NA 116). $14.50

Performed by Frederic Rzewski, piano. "Twenty years on, Cardew's music still provokes controversy. Even amongst his many admirers, his later 'political' music in particular creates unease and perhaps misgivings. The relation of the music to its 'programme' and to the lofty aims it purports to serve is problematic enough, so let us remind ourselves what Cardew himself wrote about this music in the seventies: 'I have discontinued composing music in an avant-garde idiom for a number of reasons: the exclusiveness of the avant-garde, its fragmentation, its indifference to the real situation in the world today, its individualistic outlook and not least its class character (the other characteristics are virtually products of this). "We Sing For The Future" is a composition based on a song. The song is for youth, who face bleak prospects in a world dominated by imperialism, and whose aspirations can only be realised through the victory of revolution and socialism. In the framework of a solo piano piece lasting about 12 minutes, something of this great struggle is conveyed. The music is not programmatic, but relies on the fact that music has meaning and can be understood quite straightforwardly as part of the fabric of what is going on in the world.' Rzewski's interpretations of these two works are wholly admirable, the performances compelling, and the two improvisations towards the conclusion of 'We Sing For The Future' — an unexpected bonus — are quite magnificent. He stretches the boundaries of style and musical language drawn up by Cardew without rupturing them, and, at the end of the improvisations, Cardew's music is ushered back, seamlessly and convincingly. In the second improvisation we are reminded of the great Bach/Liszt transcriptions; there can be no higher praise. Cardew would certainly have approved the inclusion of the improvisations and would have relished the verve and boldness of Rzewski's playing." — John Tilbury

TEITELBAUM, RICHARD: Blends CD (NA 118). $14.50

"Two extended works by Richard Teitelbaum for shakuhachi and synthesizer with percussion and bass accompaniment. Teitelbaum was one of the founders of the revolutionary MEV group in Rome, which explored live electroacoustic and collective improvisation in the 60's and 70's. Subsequent to that era he began work with the renowned shakuhachi master, teacher and composer, Yokoyama and began on a course of intercultural music. These works express his unique language and nuances of sound color which have given him a cult recognition among avant garde composers and audiences. Blends, 1977, a kind of circumnavigation, is an exploration of the shakuhachi's timbral world in an extended dialog with Moog synthesizers, a pairing that was quite controversial at the time. Kyotaku/Denshi, 1995, is more of an historical tour that follows a trajectory of Japanese history through the shakuhachi, from its roots of the travelling monks through various episodes of religious, artistic and secular events."

JEANRENAUD, JOAN: Metamorphosis CD (NA 120). $14.50

"Joan Jeanrenaud's journey to the present began on a small farm in Tennessee, school in Indiana, then followed with 20 years as the cellist of the Kronos Quartet. In 1999 she chose to leave the group and began to seek her identity as an individual artist. The six pieces on Metamorphosis are either written for her or arranged by her. They evolved during residencies over two years that became a solo show of the same name. The work is deeply personal and in its own way her tour of the instrument's colors and feelings in acoustic and electronic medium. Includes works by: Phillip Glass, Hamza El Din, Steve Mackey, Karen Tanaka, Mark Grey and Jeanrenaud.

NEW MANTRA (FRANCE):

VA: The Radioactive Tribute To Kraftwerk CD (NM 20302). $15.00

"The definitive tribute to the inventors of electronic music. While the mythical group is back, a radioactive tribute is returned to him through the Japanese, Swedish and German electronic scene: Señor Coconut, Dhiva, Buffalo Daughter?etc." Artists include: Señor Coconut, Hikashu, Teruo Nakano, Satoru Wono, Dhiva, Hajime Fukuma (P Model), Kimitaka Mastumae, Dhiva vs. Skibby, Makoto Inoue, Takkyo Ishino, Buffalo Daughter.

NEW RELIGION (UK):

DEGIORGIO, KIRK: Nairobi 12" (REG 061). $9.00

"Using his real name for the first time, 'Nairobi' and 'Unruly' feature all the funky, techno based elements of Kirk's original ground-breaking releases on his legendary ART label, but update them with a fresh creativity and all the hi-tech polish that 10 years of studio building can bring. And if you thought the future funk of 'Nairobi' and the smooth, stylish techno of 'Unruly' was good enough then Carl Craig's remix should be the icing on the cake. A new studio refit provided the perfect opportunity for one of Detroit's finest to produce one of his most club-worthy mixes since the days of Paperclip People — deep, moody and very Carl Craig. Perfect."

NEW TRANSATLANTIC (GERMANY):

CEIVER, JIRI: The Clickrunner EP 12" (NTA 014). $8.00

Four track EP by jiri.ceiver, who released a rather neglected minimal techno classic on Harthouse (label associations killed it).

NEW WORLD AQUARIUM (NETHERLANDS):

NEW WORLD AQUARIUM: Sign of Brady 12" (NWAQ 001). $9.00

"After two well received releases on Delsin and soon to be releases on Planet E & Peacefrog, now also the first release on the NWAQ label, run by the New World Aquarium collective themselves. This one is a bit on the slow side, combining Barry White-tactics with samurai-precision. Featuring the mystical one and our liaison in Medina, this is the perfect soundtrack for those intimate moments by the fireplace? Somewhere between Moodymann and Chain Reaction."

NEW WORLD RECORDS:

TAYLOR UNIT, CECIL: CD (NW 80201). $14.00

Two classic sessions from 1978 from this peak version of Cecil Taylor's Unit: Jimmy Lyons (alto sax), Raphé Malik (trumpet), Ramsey Ameen (violin), Sirona (bass), and Ronald Shannon Jackson (drums). "This record presents further evidence of his genius and awesome ability to work within the group context, in which he furthers his exploration of the piano 'as catalyst feeding material to soloists in all registers.' This music at times gets very intense. It will take you down forgotten little streams in your mind and swell them with rivers of sound as Taylor pours notes on your ears." — Spencer Richards.

TAYLOR, CECIL: 3 Phasis CD (NW 80303). $14.00

Second album from the same sessions as above, recorded 1978. "3 Phasis is a masterpiece, a testament to the perfectionism and unpredictability that go hand in hand in Taylor's music...The more you listen, the more you hear. For me, there is sometimes the impression of an inspired wizard and his five disciples conversing at midnight, chewing over ideas, rephrasing them, listening; at other times I'm attracted to the cathartic, exquisitely controlled violence. Cecil Taylor has brought to music a synthesis we've long waited for. 3 Phasis is one its landmarks." — Gary Giddins

USSACHEVSKY, VLADIMIR: Film Music CD (NW 80389). $14.00

1990 CD release of these scores from the 1960s. "One of the founders, with Babbitt, Luening and Sessions, of the Columbia-Princeton Electronic Music Centre in 1959, Ussachevsky has maintained a flexible attitude toward sound sources, and employs recordings of live sounds, analog studio, and computer generated material. In this he always differed from the originally quite restrictive approaches of the German pure electronic and French musique concrète schools. Though prepared for films, a medium that usually imposes considerable restrictions on a composer, both these scores were innovative and have considerable power. The 'Suite from No Exit' (1962) comes from the film of Sartre's Huis Clos directed by Orson Welles, while 'Line of Apogee' (1967) is the soundtrack of Lloyd Williams' film of the same name. Its great musical interest notwithstanding, the former is the usual kind of film score in that it is a background for spoken dialogue, whereas in 'Line of Apogee' there are few spoken words and Ussachevsky's music comments more directly on Williams' extraordinary flow of strange, sometimes dreamlike visual images. In both pieces this composer's favorite musical form, that of variations on several alternating themes, is in use, and the themes do not have traditional timbral or pitch characteristics. Consider for example his use of the human voice in 'No Exit', going from the electronically modified screams of the opening scene to the voices of distant children, etc., and on to the end, where the sound of men laughing is abruptly silenced by rifle fire." — Max Harrison, The Wire

BABBITT, MILTON: Philomel CD (NW 80466). $14.00

1995 CD that collects various early Babbitt compositions using electronics and/or tape, including his classic electroacoustic piece from 1964, 'Philomel' (which is excerpted on the Ellipsis Arts Ohm: Early Gurus of Electronic Music 1948-1980 3CD box). Featured works are: "Philomel" (for soprano, recorded soprano, and synthesized sound), "Phonemena" (1969, for soprano and piano), "Phonemena (1975, for soprano and tape), "Post-Partitions" (1966, for piano) and "Reflections For Piano and Synthesized Tape" (1975).

VA: Columbia-Princeton Electronic Music Center CD (NW 80521). $14.00

"Cut-rate selection of vault reels (dated from 1961 to 1973) from the first electronic music center to be established in the US. Compositions by İlhan Mimaroglu (distant tone-wash dedicated to Varèse), Bülent Arel (prime-era low-bit microtonal-blap, as primal as it gets), Ingram Marshall (a pure sound-discovery opus; molten lava rising to render downtown Decatur an impasse...), Alice Shields (voice and tape etudes of high-deviant sonics and junkyard source-mass), Charles Dodge (a somewhat melodic tone-study), and Daria Semegen (a heterodyning stereo-heavy monster). As vital as any of the INA/GRM/STEIM/SECAM/Darmstadt/Mills output, only surprisingly more obscure, and, by far, more damaged. Really." —Hrvatski

TUDOR/JOHN CAGE, DAVID: Rainforest II 2CD (NW 80540). $28.00

David Tudor: (live electronics); John Cage: (voice, pre-recorded tape). "This historic release of a simultaneous performance by David Tudor and John Cage of 'Rainforest II' and 'Mureau', recorded live by Radio Bremen on May 5, 1972, preserves the only surviving performance of the second of Tudor's Rainforest series. In addition, it documents one of the precious few recorded collaborations between these two visionaries. In 1970 Cage composed the piece called 'Mureau', in which phrases from Thoreau's journals (in particular, passages which touch on the subject of music) are used as the springboard for an elaborate collage. The resultant fabric combines elements of sense and nonsense, as it veers between contextual meaning and a sort of abstract, linguistic vocalise. In Cage's public readings of 'Mureau', he explored a number of performance variables?differences in tempo, vocal timbre, pitch, register, and dynamics. A similar range will be apparent, in fact, when listening to this recorded performance. This simultaneous performance of 'Mureau' and 'Rainforest II' took place in a large concert hall before an audience, rather than privately in a recording studio. Whereas in other performance realizations (such as their legendary Indeterminacy collaboration) the two men had been placed in separate isolation booths, here the two shared the same performance space, so that each could hear and see the other person's activity. In fact, Cage and Tudor sat quite close to one another at the center of the stage, Cage performing 'Mureau' as a four-channel realization — one live channel against three pre-recorded tracks, all of them his own voice?and Tudor actively engaged in real-time processing of Cage's vocal material, using it to generate electronic loudspeaker-filter events. Essential listening for anyone interested in the work of either composer."

LA BARBARA, JOAN: ShamanSong CD (NW 80545). $14.00

"Composer/performer Joan La Barbara has been an influential figure in experimental music since the early 1970s. She has devoted her career to the exploration of the human voice as a multi-faced instrument. ShamanSong features three premieres of vintage La Barbara 'sound paintings' of pensive beauty and spiritual resonance. ShamanSong is a concert suite comprised of selected excerpts from a film score. 'Plaintive descending chords of soft hammers striking an ancient Balinese gamelan instrument, tar and dumbek, shakuhachi, music box tines, rainstick and African rattles all are blended with sighs and whispers, lamentation and ululations, calls, cries, lullabies and vocal winds to weave a strange mystery...' 'Rothko' is a series of sound paintings designed to reflect the mood, texture and emotion of Mark Rothko's final paintings for this very special chapel — dark, intense, but with an inner light and moving figures that are sometimes heard, sometimes hidden."

SCHOTT, JOHN: Shuffle Play: Elegies for the Recording Angel CD (NW 80548). $14.00

"Shuffle Play is designed to be played in the 'random' or 'shuffle' mode of a CD player, reconfiguring the story it tells with each listening. However, because not all players have this feature, consideration was also given to the normal sequencing of tracks. It comprises 28 meditations on the history of recordings, including several tracks that use cylinder recordings from the earliest decade of recorded sound (1888-1900) — many of them previously unpublished — direct from the Edison archives in New Jersey. The idea was to develop the material from as many angles as possible: free improvisation, musique concrète, post-war composition, AACM-derived strategies, and pop music, to name a few." Features: Steve Adams, Beth Custer, Ben Goldberg, Dan Plonsey, Trevor Dunn, Gino Robair, Myles Boisen, etc.

FELDMAN/STEFAN WOLPE, MORTON: Choral Music of Morton Feldman and Stefan Wolpe CD (NW 80550). $14.00

Performed by the Choir of St. Ignatius of Antioch, New York City/Harold Chaney, conductor. Benjamin Ramirez, Thomas Kolor: (percussion); Stephen Foreman: (tuba). "Stefan Wolpe (1902-1972), one of the great teachers in twentieth century music, is also now recognized as one of its most significant composers. His 'Two Chinese Epitaphs', composed in Jerusalem in 1937, illustrates the composer's deep allegiance to socialist issues. He wrote the work swiftly and in anger, just after learning that the Basque town of Guernica had been bombed by the Fascists the previous week. He chose to set two poems by Louise Peter that decay, in a few short phrases of stark imagery, the atrocities committed against oppressed workers. The 'Four Pieces for Mixed Chorus' (1955) were composed for a contest sponsored by the government of Israel. It is a setting of four Hebrew texts — three from the Bible and one from Israeli poet Gershon Shofman. All the texts express hope for the new nation of Israel. Morton Feldman (1926-1987) studied with Wolpe for several years and was deeply influenced by his modernist aesthetic, particularly his interest in the visual arts. 'For Stefan Wolpe' (1986), for chorus and two vibraphones, is Feldman's tribute to his venerated teacher. It alternates between vocal and instrumental passages. The two never intermingle, even though Feldman lets the vibraphones ring into the voices. As is characteristic of his late music, the piece combines the quiet, atonal, austere textures of his earlier music (of which Christian Wolff in Cambridge [1963] and Chorus and Instruments II [1967] are stellar examples) with several new elements — greater duration, minimalist repetition, and bigger gestures. All five works are making their first appearance on CD. An indispensable addition to the discographies of both composers."

WHAT WE LIVE: Quintet For A Day CD (NW 80553). $14.00

What We Live: Lawrence Ochs (tenor and soprano saxophones), Dave Douglas, (trumpet), Wadada Leo Smith (trumpet), Lisle Ellis (bass), Donald Robinson (drums). "What a treat to hear five superb musicians, all of them splendid composers in their own right, creating spontaneous music of such formal richness and quiet splendor! The music unfolds with a measured sense of drama and inevitability that attests to the musical heights possible when such enormous compositional and virtuosic talents converge. Definitely not for the faint of heart, Quintet for a Day is challenging and contentious, yet richly rewarding on many levels."

MAXFIELD/HAROLD BUDD, RICHARD: The Oak of the Golden Dreams CD (NW 80555). $14.00

Important reissue of two historic minimalist albums, originally released on LP via the Advance label and out of print for decades now. Mastered from original tapes according to the composers original specifications. Packaged with informative liner notes by Kyle Gann, including an overview discography for seminal works within the field of minimalism. "This timely CD reissue combines two LPs from the Advance label — Richard Maxfield's Electronic Music and Harold Budd's The Oak Of The Golden Dreams — both containing seminal works which are key to a better understanding of the complex origins of minimalism. A mostly forgotten figure, Richard Maxfield (1927-1969) exerted a powerful influence over a broad range of composers through his classes at The New School. The works here predate the minimalist movement while forecasting a wide range of developments in the future of electronic work. The prophetic 'Pastoral Symphony' (1960) is composed of continuously generated electronic tones; while 'Bacchanale' (1963) is a musique concrète collage juxtaposing jazz with Korean folk music, spoken word, and various instrumental contributions, including Terry Jennings on saxophone. 'Piano Concert for David Tudor' (1961) draws its multifarious noises from a single source — antedating in that respect Stockhausen's 'Mikrofonie I' for amplified tam-tam (1964). Tudor plays live alongside a three-channel montage constructed from sounds made on the inside of the piano with chains, spinning a gyroscope on the strings, showering the strings with tiddlywink discs, and other unusual operations. 'Amazing Grace' (1960) mixes tape loops from two sources which are played back at various speeds, causing the fragments to overlap in complex ways, predating both Riley's and Reich's tape-loop pieces. If the Maxfield pieces represent the state of new music in the months before minimalism was born, Harold Budd's (b. 1936) works from 1970 reflect minimalism's initial impact. 'The Oak Of The Golden Dreams' was made on the Buchla Box which Budd uses here as an electric organ capable of the kind of fast modal improv, over an unchanging E-flat drone, that Terry Riley and La Monte Young had been doing on saxophone and piano. 'Coeur D'Orr' features a soprano sax improv against an electronic background on organ comprised of two tracks, one of which is another 1970 Budd work, the famous 'Candy Apple Revision'."

ZIPORYN, EVAN: *Amok! Tire Fire CD (NW 80565). $14.00

"Both works on this disc are extended pieces for full Balinese gamelan with various Western instruments. 'Tire Fire' is written for gamelan and electric guitars, while 'Amok' is scored for gamelan and digital sampler. In both pieces, Ziporyn explores the interpretation and blurring of boundaries which result from the interaction between Western technology and a Balinese gamelan. Artists: Gamelan Galak Tika, Robert Black (double bass), Eric Beyers, Mark Stewart (electric guitars), Yukiko Ueno (keyboard), Blake Newman (electric bass)."

POLANSKY, LARRY: *Lonesome Road (The Crawford Variations) CD (NW 80566). $14.00

"Larry Polansky (b. 1954), though known primarily for his work in the field of computer music, has produced a major addition to the keyboard literature, this massive theme-and-variations on Ruth Crawford Seeger's arrangement of the folk song 'Lonesome Road'. Inspired by his deep engagement with her music, 'Lonesome Road' (1988-89) is a prime example of Polansky's penchant for building large architectonic structures through complex transformational processes. The work is in three sections of seventeen variations each. This is the world-premiere recording of this mammoth piece, a wonderful amalgam of Ivesian pianism, gamelan patterns, jazz-tinged harmonies, and folk song. Its size and grandeur hark back to a pianistic outsider tradition of sui generis works and it is the most important American keyboard work since Frederic Rzewski's 'The People United Will Never Be Defeated.'"

VA: *Music From The ONCE Festival 1961-1966 5CD (NW 80567). $70.00

Long awaited historic first issue of recordings from this early 60s avant-garde festival. Elegantly packaged in 5 slimline CDs within a sturdy box, with a 138 page book of notes and photos. Over the top presentation. "Music From The ONCE Festival 1961-1966: Robert Ashley, George Cacioppo, Gordon Mumma, Roger Reynolds, Donald Scavarda, David Behrman, George Crewshay, Philip Krumm, Pauline Oliveros, Robert Sheff, Bruce Wise.

Ann Arbor, Michigan, seems an unlikely site for the establishment of a major avant-garde festival that would shake the new-music community. Tucked away in America's heartland, the city is equally removed from the Eastern metropolises whose artists pride themselves on sensing the pulse of the times, and from the nonconformist West Coast. Yet during the 1960s Ann Arbor played host to one of the most extraordinary adventures in American music history: the annual ONCE Festival and its nexus of related activities.

The primary aim of ONCE's founders — Robert Ashley, Gordon Mumma, George Cacioppo, Roger Reynolds, and Donald Scavarda — was to create a forum for the presentation of cutting-edge music. To this end they were phenomenally successful. Performers and composers — whether little-known or renowned — embraced the endeavor, demanding almost nothing in return. Perhaps most important, however, ONCE acted as a creative stimulus for its organizers. Scavarda describes the adventure as an explosion of pent-up energy: 'Suddenly we could write anything we wanted and have it heard.' And they did. The ONCE composers — and many guest artists — wrote a host of new works, some experimental, others more traditional.

What united the ONCE composers was their exploration of sound, whether through the medium of extended techniques on traditional instruments, electronic (or electronically modified) timbres, or the intersection of musical sounds with those of the environment. A major slice of ONCE's rich musical legacy — 35 works constituting six hours of music — is presented here, almost all for the first time. These pieces are as diverse in style as they are compelling in expression. This landmark set, the most comprehensive document ever released of this legendary event, is an opportunity for anyone interested in contemporary music to hear history in the making. Included in the set is a 140-page booklet with a lengthy scholarly essay by musicologist and biographer Leta Miller and numerous rare photos of ONCE personages and performances."

TENNEY, JAMES: *Selected Works 1961-1969 CD (NW 80570). $14.00

"The work of James Tenney (b. 1934) as a composer, theorist, performer, and teacher, is of singular importance in American music of the past four decades. He is by nature a quiet, almost publicity-shy musician, but his musical and theoretical works are steadily becoming widely known, despite the fact that few have been published and only a relatively small number, to this date, are readily available on recordings. This recording is a reissue of the 1992 Frog Peak/Artifact CD, the first recorded collection of James Tenney's music of the 1960s. Many of the pieces on this CD were realized at Bell Telephone Laboratories from 1961 to 1969, where Tenney used Max Mathews's digital synthesis program, which eventually became Music IV. This software became the model for many of the common computer music environments of the last forty years, and was the first system of its kind available to composers. Tenney's pieces from 1961-64 constitute the first significant and developed body of computer-composed and synthesized music by an American composer. Tenney was a very young composer when he wrote these pieces. He was working with a new medium, a technology that was still being developed, and a new aesthetic. It is perhaps easy to overlook the importance of the latter in the light of the tremendous technical and historical importance of these pieces — but it is characteristic of Tenney that he was not content just to explore the sonic and technical capabilities of a new technology. To this day, his work from this period remains an important example for composers who work with new technologies: the new world of 'computer music' needed a radically new definition of music itself. The 32-page booklet includes greatly expanded liner notes by composer and former Tenney pupil Larry Polansky."

RASKIN QUARTET, JON: *The Bass & The Bird Pond CD (NW 80574). $14.00

"The Bass & The Bird Pond exalts the individual and collective talents of three of the most distinguished composers/improvisers currently enriching and extending the jazz vocabulary — ROVA stalwart Jon Raskin, the inimitable Tim Berne, and bassist extraordinaire Michael Formanek. Aided and abetted by the nuanced and sensitively colored percussion work of Elliot Kavee, they plumb the depths in the way only musicians of this calibre, operating at this level of intuitive understanding, can. Impeccable compositional instincts facilitate the interweaving of individual epiphanies within intricate structures to create four rich, emotionally resonant works."

MARSHALL, INGRAM: *Ikon and Other Early Works CD (NW 80577). $14.00

"This CD comprises the text-sound works (1974-1980) on which Ingram Marshall concentrated throughout the 70s and falls into two parts: the works from the Fragility Cycles period ('Cries Upon the Mountains', 'SUNG', 'Sibelius in His Radio Corner', and 'IKON') and the earlier works ('Cortez', 'Weather Report', and 'The Emperor's Birthday'). "Cortez", 'Weather Report', and 'The Emperor's Birthday' form a kind of trilogy representing my work with "text-sound" in the early seventies. The techniques used to generate musical fabrics and structures out of spoken text are similar in all three works, but the source materials are all quite different. I used tape loops to create repetitive patterns from words or phrases; musical structures were developed out of the resulting fabric. It is not the original utterance or sound bit that is the building block, but the whole cloth created from it." — Marshall. 'SUNG' and 'IKON' are both based on poems by Swedish poet Gunnar Ekelöf. The first piece, referring to the Sung Dynasty, is scored initially as a solo/duo recitative by painter Jan Häfström and dancer Margareta Åsberg, after which the tape processes multiply their voices into a ghostly chorus as Marshall's spectral bass appears with the English translation, to be in turn transformed into its own small chorus. 'IKON', Marshall's setting of Ekelöf's Ayiasma, is a mystical meditation on an ancient ikon seen in a Greek church. The air of apocalyptic finality in the text is enhanced by the electronics, with the pervasive soundscape being that of an entropic cosmic machine. Marshall again intones the English translation; the incantatory recitation of the Swedish original is by Ekelöf himself. "Rop på fjellet (Cries Upon the Mountains)" again uses materials 'collected' in Scandinavia, most significantly an ancient recording of locklätar and rop from Swedish mountain herdinners (shepherdesses) traditionally used to call goats and cattle from great distances, although clearly also cultivated for their own intrinsic, shrill beauty. The live element is my own voice, a high keening processed through a tape delay system." — Marshall. 'Sibelius in His Radio Corner' was inspired by a photograph of the Finnish composer during his 'forty years of silence,' sitting in an armchair and listening to his own work being performed on the radio. "In his old age Sibelius enjoyed pulling in distant broadcasts of his music off the short-wave. I imagined that with all the static and signal drift, some of these listening experiences might have been proleptically like a modern-day electronically processed kurzwellen piece." Marshall's brooding, mysterious sonic landscapes are essential listening for anyone interested in Minimalism and the musique concrète tradition in electronic music."

PALESTINE, CHARLEMAGNE: *Schlingen-Blängen CD (NW 80578). $14.00

"Schlingen Blängen is an invaluable addition to the slender but precious discography of Charlemagne Palestine, one of the legendary figures of the amazingly fertile New York and West Coast experimental music/art scene of the sixties and seventies. He is considered to be a seminal figure of early minimalism — as important as his better-documented contemporaries. His performances on the giant bells at St. Thomas Church and his evening-length Bösendorfer shows are still spoken of with awe by those who were present. Palestine left the music scene in the mid-seventies to focus on his visual art; he eventually moved to Europe where he still resides. Schlingen Blängen — a 70 minute long perambulation through the organ's sonic landscape — was recorded in 1988 (ten years after its initial performance) in a small Dutch church near the North Sea. It is difficult to describe because so little happens in it, yet at the same time an immensity of activity is going on and there is so much of it that it boggles the mind. We experience sounds set into motion by the initial choosing of a chord and its timbres (the setting of the registers or stops); the melodic changes that occur are subtle and few. In short, it is a relentless and uncompromising exploration of the physicality of sound as well as its spiritual dimensions. Palestine's music left its mark on a number of slightly younger composer-performers, among them Rhys Chatham and Glenn Branca. Absolutely essential for a comprehensive understanding of the roots of minimalism and its offshoots."

GABURO, KENNETH: *Five Works for Voices, Instruments, and Electronics CD (NW 80585). $14.00

"Kenneth Gaburo (1926-1993) composed works for instruments, voices, electronics, multimedia, theater, and a variety of other resources. Foremost among his many interests was a concern with the voice and with language — how we shape language and how we are shaped by it — and with making works that existed somewhere between the boundaries of music and language. Of the works on this CD, three are intensely concerned with what Gaburo termed 'Compositional Linguistics' (Antiphony III, Antiphony IV, and Mouth-Piece), while concerns with balance and perceptual edges seem to be his foremost concern in the other two [String Quartet in One Movement and The Flow of (u)]. In Antiphony IV (1967), for three instruments and two-channel tape, the two channels are literally separate-vocal sounds (each phoneme, in order, of the source poem) on the left channel, and electronic sounds on the right channel, with the instruments in the middle. In Mouth-Piece (1970) the trumpeter attempts to present six contrapuntal lines simultaneously and to maintain a sense of coherent timbral identity with each. For Antiphony III (1962), for sixteen voices and electronics, a poem by Virginia Hommel again provides the basis. Here, however, it is articulated contrapuntally, one word at a time, by both the chorus and the tape. The Flow of (u) (1974) consists of one note sung by three singers for twenty-three minutes."

BERNE, TIM: *The Sevens CD (NW 80586). $14.00

"ARTE Quartett: Tim Berne (alto saxophone); Marc Ducret (acoustic guitar); David Torn (electric guitars, loops, sonic redistribution). The Sevens is Tim Berne's most explicitly 'compositional' statement in some time. The album's core, a pair of through-composed movements performed by the ARTE saxophone quartet, could serve as an apotheosis of chamber writing in the Tim Berne vein. 'Repulsion' features four melodies (or is it one melody in four voices?), variously in dialogue or in chorus. Moving through a range of tonal colors, the piece reflects both Berne's fondness for friction and his less-celebrated sensitivity. In fact, certain sections sound almost wistful, as Berne cloaks his dissonances in subtle shadows."

ADAMS, JOHN LUTHER: *In The White Silence CD (NW 80600). $15.00

"Since 1978, Alaska has been John Luther Adams's (b. 1953) home and a major inspirational source for most of his compositions. Almost all of his compositions evoke natural phenomena, in particular the wintry Northern landscapes, light, and colors as well as elements of indigenous Alaskan cultures. Adams's music thus shares aesthetic features with nature-inspired works of such composers as Debussy, Ives, Sibelius, and Hovhaness. Due to the use of certain 'minimalist' strategies Adams's music is often classified as 'minimalist' or 'post-minimalist.' He avoids expressive musical rhetoric, prefers reduced and elementally simple musical material, and frequently uses sustained tones and static textures. Adams's compositions embrace just intonation, consonance, and modal harmony, and they often feature a meditative quality and extended length reminiscent of Feldmanesque dimensions. In The White Silence slowly unfolds over the course of about seventy-five minutes. The work's extended length and non-dramatic structure suggest the idea of music as an 'immeasurable space' and reflect the desire to transcend the conventional boundaries of musical composition. In the White Silence, a large-scale work of structural refinement, balance and arresting beauty, gently envelops the listener and thus becomes a 'musical presence equivalent to that of a vast tundra landscape'."

CHASALOW, ERIC: Left To His Own Devices CD (NW 80601). $15.00

"The seven electro-acoustic works on this disc illustrate the salient virtues that have distinguished Eric Chasalow's work in the genre over the past twenty years — an unerring sense of drama and a rhythmic verve that makes for compelling listening. Two in particular, 'Left to His Own Devices' and 'Suspicious Motives', pay homage to his Columbia-Princeton mentors; the former is built from vocal samples of Milton Babbitt and the sound of the RCA synthesizer while the latter incorporates two motives from Davidovsky's music—primarily the opening to 'Synchronisms #6'. That the composer is equally at home outside the studio is amply borne out by the two purely acoustic chamber pieces, 'In the Works', and 'Yes, I Really Did,' clearly cut from the same aesthetic cloth as the tape pieces. As Chasalow has said, 'In spite of my long history with electronic music, the technology is not my focus.' This is clearly evident from the works on this disc, crafted in a musical language as subtle and complex as it is tactile and expressive."

LUCIER, ALVIN: Vespers And Other Early Works CD (NW 80604). $14.00

"Alvin Lucier (b. 1931) is best known for his pioneering work in the mid-sixties in the exploration of sonic environments, particularly sounds that we would never perceive under ordinary circumstances. Vespers And Other Early Works restores to the catalog several of his key works from that time. In 'Vespers' (1969) performers with Sondols (sonar-dolphin), hand-held pulse wave oscillators, explore the acoustic characteristics of given indoor or outdoor spaces by monitoring the echoes of the pulse waves off the walls, floors and ceilings, as well as any objects or obstacles in range of the sound waves. Over time, the listener receives an acoustic signature of the room. In 'Chambers' (1968), battery-operated radios, tape recorders, and electronically powered toys of various kinds are hidden in paper bags, shoes, kettles, and small suitcases and other small resonant environments. As performers carry these small 'rooms' into larger ones, such as concert halls, football stadiums and underground cisterns, the sounds, already altered by the acoustics of the small environments, are altered a second time by the acoustics of the larger ones. This version was recorded in 2002. 'North American Time Capsule' (1967), for voices and vocoder, is described metaphorically by Lucier as a message to listeners who don't know about us. ('Middletown' Memory Space' (1970) is a reenactment of the composition called 'Hartford' Memory Space', for any number of instrumental players with recordings of environmental sounds. 'Elegy for Albert Anastasia' (1961-1963) is described as composed 'for electromagnetic tape using very low sounds most of which are below human audibility.' Liner notes by Robert Ashley."

MARONEY, DENMAN: Fluxations CD (NW 80607). $15.00

Ned Rothenberg (bass clarinet, alto saxophone); Dave Ballou (trumpet); Denman Maroney (hyperpiano); Mark Dresser (contrabass); Kevin Norton (drums, vibraphone). "Denman Maroney (b.1949) is known for his unique 'hyperpiano' style, which involves playing the keys with one hand and the strings with the other using copper bars, brass bowls and other objects. Maroney is a rare example of a composer/improviser who has made 'pulse fields' an ongoing platform for both his writing and improvising. An approach to time used by such American experimentalist icons as Charles Ives and Conlon Nanarrow, pulse fields are rhythmic relationships expressed as ratios such as 3:4:5. Though they are polyrhythmic, they should not be considered to be synonymous with polyrhythms. A pulse field can present a rhythmic ambiguity that is beguiling to the listener, but is vexing to the performer, which partially explains why pulse fields have remained more a tool for through-composition than for works that privilege improvisation. Fluxations is the first instance in which Maroney has utilized them in an album-length work, which gives some idea of the difficulty the use of pulse fields presents if the material is realized by musicians with less than impeccable ensemble and improvisational skills. For this daunting proposition, Maroney turned to some of his closest associates, Dresser being foremost among them, given their fifteen-year association in various co-op settings. While the resumes of Rothenberg, Kevin Norton and Dave Ballou are not as entwined with Maroney's, they nevertheless exemplify the rigor Fluxations requires. In this intricate compositional framework, Maroney and his cohorts create a challenging, enormously engaging work of wonderful rhythmic variety and delicate shadings that blends composition and virtuosic improvisation in fresh, unpredictable ways."

ANDERSON, BETH: Swailes And Angels CD (NW 80610). $14.00

"Beth Anderson (b. 1950) writes chamber music of great beauty, generally simple tonality, and luminous textures. She's adopted a deceptively unimpassioned motto — 'To make something beautiful is revolutionary' — and describes herself oxymoronically on her web page as a 'neo-romantic, avant-garde composer', words that wouldn't fit together for any other composer. Her chamber music betrays its twentieth-century roots in its pervasive use of collage. Her preferred form, and one she invented herself, is the swale: a term for a meadow or marsh in which a lot of plants grow together, and by extension a musical piece in which diverse musical ideas and even styles grow side by side. In Anderson's swales, then — five of which are on this recording — different themes, styles, moods pop up and succeed each other with cheery disregard for linear development-though, as in any field, the same plants recur amongst each other, giving the disparate collections a family unity. Thus she has evolved a music that seems texturally and tonally conventional measure-by-measure, but whose succession of styles — modal, nineteenth-century, Bartókian, bluegrass — chart out radical postmodern territory indeed. Yet, unlike the collage techniques of Cage, Stockhausen, and John Zorn, Anderson is never abrupt or mechanical, but smooths her swale elements together in an intuitively convincing stream of consciousness."

TENNEY, JAMES: Postal Pieces 2CD (NW 80612). $28.00

"James Tenney (b. 1934) is one of the most important American composers and theorists of the past fifty years. For a very long time, his work was known mainly to other musicians and its tremendous influence was belied by its obscurity. In the past twenty years, however, as his music and writings have been more and more published, recorded, performed, and studied, his place in the context of American contemporary music has become far better understood. He has pioneered musical fields as diverse as computer music, tuning theory, and integrating ideas from acoustics and music cognition into his work. Tenney has also been important as a teacher, performer, and scholar of other radical American composers. This CD contains recordings of the complete set of his Postal Pieces, written primarily during a very brief tenure at California Institute of the Arts in the early 1970s. These works, although frequently performed over the years, have not been recorded (with a few exceptions). This recording is a natural and important companion to the recent New World reissue of Tenney's computer and electronic music from the 1960s. Both collections represent complete, highly individualistic and essential bodies of work by a major American artist."

NEWS (BELGIUM):

DR. LEKTROLUV: Infected By Dr. Lektroluv CD (NEWS 500961). $17.00

"The Dr. is back with the follow-up in the highly acclaimed Lektroluv series. This time he's infekting you with some ferocious Elektro & Italo beats. Not choosing the obvious tracks coming out of the Elektro-clash zone, the Dr. is selecting them more on a build-to-last scale! From Steve Rachmad's alter ego Sterac Electronics, over new kid on the block (but destined to be huge) Alden Tyrell to 80ies Italo anthem Trans-X (coming here in a Lektroluv edit), on to the harder Finnish anthem 'The Game' from the NYC Survivors (by Sakho & Dum maestro Kim Rapatti), ending on a softer note with Disko B's Electronicat remix of 'The Death Of The Night' from our all beloved Depeche Mode. Furthermore the mix includes highlights by Jollymusic (currently hyped up in British press), Dutch hero Legowelt (whose release Disco Rout is storming the Dancecharts on Sven Vath's mighty Cocoon imprint), Twinnie (from the Cheap, Austria camp), Adult & off course the mighty Drexija (featured here under their Japanese Telecom alias)."

NEWSPEAK RECORDS (SWEDEN):

BERGMAN, OLA: Pseudocarp 12" (NSPK 003 EP). $9.00

"Ola Bergman is a long time favourite — first coming to our attention with his contribution to Skam's Smak series (Volume 5). Starting off with 'Pseudocarp', the tone is set with a militant hip hop drive and detuned synths — imagine an on-form Boards of Canada living it up with Gescom and the Human League in a retro-futurist attempt at making technology open up to a world of emotions. Fabulous. 'Snake Meadows' wrong foots you with a tricky opening that soon bulges out into an emotive electro monster — beautiful changes and progressions, that impossible-to-achieve blend of dancefloor robustness and late night blues. The two tracks on the flip, however, are the ones to cherish, 'Vulture's End' exuding an enigmatic electro bounce that shuffles into toughness with brilliantly robust drums and reverberating detuned synths, lots of time changes and flips, a marvel of construction — scorcher. 'Cypselas', meanwhile, is one of those tracks that engrains itself deep in the subconscious for what seems like an eternity — a slow building lullaby of stupendously evocative proportions, like hazy memories transfixed by rays of sunshine and the distant giggle of carefree children."

VA: Skane Revisited CD (NSPK 004CD). $16.00

"This album takes as its starting point the amazing tune 'Skåne', drawn from Andreas Tillander's 1998 album Vena — recorded in his Komp guise for the Komplot label, present here as the concluding track. Tillander presides over the Scandinavian electronic scene with something approaching don status: under his own name and also as Mokira, Lowfour, Rechord and one suspects, perhaps even more guises, he has supplied some of the most forward thinking music of the last ten years. Pop influenced glitch for Mille Plateaux, cut up digital electronic hip hop for Raster Noton, deep bass heavy ambient drift for Type, each and every album occupying a distinct stance and attitude from the last. 'Skåne' is one almighty groove, skeletal synthetic drums teeter over a massive, almost hardcore influenced bassline, filled with the cabinet movements of sound system culture and the polyrhythmic qualities of techno. New Speak presents Skåne Revisited as a variant on the 'one rhythm' style album, known to bass and rhythm aficionados — what happens here is almost entirely distinct from the linear voicings you'll find on the latest bashment releases. Instead, New Speak's hand-picked team of mixers realign the original in keeping with its inspiration, not its sound qualities." Artists: Komp (Andreas Tillander) / Ludvig Elblaus / Milano Bass Machine / Pluxus / Standard Radio / Folie / Bill Yard / The Policy Unit / Bauri / Xela.

ELBLAUS, LUDVIG: Furious Styles 12" (NSPK 005EP). $10.00

"Ludvig Elblaus has been operating in the shadows of electronic music for quite some time. He records as one half of acclaimed duo Frank and Bill who have had releases for Skam (part 12 in the collectable 'Smak' series), Miami's Merck imprint, and have appeared on a mighty double header with Brothomstates for the last track on the notorious Q10 12" for Warp. Furious Styles is Ludvig's first solo release, coming to us from the favourite electronic label of those in the know — New Speak. The sound here is just immense, remarkably on point. Elblaus fuses stylistic electronic signatures that allow him to sound like a cross between Basic Channel, Monolake and EOG rolled into one mass of funked-up bass-heavy beats and carefully constructed percussive atom bombs. It's a neon blue sound of dub infused stabs and low end echoes that infiltrate the sorts of beats Gescom shuffle off when they're feeling particularly generous with their skills."

NEXTERA (CZECH REPUBLIC):

All compositions produced, mixed, and edited by Jeff Mills for Axis Records. Recorded at the Spider Formation in Chicago. The Art of Connecting is dedicated to those who feel the need to express what they feel through the amazing art form of electronic music."

HAFLER TRIO, THE: Cleave: 9 Great Openings CD (ERA 2017). $16.00

"Brand new studio album named Cleave: 9 Great Openings being released as 'Part The First' of the Trilogy ('Part The Second' will be released in 2004 on Die Stadt, and 'Part The Third' will follow later on Nextera). CD album is packed in 'deluxe' embossed paper wallet with special transparent wraparound. Cleave: Nine Great Openings is the first new CD release by h3o since h3o released in 2000 on Die Stadt (though the material on this was already recorded in 1995). Cleave is a 62 minute piece which slowly changes, with a very wide sound, low, and very resonant. It's 'almost' ambient or 'meditative music' with very special atmosphere, and a few surprises — because maybe...it isn't! Source material for this album was recorded in 1999 for Andrew's friend's wedding ceremony in Nepal. We are sure that many people/fans eagerly await this new work (trilogy) by Andrew Mark McKenzie which is truly exceptional."

CRAIG, CARL: House Party 013: A Planet E Mix CD (ERA 9911). $14.00

A stunning Carl Craig mix CD, only released in the Czech Republic! Carl doesn't publicly DJ anymore, but you can feel the sense of joy and euphoria in the selection and presentation of his favorite tracks from his own stable. Hearing the subtly tweaked version of the Paperclips People's all-time speaker booming "Floor" at the beginning of this CD is just one of the many pleasures offered by this highly enjoyable mix. Planet E's reputation is for carefully choosing tracks that work and this CD displays their agenda all at once, in one piece, in perfectly exquisite fashion. "Compiled and mixed live by Carl Craig and DJ Peter Anthony of two Technics turntables with a Pioneer DJM-500 DJ Mixer, November 1999 at Electron Labs,

Detroit USA. Post-production by Carl Craig featuring the Korg KAOSS Pad at Electron Labs, Detroit. #### DJ FOOD: Jazz Brakes 4 CD (ZEN 006 CD). $12.00

"Originally produced by Coldcut the DJ Food project started in 1990 with the release of Jazz Brakes. Not only are they effective collections of breaks, loops and samples ideal for mixing, remixing and producing — but also fine collections of funky jazz & hip hop tunes, that cut it just as well on the discerning dancefloor as in the safety of your own home... Since the growth of the abstract hip hop scene recent years the Jazz Brakes albums have proved to be ahead of their time. Jazz Brakes Volumes 4 & 5, co-created with DJ/producer PC, are collections of finely crafted tunes that transcend the breakbeat compilation format to stand as artist albums in their own right. These latter DJ Food albums have developed with shades of latin, dub, techno, ambient, tribal, african and jungle flavouring the funk."

9 LAZY 9: Paradise Blown CD (ZEN 009 CD). $12.00

Reissue of 1994 Ninja Tune record. "The 9th release ever on Ninja Tune, and the first full length release by an act that wasn't just Coldcut hiding under a different name. Ninja was being operated by 3 people out of a small cupboard in a run down London loft. Ahhh...the memories. The debut downtempo jazz funk classic from Keir Fraser & James Braddell (Funk! Porcini)."

DJ FOOD: Jazz Brakes 5 CD (ZEN 010 CD). $12.00

"Jazz Brakes 5 continued the move to proper song making that DJ Food started on Vol. 4. While Vol. 1-3 were essentially collections of stripped down breaks for other people to sample, on Vol. 4 & 5 they made a turn towards creating tracks that were still very much easily jacked by others, but also stood on their own accord. In the process they basically paved the way for what would eventually be coined 'trip-hop'."

9 LAZY 9: Electric Lazyland CD (ZEN 014 CD). $12.00

Reissue of the 1994 record. "Electric Lazyland is without a doubt one of the best downtempo records to ever emerge on Ninja, or on any label for that matter. After this record they took a long hiatus until their recently released Sweet Jones (NJT79). This hiatus was put to good use as one half of 9 Lazy 9, James Braddell went on to reinvent himself as the man, the myth, the legend...Funk! Porcini."

VA: Ninja Cuts Vol. 1 - Funkjazztical Trickology CD (ZEN 015 CD). $12.00

Reissue of the 1995 release. "After many extremely dope releases, it was decided that the Ninja Cuts series should be born. A way to round up some of the best tunes every few years, throw in some rare/un-released stuff, invite some friends from other labels along and generally provide some really good sampler action. It all started out with the modest single CD release of Vol.1, moved to 2CD, and by the time we got to Volume 4, it had turned into a monster 3CD set with 6LP box set. How's that for progression. This one was a monster for it's time." Artists: DJ Food, Kruder & Dorfmeister, Attica Blues, London Funk AllStars, 9 Lazy 9, The Herbaliser, Up Bustle & Out, Coldcut, Ashley Beedle, and Funk! Porcini.

FUNK! PORCINI: Hed Phone Sex 2CD (ZEN 017 CD). $13.00

Reissue of this 1995 disc, now w/ a bonus CD of extra mixes. "Starting out as one half of 9 Lazy 9, James Braddell branched out solo style to become the undisputed master of fungus inspired perv-beat. When this record arrived on the scene it helped define what would come to be known as trip-hop...and although we all learned to hate that word eventually, we didn't hate on the music, and this records still stands as one of the finest examples of that era. Bonus CD contains rare tracks, and remixes by Plaid, and Dillinja."

UP BUSTLE AND OUT: One Colour Reflects Another CD (ZEN 019 CD). $12.00

Reissue of this 1996 album. "The 2nd full length to come out from the Up, Bustle & Out crew. A fabulous fusion of world influences and beats straight from Bristol. Up, Bustle & Out came up in the same local scene that spawned Massive Attack, Smith & Mighty, Tricky, Portishead, and Nicolette, and it shows. This record perfectly captures the mid-90's sound from that area."

DJ FOOD: Recipe For Disaster CD (ZEN 020 CD). $12.00

"Recipe For Disaster marked a bit of a changing of the guard so to speak. Matt Black & Jon More (Coldcut) had originally started DJ Food as a moniker they could record under while the Coldcut name was in legal limbo. Over the years they recorded 5 volumes of the fabulous Jazz Brakes series, picking up collaborators along the way. Two of these collaborators were P.C. & Strictly Kev. This record was the one that all four of them worked together on, and once it was finished the DJ Food name was officially passed on to P.C. & Strictly."

DJ FOOD: Refried Food 2CD (ZEN 021 CD). $13.00

"After A Recipe For Disaster was released, it was agreed that the time was right to hand over the parts to the DJ Food catalog to some of our favorite producers at the time to have a stab at re-working some classic shit. And deliver these people did. Some of these mixes sit as some of the best stuff to ever come out on Ninja. Remixes by Squarepusher, Wagon Christ, Autechre, Dr. Rockit, Ashley Beedle, and more. When this was first released it was a 1 CD set. A lot of mixes were only available on vinyl. However what kind of classic re-issue would it be if we didn't grab every extra mix and put it on a bonus CD. So for the first time ever mixes by Mr.Scruff, Lemon D, Coldcut, Neotropic and more and seeing the light on CD."

VA: Ninja Cuts Vol. 2 - Flexistentialism 2CD (ZEN 022 CD). $13.00

Reissue of 1996 release. "Volume 2 contains tracks that have been in DJ boxes ever since it's release. Most notably Luke Vibert's contribution 'Get Your Head Down' (you know the one 'hip-hop will rock and shock the nation...')." Artists: DJ Food, Funk! Porcini, The Herbaliser, Up, Bustle And Out, Coldcut, Kruder & Dorfmeister, Luke Vibert, London Funk Allstars, 2 Player, Ashley Beedle, The Uchi Classen Band, DJ Vadim, 9 Lazy 9, Illuminati Of The Hedfuk, and Funk! Porcini.

FUNK! PORCINI: Love, Pussycats & Carwrecks CD (ZEN 023 CD). $12.00

Reissue of this 1996 album. "It was a wiser and more seasoned Funk! that stepped into the studio to make his second long player. Hedphone Sex re-wrote the book on trip-hop, this one took it into bizarre territory which up until that point could only be experienced in JG Ballard novels. Contains 2 bonus tracks that weren't on the original. Remixes of Carwreck by both Wagon Christ & Squarepusher."

FUNK! PORCINI: Fast Asleep 2CD (ZEN 057 CD). $18.00

"For this new record he's slowed down the pace a bit and delivered an amazingly lush downtempo record. Heady and mellow electronic jazz along the lines of Fila Brazillia, Bonobo, Irresistible Force, Lemon Jelly, etc... the sounds of the chill out room coming full circle for the ageing ex-club goer."

FUNK! PORCINI: Fast Asleep 2LP (ZEN 057 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

CINEMATIC ORCHESTRA: Every Day CD (ZEN 059 CD). $14.50

"At a time when the chill out thing substitutes blandness for maturity, when so called 'nu-jazz' groups loop up some flutes with a boring beat and have the nerve to call it jazz, and electronic music seems to be searching for its dummy again, J. Swinscoe's Cinematic Orchestra return to blow away all your expectations. Back in 1999, the group's debut record Motion set critical tongues wagging with its unique take on modern electronic music production techniques and the sheer visual energy of its sound. Now the group return with a follow-up which is deeper than the ocean, packing a tremendous emotional punch, by turns mournful and celebratory and with a rigour that is so often lacking in contemporary cut and paste. Across seven sweeping, dramatic tracks, the group take you through classic soul, jazz, choral pieces, sinking horn riffs, throbbing harp b-lines, minimalism and more. All imbued with a contemporary edge and an intellect that keeps things as far as possible from lazy wallpaper wank. And with guests of the caliber of Fontella Bass (the writer and performer of '60s soul masterpiece 'Rescue Me' and sometime performer with jazz renegades the Art Ensemble of Chicago) and Roots Manuva (whose contribution to 'All Things To All Men' involves the kind of lyrics that stay in your head for weeks)... you know that you're in for something special."

CINEMATIC ORCHESTRA: Every Day 2LP (ZEN 059 LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

FLANGER: Outer Space/Inner Space CD (ZEN 061 CD). $14.50

"Once again two of the most prolific producers in electronic music, Atom Heart & Bernd Friedmann, team up as Flanger to create 8 more tracks of avant-garde electro-jazz. As Flanger the two pair up to create electronic jazz in a way that blurs the lines between analog & electronics. Between them both they play all instruments and then mash it all up in the computer. One minute you think you're listening to vintage Miles, Marc Moulin, or Nucleus (the good Nucleus aka Ian Carr, not the new crappy Nucleus), and the next you're listening to some weird techno bridge in the track which all crashes back into jazz territory... nice."

FLANGER: Outer Space/Inner Space 2LP (ZEN 061 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

FOG: Fog CD (ZEN 062 CD). $14.50

"Andrew Broder aka Fog started to make this album with one simple question on his mind. Is there more to using a turntable to make your music than as a vehicle for showing how good you are at playing the turntable? The answer is complicated, but it's also beautiful, as well as funny, sometimes sad and, in its own downbeat way, sort of uplifting. Or to put it another way, the answer can be yes. Influenced by post-rock, folk and blues as much as hip hop, Broder has aimed to make a record which moves you, rather than just making you bob your head and your mind reveling in the technique. It's a risky strategy, leaving Fog open to all manner of snide asides, but we think he succeeds admirably. This is still a cut and paste album but it also uses guitars and Broder's singing to make a unique sounding record of single-minded strangeness."

FOG: Fog LP (ZEN 062 LP). $13.00

LP version.

HERBALISER: Something Wicked This Way Comes CD (ZEN 064 CD). $14.50

"Emotive words from the distant past applied to the invention of something wholly of the now. Herein, episode four, featuring 13 monster chapters of verse, rhyme and riff. The Herbaliser's Jake Wherry and Ollie Teeba weigh in with all the required and acquired experience, ability and know how, to produce arguably their finest album work to date. Sample based dons they remain. Although, this time round many of the samples are their own and the dons tag extends out to the family of musicians and collaborators whose arrangements helped shape this extraordinary LP."

HERBALISER: Something Wicked This Way Comes 2LP (ZEN 064 LP). $15.50

Double LP version.

MR. SCRUFF: Trouser Jazz CD (ZEN 065 CD). $14.50

"Hotter than one of those display cabinet things they put the fish that's just come out of the fryer in at the chippy, Mr Scruff has underlined his undoubted status as Britain's finest open minded DJ. The album Keep It Unreal — released to universal acclaim in July '99 — cemented his status as maverick with the crankiest tunes on the playground. Even Madonna name checked Mr Scruff, claiming Keep It Unreal had been a regular spin on her hometown Hi-Fi. Big up yerself, Madge. You've heard the first single lifted from this record 'Shrimp' — an inspired fusion of Mizell Brothers cool and Roger Troutman's squelchy funk. The forthcoming O delivers on the promise of that single. Featuring collaborations with highly touted homegrown rap talent Braintax on 'Vibrate', Homelife's octave defying Seaming To singing on another genre-defying carve up and I see we've not run out of great titles if 'Come on Grandad' is anything to go by..."

MR. SCRUFF: Trouser Jazz 3LP (ZEN 065 LP). $18.00

Triple LP version.

ANTIBALAS: Taktatiff CD (ZEN 066 CD). $14.50

"New record by Brooklyn's hardest working afro-beat collective. Antibalas (Spanish for 'Bulletproof,' literally 'Anti-bullets') is the next generation of afrobeat in the tradition of the Black President, Fela Anikulapo-Kuti. This fifteen plus piece band hits hard with the left and the right — monstrous horns and bass layered over funky polyrhythmic beats and breaks coupled with furious lyrics challenging and attacking the dehumanizing capitalist system and inciting insurrection in English, Yoruba, and Spanish. Antibalas formed in May 1998 from members of Desco Records' Soul Providers and the Daktaris. They were quickly joined by like-minded New York musicians active in the worlds of jazz, rock, improvised music, and traditional drumming from Cuba and Brazil. This union of Latinos, whites, African-Americans, Africans and Asian-Americans is based in Brooklyn, NYC."

ANTIBALAS: Talkatif LP (ZEN 066 LP). $13.00

LP version.

BOWDEN, CHRIS: Slightly Asked CD (ZEN 067 CD). $14.50

"First off we have to say that the four (yes four, four very long tracks) compositions that square the circle of Bowden's new album Slightly Asked pick up from where Time Capsule, his debut long player on Soul Jazz, left off. The trademark sonic sculptures develop over four epic studies in harmony and counterpoint and present angular themes that are deconstructed to their minimalist origins before new mutations take us to a wholly new place. The beats of Tom Gordon and Andy Hamill lay down the funk for layers of horns, strings, woodwind, keyboards and percussion to extrapolate in the vertical and the horizontal to the max... whew! This is a truly organic journey that challenges us to examine the preconceptions of our musical reference."

DJ VADIM: U.S.S.R. The Art Of Listening CD (ZEN 068 CD). $14.50

"Hip hop's favorite Russian expat returns with his third album. ...Listening has all of the angular abstractions of Vadim's earlier work, but here it is combined with a new depth of musicality, a love of bass and an interest in music and words from around the world. So, alongside UK MCs like Slug, Gift of Gab, Motion Man and Vakill, and the cream of underground UK wordspitters Taskforce and Phi Life Cypher, can be found Polish jazz legend Urzula Dudziak (a favored sample source for A Tribe Called Quest back in the day), Gruff from Super Furry Animals, Ade Soma and the Rev'd Cleve Brown. Tablas and djembe drums mix with Japanese flutes, Brazilian guitars, spoken word, obscure scratched sound bites all build the whole into something unusual and special. It makes for a heady mixture, a record which Vadim describes as 'a very grown up but cheeky and extremely musical album.' Urban but experimental, fresh and different, this record goes beyond not only what he has done before, but beyond much of today's hip hop. With its global view of music, its new emphasis on soul, and its concrete feel for the aesthetic of the sample, The Art Of Listening is funny, serious, unique."

DJ VADIM: U.S.S.R. The Art Of Listening 2LP (ZEN 068 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

DJ VADIM: USSR: The Art Of Listening (Instrumentals) 2LP (ZEN 068R LP). $16.00

"Hear all your favorite cuts in all their naked glory. Put new vocals over the cuts and pretend that for one shining moment you too got smuggled out of Russia when you were young and went on to be an internationally known hip-hop producer... Okay, enough. This is some handy shit. Kids got to have it. As an added bonus there's some tracks on here that are instrumentals of cuts that never even made the original version of the album."

D.S.P.: In The Red CD (ZEN 069 CD). $14.50

"DSP are Jonny Cuba & the Loop Professor, long-time contributors to South London's growing Hip-Hop scene. Both share a love of dusty old record shops, 45s, Sci-Fi films, funky Blues, Soul & Jazz. Their sound is inspired by Hip-Hop mega-producers like Pete Rock, DJ Premier & Diamond D as well as older innovative producers like Quincy Jones, David Axelrod & James Brown. In The Red combines the lyrical skills of UK and US emcees going toe to toe with DSP's heavyweight beats. Favorites from the last LP Mass Influence & Juice Aleem are back in action, along with old school legend Chill Rob G the Original (I got the Power). Added to the mix are rising stars like Apathy, Def Tex & Phi-Life Cypher."

TOBIN, AMON: Out From Out Where CD (ZEN 070 CD). $16.00

"Amon Tobin continues his adventures with the breakbeat on this, his fourth album. Darker, more complex, even more rhythmically driving and intense than before, this huge record will cement Tobin's reputation as one of the most innovative and important names in music today. Out From Out Where differs from its predecessor in that was made using only found sounds (most of them generated by Amon himself) while here he steps back to some slightly more traditional sources (displaying in particular, a love of guitar licks). When Tobin takes a sample source he is never happy until he has warped, filtered and fucked with it until it sounds like something straight from his head; and not just anywhere in his head, but that dingy, cob-webbed corner where no one should go. Lots of new sounds and instantly recognizable as Amon."

TOBIN, AMON: Out From Out Where 2LP (ZEN 070 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

SUPER NUMERI: Great Aviaries CD (ZEN 073 CD). $14.50

"Super Numeri specialize in long, intense journeys into music that recall Miles Davis' seventies experiments and the work of Can without seeming beholden to either. The product of a unique communal collective, the results are languorous soundscapes, with a use of live instruments and spiky intelligence, which take them a million miles from lazy 'ambient' music. Self-avowed avant-garde traditionalists, the three core members of Super Numeri gathered together ten others for the making of a record which they describe in the following terms: 'Sometimes it's ugly. Sometimes it's immensely beautiful. At all times it's high and glorious!' Listen to a new sound coming from an old place."

SUPER NUMERI: Great Aviaries LP (ZEN 073 LP). $16.00

LP Version, full color gatefold sleeve.

PEST: Necessary Measures CD (ZEN 074 CD). $14.50

"Expect: ridiculous bass, a low attention threshold, George Benson being murdered by men with big sticks, huge bass, drill & bass reworked as bass & bass, cartoon music made psychonasty, garage rock into UK garage. You could point to the Blockheads or Tackhead (why is it always 'Heads'?) but this is a band that genuinely sounds unlike any other you've ever heard — or like the greatest, most fucked up UK punk 'funk' band since... Don't expect: any arty-fartsy nonsense, knowing winks, to have time to get bored."

HEXSTATIC: Listen & Learn CD (ZEN 075CD). $18.00

"The 2nd installment of the Solid Steel series. Based on Coldcuts worldwide syndicated radio show. Throw in (why not?) a brand new exclusive track in Telemetron, with specially made video on the CD, an extensive journey through the boys' first love — electro, plus funk, reggae, rock, hip hop and must-have porn groaning and you have a killer mix. Of course you get all the Solid Steel goodies too, like special intros, custom made tracks, special edits." Features: DJ Food, Grandmaster Flash, David Holmes, Toots & the Maytals, Boards of Canada, Shazley Bassey, Man Parrish, Incredible Bongo Band, etc.

JAGA JAZZIST: A Living Room Hush CD (ZEN 076 CD). $14.50

"Worldwide re-issue of this Norway act's amazing debut. The comparisons reached for by the press were as broad as they get — from Talk Talk, Soft Machine, Eric Satie, John Coltrane and Don Cherry to acts like Aphex Twin, Stereolab, Squarepusher, Isotope 217 and Tortoise. This range sums up the breadth and originality of the group's sound. Jaga Jazzist are indeed a musical one off who's arsenal includes trumpets, trombone, electric guitar, bass, tuba, two bass clarinets, Fender Rhodes and vibraphone, and it is the mixture of these instruments with a sometimes harsh electronic edge that really makes the music stand out. It is melodic, delicate and subtle but a million miles from wallpaper music. It is music that demands and rewards attention, further proof that you don't have to shout to avoid being lazy chill-out-by-numbers. It's a journey into sounds and moods that manages to sound both classic and contemporary and is an oasis to anyone interested in music which combines iconoclasm with beauty, melody with avant gardism and, in general, a complete lack of interest in anything other than good music."

JAGA JAZZIST: A Living Room Hush LP (ZEN 076 LP). $13.00

LP version.

FOG: Ether Teeth CD (ZEN 077 CD). $14.50

"Ether Teeth, Fog's second LP, is, in his own words, 'a heavy-headed hopeful opus, an urban vaudevilian symphony about birds, war, mystery, jealousy, old time dudes and most importantly L-O-V-E. (I know, I know...)' So what does it sound like? We could give you some trite Neil Young-meets-Kid-Koala-and-Randy-Newman-at-the-Anticon-house straw to grasp at, but it would only piss you off and wouldn't get you any closer to where Broder's going. Let's just say that it's a pretty unique record from a pretty unique man, a great big American symphony made out of scraps and after-thoughts, somehow sophisticated and naive in equal measure."

FOG: Ether Teeth LP (ZEN 077 LP). $16.00

LP version.

CINEMATIC ORCHESTRA: Man With A Movie Camera CD (ZEN 078 CD). $14.50

"3rd album for the Cinematic Orchestra (4th if you include the remix album). This is a soundtrack to Ziga Vertov's famous 1920's silent film Man With A Movie Camera. A companion DVD will be released featuring the original film with Cinematic Orchestra score, live footage, and interview footage."

CINEMATIC ORCHESTRA: Man With A Movie Camera 2LP (ZEN 078 LP). $16.00

Double LP version, gatefold sleeve.

9 LAZY 9: Sweet Jones CD (ZEN 079 CD). $15.50

"9 Lazy 9 is one of the longest running acts on Ninja Tune. One half of 9 Lazy 9, is one James Bradell, known to the masses as the man, the myth, the legend... Funki Porcini. Their sound, distinctively more sun than North Sea, is a smoky Mediterranean mix of vines and good times."

BONOB0: Dial 'M' For Monkey CD (ZEN 080 CD). $14.50

"Picking up where Animal Magic left off, this one continues in combining his commanding grasp of the sampler with the sort of commanding grasp of live instrumentation and arrangements that could only come with an upbringing of having your father as part of Fairport Convention (honestly...). All the most inspired parts from 60's/70's British psychedelia and instrumental music but together with a modern approach."

BONOB0: Dial 'M' For Monkey 2LP (ZEN 080 LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

JAGA JAZZIST: The Stix CD (ZEN 081 CD). $14.50

"The Stix was released in Norway in August 2002 through Smalltown. Now it sees worldwide release via Ninja Tune. As with their first album this was produced by Norwegian super producer Jorgen Træen, the man behind Duper Studios in Bergen (home of Roysopp, Kings of Convenience, Sondre Lerche et al.) but this time Jaga wanted to push their musical limits even further and really create sound they could genuinely call 'Jaga Jazzist'. The proof of their efforts is in the record The Stix with a greater electronic influence never loses the organic nature of a live 10 piece and is the perfect balance between (hu)man and machine. Genuinely original music."

JAGA JAZZIST: The Stix 2LP (ZEN 081 LP). $16.00

Double LP version, gatefold sleeve.

KID KOALA: Some of My Best Friends are DJs CD (ZEN 082 CD). $16.00

"His 2nd full length. A cross between his first mix tape and his debut record. More short attention span theatre covering ground that ranges from jazz standards as played by drunken horn players from New Orleans, funeral marches involving crickets, ska tracks that Byron Lee could have never imagined, some straight up instrumental hip-hop stompers, behind the scenes looks at his previous hits, and lovely odes to lonely office girls on vacation."

KID KOALA: Some of My Best Friends are DJs LP (ZEN 082 LP). $14.00

LP version, w/ 52-page illustrated art-book insert.

HERBALISER: Herbal Blend CD (ZEN 083 CD). $22.00

"The Herbaliser are ace production duo Jake Wherry and Ollie Teeba and they have two distinct sides to their story. There's the many headed funk machine that is The Herbaliser live band that has rocked sweaty crowds worldwide and then there's the rootsier 4 deck show with head honchos Jake & Ollie just mashing things up old school DJ style. On this CD you get them in DJ mode showcasing their influences and favourites and, hell, just tracks that sounded good with the other tracks. The chaps take us on a whirlwind tour dropping everything from spooky film soundtracks, classic hip hop, greasy funk, go-go and even party monsters like 'Groove is In The Heart'. All beautifully mixed with the Solid Steel extras you've come to expect like custom made tracks, edits, special intros and plenty of scratchy biznizz."

HERBALISER: Herbal Blend 2LP (ZEN 083 LP). $23.00

Double LP version. Unmixed vinyl version of the CD featuring 13 of the choicest cuts.

VA: Zen: A Retrospective 2CD (ZEN 085CD). $16.00

"SO Repeat After Me: 'Ninja is not a trip-hop label', 'Ninja is not a dance label', 'Ninja is not a big beat label', 'Ninja is not an electronic label', 'Ninja is not an instrumental label', 'Ninja is just a shit hot label that just puts out dope shit that they like'. There. Got it out of my system. So it you think of us fondly as some trip-hop label you used to like in 1998 but lost track of, then re-live your love with these 2 sets, then get over it and check out some of our releases from the last few years. If you think we sucked back in 1998, then don't buy either of these sets, and then get over it and check out some of the stuff we've released in the last few years." Artists: DJ Food, Coldcut, Amon Tobin, Bonobo, Mr Scruff, Wagon Christ, Kid Koala, Luke Vibert, Hexstatic, Cinematic Orchestra, Funki Porcini, DJ Vadim, The Herbaliser, 9 Lazy 9, Up Bustle & Out, Jaga Jazzist.

VA: Zen TV DVD (ZEN 085DVD). $18.00

"Every video we've ever made all compiled together. Over three and a half hours of material. Extras include a video mix/mash-up by Hexstatic, and a gallery of all Ninja Tune album sleeve art. Comes packaged with a 16 page book which gives detailed history on the videos." Artists: Kid Koala, Jaga Jazzist, Coldcut, Hexstatic, Amon Tobin, Mr Scruff, Bonobo, Herbaliser, Skapeel, Funki Porcini, DJ Vadim, Blockhead, Wagon Christ, Cinematic Orchestra, Pointer Sisters, Flanger, Animals On Wheels, Pest, Homelife.

VA: Zen 3LP (ZEN 085LP). $19.00

Triple LP version.

VA: Zen Remixes 2CD (ZEN 085RCD). $16.00

"This acts as a label retrospective in remix form. Over the years we've commissioned a lot of dope remixes from some big names in the underground. A lot of these were previously used as b-sides on limited vinyl releases and not readily available. Well now they are. Mixes from Cornelius, Squarepusher, Wagon Christ, Manitoba, Ashley Beedle, Fredric Galliano, Sixtoo, and more."

VA: Zen Remixes 3LP (ZEN 085RLP). $19.00

Triple LP version.

SIXTOO: Chewing On Glass & Other Miracle Cures CD (ZEN 086CD). $14.50

"Now signed to Ninja Tune, Sixtoo has come through with a whole new type of record, easily the best record of his career so far. Yeah, it's still hip hop in some senses, but it's also a whole lot more. Can's Damo Suzuki, Norsola and Thierry from Godspeed You Black Emperor, Matt Kelly, Eric Craven from The Hanged Up and many more can all be heard programmed and chopped in the signature Sixtoo style. And sometimes the audio tricks are left alone in favor of some straight quality live playing. All brought together to create what is essentially a psyche rock/jazz masterpiece as made by a long time hip-hop producer."

SIXTOO: Chewing On Glass & Other Miracle Cures 2LP (ZEN 086LP). $18.00

Double LP version.

SKALPEL: Skalpel CD (ZEN 087CD). $13.00

"Drawing on Poland's rich jazz heritage (much of it semi-illegal samizdat recordings made when the Communists thought that jazz could bring down the state), Cichy and Pudlo have an unrivalled source of samples to tap and they tap it with consummate aplomb. They combine a kind of broad brush romanticism with the most clinically chopped and reconstituted breaks for a sound which comes on like an East European In A Silent Way with heavier drumming."

BLOCKHEAD: Music By Cavelight CD (ZEN 088CD). $14.50

"On Music By Cavelight the downtown New Yorker with production credits for the likes of Aesop Rock and Slug of Atmosphere fame, comes through with some of the most sublime, understated, melancholic hip hop you're likely to hear this year. From the anti-fanfare of opener 'Insomniac Olympics', through the elegiac strings and slomo disco-bass of 'Carnivores Unite' on into the two-minutes-to-midnight atmospherics of 'You've Got Maelstrom', the spread out reggaehonics of 'A Better Place', and right on up to the flute and eastern violin anomie of Music By Cavelight, this is a record that establishes its own emotional space and holds it from start to finish. First 5000 copies of the record contain a bonus CD/Bonus 12" containing 6 instrumental cuts that originally appeared on Aesop Rock records."

BLOCKHEAD: Music By Cavelight 2LP (ZEN 088LP). $16.00

Double LP version.

WAGONCHRIST: Sorry I Make You Lush CD (ZEN 091CD). $14.50

"Luke Vibert aka Wagon Christ is back (once again). Behold. The only man to have recorded full length albums for Warp, Mo' Wax and the mighty Ninja, the Cornwall School's answer to Marcel Duchamp (only kitscher), the man who put the sticky wet patches into ambient, the magic tricks into drill 'n' bass, the rip into, erm, instrumental hip hop, the only living musician trying to keep Vicks' market share up. Sorry I Made You Lush displays all the trademark Wagon Christ tricks — woozy, gaudy, beautiful kitschtronica, the tightest, tightest funk drummage and anus-wobbling sub bass. But there is, of course, a little more than that. Mr Vibert does it again — before you know it you're gulping down endless handfuls of sugar coated avant garde pills and not even noticing the levels of cleverness, the sheer range of inventiveness, the subtlety of this West Country music machine."

DJ VADIM W/ MOTION MAN: Till Suns In Our Eyes 12" (ZEN 12107 EP). $7.50

"This time up it's Vadim with Motion Man. Best known for his collaborations with Kool Keith, co-star of Masters Of Illusion (w/ Keith and Kutmasta Kurt) and for his latest and extremely dope solo record Clearing The Field. Way back when Motion Man was in the UK wrapping up a string of dates performing with DJ Vadim's Russian Percussion. Having spent every night of tour smoking trees, drinking, and seeing the sun come up every morning, Vadim, Motion Man, and Blu Rum 13 stay up all night to lay down this ode to staying up all night. Featuring sparse but bumping production from Vadim, and an anthemic chorus, it's guaranteed to be a record box staple."

TREVOR WHATEVA: Dance Class 12" (ZEN 12128). $7.50

"Debut release for Ninja from long time Manchester dance-floor rocker. Treva is long time DJ partner with Mr. Scruff. Trev kicks off matters with some stuck up English lady going on about dancing but soon let's rip into some 21st century bloco nonsense on 'Dance Class' and from thereon in it's open season on latino silliness, 'Havana Ball' coming through like a.. ball.. in Havana...with a load of cartoon Mancunians in impossibly capacious trousers doing the dancing."

TOBIN, AMON: Verbal - Remixes 12" (ZEN 12130). $6.50

"Phase 2 of the campaign for Out From Out Where. And it all starts with this 4 storming mixes of 'Verbal' that sees the elusive and camera shy MC Decimal R getting twisted in all sorts of new directions. Weighing in with mixes are 4 diverse people delivering 4 diverse interpretations. Prefuse 73 chops it into a half time tempo and makes it his own. Kid 606 comes in with a banging 'Dancehall Devastation' mix. Boom Bip & Topogigo."

LOKA: Beginningless 12" (ZEN 12132). $8.00

"With some of the epic sweep of the Cinematic Orchestra but with a slightly scuzzed-up post-rock edge that gives it a sound all its own, this is the kind of raw, emotional, musically complex stuff that makes you think of Radiohead jamming with Fourtet."

TOBIN, AMON: Remixes and Collaborations 12" (ZEN 12138 LP). $8.00

Vinyl 12" version, packaged in full color gatefold sleeve.

PEST: Chicken Spit 12" (ZEN 12140). $8.00

"With the attention span of ritalin-denied kiddies, and a seeming love of everything from Tex Avery to Frank Zappa to classic hip hop to bad speed, this five piece from South East London are making the kind of music which can only come out of England's unique multi-cultural mash up of musical influences, weird humor and unchecked aggression. They're like the Strokes, only without the classic rawk obsession, rich daddies and the looks."

SUPER NUMERI: Coastal Bird Scene 12" (ZEN 12141). $7.50

"In any other situation you might have thought this was a reference to the young women of Rhyll but with nutsoid Liverpool avant-front collective Super Numeri, you can rest assured that it is actually an ornithological reference. Since their debut album Great Aviaries came out, Super Numeri have been dressing in strange outfits and taking their brand of English eccentric audio-experimental pastoralism to the people. The Coastal Bird Scene is a ten inch in three parts packed with harp-led minimalistics, a kind of folk re-working of Miles Davis' 'In A Silent Way'. It sucks you into a series of mild, hypnotic grooves before spitting you out on Part 3 with a sudden burst of discordant emotion."

KID KOALA: Basin Street Blues CD (ZEN 12142 CD). $6.50

"The A-Side is a stunning cover version of the jazz standard 'Basin Street Blues' in which Koala does his best drunk trumpet style to realize a New Orleans funeral march. Over on the B-Side is a tribute to taking time off work called 'Vacation Island'. CD version contains the video for 'Basin Street Blues' which was created by long time collaborator Monkms (also responsible for Koala's last video 'Fender Bender'), and a little exclusive bonus track called 'Exciting Excerpts'."

KID KOALA: Basin Street Blues 7" (ZEN 12142 EP). $5.50

Vinyl 7" version.

COOKIE MONSTER & THE GIRLS: C Is For Cookie 12" (ZEN 12143). $9.00

"One off and extremely limited 12" in support of the new Sesame Street box set. Contains the original and highly in demand 'Pinball Number Count', plus 2 mixes of 'C Is For Cookie'. Special Disco Mix by Larry Levan, Roy Thode." Originally released in 1978.

BLOCKHEAD: Insomniac Olympics EP 12" (ZEN 12144 EP). $7.50

"Blockhead...the boy has a solid background in underground hip hop, having produced much of the material on Aesop Rock's Def Jux albums Labor Days and Float and makes epic, emotional beatscapes with much the same grasp of structure as the 'big 2' (which for argument sake would be DJ Shadow & RJD2 right now...soon to be Sixtoo also). There are a very few producers working in hip hop or its related disciplines who can take a tune and keep developing it over the space of a song, let alone distill so much emotion into every note, making it melancholy and strangely uplifting all at the same time."

MR. SCRUFF: Giffin 2x12" (ZEN 12146 EP). $12.00

"Contains mixes from Speechless, and Amalgamation Of Sounds. Sorry. Sorry. Mr Scruff is back with a single from his acclaimed and hugely successful Trouser Jazz album and this time it's remix central."

BONOB0: Flutter 12" (ZEN 12147). $9.00

"It's a head-nodding sitar funk number that brings to mind the greatest moments of Ananda Shankar. With all instruments played, sampled and sequenced by Green's own fair hand, there is a consistency and sound here that crate diggers can only dream of. Over on the flip side is a reinterpretation by Four Tet. Keiran flips the whole tune around and turns it into an epic soul jazz number which is on some heavy Pharoah Sanders sounding shit...you know that Village Of The Pharaohs era stuff where it sounds like it was made by aliens..."

SIXTOO: Boxcutter Emporium 12" (ZEN 12148). $7.00

"After a long career of producing some of the darkest, sparse, and most interesting hip-hop to emerge from the US/Canadian underground, and a relationship with many a record label, Sixtoo's move to Montreal a couple years ago landed him in the face of Ninja Tune. With some fresh new digs up in the Mile End, a re-vamped recording studio, access to a wealth of French psyche records, and a new lease on life revolving around the excitement of being signed to a label that will actually pay him, Sixtoo is using this moment as a jump off to re-define his sound."

HERBALISER: Solid Steel Herbal Blend 12" (ZEN 12149). $7.50

"Limited 12" featuring Solid Steel bits/scratches/acappella tunes from the latest Solid Steel mix CD mashed up by The Herbaliser. 12" features all sorts of fun hits for scratching and making your own Solid Steel mix, a brand new Herbaliser tune which was debuted in the mix and features the vocal talents of Jean Grae (formerly What What), and the Timezone/John Lydon lost classic World Destruction."

JAGA JAZZIST: Day 12" (ZEN 12150EP). $7.50

"Contains remixes from Herbert and DAT Politics. 'Day' was one of the finest moments of catchy goodness from their recent Stix album, mixing up as it does, sunny acoustic guitar, super sharp shooting double bass and the kind of ratcheted, precise drum and bassiness that gives you a dancefloor hernia. Oh, and some sweeping strings."

SKALPEL: 1958 12" (ZEN 12151). $8.00

"Skalpel are Marcin Cichy and Igor Pudlo, from Wroclaw, Poland. Their aim is to resurrect the dusty & smoky spirit of 60s and 70s Polish jazz and then 'reimagine it for 21st century audiophiles.' The results, we're sure you'll agree, are startling — warm, crisp and complex without being complicated."

TOBIN, AMON: Remixes and Collaborations CD (ZEN 138 CD). $9.00

"Over the last year Amon has been drifting in and out of other studios working with some other fresh talent to add some new dimensions to his work. This release sees him getting up with Kid Koala (who clearly needs no introduction...), his Brighton friend & label mate Bonobo (watch for his forthcoming Ninja record Dial M For Monkey), P-Love (Kid Koala's touring partner for the last few years, last seen opening for Amon on his North American dates last October, soon to be seen on Kid Koala's book tour dates), original cut & paste sample hooligan Steinski, and another Brighton hookup in Double Click. For the CD buying public, both 12"s are compiled on to 1 CD, along with the video 'Verbal' which was directed by man the moment Alex Rutterford."

JAGA JAZZIST: Day EP CD (ZEN 150CD). $6.50

"Contains original track lifted from their last record The Stix (NJT81), a new track, remixes by Herbert & DAT Politics, and 4 live tracks that showcases what happens when all 9 of them hit stage (this ain't no lap-top jazz kids)."

VA: Zentertainment 2004 CD (ZEN 2004CD). $6.50

"Once or twice a year we compile samplers together so we have something to give out at conferences, shows, retail, pimp ourselves with, etc... Insider back scratching/trade tools basically. These are used to hip people to our new/upcoming shit in one easy glance. But then we see our fans paying $40 or some other stupid price for these on E-Bay a few months later and we feel bad. So for the first time ever the Zentertainment sampler will be available to the public. Gaze at it's glory. We'll be putting out all sorts of releases in 2004 from our big guys, but this here is a roundup of our soon to be huge new breed of Ninja's & Big Dada's." Features: Skalpel, Hexstatic, Diplo, Blockhead, Lotek HIFI, cLOUDDEAD, Jaga Jazzist, Wagon Christ, Infinite Livez, Sixtoo.

KID KOALA: Nufonia Must Fall Book w/CD (ZEN 8000). $23.00

"A romantic tragedy in graphic novel form, by one of the world's most renowned DJs. Inspired both by silent films and comic books, In Kid Koala's words, 'It's about this robot who's trying to write love songs to get the attention of this girl. But he's a robot so he can't sing, and so it's kinda hard to write love songs. But there's adventure. There's some action. There's some drama. There are some sweet moments. There are some scary moments... it's all there.' The book comes with an original CD soundtrack, with ten exclusive tracks composed and performed by Kid Koala."

NIPPON CROWN (JAPAN):*ANTI-POP CONSORTIUM: Shopping Carts Crashing CD (CRCL 8859). $24.00

Japanese-only release that is a follow up to the Tragic Epilogue full length from 2000 on 75 Ark. "Formed in the fall 1997, united under the credo 'disturb the equilibrium,' the Anti-Pop Consortium came together as a divergent force to resist the evil empire Hip-Hop was slowly becoming. Three vocalists (Priest, Beans and M. Sayyid) & the aural alchemy of E. Blaize converged."

DEL THE FUNKY HOMOSAPIEN: Future Development CD (CRCL 8877). $28.00

Japanese-only release of this previously unreleased early 90s album, originally proposed to and rejected by his label at the time, Elektra. "Del first made his impact on the hip-hop music scene in 1991 with his album I Wish My Brother George Was Here. The music was just quite to the left of mainstream and the lyricism revealed a creative mind that was beginning to find its niche. At 18, Del's deep voice and impressive vocabulary were enough to lure in fans lucky enough to take notice. While the album doesn't exactly reflect Del's genuine sensibility (as it was a collaboration with Ice Cube and DJ Pooh) the B-Sides for the album gave way to introduce an emerging crew and the mysterious mind of Del. Del's second album No Need for Alarm was closer to his sensibility as production was kept much closer to home with Domino, Del and other members of Hiero providing beats for the album. It wasn't the mainstream debut album that the label loved, it was the first 'Del' album that really embodied the personality and range of the artist that was beginning to establish a cult following. Del's third album, this album, Future Development was conceived as a reaction to the times following the release of his second album. Making beats at home and getting even more in touch with his music, Elektra was left desiring the catchy, bohemian rapper from the early 90's, not an intelligent, different and entirely unique artist whom they weren't able to find a marketing niche for. Future Development was very much a statement against the established record industry and Del would not budge or give in to their collaborative suggestions or hints at improving the album, so the album was left out to dry as Del was finally dropped from the Elektra Label. As the remaining members of Hiero were also respectively dropped from their label, the crew united to form 'Hieroglyphics Imperium' in order to continue to release their music. Obscure and unknown for quite some time, Future Development was finally released online as a tape for Del fans to enjoy. While a few tracks were used elsewhere ('At The Helm, Oakland Blackouts'), the enclosed album serves as another reflection of the artistry of Del. Different in tone than No Need for Alarm or even the follow up album Both Sides of the Brain, Future Development is a very raw and honest Del album filled with his trademark quirky stories, impressive lyricism, and anti-establishment attitude. The album also serves as the original impetus for what ultimately became the space odyssey album Deltron 3030. Futurism, technology, ghetto life and some way to smile through it all, Future Development is a charming and intelligent exploration into the enigmatic mind of Del the Funky Homosapien. So do what you need to relax, sit back and for the first time enjoy the CD version of Del's long lost album... Future Development." — Jacob Rosenberg.

NO LABEL:

ASKEW, ED: Little Eyes LP (DESTIL 032). $17.00

"After leaving Yale with a fine arts degree ed landed various teaching gigs. High schoolers tend to not want to paint, and Ed gave it up to play music. New Haven's coffeehouse scene was essentially the basement of church, and ESP alums Erica Pomerance and Bill Horowitz, as well as teenage Michael Bolton, also shared the stage. Chops were clearly honed; songs this beautiful are not born without hard knocks. It was shortly after he located to the city that he hooked up with ESP. Little Eyes was recorded immediately following Ed's poorly selling debut Ask The Unicorn. Made with little more than Ed's voice and the stunningly modern arrangements of his beloved Martin Tipple, (sort of a larger 10 string ukulele) all the songs were recorded in one continuous take. The lyrical concerns of any era, I suppose, are love and war. And Ed was inspired! Little Eyes is as grand, sad and beautiful a statement as can be expressed. His off key lilt hangs like a seductive, thick, pink mist. And it settles deeply; you'll hear these songs long after they are over."

Brown (as) and Shipp (p) first recorded as a duo for Cadence Records — the first recording for both of them, from the early 90s. "When worlds collide, a new kind of freedom governs what could only be indigenous to improvisation. This concert from Roulette is presented in it's entirety. Two reunited musicians who have matured into fresh players with their own distinctive sounds."

PARKER, WILLIAM: Lifting The Sanctions CD (NO 06). $13.00

"A tour-de-force of solo bass. Words can't express the master musicianship that radiates from William's music. There is a strong focus throughout this release on William's bowing and composition. William's insightful liner notes of bass theory and technique are invaluable for anyone who is familiar with his music."

PYRAMID TRIO: Ancestral Homeland CD (NO 07). $13.00

"The Pyramid Trio, led by Roy Campbell, has been on the NY scene since 1984. This is their first domestic release and it features the original line up of Campbell (tp, fl, perc.), William Parker (b, perc.) and Zen Matsuura (drums). The music of this group is based on the music of the world both composed and improvised. Studio recordings from 1998 by the duo of Mat Maneri (viola), Randy Peterson (drums). "The voicings on this CD are incredible. serene. unnervingly beautiful. at times ponderous with an almost painful deliberateness. the commitment to eachother. the push/pull. the complete acceptance. warm/cold simple facts. illuminated prisms floating precariously above a high wire. compassionately sewn together. sometimes quirky almost mischievous." — Steve Dalachinsky.

LOWE QUINTET, FRANK: Soul Folks CD (NO 10). $13.00

"A live date from '98. This CD is a celebration of Frank Lowe's lyrical side. The group explodes with raw beauty and emotion. There is a sweet soul that enraptures you upon listening as the music swings...hard. Featuring Bertha Hope (piano), Jack Walrath (trp), Steve Neil (bass) and Ralph Peterson (drums).

LOWE/BILLY BANK QUARTET, FRANK: One For Jazz CD (NO 11). $13.00

"Lowe and Bang made Jazz infamy with the late Denis 'Jazz' Charles in their '70's group The Jazz Doctors. Bang and Lowe pay tribute to their old friend by playing some serious music. Nobody plays like Bang or Lowe!!! They need the heavy rhythm section of Ed Schuller on bass and Abby Rader on drums to balance them out. It's 2 years since this quartet debuted at the Vision Festival in NY and people are still talking about it."

DNA: DNA on DNA CD (NO 12CD). $14.50

"New York's seminal No Wave band, DNA, makes it's highly anticipated American CD debut with this definitive collection of studio and live recordings. Surviving two line ups over a brief four years; this highly influential, strikingly original and extremely under recorded band left a huge void in it's wake. Formed in 1978, Brazilian raised singer/guitarist Arto Lindsay hastily assembled an international trio of non-musicians. Robin Crutchfield played keyboard and Japanese-born Ikue Mori played drums. DNA played their first gig within weeks and recorded their first 7" shortly afterwards. The ear of Brian Eno was quickly caught, recording them for the infamous No New York compilation alongside James Chance, Mars, and Teenage Jesus & The Jerks. Before No New York was released, Robin left the band after a total tenure of nine months. Bassist Tim Wright had just left Pere Ubu, relocated to NY and quickly joined DNA. With a new face, a new instrument and a new sound, DNA recorded their classic nine minute EP A Taste Of DNA. DNA toured the States and Europe bringing their explosive live show to a wider audience. DNA only released 12 songs during it's lifetime, and another 3 shortly afterwards on a European compilation. Their impact was far and wide reaching. Many musicians have cited DNA as a main influence including Thurston Moore of Sonic Youth and the band Blonde Redhead, who appropriated their name from a DNA song title. This CD compiles all of the studio and many choice live recordings. Of particular interest are the original lineup's 'early versions' of 'Detached,' '5:30' and 'Low' (which is closely related to 'A New Low'.) The unreleased studio tracks 'Grapefruit,' 'Police Chase' and 'Young Teenagers Talk Sex' are heard here for the first time as well as live versions of the unreleased songs 'Nearing' and 'Surrender.' Exclusive liner notes from Byron Coley, Jason Gross and Glenn O'Brien pack the 16 page booklet alongside many unseen photos and flyers."

NO QUARTER:

EARTH: Sunn Amps and Smashed Guitars CD (NQR 001 CD). $12.00

"Earth crawled out of the small logging towns of Washingtonstate and began deafening ears in the early 90's. Their fourth album Sunn Amps and Smashed Guitars was originally recorded for Blast First Records in 1995, but has been out of print since the initial pressing of 500 copies sold out. Being from the same breeding ground as bands like Mudhoney, Nirvana, and the Melvins, Earth incorporated the feedback and dirge of these bands into their unique dense sound. Layers of guitars and noise, and droning heavy metal riffs became Earth's trademark. Releasing four albums on Sub Pop in 5 years and doing virtually no touring, they never quite achieved the success of their peers. Now, after their demise, their fanbase has grown to that of cult status, and their name to some has become deified. This classic reissue contains the original Sunn Amps... recording from 1995 as well as 4 never before released bonus tracks from a 1990 demo session."

LADDIO BOLOCKO: The Life and Times of Laddio Bolocko CD (NQR 002). $16.00

"Laddio Bolocko may have come and gone, but in their short existence made a huge impact on the New York music scene by fusing ambience with loud, abrasive rock into a tornado of chaos, precision and heaviness. Their disintegration in 2001 left many in shock. The recordings went unavailable and the music seemed destined for obscurity. That is until independent label No Quarter offered to release a double-disc retrospective compiling the bands three releases and the never before released short film As If By Remote by Aran Tharp. The explosive rhythms, the crushing drones and the hypnotic post-rock textures. It is all included in this beautifully packaged double disc set. For fans of: Can, This Heat, Albert Ayler, Drugs"

PHARAOH OVERLORD: II CD (NQR 003). $12.00

"Formed in Finland by guitarist Jussi Lehtisalo, the songwriting force behind cult Finnish band Circle, Pharaoh Overlord came together with the intention of creating vastly minimal, psychedelic music. Some may call it 'Stoner Rock' — but we're not gonna go there, although it is true that anyone with an altered state of mind could easily get lost in the repetition found on Pharaoh Overlords' second record. Influenced by the groove and fuzz of 70's hard rock, the Overlords strip it down to the bare essentials of minimalism. Jamscape built around heavy rhythms that are just waiting to explode, but they rarely do, and that's the beauty of it. The six tracks on this album stretch across time and space where the quietest rumble of a guitar can feel like the end of the world. It may certainly put you in a relaxed state, but don't get too comfortable, man. Trouble is right around the corner."

ELECTRIC TURN TO ME: Electric Turn To Me CD EP (NQR 004 CD). $6.50

"Formed in the summer of 2002 by Blake Fleming (ex-Laddio Bolocko, the Mars Volta), Marcus DeGrazia (ex-Laddio Bolocko), guitarist James Wilk (ex-Imaginary Numbers) and German singer Silke, ETTM draws the best inspiration and instrumentation from the most creative bands of the '60s (Love, Pretty Things, The Doors), and updates it for the new millennium. Featuring imaginative powerhouse drumming, keyboard-propelled bass and vintage organ melodies, intertwined guitars, and Silke's strong vocals which recall, if anything, a more world weary, less glam Siouxie Sioux, ETTM create intricate searching pop songs, achieving that delicate balance of using familiar sounds and elements, yet presenting them in a wholly original way."

ELECTRIC TURN TO ME: Clouds Move So Fast CD (NQR 005 CD). $6.50

"The second EP from Electric Turn To Me finds the band moving in a more focused direction. Almost impossible to describe using typical music journalist terminology, Electric Turn To Me play a kind of pop music that is unique all to itself. Dark and synth driven yet with an urgency reminiscent of early punk. Songs that twist and turn but with melodies so familiar they'll bury themselves in you're head for months to come. Like their previous outfits (Laddio Bolocko, Dazzling Killmen) Electric Turn To Me are truly forging their own path in a world where independent music often becomes stale and commercialized. Oblivious to the trends of the moment, they are merely attempting to absorb and recreate the energy and originality of the bands they love."

NO U-TURN (UK):

NOCTURNE (FRANCE):

GUER: Rose des Sables CD (NT 137CD). $16.00

"The master of percussions is back with his new studio album inspired by the atmosphere and flavour of Maghreb. Guem has also choose on his new album to open his music towards new horizon, he has worked closely with Frederic Galliano (producer of the growing up Frikiyiwa label and producer and artist on the all acclaimed Frédéric Galliano and the African Divas album), Jeff Sharel (Statra Records NYC) and Oscar. 3 'electronic' artists for 3 remixes for the undisputed and definitive master of percussions."

NOISE ASIA (HONG KONG):

YOSHIIHIDE, OTOMO: Vinyl Tranquilizer CD (NAIM 01CD). $15.00

"Otomo Yoshihide Solo works Memory Disorder volume 2. All tracks are 1 minute each. Each track made from one vinyl record. Recorded on Jan-Feb 1997 at Sank-Ohso Apt studio in Tokyo. Otomo used 60 vinyl records with Turntable, Mixer, and Harddisk recorder." Limited stock.

YOSHIIHIDE, OTOMO: Music For DanceArt Hong Kong's Memory Disorder CD (NAIM 07CD). $15.00

"New style Otomo, with Sachiko M. Sine tones, almost inaudible frequencies, disturbance, controlled noise. Hard to find Chinese release. Artprint inside card folder. The two pieces on this album were created for the dance troupe DanceArt Hong Kong. They were recorded in the summer of 1999, while Otomo was still at a turning point. He has a knack for turning stage production commissions into laboratories to try out new ideas. That's what happened here. The first piece 'Vinyl Tranquilizer No.2' revisits a concept developed on an EP in 1997. A suite of 24 secluding compositions of exactly one minute each, it illustrates very well the transformation Yoshihide's art had already undergone. The piece begins with Schiko M's sampler with sine waves. Vinyl surface noises join in after a couple of minutes and things escalate to slabs of noise and minimalist retreats. The textures and colors change every 60 seconds. Yoshihide scurries among the remains of his past projects to find a new direction, taking us from Ground Zero's harsh noise to the Spartan purity of Filament. The second piece is the 25 minute 'Memory Disorder No. 6'. Whatever you expect, it will surprise you. Determinedly ambient, it couples light sine wave work from Sachiko M with lush synth pads, delicate vinyl surface noise and an unusual spacey feeling. It leaves a lot of space for body movements and hints at the music of Cathode but never even attempts to reach that level of abstraction. The two pieces are as antithetic as possible, making this a strange but quite appealing CD."

HAINO & YOSHIDA TATSUYA, KEIJI: Until Water Grasps Flame CD (NAIM 12CD). $15.00

"Keiji Haino and Tatsuya Yoshida, two pillars of the Japanese noise rock scene (the guitarist with Fushitsusha and countless other projects, the drummer mainly with the influential prog-core duo Ruins) recorded this session in April 2000. For the most part a jam with bits of pre-composed materials. They obviously had a lot of fun as they moved through pastiches & unusual settings. Witness the free-jazz improv 'A Voiceprint That Longs to Display Evidence That It is Over' where the guitarist sounds surprisingly close to Eugene Chadbourne or the peyote-rock vapors of 'Those Points of Difference' in which Yoshida's typical voice soars from behind the drums in a Magma-like incantation. The basic setting of drums and electric guitar is often adapted to include more exotic members of the string family (saro, gyumbari, gothan and esraj) and electronic drums, the obvious anachronical qualities of each side clashing dangerously in some cases. The 12-minute 'At the Instant When One Thinks to Oneself 'No Way' throws away pre-conceived structures and odd instruments in favor of a sulfuric, full-throttle improv bash."

RUINS: Live In Guang Zhou - China CD (NAIM 13). $15.00

"This live recording by Ruins was recorded from their live show at Windflower Bar in Guang Zhou, China on August 13, 2000. It consists of 19 tracks embracing most of the brilliant key performances that night, reliving the show to the audience 2 years after. 'Improvisation' was played with local guest artist, Wang Lei, the one and only improvisation performance in the show. 'I ate Yue Bing (mooncake) this morning' and 'Eating 7 kinds of Chang Fen (traditional cantonese food) was too much' were impromptu work completed only in the morning of the performance."

M, SACHIKO: Derive CD (NAIM 15 CD). $15.00

"The third solo album of Japanese experimental musician, Sachiko M. This new album presents four of her works derived from the music she produced as accompaniment for the performances of other artists. The music remains simple and yet couldn't conceal the innovative technique of Sachiko. 4 tracks with 4 different styles of music. Sachiko stops at nothing to obtain a breakthrough in sound. With this album, she incidentally shows a deeper level and extension of the sine wave with her sublime musical ideas."

KARKOWSKI + FRANCISCO LOPEZ, ZBIGNIEW: Turnoff 3" CD (NAIM 16CD). $12.00

"The first Asian release of Zbigniew Karkowski and Francisco Lopez. 19 minutes of Ambient Noise and Psychedelic Noise from the two significant electronic acoustic artists."

YOSHIIHIDE, OTOMO: We Insist? CD (NAIM 35 CD). $15.00

Reissue of Otomo's early solo album, originally released by Sound Factory in Hong Kong in the 90s, recorded '90/91. "Otomo Yoshihide is one of the most important musician and composer in the present Tokyo music scene; by using 2 or more turntables, scratches, cuts, distorts, makes loops and lumps the sounds vinyl discs. Otomo revives the recorded sounds to make a collage of mixed music on an analogue basis. Besides performing as a member of Christian Marclay's The 100 Turntables Orchestra and Tony Buck's unit Peril, he has also been active with John Zorn, Fred Frith, Eye Yamatsuka, etc. and leads his groups Ground-Zero, Celluloid Machinegun and Double Unit Orchestra. We Insist? was Otomo's first solo album on CD." Numerous guests included John Zorn, Yamatsuka Eye, Hirose Junji as well as various Hong Kong underground musicians (the album used to subtitled Hong Kong - Tokyo Extreme Music Meeting Vol.1).

NOISEVILLE:

SPLINTERED/HEADBUTT: Skin Shift CD (NOISE 31). $6.00

Warehouse find(?) of this 1992 CD EP split release by these two UK groups. Purveyors of what used to be called "scum", remember the day?

NONPLACE (GERMANY):

NONPLACE URBAN FIELD: EP1 12" (NON 001EP). $8.50

First volume in this series.

NONPLACE URBAN FIELD: EP2 12" (NON 002EP). $8.50

"Main recording artist is Bernd Friedmann — a sophisticated perfectionist with a technician's knowledge of audio wizardry — renowned as Nonplace Urban Field, Burnt Friedman & the Nu Dub Players and Flanger, previously featured on the Ninja Tune label. Jazzoid-cyber-Latin-dub-funk forms a template for a revised language built on impossibly complex percussive clusters and a sense of repetition offset by savagely condensed surprise elements. The recordings are stubborn and slippery, always confounding attempts at compartmentalization by veering off on left field tangents or mutating even as your ears follow them."

FRIEDMANN, BURNT: Con Ritmo CD (NON 003CD). $15.50

"Compiled from a series of live tapes recorded over a two week period, this document captures the long sequacious notes and frequently thrilling vibrations of Burnt Friedman and the Disposable Rhythm Section at their most fluid. The players had achieved a new found sense of camaraderie and musical expression after an incident ridden journey along the Carretera Austral (Southern Highway). The subsequent performances at Ephermeral Lakes Bote Casa and Punta Tomba Social Club set the stage for the two weeks of Patagonian pulsations that you have the very best of in your hand. Maybe the Perto Moreno glacier played a hand in influencing the rhythmic shards of "Platin Tundra", or perhaps you can identify the majestic inspiration of Volcan Orsono on "Escape the Night". It certainly was apparent to the Chubutan guanaco herders of Esquel who hosted the band for three consecutive nights of batteria bashment and velveteen vibes. For this groundbreaking project head honcho Burnt Friedman was joined by the Disposable Rhythm Section. Friedman himself handled keyboard and vibraphone activity while new face and six stringed surprise Josef Suchy from Cologne dealt with the electric guitars. Bernie the Bold was coaxed from his Sud-Amerikaine Sound Laboratoria to rattle the pots and pans and also presented his latest technological breakthrough in the form of Humphrey X-34. This so called 'bass-bot', has been the main project at the Laboratoria since Bolt's work on the Nu Dub Players project. To say that this interactive, humanized, instinctualized and improvisational real-time bass man/machine could revolutionize the manky world of MIDI miserabilism is not to overstate the case. Representatives of slop audio companies like Woeland, Toss, Slack-eye and Pro-Fools could be seen skulking around in corners at performances towards the end of the tour longingly eyeing up the prototype Humphrey as it unleashed lick after lick of syncopated improvised bass action. Youthful percussionist Nico 'Nuez' Pulsilamo is a graduate of Bolt's rhythm school while long time sonic contemporary Atom Heart joined the outfit for one final night of probing pampaphonics on the final date of the tour in front of a bawdy crowd of seafarers at Punta Arenas notorious Taverna Del Muelle. "Das Wesen Aus Der Mulchstrasse", the only track that the general public were deemed ready to hear from this unique tension-charged gig contains El Atomo Corazon at his mmmmmmmMoogiest, enjoy. The tinkly of ice cubes on glass, the massage of music in the stereo all marinated with first class, premier, top shelf vibes. Turn down the world and tune in to the Con Ritmo vibration."

FRIEDMANN, BURNT: Love Songs 12" (NON 004EP). $8.50

"A project, or rather, a labor of love spanning the last four years, The Love Songs EP is a teaser for the whole album shebang due out in early 2001. Featuring vocalists and dialogue, The Love Songs EP is described by Mr. Friedmann as 'post-electronic pop and rock'. In other words, into your aural realm will gently creep soulful techno, organic dub stylings, electronic melodies, and disembodied beats. It's created with the kind of tender loving care and unique sonic prowess that will surely have you begging for more. It has exclusive tracks and is a prelude to the full length album CD, Plays Love Songs, featuring guitarist Josef Suchy (Cologne), Black Sifichi (Paris), and Marcus Jaan (Sweden)."

FRIEDMAN, BURNT: Plays Love Songs CD (NON 005CD). $15.50

"10 fairly melodic but stealthily experimental pieces of post-electronic pop and rock. Geniunely unique it is constantly evolving; a nonrepetitive subspecies of 'techno' that recalls the grime and sex of funk and soul without using the usual retro signifiers, speaking a different language but still hollering 'get down!' to those with ears to hear. This is more than music alone, it's the rhythmic poetry of Amor — light years ahead of the lazy appropriation and quantized rhythmic tedium that dominates computer based music in general. This unlike anything else, wonderfully well done, warm and jazzy and full of tricks and twists demands for repeated listening. When musicians play for sheer enjoyment only, they put every effort into their performance and the end result is usually brilliant."

BEIGE: Non-Profit 12" (NON 006EP). $8.50

"As tight as Bootsy's codpiece and as fanciful as George Clinton's views on space travel! Musik on 'I Don't Either'. Following the release of Oliver 'Beige' Braun's debut album, I Don't Either, comes the release of his first single for Nonplace. 'Non-Profit' is aimed as much at the feet as the head, with elements of twisted house, techno, electro and Beige's peculiar sense of humour framed by the best funk done by a white man. Funny, funky, and totally rocking, this is alien funk of the highest order — by one of Cologne's best new mood engineers."

BEIGE: Ein Königreich Für Eine Handgranate CD (NON 007CD). $15.50

"Following the release of Oliver 'Beige' Braun's debut album, I Don't Either (the Leaf Label) and the Non-Profit-EP, comes his first album release for Burnt Friedman's label, Nonplace. Ein Königreich Für Eine Handgranate is aimed as much at the feet as the brains, with elements of wrecked furniture, lo-res R'n'B, electro-smog and Beige's poignant wit that sleeps in the knife drawer. A long-time fellow of Friedman, Beige is one of Cologne's most subdued, reclusive and anti-hoity-toity programmers, sharing a mutual interest in reverent retro-futuristic excursions. Ein Königreich Für Eine Handgranate incorporates dismantled digits of hi-energy funk and purely electronically generated click-and-clonk beats, typical for the Beige-sound. A Timbalandscape drawn by a punk in a state of obsessive spam."

VA: Replicant Rumba Rockers - A Rather Interesting Mix CD (NON 008CD). $15.50

"Señor Coconut aka Atom? has spent the last decade eccentrically cranking up and taking to a digital extreme the techno and Latin style vocabularies. In the process, he either created new music or altered the familiar beyond recognition; the result is a priori progressive entertainment of an integrity fuelled by impromptu wit and imagination. His some 50 album releases on the Rather Interesting (RI) label seem like cultural artefacts from the remote future — an invented world that does not automatically give the authentic preference over the fake. Burnt Friedman went through the Latin-inspired RI repertoire, and concocted a continuous mix. Time to give the record selector a break, he thought, and time to make the music of Atom? available on vinyl (up to now, almost every RI title has been released on CD only). By drastically editing at times and subtly overdubbing at others, Burnt Friedman blends his own favourite RI moments into an emphatically rhythmic, acoustically coherent yet stylistically extravagant, audio cinemascap. He presents the fictional Replicant Rumba Rockers in a costume whose worldliness is self-evident — draped at first in the traditional hues of simulation, but ultimately cloaked in their own inscrutable logic." Artists include: Señor Coconut, Erik Satin, Los Samplers, Midisport, Silver Sound, Dropshadow Disease, Roger Tubseound Ensemble, Ondas, Silver Sound feat. Lisa Carbon.

VA: Replicant Rumba Rockers - A Rather Interesting Mix LP (NON 008LP). $14.50
LP version.

FRIEDMAN & JAKI LIEBEZEIT, BURNT: Playing Secret Rhythms CD (NON 009CD). $15.50

"Burnt Friedman and Jaki Liebezzeit, both masters of deferral and playable un-playability, are living proof that freestyle-paced-hearts need neither race nor rattle. Operating expansively on utterly different levels on the other side of redundancy, they reduce hypertonic levels yet generate agitation through unpredictability. With two more musicians at their side, Josef Suchy and Morten Grønvald, they constitute a musical organism and the extraordinarily brilliant and dynamic sound quality invite both jazz aficionado and clubber to bask luxuriantly in the seductive live ambience. On Playing Secret Rhythms Burnt Friedman congenially transfers his typical emotionally operative method to the task of processing the instrumentalists' live musical elements to produce an elegantly resonating G4 assembly. By casually inserting keyboard and steel-drum sections, Friedman floods the constructions with their own bizarre beauty — and a considerable portion of systole dub reminding us of his work with the Nu Dub Players. His partner on Playing Secret Rhythms is Jaki Liebezzeit, a master of the pause and the stop, who is famous for the cyclical and liberating beat he produced as the drummer in the legendary Krautrock outfit Can from 1969 to 1978. He has trimmed back his drums: the pedals have gone and pure drum-skin remains. Friedman and Liebezzeit are backed up by electric-guitar fusion legend Josef Suchy who collaborated previously with Friedman on his albums Con Ritmo and Plays Love Songs and Morten Grønvald who has proven his virtuosity in Señor Coconut among others. Plays Secret Rhythms knows no rules of play — intuition and imagination permit no boundaries."

DE CLARIO, DOMENICO: Shaker Road CD (NON 010CD). $15.50

"Burnt Friedman was on a journey through Australia and New Zealand, when his Melbourne-based friend, field recordist and composer David Franzke passed him an audio document by Domenico De Clario. The 50-minute excerpt came from a several-hour-long piano concert in which De Clario, his eyes bound, had played a grand piano on a passenger boat sailing through the night down the Yarra River in Melbourne. Now to all intents and purposes blind, De Clario seems to become a medium, as it were, whose slender-boned appendages moved the keys. The gently textured piano sound drifts into an increasingly meditative state. De Clario, born 1947 in Trieste, Italy recently took up an appointment as Head of the School of Visual Arts in Perth, Western Australia. Over the past few years, he has staged a number of 'blind' piano concerts in such venues as a skyscraper roof in Bangkok or a stairwell of a building in Salvador, Brazil. All the events were scheduled to coincide with the full moon or summer or winter solstices. The present recording was made in Shaker Village, Maine, USA in June 1996, and presents a compilation of the finest moments in a performance that lasted some 30 days."

FRIEDMAN AND THE NU DUB PLAYERS, BURNT: Fuck Back 12" (NON 011EP). $8.50

"Although the Nu Dub Players did exist in some form or another, for the new record hardly any electronic tools were applied. As a consequence, around 15 musicians from Auckland, New Zealand, Sydney and Melbourne, Australia and Cologne and Berlin participated in making this exotic folk-funk reggae hybrid. Mostly recorded under ozone layers this fascinating blend of styles and sounds always keeps you on the edge of your seat. The title-track 'Fuck Back' features singer and performing artist Theo Altenberg from Berlin. He was a member of the Viennese Otto Mühl Commune. Know for his photographs documenting the life of the commune from 1973-1978, he states: 'Communal life was a life of intense psychological self-admiration, cut off from the outside world; there, the most diverse forms of free love and the sexual culture were played out. The potential released by this was converted into screenplays, photographic works and paintings- giving rise to new social utopias, researching democracy and analyses of language and substitution.' According to Altenberg, the commune was 'owned by the most consistently leftist practise, because we had made communal ownership a reality and had overcome petty rivalry, because we interpreted revolt as hedonism and were united by psychoanalytical theory.'"

FREEFORM: Condensed CD (NON 012CD). $15.50

"With this compelling mix of Freeform highlights from the past 7 years Nonplace provides a introduction to Simon Pyke's finest grooves. All the titles — although derived from the original releases were radically edited 'condensed' for predominantly entertaining purposes and remastered to guarantee 100% aural excitement. Similar to the Replicant Rumba Rockers release a year ago, Bernd Friedmann has again compiled favourites, 'picked the nuts' in a typical soundclash-DJ manner. Supposed to make sense as a continuous mix it starts with one of Freeform's earlier tracks that may give you a clue about the significant leap that Simon's music has taken since he appeared 1995 in what has become the IDM scene. Back then his electronically generated music has also been described has hardly distinguishable in the sea of sound that was gushing forth in the wake of Warp's Artificial Intelligence series and other seminal IDM landmarks. Nevertheless, Pike's releases, flirting in turn with Ambient, Electronica, Techno, Dub and Industrial have proven to be enduring records. But now, attempts to describe Condensed in more detail are quite futile as there are no real points of reference to compare it to. It's providing an impressive array of junkyard astrophunk designs. Naturally experimental, his adventurous approach to computer based composition is tempered by a healthy sense of fun. Rhythms and soundscapes that are ethnically tinged without being New Age. In fact, this alien world is closer to the space cadet excursions of Herbie Hancock or the intricacy of David Toop than it is to any of dance cultures peripheries. Most of his music has never been put on vinyl, so the music on Condensed is a vinyl debut release. Condensed wants to keep memories fresh. Out of several albums on several labels Burnt Friedman chose the most brilliant tracks by one of the most brilliant contemporary producers."

FRIEDMAN AND THE NU DUB PLAYERS, BURNT: Can't Cool CD (NON 013CD). $15.50

"20 musicians from Auckland, Sydney, Melbourne, Copenhagen, Cape Town, Santiago de Chile and Cologne participated in making Can't Cool, an exotic afro-dub hybrid with more than a blend of soulful songs with the featured vocalists Abi, Patrice, Lovetta Pippin and Theo Altenberg. Mostly recorded under ozone layers this fascinating blend of styles and sounds always keeps you on the edge of your seat. Ever wondered what weed-smoking rasta martians listen to? Well, it's not this."

VA: Difficult Easy Listening CD (NON 014CD). $15.50

"All non-associated artists team up for this concept record, it's not only a wild mixture of various exotic quality grooves, but a stunning assembly of tunes from extremely different sources. The musicians have a feel for time as distinctive as their own heartbeat. You hear compassion and anger, vulnerability and strength, but deepest of all, perhaps, a sadness that would be almost unendurable if it were not examined and transformed, somehow, into beauty." Artists: Shank, Swaii, Lycheelassi, Jaki Liebezzeit & Burnt Friedman, B.F. & The Nu Dub Players, Replicant Rumba Rockers, Beige.

SHANK: Do CD (NON 015CD). $15.50

"6 piece Improv band from Berlin meets Nonplace hard drives. The experiment took place in June 2003. The formation Shank, a group of 6 passionate improvisers from Berlin set up their equipment in the large session room: drums/bass/guitar/percussion/trumpet/samplers and an insane amount of fx processors. The purpose: play music out of nothing. Shank actually is a pure live instrumental band. Over the past 5 years they were touring Brazil, India, USA, Turkey and Europe; they were part of the Bell Atlantic Jazz Festival in New York 1999 and performed on various European Jazz Festivals. The motto is always the same: invent tunes from scratch.

Their grooves are embedded, melting in the music, overlapped by suspense filled melodic and harmonic lines. During a live show in Berlin 2003 the Nonplace label decided to let Burnt Friedman produce Shank. In another studio space prepared for recordings Burnt Friedman hooked up his computer and hard drives. The sessions took one week, the following editing process 3 months. The first 2 probes of this hard disc improv mayhem are included on Difficult Easy Listening (non14/tracks 1,5), the previous Nonplace release. Former Recordings with Shank members include Teo Macero, Kevin Coyne, Jazzanova, Micatone, Orientation, Paul Brody Octet and Tanmoy Bose's Taaltantra. Tanmoy Bose is Ravi Shankar's tabla player and one of India's top Tabla-Players. Besides the musicians are known for the musical participation in award winning radioplays, dance-, theatre- and film-projects. As you can hear Shank think and act globally; hence, the music on this nonplaced disc entitled Do can be described as Abstract Global Music combining acoustic, electrically amplified and electronic sound sources. Their independency from any determining musical categories is one of their greatest achievements."

NORMAL (GERMANY):

VAN ZANDT, TOWNES: Documentary CD (NOR 211CD). $13.00

1997 release. "Townes Van Zandt talks about his life and plays some of his favourite songs. Besides intimate interpretations of classics like 'If I Needed You', 'Pancho & Lefty' and 'Waitin' Round To Die' Documentary includes also less known titles like 'I'll Be Here In The Morning' which Townes recorded together with Singer/Songwriter Barb Donovan a few weeks before his death."

VAN ZANDT, TOWNES: Abnormal CD (NOR 216CD). $13.00

1996 release. "The country and folk-blues singer and guitarist Townes Van Zandt was a native Texan and great grandson of one of the original settlers who founded Fort Worth in the mid-19th century. The son of a prominent oil family, Townes turned his back on financial security to pursue the beatnik life in Houston. First thumbing his way through cover versions, his acoustic sets later graced the Jester Lounge and other venues where his 'bawdy barroom ballads' were first performed. Although little known outside of a cult country rock following, many of his songs are better publicized by covers afford them by Merle Haggard, Emmylou Harris, Don Gibson and Willie Nelson. This gave songs such as 'Pancho & Lefty' and 'If I Needed You' the chance to rise to the top of the country charts. Much of Van Zandt's material was not released in Europe until the late 70s, though his recording career actually began with For The Sake Of The Song, released in the US in 1968. His media awareness belies the debt of many artists, including the Cowboy Junkies and Go Between, profess to owing him. Steve Earle went further: 'Townes Van Zandt is the best songwriter in the whole world, and I'll stand on Bob Dylan's table in my cowboy boots and say that.' In the 1980s Van Zandt continued to live a reclusive life in a cabin in Colorado recording occasionally purely for chance to 'get the songs down for posterity'. Since the late 80s more and more people got interested in his music. Although he has supported himself for years playing solo dates with his guitar, bookings were stronger than ever. Townes toured regularly with more and more success through Europe. And he still had a lot of plans. He compiled two records for release in 1997 (Highway Kind & Documentary) and started recording an album together with Sonic Youth. But death put an end to all these plans. Townes Van Zandt died on New Years Day 1997, the anniversary of the death of Hank Williams. Abnormal was recorded on several locations during Townes Van Zandt's 1995 European Tour. Beside 'Flyin' Shoes', 'Waitin' Round To Die', 'Kathleen' and a collection of either equally memorable songs, Abnormal also includes new studio versions of 'Coo-Coo' and 'Dollar Bill Blues' and the never before released 'Shrimp Song'."

CACAVAS, CHRIS: Bumblin' Home From The Stars CD (NOR 230CD). $13.00

"Chris Cacavas originates from the soul of great American music. His incredible scope of songwriting has everyone agreeing that he is one of the best. He has been around in the music business since the early 80s, playing with such folks as Green on Red, Giant Sand, Steve Wynn, etc. On four albums from his nameless solo debut from 1989 to the 1995 New Improved Pain, Chris Cacavas and his long-time companions The Junkyard Love created a stunning mixture of classical songs, acoustic ballads, post-paisley-blues and straight guitar-rock with dark and weird distortions. Especially the latter often provoked comparisons to Neil Young and Crazy Horse. On his new creation, Chris again breaks away from the tight rockism of his early recordings, presenting captivating melodies, moving emotional lyrics and timeless examples of classic songwriting at it's best. The unique quality of Bumblin' Home From The Stars lies in its perfect mix of old and new, quiet and loud, acoustic and electric elements."

VAN ZANDT, TOWNES: Absolutely Nothing CD (NOR 235CD). $13.00

New 2002 release, issued for the first time worldwide on Normal. "During his lifetime only a few critics, colleagues and loyal fans knew that Townes Van Zandt was one of the finest American songwriters of all time. Five years after his death on New Years Day 1997 the 'Van Gogh of lyrics' (Billboard magazine) finally arrived in the awareness of a wide public. His
